

WHITE HOUSE TO 'TAKE A BRAND NEW LOOK'

Vote To Restore SST Funding

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee voted 17 to 5 today to restore full funding for a federally subsidized supersonic transport plane.

The committee vote, which was counter to Thursday's vote in the House eliminating SST spending, was denounced by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who said he will campaign to make sure the full Senate goes along with the House view.

But two committee members, Sen. Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, and Gale McGee, D-Wyo., changed positions from last year voting for the SST appropriation.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, also changed position to vote for SST spending but told newsmen this does not necessarily indicate what position she will take when the appropriation comes to a vote on the Senate floor.

Earlier today Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said that if the Senate agrees with the House and refuses more money for the SST "that ought to be the end of it."

And Republican Leader Hugh Scott said the White House would have to "take a brand new look" at the whole issue.

Still to be heard from is the Senate. But that chamber moved last year to cut off government SST money, and a reaffirmation of that position in a vote which probably will come next week, will end federal financing March 30.

Since it is generally agreed the depressed aviation industry could not afford to finance SST development, continued work on a U.S. model would hinge on the Nixon administration's emergency alternative financing plans. These have not been spelled out but are said to include a bond issue approach rejected by the White House two years ago.

Meanwhile, the Senate took up today a bill offered by SST backers in an effort to woo support for the plane. The proposal would ban sonic booms over the United States, answering a major objection to the 1,800-mile-an-hour plane.

And the Senate Appropriations Committee called a closed session to consider the $200-million administration SST request the House voted down Thursday.

Acting on an amendment by Rep. Sidney Yates, D-Ill., the House eliminated the money in a nonrecord 218-204 vote. Then made it final on a 215-204 roll call.

The House vote is great news for those of us who have been fighting the supersonic transport," said Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis. "It is possible that the House vote will give us just the advantage we need to win."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., in whose state the Boeing Co. would build the 298-passenger plane, called the House defeat "a very unfortunate trend in development against science and technology as a whole."

FREIGHT CARS INVOLVED IN INVESTIGATION—Two freight cars stand on a siding in the yards of the tiny LaSalle and Bureau County Railroad at LaSalle, Ill. The line is linked with the purported theft of 277 Penn Central railroad cars. The box car at right bears the Penn Central name, while the one at left has relatively new patches of paint with the initials of the LaSalle and Bureau County Railroad line.

Rattlesnake Hunters Off And Running

Rattlesnake Round-Up started with snake hunter registration at noon today.

The major event Friday is the Rattlesnake Round-Up Parade starting at 4:30 p.m. at Tenth and Main. The parade will go north on Main to Second, turn west on second and south on Scurry and continue back to the starting point area. It will last 30 to 60 minutes.

Snake hunters will be out in force this afternoon so that the snakes they catch will bring the highest price. The Jaycees expect up to two tons of the West Texas menace. Hunters want to bring in as many snakes as they can while the price is 25 cents per pound. It drops to 15 cents Saturday and seven cents Sunday.

The County Barn has been transformed into a snake show. A large wood and plexiglass snake pen and bleachers have been set up to hold the hunters' catches and to provide an area for Pat Burchfield's snake show.

Snake hunters will bring their catches to the barn where they will be weighed, measured, and either put in the main snake pit or skinned and fried by the Jay-ceettes as a gourmet treat for West-Texans.

The activity today is limited to snake hunting, weighing, measuring and skinning, the parade, and judging of Miss Diamondback.

Devil's Island 'Escapee' Hired

NICK, France (AP) — Henry Charriere, the Devil's Island escapee who turned his life story into the best seller "Papillon," said today Steve McQueen would play the title role in the film version.

Charriere said McQueen's asking price for doing the movie was $1 million.

WORTH $1 MILLION Here's How To Lose 277 Freight Cars

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Losing a railroad freight car is easy. Finding it is tougher, especially when it's been rerouted, repainted and given a fake serial number.

The Penn Central, America's largest railroad, reorganizing under the federal bankruptcy laws because it lost money while hauling people and goods, now reports it also lost freight cars.

At least 277, worth more than $1 million.

NO CHARGES FILED
The FBI and the Federal Task Force on Organized Crime are investigating the mysterious disappearance — and how the cars, bearing new colors and new identities, turned up as the alleged property of the La Salle & Bureau County Railroad, a 15-mile-long line in Northern Illinois. No charges have been filed.

Here's how freight cars can go astray: There are more than two million freight cars in the United States and they all move in a common pool, carrying raw materials and finished goods around the nation over some 220,000 miles of track operated by nearly 800 companies. Penn Central has 180,000 cars and 20 per cent of the trackage.

COLLECTS RENT FOR RIDE
The problem is that the cars of all railroads operate on the lines of all railroads. It is the duty of the line whose tracks are being used to keep track of all cars that it is hauling, whether they are its own or others.

Thus Penn Central, for instance, is responsible for a car of another railroad that travels its tracks, and collects rent for that car's ride.

The return trip sometimes takes days. More often it is weeks or months. A car might not come back to the owner railroad until it has been loaded and unloaded a dozen times or more.

Slain Girl 'Assaulted'

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — A pathologist said Thursday that slain Tonia Worthington, 10, was "sexually assaulted."

The child disappeared on her way home from school Monday, and searchers found the body next day in a culvert beneath a rural road about two miles northwest of Abilene.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Worthington.

A preliminary report on an autopsy by the pathologist said the little girl "probably died of strangulation and asphyxiation."

Authorities have charged T. Sgt. James Duke Creel, 32, with murder. Creel, held without bond has been stationed here at Dyess Air Force Base.

Landslide Tragedy

LIMA, Peru (AP) — An avalanche of mud and rocks touched off by an earthquake tumbled down on an isolated mining camp high in the Andes and killed 400-600 persons, federal police said today.

Living Costs Rise Called 'Good News'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today what the White House called "encouraging news" for consumers, a two-tenths increase in the cost of living last month.

It follows January's increase of one-tenth of one per cent, and remains below the monthly increases of from three-tenths to six-tenths of one per cent that prevailed for all but one month of last year. Last August the increase also was two-tenths of one per cent.

"This is good news," Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson said at the White House. "This is encouraging news," White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

"We still think we've got the economy headed in the right direction," Hodgson said, predicting further improvements later in the year.

Grand Champion Steer Sells For $1,267 At Local Show

The 34th Annual Howard County 4-H Club and FFA Livestock Show auction Thursday night was about the same as previous auctions.

The County Barn was packed with spectators as the auction got under way at 7:30 p.m. Prices ran about average and the quality of the livestock was good.

Top price at the sale was for Maxwell Barr's Grand Champion Charolais Crossbreed. Barr's 1,195-pound steer took $900 plus the market price of $30.75 cwt for a total price of $1,267.46. The grand champion was purchased by Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital, Malone & Hogan Clinic, Medical Arts Clinic-Hospital and Medical Center Memorial Hospital.

Terry Davis' Reserve Champion Charolais Crossbreed took $775 plus the market price for his 1,065-pound steer for a total of $1,102.49. The Reserve Champion was purchased by Big Spring Savings Association, First Federal Savings and Loan Association, First National Bank and Security State Bank.

The top lamb bid was for Tony Gillespie's champion fine-wool at $130. Total price was $155.97, which included the market price of $26.50 cwt for the 99-pound lamb. The champion went to Smith & Coleman Oil Co.

OR, MAYBE, CLEAN HOUSE Pay Raise For Texas Solons Best Way To Avoid 'Scandal'?

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — A legislative pay raise would be the best way to assure Texas avoids "another stock scandal," Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine said today.

Price, the only announced candidate to oppose House Speaker Gus Mutschers' bid for a third term starting in 1973, addressed the North and East Texas Press Association.

"Adequate pay for legislators is the best investment the people of Texas can make. It also would be the most productive action that could be taken to assure that we don't have another stock scandal. Most members just cannot afford, on $400 per month, to spend time necessary to adequately see after the state's business," Price said.

NO CONFIDENCE
"We therefore leave too many decisions to those who can afford to spend the time or those to whom it becomes profitable to spend the time."

Price said members of the House "have given up to the speaker much of the independence necessary" for them to avoid being stamped into voting without knowledge of the bills before them.

He said the people have lost confidence in the legislature and have, therefore, denied them adequate salaries and the authority to meet annually. "The tools to competently do our jobs."

"We in the legislature must clean up our house and change our methods and procedures to engender such confidence," Price declared.

REFORMS NEEDED
Several reforms are needed, he declared, starting with elimination of "herd instincts" so that each member can be "an independent, creative and competent representative of the people."

"A change in leadership must come first," Price said, referring to Mutschers. "There will be no changes in the rules until then, as has been demonstrated by past actions of the present leadership."

He listed several rules changes that he said must be made "after a change in leadership, which I am confident will come to pass."

These include limiting joint House-Senate conference committees only to adjusting actual differences between versions of the same bill passed by each house.

Price also advocated creation of a legislative ethics committee

"selected by the members themselves"; adoption of a "fair and workable code of ethics" for legislators; a limited seniority system so a member could retain membership on a commit-

Dear Boss: I'm Not Trying To Snow You About Spring.

DEAR BOSS:
Got your suntan lotion ready? According to the trusty almanac spring is upon us. Spring chases Old Man Winter out of town at 12:38 a.m. Sunday, but from all indications it's not going to be as good a battle this year as it was last year.

Remember the last day of winter last year? We woke up to find six inches of snow on the ground. (You remember snow — that fluffy, cold, icy, white stuff we ain't had much of this winter.)

If you'll remember I told you at the time that there would come a day when you would look back upon that snowfall with nostalgia. Well? Unless Old Man Winter can rally his forces by tomorrow morning, he's had it. Once spring takes over the blustery old gentleman will not get a chance to blow and snow.

Spring officially begins at the exact moment every March when the center of the sun passes directly over the equator as the sun moves north. Now scientists call this the time of vernal equinox, because this makes day and night of equal length. Before you get excited about the phenomena, however, let me warn you that the equal day and night will only occur at the equator Sunday.

I hope you weren't planning on observing that day and night of equal length in West Texas. Because we have already had it here. According to all the available timetables I can round up, Tuesday was our "vernal equinox." According to our fixtures the sun rose at 6:55 p.m. Tuesday.

But never fear, you'll get another chance Sept. 27. The sun will rise at 6:37 and set at 6:37 (depending on whether or not we're on daylight savings time — if we are the day and night will still be of equal length, but the time of sunrise and sunset will be 7:37.)

