

State Vets' Land Program Due To Take On New Life

By The Associated Press

The date of Dec. 7 left a bad taste in the mouths of veterans—since 1941. But it may turn out to be a good day after all.

For this Dec. 7—Monday—is the day on which bids will be opened in the General Land Office in Austin on $25 million in bonds which, if they are sold, will pump new life into the currently ailing Veterans Land Program.

And if this all comes about, as Commissioner Jerry Sadler has observed: "This will be a fine Christmas present for Texas veterans and for incoming Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, who takes over on Jan. 1."

The bonds involved have been approved by voters but because of the failure of a constitutional amendment to win approval in 1969 they could not be sold.

The Texas Constitution limits the rate of interest which can be paid on Texas bonds to 4½ per cent. The amendment would have permitted the legislature to raise that rate, but the voters turned it down.

Chances for the sale of at least some of the bonds improved with the announcement by the Federal Reserve System of its second reduction of the prime interest rate in a month. This represented a reversal of the policy which in effect killed the Veterans Land program with its increases in that interest rate in 1969.

The program began shortly after World War II and in the intervening years nearly 40,000 Texas veterans have purchased more than three million acres of Texas real estate through its facilities.

Early this year it died so far as new loans are concerned. The money simply ran out and the board ceased to accept applications until the money market changed so as to permit sale of additional bonds to fund the program.

Now, with the prime interest rate decreasing to the point where tax-free bonds may become attractive to investment capital, Sadler and the board at an emergency meeting on the day before Thanksgiving decided to offer another $25 million of them for sale. If bids of interest at 4½ per cent or less are received, the program will be back in business.

Here is a brief history of how its obituary came to be written earlier this year:

The Federal Reserve System in June, 1969, announced the third increase in recent months in the prime interest rate. The last one boosted the rate to 8½ per cent. When the rate was at 6 or 6½ per cent, returns which investors in conventional loans could earn were just about in line with what a purchaser of 4 to 4½ per cent bonds could earn. This came about because earnings on government bonds, which yield a lower rate of interest than other types of investments, are tax-free.

However, when the prime rate jumped to 8½ per cent, the spread widened to the point where capital invested in conventional loans could earn more money, even after taxes, than tax-free bonds would return at 4½ per cent or less.

The program began 20 years ago when bonds were authorized and were sold at about 2½ per cent interest. Changing conditions in the money market since have caused bids to rise somewhat over the intervening two decades as succeeding bond issues were approved and sold. The last bonds sold from the current issue went for slightly less than the constitutional 4½ per cent limit.

The program's bonds enjoy the highest possible credit rating—AAA. Several things are responsible for this situation, including the fact that collateral behind them is about the best available: Texas real estate. Also, good management practices under Sadler's administration have enabled the program to show a small profit, part of which has been plowed back into the program as reserves. These factors have made the bonds so attractive to investors that the resulting low rate at which the bonds have sold enables the veteran to buy land on a 40-year payout at rates which put land ownership within the reach of nearly every former service-

New Book Presented Today On Martin County's History

STANTON (SC) — Martin County's most pretentious history has its official launching from 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. today with a reception honoring authors of the new book.

The affair will be held in the auditorium of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, and the spotlight will be on Mrs. Pat Wilkinson Hull, who conceived the idea for the book and did much of the research and interviewing, and Mrs. Fay Eidson Smithson, who did much of the writing and editing of the manuscripts.

Sponsoring the reception will be the Martin County Historical Survey Committee.

"Martin County — The First Thirty Years" is published by Pioneer Book Publishers of Hereford. Illustrations are by

Martin Posse Elects Officers

STANTON (SC) — The Martin County Sheriff's Posse elected officers for 1971. They are Lloyd Henson, president; Claude Treadway, vice-president; Ohmer Kelly, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Lloyd Henson, reporter. On the board of directors are Dan Saunders, Gene Graham, and Palmer Evans. Posse Sweetheart is Teresa Treadway. Plans were made for a big covered dish Christmas party Tuesday, Dec. 8, at the Cap Rock Electric auditorium. Time will be 7:00 p.m. The Posse is a riding club for the whole family, and new members are constantly added thus anyone desiring to join should contact Dan Saunders.

Dr. Grollman To Speak At VA

Dr. Arthur Grollman, well-known lecturer and member of the faculty of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School, will be at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday as physician in residence.

All physicians in the community and surrounding areas are invited to attend the lectures which Dr. Grollman will present daily in the second floor training room of the VA Hospital. Lectures will be from 11 a.m. until noon each day, and from 3 to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

Subjects for Dr. Grollman's lectures include: "Drugs of Abuse" and "Shock: Pathogenesis and Treatment" on Tuesday; "Newer Antibiotics" and "Hypertension, Arteriosclerosis and Cholesterol" on Wednesday; and "Cardiac Arrhythmias: Mechanisms and Management" on Thursday.

THE WEEK

new blood, it also represents seasoned civic service.

Our city has the honor this week of having a representative in the National Rodeo finals. She is Terry Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lewis, and Terry stands fourth in final standings of the Girls Barrel Racing Association.

There is still time to get a ticket for the Tuesday "Good Group Breakfast" arranged by the Chamber of Commerce to salute those in public service. Too many feel what when they have given a person a vote for office, they have discharged their civic duty. How about giving them a word of encouragement and appreciation for faithful service?

We've had a touch of summer during the past week, with temperatures crawling into the high 70's. Except for the high humidity in the mornings, along with ground fog, the situation has been ideal for the cotton harvest — which, incidentally, is heading into the home stretch.

Webb AFB crews performed a good turn which easily may have prevented a disaster. When W. A. Greer, Grandview, piloting four passengers, radioed that his craft had landing gear trouble, Webb not only granted permission to land but foamed a runway. The plane sat down safely with minor damage.

The downtown district received a boost last week with formal opening of the Good Housekeeping shop, which relocated in the 200 block of Main, making a major addition to the area.

Signs of Christmas are everywhere, and you are urged to get into the spirit of the season by entering the home decorations contest at the Chamber of Commerce. There are block prizes, too. Can any area match Cecilia and Bucknell?

Big Spring had a distinguished visitor last week when former President Lyndon B. Johnson flew here to attend the funeral of J. B. Pickle, former mayor. They had been friends a long time, and while President Mr. Johnson had him as his guest at the White House.

This afternoon, six young men from Troop 16, led by Bill Mims, scoutmaster, will receive their Eagle badges at Elbow. Rarely, if ever, has one Troop simultaneously had so many boys attain to Scouting's highest honor. The boys are Bob Highley, Tony Thixton, Wesley Thixton, Gage Mims, Joe Alexander, Dennis Day and Asa Von Reefsneider.

Today also seems to be Golden Wedding anniversary

Harley Brooks of Iraan. First part of the book is devoted to the first three decades after the county (named for Wiley Martin, early-day Texas patriot) was settled by German Catholic immigrants from Kansas. The second part has a listing of the various pioneer families. The entire volume is interlarded with priceless photographs which tell as much as words about the costumes and customs, the modes of earning a living, the social events and architecture of the frontier days.

To Adam Konz goes credit for the settlement of Stanton, although it originally was the Grelton section station on the Texas & Pacific railway. Konz had been fascinated by promotional material by railroad land agents and eventually persuaded four Carmelite monks from Scipio, Kans., to settle in the virgin territory in 1881. They set up tents Aug. 15, 1881, near where the county courthouse now is located. Here the first Catholic mass between Fort Worth and El Paso was held in one of the tents. Convinced that this was not the end of the world, families followed in 1882.

That same year the monks established a school, but when it floundered after the 1884 drought, nuns converted it into a convent in 1894 and operated it successfully for nearly half a century. The remnant of this adobe structure is part of a house in Stanton.

The name of the town became Marienfeld — "Mary's Field" because of the lush pasture and vast spreads of buttercups. The 1886 drought drove many families to Big Spring where they could find work, but soon conditions improved and wheat grown in Martin County won a gold medal at the world's fair. Stanton became a thriving town.

The chronicle of Mrs. Smithson and Mrs. Hull is an unusual one, touching many facets of community life in the realist days. One of its most valuable contributions is in first-person accounts, and in the listing (often with pictures) of the pioneer family groups.

Slight Drop In Cotton Receipts Noted

ABILENE — B. B. Manly Jr. of the USDA Cotton Classing Office reported a slight drop in sample receipts this week, but the 43,000 samples represented a larger volume than the 16,000 classed during the same period last season.

The season total now stands at 243,000 as compared to 110,000 at this time last year, a rough indicator of the earliness of the crop.

Samples classed were 20 per cent white, 77 per cent light spotted, and 3 per cent spotted. Predominant grades were 32 (57 per cent) and 42 (19 per cent). Predominant staple lengths were 30 (62 per cent) and 29 (13 per cent).

Micronaire readings showed 83 per cent in the premium range, and Pressley readings showed 79 per cent reading 80,000 pounds per square inch or better.

Average gross prices reported by the Consumer and Marketing Service, Abilene, for some predominant qualities are 3,229 bringing 18.95 cents; 3,230 bringing 19.55 cents; 4,229 bringing 18.45 cents; and 4,230 bringing 19 cents.

Bystander Dies, Police Jail Six

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas police held six persons today and are seeking a seventh in the slaying of Frank Miller, 53.

Miller, who was a bystander, was fatally wounded when four men held up a grocery store in Dallas Thursday.

Martin County Leads Basin In Drilling Activity

Martin County again led the Permian Basin in active drilling this week, with 28 rotary rigs on location according to the weekly count made by Reed Drilling Tools.

The year-end flurry of drilling activity is reflected in the 218 rigs counted in the entire basin, which is the largest number since Dec. 19, 1969, when 223 units were on location in the two-state area of West Texas and Southeastern New Mexico.

In Martin County the rig count increased by three from the 25 counted last week, and Scurry also showed an increase from two to three. Dawson and Sterling Counties had one rotary each, no change from last week. In Howard County the active rig count dropped from five to four, and in Borden the weekly count dropped from three to one.

Overall, the Basin showed an increase of six units over the week, with two traditionally active counties among those registering gains. Lea County, N.M., had 24 rigs making hole at the end of the week, an increase of five, and Pecos had 25, an increase of one.

Starr Co. Vote Fraud Trial Set Monday

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Six Starr County officials and 16 other residents go on trial in federal court here Monday on charges of conspiring to "dilute" the vote in the May 2 primary election. Estimates of the length of the trial range from two to six weeks with a battery of government lawyers expected to call numerous witnesses from the border county. The defendants were indicted last summer at the end of one of the most extensive investigations ever launched into an election in South Texas. The investigation was headed up by U.S. Atty. Anthony J. P. Farris of Houston who was aided by assistants from Houston, Brownsville and Laredo. One of the top defendants is Starr County Sheriff Rene Solis, long considered to be the top political "Jefe" chief in the predominantly Mexican-American county. Solis, a medical doctor, is accused of falsifying absentee ballots by certifying that voters were too ill to vote in person. Solis, the other five county officials and the 16 residents, including many commissioned notary publics, are accused of allowing 224 persons to vote in an illegal manner. County officials also named in the indictments are County Commissioner Amando Pena, Constable Reynaldo Alvarez, Chief Deputy Sheriff Raul Pena, County Clerk Jose S. Hinojosa, and Assistant County Auditor Heriberto Barrera. Pena also was indicted on two counts alleging obstruction of justice in connection with the vote fraud investigation. He is to be tried on those charges at a later date. The defendants are represented by a team of lawyers headed by state Sen. Jim Bats of Edinburg. U.S. Dist. Judge Reynaldo Garza is to hear the case. The investigation was launched after Starr County recorded an absentee vote of 1,203 ballots out of a total vote of 6,168 in the primary election. Of that total, 454 claimed physical illness and most of their certificates were signed by the sheriff. At one point in the investigation the government chartered a bus to bring about 50 elderly persons to testify before the federal grand jury at Brownsville. Some of the witnesses were blind and others had to be helped in and out of the grand jury room. Those who came down by bus were paid their witness fees in cash because some apparently feared retaliation in some manner and did not want to cash government checks issued for their fees in Starr County. Although the Starr County 22 go on trial here Monday, the investigation apparently is not complete. Farris has impounded the ballots from the general election in Starr County. A spokesman for the U.S. Attorney's office at Brownsville said more evidence will be presented to another grand jury meeting at the same time the trial is being held. Other government lawyers who took part in the investigation headed by Farris were Jack Shephard of Houston, Raul Gonzalez of Brownsville, Dewey Meadows of Houston and Tony Aguilar of Laredo.

PETITION RESULTS ON AGENDA

Garbage Collection Up For Discussion

The city commission will face another lengthy agenda at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Again up for consideration are ordinances relating to the proposed containerized refuse collection system. One is to allow the city to issue five-year time warrants to pay the $49,112.50 cost of the 325 Pak-Mor containers, also providing for retirement of the bonds out of the general fund.

Issuing of time warrants will be affected by the results of verification of the names on a petition asking that the bond idea be put to a vote. If there are enough petition signatures the commission can either call a bond election or call off plans for containerized garbage pickup.

Related to the garbage issue is an ordinance increasing residential garbage collection service charges by 25 cents a month and increasing commercial charges by $2 to $5 a month.

An increase in the water reconnection charge from $1 to $3 was suggested in this year's budget sessions after commissioners were told that three service calls are made in each case of water bill delinquency, and $1 no longer covers the cost. An ordinance increasing the reconnection fee to $3 will be considered.

The commission is expected to act on a list of proposals from the Chamber of Commerce concerning interim arrangements for running and maintaining the Cosden Country Club while waiting for the results on a professional study of the potential use of the club.

The Chamber has offered to do the work of booking events into the club and handling planning and catering duties if the city will insure, maintain, and protect the building until permanent plans are worked out.

Trustees of the First Church of God, 2009 Main, are asking the commission to approve off-street parking on property directly across the street from the west side of the church.

