

SCATTERGUN STRIKES? Rail Talks Grind To Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marathon rail bargaining talks over work rules ground to an indefinite halt Saturday with the possibility the United Transportation Union may call scattergun walkouts against various carriers.

"We have an understanding there will be no nationwide rail strike," Asst. Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery Jr. said in an interview after talks between the UTU and the nation's rail carriers recessed.

"But that does not eliminate the possibility of selective strikes," Usery said, adding that it would be up to carriers to halt walkouts by seeking temporary restraining orders in court.

SELECTIVE WALKOUTS

"We would not view selective strikes as a national emergency, at least initially," Usery said, but added he hopes such action can be averted.

Chief UTU negotiator Clyde Lane said any decision on labor action would have to come from the Cleveland office of union president Charles Luna.

Usery said union and management recessed negotiations after 13 days "because bargaining has slowed to a snail's pace" even though only a limited number of issues remain unresolved.

But the issues left involve work rules that can affect the number of jobs open to the UTU's 150,000 train-operating crewmen. Usery refused to define what work rules are causing the bottleneck.

The railroads "have cut a goodly percentage of our jobs since 1948, and I'll be damned if they'll cut five to 10 per cent more," said one union negotiator as he entered the Saturday talks that lasted two hours before recessing.

WALK THE LINE

Usery, speaking for both sides, said a recess "is in order to give each side time to re-evaluate each one's proposals, discuss with their principals and hopefully find a solution."

Declining to describe the recess as a complete breakdown in talks, Usery said he and Labor Secretary J. D. Hodgson agreed it was the best step to take. He added that government, labor or management could recall negotiators.

"No one is walking away," he declared.

62 Prairie View Pupils Suspended

PRAIRIE VIEW, Tex. (AP) — The president of Prairie View A&M College said Saturday 62 students who he said "clearly committed unlawful acts" during the Feb. 24-26 campus troubles were suspended and will not be permitted to return to classes.

Dr. Alvin I. Thomas said the 62 students were identified "through the preliminary investigation of the Department of Public Safety."

He said the students had received letters with the charges stated and they will be permitted hearings if they desire.

The predominantly Negro school with about 4,000 enrollment was closed Feb. 27 after two nights of violence on the campus that resulted in the burning of one building and fire damage to another. It reopened this weekend after students were screened.

There reportedly were no DPS men on the campus during the disturbances but Thomas would not elaborate how the investigation was made.

Thomas said he had no record of any suspension of faculty members.

Two students, now suspended, have been charged in the violence. Leonard Baker, 20, a junior from Kansas City, Mo., and freshman Quincy Brooks, 28, an Air Force veteran from Prairie View, were charged with acting to promote property damage.

Fate Of Four Kidnaped U. S. Airmen 'Mystery'

Police, Troops Stretch Dragnet

ANKARA (AP) — Police and troops stretched a dragnet across this Turkish capital and manned roadblocks on its highways Saturday in search of terrorists who kidnaped and threatened to kill four U.S. airmen.

It was not known if the kidnapers had carried out their death threat. The deadline for the payment of $400,000 ransom passed Saturday morning.

U.S. and Turkish officials made no move to pay.

The victims—Sgt. Jimmie J. Sexton, San Angelo, Tex.; Airman 1. C. Larry J. Heavner, Denver, Colo.; Richard Caraszi, Stamford, Conn., and James M. Gholson, Alexandria, Va.—were kidnaped on Thursday.

Turkish officials expressed a belief that the threat to execute the four men was a bluff and had to be called to prevent other such incidents, informed sources said. U.S. diplomats were tense but expressed some optimism.

"We're hoping like crazy," said one. "That's all I can say. We're hoping."

Ankara was generally quiet after Friday's student disorders, touched off by a police search of Middle East Technical University in the hunt for the kidnap victims. Altogether four persons died in riots Friday related to the kidnaping.

Soldiers searching dormitories Saturday, however, found a "huge amount" of explosives, arms and ammunition, police said. Hundreds of students were arrested.

Capture of the kidnapers is of crucial political importance to Turkey's pro-Western Justice party government of Premier Suleyman Demirel. Demirel's position has been weakened by student unrest and anti-American violence in recent months. He holds only a slim majority in Parliament.

U.S. Ambassador William Handley issued an appeal saying it was his "fervent hope" that the Americans would be released "safely and as soon as possible." The appeal was broadcast Saturday afternoon by the state radio.

The Americans were kidnaped by five leftist extremists calling themselves the "Turkish Peoples Liberation Army."

Leftist sources, who sympathize with aims of the kidnapers if not their methods, agreed with the government theory that the airmen wouldn't be killed.

"The kidnapers have accomplished their purpose," said one.

"They have disgraced the government, shown up police incompetence, stirred up student violence. They would only lose in public opinion by killing the Americans."

They Do Nothing Because Of Fear For Their Jobs

HOUSTON (AP) — Dr. John Silber, former dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Texas, says many school administrators actually do nothing because they fear losing their jobs.

After Silber lost his job in Austin as dean, Boston College hired him as president.

He told a group at Rice University Friday that administrators also can lose their jobs by doing their work too well and bringing about changes that create enmity.

"Brevity in office may be the mark of success for a dean," Silber said.

He said administrators must be educators and not just managers.

28 'Trapped' Patients Die In Clinic Fire

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Twenty-eight patients, trapped by grilled windows, died in a pre-dawn fire Saturday in Zurich's largest psychiatric clinic.

An electric radiator igniting paper in a waste basket was blamed by police as the initial cause of the disaster, believed to be the worst of its kind in Switzerland since World War II.

The flames spread to a wooden separation set up in the clinic's 100-year-old western wing and thick smoke filled the building reserved for elderly patients.

Most victims died on the first floor, suffocating in the dense smoke. The bodies of seven others were recovered from the ground floor, including that of a 43-year-old man from another wing who was trying to save them.

Enemy Supply Hub Captured

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops struck a blow at enemy supply lines Saturday, seizing Sepone after heavy fighting around that hub of the Ho Chi Minh trail in southern Laos, Saigon headquarters announced.

With a big assist from U.S. bombers and gunships pounding the North Vietnamese inside Sepone before the ground thrust, the South Vietnamese drove the enemy into retreat, a spokesman said.

COMPLETE CONTROL

"We are in complete control," the Saigon government declared. About 2,000 South Vietnamese infantrymen were lifted by helicopters into the hills overlooking the valley town in the past two days.

The thrust into Sepone itself was made shortly after noon Saturday and after U.S. aircraft had repeatedly pounded enemy positions.

The South Vietnamese spokesman, Lt. Col. Tran Van An, said 283 North Vietnamese were killed in fighting around the town Saturday many of them by American Air. He said he did not have the number of government casualties in the action, but he termed them light.

"There are no enemy in Sepone now," an aid, adding that the enemy force, elements of the battle tested 320th North Vietnamese Division, had pulled out.

Sepone, on Highway 9 and 25 air miles from the Vietnamese border, had been described as a prime objective when the South Vietnamese drove into Laos began Feb. 8.

'DEAD TOWN'

The town was said to have been abandoned by its Lao residents and almost completely leveled by earlier air strikes.

Nevertheless, it was said to have served as an important junction for the North Vietnamese in the movement of men, supplies and equipment from the North into South Vietnam and Cambodia.

Sources said a number of the many roadways and trails that make up the Ho Chi Minh network converged at Sepone, then spread from there again on the route south.

By seizing Sepone and cutting the trail system surrounding the town, it was believed the North Vietnamese would be forced to extend their supply movement farther to the west along branches of the trail more open to air attack because of lack of jungle cover.

There is an airstrip just outside Sepone. It is cratered by U.S. bombs but field sources have said it probably could be made serviceable in short order.

Dedication Today For Tollett Chapel

The last in a series of programs and tours connected with the opening of the Tollett All Faith Chapel at Big Spring State Hospital will be held at 2 p.m. today. The public is invited to share in this ceremony.

This will mark the formal dedication of the facility, which Wednesday was given to the State of Texas by the All Faith Chapel Inc., and in turn was presented by Dr. David Wade, commissioner for Mental Health and Mental Retardation, to Dr. Preston Harrison, hospital superintendent.

The Rev. Max Maguire, Rochester, Minn., who was chaplain at BSSH when the chapel campaign was revived, will be the dedicatory speaker.

Others on the program include Rabbi Seitin, Temple Beth El of Odessa; the Rev. James Delaney, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church; Chaplain Lee Butler and the Rev. Robert Parramore, pastor of the Mt. Bethel Baptist Church. Connell Taylor and Mrs. Lee Butler will be heard in a vocal duet, and Frank Wharton, organist, and Sue Sewell pianist, will be the accompanist.

A final feature of the dedication has been postponed. Mrs. Donna Cherry, Lubbock, violinist, was to have been presented in a concert Wednesday, but a conflict in schedule made this impossible. Hospital officials said they hoped to present Mrs. Cherry later.

Five Men Bidding For Two Places On City Commission

After the close of filing at midnight Saturday, five men had announced their candidacy for two vacancies on the Big Spring City Commission. Municipal elections will be held April 6.

Terms of Garner McAdams and George Zachariah are expiring, and the former did not seek re-election.

Zachariah, mayor pro tem and a veteran councilman, said he wants to use his experience in the conservation of the tax dollar, particularly in the area of possible governmental service consolidations.

First to file was Jack Watkins, owner of rental properties and a former furniture retailer. He has been a frequent critic of the city administration in some areas of fiscal and operational methods. "The operation of our city government on a sound fiscal basis is essential to our growth," he said.

M. R. Koger, insurance agent and dealer in oil properties, said "there's enough work to be done, and we ought to work together to get it done."

Raymond Tally, operator of an electrical firm, said in announcing, "the people ought to have a greater voice in their government." He said priorities should be established on spending, and said there would be no need to raise water rates.

M. K. Carson, an installer for Bell Telephone Co., was the final candidate to file. He announced his intention to run Friday and has said that he would make a formal statement at a later date.

Achievement Awards Event Deadline Scheduled Tuesday

Tuesday, March 9, is the final day for entering nominees in the 1971 Zale-Herald Youth Achievement Awards program. Entries must be in The Herald office by 5 p.m. of that day, or cannot be accepted. Nominations sent by mail must be postmarked no later than Monday, March 8.

At the end of the week, there had been 43 young people's names submitted in the event, which is aimed at paying public recognition to boys and girls who have exhibited exceptional leadership spirit and public responsibility in their school, church and community activities.

After Tuesday, a panel of nine judges will begin their difficult chore of selecting finalists, and then a top winner from each of the four schools involved in the contest. These are Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and Sands High Schools. Seniors and juniors from those student bodies are eligible.

Each nominee is to receive a certificate and there will be special gifts for 32 finalists — 20 from Big Spring, and four each from Coahoma, Forsan and Sands. This group will be honored at a dinner to be held April 20 at the Big Spring Country Club, at which time the top four winners will be named. These honored young people will receive a large engraved trophy and a watch.

Nominees through Friday included:

BIG SPRING

Reviewing the ... Big Spring Week ...with Joe Pickle

Filing last week before deadlines fattened the list of candidates for both trustee and city commission places. The final field for the two spots open on the city council includes George Zachariah, incumbent, Jack Watkins, R. B. Talley, M. R. Koger, and M. K. Carson. For three regular spots on the school board (no incumbents running) are Jerry Jenkins, Ralph McLaughlin, H. Boyce Hale, Leon Miller, Jimmy Ray Smith and Byron Smith Jr., for an unexpired term, Jim Bill Little.

It was nice to have the Region V junior college basketball tournament back last week, even if for a short time. Lubbock was awarded the 1972 tournament after the AB Club, sponsor of the event here, insisted on the old rule that the home town team (HCJC) be an automatic participant. It takes $3,000 plus to put on the show, and the club felt it needed some gate incentive to avoid a financial bath. None can knock the calibre of tournament the club has put on here in past years.

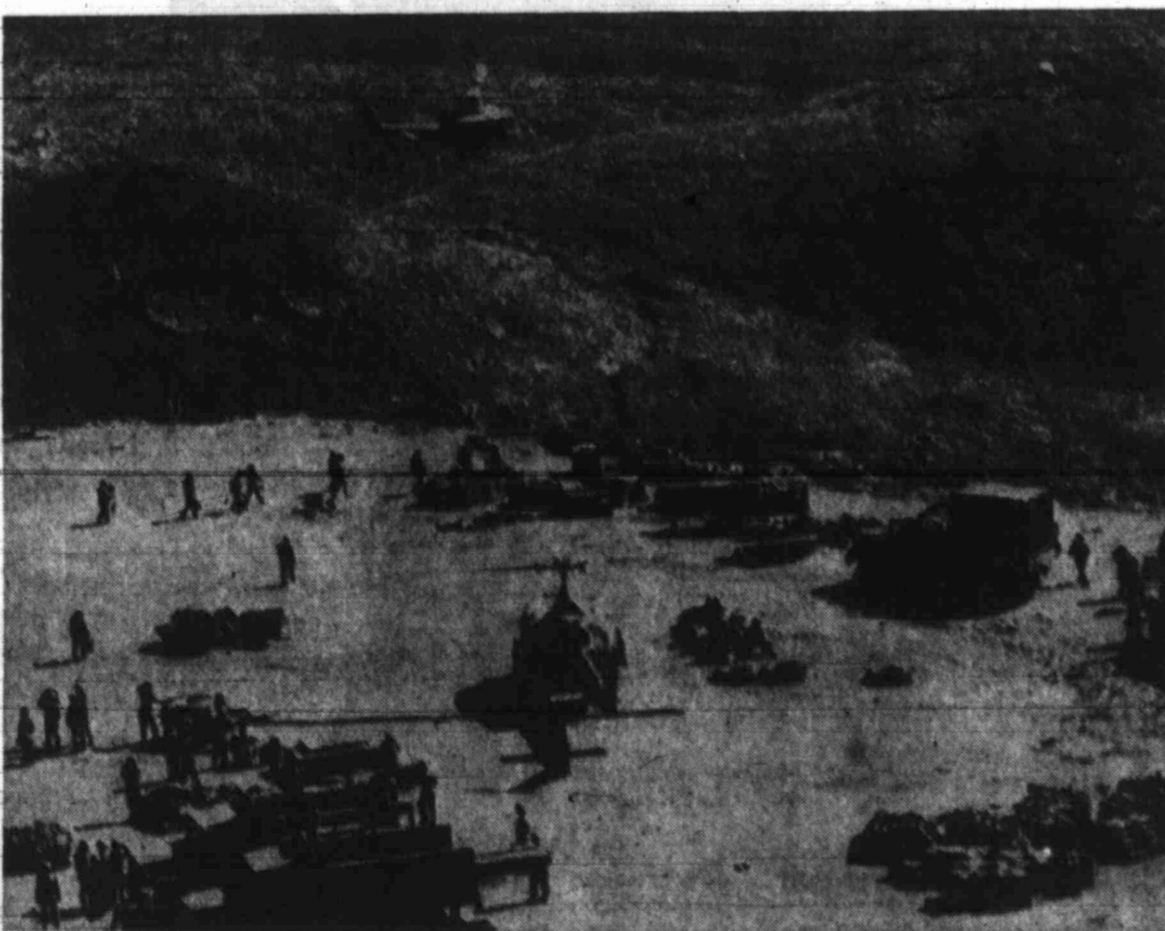

Local civic leaders decided last week to take the lead in pushing for a regional Sandy Lands research center at the U.S. Experiment Farm. Basic research on wind erosion is desperately needed, and broadening the program here would yield more research per dollar, and hopefully, benefit to the entire region.

Wes-Tex Telephone Cooperative received approval of a $474,000 loan last week. Funds will go toward beefing up the system, including improvements at eight dial control centers (to be

Blame Gun-Running Gangsters For Keeping Terrorism Alive

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Gun-running gangsters, crossing political and religious lines, were blamed Saturday for keeping terrorism alive in Northern Ireland.

The charge came from a senior Ulster police official as Britain's chief of security, Home Secretary Reginald Maudling, wound up a tour of the British-ruled province and sounded a tone of dismay.

"Northern Ireland faces a long war against terrorists," Maudling told a news conference.

NO SHORT CUT

"There is no way out. There is no short cut." Just before Maudling met reporters, a top official of the Ulster police disclosed underground trafficking in arms.

"We have information which would indicate that extremist Protestants and Catholics are dealing in guns and ammunition together. A ring has been set up."

The motive, the spokesman said, was "purely profit and the gun dealings have had nothing to do with civil rights."

