Mission Is Crucial One For U. S. Space Scrapbook

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The nearly flawless countdown on Apollo 14 clicked steadily onward Saturday toward a blastoff today that sends the astronauts on one of the most crucial space missions in U.S. annals.

If they succeed, the three-man crew commanded by the oldest of the spacemen, 47-year-old Alan B. Shepard Jr., could bring back fascinating clues to the convulsive birth of the moon and the solar system nearly five billion years ago.

If they fail, as the Apollo 13 crew did when an oxygen tank explosion forced them to limp home with the lunar module as a lifeboat, the remainder of the Apollo program could be in jeopardy.

On the eve of the flight, Shepard and his fellow crewmen, Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa, relaxed and scheduled a visit with their families through a glass partition that has helped isolate them against disease germs since Jan. 11.

the beaches, rivers and roadsides of the Cape area to watch the fiery Saturn lift off.

President Nixon will watch on television from St. Johns in the Virgin Islands, where he is vacationing. Nearly 4,000 celebrities—high U.S. government officials, foreign royalty, movie stars, industrial giants and others—will feel the shock waves of liftoff from VIP sites three miles from the pad.

If the flight goes as planned, Apollo 14 will go into lunar orbit at 2:01 a.m. Feb. 4. After a day of circling the moon, Shepard and Mitchell will transfer into the lunar module Antares for the tricky descent to the jagged Fra Mauro region on the eastern shore of the moon's dry Ocean of Storms.

While Roosa orbits alone in the command ship Kitty Hawk, the others will spend nearly 34 hours on the lunar surface and make two outside explorations lasting four to five hours each.

Both walks will be televised to earth—the first extensive live color television from the moon.

Since the Apollo 13 explosion, which investigators blamed on a "serious oversight" in design and testing of the oxygen tank, the Apollo 14 craft has been redesigned. It has a third oxygen tank isolated from the others and more battery power to get the spaceship home from any point on the route. Electrical wiring and all combustible material was removed from inside the tanks and a better trouble warning system installed.

Shepard and Mitchell will be the fifth and sixth men to step on the moon, following the Apollo 11 and 12 crews of 1969.

Grounded for years by an inner ear ailment, Shepard never

APOLLO TIMETABLE

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Facts and figures of the Apollo 14 mission:

Launch time: 2:23 p.m. CST today.

Astronauts: Navy Capt. Alan B. Shepard Jr., 47; Navy Cmdr. Edgar D. Mitchell, 40; Air Force Maj. Stuart A. Roosa, 37.

Purpose: Man's third moon landing. Shepard and Mitchell are to attempt a landing in the rugged highlands of Fra Mauro on the eastern edge of the Ocean of Storms. Here they are to deploy a nuclear-powered science station and hopefully find rocks dating 4.6 billion years to the origin of the moon.

Length of time on the moon: 33½ hours, including 8-10 hours outside on two excursions.

Names of the spaceships: Command ship, Kitty Hawk; lunar module, Antares.

Flight duration: nine days, 41 minutes.

Rocket: three-stage Saturn 5, which with Apollo 14 spacecraft stands 363 feet tall. The world's most powerful rocket, with a first-stage thrust of 7.9 million pounds.

Cost of mission: Saturn $185 million; command ship $25 million. Total $400 million.

Including recovery operations $95 million; scientific package $25 million. Total $400 million.

tute of Technology. He punched cows on his family's New Mexico ranch before becoming an astronaut.

Roosa, 37, the command module pilot, is an Air Force major from Muskogee, Okla., known for his enthusiasm for his work.

The astronauts will erect a nuclear-powered science station which is expected to send back reports for at least a year on moonquakes, meteor collisions, radiation, solar winds and other developments on the moon.

A mortar box also will be set up to fire four grenades after the departure of the spacemen. The explosions 500 to 5,000 feet from the launcher will give scientists information on the structure of the moon's crust.

Along with the ancient rocks, the astronauts will bring back soil samples dug from as far down as four feet into the lunar surface.

Antares is scheduled to lift off from the moon at 1:47 p.m. Feb. 6 and hook up with Kitty Hawk two hours later. The spaceship will blast out of moon orbit at 8:37 p.m. and start back toward a splashdown in the Pacific at 4:04 p.m. Feb. 9.

UP 1.78 PER CENT County Total Is 660 More Than First Thought

Howard County gained 660 in the final official census bureau count for 1970 over the preliminary figures, according to an announcement Saturday.

Figures were released by the U.S. Census Bureau through the office of Sen. John G. Tower. The state's final total was 11,298,787, a gain of 17 per cent from the 1960 figure and the basis of Texas gaining one congressional seat from 23 to 24.

The increases over preliminary figures for this area bore no pattern. They ranged from .23 of one per cent for San Angelo up to 6.05 per cent for Nolan.

Howard County had 37,136 in the preliminary totals, and the final figure of 37,796 was up 1.78 per cent.

Here are some of the figures, with percentage gains, for this area:

Uganda Warns Force Will Meet Invasion

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — The new military government accused neighboring Sudan of invading Uganda, a Kampala broadcast reported Saturday night.

Radio Uganda said Sudanese troops were advancing into Uganda and at least one warplane was involved.

"Unless the violation of territorial integrity stops at once we will meet force by force and this need not necessarily be a localized affair," the broadcast said.

The radio reported the statement was issued by Maj. Gen. Idi Amin, leader of the military coup that overthrew the regime of Dr. Milton Obote Monday.

A spokesman who called at Amin's house was told the general was asleep.

One of Amin's aides said there was no fighting at the moment and added he was not prepared to say what action Ugandan troops were taking.

Two days after taking power, Amin announced that Tanzanian troops were preparing to attack Uganda from the south on behalf of Obote who is in Tanzania. This attack did not materialize.

Sudan, which has a leftist military regime, is Uganda's northern neighbor.

Radio Uganda earlier broadcast an appeal to "misguided tribesmen" who fled into the jungle to return to their posts.

The appeal followed reports of fighting in northern Uganda and said some "unfortunate soldiers" had been misled by officials in Obote's Lango tribe.

Amin said early last week that the spark which prompted the coup was a plan by Obote to disarm all tribesmen except his own and perhaps the Acholi, who also live in the north.

"Any groundless resistance will lead to more unnecessary suffering of innocents," the broadcast warned, adding that Amin would not harm those who had been misled.

A spokesman for Amin said on Friday that Brig. Hussein Sulemani, the missing Ugandan army chief of staff, had surrendered to security forces.

Although Amin denied there was fighting in the north, informants in Kampala said the shooting apparently came from forces loyal to him as they rounded up Obote supporters. These sources said the shooting was centered around Gulu where about 100 Soviet military advisers and technicians have been teaching Ugandan pilots to fly MIGs. Another part of the air force is trained by Israelis who instruct in the use of French-designed but Israeli-supplied jets.

Gulu has the second largest air strip in Uganda.

An aide to Amin said the army had been called out in several places across the country to help restore order and that Amin was personally directing these operations.

New Rules Created To Control Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is tightening its special revenue-sharing legislation to keep at least a thread of federal control over local spending of the shared funds.

The rules to be proposed will not be as restrictive as grant-in-aid programs, officials say, but will be designed to ensure that federal money flowing to states, cities and counties will be spent for the broad purposes outlined.

The special revenue-sharing legislation calls for eventually replacing more than 100 grant-in-aid programs set up for specific purposes.

Nixon has called for $11 billion to be spent on special revenue sharing in the first full year. The money is to go for six broad purposes—urban community development, rural community development, education, manpower training, law enforcement and transportation.

The problem is tied in closely with the attempted dismantling of present grant-in-aid programs.

What happens, for instance, if federal funds now going for poverty-ridden school children should be spent for a new office for the superintendent? Using that example, a Treasury Department official said the administration is considering two approaches:

—Write the distribution formula so that the money earmarked for education would go to areas with the highest number of poverty-stricken children.

—Specify in the legislation that a certain portion of the federal money going to the school districts would have to be used to benefit poor kids.

Apollo 14 'Rockhounds' Bound For Fra Mauro

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Fra Mauro, target landing site for Apollo 14, is a highland area of hills, ridges, valleys, craters and rocks the size of automobiles, on the eastern edge of the moon's Ocean of Storms.

Why visit this particular bleak, forbidding, dangerous place?

Scientists believe it promises a magnificent payoff: a sampling of material as old as the moon itself, and far more ancient than that brought back by the Apollo 11 and 12 crews.

Says Edgar D. Mitchell, Apollo 14 lunar module pilot: "We're going to look for a rock that has 4½ billion years written across it." Apollo 14 is scheduled to land at Fra Mauro Friday.

No rocks ever have been found on earth that approach that age. Some granitic rocks in Africa, the Soviet Union and North America have been judged to be as much as 3.5 billion, or possibly, 3.8 billion years old.

Laboratory analyses now indicate that the material recovered from the Apollo 11 landing site in the Sea of Tranquility was 3.65 billion years old, and that brought back by Apollo 12 from the Ocean of Storms dated back some 3.45 billion years.

"The Apollo 11 landing site was chosen principally because that was a smooth, safe place to land," said Dr. Paul W. Gast, head of the Lunar and Planetary Division of Houston's Space Center.

"Apollo 12 landed beside Surveyor 3, and Surveyor 3 landed there because that was a smooth, safe place to land," Gast added.

"This is the first time that we are going into a site in which the scientific objectives have had a real input in choosing where we go."

Says Dr. John A. Wood of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, Cambridge, Mass.: "Oldness is something of great concern to us. The particular value that the moon has to earth scientists is that it is the source of very ancient planetary material for us. And we can hope to read in this ancient planetary material a record of how the planets formed, or how this planet formed, and its early revolutionary stages.

"We cannot find material like this on the earth. It's been obliterated by the earth geologic activity. Only on a small relatively inert planet like the moon could we hope to find a record of the birth pain. So we're particularly concerned, on the moon, to go to the oldest regions. We wait with some impatience missions such as Apollo 14 that will go into the highlands and bring back material of that sort."

Reviewing the ... Big Spring Week ... with Joe Pickle

You have until midnight today to qualify yourself as a voter for 1971. If you haven't done anything about it until now, there is a form in today's Herald which you can fill out and place in the mail to the county tax collector before midnight. Be sure and sign it, and your registration certificate will be mailed to you. Every citizen ought to be prepared to vote. If you won't take trouble to do that, then you have little or no right to be heard on issues that may come up during the year.

The final census figures were announced Saturday, and Howard County came up 1.78 per cent by picking up 660 in the count. The variances in the preliminary and final figures follow no particular pattern but in this area averages something like two per cent or better. There were no breakdowns on towns and communities within counties.

The City of Big Spring this past week initiated an ordinance for transfer of title to 1,244 acres in the Webb Air Force area to the Department of the Air Force. This is to simplify improvements and (See TLE WEEK, Page 2-A, Col. 1)

Midnight Is Deadline

Midnight today is the deadline for voter registration in Texas.

Mrs. Zillah LeFevre Bednar, tax assessor-collector, said applications for registration, received Monday but with a Sunday postmark will be honored.

Frank Hardesty, postmaster, said all mail processed Monday morning which might be voter registration applications will be postmarked with a Sunday stamp, since postal workers are not on duty until midnight.

He cautioned persons mailing applications to do so at the boxes at the central post office. He said applications mailed before 6 a.m. Monday will receive the Sunday postmark "to give them the benefit of the doubt."

A copy of the application is on Page 2-A in The Herald today to give those who have not applied yet the chance to do so.

J. D. WOMACK IS BOSS OF YEAR Frosty Robison Honored

J. D. Womack, Texas Electric Co. manager and president of the Industrial Foundation of Big Spring, was named 'boss of the year' Saturday night at the Jaycees' Bosses Night banquet.

Womack was recognized for his work on the industrial foundation in the community. "He has been instrumental in the recruiting of industry to Big Spring," said Robert Taylor, sales manager for KBST radio and master of ceremonies for the banquet. Mike Hall accepted the plaque for Womack.

The Jaycees also awarded Frosty Robison for being nominated one of the five outstanding young Texans for 1970. Robison is an employee at Cosden Oil & Chemical Co.

Ken Perry, industrial foundation vice president, addressed the meeting with a review of progress in Big Spring in 1970 and a look at future progress in 1971.

"The year 1970 was one of action for Big Spring," Perry said. "The citizens of Big Spring should be commended for their part in the industrial effort."

Perry told the members, "1971 will be a year that the foundation will pursue other industrial prospects and we need the help of every Jaycee and citizen and your money."

Perry told the group that the prime objective of the foundation is to seek industrial organization for Big Spring. "In 1970 the people of Big Spring got behind the industrial effort and pledged $200,000 for working funds," Perry said.

J. D. WOMACK IS BOSS OF YEAR Frosty Robison Honored

The foundation's assets at the beginning of 1970 stood at $70,000. At the end of 1970 accumulated assets stood at $421,000.

KBST news director, Ken Carter, also spoke to the banquet members bringing a humorous look at the past year in news and sports.

Carter told the group, "The relationship between a boss and his employe in this type of association is great and may it last all year, but remember—when it comes to your job nothing replaces hard work."

In other activity, Gary Don Carrey, Dennis Holmes, Don Morgan Jr., Ken Gafford and R. K. Taylor were presented the "spoke" award for outstanding work done in the past year as a Jaycee. The spoke award is annually presented to Jaycees with under one year of service.

Max Moore, A. J. Pirkle Jr., Bob Taylor, Mike Carrey and Ben Faulkner were presented the "Spark Plug" award. This award is annually presented to Jaycees with over one year of service.

BOMBERS POUND SOUTHERN LAOS Enemy Buildup Is Target

SAIGON (AP) — About 400 U.S. bombers pounded southern Laos and the northwest corner of South Vietnam Saturday in around-the-clock raids aimed at an ominous enemy buildup of men and supplies.

The intensified bombings, coupled with statements by Secretary of State William P. Rogers in Washington fanned speculation there that a large South Vietnamese ground drive into Laos was imminent.

If so, the objective would be to sever the Ho Chi Minh trail in southern Laos—the jungle-hidden network of roads and byways that is North Vietnam's only way to send reinforcements and supplies to its soldiers in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

Intelligence reports indicate a major dry-season buildup by the North Vietnamese along the trail, notably near the outlets leading into the sensitive northern sector of South Vietnam.

Apparently, despite the four-month-old U.S. aerial campaign by B52 Stratofortresses and smaller fighter-bombers, the North Vietnamese are pushing through sizable numbers of supply laden trucks. At least enough trucks have arrived to alarm allied commanders over the threat the buildup poses to the withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam.

Rogers, at a news conference in Washington Friday also voiced concern over the North Vietnamese buildup and its threat to the American pullout.

So far the major U.S. counteraction has been the sustained aerial bombing in Laos and in Vietnam in the Khe Sanh area close to the Laotian frontier.

U.S. B52 bombers struck Saturday near Khe Sanh for the third successive day and for the seventh time in the last two weeks.

Khe Sanh is a former U.S. Marine base where in 1968 the Marines withstood a 77-day artillery and mortar siege and abandoned it shortly after the siege was lifted.

In line with the intensification of the U.S. bombing campaign, the 7th Fleet beefed up its striking power by stationing two aircraft carriers instead of one in the Gulf of Tonkin.

A third U.S. carrier was being held in reserve. The three can provide more than 200 bombers for strikes in southern Laos. In addition to the strikes from the carriers, other American bombers hit at Laos from bases in South Vietnam and Thailand.

In all, the United States can muster 500 or more bombers in the war zone for daily raids, many of them capable of several missions in one day because of the relatively short jet-flight distances.

On the battlefields, no major ground action was reported in South Vietnam.

Mansfield Charges War Is Broadening

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Saturday the Nixon administration is broadening the Vietnam war and that the stepped-up U.S. role in Laos and Cambodia "may well hinder the withdrawal of U.S. troops rather than accelerate it."

One result, the Montana Democrat said in an interview, could be to increase Senate support for the McGovern-Hatfield amendment to force withdrawal of all American forces from Southeast Asia by Dec. 31.

Sens. George McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., reintroduced their proposal last week. It was beaten last year 55 to 39.

Mansfield said he is disturbed by the expanded U.S. air power throughout Indochina. Asked if it reminded him of the original Vietnam buildup six years ago, he said, "There are too many elements of similarity to please me."

"I still think we are going way beyond the President's June 30 statement," he added, noting President Nixon said at that time there would be no U.S. air or logistics support of South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia.

It seems to me to indicate a further broadening of the war and a more intensive participation in Laos and Cambodia which I think may well hinder the withdrawal of U.S. troops rather than accelerate it," Mansfield said.

He said U.S. policy should consider two things: freedom of U.S. prisoners of war held by the North Vietnamese and the withdrawal of American troops.

Mansfield said broadened U.S. air attacks in Laos and Cambodia could lead to a broadening of the Cooper-Church amendment, the ban on U.S. combat ground troops and military advisers in Cambodia which was enacted last year.

Our grand jury was confronted by a long slate of cases last week and returned 30 indictments, which was about average. The different thing was that there was almost an equal number of cases in which no indictments were returned.

Another of the string of unbroken successes for Campus Revue ended Saturday with a SRO crowd cheering the '71 production. Because extra chairs were hauled in, the three-night aggregate may be upwards of 4,000, which means a new record for the colorful and almost professional show which the band members put on solely from their own ranks.

Two local institutions dropped out of medicare last week — first Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center and the Big Spring Nursing Inn. Each had only a small percentage of the patient load affected, and in each case it was a matter of red tape and regulations pyramiding to the point it was no longer economically feasible to stay with it.

Several old timers are leaving the Texas and Pacific Railway these days, and the rate may be stepped up in months ahead. Under a new law, these veterans past 65 years of age can draw a supplementary pension if they retire before age 70, or, at any rate, prior to 1973.

The YMCA is in the midst of its annual membership effort. The sustaining division was started more than a week ago, but the participating division (for those who actually use the services of the YMCA) was begun last week with good results so far. American Petrofina's earnings report last year showed an increase. The total was $22,651,000 as compared with $21,439,000 the previous year. Truman Sleeps Through Fire

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman, recovering at Research Hospital from an intestinal ailment, slept undisturbed Saturday through a fire in the hospital's coffee shop.