Two requests to be considered ask for authorization to sell beer for on-premises consumption, one requested by Mrs. Jean Burleson who plans to take over the Red Rose Lounge and rename it Jeannie's Tavern, and one requested by Dalla A. Compton who plans to begin operating the Pastime Lounge.

Nixon Hits At Oil Industry In An Anti-Inflation Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is applying an economic nutcracker to the oil industry in an effort to crush what it deems inflationary price increases. An official of the oil regulating Texas Railroad Commission quickly predicted the squeeze play would not work. But whether or not it works, oilmen and oil-producing states can hardly be pleased to see the federal government picking up tools that can serve to manipulate the nation's oil production and pricing. The Nixon nutcracker was unwrapped Friday night in a major economic policy speech before the National Association of Manufacturers in New York. One of its arms is a presidential order permitting oil importers, currently unable to tap their usual sources in the Middle East, to use now idle import quotas for Canadian oil, some 50 or 60 cents a barrel cheaper than the Texas and Louisiana product. The other arm is an order to the Interior Department to start regulating oil production from its federal leased lands in the Gulf of Mexico independently from the Texas and Louisiana production restraints, thus, presumably, increasing domestic production. By increasing domestic supply while undercutting the domestic price with cheaper Canadian crude, the administration hopes to drive back a price increase of 25 cents a barrel recently adopted by U. S. producers. At the same time, it hopes to divert additional Gulf Coast petroleum to the oil-starved East Coast and erase shortages caused by problems in the Middle East. Observers said the moves probably will have little effect on Venezuela, the major exporter of oil to the United States, or on production or imports on the West Coast. Imports from Venezuela to the East Coast and from Canada to the West Coast are already as high as tanker and pipeline capacity can handle. And California, the major West Coast producing state, has no production limits to be disturbed by a federal no-limits policy.

Wants Pork Prices Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for the American National Cattlemen's Association says he does not think beef producers will object to the Agriculture Department's asking retail stores to push more pork by cutting prices. C. W. McMillan, executive vice president of ANCA, said he thinks such a move would be beneficial to the meat industry in general and thus help cattle and poultry producers as well as hog raisers. "We'd like to see the department push beef a little bit, too," McMillan told a reporter Friday. "But anything done to cut down the pork supply is going to help the cattleman." Don Paarberg, director of economics for USDA, criticized retail food companies Wednesday for not passing along to consumers the market price cuts suffered by hog producers this year.

Yost Due To Step Down As Delegate To United Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Charles W. Yost is quitting as the chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations after this session of the General Assembly, according to a high-ranking source in the delegation. His resignation has been expected since word leaked out three weeks ago that he was being replaced. The session ends Dec. 15, and Yost will make his announcement shortly thereafter, the source said. Newspapers in Washington, Boston and New York reported last month that President Nixon planned to replace Yost with Daniel P. Moynihan, a White House adviser, and that Moynihan had accepted the appointment. The White House never confirmed the move, but Moynihan wrote a letter to the President saying he was returning to Harvard University, from which he had gone on a leave of absence for his White House job. "I shall continue to be at your service" Moynihan wrote to Nixon, but he added "for anything that you might want that I might be able to provide," his original commitment to the president was for two years. Both Yost and Moynihan took their government posts in January, 1968. The reports that Yost was being replaced came as a surprise to the 63-year-old career diplomat, who served as No. 2 man in the U.S. Mission to the United Nations under Ambassadors Arthur J. Goldberg and Adlai E. Stevenson. Moynihan reportedly turned down the appointment because Yost wasn't informed before the change was published. "It seemed to me that somebody had to make amends and that it had to be me," Moynihan was quoted as telling the Washington Star. Yost's impending retirement was reported Friday night after Nixon declined an invitation to a party in the Ambassador's apartment in the Waldorf Towers. The president was in New York to speak to the National Association of Manufacturers in the Waldorf ballroom.

Plan Won't Work Texas Man Asserts

AUSTIN (AP) — Railroad Commissioner James Langdon says President Nixon's plan to lower gasoline prices by boosting oil production on federal offshore leases won't work. And he wondered out loud Friday whether the move was "Strictly for propaganda purposes." Nixon announced he has ordered the Interior Department to take over regulation of oil output on federal offshore leases. The Railroad Commission currently regulates production on those leases in the Gulf of Mexico off the Texas coast. The President also said companies importing Canadian oil will be permitted to use their overseas allocation to buy more crude from Canada. Federal regulation of the offshore leases "means that more oil will be produced on those lands, while maintaining strict environmental standards," the President said. Nixon earlier had indicated he was miffed at a 25 cents per barrel boost in crude oil prices, which pushed up retail gasoline prices a penny a gallon in Texas. "This is a very ill-advised move on the part of the President. I don't know what motivates this, unless it is strictly for propaganda purposes," said Langdon, an elected Democratic official. "I don't think it will have any influence on the price, period," he said. The three-member railroad commission sets output limits on oil wells in Texas each month, including those on federal offshore leases. Langdon said he doubted the President's move would have much immediate effect on Texas "because there is not a great deal of production" from the federal leases off the Texas coast. The wells located on such leases, he added, are "at or very near their capacity to produce." The December statewide oil production allowable is 83 percent of potential. Setting up Interior Department regulation of the offshore wells will "cost the federal government literally millions of dollars," Langdon asserted. If they are willing to abandon conservation principles to meet a short-term need that has not been demonstrated, it could do irreparable damage to offshore oil properties and damage the good relations that have existed between the state conservation and regulator agencies and the Department of the Interior," he said. Langdon said the Railroad Commission has always set production allowables "in accordance with good conservation practices" and had "never concerned itself with the price of crude." He also said he was "very much concerned" that federal regulators maintain Texas' record of having had no major oil spills.

UT Enrollment Plan Approved

AUSTIN (AP) — A plan to select at random entering University of Texas at Austin students who were not ranked high in their school graduating classes was adopted Friday by UT regents. The plan is designed to control enrollment, which some said could shoot up from its current 40,000 to 80,000 by 1980. The plan sets a loose quota of 5,500 new freshmen for the fall 1971 semester and also a limit of 1,300 freshman or sophomore transfer students. High school graduates in the top 10 percent of their class are guaranteed admission, as are those in the next 15 percent if they score high enough on entrance exams and those who win competitive scholarships. The 5,500 figure cannot be considered an absolute quota because, for one thing, the university has a special provisional admissions program for students who do not meet university requirements. They are allowed a chance to make good in the summer with hopes of being admitted in the regular semester. It has been estimated that up to 4,020 freshmen students may be from the top 25 percent of their high school classes, restricting greatly the number of others admitted.

oil will be permitted to use their overseas allocation to buy more crude from Canada. Federal regulation of the offshore leases "means that more oil will be produced on those lands, while maintaining strict environmental standards," the President said. Nixon earlier had indicated he was miffed at a 25 cents per barrel boost in crude oil prices, which pushed up retail gasoline prices a penny a gallon in Texas. "This is a very ill-advised move on the part of the President. I don't know what motivates this, unless it is strictly for propaganda purposes," said Langdon, an elected Democratic official. "I don't think it will have any influence on the price, period," he said. The three-member railroad commission sets output limits on oil wells in Texas each month, including those on federal offshore leases. Langdon said he doubted the President's move would have much immediate effect on Texas "because there is not a great deal of production" from the federal leases off the Texas coast. The wells located on such leases, he added, are "at or very near their capacity to produce." The December statewide oil production allowable is 83 percent of potential. Setting up Interior Department regulation of the offshore wells will "cost the federal government literally millions of dollars," Langdon asserted. If they are willing to abandon conservation principles to meet a short-term need that has not been demonstrated, it could do irreparable damage to offshore oil properties and damage the good relations that have existed between the state conservation and regulator agencies and the Department of the Interior," he said. Langdon said the Railroad Commission has always set production allowables "in accordance with good conservation practices" and had "never concerned itself with the price of crude." He also said he was "very much concerned" that federal regulators maintain Texas' record of having had no major oil spills.

Marijuana Law Changes Put In New Penal Code

AUSTIN (AP) — Possession of marijuana would still be a felony under a proposed new Texas Penal Code, but if the defendant could show it was for his own personal use, the penalty would be reduced to a misdemeanor.

University of Texas law Prof. Michael P. Rosenthal outlined the code's drug provisions Friday at the 7th annual Texas Criminal Law and Procedure Institute.

The maximum penalty for first offense marijuana possession would be six years; for second offense, 12 years.

However, after conviction and before sentencing, if the defendant can affirmatively show by a preponderance of the evidence that the marijuana was for his own use, the judge would reduce the penalty to a misdemeanor and assess a maximum of 90 days for first offense and a maximum of one year for second offense.

Drugs would have different classifications in some cases under the proposed code. Heroin, morphine, and other "hard" drugs would be called dangerous drugs. Marijuana and some mild narcotics and opiates would be called abuseable drugs.

Selling dangerous drugs, first offense, would be punishable by a maximum sentence of 12 years, which is higher than the present maximum for some drugs listed in that category, such as amphetamines 10 years, lower than the maximum for others, such as heroin (life).

These punishments would be mitigated where the drug was given rather than sold, except where the gift is to a minor or is made for the purpose of enticement for later sale.

A San Angelo attorney told the institute that the proposed code would scrap the 1843 right

Child In School Learning About 20 Pct. Of Time

Local Garage Sale Benefits Mission

A garage sale, with proceeds going to the Faith Mission in Del Rio, is being held every Saturday until Christmas at 1909 Gregg, according to Sig Rogers.

Rogers, a Big Spring resident who has been working for several years with the mission, said the sale needs items as well as buyers.

The Faith Mission serves the Mexican families living along the Texas border. "We would like to make sure each child gets an article of clothing, some fruit and candy, and a toy for Christmas," Rogers said. "Some of these people have never celebrated Christmas."

Pilots' Refresher Course Set At Webb This Week

A general aviation refresher seminar for all pilots will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Webb AFB.

The program, sponsored by the Webb Aero Club, will cover safety aspects of flying and the flight environment, according to Otis W. Smith, accident prevention specialist of the Federal Aviation Administration office, Lubbock, who is coordinating the seminar.

Personnel assisting include Phillip R. Cramer, chief, Lubbock general aviation district office; Bill Sullins, accident prevention specialist of the FAA office in El Paso; Cecil F. Lakey, chief, flight service station, Midland, and Jack Odle, chief, airport traffic control tower, Midland.

Designed to give local pilots the latest information on the safe operation of aircraft, the seminar topics will include: a discussion of Air Traffic Control Towers and their services, visual diffusions, curing landing and vertigo, discussion of flight service stations and their services, inflight visibility and VFR pilot, pre-flight, directional control, maintenance and a formal question and answer session on the final day of the seminar.

The seminar will also provide the opportunity for some participants to receive a courtesy flight. A designated flight instructor or an FAA flight inspector will ride with the pilot to counsel him on ways to improve his flying.

There will be no charge for the seminar. Pilots and other persons interested in learning more about this program should contact Gary Whittle, Webb Aero Club (phone 283-1344), or Otis W. Smith, Lubbock (phone 806-762-0335).

Cosden Club Dissolution Is Proposed

Proposal for the dissolution of the Cosden Country Club and the distribution of its assets will come before a special meeting of club members called for December 18.

This is a step in connection with the eventual transfer of the club properties to the Dora Roberts Foundation, which in turn has agreed to donate the facilities to the City of Big Spring for use as a convention and civic center.

Actual transfer of property will be effected by the First National Bank in Dallas, trustee of the Cosden Petroleum Corporation Pension Trust and owner of the club premises, and the Fort Worth National Bank as trustee for the Dora Roberts Foundation Trust.

The Cosden Club is to cease business as of 1 a.m. Jan. 1, 1971, and its assets conveyed to the trustee.

Meanwhile the Chamber of Commerce and the City of Big Spring have been in consultation on plans for operation of the facility when the city acquires title. The Chamber is to finance the services of a planning consultant to make recommendations, and a local C-C committee will be working with this consultant as to community needs and future outlook.

It has been proposed that the Chamber temporarily handle booking requests, establish fees for the building's use, and arrange for catering service when such is needed. It is proposed that the city arrange for insurance, guardianship of the property and custodial care. Details are due to be worked out soon.

Area Ministers Complete Course At State Hospital

Five area ministers have recently completed a course in Clinical Pastoral Education taught by Chaplain Lee Butler of the Big Spring State Hospital. The pastors are the Revs. Jim Pingleton, Monahans First Christian Church; Pat Bullock, Big Spring Crestview Baptist Church; Charles Corley, Big Spring Phillips Memorial Baptist Church; Tom Huser, Sweetwater First Presbyterian; and Frank Hodnett, Westbrook First Baptist.

The course is a training program to aid pastors in dealing with emotionally disturbed people. Butler said the course is taught one day per week for six weeks by Butler, however, other staff members of the hospital participate.

Butler said the course is taught throughout the United States and overseas, and the teacher must be a nationally-certified hospital chaplain as well as a mental health chaplain.

Chamber To Honor Elected Officials

The Chamber of Commerce "Good Group Breakfast" planned for Tuesday morning to honor the elected officials serving the people of Howard County looks to be a success, judging from the large percentage of acceptances from the state, district, county, school board, and city officials invited to attend.

John Ben Shepperd, former attorney general of Texas, will provide the keynote address, as State Representative-elect Dee Jon Davis handles the emcee chores. James McGrew, executive vice president of the Texas Research League will be on hand to discuss the upcoming TRI study in Howard County of the delivery system that gets county and city governmental services to the citizen.

State Senator David Ratliff is expected to make a brief appearance on the program, which will itself be brief, lasting from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. Breakfast will be served in the Settles Hotel ballroom beginning at 7 a.m.

