Cops Held At Bay Six Hours By Air Force Sergeant

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An Air Force weapons specialist, who barricaded himself in his estranged wife's home with his three children and a priest, remained in jail Sunday.

sheriff's deputies at bay for six hours. The sergeant was arrested shortly before dawn Saturday after deputies routed him from the house with tear gas. No gunfire was exchanged.

Investigators said the wife told them her husband struggled with a male friend visiting her and the visitor was slashed on the right hand and back with a butcher knife.

When deputies arrived, the husband was standing in the doorway with a carbine, they said, and refused to allow them to enter.

Later, deputy Ed Groff and a Catholic priest, the Rev. Dan Kahlack, entered the home. They were unsuccessful in their attempts to get him to surrender. Groff said he was a friend of the man and godfather of one of the three children.

Groff was permitted to leave, but the priest was forced to stay. Officers said both were marched around the living room while the sergeant held a gun to their heads.

Some two dozen sheriff's officers surrounded the house at the peak of the ordeal. The priest was released shortly before dawn, but the man, deputies said, threatened to kill his children if they did not leave.

The man ran out and was arrested after two tear gas canisters were fired into the home.

Egypt Makes Fresh Try At Arab Unity

Lindsay Says: 'Not A Chance'

LONDON (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York said tonight there was "not a chance" of his seeking the presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket in 1972. He also said he has no plans beyond the end of his term as mayor in December, 1973. Lindsay was speaking in a British Broadcasting Corp. television interview recorded Saturday after the U.S. elections.

The mayor told interviewer Robin Day there was no possibility of his being a presidential candidate in 1972.

"Not if you were to go on the Democratic ticket," Day persisted.

"Not a chance," said Lindsay. "I don't have the wish in the first place, and in the second place, even if I did, it's not viable politically" because "I'm an enrolled Republican."

SNOWTIME GETS NEAR

Sunday was a perfect day for a family outing with sunny skies and temperatures in the 70s. Most Big Spring residents, however, should remember that two years ago Sunday the area got its first real taste of winter. A light snow blanketed Howard County, the fifth snow so early in the season since 1900.

According to records kept by the Big Spring Experiment Station, the earliest that snow has fallen was Nov. 8 in 1955 and 1968; Nov. 9 in 1901; Nov. 11 in 1907; and Nov. 13 in 1920.

Weather forecasters aren't predicting snow for Tuesday, but it is time to have the car checked for winter — just in case.

GM-UAW Fight

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators in the eight-week-old United Auto Workers strike returned to the bargaining table today reportedly for nonstop talks aimed at reaching agreement in the strike against General Motors by Tuesday night.

The Tuesday deadline is needed if GM is to return to full production by Dec. 1, officials said.

ANNOUNCE NEW ARAB FEDERATION — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, center, Sudanese President Jaafar el Numairi and Col. Muammar Kadafi, right, leader of Libya's military regime leave a conference room in Cairo after announcing a new confederation of Arab nations. The three will lead the new confederation which will consolidate and coordinate political systems and policies of the three countries under a plan called the Tripoli Charter.

By The Associated Press

Egypt is planning to federate with Sudan and Libya to form "a nucleus for the unity of the Arab world" in northeast Africa. It is Cairo's second such attempt to put together a greater Arab nation.

The late President Gamal Abdel Nasser failed in the first attempt, a federation with Syria and Yemen that was formed in 1958. It existed mostly on paper, and was broken up by Syria in September, 1961. Egypt's official name remains the United Arab Republic, a remnant of that try at union.

NO TARGET DATE

Nasser's successor, Anwar Sadat, President Jaafar el Numairi of Sudan and Col. Muammar Kadafi, leader of Libya's military regime, announced plans for the new merger early today after a conference in Cairo.

No target date was given for putting the federation into operation.

"The Arab world is facing internal as well as external attempts to liquidate the revolutionary tide," it said, adding that the confederation was necessitated also by the death of Nasser, "whose mere presence in the Arab struggle (with Israel) was a sufficient symbol of unity for the Arab peoples."

TRIPOLI CHARTER

Under the plan, called the Tripoli Charter in honor of a conference Nasser, Kadafi and Numairi held there this year, a trinitary command will first consolidate the political systems in the countries and coordinate their policies, the communique said. The command will set up three-sided boards to govern the confederation later, including a "supreme planning committee," a national security council for defense, an implementation committee to maintain national progress and subcommittees to handle political, economic, military and social questions.

Observers noted that the boards will include representatives from all three nations and their decisions presumably will have to be unanimous. Thus there apparently was no loss of sovereignty envisioned by the drafters of the charter, but this also increases the possibility of the disagreements that always wreck attempts at Arab unity.

OIL WEALTH

The confederation will bring together some of the world's most lucrative oil fields in Libya, potentially rich wheat fields in Sudan and the Arab world's most powerful military force, in Egypt.

As El Numairi met in Cairo, his defense minister charged in Khartoum that Sudanese troops have found evidence of U.S. and Israeli intervention in the insurrection in Southern Sudan.

Maj. Gen. Khaled Hassan Abbas said his forces occupied a rebel headquarters and airstrip and three other strongholds at Motar, in Equatoria Province. The airstrip had advanced equipment made in the United

Skyjackers Force Plane To Baghdad

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — An Iranian airliner, hijacked with 22 persons on board, landed in Baghdad, Iraq, today, the Iraqi news agency reported.

Airport authorities there at first denied the twin-engine DC3 permission to land but relented after the plane's American pilot reported he was running out of gas.

The air taxi firm which chartered the plane said in Tehran, Iran, that the plane was not critically short of fuel. It claimed the aircraft was forced to land at Doha where it took on fuel, then left for Baghdad.

Iranian officials said the plane left Dubai on the Persian Gulf early today bound for Bandar Abbas in Iran.

The Iraqi news agency said the plane was hijacked by nine of the 22 persons on board. It was believed they were Iranians.

The pilot was identified as Sidney Jordan.

Nader Group Gigs U.S. Medical Care

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans cannot be certain of adequate health care because doctors and government officials tolerate the poor practice of medicine, says a Ralph Nader study group.

The report, written by a former federal health official with help from medical and law students, chronicles a long list of what it calls medical abuses: the failure of doctors to keep abreast of new developments, the "leaking" of poorly quali-

States, he said. White mercenaries flown in by the United States and Israel had been training guerrillas there but fled to Uganda and were arrested there, he claimed.

'BROKEN THE BACK'

He said his forces had "broken the back" of the rebel movement that has been at war since Sudan achieved independence in 1956. The basis of the fighting is resistance to Islamic Arab rule by Animist and Christian blacks in southern Sudan, but Abbas charged that the United States and Israel were taking a hand to force diversion of Sudanese military force from the Arab war against Israel, a conflict in which Sudan has so far made no contribution.

The Israeli Cabinet met in Jerusalem Sunday and discussed whether to return to the indirect peace talks at the United Nations with Egypt and Jordan. But authoritative sources said no new decision was made.

ONLY WAY

The informants said some ministers are re-evaluating their attitudes because of U.S. support in the United Nations and large consignments of U.S. weapons to Israel. The Israelis broke off the U.S.-sponsored talks under Gunnar V. Jarring, the special U.N. envoy, on Sept. 6, charging that Egypt was moving missiles toward the Suez Canal in violation of the cease-fire agreement attendant to the talks. The 90-day shooting halt ended last Thursday but a tenuous unofficial extension is continuing.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, normally a hardliner in dealing with the Arabs, said on Saturday that the only way to negotiate a settlement was through the Jarring talks.

Uncle Sam Ends Colorful Link With 'Hi-Ho Silver'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government officially gets out of the silver business this week, ending a long, colorful and sometimes controversial association with the white metal.

Once the main issue of a presidential campaign, the metal that used to make American coins ring has fallen on hard times—at least as money.

The government break with silver comes Tuesday, the date of the Treasury Department's final sale of the metal on the private market.

"Every citizen is at the mercy of a system devoid of uniform, enforced standards of quality and must run the risks implied in the statistics of uneven levels of care among hospitals and physicians," said the report.

Among the statistics cited: —A Columbia University study of hospital admissions that showed 57 per cent of the patients received good or optimal care. The rest got care rated fair or poor.

TESTS SOUGHT

—A report by the National Commission on Health Manpower that examinations passed by 98 per cent of U.S. medical school graduates were successfully completed by only 40 per cent of students from foreign schools. Yet, the United States is so desperate for doctors that the "foreign graduates" leak into the American medical system anyway, the commission said.

ACCUSES CIA OF WAR ROLE — Palestinian guerrilla leader Yasar Arafat in Cairo today tells newsmen at a conference the identification card of a U.S. Marine found in Amman during the September civil war in Jordan shows the presence of an "American command" directing the Jordanian army. He accused the Central Intelligence Agency of trying to engineer the "liquidation of the Palestinian resistance." Marines currently guard the U.S. Embassy in Amman and helped unload war relief supplies.

High Court Looks At Death Penalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Juries would impose more, not fewer death penalties for murder if stripped of their discretion in handing out capital punishment, lawyers for California and the United States told the Supreme Court today.

U.S. Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold opposed establishment of specific standards for imposing the death penalty. He said that under fixed standards, juries would be more likely to find reasons for imposing the death sentence rather than for exercising mercy.

GRISLY BUSINESS

"Murder, and first-degree murder is all we are talking about here, is inevitably a grisly business," Griswold said. He said aggravating circumstances are found in nearly every case.

Ronald M. George, a deputy attorney general of California, said no system of standards could possibly prevent juries from exercising some sort of discretion.

Further, he said, listing aggravating circumstances would incline juries to impose death. "I think fixed standards would result in more death verdicts, he said.

SHOULD STRIP

The arguments came as the high court heard a renewed plea to make major changes in the way the death sentence is imposed.

Lawyers for two condemned slayers argued that juries should be stripped of their "absolute discretion" to decide which guilty men should die and which should get jail terms.

The three-hour hearing was a replay of arguments before the court over the last two years that led to no decision. In the meantime, the number of men and women on death row has grown to more than 550—most of whom have a life-or-death interest in the outcome.

KILLED WIFE

The two prisoners whose appeals are before the court are Dennis C. McGautha of Los Angeles and James E. Crampton of Toledo, Ohio. Crampton was convicted of killing his wife, McGautha of killing a grocer.

McGautha's lawyer, Herman F. Selvin of Beverly Hills, Calif., argued California law provides no standards or guidelines for the jury to determine whether to impose the death penalty or a life sentence.

Crampton's lawyer, John J. Callahan of Toledo, argues similarly regarding death penalty jurors in Ohio.

MERCY, MERCY

Should the court agree, all but a handful of the current death sentences could be upset and state legislatures required to lay down specific guidelines for future juries.

The prisoners spared by such a ruling presumably would be resentenced.

Callahan also argued that the trial should be split up, as it is in California, Texas, Georgia, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and New York.

more available money—and easier credit—against the banker-businessman's contention that hard currency—gold—was the only protection against inflation and a debtor economy.

CROSS OF GOLD

The issue reached its climax when William Jennings Bryan won the Democratic presidential nomination in 1896 after his famous speech in which he thundered at the bankers: "You shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

But, faced with mass desertions from his party, Bryan lost in 1896 and twice more; the political appeal of freer silver lost with him.

Gold remained the nation's money base until 1933 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt took the United States off the gold standard in an anti-Depression move.

Tuesday's severing from the silver market won't quite cut all government relations with the metal. The Treasury still has about 24 million ounces of unrefined silver and the Defense stockpile has another 165 million ounces—for industrial use in emergencies and in the event some future Congress might decide a silver coin is needed.

dedered all American coins except the Kennedy half-dollar minted from a copper-nickel alloy. Now, because of the supply and demand problem, even the Kennedy coin is not being made.

EASIER CREDIT

Silver coins were used in this country in the early years, and through most of the 19th century the U.S. money system was based on both gold and silver.

But in 1873 the nation, along with most of Europe, went on a strictly gold standard, leading to a struggle that nearly split the Democratic party and embittered U.S. farmers against the Eastern business and banking community.

The issue at that time revolved around the farmer's and other workingmen's desire for

South Viet Troops Take Over Along Saigon River Stretch

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops have taken over offensive operations from the Americans in an area of 100 square miles north of Saigon, authoritative sources disclosed today.

MAJOR CHANGE
The major shift of allied responsibilities virtually ends the American offensive role along the Saigon River corridor, a long-time North Vietnamese-Viet Cong infiltration and supply route.

