HUNDREDS STRANDED IN MOTELS, TRUCK STOPS, NEIGHBORLY RANCH HOUSES Wicked Winter Weather Puts Hex On Texans

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

A crippling weekend snowstorm left parts of the Texas Panhandle under drifts estimated as high as two feet, and some travelers were still halted Monday morning. Temperatures dropped to 4 degrees above zero and were expected to fall further.

Meanwhile, a heavy snow-storm struck Far West Texas in the mountains east of El Paso and the Weather Service issued travelers' warnings there. Snow depths in parts of the Panhandle were about four inches, but strong winds piled up the fall into drifts which blocked some highways.

Interstate 40 west of Amarillo, U.S. 287 north of Amarillo and U.S. 54 from Dalhart to Stratford were among highways suffering from drifts.

SNOW WARNINGS Reports of persons stranded beside highways came to officers, but searches failed to reveal any.

A Dumas cafe owner said his place was "wall to wall with people" stranded in the storm Sunday night.

Motels in Stratford and Dumas said they were filled with travelers and police in the northern part of the Panhandle appealed to residents to open their homes to stranded motorists.

Temperatures drcpped to 4 above zero Monday at Amarillo and Dalhart. Some other representative temperatures in the coldest areas included Alpine 15, Childress, El Paso 16, Lubbock 9, Marfa 13, Midland 18, Wichita Falls 19 and Wink 17.

Brownsville reported 52 degrees as its low for the night. The Weather Service office at El Paso issued a special statement Monday, saying ' heavy snow warnings were in effect for the mountains east of El Paso and for all of extreme Southwestern Texas through Monday night. SNOW DEPTHS

Snow depths of four inches were reported over the Guadalupe, Sierra Diablo and Hueco mountain ranges and adjacent eastern slopes. An inch to two inches were common over the remainder of Southwest Texas except in the Big Bend area.

Guadalupe Pass was icy and snow-packed. Trans-Mountain Road across the Franklin Mountains in the El Paso area was closed. Roads are considered hazardous over El Paso, Hudspeth, Culberson and Jeff Davis counties because of snow and ice, the Weather Service reported.

Weathermen said skies would begin clearing today but the state would remain in an icy grip. Tonight's lows were expected to be around 12 to 23 degrees in North Central Texas and zero to 18 degrees in Northwest Texas.

In South Central Texas, the Weather Bureau said temperatures would fall between 20 degrees to the low 30s.

DROP TO ZERO West of the Pecos, it was expected to drop to zero in the mountains but somewhat warmer elsewhere in the area.

Snow drifts and ice closed Interstate 40 west of Amarillo, U.S. 287-87 north of Amarillo and U.S. 54 from Dalhart to Stratford. The state police reno weather-related wrecks.

The Department of Public Safety said early coday there were numerous reports of missing persons in the snow-clogged Panhandle but that all were believed to be waiting out the storm in safe shelter and had merely failed to notify friends and families.

"There haven't been any searches launched for persons out in the weather-nothing like that," said a DPS spokesman at Austin.

SCHOOLS CLOSED Dumas schools were to be closed today.

One bus bound for Denver with 27 persons laid over at Dumas to wait out the storm. A storm of fine powder snow began falling Saturday night in the upper Texas Panhandle. By noon Sunday, four inches of the snowflakes were on the ground, swirling in blinding clouds ahead of a 40-mile-an-hour wind which piled the snow up in large drifts.

COLD

Cloudy and very cold to-day, slightly warmer Tuesday. High today 29; low tonight 5; high Tues-day 34.

The snow turned to heavy flakes by mid-afternoon and by nightfall was coming down in flurries.

The snowstorm whipped east across the South Plains toward Lubbock and into the mountainous area south of El Paso.

11th HOUR PACT Texas City Refiners Avert Strike

By The Associated Press

Successful talks averted a strike Sunday at American Oil Co. refinery at Texas City, and negotiations continued until late in the morning between the oil workers union and the British Petroleum Co. at Port Arthur.

The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union threatened a 4 p.m. walkout at the American Oil refinery but agreement was reached. Continuing negotiations prevented a midnight walkout at British Petroleum.

A brief flurry of rock-throwing accompanied picketing at the Texaco plant which was struck at midnight Thursday.

Since last October, the B52s bombers attacked North Viet- have been used almost entirely against the Ho Chi Minh trail, trying to cut the movement of supplies and reinforcements before they reach South Vietnam. During the past three months. the big bombers have flown nearly 3,000 sorties against targets in Laos, compared to about 100 in South Vietnam. A sortie is one flight by one B52, each carrying 30 tons of bombs.

