Gunn didn't know how narrow his escape from death was until a sergeant removed his helmet and the round fell out.

Bank Robbers Free Their Last Hostages

TOULOUSE, France (AP) — The bandits who escaped with $76,000 after holding out all day in a Toulouse bank freed their last hostages during the night while police searched southern France for them.

Police said they had found the two cars used by the gang and knew the identities of the four holdup men.

The gunmen negotiated their getaway with police Monday night after being holed up in the bank for 11 hours with 10 hostages. Part of the deal was payment of ransom more than double what they stole from the bank.

The gang took four hostages with them in the two getaway cars. One, a woman employe of the bank, was freed on the outskirts of Toulouse.

A second hostage, M. Borrel, a bank customer, was released soon after. But he promised to protect the safety of the other two hostages by not contacting police until today.

One car used in the getaway belonged to Borrel.

The remaining hostages, bank manager Maurice Mazeres and one of his employes, Mrs. Mady Garde, were freed near Arles, 200 miles east of Toulouse.

Red Troops Encircling, Destroying

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops continued to withdraw from the Sepone area of Laos today under heavy enemy pressure, abandoning another firebase when it ran out of ammunition, according to reports from the northern front. The South Vietnamese fled from Firebase Lolo, nine miles southeast of Sepone, because U.S. helicopters couldn't get through the hail of North Vietnamese anti-aircraft fire to bring them artillery shells.

About 1,500 men of the 1st Infantry Division pulled out of Lolo Monday night and made a night march to Landing Zone Brown, another South Vietnamese base five miles to the east. The South Vietnamese spiked their artillery pieces and left them behind. Immediately after the withdrawal, U.S. B52 bombers attacked the base and the area around it.

The South Vietnamese Command in Saigon refused to admit the withdrawal. "South Vietnamese forces still hold Fire Support Base Lolo," said a spokesman, Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien. "We will not comment on press reports."

Lolo had been under tank and artillery attack since Sunday night, and two North Vietnamese regiments were believed moving against the base. Three South Vietnamese soldiers had been reported killed and more than a score wounded, but there was no report on casualties during the final hours of fighting or during the night withdrawal.

Other military sources speculated, however, that the South Vietnamese pulled out of the Sepone area because of a massive North Vietnamese buildup there. The fighting around Lolo Monday indicated that Saigon's forces may have to abandon plans for a thorough search along Route 914 and fight a rear guard action as they retreat toward the border.

$50,000 Slot Machine King Denies Bribe Offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Martin J. Bromley, identified in Senate testimony as head of an international slot machine syndicate that made up to $100 million profit in the last ten years, swore today he never offered a $50,000 bribe to silence an Army general.

Bromley, emphatically rejecting what he called the "infamous, reckless and ruthless charge hurled against me," said he was in Spain at the time of a purported bribe offer to former Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole in Frankfurt, Germany.

The Senate investigations subcommittee, before which Bromley testified, has been checking into reports of wide-spread corruption in connection with the operation of Post Exchanges and servicemen's clubs. These PXs and clubs were once a responsibility of Cole.

Now residing in London, Bromley told the subcommittee: "I have never met; I have never seen; I have never spoken to Gen. Earl F. Cole. Until his name appeared in the newspapers in connection with this investigation, I never even had heard of Gen. Cole."

Bromley told acting chairman Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., he was "grossly misled" when he asked Cole last Wednesday if he knew that the name Jeff Bromley was an alias for Martin Bromley.

10 Pct. Boost In SS Checks Speed Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress sought ways around its own rules today to speed enactment of an income boost for 26 million Social Security beneficiaries—and also to make sure the government's bills are paid on time.

Legislation approved Monday by Senate-House conferees consists of two bills spliced together.

One provides an across the board 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, retroactive to Jan. 1.

The other increases the national debt ceiling from $395 billion to $430 billion.

With the debt now approaching the present ceiling, Treasury sources say the nation's bill-payers may be in trouble before the week is out unless their borrowing authority is increased.

But House action has been hung up on rules providing that compromise legislation may not be acted on until three days after the conferees' report is printed. This would put off action until Friday.

Another provision rules out legislation containing nongermane amendments by the Senate, unless the House has given special permission.

The Social Security raise, grafted on to a House-passed bill lifting the debt ceiling, is a nongermane amendment, even though House leaders agreed to the procedure in the interest of speed.

Handlers of the bill said they were not certain how they will proceed.

The bill is considered certain to pass whenever it does come up.

Withdrawals 'Timetable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird indicated today President Nixon's timetable for withdrawing American troops from Vietnam calls for leaving fewer than 50,000 there by the end of 1972.

Laird spoke of a "timetable" set by the President of pulling out an average of 12,500 men a month and said, "This program will continue to go forward."

"The President has so stated and the President has told the American public that we will continue on that average rate, and the average rate is 3,000 weekly, or 12,500 a month," he said during an interview on the CBS Morning News.

Asked if at the end of 1972 the United States would have a maximum force of 50,000, Laird replied:

"According to the time schedule which has been announced by the President . . . I think that your figures would check out in accordance with the President's time schedule which he has announced."

Zodiac Claims Murder 17

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A new letter from an unknown killer who calls himself Zodiac says he has run his score of murder victims since 1966 to 17.

The letter, received Monday by the Los Angeles Times, claimed responsibility for the unsolved stabbing death of a coed at Riverside City College 60 miles east of here five years ago.

"This is the Zodiac speaking," it said. "Like I have always said I am a crack proof."

The letter was mailed Saturday at Pleasanton, new San Francisco. Previous letters were mailed from there to the San Francisco Chronicle.

San Francisco police, although skeptical of many of the killings claimed by the mystery man, believe he was linked to five slayings in the San Francisco Bay area since July, 1968.

A handwriting expert said the letter to the Times was written by the same person who wrote previous letters signed by Zodiac.

Utilities Director Resigns Position

L. H. (Bo) Anderson, director of utilities for the City of Big Spring, turned in his formal resignation today to city officials and the city commission. The resignation is effective May 1.

His letter of resignation was read to the city commission in a breakfast session this morning by Larry Crow, city manager. In the letter Anderson gave no reasons for his resignation, except to say that they were personal. Anderson would give no further statement after the breakfast session.

April 1, 1963, Anderson came to work for the city in the capacity of party chief of the survey crew in the engineering department. He did various jobs in the engineering department, then in 1966 was promoted to director of utilities.

In this capacity he was supervisor over water and sewage treatment, distribution and collection and meter reading. He served as acting director of public works from Jan. 31, 1970, to July 15, 1970.

SECRETARY ROGERS WARNS: 'Mideast Could Lead To World War III'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today that failure of Middle East peace efforts could produce a very dangerous situation in the world and "possibly lead to World War III."

Rogers told a news conference: "The climate has never been better for a settlement in the Middle East."

SEEDS OF WAR But he added: "If we don't make a settlement now we're going to plant the seeds of future war."

At a later point he stated this warning again. "We think," he said, "that if the situation is not worked out in the reasonable future the very dangerous situation could develop and possibly lead to World War III."

Rogers sharply disputed the Israeli policy expressed by Premier Golda Meir that Israel must base its future security on the geographical position it establishes through a peace settlement.

SIGNED, SEALED He urged instead that Israel give at least equal importance to political arrangements built around a United Nations Middle East peace-keeping force in which the United States and the other great powers would participate.

Rogers refused to say that he was proposing a Middle East security treaty. But he said he was talking about a "written document" and a "contractual agreement entered into by the parties and signed, sealed and delivered."

Rogers made these other points in the question-and-answer session which was dominated by the Middle East: 1. The Middle East peace talks between Israel and Egypt through United Nations mediator Gunnar Jarring seem to be in an impasse at the moment but "we are convinced the impasse can be overcome."

2. The U.S.-supported South Vietnamese invasion of the North Vietnamese supply line area of Laos has been successful so far. Among the achievements he listed extensive destruction of enemy supplies, interception of supply movement to the South and a virtual halt in hostilities in South Vietnam. 3. In spite of what Secretary of Defense Laird has said about a residual force of perhaps 50,000 American troops in South Vietnam at the end of 1972, President Nixon has yet to make a decision on his future withdrawal schedule and on the force he will leave in Vietnam.

4. Rogers does not believe that the Chinese Communists will get involved in the war in Indochina as a result of the invasion of Laos. He argued it posed no threat to China.

THREAT The security problem at the heart of any peace settlement will also be a major topic in talks here Friday between Rogers and other U.S. officials and Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban.

Quintuplets Born, Four Girls Alive

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Quintuplets were born early today to Mrs. Paul Kaplan, wife of an insurance man in suburban Van Nuys. One, a boy, was stillborn but doctors said the four others, all girls, appeared healthy and had been placed in incubators.

The babies, 10 weeks premature, weighed between one and a half and two pounds apiece, said the physician in charge, Dr. Hubert Rubenstein, at Valley Presbyterian Hospital. "With any baby that small,"

Rubenstein said, "they look good at birth but babies this premature always have breathing problems."

He said they would have to remain in incubators two to three months, until they weigh five pounds.

The children are the first for Kaplan, 28, and his wife, Pearl, 25, who was reported doing "very well."

Sixteen physicians assisted in the delivery. The four girls were born first, Kaplan said, then the boy.

BEGORRAH BOSS

And Tomorrow's The Day 'For Wearin' O' The Green'

BEGORRAH, BOSS: Just thought I would remind you that tomorrow's the day to show your Irish and wear something green.

Wednesday is St. Patrick's Day, you remember him, he's the patron saint who drove all the snakes out of Ireland. (Wonder what kind of fun the Jaycees there have — with no rattlesnakes to round up?)

On St. Patrick's Day all over the country anyone who's Irish proudly admits it — with parties, green beer, and parades. I've even heard that in New York they paint the center stripe of Fifth Avenue green and in Chicago started tourists are amazed to see the Chicago River "turn" green as it flows into Lake Michigan. (Don't ask me how they do it?)

