

MECHANIC CHARGED WITH FIVE COUNTS OF MURDER

California 'Killer' Captured

(AP WIREPHOTO)

"NOW LET ME SEE" — A young customer in an Abilene, Tex., supermarket takes care of an itchy problem as she tries to make up her mind what to buy from the candy and chewing gum rack.

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — A young auto mechanic accused of slaying five persons in a hill-top mansion was arrested today about a half mile from the scene of the slaying, sheriff's deputies said.

A spokesman said John Linley Frazier, 24, who was charged with five counts of murder Thursday, was seized in a mountain cabin.

Officers said they had staked out the cabin, where Frazier had lived since two days before Monday's shooting deaths.

The 6-by-6 foot-shanty is on the same hilltop as the mansion, separated by a half a mile and a deep canyon.

Dist. Atty. Peter Chang Jr. said a friend of Frazier told authorities that the young man once remarked that people who lived like the victims "were materialistic and "should be snuffed."

Chang said three long-haired persons who live in a wooded area came to investigators at 3 a.m. Thursday after reading a note left at the slaying scene and released to news media by the sheriff Wednesday.

Chang said the three told investigators the note—which threatened death for those who "misuse the natural environment" and referred to tarot cards symbols—sounded to them as though it might have been written by Frazier.

The hippie community was repulsed by the massacre, Chang said.

ESTRANGED WIFE

The informants provided an address for Frazier's estranged wife who was questioned promptly, Chang added. He would not give her first name and said she was in protective custody.

The wife resides about six miles from the six-foot-square shanty where Frazier lived—across a gully from the mansion of Dr. Victor M. Ohta, 45, who was shot to death Monday along with his wife, Virginia, 43, their two sons, Derrick, 12, and Taggart, 11, and Ohta's secretary, Dorothy Cadwallader, 38.

Chang quoted Frazier's wife as saying she last saw her husband Sunday when he set out on foot armed with a .38-caliber pistol and carrying a knapsack with food for several days. She said he also had expensive binoculars which he stole from Ohta's home about six weeks ago.

BOOK ON CARDS

Mrs. Frazier said her husband left behind a book on tarot cards, often used for fortune telling, and his driver's license and wallet, telling her: "I won't be needing these any more."

The fugitive was believed headed for New York, and the FBI was called in to help in the search for him, Chang said.

Chang said Frazier worked for a Santa Cruz car dealer where Ohta bought the station wagon which was driven from the slaying scene and abandoned in a nearby railroad tunnel.

Ohta's two other cars were used to block entrances to the mansion which was set afire following the shootings. The bodies, their hands bound with scarves from Ohta's collection were dumped into a swimming pool.

Nixon Makes Live-And-Let-Live Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today for delivery of a live-and-let-live appeal aimed at the Soviet Union and global public opinion.

Nixon's trip to the U.N. to deliver today what has come to be a traditional opening-session address to the General Assembly came a day after he held an unusually lengthy conference with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The President's meeting at the White House with Gromyko had been scheduled for an hour, but they wound up spending two hours and 35 minutes together.

SHARP CONTRAST

From the outset, so far as newsmen could discern, the Nixon-Gromyko conclave was cordial, even amiable. Their behavior in brief public moments seemed in sharp contrast to recent talks of a renewal of the Cold War and, from the American side, suggestions of Soviet perfidy in the Middle East and Cuba.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said afterward:

"For our part, I can say the discussions were helpful. The meeting was conducted in a friendly atmosphere throughout and it is felt that the meeting was helpful for forming the basis for improved relations between the United States and the Soviet Union."

Ziegler said Nixon and Gromyko talked about American-Soviet relations, the broad topic of European security including the status of Berlin, the strategic arms limitation talks between the two nations, the continuing Mideast crisis and the Vietnam war.

HIGH STAKES

Gromyko, in a statement later, described his meeting with Nixon as a very interesting one. "I would like to express hope that the meeting and the discussion will be of positive significance for the development and improvement of Soviet-American relations," Gromyko said.

DID IT RAIN, OR DIDN'T IT?

To early risers it seemed like there was a lot of rain about 3:30 this morning, but the official gauge at the Big Spring Experiment Station recorded only .04 inch, and most area gauges were dry. Colorado City was the exception, with gauges there recording 1.0 inch. The Texas Electric Service Co gauge registered .08 inch, while gauges at Forsan, Lake Thomas and Vealmoor were dry.

SOVIET AIR SPACE

Also in custody were the pilot, U.S. Army Maj. James P. Russell, 42, of Piney Woods, Miss., and a Turkish escort officer identified as Col. Denel.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry said all four were in good health and that the incident was being investigated. It did not say whether the men were considered under arrest or merely in custody pending the investigation, but it said the case was being treated as a penetration into Soviet territory by a U.S. military plane.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the plane had "violated Soviet air space."

'WILDCAT' Long Island Railroad Walkout

NEW YORK (AP) — Three unions struck the Long Island Railroad at 4 a.m. today in a dispute over pensions and other benefits. The walkout halted all service on the nation's largest commuter railroad.

The railroad termed the walkout "an illegal wildcat strike" and said it would seek a court order to get the men back to work. The unions denied that the walkout was illegal.

For the 90,000 roundtrip commuters and 80,000 single-fare riders dependent upon the LIRR each weekday, the strike meant a scramble for alternate means of transportation.

'Twister' Belts Breckenridge

By The Associated Press

Winds that some called a tornado struck Breckenridge in West Central Texas today, picking up seven unoccupied trailer homes and smashing them to the ground.

The Weather Service was unable to confirm that the phenomenon was a twister.

The storm struck about 6:15 a.m. as thunderstorms covered a vast area around Breckenridge and much of Texas underwent rains and high winds.

The trailer homes were new and were at the Vintage Home Plant in Breckenridge. One witness said the homes were twisted and demolished like "little playthings."

Crash Probe Surprise

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — An officer of Golden Eagle Aviation Inc. testified today he had informed Wichita State University athletic officials of their responsibilities in leasing airplanes and "they completely understood what they were doing."

Bruce J. Danielson, executive vice president, secretary and treasurer of the Oklahoma City firm which supplied flight crews for the plane which carried Wichita State's athletic teams, added "I know they were completely briefed and completely understand that we were only pilots."

PAPER LATE? SORRY, FOLKS

Sorry for the delay of Thursday's Herald. About one-fourth through the normal press run yesterday afternoon, one of the numerous gears in the complex chain that drives the heavy press stripped out. It took several hours to remove shafting and make a replacement, and many people were very late receiving their paper.

To the hundreds who made phone calls and understood, and for the forbearance on the part of all city subscribers, our thanks.

Soviet Union Holding Two Generals After Plane Stray

MOSCOW (AP) — The U.S. Embassy pressed the Soviet government today to let it interview two U.S. generals whose plane strayed across the Soviet-Turkish border in bad weather Wednesday and landed 12 miles inside Soviet Armenia.

Maj. Gen. Edward C. D. Scherrer, commander of the joint U.S. military mission to Turkey, and Brig. Gen. Claude M. McQuarrie Jr., head of the mission's Army section, were being held incommunicado somewhere inside the Soviet Union. A U.S. Embassy official said it was "quite unlikely" that they would be released soon.

Also in custody were the pilot, U.S. Army Maj. James P. Russell, 42, of Piney Woods, Miss., and a Turkish escort officer identified as Col. Denel.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry said all four were in good health and that the incident was being investigated. It did not say whether the men were considered under arrest or merely in custody pending the investigation, but it said the case was being treated as a penetration into Soviet territory by a U.S. military plane.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the plane had "violated Soviet air space."

U.S. Embassy officials requested permission to meet with the captives in accordance with the U.S.-Soviet consular agreement, which gives U.S. officials the right of access to American citizens held in the Soviet Union within three days of their detention.

The plane landed at the Armenian town of Leninakan, and the embassy's consular officer, Peter B. Swiers, said he was ready to fly there or to any other designated place.

Flying a six-passenger Seminole US plane, Maj. Russell apparently lost his way in bad weather over the mountains of eastern Turkey and crossed the heavily fortified Turkish-Soviet border. The two generals were inspecting Turkish military units equipped with American weapons, and their destination was Kars, 40 miles from the Soviet frontier.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry said all four were in good health and that the incident was being investigated. It did not say whether the men were considered under arrest or merely in custody pending the investigation, but it said the case was being treated as a penetration into Soviet territory by a U.S. military plane.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the plane had "violated Soviet air space."

Chilean Government Orders Toughest Security In Years

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Troops and police today pushed the toughest security measures Chile has seen in 13 years following an attempt to assassinate the country's army chief. The armed forces were put on maximum alert, roadblocks were set up on all roads around Santiago and a nightly curfew was ordered for the capital.

COUP FEARS

Political organizations backing Salvador Allende, the Marxist scheduled to be elected president this weekend, blamed the assassination attempt Thursday on "ultraright-wing groups" in league with foreign elements who see their interests affected "if Allende takes over. The leftists believed conservative diehards were trying to provoke an army coup that would block Allende's installation.

By "foreign elements" the leftists were obviously referring to U.S. copper companies and other foreign interests whose holdings Allende has pledged to nationalize.

The army commander in chief, Maj. Gen. Rene Schneider, was reported in critical condition late Thursday and another operation was performed.

Four or five men in three cars blocked Schneider's limousine at a busy intersection Thursday morning, knocked out the rear windows with the butts of their pistols, and fired about eight shots at close range. The 57-year-old general was hit in the chest, neck and arm, and one bullet grazed his heart and a lung.

PULSE STOPPED

Schneider's pulse had stopped by the time he was taken to a military hospital, and emergency open-heart massage was used to revive him. During the night his condition worsened, and further surgery was ordered.

Allende called at the hospital and then met with outgoing President Eduardo Frei. Frei declared a state of emergency, and 10,000 soldiers and police spread out over Santiago looking for the attackers.

All armed forces units, the national police and plainclothes investigative units were placed on "first grade" alert, the highest level of readiness.

Santiago was put under curfew from 1:30 a.m. to 6 a.m. The chief of the local army garrison said any violators would be fired on if they did not stop when ordered to by the security forces.