The North Vietnamese usually move the bulk of their supplies south between October and today between the OCAW and the British Petro leum Co. The continued talks, after a strike had been planned for midnight, indicated some progress was being made in the negotiations.

Union representatives and American Oil Co. officials reached agreement early Sunday in their contract talks.

Details of the American Oil agreement were not disclosed but it was learned the settlement is in line with a pact made earlier with Gulf Oil Corp.

At Beaumont Sunday, Judge Jack Brookshire issued a restraining order against violence after a flurry of stone-throwing at the struck Texaco plant.

Holiday Traffic Deaths Top 450

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents killed 454 persons during the three-day New Year's holiday weekend during which heavy snow made roads hazardous over much of the nation.

The National Safety Council had estimated that between 400 and 500 motorists would die during the period from 6 p.m. local time Thursday to midnight Sunday.

The number was far below the record high of 564 in 1965 for the three-day celebration which brings in the new year. The record low since World War II for the period is 269, set in 1949.

The New Year's holiday is normally freer from accidents than other holidays. In the past year 612 persons died during the Labor Day weekend, 540 during July 4th and 509 during Christmas. All were three-day celebrations.

Albuquerque's Second Tremor

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) - Residents were jolted in their beds at 12:41 a.m. today by Albuquerque's second earth tremor in 37 days.

There weren't any immediate reports of major damage, but telephone calls from frightened people poured into police, newspaper and radio station offices.

Jon Peterson, chief of the Albuquerque Seismological Center, said this morning that his office still hadn't been able to determine exactly how the tremor rated on the Richter scale. He said heavy snow hampered early efforts to check recording equipment.

Many persons - especially in the downtown area - said they believed the shock was more violent than the Nov. 28 tremor, which rated 3.9 on the Richter scale.

Teachers Out In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) - The Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers struck city schools today, sending sign - carrying pickets onto the rainy streets before dawn as contract negotiations continued.

Full impact of the strike could not be measured immediately because pupils were not to report until afternoon under a half-day schedule announced previously by school officials.

"We're still going with plans for today," a school spokesman said.

Talks between union leaders and the school board continued through the night and were to resume after a morning recess.

asked that the Attorney General be consulted. This motion was also defeated. County Attorney Bill Eyssen was called in to confer with the court.

"It is within the prerogatives of this court to hire an assistant attorney," said Eyssen. On the need for such assistance, Eyssen added, "We have a rather heavy case load. We have 600 to 700 original county court cases on the docket and at least 100 appeal cases. With an assistant, I hope that we could get the load down to a marginal number."

"We will work out the money later. If we can't get the money, we will rescind the votes," said Judge Mitchell. The position was created and Mitchell said there was no definite candidate.

Brazel questioned the lack of discussion on each of the items acted upon, following the hiring of a secretary of the county

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon is flying to California Tuesday to spend eight or ten days at the Western White House at San Clemente.

Aides said he will be working on business left over by Congress and on messages and programs for the year ahead.

The big items are completion of the new budget for the 1972 fiscal year, and the drafting of the annual message on the State of the Union that encompasses administration legislative plans and programs for the year ahead.

The annual economic message is the third major item that will be getting a going over from Among the items the new

It looks as though you are circum-venting this whole procedure that you have set up, and I was wondering by what authority this was being done," said Brazel. "You may have a point there and we will look into that," said Judge Mitchell.

Carter was present in court this morning and was questioned on his experience by Crooker. Carter said that he had worked with bulldozers, caterpillars and other heavy equipment for about four years, and that he had done purchasing of engines and equipment for the McMahon Co. When asked what experience he had in fighting fires, Carter replied, "Very little."

91st CONGRESS ACCOMPLISHMENTS OVERSHADOWED BY FRUSTRATIONS Some Major Bills Lost In Adjournment Shuffle

WASHINGTON (AP) - The 91st Congress, its early accomplishments largely overshadowed by frustrations of the post-election session, has passed into history, only 19 days before a new House and Senate take over.

LONG TALK Procrastination in the earlier months and refusal to gear its horse-and-buggy machinery to the space age created a session-end impasse which long hours and long talk could not overcome.

Adjournment came Saturday afternoon after the Senate agreed to a House-passed resolution shifting the debate over the supersonic transport plane to the 92nd Congress. The compromise allows funding of the 1,800-mile-an-hour plane and continues Transportation Department spending through March 30.

