C-City Charge Filed Against Big Springer

COLORADO CITY — A charge of negligent homicide has been filed against Haskell Wayne Cooker, 38, 137 1/2 Airport Road, Big Spring, in connection with a truck-auto collision which resulted in the death of an Oklahoman.

John Clay Thomas, 72, Sulphur, Okla., was killed Wednesday morning when a truck struck his parked car on the shoulder of IS 20, eight and one-half miles east of here.

His wife, Mrs. Erma Thomas, 67, was taken to the Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City. She is reported to have received broken bones and cuts in the accident.

Reportedly, the Thomas car was parked heading west on the shoulder of the road and the tractor truck with semi-trailer driven by Cooker was traveling west. Cooker was not injured in the collision. Texas Highway Patrolman Tommy Parker, Colorado City, investigated the mishap.

Cooker was charged Wednesday and released on bond, according to information obtained through the Howard County Sheriff's Office.

Mrs. Thomas was flown this morning to Colleyville near Fort Worth. Mr. Thomas' body was to be taken there later today by the Kiker & Son Funeral Home.

Stab Fatal, Capture Man

DALLAS (AP) — Alton M. Connally, 70, was stabbed to death in front of his store here Wednesday by a man police said they captured later at gunpoint.

Police said there was no apparent motive for the attack which occurred around noon in front of the rubber stamp store Connally owned. Officers said he was stabbed several times with a 5-inch hunting knife.

Police said several passers-by asked the man to stop stabbing Connally but he replied, "I can't. I have to."

One woman said she asked the man if he were ill. She said the man looked at her then plunged the knife into Connally's heart.

INTER-FAITH SERMON Thanksgiving Speaker Calls For Action

Thanksgiving — that ancient example of gratitude — still calls for action, Dr. Jordan Grooms told an inter-faith congregation gathered Wednesday evening at Baptist Temple.

Dr. Grooms, superintendent of the Big Spring Methodist district, said there is no better way than to share God's message of redemption through Jesus Christ.

He pleaded for a spirit of Christian unity in the "religion of gratitude."

"My brothers and sisters," he said, "we desperately need one another. Let us praise God together in gratitude. Let our thanks be personal and intimate. Let us proclaim that this is an invaded planet — invaded by Jesus Christ, whose name is love."

More than 350 faithful from many churches participated in the traditional services held for the first time in nearly two score years on Thanksgiving Eve.

Taking part in the program were the Rev. John Beard, pastor of the First Christian Church and president of the Howard County Ministerial Fellowship, which sponsored the service; the Rev. James A. Puckett, the host pastor; the Rev. Forrest Robinson, pastor of the First Church of God.

The music was led by Joe Dunn, with Mrs. Joe Frazier and Mrs. Sidney Hart as accompanists. Features on the program were the Meistersingers of Big Spring High School, led by Kenny Sheppard, director. Offering of the evening went toward the high school Bible Class fund.

Dr. Grooms said that he was unwilling to leave to the Psalms, and to various Biblical greats, the expression of his own gratitude to God.

"We are part of that historical train to speak to all men of redemption," he declared. There are so many gifts which merit boundless praise, he added, but they pale beside "God's supreme gift, His Son." This, he noted, should be reason for constant rejoicing and Thanksgiving.

'TURKEY-BEANS' ON JAIL MENU

Half a dozen prisoners serving sentences for minor offenses were released from city jail today, following a long standing custom of freeing minor offenders on Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day, said Warrant Officer Melvin Darratt.

Asked whether the prisoners still in jail would get turkey dinners today, Darratt said, "They get beans today." Pausing a moment, he added: "Turkey-beans."

Thanksgiving Day has become for many Americans a time to extend a helping hand to their less fortunate countrymen. In cities and towns across the nation, they worked to make today's feast of gratitude meaningful for those who might have reason to question the bounty of the land.

OKIE FROM MUSKOGEE

A dozen welfare recipients in Muskogee, Okla., will enjoy holiday turkeys because officials responded to their sit-in at county offices by providing each with a gobble.

In Chicago, pupils at a Roman Catholic school in a poor, black section of the city collected 150 boxes of food for the needy in a "getting it together" drive their priest hailed for its selflessness. Students at Glendale Community College in Arizona collected money and food to help 1,200 persons, mostly migrant workers and the elderly.

Two dozen Indiana University students gave up holidays at home to tour nursing homes in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Missouri, providing entertainment.

Five boys 9 to 13 collected old bottles and newspapers and did odd jobs so that a poor family in St. Louis could have a traditional dinner.

Government officials were busy doing their part, too.

President Nixon invited hospitalized servicemen in the Washington area to dig into six turkeys with his family at the White House.

Georgia's Gov. Lester Maddox gave early releases to 553 prisoners. Telling them he knew many wouldn't have turkeys, he declared: "But freedom means a lot more."

The 102 Green Berets who had a hand in the raid that attempted to free American prisoners in North Vietnam were back at Fort Bragg, N.C., for holiday reunions with their families.

Turkey, dressing and mince or pumpkin pie were served to 360,000 U.S. servicemen in South Vietnam, who celebrated a day early because of the time difference. Usually drab mess halls were spruced up in military installations around the world for the festive meal.

NOT FORGOTTEN

But those prisoners of the North Vietnamese were not forgotten. About 20 families of captured men planned a demonstration in Los Angeles, eating what they said was a typical meal for a prisoner of war—hog fat, pumpkin mush and rice.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was guaranteed a jovial dinner as he and his family were asked to share the repast of comedian Bob Hope in Palm Springs, Calif.

In Plymouth, Mass., where it all began, the annual pageant of citizens dressed as Pilgrims was expected to draw thousands of onlookers.

Dismissal Of Hickel Proves Real Shocker

'Sit Tight Until You Hear From Me'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rumors had been flying for months but President Nixon's abrupt dismissal Wednesday of Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel apparently came as a surprise and a shock to Hickel and his close aides.

They knew, of course, that someone in the White House wanted Hickel out, but inquiries usually brought a cheerful reply: "The war's not over yet." Hickel had no intention of being encouraged to resign by rumors leaking from White House aides.

DON'T WORRY

Even a visit Nov. 12 from Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, one of Nixon's closest advisers, failed to impress Hickel.

In a television interview Tuesday night, Hickel said Mitchell had discussed his future with him, but "he never mentioned a resignation as such."

And when Mitchell left, Hickel related, the attorney general said, "Wally, sit tight until you hear from me again."

"I'm sitting tight," Hickel added.

Although the interview had been recorded earlier, Hickel apparently was still sitting tight as late as Wednesday afternoon.

A source said visitors who saw Hickel at 1 p.m. thought he "didn't seem worried at all."

Most Interior Department offices shut down as usual at 4:45, with many employees drifting out earlier to prepare for their Thanksgiving holiday.

One of them was Hickel's undersecretary, Fred J. Russell, a California millionaire who worked on Nixon's presidential campaign in 1968; who was given a job as deputy director of the low-profile Office of Emergency Preparedness and then moved to the Interior post; and who was, within a few hours, to become acting secretary of the Interior.

OUT OF TOWN

Russell took a plane to California, on vacation.

Former Undersecretary Russell E. Train, now chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, also flew out of town and an unworried aide didn't even bother to find out where he was going.

Hickel, a spokesman later said, was due to attend a budget meeting with a group including Charles Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget. He went to the meeting room in the Executive Office Building, but Shultz was absent and the meeting began without him.

In its midst, Hickel was told by John Whitaker, a presidential aide and chief White House contact on environment affairs, that the President wanted to see him.

NO NOTICE
Hickel arrived at the White House at 5:10 p.m.

He had no advance notice of the subject of the meeting, said Hickel aide Josef Holbert, but he quickly found out.

Hickel was, as he later phrased it, "terminated."

Hickel met with the President and Nixon's domestic affairs counselor, John Ehrlichman, for 30 minutes.

Then White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler announced Hickel had been fired, because of a lack of "mutual confidence."

Ziegler provided no details of the confrontation in which Nixon fired Hickel.

GOOD JOB

But Holbert said "Hickel did not plead his case. He said he thought he had done a good job for the administration."

One informed source indicated, however, that Nixon promised Hickel to make no disparaging remarks about him in the future.

Hickel's promise, this source said, was that "he would say nothing but the truth."

Hickel went into seclusion with half a dozen of his "Alaska Mafia" — close aides he had brought with him — emerging only for a brief statement to newsmen.

MORTON TAKES OVER NEW ASSIGNMENT FOR NIXON — Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton, right, Republican National Chairman and slated for the post of Secretary of the Interior, listened in December, 1969, as President Nixon made a White House announcement concerning his GOP post. The Maryland congressman, 56, will succeed Walter J. Hickel who was fired by Nixon Wednesday.

Pink Auto Tags For Drunks, Weekends In Jail For NOL?

AUSTIN (AP) — Pink auto license plates for drunks and weekends in jail for persons caught driving without licenses were suggested in a semi-serious vein Wednesday to a legislative committee.

The Committee on Uninsured

Motorists heard testimony from labor, lawyers and the insurance industry.

Sam Winters, Austin lawyer representing car insurance companies, said insurance rates and accidents could be reduced drastically if a small percentage of drivers could be removed from the road.

FUNNY, EH

"Maybe a guy who is a habitual drinker, give him a pink license plate or something like that," Winters said with a tight-lipped grin.

Sen. Chet Brooks, Pasadena, said there should be some evidence of financial responsibility, such as a liability policy, required when a driver buys his license plates.

"Of course, they could cancel their policies right afterwards," Winters said.

"What about putting them in jail if they are caught driving without a license?" Brooks later suggested.

Winters reminded him that previous attempts had failed in the legislature because of arguments that this would cause a hardship on families of persons who must drive to earn a living.

Brooks commented that Travis and Harris counties have programs where certain offenders spend every Saturday and Sunday in jail until they have served out their jail terms for certain violations.

RACIAL JOBS

H. S. "Hank" Brown, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, predicted the percentage of uninsured drivers in Texas will jump from 35 per cent now to 50 per cent if a proposed 18.6 to 23 per cent car insurance increase takes effect.

He blamed insurance companies for the large numbers of uninsured drivers.

"In considering the question of the uninsured motorists, I recommend that you draw up legislation to stop insurance companies from cancelling policies arbitrarily," Brown said.

He accused insurers of practicing "racial discrimination" by denying coverage to a high percentage of Negroes and Mexican-Americans.

Plane Crash Kills 2 Men

TEAGUE, Tex. (AP) — Two men died as a light plane crashed and burned Wednesday night in a pasture three miles southwest of here in Central Texas.

State patrolmen James Ray and Jim Keltum said all identifying numbers and even the make of the craft were destroyed, thwarting efforts to identify the occupants or owner.

The crackup occurred about 10:35 p.m. on the farm of Jack Jackson.

WELFARE SHOULD MEET HUMAN NEEDS

Committee's Recommendations

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—Welfare payments should be high enough to enable every Texan to meet his "basic human needs," a committee of citizens and legislators declared today.

That was the fundamental recommendation of a 9-member welfare study committee, which also made numerous detailed proposals for "breaking the poverty cycle in Texas."

"I think this report, if given consideration and if the many constructive proposals are adopted by the legislature, will place Texas in the position of taking one of the most intelligent approaches in the nation to welfare," said Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

He added that welfare would be a "major issue" in next year's legislature.

"No area of public affairs is as surrounded by mythology as is welfare. Nor are the myths harmless ones, for they have prevented the development of sound public policy," the report declares.

"Nobody is on welfare because he wants to be," the committee told the comfortable majority of Texans as they prepared for Thanksgiving feasts and football.

The report also rebuts President Nixon's view that welfare rolls can be trimmed by putting the poor to work.

In Texas, the committee said, "only 6 per cent of the total number of welfare recipients could profit from the work-training proposals" made by the President. The rest are too young, too old, blind, disabled or occupied by child care, the report added.

The legislature's goal should be "to appropriate funds sufficient to satisfy the basic human needs of persons who reside in Texas and who are unable to live at a normal level of health and human dignity," the committee declared.

This recommendation, however, was not translated into dollars and cents.

The Senate created the committee last year, and it went to work Feb. 13 after Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes appointed its members: W. P. Hobby Jr., president and executive editor of the Houston Post, chairman; Sen. Charles Wilson, Lufkin, vice chairman; Dr. Joaquin Cigarroa Jr., Laredo physician; Callan Graham, Austin, executive director of the Texas Catholic Conference; Bert Holmes, associate editor of the Dallas Times-Herald; Dr. David Jacobson, San Antonio, rabbi of Temple Beth El; Sen. Barbara Jordan, Houston; Mrs. Nancy Paxton Moody, Austin attorney; and Sen. William T. Moore, Bryan.

An immediate need, the committee said, is a constitutional amendment removing the present $80 million ceiling on annual state spending for welfare benefits.

"The choice is to lower the assistance payments to the poor and needy who are 88 per cent children, aged and physically or mentally handicapped; or to successfully work for removal of the constitutional ceiling," the group said.

If the ceiling is not removed, public assistance payments will be reduced to 40 per cent of their current level because of big increases in the welfare rolls, the committee added.

Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) now goes to 200,000 children, compared with 64,489 in 1967.

When it convenes Jan. 12, the legislature will be asked for an emergency appropriation of about $41 million to continue welfare payments and medical assistance at present levels until Sept. 1, the report said.

The committee recommended that the Welfare Department be renamed the "Department of Human Resources," with a "secretary" appointed by the governor, who would have direct responsibility for welfare programs. The present three-member board of public welfare should be abolished.

"Policies of magnitude in the operation of the department should be submitted quarterly for approval by the governor," it said.

Under the present system, the Hobby committee said, "an appointive, part-time unpaid state board is administering a multi-million dollar program annually without direct supervision from either the executive or legislative branches of state government."

But the committee indicated that real control of welfare is in federal, not state hands.

"Decisions regarding welfare have ceased to be state decisions. Most of the flexibility to increase or shrink state expenditures for welfare has been lost," the report said.

Many recommendations got down to the day to day problems of being poor.

Food stamps should replace commodity distribution, which "has worked undue hardship upon all categories of recipients," the committee said.

If food stamps went into statewide use, the state would have an obligation to provide cash "for those persons ineligible to be on welfare but lacking from any source 50 cents on the dollar to buy food stamps." A Harris county experiment indicates the state "would not be burdened if it had to pick up these non-welfare moneyless persons," the report noted.

Under current welfare formulas, families could drop some of their cash benefits in exchange for food stamps while increasing their standard of living.

Another recommendation was designed to enable more welfare mothers to work while giving their children training that might ultimately help them "break the poverty cycle."

The committee recommended that in the next two fiscal years the state provide day care centers for AFDC children between the ages of 5 and 2 whose mothers work. The centers would emphasize nutrition, "social adjustment, early childhood learning and pre-school readiness preparation." Estimated cost of centers would be $12 million to $25 million a year in state funds.

Free glasses and dental care for AFDC children also were recommended.

The committee said examinations of young people enrolled in Texas Job Corps centers indicated 40 to 50 per cent had dental problems that were "serious enough to be considered an occupational impairment."

"The uniform accessibility of glasses has become a necessity if there is to be hope for success in school and realistic discouragement of 'dropouts' due to educational failure," the committee said.

Eye-glasses and dentures, on a limited basis, also should be provided for persons receiving old age assistance, the report added.

The committee endorsed the welfare recipients as a supplement to Medicaid. The group proposed a $15 monthly limit, and estimated total costs—including federal funds—of $75 million over the next two years.

"When the recipient, eligible under Medicaid to see a physician, has lacked sufficient funds to buy the prescribed drugs, the attending physician has been severely limited as to the level of care he could provide," it said.

Another proposal aimed at eventual reduction of AFDC costs was a constitutional amendment allowing garnishment of wages for child support. The committee quoted State Welfare Commissioner Burton Hackney as saying more than a third of the children now getting AFDC could be taken off the rolls if court-ordered child support were paid regularly and in full.

"Clearly a large number of persons who have had children have shifted the financial responsibility to the state," the report said.

Endorsed in principle were efforts of the legislative council and the State Bar of Texas to develop a family code that would include the question of paternity and paternal responsibility in cases of illegitimacy.

Other recommendations included:

—A data processing system that would reduce the need for caseworkers and clerical help in the Welfare Department.

—Complete reorganization of the Welfare Department, with better financial and promotion incentives for personnel.

—Approval by the governor of all contract operations, such as day care and social service agreements, between the Welfare Department and local governments. The committee said defaults by local agencies over which the Welfare Department has no control could jeopardize the entire commitment of federal welfare funds to Texas.

—Administrative improvements in Medicaid.

'They All Go Ape' Raiding In Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Three men arrested in a police raid on a theater in downtown Brownsville posted bonds and were released from the Cameron County Jail Wednesday.

Howard Lee House, 29, of Corpus Christi; Arthur Leal, 25, of Brownsville and Kenneth Muehl, 24, of Corpus Christi were jailed on charges of exhibiting an obscene motion picture.

Brownsville police said they raided the Imperial Arts Theater, arrested the three men and confiscated two reels of film after a committee of citizens complained that the movie, "They All Go Ape," was obscene.

County Court at Law Judge D. J. Lerma arraigned the trio and set bond at $2,000 for House, and $500 each for the other two. At the time of the police raid late Tuesday, House was free on $500 bond following a similar arrest a week ago.

SHIPWRECKED BUT THANKFUL—Howard Taylor, his wife, Jane, and their daughter, Rebecca, 4, rest in Miami after being rescued from their sailboat which struck a Bahamian reef and sank. The Taylors sold all they owned two years ago and set out in the boat, but after their rescue by a cruise ship Taylor said he's "the happiest guy I know . . . I've got a real Thanksgiving story to tell."

Good News Story For Thanksgiving

MIAMI (AP) — Having just lost everything he owned, Howard Taylor leaned back, grinned and said, "Hell, I'm the happiest guy I know."

Ten days ago, Taylor said he thought he was about to die and cursed himself for exposing his wife Jane and their 4-year-old daughter Rebecca to the same fate.

Their 44-foot motor sailer hung impaled on a Bahamian reef six miles from shore and Taylor thought it was only a matter of time before it slid into the depths of the Atlantic. "That was before the establishment saved our necks," Taylor said in an interview Tuesday. "You talk about celebrating Thanksgiving Thursday. Well, I've got a real Thanksgiving story to tell."

GOT FED UP

The story began two years ago in California. "We had everything," Taylor said, "a good home, two cars, had a great job as a chief medical technician in a hospital. My wife had a fine job in another one as a microbiologist."

"But I got fed up. The war, taxes, politics, suburban living, materialism. You name it. I had it. So, I decided to take my family and drop out. I'm no hippie."

I never was. I'd just had it." The Taylors sold everything, bought the 22-ton motor sailer and began a two-year cruise that ended up on a jagged reef off the Island of Mayaguana.

About three hours after the boat became stuck on the coral, Taylor got an answer to his radio distress calls from the tourist cruise ship Song of Norway out of Miami.

Eight hours later the Taylors perched on the cabin of their now overturned boat and watched as a crew from the Song of Norway battled to bring a life boat through the sea churning over the reef.

Crews Working To Bring Sewage Effluent To Par

Willis V. Brown, superintendent of water and sewage treatment, said Wednesday that city work crews are beginning to empty digester tanks at the sewage treatment plant as a step toward bringing the quality of the treated effluent up to standards set by the Texas Water Quality Board.

After TWQB tests showed that the biochemical oxygen demand (BOD) of the treated effluent has not been up to par, and the board gave orders that the situation be corrected. A recent study by the city's consulting firm, Freese, Nichols and Endress, indicated that an accumulation of toxic heavy metals in the digesters was probably a major source of the problem.

To remedy the heavy metals problem, the city commission budgeted $10,000 this year to empty and clean the digesters and make a fresh start. The success of the remedy depends on whether the city can prevent the heavy metals from accumulating again.

Companies in the area suspected of contributing to the problem have been notified, and have agreed to cooperate in keeping the chromates and other toxic substances out of the city sewer system.

The sludge in each of the three digester tanks will have to be pumped out and disposed of by drying in sand beds, after which it will be buried or used as fertilizer.

Brown pointed out that pumping out the sludge is not new, since sludge has continually been pumped out of the digesters to keep the level of waste water inside low enough to prevent runoff back into the plant. The only difference in this case will be the volume of sludge, which will be greater than normal.

1,000 Young Men Taking Home Ec

HOUSTON (AP) — More than 1,000 young men are taking home economics in Houston public schools this year, breaking into what is usually female stronghold.

"A lot of those 1,000 are in home and family living courses said Mrs. Nanalee Clayton, who directs home economics for the Houston Independent School District. "But many of them are in food classes, or in home management and interior design—they are interested in careers often in that area."

"For lots of the male pupils, it's a form of health insurance against the day when they may be on their own, batching it. "Quite a few boys take home ec here," said Tim Ellis, a pupil at Wilthrop High. "I'm not going to get married for a while. I expect to go to college, probably to be a doctor. I figure it won't hurt to learn to cook."

Senior Tommy Sanders, who, his female classmates say, makes a "pretty good omelet," is so taken with his class that he's considering being a chef. "It's pretty good money," he said.

Boys have carried away a number of top food contest prizes, Mrs. Clayton said. "At one contest, a boy from Yates High won a range with his pastry creation."

"They learn as quickly and as well as girls," said home ec teacher Lenola Allen. "I have one student who is very, very good. In his group, the girls won't make a move unless he approves their work."

"Last week it was his turn to clean the range—and he took it apart and cleaned it like it never had been cleaned before. We're still talking about that one."

She said most boys take home ec so "they can do a little to take care of themselves when they get away from home."

The boys say they don't learn cooking at home because they are too busy with other things like sports or a job after school. One boy laughed and said, "My mom cooks okay, but really she's not too good."

blazing oil well two miles southeast of this Southeast Texas town. The well burst into flame mysteriously about 6:15 a.m. Tuesday and sent blazing oil and a plume of steam high into the air. Shell officials said the well produced about 150 barrels of oil and nearly as much water daily. The steam was caused by the intense heat of the fire and its action on the water. The well is the No. 14 Carpenter near Texas 365. It was completed in 1953.

Book On Screen NEW YORK (AP) — Paramount Pictures has announced that Francis Ford Coppola will direct the film from the best-seller, "The Godfather," Coppola, who is 31 years old, previously directed "You're a Big Boy Now," "Finian's Rainbow" and "The Rain People." He also is a screenwriter, with the scripts for "Patton," "Reflections in a Golden Eye," "This Property is Condemned," and others.

Parents Praise Program For Head Start Students

Parents with children in the Nixon has recommended only local Head Start program have $339 million. The House of Representatives has approved a threatened Head Start appropriation of $329 million, while a last-minute legislative push in the Senate could raise say they need $350 million to the appropriation to almost $400 million to continue the program at its present levels, but President and is doing very good in the first grade. She is doing so well that you would think she has spoken English all of her life. I hope the Head Start program will continue for the sake of the children.