"Gangsters," he said, "are selling them to each other."

Police said the break-through in the gun-running came after gunmen of the outlawed Irish Republican Army kidnaped three Protestants in the Sandy Road area on Thursday.

One of the men was humped from a car within an hour on the roadside. He told police about gun dealings. The other two men were found unharmed by troops later in Romart Catholic Leeson St.

Five White Chicks Sell For $5,100 In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The grand champion pen of chickens of the 1971 Houston Livestock Show sold for $5,100 Saturday.

The sale of the five white chickens, weighing a total of 21 pounds, was the final junior auction sale of the show.

The price was below last year's record $6,400. David Domsch, 18, brother of the grand champion winner, sold his reserve champion pen to Mrs. Dolores Johnson, widow of Houston oilman Ralph A. Johnson, for 2,000.

The D o m s c h youngsters picked the winners from a flock of 50 they raised. They are the children of U.S. Domsch, a Wimberly rancher.

The champion turkey, a 32-pound hen, brought $2,650 to Karen Brown of Lexington, from Louis Pierce, immediate past president of the livestock show, and Tommy Vaughn, Houston auto dealer.

Karen, 13, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Brown. Wealthy industrialist Edgar Brown of Orange bought the reserve champion, a 53-pound tom, for $2,000. The owner was Libby Lyles, 14, of Mason. Libby, daughter of rancher Willie Lyles, said it was the first time she had ever raised a turkey.

The grand champion barrow brought a show record price of $7,500 Friday. Houston oilman W. N. Mitchell of Houston bought the Duroc from Dennis Maeker, 17, of Wilson. The reserve champion, shown by Mike Windham, 10, of Labyrinth, was purchased by Mrs. Hazel Herin of Houston for $3,050.

ANARCHY? What flared up two years ago as a civil rights movement by Roman Catholics claiming discrimination in voting, jobs and housing has turned into, what the government now charges is anarchy.

The IRA is dedicated to uniting Ireland—by force if necessary—and is directing its attack on British troops—its aim to maintain order.

The British government has promised the Protestants in Ireland's six Northern counties swearing allegiance to the queen that they will not forsake them.

Maudling charged the IRA is mounting a three-pronged attack: to disrupt social life; to provoke over-reaction from British army and security forces; and to "wary public opinion in Britain about the whole business."

But, he declared, there is no chance of the British government "releasing Northern Ireland."

Trustees Book Bulky Agenda

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District have scheduled a lengthy although routine agenda for the board meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Among the items on the agenda is the approval of contracts for the 1970-72 school year for secondary, elementary and special education teachers, service and supervisory staff, and the tax assessor-collector.

A meeting date for the board of equalization is to be set, and trustees will consider requests from the Steer Band and the Meistersingers for their annual spring tours.

Schools Superintendent Sam Anderson will report to the board on enrollment, Inservice Education Days March 21-22, a statement from Moss Elementary PTA regarding playground equipment, and the spring holidays.

Higher Education Squeeze Painful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators charged with drafting higher education legislation are being told by college officials that the Nixon administration's plan could compound their problems rather than helping to solve them.

The reason, they say, is that the student-aid provisions of the program undoubtedly would increase their enrollments even faster than they have grown in recent years.

But the program contains very little in the way of support to the institutions to aid them in meeting the needs of these students.

KEY PROBLEMS
Democrats on the Senate education subcommittee agree this is a key problem. Their solution is contained in a bill introduced by the panel's chairman, Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., which would provide a federal payment of up to $1,000 a year to the college for each student who attends with government help.

But Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliott L. Richardson rejected this in testimony before the subcommittee last week.

He said the administration is not at all convinced this is the best way to help the institutions although he agreed they face a severe financial squeeze.

Democrats retort that the problem is not to find the proper method to channel the aid but to get President Nixon to commit the dollars for it in his budget.

Representatives of the colleges and universities have not yet testified before Pell's subcommittee in the hearings on the 1971 higher education legislation.

Teacher Training Session Tuesday

Inservice training for Big Spring secondary school social studies teachers will be held Tuesday at the Big Spring High School.

Dr. Clark Knowlton, director of the Center for the Study of Social Problems, University of Utah, will be the featured speaker at an informal luncheon meeting.

Jack Risher, social studies consultant, Texas Education Agency, will also participate.

The two men are taking part in two workshop sessions sponsored by the West Texas Education Center at Midland. The planned sessions are at Fort Stockton and Midland, with a special trip to Big Spring. Local social studies teachers will also attend the Midland workshop.

Siboney To Sell Compressions

Siboney Corporation announced that an agreement in principle has been reached for the sale of its wholly-owned subsidiary, Compression, Inc., to Modern Compression, Inc., a new corporation. The principals of the new unit are Dudley Sharp Jr. and R. R. Pennington Jr., Houston, Texas.

Compression, Inc. assembles, sells and leases air and gas compressors to the petroleum industry. Upon execution of a definitive agreement Siboney Corporation will receive as part of the consideration for the sale a 20 per cent interest in Modern Compression, Inc.

Public Schools Making Failures Out Of Children

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge says public schools may be making failures out of children.

Woodrow Seals said school districts have a duty to attempt to work with unruly children. "It might be that the public school system is making more failures out of more children than any other institution," Seals said. He said he feared that such children would be "forced out on the street" and end up becoming criminals.

Seals made his comment during arguments in a suit brought on behalf of Paul Kitchen, 17, a high school pupil suspended last October after being accused of selling copies of an underground newspaper near the campus.

equipped with DDD), and building of 15 miles of line to serve around 35 or more new members.

A numbing tragedy fell upon the community during the week with the fatal shooting of Tony Buliver, 24, formerly of Coahoma. Held on a charge of murder was Charles Crawley, 19.

Tom Henderson, president of Atmospherics, Inc. and who will direct a weather modification effort for the Colorado River Municipal Water District starting in April, made a preliminary survey here during the week. He got a glimpse of erratic West Texas weather, including clouds, cold, snow, wind, sand and sunshine all in one day.

Speaking of weather, we had it — just about anything in the spectrum from balmy calm to blinding sand and finally fine dust, with a bit of snow and trace of other moisture thrown in. The thermometer dipped to 13 degrees. Despite this, some fruit trees were beginning to bloom.

A breakdown on the census totals was reported last week, confirming the final 37,796 total for the county, down 5.8 per cent from 1960. Of this total 35,691 (or 94.4 per cent) were white, 1,699 Negro, and 406 other races. There were 18,870 males (1,862 under five years and 2,145 of 60 and over) and 18,926 females (1,508 under five and 2,183 of 60 and over).

Two structures were opened formally last week — The Big Spring Savings Association's new home at Seventh and Main, and the Tollett All Faith Chapel at Big Spring State Hospital. Both will add beauty as well as utility to the community.

At the end of the week, everyone had been bombed out of basketball contention except Teds, which won its bi-district test, and HCJC, which was in the finals of the Region V tournament.

Arthur McCleery was in Washington, D.C. during the week to attend the formal presentation of the Congressional Medal of Honor to his brother, M.Sgt. Finis D. McCleery, for remarkable valor on the Vietnam battlefield. This is the highest honor the nation can bestow on one of its defenders.

The March of Dimes Airlift (where you can get an aerial trip around this vicinity at bargain prices) has been set again for this afternoon. What are they trying to do to our weekends? The two previous trips have been greeted with abominable weather.

Local forces which supported a hearing on improvement for State Highway 163 a couple of months back were rewarded by news that a program in this direction will be started probably the latter part of this year between Ozona and Del Rio. This is the shortest route from here to the increasingly popular Amistad Lake between the United States and Mexico.

STUDENTS, PARENTS CHALLENGE AUTOMATIC FOUR-YEAR STRETCH College-A Sometime Thing?

BY RICHARD BLYSTONE Associated Press Writer

The notion of college as four straight years bounded at the ends by high school and career is being challenged this year by educators, restless students and financially pressed parents. One indication of this is the of absence and declining applications for admission at some of the nation's most selective four-year schools. Harvard, as a notable example, reported that 6.6 per cent of the student body are expected to take leaves this academic year—more than 50 per cent over the normal rate for recent years. Harvard also reported an 11 per cent drop in applications, Yale 18 per cent and three of the other six Ivy League universities 4 to 11 per cent. At Cornell applications are up 10 per cent and withdrawals up 12 per cent.

WAIT A WHILE

The prestige schools of America are in no danger of having to advertise for students. Yale's admissions officer said the development "means we're going to have to say 'no' to 1,800 fewer applicants." For some high school graduates they may only have to wait a while.

"There is a slight trend toward reluctance to continue right on after eight years of elementary school and four of high school," said J. William Gannaway, counselor at highly rated New Trier East High School in Winnetka, Ill. "A number of students would like a break." To many educators, breaking up the 17-year stretch of schooling signifies not flightiness but good sense.

"I see in full decline the idea of college as a four-year package to be opened at age 18, consumed by age 21 and the wrappings consigned to one's attic of memories at that point," said Richard W. Lyman, president of Stanford University. Voluntary withdrawals from Stanford jumped by about 50 per cent in the first half of the 1969-70 school year and despite a decline last fall remained well above the previous level. Nearly three-fourths of those who departed the fall 1969 returned.

FINANCIAL WOES

In a survey of returnees, Stanford counselor John D. Black reported that the most cited reason for leaving was a need to escape the boredom, pressures and frustrations of university life.

College officials advance many other reasons, including accelerated study, financial problems and relaxed pressure from the draft, for the change in the statistics. But they also stress a chance in the "lock-step" concept of education.

Harvard Dean Archie Epps said today's dropout feels "a different rhythm about his career" and "is better equipped to stand the stress of saying, 'The hell with social pressure.'" The withdrawal picture at a sampling of state-supported schools across the country rang from an increase of about 6 per cent at Syracuse to no appreciable change at the University of Illinois.

Blizzards Increasing Danger Of Avalanches

LONDON (AP) — Blizzards swept parts of Europe on Saturday, piling up snowdrifts from Scandinavia to Sicily. Usually balmy French and Italian sea resorts resembled Alpine villages.

Western Europe was in its coldest March in 100 years. Stranded by the snow were Aristotle and Jacqueline Onassis. They were among air passengers trapped at Rome's Leonardo da Vinci Airport by nearly a foot of snow. Their private plane was the last one in Friday night before the blizzard hit and stayed to await the re-opening of the airport.

BINGO TIME

In contrast, Norway's National Ski Federation was considering a switch to bingo to solve financial problems raised by two months without snow. Many skiing meets had to be canceled.

The French weather bureau reported the lowest March temperatures since it was founded in 1873—19½ degrees. The Berlin region was experiencing its coldest March since the 1890s. The temperature was zero.

A woman was found frozen to death in the hill country behind the famed Amalfi coast south of Naples.

Urgent warnings of extreme danger of avalanches went out in West Germany, Switzerland and France.

Palm trees in Mediterranean resorts from Spain's Costa Brava to Sicily's south coast groaned under an unaccustomed burden of snow and snow-covered yachts made marinas look like Baltic Fishing ports. Nearly 50 Corsican villages were cut off by snow 3-foot deep.

HIGH SNOWDRIFTS

In Britain, only Kent and Sussex on England's south coast were caught by the northern edge of the blizzard that swept in across Europe from the Atlantic.

In Italy, snow 8 to 10 inches deep blanketed Rome, disrupting traffic and forcing the closure of schools and stores. Hundreds of towns from Florence to Sicily were cut off by snowdrifts. The north-south Motorway of the Sun was cut in at least two places. Northern Italy shivered in temperatures ranging from 12 degrees in Cortina d'Ampezzo in the Alps to 13 below in the Dolomite Mountains.

Renaissance palaces dripped icicles from snow-covered tile roofs and the Colosseum and the Trevi Fountain in Rome wore white lacework.

Many of the old Roman roads like the Via Apulia and the Via Appia were blocked by snowdrifts.

In France snowfalls ranged from a few inches in Paris to 16 inches at St. Tropez on the Riviera. In mountain districts it reaches several feet.

He Claims Uncle Sam Bribed Hundreds Of School Boards

DALLAS (AP) — The counsel for a group fighting federal school racial balance plans charged Saturday that "The government has bribed hundreds of school districts to comply with Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) guidelines."

Making the allegation was John Norman Warnock of Camden, Ark. He addressed delegates from six southern states at what the sponsors called the regional meeting of the United Concerned Citizens of America. Spokesmen for the Concerned Citizens said they oppose federal control of education and HEW's racial balance plans.

DIRTY WORK

"HEW says either come up with a suitable plan or we'll cut off your funds," Warnock said. "HEW never talks to the schools; it makes the school boards do the dirty work. They're not interested in education, only integration." Dallas County Judge Lew Sterrett told the group, "I commend you people. Concerned citizens and public opinion are the greatest weapons we have. The OEO (Office of Economic Opportunity) spends $600 million on consultants and public relations people—money that we are told is spent on the poor. The money goes to people who would overthrow the nation."

An estimated hundred or more persons were present and kept the session lively with cries of "Amen! that's right!" when a speaker's viewpoint pleased them. Warnock, who was held in contempt of court by Arkansas Federal Judge Oren Harris because of his opposition to HEW guidelines in the Watson Chapel,

Ark. School District, said he will continue to oppose busing to and from the district despite court orders.

"We're called a defiant bunch because we believe in freedom," Warnock, a lawyer, said.

HEW sent its vigilante lawyers to Pine Bluff, Ark., and summoned the school board and me to appear in court. Then they lined me up against a wall like in a Nazi court and ordered me not to say another word about the Watson Chapel situation."

Judge Sterrett, referring to the slaying of three deputy sheriffs in Dallas in February, declared, "Just recently, three fine police officers were executed. Who caused that?" He answered himself by saying they were persons on federal payrolls "who incite minority groups to kill, to kill the pigs." Charged in the killing of the deputies are two Mexican-Americans.

Rep. Jim Collins, R-Tex., of Dallas called "busing the worst problem in America. I've seen busing tried in almost every part of the nation, and there has never been one example presented to the House Education Committee (of which he is a member) where quality education was achieved by busing."

Other speakers were Dr. Mitchell Young of Texarkana, Tex., chairman of the coalition; James W. Howard of Atlanta, national treasurer; and Dr. Don Robertson of Charlotte, N.C., national secretary.

Young said, "We are going to cover America with our strength. They can knock us down but we're still going to fight until we have quality education for all children and restoration of our neighborhood schools to our school boards." Much of the afternoon was occupied with study groups.

Business Recovery Still Questionable In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Business activity in Texas registered a small decline in January from December, suggesting that the initial recovery discernible at the end of 1970 may still be questionable, the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas said Saturday.

Dr. John Stockton wrote that it is unwise to put too much emphasis on the performance of a single month, however, but the failure to show a strong improvement is at least discouraging. Most indicators declined in January, some substantially.

The best overall measure of total business activity is personal income, Stockton said, and the rise here was very small, a decline of three tenths of one per cent. It is significant that this index is only two per cent higher than in January, 1970, he said.

Selected labor markets covered by the Texas Employment Commission showed percentage of the unemployed labor force increased from 3.7 per cent in December, 1970, to 4 per cent January, 1971, Stockton said.

A year ago the per cent was 2.7.

Employment in aircraft manufacturing was 55,800 in January, 1971, lower than both the December, 1970, level of 58,400 and the January, 1970, level of 77,100.

More than 21,000 jobs have been lost in aircraft the past year, Stockton said.

Thus 28 per cent of the decline in manufacturing jobs in Texas occurred in one industry — aircraft and parts. Building permits declined sharply in January from December.

The serious problem in construction is the rising cost of building, Stockton said. The debate on freezing wages in the construction industry continues after the president's suspension of the Davis-Bacon bill, which requires wages on government construction projects to match the highest wages paid on any contract in the area.

Draft Call For April

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Friday issued a draft call of 17,000 for April, bringing to 68,000 the number of men who will be called to active duty during the first four months of the year. Draft calls since January have totaled 17,000 each month and all those called went to the Army.

Last year, draft calls totaled 69,500 for the first four months of the year, slightly above this year's total for the same period.

Coahoma Band Enters Festival

The 61-member Coahoma High School band has been accepted to appear in the Eighth Annual Six Flags-Over-Texas Concert Band Festival opening the center's 10th year. Two buses will transport the young musicians to Six Flags for the competition May 6-8.

During the three-day festival the judges will hear 54 top bands from as far away as Kentucky, Tennessee and New Mexico.

The competition will be held in Arlington. While there the band members will spend at least one day enjoying the rides, shows and other attractions at Six Flags Over Texas.