Four American artillery and patrol bases have been turned over to the South Vietnamese along a 50-mile stretch of the river, from the Cambodian border south to within 20 miles of Saigon.

South Vietnamese troops also are taking over Cu Chi, a giant base camp 20 miles northwest of Saigon that is the headquarters of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division. The division's headquarters and its 1st and 3rd Brigades are returning to Hawaii by Christmas.

PROTECTING RICE
Other American units at Cu Chi and Dau Tieng, an American brigade headquarters farther north, will be pulled out soon.

For the most part, sources said, the realignment leaves American forces in the western half of the 3rd Military Region defending their remaining bases and conducting such defensive operations as local reconnaissance, searching out enemy caches and protecting the current rice harvest.

The realignment is part of President Nixon's withdrawal program to reduce U.S. strength in Vietnam to 254,000 troops by next May 1.

The U.S. Command announced today that American forces in the country dropped another 6,000 men last week to 363,000. It was the lowest level since Dec. 10, 1966, when there were 367,400.

TANK DESTROYED
Meanwhile, the Cambodian military command reported that the largest combined South Vietnamese-Cambodian tank force of the war pushed in behind tanks on a Communist base camp 20 miles south of Phnom Penh. A spokesman said one South Vietnamese tank was reported destroyed by a mine, but the 7,000-man force had made no significant contact with the enemy.

The spokesman said another Cambodian tank force pushed 40 miles up Highway 2 from Takeo to Phnom Penh. The highway had been cut for nearly six months, but there was no report of enemy opposition to the drive.

In still another operation, on the east bank of the Mekong River, the Cambodian command said government troops had recaptured Preak Tameak, 11 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. The spokesman did not say whether the Cambodian troops met any resistance.

Elsewhere in Cambodia, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong shelled Kompong Cham, the country's third largest city 47 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, and then made a ground attack on the airport just outside the town. A spokesman said sporadic fighting continued at the airport after dawn.

'PEOPLE'S COURTS'
Another enemy force 25 miles west of Kompong Cham crashed into the center of Skoun and fought their way to within 50 yards of the government command post, but Cambodian paratroopers drove them off and killed at least nine.

The military spokesman reported that "people's courts" in villages recaptured by government troops have begun trying collaborators with the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese. The spokesman said collaborators usually flee with the departing Communist forces, and he had no reports of any death sentences being given.

Plane Boardings Decrease Locally

Texas International Airlines boarded 180,380 passengers in October this year, a 3 1/2 percent increase over October, 1969. Locally, 355 passengers boarded this October, compared to 410 passengers in October last year. Dean Berry, local manager, said the decrease locally was due to the discontinuance earlier this year of a 6 a.m. flight to Dallas.

Texas International Airlines serves 70 cities in nine states and the Republic of Mexico.

Moon Race Lost, Russians Rebound

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet space program appears to be making a strong recovery both in manned flight and space-robo missions after several years in the shadow of American triumphs.

Although the Russians lost the moon race, they have rebounded this year with their own moon-scooping machine and have just completed their fourth unmanned round-the-moon shot in the Zond series.

In addition, they have contributed to space medicine by testing man's endurance in a record orbital experiment lasting 18 days.

MORE ROBOTS
If public statements by cosmonauts and scientists can be taken at face value, more impressive feats with men and robots will be attempted in the near future.

Cosmonauts Vitaly Sevast'yanov and Andrian Nikolayev started the comeback in June when they set the duration record and concluded that the dangers of prolonged weightlessness still constitute a barrier to flights of more than a few weeks.

The Luna 16 mission three months later gave the Soviet Union its own samples of moon soil and also had the effect of restoring credibility to a space program which had not scored a major first between 1964 and 1970.

VENUS PROBE
Then in October, Zond 3 zipped neatly around the moon on a photographic expedition and splashed down by remote control in the Indian Ocean, the fourth Soviet round trip to lunar space.

A new Venus probe, a refined version of earlier Venus capsules, was launched in August and is due to reach that scorching planet in mid-December. If it lands in operating condition Soviet space authorities can look back over a successful year.

Moving ahead on a separate front, newspapers and broadcasters have hailed the success of the unmanned moon-scooper as a cheaper, safer method of doing what the Apollo astronauts did. There has been no emphasis on the fact that Luna carried home 3 1/2 ounces of moon soil compared with the 132 pounds collected in the Apollo 11 and 12 missions.

SOIL SAMPLES
No Soviet moon landing is in preparation, according to frequent disclaimers in Moscow, but it is likely that more unmanned scoopers will seek more soil samples.

Any Soviet space planners embarrassed when Apollo 11 and 12 landed on the moon must feel somewhat vindicated now. Besides the prestige of their Luna 16 soil, they have the satisfaction of watching Washington re-evaluate the need for manned flights.

President Nixon's Science Advisory Committee has recommended after a special study that unmanned probes take precedence over rides in space by U.S. astronauts. The committee decided that man's presence aboard spacecraft "could not be shown unequivocally to be essential for any of the probable scientific objectives in the next decade."

This view echoed almost verbatim the line that began emerging in the Soviet press as soon as it became clear an American would be the first man on the moon.

MORE WEALTH
President Georges Pompidou of France, one of the few who has witnessed both U.S. and Soviet space launchings, said last month: "It seems to me there is much more wealth in the American presentation and execution, whereas the Soviet organization in more austere and simple, but equally as effective. The results prove it."

Looking toward the future, cosmonauts and Soviet space administrators on tour abroad have spoken only in general terms of what comes next from the Baikonur launch pad—the manned space center 1,400 miles southeast of Moscow. Unmanned round trips to Mars and Venus, using the knowledge gained from the Luna program, apparently are in the works for 1970s.

Cosmonaut Sevast'yanov said in Washington last month that a long-term orbital space station is the next objective in the manned program.

The first U.S. manned space station is scheduled for 1972, generally believed to be behind the Russian timetable.

The Soviet Union has expressed tentative interest in a joint U.S.-Soviet orbiting station manned by an international crew.

SPACE MEDICINE
Recently published data in the magazine Aviatika I Kosmonavtika make it clear that Sevast'yanov and Nikolayev hold strong reservations about the possibility of interplanetary manned experiments at this time.

Bridge Test

BY CHARLES H. GOREN

(c 1970; by The Chicago Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠2 ♥1083 ♦KJ74 ♣AJ65

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner's jump rebid is forcing to game and the suggested bid is three no trump inasmuch as you have the minor suits doubly stopped. A raise to four hearts is not recommended, for the partner made a jump shift it might have been on a four card heart suit.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠7 ♥KQ10974 ♦J1096 ♣A2

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass

2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. With this strong six card suit and a reasonably good holding in diamonds, you should take the chance yourself. Partner might have to pass three hearts on a hand that could produce a game.

Q. 3—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♥QJ98743 ♦A7654 ♠10

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. This hand is almost worthless defensively but has fine offensive potentialities. Partner's bidding indicates that he has very little support for hearts, but this is practically an independent suit which a singleton honor will solidify.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AQ65 ♦AJ10 ♣AKJ63

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

2 ♥ Pass 4 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five diamonds. This is just a strong possibility and this looks like the best exploratory maneuver. If partner has a fitting card in diamonds or a reasonably good spade suit, he will surely react favorably to your slam suggestion.

Q. 5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A ♥A85 ♦Q9643 ♣AQ2

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

1 NT Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four clubs. Your hand re-evaluates to 19 points in support of clubs which with the minimum of 10 your partner has promised by virtue of his two-over-one response spells a sure game. But there could be even bigger things brewing and the immediate jump is the best way to indicate your ambitions.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠7 ♥AQ64 ♦KJ865 ♣A96

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

1 NT Pass 3 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three hearts. The heart suit should be shown at this point, even though it is not probable that partner will show up with four of that suit. It will facilitate partner's reading of your distribution should you find it expedient to show club support on a subsequent round.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A4 ♥AK3 ♦AKJ962 ♣KS

What is your opening bid?

A.—Two no trump. This hand is a shade unbalanced, no other call is satisfactory. The holding falls just short of the requirement for a demand bid in a minor suit. Besides, partner's expected two no trump response might result in a lead thru your unguarded king should he become declarer at three no trump.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠QJ7654 ♥AKJ62 ♦J7

East South West North

1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

2 ♠ Pass 5 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five spades. This is just to take out a little insurance. At worst you should go down just one and the enemy may make their bid. The one no trump bidder has at most one spade honor and, if it is the king, two diamond tricks should be the extent of your losses.

McGann Case Could Be Presented To Grand Jury

LUBBOCK — The District Attorney's office here said today that the results of the investigation of the Sept. 29 shoot-out death of George A. McGann, Big Spring, could be presented to the Lubbock County Grand Jury sometime this week if an analysis of some materials taken from the scene of the crime are returned from Department of Public Safety labs in Austin.

New Party Will Run Candidates

HOUSTON (AP) — The New Party, a liberal political group formed in Texas this year, will run candidates for the Houston City Council, one of its members said Sunday.

Benton Russell, who was a write-in candidate for the U.S. Senate in the Nov. 3 general election, said his group will field candidates for mayor and all city council posts.

Russell said that a meeting would be held before Dec. 1 to select candidates who are the "most qualified and stand the best chance of being elected."

Various groups, including Negro, Mexican American, youth, peace, environmental organizations and concerned persons will be invited to the meeting to suggest candidates, he said.

The New Party was formed here after U.S. Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough lost in the Democratic primary. Nationally, the party is headed by author Gore Vidal.

Ballistics reports have already been returned. Investigators say that they have a suspect in mind, but will not take any action until all the tests have been completed.

McGann, 34, and another man were found slain in a roadside Lubbock home. Ronnie T. Weedem, who identified himself as the owner of the house, called the sheriff's office shortly before 6 a.m. Sept. 29 to report the shooting.

An inquest was ordered by Justice of the Peace F. H. Bolen but then postponed indefinitely at the request of the sheriff's office.

Dallas police linked McGann with the "Dixie Mafia," a gang they blame for 19 deaths. McGann was convicted two years ago of conspiring to steal $65,000 worth of television sets and was in the process of an appeal when he was shot.

TOTAL OF $18,000
INCOME TAX-FREE

YOU GET $300 PER MONTH
WHILE CONFINED AT HOME

$300.00 a month beginning the first day you or any insured family member is injured while riding or driving in any automobile, truck or bus. If you are confined and disabled at home under medical care, you will be paid at the rate of $300.00 a month from the very first day of injury, up to twelve months.

A TOTAL OF $3,600 INCOME TAX-FREE

$7,500
DEATH BENEFIT

$7,500.00 for your beneficiaries in case of accidental loss of life for any insured family member while riding or driving in any automobile, truck or bus, income tax-free.

REGARDLESS OF ANY OTHER INSURANCE YOU MAY OWN

The hospital and home confinement benefits are all yours to use in any way you want, regardless of other insurance you may collect—including Medicare. The check is made out to you to spend as you wish—for groceries, rent, other expenses. And these benefits are tax-free, too!

HOW CAN WE MAKE THIS OFFER?

Careless drivers cause 90% of all accidents. We don't insure them. Because you have not had an accident in the past twelve months, you are a preferred risk. You get the savings! We sell the Safe Drivers Plan direct. We write thousands of policies at one time. No salesman calls on you.

CAN YOU AFFORD TO BE WITHOUT IT?

Not when just $1.00 enrolls you and your family for the first month under the Safe Drivers Plan! Thereafter, you pay just $3 per month for each family member (up to age 85) enrolled. No matter how careful you are, there is a careless driver waiting to claim you as his next accident victim.

There are nearly four fatalities or injuries caused by automobile accidents every minute in the United States. More than two million a year. You need this low cost protection.

HOW CLAIMS ARE PAID

1. Notify us promptly of automobile accident. No details necessary. 2. We send you an accident claim form. 3. Return form properly filled out, together with physician's report of injury. 4. Our check will be mailed to you promptly on approval of claim. Over 80 million dollars in claims have been paid by the established old line company.

PROTECT YOUR SAVINGS

Don't let your hard-earned savings be wiped out overnight! Hospital and doctor fees are skyrocketing, and predictions are they will continue to rise.

The money you've saved for retirement years... a new home... your children's education... that dream vacation... could disappear in a flash.

You need the protection of Safe Drivers Plan.

DALLAS (AP)—Marilee Munger, a graduate of Austin College at Sherman, was ordained Sunday as the first woman minister of the Northeast Texas Presbytery.

The ceremony was held at St. Mark's Presbyterian Church, where she is youth minister.

Miss Munger said she decided in 1965 while at the Sherman school that she would become a minister. She went next to Chicago Theological Seminary, where she finished last May.

