South Viets Beginning Final Thrust Into Laos

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces began Saturday what their officers called the third and final phase of the campaign in Laos, a push along a major branch of the Ho Chi Minh trail southeast of Sepone.

Field reports said the government units ran into only light resistance in the initial stages of their move along Highway 914 from positions near Sepone, 25 miles inside Laos, to areas to the south and east nearer the Vietnamese border.

Field officers said the main portion of the Laos operation will end in about two weeks, although troops will be kept in border areas for quick strikes at enemy supply movements or force buildups.

BEGIN FINAL PHASE — South Vietnamese forces Saturday were reported pushing along Highway 914 (C) in what they described as the third, and final phase of their campaign in Laos. Field officers, explaining the campaign, said that Muong Nong at (A) was the first objective of the incursion and identified Sepone at (B) as the second.

troops in the vicinity of Sepone, but added there had been some tactical movement of troops.

Sepone was a main enemy transshipment point on the Ho Chi Minh trail. It was taken by government troops a week ago in their farthest push west.

Brig. Gen. Pham Van Phu, commander of the 1st Infantry Division, told reporters his forces had destroyed a large part of the enemy's major logistical unit in the Laos panhandle.

Phu identified it as the 559th logistics command, a 25,000-man force responsible for operating the supply network in southern Laos.

He said his division had been in contact with four of the eight elements that make up the command and "we have destroyed them 50 to 80 per cent." The logistics command had been in operation 10 years.

The division commander also emphasized the importance of the mobile tactics that South Vietnamese forces have been employing since the bitter hill fighting early in the Laos operation with the North Vietnamese.

"We are following them and destroying them," he declared. "Because of our mobility, they don't know what we are going to do. We have hurt them bad."

Col. Vu Gan Gia, the assistant commander of the division, said he did not expect any more mass attacks by the North Vietnamese in Laos.

It appeared obvious that the South Vietnamese considered they had accomplished much of their objective of disrupting enemy supply lines and destroying or capturing dumps of munitions and food.

They were taking no chances on getting cut off deep in Laos away from their own lines of supply and without U.S. air support in the approaching rainy season.

Field officers at the forward command post of Ham Nghi told correspondents that present plans call for South Vietnamese forces to pull back near the border by the end of this month. They said rain and fog that will move in after that period will make air support difficult if not impossible.

One high officer said the operation in Laos will evolve along lines similar to earlier South Vietnamese thrusts into Cambodia.

"We will move back and forth into Laos like we have been doing in Cambodia," he said, "but we'll stay close to the border."

Officers in the north said one regiment of South Vietnam's 1st Infantry Division had pulled back from Fire Base Sophia, 24 miles inside Laos and three miles southeast of Sepone.

Enemy gunners were said to have had Sophia zeroed in, and a 300-round rocket and mortar attack Thursday knocked out several of the South Vietnamese unit's heavy weapons.

The infantrymen spiked six damaged artillery pieces before they walked out of the base to areas more than a mile away, where they were picked up by helicopters.

South Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon said there still are 2,000-2,500 government

Soviet Drawback Is Significant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said Saturday he has been advised that Soviet troops have withdrawn from surface-to-air missile sites along the Suez Canal, leaving advisers behind but Egyptian forces in charge.

The Montana Democrat termed this a significant development that could indicate a Soviet drawback in the Middle East.

At the same time, Mansfield said he has serious reservations about the use of American troops as part of any future Middle East peacekeeping force.

"I have grave doubts about becoming involved physically with U.S. troops in that area," Mansfield told newsmen.

The State Department has said the United States is prepared to participate in a multinational peacekeeping force if Israel and Egypt request that as part of a Middle East settlement.

The Soviet Union also is reported prepared to join in such an arrangement.

Mansfield said he would prefer that a peacekeeping force be composed of troops from smaller, uncommitted nations. He said it should be arranged through the United Nations, with the United States helping to finance it.

Furthermore, he said, any peacekeeping force assigned to the Middle East should be of "sufficient numbers to make its presence felt."

Secretary of State William P. Rogers briefed the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Friday on the Middle East situation, and Mansfield termed his report encouraging.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the chairman, said the critical question now is that of Israel withdrawal from territory conquered in the June 1967 war.

Absentee Voting Begins Monday

Absentee voting for the Big Spring Independent School District and the county trustee elections begins Monday in the county clerk's office. The absentee period ends March 30.

Only those persons who registered during the first voter registration period that ended Jan. 31 are eligible to vote absentee. All persons with valid 1971 voter registrations are eligible to vote in the regular elections to be held April 3 at the Big Spring High School.

Reviewing the ... Big Spring Week ... with Joe Pickle

For the second consecutive week our community was rocked with another tragedy, this one a murder and apparent suicide. Jimmie (Tiny) Ellison, deputy sheriff, was gunned down Wednesday morning as he approached his trailer home on the Moss Creek Road. That afternoon officers found the body of Gilbert Martinez, whom they had been seeking on a charge of murdering the deputy.

Nor were we alone in this heavy toll of violence. A week ago this morning a group of young people were overturned in the car which they were riding on SH 349 south of Lamesa. Steven Solis, 13, and Tony Barbosa, 10, were killed. In our town Wednesday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Wormser escaped when their car was crushed in a collision with a fire truck.

Contractors on the pipeline for Coastal States Producing Co. moved in with crews during the past week, with approximately 300 men pushing for completion of the last 40-mile section of a pipeline. The job is due to be completed around (See THE WEEK, Page 2-A, Col. 1)

'College Types' Suspected Of Planting Bomb

AUSTIN (AP) — Police and federal agents looked Saturday for two "college type" youths in connection with a crude bomb found Friday night at a dinner attended by former President Lyndon Johnson.

The dinner honored outgoing University of Texas Regents Chairman Frank Erwin Jr., a frequent target of campus dissidents.

The bomb consisted of black gunpowder rolled in a newspaper with wire around it and a fuse attached, said Lt. Roger Roundtree of the Austin police.

Because of Johnson's presence, the U.S. Secret Service is aiding in the investigation. An Austin agent would only say the investigation is on. Johnson praised Erwin in a speech.

Gov. Preston Smith, Lt. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Gus Mutscher also attended.

The fuse had burned, but bomb did not go off, Roundtree said. The dud was found about 8:30 p.m. in an air intake duct on the outside of the building which led to the auditorium's transformer room.

None of the estimated 1,400 people at the black tie affair left. Few knew of the abortive bomb.

"It appears to me to have been created to attract attention and not actually hurt anybody," Roundtree said.

Erwin has been unpopular with some of the 30,000 students at Austin. About 100 self-appointed protesters gathered outside during the dinner for Erwin who stepped down as chairman Friday. He remains on the board. Five were arrested.

In Today's Herald Losing Support

Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher's carefully built support for an unprecedented third term is showing signs of crumbling within the ranks due to Mutscher's alleged involvement with recent stock manipulations. See Page 4-A.

Only Phone Company In Town ... But Inflation Still Pinching

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO Communications Workers Union, whose chief has already hinted at a 25 per cent wage-hike demand, begins Monday setting bargaining goals and possible strike targets for nearly 500,000 telephone workers.

"A 25 per cent increase in wages right now could be justified," said union President Joseph A. Beirne in calling a two-day meeting of the union's bargaining council for the Bell Telephone System.

Telephone contracts across the nation begin running out next month in one of the nation's biggest labor-management confrontations this year.

"The Communications Workers of America will bargain for a wage and benefit increase that will make the largest package we've ever won before look like small potatoes," Beirne said in a statement.

In its latest battle with the Bell System in 1968, the union won a three-year wage-and-benefit package totaling an estimated 19.5 per cent, largest in the industry's history, after an 18-day strike that was the first nationwide phone walkout in 21 years.

But the telephone workers, like the rest of the nation, have lost more than 16 per cent of their buying power since then in the worst three years of inflation in decades. The nation's major wage hikes last year averaged 10 per cent.

Telephone wages range from a little over $100 a week for women operators and clerks, the bulk of the workers, to $167 average a week for switchmen.

"Inflation brought on by President Nixon's economic policies and the threat of a wage freeze have put workers in this country in an ugly mood," Beirne said.

"They face real economic hardships."

Bell contracts begin expiring April 30 in the District of Columbia, Maryland, West Virginia, Indiana, New Jersey, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Nevada, Wisconsin and the bulk of

TURKISH SENATE PRESIDENT ASKS VOTE Ballot Call Defies Military

ANKARA (AP) — The president of the Turkish Senate, a former air force commander, defied the country's military leaders Saturday by calling for a national referendum to determine "real public opinion."

Senate Chairman Tekin Arıburun denied that the Senate was responsible for the nation's problems and was cheered loudly by Justice party senators. Opposition senators shouted disagreement. Arıburun closed the Senate session after 11 minutes. The military ousted Premier Suleyman Demirel's Justice party government on Friday.

Turkey's four top commanders had blamed the government and the Parliament for leading the country into anarchy and failing to pass headed reforms.

Demirel's was retired by the revolutionary officers.

After power was returned to the civilians he was elected senator of the conservative Justice party, considered the political heir to the Democratic party.

In another development, President Cevdet Sunay, starting consultations to form a new government, met with the four commanders who delivered the ultimatum to Demirel: Gen. Memduh Tagmac, chief of the general staff; the army commander, Gen. Faruk Gurler; the air force commander, Gen. Muhsin Batur, and the navy commander, Adm. Celal Eylceoglu. The president is meeting political party leaders Sunday.

Halil Tunc, secretary-general of Turkey's largest labor federation, said what the commanders called for in their communique "is what the whole nation wants."

A joint statement by a coalition of intellectual groups representing teachers, students, lawyers and engineers said: "All reformist measures to realize the basic needs of the nation will be supported."

The main opposition Republican Peoples party, which follows a moderate, leftist line, sent a circular to its officials urging party members to avoid participating in any demonstrations.

"Our desire is to have problems solved within the democratic framework," the circular said.

Satellite Bears Own Computer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Explorer 43, the first U.S. scientific satellite to carry its own computer, rocketed into orbit Saturday to help man learn more about his solar system.

The 635-pound flying physics laboratory, heaviest yet in the Explorer series, soared away from Cape Kennedy atop a three-stage Delta rocket which fired it into a great looping path ranging from about 145 to 121,000 miles from earth.

As it whirls through this elongated orbit, reaching halfway to the moon, the satellite is to radio data from 12 scientific experiments reporting on such things as solar and galactic cosmic rays, the solar wind, radio astronomy and electric and magnetic fields in space.

"This is a fairly complete remote-laboratory that will give us a good scientific picture of what goes on out there," explained Dr. Frank B. McDonald, project scientist from NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center.

"Earlier satellites in the series discovered many things about earth's magnetosphere and the interplanetary regime," he said. "We have learned for example that the solar wind interacts with the earth. Now we want to find out how and why. Because there is this interaction which affects conditions on earth, man should know how the solar wind operates."

The solar wind consists of massive clouds of radiation spewed into space from the sun. They influence weather and sometimes interrupt communications.

The computers will be used in tests with four of the scientific experiments, providing sequencing operations, selecting sensor ranges, storing data and performing data handling and processing tasks.

'CHECKING OUT THE OLD GEAR' Coopers looking forward for times to come

Coopers Looking Forward To Active Retirement Days

By BRIAN PEAY

Traveling, fishing and visiting family are the Coopers' plans for the near future, "but Big Spring is our home and we plan to work from here and never get too far away for a long spell," said Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cooper.

Big Spring has been their home for 29 years, according to Marvin and his wife, Lula. Marvin, 69, has worked for Nalley-Pickle Funeral home for the majority of those years and Lula has spent 28 of those years with Montgomery Ward and Co. The Coopers recently retired from both jobs.

"Lots of people have asked us what we are going to do, now that we aren't working, but we'll find plenty to do and we have plenty to look forward to," said Lula. One of the things she plans to do is go to the Astrodome in Houston frequently, due to the fact she is an avid baseball fan.

On the other hand, a large portion of the time will be spent at the 'old fishing holes,' according to Marvin, who is an avid fisherman as his wife is a baseball fan.

"We have time now to do what we want and not have to worry about being rushed to get back to town to go to work the next day," said Mrs. Cooper, as she explained that one main thing they would do is visit their family.

Marvin also spends much of his time collecting old relics and ball-point pens from all over the world. His collection includes over 5,000 pens from many different places with which he plans to cover the walls of his basement. "I feel sorry for people that don't have some kind of hobby to keep them busy and my hobby is mainly due to my not throwing anything away," said Cooper.

For the past 16 years the Coopers have lived at 1418 Stadium Drive, where they reared two children, John, now 45, and Charles, now 41. Their sons live in Midland and Odessa, respectively, and the Coopers have four grand-children. John and Charles were graduated from Big Spring High School.

Marvin and Lula were born in Hill County and were married Dec. 24, 1925. The couple lived in Hillsboro for 10 years prior to moving to Tahoka for four years, Lubbock for one, and then to Big Spring.

Marvin says by no means has he severed his ties with the funeral home, but will continue to work funerals at various times.

The two young 'oldsters' explained that even though there are many that do not look forward to retirement, that is not the case with themselves. "We've got too many things to look forward to and now we have the time to do some of them," said the Coopers.

Mediterranean Exporters Threaten 'Retaliation'

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) Libya said Saturday night the Western oil companies have rejected its demands of a price hike and threatened "joint retaliation" by Mediterranean exporting nations.

The official Libyan news agency published this report a few hours before the scheduled midnight deadline of a Libyan government ultimatum for the companies to come to terms amicably.

It said the oil ministers of Libya, Algeria, Saudi Arabia and Iraq will decide upon "joint retaliation" in view of the companies' rejection of the just Libyan demands at an emergency conference in Tripoli within 24 hours.

"The total collapse of the talks is now imminent," the agency said, making no reference to previous threats of an oil shutdown, however.

It said Algerian oil minister, Abdul Salam Baled and Iraqi oil minister, Dr. Sadoun Hamadeh already were in the Libyan capital for the conference.

Congressman Says Many Will Not Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., said Saturday he wouldn't be surprised if hundreds of wealthy persons pay no 1970 income tax despite provisions of the 1969 tax law designed to close loopholes.

The 1969 law became effective for 1970 tax purposes but did not close what Reuss called the biggest loophole. That, he explained, is a minor provision intended to reduce the number of wealthy individuals who pay no tax.

"However," he said in a statement, "The minimum tax is itself filled with loopholes the biggest of which is failure to include interest on state and local bonds among tax preferences subjected to the minimum tax" of 10 per cent.

The House version of the 1969 tax revision act provided for taxation of some of the interest income, but the provision was dropped from the final bill.

In 1969, Reuss said, 391 persons with incomes in excess of $200,000 paid no tax, compared with 222 in 1968.

Reuss said disclosure two years ago that many wealthy persons escaped income tax payment generated threats of a citizens' tax revolt unless Congress reformed the tax structure.

He accused Secretary of the Treasury John B. Conally of defending tax avoiders and opposing further tax reforms.

Tax changes being worked up by the Treasury Department, Reuss claimed, "would mean higher taxes for the average taxpayer and more loopholes for the few."

Youth Horsemen Win Third Place

The Howard County Youth Horsemen Club attended the San Angelo Fat Stock Show and Rodeo and brought home a third-place trophy for competition in group riding in the parade, held Friday.

A total of 21 youths from Howard County rode in the parade, including the two queens from Howard, Kim Smith, junior queen, and Wanda Sandridge, senior queen.

The group was also accompanied by their senior president Burford Hull. The next parade the club will ride in will be on April 10 at Sweetwater.

Choir Member

Steve Pyles of Big Spring is a member of the East Texas State University Choral, which is to be presented in spring concert March 15, at the University.

The group, a select group of ETSU music majors chosen by audition, will be under the direction of Charles Nelson.

THE WEEK

April 15, and until then the group will work out of here.

Big Spring property owners received good news during the week — a 10 per cent credit on fire insurance premiums. This is five per cent more than for the previous year, and it ought to remind us that fire prevention pays off for all.

Howard County commissioners last week took up the matter of participation in the Council of Governments for this area, but put it down again. Members of the court said they didn't understand it fully and, in addition, couldn't figure where it would benefit the county.

School trustees also let a matter drop; namely a proposed air conditioning survey of the system's facilities which presently are not air conditioned. The survey would have cost around $2,500 to $3,000. No reason was assigned, but the board may have reasoned that a survey is of little value without funds to follow up on it. Yet, as an alternative, there might have been a prayer for a cool spring.

Speaking of spring — that welcome season made great progress toward an appearance the latter part of the week. Two relatively calm, balmy days saw apricots and plums breaking into bloom like popcorn. At that, the blooming season is a little later than normal — and our dry weather may have something to do with that.

We about broke even on oil explorations in the area. Texaco No. 1 J. G. Carter completed as a Wolfcamp discovery nine miles north of Garden City, and initial reports indicated a daily potential of 295 barrels. Three miles east of Big Spring, Lario No. 1 Derrick, however, became a cropper below 9,500 feet. Apparently there were no shows at any level.

Archie Myers, the freshman sharpshooter for Howard County Junior College, left a mark for himself and his successors to shoot at, Archie piled up 918 points in the season. Too bad he didn't get to the nationals (the Hawks missed by a scant two points in an overtime) and have a shot of two or three games to make it a thousand.

Our Linda Cross went to interview Robert Merrill, celebrated baritone, when he arrived here last Monday, only to find that he didn't grant interviews. But since she was there, he not only graciously yielded to the interview, but seemed to regret when it was over.

Gradually the loose ends are being gathered in for a trial connection with the slaying of Steve Currie, prominent Glasscock County rancher last Dec. 1. Judy Dunham, one of the suspects, was returned to Garden City from California, where she was apprehended.

The kids in the white hats had the upper hand last week. There were 80 nominees for the Zales-Herald annual Youth Achievement award banquet, Saturday. Cubs, Scouts and Explorers staged one of their biggest and most successful Expositions in the Highland Mall.

Forced Retirement Asked For State, Federal Judges

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)— Texas Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert called Saturday for the compulsory retirement of all elderly state and federal judges. "They grow tired and out of touch," the 66-year-old judge told a national judiciary conference considering reforms in the nation's court system. Calvert said, "The federal judiciary is one of the last bastions for the employment of the aged," with about 50, or 10 percent, of all federal judges beyond 70. Calvert recommended no specific cutoff age and told the gathering that included many judges of advancing years that he didn't really expect them to jump to his support. But 22 states now require their judges to retire at 70 and an additional eighteen tend to force retirement with various devices, such as reducing pensions for judges who do not get off the bench. The thrust of Calvert's speech was that federal judges, who now serve for life, also should be subject to forced retirement. This would require an amendment to the U.S. Constitution, but Calvert said if Congress approved the proposal the states would quickly endorse it. He said business organizations and universities have long since adopted compulsory retirement. "There's no sound reason for believing judges are a master race of people," he said. Calvert, in his low-key, good-natured talk said he made the recommendation "with the utmost respect for the many fine federal judges of my acquaintance."

The Texas judge said there seemed to be four main reasons for federal judges' reluctance to retire. First, he said, they have not developed an interest outside the law to occupy their retirement years; second, some have a "secret feeling they are indispensable" and, third, they often want to cling to the social standing their office commands. Fourth, he said, "the judge isn't wanted at home by his wife."

Fire Damages Fine Arts Center

WASHINGTON (AP)—An early morning fire today heavily damaged the $1.9 million Filene Center for the Performing Arts under construction in nearby Virginia. The massive wooden structure, owned by the U.S. Park Service, was about one month from completion. The cause was not determined immediately.

Lt. Calley Plans Self Re-Evaluation

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Lt. William L. Calley Jr., whose exhaustive trial nears its end, plans if acquitted "to take time out to re-evaluate myself."

If he gains his freedom, said Calley, who faces life imprisonment or death if convicted in the alleged massacre at My Lai, he plans to return to college.

"I hope to go to Florida State or the University of Florida," said the reddish-blond lieutenant, who, before joining the Army, attended West Palm Beach College briefly before dropping out.

First, however, he said, "I'm going to tread water for about a year, to find out what's going on in the world again—and to find my place in it."

His case will reach the jury almost three years to the day he is alleged to have killed 102 Vietnamese villagers, March 16, 1968.

Calley, a small, sturdy man, is series of articles in which he has collaborated with a writer for Esquire magazine. The magazine fee, reportedly $75,000, is helping pay for his defense.

Calley, a small, sturdy man, is in public as in the courtroom every inch a soldier. He carries his 5-foot-3 frame erect. His shoes are shined. His right arm snaps back every GI salute.

