Agnew Pastes CBS For Yarn About Hunger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Saturday the Columbia Broadcasting System in a film about the Pentagon has seen fit to "cut and paste the widely separated statements of military spokesmen to create a false impression."

He said also CBS obtained interviews with leading public figures under false pretenses and accused the network's president, Dr. Frank Stanton, of making a "non-response" to Agnew's previous criticism.

CBS spokesmen in New York said Saturday Stanton could not be reached for comment.

In a speech in Boston Thursday night, Agnew criticized three CBS documentaries, "Hunger in America," "Project Nassau" and "The Selling of the Pentagon."

In a statement Saturday, Agnew said Stanton, "in a typical non-rejoinder to my criticism, has stated that my indictment is mistaken." He cleverly avoids an encounter with the direct evidence of CBS error and propagandistic manipulation.

The vice president said that in the documentary on hunger, CBS said that a baby in the film was dying of starvation when actually it was premature and died of injuries sustained when his mother fell prior to birth.

"Intentional or not, that was an untruth," Agnew said.

"Why won't CBS admit its error? Mr. Stanton's avoidance by citing that the documentary was generally lauded is no answer."

"Project Nassau" dealt with an abortive attempt to invade Haiti, and Agnew in his speech quoted a House Commerce subcommittee as saying that some of the events "were set up and staged solely for the purpose of being filmed by the CBS camera."

HOLD TIGHT FOR SEX INFO

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A Vanderbilt University psychiatrist says "Women have a wish, or a need, to be held."

Dr. Marc Hollender told the Dallas Southern Clinical Society, "Some women will barter sex interest for the purpose of being held."

Men, he said, don't feel the cuddling urge quite as strongly and usually interpret such advances as a desire for sex.

Misinterpreting a woman's desire to be held — and held only — often creates friction in a relationship, he said, which can cause serious marital discord.

RESIGNATION

Political Crisis In Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark resigned Saturday night and asked Britain for "some further initiative" to crush terrorist gunmen of the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

The prime minister's resignation was prompted by right-wing Protestant demands for harsher action against IRA militants who seek forcible union between British-ruled Northern Ireland and the Roman Catholic dominated Irish Republic.

British Prime Minister Edward Heath called off a visit to West Germany scheduled to begin Sunday and conferred with his top advisers about the Ulster crisis.

The British government made it clear Chichester-Clark's successor must follow his moderate policies or risk direct rule of the strife-torn province from London.

Chichester-Clark's resignation statement said public and parliamentary opinion in the predominantly Protestant province demands "measures which can bring the current IRA campaign swiftly to an end."

Twenty persons have been killed this year in gun battles and riots. Right-wing pressure on Chichester-Clark became intense after three young British soldiers were ambushed and murdered 10 days ago.

The Howard County 4-H and FFA livestock show, which has been going on for three and a half decades, had another parade of quality animals here last week. Not only has there been a tremendous upgrading in quality over the years, but there may be some new trends developing. For instance, both the grand champion steer shown by Maxwell Barr, and the reserve champion by Terry Davis, were Charolais crossbreeds. Maxwell, showing his fourth county champion (a remarkable record), received $900 over the market floor, and Terry $775. Tony Gillespie's champ fine wool lamb brought $130 over the market; Cindy McDonald's crossbred champ and Jim Bob Phillips' top medium wool lamb each brought $125 over the market, in the traditional sale of 18 steers and 70 lambs.

Last week was one of our better ones for oil completions. Martin County's Spraberry Trend had nine wells for an aggregate potential of 1,675 barrels. Northwest Howard County was brought into the Spraberry play with completion of the discovery Gallagher No. 1 Free for 150 barrels.

Our Jaycees got off to a good start for their rattlesnake round-up Friday with a ton of these varmints brought in. Contrary to the pattern of recent years, good weather blessed the hunt. Under (See THE WEEK, Page 3-A, Col. 1)

ATTEMPT TO 'PURGE' DEMO PARTY?

Reveal Loans To Candidates

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Post said Saturday that Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. has prepared for Gov. Preston Smith a long list of more than 170 state and national bank and federal credit union loans to Texas political candidates since 1965.

The Post said Smith is showing the list to friends to make a point that he has been unfairly signaled out for embarrassment by the Republican federal administration because of a national bank loan at San Antonio to a political campaign fund for his 1970 election campaign.

COMMONPLACE
The Forst National Bank of San Antonio recently was indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of violation of a 1925 federal law prohibiting national banks from making loans or gifts to political campaigns because of a $7,500 loan to the local Smith campaign.