I have one question I want to ask, Boss. If winter was like spring here (and for the most part it was), and spring turns out to be like summer (and it probably will), what's in store for us this summer?
Your weather-eyed reporter,
JEAN FANNIN

AVERAGE 96 TOUCHDOWNS PER YEAR Twister Time In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — On the morning of May 18, 1902, the citizens of the picturesque little town of Goliad in Southeast Texas went about their business as usual. Then one of the two most vicious tornadoes in Texas history struck.

KILLING 114
It raked the town, killing 114 and injuring twice that many. Property losses, at 1902 prices, were only $50,000.

Six days before the 51st anniversary of that occurrence, a massive tornado swept across Waco, killing 114 and injuring 597. This time damage was estimated at $41 million.

Those two were the most disastrous to strike Texas in the number of lives lost.

And now that season when the vortices of destruction are most likely to be spawned is upon us again, says Robert Orton, state climatologist for the National Weather Service.

APRIL FOOL
While tornadoes do occur in March, as witnessed March 12 by residents in Texarkana, where one was killed, the tornado season begins earnestly about April 1, he says.

Texas averages 96 touchdowns per year, Orton notes. They occur with greatest frequency in the northeast part of the Low Rolling Plains and in the northern half of North Central Texas.

Tornadoes are, by comparison, rare in the southeast portion of the state.

While they may occur in any month and at all hours of the day, they normally hit with the greatest frequency during late spring and early summer and between 4 p.m. and 8 p.m.

In the period from 1951-70, three-fifths of all Texas tornadoes occurred within the months of April, May and June. Slightly more than one-fourth occurred in May, he said.

Partly due to the state's size, more tornadoes have struck in Texas than in any other state.

British Actress In Divorce Court

LONDON (AP) — An uncontested divorce action by British actress Dawn Addams against Prince Vittorio Massimo, scion of a wealthy Italian industrial family, has been filed in the London divorce court.

Miss Addams, 40, and Massimo were married in 1954 and parted in 1958 after she bore a son.

In October, 1966, Miss Addams changed her name legally to Howard seven months after giving birth to another boy. She subsequently was named correspondent in a successful divorce action by June Howard against actor Michael Howard, a British actor.

At the time of the Howard divorce a lawyer representing Miss Addams said in court she and Howard wished to marry.

1,907—within the 20-year period. Actually, in the number of tornadoes per 10,000 square mile area, Texas ranks ninth among the 50 states, with an average of 3.6 occurrences per year, Orton says.

The greatest outbreak on record was associated with Hurricane Beulah in September, 1967. That storm spawned 115 tornadoes, all in Texas, within a five-day period. Of these, 67 occurred Sept. 20, a record number for a single day, he said.

1967 BAD
Because of the large number spawned by Beulah, the greatest number of these violent storms ever reported in Texas in a single month was in September of that year with 124.

The greatest number in a single year was 232, also in 1967. The swirling storms have not taken a large number of lives always although 29 have resulted on 10 or more deaths since 1891.

On May 11, 1970, the costliest tornado in Texas history struck the city of Lubbock. Twenty-six died, at least 500 were injured and property damage was estimated at $135 million.

LUBBOCK STORM
The Lubbock storm made 1970 the costliest tornado year in the state's history. The death toll in 1970 reached 51 and property losses totalled $152,322,000.

The most violent tornado of record in Texas, measured in terms of intensity and area covered, struck White Deer, Glazier and Higgins, in Texas and Woodward, Okla., on April 9, 1947.

The path of its huge vortex was one and a half miles wide at times and 221 miles long, stretching across portions of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

TINY TORNADO
The vortex of the smallest tornado of record in Texas, Orton says, was no more than six to eight feet in diameter and hit at Austin May 17, 1965. The tip of the tiny funnel passed about five feet over the head of Nat Henderson, staff writer of the Austin Statesman, only seconds before uprooting a huge elm 15 feet away.

"Although the distinct funnel roared just above my head, it did not even stir a hair," Henderson said. "I could not feel a breath of a breeze, but the sound was as deafening as a jet engine warming up near my ears."

WATCH, WARNING
Orton said the weather service uses a two-stage system to alert people to tornado danger—the watch and the warning.

The watch tells you that atmospheric conditions are ripe for tornadoes, although none has been sighted, Orton said. The warning tells you that a tornado actually has been spotted visually or is indicated on radar.

If a tornado is approaching, auditoriums, gymnasiums, and other structures with wide, free-span roofs should be avoided.

In open country, move away from the tornado's path at right angles. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest ditch or ravine.

People in mobile homes should evacuate them since they are particularly vulnerable to overturning during strong winds, Orton said.

The declarer in today's hand got away with his enterprising contract of four spades when East and West missed their signals and failed to take advantage of their resources.

West, with only five and one-half winners, was somewhat aggressive in his opening bid of three diamonds but, with his lack of fortification in the major suits, the situation seemed desperate enough to warrant drastic action. As for North's overcall of three spades, it was a somewhat hazardous action at the three level on such an open suit with only 11 high card points. South's jump to four spades may be regarded as routine.

West opened the king of diamonds on which East signaled encouragingly with the eight. A diamond continuation was ruffed by declarer who proceeded to draw trump in four rounds. The heart finesse was taken, losing to East's king, and the diamond return was trumped with South's last spade. With the hearts now established, declarer had a place to put his losing clubs and he scored an overtrick.

East was quick to place the finger of blame on his partner for not shifting to a club at trick two, contending that, unless the defense was able to establish tricks in that suit, there could be no reasonable hope of defeating the contract. His reasoning was of course faultless, but it was his own shoddy technique that laid the basis for the defensive lapse.

East, having sized up matters at trick one, should have directed the defense. He could, if he so desired, follow to the king of diamonds with the five requesting his partner to shift to another suit. The appearance of the dummy makes it clear that clubs is the area in which to attack. However, the more direct procedure would be to overtake West's lead with the ace of diamonds, in order to assure a club shift at the second trick, for unless West has the king of clubs—the defense might just as well fold camp.

Lamesa Council Okays Water Hike

LAMESA — The city council this week gave final approval on second reading to an ordinance raising water rates 18 per cent effective April 1.

The new rates will affect city water users both in and out of the city limits. As in the past, however, for meters outside the city limits, users of city water will pay 150 per cent of the established rate paid by similar customers inside the city limits.

The new schedule of rates will establish an increase of 30 cents, from $1.50 to $1.80 in the minimum bill for the first 1,000 gallons. Other increases include: 85 cents to $1 per thousand for the next 2,000 gallons; 50 cents to 60 cents per thousand for the next 47,000 gallons; 45 cents to 55 cents per thousand for the next 50,000 gallons and 40 cents to 50 cents per thousand for the next 100,000 gallons.

The reasons behind the rate hike hinged mainly on the increasing cost of participation in the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. With cash reserves in the water and sewer fund already depleted, higher CRMWA payments will necessitate some $51,000 in new revenues in 1971-72 to maintain "excess" funds for transfer to the city's general operating fund.

It was also pointed out that water revenues must be increased in order to comply with bond indentures requiring net revenues to be 150 per cent of the average annual bond requirements. Other increases have been made in recent years to meet rising costs, including a boost in garbage collection rates in 1967 and a hike in sewer rates last year.

Jazz Great 'Satchmo' Ill

NEW YORK (AP) — Jazz great Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong has responded to treatment and is resting comfortably in the intensive care unit of Beth Israel Hospital, a spokesman for the hospital said today.

The 70-year-old trumpeter was admitted Monday evening because of an aggravation of his previous heart condition, the spokesman said. She gave no estimate of the seriousness of his condition.

Armstrong's manager, Ira Mangel, said the musician-singer was feeling well last week-end but entered the hospital on order of physicians concerned over an edema condition.

Edema is an abnormal accumulation of fluid causing swelling of body tissues or body cavities.

Armstrong suffered a kidney ailment that hospitalized him in 1969 and which, he has said, also weakened his heart.

Recently he had returned to entertaining and ended a playing engagement at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel last Saturday.

Eye Pains Bed Elvis Presley

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Entertainer Elvis Presley, undergoing hospital treatment for an eye infection, has been moved to an area of the building which is "more easily guarded," a hospital spokesman says.

The hospital has been de-luged with telephone calls, flowers and callers attempting to convey their get-well wishes to the singer, who entered the hospital Tuesday.

Presley's condition was reported satisfactory. The spokesman described his ailment as painful but not serious.

Mom Of Quints Still Believes In Drugs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 25-year-old housewife who gave birth to quintuplets says she still believes in fertility drugs for childless couples, although only two of the infants have survived.

"I think it's marvelous to have babies and if that's the only way you can, I'd recommend it even if they live or die or if you only have one baby," said Pearl Kaplan.

Two of Mrs. Kaplan's 10-week premature baby daughters died Wednesday from what doctors called respiratory failure. Another quint, the only boy, was stillborn.

In guarded condition since their birth early Tuesday at Valley Presbyterian Hospital are Dawn Michelle and Danielle Faye.

JUSTICE IN MIDLAND

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Three men were sentenced in 142nd District Court here on one day recently with ironic results.

One, accused of embezzling $100, and the second, accused of murder without malice, drew identical sentences — two years probation.

The third man, charged with taking "a few dimes and quarters" from a laundryman, drew three years in the penitentiary without probation.

Wife Of Celled Hoffa Stricken

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Josephine Hoffa, wife of imprisoned Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, has been admitted to University of California Hospital for what doctors diagnosed as a painful heart condition.

Dr. Seymour Farber said Mrs. Hoffa appeared to be suffering the early stages of a heart attack.

She came to San Francisco to attend a testimonial banquet Saturday for Bay Area Teamster leader Jack Goldberg, a longtime friend of her husband, and went to the hospital Thursday.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW — CARROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A very contentious atmosphere is in the air today and tonight. Your affairs could be in quick disarray if you are impatient, scrappy or try to get things moving without due and proper deliberation. Wait until tomorrow before you do put them in motion anyway. Study all practical plans closely. Show that you are wise.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Jumping into a new venture without proper study could cost you a good deal, so slow down. Others may be impatient, but show that you have willpower. An ounce of prevention now is very important.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You must be very efficient at work ahead of you right now. Be very careful where money is concerned. Don't run off any longer, either. Arguing with mole could cause some serious trouble.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although others may seem not to appreciate you as much as they should, it is wise to keep your side of any bargain. Show your finest talents and get good results. Don't rely too much on others for help.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Although you are not in the mood for work today, there is much—facing you. So don't neglect responsibilities. Know what is expected of you. Then carry through without fanfare. Relax tonight!