Ticket sales for the event had totalled 62 Friday afternoon, with another 60 expected to be sold Monday morning. Chamber of Commerce manager Tom Eastland said early registrations indicate that the men may not know that their wives are also invited. Tickets are $2.50 apiece, and may be reserved by calling the Chamber office, 263-7641.

County Commissioners Facing Brief Agenda

Except for the two action items of the agenda concerning December paychecks and the approval of one of two bids for an accounting machine for the district clerk's office, County Commissioners will spend most of their time listening to others Monday who have asked to come before the court.

Bids on the cost of the machine have been received from National Cash Register Company and the Burroughs Corp. Commissioners tabled any action last Monday until Mrs. Virginia Black, county auditor; M. Fern Cox, district clerk; and Bill Crooker, county commissioner, could study the two offers more closely. NCR bid $4,843 and the Burroughs Corp. bid $4,758.01.

County dads will decide when the checks for county employees will be distributed. The holiday season interferes with the normal issue dates.

G. G. Morehead and representatives from the Kiwanis Club have asked to address the court at 10 a.m. Monday. It is believed that the discussion will be in connection with the use of the old Airport Fire Station by the Kiwanians.

Miller Nichols has asked to speak to the court regarding an injury he allegedly received when he fell on the courthouse grounds.

Commissioners are also slated to discuss the problems concerning the purchase of right-of-way from residents along the widening project of the Andrews Highway.

The routine approval of county bills is also on the agenda for the county dads.

Guilty Plea

Purvis Williams, 29, 707 Cherry, pleaded guilty in 118th District Court Friday to a charge of burglary. District Judge R. W. Caton gave Williams three-years probation prison term. Williams had been arrested earlier and confined to county jail for failure to appear for docket call on the burglary charge.

CRMWD Deliveries Fall Below Last Year

For the first time this year, November deliveries fell below those of the same month a year ago, according to the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

The cut-off for several oil companies and reduced deliveries to others accounted for this sharp shift. The 171,176,419 gallons going to this source was 60 per cent below last year, and what is more significant, 70 per cent of the oil company deliveries was in non-potable water. For instance, all of SACROCs water was from brine wells which the district put on production during the month. All oil companies were cut off from Lake Thomas supplies as of Nov. 1.

The cities took 643,848,000 gallons in November, an increase of 50.09 per cent, and much of this was due to deliveries made to Midland, which was not a customer a year ago. Odessa took 246,460,000 gallons, up 11.14 per cent; Big Spring 164,695,000 up 3.73; Snyder 51,695,000, up 11.18; Stanton 1,570,000, off 372. Midland drew 180,028,000 gallons. This made 10,258,596,000 for the year, up 39.05.

During the first 11 months of the year, oil company deliveries were 3,703,066,041 gallons, down 16.79 per cent.

For all purposes, deliveries through November stood at 13,961,622,041 gallons, up 18.04 per cent.

Intech Aims At Specialty Products

International Technovation, Inc. — also known as "Intech" — was organized in April, 1970, by LTV Aerospace Corporation to specialize as designers, owners and operators of process plants within the world-wide oil and chemical industries.

The company, first organized as an LTV Aerospace division and restructured in July, 1970, as a subsidiary, is headquartered in Tyler, Tex. It is headed by R. J. (Bob) Phillips as president.

Intech operates primarily in the oil, petrochemical, chemical and plastics industries. Primary production is the manufacture of plastic foam egg cartons and meat and produce trays at a facility constructed in Big Spring.

The company, which consists of a small group of technically oriented executives, began life as a small, tightly organized venture capital organization with considerable know-how in some of the more highly technical fields.

Conference Here On Emergencies

About 200 community leaders from three counties have been invited to a conference on resource management during emergencies Thursday at the Settles Hotel.

Big Spring Mayor J. Arnold Marshall is host for the meeting, which is scheduled to include leaders from Howard, Borden and Glasscock Counties.

The conference, scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. in the hotel's ballroom, will be presented by Texas A&M University and the Texas Department of Public Safety's division of defense and disaster relief.

W. D. Berry, Civil Defense director for Howard County, said the conference will inform the leaders of the steps to take in the event of an emergency.

SANTA CLAUS IS DOWNTOWN

Santa Claus is in downtown Big Spring from 4 to 6 p.m. weekdays and from 1 to 6 p.m. Saturday's taking children's Christmas requests.

Unfortunately, Santa's North Pole travel agent forgot to arrange a place for Santa to stay while in Big Spring, so children will have to keep a sharp eye out for him.

Prince Plans To Wed Commoner

COPENHAGEN (AP) — King Frederik's nephew, Prince Christian, 25, is planning to marry a commoner, Anne Dorthe Maltoff Nielsen, who works as a department store salesgirl.

Miss Nielsen, a dark-eyed blonde, is the daughter of a Copenhagen business executive.

BSHS Musical On Stage This Week

The sound of music, hammers and saws at Big Spring High School fills the air as drama students put the finishing touches on their production of Rogers and Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music."

The play is scheduled to unfold on the Big Spring High School stage at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Tickets are available from drama students or at the door on the night of the performance. Prices are $1.75 for adults, $1 for students and airman, and 50-cents for children under 12.

Director Mrs. Joy Shaver and Choral Director Kenny Shepard have coordinated the acting and music, and the play has been in rehearsal for several weeks.

The plot concerns a young nun-to-be, Maria Rainer, who becomes a problem when she begins to sing constantly in the abbey. Maria (played by Ranelle Miller) is sent by the Mother Abbess (Belinda Gonzales) to become a governess in the home of Captain Von Trapp (Brad Cederberg), who has seven children.

She captures the hearts of the children when she teaches them to sing, and at the same time she falls in love with the captain, a discovery which frightens her. The problem is resolved as the play progresses musically to its ending.

Man Arrested

Joe Taylor, 50, 1307 Mulberry, was arrested Friday afternoon by Howard County sheriff's deputies on a charge of aggravated assault. He was released on $100 bond set by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice.

PROSECUTION DUE TO COMPLETE ITS CASE THIS WEEK

Pathologist To Give View On Cause Of My Lai Deaths

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — The prosecution, winding up its case against Lt. William L. Calley Jr., will call a pathologist to testify this week to pinpoint the cause in the deaths of "an unknown number of Oriental human beings"—the victims of the alleged My Lai massacre.

human beings ... by means of shooting them with a rifle." Capt. Aubrey Daniel III, the Army prosecutor, said he plans to wind up his case no later than Thursday. During a legal argument in the absence of the six-man jury, he revealed that a pathologist will be called as a witness by the government. The doctor's identity was not revealed.

The defense won, and it was the smaller copy that the jury eventually saw. However, the trial judge, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, promised Daniel that he may show the larger photograph to the pathologist. Since the trial began Nov. 12, the defense has suggested through its questioning of government witnesses that artillery or helicopter gunfire could have killed the My Lai civilians, who the government claims died before Calley's M16 automatic rifle.

A pathologist—a medical expert on the causes of death—presumably would be asked to determine from the photograph what manner of weapon killed the old men, women and children found dead along a trail inside My Lai. The color picture has appeared in Life magazine, and has been reproduced nationally in newspapers and on television. It was shot at a spot on the village trail where Calley is said to have conducted the execution of 30 unresisting Vietnamese. He is accused of directing the extermination of 70 others at an irrigation ditch on My Lai's outskirts.

For nearly the entire first day into the court record-descriptions by ex-GI witnesses of the location and condition of Vietnamese bodies at My Lai, and attempts to place Calley in the immediate area where the victims died. Then, on Friday, Daniel called a key witness, Dennis Conti, 21, Providence, R.I., a former private first class in Calley's platoon. Conti entered background testimony that he was in the area.

The mod, mustached, Conti testified that on the trail Calley told him and another private first class, Paul Meadlo, who were guarding Vietnamese civilian prisoners, to "kill 'em."

Conti said he begged out of the assignment because his only weapon was a grenade launcher, and that Meadlo and Calley began moving down the prisoners with their M16s. "They screamed and yelled," Conti said of the victims. "I guess they tried to get up. They were pretty messed up. There were lots of heads blown off, parts of them."

DEATHS

Funeral Scheduled Monday For Mrs. Lodusky Allen

Funeral will be at 10:30 a.m. Monday for Mrs. Lodusky Glenn Allen, 100, considered to be the oldest Gold Star Mother in the nation, who died Friday in a Lubbock hospital after a brief illness. The Rev. John Beard, First Christian Church, will officiate at services in the River-Welch Funeral Chapel, with burial in Mt. Olive Cemetery. Mrs. Allen was born in Brushy Township, Ill., in 1870, and came to Texas in a wagon train at the age of 3. She grew up on a farm near Kaufman County with 17 full and half brothers and sisters. Shortly after she and Felix Orion Allen were married in 1890, they moved to Big Spring. Later they traded a span of mules for a section of land near O'Donnell where they lived in a half-dugout, building additions above ground as time and money permitted. Mrs. Allen's son Fern Allen, lost his life while destroying a pillbox in France only a month before the end of World War I. The American Legion Post in O'Donnell is named for him. After her husband's death in 1931 she moved back to Big Spring, erected apartments for income—and learned to drive a car. One way to grow old, she always said, was to rent to "old fiddle daddies," so she always managed to rent to young people. Far from embittered at her son's death, Mrs. Allen became a second mother to every serviceman she met. When World War II brought the bombardier school to Big Spring, she moved all civilians out of her apartments and rent houses, and rented only to servicemen. While driving around the city, she would spot a group of

"lonely-looking GIs" and take them all out to eat. Most of "her boys" remember her today. A story about her 100th birthday in a veteran's newspaper last June brought greetings from many, including a card from a "doughboy" she had never seen, and yellow roses from a serviceman in Vietnam. When the bombardier school was closed, and later Webb AFB was opened, she continued her policy of "mothering" the servicemen, renting only to military-connected persons. Mrs. Allen managed to stay young despite her years, handling her own business affairs until she was past 90. Only in the past few years had she taken to a wheelchair. She lived in Lubbock the last five years of her life. "Years are of no consequence," she frequently said. "Your heart remains the same, and as long as your heart is young, you are young." Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Ora Miles, Lubbock, five grandchildren, four great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

Robert DeLeon, T&P Employee. Rosary is to be said at 8:30 p.m. Sunday and funeral is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Monday in St. Thomas Catholic Church for Robert G. DeLeon, 56, who died Saturday morning. Rosary is to be in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Following Monday services with the Rev. Leo J. F. St. John as officiant, burial will be in Mt. Olive Cemetery. Mr. DeLeon was born Nov. 11, 1914, in San Antonio and came to Big Spring in 1941, the same year he was married to Irene Subia. He was employed by the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. Survivors include his wife, Big Spring; one son, Robert S. DeLeon, Lubbock; two daughters, Yoland Eescuana, Big Spring and Margie Fierro, Lubbock; three brothers, Joe DeLeon and Gilbert DeLeon, San Antonio, and Jimmy DeLeon, Walnut Park, Calif.; three sisters, Manuela DeLeon, Walnut Park, Calif., Elvia Cantu, San Antonio, and Lois Cantu, Washington, D.C.; and six grandchildren.

IT'S A GIRL — Capt. Susan R. Struck, who Thursday gave birth at Madigan General Hospital, to the first baby ever born to an Air Force officer on active duty, holds her daughter, Tanya Marie, during a press conference Saturday. She will give the baby away for adoption. The 26-year-old nurse, who became pregnant in Vietnam, is fighting in court an Air Force regulation stating a woman on active duty is liable to involuntary discharge if she becomes pregnant. She wants to continue her career in the service.

Catherine Kelly, Westbrook Infant. COLORADO CITY (SC) — Catherine Leigh Kelly, four-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kelly, Westbrook, died at 1 a.m. Saturday in the Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City after a short illness. Benjamin Shear, Found Dead. Justice of the Peace Walter Grice ruled death by self-inflicted gunshot wound Friday afternoon in the death of 70-year-old Benjamin Shear, 2115 Warren. Police found Shear dead in his kitchen, apparently from a wound made by a .38 caliber pistol, after they were called by a neighbor from across the street. The woman told police she had gone to check on him when she saw his truck parked in the driveway, since she thought he was in the hospital. A message requesting burial without ceremony was found taped to a doorway. Services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. L. Smith, Funeral Monday. Funeral will be at 10 a.m. Monday in Westside Baptist Church for Mrs. Lillian O. Smith, 66. Mrs. Smith died Thursday in a local hospital. The Rev. Roy Honea, Grace Baptist Church, will officiate, with burial in Mt. Olive Cemetery under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. Mrs. Smith was born April 21, 1904, in Sulphur Springs. She married Lodie Smith Sept. 24, 1924, in Colorado City. She was a member of the Rebekah Lodge No. 153 and of the Westside Baptist Church. Survivors include her husband, Big Spring; two sons, Artemis Smith, Casper, Wyo., and R. B. Smith, Ft. Bragg, N.C.; one brother, Max Bartow, Irving; two sisters, Mrs. Bessie Pickett, Campbell, and Mrs. Ercel Moore, Sulphur Springs; and several nieces and nephews.

Mrs. O'Daniel, Coahoma; Rites At 2 P.M. Monday

Mrs. O. D. (Willie Louise) O'Daniel Sr., 67, died Saturday morning in a Lubbock hospital. Services will be at 2 p.m. Monday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Guy White, pastor of Coahoma First Baptist Church, and the Rev. John Beard, First Christian Church, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park. Mrs. O'Daniel was born March 11, 1902, in Menard. She was married to Oscar D. O'Daniel April 30, 1925, in Big Spring, and they have lived on a ranch near Coahoma since that time. She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Coahoma, a charter member of the Coahoma Home Demonstration Club, and a charter member of the Howard County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs. Survivors include her husband; one son, O. D. O'Daniel Jr., Coahoma; two grandsons, Robert O'Daniel and Patrick O'Daniel; three brothers, Roy Murray, Truth Or Consequences, N.M., J. L. Murray, Christoval, and Richard Murray, Oregon; two sisters, Minnie Murray, Big Spring, and Mrs. Maude Pagan, Big Spring. Pallbearers will be Ray Swann, Ralph White, Ray Echols, Roger Brown, Bob McGuire and Marvin Dobbs. The family has suggested that memorials may be made to the Heart Fund.