The fire, starting from an overheated deep fryer, spread up a grease chute in the shop's kitchen causing $1,000 in damage. No patients were evacuated.

Truman was allowed to sleep through the fire in his third-floor room.

Saturday was his 10th day of treatment for what has been diagnosed as diverticulitis, an irritation of the large intestine. His physician, Dr. Wallace Graham, said there still is no indication when Truman, 86, will return home. His condition was described as good.

Mrs. Agnew Says 'He's Not Fat'

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew said Saturday she had gotten used to verbal and written attacks on her husband but said she was upset by caricatures of the vice president as "big and fat."

"He doesn't look like that at all," Judy Agnew said. "He's not big and fat, he's tall and slim."

Mrs. Agnew said her husband is 190 pounds, 6 feet 2 and has "a 32-to-33-inch waist and I think that is good."

Mrs. Agnew spoke to newsmen before the Women's National Republican Club's 50th Annual Luncheon.

Tower Coming Monday For Reception, Banquet Talk

Senator John Tower is due to arrive late Monday afternoon, after a flight from Washington, to be guest speaker at the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce membership banquet.

The senator plans a speech on "92nd Congress—The Nation and You" for his address to the banquet Monday night. The affair will be in the high school cafeteria starting at 7 p.m.

Among many dignitaries that will be in attendance, will be representatives from San Angelo. They will express their gratitude to Senator Tower for his work in keeping Goodfellow Air Force Base in operation.

A public reception honoring Tower will be held in the First Federal Community Room Monday from 5:00 to 5:45 p.m., with a press conference at 6. The public is invited to attend the reception and meet the senator.

The Big Spring High School Stage Band under the direction of Kyle Ellison will provide dinner music for the banquet.

UNPRECEDENTED LIST

Major Political Donations Compiled For First Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new unprecedented list of major individual contributions to 1968 political campaigns traces big donors from Aague to Zyss and from the $500 level to the $139,000 of one mutual fund executive.

The volume was compiled by Citizens' Research Foundation of Princeton, N.J., along with three companion publications that shed new light on the details of where political money comes from. All are being published Sunday.

Jack Dreyfus, head of the Dreyfus Fund, stands out for his 47 separate contributions to a vast array of political committees and funds of both parties.

He donated $76,000 to Republican-sponsored groups, most of them arms of the Richard M. Nixon campaign, and $63,000 to Democratic-backed organizations, most of them attached to the Hubert H. Humphrey campaign.

FAMILY MONEY

The largest family total in the contributions is apparently $173,462 donated by the Mellons of Pittsburgh to Republican groups.

About 20,000 separate contributions are listed in the 1968 volume. They were compiled from reports filed by candidates and political committees with Congress and with some states. Because of various loopholes in campaign reporting laws, not all major contributions are listed. In addition identification of some donors is scanty. But the new publications are the first ever to pull together all known contributions in an alphabetical listing.

Donations from the Rockefeller family total $107,500, nearly all of it to Republican groups. New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller included $6,000 for New York Friends of Rocky.

HUSBAND, WIFE

Banker David Rockefeller donated $14,500 to Republican groups, but his wife, Margaret McGrath Rockefeller, put $5,000 into a Humphrey committee.

The Pew family of Philadelphia put $41,000 into the Republican campaign. J. Howard Pew is chairman of Sun Oil Co.

The largest individual total for the Humphrey campaign was the $100,000 listed for the late Mrs. Bella Factor of Los Angeles, who put $5,000 into each of 20 committees using such titles as Pharmacists for Humphrey and Rural Electric Americans for Humphrey.

She was the wife of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, who was pardoned by President Kennedy in 1962 for a 1943 mail fraud conviction.

GOP DONATIONS

Other identifiable $100,000-plus contributors to the Republican side were W. Clement Stone, a Chicago insurance executive, and Max Fisher, a Detroit industrialist. With both of these, as with many contributors, portions of the funds were given in the names of their wives.

Two big Republican donors who were named to ambassadorships by President Nixon were Arthur K. Watson, $49,000, France, and Guilford Dudley Jr., $52,000, Denmark.

Two of President Nixon's closest friends show on the list: C. G. (Bebe) Rebozo of Key Biscayne, Fla., $3,500, and Robert Aplanalp, New York and the Bahamas, $18,500 to Nixon committees.

INVESTIGATION

Several individuals whose various enterprises have been under one form or another of government examination show up as major contributors. They include:

—John R. King, former chairman of King Resources named last week in an SEC court complaint, $75,000 to Republican groups.

—Bernard Cornfeld, ousted head of Investors Overseas Services, a mutual fund operating abroad, $25,000 to Democrats.

—Delbert Coleman, former chairman of Parvin-Dohrmann, a casino-operating firm under SEC scrutiny, $5,000 to Democrats.

—Merv Adelson, president of La Costa, a Southern California luxury home and country club development under federal and state scrutiny for its connections with former gambling figures and a Teamsters Union pension fund, $5,800 to Republicans.

The other three volumes published by Citizens' Research Foundation list major individual contributions in the off-year of 1969, and contributions of national-level political committees in 1968 and 1969.

Balance Wheel

EDMONTON, Canada (AP) — The Alberta cheese industry has never developed as it might have done because it has been used as a sort of "balance wheel" for the seasonal fluctuations of the fluid milk industry, D. J. Prince, dairy specialist with the Alberta agriculture department, said this situation has prevented establishment of consistent cheese supplies for existing markets.

LETTER CR '71 Is Appreciated

TO THE EDITOR:
What words in the English language could best describe the outstanding performance our young people gave at CR '71. Not even professionals can be considered better, because they have had years to perfect their talents.

I would like to express my appreciation to the youth of our school. Their accomplishments are reminders of their efforts to make the future a time worth living. Some of their actions may be wrong, but their motives are right.

I am proud to stand in the presence of our young people and pay tribute to them. I never cease to be thrilled and touched by their talents, be it drama, music or sports.

My thanks for a wonderful evening of entertainment.

In announcing the merger, Harte said, "This move will not only facilitate our reorganization, coordination of operations, and over-all efficiency, but will pave the way for expansion."

Harte-Hanks publishes 17 newspapers in 13 Texas markets, including the Abilene Reporter-News, the Big Spring Daily Herald, the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, the San Antonio Express and Evening News, the Houston Harte, president of Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc., announced Saturday the merger of 26 corporations, including 17 Texas newspapers and a television station, into one holding company, Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc. The merger was filed with the secretary of state's office in Austin this week.

Comprising the corporate management office of the new company are Bruce B. Meador, Robert G. Marbut and Charles A. Wahlheim, vice presidents.

Court Overrules 'Defense' Law

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A state law authorizing Nebraskans to use "any means necessary" to defend persons or property from criminal action has been declared unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court.

The court made the ruling Friday in sustaining the second-degree murder conviction of an Omaha woman, Judith Wayne Goodseal, who had invoked the law in her defense.

The state's highest court said the law, in effect, assigns the person threatened the right of prescribing the punishment for the aggressor.

Suggests Uniform Name: Loop 700

C. V. Riordan appeared before the Big Spring Traffic Commission, Friday morning, to suggest that the name of the highway which is commonly called FM 700, Marcy Drive, and Wasson Road, be called Loop 700.

Riordan expressed concern that this highway is called by "so many names" one can not know for certain what to call it.

His request consists of the area from the point FM 700 intersects with East Highway 80, south around the city to where it connects with West Highway 80, then on to the Snyder highway.

The commission agreed that the Director of Public Works, Nolen Chafin, discuss the matter with the Texas Highway Department and come to a conclusion on what it would involve.

The commission also considered a request that a road be built connecting 3rd and 4th Streets at a point between Birdwell Lane and Union St.

Chafin explained that such a road would relieve traffic congestion of Birdwell Lane at 3rd and 4th Streets. He also made a recommendation to the commission that construction of such a road be delayed due to the budget situation of the city.

Don Crockett, commission member, agreed that the right-of-way would be costly at this time for the city, then moved that Chafin study the project further and examine the possibility of property owners dedicating land for the right-of-way.

Sue Williams was also present at the meeting to discuss the problem of traffic lane division lines and right turn after stop signs at the intersections of Birdwell Lane and Goliad at FM 700.

The commission moved to deny erecting the sign at Birdwell Lane and FM 700 and agreed to put one up at the Goliad intersection. The commission also assured Mrs. Williams that it would study other problems at the Goliad intersection.

In other business the commission: Heard a traffic count report and decided not to place a stop light at the intersection of 6th and Gregg Streets.

Heard a T-Man report and recommend that rejuvenation action be taken on the program.

Examined the results of a pedestrian traffic study at Gibson's Discount Center and Cooks Department Store and

The merger of various individual corporations under the Harte-Hanks banner does not affect the local structure of The Herald, R. W. Whipkey, publisher, said Saturday.

"The Herald continues as a Big Spring institution, locally oriented and maintaining its local editorial and operational sensitivity," he said. "It will be, merely from a corporate standpoint, functioning as a unit in a larger concern with a view of increasing effectiveness."

Berlin Blockade Enters Fourth Day

BERLIN (AP) — A virtual East German land blockade of Berlin went into its fourth day Saturday, with Chancellor Willy Brandt defiantly stressing West Berlin's ties to West Germany.

President Gustav Heinemann, one of the West German political figures to whose presence the Communists objected, bringing on the autobahn harassment, decided unexpectedly to stay an extra day in West Berlin.

He told West German farm youth representatives who met with him in his Berlin residence that the Communist harassment had taken on dimensions that "come close to being a blockade."

Heinemann said the latest disruptions showed how important it is to free West Berlin from disruptive actions that threaten the foundations of its economic existence.

As Brandt spoke to a Social Democratic party rally for March 14 city elections, border officers were reporting road delays of up to 23 hours, despite lessened traffic. East German trucks also were caught in the long lines, moving ahead only as their turns came.

The East German pressure tactics are aimed at breaking West Germany's ties with West Berlin, ties disputed by the Communists, cautiously endorsed by the Western allies who want to safeguard their own rights and considered absolutely necessary and rightful by the West Germans.

The city lies behind 120 miles of Communist-ruled East Germany.

With four power talks on Berlin and his government's own dialogue with East Germany about to resume, Brandt was careful in his direct references to the current period of delays.

He said such harassment could not be tolerated. He added there would be no ratification of Bonn's pact with Moscow with-

Jehovah's Witness Meet Ends Today

A district meeting for Spanish speaking members of the Jehovah's Witnesses will be climaxed at 2 p.m. today in the Municipal Auditorium with an address by R. S. Cornelius, district supervisor.

He will be speaking on the topic of what is the spirit of rebellion. This will conclude the two-day gathering which attracted several hundred persons to Big Spring.

One of the highlights of the assembly was the baptism of 23 new members in the presence of 150 of their friends and relatives. The baptismal rites took place Saturday in the pool at Ramada Inn with Bennett H. Berry, circuit supervisor, officiating.

Saturday evening, Cornelius conducted the examination for ministers of the Witnesses. Services today were to include a brief devotion and period of instruction preceding a morning spent in house-to-house witnessing. The meeting was due to be concluded at 5 p.m. today.

Final determination for prizes will be made Feb. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in a meeting in the First Federal Community Room.

Mrs. Don Swinney, campaign chairman. Final determination for prizes will be even a goat was included. Cosden personnel showed up on horseback to earn the money pledged them. ## Hot Time In Cowtown With Fat Stock Show position and Fat Stock Show. You never saw so many rugged John Wayne faces. So many cute "cowgirl sweethearts." Such fine animals.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Godfrey Anderson, who created a distinguished Associated Press career as a reporter and editor in London and on the Continent, still is having trouble learning American football. But it seems rodeos are easier to understand, as his report on the Fort Worth event indicates.)

The whole city, ignoring its towering modern skyscrapers, is again the place it was when its only industry lay in its animals. Until the big show closes 10 days from now, it's re-living the past.

Western hats are everywhere. Momma sports one in the supermarket, junior is almost extinguished beneath his, salesman in Main Street stores, catfish breeders, artists, church revivalists—they're all dressed up for the range. The cowboys kicked off the show by joining the downtown parade Friday—95 groups of horsedrawn vehicles from buggies to chuck wagons and a stagecoach, and a score of marching bands.

The parade this year was 12 miles long and was seen by an estimated 200,000. The event dates back to 1896 when an estimated 15,000 watched a group of cowboys and wagons trek north on Main to open the first Fat Stock Show.

Real cowboys let off rebel yells at the less authentic drug-store variety crowding the sidewalks in Western gear, pennants fluttered bravely in the 76-degree January sunshine, the cowgirls waved, and looked prettily put out when their mounts started acting up, and the whole town smelled of horse.

One bystander was injured when a horse fell on him and an amateur rider was thrown. The boots fell off one small boy whose legs didn't reach the stirrups.

"We keep it authentically Old West by not allowing motorized vehicles to participate," explained parade chairman Tom B. Saunders, who claims his is the biggest all-Western parade in the world. Star of the indoor rodeo is Larry Mahan, who at 27 is world champion all-around cowboy for the fifth consecutive year.

This lad they call "Super Saddle" is a James Dean type with a boyish smile and a flashing diamond ring to show he can pull in $58,000 a year only by riding in rodeos.

Last season a bronco bucked too high and Mahan was out of action two months with an injured back. This year he's back and rarin' to go.

Apart from the usual events like bronc and bull riding, calf roping and steer wrestling, the Fort Worth Diamond Jubilee Rodeo features a new event—wild horse racing—which pits teams of three cowboys against spirited mustangs that have never known saddle or halter. Doesn't look much like a race, but it's fun anyway—so long as you don't have to take part.

Fort Worth claims to have been a trail-blazer, starting the first indoor rodeo in 1918, introducing side chutes for launching broncs into the arena, being the first rodeo nationally televised in 1953.

It may even have invented the name.

Back in the days of Buffalo Bill Cody's Wild West Show, they wanted something slightly different for their new style Western contest. Someone suggested using the name rodeo (pronounced ro-day-o in the Far West) a term used in Mexico for "fun and games at the end of a trail drive." They liked the idea but made it rodeo (pronounced rode-e-o in the Southwest).

Well, whatever the sound, the game certainly isn't English cricket.

Romantic Rides Fall To Progress

ROME (AP) — The end may be in sight for Rome's horse-drawn carriages, the vehicle as eternal as the city itself and the delight of sentimental tourists.

Rome's 120 surviving "vetturini"—carriage drivers—haven't turned in their reins yet, but they're being boxed out of some of the more enchanting spots by new traffic rules.

Some say the only way to get a really good view of the city is from an open "carozzella" clacking over the cobblestones at the leisurely pace of the horse. Yet romantic night rides to such monuments as the Colosseum or the Trevi Fountain are no longer easy in a carriage. Sometimes they are not even possible.

The reason? Carriage drivers are not allowed to use the new preferential traffic lanes for taxis and buses. And with the rising number of one-way streets, the vetturini complain that they have to cover ever-increasing distances to get from one place to another.

"Tourists complain about the round-about circuits we have to make," said Otello Cimaglia, 42. New traffic rules also prevent horses and carriages from halting in certain "old Rome" areas.

Some carriage drivers feel that the cost of keeping up their horses—$5 a day—and the long winter waits when tourists shun the cold open-air drives are no longer worth it.

Can there still be hope for young lovers and tourists who long for a buggy-ride? The mayor of Rome is reported to have said that carriages could come back when private cars were out.

"But a lot of grass can grow before that happens," a vetturino added.

Mail Dumped On Doorstep Of Legation

PARIS (AP) — Two delegations of U.S. citizens dumped about 50 bags and boxes of mail Saturday in front of the North Vietnamese legation to dramatize the fate of American prisoners of war.

The mail, part of a shipment of 14 tons which was brought to Paris by groups from Memphis, Tenn., and San Diego, Calif., asks for more information about the prisoners and for more humane treatment. It was hauled to the North Vietnamese legation in four rented panel trucks.

Some of the Americans dressed in mock prisoner uniforms as they unloaded mail for about 10 minutes, then banged on the legation door and leaned on the doorbell.

In response, someone inside pulled down a steel curtain.

Earlier, the North Vietnamese had refused to receive either delegation to discuss the prisoner issue.

French police guarding the legation made no effort to prevent the unloading of the mail. "Just don't block the doorway," said one officer.

Texas, Nation Begin Recovery From Two-Year Credit Squeeze

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas and the nation were starting to recover by the end of 1970 from the tight credit squeeze of the past two years, the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas said Saturday.

Dr. Francis May, professor of business statistics, said this was the second period of extremely tight money since 1965.

The credit stringency in 1965-66 was shorter and milder than it was in 1968-70, May said, but its effects are still in the minds of the small borrower who did not get to take advantage of the prime interest rate.

The fluctuation of the Texas economy does not follow the exact pattern of the national economy but major changes in the latter have their influence on the economic activity in the state, he said.

The credit shortage had its effect on Texas activity in reducing the rate of increase in the state personal income. That index rose fairly steadily in 1969 despite adverse influences, May said, but developed a noticeable reduced rate of growth during the 1970 period of worst credit stringency.

May said that strength in the state's crude oil producing industry contributed to the six-percent rise in personal income last year, with crude oil production averaging nine per cent higher than the year before.

Several factors contributed to this—the sabotage of the Trans-Alabian Pipeline, a major Middle East pipeline bringing crude oil to Mediterranean ports and the cutback ordered by the new, revolutionary government of Libya.

It was necessary to transport oil from Persian Gulf ports around the southern tip of Africa to European and Atlantic Coast ports. More tankers could have solved the problem but they were not available.

Thus the Texas Railroad Commission, in order to supply the needed petroleum, increased the amount of production permitted until Texas oil reservoirs were producing at a rate close to the maximum output under sound engineering practices.

Total construction in the state was rather low at the beginning of the year but it soared to an all-time high in December of 1970, May said.

In retrospect it is clear that 1970 was a year of reasonably good levels of activities in many industries, a year with substantial unemployment and with inflation at high levels but possibly abating.

The current year is expected to be one of business revival, hopefully with further weakening of inflationary forces.

Consumer spending is expected to revive and provide the main force behind the upswing.

The money supply must be expanded but not too rapidly, May said. It may also mean more strikes in major industries.