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) A particular plan needs your attention today, so forget that inclination to go out with fun-loving friends. Start work early and show that you are practical and sensible. Avoid unnecessary expenditures.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) The situation at home is a bit touchy and do nothing to add fuel to the fire now raging there. Take it easy and all straightens out. You know the reason for it, so estimate cause.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) Support others instead of criticizing them so much and you get right results. Show that you are loyal. Recklessness could get you into trouble. Use good sense and all is fine.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get busy fixing up home and forget the financial today. Roll up your sleeves and get to work early. Have a more optimistic attitude toward life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A demanding attitude toward others avoids you, nothing, but tact gets what you want at this time. Postponing social affairs is wise, since you have to think of practical matters. Do some figuring tonight!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Although you are not satisfied with the position you now find yourself in, it is wise to stick to duties of hand. Later, study other activities during spare time. Don't give up the ship in the middle of the ocean. Think straight!

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Try to solve own problems instead of calling on friends who could just waste your time for nothing. Open door to new opportunity by studying. Avoid persons who are superficial.

Austin Too 'Hot' For Penal Code

AUSTIN (AP) — The capital city is too hot for a special committee studying a new penal code, so it plans a three-day work session at a retreat about 100 miles away.

Much criticism has been heaped on the new code, and committee members said Thursday they needed to get off by themselves to study the 500-page document.

The committee will meet March 26, 27 and 28 to go over section by section the first wholesale revision in Texas' criminal laws in 115 years.

Six legal experts have been invited to work with the legislators:

- University of Texas Law School Dean Page Keeton.
- Dallas Asst. Dist. Atty. Russell Armischer.
- San Antonio Dist. Judge Jim Barlow.

—Houston Dist. Atty. Carroll Vance.

—Dallas defense lawyer Phil Burleson.

—Austin defense lawyer Frank Maloney.

"We've had enough criticism. We need help right now," said Sen. Jim Bates, Edinburg, co-chairman of the 10-man House-Senate subcommittee working on the new code.

Bates asked that the site of the work session not be publicized.

Keeton, Vance and Maloney were on a 29-member committee that worked five years writing the proposed code.

The committee has held three public hearings. Most of the witnesses, including Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, opposed the new code. Wade called it a monstrosity.

STOKELY URGING BLACKS RETURN TO AFRICA

'We Must Fight And Kill For Land'

HOUSTON (AP) — In a taunting, hour-long lecture, black militant Stokely Carmichael called on black people everywhere to return to Africa—"the mother land"—and take over the continent by revolutionary force.

Carmichael, the former chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, told a mostly black audience Thursday at the University of Houston: "We must fight and kill for land. Let's fight for Africa."

He was keynote speaker at the opening of the Third World Conference sponsored by black student organization at the university.

CRYSTAL CLEAR

Carmichael told the audience of 500 to study, to work and to be prepared to fight for an international black union based in Africa. This is the basis, he said, for a philosophy he called "Pan Africanism."

Wearing sun glasses and a white and gray embroidered shirt, he said blacks were the rightful owners of Africa and that blacks—whom he called Africans—must take that continent by revolution.

Carmichael quoted at length from the writings of assassinated black leader Malcolm X throughout his speech.

"If one is talking about revolution we are talking about land," he said. "Land is what we are fighting for. If students are talking about revolution, they are talking about seizing and holding land . . . If we are talking about taking land let us make it crystal clear we must kill for land."

WINNING OR DYING

Carmichael said, "If you talk about winning or dying, Revolution is bloody and it is hostile."

Africa, he said, is the richest continent in the world.

"If Africa were properly organized it would be the most powerful continent in the world," he said. "We would be the most powerful people on earth and if we were the most powerful people this planet would know some peace."

Carmichael said "the white boy" has taken over much of the land in the world by "brutal force" and whites used force to interrupt an advancing black civilization in Africa.

"The white boy is nothing but a disrupter of our way of life," he asserted.

'RUNNING DOGS'

Carmichael named countries over the world where he said the black race has spread from the African "mother land." He said all such peoples should return to Africa to establish a communal life where the profits of industry would be shared by all and not by just the "capitalists," whom he called "running dogs."

"Show me a capitalist and I will show you a blood sucker," Carmichael declared. "We must destroy capitalism so that the labor that we produce we profit from and nobody else."

Several Heroin Addicts Pop Methadone Proposal

AUSTIN (AP) — Several admitted heroin addicts have told a House committee they would have to go back to taking dope if a proposed state methadone treatment program is initiated.

They testified Thursday before the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Committee which heard a bill by Reps. Nelson Wolff of San Antonio and Mike Moncrief of Fort Worth to have the State Health Department set up a program.

Under the bill, addicts would go to a clinic to receive a daily dosage of methadone, a synthetic drug which research has found to be a substitute for heroin, Wolff said.

"I can't go somewhere twice a day and hold a job too," one addict said. He and two others said they now get enough dosage to last them a week or 10 days. "I would have to go back to stealing again," he said.

Another 28-year-old man told the committee he was an addict for 14 years but went on methadone about three months ago.

The three who testified were patients of Dr. J.P. Carter of Fort Worth, who administers a private methadone program. Carter also opposed the bill as it is now written.

"If the program is taken away from Dr. Carter, I don't know what I'd do," the addict said. "I'd probably go back to shooting dope."

Several state officials endorsed the program.

Dr. James Peavy, state health commissioner, said the bill was needed because methadone is an experimental drug that requires regulation and control if it is to be administered on a community-wide basis.

"This drug is not without danger," Peavy told the committee, saying deaths from overdose have been recorded.

E. M. Scott, assistant state commissioner for mental health and mental retardation, said his department agreed in principle with the bill.

M. K. Carson Is In City Campaign

M. K. Carson, member of the Southwestern Bell mechanical staff, has announced as a candidate for city commissioner in the April 6 election.

Carson is a native of Jacksonville and has been a resident of Big Spring since 1952 when he became an employee of the telephone company. Currently he serves as an exchange repairman.

He resides at 3800 Parkway with his wife Ann, and their children, Robert, Marbin, 3, pupil at Jack and Jill, and twin daughters, Melissa and Patricia, age 22 months.

"We must have in our city government someone who will represent the working man of our town," he said in his announcement. "The city council has been made up over the years almost strictly of the big boss; it is time that the average working man had a voice on the council. I would like the chance to be that voice."

"In asking the voters of Big Spring to let me serve on the city council, I promise that economy in our city government will be foremost in my mind, but only where the basic functions of the city are not impaired. There are places where the city must spend money — fire and police protection may need expansion. Streets and park areas should be given study. Yet, where there is fat, it should be cut, and spending increased only when it is needed to better serve the people.

"Recent events have proven without a doubt that some agreement must be reached between the city and the county on fire protection. The Silver Heels' grass fire easily could have proven a disaster. Recently the city closed a fire station for reasons of economy, reducing our fire protection. Was this the best place for economy?"

Efforts Of Local Churches Culminate Sunday In James Robison Crusade

What looms as the largest single evangelistic effort in the history of the city will come to the harvest time Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Stadium. It is the crusade led by James Robison, dynamic young evangelist, and John McKay, music and song director, a team blessed by outstanding results in recent years.

The crusade will continue at the same hour daily through the evening of March 28 at the stadium, unless inclement weather should force its transfer to the Municipal Auditorium. More than two dozen churches from seven denominations are sponsoring the event, and several others are cooperating, according to the Rev. Kenneth Patrick, general chairman.

Crowds of several thousand are expected, and crusade workers are planning on a choir of 500 voices. Teams of counselors have been trained to help individuals who come seeking or making a decision for Christ. Scores of individuals have been schooled in personal evangelism.

Those crusade has been well publicized for the past six weeks through the news media, by billboards, and in car streamers, posters, song book covers, and direct mailing. In addition virtually every home in Big Spring, Forsan and Coahoma has been visited personally with an invitation to attend.

Aside from the nightly preaching services, several extra engagements have been booked for the Rev. Robison. He speaks Monday at Coahoma Junior and Senior High Schools; Tuesday-noon to the Rotary and other service clubs; Wednesday to Howard County Junior College and Big Spring High School; and Thursday at Forsan High School.

The entire program has been undergirded by cottage prayer meetings and teams convened to pray for the meeting. Numerous physical arrangements have been made, including leasing of platforms and risers from the Band Boosters to accommodate the evangelist and choir; also steps from the front of the stadium to the ground level for easy access by those responding. Piano and organ accompaniment have been arranged, and the Robison Crusade staff will supply sound and technical equipment. The decorated platform will face west to the west stands of the stadium, chosen because of proximity to the paved parking area. Pete Stone is parking chairman, and the Police Auxiliary has volunteered for this service.

Among sponsoring churches are the Methodist congregations in Big Spring, the First Church of God, Highland Church of God, First Assembly of God, Evangel Assembly of God, Church of the Nazarene, the Salvation Army, and virtually all churches in the Big Spring Baptist Association, including Coahoma and Forsan.

The steering committee for the crusade is comprised of the Rev. Kenneth Patrick, general chairman, the Rev. Leo Gee and the Rev. Forrest Robinson, co-chairmen; and these committee chairmen: Bob Spears, attendance; Charles Richards, arrangements; Dr. Byron Orand and Raymond Stevenson, counseling and follow-up; Dale Cain, enlistment; G. G. Morehead, finance; Dr. Harold Smith, hospitality; David Norvell, music; Pete Stone, parking; Arnold Denney and J. W. Farmer, personal evangelism; the Rev. James Puckett, publicity; the Rev. Wales Lankford, spiritual preparation; Sid Clark and Joe Smoot, ushers; the Rev. Forrest Robinson, transportation; Dr. D. H. McGonagill, youth activities.

'Choralaires' To Present Concert Tonight At Trinity

The Choralaires of Bible Baptist Seminary in Arlington, Tex., will be presented in a series of services at Trinity Baptist Church today, culminating their appearance with a concert at 7 p.m.

