ATHENS Greece (AP) — Shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis was sued for $33,000 today by an Athens photographer who claimed Onassis falsely accused him of invasion of privacy and slander.

Athens photographer Dimitrios Koulouris was acquitted of invasion of privacy charges last September by an Athens court. The charges had been brought against him by an Onassis representative.

In his suit, Koulouris accused Onassis of falsely accusing him of disturbing Onassis' privacy on his Ionian island of Skorpios.

Skorpios was the site of Onassis' marriage to the former Jacqueline Kennedy in October, 1968.

In the September trial it was disclosed that Onassis did not personally own the island. It is owned by a company called "Mycenae Arme," controlled by the multimillionaire.

Koulouris allegedly was attempting at the time to photograph Onassis and his wife while they vacationed on Skorpios and was stopped by island guards.

ROCKY ROUTE — Rock climbers Warren Harding, top, and Dean Caldwell, standing above climbing gear, near the 1,900 foot level of El Capitan in Yosemite National Park Thursday. Because of the time the two have been on the rock and the diminishing food supply an attempt to rescue the two is expected to be made Friday.

Warren Harding Atop Dome (Not Teapot!)

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP) — Two determined rock climbers who didn't want to be rescued prepared to inch their way farther up the 3,000-foot vertical flank of El Capitan today—the 22nd day of their record effort to ascend a new route.

A rescue team of ace climbers spent a freezing, moonlit night atop the 7,400-foot summit of the great rock monolith waiting to help if necessary.

Warren Harding, 46, of West Sacramento, Calif., and Dean Caldwell, 27, of Portland, Ore., were down to the barest essentials of food but still high in spirits as they spent the night on the first substantial ledge of the climb, about 1,900 feet above the ground.

"They are like hell," responded Caldwell hotly when told climbers planned to rescue them. Later he said, "We appreciate their concern," but added that he and Harding wanted to continue on their own.

They had some 1,000 feet of climbing to go, much of it overhanging, and estimated it would take them about five days. Their food supply was down to a few cans of juice and fruit, two cans each of sardines and kippers, and four candy bars. The food situation, coupled with a suddenly ominous weather forecast, led the National Park Service to mount a full-scale rescue operation Thursday led by ranger-climber Pete Thompson.

Three 'Bare' Bandits Flee

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Officers sought three armed bandits today in the $77,000 robbery of the Texas State Bank, largest bank holdup in the city's history.

The trio waited outside the bank shortly before 8 a.m. Thursday and forced an arriving employee to open the firm's doors before the regular 9 o'clock opening time.

As the bank employees arrived, they were ordered by the robbers to lie down on the floor in a back office. The cashier was made to open the vault. Three men and nine women employees and bank president Roland Wollitz were locked in the vault.

A late-arriving employee heard pounding and yelling from inside the steel vault and called police.

The bandits were described as two rough types and one who was "six feet tall and very polite." None wore a mask.

Agnew Calls Campaign Complaints 'Hogwash'

'We Undersold Our Message'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has dismissed as hogwash complaints about Republican campaign tactics. If any mistake was made, he said, it was "that we undersold our message."

Agnew, the administration's hard-line campaigner, said Republicans nationally accomplished their overriding and critical election-day objective by improving President Nixon's "precarious position in the United States Senate."

BETTER OFF

The vice president, talking to a GOP fund-raising dinner Thursday night, said Nixon will be two to four votes better off in the new Senate, and that "is a parliamentary revolution."

Republicans actually gained two seats in the Senate while losing nine in the House, where, Agnew noted, the average off-year loss to the party of a president has been 37 seats.

"In the 92nd Congress, President Nixon will fare better on foreign policy, better on national defense, better on crime and law and order, and at least somewhat better on fiscal responsibility," Agnew said.

"That's the nub of Election 1970. No thinking Republican should let professional detractors in or out of office brainwash him into thinking otherwise."

HE'S SATISFIED

Agnew said he wished Republicans could have won more. He said he was sorry at the GOP loss of statehouses—Democrats gained 11 governorships. But, he said, "in sum, I feel satisfied" the party and the administration "did all that could have been fairly expected."

The dinner, billed as a salute to the vice president, was sponsored by the District of Columbia and the national Republican committees. More than 1,100 tickets were sold, at $150 a plate.

Among Agnew's saluters: President Nixon, who sent a telegram from Paris saying Agnew has brought "new force and distinction to the vice presidency; Martha Mitchell, who introduced him, talking into a fake red telephone; some 30 members of House and Senate who signed a scroll attesting to his prowess as a campaigner.

JUST ONE WORD

"In the heat of the campaign, a whole bevy of Democrats who spent the last three years coying up to radical dissenters turned tail and ran, unclenching their fists in their frantic rush to middle ground," Agnew said.

"No matter, though, say our critics, that this climactic victory for reason and order in America was forced by the Republican party. No, the Republicans were crude and inconsiderate to press the point, and our adversaries were admirably clever to change their spots so swiftly, so convincingly.

"Well, my friends, for all that I have just one word: hogwash," said Agnew.

The vice president said what he did as a campaigner was call the roll of politicians "who come day and night to hinder, to block, to delay these efforts of our President . . ."

Jet, 78 Passengers Skyjacked To Havana

NEW YORK (AP)—An Eastern Air Lines DC9 hijacked today while over South Carolina landed in Havana at 11:56 a.m. after refueling in Jacksonville, Fla., the airline said here.

The Richmond, Va.-to-Dallas flight was commandeered 20 minutes after taking off from Raleigh-Durham, N.C., Airport bound for Atlanta, an Eastern Air Lines spokesman said.

The twin-jet aircraft carried 78 passengers and a crew of four. Capt. Thomas W. Mayberry advised the Air Control Center at Atlanta that the hijacker took command at 9:31 a.m., EST.

Mayberry landed Flight 257 at Jacksonville International Airport at 11:22 a.m., the Eastern spokesman said. It took off 14 minutes later and headed south for Havana.

Other crew members were identified as Flight Engineer James E. King and stewardess Bonnie S. Culp and Diane Tidwell. The entire crew is based in Atlanta.

An Eastern spokesman in New York said heavy construction at the Richmond airport apparently interfered with electronic surveillance equipment there designed to detect weapons carried aboard aircraft.

In addition, the spokesman said, no law enforcement officials were on hand at boardings in Richmond or Raleigh-Durham. The airline had been pressing for U.S. marshals to be present during boardings, he said.

Sky marshals, who have been placed aboard U.S. carriers on international flights, were not aboard the hijacked plane, he said. The marshals do not usually ride domestic flights.

The airline said the hijacking was the airline's second of the year compared to 10 at this time last year.

Wet Snow Signals Winter In Texas

By The Associated Press
Wet snow spread southward through the Panhandle - Plains sector today behind a mass of cold air which promised an early touch of winter for nearly all of Texas.

At the same time showers cropped up in parts of North Texas, light drizzle spotted the south central part of the state and clouds covered all but far West Texas and a few points in the east and southwest sections.

As much as one inch of slushy snow and 11 inch of moisture accumulated at Dalhart before daylight and snow showers extended as far south as Amarillo and Childress. Perryton measured .27 inch of moisture before snow started sticking on the ground.

The snowfall and light rain developed behind a cold front which was moving toward the southeast in early morning along a line from a center of low pressure north of Midland into Mexico. At the same time a warm front stretched from the same low center to an area between Laredo and Brownsville.

Before the frontal system's arrival in West Texas, winds gust ed up to 52 miles per hour Thursday evening over the West Texas mountains, raising dust into the sky around El Paso.

Top temperatures Thursday afternoon went as high as 79 degrees at Midland and 81 at Wink, while the mercury reached only 58 at Texarkana and 59 at Longview.

Readings this morning eased down to 32 at Dalhart and Perryton. At the same hour it was 71 at Corpus Christi and 72 at Brownsville.

Forecasts promised overnight marks down to freezing or below over much of West Texas and the higher 30s to 40s in other sections.

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge William Taylor Jr. ruled Friday that the State of Texas has the right to classify marijuana as a narcotic drug, although he admitted this "may or may not be wise or desirable."

Taylor entered an order refusing to free Luke Joseph Rener, sentenced to 30 years for possession of marijuana. Rener claimed he was illegally convicted because the Texas law making marijuana a narcotic is unconstitutional.

Regents Face Open Meeting Law Count

AUSTIN (AP) — A group of law students from the University of Texas has filed a complaint against the university's regents for allegedly violating the open meetings law.

The complaint was filed Thursday with County Atty. Ned Granger.

Granger's office said no decision had been made on whether to file charges against the nine regents.

The complaint says the regents held a meeting by telephone Monday night and reinstated a rule limiting the school's Chuck Wagon—a snack facility—to students, faculty and guests.

The Chuck Wagon supposedly was headquarters last year for "street people," a long-haired group that sells an underground newspaper and beads and other trinkets on Guadalupe Street next to the campus. Dist. Atty. Bob Smith called the Chuck Wagon a haven for marijuana smokers.

A panel of six students and three faculty members which operates the Chuck Wagon limited access to the Chuck Wagon after police cleared it several months ago.

A student referendum that drew more than 6,000 votes last month asked by a 188-vote margin that the Chuck Wagon be opened again to everyone. The operators voted 6-1 to remove the rule on limited admission.

'Love' Is Manson Beating Her With Chair Leg, Cord

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A pretty teen-ager who has said she loves Charles Manson has ended her testimony in the Sharon Tate murder trial by saying

Manson beat her, hit her with a chair leg and whipped her.

Dianne Lake, 17, had been on the witness stand seven days when finally excused Thursday.

Miss Lake said she couldn't remember why Manson was mad at her in June, 1969, when "he hit me with a chair leg and he beat me and he whipped me with a cord." Another time, she said, Manson slugged her in the mouth, drawing blood.

The witness, who has given evidence against two women defendants, said Manson told her on another occasion, "I'm going to kill you, Snake, I'm going to kill you."

Manson, who was 36 Thursday, is on trial with three women followers on murder-conspiracy charges in the slayings of the blonde actress and six others in August, 1969.

Miss Lake was the last major witness scheduled before the prosecution rests its case. Two psychiatrists will provide medical testimony concerning Miss Lake's mental competency. Their finding that she is competent was heard outside the jury's presence earlier.

Miniskirts High On Judge's List

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Court Judge Ben C. Dawkins Jr. has declared miniskirts "abominable" and said they "hereby and forever are forbidden and prohibited as disgusting to all males."

Miniskirts are high on his approved list, along with pants suits.

Dawkins said the whole thing was "sort of a joke" and that no specific incident prompted him to write the light-hearted decision which was entered in the court record.

Death Plotter's Wrist Slapped

HOUSTON (AP) — Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Clodfelter was given a 10-year probated sentence Thursday after being found guilty as an accomplice in the murder of her husband.

Mrs. Clodfelter's family screamed with relief as the probation was announced after four hours of deliberation.

It had taken the eight-man, four women jury seven hours to determine her guilt.

"I thank the jurors for being so understanding and giving me this chance," she cried. "I can't find the words right now."

She had told the jury that she made a deal with Wesley Leon Colbert to kill her husband, Anthony Wayne Clodfelter. He was shot to death at his used car lot Jan. 8.

The defense had said she should be acquitted because she testified she tried to back out of the deal the last day.

The court's charge to the jury stated that if it thought she did try to back out, then she should be found innocent.

$2.5 Billion Income Dive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income dipped by $2.5 billion in October, reflecting a drop in payrolls because of the automobile strike, the Commerce Department said today.

Okie Governor's Chances Fading

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Republican Gov. Dewey Bartlett saw his chances fade Thursday for reversing his defeat for a second term as state election officials virtually completed retabulation of votes in the state's two largest counties.

Bartlett continued to gain over Gov.-elect David Hall, a Democrat, in the third day of the statewide recount.

However, with more than 300,000 of the nearly 700,000 votes cast in the Nov. 3 gubernatorial election re-tabulated, he had cut Hall's margin by only 410 votes.

And, with recounting almost finished in the state's two largest counties, there appeared little chance that Bartlett would overtake his Democratic opponent, barring the discovery of large errors in the 53 counties remaining to be re-canvassed.

Hall led Bartlett by 2,319 votes in first official returns. The recount had cut the lead to 2,409 by Thursday night with 23 of the state's counties retabulated.

Jack Alexander Elected To Head Scout District

Jack Alexander, father of four Eagle Scout sons and a former district chairman, was elected chairman of the Lone Star district of the Boy Scouts of America Thursday.

JACK ALEXANDER

Alexander has held about every position in Scouting on a local and district level, including cubmaster and scoutmaster, as well as district commissioner and district chairman.

He will be inducted at the annual adult leaders banquet Dec. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College. Alexander is head of the western division of asphalt marketing for American Petrofina of Texas.

Infection Hits More Babies In Hospital

HOUSTON (AP) — At least 26 more newborn babies at the county-operated Jefferson Davis Hospital were thought Thursday to have a bacterial infection which has hit 29 other infants in the past two weeks.

As hospital officials worked to prevent the bacterial infection from spreading, the Harris County Hospital District board of managers requested a supplement budget of $610,000 from the county commissioners court.

The court turned the budget request down, the second time in two weeks.

The additional expenditures would have been paid for out of surplus non-tax revenue, the hospital board said.

About $135,000 of the budget was to expand the maternity ward at Jefferson Davis.

The 55 cases of the infection, pathogenic e. coli, are not described as serious, although one infant is in critical condition.

It is a frequent nursery infection that causes diarrhea and dehydration and represents the largest contamination outbreak at the public hospital in many years, hospital spokesmen said.

Thirteen of the 55 have been discharged, most of the others are "responding very well," to antibiotic treatment.

Commissioner Bill Elliot, leading the 3-2 vote against the appropriation, said the reported infection outbreak was a "phony crisis" brought up to force commissioners court to approve the expenditures.

A POLITICAL QUESTION MARK — Sen. Karl Mundt, who suffered a stroke last Nov. 25 and has still not made a full recovery, is the focus of rumor, denial and growing political drama. The 70-year-old South Dakota Republican has been away from his desk for nearly a year and there is speculation that he is being urged to retire so that a Republican can be appointed to replace him by outgoing GOP Gov. Frank Farrar. Farrar is being replaced by a Democrat.

Barbers Open Own Shop Downtown

After three months of planning, barbers Jim Caldwell and Larry Knight decided to become partners and open a barber shop in downtown Big Spring.

"We decided we'd like to get out of the shopping centers where we worked and into downtown," Caldwell said.

"We began to consider various locations and finally decided on this one because of its excellent parking facilities and traffic patterns."

The Downtown Barber Shop is at 409 Main, directly across from the First National Bank.

Caldwell, formerly of the College Park Barber Shop, and Knight, of the Highland Barber Shop, hired Doyle Conway, another College Park Barber Shop employee and Vernon Anderson, a shoeshine man, who was an employee of the Eleventh Place Barber Shop.

"We all have a large number of customers who have come to us for years," Knight said.

"We are all Big Spring natives, and today we didn't see anything passing by that one of us didn't know."

The barbers are proud that the shop features the most modern haircutting equipment available and invited all their friends to visit them at their new location.

Ted Ferrell, a personal friend of the barbers, was the first customer when the shop opened Thursday morning. He got a shave and presented the barbers with their first dollar — already framed.

"It was a great way to start the first day here," Caldwell said. "Judging from the number of customers we've had today our business venture will be a success."

The shop will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

SERGEANT ACQUITTED 'We Prayed A Lot'

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Air Force S. Sgt. Rolando Sada managed to say only four words Thursday after he was found innocent of maltreating basic trainees.

"We prayed a lot." A seven-man court-martial panel acquitted Sada, 27, a San Antonio native, on all counts.

He was charged with hitting, slapping or kicking seven recruits at Lackland Military Training Center, the only Air Force basic training facility.

When the verdict was read, trial judge Col. James Thorn had to gavel down applause from about a dozen of the 20 spectators in the courtroom.

Sada, father of two, turned and embraced his wife, who was weeping softly. She and other members of his family had sat directly behind him when the verdict was read.

The nine-year Air Force veteran struggled to maintain his composure as he left the courtroom. The trial lasted 2 1/2 days. The court-martial panel deliberated an hour.

Still to be tried on similar charges is T. Sgt. Jack Wilson, a Kenova, W. Va., native, who will face a court-martial Nov. 30.

No significant action was reported elsewhere in Cambodia, either.

A large part of a 4,000-man South Vietnamese task force which joined the Cambodian troops in a sweep 20 miles south of Phnom Penh were headed home today, a spokesman said.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong eluded the sweeping force.

Mine, Trap, Attack Kill Nine Americans

SAIGON (AP) — A mine, a booby trap and an attack on a patrol, killed nine Americans and wounded 12 in Vietnam Thursday after two days of no U.S. combat deaths, the U.S. Command announced.

It was the largest number of Americans reported killed in combat on a single day in a month. Two North Vietnamese or Viet Cong were reported killed.

The mine blew up a 2 1/2-ton truck of the Americal Division on a road in Quang Ngai Province, killing six soldiers and wounding four.

BOOBY TRAPS

It was the third major booby-trap or mine casualty the division has suffered in Quang Ngai this year. On Oct. 13, a booby trap rigged from an American artillery shell killed nine Americans and wounded five. On April 15, a similarly rigged 155mm shell killed 14 Americans and wounded 32.