Communist Country May Be Target Of Pope's Next Visit

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul's next trip abroad—if there is one—may well be to an East European Communist country. Vatican sources said Saturday, Poland and, more especially, Yugoslavia are considered possible destinations. There seemed to be agreement that the Far East journey the Pope concluded early Saturday will prove to be the last spectacular and complex trip of his papacy. Some observers say they have a strong feeling that it may turn out to be his last trip outside Italy of any kind. If rumors prove true that the 73-year-old Pope plans to abdicate within two years, there will be little chance of another major intercontinental journey, Vatican experts said. The Pope's health is another question mark. He looked relatively well when he returned to Rome and resumed normal work after just a few hours sleep.

But the dean of his College of Asia and Australia must have been physically punishing. The assassination attempt in Manila, which frightened the Vatican, may also mean the Cardinals, Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, is on record as saying the Pope is ill. And observers believe the 10-day journey to Pope will receive advice against another trip. Finally, the circle of symbolism that the Pope's nine foreign trips represent seem to some to be practically closed now. He has visited the homelands of all the major races of man, and has set foot as the first jet-traveling Pope on every continent except Antarctica. One place he has not yet gone to is a Communist-ruled country. This omission may be deep felt by a pontiff who has made dialogue with Communists one of the hallmarks of his reign. Vatican sources noted. A jet flight to a nearby Communist capital would be a relatively easy matter. It is believed the Pope wishes above all to visit predominantly Catholic Poland. He said in 1966 that Communist authorities blocked him from going then.

Cross Reunited With Wife After Two Months Captivity

LONDON (AP) — James R. Cross, held prisoner for two months by Canadian terrorist kidnapers, arrived in rain-drenched London Saturday night for a joyful reunion with his wife who kept faith that he would survive. Cross, thin and tired but still smiling, said "It's marvelous to be back in the world" as he stepped from the Canadian air force jetliner that brought him from Montreal. "I'm so grateful to be back in England," he added. "I never thought I was going to drink a pint of bitter (English draught beer) again."

The 49-year-old British diplomat walked arm-in-arm with his wife, Barbara, who had arrived earlier from Switzerland and boarded the Canadian jet for their reunion. Friends who were present said Mrs. Cross cried "Darling" and threw herself into her husband's arms. When she remarked that his skin was pale, he replied "I haven't seen the sun for a few days," the friends said. It had been 60 days since terrorists of the Quebec Liberation Front, which seeks independence for French-speaking Quebec, had seized Cross at his Montreal home. Cross, who was the British trade commissioner in Montreal, said the kidnapers kept him in a small, windowless room throughout the ordeal. His wife spent the months of fearful waiting with friends in Switzerland. She flew to London after Cross was surrendered to the Canadian government Thursday by the kidnapers who were then given safe passage to Cuba. With Cross on the flight from Montreal was his daughter Susan, 24. Canada's foreign secretary, Mitchell Sharp, was among the officials at Heathrow airport to greet Cross. Sharp told newsmen he felt the Canadian government's tough attitude toward the terrorists had been "fully justified."

"We have all admired the way Mr. Cross acted during this emergency," Sharp said, adding that Mrs. Cross had been "magnificent" throughout the ordeal. Before his departure from Montreal, Cross paid tribute to Pierre Laporte, the Quebec labor minister who was kidnapped five days after Cross and found slain a week later.

"Why Pierre Laporte is dead and I am alive, I do not know," Cross told a Montreal airport news conference. "But I want to pay homage to this brave man and express my conviction his sacrifice was not in vain. . . . I never met Mr. Laporte, but in the week when we were both prisoners I felt closer to him than a brother." Cross said he did not know what his future plans would be as far as his diplomatic career is concerned.

College Is Designated Test Center

Howard County Junior College has been designated as a test center for administering the National Teacher Examinations on Jan. 30, 1971, Dr. Wayne Bonner, announced Saturday.

College seniors preparing to teach, and teachers applying for positions in school systems which encourage or require applicants to submit their scores on the National Teacher Examinations along with their other credentials are eligible to take the tests. Last year more than 105,000 candidates took the examinations, which are prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J.

The designation of HCJC as a test center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with candidates throughout the country who take the tests, Bonner said.

At the one-day session, a candidate may take the common examinations, which include tests in professional education and general education, and one of the 24 area examinations which are designed to evaluate his understanding of the subject matter and methods applicable to the area he may be assigned to teach.

Information on forms may be obtained from the Guidance Office, HCJC or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, N.J. 08540. Prospective teachers planning to take the tests should obtain their "Bulletins of Information" promptly, Dr. Bonner advised.

Autumn Color Splashes Onto Park Furniture

Those who have visited a city park recently have noticed a little more color, not in the autumn leaves but in the park furniture.

City park crews just finished slapping a new coat of paint on most of the park furniture as part of the maintenance work done during the winter months in preparation for the spring rush of visitors.

The parks are multi-colored now with litter barrels and some of the benches splashed with sky blue paint, and the seesaws dressed in broad bands of red and white.

The jungle gym in Comanche Trail Park is red and white striped, as are some of the bench awnings. Some of the pavilion picnic tables are yellow, while others are red and white, and there is evidence that one of the painters latched onto a can of dark blue paint.

When parks superintendent Johnny Johansen was asked about the changed look for park furniture, he said, "Now you can see them."

City Crews Preparing Landfill For Seeding

Public Works Director Nolen Chafin said Friday that the site of Big Spring's first sanitary landfill is being cleaned up and leveled in preparation for the final seeding in accordance with the requirements of the federal landfill demonstration grant.

"The 20-acre site is the property owned by Ernie Richardson," Chafin said. "We just finished terracing work on the final 15 acres and have spread 70 tons of cotton burrs on the soil prior to seeding."

The city will have grass seed sown on the property, probably some time this month after it is reasonably certain that the seed will not germinate before spring.

A remaining obligation for the city will then be a final report that must be turned in to the Department of Health, Educa-

Light Agenda For Trustees

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District will face a light agenda at their regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the school board meeting room.

Only two action items have been scheduled for board action: Appointment of a 15-member textbook committee which will be responsible for the textbooks used in Big Spring schools next year; and consideration of appointment of a new board member to fill a vacancy created by a resignation this summer.

Board members also will hear the request of Mrs. June Aaker, who is appealing an administrative decision to deny the admission of her daughter to the first grade. Mrs. Aaker will ask the board to deviate from its policy on a beginner's required age.

The child had been enrolled in the first grade in another state, but is not old enough under Texas state law and board policy to enter the first grade here.

The board will also hear a report from the City Wide Summer Recreation Committee. A cumulative total of 10,560 youngsters participated in last year's program, a substantial increase in child participation while holding the line on expenses.

Raid Could Have Freed Pueblo Men

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Navy Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher says he thinks a raid like the one on a North Vietnamese prison camp two weeks ago could have freed him and his crew of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo captured in 1968 by North Korea.

"Such a raid could have been made in our case," he says, "but would have been contingent on a couple of sympathetic North Koreans to let us know."

Bucher, 43, now coordinator for Naval Reserve special programs for the 11th Naval District, said he and his 81 men "often dreamed of a raid" to free them.

He admitted the risks in attempting a raid would have been greater than in North Vietnam because the Pueblo crew's prison camp was far inland.

But he added: "I feel we could have commandeered the compound for an hour or two." Two armed guards were assigned to each floor and "they could have been overpowered."

Mail Early Reminder Is Stressed

William L. Crawford, director Dallas postal region, today urged immediate mailing of all Christmas cards, parcels and other holiday mail as a safeguard in the event of a national railroad strike.

Big Spring postmaster Frank Hardesty said no rail connections are made in Big Spring, but the mail is transported by train in other areas.

Mr. Crawford, who directs the management operations of 2,133 post offices in Texas and Louisiana, said he had been advised today by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount to step up Christmas mailing.

The nationwide announcement to accelerate Christmas mailing came from Blount in view of a pending nationwide rail strike tentatively scheduled to begin shortly after midnight, Wednesday, Dec. 10.

"We will utilize every alternative mode of transportation available," he said, "to move as much mail as possible. However, we would be remiss if we did not strongly urge postal customers to dispose of out-of-town Christmas cards and packages immediately, said Crawford.

To Honor Yarborough

AUSTIN (AP) — Former Vice President and Sen.-elect Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., will head a list of speakers for the appreciation dinner for Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., in Austin Dec. 15.

Webb And Munny Lure Golfers

By GENE NORTON
Approximately 150 golfers at Webb took advantage of the beautiful weather this past week to get on the course and limber up the golfing muscles. According to one club employee it has been one of the best weeks in quite a while as far as participation.
The course at the base is in excellent condition. The staff there has been watering the fairways and greens heavily this week, taking advantage of the sun, and the fairways are beginning to turn green in places again. The greens at Webb are in excellent shape and are playing very fast.
Charley Brantley, pro at the Munny course, said he had more than 200 playing the course throughout the week. Early Saturday he reported a good crowd was on the links.
The staff at Munny is in the process of installing new water lines at numbers 5 and 14 and has top-dressed all the tee-boxes on the course. Recently a new fence was erected behind the number five green which improved the appearance of the hole tremendously.
Charley said the greens at Munny are in really good shape and are holding well although most of them are putting quite fast.
No attendance figures were available for the week at the Big Spring County Club but the course was in fine condition and playing superbly. The greens were a little fast but that is to be expected during the winter months.

LUBBOCK — The term triple-threat usually refers to running, passing and kicking; but Texas Tech will spring a different kind of triple-threat against the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets in the Sun Bowl Dec. 19.
The talented Techsian is Johnny Odom, a junior from Fort Worth, who could be lining up at no less than three different positions for the Red Raiders — tight end, split end and flanker.
Odom led Coach Jim Carlen's eleven in receiving with 26 receptions for 331 yards and four touchdowns. He also serves as the punter for the Raiders, averaging 37.6 on 59 kicks during the regular 1970 season.
The 6-1, 195-pounder led the team in receptions in 1969 with 23 for 320 yards and four touchdowns. He was moved from split end to tight end by Carlen during spring training.
"I was kind of stunned at first when they told me about the switch," Odom said. "I thought tight ends were supposed to be big and strong and able to knock a defensive tackle into the stands. With our new offense though, the block depends on quickness and timing and not brute strength."
Carlen and his offensive end coach Marshall Taylor have nothing but praise for Odom.
"Johnny is just a complete receiver," Taylor said. "He has size, speed, quickness, good

Lindsey Named QB On All-Southland

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Champion Arkansas State and runner-up Abilene Christian College dominated the 1970 All-Southland Conference football team released Saturday, nailing down 10 places each on the offensive and defensive teams.

Lindsey missed ACC's two final games with a shoulder separation but he passed for 2,707 yards and 22 touchdowns en route to a 9-2 season.
Other unanimous selections were Vinson, tackle Bill Keresztury of Trinity on offense; linebackers Gary Cleve of Arkansas State and Phil Martin of ACC and defensive back Meyer and Walter Huntley of Trinity.

Vols Battle Back To Win

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Curt Watson blasted up the middle 19 yards for a touchdown with 2:20 left to play Saturday as Tennessee came from behind to whip fired-up UCLA 28-17 in an intercollegiate football game.
Watson's burst came only a moment after Ron Carver had intercepted Bobby Scott's pass and raced 85 yards to put the Bruins ahead 17-14.
With its back to the wall, Tennessee put on a 67-yard drive in seven plays for the winning six-pointer.
UCLA's effort to come from behind again was stymied by the Vols who then marched 23 yards in six plays to score their final touchdown. Don McLeary plunged one yard for the score.
The victory was Tennessee's ninth straight and gave the Sugar Bowl-bound Vols a 10-1 season, their best record since an undefeated campaign in 1956. Tennessee will meet Air Force in the New Orleans classic on New Year's Day.
Scott, playing with a slight limp because of an injured foot, set three individual records in directing the Tennessee attack.
The Rossville, Ga., senior, playing his final game here, established marks for career total offense, career pass offense and season pass offense.
Scott outduelled UCLA's Dennis Dummitt, completing 17 of 35 passes for 211 yards and one touchdown. Dummitt, who has set 14 passing records for the Uclans, hit on 11 of 22 for 130 yards.
UCLA 0 0 7 10-17

COMMANDO RAID ON RAZORBACK ROOTER'S QUARTERS

Col. Anderson Atkinson, wing commander at Webb AFB, is acknowledged to be one of the most avid boosters in the area for the Arkansas Razorbacks, a football team that had business in Austin Saturday. When he was away from home Friday night, four University of Texas boosters descended upon Atkinson's front porch to hang an anti-Hog poster as an amused John Atkinson, the colonel's son (far right) looked on. The conspirators were, from the left, Maj. Carl Wyrick, Capt. Dennis Scarborough, who is aiming a symbolic hammer at the wild boar's head: Capt. Mike Armi and Capt. Thad Crooks. The four officers could well vacation in Greenland.

Historians Don't Agree On Legendary Lost Gold

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — Thar's of the highway will mark the gold in those hills of East Texas. Well, maybe.

It depends on whether you agree with the legend of lost treasure that surrounds the site of Ft. Teran.

But some historians have been unable to agree even on its site. History says that it was on the banks of the Neches River where Shawnee Creek empties.

It is at this point that the counties of Angelina, Tyler and Jasper meet, and it is on this point that some researchers have met head-on.

Some claim that Ft. Teran was built on the Angelina side of the river, while others declare that it belonged to what is now Tyler County.

Regardless, it is Tyler County where the traveler today finds the historical marker which remains as a reminder of this early period of life in the Pineywoods.