There are 22 singers under the direction of Paul Tan, who has been teaching music and voice for the past 15 years. Tan is from Indonesia and studied for years in this country before entering the teaching field. He holds a BA degree from Tennessee Temple College and a MM degree from Depauw University. Currently he is working on his doctorate in music at North Texas State University.

The Choralaires are unusual in that they not only are outstanding singers but that they are studying in some special phase of the Lord's work to become evangelists, pastors, missionaries, Sunday School workers, etc. They come from all parts of the United States

South Viet Forces Retreat From Laos

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese Command announced today that it has withdrawn between 2,000 and 3,000 of its troops from Laos in the past two days, leaving about 18,000 over the border.

Evidence mounted that the Saigon government is beginning to close out its campaign in Laos after nearly six weeks.

"Some South Vietnamese units which were heavily engaged by the enemy were pulled back to South Vietnam. There have been no replacements Lt. Col. Tran Van An told newsmen at the Saigon command's daily briefing.

MOVING OUT

Some of Saigon's troops at the Ham Nghi forward headquarters were reported packing to return to rear headquarters. More than 100 empty trucks were assembled at Ham Nghi, and the troops were loading them with desks, beds and other supplies and furnishings.

Brig. Gen. Pham Van Phu, commander of the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division, said his entire 1st Regiment—about 1,500 men—had been pulled out of Laos after being cut up and demoralized by weeks of heavy North Vietnamese attacks.

Phu acknowledged to newsmen at Ham Nghi that nearly 300 men of the regiment had been killed or wounded in five days of fighting this week around Fire Base Lolo and Landing Zone Brown. Vietnamese sources in Saigon said another 200 troops are unaccounted for.

FIGHT BACK

The general said his troops had completed three phases of the campaign, including a 2,000-man sweep of Highway 914, one of the key arteries of the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Vietnamese field officers said last week that the major portion of the drive into Laos, which began Feb. 8, would be concluded by the end of the month and the forces would be pulled back to the border.

Gen. Phu also confirmed that his forces had pulled out of Landing Zone Brown under heavy attack but there are still some troops "in the vicinity of Brown," 14 miles east of the Vietnamese border. He said this is now the most advanced South Vietnamese position in Laos.

The South Vietnamese had advanced by March 6 to Sone, their main objective 25 miles from the border. But they began retreating a week later when two North Vietnamese regiments launched heavy counterattacks.

Sources at Ham Nghi said North Vietnamese gunners are pounding South Vietnamese bases still held between Brown and the border.

Phu said his division had been up against about 25,000 North Vietnamese and that about half of the enemy were killed, most of them by U.S. air strikes.

City Gets 154 Million Gallons Water In Month

A total of 154,979 million gallons of water was received from the Colorado River Municipal Water District at a cost of 29.428 cents per thousand gallons for the month of February, reports the city utility department.

Approximately 110,069 million gallons was pumped from the filter plant for an average of 3,031 million gallons per day as compared to an average of 3,247 million gallons per day for February, 1970.

The sewage treatment plant for the city reported a daily average of 2,975 million gallons of sewage treated for the month. Total for the month was 83,304 million gallons of which 8,591 million gallons was sold to Cosden Oil & Chemical Co.

According to the utilities department, there were 44 trouble calls in regard to water, 19 of which were after regular working hours. The department repaired 11 water main leaks, 17 service line leaks, and 16 valves. There were eight valve boxes adjusted, seven service lines replaced, 12 curb stops and one valve replaced, one fire hydrant relocated, and seven water taps made.

There were 27 trouble calls in regard to sewer, nine of which were after regular working hours. The department repaired eight sewer services,

'Oral Approach' To Teach English Fails In Slums

NEW YORK (AP) — A program developed to teach English to Mexican-Americans in Texas schools didn't work in Puerto Rican and black children in New York City slums, a study released Thursday showed.

The program, devised by the Southwestern Development Laboratory in Austin, Tex., uses an "oral approach" to teach English to students who use it as a second language or those who use nonstandard speech patterns.

A school spokesman said that meant children whose families speak Spanish or some other foreign language, or black Southern dialect.

The plan was tested for three years in seven schools in Manhattan and Brooklyn, using about $1 million in federal and state funds.

It called for a teacher to spend an hour a day using special material to teach her Puerto Rican and black first graders how to speak English.

DON'T GET FRESH Spokesmen Egg 'Dating Game'

AUSTIN (AP) — How much should housewives be told about the freshness of eggs, meat and milk they buy?

Not much, grocery men and others in the food industry told a House committee Thursday.

They testified against a bill by Rep. Joe Allen of Baytown that would require retailers to stamp egg, milk and meat containers with the date they are first offered for sale.

'UNWORKABLE'

Allen told the House Agriculture Committee his bill was "unworkable" as written and offered to help rewrite it. The measure was sent to a subcommittee for more study.

Allen said later he felt the bill would be rewritten to exclude milk and to require only that eggs and meat carry "expiration dates" to show when they are no longer fresh, as with photographic film.

John Arrington of Arrington's Egg Ranch at Pearland was the only witness for Allen's bill.

Consumers often think they are buying fresh eggs, he said, when they are really getting eggs more than a month old.

Freshness is particularly important, he said, if an egg is to be eaten raw, as in milkshakes or salads, because of the danger of salmonella.

David Evans of the State Health Department said milk is a "quality product" even if 10 days old.

"Placing dates on milk does not have too much significance and probably would result in a higher price," Evans said.

"Consumers would sort through the milk until eventually you would have a large number of old containers that would continue to get older and older. These would have to be taken back by the processors and would be an additional cost that would have to be passed on to consumers."

DATING

Carl Waitz, a retail grocer from Mission, said merchants who sold food that was not fresh would soon go out of business.

"Psychologically, dating would reduce shelf life and increase a product's cost because Mrs. Housewife would not want yesterday's milk or eggs but today's," Waitz said.

Bill Powers, executive vice president of the Texas Poultry Federation, said it's not the age but the temperature and handling of eggs that makes the difference.

"You can turn a Grade AA egg into a Grade B egg by leaving it in the back of a pickup truck," he said.

Allen said "Consumers want to know how fresh food is" and some stores in Houston are now telling them without increasing costs.

Knott Saddle Club Elects Officers

Jerry Hall was elected president of the Knott Saddle Club Tuesday night, taking over the gavel from Cecil Allred. New officers also include Leona Roman, secretary-treasurer, and Joan Blagrove, reporter.

The group discussed parade invitations and made plans for trail rides. The group will ride Friday afternoons until May when school is out. At that time the riding schedule will be revised. Participation in the club is by family rather than by individual.

Will Call For Expulsion Of Gus, Shannon, Heatly

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Dick Reed of Dallas said Thursday he plans to introduce a resolution calling for the expulsion of Speaker Gus Mutscher, Rep. Tommy Shannon and Rep. W. S. Heatly from the legislature.

"I don't know when I will introduce it because the resolution is being drafted now. I am injecting into the resolution the specifics of this case. I judge it should be ready sometime next week," Reed said.

Mutscher, Heatly and Shannon all gave depositions last year to U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission investigators probing alleged stock manipulation. The SEC filed suit against numerous defendants—not including the three House leaders—in January.

Heatly, of Paducah, is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. Shannon, of Fort Worth, heads the House Administration Committee. Mutscher is from Brenham.

The SEC alleged that easy loans were arranged for several state leaders so they could make fast profits from speculation in stock of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. The suit claims the deals were arranged to induce passage of a bill that would have exempted some banks from examination by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock, but there was no connection between the stock dealings and the bill's passage.

Reed said the "normal procedure in any situation where you have a question of the conduct of a member is to investigate the matter and make a report to the House."

"However," he said, "the House leadership has thwarted every effort to create a committee to investigate."

He said he had considered introducing a less severe disciplinary resolution, "but because of the seriousness of the charges and the highly adverse effect this has had on the over-all image of the legislature, I think expulsion is a commensurate penalty."

ANTI-LOAFING LAW APPROVED

MIAMI (AP) — Cuba passed Wednesday a new law imposing strict penalties on working-age people without jobs or chronically absent from work or school. Havana radio reported.

The "anti-loafing" law has been under discussion for six months and is believed aimed primarily at dissident youths who Prime Minister Fidel Castro says "have failed to find a place in our revolution."

It goes into effect April 1. The new law decrees that all males between the ages of 17 and 60 and all females between 17 and 55 have a "social duty" to work. It labels malingers and bums as "parasites" of the revolution and provides penalties ranging from six months to two years of forced labor in "rehabilitation centers."

Hemphill-Wells Plans Building

SAN ANGELO — Hemphill-Wells Co. is to replace its present location with an enlarged, modern plant for a downtown store.

Scottie R. Johnson, vice president, said that the store would be moved temporarily to the former Cox-Rushing-Greer location at 213 South Chad boume while the present building, and that of the building of Barnes & Co. is razed. Then a three-level store with 65,000 square feet will be erected on the spot with 125 feet front on Beauregard and 190 feet on Irving. Demolition will start about May 15.

Heatly, of Paducah, is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. Shannon, of Fort Worth, heads the House Administration Committee. Mutscher is from Brenham.

The SEC alleged that easy loans were arranged for several state leaders so they could make fast profits from speculation in stock of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. Flower Judge Gives Advice On Arranging

"Utilizing what you have available is the most important part of abstract flower arranging," said Mrs. Dale Smith in her program for the After Five Garden Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. E. C. Shive, 604 Bucknell.

Mrs. Smith showed nine arrangements of her own design which featured driftwood, bricks, and other items she has picked up "along the road." She said that in West Texas there are times when few flowers are available to use in arrangements, but that attractive designs can be made from many objects. She has even presented shows with all vegetable arrangements. "Abstract flower arranging takes a lot of work," Mrs. Smith said. "It takes a good knowledge of flowers and a lot of imagination."

Mrs. Smith is a master flower show judge and travels throughout Texas entering or judging shows and presenting programs. She enters about 10 shows a year, and has made as many as 40 arrangements in a two-hour period.

Mrs. H. B. Perry was cohostess for the meeting. The club will meet again at 7:30 p.m., April 20 at Inland Port

Difficult But Worthy Goal

In his address to the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association last week, Lloyd Bentsen, Texas' new junior senator, seems to have laid out a sort of chart for his career in the United States Senate.

While he had some things to say on the Southeast Asia war (he had just returned from a fortnight inspection as a member of the Armed Services committee and with a conviction that although the South Vietnamese are making substantial military progress, the time of their total independence and the time of collapse for North Vietnam are a long, long way off), Sen. Bentsen's general philosophy is of more than passing interest.

