HOLIDAY REMEMBRANCE — A billboard perched high atop a Topeka thoroughfare is the Christmas gift of his mother to her son held prisoner in North Vietnam. Mrs. Harold G. Kramer purchased the billboard for the month of December. Her son, Air Force Capt. Gayland D. Kramer, was shot down and taken prisoner in North Vietnam almost three years ago.

Nixon Pressuring Reluctant Congress For Yes, No Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate refused Saturday to cut off a filibuster intended to kill funds for the supersonic transport. But behind-the-scenes maneuvers encouraged hope that Congress would be spared a forced return to work on Jan. 3.

The off-stage struggle for workable compromises on major bills came against a background of a presidential threat to bring the new Congress into action on Jan. 3, instead of Jan. 21, coupled with his urging that Sunday and around-the-clock sessions be resorted to to break the legislative deadlock.

Although there was little on the record, reports of progress were heard from the negotiations on:

The SST—with efforts concentrating on a proposal that would permit funding of the Transportation Department, including SST, until February with assurances the Senate then could vote on the aircraft project.

But Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a key backer of the project, reportedly rejected the proposal and further talks were put off until Monday. Senate sources said resolution of this dispute holds the key to adjournment.

The defense money bill—the $66.6-billion measure which is tied in with the regular foreign-aid money bill and Nixon's request for a $1 billion in supplemental aid.

The family assistance plan, another big log in the jam, got an administration-encouraging boost late Saturday afternoon when the Senate rejected by 65 to 15 a motion to kill the House-passed welfare-reform bill which includes the much-disputed guaranteed annual income floor of $1,600 for an urban family of four.

Final action this year on this measure appears unlikely in any event since it is tied into an increase in Social Security payments and restrictive trade legislation. The Social Security increases may be extracted and passed as a rider on another bill.

TEXAS VOTE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both Texas senators, John Tower, R., and lame duck Ralph Yarborough, D, voted Saturday for closure to cut off debate on the bill containing funds for the supersonic transport. They were with the 43, beaten by 48 senators.

This year but the other issues are expected to go over until the 92nd Congress meets next year.

"We're making progress," Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told reporters late Saturday afternoon. He rejected the presidential suggestion for around-the-clock sessions and Sunday meetings, at least at this time, but said "We'll do the best we can," to act on major bills.

Poland Beset With Economic Strike Problem

WARSAW (AP) — Strikes persisted Saturday in the tense northern port of Szczecin after nearly a week of bloody rioting against price increases that spread destruction in Polish cities.

Warsaw television showed a three-minute picture of havoc in Gdansk, focal point of the violence, where damage has been estimated at $3.3 million.

Viewers saw blazing buildings, burned houses and looted stores, with wrecked shelves, broken windows and goods littering the floors.

The Polish news agency said the situation was tense in Szczecin, but added: "However, there are no incidents."

The radio in Szczecin reported: "Some enterprises were not working normally today." It mentioned a strike at the Warksi shipyards.

The broadcast said workers wanted to "express their demands in formulations written on posters, which say economic strike and not a political strike."

Other broadcasts said work had been resumed in shipyards in the Baltic ports of Gdynia and Gdansk, where the rioting broke out Monday.

No new reports of violence reached the capital Saturday. Earlier in the day rumors spread that factories near Warsaw which has so far escaped violence, would be struck.

But newsmen who toured four of the five biggest plants saw no signs of disturbance. There were no militia trucks or patrol cars around and factories appeared to be working normally.

Said one worker as he ended his midday shift: "A few people have handed in their party cards but nothing else has happened."

Warsaw radio said the tricity areas of Gdansk, Gdynia and Sopot were quiet.

Destruction was reported widespread not only in Gdansk but in Gdynia, Sopot and Szczecin, formerly the German city of Stettin. Buildings were burned, shops were looted and houses were destroyed. Communist party headquarters in Szczecin was burned.

Reviewing the . . . Big Spring Week . . . with Joe Pickle

For whatever it is worth, newcomers may take heart — that Tuesday sandstorm was just about as bad as they come. To those who persist in saying "you ain't seen nothing yet," we don't want to see it. Ironically, the big blow started with a light rain, but by noon visibility was skidding and dipped to an eighth of a mile or less by mid-afternoon. Dusts past a mile-a-minute depended the curtain until a sudden peak came at 5:20 p.m. when it was instantly like night. There were at least three highway crashes, and the marvel is there weren't more.

Special appeals are out for Christmas projects, particularly the Salvation Army. Kettle contributions have been encouraging, but response to letter appeals for Christmas gifts has been well below par. In trying to help brighten Christmas for more than 400 families, the Salvation Army had to order food on faith — and only you can help justify that faith. Also, the Christmas Cheer Fund through the Herald, can use your generosity.

Texans Can Look For Cloudy Yule

By The Associated Press

Temperatures plummeted Saturday behind a Canadian cold front that left most of the state shivering under rain-promising clouds and gusty northerly winds.

Colder weather was on the way during the night, forecasters said, with rain for most of the state possible.

After a rainy Sunday for most of the state, Texas skies were expected to begin clearing with temperatures again on the rise.

A three-day forecast for the outlook through Christmas Eve is clear to partly cloudy and mild temperatures in North Texas and fair and mild conditions in South Texas.

MANY HELP CHEER FUND

The Christmas Cheer Fund enjoyed a fine response from many generous friends today, and as a consequence, more holiday happiness can reach out to the poorer homes of the city. Some gifts were in lieu of the customary greeting cards.

Every penny of the Fund will go to help the needy, and if holiday requirements are met, it is a source of help in time of emergency. If you want to share in this kind of program, please make your check to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND and mail to The Herald for acknowledgment. There are just a few more days.

VIETS REFUSE PETITIONS U. S. Claims POW's Hostages

PARIS (AP) — With the approach of Christmas, private groups from the United States have tried in vain, to hand the North Vietnamese missions letters more than 1.2 million letters and signatures from Americans concerned about U.S. prisoners of war.

The North Vietnamese refuse to accept the letters and petitions. Groups from Virginia, North Carolina, Colorado and Texas were not even permitted to talk to any North Vietnamese official, despite repeated efforts.

Mai Van Bo, head of the regular diplomatic mission, did receive two individual Americans, one a former prisoner and the other a Roman Catholic priest. He talked with them politely, but referred all their inquiries about the prisoners to a prisoner liaison committee in New York.

The last American delegation received by the North Vietnamese was a group of four Virginians who spent 50 minutes with Bo on Nov. 18. They handed over petitions with 170,000 signatures asking humane treatment for U.S. prisoners.

In the group were Mayor Donald Rhodes of Virginia Beach, Mayor Roy B. Martin of Norfolk, Edwin Brandt Jr. of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot and William P. Mitchell, vice president of the Old Dominion University student body.

The North Vietnamese attitude hardened after new U.S. bombing raids on its territory and an unsuccessful U.S. attempt to rescue prisoners from the Son Tay prison camp Nov. 21.

Xuan Thuy, Hanoi's chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks, Thursday accused the U.S. government of "mounting a huge propaganda campaign over the prisoners to deceive public opinion and cover up the Nixon administration's intensification of the war."

American officials claim Hanoi is using American prisoners as hostages in the hope of forcing the United States to accept its peace terms.

According to official U.S. figures, 459 Americans are known to be held in North Vietnam. Most of them are airmen shot down in North Vietnam prior to the November, 1968, bombing halt.

The North Vietnamese themselves have given the names of 369 Americans held prisoner.

The real figure could be twice as large, since many of the 1,093 Americans listed as missing in action in North Vietnam since 1964 are believed to be alive.

The private groups trying to plead for the prisoners often speak of the anguish of wives and families awaiting for years to discover whether their loved ones are alive or dead. The leader of one delegation, Mayor J.W. Hornsby Jr., of Newport News, Va., said the distress of those in doubt was even greater than those who know their men to be held in confinement.

"This is the first time in U.S. history that we do not know whether missing men are held prisoners or not," he said.

Hornsby spent almost a week in Paris at the head of a group trying to deliver petitions from 115,000 citizens in the Newport News area asking for humane treatment for the prisoners and a full list of their names.

Businessmen Say Buying Shows Gains

Despite the general gloom of the national economy and the depressing effect of inflation on profits, local merchants have generally found their sales and profits to be higher this Christmas season than last.

Family centers handling general merchandise report that sales were either holding even with last year or up by 10 per cent. On the type of shopping being done, one merchant said "We've noticed a trend toward the better quality and more expensive items, and although our shoppers seem to be price-conscious, they don't seem to be comparison shopping." Profit for some stores is estimated to be up as much as 40 to 50 per cent over last year.

Sales in local department stores have risen to 10 to 40 per cent over last season's sales totals. Profits for some of the larger stores will not be up in relation to the sales. One merchant explained, "Our profits will not be in accordance with sales because of the cost of operation. The costs of supplies and freighting here increased greatly this year."

"Things are going to be wild next week," said one men's store owner as he spoke of the last four shopping days before Christmas. Most of the men's stores report sales running even with to 10 per cent higher than last year. "People seem to be buying nicer things this year, but are going more to shirts and pants. We are not selling as many suits and sport coats as last year," said one shop owner.

"Deliveries are terrible, a real inconvenience, but we haven't had any real problems in supplying people with what they want," said one owner of a ladies' clothing store of the problems that beset any merchant. "People are being practical in their buying. They're not going to extremes. They're a nother merchant. 'I've always found that women, no matter what the season, stick pretty close to quality. They know and appreciate quality,'" he added.

"The men will shop next week; that's all we'll have in the store. They always wait until Christmas Eve," said one women's apparel merchant. Sales in women's clothing ranges from 10 to 20 per cent higher in most cases. Profits will be fairly consistent with last year, store owners said, but overhead costs will hurt some merchants.

Jewelers report an approximate 15 per cent increase in sales, with a trend in buying toward the more expensive items. One jeweler quipped that if the trend held, "maybe we can get out of debt." Sales have been steady for several months, but have increased during the last 10 days, and a last-minute rush is expected.

Specialty stores report sales up as much as 60 per cent. "The trend of buying is toward the more costly items, but this varies from day to day," said one owner. Another reported that customers are buying "good" items and do not seem to be comparison shopping.

Lumber and hardware stores also report business to be seasonably higher. Larger purchases and selection of better merchandise by customers has also been noted. One lumber company reports that power tools are very popular gift items this year.

Grocers report that their volume is either holding steady with last year or up 16 to 35 per cent. Turkeys and hams are enjoying their usual popularity, according to most stores. "Shoppers usually look closely at value in foods, but at Thanksgiving and Christmas, they go all out," said another. Profits are expected to be up, but no figures are yet available.

For the benefit of next week's foot-weary, last minute shopper, all stores report that their stocks in almost all items still afford a good selection. Some seasonable items such as decorations and toys are suffering from depletion. Merchants have stated that they usually order their Christmas merchandise with the last minute surge in mind. Some clothing stores have begun displaying some spring line merchandise to increase the selection.

POLITICAL FAVORITISM CHARGED

Union To Sue OEO Region Unit

NEW SHOES — Judy Scott smiles shyly as she accepts a new pair of shoes from Jerry Foust (right) and a bag of fruit, nuts and candy from George Colvin. Judy was one of 187 youngsters treated to new shoes and a movie Saturday morning by the Civitans.

AUSTIN (AP) — Union employees in the War on Poverty's regional office charged Saturday that several unqualified persons have been hired to high-paying jobs because of their political background.

The regional director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, James Griffith, denied the charge.

Frank Curtis, president of Local 2649 of the American Federation of Government Employees, said the union voted unanimously to sue Griffith and other top OEO regional administrators for breach of contract. The union represents "the vast majority" of OEO regional employees, Curtis said.

Curtis made public a 12-page document listing alleged violations of the civil service code in relation to hiring unqualified personnel and reassigning employees against their will.

He named five new employees who he said are former employees of the Texas Republican Party: Humberto J. Silex, Catalina Villapando, Love Johnson, Johanna Eicher and Regina Fair. Silex was hired as a special assistant to Griffith at a salary of $25,538, Curtis said.

Among other new employees named by Curtis were David Newton, whose brother, Curtis says, was executive director of the Texas Republican Party until his resignation this month; and Euzella Lee Sansing, who Curtis said was a former employee of Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

Curtis said the county chairman of the El Paso Republican Party asked that Luch Edwards, "a fully qualified" candidate for the position of general attorney for OEO, not be hired.

"A politician in her home town vetoed her selection and the regional office complied," Curtis said.

Curtis charged there had been violations of the OEO's merit promotion plan, particularly in not posting notice of a new job so established employees could apply for it.

He said the union had contacted an Austin labor lawyer and that it is asking for the services at once of a legal consultant from the national office of the American Federation of Government Employees.

Griffith expressed "a great deal of disappointment" in a letter dated Thursday that answered a Dec. 8 letter from Curtis making the political charges.

Griffith said Curtis' letter showed a lot of "lost time and effort expended in avenues that do not tend to bring us together." The effort fails to help achieve the common goal of fighting poverty, he said.

Griffith promised that employment and promotion in his office would "continue to be based purely on what can be done toward achieving this challenging goal that we have before us and that any other factor will not be basis for employment."

Salvation Army's Yule Fund Is Making Headway

Generous people were closing the gap for the Salvation Army Saturday.

At noon Saturday, the Salvation Army's Christmas fund was running only $480 behind last year — it had been over $800 behind until kettle contributions and a new flurry of checks and bills in the mail changed the picture. Lt. Joseph Saint was confident Saturday that the Christmas spirit this last week will change the situation and bail the SA out of a big grocery bill incurred in preparing food for more than 400 baskets.

Distribution begins Monday at 9 a.m. at the former Piggly Wiggly location on Eleventh Place. Lt. Mary Saint supervised getting toys ready Saturday, even as city firemen put the final touches on the few, last-minute gifts from residents.

Lt. and Mrs. Saint again urged churches and clubs which are adopting families to advise them so they can reduce duplications to a minimum, and thus stretch supplies to cover all of the 420-plus families which have applied for help.

Club Distributes Shoes To Children

Big Spring Civitans Saturday morning issued 186 pairs of shoes to 100 boys and 86 girls, then like Robb treated the youngsters to a movie in the R/70.

The occasion was the fifth annual "shoe project" of the Civitans. The project is coordinated through the Howard County Welfare office to make sure the shoes are delivered to needy children.

The children are given slips of paper with a number on it, and their shoe sizes are taken. Members of the Civitans then contact local merchants for donations of children's shoes. Shoes came from Montgomery Ward and Leeds Shoe Store this year.

Saturday morning the youngsters traded their numbered slips for numbered paper bags which contained shoes of the right size. Each child was also presented with a bag of candy, fruits and nuts. The Civitantes, the auxiliary of the Civitans, assisted the men in handing out the shoes and Christmas bags.

Young Deputy

PEKIN, Ill. (AP) — Harvey Richmond, 29, has become one of Tazewell County's youngest chief deputies in the sheriff's office.

James Donahue, sheriff-elect, named Richmond, he said, in an effort to create better relations with the general public and cooperation with all law enforcement agencies.

Yule Decoration Contest For Coahoma Area

Persons living in the Coahoma-Sand Springs area who wish to enter the Christmas decorations contest must complete an entry blank by Tuesday. The blanks are available at the Coahoma State Bank.

The Coahoma Lions Club is sponsoring the contest and judging will be Tuesday evening, with a yard light going to the first place winner and the second and third place winners receiving cash prizes.

Holiday Affair For Head Start

Children in the local Head Start program and their parents were treated Thursday evening to a party at the Kate Morrison School.

About 125 Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y members baked cookies, wrapped presents and entertained the children by singing Christmas carols and reading Christmas stories.

"We had about 400 persons at the party and really felt that we were doing something to help them have a happy holiday season," one Tri-Hi-Y member said.

Families Suing Drug Makers

TOKYO (AP) — Twenty-six families who say use of thalidomide led to the birth of their malformed children plan to sue the Japanese government and two drug makers for $2,444,444 in damages, court officials said Saturday.

In Alsdorf, Germany, a 2½-year thalidomide trial ended Friday without a formal verdict, but the court said it was convinced the drug caused countless women to bear malformed infants.

Companies To Take NTA Out Of Soaps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's announcement that an antipollution phosphate substitute in soap may be harmful has prompted its developer to halt production.

Officials of the Monsanto Co. in St. Louis said Friday there is no more market for the 100 million pounds of the detergent ingredient NTA it makes every year.

Federal officials announced Friday they have persuaded the detergent industry to quit using the chemical—nitrilotriacetic acid.

At least 13 wash products contain NTA as a partial substitute for phosphates, officials said. Phosphates are considered undesirable because they promote the rapid growth of algae and cause premature aging in some lakes and streams.

The government acted after a Public Health Service experiment showed that rats and mice fed NTA, mercury and cadmium were 10 times more likely to have stillborn or deformed offspring. The experiment showed that NTA combined with the two metals and carried the combination across the placenta to the embryos.

Since both mercury and cadmium occur naturally as pollutants, the findings raised the possibility, officials said, that pregnant women might be harmed.

Exposure to the chemical could come from drinking water contaminated by sewer runoff, they said.

Health officials said there is no present hazard except in some rural areas where septic tanks seep into airless well water supplies. Use of NTA products in those areas should be stopped, they said.

Surgeon General Jesse L. Steinfeld and William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, said in a joint statement there is no evidence so far to indicate anyone has been harmed by the NTA combination.

"However, prudence dictates not permitting a situation to develop in which harm may occur to man from the effects of the projected uses of NTA," they said.

Procter and Gamble Co. alone has invested $6.8 million for conversion to NTA in its detergents and has placed orders for $167 million worth of the chemical, company officials said.

President Howard Morgens said in Cincinnati Friday his firm would eliminate NTA from its products, even though it felt there was no danger.

"In the quantities in which we have used NTA in certain of our products," he said, "we are ab-

Yule Vandals Strike Locally

The usual round of vandalism to Christmas decorations in residential areas is beginning to show up among incidents reported to police.

Light bulbs were stolen Friday night from Christmas decorations put up by Cruz Rodriguez, 908 Runnels; someone knocked down a large Santa, sleigh and reindeer display of Jim McDavid, 1912 Scurry; and decorations put up in the yard of John Annan, 6 Coachman's Circle, were stolen.

BANEERRY LEAKS RADIOACTIVITY Barren Desert Contaminated

MERCURY, Nev. (AP) — Baneberry, the code name for the Atomic Energy Commission's 230th announced underground nuclear test here since 1963, went off normally and created a spherical cavern 900 feet below the desert sand.

What followed five minutes later Friday wasn't normal. The AEC said pressure from the blast, equivalent to detonation of about 20,000 tons of TNT, spewed radioactive dust from the shaft in which the nuclear device had been placed.

A dirty brown column of dust arose and within minutes reached 8,000 feet. Within hours it spread over 1,000 square miles of barren, almost uninhabited desert.

The AEC evacuated 600 of its employees near the test site, but said that nowhere outside of the immediate area of the shaft was the fallout a danger to human life or health.

At Warm Springs, a gasoline stop near the north edge of the site, 80 miles northwest of Las Vegas, AEC employees measured radiation of about one milliroentgen an hour.

The cloud drifted over sheep and cattle ranches, mines and a handful of towns with fewer than a dozen inhabitants, but the AEC said the radioactivity was less than 10 milliroentgen an hour in the cloud and only one on the ground. A routine chest X ray exposes a person to about 50 milliroentgens. A milliroentgen is one one-thousandth of a roentgen.

The 600 evacuated employees changed clothes and showered — what the AEC called nominal precautionary measures. Three hundred of them were found to carry a small amount of radioactivity.

Ban On Christmas

Christmas Day celebrations were once forbidden by law in England and America. In England Oliver Cromwell declared that, because of its pagan origin, observance of Christmas was illegal, even in churches. In 1659 the General Court of the Massachusetts colony similarly banned its celebration. The Christmas veto in Massachusetts stayed in force for 22 years, until 1681.

FRED L. COLEMAN JR.

Coleman In Ector Post

Fred L. Coleman Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Coleman Sr., 506 E. 16th Street, is the new assistant county attorney for Ector County.

The announcement of his appointment came after he had been administered the attorney's oath by Judge R. L. McKim in 161st District Court Wednesday.

Coleman, a Marine Corps veteran, received his bachelor of arts degree from Texas Tech University in 1967 and his law degree from Southern Methodist University's School of Law in 1970.

He received notice that he had passed his Texas bar exam Dec. 12, after having taken it in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman reside at 5502 North Everglade in Odessa.

the slaying of Steve Currie, prominent rancher. At the end of the week, however, he had not been taken into custody.

The remnants of 1970's surprising cotton crop continued to trickle in during the week, and at a rate better than expected. The area's final total may go over 300,000 bales.

Another crop in the process of being harvested at a lively clip is the oil wells in the Spraberry trend of Martin County. For the fourth consecutive week, Martin led all Permian basin counties in drilling activity with 32 rigs turning, seven more than the nearest county. There were six completions during the week, plus five locations.

Cosden Oil & Chemical Company inducted 18 new members into its Twenty-five Year Club. The rate at which this company adds to the elite longevity group speaks highly of employer-employee relationships. Young blood keeps an organization on its toes, but the old pros make it go.

Everywhere there were Christmas parties and projects, but the biggest of them all, the Big Spring State Hospital party had 1,000 of the hospital residents as guests. Twenty-five local clubs joined in furnishing refreshments, entertainment, etc., also in seeing every patient had a gift.

Christmas music was in the air, too. Around 1,000 heard the presentation of Handel's "The Messiah" at the First United Methodist Church, also the HJC and the Big Spring High School choirs in Yule concerts. Today most churches will devote part or all of one service to telling the Christmas story in music.

Music to many a businessman's ears was the stepped-up noise of Christmas shopping. Surprising to some was the sudden mid-December buying surge which promised to make this a bumper business year for most firms. This ran contrary to the national pattern.

City councilmen are pondering the possibility of an increase in the water rate, which, if it comes off as expected, will be the first in a score years. The cost of taking no chances on continued drought next summer is due to bring a higher rate from the Colorado River Municipal Water District to the cities, which will pass it on.

Colorado City presents an unusual picture. It has not only had its plans approved for sewer plant changes to meet state water quality standards, but it has the cash on hand to do the work.

This may be the season to be jolly — but it also is the season to beware. James Gregory was shot in the face when the service station where he worked was hijacked. Mr. and Mrs. Joe King, Knott store operators, had visitors when they returned home a week ago — a pair of hoodlums who held them up and got $575 in cash and checks (the checks were later recovered).

A state grant of $1,894 toward purchase of a video tape machine for the Big Spring police department was announced. The department is due to put $1,263 toward purchase of the equipment which will be used mainly in getting pictorial evidence.

The new sheriff of Dawson County is Guy Killison, chief deputy who was elected to the top spot when J. A. (Shorty) Hancock resigned because of ill health which followed a bad car mishap. Big Spring has a new city judge, too. He is John Richard Coffee, who succeeds John Burgess, resigned.