To find Ft. Teran, take U.S. southeast from Lufkin to Colmesneil and turn west on Farm 1745. A few miles later, a sign on the right-hand side Legend has it that Bowie traveled the trail on his way to San Antonio as did Fannin, Travis and numerous other early characters of Texas history.

But the legend that has most often been connected to Ft. Teran is the story that Mexican gold was buried somewhere near Ft. Teran.

The legend has never been proven one way or the other, but deep shafts into the earth around the site of the old fort remain today as evidence that at least one man believed it.

TWO MONUMENTS

Ft. Teran today boasts two historical monuments, one erected in 1936 and the other 30 years later.

Ft. Teran was named an historical site by the Texas Centennial Committee in 1936, 101 years after the fort had closed.

It was established as a park four years ago when the land was donated to the Tyler County Historical Survey Committee by Mrs. Winnie Wilson in memory of her husband, S. Earl Wilson, who was instrumental in preserving the site.

Back behind the markers at the edge of the bluff which borders the river, a steep winding path leads down to the shore where a cave is hollowed out of the solid rock.

CLOSED OFF

Barely three feet tall at its opening, the cave goes deep beneath the bluff. But if this was once the passageway to a treasure room, it has long since been closed off.

Other evidence of the fort is found in the large cedar and sweet gum trees which were planted by the Mexicans and are still growing.

Just south of the fort, there is an orchard of plum trees identical to the trees found at the site of Mission San Francisco de los Tejas in Houston County.

Whether gold remains there is anyone's guess, but the legend lives on.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine recently died and left a pretty young widow. The brother of the man who died is married, and he told me himself that he has been doing "double duty" and acting the part of a husband to this widow, if you know what I mean. He says the Bible says it is all right. I can't find anything in my Bible that gives approval to such scandalous going on. If you can, I wish you would tell me where it is. Thank you.

A FRIEND:

DEAR FRIEND: Your friend went back to the Old Testament. In Deuteronomy 25:5: "If a brethren dwell together, and one of them shall die, and have no child, the wife of the dead shall not marry a stranger: her husband's brother shall go unto her and perform the duty of a husband. And the firstborn which she shall beareth shall succeed in the name of his brother which is dead that his name shall not be put out of Israel."

Your friend is using this passage to suit his own purpose. The Deuteronomy Law no longer applies. But the Seventh Commandment does.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this. It may wake up a few people who give money instead of gifts on birthdays and other occasions.

I know there are some people who would rather receive money, but there are still many who prefer a gift. Children, for sure.

When my kids get an envelope with a check in it for Christmas you should see their little faces fall. Their grandparents (who live only five minutes away) always send them checks. And I'm the one who has to shop for the gifts, which is a terrible chore for me (especially around Christmas) as I also have a full-time job, and must shop during my lunch hour or after work.

Please tell me if am wrong to feel that grandparents should send a gift, however inexpensive. It seems that sending a check says, "I can't be bothered to shop for a gift for your kids, so buy them something, will you?"

DISGUSTED WITH CASH
DEAR DISGUSTED: Speak for yourself. Money as a gift can also say, "I think it's foolish to spend my time shopping for a gift that you may have to spend your time exchanging."

It can also say, "I am not able to get around very well, so please buy the children something you think they need or will enjoy. You know their needs and desires better than I."

WHAT IS A "WANT BOOK"?

Did you ever wonder how a pharmacy is able to keep up with the thousands of different items it must keep on hand for its customers? We have a special book, called the want book, and any time someone sells a product and sees that the stock of that product is running low they enter it in the daily "want book".

A least once a day we contact the drug wholesaler, and have the products we need delivered immediately, usually on that same day. In this way we are rarely out-of-stock of any item, whether it be a prescription drug or one of the many other health aids we carry.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Rally Celebrates Drive For Mexican-American Power

Strike Called Most Successful Boycott In Texas

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP)—A rally will be held in front of the Crystal City High School Monday to celebrate a school boycott that marked the start of a drive for Mexican-American power in this Southwest Texas town.

One year ago, hundreds of Mexican-American pupils marched and picketed in front of the high school, demanding reforms such as bilingual education.

Spokesmen for the strikers charged that the school system discriminated against Mexican-Americans. The claims were denied.

Ranging from elementary school children to high school seniors, the boycotters went on strike Dec. 9 and continued their protest through the Christmas holidays.

They returned to class Jan. 6 after representatives of parents and pupils negotiated a long list of demands in marathon meetings with school officials. Strike leaders hailed their efforts as the most successful Mexican-American school boycott in Texas.

The featured speaker at Monday's rally will be Jose Angel Gutierrez, former chairman of the Mexican-American Youth Organization, who became school board president after his election to the board last spring. In addition to the school-approved rally, a reception and dance are planned for later Monday. Gutierrez openly supported the boycott.

He was elected to the school board with two others running under the banner of the Raza Unida Party, a Mexican-American third political party which he founded.

The trio's election gave Mexican-Americans a majority on the school board.

Since then, Mexican-Americans have been hired to fill such posts as superintendent and assistant superintendent of schools, and bilingual education has been introduced in the first two grades.

A Mexican-American studies course, one of the demands of the boycotters, is now a high school elective.

In another change, cheerleaders and similar student body representatives are elected by the pupils rather than selected by faculty members or in other ways in the past. Sept. 16, Mexican Independence Day, is now a school holiday.

Raza Unida candidates also won two city council posts last spring and changes are still being made in the city's political picture.

Only last week, Mayor Paulino Mata, a Mexican-American generally considered a moderate, was ousted from his post. The two Raza Unida men were among the three councilmen voting to replace him. Gutierrez was then appointed to the city's Urban Renewal Commission, a move which Mata had opposed.

Led by Gutierrez, the Raza Unida Party sought unsuccessfully in the courts to be placed on the Nov. 3 general election ballot in races for county offices.

Staging a write-in campaign, the party lost all but one of 16 races in three counties, including eight here in Zavala County. The party now has filed notice that it will contest the Zavala County elections.

Jack D. Powell, outgoing district chairman, will welcome the district's new chairman, Jack Alexander.

Tickets to the banquet are $1.75 and can be purchased at The Herald office from Joe Pickle, district public relations chairman.

Light Up The Sky

By JO BRIGHT

The annual Christmas home decoration contest co-sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and Texas Electric Service Company is gaining momentum as local residents get into the spirit of the holiday season.

Don Statham, chairman of the Christmas Activities Committee for the Chamber, has announced that prizes will be awarded this year in five categories. The top award goes to an entire block for decorating, with each resident to receive a certificate of commendation. In the yard division, TESCO will give first, second and third place prizes. The other divisions are windows, doors and special features, each of which will feature first and second place prizes which will be plaques awarded to the entrant.

The deadline for entering the contest is 5 p.m., Dec. 18, and judging will be Dec. 22. To enter, the homeowner should call the Chamber office and give his name, address, phone number and what category he wishes to enter. He should also note whether the decoration is to be lighted; if not, the committee will judge the display in the daytime.

In the yard division, TESCO will give a Ready-Lite, installed, as first prize, and second and third place winners will receive electrical appliances.

Judging will be based on artistry and ingenuity, lighting techniques, originality and symbolic portrayal.

Call your Chamber of Commerce, 263-7641, and enter the all-community home decoration contest this year.

SANTA'S SMILING FACE forms the background for three local residents who are enthusiastically encouraging citizens to "light up the sky" with holiday decorations in this year's Christmas home decorating contest co-sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and Texas Electric Service Company. From left, holding some of the prizes, are Don Statham, chairman of the Christmas Activities Committee, Mrs. Ron Phillips of the Chamber office and Russell Tidwell of TESCO.

IN CONJUNCTION with outside decorations for their new home at 701 Capri, the Harold Davis family is busy putting up gala indoor decorations. Colorful arrangements depicting the holiday season will be placed throughout the home. Here, at left, Mrs. Davis joins her daughter, Chris, and son, Alan, to hang bells and holly garlands on a fireplace wall.

ENTERING THE CONTEST again this year will be the Fran Bordofske family, 3307 Auburn who were third place winners in the 1969 contest.

Young Terry, 5, center, and David, 7, are lots of help to Mrs. Bordofske as she prepares a fireplace scene which, when completed, will be fastened to the front door of their home.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

A Modern Cookery Problem:
'How Do I Thaw The Turkey?'

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
County MD Agent

A common problem that homemakers face during the holiday season is getting the turkey thawed for cooking. There have been some recent changes in recommended instructions for thawing turkey that you would be wise to consider as you prepare for cooking your turkey.

There are several considerations based on when you plan to cook your frozen turkey.

Do you want to cook it immediately? If so, remove the wrap, and place the frozen turkey on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Cook it for one hour in a pre-heated 325 degree oven. Take the turkey from the oven and remove neck and giblets from the body cavity and the wishbone area. Immediately return the turkey to the oven and cook until done.

TO COOK LATER

Will you plan to cook it later today? Then, leave it in its original wrap. Thaw it in running water or water that is changed frequently. The thawing time required will depend on the size of the bird: a bird that weighs 5-9 pounds will require 3-4 hours to thaw by this method, one that weighs over 9 pounds will require 4-7 hours. Cook or refrigerate the thawed turkey immediately.

Do you want to cook the turkey tomorrow? It should be left in its original wrap. Place the frozen turkey in a brown paper bag or wrap in 2-3 layers of newspaper. The thawing time needed for this method will be: under 12 pounds will take 10-18 hours, over 12 pounds will require 18-30 hours. Check turkey often during the last hours of thawing and refrigerate immediately if completely thawed.

3. Do not thaw commercially stuffed birds.

Careful storage of the cooked turkey that is left over after the meal is important. After the meal, remove any stuffing left in the turkey. Cover stuffing and the bird loosely or strip off the meat and break up bones for broth, if desired. The meat and bones should be refrigerated promptly.

By using good judgment in thawing your turkey, and giving prompt refrigeration of any left over parts you may be able to avoid contamination that would mar your holiday happiness.

Altar Society Has Christmas Party

A Christmas party for the Altar Society of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church was held Tuesday in the church hall, hosted by Mrs. A. N. Rutherford.

A dinner sponsored by the mother's club will be Dec. 6 in the church hall at noon. The public is invited. On Dec. 8 the children of the church will make their first communion, followed by a reception in the parish hall.

The altar committee for December is Mrs. Jack Engle, Mrs. George Foster, Mrs. J. T. Currie and Miss Katherine Thomas.

Mrs. Rutherford presented pins to the altar members and madonnas to club officers. Cohosters for the party was Sister Amobolis, who also gave the opening prayer. Closing prayer was by Mrs. Riley Ward.

Quotable Quotes

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Writing is essentially a lonely occupation. But it can be balanced with acting, which is social; you are out there with the other folks. Acting is interpretative rather than creative, so — I am never bored." — Joanna Barnes, author and actress, in an interview.

"I don't feel compelled to present a list of my accomplishments at the end of the day, and say, 'Look what I've done.' Being all the time is what's important; not doing all the time." — Actress Ali McGraw, in an interview.

"I don't like any movement, or any rebellious sort of thing. I'm a rebel myself and I do what I want to do and I don't blabber about it." — Maria Callas, in an interview.

"When there is peace, I will ask Ky to resign, so we can enjoy our family life. We are still young; this is a hard job for us, too hard." — Mrs. Nguyen Cao Ky, wife of South Vietnam's vice president, in an interview during a visit to the United States.

"I keep saying to everybody, thank you. But it isn't enough, I want to say more." — Jean Rosenstien, 84-year-old widow whose letter to the editor telling of her loneliness received a response that left her voice hoarse and her apartment filled with flowers.

"Eat plenty of honey. Exercise a lot. Do the best you can for everybody — and stay away from whiskey." — Theresa Rover, on her 104th birthday.

TO MARRY — Mr. and Mrs. Sam K. Roberts of Coahoma announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda, to Alvin Best, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Best, also of Coahoma. The wedding ceremony is scheduled Dec. 26 in the Presbyterian Church of Coahoma at 7 p.m. with the Rev. David Northcutt officiating.

Elvin Browns Reside At Forsan

FORSAN (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Brown are making their home at 4105 Dixon since their recent marriage. She is the former Mrs. Clara M. Fletcher, a Forsan resident for 37 years.

Members of the Forsan Baptist Church Women's Missionary Union gathered at Mrs. Bob Cowley's home for a luncheon and program.

Mrs. Raymond Holquin has returned home from the Medical Center Memorial Hospital with her son, Ruben Patrick, born Nov. 30 weighing 10 pounds, 7 ounces.

British Wives Club Sets Holiday Events

The British Wives Club, meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. Richard Patterson, 177-B Fairchild, made final plans to decorate the dining room and a tree at the Veterans Administration Hospital at 2 p.m., Dec. 11.

Mrs. Herman Stanley and Mrs. Eugene Evans were named to head a committee which will purchase items as Christmas gifts for a needy family.

Mrs. Charles Preus and Mrs. Brian Matthews will be in charge of the Airman's Christmas Gifts, a project whereby the club members provide small gifts for airmen who will be unable to go home for Christmas. The gifts will be taken to John H. Lees Service Club, Webb AFB, on Dec. 19 when club members will also provide home baked goods for serving to the men.

It was announced that Mrs. Bill Johnson, Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Kenneth Daubney will present a program on Christmas traditions in England today for women at First United Methodist Church. On Monday, Mrs. Al Cantu and Mrs. Don Martin will speak for the Forsan Study Club.

Serving refreshments Friday at the Veterans Administration Hospital were Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Herman Stanley and Mrs. William Johnson.

Mrs. George Hays was welcomed as a new member.

Holiday refreshments were served from a table centered with an arrangement of a Christmas tree, tinsel and candles. The Christmas party will be held at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 17 in the home of Mrs. Larry Henderson, 180-A Fairchild.

Toddlers' Clothes Are Educational

A wide variety of educational toys and pre-school books are basic learning tools. Now there are "learning wearables." A new clothing concept features fashions with an educational function.