Two more American infantrymen were killed Thursday and two were wounded by another booby trap in another part of Quang Ngai, which is on the northern coastal plain.

Military officials attribute at least 15 per cent of the American casualties in Indochina to mines, booby traps and grenades.

North Vietnamese troops ripped into a patrol of the 25th Infantry Division 33 miles northeast of Saigon, triggering sporadic fighting from morning until nightfall. Headquarters said one American infantryman was killed and six were wounded.

North Vietnamese troops also ambushed a six-truck South Vietnamese convoy on Vietnam's main north-south highway 30 miles northwest of Saigon, killing two South Vietnamese soldiers and wounding one. It was the first ambush on the highway in several months.

FRONT QUIET

In Cambodia, spokesmen reported the government's entire northern front was quiet after heavy attacks earlier this week.

McGann and J.M. Meshell, Lufkin, were found dead early Sept. 29 in a Southside Lubbock home. Their bodies were found lying about 30 feet apart in the kitchen and den area of the house with a pistol beside each body. Sheriff's investigators theorized that they died in a shootout, until ballistics showed that the same gun was used in both killings.

Meshell was under indictment on gambling charges when he was shot. McGann at the time of his death was in the process of appealing a 1968 conviction of conspiring to steal $65,000 worth of television sets.

Lab Reports Delay Case

LUBBOCK — Although District Atty. Don Cherry said ballistics reports show that the same gun was used in the Sept. 29 slayings of George A. McGann, Big Spring, and another man, no case was presented to the Grand Jury here this week.

"We don't have all the lab reports from Austin," Cherry said. "Before I take a case before the Grand Jury I want to be sure that I can prove it. We have a definite suspect in mind, but we'll wait until the test results are returned and present the case to the Grand Jury which meets in mid-January." No arrests have been made.

Opening lead: Ten of ♠ South was the declarer in today's hand at a contract of three no trump. West opened the ten of diamonds. East covered with the jack and South permitted him to hold the trick. East continued with the queen and West overtook with the king to continue the suit. South ducked a third time but won the next trick with the ace—dummy having discarded a heart and a club on the third and fourth diamond and East did likewise.

Declarer observed that if the spades divided evenly, he would have eight tricks—four spades, one diamond and three clubs. Since the ninth must come from hearts, he resolved to put that issue to an immediate test.

A spade was led to the queen and a heart was returned. East followed with the six and South put up the king which held the trick. The king of spades was cashed, however when the jack appeared from West, South decided that a favorable spade division was not forthcoming and he embarked on a new course.

The king of clubs was cashed and the suit continued. On the third club, North discarded the four of hearts and East the ten. Declarer exited with a heart and East was in with the ace. His remaining cards were the 10-7 of spades and on the forced return, the dummy took the last two tricks with the A-9.

East could have averted his face by discarding the ace of hearts on the third round of clubs, which permits West to win a heart continuation with the queen and then cash the setting trick in either diamonds or clubs. East had nothing to lose by releasing his high heart, for if South has the queen then there is no way to prevent him from establishing his ninth trick in that suit.

garbage can at the end of the bar. Later, the janitor hauled them to a bin out back.

LOST FOREVER

Finally, a garbage truck took the bottles to a sanitary landfill where they were buried—lost forever, presumably, to a society rapidly depleting its natural resources.

But the 43 billion glass and metal beverage containers manufactured last year, most of which were discarded, are only a small part of the growing mounds of garbage that threaten to become a national pollution crisis.

If Americans are to avoid being inundated in the discards from their throw-away living, scientists warn, vastly improved methods of refuse collection and disposal must be adopted. And all reusable refuse must be recycled back into the economy.

THINK ABOUT IT

"Have you ever thought," the tavern waitress was asked, "about those bottles. Should we just throw them away or find some way to use them again?"

"No," she replied. "No, I've never thought about it."

Paul Marsh has been thinking about those bottles and the 250 million tons of commercial, residential and institutional waste generated last year. He and a team of engineers and technicians at the Black Clawson Co. on the other side of Middletown have been working for three years on a system to cheaply handle solid waste while separating valuable glass, metal and paper for recycling.

BEAT TO A PULP

Black Clawson's system, like dozens of others under development by private and government agencies, is what scientists say must replace the present, often archaic, solid waste disposal systems. Studies indicate that the nation's garbage will yield salvageable materials worth at least $1 billion a year, offsetting the $4.5 billion yearly collection and disposal costs.

In almost every case, studies have found, technology already exists to cope with solid waste problems.

Black Clawson, an old-line manufacturer of paper stock and paper pulp equipment, adapted its paper machinery to handle garbage.

WASTE PAPERS

"Some of the waste papers normally processed by the paper pulp industry aren't much removed from garbage, which is usually 55 per cent paper anyway," Marsh said. "So we just took our existing technology and worked it into a system."

Heart of the system is a circular tank of swirling water with a spinning blade at the bottom that grinds domestic refuse fed from a conveyor. Cans, bottles, lawn clippings, iron, a pillow, wood, a hairbrush, paper, everything plummet into the brown whirlpool and quickly become indistinguishable in the liquid slurry.

Subsequent processes, most adapted from the paper industry, separate paper pulp, metals and glass for recycling. The residue is burned in a pollution-free incinerator.

Black Clawson officials say the system will dispose of refuse for $2-85 a ton, comparable with other disposal costs.

At the U.S. Bureau of Mines in College Park, Md., metallurgists, using existing mineral processing technology, have developed a pilot plant that consumes incinerator residue and separates glass, scrap iron aluminum and other metals.

USBM officials call incinerator residue "barbar ore," because their studies indicate that ton of incinerator residue will yield $12 worth of glass and metal when put through a process that would cost $3.52 a ton.

TRASH CRISIS IN AMERICA-II Beer Bottles Brew Woes

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—On a recent Indian summer night in this southern Ohio city sprawled beside the Miami River, a group of middle-Americans celebrated a boys' night out at a local tavern.

About midnight, after they paid the bill and departed, the waitress gathered 30-some empty beer bottles and dumped them clattering into a plastic

Local Post Enters Odessa Road Rally

At least one Big Spring post has entered a team in the Explorer road rally in Odessa Nov. 21.

Dr. Paul T. Koshi, advisor of Post 3, sponsored by the Howard County Agriculture Workers Association, said that John Gorman will be the driver for the local team. His navigator will be Don Smith, and Kenneth Evans will be the observer.

Other posts are invited to test the Buffalo Trail event starting at 11 a.m. in Odessa. A car for the local rally entries is being furnished by Bob Brock Ford of Big Spring.

Competition is designed to test safe-driving abilities against a pre-determined course over a pre-determined time period. The top team in the rally will be entered in regional competition, and three winners in the region will be invited to take part in the Grand National Rally next autumn. Trophies go to the three winning teams at Odessa. There also will be a fish fry and a dance.

Women Groups Scorn Latest Advances Of 'Fickle' Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — With failure to report, Bayh's last minute plan to rescue some semblance of the amendment meant, "As far as we're concerned, it's dead."

Bayh originally led what appeared to be an easy fight to pass the House version, but many of the 80 other senators officially listed as sponsors of the measure had second thoughts.

When it became obvious it could not pass the Senate—as it had twice before in years when the House balked—Bayh set out to find a compromise.

The Bayh substitute is the first order of business for a returning Senate next week, but it apparently will be removed from the calendar without protest.

CONVICTED — John Keilly, left, of Oyster Bay Cove, N.Y., and David Wenger, right, of Great Neck, N.Y., were found guilty in U.S. District Court in New York Thursday of conspiring to pay kickbacks and interstate travel for the promotion of bribery. Eight others were acquitted of the charges stemming from an attempted loan promotion from Teamster Union pension funds.

Customs Jobs Are Available

The Bureau of Customs has announced that more than 2,000 men will be hired in the next four months to serve as customs security officers throughout the nation.

These men will gradually replace military and other personnel now performing security work. They will become a part of the all-out fight against air piracy.

The jobs start at $5,854 to $8,098 and involve protection of aircraft in flight, also with alternate duty at ground stations. Officers will receive an additional $40 a day while in flight status, plus moving and transportation expense to first duty station. Most hiring will be of eligibles in the government's federal service entrance examination. All post office examiners in charge are currently accepting applications. Charles A. Dickson can be contacted at the Big Spring post office.

Furrs To Open New Cafeteria

LUBBOCK — Furr's Cafeterias, Inc., has announced plans to open a new cafeteria in Fort Smith, Ark.

The cafeteria, to be located in Phoenix Village Mall, will have about 9,000 square feet with a seating capacity of 300 persons, said Don Furr, president.

Scheduled to open in about 90 days, it will be the 36th cafeteria in Furr's five-state Southwestern chain. The company also has three Furr's Famous Recipe Pie Kitchens. The Fort Smith facility is Furr's first in Arkansas.

Nixon Fires Shot At Agency Puffery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has ordered federal agencies to cut spending aimed at "promoting and soliciting support for various agency activities."

In his unpublished memo sent to all department heads Monday, Nixon said he fully supports "an open administration that legitimately informs the public."

NO NAME JIVE

But the President added: "To bring about a curtailment of self-serving and wasteful public relations activities, I have instructed the director of the Office of Management and Budget to reduce the funds available to your agency in fiscal year 1971 for broadcasting, advertising, exhibits, films, publications and similar public relations efforts."

Nixon said OMB Director George P. Shultz will notify each agency head of the amount of 1971 funds to be withheld and placed in reserve.

OMB officials said they could not yet name any publication—agents or employees—to be eliminated. Budget authorities will decide each agency's 1971 cutback during the preparation of the 1972 budget, now in process.

One agency information officer said he understood the crackdown was aimed at "puffery and propaganda—the kind of stuff some agencies put out to maintain support for their appropriations among special interest groups."

Another predicted, "A lot of four-color printing jobs that are now planned will be coming out in black and white." Some so-called information activities, this official said, "are really open advocacy—intended to generate support for their programs."

When Nixon signed a drug control bill two weeks ago, he said narcotics abuses can be conquered only by "wide public information programs."

Methodist Men

The United Methodist Men of North Birdwell Lane Methodist Church will meet at 6:30 a.m. Saturday for breakfast, according to John Puckett, president. The meeting will be at the church.

Dr. Buesseler came to Tech in June from the University of Missouri School of Medicine where he had been professor and founding chief of ophthalmology. He is now engaged in recruiting faculty and planning for the medical branch to take shape at Tech. Dr. Go-go of regional involvement in ophthalmology has represented this region on the national foundation, is a member of the board and its executive committee.

Arthritis Group Members Attend Saturday Meeting

Several representatives from the eastern division of the Arthritis Foundation's West Texas chapter will take part in a luncheon Saturday celebrating the fifth anniversary of the chapter.

The affair will be in the Midland Country Club, and featured speakers will be Dr. John A. Buesseler, Lubbock, dean of the Texas Tech University School of Medicine, and Dr. Homer Goehrs, Austin, member of the executive committee of the Arthritis Foundation. Dr. Goehrs will speak on arthritis and research, while Dr. Buesseler will explain the ideology of Tech's school of medicine, including concepts of regional involvement in accomplishing medical educational goals.

Among those due to attend from here are Jack R. Worsham, president of the Eastern division; Dr. W. A. Riley, chairman of the medical board for the chapter; Mrs. Clyde Thomas and Mrs. Bill P. Johnson, members of the board.

Worsham said that others who can attend should make reservations with Mrs. C. M. Linehan, executive director, at 2101 West Wall, Midland.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR Offers To Trade Himself For POW

To The Editor:

Being a man of Christian beliefs and also having been trained as a combat soldier, I sincerely believe that I can understand and advocate the thoughts and action of my fellow countrymen held as prisoners of war by Hanoi.

To go away to a war leaving behind all that is dear is a tough soul-rendering decision.

To fall into the hands of a brutal and merciless enemy, and to know the very ones whom you are protecting — to realize that we as their countrymen are letting them stay in these many years in the horror of penal servitude without so much as firing a single shot to effect their release is reason enough to resist the commands and directives of our government. If this country can't stand behind its fighting men then in my estimation it damn well should fall to the first one to make the grab.

Having had the privilege and pleasure of having had 50 years in this wonderful county, I am grateful to both God Almighty and my country.

My oath of allegiance was to one God, one flag, one country, as was that of some nine or ten million of my comrades of WW II. Knowing that my countrymen are in the hands of these dastardly blackguards gives me troubled sleep.

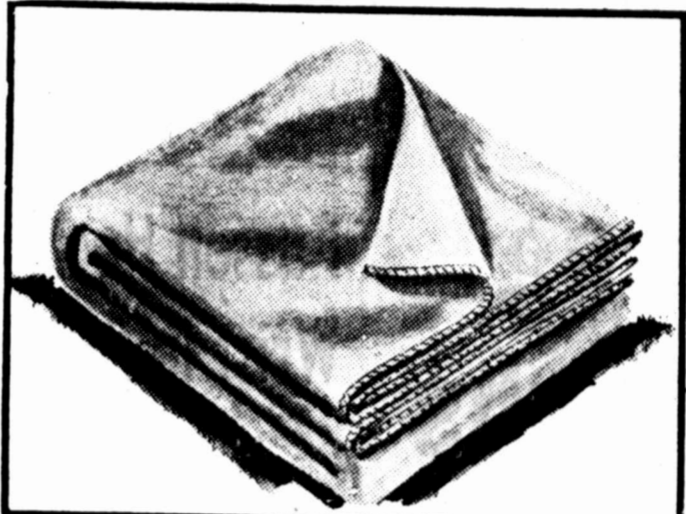

As all else has failed, I do hereby authorize you to act as my intermediary with the leaders of Hanoi to exchange my person for that of any one of our men who are their prisoners, regardless of race, creed or color. My offer is based upon the scriptures of my Bible, St. Matthew, 22nd chapter, verses 35-40. I have never been more sincere in my life.

To you gallant men, be of strong faith for there is a great country and a merciful God behind you. I give you my own covenant, you shall once again be free men.

Sincerely yours,
WENDELL L. YOUNG

Puzzle of Thursday, Nov. 12, Solved

WARDS NOW OPEN THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY TILL 8:00 P.M.

THE BIG RED BUNDLES UP SEASON TONIGHT — The Coahoma Bulldogs, some of whom are pictured, hit the road tonight for a 7:30 p.m. contest in Crane. From the left, front row, they are Wendall Walker, Augie Hernandez, Dusty

Injuries Hamstring Some SW Grid Clubs

By The Associated Press
Texas, Texas Tech, and Arkansas—the only survivors in the Southwest Conference race—face potential troublemakers Saturday in another round of crucial games where some teams are less than hale and hearty.

The No. 2 ranked Longhorns count six defensive starters that could be hindered or kept out of the Texas Christian game at 2 p.m. in Fort Worth Saturday.

Defensive halfback Alan Lowry is the most questionable with a bruised knee. His substitute, Gary Keithley, has been ailing with the virus. Starting linebacker Tommy Woodard has a bruised knee and linebacker Scott Henderson has a bruised side. Tackle Ray Dowdy has a bruised shoulder. Defensive end David Arledge has knee problems.

JUDY DOUBTFUL
If TCU, a four-touchdown underdog, is to take advantage of the Longhorn injury problems, quarterback Steve Judy must be well.

Judy is recovering from a sprained ankle and he says "I'll be ready somehow." Trainer Elmer Brown says "I'll imagine he'll play."

And Coach Fred Taylor says "Well, I'd call him doubtful."

Texas has won 27 consecutive games but has always had problems with the pesky Horned Frogs, holding a 35-19-1 all-time edge. Texas has won the last five games in Fort Worth. Arkansas, tied with Texas at 4-0 in the SWC chase, hosts crippled Southern Methodist at 1 p.m. in Fayetteville. Arkansas is missing talented tailback Bill Burnett while SMU's quarterback Chuck Hixson and flanker Raymond Mapps are trying to recover from injuries. Mapps is a definite starter but it will not be known until game time whether Hixson can make it.

"I tell you what it's like to go up into those hills," says Mustang coach Hayden Fry, who was an assistant coach at Arkansas. "You're giving away 12 points every time you play them up there. That's what the home field advantage is worth at Fayetteville."

Texas Tech is 4-1 in SWC play and plays dangerous Baylor in Waco.

Russell Hurts Wrist In Fall

By The Associated Press
Cleveland's baby Cavaliers happily lost a chance for a niche in the National Basketball Association record book while the New York Knicks lost more than just another game.

The Cavaliers, who had equalled the NBA mark for start-of-season losses by dropping the first 15 games in this, their premiere season, beat the Portland Trail Blazers 105-103 Thursday night in a battle of expansion clubs.

And the defending champion Knicks, who fell 110-108 to Baltimore, suffered a more severe setback when Cazzie Russell fell and fractured his left wrist, sidelining the star forward for at least six weeks.

In the night's only other NBA game, Cincinnati overwhelmed San Francisco 121-107. In the American Basketball Association, Utah whipped the Florida-ans 125-115 and Indiana nipped Pittsburgh 135-132.

The Cavaliers, Cleveland's first NBA team since the Rebels played their only season there in 1946-47, gladly settled for a record-book tie with another long-defunct team.

They equalled the mark of 15 season-starting setbacks set by the Denver Nuggets back in 1949-50 when they played their lone season in what was then known as the Basketball Association of America.

