'Brass' Rules Hutto Innocent At My Lai

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — Sgt. Charles Hutto, who drove a truck and chopped cotton before joining the Army, has been acquitted of assault with intent to murder My Lai villagers during an infantry operation in 1968.

The verdict was returned Thursday by a jury of six officers who deliberated a little more than two hours.

Hutto was the second soldier to be tried and acquitted on charges arising from the attack on My Lai. Sgt. David Mitchell of Ft. Francisville, La., was found innocent Nov. 29 at Ft. Hood, Tex., of assault with intent to kill.

ATTENTION!
Hutto, 22, of Tallulah, La., an eighth grade dropout, stood at attention in the cramped, paneled courtroom at 3rd Army headquarters as Col. Donald Laffoon, president of the court-martial, announced the verdict.

All of the jurors were Vietnam veterans.

Glancing at a piece of paper in his hands and then staring straight at Hutto, Laffoon, a bespectacled, mustached officer from Highland, Ind., said:

"Not guilty, your honor."
Hutto, deadpanned but blinking, took a deep breath and exhaled. The soldier, whose wife, Brenda, was weeping among the spectators, then turned and embraced his lawyers.

FAITH, BABY
The soldier joined his pretty, blonde wife and the two walked out of the old, red-brick building into a misting rain.

Still blin'ing back tears, Mrs. Hutto told newsmen that she had done "a lot of praying" and "figured it would be all right."

"I have faith in the Army," she said.

Hutto, smiling and holding his wife's arm, declined to comment when asked whether testimony at his trial had produced an accurate picture of what happened at the Vietnamese village.

IN THE PAST
"I'm not going to answer any question about My Lai," he said. "That's all I've got to say about it."

"That's all behind me now. That's in the past."

Mamie Cuts The Ribbon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon urged Republicans today to make the GOP "the party of the open door," so that it will grow among all people, of all faiths and races.

Nixon spoke at the dedication of the Dwight D. Eisenhower National Republican Center, a new party headquarters housing the national committee and other GOP offices.

'Harry' Story About Harvey

DALLAS (AP) — For 28 years, Harry thought his name was Harvey. But this week he learned the truth.

"Boy, was I ever shocked," said Harvey — or Harry — Labban. He and Mrs. Labban were digging through old papers when they discovered the error on his handwritten birth certificate.

Harry called his mother. "She said the nurse who filled in the birth certificate must have made a mistake," he said. "She intended to name me Harvey."

A quick call to his lawyer showed he has no legal complications.

Just to make sure, however, Labban will go to court and change his birth registration from Harry to Harvey.

Then, fortunately, he will not have to change the name of his son, Harvey Labban Jr.

Two Off-Duty Cops Shot Down

DETROIT (AP) — Two off-duty policemen were shot to death Thursday night on Detroit's Southwest Side in an exchange of gunfire during a street argument.

Homicide detectives were trying to determine what led to the shooting.

Killed were Patrolmen Danny Lee Watson, 29, and his partner, William Wortmann, 28. Both suffered numerous gunshot wounds. Watson had been on the force since July, 1967, and Wortmann joined it in July, 1968.

IT'S ALL RIGHT... DON'T CRASH PLANE

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A distraught pilot who said he was going to crash his light plane into the sea was talked into landing it safely by a woman psychologist today.

After a tense, 30-minute conversation, the pilot was persuaded by Dr. Jan Ogilvie to land his plane at Santa Monica Airport. Dr. Ogilvie spoke to him from the Los Angeles Suicide Prevention Center via a radio-telephone hookup.

The pilot eluded police after landing, however, by taxiing the plane to a remote part of the field and escaping on foot, officers said.

Dr. Ogilvie's conversation with the pilot — who said he was Chuck Davis and 32 years old — was relayed by the Los Angeles International Airport tower.

"It's all right... come down... I'll see you... I'll take care of you... It's all right... Nothing's going to happen to you," FAA Duty Officer Bill Keane quoted the psychologist as saying.

Keane said Davis took off from the Santa Monica field at 1 a.m. in a plane owned by a flying club and began radiating messages that he was going to dive his plane into the Pacific Ocean because he didn't want to live, Keane said.

Other grants approved were: —$21,526 to the Lamesa-Dawson Community Action Council for a Head Start program. —$13,628 to the Val Verde County Community Action in Del Rio.

Dole Warns: 'I'm Going To Be Boss'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert J. Dole says whatever the titles in the Republicans' new three-way party leadership arrangement, "I'm going to be the boss."

The GOP National Committee's ratification of Dole today as the new chairman is a formality following President Nixon's recommendation.

The Kansas senator succeeds Rep. Rogers C.B. Morton of Maryland, who is leaving the GOP committee and Congress to become secretary of interior.

TAPS TEXAS
Thomas B. Evans Jr. of Wilmington, Del., and Mrs. Tobin Armstrong, wife of a Texas rancher, were picked as co-chairmen of the committee.

Evans will be the fulltime party professional in charge of organization and administration. Mrs. Armstrong's new duties were not so clearly defined: Dole said she will deal with special projects.

The first-term Kansas senator said that would free him from administrative and office-keeping duties at the national committee to tend to his work in the Senate and to speak for the party on the road.

He said that is the way President Nixon wants it.

Nixon named Dole, as expected, and the two new co-chairmen—a title-changing move not anticipated—in a telephone conversation Thursday with a nominating committee selected to seek a new chairman.

UNDERSTAND?
The settlement had been carefully orchestrated in advance conferences among Morton, Dole, White House political aides and the new co-chairmen.

"As I understand it," said Evans, who has been deputy chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee, "it was President Nixon's request to somewhat divide the responsibilities."

"Bob Dole has his hands full in the Senate and being spokesman for the party," Evans said.

Dole had faced opposition, notably from Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, on grounds the party should have a fulltime man in that post, not a member of Congress.

Dole said the settlement Nixon endorsed should get around that problem.

Another Republican with close White House ties put it more bluntly, saying state party leaders want to be sure somebody with influence will be available when they pick up the telephone and call the national committee.

DONT CARE
"These people want somebody with clout, somebody they can be sure of reaching," he said.

"They don't care who goes on television, they care who they can get on the telephone."

"A lot of people want a full-time chairman," said Peter O'Donnell, national committee-man from Texas. "This is a step to overcome that problem."

Actually, it is a settlement that simply changes the titles, and presumably the responsibilities, of the two top deputies to the national chairman.

In the past, there has been a deputy chairman, the GOP's chief administrator, with a woman serving as assistant chairman. Dole said the responsibilities will be enlarged along with the change in titles.

DON'T BET ON IT, OL' PAL
Lottery Game Changes?

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's expected the new Congress will be asked to remove the federal legal risk which keeps promoters of state-run lotteries from making interstate sales pitches —but don't bet your savings on sudden success.

Even the newest players in the growing state-sponsored sweepstakes game feel chances of winning major changes in federal law are slim—especially while Rep. Emanuel Celler deals the legislative cards played by the House Judiciary Committee.

TRY AGAIN
Although his state is among those with such legal lotteries to raise money for governmental needs, the New York Democrat—82-year-old dean of the House, starting his 25th term—opposes the lottery idea.

Similar proposals sent to Celler's committee have ended up on the discard pile—without a hearing.

Congressional sources say backers of state-supported lotteries will try again to revise federal law which has inhibited merchandising.

Republican Rep. Louis C. Wyman of New Hampshire—whose state was the modern sweepstakes pioneer nearly a decade ago—is expected to introduce his bill again.

The Wyman measure, a three-time loser in Judiciary, is aimed at exempting receipts, tickets and other acknowledgment of state-run lotteries from federal restrictions.

And congressmen from New Jersey, a new entry on the lottery list, are reported planning another attempt at winning federal approval for mailing lottery tickets and related material, transporting and advertising in interstate commerce, and disseminating information involving such state-sponsored programs.

While lottery-state congressmen work for changes, the Justice Department has been asked to clear up interpretation of the news-dissemination portion of existing law.

Nixon Will Close Health Care Gaps?

Agnew Takes Aim At Moms On Welfare

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon will submit a health care program to Congress in a few weeks, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said here today.

The administration, without fanfare or a lot of promises that no one knows how to keep, has been reviewing national health problems for many months, Agnew said in a speech prepared for the dedication of the Martin Anthony Sinatra Medical Education Center.

Although avoiding specific solutions to be proposed to Congress, Agnew said the government must continue support of biomedical research, train health personnel better and faster, and build more and better health care facilities.

LIFT THE BURDEN
"And beyond all this," he said, "we need to make sure that no person goes without necessary health care because he can't afford it."

Agnew said that Medicare and Medicaid can and will be improved, adding, "Medicaid is especially in need of redirection because it simply isn't closing the health care gap for the poor as was intended."

"There are other gaps that have to be closed," he said. "We have to help lift the burden of catastrophic illness that can spell economic ruin for a family that would otherwise be financially secure."

Agnew rejected the idea of scrapping the present system for "some kind of nationalized health scheme that puts all responsibility and all power in the hands of the federal government."

'VERY SORRY'
He commended singer Frank Sinatra for his help in meeting the goal of decent health care for all citizens. The center is a memorial to Sinatra's father.

Agnew came here from Sacramento where he met Thursday with officials to discuss welfare.

He said the solution to America's welfare dilemma may come only when officials have the courage to make tough social judgments such as these: —Telling the mother of state-supported illegitimate children, "We're very sorry, but we will not be able to allow you to have any more children."

—Saying to a welfare mother, "We are going to take that child from you, the natural mother, and put that child somewhere that it will receive the proper care."

—Deciding that a man with a terminal illness, receiving publicly supported health care, should not be "kept alive an extra month at the cost of $20,000 or $30,000 to the taxpayers."

Vote Charters For Five Banks

AUSTIN (AP) — The state banking board has approved charters for new banks in Dallas, El Paso, Mesquite, Cedar Park and Burleson.

Expansion, Drouth Cause CRMWD To Raise Rates

Expansion and drouth combined to push up water rates from the Colorado River Municipal Water District to its member cities during 1971.

CRMWD directors Thursday set Jan. 1 rates which will range from 3 1/2 to 7 cents per thousand gallons more for the cities.

About half this increase is attributed to the $6,750,000 project to develop well supplies in Ward County for peaking purposes and more particularly as a hedge against continued drouth this summer.

The remaining increase is due to higher debt service payments occasioned by the 1966-69 construction program (Lake E. V. Spence and supply lines), also a substantial loss of revenue through curtailed sales of water for oil and industrial users.

The board used $1.4 million dollars of earnings from sources other than water sales to cities — principally the oil companies, plus earnings off trust funds — to soften the rates to the cities.

Instead of the calculated 30.27 cents for Odessa in 1971, this would be 42.84; instead of the calculated 22.47 for Big Spring, it would be 34.35; instead of the calculated 23.29 for Snyder, it would be 36.81 cents.

The district was faced with raising an additional $385,828 during 1971 to maintain operations, debt service and the required 1.35 coverage (reserve). Hence Odessa's monthly fixed charge was raised from $68,758 to $88,997; Big Spring's from $28,743 to $36,743; and Snyder's from $7,433 to $10,948. The fixed charges are based on a city's percentage of the total volume of water delivered, plus a factor for distance from source.

Besides the fixed charges, cities pay six cents per thousand gallons for all water used. Hence the actual rate per 1,000 gallons is determined to a substantial degree by the volume of water used.

Other rates are geared largely to those of the member cities. For instance, Midland and Stanton pay the Odessa rate, plus a 3.27-cent per thousand differential to cover prior system developments. However, these rates lag one year behind. That means that Midland and Stanton in 1972 will pay the 1971 Odessa rate.

J. L. Rhoades, Odessa, chairman of the rate committee, said that the district was faced with far more imponderables this year than ever before because of low lake reserves.

Rate calculations were based on the assumption that the district will be unable to deliver more than half the oil company requirements if normal weather patterns prevail.

