'Tammy' Authoress Bludgeoned

DUXBURY, Mass. (AP) — A 16-year-old boy was held without bail today charged with the bludgeoning death of his grandmother, Mrs. Cid Ricketts Sumner, author of the "Tammy" books.

The body of the 79-year-old authoress was found in her home Thursday by police. A hammer, believed to be the death weapon, also was found.

The suspect, John R. Cutler, pleaded innocent in Plymouth District Court to a charge of being a delinquent by reason of murder, authorities said.

Police said the youth walked into the police station early Thursday and gave information that led to the discovery of Mrs. Sumner's body.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Cutler. His father is the editor of the local newspaper, the Duxbury Clipper, and author of several books, including "Cardinal Cushing of Boston." Mrs. Cutler is the victim's daughter.

Mrs. Sumner was the author of three books which were made into movies: "Tammy Out of Time," "Tammy Tell Me True," and "Quality," which was renamed "Pinkie" in the film version.

She was the widow of James B. Sumner, the Nobel Prize winner in chemistry in 1946.

Besides her novels, Mrs. Sumner published a number of poems and short stories.

Storm Churns Near Bermuda

MIAMI (AP) — Growing in power during the night, a strong Atlantic storm churned southwest of Bermuda today with sustained winds of 70 miles an hour.

Bermuda residents had been warned to prepare for winds in excess of 70 miles an hour in gusts, heavy rains and tides of two to five feet above normal.

"The storm is forecast to pass a short distance west of Bermuda early this afternoon," the National Hurricane Center said. "This will carry the strongest side of the storm across the island."

Tape Cashiers, Steal $2,700

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Two men robbed a savings association of about $2,700 Thursday and left two women cashiers bound with adhesive tape.

Police said the bandits, one armed with a gun, robbed a branch office of the Alamo Savings and Loan Association and fled in a black car.

The two cashiers were bound by the wrists and ankles with plastic adhesive tape but managed to trip an alarm and a patrolman arrived minutes later to cut them free, officers said.

Police said the two women, Mrs. Lynda Hennessy, 19, and Mrs. Viola Skrobaneck, 31, were the only employees in the firm at the time.

HERE'S HOW TO HALT FALSE BOMB THREATS

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — South Texas peace officers attending an FBI conference learned here Thursday how a series of false bomb threats was brought to a sudden halt at one South Texas school.

At each threat, classes were dismissed while officers searched fruitlessly for explosives. J. Myers Cole, special agent-in-charge of the San Antonio FBI, told the conference.

At last the school principal decided that time lost from classes during the searches would be made up on Saturdays.

He said there were no more bomb threats.

Absentee Balloting Continues Light

Absentee balloting is continuing in the Howard County Clerk's Office. Eighteen persons have voted by personal appearance and 58 ballots have been mailed to out-of-county voters.

The question of the creation of a rural fire protection district drew two rural voters Thursday. Absentee voting is light on the fire issue because Big Spring, Forsan and Coahoma residents are excluded from voting on the district, according to Deputy County Clerk Margaret Ray.

LIGHT RAINFALL

The light drizzle that blanketed the Big Spring area this morning wasn't enough to brag about at most rain gauges. Gauges at Lake Thomas, Coahoma and Forsan all registered only a trace, while gauges at Sweetwater and the Texas Electric Service Co. registered .03 inch. The Stanton gauge registered 4 inch and the gauge at the Big Spring Experiment Station registered .05 inch.

TURKEY AUTHORITIES MULL EXTRADITION REQUEST

Hijacked Passengers Kremlin Bound

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A Soviet airliner took off from Trabzon today carrying 45 hijacked passengers back to the Soviet Union along with the body of a hostess slain and two crewmen wounded in the seizure.

The third wounded crewman, chief pilot Valery Adejov, was judged too weak to make the trip after surgery for a bullet wound in the chest.

The hijackers remained in Turkey while authorities weighed a Soviet request for their extradition against the hijackers' request for political asylum. A government security official said they would not be extradited if they can seek a valid political reason for asylum.

NO WORD
There was no word about when the hijacked plane would fly back to the Soviet Union.

A spokesman for the Turkish Foreign Ministry confirmed that the pair had asked for asylum. He said that if a true political motive could not be established, the hijackers would be treated as common criminals and possibly handed over to the Soviet authorities, even though Turkey and the Soviet Union do not have an extradition treaty.

SIMILAR CASE
The security official said the hijackers would probably be tried in Turkey on charges of murder and other felonies in given asylum.

Legal authorities pointed out that in a similar case of hijacking in 1948, when two Bulgarians seized a Bulgarian plane, forced it to land in Istanbul and wounded the two pilots, Turkish authorities refused to extradite the hijackers.

A spokesman for the Turkish Foreign Ministry said four Soviet Embassy officials had gone to Trabzon to look after the interests of the 43 passengers and four surviving crewmen. He said the return of the plane and its passengers to the Soviet Union "is internationally Turkey's duty" but that the extradition request "is a different and more complicated matter."

NOBODY GETS AN 'F'

'It's Almost Better Than Playing Hooky'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — "It's almost better than playing hooky," says a pupil at Patrick Henry High.

That's the school where no one gets an "F" and everyone decides when, what and how to study.

UNIQUE SCHOOL

Most of the 3,000 pupils say the unorthodox learning environment suits them fine. But some of their parents have yet to be convinced.

Devised two years ago by Principal Donald Giddings, Patrick Henry's experiment views pupils as individuals and tailors teaching accordingly.

"We don't teach a class of 30 students, but we teach 30 students," says Samuel Turner, chairman of the English department. "The system is designed for students, not teachers."

A pupil decides whether he will study, do leisurely reading, see an educational film, take a rest or "rap" with his schoolmates, Turner said Thursday in an interview.

Learning packets designed by teachers outline work expected of pupils during a semester in order to win an "A" or a "B."

Those who complete a course but fall below the two top grades get a "C" or credit. Replacing the traditional "F" is an "E" or no credit.

If a pupil gets a no-credit rating in a course required for graduation, he must repeat the course.

Each course packet lists an objective on which the pupils are tested—whenever they decide they are ready.

THERE IS A LIMIT
But there is a limit to this freedom.

"If at the end of the 12th week the report card is still blank," Turner said, "I begin to counsel and take charge."

Tutorial help is available from the school's 109 teachers and 154 teaching assistants.

However, Giddings said many pupils had advanced further in the first two months of the school term than they would have under traditional methods.

Some parents, he admitted, are less than sold on the revolutionary system and two of them were concerned enough to appear at last week's school board meeting to protest.

"This is not my idea of going to school," said one of the bewildered fathers. "Are they really learning here?"

Pot Sale Nets Five In Pen

HOUSTON (AP) — Frank James Williams was sentenced to five years in prison Thursday for selling marijuana to a state narcotics officer.

The superintendent of the Goose Creek School District, in Baytown, Johnny Clark, testified in behalf of Williams at the punishment hearing.

He said he felt Williams should be granted probation, saying the young man has been instrumental in quelling racial disturbances at the Baytown schools.

A corporation court judge in Baytown said that Williams has been in his court several times and that the only way he could control him was to threaten him with contempt.

Williams claims he was framed because he was considered a militant and a troublemaker in Baytown.

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — A special grand jury probing last May's violence at Kent State University indicted 25 persons today while clearing Ohio National Guardsmen from any prosecution for deaths and injuries on the campus.

Identities of those indicted and the nature of the charges were not made public pending notification to the persons charged. A total of 43 offenses were alleged in 30 bills.

FOUR SHOT TO DEATH

The jury's report, released by Common Pleas Judge Edwin Jones, defended Guardsmen who were on campus when four students were shot to death and nine others wounded May 4.

"We do not condone all of the activities of the National Guard on the Kent State University campus on May 4," the jury report said. "We find, however, that those members of the National Guard who were present on the hill adjacent to Taylor Hall (scene of the shooting) on May 4 fired their weapons in the honest and sincere belief and under circumstances which would have logically caused them to believe that they would suffer serious bodily injury had they not done so."

"They are not, therefore, subject to criminal prosecution under the laws of this state for any death or injury resulting therefrom."

'MOB' ACTION

The jury report stated that incidents, gatherings and rallies in the town of Kent on May 1 and on the campus May 2 and May 3 "constituted a riot."

It said a gathering on the campus May 4 was in violation of a directive issued by a university official and that the participants failed to disperse on orders.

"These orders," the report said, "caused a violent reaction and the gathering quickly degenerated into a riotous mob."

'KILL, KILL, KILL'
It noted that circumstances in the city of Kent after the afternoon of May 2 "necessitated the request for assistance of the National Guard."

The report noted that 58 Guardsmen were injured by objects thrown at them on May 4.

"The circumstances present at that time," the report stated, "indicate that 74 men surrounded by several hundred hostile rioters were forced to retreat back up the hill... under a constant barrage of rocks and other flying objects, accompanied by a constant flow of obscenities and chants such as 'Kill, Kill, Kill...'"