The story from the Post's Austin Bureau quoted Dies, a Smith appointee, as saying he made up the list from candidates' official campaign and contribution reports to the secretary of state's office. He said he made up the list to show that "bank loans to candidates have been commonplace."

Dies said if the federal government is going to be consistent about indicting banks for making loans to political candidates it "will have to have wholesale indictments all over the state." Dies said he borrowed $10,000 from the Lufkin National Bank in 1966 for his unsuccessful race for Congress and has since repaid the loan.

RIDICULOUS
"I never realized there was any violation in the bank's lending me the money," he said.

Bob Bullock, Smith's legal aide, called the indictment against the Forst Bank "absolutely ridiculous." He said he interpreted the 1925 federal law as applying only to loan-for-campaigns for federal offices—not state offices.

Bullock has charged the indictment was an attempt by Will Wilson, who he called a "disgruntled ex-Democrat," to "purge" the Democratic party. Wilson now heads the U.S.

Justice Department's Criminal Division.

The Dies list includes loans totaling $140,000 made last year by the Texas Bank of Commerce, a national bank, at Houston, to Lloyd Bentsen, the successful candidate for senator, and a $50,000 League City State Bank loan to Ralph Yarborough, whom Bentsen defeated in the 1970 primary.

OTHER LOANS
Other loans on the list include $29,000 by the Texas State Bank at Austin to Eugene Locke, unsuccessful opponent of Smith's, in the 1968 governor's race; a $44,614 loan by the Main Bank of Houston to Don Yarborough, another Smith opponent in the 1968 governor's race; a $15,000 loan by the Austin National Bank to Smith in 1966, when he ran for lieutenant governor; and a $32,000 loan by the Continental Bank of Houston in 1970 when he ran for governor; a $10,000 loan by the Stonewall National Bank of Corpus Christi to Rep. John Young in 1968; a $15,000 loan from the Oak Cliff Bank of Dallas to the late Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas in 1966; a $5,000 loan by the Central National Bank of McKinney and a $10,000 loan by the Collin County National Bank of McKinney to Rep. Ray Roberts in 1966; a $3,500 loan by El Paso National Bank of Rep. Richard White of El Paso; and a $10,000 loan from the Hillsboro State Bank to Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin in 1966.

'Second Shot' To Convict Lt. Calley?

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Lt. William Calley's defense counsel failed in a vigorous effort Saturday to block another extensive rereading of prosecution testimony from his My Lai murder trial—which it claims gives the government "a second shot" at convicting him.

SECOND TRIAL
"It's a second trial, that's what it is—that's what it is—that's the cruel and unusual punishment, keeping this boy waiting, waiting while we retry this case," was the bitter complaint of chief defense attorney George Latimer after the court-martial jury asked that the entire testimony of four key witnesses be reread—a process that could take many hours.

Some of it has not even been transcribed from the courtroom stenographic notes. The judge, Col. Reid Kennedy, tried by means of a note to get the jury to settle for certain pivotal areas in the testimony they had cited. But they sent him back a note which said they "wanted the entire testimony."

Bomb-Blasted Reds Advance

SAIGON (AP) — Furious attacks by North Vietnamese troops and tanks drove South Vietnamese from another base in Laos on Saturday and sent one battalion back across the border. Nearly 300 U.S. bombers pounded the enemy, trying to halt the advance.

The South Vietnamese rushed more artillery to the border to zero in on the advancing North Vietnamese, now about 12 miles from the Vietnamese frontier at their point of farthest advance.

The major enemy drive was along Highway 9, the main route into Laos.

MAJOR DRIVE
South Vietnamese officers said 1,000 ranger and marine reinforcements had been sent into Laos to operate both north and south of Highway 9.

Lt. Col. Tran Van An, spokesman for South Vietnam's military headquarters in Saigon, said South Vietnamese forces had abandoned Fire Base A Luoi, which lies on Highway 9 about 12 miles inside Laos.

A Luoi sat on the heart of the Ho Chi Minh trail and was the headquarters of the South Vietnamese Airborne Division and an Armored Regiment.

Just before A Luoi was abandoned, three battles were reported around the fire base. An claimed 293 North Vietnamese troops were killed in this series of fights, most of them by U.S. air strikes.

CAPTURE GUNS
He said an assortment of weapons was captured including machine guns, flame throwers, rocket launchers and rifles. An said South Vietnamese casualties were 21 troops killed and 182 wounded.

