

'Deadlock' In Senate Captures Center Stage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have defied off-year election tradition, but Democrats gained statehouse political muscle—and the near deadlock of a bitter Senate battle in Indiana symbolized today the split decision returned by America's voters.

Democrats called the verdict a defeat for the administration. President Nixon declared his hand has been "enormously strengthened" on defense and foreign policy by changes in the Senate.

Republicans managed a mid-term gain in the Senate, picking up two seats, with the Indiana outcome still in doubt. With Democrats and Republicans each likely to have the support of one-third party or independent election victor, the Senate lineup stood at 54 Democrats, 45 Republicans.

FIFTH TIME

It was the fifth time in this century the party of a President has won Senate seats in an off-year election.

Democrats posted an eight-seat House gain — smaller than history's pattern—with one race still in doubt. The lineup there: 254 Democrats, 180 Republicans. Most of the gains were in the Midwest.

It was the ninth straight election in which Democrats had captured control of both Senate and House.

Democrats took over 13 Republican governorships, among them three of the 10 most populous states in the nation—Pennsylvania, Ohio and Florida.

They lost two, Tennessee and Connecticut, to Republicans. Three states remained in doubt: Maine and Rhode Island, where Democratic incumbents held narrow leads, and Michigan, where the Republican governor was ahead.

In the Indiana Senate race, a focus of Republican law-and-order campaigning, Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke held a slender and inconclusive lead over Rep. Richard L. Roudebush, a conservative who once was national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

RECOUNTS LIKELY

A recount was likely. Absentee ballots were put under guard, voting machines were locked; ballot boxes impounded. Hartke's unofficial margin was 3,690 votes but the Indiana outcome may be in doubt for weeks.

In Tennessee, Rep. William E. Brock III ousted Democratic Sen. Albert Gore, a key administration target; in Connecticut, Rep. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. won a three-way contest for the GOP; in Maryland, Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr. upset Democratic Sen. Joseph D. Tydings; in Ohio, Rep. Robert Taft Jr. took over a Democratic Senate seat.

In Illinois, Adlai E. Stevenson III defeated Republican Sen. Ralph T. Smith; in California, Rep. John V. Tunney trounced GOP Sen. George Murphy.

Democrats successfully defended 19 Senate seats, and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, a Democrat, was re-elected as an independent in Virginia.

COURT RULINGS

Republicans held seven GOP seats. James L. Buckley, a registered Republican, was elected as a Conservative in New York.

Democrats scored significant gains in the less publicized arena of the state legislatures, which will design new congressional districts to match the population figures of the 1970 census.

Federal court rulings restrict the gerrymander, the old-fashioned way of shaping a congressional district to guarantee victory for one party. But that doesn't mean a party in command of a state government cannot draw district boundaries that will favor its congressional candidates.

WINNER OR LOSER? — Rep. Richard L. Roudebush, R-Ind., top photo, showing the strain of intense campaigning and hours of waiting for the outcome, remains in seclusion at his farm near Noblesville. With Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., only a few thousand votes ahead, a recount seemed likely. Wilson Riles, bottom left photo, elected as California's Superintendent of Public Education, says he will take no position on racial busing of students, leaving it to local communities. Don Dellums, congressman-elect from Oakland, Calif., raises his clenched fists as he shouts a new political coalition is "going to change this country."

HOUSE ELECTION SPARKS THREAT

Albert Scans Political Sky For Signs, Omens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reinforced House Democrats may present their own economic program if the Nixon administration does not change its policies, according to Rep. Carl Albert, the chamber's prospective new speaker.

Albert took issue in an interview with two interpretations of Tuesday's election—that the smaller-than-average Democratic House gains for off-year elections were not significant and that voter concern with inflation and unemployment did not play a major role.

"We are going into the new Congress with the biggest Democratic majority since the Johnson landslide of 1964," Albert said.

NOT YET!

Democrats picked up at least eight House seats, for a total of 254. This contrasts with 243 at the beginning of the last Congress and 248 at the start of the one four years ago.

FAST LOOK AT ELECTIONS

Senate: Elected, 11 Republicans, 21 Democrats, others 2; leading, 1 Democrat; holdovers, 33 Republicans, 32 Democrats; needed for majority 51.

House: Elected 180 Republicans, 254 Democrats, 1 undecided; needed for majority 218.

Governors: Elected, 13 Republicans, 20 Democrats; leading 2 Democrats; holdovers, 8 Republicans, 7 Democrats.

It is, however, well short of the 295 seats Democrats won in 1964 when Lyndon B. Johnson overwhelmed Sen. Barry Goldwater in the presidential election.

"I would hope this would encourage the administration to take the state of the economy more seriously," Albert said.

"They haven't done so up to now."

Albert said the Democrats in the House already have taken some legislative steps. Over administration opposition, they have passed standby credit, wage and price controls which have not been used.

"We could do more," Albert said. "I would hope that we could work together with the administration, but if not we will have to go ahead on our own."

Albert said his party will benefit not only its gains in the House but by a heightened sense of unity resulting from the deep involvement by Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in the congressional campaign.

"A lot of people are resentful because it was a sort of a smear campaign," Albert said. "It was absurd to try to put Democrats in the position of tolerating stonewalling of the President. We are just as much opposed to that as anyone."

Wild Weather Injures Jumbo Jet Passengers

NEW YORK (AP) — A Paris-bound Pan American World Airways 747 jumbo jetliner carrying 163 persons including Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., was forced to return here Wednesday night after being buffeted by severe clear air turbulence that injured 14 passengers and six stewards.

HEART ATTACK

Six passengers and one steward were admitted to hospitals, the airline said. One man suffered a heart attack, a spokesman said, and injuries to the other 19 ranged from lacerations to broken bones.

Those with minor injuries were treated at the Pan Am terminal or the hospitals and released.

Four ambulances met the plane, the largest commercial aircraft in service, on its return to John F. Kennedy Airport at 11:30 p.m. It had taken off at 9:14 p.m. and hit the turbulence over Nantucket, Mass.

Javits was not among the injured but said he was "a little shaken up because it took a long while to get out of the turbulence."

'CIRCUS CATCH'

Javits, who was on his way to a NATO meeting at the Hague, said "a lot of people who were in their seats literally hit the roof of the plane."

A veteran Navy pilot who was a passenger, Lt. Cmdr. J. L. Meiling, told newsmen, "We must have fallen anywhere from 2,000 to 3,000 feet in a matter of no more than five minutes."

Javits praised crew members "for their cool-headed control in handling the situation."

Other passengers praised Meiling, of Provo, Utah, who was traveling with his wife Sheila and 6-month-old son, Neal.

They said Meiling made a "circus catch" to save his son from injury after the boy was hurled out of his bassinets.

Four Men Inducted Into Oil Hall Of Fame At Midland

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Described as "a special breed of men who grope their way through uncertainties to find oil," four individuals were enshrined Wednesday night in the Permian Basin Petroleum Hall of Fame.

The tributes were paid at a dinner to Houston H. Harte, San Angelo newspaper publisher, and to three men who have died — Michael L. Benedum, Joseph C. Trees and Carl G. Cromwell.

The hall of fame was established two years ago to honor leaders in the oil industry and 17 now have been named.

It was disclosed at the dinner that more than $1 million has been collected to help build a permanent home in this area for the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum and Library, which are companion projects.

William L. Kerr, in making the awards, paid tribute to Benedum and Trees as partners who discovered major oil fields in Illinois and Louisiana before moving to Texas in the 1920s. They then brought in the Yates Field in Reagan County, one of the nation's largest.

"Without the independent explorers such as Benedum and Trees, men willing to risk everything to meet the needs of new sources of oil, we would all be poorer," said Kerr.

Cromwell, he said, "represents the corps of drillers who have always been willing to move where oil or gas was to be found."

After being brought up in the oil fields of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, Cromwell moved to West Texas and from 1921 to 1923 drilled the Santa Rita No. 1 near Big Lake. That discovery opened up the vast oil resources of the Permian Basin in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Harte, at the dinner with a son, San Antonio newspaper publisher Houston Harte Jr., was cited for "honest, objective and thorough news coverage of the oil industry."

Kerr noted that Harte began chronicling the oil industry history in the early 1920s, beginning with a discovery well in Mitchell County and including the first in-depth coverage of the Santa Rita discovery.

"The petroleum industry has been helped by the flow of information he has created and stimulated," Kerr said.

Divorcee Helps Lach With Alibi

FORT WORTH (AP) — A witness testified today she was with Benjamin Lach the night Mrs. Alice Morgan was slain on the Texas Tech campus in Lubbock.

Mrs. Joan Dominick, the second defense witness in Lach's murder trial, said she met Lach about 6:30 p.m. in the Tech student center and was with him until about 9 p.m.

Mrs. Dominick, a divorcee, said she and Lach walked to her apartment and talked and drank coffee after leaving the student center.

State witnesses testified earlier that Lach was in the science building, where the slaying occurred, about 7 p.m. that night.

Two statements about the slaying were heard by jurors Wednesday.

One was a formal statement which Lubbock Police Chief J.T. Alley said Lach, 25, gave officers shortly after his arrest. It was introduced shortly before the state rested its case about 6 p.m.

Jobless Mark Set In State

AUSTIN (AP) — Unemployment in Texas in September exceeded the August unemployment rate for the first time since the Texas Employment Commission began compiling statistics in 1947.

The commission reported a one-tenth of one per cent increase in its October issue of Texas manpower trends.

Only three times since 1947 has the September rate equaled the August rate. This past September, there were 3,000 more jobless persons in the state than in August, or a total of 179,500.

"Most of the increase occurred in the number of persons filing initial claims for unemployment insurance benefits during the survey week," the commission said.

HAIRLINE MARGIN Okie Ballot Boxes Under Surveillance

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — National Guard troops stood guard over ballot boxes in every county today while Gov. Dewey Bartlett, apparently defeated by a hairline margin Tuesday by Democrat David Hall, decided whether to ask for a recount.

The governor ordered the guard to place the ballot boxes under 24-hour surveillance late Wednesday afternoon as unofficial returns showed Hall's 12,000-vote margin of Tuesday night dwindling to a mere 3,012 votes.

Bartlett said the move was "to insure the integrity of the ballot boxes." The National Guardsmen were uniformed but unarmed.

Complete but unofficial returns showed Hall with 338,904 votes and Bartlett with 335,802.

The deadline for asking for a recount is noon Saturday, but Bartlett was not expected to make any move until the state Election Board announces the official results Friday.

RECORD CHILL IS RECORDED

If you were outside overnight and got a bit chilly there was a good reason. The overnight low was 26 degrees, a record low for Nov. 4 according to records kept for the past 55 years at the Big Spring Experiment Station. The lowest temperature previously recorded for the date was 28 degrees in 1950. The record high is 88 degrees in 1905, compared to 57 degrees Wednesday.

AUSTIN (AP) — A couple who have a valid common law marriage cannot get a marriage license for a ceremonial marriage unless they meet age or parental consent requirements of the new Texas Family Code, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said today.

AMERICAN TROOPS PULL BACK FROM KOREAN DMZ — U.S. troops will probably withdraw from the Korean demilitarized zone when American troop strength in South Korea is reduced according to Pentagon sources. The U.S. will reduce its 62,000 man force in South Korea by about 20,000 by mid 1971.

Suez Canal Cease-Fire To Continue, No Talks

By The Associated Press
The Suez Canal cease-fire will continue after its expiration time tonight, but there is no prospect for a resumption of peace talks despite the U.N. General Assembly resolution urging Israel and the Arabs to start negotiating again.

The semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al-Ahram said President Anwar Sadat had ordered Egyptian forces to continue the truce for "a further short period," but not for another 90 days unless progress is achieved in the current peace efforts at the United Nations.

Sadat coupled this with an order for a full alert on the canal front "regardless of any political developments."