Some major bills lost in the adjournment shuffle were victims of such Senate filibusters as those over the SST and restrictions on the president's use of troops in Southeast Asia. One talkathon lasted almost two months Adding to the crush allowed to pile up for the lame-duck session were long weekends and lengthy holiday recesses earlier in the year and a one-month summer vacation.

The traditional four-day congressional week just didn't work. Although official records for the two-year session show an elapsed time of about 700 days, the Senate worked only 207 days and the House 164.

MORE MONEY

During that period, the annual salary of congressmen rose from $30,000 to $42,500.

Swept under the rug in the hasty adjournment cleanup were such major proposals as welfare reform, a far-reaching foreign trade bill, increases in Social Security benefits and payments, and proposed constitutional amendments dealing with women's rights and electoral college reform. All of them except the Social Security bill had passed the House, only to die in the Senate. The Social Security bill died in conference.

The 92nd Congress convening tive Jan. 2. Jan. 21 with more than 50 new faces may revive some or all of them. But they must run the entire legislative gauntlet because all legislation not passed died with the 91st.

The frustration of many House members over Senate inactivity was put into heated words in an unprecedented blast by House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan. "The House of Representatives has done its job," Ford told his colleagues in a closinghours speech which disregarded the rules of comity. "But there is another part of this legislative branch that, in my opinion, has not done its job and I, for one, am fed up with the procrastination, the indecision, the inability to get the job done on the other side of the Capitol I just hope and trust that the American people. know where the fault lies." Actually, the 91st Congress enacted many landmark laws and, with Democrats in control, defied the Republican President on several fronts. Its pluses included enactment of laws to: -Ban cigarette advertising from radio and television, effec-

DRUG ABUSES -Curb drug abuses, including authority for narcotics agents to search private homes' without knocking on the door. -Eventually eliminate airpolluting emissions from automobiles and to penalize industries and shippers who foul the oceans and rivers with industrial discharges.

-Curb organized crime and help local law enforcement officials fight crime on the streets. -Extend for three years established farm programs and limit, for the first time, subsidy payments to $55,000 per crop to producers of wheat, cotton and feed grains.

-Extend for five years a civil rights law designed to protect voting rights of Negroes and, for the first time, lower to 18 years the age of eligibility to vote in elections for federal office.

-Extend for three years the federal food stamp program which provides for national eligibility standards and free stamps to families earning under $300 a month. It imposes work requirements as a condition for receiving the coupons. -Spell out federal health and safety standards for protection of 80 million American workers. -Bloc nationwide rail

-Appropriate about $138.2 billion of the $140.1 billion in new funds requested by President Nixon for government agencies for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

MASS TRANSIT

-Authorize appropriations up to $3.1 billion to help bus, subway and commuter mass transit systems make capital improvements. -Extend and expand major education programs for three years with a ceiling cost of $24.6 billion subject to actual appropriations.

-Create an independent federal agency operated by a ninemember board of governors to run the Post Office Department and fix postal rates.

-Extend unemployment compensation coverage to 4.7 million more workers and provide additional benefits.

-Establish a 10-year program to help finance airport and airways improvements, with an increase of 60 per cent in air passenger taxes.

-Revise and overhaul the federal tax structure, including tax cuts for most individuals and a 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefits that went into effect Jan. 1, 1970. This was a 1969 act not connected with the 1970 Social Security bill that died with adjournment TAX OVERHAUL

-Make family-planning services available to anyone requesting them.

-Make free or low-priced school lunches available to 8 million people from poverty-level families and increase the number of children eligible for the lunches. Numerous other laws provided for new and extended programs for community health centers, mental health care, training aid for medical students, consumer protection curbs on issuance of credit cards, pay raises for government civilian and military personnel, and increases in benefits for disabled veterans and in educational help for ex-servicemen.

SHARED REVENUES Major proposals that didn't become law would have: -Shared government revenues with states and cities.

-Imposed import quotas on textiles and shoes, with presidential authority to modify trade rules. It passed the House

-Provided for direct election of the president through consti-tutional amendment. A Senate filibuster killed it after House passage.

-Guaranteed equal rights to women, also through a constitutional amendment. It, too, was killed by a Senate talkathon. -Increased the cost of first-class postage. —Revised higher education programs and shifted emphasis on student loans from federal funds to private financing with government guarantees.

VETO POWERS -Created a federal consumer protection agency. The House Rules Committee killed it after Senate passage.

-Set up a $1.5-billion school desegregation fund to help school districts cope with integration difficulties. It passed the House only. -Taxed leaded gasoline and imposed additional highway user taxes. President Nixon used his veto powers freely.