When the comic strip "Smitty" started two score years ago, our neighborhood gang put the label of Herbie the kid brother, on Howard Smith. Herbie's personality fit the part, and when he died here last week, the long role of friends he left was a testimony to how successfully he had lived.

COLLECTIVE GASP FROM COURTROOM

Sergeant Acquitted Of Maltreatment Charges

EDDIE YOUNG CHARLES R. GRIZZARD

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A military court acquitted T. Sgt. Jack Wilson, a stocky Vietnam veteran, on charges of maltreating 10 trainees at Lackland Air Force Base.

"I couldn't believe it," Wilson, 34, said after hearing the verdict of a panel of seven officers late Friday.

Witnesses testified in the week-long court-martial that Wilson, a training instructor who has spent 15 years in service, banged together the heads of two recruits, choked one of them, kicked two other trainees and knocked his head against the head of another airman during drill practice. Prosecutors said injuries suffered by Davis will make it necessary for the Air Force to discharge him.

Gillespie countered that at least one of the two airmen stumbled and the head banging was an accident.

The seven officers deliberated nearly three hours before reaching their verdict.

A number of other instructors were present and there was a sound like a collective gasp as the decision was read. Wilson left almost at once, hurrying with friends to a car, while his wife murmured, "I guess I'm too numb to cry."

The sergeant told a reporter later, "I had to get out of there fast—I was about to explode."

Expressing gratitude to friends and counsel, he said, "If it hadn't been for the good Lord above, and two of the best military lawyers and one of the best civilian lawyers, I don't think I would have made it. They did an outstanding job."

Wilson, a training instructor since 1967, now makes his home of Kenova, W. Va.

First Yule Cards

This is the 95th anniversary of Christmas cards in the United States. The first American-made cards were produced by a German immigrant, Louis Prang of Roxburg, Mass., in 1875.

Eagle Badges Are Given To Scouts

Two members of Explorer Post 136 were presented their Eagle badges, highest in Scouting, at a Court of Honor and Christmas party for the post and for Troop 136 at the Scout Hut in Sand Springs Saturday evening.

The badges were given by Harvey Hooser, Lone Star District advancement chairman and founder of Troop 136. Both of the boys had come up through the program from Cubs to Scouts to Explorers.

Martin Still Most Active

Martin County increased its lead last week as the most active spot for drilling in the Permian Basin.

The weekly survey of Reed Drilling Tools showed that Martin had 32 of the 222 rigs turning in the basin, an increase of four for the week. This was five more than Pecos, the next most active county. Lea County, N.M., dropped two rigs to 23 for third place.

This is the fourth straight week that Martin has led the drilling parade.

Other counties in this area with the number of active rigs (the previous week in parentheses) are: Borden 2 (1), Dawson 1 (1), Glasscock 1 (0), Howard 4 (5), Scurry 4 (3), and Sterling 0 (1).

F. W. Holbrook of Midland and Tesoro Petroleum Corp. of San Antonio have shut in to build tank battery, No. 1 Martin, Scurry County reef prospect, after it flowed 5.2 barrels of new oil, no water, in one hour.

Flow was through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 6,921-26 and 6,930-6,937 feet, which had been acidized with 500 gallons. After the acid treatment, it swabbed 49.5 barrels of load water on five runs, then kicked off, flowing the above gauge.

It spots 500 feet from north and 1,600 feet from west lines of section 139, block 97, H&TC survey, 2 1/2 miles northwest of Ira and one mile southwest of the two-well Cob-Ruwe (Pennsylvanian) field, but separated by a 7,100-foot failure.

Jar Collector

DENVER (AP) — Ron Wreath, Denver druggist, has been collecting apothecary jars and pharmacy bottles for 10 years and now has enough to stock a small store. Many of them are labeled. The label on one bottle proclaimed its contents good for "indigestion, foul breath, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, kidney or bladder trouble and tired feeling."

Senate Report Very Critical Of McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee, closing its books on an eight-year probe of the TFX warplane, has accused former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara of wasting billions of dollars and damaging the nation's defense posture by ignoring warnings about the aircraft.

In a report released Friday, the permanent investigations subcommittee, also accused one of McNamara's aides of conflict of interest and said another should have disqualified himself from the TFX contract award.

The report said McNamara and his top aides ignored advice of military and technical experts and arbitrarily awarded the contract to General Dynamics, although Boeing submitted plans for a cheaper and better plane.

It also said McNamara was just plain wrong in seeking to develop a common plane for all the services.

After years of mechanical troubles an Air Force version of the TFX—now known as the F111—finally saw limited duty in Vietnam but a Navy model had to be junked.

"This unfortunate and wasteful consequence of an arbitrary and imprudent decision to rush into production with a deficient aircraft is directly attributable to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and his service secretaries," the report said.

"They received clear warnings of impending disaster on a number of occasions over the years," it continued.

"Nonetheless," said the report, "they plunged ahead with the production of hundreds of aircraft which they knew lacked the capabilities originally promised and originally contracted for."

In the case of the Navy plane alone, the report said, McNamara's failure to heed warnings "cost hundreds of millions of dollars and severely impaired our Navy's defense posture."

The two McNamara aides singled out for special criticism were his deputy secretary, Roswell Gilpatrick, and Secretary of the Navy Fred Korh.

Gilpatrick was a New York lawyer who handled work for General Dynamics before joining the Pentagon. Korh had close ties to General Dynamics officials.

The report said Korh played only a small part in the contract award but still should have disqualified himself.

It said Gilpatrick, on the other hand, was guilty of a "flagrant conflict of interest." It accused him of trying to mislead the subcommittee on the depth of his involvement with General Dynamics.

The Justice Department under Robert F. Kennedy investigated Gilpatrick's involvement in 1962 but cleared him of conflict of interest.

A subcommittee staffer said the Senate investigation is over and nothing further is planned in connection with the TFX.

The TFX program originally called for 1,726 planes at a cost of $5.8 billion, averaging $3.4 million per plane. Plans call for the program to end in 1972 with 538 planes which cost $7.9 billion—an average four times the original estimate.

Commenting on the subcommittee report, General Dynamics said, "While the program has been controversial, the net result is an outstanding weapons system, with performance and long range, low-altitude operating capabilities unmatched by any other airplane in the world."

The company statement said it is significant that at no time was there any suggestion of wrongdoing by General Dynamics or any of its employees.

She has been working in the Westbrook Post Office for the past 11 years. She was appointed temporary sub-clerk in 1959; and was promoted to career sub-clerk in 1965. She became officer in charge of the post office in 1969 at the retirement of Postmaster Mrs. Jewell Criswell.

Travelers Send Christmas Card

A Christmas card from Missouri was received by Mayor J. Arnold Marshall this year, but it was not the usual kind from a personal friend.

The card was from Carl and Lena Nadorff of Florissant, Mo., inscribed with this message inside: "Last October two weary travelers were very grateful to find an available campground late at night in your hospitable city. Thank you very much."

Over the years quite a number of similar cards and letters have come to Big Spring from visitors who were pleasantly surprised to find a free overnight camper park in Comanche Trail Park.

TEXAS LEGISLATURE— Taxes, Remap Prime Issues

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Staff

AUSTIN (AP) — There is no doubt in the minds of Texas legislators what their prime problems will be in the 1971 legislative session—new taxes and redistricting.

A pre-legislative survey of the 181 state senators and representatives shows them almost unanimous in predicting new revenue will be their main worry.

MONEY, MONEY
"Money, Money, Money," said

Rep. Bill Finck of San Antonio, when asked to list the three top issues of the 62nd legislature that convenes Jan. 12.

Every one of the 12 senators answering the Associated Press questionnaire listed new taxes as the prime problem. Forty-three of the 57 House members returning their survey questions also listed new money as top. "Of course, revenue," said Sen. Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi, in listing the prime problem, "although I wish education, particularly higher education, was first."

At a recent pre-session conference of legislators in Austin, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes warned them they may have to pass the biggest tax bill in Texas history next year.

'BARE BONES'
The Legislative Budget Board has estimated a "bare bones" budget for 1972-73 would cost at least $643 million in new taxes. Others predict the tax bill will be nearer $800 million by the time legislators give in to the long list of money demands from state agencies and their home town voters.

The total spending bill for 1972-73, including money received by federal grants, is expected to be near $7.2 billion, compared to the $5.87 billion from all funds for 1970-71.

There also was no question among legislators about the second most pressing problem in 1971—the revamping of legislative and congressional districts according to the 1970 census. The political ambitions of many representatives who want to become senators and senators who want to be congressmen or hold statewide office will be entangled in the redistricting negotiations. Some say it may take a special legislative session to solve redistricting alone.

DRUG USE
Thirty-eight of those answering listed "redistricting" as the No. 2 issue of the session, 20 others said it would be third, while four said it was No. 1.

Appropriation of state money for the next two fiscal years was the third choice of most legislators for prime issues. Close behind were votes that made liquor-by-the-drink legislation, increased welfare benefits, more money for education, better laws for crime prevention particularly against drug use, and revision of automobile insurance laws as other top drawer legislative subjects.

Several legislators added some of their pungent personal comments in answering the AP questions about the future session.

GREATER GLORY
One House member, who asked that his name not be used, listed new taxes as the prime issue, redistricting second, and predicted third would be: "Launching Ben Barnes to greater glory."

Still another anonymous answerer said: "I do not favor a special session but due to the power play involved we will have a special session (on redistricting)."

And in answer to a question about college dissenters, a Houston House member commented: "The 62nd legislature will have enough to do without pre-empting the responsibility of college administrators."

Gary Newsom Explains Cadet Way Of Life

By JEAN FANNIN

What's a typical day like in the life of a West Point cadet? That is what Gary Don Newsom, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Newsom, 416 Dallas, is spending a major portion of his Christmas vacation describing.

Newsom, a 1968 graduate of Big Spring High School, is a member of the Cadet Public Relations Council at West Point and as such gained permission to leave the academy early in order to speak to schools and organizations here.

A day begins early at West Point — 6:15 a.m. Cadets join formation and march to breakfast then return to their rooms to clean them up before 7:30 a.m. classes. "Or if you're an upperclassman sometimes you can catch a little extra sleep," Newsom grinned.

GARY DON NEWSOM

From 7:30 a.m. to noon, cadets are in class; then they again join formation to march to lunch. From 1 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. they are back in class. Then they have parade drills or athletic activities until 6 p.m. when it is time to again join formation to march to dinner.

"Every cadet is required to take part in some form of athletics, whether intramural or intercollegiate," he said.

Dinner ends about 6:45 p.m., Newsom said. Cadets are expected to spend the evening from 7:20 to 11 p.m. studying. At 11 p.m. "Taps" is played and lights go out.

Newsom is thoroughly "gun ho" about the West Point life, although he lost a year of college when he changed from Texas A&M after his freshman year and accepted appointment to West Point.

year at A&M helped me validate several courses, although I couldn't transfer the credits I had earned."

The top 5 per cent of each class graduated from West Point gets a choice of a civilian school to continue his education immediately. However, for every year the Army pays for his education, more time is added to a cadet's original five-year obligation.

The first two years at West Point are more or less "free" concerning military obligation. But the minute a cadet enters a junior year class, he is obligated to serve three years as an enlisted man in the Army should he drop out of West Point, Newsom said. A graduate is obligated to five years and commissioned as a second lieutenant upon graduation.

Lint Samples Show Decline

B. B. Manly Jr., officer in charge, reported that 28,000 samples were classed for the week ending Dec. 18, 1970, compared to 27,000 for the same period last season. The season's total is now 311,000 samples classed compared to 149,000 for a season's total a year ago.

Twenty-four per cent of the samples classed was in the white category, 71 in light spotted category, and 5 per cent was spotted. Predominant staple lengths were 30 (57 per cent) and 31 (20 per cent). Micronaire readings showed 67 per cent in the premium range, compared to 78 per cent the previous week. Pressley or strength readings showed 81 per cent reading 80,000 PSI (pounds per square inch) and better.

The Consumer and Marketing Service in Abilene reported average gross prices for predominant qualities were: 3229 (18.95 cents), 3,230 (19.55 cents), 4,229 (18.45 cents), 4,230 (19.00 cents).

Damage Claims Regulations On City Agenda

In the wrap-up session of 1970 the city commission plans to consider Tuesday the city's small damage claims procedure, make appointments to the Community Action Council and the post of City Health Officer, look at golf course fees, choose a gasoline supplier, and look at a proposal for advanced police equipment.

Under the city charter a person claiming damages against the city must file a written claim within 30 days after the damage occurred, no matter how large or small the claim, and must then give the commission 60 days to think the matter over before suit can be brought.

"There has been much discussion on the subject recently," said City Manager Larry Crow. "There are those who say that it is such a lengthy, expensive, and discouraging procedure that some people who have perfectly legitimate claims will not go to all that trouble."

A proposed change in the process would delegate to the city attorney the authority to settle claims under a certain value. If the city attorney and the claimant cannot reach an agreement, the commission could then take up the problem.

"It would have the advantage of saving the citizens time and trouble and saving the city a lot of paper work," Crow said.

Four positions on the Community Action Council are to be filled by the city, which in the past have been filled by the mayor, city manager, city attorney, and one commissioner. A rule limiting tenure to three years prevents Mayor J. Arnold Marshall and Larry Crow from being reappointed this time.

Another position, that of city health officer, requires an appointment since Dr. J. E. Hogan's term has expired.

Gasoline bids for the next six-month period will be opened at 10 a.m. Monday and will be tabulated and presented to the commission Tuesday.

Recommendations for changing the greens fees at the municipal golf course have been

Midland Cuts Requirements For Water

An agreement has been reached under which the City of Midland will reduce its water requirements from the Colorado River Municipal Water District during winter months so the district can help keep alive oil field repressuring units in the area.

The net effect is one of redistribution without increasing the total volume of water, said O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD.

Midland's own production facilities are ample for its winter needs, hence it can get without all or part of the 6,200,000 gallons it has been taking daily from the CRMWD under terms of its contract.

The district plans to buy back that portion of the Midland contract gallonage which it can resell to the oil companies in order to keep their repressuring units operative. Some units have had to seriously curtail operations or entirely shut down. In either instance, this has presented a threat of serious damage or loss of efficiency to secondary recovery programs, said Ivie.

The arrangement, according to the general manager, offers several benefits. One is that this will maintain revenues at required levels for the district while it seeks to cooperate with the oil companies. Another is to soften for a time the Midland financial obligations under terms of its contract with the district.

In addition, noted Ivie, the aid to secondary recovery operations will make a substantial contribution to the economy of this area which is so dependent on the well-being of the oil industry. Jobs and values are wrapped up in the productive capacity of the companies.

"This will not draw on our surface reserves to any greater extent than previously anticipated," said Ivie. "At the same time, it can work to the advantage of the entire area."

Among oil operators affected may be the SACROC unit in Scurry County, Atlantic-Richfield and Standard and the Walsh & Watts unit in Howard, and Sam Oil in Goke County.

made by the parks and recreation board, and will require city commission approval to be put into effect.

A grant of $1,894 has been approved by Gov. Preston Smith for the purchase of videotape equipment for the Big Spring police department for use in training, case presentation in court and improved administration communication. The city must approve $1,263 in matching funds in order to get the grant.

In other business the commission will look at a request for a beer and wine permit for the Park Inn to be operated by Katie Schwab and check the voucher listing.

HOME OF FLAGS — Byron D. Lenius, 28, is hanging 27 United States flags, each different, at his Renton, Wash., home. His is the only complete collection of 3-by-5-foot flags set up for public display, he said. The flags will eventually be on flag poles in the Lenius' yard. Lenius plans for a "Flag City, U.S.A.," including a building containing flags of all the states.

PROBLEMS DEVELOPING FOR WEEKS

TWU Hit With Racial Outbreak

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — The adjacent towers of 24-story John A. Guinn Hall and 21-story Stark Hall dominate the sparse skyline in this North Texas city.

Two plate glass windows on the ground level at Guinn Hall on the all-girl campus were broken Thursday night during a racial protest in the final week of examinations before the semester break and Christmas vacations.

Twenty-two Negro students at TWU and two young men from California were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. All were released within hours on $100 bonds, and the university administration said no other disciplinary action would be taken against the girls.

Two male students from the University of California at San Diego were charged and released earlier Thursday night after an apparently related incident which the 22 arrested girls said followed several weeks of friction.

Dr. John A. Guinn, president of TWU for 21 years and for whom the two-year-old dormitory is named, said Friday he believed that the demonstration, for the most part, was spontaneous.

Three of the girls arrested disagreed. The students, who asked that their names not be used, said problems had been developing for several weeks. One said, "We've had problems since the semester began."

"I don't want to think I'm in a prison," said one of those arrested. "They're (the administration) treating us like prisoners and we don't have any black in the administration we can talk to."

Guinn said although there is only one Negro faculty member on campus, that the administration is attempting to recruit qualified blacks.

"We are constantly re-examining the composition of the university," he said.

The girls were arrested, they said, after rumors circulated in the dormitory that no Negro boys were being allowed in the lobby to visit students Thursday night. One protester said that she learned when she went to the lobby that all boys were being prohibited from visiting the dormitory.

"When a boy I knew was pushed out of the door by campus security, I went outside before the 11 p.m. curfew and sat on the walk," she said. "We began singing songs like 'We Shall Overcome' when the Denton police joined the campus security officers."

"They told us to go back inside or be arrested. They didn't tell us why we were being arrested."

NCOs Entertain Local Children

Underprivileged children were given a Christmas party Saturday at the Webb NCO Club, sponsored by the NCO Association and the NCO Wives.

Santa Claus handed out presents to about 120 youngsters, after a Coke and cookie party. One NCO entertained the kids by calling Santa a fink and trying to take all the presents for himself. The children shouted him down, and other NCO's grabbed him and took him away from the party.

As each child received his toy, he was asked what he wanted for Christmas, so that if the present he got at the NCO party was not what he wanted Santa could try to get it for the return trip Christmas Eve.

went to the jail after he heard of the arrests, said witnesses told him that about two hours earlier two Negroes from the University of California at San Diego were apprehended at Guinn Hall when one was told by a campus officer to take off his hat in the lobby.

"When the student asked the officer why he didn't remove his uniform cap, the officer replied, 'because I'm a policeman,'" who also asked that he remain anonymous.

The protesters said tension had been mounting after a white student stepped on a cafeteria line, and a dormitory "mother" and

Man Issues His Own Yule Stamp

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Harry Squatrito runs his own post office and Friday issued his Christmas stamp. It shows a fireplace and a decorated tree on a green background.

The mail is distributed by the local post after it has passed through normal U.S. Postal Service channels.

Squatrito operates one of the 12 local posts in the nation. Once considered illegal, local posts were revived in 1953 when, according to Squatrito, a New York man discovered a loophole in express statutes which permits a local post to receive or distribute properly stamped mail.

The local post stamps are affixed to the left hand side of envelopes, with U.S. stamps in their usual places.

her assistant held apart the two girls when the Negro went to the white girl's room to seek an apology.

Guinn said an incident on the campus about two weeks ago caused "a good deal of commotion and some friction" but he still was looking into the matter.

The protesters who were interviewed also said they wanted black security officers on campus and revised content and title for TWU's black studies program, "Contributions of Non-European Countries."

The girls said that although there is an NAACP student group on campus, neither they nor the group's representatives had approached the administration this semester with the request.

"I think the communication is very good on this campus," Guinn said. "I spent a good deal of time with the students. I meet each week with the four ranking members of the Campus Government Association, one of whom is black."

The protesters who were interviewed said they planned to return to TWU next semester if they were academically eligible. One lamented she took a final examination after being released from jail Friday and was not prepared for the test.

Man Charged With Maiming

William B. Lee, 505 W. 5th, was arrested Saturday morning on charges of maiming in connection with a fight last week in which George T. Thomas, 805 Edwards, reportedly was injured.

Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter set bond in the case at $3,500, and Lee was transferred to county jail.

Gas Destruction Procedure Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says it has found a safe and non-controversial way to rid itself of all germ warfare stocks more than a year after President Nixon renounced their use.

The procedures will provide "absolute safety and security" and cost $12.2 million, the Pentagon said Friday.

Officials said the plan, to be reviewed by federal state and local pollution agencies, will provide for destruction at five installations where the disease-carrying weapons are stored.

None of the biological agents or toxins will be moved. A shipment of nerve gas carried across the South and dumped off the Atlantic coast several months ago raised storms of protest.

How much gas is to be destroyed was not disclosed, but

Judge Upholds Rights Of Hughes' Directors

LAS VEGAS (AP) — A judge ruled Saturday the directors of the Hughes Tool Co. had the right to control Hughes' $300 million Nevada empire and to fire Robert Maheu, who had run the billionaire's properties in the state for four years.

District Court Judge Howard Babcock said a proxy giving three tool company officials power to act for Hughes was valid and the signature "Howard R. Hughes" on the bottom of it was genuine. The tool company said the proxy gave it power to fire Maheu and take control of Hughes' $300-million Nevada investment.

Babcock dismissed as "not credible" the testimony of a witness introduced by Maheu who said he saw Hughes' departure from Las Vegas. The witness, LeVane Forsythe of Torrance, Calif., was part of an attempt by Maheu's attorney to show that a sick and ailing Hughes had been removed against his will in a power grab engineered by tool company executives.

Maheu said after the judge's ruling that he was still concerned about Hughes' well being.

"I will not leave a stone unturned until I am thoroughly convinced he is well and this was his wish," he said.

"Needless to say, I was not happy with the decision. Nor was I particularly surprised."

The testimony of two handwriting experts who disagreed on the validity of the signature on the proxy weighed heavily in the case, and Babcock said he could not agree with an expert introduced by Maheu's attorney who said the signature was an imitation.

"The exhibit was found by the court to be in the handwriting of Mr. Hughes and bear his fingerprints in the bottom," Babcock said.

A week later, the tool company announced the firing of Maheu, chief executive of Hughes' Nevada operations since the billionaire reclusé moved into the state.

Maheu resisted and obtained a court order restraining the tool company forces from ousting him and taking control of the seven casinos, five hotels, 2,600 mining claims and immense real estate holdings that make Hughes the state's largest employer, largest landowner and largest gambling operator.

Babcock struck down that restraining order Saturday and granted the tool company a permanent injunction forbidding Maheu to interfere with tool company control of all Hughes' Nevada properties.

Maheu can appeal the tool company's permanent restraining order, but said he had not yet made up his mind whether to do so.

Maheu, accompanied by his attorney, Morton Galane, told a news conference after the verdict he didn't know why the tool company executives fired him.

"As I still say, after two weeks of terrible pressures, I am more confused and particularly more concerned than I was two weeks ago," he said, referring to the start of the court proceedings.

"I was hoping that by exposing myself to this type of action that perhaps I would become better informed as to exactly what happened," he said.

"But the abnormality of the whole situation leaves me in more doubt than I was two weeks ago."

Characterizing Hughes as a "man of deep compassion" toward even his enemies, Maheu said "it is almost impossible for me to believe that the actions that have been taken in this particular situation are dictates of his."

Raymond M. Holliday, executive vice president of the tool company, denied in a statement issued after the verdict that there was any "power struggle" involved in the case.