Al-Ahram said Egypt will continue to observe the cease-fire "until the completion of current discussion at the United Nations and accompanying international efforts." This was seen as a reference to Egypt's campaign in the U.N. General Assembly to force the Israelis to return to the indirect negotiations for which U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring is the go-between.

Israel had said earlier that it would continue to observe the cease-fire until fired on, even if there was no formal agreement to extend it. But the Israelis remained firm in their refusal to return to the negotiations until Egypt pulls back anti-aircraft missiles which Israel charges were shifted forward in the Suez area after the standstill agreement went into effect Aug. 7.

ROCKETS ACTION
Egypt has been just as adamant in its insistence that its re-deployment of missiles along the canal has not violated the cease-fire and that none of the rockets would be pulled back.

The Jordanian government also was considered certain to extend the cease-fire though there has been no formal announcement from Amman. Since the 1967 war, the Jordanian army has left offensive actions against Israel to the Egyptians and the Palestinian guerrillas, and now it is so occupied trying to keep the guerrillas from overthrowing King Hussein that it probably could not take effective action against Israel if it wanted to.

The first 90-day cease-fire period ends at midnight in Israel and Egypt—5 p.m. EST.

Yugoslavia and 20 Asian and African supporters of Egypt pushed a resolution through the General Assembly Wednesday calling for a 90-day extension and immediate resumption of the Jarring talks. The resolution was approved 57 to 16 with 39 abstentions. The United States and Israel opposed it.

TWO OBJECTIONS
Israel had two objections to the resolution: It included a specific call for her to withdraw from the territories seized in the 1967 war and it calls for resumption of negotiations while ignoring the cease-fire violations charged by Israel.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told the Assembly that this emphasis on Israeli withdrawal threw off balance the Security Council resolution of November, 1967, which laid down the framework for a Middle East peace agreement.

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost told the assembly that the resolution was "clearly... put forward in behalf of one side to the conflict and represents the views of that side." He said its adoption constituted a "step backward, not a step forward."

Israeli Premier Golda Meir said in London today that Britain has moved toward the Soviet Union and France in its approach to the Middle East conflict, leaving the United States as Israel's sole supporter among the Big Four.

Prime Minister Edward

Heath and Foreign Secretary Sir Alex Douglas-Home advised Mrs. Meir Wednesday night that Israel should realize as a fact of military life that Egypt will not withdraw the missiles from the canal zone. They urged her to reconsider her government's refusal to resume peace talks unless the weapons are removed.

NO CHANCE
Mrs. Meir said there was absolutely no chance of Israel changing its position. She also said the new General Assembly resolution contained nothing to ease Middle East tensions and in fact introduced new obstacles to peace making.

Three Perish In Collision

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Tex. (AP) — A collision of two pickup trucks on an Interstate 30 service road Wednesday killed three occupants and left a child gravely injured.

The crash took the lives of Bascom T. Smith, 62, of Braeshear; his wife, Dortha, 51, and their grandson, Kevin Smith, 2.

A granddaughter of the couple, Theresa Smith, suffered critical injuries. She was taken to a Dallas hospital.

Officers said the Smith vehicle veered past the center of the roadway and collided with one driven by Benny Wood of Lindale, who escaped with minor injuries.

Future Of Agnew Remains Puzzle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political future of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew remains a question mark following what President Nixon has described as a Republican victory in Senate and House contests.

Some members of Nixon's inner circle remain divided on whether Agnew should be nominated for second place on the ticket in an expected Nixon bid for re-election in 1972. Some of Agnew's critics within the administration say they will be watching how the vice president conducts himself in the months immediately ahead.

—and controversial—campaigning.

Herbert Klein, the administration's communications director spoke to reporters Tuesday night about "a lot of criticism in terms of the vice president's role in the campaign."

However, Klein added that Nixon looks upon Agnew as the GOP campaigner who was out front where the heat was hottest and felt the vice president had been very effective on the stump.

In his post-election statement, Nixon claimed Republicans had gained "a working majority in both the House and the Senate for national defense and also for foreign policy."

Democrats, of course, will continue to control both houses.

He predicted the election results, "as far as the Senate is concerned, will not go unnoticed abroad."

The chief executive noted both Democrats and Republicans are making victory claims "as is usually the case in an off-year election." He even bolstered the legitimacy of such a claim by Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, saying O'Brien "with justification points to the fact that in state races his party picked up several governorships."

But then he went on to draw a distinction between these contests and "national races" in which he said he had campaigned. Actually, Nixon put in a good word for GOP gubernatorial candidates in all 23 states along his campaign route.

PARTY LABELS
He referred to the ideological attachments of members of the Congress that will meet in January rather than party labels.

IN THE 'DUMPS'
The subject of Agnew's future was much discussed in the closing days of the 1970 campaign, following publication of a report he might be supplanted two years hence by Rep. George Bush of Texas, provided Bush won his Senate race against Democrat Lloyd Bentsen.

Bush's loss to Bentsen has not ended speculation about Agnew's prospects. While it is true talk of "dumping" the vice president has been common to almost all recent administrations, at least some Nixon associates continue to have that question very much in mind.

OUT FRONT
Following Tuesday's balloting, Nixon limited his victory claim to Senate and House races "in which I have been campaigning." Talking briefly to newsmen Wednesday at the California White House before flying back to Washington, the chief executive made no mention of Agnew's more strenuous

Sen. Scott May Face New Battle To Keep GOP Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Tuesday's elections providing a slightly more conservative tinge to Senate Republican ranks, Sen. Hugh Scott may face a new challenge to his party leadership.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, defeated by Scott for the GOP leader's post by a 24-19 vote after the death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois last year, said in an interview he may make another run for the job.

STILL UNDECIDED

"I wouldn't rule out the possibility," Baker said, adding he may make a decision after a couple more days of analyzing election returns.

There will be at least five new Republicans in the Senate and possibly a sixth, depending on the outcome of the still undecided Indiana race between conservative Rep. Richard Roudebush and liberal Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke.

ty candidate James L. Buckley unseated liberal Republican Sen. Charles E. Goodell in New York and likely would back Baker against Scott. Goodell voted for Scott.

Baker, who noted a switch of only three votes would have given him the edge over Scott in last year's party caucus, said he might have a chance to win the votes of most of the new Republican senators.

STEPPING UP

All the new Republican senators are stepping up from the House—Lowell P. Weicker of Connecticut, William V. Roth of Delaware, J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio and William E. Brock III of Tennessee.

Baker said only two senators who suited him for party leader in the secret balloting were defeated—George Murphy of California and Ralph T. Smith of Illinois.

LIKE DIRKSEN

Like his father-in-law Dirksen, Baker is more conservative than Scott, but contends issues are less a factor in the leadership than rapport with party colleagues.

Scott, who won a third Senate term Tuesday, recently was described as a shoo-in for re-election as party leader when the 92nd Congress convenes in January.

Inciting To Riot Charges Dropped

HOUSTON (AP) — Charges of inciting to riot were dropped Wednesday against four former Texas Southern University students involved in a campus riot May 16-17, 1967.

Harris County Dist. Atty. Carl Vance requested that charges of murder and assault to murder be dropped against the four.

Texas riot law, which holds a person responsible for an offense committed during the riot which he incites.

The charges grew out of the slaying of Houston police officer Louis R. Kuba and the wounding of officers Allen D. Dugger and Robert Blaylock.

A fifth student, Charles Freeman, 25, of Port Arthur, had an assault to murder charge against him dropped when a jury in Victoria could not arrive at a verdict in his case.

Nichols also had a charge of carrying a pistol against him dropped Wednesday. Waller was convicted and received a one-year jail term for the same offense.

Opening lead: Seven of ♠.

West was virtually end-played from the opening gun, and he found the least damaging lead against South's six spade contract. The declarer steadily applied the pressure and forced his opponent eventually to succumb.

West opened the seven of clubs and inasmuch as declarer did not require an immediate discard, he played the ten from dummy. East covered with the queen and South ruffed. Trumps were drawn in three rounds. West discarding two diamonds and one club.

Declarer observed that he could discard a diamond on the ace of clubs. If the diamond finesse succeeded, he could afford to lose one heart trick. Similarly, if the queen of hearts dropped under the ace or king, the slam is safely home no matter which opponent has the king of diamonds.

South decided to test the hearts first by cashing the ace and king. Altho the queen remained outstanding, he led a third round of hearts. If the suit divided evenly, an end play might be in the offing—and the diamond finesse was always available as a last resort.

West was in with the queen of hearts, however he had no safe exit. If he returned a club, it would present South with a free finesse of the jack and thereby provide the declarer with two club discards. In desperation, West returned a diamond—hoping that East held the jack and that South would misguess the situation.

The queen of diamonds was played from dummy. When it held the trick, South discarded his jack of diamonds on the ace of clubs and claimed his contract. He lost only one heart trick on the deal.

TRINITY UNIVERSITY'S NEW PRESIDENT HERE TO MEET PARENTS ... L. Grady Beck (left), Dr. Duncan Wimpress, president and Joe Dealy

'No Hippies At Trinity,' College President Says

"Trinity University has had working students instead of the hippie types. Our students are concerned, but they are concerned in a positive way. They don't have the fetish of non-conformity," Dr. Duncan Wimpress, president, told about 50 parents of Trinity University students here Wednesday night.

Wimpress became president of the 101-year-old San Antonio College last August. The dinner meeting here was held so West Texas area parents could meet him.

"Now don't get me wrong," Wimpress said. "Trinity has its share of long hair and beards and about a million guitars — all badly played. But students are alert to world events and they want improvements but in a positive way."

This year's enrollment at the school is nearly 3,000 students, he said.

L. Grady Beck, San Angelo.

Students May Apply For Summer Federal Jobs

WASHINGTON, D. C. — need not take the written test again unless they wish to improve their scores. They will automatically receive a special form by Dec. 1 to update their 1971 competitive examination for summer employment with the United States Government.

The examination leads to eligibility for appointment to most temporary summer jobs at Grades GS-1 through 4, and also Post Office Clerk-Carrier PFS-5.

Those who are interested in the summer jobs covered may apply to take the written test on or before three filing dates — Dec. 4, 1970, Jan. 8, 1971, and Feb. 3, 1971. Rep. Burleson stressed that applications for the written test postmarked after Feb. 3, 1971, will not be accepted. If you miss the last test, you can not be considered for jobs filled by this application and for maximum consideration, you should apply as soon as possible.

The Congressional noted that applicants rated eligible in 1970

Copies of Announcement No. 414, entitled "Summer Jobs in Federal Agencies" which provides complete information about summer job opportunities in Federal Agencies, are currently available on request through Rep. Burleson's Washington office, located in Room 2369 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20515 or at his district office, 2101 Federal Building, Abilene.

Claims HLH Misbranded

DALLAS (AP) — The federal government filed suit Tuesday to prevent further sale of an HLH Products drug, which the government claims is misbranded.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Kenneth Mighell sought permission to have deputies seize more than 50,000 tablets of "HLH Amaze Aids Antacid," said to be in the possession of HLH Products at Dallas.

The suit, filed after investigation by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, alleged that labels for the tablets contain "false and misleading statements" regarding the drug as an effective treatment for hangover, diarrhea, heartburn, and indigestion, besides guarding against mouth odor.

The government said the drugs were shipped in bulk drums in 1963 by Formulations Inc. of Milwaukee, Wis., then repacked into bottles and rolls, labeled and resold by HLH Products as dealer.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe E. Estes took the application under advisement.

HLH Products was started by Dallas oilman H. L. Hunt 10 years ago. It has several food and drug processing plants in the United States.

Vote Canvass Due Monday

Howard County Commissioners will canvass the election results Monday at 10 a.m. in Commissioners Court. According to Deputy County Clerk Margaret Ray, no discrepancies have been discovered in the vote totals. Election results are not final until the canvassing is completed.

