

PRESIDENT'S 'POOR' KIN — President Nixon's first cousin, Philip Milhous and wife Anna, photographed in their Grass Valley, Calif., home, are welfare recipients who received help from the embattled California Rural Legal Assistance program, it was learned today. In background is autographed picture of Nixon presented to Milhous' daughter, Patricia Ann, when he was vice president.

'GOP PROSPERITY' Nixon's Relatives On Welfare

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Times says President Nixon's first cousin and his wife are ill and living on monthly payments of $57 welfare and $270.10 Social Security.

In today's edition, the newspaper said Philip Milhous and his wife Anna, residents of rural Grass Valley 40 miles northeast of Sacramento, also receive welfare aid to pay for a helper in their one-story house.

Milhous' father and President Nixon's mother were brother and sister.

Mrs. Milhous, 47, was quoted by the Times as saying in a telephone interview she and her 55-year-old husband hope to get off welfare. She said she did not know whether the President was aware of their plight.

Asked whether they had sought the President's help, she said, "Oh my God, no, we don't try to do things like that."

DR. WILLIAM H. MASTERS AND 'BRIDE'

Big Manhunt For 'Killers'

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — A gunman and two accomplices shot to death a California man today in a supermarket and critically wounded an armored-car guard.

The dead man was identified as Samuel Crager, 51, of Barstow, Calif. The guard is Tom Nanney of Fort Worth, Arlington manager of the Armored Motor Service.

Police said Crager was standing in line at Buddy's supermarket when the guard entered the store with bags of money. The bandit pulled a gun and fired twice, then ran from the store with one of the bags.

Near the door he shot and killed Crager with a single bullet in the neck.

Officers said an intensive manhunt is on for two men and a woman.

The three fled in a red and white car, which was later found abandoned.

Sex Research Proves Point

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dr. William H. Masters and Virginia Johnson, co-authors of two sex research books, have launched a new joint effort—marriage.

Dr. Masters confirmed Thursday night that he and his partner in the Reproductive Biology Research Foundation were married Jan. 7 in Fayetteville, Ark.

Their controversial research into sex acts has produced the material for the books "Human Sexual Response," published in 1966, and a 1970 follow-up, "Human Sexual Inadequacy."

The Fayetteville ceremony was performed by Dr. LeMon Clark, a physician and Unitarian minister who is a personal friend of the couple.

Dr. Masters said no attempt was made to conceal the marriage.

"It was just a private ceremony," he said. Masters, 55, and his 45-year-old wife each has two children by previous marriages. Masters was divorced Aug. 27, 1970, she on Nov. 30, 1965. Masters is an obstetrician and gynecologist and his wife a psychologist.

NEW YORK (AP) — J. C. Penney, builder of a mammoth retail business that bears his name, died today. He was 95.

Lake Charles Firms Ruined By Wild Winds

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) —

Tornadic winds roared down a major business street in Lake Charles early today, destroying dozens of buildings and causing an estimated $1 million damages. The walls of one home collapsed, but it was unoccupied.

Early reports indicated few serious injuries and no deaths, although several motels and homes were described as badly damaged by the 65-mile-an-hour winds.

The storm hit hardest along a 10-block area of U.S. 90, where a furniture store, two motels, a restaurant and an appliance store were described as destroyed.

FIVE STILL MISSING IN QUAKE RUBBLE

'I Thought I Was Dead'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Officials today counted 60 deaths from Southern California's earthquake disaster and the search of debris for other victims continued.

$1 BILLION WRECK
Estimates of damage from Tuesday's devastating tremor were upped to $1 billion.

Rescuers picking through the ruins of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Sylmar said they had removed 39 bodies and rescued a man trapped for 58 hours. Two patients and three employees were missing and feared dead.

A 68-year-old chef at the hospital was pulled from the wreckage late Thursday after being buried since the quake hit at 6:01 a.m. Tuesday. Rescue personnel said Frank Carbonara apparently was saved by a large metal tub which kept pieces of concrete and other rubble from falling on him.

Carbonara was rushed by helicopter to a hospital where he was pronounced in good condition, although suffering from chest and hand injuries.

NO SLEEP
Interviewed by newsmen at the hospital, Carbonara, his face gaunt and drawn, said he didn't think he slept during the whole ordeal.

Asked what kept him alive, he replied, "I thought I was dead."

Meanwhile, some 80,000 persons who were evacuated from a 20-square-mile area of the populous San Fernando Valley below an earthquake-damaged reservoir were expected to be allowed to return to their homes late today. Engineers had drained off much of the water in the 3.6 billion gallon reservoir whose concrete face was cracked by the quake.

The homes of thousands of persons in the valley and in communities such as San Fernando and Sylmar were damaged or destroyed.

Many fled to homes of relatives, went to evacuation centers set up in the Los Angeles area, or camped out in tents.

LITTLE INSURANCE

Thomas S. Kleppe, head of the Small Business Administration, estimated not more than one homeowner in 10,000 had earthquake insurance.

Tap water came out a brownish color in thousands of Los Angeles area homes but authorities said it was safe to drink. Five suburban communities had only partial water service or none at all. Residents were buying bottled water or getting it from tank trucks.

Some officials predicted damage to the terminus of an electrical linkup with the Pacific Northwest would result in a power shortage next summer.

The Los Angeles Department of Power and Water said repairs would take months and that there would be problems in meeting peak loads in the event of trouble within its system.

Cost Of Dual-Age Voting Spelled Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The extra cost of dual-age voting in state and federal elections is estimated at $10 to $20 million, and possibly substantially more, in a survey conducted by the Senate constitutional amendments subcommittee.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the subcommittee chairman, said today the estimate is based on questions submitted to election officials in the 47 states that have not lowered the voting age to 18 and to election officials of major cities and counties.

The Supreme Court in a split decision late last year held that legislation passed by Congress to let 18-year-olds vote in all elections was constitutional insofar as federal elections are concerned but not as it applied to state and local elections.

"The results of the court's decision were immediately criticized by election officials and others, not merely because of the apparent inconsistency but because it would require a dual-age system of registration and voting said to be expensive, confusing, and subject to other serious problems," Bayh said.

He said the subcommittee survey was undertaken to explore the magnitude of these problems and the findings were being presented in the hope they would speed approval by Congress of a constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 18 in all elections.

ONLY HOPE

Such an amendment was introduced last month by Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va. He listed 80 senators as sponsors.

Bayh said that "a federal constitutional amendment offers the only realistic hope in most states for 18-year-old voting before the 1972 elections", adding that only eight of the states surveyed reported it would be possible to lower their voting age by state action before next year's general elections without resorting to some extraordinary procedure.

"Ratification of a federal constitutional amendment, on the other hand, appears to be a realistic possibility by 1972," Bayh said.

Texans Go Wild Over Okie Money

DURANT, Okla. (AP) — Authorities were searching through Bryan County Friday for two men who touched off a wild commotion in a North Texas shopping center by tossing away $20 bills.

The bills are all counterfeit and the men were fleeing from police, authorities said. A total of $1,720 in bogus bills was turned in by persons who scooped them up, officers in Sherman, Tex., said.

It all began Thursday night when Joe Linxwiler, owner of a clothing store in the Sher-Den Mall shopping center between Sherman and Denison in Texas became suspicious when the men tried to pass a $20 bill and called police.

The two men saw the patrol car pull up and sprinted away from the store, tossing away the bills. Patrons and store employees scrambled to grab the floating money.

A car identified as the getaway vehicle was found abandoned in Lake Texoma in Bryan County.

Murder-For-Hire, Sex Slayings Big D Puzzle

DALLAS (AP) — Faced with a growing list of unsolved sex crimes, police officials said Thursday they will seek federal funds for establishment of a centralized agency to pool information concerning such crimes and murder-for-hire plots.

Capt. Robert O. Dixon, head of the police department's homicide division, said 20th Century mobility permits criminals to "prey at will anywhere in the country."

"We have firm evidence here that a suspect in a local sex slaying was wanted in at least two other states for similar crimes," he said.

Dallas police are now investigating its fifth sex murder in the past year.

A 22-year-old hospital clerk, Barbara Moorman, was killed and found on a deserted road in a city suburb recently. Four other cases of murdered women in the Dallas area remain unsolved.

"Sometimes we have a killer who lives a dual life — has a wife and children, seemingly a solid citizen. Then something triggers him off to commit murder," Dixon said.

Dixon said a conference on the problem is scheduled here this summer and law enforcement agencies from across the nation have been invited to send delegates.

Other officers said detectives need special training to break up murder-for-hire and sex oriented slayings.

Seek Extradition Of Odessa Woman

Extradition proceedings have been initiated against a woman charged with murder in connection with the shotgun-slaying of prominent Glasscock County rancher Steve Currie, 71, on Dec. 2.

Judy Dunham, last known address believed to be Odessa, is charged in Glasscock County with murder. She is in custody in California, District Atty. Wayne Burns said.

Feb. 22 is the scheduled hearing date for extradition of Whitmer Jean Ballard, 44, also charged with murder in the case. Ballard is in custody in Riverside, Calif. Ballard was indicted Dec. 14 by the Glasscock County Grand Jury for murder.

Orville G. Davis, 51, Casper, Wyo., is in custody in Howard County Jail under Glasscock County indictment for murder in connection with Currie's death. Davis was indicted Jan. 18. He was arrested Jan. 3 in a Midland motel and was returned to Glasscock County. He was transferred later to Howard County Jail.

Bars Use Of Federal Funds To Buy Mustang Island

AUSTIN (AP) — U. S. Dist. Judge Jack Roberts issued an order today barring the use of federal funds to buy part of Mustang Island off Corpus Christi for a state park.

This blocks a U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation grant of $2.1 million to buy 3,360 acres from the Sam E. Wilson Jr. estate.

Roberts said he granted the injunction—sought by State Parks and Wildlife Commission Chairman Pearce Johnson—"on the merits," meaning there will be no further action in his court.

Johnson said in his suit that the federal agency neglected to follow its own guidelines by seeking the opinion of Gov. Preston Smith's office and a regional planning office in Corpus Christi.

The federal check has been in the State Parks and Wildlife Department's hands since Dec. 31, but has not been paid to the Wilson estate pending the outcome of Johnson's suit.

Total purchase price of the tract was $4.2 million—half from federal money and half from the state park bond program.

Johnson was outvoted 2-1 in the Parks and Wildlife Commission's decision to buy the Mustang Island acreage. He said the action would drain off park bond money needed more urgently to purchase parks closer to urban areas.

When the commission agreed to buy the land, its size was set at 3,802 acres. Testimony before Roberts showed the state would buy only 3,360 acres since the title to part of the land apparently was unclear. This would have the effect of reducing the total price to about $3.7 million unless the title was clarified.

$60,000 Fire In Robert Lee

ROBERT LEE, Tex. (AP) — A wind-whipped grass fire did an estimated $60,000 in damage Thursday night to the Brown Lumber and Supply Co. in this High Plains town.

Fire officials said the grass fire, urged on by winds of up to 45 miles an hour, engulfed the lumber yard around 7 p.m., requiring 100 firemen to douse the blaze.

Fire fighting units from Robert Lee, Bronte, Sterling City and San Angelo responded to the emergency.

Mayors Accuse Administration Of 'Reverse Revenue-Sharing'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A committee of nine U.S. mayors headed by John V. Lindsay of New York has accused the Nixon administration of "reverse revenue-sharing" by proposing cuts in some federal aid to cities.

The mayors also asked in a news conference Thursday for release of $1.3 billion they said was authorized by Congress for urban programs this year but held up by the administration. Lindsay said the money, for urban renewal, sewer and water construction, public housing and model cities, is needed by virtually every major city. The members of the Legislative Action Committee of the U.S. Conference of Mayors toured urban renewal sites with San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, who said, "There are 3,000 units of desperately needed housing that can be started right away if we have a commitment of federal funds." Lindsay said administration budget proposals for next year "shortchange the cities by providing funding for urban programs far below the level authorized by Congress."