"I had wanted to be a social worker," she said, "but one summer I was working for our presbytery with teen-agers in Chicago and I discovered there was much work I could do in the church."

A LOVELIER YOU Distinguish Between Fads When Dieting

By MARY SUE MILLER
A lovely writes: I read that fad diets are dangerous to health. But at what point dieting becomes faddy is not clear to me. What exactly is a fad diet?

The Answer: A diet is risky and labeled as faddy . . .

- When the daily calorie count falls below 1,200. (Unless you are under medical supervision.)
- When basic foods and nutrients are entirely eliminated. (Bread or all fats, for instance.)
- When any food is over-emphasized to a degree that throws nutrients off balance. (An intake of salad greens at the expense of red meat.)
- When so-called diet pills are part of the program. (Never without your doctor's approval.)
- When meals are skipped. (Black-coffee breakfasts.)
- When a pre-packaged liquid diet is the sole food taken. (Even though the product is nutrition-packed, a dieter's wellbeing depends on some solid nourishment.)
- When a regimen fails to re-educate the appetite through increased knowledge of nutrition. (How to eat less and get more out of it.)
- When physical activity plays no part in the program. (Exercise helps to keep the mind off food and the food off the hips.)

Obviously there's more at stake in dieting than a loss of weight. A reducing program must safeguard your health, energy and general good looks. What price a slim figure if you lose your sparkle in the bargain?

LEANER, LIGHTER AND LOVELIER

Here's a painless way for teens and adults to reduce! Just send for my leaflet, "Leaner, Lighter and Lovelier." It includes menus for delicious meals and snacks; calorie counter and nutrition chart; diet shortcuts; spot reducers. Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:
For the safety of my family, and my own peace of mind, I always carry an identification card. But here's the difference: When we start on a trip, I print a card with our names, whom to contact in case of emergency (at home and at our destination), the name of our hospitalization insurance company, and the number of our policy. I tape this card to the dashboard in the most conspicuous place I can find.

I keep a card of this kind with all information including the name of our family doctor, blood types, etc., taped to the dashboard, even for around-town jaunts.

Heaven forbid an accident, but, in case of one, I'd like anyone investigating it to have all the information they need to help my family. . . . Mrs. Ann Day

Next to asking God to place his hand on the steering wheel, that is the best "insurance" I can think of for the safety of a traveling family. Thanks, Luv. . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:
My ice cube trays make large cubes, but I like small ones. I used the plastic trays from a box of chocolates. Some are small and of different shapes and sizes.

The grandchildren like them, and it's a conversation starter at a party. . . . Mrs. L.A.R.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:
I wish I had an extra head (I've been accused of it), so I could put part of the thoughts I have in the spare head for storage.

At least I could have one for business life, and one for my social life — and I love them both. . . . Robert M.

Dear Heloise:
I just discovered a quick and easy, as well as economical, way to make "meat-sauce-burgers."

Use leftover meat loaf and hickory smoked barbecue sauce. Just crumble the meat loaf, add the sauce, heat and serve on hamburger buns. We call them Jiffy-Jo's. . . . Jan

How about Jiffy-Jan's? Hey gals, it sounds so good I'll bet your next meat loaf will be an oversized one so you can try one for "prize." . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Here's a hint for mothers of pre-teen daughters. My 10-year-old was restless

Folk Music Is Program

Guitar music, folk, popular and humorous songs were featured at the meeting of the 1930 Hyperion Club Saturday in the home of Mrs. G. R. Robinson, 2619 Crestline. Mrs. Marvin Miller served as cohostess.

Mrs. A. W. Atkinson introduced Sgt. Mike Edwards of Webb Air Force Base, who presented "Today's Music" with guitar and songs.

Mrs. Toots Mansfield presided at the business meeting, and welcomed Mrs. Charles F. Walker as a new member. Guests were Mrs. R. Earl Price and Mrs. Jack Robinson, the latter of Miami, Okla.

The next meeting will be Dec. 5 in the home of Mrs. H. G. Keaton, 10 Indian Ridge, with Mrs. Roland Schwarzenbach as cohostess.

Lady Bird Says Husband Given Weekly Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson says the former president receives White House briefings on world events every Friday and also talks by phone at his Texas ranch to Cabinet members and Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's national security adviser.

The former first lady said "President Nixon calls occasionally," and that Johnson has had one or two sessions with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Mrs. Johnson made her disclosures Sunday on the ABC radio-television program "Issues and Answers."

Queen Elizabeth Visits Memorial

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II, dressed in black and wearing a red poppy, led Britain in homage to the dead of World Wars I and II Sunday by placing a wreath at the Cenotaph Memorial.

The queen was accompanied by her husband, Prince Philip. Their two oldest children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, watched from the balcony of the Home Office, overlooking the Whitehall memorial.

and unhappy one day, with "nobody to play with." I asked if she would like to help me with pictures and recipes, cutting them out of newspapers and magazines to paste in a book.

My daughter suggested we use pinkish shears instead of plain scissors, and it made them so much more attractive. She was happy to have pleased me, as well as being helpful. . . . Mrs. V. Hinton

Dear Heloise:
I read the hint about sewing a snap on the ends of belts that are too long, with belt ends that flap around and look messy. It was a good one, until I made a new discovery.

For cloth belts with this same problem, I use an earring for pierced ears, the post or stud type. You can buy tiny pearl ones, or those with tiny daisies or ladybugs, or just a plain little gold bead.

This will even work on a leather belt if you want to punch a small hole in it. It is ever so neat, and can add to instead of distract from even heavy coffee cream will not sour.

Each time the thermos is used . . . rinse, put in a tablespoon of baking soda, and fill with hot water. You can see the greasy particles bubbling up. . . . Faithful Fan

Dear Heloise:
I love your column and try to save all your clippings because sometimes I don't have a chance to read and absorb every one of them.

I have about decided that I will fill a big doll with them — one that has a zippered back that I have already made for my granddaughter. Who knows when she grows up maybe she will find some answers to things I didn't get to use.

Besides, something like this could turn out to be a treasured keepsake. . . . Delicie Gatewood

Dear Heloise:
When I unintentionally tear off the tag on a tea bag and the staple and string all come with it, I've always been at a loss to know what to do with it other than throwing it away.

I discovered that if I pour the hot water into the cup and ease the bag in on the side just so the top of the bag is kept above the hot water, it will work beautifully. . . . Shirley Albert

Fall Theme Used For Breakfast

A Thanksgiving theme was carried out in program and decorations at the Coahoma Saturday at Coahoma United Methodist Church. Hostesses were Mrs. Gerald Oakes and Mrs. O. A. Madison. Mrs. Oakes recited a poem entitled "Little Things" by Pauline Stone, and patterned her Thanksgiving talk on the poem.

The invocation was given by Mrs. M. E. Tindol, and Mrs. D. S. Phillips presided. Visits to sick members were discussed and plans made for a Christmas party Dec. 5 with a gift exchange.

Tennis Is Grand, Lady-Like Sport

Still one of the greatest lady-like sports is tennis. Not only is it good exercise, it develops grace of movement.

To the beginner, a word of advice. Get good instruction and good equipment. Keep the hair and sun out of your eyes with an elastic headband or visor.

When the game is over apply a compress of good quality witch hazel to the forehead. It will soothe the places where the elastic has been and cool the brow at the same time.

Guests Visit In Forsan Homes

FORSAN (SC) — Guests of the Paul Kennedys have been Mrs. Kennedy's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neil, Tyler. The Neils also have been visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Al Long, Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Snelling have returned from a trip to Malone, Fla., to visit relatives. Susan Elrod and Rosemary Steigmiller, both of Dallas, were visitors with Susan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin Elrod.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Jones are visiting the Harley Grant family in LaFayette, La. Staying at the Joneses' home in Stanton for two weeks are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McCall.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Griffith were Mrs. Nell Foster and Mrs. Mona Tinsley.

Cancer Unit Will Meet Wednesday

The Howard County Unit of the American Cancer Society will meet at 12 noon Wednesday at Cosden Country Club. According to Mrs. Carl Marcum, reservations should be made by calling the club Tuesday.

both of Andrews. The Charles Lewis family, Lubbock, visited his mother, Mrs. E. S. Lewis.

The Royal Ambassadors and Girls Auxiliary of Forsan Baptist Church recently held a party featuring magic tricks by Steve Cowley, a skit by the group and stories by Mrs. J. E. Otey. Mrs. Otey is the GA leader, and the Rev. Don Bradley leads the RA.

To Clean Chopper

Use a well-lathered percolator brush to remove the food particles that get caught in the small openings and blades of your food chopper. After brushing, wash quickly in hot water and soap and rinse. Wipe the parts carefully with an absorbent towel before replacing.

People who cook with pride cook with GAS. Mrs. Cecil Burke does.

Some of the world's best cooks are found in the kitchens of America. But, good cooks don't just happen. They work to make themselves good, and they give themselves every cooking advantage possible . . . like gas range cooking.

Besides being the most economical way to cook, gas is also predictable. You always know just how much heat you're getting because you can see the flame. And, precise temperature control is what nine out of 10 professional chefs agree makes the difference between outstanding cooking and just plain cooking. Gas gives immediate response and constant temperature, so important in oven cooking.

So, give yourself every advantage and cook with gas. Remember, people who cook with pride cook with gas.

Here's one of Mrs. Burke's favorite recipes.

JEWELLED CHEESE PUFFS
Mrs. Cecil Burke, 2426 Walnut, Amarillo

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour	1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder	1 cup butter
2 tablespoons sugar	1 package (8-oz.) cream cheese
	2 eggs, beaten

Preserves or jelly

Sift together dry ingredients. Beat butter and cream cheese until fluffy. Add beaten eggs and beat well. Blend into sifted dry ingredients. Chill dough one hour. On lightly floured board, roll dough 1/4 inch thick. Cut individual rounds with floured biscuit cutter. Make an impression in center of each round with thumb. Fill imprint with preserves or jelly (about 1 teaspoon). Bake on an ungreased baking sheet in moderate gas oven (375 degrees) for 15 minutes or until delicately browned. Serve warm. Makes about 24.

Maltreatment Of Recruits Trial Called

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — S. Sgt. Rolando Sada, a veteran of nine years in the military, faced a court martial today on charges of maltreatment of seven recruits at the only Air Force basic training center.

Sada, 27, a San Antonio native, is one of two training instructors charged with maltreatment of recruits at Lackland Military Training Center. Scheduled for trial Nov. 30 on charges of maltreating 11 basic trainees is T. Sgt. Jack Wilson, a Kenova, W. Va., native.

The charges against Wilson include a case in which an airman claims he required surgery after a sergeant banged his head and another recruit's head together.

Officials said Sada was Wilson's assistant in a training flight at Lackland and all the recruits involved were members of the flight. The two sergeants have been relieved of duty as instructors pending outcome of the cases.

Nixon Quoted As Saying Viet War To End By '72

NEW YORK (AP) — Time magazine says President Nixon told his Cabinet and top advisers last week that the Vietnam war will be over, the country prosperous and the increase in crime reversed by 1972.

The magazine—noting in a statement that it could not publish a source for its quotations—quoted Nixon in its current issue as telling two top-level meetings:

"The war will be over and we will have peace with prosperity. As for the economy, it will be good in 1971, with a very strong upturn in 1972."

A White House source commented Sunday that Time apparently was presenting its own version of a Cabinet meeting held Thursday.

The magazine quoted the President as saying that crime will still be an issue in 1972, but that the Republicans "have a remarkable record on the law-and-order issue, with crime legislation, obscenity and narcotics bills—we now have the most effective program to deal with crime.

On current political trends, Nixon was quoted as terming last week's congressional election "ideologically . . . enormously successful."

Analysts who said it was not a Republican victory were writing "what their hearts, not their heads, tell them," he said, according to Time.

Vote Results Being Checked

No discrepancies had been found in the voting results of the boxes county commissioners checked this morning in Commissioners Court. The absentee box and boxes 1 and 2 had been checked shortly before 11 a.m.

Olen Puckett, architect for the library remodeling, met with commissioners this morning to discuss the mis-matched carpet squares in the new Howard County Library. Puckett told commissioners that nothing could be done to rectify the situation until the contractors could speak with a representative from the Ozite Carpet Co.

In other action, commissioners approved a contract for a copying machine in the district clerk's office, and approved the installation of a water softener in the courthouse. The old library building will be cleaned before it is turned over to the Howard County Historical Society in response to a request from the society.

