

ASSEMBLYMAN KILLED IN BOMBING OF HIS CLINIC

Christmas Wave Of Terror

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command increased its police patrols in Saigon today as part of a precautionary alert to counter a pre-Christmas wave of terrorist attacks in the South Vietnamese capital.

The U.S. Air Force said it had intelligence reports showing "a very likely possibility of increased attempts of assassination and kidnaping of U.S. servicemen."

INCREASE PATROLS
Three Americans were killed and 14 wounded in bomb and grenade attacks in Saigon Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Two gunmen killed a member of the South Vietnamese National Assembly today, but it apparently was not a case of political terrorism; the gunmen were trying to extort more than $7,000 from the assemblyman, a doctor.

The U.S. Command said the Army "has increased its military police patrols and has advised military personnel to avoid crowds and the downtown area of Saigon whenever possible. Personnel were advised to take normal safety precautions which have always been in effect."

AMBUSH AMERICAN
A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said civilian personnel were also being reminded of normal precautions, particularly those for the security of buildings and vehicles.

Outside the capital, one American was killed and eight were wounded in an ambush in the Central Highlands. South Vietnamese troops reported a sharp clash in eastern Cambodia. But with American battlefield action continuing at a low level, the U.S. Command in its weekly casualty summary said 29 of its men were killed in action last week and 32 others died from accidents, illness and other non-hostile causes.

Another 377 Americans were wounded in action last week, while the South Vietnamese command said it had 290 men killed and 754 wounded. The U.S. Command said allied forces killed 351 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

The attacks on Americans in Saigon began last weekend when Vietnamese threw fire bombs at several U.S. military vehicles to protest the killing of a student by an American soldier in Qui Nhon.

On Tuesday, Viet Cong and North Vietnamese broadcasts called for "greatly increased offensive action" against American and South Vietnamese troops and military installations. A few hours later a bomb exploded in a U.S. officers' billet. On Wednesday night a terrorist threw a fragmentation grenade into a group of Americans and Vietnamese outside a U.S. Navy billet near Tan Son Nhut air base, and three hours later a 35-pound explosive charge went off in the lobby of a U.S. officers' billet about a mile away.

NOT GOOD ENOUGH
Asked who was responsible for the rash of attacks, the U.S. security chief for Saigon, Brig. Gen. Michael J. L. Greene, told a news conference: "It's a combination of things—student activity, Viet Cong terrorists and maybe just some disgruntled people."

"No security can be good enough to stop this kind of thing," he added. "The terrorist has the advantage of knowing what he wants to do, where he wants to put a charge and when."

On the battlefields, South Vietnamese infantry, bombers and artillery killed 34 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in Cambodia on Highway One, about 55 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, a spokesman said. He reported six South Vietnamese troops were wounded. On the Cambodian government's northeastern front, the combined Cambodian and South Vietnamese sweep to clear Highway 7 had made no further progress despite only token Communist resistance, a Cambodian spokesman in Phnom Penh said. Forces moving from east and west were reported still nine miles apart.

III Wind Blows Kettles No Good
The Salvation Army today hoisted a new abbreviation for Christmas. It read: "SOS!" Tuesday's fierce sand storm must have been an ill wind, for it blew the Salvation Army's Christmas kettle appeal about $200 behind last year's pace, until then, gifts had been running about even.

But the big lag is in response to letters of appeal mailed a fortnight ago by the Salvation Army.

"We are missing on the responses by people of ordinary means," said Lt. Joseph Saint. "Every gift, regardless of how much, is needed desperately, and we plead for those who can to mail in their Christmas remembrances."

The SA corps here is out on the limb of a Christmas tree because it had to place orders for food estimated to be needed in the distribution of baskets to 420 families which have applied for help.

"All our Christmas activities must stand on their own," explained Lt. Saint. "This is entirely separate from all our other work—it is an expression of the community, acting through us, to remember the 'least of these' at Christmas."

If there are church groups, clubs, etc. that plan to adopt families for Christmas remembrances, Lt. Saint said he could furnish names. In any event, he urged those with independent projects to notify him so that the work can be coordinated.

"It's not so much that we want to avoid duplication," he said, "but that we want to make our supplies go as far as possible so no one will be missed. So please let us know."

BOYS 'TAKE' TRAIN FOR CHRISTMAS

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Two boys who apparently wanted a train for Christmas took a seven-car Chesapeake and Ohio freight and disappeared from the Saginaw, Mich., yards early today.

The train was recovered about an hour later, 40 miles up the track, by another engine sent out to capture the errant train. The second engine coupled onto the wayward train while moving at 40-miles-per-hour and braked it to a halt.

HOODLUM IN HEAVEN? — The fall that gave 6-year-old Mary Jo LeStourgeon her shiner was not in the script of the Christmas play she was rehearsing. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Graham LeStourgeon hit a table at home while trying out her wings. Mary Jo appeared in the play today at St. Richard's School.

ALL LIT UP 'Cross-Town Rivalry In Decorations

Big Spring is all lit up these days as the Christmas season reaches flood-tide. There is hardly a section of town that doesn't have some decorations. In the areas where couples have lived for years, the attempt at lighting is not so widespread. There seems to be some sort of connection with age — and being in the family bracket.

The decoration rivalry is most intense across town — Bucknell in the east and Cecilia in the southwest. Colgate has its own challenge to adjacent Bucknell, but in the south end of the city, Highland is coming on strong. Because it is longer, it holds the record for sheer number of displays. In fact, most of Highland South addition is decorated, and the streets which swing off Highland should not be missed.

Morrison and Alabama no longer hold the championship for decorations, although the east ends of these streets still abound in the spirit. The east sector of College Park has several special arrangements.

Bucknell goes all out with all sorts of decorations, while Colgate has repeated a cooperative theme in which all residents have planted brilliantly lit Christmas trees in their yards. In the same vicinity, there is one of the most lavish displays of all at the corner of Dartmouth and Baylor.

Kentwood has a number of bright spots, although they are a bit scattered. On the way to Cecilia (the street south of Marcy school), light lovers might swing off Wasson Road down Parkway and pick up a Christmas scene with Peanuts characters. And while in the general area, a swing west into Wasson Place and a quick loop around the north and south streets may be rewarding.

Of course, these listings do not by any means detail the attractive displays scattered over town, but they may help the viewer map his tour route.

Goodfellow Air Base 'Disaster'

AUSTIN (AP) — Relocation of San Angelo's Goodfellow Air Force Base to Florida could "prove disastrous" to the West Texas city, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes has told Defense Secretary Melvin Laird.

He wrote the secretary Wednesday concerning reports the Pentagon is considering such a move.

"The proposed relocation could result in tremendous loss of tax dollars for education, improvements and public services because of the migration of as much as 20 per cent of the population of San Angelo," Barnes said.

Average Dope Seller Young, Uses Drugs

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — The average drug seller is young, white, uses drugs himself, considers himself honest and friendly and doesn't regard himself as a criminal, says a researcher.

That was the profile painted by Dr. Richard Blum of Stanford University's Institute for Public Policy Analysis in a report Wednesday to 23 scholars and government officials from five nations attending an international drug abuse conference.

Blum said his findings were based on analysis of 454 interviews with drug pushers in jails, psychiatric wards, colleges, high schools, junior high schools, the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco and rural California youth communities.

START ON ALCOHOL

Most pushers got their start on alcohol in their teens, became heavy smokers of both tobacco and marijuana before their mid-20s, and had used narcotics by the same age, he found.

Almost all had begun illicit drug use in their teens, receiving the drug from a friend or acquaintance the first time, Blum said.

He said most of the user-pushers said they were nervous before their first try at drugs, but by the time of their first sale the majority said they were no longer nervous about arrest.

Blum said only about 10 per cent said they felt guilty about drugs but as they continued selling drugs, they became worried about some of the consequences.

SUSPECTED ASSASSIN CAPTURED — South Vietnamese police search pockets today of terrorist who they say attacked and killed a member of the South Vietnamese House of Deputies in his Saigon office. The alleged assassin was seriously injured during the capture. Three other civilians were also wounded in the attack.

13 Lawmakers Turned Down Campaign Gifts Of Bankers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new report to Congress shows at least 13 lawmakers have turned down controversial campaign donations from a bankers' political fund.

This left 13 others, including presidential contender Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and a Georgia congressman who had no election opponent, were listed as recipients of the banking group's contributions.

The Bankers Political Action Committee touched off the dispute last month when it reported giving more than $40,000 to members of the House and Senate Banking Committees in the last few days before the election.

The Justice Department began a probe after House Banking Committee chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., accused the bankers' group of trying to weaken a bill to prohibit one-bank holding companies from branching out into other business fields. A compromise version of this bill passed the House 364 to 4 Wednesday and is

CHILDREN AID CHEER FUND

A gift from children and a memorial helped to boost the Christmas Cheer Fund today, and it made some more progress.

Time is running out to build the Fund to its requirements, so that Christmas joy will reach every poor child in Big Spring. Next week toys which have been repaired by firemen will, through the assistance of the Salvation Army, be going out to homes which otherwise do not see Santa Claus.

You are invited to help in the spirit of the holiday, and your gift of any size will be welcome. Make checks to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND and mail to The Herald for acknowledgment.

REPORT FROM EUROPE

Common Market Directors Debate, Have Little Power

(Another in a special series of dispatches by a Texas writer currently doing special research in Europe.)

By FRED DUBOISE JR. STRASSBOURG, France — Here, the dignitaries of Europe meet in a cavernous, oak-paneled chamber, seat themselves at polished tables arranged in sweeping semicircles, and go through the motions of parliamentary procedure. The hall rings with eloquence — or drones with monotony — in four languages; interpreters sit babbling behind glass walls, and parliamentarians hold earphones to their heads and look book, Parliament can fire the nine-member European Executive Commission (the administrative body of the Common Market) with a two-thirds majority vote... but because they cannot appoint a new Commission, this Commission is responsible to the Council of Ministers, the highest authority of the Common Market. And the Parliament cannot really control the Council — because the Council members are responsible only to their own national governments. Like advisory directors in a business, the Parliament is constantly confronted by people who are responsible to someone else.

power exist. By the provisions of the Rome Treaty, which established the Common Market in 1958, members of the European Parliament can be chosen by popular election. But the treaty sets no time for this — so members are still appointed by their national assemblies. The Parliament, realizing it would have more power if its members were popularly elected (since constituents would clamor for meaningful representation), has threatened to bring the Council of Ministers before the Common Market's Court of Justice (an embryo Supreme Court on U.S. lines), for failure to observe the treaty.

UNDEMOCRATIC
Direct elections would give the public a voice in shaping decisions of the Common Market. The present system is often criticized as undemocratic, since the powerful Commission and Council of Ministers are selected by national administrations, with no effective parliamentary control.

Too, if Western Europe is to move toward political unification, then Europeans must develop a European, rather than national, consciousness. It is felt that the European Parliament, by giving the people a direct voice in Europe-wide affairs, would create such a consciousness. This is one of the more compelling arguments for a powerful Parliament.

But so long as the Council of Ministers, responsible to national parliaments, remains the arbiter of Common Market decisions, the European Parliament can be nothing more than ineffectual. In the main dialogue between Commission and Common Market, it is merely an interrupter, a heckler — a somber chamber-full of men that nobody's really interested in hearing.

MONEY MATTERS

Even the source of all real parliaments' powers — the budget — is denied the Strasbourg assembly. The Common Market's budget, because of the insistence of Charles DeGaulle and others, has remained under the control of the Council of Ministers. Some progress was made earlier this year, however, when the Parliament gained the right by 1975 to appropriate all money for Common Market information (three to four per cent of the total budget). This means Parliament will be able to allot some $7 million annually for its own propaganda — which in turn could convince great numbers of Europeans to rally for greater parliamentary powers.

ONLY ADVISE

As it stands, the Parliament is unable to stir up opinion through its debates. It can only advise. Nobody needs its consent. As Elena Bubba, director of the parliamentary documentation service says, "As the Common Market grows, it offers more and more details but less and less subject matter for great political debates."

POSSIBILITIES

Still, possibilities for future

DEBATERS

Theoretically, the Parliament exercises control over the activities of the Common Market. The body consists of 142 delegates chosen by and from the national assemblies of the six Common Market countries — 36 each from France, Germany, and Italy, 14 each from Belgium and the Netherlands, and six from Luxembourg. They sit according to political allegiance, not by nationality. But although they meet eight times a year, and up to 250 times each year in 12 specialized committees, the parliamentarians remain little more than a debating society. (And a half-hearted one, at that.) While Parliament is in session, a large number of delegates are likely to be found in the bar or milling elsewhere about the building. One cynic here goes so far as to call the group the "Cafe de l'Europe."

MEANINGLESS

One peculiar situation points up the impotence of the Parliament: According to the rule

'Fool' Cousin Chops Up Trio In Campeche

CAMPECHE, Mexico (AP) — The dismembered bodies of rancher Francisco Lopez Romero, his wife and sister-in-law were found in the parlor of his ranch house. Lopez' cousin was arrested later at a hospital when he brought in a bleeding 7-year-old girl.

Juan Lara Lopez told police his cousin and the two women "always called him 'fool' and were picking on him." "They were going to kill me and I decided to kill them first," he said.

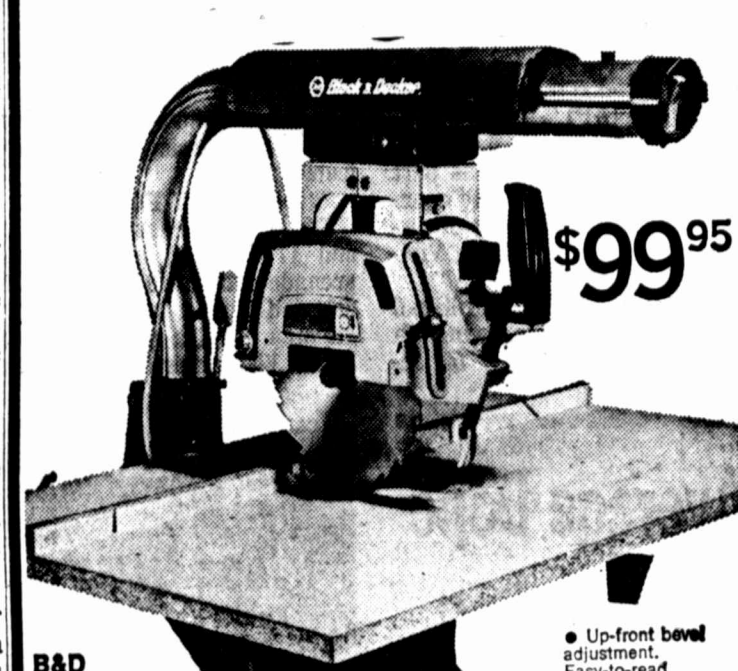

He said he tried to kill the little girl because she was a witness, police said, but "later he felt sorry for her and decided to take her to the hospital." The child has not been identified.