"We had one child in the wonderful Head Start program last year and it prepared him well for the first grade. We have three more children that I would like to see have the advantage of Head Start. I hope the program can be continued."

"My child can now speak English and has an interest in school. The opportunity that Head Start has given my child I could have never been able to afford. Please don't allow the children to suffer by not being able to attend the program."

"My little girl has already started speaking English and never wants to stay home from school at all. She's very happy, and I'm proud of what the teachers have been able to teach her."

"The Head Start program helped me learn English because my children learned it in school and came home and taught it to me."

Anti-Litter Squad Plans Revealed At Luncheon

An anti-litter luncheon at the Holiday Inn Tuesday gave leaders of the subcommittees a chance to report their progress to Mike Hull, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce anti-litter committee, and make future plans.

Sid Smith, chairman of the subcommittee to set up an anti-litter squad, reported that he and Don Lovelady will be going before local service clubs to explain the project, which will depend on widespread support and volunteer help for its success.

The anti-litter squad is to be an anonymous group of responsible persons charged with the duty of reporting littering and messy alleys and lots to the committee. A letter would then be sent to the litterer asking for his cooperation in keeping Big Spring clean.

The plan would follow the procedure used by the T-men, who report traffic violations to the Traffic Commission. The Traffic Commission then sends the violator a letter reminding him to improve his driving.

Smith said he has already enlisted the support of several youth clubs, including the Key Club, the Kentwood Methodist Youth Fellowship group, and TARS (Teens Aid the Retarded.)

Mrs. Robert Knight, chairman of the publicity subcommittee, reported on plans for anti-litter contests to be planned by Mrs.

Odell Womack, a school poster contest to be organized by Mrs. Dan Allen, and a poster and bumper sticker campaign being planned by Marvin Woodridge.

She showed a drawing of a campaign insignia designed by Mrs. Tommy Rutledge which is to be unveiled when the campaign gets under way, probably about Jan. 1.

The committee also discussed plans for a flyer to be mailed out explaining the purpose of the campaign and the object of the anti-litter squad, to be timed to coincide with the campaign kick-off.

In a world beset by problems, we can easily forget that there are still many things for which each of us should be grateful. May this day of thanks serve as a lasting reminder that humanity has been given more than enough divine blessings to offset any difficulty.

Courthouse Gang, Here's Bare Idea

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — It has turned so cold in the Bexar County courthouse that at least one employe has bought a wig to keep his head warm.

The building is being remodeled, and this work has left it temporarily without heat in some areas.

Pete Batista, an interpreter in various courtrooms, said the chill of the courthouse was giving him headaches, so he laid out $45 for a speckled gray headpiece to cover his bald head.

'GRASS' MAKES IT HARD TO TALK SENSE, MAN!!

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A man who has been studying the effect of marijuana for the past 19 years says using "grass" makes it hard to carry on a conversation.

Dr. Lincoln D. Clark, professor of psychiatry at the University of Utah, says marijuana disturbs some of the most sensitive functions of the brain — such as recent memory, logic and sequential thinking.

"The automatic recall of what has just been said is very difficult for a marijuana smoker," Dr. Clark said, "and increases in difficulty with larger doses."

He has been studying the effects of marijuana since 1951. When he started, he said, he had no idea that hallucinogenic drugs would become popular.

Toxic effects of marijuana have been identified since 1899, he said. Smoking or eating marijuana may not cause any significant changes in motor ability, he said, but greatly impairs memory and reaction time in mental skills.

"The person under intoxication cannot make sense in sequential conversation or sequential thinking," Dr. Clark said, "cannot recall a word or will use the wrong word or even create a new word."

"His logic becomes inconsequential." Clark spoke at a colloquium sponsored by the Department of Psychology.

Insurance Ads Hearing Delayed

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Insurance Board has postponed its hearing, originally scheduled for Monday, on proposed strict rules for health insurance advertising. The board said the hearing would be held next month, at a date to be announced later.

State Delays Island 'Grab'

AUSTIN (AP) — A decision on the Mustang Island controversy has been postponed until Monday because Gov. Preston Smith asked the conservation foundation to look into the matter.

Pearce Johnson, chairman of the Parks and Wildlife Commission, said Wednesday he would delay the decision he promised to make that day because of the governor's action. The foundation meets next Monday.

Johnson has refused to sign an application for a $1 million federal grant to assist in the purchase of Mustang Island property at $1,100 an acre. Only he has authority to sign the application.

The other two commissioners have voted to buy as much of the island from private ownership as available money will permit, even though previously scheduled park projects would have to be delayed.

Conservationists have argued that the Mustang Island property never again will be on the market and that the state should grab the chance to get it. Johnson argued at a commission hearing last Monday that the island is far from centers of population, where recreation projects are needed now.

DEAR READERS: Today is the day to reflect and give special thanks for our blessings. My personal blessings are many. May I share with you a few letters for which I am extremely thankful.

Happy Thanksgiving! ABBY DEAR ABBY: Your short-lived "romance" is over. Your newly found sweetheart, Sol Shecter, died on Aug. 3, prematurely, at the tender age of 86½. I say "tender age" because Sol was perennially young and he argued and fought and made up and kissed like a young boy because he had his big two-cents in everything, noting daunted him, and we loved him for his "joie-de-vivre."

So, why am I telling you this? Because I want you to know that in the short period you corresponded with him, I wish you could have seen the glow you brought to his eyes in the last stages of his terminal illness — how he chirped around with pride when he discovered (or was informed) that you had alluded to him (who else?) in one of your columns, and how we had to make extra copies of the correspondence that went on between you two, so he could show it around with a huff and a puff.

You brought this little, old, endearing, effervescent man a few extra hours of happiness.

HELEN SCHAPS (MRS. S.) PARK VIEW HOME, CHICAGO, ILL.

DEAR ABBY: This letter is to thank you for the two letters in today's Portland Oregonian, concerning the woman who wants to have her cat buried with her, and your replies to each.

At the present time, I am through as I decided to remain having "deep water" to go with the husband I wrote you about two years ago. (I received from you a very heart-warming personal reply.) Your column made me laugh aloud today — something I seldom do. Thank you for being you.

MRS. C. IN PORTLAND DEAR ABBY: I am a 69-year-old man who has been around quite a bit and have always been able to take care of my own problems, so what am I writing to you for? To say God bless you, and thank you from the bottom of my heart for your column in the Las Vegas Review-Journal yesterday.

You see, I have been a very sick man for the last three years. I had not smiled or laughed for three years. Then I read your column (I never miss it) and two letters, one right after the other, struck me so funny, I burst right out laughing. I laughed for one hour — until the tears ran down my face, then I called up a friend and asked her to go dancing. And Abby, we went, and had a wonderful time.

How can I thank you? DICK SULMAN DEAR DICK: You just did!

DEAR ABBY: This is a fan letter — the first I've ever written to anyone. Of course, I have my problems, but who doesn't? I've just enjoyed your column in the Austin, Tex., evening paper so much I had to tell you. Your column makes my day. Thanks for making my happy life happier. M.P. IN AUSTIN

Takes Santa Fe Post In Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Geo. T. Grader, regional manager of public relations for Santa Fe Railway at Amarillo, has been appointed to the same post at Dallas.

W.C. Burk, manager of public relations, made the announcement Wednesday.

Grader succeeds L.J. (Lenny) Cassell, veteran railroad public relations executive, who is retiring Nov. 30.

Grader will be responsible for the road's public relations program on the western lines, which include Texas and portions of New Mexico, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Other promotions effective Dec. 1, include H. B. Hill Jr., at Amarillo, and T.V. Murphy at Dallas, both advancing from special assistant to traveling representative. Hill will continue to be headquartered at Amarillo. P.H. Hill, traveling representative, Albuquerque, N.M., remains under Grader's direction there.

Ft. Sam Jobs Council Formed

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A 14-member Equal Employment Opportunity Advisory Council has been established at Ft. Sam Houston.

It will serve as an advisory body to the Army post's commanding officer on equal employment matters and will help in the development of plans to assure equal opportunity for all without regard to race, color, religion, sex or national origin.

BIG SPRING BIRDS 'TURNING ON'

Tweet, Tweet, Listen To Blotto Birds Hic!

By WALT FINLEY
Has avian drunkenness come to Big Spring? That, bird lovers, is when birds get stinko on fermented berries and flop when they fly!

The situation is horrible in Dallas, reports the Wall Street Journal.

Woodpeckers, says the Journal, are among the worse affected. They load up on berries, and may spend a lot of time pecking in the air—rather than telephone poles. They fly into roofs, then roll off and fall easy prey for cats, dogs and other predators.

Bird, Girl Watchers
Several Big Spring bird and girl watchers, not necessary in that order, haven't noticed any great problem here. However, they haven't been looking for it. But many birds innocently feed on berries and get polluted, if you want to call it that. This has been a recognized woe for years.

When water is scarce many birds will feed on berries, some sunburned and rotting.

White Lightning
Result: They become high fliers, for the food has the kick of potent Okie white mule whisky.

Not only do they fly blind, but they flop around, much as a drunken human, and sometimes even stagger backwards.

When perching they have a disheveled look, and one wing may droop lower than the other.

Possum berry vines often are song bird saloons. It is not unusual for a possum berry bush to have six or seven wobbling birds nearby.

An increasing number of birds have one berry too many and fly across expressways at too low levels. Exit birds.

Jail Birds
When cedar waxwing fly through this area en route South, they seek out pyracantha and holly berries.

For some reason the pyracanthas are more potent than the holly. A few cedar waxwings can strike a good-sized tree in an afternoon.

They get so inebriated they cannot fly and just sit on trees or nearby wires, wobbling from side to side.

Southwestern bird lovers, who do not understand the cravings of the cedar waxwings, often become alarmed and bring them to zoos for treatment, which may consist of throwing them into a cage to sober up and then releasing them.

Love That Stuff
Cedar waxwings can't seem to learn to leave the stuff alone. Before they fly South they may have become drunk on wild cherries in the North.

Big Spring mocking birds and blue jays love to dive-bomb cats, dogs and sometimes people.

These feathered friends are not blotto, but simply following a natural urge, whether sober or under the influence.

They don't have to have their inhibitions released by alcohol, but a little black raspberry juice may give them more verve.

Umph! No Excuse
Those who fly into windows are not necessarily drunk, and more than likely this is a wrong assumption if indeed it is made. More than likely they are chasing an image they see in the glass, golf-print-bird expert Tommy Jordan reports.

Naturally, there is no excuse for birds flying into roofs, trees and other fixed objects.

These birds are likely under the influence, possibly even of DDT, but a bird should never be considered an alcoholic, an ornithologist reports—that is, except some high-flying cedar waxwings.

Birds are primarily drawn to berries because they are hungry and thirsty.

Loser Boozers
While the sight of a tipsy bird is revolting to bird watchers everywhere, there is something bird lovers can do to remedy the situation.

That is: Put some seed and food in your bird feeder and keep the water clean in the back yard bird-bath.

If this doesn't work you might put ice in their birdbaths so the two-time loser boozers could take cold showers, or substitute tomato juice mixed with hot water—for water.

This will cure your fine feathered friends of hiccups and start them on those sweet Thanksgiving songs again.

Caudill's Shows Off Renovations

Big Springers who are going to make a shopping trip to Midland and Odessa for better selection could save themselves a trip and shop where Midland and Odessa women do—at Caudill's Dress Shop in the Highland South Shopping Center.

Mrs. Ray D. Caudill, owner of the shop, says she has many customers from the Midland-Odessa area who tell her that they come to Big Spring to get a better selection.

And now, Mrs. Caudill is proud to be able to offer all of her customers an even greater selection. "The store was getting cramped so we decided that we'd have to expand to give our customers the selection they demand," she said.

MRS. RAY D. CAUDILL

So, workmen knocked out a wall and the store grew sideways and doubled its space. The finishing touches have now been completed, and the grand opening is set for Friday and Saturday.

The grand opening of the new section will be Mrs. Caudill's third in Big Spring. Eight years ago she opened a small shop in the 1700 block of Gregg. After only three years she had outgrown that location and decided to move into the Highland South Shopping Center. And now she has suffered more growing pains and has expanded to meet her customer's needs.

The shop features ladies and junior ready-to-wear, sports wear, accessories and lingerie.

Gusty Winds Rake Texas

By The Associated Press
Gusty winds from the south and southwest raked all of Texas and made Thanksgiving Day unusually warm in most sections.

Forecasters warned, however, that more cool weather was on the way. They expected a cold front pushing through the Rockies and Great Plains to reach western and northern parts of the Lone Star State by late Friday, bringing with it occasional shower activity.

Although temperatures sagged to 30 degrees at Marfa and 28 at Midland and Wink early today, readings generally stood in the 50s and 60s. It was still a balmy 69 at Corpus Christi.

Equipment Stolen

Bobby Franks, Universal Well Service, Snyder, reported to the Sheriff's Office Wednesday that some equipment had been stolen from the Lone Star Lease west of Luther. Taken from well No. 21 were a set of elevator belts, a pair of air slips and two webb wilson slips.

DEATHS

Lonnie R. Fisk, Accident Victim

SNYDER — Funeral is pending at Bell-Seale Funeral Home here for Lonnie Ray Fisk, 22, who died Wednesday of injuries received Monday in a one-pickup wreck four miles south of Snyder.

Fisk, a passenger, received chest and internal injuries in the wreck. Denton Helmstetter Jr., 28, driver of the truck, was killed in the accident.

Mr. Fisk was born Feb. 20, 1948, in Olney, Ill., and married June Pettijohn Nov. 7, 1968, in Snyder. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife, one step-daughter, Angela Williams Snyder, one daughter, Rhonda Fisk Snyder, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Fisk, Snyder; four sisters, Mrs. Rose Mary Burton, Tonya Fisk, Velma Fisk and Laura Ann Fisk, all of Snyder; and three brothers, Ronnie Fisk and Russell Fisk, Snyder, and Donnie Fisk, Odessa.

Reuben Williams, Former Resident

Word has been received here of the death in Dallas of Reuben Williams, 63, a former Big Spring resident. Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Friday in Dallas.

Williams' father, A. Williams, for many years operated a dry goods store on Main Street in the early days, and the younger Williams grew up here and was graduated from Big Spring High School.

He later obtained a law degree and established practice in Dallas. Mr. Williams served as personal secretary to W. Lee O'Daniel, and O'Daniel subsequently named him to the Texas Highway Commission.

Williams, who still owned the Main Street property, had made occasional visits to Big Spring and kept an interest in the welfare of his old home town. Survivors include his wife, 5945 Royal Crest, Dallas; and two sons, Arnold Williams and Neal Williams, both of Dallas, and a sister, Mrs. Rachel Learer, Fort Worth.

Mildred Morris, Stanton Pastor

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. Mildred Marjory Morris, 49, died Wednesday in the Stanton hospital after a lengthy illness. Funeral will be at 2 p.m. Friday in the First Baptist Church in Wimberley with burial in Wimberley Cemetery, under direction of Pennington Funeral Home, San Marcos. Local arrangements were by Gilbreath Funeral Home.

Mrs. Morris was born Aug. 27, 1921, in Bateman. She was a resident of Stanton for one year, coming here from Midland.

She was married to Clyde William Morris Feb. 4, 1940, in Wimberley. She was pastor of the Stanton Assembly of God Church for two years, and was president of the Women's Missionary Council.

Survivors include her husband; four daughters, Mrs. Mildred Annette Newberry, Malawi, Africa, Evelyn Clydene Morris, Stanton, Mrs. Bonnie Elaine Nelson, Odessa, and Charlotte Marie Morris, Stanton; her father, Alton Morris, Wimberley; one sister, Mrs. Arlene Seabrook, Wimberley; one brother, Curtis Morris, Wimberley; and three grandchildren.

Sentiment Favored Firing Of Taylor

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian fired head football coach Fred Taylor Wednesday, citing a "preponderant sentiment for a change and the best interests of the university."

Taylor, 50, concludes his fourth year as head coach Saturday when the Horned Frogs close out the season against rival Southern Methodist.

"I regret that this step had to be taken," said Dr. Earl Waldrop, senior vice chancellor at TCU, who cited the reasons for dismissal.

TCU is 3-6-1 for the season and 14-25-1 under Taylor, who succeeded Abe Martin when Martin moved up to athletic director.

Taylor was advised of the decision Wednesday morning. He informed the coaching staff and players before practice but otherwise had no immediate comment.

"I will have a post-game press conference after Saturday's game," he said. "At that time I will be glad to answer any questions regarding this situation, my past and my plans."

"But right now the main thing I want to worry about is winning this last game."

The university said in a statement that it is probable that Taylor will remain at TCU in another capacity. It said no action has been taken regarding a successor.

"I joined in this decision with great personal reluctance," said Chancellor James Moudy, "because Fred and I are friends of long standing. I have the greatest respect for his character and his long and competent service."

Martin described Taylor as "an honest, sincere man, a good coach, a friend," and added, "I stand ready to back him in whatever endeavors he might wish to pursue in the future."

Taylor's dismissal followed by a couple of weeks the resignation of Rice coach Bo Hagan, leaving two Southwest Conference berths to be filled.

Taylor, a tall, drawing Texan, graduated from TCU in 1948 and was named most valuable player on the 1946 Horned Frog team.

He coached at Lubbock High, Corpus Christi Miller and Victoria before joining TCU as a freshman coach in 1953.

IN KANSAS MEET Jayhawks, Cowley Meet At 2 P.M.

GARDEN CITY, Kan. — Howard County JC and Cowley, Kansas, open play in the annual Garden City Holiday Basketball Classic at 2 p.m. today.

Other first round contests:

Panhandle State, Oklahoma, vs. Northeastern Colorado of Sterling, 3:45 p.m.; Paris, Texas, vs. Lamar, Colorado, 7 p.m., and Garden City vs. Northern Oklahoma, 8:45 p.m.

The HCJC-Cowley winner meets the Paris-Lamar survivor at 7 p.m., Friday. Should the Big Spring team lose, it would return to the court at 2 p.m. Friday.

The seventh place contest starts at 2 p.m., Saturday. Consolation finals are on tap for 3:45 p.m. that day. The third place game is scheduled for 7 p.m., while the title goes on the line in an 8:45 p.m. contest.

Should Garden City fail to reach the finals, they would exchange playing times with the two teams playing for third and fifth places.

The Hawks carry a 2-3 record onto the floor today, having beaten Christian College of the Southwest and Cisco while losing to Cochise, Arizona; Schreiner and Christian College. Quite likely, coach Harold Wilder of Big Spring will start a lineup that includes Decell Lewis, Archie Myers, Kenneth Neal, Melvin Perez and Lawrence Young.

Wilder says the Hawks still haven't mastered the art of coordinating their efforts. Until they do, they're going to have problems.

Wofford Opposes West Liberty

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP) — Two undefeated football teams, Wofford of nearby Spartanburg and West Liberty of West Virginia, met today in an NAIA semifinal playoff.

The winner will play for the championship Dec. 12 against the winner of Saturday's game between Texas A&I and Platteville, Wis.

The Wofford Terriers have won their last 19 games, including all 10 this season. They ranked sixth in the last two Associated Press small college polls. They were No. 1 in the NAIA poll, and West Liberty was No. 8 in the NAIA Division I rankings.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Texan Bob Finley, referee of the officiating team working the much-discussed Kansas City-Oakland game a few weeks ago (in which offsetting penalties were called after Raider Ben Davidson had speared Kansas City QB Lenny Dawson), is the same fellow who Sid Gillman tried to get drummed out of the league a few years ago.

Ex-Big Springer Peppy Blount was a member of Finley's team at the time and Gillman wanted to fire the entire crew. Sid, then coach at San Diego, ultimately compromised when the league commissioner offered to dismiss Peppy and one other member of the team.

Coach Clovis Hale of Big Spring expects to get firmer leadership out of his 1971 team than he did the past season, when every boy "did his thing" and was prone to let each teammate dictate his own style of play. (The '70 club did as well as it did because of tremendous pride).

Hale reasons quarterback Mike Adams is a natural leader who will inspire his teammates in perilous situations.

MacArthur Lane (St. Louis) Cardinals alone among the top four scorers in the NFL has scored a touchdown. The other three are field goal kickers.

Perhaps the league should break its scoring leaders into two categories — kickers and non-kickers.

One of the NFL teams is on the financial ropes and has trouble making payments to visiting teams.

A number of American Basketball Association clubs are drowning in a sea of red ink.

Let the records show it forevermore . . .

The 1970 Big Spring High School football team outscored the opposition by exactly one point — 171 to 170.

All of the players on that Cochise, Ariz., JC team which toppled Howard County in the first round of the South Plains Basketball tournament last week hail from places other than Arizona and most are from states east of the Mississippi River.

To the well-meaning and very gracious person who wrote saying that there were indeed more than three members of the local JV unit classified as juniors:

The athletes mentioned were true members of the varsity who occasionally got to play with the JVs because they had not clocked enough time with the Steers. All were recognized as true members of the varsity squad.

All schools resort to such practices.

Drake, which returns to Missouri Valley conference football play next fall, abandoned the sport in a fit of pique in 1951 after backfield star Johnny Bright had his jaw broken by an Oklahoma A&M (now Oklahoma State) player.

The school divorced itself completely of the league for three years before rejoining it for sports other than football.

Drake will play either New Mexico State (the newest MV member), Tulsa, or Memphis State and will designate Tampa (not a conference affiliate) as its fifth league foe in 1971.

Although the kicking efforts were made for field position more so than points, West Texas State tried field goals for 97 and 76 yards recently against Bowling Green.

Matias Garza, the Buffalo booter, tried five three-pointers in all and made three of them, including one for 56 yards.

BUCKS WIN 16 STRAIGHT GAMES

Big A, O Prosper

By The Associated Press

The Big A and Big O are earning their letters with Milwaukee and spelling success for the young Bucks.

Low Alcindor and Oscar Robertson, a perfect parlay of scoring power and precision ball-handling, helped Milwaukee win its 16th game in a row Wednesday night with a 113-87 National Basketball Association conquest of Detroit.

The Bucks' streak puts them two games shy of the NBA record held by the New York Knicks, whom they meet in a home-and-home series Friday and Saturday.

Philadelphia beat Buffalo 99-92 in the first game of a double-header in Boston and the Celtics took the nightcap, beating Portland 122-115 Wednesday night.

Elsewhere in the NBA, New York turned back Atlanta 114-111; San Diego crushed Cincinnati 138-120 and San Francisco bounced Cleveland 108-99.