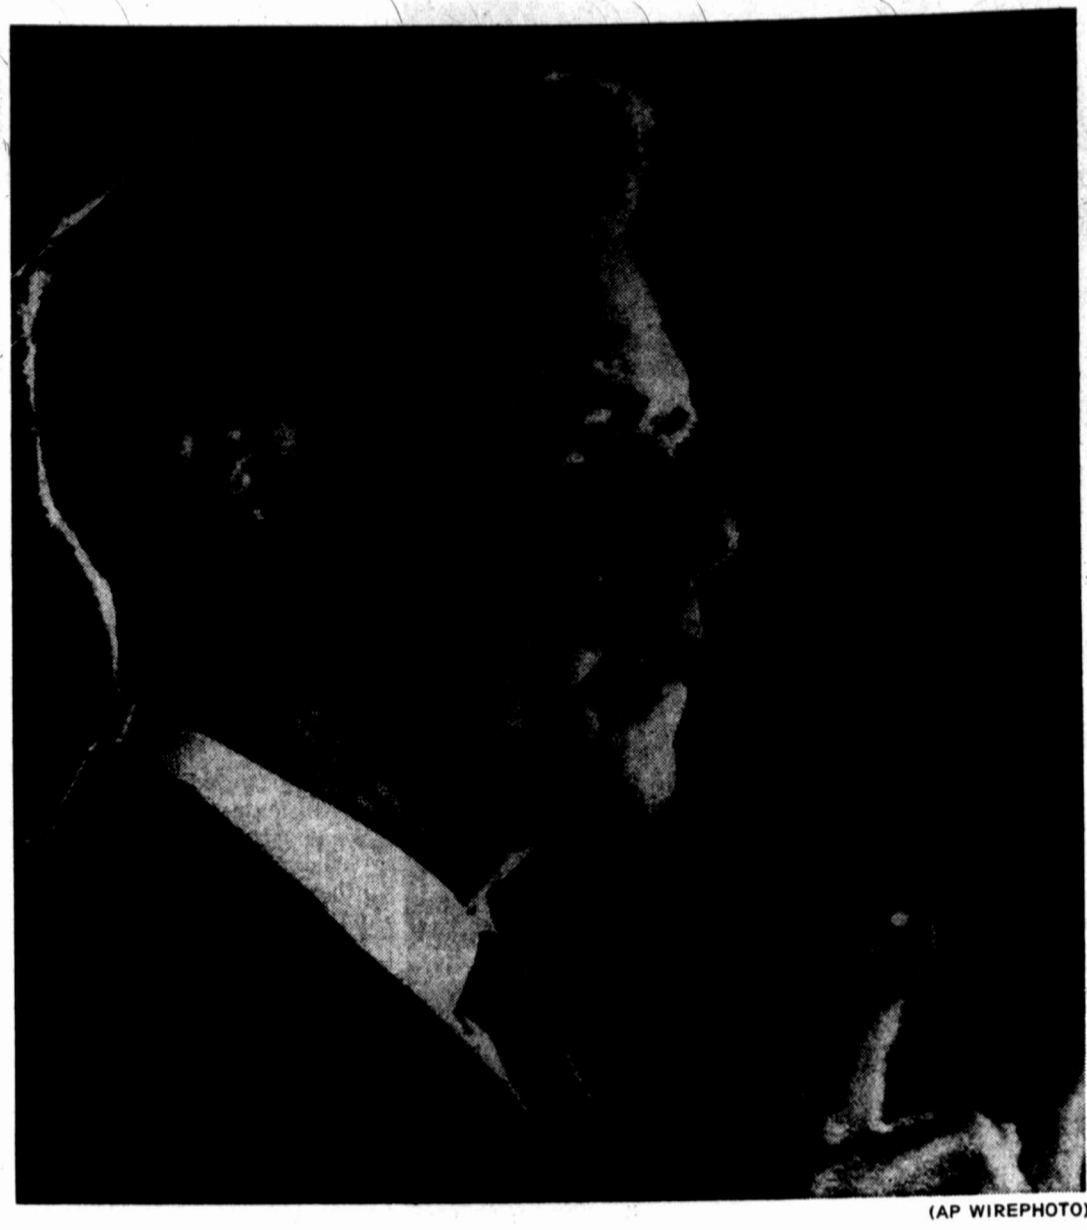

Museum Curator To Be Appointed

An organizational meeting, at which time the appointment of a museum curator is expected, will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday for the local museum association.

Mrs. Clyde Angel, temporary chairman, said the agenda includes election of permanent museum trustees, election of officers, report on charter and report on prospective curator.

The meeting will be in the directors room at First National Bank.

The museum association has been given use of the former county library building at Sixth and Scurry and has been allocated funds from the city and county budgets.

Charges Inaccuracies

Robert I. White, the president of Kent State University, charges today at a Washington news conference that a special grand jury disregarded evidence in its probe of the shooting deaths of four students on the campus last May. "In my opinion," he said, "the grand jury report was inaccurate, disregarded clear evidence and, if pursued in all its nuances, would eventually destroy not only Kent State but all major universities in America."

Television Chiefs Tackle Violent Yippie Freakout

LONDON (AP) — Television chiefs began a probe today into the violent Yippie freakout on the weekend David Frost showed that could have far-reaching effects on live telecasting in Britain.

Tough security guards at television studio doors were seen as one possible outcome. Another could be a decision to record for prebroadcast editing the few live interview shows remaining on British television.

Another issue is whether to give exposure to anarchists.

Harold Soref, Conservative member of Parliament, blamed the fracas, seen by an estimated 17 million viewers, on revolutionaries based in Algeria. He asked for an investigation by the Home Office, in charge of immigration, and said it was monstrous that "television should be allowed to display exhibitions of public depravity."

Frost, a top British television personality whose engaging style has won him wide following in the United States, was interviewing Jerry Rubin, a defendant at the Chicago conspiracy trial that resulted from riots during the 1968 Democratic Convention. Rubin said money should be abolished. In that case, Frost asked, why did Rubin try to obtain double the $200 fee usually paid to guests on the program?

"To buy bombs to blow you up," Rubin replied.

Culprits Wreck Stolen Auto

A car belonging to Gilbert Ramirez, 608 NW 3rd, was reportedly stolen early Sunday morning in the 500 block of Northwest Fourth.

Patrolman James Cadzow said he saw the car bump into a parked car on the parking lot of the Diamond Lounge, 700 Lamesa Drive, a few minutes later, and gave chase. The car stopped when it hit a fence in the 600 block of North Goliad, Cadzow reported, but the occupants fled on foot before he could arrest them.

Cycle Accident Injures Midlander

A Midland man is listed in good condition today after his injury Sunday in a motorcycle accident on IS 20 West. The accident occurred at 3:20 p.m. at the overpass near Stuckey's.

Cecil A. Treet, 904, N. Fort Worth, Midland, was taken to the Veterans Administration Hospital following the accident, and later transferred to the Webb AFB Hospital where he is undergoing treatment. Texas Highway Patrolman Kenneth Maxwell investigated the accident.

Pilots Clinic Is Offered Here

The Federal Aviation Administration will give a pilot's safety clinic Dec. 8-10 from 7 to 10 p.m. each day. All pilots within a 50-mile radius are eligible to attend. It will be in Webb AFB Aero Club Building 1107 on the west side of the base. Films and safety lectures on weather and navigation will be included. Otis Smith, safety inspector, Lubbock, will be instructor. The Aero Club is sponsoring the clinic.

Volunteer Firemen Meet

An important meeting of the Jonesboro volunteers of the Howard County Fire Department has been called for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Don Ritchie, one of the directors, said that the new truck—the former city-county truck disabled in an accident—has been repaired. Members of the department are asked to attend for the familiarization session with the new equipment.

The truck, among other things, has a 1,500-gallon tank to enable it to effectively fight fires and hold on until backup help can come.

Donald McKinney is the fire chief, Carl Hollingsworth is assistant chief, and Cecil Hamilton is secretary. The meeting will be at the fire station on Jonesboro Road near Birdwell Lane.

One Injured In Shooting Incident

A shooting incident outside the Gomez Ballroom, 500 block of Northwest Fourth, was reported to police shortly after midnight Saturday in which a man received a gunshot wound in the lower right portion of his jaw.

The man was reported to be in satisfactory condition at noon today in Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital.

Police arriving at the scene arrested a man for possession of a prohibited weapon, but he has not been implicated in the shooting.

A third man was arrested 15 minutes later on charges of aggravated assault with intent to murder. A detective said this morning that formal charges will probably be filed Tuesday against the two men.

Money Missing, Similar Incidents

Mrs. Morris L. Clanton reported to police that $40 had been stolen from her wallet Saturday afternoon while she was working at the Discount Car Center, 801 E. 4th.

She said a Negro man and woman, who gave their names as "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" came to the car lot, and while she and Mr. Smith were looking at cars on the lot, Mrs. Smith remained in the office. Mrs. Clanton said that she discovered the money was missing after the two had left.

A similar incident occurred Wednesday, when a man reportedly entered Ward's Cleaners, and left after Mrs. Ward went to the back of the shop to check on some cleaning. She returned and discovered that her billfold was missing. No connection between the two cases has been established by police investigators.

Police Hunt Hit-Run Driver

City police are looking for the driver of a black and white 1957 model Chevrolet which they say hit and injured two children Sunday evening and then fled the scene. The auto reportedly has primer spots on the hood.

The two, Danny Rios, 6, and Mary Sue Rios, 8, were treated and released from Medical Arts Hospital, shortly after the accident on West Seventh between Bell and Abrams. The accident was reported to police at 6:01 p.m.

They are the children of Mrs. Mary Rios, 507 Abrams.

Fire Destroys Rural Home

Fire destroyed a wooden frame home Sunday shortly after noon. The home, belonging to W. L. Huddleston, was located one mile south of Big Spring and approximately 7 to 9 miles out the Andrews Hwy. The house and all its contents were lost.

According to Sheriff A. N. Standard, Huddleston returned from church to find his home ablaze. Huddleston then drove into Big Spring to report the fire.

The Jonesboro Fire Department was notified, but the structure was lost. Huddleston lived alone in the rural home.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a recently divorced man, in my early fifties. I am considered good looking, still trim and vigorous, dress well and have done very well financially, so, I'm not.

Before the ink was dry on my divorce papers, I started getting calls from friends, "Boy, have I got a girl for you?"

Don't misunderstand, Abby, I enjoy the company of the opposite sex, but I like to select my own. When I'm invited to dinner, I'm asked to pick up some lady who will be my "date" for the evening, then I have to take her home. Or else, I am paired up with somebody's middle-aged sister-in-law, who could haunt a house.

Question: When I'm invited out, would it be proper for me to say, "I am bringing my own lady?"

NOBODY'S FOOL IN L.A. DEAR ABBY: When invited to dinner, always insist upon bringing your own lady, and you'll soon find out if you're wanted for yourself or not.

DEAR ABBY: I had to laugh at the man who wrote in about his wife always counting calories. I wish his wife and mine could get together and reach a happy medium.

I am married to a woman who must have put on 80 pounds since I married her seven years ago. Needless to say I am ashamed to be seen with her. The rest of us eat sensibly, but my wife shoves in the bread, potatoes and sweets like there is no tomorrow. I've talked to her and so have her friends and members of my family and hers, too, but it does no good. At age 26 I am ready to take my love-making elsewhere because my wife is so repulsive.

Why do I stay? Because I love my kids and I suppose I still love the girl under all that blubber.

FATTY'S HUSBAND DEAR HUSBAND: Her first move should be in the direction of a doctor. She eats because she's unhappy, and one of the reasons she's unhappy is because she's fat. If you love her, don't quit talking to her!

DEAR ABBY: I have been a "domestic" for many years and I never felt put down because I was called "William." I have worked for people who were young enough to be my children, and I never expected them to call me "mister" to show "respect" for me or my age. The title doesn't give the job dignity nor the person respect. It is the person who gives the job dignity.

I think a lot of people are looking for something to be mad about these days. I would rather have my employer shake my hand or pat me on the shoulder and call me "William," than stand two feet away from me and call me "Mr. Adams." I know I am respected and I have no complaints about what I'm called.

WILLIAM IN ATLANTA DEAR ABBY: In reply to "MINNESOTA GIRL," relative to hitch hiking, I wish to make the following comments:

I am now in the process of investigating a case in which a 19-year-old girl also thought that hitching a ride with a stranger was cheaper and quicker than taking a bus. She was picked up by a "nice guy" who made advances to her.