Officers said they saw "arms and legs chopped and scattered through the main parlor" of the house. Lara told them he used a machete after shooting his victims "to be sure they were really dead."

Police had speculated earlier that the slayings were done by a group of hippies who were seen some days ago in Campeche.

Judging in the Coahoma Lions Club Christmas decoration contest will end Tuesday. Winners will be announced Wednesday.

All homeowners in the Coahoma-Sand Springs area are eligible. According to Lions Club president Grady Tindol, no formal entry is necessary, and there is no entry fee.

First, second and third prizes will be awarded. First prize is a yard lamp donated by Texas Electric Co.; second prize is $15 awarded by the Coahoma Lions; and third is $10 also awarded by the Lions.

Brain Aids On The Way

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The University of Texas Medical Branch here has a new division dedicated to bringing better mental health to the community. The Division of Community and Social Psychiatry has been organized for several months but it still has no firm rules.

"We do not, and will not, have definite guidelines," says Dr. Daniel Creson, the youthful chief of the division.

As an assistant professor of neurology and psychiatry, Dr. Creson has been seeing more and more public demand that the concept of community mental health be put into far-reaching practice.

"Society is demanding that we, who have been trained as authority in mental health and in human behavior, do something above and beyond the traditional, over-burdened techniques in dealing with increasingly acute mental health problems," he said.

Besides spreading professional services to lay people, the division staff plans to provide mental health counseling to doctors, nurses and others who work with troubled patients.

The division's projects so far include getting out-patients together in their own neighborhoods for informal sessions and exploring ways they can help personal at The Bridge, a facility offering temporary shelter to troubled adolescents.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I owned a store in New York and we used to spend about five months of the year in Florida. He died in Florida last month, and it was his wish that he be buried in Florida. I notified his employees in New York, and his bookkeeper who had been with him for 13 years, and his manager, who had been with him for 28 years, flew to Florida for his funeral.

Later, when I checked over the books, I found that the manager and bookkeeper had charged their airline tickets to my husband's business! I am terribly angry over this and wonder if I should insist that they reimburse the business.

DEAR WIDOW: Ask yourself, "How would my husband have handled it?" Then, handle it that way.

DEAR ABBY: I have been unable to find the correct type of card to send to friends and relatives to announce the arrival of an adopted baby. Printing services in our city have not been able to help us. My husband feels that we should make it perfectly clear that we have adopted a baby. I don't think that is necessary. I think if we send out announcements with the baby's name

Vets Unaware Of Benefits

Many veterans who served in the armed forces between Jan. 31, 1955, and March 3, 1966, may not realize they are eligible for educational benefits, observed Jack Coker, director of the Veterans Administration regional office in Waco.

"To be eligible for educational benefits," Coker pointed out, "these veterans must have been released under other than dishonorable conditions after more than 180 days of active military duty, any part of it after Jan. 31, 1955. Or, they must have been released for a service-connected disability," he added.

Coker also expressed concern that an undetermined number of wives and widows of deceased veterans or veterans totally disabled by service-connected injuries may be missing out on educational benefits.

Information may be had from the VA contact office Room 104 VA Hospital in Big Spring.

Enrollment Is Down Locally

Robbery Conviction Of Fem Tutor Upheld

The weekly enrollment report for Big Spring schools for last week showed that 7,331 students were enrolled, a loss of 13 from the previous week and a gain of 94 from the same week last year.

School administration officials said the loss was a seasonal fluctuation and that the gain from last year was due to kindergarten program.

The elementary school total showed a loss of eight students. Airport, Cedar Crest and Lakeview schools each lost three; Kentwood and Bauer each, lost one; and Boydston, College Heights and Washington schools gained one student each.

The secondary schools showed a loss of four students. Goliad Junior High School lost two; Senior High School lost five; and Runnels Junior High School gained three.

The special education program lost one student making the total loss of 13 students in the school district.

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals upheld Wednesday the robbery conviction of a University of Houston woman teacher who allegedly engineered a hold-up to obtain funds to buy arms from the Cuban Embassy in Canada.

The court said it could find no error in the Fort Worth trial that resulted in a 35-year prison sentence for Gerry Charlotte Phelps, 39.

In its opinion, the court said the record reflected Miss Phelps "planned, directed rehearsals and furnished money and an automobile for the robbery to obtain funds to purchase weapons through the Cuban Embassy in Canada."

POLICE TIPPED
Miss Phelps, the court said, planned the robbery of the Bigwick Liquor Store on Memorial Drive in Houston with one of her management students, a former student, a 17-year-old high school dropout and others.

About $1,200 was taken from the owner and a customer of the liquor store.

Police had been tipped in advance, the court said, and arrested Miss Phelps shortly after the robbery.

Defense attorneys contended on appeal that the Fort Worth trial court, which received the case on a change of venue from Houston, erred in allowing witnesses to testify about statements and transactions made before the robbery by the alleged conspirators. The lawyers said the evidence was inadmissible since conspiracy was not charged.

Where two or more people take part in the commission of a felony, evidence of the conspiracy is admissible even though the substantive crime of conspiracy is not charged in the indictment, the court said.

Miss Phelps' lawyers also claimed the case should be retried because the trial judge al-

Free Food Guidelines

HOUSTON (AP) — New federal regulations as of Jan. 1 could make three times as many children in the Houston schools eligible for free lunches.

Arthur L. Huckaby, coordinator for welfare in the district, the nation's sixth largest, said the new federal guidelines make as many as 39,000 children eligible for the free food.

Last year, 11,033 pupils received free lunches. This year through Jan. 1, 15,379 were eligible.

The guidelines generally increase the maximum monthly family income permitted for eligibility, he said.

The Houston School District, with the aid of federal funds and commodities breaks even on plate lunches sold. The district charges 40 cents for a plate lunch.

In addition to the noon meal, some 2,900 children in 25 schools in the lowest economic areas of the district get free breakfasts.

"There is no doubt that this program will feed the majority of needy children in our district and give promise of a more effective educational program for all children," Huckaby said.

"Simply put, as this program increases, the absenteeism will drop and there will be fewer dropouts. A hungry child cannot learn."

HIGH SCHOOL DROPOUT Died From Consuming 'Christmas Trees'

HOUSTON (AP) — David Jerome Bell, 18, a high school dropout, was found dead in a drainage ditch near his home recently.

He died, police say, apparently from consuming too many capsules called "Christmas trees." The doctors call them tinal, a central nervous system depressant young persons can get for 25 cents to a dollar, depending on supply and demand.

His mother, Mrs. Ethel Bell, a maid, blamed neighborhood conditions for at least a part of her son's downfall. She said no adequate recreation facilities exist in the Negro and Mexican-American neighborhood.

For lack of anything better to do, Mrs. Bell said, kids like her David resort to drugs.

But now a group of blacks say they are taking steps to curb the drug traffic the police cannot seem to stop.

A pharmacy instructor at Texas Southern University, Mickey Leland, said TSU pharmacy students are making regular visits with kids in the Blossum Heights community offering them alternatives to drugs.

"We told them we (blacks) have a goal, a freedom to seek," Leland explained. "The kids immediately tell me where to go almost."

"They have nothing to do in the Blossum Heights community. There are lots of indigent people out there, no recreational facilities, street lights or proper sewer facilities."

"The white people out in the Piney Point community (which is next to Blossum Heights) are mainly affluent people. When kids go to their parks the white people object to it."

Debroah Alridge, a 17-year-old high school dropout who is secretary of project NOW, a united effort to stop drug traffic and offer safer alternatives, said most of the pushers are white. She said the attitude toward the police in the community is one of mistrust.

"They (the police) don't want to talk to me unless they want to arrest me or kill me," she said.

Currently about 20 per cent of the youngsters in the neighborhood "get high," Miss Alridge said.

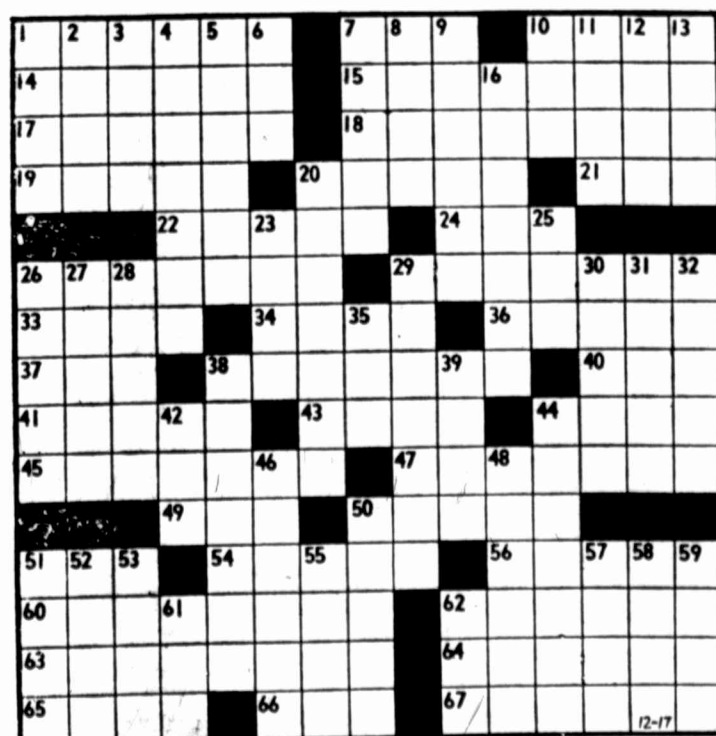

Mrs. Bell has helped form a group of parents against drugs called "The New Way."

"Drugs can make you destroy yourselves," Mrs. Bell tells children in the neighborhood. "If my son's death can help reach you all, I ask you all, I beg of you to think of him and try to do something for yourself."

Tot In Car Can Become 'Misguided Missile'

DALLAS (AP) — An unrestrained small child in an automobile can become the most dangerous "misguided missile" in an auto accident, a doctor told a recent Dallas convention gathering.

Dr. James A. White III of Alexandria, La., said, "the real damage to the large bones of these children's faces often isn't realized for years."

He said that in treating broken bones, cuts and the like, the face often is ignored after an accident.

"However, we've found in studying 20 years of records at Charity Hospital in Alexandria that multiple fractures of the bones around the temple, mouth and upper teeth often have gone undetected."

The doctor added, "No one notices until he's 8 or 10 years old. Then they bring him into the office asking why his head looks different on one side."

In addition to being injured, said Dr. White, the child often injures others in a crash. In research, all these cases show the child had no restraint from controlling devices.

"In that case, in even a relatively minor accident, the flying child becomes a dangerous missile as he hurtles forward," said the doctor.

White recommended restraint by an infant carrier or a toddler seat.

"No seat or shoulder belt can hold them safely until they reach a height of 55 inches," he said.

Tech To Grant Doctorate Degree

LUBBOCK — The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, has granted Texas Tech University authority to offer the doctor of philosophy degree in economics.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Dr. S. M. Kennedy, vice president for academic affairs, at the university. The degree will be offered starting with the fall, 1971, semester through the Graduate School.

Texas Tech is the only institution within a 300-mile radius offering the degree.

'72 LULAC Hopes Glow

BEAUMONT (AP) — Paul Garza, national president of the League of United Latin America Citizens (LULAC), says 2,500 members are expected at the 1972 LULAC convention to be held in Beaumont.

To date, Beaumont has not been host to a convention of this size.

Garza, 35, of Laredo was met by Gene Landry, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's "Gold Coasters" welcoming committee, as the national president spent two days inspecting facilities here.

He related that the organization is 41 years old. It spread from its Corpus Christi birthplace and now lists active members in 17 states.

Garza said the objectives of the organization are equal rights and advancement of Mexican-Americans through education and civic accomplishments.

Failed To Prove Knew Guns Used

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge dismissed a charge of robbery by firearms against Henry Walker after the government failed to prove that Walker knew guns were used in a savings and loan firm robbery.

Walker, 34, was one of four persons charged by the FBI in connection with the $888 robbery Aug. 26 of the Heights Savings Association.

Walker's nephew, Searcy Walker, 21, pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to four years in prison.

But the elder Walker pleaded innocent and U.S. District Judge Allen B. Hannay ordered the instructed verdict from the jury.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kyle Johnson has been signed by producer Gene Roddenberry for "Pretty Maids All In A Row," the first picture to be directed in the United States by Roger Vadim. WTCC Session Is Scheduled Friday

West Texas Chamber of Commerce members will meet in Odessa Friday for a "pre-legislative-session" conference on political affairs.

Local WTCC directors Jimmy Taylor, George McAlister, and Joe Moss, will be unable to attend the conference, and none of the local WTCC members are planning to attend.

Keynoting the session will be G. F. (Gus) Mutscher, speaker of the state house of representatives, who will give a luncheon address on activities planned by a WTCC "Committee of 100" for political influence.

Other panels are to discuss appropriations and redistricting in morning sessions, and taxation legislation in an afternoon session, with a question and answer period following each in a format planned by Reuben Senterfitt, chairman of WTCC's state affairs committee.

Panelists include Hermes Miller of the legislative budget board, Robert E. Johnson, executive director of the Texas Legislative Council, and Thomas M. Keel, budget director of the legislative budget board.

Also on panels are Representatives W. S. Heatly, Richard C. Slack, Tommy Shannon, Ben Atwell, Forest A. Harding, and James Nugent, and Senators J. P. Word, Tom Creighton, and W. E. (Pete) Snelson.

Residents Hold Their Heads Up

ANACONDA, Mont. (AP) — Residents in this smelter city are holding their heads up this Christmas season.

The city's Christmas tree, placed Thursday in the City Commons, stands 86 feet tall, higher than the 78-foot giant in front of the capitol in Washington and outstretching the 40-foot tall shrub at Rockefeller Center in New York.

The Anaconda tree can be seen at night for miles around as it glows with 1,200 lights.

The bidding:
South West North East
1NT Pass 3NT Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠. Concern for the safety of his three no trump contract paid off a handsome dividend to one declarer in a recent team of four match, when he took maximum measures to protect himself.

The bidding was the same at both tables, and in each case West opened the jack of spades into declarer's queen. One South led the seven of diamonds at trick two to North's queen to put thru the queen of clubs for a finesse. West was in with the king.

The spade suit could now be established by leading the king to dislodge South's ace, however the sequence of plays had uncovered some interesting information concerning declarer's holding.

When the jack of diamonds held, it indicated that South had both the ace and king. He was marked with the ace, queen of spades and if he had the ace of clubs as well—as was suggested from the manner in which he had played that suit—then 10 tricks were there for the taking. What was most significant, however, was that West could assign 17 points to South in these three suits, leaving nothing in the fourth suit—hearts. So reasoning, West shifted to a heart thru dummy's king-jack. East proceeded to cash five tricks in that suit to send the declarer down to defeat.