He said the decision to fire Maheu and Jack Hooper, top security officer for Hughes' Nevada holdings, was "a unanimous one" within the 10-member board of directors.

Okinawans On Rampage At AF Base

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Two thousand Okinawans went on a destructive rampage at the U.S. Kadena Air Force Base early Sunday. It was the worst rioting in 25 years of American rule.

In a four-hour outburst, rioters hurled thousands of gasoline bombs, rocks and bottles at U.S. military and Okinawan police. Eighty-two parked American-owned cars were burned or destroyed, including six military police vehicles.

The riot was sparked by a traffic accident in which a car driven by an American soldier struck and injured an Okinawan pedestrian at a crossing in Kozu Maromi outside the Kadena base. The pedestrian's injury was described later as minor.

At least 500 rioters charged through a gate of the air base, burned a guard post and damaged with fire bombs a wing of a newly built American school 100 yards inside the gate. Police fired warning shots and hurled scores of tear gas shells to disperse the rioters.

Thirty-five persons were treated for injuries at the U.S. Army hospital near the base, including 29 U.S. military police and three Okinawans. The other three were not identified. Most were treated for burns and bruises.

Young, Old 'Kids' Enjoy Festive Party

Santa Claus visited some 40 handicapped children at the Cosden Club Saturday after the Shriners had treated the children to a turkey dinner with green Christmas tree ice cream.

Guests of honor were Michelle Hall, Yolanda Martinez, Juan Abriego, and Tommy Duane Sullivan who have received treatment at the Shrine burns hospital in Galveston.

Tommy was a special guest since he was the first boy from the Big Spring area to be sent by the Shriners to Galveston, following an accidental gasoline explosion when he was playing with matches at a service station managed by his father C. J. Sullivan. He still receives check-ups once or twice a year sponsored by the Big Spring Shrine Association, and may require grafting or surgery in the future.

Lisa Roach, a 13-year-old ventriloquist from San Angelo, entertained the children with the help of her dummy, a nursery school knockout ("I tried to kiss the teacher, and she knocked me out").

The children's laughter then turned into boisterous enthusiasm as Mayor J. Arnold Marshall led Shriners and children in singing Christmas carols until Santa's arrival.

Santa gave each child a stockingful of candy and a present, and many a polite "Thank you" was said just before the children began tearing away the wrapping paper to get to their toys.

The crowd of Shriners and children this year was said to be better than ever, with about 120 kids, old and young, on hand.

Morton Says Formula Is Needed For U.S. Parks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rogers C. B. Morton, first Easterner designated as Secretary of the Interior, says the government should buy land for parks near coastal population centers, instead of tracing more parks on the remote western land it already owns.

"If you're going to spend money per capita on parks in any kind of an equitable formula," the Associated Press in an interview, "I think a lot of that money is going to have to be spent in the Great Lakes area, the West Coast and the East."

In the wide-ranging interview, Morton foresaw a new role for the Interior Department; adopted a flexible approach to land use; and explained some of his views in Congress that have raised eyebrows among conservationists—including his support of the controversial supersonic transport plane.

Morton, now chairman of the Republican National Committee, was named to succeed Alaska's Walter J. Hickel, who was abruptly fired by President Nixon on Nov. 25.

Morton's nomination, however, will not go to Congress until the new session opens late in January.

Here are excerpts from the interview:

Q—You are the first Easterner to be designated Secretary of the Interior. What positive aspects do you see in this?

A—One of the things is complete objectivity... kind of a national overview of it. I think an Easterner—can perhaps serve just as well as, if not better and more objectively than, a person who maybe is looking just at the parochial interests of the Western states.

Q—How do you see the role of the Interior Department?

A—The role of the department, vs. its mission of only a year or so ago, has changed... We may be in a transitional phase in which the Department of Interior may have a much more custodial role in the total natural resource area.

Sharp Fighting Marks Viet War Anniversary

SAIGON (AP) — Sharp fighting was reported on the battlefields in South Vietnam Saturday on the heels of Viet Cong terror strikes to mark the 24th anniversary of the start of the Indochina war.

Action involving U.S. troops was reported near the demilitarized zone separating the two Vietnams. South Vietnamese forces engaged the enemy in the Mekong Delta, far to the south.

Infantrymen of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division supported by helicopter gunships engaged 15 North Vietnamese soldiers in an open area 10 miles south of the DMZ, and killed 10 of them without suffering any losses, the U.S. Command reported.

South of there, other airborne troops ambushed an enemy force at a trail junction 16 miles west of Hue. They killed five of the enemy soldiers, again without suffering a single casualty, the command said.

South Vietnamese rangers and infantrymen claimed killing 26 Viet Cong in a continuing sweep of the U Minh Forest in the Delta. One of the government soldiers was killed and five were wounded.

Regional forces operating in other delta regions reported killing 39 Viet Cong and capturing six others in two firefights 114

Kidnapers List Prisoners To Be Traded For Diplomat

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Terrorist kidnapers of Swiss Ambassador Giovanni Enrico Bucher sent the Brazilian government a new list Saturday of the 70 political prisoners it wants freed in exchange for the diplomat. Newsmen who saw the list said it was dated and signed by Bucher, as the government demanded.

Hours earlier the government rejected a previous list. It did not question the authenticity of that list, sent to a news agency but Justice Minister Alfred Buzaid said the government would accept only a list addressed to his ministry and signed and dated by Bucher.

The new list was found through an anonymous telephone call to a Rio newspaper. Newsmen who retrieved it turned it over to authorities.

The government has made arrangements to fly any freed prisoners to Algeria in exchange for Bucher, who was kidnaped Dec. 7 by antigovernment guerrillas. Officials said a chartered plane was standing by.

In three previous diplomatic kidnappings in Brazil, the government readily exchanged prisoners rounded up in a crackdown by the military government of persons it deems subversive. In all, 60 prisoners have been freed.

Apparently the government rejected the latest list because it regarded the method of delivery a slap at authorities.

The five-line communique signed by Buzaid came as negotiations for the release of the 57-year-old diplomat had appeared to be nearly completed.

The last previous note from the Popular Revolutionary Vanguard had asked for guarantees from Algeria—or Chile—that political asylum would be granted. It also requested the government issue a firm commitment to free 70 prisoners.

As the government was preparing to reply to the terrorist note the list of 70 prisoners was received.

Officials said they saw this sudden action by the terrorists as a sign that their hideout was under increased pressure by the government's spot checks and patrols for the past two weeks.

There was some speculation that the government's rejection of the prisoners' list on technical grounds was an attempt to gain time.

Tracy Celebrates 40th Anniversary

Dick Tracy's career will observe its 40th anniversary next year.

Timed to coincide with the anniversary year of the strip which appears daily and Sunday in The Herald is a new book, "The Celebrated Cases of Dick Tracy, 1931-51." It includes an interview with Chester Gould, the creator of the famous detective and Ellery Queen, the mystery story writer.

Dick Tracy first appeared on Sunday, Oct. 3, 1931, in the Detroit Mirror. After one more appearance in the same paper a week later, the strip began its daily journey through the annals of crime in the New York News on Oct. 12, 1931.

Gould recalls in the interview how the late Capt. Joseph Patterson, co-founder of New York's picture newspaper with the late Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of The Tribune, encouraged him in developing his principal character and story line.

The episodes in the book include Tracy's first appearance, in which he unmasks a transvestite criminal; the murder of his fiancée's father, Mr. Truheart; The Blank, the man with no face, in a murderous revenge; Mary X, a pretty amnesia victim who finds a new career; Jerome Trohs and Mamma, a midjet lawyer in a novel escape; Little Face Finny, murder on a trolley bus; The Mole, involving an underground miser and killer; B. B. Eyes, a wartime tire bootlegger; 88 Keyes, a piano-playing killer, and a farmer's daughter; Flattop, a killer hired to kill Tracy; Gravel Gertie; Breathless Mahoney; B. O. Plenty; Mumbles; a quartet of musical crooks; and Pear-Shape, in a weight reduction racket.

Video Cassette Gives Viewer More Control Over TV Fare

EDITOR'S NOTE—Television, though not very old, has had tremendous influence in contemporary life. It is still reaching to meet its potential. Now, in another step in its progression, color video cassettes—perhaps the most revolutionary yet.

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In the short life span of television, no viewer has ever really had command over what appeared on the tube.

He watched only what was broadcast and that had to conform to the homogenized tastes of a respectable share of the Nielsen audience sample.

That phase of the medium may end during this decade. The means is the video cassette.

—On a weekday night the network fare is uninviting. You turn on the set and watch a first-run movie instead. Or an opera or a ballet.

—It is a Sunday afternoon and the roar of the gridiron season past still echoes in your ears. So what do you do? Drop in a cartridge and watch more football.

—Your husband has given you a sewing machine for Christmas. Learn how to operate it by watching the instructional cassette that comes with it.

TRUE THEATER
The video cassette could transform the TV set from an underused instrument—and one that is in reality controlled by distant and unseen programmers—into a true theater and communications center in the home.

At last, television would have the ability to appeal to a wide diversity of tastes and needs, since a producer could turn a profit by appealing to perhaps as few as 10,000 people.

The cassette, in conjunction with the multi-channel capacity of cable television, threatens to usurp the power of programming, and hence, control of the medium, from the networks.

Cartridge television is a medium of the future—three to five years at least—but rarely has such a new development built such force in anticipation of its arrival. A dizzying array of video recorders—none of them compatible — is being readied for the market. Every movie studio and independent producer er wants to get into the production of programs, or "software." And the air is so filled with predictions and claims that it is difficult to determine the true state of the industry.

Dr. Peter Goldmark, who developed the Electronic Video Recorder for CBS, sees it as "the greatest communications revolution ever." Tom McDermott, programming vice president for RCA Selecta-Vision, believes "this is going to happen much more instantaneously than television itself."

"I think it's terrific. Unbelievable," said moviemaker Joseph E. Levine of Avco Embassy Films. The movie company is an affiliate of the Avco Corp., which also owns Avco Catrivation, a major entry in the cassette field as a producer of both recorders and "software." Levine predicts, "We'll soon be producing films for cartridges."

Others feel that the high costs of the playback devices and program material will be prohibitive.

Nevertheless, there is no gaining the potential of the cassette for entertainment, cultural enlightenment, leisure activities, information and education. The machines to be marketed by CBS, RCA, Avco, Sony, Philips, Ampex, British Decca-Telefunken and others, could revolutionize the visual media even more than Goldmark's invention of the LP record did for the audio media.

LIMITLESS FUTURE
As limitless as the future of the medium are the means being studied for marketing cassettes. "This is going to be an impulse sales market," said Robert Brockway, president of the EVR Division of CBS. "We want to make it as easy to rent a feature film as it is to buy a book or record."

Cassettes will be found in record stores, book shops, drug stores, supermarkets, even movie theaters. Or cassettes may arrive in the mail in the manner of the book club plans.

Going abroad? Your travel agent or airline probably will supply you with a cassette on sights to see. Buy a kitchen range and you may get a course in cooking on a cassette. Buy a new tool and the dealer probably will toss in a cassette on how to operate it. Such are the ideas being discussed.

EVEN COMMERCIALS
People who think cassettes will free them from commercials are underestimating Madison Avenue. Sponsored cassettes at discount prices are in the planning stages. In fact, unless the Federal Trade Commission intervenes, it could be the means by which cigarette commercials return to television.

Schools, industries, hospitals and other institutions are expected to benefit mightily from cartridge television. The EVR was foreseen originally as a tool for school and industry, with the home market to come later only if a demand developed.

The principal drawback of cassette television is its price.

Unless the cost is brought down by a huge demand, the playback device will cost the viewer as much as a color TV set. The initial costs are seen in the $400 range for the home models.

RENT-A-FILM
A movie is expected to rent for $3; if you saw just one a month that would be $36 a year. Still, that's cheaper than going out. Renting, by the way, will be the means by which movies will be distributed. A film would cost too much to be a bargain and, besides, few studios would be willing to surrender a print of a copyright production.

The going price for other cassettes will be between $10 and $20 an hour. A complete course in French cooking, for instance, could amount to $100.

In all, it adds up to a staggering price tag. This fact alone may stymie the growth of the industry.

Paul Klein foresaw that and left his post as a vice president at NBC to set up Computer Television Inc. His plan calls for the "marriage" of cassettes and cable television. Instead of buying a playback device and buying and renting cartridges, you find the show you want in a program guide. Then you dial it from a computer bank and it is immediately piped into an empty channel on your set by cable. The problem here is that although cable television is growing, at present only about four million homes have cable.

NO COMPATIBILITY
Nearly as inhibiting as cost is that every video recorder being prepared for the market pursues a different technology and there is no compatibility between them.

The EVR uses an 8.75-mm film with two video tracks and two sound tracks. RCA Selecta-Vision uses holograms embossed on a strip of plastic film that are converted into pictures by a laser beam. The British Decca-Telefunken system uses a thin disc like a phonograph record. All the others use the same kind of video tape as the studio video tape machines, but none is interchangeable.

Finally, there is a fear that the nation's filmmakers may not be able to meet the demand for entertainment, culture and educational shows if cassettes do go over big.

"The motion picture business as it's structured today may be too antiquated to do the job," said McDermott. "We may be dealing with a lot of independents."

Family Planning

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's family planning program averted 5.2 million births until 1969, Health Minister B. S. Murthy said in parliament. India's population on Aug. 1, 1970, stood at 550,569,000, an official release said.

'CAGED' FOR 22 YEARS Ex-Public Enemy Happy, Haunted

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) — Floyd Hamilton is a walking paradox, happy but haunted. Hamilton, 62, is a former FBI public enemy No. 1 who says his first prison sentence was for harboring Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker. He now is a Grand Prairie resident who spends his spare time trying to help ex-convicts.

His message is this: Ex-convicts can reform and be happy in society if given a chance.

He said in an interview recently he believes the prison experience, which still haunts him, has made him more sensitive to the needs of others, particularly ex-convicts.

Those 22 years of being "caged," as he calls it, were unbearable, he said.

TALKS SUICIDE
"If I had it to do over," he admitted, "I think I'd commit suicide."

Hamilton said the idea of helping ex-convicts came to him while serving time in Leavenworth, Alcatraz and the Texas Penitentiary.

"I noticed that these young men kept coming back to prison," he said. The cycle was a familiar one. A young man would get out but, jobless and shunned by "respectable" people, would return to his old associates.

Soon he was back in criminal activities and on the road to prison.

Hamilton, a nightwatchman and custodian for a Dallas car firm, takes his message to groups such as civic clubs and appreciation banquets for law enforcement officers.

It's quite a contrast from the mid-1930s, he recalled.

At that time, he said, his brother, Raymond Hamilton, was a member of the Barrow gang and, like Bonnie and Clyde was being chased throughout the Southwest.

GAVE UP
Hamilton contends his criminal career was overrated but that he did see Bonnie and Clyde many times in secluded areas of North Texas. He said he once went to authorities and asked if they would give Barrow gang members life sentences if they turned themselves in.

"They wouldn't agree, he said, "and I kind of gave up after that."

Hamilton participated in a much-publicized escape attempt from Alcatraz in the early 1940s but, subsequently, in 1958, won a parole. He said the late Dallas County Sheriff Bill Decker, a Dallas Morning News reporter Harry McCormick, and a Dallas businessman, W. O. Bankston, helped him get the parole.

He immediately began his rehabilitation efforts with fellow ex-convicts.

"You can't help but admire a man who is attempting to help young men who are in the same fix he was in at the time," said Robert C. Carroll, chief probation officer for the Northern District of Texas.

"I believe he has a sincere desire to help those people and seems to have made quite an impression on some of them."

Hamilton labels the "criminal type" terminology a myth. "There is no such thing," he said.

JUNIOR COLLEGE EVENT SCHEDULED MARCH 4-5-6

Big Spring Awarded Region V Tournament

By an overwhelming vote, coaches in Region V have decided to return the Regional junior college basketball tournament to Big Spring.

D. E. (Buddy) Travis, regional director and coach at South Plains Junior College in Levelland, notified officials of the American Business Club that the March 4-5-6 event would be staged here.

Amarillo successfully bid for the meet following the highly successful 1969 tournament held in Big Spring under the aegis of the ABC, signing a pact to stage the event for two years.

However, the sponsoring organization lost heavily on the venture last year and offered to turn it back to the league. The ABC co-sponsors the tournament here along with Howard County JC and supplies all the personnel to stage the show.

The ABC will also sponsor the Jan. 7-8-9

Olympic Class tournament here, a four-team event.

Eight teams will take part in the Region V tournament. As host school, Howard County automatically wins a place in the tournament. The other teams are judged on their over-all won-lost records rather than by their standings in conference play.

Another Amarillo group entered a bid for the tournament but that faction could rally only three votes, including its own.

The Region V show will be staged in the high school gymnasium, where larger crowds can be accommodated. Packed turnouts watched the events each of the three nights it was staged here in 1969.

Winner of the Regional becomes eligible to take part in the National Junior College tournament at Hutchinson, Kan., staged the third week in March.

J. D. Jones heads the ABC committee which will shape up plans for the Regional meet.

Teams from as far away as Waco, Dallas and New Mexico are eligible to take part in the tournament. In the past, such teams as McLennan Community of Waco, Hill County of Hillsboro, Christian College of the Southwest and New Mexico JC of Hobbs have participated in the tournament.

Amarillo and Big Spring are the only two cities ever to serve as host. The meet originated at Amarillo and held there for many years before it was moved to Big Spring in 1968.

The contract awarding the meet to Big Spring was believed to extend for two years.

Coach Harold Wilder of HCJC said he was delighted that Big Spring has again been awarded the meet.

Pairings for the Jan. 7-9 ABC Olympic Classic tournament here have been announced by Wilder. The schedule:

Thursday, Jan. 7—Christian College of the Southwest (Dallas) vs. Jacksonville Baptist, 7 p.m.; Schreiner Institute, Kerrville, vs. HCJC, 9 p.m.

Friday, Jan. 8—Jacksonville vs. Schreiner, 7 p.m.; CCSW vs. HCJC, 9 p.m.

Saturday, Jan. 9—CCSW vs. Schreiner, 7 p.m.; Jacksonville vs. HCJC, 9 p.m.

The entire meet will be staged in the HCJC Gym. Admission prices will be $1 nightly. Members of the all-tournament team will be awarded wrist watches.

All of the teams entered in the tournament now boast winning records.

Sonora Roars To Grid Title

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — The Sonora Broncos exploded for 26 points in the second quarter here Saturday night and went on to take a 45-6 victory over Pflugerville in the Class A school football title.

It was the third state title in the last five years for the hustling Broncos under head coach Jerry Hopkins. Sonora gained the finals in 1969 but lost to Mart.

The loss was the first of the year for Pflugerville against 14 victories. Sonora finished the season with a 13-1 mark.

Sonora ran up an amazing 30 first downs compared to 10 for Pflugerville. In total offense Sonora held a 374-149 edge.

Sonora managed a 7-0 lead in the first quarter before the second-period explosion. Milton Noel went three yards for the score with Mike Taylor kicking the first of three extra points.

Noel got things rolling in the second quarter with a one-yard plunge for a TD.

On the next two possessions, the Broncos used the running of Scott Jacoby to pick up scores. The first came from 4 yards out while the second was from the one-yard line.

Quarterback Eddie Sutton passed to Taylor for the final score of the half. The play covered 57 yards with only 36 seconds left on the clock giving Sonora a 33-0 bulge at intermission.

Noel sparked Sonora to a touchdown on its first possession of the second half. The 160-pound junior went in from the seven-yard mark.

Ninth-ranked Drake met host Texas Christian in the second game. The series is not considered a tournament and no trophies are awarded, but it is billed as the Classic.

UT-Arlington led behind 18-1 in the first seven minutes of play and trailed by 38-8 with eight minutes to go in the first half and never could recover. The Texans played a good second half, outscoring the Tide 51-45.

Jim Hollon led all scorers with 29 points for Alabama and Alan House added 22. David Payne hit 20 for UT-Arlington. Alabama hit 53 per cent from the field to UT-Arlington's 45.

Villanova Wins Over Saint Jo

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Howard Porter poured in 31 points Saturday night and led 10th-ranked Villanova to an 85-75 basketball victory over St. Joseph's of Philadelphia in the consolation game of the Jayhawk Classic.

Porter broke the game open in the last four minutes when he sank three straight field goals and put Villanova ahead 77-67. The score was tied six times in the second half, the last time at 59-59. At that stage, Porter dropped in a field goal, was fouled and tossed in the free throw to give Villanova a three-point lead. The game never was any closer.

Behind Porter in the scoring were Pat McFarland of St. Joseph's with 22 and Clarence Smith of Villanova with 19. Villanova is 6-1 and St. Joseph's 4-3.

Lawyer Threatens To Sue Rozelle Over Coin Toss

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A Milwaukee attorney Saturday sent a telegram to Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League in New York, threatening legal action if a coin flip is used to choose the fourth team for the National Football Conference playoffs.

The telegram was sent by Donald J. Jacquart and it said: "The purpose of this communication is to put quick notice that your last alternative in selecting the fourth team ... to wit, flipping a coin scheduled for Sunday afternoon is, in my opinion, illegal.

"I feel that it is a game of chance, involving a considerable amount of money for the winners and nothing for the losers, and therefore, constitutes gambling, which violates a statute of the state of Michigan, Wisconsin, and numerous other states with similar gambling statutes.

"I further feel that due to the fact that gambling contracts are illegal, void and cannot be enforced, that if you do not select another alternative the legal consequences of your decision could be disastrous for the game of professional football.

"And further, if you choose to proceed in violation of the law, it is my intention to commence legal action in the proper forums to set aside any illegal act involved and the consequences thereof."

A spokesman for Rozelle said the commissioner had not yet seen the telegram and had no immediate comment.

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Austin Reagan captured its third state Class AAAA championship in the last four years Saturday defeating Odessa Permian 21-14 before an estimated crowd of 17,500.

Coach Travis Raven's Raiders used ball control and several Permian mistakes to collect the victory.

Reagan jumped to a 14-0 lead in the first period with the initial score coming on a three-yard run by Doug Mitchell with Billy Schott toed the extra point.

On the first play following the ensuing kickoff, Reagan half-back Scotty Senter intercepted a Permian lateral and returned it 34 yards for the score. Schott again added the PAT.

Permian came back to cut the margin to 14-7 with 8:33 remaining in the second period on a 2-yard run by fullback Daniel Justis. Jeff English kicked the point for conversion.

Reagan scored again in the second quarter on an 18-yard run by Mitchell with Schott again adding the point after touchdown.

Brownwood Stops Cuero

Table with 2 columns: Lions, Gobblers. Rows include First downs, Rushing yardage, Passing yardage, Return yardage, Posses, Punts, Fumbles lost, Penalties.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Brownwood Lions scored twice in the second half on short drives set up by a penalty and an interception to whip the Cuero Gobblers 14-0 and captured their fifth Class AAA state football championship in 11 years.