UP TO NECKS IN NICKELS

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — This is a nickels town.

"We're up to our necks in nickels," said a spokesman for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co., which collects almost three times as many nickels as dimes and quarters combined.

The trend has slowed in the past five years, he said, "but we still make twice as many collections to empty public telephone coin-boxes as do the companies in Washington, D.C., and Virginia. This is because of the significantly higher usage of nickels."

Border Veterans May Get Help

Needy veterans who served during the border conflict with Mexico more than a half century ago have recently become eligible for disability pension benefits from the Veterans Administration, according to Jack Coker, Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco. A new law (PL 91-588) made these benefits available to veterans with at least 90 days of service in Mexico, on the border, or in adjacent waters during the period May 8, 1916 — April 5, 1917, inclusive, he said.

Speaks On DNA

Dr. Frederick J. Bollum of the University of Kentucky Medical Center department of biochemistry, will be the speaker for the monthly meeting of the Permian Basin chapter of the American Chemical Society at the Downtowner lodge in Midland. The program is set for 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. Reservations locally may be made through Jesse Looney at Cosden. Dr. Bollum will deal with DNA and RNA and how these carriers of genetic information are translated into protein sequences.

Byron Smith Asks Trustee Position

Byron Smith Jr., 2404 Alabama, a Cosden employe and resident of Big Spring for the past 17 years, has offered for a place on the board of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District.

Smith said that he felt led to offer his services to present the viewpoint of an ordinary citizen. While in the Air Force he saw service in Korea and Vietnam. Upon separation, he made his home in Big Spring. He was married in 1948 to Opal Taylor in Hatfield, Ark., and they have four children, two in school.

In taking an active role in union IUOE (Local 820) and church affairs (he is an RA leader, finance chairman, etc), Smith said that he was impressed that he might broaden his area of service. He also coached a championship team in the Sophomore baseball league.

"People here have been helpful and good to me," he said, "and serving as a trustee might be one way I could help pay back my obligation to the community. I am first of all for a strong academic program, but I also feel that athletics are important for lessons learned and as an outlet for our children. I think teachers bear a heavy burden, and I am concerned that they receive adequate pay, that we take care of good and faithful servants such as our administrators, teachers and coaches. I am for sound operation of the system, yet favor paying the bill for an adequate operation. In this respect, delinquent taxes concern me.

"I think we have a good school system, and I would try to make my contribution to keep it that way or make it better. I see in our schools an agency for undergirding moral character which first must be taught in the home. This ultimately will affect the direction of the nation."

Optimists To Open Contest

The 1971 Boys' Oratorical Contest sponsored by the Optimist Club of Big Spring is open to all boys who did not reach their 16th birthday by Dec. 31, 1970, and who are natives of the United States, according to Bill Reynolds, club president.

"The contest will be held on March 30, at the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company building," said Reynolds.

"Winners of the local contest will have the opportunity to compete in district contests and may go on to the preliminary contest and the finals at the annual Optimist International convention in Minneapolis, Minn., June 27-July 1," he added.

Winners of the finals will receive a $2,000 college scholarship, and each of the three runners-up will receive a $1,000 college scholarship.

Last year more than 80,000 boys in Canada and the United States participated in local contests. The local contest had 10 entries, and John Hicks and Van Johnson went to the district contest.

TATE CASE ATTORNEYS ARE HARD UP — Neither fame nor fortune, only financial difficulties, have come to the defense attorneys in the Tate murder trial in Los Angeles, now in its ninth month. The four men say. Left to right: Irving Kanarek, who's defending Charles Manson; Dave Shinn, attorney for Susan Atkins; Maxwell Keith, appointed to represent Leslie Van Houten when her attorney, Ronald Hughes, disappeared; and Paul Fitzgerald, attorney for Patricia Krenwinkel.

Six-Times Married Shinn Behind In Child Support

LOS ANGELES (AP) — None of the defense attorneys who have represented Charles Manson and his women followers throughout the marathon Sharon Tate murder trial claims to have gained fame or fortune. Some of them, in fact, say they are in financial difficulty. One says he may lose his home; another has sold his own art work to finance the defense; and a third says, "Right now, I'm just broke."

Daye Shinn, 52, attorney for Susan Atkins, says he budgeted his funds for an expected four-month trial and "at this point, I'm nearly bankrupt. ... I'm behind in my house payments, my child support and my alimonies," says the six-times-married Shinn.

LONG GONE He says he got $19,000 from the royalties on a published version of Miss Atkins' story of the killings. But he claims—and other attorneys agree—that about $16,000 of that "has gone back to the Manson family."

WIPED OUT Three of the lawyers have been working virtually for free throughout the trial, now in its ninth month. A fourth is court-appointed, and even he says he's feeling the pinch while awaiting payment. None expected the case to last this long.

NO REGRETS Fitzgerald says he lost about $30,000 in income and has incurred $10,000 in trial expenses. "I spent $5,000 of my own money, which I didn't have. I sold possessions to finance this case—such things as a stereo and my own art work, paintings and sculpture I'd done."

He had resided in Big Spring for 20 years and for a number of years worked for Earl Stovall, Continental Oil agent. He was a member of the Baptist Church.

DEATHS W. D. McWatters, Pittsburg Funeral Funeral was held Feb. 20 for W. D. (Billy) McWatters, 85, who died Feb. 19 in Pittsburg, Tex., after a lengthy illness. Mr. McWatters had lived in Big Spring for the past 15 years. He was born Nov. 12, 1885, in Camp County. He was a member of the Methodist Church and a Mason. ## Use Of Drugs By Students In Big D Up DALLAS (AP) — Increased use of drugs and various stimulants was reported among Dallas school pupils.

The director of the public school system's drug abuse program, George Reid, said this conclusion was based on a random sampling last October of 6,000 pupils in grades 5 through 12.

"Over-all, we experienced an increase in the use of every drug," Reid said, "but the increase was not as sharp as we had expected."

He said the percentage of increase was slight and it ran about the same for each drug. In 1969 a survey of Dallas pupils in grades 7, through 12 showed that 14 per cent of those in senior high schools had used marijuana at least once.

That same survey disclosed an increase in use of heroin from 2 per cent in grades 7 and 8 to 3 per cent in grades 9 and 10, and to 4 per cent in grades 11 and 12.

In the recent sampling and the earlier poll the list of drugs and stimulants was the same, including alcohol, tobacco, marijuana, glue, solvents such as gas, paint thinner and ether, amphetamines, heroin and morphine.

Calley Jurors Exercising Right To Quiz Witnesses

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — The six-man jury trying Lt. William L. Calley Jr. for alleged atrocities at My Lai has been quick to question witnesses, prompting the court-martial judge, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, to caution them against seeking "merely to satisfy your curiosity."

Kennedy's remark pointed up an unusual facet of military law—the right of jury members to question witnesses, to call witnesses and to demand production of certain exhibits. Such rights rarely are accorded nonmilitary jurors.

The jury's notes to the judge also tend to reflect the military specialties of the six officers of the panel. Some of the questions have elicited important information, but others have been trivial and inadmissible under legal rules.

"A lot of these questions call for a hearsay answer," Kennedy remarked while looking over one batch of jury queries. The 27-year-old Calley's trial is in weekend recess, due to resume Monday.

He is accused of the premeditated murder of 102 Vietnamese men, women and children while leading an infantry platoon on a March 16, 1968, sweep of My Lai.

The military men on the jury are spending the weekend at home with their families. They are not locked up by the court, but are free to follow their own pursuits when the trial is not in session. The only restriction is that they not discuss the case with anyone or read or listen to any news concerning it.

Prune The List

When it came time for the jurors to submit the list of witnesses they desired, they named more than 20. In the jury's absence, Kennedy set to work with eyes for both sides to prune the list by eliminating prospective witnesses whose testimony would be irrelevant or repetitious.

The champion question poser, McIntosh, 38, is a tall, former operations officer in Vietnam. He was wounded three times as an enlisted man in Korea, once more as an officer in Vietnam.

His questions reflect his technical interest in operations at My Lai and in command preparations for the assault. A close runner-up is Maj. Harvey G. Brown, 37, promoted to that rank since the court-martial began Nov. 12.

His close combat association in Vietnam with American military assistants to the Army of the Republic of Vietnam is reflected in his questioning. Another of the more prolific question writers is Capt. Ronald J. Salem, 35. He started off rather hesitantly but as the trial lengthened so did his list of questions. Like Calley, he was a platoon leader in Vietnam. He later became a company commander and shows a

Syrian Warplanes Zip Over Israeli Targets

Syrian warplanes swooped over Israeli positions on the occupied Golan Heights Saturday, the Israeli military command announced, one day before the expiration of the latest Middle East cease-fire at midnight Sunday Cairo time or 5 p.m. EST.

SYRIAN WARPLANES It was the first Syrian flight reported since the cease-fire first went into effect last August.

Observers in Tel Aviv expressed belief that the two Syrian MIG-17s were on a reconnaissance flight over the heights, seized by Israel in the 1967 Middle East war.

It was not known if Israeli air on ground forces engaged the intruders. The Israeli spokesman said the incident was reported to the U.N. Truce Supervision headquarters in Jerusalem.

Anniversary Of Greenwich Village Blast Observed

NEW YORK (AP) — A man and a woman placed flowers at the razed site of a Greenwich Village town house Saturday, on the anniversary of a violent blast of explosives in the basement that snuffed out the lives of three young radicals.

The man came in the early hours of the morning, walked up to the fence surrounding the lot and placed four bouquets of flowers on the sidewalk. Several hours later, a young woman with two children in tow bent over the spot to place her offering.

NO PICTURE "Don't take my picture," she pleaded with a photographer, "because then the FBI will be after me."

Neither of the flower bearers was identified. On March 6, 1970, the noon-time tranquility of the fashionable block on West 11th Street was shattered by an explosion that destroyed the townhouse

Texas Tax Treasure Faces Tangled Testing In Senate

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas taxpayers got a glimpse of the new taxes facing them when the House passed their $492.5 million tax package Thursday.

They may not recognize the bill when it gets through the Senate.

'IMBALANCE'

The final compromise bill, likely written by a conference committee of 10 legislators may show considerable differences from either the House or Senate versions.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who will guide the bill's progress in the Senate and name five of the conferees for compromise talks, said flatly the House bill has no chance of Senate approval because of "imbalance" between consumer and business taxes.

"I just think it will have to have better balance in it," Barnes said after the House action.

"I'd be inclined to send it back and ask them, 'What else have you got,'" said Sen. William Moore of Bryan, chairman of the powerful Senate State Affairs Committee that will hold hearings on the House bill and make recommendations to the Senate.

'BUSINESS TAXES'

Most lobbyists and Capitol observers consider Senate action on the tax bill the big test of the new liberal majority in the Senate. Several times this session the majority has held on 16-15 and 17-14 votes.

But the tax bill will be the big test because a number of Senate liberals have declared themselves for a corporate income tax, and all of them vow they will not vote for increased state sales taxes unless balanced by more "business taxes."

When a corporate income tax was proposed as an amendment in the House it failed but got 61 votes, more than anyone can remember a corporate income tax ever receiving.

However, if the Senate should put a corporate income tax in the new tax package it will take a lot more than those 61 votes to get it back through the 150-member House.

Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, chairman of the House Tax Committee who traditionally would be the No. 1 House negotiator in any compromise tax bill talks, complained last Thursday that the House bill already had too much "business tax" in it.

GRITTY BITE

Atwell opposed an amendment levying a $10.6 million tax increase on shell, sand and gravel taken from state submerged lands, and it won approval by a bare 73-70 vote. He also opposed the amendment levying a $50 million tax on jet aviation fuel saying it might cause transports to reuel in other states.

Atwell contended in his final arguments that Texas business pays 33 to 35 per cent of the state sales tax collections, and prosperous businessmen would pay most of the hotel, entertainment and stock transfer taxes.

"If you think you can tax business and not pass it on to the consumer then the dividends of that business are going to drop," Atwell argued.

So with only a part of the 1971 tax fight behind them, lawmakers will turn in the next few weeks to passage of appropriations bills that spend the money—before they really know where they will get it.

STATE TAXING SPENDING 'Almost Guarantees' Bilk Of Taxpayers

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' system of taxing and spending "almost guarantees" haphazard use of the taxpayers' money and should be replaced, the Texas Research League said Saturday.

The league recommended that the Legislature Budget Board and governor's budget office be merged into a single agency.

The "state budget commission" would submit a single budget to the legislature, instead of the two separate documents now prepared by the governor and the budget board.

Tax recommendations still would come from the governor alone.

After a state budget was passed by the legislature, the governor and the commission would oversee spending to make sure major programs are accomplished "as efficiently and economically as possible."

The league, a non-profit organization financed by some of the state's top businessmen and corporations, said the present system "almost guarantees" rising expenditures "without the guidance of a rational plan of priorities." It also leads to the writing of tax bills each legislative session "in a few hectic days after the final outlines of the spending program had been determined," the report added.

"These conditions contribute to Texas' recurrent biennial fiscal crises," the league said.

And without power to oversee each agency's expenditures, "it is virtually impossible for the governor or the legislature to know whether or not appropriated funds are extended for approved program objectives—or whether those objectives are attained," the league said.

U.S. Official Resting After Prisoner Ordeal

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Claude L. Fly, the 65-year-old U.S. soil expert, was reported "in good spirits" Saturday after his reunion with his wife Myrian.

Mrs. Fly, with her son John, arrived Friday by plane from Fort Collins, Colo., to join her husband, who was freed five days ago after being held in captivity for 208 days as a hostage by the urban Tupamaros guerrillas.

After the reunion, Fly issued a statement which said:

"My wonderful wife, my son John and myself wish to make a brief public statement at this moment although our happiness is great.

"Close to the time planned for my release, I suffered a heart attack and I am now slowly recovering."

The statement made no mention of his kidnapers.

"In the present moment I would lack wisdom and freedom of judgment as I have been several months totally isolated from any information about present events," it said.

Mrs. Fly and her son are staying at the private residence of U.S. Ambassador Charles Adair, who is abroad. Mrs. Fly told the newsmen they will await a complete recovery of her husband before flying back to the United States.

It was announced that Fly is now wearing a new pair of glasses ordered by an Uruguayan oculist and that he is eating normally.

Friends of Fly said he has a Bible, which he constantly reads.

TI Employees Put On Short Work Week

DALLAS (AP) — Some employees in the Sherman plant of Texas Instruments, Inc., started working a 32-hour week March 1 at the same hourly pay, a company spokesman said Friday.

Previously they worked a 40-hour week.

An unspecified number of Sherman employees have been moved to the company's Dallas operations, the spokesman said. No figure was given on the size of the Sherman work force.

The Sherman Chamber of Commerce indicated last month the company employed 3,300 there.

A Texas Instruments spokesman said the reduction of the work week "was to keep inventories in line with reduced customer requirements."

The Sherman plant manufactures semiconductor products and electronic equipment.

Tempo Steps Up For CRMWD Plan

Tempo on the Colorado River Municipal Water District's extension to Ward County is beginning to step up, O. H. Ivie, general manager, said Saturday.

The rate of progress on well drilling and pipeline installation has been slightly behind schedule, but both are being increased with additional equipment and manpower.

Two rigs will be put to work in the well field south of Wickett. So far, eight holes have been completed, counting the original test well. Plans call for possibly 18 wells. Wells so far tested have averaged 1,000 gallons a minute or better.

Ivie said that installation of the gathering lines in the field was beginning. Well pumps have been ordered, and work has commenced on the electrical distribution system.

Approximately five miles of 33-inch supply line have been laid, and another four miles of ditch is open. The contractor has three ditching machines at work on two spreads. Additional auxiliary equipment is due this week to expedite laying of the line through the sand hills area. The supply line from Odessa to the well field will be approximately 47 miles long.

Target date for activation of the new system, built as a hedge against continued drought on the district's two lake sheds and as a peaking source, is June 1.

"I pledge to work harmoniously with the other commissioners, both city and county. However, I will be aware that the commissioners are servants of the local taxpayers and should refrain from forcing their personal viewpoints on the public," Tally said.

"Many of my friends have told me the people need a stronger voice in city government, and I agree. I disagree

Dirksen Estate Values Revealed

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The late Sen. Everett M. Dirksen left an estate valued at $302,235 for purposes of federal inheritance taxes.

Documents filed Friday in Circuit Court disclaimed $53,379 deposited in the Everett M. Dirksen campaign account in a Washington bank and earmarked for campaign purposes. It will go the Dirksen Library in Pekin, Ill., the Republican senator's home city.