In the ABA, it was Pittsburgh 99, New York 96; Virginia 109, Indiana 100; Texas 113, Memphis 103; Kentucky 153, Denver 138 and Carolina 95, Utah 94.

Alcindor, the NBA's Super Soph, scored 31 points and veteran smoothie Robertson, in his first game in the last ten after a spectacular 12-1 start.

scored 15 and propelled the Bucks with his backcourt play. Otto Moore scored 17 points as Philadelphia wasted a 17-point lead, then pulled away in the final minutes of their opener at Boston Garden.

JoJo White scored 14 of his 23 points in the fourth period to break open the nightcap for Boston.

Willis Reed scored 35 points and took down 18 rebounds as New York whipped Atlanta for the second straight night. The Knicks beat the Hawks 128-119 in New York Tuesday night.

Elvin Hayes fired in 48 points and had 22 rebounds and Stu Lantz added 30 as San Diego ripped Cincinnati.

Jeff Mullins pocketed 25 points and Jerry Lucas added 21 as San Francisco handed Cleveland its 23rd loss in 24 starts.

MISUNDERSTOOD SUIT ENDS TALK OF LEAGUES' MERGER

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A Memphis newspaper reported today the breakdown of merger talks between the rival major basketball leagues came because of a misunderstanding involving a lawsuit — not because of jumping of players from the older National Basketball Association.

The Commercial Appeal quoted American Basketball Association Commissioner Jack Dolph as saying, "It is a very discernible misunderstanding between the two leagues involving the terms of dismissal of an antitrust suit the ABA has filed."

"They were thinking we would dismiss the suit sooner, and we say we did not say that. It is a matter between the merger committees."

NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy announced the end of negotiations by saying his league has discontinued efforts to obtain legislation from Congress which would permit the formation of a single league.

And, at least one NBA owner, Irv Kosloff of Philadelphia, has called for a fight to the finish between the two leagues.

The ABA filed its antitrust suit against the NBA in June, 1969, at San Francisco.

Jones Counts

BROWNWOOD — David Jones of Stanton scored 19 points when Howard Payne made their home debut by defeating Dallas Baptist College, 113-66, here Tuesday night. Tom Jones of Crane paced all scorers and led the Jackets with 24 points.

Houston, Seminoles Meet In TV Battle

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Houston's ground mashers plus one—blazing receiver Elmo Wright—collide Thanksgiving night with Florida State in a nationally televised college football game. Kickoff is scheduled at 7:30 on ABC-TV with a sparse live crowd of about 20,000 due to watch the southern independents match offenses at Tampa Stadium. Houston has averaged 232 yards a game on the ground, mainly on the muscular legs of Tommy Mozisek, Bob Newhouse and Ted Heiskell. Mozisek has 730 yards and a 6.1 average.

Newhouse has 521 and a 7.4 clip. And, backup man Heiskell has gained 489 for a 4.4 average. Despite all this rushing power, the Cougars go to the fleet Wright when the situation hangs for a big play. Wright has grabbed 31 touchdown passes in his career. One scoring grab against Florida State and he will tie the Howard Twilley of Tulsa for the NCAA record.

Wright's figures this season—with two games to go including a Dec. 5 battle at Miami—are 38 receptions for 640 yards and six scores.

Florida State's offense came back from the dead in the Seminoles' five-game victory streak. Now 7-3, Coach Bill Peterson claims this may be his finest FSU team. Still, the bowl people apparently have their berths filled.

Tommy Warren, noted only as a scrambler for most of his college days, had developed into an aerial genius during the hot streak. The 165-pound senior has 82 of 161 through the air for 1,387 yards and nine TDs, mostly in the last half of the season. Rhett Dawson is a receiver in the Wright class with 49 catches for a 19-yard average, but he had scored only four times.

Although in a senior slump, Tom Bailey is the top Florida State ground gainer in history. The husky Miamian has 465 yards this year for a 4.2 average. Houston leads the series 6-1-2.

FOR 11TH IN ROW Gail Decisions Elks In Region

SLATON — Borden County ended Cotton Center's victory string at 26 games and won the Regional eight-man football championship with a 42-36 triumph here Wednesday night.

COACH BOB DYESS

The victory was the 11th straight for the charges of coach Bob Dyess, ending Gail's finest season.

The outcome wasn't decided until the final seconds when Rick Hendley hit end Jimmy Hodge with a three-yard touchdown pass.

Borden County built up a 36-6 lead at half time but the proud Elks came charging back to tie the count.

The Coyotes scored twice in the first quarter, once on a 53 yard run by Joe Harding and again on a one-yard plunge by Randy Crittenden.

Harding converted after his TD run while Hodge added two more points after Crittenden's score by taking a pass from Hendley.

Gail scored again in the second on a pass from Hendley to Williams, good for 23 yards. The try for point failed.

After Cotton Center had scored on a short run by Dennis Barrett, Call tallied again on a 44-yard sprint by Harding. Williams gathered in a pass for the two extra points.

Before the period was out, Charles Billeck had put Gail on the scoreboard again with a 24-yard run. They try for point failed.

Barrett scored on a ten-yard run for Cotton Center in the third and Ronnie Rief converted for two points. Charley Wright added another TD to Cotton Center's total with a nine-yard run and Barrett converted with a run.

The Elks put two more touchdowns on the board in the fourth on runs of one and 20 yards by Barrett. Rief converted after the first run and Kyle Burnett after the second.

Then came Gail's final surge. Cotton Center 0 6 16 14-36 Borden Co. 16 20 0 6-42

He issued a statement in which he said "Mutual trust and reciprocal confidence in relation to the administration," had been missing since mid-season.

Taylor will remain with TCU for Saturday's final game of the season against Southern Methodist. The Horned Frogs have compiled a 14-25-1 record under him since he took over the club in 1966.

A feud between Ragazzo and Lieutenant General George R.E. Shell, VMI's superintendent, led to the coach's dismissal. "I'm real disgusted," said Ragazzo, "you tell the team what should be done, how to approach football. Then something like this comes along and knocks the bottom out of everything."

VMI has won just one game in the last two seasons. Salvucci, coach at American International for 15 years, compiled a 49-78-5 record. The team was 2-6-1 this season.

Cats Retire Y Trophy

The Park Hill-Marcy football team has now gone three consecutive seasons in Gra-Y league play here without suffering a defeat.

The Panthers won their third straight crown last Saturday by edging Airport-Cedar Crest, 10-6.

Steve Carri scored a touchdown for Park Hill-Marcy and Bubba Stripling ran across the two extra points.

In the third, Darrell Nichols intercepted a Park Hill pass and returned it for an Airport-Cedar Crest score but the try for PAT failed.

Jim Bob Phillips, Ken Kelson, Del Poss, Steve Brantley, Frosty Reynolds, Stripling, Jeb Worthy and Carri were among offensive standouts for Park Hill.

Outstanding on defense were Jessie Doss, Klaus Quernheim, Tim McAdams, Tommy Stephens, Robert Moore and Bobby Lee. Stephens accounted for two of Park Hill's points by trapping an Airport-Cedar Crest back in the end zone.

Playing outstanding ball for Airport-Cedar Crest were Phil Barber, Craig Burks, Burnell Foster, David Rodriguez, Mike Abreo, Danny Smith and Nichols.

The YMCA, which sponsored the league, awarded the trophy to Park Hill-Marcy on a permanent basis, because of the three straight championships.

Delor Poss, assisted by Hayes Stripling Jr., coaches the team. The Panthers and their cheer leaders will be feted with a banquet next week.

Track To Give Away 2 Cars

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — Two major stakes races and the giveaway of two 1971 automobiles are included in the final two weeks of the fall season at Sunland Park.

One car will be given away Sunday while another handsome new auto will be given away the following Sunday, Dec. 6.

This week, the giveaway car is a rally-red Duster. The drawing to decide the winner will be held immediately after the last race.

The same format will be used for Dec. 6, the final day of the 27-day fall season. The gift car this time will be a 1971 Bahama-Yellow Road Runner.

Odell, Claiborne Resign Football Coaching Jobs

Five college football coaches were looking for new jobs today after either resigning or being fired from their posts on Thanksgiving Eve.

Bob Odell, coach at Pennsylvania since 1965, and Jerry Claiborne, who had coached Virginia Tech football for 10 years, both resigned. Fred Taylor of Texas Christian, Vito Regazzo at Virginia Military and Gayton Salvucci of American International were dismissed.

Odell said he was leaving Penn to give himself time to think about his future. "I've been coaching for 24 years," he said, "and I felt this was the time to sit back and review my career."

Claiborne, whose Tech teams compiled 61 victories, 39 defeats and two ties, had been expected to resign ever since mid-season when he had been told he would not be retained by the school.

TWO CHILDREN EAT, BUT TWO GO HUNGRY

Poverty Extreme, Problems Not

By AUSTIN SCOTT
The Associated Press

Every weekday morning, four of Mrs. Mary Hudson's children leave their weather-ravaged wooden shack in the northeast Mississippi hill country and trudge down the muddy, red-gravel road toward the school bus.

At lunch, two children get free meals. The other two, victims of a free lunch quota system, often go hungry until they get home again.

Despite new federal laws and Mrs. Hudson's income, all from welfare, is $90 a month. There are "a heap of days," she said, when she can't give the two children the 30 cents each needs to buy lunch.

Mrs. Hudson's poverty may be extreme, but her problems with the federal school lunch program are not.

An Associated Press study disclosed that varied school districts—from Massachusetts to Mississippi and from North Carolina to Nevada—are meeting new federal requirements.

JUST AS NEEDED
The Agriculture Department announced today that 5.3 million

funds to back up a White House pledge, the goal of giving all needy children free or cut-price school lunches by this Thanksgiving has not been met in many classrooms—north and west as well as south, urban as well as rural.

Inside the Mississippi shack, Mrs. Hudson said her income, all from welfare, is $90 a month. There are "a heap of days," she said, when she can't give the two children the 30 cents each needs to buy lunch.

Mrs. Hudson's poverty may be extreme, but her problems with the federal school lunch program are not.

An Associated Press study disclosed that varied school districts—from Massachusetts to Mississippi and from North Carolina to Nevada—are meeting new federal requirements.

JUST AS NEEDED
The Agriculture Department announced today that 5.3 million needy children benefitted from the program in October, but conceded "there are many needy children that we have not yet reached."

Some schools, such as the one Mrs. Hudson's children attend, have a quota system which gives free lunches to some needy children while others just as needy have to pay.

In other schools, the AP study and separate investigations by private welfare and church groups found, officials refuse to notify parents there is a free lunch program, ask children to work for their free lunches, deny lunches as punishment, and segregate children getting free meals so their classmates can see who is too poor to pay.

Local school administrators say such practices, all banned by the new law, have continued because of state and federal administrative delays or because of a shortage of funds to pay for the share of each lunch that federal money doesn't cover.

LOW INCOMES
Without exception, the districts checked by The Associated Press said they would implement new lunch programs by the end of the Christmas holidays that would either conform to, or be closer to, federal law.

It was last Christmas Eve that President Nixon's adviser on hunger and nutrition, Dr. Jean Mayer, promised that all 6.6 million of the nation's needy school children would be getting free or cut-price lunches by Thanksgiving, 1970.

Later, on May 14, Nixon signed a bill expanding the program and said: "It will assure that every child from a family whose income falls below the poverty line will get a free or reduced-price lunch."

Regulations to implement that law were published Sept. 4. But a number of school districts have written policies saying they won't start meeting the law until January.

HUNGER FIGHTERS
The delays have angered some hunger fighters.

"Millions of needy school children have learned a bitter lesson about how government operates," said Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., chairman of the Senate Committee on Nutrition and Health Needs. "They have learned that they get promises instead of food when they are hungry."

McGovern estimated that 8.9 million children need free lunches, but said less than half are getting them. He based his statement on end-of-September Agriculture Department figures showing 4.1 million children being fed.

However, Asst. Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng said in a statement Wednesday that the 5.3 million children given free or reduced price lunches in October was a 23 per cent gain from the number a year earlier.

The increase, he said, was "a result of the drive to meet President Nixon's commitment to reach a total of 6.6 million needy children by Thanksgiving. Unfortunately, there are still some schools that do not have a lunch program, so we know there are many needy children that we have not yet reached."

GOOD TEMPO
Herbert Rorex, director of the department's child nutrition division, said in an interview that "we are moving with a good tempo toward the ultimate objective, but we may not make it by Thanksgiving Day." He acknowledged that many problems remain.

The AP study spotlighted some of those problems:

—In Greensboro, N.C., needy children waited more than a month this year until the city could find private donors to pay the estimated 30 cents each lunch cost.

Asked what the estimated 450 needy children had done while they waited attendance counselor John Speas said, "About what they'd been doing for years. I guess. Going hungry, sharing with other kids. Apparently you're not supposed to get hungry that first month."

IN BOSTON
—In Boston, a special state commission reported last spring that only 55 of 189 city schools have lunch programs, and that although 28,585 children are from welfare families, an average of only 667 free lunches were given daily.

—In Mississippi, local officials say the state sets quotas on the number of free lunches it will release funds for and anything beyond that is determined by how much money individual school districts can scrape up.

—Although new federal law directs schools to "avoid overt identification to their peers of children receiving such meals . . . high school students in Quitman County, Miss., said "students who pay for their lunches go first, five or ten minutes ahead of time." Those getting free meals, they add, stand in line together until, one-by-one, their names are called and they step forward for their food.

THEY'D STARVE
Similar practices were reported in some Massachusetts districts, where one mother said of her children: "They'd starve before they'd be singled out and let other kids know" they couldn't pay for their lunch.

—In Las Vegas, Nev., the nation's gambling capital, Clark County school officials did not send application blanks or information on the free lunch program home with school children.

"If that's what the law says, I don't know it," said school Supt. Kenny Guinn. "Our interpretation is not the same . . . if Washington interprets different, nobody's ever told us."

Some cities have no uniform policy. Baltimore is an example. One mother there, Mrs. Charlotte Minton, said when she went to apply at one school she was told by the principal, "We're not set up to supply all the children who need a free lunch with a free lunch." But, likin after he was told the United Citizens League of Marshall County, a black political organization, was planning to press for compliance with the standard.

But he added that he wasn't 100 per cent sure. "It's impossible to feed everybody," he said.

The all-new KitchenAid dishwashers and disposers for people who believe in old-fashioned quality.

KitchenAid dishwashers and disposers are built with good, old-fashioned quality . . . the kind of quality that means years of dependable performance, day in and day out. Every KitchenAid is built better to work better and last longer. There are many types, many models . . . one just right for your needs.

KitchenAid built-in dishwashers
For utmost convenience, choose a KitchenAid built-in. Your choice of three series. The Superba model has such features as: 7 push button cycles, including SaniCycle for extra family health protection; and a Plate Warm cycle. Powerful wash/rinse system, with new Constant Rinse, that eliminates hand-rinsing. Gentle yet thorough Flo-Thru drying that's safe for fine china and good plasticware. For loading convenience, upper rack is easily adjusted to 9 positions. Spacemaker racks hold everything, even deep bowls, roasters. And only KitchenAid dishwashers have a wash chamber protected by TriDura®, a 3-coat, premium porcelain enamel.

KitchenAid portable dishwashers
No room for a built-in? Buy a KitchenAid top-loading portable today, use it tonight. No installation cost. Beautiful new styling enhances any kitchen decor. Handsome hard maple or laminate top provides extra work surface. Features effective Hydro Sweep wash system and exclusive Flo-Thru drying, too. And it has premium porcelain enamel, inside and out. Your choice of many models.

KitchenAid convertible dishwashers
If you want the convenience of a portable dishwasher today—with a built-in future, a KitchenAid convertible is for you. Use it as a portable now, and build it in any time you wish. It loads from the front, like a built-in. And comes in three series, many beautiful colors. All with the famous washing and drying features of the KitchenAid built-ins.

KitchenAid food waste disposers
And now from KitchenAid . . . disposers with the kind of old-fashioned quality for which KitchenAid dishwashers are famous. They dispose of all garbage quietly and quickly. Even things like chicken bones and stringy vegetables. Jams are cleared electrically. KitchenAid disposers come in 4 models, batch feed and continuous feed types.

Come see the newest KitchenAid dishwashers and KitchenAid disposers.

'Dancerina Doll' Picking Pockets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission Wednesday challenged advertising claims made by two large toy manufacturers and the "can stabbing" commercial for du Pont's Zerex antileak antifreeze.

As a possible remedy in the Zerex case, the commission said it is considering a total ban on sales of the antifreeze which the FTC said may damage automobile cooling systems.

The proposed complaints, issued under the FTC's consent order procedure, challenged advertising claims for two toys produced by Mattel, Inc., of Hawthorne, Calif., and one toy produced by the Topper Corp. of Elizabeth, N.J., as well as du Pont's Zerex.

'HOT AIR'

Issuance of the proposed complaints was announced at a news conference at which FTC staff members showed some of the Zerex television commercials.

A commercial showed an instrument making a puncture hole in a can of Zerex antifreeze. Within seconds, the leaks appear to seal themselves.

The complaint charges that the demonstration is "false, misleading and deceptive because it is not, as represented, evidence which actually proves that Zerex will stop leaks which actually occur in an automobile under normal operating conditions."

The proposed order, which du Pont will be given a chance to sign without actually admitting violations of law, calls first for the disclosure in future advertisements that Zerex may damage car cooling systems.

SLOW LIGHTNING

As a second step, should the commission determine that such disclosure is insufficient warning, the commission said it would consider ordering du Pont to stop marketing Zerex.

The complaints against the toy companies single out advertising for Mattel's "Hot Wheels" racing car and track set, and "Dancerina" "Doll" and Topper's "Johnny Lightning" racing car and track set.

The complaints charge that use of special camera filming or sound techniques "exaggerate or falsely represent" the appearance or performance of both car and track sets. It also challenges endorsements of both sets by well known racing car drivers on the ground that they have no special competence to judge the worth of a toy.

The complaint against Mattel also charges that the "Dancerina Doll" does not walk or dance by itself as advertised.

Nine Die In Flames

CHICAGO (AP) — Nine persons died Wednesday in a fire in an apartment building where flames swept up a wooden stairway and forced some tenants to leap from second- and third-story windows.

Among those killed was a mother and her three children.

Nine persons were treated at hospitals for injuries. None was believed to be critically hurt.

Most of the damage, estimated by fire officials at $50,000, was confined to the top two floors. The Cafe La Margarita, a popular Mexican restaurant which shares the basement level with a few other shops, was closed when the fire started.

The building is on the Near North Side near the Rush Street nightlife district.

Most of those killed were found on the third floor, buried under debris from the caved-in roof.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Texas' Sodomy Statute Upheld

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals declined to go along today with a recent three-judge federal court opinion that struck down Texas' sodomy statute.

The Texas court affirmed a two-year sentence for Johnnie Pruett, who was 18 years old last year when he allegedly beat a fellow inmate at the Gatesville State School for Boys and forced him to submit to sodomy.

Feast Fare At Prison

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Turkey and all the trimmings will grace the tables at the Texas Department of Corrections Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.

For the 39th straight year, proceeds of the annual Texas Prison Rodeo held here each Sunday in October go to providing the feast day fare at all 14 units of the prison.

J. D. Durbin, director of food services for the prison system, said inmates will consume 12,500 pounds of turkey, 150 crates of lettuce, 75 crates of celery, 150 bags of oranges, 150 bags of apples and 1,500 cans of English peas.

The menu also includes corn-bread dressing, giblet gravy, buttered corn, mashed potatoes, whipped sweet potatoes topped with marshmallows, cranberry sauce wedges, green onions, radishes, assorted pickles and olives, rolls, coffee, mince meat pie and polynesian punch.

Most of the menu is produced by the penal institution at farm units of the prison system.

SHE DIDN'T HAVE MONEY TO BUY FOOD FOR BABY?

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — A Marshall mother of seven was charged with negligent homicide in connection with what police said was the malnutrition death of her one-year-old infant.

Charges were filed against Mrs. Lula Moore, 35, in the death of the child last Thursday. The infant's twin brother and a six-year-old brother were hospitalized also.

Police said the children were suffering from malnutrition, dehydration and high temperatures.

Police said the woman told them she was a welfare recipient and didn't have the money to purchase food for the children.

Officers said she receives $172 a month in welfare assistance and participates in the county's food distribution program.

She was released on $2,500 bond.

Order For Full Integration In Eight Districts Issued

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — A far-reaching order for reorganization including possible merging and consolidation of school districts to achieve full integration was issued by U.S. Dist. Judge William Wayne Justice.

The order was regarded as continuing pressure from the Nixon administration for immediate integration of all the nation's schools.

School districts named in the order and counties in which they are located included:

Butler Independent School District, Freestone; Cason ISD, Morris - Tisu; St. Paul-Shiloh Common School District, Leon; Jeddo CSD, Bastrop; Vernon County Line CSD, Jasper; Washington CSD, Nacogdoches; White Rock CSD, Grayson; and Trahin, CSD, Freestone.

FILE PLANS

The order gave the school districts until Dec. 15 to develop and file their plans with the court.

The Texas Education Agency and the Office of Education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare were instructed to file reports by the same date pertaining to their review of those districts which had implemented plans of consolidation prior to the order.

Justice said that any party could file objections or responses to the plans and reports within 10 days after Dec. 15. He added that the court would hold any hearings necessary.

With respect to the preparation of desegregation plans for Buckner Independent School District, Cason ISD and the St. Paul-Shiloh Common School District, the TEA and the HEW's office of education were directed to consider the reorganization of each of these all-black school districts with one or more nearby school districts.

BLACK AND WHITE

Jeddo CSD, St. Paul-Shiloh Shiloh CSD, Vernon County Line CSD, Washington CSD, White Rock CSD and the Trahin CSD. The TEA and the Office of Education were directed to review the action taken by the respective county boards of education in annexing such districts to contiguous school districts to determine whether those actions will accomplish the basic purpose of the order — complete desegregation of the districts.

Justice ordered the school dis-

Two 'Bombers' Retrial Nixed

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — U. S. Dist. Judge William Wayne Justice refused to order a new trial for the two men convicted of conspiracy in the July 4 bombing of the Longview school bus fleet.

Attorneys for the pair said the next step for the case would be in the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Fred Loyd Hayes, 43, Longview caterer, and his employe, Kenneth Ray McMaster, 42, were found guilty after an 8-day trial in October.

Justice sentenced each to a total of 11 years in prison and fines of $11,000 and said that after a probation report would consider lessening the sentences if it was indicated that the two men needed psychiatric treatment.

About 33 of the buses of the Longview ISD were blasted shortly before midnight on the night of July 4. Dynamite charges were placed under the vehicles and set off in simultaneous blasts.

'Homicide' Cops Will Be Taken Off Their Beats

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — The Corpus Christi public safety director said Wednesday any policeman involved in a homicide will be taken off his beat while the case is being investigated.