"The testimony of the students and Guardsmen is clear that several members of the Guard were knocked to the ground or to their knees by the force of the objects thrown at them. Although some rioters claim that only a few rocks were thrown, the testimony... has established that 200 bricks were taken from a nearby construction site."

NOT ENOUGH
The jury noted that while it agrees "with the principle of law that words alone are never sufficient to justify the use of lethal force, the verbal abuse directed at the Guardsmen by the students during the period in question represented a level of obscenity and vulgarity which we have never before witnessed. The epithets directed at the Guardsmen and members of their families by male and female rioters alike would have been unbelievable had they not been confirmed by the testimony from every quarter and by audio tapes made available to the grand jury."

"The jury reported that while Guardsmen who fired weapons acted in self-defense, it is not an endorsement by us of the manner in which those in command of the National Guard reacted."

"We have concluded," the report added, "that the group of Guardsmen who were ordered to disperse the crowd on the commons were placed in an untenable and dangerous position."

It also criticized the weapons used by Guardsmen as being "not appropriate in quelling campus disorders," and noted National Guard commanding officers agreed.

LIVE AMMO
State Adj. Gen. Sylvester T. Del Corso disclosed last week he has asked the Department of the Army for nearly $500,000 worth of non-lethal weapons and protective gear for Guardsmen.

The jury also disagreed with recent criticism of the guard for being sent into campus disorders with live ammunition.

"Guardsmen should be furnished with weapons that will afford them the necessary protection under the existing conditions," the jury reported.

It said "major responsibility for the incidents" at Kent, "rests clearly with those who are charged with the administration of the university."

Any attempt to fix sole blame on Guardsmen, students or other participants "would be inconceivable," the jury added.

Nonhostile Deaths Almost Equal Combat Toll In Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. troops are now in Vietnam. Since the war began, 43,821 Americans have been killed in action. Another 8,659 have died from nonhostile causes. So far this year, 3,793 have been killed in combat while 1,436 died from other causes.

For the first time since 1965 when the United States began its rapid buildup of forces in Vietnam, more Americans died in a single week from nonhostile causes than were killed in battle.

That was the week of Sept. 27-Oct. 3 when 41 Americans died from nonhostile causes and 38 were killed in action, a 4½-year low.

Last week's casualty toll, announced Thursday in Saigon, showed 46 GIs killed. It marked the 15th consecutive week that U.S. battlefield deaths were under 90. Nonhostile deaths numbered 37.

While combat deaths have dropped to the lowest level in nearly five years, the weekly number of nonhostile deaths has held fairly steady. In the past 15 weeks, for example, they ranged from a weekly high of 48 to a low of 24.

A Pentagon official said there is always bound to be a number of deaths from accidents, illness or other causes among a large number of people, whether civilian or military. Some 380,000 participants failed to disperse on orders.

"These orders," the report said, "caused a violent reaction and the gathering quickly degenerated into a riotous mob."

District Acts To Head Off Water Shortage

Faced with the prospect of dwindling lake supplies, directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District took two steps Thursday to head off a potential water crisis next summer.

One was to consider the development of additional ground water supplies at a cost of several million dollars. Another was the granting of authority to negotiate a water modification contract in hopes of increasing runoff on the Lake J. B. Thomas and Lake E. V. Spence watersheds.

At the same time, to conserve water supplies of better quality water for municipal use, directors ordered a cut off of Lake Thomas water to oil companies as of Nov. 1. The companies had been cut back June 1 to half of their contract quantities in an effort to stretch supplies.

REGRET CUT OFF

"We regret having to cut off the oil companies drawing on Lake Thomas," said O. H. Ivie, general manager, "because their operations, from which so many of our people benefit, are dependent to some degree upon the water, and because the revenues they provide have drastically reduced the water rates to the cities in past years."

Ivie added that projections indicate the district can meet its municipal commitments until May 1, 1971, assuming no runoff into the lakes, but beyond that date, supplemental supplies of ground water will be required to satisfy these municipal requirements. Several sources of supply are under consideration. Another board meeting was set for Monday, Oct. 26, to consider authorizing a major project or projects to avoid a possible water supply shortage next summer.

If additional ground water is developed, it undoubtedly will result in higher water rates to the cities. Figures at this time are indefinite, but the increase, Ivie hoped, would still leave the rates quite reasonable in comparison to other West Texas cities.

In cutting of the SACROC, Sharon Ridge and Monsanto oil field units using Lake Thomas water, the directors pointed out that oil companies continuing to be served are supplied non-potable water from the Colorado River low-flow diversion at Colorado City, from the poor quality low flow in the river and from channel pools above Lake E. V. Spence.

A district salt water system capable of delivering 4,000,000 gallons per day to the SACROC unit is due for completion by Nov. 1, and Sharon Ridge is developing some salt water wells on its own. To avoid a complete shutdown of these systems if the well supplies are not available Nov. 1, the district might extend the cutoff time briefly.

MIDLAND CREDIT

The board also authorized a water credit to the City of Midland in the amount of the difference between Midland's contract quantity and the amount actually delivered by the district in 1970. Ivie estimated this will be in excess of 500,000,000 gallons. The district has been negotiating a similar arrangement with the City of San Angelo, which may take up to 3,000 acre-feet of water per year from Lake Spence. The board gave its blessing to San Angelo to sell water off its Lake Spence-San Angelo line to rural and institutional users.

The board voted to give Coke County 32,756 acres of land for right of way for a 2.7-mile state lateral road from State Highway 158 northward to the north-side recreational areas at Lake Spence.

Adopted was a budget anticipating $4,964,964 in revenues. Expenditures included operational costs of $1,279,189 (source of supply $155,839, pumping $821,049 administrative and general $211,753, capital outlay $1,700), and debt service of $2,730,204 ($1,835,204 interest and $895,000 principal). This would leave $955,571 net revenues for retirement of tail-end bonds and for indebted funds.

W. D. Caldwell, Big Spring, was awarded a contract for $230,443 for construction of a new concrete spillway at Moss Creek lake southeast of Big Spring. This will be the first step toward raising the Moss Creek dam by 10 feet to impound an additional 1,550 acre-feet of water from Lake E. V. Spence nearer to the district's main pipeline system.

Caldwell was under R. B. Butler, Bryan, by $3,777. The eight bids ran up to a top of $326,030. Work on this project will start immediately, and raising of the dam could be undertaken before the completion of the spillway, said Ivie.

The general manager said that extensive studies of weather modification operations elsewhere had proven them to be generally effective in obtaining rain from cumulus clouds which otherwise would yield no rain.

Volume of generated rain might not be enough to create big runoff, said Ivie, but it could condition the watershed and river for normal rains and prevent evaporative losses so that it would be more than justified. The program might have a net cost to the district upward of $40,000.

New Economic Data Could Aid Republican Hopefuls

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the three-week election less than three weeks away, the Nixon administration has received new economic data that could be handy in counting campaign charges that the nation is headed for a recession.

But Democrats, too, got what could be political ammunition from other major economic indicators announced Thursday. While the Gross National Product, which measures the market value of the nation's total output in goods and services, climbed at a 6 per cent annual rate during the July-September period, industrial production fell sharply by 1.7 per cent, during September.

GOOD NEWS

The GNP rise represented moderately good political news for the administration. It indicated perhaps the first stages of recovery from the economic stagnation that began a year ago.

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said "It is quite clear that the economy is on the threshold and probably in the early stages of substantial and vigorous expansion." In talking with newsmen, McCracken said, "I think the evidence is clear that the rate of inflation has decelerated significantly."

But the climb wasn't as high as the administration had hoped. And because of the auto workers' strike, the inflation rate kept going up, to an annual rate of 4.4 per cent for the three-month period compared with 4.3 per cent for the previous quarter.

The Commerce Department said GNP for the third quarter totaled $985.2 billion at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, up $14.1 billion from the second-quarter figure.

STRIKES IMPACT

The "real" GNP—which measures the nation's output without inflation—rose 1.4 per cent to $924.3 billion. The "real" GNP measures the value of goods and services produced during the three months in terms of 1958 dollars.

The United Auto Workers strike against General Motors held back the GNP again significantly. A Commerce Department analyst said without the strike the rise would have been 6.7 per cent and the increase in actual output would have been about 2.5 per cent. In addition, he said, the inflation rate would have dropped to 4.2 per cent.

The strike's impact on the September industrial production index was dramatic. It fell to 166 per cent of the 1957-1959 average, the lowest figure in two years.

The Federal Reserve Board said the index was down from the 168.9 per cent registered in August and 4.9 per cent below the peak of July, 1969.

The strike accounted for two-thirds of the decline, the board said, with the remainder reflecting decreases in production of consumer goods other than autos, business and defense equipment, and other materials.

Hunt Bridge Fold Victims

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Searchers returned to the rubble of the West Gate Bridge today, seeking 12 missing men, after a 90-minute scare that an adjoining span was about to go.

Thirty-one bodies were recovered Thursday after a 450-foot span of the bridge collapsed, partly into the Yarra River and partly on a group of huts where workmen building the $47-million bridge were having lunch. Eighteen persons were killed. Some of the unrecovered bodies could be seen in the rubble.