Peter Hurd Day In New Mexico

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Gov. David F. Cargo recently proclaimed "Peter Hurd Day" in New Mexico.

The governor's proclamation said Hurd "has brought distinction upon his native state as a native son whose artistic talents have captured the beauty and truth of life in New Mexico and elsewhere around the world."

U.S. Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., sent Hurd a telegram which said in part, "One of New Mexico's greatest natural resources is its talented people, and one of its greatest talented people is Peter Hurd. We owe him a lot."

Stockyards Given A Late Reprieve

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal judge has extended, at least temporarily, the life of Chicago's historic Union Stockyards.

The 105-year-old operation that made Chicago, in the words of poet Carl Sandburg, "hog butcher for the world," had planned to close Monday.

Judge Hubert L. Will of U.S. District Court issued an order Friday directing the Union Stock Yard & Transit Co. to keep the yards open until Feb. 8 while lawyers try to reach an agreement on its future.

Representatives of the Illinois meat industry had asked the court to keep the stockyards open until other ways of handling livestock could be arranged.

Handling of hogs at the South Side yards was halted in May, 1970.

The company announced in October that it would close the yards permanently Feb. 1 as a result of dwindling receipts. Large numbers of cattle are now taken to slaughter at points farther west and closer to the main beef-producing areas.

The commission men, farmers, feeders and buyers who brought the suit hope to force the stockyards to stay in business until August when another facility is scheduled to open near Joliet south of Chicago.

Wildcatters Are Lagging

AUSTIN (AP) — First-month reports show the number of oil and gas wildcat wells in Texas lagging behind last year, the Railroad Commission said Saturday.

The commission said five wildcat oil wells were drilled, raising the year total to 23, four fewer than last year. Two new wildcat oil wells were in the San Angelo District. One each was in the Corpus Christi, Kilgore 5 and Wichita Falls districts.

Nine wildcat gas wells were drilled for a year total of 40, four fewer than last year. The wildcats included six in the Corpus Christi District, and one each in the Pampa, and San Antonio 1 and 2 districts.

The commission said 119 oil wells were completed for a year total of 489, or 42 more than a year ago. Twenty-two gas wells also were completed for a year total of 127, or 15 fewer than a year ago.

The commission said 168 wells were plugged, 88 of them dry holes.

A REVIEW OF THE TEXAS FINANCIAL-POLITICAL 'SCANDAL'

Banking Questions Unanswered

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Last Monday night in Houston a tired and disappointed official of one of Texas' largest state banks pasted a small sheet of paper on the front door saying the bank was closed.

"We ran out of cash," was the simple explanation after suspicious depositors had withdrawn $15 million in less than a week. Wednesday the Sharpstown State Bank was in receivership.

Why? How come? Who did it? Texans, who have a traditional faith in the security and sanctity of their banks, began asking questions, officially and across the back fence.

UNANSWERED
The most frequent question concerned the part played in the bank's bust by state officials and legislators who used Sharpstown State loans to speculate in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock while the 1969 legislature considered law changes that would affect state bank deposits.

Most of the questions remained unanswered this weekend. However, there are at least five official investigations underway, not to mention a sixth unofficial and unorganized inquiry that may turn out to be the most powerful of all — the wrath of the public aroused.

Here's the record:
—Original action began Jan. 18 in Dallas when the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), with the apparent help of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), filed a federal court lawsuit alleging fraud and stock manipulation in trading of National Bankers Life stock. The civil suit named NBL and 12 other firms, including Sharpstown State Bank, as defendants plus 15 individuals including wealthy Houston developer Frank W. Sharp, who controlled Sharpstown State and several other defendant firms; John Osorio, former NBL president and former state insurance commissioner and former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, former chairman of the City Bank and Trust Co. of Dallas, a defendant firm, and presently a regent of Texas Tech University.

POLITICAL NAMES
Not named in the SEC petition as defendants but mentioned frequently in the 4,000 pages of depositions and evidence presented the court by SEC were the names of Gov. Preston Smith, Dr. Elmer Baum, State Democratic party chairman who also was appointed to the State Banking Board by Smith; Speaker Gus Mutscher and Reps. W. S. Healy, Paducah and Tommy Shannon, Fort Worth. In the SEC papers the state officials acknowledged they borrowed money, without having to put up anything but NBL stock as collateral, from Sharpstown State Bank in 1969 to buy big blocks of National Bankers Life stock.

MUTSCHER LOOT
Then, with the exception of Mutscher, all indicated they sold the NBL stock after holding it a few weeks for considerable profit. Mutscher said he lost $200,000. One and all deny any wrongdoing and claim their stock speculation had nothing to do with a bill that was introduced in the legislature by Shannon to allow private deposit insurance for state banks. The proposal was vetoed by Smith, after it passed both houses of the legislature by wide margins. A federal district court hearing on the original SEC suit is set for Feb. 8 in Dallas.

—When the SEC suit was filed, the State Insurance Department said it had been looking over NBL operations for some time. This past Monday the department placed National Bankers Life and another defendant company, Olympic Life Insurance Co., Fort Worth, under conservatorship. This means the state has taken charge of all operations and all books of the firms and will try to preserve and protect all assets and property of the companies and keep them solvent. NBL records show it has 163,000 policy holders in 32 states with almost $500 million worth of insurance in force in 1969. Hearings are set March 23 in Dallas and Fort Worth for reports on the state conservator's efforts. Last Tuesday a group of NBL stockholders filed a $12 million damage suit against the original 15 firms and 15 individuals, alleging fraud and misrepresentation. Friday, a $27.7 million damage suit was filed in Houston by another group of stockholders against the original 28 defendants plus 20 more including Gov. Smith, speaker Gus Mutscher, Baum, Healy and Shannon. The Houston suit claims "insiders" manipulated NBL stock to inflate it, then stock prices plunged when Smith vetoed the state bank deposits insurance bill.

TO FDIC
—After directors of the Sharpstown State Bank closed its doors, State Banking Commissioner Robert Stewart and others tried unsuccessfully for two days to reorganize it with new capital and reopen it. They gave up Wednesday and the bank was turned over to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. to pay off those of the more than 25,000 depositors who had $20,000 or less in the bank, as covered by FDIC insurance. Those with more than $20,000 on deposit will have to wait and see if there is any money left after the bank is liquidated. On Jan. 4 Sharpstown State Bank reported $109 million on deposit, ranking it No. 11 among Harris County's banks and one of the largest banks in Texas.

STATE SECURED
Bank officials said they paid out $15 million to persons wanting to withdraw their money after the Jan. 18 SEC suit was filed, then the bank ran out of cash. State Treasurer Jesse James said the state had about $5 million in the bank, on both demand or time accounts, but it was all secured by government bonds that totaled $1.5 million more than the deposits. The Texas Banking Commission revealed that three state bank examiners were given their choice recently to quit or be fired because they borrowed money from an officer of the Sharpstown State Bank. Rep. Bill Blythe, Houston Republican, wired President Nixon and congressional leaders to keep an eye on the Sharpstown State receivership "in this dark hour of deceit and breach of trust by some of our most prominent state leaders."

INDICTMENT
—The only announced investigation into possible criminal law violations was by the Houston Federal Grand Jury. Michael A. S. Makris, 43, who once received a five-year prison sentence in a Florida land fraud case, was indicted by the Houston Grand Jury on a charge of making a false statement to SEC investigators. The indictment said Makris said "no" when asked if he knew anything about a reported scheme to return $200 million in securities from a Swiss bank and to have told Sharp he might obtain an interest in the securities. Makris surrendered Monday and posted $50,000 bond on the charge. The Houston Grand Jury reportedly also was investigating a series of financial deals involving a Jesuit fathers preparatory school in Houston, Sharpstown State Bank, National Bankers Life stock and other defendants.

Despite all the investigations the past two weeks and fast growing public sentiment the state legislature has taken only one official step. The Senate approved unanimously Wednesday the appointment of a Senate General Investigating Committee, and invited all Texans to tell them their troubles. Lt. Gov.

Ben Barnes said he would name the five members Monday, probably with Sen. J. P. Word, Meridian, as chairman. Barnes made it clear the primary objective of the committee would be to look into the state banking department to see if it has fulfilled its responsibilities under present law and if new laws are needed. Barnes said the Senate group would avoid any interference with probes made by SEC, FBI, FDIC, grand juries, or law enforcement agencies. There are no apparent plans by either house of the legislature to determine if any official or legislator paid by public money acted unethically and unjustly, if not illegally. Other legislative action was sporadic and disorganized the past week. One House member made loud claims of an effort to unseat Mutscher during the SEC suit investigation, then the representative backed down when Mutscher offered to let the House vote on the resolution. Another Representative suggested the House chamber be opened for a testimonial session where the officials and legislators accused could come tell their side of the story—on prime TV time. Senate and House committees approved separate proposals for legislative ethics commissions. Eighteen House members and two Senators said they would reveal all their financial dealings the past two years to dispel the "crisis of confidence" in state government, and challenged the other 161 legislators to do the same.

PUBLIC RESPONSE
By the end of the week it was obvious that public sentiment was building rapidly, fanned at least partially by the silence and inactivity of many state officials and legislators.

"You should show as much concern for poor people as you show for your stock deals," a welfare mother told a House committee considering a public welfare ceiling increase. "The El Paso County Democratic Executive Committee called for Baum to resign as state party chairman. 'The faith of Texas in our political system and in the integrity of the banks of our state is shaken.' The El Paso delegation said. 'The Republicans are beating us over the head with this,' said Rep. Tom Moore, prominent Waco Democrat, who also asked for Baum's ouster. Tom Crouch, Dallas County Republican chairman, asked Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin "to promptly institute such removal proceedings and/or criminal prosecution as may be warranted."

EDITORIAL OPINION
Numerous newspapers spoke out editorially on the crisis. The Austin American - Statesman called on voters to take note in 1972 "of state officials willing to collect a fast buck through the assistance of high pressure operators seeking favors." The Fort Worth Star-Telegram said there is "the inescapable feeling that something has gone badly awry in Austin." The Tyler Courier-Times Telegram entitled its editorial "The Austin Nightmare" and said "Texas probably set a new record of biggest last week." The Victoria Advocate said that "whether or not any laws actually have been violated in these various profit-making ventures and whether or not any criminal prosecution is liable to result, disclosures of this kind can hardly be reassuring to the taxpayers of Texas in their state government."

Teenage Youth Shot To Death
KANSAS CITY (AP) — A 15-year-old boy was shot to death Friday night in the presence of his brother and sister while on the way to referee a church volleyball game.

Charles M. Rodriguez was attacked by three youths in front of the Immanuel Lutheran School where the game was scheduled.

His sister, Christine, 13, and brother, David, 12, were with him.

Christine told police the three youths demanded money from Charles. He refused, she said, and the largest of the three knocked him down, pulled out a pistol and shot him.

"They threatened to kill me, too," she said. The assailants fled.

More Phones Than People
NEW YORK (AP) — There are more telephones than people in Washington, D.C., according to the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

AT&T says in its latest edition of "The World's Telephones" that there are 859,325 phones in the nation's capital and an estimated 858,000 residents.

Mutscher Thinks Solons Will Carry On Their Work

FORT WORTH (AP) — Doubt that a Securities and Exchange Commission probe into stock and bank operations has affected the work of the legislature was voiced Friday by House Speaker Gus Mutscher.

His remarks were made to newsmen while Mutscher and his wife, a former Miss America, were at a $25 per person reception arranged in his honor by a group of business men.

Mutscher has been identified as one of the state officials who have engaged in stock deals and bank loans which are under investigation but are not defendants in an SEC civil suit.

Concerning measures passed by the legislature at the time of such dealings in 1969, the speaker said, "I don't see any relationship — none whatsoever — between by investment and the banking bill. I'm happy to say we've cooperated with the SEC and the proper authorities as far as our records are concerned."

After the reception, attended by an estimated 400 persons, the Mutschers attended the opening of the Southwestern Exposition and Stock Show.

Newsman at the reception asked Mutscher about a proposal by Rep. Curtis Graves of Houston to have him step down until the investigation was completed. Graves has not taken the issue to the House floor.

"I certainly gave the House an opportunity to run with his resolution," Mutscher said. "I think to be perfectly frank about it, it didn't come about because he didn't have the votes he wanted to make sure I didn't receive a vote of confidence from his colleagues on the floor of the House."

Mutscher declared, "I'll say this—if I ever felt I'd lost the confidence of the members on the floor, I wouldn't want to be speaker of the House."

As for effects of the investigation, Mutscher said, "I don't think it's hampered the work of the House. I think we have some opposition, some people who like to do a little witch-hunting and some people who like to carry on a political issue at a time when we really need to be concentrating on the problems of the session."

Miller Barber Ties For Lead With 4 Others

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Miller Barber, gunning for his second consecutive victory, shouldered his way into a group of five players tied for the top in the third round of $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open Golf tournament Saturday.

Barber had a 54-hole total of 207 and was tied with former Masters champion George Archer, Bob Stone, Lee Elder and Dave Eichelberger.

The group, one of the largest in years to be tied for the No. 1 position going into the last round, was nine under par on the 6,792-yard Torrey Pines Golf Club course.

Stone, a silver-haired 40-year-old in only his fourth year on the tour, made up the most ground in the warm, sunny day, shooting a five-under-par 67.

Archer had a 68, Elder a 69, Eichelberger a 71 and Barber, the 39-year-old winner of last week's Phoenix Open, had a 70. Australian Bob Shaw, the 36-hole leader, slipped to a 73 for 206—one off the pace—and was tied at that figure with Paul Harney and Don Finsterwald. Harney had a 69 and Finsterwald a 71.

There was another group of five at 209, leaving 13 players separated by only two strokes going into final-round play. At 209 were Terry Dill, Dave Hill, Dick Lotz, Bobby Mitchell and Art Wall.

DALLAS (AP) — Larry Delzell sank two pressure free throws with two seconds remaining to give Southern Methodist a tinging 90-88 Southwest Conference basketball victory over Arkansas Saturday in a regionally televised game.

SMU is now 2-2 in the SWC race and Arkansas is winless in four games.

Almer Lee of Arkansas fouled Delzell as SMU stalled for a final shot. Delzell, a junior from Highland Park, was 11 of 11 from the line for the day.

John Searles of Arkansas had tied the game 88-all with 49 seconds left on a layup.

Arkansas, down 55-50 at half-time, reeled off 10 straight points before Steve Putnam hit a jump shot to put SMU on the board in the second half. The Razorbacks built a seven-point lead at 74-67 midway through the period.

The Mustangs pulled even with 9:33 left on Bobby Rollings' free throw. The game saw back and forth from that point.

SMU hit 20 of 22 free throws in the game while Arkansas could nail down but 14 of 21 charity tosses.

Gene Phillips was high point man with 32 for the Mustangs. Donnie Watts of Arkansas hit 26. Joel Tabor added 16 and Lee 15.

Delzell and Rollings each had 17.

SMU shot 48.7 per cent from the field while Arkansas had a 46.8 over-all field goal accuracy. SMU is 10-6 for the year and Arkansas is 4-12.

Teams Face Hard Times

NEW YORK (AP) — The recent demise of a handful of collegiate football teams may have started some members of the athletic community to shaking in their cleated shoes.

Bradley University, Parsons College and the University of Buffalo are the first National Collegiate Athletic Association members in three years to make the pigskin passe.

Is this the beginning of the end of college athletics because of a lack of funds and fans? Not according to NCAA statistics. The number that have quit football is well below the annual average of the past two decades.

Since 1950 some 132 schools dropped football, with the peak year in 1951 when 38 institutions wiped the sport off their slates.

Although a few teams have tumbled from the NCAA ranks, over-all attendance has been on the increase for 17 consecutive seasons with the 1970 season drawing a record 29,465,694 fans, up 6.66 per cent, or 1,839,444, from the 1969 record.

And while some 118 NCAA schools dropped a total of 147 other sports in a 12 months period ending in September, 1970, the percentage of sports each school sponsors is on the rise.

Bradley, in Peoria, Ill., booted out football Dec. 16. Parsons, in Fairfield, Iowa, dropped it Jan. 9 and two days later Buffalo announced a similar move. All cited a financial squeeze and a declining interest by students as the reason.

The entire college sports spectrum seems healthy.

For the 1970-71 season, each NCAA member school sponsored an average of 9.66 intercollegiate sports, up from the 9.54 the previous season. And in a 10-year span these schools added an average of 1 1/2 sports to their schedules.

Of the top 10 sports only outdoor track and wrestling suffered net losses for the 12 months surveyed. All of the others were on the rise except for basketball which remained No. 1 nonetheless.

Baseball was dropped by three schools but added by 47 for the largest net gain.

On the most meteoric rise, however, is soccer. Its net gain of 14 schools brought to 53.6 per cent the number of NCAA members sponsoring the sport, compared with only 32.6 per cent in 1956-57.

"Of course, I've always said the same thing about baseball," said Lou Spray, director of research for the NCAA, "but with soccer you don't have to be seven feet tall or four feet wide to play."

"It also gives the kids more opportunity to play, is easier to organize and is not so expensive to support as football."

Feuerbach Faces Matson Again In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH (AP) — Randy Matson thrives on competition. Because of healthy competition from newcomer Al Feuerbach, a 70-foot shot put is a possibility in the Wort Worth Coaches Indoor Games this weekend.

The two clash for the fourth time this season with Feuerbach, 23, setting an indoor world record of 68-11 the target, eight days ago.

Feuerbach's outdoor best at Kansas State College of Emporia last year was 65-0. The 247-pounder now lives in California and holds one victory over Matson, the Olympic champion and outdoor world record holder at 71-5 1/2.

Feuerbach set the present world record at San Francisco. Matson threw 68-8 in the meet.

Matson had winning tosses of 67-10 and 68-0 in beating Feuerbach at Los Angeles and Albuquerque.

DOESN'T GIVE IT MUCH THOUGHT, THOUGH Hull Close To Mark

CHICAGO (AP) — The hairline has receded. The nose has been broken repeatedly. Even the jaw once had to be wired together.

The battering of the more than 13 seasons in the National Hockey League has taken its toll on Bobby Hull, who broke in with the Chicago Blackhawks as a teen-ager with flowing golden locks and the profile of a matinee idol.

But nothing, not even the scars from hundreds of stitches, can disarm the Golden Jet with the blistering slapshot of his handsome, winning smile.