Facts about St. Pat are kind of sketchy, but everyone agrees that he was the snake-chaser, and he converted the Irish people from pagans into Christians. Now the only way I can figure out why his color is green is that Ireland is known as the Emerald Isle — presumably because of its lush, green, snake-free meadows.

Oh, and a tip from the fashion world — since Kelly green is more or less passe' this year, you can also honor St. Pat by wearing Nile Green, lime green, forest green and especially avocado green — just as long as it's green.

According to legend, St. Patrick worked as a shepherd, tending his flocks. The Irish claim that the good St. Pat dreamed that the Irish people were calling him, that they needed him to chase the snakes out. Some people say he was Italian, others that he was German, but the Irish say that St. Patrick came to their country from the west coast of Wales, and since he's their Saint, I guess they should know.

St. Pat supposedly came to Ireland in the year 432, and though he later journeyed to Rome to become a bishop, he died in Ireland at the age of 120. Historians disagree on the date of his death, but they concur that he did live at least a decade longer than a century. See what a snake-free environment can do for you!

Anyway, Boss, whether you're Irish only in your dreams or can really trace your heritage back to Erin, tomorrow's the day to don your green and tell the world about it.

San Antonio Lands 'New 5th Army'

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Ft. Sam Houston will become headquarters for the new 14-state 5th Army in a change affecting more than 1,000 civilians in the Chicago area, officials said Monday.

Plans call for the 4th Army, headquartered here since 1944, and the 5th Army, at Ft. Sheridan near Chicago, to be merged by July, spokesmen said.

The new 5th Army headquarters here will serve an area stretching from the Gulf of Mexico to the Canadian border—Arkansas, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and Wisconsin.

Officials said 609 civilian and 621 military jobs will be eliminated from the Chicago area and another 528 civilian positions will be relocated.

Of those 528 jobs, about 200 employees are expected to transfer to other locations but the rest have declined to move and will be released, a spokesman said.

Also Monday, the Army said its activities in Colorado, North and South Dakota, and Wyoming will be transferred to the control of the 6th Army at the Presidio of San Francisco.

About 318 military and 477 civilian jobs will be reassigned to the new 5th Army headquarters here from the Chicago area, spokesmen said.

About 53 military and 51 civilian jobs will be reassigned to the 6th Army and 129 military positions will be relocated at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

A general officer and 59 military and 28 civilian personnel will stay in the Chicago area, officials here said.

The Army previously had disclosed plans for the merger, which officials say will save about $11.4 million a year, but the location of the new headquarters was not revealed until Monday.

The 4th Army had covered the five states of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico, while the other states involved in the changes were under the present 5th Army's jurisdiction.

Sen. Hall Seeking Votes To Bring Up Ethics Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — It was the Senate's turn today to stand up and be counted on legislative ethics.

Sen. Ralph Hall, Rockwall, said he planned to try to muster enough votes to bring up his bill setting out ethical guidelines for lawmakers.

Opponents said whether Hall gets the two-thirds, or 21 votes he needs, could be close.

The bill creates a 12-member state ethics commission and requires legislators, elected officials and state employees to file a public financial statement each year listing sources of income, acquisitions and sales during the preceding year.

Legislators would be prohibited from accepting money to represent a client before a state agency and could not even be a member of a firm which represents clients for pay before state agencies.

Monday, House members backed speaker Gus Mutscher's refusal to let Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi bring up a resolution creating a committee to investigate an alleged connection between fast stock profits for state officials and passage of two banking bills in 1969.

The vote was 119-90 to uphold Mutscher's ruling in the first direct challenge to a speaker's authority in 10 years. Most members stood and applauded

Mutscher when he returned to the chamber from his office after the vote.

Mutscher gave a deposition to U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission investigators before that agency filed a stock manipulation suit in Dallas. The suit alleged that state officials were loaned big money to speculate in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock as an incentive to pass two banking bills.

Mutscher told SEC investigators he borrowed money from the Sharpstown State Bank in Houston to buy NBL stock, but he denied any connection between the stock dealings and passage of the banking legislation.

Ralph Yarborough Will Speak At Tech Earth Day

LUBBOCK — Former U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Texas has accepted an invitation to deliver the keynote address at Texas Tech University's second annual Earth Day April 21.

Pat Taylor, faculty representative working with Tech's Earth Day observance student committee, announced the acceptance Monday by the former senator who now is practicing law in Austin.

"We are happy to have such a leader in the national effort to preserve and improve our environment to speak at the university in support of the movement here," Taylor said. "He has a long record in support of conservation of our natural resources and beauty, and in improvement of state parks."

His address will be delivered at 8 p.m. in the University Center, and the public is welcome.

Yarborough's address will conclude activities which may begin as early as April 19 and continue through April 21. Scores of lectures, demonstrations, films, panel discussions, seminars and other activities are scheduled during the first three days of the week.

Taylor said Yarborough told him and the committee he was "happy to come to Texas Tech to participate in such an ecological movement."

An ardent conservationist, Yarborough is credited with leading the movement for making the Padre Island National Seashore Recreation Area a reality in 1962 and the enacting in 1966 of legislation creating the Guadalupe Mountains National Park.

He co-sponsored stringent water and air pollution control laws and supported Job Corps Conservation Centers. He introduced bills in Congress to establish the Big Thicket National Park, the Dinosaur Trail National Monument and the Amistad National Recreation Area.

Among his successful conservation proposals are the Golden Eagle protection law, the Fort Davis National Monument and the Albatross Flint Quarries National Monument.

The former senator also helped to enact laws strengthening the fishing and maritime commerce industries of Texas.

Dean Accuses Penal Code Foes Of Falsifying Issues

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas law school dean has lashed back at critics of a wholesale revision of Texas criminal laws.

Page Keeton told a legislative subcommittee Monday night that two groups have mounted attacks on the proposed new code, one headed by Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin and one headed by Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade.

Wade's group "picked out a few emotion-charged issues — the numbers game in sentencing, marijuana possession, the insanity defense, homosexual conduct—and ignored most of the truly significant changes proposed," Keeton said.

"Not content with the resulting distortion, however, these critics have falsified several features of the code—for example, pointing to a nonexistent 48-hour complaint requirement for sexual offenses, and claiming the code was drafted in secrecy," he said.

500 PAGES OF LAW

Keeton was on a 29-member committee that worked five years to write nearly 500 pages of new law to overhaul a patchwork code full of outdated provisions such as a 10-year sentence for horse theft while murder without malice carries a maximum 5-year term.

Martin's group merely asks for a two-year delay in action on the bill to give time for more study.

"Many of these critics of course, wish to kill the code, and the delay plea is merely a subterfuge, but some honestly question why the proposed code needs to be enacted this session," Keeton said.

READY TO GO

He gave three answers why immediate action is necessary:—The code is ready to go and nothing can be gained by postponing long overdue penal law reform.

—Most of the specific objections now leveled at the new code were debated strenuously by the committee that wrote it, then rejected a majority vote. Further study is unlikely to produce greater agreement.

—Unless the code's sponsors push hard for its enactment this session, no one will take it seriously. The legislature has other important legislation, such as taxes and spending, and will pay little attention to a bill with lukewarm support.

All disciplines were represented on the committee, Keeton said. He suggested some of the critics might want a revision written exclusively by prosecutors, or by defense lawyers, or by judges. If so, "they should say so forthrightly," he said.

Keeton replied to specific objections by Wade, who called the new code a monstrosity.

Wade blasted what he called "over-all reduction of penalties in practically every offense."

Keeton said the proposed code "increases as many or more penalties as it decreases."

Fred Time of the Texas Civil Liberties Union said his organization supported the new code, with exceptions.

PEEPING COPS

The retention of the death penalty and the continued branding of private homosexual conduct between adults as a crime were among those exceptions, he said.

"Homosexuality may be personally offensive to us. It may even be illness. But it should not be a crime because it doesn't harm us and it doesn't harm society."

"And defining homosexuality as a crime result in a degradation of the peace officer, taking

Fishing In Wallet Perks Up Hearing

AUSTIN (AP) — A business lobbyist went fishing into his wallet Monday to prove that labor organizers aren't the only profession that must register with the state.

The incident enlivened a hearing before the House Labor Committee on Rep. Clyde Haynes' bill to repeal a 1943 law requiring the organizers to register with the secretary of state.

Haynes, from Vidor, said Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. told him it costs $100,000 a year to administer the law.

The bill was sent routinely to a subcommittee for more study. Sybil Dickinson, head of the secretary of state's administrative division, said many of the organizers were registered in 1943 and died the following year would still be listed because "there is no way to keep it up to date."

She showed the committee the registration form which contains a number of questions.

"It is obvious from these questions about communism and subversives that the bill must have passed during the McCarthyism era," said Rep. Carlos Truan of Corpus Christi.

Miss Dickinson said 5,335 organizers have been registered since 1943, and 76 of them since Aug. 31, 1970.

She said nobody can look at the records, however, since she interprets the law as making them confidential.

Jim Yancy, vice president and general counsel for the Texas Manufacturers Association, opposed the bill.

"A labor union organizer does have a particular knowledge," Yancy said. "He does represent to workers that he can do certain things, that his union can do certain things."

Rep. Johnny Nelms of Pasadena asked who else had to register like this, claiming the requirement "is a form of discrimination."

"The legal profession," said Yancy.

"Have you got your card?" Nelms challenged.

"Yes, I do," replied Yancy after fishing around in his wallet.

Doesn't Help The Gap

Propagandizing with the sensitive stuff of international intelligence data is dangerous business. Sen. Henry Jackson said on national television that the Soviet Union is deploying an advanced intercontinental ballistic missile. Subsequently, the President notified a national news agency that Jackson's information was correct.

Sen. Jackson's remarks on television were challenged by Sen. Stuart Symington this week. Sen. Symington's real target was what he called "inaccurate intelligence reports" used in the past to justify unneeded weapons. Sen. Symington's tenure as Air Force secretary adds weight to his views as a long-time senator and member of several key committees, Armed Services Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, among them.

Sen. Symington told the Senate — and the country — that the Senate Armed Services Committee was briefed in a session so secret that no records were kept on Soviet missile plans.