The returns will be checked Monday against the tally sheets of each voter box. A set of tally sheets for each box is sent to County Clerk Pauline Petty, County Judge Lee Porter, and one is locked in the box with the ballots. Each vote is tallied as it comes in and the total forms the election returns which are submitted after the polls close.

After the commissioners check the returns, the ballots and tallies will be kept locked for 60 days, with the keys to the boxes in the care of County Sheriff A. N. Stuard. At the end of that time, County Clerk Pauline Petty, her deputies and the sheriff will burn the ballots.

Mike Hull, chairman of the anti-litter group, appointed Pete Stone as projects committee chairman to coordinate plans such as setting up litter barrels, alley clean-ups, promotion of the use of plastic garbage bags, and citation of city sanitation men who demonstrate pride in their work.

Jeff Talmadge and Sam Chappell agreed to work on a litter barrel project.

Mrs. Robert Knight was appointed chairman of the publicity committee in charge of anti-litter contests, bumper stickers and poster campaigns, contests for school children, and advertising for the entire campaign through the various news media. Marvin Woodridge and Doris Crane will also serve on the committee.

Syd Smith was given the job of organizing the third major committee, which is trying to find an imaginative name. The committee will recruit watchmen to report littering, strag dogs, and improper garbage cans so that letters can be sent reminding people that they have some cleaning up to do.

There will be an effort to warn people by the use of red tags on garbage cans when they

LAST TOUCH — Children surround the bier of Richard Cardinal Cushing lying in state in Boston's Cathedral of the Holy Cross and touch his shoes as they pass to pay their respects. Extensive Buildup Of War Items Noted SAIGON (AP) — U.S. reconnaissance jets have detected an extensive buildup of war materials in the southern provinces of North Vietnam awaiting shipment to Cambodia and South Vietnam, Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans said today.

Concluding a three-day inspection visit to Vietnam, Seamans said American bombers have stepped up raids along 200 miles of the Ho Chi Minh trail through southeastern Laos. However, he said that to the best of his knowledge U.S. planes were not attacking the staging areas in North Vietnam.

The United States halted all offensive bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1, 1968, but has continued reconnaissance flights over the North.

CRUCIAL TIME

"This is a very, very crucial time for air war," Seamans said. "As a result of the Cambodian invasion, a large number of supplies were wiped out."

"For that reason, the North Vietnamese, to continue to operate in South Vietnam as well as Cambodia, must get in a major increase in ammunition and other supplies. They don't have this year the alternative of using the ports in Cambodia . . .

"So far we haven't seen enough to really know what is going to happen. The North Vietnamese have been severely hampered up to now by very heavy rains so we're just at the beginning of a critical period. I think it's too soon to try to make a projection as to what is going to happen over the next six months."

SLIP TRIPS BANK BANDITS

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Two boys stole more than $400 from a bank. But they were in such a hurry that they lost part of their haul. And they dropped what may prove to be their undoing — a school absentee slip.

H. M. Dexter, 63, teller at the D&A Oppenheimer Bank, said the pair, about 11 and 15 years old, walked into the bank and reached behind a teller's cage.

They scooped up bills, 37 cents in change, and four checks.

Dexter said they stuffed the money in their pockets and fled.

In front of the bank, they ran into several people and dropped two $5 bills, eleven $1 bills and all but one $3 check, police said.

Officers said the boys escaped with a total of $420.37.

There were three names on the excused absence slip which the boys dropped, police added.

'Easy Rider' Director Weds

TAOS, N.M. (AP) — Dennis Hopper, director of the movie "Easy Rider," and Michele Phillips, who was a member of the now-disbanded "Mamas and Papas" singing group, were married in a weekend ceremony.

A Hopper spokesman said the marriage at Hopper's Taos home Saturday was conducted by the Rev. Bruce Corner of the Universal Life Church. It was the second for both Hopper and Miss Phillips.

2 'Bombers' Sue Defense Lawyer For $1 Million

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — Fred Loyd Hayes and Kenneth Ray McMaster, two Longview men convicted recently in the Longview bus bombing trial, jointly filed a $1 million suit Wednesday in district court here against one of their former defense attorneys, Merritt H. Gibson of Longview.

The four-page petition against Gibson charges negligence on his part and claims that as a result, the two men were convicted of a charge or crime for which they "are not responsible or guilty."

DENIED STAND

Hayes and McMaster stated that Gibson was guilty of negligence in one or more of the following particulars:

"In failing to timely employ competent defense counsel."
 "In failing to make adequate preparation for their defense."
 "And in suppressing favorable evidence and in refusing to permit the plaintiffs to take the stand during the trial."
 Hayes and McMaster each are seeking $100,000 for damage to their "good name and reputation," $25,000 for having been damaged by loss of additional legal and related loss expenses, $125,000 as direct monetary loss, $250,000 for having suffered mental anguish and misery resulting from the alleged negligence of Gibson.

SENTENCING TODAY

Grady Inzer, a Longview attorney who requested permission to represent Hayes and McMaster in further proceedings in the case, filed the suit for the plaintiffs.

Both Hayes and McMaster are scheduled to be sentenced on their bus bombing conviction Thursday at 2 p.m. in Tyler's federal court by U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice.

The pair was convicted of conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Negro pupils in the Longview Independent School District and of conspiracy to violate a federal court order designed to finally integrate the Longview schools.

The conspiracy charges grew out of the blasting on the night of July 4 of the Longview school bus fleet. Charges of dynamite were set under the buses and at least 33 of the vehicles were damaged.

NEVER CHARGED

Gibson was assisted in the defense of Hayes, a Longview caterer and his employee, McMaster, by Joe Tunnell, a Tyler lawyer who also is a former U.S. Attorney. Tunnell carried the brunt of the defense questioning of witnesses during the trial.

During nine days of testimony, the government presented 40 witnesses, the defense only three. Several of the government witnesses were named in the Hayes-McMaster indictment as co-conspirators but have never been charged although there was repeated testimony that the government had given them no immunity.

Agase And Daugherty Lean Toward Irish

CHICAGO (AP) — Which is the better team — Notre Dame or Ohio State or possibly Michigan? The Ohio State-Michigan argument will be resolved Nov. 21 when the two teams meet. But what about second-ranked Notre Dame and third-ranked Ohio State?

The physical attributes and the derring-do of Jim Plunkett and Archie Manning notwithstanding, the state of Texas may have the best two collegiate football players in the land in fullback Steve Worster of Texas and Houston's Elmo Wright, a split end.

Both likely will be first round draft choices when the pro teams start divvying up the talent after this season is over.

Worster is a one-man wave of destruction, a guy who can get you one yard or five when it's considered suicide to give up the ball. Nothing short of a land mine could do him in.

Wright, a jet-propelled senior from Sweeny High School, is on his way toward setting several all-time collegiate pass catching records.

Elmo did not report for football in high school until his sophomore year. Up until then, he had played saxophone in the band.

Can anyone beat the coaching tenure of Earl Butte? He charted football strategy for North Dakota State School of Science of Wahpeton (a junior college) for 40 years. During that time, his teams won 141 games, lost 100 and tied 18.

No JC football mentor has more wins on his record than S. A. Robertson of Northeastern Oklahoma A&M, Miami, Okla. In 22 years, his clubs won 162 and lost 49.

Floyd Wagstaff of Tyler, Texas, is fourth on the list of winning coaches among the JCs. In 16 seasons, his teams won 130 and lost 36.

Matty Bell was the last coach to be fired at TCU and Matty accepted his bad news 42 years ago. He rolled with the punch and later took SMU to the Rose Bowl.

Fred Taylor could have the bomb unloaded on him, unless his Horned Frogs do famously the remainder of the season. It would be an ironic twist of fate, since Fred has guided the Purple to where the fans can see the light at the other end of the tunnel.

SMU coach Ray Utley wrote Wade Choate, an SMU alumnus, to the effect that two Big Spring members of the school's freshman team, Jimmy Farris and Roy Anderson, have fulfilled expectations.

Farris missed last week's game with the Texas Shortorns because of an injury.

Efforts are being made here to rally support for a local franchise in the United Football League, officials of which have projected plans to start operations in 1971. The circuit would offer six-man football and pay its players.

A local team captained by Gary Hise recently beat Abilene, 32-18, in a game at Sweetwater. At that time, 22 players were suited out in local colors.

These are troubled times, I think you'll agree. Sports offer a release from stark reality but the radicals see a chance to create problems there, too, and are moving in.

Consider Ohio State, the citadel of college football. The Buckeyes' stadium seats 83,000 and is usually filled but this year it has become a virtual armed fortress against an unseen enemy.

Three hours before kickoff time in a recent game with Texas A&M, in the eerie stillness of an empty stadium, state police filed through the rows, probing under seats with metal detectors.

During the game itself, a police radio unit set up its command post at the end of the Ohio State bench. Officers with field glasses were posted high on the stadium ramparts, hopefully to seek out trouble before it fomented. At halftime, 94 officers armed with revolvers and riot sticks, ringed the football field and a state police helicopter hovered overhead.

Why the precautions? A bomb threat was received three days before the game. None was discovered but officials were taking no chances.

There are rumors the real target date for the demonstrators will come Nov. 21, when the Bucks play Michigan on national TV.

The TV people will carefully aim their cameras away from the police but they'll be there in force. The war of attrition the dissidents fight is unceasing.

Coordinated Attack Near?

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Landry is waiting for the day his passing attack and ground game get together.

"It should be something to see and I think we're getting there," Landry says.

The Dallas Cowboy coach saw his heralded running attack drop off to a mere 49 yards last week against lowly Philadelphia while the rampant long passing game hit the Eagles with three long distance strikes.

"You might call our poor blocking a team effort," Landry says. "Its got to get back up there where it was for the Kansas City game (Dallas won 27-16)."

But Landry said the Eagle game proved what he's been saying all along—that quarterback Craig Morton's arm is as good as ever.

"I have never seen Morton throw the ball any better deep," Landry says. "Sunday our passing game came alive. If we can just get everything together now . . . well . . ."

Landry says the Cowboys, currently tied with St. Louis for the lead in the Eastern Division of the National Football Conference with 5-2 records each, face a struggle beating the Giants in New York Sunday.

"No city can be alive like New York when the Giants are winning . . . and they've won four straight," says Landry. "They are a much better club than when we beat them 28-10 earlier in the year. But I also believe we are too."

Lawyers Must Okeh Flood's Contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Outfielder Curt Flood's contract with the Washington Senators is a conditional pact that still requires the approval of attorneys involved in his suit against baseball, The Associated Press learned today.

At the same time, it also was learned that the contract calls for a salary of $110,000 for the 1971 season—$20,000 more than Flood was paid in 1969 during his last active season with the St. Louis Cardinals.

In announcing Flood's signing, the Senators implied that all outstanding issues had been resolved. But a source close to the controversial outfielder, who still has a $4.1 million antitrust suit pending against baseball, disputed that.

According to the source, "the contract is conditional because of a special covenant which says attorneys on both sides must agree on the wording of a stipulation that the signing is without prejudice to the lawsuit."

The Senators said Flood has signed the standard player's contract containing the reserve clause that binds a player to the club which signs him until he is either traded, sold or released, and that Commissioner Bowie Kuhn had approved.

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Hester, tight end for the Chicago Bears, has suffered a recurrence of a right knee injury and will be lost to the NFL team for the remainder of the season.

You can't spread happiness around without getting a little on yourself!

You're going to make a lot of people very happy with your Fair Share Gift to the United Way Campaign this year. Especially when you make it big enough to match the urgent needs of our community.

But don't give just to be a little Mary Sunshine. Give because you're hard-headed, practical, realistic. Give because you realize that the United Way is doing a job that needs to be done, and is doing it faster, more efficiently, and less expensively than it could be done any other way.