This was the eighth base seized by the North Vietnamese since the South Vietnamese launched their drive into Laos Feb. 8 to disrupt men and supply movements down the Ho Chi Minh trail and to destroy munitions, fuel and food dumps.

The South Vietnamese operation in Laos appeared nearing an end, much earlier than expected, as Saigon forces tried to escape onrushing North Vietnamese. Field reports said the enemy now outnumbered the South Vietnamese about 2 to 1.

HEAVY FIGHTING
The demoralized battalion brought back from Vietnam by U.S. helicopters had been engaged in heavy fighting 2 1/2 miles west of Fire Base Delta I.

The base—12 miles west of the Vietnamese border and four miles south of Highway 9—now is the westernmost position of the South Vietnamese. U.S. pilots said. In the past week the South Vietnamese have retreated 13 miles.

Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen reported from near the border that the beaten battalion was flown back by 40 to 50 U.S. helicopters, 15 of which were shot

Phone Calls Of Senators 'Monitored'

DENVER (AP) — Sen. Joseph M. Montoya says telephone conversations of some Senate Democrats have been monitored by the Justice Department.

"What has come to light," the New Mexico Democrat said in an interview here, "indicates that only Democrats were monitored, but I'm also concerned that even Republicans were monitored."

"Although we have no proof in that respect, we do have proof that Democrats have been monitored."

He did not offer evidence for his charge and did not name the senators involved.

A Justice Department official in Washington denied the charges.

When asked if he believed the Justice Department was tapping senator's private telephone lines, Montoya replied: "Certainly."

The senator commented Friday night and early Saturday during a visit to Denver in which he addressed the state Democratic organization's Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner.

Latin American Arms Race Boils

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. efforts to discourage South American arms buildup appear to be getting nowhere and Europe seems to be fast replacing the United States as the major supplier of weapons.

Reports reaching here of easy-term Western European sales of jet warplanes, tanks, warships and other items in the hemisphere indicate failure of a U.S. policy of trying to retain Latin American spending for sophisticated military hardware.

A proposal by Colombia's president, Misael Pastrana Borrero, to limit the Latin American arms race is likely to be viewed favorably by U.S. officials if it comes up at next month's meeting of hemisphere foreign ministers in San Jose.

But prospects are dubious for any such arms curb at this time. Among other things, too many of the Latin American states still want to update their forces.

While Washington has been holding back on supplying advanced U.S. weapons to hemisphere national total sales of such items by Europe to Latin America in the last several years are said to be headed toward the $1-billion mark.

The United States, once the predominant provider of heavy arms for Latin America, held down its sales in the 1960s on grounds they would contribute to arms races and absorb money better used for Latin American economic development.

The diminishing U.S. arms-aid program has focused on Latin American internal security needs, involving lighter equipment.

Nixon Wants To Be Alone

THURMONT Md. (AP) — President Nixon spent Saturday working in something akin to solitary confinement at Camp David in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

But he asked Mrs. Nixon, some old friends from California, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown, and his secretary, Miss Rosemary Wood, to come up from Washington for dinner and overnight.

During the day, Nixon was alone except for the presence nearby of a military aide and a White House physician who always accompanies him out of town.

White House officials said Nixon had been digging into a lot of things, including forthcoming messages to Congress, some of which may go up in the week ahead. He has been getting in some work on a message on special revenue-sharing for educational purposes, and others on government reorganization and a program for voluntary service he outlined in a speech at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln on Jan. 14.

Robison Crusade Will Open Tonight

James Robison will begin his week-long crusade tonight at 7:30 in Memorial Stadium. Termed the largest single evangelistic effort in Big Spring's history, the services are due to attract several thousand people each night at 7:30 through next Sunday.

In addition to the Gospel as presented by Robison, whose crusade is sponsored by more than two dozen local churches of all denominations, music under the leadership of evangelist-song leader John McKay will be featured. A 500-voice choir has been organized to present gospel music each night.

The Rev. Robison has scheduled several speaking engagements in addition to his nightly evangelistic services. He will speak Monday to Coahoma Junior and Senior High School students; to the Rotary and other service clubs Tuesday at noon; to Howard County Junior College and Big Spring High School students Wednesday; and to Forsan High School students Thursday.

Rising from a childhood marked by personal difficulties, The Rev. Robison has been noted for his dynamic and candid preaching and his special rapport with young people. The services will be held in the Municipal Auditorium if the weather becomes inclement.