At the other table, South was more concerned about protecting his Achilles heel from attack. He did not mind letting East in where a heart shift would assure him of retaining a stopper in that suit. He felt that every effort must be extended to keep West out of the lead.

After winning the spade opening, declarer put down the ace of clubs and caught West's king. He routinely cashed 11 tricks—five clubs, four diamonds and two spades—and netted an 860 point swing for his side (660 for the vulnerable game plus the 200 point set recorded by his teammates).

Teachers Want To Punish Folks Who Disrupt Classes

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Jewell Harris, president of the Texas State Teachers' Association, says the organization will ask the state legislature to enact new laws to penalize those who disrupt school classes.

Mrs. Harris, speaking to a luncheon group Wednesday, also said the TSTA would "strongly resist" efforts to eliminate financing for needed school programs, even though it realized that "the biggest problem facing the legislature is money."

"We will resist all attempts to lessen the effectiveness of current laws," she said.

Mrs. Harris said House Bill No. 240 was one of the current laws under fire. The 1969 bill established pay grades and job titles for teachers and guaranteed pay raises in 1974 and 1978. Mrs. Harris also told the group that the association had adopted a defensive strategy due to attempts to rescind some of the laws passed by the 1969 legislature. She said the TSTA would ask for:

—A new central staff bill, offering pay raises to educational secretaries and administrative officers;

—A professional career contract bill, guaranteeing salaries and positions;

—A retirement increase, to include a 10 per cent increase for teachers who are already retired;

—A proprietary school bill, giving the state licensing authority over all contracts involving state and federal schools;

—A duty-free lunch period for every teacher, guaranteeing him a private period each school day;

—A personal duties bill spelling out the specific responsibilities of school faculties and administrators.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us. (Luke 2:15)

PRAYER: Dear God, we thank Thee that throughout the whole world loving hearts are dedicated to making real the story of the coming of Thy Son. Fill us with joy as we remember the coming of Thy Son. Fill us with joy as we remember the coming of our Lord to live among men. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Maybe Not Doing It Is Progress

The noted historian, Arnold Toynbee, lately observed that we are just beginning to recognize the incidental effects of technological progress, such as pollution of earth, air and water, the congestion of traffic, the unbearable noise at airports and along highways and in cities, may be so detrimental to human life that we shall have to restrict, or even totally ban, the technological causes of these evils.

The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, shows encouraging insight in involving architects along with educators in its long-range planning seminars.

Toynbee's point, expressed in others who have wondered, is that technology has no inherent value of its own, that doing something merely because it can be done is useless. C. P. Snow, another eminent thinker, has said that mankind will show progress when he finds something possible to do but has no real merit and he declines to do it. Like building the supersonic transport aircraft for the reasons now offered in support of the project, make jobs, fly people across the ocean faster than they need to get across, and compete with unproven craft abroad.

Premature Decision

Obviously, there may be a lot we don't know about the case, but it appears Judge George H. Boldt's declaration of a mistrial in the Seattle conspiracy trial was premature.

The defendants are charged with conspiring to damage federal property in a riot last February. The judge declared a mistrial because the defendants refused to enter the courtroom. He said he feared this refusal might bias the jury.

This year has seen many courtroom disruptions — the Manson case, the Chicago 7, the Washington 9, the Black Panthers in New York. It appears to be the radical mode of being tried.

Judge Boldt properly cited the defendants for contempt. However, he simply could have placed them in an adjoining room with a sound system to convey the court proceedings. This has been done before and has been supported by the Supreme Court.

Actually, it is an advantage for some defendants to be out of sight and sound of the jury and judge. There is a chance for a more objective trial. Judge Boldt was too hasty.

How They Merged Santa Claus

WASHINGTON — Although there was a great deal of excitement at the time of the merger of Santa Claus and the conglomerate of Consolidated Consortium United, it did not work out as well as everyone had expected.

If you recall, a press conference was held at the North Pole where Harley B. Dickens, the chairman of the Board of Consolidated, announced that his company had bought out Santa Claus for $150 million worth of Consolidated stock, which was then selling at $14 a share.

MR CLAUS was reluctant to sell the operation, but his wife had insisted. "You're getting old and you have to think about your security when you stop working," she said.

Dickens told the press there would be absolutely no change in the Santa Claus operation, and it would continue as it had in the past. Santa Claus would still be in charge, and the only thing that CCU would contribute would be top flight management, resources and efficiency.

"We are not changing the image of Santa Claus," he said. "We'll just be streamlining it."

AFTER PICTURES were taken of Mr. Claus and Mr. Dickens, the chairman returned to New York and for several months Santa Claus continued to operate as he had done in the past.

But one day a CCU systems analysis expert reported to Dickens that he made a study of the Santa Claus setup and he had several suggestions as to how to improve it.

"The idea of children writing individual letters to Santa Claus is time-consuming and wasteful. It takes 10 elves working eight hours a day to open and read all the mail. This is wasteful and inefficient and requires overtime to fill all the orders.

"I THEREFORE suggest that we make all children write to Santa Claus on computer cards, checking off the toys they want. We would put a warning on the cards that any child who bends, folds or mutilates a card would be automatically cut off Santa's list."

Dickens okayed the idea, although Santa Claus protested vigorously that it would take the personal touch out of Christmas.

A computer complex was installed at the North Pole and several gnomes were hired to feed it.

UNFORTUNATELY, a few months later, while Santa Claus and his elves were hard at work, the Consolidated stock started slipping. From $14 a share, it went down to $10. Dickens ordered economies. First he depleted the work force in Santa's toy shop by 50 per cent. Then, instead of a list of 100 toys for children to choose from, he cut it down to three.

He announced "regretfully" that because of the state of the economy, there would have to be a handling charge on every parcel delivered more than 30 miles from the North Pole.

ONCE AGAIN, Santa protested, but to no avail. The Consolidated stock was now selling at $2 a share, and Dickens telexed Mr. Claus, "Get rid of the reindeer."

This was too much for Santa Claus, and he took his life savings, $2,500, and offered to buy back his own company. By then Consolidated had filed for bankruptcy, and the creditors were happy to take anything they could get.

The first thing Santa Claus did before making his deliveries this Christmas was to load the computer on his sleigh and drop it on Harley Dickens' home.

Second Time

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — Jim Todd, 18, a service station attendant, couldn't believe his eyes when he spotted a counterfeit $20 bill for the second time.

Todd, who had received a $20 bogus bill earlier in the month, became suspicious of a customer after he purchased cigarettes and noted the car's license number.

When Todd compared the bill's serial number and found it identical with the earlier counterfeit, he notified police who apprehended the passer of the bill.

Illusion Created By GNP

NEW YORK (AP) — Year after year we used rigid standards for weight and content, among other things, but when it comes to the economy we use an unstable standard that can only delude.

It is the equivalent of printing different calibrations on thermometers each year. It is illogical.

Nevertheless, we do gauge the size and vigor of the entire economy with an unreliable measure: current dollars.

Nothing but a computer can say precisely what a current dollar is because its value changes by the minute. Generally it is worth less and less, the inevitable result of persistent inflation year after year.

Let us assume, merely to illustrate, that the dollar was worth 100 cents in 1900. By 1910 it was worth only 83 cents and by 1920 only 40 cents. Then came the depression, and buying power rose to 47 cents in 1930, to 57 in 1940.

After that, the dilution of purchasing power continued. In 1950 the dollar that was worth 100 cents 50 years earlier had dropped to just 33 cents. In 1960 it fell to 27 cents, and this year to about 20 cents.

Now apply this standard to the gross national product, which is supposed to be—but really isn't—the sum total of all goods and services produced by a nation. This week it is said to have reached $1 trillion a year. Check your almanac and you will find that about 10 years ago the GNP was just a little more than half that figure, which suggests that in one decade the United States doubled its output, an entirely erroneous conclusion.

Since the GNP for 1960 was measured in 1960 dollars, and the GNP for 1970 was measured in 1970 dollars, there simply is no comparison that can be made without resort to a mathematical formula.

The 1970 dollar must be discounted by about 24 per cent to make it comparable with the 1960 dollar. If the 1970 dollar is used as the measure, then that 1960 GNP was close to $650 billion. If the 1960 measure is used, the 1970 GNP is closer to $760 billion rather than $1 trillion.

Nevertheless, the nation this week not only claimed to have achieved a trillion dollar GNP but heralded it as a momentous achievement. It meant, said the President, that the nation was now strong enough to correct many social ills.

The GNP in reality has not grown in 15 months; the illusion is created by inflated current dollars.

The delusion is compounded by inherent contradictions in the GNP concept. There are many of them.

For example the contributions of housewives, students and volunteer workers are excluded because they are not "market-place" activities. Such efforts are unpaid, at least in dollars.

If the student were to quit school and become a laborer, however, his activities would give a boost to the GNP. So would the wife contribute if she left home to take a job. But would the country be better off?

The GNP does not measure social or economic welfare. A storm that destroys millions of dollars in property may add to the GNP by putting carpenters to work, by forcing equipment purchases, by requiring new investments.

New British Star

NEW YORK (AP) — It wasn't an auspicious arrival for Timothy Dalton, who stands on the threshold of international stardom.

The handsome, brooding young English actor had come here to beat a few drums for American International's new production of "Wuthering Heights," based on Emily Brontë's classic novel. Tim plays Heathcliff, the role which went to Sir Laurence Olivier 31 years ago.

Haggard after a 29-hour wait at a fogbound British airport, Tim showed annoyance when he came to a luncheon interview at Toots Shor's restaurant only to be told he couldn't be seated because he had no necktie on.

"How stupid!" he exclaimed. "Who cares in a restaurant whether a man seated at the next table is wearing a necktie or not?"

The party then adjourned to Sardi's, where any member of the theatrical profession probably would be welcomed even though he was adorned only with a withered fig leaf. There, under the influence of a plate of roast pork and two lagers of beer, Tim cooled down and told about himself.

"Acting is something I've always felt I wanted to do—it's something within me," he said. "The only other thing I'd want to do is to compose music—music that came from within me, no matter what form it took."

Dalton started his career at 16. Now only 24, he won the crucial role of Heathcliff after several years in repertory theaters, television, and noteworthy appearances in three films, "The Lion in Winter," "Cromwell," and "The Voyageur."

A man with as much storm as sunshine in him, Tim also has more than a streak of the rebel. His moods are chameleon.

"I change all the time," he acknowledged. "You aren't the same man every day."

"The total rationalization of every impulse in man will destroy man. I believe you should be true to yourself and your own instincts. If people really knew what the complexity of living was, they'd be in a better state."

"My philosophy is to live for now. Don't spend your life looking over your shoulder. You die your death, so live your life."

Dalton is an advocate of action and has a contempt for people who temporize in every situation or always seek the easy way out.

"You have to get on with living the best way you can," he remarked. "If you spend too much time thinking about something or criticizing yourself, you'll never do anything."

Case Of The Small Child With Eczema

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I know you can't answer every letter, but if you could answer this I would be more than grateful.

I am 25 and have a daughter, 3, with a bad case of eczema all over her body. The poor child itches like crazy, usually to the point of scratching herself until she bleeds.

I have been to three doctors. None has seemed to help. One told me to take her off all milk, eggs, fish, flour, wheat, and many other things. This did not help, but he said she was better and dismissed her. I asked when she could start back on these foods and he said he didn't know and that was all.

The other doctor gives her cortisone and benadryl and something to help her sleep. She still wakes up two or three times crying and itching. She also has asthma very bad.

I wash her with oatmeal solution, wrap her in wet towels, etc., but nothing helps. Please tell me what to do. I also have a baby five months old.—Mrs. R.

You and your little girl have a real problem. "Eczema" is a very loose term for skin eruptions and rashes. Loose term or not, eczema can make a child mighty miserable.

Some eczema can be an irritant from outside the body. But when it is as generalized as you describe, it is in all probability something from the inside — food! She's allergic to something, and probably to several or even many foods.

The asthma is just another indication that she is a child with strong allergies. She's in for a lot of misery unless you find out what things she can eat and what she can't.

What should you do? First, stop moving from doctor to doctor. And don't expect any to provide a quick solution to the trouble.

Settle on one, preferably a pediatrician if there is one in your town. Most pediatricians are alert to allergy problems. Or the doctor who told you to take her off certain foods. He's doubtless on the right track. Medications can reduce the itching sometimes. So can oatmeal baths, or various lotions. But the thing to be determined, if you are to get at the root of the trouble, is a list of foods to avoid.

That isn't easy and it isn't quick. That one doctor listed some of the things that are most known for causing food allergies. You may have to eliminate even more, and put your daughter on what is called an elimination diet. But if you finally find a few foods that she can tolerate without itching, at last you'll be making progress.

Then it will be a matter of cautiously adding other foods, one at a time, and some days apart. When the eczema starts after you've added some food — avoid that one! When no trouble follows, within some days, you've found something she can eat.

When you asked how long it would be before she could start back on the prohibited foods, the doctor said he didn't know, he was being honest. It takes time to find out.

Around The Rim

All I Want For Christmas—

Have you ever noticed how decorating the Christmas tree can spoil all the goodwill connected with the Yule season?

CHOOSING THE tree is the first spark in the annual family argument. I have always considered the men who work on tree lots to be among the bravest in the world. You wouldn't catch me trying to please Momma, Papa and all the children with a single tree.

Why is it that Pop always wants a Scotch pine and Mom a fir tree; and the children seek out the biggest on the lot. I have to hand it to the salesmen, I've never seen one lose his temper yet.

I OVERHEARD a man lamenting about the good old days when the entire family used to trek out into the fields to chop down the family tree. He couldn't understand what happened to such a delightful custom. I can understand.

Can't you see poor Pop deleting an entire field with his axe before he found a tree suitable to all. It was probably some poor soul in just this position, surveying an entire pasture with fallen trees on all sides, who probably came up with the first Christmas tree lot.

THE ARGUMENT may begin on the tree lot, but decorating the tree merely adds fuel to the flame. The children think the tree should be up at least by Dec. 1. Mom usually thinks Dec. 23 would be a good day to decorate the tree. Dad tries to arrange a golf match or a business trip.

Just unearthing the Christmas decorations is usually a big problem, especially if the family has moved since last Christmas. I can always remember packing light and ornaments into a big cardboard carton and labeling it "Christmas," but somehow a labeled box can never be found. My only explanation is the family of gremlins that follow me around.

HAVING THE entire family help decorate the tree is a major source of contention. It is my belief that a professional tree decorator should be hired.

Everyone knows the lights should go on first. So why is it that while you're untangling the lights the rest of the family dives into the box and when you turn around you have a fully decorated, tinselled, but unlighted, tree facing you.