Superior execution by the Lions crushed the Cinderella team from South Texas that had scored upsets three out of the past four weeks to reach the finals.

Brownwood lost the ball twice on fumbles but the Gobblers had four turnovers, one fumble and three pass interceptions.

On fourth and 17 from the Cuero 28, punter Ricky Kasper fumbled the snap from center, barely got off a low 19 yard kick to Steve Cutbirth, who had signaled for a fair catch, but was tackled.

The 15-yard personal foul penalty put the ball on the Cuero 32 and Brownwood drove it in on 10 plays. Quarterback Shae Southall scored from the one.

In the final period, Cuero was pinned back to its 13 yard line by a 55-yard punt that rolled dead, and a first down pass was intercepted by Jerry Cross and returned 28 yards to the Cuero eight. Rodney Folsom crashed in from the three, three plays later.

Iowa Park, Refugio In Tie

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Iowa Park and Refugio shared the Class 2AA State Schoolboy championship Saturday night with a 7-7 tie marked by bristling defense that shutdown both teams' high-powered offenses.

Both teams agreed before the contest began in Baylor Stadium that if the game ended in a tie, a co-championship would be declared.

Refugio overcame a 7-0 deficit at halftime to tie the defending state champion Hawks who had won 29 consecutive games going into the night's encounter.

It was only the sixth tie in the history of University Interscholastic League competition in championship play.

After a scoreless first quarter, Iowa Park rolled 78 yards in 13 plays to take a 7-0 lead on a 13-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Greg Frazier to Lee Dawson. The score came with 5:41 remaining in the first half and Dawson kicked the important extra point.

Dawson beat Refugio's James Durst on the touchdown play and Iowa Park appeared en route to one of its patented victories.

Iowa Park was on the Refugio 5-yard line when the first half ended, but Bobby Adams intercepted a deflected pass off Frazier's arm.

Refugio took advantage of a 17-yard Iowa Park punt in the third quarter to score its only touchdown.

Rudy Vela dashed 25 yards around the right end to score standing up with 3:21 remaining in the third period. David Heard kicked the extra point.

Colts Shade Jets, 35-20

BALTIMORE (AP) — Earl Morrall, getting his most playing time in the final regular season game, passed for four touchdowns and 348 yards as the Baltimore Colts beat the New York Jets 35-20 Saturday in a National Football League playoff tuneup.

Baltimore's Eastern Division champions, who play at home next Saturday in the opener of the American Conference playoffs, finished with an 11-2-1 record.

Morrall, who likely will return to the bench in the playoffs, replaced starter John Unitas late in the first quarter and turned in Baltimore's best passing performance of the season. He completed 18 of 33, including two TD passes to Eddie Hinton in the 14-14 first half, and one each to Jimmy Orr and Ray Perkins.

The Colts scored twice in a two-minute span of the fourth period to put the game out of reach after two field goals by Jim Turner had pulled the Jets to within 21-20.

After Morrall connected with Perkins for a 4-yard touchdown, Baltimore linebacker Ted Hendricks blocked a Steve O'Neal punt and pounced on the ball in the end zone to make it 35-20 with 9:54 remaining.

South Carolina Escapes Upset At Hands Of Tech

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Tom Riker's tip-in with one second left gave South Carolina's second-ranked Gamecocks a 78-76 basketball victory Saturday night over Virginia Tech, which led most of the game.

The Gobblers, who went into the game with a 2-3 over-all record, took the lead over the unbeaten Gamecocks with 13:10 left in the first half and never relinquished it until South Carolina's Kevin Joyce hit both ends of a one-and-one free throw situation with 1:30 remaining for a 76-74 lead.

Lloyd King tied it for Tech with 1:12 left and the Gamecocks played for a final shot. John Roche took it and missed, but Riker tipped it in for the winner.

Louisville Is Tied, 24-24, In Pasadena

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Leon Burns crashed through the Louisville line for his third touchdown and Long Beach State cashed in a two-point conversion pass Saturday as the 49ers came from behind in the fourth quarter to tie the Cardinals 24-24 in the 25th annual Pasadena Bowl.

The deadlock before a rain-reduced crowd of 20,472 in the inaugural post-season clash between the Missouri Valley Conference and the Pacific Coast Athletic Association was preserved when both teams failed on late field goal attempts.

The Cardinals nearly pulled it out with three seconds left on a double pass play that wound up with Cookie Brinkman in the end zone with the football, on an apparent 25-yard touchdown play.

But the toss from Tom Jesukaitis, who threw after taking a short forward pass behind the line of scrimmage from quarterback John Madeya, was nullified because two forward passes on one play are illegal.

The illegal pass infraction, coupled with a bench penalty against Louisville Coach Lee Corso, backed the Cardinals out of field goal range.

A last-second desperation pass from Madeya to Larry Hart fell incomplete.

Winning Is Thing, Says Negro Coach

NORMAL, Ill. (AP) — When Will Robinson became basketball coach at Illinois State there was cackling in some spots around town that the Redbirds had become Blackbirds.

But Robinson's first Negro ever to land a head coaching job at an NCAA university division school, intends to have the last laugh by taking the Redbirds to the top of the basketball world.

"I want a team that is sound, and so strong that if the referee cheats we'll win and if we go south we'll win and if we play UCLA at UCLA we'll win," he said. "Winning is the thing. If it wasn't, they wouldn't keep score."

COLLIE RETIRED
Robinson's big break came following Coach Jim Collie's retirement, after 13 seasons at Illinois State, last spring as the rapidly growing school began the transition from college to university status in basketball.

"A winning basketball team with possibilities of an NIT invitation is the quickest way to national recognition," said ISU Athletic Director Milt Weis-becker. "I went looking for a young coach to fit our long range plans. I went looking mainly for a successful coach in the college ranks."

He came back with a man who had spent 38 of his 58 years coach at the YMCA and high school levels in Pittsburgh, Chicago and Detroit.

And that man was black. But he also was a man whose teams had won 85 per cent of their games. And a man who developed such prize basketball pupils as Spencer Haywood and Mel Daniels as well as the late Big Daddy Lipscombe of pro football and Ted Sizemore baseball's National League rookie of the year in 1969. "I had 120 applications, but none from him. One was from a minister, one from an alumnus and one from a student."

SIGNED HIM
Armed with those recommendations, and impressed with Robinson's coaching record, Weisbecker sought out his man and signed him up.

"We're aiming for the big time, and I think we'll get there with this man who undoubtedly was the best-known high school coach in this country," Weisbecker said. "I hired him strictly on his ability."

"Hell, I hired a coach... who just happened to be black."

Townpeople, students and faculty members who met Robinson at an open house reception when he arrived at Illinois State gave him a warm reception.

"He could sell ice to Eskimos," Weisbecker said. "He charmed hell out of them."

The sharp-witted, frank-talking coach has no illusions, however, about the task before him. "I've reached a goal, I've broken a barrier," said Robinson, a fine-featured man whose close-cropped hair is being over-run by gray. "But I've collected scars along the way and I hope they don't show too much."

Jerry West Complete Player In Pro Loop

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jerry West exemplifies completeness as a basketball player, one who passes the 20,000 career mark in scoring yet leads the National Basketball Association this season in assists.

Only four other players—Wilt Chamberlain, Elgin Baylor, Oscar Robertson and Bob Pettit—have hit the 20,000 mark. West needed only 17 to reach that figure going into Saturday night's game at Atlanta.

"I think a lot of things in your career as far as point average and scoring don't mean much," west says, "but this is a milestone in the next couple of years because then I'll have a lot of company. There are a lot of players in the league who will hit 20,000 before then.

"I'm most proud of being in such select company, because this is a longevity thing.

"When I started out, I just hoped to make it in the league. Now this puts me in pretty fancy company and it shows I've been able to stay around for a while."

Then Jerry added what has come to be his motivating force:

"I'm just hoping to get into the playoffs."

Never in an NBA career now in its 11th season, have West and the Lakers won the NBA crown. Seven times they've been runner-up.

THE ONE
With Wilt Chamberlain hurt and out of action 70 games last season and Elgin Baylor out for 28, West carried the scoring load. He led the NBA with 2,309 points and a 31.2 average, the first time a Laker had won the scoring title since George Mikan did it at Minneapolis in 1950-51.

"He is the fellow, the one who carried us last year," said Coach Joe Mullaney, who took a club to the playoff finals in his first year at the helm.

"Without him, we would have finished very close to last."

Bill van Breda Kolff, new coach of Detroit and formerly with the Lakers, has said, "He is the most complete player I have ever seen."

West is only the third guard in the history of the NBA to win the scoring championship—joining Max Zaslofsky, 1947-48, and Dave Bing, 1967-68.

Also the highest scorer in NBA playoff history, Jerry has hit for 3,708 points in 120 playoff games, averaging 30.9—also the best by anyone.

Who can forget the 61-foot shot at the buzzer last year which sent the third game of the final playoffs against the New York Knicks into overtime?

"WE LOST"
Jerry remembers, yet his first comment about it is "What does it mean? We lost 111-108 in overtime."

JUCO NOTES

Foster Named Coach Of '70

Dick Foster, coach of the Fort Smith Community Junior College Greyhounds, Kansas, has been named Football Coach of the Year by the National JC Athletic Association.

Foster's team compiled a 10-0 regular season record and defeated Mesa, Ariz., 41-20, in Savannah, Ga., Thanksgiving Day to walk off with the NJCAA championship.

Tommy Reamon, Fort Scott's outstanding running back, was named NCAAA Back of the Year. Teammate Mitch Sutton gained the honor of Lineman of the Year to complete a sweep for the Fort Scott team.

Reamon scored 23 touchdowns to win the NJCAA scoring championship for 1970 with 138 points.

Runnerup was P. Smith of Mesa, Colo., who had 126 points. Only one other player, A. DiSanti, Hudson Valley CC, New York, went over the 100-point mark. He had 104.

Reamon was also the individual rushing leader with 1,582 yards picked up in 224 carries. Smith was a distant second, with 1,250 yards gained in 166 lunges.

Five different junior college ball carriers gained 1,000 yards or more. The others were J. Smith, Mesa, Ariz., (1,199); B. Chiles, Wesley, Del., (1,122); and D. Holmberg, Worthington, Minn., (1,010).

G. Patrick, Hudson Valley, N. Y., was the passing leader with 87 completions in 207 attempts for gains totaling 1,450 yards and 14 touchdowns.

S. Desecki, Wright, Ill., completed more aerial than any other player, 112.

B. Spencer, Wright, Ill., led in pass receptions with 54, good for 787 yards and 13 touchdowns. L. Crittenden, Hutchinson, Kan., caught only 49 aerials but they went for gains totaling 1,192 yards and 12 touchdowns.

The victory gave Miss Mir 25 World Cup points and a tie for the individual women's lead with Miss Macchi, the pre-race favorite, who picked up 11 points with a fourth place finish in 1:30.42. They have 40 points apiece, one more than Miss Drexel.

Carlen And King Get Pay Raises

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech's director of athletics, J. T. King, head coach Jim Carlen, and Carlen's 11 assistants have been voted pay raises by the University's board of regents.

Carlen not only had his pay elevated $3,000 to $28,000 annually, but had his contract extended. King's salary, which had been $22,000, was upped to $25,000.

All of Carlen's aides were raised $500 except for Tom Wilson, who was boosted $2,000 to $13,500. The new rates ranged up from that figure to a high of $17,500 for Richard Well.

DIGGING DIVOTS Steers Trim Snyder By 3

In a match that was limited to nine holes due to cold weather, Big Spring High School defeated Snyder in a dual golf match at the Big Spring Country Club Saturday.

The Steers' four low players had an aggregate score of 163, compared to 166 for Snyder.

The visiting Tigers, however, boasted the medalist for the day in Glenn Ramin, who settled for a 38. Big Spring's low man was Billy Crooker, who had a 39.

Big Spring's second unit defeated Snyder's No. 2 squad, also by three shots, 180-183.

The Steers lost to Midland Lee last Thursday in Midland under conditions that were far from ideal.

Sand, blown in by the mid-week dust storm, covered much of one fairway and all of one green.

Lee used 294 strokes over 18 holes while Big Spring skied to 300.

John Adams led the Rebs with a 73 while Mark McCraney paced the Steers with the same score.

The Steers were playing without the services of Crooker and Ike Robb, who were taking tests on that particular day.

Results:
BIG SPRING (163) — Bill Crooker 39, Milton Jones 41; Mark McCraney 41, Robert McFaul 42.
SNYDER (166) — Glenn Ramin 38, Mark Horrovo 42, Mitch Butler 43, Mark Pyle 43.

BIG SPRING II (180) — Mark Slate 42, Howard Stewart 45, Jarrell Carroll 46, Ike Robb 47.
SNYDER II (183) — Art Kidd 44, Mike Kerley 44, Bobby Burleson 47, Semmy Baker 48.

MIDLAND LEE (294) — John Adams 37-36, 73; Chuck Runnert 38-35, 73; Tony Farish 37-37, 74; John Wrenneth 36-38, 74; David Hood 48-39, 79.

BIG SPRING (300) — Mark McCraney 37-36, 73; Howard Stewart 45-44, 74; Mark Slate 36-39, 75; Jarrell

Carroll 39-39, 78; Mark Peters 43-39, 82.

BIG SPRING (318) — Robert McFaul 36-39, 75; Jimmy Stewart 39-41, 80; Richard Egan 40-42, 82; Milton Jones 41-40, 81; Bennett Robb 44-40, 84.

Eleven teams, including Big Spring, have already entered the Feb. 12-13 Big Spring High School Invitational Golf tournament, a 36-hole event will be staged both at the Munny course and the County Club.

A shotgun start will be used for the first day of play. Activity begins at 9 a.m. The linksters will use the Munny course for the first 18 holes.

Two team trophies will be awarded. In addition, an award will go to the five-man low ball team and to the three players firing the lowest score over 36 holes.

First National Bank and Security State will provide trophies, as will Al's Barbecue.

Tournament director Royce Cox said he had not completed a list of those furnishing trophies but would do so shortly.

Among schools committed to play here included Midland Lee, Midland High, Sweetwater, Snyder, San Angelo Central, Andres, Monahans, Kermit and Odessa Permian.

Cox said he expected both Abilene schools and Odessa also to be represented.

The County Club's 18-hole partnership tournament was cancelled Saturday because weather conditions discouraged play.

Pro C. G. Griffin said the meet may be staged sometime in January.

Isabelle Mir Wins Ski Event To Assume Lead

VAL D'ISERE, France (AP) — Isabelle Mir, a tough little redhead from the French Pyrenees, won the Criterium de la Premiere Neige downhill ski race Saturday and joined teammate Francoise Macchi at the head of the women's World Cup standings.

Wearing a dazzling, all-purple racing suit, Miss Mir, called "Mirabelle" or "Plum" by the French team, flashed down the 2,150-meter run in one minute, 29.44 seconds.

Runner-up Witrud Drexel of Austria was almost one-half second off the pace, finishing in 1:29.92. She thwarted a 1-2-3 sweep for the powerful French team as World Cup defender Michele Jacot whizzed across the line in 1:30.08.

The victory gave Miss Mir 25 World Cup points and a tie for the individual women's lead with Miss Macchi, the pre-race favorite, who picked up 11 points with a fourth place finish in 1:30.42. They have 40 points apiece, one more than Miss Drexel.

Sunday with the men's World Cup downhill.

The women's downhill course, carefully prepared with tons of straw and old snow, held up perfectly in cold, clear weather and, technically, presented few difficulties for the 66 girls from 12 nations.

But two American girls in the top group, Kare Budge of Jackson Hole, Wyo., and Marilyn Cochran of Richmond, Va., failed to place in the top 15.

Miss Cochran was 16th with a clocking of 1:32.46, Miss Budge 32nd in 1:34.0.

Nevil To Try Pro Circuit

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Dwight Nevil, a Denison native and former North Texas State University golfer, will represent the Pecan Valley Golf Club of San Antonio on the Professional Golfers Association tour.

Nevil, 26, will start next month in California, it was disclosed here Saturday.

The only other professional ever to represent Pecan Valley on the tour was Miller Barber, who was listed as a touring staff member from 1963 to 1965.

Nevil has been practicing at the San Antonio club for the past several weeks since moving here from Dallas, where he had a job with the fire department.

"If you want to work on your game, the fire department is the best place to work," he said in an interview. "You're off two days and a half—and, believe me, some of the best golf in this state is played by Dallas firemen."

Thruston Leader In Cage Derby

(Special To The Herald)
Early-season statistical leaders in the Southland Conference basketball run looks like a roll call of last year's all-conference team.

The big noise from Arkansas State, 69 John Belcher, has picked up where he left off, leading in field goal percentages with a .655 mark and in rebounding with a 12-a-game average.

Veteran Felix Thruston of Trinity has a thin edge in the scoring race with 25.5 points a game. Hot on his heels is Luke Adams of Lamar Tech with a 24.0 average, and Howard Walker of Texas at Arlington, averaging 23.8 points.

Allan Pruett of Arkansas State, who has a 33-point game to his credit, leads in free throw shooting. He has missed only three of 25 gift tosses for an .880 norm.

Adams also is pressing Belcher in rebounding. He is averaging 11.8 a game, with a one-game high of 19.

Lamar Tech, which has lost only once in five starts through Tuesday, has hit 100 points or more four times and is averaging 97.6 points a game.

Arkansas State (3-2) trails with 80.2 points a game and leads in defense with a game yield of only 72.6 points.

AAA CHAMPIONSHIP ACTION — Cuero linebacker Ricky Kasper (15) and guard Darrell Rangnow (61) go for a loose ball fumbled by Brownwood's wingback Darrell Ray (22) during first period action of the State AAA Schoolboy Football Finals in Memorial Stadium, Austin. Brownwood went on to win the title, defeating Cuero 14-0. (Story on Page 1-B.)

COMMITTEE MEMBER — Frank Leahy, former Notre Dame football coach and now a patient at Houston's M. D. Anderson Hospital, has been named a member of the Vince Lombardi Award selection committee. The award will honor the college lineman of the year. Leahy talks from the hospital bed with Elmer Faught, president of the Rotary Club of Houston.

Brown, Bengals Have Last Laugh In NFL

CINCINNATI (AP) — Paul Brown and his Cincinnati Bengals, already the most successful expansion team in recent football history, are laughing last at the establishment. Brown and the Bengals kicked in the shins at the time the team was stocked, stalked the American Conference Central Division crown of the National Football League Sunday at home against the Boston Patriots.

If they collect their eighth victory in the 14-game NFL schedule, the Bengals would win the title in only their third season, twice as fast as any other expansion team has reached the top.

Minnesota, ironically, posted an 8-6 record when the Vikings won a division championship in 1968, seven years after their NFL beginning.

DISHING IT BACK

Brown, stung by both NFL and AFL brass in the 1960s, is delightedly dishing it back to the same people with the winning, almost error-free Bengals. "This has given me as much satisfaction as anything in my coaching career," Brown said with no trace of bitterness. With the one game left, Cincinnati has set a three-year record with 14 triumphs, two better than New Orleans and Miami.

The AFL permitted each squad to freeze 25 players before Miami's expansion draft in 1966. Two years later they froze 29 players before the Bengals' draft.

"Those four may not sound like much, but it meant a lot," Brown recalled. "They forced us to go with college players. Now young men are beating them. It didn't work out as well as they thought after all."

GOT HIS WAY

In 1962, Brown was squeezed out as Cleveland coach by new owner Art Modell and did not return to coaching until he headed the Bengals operation as head coach, general manager

Amarillo Badgers Still Unbeaten

Unbeaten Amarillo College rested last week, but Howard County Junior College eased out into an early lead in the Western Junior College Conference championship race.

Howard County, one of last year's tri-champs (with Odessa and the departed LCC), edged New Mexico Junior College 96-95 on Decell Lewis' shot in the final seconds in the league's first conference action. The game was played in Big Spring.

Amarillo, the junior college league's only undefeated team, had the week for practice and didn't return to the court until Saturday when it hosted the West Texas State Freshmen.

This week's schedule was light with only seven games as most teams were tapering off for the Christmas holidays. No more conference games are scheduled until after the holidays.

Several individual performances highlighted the week. South Plains' Albert Moore scored 41 points against Ranger to move to top of the scoring ladder. Moore's average climbed to 26.8 points following the outburst. South Plains needed it however, to win an 89-88 overtime verdict.

Clarendon outscored Lamar, Colo., 111-103, and 6-3 sophomore Tony Moya dropped in 36 points and hauled in 16 rebounds.

New Mexico Junior College posted one of the most impressive team wins of the year as it dropped powerful New Mexico State's Freshman, 102-81. The Thunderbirds went to Las Cruces to play the Junior Aggies Friday night.

Dallas To Place Ducats On Sale

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys announced Saturday that 40,000 tickets would be available for an NFC divisional playoff game in the Cotton Bowl next Saturday should the Cowboys win the Eastern Division crown.

The Cowboys would become Eastern Division champs if they defeat Houston and Los Angeles beats or ties New York on Sunday.

Tickets would go on sale at the Women's Building on the State Fairgrounds immediately after the Houston-Dallas game Sunday.

Ernest Wilson Triumphs In Lightning Raceway

Ten-year-old Ernest Wilson, representing the Lakeview Branch YMCA, won the Johnny Lightning 500 Raceway program city-wide competition Saturday with a time of 40.7 seconds.

Ernest, who lives at 906 N. W. 3rd, is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nichols.

Derek Horton, 9, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Horton of 3300 Cornell Avenue.

The Big Spring YMCA is one of 900 in the nation providing the program for youngsters. Ernest will compete in the regional competition at a future date to be answered.

'I Got Mine,' Says Ninowski Of NFL Deal

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Ninowski, who was a second-string quarterback during most of his 12 seasons in the National Football League, says he received $100,000 a year for four years in a secret salary settlement after threatening to sue the National and American Football Leagues.

Ninowski was one of the final witnesses Friday before a federal grand jury investigating possible antitrust violations in the NFL. The jury is in holiday recess and is expected to hear from active football players when sessions resume in January.

Ninowski told newsmen the antitrust suit was prepared because the AFL in 1965 offered him a job at $100,000 a year for four years, then allegedly backed down after a truce was called in the bidding contest for pro players. The two leagues later merged.

Attorney Jerry E. Dempsey said Ninowski, who was playing at the time behind Frank Ryan for the Cleveland Browns, was contacted by the AFL in May of 1965.

"They contacted him through Ollie Spencer, assistant coach at Oakland," said Dempsey. "A week later, after the truce, they told him to forget it."

Dempsey said he prepared an antitrust case naming the AFL, NFL, all the individual clubs and NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle. He said "one of the top antitrust lawyers in the country" helped prepare the action.

"The day it was to be filed in 1967," said Dempsey, "Jim received a check for $100,000."

The attorney said the settlement check, signed by Art Modell, Browns' owner and then president of the NFL, in effect boosted Ninowski's pay for the previous two seasons with the Browns to $100,000 a year.

Ninowski was paid $100,000 a year for 1967 and 1968 by the Washington Redskins, where he was backup quarterback behind Sonny Jurgensen, Dempsey said.