DISCRETION IS THE BETTER PART OF VALOR — Scott Faulkner would rather stay in his father Ben Faulkner's arms and as far away as possible from Pat Burchfield and his rattlesnakes. Burchfield is the professional giving demonstrations during the local Jaycees annual Rattlesnake Round-Up. See Story Page 8-A.

PREPARATION — Workers are shown completing final arrangements for the James Robison Crusade at Memorial Stadium. The Rev. Robison will present the first of his seven nights of evangelistic services tonight at 7:30 at Memorial Stadium.

SOME OF WOODY GUTHRIE'S ADMIRERS ARE TRYING TO CHANGE THAT

No Official Recognition Of Famed Oklahoma Balladeer

By RON JENKINS
By The Associated Press

OKEMAH, Okla. (AP) — On a lonely, windswept cemetery outside this small central Oklahoma town, there is written a poignant and symbolic epitaph: "Woody Guthrie — Bound for Glory."

It's not an official monument, just a simple memorial recently placed in the Oklahoma red earth next to the graves of other members of the Guthrie family.

For even in death, Woody Guthrie — generally considered America's greatest balladeer — remains a forgotten son in his native Oklahoma.

The late writer-humalist-singer drifted out of the Oklahoma prairie in the late 1920s as a youth. He spent the bulk of his young adult life wandering from coast to coast across America — "getting close to the people." He sang and strummed his guitar at country dances, in saloons, in hobo jungles.

'BOUND FOR GLORY'

In the process, he became a hero of the downtrodden — "I just don't believe in folks being hungry or out of work" — a folk poet of major proportions and a singer and composer of many of America's greatest songs.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sun., March 21, 1971 3-A

He is credited with writing more than 1,000 songs, 400 of which have been recorded in the Library of Congress. And in 1943 he wrote a highly successful book about his life — "Bound for Glory."

But Guthrie never gained personal wealth, and he died in 1967 in a New York hospital after suffering 15 years of Huntington's disease — a disorder which destroys muscle coordination. The same disease killed his mother.

Such is the saga of Woody Guthrie, but it doesn't end there.

Indeed, Guthrie was the subject of a folk music revival in the '50s and '60s when scores of folk groups were recording Guthrie songs such as "This Land is Your Land," "Greenback Dollar," "Hard Travelin'," "This Train Is Bound For Glory," "So Long, It's Been Good to Know You."

HOUSEHOLD WORD

And it still is going on.

Yet, his name never became a household word — not even in Oklahoma where he was born at Okemah in 1912.

Woody's son, Arlo, is probably better known than his father among the general public. Arlo is the slight, 23-year-old writer of "Alice's Restaurant" — the talking antidraft blues record which was made into a movie.

Still, every month, says self-appointed Okemah historian Mrs. Glenn Dill, someone comes into town to seek out information on Guthrie's early life.

"Some of them are hippie types, but they're very nice," said Mrs. Dill.

The Okemah visitors "just want to know all about Woody," she continued, "and I tell them all I know and give them notes and letters I have on the Guthrie family. Why, there was one boy here all the way from Italy."

NO MARKER

But there is no marker on the busy interstate which skirts by Okemah to tell visitors that Guthrie was born there. In fact, there has never been any official state recognition of the balladeer.

"There has been no official statement of paper in the state recognizing Woody; there has been no monument, no memorial — he has been pretty much ignored in Oklahoma," says Guy W. Logsdon, director of the Tulsa University Libraries.

Logsdon believes Oklahoma's recognition of Guthrie will come in time. He pointed out that Guthrie left Oklahoma in his early teens and that his unconventional lifestyle and outspoken ways offended some people. "He has been called everything but a conservative."

There were moves afoot a few years back at Okemah to recognize their most famous native. A memorial folk festival and a children's wing at the Okemah Library in Guthrie's name were contemplated. But neither proposal ever materialized.

Logsdon thinks a memorial festival would succeed in attracting a huge audience and some of the nation's top folk and blues singers, "if it was done not to make money for a promoter and was a true memorial for Woody." He likes the idea of a children's wing at the Okemah Library.

There is at least one monument for Guthrie — way up in the Pacific Northwest. The "Woody Guthrie Substation" was established a few years back by the Department of Interior as a salute to Guthrie for the more than 26 ballads he wrote about the Bonneville and Grand Coulee Dams on the Columbia River. Guthrie was working for Interior at the time.

But it is at Okemah where Guthrie had "his fondest memories," says his sister, Mrs. Hulet Edgmon of Seminole, Okla.