"Assumptions made in calculating rates may or may not come to pass," said Charles Perry, Odessa, president, "and we simply attempted to be realistic." O. H. Ivie, general

Trim State Oil Allowable For Third Month In Row

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission trimmed the state-wide oil allowable for the third month in a row today, setting the February allowable at 82.1 per cent of potential.

The new allowable will permit maximum production of 3,751,821 barrels a day next month, a decrease of 36,513 from January when the allowable was 83.1 per cent.

But actual production for February was estimated at 3,411,000 barrels daily, compared to written nominations from 70 buyers for 3,410,979 barrels a day next month.

One-Sentence Justice Starts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has adopted a new procedure of issuing major opinions throughout the week in an effort to enhance public comprehension and cut overtime printing costs.

One-sentence rulings will be issued on Mondays, customarily the decision day, and opinions will be released Tuesdays through Thursdays. The justices will reserve Fridays primarily for private conferences on pending cases.

manager warned that if there is an absence of runoff into the lakes, the district conceivably might have to adjust rates again during the year to meet the requirements of the trust indenture.

John Taylor, Big Spring, rate committee member, said that rates also were fixed with an eye on 1972 to avoid another raise then if possible.

Ivie reported that the initial well in the Ward County ground water lease has been tested and appears to be more than satisfactory as to both quality and quantity. Seventeen wells may be drilled. Contracts for laying a 33-in. pipeline to them will be let following a bid opening in Big Spring Jan. 21 at 10 a.m.

The nominations were 10,379 below the January requests for Texas crude oil.

One of the 14 major purchasers sought less oil next month than in January and 13 wanted the same amount.

Texas' 1970 monthly allowables crested at 87.3 per cent in November, then started a three-month slide.

Commission Chairman Byron Tunnell said Texas' crude oil stocks Jan. 8 totaled 108.7 million barrels, 1.3 million less than a week ago, 1.7 million less than a month ago and 13.1 million more than a year ago.

Here are 14 major purchasers' nominations for Texas crude oil in February, in barrels per day, with changes from January in parentheses:

- Atlantic Richfield, 210,000
- Chevron 70,800
- Cities Service 110,000
- Continental 42,000
- Diamond Shamrock 36,000
- Gulf 225,000
- Humble 566,000
- Mobil 300,000 (minus 15,000)
- Pan American 420,000
- Phillips 115,000
- Shell 160,000
- Sun 225,700
- Texaco 200,000
- Union of California 72,500.

Hundreds Of Policemen Refuse To Patrol Beats

NEW YORK (AP) — Hundreds of city policemen, angered by a court decision that left their pay parity dispute unresolved, refused to patrol their beats today in a spreading wild-cat work stoppage.

Captains, lieutenants, sergeants and detectives were ordered to fill the gap and a City Hall spokesman said the emergency measures assured adequate protection. There was no immediate indication of an increase in crime.

BREAKDOWN
The Patrolmen's Benevolent Association claimed at 1:30 a.m. EST the job action was "virtually complete" but police headquarters said the extent of the stoppage varied from precinct to precinct. It declined to give a breakdown.

Telephone checks by newsmen indicated that wide areas of Brooklyn, the Bronx and upper Manhattan had only sparse patrols. Police headquarters said all emergency calls were being answered.

The job action began soon after word of the court decision in Albany was announced Thursday.

PBA President Edward J. Kiernan appealed to the men to stay on the job until a delegate meeting on Tuesday. "If action must be taken, I ask that it be a decision made by the delegate body," he said in a television appearance.

HIS BADGE
Nonetheless, the stoppage spread during the evening.

Mayor John V. Lindsay said in an 11 p.m. statement that "the city will take every step necessary to protect the public safety. I would hope that every officer... will respect his oath of office and his badge."

He summoned his staff and top police brass to meetings this morning.

Chief Inspector Michael J. Codd ordered all members of the force to work 12-hour shifts starting at Thursday midnight. All administrative work was suspended and special units reassigned to patrol duty. All vacations and days off were canceled.

The patrolmen were upset because the state's highest court ruled that a lower court trial was necessary to decide the PBA's claim for a $100-a-month increase for its 30,000 members under a patrolmen-sergeant pay parity formula.

BASIC ISSUE
In its 4-3 decision, the Court of Appeals in Albany overturned two lower court findings that upheld the PBA contention.

Nonetheless, the stoppage spread during the evening. Mayor John V. Lindsay said in an 11 p.m. statement that "the city will take every step necessary to protect the public safety. I would hope that every officer... will respect his oath of office and his badge."

In addition to touching off the police job action, the court decision threatened to further snarl contract negotiations between the city and its patrolmen, firemen and sanitation men. All three contracts expired Jan. 1.

The basic issue is the PBA's claim that its 1968 contract calls for salaries of patrolmen and sergeants to be maintained at a 3-to-3.5 ratio. When sergeants were given a raise, to maintain their parity with fire lieutenants, the patrolmen sought the $100-a-month increase to restore their ratio.

But the city balked saying that if the raise was granted it would touch off an endless spiral of increases. It said the ratio agreement had not been made part of "a formal, written collective-bargaining contract."

DURING ISRAELI ATTACK — Members of an Israeli raiding party search an Arab guerrilla hideout Thursday after attacking the stronghold located 28 miles inside Lebanon. Ten Arab guerrillas were killed and six Israelis were reported wounded during the battle.

Commandos Kill 10 Arabs In Camp, Gun Many More

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli commandos penetrated 28 miles into Lebanon during the night, killing 10 Arabs at a Palestine guerrilla base on the coast and wounding many more, Israel's military command said today.

It was the deepest Israeli incursion into Lebanon since the attack on the Beirut airport Dec. 28, 1968.

The Lebanese government reported 29 guerrillas killed and seven wounded. It said helicopters and ships landed the raiders at Sarafand, on the Mediterranean coast, under cover of naval bombardment.

An Israeli spokesman said six Israelis were wounded. He reported that the raiders blew up two houses, a number of caves and underground buildings used for housing and storage, and a rocket launcher mounted on a raft.

'SECRET HARBOR'
Officials in South Lebanon said Sarafand was a "secret little harbor used by the guerrillas for embarking onto the occupied Gaza Strip."

AP Correspondent Elias Antar reported from Sarafand that an estimated 120 Israeli commandos made the raid in four helicopters. He said they blew up two guerrilla strongpoints on the shore, but the guerrillas and the Lebanese army claimed they fought off the raiders before they reached the main guerrilla base.

The Lebanese army said the Israelis made two assaults. "The Israelis said they learned of the base from five Palestinian frogmen who landed Jan. 2 on the northern Israeli coast "to kidnap an Israeli citizen."

RETALIATION
An Israeli spokesman said the raid was in retaliation for a number of Arab guerrilla raids on Israeli settlements along the Lebanese border. The last previous retaliatory raid into Lebanon occurred on Dec. 27, when several Arabs and one Israeli were reported killed in an attack on a village six miles across the border.

Edgar's Ruling Reverses Action

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Education Commissioner J.W. Edgar ruled Thursday the Wilmer-Hutchins School District may not de-annex 42 square miles for annexation to the Ferris independent school district.

Edgar's ruling reverses the decision of the Dallas County School Board.

About 1,000 pupils, 92 of which are black, would have been affected in the de-annexation.

Edgar said it would have meant a loss of area and a central high school to the Wilmer-Hutchins district, which may have forced it to lose accreditation.

Community Action Agency Elects Officers For 1971

Members of the Howard County-Big Spring Community Action Agency Thursday night chose their annual meeting officers to keep D. A. Brazel on for another year as chairman.

A slate of six nominees for four offices was presented by Eddie Acri, chairman of the nominating committee appointed last month by Brazel.

Agency members voted to accept George Archer as a representative of the community at large and elected him secretary. Archer and Brazel were the only nominees for their respective offices.

Gus Hernandez, chairman of the GI Forum, was chosen over John Richard Coffee, local attorney, for the vice chairmanship; and Bill Crooker, county commissioner for Precinct 3, was elected treasurer over Chester Cathey, vice president and cashier of Security State Bank.

Acri proposed that the GI Forum be added as an agency due a representative. Keith Swim, director of federal programs for the schools, said that the 45-member limit on CAA did not have to be observed strictly until the unit was funded by the federal government.

Brazel noted that the agency had always had problems obtaining delegates from all the areas designated in the bylaws. The group decided to attempt to fill the existing quotas then add other members to fill the vacancies.

Swim reported to the agency that the community might be eligible for migrant funding, since rulings determining migrants have relaxed.

"If any child has spent a day and a night away from home in connection with agriculture in some way, then that child is considered a migrant," Swim said plenty of funds are available for the migrant program, and he is conducting a survey to see exactly how many migrant children Big Spring has.

Let's Show Appreciation

TO THE EDITOR:
Too often we neglect to show appreciation.

I would like to commend the Coahoma School board of trustees for the job they are doing in the Coahoma School District.

I would like to thank the county commissioner of Precinct 2, Bill Bennett, for his manner and thoughtfulness in the county commissioners court Monday.

Last but certainly not least I would like to commend you, M. Editor, for the editorial published Tuesday which said "Let's Keep Our Cool." It is democracy working when we attend meetings of our governing bodies, and we need to attend, otherwise how are we going to judge our neighbors.

Soviet Wants To Share Moon Samples, Ideas?

HOUSTON (AP) — A top-ranked Soviet scientist said Thursday the science community in his country was eager to share moon samples and "ideas about the exploration of space" with American scientists.

Dr. A. P. Vinogradov, 76-year-old vice president of the Soviet Academy of Science, made the comments after delivering a paper on scientific findings from a moon sample brought to earth by an unmanned spacecraft called Luna 16.

At a news conference, Vinogradov said "the academy of science will undoubtedly share this lunar sample... and particularly with the American scientists."

NOT VERY MUCH
He noted, however, "it is not very much—101 grams."

America's Apollo 11 and 12 astronauts returned with moon samples totaling 47 and 75.6 pounds.

Vinogradov also said, "Soviet scientists would like to share their ideas about exploration of space."

Asked if he thought unmanned lunar exploration should continue, in light of the success of the automated Luna 16, Vinogradov said, "soon people should also be able to visit planets... have no doubt that these adventures will be continued even though they are risky. Experience shows that if a man has reached something, he always tries to repeat it."

MOON ROVER
Asked if the Soviets were working on a spacecraft which could rove over the moon, gathering samples and then automatically return them to earth, Vinogradov said "it would be possible to design such an apparatus."

The concept, in effect, would combine two successful Russian spacecraft—the Luna series and a moon rover. An unmanned Soviet moon rover is currently on the moon's Sea of Rain.

Vinogradov said the lunar rover is capable of going down into craters and can determine the chemical composition of the lunar soil through the use of an X-ray.

In his paper on the Luna 16 results, Vinogradov said samples collected by the unmanned craft closely resemble the Apollo 11 and 12 samples. Luna 16 landed on the moon's Sea of Fertility while Apollo 11 landed on the Sea of Tranquility and Apollo 12 landed on The Ocean of Storms. All are flat lunar plains.

VOLCANIC ACTION
"The material from all three seas," said the Soviet, "is surprisingly similar in its petrological, mineralogical and chemical composition."

He said in his "preliminary conclusions" from Luna 16, he believes lava breaks through the surface of the moon in explosive volcanic action.

Most American scientists don't believe this because there is no evidence of water on the moon, a principal driving force of volcanism on earth.

Vinogradov also proposed that lunar material is blasted to earth by impact of craters. Most American scientists disagree because chemical composition of material falling on earth from space does not match that of the moon.

The Russian's paper was the highlight of the final session of the lunar conference.

'THE WORKS' — Barber Strode M. Higginbottom still serves his customers with a two-bit haircut, and offers "the works," haircut, shave and tonic for 65 cents. Here, he touches up as he cuts the hair of a customer, William High, in the small Harrisonburg, Va., shop where the barber still charges 25 cents for a haircut, the price he charged when he just got out of a Richmond barber college in 1938.