Another 18 workmen were injured, and seven of them were in critical condition.

The recovery work was suspended temporarily when an emergency crew of six riggers on an adjoining 450-foot section of the bridge felt it moving. They came down and refused to go up again.

'QUITE SAFE'

Police kept people away from the span while six engineers went up to inspect it. The project manager, Trevor Nixon, analyzed their findings and pronounced the 130-foot-high span "quite safe."

"We believe this shudder was most likely caused by the metal of the bridge heating up and expanding, thus causing the rollers on which the span is mounted to move," Nixon said. "It is designed to do this."

He said another possibility was that a crane touched a guy wire leading to the span, causing the wire and the span to move.

Nixon said it would take several days to search through the rubble of the fallen span and that a 100-ton crane would be needed to get the bodies out.

Among those killed was Jack Hindshaw of London, chief engineer with the design architects. A union organizer said Hind-shaw held a meeting six weeks ago to explain to workmen why the bridge was considered safe. The men were afraid because of the collapse June 2 of the Milford Haven Bridge in Wales, a similar type of bridge designed by the same architects.

CAN'T BE FORESEEN

Hindshaw "told us that a different method of construction was being used which made the bridge safe," said the union man, James O'Neill. "A major disaster like this just can't be foreseen. The constructors were very conscious of the safety of workmen on the project."

The 1.6-mile, eight lane bridge was scheduled to be opened next year. It will be Australia's largest.

The unions have now withdrawn all labor from the project, and six inquiries are planned.

Recapture Four Jail Escapees

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Authorities recaptured Thursday the lone remaining jail escapee who had, along with three other Smith County prisoners, fled from the courthouse in the first successful escape in 16 years here.

Officials said they recaptured Al J. Blaylock, 23, in Tyler around 9:30 p.m.

The other three escapees were recaptured about 30 minutes after they fled from the jail. They were caught near a rail yard. They were Harold R. Moore, 22; Donald D. Callier, 20; and James R. King, 19.

The men fled when a guard entered the jail area of the courthouse earlier Thursday.

Bush, Bentsen To Show On Same Platform Today

DALLAS (AP) — Senatorial candidate George Bush and Lloyd Bentsen appear on the same platform today, only the second time in the long, hard-fought campaign for a face-to-face confrontation.

The occasion was a political affairs luncheon sponsored by the Dallas League of Women Voters in a downtown Dallas hotel.

Earlier they met briefly on a program in Paris.

But the Dallas meeting was to debate.

SPECIAL TAXES

Each candidate was allotted 13 minutes for presentation of a statement and the prepared statements had to be submitted to the sponsors ahead of time. A flip of the coin decided which would speak first. There were no rebuttals.

In his prepared statement, released to newsmen ahead of the luncheon, Democrat Bentsen proposed creation of an "Environmental Trust Fund" to provide long-term, low-interest loans to business firms and grants to local governmental agencies to help finance pollution cures.

"Financing this fund would require special taxes," Bentsen said. "But the cost would be reduced by creating a revolving fund and by utilizing a private loan guaranty system similar to that of the FHA and the Small Business Administration."

TOUGH LAWS

Bentsen said the solving of pollution problems hinges on the availability of public revenues.

"We all accept the truth that the time has come to correct 200 years of sins against the environment," he said. "The clock is ticking and we're beyond the point of postponing the important decisions affecting our land, water, air and sensitivities."

Bentsen also told the women's group that he favored:

- Enlarging the family planning assistant program with "the year 2000 as the target year for achieving level population growth."
- Tough federal anti-pollution laws with regional enforcement.
- "The states must do more, but state laws solve only part of the problem."

Our 8:30 a.m. service is a family service, planned with every member of the family in mind. A great youth choir leads in this service.

(If you find it necessary to work on Sunday and cannot be in your own church at the regular hour, come and worship with us.)

30-DAY OUTLOOK — These maps, provided by the National Weather Service, indicate the probable range of temperature and precipitation for the next 30 days.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are "alone" again, after raising, educating and marrying off two children. Our house is paid for, we have no debts, and with our combined incomes we have no money worries. Now that we can take life easy we should enjoy the happiest days of our lives. But we're not. Life seems boring and empty. We have taken a few trips, but you have to come home sometime.

Is there something the matter with us? Or does this happen to other people our age? M & J

DEAR M AND J: It happens to lots of people. You need to come out of your insulated world and face a few more challenges. Become involved in projects, and causes, and people to whom you can devote your energy, time and money. (You won't have to look far.)

Happiness doesn't come from "taking life easy." It comes from making your time count for something. The most miserable people in the world are those who don't have anything to get up in the morning for. Don't join that club.

DEAR ABBY: You gals sure do stick together! About the couple who were dining in a fine restaurant: It seems the strolling musicians offered to play their favorite tune. The gentleman didn't tip the musicians, so the lady wrote to say she thought the gentleman was a cheapskate. And you agreed with her.

I can name several reasons why a gentleman wouldn't want to have a band of strolling musicians stand by his table and play his favorite song. For one thing, maybe he doesn't want to suffer the grins and stares from a roomful of smirking morons.

Also, it's possible the gentleman didn't know what an appropriate tip for such a favor should be.

Or he could have been just plain resentful for having been hustled by the musicians. Your attitude is enough to drive a man into gay lib.

DEAR NO: I can understand the gentleman's wish to be inconspicuous, and I respect it. But not knowing what an appropriate tip should be is certainly no excuse for not tipping at all. When in doubt, a dollar will do.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

It was necessary for South to assume that East had the club king, for if the club finesse fails, the defense has the setting trick in. The three

If It Takes Money, Do It

Recently Justice Warren Burger told the American Bar Association: "In the supermarket age, we are trying to operate the courts with cracker-barrel, corner-grocer methods and equipment — vintage 1900."

His remarks were addressed toward the need for court reform. He spoke of the need for trained administrators, modernized procedures, more and better judges. He pointed out that during the period when the nation's population has trebled, the number of judges grew only by 70 per cent. Many types of litigation have proliferated, for instance such as personal injury cases which have multiplied five times. There are many new areas of court action brought on by a rapidly changing, innovated society and industry.

"The most simple and obvious remedy is to give the courts the manpower and tools — including prosecutors and defense lawyers — to try criminal cases within indictment."

Mr. Justice Burger says: "I predict it would sharply reduce the crime rate."

We are inclined to agree. Few cases come to prompt trial. Nationally, the average approaches two years from date of billing until there is some court action. We know of one case which originated here, but which now rests in Illinois, that has been hanging for nearly a decade.

This beefing-up will cost some money, around $128 million. One columnist, Roscoe Drummond, observed wryly this is the cost of one C-5A airplane. We leave it to you which is the more important.

Russians Embarrassed Again

The Nobel Prize people have embarrassed Russia again.

The first time was in 1938 when Boris Pasternak was awarded the prize for literature for "Dr. Zhivago." Pasternak was on the officially disapproved list and Soviet authorities wouldn't let him go to Sweden to accept the prize.

This time the Swedish Academy of Letters made the literature award to Alexander Solzhenitsyn, who is in even more disgrace at home than was Pasternak.

Solzhenitsyn's works are banned in Russia. He was kicked out of the Soviet Writers Union earlier this year for his novels which criticize Soviet society. The books have been smuggled out and published in the West.

The Nobel award cites the "ethical force with which he has pursued the indispensable traditions of Russian literature."

Suppression of Solzhenitsyn's novels reinforces belief that the Soviet Communist party is one of the world's most reactionary groups. It will not tolerate criticism, even by such an enlightened and creative man as Solzhenitsyn.

When Is A Base Not A Base?

WASHINGTON — When is a "military base" not a "military base" but just a place at foreign ports where submarines can be refueled and pick up missiles and other supplies? The Soviet government in a formal statement has clarified its own policy in Cuba, and evidently feels it doesn't need a "base" in a military sense at all. It just has to have a friendly nation with a port.

AFTER ASSERTING explicitly that it "has not built and is not building" a military base in Cuba, the Moscow government officially explains its position as follows:

"As for the use of the world ocean, the Soviet Union strictly adheres to operating principles and rules of contemporary international law. If Soviet ships and vessels enter ports of foreign states, including ports of the Republic of Cuba, on official visits and business calls, they do so with the permission of the governments of the states concerned. It is obvious that such calls are an inalienable right of sovereign states, universally recognized and confirmed by many centuries of international practice."

ABOUT ALL this means is that the Soviets say they are not building up a special base in Cuba, but have arranged to drop in at ports on the island to get necessary supplies and services for their submarines, which are obviously going to be stationed close to the United States for a long time.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird evidently has anticipated the

Billy Graham

Ministers preach about faith, but they don't explain what it is. Will you please define it for me?

D.K.

The dictionary says, "Faith is unquestioning belief in God," and that's not a bad definition. Another definition is: "complete confidence, trust, allegiance." Faith is something we all possess. In fact, faith is a series of assumptions. It takes faith to get on an airplane, particularly after we read of a tragic air crash. It takes faith to eat in a restaurant, when the last one we ate in gave us food poisoning. It takes faith to pull out in a freeway, especially when we read that nearly 50,000 people are killed on our highways each year. It even takes faith to get married. How many young men are sure they are marrying the woman of their dreams? And some of them turn out tragically, but people go right on marrying, because they have faith. Life would go completely stagnant without this quality of faith.