"Way down yonder in the Indian nation I rode my pony on the reservation in those Oklahoma hills where I was born," goes a Guthrie song.

'DUST BOWL BALLADS'

— And it was Guthrie's "Dust Bowl Ballads," recorded with the aid of Alan Lomax, that helped make him famous and sealed friendships with such folk singers as Cisco Houston and Will Geer. It was Houston who took Guthrie to New York where his Oklahoma songs charmed the big city audiences.

Guthrie was close to the Oklahoma wasteland before the Depression, moving to Pampa, Tex., in the windy Texas Panhandle near the Oklahoma border during the '20s.

Tragedy followed the Guthrie family from Okemah, where one of Woody's sisters died in a fire, to Pampa, where his mother died of Huntington's. Fire was to later claim a 4-year-old daughter of Guthrie's in Brooklyn, N.Y.

But Guthrie never let malady affect his music. "I'm proud of the fact that Woody's songs were happy, never depressing," says Mrs. Edgmon.

THE WEEK

our hypothesis that a good rattlesnake is a dead rattlesnake, the round-up serves a useful purpose.

Spring, like a chick in a tough shell, seems to have trouble breaking out, although redbuds and forsythia were joining fruit trees in bloom. As for weather in general, not a lot of good can be said about dry, windy, dusty days which seem to abound. We heard of the farmer who said he was taking a bucket of sand to see what the banker would let him have on it. "Bring it back when it's wet," said the banker.

Our school bands seem to achieve such outstanding records that they become almost ordinary. At the district UIL contests for soloists and ensembles, BSSH, along with Runnels and Goliad Junior highs, won 114 medals, more than half — or 55 to be exact — in Division I (excellent). Eight from the senior band won the maximum of three Division I ratings.

When Howard County Junior College was included in the list of schools cut from the state

TOP student loan program, it provoked a brisk rejoinder. The college made it plain it had no hand in granting the loans, and besides, only one of 69 had gone sour. It happened to be for about 40 per cent of the $1,887 outstanding, hence it exceeded the state allowable of 10 per cent. The college dropped out of this program two years ago, preferring to handle all loans from other sources.

Another tempest came up when L. H. (Bo) Anderson, veteran director of utilities for the city, resigned. Councilman Eddie Acri took exception to a Herald editorial, which he said intimidated he was a cause, and said Anderson told him this was not the case.

Still another blow was over The Next Generation, a private teenage club attempting to get under way. It was shut down because it had not qualified for a dance hall license, but indications were that it would reopen in about a week.

Fire, which quickly blackened several hundred acres and threatened homes in the Silver Heels addition, was much in the news. Flames consumed the private plane of Rich Anderson last Wednesday as he warmed up before a flight. There's no good time for such a destructive blaze, but this was far better than in flight.

Information people at Webb AFB tell us that St. Patrick fans don't have a monopoly on March 17 as an anniversary date. It was March 17, 1961, when the first T-38 was delivered by Northrup to the Air Training Command. Webb, the first base to activate these, got its initial planes in November, 1961. Since then, ATC has trained 20,000 jet pilots in the great trainer.

Howard County's voter potential is now 12,256 for the year. Collector Zirah Bednar said that 704 names were added to the list during the extended period in February. Now, if those who registered will only vote.

BLONDE ADMITS IT'S A ROLE TO SINK HER TEETH INTO

Horror Movie Has Luscious Vampire

By NORMAN GOLDSTEIN AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Horrors! What's happened to the horror movies?

The malevolent monster of the creature feature has become a luscious lesbian vampire! The frightening face of the terror of Transylvania is now a blue-eyed beauty worth the eye-teeth of any red-blooded libertine.

And while it was the vulnerable neck which lured the toothy monsters of the popcorn past, the attraction to at least one current, castle-creeper is a couple of bites lower — on milady's bosom.

DRACULA SPINNING It's enough to set the good Count Dracula spinning in his sepulchre.

Perpetrator of these doings is the veteran shock film shop, England's Hammer Films, who has mated sex and hex in a gothic tale with lesbian leanings for America's most prominent horror-bill distributors, American International Pictures.

Hammer is the production company with a history of successful horror remakes, and who also introduced Raquel Welch to the world in a prehistoric puffery called "One Million Years B.C." and carbonated that beauty-and-the-beast epic with Ursula Andress in "She."

In the current one, "The Vampire Lovers," the lovely lady is Ingrid Pitt, aided in her monster mien by a touch of a German accent, which is real, a slight Karloff-like lisp, which is real, and a body, shown unencumbered by wordy garments, which is real. Only the protruding fangs, an occupational necessity, are frauds.