Also not considered part of the estate were five life insurance policies worth $62,000.

Two ordinances will be read in the meeting, the antinoise ordinance up for second reading and the new mobile home ordinance up for third and final reading.

A contract change concerning the park concessionaire will be examined by the commissioners but the contract was not included in the agenda.

The commission will review a letter sent to the City Attorney, Herb Prouty, by the Attorney General of Texas entailing state sales tax court costs for which the city was a plaintiff in a number of cases by the attorney general's office in suits to recover delinquent State sales taxes.

Vouchers paid by the city through March 9 will be looked over by the commission and a certificate of occupancy for Margaret's Lounge, 2900 W. US 80, submitted by Margaret Jones will be studied.

County Dads Discuss COG

Howard County Commissioners are scheduled to resolve whether they will join the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission or Council of Governments Monday in commissioners' court.

County participation in the commission, or COG, has been the subject of discussion at various commissioners' meetings, and joint meetings with the city commission. The city governing body has already voiced its desire to join the COG, but cannot unless the county also becomes a part of it.

The purchase of equipment is also on Monday's agenda. Commissioners are to discuss the purchase of road and bridge department equipment, two patrol cars for the sheriff's department, and the updating of the teletype machine in the sheriff's office. The Texas Department of Public Safety is switching to a type of machine that will make the one currently in use obsolete and unable to receive messages from other stations.

Mrs. Edna Nichols, librarian, will report to the commissioners at 11 a.m., and a community meeting room in the basement of the county library is to be discussed.

Other items on the agenda include the discussion of sick leave for employees of the road and bridge department and the remodeling and painting of the courthouse.

LOUISIANA DRAW IS SCHEDULED TODAY

Good weather today, and it is forecast, will bring out an army of golfers for the Big Spring Golf Association's first big event of the 1971 season — a Louisiana Draw meet.

This is one of the most popular meets held at the Municipal course and BSGA officials have planned two of them for the year. The other will be Oct. 10.

Entry fee will be $2 per player. Merchandise awards will go to winners.

Only requirement for entry is that the golfer be a member of the association. The fee is a modest $3 a year. Fees can be accepted either by BSGA proxy Royce Cox or Charley Brantley at the Munny course.

SMOKEY JOE RULES AS SLIGHT FAVORITE

300 Million To See Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier meet for glory and $2.5 million each before an estimated worldwide audience of 300 million Monday night. It is The Fight.

Frazier, a slight favorite will defend his world heavyweight championship against Ali at Madison Square Garden in a fight in which interest over the outcome is rivaled only by the mind-boggling financial possibilities.

A total gross of $30 million has been mentioned as being a possibility, but many observers feel this is far too high. Some even feel Fight of the Champions, owner of the ancillary fights, will be fortunate to break even.

The scheduled 15-rounder between the unbeaten is set for 9:30 p.m. CST, before a sellout crowd of 19,500 paying an indoor record $1.25 million. The Garden, whose ringside seats were going for $150, was sold out shortly after the fight was announced in January and scalpers

Albert Smith Paces Runnels On Cinders

SAN ANGELO — Runnels and Goliad Junior High Schools participated in the San Angelo Junior High Meet here Saturday and came out quite well even though team scores were not kept.

Goliad's Darrow and Carl finished second and third respectively in the shot put and Carl added a second in the discus with a toss of 137 feet, 10 inches. Mintz of Runnels tossed the discus 136 feet, nine inches for third place.

Runnels copped a first place in the 100-yard dash when Albert Smith raced across the finish line in 10.9. Smith also grabbed first in the 220-yard dash with a time of 24.9.

Goliad's Sparago added another first when he leaped nine feet in the pole vault event.

Longhorns Set 2-Mile Mark

The Big Spring High School track team traveled to Snyder to participate in the Canyon Reef Relays Saturday and came home with a brand new school record in the two-mile relay.

Mark Jones, Mike McCormick, Walter Campbell and Danny Smart combined to run the two-mile event in the record time of 8:17.8.

Jones was the first man off and after 600 yards he had opened a 12-yard gap and the Steers were never threatened. Sophomore Bob Priebe copped first place in the mile run with a time of 4:38.4.

These two wins helped the Steers to third place in the Relays with 111 points. Midland Lee emerged the winner with 206 followed by Midland High with 138 points. Lubbock Coronado trailed Big Spring in fourth place with 104 points and Lubbock High came in last with 100 points.

In the 100-yard dash, Steer Walter Jordan copped second with a mark of 9.8. He was beaten at the wire by an eyelash. He came back and took another second in the 220-yard dash.

Clay Thompson grabbed the third place for Big Spring in the 440-yard dash.

Big Spring scored in every event they entered in the meet. In the 880-yard dash Bart Jones came in sixth with a time of 2:10.7. Terry Price posted his best time ever in the 120-yard high hurdles with a 15.2, good for third place.

Big Spring finished third also in the 440-yard relay and Terry Price recorded a 43.7 for fourth place in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles.

In the field events, Mike Sizenbach came in fifth in the long jump with a leap of 18 feet, nine and Greg Knight copped fourth spot in the high jump with a leap of 11 feet, six inches. Louie Smith tossed the shot put 42 feet, three inches for fourth spot and threw the discus 132 feet, four inches for another fourth place finish.

Coach Glenn Petty was obviously pleased with the effort of his charges. "Our kids really put forth a great effort. The points we scored in the field events were the first ones for us in two years."

Next outing for the Steers will be Saturday when they travel to Midland for the Tall City Relays.

Sands To Make Second Straight State Trip

LEVELLAND — Sands High School of Ackerly earned the right to play in the State Class B basketball tournament by defeating McAdoo, a perennial powerhouse, in the finals, 58-47, in Regional finals here Saturday night.

Sands had attained the championship round by defeating Quitaque earlier in the day, 82-53. The James Blake team had humbled Miles in the first round Friday, 68-44.

Against McAdoo, Sands led all the way and by half time was in command, 40-23.

Johnny Neff of McAdoo led all scorers with 23 points while Felix Robles had 19 for Sands. Sands has been beaten only once this season.

McAdoo pulled to within five points of the Ponies in the fourth quarter but the defensive efforts of Johnny Peugh and Bobby Beall and the ability of Robles to pull down the rebounds put out the fire for McAdoo.

McAdoo committed 19 fouls, Sands 12. McAdoo lost only A. Neff on persons. No Sands player went to the sidelines for that reason.

SANDS (58) — Herm 2-2; Peugh 5-2; Beall 5-1; Robles 5-9; Oaks 3-2; Smith 1-2; Totals 21-68. McADOO (47) — Neff 5-22; Hernandez 2-4; Harris 1-2; A. Neff 4-2; Curry 1-2; Totals 19-47.

Dobry Calls 2nd Meeting

All persons interested in the formation of Church and City softball leagues are being strongly urged to attend a session in the Reddy Room of the Texas Electric Service Company building at 7 o'clock Monday evening.

The convale was called by Joe Dobry, who has shouldered the task of serving as commissioner of both leagues.

Dobry said that the Big Spring Softball Association was being revived and he hoped it would provide the impetus for maximum participation in the summer program.

Dobry called an organization meeting here but it was poorly attended, possibly because players can't get used to the idea of softball in February.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

BS To Field Young Club

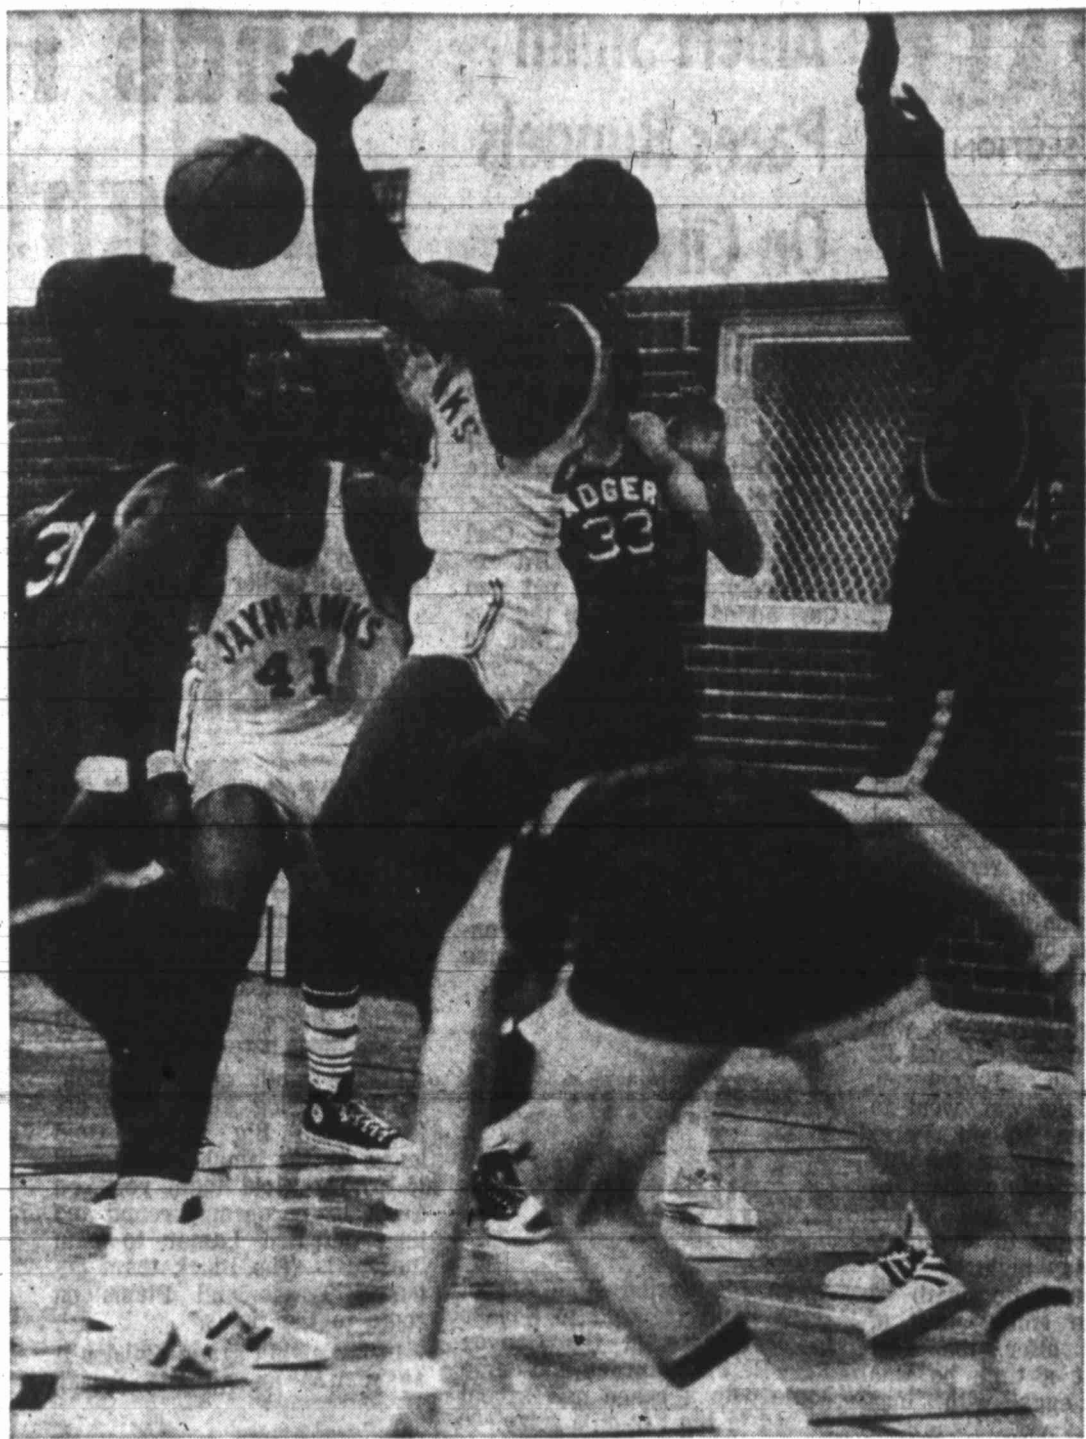

By TOMMY HART

Big Spring's only 7:30 football game next fall will be against Bel Air in El Paso . . . One of the best passing quarterbacks ever to come up from junior high here is Tom Sorley, son of the BSHS football photographer, Floyd Sorley . . . J. T. Smith is now listed as a running back on the Steer football team but he has a great pair of hands and, for that reason, could wind up at flanker . . . The Steers, with 50 juniors in camp, are going to be young this fall . . . The enthusiasm for the game never did wear thin for Harold Wilder, the Howard County JC basketball coach . . . He drove to Lubbock the Saturday after the Hawks closed their regular season to watch Texas Tech and SMU, then tooted on over to Clarendon to scout Amarillo and Clarendon Monday night . . . Spike Dykes, the former Big Spring mentor, started his spring drills early at Alice this year . . . When his team wound up recently, coach Clovis Hale of Big Spring was on the sidelines . . . Hale says Alice looks to advantage and appears especially deep in strong-running backs . . . Clovis was on his way to San Antonio where he attended the Henry Frnka Coaching Clinic . . . "It's the best school I've ever been to," Hale said after his return here . . . On the staff were such well-known people as Jerry Burns of the Minnesota Vikings, Ben Martin of the Air Force Academy, Woody Hayes of Ohio State, Mike Campbell and Freddy Akers of Texas, Mel Robertson of Houston, Homer Rice of North Carolina, Raymond Berry of the University of Arkansas and Doug Dickey of Florida . . . Hale was especially impressed with the acumen of Burns, the former Iowa mentor . . . The trend in defense in football now seems to be an even front and a rover-type secondary, Clovis says . . . The amortization rate for those bonds being used to finance New Orleans' new Superdome will be $20,000 a day . . . The New Orleans people figure they'll have to get between $40,000 and $50,000 minimum rental daily to meet commitments to bondholders . . . The Super Bowl has never paid more than $35,000 as rental . . . James (Jumbo) Pierce, Big Spring's big lineman, has had overtures from Navarro Junior College, UT-El Paso, Angelo State, Sul Ross, West Texas State and Stephen F. Austin . . . Donnie Duncan, the Navarro mentor, would also like to sign linebacker Tony Dean of the Steers.

SPIKE DYKES

R. A. Stone, president of the Coahoma Quarterback Club, says that the Harlem Jokers played to a capacity crowd there recently and want to return in 1972 . . . The Jokers won, 63-57, over the All-Star coaches but the score was incidental — everyone had a wonderful time, including 5-2 Dalton Hamilton, who was hoisted by two members of the touring team so that he could get a basket for the Coahoma squad . . . Bill Valentine, fired several years ago as a major league umpire, is a competent basketball official but he gets few games in the Southwest Conference, probably because he is so impartial . . . Bill, who worked in the old Longhorn baseball league before he went to the majors, takes no guff from anyone and some coaches don't like that trait . . . Most game mentors expect a little help at home . . . Wayne Tyrone, who resigned recently as head coach at Snyder after it became evident he wasn't going to be rehired, reportedly will join one of the schools in Hurst as an assistant . . . NBA basketball is drawing very poorly in San Diego and the Rocket management is reportedly looking for a place to move . . . Texan Luke Walker hopes to notch 25 pitching victories for the Pittsburgh Pirates this year . . . Comedian Bob Hope was cut up by some members of the press for dominating the camera during the recent Bob Hope Desert Classic golf tournament . . . One national magazine says he suffers from an inability to grow old gracefully, adding he still yearns for acclaim by the public . . . Simpson DeGrate, one of TCU's most valued hands in the Frogs' sweep to the Southwest Conference basketball championship, played for McLennan County in the Region V tournament here a couple of years ago . . . DeGrate, a native of Marlin, had offers to attend college on a football scholarship but chose basketball instead . . . TCU coach Johnny Swaim says the Frogs wouldn't have made it to the throne room without the 6-4 DeGrate . . . Arkansas has already signed 23 Texans to football scholarships this year . . . Tommy Bryant, the West Texas State public relations man who was stricken with a heart attack last year in Colorado, expects to return to work shortly and says "I feel like kicking the moon" . . . The Houston Astros will mint a million dollars from its TV and radio rights this year and major league baseball will earn $40 million, all told, through the two media . . . With a $1.8 million return, the Los Angeles Dodgers still cut the biggest slice of the pie.