Walt Wesley's 21 points topped the balanced Cleveland attack but it was Bob Lewis who gave the Cavaliers their first lead at 99-98 with 2:30 remaining in the game, then locked up the victory with a pair of long jumpers in the final minutes. Portland's Jim Barnett led all scorers with 27.

Cincinnati pulled ahead to stay early in the first quarter and never let San Francisco get closer than six points the rest of the way. Tom VanArsdale paced the Royals with 29 points. Jerry Lucas collected 24 for the Warriors.

Hull Is In Court
CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Joanne Hull, wife of hockey star for the Chicago Black Hawks, filed for divorce in Cook County Circuit court Thursday on grounds of "physical cruelty."

Will, who finished with a 71, protested that someone took or moved the ball, but the rules committee said this could not be proved.

De Vincenzo posted his 64 despite rain and cold. His effort equalled the course record over the 6,700-yard jockey club layout.

The 72-hole tourney, in which 43 teams are competing, ends Sunday.

NEW YORK (AP)—Taking a chance on pro football picks for the first time, or we don't want to set the world on fire... we just want to start a few hot arguments.

The Detroit Lions will be black and blue after playing Minnesota's deep Purple Gang... or it don't snow in Minneapolis in the wintertime.

Minnesota 21, Detroit 1. That's one in a row. Oakland's raiding party will steal everything except the altitude in Denver's Mile High Stadium while busting the Broncos.

Oakland 34, Denver 13. That's two. Now, the blindfold please... New York Giants 26, Washington Redskins 21—Fran Tarkenton, quarterback by choice, boxer by chance, will use his arm instead of his fists and scramble all those Indians.

Kansas City 34, Pittsburgh 13—Len Dawson has a rifle arm and a Cannon to catch his bullets—Billy Cannon, that is.

San Francisco 44, Houston 7 —San Francisco finds gold in the Houston oilfield and shuts the Golden Gates on Charley Johnson.

Los Angeles 35, New York Jets 10—The Jets visit Hollywood, but that's show business.

Cleveland 29, Cincinnati 12—The Browns keep a vigil on Virgil Carter and spank Cincinnati's kids.

San Diego 19, Boston 0—The Chargers are coming, the Chargers are coming!

Baltimore 45, Buffalo 13—Colt-45. Why not? Green Bay 20, Chicago 14—The Chicago fire fizzles... or they didn't make little Green Bay apples.

Miami 14, New Orleans 13—The Dolphins get along swimmingly, and the Saints go marching out.

St. Louis 21, Dallas 19—Cowboys ride off into the sunset moaning the St. Louis Blues Monday night.

Atlanta 24, Philadelphia 14—The Falcons are flying, the Falcons are flying!

Sands Is Host To Forsan In 7:30 5-B Engagement

ACKERLY — Sands and Forsan tangle in what has become a traditional football game at 7:30 p.m. here tonight.

Forsan usually goes out the window when the two clubs play. Nothing but fierce pride will be at stake and a full house is likely to look in on the action.

Both teams have been hit fairly hard by injuries. Forsan perhaps harder than Sands.

Eight seniors will be in for Sands, including QB Steve Herm, who is ailing and will not be able to play.

Other Sands seniors include ends Felix Robles and Ronnie Oakes, tackles Gavino Rodriguez and Edward Barraza, center Larry Shaw, and backs Eddie Newcomer and Johnny Peugh.

Sands showed muscle last week in upsetting Roby, 15-6. Forsan, meanwhile, was losing to the District 5-B pace setter, Jayton.

James Blake, the Sands mentor, formerly coached at Forsan.

Sands winds up play on a premature note, since Hermlegh

Colts Turn Back Forsan, 38-28

ACKERLY — Sands Junior High won two boys' basketball games from Forsan here Thursday night.

The Sands seventh graders prevailed by a margin of 34-13. Johnny Robles hit 14, Lynn Wigington seven and Andy Anderson six for the Colts while Hocker had seven for the Junior Buffs.

In eighth grade boys' play, Sands won its second game in two starts by beating Forsan, 38-28. Keith Gandy leading the way with ten points. Joe Moreno had 11 for Forsan.

LOOKING 'EM OVER
With Tommy Hart

Don Maynard, who went from the football commons in Colorado City to become professional football's all-time pass catcher, still gets a thrill from being the fellow on the spot in critical passing situations.

Maynard, who wears No. 13 for the New York Jets, has grabbed aerial mail from at least 25 different quarterbacks in his 11 years in the Hessians-for-hire ranks. He's picked up well over 10,000 yards, an achievement matched by no other player. He owns the AFL record for career touchdowns and is a member of the all-time AFL team.

Asked recently if, when he started with the old New York Titans back in 1960, did he ever think he would be playing in anything as big as the Super Bowl, Maynard replied:

"Everybody was optimistic on the old Titans. It takes experience and talent to win and it takes a lot of time to accumulate those qualities. But we all felt that there was a lot of progress to be made. The new league then gave a second chance to some young athletes and a new start for some older ones. But perhaps the biggest thing it did, in my opinion, was to expose football to more people. It gave the nation new teams to focus attention upon and maybe somewhere along the line an interest in one of the teams in a part of the country where football wasn't available helped keep some kid inside watching television instead of outside on a vacant lot looking for trouble."

Don says it takes a long time to get used to a quarterback, because one has to work hard to read and react to a certain style. Adjusting to any pitcher, Don reasons, can take as long as two years.

Maynard is all for playing on synthetic grass because it seems to increase his speed. He likes to work out on the real thing, however, because synthetic turf is hard on a player's legs.

BSHS sophomore quarterback Alan Davis missed the entire 1970 season due to a broken bone in his wrist and he still hasn't been given the okay to play again.

However, young Davis is developing into a fine punter and is learning to kick soccer style. He's getting fairly accurate aiming at the cross bars with that unusual approach, too.

The officiating in last Saturday night's Big Spring-Odessa football game left much to be desired. The referee was subbing for Burns McKinney, who was busy in the Southwest Conference and the four men couldn't seem to coordinate their efforts.

Big Spring had one drive going late in the game and Dave Duncan passed successfully to Cal Lowery on a play that would have moved the Steers to the shadow of the Odessa goal.

An arbiter called one of the Big Spring backs for holding, nullifying the play and forcing the Steers into a punting situation. In reality, the back charged with the violation was a decoy going through the line on a dive play and was tackled by the opposition.

Odessa's Jimmy Means was credited with a catch for two extra points following Odessa's second touchdown but few in the park thought that Means ever had possession of the ball.

How many games will you see where 137 yards in infractions are stepped off against one team, none against the other? There can't be that much difference in the play.

He's been at it only two seasons but Jerry Barron of Big Spring is an up-and-coming official. He's always close to the action. In the middle '50's, Barron was an outstanding back for Big Spring.

Big Spring would like to even its season's record at 5-5 and insure its chances for a first division finish in 5-AAAA. San Angelo lusts to avenge a loss handed it by the Steers last year.

The two teams get together at 8 o'clock here tonight in the season's final game for both teams.

San Angelo, better than their rooters had dared hope, could conceivably be first place in the standings but has already yielded the right to appear in the post-season playoffs because of a loss suffered at the hands of Odessa Permian last week.

Bobcat buffs reason the Orange will be able to measure the Bold Gold if the Felines do not suffer too severe a letdown following the defeat by Permian. That isn't likely to happen. San Angelo always has had a knack for getting motivated for the Big Spring game.

Big Spring's staunchest supporters don't know what to expect of their club. The Steers are 4-5 on the year. They've won more than most anyone expected of them and already have clinched fifth place in the eight-team circuit.

If the locals stabilize their momentum and go full throttle throughout the game, their friends feel they can do well against the Bobcats.

Last week, the Longhorns looked like they were going to blow Odessa off the field for a half. They led, 27-8, going into the dressing room at the intermission and many thought Odessa should not have been allowed to score. The Black Knights lost their momentum, however, and barely won, 27-24. Local fans have been advised to keep their peepers on No. 22, one Walter Lewis of San Angelo. He plays to win. Certainly he is the most discussed performer in the league. With some hot-eyed fans, he is the most cussed. Many question his tactics. Few question his fervor. San Angelo likely won't give up much acreage on the ground and Big Spring hasn't shown too strong a passing game. With the exception of Abilene Cooper, however, the Longhorns have been able to move the ball against all 5-AAAA foes.

It could and should be quite an evening.

Probable starters:

BIG SPRING
E—John Weeks 155 and David Engler 185; T—Pink Dickens 190 and Steve Rich 190; G—James Miller 170 and Howard Stewart 170 or Pete Shaffer 170; C—Dale Stenshaw 195 or Ronnel Brock 190; QB—Dove Duncan 170; RB—Robby Coffey 150 or Ricky Steen 125; FB—David Stanley 180; E—Tommy Fletcher 160.

S ANGELO

Stanton Loses Final Game

BIG LAKE — Reagan County defeated Stanton, 47-13, here Thursday night to insure itself a share of the District 5-AA championship.

The hard-luck Buffaloes, with eight regulars out of action due to injuries and coach Bill Young going largely with underclassmen, finished the season without a win.

The victory was the sixth in ten assignments for the Big Lake team.

The game was moved forward 24 hours due to a teachers' workshop scheduled today in Midland.

David Hickman counted two touchdowns and Roger Neill four for the Owls.

Lonnie Dumas added one touchdown for the winners while Larry Nunnally contributed five extra points with kicks.

Stanton got on the board for the first time in the second with 1:05 left in the half when QB Glenn Ray passed 27 yards to Rick Wilson.

Wilson made a miraculous catch in the end zone after the aerial was a little underthrown.

The Buffaloes scored again in the fourth, with 5:30 remaining, when Ray flipped a four-yard pass to Larry Adams. A 58-yard screen pass from Ray to Frankie Barnhill set up the score.

Ray booted the PAT after the first Stanton score.

Ten seniors were playing their final game for Stanton. Coach Bill Young, who recently got a two-year renewal on his contract, will have 19 lettermen back with whom to work and prospects are considerably brighter for 1971.

The Buffaloes kept battling to the end last night, which brought praise from their coaches and Stanton fans alike.

Runnels' Yearlings lived up to their roles as favorites by drubbing Goliad, 18-6, in the final game of the season for both teams here Thursday evening.

The Mavericks fought the Yearlings on even terms for a half but the Yearlings broke through for a touchdown in the third and two more in the fourth.

Goliad managed its tally 2:18 before the end when Billy Don Whittington broke loose on a kickoff return and raced 85 yards to pay dirt.

Runnels was inside Goliad's 20 twice in the first half and a Yearling bobbled a pass in the end zone in the final second of the first half. On the first play of the game, Bob Zellars' team advanced as far as Goliad's 12 but Goliad bristled to hold.

Dick Earhart scored first for Runnels on a three-yard run in the third with 3:11 left. That drive was for 68 yards and it took 12 plays.

Runnels put together a 58-yard drive in 12 plays in the fourth, QB Bobby Bradshaw passing to Pete Lopez for the TD. There was 4:18 left in the game.

Jerry Mintz promptly recovered a Goliad fumble at the enemy 18 and on the first play Albert Smith circled end for the third Runnels tally, with only 2:35 left.

Smith gained 51 yards in seven carries for Runnels. Earhart picked up 76 in 16 tries. Bradshaw 27 in 11 thrusts and called a very heady game. Runnels ran 59 plays to only 26 for Goliad.

Jerome Franks, Raymond Ortega, Noe Luevanos, Mintz, Stan Partee, Larry Marquez, Smith, Steve Wilkerson, Randy Easley, Earhart, Lopez, Clarence Pollard, Doug Robison and Bradshaw all played stellar defensive ball for Runnels.

Permanent captains were elected by the Runnels team and announced following the game. They are Mintz, Earhart, Smith and Bradshaw.

JVs Lose 21-14 Verdict To San Angelo Eleven

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo combined its JV unit with its sophomores and overpowered the Big Spring JVs, 21-14, here Thursday night.

The victory ended a four-game losing skein for the Cats and brought a halt to Big Spring's two-game win streak. The Dogies ended play with a 2-7 mark.

San Angelo put together a 71-yard drive in the last 4 1/2 minutes to nail down the decision. Dickie Schultz scored the TD on a three-yard run after a 34-yard pass from Lanny Layman to Sandy Lawrence set up the score.

When Schultz bruised in, only 54 seconds of play remained.

Big Spring recovered a San Angelo punt in the opening period and went out in front on a 28-yard drive. Walter Jordan going the final four yards.

Sophomore Rodney Naylor carried in from the one for San Angelo's first score and Schultz kicked the PAT to make it 7-6. George Nava had a 27-yard run in the surge.

Central went farther in front in the third on a 60-yard march, Nava going the final yards. Schultz again converted.

Big Spring got its second TD following a Bobcat fumble at the San Angelo 16. QB Scott Carlile circled left end for the final 10. Carlile then passed to Nate Poss for the two extra points to deadlock the count at 14-14. Carlile's TD came just before the third period ended.

Big Spring gained 164 yards on the ground but only five through the air, the result of one completion. San Angelo picked up 222 on the ground and 42 through the ozone.

Colonels Fire Gene Rhodes

John Brisker, Zelmo Beaty and Donnie Freeman were firing them in on the American Basketball Association courts—but that was nothing compared to the firing on the benches.

Freeman canned 53 points in a losing effort for Pittsburgh as a losing effort for Pittsburgh as the Indiana Pacers tripped the Condors 135-132 while Beaty and Freeman scored 39 points to lead the runaway Utah Stars to a 125-115 triumph over the Floridians in Thursday night's ABA action.

The Indiana and Utah victories were the only ABA games. But two other clubs—the Kentucky Colonels and Denver Rockets—were far from idle.

The Colonels fired Coach Gene Rhodes and temporarily ager Alex Groza, a former star handed the job to business man-at the University of Kentucky, as they conducted negotiations with former Boston Celtics star Frank Ramsey.

Just hours later the Rockets ejected Joe Belmont as head coach and boosted assistant coach Stan Albeck into the top spot.

Denver's move was prompted by a losing club—the Rockets are 3-10 and fighting to stay out of the West Division cellar. Kentucky is 10-5 and just a game out of first in the East. Mike Storen president of the Colonels called the decision a "business judgement."

Roger Brown paced the Pacers with 38 points including a three-point goal that put them ahead of the Condors for good at 84-81 late in the third period. Bob Netolicky added 31 points for the winners.

The Floridians, led by Larry Jones' 32 points, breezed to a 15-point lead in the first period but couldn't hold it.

Utah, retaining its 3 1/2-game margin over Indiana in the West, cut the gap to five points at the intermission, then raced to its 11th victory in 12 games.

Frog Ace Ailing

Quarterback Steve Judy of Texas Christian will not start against Texas Saturday because of the sprained ankle he suffered last week against Texas Tech.

Frogs Could Deal Misery To Texas

By The Associated Press

Everyone's ganging up on Texas lately. Baylor did last weekend, holding the mighty Longhorns to a hard-earned 21-14 victory. Then the pollsters dropped Texas from first to second and Coach Darrell Royal expects more of the same from Texas Christian on Saturday in Fort Worth.

"You just don't go running roughshod over people when they put up a stubborn resistance," Royal said of the Baylor game, in which Texas was a lopsided favorite. "They played defense better than we blocked."

STEERS TO RUN

Royal predicted Texas Christian would bunch up on the line of scrimmage, as Baylor did, to stop Texas' wishbone-T running attack. But, he added, "We'll still basically try to move the ball by running."

Revenge is on TCU's side, though. Last year, Texas scored the most points in Southwest Conference history with a 69-7 rout. But Texas has a 27-game winning streak.

"I said before the season that there would be several games that would be close," Royal reminded, "and we've had two of them. You can take a gun and put one bullet in it, spin the chamber and the odds are good it won't go off. But you sure get nervous knowing it's up there somewhere."

Notre Dame, the team that replaced Texas at the top of The Associated Press poll, entertains Georgia Tech, while No. 3 Ohio State, No. 4 Nebraska and No. 5 Michigan all have big games on tap.

Ohio State visits Purdue and Michigan hosts Iowa with the Big Ten showdown game one week off. Nebraska is at home against Kansas State with the Big Eight lead and a probable Orange Bowl bid for the Corn huskers at stake. Georgia Tech hopes to give Notre Dame a battle, but Coach Bud Carson says the Fighting Irish are "the best team in the country."

"I've seen films on Ohio State and Texas, but I feel that we'll be playing the best there is this weekend. They're in a class by themselves. They present all the problems a football team can present. Joe Theismann is one of the great quarterbacks in the country—and that's an understatement."

Trustees Choose Name, Curator For Museum

Both a name and a curator were chosen Tuesday night for the proposed museum to be housed in the former county library building at Sixth and Scurry.

Trustees named Gladys Hardy, a former Big Spring school teacher and president of the local Genealogical Society, to be curator of the Heritage Museum, tentatively scheduled to open in February or March.

Miss Hardy will leave Sunday for a month's training in a Fort Worth museum before taking over duties here Jan. 1.

During Miss Hardy's absence, Wade Choate (267-8373) and R. H. Weaver (267-8203) will accept donations of money and objects for the museum. Weaver is providing storage space for museum items, however donors will be asked to keep the items until Jan. 1 if possible.

Weaver was also appointed to obtain a new charter for the museum. The group has a charter dated 1933 for the West

GLADYS HARDY

Texas Memorial Museum Inc., but trustees decided Thursday night a new charter would be in order.