The new regulation was made on a recommendation by the Nueces Grand Jury. The grand jury, however, rejected the request by a Mexican-American organization that an officer in such circumstances be suspended during the investigation of his case.

Public safety director Waylan Pilcher said that any such policeman will be moved "from street contacts" with the public and placed in an administrative position while the grand jury looks into the case.

The action follows the recent shooting death of a Mexican-American by an off-duty police-

Soldier Facing Kidnaping Count

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Bexar County Grand Jury has indicted a Ft. Sam Houston soldier from El Paso on a charge of kidnaping in the abduction of the grandson of a department store executive here.

Jose de la Luz Perez Jr., 24, remained in jail in lieu of $15,000 bond.

He was charged in the abduction of Robert Lewis Dunn III, 7, who disappeared Sept. 13 while on a trip to a washateria with his mother. He was found about 15 hours later at a grocery store here.

Perez was arrested in San Marcos, northeast of here.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: If you will make those changes and get rid of those things that are too strenuous for you. Avoid doing things that are too strenuous for you. Avoid doing things that are too strenuous for you.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Instead of worrying about monetary problems, find the right persons with whom you can invest your money in some worthwhile profitable projects. Support the ideas of a most influential person and gain goodwill.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Forget self and do whatever will help your associates who mean so much to you. You do not agree on certain points but don't make an issue of them. Avoid doing those things that are too strenuous for you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Show more concern for the welfare of a co-worker and you find output can be increased. Plan a little time for health improvement program. Read your newspaper more thoroughly instead of just skimming over it.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have to assume a different attitude if you are to make this a pleasurable day and gain excitement into your recreation. Show who you are and believe as you do will bring better results than struggling on with the old associations. Stick with those who are optimistic. Get to bed early tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Approaching your career and vital civic tasks in a different way can bring the results impossible to you before now. Just working harder helps very little; energies should be used constructively.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Show others that you are very much on your toes and gain your aspirations via the inspiration that is yours now. Plan that trip today that could bring you the fine results you want. Travel light.

Casually Yours

By JO BRIGHT

Did you see it? To the west, the skies were as orange as pumpkin pie, and in the east, the heavens were pink with promise.

Nature did its part to give the day a special beginning. What it holds, and how it ends, is up to you.

The food and frills of the holiday are simply public acknowledgment of abundance, but privately, each bowed head knows the real blessings, the precious possessions — those persons who share the feast. Hands reach for others to complete the circle, and love flows through their fingers.

If your circle is unbroken, you need nothing more. And if there is one who is away, pause a little longer — and try very hard to send your love his way.

Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow has a very special reason to be thankful today. What better blessing than to have a soldier son back home? Keith Bristow, who distinguished himself in Vietnam, arrived Saturday, a month earlier than expected, and they have gone to Duncan, Okla., to spend the holiday with Mrs. Hal Garvin, a sister of Mrs. Bristow and Tommy Hutto.

Talked with Mrs. Hutto a minute this morning, and they are staying home. Son Bruce is here, but their daughter, Lulu, an airline hostess, is on duty and can't make it home. This is the first Thanksgiving she has missed with the family.

The Jack Cooks got an early start yesterday to drive to Tyler to sample the cooking of their daughter, Sue, and watch TV football with their son-in-law, Coye Conner. Coye is a law intern, and Sue is teaching in Tyler public schools. Another of the clan, Leonard Cook, left this morning to spend the day in Odessa with his niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swann and children. (She's the former Nancy Lovelace of Big Spring.)

I had half-way hoped to get to Mexico City on vacation, and was doubly sorry I couldn't make it when Mrs. Oscar Glickman said that daughter Martha (Mrs. Carlos Roberto Bres) wrote that she had fixed up a room for me. Martha and Carlos are both attending the University of Mexico where Martha needs only four hours to complete her master's. Their little Alexia is now 10 months old — and beautiful.

The vacation did turn out nice, tho, for it included a quick dash to Santa Fe (where it turned out an old friend from Houston, Harold Bibb, was managing La Fonda Hotel) a tour of Taos and a weekend at the races in El Paso. Chatted with former Sunland Park president and current board member, George Rancich, and his young son, Bruce, who came up from their valley farm to encourage their favorite horse. I helped genial host, Bill ("Tiger") Thomas, with a special event, which brought Big Springer Jack Wallace around to say hello. Jack has signed a TV consultant contract which will keep him in El Paso for six months, and he's a regular at the races. The Herald's Tommy Hart will be heading there today, where they'll be running a race in his honor.

I wonder if the Jerry Mancill's table features the wild turkey he and the boys brought home. . . . Nick Nicholson deserves a pat on the head from Hemphill-Wells (as do all the other employees) but I think he gave up a little time on the golf course during the remodeling, and that's bound to have hurt . . . as usual, Bob Worthly.

WMU Donates To Needy Families

The Women's Missionary Union met Tuesday at Baptist Temple to repair clothing to be donated to the welfare office for needy families. Contributing garments is the monthly project of the WMU. Members also gave tea towels for the church kitchen.

Mrs. A. W. Page presided and announced plans for the annual Lottie Moon Christmas offering. There will be a one-hour program on mission needs given at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the church. All Southern Baptist churches will be participating in the mission fund program throughout December.

Lions Auxiliary Holds Luncheon

A luncheon was held Tuesday by Sand Springs Lions Club Auxiliary. Mrs. Bob Roever was the hostess with Mrs. Kenneth Scott as cohostess. Members contributed $10 to the crippled children's home in Kerrville for Christmas. There will be no December meeting, the next meeting will be Jan. 26 in the home of Mrs. Jarrell Barbee.

Rector Is Speaker For Altrusans

The Rev. Harland Birdwell, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, was guest speaker at the Altrusa Club luncheon meeting Tuesday at Coker's Restaurant.

Rev. Birdwell spoke on Thanksgiving blessings saying that "on the surface there is little good news." The Rev. Birdwell suggested "looking inward to the small blessings, for it is the little things that make up the big." He read "Thank-You" from the book, "Prayers," by the Rev. Michel Coust, a French priest.

Mrs. Loyd Wooten presided at the meeting. The next regular meeting will be Dec. 10, and the Christmas party will be at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 15 at Big Spring Country Club.

At 100, Is She Oldest Gold Star Mother?

Mrs. Lodusky Glenn Allen, former Big Spring resident, may well be the oldest Gold Star Mother in the nation. Now 100 years of age, Mrs. Allen resides at 4225 37th St., Lubbock, where her daughter, Mrs. Ora Miles, and granddaughter, Mrs. H. S. Anglin, are trying to verify the fact that Mrs. Allen is the oldest member of the Gold Star organization.

Mrs. Allen's son, Fern Allen, lost his life while destroying a pillbox in France only a month before the end of World War I. The American Legion Post at O'Donnell is named for Fern, and the one at Tahoka was named for his cousin, Marvin Bradley, who died of pneumonia on a boat coming home.

"HER BOYS" Far from embittered at her son's death, Mrs. Allen became a "second mother" to every serviceman she met in the ensuing years — and most of "her boys" remember her today. A story about her 100th birthday in a veteran's newspaper last June brought greetings from many, including a card from a "doughboy" she had never seen, and yellow roses from a serviceman in Vietnam.

Born in Brushy Township, Ill., Mrs. Allen made the trip to Texas in a wagon train at the age of three, growing up on a farm near Kaufman County with 17 full and half brothers and sisters. Shortly after she and Felix Orion Allen were married, they moved to Big Spring, but were living on a ranch near O'Donnell when their son, Fern, went to war. The Allen's had traded a span of mules for the section of land, and they lived in a half-dugout, building additions above ground as time and money permitted.

Mrs. Allen has the Croix de Guerre which the French government presented posthumously to Fern, as well as the United States Silver Star along with all of Fern's letters and mementoes of his childhood.

After her husband's death in 1931, Mrs. Allen returned to Big Spring, erected apartments for income — and learned to drive a car. One way to grow old, she always said, was to rent to "old fuddy duddies", so she always managed to rent to young people.

When World War II brought the bombardier school to Big Spring, she moved all civilians out of her apartments and rent houses, and rented only to servicemen. While driving around the city, she would spot a group of "lonely-looking GI's" and take them all out to eat. She still hears from many of them at Christmastime.

When the bombardier school became Webb Air Force Base, she continued her policy of "mothering" the servicemen and rented only to military-connected persons.

Mrs. Allen managed to stay young despite her years, handling her own business affairs until she was past 90. Only in the past few years has she taken to a wheelchair. Once when her granddaughter, Mrs. Anglin, began "feeling her age" at near 40, her grandmother said, "Years are of no consequence. Your heart remains the same, and as long as your heart is young, you are young."

TRADITION Mrs. Allen doesn't have many descendants. There is a daughter, eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Of all, only four are boys. However, a grandson, Alfred Fern Allen, served in World War II, and a great-grandson, Stephen Anglin, is now attending warrant officer's school in Ft. Rucker.

'MOTHERS MORNING OUT' WILL BE OFFERED AT WESTSIDE CENTER

A new program is being announced for the Westside Community Center. Beginning Dec. 3, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., a pre-Christmas "Mother's Morning Out" will be available to mothers who want to leave their pre-school children at the center while they shop. This same service will be available Dec. 17, but due to the holiday season, no further dates will be announced until after Jan. 1.

Mrs. Robert Sawyer, in charge of the program, said more volunteers are needed. Those wishing to donate time or baby equipment are asked to call 267-5439. Mothers bringing small babies are asked to bring the baby's formula, diapers and other items needed for its care.

A LOVELIER YOU Lady Luck Shines For Hard Workers

By MARY SUE MILLER

Some people seem to be born lucky. They scamper to triumphs at school, in a career, and in personal relations without apparent effort. "Pure luck" is the cry of those left behind, and "bad breaks" alibi their plight.

A girl would have to be very immature and starry-eyed these days not to recognize that Dame Fortune sometimes plays rough. But to blame every disappointment and failure on fate is the sure road to misery.

Most times the so-called lucky people are just good planners and hard workers. They make their own openings and are prepared to occupy the space. No matter what your chosen life style, you have to know what you go about and how to go about it.

For survival! Interviews with a number of girls and women who had achieved their varying goals brought out a diversity of ideas on a sure-footed approach. But there were three points on which everyone agreed:

1. Be fit. Make every effort to keep your health, weight and posture in top form. Reason? Come on now!
2. Be identifiable. Don't become a stereotype — a carbon copy of a person's or

Mission Study Concerns Taiwan

The mission study book, "Taiwan — the Unfinished Revolution," was discussed at Tuesday's meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union, Westside Baptist Church, under the leadership of Mrs. Leroy Minchew, who also led prayer.

The book told of a Southern Baptist School on Taiwan which offers such subjects as music, art and literature. It was said that the school has Baptist students but also attracts those of other faiths with its facilities for worship, recreation and study.

Mrs. J. A. Andrews read the birthday calendar and led prayer for missionaries. It was announced that the Lottie Moon Week of Prayer will be held Nov. 29-Dec. 6.

Shower Fetes Future Bride

Miss Bette Irene Barron, bride-elect of Spec. 4 Ben L. Dixon, U.S. Army, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. C. W. Jones, 1010 E. 13th.

Other hostesses with Mrs. Jones were Mrs. J. J. Willingham, Mrs. Jerry Oliphant,
Mrs. Reuben Hill, Mrs. Francis

Plowman, Miss Marguerite Cooper, Mrs. J. C. Thomas, Mrs. C. A. Tonn Jr., Mrs. B. H. Williams, Mrs. Dick Davis, Mrs. M. L. Kirby, Mrs. Ray Gaines, Mrs. Bill Hanson, Mrs. Jack Cathey, Mrs. Lloyd Hitt and Mrs. G. W. Williams.

The honoree, her mother, Mrs. Joe Barron of Coahoma, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Floyd Dixon, were presented with white carnation corsages tied with avocado green ribbon and net. Miss Barron was attired in an aqua sheath dress.

The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth over avocado linen and centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums flanked by avocado candles. Other appointments were of crystal and silver, and the cake was decorated with white wedding bells and green leaves.

Miss Barron and Dixon will be married Dec. 23 at the East Fourth St. Baptist Church.

Deviled Pancakes

Give a breakfast party and invite the crowd over for ham and pancakes with a new twist. The ham becomes a part of the pancake in tasty deviled ham griddle cakes. Prepare two cups packaged pancake mix according to package directions and stir in a can of deviled ham. Grill as usual; serve with maple syrup.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:
We have two small youngsters who are the envy of the neighborhood because of their personalized coat trees.

My husband is the genius behind this idea.

He traced each child's figure by standing them (with arms outstretched in different positions) against a large sheet or wrapping paper taped to the wall.

He cut out the paper pattern, transferred it to a piece of plywood, then cut the plywood figures out and glued them to a base. He next placed dowels in the hands, arms and head to provide several pegs on which to hang caps, jackets and what-have-you.

Then each coat tree was personalized by spray-painting and adding a face and hair somewhat similar to that of the child.

They're just adorable and I can tell you that their coats, etc. are never found on the floor or slung into the nearest chair now! . . . Melinda W.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
Dear Heloise:
Everyone's equal . . . it's just that some are equaler! . . . R. Rogers

Dear Heloise:
We live in a rural area, and our newspaper is left in a metal tube alongside our mailbox.

My problem was getting the deliverer to pick up the money envelope — either because it was hard to see, or I didn't get it out on the right day.

I solved this problem by clipping my envelope to the inside edge of the box with an ordinary clip-type clothespin.

This draws the carrier's attention, and he hasn't missed a pickup since.

(He leaves my clothespin for next time too!) . . . Shirley Adamson

Dear Heloise:
Yesterday while hurrying to decorate my husband's birthday cake, I had to improvise candle holders. They worked out so well I thought the idea might be a good one to pass on.

I had a package of milk chocolate candies that are shaped like stars, so I heated the tip of an aluminum skewer (the kind used to bake potatoes faster), inserted the skewer in the center of each chocolate to melt a hole large enough for a birthday candle.

When the chocolate cooled, it held the candles securely.

These candy holders look very decorative on the cake besides being delicious to eat! . . . Evelyn Strong

Mrs. J. Barker Leads Lesson

Mrs. Jessie Barker, 404 W. 6th, was hostess for Tuesday's meeting of Martha Foster Circle, Wesley United Methodist Church. "Risk And Reality" was presented by Mrs. T. C. Richardson, and Mrs. Oliver Cofer Sr. gave the scriptures.

Mrs. Abby Anderson led prayers. Mrs. Frances Deavers was a guest. Members planned to give a basket of fruit to a shut-in for Thanksgiving. The next meeting will be a general session and covered-dish dinner at 7 p.m., Tuesday at the church.

Dear Heloise:
A piece of foam rubber used for chair padding makes an excellent back rest in the bathtub so one does not have to lean against the cold tub.

Also, when getting out of the tub, one can stand on it. . . . Mabel DeVelde

'Americanism' Is Delphian Topic

LAMESA (SC) — Patriotic decorations provided the setting for a program on Americanism presented by Mrs. F. F. Salsler Tuesday for the Delphian Club. Hostesses were Mrs. M. M. Sadler and Mrs. Sam Richard, with Mrs. C. E. Johnson presiding.

Mrs. Salsler suggested that America might be "half-brother" to the world and that the world is a family of nations.

"We are no stronger than the weakest member of that family," she said, stressing that if one member of that family suffered politically, economically or from hunger, the entire family suffered. She concluded with a reading of rights and duties of citizens.

The club will send a letter to Hanoi in behalf of prisoners of war. Also, members will bring toys, for distribution by the Goodfellows, to the Dec. 1 meeting.

Dear Heloise:
I have found a great use for the little metal tubs that soft-spread margarine comes in.

My husband and I like macaroni and cheese, but the children don't. So whenever I fix it, I get out those handy containers and put enough for one serving into each, then freeze.

When I am ready to have it again, I simply take out as many servings as I need, remove the covers, pour a little milk over each serving and pop them into the oven.

Just heat thoroughly and they are ready to eat. . . . Mrs. L. G.

Dear Heloise:
Recently I bought a new portable sewing machine and needed a table to place it on.

Searching through the basement, I found an old vanity dresser without the mirror. So I bought a kit and antiqued it, making a beautiful sewing cabinet.

It's a perfect height and has lots of drawer space plus space for my knees. . . . Miss L. B.

American Woman Helps Tijuana's Deaf Children

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — The 37 children laugh, cry and make as much noise as any other kids but there's a difference — they're all deaf.

A petite, blue-eyed, brown-haired young American, Janet Thompson, is filling their silent world with knowledge and joy.

She runs a school, the Center of Auditive Oral Rehabilitation, in a pink cinder block building filled with the sounds of children and the spicy smells of Mexican food.

Explains Miss Thompson: "Many cannot afford lunch, so we make it a class project and everyone eats."

The pretty 28-year-old teacher founded the school five years ago.

She makes use of the noon-time meal as a lesson in grammar, spelling, math, pronunciation and responsibility.

"I put the lesson on the blackboard each day," she says. "Lula will bring a half kilo of tortillas and Rogelio the lemonade."

By reading the lesson the pupils learn how words are put together to form sentences.

They learn that so many items brought by so many children equal so much food for lunch.

Some of the youngsters suffer from sight and speech problems as well as deafness. Most are from poverty families but are of average intelligence. A few have above-average IQs.

Miss Thompson discovered the plight of the deaf children while working with a Roman Catholic Church group in this border city after she was graduated from the University of Seattle with a degree in education. She decided they must have a school of their own.

Members of the Club Amistad at the University of California at Los Angeles chipped in and so did the Lutheran Church of Our Saviour, down the street from President Nixon's Western White House in San Clemente, Calif.

Wives, Mothers Set Baking Day

The Wives and Mothers of Vietnam Servicemen will have a baking day Dec. 12 at Midway School, which will be their permanent kitchen site.

At the last baking day, members made cookies and fudge for 84 men. The club requests the names and addresses of all county servicemen stationed abroad, in order to send them home-baked goods.

Anyone is eligible to join the club and need not have a relative in the service. For information call Mrs. Harvey Hooser, 263-6148. Meetings are at 7:30 p.m., the fourth Thursday of each month, at the Executive Building, 1600 Scurry. The next meeting will be there Dec. 31.

Circle Members Hear Program

Mrs. M. O. Hamby presided at the Lalla Baird Circle meeting of Wesley United Methodist Church Tuesday in Her home, 1508 Eleventh Place.

Mrs. R. L. Pitts worded prayer. The program, "Relations," was given by Mrs. David Pohl from the study book, "Risk And Reality." Miss Sue Pohl read scriptures, and the devotion was given by Mrs. J. E. Peters. The next meeting will be a covered dish dinner at 7 p.m., Dec. 1 at the church.

Initiation Is Held By Rainbows

Two new members, Rhonda Riley and Tana Williams, were initiated Tuesday into the Order of Rainbow Girls, Assembly 60 at the Masonic Temple. Sharon Andrews, worthy advisor, presided.

A Thanksgiving salad supper preceded the meeting. Co-chairmen of the supper were Mrs. Raymond Andrews and Mrs. W. A. Wheeler. Mrs. W. C. Fryar composed and presented a Thanksgiving recitation. A Christmas banquet was planned for 5:30 p.m., Dec. 21 at Furr's Cafeteria.

Couple Planning December Rites

Mrs. Annice Johnson, 1310 Ridgeroad, has announced the approaching marriage of her daughter, Cynthia Johnson, to 2nd Lt. Ronald W. Arnett, son of Mrs. Ruby E. Arnett of Austin and Lloyd K. Arnett of El Paso.

The engaged couple is planning to be married Dec. 4 in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base.

This Air Force Wife Makes Eight Homes In Nine Years

By MARILYN NEVELS
After eight Air Force bases in less than nine years of marriage, Mrs. C. E. Zylstra remains enthusiastic about every base and still holds the philosophy that a tour of duty is what you make it. Capt. and Mrs. Zylstra have hopped from Massachusetts, to upper Michigan, to Nebraska, to Alabama to Del Rio to New Mexico to Florida and finally Big Spring. At each base they learned new things, such as skiing in remote upper Michigan, and saw as much of the states as possible.

Mrs. Zylstra is a Californian, and Capt. Zylstra is a Minnesotan. They came to Big Spring 17 months ago, and Mrs. Zylstra has kept both on the base and in the community.

TAKE INTEREST
"It doesn't matter where you go," advised Mrs. Zylstra, "it is important for a wife to enjoy wherever they are stationed. It only harms her and her husband if she makes herself miserable. We have been at several bases that were not much location-wise, but have always managed to enjoy ourselves. Upper Michigan was very remote, and the people did not like servicemen, but we loved the snow and learning to ski."

FRIENDLINESS
"Big Spring is the opposite, people here are so willing to help. There is a special 'hominess' characteristic of small towns. The people will help you and throw in a little extra. Corky loves to plant flowers."

RECIPES Husband's Favorites

HOMEMADE BREAD
9 1/4 cups flour
2 cups milk
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup hot water
1/2 cup tepid water
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 pkg. yeast
Scald 2 cups milk, remove from heat and melt shortening in milk. Add 1 cup hot water to milk and cool mixture until lukewarm. Combine 1/2 cup tepid water, sugar and yeast and let set until it bubbles. To lukewarm milk, add 3 cups flour and mix until smooth. Add yeast mixture to flour and milk mixture. Let set until it bubbles, then stir. Stir 2 or 3 times in an hour.

Put 5 cups flour in another bowl. Add yeast mixture, but do not stir yeast, before adding it to flour. Add salt. Mix yeast and flour, then work in 1 1/4 cups more flour. Dough should be smooth and not stick to fingers. Let rise, punch down and let rise again. Shape into loaves and let rise again. Bake at 400 degrees until lightly brown, about 20 minutes, then bake at 350 degrees 25 minutes. Makes 3 loaves.

SKEWERED STEAK AND MUSHROOMS
1/2 cup Burgundy or Claret wine
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 clove garlic
1/2 cup salad oil
2 tbsps. catsup
1 tsp. sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. MSG
1/2 tsp. vinegar
1/2 tsp. marjoram
1/2 tsp. rosemary
1 lb. sirloin steak cut in squares
12 large fresh mushrooms (canned may be used)
Combine wine, Worcestershire sauce, peeled garlic clove, salad oil, catsup and spices. Cut meat into 2-inch squares. Wash mushrooms and marinate steak and mushrooms in sauce for 2 hours. Alternate meat and mushrooms on skewers and broil on all sides, basting frequently with remaining marinade. Serves 4.