Roadblocks were set up on all roads leaving the city, and control points were established on major traffic arteries within the city limits. Security agents checked all outgoing traffic at Santiago's two major airports and several smaller airfields.

Refinery Blast Kills Two Men

BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP)—Two workmen suffered fatal injuries and a third was burned critically as a small tank blew up Thursday at the Humble Oil Co. refinery.

Artis Speights, 38, of Hankamer died before reaching a Baytown hospital and E. R. Baker, 28, of Baytown succumbed later at a Galveston hospital.

Attendants reported Joe Robinson, 52, of Baytown was in critical condition from burns over much of his body.

All three men worked for the Bayou Maintenance Co.

BULLETIN

SAN JUAN, Tex. (AP) — Pharr police said today an airplane crashed into the Shrine of the Virgin of San Juan Roman Catholic Church at San Juan in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

The fate of the pilot was not at once known.

Officers said the plane was a crop duster. The church was reported ablaze after the crash.

Fire units from several valley towns were sent to the church.

Thunderbirds Give Sneak Preview Thursday

By JEAN FANNIN
Low-flying F4E Phantom II jets painted red, white and blue may have given motorists quite a shock Thursday afternoon.

literally "burst" onto the Webb AFB scene Thursday afternoon, approaching the base close to treetop level and with an ear-splitting scream as they passed in front of the grandstands located on the flight line near base operations. The ace pilots then gave a 15-minute abbreviated performance of aerial acrobatics culled from their somewhat longer show scheduled for this afternoon. An audience of mostly Webb AFB personnel applauded the performance.

BLOW-OUT
The magnificent entrance was marred only when the No. 1 plane, piloted by Thunderbird commander Maj. Tom Swalm blew a right main tire on landing and had to drop out of the taxi formation.

Thunderbird team members later made light of the incident saying that, while blowing a tire on landing was not a frequent occurrence, they are not unaccustomed to such emergencies.

"What happened? The tire failed," Maj. Bob Jackson said. "We don't know why. They're checking that out now," he said. Maj. Jackson flies left wing position with the team.

"They will just change the tire and we'll be ready to go Friday afternoon," Maj. Doyle C. Ruff, right wing position and operations officer, said nonchalantly.

"Things like this are fully covered in our emergency procedures manual. When the tire went he just said 'I've blown a tire and I'm dropping out, pass me to the left.' That's all there was to it," Maj. Ruff said.

52 MEMBERS
The team travels 52-member strong, with seven pilots flying the jets and the remainder travelling in a C-130 cargo plane. Only five pilots fly in the aerial demonstration, however the other two planes must be available for replacements and the other two pilots are official Thunderbirds.

PUBLIC RELATIONS
"In the last two days I have spoken at a children's blind center, to a group of junior high students and to an ROTC group. And every pilot on the team has had that same kind of schedule," Maj. Ruff said.

The Thunderbirds perform in an average of 120 shows from March through November each year, with December through February dedicated to learning and practicing the maneuvers to be demonstrated the coming year. The pilots are away from their Las Vegas homes approximately 240 days of the nine months in which shows are scheduled.

'Green Revolution' Key To Hunger Pains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Few Americans can grasp the significance of the "Green Revolution."

In a nation where mountains of surplus wheat and corn are commonplace and cattle are fattened on grain, the development of extremely high-yield strains on wheat and rice has little impact.

STAFF OF LIFE
But to millions of underfed people living in overcrowded and underdeveloped lands, the "Green Revolution" is truly the staff of life. It is chapeau to a hungry Indian peasant, tortillas to a Mexican and rice to an Indonesian. It has created social unrest and toppled political leaders.

Agricultural economist Lester R. Brown goes a step further in assessing its significance. "The technology represented by these new seeds will probably affect more people in a shorter period of time than any technological change in history."

WORLD HUNGER
If the peoples of the world can learn to curtail their birth rate, Brown adds, the new grains "hold out hope that we can make substantial progress in eliminating hunger in most of the world in this decade."

It was in recognition of this achievement—and its prospects for eliminating starvation around the globe—that the Nobel Peace Prize was awarded this week to Dr. Norman E. Borlaug, the former Iowa dirt farmer who pioneered development of the new strain of super wheat. The breakthrough enabled agronomists in 1962 to repeat the performance with rice.

In the last five years, the new grains have revolutionized agriculture in many underdeveloped countries.

Thugs Taking It Out On Policemen

BOSTON (AP) — Twenty-six policemen have been killed in the line of duty in the past three months and 650 injured, an official of the International Association of Chiefs of Police says.

Quinn Tamm, the organization's executive director, reported the figures to an international conference of the Public Personnel Association.

"Police are killed not because they are individuals, but because they are policemen and represent law enforcement in this country," Tamm said.

SPECIAL AWARD — Mary B. Cason, clerk-typist, Soil Conservation, left, is presented a certificate of merit and a cash award by M. J. Spears, deputy state conservationist, in recognition of her earning an outstanding performance rating for the fiscal year 1970. W. S. Goodlett, area conservationist, praised her for her contribution to the Big Spring area staff, which she has served so faithfully since 1944.

about half as tall as traditional varieties. The shorter stem permits farmers to heavily fertilize the plants and double the yield. Attempts at heavy fertilization of the traditional long, thin-stemmed varieties failed because the heavy head of grain caused the plant to topple over.

NOW, DON'T GET ALARMED

PORTOLA VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Burglars got $9,000 worth of clothing and a $15 typewriter at the Country Vogue Boutique because the burglar alarm didn't work, reported the San Mateo County sheriff's office.

They also took the $300 burglar alarm.

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnam that American troops are phasing out of is not the same country they entered in force five years ago.

A sudden, subtle and totally unexpected social revolution has changed the face of the countryside. The water buffalo is on the way out. Urbanization is on the way in. Already 60 per cent of South Vietnam's 18 million people live in cities, compared with less than 40 per cent when the big troop buildup began.

SOUND, STENCH
The sound and stench of the motorbike, for better or for worse, are everywhere in the land, even in remote highland provinces where the roads six months ago were impassable to an armored battalion.

Spreading pacification and soaring inflation have combined to bring prosperity of a sort to a people who can hardly remember what it's like not to live under a wartime economy.

The tiniest Delta village glitters with rooftops of U.S. tin and is thickly forested with television antennas. Two million dollars worth of tractors, mostly from Japan, are sold every month in Vietnam. A new middle class of more than 250,000 skilled and semiskilled workers, trained mostly by the American contractor firms that gave Vietnam the finest deepwater ports and jet air fields in Asia, apprehensively eyes the future when all the war contracts will be done.

'NEW VIETNAM'
A new Mandarin class of civil servants, pushed into democracy Western style, is moving out into the villages and hamlets under the even more apprehensive eye of the suddenly well-off farmer.

Can the new Vietnam, the one that the Americans are leaving militarily, make it on its own economically? Or will it fall back, as fast as the troops pull back, into its ancient Asian ways of collusion, corruption and graft?

Inflation is the key to everything: the main reasons for the peasant's unexpected prosperity, the main incentive to bribery among public servants whose salaries seldom keep pace with the skyrocketing piaster, the main reason why America pays more than three times over legal rate: 118 piasters to the dollar, black market rate, around 400—for every yard of dirt it puts in a construction project, for every import, salary, box of ammunition it underwrites.

'ENEMY WITHIN' — III
Social Revolution Scars

By FRED S. HOFFMAN and HUGH A. MULLIGAN
Associated Press Writer

A senior American official, just below ambassadorial level, admits that the Vietnamese government collects virtually no taxes in the lush Mekong Delta, where the Viet Cong tax collector had his greatest success.

CORRUPTION
The same official says corruption in the past year has become so "widespread and disorganized" that outside investors, especially American firms, prefer to locate in Bangkok.

"Thailand may be just as corrupt, but there it's organized. Here everyone wants a piece of the action, and an investor winds up paying several times over for the same official service."

Minister Ngoc concedes that most of these ills exist and indeed are prevalent at a time when Vietnam needs outside investors to help shoulder the burden of what already is the fourth largest army in the world.

LONG, LONG TIME
Economics Minister Pham Kim Ngoc speaks openly of what almost everyone at the U.S. Embassy concedes privately—that the American dollar will be needed for a long, long time to shore up the Vietnamese economy.

Minister Ngoc points out that the national budget for 1971, the first year of Vietnamization, will be 300 billion piasters, more than double last year's budget.

Of this, he said, 180 billion will have to come from taxes "and the rest from the printing press," meaning deficit spending underwritten by Uncle Sam.

But this plainly is an optimistic view of how much of the tab the Vietnamese will be able to pick up. Last year the government collected only 37 billion piasters in taxes, which was three times better than the previous year.

TAXES UNPAID
"The amount of uncollected taxes in this country is staggering," says a member of the

Girl Trouble Sparks Shots In High School

DALLAS (AP) — An argument between pupils over a girl led to gunfire in North Dallas High School Thursday.

A 16-year-old youth reportedly fired several shots from a .38-caliber revolver at a 19-year-old youth who ran for cover. The bullets smashed into the walls and floor.

Assault to murder charges were filed against Gerald Lynn Tucker, 16. Another youth, Isaiah Carroll, 19, was charged with disorderly conduct.

Police said the two youths had an argument over a girl in the school hall.

Principal James Malone, remarking that scores of pupils would have been in the hall on their way to lunch a few minutes later, said: "We were just very fortunate."

May Pay Farmers To Cut Wild Pot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government sources say the Nixon administration is considering paying farmers to destroy marijuana growing wild on their acreage.

The proposed marijuana control program reportedly could be financed with Justice Department funds channeled through the Agriculture Department's Agricultural Conservation Program.

Under ACP, farmers can get federal aid—usually for 50 per cent of expenditures—for carrying out approved conservation projects.

So far, the White House Office of Management and Budget has refused to authorize ACP projects, although Congress approved financing at a minimum of $190 million for next year. Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin has tried to get budget planners to change their minds. Part of his department's strategy has been to emphasize the administration's commitment to fight soil and water pollution.

"If ACP is cut out, there could be serious losses of federal employment in many areas," one government source says. "It is serious and hurting the Republicans in some congressional races."