SAYS IT IS DANGEROUS TO DELAY DECISION ON B-1 BOMBER Rep. Hebert Hints SALT Talks Not Worth Their Salt

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. F. Edward Hebert, in line to become House Armed Services chairman, says it is dangerous to put off even a year the decision on whether to go ahead with undersea missile launchers or the B-1 bomber.

The Louisiana Democrat also indicated little faith in the U.S.-Soviet arms limitation talkscomparing them with the post-World War I 5-5-3 naval disarmament pact-and even less faith in Russian sincerity.

"They'd surprise me at noth-ing," Hebert, who is expected to succeed the late Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., when the 92nd Congress convenes, said in an interview with The Associated Press.

Some of the questions and an-

A Devotion For Today . . .

Beginning Of Wisdom

Twenty-nine years this month after the beginning of the event, it may be an unfair question, but there it is: Who won World War II?

The easiest answer is: Russia and the Western Allies, of course. A truer answer is: Nobody . . . except . . .

While we ease along on an annual tortoise growth rate of 5 to 6 per cent, Japan emulates the hare by stepping along at a rate of from 16 to 20 per cent. West Germany's rate may be at least double our rate.

West Germany and Japan, the most conspicuous examples of turning military defeat into industrial victory, have opted out of the arms race. France and Britain have retired from commonwealth and colonial empire. We are left to bear the "white man's burden."

We took up the burden willingly enough, though. Marshall Plan aid and military aid went hand in hand. We gave of our treasure and our men with a prodigality unmatched in history. Now we are beginning to have second thoughts.

Have we learned anything? Hopefully, yes. We have learned that we cannot be either omnipotent or omniscient. We have learned that the special system we have developed in this country cannot be grafted on the body politic of Asia, Africa, Europe, Russia, or even Central and South America. This is the beginning of wisdom.

If we are true to our traditions, we will not withdraw to fortress America. We will, instead, return to our ideals which made us for so long a beacon to the oppressed and the downtrodden everywhere. By our example, rather than by the proliferation of material possessions and military might, we can persuade the uncommitted that there is a happy alternative to totalitarianism. We can then become a brother rather than an officious, meddling mother-in-law.

Opportunity And A Problem

The Cosden Country Club is now the property of the City of Big Spring, thanks to the generosity of the Dora Roberts Foundation. At long last, the city holds title to the property which also contains the historic spring site for which the city was named.

This is a tremendous asset, but it also is a problem of equal dimensions. Not the least of these is money, for if the club had difficulty making its way as a private facility (magnanimously made available to the public), it is bound to find the demands even greater without the financial support of a membership.

Yet it is a great community asset. Its picturesque setting is one of the most beautiful in West Texas, and for a facility of this sort it has the added advantage of proximity to the community. In addition, the club is spacious, well appointed, can accommodate a variety of meetings, including fairly large banquets. There also are other recreational facilities in the package.

Lacking budgetary support at this stage (and facing prospects of a tight budget situation even a year from now), the club obviously will have to function on a limited basis for the time being. This time is being utilized wisely by the Chamber of Commerce, which is having a planning consultant assess the property and its potentials and to suggest means of best utilization. Somewhere in all this there will have to be an assessment of the most crucial matter of all - how to keep this wonderful community center from financial undernourishment.

Around The Rim

The Lethal Automobile

A British writer, one Peter Laurie, takes a dim view of the automobile. Something that evolved from a good idea has now become a lethal tyrant, he insists. There are, he quotes from the record, 1,130,000 fatalities and 1,700,000 serious casualties caused directly or indirectly by use of the automobile each year.

SUCH DEVASTATION approaches the scale of a medium-sized war and it is ceaseless. In Britain alone, Laurie notes, the car is now killing four times as many people as the German Luftwaffe did during World War II.

Eunning into a lamp post or a wall at 60 miles per hour can be compared to dropping onto pavement from a height of 120 feet. Think then, perhaps as you slip behind the wheel, how it would be to be balanced on the parapet of a 12-story building, seeking to maintain your balance with a strong breeze trying to hurl you out into space.

LAURIE CONTENDS the automobile is badly designed for the job it is supposed to do, that it is too expensive, too difficult to operate and geared to run too fast. Controlling it poses problems of both perception and calculation that are barely on the edge of the brain's abilities. In addition, is uses too much space.

Industry, of course, is giving the people what they want. If we sought a vehicle that was quicker than walking, yet inexpensive to operate, safe and didn't pollute the atmosphere, it could be made on short order.