Facilities To Be Turned Over To Viets

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command says 150 more installations, ranging from major base camps to small pumping stations, will be turned over to the South Vietnamese as part of the Vietnamization program. "So far more than 100 installations have been transferred to Republic of Vietnam armed forces," a spokesman said. "These are facilities and installations of all sizes."

The original cost of the 250 installations and facilities was roughly $60 million, he said, adding: "Most of these installations were constructed to an austere standard with an estimated life of less than five years. Most of those turned over already were army unit base camps and small cantonment facilities, small troop housing facilities. We haven't really turned over any high-cost facilities."

The command isn't saying exactly what installations will be turned over in the future, but many likely will be Army camps and Navy, Marine and Air Force facilities as American troops are withdrawn.

The entire U.S. 3rd Marine Amphibious Force and 1st Marine Division at Da Nang are being withdrawn from Vietnam by next June, and their headquarters camps and other facilities likely will be turned over to the South Vietnamese.

When U.S. installations or facilities are declared surplus the command conducts a study to determine the best usage. The spokesman says the following possibilities are considered in order of priority:

- Use by another U.S. military unit in Vietnam.
- Transfer to the South Vietnamese armed forces.
- Transfer to another allied force in Vietnam.
- Use by a U.S. military unit outside Vietnam, if the facility can be moved economically.
- Use by another U.S. government agency in Vietnam.

There has been criticism that some of the bases turned over are too big for the South Vietnamese to manage; thus some of the facilities end up in unauthorized hands and the bases are not maintained as before.

High Court Knocks Out Postal Obscenity Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Supreme Court ruling knocking down two seldom-used postal obscenity laws is expected to have little real effect on the U.S. Postal Service's push against smut.

All Thursday's court decision does, says one official, "is to take the Postal Service out of the business of determining what is obscene."

Left intact are laws prohibiting the mailing of obscene matter and protecting the public against unwanted, sexually oriented advertisements.

'CENSORSHIP' Ruling the practice smacked of censorship, the court said the Postal Service could not intercept and return orders addressed to dealers in what postal officials had determined was obscene matter.

The laws struck down by the court were invoked only twice in the last eight years—both times by the test cases decided by the court Thursday, said David A. Nelson, general counsel of the Postal Service.

"There has been a substantial question as to the validity of this statute for several years," he said. But he added: "The decision does not change the fact that it is a criminal offense to mail obscene matter."

Noting that 40 alleged dealers in smut had been indicted in the past six months alone, Nelson declared: "The Postal Service will continue to recommend prosecution whenever the criminal postal obscenity statutes are violated."

$5,000 FINE Under the criminal laws, a dealer can be sentenced to five years in prison and fined $5,000 for sending obscene matter through the mails.

Under the two statutes declared unconstitutional by the court, the Postal Service could declare that material being sent through the mail by a certain individual or firm was obscene.

Postmasters then were able to halt mail addressed to the individual or firm and return it to the sender.

"If the court had upheld the statute it would have given us an additional means of limiting the use of the mails by commercial dealers in obscenity," Nelson said. "But the court's ruling was on purely procedural grounds and does not, in any sense, legalize the mailings of these materials."

Still operative is the 1967 law allowing a postal patron to get his name taken off the mailing list of a specific dealer in pornography whose advertisements he finds offensive.

The court ruling also does not affect a 1970 law, due to become effective in February, requiring senders of sexually oriented advertising to take off their mailing lists the names of all persons who register with the Postal Service.

AFL-CIO Chief Calls For Fish Kills Probe

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP) — Hank Brown, president of the Texas AFL-CIO blasted the Texas Water Quality Board Thursday, calling for a legislative investigation.

Brown said the investigation should find who is responsible for "continuing fish kills" in the Gulf of Mexico off Brazoria County.

"This should be the first job of the new Senate Environmental Committee," Brown told a rally sponsored by the Citizens Survival Committee of Brazoria County, an antipollution group.

HIGH TIDE Brown said the investigation should also find "why the Texas Water Quality Board has been unable to identify who is responsible" for a massive fish kill last August.

Emory Long of the water quality board said in Austin the fish kill could be partially attributed to a high tide. Some of the blame, but certainly not all, could be put on shrimpers who dehead shrimp at the mouth of the Brazos, he said.

Brown said he would ask the committee to investigate also why the WQB had failed to require seven Brazoria County chemical companies to have permits for discharge of waste into the Brazos River and why the board had failed to amend the discharge permits of the Dow Chemical Co. in Freeport.

WHO KNOWS? These permits allow DOW to dump three billion gallons of "heaven-only-knows-what" into the Brazos River every day, he said.

Long said Dow is now in the process of providing secondary treatment to take care of its waste. He added that engineering conferences between DOW and the board were held last week.

As for the seven chemical companies, there are about that many which pour their effluents into the Dow waste water canal and discharges from that canal into the Brazos fall under Dow's permit, Long said.

Dow officials acknowledged it had a chemical spill Jan. 7 but denied it had any connection with a fish kill at nearby Surfside.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reported a fish kill on the Gulf Coast last week but attributed it mainly to a norther which swept over it.

Rep. Rex Braum of Houston also spoke at the rally.

Catholic Priest Returns To Pastor Local Church

The Rev. Theo Francis is back "home," this time as pastor of Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church.

Twice before Fr. Francis has served here as a pastor of St. Thomas Church, and it was during his first ministry that the Sacred Heart Catholic Church was founded in 1932.

His ministry has spanned almost a half a century, and his commitment to the church nearly three score years.

A reception has been planned by members of the parish for 5 p.m. Sunday for Fr. Francis and for the Rev. Tom Kennedy, who has been serving the church here.

Fr. Francis is a native of Magdeburg, Germany, and came in 1912 to San Antonio through an understanding between his parish priest and St. Anthony's in San Antonio.

"I arrived one day and began school the next at St. Anthony's," said Fr. Francis. "I couldn't speak a word of English."

He completed minor seminary in 1917 and immediately embarked upon major seminary at Castroville (it since has been moved back to San Antonio) and was ordained in 1924 in San Antonio.

After temporary assignments in Mercedes, New Orleans, La., and Austin, he returned to St. Anthony's as a teacher for several years before being assigned to his first pastorate in Alamo. He came first to St. Thomas here in 1929, leaving in 1935 for Crystal City.

Romney Calls Subsidized Housing Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Housing Secretary George Romney has suspended indefinitely almost 40 per cent of the government's $140 million mortgage subsidy program just a week after denying reports of widespread abuses.

"It is apparent that abuses in the program are more prevalent and widespread than had previously been evident," Romney said Thursday.

His earlier assessment that only scattered problems existed in the program of home ownership subsidies for low and moderate income families "was not as fully based as it should have been," the secretary said.

Romney last week castigated as "irresponsible, incomplete and misleading" a report from the House Banking and Currency Committee that speculators were turning the program into a national scandal.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development will stop approving mortgage subsidies on existing homes but will continue payments on the 60,000 units now covered.

The freeze does not affect subsidies for new housing, which account for the remaining 80,000 units in the program. "A decision will be made later with respect to new construction," the secretary said.

Subsidy approvals for existing houses—most of them in inner city areas—will not be resumed until the program is straightened out and the government assists victimized buyers, Romney said.

He said "quick-buck artists and horse traders" making large speculative profits as well as poor persons unprepared for home ownership have shaken confidence in the program.

Some FHA inspectors "have not done an adequate job," leaving poor families old houses that are in need of costly repairs or on the verge of them, Romney said.

Harroll Jones, developer of a mobile home park just inside the north city limits on the Snyder Highway, withdrew his request that the city place a water meter on his property.

His request that the meter be located instead on the highway came after 40 minutes of discussion with city commissioners during a special meeting this morning.

Herb Prouty, city attorney, said if the city placed the meter on Jones' property line the line between the tract and the Snyder highway main line would have to be a minimum of six inches in diameter, and ordinances would forbid the city's accepting the line.

Jones had asked the city commission Tuesday to allow that the water meter be placed on his property line and that he construct a four-inch line to tap into the main at the highway, and then turn the line over to the city.

Nixon Urges Young To Try Out 'System'

WASHINGTON (AP) — In his most conciliatory speech to American youth, President Nixon urged the young to try out the system in "an alliance of the generations."

Speaking before 8,500 students and faculty members at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln Thursday, Nixon said:

"There can be no generation gap in America. The destiny of this nation is not divided into yours and ours—it is one destiny. We share it together. We are responsible for it together."

"PEACE NOW" chants, soon drowned in a chorus of boos when he was introduced. Nixon was well received—better, in fact, than on any campus since he took office.

The President, who stopped in Lincoln on a flight back to Washington from Southern California, told five newsmen traveling aboard his jet he feels his audience listened carefully to his words.

Alluding to the fact he was interrupted only once by applause—when he talked about seeking "a full generation of peace"—Nixon said his address was not written with applause lines in mind.

"I'll be interrupted 35 times when I give my State of the Union," he said, referring to an address to the new Congress Jan.

22, "and it won't mean a thing." Nixon was obviously pleased by his reception on the Nebraska campus, which has been relatively free of student unrest.

After paying tribute to the university's undefeated football team, and presenting to the coach a bronze plaque commemorating the fact Nebraska was The Associated Press 1970 gridiron champion, Nixon talked at length about his conception of the role of young people in the nation.

Proposing "an alliance of the generations," he said: "Let us together seek out those ways by which the commitment and the compassion of one generation can be linked to the will and the experience of another, so that together we can better serve America and America can better serve mankind."

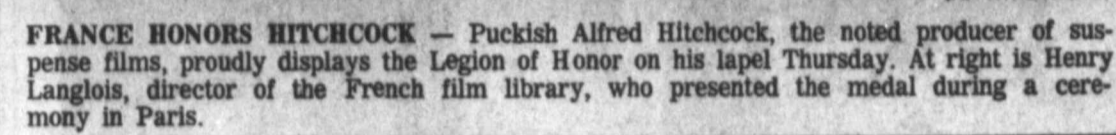

Reterring to extension of federal voting rights to all those 18 and older, Nixon said:

"So much is in your hands now. To those who have believed the system could not be moved, I say try it. To those who have thought the system was impregnable, I say there is no longer need to penetrate—that door's open."

Nixon acknowledged that the young might not always prevail, however.

"It is in the very nature of a free society that no one can win all the time," he said. "No one can have his way all the time, and no one is right all the time."

Nixon said he probably will spend part of the weekend at his Camp David retreat near Thurmont, Md. Jokingly, he said he had resisted heavy pressure from his Florida friend, C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo, to attend professional football's championship Super Bowl game in Miami Sunday.

College Building Bonds Plan Talked By Barnes

AUSTIN (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said today he is considering a plan that would trim about $100 million off this year's tax bill by authorizing tuition-backed college building bonds.

College construction, including new university and medical school campuses, CHECKED OUT Barnes said a bill carrying out the bond plan is being drafted. The idea behind the plan is to spread the cost of the needed construction over a number of years, rather than to pay for it all at once in the appropriations for the coming two years.

Funds would be obtained by selling bonds, which would be backed by college tuition. Barnes said no tuition increase was included in the proposal.

"It is a workable plan—it will work. We have checked it out with authorities in this field," he said.

Barnes said that because the bonds would be backed by tuition instead of taxes, no constitutional amendment would be required.

"Higher Tuition" Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan, chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee and probable member of any tax-writing conference committee, said he favors a tuition increase, although this isn't part of the bond plan.

"Our students could stand a modest increase," he said.

Tax needs facing the legislature are estimated in the range of $800 million or more.

Barnes commented on the college bond proposal in answer to a question and said he would "not comment any further on revenue proposals" until after Gov. Preston Smith presents his legislative program Wednesday.

"I want to cooperate with the governor in every way possible," he said.

Hunt For FBI11A Ends In Failure

FORT WORTH (AP) — An Air Force search for a missing FBI11A fighter-bomber in the Ozark Mountains of Northwest Arkansas ended in failure Thursday.