"There is a consistent pattern of cutbacks and reductions of urban programs, and a lower priority of funds for cities in the budget," he said. FOR EXAMPLE For example, Lindsay said, the summer Youth Corps program would be cut by $32 million while cities would increase their share of support from 10 per cent to 20 per cent of the program, and the Community Action Program would be cut by $22.4 million with the local share going up from 20 per cent to 25 per cent.

"Over-all, we view this budget as a severe setback for the cities," Lindsay said. Mayors of the San Francisco tour also included Sam Massell of Atlanta, John Driggs of Phoenix, Thomas D'Altsandro of Baltimore, Kenneth Gibson of Newark, N.J., Peter Flaherty of Pittsburgh, Harry Haskell of Wilmington, Del., and Kevin White of Boston.

New Chief Takes Over Comm Squad

In a ceremony here Thursday Maj. Daniel D. Goodson assumed command of the 2050th Communications Squadron at Webb AFB.

The native of Tampa, Fla., was commissioned in the Air Force through the AFROTC program at the University of Florida in June, 1958. Maj. Goodson attended pilot training at Malden AFB, Mo., and Greenville AFB, Miss., graduating in September, 1959.

His first operational assignment was to the 407th Air Refueling Squadron at Malmstrom AFB, Mt. In July, 1961, the major joined the 19th Air Refueling Squadron at Otis AFB, Miss. When the 19th Air Refueling Squadron was deactivated in January, 1966, Maj. Goodson was assigned to the 906th Air Refueling Squadron Minot AFB, N.D. While assigned there, the major participated in Young Tiger deployments to Southeast Asia.

In August, 1968, he reported for duty at the Southeast Asia Military Altitude Reservation Facility at Clark, AB, Philippines. From the Philippines Maj. Goodson was next assigned to the 2050th Communications Squadron here.

He completed the Air Traffic Control Officer's School at Keesler AFB, Miss. in July, 1970. Maj. Goodson served previously in the Flight Facilities branch before assuming command of the communication squadron.

He is married to the former Martha Graves of Bradenton, Fla. They have a 2½ year old son named "D.B."

General Lobdell Assigned To Pentagon Duty

Brig. Gen. Harrison Lobdell, formerly wing commander at Webb AFB, and Mrs. Lobdell, were in Big Spring Thursday, tending to some business affairs and greeting friends.

Gen. Lobdell is being transferred to the Pentagon for duties in Washington in the Department of Defense, and will take up duties there next week.

He most recently has been inspector general for the Air Training Command, stationed at Randolph AFB, and Mrs. Lobdell will remain at Randolph for a short time.

Laos Gamble Odds Improve

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

When the American decision to back an incursion of eastern Laos is thrown against the backdrop of the sharp changes of the last decade in Southeast Asia, the suggestion of a big gamble seems to emerge.

Suppose—just suppose—the operation opened up an avenue to peace that had not seemed to exist previously.

There appears to be less chance these days of an enormous international crisis over Laos than there was a decade ago. Things have changed. Values have changed. What might have looked extremely important 10 years ago may look less important now.

WET FUSE

Ten years ago chancelleries around the world regarded the danger in Laos as acute. President John F. Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev met and managed to agree on the imminence of the danger. They arranged the 14-nation meeting in Geneva which was intended to dampen the fuse.

The Geneva meeting which brought about the accord of July, 1962, held off the world crisis. But the accord, which was supposed to guarantee the independence and neutrality of Laos, was honored only in the breach, and crisis was to follow upon crisis.

In the '50s the United States got into Southeast Asia by trying to help the French retain Indochina. Ten years ago, the area's resources may have seemed vital to American interests. Ten years ago, free access to certain air lanes and waterways may have seemed essential to Western security.

The resources of Southeast Asia no longer seem so important, and this is the age of the supersonic and the supertanker. The Suez Canal has been closed almost four years with only minor repercussions.

MAKING NOISE

Ten years ago the Russians and Chinese may have considered Southeast Asia of extreme importance to their national interests. They have less reason today to become entangled to the point of extreme danger.

The Russians, interested in influence and trade, are hardly likely to consider the returns worth the risk of a nuclear showdown.

The Chinese, with their vast population, the current hostility toward the U.S.S.R. and their continuing isolation, have plenty of problems without borrowing more. In any case, Southeast Asia can hardly, these days, be regarded as anything approaching a ricebowl for China's millions.

The Peking regime now is making much noise about a threat of American use of nuclear weapons in Asia. But it is unlikely to believe that propaganda itself. The Red Chinese regime in all probability is well aware of an American dread of further entanglement on the Asian mainland.

Southeast Asia no longer is the ripe plum it once seemed. It is much stronger and more viable than in 1961, much more able to cooperate on a regional basis for the common welfare.

LOOK AT PRESENT LEVIES Texas Taxpayers, Here's Where Your Money Goes

By The Associated Press

Texas taxpayers might like to review what state taxes they are paying now before the 62nd legislature gets around to laying on a few more levies to cover 1972-73 expenses.

For the next few weeks most talk in the legislature will be about spending as each house draws up its version of an appropriations bill to cover the next two fiscal years.

Then after legislators are pretty well settled on how much they want to spend the new tax talk will get serious. Most estimates presently talk of a new tax bill of from $600 million to $800 million.

"Before it's an over you can be assured we'll take a run at about every kind of tax there is," said a senator.

And if lawmakers cannot agree on a tax bill without delay there will be attempts to settle for a one-year spending bill instead of the two-year plans.

No agreement at all before the May 31 mandatory end to the session will mean a special session, or perhaps several. The state's two-year fiscal period ends Aug. 31 and there must be legislation approved for the next two years or there will be no payrolls for state workers.

So, for a pre-new tax look at present levies, here's the situation.

Much of the cost of day-by-day state government is paid by the 3.25 per cent state sales tax that covers many items sold at retail, but not including groceries, prescription drugs and most services. This levy raised $547.4 million in 1970 and the same per cent would raise an estimated $668.1 million in 1973. These totals do not include the one per cent local sales tax that is collected by the state but refunded to cities where voters have approved the levy.

The state got another $96.6 million from the motor vehicle sales tax which is 3 per cent on the retail sales price of a car or truck.

The state cigarette tax of 15.5 cents a pack brought in $174.6 million in 1970. State taxes on other tobacco products produced another $8.4 million.

The oil and gas industry still provides much of the state's financial support with the oil production tax of 4.6 per cent of value at the well bringing in $170.4 million in 1970 and the natural gas levy, 7.5 per cent of value at the well, a total of $96.4 million.

Motorists paid $76.7 million in 1970 with the state gasoline tax of 5 cents a gallon and 6.25 cents on diesel fuel.

Another big producer of state taxes was the franchise tax that is based on the capital and long-term debt of a corporation. This totaled $110.3 million in 1970 but is expected to decrease to $83.5 million by 1973 because under present law the rates will gradually decrease after this year.

The ad valorem tax based on assessed value of real estate and personal property produced $45.8 million for general state use in 1970 but this will shrink to $25.3 million by 1973 because of a decreasing rate. State officials expect local tax authorities to pick up the property tax as a mainstay of support of local government.

Now Keep It That Way

The dispute between the federal government and Lockheed Aircraft Corp. over the C5 transport has been resolved to the satisfaction of practically no one, including the taxpayer.

After the Defense Department threatened to cut off all funds on the C5 project, Lockheed agreed to take a $200 million fixed loss on the contract and drop plans to sue the government over claims for more money.

Although the hard-nosed approach by the Pentagon was welcome, the C5 still will sting the taxpayer. The settlement means the government will pay about $3.5 billion for 81 C5s. This is about $1.2 billion more than it would have paid for 115 planes originally ordered.

The huge cost overruns forced a cutback in the original order and exemplified the risk of the "total-package" concept, which attempts to fix production costs before research is completed. Lockheed faces further losses on the Cheyenne helicopter, a Navy shipbuilding contract and a shortrange missile. Settlements are being worked out now, with both Lockheed and the taxpayer suffering.

The "total-package" idea from the McNamara era at the Pentagon has been publicly scrapped for the so-called "fly before you buy" plan, which requires full research and test of a system before a production contract is let.

The C5 fiasco has been a costly lesson to Lockheed, the Pentagon and the public. Congress and its watchdog agency, the General Accounting Office, are obligated to see that "fly before you buy" is a reality and not a slogan.

Sauce For The Gander

City commissioners, climaxing months of discussing and planning, has approved the first reading of a new mobile home ordinance. In so doing, they dropped the requirement that mobile home parks be licensed.

Operators had protested that they were being singled out as licensees, since no other business was required to be licensed. They have a point.

Mobile homes, as with any other type of property, should bear a fair share of the tax load and should meet reasonable health and safety requirements. On the contrary, they should not be singled out for something not applicable to other like operations as a matter of convenience to facilitate enforcement of a code.

Vietnam Policy

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What the Department of State and the Department of Defense need nowadays is a public-relations approach. Day after day, students and members of college faculties and other anti-war advocates talk about the Vietnam war as if it could be terminated immediately and no harm done. Little thought is given to the ill effects such a move would have upon American foreign policy throughout the world.

Unhappily, the conclusion must be reached that there is a widespread ignorance as to the reasons for the military participation by the United States in Southeast Asia.

THE DEPARTMENT of State in June, 1967, issued a small pamphlet entitled "Why We Fight in Vietnam." Only 100,000 copies or less were distributed. The document should have been widely read in the colleges, especially by the "demonstrators," who then at least would have had the other side of the story — the facts as the government sees them. Here, for example, is one statement:

"In a message to Congress on Aug. 5, 1964, the President asked for a resolution 'expressing the unity and determination of the United States in supporting freedom and in protecting peace in Southeast Asia.'"

"IN ITS resolution approved on Aug. 7 by a vote of 88-2 and 416-0 in the Senate and House of Representatives respectively, the Congress declared the United States was 'prepared, as the President determines, to take all necessary steps, including the use of armed force, to assist any member or protocol state of the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty requesting assistance in defense of its freedom.'"

THE RESOLUTION was in effect for more than six years, and the administration agreed in December, 1970, that it was no longer necessary.

This was because the Southeast Asia treaty — which was ratified by the Senate in 1955 — imposes upon the President the duty to carry out the obligations therein to come to the aid of smaller states which are the victims of aggression, and Congress has continued to appropriate funds for the conduct of military operations in Vietnam. The pamphlet further says:

"The U.S. commitment to fight in South Vietnam was made not for any one reason, but for many reasons. These involved not just Vietnam, but our policies and actions throughout the world. Some of these reasons are summarized below:

"THE PROMISE was made to the people of South Vietnam by three American Presidents — Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson — that the United States would guarantee their right to seek solutions to their problems in their own way, free from outside force. That promise was stated and restated before the entire world.

"The credibility of a promise from the President of the United States is of vital concern to every nation in the world — Communist and non-Communist alike.

"SECRETARY OF STATE Rusk has pointed out, for example, that if the United States fails to keep a promise to the people of South Vietnam, the people of Germany will have a reasonable doubt about our willingness to stand by our commitments in Europe, and the Soviet Union might be led into dangerous miscalculations about our willingness to stand with our friends under pressure.

"Thus, our moral obligations are not theoretical — they have real impact. It is imperative to world peace and progress that such a promise is by the President of the United States be believed." (Copyright, 1970, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

The TVA Example

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Whatever the final score in the showdown with Congress, President Nixon deserves a vote of thanks for his proposed reorganization of that overgrown giant suffering from elephantiasis — the Federal government. Hopefully the President's proposal still to take shape in all its complexity should stimulate debate about what is wrong — and what is right — about the structure of government in these United States.