"We've found out it is not very good to accept loans for permanent display," Jerry Worthy said. "The old charter says the museum cannot own objects or land or a building."

"Our operating expenses are pretty well taken care of," Worthy said. Howard County commissioners voted to give the museum the use of the former library building and included $5,000 in their budget for the museum. City commissioners also included $5,000 in their budget for the museum.

"This gives us $10,000 to operate on, which will handle Miss Hardy's salary and the $2,000 utility bill we're expecting for the year," Worthy told the group.

"It will be a tight squeeze, but we're not expecting any cost for acquisitions," he said. "We should be able to make it."

Worthy said county commissioners had agreed to have the building cleaned and sprayed for insects before artifacts are placed in the building.

OIL Martin Adds Producers

Martin County added two Spraberry producers Friday, one a 218-barrel well in the Spraberry Trend Area, and the other a 45-barrel discovery in an old well worked over in the Broadleaves area south of Patricia.

Martin gained two Spraberry locations, Howard picked up a location in Hutto-South field and in the Snyder field, and had one venture, Union Texas No. 1 Walker, plugged and abandoned.

By HOWARD SIMMS
Lyle Noah, director of the Teen Challenge Center in Dallas, told Kiwanians, Lions, and Civitans Thursday at the Settles Hotel of a program that reaches out in 36 cities to help teens hooked on drugs.

G. G. Morehead, chairman of the Kiwanis Operation Drug Alert committee, introduced the speaker with an explanation of the telephone drug counselling service that is planned for Big Spring.

Morehead said Operation Drug Alert is to go into effect after the volunteer counsellors receive their training at the state hospital, and explained that Noah is an expert chosen to enlighten club members on the ways "drugs make life hell."

Noah began by saying that for seven years in Dallas "I have been working with the most wonderful people in the world, and most of them are teenagers."

TEEN CHALLENGE
He said the Teen Challenge program started when a young news reporter, David Wilkerson, covered the trial of a group of drug users eventually convicted of repeatedly stabbing a boy in a wheelchair.

Wilkerson began studying the relation between crime and mainline drug use in the Bedford-Stuyvesant area of New York, Noah said, and Wilkerson eventually received a grant from Clement Stone to set up the first Teen Challenge Center.

"The center works with teenagers, including some who have been hard drug users and have cleaned themselves up," Noah said.

HELP OTHERS
"They help others, not by coming on strong, but by showing others still on drugs, 'I am clean, I am straight,' and just being available 24 hours a day to offer help."

Noah said that he himself had been introduced to drugs when he was going to college during the 1940's, when some musicians who lived in the same apartment building convinced him to try marijuana.

"They told me it is kicks, it is fun," Noah said, "and eventually I went on to snorting, skin popping, and mainlining harder stuff."

He said he thought the trouble with many anti-drug counselling is a failure to admit that there is a kick to drugs, since telling a user he is not having any fun when he knows differently, makes him doubt the truthfulness of the anti-drug message.

COLD TURKEY
Noah said he was arrested several times, had a bout with hepatitis, and wound up in a California prison, physically dehydrated and run down,

Rev. Sebesta Gives Final Sermon Here

"It's been a rewarding experience for me and my family. We will take fond memories of Big Spring with us when we leave," said the Rev. Daniel Sebesta of his four years at St. Paul Presbyterian Church.

Sunday, the Rev. Sebesta will present his last sermon at St. Paul. He is leaving to assume the leadership of the First Presbyterian Church of Graham. The Rev. Sebesta will call his congregation Sunday of "A Place To Stand," taken from the scriptures of Acts 26:19 through 23.

During his work with St. Paul's, a $100,000 building project was completed, furnishing the church with a new sanctuary, office spaces and an education wing. The congregation increased in size from 162 to 240.

Prayer programs have become established at the church since the Rev. Sebesta began his work here. He helped to initiate the "Prayer for Every Family Every Day" program in which members of the congregation choose a family for whom their own family will pray every day.

According to the Rev. Sebesta, one of the families in the congregation began a program called "10 Brave Christians." This program centers around prayer, and Bible study and has been in practice by the congregation for seven months, he said.

"These programs reflect my own interest in prayer," he added, "I have been thrilled with the response of the congregation to my leadership. The building was completed and the church grew. It has been a delightful experience."

The Rev. Sebesta and his wife Carol have three children, Mike, 10; Tim, 6; and Dana, 2.

Two Questioned Concerning Theft

Sheriff's officers are currently questioning a suspect in connection with the theft Thursday afternoon of a cash box from the Hyden Auto Center of the Lamesa Hwy.

Approximately $250 to $300 was in the box at the time of the theft. Sheriff A. N. Standard said that the box and its contents were recovered under a pile of debris on the premises Thursday.

Fingerprints have been obtained from the box and investigation of the scene is continuing, according to Sheriff Standard. Another suspect in the theft has been questioned and released. No charges had been filed before noon today.

Former Addict Aids Teens In Kicking The Drug Habit

where he was forced into "cold turkey" withdrawal.

"I had been to government clinics and hospitals for cures, but I was not ready then to break completely with drugs," said Noah. "All I had wanted to do was lower the habit so it would be less expensive."

GOD CARES
"I found I didn't have anyone to put down but myself," Noah continued. "I began reading the Bible, and found a God that cares."

He was paroled to the custody of his brother in Dallas, after being off of drugs for nearly a year. His parole officer asked Noah to talk to some juveniles in Dallas that the authorities would have to help or send to Gatesville.

Noah said this eventually resulted in his organization of the Teen Challenge Center, in which volunteers run a telephone answering service, the

Scout Post Open To Girls, Boys

Boys and girls (you heard right, girls) interested in learning about any of the many career fields in medicine are being urged to attend an organizational meeting for a medical Explorer post.

The organization session will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 19 (Thursday) in Room 232, Veterans Administration Hospital, according to Bill Fryrear, Explorer chairman.

He emphasized that this is open to any young person 14 or older in Howard County. He said leadership for a post has been secured.

In a break with tradition, Boy Scouts of America have invited girls to become participants at the senior level in the various posts, which generally specialize in a career or occupational field.

Theft Of Auto Being Investigated

Police are investigating the alleged theft of a car from Dewey Ray Chrysler-Plymouth by a man who had been given the car to use until his new car arrives.

The man is also suspected in the theft of a rifle, a shotgun, a watch, and two signs from the residence of Arlie Knight, 1423 Tucson.

The suspect is reported to be in jail in Juarez, Mexico.

Banquet Slated

The annual Howard County 4-H Awards Banquet is to be held in the Big Spring High School cafeteria at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Awards for special achievements during the year will be presented to the members of the Knott, Coahoma, Lomax, Gay Hill, Elbow, North Ridge, and Lucky Acres clubs.

The Gold Star awards will also be presented to the boy and girl with highest overall achievements.

Former Resident Donates $500 To New Museum

A welcome visitor to the Thursday night meeting of the Heritage Museum trustees was May Dell Alderman, whose father established the first water works and telephone company in Big Spring.

"I think it is only proper that my name starts with an A, and I hope this will continue right down the alphabet," Miss Alderman said in donating a $500 check to the museum. Another donation received by the museum is $25 from the American Association of University Women. Both were unsolicited, Mrs. Clyde Angel said.

Miss Alderman's mother and grandfather first came to Howard County in 1888 from Ohio, with her father following soon after. Miss Alderman was born in Big Spring, although she now lives in Ohio.

The ranchland purchased by her family included the area near the Big Spring site and where the Comanche Trail Park is now located, she told the group Thursday night.

She and Gladys Hardy, who was named curator of the new museum, have been corresponding for some time concerning history of this area. On this visit to Big Spring she brought a number of pictures taken in this area during the early 1900's.

Once previously, in 1964, she brought a number of early-day Big Spring pictures here, leaving them with Edith Gay, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Miss Gay said she still has the pictures which will be displayed in the museum.

She also told the trustees she had a copy of the announcement of the opening of her father's water works and she will donate that to the museum.

The phone company which her father began here started with 29 subscribers, she said. Later the company spread to Midland, Tahoka, Post and other communities in this area until there were 37 exchanges when the company was sold to Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. She also has the first telephone directory — a single sheet.

One Pelican Is Plenty!

Why put a pelican in a West Texas museum? Trustees of the Heritage Museum are not sure, but they have one.

"It is not exactly the sort of thing pioneers saw every day on the West Texas prairie," Mrs. Harold Davis told trustees Thursday night.

The "somewhat ragged," stuffed pelican is one of several items recovered from the old West Texas museum which has been defunct for several years now.

Trustees have several items, including the original Shine Phillips' manuscript of "Big Spring," to be included in the museum.

"We are not only interested in securing items for the museum, we would also like a history of the object," Jerry Worthy said Thursday night. The museum will include items of interest to Howard County and the surrounding area.

Persons who have items to donate can contact Wade Choate (267-8373) or R. H. Weaver (267-8203) — but please, no stuffed pelicans!

Wreck Injures Big Spring Man

An accident two miles north of Big Spring on US 87 has resulted in one man hospitalized and treated for possible broken bones.

Bob Bright, 1606 1/2 Scurry, was injured in a collision at 6:30 p.m. Thursday with a vehicle driven by Kenny Clanton, Gail Road. Bright was taken to Medical Center Memorial Hospital for treatment. Clanton was not believed to be injured in the accident.

Investigating officer was Texas Highway Patrolman Kenneth Maxwell.

Zone Board To Reconvene

Planning and zoning board members met Thursday night for another work session on the proposed mobile home ordinance, and agreed to numerous revisions in the first 14 pages of the preliminary draft.

Board chairman Bill Sheppard called another meeting for Monday at 5:15 p.m. to continue revisions on the remaining 23 pages.

Most of the changes decided on involved removing restrictive language from the definitions. The annual license fee for mobile home park operators was lowered by $25, and provision for annual inspection is to be added.

Several of the spacing requirements for mobile homes were eliminated, as infringing on the planning freedom of the mobile home operator.

Screening requirements and size requirements on recreational areas and lot-lots were eliminated from the definitions, along with the idea of a drying yard, which several mobile home park owners said was obsolete.

Denton Marsalis called attention to language that seemed to exclude tenting facilities from regulation by the ordinance, and several changes were suggested to avoid the problem.

DEATHS

Saturday Rites

Services for Curtis D. Bethany, 38, who died Tuesday, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Baker Chapel of the Tenth and Lancaster AME Church, with the Rev. W. L. Brown, officiating. Burial in Mt. Olive Cemetery under the direction of the River-Welch Funeral Home.

Mrs. Meiffner, Relatives Here

Services were scheduled for 10 a.m. this morning in Haltom City for Mrs. Mary Meiffner, 68, who died Wednesday in a Ft. Worth hospital. Burial was in the Longview Cemetery.

Mrs. Brennan, C-City Pioneer

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mrs. R. S. Brennan Sr., 93, a pioneer Colorado City resident, died Thursday afternoon.

Services will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Billy Wilkerson, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery under the direction of the Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

W. C. Merrick, California Rites

W. C. Merrick, 73, a Big Spring native who lived in San Ysidro, Calif., died Wednesday. He raised and trained horses for use in Hollywood films.

Services were to be held in California today, with burial in the Forest Lawn Cemetery, Los Angeles.

He is survived by his wife Grace; two sisters, Mrs. Norma Merrick, Colorado City, and Mrs. Mary Craig, Forsan; two nieces, Mrs. Hazel Hensch, Houston, and Mrs. Norma Baker, Andrews; and two nephews, Rodney Robert, Big Spring; and Bill Merrick, Dallas.

Arthritis Group Slates Campaigns

Teen Tag Day here Saturday will be the first of two major efforts in support of the Arthritis Foundation drive.

This will be followed Monday evening by the Door Belles who will canvass every neighborhood in the city.

A special feature of the house calls will be a survey by workers to try to determine the number of individuals in Howard County who have arthritis.

Two Tri-Hi-Y clubs will be at the Highland and the College Park shopping centers, as well as downtown, giving people an opportunity to contribute to the Arthritis Foundation's efforts to combat this disabling ailment, and to wear AF lapel pins. Each of the participating girls will have an arm band and a marked canister to identify her.