Although he still sits calmly in the small, paneled Army courtroom as he has since November, his face is beginning to show the strain of the lengthy ordeal.

Last week, he heard his former commanding officer, Capt. Ernest Medina, deny he had ever given an order to kill civilians and says he had given specific instructions to spare women and children at My Lai.

When Calley was on the witness stand himself, earlier he had testified that it was Medina who briefed Charlie Company on the night before the My Lai assault with the orders to kill every living thing in the village.

When the trial ends for the day Calley sometimes bounces down the steps of the courthouse — which photographers have dubbed "Calley Hall" — to his red foreign car in a nearby parking lot. He occasionally exchanges pleasantries with photographers.

County Dads' Agenda Brief

Howard County Commissioners have set a brief, three-item agenda for Monday when they meet in commissioners court at 9 a.m.

On the agenda is a discussion on sick leave policy for the road and bridge department employees. Commissioner Jack Buchanan and D. A. Brazel are to present a list of policy suggestions to the court for consideration.

Radio equipment for the road and bridge department is to be discussed. The county already owns four mobile units, two of which are to be installed in road and bridge administrator Hollis Randall's car and in road superintendent J. D. Nixon's car. A base unit for the county barn will have to be purchased, and also new crystals for the radio units. County Judge A. G. Mitchell has estimated the cost at $600.

Clyde R. McLean, Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, is scheduled to meet with the commissioners at 10 a.m.

Cases Scheduled For County Court

Six cases are scheduled this week for trial in Howard County Court. Trials will get under way at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Vernon Campbell and Juan C. Parris are set for trial Tuesday. Four cases are set for Thursday, beginning at 9 a.m. William Olen Ingram, driving while intoxicated; Walter Bedford Low, driving while intoxicated; Carl J. Riiter, speeding; and Chris Edward Creighton, speeding, are to be tried.

APPEAL PLANNED Ex-Minister Claims Trial Was Illegal

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Wil Schaefer says he will appeal both within the church and in civil courts a decision by a Methodist Church court to strip him of his credentials as a minister.

The 13-minister jury found him guilty Friday of charges of immorality, disobedience of church law and unministerial conduct. Just what action Schaefer could take within the church structure was not clear.

Bishop Kenneth Pope, who presided at the church trial, said Schaefer has no right to appeal the conviction because "he has not fulfilled the requirements of himself or of his counsel being present at the trial." The deposed minister asserted, "That's only their opinion." As for a possible civil case he said he is discussing this with attorneys.

Schaefer, 35, and married, was removed as pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Laredo in January for refusing to end his relationship with Mrs. Judy Nash, 27, of San Antonio, who has since been divorced.

The church court's action means that he can no longer be a minister but still is a member of the church.

He asserted his two-day church trial was illegal and appeared before its court Thursday only long enough to denounce the trial. On Friday he made a last minute appearance, saying he was willing to testify if certain conditions were met. His proposal was rejected.

Mutscher's Support May Be Crumbling

Stock Manipulation Involvement Reducing Backing

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Gus Mutscher's carefully built support for an unprecedented third term is showing signs of crumbling at the edges.

Several representatives told The Associated Press this week they plan to withdraw their 1973 pledge cards or at least seriously thinking about it.

Mutscher's involvement in a federal stock manipulation case, "lack of leadership" and "one-man dictatorship" were among the reasons given.

"I plan to be a candidate for re-election," Mutscher said in an interview.

HAS PLEDGES

He said he has "over 100" pledges for 1973, with a "good distribution" of rural, urban, veteran, freshmen, liberals and conservative members on the dotted line.

"If I figure I have lost the confidence of my colleagues in the House, I wouldn't have any intention of serving again as speaker," Mutscher added.

He qualified this by saying it would take personal expressions of lack of confidence by "people I consider as friends, not political enemies" to convince him not to run.

Mutscher was unanimously elected speaker in 1969 and on Jan. 12, 1971 — a week before the stock case broke.

VITAL JOB

Although House members — not the voters — elect the speaker, the job is vitally important to all Texans, and has become more so in recent years.

By hand-picking committee chairman, deciding which bills go to which committees, controlling the flow of bills to the floor and assigning members to committees, the speaker wields immense power.

Because Mutscher could pass a death sentence on their bills — or they fear he would — all representatives interviewed asked that their names not be disclosed.

"He's looking over this way. Be sure and interview some others so he won't know I'm the one who told you all this," said one member.

Most House members interviewed — largely from the conservative Democrat group from which Mutscher draws his support — indicated they won't back him in 1973.

There also have been indications the lobby's enthusiasm for Mutscher is waning.

OPENLY WORRIED

One state official said the lobby is openly worried about the speaker's race — "They've even been over here to talk to me."

A lobbyist said Mutscher called him into his office and "not too subtly" informed him he had better drop his support of Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine for speaker if he wanted his legislative program passed.

Price is the only candidate who has announced he would oppose Mutscher in 1973.

A conservative legislator whom Mutscher has favored with choice committee assignments said the speaker's involvement in the stock manipulation suit filed by the Securities and Exchange Commission had put the entire House under a "cloud."

UNDER A CLOUD

"We can't operate under this kind of cloud — it makes everybody appear a crook, makes everybody appear unethical," he said. "It's just a strain on all of us."

Mutscher gave a deposition last year to SEC investigators saying he borrowed large sums in Houston from Sharpstown State Bank, now defunct, in 1969 to speculate in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock. The SEC alleged such deals were arranged for state officials as a means of getting two bank deposit insurance bills passed in 1969. The bills would have exempted participating banks from Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. regulation. Mutscher denied the stock deals had anything to do with the bills.

Mutscher said he profited from some of his stock, but was left some $200,000 in debt when the price of the stock — pledged as collateral — tumbled.

The speaker said the only "cloud over the Capitol is a cloud that is being promoted by the resolution crowd," meaning a small group of representatives who have sponsored resolutions to investigate the SEC allegations.

"Mutscher's through," said one member, who says he plans to repudiate his pledge to support Mutscher in 1973.

"He's going to sink everybody who is in a contested election who is pledged to him. That is going to be one of the big issues in the next legislative election," he said.

The representative said it was "dangerous to have a guy so deeply in debt in a position of authority. You have a guy who is just too vulnerable to public suspicion. Seventy-five per cent of the legislation we pass relates to money and affects people financially."

I LIKE HIM

"I still like him. I feel sorry for him. I'd like to help him. But in that high position, controlling the public business, he is just too vulnerable. He doesn't belong there."

Representatives who were interviewed criticized Mutscher's leadership tactics as often as they did his involvement in the SEC case.

"It's getting farther and farther into a one-man dictatorship — of 'Here's what you are going to do and here is what you are not going to do,'" said one conservative Democrat and past supporter of Mutscher.

"People don't understand that the man has life or death over everything," said a House veteran who has held important positions. "The leadership is exerting stronger influence than I have ever seen."

But another said he has "never seen a speaker like Gus for letting a member do what he wanted to do. He has never demanded that I vote in any particular way. He is a members' speaker."

Several members said Rep. W. S. Healy of Paducah, Appropriations Committee chairman and one of Mutscher's top advisers and allies, was starting to boost Rep. Jim Slider of Naples for speaker in case Mutscher decides not to run again.

"If he don't run, we'll cross that bridge when we get to it," Slider said. He said he had "been asked by some of the members of the House" to run if Mutscher steps down.

NO EFFECT

Slider, chairman of the potent House State Affairs Committee said he did not think the SEC case would have any effect on Mutscher's candidacy.

One member says Healy has always put his immense power behind speaker candidates who would guarantee his re-appointment to appropriations.

Price says he tells any member who asks that he would not re-appoint Healy.

"I am not going to vote for anybody for speaker who would put Healy back as appropriations chairman," a member said.

OTHER CANDIDATES

Other lawmakers who are potential candidates include Reps. Jack Ogg of Houston, a conservative, and Price Daniel Jr. of Liberty, a liberal.

Daniel recalls that Mutscher's friend and mentor, beer lobbyist Homer Leonard, had 100 pledges for a second term as speaker in 1943. But Daniel's father, who later became senator, governor and now state Supreme Court justice, announced his candidacy and defeated Leonard.

"Are you hoping history might repeat itself?" Daniel was asked.

"No," he replied, the story was just meant to show that a big pile of pledge cards two years ahead of time doesn't guarantee victory.

Fingerprinting Bill Is Sought

SUMTER, S. C. (AP) — State Rep. James Cuttino Jr. and his family appeared at the Sumter County jail Friday for fingerprinting a move to support his bill for the fingerprinting of all school children in the state.

Cuttino introduced the bill after his 13-year-old daughter, Margaret, was kidnapped and strangled in December. No arrest has been made.

Cuttino contends that if fingerprints of his daughter had been available, officers might have been materially aided in the case.

Opponents say fingerprinting invades privacy and has overtones of criminality.

With Cuttino were his wife and their surviving children, Pamela, 10, and James, 8.

1,419,677 COUNTED Ratio Of Negroes In Texas Declines

By The Associated Press
The latest population breakdown by the Census Bureau indicates that the ratio of Negroes in Texas is declining slightly in comparison with the total of whites.
However, there has been no large flow of blacks out of the state, the figures indicate. This is in contrast with people-movements in some other areas of the Old South.
The Census Bureau only now is turning out some of the details of the 1970 survey.
Texas had on April 1, 1970, a population of 11,196,730 of which 1,419,677 were black.
This computes to about 12.7 per cent Negro.
SLAVERY ENDS
In 1960, the total of residents was 9,579,677, of whom 1,204,846 were Negroes. This meant about 12.6 per cent were Negro.
The pattern of white-black ratios in the last 90 years shows that in that period there were more Negroes in relation to whites in 1960 than in any other census year.
Twenty years after slavery ended, the 1890 census showed that less than 5 per cent of the Texas residents were Negro, which would indicate that Texas had relatively few slaves or that they got out of the state after they were freed. There is no historical report, however, that any great migration of Negroes took place in the late 1800s.
By 1900, the Negro percentage was up to 5 per cent, and went to 5 1/2 in the 1910s.
There was a leap to a little less than 7 per cent by 1920, and then to a full 7 per cent in 1930 and 1940.

BUT NOT ALL
Another big ratio increase occurred in 1950 when the figure jumped to 8 1/2 per cent. But at no period did the ratio increase as between 1950 and 1960, when the percentage reached 12.6.
The South as a whole, a recent U.S. News and World Report survey shows, lost 1,213,000 non-whites in the last decade as Negroes moved into what seemed to them better conditions elsewhere. However, Texas increased 214,831 in the number of Negroes.
Texas did reflect the nationwide trend of concentration of blacks in the inner cities while the growing suburbs largely grew overwhelmingly white—but not all.
Some examples of cities in the Houston metropolitan area, which has a white-Negro ratio of 9-3, show this suburban picture, with white population listed first followed by black: Bellaire 18,000-10, Deer Park 12,000-1, Pasadena 88,000-45, South Houston 11,000-28 and West University Place 13,000-8.

FOR INSTANCE
But this does not hold for all cities in the Houston metropolitan area. The Baytown figures are 41,631-2,158, while those for Galena Park are 9,057-1,358.
The Dallas-Fort Worth area, with large Negro populations, shows much the same suburban pattern.
For instance, the statistics for some cities are: Arlington 89,000-507, Balch Springs 10,418-8, Duncanville 14,000-2, Farmers Branch 2,000-77, Haltom City 28,000-54, Hurst 27,000-3, Irving 95,000-934, Mesquite 54,000-24, North Richland Hills 16,000-12, Richardson 48,000-24, University Park 23,000-133 and Highland Park 10,000-129.

Chairman of the contest was Mrs. Dale Smith. Judges were Mrs. Guy Cook and Mrs. Smith.

New Fire Chief At Webb AFB

Bill Thomas recently arrived at Webb AFB to take the post as fire chief. Although he is new to Webb, he is not new to the Air Force.
Lackland AFB was his first station; where he went through basic training. Then followed a military career, which continued until last year when he retired.
The new chief brings many years of experience to his new job here. He has served in firefighting posts in Alaska, Nevada, and other locations. His last tour of duty was at Columbus AFB, Miss., where he was deputy fire chief.
Already Chief Thomas has settled in Big Spring with his wife, Adeline, and their four children, Grant, Michael, Keith and Renee. Thomas enjoys working with home built airplanes and gliders. He has just joined the area soaring society.

Bill Of Rights, Responsibilities Urged For Campuses

CHICAGO (AP) — The Carnegie Commission on High Education said Saturday many Americans have failed to distinguish between dissent and disruption on the nation's campuses.

It calls for a bill of rights and responsibilities for all campuses and urged their administrations to maintain constant liaison with police to prevent disorders.

Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California and chairman of the 19-member group that prepared the report, told a news conference that the report was being issued at this time because "many campuses are engaged in drawing up codes, and we are in a period of peace."

But he added, "I don't think anyone can conclude that campus unrest is all over. My view is that there is a higher level of dissatisfaction today among students than ever before in history."

NOT OVER

The report noted that "the campuses in recent years have been in the greatest turmoil in all their history over three centuries."

The report's three chief recommendations urged the adoption by all campuses of a "Bill of Rights and Responsibilities," the development of contingency planning for disruptive emergencies and the creation of effective judicial procedures.

It said, "Too many members of the campus have been reluctant to give up the myth of uninterrupted serenity and thus too few campuses have adequately thought through the handling of emergencies."

Close contact must be maintained between the campus on the one hand and the police and courts on the other, the report said.

A model bill of rights to clarify areas of responsibilities and understanding was proposed because:

"Faculty responsibilities have been less clearly set forth than faculty rights."

"Student rights have often been less carefully established than student responsibilities."

POLITICAL ACTION

"The appropriateness of political action on a campus, by whom, but particularly by the institution and its component parts, has not been sufficiently defined."

"Too much has been left to oral tradition. More people need to know more precisely what is expected of them."

The report was the second on campus unrest by a major study group. It generally endorsed the previously released study of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest (Scranton Commission).

The Carnegie report said "Most campus protest has taken the form of dissent, not disruption. However, there has been a tendency in the public reaction to protest activity to reject dissent as well as disruption. The American public seems to show limited tolerance for mass protest activities, even when they are within the bounds of the law."

BASIC RIGHTS

"This substantial disapproval suggests that many Americans may not distinguish sufficiently between organized dissent and disruption."

The report recommended that

"evaluation of and response to events on a campus be based on the distinction between dissent and disruption."

The report said that dissent "lies at the foundation of a university," and "organized dissent and protest activity within the law are basic rights which must be protected on campus."

Disruption was defined as activity "which interferes with the rights of others... based on coercion and sometimes violence... utterly contradictory to the values and purposes of the campuses."

Kerr said that the creation of effective judicial procedures could be enhanced by using outsiders as impartial members of tribunals, rather than members of the institution because "it is hard for colleagues to criticize friends, and if they do, it causes divisiveness on the campus."

NO SANCTUARY

The commission also said, "The view that a campus is some kind of sanctuary from the law has been held for too long by too many."

"We recommend that significant actions which could be construed as violations of the general law be handled by the outside courts... that campus authorities have an obligation to report significant violations of the general law..."

Nearly 5,000 Attend Scout Exposition Here Saturday

A total of approximately 5,000 people, according to scout officials, attended the 1971 Scout Exposition Saturday at the Highland Shopping Center mall, in which 24 scout units from around the district were involved.

The scouts were displaying exhibits of some of the work they do throughout the year. The exhibits portrayed different themes such as soil conservation, first aid, Indian lore, etc.

The district Order of the Arrow performed Indian dances all day for the gathering and also formed the cleanup detail after the show was over.

Larson Lloyd Jr., pack 179, won the first prize of a trip to Six Flags or a camp scholarship for selling the most tickets to the exposition. Larson sold 100 tickets. Jammie Moorehead, pack 63, sold 92 and came in second place.

Those packs winning ribbons for their exhibits were: blue ribbon — packs 1, 29, 238. Red ribbon — packs 100, 137, 11, 202, 138, and 63. Yellow ribbon — packs 46, 136, 179, 113.

Troups winning ribbons were: Blue ribbon — Troups 11, 8, 136. Red ribbon — Troups 179, 16, 146. Yellow ribbon — Troups 14, 4, 5. Post 146, and the Order of the Arrow group also received blue ribbons.

A special soil conservation award was given to Troup 146, blue ribbon, Troup 136, red ribbon, and Troup 179, yellow ribbon.

Owner Denies Knowing Of Illegal Explosives

HAZARD, Ky. (AP) — The owner of a mine where 38 men were killed denied Saturday that he ever knew any illegal detonators were being used there and said he was as mystified as anyone about the explosion.

Charles Finley told a House Labor subcommittee he hid both primer cord and dynamite in a trailer outside the Hyden mine so his employees would not use it either purposely or accidentally.

Finley said he purchased them for road work and other surface operations. Primer cord and dynamite are banned for use underground because of their force.

Finley said that while he technically was in charge of the mine, he did not and could not personally supervise all activities of the 100 men who worked on three shifts there.

The subcommittee, however, said evidence showed someone took illegal explosives and an illegal detonator into the mine the day of the blast, Dec. 30.

Finley said he had no way of telling who did it, adding that the permissible explosives were kept in buildings just outside two entrances to the pit.

He testified more than four hours before a House Labor subcommittee concluded its two-day hearings here. Two other hearings were held earlier in the week in Washington.

Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., who heads the full House committee and presided over much of the proceedings here, said, "We have all the information we need to write a report."

The sessions, he said, were aimed at improving federal mine safety legislation signed into law in late 1969.

Finley, a 45-year-old resident of nearby Manchester who has been in the mining business 22 years, was quizzed sharply.

"You have an amazing ability not to know anything that would be helpful to this committee," Rep. William Ford, D-Mich., said at one point when Finley couldn't answer a question.

The congressman wanted to know:

—Who took primer cord, banned by law in underground mines because of its force, into the Hurricane Creek mine on Dec. 30? Who took it into the

'Won't Sleep' After Seeing Rattlesnakes

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP) — "You know what? I'm not going to sleep tonight," was the comment of a woman after she saw the thousands of rattlesnakes brought in by the end of the second day of the 13th annual Sweetwater Rattlesnake Roundup.

So far, the approximately 200 snake hunters from as far away as Canada, New Zealand and Nigeria have brought in 3,190 rattlers weighing 3,356 pounds.

The longest snake was 66 inches with the shortest 11 inches.

Before the hunters went out Saturday morning, they named Jane Van Dever of Sweetwater and West Texas State at Canyon as "Miss Snake Charmer for 1971."

Darrell Berryhill, chairman of the Jaycee-sponsored show, has been the only snake-bite victim so far this year. Actually, there was only a small puncture and he did not require hospitalization. "It sure did burn for awhile," he said.

"It's got to be a memory you'll never forget," Vince Moran said after he found he was sitting on top of a large rattler coming back from the hunt. The snake had escaped from a garage can in the trunk of his car and managed to climb under the seat. Moran is from Houston.

Wage Hike At Webb

Wage grade employees at Webb AFB noted an increase in their paychecks this week. The raise is a result of a new wage scale authorized by the Department of Defense Wage Fixing Authority.

The increase, retroactive to Aug. 3, 1969, for shift workers and to Aug. 9, 1970, for all wage grade employees amounted to approximately $44,000.

From August, 1969, to August, 1970, second shift workers' salary was increased six cents per hour. After August, 1970, another one cent per hour was added to second shift workers' pay scale and seven cents per hour was tacked on to third shift employees' pay rate.

Effective Aug. 9, 1970, all wage grade employees in grade four and above received an hourly increase ranging from one to 16 cents per hour according to grade.

According to civilian pay officials at Webb, 385 employees were affected by the new pay scale.

Teen Club Shuts Down

Robert Allan Russell and William C. Rudebeck, both of Webb AFB, were charged in city court with violation of dance hall license Friday night.

"The two men were arrested for allowing dancing in their establishment and not having a dancing license," said Sheriff Farmer, detective.

Russell and Rudebeck Friday night opened a teen club, The Next Generation Club, and after the arrests were made a sign appeared on the door of the club stating the establishment was temporarily closed.

The men posted $100 bond each Saturday.

President Pays Tribute To Whitney M. Young

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon will pay the nation's tribute to Whitney M. Young Jr., at burial services for the Negro leader Wednesday at Lexington, Ky.

The Florida White House announced that Nixon has shuffled his schedule to fly to Kentucky after members of the Young family had agreed that this would be the most appropriate way for the chief executive to honor Young.

The executive director of the National Urban League died while swimming in the Atlantic at Lagos, Nigeria, Thursday. The President sent one of the fleet of VIP planes at his disposal to return the body to this country for a series of funeral services beginning with one in New York Tuesday.