But, notice that faith is not something abstract. The Bible says that faith and action go together. "Faith without works is dead." You may learn golf from a book, but there comes a time when you must put theory in practice, and hit the ball. Many people have a vague sort of religious faith, but it is worthless unless it expressed in concrete action. Faith leads to Christian experience; they both go together.

The Big Railroad Mystery

NEW YORK (AP) — Out of a mystery emerges an experiment dangle with question marks.

The mystery: Did the American people desert the passenger trains? Or did the railroads abandon the passengers to irregular accommodations and irregular service?

The experiment: The creation by Congress of a private corporation, the National Railroad Passenger Corp., to take over passenger lines in March with the goal of improving service and making a profit doing it.

And the questions: Why is there supposedly so little support for passenger trains at the ticket counter was there such overwhelming support in Congress for a federally assisted program to improve service?

And why should a federally sponsored corporation, brand new to the business, succeed where the railroads, with a century of experience behind them, threw up their hands in frustration?

The mystery will remain one for at least several years, or until we can see from the profit and loss statements of the new corporation whether it is likely to succeed or fail.

About all that can be said with certainty right now is that there has been wholesale abandonment of this type of transportation, because there are now only 400 or 500 intercity trains compared with 20,000 some 40 years ago.

Nobody, however, can marshal the facts and logic to convince doubters that one or the other—the passenger or the railroad—is the culprit.

Many passengers maintain they were driven from the rails by poor management, and that this management also was too fainthearted to compete against the new and improved services of airlines and buses.

The railroads view themselves as having battled heroically to hold their passengers and gave up only when they found themselves with larger crews than passenger lists, a situation that dictated cutbacks and decreed that no more money be invested in lost causes.

The railroads had a long and difficult time convincing people that they weren't playing book-keeping tricks, but gradually they did attract formidable support to their cause.

George Hilton, chairman of the 1964 Presidential Task Force on Transportation Policy, was one of these. He commented last year that "public policy ought to allow the passenger train to pass out of existence unimpeded."

Want To Play House?

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the things adults can't understand about children is why they are in such a hurry to grow up.

To a child growing up is the all-important goal in life. If you ask him why he is so impatient to achieve this aim, he is likely to reply:

"Because nobody can tell a grown-up what to do. He can stay up late if he wants to, and doesn't have to eat everything that everybody tells him he has to. He can do anything he wants to all the time."

It is only after the child has been grown up a while that it dawns on him that he has merely gone from a small prison to a larger one, and that his expected greater freedom is a fraud.

Then he wonders, too late, why he was so desperate to become an adult.

He looks back with yearning on the days before, and these are a few of the things he misses from his vanished childhood:

Asking a little girl friend if she'd like to play house. "You be the door, Marie, and I'll slam you. Ha, ha, ha!"

Fighting, leaden-eyed, a failing fight to stay up on Christmas Eve and watch Santa Claus slide down the chimney.

Making ice cream out of snow and frozen cream on a wintry day.

Skinny dipping in the old swimming hole, and holding your breath under water when the afternoon train went by.

Satisfying a sudden afternoon hunger with a piece of bread covered with layers of butter, mustard and sugar.

Falling in love with a disdained girl red-haired girl in kindergarten, a puppy romance destined to leave an everlasting scar.

Gaining some insight into the eternal mystery of life by watching a tadpole change into a frog.

Getting your first tooth knocked out by a classmate in the first grade—a major step in the education of a pacifist.

Agreeing with a stronger and older brother on how to share the joint present of a new sled —he to have it all winter, you to have it all summer.

Crying out with the agony of a stubbed barefoot toe, but inwardly feeling pleased at the glory you'd get from wearing a bandage.

Thinking that when you finally did grow up you would never punish your kids and would always understand them and how they felt about things.

Yes, A Caruncle Is Painful

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D., after age 50 and menopause

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What causes a caruncle of the urethra? What is the treatment? It is very painful.

After a cystoscopic examination, a urologist said it will go away in time or he will have to operate, and that many old ladies have this trouble. He gave me some pills, then went on a month's vacation to Europe.

I am 70 and in excellent health except being 10 pounds overweight.

A.T.R. Yes, such a caruncle is painful! It is a benign (not cancerous) mass at the opening of the female urethra, or urinary outlet.

The cause is usually a prolapse, or forward folding of the membrane that lines the urethra, and appears as a small, red lump.

It is painful to the touch, and painful with urination — frequency of urination is common and bleeding fairly common. The urinary stream also may be slanted.

The trouble occurs usually

At her age, and since she doesn't suck her thumb, she'll probably drift away from the habit before long, without making an issue of it. (I presume she doesn't sleep all night with the pacifier in her mouth.)

I'd suspect it of being an idiosyncrasy that isn't doing any harm and will solve itself pretty soon.

What causes "balance" trouble? What can be done to correct or overcome it? Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea, Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy of the booklet write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Hell Hath No Fury Like Political Gals

WASHINGTON — I'll tell you something else, Gloria Steinem and Women's Lib Inc. You are not going to find me alone in the same room with a dame during the waning days of this political campaign.

THIS IS NOT because of any suddenly acquired dislike of the female sex, per se. After all, they still make the best fudge, and I will always admire their animal cunning in steering unwary males into expensive hashbushes noted for big smoked salmon. It's just that I've decided I'm not strong enough to stand up to girls in an election year.

It must have been building up for some time while I was inventing television, because it seems to me that never before in the history of this great nation have women been so pugacious about politics. The way they carry on, you'd think they'd discovered a plot to abolish alimony or to make mink coats illegal.

GIRLISH VOICES that used to whisper sweet nothings in male ears now are being raised in blood-curdling screams, accompanied by the shaking of little fists and, occasionally, a left hook to the mush. To the average tomato, it is a personal affront that anyone should dare to run against her candidate.

The other night at a dinner party I got to talking to a nice doll noted for her ladylike behavior at all times. I passed an innocent remark about Spiro Agnew. As I recall, I said in effect, "Well, he sure is Vice President of the United States, ain't he?"

THE GIRL fell on me like a bobcat up to here in martini. It seems she is a Democrat, and has it on high authority that if too many Republicans win this year they will forthwith trade Iowa to Iran for six dancing girls and a second-hand burnoose.

Besides, she bellowed, Agnew is a fascist. Richard Nixon never shaves and how about the high price of coffee? When she paused for breath, and to don her brass knuckles, I remarked timidly that I thought the various congressional races were going to be very interesting.

"HA!" SHE SNEERED, toying meaningfully with a switch-blade knife. "You're a Republican." It was not a statement, it was an accusation — like confronting me with the charge that I had just sold some nuclear bomb blue prints to Alexei Kosygin.

Another clue I know is just as truculently pro-Nixon. But when she launches into a campaign speech, she gets all emotional and bursts into tears. This is embarrassing if you happen to be in a tea room with her because the shaking gives you black looks and other dolls drop by the table and say things like "What did the beast do to you, dearie?"

PERHAPS the worst type, though, is the girl who's done research. Get into a friendly discussion with her and she keeps flooring you with snappers like "Oh year, how about the way the bum voted on antimacassars for Liberia?"

Chilling Winds Of Resumed Cold War

WASHINGTON — The cold war warriors are beginning to beat the drums. They foresee an end to negotiating for coexistence with the Soviet Union and the renewal of the old war of tensions and angry rhetoric.

This has gone so far already, it is suggested, that the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) may not be resumed at Helsinki early next month as had been agreed when the session at Vienna ended.

THESE VIEWS are held passionately — sincere is a wholly inadequate word — by men who reject any and all efforts of the two superpowers to arrive at a standoff. "You can't trust the Russians and now it's being proved once again."

So fast is the reversal taking place one of the most knowledgeable men with full access to intelligence reports put it: "I thought at one point it was going too far in the other direction, but now I am afraid it is moving too fast the opposite way."

THE INCIDENT of the reported Soviet nuclear submarine base under construction at Cienfuegos in Cuba is a convincing illustration of the trend.

Sen. Frank Church, chairman of a foreign affairs subcommittee on Latin America, called witnesses from the Pentagon's defense intelligence agency to try to get the facts. They could say only that apparently barracks were being built at Cienfuegos and several barges had been brought into the harbor. There was no evidence of any start on submarine pens or the kind of heavy construction essential to a nuclear submarine base.

ALTHOUGH IT WAS never reported, the Russians at the SALT talks in Vienna raised the question of the closeness to the respective borders of the two superpowers of their offensive nuclear missiles. They were saying, in effect, that U. S. missiles are poised close to Russian borders, and also that American aircraft carriers with planes with a 600-mile range are off Russian territorial waters.

Was not proximity of the forces of annihilation a subject for negotiation? Is it not possible that the Caribbean is tit-for-tat in America's positioning of nuclear striking power? Whatever reasonable hope there may be in such an approach, the shrill cries of the cold war warriors are likely to drown it.