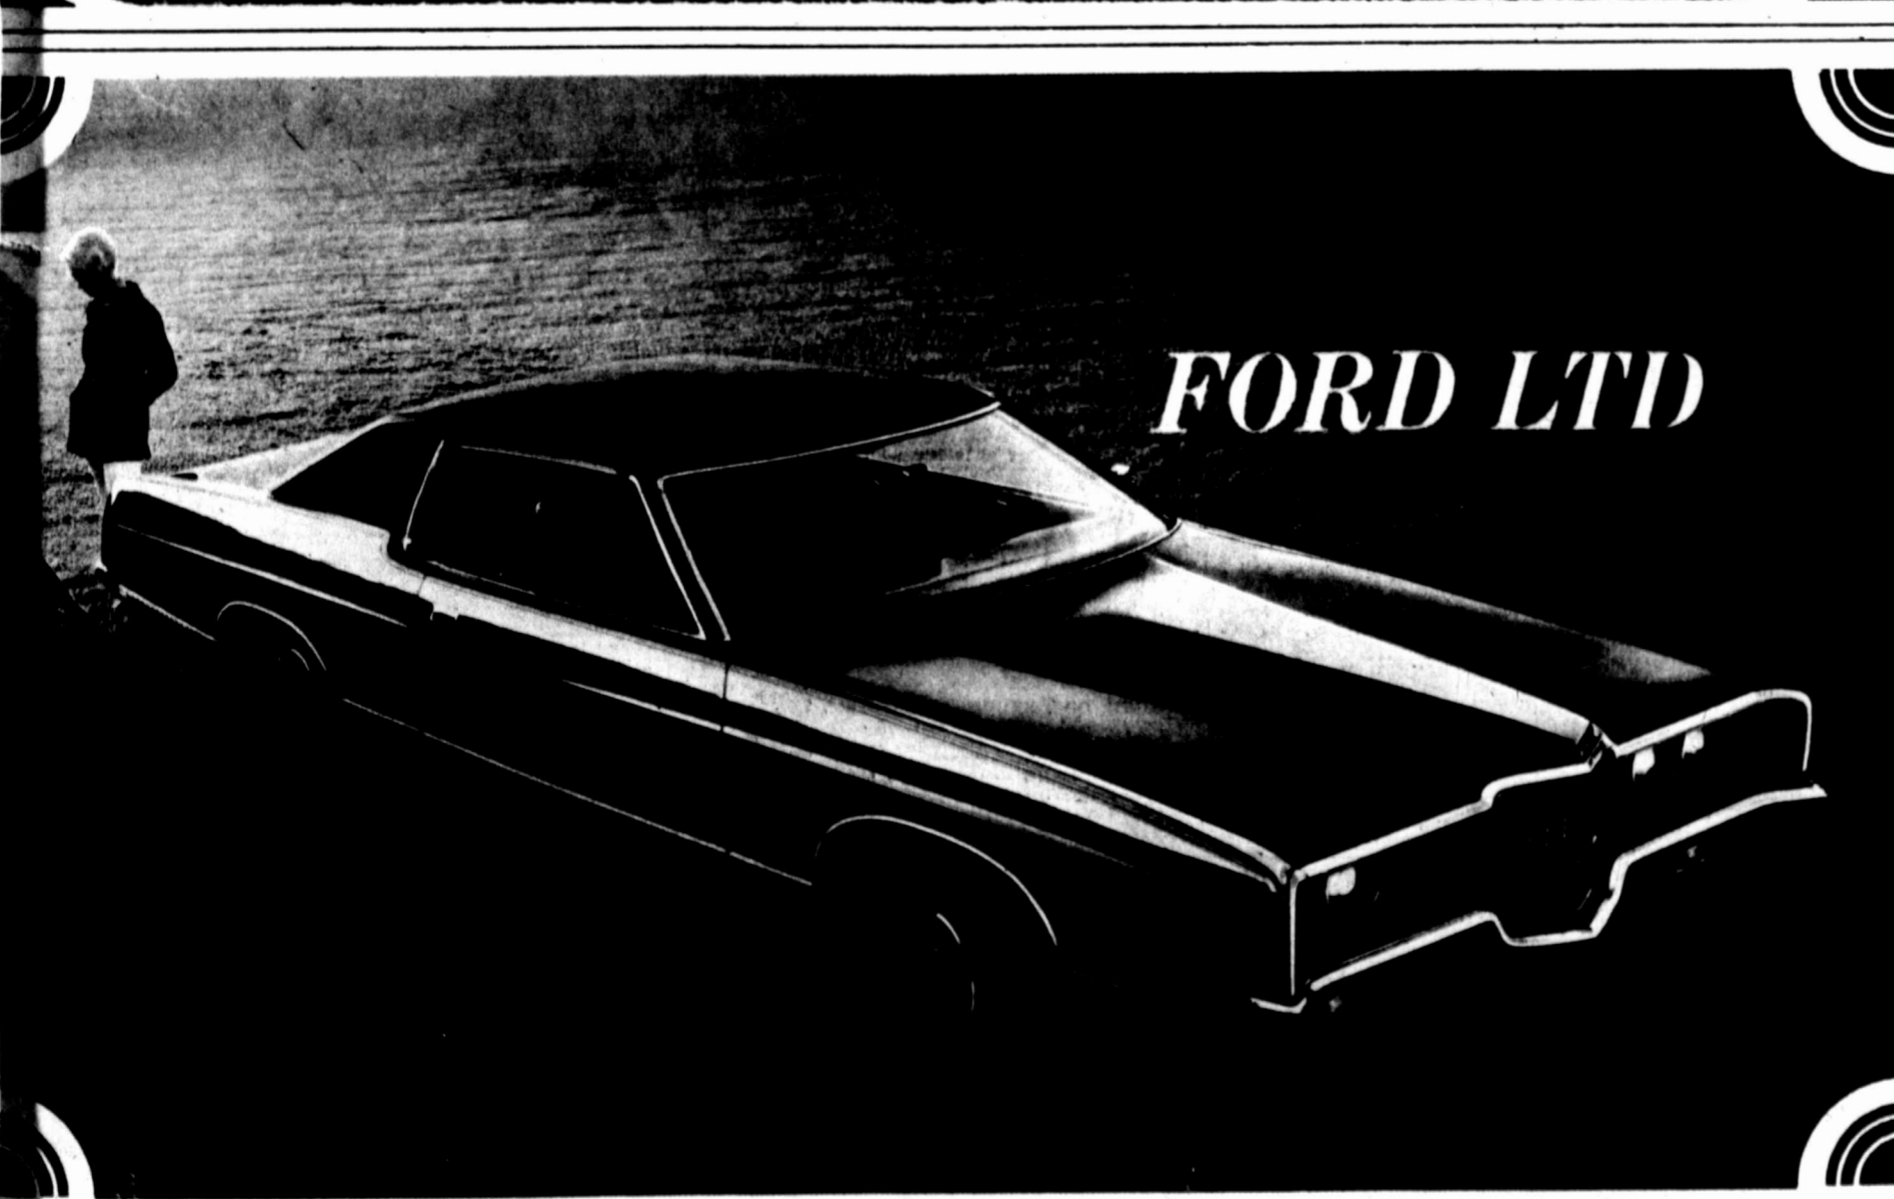

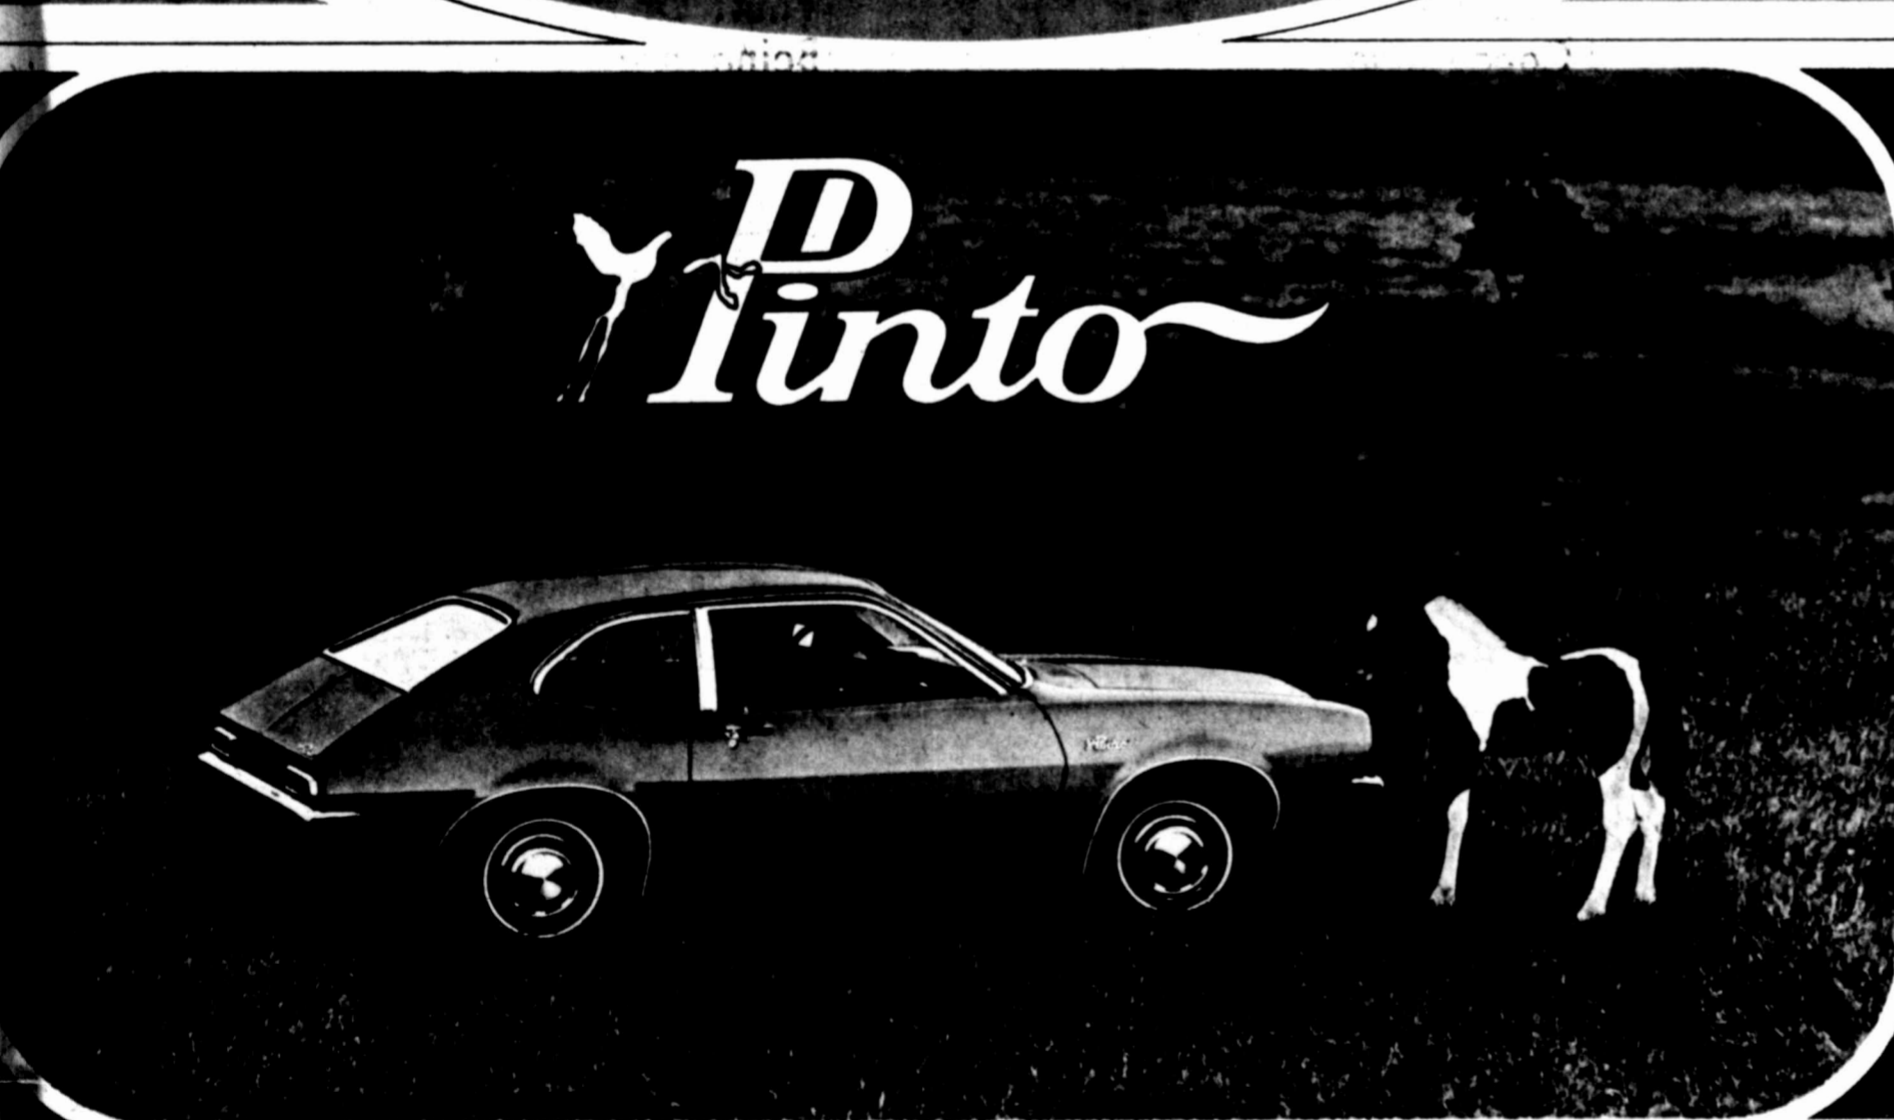

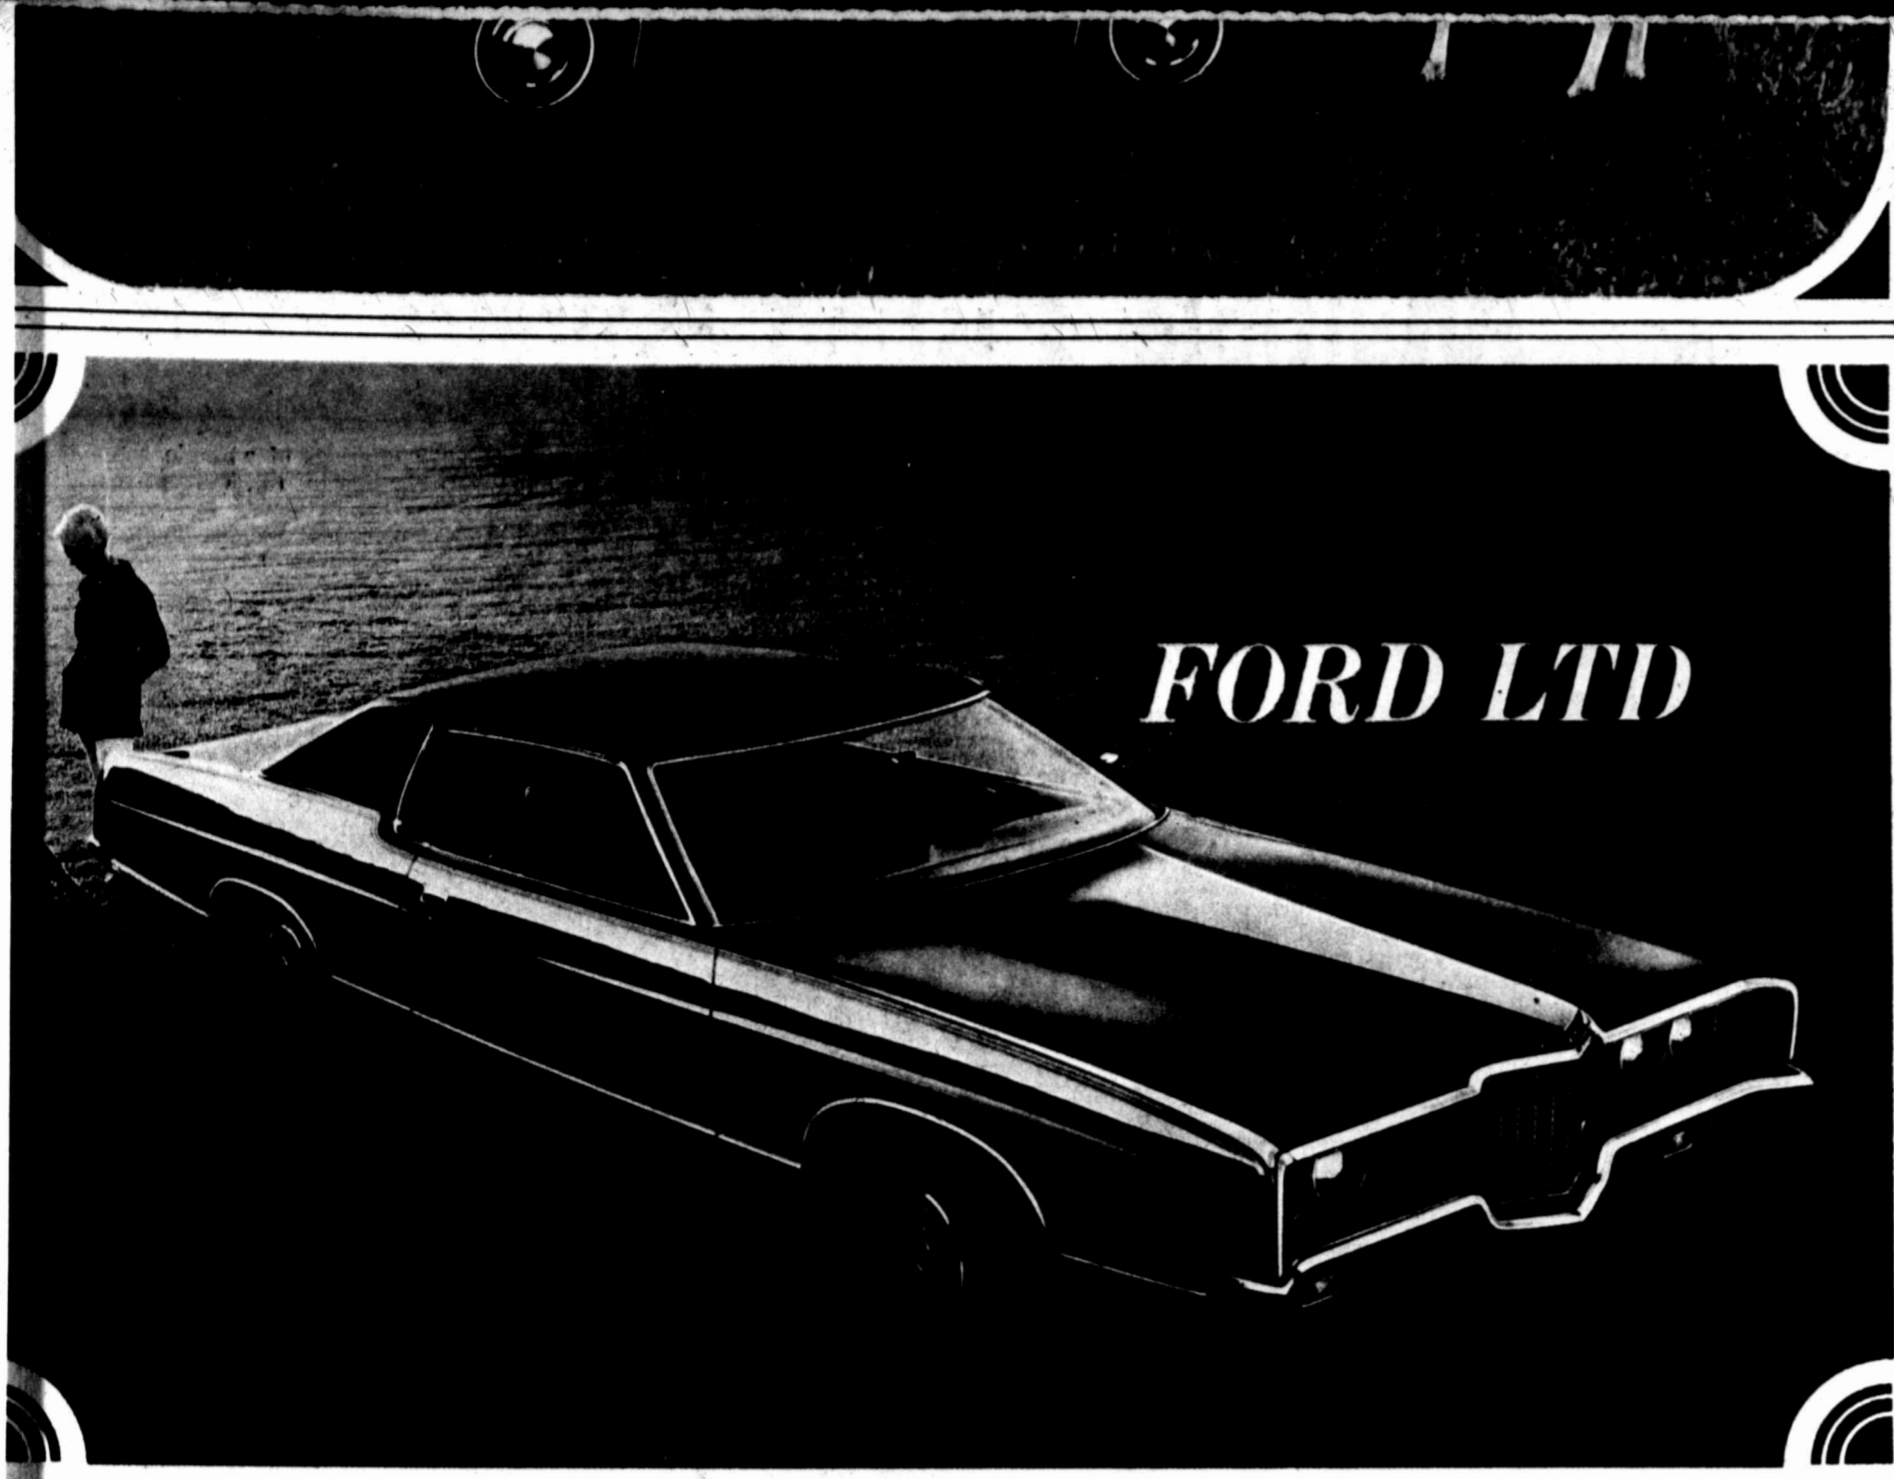

Monday scores of volunteers known as Door Belles will canvass their neighborhoods between the hours of 5:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. They will turn in their kits at the Central Fire Station, Fourth and Nolan, immediately after completing their areas. Members of the board of directors of the eastern division of the West Texas chapter will be on hand to tabulate results.