Nixon will not attend that service, but he canceled a Cabinet meeting that had been set for the day so a number of Cabinet members might go to New York.

The body will be taken by train to Louisville, Ky., to lie in state until the burial at Lexington, Ky.

Snake Hunting Begins Friday

Rattlesnake Roundup week has been proclaimed by Mayor J. Arnold Marshall. The 10th annual Jaycee Rattlesnake Roundup billed as the world's largest traveling snake show, starts Friday and will run through Sunday at the Howard Co. Barn.

Hunting rattlesnakes is the most well-known event of the roundup, but many other events are planned for the three-day show.

The parade starts at 4:30 p.m. in the courthouse area and will include the Miss Diamondback contestants, the Sheriff's Posse and at least two bands.

Miss Diamondback will be chosen Friday at the First Federal building Community Room and will be crowned at the Roundup dance Saturday.

The Roundup dance will be at the Cosden Club. The doors will open at 8 p.m. and Miss Diamondback will be crowned at 8:30 p.m. The music, furnished by the Tech Raiders, starts at 9 p.m. The semi-formal dance is free to anyone with a live rattlesnake, and lasts until 1 a.m.

The main show is at the County Barns Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Up to 3500 rattlesnakes, weighing more than a ton, will be displayed behind plexiglass shields. Spectator insurance is provided. A display of snake handling and snake hunting will be put on by Pat Burchfield, a snake expert from the Gladys Porter zoo in Brownsville. He will also show how to milk a rattlesnake.

Last year about a pint of venom was collected, four drops at a time from each snake. The venom is either sold or given away. This year the venom will be donated to the Brooke AFB Hospital in San Antonio for medical research.

Other exhibits planned are an antique automobile show, a swap meet, products made of snakeskin, and the Jayceettes will sell snake meat treats.

Tours of local rattlesnake dens will be available hourly, as will demonstrations of snake hunting and snake skinning.

Snake hunters will compete for prizes based on the weight of snakes caught, the longest and the shortest snake. Registration is 12 a.m. Friday and 9 a.m. Saturday and Sunday.

First prize is $50 and a trophy to the team with the most weight of snakes, $35 and a trophy for second place and $25 and a trophy for third. ALL THE LOOT RECOVERED Bank Robbery Charges Filed

MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — Two men, one a captain in the Irving Fire Department, charged with the $70,000 holdup of the Citizens State Bank at Princeton, Tex., were in the Collin County jail Saturday in lieu of $10,000 bond each.

All of the money was recovered.

Held in jail after their arraignment before Justice of Peace Jack Cope were Billy Bob Biggs, 37, of Irving and Richard Staton, 31, of Dallas. A third man was held in jail in Dallas but had not been formally charged.

Sheriff Tom Montgomery said he intercepted Biggs Friday 16 minutes after he received the holdup report as Biggs was fleeing the scene.

Staton surrendered voluntarily to a Dallas County deputy sheriff accompanied by Staton's lawyer late Friday north of McKinney, Montgomery said.

Three bandits wearing gloves entered the bank about closing time Friday, forced employees and customers to lie on the floor while they filled a pillow slip with bills.

Princeton police, summoned by a silent alarm, arrived while the gunmen were inside and the trio fled through a back door after an exchange of gunfire. No one was wounded.

They took Lee Davis of Princeton, husband of one of the bank employees who was in the bank at the time, as hostage and forced him to drive south with one of the robbers in Davis' pickup truck.

His captor doubled back to the north and put him out near Westminster, Davis said.

Sheriff Montgomery said a truck like that taken from Davis passed him at high speed and his own patrol car stalled.

He said the fleeing man abandoned the pickup and commandeered a car carrying a woman and two children before the sheriff could resume the chase.

Montgomery overtook the car and said the man he identified as Biggs tried to use his three captives as a shield but surrendered when ordered to drop his gun.

GUILTY VERDICT Life Imprisonment Sentence For Rose

MONTREAL (AP) — Paul Rose was found guilty today of the murder last October of Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The jury, which began deliberations briefly Friday, entered its verdict soon after resumption of court proceedings today, winding up the seven-week trial of the 27-year-old former teacher.

Rose is the first of four persons to be tried in the kidnapping of Laporte Oct. 10 and his strangulation a week later.

The seven-week trial dealt with the noncapital murder charge only, under which the maximum sentence is life in prison.

The other three—Jacques Rose, 23, Paul's brother; Francis Simard, 23, and Bernard Lortie, 19—are to face trial on similar charges at a later date.

Rose took his verdict calmly, as though he expected it.

As he left the courtroom between two policemen his parting comments were: "Vive le Quebec libre. Vive le peuple Quebecois. Nous vaincrons." This is French for "Long live free Quebec! Long live the Quebec people! We will overcome!"

Rose and the others involved in the case seek the separation of French-speaking Quebec Province from the rest of Canada. They are members of the Quebec Liberation Front—the FLQ.

When the 12-man jury filed into Court of Queen's Bench, Justice Marcel Nichols asked: "Are you ready to continue your deliberations?"

The jury foreman said: "We have reached a verdict."

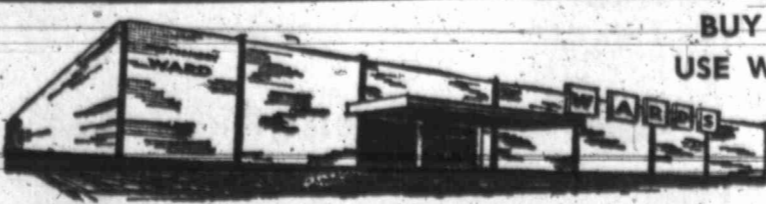

The decision came after the foreman had asked Friday that deliberations be postponed until today because jurors were too tired to continue. That request came after the jury met for 25 minutes Friday.

Manson, Girls Exiled Again From Trials

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The marathon Sharon Tate murder trial is edging toward its finale, but the central figures—Charles Manson and his three women co-defendants—are out of the spotlight, exiled from court again for misbehaving.

Their ouster Friday was a rerun of numerous similar incidents throughout the trial, which concludes its ninth month next week.

Manson was escorted out first after interrupting a witness' testimony. The girls were rushed out after calling out comments to the judge.

The three long-haired brunettes posed dramatically at the door as they were led to an adjoining room. Each raised an arm. Susan Atkins, 22, clenched her fist in the power sign. Patricia Krenwinkel, 23, held up two fingers in the peace symbol. Leslie Van Houten, 21, held aloft her index finger in the Manson clan's symbol of oneness with each other.

Though Manson has been ejected frequently in the trial, it was only his second exit since the penalty phase began Jan. 28 after their conviction. On that day, he was ordered out after he punched his attorney in the side.

Now is the time to sign up for cotton, feed grain and wheat programs, J. G. (Gabe) Hammack Jr., director of the Howard County office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, reminded today.

April 9 is the final date for the signup. April 1 is the final date to apply for cotton allotment transfer, and the application must be in the office of the county from which the allotment is being moved by that date. This also is the last day to release cotton allotment or request acreage from released cotton.

The following practices have been selected for 1971: Control of brush, constructing ponds, installing pipelines, constructing new terraces, diversion terraces, reorganizing farm irrigation, winter cover, construct permanent cross-fence, deep plowing, chiseling, and application of cotton burrs.

Permanent-type practices receive first priority, and those which will do the most good for the community or county will come first. Temporary or recurring practices such as chiseling and deepplowing will be lowest in priority.

Hammack said that cotton yields for 1972 will be figured on a per acre basis on the acres planted, not on the allotment, as rumored.

Metal Trades Contest Monday

The metal trades Vocational Industrial Club of Big Spring High School will hold a Skill-Speed contest Monday at 7 p.m. in the metal trades shop.

The contest, the first ever in Big Spring, is to provide an opportunity to select five representatives for the Area I Skill-Speed contest to be held in Abilene March 26-27; to place students under competitive pressure, thereby helping to prepare them for actual working conditions; and to instill pride in them for their vocational pursuit in life.

Local merchants donated $250 in prizes for the contest. During the contest, displays of metal trades work will be in the building trades classroom two doors down.

Wheatley Toppled By Cy-Fair Quint

AUSTIN (AP) — Cypress-Fairbanks' precision playmakers destroyed Houston Wheatley's schoolboy basketball dynasty Saturday...

and had never lost a tournament game before its neighboring school, Cy-Fair, defeated the proud Wildcats.

The Bobcats, starting four veteran seniors who played on Cy-Fair's Class AAA second-place team in 1970, outclassed the Wildcats at every turn.

Cy-Fair slowed the tempo of the contest by refusing the fast break shots and carefully passing the ball until they got the near-cinch shots close to the basket.

The Dunlap twins, Donald and Ronald, dazzled the Wildcats with their passes and twisting shots from underneath the basket.

Wheatley's chances suffered when star sophomore Eddie Owens was disqualified for fouling with 2 minutes 43 seconds left in the third quarter.

The Bobcat fans started chanting "We're No. 1" with 56 seconds left, and the score 70-56.

The roaring crowd flooded the floor and carried Ronald Dunlap and Jerry Mercer, the strong 6-foot-7 postman, off on their shoulders.

The purple-clad Wildcat fans just milled around, experiencing something new at a state tournament—a loss.

Villanova Is NCAA Indoor Track Champ

DETROIT (AP) — Brilliant Marty Liquori's sweep of the mile and two-mile led Villanova to the NCAA indoor track and field championship in which two meet records were fashioned in Saturday's closing round.

In the day's closing 10 event program, Liquori sewed it up for the ICAA champion Wildcats by winning his first NCAA indoor mile crown in three tries with an easy 4:04.7 clocking.

Texas El-Paso which captured only one first—in the two-mile relay—took second place as Kansas failed in its bid for a third successive indoor title and fourth in the meet's seven-year history.

During the two-day, 16-event show at jammed-packed Cobo Arena, a total of four meet records were posted. But the most spectacular new mark was a 7-foot, 2-inch high jump by Wisconsin's Pat Matzdorf.

The Badger Big Ten champion, who missed at 7-3 1/2 trying for an American record, bettered the old NCAA mark of 7-0 3/4 set by Ron Jourdan of Florida in 1969.

The new 1,000-yard run standard also was set Saturday by Bob Wheeler, Duke freshman, with a 2:07.4 time. That was four-tenths of a second better than the previous record of 2:07.8 by Wisconsin's Roy Arrington in 1967.

Friday records were set by Al Schoterman of Kent State in the 35 pound weight throw and Mohinder Gill of Cal Poly in the triple jump.

The closing day crowd of 9,681 roared its approval as the floppy-haired Liquori, America's top 1500 meter hope in the 1972 Olympics, turned on the gas in the closing laps to win the mile handsily over the early pace-setter, Jim Johnson of Washington.

"In the last stages of the mile I didn't want to push because my feet were torn up," said Liquori, who had lost to Jim Ryun of Kansas as a sophomore and last year to Howell Michael of William & Mary. Michael finished dead last in the six-man field in Saturday's mile with poor 4:13.1 time.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Southern Methodist Athletic Director Hayden Fry Saturday named Oklahoma assistant Don Boyce as offensive line coach for the Ponies.

Forman Looms As Next King Of Heavies

NEW YORK (AP) — On Oct. 1, 1968, when George Foreman was finishing training for the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City, he said "give me 2 1/2 years and I'd like to be heavyweight champion."

He won't make it in that time but it could be in 3 1/2 years. Winner of the 1968 Olympic heavyweight crown and winner of all 28 of his pro fights, 23 of them by knockouts, the handsome, 22-year-old Californian already is ranked as the No. 1 contender by the World Boxing Association.

Before 3 1/2 years is up the 6-3 1/2 220-pound black boxer could be the heavyweight champion of the world. By that time heavyweight champion Joe Frazier and ex-champion Muhammad Ali may be gone from the ring.

If Frazier and Ali go through with their rematch, Foreman will be ready to take on the winner.

Right now he's ready to take on Ali. He said before the title fight Monday night he'd like to take on the loser.

That's part of the strategy worked up by manager Dick Sadler to bring on his bright protegee carefully.

But Foreman wasn't impressed by either Frazier or Ali.

"Pitiful," he said of the fight. "It sure wasn't the fight of any century. The skill displayed was as little as any I've ever seen in a ring."

A good boxer with a snapping left jab and power in his right hand, Foreman already has broken the Frazier-Ali course record on George Chuvalo, the rugged Canadian heavyweight champion.

HAWKS REAP HONORS All-Region Team Includes Myers

Five different teams were represented on the All Region V Junior College basketball team chosen recently by coaches.

As it turned out, all five played in the regional tournament concluded in Big Spring last week.

Archie Myers, HCJC freshman, was included on the elite quintet. Melvin Perez, HC sophomore from Santa Fe, was named to the second unit.

FIRST TEAM: Larry Kenon, 6-8 freshman, Amarillo; Stan Johnson, 5-11 sophomore, Ranger College; Willie Banks, 6-6 sophomore, NMJC; Wilson Barrow, 6-7 sophomore, Cisco; and Archie Myers, 6-2 freshman, HCJC.

SECOND TEAM: Melvin Perez, 6-2 soph, HCJC; John Fortenberry, 6-0 sophomore, Hill Junior College; Tommy Jordan, 6-5 freshman, South Plains; Lynell James, 6-4 soph, Cisco; and Lawrence 4-4 freshman, Hill JC.

HONORABLE MENTION: Tony Mayo, Clarendon; James Bailey, Amarillo; Gene Perry, South Plains; Ben Gordwin, NMJC; Bobby Martin, Clarendon; and Ron Marsh, Hill JC.

Myers captured almost every award available to him. He was named outstanding player in the recent Region V tournament. In addition, he was first team All-Western Conference; first team All-Region V; first team Region V tournament; all-tournament in the Odessa tournament in the Olympic Classic in Big Spring and the all-time leading scorer of HCJC.

Perez did almost as well. He was on the All-Region V tournament team; second team All-Regional; all-tournament at South Plains; all-tournament in the ABC Olympic Classic at Big Spring and was captain of his team.

In addition, Perez led his team in assists with 116.

Uclans Decision Trojans, 73-62

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Top-ranked UCLA, using a vicious man-to-man defense, held Southern California without a field goal for the first 4 1/2 minutes Saturday and the Bruins went on to win 73-62.

UCLA thus filled the only open NCAA playoff berth by winning the Pacific-8 Conference championship.

The Bruins ran off to an early 12-3 lead as Curtis Rowe hit two key shots and Kenny Booker stole two Trojan passes to set up fast breaks.

Palmer Comeback Catches Boros In Citrus Tourney

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, five strokes behind at one point, rallied for a 68 and a share of the third round lead Saturday in the $150,000 Florida Citrus Invitational golf tournament.

Palmer, the 41-year-old idol of millions, had a 54-hole total of 202, 14 under par on the 6,849-yard Rio Pinar Country Club course.

He was tied at that figure with Julius Boros, the methodical 50-year-old national seniors champion who had a third round 67.

Orville Moody, the ex-Army sergeant who hasn't won since taking the 1969 U.S. Open, was alone in third place with a 70 for 203.

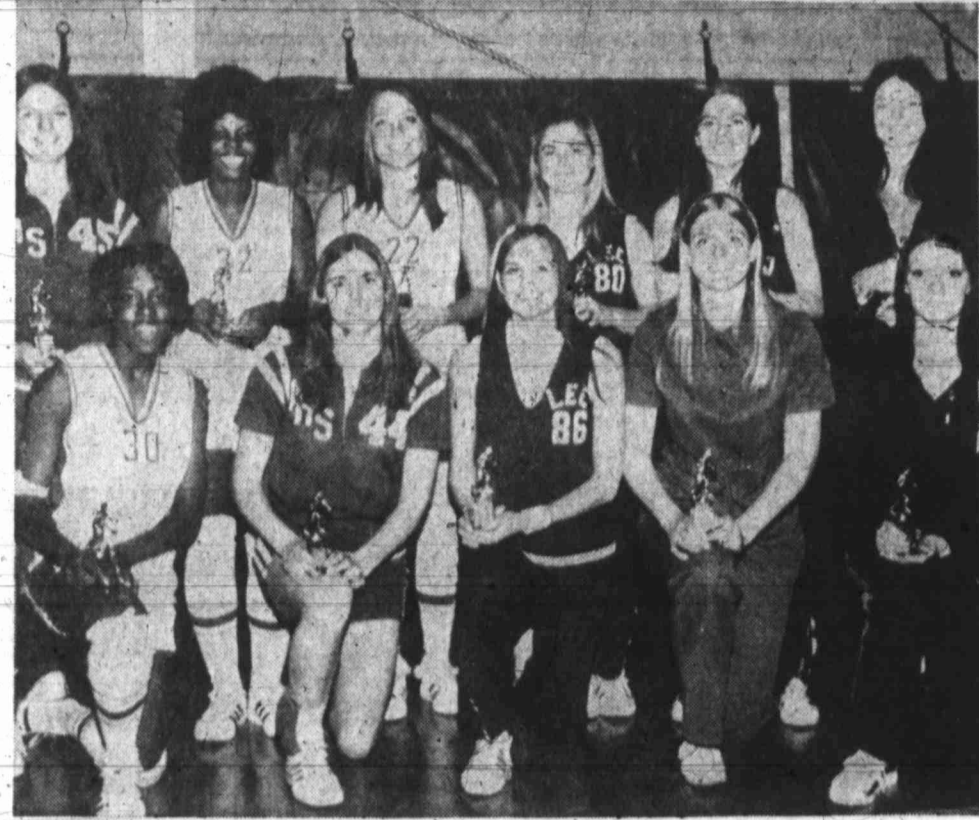

Kermit Zarley, the eight-year tour veteran who led after 36 holes, was paired with Palmer

Glovers Bid For Crowns

FORT WORTH (AP) — Champions from 39 states and regions seek national titles in 10 divisions beginning this week in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions.

More than 270 amateur boxers are expected to fight.

The tournament opens Thursday night at the 14,000-seat Tarrant County Convention Center, and extends through Monday, March 22, with five sessions in four days. Sunday, March 21, is an off date.

The boxers already have won state or regional titles in their home areas.

Golden Gloves franchise points sending teams to the finals are Buffalo, Charlotte, N.C.; Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Ohio; Des Moines, Detroit, Elizabeth, N.J.; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Honolulu, Huntington, W. Va.; Hutchinson, Kan.; Indianapolis, Jackson, Tenn.; Kansas City, Knoxville, Tenn.; Lafayette, La.; Las Vegas, Los Angeles, Lowell, Mass.; Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Omaha, Roswell, N.M.; San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Springfield, Ill.; Toledo and Washington.

JACKSONVILLE OUSTED IN NCAA REGIONAL

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Clarence Glover took an out of bounds throw-in under the basket and scored in the final two seconds Saturday to cap a tremendous Western Kentucky rally that gave the Hilltoppers a 74-72 victory over Jacksonville in the preliminary round of the NCAA Midwest Regional basketball playoffs.

Undefeated Marquette trimmed Miami of Ohio 62-47 in the first game.

The Hilltoppers trailed by 18 points at one stage before the half and were down 44-30 at intermission.

They finally overtook Jacksonville, last year's NCAA runnerup, with 8:45 remaining in the game as Jim Rose made a layup.

From then on it was a hammer-and-tong affair that went down to the final seconds and was decided actually on a double dribble mistake by the Dolphins' Ernie Fleming.

TOURNAMENT QUEEN — Rhonda Thompson of Phillips was crowned queen of the 1971 Cap Rock Girls' Volleyball tournament staged Friday and Saturday by the Women's Recreation Association of Howard County JC.

Led by Lynn Bosworth, who later was to be chosen as the Most Valuable Player of the two-day show, aggressive Midland High edged Plains, 15-13, 15-13, to win the eighth annual Cap Rock High School Girls' Volleyball tournament here Saturday night.

The Purple Gang, which had advanced to the finals by defeating Arlington High School, 15-4, 15-13, prevailed with a coordinated effort. Spiker Essie Lane and set Deborah Johnson were particularly effective for the Bulldogs.

Plains had moved from the semifinal round by defeating Midland Lee, 15-6, 5-12, 13-11. Lee later salvaged third place in the 12-team meet by trouncing a dead-game Arlington team, 13-15, 15-6, 15-4.

Phillips won consolation laurels at the expense of Fort Worth Castleberry, 15-2, 15-0. Sue Spencer of Plains was judged to be the outstanding set of the tournament while Peggy Rushing, also of Plains, was declared the top spiker.

On the way to the championship, Midland High defeated Snyder, Phillips, Arlington and Plains in that order. The defeat was only the fourth of the year for Plains.