Ninowski went to the New Orleans Saints in 1969 and said he retired this year because he "couldn't see going to New Orleans and sitting on the bench."

Drafted originally by the Browns in 1958, Ninowski was traded to the Detroit Lions in 1960. He was a starter at Detroit for two years, returned to the Browns in another trade in 1962 and became Cleveland's No. 1 passer.

Stovall Resigns Job At Silverton

SILVERTON — Bill Stovall has resigned as head coach and athletic director of the Silverton schools. Stovall has held the dual positions for the past 18 months.

Silverton, a Class A school, won seven and lost three the past season after limping to a 2-8 record in 1969. Stovall said he was moving to Lubbock.

Ten Teams Battle For Playoff Spots

Ten teams, including the defending Super Bowl champion Kansas City Chiefs, will be battling for five remaining post-season playoff berths Sunday on the National Football League's final regular season program.

During the first 13 weeks of the season, only three teams have clinched spots in conference playoffs scheduled for Dec. 26 and 27—Minnesota in National Conference Central, Baltimore in American Conference East and Oakland in AFC West.

But Sunday is the day for all the rest with Cincinnati in AFC Central, Miami in AFC East, San Francisco in NFC West and the New York Giants in NFC East in the most advantageous positions under the complicated playoff procedure. The Bengals and 49ers can clinch a playoff spot with either a victory or a tie. The Giants need a victory to clinch their division title, but also might qualify for a playoff with a tie.

In addition, Kansas City's Chiefs, in an admittedly precarious position, still are in the running, along with Dallas, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Kansas City and Detroit for either division titles or a playoff berth.

Under the NFL's new playoff set-up the three division champions in each conference plus the runner-up in each conference with the best win-loss percentage qualify for playoff spots in the battle that ultimately will lead to the Super Bowl in Miami, Jan. 17.

The Sunday schedule lists nine games that will determine the final playoff participants—San Francisco at Oakland, Los Angeles at the New York Giants, St. Louis at Washington, Houston at Dallas, Green Bay at Detroit, Buffalo at Miami, Boston at Cincinnati, Cleveland at Denver and Kansas City at San Diego.

The game between the 49ers and Raiders will be nationally televised by CBS starting at 3 p.m., CST.

The remainder of the Sunday schedule shows Minnesota at Atlanta, Chicago at New Orleans and Pittsburgh at Philadelphia. The Eagles and Saints show identical 2-10-1 records—the worst in the NFL—and their final games could determine who gets the No. 1 choice in the annual college draft.

The other game on the NFL program matched the New York Jets at Baltimore Saturday.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Tony Moreno, 114, outpointed John McCuskey, London, 112, 10.

SEEKING REVENGE Longhorns Host Lamesa Monday

Christmas may be just around the corner but the thoughts of the Big Spring Steers haven't yet turned to sugar plums and Yule gifts.

The Longhorns, 7-7 for the year, have two more working days between now and Friday.

Ron Plumblee's aggressive club hosts power-packed Lamesa Monday night, then visit Plainview for a Tuesday game.

The Steers will be underdogs in both contests but they hope to win at least one of them and insure themselves a .500 pre-Christmas record.

The Longhorns have beaten Amarillo Palo Duro, 92-73; Odessa Ector, 107-106; Crane twice, 81-62 and 90-78; Lubbock Estacado, 105-69; and Sweetwater twice, 83-78 and 84-73.

They have lost to Plainview, 98-78; Lamesa, 83-71; Estacado, 93-91; Hereford, 96-74; Lubbock Dunbar, 85-57; Ector, 96-89; and Levelland, 89-72.

When the Steers are sharp and playing together, they can run with almost anyone. Their lack of consistency has hurt them, however.

The locals have drawn Clovis, N.M., as a first round opponent in the Dec. 28-29-30 Borger tournament. The two teams will clash at 2:30 p.m. on the Monday after Christmas.

That tournament winds up pre-conference action for the Steers. They launch 5-AAAC competition against Abilene High here the night of Jan. 5.

ACC will be in its usual two big relay carnivals, at Texas and Drake, and opens the season Feb. 26 in Austin with a dual against the University of Texas.

The Wildcats will defend their Southland Conference championship April 30-May 1 at Jonesboro, Ark.

McClure has four home meets slated for the month of March. His Cats challenge Iowa State March 6, Texas A&M March 16, Oklahoma State and New Mexico on the 20th and Brigham Young and Texas Tech on the 30th. ACC hosts Baylor April 6 and entertains TCU and SMU April 20.

Wranglers Idle Until Jan. 12

ODESSA — The Odessa College Wranglers, who have won four of 10 starts this season, will not return to play until Jan. 12, when they host Schreiner Institute of Kerrville.

In the San Antonio tournament last week, Odessa lost to Schreiner, 84-75; and San Antonio College, 106-89, before winning over College of the Mainland, 96-51.

LONG ROAD BACK — Ending weeks of indecision, Tampa coach Fran Curci accepts the head coaching job at the University of Miami. "It's a long road back," says the former Hurricane star quarterback.

Academies' Football Fortunes To Improve

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Army and Navy football will be on the rise next season and the sport at both academies could reach peak heights within the next five years.

This despite grumblings that it is tough to recruit top high school players and expect them to remain in the service five years following graduation.

Both schools came to the recent Army-Navy clash with pitiful records. Army had one win and one tie in 10 games and Navy was 1-9. Never before had the Cadets and Midshipmen met when their combined ef-ports totaled two victories. Army's only other similar record occurred in 1940 when the Cadets were 1-7-1. Navy has been way off the last two years and until the Naval Academy upset the Military Academy Coach Rick Forzano's job seemed to hang in the balance. He came into the Army fray with a 2-18 mark for two seasons. Navy hadn't been that bad in football since 1948 when the Middies lost every game but one, a stirring 21-21 tie with an unbeaten Army eleven.

LAST WIN HELPED
"Beating Army made it a successful season for the graduating seniors," says Forzano. "And those with one and two football seasons left now have savored victory. Ten of our squad members will be upperclassmen next fall and 38 have two more seasons.

"We just hope Bob Elfein stays healthy. It was a thrill to see this sophomore break through the line on his 49-yard touchdown run."

Elfein has been threatening to do that all season or ever since the Air Force game. Navy failed to get a TD in that one but Elfein returned one kickoff 65 yards and Forzano knew he had a fine ball carrier for the future.

Mrs. Walter Elfein of West Hempstead, N.Y., has seen most of her son's football games and recalls the thrill of seeing Bob run 92 yards with a Villanova punt two weeks before the Army game.

"However, the play was nullified because of clipping," says Mrs. Elfein. "It broke his heart."

Until the Army game Elfein hadn't scored. In fact, hardly anyone on Navy had scored. The 11-7 win over Army marked the most Navy points in the last eight games. So Coach Forzano and Mrs. Elfein have reason to be enthused over Bob, the 5-10, 185-pound running back who was a track and football standout at Carey High, Franklin Square, N.Y.

WORKHORSE BACK
Elfein was Navy's 1970 workhorse back, carrying 106 times for 315 yards. He returned seven punts 50 yards and 32 kickoffs 760 yards, one of two players to break NCAA records. (The other was South Carolina's Dick Harris with 880 yards.)

Bob Elfein wants to be a flier because his dad was an Air Force captain who lost his life off Bermuda in 1958 while ferrying 101s to the Pacific. Bob missed getting into the Air Force so when he graduates in 1973 he will join the Marines to become a pilot. His stomach won't take two years of sea duty. He found that out during a summer cruise last July.

Elfein is one of the stars Army football must contend with the next two years. Two others to watch are quarterback Ade Dillon, a '69 Plebe who threw 20 TD passes, and defensive back Mark Schickner who intercepted four Army passes.

46 RETURNEES
Army's Tom Cahill, with two losing seasons in a row, has better things ahead, too. Returnees number 46. Quarterback Dick Atha, a 6-2 sophomore southpaw from Worthington, Ohio, learned much from the Navy game. He threw too soon, turned the wrong way and sometimes threw the ball too high.

But he is a natural who throws 50-yard bombs. His passes almost upset Syracuse and his play helped surprise Oregon in a 22-22 tie.

Then there is Ray Ritacco, the slightly built (for a full-back) Ntley, N.J., athlete who is wrestling at 177 pounds this winter. He gained 77 yards in the '69 Navy game and has another year. Add Bobby Heins, the 202-pound Chester, Pa., soph who gained five yards a carry this year.

Army and Navy know they trail the Air Force, coached by ex-Navy end Ben Martin, in football. Martin's Falcons are 22-9 the last three years. The older academies know they will have to improve in 1971 because starting in 1972 the Cadets and Middies play the Fliers annually in what amounts to a service academy round robin.

And just to keep the record straight neither Army nor Navy has scheduled any future games with the Bloomer Girls. They will continue to play football-minded schools.

Ector Rampages Past Bobcats
ODESSA — Odessa Ector went on a scoring rampage at the expense of San Angelo Central here Friday night, defeating the Bobcats, 83-49.

The win was the ninth in 14 starts for Ector. San Angelo slumped to 7-8. By half time, the Eagles were in charge, 48-23.

Joe Davis led the Ector team with 20 points while Jackie Henderson had 13 for San Angelo. Henderson is a sophomore.

San Angelo hosts Fort Stockton Monday night.

Netters Lazy, Says Briton

LONDON (AP) — The ball-girl at the Dewar Cup tennis tournament in Torquay came off court at the end of a match and stated emphatically what is wrong with Britain's young players.

"They are too lazy," she said. "Why don't they volunteer to be ball-boys at a tournament like this and learn something about the game?"

The ball-girl was Mrs. Ann Jones, former Wimbledon champion, who is still winning tournaments at 32. She volunteered to retrieve the balls at Torquay because there were not enough people to do it.

"I wanted to do my bit to help and also to show some of our would-be champions who lounge about playing cards what they should be doing for the game," Mrs. Jones said.

"Every player should become part of the organization and at the same time benefit themselves.

"Running about as a ball-boy or ball-girl not only increases agility and footwork and sharpens speed, but also keeps your sense of anticipation alert.

"It makes you follow the stroke play which would certainly benefit some of the idle youngsters who don't seem even to want to watch how better players do it."

Just after acting as a ball-girl, Mrs. Jones defeated Virginia Wade in the women's singles final.

Mrs. Jones, a left-handed star, played in a record number of Wimbledon seven times in 10 years. She did not defend her Wimbledon title this year but did television commentaries instead.

John Dewar, director of the whisky company sponsoring the Dewar Cup, also acted as ball-boy.

Pip Jones, Ann's husband, said: "I agree with Ann 100 per cent. What are the young players of today thinking about?"

Dog Show Is Set Here Jan. 16

The Big Spring Kennel club will hold its third annual all-breed dog show and obedience trial, Saturday, January 16, in Hangar Building No. 1, at Webb Air Force Base.

"This is our annual 'big show,'" explained Mrs. Bruce Wright, publicity chairman for the show. "We expect several hundred dogs from all over the country, as our show is getting the reputation of always being a good one."

Mrs. Wright pointed out that this type of show, at which championship points are awarded toward the AKC championship, are run a little differently than local matches, held in Birdwell Park from time to time. The January 16 show in Big Spring will be superintended by Jack Onofrio Dog Shows, an American Kennel Club licensed superintendent. Entries for the event must be mailed directly to the superintendent on an official AKC entry form, and must reach the superintendent's office prior to noon January 5.

Official premium lists, containing names of judges prizes and trophies offered and all other pertinent information relating to the upcoming show, including the necessary entry forms, may be obtained from Mrs. Dolores Cannon, Gail Rt. Box 117, Big Spring, show chairman, or from Mrs. Mary Bailey, 2301 Alabama, show secretary, or can be picked up at Wright's Prescription Center, 419 Main.

LUBBOCK (AP) — Wayne Hightower scored 27 points and grabbed 14 rebounds to lead the streaking Utah Stars to a 123-104 American Basketball Association victory over the Texas Chaparrals Friday night.

Donny Freeman scored 26 points and Zaimo Beaty hit 20 as the Stars dominated the game all the way. The Stars hit 51 per cent from the field in the first quarter to 26 per cent for Texas to set the stage for the game.

Sunland Offers Biggest Purse

SUNLAND PARK, N. M. — The initial running of the Sun Country Futurity, which will take place on Sunday, May 2 at Sunland Park, will offer the largest purse in the 12-year history of the Southern New Mexico track.

The 350-yard dash for two-year-old quarter horses is expected to determine the champion for that division for Sunland's 58-day spring meeting. Trial heats will be conducted Saturday, April 24 with the ten fastest qualifiers advancing to the finals.

There will also be a consolation in which the next ten qualifiers will participate. That dash, also at 350 yards, is scheduled for Saturday, May 1.

There are now 137 coming two-year-olds eligible for the '71 Sun Country, 114 of which remained eligible with a sustaining payment December 1. Twenty-three others look the opportunity to nominate by payment of a $1,000 fee.

A single opportunity to become eligible to the Sun Country still remains with the payment of a $5,000 fee on Wednesday, April 21, the date of entry for the trials.

The upcoming spring meeting, which gets underway on Saturday, Dec. 26, should also feature the largest thoroughbred purse ever offered here with the running of the Riley Allison Futurity on Sunday, May 9.

Last year's Allison, which grossed $49,350, is currently the leader but seems certain to be topped by the '71 version of the five furlong test. A total of 178 thoroughbred yearlings were nominated to the event which closed Dec. 6.

Supplemental nominations for this race will be accepted by payment of $400 through February 1.

Moreno Wins Over Champ

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — San Antonio's Tony Moreno swarmed to a unanimous lopsided decision over British empire flightweight champion John McCluskey in the main event of the boxing show here Friday night.

In other bouts, Jimmy Troclair, 132, of New Orleans, stopped previously undefeated Jesus "Chucho" Mariscal, 130, on a TKO in the second round, Texas featherweight champion Kenny Weldon, 131, blasted substitute Ronnie Bourque, 137, out in the first and Jesse Leija, 144, disposed of sub Pat Brown, 145, in the second.

McCluskey, 112, opened quickly and took command. He tagged Moreno, 114, with a good left hook to the face early in the round that seemed to buckle Moreno's knees momentarily, but didn't follow up and was himself sent to the canvas just before the bell by a solid Moreno left hook to the jaw. The Scotsman was up at the count of three but took the mandatory eight count, which came right at the bell.

McCluskey was shaken by Moreno punches in the second, fourth and seventh rounds, giving the appearance of almost going down in each one. He never did, however, after the first frame.

The new meeting will be the $4,000 added Inaugural Handicap to be contested among three-year-olds and upward on opening day. Post time for the 11-race card will remain at 1:30 p.m.

BIGGEST SANTA? — Charles and Barbara Rusackas put finishing touches on their giant, 22½-foot-tall, arm-waving Santa, in the front yard of their home in Downey, Calif., a Los Angeles suburb. This Santa requires 70 yards of red flannel and about 80 feet of white trim for his suit, sewn by Mrs. Rusackas. The Rusackases watch to see when people pass by, then turn on a motor to wave his arm.

February Trial Is Likely For Rentzel

DALLAS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade says Dallas Cowboys star receiver Lance Rentzel likely will go on trial in February on a charge of indecent exposure involving a 10-year-old girl.

Rentzel, 27, was indicted Friday by the Dallas County grand jury.

The Dallas Times Herald said it had learned that Dr. Sanford Rothenberg, a Los Angeles neurological surgeon, believes football injuries placed Rentzel in a "post-traumatic confusional state" on the day in which the alleged offense occurred.

The Dallas Morning News said it had learned that Rothenberg told the jury panel Rentzel had suffered six cranial concussions during his football career and is not always in control of his actions.

Rothenberg noted, the News said, that the star pass catcher suffered one of the concussions only three days before the date of the alleged offense.

Rentzel, free under $1,500 appearance bond, could face up to 1½ years in prison if convicted.

He is the husband of television star Joey Heatherton. They were married April 12, 1969.

Rentzel pleaded guilty in St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 4, 1966, to a formal complaint of "making noise, disturbance and improper diversion, and improper conduct to the disturbance of citizens."

West Texas Needs Soil Soaking Rain

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Soil soaking and tank filling rains would solve a lot of the problems of Texas' farmers and ranchers. The moisture and stock water situations are not good and this week's winds and blowing dust did nothing to help, said Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The need for rain is state-wide. Stock water shortage is critical in many areas, the director said. Grain pastures, very pretentious a few weeks ago, deteriorated with many districts now reporting the plants dead or dying. Very little grain, except in irrigated areas, is available from this source, Hutchison said. Range conditions are declining and feeding is increasing, he added.

SLOW GINS

Livestock are in fair to good condition with feeding and marketing is increasing in some areas, Hutchison said. Harvesting is complete or in the scrapping stage, he added.

District agents reported

The South Plains (Lubbock) cotton harvest is down to the scrapping stage and most gins have completed work. Winds are damaging grains and moisture is badly needed to keep them growing. The entire area is very dry and stock water is at a critical low.

All 22 Rolling Plains (Vernon) counties badly need rain for ranges, stock water and grains.

Grain was fair to poor with little or no grazing available. Greenbug damage increased. The cotton harvest is virtually complete. The guar and pecan harvests are still on Range conditions were poor to fair with grazing limited; marketing and feeding were increasing; and stock water was very low.

Far West Texas is very dry with warm days and cold nights some high winds. A general soaking rain is needed. The cotton harvest is down to the final stages and that cabbage and carrots are being harvested. Irrigated grains are providing excellent grazing. Livestock conditions are declining and feeding is increasing.

PRICES LOW

Moisture is short to very short in West Central Texas and stock water is low in some areas. With the cotton harvest about over, yields have been average to above. Grains, except irrigated oats, are in bad shape. Some are dead, others dying. Feeding increased, more livestock are going to market and early calves and lambs are being marketed. Labor is scarce.

Rain is needed all through South Texas where the flax crop is now mostly planted. Cabbage and citrus harvests increased and prices are low. Carrots, spinach and turnips also are being harvested. Pastures are dry and some feeding has started but livestock are in good condition. Some decline in livestock prices was noted.

DPS Revises System For Accident Reports

By HOWARD SIMMS
Beginning with the new year, law enforcement officers in Texas will use a new system of reporting traffic accidents designed to provide greater statistical information on vehicle design and safety.

The Texas Department of Public Safety is distributing to the various accident reporting agencies copies of the new accident report forms and instruction booklets prepared under the Traffic Accident Data (TAD) Project of the National Safety Council.

After Jan. 1 all accidents investigated by Texas law enforcement officers will be reported to DPS in Austin, regardless of the amount of damage or the site of the accident. This should give DPS more complete statistics, since it will give them information on very minor accidents or private property accidents not reported to Austin in the past.

J. D. Campbell and Doris

Smith of the police traffic division attended an orientation session in Lamesa Thursday, and will conduct training sessions for Big Spring patrolmen later in the month to introduce the officers to the new system.

The TAD system uses a damage code keyed to pictures and diagrams in a book. Instead of guessing how much it will cost to repair the damage, the investigating officer will have to match up the damage with the location code and photographs showing various degrees of damage.

For example, a head-on collision with a telephone pole would probably cause FC damage. The investigating officer would turn to the page for FC damage, and find three pictures of cars in picture 2 but lighter than in picture 4, the officer rates the damage as FC-3.

Other information that will be requested for statistical purposes include extensive questions about motorcycle or motorscooter accidents, about such things as crash bars, windshield, footrests, goggles, the lens color of a face shield, and whether a helmet worn by a rider was damaged.

The officer will also fill in answers to standard questions about pedestrians involved in accidents, such as the color of their clothes, whether they had been drinking, and what they were doing at the time of the accident.

The new report forms are the result of two years of work by a committee composed of city, county, and state officials, but it is hard to judge whether they are simpler or more complex than the old forms. Wilson E. Speir, director of DPS, will only say that they are more standard. If local agencies require different information they are free to modify the report forms by adding extra questions, with the blessing of the Department of Public Safety which will help them print different forms.

IT'S CHRISTMAS

The true spirit of Christmas shines bright as an Eastern star to shed the light of love.

READY AND WAITING for Santa to appear at the Boys' Club are, upward, David Martinez, Jessie Martinez, Raymond Costello, Jimmy DeLeon, Mike Salazar, Bob Paradez and Albert Barrera. At the top of the stairs are Mike Hall of the sponsoring Jaycees and Mrs. G. C. Broughton Jr., a member of the club's board of directors. The Jaycee-Ettes will assist at the event as games and prizes provide fun. One lucky boy will win a bicycle.

THE SCENE at right will be re-enacted Thursday at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center when Girl Scout troops 389 and 99 will host a party. The Scouts at left are Cynthia Fierro, Sylvia Herrera and Reina Hamby while those at right are Wendy Payte and Melody Dabney, standing, and Wendy Hamby, seated. Other youngsters seated at the tree are, from left, Billy Earl Thompson, Laurie Tate, Kenneth Huibregtse, Kelly Ware and Brian Thompson.

MORE THAN a thousand colorfully-wrapped Christmas gifts were distributed during the annual Big Spring State Hospital party Thursday. The gifts, donated from clubs and organizations over the 48 counties served by the hospital, were wrapped by some 60 volunteers. Among those helping with the wrapping and holiday decorations at the hospital were Mrs. Nolen Voight, left, welfare chairman for the Webb Officers Wives Club, and Mrs. Brian Rotolante, party chairman for the OWC hospital committee.

AN EXAMPLE of good guys working together for community service was the annual Christmas party at Westside Community Center which was co-sponsored this year by the Kiwanis Club and American Business Club. Approximately 150 youngsters were entertained, receiving gifts, refreshments and favors. Seated are Ben Bancroft and Henry Thames, both Kiwanians, and standing, right, is Bill Reed of the American Business Club. Tom Henry, left, principal of Cedar Crest School, also assisted. The children are Suzanne Barragan, Pablo Ramirez and Robert Martin.

THE SALVATION ARMY is recognized for its annual distribution of food and toys to area families, but lesser known for its visits to local nursing homes to present gifts to the residents. Pictured at a tree in Big Spring Nursing Inn is Mrs. Ella Morrell, right, as she chats with Byron Lillie and Miss Odella McCall.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

Now that the blow of last Tuesday has passed into oblivion, it is now believed that all the angels have regained their wings, the nativity scenes have their shepherds, and the Holy family is together again all about the city. There are probably a number of outdoor displays that will never be the same again, and a lot of lights will be blinking a little spasmodically after the great stir they got along with an ample dosing of sand. But here in our part of Texas where we sometimes find much of the top soil from New Mexico and Kansas falling about our ears, we have learned to take what Nature sends... but we would just as soon have it in smaller lots. Even for us that was pretty much of a sander.

MR. and MRS. SIDNEY WOODS have received word that his granddaughter, LINDA FAYE WOODS, daughter of MR. and MRS. LEE O. WOODS of Morrison, Ill., has received a $500 scholarship grant to Rice University in Houston. This is especially pleasing to her father who is a Rice graduate and is a design engineer for General Electric.