Our community has big problems. They must be solved. If you don't do it, it won't get done.

THURSDAY

St. John, The Virgin Islands.

I woke at the reasonable but not self-indulgent hour of 8:30, had breakfast, and looked forward to five free hours before time for the harness of hairdo and gloves and off for the commencement address at the College of the Virgin Islands.

HOW WONDERFUL

As I was getting my hair done I had a breathless call from Luci. "Oh, Mother, the most wonderful thing in my life has happened. Daddy wants me to go to Chicago with him and play First Lady," I said. "That's just wonderful!" but I was a little surprised that she was delighted to play First Lady. And then she went on to say, "Oh, no, that's not it at all, Mother. Beth is here, and she's going back to Marquette and they're having a big college weekend — they're having dances and all sorts of parties, and she brought down a boy with her — someone named Pat Nugent — and he's just tons, Mother — he's a tough guy!" ("Tough" means great, wonderful, nice, attractive, it seems.)

THURSDAY

June 10, 1965

The White House

Father Montgomery came to talk to me about Luci. Luci joined us. I asked him the steps — one, two, three — of how one entered the Catholic Church. I had already told him before, and I made it plain once more, that this was not my wish but that we had waited nine months — almost a year — and all I had asked Luci for was time to consider — to make sure it was what she wanted.

He told me that the first step was Baptism and that Luci wanted to be baptized on her birthday — July 2. After that would come her First Communion, which would be the next day and quite private indeed. Sometime later, when ever they decided she was ready, her Confirmation — possibly a month or so later. There would be two sponsors. Luci wants Warrie Lynn for sure. She hasn't made up her mind about a man sponsor. Later on, when she is actually confirmed, there is another sponsor who stands up and speaks for her. For this she has chosen Beth.

NO SIDESHOW

We agreed that, because we didn't want a religious matter to turn into a sideshow with the press, the ceremonies should be as quiet, as simple, as dignified as possible. Normally these would be held in St. Matthews. I preferred and suggested any other church, because I cannot escape the memory of President Kennedy's funeral there. But it seems St. Matthews is the parish to which Luci will belong.

We decided that we would not tell anybody else except Lyndon, the sponsors, and three or four friends Luci wants to invite. And, of course, Lynda Bird. None of my staff would be advised but I would hand out a two-sentence factual statement about it a few minutes before Luci and her father and I got in the car to go to the Cathedral.

HER SEARCH

I cannot be happy about it, but it is true that Luci herself has been happier this last year — a more cooperative, understanding, and working daughter, student, and citizen — than she has been in her whole dear little life. Maybe her earnest search is at an end, because it always has been a search, from the time she used to walk across the street in Austin on a Sunday morning as a very little girl, dress not quite buttoned up in the back and hair ribbon in her hand, to ask Mrs. Coleman if she could go to Sunday school with Evelyn at the Good Shepherd.

FRIDAY

July 2, 1965

Today is Luci's 18th birthday.

White House Diary

and the 10th anniversary of the severest trial that we ever knew — Lyndon and I — for it was 10 years ago today that he had a heart attack.

I suddenly discovered I couldn't, after all, go around slouchy and sloppy and happy in my self-appointed vacation. So harnessed and enslaved can one become, trying to look one's best! So I got a rush appointment with Mr. Per and went over for a permanent — a sort of psychological surrender.

I got home just in time to have lunch with Lynda in my bedroom — a meal we gulped down off trays while I handed papers back and forth to a secretary, saying, "Tell them this," "Tell them that," and in between writing out my statement for the press — the simplest and shortest possible — to announce what was happening today — that "Luci Baines Johnson is being baptized into the Catholic Church at 2 P.M. at St. Matthews Cathedral. . . . She has been taking instructions from Father James Montgomery since last September. . . . The President and Mrs. Johnson and her sister Lynda were present at the service, together with a few friends."

Dear Lynda — her mind was on many things. I was conscious I wasn't quite reaching her. It was a fragmented thought. She feels depressed, I think, more than I do, about Luci's becoming a Catholic.

DIGNIFIED SECRET
Lyndon and I had tried to do this with dignity and in a very personal manner, discussing it only with Luci and Father Montgomery and Lynda Bird and the young people whom Luci had asked to be her sponsors. I never thought we would succeed. But as 2 approached, it looked as though we were the only ones who knew it.

Lyndon was standing by — Lynda Bird and I were dressed. We were waiting for Luci. If only we could get through the next hour in a dignified, inconspicuous manner. Just as I was handing Liz the envelope with the short, simple statement about Luci's Baptism, in walked Luci, about as inconspicuous as Brigitte Bardot. She had on a lovely white lace dress — it would have made a fine wedding dress — her black hair shining, her eyes full of stars, a rosary and a prayer book clasped in her hand. Liz took one look at her and said, "My God, I've been with you through this," "Tell them that," and in between writing out my statement for the press — the simplest and shortest possible — to announce what was happening today — that "Luci Baines Johnson is being baptized into the Catholic Church at 2 P.M. at St. Matthews Cathedral. . . . She has been taking instructions from Father James Montgomery since last September. . . . The President and Mrs. Johnson and her sister Lynda were present at the service, together with a few friends."

There were a few elderly ladies in black dresses, very much absorbed in their own prayers. There were a few nuns here and there, a dozen or so worshippers who paid us little attention. And then we rose and went back to the baptismal font. The priest tipped Luci's head backward and baptized her, speaking only a few words, and then he smiled and said: "Congratulations." We all kissed her. Lyndon shook hands with Father Montgomery. I noticed that Lynda Bird left swiftly with tears in her eyes and was down the steps and into the car before the rest of us emerged.

All the Betz family were there, including a relative who is a nun. And, of course, Beth Jenkins, besides Pat Nugent and two or three more friends from Marquette. I walked out the door deliberately, not swiftly and not slowly, because I didn't want there to be anything furtive about this, and yet I did not want attention called to it. I did not see a camera in sight. The whole thing had required less than 15 minutes.

Luci remained for her confession. Lyndon and I and Lynda Bird drove home. . . . I could not help but think we went in four and came out three.

NEXT: The President is stricken.

Pupils Learn By Looking At 'Sesame'

NEW YORK (AP) — "Sesame Street" has shown that television can be used effectively to teach 3- to 5-year-old children simple facts and skills, says Educational Testing Service.

ETS said Wednesday that results of its testing 943 children showed a gain in learning by all who watched the show, but the highest gains were made by those who watched most often.

The study also found that disadvantaged children who watched frequently made more gains than advantaged children who watched less regularly.

The authors, Dr. Samuel Ball and Mrs. Gerry Bogatz, said this finding meant the educational gap between advantaged and disadvantaged children could be reduced "even by the time they enter first grade."

The study also found that 3-year-olds who were regular viewers had learned more by the end of the series than older children who watched less frequently.

"Sesame Street," produced by the Children's Television Workshop and funded by public and private agencies, is an hour-long program for preschool children on public television stations.

The ETS survey was conducted in Boston, Philadelphia, Phoenix, Ariz., Durham, N.C. and a rural area of California. Children were tested before the program went on the air and after it had been on for 26 weeks.

BENONI, South Africa (AP) — Beerhall patrons in Daveyton African township were mystified when beer supplies were temporarily halted. Then they heard an unidentified customer had been found drowned in one of the beer tanks. Police were called to investigate.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Our son, 19, attended a boys' high school and never dated until he went to college. As a college freshman he met a girl and they became engaged. She is a year older than he, is of another faith, and she is an invalid, having had spinal surgery at age 13. She needs help to walk, and her coordination is poor.

Our son invited her to our home for a few days. (She lives 300 miles away.) It was heart-breaking! The poor girl made her bed to the best of her ability, but it looked like the work of a child. She left fingerprints on the walls where she had tried to get around, unassisted.

We've explained to our son that he will have a hard time getting insurance and hospitalization—that she will always need a full-time maid, and she is incapable of caring for a baby, if indeed she could ever bear one.

We've told our son that we will see him through college, while he is still single, but if he marries in college, we'll not help him financially.

We love our son and don't want him to make a mistake he will regret all his life. Meanwhile, the girl's parents are encouraging this marriage. Would you recommend this marriage?

HIS PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: The "marriage" may come off whether I recommend it or not. But I have a recommendation for you. Though I know you have your son's best interests at heart, it is his decision and his life, and even his "mistake"

Companies Seek Pipeline Assets

MIDLAND — The Anaconda Co. and Tipperary Land & Exploration Corp. today announced their joint application to the United States District Court in Utah to acquire the former Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. properties and other assets, which are to be divested by El Paso Natural Gas Co.

Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. was certificated in 1954 to provide natural gas to the Pacific Northwest area. El Paso Natural Gas Co. acquired Pacific Northwest, then in 1957 El Paso was ordered by the court to divest itself of the pipeline, plant, gas reserves, other transmission facilities, and related assets which it had obtained through the acquisition.

Anaconda is a Montana corporation engaged in the mining, processing and fabricating of metals. Tipperary is a Texas corporation engaged chiefly in Australian land development and mineral exploration.

Flip Wilson Trails 'Doc'

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D.," appears to be taking permanent possession of first place in the Nielsen television ratings.

The medical show is in first place for the week of Oct. 19-25, the third straight week.

The program's new strength is shown by the fact that previously it reached first place only on those weeks when it was opposed by "60 minutes" and "first Tuesday."

Flip Wilson, NBC's new variety-comedy entry, was in second place for the second week.

Here are the top 10:

1. "Marcus Welby, M.D." ABC.
2. Flip Wilson, NBC.
3. "Ironside," NBC.
4. ABC Movie of the Week, "Wild Women!"
5. "Gunsmoke" and "Hawaii 5-0," both CBS, tied.
7. "The FBI," ABC.
8. Charlie Brown special, CBS.
9. "Here's Lucy," CBS.
10. "Medical Center," CBS.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR Says Enrollment Limit Is Unfair

TO THE EDITOR:

I can fully understand why the University of Texas at Austin board of Regents has decided to limit next fall's enrollment, especially if the University now has 39,098 students (up 3,411 from last year), and is expecting 80,000 by 1980 if no limit is set.

However, I cannot agree with the method of the regents in taking only the top 10 per cent of high school graduating classes. This will mean, for example, that only one or two students from Coahoma, Forsan or Sands will be eligible to attend. The University is a tax supported institution, and every student graduate in Texas should have an equal chance to go.

The only fair method would be to have a deadline for submitting applications, and then have a lottery to see which students will be enrolled.

As it is now, students on scholarship this coming fall (this means athletes, naturally), are not to be included in the 10 per cent cutoff. This is blatant discrimination. It means that a student from Big Spring High School could be rejected with a 95 average because he is not in the top 10 per cent, while a classmate with a 72 average can be admitted because he can kick a field goal.

A better method of controlling enrollment at UT-Austin would be to eliminate the freshman and sophomore classes and make it exclusively an upper level college. Of course, I can imagine the controversy this would cause, and the problem it would create athletically.

Another questionable statement in the Associated Press story released Oct. 25, quoted Regent Chairman Frank C. Erwin as saying, however, that he disapproves of a permanent plan that would limit admission on the basis of grades only. He says he is afraid of having only "A" students at UT-Austin because they cause disturbances like the ones at Berkeley.

He says colleges with the most intellectual students are "the ones with the most outbreaks of campus disorders." This line of reasoning brings quite a paradox into the picture when one considers the role of the university. I had always thought that the purpose of colleges was to create intellectuals.

More than that, the role of the colleges should be to motivate students to learn, never being afraid to question the wrongs or inconsistencies of the world, and always ready to act in a constructive and non-violent manner. This is the way to promote responsible citizens of tomorrow.