Perhaps some excerpts will best reflect his concerns:

"Washington is actually a city of shadow legislatures, each with its own powers and methods of operations. And these power groups and individuals outside the Congress have the increasing ability to make their own laws, set up their own rules, enforce their own decrees, and distort the will of Congress when the Congress doesn't agree with what they want to do. . . . The U. S. Government Organizational Manual lists 47 independent regulatory agencies. . . and they have control over virtually every aspect of American life.

"And the crucial fact, is that these agencies frequently make the rules, issue complaints, then act as prosecutor, judge and jury. The ordinary citizen has very little recourse from agency rulings. They (the agencies) are self-perpetuating — they never fade away.

"I believe Congress must be diligent to assure that any and all agencies of the executive branch have a true and effective check and balance. . . . Too often, the federal department charged with applying the law responds as if to say, 'You go ahead and pass your law and then we will interpret it the way we want to.'

"The blame must also fall on Congress for not riding herd as effectively as it should. Congress has oversight authority — and it needs to exercise it more strongly. . . . The whole business of government by guideline and regulation has got to be simplified and improved.

"I'm concerned about our national government becoming one of crisis management. We seem to respond more than we should and prepare. . . . I believe in the theory of a strong executive. But I also believe we should have a strong board of directors. . . . and in our case that means the Congress. . . . The only alternative to a strong Congress is a stronger executive which leads us further down the road to centralism and paternalism."

Sen. Bentsen pledged himself to seek to restore a balance of power between the branches of government. This is a noble and ambitious goal with frustrations and heartbreak ahead, but it is a goal entirely worthy of dedication.

Better Than It Was

Howard County has 12,256 voters, according to final figures announced by the tax collector's office which handles registration. During February, when the time for registering was extended, an additional 706 people applied for certificates. This is not as many as should, but it's better than it was. Take out those under 21 years of age, and this means that we have only about one in three adults equipped to speak on candidates and issues. We hope that most of those who are qualified to vote will use this cherished right everytime it is available.

Demo Strategy

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — Democrats in Congress believe they can beat Richard Nixon next year with any candidate but Attila the Hun — providing they make a record in the meantime. Thus, the glaring political significance of Rep. Wilbur Mills' role in the hassle over Japanese textile imports.

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, staged an end run around the President by privately getting Japanese textile manufacturers to agree to a non-governmental voluntary quota system. Nixon immediately rejected this maneuver and called for legislation to limit textile imports to the U.S.

BUT MILLS, the canny Arkansan, scored points in the Democratic campaign to pre-empt the pre-emptor, namely Richard Nixon. The President has sought with some success to take over the Democrats' pet projects with his family welfare plan, revenue sharing, pollution control and a proposal for universal health insurance. With House Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma, Mills composes the leadership of a Democratic shadow Cabinet determined to cut off Nixon at the pass.

WHAT IT ALL boils down to is that the Democrats want to make the big decisions this year and next — and get the political credit for making them.

Nixon's dilemma is plain. He cannot have his way with a Democratic Congress that is looking forward gleefully to next year's Presidential election. His textile quota proposal, for instance, probably doesn't have a chance because Mills opposes it, and what Mills opposes the House dutifully disposes.

FROM HERE IN, it would seem that Nixon's only hope is to take his programs to the people to try to arrange a compromise with Congress designed to salvage his political position. This may be impossible with the race for the Democratic nomination wide open.

George Gallup's latest poll confirms the closeness of the Democratic race. Among Democrats, Maine's Sen. Ed Muskie leads Sen. Ted Kennedy by only a single percentage point, 26 to 25, with Sen. Hubert Humphrey a close third at 21 per cent. Among independent voters, Muskie polls 31 per cent to 13 per cent for Kennedy and 11 per cent for third-place John Lindsay.

MORE IMPORTANT, according to Democratic professionals, is that any one of these men — with the possible exception of Nixon — would be acceptable to party regulars once he is nominated.

Whoever gets the nomination, Albert and Mills want to have a platform ready for him, based on Democratic legislation "to help the great American people." It all sounds very neat and togetherish and it might even work.

Expensive Meat

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The price of meat in Iraq is expected to rise by 15 per cent this year because of a dry winter. Barley is being imported to supplement grass for cattle.

Israeli Demands

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State William P. Rogers in his latest appearance before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had a rare experience. He found most of the members, both Republicans and Democrats, normally so captious with the embattled Secretary, giving him their approval.

Rogers was stressing his support for the prolonged effort of United Nations mediator Gunnar Jarring to resolve the Egyptian-Israeli dispute. Behind Rogers' carefully phrased analysis was evidence that patience is wearing thin with Israel's refusal to respond to repeated urging to define the boundaries that could be lived with in a peace settlement.

EGYPT'S PRESIDENT Anwar el-Sadat, as Rogers noted, has done what the late Gamal Abdel Nasser had been unable or unwilling to do. That was to agree to recognize Israel as an independent state with which peace could be made; to agree to rights of transit through the Suez Canal; in short, to put an end to the hostility that brought three wars and since 1967 a brutal attrition so costly to both sides.

Those wrestling with the problem that President Nixon in his State of the World report found the greatest peril point see a fundamental error in the Israeli position. That is to confuse geography with security. The focus of this confusion is Sharm el-Sheik, control point, as the Israelis see it, to the Gulf of Aqaba.

JARRING PROPOSED that Sharm el-Sheik be garrisoned by an international force that would insure the passage of all ships through the disputed waters. He argued that with either Israel or Egypt in possession of this strongpoint future conflict was almost guaranteed. A peace-keeping force, under terms carefully defined either by the two disputants or by the United Nations, would insure stability and orderly use of the greatest danger point.

THIS HAS been Israel's principal sticking point. Prime Minister Golda Meir has said repeatedly that Sharm el-Sheik must remain in Israeli hands and, furthermore, Israel must have a corridor through the adjoining Sinai insuring access to the guns guarding a vital bastion. And the entire Sinai Peninsula must be demilitarized, with the assurance of a garrison that might include Israeli troops to keep the peace.

The present de facto cease-fire likely will continue in the months ahead. The danger of an accident, a reckless incursion by Palestinian commandos anxious to prevent any peace, cannot be discounted. Rogers has several times warned of the grave dangers that will persist until the elements of a new explosion are resolved.

ISRAELI FOREIGN Minister Abba Eban is said to come with authority to discuss a pull-back of military forces from both sides of the canal, looking to the reopening of that waterway closed since the 1967 war. This would in itself be an important contribution to peace.

One of the most accomplished diplomats in the world, Eban has an even larger opportunity. He can demonstrate that, contrary to all reports out of Jerusalem, Mrs. Meir's government is not hopelessly divided on the positive steps his government can take to end the stalemate and move toward a settlement.

'COULD BE A PERMANENT HOLDING PATTERN'

Social Security Popular

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — If there is anything that can be foretold with as much certainty as death and higher taxes it is that there will be further increases in Social Security benefits in coming years.

Social Security has been on an almost inevitable growth course since its beginnings in 1936. Much of the growth was planned; some was necessitated by inflation; and some, it is said, resulted from political considerations.

Social Security is popular. Some 26 million or so persons receive benefits, but the effect is far more widespread. An increase might make dozens of children and grandchildren happy for the recipient.

In the practical world of politics, therefore, a benefits increase is seldom denounced, even when it tends to offend the deepest beliefs of the elected official. To oppose an increase is akin to rejecting motherhood.

If increases are almost automatic, therefore, why not put them on a scale that would in fact adjust benefits automatically to the cost of living and perhaps other factors as well?

The intriguing possibilities have been the subject of studies and legislative bills. Many countries already use wage or cost of living indexes, including Canada, Sweden and West Germany.

Advocates of an automatically adjusted benefit rate say it would solve in one stroke the inroads of inflation, which to some degree is with us forever, and also resolve some of the problems resulting from political interference.

Nobody can ignore that there is something to be said for such a move, because while benefits have been rising steadily they have in recent years been outpaced by the high rate of inflation.

As a result, the people least able to do something to raise their incomes are penalized the most. Retirees, perhaps more so than any other group in society, including the poor, are hurt by inflation.

But, say those who fear an automatic adjustment formula, might not this also promote a bias toward inflation by building in the expectation of bigger benefits, which then might be spent in advance?

Could be. Economists and psychologists have seen this phenomenon at work in recent inflationary periods. Feeling that their incomes will rise, some consumers tend to borrow more heavily on the future.

Double Talk Shockers

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — We haven't had a drill in double talk lately, have we?

Well, then, let's have one right now. Double talk, you should remember, is the art of saying one thing while thinking something else — usually the direct opposite.

That sounds a bit schizophrenic but really isn't. It enables you to keep mentally healthy in a world in which, if you always spoke the exact truth, everyone would shun you as being either barmy or too quaint to put up with.

To show you typical double talk in action, here are a few examples. What the person said is put in quotes, followed by what he actually was thinking.

"What a pleasant surprise! I didn't even think you'd remember it was my birthday." — And if that's all you could find to give me, I wish you had forgotten it.

"I guess you must have the flu—there's a lot of it going around." — There are a lot of hangovers going around, too, and it looks like you've got the granddaddy of them all.

"Everybody's got his troubles." — So don't try to lend me yours.

"Well, this one is strictly off the top of my head and I'm only throwing it in for openers, but why don't we?" — I wonder if anybody will notice this is the only idea I had at our last conference, too.

"I'll say one thing I admire about you, Jones, you're always on your toes." — And I'll say one thing I don't admire about you, Jones—your toes always seem to be trying to step on my toes.

"What a lovely refreshment. Mildred, honest-to-heaven real old-fashion fresh fruit punch!" — Why do they ever bother to throw a party if they're too cheap to buy the booze for it?

"Do you expect me to act like a perfect hypocrite?" — Well, nobody's really perfect.

"Tell me everything that happened—and be sure to start at the very beginning." — When wake me up just as you get to the ending.

"You mean your child can play the piano like that after taking lessons for only a year?" — I'll bet he only took a lesson once every six months.

"If the worst comes to the worst, senator, you can always stand on the record of your accomplishments." — And if anybody can find anything worse than that, I'd like to see it.

"I would like first of all, class, to get your attention." — With a baseball bat.