Mrs. Woods will be joined here on Dec. 23 by her sister, MRS. W. E. STATEN of Memphis, Tenn., and they will fly to Los Angeles, Calif., for Christmas with Mrs. Woods' son and daughter-in-law, MR. and MRS. S. E. SLEDGE. Another son, W. E. SLEDGE, will come to Los Angeles from Seattle, Wash., for Christmas with his family whom he hasn't seen in three years.

Coming here for the holidays with their father are MR. and MRS. W. S. WOODS, Houston, and MR. and MRS. R. P. RAYERMANN and Phillip of Fort Worth.

MR. and MRS. J. D. LEONARD were to leave Saturday for Chickasha, Okla., to spend Christmas with their son, the Rev. Bill Leonard, and his family. Following Christmas they plan to go to Wichita to visit Bob and his family.

Christmas guests of MRS. ALICE RIGGS will be her daughter and son-in-law, MR. and MRS. J. C. ANDERSON of Odessa. Also coming to visit their parents are MR. and MRS. NORMAN ARNOLD and Kelly of Irving who will be with his parents, MR. and MRS. CURTIS ARNOLD and MR. and MRS. ELMO PHILLIPS.

Morristown, Tenn., is the holiday spot for DR. and MRS. GAGE LLOYD who will visit their daughter and her family, MR. and MRS. W. W. HARRELL JR.

MRS. SID CULBERTSON of Houston, a cousin of MRS. TOMMY JORDAN, visited the Jordans during the past week while her husband was attending to business in Monahan.

The PAT BOATLERS are planning a family gathering for Christmas and expected to come for the holidays are MR. and MRS. EARL BLAIR and their children from Dallas, MR. and MRS. HOLLIS KENNEMUR and their family from Ackerly, and Mrs. Boatler's sister, MRS. G. E. MALONE who lives in Fort Worth.

MISS PAULA KUYKENDALL is expected to arrive tomorrow from Mont Clair, N. J., for the holidays here with DR. and MRS. J. W. KUYKENDALL.

MR. and MRS. ROY ODOM are expecting their son, HAROLD, who lives in San Francisco, Calif., for a holiday visit. He will also visit his brother and his family, MR. and MRS. PASCAL ODOM.

MR. and MRS. MERLE PELLUSCH who are presently on a vacation trip in the States from their work in Abu Dhabi on the Arabian Gulf, have been here visiting her sisters, MRS. R. O. CLARK and MRS. CHARLES BIDDISON, and their families. When they leave here they will go to see their daughters who live in Galesburg and Erie, Kan. They expect to return to their overseas assignment in February.

MRS. RIP SMITH plans to spend the holidays in El Paso with her son and daughter-in-law, COL. and MRS. Wm. J. ROBERTS.

MR. and MRS. DON GREGORY and Stevie of Murphysboro, Ill., are expected to arrive here Wednesday for a holiday visit with her parents, MR. and MRS. MATT HARRINGTON. They have been in Paul's Valley, Okla., with his parents and will be in Dallas where he will be doing some research before coming here. He is working on his doctorate from the University of Southern Illinois.

MR. and MRS. GOYD McDANIEL of Menard will have Christmas here with his brother, C. H. McDANIEL JR., and Mrs. McDaniel.

MR. and MRS. G. A. BARNETT are looking forward to a visit from their son, GIL, and his family from Richardson.

ELIZABETH PHELAN will be in Mt. Pleasant for a special Christmas with her brother and his family. Miss Phelan is the godmother of little DEBRA ELIZABETH PHELAN, daughter of MR. and MRS. ROBERT PHELAN, who will be baptized in the Episcopal church there and her aunt will be present for the ceremony.

MR. and MRS. MONTE STOKES will spend their holidays in Fort Knox, Ky., with their son and daughter-in-law.

We are all interested in your plans for the holidays. If you are going to have relatives or friends here for the vacation period or are going to some out of town place, give us a ring at The Herald or at 263-2542.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Enrique V. Porras of Abilene, formerly of Big Spring, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gloria Linda, to Jack Cisneros Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cisneros of Abilene. No wedding date has been set.

Announce Engagement During Home Party

The engagement of Miss Linda Baker to Richard Dean Axelrod was announced during a party Saturday evening in the home of the future bridegroom's parents, Sgt. and Mrs. Karl Axelrod, 3608 Parkway.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Baker, 2714 Larry.

The couple plans a May wedding. Approximately 40 guests were served refreshments from a table covered with a white linen cloth bordered with lace. Centering the table was a cake decorated with cherubs and flanked by silver branched candelabra holding lavender candles. The colors of lavender and white were used in other decorations in the entertaining area.

Knott Residents Are Hospitalized

KNOTT (SC) — E. L. Roman Jr. of Hereford is recovering from surgery at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. He and his family will spend the holidays here with his parents, the Elbert Romans.

Mrs. L. O. Free spent Tuesday with her daughter, Mrs. Linda Bedwell in Plainview. Mrs. Free's son and daughter-in-law, the Alton Frees, will visit his parents during Christmas.

Mrs. Vernon King is reported ill in Cleveland, Tex., where she and her husband, formerly of Knott, now reside. He is pastor of the Baptist church.

H. C. McClain underwent eye surgery last week at Medical Center Memorial Hospital. He is in Room 216.

Bedecked Hands

Hands bedecked with interesting costume rings are very much in fashion again for fall. Many in the collection are adjustable. No need to bother with ring size when purchasing same for self or for a gift for someone else.

Know Home Cleaners For Needed Results

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
County MD Agent

What's in home cleaning products and why? A few basic ingredients are used in all household cleaning products. The consumer who knows and understands this can select those products which she needs for her particular purposes. She is able to make substitutions when out of a particular product and get the needed results. She can select products that are suitable for more than one surface.

No wonder buying home cleaning products is more confusing than ever before. Labels and ads are filled with glowing claims and complex chemical terms. "Which product is best for me?" is no longer an easy question to answer.

You can shop more intelligently when you understand something about the ingredients in home cleaning products and consider how these ingredients compare in performance and safety. The common ingredients are alkalis, acids, detergents, abrasives, bleaches, sanitizers, and spirit solvents. Today's article will discuss alkalis, with future articles discussing other common ingredients.

ALKALIS

Alkalis are a group of chemicals that help make products clean.

What are some common names of alkalis? Probably the best known alkalis for household cleaning are baking soda and ammonia. Other common alkalis are borax, trisodium phosphate (TSP), washing soda (sal soda), and lye.

Why are alkalis important in cleaning products? Alkalis are very effective in removing a heavy accumulation of dirt without rubbing. They work especially well to remove grease because they react with it to form an emulsion. An emulsion is a mixture in which oil or solid particles are held in suspension and will not separate from the rest of the liquid. The greasy particles thus held in suspension will not be deposited again on the surface you are cleaning.

Very strong alkalis are potentially dangerous to adults and children. When misused these substances can severely burn the skin and eyes, and if swallowed cause internal injuries or death.

Both the Federal and the Texas Hazardous Substances Acts specify the signal word or words that must appear on the label of dangerous products plus a statement of the principal hazard or hazards involved with the use of the product. The label must also state the precautions for the safe use of the product. Examine the label and follow its instructions carefully.

Because alkalis readily remove oily dirt, they also take oil from your hands as you work. For this reason, many people prefer to wear waterproof gloves while cleaning. Alkaline cleaners also take oil from linoleum and oil base paints, drying them and causing them to crack or peel.

Concentrated doses of these cleaners can loosen paint surfaces that you only aimed to clean. Another disadvantage of alkalis is their tendency to darken aluminum surfaces.

In many cases, you can prevent harmful results by using a mild alkaline solution and by rinsing thoroughly to remove all the cleaner.

What are the differences among alkaline substances?

Baking soda is sodium bicarbonate. When mixed with water, it can remove coffee and tea stains from china and plastic dishes. Baking soda can also clean glass, wall tile, and porcelain enamel.

AMMONIA

Household ammonia is a diluted mixture of 5 to 10 percent ammonia gas in water. It can be used in cleaning kitchen range burners and ovens, windows, and mirrors. A sudsy type of household ammonia, which looks slightly cloudy or milky, contains a small amount of soap or detergent. This type of ammonia can be used in cleaning garbage pails, kitchen range burners, and sinks.

Borax is a white, crystalline powder. You can use it in a variety of household cleaning jobs such as washing walls, woodwork and resilient floors, except linoleum.

Trisodium phosphate (TSP) is also a crystalline powder. It is an effective cleaner for walls, woodwork and resilient floors, except linoleum.

Washing soda, also called sal soda, is sodium carbonate. One used it for cleaning greasy, kitchen range burners.

Lye is sodium hydroxide, also called caustic soda. It can severely burn your skin. It effectively contributes to some drain and oven-cleaners.

How do alkalis compare in strength? Baking soda is very mild. Ammonia, borax, and TSP are moderate in strength. Lye and washing soda are very strong.

READ LABELS

How can you tell whether products contain alkali? You will see the name of one of the common alkaline substances among the ingredients on a product. Advertising expressions such as "contains ammonia," "ammoniated," "with ammonia power," "dri-ammonia," point out the presence of the alkaline ingredient.

The Federal and Texas Hazardous Substances Acts specify that the label of a hazardous substance must list of the hazardous substances or the common or chemical name of each component that contributes substantially to its hazard.

Most alkalis are toxic; some are corrosive; others are irritants to the skin and eyes. The signal word will be "Warning" or "Caution."

Quotable Quotes

By The Associated Press

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Every 20th little girl will ask for a baby brother for Christmas. Our Santas have been told to reply: 'That's completely out of my department.'"—Tabby Voelzke, manager of a Santa Claus training school in Miami.

"I'm not suited for a 9-to-5 job, and firemen work 24-hour shifts, then have 48 hours off. You could have a job and be able to go to school for a master's degree, too."—Christine Bradley, 22-year-old graduate of George Washington University, explaining why she applied for a job with the fire department in Wilmette, Ill.

"Women are emasculating men in this country and women's lib is delivering the coup de grace."—Esther B. Aresty, author of "The Best Behavior," in an interview.

"I had no thought of Women's Lib when I applied for the job. I just wanted to be a page."—Paulette Marie Desell, nominated to be the first girl page in the U.S. Senate.

"They called me and told me I could send him a package on the C130 that would be flying over this week. I just decided to send myself."—Cheryl Ketchum, after an unsuccessful attempt to stowaway on a military cargo plane to visit her Air Force husband in Thailand for Christmas.

Luncheon Held By Church Class

The Homemaker's Class of the First Christian Church had a Christmas luncheon Wednesday and welcomed as guests Mrs. Mattie Crews of Fountain, Colo., and Mrs. J. C. Curtiss of Ft. Worth.

The hall was decorated with a Christmas tree and traditional ornaments. A white linen cloth covered the refreshment table, and was accented with holly sprigs and a candelabra and Santa Claus centerpiece.

The women will take cookies to shut-ins Wednesday. The next regular meeting is Jan. 27, 1 p.m., at the church.

Enrolls In Career School At Dallas

Miss Frances Billalba, daughter of Mrs. Rosalia Billalba, 4210 Dixon, has enrolled at Bauder Fashion Career College and Finishing School where she will study fashion merchandising and professional modeling.

During her year at the college, Miss Billalba will take field trips to museums, manufacturers, display or advertising departments in retail stores and fashion and trade shows.

Increases Cost

Place a refrigerator as far away from stove, water heater, radiator and sunlight as possible. Heat not only increases the operating costs for gas or electricity but it may harm the finish.

MRS. JAMES ERWIN KELLY

Couple United In Marriage

Miss Laura Jane Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Lloyd Cannon, 1705 Kentucky Way, was married to James Erwin Kelly Saturday evening in Birdwell Lane Church of Christ. The bride's father, minister of the church, performed the ceremony, assisted by the bride's uncle, James A. Cannon of Baytown.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kelly, 3227 Auburn, are parents of the bridegroom.

Nuptial music was by an a cappella chorus directed by Robert Thompson, with John Curby, Houston, as soloist. The altar featured a center votive candle tree flanked by branched candelabra with votive lights, and potted palms, completed the setting.

Miss Cannon was attired in an Empire styled gown of white peau de soie with bodice overlaid with crystalline. Bishop sleeves of crystalline were appliqued with Venise lace and seed pearls, and the cuffs and stand-up collar of the gown were encircled with the same trim. The lace was used to outline a front panel and border the cathedral train. A headpiece of satin leaves and pearls held a cathedral-length veil which was edged in re-embroidered lace.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of orchids and stephanotis interspersed with greenery. Mrs. Leonard Simpson, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Charlotte Garner, Dallas, and Miss Carolyn Arnett, Lubbock. Lila Cannon, sister of the bride, and Lisa Kelly, sister of the bridegroom, were junior bridesmaids, and the flower girl was Michelle Wrinkle.

All feminine attendants wore floor-length Empire gowns of deep purple velvet styled with

Designers Ease Off Pantsuit; Plug Knickers, Short Shorts

By MYRTLE OEFINGER

NEW YORK — Miniskirt lovers can relax, as those thigh-high skirts are threatened into oblivion in the name of fashion, along come short-shorts to take their place.

The super-shorts showed up in three collections in one day during spring fashion press shows — and word is out that they are being seen in many salons on New York's Seventh Avenue as well as in Paris and London.

Cuffed or plain, they're reminiscent of shorts worn by Betty Grable and other World War II pin-up girls. They were also hot items back in the 30s (remember?), a definite contrast to the long hemlines of that decade.

In fact, some designers are calling their 1971 minishorts "hot pants," a tag bestowed by Women's Wear Daily, the newsy, gossip fashion trade publication read all over the world.

What makes them news this time is that they aren't always put into the sportswear category, but are often part of a town or travel ensemble. They're being shown for evening as well.

"Short-shorts can be worn anywhere the miniskirt could be worn," Shreveport-born designer Victor Joris told me after his show. "They're the replacement for the mini."

"Even to luncheons," I asked. "Even to luncheons," said Victor. (Which could bring new problems to all those maitre D's who finally gave in on women wearing pants in posh restaurants.)

FOR SHAPELY LEGS
"It almost goes without saying that short-shorts should be left to young women with good figures, particularly with shapely legs. But the same thing should have been true with the miniskirt (exclamation point)."

Victor Joris has four shorts ensembles in his collection. One of the snappiest teams white canvas pants with a navy cotton gabardine double-breasted blazer and red and white striped shirt.

French-born Jacques Tiffeau, who has been responsible for many fashion "firsts," sent one model down the runway in pearl-gray flannel, above-knee shorts (not mini short) topped with a matching long-sleeved tunic piped in white. Then he kidded the whole idea (or was he kidding?) by ending his show with a bride in white cotton lace shorts and tunic complete with long veil.

Halston, the talented hoosier who first gained fame in New York as a milliner, introduced moderately-priced knit separates labeled "Halston International," which should have young "with it" fashionites ecstatic.

Short-shorts run throughout the collection. The most memorable ensemble teams navy shorts, white silk shirt, wide red leather contour belt, red boots and an enormous ankle-length, swashbuckling navy knit cape. What made the costume even more memorable was Naomi Sims, this country's top Negro model — a young woman who brings a lot of flair and showmanship to a fashion runway.

While pants play an important role in such sportswear-oriented collections as the three mentioned, the pantsuit per se is not nearly so prevalent for spring as it was for fall. Many dress designers, who turned to pants as an economic measure during the worst of the hemline dilemma, have eased off. Pantsuits are becoming a classic part of the American style scene.

JUMPSUITS
Not so classic, however, are some of the jumpsuits offered by the innovative Jacques Tiffeau. His overall jumpsuits in flannel or jersey can be worn with a shirt of turtleneck for day or completely bare for evening. Each comes with a matching capelet, which the models wore as a hood.

Knicker suits are gaining momentum in spring collections. Also prevalent are straight pants cropped just below the knee. Long pants continue slim and straight, a little narrower than fall styles.

Leo Narducci is showing some of the widest trousers on Seventh Avenue — smashing evening pants in stunning prints. Leo liked bare midriffs and combines pants or full tiered skirts with little tie-front bodices exposing a wide expanse of skin.

As a tip-off to the current direction of the fickle fashion breezes, Leo said retail store buyers are placing orders for his long full skirts "ten to one" over pants and pajamas.

Club Holds Dinner At Ranch Home

The Pioneer Sewing Club held a Christmas dinner and party Tuesday evening in the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Wash.

The members and their husbands were greeted with an array of outdoor Christmas decorations including Santa and his reindeer standing beside an imitation chimney on the roof. A caravan of camels coming in from the desert accented the scene of the nativity.

Inside the home the decorations were also unusual, and the guests were served a traditional Christmas dinner.

Following dinner, members exchanged gifts. Mrs. John Vincent of Andrews, a former member of the club, was a guest.

Club Members Meet At Dinner

The Tops Plate Pushers had a salad and turkey Christmas dinner at its meeting Thursday in the Salvation Army Activity Room. Gifts were exchanged, and Mrs. R. G. Washburn won a bowl of fruit. Mrs. Leon Rankin presided. The next meeting is Jan. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the activity room.

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

The wedding of Miss Karen Sue Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Smith of Lewisville, and Larry Don Helton was solemnized Saturday evening in the First United Presbyterian Church in Lewisville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Garland Helton of Austin and the Late Mr. Helton, formerly of Big Spring.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Orton before an archway of greenery and white flowers flanked by candelabra. Music was by Miss Sharon Balderston, organist, and the vocalist was Miss Martha Domki.

The bride attended Texas Woman's University and North Texas State University, where she will again enroll in January. She is employed by Blue Cross-Blue Shield in Dallas. The bridegroom, a graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College, is attending NTSU. They will reside at 515 Smith St., Denton.

ATTIRE

The bride chose a formal gown of white peau de sole and peau d'ange lace. The Empire, A-line silhouette was designed to show a manderin collar overlaid with lace, and the bishop sleeves were fashioned with cuffs overlaid with lace. Seed pearls and crystals accented the lace which covered the bodice and extended down the back of the chapel train. Her full-length bridal veil was held by a halo of peau de sole flowers.

The bridal bouquet was of white carnations and roses.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Warren Culley of Salina, Kans., was matron of honor, and Miss Linda Helton of Big Spring, the bridegroom's sister, was bridesmaid. Miss Frances Culley was the junior bridesmaid. The three were identically attired in formal gowns of royal blue velvet, bell-sleeved and ruffled at the cuffs. Blue and green floral trim was used at the neckline and to mark the high-rise waistline. Headpieces were blue velvet pillboxes trimmed with veiling.

Billy Ward of Big Spring was best man, and the groomsmen were Bill Davis of Big Spring, Junior groomsmen were Jeff Culley, Rachael Langseth was flower girl, and Jeff Langseth lighted the altar tapers. Both are of Deer Park.

RECEPTION

Mrs. Jim Ham, Houston, registered guests at a reception in the church parlor. Other members of the house party were Miss Sue Yancey, Dallas; Mrs. Joe Wesley, Ranger; Mrs. Marve Domki, Arlington; and Mrs. John Erwin.

Centering the table was a tiered wedding cake topped with a "Christogram" symbol and miniature bride and groom.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, Big Spring; Warren Culley, Salina; Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Langseth, Clifton; Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Langseth, Deer Park; Mrs. Harold Sickman and Robert Sickman, both of Ft. 'THE CASUAL MAN' — There is very little side shaping on the jacket of this summer suit in white embossed cotton pique from the "Casual Man's" collection shown by designer John Weitz.

John Weitz Sees Soft Knits, Blazers For Businessmen

By MILDRED WHITEAKER
NEW YORK — "I've never quite understood how anyone can expect a nice American sales manager to look like an Italian count. It doesn't work."

With these words men's wear designer John Weitz introduced a model in a white summer suit which was not nipped at the waistline in the European manner.

It looked comfortable and appropriate for the "casual man," the theme of the Weitz spring and summer collection. He has long advocated clothes which are easy and soft and without the inner construction usually found in men's suits and jackets.

Nor does he want to see the American male — a casual man at heart — nipped and buttoned like an Edwardian dandy.

Weitz presented the only men's clothing seen at the National Fashion Press Week, a refreshing change in the midst of so many women's lines.

The show represented highlights of varied collections, as Weitz designs for some 14 manufacturers in Europe and Japan. (Television commercials have made his name a household word in Tokyo.)

Some of the ideas are so new that the clothes haven't even been manufactured.

Weitz advocates "lots of color, strong prints and a cheerful, healthy disposition" for men, a far cry from the ruffles and velvets and beads being offered by some designers. The closest he comes to ethnic or folkloric clothes are cowboy-inspired beach suits. Cowboy gear, he insists, is "marvellously functional." And if clothes aren't functional, why bother? he reasons.

Some men might find the John Weitz ideas a bit startling — at first. Pique suits, for example.

"I like pique," he said, "and I think it can become very masculine in its context. The trick of clothes is to be in the right context."

The non-nipped white pique suit is for resort or country club wear. Another white pique suit, cut like an ensign's uniform and worn without a shirt to show an expanse of bare chest, is "dressy beach wear."

He also puts the bare-chested cowboy suit in prints for the beach, for end-of-the-day loafing or for "Saturday to Sunday night." His printed terry cloth coveralls are "great for all sorts of activities, including boating."

For resort evenings and informal parties, he tops black and white printed shirt and slacks with a red blazer. A leisure suit for the casual man is in tomato red Trevira knit poplin with a cotton knit pull-over shirt in red, blue and yellow racing checks.

"I want to impress your eyes with men in color," he said. "We live in colorful homes and work in colorful offices. There's no reason men shouldn't wear it."

While most of the clothes were for play, he showed several spring and summer business suits at moderate prices. He also pointed to the amount of "switch-hitting" in business and leisurewear these days — "blazers on bankers and red shirts on lawyers."

The finale featured his "day after tomorrow" business suit. Of Trevira knit, it has a loosely fitted top which is a cross between a shirt and a jacket.

"This suit does the American thing," he said, "gets a man to the office in his car in comfort or to a conference by plane. It's loose enough to hide any bulges which might develop and has great big pockets for anything he might need. It doesn't yet fit into the social structure of business, but the day may come."

Weitz himself fits into the casual man category. Handsome, rugged and over six feet, he looks as though he would be at home in the drawing room or on the range. A former racing car driver, he now spends as much time as possible on his boat.

He is married to actress Susan Kohner, and they have two children. He was wearing a striped banker's gray suit, deep pink shirt and red tie. (He prefers solid color ties for himself, but also designs prints.)

Two years ago he received Joske's annual Camellia Award for the excellence of his designs and contributions "to the art of fashion."

Rebekahs Serve At Holiday Party

The Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284 had a Christmas party and salad supper at its meeting in the IOOF Hall Tuesday evening. Mrs. E. V. Cokerham, noble grand, presided and a Christmas gift was sent to Mrs. Maggie Richardson, lodge mother.

On Thursday evening the members provided and served refreshments for a Christmas party in a ward of Big Spring State Hospital.