Mrs. J. K. (Ara) Cunningham, campaign co-ordinator, expressed appreciation to many who have helped. The Alpha Chi chapter of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority stuffed envelopes, and the NCO Wives and Officers Wives Clubs made telephone contact to enlist marchers, as did the Jaycee-Ettes, Mrs. J. M. Bradley of the ESA Mu Kappa chapter; also to team leaders and the individual marchers.

Coin collectors have been placed in business places throughout the county to make it convenient for others to help.

What this is all about is helping arthritis sufferers, and Mrs. Cunningham urged arthritis sufferers to write the West Texas chapter, 2101 West Wall, Midland 7701 and ask for the free booklet "Today's Facts About Arthritis."

STATES COUNSELOR

'Alcoholics Outnumber Drug Addicts Now'

"There are more alcoholics than drug addicts," said Shelby Parnell, counselor at Big Spring State Hospital, when he was guest speaker at Tuesday's meeting of Moss Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association.

According to Parnell, there is a larger percentage of alcoholics and drug users from families with an alcoholic parent, or parents who used drugs excessively, than from families where there was no alcoholism or drug abuse. Drugs often abused are pills, diet pills and tranquilizers.

"The drug or alcohol in itself doesn't form the habit," said

Parnell. "It is the person who forms the habit. It is not how much or how often the alcoholic drinks, but it is the effect of alcohol on him. For example, I knew of a person who had been off alcohol for 15 years. Then one drink caused him to become a stronger alcoholic than before."

Mrs. Bill Reynolds presided and appointed a project committee to propose ways of using money earned by the PTA carnival. It was announced that a $681 balance remained after the carnival. M. A. Barber will be committee chairman with Mrs. Joyce Backs, Mrs. Marilyn Daniels, Wayne Beene, Larry Knight, Mrs. Don Miller and

Mrs. Bob Zellars, as members. Mrs. J. B. Cushing's second and third grade classes won the room count. The next meeting will be Dec. 1.

British Wives Announce Dates Of Holiday Events

Mrs. Bryan Matthews assumed the presidency of the British Wives Club at Thursday's meeting in the home of Mrs. Ronald Huntley. Christmas projects announced were to decorate at the Veterans Administration Hospital, provide a basket of food and other items for a needy family and provide a bag of small gifts for single airmen, who are unable to go home during the holidays. The airmen's gifts will be distributed through the service club.

The installation dinner will be held at the NCO Open Mess Nov. 21. Mrs. Charles Prues was recognized by members for being awarded first prize for her painting at the service club art show last week. Serving at the VA Hospital Nov. 6 were Mrs. Robert Bauer, Mrs. Huntley and Mrs. Kenneth Daubney. Refreshments were served from a table covered with linen and appointed with china. Mrs. Willis Ritz was a guest. The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 19 in the home of Mrs. Al Cantu, 4103 Connally.

A $10 donation was made to the United Fund by the Kiwanis-Queens who met Thursday for luncheon at the Holiday Inn. Mrs. S. M. Smith presided. Mrs. John A. Coffee thanked members for assisting at the coffee honoring Mrs. Ernest Sturche of the Texas-Oklahoma District governor of the Kiwanis. The next meeting will be at 9:30 a.m., Dec. 17 at the county home demonstration agent's office to make sand-wiches for the annual Kiwanis Christmas party for children at Westside Community Center.

Kiwanis-Queens To Assist Charity

The Tuesday Big Spring City Commission meeting was described by Mrs. C. R. Rhoads to Altrusa Club members at Thursday's luncheon meeting at Coker's Restaurant. Mrs. Rhoads is the club service committee chairman. She reviewed the trash container controversy and brought out points from the arguments. Petitions contain 1,100 signatures, she said, of which 1,100 belong to taxpayers, requesting that the city vote on bonds to finance the trash container question. Twenty-five cents will be added to each family's monthly garbage bill for the new trash system, she declared. Mrs. Rhoads also claimed that if the new system is adopted, 36 men will be laid off work.

Man-Made Gem Is Like Diamond

A new simulated diamond costs $50 per carat, compared to a price of more than $1000 per carat for a natural diamond of similar color and quality. At a luncheon during which the stone was introduced by Litton Industries and Saks Fifth Avenue, Cordon Franklin, head of Saks, said, "Never before have we seen a simulated gem which compares so closely to the natural diamond in fiery, blue white brilliance."

ROSE QUEEN — Kathy Arnett, student at Pasadena City College who lives in Los Angeles, holds red roses after she was chosen queen of the 82nd annual Tournament of Roses. She will preside over festivities during the big parade on New Year's Day and at the Rose Bowl game. A brunette, she is five feet, four inches tall and weighs 125 pounds.

Senior Citizens' Party Scheduled

STANTON (SC) — The monthly senior citizens' party will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Cap Rock Electric Auditorium, with all Martin County senior citizens invited to attend. Members of the Lakeview Home Demonstration Club will be hostesses.

B&PW Told Of Seminar At School

Details of a recent seminar held in preparation of a drug lab to be presented to high school and junior high school students on Nov. 18 were presented Tuesday to the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Speakers were Mrs. Cleo Reid and Mrs. Nell Frazier, club members who attended the seminar which involved teachers, students and representatives of service clubs. The upcoming lab will probe drug abuse and emphasize its dangers.

Tickets were distributed for a white knitted coat which will be awarded at the B&PW Christmas party Dec. 8. At that meeting, members are asked to bring canned food for a needy family. The club will also assist on Ward 8 for the Dec. 17 Christmas party at Big Spring State Hospital.

Miss Movelda Rhine presided. The next meeting will be a dinner at Coker's Restaurant on Nov. 24 when the membership committee will present a skit.

Boydston PTA Sees Drug Film

"The Pit of Despair," a film, was shown to members of Boydston Parent-Teacher Association Thursday by Detective Sgt. Bill Lee and Officer David Stutton of Big Spring Police Department.

"Drugs are a problem in our town, and parents must help by knowing where their children are and what they are doing," the officers said. A display of drugs was shown by the officers.

Mrs. F. L. Dodd presided at the year's budget was accepted. Dwayne Haynes gave the devotion. The room count was won by Mrs. H. W. McCanness' second and third grades. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bobby G. Davis. The next meeting will be Dec. 10.

Starch Creases

Spray pressed edges of trouser creases with spray starch for a stay-fresh appearance.

Party Honors Future Bride

Miss Billie Yvonne Dickson, bride-elect of Frankie D. Averitt, was honored with a gift shower Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Jim Newsom, 3214 Auburn. Hostesses were Mrs. Herb Doering and Miss Beverlie Doering.

The bride-elect wore a pale yellow and white knit A-line dress and was presented a bronze miniature chrysanthemum corsage.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with an ecru lace cloth and accented with an orange and brown flower arrangement with matching candles. White milk glass appointments were used.

The couple will be married Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church.

A LOVELIER YOU Work Worn Hands May Be Restored

By MARY SUE MILLER
A lovely writes: Housecleaning may be good for the soul, but it is awfully hard on the hands. I have just finished the fall cleanup, which has left my hands red and rough with a rash in the palms. Somebody should invent a household detergent that's kinder to the skin. Maybe they have. Do you know?

The Answer: The Rx for "dishpan hands" or "detergent burn" is hypo-allergenic detergent. Because such allergens as enzymes, lanolin and scent have been excluded, use discourages rash and redness.

What's more, a slightly acid pH protects the skin's acid mantle from dryness. It's fairly safe to say that way you save suds, hands and work.

For further protection try applying hypo-allergenic chap cream before and after chores. Not only to your hands but to your forearms where the skin is especially sensitive. The treatment is amazingly healing when you come in contact with metal polishes, wall and oven cleaners, or any products containing strong chemical substances.

Waterproof gloves, of course, could save your hands the wear and tear of real dirty jobs. If you massage with your cream before donning gloves, your hands get a beauty treatment while you work. A good one!

BEAUTY OF HOUSEWORK
Attention, Homemakers! If housework saps your energies, looks and nerves, send for my booklet, "Beauty of Housework." It explains how to get home and self sparkling time to spare. Also included are an effort-saving work plan, shortcuts in housekeeping, and advice on how to give yourself a beauty treatment while engaged in your duties. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 25 cents in coin and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Gardeners Hear Talk On Bulbs

How to grow bulbs was discussed by Mrs. Paul Guy at the Planter's Garden Club meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales, 705 W. 18th.

"A hardy bulb requires a warm dormant period after being planted," Mrs. Guy said. "Bulbs planted in pots should be kept in a dark, warm room for six to 10 weeks.

"Common causes of bulb failure are insufficient time in the plunge bed, placing the containers in a draft, insufficient water at the roots or insufficient light, inducing long, lanky and yellowing leaves."

Bulbs can be grown in water if charcoal is added, said Mrs. Guy, who advised using spring or rain water. Tulips are easy to grow and can be planted as early as September. Most bulbs can be planted in November for early flowering.

Mrs. J. W. Trantham reported on the zone workshop Tuesday in Lamesa and announced a lawn and garden clinic is scheduled there in May. At the workshop she learned to make an arrangement resembling a turkey, which she and Mrs. Clinkscales duplicated to donate to Howard County Library.

Mrs. L. R. Fortenberry spoke on the duties of a flower show chairman. The duties include selection of committee chairman and the delegation of work. Her responsibilities include seeing that the show opens on time, that committees function properly and that all properly-entered exhibits are judged.

Mrs. C. M. Lewis displayed bird houses made by her husband for their hobby of bird watching. She showed a bird feeder, bird bath and robin shelf with roof. The next meeting will be Dec. 8 in the home of Mrs. E. O. Sanderson, 819 W. 7th.

Medical Group Meets At Coffee

The Permian Basin Medical Society Auxiliary met with Mrs. J. E. Hogan, 509 Westover, Thursday morning for a coffee. Assisting Mrs. Hogan were Mrs. Arch Carson and Mrs. Robert Griffin.

Mrs. Robert Tinley presided at a brief business meeting, as plans were made to make contributions to Howard County Library for the purchase of books on health and medical careers.

Mrs. C. B. Marcum Sr., Berea, Ky., was a guest. There will be no December meeting.

LBJ, KOSYGIN FACE-TO-FACE CONFRONTATION

'At Least The Day Was One Great Try!'

By LADY BIRD JOHNSON
Part Eighteen

SUNDAY
June 25,
1967

Glassboro, New Jersey

Today was one of the strangest days I've spent as First Lady. It began at 6:30 a.m. at the Ranch, but it was the day scheduled for Lyndon's second meeting with Chairman Alexei Kosygin, at Glassboro, New Jersey. Yesterday Lyndon had asked me very casually, "Don't you think it would be a good idea if we asked Kosygin's daughter to come with him and you took her to lunch?"

We reached Philadelphia a little before 12:30 and helicoptered to Glassboro, a little college town, no more remarkable than San Marcos. The college campus was shaded by enormous oaks and had the aura of age, and "Hollybush," the home of the President, Dr. Thomas Robinson, and Mrs. Robinson, was Victorian red brick, turreted, old-fashioned, almost a prototype of the college president's house of half a century ago.

MANY NEWSMEN
We arrived only a few minutes before it was time to meet Chairman Kosygin and his party. We emerged onto the steps of the old Victorian house and up they drove, the hammer-and-sickle flag flying from the front of the black limousine. Across the drive lined up under the oak trees behind a rope, were more cameras and newspaper people than I've ever seen for any meeting; most were standing on the ground, some on raised platforms. Then out stepped Chairman Kosygin, a very solid and strong-featured man, in his sixties I should think, unbending and tough-looking, but pleasant enough, and his daughter, Mrs. Ludmilla Gvishinana — a very young looking 38 — slim, almost no makeup, casual hairdo, completely at ease, in a simple navy-blue, white-trimmed dress. She could have been a professor's wife on any campus in thousands of American towns.

Lynda Bird was with us every second. She stays as close to her father as she can. From the very first moment I could see she was absorbing every detail. There was a great roar of cheers from the crowd as we met the Kosygin's. At some moment we walked out to the roped-off edge of the hill. Down below us, over the drop, were massed the students of the college. There were only about 2,800 in the student body as it was summer time, but there must have been great numbers of Glassboro citizens and others with them, because it looked like many thousands of people. There were lots of homemade signs — a large one in Russian, one that just said simply, "Peace," and all of them — all of them — in friendly, eager hopeful mood — a tone of real friendship! It was a moving moment.

POWDERED HER NOSE
We went into the house and I took Mrs. Gvishinana upstairs to give her an opportunity to powder her nose. I smiled to myself at the thought of any legend she might have heard about the luxury of American bathrooms, because this one wasn't like that at all, although it was certainly adequate.

Lyndon asked us if we would like to come and see the room where the group would meet. There was a long, plain table, and present, in addition to Chairman Kosygin and the stern Andrei Gromyko, were the Russian interpreter, who I think was very capable, and our interpreter, Secretary Rusk, Wait Rostow, the affable Dobrynin, and patient and philosophical Llewellyn Thompson, our Ambassador to Russia, along with a few others whom I did not know. They would all sit down to lunch together, I was told about 16. That would crowd the room. Then Lyndon took us into the room where he and Chairman Kosygin had met alone on Friday — just the two of them with the two interpreters. They would meet again there in about an hour.

I had that chilly, spine-tingling feeling that I was face to face with a historic event. Then suddenly I looked at the chair that Lyndon would sit in and it was the very twin of the one that sits in his boyhood home in the parlor — the one that Mrs. Johnson's mother had given her to start housekeeping with — Victorian, already well-aged in 1907. This one was upholstered in green velvet, and behind it was a sofa to match, almost identical with Mrs. Johnson's.

STRANGE THING
What a day! This possibly very momentous, certainly dramatic confrontation, held in a setting so quaint and homey — authentic Americana. We said good-by to the men, and to one of them I said, "God Bless," and then had a quick thought — that's a strange thing to say to a Russian!

Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Gvishinana, Lynda, Liz, and I departed Hollybush, got into the helicopter, and set out over the New Jersey countryside. Betty Hughes was the tour guide — no better one could have been found in all the land. She pointed out the acres of vegetables below. Her state is called the "Garden State," and they have many truck farmers. There are hills of low, thick scrub pine, cranberry bogs, and once we flew over a race track. And always throughout the trip, we could see the long double line of the great highway that brings thousands of tourists from big metropolitan centers to Atlantic City. I pointed this out to Mrs. Gvishinana and told her how our American highways are such an important part of our economic and social life and how recently we have begun to try to add to them aesthetic values as well as functional ones. I wanted her to take home a sense of the rising desire of American people for beauty in their lives.

We were back at Hollybush a few minutes before the appointed hour. The rows and rows of newspaper people had not budged an inch. They were still under the oak trees in the wilting heat. It was a humid sweltering day, and the storm clouds were piling up above us. Down below we could hear the murmur of the crowd — the students, the citizens of Glassboro, the curious. They apparently had not budged either. I heard later that people had gone through the crowds selling hot dogs and cold drinks just as if they were at a country fair.

I do not know exactly when they emerged. It was well after 6. They called us out, and Governor and Mrs. Hughes, the Robinsons, Lynda and I, and Mrs. Gvishinana went out on the front steps to join Lyndon and Chairman Kosygin. The great battery of cameramen went wild — pictures of the whole group — pictures of the two principals — pictures of the four or five of us. There was a very brief statement by Lyndon, and a somewhat longer one by Chairman Kosygin, largely a repetition of thanks to the city of Glassboro, to the college, to the Robinsons, to the President. I cannot remember their exact words, but there was implicit in what they both said an admission that they had made no great progress but that each felt better for knowing the man who would be on the other end of the Hot Line.

PROUD OF AIM
The ride home seemed short. The first words I remember Lyndon saying were: "Well, I'd say we didn't move ahead far today."

At least the day was one great try! And even if little headway was made, the thirst of the country for a meeting, a face-to-face confrontation, was somewhat assuaged. I am so glad that Lyndon and Kosygin met twice. I am very proud of Lyndon and somehow relieved, and he is very tired.

NEXT: Talking about the big decision: should Lyndon run again?

Five Slayings Guilt Denied

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — John Linley Frazier, 24, pleaded innocent Thursday to five slayings at a hilltop mansion near Santa Cruz last month after his lawyer got permission to switch the plea to insanity if he wished. A tentative Jan. 25 jury trial date was set.

Frazier, a long-haired former auto mechanic, entered the plea in Santa Cruz County Superior Court before Judge Charles F. Franch.

Frazier is accused of the Oct. 19 killing of Dr. Victor M. Ohta, a wealthy ophthalmologist; his wife, Virginia, their two sons, Derrick and Taggart, and Ohta's secretary, Dorothy Cadwallader.

The victims had been bound, blindfolded and shot, and tossed into the Ohta swimming pool where firemen discovered them while battling a deliberately set blaze at the house.

MARY LOVES POLITICS

No Gap Between Next House Speaker, Coed

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The daughter of the next speaker of the U.S. House says there is a generation between her and her father but no gap.