Coach of the Midland team is Mrs. JoAnn Martin. Wanda Armstrong, former HCJC player and later a teacher in the local school system, masterminds the Plains team.

Midland succeeded Midland Lee as the champion. Forsan was awarded the Sportsmanship prize. The Buffalo Queens were late entries, when it was learned Malakoff could not make the trip.

Big Spring's two teams were eliminated in the second round of competition Friday. The Steer A team opened with a narrow win over Sweetwater, then lost to Arlington in a heartbreaker.

Big Spring B yielded only one point in hurrying for Forsan, then gave Midland Lee a lot to worry about before losing, 14-16, 15-6, 15-9.

Rhonda Thompson, a brunette charmer from Phillips, was declared the tournament queen.

Results: Friday's results: First round — Big Spring A over Sweetwater, 15-11, 12-15, 15-9; Midland High over Snyder, 15-4, 15-13; Big Spring B over Forsan, 15-1, 15-10; Perryton over Fort Worth Castleberry, 15-4, 10-15, 15-12. Second round — Midland High over Phillips, 15-14, 15-4; Midland Lee over Big Spring B, 14-16, 15-6, 15-9; Plains over Perryton, 15-1, 15-5; Arlington over Big Spring A. FIRST ROUND CONSOLIDATIONS: Phillips over Sweetwater, 13-7, 4-15, 15-1; Jeff Worth Castleberry over Forsan, 15-4, 15-13. CHAMPIONSHIP SEMIFINALS: Midland High over Arlington, 15-4, 15-13; Plains over Midland Lee, 15-4, 15-12.

Carr Red-Hot In Irish Win

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Super star Austin Carr poured in 52 points to lead 14th ranked Notre Dame to a 102-94 victory over Texas Christian Saturday and advance the Irish to the NCAA Midwest Regional basketball playoffs.

Notre Dame piled up a big lead in the early going but then had to hold off the fighting Horned Frogs late in the game.

With Carr scoring 29 of his points in the first half, the Irish moved to a 56-42 halftime advantage over the Southwest Conference champions. Notre Dame upped the margin to 18 points early in the second half.

New York Could Lose Big Bout

MIAMI (AP)—Muhammad Ali wants a rematch with his conqueror, Joe Frazier, simply because he's Muhammad Ali, says a man who should know—Angelo Dundee.

"My man wa's it," said Dundee, who has trained Ali throughout his pro career.

"He's not built to sit around. He's already steaming to win back the title."

Ali and Frazier earned $2.5 million—before taxes—for Monday night's unprecedented spectacular viewed by 19,500 in New York and 300 million video fans worldwide.

New York's move on state taxes could have an effect on where any rematch is staged.

"They took $384,000 in New York state taxes from each boxer," said Dundee. "That's something new. They don't hit basketball players or hockey players like that. Why us?" Dundee indicated the obvious—it would be foolish to stage another major title fight and give most of the purse to the Internal Revenue Service.

Theismann Is Set

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Joe Theismann, Notre Dame's All-America quarterback, has accepted an invitation to play in the 1971 Coaches All-America football game scheduled June 26 at Texas Tech's Jones Stadium.

"The tax situation will dictate," he said. "I'm not saying it will be fought in another city. You can say it, but I'm not."

All retreated to his new Spanish home in Cherry Hill, N.J. Dundee says that won't last long.

"This guy hasn't changed—he still loves the gym, likes to gab with fans and reporters," said the trainer. "That's his make-up. He's not gonna shut up that's his make-up, too."

Dundee is already talking with Madison Square Garden people about another fighter from his stable—former World Boxing Association champion Jimmy Ellis.

"We're discussing an Ellis-Floyd Patterson match," he said. "Then, I'd like to see Ali paired off against the winner. The rest of the future might then be up to Mr. Frazier."

Boxing fans everywhere wondered one thing when watching Ali's attack against Philadelphia Joe last week: Why didn't the former champion dance and shuffle like he us. d. to?

LOOKING 'EM OVER Davis Boasts Credentials

By TOMMY HART

Big Spring football coach Clovis Hale doesn't want to book more than one AAA school in any one year but he could switch from Snyder to Andrews in 1972. The Mustangs would draw well. Favorites in Texas' two junior college regions, V and XIV were eliminated in semifinal contests. Amarillo was top-seeded in Region V and yielded to HCJC in the semifinal game here. San Jacinto was the choice in Region XIV and lost to Lee of Baytown in the semifinals, after which Lee was victimized by Tyler's Apaches.

JIMMY WYNN

The Southeastern Conference again had the best inter-sectional football record in 1970, winning 33 games while losing 12. The Southwest Conference was third in inter-sectional play, winning 17, losing 12 and tying one, ranking behind the Big Eight, even with the Pacific 8 but ahead of the Big Ten. Over a five year period, Southwest Conference teams have lost more than they've won against outside competition (53-67-6) while the Southeastern Conference boasts a robust 150-58-6 record. Since it started fielding basketball teams in 1946, Howard County JC has won 557 games, compared to 253 losses and has had only one losing season since 1948-49. That occurred in 1965-66, when the Jayhawks were 14-16. In case you missed it, Gary Keithley, who decided he didn't want to play football for the University of Texas, will enroll at UT-El Paso this fall, where he trusts coach Bobby Dobbs will elect to put the ball in the air a lot. Keithley will be eligible this fall, assuming he makes his work at Alvin Junior College this spring. Tom Gentry, son of George Gentry, who was a strong friend of athletics when he was high school principal here, will be in the race for mayor of Baytown. The election is April 6. Tom will have four opponents, including the incumbent. The Houston Astros recently turned down an offer for outfielder Jimmy Wynn. The Philadelphia Phillies were willing to part with pitcher Rick Wise and outfielder Larry Hise and either Oscar Gamble or John Briggs, both fly-chasers. Simpson (The Great) DeGrate, the TCU cage star who appeared in the Region V Basketball tournament here a couple of years ago, led the Frogs in scoring in nine different games and was the top rebounder in five others. He played inside in junior college, outside for TCU.

Heavy promotional work enabled the American Business Club to finish in the black in the recent Region V JC Basketball tournament here. The Ambucs sold an estimated $1,450 advance tickets. Incidentally, champion Hill County was awarded a $600 check by the club. Galberston Zachery, the former Midland High football phenom who beat Big Spring almost singlehandedly in 1969, is now at Cisco Junior College. Leon Black could be on his way out as basketball coach at the University of Texas. Sands High School's Steve Herm made a fantastic field goal which didn't count in that Regional game against McAdoo recently, unloosing the ball around the 10-second court at the buzzer. Officials said he traveled. The most over-rated man in pro basketball likely is Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics. He rode Bill Russell's back to fame years ago and has been benefitting from it ever since. He's still quoted as an oracle by the ABC-TV broadcasting team, as a result. The NCAA Travel Accident Plan has already paid off $1.9 million in claims to families of the Wichita State and Marshall University players killed in plane crashes last fall. Texas will likely lose its last pro basketball franchise after this season. The state might have been ready for pro basketball but the team assembled at Dallas wasn't. Ohio State's Jim Stillwagon likely will be back in the NFL after a year in Canadian football. The Canadian brand simply doesn't pay top dollar like the NFL does, nor does it have as good a pension plan. Only two Texas horses nominated for this year's Kentucky Derby were Best Gun, owned by Dr. J. H. Playfair; and Paisano Prince, fielded by C. O. Leuschner. Cecil Davis, Lamesa's all-state basketball candidate, boasts fine credentials. He was one of the few Tornados ever to win a varsity letter as a freshman. In his last two seasons, Cecil scored 924 points for coach O. W. Follis' team. During his three years as a starter, Lamesa never lost a District 3-AAA game. Under recently resigned Ned Underwood, Snyder's Tigers won the amazing total of 155 games, compared to 79 losses in nine seasons, but Snyder had the misfortune of competing in the same district with Lamesa. During the 1970-71 cage campaign, UT-El Paso was involved in seven Western Conference games decided by three points or less and won six of them. The Miners finished with a 9-5 league record.

ROBINSON MANAGES ALL STAR TEAM — Exchanging line-ups, Manager Ralph Houk, New York Yankees, and Frank Robinson, manager of the All Stars, who played against the Yankees Saturday. Robinson, managing a major league team for the first time in the United States, also did the third base coaching.

Sands Ponies Ousted By Snook, 62 To 52

AUSTIN (AP) — Snook opened his bid for a record-setting fourth state-basketball title in Class B by pulling away from Sands of Ackerly, 62-52, in the semifinals Saturday.

The Bluejays from the Brazos Valley near Bryan grabbed championships in 1965-66 and 1969 and appear to have the manpower to do it again. Coach Jimmy Horn shuttled eight players to keep them fresh, and Sands tired as the game moved into the latter stages.

Snook led only 20-19 at the end of the first quarter but built that to 39-35 at the half and 53-44 at the end of the third quarter. The Bluejays seldom made a mistake, often tossing the ball around for 30 seconds before taking a high percentage close-in shot, which usually went in. Felix Robles led Sands, northwest of Big Spring, with 21 points. Donnie Kovar and Sam Washington each had 14 for Snook. Sands finished its season with a 31-2 record, and Snook boosted its record to 35-10. Snook's losses were to much larger schools.

Snook's 62-52 victory over Sands of Ackerly in the semifinals Saturday was the first time in the history of the tournament that a team from outside the Big Spring area won a title. The Bluejays, coached by Jimmy Horn, defeated the home team, the Bluejays, 62-52. Snook's victory was the first time in the history of the tournament that a team from outside the Big Spring area won a title.

LONGHORNS SEVENTH Paschal Is Low In Golf Match

SWEETWATER — Fort Worth Paschal easily won team honors in the annual Sweetwater High School Golf tournament here Saturday, posting a four-man, 36-hole score of 595. Second was Lubbock Monterey, which led Paschal by three strokes at the close of play Friday. The Plainsmen finished with a score of 604. Big Spring, in contention the first day, slumped to a 326 Saturday and slid to seventh place with a score of 626. In all, 12 teams competed. Big Spring's top performer was Howard Stewart, who pieced together rounds of 74 and 75 for a 36-hole total of 149. Medalist for the two rounds of competition was Paschal's Mike Bell, who settled for 141. He beat teammate Wally Payne by three strokes. Monterey did have the satisfaction of winning low ball honors. Over the two days, the Plainsmen posted a low ball score of 62-65-127, which beat Paschal by a single stroke. Big Spring's low ball score was 65-67-132.

McCamey Wins Junior Hi Meet Over Host School

COAHOMA — McCamey won the Puppy Relays here Saturday, scoring an even 100 points to unseat the host school for the first time in history. In all, nine teams competed. Roscoe wound up a distant third, Coahoma finished with 85 and the Ploowboys with 76. In seventh grade competition, Coahoma led with 125 points, 30 points better than runnerup Plains.

Ozona Wins; Coahoma 6th

IRAAN — Ozona won the 1971 version of the Cactus Relays here Saturday with a total of 204 points. Trailing the Lions were Alpine, with 86 points; Maria, with 66; McCamey, with 57; Big Lake, with 55; Coahoma, with 35; and Stanton, with 11. Coahoma's best finish was a second place won by Ricky Stone in the 880 in the time of 2:03.7. Sixth in the same event was Troy Kerby of the Bulldogs, clocked in 2:10.0. In the 440-yard relay, Coahoma's combination of Robin Hedrick, Roland Beal, Fain Sherrill and Tim Tindol ran a 46.1 to place fifth. Hedrick was fifth in the 100 in the time of 10.7. Coahoma's mile relay team, consisting of Hedrick, Beal, Augie Hernandez and Stone, was third in the time of 3:40.0. In the broad jump, Coahoma's Lynn Ashley was fifth with an 18-11½ effort.

Steers Win 2 Track Firsts

MIDLAND — San Angelo Central placed in the final event of the day to edge Amarillo Palo Duro for team honors in the Tall City Relays here Saturday. The Bobcats finished with 63½ points to 61½ for the Dons. Midland Lee was third with 49, Midland High fourth with 43½, and Big Spring fifth with 40½. Big Spring won both the sprint medley relay in 3:39.1 and the distance medley, a 2¼-mile event, in 11:03.0. The Steers' sprint medley team consisted of Clay Thompson, Walter Jordan, Walter Campbell and Mike McCormick. They put together a 3:39.1 effort.

Bovines Open Grid Drills

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas will try to rebuild for a winning streak Monday as the Longhorns start spring football training. A 30-game streak, the best in the nation at the time, crumbled New Year's day when Notre Dame defeated Texas 24-11 in the Cotton Bowl. Only three offensive starters are returning from the 1970 Southwest Conference championship team—quarterback Eddie Phillips, the outstanding offensive player in the Cotton Bowl game, halfback Jim Bertelsen, rated one of the finest all-around backs in Longhorn history, and 245-pound sophomore tackle Jerry Sisemore. On defense, several starters return, including linemen Ray Dowdy and Carl White, linebackers Randy Braband and Stan Maudin and defensive end David Arledge. Defensive back Alan Lowry will miss some of the spring training because he is a starter on the baseball team. Those Longhorns who have played out their eligibility include All-Americans Steve Woster and Bill Atesis, tackle Bobby Wuensch and split end Charles "Cotton" Speyrer, who was Texas' first player to be chosen in the professional draft.

Kats Capture Two Firsts

GRANDFALLS — Garden City placed fifth in the Grandfalls track and field meet here Saturday, scoring 50 points. Buena Vista won the meet with 92 points, followed by Balmorhea, with 87½; Grandfalls, 86½; Mertzon, with 50½; and Garden City. Charles Hayden of Garden City was first in the discus with a toss of 122-0 and second in the broad jump with a leap of 18-6. Gerald Hoelscher of the Kats placed fifth in the discus with a throw of 104-0. Hayden was also fifth in the shot put with a 40-9½ effort. Hoelscher won the 880 in 2:10.1. In the 100-yard dash, James Barnett of Garden City was fourth in 11.3. Richard Schafer, Garden City, placed third in the 440 in the time of 56.6. In the mile run, Eddie Cordova of Garden City was third in 5:18.9. Garden City's mile relay team placed sixth in the time of 4:06.0. Schafer, Hoelscher, Charlie Puga and Hayden ran on the team. The Kats run at Imperial next Saturday.

World Cup Tests Set For Florida

NEW YORK (AP) — The 19th World Cup golf competition will be held Nov. 11-14 at the PGA National Golf Club in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. The course was the site recently of the PGA Championship. Jack Nicklaus, winner of the PGA, is an automatic qualifier for one position on the two-man team which will represent the United States. The other will go to the winner of the U.S. Open at the Merion Golf Club in Ardmore, Pa., in June. The announcement of the World Cup site was made by James A. Line, president of the International Golf Association. This marks the second time the tournament, formerly the Canada Cup, has been held in the United States. About 44 countries are expected to enter two-man teams. Permission Granted TOKYO (AP) — The Justice Ministry said today it has granted permission for all members of Communist Chinese and North Korean delegations to enter Japan to participate in the 31st World Table Tennis Championships in Nagoya, March 28-April 7.

Closed-Circuit TV Is Blasted

WASHINGTON — The National Association of Broadcasters has taken off on cablepay television interests which promoted the Frazier-Clay fight in New York. "This fight, blacked out on free television and radio in America and around the world, is a shocking example of what cablepay television is all about," said NAB executive vice president Paul Haney. "It would be the height of tragedy if Americans failed to learn a lesson from the closed circuit gouge. What if the World Series or the Super Bowl or championship basketball followed this shabby cablepay television pattern?" To view this fight outside of Madison Square Garden, the viewer had to pay anywhere from $10 to $30 for the seat. The same wheeler-dealer interests promoting this effort would, if they have their way, extract a fee from a man in front of a radio or television set in his own home a year or two down the road.

2 Unanimous Picks On 5

WACO, (AP) — Lee Griffin of Baylor, Larry Robinson of Texas and Dean Tolson of Arkansas were unanimous selections on the 1971-All-Southwest Conference freshman basketball team as compiled by Hollis Biddle of the Waco New Tribune.

Griffin averaged 27.7 points per contest, Robinson 33.9 and Tolson 30.4.

Other members of the first team included Richard Little of Texas Tech, Zack Thiel of Southern Methodist and Scott Fisher of Rice.

Second-teamers were John Tuszynski of SMU, Dennis White of Arkansas, Don Moore of Texas Tech and Rick Billik of SMU.

Arkansas' Shoats had the best record among the SWC frosh outfits with a 16-0 mark. Texas was 13-3, Rice 12-2, SMU 12-4, Texas Tech 11-4, Baylor 5-8, Texas A&M 7-5 and TCU 3-0.

Robinson had the single game high point day for the season with 55.

Expos Are Banking Heavily On Bailey

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "Where," the questioner asked Montreal Manager Gene Mauch, "would you prefer to play Bob Bailey. Third base or the outfield?"

"My favorite position for Bob Bailey," Mauch answered quickly, "is at bat."

Match has reason to be giddy about Bailey. It's been a decade since the Pittsburgh Pirates shelled out in the neighborhood of $135,000 to get Bailey's name on a contract—and that bonus still ranks as one of the largest ever paid to an untested youngster.

For five years with the Pirates, first with Los Angeles and the first with Montreal, Bailey not only was one of the highest paid bonus babies of all times but also one of the biggest busts of all times.

STARTS STREAK

Then it happened. Starting to streak when his batting average stood at .107, Bailey collected 89 hits in his next 228 at bats and finished the season with the best marks of his major league career—a .287 batting average, 84 runs batted in and 28 homers, one in every 13 at bats.

Bailey, who most likely will play third base, combines with right fielder Rusty Staub (.274, 30 homers, 94 RBIs) and first baseman Ron Fairly (.288, 15 homers, 61 RBIs) to give the Expos a fearsome threesome in the middle of the lineup. And Mauch expects even more from them this season.

And so the Expos' hopes start with that triumvirate. Unfortunately, they almost end there too, although trade acquisition Ron Hunt should help at second base and pitcher Carl Morton was the Rookie of the Year last season.

Hunt, acquired from San Francisco, and shortstop Bobby Wine fill out a solid infield complement with John Bateman, a more than adequate catcher. But there are two holes in the outfield, with only Staub set, and several holes on the pitching staff.

MAY PLATOON

Match very likely will platoon at the other two outfield positions with seven candidates in the running—holdover Mack Jones, Adolpho Phillips, Don Hahn, Jim Fahey and Jim Gosger, plus rookies Boots Day and Clyde Mashore, who hit .294 and .308 respectively at Winnipeg.

Behind Morton on the starting staff there is Steve Renko, 13-11 last season, and hope. The hope consists of Bill "No Hit" Stoneman, John Strohmayer and Mike Wegener, who Mauch hopes will blossom.

6-Time Winner Sunland Entry

SUNLAND PARK, N. M. — Cobre, a six-time winner during Sunland Park's 70 spring season, makes his first appearance of the current campaign in today's sprint headlines.

The 5½-furlong duel, honoring the El Paso convention of the Managing Editors of Texas and New Mexico, tops a 12-race card which starts unfolding at 1:30 p.m.

Some additional excitement is in the works in the form of another "giveaway." Immediately after the last race, a drawing will be held to decide the winner of a 1971 Datsun Fastback.

Cobre, owned by Allan Wisenbaker of Longview, will be guided in his seasonal bow by Apprentice Edward Padilla under a light 113-pound load.

But the roan gelding faces a tough chore as he hooks such seasoned competitors as Barlaris, Rio Pucro, Like I Say and Kancity Penny.

During the spring season a year ago, Cobre scored his six wins against steadily improving claiming competition. He won at distances of six furlongs and a mile, finally getting honored as the "Best Claimer" and "Most Improved Horse" of the season.

Barlaris, flashing the silks of Sidney Vail of Nocona, was a top horse at Sunland during the '68-'69 season, when he scored three wins. The set included the Paso del Norte Handicap at six furlongs.

Since then, Barlaris has campaigned exclusively on the West Coast, but failed to accumulate the kind of success he enjoyed at Sunland. Last month, he made two fruitless starts at Santa Anita under a $15,000 claiming price.

Barlaris was back at Sunland last weekend and gave indications of things to come by scoring a fine second behind the California import, Red Viking.

As Run Producer, Cub Billy Williams Tops

NEW YORK (AP) — When it comes to run production Billy Williams, 10-year Chicago Cub veteran, is in a class by himself. Johnny Bench, Tony Perez and Carl Yastrzemski are not far behind. Back of them are Bobby Bonds, Jim Hickman, Wes Parker, Hank Aaron, Roy White and Tony Oliva.

That was the big 10 of 1970. They were the only major leaguers who figured in the scoring of 180 or more runs.