IT WOULDN'T go over 30 miles an hour but then how often do you exceed that speed in town? Such a machine just wouldn't sell, because it would offer no elegance and no snob appeal. Cars that are sold to Americans, laments Laurie, are extensions of the aggressive and erotic fantasies of the people who buy them.

Laurie refers to the streets that run in front of our homes as "rivers of death."

"JUST IMAGINE," he says, "That instead of the highway, we had a high tension wire along the outside edge of every pavement, charged with enough electricity so that the least contact would kill. Would we care-lessly let our children run to the shop on the corner for a package of sweets, saying, 'Step carefully over the wire, dear? dear? . .

of Congress who are seeking to ban the sending of American combat troops and advisers into Cambodia. and who are insisting on a provision to that effect in the defense appropriations bill, have been told by some of the ardent advocates of such a restriction that they have restored "the Senate's role under the Constitution

BUT ACTUALLY, if any President, as commander in chief of the armed services, feels it necessary to move troops into a country from which American forces in a nearby area are being attacked, he will do so no matter what the Congress has written somewhere in an appropriations bill.

"This is the first time in the history of the United States," said Senator Frank Church, Democrat of Idaho, "that Congress has undertaken to write a limitation on U.S. involvement in an ongoing war. It is the largest step yet taken in the restoration of

I read where they only had 125 murders in Britain in 1969. Why is it that this country, which has in its pledge, "under God," has the highest crime rate in the world: Have you any explanation for this? Y.G.

This is one of the paradoxes of America. We had nearly 10,000 murders last year, and in the last five years more U.S. people have been murdered at home than have been killed in Vietnam. One commission investigating crime declares that we have become "a bloody-minded" people. Some place the blame upon the violence on TV, but I believe that it goes deeper than that.

One reason is: we talk about God, and say the words, "under God", in the pledge of allegiance, but too few of us really experience a working relationship with God. We seldom if ever pray. Many are rejecting the church. We have lapsed into a permissivism, and have thrown the Ten Commandments out the window. The favorite indoor sport of some of our top theologians is to discredit the Bible, and cast doubts about its inspiration.

Our lack of a real, valid faith is reflected in the lives of our young people, their rebellion, their contempt for their elders, and their restlessness and emptiness.

Historically, when a nation rejects its ideals, and loses its moral guidelines, and reverence of the Infinite, crime and violence are the natural result. Our affluency is like a sleek, luxurious limousine plunging downhill because someone tampered with the brakes. "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

Editorials And Opinions

WASHINGTON - Those members the Senate's role, under the Constitution, to influence American commitments and involvements abroad."

> BUT THERE is nothing in the Constitution that prevents a President of the United States from operating the Army and the Navy and the Air Force in a manner that will protect these services from attacks by an enemy based in neighboring lands. Congress may "make rules for the government and regulation" of the armed forces, and it may express its opinion concerning committments abroad. But it cannot interfere with the commander in chief in carrying out whatever military operations are needed in the middle of a war.

> AT PRESENT, Congress is on record in what is known as the "Gulf of Tonkin resolution" as authorizing the President to "take all necessary steps, including the use of armed force," to assist countries to which the United States has a formal commitment under the Southeast Asia Treaty.

Congress may voice its feeling that it would prefer not to have any American troops go into Cambodia, Laos or Thailand, and the President may well agree that he will try not to take such action. If an emergency develops, however, the President will have to think first of the safety of the American troops who are still in South Vietnam and the military situation as a whole rather than the technicalities of a constitutional question such as have been raised by the attempt of Congress to impose restrictions.

IN ANY WAR operation, plans must be kept secret until they are consummated. This was the case with the Cambodian expedition last spring, and it probably will be the same if another has to be undertaken. The argument as to whether the Senate should have been consulted can take place afterwards and will produce the usual academic debate.

If the opinions being expressed today in the Senate are taken literally, it would mean that no President could send American troops anywhere during a war without telling the Senate beforehand. Such information could reach the enemy, thus defeating the purpose altogether.

THE NEW BILL may, as claimed, represent the first time in history that Congress has tried to write a limitation of U.S. involvement while a war is going on. But this doens't mean that Presidents of the United States will pay any attention to it if an emergency warrants a different course of action. Military planning simply cannot be conducted in the open or operations be made subject to the consent of congressional committees.