EXPERIMENTS in decentralization in the past should have careful consideration. One of those experiments that stirred fierce controversy in its day has proved to be a conspicuous success.

The Tennessee Valley Authority was decentralization applied to the development of a whole region that had slumped steadily downhill as human and natural resources were drained away. Seven million acres in the seven states, portions of which comprised the region, were eroded. Forests, a principal asset, were being cut down with little regard for the future. The seven states had fewer than 10 professional foresters. The ablest and brainiest of the young were leaving for lack of opportunity.

TVA WAS DESIGNED to take authority out of Washington and put it in the region where the decisions would be made in reshaping a river basin wracked by floods and poverty. A liaison office in Washington has never had more than three or four employees. TVA headquarters in Knoxville is the decision-making center.

WHEN TVA moved to buy out the electric systems of the region and operate them, angry cries of socialism were raised against what seemed a radical move. Sen. George Norris of Nebraska, the father of TVA, believed that only through government operation would it be possible to bring low-cost power to the farmers of the Tennessee Valley. Power on the farms, Norris said, will mean a hired hand for the farmer and a hired girl for his wife.

AFTER A LONG Donnybrook that became part of a Presidential campaign TVA won out and proceeded to own and operate the power network. The power was sold at wholesale at the lowest possible cost to municipalities and co-ops, which had responsibility for distribution to the consumer. With the expansion of the power system TVA is turning back to the Federal treasury an increasing share of the total investment in the region.

FROM THE BEGINNING, however, it has been recognized that there are functions which only the Federal government can perform. The harnessing of a great river system is one of those functions. The Tennessee Valley has had no disastrous floods since the work was completed, controlling a river and its tributaries that once created havoc almost every spring along its banks.

Worthy of study in the great debate that will supposedly follow the President's blueprint for reshaping the government are the successful steps TVA has taken toward decentralization. Here are practical lessons in what works.

TOGETHERNESS!

Profits And Pride

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the grandest names in British commerce, industry and history have suffered deep humiliations of late, some of them cast off by those they served, or wounded by new masters, or unable to compete.

Their traditions suggested more glorious ends as monuments, for example. Their haughtiness was such that during their time nobody dared forecast their eventual ignominy.

But their fates recall their past mainly in contrast; they evoke emotions of nostalgia keener than memories of greatness.

The Queen Mary, Queen Elizabeth, London Bridge, Rolls Royce are among them, and so now being refitted in that California city to serve as a tourist attraction.

The chief problem is that she too appears unable to transform her personality to suit a new role that calls for her to serve as a maritime museum, hotel, restaurant and shop center.

Meanwhile, eastward in the desert, London Bridge is being reassembled brick by brick over an Arizona body of water at Lake Havasu City, far removed from the clamor and history that once passed over and beneath her.

As the developers of Lake Havasu City express it: "There has been a bridge known as London Bridge across the River Thames since the First Century A.D. There has been a Lake Havasu City, Ariz., since February, 1964."

The financial collapse of Roll Royce, the automotive and aircraft engine manufacturers, is another story, of course, but it does fit into the category of triumphs and tragedy, pride and fall, victory and defeat.

And as much as the others, it does suggest that status and prestige do not compensate for dollars lost in a commercial world. Profits can be counted but not pride.

Hal Boyle

Is It Worms Or Love?

NEW YORK (AP) — Life with two teenagers in the house can have its problems. Right now they are largely dietary.

My Teenagers are a daughter, Tracy, 17, and a cat, Lady Dottie, 13.

Trying to get them properly fed has been a long misadventure in both human and feline nutrition. It is amazing how many of the world's thousands of kinds of food a teenager can find objectionable, whether the teenager is two-legged or four-pawed.

All you have to do is tell either of them that any particular food is good for them, and you find that it is the one food in the universe they despise the most and can tolerate the least.

So far as I can recall, my daughter subsisted largely on bacon and ice cream until she was 13. Since then she has tried every food fad that comes along.

One week she has only grapefruit washed down with cola. The second week it is pizza pie and cola. The third week it is salted peanuts or licorice candy and cola.

I made the mistake early in her life of saying, "Tracy, if you don't eat more nourishing food, all your teeth will fall out on the floor on your 12th birthday."

Well, early on the morning of June 24, 1965, an alarm clock still ringing in her hand, Tracy appeared in the doorway of the parental bedroom, fixed me with an accusing gaze, and said:

"You told me a great big fib. This is my 12th birthday, and see—not one of my teeth fell out on the floor. I'll never believe anything you tell me anymore."

Right now she is on a vegetarian kick, and our home echoes with the nerve-stirring sound of celery being crunched. The other evening Tracy saw me chewing on a steak and said:

"You are utterly revolting, Daddy. How can you sit there and eat something that used to be alive?"

Elbow Casting Around The Rim

Walt Finley

I attributed an unsigned note to a bashful member of The Herald staff, and got another unsigned note reading: "I'm not bashful."

I'M STARTING a new weather service for you alone, as a service to readers of this column.

Ever since Bob Rogers bent his right elbow too much he has been able to predict bad weather because sometimes the joint drives him nuts.

He predicted the snow — she snuff — but failed to forecast the California earthquake. He felt strange pangs in the ol' elbow, but he just thought it was due to his and one of our leaders by the unlikely initials of RWW having birthdays on Valentine's Day.

So stand by for the next prediction from what we call "the Rogerite Weather Service."

IF IMITATION is the sincerest form of flattery, our adversaries are doing well.

The bad guys at the Paris peace negotiations described President Nixon's peace proposals as "a gift certificate for the American electorate."

That's a phrase worthy of Madison Avenue, or William Safire.

Paris is the wrong place for a peace conference anyway. Who'd be in a hurry to go home?

Send them some place like Eppingham, Ill., or Wheeling, W. Va., and see how long they'd stall around.

THE OFFICER LEACHER — you know who I mean — isn't worried about the designer's claim that Sophia Loren is the world's worst-dressed woman, probably because he always undresses them, mentally anyway. Meanwhile Dick Cavett says the latest fashion sensation are short shorts called "hot pants," and he is upset because no one could possibly wear them decently.

That should make them an instant success.

FRANK AND FLASHY Frank Brandon, who was our staff photographer before he started making money, called to point that when the moon-walking astronauts were taking pictures of each other they both passed up a wonderful opportunity to say to their subject: "Say cheese."

Further, he said, there was one view of the astronauts at work on the lunar surface and a blurred object in the foreground looked a lot like a parking meter.

In London, Otto Preminger said he is the father of a son born to Gypsy Rose Lee in 1944.

After all these years, you wonder if he's confessing or bragging.

MY DRINKING COUSIN, Bobby Harris, reports his wife will convert him to the women's liberation movement when she agrees women will fight fair instead of dissolving into tears.

But is it possible for a man to make a deal with his wife? Isn't that another of their unequal tactics — turning deals off and on at will?

EGGSACKING ELI GUINN reports Rex Fletcher writes in the Eye Opener, the Oklahoma prison newspaper, there's a big demand for escape literature there.

D.C. 'Sharing'

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — Unfortunately, it went virtually unnoticed when Rep. John L. McMillan, D-S.C., offered a trenchant observation vitally concerned with President Nixon's chances of selling his revenue sharing plan to a suspicious Congress.

As chairman of the House District of Columbia Committee, McMillan cited what revenue sharing had done over the years for Hell City. Using statistics supplied by the District government, McMillan noted that Hell City ranks No. 1 among all cities of comparable size in:

GENERAL CITY expenditures.

Expenditures for public health and hospitals.

Per capita operating expenditures for police protection.

These same statistics show that the city, which is one of your responsibilities out there in River City, ranks No. 2 in public school per-pupil operating expenditures. The District per-pupil figure is $1,000 a year, despite the fact the public school's here can be roughly compared in quality to those of Uganda.

THANKS IN PART to Federal revenue sharing, the District's budget for the next fiscal year probably will near the $1-billion mark. The budget for the present fiscal year is $636.2-million, to which McMillan said the Federal government will add another $98.7-million in grants. In the past five years, D.C.'s operating expenses have doubled until today the city's taxpayers and those across the country are contributing largesse to the extent of more than $1,000 for every man, woman and child in the District.

MEANWHILE, the city's population has been steadily declining as large blocs of the citizenry flee to the relatively safe suburbs where, besides getting protection from muggers, parents can send children to public schools with the assurance they will at least be taught to read and write.

However, with less people to serve the city's employees during the same period have increased in number from 30,000 to more than 40,000. McMillan has claimed, without challenge from any quarter, that the District now leads all cities in terms of municipal employees to population with a ratio of 5.29 per cent. That is to say, there are 40,325 city employees to a population of 746,000.

WITH THE powerful Chairman Wilbur Mills of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee already wielding an axe to the revenue sharing proposal, Richard Nixon can find little comfort in McMillan's revelations. "Accountability" is low in Hell City, when the District is in financial trouble it merely goes to Congress for more dough. After all, the city belongs to all of us, doesn't it?

ADMITTEDLY, the cities and states need help. Some form of additional financial assistance from Uncle Sam probably is inevitable, as even Arkansas' Wilbur Mills has suggested. But Congress can hardly be blamed if it shies away from Nixon's "no-string" proposal after taking a look at the revenue-sharing situation in Hell City, which in John McMillan's words has made the District "the envy of so many communities throughout the states."

Billy Graham

My Answer

What does the Bible teach about Jesus being tempted by Satan? Does it teach us that He was tempted to show us He would not yield, or could not yield? T. Y.

The Bible says, "He was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin." Hebrews 4:15. The words, "like as we are," signifies that He could have yielded. If He had yielded, it would have been His decision. As a "Lamb without spot and blemish," which was to be offered for our sin, He stood the test of sinlessness — yet, there was the possibility that He could have sinned. Otherwise the Bible would not have stated that He was tempted "as we are."

Jesus was called "the second Adam." The first Adam was tempted and yielded. God gave him the power of choice and he used it to his destruction. Jesus also had the power of choice. He said, (regarding his death) "I lay down my life . . . no man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself." John 10:17, 18. He struggled in the garden of Gethsemane with this issue, but finally made His decision: "Not my will, but thine be done." He won the victory over sin, death, hell and the grave. Hence, the Bible says, "In Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive." I Cor. 15:22. By overcoming temptation and death, He became qualified to head a new race: the newborn sons of God — or, as we call them, Christians. "If any man be in Christ he is a new creature."

A Devotion For Today . . .

Unto whosoever much is given, of him shall be much required. (Luke 12:48)

PRAYER: O God, thank You for life and for talents and abilities. Help us to dedicate ourselves to You and use our influence, small or great, in helping and encouraging other people to accept Christ personally and follow His way. Amen.

'BIBLICAL' TREES STILL USED Trees Add Dollars To City Property Value

Something Old and Something New was the program presented Wednesday to the Planters Garden Club by Mrs. D. W. Rankin.

Meeting in the home of Mrs. S. P. Jones, 1306 Sycamore, Mrs. Rankin pointed out that several shade trees used today were named in the Bible, such as sycamore and mulberry trees.

"Trees add value to property," Mrs. Rankin said. "Trees are used for screening, reducing noise and shading, as well as adding beauty to land."

Something new in landscaping is the dwarf tree, which Mrs. Rankin said is a small version of several of the common fruit trees like the apple, fig or date.

"Dwarf trees are easier to prune and take care of than many trees," said Mrs. Rankin, "and they are becoming more widely used in landscaping today."

Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales presided.

ed, and Mrs. J. W. Trantham reported on the Big Spring Garden Club Council.