My suggestion to the UT-Austin regents is, remember this is a democratic republic and the University is tax supported by all citizens, not just by those whose children are in the top 10 per cent of their graduating class.

Latin Leader Cites Need Of 'Padrino'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economist Ben Fernandez says minority enterprises need a "padrino"—literally, a godfather—to help them through the crucial first three years of operation.

He said the lack of the technical backup such a person could provide has troubled the two dozen black-operated savings and loan associations begun recently.

And he told the Federal Home Savings and Loan Board Monday he doesn't want the same trouble when Mexican-Americans begin entering the financial market with savings and loan associations.

Fernandez told examiner Jacob Stein there is only one chican-owned and operated savings and loan association among 6,350 chartered by the federal government—and that one was chartered only in August in California's San Fernando Valley.

Fernandez, president of the National Economic Development Association, testified on behalf of an application by Enrique H. Escobar Jr. for a savings and loan association in Rio Grande City, Tex.

H. P. Guerra, representing the only existing financial institution in Starr County, Tex., the First State Bank and Trust Co., wanted to know more about the padrino system.

Fernandez said in San Fernando Valley, for instance, a large Los Angeles bank "loaned" the fledgling savings and loan a vice president to be present at the new association's monthly board meetings. He is available for advice on policy decisions, for help in setting up seminars on practices in savings and loans, and for an overall backup when needed.

TO LEAVE CBS — Newscaster Harry Reasoner, industry sources say, will leave the Columbia Broadcasting System to become New York anchorman for the American Broadcasting Company's evening news program.

33 Docker's Unions Lose Vital Round

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Texas' 33 segregated Longshoremen's unions should be disbanded and grouped into 14 integrated ones, the Justice Department has said.

In a brief filed Wednesday in the court of U.S. Dist. Judge Renaldo Garza, the government asks that the Texas locals of the International Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO, be enjoined from engaging in a pattern or practice of racial discrimination.

The case, heard earlier this year by Judge Garza in Houston, is the first time in nearly two years that the government specifically tells the unions how they should comply with the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

"The evidence shows that Negroes and Mexican-Americans have been segregated on the basis of their race," the brief states.

Several black union leaders testified at the trial they did not want the unions merged because under present conditions they get 50 per cent of the work on the docks.

The suit affects 10 Texas ports, but Garza's ruling could eventually affect other Gulf Coast and Atlantic ports.

The government also asks that the longshore work gangs desegregate and a new seniority system be adopted on the basis of seniority qualifications and not race.

The union is to file its brief next month. Garza is expected to rule in February.

Fourth Man Accused In Gems Caper

DALLAS (AP) — A fourth man accused in a $350,000 jewel robbery at a North Dallas home appeared with his lawyer and gave up Wednesday to sheriff's officers.

Officers arrested another man in the case Tuesday night and took the remaining two into custody earlier at Las Vegas, Nev. Detectives say the quartet, disguised in ski masks, held up wealthy contractor J. L. Williams, his wife and others Oct. 8 as the group returned to the Williams home from dinner.

Michael Briggie, 24, was arraigned on an armed robbery charge after surrendering. Justice of the Peace Robert Cole refused to set bond until an examining trial is held Friday.

James Pete Vouras, 31, a paroled convict who served part of an 18-year prison term for a Dallas bank robbery, was taken into custody Tuesday night at his fashionable home.

Gary Mark Booth, 29, and Donald Julius Loerwald, 26, were arrested earlier in Las Vegas after Dallas police found most of the stolen jewelry hidden in foliage behind an apartment complex. Detectives attributed these developments to a telephoned tip.

Lions Hear Report About Crippled Childrens Camp

Carl Hyde, Midland, former district governor and now a director of the Lions League for Crippled Children, told members of the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday about their million dollar investment in the camp at Kerrville.

Since the first season in 1953, the camp has hosted each of more than 12,000 handicapped children of Texas for at least two weeks. Last summer the figure was 798. In addition, the camp is operated for nine months of the year in conjunction with the Texas Commission for the Blind as a training station for personal and economic self-sufficiency for blind adults.

The operational budget is $442,500 a year, said Hyde, financed in a large part by Lions of Texas, abetted by a contractual arrangement with the commission for the blind. The physical facilities have been provided in their entirety by Lions. The Downtown Lions Club has given $7,898 to the camp over the years.

A new phase is being opened. Hyde informed the club, in advancing $32,000 to a camp for diabetic children at Friendswood. If this proves practical, this service may be added to the Kerrville camp. Here with Hyde were Bob Tawater and Darrell Dodson, vice presidents of the Midland Downtown Club, and Harold Steck, chairman of the district's international relations committee.

Cecil Bridges, Stanton, past district governor, J. R. Dillard, president and John Woods, district deputy governor, were guests. Schley Riley, Big Spring, was one of the founding directors of the camp, in 1951, Hyde reminded the club.

Waymon Clark was presented a past president's plaque by Winston Wrinkle, president, and Jerry Roach was recognized as the newest father.

Lace Up Boots

The footwear for this year's looks has to be right to pull the whole thing off. Some can't miss ideas: Tall sleek suede and leather lace-up boots worn with vivid colored opaque stockings. Shiny leather boots laced up to meet the hem of a kilt skirt says Glamour Magazine.

Mrs. Dale Smith Is Speaker On Ecology

Ecology was the subject of a talk given by Mrs. Dale Smith Wednesday afternoon for the 1953 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. Leo Gee. Mrs. Pete Cook was cohostess.

Mrs. Smith cited examples of local as well as nationwide need for conservation and preservation of the earth and its resources as a necessity to preserving life as it is now known.

In summary, she quoted Anne Morrow Lindberg in saying, "To be human is to have something left over after achieving the necessities of life — something like earth values, and an appreciation of the inter-relatedness of man with man and man with his environment."

The club will assist other Hyperion clubs in the city in the sponsorship of a new club to be called the 1970 Hyperion Club. Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Clarence Peters reported that a memorial table and book will be presented by the club to the new library. Refreshments were served to 18 members.

Museum Plans Are Underway

1946 Hyperion Club members heard Miss Gladys Hardy tell of the prospects for the Big Spring Historical Museum at the Wednesday meeting in the home of Mrs. Jerry Jenkins, 503 Highland.

Miss Hardy, curator, gave a brief history of the museum and told the group that in order to make a success of the venture there will need to be monetary donations, items of use given and volunteer workers. Plans are for a January opening.

Three new members were present at the meeting. They are Mrs. Henry Butler, Mrs. M. A. Snell and Mrs. R. P. Paterson.

The club voted to increase their donation to the Howard County Library to $100 to be designated for the children's department. Mrs. G. K. Taylor assisted the hostess.

There have been 5,000 converts.

Miller described the functions of the hospital. The hospital serves an average of 197 patients daily, Miller said. The hospital employs 256 full-time employees, and plans to add an extensive care ward in 1972. Each year VA Hospitals throughout the country serve 100,000 patients.

Miller also played a record giving a sample of the diagnosis and treatment of a patient at the hospital. The people involved in treating each patient include doctors, nurses, social worker, chaplain, therapist and five volunteers to see to the patient's needs.

Poise, Charm Is Program

Mrs. Jack Owens brought a program on poise and charm for members of Alpha Beta Omicron when they met Tuesday night in Coahoma at the Owens home.

Two special guests were Mrs. Jim Benetz and Mrs. Allen Christian.

Announcements were made of an invitation to the 21st annual sweetheart ball in San Angelo on Feb. 13, 1971, and also of the ritual of jewels and pledge ritual which will be at 7 p.m. on Nov. 17 at the First Federal Community room. Mrs. Jack Parrott will present the program.

Mrs. Parrott reported on a successful bake sale held last week as a ways and means project. Members also discussed the social planned at the Spanish Inn Nov. 28.

In presenting her program Mrs. Owens listed three instances where courtesy is important. In the home she said table manners were of utmost importance as are good telephone manners. In business she told the women they should not be apple polishers and suggested that employees be attentive to their superiors. In social affairs the speaker pointed out the importance of making each guest feel wanted and of bidding each departing guest a personal adieu. She summed up her talk with the sentence from an anonymous writer, "All the beautiful sentiments in the world weigh less than one lovely action."

The sorority held a shipwreck party Saturday night as a rush activity at the home of Mrs. Jack Parrott. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Benetz, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Zanders, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Graham and Mrs. Chuck Ogle.

E. L. Romans Jr. has had lung surgery at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Short Necklaces With Long Skirts

NEW YORK — Fashion designers feel that the new proportions of the longer fashions call for shorter length necklaces: Chokers, dog collars in keeping with the refined, or matinee. These are more elegant, feminine looks that are coming in with midi length clothes. But you easily can wrap the long rope around your neck a number of times to get a dog collar effect, or have it made into attractive shorter nesting necklaces.

Arrangements Shown To Club

The wide range of decorations used as the basis for arrangements for the Christmas season was displayed Wednesday for members of the Big Spring Garden Club by Q. T. Coates of Estah's Florist when the club met at the home of Mrs. A. J. Atkins. Mrs. John Knox assisted her as cohostess.

Displayed was a Nativity scene with papier mache figurines so finely finished that they take on the appearance of porcelain. They are made in Japan. Also of interest were large flowers from Mexico made of corn shucks with centers of cockleburs. They are shown in their natural color and resemble daisies. Also shown were arrangements of red carnations with white chrysanthemums, scented and decorated candles, candelabra entwined with flickering lights and music boxes that can be

PTA Sees 'Signal 30' Safety Film

The film, "Signal 30" was shown by Officer Greg Morris, Big Spring Police Department, Tuesday at Marcy Parent-Teacher Association meeting. The film illustrated how careless driving mistakes such as not coming to a complete stop at a stop sign could cause major accidents.

William Dawes, principal, introduced the 24 boys in the school safety patrol, and described their job and responsibilities.

Reuben Graunke, treasurer, reported that $1,989 was earned at the PTA-sponsored chili supper Oct. 16. Members will decide how to use the money at the December meeting. All parents were urged to attend and participate in the decision. Mrs. John Nobles' class won the room count. The next meeting will be Dec. 1.

Hunter's Recipes

FRIED VENISON

Venison (backstrap, loin or round) sliced from 1/4 to 1/2 inches thick. Salt and pepper and soak in evaporated milk from one to three hours. Flour and fry in medium hot grease just long enough to remove redness from meat. Overcooking will make meat tough and dry.

Remove from pan leaving drippings. Pour off grease except for one to two tablespoons. Chip up small onion and brown, then add approximately two tablespoons flour, salt and pepper and brown in fry pan. Add water and stir until desired thickness is reached. One tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce may be added for extra flavor.

QUAIL DELIGHT

6 quail
1/2 lemon
36 peeled grapes
Salt and pepper
6 slices bacon
1/4 cup melted butter
1/4 cup Chablis wine
Sprinkle quail inside with salt and pepper. Stuff birds with grapes and squeeze lemon juice over them, then salt and pepper. Wrap with bacon slice and secure with toothpick. Melt butter in pan and put the birds in. Cover and bake at 450 degrees for 25 minutes. Add 1/4 cup of Chablis and steam at 375 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes. Baste birds every 10 minutes during both cooking phases. Serve with a mixture of two tablespoons prepared mustard, 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger, one cup marmalade, chilled.

RAISIN CREAM CAKE

3/4 cup butter
2 cups white sugar
3 eggs separated
1 cup milk
3 cups sifted cake flour
2 tsps. baking powder
1 cup seedless raisins
1 tsp. vanilla
Cream butter and sugar, add well-beaten egg yolks and add vanilla. Sift flour and baking powder and add alternately with milk to creamed mixture, a little at a time. Beat egg whites stiff (not dry) then fold into batter. Dredge the raisins in the flour and add to batter along with the flour and milk. Dredging the raisins keeps them from settling to the bottom of the layers. Bake in three layers at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes. Cool layers on rack.