Easy-care clothing, the quick tubbing, tumble drying kind, is both a budget and time saver for mothers. For a youngster, it's a learning experience. Appliques, prints, and embroideries are designed as integral parts of clothing to teach the child how to button, tie, snap, and zip and to recognize colors, shapes, numbers, and signs.

Programs Are Varied At Temple Prayer Week

"Joyfully Go and Boldly Tell" was the theme for Lottie Moon National Week of Prayer celebrated at the Baptist Temple last week by the Women's Missionary Society.

Mrs. Dalton Johnson began the week with a program on "Response to Christ." "Life's Fulness With Christ" was the subject of Tuesday's meeting led by Mrs. Jim Bennett.

On Wednesday Rev. James Puckett, pastor, led the "Mature Through Christ," and discussion entitled "Youth Can Mature Through Christ," and the following day Mrs. Ross Hill spoke of the "Acceptance of Christ's Love." The final program on Friday was given by Mrs. Jim Love on "Prayer Can Cause World Reality." Mrs. N. R. Garrett was program chairman for the week.

Throughout the meeting it was said that less than 30 percent of the world is Christian and that to remedy this the world needs more concern and understanding of youth, and less

Hyperions Hold Pot Luck Dinner

The 1946 Hyperion Club had a pot luck dinner Thursday night in the home of Mrs. T. J. Rowland. The social committee in charge of the dinner included Mrs. C. B. Marcum, chairman, Mrs. Tom Fetters, Mrs. Ed Ballard, Mrs. G. K. Taylor and Mrs. Don Newsom. The table centerpiece was made from the pods of a Filipino flame tree, gilded gold, holding small red Christmas balls.

College Group Sings For OWC Luncheon

A Howard County Junior College choral group entertained at the Officer's Wives Club meeting Thursday at the Webb Officer's Club.

The three-part program included 16th century selections, a group of old Christmas songs, and some of today's classic Christmas carols. Miss Jan Moorehead was the featured soloist during the group presentation of "Here, Mid the Ass and Oxen Mild." The group is directed by Ralph Dowden, and piano accompaniment provided by Mrs. Michael Skalicky.

Mrs. Eugene Welch gave the invocation, and Mrs. Owen Wormser, OWC president, introduced Mrs. Anderson W. Atkinson, honorary president.

Traditional Christmas decorations adorned the dining room. The head table, covered with a white linen cloth held three gold Christmas figurines at each end. The table was lined with gold tinsel, with Christmas packages intermingled. The centerpiece was a bouquet of red and white mums, and carnations backed with holly and pine, holding gold satin Christmas balls and a green candle. Other tables carried out the Christmas theme, and the walls were draped with chains of snow-flocked greenery with colored Christmas ornaments.

Above the stage were three large "angels of peace" mounted on red. Decorations were made by Mrs. J. D. Milstead and the wives of the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron. The centerpiece, two gold figurines and the Christmas gifts were given as prizes.

Newcomers and guests were welcomed by Mrs. James Clevenger, first vice president. Announcements were made by Mrs. Thomas Brandon, second vice president.

The OWC Christmas dance is

Dec. 12, 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.; hors d'oeuvres will be served.

The OWC needs white elephant items for the Chinese auction scheduled for the brunch Jan. 21, and members were asked to contact Mrs. Clevenger concerning donations.

OWC bridge will be Dec. 17, 9:30 a.m. Reservations must be made with Mrs. Wormser by Dec. 14.

Nominations for the Military Wife of the Year, based on outstanding service both on and off base, may be given to Mrs. Clevenger.

Mrs. Wormser, speaking for herself and the OWC board, wished everyone a safe and merry Christmas.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

The sun has been coming through the Christmas decorations at a fairly warm reading but that doesn't hamper the clever, happy-faced Christmas elf at the southeast corner of the courthouse square. The cheery countenance is so delightful that passersby just naturally smile, too, when they look at him. He's doing his best to help with the happy season.

The GENE TURNERS are back from Louisiana where they attended graduation exercises at Louisiana Tech University at which time their daughter, MRS. LILA CHAFEY, received a BA degree in education. Her husband, FRANK CHAFEY, has recently been promoted to a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force.

MR. and MRS. BOB WREN have been visiting friends and relatives in Fairfield, Ft. Worth, and Wichita Falls.

MRS. F. A. MCKINNIS is back from a six-week stay in Europe, particularly Germany where she visited her son, Mike, his wife and two small children. They are stationed at Hahn AFB, but the family were having a holiday at Garmisch when they met up with CAPT. and MRS. DICK MEACHAM who were also having a fun trip. Dick sent his love to his Big Spring friends by Mrs. McKinnis. He is also stationed at Hahn and had also been stationed in Da Nang, Vietnam, at the same time that Mike was there.

Mrs. McKinnis toured Switzerland and Austria and later spent several days in London. She returned here Saturday and was happy to find her twin sons, Dan and Don, here to spend Thanksgiving with their father. The Dan McKinnises live in Denton and the Don McKinnises live in Texas City but teach school in LaMarque.

MR. and MRS. PAUL SOLDAN JR. are back home after a visit with MR. and MRS. BLAKE TALBOTT and Rex at their home in Narragansett, R.I.

MRS. MAE FRANKLIN had a good time last week watching part of the filming of "The Last Picture Show" in Archer City. The story and script was written by her nephew, Larry McMurtry, and is being directed by Bert Schneider for Paramount. Mrs. Franklin was so interested in the filming she never asked who is going to be featured but she knows that when "Horseman Pass By" by McMurtry was made into "Hud", Paul Newman was starred. Another novel by the Rice University instructor, "Leaving Cheyenne" is scheduled for filming in the future.

Mrs. Franklin and her sister, MRS. JEFF MCMURTRY, watched the filming of the area around Archer City and were amused at the director's desire to not have any mesquites showing in the scenes. They found that what he didn't want showing were mesquite bushes or trees... though how he's going to prove he shot the film in West Texas without any is not going to be easy.

LGA Bridge Play Held On Friday

Four tables were in play for the regular Ladies Golf Association duplicate bridge games held Friday afternoon at Big Spring Country Club.

Winners were Mrs. R. E. Dobbins and Mrs. Ayra McGann, first; Mrs. Raymond Tollett and George Pike, second; and Mrs. Malcolm Patterson and Morris Patterson, third.

Know Your Dryer

A dryer can't read your mind. You must decide about load size. If you put in too large a load, it will crowd the dryer drum and clothes will come out wrinkled. Clothes need room in the dryer to tumble freely and fluff out.

Suit-Look Dress Goes To Town

Here's a one-piece dress with an exciting silhouette: elongated bodice topping a skirt with pleat animation. No. 3142 comes in sizes 10 to 18. Size 12 (bust 34) with short sleeve takes 3 1/4 yards of 44-inch fabric; midi, 3 3/4 yards of 44-inch.

A LOVELIER YOU Graceful Movements Show Off New Capes

By MARY SUE MILLER

For day and evening, capes are in the scene in fabrics from tweed to printed velvet, in fake and fabulous furs, in handsome suedes. All have tremendous dash and are about as free-wheeling as a fashion can get.

In fact, the swashbuckling swing of capes seems to prompt some wearers into moving about with wild abandon. Like nervous, still others resemble walking cocoons. Like wrapped in yards of warp and weft.

Let's face up to it. Few garments need the same deft handling as a cape. And the longer it is the more finesse is required of the wearer. The first rule is never to pull a cape so tightly around you that it loses its line. Let it float in the breeze as the designer intended.

Next, look to your carriage. Better than average is wanted. You have to pull up tall and square your shoulders. You have to hold the length of your steps to the length of your foot.

And you must step lightly. Heavy, bounding strides won't do. Overaction on your part turns a cape's graceful swing into jerky gyrations. That's not for the likes of Lovelies.

One additional tip: Never don a cape by slinging it around your shoulders or over your head. Adjust it on one shoulder and, by slipping your hand behind your neck, slide it across to the opposite side.

Delta Deltas Have Gift Exchange

Christmas gifts were exchanged and carols sung at the Thursday meeting of the Texas Delta Delta Chapter, Phi Sigma Alpha, hosted by Mrs. Clyde Cantrell.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Arthur Wadde leading the pledge. Mrs. Cantrell's home was decorated with a silver Christmas tree, and she entertained with Christmas selections on the piano.

Christmas gifts and cookies will be given to local needy families. The group changed their meetings to the first Tuesday of each month, the next one being Jan. 5, 7:30 p.m., at Mrs. W. E. Moren's home, 1301 Eleventh Place.

Lutherans Give Aid To Needy

"The Priceless Gift of Christmas" was the devotional reading presented by Mrs. Elber Lyster for the Thursday evening meeting of St. Paul Lutheran Parish Workers in the home of Mrs. Leroy Budke, 3621 Dixon. The discussion topic, "Speak, But Also Listen," was given by Mrs. Marlyn Gieseking.

The Christian Service report was given by Mrs. H. T. Hansen who said three Thanksgiving baskets had been given to area families, and Christmas gifts for patients have been delivered to Big Spring State Hospital.

On Dec. 14, Mrs. Gieseking and Mrs. Dennis Voss, will be in charge of serving refreshments at the Veterans Administration Hospital. Mrs. Voss and Mrs. Norman Backs were guests at the meeting.

Mrs. Frank Long, Christmas party chairman, said the Dec. 13 "progressive" affair will begin in the Budke home and conclude at the home of the pastor, William H. Roth, 624 Tulane, for a Chinese Auction. The auction proceeds will be sent to Clifford Horn, a missionary in Japan, who is a former Big Spring resident.

Three offices were filled with the election of Mrs. W. E. Davis, first vice president; Mrs. Art Schmidt, second vice president; and Mrs. Lyster, secretary-reporter. Continuing in their term of office will be Mrs. Marwitz, president and Mrs. Long, treasurer.

The group will trim the church tree at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11 and 2 p.m., Dec. 12. The next meeting will be Jan. 7 in the home of Mrs. Marwitz, 1611 Osage.

Former Military Family May Have 'Finally' Settled Down

By BARBARA LORD
Recent arrivals in Big Spring are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Falvella and family, 1702 Main. After 20 years in the military, the Falvellas are used to getting settled in new homes, but this move is unique for them. Mrs. Falvella retired from the Air Force in October, and Big Spring may now be their permanent home.

NEWCOMERS TO BIG SPRING, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Falvella are shown with their children in their new home. Falvella recently retired after twenty years in the Air Force, and they look forward to making Big Spring their permanent home. The children are, Ann, 14, Michael, 16, and Barry, 11.

Coming to Big Spring about three weeks ago, Falvella is the new service manager of Montgomery Ward's automotive department in Highland Center. This is the smallest city they have ever lived in, and they enjoy the friendliness of local residents. Much of their time so far has been used getting organized in their new home, but after the holidays, Mrs. Falvella says she might get a job or do volunteer work at one of the hospitals.

"Once we're settled there won't be enough to keep me busy all day around the house with all the kids in school," she said. The children, used to "pulling up roots" and moving every few years, were anxious to come here and are already entrenched in activities at school. Michael, 16, a sophomore, and Ann, 14, a freshman, both attend Big Spring High School. The youngest is Barry, 11, a fifth-grader at College Heights Elementary. The Falvellas also have a 19-year-old son, John, who plays in a band near Miami, Florida.

The hunting and fishing in this area appeals to Falvella, an enthusiast of these and many other sports. The whole family enjoys golf, bowling and horseback riding.

MUCH TRAVEL
The Falvellas military career took them to many states, including three assignments in different sections of Texas. They consider El Paso "home," although she is originally from Dallas, and he is from Kingsville. She is the former Betty Holman. Her father, now retired, is a welder and his family moved around often.

"I don't believe I've lived anywhere for more than three years since I was 10 years old," she said. The Falvellas met in El Paso while he was stationed at Biggs AFB. They were married October 2, 1953. While in the service he worked with radar electronic maintenance. They enjoyed the military way of life and think the good outweighed the bad. It was hard for the kids to leave friends and change schools so often, Mrs. Falvella admitted, but the experiences in making new friends, adjusting to a new environment, and the travel are aspects of life which many people don't get to experience.

Falvella attended high school in Kingsville and completed several technical schools while in the Air Force. Mrs. Falvella graduated from high school in Carlsbad, N. M., and in September, she completed a course at Brantley-Draughon Business College in Dallas.

Slate Installed By HD Club

Gifts were exchanged and new officers installed by the College Park Home Demonstration Club when it held a salad luncheon Wednesday in the First Federal Community Room.

The new officers are Mrs. J. Guy Cook, vice president; Mrs. C. Williams, president; Mrs. Steven Dreher, secretary; Mrs. Melvin Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Wayne Watson, council delegate; and Mrs. Gerald Miller, reporter. Mrs. Miller, the retiring president, conducted the installation ceremony.

Guests introduced were Mrs. Ben Jenkins, Mrs. Norman Billingsley and Mrs. J. C. Ray.

A Santa Claus motif was used for the luncheon, and the centerpiece for the main table was an arrangement of bear grass, tumbledweed and tree ornaments sprayed with artificial snow. On one side of the table was a small Christmas tree made of tooth picks and styrofoam balls.

Programs will be scheduled for the new year during a meeting at 9:30 a.m., Jan. 5 in the home of Mrs. Bobby Richardson, 611 Caylor.

Style Is Culprit

Ironically, it was fashion's demand for the marked furs that helped endanger the species. Now, fortunately for fashion's guilty conscience, both the fabric and the fur industries have come up with some super-real look-alikes for the once ill-fated cats.

SETS DATE — Mr. and Mrs. James Weldon Doyle Stanton, are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Deborah Gay, to Clyde Eugene Auwarter, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. J. Childs, also of Stanton. The wedding will be held Dec. 18 in the home of the bride's parents.