IN THE RAPID trend away from any standoff agreement and toward a renewed cold war the nonaggression treaty between Bonn and Moscow may be a casualty and with it Chancellor Willy Brandt's Social Democratic-Free Democratic coalition government. Coming here in an effort to sound opinion Horst Ehmke, one of Brandt's ablest lieutenants, was disturbed to find both in and out of government strong currents of opinion opposed to the treaty.

THE MOST dismaying fact contributing directly to chilling the atmosphere is the continuing Soviet "Egyptian cheating in the ceasefire zone along the Suez Canal. This is now scarcely concealed or denied. It has aroused the deepest concern not only in Israel but in this country among those who fear it means development of a position immediately menacing Israel's security.

Two recent incidents threatened interruption of traffic in the air corridors to Berlin, and this is the stuff the cold war feeds on. The steady drumbeat has begun that will end no one knows how or when.

What Others Say

Some newly minted college graduates — male — who wear their hair long are experiencing difficulty getting good jobs. The young men are discovering that the style so fashionable on campus often produces negative reaction elsewhere.

Why should this be? Of what importance is a cosmetic affectation? The answers probably often escape the very people who feel a quickening rage when they observe what is, after all, only a hair style.

Or is it only a hair style? The truth is — and we have the young people's word for it — that long hair is very often a symbol of contempt for the values of conventional Americans. What provokes a hostile reaction, then, is not the fact of long hair, but the obvious desire to provoke a hostile reaction. Nothing is so sure to arouse antipathy as an overt attempt to do exactly that.

It's just not in human nature to welcome antagonism. Or to hire it.

Trudeau Declares Government Threatened With Insurrection

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau invoked Canada's War Measures Act today, declaring that the country was threatened with insurrection by French Canadian separatists holding two officials as hostages.

It was the third time the act had been invoked since it was passed during World War I. The two previous times were during the two world wars.

A 3 a.m. deadline passed without an answer to an offer from the Quebec provincial government to exchange five prisoners for the two men kidnapped last week, British Trade Commissioner James R. Cross and Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte. The kidnappers had demanded the release of 23 men convicted or awaiting trial for terrorist acts and plane passage for them and their families to Algeria or Cuba.

'MOCKERY'

Robert Lemieux, the Montreal lawyer negotiating with the provincial government on behalf of the kidnappers, rejected the offer as "incredible mockery" and washed his hands of the negotiations. But this was considered a personal reaction, and a communique was awaited from the kidnappers' terrorist organization, the Quebec Liberation Front, or FLQ.

The War Measures Act empowers the government without consulting Parliament to make its own laws concerning arrest, deportation, censorship and anything it "deems necessary for the security, defense, peace, order and welfare of Canada." Violations are punishable by a maximum of five years imprisonment and $5,000 fine, and no trial, bail or release is permitted without the consent of the federal justice minister.

EARLY BIRD

A spokesman for Trudeau announced proclamation of the act at a 5 a.m. news conference held in the parliamentary press gallery.

There was no immediate indication how far the government would go in its utilization of the special powers.

The spokesman said the Cabinet had adopted an order "establishing certain regulations considered necessary to deal with the situation." He refused to explain these regulations but said Trudeau would put them before the House of Commons today.

The Quebec government's offer to the kidnappers also included a promise of safe conduct to a country of their choice but rejected the other demands made after one FLQ cell kidnaped Cross on Oct. 5 and another made off with Laporte last Saturday. The announcement said this was the government's "final position" and asked for a reply within six hours, by 3 a.m.

Lemieux said he had information that police had discovered the hideout of the terrorists who

'Jailhouse Lawyers' Lose Round

HOUSTON (AP)—Inmates of Texas prisons lost their round in court Thursday as a federal judge ruled against "jailhouse lawyers."

Woodrow Seals ruled in the case of Ronald Novak, who had served time in solitary and had filed a petition seeking to have such confinement rules cruel and inhumane punishment.

The prisons then banned inmates from helping other inmates in filing petitions, writs and other legal documents.

Dr. George Beto, prisons director, had told a hearing that he "mortally feared" a convict-run prison, which he said is what would result if inmates were allowed such powers over others through pseudo legal advice.

White African Rule Refutes Church Move

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In backing the upward struggle of the black poor, churches often meet stiff opposition from some white U. S. members. Now, however, such church action on an embattled, global front has collided head on with white governments in Africa.

ster of what he called aid "to terrorists." Other critics accused the churches of abetting a new "holy war—1970 version."
It is the first time in modern history that Christian organizational funds have been officially allocated to rebel guerrilla movements—although at its outset Christianity itself was an illegal movement under the ancient Roman empire.

In making the grants, the World Council of Churches specified that the money be used only for welfare-educational needs, and the recipients agreed. But some of them are committed to armed resistance to ruling white regimes.
In South Africa, Vorster has threatened that "action would be taken" against denominations unless they divorced themselves from the cooperative council and its work.

'Sacred History' Topic Of Meeting

AUSTIN — An internationally recognized church historian and author and an ecumenical national Jewish leader will deliver major papers at the 6th annual Texas Faith and Order Conference Nov. 20-22 at the Presbyterian Mo-Ranch, near Ingram, Tex.

His most recent books are "The Search for a Usable Future," "The Modern Schism" and "The Protestant Experience in America."
Rabbi Rudin is assistant director of the Interreligious Affairs Department of the American Jewish Committee. He holds degrees from George Washington University and the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion.

Some have refused to do so. Protesting the "premier's threat against the Christian churches," the assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Southern Africa said "its only Lord and Master is Jesus Christ and it may not serve other masters."
Its "task is not necessarily to support the government in power but to be faithful to the gospel," the church said in defying the premier's order to quit the World Council. But it did register dissent about the grants.

The Rev. Dr. Martin E. Marty of Chicago and Rabbi A. James Rudin of New York will explore the Conference's subject, "Sacred History — A World View for Today?"
Sponsored by the Texas Conference of Churches, the Conference is expected to be attended by 120 clergy and lay leaders from across the state including observer-participant representatives of the Jewish faith.
Registration applications are being received through judicatory offices of member denominations.

Dr. Marty is associate dean and professor of modern church history at the University of Chicago Divinity School and associate editor of "The Christian Century." He received the Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago, where he has served on the faculties since 1963.

The Texas Conference of Churches was constituted Feb. 25, 1969 in Austin. Current membership is comprised of 43 ecclesiastical units of 15 Christian denominations, including Roman Catholic and Greek Orthodox.
Bishop John L. Morkovsky of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Galveston-Houston is president.

Bible Reading Topic Of Book

The Rev. Dr. George A. Butrick, general editor of "The Interpreter's Bible," and editor of the "Interpreter's Dictionary of the Bible," has written a new book, "Still It Speaks" for The Upper Room's department of publications.
Dr. Butrick is a recognized scholar of distinction, preacher, counselor and lecturer and many Americans recall his 28-year pastorate at the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City. Others will remember that he has served as preacher to the University and Plummer Professor of Christian Morals at Harvard University.

His new work, explains to readers how the Bible must be read. The noted pulpiteer and scholar says in an early passage in "Still It Speaks," "The Bible is not a book of our finding God, but primarily of His finding us," and:
"We are creatures of a wonderful, tragic burden of liberty which God Himself grants. Yet His loving will prevails."
The last paragraph of this book will best be remembered as Dr. Butrick writes of readers of the Bible:
"He should remember as he reads that the eyes of the Lord Christ are on him and on the sacred page. Then he will find both light and power-light for his decisions in a crucial and revolutionary time, and power to live as a 'witness to the revolution."

West Texas Town Lends Help, Love

By LYNNA WILLIAMS
ALBANY — Past the railroad tracks in this small West Texas town, there is a neatly painted white frame house that Albany residents point out to visitors as one built "with love and care."

and he isn't an ex-con. He just had a problem and we wanted to help."
After the house, which has a combination living room-dining room and kitchen, and a bedroom and a bathroom, was finished, the ladies of the town got in the act buying new linens, china and other household articles.

The house was constructed as a community project gift to a 52-year-old Shackelford County native, Dub Holcomb, who in August returned from a 10-month stay at Huntsville State Prison.
Holcomb, who was sentenced to the rehabilitation section of the prison on a driving while intoxicated (DWI) conviction came back here on parole Aug. 26 and drove the winding dirt road to his lot expecting to find the same small, flood-damaged house he had lived in before.

A painter-contractor who "never wants for jobs" in the Albany area, Holcomb joked that while "going to prison got me a house" he isn't going to "go back for a carport."
"I'm not mad at anyone," he says of his time at Huntsville. "I'm very very satisfied with the way they treated me and there isn't any resentment or hard feelings."
Holcomb is a bachelor whose only area relative is a sister, Mrs. Connie Biggs of Abilene. He will be on parole for 17 more months. He talks frankly and with ease about his "drinking problem" that is in the past now and even jokes about his "control officer."