Williams led the pack, figuring in 224 runs, a total not even Willie Mays could achieve in any of his 18 full campaigns with the Giants—in New York or San Francisco. Mays' best run-making year was 1962 when he figured in 222 runs. However, Say Hey, 40 on May 6, has averaged a remarkable 169 runs in his 18 years. Williams' average is 168 runs.

Abilene Wins Slugfest, 22-12

ABILENE — The Abilene High Eagles belted the Sunset Bisons 22-12 here Friday in non-district baseball action.

It was not a day for pitchers. The two teams cracked out 29 hits in 54 official bats, and 13 of those hits went for extra bases.

Longhorns Drop Verdict To Coronado, 12 To 4

LUBBOCK — Lubbock Coronado scored in five consecutive innings to defeat Big Spring, 12-4, in a practice game here Friday.

Johnny Sevey started for Big Spring but ran into trouble in the second and Mike Hamilton, David Newman and Jeff Murdock followed him to the hill. In all, they gave up 12 hits.

Joe Byrne pitched all the way for Coronado, yielding five hits to Big Spring.

Thomas (Turk) Brewer lowered the boom on Byrne, driving out home runs in the first and sixth innings. He accounted for three of the Steers' runs, getting a four-master with a mate aboard in the first and hitting a solo blast in the sixth.

Byrne himself drove out a round-tripper for Coronado in the sixth for his second hit of the game.

Gary Olivio smashed three hits while Wayne Williams belted a triple and a double and Mike Byrne collected a couple of hits, all for Lubbock.

In the seventh, the Steers opened up with back-to-back singles by Gatlin Jones and Roddy Caffey but Byrne settled to keep Big Spring away from the plate.

Byrne fanned eight and walked four. He evened his worst record at 1-1.

Odessa Bronchos Nudge Kermit

ODESSA — Joel Kuenstler used his arm and bat to propel Odessa to a 5-3 win over Kermit as the Bronchos won their fifth game of the season here Friday.

Kuenstler struck out eight Kermit players as he went all the way on the mound. He also collected two singles and three runs batted in.

McBee Is Hired

Rives McBee, formerly of Midland and a first round sensation in the National Open golf tournament several years ago, has been named golf club at the Las Colinas Country Club in Irving.

Jayhawk Golfers First In Match

Bill Schwarzenbach led Howard County's positive approach as the Jayhawks finished first in Western Conference golf competition at the Big Spring Country Club Friday.

BILL SCHWARZENBACH

Tommy Rutledge's team beat runner-up New Mexico JC by five strokes with a four-man, 27-hole score of 445 and finished ten strokes ahead of conference leader Odessa College.

The meet was the first of the spring series arranged to determine a 1970-71 conference champion. Three matches were held in the fall. The teams regroup at the Odessa Country Club March 26 for 27 holes of play.

Howard County now trails Odessa by two points while New Mexico JC is another point back. Odessa has 28 points. HC 26 and NMJC 25.

All eight schools in the conference were represented here. Schwarzenbach, a native Big Spring and a sophomore at HCJC, finished with a 108, two strokes over regulation figures.

Finishing behind HCJC, NMJC and Odessa, in the proper order, were New Mexico Military Institute, 458; South Plains, 468; Amarillo, 483; Frank Phillips, 514; and Clarendon, 515.

Pat O'Donnell topped Odessa scoring with a 110, an effort equaled by Steve Cranford of Crane and Willie Breland, of Seymour, both of HC.

High winds which blew throughout the day hampered the play of all entries.

Wade Hudman of Odessa kept his team in contention with a 114 while teammate Larry Moore followed with a 115. Scott Stegner posted 116 and David Boutin 125 for the Wranglers.

Freddie Garcia, NMJC, finished with a 110 as did Henry Sandles, NMMI.

HCJC's other entries were Tim Hamilton of Loraine and Tim Phillips of Odessa, each of whom finished at 117.

BEST BALANCE

As a team the Baltimore Orioles seem to have the best balanced hitting. Seven of their players accounted for 100 or more runs last year with Boog Powell the pacesetter with 161 runs, one more than World Series standout Brooks Robinson.

In the National League the Cubs also have seven men with 114 or more runs, counting the runs Joe Pepitone scored during his first half of 1970 with Houston.

The Detroit Tigers go to the post with seven men in the 102 or more class since they now have third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez and shortstop Ed Brinkman, both obtained from Washington.

Houston Cougars Sweep Golf Meet

HOUSTON (AP) — Defending NCAA champion University of Houston took everything there was to win Friday at the conclusion of the 2nd annual Rice Invitational Golf Tournament.

Houston won the team championship and best ball team competition while Cougar golfers swept individual honors and individual best ball championships.

Unprecedented Sweep Is Sought By Rod Laver

NEW YORK (AP) — Australia's Rod Laver makes a bid for an unprecedented sweep next Thursday and Friday in the $210,000 Tennis Champions Classic at Madison Square Garden.

Already winner of 11 straight matches leading up to the semifinals, Laver can complete a $160,000 windfall by taking the final two matches.

He will face unpredictable Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., in one of the semifinals Thursday. Tom Okker, the fleet, scrappy Dutchman, will take on Australia's always rugged Roy Emerson in the other.

The winners will clash Friday for the championship. The semifinal winners will win $15,000 with the losers, getting $5,000. The breakdown for the finals is $35,000 for the winner and $15,000 for the loser.

Hopes of finally stopping Laver, the quick, cagy left-hander, rated the best player in the world, were buoyed last week when Laver was beaten in the third round of the Australian Open at Sydney by Mark Cox, the flashy Briton.

If Laver is to be beaten, Ralston may be the person to do it. The temperamental Californian has met Laver four times in the past year and beaten him twice, upsetting him in the U. S. Open at Forest Hills.

Ralston qualified for the semifinals by beating Arthur Ashe, Jr., in a playoff 6-2, 4-6, 7-6. However, he lost to Laver in an earlier match in the series at the Garden.

Okker qualified for the semifinals by upsetting John Newcombe of Australia. The Dutchman is rated one of the comers in big time tennis. Emerson is always tough. He beat Roger Taylor of Britain in the qualifying tests and took a pair of sets from Laver.

Players Are Losing Incentive, Says Hat

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Harry Walker of the Houston Astros says the salary situation in baseball has stripped managers of their chief motivational weapon and could lead to a dangerous situation provoking some cases of "unintentional complicity."

"I don't want anyone to think I'm saying a player shouldn't get all he's worth," Walker emphasized, "but how're you going to make any player do something when he gets a raise whether his production warrants it or not."

"Where's the incentive?" Disappearing, according to Walker, is a baseball economy that "has really exploded in the last six to seven years with television coming into the picture and more money in the pot to give out and being given out."

UNWARRANTED But it's not the $150,000 salaries for the game's superstars that disturbs the Astros' outspoken manager as much as raises handed out indiscriminately.

"The owners and general managers aren't as tough as they used to be because they want to make the players happy," Walker explained. "There are guys in the $50,000 class who hit 300 one year, 260 the next and wind up with raises."

"With that kind of situation there's no way to make a player do extra work or drive himself if he doesn't want to. Whether we like it or not fear is the thing that still governs all of us and the fear of getting cut is disappearing."

"That leads to a situation in which the player doesn't intend to lose his drive, his incentive, but starts losing it anyway. It's not intentional, it's unconscious. But it begins to happen because some of the incentive's gone."

While Walker underscored the fact that this might happen in only a few cases it seems obvious that the situation could lead to some abuses the manager no longer can control by raising the specter of salary increases or decreases.

And it is known, although Walker did not discuss it, that the Astros last year objected in spring camp to some of the club's training techniques, including the use of exercise machines and an insistence the players run a mile every day.

"What can we do to motivate?" Walker asked rhetorically, his words running on. "We can only talk to them. Usually we work on their pride. 'Don't you want to be a star? Wouldn't you like to be... Things like that. It was a lot different when I played and until the last 10 years when the TV money came in."

Accompanying that was the explosion in salaries to the point of the $150,000 salary for a single player compared in Walker's day to the $150,000 payroll for the entire St. Louis Cardinal team he was with in 1942.

"I'm not against anyone getting that much," Walker said. "What I think is harmful is where an owner looks up and sees another owner paying one of his stars $140,000 and says to himself 'I want my boy to be up there too' and gives him the same amount just for that reason."

MAN IN A HURRY — Rookie shortstop Roger Metzger, already considered a fielding whiz, goes after a ground ball during spring training with the Houston Astros at Cocoa, Fla. Metzger is given a good chance to become the club's regular shortstop. Houston opens the 1971 National League season in the Astrodome Monday, April 5, against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Boys Can Sign For Play In Li'l League Mar. 27

March 27 has been set as the day for city-wide registration for boys interested in joining a little league baseball team in Big Spring this summer.

In order that youngsters may know which league to join, a description of boundaries for each league will be published in The Herald prior to March 27.

Youngsters playing in the National League will sign up at College Heights School from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

American league performers will register at the Dora Roberts Student Union Building at the same time.

Monterey Winner Over Lee Rebels

MIDLAND — Lubbock Monterey, benefitting from Midland Lee's fielding lapses, defeated the Rebels, 8-5, here Friday.

The win was the sixth straight for Monterey while Lee retreated to a 3-3 record.

Lee led, 5-2, until the fourth, when Monterey exploded for five runs.

David Pinson pitched the win, scattering five hits effectively. His mates got nine off two Lee hurlers.

EL PASO — The Permian Panthers snapped a three-game losing streak here Friday when they defeated El Paso Bowie, 6-5.

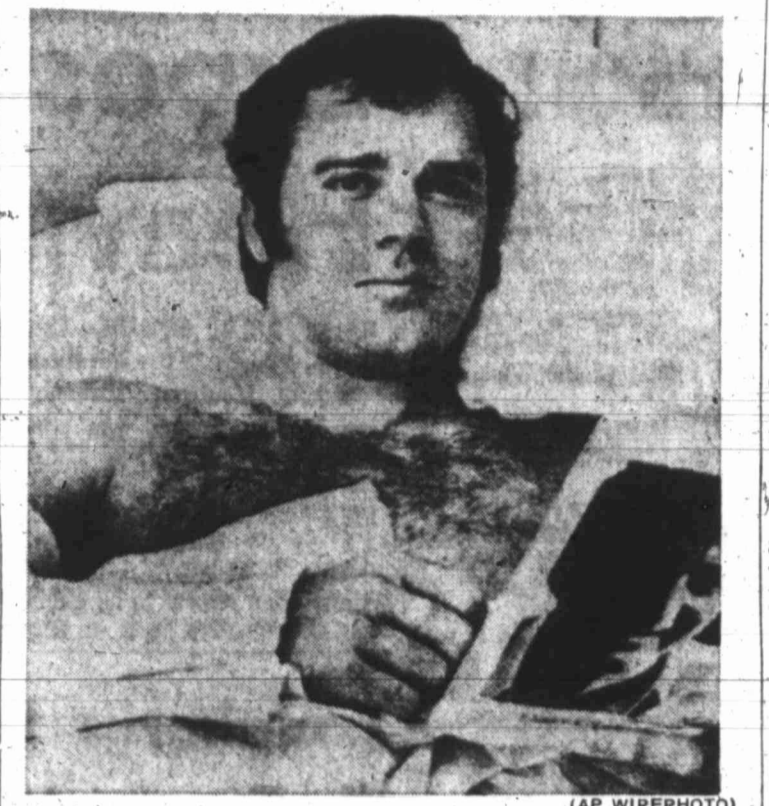

Permian went into the sixth inning on the short end of a 5-2 score but came up with four big runs in that inning to ice the verdict.

Robert Shipman went the distance for the Panthers and evened his pitching record at 1-1. Daniel Justice paced the Permian hitters with a two-run homer.

Hodges Takes Snyder Post

MONAHANS — Monahans Superintendent of Schools George Cullender announced Friday night that head coach and athletic director Maurice Hodges had resigned his position and will assume the same duties in Snyder March 22.

Hodges' resignation was accepted at a special meeting of the Monahans school board Friday evening.

Hodges reportedly will receive a salary increase to $15,500 and will be supplied with an automobile and a contract until June 1973.

The former Monahans tutor had an outstanding record in his three years at the school. He compiled a 26-7-1 record while leading Monahans to two bi-district championships.

There had been rumors that when Hodges left he would take two assistant coaches with him. Cullender, however, emphatically said that he had spoken with the assistant coaches and that they are going to remain at Monahans.

The school board commissioned Cullender to search out and screen applicants for the job vacated by Hodges.

Gail Girls Third In Track Meet

Borden's time in the 440 relay was 55.1 while the Coyotes covered the 880 relay in 1:57.8.

Judge's Ruling Has NBA In Quandary

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A U.S. District Court action invalidating the National Basketball Association's rule forbidding the signing of college players until their college class graduates might produce controversy as early as March 29.

Judge Warren Ferguson said Friday he had struck down the NBA's ban on signing college athletes. The judge said his action, which came as a result of litigation brought by Spencer Haywood of the Seattle SuperSonics, was based on his decision that the rule violates the Sherman Antitrust Act.

Ferguson said he would enjoin the league from enforcing such a rule.

BIG PROBLEM Although the ruling Wednesday night may be argued in various courts of the land, and may well go to the U.S. Supreme Court, it could cause a major problem because the NBA's annual player draft come up March 29 in New York City. And with the four-year rule invalid, owners are theoretically free to draft anyone they want.

For example, it would legally be possible for a team to draft Mississippi's sensational, high-scoring sophomore Johnny Neumann. Others who are underclassmen now but who might be drafted include Southern California's Paul Westphal, Marquette's Jim Chones and Allie McGuire and Long Beach State's Ed Ratleff.

Obviously, the National Collegiate Athletic Association would be upset if the pros were to "raid" the colleges but the situation becomes even more complicated.

What, for example, would happen if an NBA team was interested in a high school player, like Lewis Brown of Verbum Dei in Los Angeles?

UP-AND-COMING A 6-foot-9 and 225 pounds, he's a rock-solid sophomore and one of the most sought-after high school players in the state. But he won't even get his prep diploma for two more years.

Haywood started all this.

Attorneys for the former Denver Rocket filed the action against the NBA after J. Walter Kennedy, the league commissioner, told teams they couldn't sign the 6-9 Olympic star because he had left school before graduating.

Denver of the rival American Basketball Association signed Haywood as a "hardship case." Haywood jumped the Rockets after a salary dispute and earlier this year signed a contract with Seattle of the NBA—in violation of the NBA's rule.

Seattle owner Sam Schulman said Haywood was made a pro by the ABA and that couldn't be changed. The NBA's board of governors had given Kennedy power to act against Schulman but Kennedy took no punitive action.

It's an expensive used car.

Keys In Car Ordinance Beat

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A judge has ruled unconstitutional a Grand Rapids city ordinance making it illegal to leave ignition keys in unattended cars.

The ordinance was adopted to reduce the number of auto thefts.

Dist. Judge Woodrow Yare ruled Thursday it was "beyond the scope of the city to regulate the habits of its citizens."

The ruling came after a man ticketed for leaving the key in the ignition of his unlocked car challenged the law, which provided that a fine be assessed.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following his first visit to Indochina, freshman Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen has edged ever so slightly away from the policies of President Nixon.

During his campaigns last year to defeat Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough and Rep. George Bush, Bentsen supported Nixon down the line on Vietnam.

He's not that much changed after two weeks of talking to GIs, opposition leaders, the press and government officials in South Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia and Thailand.

VIETNAM VISIT ALTERS SENATOR'S ATTITUDE

Bentsen Edges Away From Nixon Policy

But at a news conference Friday, Bentsen offered these impressions:

—Nixon should be bringing home more troops than he is. If the Laos incursion succeeds for the South Vietnamese, the withdrawal rate should be stepped up even more.

—Nixon isn't leveling with Congress or the American public about the probability of long-range expenses in Indochina and the likelihood air-support troops will be kept on after ground soldiers come home.

—Under no circumstances should U.S. ground or air troops be used in North Vietnam in the event South Vietnam opts for an invasion. He agreed with others that an invasion of the North, especially with U.S. backing, would almost certainly pull China into the war.

Bentsen declined to say just how many troops should be brought home how fast. The President should retain the flexibility of his own withdrawal date for peace-negotiation purposes, he said.

But asked if ground troops could be withdrawn by the end of this Congress—the end of 1972—he said that was about right.

Bentsen said he hadn't been aware "of the magnitude of our commitment" in material goods to allied forces as well as our own.

He will ask, as a member of the Armed Services Committee, for a breakdown of the drain from the Treasury of the war now and the potential expenses in the future.

He said he has felt none of the reported pressure by some parts of the oil industry for a military victory in Vietnam to ensure their post-war access to potential oil deposits in Indochina.

"I would say it would be completely uncalled for if there were such pressures (for a military victory)," Bentsen said.

RATTLESNAKE STEAK may be exotic, but it is just not the sort of meal that Texas homemakers include on the weekly menu. Mrs. Gerald Wooten, left, and Mrs. Tommy Tompkins, right, peruse their cookbooks in search of snake recipes to use this weekend at the 10th annual Rattlesnake Roundup. The event features a contest to select "Miss Diamond Back" and also a Jaycee dance Saturday evening.

How Do You Like Your Snake?

By JO BRIGHT

How do you like your snake — over easy or Southern fried?

Not that you'll have much choice, for according to Big Spring Jaycee-Ettes, there aren't many recipes available for cooking rattlesnake.

This year, as in the past, Jaycee-Ettes will be on hand in the Fair Barn at the rodeo grounds, during the annual Jaycee Rattlesnake Round-Up, to prepare tasty tidbits for those who consider themselves gourmets. The snake snacks are deep-fried and crusty — served piping hot.

The roundup is slated Friday through Sunday, with an estimated 50 to 60 hunters expected to participate and bring in at least 3,500 rattlesnakes. Some of the snakes will be exhibited, while others will be skinned and cooked. A number of the skins are treated and made into decorative items such as neckties and hat bands.

WORK SCHEDULES for snake cooks are prepared by Mrs. Charles Butts, Mrs. A. J. Pirkle Jr., Mrs. Max

Moore and Mrs. Bob Taylor, all Jaycee-Ette members who are helping their husband with this year's event.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MARCH 14, 1971

Miss Rebecca Easley Weds John L. Dorton

The wedding of Miss Rebecca Ann Easley and John Leo Dorton was solemnized Saturday evening in the College Baptist Church with Dr. Byron Grand as officiating minister.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reagan E. Easley, 613 Bucknell, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Dignon, Gall Route.

A prelude of nuptial music was performed by Mrs. D. M. Richardson, organist, and Mrs. Gorman Rainey, vocalist. The service was performed before a background of candelabra, floral arrangements and emerald palms.

SCHOOLS

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School, and Dorton graduated from Coahoma High School. He attended Howard County Junior College before going to work for Intech, and she is presently attending HCJC.

After a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the couple will reside at 1205 Ridgeroad.

For her wedding, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white peau de soie fashioned with puff sleeves. Rows of lace accented the front of the gown and sleeves, and also bordered the chapel-length train. Her veil of illusion was held by a cluster of silhouette petals of lace and tulle. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with blue accents.

Miss Nancy Easley of San Antonio, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, attired in a floor-length blue gown styled with high neckline, Empire waist, and short, puff sleeves. Miss Debra Anderson was bridesmaid, and her pale blue gown was fashioned like that of the maid of honor. They carried nosegays of blue and white carnations.

BEST MAN

Michael Herron was best man, and groomsmen were Carl Dorton, brother of the bridegroom. Bob Huen and Keith Hamilton served as ushers. Cynthia Burgess lighted the altar tapers. She was attired in a short dress fashioned like those of the other attendants.

Immediately after the ceremony, the couple was honored at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church.

The tiered wedding cake, topped with white bells, was served from a table covered with white linen and appointed with crystal and silver.

Those serving were Miss Carolyn Egan, Miss Frances Starn and Miss Frances LeVier, Miss Debbie Rives of Garland and Miss Judy Morris of Odessa. Miss Amy LeVier presided at the registry.

Guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Bradshaw, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rust, Monahans; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hopkins, Odessa; Mrs. Ethel Barnes of Murchison, the bride's grandmother; Mrs. Lucille Hamill, Athens; and Mrs. Charles Hamill and Miss Paula Leonard, both of San Antonio.

Tech Grad Authors Unusual Cookbook

Mary Lou Crump Koehler, Amarillo, Midland and Lubbock. Texas Tech graduate and long-time home service director for Pioneer Natural Gas Company, is the author of an unusual new cookbook which The Naylor Company of San Antonio has just released. "Son-of-a-Gun to Suki-yaki" contains almost 200 recipes with the double blessing of being tested by a professional home economist (Mrs. Koehler) and tried by a busy housewife (Mrs. Koehler).