Authorities said the weekend quest continued today, however, in wooded areas near Lufkin in East Texas, near the Texas and Louisiana coast and into Southern Mississippi.

Two helicopters hovered at treetop level and their pilots scanned the mountainous sector in Arkansas without finding any wreckage. Col. Morris Swindle said, before the Air Force called off that phase of the search.

Officials said earlier that an aerial photograph showed "an object like an airplane fuselage, which appears to be an F111," in the Ozarks.

After a ground party of 25 men also trudged through the rough terrain for six hours and found nothing, Swindle said the picture apparently was a rock formation.

Carrying a two-man crew, the swept-wing warplane took off here Jan. 8 on what the Air Force called an acceptance flight. It was piloted by Lt. Col. Bruce D. Stocks and carried Maj. Billy C. Gentry as navigator.

Barnes said that because the bonds would be backed by tuition instead of taxes, no constitutional amendment would be required.

Postal Strike Call Issued

LONDON (AP) — Post office workers today called a strike, beginning next Wednesday, that would cut off most of Britain's contacts with the outside world.

The postal strike—the first in Britain's history—would hit mail, telephone, telegraph and telex services, all maintained in this country by the post office.

Internally, the strike would cause communications chaos within hours, halting delivery of 35 million letters and 500,000 parcels a day, and disrupting the lives and jobs of millions of Britons.

The Post Office Workers Union, representing 230,000 workers, called the strike after rejecting a management pay raise offer of 8 per cent over present wages of $36-60 a week. The union wants 15 per cent.

Some hope remained that a settlement could still be reached before the strike deadline.

Republican Will Get His Old Job Back

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — C. Hubert Gragg, one of two prominent state Republicans fired by former Gov. Dewey Bartlett from the highway commission in 1969, will get his old job back under Gov. David Hall's administration sources close to Hall said Thursday.

Gragg, of Edmond, reportedly would replace Judson S. Woodruff, whom Bartlett chose to succeed Gragg in January, 1969.

Gragg and then Highway Commission Co-chairman Martin Garber of Enid sparked a months-long legislative probe of alleged irregularities in the awarding of land purchases and engineering contracts when they were fired.

Bartlett accused Garber and Gragg of violating the ethical standards of his administration by trading engineering contracts for contributions to Richard Nixon's 1968 presidential campaign.

Gragg candidly admitted months before the Democratic gubernatorial primary he would support any Democrat who ran against Bartlett.

Although both he and Garber were exonerated by the legislative investigation Gragg actively worked for Hall even before Hall won the party nomination.

Gragg never changed his party registration and remains a Republican.

TRAGEDY CALLED ACCIDENT Says No Homicidal Maniac On The Loose

HOUSTON (AP) — A police inspector at Pasadena says all evidence in the case of two young boys found hanged in backyard indicate the tragedy was an accident.

Inspector E. L. Gilbert said Thursday he wanted to insure any frightened citizens that no homicidal maniac was on the loose in the suburban industrial municipality.

Gilbert said his department received some calls Thursday from frightened citizens asking if there was some sort of madman roaming Pasadena.

Travis Donald Stuckey, 12, and James Roland Miles, 11, were found Wednesday night hanging by the neck from each end of a rope which had been thrown over a seven-foot high tree limb. The tree was in the Stuckey youth's backyard.

Young Stuckey's hands were bound behind him while the Miles youth's hands were bound in front.

"We feel there is no foul play involved here, and there certainly is no maniac on the loose," Gilbert said.

Noah Sanders, stepfather of the Miles boy, said he felt a third boy might be involved but Gilbert said his department had "not a shred of evidence to indicate this was anything but an accident, and we do not believe anyone else was involved though we are still investigating."

Dr. Joseph A. Jackimczyk, Harris County medical examiner, said late Thursday he had ruled on the cause of death of the two youngsters.

James R. Esray, stepfather of the Stuckey boy, found the boys hanging when he went to call his stepson for supper.

Gilbert theorized the boys tied each other's wrists, then put their heads in nooses which were fashioned on each end of the rope.

He said the tragedy probably occurred when one boy fell or lost consciousness, thus tightening the noose on the other boy's neck.

He theorized when one boy fell it panicked both and in the ensuing struggle both boys were strangled.

A LOVELIER YOU Versatile Wardrobe With Fashion Colors

By MARY SUE MILLER

The fashion highroad to tanland leads to a tropical garden of sun, sea and flower colors — clear, pure shades of day-lily orange and larkspur, lemon and lime, water jade and blue, underwater coral. In addition there is a range of nature's neutrals with the look of raw string, hemp and flax. From demin to cotton knit to chiffon, all fabrics use the shades in both solids and printed admixtures.

A wardrobe combining tropicana and neutrals makes for excitement. Were you to build one on the theme, the returns could only be satisfying. For example, a travel coat or cape in a flaxen shade would supply the backdrop for clothes in tropicana colors and patterns. For other neutrals, too.

Think what dash the neutral-color mix in pants and shirts would have. What's more, this sort of planning widens the scope of a wardrobe because of the harmony of its parts. As for the parts, the pacemakers follow:

—Swim Suits: Bikinis, the merest wisps; one-piece "body" suits with tank tops and deep V or U necklines.

—Cover Ups: Long skirts, slung from the hip to end in flounces; slim long cardigan coats; shawis with slit front; midi skirts; harem pants.

—Gadabouts: Hooded jump suits; hooded shirts with knickers.

—All Hours: Prairie and peasant looks go on with more ruffles and rickrac; pants in every material from canvas to sari silk, in every length starting with shortest-shorts; linen skirts, midi to ankle, side-buttoned and slit.

—Moonlights: Swirls and swirls of chiffon.

LEG TRIMMERS

If your individual problem is heavy legs, send for my new leaflet, "Legline Trimmers," which contains spot reducing exercises that will meet your individual needs, whether for thighs, knees, calves or ankles or for contouring your entire legline. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Church In 87th Year Of Service, Will Dedicate Sanctuary Sunday

On the threshold of nine decades of service to the Big Spring community, the First United Methodist Church will dedicate its sanctuary and pipe organ Sunday — free of debt.

Here to lead the memorable service, starting at 10:30 a.m. will be Bishop Alsie H. Carleton

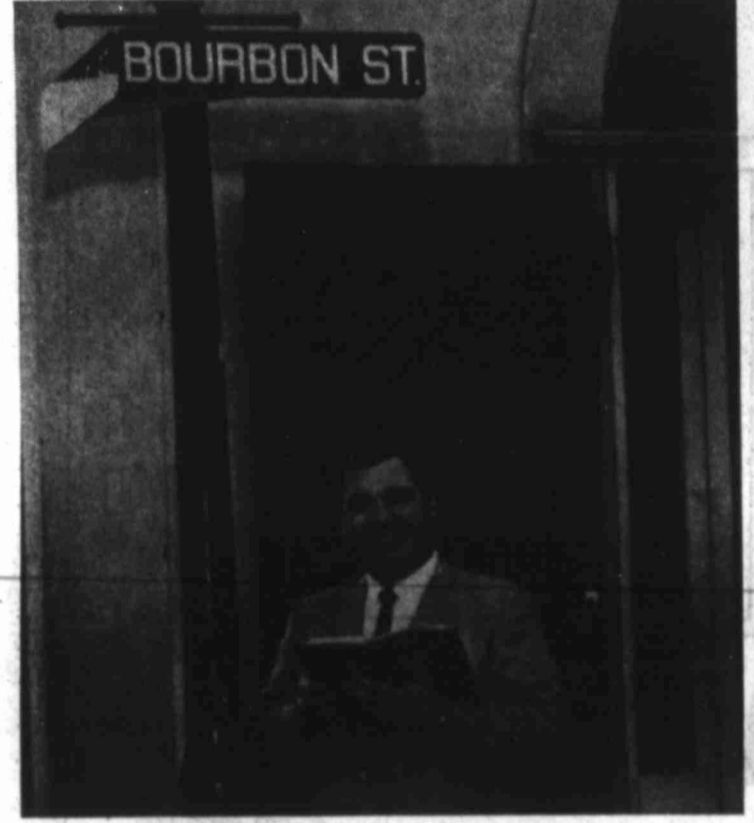

O. Haymes, Lubbock, retired, and Dr. G. T. Hall are deceased.

Bishop and Mrs. Carleton, Dr. and Mrs. Haymes, Dr. and Mrs. Grooms, and Dr. and Mrs. Smith will be honored at a reception in Fellowship Hall from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., and the community is invited to attend, as it is to the various services of the day.

The First United Methodist Church was organized here in July, 1883, with five members under the Rev. J. B. H. Thomas. The little frame building erected at the corner of Fourth and Scurry, the present site, was outgrown and replaced in 1897, and this was enlarged in 1907. With an oil boom impending, members in 1925 launched a major effort that resulted in the first brick building to house the sanctuary and educational facilities. This sufficed until the 1952 expansion.

DUBLIN (AP) — The Anglo-Irish province of the Salesians, a Roman Catholic order, has been divided into separate English and Irish provinces.

'CHAPLAIN OF BOURBON STREET' ... The Rev. Bob Harrington

Famed Evangelist To Hold Revival

The famed "Chaplain of Bourbon Street," the Rev. Bob Harrington will make his last revival appearance on behalf of a private church here next weekend. College Baptist Church is sponsoring the Rev. Harrington's appearances Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the Municipal Auditorium.

Harrington, a hefty, ex-Alabama football player, was officially dubbed the Chaplain of Bourbon Street in 1962 by New Orleans Mayor Victor Schiro. He terms his "parish" on Bourbon Street "12 blocks of wall-to-wall sin."

Since beginning his ministry in New Orleans in 1962, Harrington has become renowned for his work among the boozers and strippers that inhabit the dives in which he works, bringing the word of God.

His ministry is based on the philosophy, "Christ is the hope of America. The only hope. Man was not meant to live for himself, but for others — in a spirit of brotherhood. Only Christ can deliver him out of self-centeredness and fears."

Finances for his Bourbon Street work are obtained through his evangelical tours around the country. He has held revivals throughout the country, and in Paris and Vietnam. Wherever he goes, he takes his ministry where it's needed the most, where the lonely and disillusioned are finding solace in liquor and sin.

His tours are no longer done in local bars and churches. His appeal is reaching a wider audience, and his revivals will be held in football stadiums and auditoriums as are the Billy Graham Crusades. According to the Rev. Byron Orand, the Rev. Harrington had agreed to hold a revival for College Baptist Church a year ago.

"He has agreed to make his appearance here. We knew that we couldn't seat everyone who would like to hear Rev. Harrington in the church, so we got permission to use the auditorium," said the Rev. Orand, adding, "his talks are open to the public at no charge. We've gotten letters already from people from Lubbock, Lamesa, Snyder, all over the West Texas area, wanting to attend."

What type of service does the Rev. Harrington hold? "I conduct a good old fashioned Baptist service." Even when entertainers join his services, the music is not "jazzed-up,"

Albuquerque, N.M., a former pastor under whose ministry the sanctuary was constructed. Also taking part in the rites with the Rev. Leo K. Gee, pastor, and the Rev. Elra H. Phillips, associate pastor, will be Dr. Jordan Grooms, Big Spring district superintendent, and Dr. J.

There will be special music by the choir, singing the anthems "With a Voice of Singing" and "O How Amiable" under the direction of Ralph Dowden, minister of music. Mrs. Mike Skalicky, organist, also will have special works on the organ.

A time also will be set aside for recognition of several who had key roles in the expansion of the church facilities and its program. Among the members of the building committee which began the new plant — effort in 1952 are K. H. McGibbon, H. G. Keaton, J. D. Jones, Robert Stripling, Cecil McDonald, John Davis, Dave Duncan and C. Y. Clinkscales. Marvin Saunders also was a member of that committee; Lorin McDowell Jr. was unable to do so.