Members donated a tree to the Big Spring State Hospital chapel. A committee was named to check into helping the Howard County Museum with landscaping. Committee members are Mrs. J. O. Murphy, Mrs. Paul Guy and Mrs. Lilton Trantham.

The club will hold a garage sale May 20-22. The last day of the sale will also be a bake sale.

In other business, Mrs. Paul

Guy was named general chairman for the council flower show May 1 at First National Bank July and August meetings were canceled.

The flower show judges program in Midland Monday will be attended by Mrs. J. A. Trantham, Mrs. Clinkscales and Mrs. Lilton Trantham.

The heart-shaped Valentine floral arrangement used at the meeting was given to the Howard County Library. The next meeting is at 2 p.m., March 10, in the home of Mrs. C. M. Lewis, Route 1, Sand Springs.

NCO Wives Will Award Valentine Candy Tonight

Mrs. Larry Westbrook was appointed veterans bowling coordinator for the NCO Wives Club at its meeting Tuesday in the NCO Open Mess. Each month, members take patients of the Veterans Administration Hospital to the base bowling alley for an afternoon.

Mrs. Frank W. Moore Jr. presided, and Mrs. William Hill announced a newcomers' coffee at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the NCO Club. Nursery costs will be paid for all newcomers attending.

A floral arrangement was sent to a Big Spring State Hospital patient to whom the club also donates spending money each month. They also gave $5 to the March of Dimes.

Two fund-raising projects were announced. A Box of Valentine candy will be awarded at the NCO Open Mess at 6:30 p.m. today. The club will also award its annual Easter food basket the first week in April. The basket will contain a ham, bottle of wine and about $50 worth of non-perishable food items.

The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 23 at the NCO Open Mess.

Speaker Advises 'Use Golden Rule'

"Who is your neighbor?" was the topic Tuesday for the Women's Missionary Union, Baptist Temple, at its meeting in the home of Mrs. B. B. Hardee, 2001 Merrily.

The program, presented by Mrs. A. W. Page, was followed by a group discussion on ways to apply the "golden rule" to everyday living.

Mrs. Page presided over the business meeting. A study and covered-dish luncheon was announced by Mrs. Dalton Johnson, study book chairman, for 9:30 a.m., Feb. 16 at the church. The meeting is for all women of the church and will concern the book, "The Diakonic Task."

Beauceant Hosts Knights' Dinner

Mrs. Lee Porter reported on a dinner served to Knights Templar Friday by the Social Order of Beauceant at its meeting Monday in the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Allen Hull presided. Members also reported that clothing, magazines and books were donated to the Salvation Army and to the Big Spring State Hospital.

Refreshments were served in the banquet room by Mrs. Hull, Mrs. Wright Vickers and Mrs. Harris McCannless. The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m. in the Masonic Temple.

Birthday Party Held Tuesday

KNOTT (SC) — Mrs. Howard Armstrong and Mrs. Lloyd Robinson were hostesses Tuesday for a surprise birthday party honoring Mrs. Lon McDonald of Ackerly. Cake and ice cream were served. Recent guests in the McDonald home were her father, Bob Campbell, and her sisters, Mrs. B. M. Eckert and Mrs. Lois Toombs, all of Merkel.

The Richard Parker family, Hobbs, N.M., spent the weekend with their parents, the Fred Parkers and the Henry Samples.

Mrs. Earl Newcomer and daughters visited recently in Seagraves with Mrs. Newcomer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Nichols. Mrs. Nichols is recuperating from surgery.

Faith Commended By Speaker

The Dorcas Class, Forsan Baptist Church, met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. John Cardwell. The devotion was by Mrs. L. T. Shoults, and prayer was led by Mrs. Amy Reid. Mrs. Carl Tippet led a discussion of Anna, an aged prophetess, pointing out her faith and belief in the coming of a Messiah.

Training Course Set For Career Women

A two-day training course for career women, entitled "Communications in Business and Organizations," will be held Feb. 19-20 at Green Oaks Inn, Fort Worth, under the sponsorship of Texas Christian University and the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Texas.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Mrs. J. B. Apple who presided at Tuesday's meeting of the B&PW Club. Fee for the course is $25 which includes luncheon both days. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Marie B. Bowden, an officer of the T&PW educational foundation.

Grand Officer Is Guest Of OES Unit

Mrs. Charles McCarley, deputy grand matron, made an official visit Tuesday to Coahoma Chapter 490, Order of Eastern Star.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Tanner, worthy matron and patron, presided. A talk by Mrs. Pearl Bradshaw, membership restoration committee chairman, suggested ways to gain new members and to reinstate former members. Mrs. Bradshaw is a member of Big Spring Chapter 67, OES.

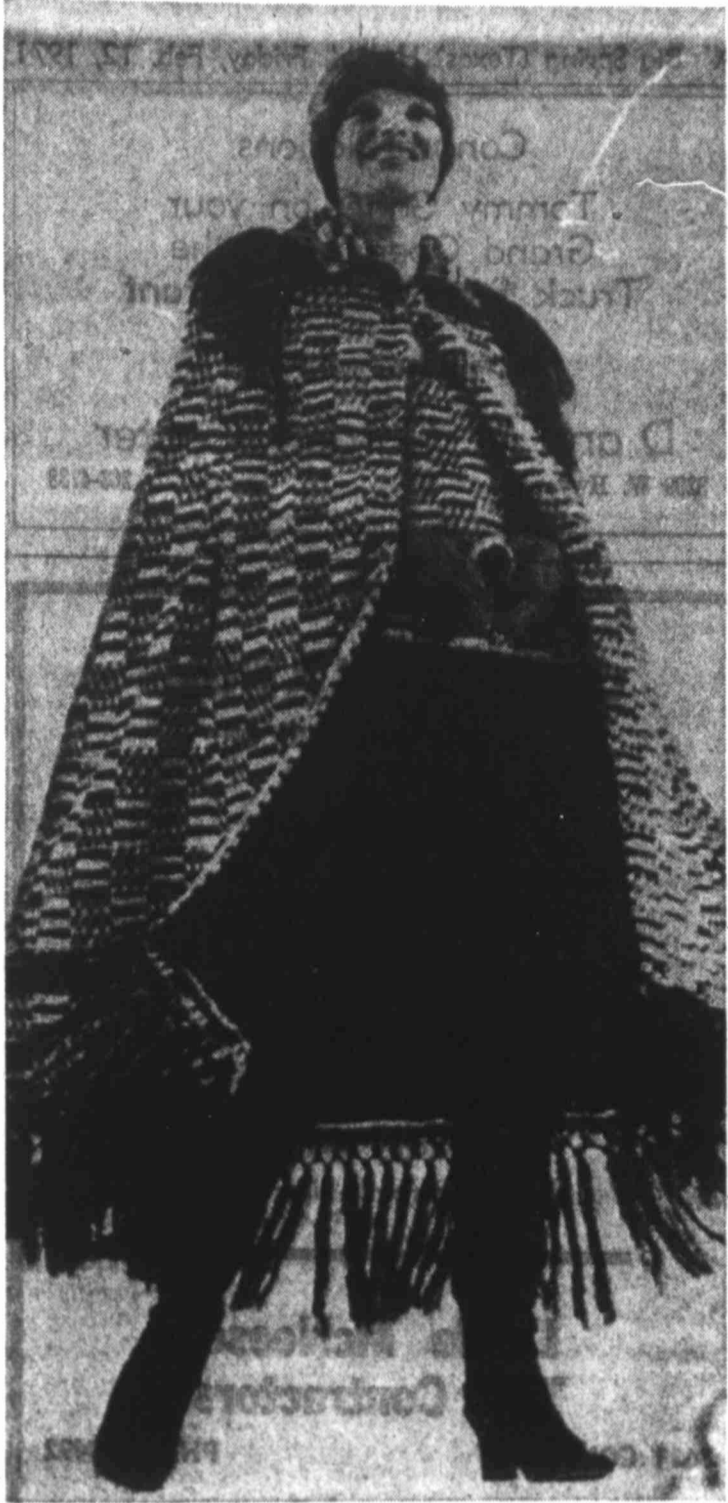

Guests included Mrs. V. L. Wilson of Crane and Mrs. Leroy Headrick of Plains, Kan. Music was provided by a vocalist, Miss Becky Headrick, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Beckham, pianist.

Members of the refreshment and decoration committees were Mrs. Robert Madison, Mrs. Ernest Garrett, Mrs. Beckham, Mrs. John Westmoreland, Mrs. Harold Heaton, Mrs. B. S. Phillips, Mrs. Fred Adams and Mrs. Don McKinney.

The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 23 in the Masonic Temple.

Beta Kappas To Hear Judge Speak

The Beta Kappa Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma, will meet at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Dora Roberts Lounge, Howard County Junior College. Guest speaker will be Judge Ralph W. Caton who will discuss "Facing Community Problems."

RED, WHITE, BLUE TRUCK STOP JOINS SCENE

Truckstop Divides Food, Car Service

Centered in a wide, paved parking area at the Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. is a new low brick building painted a crisp red, white and blue. The new Gage Oil Fina Truckstop divides its services, cars and trucks on one side and meals on the other.

The service station, operated by J. W. Powers, is equipped to perform minor mechanical repairs as well as gas, oil and complete brake tune-ups and other repairs. Gasoline pumps are lined up on two sides of the station for convenience.

The restaurant, which can seat 75 to 100 persons, is decorated largely in shades of orange and brown. The booths, counter stools and chairs are all upholstered in orange. The corner which lodges the counter and kitchen entrance is brightened with bright floral wallpaper which features the orange theme. The dining area is wood paneled, and the booths are arranged along the walls and a center divider.

The Pflash Room was designed as both an over-flow room and a private dining room. It can be reserved for business and civic meetings on request. Private groups may request a special menu, which Mrs. Bonnie Pacini, restaurant operator, will help to plan, or may use the regular menu.

Syrup Sales

OTTAWA (AP) — Japan buys more than $3 million worth of Canadian maple syrup each year, mainly from Quebec, but it's not for eating. Officials of the Japan Tobacco Monopoly, during a recent tour, disclosed that the maple syrup is used to flavor tobacco to the Japanese taste.

Joe Harmon Hodges, president and chairman of the board of Abilene National Bank, Abilene, will speak at the meeting. His topic will be "Amusing Things in West Texas."

GROWING BUSINESS Meager Beginning For Gage Oil Co.

With a few commercial and farm accounts, Tommy Gage started his business in April, 1953, and succeeded in building his first station, the No. 1 at 2005 Gregg, by July, 1953.

His brother, the late Bill Gage, and a truck driver, who is not with the company now, Doyle Hale, aided him in building the first station from scrap lumber and anything that was offered free, into one of the most successful oil companies in this area.

Gage Oil Company now has 13 service station outlets and four truck stops. The outlets are located in Big Spring and truck stops in Sweetwater, Sterling City, Stanton, and a new one that will hold its grand opening in Big Spring Saturday.

Gage got off to a meager start with only $600, and one 1,084 gallon bob-tail truck to service the few accounts he had.

The first gas and oil Gage sold came from Col-Tex Oil Refinery in Colorado City, then Cosden Oil Refinery bought out Col-Tex and his product came from the local refinery. His stations have undergone one more change since then, when American Petrofina purchased Cosden and his stations became Fina outlets.

Among the machinery Gage utilizes to supply his customers with the best service possible, he has one transport truck that services the station outlets in town and one bob-tail tank truck that serves the commercial and farm accounts.

The Gage stations in town are modern and up to date, and offer the public the top in complete station service. Located in various parts of the city, the stations are within a convenient distance from all citizen's homes and jobs.