Born in Shallwater, Mary Lou Crump was an active 4-H Club member and won a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago in 1948. She attended Texas Woman's University in Denton and then moved to Texas Tech University in Lubbock where she received her BS degree in home economics.

Pioneer Natural Gas Company hired her for work in While vacationing in Hawaii, she was hired as home services director for the Honolulu Gas Company. In 1960, the McCall's and the American Gas Association conferred the Home Service Achievement award on her. Also, while in Hawaii, she met and married Dr. David L. Koehler and turned her career to homemaking.

Pioneer, incidentally, has scheduled a series of cooking demonstrations by Mrs. Koehler in Lubbock March 17-18, and in Midland, March 23.

Diversified Programs Heard By HD Clubs

Subjects as varied as home blenders, state conventions and marijuana were discussed as Howard County home demonstration clubs continued regular meetings last week.

Center Point Club Patrolman Claude Morris of the Big Spring Police Department showed a film, "Pit of Despair," for the Center Point Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. N. M. Hipp, 500 E. 13th.

"Marijuana is the most mild drug," Morris said. However, he felt it led to use of stronger ones. He said that one pound of marijuana is enough for about 600 smokes, and that many people will put three or four drops of the resin in a pipe with foil over it, put a few holes in the foil and smoke it that way.

He urged parents to notice the symptoms of drugs in the community, and said "the town is reeking in them." Patrolman Morris also pointed out that the government grows marijuana for use in certain products, but he did not feel its use should be legalized for the public.

Mrs. J. R. Petty presided, and Mrs. C. T. Lindley wore the attendance prize. Mrs. Bob Wren reported that the county HD clubs are sponsoring a fair for senior citizens, April 24 at Highland Center Mall.

Anyone over 65 with handmade articles they wish to sell may enter them in the fair, and receive the proceeds. Interested persons may call Mrs. Delaine Crawford at the county HD agent's office.

In other business, the club made plans to attend the District Two conference in Muleshoe April 1. Ten dollars each was donated to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center and the Heart Fund, and $7.50 was given to the HD council in lieu of making five cakes for the arts and crafts exhibit May 13.

LEES CLUB Mrs. Jessie L. Overton was named delegate to the Texas Home Demonstration Association spring meeting March 25 in Andrews, by the Lees HD Club at its meeting Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Benny Joe Bissard, Sterling City Route.

Other delegates from Glasscock County are Mrs. August Frysak and Mrs. Harry Calverly.

Mrs. Bissard presided. The next meeting is at 2 p.m., March 23 in the home of Mrs. A. W. White. Mrs. J. L. Glass will present the program on family games and toys for children.

KNOTT CLUB Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins demonstrated how to make Strawberry Fluff with a blender at the Tuesday meeting of the Knott Home Demonstration Club in her home. She also told of several other uses for the blender.

Mrs. R. J. Shortes presided, and the devotion was by Mrs. Gaskins. The next meeting is at 2 p.m., March 23 in the home of Mrs. Elmer Dyer.

LUTHER CLUB The Luther Home Demonstration Club met Thursday to hear Mrs. M. F. Bryant and Miss Juanita Hamlin give advice on the use of home blenders.

The women prepared various foods, including dressings, and described models of blenders which are now on the market.

Mrs. John Couch was hostess, and Mrs. Walter Anderson was a guest. Mrs. Pauline Hamlin won the hostess gift.

Plans were made to bake five cakes for the May HD exhibit at Highland Center Mall.

The next meeting will be March 25 in the home of Mrs. Regis Fleckenstein.

Pharmacy Facts

By Bob Knight, R. Ph.

When your doctor injects a vaccine into your system, it is done to assist and increase the disease fighting capacity already present in the blood stream.

Our bodies are capable of producing antibodies which attack specific disease germs. Vaccines are made from germs of the disease which have been rendered harmless. The body reacts to the presence of these harmless germs as it would to a virulent form, by producing increased quantities of antibodies.

Thus the blood is now prepared to repel an invasion by full strength germs.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: I own a doll and many clothes for her.

The other day I was cleaning out her case and decided the clothes would look much neater and stay cleaner if they had "cleaning" bags over them.

So I took a sandwich bag and cut a small hole in the top crease. Then I carefully opened the bag, put the hanger and dress up through the hole, and hung it up.

Now my doll's clothes look like they just came from the cleaners. Joan, Age 12

You are a real doll. Thanks for the cute idea. Heloise a little longer than ours. I let my sauce simmer under a low fire for about an hour. Gloria

Dear Heloise: If you find yourself alone and wanting to lift your bed off the floor in order to slide a rug under it, just get your car jack out and jack it up on one side.

This will also lift it up enough on the other side to slide the rug under the bed. L. M. Jones

Dear Heloise: When I keep my grandchild, I use disposable diapers. These come in daytime and nighttime types.

The last time I had the baby, I was out of the nighttime diapers. So, my daughter told me to use two daytime... just rip the plastic off one and put it inside the other. A Grandmother

Dear Heloise: My friend's little boy simply adores the small cars that come in those tiny boxes. He has many carries them everywhere. This presents a problem because he often loses the cars at the park, or leaves some at his playmates' homes.

His mother decided to mark his initials on each car with red nail polish. This solved the problem. Immediately recognizable, there is no more mistaken identity between his cars and those of his friends... and children at the park can no longer claim ownership. Donene Harrison

Dear Heloise: I came up with a great idea for those times when you run out of paper towels.

Don't throw away the empty cardboard roll. Just leave it on the holder and hang a hand towel over it until you can go to the grocery store for another roll of paper towels.

It doesn't look bad and is ever so convenient. Olga

'Texas Month' Noted By Forum Speakers

March is "Texas Month," as the state marks its 135th year as a republic and its 128th as a state. In observance of the month, Mrs. T. G. Adams and Mrs. Mary Brown presented a two-part program on Texas for the Modern Woman's Forum at its meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. Hugh Duncan, 1600 Tucson.

Speaking about nationalities that have contributed to Texas' history, Mrs. Adams said that the first white men in the state were Cabezo de Vaca and his three Spanish companions who were shipwrecked west of the Mississippi River.

"Francisco de Coronado and other Spanish treasure seekers traversed the state for the next 150 years," Mrs. Adams said, "and the first Spanish settlement was at Ysleta." The French followed, and in 1685 they settled near Matagorda Bay.

Later, General Lopez de Santa Anna came from Mexico under the Spanish flag to subdue the rebellious Texans, and war with Mexico became inevitable. Mrs. Adams also mentioned the German settlements at Fredericksburg, Jamestown and Roscoe.

"James Pinckney Henderson came to fight for Texas independence and stayed to secure it," said Mrs. Brown in her talk about Texas' first governor. Henderson was born in Lincoln, N.C., the son of a wealthy family. He was a frail child and had tuberculosis as an adult.

"Despite this," Mrs. Brown said, "he was a man of indomitable will, daring enterprise and firm purpose." In 1840 at the age of 32, Henderson was asked to run for president of Texas, but declined saying he was too young. After Texas' admission to the union, Henderson was elected governor in November, 1845.

"He was no ordinary man," Mrs. Brown said. "He made his mark upon the history of Texas, and he will long be remembered."

Miniature Texas flags were plate favors at the meeting. The women will have a luncheon this on real leather, but for takes it's great.

SETS DATE — Mrs. Marcus Payne, Sherman, announces the engagement of her daughter, Peggy Jean, to Deats Headlee Beard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis L. Beard, 2104 Main. The bride-elect is the daughter of the late Marcus Payne. The engaged couple, both of whom are completing work on MA degrees at North Texas State University, will be married June 5 at Hillcrest Baptist Church, Denton.

Devotion Heard By Club Group

The Past Matrons Club heard the devotion, "Love," by Mrs. Richard Mitchell at a dinner Thursday at Holiday Inn. Mrs.

Audra Wright presided, announcing committee appointments for the next two months. They are Mrs. O. N. Green and Mrs. Lloyd Duncan, telephone: Mrs. Green, cards; Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Wright, visitation; and Mrs. John Puckett and Mrs. Jimmy Felts, nominating. The meeting closed with the club prayer. Mrs. Gordon Hughes and Mrs. Ollie McDaniel will host the April 8 meeting at 6:15 p.m. at Holiday Inn.

Cold Cream Can Be Shoe Polish

Out of neutral shoe polish? Face the problem with face cream. Tissue cold cream sparingly on synthetic leather or fake reptile shoes, then wipe it off.

Now shine up the surface with a baby-soft cloth. Don't try this on real leather, but for takes it's great.

Changes Costly

2. Lie back down on floor. Bend knees so that soles of feet rest flat; press hands to diaphragm. Now take slow, deep breath and then, while exhaling, gradually raise head; inhale and slowly lower head. Repeat 10 times, resting between each repeat. Wedding Rites Held In Dallas

The announcement is being made here of the Dec. 28 marriage of Mariann Williams to PSG. E-7 Gustaf Otto Fajerson in the El Chico Banquet Room at Dallas.

Mrs. Fajerson is the granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Martin, 1022 1/2 Nolan, and is presently residing in Irving, while her husband serves with the Army in Vietnam. Fajerson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Fajerson, 342 Nimitz, Dallas. He will return from Vietnam in July.

The Rev. Robert Taylor of the First Christian Church in Allan, performed the ceremony before an improvised altar decorated with yellow candles in twin candelabra.

The bride wore an antique white satin floor-length gown, with long bell sleeves and accents of white lace. Her veil of illusion was held by a pearl tiara, and she carried a bouquet of white gardenias.

Miss Jo Ellen Smith served her sister as maid of honor, attired in a yellow satin, street-length dress with bell sleeves. She carried a yellow rose bouquet.

David Elton Owens was best man, and the usher was William A. Lambert of Carrollton. Altar taper lighters were Miss Debra Lee Lambert and Miss Valerie Lambert.

The couple took a wedding trip to Monterrey and Saltillo, Mexico.

A reception followed the ceremony. The refreshment table was covered with a yellow satin cloth, accented with white and yellow carnations. The tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. LaVita Blazio and Mrs. William Lambert served.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and of North Texas State University with a degree in elementary education. She is presently working for a master's degree in elementary guidance and counseling.

Fajerson was graduated from Adamson High School in Dallas, and is now with the Fifth Special Forces Group in An Lao Valley, South Vietnam.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Wanda Gaines, Atlanta, Georgia; Mrs. Martin and Don Prescott, Big Spring; Col. and Mrs. Matt Roberts, Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin LaMont and Mrs. Opal Jolly, Denton.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cooper, Route 1, Box 93, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Cecilia Jean, to Jimmy Lee Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ward of Coahoma. The couple plans a July 9 wedding at the Church of the Nazarene in Big Spring.

Quotable Quotes

By The Associated Press
Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I walked out on it; it didn't walk out on me. That's why I'm terrified about going back." — Actress Veronica Lake, planning a visit to Hollywood, her first trip there in nearly 20 years.

"Of course I've done a lot of interviews and press conferences, but it has always concerned politics. This was the first time I've been involved in an entertainment show, and it was terribly confusing, but fun." — Joan Kennedy, after taping an Andy Williams TV show in which she plays piano.

"I have funny encounters with visitors. A lady stepped off a sightseeing bus and asked me, 'I understand ancestors will be on view here. May I see them?'" — Patricia Maxwell Scott, great-great-granddaughter of Sir Walter Scott, speaking of tourists to the Scott mansion of Abbotsford.

grateful." — Thelma Russell, wife of Louis Russell, the world's longest living heart transplant patient.

"To tell the truth, I was just embarrassed, I'm a shy kind of person. But I liked the script and it was a film I wanted to do, so I just went ahead anyway." — Actress Susannah York, in an interview, explaining why she did an intimate lesbian scene in the movie "The Killing of Sister George."

"I just started crying — that's all I could do. There were times of doubt and waiting, but I never gave up hope. You always have to look for the bright side and hope for the best." — Kathleen Heavner, wife of one of the four U.S. airmen freed by leftist kidnappers in Turkey.

'Ladies, Beware' Advises Lone Women To Lock Homes, Cars

"Ladies, Beware" was the program presented by Mrs. W. J. Preibe and Mrs. Ross Callihan at the Friday meeting of the City Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. J. W. Elrod, 1800 Main.

Mrs. Preibe talked about personal safety precautions while driving, walking, using the telephone or when at home alone. She suggested keeping car doors locked at all times, and said that when a car is following a woman she should go to a police station or a well-lighted area rather than home.

Other hints offered by Mrs. Preibe were to keep purses on the floor of a car rather than on the seat, and she said to always look in the back seat before getting into a car.

At home, Mrs. Preibe said a woman should never allow anyone to come in to use the telephone, but should offer to make a call for them. She also said never to give your name over the telephone or to tell anyone you're alone.

Mrs. Callihan's topic was "Medical and Drug Safety." She discussed types of drugs, how they are obtained, what they are for, their effects, their effect when combined with alcohol, and driving recommendations for people taking a drug.

"Know your drugs, know yourself, know what you can take and how to take it," Mrs. Callihan said. "You should know what possible effect drugs have on you before you take them, and should keep a record of your reaction."

Mrs. Callihan also said the family doctor should be notified if you are taking any drugs when you go to him.

For home safety in taking medicine, Mrs. Callihan said that medicine should be kept in a locked or high cabinet to keep it from children. Labels should always be read carefully in good light. If two separate medicines are being taken, the cap of one should be replaced before the other one is opened, to prevent an accidental overdose.

If medicine is to be taken at night, it should be placed where it is necessary to get out of bed to take it. This prevents forgetting whether or not you have taken it.

Mrs. Callihan also said that medicine should always be kept in its original container, and that medicine that looks like candy should not be bought for children.

Mrs. Carl Gum, exhibit chairman, announced plans for the arts and crafts exhibit scheduled May 13 at Highland Center Mall.

In other business, a donation was made to the Easter Seal drive. The women will meet for lunch at 12:30 p.m., March 26 at the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Mrs. Paul Guy Talks On Ornamental Trees

Ornamental trees was the subject of a program given by Mrs. Paul Guy Wednesday when the Planters Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. C. M. Lewis, Sand Springs.

"The ornamental tree is a tree of beauty and is used as a decorative accent in landscaping," said Mrs. Guy. In describing such trees, the speaker said the bread fruit tree, which requires much care, is a tropical tree which can reach a height of 70 feet. It is grown in Latin American countries, and its fruit tastes somewhat like a potato.

The lantana or "wayfaring tree" grows only to a height of about 15 feet. Other trees discussed were the orchid, crab apple, magnolia, mimosa and dwarf evergreens.

Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales presided, announcing that the Amarillo Council of Garden Clubs will host the District One spring convention March 23-24. Locally, the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs will sponsor a flower show May 1 at First National Bank. The Planters Garden Club will hold a garage sale May 20-22 with a bake sale included the last day.

Mrs. Frank Wilson reported on the judges show which she attended in Midland along with other club members. Mrs. Clinkscales, Mrs. J. W. Trantham and Mrs. Lilton Trantham.

The meeting concluded with a tour of the hostess' yard and greenhouse. The next meeting will be an 8 a.m. breakfast in the home of Mrs. A. C. Moore, 1907 Main.

Texas Wild Flowers Seen On Color Films

"Texas Wild Flowers" was the program presented by Mrs. Floyd Mays for the Four O'Clock Garden Club at its meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. R. C. Alexander, 2702 Apache.

"Texas has a vast number of wild flowers; more than most states because of the variety of soils and climates," said Mrs. Mays. She became interested in wild flowers "just by walking around and noticing them."

Mrs. Mays showed slides of wild flowers found in Howard County and used the screen to illustrate means of identifying plants. The plant size, color and location, as well as the leaf shape, texture and location of various flower parts on the plant, are all used for identification.

Noting that all plants have a scientific Latin name compounded in two parts, Mrs. Mays said the first part denotes the genesis to which the plant belongs, and the second part is a qualifying word to designate some characteristic of the plant.

This characteristic may be the leaf shape, the name of the person who discovered it or the place where it was discovered.

Mrs. Guy Cook presided, and Mrs. John Moore became a new member. Plans were discussed for the District One convention March 23-24 in Amarillo, and it was announced that Flower Show School No. 4 will be held at the YMCA in Big Spring April 12-14.

The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., April 14 in the home of Mrs. Don Campbell, 2700 Larry. How to grow and use succulents will be discussed.

Analysis Of Writing Is Explained

Mrs. Frosty Robison discussed methods of handwriting analysis for the Junior Woman's Forum at its meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. Paul Petterson, 1512 Stadium.

While explaining various styles of handwriting, Mrs. Robison said, "Particular characteristics can reveal such things as criminal tendencies, emotional instability or mental illness."

Following the discussion, members each wrote a paragraph and exchanged with one another to analyze them.

Mrs. Bill Archibald presided, and announced that library day for the Westside Community Center children is March 23. Preliminary plans were also made for a fund-raising project.

Prevent Food From Spoiling When Home Freezer Stops

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
(County HD Agent)

A fairly common problem that results in homemakers making a desperate call to the county extension office is the discovery that the home food freezer has stopped running. Have you thought of what you should do if your home freezer has stopped?

If the freezer stops running and will be off for some time, you can take several steps to keep food from spoiling.

1. Keep the freezer closed.
2. Move the food to a locker plant, or "borrow" space from a neighbor or other friend whose freezer is filled.
3. Add dry ice if you can get it. To prevent burns, wear gloves when you handle dry ice.
4. Can the food if necessary.

Keeping the freezer closed is especially important. Open the freezer only to take out the food for moving to another freezer, or to add dry ice. Each time the freezer is opened warm air rushes in and will raise the temperature of the food.

Estimate how long the current will be off. Don't worry if you know you can have the freezer running again in a few hours.

HOW LONG?
When the freezer stops running, the power supply may be off or the freezer itself may be out of order. Try to find out how long the power will be off. Consult the instruction book to determine if there is something you can do to put the freezer back into operation. Or, try to find out how long it will take to get a serviceman to put the freezer back in running order.

Try to estimate about how long the food will stay frozen. With the freezer closed, food will usually stay frozen in a fully loaded cabinet for two days; in a cabinet with less than half a load, not more than a day.

How long the food in your freezer will stay frozen also depends on the type of food it contains. A freezer full of meat will not warm up so fast as a freezer full of baked food. The colder the food, the longer it will stay frozen. The freezer itself is also a contributing factor. A well-insulated freezer will keep food frozen much longer than one with little insulation.

Make some arrangements for taking care of your food in an emergency. If food is to be removed from the cabinet and transferred to another place wrap the food in plenty of newspapers and blankets, or use insulated boxes and rush to the place it is to be stored.

DRY ICE
If locker space is not available and it looks as though the freezer will be stopped for longer than a day, use dry ice if you can get it. The more dry ice you use, the longer the food will keep frozen.

Twenty-five pounds of dry ice should hold the temperature of

Plans Tour Of Europe

Robbie Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zack Gray of Merriam, Kan., formerly of Big Spring, will join a student tour of Europe during the Easter holidays.

The nine-day trip will include stops in Rome, Pompeii, Munich and Salzburg. In all, about 200 students and sponsors are making the trip.

Miss Gray is a senior at Shawnee Mission Northwest High School in Kansas City, Kan., where she participates in numerous activities. Her sister, Mrs. Donnie Baker, and grandmother, Mrs. Z. T. Gray, both live in Big Spring.

a half-full 10-cubic-foot cabinet below freezing for 2 to 3 days. Food in a fully loaded cabinet will stay frozen for 3 to 4 days if you put the dry ice in soon after the freezer goes off. You may be able to buy dry ice at a cold-storage warehouse. Put heavy cardboard directly on the packages of frozen food and then put the dry ice on top of the cardboard.

What should you do with the food if it thaws? Occasionally, frozen foods are partially or completely thawed before you discover that the freezer is not operating. Partial thawing and refreezing does reduce the quality of foods, particularly fruits, vegetables, and prepared foods. Red meats are affected less than many other foods.

You may safely refreeze foods that have thawed if they still contain ice crystals or if they are still cold — about 40 degrees F. — and have been at this temperature no longer than 1 or 2 days after thawing. Foods warmed to 40 degrees F. or higher are not likely to be fit for refreezing.

Fruits usually ferment when they start to spoil. A little fermentation will not make fruits dangerous to eat, but it may spoil their flavor. So you can refreeze thawed fruits if they still taste and smell good. Or you can use them in cooking and baking or for making jams, jellies, and preserves.