"Can you name anything in the world I wouldn't do for you if you really wanted me to?" — I can think of hundreds myself.

"Don't you think we'd better dance back to our table now?" — Or, just let me crawl back on my hands and knees.

"If I truly loved a man and he gave me an engagement ring with a 10-karat rhinestone in it, I wouldn't know the difference." — But the jeweler I took it to the very next day would.

"The way you look nobody could ever guess your real age." — They'd overestimate it by at least 15 years.

"I sure got a bargain when I got you, Rosalie." — But bargains can be good or bad.

"I think the baby looks like a number of people in your family tree, Marybelle." — He should be able to swing from any limb and feel at home.

Forked Stickers?

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

After a long, windy, dusty, dry, (dare I say it?) miserable winter, there's nothing like getting ready for spring.

Of course, in a month or two we'll be griping about that.

WORD THAT in case of war, or police action or whatever our next involvement may be called, reserves will be sent in has upset some of my friends who are reservists. "Good golly!" one said. "I didn't join the reserves to go to war!"

As a connoisseur of bumper stickers, I wonder what the first one was. The first one I remember, after an automobile assembly plant was moved to Dallas, was:

Made in Texas
By Texans
Soon thereafter one showed up in answer to that one:
Made in Oklahoma
By Indians

I WONDER if either the paleface or the Indian knew what they had wrought.

So far no Indian has claimed "Paleface speak" with forked bumper sticker.

Your Paste-Pot-Man and my banking aunt, Leona Factor, have had a weight-losing contest going for eight months.

Recently we realized we've both gone up 10 pounds, so we are adjusting our calorie counting upward.

MAYBE I'D better leave the man's name out of it, but he's a conscientious father as well as a prominent Big Spring businessman. And the other day he got off in a corner with his just-emerging-into-adolescence son for a heart-to-heart talk.

The dad dwelt at some length on the relationship of the sexes and on the dangers of petting and necking — how it often can lead to trouble; why it should be avoided or at least be restrained for the boy's own good. The son listened respectfully. Then, when the talk was over, he said:

"Dad, that was a fine lecture and I appreciate it. As for necking and petting, I've already tried it, and I've decided I like it."

MY ICE-EATING aunt, Fannie Everett, says:

"Most women know you can't buy happiness, but they keep trying to put it on their charge accounts."

I was checking a list in the Post Office Department's official National Zip Code Directory the other day when my eye fell on an entry under "Washington, D.C., Government Offices."

It was this:

"Agriculture, Department of Smokey the Bear, 20252."

Don't forget to use that zip number if you're sending Smokey a fire extinguisher for Christmas. Or a Molotov cocktail.

REMEMBER HOW girls used to close the car windows so their hair wouldn't blow?

Now it's the boys who close the windows — and with hair spray yet.

NEW YORK (AP) — A 40-pound Pacific octopus has become the mother of hundreds of baby octopuses at the New York aquarium. Mother and babies are doing fine — but no one knows who the father is.—News item.

There's a lot of that going around.

Jap Imports

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The United States and the Japanese governments have in the last two and one-half years engaged in what up to now has proved a futile effort to obtain a "voluntary" restriction on exports of textiles and certain other products to this country.

American producers cannot compete with the low-priced goods brought in from Japan. Naturally, the administration and Congress have been urged to apply some form of protectionism so as to preserve certain businesses and jobs in the United States. The attitude of the Department of State has been one of caution, based upon a belief that somehow the controversy could be settled amicably, perhaps by "voluntary" restrictions imposed by the Japanese themselves.

THE PRINCIPLE of limiting exports was accepted by Japan. It agreed that a level would be established for exports to this country, and the United States negotiators declared that if this were done, no mandatory action would be taken. But, for months, the question debated has been how the level should be set and when it should be applied. The decision was delayed. Meanwhile, exports have increased. If Japan had been willing to agree on its 1969 level of exports, there would have been no trouble. But the problem was left unsettled, and while the months passed, the level of exports was rising. It was evident the Japanese were aiming at a higher and higher figure for their "voluntary" restriction.

TO COMPLICATE matters further, the Japan Textile Federation recently entered into a kind of agreement with the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee concerning the quotas. It was endorsed by the Japanese government. President Nixon was displeased with this approach through Congress instead of the State Department. He declared that the American government must provide relief for the textile workers and businesses of the United States, and he rejected the proposal made by the Japanese. He is willing, however, to carry on further negotiations to solve the problem.

THE JAPANESE have evidently misjudged the firmness of the Department of State on the issue and didn't believe that the "voluntary" quotas insisted upon would be based on the levels of export which were attained in 1969, with a reasonable provision for growth.

President Nixon is determined that American industry shall be protected, though the Japanese will still be able to export to the United States a substantial quota of textiles under a formula that would provide for gradual increases. But this would have to be based upon restrictions that would take care of some possible negative effects on American industry from year to year.

WHAT IS PUZZLING about the whole matter is the reluctance of the Japanese to deal directly at all times with the State Department and set up voluntary quotas that would give the American textile industry a chance to survive.

Many members of Congress do not have textile plants in their home states, but the principle of protectionism applies to other products as well. For there are a number of countries which export goods to the United States that are in competition with American businesses and workers. Once a quota system is established, it will be a useful formula to extend to other industries and will help several industries which are worried today about low-priced foreign imports.

My Answer

Billy Graham

In my class at college is a boy who lives on the other side of the tracks. The odd thing is that he has no background and I have everything, but he seems to be more certain of the future and happier than I am. Why? F.D. Not knowing the details of your lives, I can only hazard a guess. Already you are beginning to realize that a fortunate background or circumstances does not make life. Life goes much deeper — to the things which last. The Bible tells us in the Book of Jeremiah: "Thus saith the Lord, let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, let not the rich man glory in his riches: But let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the Lord which exercise loving kindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the Lord." Before God, all men are equally in need and in the Cross of Jesus Christ, all men find the answer to their problems, not only for this life but for the next one. While you may have everything this world has to offer, it counts as nothing unless you have Christ in your heart. If you will accept Him, then you will find out what real happiness is.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Whoever will save his life shall lose it; but whoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it. (Mark 8:35)

PRAYER: Our Father, help us to follow Thee by dedicating our lives in Thy service. Teach us and help us to lose ourselves for the sake of others. In Jesus' name. Amen.

McGuire Gains Nod As Cage Coach Of '71

NEW YORK (AP) — At McGuire, whose Marquette Warriors won 39 straight games before losing to Ohio State, was named today as College Basketball Coach of The Year for 1971 by The Associated Press.

The native of New York City was an easy winner in the voting by 474 sports writers and sportscasters. McGuire was far in front with 227 votes to 76 for runner-up Bob Boyd of Southern California.

Johnny Wooden of UCLA, coach of the year for 1970 and 1969, finished third with 57 followed by Dick Phelps of Fordham with 16.

Johnny Dee of Notre Dame and the veteran Adolph Rupp of Kentucky tied for fifth at 13. Dean Smith of North Carolina and Ted Owens of Kansas tied for seventh at 12. Rounding out the Top Ten were Johnny Oldham of Western Kentucky with six and Ray Mears of Tennessee with four.

The rest of the balloting was widely scattered.

Dick Harter of Pennsylvania, John Orr of Michigan, Paul Westhead of LaSalle and Gene Bartow of Memphis State were bracketed at three each.

Tied at two were Norm Stewart of Missouri, Whack Hyder of Georgia Tech, Lou Henson of New Mexico State, Darrell Hedrick of Miami, Ohio, and Frank McGuire of South Carolina, no relation to Al. Fifteen others received one vote each.

Youth Baseball Meeting Is Set

The first robin may be one harbingers of spring but a surer sign comes when youths start throwing a baseball around.

The Teen-Age Baseball Association is planning another busy spring and summer.

First things come first, however, like organization—of various functions associated with the sport.

Prospective managers in the association—two circuits and parents of players—are being asked to attend a business session of the association, scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Reddy Room of the Texas Electric Service company building.

Election of officers for the new season will be one of the orders of business tackled. Another will be the discussion of new rules concerning the operation of the association within the charter.

UP TO 550 BOYS EXPECTED Junior Meet Slated

TOM ADAMS

The first of two big track and field meets here will be staged in Memorial Stadium Saturday.

This one will be the annual Optimist Relays, an event for junior high boys due to attract about 550 boys on two different grade levels.

The second big cinder show will be unreeled next month, when the District 5-AAAA meet is scheduled.

Eight grade teams entered here, in addition to the two local junior high schools, include Midland Goddard, Midland Alamo, Midland San Jacinto, Monahans, Abilene Lincoln, Abilene Jefferson, Abilene Mann, Forsan and San Angelo Edison.

The three Abilene schools will also be represented in the ninth grade divisions, along with Snyder Travis, Snyder Lamar, Sweetwater, the Big Spring Toros, the Big Spring Brahmas, San Angelo Edison and two Midland schools, Austin and Edison.

Tom Adams, the ninth grade coach here, will double as meet director. The Optimist club will provide the personnel for staging the meet.

Medals will be awarded to the first three finishers in each event. In addition, trophies go to relay winners and to first and second place teams in each division.

The boys will be fed on the grounds by the Optimist club, at a cost of $1.25 each.

Among Toros who will be competing are:

Doug Smith, Troy Hogue, Evaristo Pineda, Lonnie

Gillilan and Brown, sprinters; James Lacy and Dennis Churchwell, 330 run; Clifford Crow, Richard Ellis and Wes Seay, 600; Jerry Jones, Tommy Miller and Don Beene, 1,320-yard run; Bobby Mayo and Rodney Hudson, hurdles; Nathan Baker, relays, broad jump, high jump and pole vault; Steve Brackett, David Woods and John Rodriguez, shot put; Doug Smith, Churchwell and Rodriguez, discus; David Woods and Mayo, high jump; and Orville Rau and Pineda, broad jump.

Preliminaries in running events and finals in field events get under way at 9 a.m. Finals in running events start at 1 p.m., with the last race down for 4:45 p.m.

Bench To Be Available For Opener

By The Associated Press
Sparky Anderson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, heaved a sigh of relief today.

Johnny Bench, his star catcher and the Most Valuable Player in the National League last season, won't miss the opening game of the 1971 major league baseball season after all.

Bench, who walloped 45 homers and drove in 148 runs in leading the Reds to the 1970 NL pennant, suffered a three-inch gash in his right shin in an exhibition game against Boston Thursday.