The briefing was done by the CIA director. He said the briefing included for the first time purported details of new Soviet missiles which was not known about when the Joint Atomic Energy Committee was briefed the previous week.

Catholic University in Washington took a hard lesson recently.

The vice president for student affairs gave written approval on Feb. 4 for a speech at the school by Grace Atkinson, a radical militant women's liberationist. Her earthy vocabulary and critical opinion of her (Catholic) church subsequently became known to the school's president, Clarence Walton, who cancelled the invitation.

Noted the court: "The campus gates cannot be locked to the First Amendment when the on the same subject by the same people." All this conflicting information doesn't help the credibility gap. Also the appearance of manipulative use of intelligence data weakens a government's credibility.

university accepts such massive benefits from it." That is reference to acknowledgment that the school receives approximately 25 per cent of its funds from the federal government.

The woman made her speech, which was punctuated by a near-melee by an objector to her offensive language.

The court decision focuses on interesting points. One is that once an invitation is issued it's binding, apparently. Another is that private institutions sell their privacy when they accept public money.

The Formula: Love

Around The Rim.

Jo Bright

As the publicity flak boys say, "The audience reaction was fantastic."

WHEN THE celluloid version of Erich Segal's novel, "Love Story," opened across the country on Christmas Day, it broke house records in 159 of the 165 locations.

Leaving the theaters, strong men were suspiciously moist-eyed, and women were openly drying their tears with big, borrowed handkerchiefs.

SOPHISTICATED moviegoers had innocently walked into a tender trap — love — an old secret weapon that producers had desperately dragged from the bottom of the arsenal. Some viewers never knew what hit them.

Actually, an entire generation has grown up on an entertainment diet of sex — generous portions prepared in every way, shape and form and served with monotonous regularity on wide screens in living color. (Nude pink and sun-bronzed brown.)

BUT "LOVE"? It hasn't been considered contemporary or cool to get involved to that degree. Consequently, movie "love stories" have been a sad succession of tales concerned with uninvolved, undeclared, uncommitted and unrewarding affairs. The movie fan discarded the memory, along with the torn stubs, as he left the theater.

Now, apparently, bare-bottom boredom has set in, and started producers are ready to try a little tenderness to woo back the paying public. They call it "the return to romanticism."

IN A SENSE, it may be a return, but in fact, it is an arrival, a realization — an admittance — that the "new morality" is a failure. Despite sexual freedom and the expediency of physical closeness, still men and women linger — looking and longing for the emotional companionship that stills a restless heart.

If film makers really want to create films that are an imitation of life, then there is no denying love. At least once in a lifetime, everyone is warmed or consumed by its fire.

AND IT might be big at the box office. Love is a four-letter word.

The Dropouts

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — It's become quite a fad for young folks to drop out of society and "return to the land." Everyone is very sympathetic to the people who reject the society they live in, but the big question is: How many people can a country afford to have drop out?

If everyone drops out, this is what could happen in a few years:

MYRA LANDON and George Coleman, two students fed up with fighting in a world they never made, decide to leave college and join friends who are working on a wheat-germ farm in Florida. But first they must rent a U-haul trailer to take their belongings. They consult the yellow pages of the phone book, call several companies listed, but get no answer.

So they get in George's battered car and drive to one of the U-haul lots. The office is padlocked. A bearded fellow sitting there whittling says, "Ain't nobody there. They took off for surfing in Hawaii 'bout six months ago. Said they'd had it."

MYRA AND GEORGE drive to several other trailer companies, but find they are also closed down. By this time their radiator is steaming, and they stop at a gas station. A man comes out and George says, "The car seems to be overheating, and we have to drive to Florida. Could you fix it?"

"Don't have anyone to fix it. Last mechanic I had went off to India to find the secret of life."

"WELL, COULD you at least give us some water for the car?"

"Don't have no water. All the mains are broke, and we can't get anyone to repair them. Water company says it won't get to this area for another five months. I'll sell you a gallon of gas if you want. Have to ration it."

"A gallon of gas!" George says. "We're trying to get to Florida."

"I'd like to oblige but we're on strict rationing since all the oil workers decided to quit and go on welfare."

MYRA AND GEORGE start to get hungry. They walk over to a coffee shop which is locked. So is a hamburger stand and a pizza parlor. So they find a supermarket. They walk in and all the shelves are bare.

An old man sitting by the cash register says, "You folks looking for something?"

Myra says, "A loaf of bread."

The man laughs. "I haven't seen a loaf of bread in months. The last bakery in the state shut down in July. All the employees took off for a rock festival in Mexico City and never came back."

"But we haven't eaten since yesterday."

"I APPRECIATE the problem. But we just can't get any food. You would think with all the young people going back to the farms that there would be a surplus. But they just say they want to grow enough for themselves, and not make any profit for a capitalistic society."

Myra says, "It's not fair. I think the government should pass a law allowing only a certain number of people to drop out every year."

The old man says, "I couldn't agree with you more. It sure takes the fun out of dropping out when everybody decides to do it at the same time."

Drowsy Scene Unfolding

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — It's as if the projection equipment were being operated on reduced power, dimming the picture on the screen, fuzzing the images and making the action to appear in slow motion.

This situation, common enough for oldtime moviegoers to remember well, is somewhat analogous to the economy today: The script calls for vigorous activity but the drowsy scene unfolding would put the audience to sleep if it weren't so upset.

What happened to the power? Ask the consumer, because he's the one who was supposed to supply it, and he still might.

So you ask him what's the matter, and he replies that certainly he would kick up his heels and spend some of those savings he built up over the past year if he were certain about the future, especially as it concerns his own income.

And there you have another of those enigmas that plague planners. They are relying on the consumer to supply power to the economy, but the consumer is sitting back, building his energy perhaps, but not using much of it.

Only too recently he tried leading the way, taking the initiative and charting the course, and he quickly found himself enmeshed in a tangle of inflation, like barbed wire laid for an enemy. He is not in an expansive mood.

He is, to put it another way, still seeking big wage increases for himself but he isn't spending proportionately.

An editorial in the American Banker phrases the situation this way: "Since most economists agree that the consumer holds the key to the economy of 1971, the latest manifestation of apathy comes as an extension of disappointment, although by no means a surprise."

To a large degree, the apathy of the consumer is directly related to an apathetic response throughout the economy. The statistical evidence reveals that prices, wages, unemployment and so on remain poor, despite Washington programs.

Inflation, though receding, still exists at an annual rate of between three and four per cent, as measured by the Consumer Price Index. Joblessness is down to 5.8 per cent but only because fewer people are seeking work. Wage demands have hardly come down at all.

The sluggish response presents myriad problems, some of them attended by huge consequences, not the least of them being the fate of existing economic policy and the reelection hopes of President Nixon.

The economic issue played a much larger role in last November's elections than had been foreseen by Republicans, but some Democrats were slow to realize its importance. Now they are ready to take advantage of it.

Pick Your Cause

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Demonstrating is rapidly becoming a way of life. These days you can demonstrate for anything — pro, con or just neutral. A fellow who posts himself on a downtown street corner is demonstrating against the women's liberation movement and for "husband liberation."

The women's lib is demonstrating and sitting-in all around the country. They have seen a number of bastions fall. One of them was the National Press Club, which voted at a stormy membership meeting by a considerable majority to admit women members. For many years newspaperwomen were admitted to the club lectures on condition they sit in the balcony and keep strictly quiet.

THE LATEST citadel to come under attack is that hoary institution, the Gridiron Club. For nigh onto a century the club has not only been exclusively a male preserve but it is limited to 50 members from the Washington press corps that now numbers well over a thousand. The president of the American Newspaper Guild, Charles A. Perlik Jr., has written to all Gridiron members calling on them to break down the barriers and admit women both to membership and to the annual dinner that is strictly for males in white tie and tails.

"I BESEECH you and your fellow members of the Gridiron Club," Perlik wrote, "to move humankind one more step forward by helping to bring down one of the few remaining vestiges of organized sex discrimination — on the Washington journalistic scene."

If this would move humankind even a half-step forward then one can only conclude that humankind is in a bad way, as indeed it surely is. Certainly, the discrimination cannot be based on professional ability. Many newspaperwomen, past and present, have equalled or excelled the best males in the business.

THE LATE Doris Fleson was one of the ablest political reporters in Washington. What is more, when she bore down on male arrogance and male chauvinism her ferocity was such as to make the pronouncements of the women's lib today sound like Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm. She is sorely missed in a time when voices are more and more muted.

Mary McGroarty is another political reporter in the first flight with a keen appreciation for both the good and the evil in contemporary America.

IF IT IS not ability matching that of the male, then what is the reason for the persistent discrimination? Part of the answer may be whether a club considers itself a purely social organization, as the Gridiron Club does, or whether because of the nature of its membership it is also a professional organization.

The roots go very deep into the past. The anthropologists trace them back to primitive man. The rest houses of the men in most early societies were taboo to women. That was a long time ago and that old chestnut "human nature" is a feeble fall-back.

NEARLY 2,500 years ago Aristophanes' comedy, "Lysistrata," had the Athenian women denying their favors to their men until they promised not to go to war. That was women's lib outdoing anything on the boards today.

Real Bad Reception

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a receptionist gets tired of hearing:

"Seen any interesting faces lately besides mine?"

"What do I want to see him about? Well, just give him my name and tell him I didn't come here to lend him money."

"What's a pretty smart girl like you doing in a pretty dull joint like this?"

"Your face is so familiar I'm sure I've met you somewhere else, honey. Have you been there?"

"There's a dozen roses and a box of chocolates in your future, baby, if you get me in to see him in the next five minutes. One... two... three..."

"No, I don't want you to tell him who I am. I want to surprise him."

"Why don't we both get together and quit wasting each other's time? You told me he wasn't in the day before yesterday. You told me he wasn't in yesterday. Now you tell me he isn't in today. I suspect he won't be in tomorrow or the day after tomorrow. Confidentially, however, and strictly between us two, do you think there's a possibility he might be in the day after the day after tomorrow?"