BEAN SOUP STOCK
2 qts. cold water
1 meaty ham bone
1 cup chopped celery
2 med. onions, chopped
1 pkg. small white beans
Soak beans about 3 hours, pour off water. Combine all ingredients and simmer 4 hours, stirring occasionally. Serves 8. Other vegetables may be added if desired.

RUM PECAN PIE
3/4 cup light brown sugar
1/4 cup butter
3/4 cup light corn syrup
1/4 cup rum
3 eggs
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup pecans
Cream butter and sugar. Add rum and vanilla to corn syrup. Add salt to unbeaten eggs. Add corn syrup and egg mixture to creamed butter and sugar and mix well. Add pecans and pour into unbaked 9-inch pie shell. Bake 45 to 50 minutes at 350 degrees.

and I love to pick them. A florist here gave him advice on raising bulbs, then she gave him a bunch of bulbs from her own garden to make sure he was successful."

STUDIES
While Capt. Zylstra served in Vietnam, Mrs. Zylstra returned home to California and began attending college. Since arriving in Big Spring, she has been taking two morning classes at Howard County Junior College, year around, and has completed two years of Spanish with straight A's. This qualifies her for membership in Alpha Mu Gamma, a language honorary. She has one semester left to graduate from H.C.J.C.

"I wasn't ready for college fresh out of high school," Mrs. Zylstra noted. "Now I'm learning twice as much as I would have then and am enjoying it. Eventually, I want to teach. I think it is good to learn as much as you can, and not get out of the habit of learning. I love English and history, and reading everything, fiction or nonfiction."

VOLUNTEERS
During the summer she volunteered in psycho-drama therapy for teenagers at Big Spring State Hospital. In these group therapy sessions, Mrs. Zylstra would act the part of an older person, an aunt or mother, in the patient's drama. "I didn't really think psycho-drama would work," she said, "but it is a lot of help for them to act out their problems. I love teens. They're really open today. They have so many problems to deal with."

Mrs. Zylstra also worked for the Arthritis Drive, and enjoyed it so much that she plans to help with the Heart Fund Drive. She is a new pledge for Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi and in addition to participating in its social functions, she will volunteer at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, a sorority project.

OWC BOARD
As a member of the Officers

Wives Club board she is helping plan the Christmas Ball. The OWC Board hosted last Thursday's Hi-Bye Coffee, and Mrs. Zylstra was in charge of publicity. She works as a "spotter" at the base spotting new officers' families and gathering information about them to see that new arrivals are welcomed and informed about the base and community. She interviews three to five new wives a month, helping acquaint them with their new home.

Mrs. Zylstra prefers a relaxed evening meal, a time to catch up on the events of the day and chat with her husband. During his service in Vietnam, she said that dinnertime was when she would miss him most. While stationed in Alabama she grew to love the leisurely, gracious pace and duplicates it in her home life.

She has offered recipes that she serves often.

Grape Glaze Ham For Tasty Meal

When grape jelly is on hand, try this recipe.

GRAPE GLAZED HAM
5 to 6 pound fully-cooked half ham (butt end)

Whole cloves
1/2 cup grape jelly
2 tbsps. dry sherry
Cut away brown surface from fat on ham; score fat in diamond shape. Insert a whole clove in each diamond. Place on a rack, top fat up, in a shallow foil-lined pan; bake in a 350-degree oven for 15 to 30 minutes per pound — depending on how dry you like ham.

Remove from oven; take ham on rack from pan and remove foil and fat. Line pan with clean foil and return ham minus rack to pan. Mix together the grape jelly and sherry; spread over ham. Bake in a 425-degree oven for 10 minutes to glaze.

Use Spatula

Use a wide spatula or a pancake turner to remove drop cookies from the pans after baking. Cool the cookies on wire racks.

Roast For Holiday

An elegant way to celebrate the holidays is to star a handsome roast. If beef is traditional in the family, there's a standing rib roast available in two, three, four or five rib sizes.

The ribs of this roast make their own rack. The meat is simply placed in a shallow pan with the rib bones down on the pan. Roasting is done in a slow oven (325 Degrees F.), with a meat thermometer charting the way to doneness best liked.

For beef done rare, roast to 140 Degrees F. For medium, let the thermometer register 160 Degrees F.

SERVE RIB ROAST For festive meal

Estimate approximate roasting time for rare at 18 to 20 minutes per pound for two or three rib roasts, 22 to 25 minutes per pound for roasts of the same size cooked medium done. Larger roasts require two-fifths minutes less per pound.

Most retailers now offer the beef standing rib in compact sizes which means that the length of the rib bones is shorter. This runs from five to six inches in this case to facilitate carving and give more meat per serving.

To prepare grapes for garnish, brush small clusters of green grapes with slightly beaten egg white. Sprinkle granulated sugar over the grapes and allow to dry. Serve on sliced, drained pineapple.

Beef standing rib roast may be salted before, after or during roasting. Salt will penetrate the surface only slightly, not more than a quarter of an inch.

Shape Pan Rolls

To make good looking pan rolls, form yeast dough into a long roll and cut into equal pieces. Roll each piece between your palms to shape into a smooth ball. The balls may be placed close together in a square cake pan for baking.

Cranberry Bread Is Traditional

Bright, colorful cranberries are traditional during the winter holidays.

CRANBERRY NUT BREAD
2 cups all-purpose flour, sifted
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 tsps. double-acting baking powder
1/2 tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
1/4 cup shortening
3/4 cup orange juice
1 tsp. orange rind, grated
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 cup fresh cranberries, coarsely chopped

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Combine orange juice and grated rind with well beaten egg. Pour all at once into dry ingredients, mixing just enough to dampen. Carefully fold in chopped nuts and cranberries. Spoon into greased loaf pan, 9x5x3 inches.

Clan Will Welcome Turkey 'The Second Time Around'

HANDSOME GOLDEN BROWN TURKEY Makes fine after-Thanksgiving meals

Traditional Thanksgiving feasts provide the occasion for family reunions and other festive gatherings.

And tradition calls for native fruits and vegetables, such as sweet potatoes and pumpkins, to be served along with that popular native American bird — the turkey.

With the development of modern turkey breeds, you can now choose among small or large turkeys to grace your Thanksgiving table. Even if your family gathering is rather small, you still may want to select a large turkey, roast and serve it for Thanksgiving dinner. Then you can cut the leftover turkey from the bone as soon as possible, slice the meat and portion into packets suitable for other mealtime needs.

Wrap the turkey slices in freezer paper or foil, label and freeze immediately. Follow the same procedure with diced cooked turkey that you plan to use in turkey salad and soups.

TURKEY RICE SOUP

4 cups turkey stock
1/4 cup finely diced onion
3/4 cup diced celery
1/2 cup cup diced carrots
1/4 cup rice
3 tbsps. fat
3 tbsps. flour
1 cup diced cooked turkey
1 tsp. chopped parsley

Heat stock to boiling. Add vegetables and rice to stock and cook slowly. Melt fat, blend in flour. Add a little hot stock to flour mixture and blend until smooth, then stir into soup. Add turkey. Cook, stirring constantly, for 10 minutes longer. Remove from heat and add chopped parsley before serving. Serves five.

TURKEY GUMBO

2 small onions, diced
2 tbsps. fat
4 cups turkey broth
2 cups canned tomatoes
2 cups bits of cooked turkey
2 tbsps. chopped parsley
1/2 tsp. paprika
2 cups cooked rice
4 cups cooked okra

Cook onion in fat until tender but not brown. Add broth, tomatoes, okra, turkey, parsley and paprika. Heat and simmer for 10 minutes. Taste for seasoning. Add cooked rice. Heat and serve. Makes four to six servings.

CREAM OF TURKEY SOUP

1 cup finely diced celery
1/4 cup minced onion
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
1/4 cup flour
2 cups turkey broth
2 cups milk
1 cup grated fresh carrots
1 cup finely chopped cooked turkey

2 tbsps. chopped parsley
Salt and pepper

Saute celery and onion about five minutes in butter until soft but not brown. Remove from heat, add flour and blend thoroughly. Add broth and milk all at once. Stir until thick and smooth. Add carrots and turkey meat. Cook about 10 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Garnish with chopped parsley. Makes six servings.

CALLING ALL HOME MAKERS

By Ted Hatfield
LET'S PLAY A FURNITURE QUIZ

Everybody likes to play quiz games so this week we thought you might enjoy playing a "Furniture" literature and decorative quiz, and see how well you can do.

- Who is the Chippendale chair named for?
- What does "chaise longue" mean when you translate it from the French?
- What does "cabriole" mean?
- Why do we use the term "boy" when we speak of a high-boy?
- What is a "frieze"?
- Who was America's first great furniture designer?

- Answers:
- Thomas Chippendale, an 18th century English furniture designer.
  - Literally, "long chair".
  - A furniture leg that curves out and then tapers in.
  - The word comes from the French "haut bois" which means high wood.
  - A decorative strip at the top of a wall or around a mantel, etc.
  - Duncan Phyfe.

So much for our questions today. How many did you get right? When it comes to furniture shopping, there's no question where to go. Come see us! We'll look forward to visiting with you.

A Devotion For Today . . .

In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ give thanks every day for everything to our God and Father. (Ephesians 5:20, NEB)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for our daily bread, and for life-giving water that we so often take for granted.

Capacity For Thanksgiving

What is your capacity for Thanksgiving? The degree of our Thanksgiving is the value we put on our relationship with one another. Pinch it down, and self-centeredness takes over; open it wide, and love flows out in terms of active compassion for mankind. Our ability to be thankful is a mirror of our very souls. It reflects our inner attitudes not only toward the source of all goodness and toward others, but almost as important, toward ourselves. If we can think in terms only of ourselves, of the material possessions and things which afford us satisfaction or our desires, of conveniences and comfort which give us pleasure, then we are inclined to shut out the rest of the world. Moreover, we are persuaded that our own good fortune is a personal creation. Conversely, the yearning of a heart to express gratitude is one of the most noble of virtues. It is a confession that the individual is not self-sufficient and that he recognizes that blessings flow from outside his own being. It is an expression of humility, and out of humility issues humanity, and the sincere expression of concern for others. True thankfulness is more than a confession and a recitation; it simply cannot be contained in words. Finally, Thanksgiving calls for praise. It is a positive approach to life and overcomes the negativism which has afflicted our generation, perhaps even more than it has others before it. And in our exaltation, we find ourselves in touch with God and in communication with His children.

New And 'Simplified'

With characteristic optimism, Internal Revenue Service has introduced another new, simplified Form 1040 for income tax returns. Last year's "simplified" 1040 brought howls of complaints, numerous mistakes and late filings. It was a "package" with many pages of figures and confusing instructions. The new form has been reduced from 32 to 24 pages and separated instruction from the forms. We hope the new package is indeed simpler and easier to handle. However, it may be a disadvantage to the IRS. Last year many taxpayers were so angry at the form they took almost no notice of the size of the tax bite.

Andrew Tully More Money For The Military

WASHINGTON — One way to ease unemployment, perhaps the Democrats' strongest weapon against the Nixon administration, is to spend more money for military needs, and recent developments indicate that the President is prepared to do just that. There is at least a coincidence involved in Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird's announcement that "inevitable upward pressures" suggest a boost in the Pentagon's budget next year and Nixon's avowed program to set the nation's economy in order by election year 1972. Nixon would not be the first President to indulge in such pump-priming and increasing defense spending is the most logical ploy, for a variety of reasons.

MILITARY PURCHASES and pay raises provide money for a lot of people. Industry benefits, and so do its workers. Banks get richer lending working capital to industry. More defense spending helps unrelated businesses, down to the last boutique, because more money is in circulation. Then there is the pork barrel aspect. Members of Congress from states that have been hit hard by defense cutbacks are eager to get their constituents off the unemployed rolls, and they have votes to exchange with colleagues for projects dear to their colleagues' hearts.

ACTUAL SPENDING for fiscal 1971 is estimated now at $73.6 billion. The Pentagon wants $77 billion for fiscal 1972, but might settle for $74.5 billion. It might not have to settle for this lesser figure, because Laird, an old Congressional hand, has touched a sensitive Congressional nerve by threatening to close more bases in this country and fire more employes unless more money is forthcoming.

AS OTHER PRESIDENTS have discovered, boosting the military's budget gives the economy a shot in the arm from which the effects are felt quickly, and that's what is needed. However, such pump-priming flies in the face of Richard Nixon's oft-cited proposition that the way to fight inflation is to cut government spending.

Spending more undoubtedly will ease unemployment, but there is that pesky inflation to consider. It is still with us, and all efforts so far have failed to cool the high cost of living. Unless Richard Nixon has become a sudden magician, it is hard to see how he can combat inflation by boosting the military's budget.

MOREOVER, as Laird has pointed out, even if the Pentagon holds the line next year — that is, schedules no new purchases — its expenses still will be higher because prices keep going up, and new pay raises for the military are already scheduled.

This is, I fear, one of those situations in which the poor taxpayer can't possibly win. And the Pentagon does have a case. There are, as Laird noted, some urgent requirements which have been too long deferred from the viewpoint of national security. It is generally admitted in high military circles that the Soviet Union now is stronger than the U.S. in both conventional war forces and some areas of nuclear hardware, notably land-based missiles.

LAIRD HAS NEVER been a scare peddler, and he must be taken seriously when he says that unless an agreement with the Soviet Union to limit strategic weapons can be worked out, the U.S. will have no alternative but to develop costly new deterrent systems. That would be a little harder to sell to a peace-conscious Congress than the pork-barrel bit about base closing.

What Others Say

New Mexico has a problem which most of the other states, including Texas, might well envy. The state, for the second year in a row, has too much money on hand. The "problem" arose when the legislature, anticipating a pinch in school funds, raised income tax rates for 1969. The pinch never developed because a previously enacted revenue program took care of the funds.

The revenue program reappraised property, reformed tax collections and increased the state sales tax. The new income taxes weren't needed, but the legislature voted last January to keep the new rates. It also voted a partial refund of 1969 taxes.

Even after the refund, New Mexico will have a cash balance of $18 million at the end of the current fiscal year. Of the surplus, $9 million will go into reserve. When the legislature meets next January it will have to figure out how to spend the extra cash.

Texas has no such "difficulty." When the Texas Legislature meets in January it will be faced with a problem of raising millions in new money to meet ever-increasing expenditures.

STILL SO MUCH TO BE THANKFUL FOR

John Cunniff Where Do We Go From Here?

NEW YORK (AP) — Official optimism about the economy, especially that it is responding to anti-inflation efforts, now has no more power to inspire Americans than the single note of a tin whistle.

True, the administration can marshal some esoteric data to support its claims, but the ponderance of pocketbook evidence reaching the public is very dismal. Prices are rising, buying power falling. And jobs are being lost.

In business, in labor unions, in the great research foundations, on campuses, in kitchens and in the very federal offices from which come those calm assurances that trends are favorable, the same questions are asked:

Where do we go from here? Why is it that price increases not only persist but show signs of getting worse? What new weapons can be brought into battle? How drastically must administration policy be changed?

Throughout its 23 months in office, the administration has relied on a sort of textbook attitude toward the problems, putting its faith in fiscal and monetary policies as the two levers that worked the economic machine.

It has been willing during this time to take much criticism, because such measures work slowly and cannot always be defended. It abjured more direct action. It renounced cajolery, pleas or threats to labor and management.

Now, shockingly, it has wound up with the worst of all situations: rising prices and rising unemployment. Somehow, the old rules that have been relied upon so completely are not holding up.

So many have felt the trade-off to be too primitive a weapon against inflation; now they find it doesn't always work either.

From various directions now the administration is being urged to intervene more directly in the economy by using its prestige and its educational and communicative powers to help avert inflationary wage and price situations.

The Committee for Economic Development is the latest to suggest an "incomes policy" in the form of voluntary wage and price guidelines. It's wage-price policy subcommittee is made up of very high ranking executives and financial officers.

The administration has steadfastly refrained from embracing such proposals, however, seemingly believing such action would violate the purity of a marketplace in which supply and demand has historically been the determinant of prices.

But that purity was violated long ago. The Federal Reserve limits interest rates. The Department of Agriculture limits farm production. Fair trade laws regulate prices. And minimums affect wages and utility charges.

Industry is being called upon every day to show more responsibility, a greater social conscience and more activity in the public interest, especially regarding environment and safety. Is inflation so different?

One suggestion now circulating is that the tax system be used to enforce wages and prices that are noninflationary. Under this plan, companies and unions would be penalized for damaging the economy by contributing to inflation.

Whatever move is taken, it seems quite likely that the administration will be forced into a more active posture regarding wages and prices.

Hal Boyle Christmas Reruns

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — As Santa Claus climaxed all those Thanksgiving Day parades, television moved swiftly into its annual epidemic of jingle bells, cornflake snow and pink-cheeked carolers.

The Christmas season, however, really started early this fall. Tim Conway probably was first, presenting his Yuletide program before the folks at home even thought about winterizing their barbecue equipment. A few weeks later, one of the cosmetics companies had St. Nick peering through a window, an early fall suggestion that list-making time was at hand.

But the networks and sponsors really buckle down to the business of Christmas before today's turkey becomes hash. To the networks, the holiday means additional sponsors; to the viewers, it will mean an eruption of special programs.

Between now and Christmas Eve, there will be 25 specials, including eight reruns of holiday-gaيتed programs which have become—or are on the way to becoming—what the network press departments call "classics."

The range of new prime-time shows is wide, from ABC's "To

All the World's Children" produced in collaboration with UNICEF, which will launch the season Friday night Nov. 27, to comedy or variety hours starring John Wayne, NBC, Nov. 29; Dick Van Dyke, NBC, Dec. 6; and Petula Clark, ABC, Dec. 9.

NBC has found a new-to-TV "Whinnie the Pooh" cartoon to show Nov. 30. CBS will devote 90 minutes to the finals of "Miss Teen-Age America" on Dec. 12. Johnny Carson will have some fun with the Golden Age group barbeque equipment. A few weeks later, one of the cosmetics companies had St. Nick peering through a window, an early fall suggestion that list-making time was at hand.

To Your Good Health Then She Said She Wouldn't Marry Him—

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son, 24, became engaged to a lovely girl, 20. I had never met her, and we traveled there for the engagement party.

The girl was just wonderful to us — but the day of the party I didn't see her at all. (We had stayed at her home at her father's insistence.) She locked herself in her room all day, not even leaving it to eat. I tried to talk to her and she said she just wanted to be alone.

I mentioned this depression to her father who said she had been depressed since her mother's death some months before, and that she is under a doctor's care for a breakdown she had three years earlier. The father said she had schizophrenia.

The same night, in front of all the guests, she said she had decided against the engagement but that she loves my son dearly.

I asked my son to forget about her immediately, but he insists she loves her and she was just upset with all the excitement.

The following week she decided she wanted to be married immediately, and they had taken out a license and had blood tests. Now she doesn't see him at all and said she doesn't intend to get married and leave her home and family.

The last time my son called me, he said she would change her mind again and they would be married before the license expires. Please send me all the literature you have on schizophrenia. —Mrs. G.R.

You'd have quite a freight bill if I sent you the section of my library on mental illness. But please don't take this as a facetious remark, for your son has a serious problem.

When the girl has had a "breakdown," and is still under a doctor's care (a psychiatrist, no doubt) for three years, she's more than "just upset with all the excitement."

I have much respect for the girl's father, since he told you frankly that his daughter has schizophrenia. I suspect that he insisted that you stay at his house on purpose — so you and your son would see what the situation is. It must be a hard choice for him to make. He must be a man of sensitive integrity.

The fact is that schizophrenia is one of the most difficult of emotional, or shall we say mental, illnesses to treat.

Schizophrenics can be lovely people, can be highly intelligent, but they are struggling with emotional problems that are most baffling, to themselves as well as to others.

These people, like anyone else, want friendship and understanding. (So, in this case, does her father, I dare say.) It might be unkind for your son just to walk out of her life, but in the longer view, it might be even more unkind to her if your son married her in a moment when she was willing. Marrying — and leaving home — might be more pressure than she could tolerate.

I think the least you can do, in fairness to everyone, is to go slow, perhaps talk to the girl's father, and if he is willing, talk to the girl's doctor.

Around The Rim

Running One Style Behind

One thing I know for sure — I'll never be a trend setter. It seems as though I'm always one step behind the times.

IT CAN BE awfully frustrating at times — like when the "in" thing is to have long, straight hair, and I'm wearing mine short and curly. By the time my hair has grown long and straight (and believe me, when it's long it's straight) everyone else has gone back to the short, curly look.

WHEN I WAS younger I watched all those corny musicals about the poor working girl with the million dollar wardrobe designed by Christian Dior. I could hardly wait to grow up so I could wear all those yards and yards of flowing chiffon and-or long, slinky dresses casually topped with a mink or ermine (depending on the mood) cape. By the time I got old enough to handle all those yards and yards of ruffles without falling flat on my face, simplicity was the style.

I COULD hardly wait to get to college where the girls all wore coordated sweater and skirts to class, floor-length formal gowns to dances and suits for football games. My entire college wardrobe was obsolete before I ever got there. A couple of pairs of bluejeans and several sweatshirts were all I really needed. Even the parties were casual — pajama dances (how informal can you get) and hobo parties.

IT WOULD BE nice to be a career woman and wear all those neat dresses with matching coats and have a closetful of charming little after-five dresses, I thought.

So what happened. Right off someone invented the formal pants suit for women. The right thing to wear to a party was a gold lame pants suit with sandals.

I just want to know one thing — what do I do with those silver-sequined, pointed-toe shoes in my closet?

—JEAN FANNIN

David Lawrence The U.N. And Communist China

WASHINGTON — While the American people have been reading in recent days about the efforts of backers of Red China to obtain a seat in the United Nations for the Peking regime, the administration lost an opportunity to tell the world what the real issue happens to be. On the ballot this year for the admission of Red China, there were 51 affirmative votes in the General Assembly, with 49 against and 25 abstentions. This was a majority for Peking but not the necessary two-thirds.

ALL THROUGH the discussions of the last several weeks about the upcoming vote, the United States remained virtually silent. The fact that it is opposed to the admission of Red China is well known, but the mystery is why the Washington government did not speak out and disclose what Red China has done in the past seven years as an adversary of the United States in Southeast Asia. The Communist Chinese have sent to the North Vietnamese arms and supplies and have provided other forms of assistance in carrying on the war. The Peking government has been responsible for the loss of numerous American lives in Vietnam. It continues to support North Vietnam and, along with the Soviet Union, prevents a peace agreement from being reached.

UNDER THESE circumstances, is a government entitled to admission in the U.N.? Should Peking be given the seat of Nationalist China in the face of Red China's encouragement of aggression by Red China against South Vietnam and the help given attacks on troops of the United States?

Surely the defense Department and the American intelligence services have plenty of information about the part that Red China has played in the Vietnam war from the beginning.