Some officials estimate dropping ACP would mean the loss of 3,000 county agent jobs.

The source said "some influential Republicans" are working to salvage ACP.

Marijuana control ties into ACP with government efforts to fight the wild-growing weed in several states, mostly in the Midwest.

Lions Carnival Ends Saturday
STANTON (SC) — The Stanton Lions Club held a luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Belvue Restaurant, with J. R. Dillard presiding.

Pledge was led by Jimmy Stallings and the prayer was led by Richard Payne. Former district governor Cecil Bridges was welcomed back to the club following his illness.

Carnival Chairman Paige Eiland reported that the final night of the Lions Club Community Carnival will be Saturday. The carnival was rained out last week, but this week it has been a success.

John Wood, Nolan Simpson, Billy Reager and Dillard represented the club at the zone meeting Monday night in Big Spring.

Program Chairman Jerry Bethel urged all members to attend the next meeting Tuesday to hear the remarks of Harry C. Wisehart, Junction, governor of District 2 A-1.

DEAR ABBY: I accidentally happened on a sure-fire cure for the hiccups. It doesn't involve any gadgets, it's just an idea. I have used it on my family and friends and it never fails.

I have read up on cures for hiccups in medical books and there is nothing like my idea mentioned. (They suggest breathing into a paper sack, sipping sugar water very slowly and holding your breath. Those silly can you get?) With those methods, the hiccups might go away for a minute or two, but they come right back. My hiccup cure takes only 25 seconds and they are gone for good.

Question: Can I sell my cure to anyone? If so, how? Should I advertise in the magazines next to athlete's foot and trusses?

I suppose I could give my idea away for free, but darn it, Abby, everybody is getting paid for ideas these days and I think mine is worth a couple of dollars as hiccups can be a nuisance. I am sure businessmen and people in the field of entertainment would give a lot to get rid of hiccups in 25 seconds.

What advice have you for me? HICCUPS CURE: Hiccups can be more than a nuisance. If they persist for hours, days or weeks, hiccups can be a serious medical problem. A sure-fire cure for hiccups would be a valuable contribution to the world. Discuss your cure with a reputable physician. He may not cough up a way to make you rich, but I promise you, if you have the cure you think you have, it will make you famous.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 20 years to a serviceman and have traveled around and lived in many different cities. I have worked most of the time and have never gotten very friendly with neighbors until we moved to this city two years ago. I have a very close friend now who is a neighbor of mine. She's a divorcee. My husband is presently overseas so this neighbor and I are together a lot.

We heard from a friend (who is willing to go to court and testify if we want her to) that someone we know said that this neighbor and I have a romantic "thing" going between us. The person who started that story is supposed to be a good Christian.

Of course it is vicious gossip, but we are told it is all over town. I would like to know the best way to handle it.

BOILING MAD

DEAR BOILING: If I were you, I would forget it. People of quality do not believe such stories, so why should you become upset over something which has no more meaning than the barking dogs?

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative who lives in an old age home. I invited her to my home for luncheon, and knowing that she has five friends at the home I told her to bring them along for lunch. She did.

The following day I discovered that two sets of sterling silver salt and pepper shakers I had used on my table were missing.

I had never seen any of these five ladies before and there were no other strangers around at the time.

These little articles were a wedding gift of long ago and were precious to me. Would you advise me to mention this to my relative?

ANXIOUS TO KNOW

DEAR ANXIOUS: Yes.

DEAR ABBY: It's late and I have to be to work early in the morning, but I just had to write this to "Undecided" who saw one of her best friend's husband out with another woman.

"Keep your mouth shut! Do you think the wife will stop loving him because of this? No, she won't. She may leave him, and even if she doesn't, things will never be the same between them. One thing, for sure, she will never thank you for having told her. In time she will resent you for telling her."

I know what I am talking about, Abby, because tonight I sit alone in a house, not a home, for I had one "friend" too many.

Young Demos Organize, Help Man Headquarters

Young Democrats elected as slate of officers at their first organizational meeting Wednesday. The club, formed for the third consecutive year at Howard County Junior College, heard J. Frank Parker, Democratic county chairman, tell them at least 50 per cent of the Texas electorate must turn out Nov. 3 to insure a Democratic sweep of State offices.

It is up to organizations such as the Young Democrats to generate the enthusiasm necessary to get the Democratic voters to the polls, said Parker. Elected Young Democrat officers were Kerry Gunnels, president; Bill Henry, vice president; Bobbie Jones, secretary; and Sarah Harris, treasurer.

Committees were set up to distribute literature from door to door and at local shopping centers on the two Saturdays before election day, to answer phones and keep the County Headquarters open during the afternoons of the days before Nov. 3.

T. Jeremiah Beam. Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.

Son of the famous Col. Jim Beam, T. Jeremiah is the fifth generation of the only Kentucky family that's made the same Bourbon since 1795. As a matter of fact, 1970 marks the 175th anniversary of the year that Jacob Beam, founder of the Beam clan, sold his first barrel of Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey.

That's a mighty long time for one family to make one product, according to one formula.

So the next time you sip Jim Beam, savor its quality and its light taste. That's what we mean when we say it's a 175-year-old family art.

The bidding:
South West North East
2♠ Pass 3♠ Pass
3♠ Pass 4♠ Pass
6♠ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠

A momentary lapse proved fatal to the defense in the six spade contract presented today.

When North made the positive response of three clubs to South's opening two spade bid, the latter became interested in slam. His rebid of three spades was a temporizing call to give his partner a chance to show an additional feature. When North merely persisted to four spades, South decided to settle for a small slam which he bid without further ado.

West opened the cover of diamonds which was covered in turn by the king and ace and ruffed by South with the five of spades. Trumps were drawn in two rounds and declarer paused to survey his prospects.

If the club finesse succeeded, the slam was assured. If the heart king was also favorably located declarer could take all the tricks, for the club queen and ace would provide two entries to dummy to repeat the heart finesse.

If the club finesse failed, however, declarer could gain entry to the North hand only a single time—with the ace of clubs and he would be able to lead hearts just once. Even if the heart finesse succeeded, he could not pick up the king unless that card was lightly guarded.

Declarer decided to make a heart play first, for if that suit divided evenly, South might be able to develop a discard for his club—in any case the club finesse could be conveniently postponed until later.

At trick four, South led the jack of hearts. Had West put up the king and shifted to a club, declarer would have been obliged to take an immediate finesse in clubs. However, it was somewhat difficult to diagnose the situation at this early stage and West chose to follow suit with the four of hearts.

When the jack of hearts held, South continued with the ace and queen. West was in with the king and when East followed with the ten, splitting out the suit, North's nine became established as the master card. West shifted belatedly to a club. The ace was played from dummy and South discarded his remaining club on the nine of hearts.

Verbal Darts Flying In Campaign Stretch

By The Associated Press

Democratic leaders in Congress drew fire Thursday from Texas Senatorial candidate George Bush, a Republican, while Democratic nominee LLOYD BENTSEN blasted President Nixon and other outsiders for taking a hand in their race. Equally busy as the Nov. 3 election draws nearer were Paul Eggers, the GOP contender for governor, and the Democrat he hopes to unseat, Gov. Preston Smith.

Bush, speaking at an Austin luncheon, said anti-pollution measures sought by Nixon have been sidetracked by Democrats controlling Congress.

WELFARE REFORM

Again saying he favors a trial of "the new federalism" with such new answers to old problems as revenue sharing, block grants and welfare reform, Bush last February the President sent Congress the most far-reaching legislation yet not air and water pollution. Yet one of the proposals has reached the President's desk. All of them are blocked by a hostile Congress—under leadership ported by my opponent." In a night talk to Southern Methodist University students in Dallas, Bush mentioned that he is chairman of a Republican task force on earth resources and population and has offered a proposal for a standing committee to deal with environmental legislation.

FOR EXAMPLE

Bentsen, speaking briefly to supporters at Grand Prairie, declared that the "Eastern Republican establishment" including New York businessmen was raising money for his opponent and Nixon is making a campaign trip to Texas next week on the heels of appearances by Vice President Spiro Agnew, Cabinet members and senators. He said this was costing Bush his independence as a congressman and added, "For example, he's had to endorse the administration's economics."

Bentsen went on to say that he himself expected to stay independent enough to back the President when Nixon is right but to disagree with him if interests and other factors so require.

ANSWER IS SIMPLE

At another point Bentsen said many had asked why Bush appeared on television more often than he does and the answer is simple: Money. He obviously had enough to start running television announcements on Labor Day. We could not afford to begin ours until Oct. 13."

Secretary of Transportation John Volpe disclosed Thursday in Houston a $516,000 grant for that city to study in depth the development of a public transport system, and there was quick comment from Bentsen. The Democratic nominee said, "This is one of the many federal grants being announced in Texas as the last few days of the campaign in an effort to buy the Senate seat for the Republican party with the taxpayers' own money."

'PANDERING' BLACKS

State Rep. Curtis Graves of Houston, a Negro, spoke in opposition to Bentsen at predominantly Negro Huston-Tillotson College in Austin. He said that Bentsen prior to the May primary distributed literature "pandering to black voters by framing himself with pictures of Dr. Martin Luther King" and at the same time "appealed to anti-Negro sentiments of white voters."

Eggers said in El Paso that polls show he is running neck and neck with Smith and a GOP canvass indicates he'll win. He told backers that as a member of the Legislature and as lieutenant governor Smith repeatedly backed tax boosts and as governor he signed the state's biggest tax bill.

"There is an alternative to taxes next year," Eggers continued. "We must set priorities and budget carefully the first year. We can use the economy commission to cut the vast administrative waste out of the budget and make full utilization of federal funding sources, such as block grants."

SHOUTS 'RACIST'

Eleven members of the Mexican-American Youth Organization showed up as Smith met with about 200 supporters at a Corpus Christi hotel. Their spokesman, Elida Tamez, read a statement calling for suspension of policeman R. P. Spencer who, while off duty, shot and killed a Mexican-American youth there Oct. 11.

Corpus Christi Police Chief James Avant said the shooting was accidental and there would be no investigation but the case would be referred to the district attorney's office.

Smith received a copy of the MAYO statement and, as he left after the meeting, several Mexican-American pickets shouted "racist" and other epithets.