Ten stitches were needed to close the gash and it was feared the husk MVP would miss Cincinnati's opening game against Atlanta on April 5.

"It's not cut in a spot that would hinder his movement," Anderson said. "I guess it will take about three days to get the soreness out and then he'll be all right."

The accident happened at Winter Haven, Fla., after Bench had doubled in the seventh inning of the game in which the Reds beat the Red Sox 7-5.

He stole third, but while sliding into it his leg went under the bag and he was cut by the spike that, normally holds the bag on the foul line. The Red Sox catcher threw wild on the play. Bench got up and scored.

The gash was discovered when he reached the Reds' dugout.

Veteran Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs was injured in another accident at Scottsdale, Ariz. He was struck over the left eye by a bad-hop grounder during infield practice prior to the Cubs-Oakland game won by the Cubs 9-8 in 10 innings.

Twelve stitches were needed to close a cut under Banks' eye and seven for one over the eye. Pending another examination, there was no indication how long Banks would be out.

Juan Marichal, veteran right-hander for San Francisco, indicated his 1971 season will be better than last. He pitched six strong innings, yielding only four hits and fanning seven, as the Giants beat San Diego 5-1.

Elsewhere Minnesota handed the New York Yankees their 10th straight defeat, 9-2, and Pat Jarvis and Cecil Upshaw of Atlanta combined for a three-hit shut out as the Braves blanked Washington 3-0. The Braves scored all their runs in the first inning off Denny McLain.

"They just beat us," commented Al McGuire, Marquette coach, after the game in the Midwest Regional at Athens, Ga. "They tightened up underneath and locked us out so we couldn't get lay-ups."

"Clemmons did a good job on Meminger who didn't play his normal game," McGuire said. He referred to Jim Clemmons, who led the Buckeyes with 21 points. Meminger scored only 11.

"Our kids were scared to death when the game started," said Ohio State Coach Fred Taylor. "They really hung in there when it seemed impossible."

Big Mac, the 7-foot Jim McDaniels, threw in 35 points to lead Western Kentucky in its rout of Kentucky at Athens in the first game ever played between the two schools.

The Pizza Hut will award a large pizza to the winner in each division. Hemphill-Wells has volunteered to present a trophy to the winner in one division.

The Goliad Junior High girls won their fifth decision in 12 volleyball starts by defeating Lamesa here Thursday evening, 10-15-10, 15-13.

Karen Jenkins had 20 points and Robbie Murdoch 10 for the Mavericks. At the net, Melanie Hayworth was impressive for Goliad.

Goliad's B team also won, 13-15, 15-11. Debbie Nikolai tallied 16 points and Debbie Coryell and Diana Shanks nine each for the Mavs in that match.

The victory left the Goliad B squad with a 6-3 overall mark.

DEFEAT'S BITTER TASTE — An unidentified Marquette cheerleader wipes tears from her face as she realizes her team had lost in the NCAA Midwest basketball tournament at Athens, Ga., Thursday night. Ohio State beat Marquette 60-59. Marquette had won 39 straight games over two seasons before the loss.

UCLA wins again. The top-ranked Bruins, seeking their fifth straight national title, whacked Brigham Young 91-73.

That was the only normal happening in the NCAA college basketball championship tournament Thursday night.

Elsewhere the carnage was terrific as Marquette, Kentucky, Notre Dame, South Carolina and Fordham went down in defeat and Kansas and Long Beach State barely averted disaster.

Coming to the fore were Ohio State, which snapped Marquette's 39-game winning streak 60-59; Western Kentucky, which routed Kentucky 107-83; Drake, which tripped Notre Dame 79-72 in overtime; Pennsylvania, which drubbed South Carolina 79-64, and Villanova which toppled Fordham 85-75.

HOUSTON OUSTED
Kansas just shaded Houston 78-77 and Long Beach State had to wipe out a 15-point deficit to beat U. of Pacific 78-65.

The results set up these quarter final pairings Saturday:
At Raleigh, N.C.—Penn., 28-0, vs. Villanova, 25-6.
At Athens, Ga.—Western Kentucky, 22-5, vs. Ohio State, 20-5.
At Wichita, Kan.—Drake, 21-7, vs. Kansas, 26-1.
At Salt Lake City, Utah—

UCLA, 26-1, vs. Long Beach State, 24-4.

Marquette seemed on the way to its 40th straight victory by taking a 13-point lead over Ohio State, but the Buckeyes kept battling back and came out to win after Dean Meminger, Marquette's star, fouled out with five minutes left.

A lay-up by sophomore Luther Witt put Ohio State ahead at 58-57 with about one minute left and two free throws by Alan Hornyak, another sophomore with six seconds left sewed it up for the Buckeyes.

James Brannon, the 6-4 senior center for Kountze High School, offered good credentials in his bid for Class AA all-state basketball honors.

He scored 1,008 points over the year for a team that didn't make it out of Regional play.

Against Class AAAA Houston Wheatley, a state powerhouse every year, Brannon blistered the backboards for 38 points and pulled down 25 rebounds in a game Wheatley won, 118-109.

Lynn Royal, the 6-5 junior who led Hughes Springs to the AA State title, scored over 40 points in five different games. Basketball in Texas high school seems to get better and better.

Jackie Dean Wolf of Coahoma was nominated for the AA All-State team. Wolf wound up with 540 points in 28 games. That averages out to 19.3 a game.

Coach Jerry Ray of Coahoma said, of Jackie, "he's one of the most coachable players I have ever had." Nothing more complimentary was ever said about any athlete.

The jump from high school to college circles, sad to relate, is too much for many players. One high-scoring ace from a Class B school tried out with HCJC shortly after Harold Wilder moved in as coach.

He took more than 40 shots at the basket in a scrimmage against HC's other personnel and never scored a point. The fellows assigned to guard the basket were too tall, too quick and too talented for him.

Southwest Conference schools are going after junior college talent as never before, a refreshing change from their old attitude.

Time was when a Negro player, no matter how good, had to be a model citizen, a credit to his race and an honor-roll student in order to be considered.

One of the teams which competed in the Region V tournament here recently had a player who occasionally sulks and has been known to be confined to the bench until he could work out his problems.

A SWC scout who watched him perform was told about his shortcomings, then said, in substance: "We'll take him, no questions asked."

Steve Stallings, the stellar miler from Stanton, has transferred from Baylor to Texas Tech where he hopes to help the Red Raiders in track.

The Philadelphia Phillies, who open in a new stadium this season, have already sold more than twice as many season tickets than any time in history and the total is still climbing.

The Phils have already announced their opening game is a sellout.

Lynn Dickey, who'll try to win a spot on the roster of the Houston Oilers, has had the stadium in his home town, Osawatomie, Kan., named for him.

If Larry Dierker and Don Wilson can escape arm miseries, the Houston Astros should make a run at the Western division crown in the National League.

The Astros set club records in most offensive departments last year and have all their troops back. Little wonder manager Harry Walker didn't want to part with people like Jimmy Wynn and Denis Menke.

A Used Watch

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last year guys, Alice always sits in the while my husband was going back seat between two guys. with another woman he gave it's a small car and quite her a Swiss watch for Christ-crowded. Alice says she doesn't mas. They had a fight in wear a bra and this one guy February and he broke up with (I'll call him Rick) keeps her and asked her for the putting his hands underneath watch. She gave it to him. Now her sweater and jacket and my husband says I can have anyone else knowing it. Alice good as new. Should I wear it? NOT PROUD but she can't push very far.

DEAR NOT: Why not — if Alice says she doesn't want to it keeps time. (Look inside. Maybe he gave the other woman the "works.")

DEAR ABBY: A high school girl (I'll call Alice) told me that she and another girl ride to school every morning with three

This counselor also told Alice to try dressing "defensively," like a one-piece jumpsuit so Rick can't get to her.

What do you think of such advice? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: No girl should have to dress "defensively" to keep a guy from "feeling her up." I would have advised that girl to knock the octopus on the noggin with her algebra book the moment she felt him getting fresh. And at the same time to yell in a very loud voice that he should keep his creepy paws to himself!

DEAR ABBY: I just read that letter from the GI who is overseas. He said, "After living a normal married life for three years, what is a young, healthy man supposed to do for his physical needs? After all, I'm only human."

You turned it around and told him to do exactly what you would tell his wife to do since she had the same problem. "Keep busy, stay sober, avoid temptation, write every day and pray a lot."

That was good advice, Abby. It also applies to me because I am a wife who is without her man now. My husband isn't overseas. He's in prison. And he has another three years to go. I'm also only human but I will remain faithful because I love him with all my heart. I pray a lot, and I know that God hears my prayers and will keep me strong and help me fight this loneliness. HIS WIFE

DEAR ABBY: The secretary who signed herself "No Guts," should have signed herself NO BRAINS. She befooted to you about having to write her boss's thank-you notes and send out his Christmas cards. A really good secretary does all of this, and is in effect a social secretary to her boss.

"No Guts" should resign and move into the steno pool. That's her speed. NO BEEFS

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Tongue Trouble

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

I suspect that you misinterpreted the doctor's tone of voice; a black, furry tongue may contribute to unpleasant mouth odor, but other than that it isn't a serious matter.

If you have had recent treatment with antibiotics, the condition will correct itself in time. For the time being, scraping the tongue with a spoon or a toothbrush will help get rid of the "hairiness."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you explain what a "black hairy tongue" means? A doctor noticed this recently while examining my throat.

He acted as if it was something terrible but offered no explanation. I have been worried about it. What causes it and is there any way to get rid of it? Mrs. G.

Various molds and fungi also can be involved, producing a furred, black tongue. That, incidentally, is not unusual after one has been taking antibiotics. The antibiotics suppress bacteria (good or bad) and microorganisms of other types tend to flourish as the bacteria are suppressed.

Anyway, any one of quite a lot of situations can cause a darkish coating, and that is what is meant by "black hairy tongue."

Excessive smoking can bring about a brownish-blackish color, another version of the same thing.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you tell me a cure for diarrhea? I also have colitis.—Mrs. A.J.B.

Can't without knowing what is causing the diarrhea, and there are multiple causes of it. Various kinds of diarrhea are discussed in my booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints." For a copy, send 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a dark-skin colored lady. I have been having small white spots appearing on my foot, hand and genital area. I am 44. Can you tell me what the trouble is and what I can do for it?—Mrs. N.H.