ALSO, HOW do you decide who gets to put the top ornament on. You can't make it static — like the youngest or the oldest or Mom or Pop — because that means the same one gets to do it every year. Talk about sibling jealousy! Try revolving it, with one child getting to do it each year. Then try to remember which child did it last year. None of them will claim the honor.

Next year I'm asking Santa Claus to bring a fully decorated tree along with the gifts.

Issue Of Strikes Not Resolved

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's televised news conference a week ago was characterized by an amazing omission. Although the nation's rail strike had been ended late that afternoon — following a court order threatening a rail union with a fine of $200,000 a day — not a single question was asked by the reporters about the whole affair.

Wasn't this "news"? Why weren't questions asked about it? Did some newsmen intend to ask but were not recognized? Why didn't anyone seek the President's opinion about the defiance that has come from one labor union, even though it was awarded a wage increase?

THE TRUTH is that, despite the fact that there had been a half-dozen instances in which Congress had passed 11th-hour no-strike laws in the last ten years, this was the first time Congress ever legislated a pay raise to be made by a private industry. It did so in the rail-strike case, even though the President had simply asked for a law to continue the negotiation period through March 1.

WHY DID Congress intervene in the actual negotiations of wage scales? It is being predicted that nearly all chance for a negotiated settlement has been removed and that both the railroads and the unions will go back to Congress for assistance next year. There is talk, moreover, that the law passed last week is unconstitutional. Many senators feel that perhaps the pay-raise action should not have been taken, but they were concerned with the seriousness of the rail stoppage, which had begun to spread throughout the nation.

ALREADY SOME railroads are complaining that they will not have enough money to absorb the wage increases and will require help from the government. The Penn Central says it will need $49 million by Jan. 1 to meet the 13.5 per cent increase or it will have to cease all its operations.

The problem of dealing with industries that have a nationwide effect on commerce is, however, one that Congress obviously should handle. The national legislative body has prohibited monopolies through anti-trust laws, and all sorts of restrictions have been placed on improper acts in the sale and distribution of commercial products.

SINCE THE Congress has the constitutional power to deal with strikes involving interstate commerce, the suggestion made by Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, in a recent speech is pertinent. He said that further steps may be necessary to slow the rise in wages which is forcing prices upward, and he stated that among these steps might be "compulsory arbitration of labor disputes in industries that vitally involve the public interest."

ACTION BY Congress at the last minute in labor disputes in an effort to prevent or end a big strike is not an orderly way to protect the "public interest." For obviously the political interests of the moment and the coercion of an emergency situation play a leading role.

What happened last week deserves careful examination by the President and Congress so that legislation may be enacted setting up compulsory arbitration tribunals.

So, We Can't Govern Ourselves

WASHINGTON — Perhaps Lenin was right so many years ago when he announced that the time would come when capitalist democracies would find it impossible to govern themselves. In the United States, at least, we keep serving up just what Lenin ordered.

It is ridiculous to say that the duration of the recent railroad strike, however inconvenient to human beings, was the issue. There should not have been a strike, and there would not have been a strike, but for the year-long paralysis of government at both the Executive and Congressional levels.

EVERYBODY HAD known for at least a year that unless the government acted a strike was a certainty. Last February — 10 long months ago — after a narrow escape from a nation-wide rail walkout, President Nixon sent Congress a bill that would permit an arbitrator to pick between the last best proposals of both sides in a vital transportation dispute.

But when the inevitable strike finally came, Congress hadn't even held hearings on the proposal. And the President, fearful of political fallout from both railroads and unions, never pressed for action on his bill.

THE NATION then was treated, if that is the word, to the tragically ludicrous sight of Congress enacting an 81-day strike-lockout moratorium, coupled with a 13½ per cent pay increase for the workers, an hour after the strike began. President Nixon signed the measure into law at 2:10 a.m. last Friday, more than two hours after the workers walked out.

I SPEAK NOT in favor of the Nixon compulsory arbitration bill, except only to note that it provided a subject for discussion. But Congress, as politically wary as the President, refused to touch it with a six-foot pole. As a result, the last hours of the crisis were spent passing the buck.

Do something? I wonder, at this point, whether anything can be done. This year's strike by postal workers was just as illegal as murder. Yet, after the rank-and-file mailmen were granted a much-deserved raise, not a soul was prosecuted by our ruling rabbis for violating the law.

THIS IS NOT to say that no business is done by the President and Congress. Nixon has been busy fighting inflation with a feather, vainly nominating the incompetent and insensitive Haynsworth and Carswell to the Supreme Court, and demanding more millions for the supersonic transport plane which nobody wants but the airlines and the aircraft industry. Congress has been squabbling over the SST, doing absolutely nothing about the cost-of-living, filling its political pockets with inane pork-barrel projects, and permitting candidates to spend millions — sometimes illegally — to buy public office.

OLD BILL VANDERBILT seems almost respectable today as the man who cried "The public be damned!" After all, although it might have been in his cynical mind, he did not say "The law be damned!" as 52 candidates for the House did in failing to file pre-election financing reports within the deadline set by the Corrupt Practices Act of 1925. While Lenin chortles in hell, history should order Rome to shove over and make room for the McCoy of decadence.

'YES, VIRGINIA' TO SPEND CHRISTMAS IN HOSPITAL

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas, to whom the famous "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus" editorial was addressed 73 years ago, is spending the Christmas season in a hospital.

Mrs. Douglas, 81, was admitted to Columbus Memorial Hospital in October suffering generally from the infirmities of age, a hospital spokesman said Wednesday. He added there was no likelihood she would be out for Christmas.

Mrs. Douglas was a girl of 8 when she wrote the old New York Sun in 1897 asking, "Is there a Santa Claus?"

The much-quoted editorial reply was by Francis P. Church.

Legionnaires Honor Vets

The American Legion will honor four returning Vietnam veterans and see a slide presentation on Vietnam by SFC John W. Warner during the regular business meeting at 8 p.m. today in the legion home.

Mayor J. Arnold Marshall will present John C. Cone, Charles W. Douglas, Dr. Robert Patterson and David Grifford with framed letters welcoming them to Big Spring following their military service.

Warner, a member of the U.S. Army National Speakers Program, will show the slides taken during his three tours in Vietnam at approximately 9 p.m. The public is welcome to attend this portion of the meeting.

During the business meeting elections will be held for finance officer, chaplain and sergeant-at-arms. Commander C. G. McKinzie, of the 19th district, will install all newly elected officers.

Commander Larry Phillips is reminding all legionnaires that 1970 dues expire this month. Reservations are also being taken for the New Years Eve party, he said.

YE, BUDDY PROVE IT!

DALLAS (AP) — A stabbing sent a young patient to Parkland Hospital and city detective T. H. Willingham went to investigate.

He learned the victim was a boy, 3. Questioning disclosed the young man and his sister, 2, got into a fuss after their mother told them to get ready for a bath and bed.

Brother struck sister with his fist, Willingham was told, and she retaliated by grabbing a steak knife and sticking it between his shoulders.

After brother was treated and dismissed, Willingham asked, "Do you want to prosecute?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Do you want me to put your sister in jail?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Are you going to hit her again?"

A. "No."

Firemen Appeal For More Toys

One last appeal was voiced today for toys for city firemen to repair for Christmas distribution.

Toys of all types are sorely needed, but particularly wheel toys and especially carts and cycles. These must be put in the hands of city firemen by Friday evening in order to be renovated in time for the beginning of distribution at the former Piggly Wiggly location on Eleventh Place.

The supply of toys this year has been well off the usual pace, but firemen are willing to put in overtime as a labor of love if people will only bring them in by Friday evening.

Resident Tells Of Travels

Being a member of a small musical group offers an unique opportunity for Christian witness, Lucia Taylor told the Downtown Lions at its Wednesday meeting.

Miss Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Connell Taylor, is home for the holidays. Since September she has been with the New Hope, a group of singers and musicians which has toured the West Coast and British Columbia for appearances at high schools, colleges and churches.

After Christmas, she will report to Minneapolis, Minn., to begin a tour of the Midwest, and eventually the East Coast until June when the Continental Singers, with whom she started last summer, will start its seasonal tours.

Usually members of the group stay in private homes, "and you get to meet all kinds of people," observed Lucia. "But most of all the experiences of meeting people as they are — in good times as well as bad times — is an education."

She auditioned for the Continental Singers when they appeared here in 1969 and was accepted as a vocalist.

Hit-Run Mishaps Are Investigated

Two unexplained accidents in the hit-and-run category are being investigated by police.

About 8:57 p.m. Wednesday a car struck the Yamaha motorcycle sign at Fourth and Douglas, causing it to topple onto the City Tire and Wheel Co. lot.

The driver and three passengers reportedly got out of the car and ran away on foot. The car's license plate is being traced through Midland authorities.

Officer Richard Doane reported early this morning that a light pole on the Highland South Shopping Center lot had been knocked down, and police are waiting for the driver involved to report the accident.

Clevelanders May Soon Carry Their Own Trash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cleveland may close its police academy. Los Angeles may join New York and Detroit in laying off city employees and Philadelphia probably will cut back municipal services.

Money, of course, is the problem. The nation's largest cities are caught between a rock and a hard place—between rising wage and welfare costs and static income.

As a result, officials are warning that the already evident cut-backs in services may be only the beginning unless the federal government provides a money transfusion.

An Associated Press survey of nine cities gives this picture:

Boston

Increased veterans' benefits and teacher salaries have boosted the current budget $8 million over estimates while income remains as expected. Seventy per cent of the city's income is from property taxes, which local officials believe to be the highest in the nation at $156.80 per $1,000 valuation.

City Budget Director Richard Wall sees no way of increasing city income without a big boost in the property tax rate, say by another $30.

Chicago

Projected expenditures for the year starting Jan. 1 are 6.5 per cent above 1970 while revenues are expected to rise only 4.8 per cent, despite a 17.7 per cent increase in the property tax. The city plans to hire 500 more policemen and 65 more environmental inspectors in 1971, but Budget Director G. Edward Bedore says federal aid will be needed after that if there is to be continued growth of services.

Cleveland

Strikes and economic recession have cut into returns from the city's 1 per cent income tax, dropping revenues $1.4 million below estimates. Police and firemen got automatic wage increases and the city then had to settle other wage demands, putting next year's bill for increased labor costs at $11.3 million, according to Finance Director Philip Dearborn.

Voters recently defeated an increase in the income tax to 1.8 per cent, and Mayor Carl B. Stokes threatened to cut the city's 13,300-man work force by 3,200, close the police academy and shut down winter recreation programs. Clevelanders would have to carry their own garbage to the curb, he said, because 400 garbage collectors would be laid off. Voters are now asked to approve a more modest tax increase to 1.6 per cent.

Detroit

Tax collections are running 2.6 per cent behind expectations, due in large measure to the general economic slowdown and the General Motors strike. Meanwhile, arbitrated wage increases for police and firemen have upped expenditures by more than $4 million, or 0.8 per cent.

Walter R. Greene, chief executive assistant to the mayor, says without increased outside aid he foresees a continued freeze on hiring of new employees except for police and health workers, drastically reduced purchases of new equipment and the possibility of more employe lay-offs. More than 400 were laid off for various times this budget period. "Even with these reductions, a substantial deficit would be inevitable," Greene said.

Houston

This Texas boom town is in better shape than most, officials say. Revenues are higher than expected this year, by $3 million. Deficits are prohibited by law. No tax increase is anticipated, and natural growth is expected to swell revenues again next year.

Los Angeles

The City of Angels has dipped into reserves for more than $13 million this year because of higher-than-expected outlays, mainly for salary increases and construction of a new city hall annex. The city expects only a 2 per cent rise in revenues next year, while expenditures historically have gone up at 11 per cent per year. Dr. C. Erwin Piper, city administrative officer, says that means that without new aid city job vacancies won't be filled next year. "As a last and stringent matter it may be necessary to lay off some employes or curtail the time worked by all employes and cut their hours and wages 10 per cent," he said. "As a last resort, we could curtail services to the city."

New York

The city recently laid off 500 employes and Mayor John V. Lindsay and 25 top officials took a $1,000-a-year pay cut. The size of New York's budget however — it's $7.7 billion not counting construction — makes both actions mere gestures, since they will save only a little more than $2 million. The city estimated its deficit at up to $300 million this year — mainly because of rapid increases in welfare — and Budget Director Edward Hamilton won't speculate on next year's figures.

Philadelphia

City revenues are 1 per cent below expectations, while expenditures are up 3 per cent because of pay increases and police overtime from a prison riot and its aftermath. Officials foresee a 10 per cent rise in spending next year accompanied by only a 1 per cent rise in income. Mayor James H. J. Tate is furloughing 2,500 non-uniformed city employes. Deputy Finance Director James L. Ferguson predicts a "general reduction in over-all city services" next year.

St. Louis

Revenues are down about 4 per cent from estimates due to the General Motors strike, while city employes got an unbudgeted $2 million raise. The city has in the past suffered cuts in such services as street and building maintenance, recreation and housing code inspection. Many areas are being discussed for possible cuts next year.

The plight of the cities is mirrored in another AP survey of 50 state budget officials. It shows rising prices, lagging business and swelling welfare rolls have forced some states to cut services this year, with more drastic cuts forecast for next year.

'Antiques Are Too Expensive' So She Collects The Unusual

By BARBARA LORD
"I'm probably the unhandiest person you'll ever interview for this," began Mrs. G. Kinney Taylor. But during a short talk and a look around her home, her talents began to show.

She sat in a rocking chair which she bought years ago and refinished. She stripped off several layers of paint down to its original finish, and today it is her favorite chair; a very rich looking wood grain.

This and several other pieces of old refinished furniture fit well into the Taylor's early American home at 2907 Goliad. An old one-piece school desk and chair brightens her son's room. A trunk restored to an original antique look sits in the living room and a beautiful dark wood hutch in the dining room. All of these were redone by the Taylors.

The Taylors are avid "do-it-yourself" enthusiasts. "We love to browse around and find any piece of old furniture we might use and refinish it," Mrs. Taylor said.

The Taylor home is adorned with an amazing collection of unusual items.

"They aren't necessarily antiques," she said. "Antiques have gotten so expensive these days. These are just things we saw and wanted and cleaned up."

Sausage Tidbit Hors D'oeuvres

You'll be busy replenishing the appetizer tray when it holds Sausage-Water Chestnut Bits. No problem, since these tasty tidbits are easy to prepare and can be made ahead and refrigerated for a quick warm-up. Just cut slices of bacon and water chestnuts in half crosswise. Wrap each half slice of bacon around a cocktail frankfurter or cocktail sausage and a water chestnut half and fasten with a wooden pick. Place "bits" on rack in open roasting pan and bake in 450 degrees F. oven until bacon is crisp.