Hawks Win, 83-71, But Lose K. Neal

Howard County's Jayhawks, measuring Ranger College, 111-95. In both the games, the ultimate winner trailed at the half. Howard County was behind, 37-36, after the first 20 minutes of play. Hill trailed, 49-45, when it retreated to its dressing rooms. The win for Howard County was costly. Ace guard Kenny Neal was injured in a collision with Archie Myers with 4:25 left in the game and was lost for the season. He suffered a bad sprain.

Archie Myers Is All-League Pick

Tri-champs Amarillo, South Plains and Howard County Junior College placed one each on the Western Junior College Conference's all-conference team announced today. The balloting, among conference coaches, was balanced, with five schools being represented on the first unit. The first team had Amarillo's 6-8 Larry Kenon, South Plains' 6-5 Tom Jordan, 6-2 Archie Myers of HCJC, Tony Moya of Clarendon and Willie Banks, the 6-4 star of New Mexico Junior College. Kenon, a freshman, was the conference's leading scorer, and also led the teams in rebounding. Banks and the 6-9 Moya were the only sophomores on the team. Banks was a second-team selection on the all-star team last year. The second team had two players Earl O'Steen and Bob Gonnemann, from Frank Phillips, along with Russell

Cincinnati Reds Lose To Chicago

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, with only two regulars in their lineup, were defeated by the Chicago White Sox, 4-1, Saturday. Rick Reichardt's tie-breaking two-run single in the sixth propelled the Sox to their first spring victory. Rich McKinney singled, doubled and scored twice, and Bill Robinson, a non-rostered outfielder obtained from the Yankees, hit the first Sox homer of the spring against Pat Osburn in the seventh. Cincinnati's run was unearned, the result of three fourth-inning errors by Chicago. Rich Hinton, the third of five Sox hurlers, was the winner.

Snyder Tigers Dump Levelland

SNYDER — The Snyder Tigers defeated Levelland, 10-6, in baseball action here Friday afternoon. The win gives Snyder a 1-1 season mark. Stewart Sims led the Snyder victory with three hits and Larry Wall and Jan Hood each drove in two runs for Levelland.

Coronado Rally Belts Midland

LUBBOCK — Trailing 6-1, Coronado struck for 11 runs in two innings to best Midland High, 12-10, in schoolboy baseball action here Friday. Coronado scored five runs in the fourth frame and came right back with six more in the sixth stanza to notch the win. Gary Olive's three-run homer in the fourth ignited the rally.

Game's Pay Scale Keeps Spiraling

NEW YORK (AP) — There was a time not so very many years ago when the $100,000 contract was a major step reserved for baseball's very elite. It represented a plateau reached by a select few and rarely passed—a superstar status and a salary ceiling. But times have changed. Baseball's $100,000 club is becoming crowded and the six-figure status symbol no longer satisfies every star. Tom Seaver of the New York Mets predicted a year ago that baseball salaries would reach $200,000 eventually and it seems entirely possible. "It seems like nowadays $100,000 is not really the status symbol," said Baltimore's Brooks Robinson, who jumped $20,000 to reach $100,000 when he signed his 1971 contract. "I think there is much more money to be made in baseball."

YANKS HAVE NONE Lee MacPhail, general manager of the New York Yankees, has no $100,000 employees on his team right now but he thinks he knows the reason for the increasing number of them around the majors. "The raise in the minimum salary has had a spiral effect," said MacPhail. "A 10 or 15,000 raise for a ball player is no longer considered a big raise."

The highest paid player in the majors is Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, who agreed to a three-year $500,000 package last month. That breaks down to $167,000 per year, about $7,000 more than Willie Mays will be making in San Francisco this season. Johnny Bench, baseball's all-around star last season, had talked about holding out for a three-year $500,000 like the one Yaz got. But he settled for a one-year $85,000 pact instead—not bad for a 23-year-old.

Behind Yastrzemski and Mays is St. Louis pitcher Bob Gibson, who gets $150,000, Washington slugger Frank Howard at $140,000, and Frank Robinson of Baltimore, who's earning $130,000. In the same salary neighborhood are Atlanta's Hank Aaron, Rich Allen of Los Angeles, Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente, and San Francisco pitcher Juan Marichal.

A cut below those stars but still earning six figures are Washington's controversial Denny McLain and Curt Flood, Joe Torre of the St. Louis Cardinals and Billy Williams, who this year became the first Chicago Cub player to reach that figure.

ROSE UNHAPPY Pete Rose, who earned $105,000 last year, wants a two-year $250,000 pact which would represent a boost of $20,000 per year. The Reds are saying no so far, a fact that irks Mr. Rose. "I guarantee I won't play for $105,000," Rose said from his home in Cincinnati as the Reds went through their paces in Tampa, Fla. "I'll sit here and I'm serious about it. I want to play but I just can't do it for $105,000. I realize $105,000 is a lot of money but this thing has gone farther than just money. There is principle behind it."

Principle was also behind six-figure demands by Baltimore's Boog Powell, the American League's Most Valuable Player last year, and Atlanta slugger Orlando Cepeda, who figured his 34 homers, 112 runs batted in and .306 batting average, was worth a big boost. But both settled for less. "I didn't get the big one," said Powell after signing for $90,000, about the same amount Cepeda accepted from the Braves.

Sudden Sam McDowell, Cleveland's star pitcher, was shooting for $100,000 too but settled for $72,000 with performance clauses that could boost that amount to the magic figure he sought. McDowell's salary will go to $80,000 if he wins 20 games and to $100,000 if he reaches 30 victories.

HOUSTON — If there were such a thing, you might say that "A baker's half-dozen" young players have a shot at earning themselves a place on the 1971 Houston Astro squad. As many as seven fledglings will be working in spring training with high hopes of winding up in the major leagues. If they don't make it in '71, they're much better than even bets to get there before too long.

The group includes: — Five right-handed pitchers (alphabetically: Ken Forsch, Bill Greif, Buddy Harris, Scipio Spinks, Larry Yount). — An infielder (shortstop Roger Metzger). — And an outfielder (Rich Chiles). All of them have good-to-outstanding minor league backgrounds. They're all young, but with abilities that outrun their years. Forsch, 24, picked up a total of 18 wins in 1970 at three different places. He was 13-8 for the Columbus, Ga., Southern League champions, a sensational 4-0 with a 1.58 ERA at Oklahoma City and 1-2 at Houston. Greif, 20, had a 10-12 record at Columbus in what amounted to his first full season in professional baseball. Harris, 22, was 11-9 with a 2.02 ERA with Columbus before finishing the year with the Astros. Spinks, 23, had only a 9-12 record but posted impressive strikeout and hit ratio figures at Oklahoma City, where his ERA was 3.30. He also saw brief action early in 1970 with the Astros.

Dumas Cagers Win AAA Cage Crown

AUSTIN (AP) — Dumas ripped Fort Worth Como, 65-59, for the Class AAA state schoolboy basketball title Saturday, maintaining coach Jim Reid's fabulous winning record.

Reid coached Kerrville's 1969 and 1970 state AAA champions before directing Dumas to its first title since 1962.

Dumas' clinging defense forced Como into numerous errors as the Demons opened up a 29-19 halftime lead despite the absence of high-scoring Kim McClintock, who got three fouls early and spent considerable time on the bench.

Then when Como made a bid in the final quarter, McClintock, a 6-foot-5 senior, rammed in 13 straight points and finished the game with 21. He also helped 6-7 Randy Willis battle Como's fantastic leaper, James Cooks, for rebounds.

Cooks blocked a couple of Willis' shots, but Willis also pinned one of Cooks' shots to the backboard with a soaring leap. The Como senior led his team in scoring with 22 points and pulled in 19 rebounds although Dumas had at least three players 6-4 or taller at all times.

Willis backed up McClintock with 16 points, and had 9 rebounds, one more than McClintock.

It was Dumas' 30th victory against six losses.

Besides their championship year in 1962, the Demons were runners-up in 1953.

Como finished the season with a 24-6 record and a second-place finish in its first trip to the tournament.

Dumas had an all-senior lineup and the experience seemed to pay off as they surrounded the Como ballhandlers and often took the ball away or forced the Lions to commit other infrac-

Sometimes we get the feeling we're being followed.

Everybody's getting into the act. Everybody's making a small car. And since we've made more of them than anyone else, we thought we'd pass along some things we've learned about the business over the years. First off, there's no doubt about it, the only way to make an economy car is expensively. So Rule No. 1, don't scrimp. Get yourself the best engineers in the business and then hire 9,000 or so top inspectors to keep them on their toes. Next, try to develop an engine that's not a guzzler. If you can get it to run on pints of oil instead of quarts, great. If you can get it to run on air instead of water, fantastic. Work on things to make your car last longer. Like giving it 45 pounds of paint to protect its top and a steel bottom to protect its bottom. Important: Make sure you can service any car you make. There's nothing worse than having someone find out that a part they need to make their car go is no longer available. Finally, spend less time worrying about what your car looks like and more time worrying about how it works. Perfecting a good economy car is a very time-consuming business. So far it has consumed 25 years of our time.

King Of The Baritones Due Here For Concert

"Mr. Merrill has one of the most beautiful natural baritones that the generation has produced, and the sheer command of his singing and his unforced production combine to make him one of the great baritones."

This is the way the New York Times describes Robert Merrill, who appears here Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the finale of the season for the Big Spring Concert Season. This also is part of the HCJC artist series.

Nor is the Times alone in its acclaim for the versatile and talented artist. The Chicago American called him "the prince of American baritones." The Dallas Times-Herald echoed this statement: "One of the most thrilling baritone voices in the operatic world today."

Of him the New York World-Telegram said: "Magnificent tone poured from him as from an inexhaustible source." Added the Boston Globe: "He stood out with his musical excellence and dramatic urgency." Said the Dallas News: "He had authority and a stunning delivery." And the Cincinnati Enquirer noted that Merrill is "easy and fluent in sound."

Merrill takes time from his responsibilities with the Metropolitan Opera Company to tour the country and sing for people everywhere.

His remarkable talent, plus his handsome appearance and dramatic gift, has made him much in demand in motion pictures, and especially on national television.

The season's series has included Dorothy Warrenskold and her troupe of singers: Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe, duo-pianists; and Los Indios Tabajaras.

While attendance is by membership only, the way has been opened for non-members to hear the Merrill concert as guests of the association. Anyone who becomes a new subscriber to the 1971-72 series by certain time Monday evening will be a guest of the association for the concert.

San Angelo Stock Show To Open

SAN ANGELO — For the 38th year, the capital city of the Conchos will be host this week to thousands of their neighbors from throughout Southwest and West Texas as the annual San Angelo Stock Show and Rodeo opens Wednesday for a five-day run.

The popular Sonny James show, seen by millions on national television will open Thursday for three performances. Faron Young and his Country Deputies, long-popular entertainers on television and the stage, will perform Saturday and Sunday.

Nearly 2,000 entries have been received in the livestock show competition, and women's division workers have spent two weeks organizing thousands of entries that will be judged and exhibited in a spacious new building constructed this year at a cost of more than $25,000.

HCJC Trustees

The board of trustees of Howard County Junior College will have its regular monthly meeting at 12 noon Tuesday in the Dora Roberts Student Union center. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said that only routine matters were on the agenda.

Oklahomans Seek Crocker Coupons

Individuals in this area who have inquired about the address of an agency receiving coupons for a kidney machine may direct their mail to Oklahoma Kidney Association, 800 NE 15th Street, Oklahoma City.

The agency has been collecting Betty Crocker coupons, which will be exchanged for two kidney machines. However, the company is withdrawing the offer in 12 weeks because there has been some controversy about linking sales to a mission of mercy. Hence, those who want to send in coupons to this venture are advised to do it as soon as possible.

McMurry Presidential Inauguration Is Slated

ABILENE — Friends of McMurry College in the Abilene area are invited to attend the inauguration of Dr. Thomas K. Kim as the college's eighth president, says Dr. Norton Jones, faculty chairman of arrangements.

Dr. Kim will be inaugurated formally at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, March 13, in the new Civic Center Auditorium in downtown Abilene. This will be the climax of a slate of events beginning with dedication of McMurry's newest building Friday.

The brand new Amy Graves Ryan Fine Arts Center will be dedicated in a ceremony at 3 p.m. March 12, just outside the new $1 million-plus structure on the southeast corner of the McMurry campus.

The Arts Center is the result of a million dollar gift from the estate of the late Amy Graves Ryan of El Paso, announced by her husband, Dr. Basin Ryan, longtime trustee of McMurry.

The inauguration Saturday will be followed by a reception for Dr. and Mrs. Kim from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the new Amy Graves Ryan Center.

Of all the dignitaries and famous personages present, Dr. Thomas Kim will probably be most interested in three Californians flying in from San Francisco.

They are his three surviving brothers: Dr. Lawrence K. Kim, a San Francisco surgeon; Hugh K. Kim, an employee of American Airlines in San Francisco; Dr. Kenneth K. Kim, a captain in the U. S. Army Medical Corps.

The McMurry president's other brothers were taken from their home by North Korean invaders during the turmoil in their land in the 1950s. They were never traced and are presumed dead.

Other luminaries included Sen. John Tower and Rep. Omar Burleson, Eldon Mahon, United States Attorney for the Northern District of Texas and Bishops Alsie Carleton and Kenneth Pope.

A New Type Of Coed

By JO BRIGHT

On campuses all over the United States, an increasing number of boot-wearing, book carrying "coeds" are also wives, mothers, businesswomen and often — the head of the house.

For some, the late return to college is prompted by a feeling of being left behind in a fast-moving world. For a few, it provides an escape from boredom. But for most — like the women shown today — it is a challenge to continue their education, earn degrees and enter a new era of experiences that will enrich their own lives, and eventually, those of others.

Mrs. Robert E. (Patteann) Daniel, is a widow with four children who, some years ago, discontinued classes at the University of Texas in order to work while her husband obtained his degree.

"When Bob died last spring I not only had to consider earning a living and educating the youngsters, I wanted so much to be involved, to feel I was making a contribution to the world around me, to find a purpose," she said. "I returned to classes last summer at Howard County Junior College and will graduate in May."

She believes the greatest thing about her classes are people.

"Though I graduated from high school in 1951, the year many of my classmates were born, the kids have really carried me through," she explained. "They've extended the helping hand of friendship in innumerable ways and countless times."

The Daniel children are Doug, 17, Robyn, 14, Dave, 13, and Cyndy, 2. The family will be moving to Gonzales on June 1 when she will become home service advisor for the Guadalupe Valley Electric Cooperative, and she and Doug will commute to Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos.

It has not been easy for Mrs. Daniel to continue school and still perform the duties of mother, homemaker and breadwinner. Weekends find her cooking and cleaning. During the week, when not in class, she is a teacher's aide at St. Mary's Day School and works in the guidance office at the college in the work-study program.

Mrs. T. F. Rountree, wife of the district electrical foreman for Texas Electric Service Company, is the mother of two sons, Terry, 18, a freshman at HCJC, and Danny, 14, a freshman at Big Spring High School. She attended North Texas University a year before she married and dropped out to rear a family.

"I wasn't sure, after all the years, that I could go back to the classroom and study and make the grades expected of someone who is seeking a teaching certificate," she recalled. "Knowing it would take three years, I started going at night and continued working during the day. When this didn't leave me enough time with my family, I resigned the job and became a full-time student."

When Mrs. Rountree made the Dean's List, her doubts were dispelled and she feels now that she can go on and get her degree.

"I feel I have gained an insight into the feelings of young college students that I could never have gotten anywhere but as a student in the classroom," she said. "The faculty and students have made me feel like I belong, even though I am old enough to be the mother of some of the students."

Mrs. Rountree plans to drive to San Angelo three days a week to finish requirements for her degree and teaching certificate. She hopes to teach in the local school system. When not in class, she is substitute teaching or doing her housework, cooking or sewing.

Mrs. Jerry (Carlene) Barron and Mrs. Kay Hopper literally meet themselves coming and going. Both women are attending HCJC and Angelo State College.

"I was influenced by the goals of a friend who had returned to college," said Mrs. Barron who also gives her husband much of the credit for helping her go to school. They have two children, Sherlyn, 11, and Keith, 8.

"Jerry fixes their lunches and gets them to school," she explained, and my mother, Mrs. Luther Coleman, picks them up after school and sees that they do their homework before I get home from San Angelo." She has accumulated 80 hours, with a major in mathematics and minor in English. Seeking a secondary teaching certificate, she hopes to teach in the local system after graduation in December of this year.