Those employed in the company are Beverly Martin, secretary and head bookkeeper and Denver Dunn, who just recently went on semi-retirement and assists the secretary two days a week. Barbara Gage, Tommy's wife, also heads up part of the bookkeeping.

E. F. Henderson serves as general manager and supervisor of the company and Rusty Hamilton drives the transport truck. Recently, the company added to its employment Bobby Heith, who works in maintenance and hopes to learn all phases of the company. "We are proud to be part of Big Spring and we especially appreciate the people that have made our business a success," Gage said as he looks to a bright and prosperous future in Big Spring.

Webb Personnel
Thanked For Aid
To Blood Drive

Two letters of appreciation were received at Webb AFB this week from the Sheppard Technical Training Center. Webb personnel were praised for their efforts in aiding the center in meeting blood drive quotas for December. Personnel of the 3560th Pilot Training Wing and tenant units responded to the call when it came from Sheppard for needed B positive and B negative blood. Seventeen units were donated and flown to the Wichita Falls base by Lt. Col. Sidney Curtis, Webb's hospital commander. Maj. Gen. Jerry D. Page, Sheppard commander, said in one letter, "Request my personal appreciation, and that of the Sheppard Regional Hospital Commander, be extended to the Commander and personnel of Webb AFB for this significant contribution to the Southeast Asia Blood Program."

Tommy Gage Is Mainstay Of Successful Business

Gage Oil Company credits its success to different causes, but the main credit should go to the owner, Tommy Gage. Exposed to the business of oil and gas distribution since his high school days, Gage has built a successful company completely from scratch and has devoted his life to its welfare. Gage was born in Austin in 1919 and went to grade school there before moving with his parents to Big Spring in 1931. He was a graduate of Big Spring High School in 1939. After graduating he went to work with his father, who was the Gulf Oil distributor in this area at that time. Tommy learned the trade by working with his father and picked up valuable knowledge that would help him in later years.

established Gage Oil Co. and started building stations in the city, the first being built in 1953. Gage now operates 13 stations and four truck stops in Sweetwater, Sterling City, Stanton and Big Spring. The Big Spring truck stop will hold its grand opening Saturday the 13th. Gage has served as director of the Texas Oil Jobbers Association and as past director at large of the association. He is a member of the city Chamber of Commerce and the Big Spring Country Club. Prior to his membership in the chamber he was a JayCee. The city not only benefits from the service it receives from Gage Oil Co., but also from a dedicated and active citizen.

TOMMY GAGE

In 1943 he entered the Navy and completed his service in 1946. That same year he married his wife, Barbara, and went back to the work he knew best. Besides working for his father, he also was working an independent butane business. Gage's father, the late W. M. Gage, died in 1953 and directly after that Tommy secured his first Col-Tex dealership. Mrs. W. M. Gage still resides in the city.

Restaurant Manager
Works Seven-Day Week

"It's a 16 to 18-hour-a-day job, and we're open 24 hours a day, seven days a week," said Mrs. Bonnie Fucini, operator of the new restaurant at the Gage Oil Fina Truck Stop at the Cosden Oil and Chemical Co.

MRS. BONNIE FUCINI

Mrs. Fucini has been in the restaurant business for 25 years, and has worked 11 of those years with Cosden — at the old Cosden Country Club. She was assistant manager for two years, and then manager for the last two years the club was operated by Cosden. "As operator, I do the purchasing for the restaurant, I have management duties, and as general flunky, I wash dishes," said Mrs. Fucini. She also plans the menus each day. I want to plan the menus on a weekly basis, but refrigeration problems have made us have to do the shopping each day so we have to plan the menus that way," she added.

23, is also a sailor and is stationed at the U.S. Naval Base at Cam Rhan Bay, Vietnam. Danny Brunson, 17, her younger son, is a junior at Big Spring High School. With her busy schedule at the truck stop, Mrs. Fucini is not allowed much extra time to pursue a hobby, but she does maintain an interest in coin collecting. "I got interested in it when the boys were in scouts. One of them picked coin collecting as a special project and got the whole family interested. I have some books of rare coins, and some are just interesting ones that I've come across while working," she said.

J. W. POWERS

New Operator
Swaps Brands

The new Gage Oil Fina Truck Stop at the Cosden refinery is the first Fina station for operator J. W. Powers. Powers did work for Cosden as a station operator 15 years ago and was formerly operator of another station.

Powers is from Ozona and is married to the former Jean Stone of Big Spring.

As station operator, Powers finds himself pumping gas, fixing flats and trying to keep the station clean. Currently 12 to 15 trucks are serviced regularly each day at the new station, and approximately 100 trucks a day pull off the highway to use the truck stop facilities.

The station, like the restaurant, is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Besides Powers, three full-time employees and one part-time employee work at the station. Part of the station duties include tune-ups, brake jobs, and other minor mechanical repairs.

For relaxation away from the station, Powers bowls once a week and sponsors a bowling team which is entered in the city tournament. The five-man team averages a score of 186, with most members average individually well over 200.

"Right now, we're in the process of getting our team shirts changed. We're a Fina team, but we had another brand name on our shirts because I sponsored the team at another station," said Powers.

Home Are The Moon Voyageurs

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 14's moon explorers returned home today, held a reunion with their families through a glass panel, then began two more weeks of isolation in the Lunar Receiving Laboratory.

An Air Force C141 jet transport flew them to nearby Ellington Air Force Base, landing at 4:34 a.m. EST after a flight of more than 14 hours from American Samoa.

Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa were confined in a quarantine trailer, which was taken to the Manned Spacecraft Center, where the spacemen transferred to the lab.

RETURNING HEROES

The wives and children of the spacemen and several officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration stood in cool weather and blustery wind to greet the returning heroes.

The astronauts waved at them through a trailer window and Shepard, who commanded Apollo 14, said, "We feel it's been a good mission and we're ready to start debriefing and talking about it."

"It is especially good to be back here," he added. "There were many little things that happened during the mission that it hadn't been for all the devoted efforts of all the people at the control center here in Houston who worked so long and hard to make things turn out right."

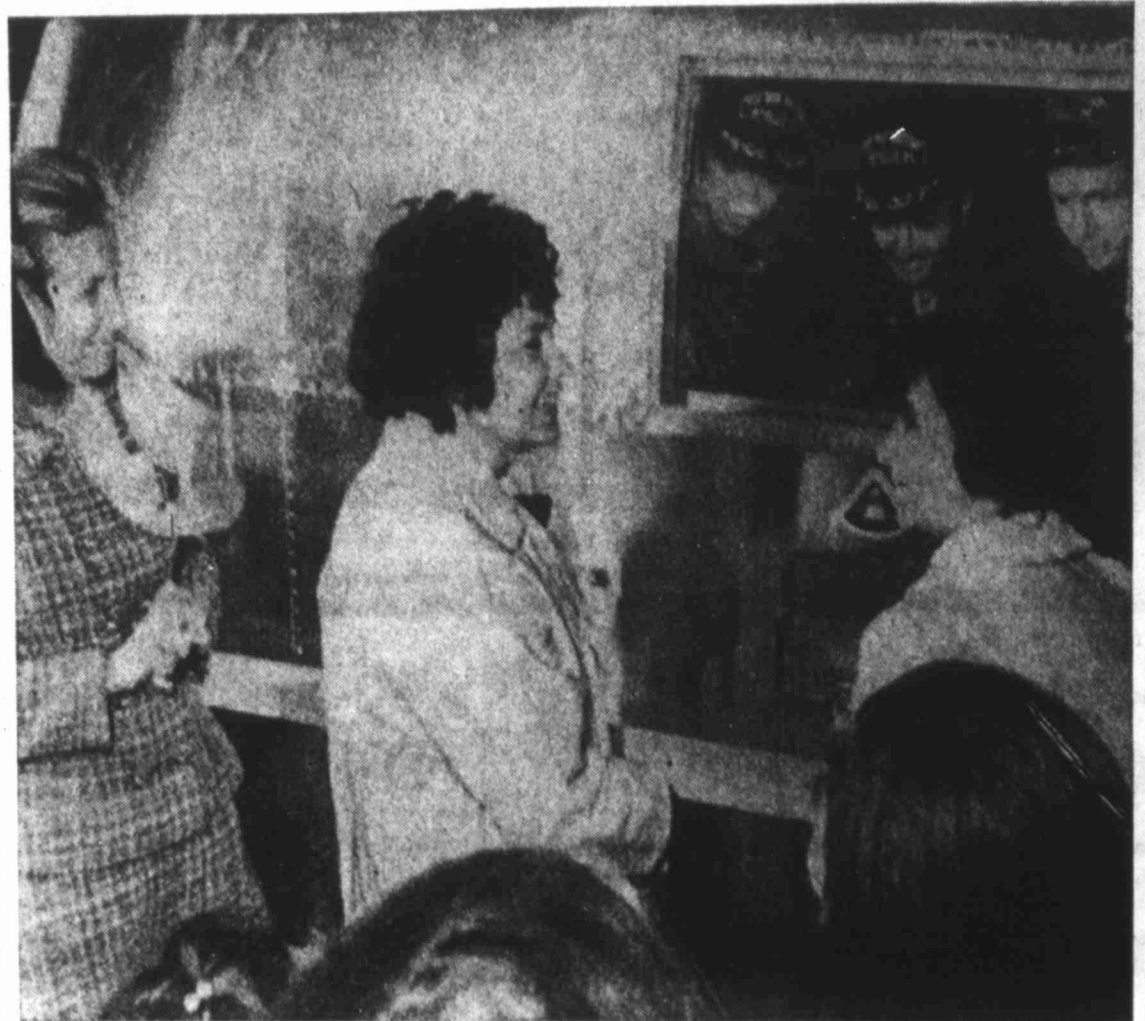

Roosa apologized for the plane's being three hours late, saying, "We had a hard time getting away from those Samoan dancing girls."

Waiting in the Lunar Receiving Laboratory were 12 persons who will remain with the astronauts until the release Feb. 26, performing medical, housekeeping and other chores.

The spacemen began their isolation in a quarantine trailer aboard the helicopter carrier New Orleans after their recovery from a Pacific Ocean splashdown Tuesday.

Assessor Shows Film To Lions

STANTON (SC) — Stanton Lions were shown a film at their Feb. 9, noon meeting by Mrs. Corne Manning, Tax Assessor and Collector for the Stanton Independent School District.

The film, "Search for Equity," pointed out different approaches to value cost, market and income.

The Lions discussed ladies night to be held at the Stanton High School cafeteria Feb. 15, at 7 p.m. Ladies should bring a covered dish. Russell McMeans, program chairman said Tammy Whitmore, a singer from Crane, will entertain.

The Lions also decided not to meet again until Feb. 23, cancelling their regular meeting, Feb. 18.

Police Graduation Scheduled Today

Graduation ceremonies for the Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement was to be held in the Holiday Inn at noon today with five Big Spring policemen completing the course.

LeRoy Spires, Thurman Randle, Richard Doane, Leo Holden, and Peggy Harrison were to be graduated from the basic certification course at Howard County Junior College along with 13 other officers from area departments.

Peggy Harrison is the first woman to receive the certification as police officer in the Big Spring department.

Graduation speakers for the banquet were to be Glenn Conner, director of law enforcement and crime prevention of the Texas Criminal Justice Council, and Ira E. Scott, chief instructor for Texas A&M University's Police Training Division.

Texas A&M staff instructors conducted the six-week basic course for the Permian Basin Law Enforcement Committee.

The 140-hour course included all subject requirements for certification under the new Texas law for police officers.

The funding for the course came from the State Criminal Council as part of the state's share of the federal Omnibus Crime, Control and Safe Streets Act.