Some of the items include an old wooden and stone rail splitter, a coal miner's lantern, butter churn, fuel-burning flat iron and a pair of old lawn clippers. A strange collection but all attractively displayed in their home.

Another favorite pastime of Mrs. Taylor's is cooking. The family sticks mainly to basics, but with her own added touches to their liking.

"I tried Chinese food one time but my kids didn't like it, so we don't eat many foreign foods, except Mexican, which we all love," she remarked.

She likes to cook when there is plenty of time to experiment, and she particularly enjoys making desserts. An evening meal rarely goes by without one, and she has chosen some of her favorites to share today.

"Mainly, I'm just a housewife and mother and I love it," Mrs. Taylor claims, but she is also an active and enthusiastic community member. She is vice president of the Friends of the Library, recording secretary for the 1946 Hyperion Club and a member of the Child Study Club and the College Heights Parent Teacher Association. She is also taking a French course at the YMCA, and she enjoys playing golf and bridge, but admits she is a beginner at both.

With her many activities, Mrs. Taylor's days are often busy. One of her secrets for maintaining a well-run home while keeping active in community and personal affairs is to use the freezer.

"When I make something good I like to cook enough for three or four meals and freeze it," she explained. "That way when a club meeting or something interferes with my normal preparation time I can still keep my family happy with a hot meal."

GAME

Taylor, a process engineer at Cosden, enjoys hunting and now much of their freezer is full of venison, quail and dove.

The Taylors came to Big Spring about two years ago from Tuscola, Ill., although both are originally from Oklahoma. They like the southwest and love Big Spring.

"I think it's a grand place to bring up kids," she noted, "and I prefer the wind and sandstorms to the Illinois blizzards."

They have two children, Angie Lynn, 7 and Kurt, 5. Angie Lynn is a first-grader at College Heights Elementary School, and Kurt attends pre-kindergarten classes at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

In the Taylor home, stockings are hung, the tree is decorated and other Christmas decorations add to the festive holiday mood.

In the entry way, a Christmas arrangement centered with a large white candle made by Mrs. Taylor welcomes guests. On the table is a felt Christmas tablecloth, also made by Mrs. Taylor.

The Taylors were married in Oklahoma on May 30, 1959, while he was still attending the University of Tulsa, and she worked as an IBM Key Punch operator. Taylor is a registered professional engineer, a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, and a member of the Kiwanis Club. Their home on Goliad is a first for the Taylors, having always rented before. They enjoy the task of remodeling and fixing it up to their liking.

"Like everyone else," Mrs. Taylor notes, "time is the biggest problem. There just isn't enough of it to do everything we want to do."

IT'S THE LITTLE THINGS THAT COUNT

Here are some little decorating hints you might enjoy thinking about:

Place a large mirror on the wall opposite your picture window so that you can see the outdoors from any place in your room.

A drab room is often brought to life by replacing your lamp shade with a new one that picks up one of the bright colors in your sofa or floor covering. A vase of bright yellow flowers can awaken your living room.

Use a glass cocktail table with a bright sprig of artificial flowers placed under the glass.

A pole lamp or chain lamp, instead of a floor lamp, may add the flair you are looking for.

A carefully arranged group of small pictures can replace the large painting you could use better elsewhere.

A colorful wallpaper panel behind your sofa or bed may be the little thing that counts in your living room or bedroom.

We can help you with the little things — and the big things, too. Stop in.

Abortion Ads Spark Slaps From Medics

By LYNN SHERR
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Wide-spread concern over the ethics of "advertising" abortion facilities has caused one New York hospital to mail 40,000 letters of apology and a handful of county medical societies to take a closer look at local practitioners.

So far, the concern has focused on groups and individuals in New York and California, where liberalized abortion laws are in effect.

"DEAR DOCTOR"

Last summer, when New York made abortion largely a matter between a woman and her physician, Park East Hospital in Manhattan sent 40,000 copies of a "Dear Doctor" letter to physicians all over the country. The letter announced that the 200-room hospital would perform abortions on patients up to 12 weeks pregnant, at a package cost of $375.

Scores of doctors who received the letters as far away as Texas and Arizona became embittered over what one American Medical Association official called "outright cross solicitation"—a procedure strictly forbidden in the code of medical ethics.

In response to the protests against Park East and a number of other groups making similar announcements, the judicial council of the AMA last September condemned the practice as "commercialization and hucksterism."

Several weeks later, the New York County Medical Society adopted the AMA statement. Its Board of Censors wrote to Park East, asking it to stop its mailings. Park East complied immediately and sent out letters of regret to everyone on the original mailing list.

PRIVATE PRACTICE
In California, the Los Angeles County Medical Association is looking into complaints about letters from one obstetrician-gynecologist in private practice and two medical groups set up to perform abortions.

Some doctors resented the announcement-type letters—similar in form to the announcement of a new practice that physicians send to their neighboring colleagues—because they felt the letters went beyond the boundaries of good taste either by including fees—$463 for one doctor—or by extending far beyond the Los Angeles community—in one case, throughout the entire United States.

"The fact that a physician or a group sets themselves up as specialists in abortion has to be recognized as a specialized part of medicine," said Don Rosenthal, assistant to the executive director of the Los Angeles County Medical Association. "But to promote and advertise in a wide area is highly unethical."

"There is no mention of locality in the County Medical Association guidelines, so we felt we were not violating anything," said Dr. Morton W. Barke, of the West Coast Medical Group, which sent 6,000 letters to physicians all over the country. "Our statement listed no fees and was on the standard announcement card. Had it said that we were now doing dermatology or orthopedic surgery instead of abortions, no one would have said anything." Barke, an obstetrician-gynecologist, and another physician, make up the Medical Group.

POWERLESS
In addition to the physician-related letters, announcements from a handful of abortion referral services with little or no apparent medical connection have been widely circulated around the nation.

Unlike Planned Parenthood and various municipal welfare services, most of the new groups are designed as profit-making ventures. For fees averaging $100 on top of the physician and/or hospital cost, the groups make all the woman's arrangements and frequently provide out-of-state transportation to and from the airport and doctor's office.

Most claim to use only certified hospitals or clinics. Medical society officials say they are powerless to interfere in the activities of such groups unless a physician is directly connected. In the past few months, at least a half-dozen have sprung up in the New York area.

Nab Marijuana In San Angelo
SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — City and state authorities have confiscated what they believe to be more than 470 pounds of unrefined marijuana.

Charles N. Martin, a special investigator for the San Angelo district attorney's office, said the officers acted on a tip that marijuana was being flown into the area from Mexico.

Martin said charges of transportation of a narcotic drug was filed against an unidentified San Angelo man. His name was withheld pending his arrest.

Depletion Of Aquifer Is Explained To Engineers

CHICAGO — Wells, shafts, holes, pits, trenches, spreading or rubble cones — all of them still leave problems for those trying to recharge the Ogallala Aquifer.

Texas Tech researchers Wednesday told a national meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers that the "depletion year from the Ogallala Formation ranges from 3.5 to 7.5 million acre-feet" dependent upon seasonal rain and snow fall.

"If a portion of the water could be recharged into the Ogallala, the rate at which the groundwater is being depleted could be decreased," they said.

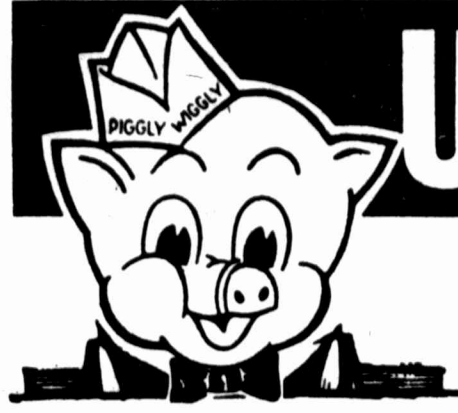

One of the largest unconfined, hydrologically isolated aquifers is the Ogallala of the southern High Plains, underlying 35,000 square miles, the researchers explained. It is cut off from the Rocky Mountain streams, which once filled it with water, by the Canadian River to the north, the Pecos River to the west and the Caprock escarpment to the east.

"The rubble cone method of recharge has not been investigated although it has been proposed as a possible part of a water storage plan. Rubble cones are fractured areas created by nuclear or conventional explosives extending from above the point of explosion to the bottom of the crater made by the explosion.

As a result of the team's investigations of other methods, they reached nine conclusions:

- 1) proper design of a recharge well is very important;
- 2) pressure injection recharge wells show promise for use with highly turbid water;
- 3) development of economical water clarification systems is needed for systems using runoff or other inferior quality water;
- 4) careful study is needed of pollution hazards in recharge;
- 5) more study is needed to evaluate the effectiveness of shallow holes;
- 6) when a porous media underlies the surface, periodically maintained pits can be an effective mechanism for recharge;
- 7) hydraulic connectors or shafts are best in areas which have a highly permeable layer some distance below the surface and above the aquifer if a head loss problem in the backfill can be solved;
- 8) trenches and spreading basins are best where a highly permeable layer lies at or near the surface.

The Goliad Junior High School band and choir will present a special Christmas program at 9 a.m. Friday in the Goliad gym. Parents and other interested persons are invited to attend the student assembly, Miss Mollie Studer, choir director, said.

Should Share Insurance On 'Hurricane' Coast?

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane-troubled coast. South Texas insurance agents proposed Wednesday that insurance companies doing business in Texas be required to take a share of the business along the representative of the State Insurance Board. Lt. Gov. Barnes told the group the legislature is going to "take a long, hard look at insurance problems." He said the 1971 legislative session will be "the most difficult legislative session in the history of Texas."

"MASS EXODUS"

Legislators attending the meeting included state Senators Jim Bates of Edinburg and Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi, and state Representatives Henry Sanchez of Brownsville, Menton Murray of Harlingen, A.C. Atwood of Edinburg, Raul Longoria of Pharr and J. A. Garcia of Raymondville.

Bill Havey, a Harlingen insurance agent, said that two of the three insurance firms connected with his agency have withdrawn from the area. Insurance men from Harlingen, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Raymondville, Port Isabel, McAllen and Edinburg complained that an estimated 80 percent of the insurance companies formerly in this area have either withdrawn or now refuse to write any new business. The men said this action followed hurricanes Beulah and Celia.

Havey said insurance companies have withdrawn in the past, but said the recent action is the "first mass exodus."

HIGHER RATES

A South Padre Island motel owner said he was unable to get extended coverage for the El Padre Motel from any insurance company licensed in the state. Lynn Boyd said his yearly premium increased from $3,000 to $13,000 when he went to a non-admitted company.

Harlingen Mayor George Young, however, said he believed that the insurance industry in Texas is over regulated.

Those attending agreed that one partial solution to the problem would be to require all companies doing business in the state to take a pro rata share of the business along the Texas coast. This would also give credit to those writing business in the area now to keep them from withdrawing and taking only a pro rata share.

Barnes also suggested that the men send a delegate to Austin to discuss the problem with legislators.

More Fussing Could Delay Boundary Rule

HOUSTON (AP) — A special master appointed by the Supreme Court to hear the Louisiana-Texas boundary dispute has indicated he will rule as quickly as possible.

Should Louisiana decide to offer additional testimony, however, the decision by Robert Van Pelt, a senior federal judge from Nebraska, could be delayed until spring.

MIDDLE OF RIVER

Van Pelt Wednesday heard arguments on Louisiana's contention the boundary extends to the west bank of the Sabine River. Texas is seeking a summary judgment establishing the boundary as the middle of the river.

Oliver P. Stockwell of Lake Charles, special counsel for Louisiana, denied a Texas argument Louisiana had lost its claim by acquiescence. Stockwell argued that the west bank boundary was established by an 1819 treaty between the United States and Spain, nearly 30 years before Texas became a state.

Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said Congress granted Texas a middle of the river boundary on July 5, 1848, but "Louisiana was without a word of protest until 1941."

Martin said Texas interests include oil and gas leases in the disputed area.

"WE SAY NO"

"Should all this be handed to our neighbor who has been silent for 92 years except for a little protest in 1941?" he asked. "We say no!"

While taking the case under advisement, Van Pelt asked both sides to advise him in writing by Dec. 28 whether further testimony might be desired.

Stockwell indicated he would want to present testimony on the acquiescence charge unless Van Pelt upholds Louisiana's claim based on the 1819 treaty. He explained that he will be tied up after Jan. 18 on a Louisiana tidelands case before the Supreme Court and that the acquiescence testimony might require three or four weeks.

"Then you are talking about late spring," Van Pelt replied. "The case is in a position for the master to make his finding," said former Texas Gov. Price Daniel, special counsel to Martin.

"It would be a tragedy to go through three or four more weeks when the Supreme Court, in similar cases, has said states such as Louisiana sat silent too long."

TWO WARS

Former Louisiana Gov. Sam Jones, also a special counsel in the case, started the dispute in 1941 when he sent Texas a letter outlining his state's claims.

Stockwell indicated World War II and a dispute with the federal government over tidelands ownership prevented much action at that time.

"We not only had a war going on but had a war over the tidelands," he said. "We can't be criticized for no action. Texas has settled its tidelands case but Louisiana has not."

All the attorneys agreed that the Louisiana state Constitution of 1812 as well as the 1848 congressional act placed the boundary in the middle of the river, but Stockwell argued that the 1819 treaty made such acts unconstitutional.

It's Tough For Ex-Con To Be A Cop

FREDERICK, Okla. (AP) — It is difficult for an ex-convict to be a cop, even if your last offense is obscured by two decades of straight living. But big Clarence "Moon" Everage is trying.

And he is getting help from the mayor, the city attorney, the police chief and several other people around this southern Oklahoma town of about 6,000.

Everage served as a patrolman in the city's black area for two years before it was discovered he had never been pardoned from convictions of larceny of livestock and assault with a dangerous weapon during the 1940s.

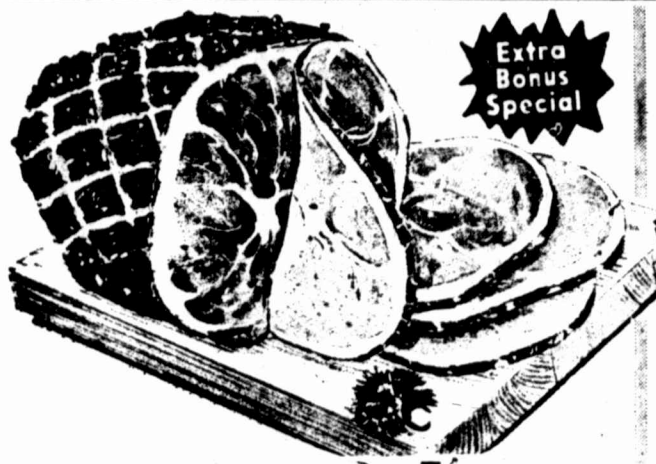

As an unpardoned ex-convict, he was not permitted to carry a gun, so he was put behind the radio desk as a dispatcher.