It has helped to block the attempts of the South Vietnamese people to maintain their independence.

THE CHARTER of the United Nations states as one of its purposes: "To develop friendly relations among nations based on respect for the principle of equal rights and self-determination of peoples."

Most countries throughout the world know that Red China has played a military role in Southeast Asia. Yet the mobilization of 51 votes in favor of its admission to the U.N. is in a sense a blow at America policy in Southeast Asia. It indicates that many of the nations are not concerned with what Red China has done and that the misdeeds of the Communist regime in Peking are being disregarded.

FORTUNATELY, it had been decided that a two-thirds vote was necessary for Peking to get a seat in the U.N. But the fact that an actual majority was lined up — something that has not happened in the previous 19 times the question has arisen — is an ominous piece of news, particularly for the small countries of the world, so many of which helped to make up the 51 votes that went to the Peking side last week. For if the principle of self-determination is abandoned, might will seem to make right and ambitious governments will feel free to take over other countries without fear of interference.

THE VIETNAM CONFLICT may seem to many people to be an irrelevant war, but actually it involves a matter of major importance to the future of world peace. Unless nations are able to get the help of free countries when they are victims of aggression or when they are threatened with invasion by imperialistic governments, they cannot retain their independence. The United Nations then becomes meaningless as a protector.

Marquis Childs London: Affluent, Fresh, Pleasant

LONDON — Nearly a week of torrential rain has ended. The garbage strike is a fading memory. Walking across London is a pleasant excursion in a great city that in this interval looks fresh, green, tidied up with the plague of strikes and inflation nowhere evident to the stroller.

Affluence is in the air, restrained, taken for granted, smart as the newly painted balconies with their still-flowering window boxes. The Rolls Royces, the Bentleys go gleaming past. In Grosvenor Square even the American Embassy, once so derided for its austere, un-English facade and its great flaring eole, has managed to take on the coloration of the neo-Georgian and late Victorian environment.

IN THE STRAND, in Pall Mall and St. James's Street those strongholds of the Establishment, the clubs with the great names dedicated to masculine superiority, have a solid, secluded look as though nothing had changed.

In Piccadilly the early dark has come down. On the illuminated front of Fortnum and Mason's mechanized golden Christmas angels are playing viol and blowing trumpets. The big department stores have broken out with Christmas trees strung with colored lights.

FARTHER ALONG where the theaters flash out their wares the hippies crowd the walks. Every kind of bizarre dress — Indians, Russian Cossacks, coats of fur that no animal would own up to, sloppy jeans, long hair — this is the masquerade of the young everywhere. They seem brash, full of their own importance, yet good natured enough.

Then into Trafalgar Square where Lord Nelson on his column was the sign and symbol of empire, the victor in the sea battle that sealed the beginning of the century of Pax Britannica. Tonight the fountains catch the light, the crowds are as free as birds, the illuminated facade of the National Gallery has an ancient, reassuring look.

THE HOMEWARD RUSH has begun. On a Friday evening the lines of stalled traffic extend for blocks, the escape for the long weekend, the sacred weekend. But not a honk, hardly a beep. Courtesy, civility, patience, patience, patience. This is the rule, the almost universal rule, which makes life on this crowded island not just tolerable but pleasant, agreeable.

Whitehall has a nighttime look, the big, square government buildings emptied. In Downing Street two bobbies chat amiably before the door of No. 10 and across the narrow street a half-dozen people, visitors from the provinces, stand looking for a while as though they expected the Prime Minister to come out at any moment.

THE FACE of Big Ben shining high in the tower is as permanent, as reassuring as the moon, and the sound as it strikes the hours is part of the world we want to believe in — those broadcasts when London was burning and Churchill came on preceded by Big Ben's authentic voice.

The harsh critics at home and abroad talk about Little England, about unwillingness to work, about cradle-to-the-grave security, about lack of incentives. But it happens in this interval to be the pleasantest city in the world, and civilized is the word for it.

No Garbage Pickup Today

Nolan Chafin, director of public works, said today he wanted to remind people who normally have garbage pickup on Thursdays that no collections will be made today, but garbage on today's routes will be collected Monday.

Chafin explained that sanitation department crews normally work a half day on holidays, but in the light of a city commission decision to give city employees a holiday Friday he decided to have the collection crews take off all of today, and work a regular day Friday. He said this arrangement should be more efficient since only one route will be affected by the holiday.

School Requests Financial Aid

SWEETWATER — Bill Pevehouse and Bill Beasley of the Texas State Technical Institute appeared before the city commission Wednesday and requested financial assistance of $500 per month for the next six months prior to the TSTI foundation receiving assistance from the state next fall.

Commissioners voted to give the assistance to the school provided it is needed before the state funds arrive.

In other action the city agreed to go into joint ownership of the old Safeway Building to be used by the Nolan County Museum. Initial cost will be $3,000 plus $150 per month operating cost.

The county has not announced whether it will go into the ownership plan or not.

Webb Employee Can Be Thankful

Francisco Bustamante, Stanton, a civilian employe at Webb AFB, can be thankful for one thing today — that he didn't have more in his billfold when he left it in the glove compartment of his parked car.

His billfold was taken Wednesday from his car which was parked on the north off-base parking lot. According to Bustamante, the wallet contained nothing but his driver's license and some identification.

The theft was reported today to the Howard County Sheriff's Office.

Father Charged With Child Assault

Aggravated assault charges were filed Wednesday night against Alfred B. Green, 710-A Wilma in connection with the beating of his daughter, Teresa, 21.

Police arrested Green at the Webb AFB guardhouse, and were to transfer him to county jail today. Teresa was treated at the Webb AFB Hospital and released.

Knife-Wielding Man Seeks Ride

Police are investigating a reported case of assault with a knife.

A woman told police that as she was getting into her car Wednesday afternoon at the State National Bank parking lot a man pulled a knife on her and asked for a ride. After she refused, the man reportedly walked behind her car and wrote down her license number.

Defendant Pleads Guilty To Burglary

Adolfo Salazar Jr., Knott, pleaded guilty Wednesday in 15th District Court to a charge of burglary. District Judge R. W. Caton sentenced Salazar to two and a half years in prison. The term is to run concurrently with a prior sentence.

The burglary charge was in connection with the Oct. 1 burglary of the Broadway Tavern. Salazar was indicted by the Howard County Grand Jury Oct. 28.

TICK, TICK, TICK TICKLER

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The gold-colored cylinder found Wednesday night in the Fritz G. Lanham Federal Center here by a security man was ticking loudly.

Security men sounded a bomb alert. Police and firemen rushed to the scene, took the cylinder outside and placed it on the ground. The area was quickly cordoned off for spectators.

Then a man from the National Weather Service approached, picked up the cylinder and went inside the building with it under his arm after telling police, "It's meteorological equipment."

Dec. 18 Deadline For Decorations

Entry deadline is Dec. 18 for the Christmas home decoration contest co-sponsored again this year by the Chamber of Commerce and Texas Electric Service Co., which has been expanded this year and now includes contests in block, yard, door, window, and special feature decoration.

The three new categories were added to give recognition to people who highlight a particular "center of attention" such as a giant candy cane or star of Bethlehem display or an outstandingly decorated door or window.

All over Big Spring the stores are getting ready to handle the Christmas shopping rush. Most stores have increased their inventories by about 15 per cent and say they expect this season to be one of the better in the past years.

Best selling items in the stores are in the men's departments, and slowest selling items are in the home improvement lines. It looks like the first place winner, with electrical appliances to be given to the second and third place winners. Beginning this year, however, no one will be eligible to win the first prize two years in a row, and a trophy will be substituted if the previous winner comes back with a repeat performance.

Blocks or neighborhoods that make a coordinated effort to beautify a particular area will be recognized by special citations to those who participated in decorating the winning block.

Judging will be Tuesday, Dec. 22, based on the following point distribution: artistry and ingenuity (30 points), lighting techniques (30 points), originality (20 points), and symbolic portrayal (20 points).

Gift Buying To Begin In Earnest

Local merchants are expecting Friday to be the biggest selling day of the Christmas season.

"We've increased our staffs and inventory and are waiting for Friday's crowds," one retailer said.

All over Big Spring the stores are getting ready to handle the Christmas shopping rush. Most stores have increased their inventories by about 15 per cent and say they expect this season to be one of the better in the past years.

The yard decoration contest will be handled as in past years with TESCO giving a Ready-Lite yard light (installed) to the first place winner, with electrical appliances to be given to the second and third place winners. Beginning this year, however, no one will be eligible to win the first prize two years in a row, and a trophy will be substituted if the previous winner comes back with a repeat performance.

WHAT TO GET DAD FOR CHRISTMAS . . . tools are a good bet

Mini Tools Are Maxi Gifts For Both Dads And Moms

A trend toward practicality has been forecast for this year's holiday gift giving — but practicality can no longer be equated with dullness.

Small power tools and home appliances have been given the glitter and glamor of holiday ornaments, with the added benefits of convenience, economy and utility.

Stocking Filler

For his stocking, tuck in a tube of an elastomer based glue that develops 100 pounds per square inch strength, the strongest ever available for the home handyman. Pow'r Grip adheres to almost all surfaces, including glass, wood, paper, cloth, stone, plastic brick, veneer and metal. It's useful for mounting bathroom fixtures, regluing furniture, fixing toys and picture frames, repairing gun stocks and lawn equipment. By H. B. Fuller.

Dads and moms will delightfully receive useful gifts ranging from power saws to electric drills, from hair dryers to electric carving knives.

Power chain saws have increased in popularity over the years as families sought a distinctive gift for "the man (or even the woman) who has everything." The attraction of these versatile tools grew as they became lighter and lower priced.

The lightest chain saw in the world is McCulloch's Mini-Mac 6, a self-contained, gasoline-powered saw which weighs just 6 1/2 pounds, plus its cutting attachment.

At a manufacturer's suggested list price of $139.95, company spokesmen say the Mini-Mac 6 is the lowest priced ultra-light-weight, high performance saw made.

could be returned to its buyer more than once through savings on outside maintenance help and firewood purchases.

"In fact, this saw could start 'earning its keep' immediately by supplying the family hearth with a traditional Yule log. Here is one gift to open BEFORE Christmas.

Meaningful Gift Is The Best One

The gifts we give that truly mean something worthwhile . . . the time out to visit a sick neighbor, to talk with someone who's unhappy, to take a child on a small excursion — these, no money can buy. A cup of coffee, offered at the right moment, can be a tremendous gift. Occasions for service like this are all around us. They usually crop up at the least suitable time, but that makes what we have done even more important. Be ready to give, of yourself, this holiday time.

More Poinsettia Variety Available This Christmas

The Christmas flower — poinsettia — has been undergoing a big change in recent years. Varieties which have been appearing, include the Paul Mikelsen, which holds up longer than the older kinds. This poinsettia is a cross between a red and a white variety which has long been known to retain its freshness better than the reds.

But growing conditions have also improved. There is no longer a headache for the grower to bring them into bloom at the proper time. Growers have learned that the plants must have 11 hours of complete darkness daily starting in October to bloom on schedule.

Most growers use a sterile potting mixture which prevents disease and also lessens the danger of over watering. Like other plants it will not tolerate wet soggy soil.

It also thrives in sunny spots better than in shade or semi-shade.

Santa's Visit Due Monday

Jolly St. Nick is to arrive in Big Spring for a pre-Christmas visit Monday, but he is leaving his reindeer at home to rest up for the official journey Christmas Eve.

Santa is to arrive at Howard County airport by private plane at 3:15 p.m., and will receive a police escort downtown to the city parking lot covered pavilion at the corner of Third and Scurry.

The Big Spring High School Steer Band is to provide the musical backdrop as Santa Claus visits with children at the pavilion between 4 and 6 p.m. American Business Club members will be on hand to pass out candy to the small fry who visit Santa.

Decorations To Go Up

Downtown Christmas decorations are scheduled to be put up by members of the local Jaycees this weekend in time for Santa's visit Monday.

In addition to the street decorations that Big Springers saw last year, the Chamber of Commerce has bought a giant jumping jack display that will be put up on the courthouse square.

The lights on the street decorations are to be turned on for the first time the evening of Santa's visit.

THE STOCKINGS WERE HUNG BY THE CHIMNEY . . .
... and what Dad needs is a new pair

The Season To Be Soxy, And Your Dad Will Love It

Christmas is traditionally the season for socks, stockings, and stuffings, with everyone from Baby to Grandpa hanging his own personalized hosiery by the chimney with care.

And this Christmas, the season's sexiest gift-giving suggestion is "Sock it to Dad in His Stocking." Socks, particularly over-the-calf styles, are the up and coming trend in stocking stuffers for Dad, Son, Boyfriend or Boss.

Over-the-calfs reveal a lot about the man who wears them — and the woman who buys them. Over 75 per cent of all men's hosiery is purchased by women who like the longer legging styles that make her man look fashionable and successful. According to a recent "Sociology" survey conducted by the Institute for Motivational Research, women enjoy taking care of their man's socks for it is reportedly a way of paying homage to his masculinity.

Among the things she's most concerned about is helping her man cover "calf gap" — that hairy patch of shin that bristles forth when a man crosses his legs. Over-the-calf socks provide greater comfort, don't bag at the ankles, and remain "at attention" throughout the most hectic day. Calf gap suggests a lack of continuity and follow through, but the man with shins covered presents a unified and well organized appearance.

Today's choice of these socks

Give A Gift Personality

FOR A NICE NEIGHBOR. Dishwashing, diapers and detergents may mean that hands need help for the holidays. Pretty-up a pair of household gloves with a big red rose and glittering braid and stuff each glove with hand cream. There are several creamy hand-savers from which to choose — extra dry skin cream, medicated cream and anti-detergent cream.

FOR A NEW MOTHER. Say a special Christmas hello with two new medicated products for baby that will please mother, too. Medicated baby oil and baby lotion both protect baby's skin from irritation, help heal diaper rash fast. Wrap them as snowmen in white tissue paper, add shiny paper top hats, ribbon "mufflers", ink-drawn faces and tiny sprays of greenery. Both oil and lotion come in two convenient sizes.

FOR A FELLOW-WORKER. Choose a cheery coffee mug or pretty pencil holder and fill it with personal sizes of handy beauty products. For instance, an extra dry skin cream in jar or tube is helpful to have at the office and is pin-money priced. Another welcome tuck-in is a crystal cream cuticle remover for professional manicures and pedicures.

See what we mean? Imagination and good taste can make your "little gifts" appreciated for many months to come!

is almost as colorful as those stockings traditionally hung by the fireplace. Famous designers such as Bill Blass, John Witz, Schiaparelli, and Christian Dior are offering the fashionable male a wide range of colors, patterns, and textures. The socks come in argyles and diamonds, herringbone and houndstooth, stripes and plaids, checks and window panes — and more.

Colors are bursting forth in such thought-provoking shades as plum, rum, whiskey, wine, mint, melon, persimmon, pumpkin and raspberry.

Today's sex-cessful man has an average of 12 to 18 over-the-calfs in his drawer. How's your man's quota? Start off his New Year on sound footing with a stocking stuffed with a wardrobe of these. Remember, Christmas 'tis the season to be soxy!

Santa Packs Toy Wonders

Boys and girls will share in new thrills when Santa's big toy pack is spread out under the Yule tree. Newest excitement for junior racing fans is SSP, Super Sonic Power, the first drag race scale model to run self-propelled without a track or batteries, accelerating after take-off like full size racers, reports Robert L. Steiner, president of Kenner Products Company. Each SSP racer has a power wheel that revs up to 20,000 RPM, with an easy pull Power T stock that uses gyroscopic principles. There's a launching pad and a ramp, a jump and a flying finish gate with a drag snag chute.

New from junior homemakers is a Super Easy Bake Oven with oven controls that really work to add new fascination to culinary adventures. This new kind of oven bakes double size cakes as well as regular size and has an extra warming oven with its own temperature controls. Safety engineered every step of the way, this most realistic oven ever made for youngsters is operated on two light bulbs. Pans slide through a cooling chamber before eager little fingers can touch their masterpieces. The operational 15 minute timer for the baking oven ticks away when a knob is turned, and rings when the baking is completed.

New for all the family is Spiro-foil, the latest development in Spirographic arts by Kenner which uses aluminum foil to create fascinating 3-D effects. Another delight for youngsters is Rotodraw which provides continuing surprises. The child never knows what picture he's drawn until, by rotating a disc, he's drawn in all the slots.

A new kind of dry cell alkaline battery double-sealed in a metal container powers two unusual additions to toyland fun. GT tracer with sleek sporty lines goes at safe walking speed, even down hill, because the motor provides braking action and maneuvers on a dime. Big Cat Loader, a new kind of ride-on truck with two motors — one for lifting and one for driving — also is powered by this safe dry cell rechargeable battery. Big Cat operates as a combination crane, fork lift, skip loader and wrecker tote.

Shower Is Gift Gimmick

Everyone loves a gift that (1) nobody ever heard of; (2) is useful as well as good-looking; (3) keeps on giving all year. What we're saying is that a new easy-to-install shower head called Body Toner could be your Gift Gimmick of the Year!

This beautifully designed shower accessory boasts three swirling jets which toss triple streams of diffused droplets in a rhythmic pattern . . . thus creating a massaging sensation on neck, shoulders and back which is simultaneously invigorating and calming. Finger-flick settings range from springtime sprinkle to drumming deluge . . . obviously great for facials and shampoos as well as showers.

Should your beloved giftee happen to be a member of the family, won't it be nice to share that new-found sense of well-being the shower accessory promises? Self-cleaning, it is guaranteed clog- and corrosion-proof. Attractively packaged and ready to gift wrap, this extraordinary contrivance comes in chrome, harvest gold, porcelain white or avocado green. Body Toner makes a gift of the "first water"

Holiday Repairs

There is an old superstition that says doing household repairs on Sunday or Christmas Day will not cure the trouble. It may even make the trouble worse.

Phone Man Made Lighted Tree

The first Christmas tree to be lighted electrically was conceived by a telephone man. In 1908, when his son upset a candle on their tree, (customary in those days, in the German tradition) the man decided to devise safer lighting. He bought a handful of tiny electric lamps such as those used on telephone switchboards; then, in his spare time at home he soldered the lights into wires and strung them on the family tree. Result: the world's first Christmas tree lighted electrically . . . and increased safety for homes everywhere at the festive Yule season.

German Toymakers Make Teddy Bears

Giengen-on-the-Brenz, the little German town where the Teddy Bear originated over 60 years ago, is basically a village of toymakers with a history dating back about 700 years. Its cobblestone streets and gingerbread houses, many of them centuries old, provide a "Hansel and Gretel" setting. There is also the quiet Brenz River and the fields and forests surrounding the town. It is here that Margarete Steiff GmbH, the world's largest stuffed toy manufacturer, is headquartered.

MARGARETE STEIFF

Toymaking is much the same as it was when Margarete Steiff first opened her shop in 1880. Most of the work is done painstakingly by hand. For the greater part, each tiny piece of mohair cloth or felt is cut by a worker using a pair of scissors. Noses are hand-embroidered, seams are hand-stitched, stuffing and coloring are done by hand — and so it goes throughout the entire manufacturing process. The Old World custom of homework, too, is practiced. Women are seen arriving at the factory with huge baskets to pick up raw materials which they later return as finished products.

Giengen has grown with, and because of, Steiff's success. At this time it has a population of 14,000, of which more than 2,000 work as toymakers for Steiff. The warm feeling the Giengeners have for the Steiffs is evidenced in many ways. The main street is "Margarete Steiff Strasse," and portraits of Margarete and members of the family who took over after she died are displayed in the meeting room of the town hall.

Much of this feeling is no doubt due to the memories the villagers have of Margarete. Born in 1847, she was a victim of polio at the age of two and a half which paralyzed both legs and her right arm, confining her to a wheelchair for the rest of her life.

Many of Margarete's younger years were spent learning to become a dressmaker. She owned Giengen's first sewing machine, which she had to work backwards because of her paralysis. In 1877, when she was still in her teens, she opened a shop specializing in women's and children's clothing. The material she used came from the Haehle felt factory, which was owned by her mother's family. She did well and in the first year hired several other women to help with the output. About then Margarete wrote in her notes, "At this point the model of an elephant fell into my hands; felt was well-suited to copying it. The finest shearings were used for the stuffing. This little elephant first served as a pincushion. And so the world's first stuffed toy was born."

At first these were given as gifts to children who came to visit. But, as demand for them grew, Margarete's brother Fritz realized a business potential and carried a sackful off to the county fair. In a short time all were sold, and Margarete's hobby was put on a paying basis. From this point on (1880) to the year 1897 is the relatively typical story of the growth of a small family business into a thriving industry.

In 1897, after completing his art studies in England and Germany, Margarete's nephew Richard joined the firm. While studying in Germany, he spent many hours sketching the playful brown bear cubs at Stuttgart's famous zoo. Working from these sketches, Richard designed a little toy bear, with movable joints, made of mohair plush (the first stuffed toy having moving joints). The first models were introduced in 1902 and found their way to America a year later, 1903.

The name "Teddy Bear" came out of a hunting incident involving the President. In 1902, the year Steiff made its first bear, Theodore Roosevelt traveled into the backwoods of Mississippi on a bear hunt. After several days in which no bears were sighted, the expeditions guide chased a little bear cub out of the brush and cleared the way for the President to get off his shot. Mr. Roosevelt refused and shoed little bruin back to his mother.

On this same expedition was the Washington Post's famous political cartoonist, Clifford Berryman, who was so moved by the President's gesture that his first cartoon upon returning to his drawing board was one showing the President refusing to shoot the cub. From that point on, in each cartoon Berryman did on the President, the little bear cub showed up, which Berryman named "Teddy's Bear."

ALSO GIVES LOVE 'Gramma' Teaches Kids To Have Fun

Parents are "progressive if they teach their children to read at age three, "enlightened if they prod the baby's artistic talents as soon as he can stick a fist in the finger paint."

Children are "precocious if they can tie their shoes six months before their next-door playmates, and they're "little men and women if they don't cry when it hurts. Now somebody wants to loosen the lid a little. "I'm averse to the intellectual approaches to children's toys, says Joyce Miller, designer of the new "Gramma doll." "Children have been overstimulated by TV, parents and toys. They need security. Everything Gramma does is either comforting or loving.

Miss Miller, a free-lance advertising woman, is a former interior decorator and prize-winning furniture designer who created Gramma almost by accident, while she was sketching furniture. She happened to draw a rocking chair. "One thing led to another, she explained, until she had Gramma's lap, a child-sized wooden rocker with cheerful face and calico dress painted on.

But Gramma isn't just another cheerful face. "She teaches children to enjoy doing, as well as the end result, Miss Miller says. "The theme is 'Are you having fun? Just do your best. It isn't 'Be careful, you must do this right.'