Sharing a car pool with Mrs. Barron is Mrs. Hopper, who plans to get a bachelor's degree in elementary education, minoring in psychology and English. She plans to start teaching and working on a master's degree in the spring of 1971.

"I first took business courses at HCJC and worked as a secretary for several years, but decided since I was going to work that I should do something which I really enjoyed," she explained.

While working as a secretary at Head Start, she went to HCJC at night and in the summers.

"I grew extremely fond of the children and people I worked with," she continued, "and when I start teaching, I would prefer to teach in a school of predominately minority races."

Mrs. Barron and Mrs. Hopper rise at 5 a.m. on the days they travel to San Angelo for classes.

"Sometimes school work gets quite tedious," mused Mrs. Hopper, "but the self satisfaction outweighs the inconvenience."

I Am A Sick American . . .

There are those that claim ours is a "sick" society; that our country is sick; our government is sick; that we are sick. Well, maybe they're right. I submit that I'm sick . . . and maybe you are, too. I am sick of having policemen ridiculed and called "pigs" while cop killers are hailed as some kind of folk hero.

I am sick of being told that religion is the opiate of the people . . . but marijuana should be legalized.

I am sick of being told that pornography is the right of a free press, but freedom of the press does not include being able to read the Bible on school grounds.

I am sick of commentators and columnists canonizing anarchists, revolutionaries and criminal rapists, but condemning law enforcement when such criminals are brought to justice.

I am sick of paying more and more taxes to build schools while I see some faculty members encouraging students either to tear them down or burn them.

I am sick of Supreme Court decisions which turn criminals loose on society — while other decisions try to take away my means of protecting my home and family.

I am sick of being told that policemen are mad dogs who should not have guns — but that criminals who use guns to rob, maim and murder should be understood and helped back to society.

I am sick of being told it is wrong to use napalm to end a war overseas — but if it's a molotov cocktail or a bomb at home, I must understand the provocations.

I am sick of not being able to take my family to a movie unless I want to have them exposed to nudity, homosexuality and the glorification of narcotics.

I am sick of pot-smoking entertainers deluging me with their condemnation of my moral standards on late-night television.

I am sick of riots, marches, protests, demonstrations, confrontations, and the other mob temper tantrums of people intellectually incapable of working within the system.

I am sick of hearing the same phrases, the same slick slogans, the cries of people who must chant the same thing like zombies because they haven't the capacity for verbalizing thought.

I am sick of reading so-called modern literature with its kinship to what I used to read on the walls of public toilets.

I am sick of those who say I owe them this or that because of the sins of my forefathers — when I have looked down both ends of a gun barrel to defend their rights, their liberties and their families.

I am sick of cynical attitudes toward patriotism. I am sick of politicians with no backbone.

I am sick of permissiveness.

I am sick of the dirty, the foul-mouthed, the unwashed.

I am sick of the decline of personal honesty, personal integrity and human sincerity.

Most of all, though, I am sick of being told I'm sick. I'm sick of being told my country is sick — when we have the greatest nation that man has ever brought forth on the face of the earth. Fully fifty per cent of the people on earth would willingly trade places with the most deprived, the most underprivileged among us.

Yes, I may be sick, but if I am only sick, I can get well. I can also help my society get well — and help my country get well.

Take note, all of you . . . you will not find me throwing a rock or a bomb; you will not find me under a placard; you will not see me take to the streets; you will not find me ranting to wild-eye mobs.

But you will find me at work, paying taxes, serving in the community where I live. You will also find me expressing my anger and indignation to elected officials.

You will find me speaking out in support of those officials, institutions and personalities who contribute to the elevation of society and not its destruction. You will find me contributing my time, money and personal influence to helping churches, hospitals, charities and other establishments which have shown the true spirit of this Country's determination to ease pain, suffering, eliminate hunger and generate brotherhood.

But, most of all, you'll find me at the polling place. There — if you listen — you can hear the thunder of the common man. There, all of us can cast our vote . . . for an America where people can walk the streets without fear.

Blender Does Kitchen Magic

Four of the Howard County home demonstration clubs which met last week heard programs on uses of a home blender. The Lomax club presented a speaker who discussed family communications.

FAIRVIEW CLUB
Mrs. J. F. Skalkicky and Mrs. C. A. Smailey provided tips on the use of a blender, for the Fairview Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. L. A. Griffith, Oasis Acres.

The women suggested using only a rubber spatula for scraping sides of a blender, and said to add a little water when mixing solid foods.

Mrs. E. A. Williams presided, and Mrs. Griffith gave the devotion. Prayer was led by Mrs. H. S. Hanson. A council report by Mrs. Skalkicky announced that the district meeting will be in Muleshoe, April 1.

A LOVELIER YOU Consider 'Rearview' With Shorts, Pants

By MARY SUE MILLER Fashion rumor has it that grown girls will be wearing short-short pants, the shortest ever, on downtown streets this summer. Well, abbreviations were bound to make the scene. Chopping off long pants in warm weather seems a natural development. Guessing who will wear briefs in midtown makes a good game.

Much with us at present are beautifully cut pantsuits of regulation length in light wools, linens and "non-denim" denim. But, please note, the longer dress vies for the leading spot. Back in the two-legged department, knickers and gauchos still show strength both as complete suits and put together.

As in every fashion category, successful pants depend on individually becoming selections. That means a rearview that neither spans nor sags, a flat frontview and legs hanging with nary a bulge.

All too frequently, it seems impossible to fit pants to a feminine figure correctly. Those short-shorts, for instance, demand gorgeous legs. Spotty weight on one's hips, tummy and thighs throw all types of pants out of line. Right here is where to page pantie girdles. Do you know those figure shapers are available in all lengths from bikini to ankle? Yes, ma'am, there's a new leg liner for long pants that smooths from hip to ankle in a most natural and comfortable manner.

'Harassment Law' Aired By Club

Big Spring Credit Women discussed effects of the new "harassment law" at its meeting Thursday in the Settles Hotel. Mrs. Ivanelle Marr, program chairman, led the discussion.

The law forbids collectors to call a person at his job concerning a past due debt, or from calling his home after 9 p.m.

The women emphasized that when giving a credit report, only the actual ledger information should be given, with no personal opinions about the person applying for credit.

The attendance prize was won by Miss Katherine Homan. Mrs. Sondra Davis became a new member, and Mrs. E. J. Smith was a guest.

The next meeting is at 12 o'clock noon, March 18 in the hotel.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

In these days when most everything that is produced in the kitchen comes from a can, a box or the freezer, it is refreshing to recall some favorite dishes made by some of my favorite people backed by their own resources.

Remembering back a long time ago I can just smell that delicious coffee cake my mother made, four or five at a time. And another favorite combination of my teen years was fried pork chops and green beans with new potatoes. Along about the same time and for years it was my happy experience to be a friend of the J. O. HAYES family and as such I was privileged to have a slice of the fresh orange cake, baked especially for Mr. Hayes, January birthday; and who takes the trouble now of making Floating Island as my AUNT LOUISE RYAN did? It was so good the thought of finishing was painful, because you dared not ask for a second helping. Nor will I forget GRANDMA DEATS' roast beef and fresh bread, or GRANDMA RIX' caramel cake and sugar cookies.

As I grew older and was away more often with friends, there was that special treat of being at the WALTER BISHOP farm home near Vincent and having a sumptuous meal of Mrs. Bishop's super chicken and dumplings. It's only in the past few years that I have finally reached the good touch of making the dumplings taste like those she made. It was a great day when I joined the E. D. MERRILL family for Sunday dinner and was served some of Mrs. Merrill's good rice seasoned with chicken fat (I'm sure that's what she told me although I was never able to make any taste like that she prepared), and if we had creamed cabbage. Also, among my especially good food remembrances are the big helpings of green sage plum ice cream made by MRS. ARTHUR PICKLE and the corn bread dressing that "MOM" PICKLE made.

With food like this to fall back on in memories, we could fast for years.

MR. and MRS. OMER WILLIAMS who now make their home in Hope, Ark., were back in town briefly Wednesday night on their way to Seminole to see relatives.

MAJ. BROWN B. ROGERS JR., who has been stationed at Kirtland AFB at Albuquerque, N. M., for the past four years, is to be transferred to Los Alamos, N. M., on March 15. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Brown Rogers. Maj. and Mrs. Rogers have a daughter, Kimberly Ann.

MRS. W. L. DANDRIDGE and MRS. EVERETT GILES, both of Dumas, have been houseguests of MR. and MRS. MILLER HARRIS. The visitors and Mrs. Harris were school teachers together in Dumas a number of years ago.

MR. and MRS. CHARLES DUNAGAN and their son were recent guests of MR. and MRS. C. R. DUNAGAN, and MRS. CONNIE GARY. They make their home in Houston.

Bits and Pieces: Saw MATTIE BELLE and CHARLES TOMPKINS at my favorite drug store. She had a new covering on the cast that is shielding the heel she broke last January when she fell while taking down Christmas ornaments; not long afterward Charles had another bout with detached retina. From MRS. L. S. PATTERSON came a sweet note and delicious cake, the latter was credited to the baking talents of MRS. MALCOLM PATTERSON. REX TALBOT is out of the Navy and back home. Ya'll Call!

Word from Houston is that MRS. P. D. (DICK) O'BRIEN has entered a hospital for possible surgery. She is in St. Luke Towers, St. Luke Hospital, 15th Floor, Hall Y, Room 411, Medical Center, Houston.

The ceremony was performed by Claude Nichols before an archway trimmed with greenery and accented with miniature red and white roses with matching streamers. The bride wore a street-length, ivory dress, accented with gold buttons on the sleeves and collar. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with gold trim.

Tammy Nichols, sister of the bride, served as ring bearer, attired in a red and white dress. A reception in the home followed the ceremony.

The couple went to Ruidoso, N. M., for their wedding trip, and will reside at 808 Johnson, Big Spring. The bride is a graduate of Sands High School.

Pharmacy Facts

By Bob Knight, R. Ph.

Until Louis Pasteur's research in the 1860's, it was generally believed that microbes were created by "spontaneous generation" when conditions were favorable. Sour milk and other spoiled foods were supposed to promote the creation of microbes, where none were before, rather than the other way around.

Pasteur's experiments showed that microbes were present even in the air, that they were forms of life which could be studied, controlled and destroyed by heat and other means. His work laid the foundation for present day micro-biology and modern medicine with its miracle drugs!

Let us contribute to your peace of mind in the knowledge that all of your prescriptions receive our expert professional attention. You can always be sure of the finest quality drugs.

HANDY HINT: When watering household plants, add a small amount of milk each week, especially in cold weather.

New Mexico Indians Viewed By Speaker

Mrs. James Fryar, guest speaker for the 1946 Hyperion Club, discussed Navajo Indians of New Mexico Wednesday in the home of Mrs. C. B. Marcum, 1506 Dayton.

"The Navajos are peaceful and hardworking Indians," said Mrs. Fryar.

The 16 million-acre reservation near Gallup, N.M., has a population of about 125,000. The tribe itself is wealthy from the natural resources on the reservation, and this wealth provides schools, better roads, and the general betterment of the tribe. There is no individual wealth.

"The Navajos live in hogans," Mrs. Fryar said. "These are houses made of mud, bricks and limbs of trees. Most of the people are farmers or sheep herders and a few of them still weave and make jewelry or pottery."

Mrs. Fryar said that Navajo men dress about the same as cowboys in the area, but that the women wear several blouses; both in winter and summer.

The Navajo Children's Home near Gallup houses about 60 orphans. Mrs. Fryar has had a boy from the home spend the summer in her home for the past five years. She said that visitors are always welcome at the reservation or orphanage.

Mrs. T. J. Rowland presided at the meeting. Co-hostess was Mrs. Edwin Ballard. A nominating committee was appointed consisting of Mrs. Ballard, Mrs. Mairi McFaul and Mrs. Rene Brown.

The next regular meeting date was changed to March 31, at 1 p.m., in the home of Mrs. Pete Rhymes; 1300 Douglas.

LGA Sets Children's Style Show

Green table cloths emphasized the St. Patrick's Day theme at Friday's Ladies Golf Association luncheon at Big Spring Country Club. The centerpiece, an arrangement of yellow gladioli and green chrysanthemums accented with shamrocks, was won by Mrs. R. L. Tollett.

Mrs. Walter Wheat presided, introducing the guests, Mrs. M. A. Snell, Mrs. James Kile of Amarillo and Mrs. Roy Lassiter.

Mrs. Harold Davis, Easter activity chairman, announced that an informal children's style show will be held during the noon hour at the club on Easter Sunday with an Easter egg hunt for the children scheduled after lunch. Candy eggs will be provided by the LGA. It was also noted that new dishes and a vacuum cleaner have been purchased by the LGA for the club.

Members were reminded that monthly dues are now payable to Mrs. Auriel LaFond.

Hostesses were Mrs. John Burgess, Mrs. Harold Davis and Mrs. Delnor Poss. The hostesses for the April 2 luncheon will be Mrs. Robert Stripling, Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, Mrs. Akin Simpson and Mrs. Charles Sweeney.

'We Need Your Help' Pleads MIA Wife At OWC Luncheon

"Your help is desperately needed", said Mrs. Smith Swords, guest speaker for the Officers Wives Club luncheon Thursday in the Webb Officers Open Mess.

Mrs. Swords, whose husband has been missing in action in Vietnam since December, 1969, was talking of the support needed in petitioning North Vietnam for humane treatment of prisoners of war and MIA's.

"There is no impartial inspection of all of the prison camps", Mrs. Swords continued. "There is no official list of the men being held prisoner."

"This waiting, this wondering, this wishing — no one wants. We need help from you, and by helping, you are protecting your own future."

"Some people fear signing petitions and writing letters because they have heard that the North Vietnamese may take repercussions on their husbands if they were even taken prisoner. But we feel no fear. From the lowest ranks up to colonels, men receive the same treatment, and it is not very good."

"All of you are especially affected. We ask you for support of our men. We must keep the issue constantly before Hanoi, the legislature and the American public. We must do away with the dreadful blanket of secrecy that now covers the issue of POW's and MIA's."

"Please, people, remember the men", Mrs. Swords concluded. "Protect your future. If you won't help, who will?"

Mrs. Swords distributed petitions for the members to read and sign. She said that wives have no way of knowing how many, if any, letters and packages sent to POW's and MIA's reach them, but that pictures are always removed.

NEW WEBB SERVICE CLUB DIRECTOR
New ideas and programs for in-service airmen

New Director Takes Over Webb AFB Service Club

By BRIAN PEAY
There is a new face at the Webb AFB Service Club, namely the new director, Ellen B. Rogers. Mrs. Rogers took over the management of the club the last week in February and has already begun to reorganize the club.

"The responsibility of always having something to do for the lower-grade airmen at the base doesn't have any affect on me," said Mrs. Rogers. "At other bases where I have worked some of the airmen look on me as a big sister, but this does not bother me."

Plans have already been put into progress by the new director for the airmen, including one to get junior age 17-18, and senior, age 19-up, hostesses for the club.

"These hostesses will work mainly in the club serving the guys, working on programs and projects for the club, and just being a help to me and the airmen. They will come from high schools and colleges all over the area," said Mrs. Rogers.

Jimmy Ray Smith Seeks School Post

Jimmy Ray Smith, a former teacher, is announcing his candidacy for a seat on the board of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District.

"Since I have been in the education field for many years, I feel that I have some understanding of teachers' problems, administrative dilemmas and other matters that pertain to school business," he said.

Smith, an education analysis specialist with the civil service at Webb AFB, is a graduate of Big Spring High School, Howard County Junior College and the University of Texas, from which he holds his bachelor of science and master of education degrees. He taught school and coached at Coahoma and at Gatesville for two years each.

He has been employed at Webb AFB for the past 15 years. He has served as physical training director for student pilots, director of base educational programs, and now is a technical advisor with responsibility for consultation and work in the development of training methods and instructor training.

JIMMY RAY SMITH

He also has farming and real estate interests in Big Spring and Howard County.

He and his wife, Judy, also a former school teacher, live at 808 Edwards. They have three children: Steve, a senior in high school, Nancy, a sophomore, and Suzanne, a Park Hill sixth grader.

He is past president of the Downtown Lions Club and served as zone chairman for Lions district 2A-1 last year. He is camping and activities chairman for the Lone Star District of the Boy Scouts of America. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and he and his family are members of the First Baptist Church.

"It is my desire to support the schools in any way that is needed and to maintain the best educational standards possible with the funds available," Smith said.