Council Will Sponsor BSP Valentine Ball

The Beta Sigma Phi Valentine Ball has been scheduled Feb. 6 at Big Spring Country Club according to plans made by the BSP City Council at a Thursday meeting in the home of Mrs. Joe Schalk, 1906 Alabama.

Jim Baum will serve as master of ceremonies at the dance when individual chapters will present their "Sweethearts." The nominees are in competition for the national title of "BSP Sweetheart." Music will be provided by The Execs of Midland, and dance tickets will sell for $5 per couple.

In other business, each representative gave a report on activities of her chapter.

The next meeting will be Jan. 7 in the home of Mrs. Clay LaRochelle, 600 W. 16th.

Couple Planning December Rites

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Neal Hertenberger are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jerrye Lyn, to Marc Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen M. Wilson. All are of Colorado City. The wedding will be held at 6:30 p.m., Dec. 31 at the First United Methodist Church, Colorado City, with the Rev. Billy Wilkinson officiating. The engaged couple attends Texas Tech.

Patterned Mink Is Ultra-Stylish

It isn't enough to have a mink. To be ultrachic this year it has to be mink with a pattern.

Fur designers, and fashion designers who work in fur as well as fabric, are on a great kick of arranging different shades of mink into checks, stripes, plaids, polka dots, herringbone and other tweed designs. It certainly livens up the fur scene. For most of us, however, a mink coat is still a major investment.

Unless the entire winter wardrobe is planned around it, a patterned fur coat can't be the classic standby which usually justifies the expense.

Wedding Solemnized In Lubbock Church

The wedding of Miss Sarah Ellen Smith and Richard Joseph Pajot was solemnized Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the sanctuary of St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church in Lubbock.

The nuptial ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edward Kieran before an altar setting enhanced with arrangements of large white chrysanthemums interspersed with greenery. Traditional music was performed by the organist, Miss Cynthia Cole.

MRS. RICHARD JOSEPH PAJOT

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Smith, 1704 Yale, and the bridegroom is the son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Cletus T. Pajot of 340 Desert Cove Lane, El Paso, former Big Spring residents.

The bride was attired in a street-length wedding dress fashioned of white velvet styled in the Empire fashion with Juliet sleeves and bodice accents of white velvet corded and velvet buttons. Her headpiece was a small white velvet pillbox veiled with illusion, and she carried a bridal bouquet of white and bronze chrysanthemums showered with satin streamers.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. James E. Medford of Arlington, and the junior bridesmaid was the bride's niece, Miss Sarah Medford, also of Arlington. Their dresses of moss-green velvet were styled identically to the bride's, and their headpieces were matching Dior bows. Each carried a single long-stemmed bronze chrysanthemum tied with streamers.

Thomas Pajot of Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and ushers were Mike Hampton and Pat Hallisey, both of Lubbock.

SCHOOLS

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of Big Spring High School and Texas Tech University. He is now attending the Texas Tech Law School, and she teaches in the Lubbock Public Schools. After a wedding trip to Sante Fe, N.M., they will reside at Varsity Village Apts., 3002 Fourth St., Lubbock.

RECEPTION

The reception honoring the newlyweds was held at Holiday Inn-South, where guests were served at a table covered with white linen. Crystal punch bowls flanked a center arrangement of bronze, yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Presiding at the refreshment table were Mrs. Ronnie Anderson, Amarillo; and Mrs. Jimmy T. Ward, Mrs. Eric Fox, Miss Carla Dunn and Miss Eren Johnson, all of Lubbock.

Out-of-town guests were L. Chapman Smith, Houston; Ronnie Anderson, Amarillo; Mrs. Joe Lampert and Miss

Fashion Experts Tout 'Kneeish' Hemlines

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The California fashion world in general is saying the mini is dead and that the midi and around-the-knee hemlines should be the style come next spring.

But at least one style expert thinks that what's dead is the midcalf midi.

About 160 fashion editors and garment buyers attending the 26th annual California Fashion Creators press week were told Wednesday by designer Stan Hirsch:

"Retail wise the midi is dead.

It was written into the ground by fashion writers for five months before it got into the stores."

Several members of a discussion panel made up of garment industry figures disagreed with Hirsch, saying hemlines were lengthening bit by bit.

"Longer clothes are here," said designer Helen Bass.

"That's a fact. Mrs. Average America is going to take her clothes down inch-by-inch just as she took them up."

INTERNATIONAL TECHNOVATION OPEN HOUSE TODAY
... ribbon-cutting scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

END RESULT: EGG CARTONS, MEAT TRAYS

Complex Machinery Is Required

It's all very simple—raw material, heat, pressure means egg cartons and meat trays.

That's the way it works at International Technovation's new facility in Big Spring. And the result is not in the thousands, but in the millions of units.

Yet, the simplicity is complexity itself, for highly sophisticated machinery is required to transform the plastic polystyrene into one of two types of egg cartons or one of 16 kinds of meat trays.

About 40 per cent of the 40,000 square feet of space in the Intech facility is given over to the manufacturing process, another 50 per cent to storage, and the remaining 10 per cent to offices and administration.

At Intech, the stream of production begins with receipt of raw material, the polystyrene granules from Cosden Oil & Chemical Company's petrochemical complex east of Big Spring. The polystyrene arrives by railroad hopper car and is drawn into storage silos.

From this reserve, it is delivered to overhead hoppers near the extruding machines, from whence it is fed as needed.

The extruders apply heat to the polystyrene, then blow it up with freon gas (which fills the sheet full of air bubbles). As the plastic sheet is extruded from the end of the machine in a small diameter cylinder, it is stretched over a form to several times its original size. Knives then split the cylinder of expanded polystyrene into two halves, which are drawn over rollers as flat sheets, then wound on reels until rolls, weighing around 100 pounds or more and several feet thick, are wheeled away to age for a few days.

The product varies in thickness and density as to the end product, that is, whether it is destined to be a meat tray or egg carton.

After the aging time is satisfied, the rolls are put on the thermo-former element. As the sheet of foam plastic is fed into the machine, it passes through an oven which makes it soft and pliable. As it emerges from this, the material passes over a series of moulds or dyes. The counterpart of this mould is pressed down with hydraulic power (with the sheet between top and bottom dyes) and held to the precise moment required for forming. The instant this occurs, cold water surges through the moulds, instantly cooling them and the product.

In the case of meat trays, they are delivered to the end of the machine where they are inspected, counted and packaged for shipment.

As for egg cartons, the machines stamp or form them, then pass them through a two-color letter press which prints the producer's name, state license number, address, size (large or extra large), and other pertinent information. From this point they are counted and packaged.

Every day large shipments leave the plant by truck and rail to points all over the country, but primarily in Texas and the Southwest.

A dozen years ago, Cosden Oil & Chemical Company started making footprints in the production of polystyrene, one of the most useful and versatile of all plastics.

Since that time, Cosden has been making tracks all over the world with its polystyrene production and process.

Now, Cosden is making footprints to a new neighbor's plant — the Intech facility, the first in Big Spring to become a direct customer of Cosden polystyrene. Cosden therefore takes a special pride in saluting Intech, which looks to Cosden in complete confidence for its supply of pure raw material.

Cosden joins other Big Spring citizens in congratulating Intech on its attractive and streamlined new plant — a welcome addition to our community.

Things Have Moved Fast Since Creation Of Intech

Things have moved fast for Intech and for its plant in Big Spring. Its initial productive facility was at Tyler, but when expansion was considered, the Big Spring Industrial Foundation persuaded Intech to select this city, which is the home of its chief source of raw material — polystyrene — manufactured by Cosden Oil & Chemical Company.

The initial announcement of the agreement between the Industrial Foundation and Intech was made here May 13, 1970, and the actual signing of contracts took place at a gala "blast off" party at Cosden Country Club that same evening.

Here for that function were Paul Thayer, president of LTV Aerospace; R. J. Phillips, Tyler, president of Intech; Tom Rudd, vice president of Intech; also Frank Blenn, Norman Shahan, W. O. Turney Jr., R. H. Wickard, Lel Medford and C. B. Franklin, company officials.

Site preparation was begun almost immediately after the announcement, and by early July erection of steel for the building was begun. Work was pushed so steadily, that initial machinery was set and the first egg cartons were formed Aug. 23, 1970. The first extruder was started Sept. 11, and a month later the company also was turning out meat trays.

Manager Is Native Texan

Manager of the new Intech plant at Big Spring is Robert (Bob) Reiser, chemical engineer with many years of experience in the state.

Born in Central Texas near Gatesville, he was reared in Corpus Christi where he was graduated from high school. He earned his degree in chemical engineering from Texas A&I at Kingsville, then joined the staff of Dow Chemical Co. in Freeport. Later, he became associated with Coastal States Petrochemical Co. in Corpus Christi, from whence he went to the Intech organization in Tyler for a short time before being assigned here.

He is a registered professional engineer and is a member of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers.

Mrs. Reiser is the former Margarete Looney, and they have two daughters, Michelle and Suzanne, and reside at 1610 Osage. They are Methodists.

Storage Is Big Problem

Production is in such large numbers of units, and distribution is over such large areas in substantial shipments that considerable warehousing space is required in Intech's new facility here.

Adding to this problem is the natural bulk of the egg cartons and meat trays, fashioned out of the highly desirable foam polystyrene plastic.

Hence, visitors to Intech's open house will be impressed with the rows upon rows of packages of finished material stacked and awaiting shipment.

The material moves out in a steady stream both by rail and by big tractor-trailer vans. The volume is split about even between the basic type carriers.

Most of the output of egg cartons is now going to Texas suppliers, although production is being geared to reach out into other southwestern states.

Egg carton sales are handled through Paul Kelso, the Intech sales manager here, while the meat trays are sold through a brokerage, Marketing Services of Palestine, and their distribution is nationwide.

HARVEY McCROSKY II

Mississippian Is On Staff

Harvey A. McCrosky, a native Mississippian, is the assistant plant manager for Intech in Big Spring.

Reared in Holly Springs, Miss., where he completed high school, he took his degree in chemical engineering at the University of Mississippi.

Upon graduation, he was associated several years with DuPont before joining Intech.

He is married to the former Caroline Slayden, his school sweetheart in Holly Springs, and they have one son, Harvey Alexander McCrosky III, who is one year old. They reside at 300 Tulane. The McCroskys are Presbyterians.

JIM BONNER

Jim Bonner Is Navy Vet

One of the newer members of the staff of the Intech manufacturing facility in Big Spring is Jim Bonner.

Bonner came here from Rocketyne at McGregor, near Waco. Prior to that he was with Diamond Alkali in Houston.

He was reared in New London, Tex., and was in the ill-fated school house blast which claimed the life of a brother and sister.

After finishing high school, he served in the Navy, attended Abilene Christian College, then took his bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering.

He is married to the former Ruth Fowler, Lampasas, and they have six children — Brenda, Janna, Becky, Greg, Mike and Victor.

Governmental Agencies Cooperated On Intech Site

Local governmental agencies cooperated as good neighbors in out, enlightened self interest as initial development of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation development, it was site on which the new Intech agreed, offers one of the best plant is the first settler.

This was, as officials point of good, stable employment and new taxable resources.

To this end, both the City of Big Spring and Howard County had a part in improvements necessary to give utilities to the site.

The city extended a 12-inch water line to the area. This fit into the city's master plan of water distribution development, for it not only provided water to the site but improved service to existing customers in that sector.

In addition, to supplying water to the new facility, the line also put water to other potential industries, and for fire protection in the complex. A main sewer outfall fortunately was at the edge of the industrial site, making service easy. The city also did engineering on the street which had to be constructed along the south side of the area.

While the Industrial Foundation underwrote costs, Howard County constructed the roadway which furnishes ingress and egress to the property, and the Foundation, with other abutting property owners, financed curb and gutter.

The utility firms in turn extended their lines to the area.

Quality Control Carefully Watched By Plant Employees

Quality control is watched closely at Intech, and exacting standards sometimes yield reject trays and cartons as well as strips of the polystyrene foam sheets.

This, however, cannot be considered as waste, for Intech recycles the material.

Because the material has been expanded (by injection of freon gas), it cannot be used as though it were virgin raw material. So Intech has grinders which chop the foam cartons, trays, sheets, etc., into tiny pieces.

The plastic is then remoulded by subjecting it to heat and pressure in an extruder which feeds continuous strings of polystyrene which look like endless sticks of spaghetti into a water trough. At the other end of the cooling bath, the material is then chopped into pellets of specified size.

These particles are so small that, when subjected to air pressure, they flow like liquid through a system of pipes that delivers the recycled plastic to hoppers near the main extruders.

Thus, like the meat packers who learned to save everything but the squeal, Intech reduces waste to an absolute minimum while at the same time insisting on stringent quality control.

Polystyrene Result Of Local Ingenuity

Polystyrene, the basic material for egg cartons and meat trays, rolling off the lines at Intech, is the result of chemical ingenuity at Cosden Oil & Chemical Company.

Aromatics, (gaseous components), which add nothing to the fuel quality of gasoline, are extracted from the refinery stream and put through the BTX (benzene, toluene and xylene) plant. Another unit, using a super-fractionation system developed by Cosden, turns out ethyl-benzene and then styrene monomer.

This clear liquid remains stable as a liquid so long as it has only the one styrene molecule. But when these molecules are bonded together (polymerized), they form a solid — the plastic known as polystyrene. This also is brought about in a process developed by Cosden and licensed to other companies.

Production Manager Is Former Employee Of LTV

Jim Swann, who is in charge of production for Intech, was formerly a plant engineer for LTV Aerospace Division. He joined Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. about two years ago, and began assisting Intech when the plant opened here.

Swann was born in Hamilton and grew up in Gustine, where he graduated from high school. He worked his way through College of the Southwest in Hobbs, N.M., from which he holds a bachelor of science degree in industrial management, operating a power plant for Southwestern Public Service.