RAISIN CREAM FROSTING
Beat 1/2 pint whipping cream until stiff. Add sugar and vanilla to taste. Spread part of whipped cream between cooled layers of cake. Add confectioners sugar to the remainder of the whipped cream until stiff enough to spread on top and sides of the cake.

Family Of Wild Game Hunters Dine On Venison, Quail, Dove

By MARILYN NEVELS

Not every housewife has the hunting skill to go out and shoot game for the dinner table, but Mrs. Herbert Kothmann has been hunting deer and fowl for several years. Mrs. Kothmann admits, "I don't have to buy much meat." Her husband is a wild-life biologist for the Permian Basin area. He is an avid hunter and brings back a great deal of game from expeditions, in addition to an occasional bird shot on the job. The Kothmanns' children, Barbara Lynn, 9, and Bill, 8, never know what unusual meat awaits on the dinner table.

"We've had wild turkey and Sandhill crane," she said. "I usually fry them like chicken, and the crane tasted all right."

"I like to cook when I have something special to prepare," Mrs. Kothmann said. The past two weekends have been spent freezer-packaging a 250-pound dressed mule deer Kothmann brought back from a hunting trip in Colorado. The Kothmanns join his parents and sister's family in Llano and divide the meat. Most of their beef and sausage also comes from his parents' ranch.

SAUSAGE-MAKE
"Herb's parents are German and at Christmastime everyone gets together for a family sausage-make," she recalled. "We start stripping the meat from the bone and stuff it into the grinder. The kids hold the casings. Last year they used an 800-pound steer and a hog."

The Kothmanns tried barbecuing some of the mule deer steaks for the first time and were very successful. When Barbie asked her father what kind of meat they were having, he said to wait and taste it. It tasted just like beef sirloin, the Kothmanns believed. They usually have fried venison, or an occasional roast.

PRAIRIE CHICKEN
"Cooking game is more of a challenge," Mrs. Kothmann declared. "Usually things come out edible. I learn by trial and error. There's a prairie chicken in the freezer now for me to figure out how to cook."

Being an outdoorswoman comes in handy when Mrs. Kothmann serves as assistant den mother for Cub Scout Pack 100, Den 2. She also assists Mrs. Leo Gee with Girl Scouts.

"The ten boys equal the 24 girls we have," she stated. "The boys are always bouncing, running, chasing and pulling on each other. The den meetings are less than orderly."

The Kothmann family manages to enjoy the best of both the town and country life. Mrs. Kothmann's week is filled with Scout meetings twice a week, chauffeuring the children, and playing bridge at the Newcomers Club and a two-table bridge group.

PACK RATS
When the Kothmanns aren't driving to his parents' ranch in Llano or her parents' in San Angelo, they are working on hobbies.

"We are both a couple of pack rats," Mrs. Kothmann confesses. "I love old things and going through old junk piles, as you can see by the collection of insulators. Herb brought home the old wagon wheels in the front yard and has a collection of animal skulls. He gives identification quizzes and talks to groups on the skulls."

Refinishing furniture is one of Mrs. Kothmann's favorite pastimes and she is in the process of doing a roll-top desk.

WAY OF LIFE
"We never have a dull moment at home," Mrs. Kothmann said. "Sometimes I feel like Herb's secretary, since his office is at home. I have to answer a lot of questions for people who call when he's out. It is not just a job for Herb, it is a way of life for the family. We all have to get involved. I do my housework around Herb's schedule. Sometimes he works nights spotlighting deer and other times he is home all day working on reports."

NIBBLES
The one bit of wildlife that the Kothmanns did not have for dinner was a female prairie dog that Kothmann brought home. The pet is now half-grown, half-tamed and named Nibbles.

"She scampers under the furniture, but comes running when she hears candy wrappers rustle," Mrs. Kothmann said with amusement. "She loves candy, but nibbles on everything including my candles."

CALLING ALL HOME MAKERS

By Ted Hatfield
WE ARE NOW GOING THROUGH A NEW ERA IN HOME DECORATION

During the last few years there has been a quiet revolution in the furniture and decorating field. The proper way to furnish a home.

In the past, anyone could buy a book on decorating and follow the rules concerning what goes with what, which colors may be used together, how to recognize and use different periods of furniture, etc.

While there are still many such books, and while they still contain much that is helpful, there have been vast changes in the thinking of decorators and furniture personnel.

More and more people are disregarding all of the old rules. There are new ideas and concepts in decorating. There is more emphasis today on furnishing a home with individuality rather than furnishing it like all other homes.

It's an exciting time in home decoration, and we invite you to come in and share in this excitement — come in and see all the new items, the new colors, and color combinations, and the new ideas. And then you can enjoy the thrill of starting to furnish your home in beautiful new ways.

Sugarplum Confection Sweetens Holidays

For the homemaker, no other time of year presents better opportunities for great cooking than the holidays. And no other time can provide her with more satisfaction from cooking.

With this thought in mind, Imperial Sugar Company developed a bright new cookbook, "Sugarplums from Sugar Land." Ninety-nine delicate, sweet recipes, inspired by the sugarplum fantasies of Christmastime.

There are nine complete sections: Beverages, Frostings, Fillings and Icings, Cakes, Candies, Cookies and Small Cakes, Pastries and Puddings and other Sweets, Sweet Breads, Pantry Shelf.

Included are many what-to-serve ideas for your entertaining, tempting desserts such as "Sugarplum Holiday Cake" for the one season when extra calories can be forgiven. Candies and cookies such as "Sugarplum Divinity" and "Sugarplum Fruitcakes" meant for gifts as well as for the family. And superb traditional breads such as Imperial's new "Sugarplum Gingerbread Pancakes" which you will enjoy baking.

Pretty Cup Cakes

Fancy cup cakes often are the makings of the party. Use your favorite cup cake recipe, frost with feathery boiled icing and decorate with two or three canned cling peach slices. Pretty, and good eating too.

Typical of the colorful new recipes in the cookbook is "Sugarplum Divinity" — a traditional holiday candy but with a colorful touch of gum drops.

SUGARPLUM DIVINITY

2 1/2 cups Imperial Granulated Sugar
1/2 cup white corn syrup
1/2 cup cold water
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup slivered, multi-colored gum drop candies

STAINED-GLASS COOKIES

4 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
1 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups Imperial Granulated Sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 tsp. almond flavoring
1/2 cup (or 3 medium) eggs
Sift flour, salt and soda together three times. Cream together remaining five ingredients. Combine the two mixtures. Shape into 3-inch roll, wrap in wax paper and chill thoroughly. Cut into assorted shapes. Bake at 350 degrees until lightly browned, about 8 minutes. Cool on wire rack. Frost cookies with bright shades of Stained Glass Icing. Pipe edges of cookies with contrasting shade of frosting in pastry tube.

STAINED-GLASS ICING

To 1 pound sifted Imperial Powdered Sugar add 3 tablespoons softened butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon vanilla and approximately 4 tablespoons milk or light cream to make proper consistency. Divide icing into bowls and tint with food coloring.

Combine sugar, syrup and water in saucepan and stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Cook until candy thermometer registers 260 degrees F. or until it reaches the very hard ball stage. Remove from heat and cool slightly. Beat egg whites until stiff. Pour hot mixture very slowly over egg whites, beating constantly. Continue beating until mixture becomes very stiff and loses its glossy appearance. Beat a few strokes by hand to improve texture. Add vanilla and drop by large spoonfuls onto waxed paper. Decorate with slivers of gum drops by pressing cut edges to candy. Makes about 1 1/2 pounds.

Illustrated in full color, "Sugarplums from Sugar Land" contains 64 pages, hard covers and spiral binding for easy reading. GUNS AREN'T COOKING utensils, but they do "put the meat on the table" at the Herbert Kothmann home. A very feminine hunter, Mrs. Kothmann shot her first trophy antelope at Muleshoe Ranch several weeks ago, and is having the head mounted, a process which takes six to eight months.

Odessa CBS Station Will Install Translator Unit

The Federal Communications Commission has granted a construction permit to KOSA-TV (Channel 7), Odessa, for a "translator" station to operate on Channel 10 in Big Spring. John Vacca, manager of the Odessa station, said Wednesday that equipment has been ordered for the new facility, and it should be in operation around Dec. 15. Vacca said the station's coverage survey shows that the translator station will put a good viewable picture directly into the majority of Big Spring homes.

KOSA-TV will make use of a tower on South Mountain used by the local FM radio station, KFNE-FM.

The Odessa station is a primary CBS outlet in West Texas, and through the translator would offer that network's programs locally.

The translator station is, simply put, a low-power TV station which would pick up the Odessa signal and rebroadcast it on Channel 10.

Angela Wins Mingle Right

NEW YORK (AP) — Attorneys for black militant Angela Davis have won a federal court order directing officials of the Women's House of Detention to end her solitary confinement and let her mingle with other inmates. Miss Davis, 26, awaiting a hearing on extradition to California to face murder and kidnap charges, went on a hunger strike Oct. 24 when removed from a cell she shared with three other women and lodged in a room in the prison medical clinic.

Jessie Behagen, superintendent of the detention center, said her presence had disrupted normal routine and might result in bodily harm to her or other inmates. The order to end her solitary confinement was handed down in U.S. District Court Wednesday by Judge Morris E. Lasker.

Smith Predicts Democrats Can Oust Tower In 1972

AUSTIN (AP) — Exuberant the party can go on to oust the with Democratic triumphs in senior Republican office holder Tuesday's election, Gov. Pres. in Texas, Sen. John Tower.

Smith confidently predicts Tower will be up for re-election in 1972, and Smith said he could be defeated by any one of several Democrats.

The governor also said with a grin he "wouldn't mind serving eight years" as the chief executive but declined to officially announce as a candidate for a third two-year term.

Smith said his defeat of Paul Eggers and Lloyd Bentsen's defeat of U.S. Rep. George Bush in the Senate race show "Democrats are overwhelmingly in the majority."

Asked if he felt this majority was so sound that a Democrat could unseat the well-entrenched Tower, he said:

"I think somebody can beat Tower in 1972 without any trouble at all. We have several who could beat Tower more easily than Bush was defeated."

He declined, however, to name Democrats who he felt could beat Tower. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, often at odds with the governor, is a strong possibility for the 1972 Senate race.

Smith said he believed the campaign trips to Texas by President Nixon, Vice President Spiro Agnew and several cabinet officers backfired on the Republicans by increasing interest in the election and, thereby, bringing out more Democratic voters.

"I don't know of anything we would do differently if we had the campaign to do over," Smith grinned.

Ohio No. 1, Texas Next In Tax Goal

AUSTIN (AP) — Only Ohio among the 10 leading industrial states places a smaller tax burden on its citizens, reports the Texas Research League.

The league's study was issued Wednesday through the Texas Committee on State and Local Tax Policy.

In 1969, state and local taxes amounted to 8.5 per cent of personal income in Texas. The Ohio figure was 8.2 per cent, respectively.

Neighboring Louisiana and Oklahoma also had higher tax burdens, 19.7 and 9.4 per cent, respectively.

The league also used a comparison of what an "average" Houston family of four, with an adjusted gross income of $10,000 per year, would pay in state and local taxes compared with residents of the biggest cities of other states.

According to the study, the Houston family would have paid $510 in 1968, excluding the city sales tax. The same family would have paid $489 in New Orleans, $545 in Cleveland and $891 in Boston.

"In six of the 11 states compared, the annual tax bill on such a family would have been at least 50 per cent greater than in Texas," the league said.

According to the study, the poorer a Texas family is, the higher its tax burden ranks in comparison with other top industrial states plus Louisiana and Oklahoma.

In the $3,500 income class, Texas ranks 10th among the 12 states in tax burden, while in the $30,000 class it ranks 12th.