Costly Fire Ruins Cotton

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A $25,000 fire at the Westbrook Gin Sunday night destroyed from 200 to 300 bales of cotton.

Colorado City and Westbrook volunteer firemen fought the costly fire in the gin yard about nine miles west of Colorado City Sunday afternoon and evening. Westbrook firemen were at the scene until about 4 a.m. today allowing the cotton to burn itself out.

Unburned bales at the gin yard were removed from the fire area during the night. Choppy Rees, gin manager, said. The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Former Texas Secretary of State Roy Barrera has been elected to the board of directors of the Texas State Bank here. A former assistant Bexar County district attorney, Barrera is a member of a San Antonio law firm.

Judge Appoints Commissioner

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell County Judge Elmer Martin has appointed Paul Boyd Hunter, local cleaning shop owner and mayor pro tem, as county commissioner to fill the Precinct 3 vacancy left by the Oct. 28 death of Jake Northcutt. Hunter will submit his resignation as mayor pro tem at this evening's meeting of the city commission.

The appointment becomes effective Nov. 16 and will expire on Dec. 31, 1972. Judge Martin said. Hunter is a Mitchell County native, a World War II veteran, and has been active in the Chamber of Commerce, the Jaycees and other civic organizations.

Cash For Transportation Under Scrutiny In Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—State highway officials meeting here this week will be talking about who is going to be spending federal transportation funds in the 1970s.

Some 2,500 highway officials, members of the American Association of State Highway Officials (AASHO) are holding their 56th annual meeting here through Friday.

Sunday, they elected W. J. Burmeister, Wisconsin state highway engineer, as their new president.

The federal Highway Trust Fund, established in 1956, set up funds to pay the major share of cost for the federal interstate system. The funds go to the states on a population-area-needs basis.

DIRECT TAXES

The Highway Trust Fund gets its money from direct taxes levied on users of highways. Among the taxes is the 4-cents-a-gallon federal tax on gasoline. All money collected from these taxes goes directly into the trust fund and can be used only for building highways.

With the interstate highway system now over two-thirds completed and the Highway Trust Fund due to expire in 1972, highway builders are pushing for an extension of the fund.

Increasingly in recent years the U.S. Department of Transportation has been moving toward a new emphasis on moving people rather than vehicles. Transportation Secretary John

A. Volpe said recently that new efforts will be made to "encourage the greatest use of buses in preference to individual automobiles."

PEAK DEMANDS

And federal Highway Administrator F. C. Turner said, "It will not be financially possible—and even if it were, certainly not socially desirable—to provide all the highway facilities that would be needed in order to satisfy the peak period demands, especially in our larger urban areas, for all the people who want to drive automobiles."

The AASHO has said in pre-convention news releases that secondary state and federal highways now need the kind of modernization that was given to the interstate system by the federal trust fund. They point out that federal funds provide much of the money for building these roads. Members say privately that if road building funds are not placed in a trust fund, they will see the federal transportation dollar drift away from highway building and toward mass transit systems.

Lamm's New Job

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — William Lamm has been named vice president of the international division of Friedrich Refrigerators, Inc.

Lamm had been vice president of engineering.

Officials said the new position was recently created because of Friedrich's activity in foreign countries and plans for expansion of its foreign market.

THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER? NIXON

Press Trying To Stir Up Lyndon-Connally Fight

By LADY BIRD JOHNSON
Part Fourteen

SUNDAY, March 13, 1966

The White House

One thing about our life, you never can tell who you'll find in Lyndon's bedroom. I walked in this morning for coffee — Lyndon had made a surprise visit the night before to the Gridiron Dinner — and who should be sitting there but Richard Nixon! He had come down for the dinner. He was looking relaxed and affable and well-tailored. Lyndon was stretched out in his pajamas, drinking tea, and they were apparently enjoying their visit.

Lyndon mentioned three names that some of his best people thought were the three outstanding military men in the country, capable of leading our forces anywhere — Westmoreland, Goodpastor, and Abrams. Everything he has to say of Westmoreland is filled with respect and pride.

NOTHING PERSONAL

Mostly they talked about the international situation, especially Vietnam, where Mr. Nixon is, generally, in strong support of Lyndon. He said that opponents say we are risking World War III in Vietnam, that we are risking war with China in Vietnam, but that is not so, we are avoiding a big war. He said that the Chinese are cautious, and the Communists are cautious. If we are going to have any discussion with China, it should come now, rather than later, three or four years from now.

Mr. Nixon looked prosperous, vital, at home in the world, and it sounded as if Pat were enjoying life too. I told him I hoped she would come to the Senate Ladies Luncheon some time. On leaving, he said, "Mr. President, you know this is campaign year and I'll be getting out, speaking up for the Republicans. They'll need all the voices they can get. But there won't be anything personal about you in what I say about the Democratic Administration."

SUNDAY, July 17

This was a mild, soft, early evening, the sort that is an antidote for the struggles of the week for Lyndon. And for me it was especially precious because we were all four together. And those days are numbered. Today's paper had a story of Luci's bridesmaids in pink, including a sketch, and a negative story about Lynda Bird's return: "Eludes Press at Airport."

It's an old story by now and I should know it well. There's a sort of conspiracy by the press, by one's friends, by the public, I'm sure. For years they pitted Lyndon against Speaker Rayburn but that never worked. Now increasingly, as John Connally is reaching a summit of prominence, they are trying to stir up a fight between him and Lyndon. Sometimes it's abrasive, but I believe it will never produce anything between those two. And now in a way, it's daughter against daughter. Luci has certain qualms with that make her wonderful with the press and Lynda has characteristics that give her a bad time with them. The moral is, we must be careful. I believe we are too strong and too close for that.

SATURDAY, August 6

Luci's wedding day dawned clear and bright and beautiful — all we could wish. What I remember of the morning was a montage. I put on my white hostess robe that Lyndon had bought me in Paris 10 years ago and went in to see Luci. She was eating breakfast while Jean Louis combed her hair.

TIDE OF LOVE

A vintage screen rescued from the dusty storehouse had been stretched across the East Hall, concealing what had become a beauty parlor for the day. There were tables, mirrors, chairs, hair dryers, and chattering bridesmaids in robes with their hair being teased into high hairdos, and Jean Louis running in and out. I walked down the aisle as though in a play, thinking not such deep thoughts as "This is the last moment she belongs to us alone," but looking at the pageantry of the altar and the mosaic of Christ above it, swept along on the tide of music from the organ, caressing with my eyes the white bouquets of flowers that marked the ends of pews and the topiary trees with white roses and white carnations. (One of the minor crises was to discover that Luci was allergic to carnations, so we had to switch to roses near the altar.)

I felt a warm tide of love as I walked down the aisle. So many were there who had meant so much in Luci's life from the moment she entered the world! Our missal had been marked "stand," "sit," "kneel" — one of the thousand and one logistic triumphs for Bess, who knew that we, sitting in the front row, would have difficulty following the ritual. And then there came the fate-ful moment when I saw Lynda at her kneeler put her head down completely. From then I watched only Lynda. I turned the pages of the missal to see how much longer the ceremony lasted. We were on page 19 — the Lord's Prayer. I prayed for it to be over soon.

NEXT: "A miasma of trouble hangs over everything."

our lives — the signing of the Education Bill at the little one-room schoolhouse down the road. We converged on the place about 4 o'clock — around three hundred people — students, classmates, a few passing tourists, a sizable press. Lyndon, Lynda Bird, Miss Kate Dea-drich Loney, Lyndon's teacher in the "primer" more than fifty years ago, and I. We had brought up a picnic table and benches from the Ranch, Lyndon sat down at the table facing the TV cameras. Miss Kate, dignified and very sweet, sat down beside Lyndon. He made a short speech about what education had meant to him, about the bill, giving much credit to the Congress, about how much he wanted to further education through the entire warp and woof of our nation. Then he signed the bill and gave the pen, the only one, to Miss Kate. A brief ceremony, but a moment to remember. Then we set off to the lake in the helicopter to catch every minute of the sun. Lynda said, as I have often said wryly, that we rush madly to rest, that we are always in a moving vehicle, and so we are. But what nicer moving vehicle than the boat going slowly, the Llano River turning scarlet with sunset and Pack Saddle Mountain silhouetted sharply against the sky, and a luminous three-quarter moon when we looked down toward the Colorado! As we lay on the deck of the boat, the sweet fragrance of the blue-bonnets — buffalo clover is what they really are — was heavy in the air. Lyndon said, as he had yesterday, "This is what I call heaven."

EARL OF CROMER

New British Ambassador To America

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Conservative government has named as its ambassador to Washington an outspoken banker who says, "It will be important to explain to the Americans why we must move closer to Europe."

The government announced today that the 52-year-old Earl of Cromer, head of the great 19th century banking family of Baring, will replace journalist-politician John Freeman in Britain's No. 1 diplomatic post.

Cromer was British economic minister in Washington from 1959 to 1961 and for the next five years was governor of the Bank of England, one of the nation's most influential financial positions. His plain speaking in that post was at times a thorn to both the Conservatives who appointed him and the Laborites who inherited him in 1964. But his prestige in the international banking world was considered a major factor in the rescue of the pound early in the Laborite term.

The business daily added that this would be difficult as "Mr. Nixon has close personal relationships with few people."

'But This Week We Tasted The Heady Wine Of Success'

SATURDAY, April 10, 1965

LBJ Ranch

We arrived at the Ranch last night about 10:45 on the Jetstar. On the way down Lyndon talked of the harvest of legislation. He said that never has there been such a hundred days. And what a week this has been! Thursday, the House passed medicare, 313 to 115; the committee reported out the Civil Rights Bill, quicker and stronger than ever expected; and then the success of the Education Bill. This was a week to put a golden circle around, so let us remember it, because there will be many ringed in black; but this week we tasted the heady wine of success.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Open your hearts to one another as Christ has opened his heart to you, and God will be glorified. (Romans 15:7, Phillips translation)

PRAYER: Our loving heavenly Father, help us to be drawn closer to Thee, so that we may reflect through our lives Thine understanding hearts to serve Thee through love to our neighbor, near or far. In Jesus' name. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Shallow Cries Of Conspiracy

Some viewers of President Nixon's paid political telecast last Monday night were outraged by the poor soundtrack. Thousands complained to the three major networks and many charged "sabotage."

The complaints went to the wrong place.

The Republican National Committee provided the black and white tape of the President's speech at Phoenix, Ariz., to the networks. All three networks warned the GOP about the poor sound quality.

Despite the warnings, the committee went ahead with the broadcast. The White House concurred in the decision. A presidential spokesman said "we knew the audio was not of studio quality" but added the response to the Phoenix speech was so favorable that all the nation should see it the night before elections.

The crowd noise, hums and occasion loss of Mr. Nixon's voice punched the "conspiracy" button of some viewers. Those who charged the networks with sabotage were following the path broken by Vice President Agnew. For months, he has charged the news media — and especially the TV networks — with all sorts of foul deeds, including analysis of presidential speeches. President Nixon obviously has not discouraged these attacks. Thus the unthinking cries of sabotage over the lousy soundtrack.

The decision to use a poor tape was a bad one, made on a political basis. The Democrats, in contrast, presented Sen. Edmund Muskie in a full-color, studio-produced speech with excellent sound.

To protect themselves in the future, the networks should either reject technically poor material or broadcast warnings before and after showing it. Only CBS warned viewers about the Nixon tape.

Rapid Recovery

Three psychiatrists and a superior court judge owe apologies to their respective professions and to the people of Los Angeles County. All apparently were easily hoodwinked by Charles "Tex" Watson, one of the accused in the Sharon Tate murders.

By refusing to eat, losing weight, and keeping his mouth shut, Watson convinced the court-appointed psychiatrists that he was "virtually vegetative . . . reverting to a fetal state . . . which could be rapidly fatal."

The psychiatrists told Superior Court Judge George M. Dell that Watson was in a severe psychotic depression and/or a catatonic-type schizophrenic reaction. Watson was sent to a mental institution.

Shortly he began taking liquid foods and within three days was eating huge meals. Either he fooled an astounding recovery or he fooled the psychiatrists.

David Lawrence President Gains Senate Strength

WASHINGTON — President Nixon didn't attain his objective — a Republican majority in both houses of Congress — but he emerges from the election with more real support in the Senate than he had before.

If, for instance, the President were to veto an important bill involving a critical matter of foreign policy, the opposition party doesn't have enough votes to get a two-thirds majority in the Senate to override the veto.

THE ADMINISTRATION actually gained a few seats in the Senate and will be in a stronger position in that body than it was before the election. Even the loss of possibly ten Republican seats in the House will not make much difference, as the Democrats still do not number the necessary two-thirds.