"Myrtle, we're all going out to lunch now. We should be back in a Martini or three. If my wife calls, give her hell for me, and if the boss calls, tell him I'm tied up with a long-distance call. When we get back—and we may—then you can go to lunch."

"Just tell me what day he gets paid, and I'll know when I can reach him."

"Myrtle, this is Monday repeat Monday repeat Monday. I've had a 48-hour weekend quarrel with my wife, my teenage daughter called me 'stupid' as I left the house this morning, six fat ladies stepped on my feet in the subway, and I've got three weeks work piled up on my desk. So don't let anyone into my office unless he has a smile on his face and a basket full of $100 bills in his hands."

"Just pass the word to him that if I don't see him I'll see him—and have more fun doing it."

"Hi, good looking, how about putting on the feed bag with me tonight? You buy the steaks and I'll bring the wine."

"Some bosses sure do hire the loveliest watchdogs, honey. But you've got the prettiest fangs I've seen all week."

"Par'n me, Ma'am, but is it all right if I move to another chair? I've been sitting here so long I think I've worn a hole in this one."

"All he has to do is pay up—and I'll shut up."

"It isn't that I'm exactly in a hurry, young lady, but I do have a life of my own to live—and I don't want to live it all here."

Clay And War

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — In the light of its most recent decision on conscientious objectors to military service, I trust the Supreme Court will ponder well the nuances of Cassius Clay's refusal to be inducted into uniformed servitude.

Clay's appeal of his draft-dodging conviction is now on the docket of the highest bench. To me his situation seems a touch more precarious since the justices ruled by a whopping eight to one majority that young men are not entitled to draft exemptions as CO's if they object only to the Vietnam conflict and do not oppose all wars. If I dared to anticipate the Court, I'd announce its members had told Clay, in effect, that he was headed for the pokey.

ALTHOUGH at this writing Clay's case is yet to be heard, it is permissible to cite his previous arguments, as presented by his lawyers. Clay claims exemption on the grounds his Muslim religion prohibits him from fighting in the Vietnam War. He also claims he is a Muslim preacher and thus automatically exempt, anyway. Since his appeal was filed, however, he has been suspended by the Muslim hierarchy, and if he has continued his preaching — unfrocked, as it were — it was in odd moments during preparation for his violent, and losing, confrontation with Joe Frazier.

BUT THE POINT is that in the past, as pointed out by Clay's lawyers, the fighter-preacher reserves the right to take part in wars fought over religious or racial issues. His counsel has argued that because of his Muslim faith Clay has the right to be selective; that is to say, he would fight only in what he viewed as "holy wars."

Even a cursory reading of the Court's CO decision, written by Justice Thurgood Marshall, produces the conclusion that the Court has pulled the rug out from under Clay's position.

IN PLAIN and simple language, the majority upheld the requirement contained in the World War I draft law and re-enacted for subsequent wars, that CO status must be based on opposition to "participation in war in any form."

Thus, the majority agreed with Solicitor General Erwin Griswold's argument that making opposition to a particular war a valid basis for CO status could produce "a virtually limitless variety of beliefs" that could not be handled rationally or fairly by draft boards. Any other verdict would have presented these boards with objectors who would declare, for instance, that they would not fight a war against a monarchy but would gladly grab a rifle to do battle against a republic.

QUITE RESEMBLY, the Supreme Court has ruled that wars — including unjust ones — are fought by order of the elected government for the simple reason that any other system would be sheer chaos.

Corn Crop Down

PONTIAC, Ill. (AP) — Corn crop surveys show that the 1970 yield in Livingston County was down 34 bushels to the acre from 1969.

According to 100 farmers representing 30 townships the average yield was 84.5 bushels per acre during a year when southern Corn Leaf Blight ran rampant in the corn belt.

Paul Wilson, extension adviser, said most farmers reported a yield of 119.5 bushels of corn per acre in 1969.

The questionnaires revealed 53 farmers reported they thought the blight was the major factor in the loss of yield; 20 thought blight caused only half of the loss yield. However, the other 27 thought blight was not the most important reason for yield loss in 1970.

A few indicated wet weather and other factors were responsible for the 50 per cent loss in 1970.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Do you believe that there is opposition to the so called "status quo"?

You do not qualify your question by saying in what area the "status quo" is under consideration. Progress is often the upsetting of the "status quo" and it would be a tragic day for the world, for our nation, or for us as individuals if we should deny the desirability of progress. There has been such wonderful progress in so many areas of life that we cannot even begin to appreciate that which has taken place and is taking place today. At the same time we must face the fact that all change is not progress. There are evidences that there has been a marked change in a sense of moral values in recent years with resulting adult and juvenile delinquency. This change is regression, not progress.

There is a corresponding loss in many areas of a sense of man's responsibility to God. I am speaking of life in America, where, despite the renewed interest in the Christian religion on the part of many there seems at the same time an increasing hardness and resistance to the gospel on the part of others. This is change, not progress. In the realm of Christian truth I believe there are certain basic matters of faith and practice which are fixed and not subject to change. For instance, all men are sinners and in need of the redeeming and transforming grace of God. This has always been the case and is true today. In that sense the "status quo" must be maintained. I believe also that God's plan of salvation remains constant — that is through His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. Man's understanding of God and apprehension of spiritual truth may vary, because of human limitations, but God and His eternal truth remain fixed.

A Devotion For Today...

TEXAS FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

Western District Convention Focuses On Art, Education

Eight Big Spring women were among the 150 clubwomen who gathered in Monahan's Friday and Saturday for the 35th annual spring convention of the Western District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

Representing the 1905 Hyperion Club were Mrs. Hayes Stripling, third district vice president, and Mrs. Horace Reagan. Attending from the Modern Woman's Forum were Mrs. S. R. Nobles, Mrs. C. R. Moad, Mrs. Margaret White, Mrs. H. M. Rowe, Mrs. Harwood Keith and Mrs. J. P. Dodge.

In conjunction with the observance of the state organization's Golden Jubilee year, pioneer clubwomen were honored, with Mrs. Keith and Mrs. Dodge being recognized as 40-year members of the federation.

LOCAL AWARDS
The 1905 Hyperion Club won three blue ribbons; one for their yearbook, another for work on the Texas Big Thicket project and the third in the area of religion and ethics.

Special honors went to Mrs. R. S. McCracken, a past district president (1945-47) who has been a club member for 71 years. She is affiliated with the Century Culture Club of Marfa, organized in 1898, which is the oldest club in the district. A gold plaque bearing her name will be placed in the federation headquarters at Austin.

The second oldest club in the district is the Fort Stockton Literary Club, organized in 1902, and the third oldest is the 1905 Hyperion Club of Big Spring. The Modern Woman's Forum of Big Spring was organized in 1928 with Mrs. Keith and Mrs. Dodge as charter members.

The convention, which had "Safari to Adventure" as its theme, was headquartered at the Colonial Inn with business sessions held at the First United Methodist Church.

The first sessions were mainly for the executive committee and district board, beginning with an executive luncheon at the inn. Mrs. Gerald Fugit of Odessa, second vice president, presided for the board meeting. Art and education were focal points for the convention, and there was a tour of local art shows and a Fine Arts Dinner Friday evening. Mrs. Phillip Robbins of Fort Stockton, district president, presided for the dinner.

The highlight of the evening was an address by Mrs. Hilliard H. Rowe of Fort Stockton on "The Arts and Women of the West." Mrs. Rowe, who maintains a studio and art school in Fort Stockton, was formerly assistant curator of art at the Cabildo Museum in New Orleans, La., and has had five one-man shows at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. She has held numerous state offices for the Daughters of the Republic of Texas and is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

An informal session, "Suite Talk," honored Mrs. Phillip A. Carpenter, state president; pioneer clubwomen and award winners.

The work of the convention began Saturday at Breakfast sessions presided over by Mrs. O. G. Rudy and Mrs. L. William Breck Jr.

Afterward, the welcoming address was by Judge Chester Taggart and the keynote address on "Status of Women" was by Ross Rucker, president of the Land of the Sun Broadcaster, Inc.

The Education and Awards Luncheon was held at the Colonial Inn with Mrs. Stripling presiding. Following a "Fashions for Fun" style show, the final address was by Mrs. Carpenter. She and her husband, Dr. Phillips A. Carpenter, were recently named Burburnett's Outstanding Citizens, the first time a couple had been so honored. Latest honors for Mrs. Carpenter were her appointment to the Governor's Committee on the Status of Women, and she served on a panel at the Clean Air Conference held recently at Salt Lake City, Utah.

Mrs. Carpenter, a member of the Burburnett Study Club for 40 years and has attended all district and state conventions for 20 years as well as two national conventions. Mrs. Carpenter is the first and only woman to be appointed to the Burburnett City Board of Commissioners and serves Wichita County's mental health and welfare boards. Her administration has as its goal, "Seeking a Better Environment: With Womanpower."

Mrs. R. T. Winn presided, and Mrs. J. H. Stewart gave the vocational talk concerning her work as a clerk-typist in Base Supply at Webb AFB.

The Hand of Friendship enrollment tea is scheduled Sunday in the home of Mrs. Orville Bryant, 1010 Howell.

Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Neiman McMichael are co-captains of teams in the attendance contest beginning in April. The losing team will host a party for the winners.

Mrs. Barbara Phares was a guest, and seven of the chapter's past presidents were present.

Calley's Fate Up To Six Battle-Tempered Officers

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Six battle-tempered Army career officers begin today to assess the guilt or innocence of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., accused of the murder of My Lai civilians.

It is the third anniversary of the Saturday morning assault on the South China Sea hamlet, an event described by a congressional committee as "a tragedy of major proportions." Calley, then 24, and leader of an understrength platoon that had been in Vietnam less than four months, could be sentenced to death if convicted of any of four murder specifications against him. The government charges that civilians he shot or ordered executed totaled not less than 102.

IT'S TRAGIC
"It's tragic that I would have to stand here and argue here before you the number of people," said Capt. Aubrey

Daniel, the Army prosecutor, who is only two years Calley's senior.