In Brownsville earlier, Smith predicted as many as 2.5 million votes may be cast in the general election. Referring to his contest with Eggers he said, "I don't think there's any race to it."

A COMMON CAUSE — John W. Gardner, former welfare secretary and founder of a citizens movement called Common Cause, chats on the telephone as staff members perform varied functions in their Washington office. In founding Common Cause last August, Gardner has pledged to tackle such problems as pollution, housing, education, medical care, job security and other "people's" issues.

TOMORROW

—CARROLL RICHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early in the day some confusing and deceptive influences are in effect, so make a special point to get your surroundings in order. Then you are able to get into whatever you like to do that requires neatness and exactness and can please and delight all about you. Have a good time tonight.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Morning is not a good time to make important decisions. It would be wiser to have a talk with co-workers in the afternoon. Show gratitude for assistance given you by others. Show that you have character.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Spending heavily would be unwise this morning, but afternoon is fine for participating in sports, hobbies, etc. Put that fine talent you have to work. Make an excellent impression on others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't start an argument at home that could become unpleasant. The rest of the day could prove to be very happy. Entertain at home. Make loved one more satisfied.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Shop for those appliances you may need to improve comforts in your home. Attend that social affair with a good friend tonight and have a delightful time. Be gracious.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A different system of handling monetary affairs can bring better results now. Ideas can be taken from your newspaper on how to make property more valuable. Try not to add to present difficulties by wrong thinking.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You may feel remorse early in the day, but later you pop up and can go out and accomplish a good deal. After lunch, accept fine invitation extended to you. Use your smite wisely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) The daytime hours are best for coming to a better understanding with everyone. Since later in the day it is best to be at home with kin, get into the hobbies that are mutually enjoyed. Do some interesting reading.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to make new contacts during the afternoon, but the morning should be spent alone. Be sure to safeguard your reputation. Show open-mindedness. Take an objective look at new outlets.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan in the morning just how you are going to handle a ticklish situation. By evening all turns out well. Handle those civic affairs properly, also. Some friend can make you happy now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Others may prevent you from looking into the new outlets you had in mind, but delays only make you work faster, after lunch. Talk things over with experts. Come to a fine understanding.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Showing appreciation for credit given you is wise. Study interesting new outlets that fascinate you. Mate is very devoted after lunch and you can have a very happy evening, also.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Morning is not a good time to discuss a particular problem with an associate, but evening finds you coming to a perfect agreement. Show others that you appreciate favors shown you. Avoid arguments.

A Devotion For Today . . .

The word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart. (Hebrews 4:12)

PRAYER: Thank You, Lord, for Your Word. We are glad You gave it to us to show us the way to You. And help us to be directed by it in our daily lives. Amen.
(From the "Upper Room")

Resurrecting Rail Passenger Service

Any rational debate on transportation for mobile America ought to begin with the premise that many kinds of transport are desirable. So the aim of Congress to see a national railroad passenger corporation created for a new era in hauling people over rails is not revolutionary as some seem to think. A 1964 Presidential Task Force on Transportation Policy seemed to conclude that riding passenger trains is — and will remain — out.

The proposed corporation, supposed to be functional by next March, is projected to make money.

The new trains will have to operate under new methods and with new equipment. Initially, they will serve short-run, high-speed schedules in the densely-populated regions of the country. Texas will see them first between Houston-Dallas-San Antonio on schedules rivaling air travel from center city-to-center city.

West Germany operates new trains now and is building more. The trains are 125-mile-per-hour electric self-propelled aluminum vehicles. They are air conditioned, four coaches and a diner.

New trains, when they come, will have to be scheduled for business commuters. They ought to haul mail and express parcels. They won't supplant airlines or buses. Transcontinental trains will be incidental to a national network connecting major population centers.

The trains will likely develop intercity runs as a consequence of a federal program signed into law last week. That program is the projected 12-year, $10 billion proposal to improve bus and subway service in the nation's urban centers.

First year's authorization is $80 million. In 1975, the plan anticipates $1.86 billion and thereafter $3.1 billion.

Trains will be essential for two obvious reasons: more people want to go to more places and the carrying capacity of highways and air terminals is under heavy pressure. Bigger airplanes, if they are tolerable otherwise, will give added time before terminal space is saturated.

There are problems in reviving rail passenger business, of course (like better road beds or new rails), but trains can haul more people with greater efficiency than other methods — given the space limitations of roads and airports.

Pitfall Of Packaged Candidates

Citizens giving thought to the November elections may puzzle over the packaged candidates being put on their home TV tubes with increasing frequency these evenings. Their interest was sharpened a week ago when the President vetoed a bill aimed at limiting the amount of money that could be spent on political candidates.

One commentator said the spot commercial is "made to order for trickery, innuendo, implications of treason, smear and irrelevance." He's right, of course, and we would support his proposal to allow candidates to appear only in face-to-face situations with somebody who can talk back.

One function of television can be an unequalled forum for political debate, but such function is thwarted by broadcast rules and, let's face it, reluctance of some candidates to appear because they are not photogenic or possess a television personality.

Public television could and probably should play aggressive parts in putting the candidates before the voters in a format of challenge and disclosure. At any rate, political office is not a proper prize for clever image-makers. Television is too pervasive to let it become a tool of the image-makers' 60-second spot.

Marquis Childs Parallel Of Agnew And '58 Nixon

WASHINGTON — Out of the uncertainties of this fog-bound campaign now mercifully drawing to an end one thing seems certain. If the Nixon-Agnew strategy succeeds and the Republicans win control of the Senate and make substantial gains in the House, the swing will be farther to the right than any shift of direction in this century.

AS WAS illustrated by an incident on Vice-President Agnew's swing through Florida, it may be a sharper turn than even the architects of the strategy would like. Rep. William C. Cramer, the Republican candidate for the Senate, heaping extravagant praise on Agnew told an enthusiastic rally that he had once sat on the Vice-President's right. And it takes some doing, he added, to be to the right of Agnew.

Reading his prepared text, Agnew interpolated the remark that he wasn't that far to the right and that he did not want to be put in any category of left or right. What Agnew succeeds in doing is to fire up men like Cramer, who outdo him in the rhetoric of the right. Cramer called for a law subjecting all Federal judges, including the justices of the Supreme Court, to a review every six years. He promised as his first act, if elected to the Senate with a Republican majority, to fire Sen. J. William Fulbright as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

THIS LAST drew prolonged applause and cheers. Fulbright, school busing, crime, the news media of the Eastern seaboard — these are sure-fire Agnew targets. School busing and crime in particular get the virtually all-white audiences on their feet cheering. They obviously take this as a promise of what will happen come next January.

The parallel between Spiro Agnew in 1970 and Richard Nixon in 1958 is striking. In 1958, Vice-President Nixon was barnstorming across the country in a congressional campaign as Agnew is doing today. The Nixon of '58 warned the voters who turned out to hear him that a Democratic Congress would socialize the country. He went so far that President Eisenhower felt compelled to restrain him.

WHILE Eisenhower was initially reluctant to take to the stump, he did in the end visit several states. The election on Nov. 4 was a disaster for the G.O.P. The Democrats won control of both the Senate and the House by the largest margins since the Roosevelt landslide of 1936. They went from 49 seats in the Senate to 62 and from 235 to 282 on the House side.

NEVERTHELESS, Nixon had amassed substantial capital in the Republican bank in state after state he had given his all for the party faithful and they were grateful even though circumstances beyond his control made for defeat rather than victory. He laid the ground-work with the party regulars for his nomination for the presidency in 1960 and, building on this base with his intensive efforts in more than 70 Congressional districts in 1966, he was assured of the prize in 1968 long before the delegates went to Miami Beach. That is just what Agnew is doing this year.

If Agnew has done nothing else, he has assured his place on the ticket in 1972.

THE CIRCUMSTANCES in 1970 are quite different from 1958, when even a President who was a national hero with a popularity rating considerably higher than that of President Nixon could not provide coattails sufficiently long. The turn to the right is obvious. The Democrats are quarreling among themselves in many states, notably California. The wildly cheering rallies may not mean votes but they mean Republican identity for the Vice-President and Agnewism.

THERE'S ALWAYS THAT RISK

John Cunniff Inflation Zaps Game Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — The game plan had called for the enemy to be worn down gradually over the first three periods and the coup to be administered midway through the final quarter.

It hasn't worked out that way. Inflation has been an unusually rugged foe. It seemed to weaken during August, but in September appears to have swallowed an illicit amphetamine in a singular disregard of the rules of the game.

The question now is whether the game plan can lead to victory at all, in a political or economic sense. Republicans will be hurt at the polls. And old notions of how inflation is checked may have to be changed.

Not just in Washington, but throughout the world, nations are asking themselves if old fiscal and monetary measures alone are sufficient to defeat what appears to be an especially virulent form of inflation.

With each month that inflation persists, the chances grow that the United States will have to adopt an incomes policy, which means a greater leadership role by the federal government in determining acceptable wages, prices and interest rates.

The Nixon administration has carefully avoided any such policy of intervention into the affairs of the marketplace, and has in fact expressed philosophical distaste for such an approach.

Tampering with the market mechanism is nothing new to the American economy, however, and there are numerous examples of far more direct controls on activities than would be the case with an incomes policy.

The Federal Reserve Regulation Q, for instance, limits the rates of interest that banks can pay on time and savings deposits. There are acreage restrictions on agricultural production. Fair trade laws regulate prices, and other laws affect minimum wages and transportation and utility charges.

To be fair to the Nixon administration, it is not alone with the problem or with the decision that must be made. In its mid-year economic outlook, the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development commented about the chief economic problems of its 22-nation area.

"Price inflation," it said, "is an old problem which has now acquired new dimensions and a new urgency. The last 12 months have witnessed the most pronounced and general price rise experienced in the OECD area since the Korean war. Prices have been rising in most countries by at least 5 per cent."

And, it continued: "It is clear, moreover, that the strength of the inflationary forces generated over the last two or three years has been consistently underestimated."

Hal Boyle How's Your Memory Crop?

NEW YORK (AP) — The human memory is like autumn, a season of both recollection and premonition.