So with the exercise of the veto, the President can maintain his independence and be in a somewhat better position than he was with the Congress that has been in session nearly all of the first two years of his administration.

THE RESULTS indicate clearly that gubernatorial contests and local issues were dominant in many states. It is significant that neither the Republican nor Democratic party won the Senate race in New York State. A third-party candidate on the "conservative" ticket — James L. Buckley — was the victor in the Senate contest. Likewise, in Virginia, Harry F. Byrd, Jr. — a former Democrat running as an "independent" — was triumphant.

REPUBLICAN SENATORS lost in California, Illinois and New York, but Republicans picked up seats in Connecticut, Maryland, Ohio and Tennessee. To these must be added the conservative and the independent elected in New York and Virginia, respectively, since they are expected to support the President on most policies.

The fact remains, however, that the administration has gained a few votes in the Senate — or, to put in another way, the Democratic majority will be reduced somewhat and its power to override a veto will be diminished. Actually, a majority to endorse presidential proposals — by a coalition of Democratic and Republican senators — on many issues seems to be assured.

ON THE WHOLE, therefore, while the outcome of the election hasn't provided Mr. Nixon and his party with the gains he desired, the administration can proceed on the assumption that it will often have ample support in the Senate as well as in the House because of the Republican vote and the aid that can be received from the conservative Democrats in the South and elsewhere.

The Nixon administration was lucky to come out with some additions in the Senate. In an election at a time when the electorate is discontented about economic conditions, voters naturally direct their protest against the party in power. Also, it traditionally loses seats in Congress at mid-term.

A CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION IS difficult one to analyze because there are so many districts involved and numerous local issues that tend to blur party labels in different states. In a number of instances, there were no real contests and incumbents won easily. Lots of new candidates appeared. Many of them are wealthy men, and the campaign was indeed one in which the total expenditures were unusually large.

What Others Say

In the strike against General Motors, the United Auto Workers has received commitments for a $25 million line of credit from the Teamsters, $10 million from the United Steelworkers and $3 million from the United Rubber Workers.

Organized labor, of course, applauds this sort of cooperation. Meanwhile, Northwest Orient Airlines, which has been struck by the Brotherhood of Railway & Airline Clerks for the past five months, has been receiving payments under a mutual aid agreement with other airlines.

Organized labor, of course, deplors this sort of cooperation.

Most citizens probably recognize that solidarity shouldn't be the exclusive privilege of either unions or management.

Inflation, Unemployment Still With Us

NEW YORK (AP) — In the wake of the recent elections, the controversy over unemployment and inflation is not likely to abate like so many other issues that were churned to the surface for the sake of argument.

Now stripped of value, the remnants of these many minor controversies have been dumped like garbage from a scow, but inflation and unemployment, which are really one and the same, hang by a thin line to the ship of state.

If any greater problem faces the nation, the consensus of economists suggests, it is not in the economic sphere, and the dialogue between now and 1972 should thus be among the most colorful in recent social history.

The setting is this: The United States, as with other industrial nations, is committed to a policy of maximum output and employment consistent with wage and price stability.

The Democrats tried to fulfill this commitment, which results from the Employment Act of 1946, and for a time seemed to succeed early in the 1960s. But by 1968, having become enveloped by inflation, they conceded defeat.

Unemployment was pushed down below 4 per cent, but as it continued downward the rate of inflation grew. The "tradeoff" was at work, meaning that at some point a falling jobless rate was simply exchanged for inflation.

The Republicans now have to deal with the issue. And while the inflation rate is now between 4 and 5 per cent, and the unemployment rate between 5 and 6 per cent, they are promising a substantial reduction by 1972.

Can they do it? Carl Madden, chief economist of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, is unusually frank in his assessment. In remarks addressed to a meeting of the National Electric Manufacturers Association, he said:

"The specter of inflation haunts not only the United States economy but most European countries, where prices are now rising by at least 5 per cent annually."

"From the standpoint of political policy, the cause is clear. No one has yet found out how to combine full employment and price stability in a mature industrial economy for any appreciable period of time."

In other words, Madden suggests, we are kidding ourselves. The combination of full employment, which for practical purposes is somewhere around 3.8 per cent joblessness, and wage-price stability, is little more than a dream.

"Until public opinion can be persuaded to abandon the mythology of stable full employment which now dominates political discussion," he said, "realism in examining the tradeoff between employment and inflation is difficult."

The American public, and certainly the two major political parties, may however, be unwilling to accept this thought. "It is hard to see in our recent surge of rhetorical overkill preceding the elections," Madden said, "much evidence of growing political candor."

Don't Throw Anything Away

By BOB HARING
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Never throw anything away.

That may have been sound advice throughout history, but it ought to be commandment today.

Junk, aged long enough, becomes valuable.

Even the desk where you carved your initials in third grade will probably be worth twice its original value in time, whether you become president or not.

If old light bulbs and used spark plugs retain dollar appeal, almost anything is worth money.

New York City is a salvager's paradise. Old buildings falling to the wrecker's ball to make way for new buildings offer the adventurous prospector a mother lode.

Doorknobs, old apartment mail boxes, ironwork railings, the very bricks of the fallen walls may be valueless on New York City streets.

But transported to suburbia, they are the instant antiquity of some modern decorating prizes.

Surely an international cartel should be organized to transport New York's junk to the points where it acquires value. And vice versa.

Old milk cans are no prized items in southwest Missouri's hills, where people still use them. And used flat irons hold little attraction for the hill housewife who can still buy them new at a discount store — and clearly remembers her mother using one.

But Manhattanites freshly fled to greener suburbs will part with cash for both those items, as well as such oddments as real cowbells, old carpenter tools, even glass-topped "Mason jars" of the sort that boys broke 30 years ago by the dozen with slingshots and b-b guns.

The array of roadside antique stops expands yearly. "Flea markets" stretch from New York's asphalt parking lots west, offering a network for junk to exchange its way around the nation.

And it is true that age alone creates value. No one collects Barbie dolls yet but the man who in 50 years has the last six in the world may claim something of value.

Throughout history it has been true that today's modern is tomorrow's antique.

Perhaps the lesson for parents is: If you would leave your children a real legacy, save their toys so that when they retire they will boast an instant collection of rare (and priceless) antique toys.

Around The Rim

Agony Of Examinations

One thing and another: Harping back to that time of life when I was a schoolboy, exam periods were looked upon as hellish things — something to survive and be endured.

I could study for a test and know the subject by heart but there was always the fear that my mind would be a blank on exam day and I would be able to remember nothing about the subject I had covered.

I'm still not convinced final exams are necessary. They may even do more harm than good. I know they shake up a lot of people around our scatter and I'm sure they do in other homes.

A TEACHER has a child for nine months, during which time the instructor has had ample time to observe whether the student has been receptive to the course. Then the student has to prove himself all over again in a written examination.

In Japan, the exam period is a time of prayer as well as cramming. Over there, tests have been described as a "kind of initiation rite that determines whether a young person is fit to be a 'salary man,' since a university degree is a must for a career in the bureaucracy or in one of the huge business and training organizations that offer lifetime employment.

FROM AN early age, Japanese children put in long hours of home work. In the month or so before examinations, they lead a hermit-like existence, isolated from all distracting influences. In the last week of intensive cramming, they may even have their meals brought to them.

I've known students in this country who bordered on nervous breakdowns, so hard they drove themselves before tackling their exams; one or two considered suicide rather than try and meet the challenge.

Perhaps a student should be judged more for the manner in which he is going to take his place in society rather than what he scores in a pop test.

ACTRESS SHIRLEY MacLaine suggests that girls who want to get married should proceed through seven "F" steps to win the battle. They are:

1. Find him;
2. Fascinate him;
3. Flatter him;
4. Feed him;
5. Fuss over him;
6. Fondle him;
7. Frame him.

If all this fails, says Shirley, "forget him."

Most girls are taught from the cradle how to set The Tender Trap.

I KNOW A chap who tired of receiving all those letters from self-styled charities, addressed to "Box-holder" or "Occupant," asking for handouts for all kinds of money-raising schemes.

He finally wrote out a $1,000 check to one of them and signed it "Occupant."

Welfare Costs

Proposes Complete Federal Funding

AUSTIN (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes has proposed that the federal government assume all the costs of the public welfare program, saying this would free hard-to-get state revenue for other vital purposes.

He addressed the annual meeting Friday of the Texas Research League, a non-profit organization of businessmen and industrialists who sponsor studies of state and local government programs.

During the current two-year fiscal period, the state is paying $260 million for welfare, including Medicaid. The welfare department's budget request for 1971-73 would add $300 million more.

BARNES SAID assumption of welfare costs would be an acceptable alternative to federal revenue sharing, which has been blocked by chairman Wilbur Mills of the U.S. House Ways and Means Committee.

"It seems logical that the federal government, determining as it does who is to qualify for welfare benefits, should provide the financial support for such benefits," Barnes told the businessmen and industrialists who make up the league.

IF CONGRESS assumed full responsibility for welfare costs, Barnes said, there would be a chance of averting major new state taxes in 1973.

Later he told reporters that U.S. Sens. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, and Birch Bayh, D-Ind., had told him they favor federal assumption of all welfare costs, and that the Nixon Administration had not taken a stand against it.

BARNES ALSO said state and local tax revenues would "be squeezed out to a harmful degree" unless the current recession ends soon.

"The economic side effects of the squeeze on tax revenues will be the increasing difficulty of government to meet its responsibilities without higher tax rates," he said.

Next year's legislature "will be pretty tight-fisted on new spending programs which might be subject to postponement," Barnes said.

THE LEAGUE'S research director, Dr. Glenn Ivy, said the legislature "will have to solve the biggest budget crisis this state has ever faced."

State agencies have proposed spending nearly $9 billion in the two-year fiscal period beginning Sept. 1, 1971, he said, compared with the current $6 billion budget.

THE HEADS of the prison system, state health department and mental health and reformation department told the league they expected their agencies' costs to continue to rise.

Newly elected league officers are E. Bruce Street, Graham, independent oil producer, chairman; Charles F. Jones, Houston, vice chairman of the board of Humble Oil & Refining Co., vice chairman; and Grogran Lord, Georgetown, board chairman of Tele-Com Corp., re-elected treasurer.

Reagan Ready To Take On Nixon

WASHINGTON — Forget for a moment the significance in other areas of last Tuesday's elections. The big story, as transmitted to this column, by one of California Gov. Ronald Reagan's top aides, is that the former movie-star-turned-vote-getter "absolutely" will challenge Richard Nixon for the 1972 Republican nomination for President.

AS REPORTED BY THIS AIDE, Reagan never accepted the thesis that Nixon was a shoo-in for the '72 nomination. The grounds for the governor's position was that Nixon barely won a squeaker over Hubert Humphrey in 1968 and thus lacked a "personality base." At any rate, the word is that even before the Tuesday voting Reagan had decided to make the White House race two years hence.

Reagan's entry in the presidential sweepstakes makes for an interesting situation. With Nixon and Reagan vying for the relatively conservative delegates, it is a good bet that New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who easily won an unprecedented fourth term, will be in there wooing the liberals and moderates among the GOP.

INTO SUCH a three-man contest, Reagan and Rockefeller would bring the Republican support of the biggest and second biggest state in the country. Each could reasonably feel that this would give him a head start.

If it matters, Nixon would be the youngest candidate. He'll be 59 in January, 1972. Reagan will be 61, and Rockefeller will be 64. It probably doesn't matter in this age of the vigorous over-sixties.

WHAT ALL this means for Richard Nixon is that during the next two years he must deliver on two national issues — inflation and the Vietnam war. He must deliver yesterday, as it were, on inflation. On the war issue, he must have all but a token number of American troops out of Indochina by Convention time, 1972.

It is true, of course, that the election results produced a victory of sorts for the Nixon administration. That is to say, the Republicans avoided the heavy losses that have been the traditional lot of the party in power in off-year voting. Nixon gained some GOP seats in the Senate, plus Conservative James Buckley in New York and Independent Harry Byrd Jr., in Virginia, both of whom will vote Republican on major issues.

BUT THIS "victory" was tarnished by the fact that Nixon and Vice President Agnew staged such a massive campaign in behalf of their candidates. The President would look much better if he hadn't tried so hard.

Moreover, besides holding control of Congress, the Democrats took control from the Republicans of a majority of the governorships. Considering that before last Tuesday, the GOP held 32 State houses to 18 for the Democrats, this was a crushing Republican defeat. And it is the governors who wield the local power that decides what kind of delegates will be dispatched to presidential nominating conventions.