With a staccato delivery that seemed out of place with his soft Southern drawl, Daniel recounted the testimony of major witnesses among the nearly 100 in the four-month-old trial. He quit for the night Monday with a taxed throat, 2½ hours into his summation.

Daniel was to finish today, covering Calley's claim that he was obeying superior orders. Then it would be the defense's turn. The trial judge said the jury would have the case by nightfall.

CHOICE OF FOUR
The jury will have the choice of four verdicts: first degree murder with a life or death sentence; second degree murder with a maximum of life in prison; voluntary manslaughter with a maximum of 10 years on each count; and acquittal on all four specifications. Describing the shooting of a child, one of two single murders asserted in the charges, Daniel said:

"Without hesitation: Without hesitation, gentlemen, he looked down his weapon and fired."

FAST LIKE
"Do you think he missed? Do you think he wanted to miss? He didn't hesitate. He raised the weapon up and squeezed that trigger and that baby was at the end of that rifle barrel."

In his two days on the witness stand Calley admitted he was at a drainage ditch east of the village where the government charges he killed at least 70. Calley said six to eight of fewer than 18 bullets that he fired that day were expended at the ditch.

A dozen witnesses variously estimated the number of bodies in the ditch from 30 to 100.

"There were perhaps 75-100 people in that ditch," Daniel said.

"Twelve members of the accused's platoon have placed the accused at the irrigation ditch. Do you think the accused could get on the witness stand and deny that he was at the irrigation ditch?"

Nation's Economy Is Again Displaying Dragging Pace

WASHINGTON (AP) — After hiding it for two straight months, the nation's economy has again displayed its slogging pace, setting back the Nixon administration's hopes of a quick recovery.

The Federal Reserve Board delivered the bad news to the administration Monday, reporting its key industrial production index fell four-tenths of 1 per cent in January.

The decline followed two consecutive monthly advances in factory output, when the economy rebounded from last fall's General Motors' strike.

But the snapback was not nearly as strong as the administration had hoped, and the February stumble in output showed Nixon has far to go in getting the economy moving again.

The drop disclosed continuing weakness in the economy, reluctance of big business to invest in more production and consumer hesitation to spend savings.

Nixon has pledged a good year for the economy in 1971 and has turned to deficit spending and easier money policies to make it go.

The slackness of the economy also partly explains the rapid decline in interest rates, with corporate demands for loans at a relatively low level with money plentiful.

Last fall, when the auto strike was in full swing, the administration forecast the economy would begin to turn up at the beginning of the year.

All the evidence won't be until the government announces next month the total output of goods and services for January, February and March. But the drop in industrial production for February left little to cheer about for now.

Auto output did bounce back, increasing by 8 per cent last month and reaching an annual rate of about 9 million units.

Output of most home goods and consumer staples declined, along with commercial aircraft and industrial, commercial and defense equipment. Production of farm equipment and steel and construction materials gained, but output of other durable and nondurable materials was down.

The index stood at 164.8 per cent of the 1957-59 base-year, 5.6 per cent below the July, 1969, peak.

Mental Health Survey For County Discussed

In Howard County Commissioners Court Monday, commissioners discussed a county mental health survey and the painting and repair of the courthouse.

Clyde R. McLean, of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, told the court that his department is trying to assess the needs of areas across the state. He requested that the commissioners appoint a committee to survey the mental health needs in Howard County.

In the afternoon, the county dads met with painters and paint suppliers to tour the courthouse and study the repairs to be done. Bids for supplying the paint and for the work will be submitted to the court Monday.

The commissioners also voted to purchase a lamb at the Howard County 4-H and FFA Livestock Show. Proceeds from the sales at the show all go to the members of the two groups.

Alleged Nude Dancing Rule

HOUSTON (AP) — U. S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Connally refused Monday to stop the city of Houston from prosecuting a Houston lounge owner and two employees who were arrested last December after alleged nude dancing occurred at the Outer Limits Lounge.

The owner, Lester Musterman, asked the judge to enjoin the city from prosecuting the three and to also empanel a three-judge federal court to decide if state statutes on lewd dancing were constitutional.

The case was originally filed in the court of U. S. Dist. Judge Owen D. Cox of Corpus Christi. It was referred to Judge Connally for an immediate hearing. After denying immediate relief, he sent back the case to Judge Cox for further action.

Bottles, Cans Tax Idea Backed

HOUSTON (AP) — The Harris County Commissioners Court voted unanimously Monday to support a bill in the state legislature that would impose a tax of two cents a container on wholesalers of soft drinks and alcoholic beverages who use non-returnable bottles or cans.

The tax would be collected by the state, and one-third of the proceeds would go to the state highway fund, one-third would be divided among counties and one-third among cities.

The money would be used to pick up litter and for beautification projects.

Ban On Boys

COLCHESTER, England (AP) — Boys have been banned from midnight sex film shows at an Essex movie theater — unless they are accompanied by girls. The manager said the boys made too much noise shouting comments about love scenes, but he found that the girls kept them quiet.

Big Spring High School Girls Named To Posts

Two Big Spring High School girls were elected to state posts and one to district post in the area meeting Saturday of the Future Homemakers of America in Midland. It is the first time a local girl has been elected either to a district or a state position.

Vicki Annen was elected to serve on the state board of officers. Her post will be decided at the state meeting in the Dallas convention center in April.

Susan Smith was elected president of Area II, and Ranette Miller was selected to sing in the state chorus at the Dallas convention. Miss Annen and Miss Smith will be attending the National FHA meeting in July in Kansas City.

Mrs. Jack Alexander, head of the homemaking department, received honorary membership for her contributions to homemaking education. She possibly will attend the national convention.

Miss Annen is a junior and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Annen, No. 6 Coachman Circle; Miss Smith, a sophomore, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smith, 2306 Rebecca; and Miss Miller, a senior, is the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Joe Trujillo, who recently moved to Lubbock.

Rapes Teacher After She Gave Him Couple F's

HOUSTON (AP) — Police said a youth who asserted he was getting revenge for poor grades given him two years ago, raped a school teacher Monday. Officers gave this account:

The teacher, 26, was leaving Yates High School after class when a man stopped her. She walked away to the school annex and the man followed her, pushed her under the building, and raped her.

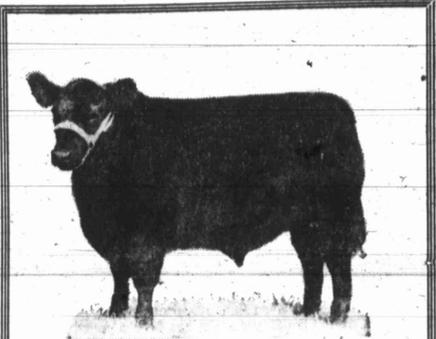

A fellow teacher, Joe Cotton, 37, saw what was happening, rushed from a classroom, and grabbed her assailant. He told Cotton he was a former pupil of the victim and raped her because of two F's he received from her.

Before police arrived, he slugged Cotton and escaped.

Socialists Demanding Bomb Blasting Inquiry

HOUSTON (AP) — The Socialist Workers Party here, its headquarters damaged by one of Houston's frequent bombings, demanded Monday that an immediate investigation be made. A small pipe-bomb heavily damaged the party's headquarters and book store early Friday. There were no injuries. The explosion was the fifth in Houston in 1971 and the seventh in a year's time.

Show Is Year-Round Job For 4-H, FFA Youngsters

Officially, the 34th Annual Howard County 4-H and FFA Livestock Show began at 4 p.m. today with the weighing of the stock, but in reality it began much earlier than that.

Preparations for this show began as soon as last year's show closed. Young people started all over again in raising their stock for exhibition. In 4-H and FFA, they are expected to do all the work themselves and to learn by doing.

A steer or a lamb raised for show must be cared for and fed in such a way to nurture all the qualities that will please an exacting judge when the animal is in the ring.

Weight, bone structure, hide and wool-appearance, and distribution of flesh are all considered by the judges when examining the animals. Neglect of the diet and health of the animal can ruin the best chances for a champion in the ring.

The months of hard work are culminated in the livestock show, but there is one last hard task before any animal and its owner can bask in glory — the animal must be groomed for show.

Lambs are clipped and groomed to perfection in the hopes of catching the judge's approving eye. Lambs aren't naturally the fleecy darlings of the Mother Goose tales, and must be carefully "blocked" before the show. Dirt, matting, and burrs stubbornly mar the appearance of a lamb, and hours of work are required to remove them.

Steers are bathed and groomed until they gleam, but the young owner is usually much the worse for wear after this is accomplished. No imperfection is missed by a judge, and the young people involved in the show work hard to show their animals to advantage.

The show began at 4 p.m. today, but as Paul Gross, county agricultural agent said, "If you go to the barn at any time today, you're bound to find somebody working."

C-City Oratorical Winners Named

COLORADO CITY — Debra Sterling and Steve Sallee of Ira High School have been announced as winners of the oratorical contest by Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative.

They will receive expense-paid trips to Washington D. C., said Kenneth Roberts, manager of the cooperative.

Debra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buford Sterling, Ira, and Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sallee, Ira.

School, and Leslie Anderson, Colorado City High School.

Debra and Steve, chosen from a field of six contestants speaking on the subject, "As I See It," will be among 150 young people from all over the state who will be sent by Texas electric cooperatives to the seventh annual Government-in-Action Youth Tour to the nation's capital June 11-22. Judges of the Lone Wolf contest were Jack Webb, Alton Rollins and J. C. Galbreath, all of San Angelo.

TENT COED BLUSHING RED Paper Brings First Word To Embarrassed Parents

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Dallas coed Monica Lutz tells of living in a tent, and her embarrassed mother says she first learned about it from a front-page newspaper story.

The article told how Monica, 23, has set up her tent behind a house in Dallas, where a "family" of seven junior college students live.

"We're very embarrassed parents today—we had not known anything about this tent living," Mrs. Edward Lutz said.

After reading about her daughter Monday morning, the mother said, "the only thing her father and I recognized in that story was the part about the 'family.'"

She said Monica called Saturday and told them about the group "and reassured us the kids were all serious art students who had rented this large house to economize."