It is also like autumn in that it is a harvest. The reward of the green and growing years is the golden sheaf of memories one is left with in the Indian summer years of life.

To Your Good Health Is Fat 'All In Your Head'?

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been trying to go on a diet but I always seem to eat even more and break the diet.

My parents say I'm too young to go on diet pills. Do you think I could get them or do you agree with my parents? Can you do a certain kind of exercise to lose weight and not go on a diet?

I need help fast. I want to get the diet pills because they really help. My neighbor goes on them and she still eats as she usually does.

Got any other suggestions? Please agree with me on only three. That's about my only hope. — C.C.

I read you loud and clear. You eat too much, even when "on a diet," and you want to lose weight. You want to do it any way you can — bar one. You don't want to stop eating too much.

And you want me — sight unseen — to agree with you on pills. Yet you haven't even told me what kind of pills.

There is no pill that will make a person lose weight and yet go on eating without limit, except for certain powerful drugs which, soon or late, take their toll in health. A discouraging number of deaths have been traced to some of the more virulent kinds.

So, no, I won't recommend pills for you.

I will say that you can reduce if you want to, but if you don't have what it takes to stop overeating, I'm sure you don't have what it takes to reduce by sheer exercise. Exercise alone won't do it, it must be taken along with a restricted food intake.

Some folks are compulsive eaters — they eat because of an emotional urge, not because they need food. Others eat too much because since childhood they have been brought up on fattening foods.

I have a suspicion, further, that some people get fat because of a dietary deficiency of some sort. Yes, that's right! There's a condition called "pica," which impels some people to eat odd things, sometimes items that carry extra calories.

Sometimes these people are found to be anemic, so eating these things is a subconscious urge to make up for something they are lacking — but they don't know what.

I suspect that some people overeat (especially too much fat, sugar, and starch, which are fattening if eaten in excess) when they may be lacking adequate iron or some other nutrient. So I say that a properly balanced diet should be part of any reducing plan and is a necessity in some.

Please think over these thoughts — and if you are serious enough about reducing to go at it the right way, send for my 35-cent booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing."

Dear Doctor: I had Paget's disease of the breast. Is it anything like Paget's disease of the bone? — R.W.G.

No. Despite the identical names, they are unrelated diseases.

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what types of trouble to look for send for Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "You And Your Gall Bladder."

Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Today's Sermon, Etc., Etc.

I solemnly swear this will be the month in which I will not make one mistake.

THE SUBJECT of today's sermon is "Take a Neglected Kid to a Football Game — Yours."

As one who sees a few high school games each season, my concern is more with the parents.

For the students are very well-behaved (except for the inevitable few smart alecks, of course).

You'll find a few parents booing the referees or second guessing the coaches, but a majority of those who go behave well too.

THE POINT is this isn't necessarily an effort to get the parents to check on their children. I think it's more to show the young people that the adults are interested in what the now generation is doing.

I'll bet adults will get more out of it than the young people do. And it'll keep you out of the pool hall, the private club, and other dens of iniquity.

Besides, it will make it easier for the kids to keep track of where their parents are.

EXPERTS THINK that even if the voting age does drop to 18, the percentage in that age bracket who go to the polls will be small.

It's hereditary.

Administration officials concede prices and unemployment are still going up, but at a lower rate. Thus, they say, inflation is coming under control. Be patient.

Meanwhile, the President is planning for another "rest."

IF I WERE President, I'd name Lyndon B. Johnson business manager of the country, with instructions to run it as if it were his own business. It's the only way I know of to get it on a profit-making basis.

Of course, I'd have to be careful that it didn't wind up in LBJ's name.

Perhaps The Turning Point

WASHINGTON — Terrorism may have come to its climax in Canada — and maybe in other countries — with the slaying of Pierre Laporte.

THE PROMPT ACTION of the Canadian prime minister in mobilizing the military forces and virtually putting the nation under martial law for six months was overwhelmingly approved by a vote of the parliament. The practice of kidnapping public officials and holding them as hostages until certain prisoners are released or other demands met has been sweeping various parts of the world. But it is doubtful whether any single incident has received as much publicity as did the events in Canada over the last week-end.

People of every country must be asking themselves the question: Why do groups go to such extremes? Why do they defy authority and by their acts show complete indifference to the power of government to punish them? Why, also, are there so many younger as well as older exponents of various controversial issues talking about "revolution" and the use of force, while their own governments permissively ignore the threatening statements which result in incitement to disorder and crime?

PLAINLY, the sensible leaders in most communities have been depending upon methods of conciliation and debate and the opportunities afforded under a representative government to settle national and international problems. But the dissident organizations or groups have not been swayed. Some of them have been fanatical.

Kidnappings and hijackings have intensified in recent months and finally a government was defied in Canada and a provincial official was executed. The whole world now is being told, in effect, that there is no answer to the problem except strict discipline and the application of military law.

NOT ONLY in Canada but in other countries today security measures have been increased so that public officials are under guard not only in their offices and while traveling but in their homes. This is an incalculable expense and an unprecedented example of what terrorism can do.

Slowly but surely terroristic units in the United States and elsewhere will have to be convinced that no good purpose is served by the use of force and that reforms can be achieved through the normal processes of government if citizens are patient and restrained. The ways of communication are open to everybody, but the paths to disorder will have to be closed.

UNDOUBTEDLY, as the guilty are found and their participation in terroristic acts is proved in court, severe punishments will be administered. The Canadian public is going to insist upon it, and so will the people of this country with respect to crimes in the United States.

But the real tragedy is the fact that so many segments of the population listen to the extremists or are guided by those who feel that the end justifies the means or that the constitution is what the mob says it is.

THE CANADIAN EPISODE may be a turning point and awaken the people of America and other lands to the importance of bringing the facts to the attention of those who have been misled by militant individuals. The Canadian tragedy of last weekend will not be forgotten.

Andrew Tully A Blow Struck For Character

WASHINGTON — It is not quite time to compare baseball favorably with the Salvation Army as an institution for good, but something good occurred in that sometime sport at the conclusion of an exercise presumptuously referred to as the World Series.

(World Series? Any sandlot team in Japan could clobber the pathetic Washington Senators, whose multimillionaire boss, Robert Short, is now pleading that the taxpayers subsidize his collection of ham-handed louts.)

WHAT HAPPENED is that when Baltimore finally defeated Cincinnati for the championship of the continental United States, everybody involved was seized by an attack of class. The Orioles couldn't find enough nice things to say about the Reds, even acknowledging that things might have been different had Cincinnati's pitching staff been at full strength. For their part, the Reds publicly were almost ecstatic in their praise of the "great" Baltimore club, especially that vacuum cleaner at third base trademarked Brooks Robinson.

It is the square in me, I suppose, but I was moved by the tribute paid by the Reds' manager, Sparky Anderson, to his opposite number, Earl Weaver. Said Anderson, on an unusual visit to the victors' clubhouse, "Weaver did a great job. I think it's criminal he wasn't named the major-league manager of the year." And then, "The Orioles conducted themselves like gentlemen. It was an honor to play them."

SOME READERS will argue that to comment on a baseball tournament is reaching too far for a Washington columnist. Obviously, I dissent. A lot of things go into the making of the people of this country, and although I reject baseball's claim to special privilege as a kind of institutionalized Thomas a Kempis, it is indeed a fact that this game of rounders has a remarkable impact on kids. For better or for worse, the tads are inclined to pick their heroes from the professional baseball world.

TOO OFTEN, this is for worse. I should not like a son of mine to model himself after the pitcher, Denny McLain, who may have proved himself the greediest and most ill-mannered player of all time. A player named Richie Allen long ago was dropped from my pin-up gallery for his boorishness and foul-mouthed, paranoid abuse of his peers. Ever the umpires turned arrogant and oafish in pursuit of extracurricular loot and jeered openly at the inefficiency of the losing Orioles.

Well, it's a money-grubbing business and I suppose we should not expect better manners from semi illiterate ball players than are exhibited by bankers, stockbrokers and politicians. That perhaps is the point of this essay — that kudos are in order when a ball club does show a touch of grace.

TO ENCASE it in a nutshell, the Orioles and Reds have struck a blow for those who argue that athletics helps to build character.

Big 'Abrazo' By Governors At Dam Event

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — The governors of Texas and Coahuila, Mexico, formally opened the 10th annual Fiesta De Amistad Thursday with the traditional "abrazo"—embrace of friendship.

Standing atop Amistad Dam on the Rio Grande, Gov. Preston Smith and Gov. Eulalio Gutierrez Trevino called for continued friendship between the two states and nations.

Smith told Gov. Gutierrez Trevino:

"I borrow from the words of the great president of Mexico, Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, who said during a recent meeting with the president of the United States, Richard M. Nixon, 'the road of friendship must be traveled frequently so that grass does not grow on it and later cover it.'"

"Let us hope," Smith added, "that the friendship between the states of Coahuila and Texas will continue to be a well traveled road."

'We're Raiding Blind,' Canadian Cop Admits

MONTREAL (AP) — "We're raiding blind," a police officer said today as the search continued for the Quebec separatists who kidnaped two officials week before last and killed one of them last weekend.

"We've run out of leads," the officer said. "All we can do now is investigate tips ... from anonymous sources and the public."

Separate cells of the terrorist Quebec Liberation Front, or FLQ, kidnaped British Trade Commissioner James Richard Cross 18 days ago and Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte five days later. Laporte's body was found Saturday and the fate of Cross remains unknown.

The front demanded the release of 23 FLQ men serving prison sentences or awaiting trial but the Quebec government agreed only to parole five of them. It also offered Cross' kidnapers safe conduct to Cuba if they released him.

Since the federal government invoked the War Measures Act last Friday, 373 persons have been rounded up in Quebec Province and 271 were still in custody early today.

O'Brien Says Nixon, Agnew Preaching Politics Of Fear

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien says President Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew are preaching the politics of fear in an attempt to mask the failure of their administration.

In a speech to the National Press Club Thursday, O'Brien said Nixon "has failed to establish one real national goal, unless it be the election of Republicans next month and his own re-election 24 months from now."