But the police chief refused to cut his patrolman's pay, the city attorney filed for an official pardon, and the mayor considered allowing him to continue as a patrolman without a gun.

Moon stands 6-foot-2, weighs in at about 240 pounds and, according to those who should know, could "go bear hunting with a switch."

Moon was the only black patrolman on the force and his beat was primarily among his own people.

She Shops 18 Times Every Week

SHE'S "MAN OF YEAR" — Miss Phyllis Johnson, a teacher at Orlando High School in Florida, accepts the "Man of the Year" plaque from Brad Allen on behalf of the YMCA, Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y clubs of Orlando. Miss Johnson was chosen from among 26 nominees from various clubs in the Orlando area.

DALLAS (AP) — Louise MacKinnon grocery shops 18 times in a week.

In a single day she travels as much as 60 miles to price food. And she doesn't even have a large family that eats a lot.

Mrs. MacKinnon spends three full days a month traveling from grocery store to grocery store because that's her job. She collects food prices for the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Dallas.

She drives well over 100 miles during the first full week of each month gathering statistics which tell Dallas housewives how much food has gone up or down.

Mrs. MacKinnon's grocery list has been scientifically developed by the government.

"It's a complex system," Mrs. MacKinnon said. "It's a little more precise than the average housewife's measure—a bag cost me so much."

So don't be surprised if you should hear her asking the grocer if those are size 72 oranges. She has to know the exact size, the government doesn't accept "big" and "little."

However, Mrs. MacKinnon who has been shopping for the government since '62, admits she can usually tell a size 72 orange on sight now.

Her grocery list includes 100 such items.

On a typical Thursday shopping day she drives 19 miles from her home to a grocery in far North Dallas.

"On Thursdays I go to seven chain stores in order to take advantage of weekend specials," she said. "This way lower food prices on weekends are accounted for in the food price listing."

At the same time, data collectors are also collecting chain store food prices in 52 other cities.

"It all has to be done on the same day in order to make a good comparative price listing," Mrs. MacKinnon said.

Besides chain stores, she also checks prices at large and small independent grocery stores and at drive-ins. Between Mrs. MacKinnon and a second Dallas shopper, they check 37 area stores.

Then they airmail their prices to the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Washington which completes the statistical analysis.

Her boss, Boyd O'Neal, with the bureau in Dallas, said each store checked in the area is weighted in the study in proportion to how much food they sell.

"The prices represent where and what people buy the most," O'Neal said.

For example if more people buy peanut butter at a chain store than a drive-in grocery the chain store's price will count more. Also the price of the best selling peanut butter is the brand that is counted.

But in spite of her many trips to the grocery store, Mrs. MacKinnon said, "I just don't have time to get the good bargains while I'm working."

Unfortunately like most work nighting women she has to do her own grocery shopping at per in Dallas, though," O'Neal added.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Now that Christmas is crowding everyone, the thoughts of a Christmas tree are many.

Don't throw away that old, worn-out umbrella. Make a lovely "tree" out of it!

Remove the old cover and the fancy handle, then raise the umbrella frame just a little to give a prettily shaped "tree" and anchor it securely in place.

Now take lengths of tinsel rope and attach to the spokes with thread, then stuff the frame with crushed green tissue paper or green nylon net. "Plant" your tree in a gayly wrapped dirt-filled flower pot and call it done.

To fancy it up, you may paint the frame a color of your choice — red, green, white, silver or gold — and a few lengths of tinsel rope may be crisscrossed around the spokes. As a safety precaution, however, I would not use electric lights in the decorations.

This umbrella tree makes a pretty ornament anywhere — especially the entrance hall or for that picture window... Mrs. Don Craft

And your pretty umbrella hint has brought a smile to everyone today!... Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I'm a junior in high school and I've recently discovered a helpful hint.

When I re-covered my books, I not only put the name of the book on the outside, but also the period that I use it.

Now I just have to glance at the cover quickly to know which book to take. Saves time, confusion and embarrassment... J. Plante

Dear Heloise:
I was trying to remove two screws and having lots of trouble. My screwdriver kept slipping out of the groove.

So I creased a piece of fine sandpaper, placed it in the slot of the screw, then my screwdriver stayed put and the screw came loose quickly.

Sure saved my temper!... Osie Cox

Dear Heloise:
I use a screw-top baby food jar for our matches, with a piece of fine sandpaper glued to the lid to strike them on.

Sure is handy... Joan

Dear Heloise:
Being a knitter, it seems like I was always having trouble finding someone to hold the skein of yarn while I would wind the ball.

Food Prices Up

Last year consumers spent $11 per person for all food, a 34 per cent increase over the 1957-59 average. Personal income, however, for the same period rose 68 per cent, from $1,846 to $3,098. Thus, people who spent 20.6 per cent of disposable income on foods during '57-'59 period spent only 16.5 per cent in 1969, a decrease of over 4 per cent for food.

Soaring Seventies

By 1980 it is estimated personal consumer spending will hit eight hundred billion dollars annually. About 66 per cent of the American people will have a real income over $7,500 a year and one in four families will enjoy an income of over $15,000.

Menu, Please!

A recent survey shows that people eat 1 out of 7 meals away from home, and that families with higher incomes eat out more often. As might be expected, city dwellers eat out more often than rural people.

Quotable Quotes

By The Associated Press

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I take each minute and every day one at a time. I do what I have to do because it is part of my life. But I am human and I have cried."—Paula Modjeski, who has watched two of her children become afflicted with a rare disease that gradually destroys the central nervous system.

"I think I cramped a few instructors' styles. They had to leave out the four-letter words."—Ann Sanford, blue-eyed, blonde coed studying building construction at the University of Florida.

"I was lucky to be in France while the old traditions and tastes still ruled. So I know what a certain dish is supposed to taste like. But my feeling is a very pragmatic one. It is baldersdash to hang onto the copper bowl."—Julia Child, television's "French Chef," in an interview.

"I used to be in a position where I couldn't say no to a role. Now, I can't justify doing bad stuff."—Actress Jane Alexander, costar of the stage and screen versions of "The Great White Hope," in an interview.

"What we did was sex, but it was clean sex."—Actress Dorothy Lamour, in an interview.

"I thought it would make the party go with a swing. Sometimes they can be a bit of a drag."—Lesley Greco, who baked some marijuana inside her cake for her 21st birthday party and was fined $240 in court for possessing a dangerous drug.

The Stalcups reside on Spring Creek Road, north of the Sand Springs Church of Christ. Friends are invited to call between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m.

Hosting the affair will be the couple's children and their families. The children are Clifton Stalcup and Wayne Stalcup, both of Tucson, Ariz.; Ray Stalcup, Grants Pass, Ore.; and Mrs. Conner (Ellen) Dement. There are eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Stalcup were born and reared in Hood County where they were married Dec. 19, 1920, at Granbury. She is the former Miss Lizzie Nelson.

The first year of their marriage was spent in Granbury, then the Stalcups moved to Howard County in 1921, farming in the Luther Community. Since that time, they have spent all but four years (when they lived in Mitchell County) in this area and have lived in their present home at Sand Springs for 26 years. Mr. Stalcup farmed and also worked as a carpenter, retiring in 1966.

Mr. and Mrs. Stalcup are members of the Sand Springs Church of Christ where he serves as a deacon. In past years, she was a Sunday school teacher.

The Stalcups have several hobbies which they enjoy; he has a workshop, and she makes clothes for their grandchildren. "She sews, and I saw," he says, smiling.

Mrs. Stalcup remarked that she is sewing as much this week as she did preparing for her wedding 50 years ago.

For the reception, Mrs. Stalcup plans to wear a light blue dress with high neckline accented with a gold pin.

The guest registry will be covered by a lace-bordered gold cloth, and a crystal vase will hold a single gold chrysanthemum.

The refreshment table will be covered with a lace cloth centered with a tiered cake topped with gold bells and circled with a garland of gold flowers. Gold candles set in floral arrangements will flank the cake, and punch and coffee will be served from crystal and silver services placed at opposite ends of the table.

A LOVELIER YOU Serve This Wassail To Weight Watchers

By MARY SUE MILLER
A thoughtful hostess tries to provide a few specials for the dieting contingent of which she is doubtless a member. But festive ideas are not easily come by. To aid the cause, here are two delightful and seasonal low-calorie treats:

Souffle Canapes: Beat 2 egg whites until stiff. Fold in 1/4 cup chive cottage cheese. Season with salt, pepper and cayenne to taste. Pile mixture high on melba rounds and place on cookie sheet. Brown in broiler, regulating heat to 400 degrees.

Arrange on a tray with flourishes of parsley and radish roses. As given, the recipe yields about 20 servings. And at only 20 calories per serving.

Wassail Bowl: With rotary beater, blend together 1 quart "heavy" tomato juice, 12-ounce can cocktail vegetable juice, 4 teaspoons strained lemon juice, 6 teaspoons Worcestershire, and 2 teaspoons tabasco. Chill until ready to serve. Also chill a punch bowl and punch cups.

At serving time place block of ice in punch bowl, pour chilled mixture over ice; add 1 pint soda water and float slices of 2 limes. Correct seasoning if spicier flavor is desired. The yield is a scant 2 quarts at a scant 40 calories per punch cup.

That's a real bargain as wassail goes. And as good to look at as to taste.

FIGURE SECRETS
What's your figure problem? To achieve total attractiveness send for my booklet, "Secrets of a lovely figure." It contains easy ways to reduce weight and proportions; to overcome grooming problems, such as fuzz, freckles and blemishes; to move with grace and poise. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Methodist Circle Hears Speaker

Gifts were exchanged at the Lalla Baird Circle, Wesley United Methodist Church, meeting Tuesday in the home of Mrs. David Pohl, 1900 Alabama.

Mrs. Ray Anderson spoke on "Something to Believe In" for the first part of a two-part program, and Mrs. J. C. Ray followed with a "Letter For Christmas." Mrs. J. E. Peters presided.

The opening prayer was by Mrs. J. W. Brigrance. The devotion, "How Do We Sing It?" was given by Mrs. W. D. Lovelace.

R. Newell Home Scene Of Party

The Bykota Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church had its Christmas party Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Roscoe Newell, 501 Circle.

Mrs. Clyde Angel read Christmas stories including "The Night the Chimes Rang" and "The True Story of Christmas." The Newell home was ornamented in a traditional Christmas decor with candles, a Christmas tree and wall plaques depicting the Christmas story.

Claim Witness Threatened By Sergeant Being Tried

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Prosecution lawyers were expected to question today a witness who they claim was told to "keep his mouth shut" about an incident that allegedly sent an Air Force trainee to the hospital.

The prosecution disclosed its plans in open court Wednesday on the second day of trial for a veteran Lackland Air Force Base sergeant accused of mistreating 10 basic trainees last September.

Facing a court-martial is T. Sgt. Jack Wilson, 34, a Vietnam veteran who has served since 1967 as a training instructor at Lackland Military Training Center.

Wilson, a Kenova, W.Va., native now of San Antonio, has been in military service more than 15 years.

'FORGET IT'
The defense unsuccessfully sought a mistrial Wednesday after the prosecution said it was prepared to show that Wilson told a trainee involved in an alleged head-banging incident to "forget it" and "keep his mouth shut."

The trainee got the impression that he was being threatened not to discuss the incident, the prosecution maintained in a hearing while the court-martial panel was excused.

Among the charges against Wilson is an allegation that he banged together the heads of Airman Basic Dale Davis, 20, of Stanberry, Mo., and Airman Thomas Hash, 19, of Torrance, Calif.

Prosecution lawyers contend Davis suffered a blood clot as a result and had to undergo surgery. They also claimed Wilson told Hash not to discuss it.

Davis, a blond-haired, pale youth who walked with a limp when he appeared at the trial Wednesday, testified he was paralyzed for more than two weeks after the alleged head-banging. He said he could not move his left arm or leg.

He also testified Wednesday he now has a limp and slight vision impairment.

HEAD-BANGING
The head-banging incident came during drill, Davis testified, when his group was given a command and he looked around to see how others were executing it.

He said Sgt. Wilson approached him and Hash, "lifted our sun helmets, put his hands on our necks and crowned our heads together."

Davis said he became sick at his stomach and dizzy and the "right side of my face, my teeth, the whole bit" hurt afterward.

Later, inside his barracks, Davis said, Sgt. Wilson told him, "I don't have no pity for you." He said Wilson told him to get out of bed and sit in a chair.

Davis testified that in another incident, Wilson grabbed him by the collar hard enough to choke him for not fully buttoning his field jacket.

He admitted on cross-examination that, "in a way," he had kissed Wilson immediately before the choking incident.

Airman Hash told the seven-officer court-martial panel Wednesday that his and Davis' heads were "slammed together" when they continued to talk after failing to hear Wilson's order to come to attention.

Quiet Life

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Peter Best, the drummer who left the Beatles before they became famous, has given up show business and taken a job in a government office at Liverpool. Best, 28, who toured Europe and Canada as leader of his own pop group, said "My life now is my family, my work and my game of rugby on a Saturday afternoon."

Trying To Show Calley Was Only Obeying Orders

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Lt. William L. Calley's court-martial defense is hammering away at the thesis that responsibility for Mai Lai lay up the line of command—and that the troops took their cue from the company commander, Capt. Ernest Medina.

show that he was only obeying orders that March 16, 1968. Thomas J. Kinch of North Cape May, N.J., who was a member of Medina's mortar crew, said the captain toured the body-strewn village and finally stopped the killing by telling his platoon leaders: "The party's over, that's enough shooting."

Calley, 27, is charged with murdering 102 Vietnamese civilians. His lawyers are trying to show that he was only obeying orders that March 16, 1968. Medina's radio and asked for a body count and Capt. Medina replied 310.

In official reports made a few days after My Lai Medina listed 20 to 28 enemy dead.

The Army today reopens its investigation at Ft. McPherson, Ga., to determine if Medina should be court-martialed. The Army has charged him with the over-all responsibility for the deaths in the village.

The Big Spring Choir Boosters met for the regular monthly meeting Monday in the high school choir room.

Winners of prizes in the candy sale were Marilyn Neil, freshman in high school; Vanessa Mancil, in Runnels Junior High, and Pam Smith, in Goliad Junior High.

Plans are now being made for the Little Miss Big Spring beauty and talent contest slated for Feb. 13. Entries can be made through Mrs. R. V. Colclazer or Mrs. Roy Cederberg. Entry fee will be $10, and information sheets will be available after Christmas.

This year, the boosters will sponsor the contest, and the winner will not go to the state contest.

The Goliad eighth grade choir, under the direction of Mollie Studer, presented a program of Christmas music.