TO TURN AGAIN

In winter the pond freezes over, and the old mill wheel is idle. But although the landscape appears dormant, there is hidden life beneath the surface. One day it will be spring again, with water rushing over the mill wheel and corn being ground into meal.

If you have been living in a winter of your own, why not take a lesson from the old mill? The winters of our life are bleak—they are hard to weather. But forever and ever there is the chance to start again. Spring will come and your church will sustain you through doubt and disappointment and give you promise of another chance—another life.

Group Out To Help Latins Get A Piece Of The Action

HOUSTON (AP) — Armed with federal funds, a group in Houston has set out to help Mexican-American businessmen to get a piece of the action. "We've worked for other entrepreneurs, now we want to be entrepreneurs ourselves," said Richard Holgin, head of the Magnolia Business Center. Magnolia sprang from a volunteer effort to a project with a seven-member paid staff when it acquired $116,000 in Model City money earlier this year. The organization works by helping individuals and community groups who are trying to establish businesses by lining up feasibility studies and pushing loans. "We help people who want to start in business or expand or just need operating capital," said Holgin, who started Magnolia as a volunteer effort while working as a purchasing agent for a steel company. "We've helped upholstery shops, service stations, car-repair shops and tortilla factories. "We are like the Small Business Administration, except they tell people to draw up their loan applications themselves while we help them draw them up," Holgin said. "And they can guarantee loans from the bank. We have no money to give out. This is strictly technical assistance. All our money is for administration," he said. Typically, he said, someone from the barrio (neighborhood) comes to the center and presents a proposal. Magnolia goes to a management consultant and dickers for a feasibility study. Interested residents are expected to chip in on the cost. If the study shows the project is feasible, Magnolia helps the individual or group to get legal advice and a loan. Then it pulls out.

Killer Wins Ex-Wife, Conjugal Visits In Cell

BEND, Ore. (AP) — William Samuel Knight, 28, pleaded guilty to first-degree murder in Circuit Court on the condition he be remarried to his ex-wife, Ronda, 25, and that the couple be allowed a three-hour conjugal visit in prison each week. The couple was married in District Court Wednesday. Knight begins serving a life sentence in the Oregon State Penitentiary in Salem today for the slaying of a Bend tavern owner. He had pleaded innocent, but changed his plea at the start of his trial Tuesday after defense and prosecution agreed to the visitation arrangement. Knight will be eligible for parole in 10 years. Private visiting privileges for married inmates and their wives were part of a liberalized conduct code begun at the penitentiary in 1968. Requests for such visits are reviewed individually. They are not guaranteed, as in Knight's case.

No Mercy For Doctors In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Many doctors in the Dallas area say office space for them is almost unavailable, although it is plentiful for the businessman or other professional men. W. D. Hill, executive director of the Dallas Building Owners and Managers Association, said all medical buildings are almost filled. Doctors—even those with established practices—say they are concerned. They say they are special cases, requiring such facilities as examination and treatment rooms, not available in all buildings. They say they are at the mercy of building owners. Rental contracts upon renewal can be changed at any time and doctors, they say, are in no position to move if they don't like the terms. So they pay. One such incident already has occurred and is causing a stir. A multi-story medical building constructed in the 1950s was sold for $2 million. The new owners required the tenants to sign new leases which called for a $1 a square foot increase in monthly rents. Doctors say it is the highest priced professional space in Dallas, 25 cents a square foot higher than in new buildings.

Emergency Gas

HOUSTON (AP)—The possibility of obtaining an alternate source of natural gas for the city-owned Magnolia Park gas system for emergency purposes is being explored by the Houston public works department. Rockefeller said the wedding would take place in Arkansas, Connecticut or Williamsburg, Va. He said he would continue his education and the couple will live at the Rockefeller farm near Morriton, Ark.

East was guilty of gross negligence in defending against South's five spade contract today. By adopting the role of an idle spectator to the proceedings, he subjected his partner, West, to an unnecessary guess at the crucial moment. North's jump to four spades was a distinct exaggeration of his values. The presence of a fifth trump should not have influenced him into taking drastic action, inasmuch as his holding contains no marked distributional advantages. With eight high card points, and two doubletons, North has a sound free raise to two spades. West opened the King of clubs, the dummy played the ace and East signaled mild encouragement with the five. A spade was led to the queen and West was in with the ace. West was dubious of the prospects of cashing a club trick in view of South's reluctance to defend against five clubs. It appeared that East might welcome a play at this point, but there was some question in West's mind regarding which suit to attack inasmuch as he did not know where partner's strength was concentrated. After considerable soul searching, West shifted to the ten of diamonds. Declarer was in. He drew trump and proceeded to run the diamonds, discarding three hearts from dummy. He cheerfully conceded one heart trick to his opponents and claimed his contract. Inasmuch as East is most anxious to obtain a heart shift if West regains the lead, he should endeavor to convey a message to partner at trick one, by dropping the ten of clubs under the ace. Inasmuch as the ten is an unnecessarily high card, it is hoped that partner will interpret this play as a suit preference signal to indicate strength in the higher ranking of the two remaining suits — hearts and diamonds. We are aware that, in the normal course of play, a high card is a come-on and requests a continuation of the suit led. If it were East's desire to get more clubs, however, he could play the eight. The ten is an unnecessarily dramatic signal, and by common sense should be construed as a suit preference play requesting a heart lead.

and several others introduced a proposal to remove the constitutional ceiling on state public welfare spending and to allow the legislature to set the figure, which currently is $80 million a year. Other Senate measures would establish a nine-member air control agency independent of the state health department and require all children entering public elementary or secondary schools to be vaccinated or inoculated for tetanus, polio, measles, diphtheria and red measles except where there are medical or religious objections. ROCK PERMITS Dallas Sen. Mike McKool introduced a bill to permit any city, town or village to establish a police reserve force. The chief of police could call the force into service anytime he thought it "necessary to preserve the peace and enforce the law." Bills filed for introduction in the House Thursday included a measure prohibiting the sale or use of DDT after Jan. 1, 1972, except with special permits from the state agriculture commissioner. Other House proposals would: —Prohibit common-law marriages after Jan. 1, 1972. —Add tires to the list of items covered in the required auto inspections and outlaw re-grooved tires. —Require county permits for rock festivals that last over 12 hours and expect audiences of 5,000 or more. —Give individuals the right to sue corporations, governments or other individuals for polluting the air and water.

Airman Is Outstanding

A member of the 3560th Supply Squadron's not operationally ready supply (NORS) section at Webb AFB, Airman First Class Joe D. Thurman emerged on top in the training wing category of the 1970 Air Training Command's outstanding airman contest for the first term. Airman Thurman will receive a certificate of achievement from Lt. Gen. George B. Simler, Air Training Command commander. Other nominees will receive a letter of appreciation from Brig. Gen. Michael C. McCarthy, Air Training Command deputy chief of staff, materiel. Airman Thurman arrived here October, 1969, and was assigned to the NORS control center of the supply squadron. His primary duties consist of the processing, monitoring and reporting of all verified priority requests applicable to the J-55 aircraft engine. A native of Sulphur Springs, he is married to the former Miss Bobbie McCarty of Commerce. He is a graduate of East Texas State University with a bachelor of arts degree in economics and general business.

Colder Air Sweeps Away Fog, Drizzle

Colder air eased across Texas toward the southeast today, sweeping away fog, drizzle and clouds. There was still enough fog in early morning, however, that visibility dropped to less than one mile through the coastal plains. Conditions were similar inland to Victoria, San Antonio, Austin and Houston. Light showers fell in Northeast Texas at the same time, mostly in an area from Sulphur Springs to Texarkana. Near dawn the cold front had pushed as far south as a line linking Lufkin, College Station, Austin and Del Rio. Skies cleared in its wake and temperatures dropped well below freezing in the Texas Panhandle. Another chilly night was in prospect with forecasts calling for temperatures as low as 22 in West Texas.

Air Force Cuts Nurses' Tours

The Air Force recently announced a change of tour length for prior service nurses from four years to three years. This change in tour length for prior service nurse applicants allows the Air Force to compete more favorably with the other services. Any applicant who cannot qualify for retirement when he or she reaches 60 would be ineligible for appointment or voluntary recall to active duty. However many factors including constructive service time, maximum age for grade, previous military record and physical qualifications will be considered. Interested persons may contact T.Sgt. Glen H. Ragsdale, USAF Recruiting Office, 322 North Texas St., Odessa.

Group Out To Help Latins Get A Piece Of The Action

HOUSTON (AP) — Armed with federal funds, a group in Houston has set out to help Mexican-American businessmen to get a piece of the action.

"We've worked for other entrepreneurs, now we want to be entrepreneurs ourselves," said Richard Holgin, head of the Magnolia Business Center.

Magnolia sprang from a volunteer effort to a project with a seven-member paid staff when it acquired $116,000 in Model City money earlier this year.

The organization works by helping individuals and community groups who are trying to establish businesses by lining up feasibility studies and pushing loans.

"We help people who want to start in business or expand or just need operating capital," said Holgin, who started Magnolia as a volunteer effort while working as a purchasing agent for a steel company.

"We've helped upholstery shops, service stations, car repair shops and tortilla factories. We are like the Small Business Administration, except they tell people to draw up their loan applications themselves while we help them draw them up," Holgin said.

"And they can guarantee loans from the bank. We have no money to give out. This is strictly technical assistance. All our money is for administration," he said.

Typically, he said, someone from the barrio (neighborhood) comes to the center and presents a proposal. Magnolia goes to a management consultant and dickers for a feasibility study. Interested residents are expected to chip in on the cost.

If the study shows the project is feasible, Magnolia helps the individual or group to get legal advice and a loan. Then it pulls out.

An 18-member board governs Magnolia. Most grew up in the barrio. No one takes special credit for the program. As Holgin said, the day of the "patron, the Mexican leader," is out.

"But they are all leaders in their own right," he said.

Killer Wins Ex-Wife, Conjugal Visits In Cell

BEND, Ore. (AP) — William Samuel Knight, 28, pleaded guilty to first-degree murder in Circuit Court on the condition he be remarried to his ex-wife, Ronda, 25, and that the couple be allowed a three-hour conjugal visit in prison each week.

The couple was married in District Court Wednesday.

Knight begins serving a life sentence in the Oregon State Penitentiary in Salem today for the slaying of a Bend tavern owner.

He had pleaded innocent, but changed his plea at the start of his trial Tuesday after defense and prosecution agreed to the visitation arrangement.

Knight will be eligible for parole in 10 years. Private visiting privileges for married inmates and their wives were part of a liberalized conduct code begun at the penitentiary in 1968.

Requests for such visits are reviewed individually. They are not guaranteed, as in Knight's case.

No Mercy For Doctors In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Many doctors in the Dallas area say office space for them is almost unavailable, although it is plentiful for the businessman or other professional men.

W. D. Hill, executive director of the Dallas Building Owners and Managers Association, said all medical buildings are almost filled.

Doctors—even those with established practices—say they are concerned.

They say they are special cases, requiring such facilities as examination and treatment rooms, not available in all buildings. They say they are at the mercy of building owners.

Rental contracts upon renewal can be changed at any time and doctors, they say, are in no position to move if they don't like the terms. So they pay.

One such incident already has occurred and is causing a stir. A multi-story medical building constructed in the 1950s was sold for $2 million. The new owners required the tenants to sign new leases which called for a $1 a square foot increase in monthly rents. Doctors say it is the highest priced professional space in Dallas, 25 cents a square foot higher than in new buildings.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Winthrop Paul Rockefeller, son of former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, and his fiancée, Miss Deborah Sage, have tentatively set their wedding for late spring or early summer.

Rockefeller said the wedding would take place in Arkansas, Connecticut or Williamsburg, Va. He said he would continue his education and the couple will live at the Rockefeller farm near Morrilton, Ark.

Opening lead: King of ♣

East was guilty of gross negligence in defending against South's five spade contract today. By adopting the role of an idle spectator to the proceedings, he subjected his partner, West, to an unnecessary guess at the crucial moment.