SICK, SICK, SICK
"With our institutions under question and attack from all sides, our leaders seek merely to convert the ailments of our society—which they should be working to heal—into political gains," said O'Brien, former postmaster general and aide to Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

He charged Agnew was dispatched to the Republican campaign trail as a "programmed emissary to preach the politics of fear." Nixon now has joined him in "the mind-fogging magic of demagoguery," O'Brien said.

In an attempt to cover up the Republican administration's failure to deal with society's urgent needs, the Nixon-Agnew "combination has managed to drag into the arena of politics—Carthy, R-Wis. O'Brien said: "We hoped we had finally out-into the scramble for votes—virtually every note of discord plaguing our society," O'Brien charged.

Referring to what he called fear—the politics of fear—practiced by the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy, but a carefully orchestrated team of the highest office holders in the land."

DISCORD, DISTRUST
With the two-party system and U.S. society hanging in the balance, he added, "The art of leadership, to those in power today, has been reduced to discord, divisiveness, distrust and just plain demagoguery."

O'Brien said Nixon's relative entry into Republican campaigns in several states was an attempt to undo problems created by Agnew in several weeks of vote-seeking.

Despite Nixon's veto of a bill limiting broadcast spending, O'Brien predicted a Democratic victory Nov. 3. He said his party will gain seats in the House and some governorships and retain control of the Senate.

He accused Nixon of trying to price Democrats out of existence by vetoing the bill "I shudder to think of the 1972 Nixon campaign budget," he said. "The Democratic party could be priced out of serious contention ... by 1972."

STAR-SPANGLED — Flagwaving Sophie (Belita McCravy) comes between publisher-editor Andy Hatfield, left (Kerry Gunnels), and writer Norman Cornell (Randy Hatfield) in "The Star-Spangled Girl," opening tonight in the Howard County Junior College.

Star-Spangled Play On Stage Tonight

A star-spangled evening will greet the audience at tonight's performance of "The Star-Spangled Girl" presented by the Hawk players in Howard County Junior College at 8 p.m.

The three-member cast has established a rapport with each other that immediately puts the audience at ease. Belita McCravy, starring as Sophie Rauschmeyer, the corn-fed, flag-waving beauty who singlehandedly nearly wrecks "Fallout Magazine," manages a honey-dripping southern accent that should draw every Rhett Butler-type in the county.

Kerry Gunnels as Andy Hobart and Randy Hatfield as Norman Cornell seemed to have a little trouble working before an audience during Thursday night's dress rehearsal, and a few of the lines were buried under the audience's laughter.

The cast seemed a little tense in the first act, but they loosened up during the second act and by the time the third act rolled around they were thoroughly enjoying the play, and the audience was enjoying it too.

Neil Simon, as usual, is the real star of the show. His brilliant comic talent, as evidenced by "The Odd Couple," "Barefoot in the Park" and "Plaza Suite," was as apparent as usual.

The stage crew of the HCJC production earns a special applause for its realistic stage set, depicting the apartment-office of Hobart and Cornell.

The plot revolves around Hobart and Cornell, the staff of "Fallout Magazine," designed to criticize the government for any and all actions, and the hilarious problems which result when Cornell falls in love with the new neighbor—a flag-waving blonde, a former member of the U.S. Olympic swim team and fiancée of a Marine Corps lieutenant.

It's easy to predict that Sophie and Andy Hobart will fall in love, but the causes, results and reactions are not that easily foreseen.

The play opens at 8 p.m. today with tickets $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students. HCJC students will be admitted with their activity cards. The play will be presented again Saturday night and next Thursday and Friday.

Election Code Test In Court

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A federal court hearing was scheduled today on a request for clarification of a ruling that declared illiteracy provisions of the Texas Election Code unconstitutional.

The Mexican-American Legal Defense Fund filed the request after Secretary of State Martin Dies advised the group there is still time for his office to apply the ruling for the Nov. 3 election.

A three-judge federal court held consecutive last Friday articles of the election code that prohibit aid to illiterates in marking their ballots.

But the court said it felt there was too little time to make the necessary changes before Nov. 3. It said the Texas Legislature should be given the opportunity to amend the election code.

In his petition for a hearing, lawyer Pete Tijerina noted Dies said he could instruct election judges to assist illiterates in the Nov. 3 election, but that he did not want to go against the three-judge court order.

The new petition asks for clarification of the court order.

Hail Stones Pop Abilene

Blustery thunderstorms and occasionally heavy downpours ranged across much of Texas during the night and this morning, pelting some areas with hail and raising threats of flash flooding.

Rain soaked nearly every section of the state, falling at rates up to two inches per hour, as a cold front cruised toward the southeast from the Texas Panhandle. By dawn its forward edge lay along a line from Childress to near Midland.

Austin measured 55 inch of rain within an hour and Houston received 1.10 in six hours.

Creeks surged out of banks in parts of South Central Texas and residents in rural areas were warned flash floods were possible at some places in Bastrop, Fayette, Travis and Williamson counties.

Hail stones one inch in diameter pounded several neighborhoods in Wichita Falls.

Winds gusting up to 43 miles per hour were accompanied by half-inch hail at Abilene.

The turbulent weather developed after an unusually mild day during which temperatures climbed as high as 87 degrees at Alice, McAllen and Mineral Wells. Dalhart, behind the cool front, recorded a top mark of 68.

He Turns Off Drugs, Turns On To Christ

By RAY JOHNSON

When my sister saw me she cried. My mother asked me to clean up. She could hardly believe what she saw before her was her son. My father, who had gotten me out of jail before, could not understand anymore.

Before this time my jail record had been for minor possession of alcoholic beverages or disturbing the peace. But this time it was for possession of narcotics and I was high when they arrested me. I was nineteen and facing a long prison sentence.

My background is that of a middle class family who had all that we needed and some things that we didn't need. My parents took my sister and I to church and I enjoyed it. But I never really knew God, I just enjoyed church. At home and school I was always being told how smart I was, so at sixteen I quit high school and went off to college.

At college I didn't need God. He wasn't fashionable. I drank socially and paid attention to the God is dead theory. My associations were with the intellectual crowd who claimed that they were concerned about the problems of humanity. Along with them I began to drink a lot more and smoked plenty of marijuana. After a time I noticed that these supposedly concerned people talked a lot about helping others but never did anything, and this bothered me.

From here on I decided to do my own thinking, began to read a lot, use more drugs, and said I was "finding myself." About this time I got arrested. My father spent a lot of money to keep me out of jail. I received a large fine and two years probation. From now on I said I would be "straight." But it seemed that people didn't understand me. I kept telling myself that I was different, special. I started using cough syrup to get high on as well.

Ecumenical Congress Set

A dozen prominent theologians and educators will headline the second Texas Congress of Religious Education Nov. 20-22 in Dallas.

The sessions are expected to attract more than 4,000 laymen and professional educators from Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma. The 11 Roman Catholic dioceses in Texas sponsor the congress which first convened two years ago in San Antonio.

Registration will begin Friday (Nov. 20) afternoon at the headquarters Adolphus and Baker hotels. Presentations and workshops will be conducted at the hotels Friday evening, Saturday and Sunday morning. The congress will conclude with celebration of mass at the Dallas Memorial Auditorium.

"The congress will be a tightly-packed program of what's happening in religious education nationwide, with appeal to not only the professional teacher but also to every parent and thinking adult," predicts the Rev. Victor Brown, O. P., congress general chairman.

Ecumenical in perspective, the congress will feature a wide spectrum of theologians, Bible experts, catechists, youth specialists and religious drama, music artists.

In addition to main presentations, the congress will offer informal "talk-ins" with participants and guest speakers Friday and Saturday nights. Congress exhibitors will include publishers and film distributors featuring religious education materials.

Advance registration for the congress is $7.50 and should be mailed before Oct. 31 to the Texas Congress of Religious Education, Office of Religious Education, Box 19507, Dallas, Texas 75219. Fee after the Oct. 31 deadline will be $10.

Jesuits Run Quiet Retreat

LAKE DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — More and more people seem to be turning to contemplation as a solution to man's problem of living in today's hypertense, overcrowded world. That's the indication at a retreat house near Dallas, in any case.

The Jesuit-run Montserrat Retreat House here is steadily growing in popularity. Nearly 750 persons so far this year have put home, business and recreation aside for three days to "retreat" to this quiet spot about 20 miles north of Dallas.

The attendance shows a steady increase over the 679 retreatants in all of last year and the 669 the year before. A total of 16,000 persons have come to Montserrat since it opened its doors 11 years ago.

Johnson Will Tell His Story Sunday

Ray Johnson will tell the story of his salvation during the morning and evening services Sunday at the First Assembly of God Church at West 4th and Lancaster.

People of all faiths are invited to attend. Johnson is accompanied by his wife, Nadine. This is the second time, according to the Rev. J. W. Farmer, that the Johnsons have spoken to his congregation.

Included here is part of his testimony.

As drinking a lot of wine and beer. I got arrested so many times in Dallas where I was living that I was asked to leave until my probation was up.

I went to Denver and fell in with some real "heavy cats" who introduced me to the psychedelic drugs such as LSD. I stayed in Colorado about four months until I was escorted out of the state and told not to come back. But by this time I was "hip." I came to Texas where my parents had moved with the idea that by being "turned on" I could revolutionize the state.

I started hanging around with the "beautiful people" who I felt were sincere in their use of drugs to get rid of their "hang-ups."

In 1967, I went to California to join the hippies. What looked like a dream when I got there turned out to be a nightmare. People who said that they loved each other were giving each other V.D. and hepatitis. Dope became a necessity to blot the very realness of Hashbury. Human waste was on side walks as well as wasted humans.

Three days without food was about normal, but that long without drugs was rare. Here I was "turned on" to speed and Methadone. A drug that keeps you constantly going.

I went back to Texas with the news that drugs were the answer to everything. I was arrested while breaking into a safe to obtain money for drugs and my parents were given a choice of committing me to a mental hospital or sending me to prison. I spent 114 days in the hospital and after two escapes they discharged me as

Witnesses Study Teaching Methods

The Big Spring congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses is receiving advanced missionary training this week as they are visited by their circuit supervisor, Robert A. McCarrall.

The special activities got under way Tuesday night at the Kingdom Hall at 500 Donley, when McCarrall presented a discourse on "The Light of Life."