And Bobby Hull broke into one of his wider grins at the mention of the legendary Maurice "Rocket" Richard.

SECOND BEST Soon perhaps within a week, Hull will score the 54th goal of his career to become the second highest goal producer in NHL history.

Richard had 544 in 18 seasons and Gordie Howe is still rolling along, although not so strong lately. Howe, the all-time leader is closing in on 780 goals.

"Honestly, I've never given it a thought," said Hull in reference to surpassing Richard. "It's only when you fellows ask about it. I expect when I become the No. 2 scorer in the National Hockey League it will have to be a thrill after playing with and against so many players."

Milestones and records are old hat to Hull, who became the third player in history to score 50 goals in one season. He's done it an unprecedented four times and holds the record of 58 goals in one season.

At 32, Hull has no thoughts of retiring. Nor is he chasing any more records. Two years ago he scored his 58 goals and the Hawks finished last.

Last season the team changed its style, putting more emphasis on defense. Hull's goal total slipped to 38 but the Hawks won the regular season championship of the Eastern Division before shifting over to the Western Division this year.

An indication of the Hawks' and Hull's change of style is that after 46 games this season, Bobby had 28 goals and 33 assists. Only once in the last 10 seasons has he had more assists than goals and that was in 1964 when he had 43 goals and 44 assists.

NO PLANS "I really don't know how many more years I'll play," said Hull. "I've set no dates. I feel fine and as long as I feel that way I'll play."

The subject changed to the Boston Bruins and their brilliant star, Bobby Orr.

"You can use any adjective you want when you discuss Orr," said Hull, voted the top hockey player of the 1960 in a Special Associated Press Poll. "Orr is sure to be the player of the 1970s. He's a kid who can get the crowd on its feet every-time he gets the puck. He has talent, speed, poise, playmaking ability. Name it, he has it."

Hull also had some remarks concerning Phil Esposito, his former linemate who has been the scoring scourge of the league the past two seasons. Esposito not only figures to hit the 50-goal plateau this year but also could smash Hull's record of 58 goals.

"Anything Phil gets he deserves and I say more power to him. Boston put it all together and Phil fit in perfectly. All the Boston players seem to complement each other. They have a great team."

It is highly possible that the Bruins and the Black Hawks could wind up against each other in the Stanley Cup finals and as far as Hull is concerned "that would be fine with me; that's what we're shooting for."

Bovines Tie For Fifth In Angelo Tournament

Big Spring High School's golf team tied for fifth place with Abilene High in the San Angelo High School Invitational concluded Saturday in San Angelo. Amarillo Cap Rock was the first place finisher in the tournament, posting a team score of 632.

The Steers posted a final team score of 640, eight strokes behind the winner.

Medalist for AAAA schools competing in the event was Mike Fisher from San Antonio Alamo Heights with a 150. Second was Max Tenorio from Cap Rock with a 151 and Big Spring's Howard Stewart was third, one stroke behind.

Individual scores for the Steers were Howard Stewart 74-78-152; Jarrell Carroll 82-78-160; Mark Peters 78-94-162; Mark Slate 88-78-166; Mark McCraney 87-87-174 and Jimmy Stewart 84-86-170.

Midland Lee finished second in the tournament with a 636 followed by Fort Worth Paschal with 637. Paschal was the leader after Friday's round. In fourth spot was Alamo Heights with a 638.

Other District 5-AAAA schools and their scores included Abilene Cooper 647, San Angelo 648, Midland 649, Permian 649 and Odessa 702.

There were 21 teams from AAAA schools entered in the tournament.

Among the AAA schools participating, Snyder won first place honors with a 632. Next came Andrews with 647, Brownwood with 657, Monahans 662, Fort Stockton 702, and Seminole 736.

Taking medalist honor among the AAA entries was Snyder's Glenn Bass with a score of 147. Lyn Elkins from Andrews came in second with 152.

Winners in the two man low ball action were Wally Paine and Greg Sumro from Fort Worth Paschal with a score of 139.

Two Texans Named To Walker Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Lanny Wadkins, the reigning U.S. Amateur champion from Richmond, Va., heads the 10-member 1971 Walker Cup team, announced Saturday by the U.S. Golf Association.

Allen Miller, Pensacola, Fla.; Tom Kite, Austin, Tex., and Marvin Giles, Richmond, Va., who along with Wadkins were members of the winning U.S. team in the 1970 World Amateur team championship, also were named to the squad.

The remainder of the team is made up of Billy Campbell, Huntington, W. Va.; John Farquhar, Amarillo, Tex.; James Gabrielson, Atlanta; Bill Hyndman, Huntington Valley, Pa.; Steve Melynk, Jacksonville, Fla., and Jim Simons, Butler, Pa.

The 23rd meeting with Britain in the Walker Cup is scheduled for May 26-27 at St. Andrews, Scotland.

John M. Winters Jr., Tulsa, Okla., was named the non-playing captain. All members have previous USGA international team experience except Simons, Gabrielson and Farquhar. The last Walker Cup match was won by the U.S. team by a score of 10-8 at Milwaukee, Wis., in 1969.

Four alternates also were named, in case any player declines, the invitation. They are, in order, Ben Crenshaw, Austin, Tex.; Joe Inman Jr., Greensboro, N.C.; Ed Pearce, Tampa, Fla., and Gary Sanders, Buena Park, Calif.

Mr. Cub Vows He'll Play This Year If Summoned

CHICAGO (AP) — His birthday cake Sunday should show 40 candles, but even if there were 100 they wouldn't outshine the smile of "Mr. Cub" — irreplaceable Ernie Banks.

"They tell me I have the knees of a 60-year-old from all the playing on them, but I'll be out there as much as they need me this year and I can help the club," the veteran first baseman said.

The still lean, trim Banks has done nothing but help the Cubs for the past 17 seasons, including last year despite being relegated to the disabled list for the first time with an arthritic left knee.

Banks planned to spend his 40th birthday quietly with his wife and three children.

"There won't be any party," said Mrs. Banks. "We'll have the birthday cake with our dinner."

Then, Ernie will take off Monday for Phoenix, Ariz., and a golf tournament for athletic celebrities.

"I feel fine and hope I'll be able to play 120 or more games this season," said Banks, whose perennial prediction of Cub success this year is "we'll be No. 1 in 1971."

Manager Leo Durocher, who as far back as 1966 conceded "I tried to retire him, but Ernie wouldn't let me," said when Banks signed his 1971 contract: "I don't know how much Ernie can play this season—I hope 162 games—but I'll be playing the best nine men available."

Last year, Banks bounced back from a 27-day sidelining Aug. 21 to hit 328 in his last 17 games. The National League's Most Valuable Player of 1953 and 1959 wound up with 12 home runs and swelled his club-leading career total to 509.

On May 12 last season, Ernie slammed his 500th homer, an achievement matched by only a dozen players in big league history.

"I want to keep on playing," said Banks. "I still love this game. It's the greatest life in the world."

Hale Knocked Down By Fan

Boyce Hale of Big Spring was knocked down by a minor identified as a Permian High School student while officiating the Permian-Midland High game in Midland Friday night.

Hale suffered an injured elbow when he fell to the court but was able to finish the game. The Big Spring arbiter had called a player-control foul on a Permian player at a time the score was tied in the final minute of play. Permian later won the game.

The youth who charged onto the court to assault Hale was later taken to jail by city policemen assigned to keep order at the game.

Tommy Stone of Lubbock was the other game official.

Ray Sparkles As Buffs Lose

STANTON — Glen Ray poured 25 points through the nets for the Stanton Buffaloes here Friday night but it all went for naught as the Buffs dropped a 74-71 cliff-hanger to the Crane Golden Cranes.

The contest was close all the way and the issue was not settled until the final seconds of the fourth period.

Ricky Anderreg was high man for Crane with 24 points.

Stanton's reason record now reads 9-12 and Crane stands at 16-12 on the year.

CRANE (74) — Neal 6-15; Anderreg 11-21; Ward 3-8; Washington 2-4; Bowers 2-5; Hollins 2-10. Totals 26-72.

STANTON (71) — Mims 3-9; Jones 7-15; Roy 10-25; Kelly 1-0-2; Swanson 6-8-16; Elkins 2-1-5; Menfield 1-0-2. Totals 30-71.

Registration for the convocation will be held in the foyer of the high school and will begin promptly at 8 a.m.

Up To 80 May Report For Baseball Drills

Oakey Hagood, Big Spring High School baseball coach, expects to welcome 75 or 80 candidates when he holds the first practice session of the year Monday afternoon.

Hagood, assisted by Tim Smith, said that he will probably carry 20 players on the varsity squad and approximately 24 on the junior varsity unit during the regular season.

Pitching candidates vying for slots in the starting rotation for the Steers this season will be David Englert, Dave Duncan, John Sevey, David Newman and David Carter, all right handers. All are lettermen except Newman and Carter.

The Steers will rely on outfielder-catcher Thomas Brewer, catcher Pete Shaffer, shortstop Randy Womack and second sacker Roddy Caffey to supply power at the plate. Hagood indicated the first base position is up for grabs and could be won by one of many aspirants. He also said Tommy Fletcher will probably get the call at third base.

The Steers, who begin the season March 2, finished with an 8-12 mark last season, good enough for third place in their zone. Hagood said the district is returning to normal district play this year with the season divided into halves.

AMARILLO SKIDS Sammy Hervey Is Scoring Leader

Vincennes University continues to lead for the sixth straight week in the NJCAA Basketball Poll. The College of Southern Idaho moved into second place by whipping Snow College 90-77 and Dixie College 93-78. Brevard College moved up a notch into third place, with San Jacinto falling into fourth place after suffering its second loss in 25 starts. Robert Morris College of Pittsburgh, Pa., despite a loss to Broome Tech, 79-65, at Binghamton, New York, remained in a tie with Kilgore College for fifth place.

Amarillo College, which had been in the top 10, lost another game and skidded to 12th place among the elite.

Sammy Hervey of Kilgore, Tex., became the No. 1 scorer in the country with a 37.1 average.

Becker JC of Worcester, Mass., took over as the top offensive team with a 115.2 point average while Casper, Wyo., in 17 starts, has limited the opposition to 55.7, best in that department.

HC Jayhawks Rip Amarillo Badgers

AMARILLO — Howard County JC steam-rollered Amarillo with perhaps its finest all-around performance of the season here Friday night. Final score was 88-78.

The win was the fourth in five Western Conference starts for the Big Springers and snarled the race, since all teams in the eight-team league have now been beaten at least once.

HC trailed, 2-0, at the start when Jay Burton hit a basket for the Badgers but quickly shot in front and led by as much as 20 points several times.

The win was largely attributed to Decell Lewis' ability to out muscle both Larry Kenon and Hershel Mitchell. Kenon, who has had a sensational year, scored 24 points but his rebounding ability was neutralized by Lewis.

Garden City Divides Two

GARDEN CITY — Bronte took the lead in the final sixty seconds of play here Friday night and defeated Garden City, 51-49.

The Bearkats had led all the way in the contest and went into the final eight minutes with a three-point margin. Bronte took the lead at 50-49 in the last minute. Garden City had possession of the ball but failed for a charging foul. Bronte converted one of two charity tosses to eke out the two-point win.

Richard W. Shaffer was high scorer for Garden City followed by Jerry Parker with 13. Bob Pruitt led Bronte with 14.

Howard County raced to a 48-40 lead at half time and kept widening the gap. The Hawks' one weakness was in shooting penalty shots. They managed only 12 of 27 for 47 per cent.

Kenneth Neal also played a stellar game for Howard County, collecting 18 points.

Young settled for 15.

Now 16-8 on the year, HC returns to play in Odessa Tuesday night against OC's Wranglers, who have suddenly bloomed into full-blown threats after a slow start.

DIGGING DIVOTS Weather Brings Out Linksters

By GENE NORTON

C. G. Griffin, at the Big Spring Country Club, seemed pleased with the turnout of golfers on the course Saturday. He attributed it to the summer-like weather we have had over the past few days.

"We have had an exceptional month for January," he said. "The course is playing good and the greens are in excellent shape."

Echoing the sentiments of thousands of West Texans he related, "we could really use some rain, but we have been watering the greens and fairways according to our regular winter schedule."

employe and he said that about 73 people had played the course Saturday morning and that the course was packed Saturday afternoon.

Greenskeepers at the Webb links have been busy watering the greens and fairways and they are in excellent condition for January.

Continuing the trend of the other city courses, officials at the Munny links told us they were having to turn golfers away the course was so crowded Saturday. More than 100 golfers were reported to have teed off Saturday morning alone.

HCJC Girls Lose, 53-48

WEATHERFORD — Weatherford Junior College defeated the Howard County Junior College fems in basketball action, 53-48 here Friday night.

The girls from Howard County went to the dressing room at halftime with a four point deficit, 29-25.

Leading the way for the winners were Shulsen with 18 and Tinney with 17. Virgil Johnson paced HCJC with 22 points. She was trailed in the scoring column by July Holubeck with 10. Johnson was named most valuable player for HCJC. She is a sophomore who hail from Louisiana.

Two One-Point Games Played

In Gra-Y Basketball league play Saturday morning, Washington and Kentwood won one-point decisions.

Washington turned back Lakeview-Bauer, 24-23, while Kentwood measured Airport-Cedar Crest, 27-26.

In other contests, Park Hill-Marcy turned back Moss, 27-12, while Boydston upended College Heights, 15-12.

Jerry Clements' name has been inscribed on the huge trophy that is on display in the Munny clubhouse. You remember, Jerry is the current Big Spring city champion. It's not likely Jerry will be around to defend his crown in 1971. Rumors have it that Jerry will be returning to the ranks of an Air Force recruiter in a place called Little Rock, Ark. Are there any golf courses in Little Rock, Jerry?

Munny officials also told us Saturday that the new putting green is coming along fine and if the good weather holds, it could possibly be ready for use by spring.

Tip Of The Week: Never hit into a group of players ahead of you. The head you don't hit could be mine.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Plumlee Eyes The Future

By TOMMY HART

Most everyone around District 5-AAAA agrees that Ronnie Plumlee has done an exemplary job as the Big Spring High School basketball coach this season . . . Plumlee has no intentions of resting on his hard-won laurels — he wants to rebuild the Steers into a cage power . . . He'll have a fine nucleus for a club returning next year, if he can keep all his troops, and he plans to give sophomore-to-be Randy Marshall a thorough chance with the varsity . . . Ron says that one area of play in which the Steers have been weak is in rebounding, although they showed much improvement in that phase of play against San Angelo . . . Plumlee reasons that basketball can never rate with football as a high school spectator sport until the 25-second shooting rule, or a variation of it, is adopted . . . Such a statute would do as much comparable good as it does for the pros . . . Billy Ray Smith, who helped the Baltimore Colts win the Super Bowl game recently, once talked a police officer out of giving him a ticket after the patrolman had stopped him while leaving a party where various refreshments had been served . . . Smith proved he was sober (or at least hadn't lost his equilibrium) by walking 25 feet of the line in the middle of a highway — on his hands . . . SMU may take a flier on Big Spring's Tony Dean, if he can meet scholastic requirements . . . Mustang coach Hayden Fry likes Tony's size and his potential as a defensive footballer . . . Texan Dave Johnson, second baseman for the Baltimore Orioles, is an off-season golf pro in Florida and likely will devote full time to it when he retires from baseball in four or five years . . . Humberto Hernandez, a onetime football standout at the local high school, is close to getting his college degree . . . When Charley West of the Minnesota Vikings visited here recently, he took the time to look up Humberto to rehash some old times . . . West was on his way to Los Angeles where he planned to watch the Pro Bowl game . . . He told Hernandez the NFL season lasted three weeks less than he had expected it to . . . Nationally-rated San Jacinto JC won 20 of its first 23 basketball starts this season.

HARVEY PATE

Sands High School may have its greatest basketball team in history coming on, when the current junior high school team comes of age . . . Standouts on that stellar squad include 6-1 Keith Gandy, 5-10½ Kevin Gandy, 5-9 Frosty Floyd and Scotty Blake, who is the son of the Sands head coach . . . Speaking of freshman teams, the University of Houston has a first year cage corps that averaged 103 points a game through its first ten starts and is attracting crowds comparable to those which view the varsity . . . The Houston Kittens are already regarded as the equal of the frosh team of the Elvin Hayes-Don Chaney era and could be better . . . Dwight Jones, the former Houston Wheatley great, is a member of the squad as are 6-10 Sidney Edwards of Schenectady, N.Y., 6-8 Mack Mitchell of Diboll, Tex., and 6-1 Donnell Hayes of Camden, N.J. . . Coach Harvey Pate of the Kittens says the new Hayes is the most exciting player he's ever seen and he's been coaching 30 years . . . Notre Dame coach Ara Parseghian told intimates he borrowed from the playbook of Baylor in building a defense that would stop Texas in the last Cotton Bowl game . . . Bear Bryant expects John David Crow, the former Texas Aggie All-American, to become head coaching material in two or three years . . . Jesus Pimentel failed to show up for a fight program in San Antonio recently and 573 of the 2,105 who had paid their way into the auditorium got their money back and left . . . His stand-in, Jose Manuel Orantes, put on a great show in a draw with Kenji Ebashi . . . Bing Crosby is hacked with Joe Dey, commissioner of the PGA's Tournament Players Division and is threatening to use club pros only in his 1972 golf clambake . . . There may be a move within the players' group to bounce Dey, who has chased a lot of $100,000 tournaments out of business . . . Ed Hughes, new head coach of the Houston Oilers, is married to the sister of his former boss, Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers . . . The chance he gets at Houston is a lucky seventh — he applied for six other head posts and was turned down . . . In Japan, this is the Year of the Boar, in event any University of Arkansas fan wants to make early reservations for the Cotton Bowl game . . . On his first date with the woman he eventually married, Green Bay coach Dan Devine took her to a basketball game in which he played and did so well he asked her to stay up a little late so he could get the newspaper with the game story.

Speyrer First Steer To Go In NFL Draft

AUSTIN (AP) — Pro football talent hunters apparently have confirmed what some Texas Longhorn fans have been saying since Jan. 1—the best player on the squad missed the Cotton Bowl game.