LOOKS TO 108th — Charles Williams is looking forward to Christmas. It will be his 108th birthday. Manson Accused Of Ninth Murder

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Manson, on trial in the Sharon Tate slayings, has been accused of a ninth murder in a case in which the victim's body is in custody in Inyo County on a charge of carrying a sawed-off shotgun. She vanished in August, 1969, about the time of the Sharon Tate murders. Sources have said prosecutors believe she was stabbed to death and his body hacked to pieces. Manson and three women followers are on trial for murder-conspiracy for the slayings of Miss Tate and six others. That trial is scheduled to resume Monday when a new lawyer takes over for missing defense attorney Ronald Hughes.

Films Of Nazis

LONDON (AP) — John Cardinal Heenan, Archbishop of Westminster, would like young people to see films of the notorious Nazi concentration camp at Belsen each year. "They should be allowed to see what was done in the name of national purity and eugenics by 20th century man and women," he said in giving the Marlow lecture at the London School of Economics.

Outburst Of Guerrilla Terrorism In Ethiopia

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new outburst of guerrilla terrorism in the Ethiopian province of Eritrea has sent thousands of women and children fleeing into neighboring Sudan within the last two months. The flight to the neighboring African nation spotlights an area potentially dangerous along the strategic Suez Canal-Red Sea waterway. Eritrea runs along the western coast of the Red Sea from Ethiopia's border with the Sudan to the Gulf of Aden. Just Wednesday, the Ethiopian government proclaimed a state of emergency for two-thirds of Eritrea to maintain law and order "in the face of infiltration by bandits supported by foreign governments." Guerrilla rebels, fighting force of the Eritrean Liberation Front — ELF — are lined up in an eight-year-old insurgency against the government of Emperor Haile Selassie. Their Arab states backers, including Syria and Libya, have Soviet aid, in some cases, Red Chinese support.

DANGER AHEAD
Selassie's government has received U.S. military and economic aid for years. A U.S. military advisory group of 100 men is stationed in Ethiopia, but officials here insist American guerrilla warfare experts, particularly Green Berets, are not involved in the nation's problems. Officials in Washington interpret the insurgency as essentially a homegrown product of Eritrea's turbulent past under a succession of alien rulers. But the officials do not dismiss out of hand possible dangers arising from the involvement in the area of U.S. and Soviet interests. The same interests are tied into the Arab-Israeli conflict. Reports reaching Western capitals say the flight to the Sudan involved about 17,000 refugees mostly in November when fighting reportedly flared up at various points in Eritrea. Little is known of the recent military clashes. Diplomatic sources say the rebels blew up three bridges on the main road running north and west from Asmara to Keren, Agordat and the Sudan. On Nov. 21, the ELF ambushed an army convoy on the road to Keren and killed Maj. Gen. Teshome Erghetu, 52, commander of Ethiopia's Second Army. His death was announced at the time.

ARMY REVENGED
One report here is that the Second Army avenged itself for Erghetu's death by smashing the ambush group. Possibly, the reaction was wider. Western experts estimate ELF strength at from 1,500 to 2,000 men out of an Eritrean population of 1.6 million. Ethiopia has a military force of 40,000 men, some U.S.-trained, and a small air force that has American-made jets. Eritrea was under Italian rule for 60 years prior to World War II. During the 10 years beginning in 1941 a British military government ruled. From 1952 to 1962 it had the status of a U.N. trusteeship with self-rule in local matters with defense and foreign affairs controlled by the Ethiopian government. In 1962 the Eritrean parliament voted to become the 14th province of Ethiopia—a country the size of Texas with 25 million people. The parliament's decision was bitterly controversial in Eritrea.

ACP To Help Pay Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has caved into congressional and farm group pressure and will continue the controversial Agricultural Conservation Program next year. Congress appropriated $105.5 million for ACP in 1971 to help farmers pay for improving their land through conservation projects. The White House, however, had hoped to eliminate the program. A White House spokesman said Wednesday, however, the ACP would continue next year, with emphasis on antipollution and "permanent" type projects on farm land.

Fags Anonymous

FIATT, III (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Munger, a housewife and mother of two, has opened an appeal to Fulton County residents to help her to stop smoking. She has formed a local Smokers Anonymous Club which will engage in discussions to explore the reasons that people smoke. She said the group would discuss the problems that drive people to cigarettes and try to help adults and teenagers stop smoking or never start the habit. A smoker herself for 13 years, Mrs. Munger recently stopped smoking. "I have tried to stop smoking for the last four years," she said, "and this time, I know I have really made it."

ROGER FREED GRANT JACKSON JIM HUTTO SAM PARRILLA (AP WIREPHOTO)

IN PHILLIES-ORIOLES TRADE — The Baltimore Orioles Wednesday traded outfielder Roger Freed to the Philadelphia Phillies for Grant Jackson, Jim Hutto and Sam Parrilla and an undisclosed sum of money. Freed recently was named Most Valuable Player in the International League.

Doctor Faults Gear, Not Artificial Turf

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State University, playing all of its 10-game football schedule on supposedly safer artificial turf, this year suffered more player injuries than ever before.

But while the team doctor believes a synthetic field allows players to run faster and hit harder, he doesn't blame that. Instead, says Dr. Lawrence Jarrett, the culprit is the modern equipment that's worn these days.

Out of 26 injuries for the MSU Spartans this year, 13 sidelined their victims for the rest of the season, Jarrett said. Some 19 "important players" missed "considerable portions" of the Spartans' 4-6 season this fall, said Fred Stabley, sports information director.

Last year, when MSU first began playing and practicing on the tough, asphalt-based playing surface, season-long injuries sidelined about a dozen players—more than twice the norm over all the years stretching back to 1896 when football started in East Lansing.

Safety was a widely stressed rationale for the various types of synthetic carpet that have been promoted. MSU had one installed during the summer of 1969 at a cost of $250,000.

Major manufacturers bought lavish advertisements in mass-circulated sporting magazines and athletic trade publications to tout the contribution of their fields to avoiding injuries.

Wearing short, molded-rubber cleats long used by European soccer teams, players supposedly would face less risk to knees and ankles than they had with longer, nylon and metal cleats on grass and mud.

But 10 knee injuries and four sprained ankles led the list of categories that cost the Spartans top players on football Saturdays this year, Jarrett said.

Jarrett, white-haired and bluntly outspoken, won't knock the field, but says it does help speed up the collisions.

There's no question that the field adds a dimension to the game, says Jarrett.

Losses Too Great, Says Owner Of Memphis Team

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "I was prepared to lose money in the first season. But not $200,000 in the first two months of operation," commented Memphis Pros' owner P.L. Blake Wednesday.

Blake was reacting to the decision of the American Basketball Association to assume financial control of the Memphis franchise.

The action was revealed Wednesday, and the league will seek a new owner for the club.

Jack Dolph, ABA commissioner, reportedly plans to keep the team in Memphis, however, and seek a new owner who will keep the club here.

Heavy cash losses combined with poor home attendance prompted Blake's decision to sell the team, which he moved to Memphis from New Orleans in August.

Charles Cavagnaro, Pros' general manager, said he anticipates no changes in the team's personnel or policies under the ABA's supervision.

The move by the ABA is not unique. Last season the league took over the Miami franchise and found a new owner for it

Thompson Lost To Baylor 5

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Baylor's basketball fortunes suffered a blow Wednesday with the loss of starting forward Bobby Thompson for an indefinite period with mononucleosis.

Thompson was a transfer from Tyler Junior College who had a 16-point average through six games and an average of 5.7 rebounds.

Midland Entered In Cage Tourney

MIDLAND — Midland High, upset winner over powerful Hobbs N.M., here Tuesday night, will compete in the 24th annual Roswell, N.M., Invitational Basketball tournament starting today.

Midland opposes Roswell Goddard in the first round at 1 p.m. today. The Bulldogs rank as co-favorites with El Paso Austin.

Midland defeated Hobbs, 82-76, in Midland Tuesday. John Mason, 6-5, led the way with 31 points. The win was the eighth in 11 starts for the Bulldogs.

Gary Brewster, 6-6 junior, was temporarily lost to Midland due to an ankle sprain.

Uphill Fights Confront Two Challengers

NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams and St. Louis Cardinals, statistically the best-balanced teams in the National Conference of the National Football League, will nevertheless be fighting for their playoff lives Sunday.

The Rams will be in New York against the Giants while the Cards play in Washington and both must win—and then wait for other teams to lose—to have any chance at making the playoffs.

But although the Rams and Cards are teetering on the brink of elimination, the latest NFL statistics released today show that they rank high both offensively and defensively.

The Cards are the top offensive team in the NFC with a total of 4,221 yards and rank sixth defensively. The Rams are third on defense and fourth offensively.

St. Louis' offensive lead is a slim one—four yards over the Giants. Dallas, however, is the top rushing team in the conference with 2,092 yards to Detroit's 2,036, while San Francisco is the passing leader with 2,752 yards to 2,468 for the Giants.

Defensively, Minnesota has yielded only 2,672 yards and hold a huge lead over the Lions, who have allowed 3,324. The Vikings' pass defense has given up only 1,353 yards to 1,807 for runner-up Philadelphia. Detroit is the strongest against the rush, yielding 1,106 yards to 1,309 for Los Angeles.

In AFC total offense, Oakland leads Houston 4,471 yards to 3,911. Miami is the best rushing team with 1,923 yards to Oakland's 1,876 and the Raiders hold a 2,595-2,441 passing edge over Houston.

The New York Jets, long gone from playoff contention, have a slim lead of three yards defensively over Kansas City, 3,198 to 3,201.

Mental Approach Helped Cowboys

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Dallas Cowboy watchers got the word Wednesday on the reasons for the National Football League team's "Big Turnabout" and it bears down hard on the mental aspect of the game.

Coach Tom Landry said the Cowboys came back after a 38-0 loss to St. Louis to win four games in a row because the team is no longer tense.

"We couldn't get much lower after the Cardinal game. It was the bottom of the barrel," Landry said. "But we fought back. That shows character."

Landry started calling the plays to take pressure off quarterback Craig Morton. And the team began to roll.

"I hate to use the word 'looser,'" he said. "This doesn't mean we are carefree. There's still seriousness and nervousness but we're not tense like we were up to the Cardinal game. If we had been tense, we would have blown it against Cleveland."

Dallas defeated Cleveland 6-2 Saturday to hang strong in the playoff picture and Landry said it had been several years before he had seen a better attitude on a team.

"It (the attitude) is something that has been missing," he said. "The excitement before the Cleveland game we haven't experienced in a long time. It's a real plus."

Landry said the Cowboys were combining a fair offense and an excellent defense with a few major errors to make a run for the playoff spot. The Cowboys haven't allowed a touchdown in the last 13 quarters.

The Cowboys meet Houston Sunday and a victory would give Dallas at least a coin flip with Detroit for a "Wild Card" spot in the playoffs.

If the New York Giants lose to Los Angeles and the Cowboys down the Oilers in the Cotton Bowl, Dallas would win the NFC East.

A coin flip solution doesn't set well with Landry, but he isn't worried about it.

SCHOOLBOYS SQUARE OFF; PARTNERSHIP UPCOMING

The Big Spring Country Club will be a beehive of golfing activity Saturday.

High school teams representing Big Spring and Snyder Travis tangle in a dual match there at 9 a.m.

An hour later, tandems entering a partnership tournament planned by pro C. G. Griffin can tee off.

Any linkster in the area can enter the 18-hole partnership event. Entry fee is $5 per team and the players will be shooting for merchandise awards.

The rules of the field dictate that a golfer with a handicap of ten strokes and under must team with a player having a handicap of 11 shots or more. Otherwise, the entries will be permitted to choose their own partners.

This is the last big golf event of the year around here and good weather could bring out a large field.

Royce Cox, BSHS golf coach, will supervise the high school play.

Rhyme Hoping To KO Pokes

HOUSTON (AP) — Jerry Rhyme says it's only natural for him to want to show Dallas he is a better quarterback than the Cowboys thought he was.

Rhyme, formerly Dallas property, will guide the Houston Oilers Sunday against the Cowboys in the Cotton Bowl in the final regular season game for both teams.

Rhyme took over first string quarterbacking duties for Houston last week after starter Charley Johnson underwent knee surgery.

"My main concern is just beating them," said Rhyme, 28. "Not for any grudge, not for any personal benefit, but just for Houston to win. A win over Dallas would salvage something of our season and it would give us a good start on next season."

The game is a big one for Dallas with a possible division title and playoff berth in the offering. Houston is out of division title contention and nothing is at stake for the Oilers but pride.

Dallas, with a 9-4 mark, is tied with the New York Giants for the lead in the National Conference Eastern Division. Houston, at 3-9-1, is last in the American Conference Central Division.

"I played for them for four years," Rhyme added. "I'd like to go back and have the satisfaction of beating them. Show them I was a better quarterback than they thought I was. But that's only natural I believe."

"I'm not going to be doing anything different. I'm not going into the game with intention of trying to throw a bunch of touchdown passes just to look good. If we can just win the ball game, I'll be happy. No one man is going to beat a team like Dallas. It takes 10 per cent team effort."

Rhyme is finishing his finest year in the pro ranks. The former Tulsa passing star has hit on 86 of 161 passes for 1,006 yards and five touchdowns.

He completed 27 of 54 passes for 310 yards last Sunday in a losing cause to Cincinnati. Oiler head coach Wally Lemm said Rhyme "did an excellent job."

MEET MOVED BACK TO HC

The Jan. 7-9 American Business Club Olympic Basketball Classic here will be played in the HCJC Gym rather than the high school fieldhouse, it has been announced.

Originally, it was planned to use Steer Gym because of the facility's larger seating capacity.

Four teams, including Howard County JC, are entered in the meet and will engage in a round-robin type of play. Other schools entering teams include Schreiner Institute, Jacksonville Baptist College and Christian College of the Southwest, all of which have winning records this year.

This will be the next home action for the Jayhawks. Two games are scheduled nightly in the tournament.

Dates, Starting Times Set For NFL Playoffs

NEW YORK (AP) — Dates and starting times for the National Football League division playoffs on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 26-27, were announced Wednesday night by Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The December 26 schedule:

At Baltimore—American Conference Eastern Division champion Baltimore vs. AFC Central Division champion, Cincinnati or Cleveland, or vs. Kansas City if it is the AFC's fourth qualifier for the playoffs.

At New York, Dallas or St. Louis—National Conference Eastern Division champion, New York, Dallas or St. Louis, vs. NFC Western Division champion, San Francisco or Los Angeles, or vs. Detroit if it is the NFC's fourth qualifier for the playoffs.

The Baltimore game will start at 12 noon, EST, if New York is NFC Eastern Division champion or at 1 p.m., EST, if Dallas or St. Louis win the NFC East. If New York wins, the game in New York will be at 3 p.m. It will begin at 4 p.m. if at Dallas or St. Louis.