North's jump to four spades was a distinct exaggeration of his values. The presence of a fifth trump should not have influenced him into taking drastic action, inasmuch as his holding contains no marked distributional advantages. With eight high card points, and two doubletons, North has a sound free raise to two spades.

West opened the king of clubs, the dummy played the ace and East signaled mild encouragement with the five. A spade was led to the queen and West was in with the ace.

West was dubious of the prospects of cashing a club trick in view of South's reluctance to defend against five clubs. It appeared that East might welcome a play at this point, but there was some question in West's mind regarding which suit to attack inasmuch as he did not know where partner's strength was concentrated.

After considerable soul searching, West shifted to the ten of diamonds. Declarer was in. He drew trump and proceeded to run the diamonds, discarding three hearts from dummy. He cheerfully conceded one heart trick to his opponents and claimed his contract.

Inasmuch as East is most anxious to obtain a heart shift if West regains the lead, he should endeavor to convey a message to partner at trick one, by dropping the ten of clubs under the ace. Inasmuch as the ten is an unnecessarily high card, it is hoped that partner will interpret this play as a suit preference signal to indicate strength in the higher ranking of the two remaining suits — hearts and diamonds.

We are aware that, in the normal course of play, a high card is a come-on and requests a continuation of the suit led. If it were East's desire to get more clubs, however, he could play the eight. The ten is an unnecessarily dramatic signal, and by common sense should be construed as a suit preference play requesting a heart lead.

Colder Air Sweeps Away Fog, Drizzle

By The Associated Press Colder air eased across Texas toward the southeast today, sweeping away fog, drizzle and clouds.

There was still enough fog in early morning, however, that visibility dropped to less than one mile through the coastal plains. Conditions were similar inland to Victoria, San Antonio, Austin and Houston.

Light showers fell in Northeast Texas at the same time, mostly in an area from Sulphur Springs to Texarkana.

Near dawn the cold front had pushed as far south as a line linking Lufkin, College Station, Austin and Del Rio. Skies cleared in its wake and temperatures dropped well below freezing in the Texas Panhandle.

Another chilly night was in prospect with forecasts calling for temperatures as low as 22 in West Texas.

Legislators Quit Job For Weekend

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislators were on their usual long weekend today although Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes predicted it would be the "workingest" session in history.

But few doubt some long hours are going to be spent on taxes and welfare spending and other issues which would require special sessions.

Lawmakers quit for the weekend about lunch time Thursday. They will not be back until 11 a.m. Monday.

100 NEW BILLS

Before they left, some 100 bills were introduced in the House and Senate.

Sen. Joe Bernal, San Antonio, once again proposed lowering age from 21 to 18.

After introducing the proposed constitutional amendment, Bernal said the proposal got just seven votes in the Senate in 1967 and 17 votes — short of the 21 needed for approval — in 1969. He said this session 10 senators are sponsoring the measure, which would go on the statewide ballot at the 1972 general election.

ROCK PERMITS

Dallas Sen. Mike McKool introduced a bill to permit any city, town or village to establish a police reserve force. The chief of police could call the force into service anytime he thought it "necessary to have additional officers to preserve the peace and enforce the law."

Bills filed for introduction in the House Thursday included a measure prohibiting the sale or use of DDT after Jan. 1, 1972, except with special permits from the state agriculture commissioner.

Other House proposals would:

—Prohibit common-law marriages after Jan. 1, 1972.

—Add tires to the list of items covered in the required auto inspections and outlaw re-grooved tires.

—Require county permits for rock festivals that last over 12 hours and expect audiences of 5,000 or more.

—Give individuals the right to sue corporations, governments or other individuals for polluting the air and water.

Airman Is Outstanding

A member of the 3560th Supply Squadron's not operationally ready supply (NORS) section at Webb AFB, Airman First Class Joe D. Thurman emerged on top in the training wing category of the 1970 Air Training Command's outstanding airman contest for the first term.

Airman Thurman will receive a certificate of achievement from Lt. Gen. George B. Simler, Air Training Command commander. Other nominees will receive a letter of appreciation from Brig. Gen. Michael C. McCarthy, Air Training Command deputy chief of staff, materiel.

Airman Thurman arrived here October, 1969, and was assigned to the NORS control center of the supply squadron. His primary duties consist of the processing, monitoring and reporting of all verified priority requests applicable to the J-85 aircraft engine.

A native of Sulphur Springs, he is married to the former Miss Bobbie McCarty of Commerce. He is a graduate of East Texas State University with a bachelor of arts degree in economics and general business.

'Worst' Could Be Good One

The legislature has gone to work. Veterans in Austin say it's the start of the "worst" session but, then that's the easy forecast. Legislative leaders — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes in the Senate and Speaker Gus Mutscher in the House — learned a lot last session. They learned that Gov. Preston Smith is a no-nonsense artisan of the art of the possible. They also learned that some legislators dally long over hard choices.

Gov. Barnes' plea last week was for cooperation. It will take that to complete — or even substantially handle the very significant work ahead. Focus is on money, of course but before a tax bill can be written legislators will have to draft their desires and estimate the costs. There are the criminal code revision and new election rules, the "welfare crisis" and college expansions, and hundreds of other proposals.

Aiming point — in dollar terms — is $645 million in new money. The state will have about $5 billion of income from current sources. As a measure of the size of tax bite required, the limited sales tax — the last big tax bill — produced $550,062,226.71 last year.

About half the new money requests is for public welfare — $302.1 million for the biennium. The legislature will likely wait for a trend in Washington (since two-thirds of state welfare funds come from there) before wrestling with the issue in Austin — if delay is possible.

At any rate, the legislature — and every member is a volunteer — faces a stout challenge to solve some fairly routine problems of government. This could be a good legislative session, but it'll take a lot of hard work and cooperation — intelligently mustered.

But Service Must Improve

There's no use bewailing the report that a postal rate increase is likely to be declared soon after the first board of governors of the newly authorized U.S. Postal Service gets down to business. That particular bit of handwriting has been on the wall for quite some time.

The greater likelihood of a pay-as-you-go basis under the public corporation setup was one of the main reasons for adopting this system after almost 200 years of having the postal service directly under the thumb of Congress. As a matter of fact, the law requires that the postal service be operated so as to generate sufficient revenue to break even.

The only catch is that we will have to pay for the improvement — starting with a probable increase to eight cents in the basic letter mail rate. That might be acceptable, but only if there is substantial improvement in a badly cracked tradition of service.

Treaty Pledges

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Some members of Congress are still making speeches which assert that the United States should not have undertaken to assist South Vietnam against its aggressors without a "declaration of war." There are plenty of factors, however, indicating that this country could have made a great mistake by adopting such a course.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, it would have been necessary under a "declaration of war" to halt commerce by sea from Red China and the Soviet Union to North Vietnam. Likewise, all other ships would have been subject to search and seizure. But primarily the United States would have been brought into direct conflict with the Soviets and Red China. The question is whether the Russian navy would have decided to protect its shipping and defy the American navy. This is just one of the many complications that a "declaration of war" could have produced.

IT IS WELL KNOWN that the Soviets and the Red Chinese began sending munitions and military weapons and advisors into North Vietnam when Hanoi started its aggression. Any "declaration of war" could have resulted in hostilities against Russian and Red Chinese groups stationed in North Vietnam.

Under the terms of the Southeast Asia Treaty, the United States had committed itself to help the member and protocol nations who asked for aid. As for authority from Congress, President Johnson obtained in August, 1964, what is known as the "Gulf of Tonkin resolution" when American naval vessels were attacked by the North Vietnamese. At that time it was generally taken for granted that Congress, by its resolution, was giving consent to use American troops to carry out the mission of defending South Vietnam against aggression. The resolution was repealed recently, but Congress keeps on appropriating funds for the military operations in Vietnam.

WHAT IS OVERLOOKED by many critics is that America made a pledge to protect the smaller nations in Southeast Asia. If South Vietnam had not been assisted, most of the other countries in that area would have fallen under Communist attack. The United States was plainly fulfilling the commitment it made in the Southeast Asia Treaty, which had been ratified by the Senate. There was no necessity for a formal "declaration of war," as this could have meant America might have had to fight against Russia and Red China — who have been our real adversaries on the Asian continent and the chief allies of North Vietnam.

TO GO BACK now and say that there should have been a "declaration of war" is to argue that, whenever a treaty obligation is honored as a nation requests assistance, the United States must get authority from Congress for the use of the military forces. This in itself might intensify the difficult situations that arise when major powers like the Soviet Union and Communist China meddle in the affairs of smaller countries.

AMERICA HAS stationed in Europe a considerable force to protect the members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. No "declaration of war" is required to resist attacks on those nations. Not only is it recognized that a long congressional debate is impractical when a military crisis occurs, but it is wise to let potential enemies know that the United States can act instantly.

Reclaiming Lost Legacy

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — A new information program by the mutual fund industry appears gradually to be reclaiming a lost legacy, an image that became badly soiled during the wild rise and fall of prices during the 1960s.

Those were the days when the cult of performance polluted the environment of the entire industry, even though a good many funds never indulged in the cult's frenzied and questionable activities.

To a great extent, performance meant speculation, the pursuit of quick gains in-out trading, and flirtations with the shares of young, untested, glamorous, superficial companies. It ended with a bang, whimper and big losses.

In the process, the public could hardly be blamed for having thought that funds were a speculative tool meant for big, quick returns in a frenzied atmosphere, rather than for solid, long-term gains under more stable conditions.

Ignored by the public was the over-the-years record of some funds, although the industry must share the blame for this also.

When prices were rising, that is, relatively few in the industry denounced the performance cult. The faults were there, they knew, but with the market soaring so nicely they apparently felt it was easier to apply cosmetics to cover the blemishes.

Now the Investment Company Institute, the trade organization that includes most of the big funds, seems to be staring in the mirror and recognizing that while it might be a bit homelier than it thought, the public might also respect those age lines.

And so, in a new publication called Mutual Funds Forum, it asks: "Why didn't the mutual funds perform better than they did in the 1969-1970 market decline?" And its answers, straightforwardly if not yet convincingly:

"Mutual funds performed essentially as they could be expected in the prevailing market conditions, given their stated investment objectives and commitments and considering the fact that funds are long-term investment vehicles."

Of course. And few will disagree: "All mutual funds should be judged by their long-term aims and performance, not for the short term." An encouraging statement, a return to the stable foundation of the industry's beginnings.

And what is that long-term record that was lost sight of during those days five years ago when some funds showed amazing short-term gains—much of which were subsequently lost?

As stated by the institute, this is the record, as of Jan. 1, 1970, of a hypothetical $10,000 investment made Jan. 1, 1960:

Commercial banks time and savings deposits, $14,273; U.S. Savings Bonds, $14,580; savings and loan associations, $15,230; five per cent interest compounded quarterly, $16,436; the Dow Jones Industrial average $16,450; the Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Index, $20,950; the mutual fund average $21,255.

Of course the mutual fund average hides some pretty poor records along with some very hefty gains; and though it appears to be at the top of the list, one wonders what the record would be for a moderately well informed investor choosing blue chip stocks selectively. Somewhat higher perhaps.

Cold, Cold Heart

NEW YORK (AP) — These are the days when a man wishes he could dig himself a hole and hibernate like a bear or a groundhog.

There really isn't much point in being above ground from now until April. All a fellow would miss is a few snowfalls, a common cold or two, and some twinges of arthritis and the rheumatoid.

Man is simply not fit society for himself at this season of the year. His temper is worn threadbare; his heart is a red icicle; the blood in his veins flows like clabbered milk.

Yes, the world is a vast yawn. Everyone wants to resign from the rat race and become a beachcomber. There are a lot of stirring things worth doing, but no one feels like getting them done.

Husband is grouchy, housewife is touchy, the children are surly, nature is sullen. The mood of the human race matches the color of the gray-clad sky. Everyone acts as if he were on the way to a funeral, and looks as somber-faced as if it were his own.