Trial Date Set For Ex-Deputy

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A former Cameron County deputy sheriff faces trial here April 19 in the December slaying of a Mexican-American youth.

U.S. Dist. Judge Reynaldo Garza set the date for Nem Bryan Jr. Bryan was indicted last week on a charge of violating the constitutional rights of Victor Nava, 14, of Brownsville.

Nava was shot to death Dec. 10 in an alley. Bryan said he shot Nava after he believed the youth was about to attack him with a knife.

Bryan was charged with murder but a county grand jury declined to indict him. A federal investigation followed.

Red Light On Road Raids

With the Texas Legislature in session, 'tis the season for attempted raids on the traditional funds that finance the state's highway system.

Introduced in the legislature have been several bills which, if passed, would take many millions of dollars out of state highway funds, while not reducing in any manner the requirements placed on the Highway Department to build and maintain a state highway system.

There are various bills in the hopper which would increase the amount of motor vehicle license fees retained by counties, or return such fees on a pro rata basis to the county from which the fees are collected.

If the proposals in these bills were carried out, they would mean a loss to state highway revenues ranging from $4 million to $145.5 million.

Another bill would take about $57 million in motor fuel taxes from the Highway Fund by allocating some of this revenue to a city street fund.

Still another would require the state to pay 100 per cent of the cost of buying all highway right-of-way which would cost an additional $15 million for the biennium.

Perhaps there is merit and good argument in some of these proposals. But the most important priority for the legislature and the Texas public to weigh is the integrity of the highway fund.

The Texas Highway Department does not have more money than it needs. There is no fat surplus beyond present and future commitments. It is not a bountiful treasure to be raided for every worthy cause in Texas.

Continuity of financing is the most important element in the systematic, business-like development of a highway system, according to Chairman DeWitt C. Greer.

The Legislature, by providing a dependable flow of motor vehicle tax revenues to the department, historically has enabled the department to develop long range plans and make long range commitments, he said.

The chief source of highway revenue is the state gasoline tax. It is now 5 cents per gallon, and one-fourth of that goes to the Public School Fund.

If raiding this and other highway revenues is ever made a precedent, there will be no end to the practice. The public should recognize the threat, and, through communicating with their legislators, raise the red light against it. It is no accident that we have one of the best highway systems in the nation because highway taxes go for highways.

Dangerous Vacuum

That more Americans believe the invasion of Laos will lengthen rather than shorten the war is not too surprising. Pessimism, as disclosed in Sunday's Gallup Poll, has become associated with the Indochina War.

What was rather startling in the poll's findings was that 13 per cent of those interviewed had not heard or read about the invasion. The poll was taken more than 10 days after South Viet-names moved into Laos, with extensive news coverage.

This could mean that many people are so weary of the war that they deliberately have stopped listening to radio and TV news and avoid war news in the papers. It also could mean some are totally indifferent to events which shape their lives. Operating in a vacuum of information can be dangerous.

A Local Museum

Around The Rim

Bob Whipkey

Howard County's Heritage Museum, thanks to the good auspices of the local governmental agencies and many interested people, will soon be coming to life.

And none too soon. Counting the years of the white man's first ventures into the frontier, the West Texas country is just nudging its first century. It was a century which produced all manner of tools, artifacts and other items which are now scarce, valuable and difficult to locate. A few more years and they will be impossible to find.

IT IS TIME to bring together the authentic memorabilia into a place where forthcoming generations can gain an insight into their heritage.

If Howard County's museum gains some stature, we'll have to work at it. A new issue of the Texas Museums Directory has just been issued, and it lists 286 such institutions now in the state.

They include such variety as the Medicine Mound Trading Post, the Live Steam Museum, the Confederate Air Force Flying Museum, the Jay Gould Railroad Car, and the Bishop's Palace.

THE MEDICINE MOUND Trading Post is in Quanah, and is a vintage Santa Fe depot which was moved from old Medicine Mound. It features railroad equipment.

And enshrined in Jefferson is the sumptuous rail car of the tycoon Jay Gould. It is an 88-foot, four stateroom coach and a veritable palace on wheels.

ANOTHER RELIC of the gilded age, the Bishop's Palace in Galveston, has been termed one of the most opulent houses in the United States. A towering, four-story Victorian mansion, it caused the bankruptcy of a Col. Walter Gresham who built it. It was bought in 1923 by the Catholic Diocese, hence the present name. The good people, to keep the place in proper perspective, had demure veils painted over the naked cherubs adorning the palace's painted ceilings.

THE TOWN of Alamo claims to have the only known operating steam museum in the world, and here have been collected all sorts of steam engines and pumps, including an old cotton gin engine and an oil field engine of the steam variety.

Many people are acquainted with the Confederate Air Force collection of World War II planes at Harlingen. There are 22 of these combat aircraft, and they are all in flying condition.

YOU CAN FIND infinite variety in the Texas museums. Over at Odessa is the Meteorite Museum, where the second largest meteor in the U.S. slammed into the earth some 20,000 years ago and gouging out a gigantic crater.

The state's only Indian reservation, that of the Alabama-Coushatta tribes near Livingston, concentrates, naturally, on the Indian history of the area, and offers dioramas, color-slide shows, and arts and crafts exhibits.

I GUESS you could head in any direction, on any given weekend, with the Museums Directory in hand, and spend hours expanding your knowledge of and interest in the things and the people who developed Texas. A museum of appropriate collection is appropriate for our own town. It is now in the state of infancy, and can use a guiding hand from just about everybody who wants to help bring history up to date.

Secretary Of State

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — "Just who is the Secretary of State?" This is a question that has been raised again and again whenever a President of the United States has brought to his side at the White House a special adviser on foreign affairs. Even in the Senate where speeches of criticism are made from time to time, there seems to be little understanding of how a President operates. He needs a specialist at his elbow to study the intricate problems that arise almost daily throughout the world.

OVER THE YEARS, as Presidents have selected eminent men to serve as advisers on foreign matters, the Secretaries of State have always been consulted and have played an important part in formulating policies.

Henry A. Kissinger has been well known as a foreign-affairs expert, and, because he works closely with the President in the White House, it has been assumed by some people that he directs the nation's foreign policy. The other day a Democratic senator went so far as to say the "gossip" around Washington is that William P. Rogers is not really Secretary of State and that Mr. Kissinger holds that post "in everything but title." President Nixon was quick to deny the rumor.

PUBLIC POLICIES are not easy to work out. They require prolonged investigations, sometimes on a single subject. The Secretary of State, who has the task of administering an entire department, could not give all of his time to one phase of international relations, and he doubtless is pleased that there is a specialist in the White House to make lengthy studies as these may be needed.

IT SO HAPPENS that William Rogers and Richard Nixon have been close personal friends for more than 20 years. Mr. Rogers was Attorney General in President Eisenhower's cabinet when Mr. Nixon was serving as vice president. They trust one another and, indeed, understand one another. President Nixon would never make an important decision related to foreign policy without consulting Mr. Rogers fully.

SECRETARY ROGERS is a tactful man and a person of sound judgment. He is a valuable member of the President's cabinet. When a report on any aspect of foreign affairs is made and a specific policy is recommended, Secretary Rogers expresses himself freely to the President, and his opinions carry much weight.

For nearly 60 years, Presidents have had to have in their entourage specialists in certain fields. The problems of the presidency have grown so complex that it has been found impractical to depend entirely on cabinet officers or their deputies for the information needed.

THE IDEA that a President would appoint an adviser in any field who would ignore a cabinet officer is absurd. Some senators who make caustic speeches on the subject are unfamiliar with the ways and means of operation which have developed as the President and his associates continue to deal with a host of problems which cabinet officers by themselves could never handle.

'DON'T FORGET IT'S MY REVENUE YOU'RE SHARING'

Wants New Look At Nominee

By CAROLE MARTIN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Senate Banking Committee decided this past week that it wanted to take a further look at the qualifications of President Nixon's nominee to head the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The committee decided to pose further questions to William J. Casey, 58, a New York tax attorney, at a public hearing next Tuesday.

Casey had won tentative committee approval after a brief hearing last month, but subsequently two civil suits against Casey and others, charging violations of the federal securities law, were brought to light.

Last Sunday, a federal judge had contradicted parts of Casey's earlier testimony to the committee regarding a 1962 plagiarism suit in which Casey was a defendant.

Other business highlights of the past week:

- Civil suits against W. J. Casey calls for re-examination
- SEC gets tough with former investments firm operator.
- British-American company proposed to operate Rolls Royce.
- House panel votes for extension of controls authority.
- Bill would wipe out interest limit on $10 billion bonds.

Food Increases Reflected Quickly In Price Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally says food is America's best bargain, even though food costs last month caused the biggest wholesale-price-index increase in 17 years.

Wholesale prices of farm products and processed foods climbed by 2.6 per cent in February, the government reported Friday. But, Connally said, housewives should use a little perspective.

"When you average it out," the newly appointed Treasury chief told newsmen, "food prices are about the best buy in the American economy today."

On other matters, Connally said the Nixon administration is not considering a tax cut. But he would not rule out the WASHINGTON — President Nixon has given all of us assurances that the American GIs will not do any fighting in Laos, Cambodia, or even North Vietnam — on the ground, that is. Therefore, the burden of all the fighting will be on the South Vietnamese, which seems to be a fine idea with President Thieu and Marshal Ky. But nobody seems to have asked the average South Vietnamese soldier how he feels about all this.

Three South Vietnamese soldiers were dug in along the Ho Chi Minh Trail the other day discussing the situation.

"HEY LOOK, did you hear that after this incursion they want us to invade North Vietnam?"

"The generals must be out of their rice-picking minds," Cpl. Lok said. "What in the monsoon do they want us to invade North Vietnam for?"

"So the American GIs can pull out of our country faster," Pfc. No Dem replied. "You see, every time we go into another country, it makes it easier for Nixon to pull out Americans."

"That's fine for the Americans," Pfc. Nhu Nhu said. "But what happens to us?"

"ACCORDING TO the American generals in Saigon we're as good fighters as any army in the world, providing we have aerial support and the enemy has none," Pfc. No Dem said.

"That's a crock of yak butter," Cpl. Lok said. "They're just saying that so they can pull out without losing face."

"That's no way to talk about our ally, Lok. If it hadn't been for the U.S., we wouldn't be on the Ho Chi Minh Trail today," Pfc. No Dem said.

"GETTING OUT tails shot off," Cpl. Lok grunted.

"You always think of yourselves," Pfc. No Dem said. "Do you realize there is a lot more at stake than just getting your tail shot off?"

"Like what?" Cpl. Lok demanded.

"Well, if President Nixon doesn't get enough American troops out of Vietnam he could lose the election in 1972."

"I hadn't thought of that," Pfc. Nhu Nhu said.

"YOU MEAN we're dug in here just so we won't make a liar out of Nixon?" Cpl. Lok said.

"Not just Nixon, but Henry Kissinger and Mel Laird and Ambassador Bunker and Gen. Abrams and Joseph Alsop. There are a lot of careers that could go down the drain if we don't interdict the enemy's supply lines before the rainy season starts," Pfc. No Dem warned.

"We're carrying a big burden on our shoulders," Pfc. Nhu Nhu agreed.

"AND LET'S NOT forget," said Pfc. No Dem, "our own President Thieu's election could depend on the outcome of this incursion."

"Who's he running against?" Cpl. Lok asked.

"Nobody," Pfc. No Dem said. "But we still want him to look good, don't we?"

Neither Nhu Nhu nor Lok replied.

Cpl. Lok finally said, "Okay, let's for argument's sake, say we cut the Ho Chi Minh Trail, secure Cambodia and invade North Vietnam and all the American troops pull out. Where does that leave us?"

Pfc. No Dem replied, "We'll be part of the free world, dummy."

Nihilist Youth

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — In an interview shortly after the Montreal kidnappings last October Attorney General John N. Mitchell talked about the potential for revolution in this country. He spoke of the young "nihilist radicals" who were carrying out revolutionary activities.

That word nihilist has an echo out of a somber past. Recently in a lecture in New York Sir Isaiah Berlin, the brilliant Oxford historian-philosopher, discussed the Russian Nihilists of the last century. They rejected all the values — religion, literature, art, dress — of the society in which they lived.

THE RUSSIAN novelist, Ivan Turgenev, published in 1861 a novel entitled "Fathers and Sons." As Sir Isaiah pointed out, it reads as though it had been written yesterday about the American youth of today. The central character, Bazarov, the professed nihilist, is a hippie type, scorning the simple values of the countryside in which the novel is set.

"Fathers and Sons" caused a sensation when it was published. The radicals accused Turgenev of turning reactionary and defaming the young. Conservatives were reluctant to accept his picture of nihilist youth with contempt for everything from God and marriage to the art of Raphael.

HISTORICAL ANALOGIES are almost always dubious and more often than not false. Atty. Gen. Mitchell believes the nihilist radicals in this country are few in number and their violence, real and threatened, can be contained with what he called reasonable precautions. That, at any rate, is what he said last October.

BUT THE BOMBING of the Capitol was like a lightning flash against a dark sky, accentuating the way in which violence has spread. The Justice Department knows of threats to kidnap diplomats in Washington as has occurred in Rio de Janeiro and elsewhere. A special security service was created to prevent this from happening.

BUT A 24-HOUR watch on the movement of the hundreds of diplomats in the capitol is difficult, if not impossible, to maintain. At least two Ambassadors feel so strongly about not yielding to the blackmail of kidnapping that they have signed statements to the effect that in the event they should be taken no ransom of any kind is to be paid regardless of their personal danger. A high American official holds the same belief, convinced that to yield to this form of violence is to see it spread.

President Nixon responded to the Capitol bombing with a reasoned statement. He said, frightening as it was, it should not lead to the closing of public buildings nor should it bring about the repression the bombers might want to provoke.

Thanks By Phone

Dear Abby,
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There is a bachelor in our town who is in the millionaire class. He is attractive and receives many dinner invitations. This man never writes a social note. If he wants to accept or decline an invitation, or thank someone for something, he picks up the telephone. He travels a lot and usually calls long distance, which flatters the recipient.

I am sure he telephones instead of writes because he hasn't had much formal education and he probably can't spell or write a decent letter, but he is extremely articulate verbally.

Would you say that a telephone call to convey thanks is adequate and proper? I always thought that the personally written note was the only socially acceptable way.

DEAR CURIOUS: I would say that a message of thanks, whether it's written, telephoned or sent by carrier pigeon is adequate and proper if it's prompt and sincere.

DEAR ABBY: If you have ever answered this question in your column, I must have missed it. I have been married three times. I lost Number One and Number Two in death. Number Three and I are very happy. She is beautiful, smart, kind and considerate and she never nags me. She is loving and responsive, but there is one problem. If I accidentally call Number Three by the name of either one of my previous spouses, she goes all to pieces and it takes her some time before she gets back to her old sweet self again. Why are some women like that? Please tell me how to handle the problem.

CHARLIE: DEAR CHARLIE: Some women are like that because they suspect that while you are with them you are thinking of someone else. (Are you?) You can handle it easily. Quit addressing your wife by her name. Call her "Darling."

DEAR ABBY: An angry wife went to a clever lawyer and told him she wanted to divorce her husband. She said, "I want to hurt him as much as I possibly can. I want to really make him suffer!"

After telling the lawyer about their married lives together, the lawyer said, "You may not make your husband suffer at all by divorcing him. In fact, he may be glad to get rid of you. But if you really want to hurt him, make him feel the need of you. Go home and tidy the place up. Cook him the kind of meal he likes best. Then fix yourself up as pretty as possible. Concentrate only on pleasing him. Let him know how much you appreciate him. Do that for thirty days and then come back and see me." The wife agreed to take his advice and then she departed.

Thirty days later she returned to the lawyer's office, beaming and happy. "Forget the divorce," she said. "I've fallen in love with my husband all over again."