The Gramma collection features three rag dolls. All come with a color booklet about the "funny happy things Gramma likes to do, and one calls out affectionate coaxings like "Come here and snuggle up with Granny!"

In addition to the dolls and Gramma's Lap, the Sears Christmas catalog and many Sears stores will offer Gramma's Nap (a cradle), Gramma's tea set, Gramma's house, Gramma's sewing kit and Joe Dog (Gramma's pet).

Games With Family Appeal

Family appeal is the keynote to many of the new games this Christmas. Beamed at school children as well as grown-ups are two innovative word games, reports Edwin S. Lowe, leading game specialist. Ad Lib introduces a new word-building game technique that does away with worries over what to do with pesky JQXYZ letters. All the values are on the board in this new approach to word games. Wordmaster uses seven plastic balls around a bowl which has 36 slots with alphabet letters and wild spaces. Each ball falling in a slot provides a letter for word building.

Now there's a Travel Yahtze which will cater to enthusiastic players of this world-wide best-seller. An attache-like case with storage compartments makes it easy to play Yahtze any time, anywhere. Globemaster is a new travel game which sends players jetting around the world to famous tourist spots. New for sports fans is Rose Bowl Computerized Football, the first moderate-priced game in this category. A molded analog computer read-out gives the resulting plays, as opposing teams make programmed moves.

'TIS THE SEASON TO BE JOLLY Fun Time For Children, But Hectic For Adults

Christmas is a time for children! They take special delight in the tinsel and trimmings, the wreaths and fragrant evergreen trees, jolly Santas listening to secrets in toy departments and the rewards of fastening the delicious goodies coming out of the oven for the holiday festivities. Days seem to creep by as they anxiously inquire "How many more days until Christmas?"

But for adults, the season often ends up very hectic. If you're about to plunge into holiday preparations, shopping and entertaining, here are some suggestions from the child-care experts at Gerber to help make the coming days more enjoyable for both you and the children.

Shopping will be quicker, easier and more pleasurable if you don't have a toddler in tow, so do yourself a favor and help a babysitter earn some Christmas money. You can leave her in charge with confidence when you plan ahead.

Feeding schedules need not change, but make it easy for her. Leave Modilac Ready-to-Food formula for baby, for instance. Since it's stored at room temperature, it doesn't even require heating and the sitter need only twist off the cap and screw on a standard nipple unit for instant feeding. There'll be no fuss and a well-balanced meal for toddlers if you leave their favorite varieties of Toddler Meals, the "grown-up" casseroles-in-a-jar that have the extra measure of protein that bustling 2, 3 and 4 year olds need to see them through the day.

While your shopping list is sure to include some of those longed-for toys, remember that there are other gifts that appeal to the young set. They love showing off in new clothes, for instance, and the easy care Babygro stretch knits by Kapart are as popular with mothers as with tykes. There's a wide selection for boys or girls from "football" or "floral" jumpsuits for daytime rough-housing to bright red coveralls and stocking hat sets for bedtime. These "give" are ideal for growing, active youngsters.

Holiday baking, like shopping will be more fun if you start early. Fruitcakes and plum puddings are best if aged, and the freezer is a boon to many a busy mother who plans her baking in easy stages. Youngsters will be happy and will keep out of trouble if you let them "help." They can keep an eye on the corn being popped for popcorn balls or for Christmas tree trimming. Stirring fudge and trimming cookies are delightful tasks and all children, regardless of age, excel at "cleaning" the icing bowl.

An afternoon of such hard work calls for some quick energy, so plan time out for refreshments. Edna Mae McIntosh, Gerber nutritionist, points out that too many sweets for youngsters during the holidays often result in spoiled appetites and poor nourishment. It's important that snacks provide good nutrition, as well as satisfying hunger. Why not get in the holiday spirit with a fruit shake for mother's helpers? For 2 servings, mix 1 cup cold whole milk and 1 container of any Gerber strained fruit and note the enthusiasm with which glasses are drained.

Toy Series Helps Baby Develop Well

Now children's education begins literally in the cradle, as soon as baby is three weeks old. Dr. Burton L. White, director of Harvard's Pre-School Project, after ten years of research with infants in home environments, has created and tested Playtententials, the first progressive series of toys designed to help baby discover himself weeks earlier, and develop the habit of being alert, inquisitive and confident.

In cooperation with Kenner, who pioneered baby mobiles, Dr. White has created two groups of Playtententials. The first group of unique toys is designed to help infants between three weeks and three and one-half months reach their full potential. The second group of Playtententials is planned to match exactly the growing sensory abilities of babies between three and one-half months and six months or longer. Each of the Playtententials is planned to entertain the crib occupant, invites him to explore, and has a specific developmental goal.

Based on intensive research by Dr. White, the first series of Playtententials are positioned on a Dura-Stand so that they are precisely in baby's limited area of vision. For the three to ten week infant group, Dr. White recommends Bath and Feet toys and Faces and Forms Mobiles. These toys develop experience in sight, sound and touch and guide baby's random hand motions into purposeful activity. From nine to fourteen weeks, Animal Grabbie is added to the Dura-Stand. Dr. White finds that infants from nine weeks to six months or older, enjoy looking at themselves in the unbreakable Baby Image Mirror, which he also positions on the Dura-Stand.

When baby is three and one-half months old, Dr. White suggests introducing him to a second series of Playtententials. This includes a color Play Windmill which teaches cause-and-effect action when he pulls the handle. There's a Handi-Pal with six little hands for baby to discover and grasp. Play Chimes give him the opportunity to make things happen by reaching and fingering; his efforts produce soft, pleasing sounds. An alternate for positioning on the Dura-Stand is Trapeze Teether and Exerciser, which will help him strengthen his muscles by reaching, grasping and pulling. Between five and one-half and six months, Dr. White suggests Pull-Me-Up, a sturpp-like strap which attaches to the crib rail and helps baby learn to sit up. Thumpy, a bouncy jingly rabbit is designed to give gentle kick back action. Find-Me Booties are provided for use with Thumpy to make baby quickly aware of his feet.

Clean-Up Is Quick, Easy

For quick holiday clean-ups, keep an extra bottle of pine cleaner and a sponge in your kitchen closet. Triple-duty pine cleaner cleans, disinfects and deodorizes all at once.

Just before setting up the tree, saw off the trunk at an angle at least one inch above the original cut. Place tree in water, making sure that the level of water is above cut at all times. Make sure the tree is well supported and is placed away from sources of heat such as fireplaces or radiators and where it will not block any exits in case of fire.

There is no doubt about it, evergreens and the entire garden appear much more attractive when the Christmas lights are on. The reason is that darkness blots out unsightly areas. But the bulbs should be placed so that they do not touch the needles of the evergreens and one should check the position of them each day. Winds may shift them out of position.

Christmas Shopping Can Be Downright Frustrating

The Toy You Buy Can Help Shape Your Child's Entire World

Buying the right toy for the right age preschooler is a difficult task for parents and grandparents. But for someone with little experience with children or unfamiliar with toy lines, the myriad of merchandise in toy departments at holiday time can present quite a challenge.

Playskool Research, pioneer in developing educational play-toys, cautions about the impor-

ance of selecting the right toy for each child on your Christmas list. Children during the preschool years grow faster and learn more than at any other time during their lives. Toys are the textbooks by which they learn, the tools of their work and play. That's why it is important to select the right toy for the right age child — to insure that the toy will be helpful to his growth and development.

To help the novice toy buyer or anyone going toy shopping this season, Playskool suggests making up a special "Toy Gift List" specifically for the youngsters to whom you will be playing Santa. In columns after each name note the child's age, general personality, special interests and achievement levels (such as reading ability, manual dexterity, etc.). Take your list with you when you go shopping and engage the assistance of a clerk to help you select the right toy for the right age child.

As a general guide for toy selection for preschoolers, Playskool Research offers these suggestions by age group:

THE INFANT. Baby's first toy should be a hanging object which he can follow with his eyes. Later he can grasp simple objects and respond to bright colors. A rattle, cube or ball is an ideal toy, but they should be large enough to prevent swallowing.

THE CRAWLER. He has enough muscular control to enjoy toys he can take apart and put together again, like stacking blocks and discs. Many a so-called "destructive" child at this age simply hasn't had toys that let him exercise this natural curiosity.

THE TODDLER. Push-pull toys help him exercise his muscles and learn coordination.

Pounding sets, wooden trains and trucks are good toys for this age.

THE MIDDLE YEARS. This child especially likes toys that challenge him and give him a sense of accomplishment. He enjoys building. Puzzle plaques, parquetry blocks, drop boxes, wagons and blocks in varied shapes are especially good. He also likes the mobility of transportation toys designed for indoor play.

THE OLDER PRESCHOOLER. Developing rapidly physically and mentally, this child has greater self-confidence and needs toys that let him use and master new skills and imagination. Activity tables and play desks with double purpose crayon and magnetic boards provide hours of varied play. Pegboard sets, hammer and nail sets, toys that let him create village and roadways have many long play values for this age.

Everyone Should Have Own Hobby

Shopping for hobby model kits today is a revelation. Where emphasis used to be on planes, cars and boats for boys in an age range for 8 to 14, kits are now being made for every age group and for both sexes — even for the preschooler whose developing coordination sometimes makes him appear to be all thumbs.

The unique array of colorful hobby kits to be seen in stores this year start with the cementless and pre-painted snap-together cartoon-type models. From there they jump into the class of highly-detailed automotive miniatures and even cater to the space-minded who critically examine every engineering aspect of lunar craft replicas.

Some of the best examples of the revolution in hobby kits are those designed by Monogram Models' designer, Tom Daniel. For instance, his imaginative Dune Rat, the latest in a series, is a fun-to-snap-together kit that will provide relaxation for anyone from 6 to 60.

Why are model hobby kits so appealing? Parents like them because they keep children fruitfully occupied; there is the value of extended play time because assembly work can be left standing for later attention; there is the proof of achievement; and Dad has the opportunity to work closely with his child.

The child likes hobby kits because he has the chance to emulate his older brothers who tinker with their automobile and motorcycle; there is the true pride of accomplishment; the sense of competition comes into play in wanting to build the model better than the other guy; the purchase of a model hobby kit gives the youngster the opportunity to make his own choice; and kits are educational in a way he likes to do things.

Older children and adults like hobby model kits because they can do in miniature what they would like to do in full-size but can't afford to do, such as build a car, ship or plane; the time spent on hobby kits is totally productive time; and the quiet of concentration has an amazing soothing value.

At Last! Music To Bathe By

According to listener surveys, radio is more popular at wake-up time than any other during the day. And so is the family bathroom.

But while it might seem that radios in the bathroom would be commonplace, limited counter space and the hazard of plug-in electrical appliances near standing water have made bathroom radios impractical. Experiments with small transistor sets have produced less-than-satisfactory results, because of poor sound quality.

A more unusual approach is a cordless, wall-mount radio engineered to provide good sound quality without taking up valuable space. Developed by Sears, Roebuck and Co. specifically for bathroom use, the 10-transistor AM&FM radio is treated with special adhesive on the back for solid mounting on a wall, vanity or cabinet. The unit also can be mounted with two small screws.

The battery-powered radio has a 3-inch speaker for sound and tonal quality and a "slide-rule" dial for easy, accurate AM&FM tuning. Other controls on the front of the radio include an automatic frequency control for drift-free FM reception, and a push-button "on-off" switch that operates independently of the volume control.

Only 2 3/8 inches deep, cabinet's "thin-line" design features two-piece hinged construction for convenient access to the battery compartment.

The standard cabinet color is "stone-white" to harmonize with any decor. For added beauty, three custom "snap-on" cabinet styles — classic, colonial and mediterranean — are optional.

Candlesticks Easily Made

When you plan the menu for a holiday gathering, take time to plan an original centerpiece and set the mood for a memorable occasion. The Directorate Candlesticks, suggested by the Norcross Design Studio, are created from gift wrap foil and cardboard ribbon spools. A subtle interplay of textured and polished foil is accented with bands and circles of gold Lustre-Cord.

It is easy to make as many candlesticks as needed to achieve the desired effect. Try a group of three or four, of varying heights, on a bed of evergreen for a massed effect on a buffet. Or use them singly on individual tables for four.

ORNAMENTS NOW, JEWELRY LATER... made from baking soda, corn starch

Ornaments Can Become Jewelry Later

This year make ornaments that the Christmas tree can wear now and you can wear later as jewelry when the tree is long gone. You'll be right in the swim of the Seventies... giving vent to self-expression. And it's a project for the entire family, from youngest to oldest, for even the crudest renditions will have that "now" flavor.

Here's how to proceed. First you make a clay which is concocted of two of your household staples... baking soda and corn starch. Combine thoroughly in a saucepan 2 cups of baking soda and 1 cup of the corn starch; then add 1 1/4 cups cold water. Mix until smooth. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Cook a minute longer or until mixture resembles moist mashed potatoes (overcooking makes clay crumbly). Remove from heat immediately, transfer to plate and cover with a damp cloth until cool enough to handle. Knead a little and store all but what you're about to use in a closed plastic bag.

Roll out clay on waxed paper to 1/4 inch thickness. Use cookie cutters for your basic shapes... stars, triangles, circles, etc. For bas relief effect cut out smaller pieces with aspic cutters or bottle caps or mold free hand, moisten and press into pre-cut larger shapes. Etch patterns with tip of knife. While clay is still soft, insert a twisted loop of wire into one edge for hanging. Ornaments will harden overnight. To speed up process, place in wire rack in warm (350 degrees) turned-off oven for a half hour.

Paint in smashing shades with water color or tempera; and for a ceramic-like finish, dip in clear shellac, spray with clear plastic or brush on clear nail polish.

Expectant Mother Inclined To Forget Important Detail

During the excitement of buying gifts, planning decorations and preparing the holiday meals, an expectant mother is likely to overlook one very important detail: herself.

If Christmas comes during that period of waiting, give yourself a special gift this year. Treat yourself to a little extra time for taking care of yourself. "Your feelings of weariness and fatigue are quite normal and some extra rest may be necessary during pregnancy," according to "Your First Pregnancy," a new booklet for expectant mothers.

The feeling of more fatigue than usual probably stems from all of the physiological changes during pregnancy, and from the extra weight you carry during the later months. "Don't plan to stay up late at night wrapping Christmas packages this year. Go to bed a little earlier. And space out your Christmas shopping so that you can have rest periods during the day," advises Miss Mary Louise Lennon, Director of Kimberly-Clark's Life Cycle Center, publisher of the booklet.

Holiday parties will be fun, but keep in mind your usual common-sense good health rules. You'll be tempted with many seasonal treats. Be sure to follow your physician's advice concerning diet and weight gain, advises the Life Cycle Center.

The extra weight can put a strain on your legs, too, and you may notice occasional leg cramps. Be kind to your legs during this holiday season. When you sit down, prop them up. Your holiday hostesses will be understanding and will be glad to provide a footstool or pillow for this purpose. Try not to stand for prolonged periods of time. Your husband will be happy to find a chair for you at parties. When you shop, plan your schedule so that you don't have to stand in line for long periods.

"If your legs ache when you go to bed, sleeping with the lower end of the mattress raised can help," suggests the Life Cycle Center.

Normal activities are fine, as far as possible. Don't worry about the exertion of trimming the tree, shopping and wrapping holiday packages. In most cases, physical exertion won't harm the baby. In a normal pregnancy, the growing fetus lives in a very secure world. Leave the decision up to your doctor about participating in sports, or taking trips by auto or plane.

After New Year's Day, you'll appreciate the extra care you took during the holidays. And remember, during the holidays next year, you'll have another member in your family!

Eureka! Scissors Now For Younger Seamstress

How many times have you heard Mother exclaim "what has become of my good pair of sewing scissors?"

Hardly a day goes by that someone in the house doesn't handle a pair of scissors or shears, of one type or another. And the chances are that Mother's favorite pair for sewing usually gets mislaid in the borrowing process, or just plain worn out by performing tasks for which they were not intended.

The J. Wiss & Sons Co. solves the problem with a beautiful array of sewing sets that will provide years of sewing pleasure. Representing Wiss craftsmanship at its best is the set called Heritage which should be high on your Christmas gift list because here are all the scissors and shears she needs the most: 9" pinking shears, 8" dressmakers' shears, 6"

To Remove Wax

To remove candle drippings, scrape off the solid wax. If necessary, slide an ice cube in a plastic bag over the top to harden the wax, then peel off. If some substance remains and the fabric pile is not too deep, hold a blotter over the area, then use a warm iron to remove the spot. Spray on a solvent cleaner to take out the last trace of wax.

Stuffed Toy Continues Reign As Yule Monarch

Regardless of the divergence of buyers and their reasons, it seems the stuffed toy will continue to reign as absolute monarch in the toy industry for many years to come.

There is a group of collectors made up entirely of the fairer sex, ranging from teen-agers to matrons in their sixties. They may own as few as one or as many as thirty toy animals. One manufacturer questioned several professionals on the psychological motivations behind this puzzling market development. The answer was surprisingly fundamental: in every big girl there is an element of the little girl, and that the stuffed toy pays attention to this element. Not so fundamental is the explanation that women, as well as men, felt a stronger security in their Teddy Bear days although men don't as readily manifest their desire to return.

For still other women, the stuffed toy in part provides the means for a woman to "play the kitten." These women pay, or have an admirer pay, anywhere from $5 to $30 per toy copy. For some inexplicable reason tigers seem to be the Number One favorite of this group. It has been suggested that his can be construed as symbolic of the predatory instincts of a female on the prowl.

Let's see who some of these women are: a swinging divorcee of 62 has a baker's dozen of stuffed monkeys and is badgering her current beau for a toy poodle (about $25 worth); an attractive secretary for a weekly news magazine has a me-

Package Your Homemade Treats

Making home-made goodies? Whatever your budget, you can find an appropriate aluminum utensil in a marvelous range of colors to package with your sweets. You might also look for non-stick coatings and spare your recipient messy clean-up chores. Your gift will not only reflect your personal attention, but also your thoughtfulness.

If your budget permits, it can be an electric aluminum utensil. Put your home-made goodies in it, package it with a dash of flair, and it's a very personal, meaningful gift. You can even attach your recipe for added interest.

Combine Old And New In Your Presents This Year

Christmas traditions warm the heart and make the whole world kin. We've been collecting Christmas lore and find it lovely! Did you know that on Christmas Eve the wood carvers of Oberammergau ski down the mountain slopes of Austria with flaming torches in hand, singing as they go? Doesn't that conjure up a picture? Time was, in Sweden, when the prettiest girl in the family played the role of Lucia on December 13th — her "privilege" to wait on everyone else for that entire day! Do you suppose they still do it in 1970? Flowers are used in Spain and Italy instead of evergreens and holly. In Sicily, a Christmas tree is decorated with apples and oranges. In England the Yule log must be big enough to last until New Year's Day. And Santa Baby goes by many names in many places. He's Julenissen in Denmark. Pere Noel in France, and the "Abbot of Unreason" in Scotland. In Italy he is Befana, an old woman on a broomstick, who brings gifts on the 6th of January. In many countries, in the "more blessed to give than to receive" tradition, gifts are exchanged twice during the Yuletide season. On Christmas Eve in Italy, while waiting for Befana, young and old draw gifts from a jar known as the Urn of Fate. Pere Noel comes on Christmas Eve in France, and gifts are again exchanged on New Year's Day. And, of course, the day after Christmas is Boxing Day in England where tradespeople and household help are remembered with boxes of money!!! An old romantic Swiss tradition has it that the boy or girl who takes three sips from nine different fountains, while the bells are ringing for midnight service on Christmas Eve, will find their future mate standing at the Church door. A regular courtship will begin at once if the spell has worked. Fragrance at Christmastime casts many a romantic spell, too, from the days of myrrh and incense, to the almost traditional gift of the 20th century, of perfume or cologne to at least one, if not to everyone on the Christmas list. Two gifts on the same day — to someone close — are very much a part of our Holiday traditions here at home, where one's parents may receive

"something for the house" — as well as a personal gift like Burley after-shave lotion for Dad — and maybe Vive Le Bain or Taji perfume for Mom. Or a kid sister may be happily steered in the right direction on makeup, with a Cornsilk compact tucked away into her new over-the-shoulder gift satchel. As for one's dearly beloved, over and above that camera, or bit of jewelry, a set of Lime grooming luxuries by the men at Old Spice will cast its own spell. Give it to him under the mistle toe and pucker up. The spell it casts may be your own. So, keep all the lovely old Traditions. Get the mistletoe and the holly, and the candy canes and a star for the tree. Hang up your stocking and sing the Christmas carols, — and to any dullard who may not be joining in — sock it to him — tell it like it really is — and have a Merry Christmas!

Break With Usual, Give Framed Art

Stumped for Christmas gifts? Searching for something different — yet with a true holiday feeling? Take a tip from the Picture and Frame Institute. Framed art, perhaps with a religious motif, makes a superb Christmas gift and is a welcome change from the usual "books-and-records syndrome for that hard-to-please individual. Religious art comes in a wide range of subjects and styles, one of which is certain to please just about everybody on your shopping agenda. A person with a traditional outlook should be delighted with, say, a simply-framed print of Leonardo Da Vinci's "The Last Supper." Or what about an elaborately framed reproduction of Leonardo's "Virgin?" But it's unnecessary to stick with the old master religious painting, if you want Christmas art for more modern tastes. Many modern designs have a subtle religious message, such as the elegant Picasso lithograph, "The Dove Flying gracefully with the olive branch of peace in his beak. What could more appropriately symbolize the peace on earth and goodwill toward men we all pray for during this holiday season? Abstracts, too, can have a religious theme: the striking triangle print is a lovely symbol of the Trinity.

Once you have chosen a picture, make sure you take all the work out of it before its bedecked with bright wrappings and bows. The print, lithograph or original painting should be framed, and matted under glass too, if appropriate. Investigate the new non-glare glass — it can add a note of elegance to even the most economical reproduction. The Picture and Frame Institute also suggests the frame blends with the artwork. A small, traditional painting is probably most effective with an ornate frame, while a more modern work is shown off to best advantage against sleek aluminum. But be wary of generalizations. Your own good taste should decide what frame is best for the print you have chosen. When we think of pictures, we automatically think walls. But consider a tiny painting in a heavily carved frame, wrapped up with its own mini display case. A favorite aunt with a passion for antiques should love a wee painting to display on its own miniature easel. The trick is simply... buying creativity. Almost all department stores have a framed art department. Browse for awhile, religious theme: the striking triangle print is a lovely symbol of the Trinity. one, aged 8 to 80.