Cancer Society Members See Film On Opera Star

A film on the life of Margaret Piazza, a Metropolitan Opera star who was cured of cancer, was shown by Charles Miller of Midland, at a Wednesday meeting of the Howard County Chapter, American Cancer Society, at Webb AFB. Miller is district representative for the ACS.

Miss Piazza, who will be the society's 1971 national crusade chairman, recovered from the disease after having surgery on her face and now sings in night clubs and makes television appearances.

Mrs. Raymond Torp, president of the local society, presided, announcing a district-wide program for doctors will be held March 18 at Midland Country Club. A team of four doctors from M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston will conduct the meeting.

Mrs. Ben Boadle, public education chairman, reported that six films had been shown to a total of 185 people during the month. The society sponsored six talks: three medical speakers and three from the society.

According to Mrs. Frank

Long, memorials chairman, 16 memorial donations were made in December and 13 in January. Persons wishing to give memorial donations may send them to P.O. Box 212.

Mrs. Torp announced that Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas and Mrs. R. P. Patterson are the new chairmen for the service committee. She introduced Mrs. Rich Anderson of Borden County who met with the society.

The next meeting will be at noon March 10 in the Officers Open Mess at Webb AFB.

Political Ad Rates Heat Up Sen. McKool

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Mike McKool has moved to stop the advertising media from raising the price of advertising for political candidates.

The Dallas senator introduced a bill Thursday in the Senate which would prohibit such "overcharging," he said.

The bill would allow the advertiser to buy space at the medium's lowest rate.

Politicians are charged from 1 1/2 to 2 times as much as the regular rates in newspapers," he said. Printers also do the same, he said.

The bill states that "the charges made for political advertising by any newspaper, magazine, or journal in this state shall not exceed the lowest charge per unit of space which the contracting advertising medium has made for any advertising sold within the three-month period preceding the date on which the contract is made, regardless of the total amount of space which the other advertiser contracted for or the number of issues in which the space was to be distributed."

The same applies for billboards, handbills, and other printed matter, along with public opinion polls commissioned by a candidate.

The bill exempts charges for political advertising by a radio or television station which is subject to federal rate regulations.

Traffic Tickets Inquiry Looming

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—County Atty. Ted Butler says he will request a grand jury investigation into irregularities involving traffic tickets in the city courts.

Butler said Thursday he will ask for the inquiry when the grand jury meets next Tuesday.

C-City Trustee Election April 3

COLORADO CITY — Two incumbents have already filed for re-election in the April 3, Colorado Independent School District election.

Three trustee positions will be voted on at the school Tax Office April 3. The two incumbents filing are Dr. Dub Waldrip and Jeff Taylor. O. B. Phillips was released on a $1,500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter.

Check Charge

Paul Phillips, 34, 4009 Dixon, was arrested Monday evening by the Howard County sheriff and charged with circulating a worthless check over $50.

Phillips was released on a $1,500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter.

Lamesa Trustees Accept Building

LAMESA — The $1.4 million Lamesa Middle School was formally accepted as substantially complete Thursday by the Lamesa Independent School District board of trustees.

Supt. Alvin Cannady said Friday that classes will occupy the school in about 30 days, after carpeting and some other finishing touches are complete. A formal opening of the school is planned for sometimes later this year, he said.

Construction of the new Middle School began in August, 1969, and was scheduled for completion in July, 1970. The contractor had difficulty in procuring essential steel framework components and an extension until Dec. 22, 1970, was granted. Liquidated damages at the rate of $200 per day were assessed on the contractor after the December deadline was not met.

School buildings replaced by the Middle School will be demolished later this year. The junior high school gymnasium and one classroom wing will be retained.

Commissions Call Off Meet Today

A morning breakfast meeting for the city and county commissioners to be held this morning was cancelled due to unknown causes.

"The session was for discussion between both commissions as to the common problems that face the county and city," said Larry Crow, city manager.

The session will apparently be held at a future date.

Hearing Slated

District Judge R. W. Caton scheduled a hearing for this afternoon in 118th District Court on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Lorenzo Pineda, 27, 509 N. Lancaster. Pineda is in custody in Howard County Jail in lieu of $15,000 bond and is charged with sale of marijuana. Pineda is alleging that the bond set by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter is excessive in relation to the charge against him and his ability to pay.

Writer Must Produce Notes

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Writer John Sack has been told again he must produce tapes and notes of interviews with My Lai defendant William L. Calley when the lieutenant's court-martial resumes Tuesday.

Col. Reid W. Kennedy, military judge in the trial, ordered Sack Thursday to produce the material, which was used in a series of articles in Esquire magazine. It was the second time Kennedy had called for the Sack notes and tapes.

Kennedy's new order was issued after Sack lost a move in federal court to prevent use of the material during the trial.

Researcher Joins A&M Ag Staff

LUBBOCK — Dr. Jerry E. Quisenberry has joined the staff of Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock to work in the area of genetic investigation concerning the response of cotton to production-limiting environmental factors. He holds B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in agronomy, plant breeding and genetics from Texas A&M University. He is a native of Robert Lee in Coke county and is married to the former Miss Dianne Tipton of Kaufman.

WHILE WAGING WAR ON IRISH TROOPS
Irish Fighting Own Internal Battle

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The men of the Irish Republican Army are fighting among themselves as well as waging war on British troops in Northern Ireland.

The past week's violence, which took 11 lives, was spearheaded by the IRA's "Provisional" wing, nationalists and Catholics dedicated to ending the Protestant-dominated province's union with Britain.

Their methods and organization are derided by leaders of the "Official" IRA, the Dublin-based revolutionaries who claim they still control the bulk of the underground movement. The provisionals dispute this claim.

BULLETS AND WORDS
The intra-IRA war is fought with bullets as well as words. A squad of Scotland Yard detectives is at work in Belfast investigating a series of murders which show most of the hallmarks of IRA executions. The Officials blame these murders on the Provisionals and are highly critical of the way they are carried out.

One man killed last month left his home at 7:30 a.m. and was found with a bullet through his head 25 minutes later. "This is not the way the true IRA does things," said an officer of officials. "No man is ever sentenced to death by our organization without a trial."

"That sentence must then be confirmed at a meeting of the army council, just like a court-martial sentence in any other army, and the man must be given the services of a priest before the sentence is carried out. You can't do all that in 25 minutes."

The split in the IRA stems partly from political and partly from personal reasons.

The political wing of the movement, known as Sinn Fein, of Ourselves Alone, divided a year ago, and Ireland now has two Sinn Fein parties, each claiming to be the true keeper of the flame.

The Provisionals charge that the Officials have been infiltrated by leftist extremists who want to turn Ireland into another Cuba. They also charge that the IRA leadership allowed the organization to wither to the point where Roman Catholic areas of Northern Ireland were defenseless against Protestant attack in the near-civil war of August, 1969.

Both sides claim that they are not aggressors and that they act only to protect Catholics from Protestants and British troops.

Both factions want the British Army out of Northern Ireland and an end to partition. The Officials, however, believe the movement is not yet ready for full-scale confrontation with the British. The Provisionals seem ready for guerrilla warfare now.

"We don't believe in taking on the British at this time," the Official leader said in an interview.

NO RUSSIAN GUNS
"Before that happens, we have to get the whole population on our side, Protestant as well as Catholic. It is true we are Socialists, but we've no real links with international communism. We've no Russian money and no Russian guns."

He charged that the Provisionals lack discipline and have recruited mobsters, who he said would never be allowed in the original IRA.

Both factions expect their leaders to be arrested at any time. One said the arrest of 50 men would extract the hard-core leadership of both wings.

"The only thing holding the government back," he said, "is that they believe internment would set off an explosion on the streets."

"And they are right. It would."

Members from here attending the convention include Joe Daves, president of the local association, Herb Johnson, vice-president-elect, Mrs. Carl Petterson, Mrs. James Smith, Miss Jannette Thomas, Mrs. Charlene Driver and Mrs. Rena Yandell.

Local Teachers Attend Confab

Seven Big Spring teachers are attending the Texas Classroom Teachers Association's 16th Annual Convention in Corpus Christi today and Saturday.

Mrs. Nedlene Speegle, local association third-vice-president, said the major issue of the convention is the new state code of ethics for teachers. Local teachers support the code, she said.

Opening lead: King of ♦
Today we lay to rest another of those hoary precepts of play which bridge has inherited from its predecessor, whist, namely "Never Trump Your Partner's Ace." East committed this seeming indiscretion with telling effect against his opponent's game contract.

When the bidding proceeded to South in third seat, he decided to open with four hearts. Inasmuch as his partner was a passed hand there appeared to be little prospect of a slam. On the other hand, game would depend merely on finding one or two slight values in the North hand, and if it should turn out that North had very little to contribute then surely the opposition could make a score their way. West showed admirable restraint in passing. Had he bid five diamonds, his loss would have been recorded in four figures.

West opened the king of diamonds against four hearts, and observing the fall of his partner's six, he continued with the ace. East in the meantime had been doing some thinking. If he took a routine discard on West's high diamond, the latter would undoubtedly continue the suit in the hope that East could overruff the dummy. However, either the dummy's six or seven of hearts could top East's trump and, after the adverse hearts are drawn by South, the latter would be able to discard whatever losers he had on North's high clubs.

East saw that the only chance to defeat the contract was to find his partner with the ace of spades in which case a lead through declarer's king might net two more tricks. However, if East were ever going to gain the lead, it was now or never, so he detached the three of trumps from his hand and placed it squarely on his partner's ace of diamonds. His astuteness was duly rewarded when the queen of spades returned did in fact produce the tricks required to set the bid.

Farm Subsidy Is Convention Topic

Discontinuance of the present farm subsidy program will be the major topic at a Feb. 24-28 convention of the National Farmers Union.

Doris Blissard, St. Lawrence, one of three Texas National representatives to the convention, said the convention will work to gain an extension of the 1937 Agricultural Market Agreement Act, due to be phased out over a three year period.

Mr. and Mrs. Blissard will leave for Washington Feb. 21 with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Chandler, Midland, Chandler is director of District Eight.

Ban Pantsuits Of Tutors, Object To Facts Of Life

LA PORTE, Tex. (AP)—The La Porte School Board has ruled out pantsuits for teachers.

The board also has adopted a committee recommendation on the use of "Love and the Facts of Life" by Evelyn M. Duvall as a textbook in high school health classes.

The committee recommended that chapters six through nine be extracted from the book for use in classes. Several mothers had objected to the book because they said its language was too explicit.

Scouting Making Gains, Exec Says

Scouting has reversed the trend of several years and is making substantial gains in number of boys and quality of program, but it is lagging badly in financial support, Monty Stokes, Boy Scout executive of the Lone Star District, told the Lone Star District meeting Thursday at its monthly session in the VA Hospital.

There are 47 units with a total of 1,419 boys, and there is good prospect for membership gains. Activities are at a peak and the commissioner's staff is in the best shape in years, which should help toward a still better program for boys, he added.

Yet the district's support amounts to $14,738 of a $25,000 overhead incurred by the Buffalo Trail Council in servicing the district, he added. In an attempt to bear a fair share of the council budget, the annual sustaining membership campaign is due to be conducted in March and April. (A sustaining member is one who will pledge $2 or more a month toward scouting.)

A lot of things are on tap for scouting, according to reports from chairmen. Included are the first aid meet Saturday at Goliad under Paul Soldan; a pre-camp inspection of the Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains March 6 by the health and safety committees; the Scout Exposition in Highland Mall March 13 under direction of Aubrey Bryans; the Explorer Whing Ding, headed by Explorer chairman Bill Fryrear and Capt. Dennis Scharborough, at Webb AFB March 26-28; council camporee in Floyd Gunn park in Odessa April 30. There will be meetings for Boy Scout leaders March 4, Explorer leaders March 9, Cub leaders March 11.