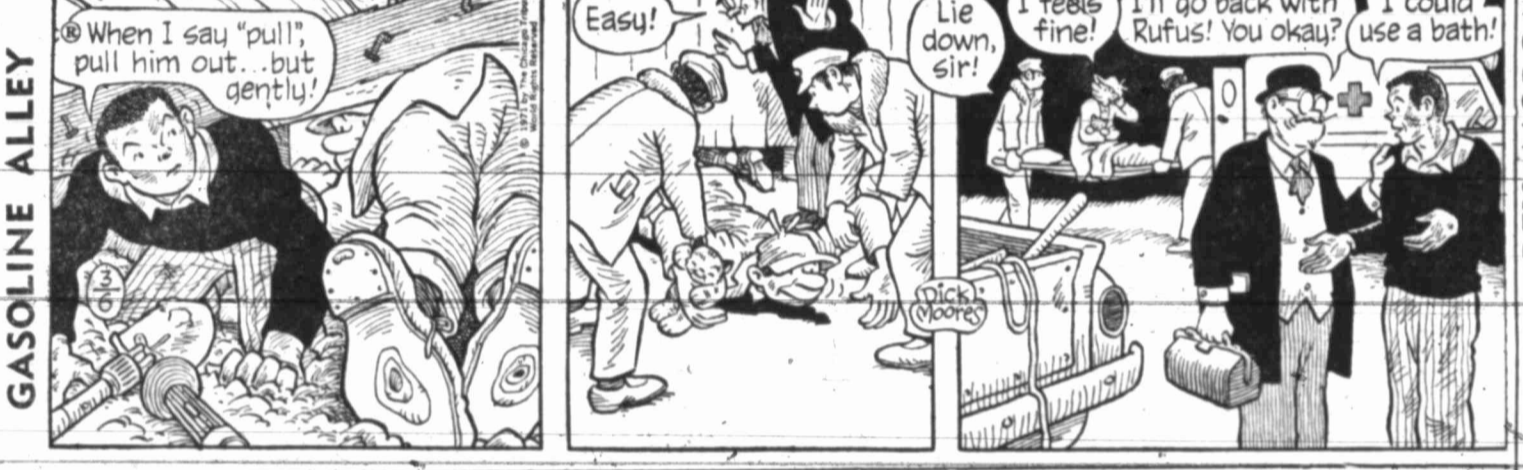

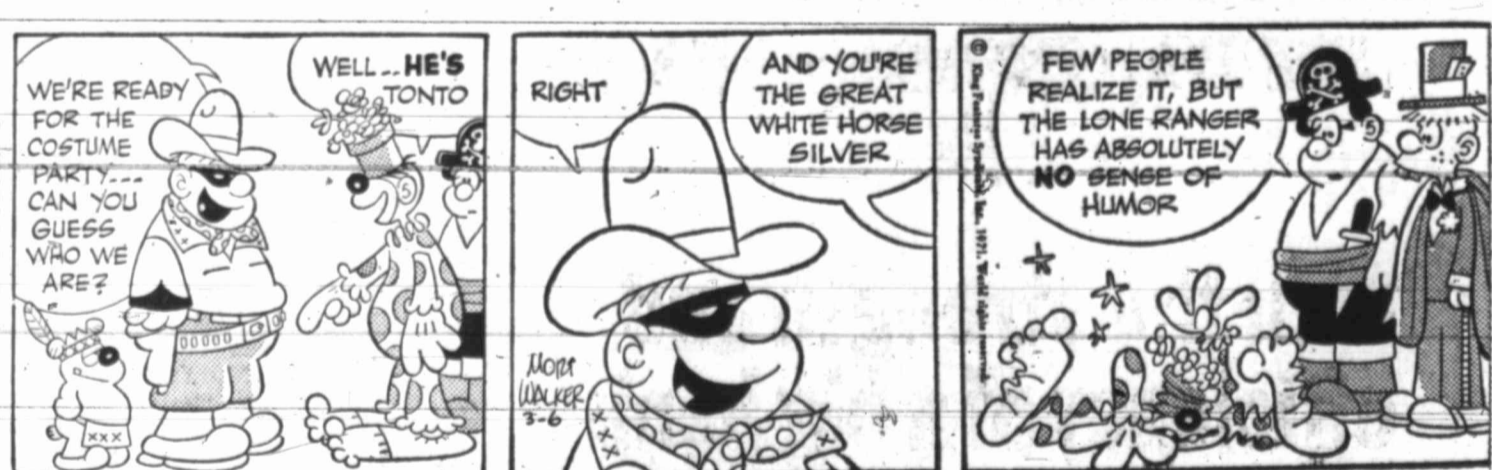

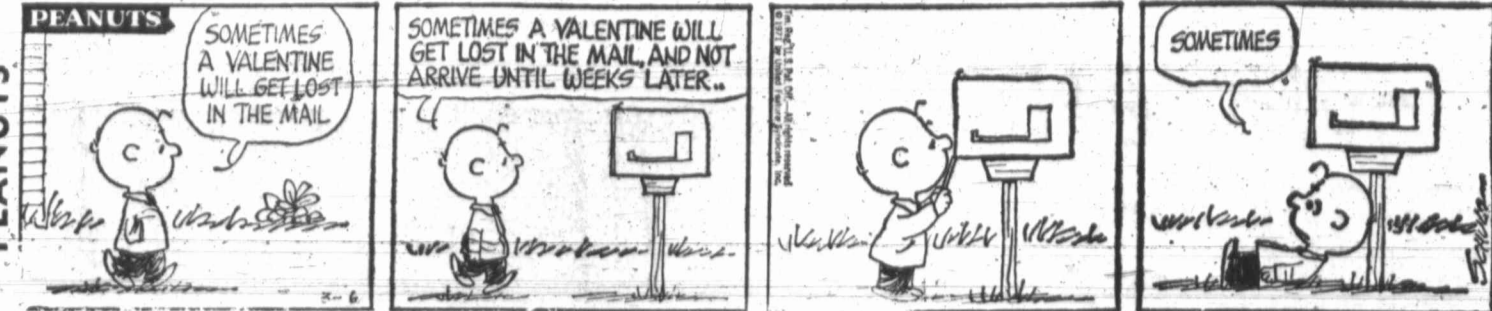

Any wife who is having trouble with her marriage should try the above experiment. It works.

BEEN THERE: DEAR BEEN: It should work for husbands, too?

DEAR ABBY: Where do you draw the line between a "dirty old man" and a dirty young one?

E.W., SEATTLE: DEAR E.W.: A man over 70 with a dirty mind is a dirty old man.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Baby's Asthma

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I just found out that my three-month-old daughter has asthmatic bronchitis and I hope you can give me some information.

Is there a chance she'll outgrow it? Can living in a basement flat worsen the condition? Is it hereditary? —Mrs. R.M.

Asthma denotes a congestion and swelling of the airways; bronchitis signifies infection of some sort. Both cause wheezing and difficulty in breathing.

Asthma in early childhood is usually related to food sensitivity (allergy). However, infection also can have a similar result — the common cold being, of course, a frequent type of infection. Presence of the infection can set off the same wheezing type of reaction that a food allergy can.

If the asthma is due to infection, then the trouble subsides as the infection is brought under control.

Could both be involved — bouts of infection and also allergy? Indeed, yes, it's possible, but not necessarily so. There are children who react asthmatically to infection but do not happen to be allergic to foods, pollens, dust, or other things. Nor is it easy to find out quickly, but as time passes the things that really cause the asthma usually become apparent. Also, their resistance to colds improves with age.

Is there a chance she'll outgrow this trouble? Yes, there is, because children do tend to outgrow some of these allergies. You can't count on its happening, but it may.

Living in a basement apartment might or might not be a factor. Dampness can lead to the presence of mold of one type or another. If the youngster happens to be allergic to these molds, then it can have a bearing on the asthma. But if an apartment is dry and has good ventilation, there is no reason for it to interfere with health merely because it is in a basement.

As to heredity, a tendency to allergies certainly can be inherited, but that is not the same as saying that asthmatic bronchitis can be — because it isn't.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: It bothers me, the things my 10-year-old granddaughter eat. Although she gets fairly well-balanced meals, she goes wild with spicy food, barbecued ribs and chicken, pizza, mustard and pickles. She lets her dip gobs of catsup with a French fry and lick it off. I feel like a witch complaining, but I always thought so much spices was bad. —Mrs. E. L.

Well, I guess you'd do best to stop complaining. I agree that it's better to bring up youngsters so they aren't spicier because they may have trouble later in life if, for example, they have to give up spicy foods because of ulcers, gastritis, or something.

But there's also always the chance that your granddaughter has a rugged stomach that won't be bothered. Youngsters usually learn eating patterns from the parents. With all that spicy food around, what about your daughter's or son-in-law's tastes?

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Movie Effects Create Cyclone

It first began as a heavy wind kicking up dust, weeds and dried out alfalfa. Then, as it gained momentum, the twister sucked up parts of the roofs of a ranch house and barn. Its force, estimated to be close to a hundred miles an hour, knocked over fences and wagons and hurled around just about everything in sight, including actors Steve Forrest, Vera Miles, Ronny and Clint Howard, who were working in the area.

Long time residents of Jackson Hole have experienced strong, high winds in these parts but no one could recall a cyclone quite like the one that was created for Walt Disney Productions' western dventure, "The Wild Country."

The motion picture script called for a twister to plague a pioneer family of the 1880's and a whirl of a one was delivered. It was manufactured by seven towering wind machines imported from the Disney studio in Burbank, assisted by three snowplanes from the town of Jackson. Together they stirred up dark clouds of dust that were visible some thirty miles away.

All the ingenuity of Hollywood was mustered to create this epic scene for the exciting dramatic frontier feature. Complete with protective face masks and goggles the crew, on a white flag waving signal from director Robert Totten, would open up their machines, strategically placed around the shooting site.

To the site of the spinning blades workers hurled shovels of fine dust and sections of balsa wood to emphasize the force of the cyclone and the havoc done to the ranch buildings. And by means of turning on a simple bare light bulb strung to a pole in view of the company's special effects men, the cue could be given to strip the panels attached to wire cables from the roofs of the house and barn.

A stickler for detail and especially authenticity, director Totten had the highly complex roof blowing scenes shot three times. In each instance the panels had to be reloaded, replaced and readjusted for the intricate takes.

It was a cyclone the likes of which has never been seen in these parts—and would never be seen again, except of course in Disney's "The Wild Country."

'I Love My Wife' Is Mod, Satirical Comedy

Elliott Gould, who rocketed to stardom in "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" and "M*A*S*H," comes Wednesday to the Cinema Theatre in "I Love My Wife," an irreverent, yet uncomfortably real, satirical comedy which probes the institutions of marriage and sex as they apply to the new morality of today's society. Brenda Vaccaro and Angel Tompkins co-star.

For Gould, this is his sixth feature motion picture in less than three years since he made his debut in "The Night They Raided Minsky's." In his second feature, "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice," in which he played, Ted, he was nominated for an Academy Award as best supporting actor. In addition to those already mentioned, he has starred in "Getting Straight" and "Move."

ELLIOTT GOULD
Brenda Vaccaro
A native of Brooklyn, 6'3" and 209 pounds, Gould claims he was "sort of raised on the stage." When the youngsters in his neighborhood were playing baseball, he was busy taking dancing lessons and performing at lodges, temples, weddings and bar mitzvahs. Eventually he studied with Lee Strasberg and observed classes at the Actor's Studio — and everywhere else he could.

It paid off. His talents as a singer and dancer were prominently displayed when he co-starred with Carol Burnett in a television special, "Once Upon A Mattress." This led to the starring role in a Broadway musical, "Drat The Cat," for which he won critical acclaim, even though the show lasted only a week. He followed this with a number of stage appearances in plays such as "On The Town," "Little Murders" and "Luv" in the touring company with Shelley Winters. His performance in the latter was brought to the attention to casting directors, and the Hollywood assignment for "Minsky's" was the result.

THE ARTS

Theater Holds Over 'Fiddler'

Two final hold-over performances for the hit musical, "Fiddler on the Roof," have been announced for Thursday and Friday by Midland Community Theater officials.

"Fiddler" has enjoyed a long run, playing to over 7,900 West Texans in the area. Due to this success another special student performance will be offered on Thursday night at $1.50 per student ticket.

"Fiddler" will close Friday, and the next production, "Any Wednesday," will open the following Friday, March 19.

"Any Wednesday," an adult comedy by Muriel Resnik, regaled New York audiences with a two and a half year run to become one of the most popular Broadway comedies of the 1960s, is the next play.

It is the sprightly tale of a business tycoon and the young lady he visits every Wednesday at an apartment he has listed in his company's ledgers as an executive suite, and therefore, tax-deductible.

Box office for "Any Wednesday" opens March 15 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Season memberships are still available.

"1776," the Broadway hit musical about the events leading up to the signing of the Declaration of Independence, will be brought to Municipal Auditorium in Lubbock for one performance only, at 8:15 p.m., March 15.

Tickets go on sale to the general public, beginning Monday at the University Center of Texas Tech, or they may be purchased by mail from The Office of Cultural Events at Tech. Admissions are priced at $3 for the general public and $1.50 for non-Tech students. No seats are reserved.

The only musical ever to be presented in its entirety at the White House (it was performed in celebration of Washington's Birthday in 1970), "1776" won the Tony Award and the New York Drama Critics Circle Award as the best musical of the season.

Versatile English Actor Cast As Famed Detective

Robert Stephens, considered by many to be England's finest and most versatile stage actor, is coming into his own in motion pictures, playing the great detective in "The Private Life of Sherlock Holmes." The picture opens today at the Ritz Theatre.

Stephens, who recently starred in "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," with his wife, Maggie Smith, also starred, considers Holmes one of the plum roles of his career. "I first read the Conan Doyle stories as a boy. Holmes was — and it — a marvelous character, one of the best in all fiction. People still think he exists."

Sherlock Holmes experts will find that Stephens really looks the part. He stands six feet, one inch tall, is slender, but strongly built, has a prominent nose, a firm mouth and a determined chin. All these are in keeping with the drawings of the famed private consulting detective, which have come to us through the years.

Holmes is presented by Stephens with a light, deft touch. He is self confident, and slightly impatient at times, occasionally mocking his friend and chronicler, Dr. Watson, who is played in the motion picture by Colin Blakely.

Stephens has had an extensive career on the British stage. He spent six years in repertory and then went to London, where he appeared with Laurence Olivier, Margaret Leighton and other British actors. He made his film debut in 1960 in "Circle of Deception," which was followed by "The Inspector," "A Taste of Honey" and "Cleopatra."

The Norman Luboff Choir will perform for the Hardin Simmons University Artist Series Thursday April 1 at 8:15 p.m.

Prices for the performance tickets range from $4 to $2.50. Reservations may be made by contacting Dr. W. O. Beazley's office, 677-7281, ext. 213, or Dorsett's Melody Shop, South 14th and Barrow, Abilene, 673-4506.

The Norman Luboff Choir was established during Norman Luboff's stay in Hollywood where he composed and arranged music for more than 80 moving pictures including "Giant," "Island in the Sun" and "The Miracle." The choir gained their first recognition through recordings.

They began live concert tours in the fall of 1963. Since then they have averaged more than 100 performances per concert season.

Last year, the Big Spring Concert Association brought the Norman Luboff Choir to local audiences.

Instruction in the arts of electroforming and lost wax casting will be offered at Texas Tech University's Jewelry Workshop Friday and Saturday by the university's department of art.

Eleanor Moty, instructor of jewelry and silversmithing at Moore College of Art, Philadelphia, will explain and demonstrate the relatively new process of electroforming.

A rising young artist, Miss Moty's jewelry entries were accepted for the 1970 Goldsmith Show in St. Paul, where she was awarded a purchase prize. She was among U. S. artists participating in the 1970 International Inventional Jewelry Exhibition in Munich, Germany.

The workshop will be open to all persons interested in jewelry making. Registration fees are $12 for those who register from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. on the opening day of the workshop.

LOOK AT BOOKS Mind-Expanding Technique Needed

THE SHAPE OF MINDS TO COME. By John G. Taylor. Weybright and Talley. $6.95.

Taylor is discussing in this book what he calls the mental revolution, as distinguished from the mechanical revolution which has had so much effect on man's life in the last 300 years. His main point is that the revolution of the mind must be speeded up quickly before civilization destroys itself.

His procedure is to comb through hundreds of research reports. His background is that of a physicist, but he discusses a great many medical, surgical, physiological and psychological matters.

There are chapters on the prospect of extending man's intelligence and memory, for expanding the consciousness, for controlling emotions. Others are on sleep, drugs and such paranoiacal psychic phenomena as telepathy and clairvoyance.

One of Taylor's principal themes is that consciousness seems to be dependent upon electrical and chemical processes within the brain. That leads him to the proposition that there may be no such thing as free will, one of the keystones to moral, political and religious institutions of the past and present.

Taylor presents some awe-inspiring possibilities for the improvement of the human mind in the next few decades, but these possibilities also involve some frightening problems. Some readers may question part of the author's vision of the future, but there is no doubt that he has written a provocative book.

Helmke said the children felt the POWs could be their brothers or fathers so decided to eat for lunch what they imagine the prisoners are served.