LOVES BULLFIGHTS

It's not exactly the role the witty and intellectual Miss Pitt always dreamed of, but she admits it's a role to sink her teeth into.

Miss Pitt is a German-born beauty with long flowing blonde hair, blue eyes, generous lips and an intriguing upturned nose. She has led a life worthy of a movie script in itself in her 27-or-so years, yet she hesitates to talk about it.

"My life bores me," she says.

But there are few vampires who can boast of swimming the River Spree between the two Berlins to freedom from the East as she did. And few other actresses can speak six languages, write original screenplays and practice bullfighting on horseback. "I love bullfighting, but I cannot get off the horse and kill the bull, standing there face to face with him. I let the men do the dirty work — as all women do."

Though born in Berlin, her family moved to Poland early in her life and she considers herself more Polish. "but I have a Russian soul." She returned to Berlin as a teen-ager and worked with the Berlin Ensemble Theatre, including a major part in "Mother Courage" after the lead fell ill, before fleeing East Berlin and The Wall.

DIDN'T SHUT UP

From there she did several films and TV shows in Spain. Her first appearance on American movie screens was in the war adventure "Where Eagles Dare," with Clint Eastwood and Richard Burton. She played a waitress.

She talks freely, in fact is an admitted chatterer — "My father used to say: 'You are much prettier if you shut up.' I didn't take his advice. I was always talking — about everything" from Tolstoy to women's liberation."

With the latter somewhat more topical, she declared: "All this emancipation is ruining the world. Woman is woman; man is man. There should be no compromise. I wouldn't want this unisex. I don't know why people want to change nature..."

And about current trends in movies: "They are all nuts with that lesbianism and nudity... There are some people left who like normality. Marriage. Babies. Movies are indulging in pessimism. They should be more positive..."

All this, of course, before "The Vampire Lovers."

But Ingrid is not the type to be a vampire all her acting life. In her next film, "The House That Dripped Blood," she's the vampire's victim!

DeMolay Unit Holds Week's Observance

The Leon P. Moffitt chapter of DeMolays today closes out their week-long observance of DeMolay week.

The Order of DeMolay was founded in 1919 by Frank S. Land, a Shriner and Mason interested in young people. He and nine boys formed the first chapter in Kansas City, Mo. From nine members the order has grown to a membership of three million boys, from more than 13 countries.

The order is named for Jacques DeMolay, an early Christian martyr, who was burned at the stake during the time of the French inquisition. Each year DeMolay week is observed during the week of March 18, the day on which DeMolay died.

The chapter has 21 principal officers, with the top three elected by the membership and the remainder filled by appointment by the elected leaders. Master counselor this year is Billy McDonald. David Simpson is senior counselor and Wesley Hufford is junior counselor.

The local chapter was reorganized by Leon P. Moffitt when he retired in 1950 in Big Spring from his job as a field engineer.

Mr. Moffitt died Oct. 14, 1953, but the last three years of his life were devoted to the DeMolay order and the organization of the second Masonic chapter here. Shortly after his death the members renamed the local chapter for the man who had been their chapter dad.

"He was an inspired man when it came to dealing with young boys," A. J. Prager, a former chapter advisor said. His wife and his daughter, Mrs. L. B. Edwards, still live in Big Spring.

Each year the chapter honors Mr. Moffitt with a ceremony at his grave.

SEN. TOWER OF TEXAS Doesn't Expect Connally To Become A Republican

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Saturday he does not believe that John Connally, a Democrat and former Texas governor, will change parties.

He said he does not think that President Nixon expected Connally to shift affiliations when he named him secretary of the Treasury. He said this strictly was a move by Nixon to obtain a bipartisan flavor in his Cabinet.

Tower, talking at a news conference, also said he will not speculate on who his Democratic opponent will be in the 1972 general election.

"Almost any Democrat in this state would be strong opposition," Texas' only Republican senator said.

Tower said he intends to campaign on what he said was his record of having represented the viewpoint of the majority of people in Texas.

Tower said he has as many Democratic supporters as Republican.

Speaking of the GOP primary, Tower said he does not expect opposition. "I don't know of any Texas Republican who is in a position to challenge me," Tower said.

The senator said he is prepared to give "complete cooperation" to any effort by Gov. Preston Smith to have South Texas declared a disaster area because of the winter-long drought. Smith held a meeting of representatives from 24 counties Friday to study the drought situation.