LIFE AMID DEATH IN CAMBODIA—Despite the tense situation, a Cambodian mother breast-feeds her child as she and other civilians take cover during shootout between South Vietnamese sailors and Cambodian troops in Phnom Penh. The incident killed one Cambodian pedicab driver and wounded 14 local civilians.

South Vietnamese Continue Steady Advance Into Laos

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Command today disclosed the loss of a dozen American aircraft in Indochina, 11 of them supporting the South Vietnamese campaign in Laos and Cambodia. Fourteen Americans were killed and seven wounded in the crashes, the command said.

The losses—10 helicopters, one F4 fighter-bomber and a C123 transport that had been spraying against malarial mosquitoes—occurred in the past five days. It was one of the heaviest tolls of U.S. aircraft reported for such a period since operations in the A Shau valley in April, 1967.

66 WOUNDED
The South Vietnamese command reported that its troops and their heavy American air support killed 165 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong during the past 24 hours in the parallel drives against enemy supply lines through southern Laos and Cambodia. The Saigon headquarters said 13 of its men were killed and 66 wounded in more than half a dozen clashes.

The offensive into Cambodia began Feb. 3, the Laotian thrust five days later. South Vietnamese forces sweeping through Laos also reported seizing four of the .51-caliber North Vietnamese machine guns that have been part of the heaviest antiaircraft fire American planes and helicopters have encountered in months.

South Vietnamese briefing officers listed a considerable variety of enemy vehicles and supplies destroyed and munitions captured in the Laotian drive, including tanks, trucks, motor fuel and 43 tons of ammunition.

COPTERS LOST

The losses announced today included five helicopters shot down in Laos, four shot down in Vietnam north of the Khe Sanh combat base, an F4 downed in Vietnam near Quang Tri, and a helicopter gunship that crashed in Cambodia due to unknown causes. Nine Americans were killed and seven were wounded in these crashes.

The Air Force C123 transport crashed Thursday at the Phan Rang air base 165 miles northeast of Saigon, and the five American crewmen were killed.

Reports that American soldiers had been seen in southern Laos, and that some were wearing South Vietnamese uniforms, brought an admission from official sources that U.S. reconnaissance teams are operating inside the neighboring country but only in an intelligence-gathering role. These sources said such teams, often led by Special Forces soldiers, have operated across the border for years.

The U.S. Command declined to discuss "any operations on intelligence gathering," but a spokesman said again: "There are no U.S. ground combat troops in Laos. There will be no

U.S. combat troops or advisers in Laos."

AIR SUPPORT

It is known that some American teams in Laos have been killed and wounded, but these casualties are not reported by the command. Both CBS and ABC correspondents reported Thursday that American soldiers were seen in Laos, some wearing South Vietnamese uniforms.

President Nguyen Van Thieu and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, both visited the northern front today.

The U.S. Command gave an indication of the magnitude of American air support for the Laotian campaign by announcing that U.S. helicopters flew 500 missions across the border Thursday. These included troop lifts, gunship attacks, medical evacuation flights and resupply missions.

Katy Residents To Vote March 6

HOUSTON (AP)—Nearby Katy Independent School District residents will vote March 6 on a $6.8 million bond proposal to finance construction in the district for the next two or three years.

Supt. James E. Taylor said the proposal would provide facilities for an enrollment of 5,500, or about 3,800 more than at present. He said the bond funds would be used as needed.

Several major subdivisions in the district have been started or are in the planning stage, he said.

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR ON THE BALLOT (SJR 17) Special Election May 18, 1971

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS: Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a new Section 49-d-1 to read as follows: "Section 49-d-1. (a) The Texas Water Development Board shall upon direction of the Texas Water Quality Board or any successor agency designated by the Legislature, issue additional Texas Water Development Bonds up to an additional aggregate principal amount of One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000) to provide grants, loans, or any combination of grants and loans for water quality enhancement purposes as established by the Legislature. The Texas Water Quality Board or any successor agency designated by the Legislature may make such grants and loans to political subdivisions or bodies politic and corporate of the State of Texas, including municipal corporations, river authorities, conservation and reclamation districts, and districts created or organized or authorized to be created or organized under Article XVII, Section 59 or Article III, Section 52 of this Constitution. State agencies, and interstate agencies and compact commissions to which the State of Texas is a party, and upon such terms and conditions as the Legislature may authorize by general law. The bonds shall be issued for such terms, in such denominations, form and installments, and upon such conditions as the Legislature may authorize.

(b) The proceeds from the sale of such bonds shall be deposited in the Texas Water Development Fund to be invested and administered as prescribed by law. (c) The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on Tuesday, May 18, 1971, at which election all ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment to authorize the issuance of One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000) bonds to provide financial assistance to cities and other public agencies for water quality enhancement purposes, providing for the improvement and continuance of the water resources program, and establishing an interest ceiling on Water Development Bonds at 6% per annum."

(d) The Texas Water Development Fund shall be used for the purposes heretofore permitted by, and subject to the limitations in Sections 49-c, 49-d and 49-d-1; provided, however, that the financial assistance may be made pursuant to the provisions of Sections 49-c, 49-d and 49-d-1 subject only to the availability

$900,000 DISTRACTION FOR SOLDIER AT FT. HOOD

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—To those who find it difficult to maintain their standard of living on the pay of an army specialist fourth class, the fortune of Ray Sarkees is especially heartening.

Spec. 4 Sarkees, 2nd Armored Division, returned from leave to find that his mid-month pay check included a slight raise. The check totaled $900,008.

Baffled, Sarkees decided to consult a lawyer to see if there would be any way of getting the check cashed legally.

"The lawyer at legal assistance told me to forget it," Sarkees says wistfully. "Of course, I couldn't cash it around here and if it were cashed in a neutral country, that country could not get the money from our government."

Sarkees then returned the check to the finance officer. They were as surprised as he had been.

"They did not catch the mistake," said Sarkees, "until I brought the check to the office."

The finance officer then gave Sarkees a check for $78—his normal mid-month pay.

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE ON THE BALLOT (SJR 5) Special Election May 18, 1971

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS: Section 1. That Article III, Section 51-a of the Texas Constitution, be amended to read as follows: "Section 51-a. The Legislature shall have the power, by General Laws, to provide, subject to limitations herein contained, and such other limitations, restrictions and regulations as may be by the Legislature be deemed expedient, for assistance grants to and/or medical care for, and for rehabilitation and any other services included in the federal laws as they now read or as they may hereafter be amended, providing matching funds to help such families and individuals attain or retain capability for independence or self-care, and for the payment of assistance grants to and/or medical care for, and for rehabilitation and other services to or on behalf of:

Legislature is specifically authorized and empowered to prescribe such limitations and restrictions and enact such laws as may be necessary in order that such federal matching money will be available for assistance and/or medical care for or on behalf of needy persons.

"Nothing in this section shall be construed to amend, modify or repeal Section 11 of Article XVII of this Constitution; provided further, however, that such medical care, services or assistance shall also include the employment of objective or subjective means, without the use of drugs, for the purpose of ascertaining and measuring the powers of vision of the human eye, and fitting lenses or prisms to correct or remedy any defect or abnormal condition of vision. Nothing herein shall be construed to permit optometrists to treat the eyes for any defect whatsoever in any manner nor to administer nor to prescribe any drug or physical treatment whatsoever, unless such optometrist is a regularly licensed physician or surgeon under the laws of this State."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on May 18, 1971, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment removing the limitation on the total State appropriations for assistance grants for the needy aged, and the needy blind, and setting a limitation on total State appropriations during any fiscal year for assistance grants for needy dependent children and the caretakers of such children."

R. B. Hall Named To H-SU Position

R. B. Hall, member of a long-time Big Spring and Howard County family, has been named vice-president for development at Hardin-Simmons University. The Rev. Hall is currently serving as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Littlefield. He will assume his new duties March 1. The Rev. Hall was born in Coahoma, and he graduated from Big Spring High School in 1954. His mother, Mrs. R. B. (Lois) Hall Sr. resides on Route 1, Big Spring, as does his sister, Mrs. Mike Tavaglione. His brother, Perry Hall, lives at 810 E. 14th.

Following his graduation from high school, the Rev. Hall attended Hardin-Simmons, from which he obtained his bachelor's degree in 1958. He received his divinity degree from the Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth. He has served as associate pastor of the First Baptist Church of Altus, Okla. He has also served in churches in Ouannah, Merkel, Eastland and Frederick, Okla., and has served as interim pastor at Springlake and Edmondson, Tex.

In 1966, the Rev. Hall and his wife participated in a pulp exchange with the pastor of Kingston Baptist Church near London, England, at which time they toured several European countries. In July 1968, they made a tour of Europe and the Holy Land sponsored by Wayland Baptist College with Hall serving as tour director. He directed a tour to the Baptist World Congress and World Exposition in Japan.

Easter Seals Sent To Show Audience

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — "Jesus Christ!" These words — an essential part of Christian belief throughout the ages — now are becoming the personal mark of faith for hundreds of thousands of people participating in this year's Easter seal campaign of The Lutheran Hour, the world's most widely listened-to religious radio broadcast.

Sets of the colorful seals are mailed annually to active Lutheran Hour supporters throughout the United States and Canada — which this year include more than 800,000 people. Members of congregations of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod also are invited to take part in the campaign. The Lutheran Laymen's League, an auxiliary of the LCMS, produces and sponsors The Lutheran Hour as one of its projects.

Mailed free and without obligation, the seals provide their users with a convenient opportunity both to testify of their faith and to make known their support for and interest in The Lutheran Hour.

Hour Radio Show Marks 20th Year

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Congregations of the 2.9 million-member Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod will observe Feb. 28 as Lutheran Hour Sunday. The observance will commemorate the work of The Lutheran Hour, the international religious radio program supported largely by members of the Synod.

Lutheran Hour Sunday has been observed by LCMS congregations regularly on the last Sunday in February since 1951. The observance this year is based on the theme, "The Way," which is drawn from a passage of the Bible, John 14:6 — "I am the Way, and the Truth, and the Life; no one comes to the Father, but by me."

VALENTINE SERVICE FEATURES QUARTET

The King's Team Quartet will sing at Evangel Temple Assembly of God Church, 2205 Goliad, in a special Valentine's Day service at 7 p.m.

The quartet is from Stanton and will present a program of songs written by Clyde Morris, who plays electric guitar with the group. The singing group has been performing for more than three years in Odessa, Midland and Stanton.

Other appearances have been made in sectional Christ Ambassador youth rallies of the Assemblies of God, and in California and New Mexico.

The team composed of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nelson, Clyde Morris and Charlotte Morris, all of Stanton. The Knight family of Webb AFB will provide musical accompaniment for the group.

Special amplifying equipment will also be used by the quartet.

The Rev. D. A. Calvin, Evangel Temple pastor, invites the public to attend this special evangelistic service.

Stocks Used To Exert Influence

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — On a widening front, churches today are using their economic clout to inject their principles into the ways of the business world.

"Social investment," the tactic is called.

Evidence of its spreading application showed up in several cases in the last week, including:

—Leaders of six Protestant denominations joined forces to urge two metal corporations to postpone a projected copper mining venture in Puerto Rico, claiming it would endanger the natural environment and human well-being.

—A United Presbyterian task force presented resolutions to the Gulf Oil Corp. for consideration at its annual stockholders meeting, asking it to alter policies in the Portuguese colonies of Angola and Mozambique.

—The Episcopal Church called on the General Motors Corp. to cease manufacturing in South Africa, offering a resolution to that effect for a stockholders' meeting and saying South Africa's racial separation policies would lead to turmoil and "destruction of foreign capital."

In each case, the denominations hold sizable blocs of stocks in the companies.