Notre Dame whipped the Longhorns, 24-11, in the Dallas classic, wrecking their 30-game winning streak and costing them a second consecutive national football championship.

A spectator at the Cotton Bowl was Charles "Cotton" Speyrer, the split receiver who broke his arm in early October, against Oklahoma, and missed the remainder of the season.

But Thursday in the pro football draft, Speyrer was the first Longhorn chosen, going in the second round before All-Americans Bill Atessis and Steve Worster. The Washington Redskins, which had given up its No. 1 selection as part of a trade with Los Angeles, in effect made Speyrer coach George Allen's top pick up the 1970 college seniors.

HAD NO INKLING
"I'm pretty happy," Speyrer said. "Nobody from the teams had given me any idea when I might be picked—Washington contacted me less than anybody."

At 6 feet and 170 pounds, Speyrer appears frail, and he says, "I'd like to gain some weight, although I don't know if I'd need it. But as long as extra weight wouldn't affect my speed, I'm for it."

Speyrer has run 40 yards in 4.4 seconds and has exceptional moves.

He was known for his big-play heroics at Texas and pulled his last one against UCLA, the week before he was injured. Speyrer leaped high for a pass from quarterback Eddie Phillips, cradled the ball to his chest and hit the ground at full speed for the winning touchdown with 12 seconds left in the game.

The 45-yard touchdown pass play, giving Texas a 20-17 victory, stunned the crowd as few, if any, plays have in Longhorn history.

Speyrer averaged 16.8 yards on 65 receptions at Texas and—despite playing during the years of the powerful wishbone-T running attack—probably would have broken Longhorn career receiving records if he had not been hurt.

Strangely, five Texas players were picked in the draft before a single Notre Dame player was chosen, and that was quarterback Joe Theismann, who was the runner-up in the Heisman Trophy balloting.

ATESSIS TO COLTS
After Washington tabbed Speyrer, the world champion Baltimore Colts picked Atessis, whose weight has ballooned as high as 278 pounds but has been trimmed down to 230 for a shot at linebacker.

Atessis was a defensive end at Texas and was timed in the 40 in 4.8 seconds when he weighed 255 and "wasn't extending myself."

Coach Darrell Royal describes Atessis' play this way—"he has his stinger out all the way."

The third Longhorn drafted was Happy Feller, selected by Philadelphia and the first place-kicker chosen. The kicking of Feller, who came to Texas without a scholarship, made the difference in three of the four close games Texas had in extending its winning streak to 30. He set NCAA records for career total points by kicking and total extra points. His longest field goal was 55 yards against UCLA.

Royal said Feller once kicked a 70-yarder in practice. Linebacker Bill Zapalac, 6-4 and 225, the linebacking son of a Longhorn assistant coach, was the fourth Longhorn drafted, and he went to the New York Jets, which has the reputation locally of being "the University of Texas at Broadway."

OTHER EXES
That's because former Longhorns George Sauer, John Elliott, Pete Lammons and Jim Hudson play for the Jets.

"I'm proud to go as high as I did . . . and I know it'll be almost like home up there," said Zapalac, who was smart enough to be picked on the All-American academic squad.

Worster, the Longhorns' leading scorer as a three-year starter at fullback, was the fifth

Texas player selected. He went to Los Angeles.

His prospects probably suffered when he fumbled four times in the Notre Dame loss, but the year before he was the outstanding offensive player, ripping for 155 yards against the Irish in Texas' 21-17 victory. For three years, week after week, his running and blocking made the wishbone a feared offensive weapon.

"He's so darned strong everywhere. He's got muscles in his breath," says offensive line coach Willie Zapalac.

Speyrer and Atessis were drafted in the second round. Feller, Zapalac and Worster all went in the fourth round.

Amarillo Tops V Balloting

Nationally-ranked Amarillo College still is the No. 1 basketball team in Region V, according to a poll taken by Buddy Travis of Levelland, regional director.

South Plains, by virtue of its win over Howard County, moved into the runner-up spot while Howard County and Hill County tied for third place. Amarillo won 12 of its first 14 starts this season.

The top eight teams in the region will be accepted for the Region V tournament, which will be played in Big Spring March 4-5-6. The winner there goes to the national tournament at Hutchinson, Kansas.

Alou, Briles Switch Suits In Swapout

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Last year the Pittsburgh Pirates gambled in a trade for a St. Louis Cardinal pitcher who'd been hampered by a muscle injury. It paid off so well they've done it again.

In a deal with the Cardinals announced Friday, they obtained pitcher Nelson Briles, who labored last season with a pulled thigh muscle. The Bucs also picked up outfielder Vic Davillo.

St. Louis received outfielder Matty Alou, perennially a high average hitter, and relief pitcher George Brunet.

At one time Briles roomed at St. Louis with Dave Giusti, obtained by Pittsburgh in a trade last year with the Cardinals.

Giusti overcame a 1969 back muscle injury to pitch the Pirates to the Eastern Division title last year. He finished with a 9-3 record as a reliever and topped the Pirates with 26 saves.

"Briles is a Dave Giusti type," said Pirate General Manager Joe Brown. "They're both good, tough and intelligent pitchers and they're both classy guys. They both even have sideburns."

Alou, 32, was the National League batting champ in 1966 with a .342 average. He hit .297 last year after averages of .338, .332 and .331 the three previous seasons.

"Matty is one of the greatest hitters in Pirate history," Joe Brown said. "I think he will have many more good years with St. Louis."

Briles, 27, finished last season with a 6-7 record, but in the three years before he was 14-5, 19-11 and 15-13.

"We didn't acquire Nelson Briles for what he did last year," Brown said. "We took him because we know his arm is sound and that his problem was just something that needed rest. Bing Devine the Cardinal GM, told me he was healthy and that's all the assurance I need. Bing told me Giusti was healthy too."

The other two players who figured in the deal, Brunet and Davillo, are well-travelled veterans.

Paul Palmer Leads War Birds To Win

ABILENE — The number 30 and Jesse Olague with 17 each. Palmer broke the game wide open in the fourth quarter when he scored 16 of his 30 points. After leading by five at intermission the Steers kept the score close until the final minute of the third period. In those final 60 seconds the Warbirds outscored Big Spring, 7-2, to go into the final eight minutes with a five point advantage.

In addition to Palmer, the Eagles had four others in double figures on the scoreboard. Stan Lambert hit 21, Wayne Williams had 19 and Billy Gray and Forrester added 10 each.

The Steers travel to Midland Tuesday to engage the Midland Bulldogs.

In JV action, Big Spring suffered its first defeat, 83-74.

Thomas Clams Up On Play

DALLAS (AP) — Duane Thomas bristles when you suggest he may have "ducked but" of the dressing room to avoid reporters after Dallas' 16-13 Super Bowl loss to Baltimore in which the rookie's fumble on the Colt goal was a factor in the loss.

"I came into the dressing room and there were a lot of ifs, but the score was up there. . . 16-13 or whatever it was," Thomas says. "What is there to say?"

He says "The only thing I was thinking is that the 1970 season is over. Why get upset about something? Why rap that it really wasn't a fumble because the whistle should have blown?"

"If the official called it a fumble, it was a fumble."

The rookie from West Texas spun into the line with Dallas leading 13-6 and linebacker Mike Curtis hooked the ball from Thomas' arms. The officials ruled Baltimore recovered on its own although Dallas objected, saying center Dave Manders came up with the ball.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry called it the key play of the game.

"If we had made it 20-6 we would have been hard to catch," Landry said.

Thomas says "Why wait for them (the reporters) to tell them what was obvious? It was obvious we should have won the game. But I never gave a fumble a second thought."

He says "The officials get paid to make decisions."

Thomas says the big thing with him now is the 1971 season.

"What can you say about the past?" he asks. "All you can say is that game was a lesson."

Thomas says there are many things for him still to learn.

"That's what you practice for," Thomas says. "You don't have to practice to lose."

CRMWD Projects Right On Schedule

Good progress is being made on the expansion program of the Colorado River Municipal Water District to provide a supplemental ground water supply by the summer.

The first three wells in the well field to be developed in Ward County have been completed and tested, and O. H. Ivie, general manager, said that the results were satisfactory both for quantity and quality. Each of the first three wells is capable of producing at 1,000 gallons per minute.

Ivie said he hopes that the district can receive bids sometime during the week of Feb. 15 for around 36,000 feet of pipe line in the well-gathering system. Well pumps likely will be ordered around that time, and contracts let for electrical systems.

Work is still on target for a June 1 completion date. R. A. Schooling, administrative assistant, is making good progress on right of way for the main supply line, and pump stations. The 33-in. pipe is now in production and stringing on the right of way will begin as soon as the contractor is able to clear the way. Three crews will be engaged in laying different sections of the line from the well field and Odessa.

On another project, work is on schedule for the new spillway at Moss Creek Lake southeast of Big Spring. This lake is used as a terminal storage point for water from Lake E. V. Spence, and the spillway enlargement will permit the district to store an additional 600 acre-feet of water at this point.

Mozambique Death Toll Between 500 And 1,000

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — Rescue workers thrashing through the mud and swirling waters left by Cyclone Felice said today the storm probably killed 500 to 1,000 persons.

Early rumors of more than 100,000 dead in the devastated Zambezi Region of Portuguese Mozambique were discounted.

The stricken area, with a population of about 1.5 million, was reported under flood waters as deep as 20 feet.

Communications were cut and light aircraft, helicopters and boats were ferrying food, clothing and medicine to survivors isolated on high ground.

Rescue pilots said terrified villagers were clinging to palm trees, hut roofs and anything else protruding above the water.

Portuguese air force planes joined in rescue operation to speed relief to the victims of the territory's worst flood.

The skies were still cloudy today and officials said more rain was possible. The cyclone was reported swerving toward the Malagasy republic across the Mozambique Channel.

Many rice, sugar, coffee and tea crops in Zambezi were reported wiped out.

Witnesses said the northern Quelimane Region was under water and hundreds of thousands of Africans were stranded.

Most rivers had left their banks, cutting off road and rail links, and a bridge over the Licou River was reported submerged.

Robbers Kill Sub Operator

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Robbers shot and killed B. F. Cotton about 2:30 a.m. Saturday at the gas station where he was substituting for a sick attendant.

Witnesses told police they saw two thugs run from the station, firing at another man as they fled, and disappear in the darkness. Officers had not determined how much money was taken.

ONE FOR THE BOOKS — Youngsters watch with delight as a man dressed in half-bird, half-beast costume capers in streets of Basel, Switzerland, Saturday. He was part of the traditional festival of the Three Basel Guilds which opened the pre-Lenten carnival season.

KOA Facility Begun Here

Work has started on the construction of a KOA (Kamp of America) facility on IS 20 between the Cabot-Richardson and the Moss Creek passes.

It is on an 11-acre tract which Paul J. Davis, formerly of Slidell, La., has leased from Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Shirley, Big Spring. Davis will have his mobile home on a tract on the highway access road and behind his lot. It is accessible by a 60-foot road to the highway.

The initial layout calls for development of 100 lots, each improved and served by utilities. The tract will accommodate at least 200 sites.

Construction has begun on the center building which will house a small food store, curio shop, washateria, bath house, restrooms, and offices. Drilling also has begun on a water well.

Davis has a target date of being operational by June 1.

KOA is a coast-to-coast franchise operation catering to the trailer and mobile home trade.

Pipeline Back In Operation

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — An American-owned pipeline resumed operations today after a nine-month shutdown which stopped the flow of Saudi Arabian crude oil to Mediterranean shipping ports.

A spokesman for the Trans Arabian Pipeline—Tapi—Co., which owns the 1,000-mile tube, said pumping stations have already reached peak volume of 480,000 barrels per day to make up for the multimillion dollar losses caused by the shutdown.

The pipeline was punctured by a Syrian bulldozer last May. Repair work was allowed by the Syrian government only last Thursday when a new agreement was signed with Tapline, boosting Syrian transit royalties.

The pipeline runs across Saudi Arabian, Jordanian, Syrian and Lebanese territory. Storage tanks, at its Mediterranean terminal of Zahran in south Lebanon, now are being filled and the first Europe-bound tanker is expected to load next Tuesday or Wednesday, said the spokesman.

TOYOTA "BEST OF GROUP"

ROAD & TRACK RATES TOYOTA "BEST OF GROUP" IN COMPARISON TESTS OF TOP 5 SMALL CARS

TOYOTA CORONA

The current edition of Road & Track magazine (Jan. 1971) compares the five leading small cars on the U.S. market — Toyota Corona, Datsun 510, Chevrolet Vega, Ford Pinto 1600 and the VW Super Beetle — and awards its "best of group" rating to the Toyota Corona sedan.

In summarizing the test results, Road & Track reports: "The Toyota Corona is quiet, comfortable and strong. It has a list of standard fittings that should make the other economy car builders green with envy... It is an outstanding dollar value."

'DECIDED TO STAY ALIVE'

Lost Men Worried About Searchers Getting Hurt

MT. WASHINGTON, N.H. (AP) — Four young mountain climbers paused at the intersection of five trails high on Mt. Washington and took out their Appalachian Mountain Club map.

Hurricane-force winds tore the map from their hands and blew it away. Swirling snow obscured the sun. They took the wrong trail Tuesday, beginning four harrowing days for the four New Jersey men, members of the Rutgers University Outdoor Club. They became lost on the 6,288-foot mountain in temperatures as low as 38 below zero and winds up to 90 miles an hour.

They were found Friday, apparently in good shape, after they took advantage of a break in the weather to trek to the summit.

"We went to the summit as the nearest place to find people," said Joseph DiMaio, 22, of Irvington. "We wanted to call off the search."

Another of the climbers, Barry Fields, 21, of Boonton, said,

"We were worried people might get killed searching for us. It's just amazing that 20 men were willing to risk their lives. Nobody in his right mind should be out in that weather."

The four were spotted walking to the summit Friday by one of six search parties of Mountain Veteran.

The searchers escorted the four to the foot of the mountain by late afternoon. The young men walked down the first six miles, rode the last two miles to the Forest Service headquarters in a tracked snow vehicle and headed home later.

At the summit are a private weather bureau and a television transmitter station, both manned.

With DiMaio and Fields on the climb were Edward Salier, 21, of Vineland and Jose Vazquez, 25, of West Orange. Vazquez went to a mountain survival school in New York state last summer and directed much of the activities that kept the group alive.

"We just decided we were going to stay alive," DiMaio said.

The four set out from the Harvard Mountaineering Club cabin Tuesday morning when the weather was still relatively mild.

South Texas Rancher Takes Control Of Bank

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A wealthy South Texas rancher and banker announced Friday he has controlling interest in the Groos National Bank of San Antonio, one of the oldest in the state.

Clinton Manges, formerly of Harlingen and Raymondville, said he had acquired more than 50 per cent of the bank's stock.

Sources said the venture cost $5 million.

Bank officials said it appeared Manges does have control. They stressed this will not change the bank's policies.

Federal court records show Manges was fined $2,500 in 1965 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of making a false statement to the Small Business Administration in Dallas.

According to the Federal Records Center in Fort Worth, the statement was made in a 1959 application for an SBA loan.

He was fined in a federal court at Dallas, the records showed.

Manges' lawyers, who issued a statement about the Groos bank Friday, acknowledged the SBA case but declined to comment.

Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., meanwhile released copies of letters which he sent to federal officials concerning the Groos stock purchases.

In a letter to William Camp, U.S. comptroller of currency, Gonzalez referred to the SBA case and questioned whether Manges is eligible to serve on the Groos board of directors.

Manges did not indicate any immediate plans to take a director's position. He avoided newsmen, leaving his hotel room by a back door after they arrived for a news conference.

His lawyer read a prepared statement by Manges. It said:

"I do not contemplate any present changes in the board of directors or in the personnel of the bank. The policies of the bank will continue unchanged."

Manges also predicted a "period of new growth and prosperity" for the bank, which has total resources of more than $73 million.

His lawyer, Jack Skaggs of Harlingen, said Manges chose the Groos because it is a "good bank, conservative, one of the oldest."

Manges, 47, is board chairman of the First State Bank and Trust Co. of Rio Grande City and has about 100,000 acres of ranchland in several counties, including Starr, Duval and Maverick counties, associates said.

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Silvio Papetti, 34, was found hanging from the church bell, so police ran him in. He was sentenced to five months in jail Friday for attempting to steal the bellcord.

Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., meanwhile released copies of letters which he sent to federal officials concerning the Groos stock purchases.

In a letter to William Camp, U.S. comptroller of currency, Gonzalez referred to the SBA case and questioned whether

Valentine Queens

By JO BRIGHT

Six pretty Valentine Queens, elected by local Beta Sigma Phi chapters, will be introduced Saturday evening at Big Spring Country Club when the BSP City Council hosts its fifth annual Valentine Ball.

Each year the five chapters and the council elect their Valentine Queens to be presented at the ball. Each of the six women is also entered in the queen competition sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi International.

In the international competition, contestants are judged on beauty only, with winners selected from photographs. A Hollywood film notable serves as judge, with the winner being announced in the February issue of the sorority magazine, The Torch.

From thousands of entries, the contest will have winners from three categories: the Valentine Queen, to be chosen from Ritual of Jewels chapters; the Valentine Princess, to be chosen from Nu Phi Mu chapters; and the Valentine Sweetheart, to be chosen from Exemplar and Exemplar Preceptor chapters.

The Valentine Queens from the Big Spring chapters are Mrs. Jerry Myrick, Alpha Beta Omicron; Mrs. Edward Cole, Beta Omicron; Mrs. Tommy Rutledge, Mu Zeta; Mrs. Byron Hedges, Phi Zeta Omega; Mrs. Lamar Green, Xi Mu; and Mrs. Garland Braun, BSP City Council.

As each Valentine Queen is introduced by Jim Baum, master of ceremonies, she will be presented a yellow rose, the sorority flower, and a sweetheart charm for her sorority bracelet. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the women will be joined by their escorts for a special Valentine dance number played in their honor. Music will be by Jack Camden and the Execs, with hours for dancing being from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets for members and their guests will be $5 per couple.

A number of guests are expected from out of town, with invitations having been issued to 36 area chapters to attend and have their individual chapter Valentine Queens presented at the ball.