Probably, from the description, a form of vitiligo — a disorder in which the skin loses its pigment, or coloring matter. This can attack anyone regardless of age or race, but in black people it is much more noticeable because the spots are dead white, and the contrast makes them stand out.

Dermatologists have tried to treat the condition but with indifferent results, so I would have to say no, there's nothing to do except in areas that show, to use cosmetics to cover the light spots.

Headaches! You can bet them. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cent in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Accuses Trio In Stock Suit Of Scheming To Fleece Him

DALLAS (AP) — A former president of RIC International Industries, Inc., alleged in court Thursday that he fell victim to a "fraudulent scheme to manipulate the market price" of stock. This claim was made by Audy M. Byram of Dallas, the former RIC executive, in a lawsuit asserting Frank W. Sharp, John Osorio and Joseph Novotny conspired to juggle the price of shares in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. The three men are co-defendants with Byram in an injunction suit brought earlier by the Securities and Exchange Commission against a total of 28 men and corporations, also alleging fraud and stock manipulation.

CANCELS NOTE

Byram, head of RIC until last June, states in his petition that he was left owing a $99,750 note at the Sharpstown State Bank in Houston and 7,000 shares of depressed NBL stock. He asked U.S. Dist. Judge William M. Taylor Jr. to cancel the note on surrender of the 7,000 shares by Byram and for $100,000 exemplary damages.

Sharp owns the Dallas insurance company and Houston bank, now under state and federal receiverships, respectively. At the time of Byram's alleged loss in stock dealings, Osorio was president of the insurance company and Novotny was president of the bank.

Byram contends that Osorio, an Austin lawyer, induced him to buy the 7,000 shares of NBL stock with $99,750 loaned by the Sharpstown Bank on Aug. 4, 1969.

The suit states Osorio promised Byram he "would profit by such a transaction because such stock would go from the price of approximately $13.75 per share to not less than $20 per share and probably $35 per share."

Gov. Preston Smith and Dr. Elmer C. Baum, state Democratic chairman, made a $125,000 profit from the sale of NBL stock after buying it shortly before Byram did and selling it three months later. The SEC said Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher Jr. made a quick profit of $52,500 in NBL stock sales at about the same time, State Rep. W. S. Heatly of Paducah made $42,971 and State Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth, $31,125.

CATHOLIC BROTHERHOOD Osorio told Byram that by August, 1969, NBL stock had gone from $5.75 to $13.75 per share, the suit states.

Osorio quoted Sharp as telling him that a "Catholic brotherhood," the Jesuit Fathers of Houston, would "make an investment of $20 million" in NBL which would cause the stock price to go up, Byram states in the suit.

When Byram said he didn't have enough money to buy 7,000 shares of NBL stock, the suit states, Osorio said he would arrange for a loan from Sharpstown State Bank. Byram said the proceeds of the $99,750 loan were pledged as collateral for repayment of the loan. The loan matured last Aug. 4 and Byram has refused to pay it.

On several occasions Byram said he told Osorio he thought he might sell the stock, but Osorio told him not to sell. Osorio said a merger of another company would result in a stock dividend of an NBL subsidiary's stock to shareholders of NBL, the suit states.

Brownwood Adds Swift Meat Plant

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — Company officials said Thursday that the Swift & Co. fresh meats division will open a new plant here May 3 and transfer part of its Fort Worth operation to this Central Texas site.

The announcement was made before the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce.

The new sheep and lamb processing plant will hire about 80 workers and is designed to dress 320 lambs an hour.

An old plant, formerly belonging to Samuels Meat Co., is being remodeled and extended.

"Swift will completely remodel the plant which is to serve as a replacement for our Fort Worth lamb operations to be closed May 1," Noel L. Dike said.

Neither the purchase price nor the cost of remodeling was revealed.

"Texas continues to have nearly 20 per cent of the nation's sheep and lambs," the Swift executive said. "We have long been a leading lamb processor in Texas and have a deep interest in remaining here."

The original Samuels buildings were constructed in 1946, with new facilities and equipment added over the next 20 years.

Damage Suit Asks $100,000

A $100,000 damage suit has been filed in 118th District Court against the Signal Oil and Gas Co.

Timoteo Abrego is asking the damages in behalf of his son, Alonzo, who was injured by company-owned equipment June 6, 1969. Allegedly, a pump jack owned by the company and located on the Abrego property, went into operation without any warning and severed young Abrego's left foot.

Choir Boosters Discuss Plans

The Big Spring Choir Boosters Monday made plans for a garage sale April 29-May 1. A bake sale also will be held.

Mrs. Ben Johnson was appointed chairman of the nominating committee. Mrs. A. A. Graumann and Mrs. Henry Dirks were named to her committee. The scholarships committee includes Mrs. Yvon Miller, Mrs. Richard Showers and Mrs. Richard Mitchell.

The group discussed the Meistersinger choir tour April 13-18 to McAllen, Fort Worth, and Abilene.

NASA Employee To Speak Here

Dr. W. D. Downes, assigned to advanced systems at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Houston, will be the speaker for the American Legion's annual banquet honoring Gold Star Mothers.

Dr. Halvard T. Hansen, chairman of the event, said that NASA had confirmed Dr. Downes' appearance here. He holds the Ph. D. from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The banquet will be held the evening of March 26 at Legion Hall.

Swim Postponed

The Y Indian Guide swimming meet has been postponed from March 22 to a new time of March 29. The meet will be held in the YMCA pool starting at 7:30 p.m. and is open to all members of the various tribes.

SENATE PASSES AND SENDS TO HOUSE $5,000 FEE BILL

Liquor By Drink If Local Voters Approve

AUSTIN (AP) — For the first time since prohibition days a House of the Texas legislature approved a bill for legalized public sale of liquor by the drink.

The Senate passed 22-7 Thursday and sent to the House a measure that would let mixed drinks be sold anywhere in Texas, as if, and only if, local voters approved in special community elections.

The history-making Senate vote followed the direction given legislators when voters last November voted 979,868 to 914,481 to repeal the 1935 constitutional ban against open saloons.

"We are just now having the opportunity to get away from prohibition," said Sen. Joe Christie, El Paso, Senator sponsor.

Private clubs, which operate under their own special rules, would not be affected in any way, before or after the special election.

$5,000 FEE
 If the sale of mixed drinks is authorized by voters, Christie's bill would allow taverns and bars to buy a mixed beverage permit for an initial fee of $5,000 plus an annual renewal charge of $500.

"This makes it a rich man's bill," protested Sen. Don Kennard, Fort Worth. "That cuts out the people in the low income neighborhoods."

Sen. Jim Bates, Edinburg, was successful in adding an amendment that would allow the $5,000 to be paid over a two-year period—$2,500 each year.

let's give it all to the big liquor stores in Dallas."

Another major change revised Christie's bill to allow drinks to be served in sealed bottles as small as one ounce or mini-bottles, if a bar operator wished.

"That means you can hire fancy bartenders or you can buy it in small bottles and let a waitress sit it on the table," Bates said.

Restaurants and hotel dining rooms have sought a mini-bottle law for a number of years.

Another amendment tightened local option provisions. It would require that an incorporated area must have been in existence at least three years and have at least 100 registered voters before a mixed drink election could be held.

Senators rejected an effort by

Sen. Jack Hightower, Vernon, to require that bars also must have "adequate food service."

"Restaurants have been arguing they need this mixed drink bill," Hightower said. "Let's just be sure these places serve some food; otherwise we're just going to have a lot of taverns selling nothing but mixed drinks."

LATE HOUR PERMIT
 Senators defeated an amendment 16-13 similar to the old "dram shop" provision used by prohibitions during the long wet-dry battles of the past. The "dram shop" provision, presented Thursday by Sen. Oscar Maury, Dallas, would make anyone who sold liquor responsible financially for any damage or injury caused by anyone who consumed the liquor.

Hours of service under Christie's bill would be the same as those presently for beer taverns and private clubs—12:15 a.m. weekdays and 1:15 a.m. Saturdays, except until 2:15 a.m. with a special late hour permit.

Li. Gov. Ben Barnes estimated the fees in Christie's bills would bring the state about $4 million the next two years.

A bill pending in the House would raise another $22.9 million with a 10 cents a drink state tax, an increase of five cents over the current drink tax for private clubs.

In other action Thursday, the Senate passed 24-6 and sent back to the House a bill raising tuition for out-of-state students from $200 to $500 a semester. Resident students, international students, non-resident students currently enrolled and teaching assistants would be exempt from the raise.

Barnes announced that Senate public hearings on the House-passed $492.5 million general tax bill would begin March 25 and likely continue for a week or 10 days.

PUBLIC SALE
 Numerous attempts were made, some successful, to amend Christie's bill but not one senator arose to oppose passage of the bill as a whole.

Chances of House passage are considered good.

Basically, Christie's bill would authorize local political subdivisions, from the precinct upward, to hold a special election on public sale of mixed drinks.

Even if a community already has legalized sale of beer and sale of liquor by the bottle now, mixed drinks could not be sold

One minor change in Christie's bill was the source of supply for the new bars and taverns. Christie proposed that only wholesale distributors be allowed to furnish liquor. An amendment by Sen. Mike McKool, Dallas, allows retail package stores to provide the materials for mixed drinks provided they obtain a special $50 a year permit.

RETAIL MONOPOLY
 Christie protested unsuccessfully that the change would result in a "retail monopoly."

Insurance Topic Of Lunch Meeting

John S. Keyes, vice president and trust officer for Commercial Bank and Trust of Midland, talked to the Big Spring Life Underwriters Thursday about trusts. The association met at the Downtown Tea Room.

"Insurance is the only thing I know of working man can use to create an estate," he said. "I don't know of any other investment which generates this type of return."

Insurance, he said, is a handy instrument in unfunded personal trusts in which the insured may retain certain controls although ownership of the policy passes to the trust. It also has a place in funded trusts in which ownership and control of the policy pass to the trustee. In the latter instance the trustee can increase production.

Keyes also reminded that the insurance trust is a ready course of ready cash, and that most estates do not have enough of this to settle the estate.

Bank trust departments offer three basic services, he said: Settlement or administration of estates; guardianships and custodian of funds; and agent for funds. Various types of trusts include personal, corporate, employe benefit, and community-institutional types, he said. Insurance, used in connection with trusts, often can offer substantial tax advantages.