IT ALL ADDS up to a rugged two years for Richard Nixon. His one big asset is his tight hold on the law-and-order issue, emphasized by his guidance through Congress of tough law enforcement legislation, and by the scramble on the part of such Democratic candidates as Adlai Stevenson, 3rd, of Illinois, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, and Teddy Kennedy of Massachusetts, to get on the law-and-order bandwagon.

Plastic Project

ELGIN, Ill. (AP) — Robert W. Layer, Jr., an architect who is active in environmental activities in the Fox Valley area, is experimenting with ground plastic as an ingredient in concrete.

Involved in a research project sponsored by the Society of the Plastics Industry, Layer mixed 150 pounds of ground polyethylene scrap plastics as an experiment.

The scrap was used as partial replacement for sand. Tests showed the plastic-concrete mix was 10 to 15 per cent lighter in weight. Although still when poured, the material was still workable with a trowel. And subject to vibrations from machinery and heavy equipment, it did not crack.

Layer said the mixture is known as "plascrete" and will remain in the public domain because he and his fellow scientists do not plan to seek a patent on the substance.

RECORD BOOT, THEN BOOST — New Orleans Saints kicker Tom Dempsey (19) who is handicapped by a missing hand and part of a foot, boots a record 63-yard field goal (right photo) and then gets a boost by teammates as the Saints beat Detroit 19-17 in New Orleans Sunday. The kick by Dempsey which came in the last 2 seconds of the game beat the old mark of 56 yards which was set in 1953 by Bert Rechichar of the Baltimore Colts.

Dempsey Sets New Record For Goal

By The Associated Press
Tom Dempsey had an angel on his shoulder and some magic in his foot.
"We got beaten by a miracle, what else can you say?" was all Detroit Coach Joe Schmidt could say after Dempsey's record 63-yard field goal gave New Orleans a 19-17 National Football League upset Sunday.
The kick on the last play of the game appeared to be heaven-sent for the underdog Saints, who supposedly hadn't a prayer of winning.
The Saints' bull-strong booter had some faith he could make the distance, which bettered the 1956 mark of 56 yards by Baltimore's Bert Rechichar.
"I knew I could kick the ball that far, but whether or not I could kick it straight, kept running through my mind," Dempsey said. "I knew I had to hit the ball awfully hard and would need a little extra time. But the Lions held up perfectly and I got a perfect snap (from Joe Scarpati)."

Bengals bested Buffalo 43-14; George Blanda's 32-yarder helped Oakland trim Cleveland 23-20; Fred Cox sailed four field goals in Minnesota's 19-10 success over Washington; Mike Mercer's 38-yard boot was the difference in San Diego's 24-21 victory over Denver and Pete Coglak ripped three as the New York Giants upset Dallas 23-20.
Atlanta and Los Angeles played to a 10-10 tie; Philadelphia won its first game since Nov. 23, 1969, by beating Miami 24-17; San Francisco routed Chicago 37-16; Kansas City slugged Houston 24-9; St. Louis walloped Boston 31-0 and Pittsburgh topped the New York Jets 21-17 in the other games. Green Bay and Baltimore clash tonight in the ABC televised game in Milwaukee's County Stadium.
Dempsey's booming drive cleared the cross-bar by mere inches, and he admitted it took some special ingredients.
IN 11 SECONDS
Detroit appeared to have won it when Erroll Mann kicked an 18-yard field goal with 11 seconds to give the Lions a one-point lead.

But New Orleans' quarterback Billy Kilmer completed a pass to Al Dodd after the Detroit kickoff and Dodd went out of bounds at the Saints' 45 with two seconds left.
Then Dempsey, born toed on his right kicking foot, did his thing.
Muhlmann drilled field goals of 22, 20, 13, 36 and 43 yards for Cincinnati, which snapped a six-game slide. Buffalo's O.J. Simpson suffered a severe bruise on his left leg.
Blanda, Oakland's 43-year-old kicking wizard, came through with his game-winner with three seconds left. He earlier relieved Daryle Lamonica at quarterback in the final period and threw a 14-yard touchdown pass and kicked the extra point.
Cox made good on attempts of 44, 17, 24 and 42 yards and Dave Osborn spun over from the one as Minnesota stopped Washington.
Detroit appeared to have won it when Erroll Mann kicked an

There's no such thing as a super team... or is there?
The author of the first part of that statement is Bill Beall, whose Baylor team gave top-rated Texas all it could handle Saturday before bowing 21-14 on a pair of Steve Worster touchdowns.
But he may get an argument from Bud Carson of Georgia Tech, whose next assignment is second-ranked Notre Dame, fresh from a 46-14 pounding of Pitt.
"Let me emphasize that I think Notre Dame is the best team in the country," Carson said after Saturday's 30-8 triumph over Navy. "I've seen films of Ohio State and Texas, but I feel we'll be playing the best there is this weekend. They're in a class by themselves."
Elsewhere, the big news was Stanford's 29-22 come-from-behind victory over Washington, putting the sixth-ranked Indians in the Rose Bowl; Oregon's wild 46-35 triumph over No. 9 Air Force which dropped the Falcons from the unbeaten ranks, and the broken left arm suffered by Mississippi's brilliant Archie Manning during a 24-13 win over Houston.
Stanford's Jim Plunkett passed for 268 yards and all four touchdowns, including a decisive 15-yarder to Randy Vataha with 7 1/2 minutes left, and set a major college career record of 7,082 passing yards.
Dan Fouts' fourth scoring pass, a 39-yarder to Bob Newland, and Ken Woody's 40-yard field goal wrapped up Oregon's

Texas Wins, But May Lose Prestige In Football Poll

By The Associated Press
What a difference a year makes.
Last season about this time, Baylor head coach Bill Beall was at one of the low ebbs of his first season at Baylor following a 56-14 loss to Texas.
"I think all of us made a promise that wouldn't happen again if hard work had anything to do with it," Beall said Saturday.
Beall and his Fighting Bears lost again this year but that fact has almost been lost in the uproar surrounding the closeness of Texas' 21-24 victory.
In battling the No. 1 ranked Longhorns to the narrow victory margin, the Bears, who have won two games in two seasons, may have knocked the Longhorns out of their top national ranking.
"You know, Jess Neely (former Rice coach) once said there was no such thing as a super team," Beall said. "That doesn't take anything away from Texas. They're good."

Longhorn head coach Darrell Royal offered no alibis.
"If I have any praise, it goes to the Baylor football team," Royal said. "They were playing an odd defense. They were meeting and defeating our blockers. We just didn't block well at all. We have no alibis. Baylor just played good, hard-nosed football."
Beall said the Bears felt they could stop the Horns' awesome option play. "If there is a better sophomore defensive end than Roger Goree or a better linebacker than Davis Jones, I want to find him," Beall said.
So suddenly, the word "fighting" is back in the Baylor nickname and Texas Tech must be wondering what kind of atmosphere it'll face in its SWC battle at Waco with the Bears Saturday.
Tech is the only SWC team left in the SWC chase with Texas and Arkansas, having eliminated Texas Christian 22-11 in Lubbock Saturday. The Raiders are 4-1 in the campaign and can't afford another loss.
In other matchups this weekend, Southern Methodist is at seventh-ranked Arkansas; Rice is at Texas A&M and Texas is at Texas Christian.

Arkansas recovered from a halftime deficit to defeat Rice 38-11 and SMU defeated Texas A&M on two field goals by chipper Johnson in other SWC action last Saturday.

Charley Back In Action

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Charley Johnson is back at the throttle of the Houston Oilers and may be just what the doctor ordered to put the Texans into contention in the American Football Conference Central Division race.
Johnson returned to action Sunday after missing two games because of a broken collarbone. He put on a dazzling passing performance that finally fell short. Kansas City won 24-9.
"The injury did not bother me," Johnson said. "I've picked up right where I left off."
Johnson entered the game as the No. 6 passer in the AFC. In Sunday's game, he completed 20 of 42 throws for 247 yards in a game in which 30 minutes of hard rain made the ball difficult for receivers.
Johnson threw three interceptions, two of which were costly ones. One broke the game open in the fourth quarter when the Chiefs were hanging on to a 14-9 lead.
Kansas City linebacker Bobby Bell snared one of Johnson's pitches on the Houston 45-yard ribbon and galloped to the goal. This gesture put the game out of reach for the Oilers.

A&I Tough Test Doesn't Come Off

By The Associated Press
Texas A&I won its showdown with Sam Houston for the Lone Star Conference football lead during the weekend but the shootout between the league's two leading rushers never came off in San Angelo.
Texas A&I, ranked 11th in the Associated Press small college football poll, defeated Sam Houston 34-14 in what was billed as the game of the year in the LSC. The victory gave A&I sole possession of first place with a 6-1 record.
Angelo State got another superlative performance from 200-pound sophomore Jerry Austin in Angelo's 41-28 victory over Stephen F. Austin.
A&I takes its championship quest against Howard Payne this week. Angelo State is at East Texas (3-4), McMurry (4-3) is at Sam Houston (5-2), Stephen F. Austin (1-6) is at Tarleton (0-7) and Southwest Texas (4-3) is at Sul Ross (4-3) in other LSC battles.

DASHING DAVE — Dave Duncan returned to form Friday against the Odessa Bronchos, working the option with devastating results. Here he hurries for his third touchdown with Ricky Steen (41) putting a block on Odessa's Thomas Worley (64). Duncan accounted for 197 yards, including a scintillating 91-yard TD scamper.

Trade By-Product Sends Cowboys To Bunk House

NEW YORK (AP) — Ron Johnson wasn't the big man on New York's National Football League market list last winter, but he stands tallest today among a rampaging new breed of Giants.

Johnson, a gifted young running back acquired, along with two defensive heavyweights, from Cleveland in an off-season trade, paced the Giants to their fifth straight victory Sunday—a 23-20 ambush of Dallas that kept them in contention for the NFC's Eastern Division title.

"Johnson's the best halfback in football today... period!" Giants quarterback Fran Tarkenton said after the second-year pro from Michigan riddled the Cowboys' Dooomsday Defense for 136 rushing yards and a pair of second-half touchdowns, including the winning score with 3:03 to play.

"He does everything," Tarkenton said. "He catches the ball. He blocks. He runs inside and outside, and he makes the big plays. All the great ones make the big plays."

The big play Sunday was a 13-yard slant-in pass that Johnson cradled in the end zone with a one-step lead on Mel Renfro, the Cowboys' standout cornerback.

The touchdown overcame a 20-16 Dallas lead and the Giants' defensive unit, improving steadily from week to week, blunted a last-ditch drive by the Cowboys in the closing seconds.

Defensive help was top priority for the Giants, who hadn't had a winning season since 1963, when they went to the trading block last January and swung the 3-for-1 deal with Cleveland.

"We wanted another runner," said Coach Alex Webster, "but the main thing we wanted was another big defensive tackle."

The Giants got their man, 270-pound Jim Kanicki, plus linebacker Wayne Meylan—and Johnson, who had played his first NFL season in the shadow of Leroy Kelly—in exchange for Homer Jones, a fleet wide receiver.

Meylan didn't stick with New York, but Kanicki, one of nine newcomers who have named starting jobs, has been a stand-out up front. And Johnson, a 205-pounder with exceptional speed, drive and balance, has emerged as a game-breaker. He leads the Giants in rushing, with 619 yards, and pass receiving, with 32 catches for 350 yards.

"I liked what I had seen of Johnson," Webster said. "He had a couple of big games for the Browns early last year while Kelly was hurt. But when Kelly came back they put Johnson at fullback. He wasn't really a fullback. His style reminds me of Kelly."

Johnson, who could become the first 1,000-yard ground-gainer in Giants' history, wants only to be himself.

Johnson was a real dynamo as the Giants drove 71 yards in 10 plays late in the third quarter for their first touchdown. He carried seven times for 55 yards, including the last four, to ignite the comeback.

"I only threw one little screen pass in that drive," Tarkenton recalled, "Johnson went the rest of the way all by himself."

Up until that point, the sum of the Giants' offense had been three long field goals by Pete Gogolak, the last one a club-record 54-yarder at the first half on 38 and 80-yard touchdown bombs from Craig Morton and Bob Hayes and the first of Mike Clark's two field goals.

The victory sent New York, which lost its first three starts, into a second place tie with the Cowboys in the NFC East, one game behind front-running St. Louis.

STATISTICS

Steers' Passing Yardage Sags, But Running Gains

With one game to go, the Big Spring Steers have a 328-yard statistical edge over their combined opponents for the season.