A LOVELIER YOU Merry Customs Add To Holiday Season

By MARY SUE MILLER
For fun and merriment try these old-fashioned Christmas Eve customs and bits of folklore:

Display a light in the window. The Irish brought the custom to this country. It signifies God-speed to travelers and accrues warm thanks to the home. Even though you live on the empty-umph floor of an apartment house, a light in your window shines like a kind deed in a cruel world.

Be sure to hang a bunch of mistletoe in your entrance hall. According to an ancient Druid legend, only happiness enters under the mistletoe. While other plants are earthbound, mistletoe grows on air. You walk on air for sure when you are kissed under the staff.

Give one white Christmas rose a prominent place in the living room. It is a symbol of peace and good will, as old as the first Christmas.

For luck and health, hang a red apple on the tree for each member of the family and each guest. The idea is borrowed from Sweden where trees are laden with apples and topped with the Swedish flag.

Children in many lands scatter breadcrumbs for the birds on the windowsill of their room. How's that for a tip, my young friends?

The skeptic, of course, may not hold with these ideas. But that is to miss the point, like not believing in Santa Claus. Every Lovely knows there is a Santa Claus, and that he will make an appearance momentarily.

WINNING MANNERS
To open a door on increased poise and popularity, send for my booklet, "Winning Manners." Topics included are Introductions, Invitations, Table Manners, The Charming Hostess, You — The Guest, Dating Manners, Formal Dances, Travel Tips and Tipping, Small Points, like when to wear a hat or check your coat. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 25 cents in coin, and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Directions To Thaw Properly

How should frozen turkeys be thawed? Fresh frozen turkey may be thawed satisfactorily and safely in either of two ways.

If placed in the refrigerator in original wrap on a tray it requires one to three days. Unwrapped, and covered lightly, it requires 18 to 48 hours. Remove giblets as soon as possible, wrap loosely and store separately.

The second method calls for immersing the moisture tight package in cold running water. Small birds will thaw in three to four hours; large birds thaw in six to seven hours.

Thawing at room temperature is not generally recommended. When done, it must be followed immediately by complete cooking.

The slower the defrosting, the less weight loss in cooking and the juicier the turkey.

Dance Students Perform Thursday

Eighty dance students of Mrs. Ora Burson presented a recital Thursday evening at the John H. Lees Service Club, Webb AFB. The students, who study under Mrs. Burson at the YMCA, performed ballet, acrobatic and tap dancing. Refreshments were served.

MRS. DONALD LEE PIERCE

Theresa Payne Weds Donald Lee Pierce

Miss Theresa Jo Payne and Donald Lee Pierce were married at noon Saturday in West Gardner Hall of Abilene Christian College. Royce Clayminister of the Muleshoe Church of Christ, performed the ceremony.

The hall was decorated with baskets of gold, bronze, yellow and orange chrysanthemums, carnations and gladioli which flanked two tiers of candelabra.

Wedding music was provided by Miss Debbie Brumley, soloist, Den Langford, organist, and a chorus of Mark Witt, Mr. and Mrs. Rick Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Walt Cabe.

Parents of the couple are James E. Payne of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. Duke W. Pierce, 1405 E. 18th, Big Spring.

The bride wore an empire-style, soft yellow crepe dress with full sleeves and a chapel train. The bodice and cuffs were accented with white lace flowers and seed pearls. Her tiered, finger-tip length veil of white illusion was attached to a crown of fresh yellow roses, and she carried a nosegay of white orchids circled with roses.

Matrons of honor for Miss Cannon were her sister, Mrs. C. Warren Cullar, and Mrs. Ralph VanWagner of Lubbock.

Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara McMennamy and Miss Carole Lacy both of Midland; Miss Virginia Mosier and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Barbara Pierce of Big Spring.

The attendants wore green and gold floral velvet skirts with gold crepe blouses. Gold, yellow and bronze chrysanthemums anchored gold veils for the matrons of honor and green veils for the bridesmaids. They carried candles circled with matching chrysanthemums.

BEST MAN
Doug Veazey of San Antonio was best man. Groomsmen were Dave Pennock of San Angelo, Ed Holt of San Antonio, C. Warren Cullar, Dick Waters of Clovis, N.M., and the bridegroom's brother, Larry Pierce, Big Spring.

Eddie Mosier of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Larry Mullican of Lubbock were ushers and altar taper lighters. Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will reside at 2600 Westward, San Antonio.

Pierce is a member of the 539th Air Force Band assigned to Lackland AFB in San Antonio. He attended Big Spring High School, Howard County Junior College and Abilene Christian College. His wife attended Cooper High School in Abilene, and received her bachelor of science degree in education from Abilene Christian College in 1968.

The wedding reception was also held in West Gardner Hall where Miss Mary Wright and Mrs. Jim Davis presided at the bride's table. Serving at the bridegroom's table were Miss Kaye Brownlow and Miss Vivian Bennett. The bride's cake was trimmed in pale yellow roses and topped with satin bells. Coffee and pound cake were served from the bridegroom's table.

GUESTS
Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Darnell, Muleshoe; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Darnell Jr., Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brumley, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Heard and Mrs. J. C. McWhorter all of Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. Bland Waters, Weatherford; and the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jabe Darnell, Texola, Okla.

DEAR BOSS

Don't Worry 'Bout Snow

Dear Boss: I happened to hear an old song the other day in which an old-time crooner was dreaming about a white Christmas. Just in case you're interested, he ain't from Big Spring.

It's not that Big Spring never has a white Christmas, according to Editor Joe Pickle, we've had at least two. But in the 70 years since weather records have been kept, two ain't too many. That makes the odds about 35 to 1.

My research into the possibilities of a white Christmas in Big Spring was made much easier by my late cohort Sam Blackburn, who gave you a full rundown in 1965. All I had to do was check out the last five years.

Would you believe that the only snow we have had since 1965 in the month of December came in 1967 — and that only measured out to .07 inch of moisture one Dec. 15 and on 1969 when we got 3 inches Dec. 28-29. So as you can see, not only are we not likely to have a white Christmas, we're not even likely to have a white December.

According to our weather-minded editor, our two claims to white Christmases were in 1939 and in 1943.

In 1939, he said, the snow began as sleet about 1 a.m. Dec. 25 and gradually turned to snow, stopped from about daybreak to noon and then began again at noon, continuing in what he remembers as "almost a blinding fall" until 4 p.m. That year the snow measured six inches in depth, and the Weather Bureau gauged its moisture content at .66 inch.

In 1943, again according to the chief, Big Spring was treated to a white Christmas. No snow fell on Christmas Day, but a slight snowfall Christmas Eve was kept in cold storage by the weatherman and a one-inch covering greeted Santa on his midnight rounds.

The redoubtable Mr. Blackburn speculated that in 1909 the Christmas snow might have risen on a few patches of snow. It had snowed Dec. 20 and temperatures had gone down to really winter level of minus three degrees. However, the temperature on Christmas that year rose to a high of 49.

Again in 1914, claims Mr. Blackburn, there was a trace of snow on Christmas Eve. From the weather records this does not qualify as a white Christmas.

So, boss, while I'm just as optimistic as the next reporter, I wouldn't suggest you give any sleds as gifts this Christmas. Your doubting reporter, JEAN FANNIN

Big Spring Soldier Comes Home On 2-Week R&R From Vietnam

A favorite Christmas song among both the older and the younger sets is "I'll Be Home For Christmas." For Big Spring Preston McNeese, stationed in Vietnam, this may not be quite true literally, but it is close enough to not make much difference.

McNeese is one of the first U.S. servicemen to take advantage of the recent decision to allow military personnel to take R & R (rest and recuperation) leave in the United States. In the past servicemen have taken their leaves in Australia, and the Orient and Hawaii.

"I think this is very good for people who are married and have a family," McNeese said. He considers himself a primary example, for the trip home enabled him to see for the first time his month-old son, Paul Anthony.

His wife Sharon and their daughter, Nicole Michelle, 2, have been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robertson, Route 3, Plainview, since he was sent to Vietnam in May. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. O. McNeese, 2409 E. 25th.

"The trip back to the United States is still very expensive," McNeese said. "But the American Service Club and the airlines have worked to lower the price considerably below what it was at first."

Another factor is the distance to travel for a two-week leave. McNeese said the trip home and back only cost him two days of his leave, however. He arrived home Dec. 11 and must leave for Vietnam Dec. 22 in order to be back Dec. 24 when his leave expires.

The 21-year-old serviceman is a 1967 graduate of Big Spring High School, and he attended Howard County Junior College here and El Centro College in Dallas. He entered the Army June 4, 1969.

He is stationed as a clerk-typist in Headquarters Co. 16th Aviation Combat Group at Chu Lai.

DPS Director Warns 87 Texans Could Die

AUSTIN — Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, warned today that traffic crashes in Texas over the Christmas and New Year holiday periods may claim as many as 87 lives.

He said 52 deaths are expected in the 78 hours of Christmas from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday. He also estimated 35 traffic deaths during the New Year holiday from 6 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 31, to midnight Sunday, Jan. 3.

Speir said the Department of Public Safety will place all available patrolmen on the highways during both holiday periods to enforce the law and aid motorists. The DPS director said a special "Operation Motorcade" will be in effect over both holiday periods.

"We urge each individual driver to join in these efforts and help us prove the estimate of 57 fatalities too high. Many holiday accidents can and will be prevented if Texans will adopt 'Drive Friendly' as their personal slogan while behind the wheel," Speir added.

Calling Servicemen Easier This Year

Six additional overseas telephone circuits added during the past year will make it easier for more servicemen to talk with their families in the United States this Christmas season.

Harry Sawyer, local manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone, said a total of 16 circuits are available to Vietnam.

He pointed out, however, that due to the volume of calls generated by holiday calling, persons wishing to reach servicemen in Vietnam should plan ahead for the rush.

"It is generally easier for a serviceman to call home than for his family to try reaching him in Vietnam," said Sawyer. "This is because servicemen can call the U.S. from Saigon, Ton Son Nhut, Long Binh, Cam Rahn Bay, Nha Trang, Qui Nhon and Da Nang. Calls originating from the U.S. can be placed only to Saigon."

He added that it is more difficult to reach a serviceman in Saigon unless the caller knows the serviceman's unit, APO and telephone number where he can be reached.

He also reminded residents of the 14-hour time difference between the U.S. and Saigon. For example, when it is 9 p.m. Christmas Eve in Texas, it is 11 a.m. Christmas Day in Saigon.

Calling rates to Vietnam will be the same as last year with the first three minutes of a station-to-station call costing $9, while a person-to-person call for the same time costs $12. Each additional minute for both kinds of calls costs $3.

'ONLY GOD CAN MAKE A TREE' Battle Waning In Big Spring

ARTIFICIAL OR NOT? ... no real battle here

By JEAN FANNIN

The battle over whether to buy a God-made tree or an artificial tree seems to be waning in Big Spring, with neither side appearing the loser.

Various local stores which add Christmas trees to their stocks every winter report sales about static with last year.

"Last year was really the first year that artificial trees had any impact on my sales," one merchant said. "And this year my sales are about the same as last year."

He said trees are about 50 cents higher this year, but this hasn't seemed to have any effect on sales. He also said he is selling fewer small trees.

"Most of the trees I sell are about eight feet tall, just about room size. Apparently the people who want small trees are getting artificial trees."

Prices on both are in about the same range according to a survey by The Herald. Stores offer artificial trees ranging in height from two feet to eight feet and in price from $1.99 to $34.99. On the regular fir and Scotch Pine trees the price is from $1.95 to $30 on trees from two feet to a towering 14 feet.

All merchants agree that there is rarely a surplus of trees. "We mark them down or transfer them to another store," the manager of a chain store said. "We order for a sell-out," the manager of a store which sells artificial trees said. "Tree decorations do not sell too well within about 10 days of Christmas. We don't reorder if our stock is depleted."

There are many reasons for the purchase of an artificial tree, according to merchants, from the lack of pine needles on the carpet to allergies.

"They're also a real savings. Most people use them about three years in a row, and the price averages out to what would have been spent on a tree each year," one manager said.

Aluminum trees have almost disappeared from the market this year. "They just don't sell," one salesman said.

The best seller among the artificial trees this year is the green synthetic tree. "It looks real, but there's no mess," one man said.

"And another big factor in the sale of artificial trees is that they are all full all the way around. There is no flat side or scarcity of branches on one side," one man said. "You don't have to wander around in the cold looking carefully at all sides of the tree to make sure it's perfect, and then when you get it home find out there's something wrong with it."

The artificial tree also packs for storage just as easily as do the ornaments.

Businesses are also going in more for the artificial tree, one merchant said, "although they want the big, heavily flocked trees, and those don't sell well to persons who want a family tree."

"Artificial trees have about reached their sales peak," one businessman said. "Persons who have already bought them will be using them for several years, and persons who haven't bought them by now more than likely won't."

Observances Of Christmas As Varied As Are Beliefs

By VELMA WEST SYKES
Associated Press Writer

'Tis the season to be jolly. 'Tis the season of peace on earth, good will to men. 'Tis the holiday that began as the "mass of Christ" in celebration of His birth; the holiday that still holds deep religious meaning for many, but for others is simply a time for rejoicing and merriment.

There are those vehemently opposed to celebrating Christmas with frolic and gift-giving. Their attitude is not novel. It's a throwback to that of the Puritans who induced the English Parliament to pass a law, in 1644, that forbade the festive observance of Christmas. While this law was in effect Christmas day was officially designated a fast and market day, with shops compelled to keep open. Plum puddings and even mince pies were declared "heathen."

The Pilgrims who settled Colonial America also opposed Christmas festivities, and the New England states waited until well into the 19th century before generally observing a festive Christmas.

While Christmas began as a church celebration, it was not observed officially on Dec. 25 until the Fourth Century. Prior to that, some had observed Jan. 6 (Epiphany). The gospels, in telling the story of Christ's birth, do not specify a date. Mark and John do not chronicle the birth at all. Matthew and Luke both give Bethlehem as His birthplace, but only Matthew tells of the Wise Men from the East, and only Luke explains the reason for coming to Bethlehem, and how the shepherds were apprised of the event. He also details the stable shelter "because there was no room for them in the inn." Matthew alone mentions the flight to Egypt and Herod's slaying of the innocents.

There has been much research and speculation about the authenticity of Dec. 25 as the date of Christ's birth.

Because to some it seemed to matter, Chrysostom, "golden-voiced" bishop of Constantinople in the Fourth Century, came up with an argument based on the first chapter of Luke. He traced the date of Jesus' birth by way of the instance when the priest Zacharias received his revelation in the temple that he was to have a son (John) in his old age. Chrysostom figured the date on which Zacharias entered the temple was the Day of Atonement, in September. His wife, Elizabeth, Mary's cousin, was visited by Mary six months later — and Mary had just had her own miraculous experience. To Chrysostom this confirmed December as Mary's time of fulfillment. Whether that satisfies modern critics or not, it did help then to establish Dec. 25 as the date. There have however, been other suggested reasons for choosing that date.

For instance, the Roman Saturnalia had been celebrated on Dec. 25 and church authorities may have felt it better to introduce a new reason for a celebration — and new rites. The Christian Gauls seem to have used Dec. 25 long before the Eastern churches. And in Britain, Dec. 25 was a holiday long before its people became Christians. Bede wrote: "The ancient people of the Angli began the year on Dec. 25, when we now celebrate the birth of our Lord."

It is not uncommon to set a more auspicious day to celebrate a king's or queen's birthday than the actual date. If the early church was in doubt about the real date, to pick a regularly observed pagan holiday to commemorate a Christian event among new converts was probably good religious strategy — especially if it changed the type of celebrating for the better.

As for the Christmas tree — St. Boniface is credited with introducing it in Germany, as a substitute for the sacred oak where human sacrifices were made to Odin. Cutting down the oak, he placed a small fir there in tribute to the Christ child. Later, Luther added candles to the tree and Queen Victoria's husband, Prince Albert, brought the custom to England. German immigrants carried it to America. America has one Christmas "first" to its credit. It was the first to set up Christmas trees in public places.

Customs change and differ from country to country and even in different parts of the same country. Fireworks are commonly used for Christmas celebration only in our South. Normandy retains the old custom of children going out on Epiphany Eve to meet the Three Kings (Magi) on the highway. In parts of Mexico, preparation begins for the Posada (resting-place) on Dec. 16. Nine families meet one another in different houses each night to re-enact the Biblical search for shelter by pleading in a Latin chant for entry. When admitted at the last room, they sing thanks together. In some Slavic countries, children are put to sleep on straw or hay on Christmas Eve to impress on them the humble birthplace of Jesus.

Water Rate Proposal Modest

The presentation of figures on water rates at an informational meeting of the city commission last week amounts to more than a mere briefing. More than likely it is a call to prompt action by the city commission on the rate structure.

When the Colorado River Municipal Water District launched in 1966 upon its $341,600,000 expansion program, which included Lake E. V. Spence, plus pipelines, pump stations, etc., it was necessary to raise the rates to member cities. Big Spring, as well as Snyder and Odessa, absorbed the increase. Now, reports from these points are that rate revisions are under consideration because another four or five cents may be charged the cities in order to finance development of a 24,000,000-gallons well supply in Ward County in time for next summer's use.

The choice on this was a hard one, but as one official noted: "We can't afford to run short of water." If this project sees the cities through the present crisis, it will be worth the investment — and in turn the higher rates involved. Even if bountiful spring rains should restore reserves to Lake Thomas and Lake E. V.

Spence, the decisive volume of the new source would constitute a water insurance policy for the area.

So the city administrations cannot afford to subsidize this by having to use other revenues. Water is both a commodity and a service, and those who use it should pay for it.

One pattern cited as an example is based on a 10 cents per thousand increase on the first 3,000 gallons (the minimum charge), or from the present $3 to the new $3.30; plus the addition of five cents for each thousand gallons in excess of the minimum. This would not serve as a deterrent from beautification. If you use 10,000 gallons a month in the summer, your bill would be up 50 cents; if 20,000, by $1.

It is interesting to note that the rate used for an example will simply break even for the city if the anticipated volume is used. Should use drop below expectations, the city would have more excess of cost than revenues. In the years ahead, however, if CRMWD rates to cities should decline, the cities then can begin to recoup some of the net revenues lost by the absorption of early rate increases.

Don't Spoil It All

Christmas is regarded universally as a happy time — a moment for family reunions and being together again.

So, if you must travel at this season, don't spoil it by taking chances on the road. The best present you can give yourself and your loved ones is to control the urge to take chances for just an extra minute or two. For when you swap safety for time you may lose an eternity. And instead of happiness, your fireside will have sorrow.

But if needn't be if you are doubly careful — for yourself, and for the dangerous driver you may have to dodge.

Something The Innkeeper Didn't Know

WASHINGTON — Some of my best friends are innkeepers, even including the mustached doll in Belgrade who furnished free slivovitz as a remedy for bedbug bites. Thus I can't help feeling a twinge of sympathy for the boniface who didn't have any more room on that first Christmas Eve.

Folks almost universally despise this nameless wretch who turned away Joseph and Mary because "there was no room at the inn." Over the centuries, he has become a symbol of selfish worldliness and materialism, a man scorned for refusing refuge to the unborn Babe who came to save mankind.

THE GENERAL PREMISE seems to be that only a bounder would have shown the Holy Couple the door, even if his last broom closet had been let. There is agreement that he should have found space somewhere so the Babe could have been born in a house instead of a stable.

THIS HAS always seemed to me to smack of the kind of intolerance Jesus deplored. The innkeeper was running his caravansary at a most difficult time. Caesar, just for kicks, or something, had issued a decree ordering everybody in the Roman Empire to register in the city of his birth. (Like all dictators, he enjoyed inconveniencing his subjects.) Bethlehem was a whistle stop, probably with the one hotel. It was bound to be crowded to the rafters at such a time.

SUDDENLY, then, this innkeeper was confronted in the middle of the night by a man and wife looking for a room. He didn't have a thing left; chances are he'd already vacated his own suite and sent his wife to bunk in with mamma. What else could he say but that he was sorry?

WHAT RIGHT have we to assume that his manner was cavalier? Most innkeepers by nature are courteous folk, except in Paris and Moscow, partly by instinct and partly because they know there will always be a tomorrow when the house will be empty and the cash register silent. Is it not possible that this labeled landlord did, indeed, treat Joseph and Mary kindly and with old-world courtesy, and that he even suggested a boarding house down the street?

I PREFER to believe, from personal experience ranging from Chevy Chase to Saigon, that this innkeeper did his best. I can picture him thumbing through the register and checking on possible cot space in the scullery. I like to think of him wishing someone had invented a foldaway bed, and pleading unsuccessfully with a bachelor to vacate his quarters to accommodate an expectant Mother.

But, says the Gospel, he turned away the Babe who was our Savior. He did indeed. But what troubles me is that the hotel chap didn't know it at the time. His critics have assumed a self-righteous attitude toward him because they are in possession of the facts. Unfortunately, the innkeeper was not awarded the privilege of the second guess so dear to mankind everywhere.

What Others Say

Billy Graham

Again and again I try to have faith but I can't seem to succeed. What can I do? P.W.

Stop trying, and trust! Too many of us live a life of conflict with ourselves, setting up inner stresses where none need exist. As Christ said to floundering Paul, "It is hard for thee to kick against the pricks." When Paul surrendered, stopped fighting, and trying, then the peace of Christ flooded his soul, and he became an instrument of usefulness.

A leading psychiatrist has said: "To get to the heart of one's problem, one must relax, surrender and stop trying." Centuries ago David said "Be still and know that I am God." Faith doesn't come in the confusion of frenzied self-effort and vain striving — it comes when we stop struggling, when we let go . . . and rely on God.

Faith comes naturally and easily when all the obstacles to it are removed. If guilt, remorse and a willful spirit have short-circuited your life, say with Paul: "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do," and He will take you by the hand and show you the bright pathway to a life of faith and believing.

Business Mirror Is Connally's Job To Persuade?

By LINDA RUBEY
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In a move that surprised Capitol Hill as well as most financial observers, President Nixon appointed Texas Democrat John F. Connally to replace Treasury Secretary Kennedy this week.

Some observers said the implications of the appointment are clearly political. By putting a moderately conservative Democrat in the key economic post, Nixon hopes to mute some of the Democratic criticism of a high unemployment rate and inflation, they reasoned.

They said Connally, who lacks the financial expertise of Kennedy, does have the bipartisan contacts and grasp of the legislative process to smoothly sell the administration's fiscal policies to Congress.

The former governor of Texas, they said, will have one basic task in his new position: get the economy moving rapidly upward again. To do so, they observed, he will have to convince Congress and the nation of the need for strongly stimulative fiscal policies.

No one could predict exactly what effect the switch would have on the administration's economic policies. But most observers said they felt Connally would exert a conservative influence.

Looking to economic projections, a recent survey by the University of Michigan reported that consumer confidence remains depressed although there is reason to believe an increase in spending for discretionary items will occur in 1971. Discretionary items are those not categorized as necessities.

The survey attributed consumer pessimism to continuing concern about the unemployment situation. The survey's index of consumer sentiment fell from 77.1 per cent in the third quarter to 72.4 per cent in the fourth quarter.