Jacques Griffe Styles 'Acceptable Fashions'

PARIS (AP) — Most of the evening group, hemlines are in focus. The harem trouser skirt, the Zouave and even the "clownesse," after Toulouse-Lautree's and Briançon's circus and cafe concert posters, are sources of inspiration.

Jacques Griffe's impeccably tailored and often beautiful spring clothes give women an opportunity to be perfectly turned out without upsetting accepted fashion standards. Shorts are ignored.

His daytime suits and coat-and-dress ensembles are carefully planned. They may appear simple, but it takes terrific knowhow and skill to achieve that smooth, quiet look.

Griffe is a tailor par excellence, and his neutral tones, bright red checked "shirtcoats" and Kimono-cut sports and travel coats prove it. Builtin effects are his specialty.

Dozens of little dresses, adored by the Parisienne, have skirt and hemline interest. He favors the mini occasionally, or stresses hemlines with a pleated frill or two, or notches the edges or adds a bias band. In

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County home demonstration agent, presented the program "Just In Case You Think You're Normal" to the Knott HD Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins.

The program was based on a record by Dr. Murray Banks, a former professor from Brooklyn, N.Y., who listed the basic attributes necessary to be a well-adjusted person.

Dr. Banks said "a person must know how to live with himself, must learn to make the most of what he has, must learn to live each day as though it were the last on earth, must continually set new and interesting goals, and must learn how to stay young forever."

"Happiness depends on the person's attitude toward life. A well-adjusted person is never a perfectionist, but has an educated heart."

Mrs. R. J. Shortes presided and members made plans for the arts and crafts exhibit being sponsored by the county HD clubs in May at Highland Center Mall. The next meeting is Feb. 23, 2 p.m., in the home of Mrs. Joe Myers.

COAHOMA CLUB

Landscape Growing Wild? Plant With A Purpose

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
(County HD Agent)

While this may be the season for planting woody ornamentals in the landscape, it is always best to plan before planting. Too often we find relatively new homes completely engulfed in plant materials. The new home owner, anxious to develop a landscape setting for his house, gave little or no thought to the planning of his planting. Plants were purchased because they looked attractive in the nursery sales yard and no inquiries were made as to their ultimate size, cultural requirement or growth habit. They were placed in the landscape for their immediate effect and within a few years the planting became crowded and overgrown.

HAVE PLAN

All elements in a landscape should serve a definite purpose, whether living plants or man-made objects. Harsh architectural lines can be frequently softened by proper placement of suitable shrubs or trees. Plants can also serve as accents for entrances or as enframement for an attractive view or for the house itself. Large, massive, unbroken wall surfaces can be softened by proper placement of attractive plants.

Plants or fences as well as serve as a screen to shut out objectional views on the property or on adjacent land. Some of the newer fence materials can serve as excellent backdrops for the smaller specimen plants used in the landscape. This is especially true on small lots where space is limited. A solid fence can also provide a windbreak or shelter for the less hardy plants you may like to try in your landscape.

PRETTY SETTING

With a little planning and forethought in preparing the landscape, it is soon possible to provide an attractive setting for the home.

A "February Garden Calendar" has been developed by Mr. Everett Janne, Landscape Horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Among the suggestions that Mr. Janne has made for the home gardener to do during the month of February are:

1. Continue to plant trees and shrubs.
2. Don't neglect the recently transplanted landscape plants. Dry winter winds can dry out the soil and damage plants before they become established.
3. Prune established hybrid tea and florabunda roses. Delay pruning climbing roses until after the peak of spring bloom.

4. Spring flowering trees and shrubs should not be pruned until after they have bloomed. All necessary pruning of summer flowering trees and shrubs as well as most evergreen shrubs should be completed this month. Be sure to have a specific reason before pruning. Unless the removal of plant parts can be justified, it should not be done. Consult extension bulletin B-977 "Modern Pruning Methods" for more information.

KEEP NEAT

5. Clean up lawn area removing any fallen leaves and dead grass before fertilizing.

6. Fertilize lawns in late February or early March just as new growth starts. In the absence of a Soil Test use a complete fertilizer, applying 1 to 1½ pounds of actual Nitrogen per 1000 square feet. This would mean 8 to 12 pounds of a 12-12-12 fertilizer of equivalent per 100 square feet.

7. If flower beds are prepared, the following seeds may be sown directly in the beds in very early spring (check on seed package for specific information): Calendula, Four O'Clocks, Hollyhocks, Cone flower, California Poppy, Annual, Phlox and Nasturtium.

8. The following may be seeded in protected flats for transplanting later: Asters, Candelstick Tree, Coleus, Cosmos, Petunias, Dusty Miller, Geranium, Periwinkle and other favorites.

9. As new plant growth appears check for aphids. Control with Malathion or Diazinon.

10. Don't neglect tender plants in the event of a later winter storm. Be prepared to provide temporary cover.

PLANT NOW

11. Gladioli bulbs may be planted right away. Space planting dates at two-week intervals to extend blooming season.

12. New growth on spring flowering bulbs should be no cause for alarm if cold weather reappears unless the flower buds are starting to push through. Unless protected, the new flower buds are sometimes damaged by a late spring freeze.

Links Christianity To Social Concern

An article from the mission study book, "The Diakonic Task," was quoted by Mrs. J. O. Murphy in a program Tuesday for the Baptist Women, Westside Baptist Church.

"Christianity and social concern go along together as Christ taught," she said. "God loves people all over the world but hates the sins of the world."

Mrs. A. G. Andrews read the missionary calendar and led prayer, as did Mrs. N.M. Hipp. Two members, Mrs. Hipp and Mrs. Mary Riddle, served cake and coffee Wednesday at patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

'Mothers' Afternoon Out' At Center Tomorrow

A "Mothers' Afternoon Out" is scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m. Monday at Westside Community Center with Mrs. Robert Sawyer as the volunteer in charge.

Those receiving Bibles will be George Tabor, Margie Olague, Sammy Ortega, Patsy Olague and Junior Olague. Sammie Chappell is the volunteer in charge of this program, and the Bibles are being furnished by the United Youth Fellowship of Wesley United Methodist Church. A permanent change of meeting time for the board of directors has been announced by Peter Stone, chairman of the board. Meetings will be held the first Monday of each month at 12 o'clock noon, beginning Feb. 1 in the library of Ben Bancroft, local attorney, 104 W. 4th.

Staff members of the West Texas Girl Scout Council were among the approximately 350 Girl Scout professional workers of councils in a ten-state area who participated this month in all-professional staff meeting at the University of Oklahoma Center for Continuing Education, Norman, Okla.

Attending from the West Texas Council were Miss Beth Nowotny, Executive Director, Mrs. Jewell Jennett, Miss Arlene Estes and Miss Marcia Prior, field directors.

Delegates explored individual goals and objectives in relation to council tasks in the 1970's, under the event theme, "Four-Three-Two-One" Where?"

Ruth Wisdom of Kansas City, Region Five director, moderated the opening session. "What's New in Scouting and Outside Trends Affecting Girl Scouts."

Participants included Mrs. Louise Kjellstrom, director, International Unit; Mrs. Wayne T. Bell Jr., special assistant for conservation and property development; Mrs. Grace Pleasants, director, program department; Bert Rahm, assistant national executive director, administration; and Miss Margaret Wintz, assistant national executive director, field; all from the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., New York, N.Y.

POT, PILLS

Two timely issues were included on the program. "Pot, Pills and Patrols" was a session to gain new insights into causes of drug abuse and ways a Girl Scout Council might alleviate the problem. Audience dialogue with Dr. Povl Toussieng, M.D., director of Youth Counseling, and Child Development Center, Oklahoma City, Okla., and with Dr. James Allen, a psychiatrist also with the Center, and Bob Healy, coordinator, Paseo Center, Oklahoma City, dealt with the drug scene.

Mrs. Jack Horn, 565 Dallas. Parents of the bride-room are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Irwin, Route 2, Alexandria, Ind. The couple stood beneath an archway formed of white streamers with white wedding bells suspended from the center of the arch. The nuptial service was performed by Bishop Elton Wallace of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. A prelude of wedding music was played by Mrs. Connally O'Brien, pianist, and vocalists were Miss Kathy Rigdon and Marshall Horn, brother of the bride, who accompanied himself on the guitar.

BRIDAL ATTIRE
The bride was attired in a Princess-style tunic of white embossed cotton with long, full sleeves gathered at the wrist. The Empire bodice was marked with satin ribbon and featured a scooped neckline. Her veil of illusion was attached to a satin circlet enhanced with iridescent flowers and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red velvet roses tied with white streamers.

Mrs. Charles Walisa, the matron of honor, was attired in a street-length navy blue dress of bonded knit with Empire waist and short sleeves. She carried a single red rose tied with matching streamers. Serving as best man was Airman I. C. Charles Walisa of Webb Air Force Base. Davis Wallace and Bob Menges were ushers. The ring bearers were Michael Anthony Mohn and Richard Allen Mohn.

RECEPTION
Immediately after the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the home where refreshments were served from a table covered with white lace over blue linen. Forming the centerpiece was an arrangement of red hearts and red roses, and appointments were crystal.

Presiding at the punch service were Mrs. David Mohn, Miss Toni Louth, Miss Jada Kite and Miss Cheri Horn.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Ravellette and family, Edmond, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Eskridge and family, Edmond, Okla.; and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Edwards of Tulsa, the latter being grandparents of the bride. Mrs. Ravellette and Mrs. Eskridge are sisters of the bride.

After a short wedding trip, Airman and Mrs. Irwin will reside at 505 1/2 Dallas. Irwin is a graduate of Monroe High School, Alexandria, Ind., and is now stationed at Webb Air Force Base. Mrs. Irwin will graduate from Big Spring High School in May.

CRISIS FOR PROFESSIONALS

'White Collars' Are Fraying

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many of the nation's best-educated workers — engineers, scientists and technicians — are among the hardest hit in the worst unemployment in nearly a decade.

"It's a crisis for professionals," says the AFL-CIO Council for Scientific, Professional and Cultural Employees (SPACE). "Frayed white collars" is the term used by the Office and Professional Employees International.

President Nixon says it's a temporary job crunch due to switching economic emphasis from a war-based economy to peacetime products, and predicts things will soon begin to get better.

"We'll believe it when we see it," replies A. D. Stewart, who runs a nationwide job agency for high-priced, white-collar professionals. "My office is loaded with literally hundreds of resumes of professionals, engineers and electronic experts," said Stewart, whose suburban Maryland office handles job applications for the Washington area and nationwide. He says it's harder to find jobs for such clients than ever before.

The job squeeze among professionals and technicians is part of an over-all unemployment problem among all white-collar workers whose jobless rate has nearly doubled in the past year to 3.7 per cent or 1,213,000 persons. It's highest since the Labor Department began keeping records on white-collar workers 12 years ago.

The current plight of white-collar workers is worse than in the last major recession of 1958 when their jobless rate climbed from 2.5 to 3.6 per cent, or about one million workers. That recession hit blue-collar workers much harder, pushing their jobless rate from 8.3 to 12.1 per cent or a total of about 3.1 million workers.

"Never in the 25 years since World War II have there been so many thousands of engineers, scientists and technicians out of jobs and so many in danger of being unemployed," said the AFL-CIO Space Council.

Actually, the unemployment situation for professionals, technicians and white-collar workers generally isn't much worse than that for blue-collar factory and service workers, including skilled craftsmen and foremen. They're just not as used to it.

Total blue-collar unemployment is up about 80 per cent in the past year to 7.7 per cent and a total of 2,282,000 workers, including a more than 100-per cent jump for craftsmen and foremen.

Labor Department officials assign much of the unemployment among engineers and technicians to the slowed federal aerospace program, including spacecraft and military aircraft. Airlines, suffering a business slump, have added to the situation by buying fewer commercial planes.

The effects have rippled all the way back to money-starved research-and-development programs in universities and private companies that have had to lay off many scientific personnel.

In all, the nation's unemployment rate climbed some 75 per cent last year from 3.5 to 6 per cent of the civilian work force and from a total of 2,628,000 workers to 4,636,000 the Labor Department said.

Many federal programs provide at least some help to retrain blue-collar workers, but there are few such chances for professionals and technicians.

The Labor Department has appealed to defense contractors to list scarce job openings with the government's new computerized job banks to match the unemployed with jobs, and has started a national registry to help 30,000 unemployed engineers.

The backed-up job applications from experienced professionals also are crimping career chances of new college graduates seeking their first positions.

"Recruitment activity is at its slowest pace in several decades," said the College Placement Council of Bethlehem, Pa., which surveys industry job hunts on campuses of 140 colleges and universities.

"Numerous employers reported that, although they were conducting campus interviews, they were delaying offers until later in the recruiting year when they hope to have a clearer picture of their needs," the college council said.

Stewart says his Career Guidance Service can find jobs for college graduates in the top 15 per cent of their class, "but if they're down near average, it's tough."

The missing quotient in the American manpower picture," Stewart said, is "to produce people with post-high school education but less than masters' degrees who meet technical and vocational requirements.

Wandering Texan Joins VA Staff

A wandering Texan who has been out of the state for nine years has returned to make Big Spring his home. Dr. Ray D. Reed, born in Venus, Tex., has joined the staff of the local Veterans Administration Hospital as chief of the laboratory service.

DR. RAY D. REED

"I'm glad to get back to Texas. I wasn't even looking for a job anywhere else," said Dr. Reed.

Dr. Reed joined the staff on Jan. 18. He has set up bachelor housekeeping in a room at the hospital until his wife and family arrive at the end of the school year.

"I'm waiting until my wife gets here to pick out a home. I picked one out without her once, and she wasn't very happy with my choice," he said.

His wife, Juanita Lee, and the three children, Libby, 14; Miki, 13 and Jimmy, 10, are remaining in Rome, Ga., until summer. Dr. Reed's last post was as pathologist at a private hospital in Rome.

Dr. Reed obtained his bachelor of arts degree in 1945 from the University of Texas in Austin, and completed his medical training in 1949 at Southwestern Medical School, in Dallas. While a student in Dallas, he interned at the Parkland Hospital.

He has served as assistant resident pathologist at the McKinney VA Hospital, and as resident pathologist at the Birmingham, Ala., VA Hospital and the Baylor Hospital, Dallas. He has also served as a pathologist in a private hospital in Eau Claire, Wis.

From September of 1954 to January of 1955, Dr. Reed served as an instructor of pathology at the University of Alabama.

Dr. Reed joined the Army in 1955, and was stationed until 1957 at Fort Dix, N.J., as a captain in the medical corps.

He is a member of the American Medical Association and the College of American Pathologists.

Prayer Breakfast Is Set For Tuesday Morning

National Prayer Breakfast will be observed locally at 6:45 a.m. Tuesday in the Webb Officer's Open Mess at Webb AFB.

J. Arnold Marshall, mayor of Big Spring, will be the chief speaker; with Col. Anderson W. Atkinson, wing commander, the master of ceremonies. Other officials participating at Webb will be: Col. John W. Grow Jr., Lt. Col. Robert P. Nass, M. Sgt. Peter A. Neil, T. Sgt. Gordon A. Caulfield and T. Sgt. Alfred E. Norton.

The National Prayer Breakfast, formerly known as the Presidential Prayer Breakfast, is sponsored by the U.S. Senate and House Prayer Groups. The purpose of the occasion is to bring together the leadership of the United States in recognition of the moral and spiritual values upon which the nation is founded.

In 1952, members of the Senate and House Prayer Groups established with President Eisenhower the first Presidential Prayer Breakfast.

The breakfast has taken place each year since then. Governors of over 45 states have joined with the President to hold Governors' Prayer Breakfasts in their own State capitals.

Each year, soon after Congress convenes, men in leadership positions from various aspects of our national life meet together for discussion and prayer on the occasion of the Presidential Prayer Breakfast.

The Washington breakfast normally is attended by the President, the vice president, the cabinet, members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives, the Supreme Court, government officials, military leaders and others from across the United States.

Since the inauguration of the breakfast, the idea of men in positions of responsibility meeting together privately and without publicity has spread to every state, scores of cities, and to parliaments and congresses on every continent.

About That Spring Of Ours

The other day we received a letter, to wit: "On the editorial page of Monday's Big Spring Herald was an article, entitled 'Texas Names,' written by Robert E. Ford. The article was about names given to Texas cities and towns. Mr. Ford mentioned Big Spring and then wrote, 'There is no spring at Big Spring.' Who is he kidding? I think Mr. Ford stands to be corrected, or is that a mirage in Comanche Trail Park?"

Well, yes and no. The site of the historic "big spring" is still the center of attraction. The stream of water trickling over the rocks is supplied from sources other than the spring. And if this is disillusionment, we feel bad about it for we have long pushed for an animation of the "spring."

The historic spring was fed by water accumulated in a syncline — or an underground bowl. As it overflowed from the bowl through a fissure or crack in the rock rim of the bowl, it emerged in the basin known as the big spring. The T&P built a pump station (the foundation of which remains to this day) to draw water from it for the steam locomotives on the newly laid railroad.

When this supply did not come fast enough, wells were drilled above the spring. The city's first water works also tapped this same source.

Consequently, the level of the water in the underground bowl was pulled down below the level of the crack — and the spring gradually stopped flowing.

Over the years, and until today, wells have continued to draw from the same source, so that the level still is below the point needed to produce a flow.

But the spring site has always been a picturesque one, and one to which much of our heritage is tied. Long before there was any recorded history of the area, the spring was a focal point on the great Indian trails and buffalo migrations.

Because of its historic import, we have pushed for circulation of water so that it gives the sound of the spring in action.

Having said this, we want to add that one of the greatest problems has not been the lack of moving water in the spring but its accessibility. This has been partially cured so far as townspeople are concerned, but not for those who are tourists. It seems to us that some consideration now should be given to see if there can be provided a direct road from US-87. If we can get that, we might even push for a bigger stream of water to be pumped through the spring.

Our Nominee

We suggest that in the year 2000, Donald Sassen of Springfield, Mass., might be considered as a nominee for President.

Donald is the youngster, aged 10, who out-smarted his teen-aged baby sitter and her three boy friends. Donald had learned to identify the smell of marijuana burning and, just as importantly, he had learned how to surmount obstacles put in the way of performance of what he regarded as duty. He also struck a blow for society — that part of it that operates in the environs of Springfield, Mass.