"Investments are the church's secret weapon," says the social action council of the United Church of Christ.

"In one religious community after another the question has been asked whether these investments are furthering, or working at cross-purposes to, the objectives to which the church is directed by its mission."

Traditionally, church investments have been handled for one old-time purpose—to bring in the best return. But new criteria have entered the picture, as expressed in 1970-approved United Church guidelines:

"Social values and social justice ought to be given consideration together with security and yield in the investment of funds."

Altogether, churches in the United States are estimated to own real estate and securities worth up to $100 billion, as much as half of it in commercial stocks.

As use of these holdings to affect moral ends continues to grow, "it's bound to have an impact," says Frank P. White, director of resource studies for the National Council of Churches.

He added in an interview that the "financial leverage" alone could not be expected to have major results but that action through stockholders' channels to open up "moral issues" would have a significant influence.

Graumann To Have Full Day Sunday

Valentine's Day will be one of special significance to the Graumann family. The Rev. O. R. Graumann, Fresno, Calif., is coming to Big Spring to perform the wedding for his niece, and to address the 10 a.m. service of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Graumann will perform the wedding of Elizabeth Ann Graumann to Capt. James H. Swisher at 3 p.m. Miss Graumann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Graumann, 1903 Nolan.

Graumann and the Rev. Graumann are brothers.

The Rev. Graumann is the pastor of Our Saviour's Lutheran Church in Fresno. Prior to accepting the Fresno pastorate, the Rev. Graumann had served in the Colorado Lutheran District for 22 years. For 15 years, he was pastor of the Christ Lutheran Church in Denver. He was protestant chaplain of Denver General Hospital for five years.

During his ministry with the Colorado District, the Rev. Graumann served as chairman of the public relations board, and as a member of the board of directors.

He also served as chairman of the public relations boards in the Nevada and California Districts, a member of the boards of directors, and is currently counselor for the Central San Joaquin Circuit.

The Rev. Graumann obtained his divinity degree from Concordia Seminary in 1938, and Denver University Department of History.

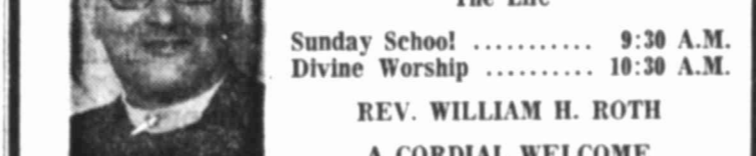

He is married to the former Gertrude Heiber, and the couple has four grown children. The Rev. Graumann was born Dec. 10, 1913, in Granite, Okla.

Church Will Show Story Of Israel

The story of Israel from ancient to modern times is detailed in "His Land," a one-hour color feature motion picture to be shown Sunday at the First Baptist Church.

The picture, a World Wide Production, will be shown at 7 p.m. and everyone is invited.

In the company of Cliff Barrows and Cliff Richard, England's popular star who sings a number of new Ralph Carmichael songs, the viewer travels the busy streets and solitary paths of this locale known in part as the Holy Land. The paths are those of Jesus and the prophets, and they lead to Jerusalem, the Mount of Olives, into the countryside.

Putting Things In Order

In this age of medicare, social security and homes for the aged, sometimes people forget an important part of growing old—tranquility!

Yes, tranquility and peace are just as important in growing old gracefully as is sufficient insurance or all the other means with which we show our concern for the elderly.

Have you ever noticed that old people have a knack of putting things in order? In fact, they need everything tidy, neat and sure. Certainly their greatest need is for peace and security—but this can come only when they are at peace with God!

If we want to reap the harvest of friendship with God in our old age, then we must cultivate our relation with Him—when we are young and able. Regular church attendance and worship is your assurance of peace and tranquility during your own gentle lengthening years. It will be a heaven-sent reward and one which you cannot, will not, want to miss.

The Playboy

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Do you think asking whether it's possible for a man who has been promised for 20 years to ever reform? My 22-year-old niece has just become engaged to a 37-year-old man who, by his own admission, has been with so many women, he lost count a long ago. This isn't just talk because this is a small town and his reputation is well-known.

He now says he is tired of running around and wants to settle down with a nice girl and become a respectable family man. My niece is fully aware of his past, but is willing to accept his word that he will change. My question is, can he change even if he wants to?

DEAR DUBIOUS: If you're the child is virtually attacked at the front door, smothered with kisses and tossed around like a sack of potatoes. I wouldn't mind if it were only a greeting, but the wild kissing and tossing continues until the child cries. Then Grandma reprimands him for crying.

If I rescue him occasionally I am accused of being overprotective, and "spoiling her fun." Since when is it "fun" to tease a crying child?

The child gets along fine with his grandfather who approaches him slowly or waits for the boy to come to him. What's wrong with Grandma? Or am I out of line?

NO TOWN, PLEASE. DEAR NO TOWN: No Grandma is. Someone should tell her to control her enthusiasm. Appeal to Grandpa since he shows better sense. If that fails, you tell Grandma as respectfully as you can.

DEAR ABBY: I am a psychotherapist who is presently working with a young woman who has precisely the same problem as was expressed by "Jessica's Mother."

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Those Sparks

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When I brush or comb my hair, it sparks. The same thing happens when I stroke my hand over the bed blankets. In the dark you can see it light up. Can you explain this condition and does it indicate anything serious? — R.E.

This question comes up every year, and it has nothing to do with your health. The sparks (and sometimes tiny crackling noise, and sometimes even an electric shock if you touch any grounded metal) come from static electricity.

Folks who have studied physics in school understand this. Others don't. Tiny charges of electricity are created by friction (as in combing your hair).

Usually this electricity will dissipate, especially if the atmosphere is moist.

But if things are dry, the small charges build into bigger ones until there's enough for a small spark. The build-up depends on how well insulated the charged surfaces are.

Nylon, for example, is an excellent insulator, so scuffing your feet (or merely walking) across a dry nylon carpet can build up enough charge to give you a small shock if you touch a metal door frame, a sink, or other metal that is attached to the ground.

In dry weather, wearing nylon clothing, you'll build up such static charges; cotton clothing (especially underclothing) will become very faintly moist, and hence will provide a route for the charges to dissipate before building up to a sparking level.

Carpets can be treated with a weak detergent spray to prevent this from happening.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: One of your articles on hemorrhoids mentioned a stool softener. Just what is that — a laxative? — Mrs. E.L.

No, it's not a laxative. It is a medication which encourages accumulation of moisture in the stool, thus preventing the stool from becoming too dry and hard. That hardness is one of the things that must be avoided with hemorrhoids.

There are probably a score of stool softeners available, and the druggist can reel off plenty of trade names. However, since there are certain variations as to types, I suggest that you have your doctor recommend one that will suit you best. Some are plain "stool softeners," others have a mild laxative medication added.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 19. My husband and I have been thinking about starting a family, but I have had a pilonidal cyst toward the end of my spine and it has been open for about three years. (I've known I had it for five.) Will this harm a baby in any way? Is it safe for me to get pregnant? — S.S.

It would be safe enough to get pregnant with a pilonidal cyst, and there would be no effect on the baby. However, the cyst has been open for three years and therefore probably is infected.

You can expect nothing but inconvenience and trouble from it in the future, so I suggest that you have something done about the cyst before you get pregnant. You are young enough to wait a bit before starting the pregnancy.

Of all the problems that pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the commonest. To learn the newest methods of treatment, write in care of The Herald for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest, Pinworm," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Water-Hungry Texas Gets Dust-Dampening Showers

By The Associated Press
Ice marbles, high winds, rain and a tornado watch were triggered in Southeast Texas today as a cold, dry air front crashed into warmer, humid air.

The cold air invasion occupied most of the state today and was expected to continue moving east.

Thirsty, black gumbo lands along the Southeast Texas coastal plains soaked up heavy pre-dawn rains. Marble-sized hail fell in the Beaumont area while that section of the state was under a general tornado watch announced by the National Weather Service.

Fair skies and cooler temperatures were expected to displace the fast moving turbulence.

For a time before daybreak, weathermen issued a tornado watch for Orange, Jefferson, Newton, Jasper and Tyler counties. But no funnel clouds were reported. Small craft in the Galveston area had been alerted Thursday to watch for possible tornado formations. The watch was to be cancelled at mid-morning today.

FHA Credit Limit Raised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under new legislation now in effect, Farmers Home Administration credit is available to farmers whose real estate debt may total as much as $100,000.

For the past 10 years, the maximum had been $60,000, a figure which FHA Administrator James V. Smith said has been outmoded by increases in land values and farm sizes.

While the average FHA loan of $24,000 is notably below the new limit, Smith said, the new legislation enacted by Congress has the effect of fixing $100,000 as:

—The maximum amount FHA may lend to a farmer on real estate to buy, enlarge or improve a farm, or —The maximum amount of real estate financing for one farmer that FHA may share with other lenders.

He said the legislation should have a wide effect in drawing more private capital into credit-scarce rural areas.

The new act makes Vietnam veterans eligible for priority consideration of loan applications.

Call Election

HOUSTON (AP) — The city council at Deer Park has called for an election April 6 to name a mayor and three councilmen to two-year terms.

Terms will expire for Mayor Earl E. Dunn and Councilmen James L. Cook, Jimmy Burke and Stanley W. Young.

Tomball Calls Bond Election

HOUSTON (AP) — The school board at Tomball has called a $3 million bond election for Feb. 26.

The funds would finance a new senior high school complex to accommodate 1,000 pupils; a 16-classroom addition at Tomball Elementary; complete renovation of Tomball intermediate, and air-conditioning of all classrooms at Hufsmith Junior High and the high school band hall; and finance purchase of a new high school site.

Beats competition on looks and price!

When we introduced our new Satellite, we knew we had a winner. Now it's official. Because Road Test magazine just named our Satellite "1971 Car of the Year" over some pretty stiff competition. And as if it weren't enough to come out No. 1 on styling, handling, comfort and all the other criteria used in the judging, take a look at the chart above and see for yourself . . . we even beat our chief competition, Torino and Chevelle, on price as well!

Firm Bound For St. Louis

NEW YORK (AP) — General Dynamics Corp. will move its corporate headquarters to St. Louis by summer, Board Chairman David S. Lewis announced today.

Lewis, former president and chief operating officer of McDonnell Douglas Corp. of St. Louis, said from St. Louis, headquarters personnel will have quick access to major operating locations.

General Dynamics, which produces equipment for the aerospace, shipping and electronics industries, has facilities in Illinois, California, Connecticut, Florida, Massachusetts, New York, Texas and Canada.

"After a survey of available sites, the Board of Directors made their decision because St. Louis is well-located, offers excellent facilities at reasonable cost and provides major living advantages for our people."

"We believe this move will make it much easier for us to attract the good people we need for the years ahead," Lewis said.

Lewis said General Dynamics is currently negotiating for an office building.

Management Class Slated

A course on "Principles of Supervision" will be taught at the YMCA March 1-4.

The Texas A&M University course is aimed at all levels of supervisors. Staff members of A&M will use the 12-hour course to help the supervisor realize the full importance of his position, broaden his concept of company goals and objectives and acquire knowledge in basic principles of management and ways of applying these principles to his problems.

W. B. Mansfield, chief of the A&M Supervisory Development Division, said in a letter that a few Big Spring residents have already signed up. Curt Mullins, YMCA director, said he recently talked to some more interested Big Spring residents.

The course will meet from 6:30-9:30 p.m. at the YMCA and will cost $30.

Sex Excess

LONDON (AP) — Britain's chief film censor, 67-year-old John Trevelyan, has quit because he's had enough of sex films. He feels that the emphasis on sex is killing the film industry.

"Sex is a marvelous human activity," he said. "But merely to watch other people doing it is not my kind of entertainment."