Instead, he found a new house, completely furnished with fully stocked cupboards.
"It shook me up a whole bunch," he said. "It took me a week to get back to sleep."
"A whole bunch of names came to my mind at once — no one name, just a whole group of people here I knew would think of doing it for me."
Holcomb says he will "never know how much or who or what," concerning the building of the house because the about 100 persons directly involved "didn't do it to be thanked."

Although just finding the new house was a shock, "the real shock came with the thought that all these people care — the number of people and the amount of work they put in," Holcomb said.
An Albany businessman who helped spearhead the drive and who did not wish to be identified because "We didn't do this for publicity," described the house building as a "project of the town" that never lacked for any type of volunteer help.
The drive to build the house started in early August and after three weeks of frantic activity the project was completed.

"The road to this house hadn't been traveled so much in 20 years," the businessman said.
The reason behind the building of the house was a basic one, the businessman-builder said. "We wanted to help a good man who was down on his luck."
Another mover in the project added, "Dub isn't a criminal

A LOVELIER YOU Weight Loss Takes Desire, Will Power

By MARY SUE MILLER

A lovely writes: I try to watch my weight. Lunch is my downfall. I have it at a lunch counter where macaroni, rice pudding and such are the regular fare. I'm hungry, so I eat. And I gain. Any ideas?

The answer: Career girls and schoolgirls constantly claim that counter and cafeteria menus go overboard on calorie-loaded fried and starchy foods. Maybe so, but that is hard to believe in this day of weight-conscious and updated dietetics.

There is sure to be an alternative to the inevitable macaroni or French fries. When you do not take it you cannot blame a school lunchroom or Ye Olde Eaterie. You had best school yourself to making "educated" choices. At the very least, you can forego bread on macaroni days. You can have a piece of fruit when the dessert is heavy-going.

What about the possibility of totting your lunch? Before you decide, remember that for you lunch is no sandwich affair. Delicious, low-cal menus are the aim. Purely as a sample, this 325-calorie menu: Hot bouillon, chicken leg or cold meat (left from dinner), apple salad with dieter's mayonnaise, low-cal vanilla pudding.

When you come down to it, those who really want to slim or stay slim find a way to eat good and proper foods. They enjoy mealtime and weighing-in time, too.

POCKET CALORIE COUNTER
Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our leaflet, "Pocket Calorie Counter," tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan—a way to eat and slim. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Mary Janes See Sewing Center

Mary Jane Club women met at Singer Sewing Center Thursday for a program on fabric care given by Mrs. L. A. Zant. Following her talk, Mrs. Zant demonstrated a new sewing machine. After the program, members had lunch at Furr's Cafeteria. The next meeting will be Nov. 5 with Mrs. Bobby Roman as hostess.

Role Of Church Shown By Film

The Rev. Thomas Kennedy opened the Immaculate Heart of Mary Mother Club meeting Tuesday with a prayer and brief talk. He referred to the mothers and faculty as "pioneers of the church" for they are "setting the example the children will follow." Sister Eleanor and Sister Marcia conducted a prayer service followed by a film, "The Church and The Modern World." Members discussed the role of the church in a changing world.

Mrs. Allen Herridge presided, and Mrs. Aurora Puga, program chairman, announced that games will be played at the next meeting. Members will also hold a "food show" for the sisters at the Nov. 10 meeting.

Attend Meeting

WESTBROOK (SC)—The Rev. and Mrs. Frank Hodnett and Mrs. Gerald Rollins of First Baptist Church attended the annual Mitchell-Scurry Association meeting Tuesday in Green Hill Baptist Church at Snyder.

'Y' Activity Outlined At School

A demonstration of a typical YMCA Indian Guide meeting was given at the Kentwood Parent-Teacher Association meeting Tuesday. Perry Chandler, president, introducing Curtis Mullins, YMCA director, who spoke on the activities at the YMCA. Leon Miller headed the group presenting the Indian Guide meeting.

Ron Sellers, minister of Carl Street Church of Christ, gave the invocation. Chandler encouraged members to attend the district workshop at Westbrook School beginning at 9 a.m., Oct. 22. Mrs. Paschal Odom, chairman of the Halloween Carnival, announced tickets may be purchased ahead of time or at the door. Chandler appointed a committee headed by Paschal Odom to decide how to invest the proceeds earned at the carnival.

Room count was won by Mrs. Ray Cantrell's second grade. Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Allen Fox and Mrs. Bob Wheeler. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., Nov. 10.

Quiz Taken By Credit Women

Following their regular luncheon meeting Thursday at the Hotel Settles, Big Spring Credit Women took their study manual exam. The exam marks the completion of the "Harmony In The Ky of C" manual, which stressed the values of "consideration, cooperation and communication" in business.

Mrs. W. E. Moren presided, and members contributed $100 to Howard County Library. The installation of new officers will be held at a dinner Tuesday at Big Spring Country Club. The next regular meeting will be Nov. 5.

Reconciliation Is Circle Program

Mrs. J. E. Peters and Mrs. David Pohl presented a study program for the Lalla Baird Circle, Wesley United Methodist Church, Tuesday. Mrs. Ray Anderson, Old San Angelo Highway, was hostess.

Mrs. Peters spoke on "Reconciliation," and Mrs. Pohl on "How Dependable Is Your God?" Mrs. W. D. Lovelace, worded the prayer and devotion, and Mrs. M. O. Hamby presided. The next meeting will be Oct. 20 with Mrs. Lovelace, 2206 Carol, as hostess.

Interface Dress

Interfacings, placed between a facing and the outer fabric of a garment, give body and shape to clothes you sew yourself. Don't use an interfacing fabric that is heavier than the garment material. For cotton garments, use one of these fabrics for interfacings: cotton lawn, batiste, permanent finish organdy, muslin or cotton sheath lining.

To Baste Dirndl

If you plan to make a dirndl skirt, use the longest basting stitch on your machine to gather the fabric. To gather large areas, make it two rows of stitching, about a fourth of an inch apart. For large areas and heavy cottons, use heavy duty cotton thread. Avoid stitching across seam allowances when you gather. Instead, sew to the seamline and start again on the other side.

VICTORY — Baltimore pitcher Mike Cuellar raises his arms in victory as he rushes to meet third baseman Brooks Robinson after Orioles won fifth and final game of 1970 World Series by defeating Cincinnati 9-3. Brooks Robinson has been named the most valuable player in the series.

Baltimore O's End Set In Five Games

BALTIMORE (AP) — All the come out to pick up our clouds have rolled by for the checks." Orioles Manager Earl Baltimore Orioles, basking in a Weaver said before the American League champions rode a turned a rainy payday into a 15-hit barrage and the left arm of Mike Cuellar to the Series clinching triumph over the power-laden but pitching-thin Cincinnati club.

BACK ON TOP

Baltimore's fourth victory in five games closed out the best-of-seven series and gave the Orioles whopping bonuses in addition to their regular, twice-monthly pay envelopes. Moreover, it vindicated their claim to major league supremacy after a year of attrition.

"The money is a great reward but the personal satisfaction of being the best ball club means more," said Frank Robinson, who led the Orioles to their initial series conquest five years ago against Los Angeles and started their final charge Thursday with a two-run homer.

"This makes up for everything," said Brooks Robinson, whose clutch hitting and sensational defensive play earned him landslide acclaim as the most valuable player in the series. "Nothing can replace winning for the first time (1966), but there's more satisfaction bouncing back to do it again."

The Orioles, beaten in five games by the Mets last October, rebounded with 108 regular season wins—the last 11 in success—then swept the AL pennant playoffs in three games and won three more out of the Reds before Lee May's three-run eighth inning homer snapped the 17-game streak Wednesday.

That victory kept Cincinnati alive, but the Orioles applied the death blow Thursday as Cuellar shackled the Reds on six hits.

"This year, we had a little added incentive," said Paul Blair, whose nine hits matched Brooks Robinson's record-tying total for a five-game series. "We worked harder to make things go our way."

"The Mets did everything they had to do to win last year—just like we did in this Series. But I don't think we played up to our capability against them."

Brooks Used Mace, Glove To Kayo Reds

BALTIMORE (AP) — The champagne party taking place in the Baltimore Orioles' dressing room was beginning to make its way toward Brooks Robinson's locker when Elrod Hendricks handed a bottle of the chilled bubbly to the World Series hero and delivered an admonition as well.

"This is for user, not abuser," said Hendricks as the Orioles spilled the stuff. "Don't drop it."

If Robinson had dropped the champagne, it would have been the biggest upset of the Series. He dropped nothing throughout the five games against Cincinnati and seemed to thoroughly demoralize the Reds with his fielding gems.

TERROR AT BAT

But Robinson's bat did its share of damage, too. He had nine hits in 21 swings, a .428 pace, that included two homers and six runs batted in and was a far cry from the 1-for-19 frustration he suffered in the 1969 Series against the New York Mets.

"This makes up for everything," said Robinson, "the four straight losses, the 1-for-19 ... everything."

Robinson went into the 1969 Series swinging a hot bat. He had seven hits in 14 chances in the playoff sweep against Minnesota and was looking forward to the Mets.

"I really felt great going into that Series," said Robinson. "Then, nothing."

This year, he repeated his hot playoff stream with a 7-for-12 performance in three games against Minnesota.