"But this tent business is something new," Mrs. Lutz said. Monica, a model and former San Antonio Fiesta Queen, is living in the tent while attending El Centro College.

"Her father and I were just floored by the paper this morning — on the front page yet! We're embarrassed because of the way the story was written—the quotes just don't sound like Monica," Mrs. Lutz said.

She said the news story was correct, nevertheless, about her daughter's trusting nature. The article told how the coed said she had to move into the tent last August after a college roommate stole her money and another wrecked her car.

Mrs. Lutz said Monica "trusts everyone and even though people she trusted have disappointed her—like the roommate—she still retains regard for each individual she meets."

Monica told a Dallas reporter that she came from a background "where the emphasis was on getting all the material things you could in order to be accepted." She added, "I don't believe in that."

Mrs. Lutz questioned this comment, "That sounds so different from Monica. Besides that, she's coming home this next weekend—just like she usually does — to her material background."

Her daughter is trying to become financially independent, she said.

"We have teased her about becoming a permanent student since this is her fifth year in college and up until now we've paid her tuition and helped with expenses," the mother added. Mrs. Lutz said Monica's changing interests have led her to continue going to college.

CRMWD Board States Meeting

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will meet at the District headquarters March 23 at 10 a.m.

In addition to reports on the progress of construction of the Ward County well field extension and on general operations, the board will discuss participation in the state pollution control compact. This is a proposed compact between water district and river authorities to become the agency for temporary underwriting of pollution control works (such as sewage plant improvements) of political subdivisions within the state. It is envisioned as a means of increasing the percentage of grants for which cities, etc. could qualify. The temporary underwriting would be without obligation to the compact agency.

How Come A Petrochemical Firm Wants To Help Kids Raise Better Livestock?

It's smart, that's how come . . .

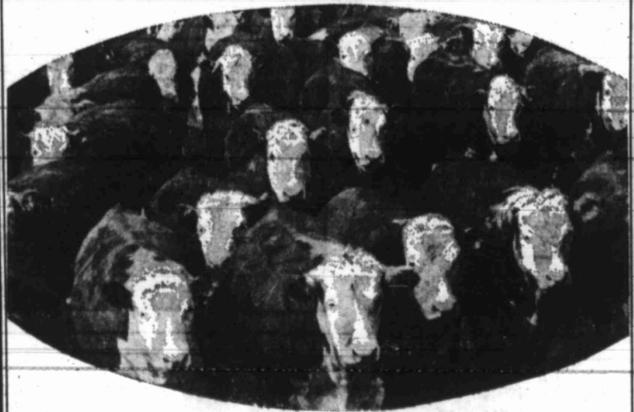

For one thing, we like to see youngsters become interested in basic things like raising livestock.

For another thing, the livestock industry is mighty important to each of us. We believe there's a lot to be said for helping train boys and girls who are interested. Over the years, the livestock show program has proved a valuable tool in such training.

So, we salute these young people of the Howard County 4-H clubs and FFA on their 34th annual Fat Stock Show March 17 and 18. We'll be out applauding these young people for their hard and effective work. We hope you'll join us.

A Thank-You

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This letter is two years overdue, but nonetheless sincere. When I was a sophomore in college I wrote you a letter with tears dropping all over it. I had just found out for sure I was pregnant by the boy I'd gone with since high school. He was also in college. We were really in love, and even though my parents approved of him, I just couldn't see myself telling them that their daughter, whom they considered such a "good girl," was pregnant. I considered suicide, and abortion. Then I wrote you, asking for advice, and I will never forget your words:

"Honey, tell your parents at once. They are your best friends. I promise you they will understand and help you. For get the abortion. You could end up in the hands of some butcher who may do such a poor job that you'll never be able to have a child. Good doctors don't perform illegal abortions for a living."

I took your advice and told my parents. Abby, you were so right. They were wonderful! We were married right away, and now we have the most beautiful baby in the world. My husband will graduate from college in June. I'll graduate six months later. How much do I owe you?

HAPPY I WROTE
DEAR HAPPY: Not a thing. You're just repaid me.

DEAR ABBY: It is obvious that your man has other hobbies besides TV football, because care to speculate on how a man can "lose" his wedding ring on the average of once a year?

My husband and I have been married for six years, and he has lost six wedding rings.

When he lost the first one, I quickly replaced it with another which he lost in six months. He claims he never takes his ring off, but if that is the case, I can't understand how he loses it. I buy the ring to fit his finger and it isn't even loose enough to twist around, so it certainly can't fall off, can it?

I don't want to believe that he actually takes off his wedding ring when I'm not with him to give the impression that he isn't married, but what else am I to think? He claims he enjoys wearing a wedding ring. If you were me, would you buy him a seventh? SUSPICIOUS!

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: If I were you, I would not have bought him a FOURTH! If he really "enjoys" wearing a wedding ring, he'll buy one himself. But don't hold your breath.

Our husbands have no time to be creative; they have forgotten how to read; the beauty of nature bores them; they don't know the theater, museums or the symphony exist. They have let their bodies become as flabby as their minds.

If you think a wife, while her lifetime companion ignores her, can spend her weekends cleaning closets and drawers without building up sufficient resentment to destroy a marriage, you don't understand women.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Heating Devices

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What do you think of electric blankets? I have arthritis, and it sure feels good to have that steady warmth, but I have heard doctors say that for certain aches or pains they would suggest the hot water bottle and not a heating pad, because the pad is such dry heat.

So I was wondering if the electric blanket could be harmful in any way. I use it every night about seven months in the year. —E. A. H.

First of all, I see no objection to your using the electric blanket — an electric blanket isn't a "heating pad." Turned on low, the blanket gives a diffuse heat, so why shouldn't you take advantage of its comfort?

Heating pads and hot water bottles, however, are used to apply heat locally, and there is a tendency to have them too hot. They can cause burns, and folks with faulty circulation, especially in the legs and feet, should be cautious about applying heat to those areas. Because of poor circulation, they too often are not aware that heating pads — and even hot water bottles — can cause burns. And again because of the circulatory faults, those burns don't heal easily. So don't get a water bottle too hot.

As for a heating pad, that has to be treated with even more caution. It's so easy to drop off to sleep and forget to turn the pad off. Burns are caused not only by the degree of heat but the length of time the heat is applied — and a heating pad, unless turned off, doesn't cool down. It stays that warm.

For that reason a hot water bottle is safer. It cools gradually.

Don't be confused by that "dry heat" business. That isn't the point involved here. A hot water bottle isn't "moist heat."

By "moist heat" we mean soaking the feet, for example, in warm water or applying a wet compress.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In 1959 I had an operation for hydrocele on both sides. Today they are larger than when the operation was done. I am 69. Is it necessary to have another operation? If I don't, is there any chance for serious trouble or cancer? —E. C. H.

Hydrocele is an accumulation of fluid in one or both of the sacs containing the testicles. Whether your "operation" was merely to withdraw the excess fluid or to correct the hydrocele permanently is not clear to me in your letter.

The condition is principally a nuisance; it does not cause cancer. Why not ask your doctor whether a simple draining wouldn't be adequate for you?

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Legal Action On Contract Studied At Breakfast Meet

The issue over contract 68-2 with Jones Construction Co. involving the new chemical injection facility at the water treatment plant was discussed in a breakfast session of the Big Spring city commission today.

The discussion was over a letter given to the city commission and officials by Jimmy Jones, contractor, which demands the total payment owed to him on the completion of the new facility.

"Jones... now has taken the position that he has followed the contract and has completed the facility and also he claims the city has abandoned the contract," said Herb Prouty, city attorney. "He says the city has violated certain portions of the contract and is now demanding payment."

ALTERNATIVES

The commission and officials agreed the letter had put the city in the position of having to pursue some legal actions on the issue. Larry Crow, city manager, told the group there are three alternatives the city could now take concerning the letter. They are to answer Jones' letter denying his claim of abandonment and ordering completion of facility; to contact the bonding company and present a written report on all that has happened concerning the issue; or before the case goes into court to ask for an arbitration board to be formed as provided for in the original contract. The 10 days in which the commission has to answer the letter ends Friday.

"By virtue of the letter received by the city from Jones the city has no alternative but to follow these guidelines and send a status report to the bonding company," said Arnold Marshall, mayor. The commission was of the consensus

TWO-YEAR DELAY

The completion of the facility due to various reasons has been delayed for two years and the issue came to light in the last regular commission meeting, in which the commission directed Jones to complete the facility by adding certain equipment meeting specifications in place of parts that have already been installed.

The commission also told Jones that upon the completion of the facility according to specifications, the commission would determine action to be taken on liquidation damages.

R. W. Whipkey, Big Spring Herald, came before the commission in the breakfast session as a representative of the city Industrial Foundation and gave a report on the request to Austin for the transfer of land to the foundation owned by the Big Spring State Hospital. The land was donated to the hospital in 1936 by the city.

LAND TRANSFER

Whipkey reported that the Texas Mental Health Board and the attorney general were sympathetic with the foundation's purpose and goals, but also they were concerned with the legality of the transfer of the land.

The commission was told that the best way for the land to be transferred to the foundation was on a long-term lease basis. Whipkey told the commission the foundation would investigate the possibility of the land being leased directly to the foundation and not involving the city.

Also added to the discussion by Whipkey was the possibility of the hospital campus being annexed into the city boundaries for more sufficient fire protection.

Committees To Meet At Chamber

Panel Would Regulate Human Tests With 'Pot'

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate Public Health Committee has approved a bill creating an advisory panel to regulate marijuana experiments on human beings.

Persons involved in the approved projects would be immune from prosecution.

Dr. Robert White of the University of Texas—Medical Branch at Galveston told the committee Monday, "We are crying for information on the marijuana dilemma."

Dr. George Parker, a University of Texas psychology professor, said he was representing the Texas Psychological Association officially "and the students of the university, unofficially."

IN THE DARK

He said he had just come from a meeting in his office with two students, "one of whom had severe problems related to the use of marijuana and other substances."

"We're in the dark because we're so frightened of doing research," Parker said. "I think history has shown us long enough that we are not able to stop people from using certain substances, and it is incredibly naive to think we can..."