He hired his younger brother, aged 9, who subtlet the contract to the baby, 5, to get the evidence when the baby sitter and the boys lit their marijuana and left the refill supply in the bathroom.

With this kind of talent and responsibility at 10, the lad ought to be about ready in 2000 A.D.

Civilian Deaths

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — The expanded air war in Cambodia, contradicting the President's pledge of June 30, is adding new thousands of helpless victims to the awful toll of the conflict in Indochina. The voiceless, defenseless peasants in the jungle and the rice paddies have no protection from the destruction rained down from the skies. Even the choice of defection from the Viet Cong, if they should want to defect, is denied them, since the bombs and the napalm know no political distinctions.

THE PLIGHT of thousands — probably over the five years of the bombing hundreds of thousands — of men, women and children is a grim side of the war to which most of us shut our eyes. When to this is added the hapless state of several hundred thousand refugees, together with the destruction of one-fifth to one-fourth of the productive land by defoliation, a whole people is seen to be nearing a point of no return.

AS WAS SHOWN in World War II, bombing is notoriously hit-or-miss, despite the charts and maps of highly organized areas. Where the targets are jungle trails and vaguely defined villages on indeterminate maps, it is a rigged form of Russian roulette, with the victims down below having no choice but to take the blow when it comes.

SO DEVASTATING is the impact of the suffering civilians seen at first-hand that Americans working in Vietnam were moved recently to speak out. Forty-six doctors, teachers, nurses, social workers — some with U.S. Government agencies, others with voluntary groups — wrote President Nixon and United Nations Secretary General U Thant. The letter is a deeply disturbing document that got far too little attention.

IT POINTS to repeated violations of the Geneva and other conventions, including the charter of the Nuremberg Tribunal, covering the conduct of war. "Nearly a third of the people of South Vietnam and Laos have been moved from their homes," the letter says. "Most of them are the victims of forced transfers by the Allied military or saturation bombing or are farm people who have seen their land become unproductive because of the defoliation."

IT IS, to be sure, a guerrilla war — a war of unmitigated cruelty, the booby trap, the land mine. The inhumane treatment of American prisoners of war violates the Geneva Convention on many scores. But, presumably, someday this conflict will end and the question is what will happen to a people ground down so close to the survival line by years of war.

One of the serious charges leveled against the "good" Germans, the solid middle class, under the Nazis was their professed ignorance or indifference to the systematic extermination of the Jews. Will the time come when we, the Americans, suffer in world opinion the charge of shutting our eyes to mass suffering and something like extermination?

Proposes Expansionist Budget

By LINDA RUBEY
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon unveiled his budget plans for 1977 this week.

He called for a record $229.2 billion spending in fiscal 1977 in what he termed a "full employment budget" carved out of two huge deficits totaling $30.2 billion in the next two years.

He explained that a full employment budget is one in which "spending does not exceed the revenues the economy could generate under the tax system at a time of full employment."

His call to arms was "prosperity without war and without runaway inflation," but privately, observers expressed doubts that his plans would succeed.

They noted that deficits of about $15 billion each had been expected for fiscal 1976 and 1977. Instead this year's deficit hit $18.6 billion, giving this year the largest deficit since World War II, they said.

They noted that the budget for 1977, a presidential election year, would have a smaller deficit of $11.6 billion only if Treasury receipts meet Nixon's estimate of $217.6 billion.

COULD BE BIGGER These observers considered this an unlikely occurrence since all private forecasts of economic activity have been lower. The result, they said, will be a more sizable deficit than Nixon anticipated.

Not only that, they added, Nixon's budget calls for a rise of $88 billion from 1976's Gross National Product level, an increase of 9 per cent. This would necessitate an even faster rise than in the inflationary boom of the late 1960s, they explained.

Most analysts said the scope of the budget's increase had been expected to finance Nixon's "New American Revolution." The bulk of this program is his plan to restore fiscal power to the financially pressed states and cities by federal revenue sharing. Already, these analysts noted, this program is coming under severe Congressional attack.

The financial community also listened with interest to

WEEK'S BUSINESS

- President proposed $229.2 billion budget in deficit
- Projects $30.2 billion in red for biennium
- Based on current over-run, some see bigger deficit
- Inflationary pressure still great, wholesale index up
- Connally gives views on expansionist policies

Treasury Secretary designate John Connally's hearing before the Senate Finance Committee on his nomination as Treasury Secretary.

CONNALLY TALKS Connally emphasized that he was interested in activist economic policies including a broad tax reform program, more intensive Presidential criticism of wage and price increases and further cuts in the prime lending rate.

Although he rejected direct wage and price controls, he said he would urge President Nixon "in the strongest of terms" to apply increasing pressure on labor and management to hold down spiraling wages and prices.

Connally further expressed the view that he "would like to see the prime rate go even lower" than its current 6 per cent level. The prime rate is the interest commercial banks charge on loans to their most creditworthy corporate customers.

In other developments this week, the steep rise in wholesale prices reported for January took a little wind out of the sails of the administration's contention that the pace of inflation is slowing.

GREAT PRICE PRESSURE January's rise of .6 per cent was the largest monthly increase in a year and the seasonally adjusted rise of .4 per cent was the steepest since September, the Labor Department said. Currently wholesale prices stand 2.2 per cent above a year ago at 111.7 per cent.

Observers said much of this gain was due to extremely volatile farm prices and that the closely watched index of industrial prices rose only .1 per cent. This was well below the average for last year.

On the brighter side was the

'Senior Citizen'

Around The Rim

Bob Whipkey

My friend Ruth Coffey writes a bright and readable column for the Colorado Record called "Conversation Corner," and recently touched upon a subject which struck a responsive chord in me.

She wrote about changes in the uses and meanings of words, and how different name tags have developed. To use a couple of for-instance, she noted that hardly anybody makes a mistake nowadays. They goof or pull a boo-boo. Or if you understand something, you dig.

TO THE responsive chord: Mrs. Coffey said she wanted no part of the people who dredged up "senior citizen," and related a story as follows:

"Would like to present a plaque to the man I read about the other day. He had to fill out some forms he didn't dig. That was hangup enough for a fellow with failing eyesight. But when the government official offered help by saying 'Now, as a senior citizen...' the struggling man blew his top.

"DON'T YOU senior citizen me! he yelled. 'Can't you see that I'm just an old man?'"

The point is, that if we stay around long enough, old age is going to get us; and disguise the description as you wish, it means we are old, period. "Senior citizen" seems to gloss over the physical process the Lord designed; and there is room for question as to whether those "declining" years (another ugh!)

make up the "golden age." That's gilding the inescapable fact, too.

LET'S ALSO discard that business of "you're as old as you look," or "as old as you feel." In truth, you look a lot older than your pride lets you admit. And the feeling, take it from a research expert, is a variable thing.

You get old when awakening each morning, there's a new ache in a part of the body you hadn't before given a thought to. You get old when, on looking in the mirror, you wonder about the possibility of a face-lifting job and a little voice from somewhere whispers, "too late, too late."

YOU GET OLD when you face up to the truth that you really will not get to see the Tah Mahal by moonlight, and likely will never get to a Kentucky Derby.

You get old when you observe that all high school and college kids are so much younger than they used to be.

YOU GET OLD when names escape you. When even a gimmick like recalling a related name fails. I kept calling a fellow Mr. Midland until he reminded that his name was Mr. Stanton. Well, I knew it was some town out west.

You get old when it's so easy to lapse into a little snooze no matter the place of the action. If just seems to ha-p- Z. Z. Z.

Superlatives

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The President, whether he likes it or not, is the trend-setter in this country, and when he speaks in superlatives it is no surprise that everyone starts picking up the habit.

I imagine the first time we knew we had a President who pulls out all stops was after our astronauts landed on the moon. The President was quoted as saying:

"THIS IS THE greatest week in the history of the world since the creation."

THEN LAST WEEK, before he gave his State of the Union speech, the President called it "The most comprehensive, the most far-reaching, the most bold program in the domestic field ever presented to an American Congress."

This kind of talk cannot but affect all American families.

For example, the other night, just as our family sat down to dinner, my wife announced, "I hope everyone has washed his hands, because I have cooked the greatest meal ever served in the Western Hemisphere."

"THAT'S GOOD," I said, "because I've had the hardest day anyone has ever had since Gutenberg invented the printing press."

My 15-year-old daughter said, "We had the worst test in school today since the Spanish Inquisition."

"How did your football game go?" I asked my 17-year-old son.

"It was the most magnificent contest ever waged in intramural sport," he replied. "I made two of the most unbelievable catches in the history of the game."

"AND WHAT did you do today?" I asked my 14-year-old daughter.

"I had the greatest Coca-Cola I've ever drunk in my life."

My wife served the pot roast. "I hope everyone likes it because it's the most expensive pot roast any butcher has ever sold."

"It is truly delicious," I said. "And it explains why we have the highest food bills of anyone on the Eastern Seaboard."

My wife took this as a personal criticism. "I can't help it if we're living in the highest inflationary period in modern times."

MY SON saved the day by asking, "Can I have the car tonight?"

"What for?" I asked.

"I'm going to the greatest movie ever made."

"What's the name of it?"

"I forget."

My 15-year-old daughter said, "Someone has to drive me to Jody's birthday party. It's supposed to be the grandest party ever given in the nation's capital."

MY WIFE SAID "After the most delicious apple pie anyone has ever tasted, I want everyone to help me with the largest pile of dirty dishes I've ever seen."

There were the loudest screams of protests ever uttered by an American family but no one could escape.

Then we all went into the living room to watch President Nixon give his "State of the Union" speech which Atty. Gen. John Mitchell described as "the most important document since they wrote the Constitution."

My Answer

Billy Graham

Isn't the real point of living to be free? And isn't Christianity, with its confining moral codes the antithesis of freedom? W.V.

All the talks of freedom by the radicals has no basis in history, in philosophy or in Christianity. True, Christ said, "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." John 8:36. He did not mean that we would be free from God's laws, free from truth and free from service. He did not teach that we are free to sin — but that we can be free not to sin. He also said, "He that is the greatest among you shall be the servant of you all." A physician is not free. He is the servant of the afflicted. A minister is not free. He is the servant of the spiritually oppressed. A teacher is not free. He is a servant of the uneducated. A housewife is not free. She is the servant of her family. A father is not free. He is the servant of his wife and children.

The only free person, in the sense which radicals define freedom is the vagabond, the ne'er do well and some hippies who have an aversion to work. Yet, the above mentioned are less free than most, because they lack a purpose for living. The freest people I know are the people who are free from the bondage and penalty of sin and who render the greatest service to God and mankind. They are free to live beyond the perimeter of self; free to have compassion upon the hungry, the poorly sheltered and the needy. They have broken their prison of selfishness and live in a world of freedom to serve their fellow men. That is the kind of freedom Christ came to bring.

On Your Mark, Get Set, Go...For Local Spelling Bee

Six hundred copies of the word practice book, "Words Of Champions" are ready for distribution by The Big Spring Herald.

The books will be distributed to students up to and including the eighth grade who are interested in competing in the 1971 Howard County Spelling Bee.

Howard is one of the 23 counties included in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Regional Spelling Bee. The winner from this county will compete with the other county winners in the Regional Bee to be conducted at 1 p.m. May 1, in Smylie Wilson Junior High School Auditorium, 4402 31st St.

GO TO NATIONALS

The winner of the regional bee will compete in the National Bee in Washington, D.C., June 7-11, with all expenses paid by the Avalanche-Journal. The winner will also be presented a loving cup and the traveling trophy for his school.

Other prizes to be given at the regional bee include a 24-volume set of Encyclopedia Britannica, two copies of the Lincoln Library, a world atlas by Encyclopedia Britannica, the American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language published by Houghton Mifflin Co., a 1971 Britannica Yearbook of Science and the Future, World Almanac and several cash prizes.

Classroom winners will receive white ribbons, school winners will receive blue ribbons and Paper Mate pens and the county winner will receive a plaque.

Lubbock Avalanche-Journal is one of the eight Texas newspapers that sponsor the regional contests each year. The only way a student may participate in the National Spelling Bee is to have been declared a winner in a regional contest.

LEGION OF PARTICIPANTS

More than 70 newspapers throughout the nation join in sponsoring the contests and pay annual sponsorship fees for the operation of the National Spelling Bee by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers of New York. Officials estimate that more than seven and one-half million children annually participate in the bees at the school level.

National spelling bees have been conducted since 1925 with the exception of three years during World War II. The trip to the national contest includes not only participation in the spelling bee but also escorted tours of many historical areas in Washington, D.C. All expenses of the contestants are paid for the sponsoring newspapers.

Students participating in the regional bee must qualify under two basic requirements: They must not have passed beyond the eighth grade at the time of their individual school finals; and they must not reach their 18th birthday on or before the date of the national finals. (June 7).

BOOKS AVAILABLE

Words used in the county spelling bees are to be chosen by county directors; however, the winner must spell correctly a word from final words division in the "Words of Champions."

Words used in the local and regional finals will be selected from "Words of the Champions," available at The Herald for only 20 cents each.

Cherri Ingram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Ingram, was winner of the 1970 Howard County Spelling Bee and competed in the regional bee at Lubbock.

Cherri, who is an eighth grade student this year, is already hard at work studying spelling words.

HOW CHAMP STUDIES

"When I study, I take one page at a time and look up the words and their definitions and pronunciations in the dictionary. I also learn to use the word in a sentence. My mother gives the words out to me each night after school," Cherri told Mrs. Ruby Osborn, the regional spelling bee editor.

"Last year, I often found myself spelling, in my mind, what people said. So I guess I was really in the process of studying everywhere I went. Hope to see you in Lubbock again this year," she added.

Cherri was a member of the Goliad Junior High School's National Junior Honor Society when she won the 1970 bee.

A TRULY APPROPRIATE SETTING FOR THE FINAL TRIBUTE

Since the final tribute is basically a religious ceremony, we provide a churchlike chapel. This chapel is spacious enough for even the very largest funeral gatherings, yet it has been designed so that it is appropriate for smaller, more intimate services as well.

Whether you prefer to hold the services here or in your own church, you can be certain that we will work in close cooperation with your clergyman to assure that everything is exactly as it should be.

19-YEAR-OLD BOYS Eating Habits Being Tested

BALTIMORE (AP) — The eating habits of a 19-year-old boy are being used by the federal government to test food for possibly dangerous substances — including pesticide residues, salmonella bacteria and now, mercury.

Under a program known as Market Basket Surveys, Food and Drug Administration inspectors in five cities go shopping six times a year for the amount of food the U.S. Department of Agriculture says a 19-year-old boy eats every two weeks. The food is shipped to FDA laboratories in Kansas City for testing.

"For the first time in the history of the Market Basket Surveys," said Maurice L. Straitt, FDA Baltimore district director, "FDA will test for mercury in wheat flour, nonfat dry milk, hamburger, raw chicken, beef liver, eggs and whole milk."

The diet of a 19-year-old boy was chosen because the Agriculture Department determined that youths in that age group eat more than anyone else.

"We feel that if it's safe for a 19-year-old boy, it's safe for the country," said FDA inspector Marvin A. Blumberg as he loaded up a shopping cart with the help of his partner, Addison B. Sales.

Sales said there are some problems involved in the shopping forays. He said his biggest was talking a woman out of the last apple pie on the shelf. "She yielded to science," he said.

On the shopping list of items to be tested are 117 foods in 12 commodity categories. An FDA spokesman in Washington said they didn't necessarily represent what any particular 19-year-old ate, but were simply a composite of a moderate-income diet. He also said amounts varied slightly among the five regions, headquartered in Baltimore, Boston, Kansas City, Los Angeles and Minneapolis.

Among the items were a pound of roast beef, more than two pounds of chicken, more than a pound each of hamburger and pork chops, five pounds of canned pork and beans, 14 eggs, almost eight quarts of fresh milk, more than a quart of ice cream, 12 ounces of cheese, 13 ounces of fresh oranges and seven ounces of fresh spinach, collard greens or mustard greens.

A&M President To Make Appearance In Midland

Texas A&M University's new president, Dr. Jack K. Williams, will make his first Midland appearance Tuesday when he speaks in the ballroom of the Sands Motel on West Highway 80.

Williams' 8 p.m. appearance, titled "An Evening with the President," will provide friends and former students of Texas A&M in this area an opportunity to meet and talk with the new head of both the College Station main campus and The Texas A&M University System.

The 50-year-old educator replaced Acting President A. R. Lueddecke, who now is executive vice president under Williams, Nov. 1, 1970. Lueddecke became acting president after the death last March of James Earl Rudder, president of Texas A&M for more than a decade.

Williams was the first commissioner of the Texas college coordinating board in 1966. For the past two years he was vice

Two To Try Out For State Choir

By KAY WOODLEY
On March 13, Mrs. Joyce Berstrom will take Laurie Lange and Bobbie Glenn to Midland to try out for the State and Area choir. The state meeting is April 22-24.

Monday the Bearkat basketball team meet Blackwell to play the seventh district basketball game. The 'B' boys won by the score of 38-33; and the Bearkat girls had a victory over the Hornets by a leading score of 68-47; the 'A' boys lost by a close game at the score of 48-45. In district play the Bearkat girls are 6-1, and the boys are 2-5.

The Friday night game was at home with Bronco.

Thursday the Junior High School students had a game at Grady, girls and boys.

Wednesday the Juniors had a meeting in the morning before classes and decided to have a semi-formal banquet.

Also, Wednesday the FHA had a meeting sixth period about the junior and chapter degrees. Mrs. Joyce Berstrom informed the girls, who were interested, about the degrees. There are twenty-two girls working on either a junior or chapter degree at this time, said Janice Halfmann.

Since the exams were taken last week on Thursday and Friday the report cards were handed out to pupils on Wednesday.

The Juniors had a class meeting on Thursday during first period to decide on things for the banquet. If the date is open they plan to have it on April 17, at the Holiday Inn or at Furr's. Class colors are purple and orchid; the flower is the carnation; and the class song is "We Have Only Just Begun." At the banquet Kevin Fryszak was chosen, by the class, to read the prophecy, and the people to write the prophecy are Laurie Lange, Marilyn Braden, Cecil Pearce, Kay Woodley, and the chairman is Earl Jansa.