"Generation gap implies non-communication," said Mary Frances Albert, 22, a Rice University coed. "I communicate with both my parents. That doesn't mean we agree on things, but we talk about them."

Mary Frances' father is Carl Albert, the Democrat from Oklahoma who will be elected speaker next year.

Albert, who generally votes with liberals on issues, is very much a member of "the establishment."

But as for Miss Albert, "I don't like labels. I guess you could call me a non-demonstrating radical liberal. But I am a conservative socially."

"I'm not a demonstrator. I mean I just don't dig that. I think the system is a good one, especially the legislative one. So, I work and vote for the candidate I support."

She didn't vote for her father this time, but only because of lack of opportunity.

"This is my fifth year at Rice," she says, and she is registered to vote here, not in Oklahoma.

As the daughter of a politician, Miss Albert believes that for children whose fathers are in politics there are usually only two viewpoints.

"You either hate it or you love it. Some can't stand it. I just happen to think it's groovy."

"The average man on the street says 'student' with a hiss, the same way he says 'politician.' But politician isn't a bad word and there are very few bad politicians. I don't know why it's considered a bad name. As a politician you have to get in there and be human and help people."

PJC Regents Okay Tax Bonds

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — The board of Regents of Paris Junior College has approved the issuance of $250,000 in tax bonds and $225,000 in revenue bonds as the local share of financing a $1 million technical-vocational center to be built at the college.

PJC district voters had approved the $250,000 in tax bonds, and a seven-cent tax increase to support it. An estimated grant of $600,000 in state-federal funds will make a total of $1,075,000 available for the center.

GOES TO EPISCOPAL CHURCH WITH HIS WIFE

Greater Love Hath No Man

SUNDAY
November 15,
1967

Williamsburg, Virginia

The day began in Williamsburg at the Bassett House, which belongs to John D. Rockefeller III. This house has great colonial charm, surrounded by spacious grounds and approached along an avenue of live oaks. The floors of wide boards, laid down before the Revolutionary War, gleam softly and are scattered with bright needlepoint or hooked rugs. And on the walls are samplers and "mourning pieces" and quaint American primitive portraits.

This morning we went to the old Bruton Parish Episcopal Church. It's a venerable building, and in the past I've spent hours with Lyndon's mother in the graveyard and walking through the interior where the names of so many signers of the Declaration of Independence adorn the walls. We sat in George Washington's own pew in the front row. The choir was absolutely lovely. And then came the sermon.

The Rev. Cotesworth Pinckney Lewis gave short shrift to any Biblical text and launched into a general discussion of the state of the Union and of the world — touching on Civil Rights, disorder in the streets, and the general upheaval in the nation. And then I froze in my seat as I heard him say, "And then there is the question of Vietnam. But there is a rather general consensus that something is wrong in Vietnam — a conviction voiced by leaders of nations traditionally our friends, leading military experts and the rank and file of American citizens — we wonder if some logical, straightforward explanation might be given?" ... and on and on.

'MYSTIFIED'
"It is particularly regrettable that to most nations of the world the struggle's purpose appears as neocolonialism." He then veered 180 degrees. "We are mystified," he said, "by news accounts suggesting that our brave fighting units are inhibited by directives and inadequate equipment from using their capacities to terminate the conflict successfully. While pledging our loyalty, we ask humbly: Why?"

I turned to stone on the outside and boiled on the inside. I thought of Lyndon's asking for equal time and rising to the pulpit, to explain to him "why." But no, if I thought he shouldn't use the pulpit for what he is doing, how much less would it become a visiting worshiper to rise and answer? Lyndon had just spent two days and traveled thousands of miles across the country answering exactly his questions — why are we there?

HEADLINES
I thought of the headlines of all the papers I had seen — three or four while we had had our coffee this morning. And they had recounted Lyndon's answers to all the minister's questions. Meanwhile, it was almost amusing to watch his expression — so unctuous it was.

All things end. Finally the beautiful choir raised its great voice, and then we were walking stiffly out of the door. There, of course, was that inevitable melee — the flashing cameras, the crowds of casual tourists and visitors lining the streets, smiling, cheering, reaching out their hands.

Off in the distance to the left, I noticed a very small group of protesters with banners. I could only see the word "Peace." And there was Rev. Cotesworth Pinckney Lewis — hand extended. Be it said for my husband that he shook hands briefly with a smile while I said, "The choir was beautiful." We stepped into the waiting car with a wave to the crowd.

Later Lyndon looked at me with a wry smile and said, "Greater love hath no man than that he goes to the Episcopal Church with his wife!"

Employment In Space, Aviation Industry Lags

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employment in the aviation and space industry is continuing to decline and will have dropped almost 16 per cent in the 12 months ending next March 31, the Aerospace Industries Association (AIA) said Thursday.

In a semi-annual survey AIA said that even after employment has dropped from 1,238,000 to 1,044,000 during the 12-month period, the industry will remain the nation's largest manufacturing employer.

Almost 90 per cent of the 194,000 12-month decrease will have taken place by December, the association added.

Karl G. Harr Jr., AIA president, said the decline from a 1968 high of 374,000 threatens to break up scientific and engineering teams that have been responsible for the great U.S. technological advance in the last two decades.

"We have had peaks and then program stretch-out periods before," Harr said.

"But now it appears that lack of projects and piecemeal funding is making it impossible to maintain many innovative development groups with their highly-skilled blue collar support that have given the nation preeminence in aviation, space and national security."

Harr attributed the decline in employment generally to a reduction in spending for military aircraft and missiles, a drop in military and civilian space programs, and reduced deliveries of transport aircraft.

He said employment of scientists and engineers in the industry, at a peak of 235,000 in June, 1967, by next March will be down to 175,000, a decline of 60,000 in 12 months.

The study showed that the decline in employment has been consistent across all geographical areas.

The Pacific Coast region leads in both missile and space employment, with 63.7 per cent, and aircraft employment, at 30.8 per cent, and over-all accounts for 39.8 per cent of the national total.

The New England and Middle Atlantic area is next with 20.2

per cent of the total, and the South Atlantic area has 10 per cent.

Residents Go To Convention

FORT WORTH — Howard County Farm Bureau was represented at the 37th annual meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau Sunday through Wednesday in Fort Worth by eight delegates. Sessions were held in the Convention Center Theater and the Sheraton-Fort Worth Hotel.

State policies and recommendations on national issues were adopted by more than 800 official voting delegates from 200 county Farm Bureaus. Total attendance at the convention was about 2,000.

Registration got under way Sunday. Highlights of that day included discussion meet and talent find competition for young people and vesper services.

The Monday morning program included the annual address by TFB President Sidney Dean, Victoria, and an administrative report by Executive Director O. R. Long, Waco. Special conferences were held Monday afternoon on women in Farm Bureau, young farmers and ranchers, farm labor, natural resources, dairy research and education, community services, livestock, field crops, poultry and services. The annual TFB queen contest was held Monday evening.

Featured Tuesday morning were recognition and awards for counties and an address by Dolph Briscoe Jr., prominent Uvalde farmer-rancher. Banquet speaker that evening was Dr. Charles Allen, pastor, First Methodist Church, Houston.

The business session got under way Tuesday afternoon with voting on resolutions sent in by counties. The voting session continued Wednesday until all recommendations were either amended, adopted or rejected. Final order of business Wednesday was election of officers and directors.

Jesus Fully Human, Married Says Scholar Rev. Phipps

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A Bible scholar has come up with a startling conclusion—that Jesus probably was a married man.

For him to have remained single would have been "completely foreign to the Biblical outlook, both in theory and in practice," says the Rev. Dr. William E. Phipps of Elkins, W. Va.

He notes that the Scriptures are not specific about the matter, but he says the facts about Jesus' life "recorded in the authoritative New Testament sources point toward a married Jesus."

view. Jesus belonged "to a culture that emphasized the psychosomatic wholeness of personality," Dr. Phipps says. He adds that the Bible sees man as an integrated whole—both spirit and body.

"FULLY HUMAN"

Christians always has regarded Jesus as "fully human," as well as divine, and Dr. Phipps says both Scripture and modern sciences regard sexual desire as "intrinsic to human nature."

In the book of Genesis, he says, "sex is seen to be a gift of God" and its "potential for male or female but in the couple who blend together." They become "one flesh," both Genesis and Jesus described it.

Since Jesus' ministry did not begin until he was about 30, Dr. Phipps theorizes that he was married sometime before he was 20, in a period skipped over by the Scriptural record and often called the "hidden years."

A WIDOWER

Possibly, his wife died and he was a widower during his ministry, Dr. Phipps says, or he may have been separated, because of the reaction against him in Nazareth, or may have been remarried to Martha's sister, Mary, during his ministry.

However, if Jesus had not married, Dr. Phipps says, the New Testament most likely would have mentioned the fact, since it would have been exceptional and any "unusual behavior" is most likely to be transmitted.

Special Services Set By Nazarenes

THE REV. MRS. EMMA IRICK

Special services will be held at the Church of the Nazarene, 1400 Lancaster St. Sunday, through Sunday, Nov. 22. The time of the services will be 7:30 each evening with Sunday services at 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Speaker for the services will be Rev. Mrs. Emma Irick, Mrs. Irick is a colorful and dynamic preacher of scriptural holiness who is rounding out a career of more than 50 years of work in the Church of the Nazarene.

She served as pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Lufkin, Tex., from 1933 to Sept. 1, 1959, and now is devoting full time to evangelism.

Churches To Host Family Dinners

Two Baptist congregations will be having church family dinners Wednesday as part of their annual stewardship efforts.

Baptist Temple will have its dinner at 7 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College cafeteria with Rev. Gene Jorgensen, pastor of First Baptist Church in Kermit, as the speaker. Dr. H. M. Jarratt is stewardship chairman, and Mrs. A. W. Page is in charge of dinner arrangements. The nursery will be open and a movie for children shown at the church.

First Baptist, with Billy T. Smith as chairman of the stewardship committee, will have its dinner at the Big Spring High School cafeteria at 7 p.m. with Cecil Ray, director of Texas Baptist Stewardship department, as the speaker. The church nursery will be open for the evening.

Noted for strong evangelistic preaching, Mrs. Irick together with her late husband, the Rev. Allie Irick, helped to organize more than 50 Nazarene churches during the early years of the denomination in the Southwest. He was superintendent for six years of the West Texas District, and Mrs. Irick worked closely with him.

Mrs. Irick taught for three years in Oklahoma public schools. She attended Northwestern Teacher's College, Alva, Okla., and the former Peniel University, Peniel, Tex. She and her late husband joined the Church of the Nazarene at Peniel, Tex., on April 13, 1908, six months before the union ceremony at Pilot Point, Tex., which officially launched the church as an international denomination.

There will be nursery facilities available during all services for small children, according to the pastor, E. Wales Lanford. The public is invited to attend these services.

'Holy War' Opposed By White African Leaders

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In backing the upward struggle of the black poor, churches often meet stiff opposition from some white U.S. members. Now, however, such church action on an embattled, global front has collided head-on with white governments in Africa.

"Shocking," says South Africa's Prime Minister B. J. Vorster of what he called aid "to terrorists." Other critics have accused the churches of abetting a new "holy war—1970 version."

GUERRILLA FUNDS

It is the first time in modern history that Christian organizational funds have been officially allocated to rebel guerrilla movements — although at its outset Christianity itself was an illegal movement under the ancient Roman empire.

In making the grants, the World Council of Churches specified that the money be used only for welfare-educational needs, and the recipients agreed. But some of them are committed to armed resistance to ruling white regimes.

ACTION THREATENED

In South Africa, Vorster has threatened that "action would be taken" against denominations unless they divorced themselves from the cooperative council and its work.

Some have refused to do so. Protesting the "premier's threat against the Christian churches," the assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Southern Africa said "its only Lord and Master is Jesus Christ and it may not serve other masters."

Its "task is not necessarily to support the government in power but to be faithful to the gospel," the church said in defying the premier's order to quit the World Council. But it did register dissent about the grants.

NO WITHDRAWAL

So did the South African Council of Churches, including 14 other denominations belonging to the council, but they said they would not withdraw, declaring the grants were in response to "an unjust racial situation."

The grants, totalling $200,000 and ranging from $2,500 to $20,000 each, went to 19 organizations working against racism in Great Britain, the Netherlands, Japan, Australia, Columbia and in seven African countries.

These include rebel organizations fighting white rule in the Portuguese colonies of Angola and Mozambique and in white-ruled Rhodesia and South Africa, where predominantly black populations are under racial separation apartheid.

Dr. Phipps, a Presbyterian clergyman with a doctor's degree in Biblical criticism from the University of St. Andrews in Scotland, now heads the Department of Religion and Philosophy at Davis and Elkins College in West Virginia.

"CULTIC TABOOS"

He notes that scholars, in examining almost every aspect of Jesus' life, have avoided the question of his marital status, largely because of "cultic taboos" surrounding the subject.

"This absence is especially enigmatic since marriage was the one social institution that Jesus blessed and used in his parable to illustrate the gospel," Dr. Phipps says.

He blames avoidance of the subject on a "moral dualism" in Western civilization, separating the "godly spirit" from the "devilish flesh," an attitude derived from Greek philosophy but contrary to the Biblical

Kermit To Be Site Of 3-Day Meeting

C. L. Lunsford, presiding minister of the Big Spring congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, has announced that Kermit, Tex., will be the site of an upcoming three-day assembly. Approximately 60 residents of the Big Spring area are arranging their affairs to be among the 900 or more who will be in Kermit for the event.

"The Word of God is Alive" is the assembly theme according to Lunsford. He stated regarding this theme, "Few people these days, even in Christendom, actually let the Bible influence their decisions or use it to solve everyday problems. This assembly will stress both personal and family use of the Bible as well as our use of it to aid others in the community."

The seminar will convene in the Kermit High School Auditorium on Friday, Nov. 20, and continue through Sunday, Nov. 22. Some 23 convention departments will be operated to assure a successful assembly and to serve the expecting crowd. A preliminary meeting of these departments was held in Kermit on Oct. 12. Some 43 workmen and organizers attended to lay groundwork for the November meet.

Outstanding highlights of the assembly will be a baptism of new ministers Saturday morning and the free public discourse at 3 p.m. Sunday, "Who Will Conquer the World in the 1970's?"

Latter Day Saints Plan Conference In Odessa

Bishop Robert L. Simpson, First Counselor in the Presiding Bishopric of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will speak at the Texas West Stake (diocese) Conference Saturday and Sunday in Odessa.

Bishop Simpson, former president of the New Zealand Mission, was chief supervisor of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company's accounting office in Southern California until called to the Presiding Bishopric in 1961. Among his current duties, he is in the administration of the church hospital system.

Bishop Simpson's special interests include studies of the Maori culture and sports. Currently he serves as first vice chairman of the board of trustees of the Health Services Corporation of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints involving 15 hospitals. He is also a director of five business corporations. He is vice chairman of the General Scouting Committee of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints; member of the National Cubbing Committee, Boy Scouts of America; member of the executive board for Region 12 and member of the executive board of the Great Salt Lake Council of Boy Scouts of America.

The conference session will be held Sunday at 10 a.m. in the Odessa a Chapel, 2011 N. Washington. Stake President Roland L. Hamblin, 3602 Maple, says: visitors are welcome.

Catholics Use Ads To Promote Study

LONDON (SP) — Modern display advertising in British newspapers since 1954 has produced more than 400,000 copies of leaflets and booklets, no inquiries about a mail course in Roman Catholicism, London's Catholic Enquiry Center reported. In 16 years, 260,000 people have taken the full course of leaflets and booklets, which are issued free. No personal visits are made, said Father Michael J. Kirkham, director of the center.

Through every generation — people have looked for peace and security. Hundreds of volumes have been written on the subject and thinkers and writers have devoted their lives to the search.

But of all these books, the Bible is most concerned with peace and security. "Fear not, for I am with you; be not dismayed for I am your God."

No man-made philosophy can banish the worries and troubles of today's complex life. But in the gospel we find assurance of His care.

God loves us. When we go to Him in humility, He cleanses us of sin. Our minds are put at ease. Peace fills our souls.

Go then to the Book for modern man. Through study, prayer and worship we will find that peace which has been granted to millions — in every country — in every age. Discover anew the life for modern man.

A Devotion For Today . . .

If I say, "I will not mention him, or speak any more in his name," there is in my heart as it were a burning fire shut up in my bones, and I am weary with holding it in, and I cannot. (Jeremiah 20:9, RSV)

PRAYER: Help us, O Lord, help us to have a deep experience of Christ and passion to share Him at every opportunity. Deepen our love and devotion to Him. In His name we pray. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Last Of The Tribe

Charles de Gaulle, a resolute personality who refused to buckle under even when Germans overwhelmed France in World War II, has been laid to rest in the sod of the nation for whom he had almost fanatical reverence.

He was the last of the great figures who played prominent roles in the days of World War II and following. So, with his death ends an era in history.

There can be no doubt but that he rallied France at a time that it was in danger of fragmentation and dissolution as a power. His intense nationalism became a rallying point for the crushed French spirit and restored a sense of pride in that country. Gen. de Gaulle used any obstruction at his command to win his points or gain concessions, and frequently he got his way to a degree all out of proportion to the weight France possessed as a diminished power.

While there is a tendency at death to praise an individual, it is well to reserve judgment on the ultimate effect of de Gaulle's policies. None will argue that he did what he thought was best for France, but his position in world affairs and the stream of history was essentially comparable to that of a self-centered individual in a community. For restoring French pride, he deserved a place in history, but for making others carry his load, he deserves less than praise.