DANGEROUS
Be careful when you refreeze thawed meats and poultry. They become unsafe to eat when they start to spoil. Therefore, examine each package of food before you decide what to do with it. If the color or odor of the thawed food is poor or questionable, get rid of the food. It may be dangerous!

Texts show you can refreeze beef, veal, and lamb that show no sign of spoilage. If the package has been opened, the meat should be rewrapped before refreezing.

Often, you can't tell by the odor whether vegetables, shellfish, and cooked foods have spoiled. Bacteria may multiply rapidly in these foods. So don't refreeze any of these foods when they have thawed completely. If ice crystals are still in the food, you can refreeze it immediately. If the condition of the food is poor or questionable, get rid of it.

Check your freezer daily to be sure it is running. One of the common causes of stoppage will be caused by the plug being partially or completely removed from the electric outlet. During the seasons when power failure is frequent in your community, it is good insurance to run the freezer between 10 degrees and 20 degrees below zero.

PACKAGING
Use care in preparing, packaging, and freezing food. The more sanitary you are in preparing food for the freezer, the better it will be able to withstand a stoppage of the freezer. Sanitary preparation means fewer bacteria to cause spoilage. Frozen bacteria are not dead bacteria; when they warm up they become active.

Overdue Taxes Would Solve Money Problems

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas could solve much of its money problems if it could only collect $350 million back taxes, a report by the delinquent ad valorem tax study commission shows.

The statewide total for delinquent property taxes is at least $350 million, the report said. This figure would probably rise to more than $1 billion if the estimated penalty and interest due on that amount is added, plus the taxes, penalty and interest which should have been collected on properties left off the tax rolls.

AMOUNT UNKNOWN

The commission, which collected data from 2,500 of the states 3,300 taxing units, since last May, said that no one ever knew how much was owed to all counties, cities, schools and other tax units.

"Although the ad valorem tax is the largest revenue producer in the state, accounting for more than $1 billion a year for all tax units, there are not many officials who are familiar with all aspects of the tax," the report said.

"There are even fewer lawyers who are knowledgeable—a tax attorney today is a lawyer who specializes in federal taxes —and mere property owners are in another world altogether. This is the tax that nobody knows."

The 15-member commission, headed by Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg, said the indicated minimum of the delinquent taxes outstanding for the whole state is $200,720,000, excluding penalty and interest.

It added that the 1,000 tax units which did not report were not all small districts with insignificant tax levies and delinquencies.

REAL ESTATE

Most of the amount owed is on real estate, since many taxing bodies made no effort to assess personal property unless the tax is easily collectable.

The commission was established by the 1969 legislature to not only find out how much money was owed, but also to learn the reasons for delinquency.

REASONS

Bates said it polled 1,500 tax officials who gave these reasons:

—Little effort is made to assess personal property.

—Inability to pay by low income persons, hardship cases and elderly persons.

—Taxpayer indifference and or ignorance about the responsibility of owning property.

—Tax suits are too complicated and too costly and foreclosure titles are no good.

—Property owners frustration over high taxes and government spending.

—Inherited property where no one wants to pay taxes.

—Faulty assessments, inadequate records, shortage of trained personnel, and failure to require renditions of property.

OVERWHELMED

The collectors also said they were overwhelmed by the large number of tax laws and were confused by confliction and complex statutes.

A definite study of Texas tax statutes and decisions, past and present, should be made and a property tax code for all tax units prepared, the commission has recommended to the legislature.

The state auditor should develop a uniform data processing system for property tax levies, assessments, collections and reports and make a feasibility study of establishing regional computer facilities for tax units.

German Take Over Of France Depicted

LIVES TO GIVE. By Sanchez Gramont. Putnam, $6.95.

Here is an engrossing novel about the German occupation of France in World War II and the tragic sacrifices made by members of the Resistance.

The author has gone deeply into the substance of what a military occupation means to the occupiers, the collaborators and the resisters, delineating the motivations and psychological traumas that envelope countless individuals caught up in a terrifying situation. The period covered is from 1940 to 1944.

He builds his narrative around four Resistance leaders. First there is Raspail, a minor bureaucrat in Orleans who does what he can to frustrate the Germans. Next there is Kleber, a teacher and writer who becomes a specialist in government infiltration and the preparation of false documents. Next comes Cambonne, a general who had been captured, who had exchanged professional chitchat with a German general he used to know, and then had escaped by pretending to be a German general himself. Finally there is Grenelle, who had been a partisan in the Spanish Civil War and considers himself too experienced to follow all the security rules of the underground.

Here are scenes of foxy cunning in the black markets, corruption in the Vichy government, dialogues in which characters of all stripes rationalize their positions — a withering commentary on a strange mixture of human frailties and the human will to survive. It is long (320 pages) but it has its suspense, on the question of which member of the Resistance was the weak link in the chain.

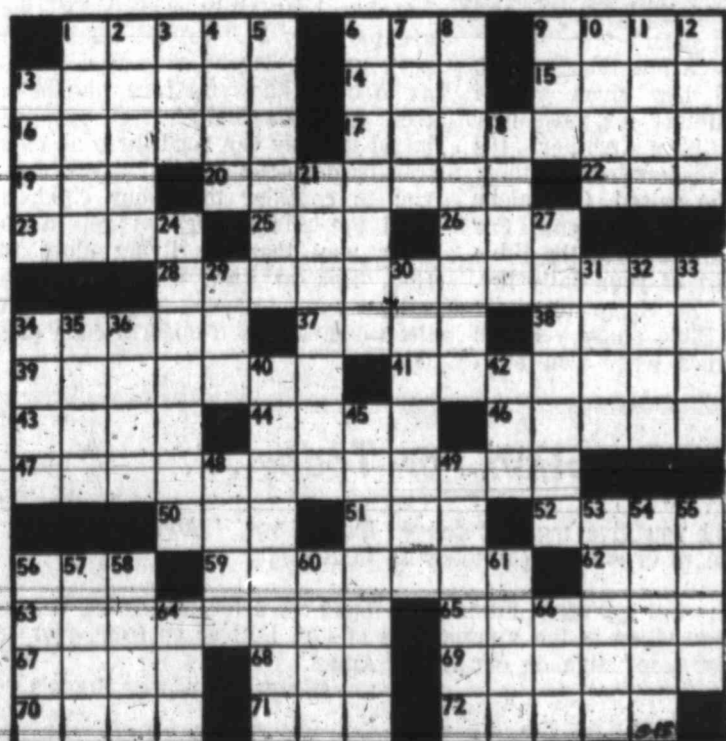

The author's nonfiction works include the popular volume "The French." This is his first novel, and it is gripping, disturbing and grimly fascinating.

Needs Another Look

The proposal of participation by the county in a Council of Governments for this area seems to have come to an impasse here. We hope it will not be the blocking force which would prevent an area COG from taking shape.

This is the only area of consequence in the state which does not have a regional council.

There appear to be two reasons for a decision not to pledge participation. One is a lack of understanding of the COG idea, or, in the alternative, of not being convinced that it is necessary or advantageous. The other seems to be a fear that cooperation in a COG would somehow be an abdication of authority by members of the commissioners court.

We cannot see that the first reason cannot be resolved by earnest inquiry. We cannot believe that the second view is justified.

The idea of a COG is not new to this area. It has been under discussion for almost two years and surely the basis of some understanding should have been made available within that time. If not, then it is possible to obtain good and complete explanations, bearing in mind that each COG has great flexibility and does not have to fit into strait-jacket but can be tailor made for a specific regional community.

Beyond a commitment for a fixed rate of financial support, (usually on a per capita basis), there is nothing about a COG by which one county or one city, or one agency can bind another. A COG simply cannot move in and act for someone else.

It can, however, provide a number of services upon invitation. For instance, it is a ready research arm. Through its such experienced and specially trained people as it might employ, the COG can assist in planning, it can be invaluable in training (as it has especially in law enforcement work).

Like it or not, the COG is going to play an increasingly greater role in the coordination of government programs and grants. Under the theory that localities (local regions) know best, the state and federal governments are going to look to the COG for recommendations before programs are approved or funds are distributed. For instance, help to libraries, museums, and numerous other activities will be coordinated with the help of COG.

If other counties in the area express a willingness to participate, Howard County would be ill advised to kill the belated effort to set up a regional council for this area. Hence, we hope that the matter will be given more serious study until there is a clear understanding that invites action.

District Of Travis?

Relations between legislators and the city of Austin appear lower than ever. Two House members have introduced a constitutional amendment to create a "district of Travis," putting Austin under legislative jurisdiction.

Legislators, about 100 of whom have signed the proposal, are complaining of "stepchild" treatment by the people of Austin and of police harassment.

Countering the complaints, a member of the House from Austin said the "District of Travis" might just delight the people. He noted that the federal government pays 40 per cent of the District of Columbia's operating costs and thought the legislature should do the same if the change is made.

If Austin becomes simply unbearable for lawmakers, towns like Terlingua, Dime box, and Umberger probably would welcome the legislators.

The Convention

Around The Rim

Bob Whipkey

Not the least of great American pastimes is that of convention-attending.

If there is a trade or professional group — business, social, educational, political or what have you — that doesn't organize affiliated individuals into regional, state and national association, this particular segment of society has escaped me.

Cities are well aware of what the convention dollar means. The hotels, the restaurants, the transportation companies, the taverns, the big department stores — all are pointed toward accommodating (if not fleecing) the conventioneer.

THIS CITIZEN is fair game. He's away from the routine of his own business for a couple or three days, and likely is on an expense account. He is in no mood to quibble about prices lest his fellows in the association regard him as a tightwad.

He usually takes the "little woman" with him, and will not protest when she and the other "girls" are assigned a bus tour which includes shopping. All conventions these days have a separate, well-organized program for the ladies.

CONVENTIONS, alas, are falling into patterns just like every other activity that human beings engage in. The association delegate gets an elaborate announcement of the gathering and the highlights of the program.

HE TAKES OFF for the scene of the festivities (which are interspersed with what are called business sessions). His trip is timed so that he arrives at the hotel at precisely the same hour as 300 assorted other delegates, and they mill like cattle while harassed hotel clerks try to assign all the rooms at once. Then they stand around as a mob again while a few overworked bellmen get the cars checked in, the luggage assembled, and the visitors escorted to their rooms.

SHORTLY AFTERWARD, everybody heads for the registration desk (every convention has a registration desk). There the delegate antes up his share of convention costs and is presented with lapel badges for himself and spouse, these to be worn prominently throughout the sessions.

The identification badges permit old Jerry to pretend, as he approaches old Harry, that he recognized Harry immediately. Harry, in turn, is able to learn Jerry's home town immediately. This enables both of them to exchange greetings in the old-buddy fashion, whether they really know one another or not.

REGISTRATION OVER, the creature mob then moves en masse to the opening "get-acquainted" or "hospitality" hour. This gives time for everybody to peer at everybody else's name tags.

There will be business gatherings on the morrow, with a speaker all the way from New York or Washington, and there will be a humorist appearing at either the luncheon session or at the "president's dinner."

THE MERRY-GO-ROUND finally comes to a stop, and all delegates attempt to check out of the hotel at the same time, as if on cue. This jams up the cashier's desk, the bellmen's services and the parking garage.

Amazingly enough, everybody finally gets away, grateful at heart that there won't be another of these things for a year. It's either American enterprise or American madness.

Students And War

Marquis Childs

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — "... I personally want to say that I am appalled and ashamed that things should have come to such a pass that I am skeptical of the ability of black revolutionaries to achieve a fair trial anywhere in the United States. In large part this atmosphere has been created by police actions and persecutions against the Panthers in many parts of the country. ..."

THESE WORDS were spoken by Yale's President Kingman Brewster Jr. on the eve of a huge demonstration that had the potential of mass violence to the town and the university last April. It was widely believed then that Brewster's forthright address turned the tide and averted loss of life and property and irreparable damage to an ancient institution.

The immediate objective of the demonstration that had drawn 35,000 or more outsiders to New Haven was the impending series of trials of Panthers charged with the murder of one of their number. March on the courthouse! Free Bobby Seale! As Brewster warned, such acts could only make the Panther position impossible.

IN THE YEAR that has passed one Panther trial has been held, with the defendant's lawyer agreeing it was fair trial. With the struggle to impanel 12 jurors ending after months of courtroom dispute, Seale is to be tried. Emotions have cooled and the legal process is accepted as an inevitable result of the alleged torture-murder of Panther defector.

WHILE THE Panther issue has cooled, the tide of feeling over the Vietnam war is rising again. W. Averell Harriman and Cyrus Vance came here for a Vietnam teach-in that was to have been a low-key meeting with campus leaders. But the demand to participate was so great that more than a thousand students packed the Law School auditorium to put challenging questions to the two men who conducted the initial peace negotiations in Paris with the North Vietnamese.

IN THE traditions of an earlier day when university presidents were expected to contribute to the moral and intellectual leadership of the nation, Brewster is speaking out on the war. He chose Alumni Day as the occasion recently to talk about the terrible tension between the imperative of university neutrality and the imperative of university morality. His theme — the bombing of civilians in Indochina — was one that increasingly is stirring student dissent.

AMONG THE young, as they anticipate a renewed activity in the spring, there is a realization of the perilous line between peaceful protest and violence. But the spring will see the marches and the protests again for, as Brewster put it, the universities and their students and faculties have an obligation to prevent the moral cooling of America. My Answer

Billy Graham

I am a mother with four small children. How can I possibly find time for Bible study and prayer? It seems to me that preachers do not understand such problems.

S. J. No, I know that not only do we preachers find it hard to understand the problems of mothers and housewives, in fact, few men can fully understand these problems. But this I do know: God understands all of your problems and He loves you and sympathizes with you.

Let me suggest a few things which may help: God has given you a precious responsibility for those four children. You have neither the strength nor the wisdom to raise them as they should be raised. God alone can give these things to you. For that reason you must make the Bible and prayer a part of your daily life. While you may not have time for long periods of Bible study you can read a few verses when you start the day and also pray, asking God to bless you throughout the day and give you the strength you need. I am very sure that if you take the time to talk to Him and to read His Word you will find that things will go much smoother the rest of the day. This time is not wasted but actually fits you for your work and helps you to meet your many problems.

It has been truly said that if we are too busy to read the Bible and pray we are busier than God wants us to be. I know mothers who have their Bible or Bible verses propped up where they can read them as they iron or do other tasks. Let me urge you to consider that your children need the things you can get in no other way than by living close to God. Talk to Him, ask Him to be with you and to speak to you through the Bible. It will transform each day for you.

A Devotion For Today...

Terrorism Grows

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Although governments may not like to talk about it, they are facing an increasing peril in the terrorism involving kidnappings of prominent officials and diplomats which have become commonplace. No international conference has brought an answer, nor have individual governments in Latin America or on any continent found that terrorist activities can be stopped just by the paying of ransoms.

THE DETENTION of four American soldiers, seized by a Turkish "liberation" group, is one of the few incidents that has not been prolonged. But in another part of the world this was followed almost immediately by the kidnapping of the attorney general of Uruguay. The same tactic of terrorism appears in country after country.

It is recognized that terrorists usually are left-wingers and revolutionaries who try to capitalize on the discontent in their respective countries. The episodes emphasize the absence of any adequate police power to deal with the small groups which abduct well-known persons, particularly foreigners, and hold them for ransom.

THE TROUBLE has emerged repeatedly in a number of countries in Latin America. While the demand for ransom has been for the most part resisted, there have been some instances where it has been paid.

One of the weaknesses in many capitals of the world with systems of detection that could lead to the capture of the kidnapers. The major powers could be of help in training the law-enforcement agencies of the smaller nations, the governments of which may ultimately crumble unless the terrorists — really revolutionaries — are caught and punished.

TERRORISM EXISTS in various forms throughout the world. Bombings by dissident groups are reported nearly everywhere. In the United States, the damage from such crimes has been growing steadily. In 1970, there were 1,096 bombings, more than double the previous year. The rise continues, with 79 explosions in January, compared with 51 in the same month a year ago. Even the Capitol building was struck on March 1.

THE SUBJECT has become one of major importance in every country. While the organization of American States has discussed the problem, no constructive action has been taken. If terrorism continues and expands, the smaller nations will need the financial help of the larger countries in order to deal with such tactics.

Where social and economic conditions have produced unrest, there is every reason for more attention to be given to the reforms that will reduce the discontent which exists. But in several countries the rebels are not seeking merely social and economic reform. They are bent on overthrowing governments or the "establishment."

HARDLY ANY country has adequately trained forces to deal with terrorist groups. Each country has been struggling with the problem by itself, but the time may not be far off when the Organization of American States, for example, will have to reconvene to consider whether united action will have to be taken in Latin America. For its members now are in constant turmoil and the victims of disorder — with kidnappings, bombings and other forms of terrorism amounting to guerrilla warfare.

There is much talk about peace in the world, but internal peace is growing more and more difficult to maintain each day. (Copyright, 1971, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

No Speakers

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — My friend S. J. Michelson, a registered ghost writer who works out of New York City, has just added a new terror to those that have been predicted for the 1980s. S. J. predicts that in 10 years from now there will be a famine in speakers the likes of which the United States has never seen.

S. J. told me: "This country is using up rhetoric twice as fast as it can be reproduced, and if we keep wasting our speakers as we are doing now, we could find ourselves speechless by 1985."

CITING SCIENTIFIC data S. J. said, "There were 11,198 prepared and extemporaneous speeches delivered last year in New York City not counting TV appearances by Mayor John Lindsay.

"Ten years ago there were only 4,506. By 1980 the demand for speeches by Rotary clubs alone will be 23,897. Even with a new crop of politicians, radical students and Women's Lib activists, it will be impossible to supply one quarter of the requests for speakers in 10 years from now."

I asked S. J. how he explained the escalating demand for speakers.

"THIS IS A COUNTRY that thrives on meetings. Three Americans can't have breakfast, lunch or dinner together without booking a speaker to address them. We are holding more conventions, more protest meetings and more fund-raising events than any time in our history.

"For example, in any given night in this country there are 5,679 Republican fund-raising dinners going on. At the same time there is only one Spiro Agnew. Everyone knows you can spread Spiro Agnew just so far."

"BUT SURELY there must be a lot of new speakers coming up to fill the needs of the country," I protested.

"That's just the point. The younger generation which we were counting on to help out can't talk."

"What do you mean they can't talk?"

"THE NEW GENERATION can't verbalize. They've been listening to rock music since they were born and watching television since they were 3, and it's impossible for them to complete a sentence, much less deliver a speech. The reason so many of your radical students use four-letter words these days is that they don't know the correct word to use in expressing a thought."