Holiday Season Beauty, The Gift To Give Yourself

"I am my own woman, well at ease." What woman wouldn't delight in quoting the ancient Chaucerian phrase with full conviction! Especially at Christmastime. You're busy shopping. In and out of stores, in and out of the car. You're planning menus for you to prepare. Decorating the home for the festivities. And all the while, managing the usual routine — dishes, beds, children.

A woman owes it to herself to stand apart from it all, collect her thoughts and composure, so that she remains in control and not controlled. So that she is lovelier than any gift she gives, more exquisite than her Christmas fare, and more radiant than any Christmas setting. This accomplishment is the gift you give yourself. All it takes is a beauty routine that does the most for you in the least amount of time. Here are a few suggestions to help you enjoy the holidays with your family, to be as beautiful as the setting around you: Have a professional facial that will soften the lines of tension and give your face a new clean glow you wouldn't have believed possible. Do the same for your body. Enlist the services of a good masseuse to work out the kinks and revive tired muscles. Don't try to solve beauty problems with a makeup bottle. Make-up is for enhancing beauty, not covering up a tired, sallow look. Watch vitamin intake. Remember Christmas sweetmeats can cause blemishes, and add inches. Steal a few 10-minute catnaps. And, if you know you need eight hours' sleep, take them. Consider technology's gift to you: instant beauty aids designed to make life easier for busy homemakers. Instant hairsetters give hair a refreshed glamorous set that's also conditioned in less than 10 minutes. No time to wash hair? Do it neatly, cleanly, quickly with an instant shampoo. Spray, fluff, brush and go. New haircoloring products let you foam in rich lustrous color in minutes to highlight your hair for the holidays. The beautiful woman should always be totally sleek — especially in the holiday's barest evening fashions. That's why Clairol invented the Kindness underarm care system, the newest instant beauty aid with a twist. The elegant, "girl-shaped" shaver eases away unwanted underarm hair effortlessly and without nicks, aided by a special spray-mist deodorant that's used before shaving. The deodorant sets up hair, conditions the skin and eliminates the need to use a deodorant after shaving that may sting. No woman's beauty wardrobe is complete without at least one, preferably a collection of wigs, hairpieces and falls. For a quick new look. Glamorous and elegant, or casual and kooky.

Power Tool Is Perfect

Homemakers agree that once a husband has a power tool or a set of them, he's inclined to be ultra-conscious of home repairs. And once a home workshop is started, the homemaker's Christmas gift-giving dilemma may be solved for years to come. Selecting a power tool isn't as complex a shopping decision as it might seem. In most cases, department store salesmen are well-versed in the money-saving uses for various power tools and their ease or difficulty of operation. The home handyman's first choice is usually a compact electric drill, according to Sears tool buyers. Chosen for its versatility, the electric drill may be equipped with optional attachments for buffing, sanding, sharpening, grinding, sawing, driving and removing nuts, screws and bolts — and even trimming hedges. Another popular portable tool, the sabre saw, also can be used for a variety of jobs. It serves as a rip saw, hacksaw, crosscut, coping, jig, scroll band and keyhole saw enabling the woodworker amateur's skills improve, a wood-turning lathe might be a welcome addition to his workshop. The power unit turns a piece of wood as a rotisserie turns meat, only much faster. A chisel blade applied to the rapidly turning wood creates symmetrical designs for salad bowl sets, coffee table legs and other decorative items. A truly useful under-the-tree youngster (and catch Mom's and Dad's eye, too) is a brand new home copier. Youngsters will enjoy making copies of their own Christmas card drawings they brought home from school, and dozens of other projects.

Christmas Prediction Came True With Gold

Christmas 1847 was a happy time for Captain John Sutter. Sutter, known throughout California as a gracious host, decided to have a Christmas party and invited over two hundred guests, including former Commandante General of Alta California, General Mariano Vallejo.

Christmas Day, people arrived from all parts of the valley — some from as far away as San Francisco.

After dinner, the party danced to the strains of a violin, guitar and piano 'til the sun lengthened the shadows to the peaks of the mighty Sierra. As the Christmas party ended, General Vallejo, impressed by the energetic and industrious Americans, predicted that because of them the future of California would indeed be bright. Only a month later, his prediction came true . . . for gold was discovered.

Status Symbol Is Perfect Present

Newest status symbol for Father's workshop is White Knight, a high style hand saw with a taper ground blade that prevents wood from binding when sawed and bevel file sharpened teeth that make sawing easy. An etched heraldic design, the S & J monogram with a crown and Maltese cross makes White Knight a good looking wall decoration. The heraldic design is repeated on the solid beach saw handle. By Spear & Jackson (Hand Tools) Inc.

Buy A Blue Blood For Christmas And Match The Pet To The Person

You wouldn't give Grandma a skateboard for Christmas, or your young niece a hand-crocheted shawl.

Or would you? The answer probably depends on the temperaments of those two ladies, but at least you would give such purchases a second thought.

One of the most popular Christmas presents — a puppy — is too often bought solely on impulse, according to Felicia Ames, consultant at Friskies Nutrition Research Center. All puppies are appealing, but the one that beguiles the buyer is not necessarily right for Grandma or Gertie. You should give time and thought to this purchase to make sure that puppy, when he becomes a grown dog, will fit the temperament and habits of the person who is going to live with him.

The best way to match pets to people, suggests Miss Ames, who is also author of "The Dog You Care For", is to join the legions who are investing in purebred dogs. America's pet population has been increasing at nearly 3 per cent annually in recent years, more than the human population growth, but the number of registered dogs has been growing at more than 10 per cent.

ALL I WANT FOR CHRISTMAS . . .
... a puppy under the tree

The greatest advantage in the purebred when you are selecting a dog as a gift is that it enables you to buy one of predictable size and temperament. A mongrel can make a fine pet, but the mutt-pup's future is uncertain. He may look like his mother, but grow up to have the surly disposition of a distant and disreputable uncle.

In general you will find that the larger working dogs, the sporting breeds and the hounds are quieter and more placid than most terriers and toys. But big dogs need room and exercise, and some of them have appetites that could cripple the food budget. Terriers and toys are spirited, alert, highly entertaining pets that are especially adapted to apartment living. Some of them tend to be noisy and high-strung, however. The non-sporting breeds include such rugged individualists as the Poodle, the Dalmatian, and the Bulldog — superb companions, but in some cases expensive ones.

Once you have narrowed your candidates down to several breeds, you can start dog-shopping. Prices range from around $30 to the astronomical, but it is an investment that will pay off in a fine animal for a proud owner.

Higher Waistline Is The New Look

In dresses, the look primarily is translated in terms of higher waistline . . . which places new emphasis on lower necklines, on collars, on more important sleeves. On belts, or sashes. Skirts demand special treatment to relieve the long skinny look: side wraps, buttons, culottes, hemline ruffles. The circle skirt comes back, as does the gored flares. In the rare instances where the waistline is not high, the look is either princess or the dropped torso, often complemented by deep godets or belled ruffles.

The great interest is in mood, in a very contemporary look rather than in skirt lengths, which looks just right.

Santa's Beard Wasn't Always

Christmas without Santa Claus? Never. Santa without his flowing white beard? Ridiculous.

Well, don't tell the kids but Saint Nick hasn't always had all those whiskers. There's a statue of St. Nicholas in Bari, Italy, showing him with a neat, pointed Vandyke.

St. Nick's great white mane was a German and Dutch addition to the original legend which dates back to 300 A.D. It was immortalized by the American poet Clement Moore in his classic "Twas the Night Before Christmas" in 1822.

Beards have always been a mark of very special importance and legendary figures such as King Arthur are almost always shown with beards in paintings even though no one knows for sure that they even existed.

Santa's beard may be the most beloved beard of all time but it doesn't hold the record for length. That distinction may belong to George Killingworth who was Queen Elizabeth's agent in the Court of Ivan the Terrible of Russia. Killingworth's beard was five feet long. The story has it that Ivan, who also wore a beard, would stroke the Englishman's whiskers while they talked.

Not all Russian rulers liked beards. Clean-shaven Peter the Great went so far as to levy a tax on beards. There is no record of a taxpayers' revolt. But there was one in France in 1907 when waiters walked off their jobs to protest a rule prohibiting moustaches.

The care and removal of facial hair has become a big business complete with high powered research programs. Remington, for example, had a team of metallurgists develop the special steels which are used in the extra sharp cutters in their new Lektro Blade shaver line, and many makers of false moustaches, sideburns and beards consult with doctors in an effort to avoid allergy aggravating whiskers. Recently, luxury barber shops which charge as much as $20 for a shave and haircut have come into vogue. There have even been actors who have insured their beards.

Beards have had their ups and downs throughout the years and from country to country. For example, most European monarchs wore beards until the end of the last century. But in 1909 only one, Leopold of Belgium, had a full set of whiskers. In England, beards have gone in and out of style several times.

No one seems quite sure why beards have become so popular among today's young men. A psychologist recently attempted an explanation by noting that beards have always been associated with wisdom. Young men, he said, are trying to tell us that they really are very wise despite their youth.

If beards are a sign of wisdom, the merry gentleman who is due down our chimneys the night before Christmas must have all the answers.

Personal Touches Count In Presents

This Christmas is a good time to remind yourself that it's the personal touch that counts. In-

Child Can Wrap It Up

A rainy December day is the perfect time for youngsters to try their hands at unusual Christmas wraps. Although the wraps are unusual, they are all made with materials easily found around the house. A llama, for instance, can be made with a cereal box covered with construction paper. His decorative saddle is made with a lighter color of paper and festooned with "Q-Tips" cotton swabs. The cotton swabs, incidentally, make excellent paint brushes, too.

A turtle is made with two paper plates and bits of construction paper as legs. His markings were made with a cotton swab dipped in paintbox colors. A lion can be made with a cereal box, too, the top of the box is used for his face. The lion's mane is made by dipping cotton swabs in paint and inserting around the edge. Features are painted on with paintbox colors.

stead of trying to make a big splash with ostentatious gifts and a great show of extravagance, concentrate on the thoughtful small gift... one which contains something of yourself. Here is the real Christmas treasure — something created especially for the recipient. And even though we're in the space age, taking up needle and thread might be the most contemporary gesture you could make.

There's still time to whip up a piece of patchwork for fashion-minded friends, to crochet a cap for your favorite niece, to design a crewel-work pillow showing the family pet. As for the lord of the manor, wouldn't he like a hand-made suede vest, or a pair of petit-point slippers stitched especially for him? You'll find great new patterns that are easy and fun to do.

New Resolutions?

Resolve, this year, to have attractive hands and nails by using a little handy strategy. It is absolutely possible to have smooth skin without painful cuts, or sore chapping and burning. How? By use of a little common sense and a brand-name cream or lotion, and applying it to where it will do some good.

Enjoy A Yule Holiday In Winter Wonderland

A white Christmas is no dream in Colorado.

It's the glistening reality that holiday vacations are made of. It's ski slopes, snowshoes, sleighs, ice skates and warm drinks before a roaring fire. And in Breckenridge, 85 miles west of Denver, it's comfortable lodges or condominiums and informal restaurants for the whole family.

"More families are traveling together today — on skis," notes Donald Fowler, president of The Breckenridge Company, currently developing a new four-season village designed for family enjoyment.

"There's winter fun for everyone in Breckenridge," says Fowler, one of the founders of Colorado Ski Country U.S.A. "That's what makes it a great place for families."

For skiers, gentle knolls at the lower part of the ski area attract the "bunnies" or beginners. Intermediate slopes branch out from both mid-mountain and the summit. Two touch trails challenge the experts — among them, Breckenridge's newest resident, Jean-Claude Killy. More experts' runs are planned.

Cross-country tours offer an opportunity to try out snowshoes in the manner of the mining pioneers who settled the area, and to enjoy spectacular views of the snow-covered Rockies.

Skating or tobogganing are other activities for those in the family who don't want to ski.

Sleigh or snowmobile tours over special trails through the wooded countryside also are exhilarating by day, or romantic by night, under bright stars and full Colorado moons. The tours are interrupted by stop-offs for mugs of bracing hot wine and often end with a fondue picnic.

Family-style chalets in the Valley, condominiums and some lodges are equipped with kitchens for at-home cooking and dining.

But parents may indulge in apres-ski entertainment while small fry in the family are cared for in the playroom-nursery which is part of the ski area services.

And at Christmastime, decorated pine trees, carols in the air and special treats on the menus in the cheery restaurants put the trimmings on a winter holiday vacation. No wonder Santa will arrive on skis for many families this year.

... talking toys now available

Seuss Is On The Loose, And No Child Is Safe

The fantastic situations and zany characters which have sprung from the fertile imagination of Dr. Seuss to delight millions of parents and children, are now available as a line of toys, dolls and games from a giant toy manufacturer.

For more than three decades, Theodor Geisel, better known as Dr. Seuss, has authored such modern children's classics, as "Horton Hears a Who," "The Cat in the Hat," "Yertle the Turtle" and "How the Grinch Stole Christmas." With the recent signing of an exclusive, long-range agreement with Mattel, Inc., Geisel works closely with executives of the Southern California-based firm in the planning of each new product.

First items available in the new line are: the Dr. Seuss See 'n Say, "Say I Am," the Dr. Seuss Cat in the Hat talking plush doll; the Dr. Seuss Mattel-O-Phone; the Dr. Seuss talking storybook, "Friends of Dr. Seuss;" and the Dr. Seuss Fish-A-Ma-Jigger game. All of these items are available locally.

Another new product inspired by the works of Dr. Seuss is the Seuss Hoos, a unique playhouse with a variety of built-in games and play activities. The Seuss Hoos, available this fall, is manufactured by Turco.

From the first, Geisel, whose 35 books have been read by more than 50 million avid fans, has taken an active role in the association. He has made frequent trips from his La Jolla, Calif., home to the toy firm's headquarters facility. And, just as frequently, its executives have taken the two-hour drive to discuss with Geisel the smile on a character's face, the sound of his voice or the color of his hat.

"It is important to both the toy company and me," says the affable storyteller, "that all of these new games, dolls and toys be faithful to the original characters in my books."

According to Elliot Handler, Mattel's chairman of the board, "For many years, all of us have been enchanted with the whimsy and charm of the Dr. Seuss stories. It is a great challenge to translate the works of a man from one medium — books — to another — toys, dolls and games. It is a challenge which we have enjoyed meeting."

Handler added that his firm plans to produce a continuing line of Seuss products, including games and pre-school educational toys.

MUSICAL BINGO IS FUN

Educational Game Challenges Family

Have you ever bought a family game for the holidays — and then been bored stiff playing it yourself? Families enjoy the holidays, but find it hard to decide on an activity which will please and involve children and adults as well as family guests. There's a new kind of game that will get Junior away from the TV, Grandmother from her needlepoint and Dad from his reading to enjoy a family evening of fun.

It's called Connquiz, and it's both a game and an entertaining way to learn the sounds of musical instruments and music forms. The game is played much like bingo, using as clues musical sounds on the record rather than numbers. Connquiz consists of 40 different game cards, the record, markers, and the game leader's set of clue sheets. The colorful game cards have the letters MUSIC across the top, heading five vertical rows of squares. Each square contains a drawing of an instrument and its name, or an illustration of a music form such as rock and roll, cha cha, the waltz, a march or opera. Each clue is identified to make the game easy to play. For example, the announcer on the record will say, "Under M, an instrument," and the players may hear a tuba, tenor sax, or violin. If it is a music form, this will be announced and they may hear excerpts from a rumba, square dance, or ballet.

Each player listens to the clue, and if the answer appears on his card, he covers the appropriate square with a Connquiz marker. The first player who successfully covers a line of five squares vertically, horizontally, or diagonally, calls "Connquiz." He then reads off the squares he has covered while the game leader checks the clue sheet. If he has identified all the instruments correctly, he wins.

ments which sound very much alike, such as the trumpet and cornet, never appear in the same column on the game cards. You'll be surprised at how many instruments you can recognize — and just how the different instruments do sound when you really listen. Parents will be delighted at the number of sounds they and their children will learn, and at their increased appreciation of music.

Dishonest Solicitors Steal From Charity

Each year Americans give more than ten billion dollars to charity, but, tragically, about one hundred million dollars, or one per cent, is siphoned off by dishonest fund raising efforts.

Many large cities attempt to prevent this problem by requiring solicitors to register with a special agency such as the city's Department of Social Service. It is wise to:

permit cards, for even if the charity is well-known and legitimate, the solicitor may not be. If you have doubts about the legitimacy of a charity fund raising drive, check with the approved agency in your town.

Never be embarrassed to tell a solicitor that you will mail your contribution to the charity's office. If it is legitimate, the solicitor will give you the address, and probably a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Innocent Toys Can Be Dangerous If Abused

A knife is a wonderful instrument, a jump rope provides a pleasant pastime; but both can be dangerous if their use is abused.

The rewards, as well as the dangers, of these two objects are readily apparent, but there are many useful products and pleasant playthings on the market today with hidden dangers.

It is these pitfalls that Congress, acknowledging an increased interest on the part of consumers, has set out to eliminate through legislation.

Industries, however, to which "consumerism" is not a new word, have long been interested in safety. Whether it's the tire industry or the toy industry, reputable companies are aware that safety is synonymous with durability, that durability is synonymous with quality and that quality is a key to whether a product will continue to be acceptable by the consumer in an ever-changing marketplace.

Fisher-Price Toys, Inc., world's largest producer of preschool toys in East Aurora, N.Y., for example, has been concerned with safety — child safety — since the company was formed in 1930.

Not only is every toy designed for safety, each is built with the safest materials. All are examined for sharpness, every exposed surface is tested for toxicity, flammability and durability and hidden parts are checked with the idea that they conceivably may be exposed.

Wheels and other parts, if easily gripped, must withstand 45 pounds of pull without breaking. Pull toys with movable parts must undergo 12 miles of motion on a simulator as well as a drop from 2 1/2 feet, comparable to a child's throwing the plaything from a table.

Once these toys are judged ready for the consumer, they are packaged, jogged to simulate 1,000 miles of travel to the retailer, and then tested again.

"We can't entirely remove the danger from children during their most vulnerable age, but as an industry, we must provide the safest toy we can, within the limits of normal use," said Henry H. Coords, Fisher-Price President.

"The consumer has the right to safe merchandise, particularly from hidden hazards such as those covered in the recent toy safety act," added Mr. Hicks, who is treasurer of the Executive Committee for the Development of a Safety Standard for Infants and Pre-School Children. Mr. Hicks, like other members of the ad hoc group representing U.S. toy manufacturers, is working with the American Standards Association on the development of safety standards even though toys produced in America today are safer over-all than they have ever been.

The company does label each toy with an age group for which it is recommended and offers these guidelines for purchases:

—Look for sharp, unprotected edges on metal and plastic toys; on wooden toys, check for sharp corners, cracked wood parts and loose fasteners.

—Check mechanical toys for "pinch points" that could severely hurt a child.

Here's A Parent-Pleaser That Teens Will Love Too

Everyone knows that on the night before Christmas the house is supposed to be so quiet that not even a mouse should be stirring.

But, Clement Clarke Moore's popular poem doesn't say a thing about the night after. This post-yuletide's evenings are re-likely to be filled with the wail of blue soul and the beat of hip rock since stereo equipment and records top teen lists of preferred gifts.

Blaring music all through the house, however, isn't nearly as pleasing to parents as to their offspring. The parent who wants to solve the noise pollution problem before it starts will include a record cabinet under the tree with the turntable and albums. With all this equipment the listener can enjoy sound sessions in the privacy of his own room.

The cabinet should be large enough for a stereo unit and a supply of records but small enough to fit comfortably into a teen's bedroom. Kemp Furniture Industries new record cabinet meets both prerequisites.

It features two shelves, both proportioned for storing stereo equipment. There also are three vertical slots for stashing albums.

Tailored to teen tastes, the cabinet is compact and contemporary. It measures 26 inches long and 16 inches deep, totaling a lean appetite for two-and-one-half square feet of floor space. And, straight-line styling and a selection of bold colors — Pompeian red, midnight blue, empire black, engraved Bombay pecan and rugged oak grain — match it to modern moods.

There's one other important item about the cabinet: its price tag of approximately $52.00 takes the bite off the budget during the annual Christmas crunch.

Eyes Work Overtime During Yule Holiday

Rest your eyes frequently. Because you use your eyes every moment you're awake, they deserve a little rest now and then. When doing close work over a long period of time, rest them by glancing into the distance for a moment at least once every half hour.

The busy whirl of holiday activities and tasks makes big demands in eyesight. Your eyes are working overtime as you:

- address greeting cards
- shop for gifts
- clean and decorate the house
- prepare for special parties, dinners, entertainment, etc.

Increased tempo of activities plus long hours puts added strain on the eyes. This can cause tension and headaches, produce unwanted fatigue, nerves.

Here are a few suggestions to help you avoid these dampers on holiday fun:

- Have proper lighting for the job at hand. When addressing cards, sit near a window, with daylight coming over your left shoulder. At night, you need at least the amount of light projected by a 100-watt bulb 15 inches above your work. Supplement with overall background lighting — avoid confined patches of glaring light.
- Proper posture is important: when you sit erect, work will be the right distance from your eyes — usually 14 to 18 inches. Bending over or slumping puts the work too close, punishing your eyes.
- A room lit only by a Christmas tree is beautiful — but hard on the eyes. Turn on the lights when you're working.
- Stop for periodic rest breaks. Lift your eyes and focus on distant objects for a few seconds — close and open the eyes a few times — it's relaxing.

e. A short change of scene also helps. Have a cup of coffee or a cool drink.

f. Many homes in the winter become overheated, producing drowsiness. When you feel sluggish, let a little fresh air into the room.

g. Use of eye drops from a handy plastic squeeze bottle will soothe and relieve eye fatigue caused by extended periods of concentration on close work.

h. By proper planning, you can minimize eye strain — one of the main sources of holiday season fatigue.

Plan For A Slimmer Yule

All of this takes time, it's true but there are ways to find extra hours here and there. You'll be spending fewer hours in department stores with the other millions of shoppers, for one thing, if you're at home making your own presents.

Plan to spend fewer hours in the kitchen, too. Don't think you need to stop to cook lunch every day, either. 'Tis the season to substitute a nutritious time-saver such as a Minute Meal of Slender diet food from Carnation. You can stir up this protein-packed powder with 6 oz. of non-fat milk in just a minute to make a delicious, satisfying liquid lunch. Just 164 calories this way — or 225 calories if you opt for the pull-top can already mixed.

Pour contents into a crystal goblet, and while you stick to your knitting, you'll also be giving yourself a nifty Christmas present: a slim silhouette to celebrate the brand New Year! And to help with the Christmas festivities, try a Vanilla Champagne Fizz — refreshing, stimulating, and slimming — mix Slender Vanilla with 6 oz. of non-fat milk, as usual — then add 3 oz. of champagne and whiz in the blender — a mere 239 calories.