Arthur Briggs of the pharmacology department at the UT medical branch in San Antonio said he hoped the advisory panel "does not become a political football with someone looking down at you saying 'if you're not a good boy we're going to cut off your research.'"

The committee also approved bills prohibiting non-medical persons from possessing a hypodermic syringe or needle or any other instrument to inject dangerous drugs unless authorized by a physician and allowing persons 13 or older to consent to examination and treatment by a physician for drug addiction or drug dependence.

AMA SUPPORT

The consent bill already has passed the House.

Dr. J.W. Caldwell of McAllen, director of heroin addiction clinic, said the Texas Medical Association supported the proposal.

He said in too many cases physicians have to tell teenagers they need their parents' consent for examination and treatment and they are "very frightened" and never come back.

He recalled not being able to help a 16-year-old girl who was undergoing withdrawal symptoms from morphine injections into her veins.

Doctors can now treat underage persons with drug problems only if it is an emergency.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas is sponsoring the drug bills. He said they were all recommended by a special interim committee on drug abuse.

OIL County Breaks Even On Wells

Amerada-Hess No. 1 Stringfellow, north extension of the Hutto field, or a southern outpost to the Big Spring Fossilman field, was depleted and abandoned.

Martin County gained a completion in the Sulphur Draw 8,970 Dean field.

UCLA Again No. One, Cage Pollsters Rule

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For the third time in the past five years, UCLA has been named college basketball's top team on The Associated Press poll even though 16 ballots failed to name the mighty, once-beaten Bruins.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: SACHEL PAIGE, recently inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame:

"I never figured I'd be some kind of a symbol. Well, if I was, I had to admit I was a little rusted up. You get rusted when you got to come all the way from the slums of Mobile, Ala., from hiding from truant officers and cops, from reform school. And while I was coming all that way I guess I'd been a lot of things people said I was — a no-good kid, a guy who left his team when money looked better some place else, a chaser. I'd been those things, but I'd also been a fine pitcher — one of the best."

BOB SCHEFFING, telling of his days with the St. Louis Browns, when Satchel Paige joined the team:

"He always took two bags with him on a trip, one of them empty. I said to him, 'Hey, Satch, who do you do that?' and he said, 'You never know when somebody is going to give you something.' Sure enough, he usually came back with two full suitcases."

San Diego batting instructor BOB SKINNER, on the trials and tribulations of being Richie Allen's boss:

"On the field, he'd do anything you ask, but other things... missing games... missing batting practice. Well, he was fined $3,000 and that was right. He'd say things he didn't mean to say and they'd come out different in the paper."

TOM PROTHRO, new coach of the Los Angeles Rams:

"When we made that multi-player deal with Washington, I spent eight solid hours on the phone. If this is an example of pro trades, I have to say I don't have the patience for it."

GIL HODGES, manager of the New York Mets, discussing catcher Jerry Grote's reputation as a fastball catcher, meaning he preferred not to handle the breaking stuff:

"It's always been a bum rap. Jerry's steadily improved his defensive abilities and he's got a good enough arm to throw any runner in the National League out if the pitcher holds the guy properly."

Pro basketball player ELVIN HAYES, admiring his teammate, 5-9 Calvin Murphy:

"Little man, I'm glad I'm on your side. You ain't big enough for one big bite, but you sure got enough teeth."

GAR YARBRO in The Football News:

"Last May pro football had a press conference of the 26 coaches in the AFL and NFL at the Hilton Hotel in New York. Of the 26 there, nine are gone. They have either been fired, retired, or in the case of Vince Lombardi, passed away. And the figure could easily have been higher. Many expected Jerry Williams at Philadelphia to get the axe and also John Rauch at Buffalo. But they survived in what might be labeled a very dangerous occupation."

JOHN MADDEN, Oakland Raider coach, after Washington coach George Allen had engineered that major player trade with Los Angeles:

"I think George thinks the draft is a lot of nonsense. He once told me if there were two good players he wanted, he'd trade away every draft pick from three through 17 for them."

NIT Will Feature Standout Players

NEW YORK (AP) — The stars will come out for the National Invitation Tournament with college basketball Rainbows from the West and thunder in the East.

The 34th tourney at Madison Square Garden, starting this Saturday, features a clash from star performers along with a nationally-favored field from Hawaii's Rainbows to the powerhouse clubs of the south and southeast.

North Carolina and Duke, two of the Atlantic Coast Conference's better teams, were added to the field Monday along with Purdue of the Big Ten, and Louisville, the Missouri Valley Conference runner-up.

They are part of a 16-team field chosen as "the best teams available," according to Ken Norton of the NIT selection committee.

In a study of contrasts, Hawaii is the first contender from outside the continental United States, and St. John's, the only New York entry, is making its 20th appearance. The Redmen have won this tourney a record four times.

The final selections Monday pointed to an apparent NIT move to polish its national image.

"We're not just trying to sell tickets," said Norton, "we took the teams we thought were the best calibre."

In getting Purdue and Michigan, the NIT came up with Big Ten entries for the first time, and added Dayton for a strong Midwest representation. The selection committee considered but by-passed Rutgers, from nearby New Brunswick, N.J., even though one member admitted it might mean 5,000 tickets sold at the Garden.

There is also a scarcity of

New York-area teams as the second and third games of Saturday's triple header, and Tennessee meets St. John's and Georgia Tech plays LaSalle in a night-time twin bill.

It's Michigan vs. Syracuse and St. Bonaventure against Purdue in a Sunday doubleheader and Hawaii and Oklahoma close out first round action in a Monday night game preceding the quarterfinals.

Cokes Is Charged In Check Count

DALLAS (AP) — County grand jurors indicted Curtis Cokes, former welterweight boxing champion, Monday on a charge of passing a worthless check.

He is accused of paying a $154.79 repair bill at an automobile agency last June with a check that failed to clear his bank.

Cokes, 33, currently is in Akron, Ohio, preparing for a bout Wednesday night with Fate Davis. His manager, Doug Lord, said Cokes told him by telephone that the check charge results from "a big mixup."

The former champion, already in debt to the Internal Revenue Service for back taxes, could draw up to 10 years in prison if convicted on the check charge.

Majors Studying Plan For Six Divisions

By The Associated Press

Baseball is feeling expansive. American League President Joe Cronin revealed that the majors are studying a plan to split the American and National leagues into three four-team divisions—but he added: "It has a long way to go and it won't come up soon."

Walter O'Malley, who dragged baseball into one form of expansion by moving his Dodgers from Brooklyn to Los Angeles in 1957, came up with the six-division concept, a virtual carbon copy of the National Football League alignment.

The idea is to prevent a loss of interest by cutting down on the chance of runaway teams and, hopefully, to remedy some of the money problems facing a few teams.

Instead of the present single playoff in each league, there would be two, involving the three division winners and the team with the best runner-up record.

In more conventional activity, the fielders literally kicked in with help when the opposition batters couldn't provide the punch for spring training triumphs.

Joe Foy cracked a home run for Washington—but also committed two of the Senators' five errors that gave Kansas City an 8-2 victory. Lou Piniella homered for the Royals.

Chicago and San Francisco combined for seven miscues that resulted in eight unearned runs in their 10-inning game. Willie Mays of the Giants and Chicago's Hal Breeden hit homers but it was Paul Povich's bases loaded, two-out single that gave the Cubs the 8-7 decision.

Joe Torre of St. Louis slammed two round-trippers to back up Steve Carlton's six shutout innings on the mound as the Cardinals nipped Detroit 4-3.

Rich Morales and Carlos May hit solo jobs for the Chicago White Sox in their 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees, the New York Mets ripped Minnesota 6-1 behind homers by Al Weis and Ed Kranepool and Houston's Bob Watson and Doug Rader cracked homers to counter a three-run blast by Cincinnati's Darrell Chaney as the Astros outlasted the Reds 9-8.

In other action, Deron Johnson and Larry Hise of Philadelphia cracked homers but the Tokyo Giants' 12-hit outburst and a 12-strikeout performance by their pitcher, Caz Takahashi, gave them an 8-4 romp over the Phillies.

Jim Spencer's homer, Chico Ruiz' RBI double and Rober Repoz' sacrifice fly powered the California Angels past Cleveland 3-2 and San Diego lost a 5-4 battle to Milwaukee and lost pitcher Dick Kelly and infielder Enzo Hernandez with pulled hamstrings for at least a week.

The Orioles smothered Boston 5-1 and Montreal topped Atlanta 5-3 as the Expos survived a single and five consecutive walks that gave the Braves all their runs in the eighth.

Craig Morton Is Charged

DALLAS (AP) — Quarterback Craig Morton of the Dallas Cowboys professional football team, denied today any wrongdoing which led to his arrest Sunday by police on a misdemeanor charge of "indecent conduct and abusive language."

Arresting officers D. E. Mainer and R. C. Hawthorne said Morton was standing beside a parked car and urinating. He was taken to jail and released after posting a $50 bond. His case comes up in corporation court April 3.

"It's so ridiculous, it's absurd," said Morton, who was arrested at an all-night service station off North Central Expressway at 3 a.m. Sunday. He had been discharged from Baylor Hospital Saturday morning and was wearing a cast on his right elbow.

Morton's lawyer said, "This is a foolish thing. Indecent conduct is not even a legal charge. I don't know what it is. I'm confident we'll have this matter thrown out when the hearing is held."

"Nothing like that ever happened," Morton said. "We pulled up to get some gas and I got out of the car. My date was driving and I told her to pull closer to the gas pump. Then the two policemen came up and told me I was under arrest."

NEW YORK (AP) — Elmore Smith and Travis Grant, the giants who led Kentucky State to two straight NAIA national championships, head the 1971 college basketball Little All American selected today by The Associated Press.

Dwight Lamar, the shooting whiz of Southwestern Louisiana, Ted "The Hound" McClain of Tennessee State and Butch Webster of LSU-New Orleans round out the first team chosen on the basis of votes from 152 sports writers and sportscasters.

Monday's baseball game here between junior varsity units of Big Spring and Midland produced enough thrills to last Steer coach Tim Smith for the rest of the season.