Principle Of Freedom

The Federal Communications Commission is attempting in recent license renewal application hearings to impose criteria which could lead to FCC dictation of programming and broadcast content.

It is true that the postal department does require that a news publication devote a minimum of 40 per cent to editorial space in order to qualify for second class postal rates. It also is true that there must be some regulation of the number of transmitters because of limited numbers of bands.

But neither of these is a valid reason for the FCC to begin restructuring in the broadcast industry upon the basis of whim or theory. FCC might well be the final judge of what constituted a certain category of broadcast time, and thus could yield almost dictatorial powers over whose licenses are renewed.

Thus, a fundamental principle of freedom of communication is involved here. To put into the hands of government the power to directly or indirectly influence the content of any media is wrong. More than that, it is dangerous to democratic machinery. This procedure by the FCC ought to be blocked and refuted.

Prayer Issue Still Undecided

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court of the United States has several cases before it dealing with problems in the public schools, and more and more clarification is being sought because lower courts have issued a number of conflicting opinions.

Perhaps the most perplexing of all is the decision just rendered by the state supreme court of New Jersey, which declared unanimously that even voluntary prayers in a public school uttered at a session which students were not required to attend is a violation of the First Amendment of the Constitution, which provides for the separation of church and state.

A SCHOOL principal in Netcong, N.J., stood before the pupils in the gymnasium and recited a brief, non-denominational prayer that had been presented previously before the United States Senate. This recitation of "inspirational remarks" occurred before school was open, and students were advised that they were not required to attend. But the New Jersey State Supreme Court held it unconstitutional.

In the operations of the United States government, each session of the House and Senate officially opens with prayers uttered by a minister chosen for the purpose. The prayer is a part of the proceedings. The members are not obliged to be present.

THE SAME THING is happening throughout the country in state legislatures.

The United States Supreme Court has ruled that no governmental authority or school board can prescribe a prayer for the students or make them "a part of its curricular activity." But nowhere in its decisions was there any prohibition of voluntary prayers. The high court's rulings are directed against the doctrine of compulsion — the idea of a prescribed prayer which the students had to accept.

THE NETCONG school board did not prescribe any prayer or say the students had to attend the pre-school session. It made available an opportunity to participate in prayers for those who wished to do so. The parents, in other words, were the ones who would decide whether they wanted their children to hear a few minutes of religious expression each day before school work started.

THE BIG question, therefore, is whether the U.S. Supreme Court decisions mean that no prayer of any kind is to be permitted in a school building even if it is entirely voluntary. If such an interpretation is to be upheld, one wonders how the Senate or House of Representatives can continue to conduct their sessions with a beginning prayer of a denominational nature and fail to come under the scope of the Supreme Court's ruling.

There are a number of activities of a religious nature which the government of the United States helps to sustain, directly or indirectly, and Congress is even beginning to discuss giving certain aid to students and teachers in parochial schools. Yet, voluntary prayers on public-school property are supposed to be illegal in the eyes of some of the jurists of today.

IF THE New Jersey Supreme Court's decision is upheld, the phrase "one nation under God" in the pledge of allegiance will probably be questioned. Likewise, many government buildings which have mention of the deity inscribed on them will have to be modified so as to be sure that church and state have actually been "separated." Coins with the phrase "in God we trust" would also have to be changed.

Pet Burials

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Pets die and their owners want a good burial — sometimes in a casket and in a pet burial ground. Edward Anderson of the Anderson Casket Co., said he often has calls from pet cemeteries for pet caskets. He said the firm, which manufactures only caskets for humans, furnishes the smallest infant-size casket which often is purchased for pet burials.

'Delaying Peter To Support Paul'

NEW YORK (AP) — The easing of the money supply is especially welcome news to some large manufacturers whose customers have been taking more time to pay than at any other time in the past decade.

In effect, many of these companies were forced to extend interest-free loans to customers whose own lack of financing made it impossible for them to pay within the usual time limits.

A study by the Credit Research Foundation shows that credit bills took an average of 45 days in manufacturing industries through June 30, compared with 41.5 days one year earlier, a sharp increase that may have continued through the summer.

As stated by Dr. Ernest W. Walker, consultant to the National Association of Credit Management, many business customers were "delaying Peter to support Paul."

Based on Walker's calculations, the nation's giant manufacturers were especially pressed by the situation. They were forced to extend considerable trade credit to customers but were less able to delay their own payments. Official government statistics document the situation. Manufacturers in all categories of less than $1 billion in sales invariably obtained more trade credit than they dispensed from 1968 through the 1970 first quarter.

For companies of more than $1 billion in annual sales, the situation was markedly different.

In the first quarter of the year, for example, they dispensed 5 per cent more credit — measured as a percentage of assets — than two years earlier. But they obtained for themselves only a 3 per cent increase.

In other words, the passing of the buck ended with them, and they were forced to sharply reduce their liquid assets, meaning cash and its equivalent.

Walker believes the situation is now correcting itself, primarily because of an increase in the money supply and greater availability of loans, a trend he feels will continue. At the very moment he was forecasting a reduction in the prime interest rate "within the week," a major New York City bank was preparing an announcement to that effect.

With money more readily available, Walker believes that tardy customers will hasten to pay their debts even before attempting to replenish their cash reserves.

Henpecked Boss

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a boss gets tired of hearing:

"Chief, the accountant says we're running out of red ink. Shall I order another barrel?"

"Now that the junior vice president is getting his office redecorated, the senior vice president insists his office be redecorated too."

"It's your wife on the phone, sir. She says for you to remember to take your cough medicine at 10, 2 and 4 o'clock."

"Someone drew a mean cartoon of you on the washroom bulletin board, sir. Shall I tear it down?"

"I could give you a whole list of reasons why I should get a merit raise, chief, but they all boil down to the fact that my wife thinks I deserve one — and she's the one who knows me best."

"The old man is snarling at everybody this morning. He was three strokes off his golf game yesterday."

"Did you see in the paper, sir, where it says business is so bad at many firms that their executives are cutting out their winter vacations?"

"It's your wife, sir. She says for you to be sure to get a pound of caviar when you stop off at the supermarket."

"The chairman of the union delegation is waiting outside to see you, sir. He says the new contract is no dice unless it contains a clause saying that every man can have a holiday on his wife's birthday as well as his own."

"Well, the only way I can see out for us is to merge with another firm, but I can't imagine anybody else being dumb enough to hook up with us."

"The reason I figure that the old man has such a terrible temper in the office is to make up for being henpecked at home."

"Since the boss said everybody has to tighten his belt, he has limited himself to two Martinis at lunch. Now that's what I call real executive suffering."

"Your wife's on the other line, sir. She wants to know where you left the pawn ticket for her fur coat. She says she has to get it out of hock or freeze to death."

What Others Say

The Times of London reported recently from Moscow on shortages of consumer goods in the Soviet Union. It dealt not so much with big things like automobiles and refrigerators as with small but important items — sauce pans, pencils, table knives, tea pots, towels.

When a government tries to manage everything, whether it is a Communist government or any other kind, a ponderous bureaucracy results. Programs, rules and guidelines are necessary. They are not easy to change.

In the Soviet Union the producers will respond to the demands of the customers only after the bureaucracy responds, and by then the public may have greater need for something else.—FORT WORTH STAR TELEGRAM

Phinley's Phunnies

Mrs. George Romney was steam-rolled in her race for the U.S. Senate against Democrat Philip A. Hart.

Mrs. Romney is best remembered as Lenore LaFount, a Hollywood starlet around 1930.

Apparently, Michigan Democrats rewrote the words to a song called "You Gotta Have Hart."

WILL ROGERS, on Abraham Lincoln: "Papers today say 'What would Lincoln do today?' Well, in the first place, he wouldn't crop any wood, he would trade his ax in on a Ford. Being a Republican he would vote the Democratic ticket. Being in sympathy with the underdog he would be classed as a radical progressive. Having a sense of humor he would be called eccentric."

Today's guest joke is from Phinley's.

The young man took his date to an expensive restaurant. He was horrified when he read the prices on the menu. He looked at the young lady and asked: "Have you decided what you'd like to order, fatty?"

MY BASHFUL AUNT, Marie Chastain, writes: "Letting the cat out of the bag is bad enough, but the real trouble starts when you try to get it back in again."

Nixon Needs Outside Counseling

WASHINGTON — In the brief interval he was in Washington between San Clemente and Key Biscayne President Nixon presided over a meeting of his cabinet. Inevitably, the election and the results came up. His official family gave him almost reverential praise for his strenuous drive and for the "success" achieved in the election, according to reports out of that hushed session.

Here was yet another demonstration of the President's isolation and of the extraordinary power and influence of the Chief Executive today. To find a no-sayer, to welcome a no-sayer, appears beyond the range of the Nixon temperament. It may be beyond the range of any man so hedged around with perquisites of the highest office in the land.

NO MATTER how many times White House spokesmen may deny it, this isolation is patently a fact. At the climax of the campaign as he was barnstorming through the West the President declared that nothing could stop him from going out to meet and talk with the American people. As surely he must know, this was a figure of speech.

The rallies at which he spoke were carefully stage-managed by his political lieutenants and the Secret Service. The wave of cheers breaking around him were a welcome draught of heady wine for the ego of a lonely man. Hardly an exchange with the American people, it was a political scenario as carefully scripted as "Wagon Train."

MR. NIXON'S ubiquitous companion at San Clemente, Washington and Key Biscayne is Charles G. (Bebe) Rebozo. His other frequent companion is Robert Abplanalp, a New York industrialist and inventor, at whose Bahama Island retreat the President is guaranteed seclusion.

Granted, Presidents need friends to let down and relax with and who never intrude public worries. Yet, so far as can be learned, Mr. Nixon has no associates with whom he freely exchanges ideas and opinions.

THE PRESIDENT'S isolation is not merely of incidental interest as one facet of his personality. It concerns not alone his future but the future of the country at this critical juncture when the question is whether the economy is to bump along for another year or more with unemployment at 5.5 to 6 per cent.

Faced now with harsh decisions about the drift of the economy and pressures to shape a new political approach, the President needs to hear all points of view on how to restore employment and at the same time avoid adding new fuel to the still-serious inflation. The bland assurances of the academics on the Council of Economic Advisers no longer go down. They have the sound of a tune whistled bravely too close to the graveyard.

ONE WHO accompanied Mr. Nixon as adviser on his foreign tours when he was Vice-President recalls that he rarely let out with the staff. At the end of a crowded day back on the official plane the President and his wife would go immediately to their private quarters. The habits of a loner are deeply ingrained. But, given all the built-in inhibitions of the Presidency, the splendid misery as Jefferson called it, the urgent need of the man in the office today is to break out of a closed circle. The Crime Problem Hasn't Gone Away

WASHINGTON — Perhaps the most preposterous fallout of the recent election is the apparent official Democratic Party line — joined by such Saturday afternoon Republicans as Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon — that the voters exposed the law-and-order issue as a phony, a figment of Spiro Agnew's imagination.

George Gallup, the sometimes-accurate pollster, is saying pretty much the same thing in criticizing the Nixon administration for attempting to capitalize on the "working man's" frustration over crime, campus unrest and general cussedness. Well, Gallup doesn't have to run for office in 1972.

BUT IF THE Democrats really believe the law-and-order issue is dead, or even comatose, they should forthwith repair to the nearest head-shrinker and damn the expense. Accusing the Republicans of "the politics of fear" is one thing — and, incidentally, a splendid phrase. For their own sakes, however, I trust such ambitious men as Ed Muskie, Hubert Humphrey, Teddy Kennedy and George McGovern will not decide — again, in some cases — that crime is good for you and how about appropriating more relief money for misunderstood junkies.

I CITE one day's crop of violent happenings, as carried in newspapers of recent date:

Two student nurses found slain in Pennsylvania. Two bombs explode near sheriff's office in California. A gas grenade is tossed into a policeman's home in Massachusetts. Two storage barns burned at St. Bonaventure University in New York state. Fifteen Black Panthers indicted in the murder of a Detroit cop.

IT IS TRUE, of course, that the Nixon-Agnew campaign against violence fell considerably short of total success. But the Republicans had to settle for a standoff (neither party WON the election) for a different reason. That reason was the state of the economy, combining inflation and sudden deep unemployment. A Labor Department announcement on Oct. 28, less than a week before Election Day, told the story.

FIVE MORE urban areas, including the populous Los Angeles-Long Beach neighborhood, were added to the department's list of those with "substantial" unemployment (6 per cent or more). Thus, the total of such depressed areas rose to 38, compared with only five in the fall of 1969. Quite simply, more voters were affected by the pocketbook issue than the Republican prophets had believed would be the case. This set no precedent. Historically, the party in power has always suffered when the economy was ailing.

MEANWHILE, the Democratic Presidential hopefuls had better stay on that law-and-order bandwagon they boarded so belatedly as the campaign got hot. American streets are still a jungle, and the fact that the hard-hats and middle-income white-collar workers for the most part voted their pocketbook doesn't mean they have stowed their indignation over crime and unrest in the attic. New Economic Studies Sour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doubts have been raised by five new economic studies that the Nixon administration's goal of full employment by mid-1972 can be reached.

The reports were released by the Brookings Institution, without specific endorsement of the private research organization.

Slowing economic recovery, the reports suggest, would be low consumer demand for new cars, slow business investment in inventories, flattening industrial outlays for new plants and equipment and the projected modest rate of increase in the money supply.

Optimism cropped up in only one paper—a housing analysis which listed late-year gains for homebuilding after a sluggish first half year brought on by tight mortgage money.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I were married in 1930, my parents couldn't afford to give us a wedding present, but in 1945 they gave us one—a lovely tea table. We used it for a while then I accidentally broke it, so I put it in our basement intending to have it refinished and repaired.

A few days ago a youth came to my home and my husband, without realizing the history of that tea table, sold it for $5 to the boy who then sold it to the wife of a Navy recruiter for $25. When I learned of this, I went immediately to her, told her my story and she agreed to give up the table. (The boy also agreed to return her $25.) Then her husband told her, "Keep it." She saw an attorney who advised her that she didn't have to give it up.

Abby, I put little importance on material things, but my parents are gone now and this is one piece I treasured. I suppose in the face of world crisis, it seems stupid to be talking about a tea table, but perhaps the incident reflects the attitude of people today. Could you, under these circumstances, keep something knowing it was treasured by someone else?

Hope They Study Taxes

AUSTIN (AP) — About 45 new state senators and representatives started to school Thursday to get a two-day glimpse of what their new jobs will be about.

The new legislators, and any others who want to attend, are enrolled in the legislative orientation session today and Friday sponsored by the Texas Legislative Council.

Robert E. Johnson, executive director of the council, was in charge.

LI. Gov. Ben Barnes, Speaker Gus Mutscher, Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert and Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin headed a long list of speakers explaining state agencies and departments.

The meeting will close with some tips about their jobs from a Capitol news man and an Austin lobbyist.

Big Money Man Wolfson Wins New Trial Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Financier Louis E. Wolfson, whose association with Abe Fortas led to the latter's resignation from the Supreme Court in 1969, has won an appeal of a conviction of perjury and conspiracy to obstruct an investigation of stock transactions.

The 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals directed that Wolfson, 57, be given a new trial.

Wolfson already has served nine months in a federal honor camp on conviction for selling unregistered securities.

Horoscope TOMORROW —CARROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: After the past several tense days you can thoroughly enjoy today and tonight when you have a real chance to get out and have a good time doing what you like best. Also you can easily handle routine chores and activities that are necessary. Use that wonderful released energy wisely.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Taking the little trip for business pleasure, visiting with friends, is fine, but get an early start. You are very alert mentally and can make a new plan that is most worthwhile. Avoid extravagance though.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Ideal day to study how to have a greater income and get to present promptly. You have to be practical in the full sense of the word. Do something about improving household budget.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Think about social lines today and get an early start visiting around, planning for a quiet evening. Avoid persons who are not really congenial. See how to gain your personal goals with greater ease.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) This can be a successful day if you make plans for more profits in the future. Expand. Sit down and discuss this with experts. Driving with utmost care is most important.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Ideal day for social activities, so contact your good friends and carry on in a most affable way. Stick to logical minded persons and ferret out fine ideas. Read some before you get to bed tonight and soothe your nerves.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) You have much to take care of in the world of business today, so start early. Contact the right bigwig for best results. Handle that civic matter in a most efficient way. Don't jump to wrong conclusions, though.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Although you are in a comfortable groove this is a good day to look into more lucrative and educational fields. Try to make as many new contacts as you can. Show diplomacy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to discharge your obligations quickly and efficiently so get busy early. Schedule your time and activities and all works out fine. Evening should be devoted to your good mate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You want to have more harmonious relations with those around you and this is a good day to do just that. Do whatever you can to make your public image a more important one. Use your brains with the right people.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have promised to do certain things today, so get busy at them and show how conscientious a person you are. This is a good day to shop around for the right clothing you want and need at the right price. Keep within your budget.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Seek out individuals who have the same tastes you do, go about with them and have fun, be happy. Don't postpone this outing since you are in need of relaxation. Evening is best time for handling correspondence.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You are able to make a happy today, which has not been possible for a long time. Making new arrangements for the future is important now. This can be the best thing that has happened to you for some time.