The Big Spring visitor is giving personal training in effective Bible teaching as he is joined by the local Witnesses in visiting Big Spring residents each morning and afternoon this week.

At 8 p.m. Saturday a Bible question period, "New Things Learned," is scheduled. McCarrall will address the gathering further to give appropriate counsel on the spiritual progress of the congregation. Highlight of the circuit supervisor's visit will come at 3 p.m. Sunday when he narrates a slide presentation, "Visiting the 669th year before. A total World Headquarters of 16,000 persons have come to Montserrat since it opened its doors 11 years ago."

incurable. I believed the doctors when they said I had no hope of changing and really began injecting drugs into my veins. Now I was literally "grasping at straws."

I had given up on humanity altogether. All I lived for was drugs. I got hepatitis and was sent to the hospital in San Antonio. I had already been discharged from one hospital after another. I weighed 119 pounds and hadn't slept in seven days. I was thinking about how to get high when a Teen Challenge worker walked into my hospital room and began talking to me.

At first I thought he was a cop until he began talking about Jesus Christ and how Christ loved me and could change my life. After he left I got on my knees beside the bed and prayed a feeble prayer for God to help me. I thank God that he specialized in hearing feeble prayer and helping losers. The next day I was discharged from the hospital and entered the Teen Challenge program and am now attending Bible School while working part time with Teen Challenge to reach those that are in the same condition that I was. I no longer "grasp at straws."

THE REV. L.M. MOSELEY

Church Holds Revival Meet

The Rev. L. M. Moseley, Amarillo evangelist, will lead a nine-day revival which began Wednesday at the Christ Assembly Church at Thorp and Clanton. The Rev. Tommy Williams is pastor.

The Rev. Moseley, who has been an evangelist for 17 years, will conduct the services each night except Saturday at 7:30 p.m. There is no Saturday night service. He is the former minister of the Rose of Sharon Revival Center in Odessa. The Rev. Moseley also was pastor of a church in Odessa for some years. He uses both music and sermon to bring his message. Originally from McAlester, Okla., the Rev. Moseley has conducted revivals at camp meetings and conventions all across the United States.

Book Recounts Prison Sermons

An incredible account of man's physical endurance and spiritual constancy is told in a newly published book, "Stronger Than Prison Walls," by the Rev. Richard Wurmbrand. He was kidnapped on the street by the Communist police, torn from family and church, and imprisoned in Rumania for 14 years.

In solitary confinement for three years, Rev. Wurmbrand existed in a cramped cell 30 feet below ground, "never seeing sun, moon or stars, flowers or snow, never seeing another man except for the guards and interrogators" who tortured him. Struggling with torture, drugs, and beatings against an existence of unbelievable solitude, he kept his sanity and faith by drawing on his brilliant creative talents.

Each night, after hours of prayer and meditations, Rev. Wurmbrand prepared and delivered, in the solitude of his cell, a religious sermon heard and seen by no other audience than he, himself. Without benefit of a Bible or use of pen and paper, these sermons rise from a soul in extremis, the ongoing will and testament of a true Christian put to every ghastly test of faith devised by man. Rev. Wurmbrand emerges from his ordeal a living martyr: the years of horror have succeeded only in giving added support to his firm knowledge that God is ever present.

Some of his essays are shocking in their despair. His demand of God, "How will you justify yourself when we meet?" sends a chill through the reader. And yet this sermon, "God's Unjust Laws," ends with a remark of rare beauty: "I saw the sun of righteousness rising in my dark cell."

Elsewhere, Rev. Wurmbrand speaks of hearing the cries of fellow prisoners undergoing torture. When the nightly horrors start, a signal is given by the other inmates to begin spiritual exercises — examination of conscience, judgment of attitudes, and inspection of thought and actions of the past day. Three knocks on the wall of one cell to another mark the time to forget their "hell on earth" and help the victims reach out for love and guidance from the One who ever restores the soul, who remains constant through madness and hate, who is always there.

There is the devastating "Sermon to My Own Soul," when the author balances on the edge of sanity, memorizing his thought while gagged and strait-jacketed. And the haunting "Binza," the sermon that celebrates the love of man and wife, the wistful longing of the pastor for his own beloved. Particularly moving is the "Talk with My Mihai," in which Rev. Wurmbrand exhorts his little son to "love Jesus and endure to the end."

Deprived of writing tools, but blessed with an acute memory, the pastor has been able to recall most of his sermons, capturing the main idea of each one in a brief rhyme, losing none of his exquisite philosophy of life and religion.

Select The Church Of Your Choice And Be Faithful
In Your Attendance

The world never looked so empty — gray and overcast, and no one to talk to. Depressed, I stepped to the window sightlessly taking in the familiar view. Off to the left, unremembered, was the church steeple. It thrust up out of the green trees like a white exclamation point in my mind. Suddenly, I wanted to laugh out loud. How foolish of me to think of myself as alone! We are never alone; God has promised us that. I thanked Him for the steeple, the visible reminder of His love, and for the whole Church which draws men together against the emptiness of the world.

SWEETWATER — Big Spring Runnels scored a resounding victory here Thursday evening, bombing Sweetwater, 20-0.

The Yearlings, now 4-3 on the year, counted two other touchdowns that were called back.

With the clock ticking away at the half, Sweetwater got a down renewal at Big Spring's three. The Yearlings put on receiver on the team, with 11 receptions for 179 yards.

The two teams have given up a ton of points. But both clubs have been able to score a lot.

For that reason, the fans may get to see a wide-open offensive skirmish tonight.

Lee makes use of countless sets and, for that reason, is hard to throw a Lee. Acree's running game simply has come on as he hoped it would.

Big Spring, with agile Dave Duncan at the controls, is prone to run more. The question is: Can the Steers establish a quick-reacting team like Lee? Time will tell.

Probable starters: BIG SPRING — John Weeks 155 and David Engler 185; T—Pink Dickens 190 and Steve Rick 190 or James Parker 220; C—Howard Stewart 180 and James Miller 170; QB—Dale Crenshaw 195; RB—Dave Duncan 170; FB—Randy Hulme 160; LB—Joe Chavez 175 or David Stanley 170; FB—Tommy Fletcher 150.

MIDLAND LEE — Mike Malone 170 and Bill Colgan 165; T—Alvin Jackson 170 and John Newton 180; G—Jim Horst 165 and Len Lawson 150; C—David Rhoads 170; QB—Gary Lambert 170; RB—Mike Swihart 145; FB—Randy Hulme 160; FB—Gary Robinson 160.

Robinson did a good job at quarterback after replacing the injured Bobby Bradshaw.

Defensively, Celestino Correa, Luevanos, Doug Dimmitt, Jerry Mintz, Lopez, Stan Partee, Steve Wilkerson, Randy Easley, Robison, Smith and Clarence Pollard glistered for Big Spring.

Franks, Luevanos, Robison, Lopez and Smith were standouts on offense.

Smith made over 100 yards rushing and 155 passing.

The Runnels team hosts San Angelo Glenn next Thursday.

Sweetwater's ninth graders defeated the Big Spring Brahmas, 30-14, in the second game of the double header.

Forsan Triumphs

FORSAN — Forsan Junior High went on a scoring rampage here Thursday evening, swamping Loraine, 44-22.

COACH JIM ACREE

Gung-ho Midland Lee moves into Memorial Stadium here this evening to wage football war with Big Spring. Kickoff time is 8 o'clock.

Both teams have been eased aside in the District 5-AAAA championship race but each team wants this one badly. A win would put Jim Acree of Lee that much farther ahead in his rebuilding campaign.

In recent out, the Rebels have played a hard-nosed type football that has made the opposition work for any benefits they might pick up.

Big Spring is in a rebuilding year, too, under new coach Clovis Hale. The Steers have fared somewhat better than their most ambitious rooters had dared hope. Unless his team wins tonight, however, Hale will probably figure much of his work has gone down the drain.

Both teams are 1-2 in conference standings. Big Spring's success came at the expense of Midland High. Lee measured Odessa High a couple of weeks ago.

Both elevens have acquitted themselves well in other starts. The Steers outplayed Abilene High but lost. They were in the Permian game for three quarters before yielding ultimately, 34-8.

Lee blew the duke to San Angelo but walked off the field with its collective head held high. The Bobcats knew they had been in a tussle. The Rebels were elbowed around by a super-smooth Abilene Cooper team last week.

Leading scorer for the Lee team is Randy Hulme, who has 26 points. He is also the top ground gainer with 204 yards.

Revitalized Mustangs Host Unbeaten Jayton Tonight

ACKERLY — Rejuvenated Sand's tangles with undefeated Jayton in the 5-B opener for both teams here tonight. Kickoff time is 7:30 o'clock.

With Johnny Peugh back in the Mustang lineup and the injury situation better than it has been in weeks, hopes are running high here tonight. QB Steve Herm may return to play sometime next week.

Probable starters: JAYTON — Tommy Parker 145 and Steve Owen 165; T—Jim Phillips 210 and Nicky Williams 190; G—Tommy Stansland 161 and Paul Davis 160; C—David Parker 180; QB—Kim Nichols 181; RB—John Charles Davis 155 and Harold July 145; FB—Lindell Fayer 140.

SANDS — F. Eric Robles 168 and Ramon Oskov 160; T—Edward Barrera 165 and Gavino Rodriguez 190; G—Steve Herren 140 and Stan Smith 140; C—Larry Shaw 190; QB—Paul Hopper 145; FB—Reggie Horn 160; HB—Ed Newcomer 150; RB—Johnny Peugh 145.

SHRINE RITES SET TONIGHT

Three men will be inducted into the Steer Hall of Honor in pre-game ceremonies in Memorial Stadium at 7:30 o'clock here this evening. Jerry Graves, himself a member of the shrine, will officiate. Here are brief sketches on the three who will be honored:

ORIE BRISTOW — Coached here from 1931 through 1935. Teams had 31-145 record. His 1934 club was district champion, ultimately losing to Amarillo High in a game which was played in the second round of playoffs. His 1931 team won 8-1 and scored 306 points to only seven for opposition. Was second team All-American of Oklahoma and later played pro ball with Jim Thorpe and Ernie Nevers.