"But after what happened last year, I decided not to think about it. I went in hoping for the best."

Brooks socked a game-winning homer in the opener, drove in the tying run as the Reds came from behind to take No. 2, smacked a pair of doubles in the third game triumph and went 4-for-4 in the Orioles' only loss.

He had one hit in Thursday's 9-3 wrapup victory and took a called third strike in the eighth inning, his final swing.

GREAT OVATION

When Brooks wheeled to walk toward the Orioles' dugout, the Memorial Stadium crowd of 45,341, gave him a standing ovation.

"I heard it," said Robinson, "and I appreciated it. But I was still mad about taking that third strike."

So, as he had all through the Series, Robinson took out his mad on the Reds with his glove. The Birds had the game all but won when he put the finishing touch on with a diving stab of Johnny Bench's ninth-inning liner in foul territory.

It was the third time in two days that Robinson had robbed Bench. Lee May, another pitting, right-handed slugger, had been frustrated repeatedly earlier in the Series and it got so bad that the Reds started calling Robinson names ... like Hoover.

"I got it over Hoover, exulted May when he hit the three-run homer that won game 4. There was no way Robinson's vacuum cleaner glove could catch home runs. But he handled everything else."

Jim Plunkett Nears Collegiate Record

By The Associated Press
"Jim Plunkett is just amazing. He knew the patterns that would go and he read the Southern Cal defenses like a pro. He might be better than Roman Gabriel. Not in a few years ... I mean right now."

The speaker was former Stanford and pro quarterback Gary Kerkorian sounding off after the Indians' 24-14 victory over Southern California last weekend.

The Plunkett-Gabriel comparison is likely to trigger a rash of arguments but right now Plunkett will settle for being better than Steve Ramsey ... and that may happen Saturday against Washington State at Spokane.

Plunkett needs 214 yards either passing or rushing to become major college football's all-time total offense leader. Ramsey, who wound up his career at North Texas State last season, compiled 6,568 yards.

UP TO NINTH
Stanford's impressive triumph shot the Indians up to ninth place in The Associated Press poll and into the forefront for the race to the Rose Bowl as the only unbeaten team in Pacific-8 Conference play.

Texas, ranked second, and Arkansas, No. 10, have the week off but top-rated Ohio State is at home against rugged Minnesota and third-ranked Notre Dame is at No. 18 Missouri for a national TV game (ABC-TV, 2:30 p.m., CDT).

Elsewhere, No. 4 Mississippi entertains Southern Mississippi, No. 5 Nebraska at Kansas, Michigan State at No. 6 Michigan, No. 7 Air Force vs. Navy at Washington, D.C., and Georgia Tech, No. 16, at eighth-ranked Auburn.

DISAPPOINTED — Cincinnati Reds third baseman Tony Perez sits dejectedly in dressing room after Baltimore won Thursday's game 9-3 and took the World Series 4 games to 1. Perez, who hit .317 with 40 homers and 129 RBI, had one hit in 18 times at bat during series.

Sparky Says Reds Will Come Back

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds already had youth as an ally. Now they've got experience, the bitter experience of a five-game World Series beating by Baltimore, in their bid to become one of baseball's teams of the future.

"I have a hunch we'll be back here in 1971," a sober Red Manager Sparky Anderson said after Orioles bombers clubbed the National League pennant winners 9-3 Thursday to win the Series four games to one.

"I'm not predicting any pennant," the youngest manager in baseball said.

"But whoever beats us will have to play hellacious baseball. If this did anything for us, it showed we will have to work even harder next spring," Anderson, 36, said.

"We think we'll be even better next year," he said. "It gave our young players a chance to get their feet wet. They know what to expect now."

Right fielder Pete Rose, who with second baseman Tommy Helms, is the oldest starting Red at 29, backs Anderson.

"Even if we lost, what do you think our young talent gained from this? Next year we'll know what we're playing for," the Cincinnati captain said.

Catcher Johnny Bench is 22, first baseman Lee May 27, shortstop Dave Concepcion 22, third baseman Tony Perez, 28, left fielders Bernie Carbo 23 and Hal McRae 24 and center fielder Bobby Tolan 24.

Gary Nolan, a right-hander who won 18 and lost 7 during the season and started two Series games, is 22. Jim Merritt, a 20-game winner and the loser Thursday, is 26 and second game starter Jim McGlothlin 27.

Wayne Simpson, a 21-year-old right-hander, was 14-3 when he hurt his arm in midseason. Two key men in the bullpen, lefty Don Gullett and Milt Wilcox, are 19 and 20.

GOOD SHELLING
Baltimore sluggers gave the crippled Cincinnati pitching staff—besides Simpson, Merritt and McGlothlin were sore elbow cases—a good shelling in the Series.

Including Thursday's two home runs, the Orioles pounded a record 10 homers for five games and scored 33 runs against 18 Red pitchers. Only reliever Clay Carroll, who pitched 9 1/3 innings without giving up a run, pitched well.

"Sure we used 18 pitchers," Anderson acknowledged. "But I've got to do what the scoreboard shows. They just kept hitting us. Give Baltimore batters the credit."

When Anderson summoned Pat Corrales to pinch hit in the ninth inning, every man on the 25-player Reds' roster had appeared in one of the games.

"I can't turn my back on the guys who got me here," Anderson said. "In my heart, I still feel we're the best. But you should give the credit to the winners."

Champ Sees Win By KO

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Knockout specialist Ruben Olivares predicts he would stop challenger Chucho Castillo and retain his world bantamweight championship in their 15-round fight Friday night.

The two 118-pounders from Mexico City are expected to attract 14,000 or more to the Forum in suburban Inglewood in a rematch of their sizzling title fight here last April 18. The 22-year-old Olivares won a unanimous decision. He is undefeated in 60 bouts.

"I won't fool around this time. I'll knock him out," declared the happy-go-lucky Olivares. Castillo, 26, solemn, serious, confided to intimates, "I'll have to knock him out to win."

Castillo scored the only knockout in the first fight.

"This will be Olivares' third defense of the title he won by a knockout over Lionel Rose of Australia at the Forum Aug. 22, 1969. He blasted out Alan Rudkin, the British Empire champion, in two rounds and then turned back Castillo.

Conversely, this will be Castillo's third—and probably last—chance at the crown.

A rematch of Olivares' overall record shows he has won 59 fights, boxed one draw and registered 56 knockouts.

Castillo has had 43 fights, won 35, 17 by knockouts, drawn one and lost seven, four of them by technical knockouts on cut eyes.

Olivares is about a 10-7 favorite.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

In each of their last four starts, the Big Spring Steers have gone over the 300-yard mark in total offense.

In fact, although they were held to 172 yards net in their first outing against Monterey (which they played when Dave Duncan was not there to lend assistance to newly promoted Mike Adams at the quarterback spot), they've averaged 316 yards in each of their five assignments this year.

For a team which had only four lettermen back from last season and only one of them a regular, the Steers have made the chain men work for their sideline view of the games.

The Black Knights have kept the defense honest in most of their starts, too, especially in their last two games (against Abilene and Midland). Against Abilene, they picked up 243 yards rushing and another 108 passing. In the Midland game, they moved 194 yards through the trenches and another 194 passing.

Exalted Permian, Big Spring's foe tonight, didn't move the ball against Abilene nearly as well as did Big Spring. The War Birds yielded 42 fewer rushing yards to the Panthers than they did to Big Spring and the Steers gained 83 more yards through the air against Abilene than did Gene Mayfield's unbeaten Permian club.

Midland High's Year of the Bulldog has turned into the Year of the Locust.

With 18 lettermen back, the Bulldogs were supposed to compel maximum respect from the chief contenders and chew up the rinkydinks but it hasn't worked out that way. Injuries have hurt the Purple Gang but not as much as inconsistency. Midland can look great on a couple of plays and then pull the accordion act.

Big Spring was doing famously the other night even with a sophomore (Ricky Steen) and a junior (Gatlin Jones) manning backfield positions with QB Dave Duncan.

Senior running back Roddy Caffey stayed in the dressing room after the half with a misbehaving ankle. Junior fullback Arthur Trevino got a hip pointer and kept Roddy company in the dressing quarters after the half.

No one in the Big Spring camp is conceding Permian a thing tonight. If the Panthers win, it'll be after the fight. The Steers figure it's time the Black Cats had a workout.

Ken Burkhardt, the umpire who pulled that clincher at home plate in the opening game of the World Series, is a fellow who was hurried along to the big leagues after first trying it as a pitcher in the old WT-NM league.

The Dogies could do little right in the first 12 minutes but they scrapped the Odessans jaw to jaw after that.

Dick Conley scored Big Spring's first touchdown while J. T. Smith managed the second. Both came in the second period. A pass to Walter Jordan produced the two extra points.

Permian led at half time, 38-14.

Toros Shaded By 28-13 Tab

The Big Spring Toros spotted Snyder Travis two quick touchdowns and then held their own the rest of the way in dropping a 28-13 decision to the visitors here Thursday night.