The Dogies built up 7-1, saw Midland tie it in the sixth and then won it with one out in the seventh when Bruce Felts blooped a single into left field after the visitors had employed a shift trying to choke off the Big Spring run at home.

The Bulldogs brought the left fielder in to play third and had the third baseman crowding the plate after Big Spring's Jerry Knoepfel had singled, escaped a rundown between first and second and advanced to third.

Reliever Orlando Olague, who took over for starter Mike Gamboa in the top half of the seventh, received credit for the mound win. The victory was the third in four starts for the local JVs.

Willie Williams and Chris Duron clubbed triples while Olague had a double for Big Spring.

Midland outbit the Shorthorns 12-10, and seemed on its way to victory after plating four runs in the fourth.

Atnip and Schmitt each had three safeties for Midland, Williams and Jerry Knoepfel each had two hits for Big Spring.

The JVs don't play again until March 25, at which time they host Permian.

Goliad's Seventh In Best Showing

Goliad Junior High's seventh grade finished best among local entries in last weekend's San Angelo JH track and field meet, scoring 25 1/2 points. That was good for a fifth place finish.

Runnels tallied 11 points in the same division.

On the eighth grade level, Goliad was 12th with a total of 12 1/2 points while Runnels finished with 4 1/2.

In the ninth grade, Big Spring's combined team had 19 points, which tied it with Midland Edison for sixth place.

Johnston of Big Spring Runnels' seventh grade squad won the discus with a toss of 119-2.

It was the only first place achieved by a Big Spring entry although Everisto Pineda of the Big Spring Toros wound up second in the 220.

Civtans Blister Tompkins, 95-77

In the final YMCA Adult Basketball league games of the season Monday night, the Civitans prevailed over Tompkins Oil, 95-77, and Wooten Lyons outlasted First Federal Savings and Loan, 83-77.

The Civitans led by a mere three points, at 39-36, when intermission time arrived but outscored the Oilers in the final two periods, 56-41.

Danny Clendenin dropped in 24 points and Rusty Carter 19 for the Civitans while Delnor Poss had 20 and Ben Neel 19 for Tompkins.

First Federal led Wooten Lyons, 36-35, after two periods of play but Wooten outscored First Federal, 48-41, in the final half.

Gary Grissam counted 25 and Steve Tidwell 21 for First Federal. Terry Wooten tallied 21 and Ronnie Taylor and Ken Maxwell 19 each for Wooten Lyons.

Felts' Hit In 7th Gives JVs Win Over Midland

Monday's baseball game here between junior varsity units of Big Spring and Midland produced enough thrills to last Steer coach Tim Smith for the rest of the season.

The Dogies built up 7-1, saw Midland tie it in the sixth and then won it with one out in the seventh when Bruce Felts blooped a single into left field after the visitors had employed a shift trying to choke off the Big Spring run at home.

The Bulldogs brought the left fielder in to play third and had the third baseman crowding the plate after Big Spring's Jerry Knoepfel had singled, escaped a rundown between first and second and advanced to third.

Reliever Orlando Olague, who took over for starter Mike Gamboa in the top half of the seventh, received credit for the mound win. The victory was the third in four starts for the local JVs.

Willie Williams and Chris Duron clubbed triples while Olague had a double for Big Spring.

Midland outbit the Shorthorns 12-10, and seemed on its way to victory after plating four runs in the fourth.

Atnip and Schmitt each had three safeties for Midland, Williams and Jerry Knoepfel each had two hits for Big Spring.

The JVs don't play again until March 25, at which time they host Permian.

Why Enco ValueCenters?

Because it doesn't make sense for you to have to drive all the way across town to get a bargain on a tire or a battery or something else for your car. Enco ValueCenters are Enco stations with a continuing program of real values for your car. Stop in and see what we mean.

In 5 minutes it had better turn into a station wagon.

When something tells you to break camp fast, the Volkswagen Campmobile is an easy camp to break.

The tent folds up in four minutes and the roof clamps shut in 10 seconds. Which leaves you 50 seconds to tidy up inside. Before the tide comes in outside.

Time enough to open all the curtains. Put the milk in the icebox. Rinse your coffee cup in the sink. Make the dining room table disappear. Turn the full-length double bed into a seat.

And that's it.

You're ready to head for higher ground in a VW-type station wagon with all the VW-type virtues:

An air-cooled engine that presses down on the rear wheels, giving you extra traction in snow. And sand. (We got you into this mess. And we'll get you out of it.)

Gas economy. Up to 23 miles on a gallon of regular.

And space. More than you'd get in any conventional station wagon.

So if you go home empty-handed in a Campmobile, you're really empty.

Tricia Nixon's Engagement

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's a big day for the Irish and Pat Nixon at the White House today. But it's an even bigger day for Tricia Nixon.

Along with celebrating the first lady's 59th birthday and St. Patrick's Day at an evening party, President and Mrs. Nixon will drink a champagne toast to daughter Tricia and Edward Finch Cox and announce the young couple's engagement.

The impending marriage of 25-year-old Tricia and the socially prominent Cox had been no secret, but the timing has been kept close to the families. The date, once reported as

Youth Treated For Face Burns

A 13-year-old burn victim was treated and released Monday at Cowper Clinic. Ricky Roper, 13, Box 48, Vincent Rt., was treated for minor burns on his face and chest.

Hospital officials said that although the burns were painful they were not serious. Young Roper is believed to have been injured in an accident in his home, but the details of the incident were not known.

The boy's parents brought him into town for treatment and were given an escort by Howard County deputy sheriffs.

June 12 in the White House, has been reset for earlier in the month.

Friends, relatives and Irish visitors have been gathering from across the country and across the sea to join the festivities.

The prime minister of Ireland, John Tynch, with a supply of Shamrocks, is the guest of honor for the evening, as how Mrs. Nixon's father came from Ireland and all.

Born in the little mining town of Ely, Nev., the night of March 16, she was christened by her German mother, Thelma Catherine Ryan. But from the moment her Irish Dad saw her on St. Patrick's Day in the morning, it was Pat.

And Pat will be serenaded by a group of singers and dancers who flew over from medieval Bunnraty Castle near Limerick, Ireland, for a command performance at the White House.

Cox, seven months younger than Miss Nixon, is a Harvard Law School student whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cox, are prominent in New York society.

The young couple has known each other eight years and their first date was in 1964 at Tricia's coming out.

$6 Million Bank Shortage Quiz Starts

CHICAGO (AP) — The Cosmopolitan National Bank says it has a shortage of more than $6 million and the FBI is questioning a customer and a bank bookkeeper.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. said that if a $6-million embezzlement is confirmed, it would be the largest in the history of U.S. banking.

Bank President Donald D. Magers said Monday the loss was uncovered Feb. 25 when the customer "confessed to an officer of the bank" and implicated the employee. The bookkeeper, who had been with the bank 24 years, was fired.

The FBI said no arrests were expected before Thursday. Magers said the shortage apparently built up when the customer was permitted to write checks—sometimes as high as $900,000—on a corporate account which did not contain enough money to meet them. The checks were handled only by the one bookkeeper, he said. The loss occurred over a period of at least a year.

Neither the customer nor the bookkeeper was identified. Although the exact amount of the loss will not be known until an audit is completed, Magers said it was between $6 million and $7 million.

He said the bank is "very liquid and in good shape" and although it was a substantial loss "we are in a position to take care of it."

Leonard M. Lavezzorio, the bank's board chairman, said Cosmopolitan National had earnings of $835,000 before taxes in 1970 and has assets of about $60 million.

Public Hearing Scheduled On Problem Of Alcoholism

Dr. Preston Harrison, chairman of Region IX planning committee for suggesting a plan for treatment and rehabilitation of people with alcoholism, will moderate a public hearing Wednesday.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the 161st District Courtroom in Odessa.

Community leaders, representatives of state, county and municipal agencies and other interested citizens are invited to discuss the needs for treatment of people with alcoholism.

Gov. Preston Smith assigned to the Texas Commission for Mental Health and Retardation the task of recommending a plan of treatment. Such a plan is required by the federal government for participation in federal funding for improved methods of care and treatment of the alcoholic.

Shelby Parnell, who is director of the Big Spring State Hospital program for alcoholics will be one of the discussion leaders. He will address himself to Alcoholics Anonymous attitudes toward other therapeutic approaches, and the public attitude toward AA. Dr. Harrison will be one of the panelists on general attitude of the medical community in treating alcoholics. Dr. B. J. Youngblood, Midland, will assist him.

Other topics and panelists include: The Rev. James R. Otterness, Odessa, on the church's position; Judge Barbara Culver, political attitude toward alcoholism; Maj. E. K. Browning, Midland, Texas DPS, law enforcement attitudes toward alcoholism; W. M. Holm, Odessa, Odessa, and Dr. James Mailey, Midland, attitude of schools toward alcohol education; W. M. Masterson, Odessa, responsiveness of leaders to alcohol problems.

Serving on the planning committee for this Region with Dr. Harrison are Terry Fisher, Midland, O. H. Crews, Odessa; the Rev. Otterness, Odessa; Roy Bell, Odessa attorney, is the area planning coordinator.

Information gathered at the hearing will furnish a starting point for the committee's planning, which will be pooled with those of other regions to shape a state plan.

Credit Course Set For Dentists

SWEETWATER — Bill Strickler has been named as instructor for the medical-dental credit accounts management program scheduled in Sweetwater for March 22-25. The four-day course will be in the board room of the Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Strickler is currently an employe of the distributive education department of the University of Texas. For 20 years, he was owner and manager of a credit bureau and a medical-dental bureau.

The course is designed to benefit medical and dental assistants and office personnel along with hospital credit managers. Collections, new techniques for account control and public relations will be emphasized. Registration fee for the four-day course is $10.00.

UNDECIDED — With the crucial House vote on continued federal financing of the SST coming up Thursday, Rep. Charles J. Carney is still undecided on how he'll vote. The Democrat from Ohio is feeling the heat of a heavy lobbying campaign, pro and con, on the issue.