"It is clear from these data that—rich or poor—the burden of state and local taxes is relatively low in Texas," the report said.

The league also reported that more than 48 per cent of Texas taxes have an initial impact on business, second only to Louisiana among the 12 states.

"All of the other states fell within the range of 30-40 per cent of total taxes collected from business," it said.

Local Girl In Miss Tech Contest

LUBBOCK — Susan Anne Cape, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cape, 2518 E. 24th, Big Spring, is one of 25 semifinalists for the Miss Texas Tech pageant Friday.

The winner of the contest will represent the university in academic and athletic recruitment and at various social and business activities.

Miss Texas Tech will receive more than $500 worth of gifts donated by local merchants. Miss Cape, a freshmen French major, is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta national social sorority, is a freshman representative for her dormitory, and is a staff member of La Ventana, the Tech annual. She hopes to attend some classes in France and then plans to teach French in high school after her graduation.

A Devotion For Today . . .

If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us. (1 John 1:8)

PRAYER: O God, we confess that we have sinned against You many times by thought, word, and deed. Forgive us our sins. Instill within us a hatred for all evil and give us a sense of righteousness. For Christ's sake. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

The Shouting And The Tumult . . .

"The shouting and the tumult die and so the 1970 general elections fade into history with many a hip-shot estimate of what their impact will turn out to be.

In the perspective of previous off-year elections, the numerical result is something of a standoff. The Democrats strengthened control on Congress, but the new members were not as great as usual. President Nixon lost some keen antagonists, particularly in the Senate, but he also lost some places which may temper his joy. In the state houses, the Democratic advantage is unmistakable, and for whatever this is worth as a platform for the 1972 campaign, it is a considerable loss to the administration.

The immediate and continuing problem for the President is that, although it is natural to claim victory, moral or otherwise, he must live with the hard fact of having earned more ardent antagonists while disposing of a few others.

The change of complexion may make coalition votes more of a possibility, nevertheless, the President will not have the latitude in his last two years that he has possessed in the first two. He will have to be a lot more specific and more conciliatory.

In Texas, the manner in which Lloyd Bentsen turned back the threat of Rep. George Bush is something of a shocker. While most veteran observers had predicted a squeaker either way, the results didn't turn out that way at all. Although Rep. Bush was admittedly perhaps the strongest and one of the most attractive candidates the GOP has presented to Texas, he did not break even on the basic (minimum) vote as nearly everyone thought. That will be the subject of analysis for a long, long time. So will the phenomenon of Paul Eggers, GOP candidate for governor, running ahead of Bush in so many instances. Nevertheless, Eggers is a two-time loser.

There's heat to keep the political hot stove league going for the winter, that is unless people are grateful enough that it is over that they will mercifully erase the campaign from their minds.

Quitters Never Win

Howard County's turnout at the polls Tuesday was better than many had anticipated, although it is substantially less than the 60 per cent party chiefs had prophesied. The percentage of votes cast comes out to 55.4 of the registered total. That's better than the one-half figure for which it appeared for a time we would have to settle.

But that's not honestly a lot to crow about. It's bad when less than six of 10 qualified voters will not bother to get to the polls. Doubtless there has been a negative feeling, an unvoted vote of frustration and apathy. But every citizen ought to realize in every election that quitters never win, nor do they have any influence on events.

Art Buchwald The Russians Beat Us To It

WASHINGTON — "Comrade buyers, fashion designers and state managers of state department stores. Is honor to introduce Comrade Torkel who has just completed visit to America where he has observed new fashions now being worn on American women. Comrade Torkel."

"Is pleasure to be back in Moscow, comrades, and give report on American fashions with illustrations from magazines."

"Here, comrades, is first dress. Skirt is coming to below knees."
"But, Comrade Torkel, we've been making this dress in Leningrad dress factory for 20 years. What is new about this?"

"AM ONLY reporting what have seen. Here second illustration. Evening pajamas to go to party in."
"You are mad, Comrade Torkel. Why would American women go to parties in their pajamas when they are richest women in world?"

"Is impossible to explain, but every reception I went to, I saw women wearing pajamas."

"But Comrade Torkel, if American women wear pajamas to party, what do they wear to bed?"

"IS NOTHING."
"Nothing?"

Billy Graham

I am a homosexual. All my life I have been spent concealing this fact, and it has made my life miserable. The guilt and depression are unbelievable. The emotional turmoil is a living hell. I look forward to death, but if the Bible is true, I will just have more condemnation after I die. Can you offer me any hope? B.J. Yes, I have good news for you. Jesus said: "All manner of sin . . . shall be forgiven unto men." (Matt. 12:31).

You say, "If the Bible is true, you will have more condemnation after you die." But, you are not dead yet, and as long as there is life there is hope. Lay hold on the positive statements of Scripture, rather than the negative. Nowhere in the Bible does it say your sin is unforgivable. Perhaps it is, in the estimate of society, but not to God. He says, "Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts, and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon." (Isa. 55:7).

Under the Mosaic law, those who committed the sin you mention were subject to the death penalty. But, under grace you can be forgiven. Jesus said to the adulteress, "Neither do I condemn you, go your way and sin no more." Her sin was also punishable by death under the law, but Christ gladly forgave her. But His forgiveness was the beginning of a new way of life. With Christ's help you can find release from your bondage. Others with your problem have, and you are no exception. Put your life in Christ's hands, and let Him bring His life and His strength to bear on the problem.

NOT IN SERIOUS TROUBLE YET, BUT—

John Cunniff Flirtation With Inflation

NEW YORK (AP) — With the elections behind it, the Republican administration must now focus even more intensively on the job of stabilizing the economy during the next year or so. The Democrats placed as much importance on the economic issues of inflation and unemployment.

Law and order, at least as a campaign tactic, was the byword of the administration for many months. The Democrats placed as much importance on the economic issues of inflation and unemployment.

It became obvious, however, that these issues were not so disparate as had seemed and that, in fact, they were in some respects different facets of the same situation. On election day they seemed headed for a merger.

Both issues were addressed to the same working class residents of urban communities. And as inflation and unemployment continued, they enveloped many of the most serious advocates of law and order.

There appeared to be some incongruity, for example, in the dedication of hard hats and their companions to the law-order issue when their paychecks were being eroded by inflation and their jobs threatened by layoffs.

The elections tended to reflect a growing awareness of this, judged by Democratic gains in some industrial states. But the congressional situation appeared less changed, a bit to the conservative side.

Efforts to correct the imbalance that produces inflation and layoffs have been under way since the Nixon administration took office, but there seems little doubt now that the effort will be maximized.

Perhaps, some economists suggest, more direct efforts must be made by the administration to educate the public regarding the limits of acceptable wage and price increases, a policy now practiced in Canada.

They maintain that modern economies may not be as susceptible to containment by traditional methods of fiscal and monetary policy, and that an added measure of persuasion or even threat must be introduced.

For this reason, modern governments throughout the industrial world also can make a difference in the seriousness.

When there is an appreciable amount of blood leaking through the defect, the heart has to work substantially harder to pump the required amount of blood into and through your arteries. An overworked heart, whether from this or other causes, tends to enlarge, in an effort to meet the load required of it. That may well explain the enlargement in your case.

You have been warned that trouble lies ahead for you unless the hole is repaired surgically. Such heart operations are being performed with gratifying success these days. Under the circumstances, I wouldn't think it would be difficult for you to make up your mind and have the operation.

The longer you let it go on failing, the poorer shape you will be in for the surgery, so I'd not wait.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A year ago our son, 6, had rheumatic fever. After taking a form of trial world are committed to so-called full employment policies, or efforts to goad their economies to maximum output.

This means a continued flirtation with inflation, because history demonstrates that such policies eventually tend to produce the prospect of rising wages and prices.

If a full employment policy is to be maintained, it is argued, workers and employers must be made aware of the dangers to all in any inordinate wage or price demands.

It may be expected that the Nixon administration soon will have some words on the subject.

To date, however, it has relied almost solely on the traditional cures of monetary and fiscal restraint.

These traditional methods are, somewhat belatedly, having their effect, and some financial men feel that economic pressures have been sufficiently relieved for the Federal Reserve to reduce its lending rate any day now.

But are the traditional methods swift enough to reset the stage for 1972? The best indication comes from the past, and in the past the traditional methods produced results many months behind schedule.

To Your Good Health She Has A Hole In Her Heart

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a hole in the heart and would like your ideas. I was told I would need heart surgery, and if I don't get it I would be sorry in a couple of years. I am 45 and have an enlarged heart that isn't too bad yet.

I also know other people with holes in the heart who don't need surgery. Can you help me make up my mind what to do? — Mrs. J.W.

I presume the "hole" is what is known as a septal defect, a gap in the partition between two adjacent chambers of the heart.

The result of such a defect is that when the heart beats — or pumps — a certain amount of the blood, instead of being forced forward into your arteries, leaks back into the preceding chamber and has to be pumped all over again.

The size of the aperture makes a great deal of difference. A small one may not bother a person much. A larger one will. The location of the hole also can make a difference in the seriousness.

When there is an appreciable amount of blood leaking through the defect, the heart has to work substantially harder to pump the required amount of blood into and through your arteries. An overworked heart, whether from this or other causes, tends to enlarge, in an effort to meet the load required of it. That may well explain the enlargement in your case.

You have been warned that trouble lies ahead for you unless the hole is repaired surgically. Such heart operations are being performed with gratifying success these days. Under the circumstances, I wouldn't think it would be difficult for you to make up your mind and have the operation.

Around The Rim Hamburger Is The Staff Of Life?

There is a myth circulating worldwide that I think should be stopped. The myth: Hamburger is a staple of life.

EVERY MAN, woman and child in America seems to be steeped in the tradition that hamburger is a necessity. I think it all probably was begun one year when cattle weren't selling too well. Some rancher staring straight into the face of bankruptcy began the rumor.

I know I faced the same indoctrination as did every other red-blooded, hamburger-filled American. When I was growing up my mother could cook hamburger many different ways — all of them delicious. I never really thought about it.

THEN I BEGAN doing my own cooking, and I started thinking plenty about it. Aunts, cousins, friends, enemies, even Mom, loaded me down with recipes. And nearly every one starts with "Take one pound of hamburger meat . . ."

Carefully I checked out what I needed and headed for the grocery.

I bought tons and tons of hamburger meat.

THEN, WHEN it came time for the first meal, I opened the freezer for a pound of hamburger meat, and immediately three one-pound packages which seemed permanently joined leaped out of the freezer and landed on my foot.

Three pounds of meat definitely seems like more than three pounds when it is frozen solid.

I IMMEDIATELY discovered that while hamburger may be the all-American dish, versatile, delicious and inexpensive — in most cases it is also frozen solid.

Cooking for myself, I fix a meal when I get hungry. Only I could starve to death waiting for hamburger to thaw.

I QUICKLY learned to do without hamburger, except on rare occasions when I have plenty of time to plan a meal. Hamburger is not a staple, it's a delicacy.

Best Sellers The Rewards Of Dissent

By LYNN SHERR
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of the nation's various anti-establishment groups are finding that the hand they are biting is feeding them, too.

Through best-selling books, high-priced lecture appearances and other products of their rebellion, the top names of such organizations as the Yippies, Women's Liberation and the Black Panthers are grossing profits which have mounted into the tens of thousands.

THEY SAY, however, the big money is not lining their pockets. Instead it is going into the coffers of the various branches of The Movement.

"It's not my role to be rich. It's happened accidentally," says Yippie leader Jerry Rubin, whose best-selling book "Do It!" has sold more than 200,000 copies at $2.45. Based on standard author's royalties, he can figure to earn more than $50,000.