He and his wife, Neva Jo, live in Coahoma with their four daughters, Kim, 12, Kerry, 10, Susan, 9, and Stacey, 6. The family attends the Coahoma Baptist Church, and Swann is a member of the Masonic Lodge in Coahoma.

JIM SWANN

Plant Turns Out Pastel Cartons

Egg cartons processed at Intech come in three pleasant colors of pastel green, yellow or conventional white — but they could be turned out in any shade desired.

All Intech does is to specify to Cosden Oil & Chemical Company the precise color it desires, and Cosden — which has done extensive research and development in the field of plastic colors — supplies the virgin polystyrene in the right colors.

Firm A Giant In Aerospace Production

LTV Aerospace Corporation, one of the nation's largest producers of aviation and space hardware and systems, perhaps is the outstanding example of an airplane manufacturer whose vision grew — and has never stopped growing.

Today, its people, products and services span not only inner and outer space, but the land and the sea and some of the ordinary problems of mankind.

The products of LTV Aerospace have gone to war, helped get man to the moon and protected him while he was there, scanned the ocean depths, plowed a muddy rice paddy and brought the first glimmer of education and hope to people who wanted to work but didn't know how.

The company traces its beginnings back to 1917, when a pioneer airplane builder, Chance Milton Vought, built his first military aircraft for the U.S. Army.

In the early 1960's, the Chance Vought Corporation was absorbed into what is now the worldwide industrial and marketing empire of Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc. Today, the former Vought plants, its people and its half-century of aviation experience form the heart of LTV Aerospace Corporation.

The company's 1969 sales totaled $714,001,000, more than double the $343,696,000 of just two years before, and reflected the penetration of new markets.

LTV Aerospace is composed of two divisions — Vought Aeronautics Company and Synetics Company — and five subsidiaries — International Technovation, Service Technology Corporation, Krentron Hawaii, Ltd., LTV Education Systems, Inc., LTV Recreation Development, Inc., and Vought Helicopter Incorporated.

By HOWARD SIMMS
The Big Spring Industrial Foundation, one of the major forces responsible for making Intech at home in Big Spring, is taking a few bows today, but is primarily thinking about the encore.

Don Womack, president of the Foundation explained that even when Intech was on the way IF representatives were busily looking for new industries to use the remaining acreage of the 20-acre Industrial Park after Intech took the first 5.42-acre site.

The park was the result of a new beginning for the Foundation when Industrial Fund financial plans were merged with the IF industrial site plans within a Chamber of Commerce framework.

Big Spring businessmen demonstrated their support by pledging $203,000 to an industrial development fund, and have already made good their commitment to pay a third of the pledge by the end of 1970.

"We have already gone over what we need this year, and people are asking us if they can go ahead and pay next year's amount now so they can take advantage of the tax deduction," Womack said.

The five IF officers are not taking much of the credit for the success of the Intech effort, which left them with enough industrial park land for three more good sized factories, all of it served by a water line, railroad spur, and paved streets.

"The Foundation played a small part," Womack said, "but we owe a lot to the Cosden people who helped get us going from a technical standpoint. The most important thing is that Big Spring people gave of their resources to provide solid support that would make the project acceptable to the banking institutions."

"They show in this type of attitude that other successes are possible," he added. "Among Foundation and Chamber members there is now the feeling that we are ready for industrial growth, the feeling of backing that was missing before. We have seen that Big Spring people will actively support a good, sound business proposition."

Before Intech was "landed," Industrial Foundation representatives were negotiating for a mobile home manufacturing plant which would have hired about 200 people. The plant instead located in Snyder, but the IF came right back to citch Intech with Ling-Temco-Vought. The Foundation continued the search for new industry as the walls of Intech began going up, and began to focus its attention on the possibility of a garment factory.

"We are still working very hard to attract a garment factory, which would provide ladies' jobs," Womack said.

"We think we have an advantage over some of the larger cities, in the fact that factory owners are having problems getting dependable labor in cities where so many different industries compete with each other for the same workers."

Carried confidently in the hip pocket of the IF representative who contacts a clothing manufacturer is a copy of a survey conducted in May indicating that 2,400 local women are interested in working in such a factory. The survey also showed that, surprisingly, 100 of these have had previous experience in garment factory work.

The Industrial Foundation coordinated the city, county, and utility company efforts in making the Industrial Park a reality. Womack summed up the Foundation's present plans by saying, "We felt we needed the park if we were ever going to compete effectively for new, high-calibre industry. Now we have it and we're ready to do business."

Sales Chief Experienced

Paul Kelso, sales manager for the Intech plant here, should know his egg packaging. He spent more than a score of years in this part of the egg business, plus two years as head of the state egg law division.

Born in Farmersville, he was reared in Alice, graduated from Texas A&M, and went into the egg business, spending 22 years in it before joining Intech in September.

He is married to the former Roxine Clifton of Star, and they have two children, Larry and Beverley. The family is in the Church of Christ, and he is a Mason.

Intech Employs 70 Area Residents

A work force of approximately 70 persons is required for operation of the Intech manufacturing plant here, and this may be increased by a few more at this stage.

Annual payroll from this plant is pegged at around $275,000. Most supplies are purchased locally; in fact, the raw polystyrene, which constitutes about 90 per cent of the materials needed, is made at Cosden Oil & Chemical Company's petrochemical complex here. The material is shipped to the Intech site in a special hopper car and lifted by vacuum to storage silos.

Beautification For Site Is Planned

Now that production is humming at the new Intech plant here, the operators are turning their attention to beautification of the site.

Paved parking areas have been installed surrounding the parts of the building. Opposite the office entrance, a rock garden is being installed between the offices and the main road on the south. In the center will be a large rock slab with the name Intech. Varying size and color rocks and slab will be intermingled with colorful river rock.

Firemen Thanked

Sand Springs volunteer fire department has also been given $50 in appreciation for fighting a fire at the Fairview Gin. W. H. Tucker, Sand Springs, said this morning the firemen were at the same fire about a month ago for which the Jonesboro Road received $50.

Plant Site Is Easy To Reach

Accessibility is one of the marks of the new Industrial Foundation site for Big Spring, on which the new Intech plant is the first development. The 20 acre tract acquired from Charlie Creighton is just north of US 80, the Coca-Cola plant and Pioneer Natural Gas road to it. To the northwest is Interstate 80 highway, into which US 80 merges, and on the north side of the Intech plant is a railroad spur off the spur that goes to Webb AFB.

Big Spring Citizens Donate To Make Intech Possible

Howard County's pledges to help handle financial arrangements for construction of the Intech facility and future industrial prospects amount to $203,475.

This sum, payable as the Industrial Foundation requires, but spread over a three-year period, was committed last spring during a special civic effort, with no less than 220 business, professional firms and individuals participating.

When the Intech development came about, a call was made for payment of one-third the pledges. The Foundation has received $64,271 of this portion, still hopes to bring the total up to $75,000 or so.

Quinn Stars As Leader Of Redmen

FLAP
... Anthony Quinn

"Flap" opening today at the Ritz Theatre, is as contemporary as tomorrow's headline. Directed by Sir Carol Reed, the proud and distinguished Englishman whose "Oliver" won six Academy Awards, including Best Picture and Best Direction, "Flap" is the story of the legal but sardonically hilarious efforts of a band of Indians to prove that Red is Redoubtable.

The star of "Flap" is that stalwart Mexican-Indian himself, Anthony Quinn, who fits the role like Piute moccasins fit his feet. Quinn, playing his first Indian role since winning an Oscar for "Viva, Zapata!," is a tough, hard-drinking Indian who laments the social and economic neglect of his people. His solution is to hijack a railroad train, claim Phoenix for his tribe and precipitate the Last Great Indian Uprising.

If Quinn fails to react rapturously to kind words of the critics, it is because he would then feel impelled to react resentfully to their harsh ones.

"It sounds like a strangely convoluted theory," he concedes, "and one, I believe, that first came out of the mouth of Don Quixote. But the point is that over the years I have restrained myself from bursts of pride and self-satisfaction at good notices, just so that I could accept the bad ones with more grace."

Quinn's comments on reviewers' criticisms stemmed from the splendid notices he has been receiving for his motion pictures. "I don't let them go to my head," he says. "Not even when people speak of Academy Award possibilities, as they do with increasing frequency as the year nears an end."

Having won awards in the supporting category for his performances in "Lust For Life" and "Viva, Zapata," being thus honored is hardly an irresistible lure to the star. "An Academy Award is great," he says, "but I suppose right now I'm most interested in getting on with the role at hand."

It is a contemporary Indian whom Quinn portrays and a very different man from the Chief Crazy Horse he played a quarter of a century ago in "They Died With Their Boots On." It was his first role as an Indian. "But even in those days," he says, "I tried to give the Indian a dignity that was lacking in the then current cowboy-and-Indians film stories.

'Crystal Plumage,' Blazes Own Trail

"The Bird With The Crystal Plumage" descended quietly on New York for its American Premiere in the midst of a noteworthy summer season of motion picture fare and promptly blazed a trail of its own reminiscent of the one "Psycho" had started ten years earlier.

The mystery-crime thriller, which is due to open at the Ritz Theatre Thursday, outgassed all other first run competition in its beginning weeks with the exception of the Radio City Music Hall, with its lavish stage show putting it in a class by itself.

The success of "The Bird With The Crystal Plumage" in July, 1970, has more than just a parallel in "Psycho." Hitchcock's triumph which premiered in June, 1960. A brief rundown of the opening years of previous decades since sound was added to motion pictures, reveals that while always receptive to solid drama, comedies, musicals and spectacles, the American movie-going public likes nothing better than a good scare or to become involved with tension building situations that leave their nervous systems as limp as a bowlful of overcooked spaghetti.

"Frankenstein" and "Dracula" were the darlings (!) of 1931 as they horrified and captivated people who were in sore need to be lifted out of their depression-plagued world. Only "King Kong," a 1933 entry, was able to match their gruesome appeal. As a series of sequels and second class imitations started to thin out the breed, the public began to look upon them with jaundiced eyes. The times had improved and the mood set for a more sophisticated type of blood thinner.

In 1940 "Rebecca," Alfred Hitchcock's first American-made movie, brought the thrill seekers up short. The picture has with its harrowed heroine and her handsome but brooding husband living in a foreboding looking mansion controlled by a real live witch of a housekeeper, was a revelation. A pattern of civilized maleficence was established. The "Maltese Falcon" in 1941 was another style setter with its glossy who-dunnit sheen. By the end of that decade the super-spy and hounded here had been pretty well absorbed into the shock system, and the lure of a new novelty, television, was keeping people glued to their favorite armchair at home.

The coming of 1950 indicated the desperate need of some gimmick that would jolt everyone out of their homes and into motion picture theatres again. Cinema's wild roller-coaster ride in 1953 was but the beginning of the revolution in filming and projection techniques. 3D hurtled anything that wasn't nailed down on the screen into the laps of startled, bespectacled audiences. Stereophonic sound engulfed spectators from all sides as they looked at gargantuan-sized actors doing their things on football-field-sized screens. Some new lessons had to be learned as the movie-makers started to take a second look at the gimmicks that were now standard equipment and had effectively saved the day.

"Psycho" hit in 1960 and shrieks of joyful horror were heard across the land again. Hitchcock had learned his lessons well. Other paranoid anti-heroes crawled out of the woodwork but they could never quite catch up to the mother of them all. Secret Agent 007 and his science-fiction devices exploded on the scene and the space age sagas took their followers really way off into the wild blue yonder.

Back to earth again in 1970 and the time is ripe for a different type of spellbinder to tighten slackened jaws. "The Bird With The Crystal Plumage" has a modern day Jack-the-Ripper type of maniac slithering around the dark byways of Rome slicing up pretty girls and carving up the emotions of terrified audiences.

Tony Musante, the promising young American actor, Suzy Kendall and Eva Renzi are starred in "The Bird With The Crystal Plumage."

YOU CAN'T WIN 'EM ALL
... Charles Bronson, Tony Curtis

Bronson Took 20 Years To Become Star

It took Charles Bronson, who stars with Tony Curtis and Michele Mercier in "You Can't Win 'Em All," opening Thursday at the Ritz 20 years to become an "overnight" star. And the rugged ex-coal miner worked every minute for it.

Bronson and Curtis play American adventurers in rebellion-torn Turkey after World War I in "You Can't Win 'Em All," which co-stars Patrick Magee.

Born in the heart of the Pennsylvania coal country, Charles was the ninth of 14 sons of a coal miner. While he also went to work in the mines, he quit as soon as he could. He tried different jobs until the advent of World War II when he joined the Air Force.

Following his discharge, Bronson hitchhiked across the country five times until, in Philadelphia, he became a member of an amateur theatre group. After two years of working with the group, while supporting himself with odd jobs, he decided to try his luck in the developing TV industry on the West Coast.

Bronson arrived in Hollywood with exactly $1.50 in his pocket, but, luckily, was able immediately to join the Pasadena Community Playhouse. During the next year, Bronson made the first of nearly 40 screen appearances which included such films as "Vera Cruz," "Jubal," "A Thunder of Drums," "The Sandpiper," "This Property Is Condemned," "The Magnificent Seven," "The Great Escape," "The Dirty Dozen," which clinched his claim to stardom, and "Once Upon a Time in the West."

Briton Plays Dual Role

David Hemmings' multifarious activities make him the nearest thing to a Renaissance man you'll find in these days of the hallowed "specialist." His burgeoning acting career might seem enough to absorb an average man's energies. But Hemming is hardly the average man.

Stage and screen actor, writer, artist, horseman, singer, guitar-player, dog racer, businessman and boxing manager: these are but a few of the multiple facets of this 27-year-old Englishman.

It follows then that Hemmings should play not one, but two roles in the bawdy new comedy, "The Best House in London," co-starring Joanna Pettet and featuring George Sanders, Dany Robi and Warren Mitchell. The film opens Wednesday at the Cinema.