Tower was in the Lower Rio Grande Valley to speak Saturday night at the Harlingen Jaycees' annual banquet and to speak Monday in McAllen at a convention of the Texas Federation of Cooperatives.

Grayson Leaders Speak Out On Remap Proposal

DALLAS (AP) — Grayson County leaders made it plain Friday at a Texas House hearing on congressional redistricting that they do not want to be removed from the 4th District.

Charles E. Hughes, Democratic party chairman of Grayson County, noted, "We are in an old and historic district."

One of the many proposals made since the 1970 census is that several district lines be redrawn so that the districts would be balanced in population as required by law.

Grayson County is on the line between the 4th and 13th. At least one proposal would move Grayson County into a group to its west while still using portions of Dallas County to balance the districts as now.

The Grayson County group particularly objected to being moved into a district stretching west.

Bob Slagle of Sherman told the committee, which has been holding hearings several places in Texas, that Grayson county's ties are to the south and east and not to the west.

Grayson County, said Slagle, "has no community of interest with Wichita County" which is west of Grayson.

Formal resolutions against moving to a western district were presented to the committee. Hughes said that the Dallas segment could be taken out with still enough population to allow a one-man, one-vote district as law requires.

Workshops For Teachers This Week

Big Spring students will not have to attend school Monday and Tuesday because of in-service workshops to be held by the Big Spring, Independent School District.

"The in-service training is part of 10 days required training each year," said Sam Anderson, school superintendent.

The training session at the high school will include all Big Spring teachers, working mostly in small workshop sessions.

Three speakers will address the general sessions of the program. Dr. Charles Jones, Texas Tech University, will speak on "Some Aspects of Working with Today's Students" at the Monday morning general session. Dr. Russell L. ## Attorney Rambles On, Delaying Manson Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The rambling final argument by Charles Manson's attorney in the Sharon Tate murder trial appears certain to delay the case from reaching the jury as soon as the judge had expected.

Superior Court Judge Charles Older said before arguments began in the penalty phase that the jury might start its deliberations by Tuesday.

The prosecutor took 10 minutes for his opening argument, but Irving Kanarek, representing the hippie-style clan leader, has been talking for a day and a half and wasn't finished when court recessed Friday for the weekend.

A court source estimated the case might go to the jury by Thursday if the prosecutor chooses not to reply to defense remarks. Should he rebut, all four defense attorneys could argue a second time. Kanarek is the first defense attorney to speak.

The defense gets the last word in the penalty phase of the trial. Then the seven-man, five-woman jury which convicted Manson and three women codefendants in January decides their sentences—life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber. Kanarek argued that Manson is innocent that the women defendants' witness stand confessions exonerated him and that the women killed without Manson's help or instructions.

SPRING TRAINING FOR CHARLEY

Pride, County Hits And Baseball

By NANCY SHIPLEY
Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Charley Pride, the pride of Sledge, Miss., is one happy fellow. He's doing a different type of personal appearance for a short time at a baseball training camp in Arizona.

Pride, one of the greats in country music, not too long ago dreamed of being one of the greats on the baseball field.

So, at the invitation of Milwaukee Brewers' baseball Manager Dave Bristol, Pride is attending spring training with the team.

Pride, a one-time minor leaguer, insists the trip is "not altogether a lark."

PRETTY GOOD

The popular black entertainer, whose every vocal outing spells instant hit on the country charts, still believes he's pretty good as a pitcher-outfielder.

The Brewers' training camp isn't the first spring camp tryout for Pride, 33 on March 8. But, it is under much different circumstances from those which surrounded his other visits.

"I've been to spring training many times," he says, explaining that it was in a baseball park in Montana where he got his first shot at singing professionally.

One of those springs, in the early 1960s, Pride traveled by bus to Florida where he tried to get a uniform and a workout with the New York Mets. It took him days to get there, but his stay lasted about half an hour.

NEVER SATISFIED

"We ain't running no tryout camp," was the terse response from Casey Stengel, then manager of the Mets.

On another occasion Pride trained with the Old Los Angeles Angels, "but I tried to throw too much, too fast, and too soon."

"My arm grew weaker and weaker and they finally told me they didn't think I had a major league arm," he recalls. Pride says he's never been satisfied with that answer.

After a number of seasons in the Negro American League, Pride got a spot in the Pioneer League as a member of a Montana club. It was during that brief stay in the Pioneer League that he was offered a chance to pick and sing prior to a game.