THE GROWTH of the airline industry has been without parallel in industrial history. Profits, of course, spiraled. Only three years ago air carriers rang up almost one-half billion dollars in profits despite inflation and certain government controls which limit them. Now, the whole industry has sprung a leak and it is a little hard to find. The last 12month period shows an operating loss of all airlines to be about $90 million. Some 7,000 employes have been laid

There appears some mystery as to business competitive operation

SINCE THEY must maintain the latest equipment, and absorb operating expenses which rose 141/2 per cent during the last year, many are trapped in the inflation escalator. The skyrocketing cost of aircraft and the need to stay ahead has the "airlines boxed in. At the present, domestic airlines are committed to the purchase of about $20 billion worth of aircraft.

It is clear that some major changes are needed. It becomes a matter of some major rethinking by the carriers themselves, by the government agencies which regulate them and by the public. West Texas is in need of better air service but may be the victim of the overly expensive big lines which drain off the wherewithal necessary to furnish better service.

Andrew Tully Nixon May Cut Back Overseas Bases

WASHINGTON - Faced with the dilemma of expansionary policies by both the Soviet Union and Communist China in the nuclear base business. President Nixon may decide this new year to cut back on some U.S. military bases abroad.

Increasing pressure from Congress is responsible only in part for Nixon's present inclination to reduce the American defense presence in foreign countries. He has been pondering the move ever since he took office, and has broached the matter privately to Soviet officials on several occasions.

HIS HAND now may be hastened by what a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee report has called the probability Russia and Red China will try "to break out of the nuclear ring that has been thrown around them' by the United States. Urgency is added by uncontrovertible evidence obtained by the Central Intelligence Agency of the presence of completed or under-construction Soviet atomic submarine bases in Havana and Cien-, fuegos. Cuba - first reported in this space Dec. 15 and a week later made the subject of a comprehensive report by Time magazine.

NIXON IS said to reject t h e necessity of maintaining the present number of foreign military bases indefinitely. He regards some of these bases as "duplicative," and others as having outlived their usefulness.

What the President would like to do is reach an accommodation with the Soviet Union for a bilateral cutback in policies - such as the maintenance of overseas bases. But - as also reported here previously - he has appeared of late to be willing to reduce U.S. strength abroad as a gesture he hopes would lead to a similar withdrawal by Moscow.

FACING A BUDGET squeeze with a whopping deficit in prospect, the President also must be concerned with the possible savings involved. As prepared by his national security advisers, with some dissent from the Pentagon, a report on Nixon's desk. concludes that the U.S. could save heat off Congressional moves to force a reappraisal of our international commitments. The Foreign Relations subcommittee, headed by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo. - never a dove - is highly critical of what it calls "creeping commitments" to such countries as Thailand, Laos, Ethiopia, Spain and the Philippines "without the knowledge or consent of Congress.'

NIXON WOULD like to beat Congress to the punch on this one, and indeed he could accurately claim that he was studying such a move long before the subcommittee had its say. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Coal Converted

CHICAGO (AP) - Coal, a heavy contributor to air pollution, is to be converted into clean-burning synthetic gas, equivalent in quality to natural gas.

The Institute of Gas Technology, an affiliate of the Illinois Institute of Technology, has devised a system it calls HYGAS in which hydrogen plays a major role in the chemical conversion process.

Present plans call for the IGT's pilot plant to be in full operation by the early spring of 1971. A commercial unit is expected to be in operation by 1977.

The project is cosponsored by the U.S. Department of the Interior's Office of Coal Research and the American Gas Association at a cost of some $7 million

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys readily admits he thought his team's chances of reaching the big moncy of the National Football League Super Bowl were a flat zero just six short weeks ago.

Yet these same big Cowboys now prepare to battle Balti-more's Colts in the premier football show at Miami on Jan. 17.

"Baltimore's offense will provide much the same challenge as did the 49ers," reasoned Landry after his team of desire beat San Francisco 17-10 on Sunday in chilly Kezar Stadium to capture the championship of the National Football Conference. Going back less than two months, Dallas had just lost to St. Louis 38-0 and early in the season had fallen to Minnesota by an astounding 54-13. NO REPEAT

And there was that history of the Cowboys losing big games -title battles to Green Bay in 1966 and 1967 and failing to get past the first playoff rounds the next two years.

History didn't repeat when they battled the 49ers. With a tremendous running game powered by rookie Duane Thomas and gutsy Walt Garrison, Dallas beat the favored 49ers.

That knocked off the second West Coast hopeful for the Super Bowl. Only hours earlier in Baltimore the Colts whipped Oakland 27-17 in the American Conference finale.