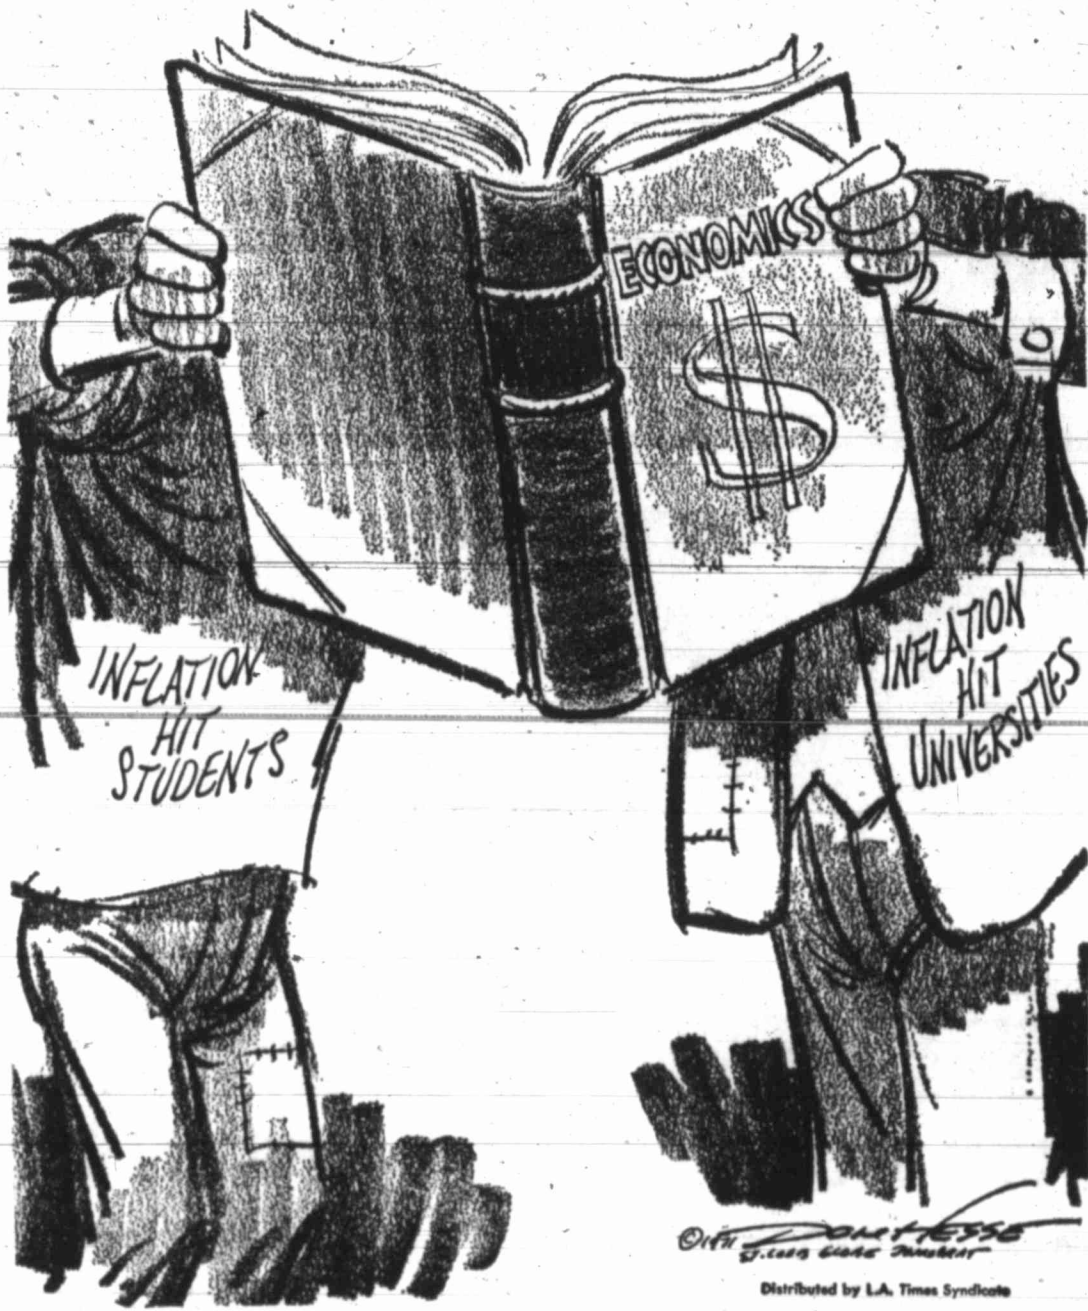

"But surely the government can supply speakers to prevent this catastrophe," I said.

S. J. SHOOK his head. "Unfortunately no one believes anything anyone in the government says these days. They won't even book someone from the government for prayer breakfasts any more."

"What can we do to stem the tide?" I asked.

S. J. said, "The only answer is to send all able-bodied persons on welfare out on the lecture circuit. If they want to eat they should be able to sing for their supper."

HOMWORK

Prime Rate Goes Down Again

By LINDA RUBEY

AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the nation's big commercial banks cut their prime lending rate again and President Nixon vigorously denounced a voluntary Japanese textile import agreement this past week.

The prime lending rate was pared to 5 1/2 per cent from 5 3/4 per cent. The move was initiated by Chase Manhattan Bank of New York which reduced its rate even lower to 5 1/4 per cent.

The prime rate is the interest commercial banks charge on loans to their best corporate customers. This was the fifth prime rate cut this year, bringing the rate down from the record 8 1/2 per cent of March, 1970.

The Japanese textile industry came forth with a voluntary agreement to restrict its imports to the United States for three years. The Japanese declaration said the industry would limit its exports of cotton, wool and synthetic textiles to the United States to a 5 per cent growth rate this year and 6 per cent in the two succeeding years.

President Nixon sharply criticized the voluntary agreement and said it "will not result in an acceptable solution."

Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, welcomed the voluntary agreement, saying, "It is my strong belief that the quota-type legislation which was considered in the Congress last year won't be necessary." Mills himself had sponsored a bill in 1970 which is still before Congress calling for compulsory import quotas on textiles.

The Senate Banking and Currency Committee reaffirmed for the second time its nomination of William J. Casey as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. The nomination of Casey, a 55-year-old New York tax lawyer, was challenged after the Senate first gave its approval because of his involvement in three civil lawsuits and some of his past business activities.

Leading economists spouted varied but essentially rosy projections for the economy in 1971. Most noted that business appears to be strengthening and that an upswing in consumer spending is likely.

But almost all cautioned that the government's policy of easy money and deficit spending could as easily rekindle in-

- Nixon raps Japanese textile import agreement
- William J. Casey affirmed again for SEC post
- Economists show optimism about business for 1971
- Businesses planning more plant investment for year
- U.S. has greater deficit in its balance of payments

flation as real economic growth. They said the key problem was how to restrain inflation while reducing unemployment.

The Commerce Department noted that unemployment eased to 5.8 per cent in January from 6 per cent. But at the same time the Labor Department noted the wholesale price index rose to a seasonally adjusted 8.4 per cent annual rate in February from 6 per cent in January.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said the economy's pace would quicken if business and consumer confidence continued to mount. A Commerce Department survey revealed businesses have revised their plans to invest in plant and equipment this year upward 4.3 per cent from 1970.

Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board indicated the Federal Reserve should resist pressures to ease money still further, and instead called for tax relief programs. He argued that the money supply has increased to an annual rate of about 6 per cent since October, which he considered ample. The administration generally has called for an increase of between 7 per cent to 9 per cent.

The New York Federal Reserve Bank reported the United States has borrowed almost $1.7 billion from foreign central banks in the past 18 months which it has been unable to repay through normal channels. Instead the United States has had to draw upon its monetary reserves, including gold.

"Continued deficits on this sale could cause major problems for the dollar," it warned. "The deficit in the nation's balance of payments, as measured on the official settlements basis, increased to more than $10 billion last year against a $2.7 billion surplus in 1969.

When it was announced a year ago for the 1970-71 season, the $4.66 level represented 87 per cent of parity.

Inflation and the rise in farm operating expenses, however, caused that parity comparison to erode during the current year. If the 85 per cent level had been restored, the new support would have been $4.92 per hundredweight.

Hardin expressed concern that if the support were increased it could lead to larger purchasing of surplus dairy products by the Agriculture Department.

The price support program is carried out through purchases of dairy products to help boost regular prices.

"The longtime well-being of dairymen requires that milk prices be kept at levels which will permit the overwhelming proportion of milk to clear through commercial channels," Hardin said.

Senior Chief Radioman Archie J. Adkins, 1302 Lexington, was retired this week from the Naval Reserve in ceremonies at the Midland-Odessa Naval Reserve unit.

Adkins was reared in Big Spring and he and his wife returned here when he retired after 35 years service as an enlistee and as a civilian instructor for the military.

He began in the old horse cavalry, later was in a signal service company, instructed for the Army Air Force (and the Air Force), was on duty with the U.S. Navy, joined the Army Reserve and later the Naval Reserve, and finally did a stint with the Military Sea Transport Service.

ARCHIE J. ADKINS

He began his reserve duty with the Navy at Belleville, Ill., in April, 1957, then transferred to the unit at Biloxi, Miss., when he was moved to Keesler Field, and finally to the Midland-Odessa unit when he retired to his home town in June, 1968.

Adkins was born in Vaughn, N.M., March 13, 1911, the year before it became a state. His parents moved here when he was a baby, and he is a graduate from Big Spring High School. In 1933, at the depth of the Depression he joined the 5th U.S. Cavalry at Bracketville and later was assigned to Fort D. A. Russell at Marfa. At the end of his tenure, he re-enlisted but in the signal service company and saw service in Seattle, Wash., and in Alaska. Discharged in 1939, he took a job with the Civil Aeronautics Authority at Lebo, Kan., and joined the Army reserves. It was at Lebo that he met and married Eleanor Mae Lewis May 1, 1940. The following year he transferred to Scott Field, Ill., as a radio instructor in the Army Air Force technical school. Subsequent assignments took him to Traux Field, Madison, Wis., and to Keesler AFB.

During World War II, he enlisted in 1943 in a ship repair unit and saw service with the U.S. Navy on Guam. After he returned to his post as civilian instructor for the Air Force, he joined the Naval Reserve and got called up for a year of active duty out of Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, aboard the USS Woodson during the Berlin Crisis.

Shortly before his retirement, he became a licensed radio station operator in April, 1966, and later boarded a United Fruit company ship chartered to the Military Sea Transport, which took him to the Vietnam area, where he was during the Tet offensive. While there, their son, John C. Adkins (Lt. USN) came over from DaNang and visited his father's ship.

Being separated from home ties, however, wasn't living, Adkins decided, so he retired and returned to Big Spring, where his mother, Mrs. D. W. Adkins, still lives at 2103 Johnson.

He and his wife have three children, Mrs. Louise Temple, LaCrosse, Wis.; Lt. John C. Adkins assigned to the USS Valcouve with home port in Bahrain in the Persian Gulf; and James C. Adkins a candidate for his doctorate in chemistry from the University of Southern Mississippi. They have six grandchildren.

Webb AFB Enlisted Men Receive Awards

A staff sergeant assigned to the consolidated base personnel office and an airman working in the comptroller division have been singled out for monthly honors in the 3560th Air Base Group.

S. Sgt. Patrick M. Smith, non-commissioned officer in charge of airman records, was selected as the NCO of the month for February and Airman I.C. Calvin E. Perry, assigned to the operations section of the data automation branch, was chosen airman of the month for the same period.

numbers which could not be accounted for. He followed through with the project and within a very short time resolved the situation." During the recent Inspector General's visit, the airman records section received an excellent rating. Col. King attributed this achievement largely to the efforts of Sgt. Smith.

The airman of the month was cited by Maj. Paul Braddon, wing comptroller, for "his understanding knowledge of automated procedures and his ability to apply them." Maj. Braddon added, "Of particular significance is his tight adherence to production control schedules." Airman Perry is married to the former Miss Barbara Noren of Salt Lake City, Utah.

WALKING IN THE RECOVERY ROOM

All the advances in modern medicine do not come from new drugs or advanced surgical techniques. Not too long ago doctors found out that in certain operations it was better to have the patients on their feet as soon as possible. Today some surgeons have their patients actually walking in the recovery room.

It seems that the sooner the body starts back to functioning normally, the quicker it will start healing. Hospital stays now are usually shorter. In the same way, today's new prescription medicines help you to recover more quickly: A physician's skilled care is the shortest road to better health.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Select The Church Of Your Choice And Be Faithful
In Your Attendance

When Tom retired, it seemed as if his dreams had come true. For years he and Grace had been planning. There would be that little pink house in Florida and time to do all the things they wanted. They could keep in touch with their friends back home, and there would be occasional visits back and forth.

What they hadn't realized was how much they would miss their church. It had been such a part of their life! Now it seemed that no other church could fill the gap. In fact, they didn't go to another church their first few weeks in Florida.

But finally one Sunday they went to the little church they had been passing each day on the way to the golf course. True, it wasn't like the church back home—outwardly. But, when you got down to essentials, it was the same.

If you have moved to another community, find a new church home. Regardless of its appearance, remember that it is God's House and in it you will be welcome.

A new HOME

Hubby's Clothes

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have two sons, married to girls I dearly love, and I hope the feeling is reciprocated.

One son is meticulous in his appearance and the care of his clothes. The other son, while a perfectionist in his work, is very negligent about his personal appearance. His clothes are often in need of pressing, cleaning, buttons, etc.

Don't you think that a wife should systematically go through her husband's wardrobe and keep his clothes in good condition? When my husband was alive, I devoted each Monday morning to this purpose and found him most grateful for my interest.

DEAR NON: What you are trying to ask is, "How can I get my daughter-in-law to take better care of my son's wardrobe without damaging our relationship?"

You may not be able to. But since your son is old enough to be married, he's old enough to ask his wife's assistance in keeping his clothes presentable. If indeed he cares about his appearance, if neither her nor his wife care, no matter how many buttons you notice "missing," continue to keep your lip buttoned.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to abortion: Women must learn to say NO to their husbands more often. In fact, everyone must say no to evil. We are now living in a warring, whoring, boring world because we have forgotten God's word. Jesus told us that if a family cannot afford more children they should quit having sex.

I have never married or had sex even though I have been asked. If a person can say no to evil once, it is a lot easier the next time. Jesus also said, "Love the sinner, but hate the sin." People today have it turned around. They love sin and hate the sinner. If I sound holier than thou it is because Christ has made me holy. "A SAVED WOMAN"

DEAR "SAVED": You insist upon equating sex with sin, and feel that the absence of sex has made you somewhat "holier." Theologians (and indeed Christ Himself) would disagree with you.

DEAR ABBY: They say "time heals all wounds," but this wound of mine has not healed, and it has been 10 years.

A neighbor boy (I'll call him) is the living image of my husband, John. I have a son Jim's age, and they are constantly taken for "twins." John and I have discussed it, and he weakly denies that it is anything more than a coincidence. I know better. A year before Jim's birth there was ugly talk about this neighbor lady and my husband.

The older Jim gets, the more he resembles my husband. There is talk, even now, and I can understand why. I try not to blame anyone, least of all the innocent boy, but it is so difficult for me to have to look at him and members of his family nearly every day.

How can I put this out of my mind? Moving is out of the question. TRAPPED DEAR TRAPPED: My only suggestion would be for you and your family to move. You say "It's out of the question." As I see it, it is out of the question for you to remain where you are. It would be well worth any sacrifice you'd have to make in order to relocate.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Ingrown Toenail

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have two miserable, painful ingrown toenails on my big toes, and somewhat infected. I have tried soaking my feet, cutting my nails regularly, and even digging them out of where they grow down into my toes. My family doctor cut my nails way back and said I would not have any more trouble, but they grew right back and are as painful as ever.

I work at a job that keeps me on my feet six days a week, 8 1/2 to 10 hours a day, and when I get home my feet hurt all over. Can you give me some advice? Could I or would it be possible to have the entire nails taken off? — F.D.

the shape and tightness of footwear are pretty generally responsible for the trouble, be sure you wear shoes with adequate toe room. Keep in mind also that some foot troubles are not a matter of the shoes you wear, but the socks you wear. Socks can exert rather considerable pressure if they are too small, and I have a strong suspicion that "stretch socks," unless big enough, can sometimes be culprits.

I'd feel much sater about this business — since you mentioned infection — if you would see a podiatrist, or see your regular doctor to guard against the infection getting out of control. If infection gets started in an ingrown nail, it can cause miseries considerably worse than you now have. Once the nail has grown out, cut it straight across — not arched. Your nail problem as well as the sore feet may be due to an arch defect which would be helped by appropriate support. Removal of the nail is not always the answer.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband was told he had a high cholesterol count. He was also overweight. The doctor put him on the American Heart Association diet. He followed it faithfully, losing his excess weight and achieving a normal cholesterol count.

I recently read on the food page that "there is no cholesterol in avocados," but this is taboo on the Heart Association list. It is also one of my husband's favorite foods. Can I safely give him an occasional avocado? And what about shellfish? — A.B.

The avocado is taboo on the list not because of cholesterol but because of the calorie value. The avocado is rich in vegetable oils. An occasional treat of avocado would be safe enough if you keep in mind that the oils make it more fattening than most vegetables. Check the Heart Association list and you'll find that shellfish are allowable occasionally.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is nevertheless vital to human life.

'FOOLS' AT CINEMA
... Jason Robards, Katharine Ross

Katharine Ross At Home For Movie

The screen's current golden girl, Katharine Ross, returned to her native San Francisco to make her latest film, "Fools," starring Jason Robards. It was in the Bay city that she began her acting career in Herb Blau and Jules Irving's Theatre Workshop in the early 1960's. Her discovery process really began in 1964 when a "Sam Benedict" series segment was filmed in San Francisco and she was given a small part. "I got $250.00 for the job and thought nothing more would come of it," she recalls. "Then when the show went on the air I began getting calls from agents and studios in Hollywood. I used to fly to Los Angeles every morning to test or read for a role and fly back home the same night. I'd rush from the airport to the theatre just in time to make the curtain — with little chance to get my makeup on properly."

Spanish Soprano To Tour America

NEW YORK (AP) — Spanish soprano Victoria de los Angeles will make her first American tour in five years in October and November. Miss De los Angeles made her New York debut at Carnegie Hall in 1950 and was engaged by the Metropolitan Opera the following year, making her debut there as Marguerite in "Faust."

Telly Savalas Acting Career Still Surprise

Telly Savalas still regards his acting career with considerable surprise despite his work in a dozen major films and an Academy Award nomination for "Birdman of Alcatraz," his first film. Savalas co-stars Saturday with Gregory Peck and Omar Sharif in "Mackenna's Gold," at the Jet Theatre, in which he plays a veteran cavalryman turned renegade in the wilds of the Southwest when he is hit by gold fever.

Savalas' misgivings about his actor's status were bared during Arizona location filming of the big outdoor adventure film. Telly is still vastly amused by what he calls his "freak" entrance into the acting ranks, since his schooling and prior employment were nowhere concerned with acting, Savalas' style.

The star received a B.S. degree from Columbia University and then joined the U.S. State Department. He was executive producer of English language broadcasts to the Near East, South Asia and Africa for three years, later becoming a senior director of news and special events for ABC. While teaching an adult education course, he was asked to play a bit part on TV. After two more TV appearances, in more important roles, Savalas was selected to play the villainous convict in "Birdman of Alcatraz."

Pants Allowed

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The last of the four Peoria public high schools to forbid slacks on girls has capitulated: girls may now wear slacks in classes. The change came after a series of student, faculty and parental polls which turned up conflicting results.

LAND RAIDERS
... Janet Landgard, George Maharis

George Maharis Never Type-Cast

Nobody is going to type-cast George Maharis, least of all himself! The actor, starring Saturday at the Jet Theatre with Telly Savalas, Ariane Dahl and Janet Landgard in "Land Raiders," plays a Mexican in the Arizona Territory when settlers were butchering Apaches for their land. Savalas, as Maharis' brother who has anglicized his name, is the most ruthless of the land-raiders.

Maharis plays a hard-riding, fast-shooting frontier character. It's a role far-removed from his debut in show business, singing the lead in a high school musical, even if it does come close to his later three years' service in the Marines. Returned to civilian life, Maharis decided on a singing career. He began taking voice lessons and concurrently held down the vocal spot with several bands. With a trio, "The Singing Marines," he toured the concert and supper club circuit and, then, a musical stock company in White Plains, New York.

With Wally Cox on the "Mr. Peepers" TV show, Maharis played a comic beatnik type, won rave reviews and continued in television while he studied acting with Sanford Meisner and Lee Strasberg.

He then appeared opposite Maureen Stapleton in "27 Wagons Full of Cotton" on the road, and, from this point on, worked constantly, alternating between TV and the stage. On the summer circuit, he was in "The Desperate Hours" and scored in "A Hatful of Rain." In the early off-Broadway movement, he portrayed leading roles in "Zoo Story," "I, Too, Have Lived in Arcadia," "Deathwatch," and "The Saintliness of Margery Kemp." He achieved national prominence as "Buz" in the TV series "Route 66."

An accomplished artist, Maharis is one of three painters who executed the ceiling murals for New York's famed Lunt-Fontanne Theatre.

Boston Conductor Hired By Buffalo

BOSTON (AP) — Michael Tilson Thomas, 26, associate conductor of the Boston Symphony, has been appointed music director of the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra.

The Los Angeles native will add these duties to his Boston duties beginning next fall. Thomas was appointed assistant conductor of the Boston Symphony in 1969, following his winning the Koussevitzky Conducting Award at Tanglewood in 1968. During his first season, he made a dramatic substitution when conductor William Steinberg got sick in the middle of a concert in New York's Philharmonic Hall. He was appointed Boston associate conductor in 1970.

Previous music director in Buffalo was Lukas Foss, who programmed a lot of modern music.

Film Selected For Festival

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia Pictures' "Saturday Morning" was selected for showing at the First Annual International Experimental Film Society Festival held Feb. 11-13 at Canisius College in Buffalo, N.Y.

The film was made on location at a resort 6,000 feet above Palm Springs with 20 non-professional young people from the greater Los Angeles area.

Actor Cast As Black Detective

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Roundtree has been cast in the title role of "Shaft," to be produced by Joel Freeman.

The film's title refers to its central character, John Shaft, a black private detective who operates in New York City and tests his muscle in a squeeze play between Mafia and Harlem mob operations.

Roundtree has previously appeared in featured roles in the Negro Ensemble Company's stage productions of "Kongi's Harvest," "Man, Better Man" and "Mau Mau Room."