The edge is in rushing, for the Steers — who had been showing great strength on the ground in earlier games — gained 376 yards more than the opposition after the Odessa game. Their passing advantage, however, became a 48-yard deficit. The Steers are connecting on but 32 per cent as opposed to

Red China Says Jump Is Record

TOKYO (AP) — Red China claimed a world high jump record today for its Ni Chih-Chin.

The New China News Agency said Ni, competing in a track and field meet Sunday at Changsha in Hunan Province cleared 2.29 meters or a fraction over 7 feet 6 inches.

Ni's reported leap betters the existing mark of 2.28 meters listed as 7-5 3/4 in the American linear system, set in 1963 at Moscow by Valery Brumel of the Soviet Union.

The Communist Chinese report said 80,000 saw Ni set the record on his second attempt at the height and encouraged him by chanting "Be resolute fear no sacrifice and surmount every difficulty to win victory."

The words are attributed to Mao Tse-tung, the Red Chinese dictator.

Brothers Team, Is No Joke

EVREUX, France (AP) — Then there are the jokes about having enough kids for a football team... only it's no joke for the Planquois family of the little village of Perrier-sur-Ardelle in western France. Eleven Panquois brothers will turn out next Sunday to meet the local soccer team in the brothers' first formal match. Their team ranges in age from 40 to 14—and the sons of two of the brothers are reserves.

Germans Win

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — A capacity crowd of 6,500 watched West Germany beat Poland 6-3 Sunday in a world championship ice hockey qualifying match.

Buff Roll Call Sounds Like Orthopedic Census

FORSAN — Battered by Jayton, the Forsan Buffaloes have a lot of patching to do for their game with Sands in Ackerly Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Ricky Klahr, who goes both ways at tackle, went out early in the Jayton game with an injured knee and is a doubtful prospect for Friday. Mike Murphy, defensive half back, had a broken finger and is due to be out. James Dittmore, complaining Saturday of pains, was sent for X-rays and he has two broken ribs. Earlier the Buffs lost Bard Griffith with a bad knee injury. They also had others out with broken bones. Coach Don Stevens figures the Buffs will have to out-do themselves to be in the game, especially since Sands upset Roby last Friday.

ACC Loses Top Passer

Abilene Christian College will try to recover from its biggest loss of the season this weekend when the Wildcats meet Trinity in a showdown for second place in the Southland Conference.

ACC defeated UT-Arlington 21-7 Saturday but lost NCAA passing champion Jim Lindsey with a broken collarbone. Lindsey completed 21 of 36 passes for 256 yards and one touchdown in his final collegiate performance before the injury.

Arkansas State, the No. 1 ranked team in The Associated Press small college poll, could wrap up its second straight SLC crown Saturday with a victory over UT-Arlington, which is winless in eight outings. Arkansas State is 8-0.

Lamar Tech plays a non-conference date at New Mexico State in the only other SLC action this week.

Arkansas State pounded North Dakota 23-18 last Saturday and Trinity defeated Lamar Tech 37-31.

Mama Mia, Is Nino Through?

R O M E (AP) — Is Nino through?

That was the question the Italians posed this weekend as Nino Benvenuti, the pride and powerhouse of their country, succumbed to the thunderous right of Argentina's Carlos Monzon.

With that right hook—in the 12th round—the world middleweight boxing crown slipped away from Italy, also casting doubts on Benvenuti's future.

He is, after all, 32 years of age and no longer the speedster he was when he won the gold medal in the 1960 Rome Olympics.

Steers In Good Shape For Last Test Of Season

"All we've got left is 48 minutes of football, and we're going to pull out all the stops and give it everything we've got."

This is the way Coach Clovis Hale sizes up the Big Spring Steers' finale with San Angelo's Bobcats here Friday. The Bobcats, the biggest team the Steers will have faced all season, dropped a 17-7 showdown to Permian last week, while the Steers jumped off to a big lead and then held on to beat Odessa 27-24.

Physically, the Steers should be in good shape. Dave Duncan, slippery quarterback, was back in form after getting a lick on the leg Saturday in the fourth quarter. Hale pulled him to avoid reinjury.

Roddy Caffey, has been poison up the middle and on the quick pops, will be back. James (Jumbo) Pearce, plagued by neck muscle spasms after the Odessa test, is due to be ready.

NO LET UP
Big Spring went to the dressing room Saturday with a 28-8 lead, and it seemed that they may have lost their initiative. However, after viewing the film, Coach Hale said his boys played well in the last half.

Penalties stopped three Big Spring drives and kept Odessa drives alive. In the first half Big Spring had one penalty for 13 yards. In the last half the Steers were hit with 12 penalties for 122 yards. Odessa had no penalties all night.

About that first-down pass play which the Steers attempted in the waning minutes and lost the ball on an interception, Hale said he called it, and would call it again. Odessa was trying to plug the run and had man-for-man pass coverage, leaving a lineman to cover Ricky Steen. But a busted assignment caused the ball to be underthrown, otherwise it would have gone for a TD, just the thing the Steers needed at that point to turn the game momentum around.

Big Spring-San Angelo games have historically been real leather-poppers, and as for the Steers it is the last chance to put real frosting on the season.

Red Ink Nixon's Major Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — The persistent and mounting red ink in the federal budget probably will be President Nixon's major problem in dealing with the new Congress next year.

It is a Congress that Tuesday's election changed only slightly—and not in a way to help him much in his fiscal dilemma.

Facing a deficit estimated by congressional specialists as high as $15 billion to $16 billion, the administration—if it remains true to its announced principles—must make hard choices about cutting spending, increasing taxes or both.

There is widespread feeling the economy, harped on by Democrats, had more impact on the electorate Tuesday than the law and order arguments of the Republicans.

And with attention now turning to the 1972 presidential contest, more jobs and a slowdown in price jumps become a GOP political must.

Whatever decisions the administration makes must be submitted to a Congress that not only remains firmly under Democratic control, but maintains in key positions most of the same men who confronted the Republican White House during the past two years.

The specter of big deficits plagues administration planners at every turn as they tackle more specific problems of the coming year, including:

WELFARE SOARS
 —The draft, which expires June 30, Nixon is committed in principle to moving toward an all-volunteer army, which would be costly in pay and other incentives.

—Reform of the welfare system, unless Congress in the upcoming lame duck session succeeds in reconciling sharply differing versions. Main objection to the administration plan has been its cost. Meanwhile welfare rolls continue to soar above predictions.

—Possible extension of Federal aid to college students. Again, cost is the big headache.

—Continuation or revamping of the antipoverty program.

—Mounting sentiment for a national health insurance program, with heavy government financial participation.

On the other hand, Democratic gains in the election could improve the chances, still slim, of one Republican proposal—sharing federal revenues with the states.

ON THE JOB
 Democrats will have more governors—as many as 11 more—and control more state legislatures. The majority Democrats in Congress could be under more pressure from home to help hard-pressed local governments.

But Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, shortly before the election firmly reiterated his opposition to revenue sharing, especially while the federal budget is in deficit. And Mills will be on the job again next year.

NEW TAXES
 Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy repeatedly has indicated it will seek new or extended taxes. If spending cuts do not reduce deficits to manageable size.

Although he has not been specific, one possibility is postponement of some income tax reductions, such as the increase in the personal exemption to $700 effective Jan. 1, 1972, and a stepup in the standard personal deduction.

Revision of estate and gift taxes, including the possibility of taxing capital gains in inheritances, is still on the docket of the Ways and Means Committee.

Administration tax policy officials also are known to be interested in the value-added tax, a form of sales tax imposed at various stages in the manufacturing process. From a political point of view, it would be less visible than an income tax increase.

Piano Duo On Stage Here Tuesday

Officials of the Big Spring Concert Association will have seasonal tickets available at $10 per person when Whitmore and Lowe, famed piano duo, perform here Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in Municipal Auditorium.

Deadline for membership was the first performance of the series last month when Dorothy Warenskjold and her musical theatre performed here, however, the deadline has been extended to give everyone an opportunity to attend the season's shows.

As recitalists, Whitmore and Lowe are perhaps without peers. Besides a creative care in building their programs, they have exhibited a striking empathy with their audiences.

Moreover, they have enjoyed phenomenal success as radio, television and recording artists. They were the first instrumentalists to have their own radio program, and they have appeared on a wide range of television offerings including the Telephone Hour.

Other shows being brought to Big Spring this season by the concert association include the guitarist duo, Los Indio Tabajaras, Feb. 8, and famed Metropolitan Opera baritone, Robert Merrill, March 8.

Docket Call Set

Ten cases are set for docket call Tuesday at 2 p.m. in 118th District Court. A full listing of the cases was not available at noon today. One defendant on the docket has six criminal charges against him, and there are nine civil cases on the docket.

MURDER WITH MALICE Blockade Runner Listed 'Critical'

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — A 20-year-old Californian was hospitalized in critical condition Sunday after his car rammed through three police barricades across West and Southwest Texas, killing a Val Verde County sheriff's deputy.

Charges of murder with malice were filed against Eddie R. Jeffery of Los Angeles by Peace Justice Sergio Gonzales.

Killed in the incident was Deputy D.W. Bowers.

Officers said they set up a roadblock near Sanderson in West Texas following a Saturday night gas station robbery. Officers said a car stolen in California rammed through the barricade and they set up another near Comstock but it, too, was destroyed when the car jammed through it.

Highway patrolmen and sheriff's officers established a third blockade at Devil's River near Del Rio which the car approached at speeds of up to 130 miles per hour, officers said.

Officers said a warning shot was fired at the vehicle just before Bowers stepped into the road and fired his shotgun point blank at the oncoming car.

Highway patrolmen said the shotgun crashed through the car windshield and Bowers' body sailed 50 feet through the air when he was struck by the car.

Officers said the driver leaped from the car but was felled in a hail of gunfire.

Jeffery was taken to the Bexar County Hospital at San Antonio for treatment of his wounds.

Texas' Violence Claims 28 Lives

By The Associated Press

Weekend violence—paced by motor vehicle crashes—claimed 28 lives in Texas.

The toll, tabulated by The Associated Press for the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, included 19 traffic fatalities.

Two Ben Wheeler residents, John Arthur Kennedy, 17, and Douglas L. Brewster, 18, were killed late Sunday when their car and a tractor-trailer truck collided head-on 7½ miles west Tyler on Texas 64.

FLAMING CRASH
 Herman Steel, 78, of Bluffdale was killed Sunday night when struck by a car as he walked on U.S. 377 in Bluffdale, a Erath County town.

A car veered off Farm Road 2114 about 20 miles north of Waco late Sunday, killing Johnny Lee Hale, 48, of Hillsboro.

A flaming crash as one car drove onto a Grand Prairie drag racing strip in front of another Sunday evening killed David Lee Rodgers, 22, of Grand Prairie.

His companion, Billy Nicholson, 17, of Grand Prairie, was burned severely and Danny Bart Ford, 19, of Dallas, one of three in the other vehicle, suffered serious internal injuries.

These were among other victims:

Mrs. Leona Brock of Jefferson died Sunday in an accident near Carthage which involved a car and a school bus.

A New Braunfels man, Fritz Torres, 29, was killed near Seguin Sunday night when his car hit a utility pole.

BURNS TO DEATH
 Sharon Knight, 18, of Sims died Sunday near Maud as her car struck a tree.

Mrs. Martina Moncivaiz, 64, of San Antonio was killed Sunday when two cars collided 15 miles south of San Antonio on U.S. 281. Seven other persons were injured.

Leon Lang, 34, was shot to death at Dallas early Sunday while parked outside the home of a woman companion. Police arrested a 27-year-old man.

Anna Marie Middleton, 20, was shot to death during an argument early Sunday at the home of relatives, Corpus Christi police said. Officers said a gun was thrown against a door and accidentally discharged.

Flural Turner, 50, was killed in a one-car accident Sunday at Longview, police said, when his car went out of control on wet pavement and struck a utility pole.

Tonya R. Clark, 2, burned to death in a fire at her parent's home six miles west of Panhandle Sunday morning.

Three Die When Plane Hits House

ANN ARBOR Mich. (AP)—A twin-engine Cessna 310 airplane with three men aboard crashed into a house south of Ann Arbor Sunday, killing all three aboard, but leaving the lone occupant of the house uninjured.

Washtenaw County sheriff's deputies identified the victims as the pilot, Donald N. Hole, Jr., 47, Harry Hicks, and Bibiano Quiroga, all of Alliance, Ohio. No ages were given for Hicks or Quiroga.