The National Small Business Association urged the need for some type of controls in a meeting with Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, and other administration officials.

The association, which says it represents 40,000 small businesses, said there is "a need for the immediate adoption of wage and price controls."

The very least that can be done is to adopt guidelines that "go beyond normal 'jawboning,'" it added. If this doesn't work the administration should then consider mandatory wage and price controls, it added.

Meantime, the gross national product, the rate at which the nation is producing goods and services, crossed the $1-trillion mark this week. Observers noted, however, that this figure reflects inflation as well as real economic growth.

The real gross national product is expressed in terms of the purchasing power of the dollar in 1958. This figure has remained relatively unchanged in the past 15 months. It reached $727.5 billion in the third quarter ended Sept. 30.

Other economic statistics showed that industrial output fell in November for the fourth month in a row, the Federal Reserve Board said.

The index dropped 7 per cent last month from October and 7.6 per cent from the peak reached in July, 1969. Analysts said the decline was significant because none of it was attributable to the automotive strike.

Other economic observers pointed out that the decline strengthens the possibility that the 1970 economic slump will be officially labeled a recession. It should also strengthen the position of those pushing for a strongly expansionary policy through the budget and the Federal Reserve monetary policy, they added.

The Commerce Department reported that business inventories rose a slim $60 million in October, the smallest increase since inventories showed a decline in May. Total business sales declined for the third consecutive month, the Commerce Department added.

DAMPER IS ON

- New secretary may have to convince Congress of policy.
- Small business want some wage and price controls.
- GNP over trillion dollars, but real GNP is static.
- Inventories up by slim margin over showing decline.
- Surveys indicate consumer confidence still sagging.

Around The Rim The Scented Christmas Pageant

The Christmas season gets to be sort of an itchy time for me, for more reasons than one.

There's that nice-itzy feeling because it's the time when people don their happier feelings, let their heart beat a little more warmly, and all in all, think nice things of one another.

There's that worried-itzy feeling that comes with perplexity over getting the right gift for the right person, and with concern as to how all the bills will be paid.

AND THEN, in my case, there's just a plain itzy feeling that emerges through the haze of memory about a Christmas when I was a punkin-head kid.

Many of you recall the era when much holiday observance centered around the little church, which itself was decorated with a big tree and laden with remembrances for all the kids in the Sunday School. And there just couldn't pass a season without the presentation of an appropriate pageant, in which most of the Sunday School urchins had a role.

NOW THIS is not necessarily a nice story, but the year which comes in point is the year when I just flat had the itch. This was a horrifying thing to happen in a family which observed the rules of cleanliness, a blow to the household pride, and even the cause of a sense of shame.

But there was nothing else to it: I had a case of the good old-fashioned itch.

THERE MUST be modern, quick and effective treatment for skin disorders today (they probably don't even call it itch any more), but this year when I was an itchy tad, the treatment seems to have been to smear me with some foul mess of paste compounded with a good deal of sulphur.

Among other things, sulphur gives off one hellacious odor.

Well, it was time for the Christmas pageant, and I was booked to be a king of some sort. I suppose one of the Three we hear about. This role called for a velvet robe and other heavy costuming to be worn over a kid's union suit.

THE NIGHT of the pageant came and with it the donning of the robe. And the program started in a little church house where the pot-bellied stove was roaring red hot to counter the outside winter air. The church got unduly warm, or at least it did to me. And the warmer I got, the more I itched, and the more the sulphur stank.

A LITTLE girl who appeared in the episode, Elizabeth Terrell, I think, tried to duck away from being too close to the young king, because the odors were wafting up just like they do from that character Pigpen in the comic strip Peanuts. Little Elizabeth may have become sick, while the young king was doing an awful lot of squirming, and trying his best to resist the temptation to scratch himself with the theatrical scepter.

I MAY HAVE been the stinkiest king that a Christmas pageant ever saw. I know I was the most uncomfortable one.

The itch finally got cured, and none too soon, but when I think of that Christmas pageant, I want to scratch and hold my nose at the same time. Even that hasn't obliterated the Christmas spirit, and I hope your holiday is plumb clean and sweet-smelling.

David Lawrence Revenue Sharing A Job For Connally

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's most pressing problem with all the states of the union today is revenue sharing, and there are many intricacies in it. Apparently he decided to appoint a former governor of a state, John B. Connally of Texas, to be secretary of the U.S. Treasury so as to help in directing one of the most delicate projects in government history.

The Republican governors have been meeting at Sun Valley, Idaho. Rogers C. B. Morton, Republican national committee chairman, who has just been nominated as Secretary of the Interior, told the governors:

"THERE IS ONE goal, one program which we must pass for the benefit of this country. That is revenue sharing. Every one of you knows that state and local governments are teetering on the brink of financial disaster."

Mr. Nixon has recommended legislation to the present Congress to provide $500 million in annual revenue sharing, and ultimately five billion a year. The fact is the federal government collects 65 per cent of all tax revenues, and the states feel that a larger share of it should be made available for their immediate needs.

IT IS A TICKLISH problem, and the President is believed to have appointed former Governor Connally largely to sell to Congress and to the Governors the Administration's economic plans with reference to revenue sharing. Mr. Connally would specialize in the subject. Since it has many political ramifications, the feeling here is that the President acted wisely in selecting a Democrat so that partisanship would not be involved in the handling of the whole question.

THERE IS LITTLE hope that the present Congress will act on the legislation concerning federal and state revenue sharing. Nor is there to be any final action on family assistance programs. Governor Ronald Reagan of California, for instance, fears that hasty Senate passage of these proposals could create more problems than would be solved. He says that the suggestions being made are highly technical and require close study, and that at the next session of Congress there could be a comprehensive plan adopted.

WITH NUMEROUS complex matters arising in the cities and states in the solution of which the federal government is being asked to cooperate, the President would certainly have at hand in Mr. Connally a man experienced in the problems of state government. It is clearly apparent that state and local units of government are often unable to raise the money necessary. One of the resolutions of the Republican governors conference says frankly that the "deterioration of services at the local level and particularly in urban areas is undermining confidence in representative government."

WHEN THE WHOLE subject of federal and state revenue sharing is surveyed, it becomes clear why the President would look around for a man with the confidence of the governors and also of the opposite political party. For revenue sharing will be the most challenging task of the Treasury Department and the Nixon administration in 1971 and 1972. Whatever plan is devised will have its impact on the voters, who may get the feeling that some of their tax money paid out to the federal government is at last coming back for use in their own home territories for the benefit of citizens locally.

Art Buchwald No Place To Go In The SST

WASHINGTON — President Nixon was asked at last week's press conference why he didn't release a top secret report on the SST that the White House had commissioned. The question was asked because it is believed that the report was unfavorable to the SST.

The President replied he had no objection to the substance of the report being made public. The problem was that when reports are made for the President, they're supposed to be held in confidence. That's what Mr. Nixon said.

MAX LINDBERGH, a friend of mine who is an aviation consultant, believes he knows what is in the report. "It has nothing to do with the environment," Max told me. "The report says the reason we shouldn't build the SST is that by the time it comes off the assembly line there won't be any places left for Americans to go." "I don't understand," I said.

"IF WE START on the SST now, it will be ready by 1979. Most scientists agree the SST is not a practical plane to fly over land because of its sonic boom. Its only value would be in flying over water, from one continent to another, in less than three hours. Therefore the success of the plane will be dependent on tourists, and there is some question as to how many tourists will be flying by 1979."

"I still don't understand." "Well, for one thing, South America by then will probably be off limits for American tourists unless they're willing to be kidnapped by Communist guerrillas.

"IN 1979, We'll be in a trade war with Japan because she dumped all her television sets in the United States. The Japanese will retaliate by refusing to let us dump our tourists in Tokyo.

"Chiang Kai-shek of Formosa will ban U.S. tourists because we wouldn't let him attack the mainland of Red China. And Red China will refuse tourist rights to the United States because we wouldn't let Chiang Kai-shek attack the mainland."

"What about Australia?" "Australia will turn down SST tourist flights because we put a high tariff on wool, and Hong Kong will do the same because we won't let any men's suits into the United States."

"There is always Europe," I said. "Hardly. The British will boycott the United States because we won't allow the Concorde, which they built with the French, to fly the United States. And the French won't allow tourists to land in France because that's the way the French are."

"What about West Germany?" "West Germany will be mad at us by then because we pulled 10,000 American troops out of NATO."

"I IMAGINE the Soviet Union will give us problems because they have built an SST of their own." "Not because of that, but because Life magazine will have published the memoirs of the deposed chief of state, Premier Alexei Kosygin."

"What are the chances of an American tourist business in the Middle East?" "Max shook his head sadly. "Don't ask."

Season Of Good Will Doesn't Extend To Holiday Criminals

CHRISTMAS CRIME CLIMBS
... Yule burglaries common

The Christmas season is a great time for "good will toward men," but is unfortunately also a good time for criminals to do their work, according to police.

The crimes vary, from shoplifting in a busy store to house burglaries in which the thief takes all the gifts conveniently placed under the tree. In large cities sophisticated con men and pickpockets are doing their work, counting on the hustle and rush of the Christmas buying spree to cover their tracks, police say.

Shoplifting is a year-round problem that gets worse during the holiday season, but evidence indicates that only a small percentage of the shoplifting is done by the professional or the addict financing his drug habit. Housewives and teenagers are getting into the act, and they use techniques as simple as stuffing things in their pockets, or trying on several articles of clothing and trying to walk out with them, according to store detectives.

The detectives who watch for shoplifting in Big Spring stores find that the shoplifter is often unaware of the penalties involved and that he is faced with a felony criminal record for something he considers a harmless prank.

In Dallas the shoplifting crisis has moved retail store owners to band together in their efforts to crack down and educate the public that any leniency shown to shoplifters is a thing of the past. The district attorney's officer there has announced plans to prosecute many shoplifters the store owners were afraid to alienate before. Increasingly, merchants in most cities are going to television and detective surveillance, especially during the holiday season.

Shoppers who do not want to become burglary or theft victims are reminded by Police Chief Jay Banks to be careful about leaving a purse on a store counter while shopping or leaving packages on the seat of a car in full view of passers-by.

"You can't leave a purse on a store counter forever and expect it to stay there," Banks said. "It is just too tempting for some people."

He added that locking purchases in the trunk of the car will help remove the temptation to spring a window vent.

If you store Christmas gifts in your garage, it is recommended that you lock the garage door securely, lock them in the house, or leave them at the store until just before Christmas instead of putting all the goodies under the tree.

FBI reports indicate a more venturesome generation of burglars, with daytime burglaries over the past 10 years increasing over twice as fast as night burglaries, but there is no reason for the homeowner to make the burglar's job easier.

Police warn against the con man who arrives in a truck and asks a neighbor to accept and pay for a package intended for a neighbor who is not home at the time. The neighbor, in trying to be helpful, plays into the hands of the con man and finds he has paid for a box of paper or cotton wadding. The best way to be sure a delivery is legitimate is to ask the delivery man to return when the neighbor is home.

Also more common during the holiday season is the phony solicitor, either asking for donations to a non-existent charity or pocketing for himself what he collects in the name of a legitimate organization. A check with the police can usually determine whether the request is phony or on the level

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Recently our 21-year-old daughter came to us and told us that she was "in love" with another girl with whom she had been living for the past year. She said her roommate felt herself to be a "man imprisoned in a woman's body," and was contemplating a "Christine Jorgensen" operation in reverse.

After the initial shock lessened, my husband and I persuaded our daughter to remove herself from what we considered to be a lesbian environment, return home and see a psychiatrist.

Amid much weeping, she came home for four days, and after two visits to a psychiatrist, she announced that she was through with the psychiatrist. (Her roommate refused to go to a psychiatrist, saying she knew what she was, and was happy with what she was. Our daughter agreed with her.)

Our daughter has resumed living with her friend and she now expects her family, for whom she professes great love, to accept this lesbian relationship. She's invited us to her apartment and wants us to invite them both for dinner. I cannot do this. We still love our daughter, with our own broken hearts, but the situation repels us.

Any advice you can give us will be greatly appreciated.

BAFFLED AND BROKEN HEARTED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If your daughter is happy with "what she is," then you who profess to love her, must accept her as she is or not at all. Freud wrote in his famous "Letter to an American Mother" (April 9, 1935), "Homosexuality is assuredly no advantage, but it is nothing to be ashamed of, no vice, no degradation, it cannot be classified as an illness; we consider it to be a variation of sexual functions produced by a certain arrest of sexual development."

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Jessica, just turned 18, and for her birthday she accepted a diamond from a young man she's been dating for about a year. (Bob is 22.) She really didn't want to become engaged, but Bob surprised her with the ring and she didn't want to hurt his feelings. (They never even went steady.) Now that he is pressing her for a wedding date, she is sure Bob is not for her and she has tried to give the ring back several times but he won't take it. She said he actually breaks down and cries when she tries to return the ring.

Jessica doesn't know what to do. We like the young man and even know his parents. We don't want to interfere, but something has to be done. Would it be all right if Jessica's father gave the diamond to Bob's father?

JESSICA'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: No. A girl who is old enough to accept a diamond from a young man is old enough to return it herself. And it's time Bob learned to face a few major disappointments in life without breaking into tears. It is plain that both Jessica and Bob are too immature for marriage, but only Jessica realized it.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Give her a bucket of water for Christmas.

Bank Bandit Eyes 'Birdie'

DALLAS (AP) — Photographs taken during the robbery provided officers a clue today to the bandit who took $4,700 from the Main Street National Bank.

Joanna Johnson, a teller, turned on the camera Wednesday while putting the money into a zippered case as ordered by a man wearing two plastic bandage strips on his face.

She told police the robber kept his left hand inside a coat pocket but displayed no weapon. He escaped on foot, crossing a street against a signal light and disappearing amid downtown traffic.

Officers said the man stood about 6 feet-2, weighed 165 to 170 pounds and was about 30 years old.

School Choice Affects College Dropout Rate

NEW YORK — Much of the flunking out and disaffection of college students is caused because the school was chosen for the wrong reason, according to Washington, D.C. College Placement Bureau Director Loren Pope.

Students usually choose a college on the basis of what they have heard about it from family and friends and the impression the college representative makes. Mr. Pope explains in the current issue of Pageant Magazine. "It's the effect of the brand name — and of the salesman — not very reliable criteria for most."

"College selection is the one major consumer area of our economy where there is no consumer research and evaluation," Mr. Pope continues in the article, "though picking a college should be more important than choosing a car or a kitchen appliance."

He advised parents to recognize the scholastic limitations of their children and encourage them to apply to colleges that have student bodies of the same general academic achievement. "It is not wise," Mr. Pope concludes in Pageant, "to push for a too-demanding college with the oft-made argument that this youth is a 'late bloomer.'"

Get tough about love.

The word "love" has been hurled at us so many times, sometimes we don't even hear it any more. The fact remains, Love is what the world needs now. And it needs a lot of it.
But not "Love" on a poster. Or on a button. It's good-hearted, hard-minded acts of love the world needs. Acts of concern. Acts of respect for other human beings. Acts of creatively changing the world around us for the better. Send for our free booklet, "How One Town Put Its Faith To Work."
It tells you how a group of ordinary people in an ordinary town turned things around. All because they wanted to live the commandment: "Love your neighbor."
It just might bring love back in style.

The candle has been lighted in the lamp beside the door. The greens are hung, and the children are in a state of wild anticipation. Soon we'll read the Christmas story and sing carols for the Christ Child.

HOW THE WEST WAS WON
... James Stewart stars

Winning Of West Topic Of Movie

"How the West Was Won," is as American as the Fourth of July and as symbolic of patriotism as the Stars and Stripes. It opens today at the Ritz.

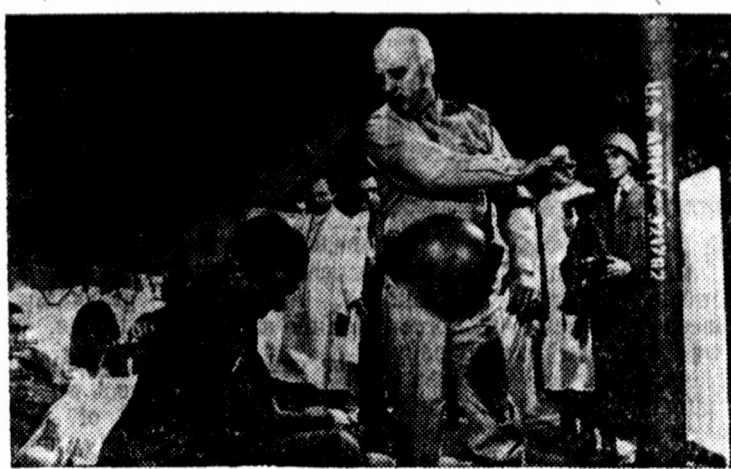

From the Erie Canal and Ohio River across the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Ocean, this massive motion picture was filmed with the greatest cast of stars ever assembled for leading roles. The plains and Black Hills of South Dakota and the rugged terrain of the Southwest add to the scope of a production that was nearly a year in filming. No other motion picture has so vividly captured the face of western America.

"How the West Was Won" is the story of America's expansion westward, starting from the period right after the Revolutionary War with the movement of settlers down the Erie Canal to the lush and fertile lands of the Ohio River Valley.

This was the land of Daniel Boone, the furtrappers and the buckskin clad explorers.

The Louisiana Purchase and the war with Mexico, however, expanded America still farther west, and by horse, mule and wagon-train pioneers moved across snow-capped mountains toward the Pacific. Some were lured by the gold strike in California, others by tales of the fertile soil of Oregon. Lewis and Clark had blazed the trail. Thousands were to follow.

St. Louis had become a big, busy city. Independence, Missouri, had become the jumping off point for wagon-trains heading west. In Illinois, legislators were becoming aware of a lanky, beardless young lawyer named Abraham Lincoln, who soon was to become famous for his debates with Stephen Douglas.

GEORGE SCOTT AS 'PATTON'
... world-famous slap

Film Details Career Of Gen. Patton

"Patton," which has been hailed by one critic as "a war movie for people who hate war movies," starring George C. Scott in the title role, will open Thursday at the Jet Theatre.

Though its backgrounds and action are the battlefields of World War II, "Patton" is more a study of character, of a man who was a rebel against the Establishment. "This man possessed individuality," says Scott who makes him so vividly alive on the screen, a man who "hated mass thought, despised the common view."

"Patton" is also the story of opposites, of brilliant but erratic Patton and steady, thoughtful, professional Omar N. Bradley, played by Karl Malden.

'CATCH-22' OPENS FRIDAY Director Leads 'New Breed'

ALAN ARKIN

"I'd rather be an apprentice to great men than the best of a mediocre bunch," says director Mike Nichols and his quest for excellence has been instrumental in establishing him as a leader of "the new breed" of film-makers.

The new breed is noted for films which are marked more by attitudes than by a tangible style and often these attitudes permeate their private lives as well. But Nichols, unlike some of the others, is more inclined to talk about himself than about his work.

Nichols has been ranked in the vanguard of international directors after only three films.

He made his debut with "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" followed with "The Graduate" and now is represented with the long awaited "Catch-22."

Starring Alan Arkin, "Catch-22" opens Friday at the R/70 Theatre.

Those who have worked with Nichols and friends of his have felt the Nichols "magic" and seem compelled to talk about it. Orson Welles, himself no stranger to the demands of creative filmmaking, stars in "Catch-22" as General Dreedle. He complies, "Nobility's in his league with actors. And he has absolutely no facade. I'm just thrilled about being in something of this quality."

Another view is offered by Richard Benjamin, who plays Major Danby in "Catch-22": "You never get hung up if Mike's directing you. If you are doing a scene that you are not comfortable with, he senses it and facilitates it before it can get to be a problem for you."

Benjamin's wife, Paula Prentiss, also stars in the film. She sees Nichols as "a great barometer during a scene. I'm so overjoyed when he laughs." Nichols takes a philosophical view of his approach to filmmaking.

Risk-Taking Producer Gives Tarzan New Life

Executive Producer Sydney Weintraub believes that shattering legends pays off at the box office. He has proved it by giving new life to the most venerable of movie heroes. "Tarzan and the Jungle Boy," opening today at the R/70 Theatre, should bring Tarzan millions of new fans.

Since Weintraub bought the motion picture and television rights to Tarzan in 1958, Weintraub has also enhanced the popularity of the series by shooting in far-off natural locations instead of Hollywood sets. "Tarzan and the Jungle Boy" was filmed in Brazil.

When he moved into films in 1958 by purchasing all of Sol Lesser's movie and TV interests, Weintraub left behind him a successful career in television.

In 1952, Flamingo Films merged with Associated Artists and Weintraub became vice president of the new company, called Motion Pictures for Television, Inc. It became the largest company in its field.

Fred MacMurray Is Truly Successful Star

What is continually surprising Hollywood about Fred MacMurray is his artistic versatility.

This tall Midwesterner plays the classical violin well enough to have been a concert violinist, toots the saxophone like the professional musician he once was, is adept with the artist's pencil and brush, has a successful operating cattle ranch, is a gourmet, and as an actor can play anything from Western hero to villainous intellectual — or bring down the house in broad comedy.

It is in the light of the latter that MacMurray prefers to be remembered since he considers comedy his real forte. The great success of three of his Walt Disney films, "The Shaggy Dog," "The Absent-Minded Professor" and "Bon Voyage," are proof enough that the movinggoing public is in complete agreement.

In "Son of Flubber," an hilarious sequel to the box office champion, "The Absent-Minded Professor," in which Fred recreates the whimsical Professor Brainard whose fantastic discoveries and misadventures are guaranteed to delight audiences. He is also enjoying a highly successful career in the perennial "My Three Sons" TV series.

Fred loves the outdoors, is a camper enthusiast, likes to cook, fresh-water fish and is a do-it-yourself buff. "Son of Flubber" starting Friday at the Ritz, also stars Nancy Olson, Keenan Wynn and Tommy Kirk.

Cinema Film Is Comedy

Take a well-developed and highly polished screenplay spiced with outrageously hilarious dialogue, situations and characters; add a director who knows how to set up a joke and just when to cut away from it; stir in some of the brightest talent available from the New York stage, films, television and nightclubs and you have the recipe for "Lovers and Other Strangers."

The film starts Wednesday at the Cinema.

The script centers around a young couple, who are about to get married after living together for 18 months, and their prospective families. The episodic script is actually about a half-dozen running jokes, alternately zeroing in on various members of the two families before, during and immediately after the wedding.

The 13 principals involved come from all fields of entertainment and many of them are not especially known to film audiences. Not yet anyway. One of the outstanding things about the cast is that none of them is a "star," but each plays beautifully with the others.

The cast includes Bea Arthur, Bonnie Bedalia, Michael Brandon, Richard Castellano, Bob Dishy, Harry Guardino, Marian Hailey, Joseph Hindy, Anne Jackson, Diane Keaton, Cloris Leachman, Anne Mearns and Gig Young.

The film is a comedy about an American pilot who is captured by the Germans after he shoots down the Red Baron, and who is forced to fly for a South American revolutionary general. The film is an American International Pictures release.