B. LEE — A stellar halfback here in 1946-47 here who later became head coach of Eastern New Mexico University. Aggressive in practice as well as in a game. His fiery play served as inspiration to his teammates. He broke open a game with Midland High in 1947 with a touchdown run back of a kickoff. He was one of the greatst finest numbers.

JAN LOUDERMILK — He set basketball scoring records for Big Spring that endure to this day. He led Big Spring to its only District 5-AAAA basketball championship. Once scored 75 points in a game against Odessa Ector. Was all-state and later played in All-Star game. Eventually became an all-Southwest Conference player for Southern Methodist. Now a medical doctor.

Jayhawk Queens Are Now 8-3

ABILENE — HCJC's Jayhawk Queens achieved their eighth victory in 11 matches by subduing Hardin-Simmons, 15-12, 15-7, here Thursday night.

The Big Spring collegians return to competition in Abilene Saturday, opposing McMurry College at 2 p.m. The HC team plays its next home game Monday against Odessa College.

Terri Davis, formerly of El Paso Burges, was named the Queens' most valuable player Thursday.

Association's Tourney Gets Under Way Sunday

The annual Grand tournament, staged by the Big Spring Golf Association to determine a champion of the organization, will be staged at the Municipal course here on the ensuing two Sundays.

The field is divided into two flights and the meet will be a medal-play event. A shotgun start will be used to launch play each Sunday.

Those unable to play on the appointed days must get approval to change their starting times with the tournament committee. Bill Patton is president of the BSGA.

Flight winners will each earn $50 in merchandise. Second places will be worth a $60 certificate. A $50 prize goes to third place finishers while fourth place winners each $35 in merchandise. Those gaining fifth place receipt for $20 in awards.

In addition, a low gross prize valued at $15 will be awarded in each flight.

Thirty-one players make up each of the two flights.

Among favorites in the top flight are Richard Pachall, Marvin Williams, Jerry Barron and Jerry Dudley.

This tournament climaxes BSGA activities for the year.

Goliad's eighth graders took Colorado City to the woodshed here Thursday evening, winning by a score of 15-0. The Mavericks are now 3-4 on the season.

The Mavs counted in the first when Gilbert Padilla went across on an end sweep but the play was nullified by an infraction.

In the second, QB Barry Canning went across for Goliad from one yard out, after Casey Lovelace had blocked a Cee City punt and Goliad had recovered on the enemy 11. In all, Goliad deflected three Cee City punts.

On the final play of Round Two, Darrell Miller went over for Big Spring on an 11-yard run. With Robert Rasmussen holding, James Coffey hit the PAT.

Terry Treadaway and Miller tackled a Cee City ball carrier in the end zone on the final play of the game for Goliad's last two points.

Colorado City made only three first downs and failed to get inside Goliad's 40.

On offense, Canning, Padilla and Mark Taylor stood out for the Mavericks while Treadaway, Padilla and Miller were impressive on defense.

The Mavericks host San Angelo Edison at 5 p.m. here next Thursday.

Toros Batter Foe, 52-6

The Big Spring ninth grade Toros toyed with Colorado City here Thursday night, winning by a score of 52-6. Reserves played practically the entire second half for Big Spring, after the Toros had built up a 44-6 advantage at the intermission.

On the first play after the opening kickoff, Earl Reynolds raced 75 yards for the Toros' first TD. Ronald McKee kicked the PAT.

A short time later, Reynolds raced 45 yards around right end for Big Spring's second tally and McKee again converted.

Later in Round One, Glenn Carlton scored on a four-yard dive play. The touchdown was set up on a 40-yard pass from QB Tom Sorley to Wes Seay.

Reynolds counted again on a 60-yard punt return before the period was out, pushing Big Spring's lead to 26-0.

In the second, McKee faked a punt and roared 75 yards for Big Spring's fifth touchdown. Sorley passed 45 yards to McKee for still another Toro TD.

Against a mixed team of Big Spring reserves and regulars, Cee City finally counted on a series of passes. Carlton came back to dive five yards for another Toro score just before the half.

Bisons Host Loraine Club

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes should be in better physical shape than they have been in several weeks when they line up against Loraine in a District 5-B game here tonight.

Last week's rest helped the Buffaloes. Center Van Barton, who was out with a knee injury, is back.

Billy McDonald, who had his knee in a cast, may see some action. Back Jackie Willis, who had been fretting with a kidney problem, appears ready to go.

Steve Yeats has been moved from tackle to end. Jimmy Hollingsworth, who replaced the injured Vard Griffith at tackle, has been looking great.

Something is bound to give tonight. Loraine, in five starts, owns only one victory — that a 28-0 success at the expense of Hawley.

The visitors have lost to New Home, Wall, Clyde B and Colorado City B.

Ali Cat To Watch, Ring Buffs Told At Atlanta

ATLANTA (AY) — Tradition is against a successful ring comeback for Muhammad, Ali after a 3½ year layoff, but that doesn't faze the brash and cocky ex-heavyweight champion of the world.

"Man, I'm faster than when I was the fastest," insists the controversial Louisville Lip, capping off training for his Monday night 15-rounder here against Jerry Quarry.

"I am only 28. I have kept myself in shape. I have lived a clean life. I am still the best—the champ. Nobody can beat me."

The black-skinned descendant of a runaway slave, born Cassius Marcellus Clay in Louisville, is not one to pore over ring record books. If he were, his confidence might be shaken.

History shows that many of the great champions, from John L. Sullivan up to the time of Joe Louis, have found ring rust a handicap too great to conquer.

Sullivan, known as the Boston Strong Boy in the bareknuckle era, won the heavyweight crown from Paddy Ryan in front of the Barnes Hotel in Mississippi City, Miss., back in 1882.

He bowled over opponents for the next several years, ran out of foes and did not fight from 1889 to 1892. During this period of idleness, he took a trip to Europe, sparred with the Prince of Wales and played "Honest Hearts and Willing Hands" on the stage.

Returning to the ring in 1892 — fat, out of shape and 33—Sullivan was an easy victim of James J. Corbett, who won by a knockout in 21 rounds.

Corbett himself retired in 18

Tech, Bears, Rice On Edge Of Ledge

Rice, Baylor and Texas Tech all have something in common this weekend. They're fighting to keep from being eliminated in the Southwest Conference football race.

It's two losses and you're on the sidelines with Texas A&M. No team has ever dropped two SWC battles and gained the championship throne.

Rice hosts the second-ranked Texas Longhorns. Baylor entertains Texas A&M and Texas Tech rolls out the Astroturf for Southern Methodist at Lubbock.

In the only other game involving a SWC team, Arkansas is a prohibitive favorite to make the final conference record against intersectional foes 17-12-1 as it hosts Wichita State.

WITHOUT SPEYER

One interesting sidelight to the Rice-Texas game in Houston is for some 60,000 persons is the defending national champion Longhorns, who have the nation's longest winning streak at 24, can function without their miracle worker split end, Cotton Speyer.

Danny Lester and tiny Dean Campbell will fill in for Speyer, who suffered a broken arm in the Oklahoma game.

Rice has a habit of being most troublesome for Texas in Houston. The Longhorns hold a thin 13-12-1 all-time margin in Houston. Texas paces the overall series 35-20-1.

The Longhorns are four-touchdown favorites over the Owls, who took a 10-0 blanking at the hands of Southern Methodist last week. Texas coach Darrell Royal made it a point this week to lecture his squad on what can happen to a complacent team in Houston.

Texas quarterback Eddie Phillips said "I know I don't think about any jinx. . . I figure they'll play their best against us. . . And we're well aware Rice is capable of pulling an upset. Other than that there's nothing special about their past history."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

There's nothing mystical about Odessa Permian's success in football. The Panthers stick to the basics — good blocking and good tackling. They're never spectacular. They prefer to let the opposition take the risks. Risks can sometimes cause accidents. When accidents occur, Permian is there to capitalize on the mistakes.

Permian backs are difficult to arrest because they've been taught to charge low but the Panthers will experience trouble with a line which reacts very fast and comes up to meet them. Wichita Falls appears to have such a team.

However, the Panthers haven't yet decked San Angelo and Abilene Cooper.

Moe Madison, the one-time Big Spring who is now in the Odessa school system, was a member of the only Howard County JC football team in history.

The Jayhawks, active around 1949, were not noted for winning. The school offered no football scholarships and was in against schools which did.

"I was the leading ground gainer on the team that year," Madison recalled recently, "and I wound up with a minus three yards rushing average."

Both Permian and Big Spring are romancing the number 34 this season.

Permian scored 34 points in each of three games played to date — against Amarillo Tascosa, Abilene and Big Spring. The Steers beat Midland High one week, 34-21, and then had 34 points scored against them by Permian.

UT-El Paso has had to drop four competitive sports from its program — wrestling, tennis, golf and swimming. The school's athletic budget was being spread a little too thin and the sports which offer no chance for cash receipts invariably suffer under such circumstances.

George McCarty, athletic director of the school, stated that the school would field a team in only one varsity sport at a time. The Miners will continue to offer resistance in football, basketball, track and baseball.

San Diego must have the only pro football team in the country whose officials pray the sun doesn't shine. Invariably it does.

On a nice day in Southern California, the team loses a lot of fans to the beaches and to boating. If the day is overcast, the Chargers feel they have a chance to share the fans' attention. The management there actually would like to play all its games at night.

According to an informant in Odessa, the health of one-time coach John Malaise (he was here before moving West) has deteriorated rather alarmingly in recent months.

John is the father of Dub Malaise, the former Texas Tech cage star who is now on the teaching staff at South Plains College but would like to return to coaching on the junior college level.

C. W. (Red) Myers has been replaced as basketball coach at Amarillo College by Bill McDonald.

Myers is the fellow who sold the Region V coaches on the idea of moving the annual tournament back to Amarillo from Big Spring.

A Snyder product, Murry Bowden, is probably the best line-backer Dartmouth has.

Dartmouth visits Harvard this week for a game and it is ever thus. The Green Indians have been the home team only three times in the long series. This will mark the 15th consecutive time Harvard has been the host.

The reasons are economic. Howard's stadium seats 37,289. The Dartmouth field can accept only 21,416.