Rubin points out that because his publisher issues royalty checks only twice a year, he has not yet seen a penny of profit. But when the money comes on Feb. 1:

"I MAY BURN IT. I may hand it out for free . . . Any way to completely and thoroughly destroy capitalism," he says.

Abbie Hoffman, a co-defendant with Rubin in the Chicago 7 riot trial and a co-founder of the Yippies, said "When a revolutionary has bread, he's got to give it away."

Hoffman's two books — "Woodstock Nation" and "Revolution for the Hell of It" — both of which advocate his goal "to create chaos in the ruling class," have grossed him some $75,000. After contract fees, publishing costs and miscellaneous expenses, he claims his actual earnings have been divided up as follows: $25,000 for Black Panther defense funds, $10,000 for bail money for other revolutionaries, several times $10,000 for Chicago trial expenses.

Hoffman and Rubin also say they are committed to giving at least $5,000 a month to the Youth International Party — Yippies — for assorted "projects."

ASKED ABOUT the use of Establishment channels to further their cause, Hoffman quoted Lenin: "When capitalism hangs itself, it will be the bourgeoisie who sell the rope." However, in an effort to eliminate such "straight" institutions, Hoffman and others formed their own speakers' bureau, offering such luminaries as themselves, lawyer William Kunstler, women's movement activists Shulamith Firestone and Jo Freeman, and rock writer Richard Goldstein.

"It's absurd to book through the going lecture bureaus and let them rip off 25-30 per cent of radical speakers," says Robert Lamb, office manager of The Movement Speakers' Bureau in New York. He said that with Move-Speak — as it is known — the speaker would get 75 per cent, the bureau, 25. And all profits beyond office costs would be voted back into everyone's favorite Movement cause.

IN THE PAST, radical speakers have commanded fees up to $2,000 an appearance.

A handful of other Movement leaders share financial success in publishing. Panther author Eldridge Cleaver's book, "Soul on Ice," has sold some 120,000 hardbound copies — at $5.95 — and nearly 2 million in paperback. And that doesn't count the 100,000 copies of his "Writings" for another publisher.

While California lawyers for Cleaver, now living abroad, would not disclose the amount of money he has earned, his New York literary agent, Cyrilly Abels, said, "It's not as much as people expect because an awful lot is drained off by lawyers and debts."

ANOTHER BLACK Panther leader, Bobby Seale, has racked up some 22,000 sales of his writings at $6.95.

The newest Movement issue, women's liberation, has begun to be a money-earner also. Kate Millet's "Sexual Politics," a blast at male domination, has sold 60,000 copies at $7.95 after only 10 weeks in print.

"I plan to give all my money away," she says.

Robin Morgan, whose anthology of women's liberation writings entitled "Sisterhood is Powerful," has just been published, says she plans to donate all profits to the Movement.

"It will be up to the women — all 54 of them — who contributed to the book," she said. She cited such possible recipients as an abortion fund, bail money for prisoners in New York's Women's House of Detention, and a national archives for women's history.

Andrew Tully Justice Wallows In Confusion

WASHINGTON — A debt is acknowledged to the Washington Evening Star for a story of the ham-handed administration of justice in the nation's confused capital. It is a national story because it is typical of the way our courts and their oafish attaches play the fool in most of our big cities.

It is also an indictment of the professional, card-carrying, super-liberals among our national politicians who have managed to arrange things so that the administrators of justice are tougher on the victim of a crime than they are on the suspect. Of course, these outrages happen more frequently in Hell City, where every municipal office staggers under the inefficiency of semi-literate louts employed for political reasons.

MERELY BECAUSE it is typical, I give you — or rather, the Star does — the story of Mrs. X, who was mugged and beaten by three young hoods more than a year ago as she walked from her office to her car.

Eight days after the assault, the cops arrested three youths and charged them with the crime. Mrs. X identified two of the youths as her attackers. That was 15 months ago. Finally, on Oct. 26, she received a subpoena from the clerk of the Juvenile Court, ordering her to appear at 9:15 a.m. the next day, and threatening her with contempt of court if she failed to show up.

MRS. X SHOWED up several minutes early at Room 227, displayed her subpoena and was told to have a seat. In the room, she recognized a youth leaning against the wall as one of those she had identified.

Mrs. X waited in the room for more than two hours. Occasionally a court flunky would come in and call out the name of a witness wanted in the courtroom. She listened carefully, she said, but her name was never called.

AT 10:30 A.M., the defendant was taken out of the room by an attorney for the D.C. Legal Aid Agency. Mrs. X made some inquiries of official hangers-on and was told to be patient. At 11:15 a.m., she finally left, located the Corporation Counsel's office, and was told blandly that he was "sorry, but the charges in your case have been dropped."

THE STAR QUOTES Asst. Corporation Counsel Michael Darrington, the prosecutor in the case, as saying he "thought he remembered" having paged the woman once. He told the Star, however, that there was no second paging and no attempt was made to locate Mrs. X. Unfortunately, while Darrington was "thinking" he had called the woman, Chief Judge Harold H. Greene dismissed the case because — try to swallow this one — there was "a lack of a complaining witness."

Naturally, the suspect was set free. In all fairness, it must be reported that so was Mrs. X. That is to say, she was not jailed for contempt for the court's failure to call her.

I DO NOT know if that youth is guilty of attacking Mrs. X, although her identification entitles me to my suspicions that he was guilty. Nor do I accuse the court's collection of slovenly oafs working there of anything more than sloppiness — although, again, I am well aware that deals are made in some cases to relieve court congestion.

But so far as I know, I do not risk indictment for high treason by asking that the record show my sympathy for Mrs. X. Good luck, ma'am, and I hope that scar on your cheek from a kick delivered by one of your assailants eventually heals.

NASA Work With Europe Is Under Negotiation

(This is another in a series of articles by a young Texan doing graduate reporting work in Europe.)
By FRED DUBOSE JR.
Like the crew of Apollo 13, the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration is having to do some fast work to save itself.
Last May, financially-strained NASA invited the 13-country European space community to take part in its post-Apollo program, in exchange for American help in getting the European space program off the ground.
NASA's offer may have been a simple fund-seeking measure, or an inspired step toward American-European unity in space, or both. Clearer light will be thrown on the picture after the current European Space Conference in Brussels, when NASA will reveal whether it is willing to give the specific "American help" Europe wants.
While European nations are prepared to accept the U.S. invitation to participate in future space work, they will do so on one condition — American help with the launching of European communications, weather, and air traffic control satellites. (A unified-European effort has failed to develop a successful launcher.)
NO STRINGS
Theo Lefevre, Belgium's Minister for Scientific Affairs and the space community's chief negotiator, has told NASA and the U.S. State Department that Europe wants launcher rockets "with no political strings attached and on a commercial basis."
In exchange, Western Europe would take part in the development of NASA's planned space station. Specifically, it would build the "space shuttle" and "space tug" used to service a NASA-built space platform. (NASA has indicated it would expect Europe to shoulder 10 to 15 per cent of the total cost of the project.)

Why, then, may the U.S. have reservations about selling launcher rockets to Europe?
BUSINESS ANGLE
One widely-held theory is that NASA is pressured by U.S. business interests fearful of European entry into the highly lucrative and, as yet, uncompetitive field of communications satellites. American private interests will continue to control the free world's use of such satellites as long as the Europeans are tied up with the problem of developing their own launching rockets.
Another difficulty for NASA is the probability that some European countries may refuse to abide by the rules of Intelsat (the international regulatory body which has set up specific "broadcast regions" for communications satellites).

RADIO BROADCASTS
France and Belgium, for example, do not agree with Intelsat's interpretation that their "regional" communications satellites should be limited to Europe only. Both countries, anxious to preserve economic and cultural links with their former colonies, want to use satellites to beam French-language radio broadcasts to Africa, an area which they regard as a traditional extension of Europe.
The U.S., having provided launchers for such "outlaw satellites," would share the guilt of disregarding Intelsat and would, at the same time, probably incur the wrath of African countries bombarded by broadcasts from their former colonizers.

Despite these difficulties, NASA and the U.S. State Department reportedly have worked out a formula they think will satisfy the Europeans' demand for launcher rockets. The details and conditions of the formula will be announced at the Brussels conference.
FRANCE MAY FIGHT
It is reported here that Britain and Germany find the formula acceptable — while France may fight it. (France wants to continue the unified-European effort to develop a launcher, the Europa III. The 12 countries of the European Space Research Organization and the European Launcher Development Organization have been working for a 1978 completion date for the launcher.) But it is certain that without the support of Britain and Germany, France will be unable to go it alone.
All European nations are concerned about the interim period between their acceptance of the American formula and the start of the post-Apollo program.
One diplomat here said, "What will we do if we abandon our Europa III project only to discover that Congress refuses to vote funds for the post-Apollo program? Then the framework for our cooperation plan would fall away and we'd find ourselves both without U.S. launchers and a launching capability of our own."
NEGOTIATIONS AHEAD
This is why the French will insist on keeping the European program going — at least for the near future.
Britain, who has lost faith in the European effort, has indicated she may accept this only if it means keeping the European project "ticking along with a minimum outlay of funds."
Months of negotiations lie ahead for the U.S. and Europe; their course will depend on what NASA and the U.S. State Department say at this week's space conference.
But whatever the problems at present, it appears that Europe and American may be able to bail out each other's space programs. Then the door will be open to an exciting multinational partnership in space.

FIRST HOSTAGE AT PRISON RIOT — Eugene Fasca, a second generation guard at the Auburn, N.Y., Correction Facility puffs on a cigarette as he describes his six harrowing hours as a hostage in the prison yard taken over by inmates Wednesday. Fasca's father was also a guard at the prison when the 1929 riot took place, leaving him with eight bullet wounds. Fasca, 52, has been a guard at the prison for 23 years, and was the first hostage grabbed by the prisoners.

Europeans View Election As Setback For President

LONDON (AP) — Some European newspaper commentators today viewed the outcome of the U.S. election as a standoff for the Republicans and the Democrats. Others considered it a setback for President Nixon.
"The contest ended a draw, as the pollsters predicted," said Paris' conservative Le Figaro. "America, face to face with its terrible problems, didn't really make a move."
"If, as President Nixon maintains, there really is a silent majority backing up his position, it still has not seized the occasion to express itself clearly."
"POLITICS OF FEAR"
Rome's Il Popolo, the organ of the ruling Christian Democrats, also found the results inconclusive. It said the election "justifies neither the Republican claims of victory in defeating antiadministration senators, nor the Democrats' hopes that American voters have repudiated the "politics of fear."

Sweden's conservative Svenska Dagbladet and liberal Dagens Nyheter, both called the outcome a defeat for the President.
Svenska Dagbladet said it was the worst campaign in U.S. history and that "the gigantic problems in the country were not mentioned — only law and order." Dagens Nyheter said the President had suffered both a moral and a political defeat and the Democrats had improved their chances for 1972.

"CRAZY SWINGS"
Denmark's conservative Berlingske Tidende commented: "Mr. Nixon wanted to mobilize the silent majority by stressing the nationwide problems of law and order. He did not succeed. The majority kept quiet by staying at home."
L'Unita, published by the Italian Communist party, headlined its story "Grave Defeat for Nixon."

Post To Hit Newsstands Next Spring

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Saturday Evening Post, the queen of America's magazines until heavy losses ended its publication 22 months ago, may be back on the nation's newsstands next spring as a quarterly publication.
A Curtis Publishing Co. spokesman said the first issue would come off the presses in April.
Howard W. Taylor Jr., a lawyer representing Curtis, said no decision had been reached on the new Post's size, format or price. But he said the first cover would be like the magazine of old, featuring a drawing by artist Norman Rockwell.
"We're looking for ways to make money," Taylor said. "Obviously the newsstand price won't be as important as the amount of advertising sold."
When it folded, because of a lack of ads, the Post had three million subscribers, less than half of its circulation high.