The Dec. 27 schedule:

At Minnesota, 1 p.m. EST—NFC Central Division champion Minnesota, vs. NFC's fourth qualifier, or vs. Western Division champion, San Francisco or Los Angeles, if Detroit is the NFC's fourth qualifier.

At Oakland, 4 p.m.—AFC Western Division champion Oakland vs. AFC's fourth qualifier if Miami is it or vs. Central champion, Cincinnati or Cleveland, if Kansas City is the AFC's fourth qualifier.

The National Broadcasting Company will televise the AFC divisional playoffs nationally while the Columbia Broadcasting System will handle the NFC divisional playoffs.

The four divisional playoff winners will play in the conference championship games Sunday, Jan. 3 at sites to be determined by the results of games on December 26-27.

Terps, Coach Both Take Their Lumps

By The Associated Press

coach, was punched by John Ribock, a South Carolina player, as he tried to break up a fight among players of both teams that erupted near the Maryland bench Wednesday night.

The melee caused referee Gene Conley to call off the college basketball game at Columbia, S.C., with 4:52 left to play. At the time the nationally second-ranked Gamecocks were far ahead at 96-70 and that went into the books as the final score.

"John Ribock hit me," said Driesell who suffered a bruised cheek and lip. "All I was trying to do was to get him off people."

Ribock was not available for comment.

Rick Aydtlett of South Carolina and Jay Flowers of Maryland first came to blows under the Gamecock basket. The officials broke that up, but the fighting erupted again near the Maryland bench among players from both teams.

"It was like a bomb explosion," said Frank McGuire, South Carolina coach. "Some spark set it off and then who really knows what happened after that?"

"I shook hands with Driesell," McGuire continued. "But he was very mad."

"I would like for somebody to research how many times this South Carolina team has been involved in fights over the last two seasons," Driesell said. "There is no excuse for a team that has this much basketball talent fighting when they have a 30-point lead. I don't think it should be tolerated."

Howard White scored 38 points for Maryland while Tom Owens led South Carolina with 28.

The Gamecocks were the only team in the Associated Press Top Twenty to see action.

Navy beat Georgetown 76-69 in two overtimes, Fordham whipped Columbia 83-67, Brown upended Yale 79-66, Louisiana State defeated Tulane 94-79 and Brigham Young trampled Denver 100-72.

Jack Conrad's basket broke a 63-63 tie in the second extra period and put Navy ahead for good as the Middies snapped a four-game losing streak.

St. Francis, Pa., humbled East Carolina 71-67, Wichita State routed Nevada, Reno, 97-69, Toledo tripped Sas Francisco State 71-54 and Miami of Ohio downed Ball State 70-53 in other games.

Walt Hazzard Lowers Boom On Atlantans

By The Associated Press

If Atlanta's Walt Hazzard were to give Alex Hannum the shirt off his back, the harried San Diego coach probably would take it. All Hazzard gave the Rockets Wednesday night, however, was the works.

Hannum protested the Hawks' 128-117 National Basketball Association victory because they, like the visiting Rockets, wore dark shirts. He contended the similarity was a factor in San Diego's 19 turnovers. It was the first time this season an opponent had committed more turnovers than the Hawks.

"Atlanta was not wearing white uniforms, which the home team is supposed to do," Hannum explained. "After we threw the ball away a half-dozen times, I protested because both teams were wearing dark uniforms. It was particularly bad because of the lighting, which I won't call bad but I will label peculiar. Their uniforms had a definite bearing on the game."

Hazzard scored 10 points over a three-minute stretch early in the fourth quarter to break open a tight game. He finished with 31 points and 11 assists. San Diego got 31 points from Stu Lantz and 30 from Elvin Hayes.

Elsewhere in the NBA, New York trounced Cleveland 108-84, Los Angeles whipped Cincinnati 118-102, and San Francisco defeated Seattle 108-91.

In the ABA, it was Kentucky 125, Indiana 110 and Utah 145, Memphis 101.

New York, held to a 50-50 half-time tie, outscored Cleveland 30-16 in the third period and sent the atrocious Cavaliers to their sixth consecutive defeat and 33rd in 35 games. Walt Frazier paced the Knicks with 22 points and John Johnson had 21 for the losers.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Dec. 17, 1970 13-B

Wilt Chamberlain, who scored 35 points, pulled down 18 rebounds and had six assists, helped Los Angeles to a 21-point lead in the third period and an easy triumph over Cincinnati.

Jerry West added 25 points that left him 17 shy of the 20,000 mark for his career. Tom Van Arsdale was high for the Royals with 26.

Jeff Mullins and Jerry Lucas provided the fourth-period scoring impetus in San Francisco's conquest of Seattle. Mullins collected eight of his 23 points in the Warriors' last-quarter spurt.

Lucas six of his game-high 29 in Lenny Wilkens topped the SuperSonics with 28.

DOCTOR'S ORDERS
Jan. 22 Fight Is Cancelled

NEW YORK (AP) — A 10-round heavyweight fight is set for Jan. 22 in Madison Square Garden between Oscar Bonavena and Floyd Patterson, but Bonavena says he can't make it — doctor's orders.

Harry Markson, director of boxing for the Garden, announced the fight Wednesday. But Wednesday night Bonavena said in Buenos Aires:

"I want to have this fight since I gave my word to Mr. Teddy Brenner (Garden matchmaker), but my personal doctor has advised me to rest and forget boxing for awhile, and I have no other choice but to do just that."

Told of Bonavena's statement, Markson said, "I don't know what this is all about. We were talking to Bonavena on the phone only yesterday (Tuesday), and he told us he was ready to fight on Jan. 22 and would be here on Jan. 10.

Bonavena's physician, Dr. Robert Palandino, said last week after Bonavena returned home after being stopped in the 15th round by Muhammad Ali that the fighter was in excellent physical condition but "he is exhausted after his extraordinary fight ..."

Bonavena said he thought he would be ready to fight again by the middle of February.

Markson said Patterson, the former world heavyweight champion, and Bonavena each would be guaranteed $50,000 against 25 per cent of the gate.

Ex-Big Springer Named Veep Of Ruidoso Downs

RUIDOSO, N.M. — Richard Thompson, general manager of the famed Ruidoso Downs Race Track since 1968, has been elected as executive vice president and general manager of Ruidoso Downs, Inc., formerly the Ruidoso Racing Association.

Thompson, noted and highly respected administrator in the nation's quarterhorse racing industry, was elected with eight others to serve as officers of the newly formed Ruidoso Downs, Inc., during an official Fortuna Corporation board of directors meeting held Saturday in Ruidoso Downs.

The Fortuna Corporation, which operates Sunland Park Race Track near El Paso, Tex., recently purchased the combined stock of both Newco Industries, Inc., and the Ruidoso Racing Association, former operators of the noted local quarterhorse race track.

The board also announced the election of two other Ruidosoans as officers in Ruidoso Downs, Inc., W. L. (Sunny) Edwards, a past president of the Ruidoso Jockey Club who has a long-time relationship with Ruidoso Downs, was elected vice president. Edwards formerly resided in Big Spring.

The other Ruidosoan is Elizabeth (Liz) Devine, assistant secretary. She has served as the Ruidoso Downs Nominations secretary for the past eight years and is a well known figure in the racing world.

In the announcement of the officers, the board also stated that an engineer was scheduled to make an official survey of the race track plant regarding general plant improvements. The survey has been set for early in January, 1971.

Thompson stated that he anticipated a record year at Ruidoso Downs in the 1971 season with world famed All American Futurity Race expected to exceed the $750,000 mark. Total mutual handle for 1970 was a record $13,131,173, with a total attendance of 267,400. Thompson said that the Fortuna Board of Directors argued with him that a million dollar All American Futurity Purse was not too far in the distant future.

Nicklaus Books 25 Tournaments

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — At the age of 30, golf's Jack Nicklaus said today he looks forward to playing competitively for eight or 10 more years—or possibly longer.

Nicklaus flew to this resort just north of San Diego to accept an oil portrait and the accolade of West Coast golf writers as Golfer of the Year.

The 1970 British Open champion said he plans to play in 25 tournaments in 1971, starting with the Bing Crosby Pro-Am, the Andy Williams-San Diego Open, the Hawaii Open and in late February, the updated PGA championship in Florida.

Milkes Resigns Milwaukee Post

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Marvin Milkes, whose shrewd trades lifted the Milwaukee Brewers to a fourth-place tie in the American League last season, resigned as general manager and executive vice president Wednesday.

Milkes, 48, will remain with the Brewers as a special assignment scout in the esouthern California area, Selig said.

LOOKING 'EM OVER
With Tommy Hart

The eight Pacific Coast (baseball) league clubs played to a total attendance of 1,364,208 the past season, which represented an increase of 308,220 over the preceding year.

Hawaii's gate alone gained 188,740, advancing to almost half a million. The average pickup around the league was 525 per game.

Baseball lords are bound to be deeply impressed. Minor league baseball simply doesn't draw this days when even the fans in the boondocks can watch big league teams in any sport via TV.

Professional scouts picked an All-American football team for the Sporting News, with the result that many an athlete who played outside the glare of the spotlight was chosen.

Among Texans on the defensive and offensive platoons and the specialty units were:
Split end Elmo Wright, University of Houston, from Brazoria; tackle Vernon Holland, Tennessee State, from Sherman; running back Steve Worster, University of Texas, Bridge City; defensive end Bill Atessis, Texas, Houston; and place kicker Happy Feller, Texas, Fredericksburg.

Isiah Robertson of Southern University, sometimes called the "black Dick Butkus," was selected as a first string linebacker. He grew up in Covington, La., and will likely go high in the football draft.

Notre Dame maintains an intramural tackle football program, complete with helmets and shoulder pads, involving 800 students.

San Antonio has given up trying to get the PGA to agree to another tournament date and will host the women golf pros in 1971.

The Alamo City had been offered the PGA Club championship, which offers a gross purse of $50,000, but that meet has consistently lost money the past few years and one thing San Antonio doesn't need is a sports venture that operates in the red.

Thanks to that sensational sophomore season he had, QB Chuck Hilson of SMU wound up with four NCAA, 17 QB-west Conference and 18 SMU passing records. He shares two of the SWC and one SMU records with others.

His final passing statistics include 1,115 attempts, 642 completions, a .575 completion average, 56 interceptions, 7,173 yards gained as result of the pass and 40 touchdown passes thrown.

No one can go quite so whacky and look quite as ridiculous as a football fan.

After the Philadelphia Eagles upset the New York Giants the other night, some of the Philly fans proceeded to tear up $5,000 worth of Astroturf from Franklin Field.

That's about as bad as assaulting and dismantling steel goal posts after a game. Come to think of it, have you ever been in anyone's home where a piece of a goal post is displayed in the den? What do the souvenir hunters do with such fragments, anyway?

Harvard, which turns out erudite people, likes to hire the same sort to handle its athletic programs. The Cambridge school reportedly is considering piping Dr. Frank Ryan aboard as its next football coach.

Ryan is the pro footballer who earned his Ph.D. in mathematics while in the play-for-pay ranks.

DEMOCRATIC CONTENDERS - IV 'That Place' Lures HHH

By WALTER R. MEARS
and
CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — For Hubert H. Humphrey, two years of political exile are ending—and, if the odds are long against another presidential nomination, the lure of the White House is still there.

"I am not seeking the presidency," says the man from Minnesota, who hasn't even been sworn in yet to his new Senate seat. "I have not renounced the possibility."

Today, according to Humphrey, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine is the clear Democratic leader, and President Nixon looks like a formidable opponent: "an incumbent president is hard to beat."

NIXON TO FOLD
"But you don't judge what is going to happen in 1972 by what is happening in 1970," Humphrey said. "Who can tell what's going to happen?"

In fact, Humphrey says, he sees a possibility that President Nixon may not seek a second term, choosing the path of former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

"Of course, this is all conjecture, but I think the President has a sense of history, that if the domestic situation looks truly bad and his political prospects are not good, I have reason to believe he wouldn't run."

Humphrey, who swept to the Democratic presidential nomination two years ago, says while not very probable economic woes could do to Nixon what the Vietnam war did to Johnson—lead him to renounce a re-election bid.

"I think Mr. Nixon is a proud man... and if he thought that his candidacy would not be honored, if it looked bad, very bad, he might very well say 'Look, I've been president through difficult times. I've served my country. I'll step aside.'"

IN THE LINEUP
New ball game or old, Humphrey obviously sees himself in the lineup.

He sits in the office he has kept in Washington for the past two years, and talks of politics, and the Senate, and the role of a self-titled party leader, and political fund raising, and the polls—and "that place."

(AP WIREPHOTO)

GOING BACK TO WASHINGTON — Hubert H. Humphrey, who defeated Republican Clark MacGregor for the Minnesota Senate seat, says he's not going to actively seek the Democratic nomination for President but added: "I may have a chance to get it and I'd certainly take it."

The place is the White House, and when Humphrey mentions it, he does so with a wave over his right shoulder. His geography is perfect; the presidential mansion is three rainy blocks away, in just that direction.

At 59, Humphrey casts himself as a sort of political elder statesman, the man who has been the route and can advise others—and possibly, just possibly, run the race against himself.

"I really don't see much possibility of my being involved in presidential politics as a contender. I am not saying that the door is locked shut... I have no organization. I am not opening up any offices... I hope to be able to counsel some others."

CRMWD Revenue Up From 1969

Revenues to the Colorado River Municipal Water District during November were still ahead of the same month a year ago, but the return from oil companies was down.

The district took in $270,560, which is about $50,000 more than last November, but when it is considered that payment of Midland, a new customer, was $64,934 for the month, it is clear that the general revenue picture was off. Sales to cities amounted to $205,500, up from the $130,305 a year ago.

Payments from oil companies stood at $62,718, down from the $88,501 for November, 1969, reflecting the oil-company cutoff from Lake Thomas as of Nov. 1.

Through the first 11 months, revenues have amounted to $3,439,520 as against $2,636,892 for the same period in 1969. Total operating expenses for the period were $998,020 against $1,196,024. This left a difference of $2,441,500 between revenue and expense as compared to $1,440,868 the previous year. But transfers to the net revenue fund to meet bonded debt requirements amounted to $2,216,523 compared to $1,409,500 in the same period of last year. The reason is that payments on the 1966 (and 1969) bond issues aggregating $34,600,000 have become due.

Judge Gets Out Of Remap Case

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Fisher removed himself in response to a motion filed by one of the attorneys in the Hardin County reapportionment case.

Judge Fisher directed that the attorneys file briefs by Jan. 15 and replies by Feb. 1. A new judge will be named within 30 days.

The case grew out of reapportionment efforts begun last February when the Hardin County Commissioners Court started redistricting procedures.