It seems like it is always either snowing or raining—or getting ready to do both. The leaky-footed weather goes on grim day after grim day after grim day. The sun, when it does peek forth from a mantle of clouds, shines as bleakly as a miser's grin. At night the wind whines and scratches at the door like an unfed dog.

The postman comes in bearing a post card which is soon thumbtacked on the office bulletin board. The post card is from the boss, who is vacationing in Florida. It says:

"Hi gang! "Hope all you boys and girls are keeping on your toes. Having a wonderful time here, but miss you all like the devil. Went around the golf course yesterday in 89, which exactly matched the temperature and the daily price the hotel is charging us for a room. How's that for a coincidence?"

The office staff clusters around the bulletin board moodily reading the post card. Then silently, one by one, they put on their coats and hats and adjourn to the nearest bar.

If Santa Claus appeared in public now, he'd be lynched from a frozen elm tree or tarred and feathered and ridden out of town on a rail. Most of the toys he brought have been broken, and most of the bills left in his wake are piled on the living room table still unpaid. It looks like some of them will still be there come the Fourth of July.

Yes, right now the world is its own shivering palbear. Is there no consolation? Yes. "This too shall pass."

Agnew Is OK

Marquis Childs

By WILLIAM S. WHITE (Substituting for Marquis Childs)

WASHINGTON — Spiro Agnew is alive and far from ill in Washington. He is doing so well, in fact, as to raise the strong probability that those now happily predicting his political demise in 1972 may later wish to change the subject somewhat hurriedly.

To talk with the Vice-President is — well — an experience in an administration, which, however efficient, is not burdened with colorful men. This, agree with him or not, is a "character" in both the colloquial and the basic meanings of the word.

HE IS ALSO — and in this there is a special irony — by any measure the most truly intellectual and the most literate man within the Nixon establishment. That he has made enemies is the understatement of a year. That he has made friends is, of course, rarely denied by his detractors. The big thing wrong with their estimate is that the number of his friends is vastly underestimated.

From a conversation, not an "interview," with the Vice-President, there emerge certain strong impressions for which this columnist is solely responsible. These may be described about as follows:

AGNEW, quite naturally, is deeply concerned to do a good job as Vice-President — but he has got less Potomac fever than anybody in public life ever known to this observer. He would leave that office quite without tears — external or internal — should President Nixon indeed decide that his own chances for re-election would be enhanced by another running mate.

In such an eventuality — which Agnew sees as possible only because nothing in politics can in advance be branded as inconceivable — the present Vice-President would certainly go forth to support the new ticket, including his replacement.

AGNEW WOULD do this, that is to say, on the assumption that his successor was within mental shouting range of his own political philosophy. Should that successor be somebody like, say, Mayor John Lindsay of New York, Agnew would quietly return to private life and keep his mouth firmly shut.

Finally, Spiro Agnew would be quite prepared to dump Spiro Agnew should he conclude, somewhat down the road, that he would be a handicap to President Nixon. Admittedly, this sounds altogether too noble for any politician to contemplate, but the whole point is that one is dealing here with a most untypical politician.

SO MUCH for impressions based on talks with the Vice-President. What follows now are views of my own.

First, Agnew could not be dumped without creating a crisis in the G.O.P. that would overnight charge up George Wallace of Alabama as a vital threat to Mr. Nixon.

Second, Agnew has a personal constituency comparable to that of only one other Vice-President in history, Lyndon Johnson. It is true that a good many Republican functionaries — governors, senators — are far from Agnew admirers. But it is also true that millions of voters are.

My Answer

Jesus said, "When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, nor thy kinsmen, nor thy rich neighbors, but call the poor, the maimed, lame, and the blind." (Luke 14:12-13.) Do you know of any individuals, church groups or Christians who even occasionally do this? Did Jesus mean what He said? A.S.D.

I'm sure He did. He wasn't in the habit of wasting words.

Yes, I know some people who do this. It was William and Catherine Booth, who founded the Salvation Army, who invited thousands of homeless for dinner in their Salvation Army citadels and kitchens. The church has fed millions in overseas relief during famines, wars and pestilences. Even today, there are agriculture missionaries, who are providing an abundance of food for the impoverished of the world.

My wife and I have had "open house" for a long time, welcoming the young people of our community to share our provisions and hospitality.

But, the inference of your question is well taken. There are too few Christians who carry out this great command of our Lord. And by so doing we forfeit wonderful blessing. As a rule we are all inclined to invite people who can reciprocate, but Jesus told us to invite the poor, the maimed and the blind. What the world needs now is love, Christian love. We need a revival of Christian compassion.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey. (Matthew 25:15)

PRAYER: Dear Father, take every talent we possess and use it to reflect Your beauty and love in a world where there is, much needed. Amen.

Countdown Starting For Super Bowl Go

MIAMI (AP) — The countdown to Super Bowl V accelerated today for the Baltimore Colts and Dallas Cowboys, but the big buildup inherent in previous summit scraps remained conspicuous by its absence.

In contrast to the bruhaha that preceded each of the four AFL-NFL confrontations, the main conversation piece as the Colts and Cowboys began final preparation for Sunday's championship showdown was the physical status of Walt Garrison, No. 2 wheel in Dallas' dynamic running game.

Through no fault of their own, the Super Bowl foes have the look of a pair of Crusaders with no Holy War to fight.

The Colts, led by incomparable Johnny Unitas, will be out to atone for their upset loss to the New York Jets in Super Bowl III two years ago.

The Cowboys will be out to prove, once and for all, that they are capable of winning the Big Game. And both teams will be out to claim the winner's shares of $15,000 per player.

HOSTILITY MISSING
But the open hostilities of the AFL-NFL battles have been missing, Baltimore and Dallas were allies, under the NFL banner, until merger and realignment put them in opposing camps last season. Neither has an axe to grind in the name of league prestige.

"No, I don't want to win it for the old AFC," said Billy Rae Smith, 35-year-old war horse of the Colts' defensive unit. "I'd like to win it for old B. R. and the Colts."

The Colts' hopes will be riding on the 37-year-old arm of Unitas, whose charisma has been dominant during the week building up to the game.

Dallas will counter Unitas' passing with the league's most potent ground attack, a ball control force led by super rookie Duane Thomas—and Garrison, if he's healthy. The Cowboys' stocky fullback came out of the NFC title game against San Francisco two weeks ago with a sprained ankle and chipped collarbone.

"I would think Garrison will start," Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry said Thursday. "He's been running with Thomas in our first unit."

"We would have been in bad shape if we only had one week to prepare for Baltimore. We had six players who might not have been able to play."

Both clubs tapered off Thursday after working out for three days in balmy, 80-degree weather. The forecast for Sunday calls for partly-cloudy skies, temperatures in the 70s and northerly winds up to 15 miles per hour.

Hawks Catch Cadets Here On Saturday

Idle in Western Conference play since Dec. 12, the Howard County JC Jayhawks play another one 'for keeps' here Saturday night against New Mexico Military Institute. Tipoff time is 7:30 p.m.

The Jayhawks will have played six games in a row when they meet the Bronchos. They won't appear here again until Jan. 26, when they catch Clarendon College.

HC pushed its record to 14-7 by defeating the Abilene Christian College freshmen, 72-57, here Thursday night.

The Big Spring collegians were, no doubt, merciful. They maintained an 18 to 10-point lead throughout the struggle and the final outcome probably could have been more pronounced had the Hawks really applied themselves.

As it was, coach Harold Wilder gave his reserves a lot of work. They couldn't score but they did a decent job of containing the ACC attack.

Archie Myers, the sensational freshman from Cleveland, Miss., again paced the Hawks with 27 points. Only other local player to hit in double figures was Decell Lewis. He had 12.

Dwayne Day led the Wildkittens with 21 points. Jimmy Hamm helped out with 12.

Myers tallied 17 points the first half and hit 15 of the first 30 points the locals counted.

Melvin Perez, who failed to get on the board in the Hawks' last start, broke his drought by counting from out front in the first five seconds of play. He scored a total of nine points, although he never put the ball in the air very much.

Jack Nicklaus, who passed up last week's season-opening tournament in Los Angeles, started 1971 with a 72 at Cypress.

The Ohioan, whose five 1970 titles included the British Open, was bunched with Palmer, Masters champion Billy Casper and several others at even par.

Shaw and Nichols had early tee times Thursday and played most of their rounds when the weather was warm and calm on the ocean side courses. Blustery winds moved in later in the day.

Shaw made two big birdie putts, from 25 and 30 feet. Nichols outdid him, however, with putts of 40 and 45 feet for two of his six birds.

"A putter can make a race-horse out of a mule," said Nichols, whose chances of holding the lead alone were killed when he put a three-iron shot into the Pacific on No. 17 and took a double bogey six.

COAHOMA BANQUET Dykes Speaker Here Saturday

Spike Dykes, former head coach at Coahoma and Big Spring, will be the principal speaker at the Saturday night All-Sports banquet sponsored by the Coahoma Quarterback Club for all athletes (both boys and girls) in Coahoma High School.

The party gets under way at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union building on the Howard County Junior College campus here.

Dykes is now the head coach and athletic director in the Alice school system.

Several awards will be presented, among them the Lineman of the Year and Back of the Year certificates offered by the Daily Herald.

Bernie Hagins, head coach at Coahoma who guided the football team to a 5-5 record last fall, will serve as master of ceremonies.

A full house is anticipated for the banquet. Twelve football seniors will be among those present.

Tickets for the banquet sell for $2 each and will be available at the door.

Hagins is in his fifth year as head coach at Coahoma, after having served as Dykes' assistant for a couple of years.

His over-all record is 34-18 and he has had only one losing season. That was in 1966, when his team finished with a 4-6 mark.

His 1968 Bulldogs were district champions and finished with a 10-2 record. They ultimately lost a heartbreaker to the eventual state champion, Sonora, in the mud at San Angelo, 7-6.

His 1969 club finished at 9-1, losing only to Seagraves.

An estimated 150 athletes and their coaches will be honor guests at the banquet.

Tom Shaw Counting On Major Pickup

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Tom Shaw compared himself to Arnold Palmer as he discussed his winless 1970 season on the professional golf tour.

"I kept thinking I'd win a tournament. But, just like Arnold, I ran out of tournaments," said the 28-year-old blond from Oregon after shooting a four-under-par 68 Thursday to share the first round lead with Bobby Nichols and Terry Dill in the $135,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Championship.

Palmer, the game's all-time leading money winner, also went without a tournament victory in 1970. But with $128,000 in prize money, the year was no disaster.

Shaw won the Doral Open and Avco Classic in 1969 and totaled $83,332 in winnings. But a reversal in his fairway fortunes last year made him one of the tour's second class citizens — a non exempt player. He was 68th on the money list, with $34,004 in 1970.

"There was no big change in my game. My scores were just too high," he said Thursday after his sub-par round at the 6,464-yard Cypress Point course.

Nichols, who made his 1970 season with a $60,000 first-place check in the Dow Jones Open, also played his opening round at Cypress, the shortest of the three courses used in the Crosby. Dill's 68 was at the four-year old Spyglass Hill course and was the best round ever at the 6,972-yard course in Crosby competition.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Don Slatten, the outgoing wrestling promoter who has booked another show here tonight, would dearly love to engage in a combination boxing-wrestling match with a champion like Joe Frazier or Cassius Clay.

Slatten isn't boastful about his reservoir of talent (he's been active in the ring for 11 years now) but he thinks any experienced heavyweight grappler could make a champion boxer say "uncle" in the briefest of times.

A boxer like Frazier or Clay with a thunderous punch might stiffen a wrestler with one punch if he got a clean shot at a grappler's chin but that probably wouldn't happen. The wrestler would stay on his bicycle until he sighted an opening, then would likely grab the boxer by the arm and snap it.

The reader might recall that Clay has dared renowned athletes like Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain and pro football greats to duel him in the ring but Cassius wants no part of a wrestler. Such a match would be too uneven and no one knows it better than Cassius.