The Toros didn't crank up offensively until the third, when a run on a reverse by Ronald McKee set up a scoring opportunity. Earl Reynolds then went in on a power sweep.

A pass from QB Tom Sorley to Barry Lloyd set up Big Spring's second score in the fourth. A pass from Sorley to Reynolds, good for 38 yards, produced the TD. McKee then kicked the PAT.

The Toros were well defended most of the time by Travis. Snyder built up a 21-0 edge in the third period before the Toros began to roll.

Offensively, Sorley, Reynolds, Cliff Crow and Steve Brackett showed to advantage for Big Spring while Lonnie Gilhian, Carl Brunson and Paul Pascale excelled on defense.

The local ninth graders go to Colorado City for a game next Thursday.

How do you play when you meet the No. Two team in the state?

"You play to win," says coach Clovis Hale of Big Spring High School. "That's the only way."

The Steers, who have come on like the wind in the past several games, go to Odessa tonight to meet the second-ranked Odessa Permian Panthers.

"We're confident. Permian's reputation certainly doesn't shake us up. We think we can do it."

So spoke the head mentor of the Steers, as the Bold Gold prepare to wind up drills for the 8 p.m. battle.

Permian has won five straight games. The Panthers have looked invincible at times, but at other times, they haven't looked so good.

Hale hopes his boys will force the Panthers into making errors, then capitalize on them.

The teams have met three common opponents. Ysleta Bel Air, a club that beat Big Spring by one point, was pulverized by Permian, 55-7. Midland was blown off the field, 55-7, by Permian the week before the Bulldogs lost to Big Spring, 34-21. Abilene first beat Big Spring, 14-7, then yielded to Permian, 34-15.

Abilene gained more yardage against and yielded less to Permian than it did Big Spring. The Black Knights more than doubled the Abilene output in total yards gained.

Big Spring turned in its best effort against Midland last week, dominating play in the final three quarters.

Permian has a hard charging line and an alert backfield built around QB Ben Montgomery and fullback Daniel Justiss.

Collins Rice and Jamie Berryhill are other backs for Permian and both are able.

Montgomery, a 150-pound senior, is a fine team leader and controls the offense exceptionally well.

Rice is considered an outstanding ball carrier. He had good speed and, on occasions, will throw the halfback pass. The Steers figure they must keep him hemmed in.

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Los Angeles at Green Bay, Dallas at Minnesota and Detroit at Cleveland... this is the week they separate the men from the boys, and maybe a few heads from a few shoulders in the National Football League.

the bone-cracking Central Division of the National Football Conference, while Los Angeles, Dallas and Cleveland have at least a share of the lead in three other divisions of the NFC and the American Conference.

It's pretty safe to say there won't be 11 leaders by Tuesday morning. That doesn't make it the best of weeks to come off the bench to fill in for the departed Jack Hand-picker. But, starting off at 0-0, let's see if we can come out in one piece. Here goes:

The Big Spring co-eds will also host McMurry College in a 2 o'clock game Saturday afternoon.

Frogs, Aggies Fighting To Retain Title Hopes

For Rice and Southern Methodist, it's a coming out party. But for Texas Christian and Texas A&M it's a classic fight for survival. That's the Southwest Conference football weekend picture in a light schedule of games that shows Texas Tech's rugged Red Raiders trying to improve the SWC intersectional record of 16-11-1 in a battle with Mississippi State.

If either A&M or TCU loses in College Station at 7:30 Saturday night, they can kiss the SWC race adios. Both teams have one loss. No team has ever won the SWC after losing two conference games. The Aggies hold a 32-26-7 series lead but strangely TCU has the edge at Kyle Field—12-8-3. The Aggies have victories over Wichita State and LSU, but have dropped encounters to Ohio State, Michigan and Texas Tech. TCU has defeated UT-Arlington, tied Wisconsin, and lost to Purdue, Arkansas and Oklahoma State.

Travis Triumphs Over Mavericks

Both clubs were idle last week. Rice has beaten VMI 42-0 and California 28-0. Louisiana State cooled off the Owls 24-0 at Baton Rouge. SMU has lost to Oklahoma, Tennessee and defeated New Mexico State and Northwestern. Rice leads the SWC in total defense and passing defense. It has allowed only a 31 per cent completion percentage, an average of 85.3 passing yards per game, and one touchdown pass all season.

Welton Cobb, a Negro boy of awesome physical proportions, led Snyder Travis to a 20-6 victory over Goliad's eighth graders here Thursday evening. A pass from QB Barry Canning to Strickland enabled the Mavericks to tie the visitors at half time, 6-6, but Travis came on strong after the intermission. Now 2-4 on the year, Goliad returns to play here next Thursday against Colorado City.

If all you think about when you give is money, forget it.

Some people pledge to the United Way Campaign without ever stopping to think what that money does. They don't get much fun out of giving. It's something they have to do, instead of something they want to do.

But money given for human need can bring as much joy to you, the giver, as it does to all the people who benefit. If you really know what it's going for.

One way to find out what your money can mean is to get involved with one of our United Way agencies. See what's being accomplished. What the growing problems are and the new ways for solving them. Find out what it's going to cost. Live with it a while.

Then when you make your United Way pledge, it'll mean something to you. You'll probably even give more, because you'll care more. You'll realize how much you actually do when you give your Fair Share.

If you don't do it, it won't get done.

Brave Lad May Beat Big Odds

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Darren Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Davis of nearby Adkins, was four today.

Like most children that age, Darren's mother says, he's "so active that he won't take a nap any more."

Darren—just two months ago—was not expected by doctors to live to observe his fourth anniversary.

The boy has a large cancerous tumor in his neck. His parents said they originally were told his condition was one in 1,000 and his chances of recovery were almost zero.

Since Darren has returned from the hospital, the tumor has "shrunk to about half its size in the two months the doctors have been treating it," his mother said.

"He has gained 3½ pounds since he has come home," she said.

Darren was taken off cobalt treatments recently and doctors are now considering stopping chemical treatments temporarily," she said.

Rogers Pursues Middle East Issue With Russia's Gromyko

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers pursues the Middle East issue with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko tonight following talks with Egypt's foreign minister indicating how difficult it will be to get peace negotiations started.

On Thursday, he successfully sought General Assembly debate on the Arab-Israeli controversy starting Oct. 26, right after the anniversary observance ends. U.S. strategists have been cool to such a debate now, believing that quiet backstage diplomacy rather than public speechmaking is more likely to bring Arab-Israeli negotiations.

The Rogers-Gromyko sessions—another is scheduled Monday night—will also range over President Nixon's new Vietnam peace offer, Berlin, strategic arms curb talks and other East-West issues. In a general U.S. policymakers a high-level way, these meetings will give sounding as to whether the Kremlin is turning to a hard line.

Riad addresses the General Assembly today, a speech which diplomats are watching closely for clues on Cairo's post-Nasser foreign policy.

Backers of Nixon's "era of negotiations" policy have been particularly concerned over what they term blatant Soviet and Egyptian violations of the current Middle East cease-fire by setting up more missiles in the standstill zone along the Suez Canal.

Moscow and Cairo deny violating the U.S.-sponsored cease-fire deal. Israel says it won't return to the peace negotiations unless the missiles are pulled back. And Rogers is seeking enough "rectification" of the alleged violations to get the Middle East opponents into conference.

U.S. officials said Rogers took up the alleged violations with Riad. They gave no indication that he made any headway on this point though they said the discussion was friendly.

Riad, speaking to newsmen afterward, declined to discuss the alleged violations but agreed with the U.S. officials that "this time we didn't come to any specific agreement."

Rain Pelts West Texas States' Death Penalty Backed By Nixonites

RAIN PELTS WEST TEXAS
 Cold air billowed into Texas today while chilling rain fell at Panhandle and Southwest Texas points through the night. Light rain pelted North Central and West Texas.

Temperatures dropped to the low 40s and high 30s during the night and early morning hours as the latest front continued pouring cold air into Texas from a high pressure system centered in the Midwest.

The Weather Bureau put up small craft warnings along the Gulf Coast while temperatures along the coast were somewhat warmer than other Texas points.

Temperatures early today ranged from 37 at Dalhart to 68 at Brownsville.

STATES' DEATH PENALTY BACKED BY NIXONITES
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has advised the Supreme Court not to alter the states' death penalty procedures.

The Justice Department said in a brief late Thursday the Constitution requires neither standards to guide jurors nor separation of the sentencing process from the bulk of the trial.

MORE THAN 550
 These two changes are being urged upon the court in two test cases that could upset more than 550 death sentences.

The standards argument is that jurors now have unconstitutional, arbitrary authority to choose between a death sentence and a lesser penalty in capital cases, meaning pure chance often determines whether a convicted man is to live or die.

The separation argument is that defendants should be able to decline to take the witness stand during trial but should be able, if convicted, to offer evi-

UNITED FUND TOPS $25,000
 The United Fund posted a new total of $25,355.05 this morning as more contributions from Webb AFB personnel came rolling in. If this year's drive follows the trend of past years, campaigners say, the results should begin to snowball soon as more employee gifts are turned in and the Big Gifts division begins turning in contributions of local businesses.