The Seniors had a meeting and discussed having a speaker for their graduation. Richard Schaefer was chairman and on the committee were Cecilia Seidenger, Floyd Schwartz, Kathy Pendley, and Rudy Halfmann.

On Feb. 12th the seniors will be measured for their caps and gowns and the juniors will receive their Senior rings.

Forensics Win Third Place

By KATHLEEN THOMPSON
The Big Spring High School Forensics department traveled to the Tall City Invitational tournament one week ago on Jan. 22-23.

The squad amassed enough points to merit third place in the sweepstakes. Winning first place in prose competition was Cecelia Coffey, while the debate team of Scott McLaughlin and Jeff Talmadge won first place in debate. Qualifying for interpretation semi-final and final rounds were Belinda Gonzales, Darrell Horn, Cecelia Coffey, Elizabeth Lipscombe and Susan Smith. In the exempt semifinals and finals were Kay Meek and John Hicks. The varsity teams of Kathy Thompson and Susan Sulak, as well as Scott McLaughlin and Jeff Talmadge qualified for the elimination rounds. Plans are being made for the Kermit Invitational tournament sometime in February.

Tryouts were held for a drama production to be put on March 11, 12 and 13. The comedy "The Mouse That Roared" is now under production. It is the comedy of Duchess Gloriana as she attempts to solve the problem of near bankruptcy in her tiny domain in the Swiss Alps. Her solution is to declare war on the United States. Aided by the antics of Tully Bascombe, leader of the roving band, the Duchess meets many hilarious problems before the end of the play. A cast of 25 is needed for production. Tryouts were held Friday and Saturday.

The Student Council has been busy preparing for the state presidency campaign. A newsletter has been sent to all the high schools in Texas, announcing the school's intention to run for presidency. Council members are now displaying note pads with the steer emblem in gold on a black vinyl cover. If enough students express interest in the items, more will be ordered and sold. The board across from the general office will be used to announce not only school news of general interest, but one half of the space will be devoted to reporting of student council happenings. This is an effort to bring the council and the student body closer together.

CR '71 opened Thursday night, and continued through Saturday evening. The performance was well received by all those who attended. Thursday night's performance was dedicated to Gary Hise, who died Thursday morning after a long illness.

Honor List

Three area students are on the honor list for students attending Hardin-Simmons University during the autumn semester. Elizabeth Coborn Abernathy, senior from Lamesa, and Calrene Hammack, senior from Colorado City, made the dean's list (a minimum of 12 semester hours and all A's). Sue C. Gressett, Snyder freshman, made the honor roll.

The low-down on technical careers and technical schools. Straight from the U.S. government.

This guide lays out the facts. What technical fields have job openings. Where to write for the names of schools that are best qualified to prepare you for these careers. There's even a section on getting help with tuition money.

Most technicians' jobs pay double what the average high school graduate earns. As much as some college graduates make. So they're surely worth investigating.

Now it doesn't cost you a cent to investigate them. Just send in this ad today.

A Poor Father

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a man to be the father of four wonderful children and not have one ounce of paternal instinct? I think that's the case with my husband. He has four children any father would be proud to claim, yet if I ever heard him give any one of them a compliment I think I would die of the shock. The only time the children have known for sure that they had a father is when they did something he didn't like, and then he'd hit them.

Don't suggest professional help. My husband knows more than the experts. Maybe if you print this letter he will see it and realize it's meant for him.
LONG SUFFERING WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I doubt if anyone as insensitive as your husband would get the message. I hope it's not too late for him to thaw out a bit and show some signs of affectionate fatherhood. The father who functions only as a prosecutor and disciplinarian had better prepare for a lonesome old age.

DEAR ABBY: I have had this problem for five years but I never wanted to admit it to myself. Well, today I finally did.

Everytime I get mad at myself I take it out on my hair. What I mean, exactly, is that I cut it. I know that I look much better with long hair, but I keep cutting it anyway and then I am sorry afterwards.

I don't do anything else to myself along the line of destroying my looks, but this is bad enough because I know my hair is my best feature — when it's long. It's an unusually pretty color, naturally curly, and it's very shiny, so why do I do this to myself?

Please tell me what I can do to stop cutting my hair all the time? One of my friends suggested I see a psychiatrist, but he would have to cure me in one hour at the rates psychiatrists charge. What do you think? SCISSORS IN MY HAIR

DEAR SCISSORS: You've practically answered your own question. Cutting your hair is your way of "punishing" yourself. A psychiatrist could probably tell you more specifically why you feel the need to be punished, and thereby put an end to it. Inquire about the Mental Health Clinics in your area. It's well worth the try.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young adult. Last night when I was driving a friend home, I struck a dog in the street. I wasn't going fast, Abby, and I honestly did not see the dog until after

I had hit him. I immediately stopped and looked at the poor dog, but I couldn't tell if it was dead or just unconscious so I ran quickly to the nearest telephone and called the Humane Society. They were closed, so I called the Police Department, and they said they would send someone to the scene of the accident and do what they could.

I went back to see how the dog was, and it was gone! I don't know whether it crawled away, or if someone stopped and took it away. There was so much blood where it had been lying, I can't imagine how it could have crawled away by itself.

Abby, I feel so sick about this, I just hope you will print my letter asking dogowners to keep their dogs tied up. I have a dog, and he is never left to roam around and get hurt the way this one was. Thank you, Abby.
DIANA

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Bursitis Surgery?

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have suffered from bursitis in my shoulder off and on for about six years. I try to be careful and not exert my arms too much, but that's not easy with a house, yard, and family to take care of.

It is 15 months since my last attack, which lasted two months and involved both shoulders. I swore I'd have surgery rather than go through it again but now it has sneaked up on me again.

Please give me your thoughts on this.—Mrs. G.S.

Yours evidently is what is called a recurring type of bursitis. Once a bursa (fluid-filled sac in a joint) has been affected, even after the irritation subsides, too much use of the joint, and particularly too much strain or pressure on it, may cause a recurrence.

Usually these recurring attacks can be controlled, and I can't in good conscience make any promises that surgery would necessarily prevent future attacks.

Ordinarily surgery is the resort when the joint has been stiffened because of the formation of adhesions — and you do not mention any stiffness.

The principal measures to control bursitis attacks are ordinary pain-relievers such as aspirin, resting the joint, use of hot wet compresses on the painful joint, injections of hydrocortisone, and physical therapy — if advised by your doctor. This last category includes ultrasound and diathermy.

While you must guard the shoulders from excessive strain (as you realize), that doesn't mean not using them at all. Watch out for such things as wall washing, heavy lifting or pushing, a fall or other injury.

But the joints do require a certain amount of movement to avoid risk of stiffening or "freezing." One good method is holding the arms out straight and rotating the shoulder joint. Another way to keep the joint loose without great strain is to "crawl" or "walk" up a wall with your fingers.

If you have stiffness from your bursitis, it makes sense to consider surgery. If not — then at least have a serious talk with an orthopedist before deciding on surgery. If he sees prospects of preventing future attacks by surgery, well and good.

But if he can't see such a probability, then I suggest that you try making fuller use of the methods I outlined above for limiting, controlling, or preventing attacks.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it safe to eat and drink at the home of someone who has cancer? Also if a person has blue veins on the face, does that mean he has cancer? — Mrs. E.M.

First question: yes, it is perfectly safe. Second question: no, blue veins are not a symptom of cancer.

"Tips On How To Stop Smoking," by Dr. Thosteson, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Smashed Watch

PETERBOROUGH, England (AP) — For his next trick, the magician told the Sunday school party, he would smash 8-year-old Mark Jones's watch. The trouble was — he did. Two girls backstage had switched real and imitation watches and the embarrassed magician bashed the wrong one. He bought young Mark a new watch.

Unusual Film Opens At R/70

One of the most unusual comedies to be filmed in many a decade, "Where's Poppa?" starring George Segal and Ruth Gordon, takes pot shots at everything sacred from Motherhood to True Love. The picture opens Friday at R-70 Theatre.

George Segal has long been recognized as one of the finest actors of the stage and screen, and his union with Academy Award-winner Miss Gordon is destined to be a major highlight of his career. Segal plays the son, who reluctantly gives up everything for his mother, who perpetually confounds him by asking the question, "Where's Poppa?"

Miss Gordon, who won the Best Supporting Actress Academy Award for "Rosemary's Baby," brings to her role more than 55 years of experience on stage and screen. In addition to acting, she is a distinguished playwright and essayist.

Ron Leibman plays the screen brother of George Segal, and Irish Van Devere is the attractive nurse with whom Segal falls in love. Leibman and Miss Van Devere come to their roles from rising careers in the New York theatre.

Carl Reiner needs no introduction. Comedian, writer, producer and director, he has left his mark on television, stage and screen. "Where's Poppa?" was filmed entirely in New York City. Many of Manhattan streets and buildings are seen in the picture. Additional filming took place on a Long Island golf course, which doubled as a home for the aged.

'Five-Man Army' Is Action-Packed

The barren hills of North Mexico, 1914. A land in the iron grip of General Huerta, who has taken over the country. The dictator's soldiers hunt through the peasant villages for suspected revolutionaries.

Such is the background for "The 5-Man Army," a tough, exciting story with overtones of "The Treasure of Sierra Madre." It is a drama loaded with action, mounting to a climax of taut suspense as the diversion of a gold shipment on a fortified train is accomplished by a quintet of adventurers.

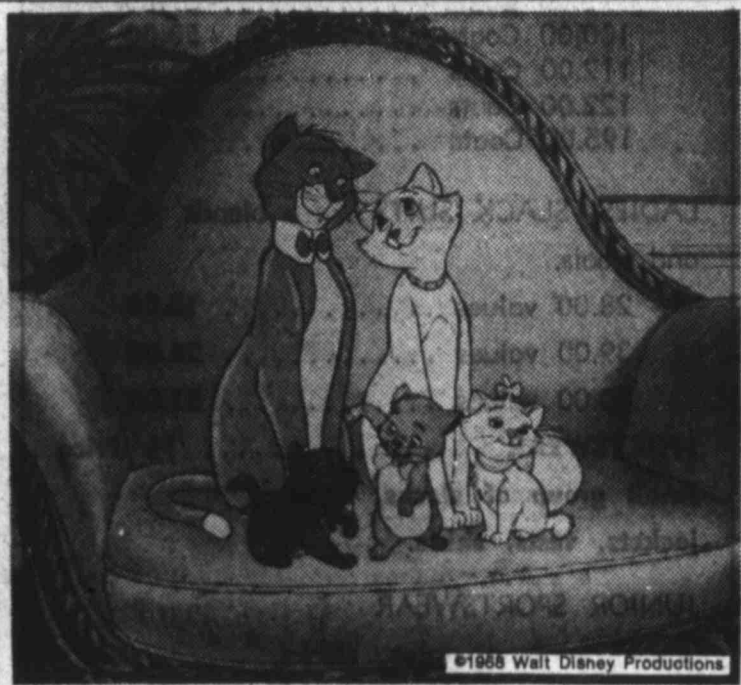

But "The 5-Man Army" is more than just an action tale. It is also a study of the mixed emotions in men who are down on their luck and hunted, who see a chance to recoup their losses and who, at first through greed, unite in a common cause. Finally, a sort of nobility emerges through their common efforts.

Peter Graves, popular star of the immensely successful television series "Mission: Impossible," now in its third season, plays the Dutchman, the enigmatic leader of this "army." He recruits each of the other four men with a specific skill in mind.

Respected stage-film-television star James Daly plays Augustus, a former U.S. Army captain who absconded with the payroll and is reduced to petty gambling. He still is skillful with explosives — an important commodity in the scheme to get the gold to the Mexican peasant revolutionaries. Daly, last seen in "Planet of the Apes," is currently the star of MGM's television series "Medical Center."

The strongman of the group is played by Bud Spencer, whose real name is Carlo Pedersoli. This ex-Olympic swimmer has endeavored many an Italian film with his athletic prowess. Another Italian, Nino Castelnuovo, seen as the romantic juvenile in "The Umbrellas of Cherbourg" and in "Camille 2,000," and "A New World," here takes on the same image as an acrobatic bank robber.

Rounding out the quintet is Tetsuro Tamba, together with Toshiro Mifune Japan's best known motion picture personality. Seen in English-language films such as "Bridge to the Sun" and "You Only Live Twice," in "The 5-Man Army" he uses his real life skills in karate, knife-throwing and sword play to help accomplish the men's task.

Eva Gabor Is Voice Of 'Aristocat' Mama

For the first time in her career, Eva Gabor, vivacious star of TV's "Green Acres," plays a mother. An unusual mother at that. She supplies the voice for Duchess, mother of three kittens and heir to a fabulous estate in Paris, 1910, in Walt Disney Productions' new animated feature, "The Aristocats," starting Wednesday at the Ritz.

"It's such a pleasure and privilege working at the Disney Studios," said Miss Gabor, "because there is no other studio like it. You know the artists work on a cartoon show like this for three or four years and it automatically becomes a classic as soon as they release it."

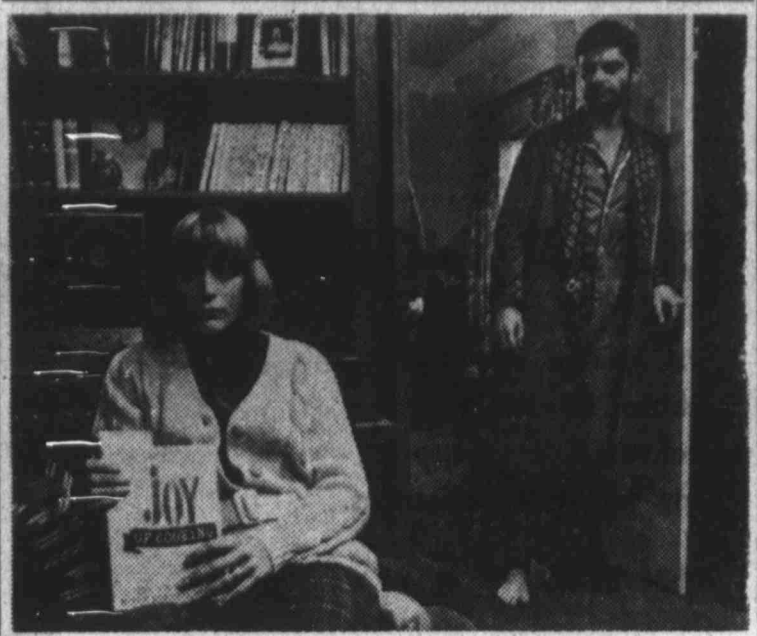

"It's the first time I've ever done anything like this," she continued, playing with an exquisite pendant watch around her neck. "It was complicated and difficult, but terribly interesting, darling, because to play a cat, you have to play it very human. But you have to imagine how this cat is going to react and move, so it needs a lot of thought."

Commenting on Miss Gabor's interpretation of her animated counterpart, "Aristocats" director and co-producer Woolie Reitherman revealed: "She's the freshest femme voice we've had in cartoon features in years."

Before being signed for "Green Acres" in 1964, she was hostess of her own program, "The Eva Gabor Show," a 15-minute series which dealt with famous women in history. She has written an autobiography, "Orchids and Salami," so entitled because friends used to say those were the sole items in her refrigerator.

When time permits, Eva enjoys guesting on variety and talk programs like "The Tonight Show," "The Dean Martin Show" and others. Last season she co-starred with Ken Barry in an ABC "Movie of the Week" called "Wake Me When the War is Over."

Miss Gabor, who is able to speak French, German, Hungarian and English, married Richard Brown in 1959. Brown is a vice president of Filmmways, which produces Eva's TV series. They live in an English Tudor style home, formerly owned by Kirk Kerkorian, in the heart of Beverly Hills. No children, but there is the patter of little feet. They have three Yorkshire terriers and one cat.

DIARY OF A MAD HOUSEWIFE ... Carrie Snodgrass, Richard Benjamin

'Mad Housewife' On Screen Here

The drama of present day marriage and the fragmentation of the individual is forcefully brought to the screen in "Diary of a Mad Housewife," coming Friday to the Cinema Theatre. A trio of gifted stars — Richard Benjamin, Frank Langella and Carrie Snodgrass — forms the triangle.

"Diary of a Mad Housewife" is the contemporary story of a young husband, Benjamin, a self-centered and sickeningly status conscious lawyer, and a young wife, Miss Snodgrass, who is driven to infidelity by his demands upon her.

Langella, as a successful young author, becomes Miss Snodgrass' clandestine lover.

Benjamin is one of the few actors with the skill, authority and subtlety for the role of the husband who is so intent on the image he presents to the world, he drives his wife to extreme measures. He was rocketed to stardom in his first film role with the release of "Goodbye, Columbus." Since then, he has gained additional acclaim for his role of Major Danby in "Catch-22." Several years ago, Benjamin attracted wide attention in the "He and She" television series in which he appeared opposite his wife, Paula Prentiss.

Langella, the pithy-speaking, successful novelist of the story who becomes Miss Snodgrass' lover, makes his film debut in the picture, though he previously completed "The Twelve Chairs," not yet released. He has won two Obie awards; one for his performance in Robert Lowell's "The Old Glory," and the other for his portrayal in "The White Devil" and "Good Days" off-Broadway.

Girls Of Golden Horseshoe Call Off Their Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Kids of the Kingdom, the girls at the Golden Horseshoe, Indian ceremonial dancers and a host of others have called off their four-month strike against Disneyland.

Spokesmen for the American Guild of Variety Artists, representing Disneyland performers, and Walt Disney Productions said they had negotiated a new three-year contract.

AVGA and Disney spokesmen refused to disclose the terms of the new contract, which a Disney spokesman said covers 82 jobs at the amusement park.

The AGVA members, due to return to work at Disneyland this week, walked off the job Aug. 8 in a demand for higher wages and shorter hours.

The railroad's net for the year was reduced by $787,000 after taxes and minority interests as a result of writing off receivables of $1,100,000 from railroads in reorganization. Operating revenues of $534,128,000 in 1970 surpassed a half billion dollars for the first time in the company's history. Revenues in 1969 totaled $495,258,000. Reflecting a continuing sharp rise in the cost of labor, materials and supplies, operating expenses were $416,806,000 compared with $387,101,000 in the prior year.