The great Jack Dempsey, posing as a wrestling referee a few years after he had retired as a boxer, was working a bout involving a villain named Bill Curry and Curry inflicted a grievous back injury that put Jack in traction for a while.

Joe Louis tried it both as a wrestler and a wrestling referee for a while after his boxing career ended. He was much too slow to ever succeed as a grappler.

Louis developed a healthy respect for Gene Kinicki after he turned to refereeing. It seems Gene roughed up the Brown Bomber in a ring one time and Joe never forgot it. He knew he didn't stand a chance with Kinicki in man-to-man combat.

Louis, a tremendous and lovable character in his own right, once earned about $8,000 in one week working as a referee in West Texas rings but his value as a drawing card diminished after one appearance in each town in that role.

Slatten, who is identified in the ring as The Lawman, wants some day to tap the gold that appearances in Japan, Hong Kong and Australia offer.

American wrestlers who appeared over there say upwards to 30,000 are turning out for wrestling shows featuring men of ordinary mold from this side of the pond. The promoters not only offer the Americans tremendous purses but pay their expenses there and back.

Japan, of course, is enjoying unparalleled prosperity because it is selling goods to "our side" and "their side." The man-in-the-street in Tokyo is making much more money than he ever did before and doesn't have too many places to spend it. For that reason, he's become a sports buff and storms the gate when ever there's a boxing event, a wrestling show or a baseball game booked in the area.

Denis Menke, the multi-talented infielder for the Houston Astros who got his professional baseball start in Midland, collected his 1,000th career hit in the last game of the 1970 season when he singled in the seventh inning off San Francisco's Gaylord Perry.

Menke put in most of his playing time at shortstop but he logged at least one game in six different positions last season. He performed at first base, second, third, left field and right field, as well as at short, for the Astros.

One of the San Francisco 49er football fans, enraged that Dallas Cowboy Steve Kiner had turned to taunt them near the end of that recent NFC thriller in San Francisco, threw a bottle at Steve but hit Bob Lilly in the back.

Lilly turned to Kiner to groan:

"If you don't shut the hell up, you can forget about Miami. We'll be lucky to make it to the bus."

Devine Is New Packer Coach

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Dan Devine wasn't here Thursday to hear perhaps the most important announcement of his life, but even in absentia he made one thing perfectly clear.

At 46—the same age Vince Lombardi was when he took charge of the Green Bay Packers 12 years ago—Devine isn't too old to tackle a new challenge.

One of the most successful college football coaches in the nation, Devine is willing to give up his coaching job and athletic directorship at the University of Missouri—where tenure gave him total security—to try to fill the National Football League footsteps of the legendary Lombardi.

Devine was given a five-year contract at undisclosed terms as head coach and general manager of the Packers. His mission is clear: to restore the pioneer NFL club to somewhere near the heights it ascended in the 1960s under Lombardi.

The mantle was passed to Devine, the seventh head coach in Packer history, after three disappointing seasons under Phil Bengtson.

Bengtson was handpicked by Lombardi as his successor in 1968, when the Packers were riding a crest of three consecutive NFL and two straight Super Bowl titles. But his three-

Joanne Sawyer led the Grady team with 11 points. Billy Howard had 23 for the Grady boys.

The Grady teams return to play Jan. 18 in Coahoma and will be the hosts in a Jan. 21-22 tournament.

Barber Calls 7:30 Meeting

All persons interested in the Little League program here are invited to meet with Mickey McConnell, a representative out of Little League's National headquarters, and district commissioner Jack Barber at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the Reddy-Room of the Texas Electric Service building.

Plans and problems concerning the Little League movement will be discussed.

McConnell arrived in the area Thursday and is to spend about two more weeks on the road before he returns to his home in Williamsport, Pa.

Barber said there is some likelihood that Odessa will become affiliated with Little League ball. If so, they will join Midland, Andrews and Big Spring in District 3. Thirteen leagues now comprise the district.

McConnell brought with him two films pertinent to Little League play which will be screened tonight.

McConnell is Director of Training and Director of the Senior Division of LL ball. He formerly was in professional baseball.

The Braless Gal

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My very efficient secretary, who had been with me for 12 years, retired. After several weeks of interviews, our daughter sent a 26-year-old former college friend of hers to apply for the position. Though very plain, she appeared to be personable, competent and well-groomed, so I hired her. In the past months she has shown promise of developing into a top-notch secretary. Meanwhile my wife is furious with my daughter for sending this girl over and she's angry with me for hiring her. The reason, the girl is well-endowed and she goes braless. Good secretaries are at a premium, and I mean to keep this one, short of breaking up my home. Her going braless doesn't bother me, and besides,

I feel it is her business and nobody else's. By the way, our own daughter (who is equally well-endowed) goes braless, too, but this doesn't bother my wife. Now, what do you think, Abby? NO HANKY PANKY IN PORTLAND DEAR NO HANKY: Tell your wife to run the house and to let you run your office. Better a braless secretary than one who's brainless. DEAR ABBY: My boy friend grew a beard and it looks crummy. The hair on his head is brown, and his beard grew in red! Also, it's very uneven and it looks like moths got into it in spots. He knows it looks funny, and he knows I don't like it, but he won't shave it off because to him it's a symbol of his independence, and he knows his parents hate it. And I certainly would not think of writing to my parents about our differences. I've tried to get this across to my husband without success. He claims that parents should know how their children's lives are, and that our children are old enough to realize that not only "he" thinks I am in the wrong all the time. The children ask me questions about their grandmother's letters, and I don't know what to do about the whole mess. FED UP DEAR FED: Some counseling from a competent, impartial third party might improve your marriage. If it doesn't, your alternative is to clear out and take the children with you. Suggest that to your husband. If you continue to hang around while he tries to punish you in the manner you describe, it's a toss-up as to who's sicker — you or your husband.

DEAR ABBY: For years whenever my husband and I have had a quarrel, he has written his side of it to his mother, and she in return has sent (addressed to both of us) acid letters, condemning me and blaming me for ruining her son's happiness. For about a year I have refused to read her letters, so my husband has been reading these letters aloud to our children, ages 8, 13, and 16. I have always felt that husband-wife quarrels, no matter how trivial, were private, so I have tried not to quarrel in front of our children. And I certainly would not think of writing to my parents about our differences. I've tried to get this across to my husband without success. He claims that parents should know how their children's lives are, and that our children are old enough to realize that not only "he" thinks I am in the wrong all the time. Using Diaphragm

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: An item in your column has me in a panic. You said that the male sperm survives 72 hours. I have started using a diaphragm as we have many children as we can take care of it. I have followed directions carefully. They state that the diaphragm may be removed after eight hours. If the sperm lives 72 hours, could one become pregnant by removing it? What about leaving it in for three days (72 hours)? Would that be dangerous? I have been a nervous wreck since I read that column.—Mrs. J.D.

Dear Doctor: I have tried talking a friend into using a diaphragm but she insists she is scared to death it wouldn't work.—M.M.

If you've been following the directions, stop being panicky. They tell you to coat the diaphragm with a spermicidal jelly. This kills the sperm — but not instantly. The eight-hour wait gives time for the jelly to do its work, and then it is safe to remove the diaphragm. It would do no harm to leave it in for three days if that would alleviate your worry, but there's no need to do so.

In other words, the diaphragm and jelly together provide both a physical and a chemical barrier to the sperm. Next to "the pill" or total abstinence, the diaphragm is about as effective a means of preventing conception as there is — it is rated at from 80 to 97 per cent effective, depending, it would seem, on how carefully directions are followed. And that's pretty good, since even with the pill, people occasionally forget to take one.

There are these further considerations:

A woman should be fitted for the proper size, and instructed as to its proper positioning. She should have the fit checked every two or three years.

The diaphragm is not suitable if there is a "dropped" uterus or if the vaginal walls are so relaxed as to preclude a snug fitting. Both of these conditions, of course, would be detected at the time of original fitting or subsequent checks.

The diaphragm, when understood and correctly used, is a highly reliable method.

Simplest and best way to make such arrangements is to write to the dean of medical school closest to you, and ask for such forms as need to be made out.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I want to donate my body to science. My profession is teaching and I feel that this way I can go on teaching forever. (Well, almost forever.) How does one make arrangements for disposal of one's body? I know others must want this information.—Mrs. E.B.

Yes, I get an increasing number of such inquiries, although not what I'd call a flood of them.

It Means End To Cheap Oil

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — The move of Middle East oil producing nations to raise crude prices and taxes "means that foreign governments in the future will determine oil prices instead of oil producing companies," says the president of the American Association of Oil Drilling Contractors.

"This development," said President H. B. Harkins, coupled with the shortage of U. S. oil and gas, presages an end to cheap oil and gas supplies.

He said the Middle East development was final proof that the United States must launch a long-range program to encourage the discovery and development of domestic oil and gas producing abilities.

Johnson Hospitalized With Mild Pneumonia

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson was under treatment here today for "probable viral pneumonia." Friends speculated he was hospitalized because he "won't stay in bed."

One friend said Johnson, flown to Brooke Army General Hospital Wednesday night, "just has a bad cold that he's had all week."

He was admitted to the same special penthouse suite where he stayed last March. Mrs. Johnson was by his side then also.

The former chief executive came to the hospital this week—as he did last year—under a cloak of secrecy. His hospitalization was not publicly known for nearly 24 hours this time.

Johnson avoided the spotlight for about two years after leaving office, enjoying the privacy of his ranch.

House Diary," however, both have made frequent public appearances.

Johnson doesn't care for addressing large groups but will speak to small gatherings on occasion. Traditionally, there is little or no advance notice of his public appearances.

He continues to work on his book about his years in the White House, and he told friends here Monday that he expected to have it published in the fall.

When Johnson was hospitalized here last year, both he and Mrs. Johnson spent much of their time working on their books.

FEELS MISERABLE

"He's hoarse and he feels miserable," the friend said. "But they don't think that it's anything serious."

Officials said Johnson's attending physician, Col. Robert North, "does not anticipate that Mr. Johnson will remain hospitalized for any extended period."

A statement said Johnson, 62, was hospitalized "with a probable viral pneumonia," or pneumonia caused by a virus, and that the ailment was mild.

"There is no indication of any cardiac problem," the statement said.

Johnson suffered a major heart attack in 1955. Last March he was rushed to Brooke from the LBJ Ranch for treatment of chest pains caused by hardening of the arteries. The pains diminished and finally disappeared. He was released after 11 days.

COOPED UP

Friends speculated Johnson was hospitalized this time as a precaution because he is such an active man and doesn't like to be cooped up.

The former President and Mrs. Johnson visited San Antonio—where they were married in 1934—last Monday to honor an old friend, former United Nations Ambassador James Russell Wiggins.

Observers said at the time that Johnson had a slight cough but seemed fit otherwise.

The Johnsons went from here Monday to Austin where Mrs. Johnson was sworn in as a University of Texas System Regent.

Mrs. Johnson accompanied her husband Wednesday night on his helicopter flight to Brooke from the LBJ Ranch 60 miles away. She was here with him

Avert Food Stamp Crisis

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The City Council unanimously voted Thursday to contribute $200,000 to the beleaguered food stamp program here.

The appropriation is for Feb. 1 through Jan. 31, 1972.

The vote apparently averted a crisis in the stamp program here. The State Welfare Department had threatened to halt it Jan. 29 if local officials did not agree to contribute more money as their share of financial support.

County commissioners approved $100,000 for the program Wednesday on a 3 to 2 vote.

STAR TO PAY, PAY, PAY?

NEW YORK (AP) — Joanne Carson is seeking $7,000-a-week temporary alimony from television star Johnny Carson, it was disclosed today in state Supreme Court in Manhattan.

In arguments before Justice Wilfred A. Waltemade, the grounds on which she will seek a divorce or separation were described as cruel and inhuman treatment, abandonment and adultery.

Waltemade gave both sides until next Monday to submit additional papers.