HIT AFTER HIT

"I'll never forget that night," he smiles. "The singing led to a night-club contract and after I entertained, I went three for four and drove in four runs."

Charley Pride finally decided to give up his baseball career in 1966 after his first recording became a hit. It was called "Snakes Crawl at Night." Since then he's had hit after hit and won award after award for his singing.

Since Jan. 1, 1971, three of his LPs have been certified as gold records, "Charley Pride's 10th Album," "Just Plain Charley" and "Charley Pride in Person." One LP-certified earlier, "The Best of Charley Pride," is nearing a sale of a million copies.

But Pride admits, "I do have one other thing on my mind — I believe the only thing I would enjoy more than playing baseball would be to own a team."

"One of these days," he grins. "I might get me one."

Foes Might Ground For Good Government-Subsidized SST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate foes of the supersonic transport are ahead in their effort to ground the government-subsidized airliner project, an Associated Press survey showed Saturday, but uncommitted senators hold the crucial balance of voting power.

With two days of cloakroom infighting and corridor lobbying ahead the court is 44 senators against the SST, four more inclined to oppose it, with 36 supporting the project and three leaning that way.

II UNCOMMITTED

The survey, based on public commitments and a poll of Senate offices, showed 11 senators uncommitted. Four of them voted against the SST in its last Senate test, an equal number for it. Three others did not vote last time.

The crucial rollcall comes at 4 p.m. Wednesday, after two days of debate. Both sides expect lobbying pressure to mount as that test approaches. And both sides expect the outcome to be closer than that recorded last Dec. 3, when SST appropriations were rejected by the Senate, 52 to 41.

$134 MILLION FUSS

Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, who had opposed the SST appropriation in that vote, disclosed he will support it this time.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., also on the opposition side in the last test, is among the uncommitted senators. All the evidence points to a close count on the Wednesday rollcall. Two ailing senators are expected to be absent, thus 50 votes would represent a majority.

The House, in a surprise reversal, voted 215 to 204 Thursday against continued SST spending. It was House insistence on an appropriation rejected by the Senate that led to an SST stalemate in the waning hours of the 91st Congress. The settlement then was an extension of the project funds until March 30. At issue now is the $134 million needed to continue the SST subsidy through June 30.

HIGH GEAR

"I imagine this lobby they talk about will go into high gear now," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Union leaders, concerned about the jobs the project could produce, have joined the aircraft industry in pressing for approval of the SST.

One Republican said he expects the White House to step up Monday administration efforts to gain votes for the project.

Following this, he will then participate in street opening ceremonies for Parkway Blvd. and the extension of University Blvd. to be held at the intersection of these recently completed thoroughfares. He also will address a noon luncheon of the Presidential Museum directors.

LETTERS TO EDITOR Other Appeals For Social Place For Young People

TO THE EDITOR:

Since I am a teenage girl too young to drive a car, there are not many places for entertainment on the weekends. I could patronize one of the theatres to see Bambi or Alice in Wonderland, and sit with all the little children, but I would rather not. The shows that I am permitted to see I have a hard time seeing unless someone takes me.

On weekends when I don't have a date, and even if I do, I think it would be nice to go somewhere with a congenial atmosphere. I could always baby-sit or watch television.

There are a few questions about the teen center that arise in my mind.

If those adults who drink and dance can have their clubs and the various other places, why are the teenagers of Big Spring being prevented from a clean center or restricted to Walt Disney and the Wagon Wheel.

For those who do not have transportation or have a time limit, entertainment out of town is definitely limited.

City officials and church members have been complaining that there is no place for teenagers to go. When we do get a teen center some people begin to find fault with it.

The Next Generation Club keeps us off the street and gives us something to do. It is a place to be with friends and have a good time.

Which would the people of Big Spring rather have — kids on the street, in trouble and continually moping around, or someplace for us to go without trouble, having a good time.

Should Regulate Adult Clubs, Too

TO THE EDITOR: The Next Generation Club of Big Spring is having growing pains, but these growing pains seem to be regulated by the city council. The city council has decided that our local authorities should regulate all memberships to the club by their approval.

Why should an owner of a business be regulated by the local authorities? This is a sure sign of fascism in our fair city. It is obvious that a lot of fair citizens in this town have adopted the theory of metaphysics-theology-cosmology and let anybody that wants to walk on them walk.

If we, the people of Big Spring, allow the regulation of one club in Big Spring, all clubs will have to be dominated. Such clubs as the Big Spring Country Club, American Legion, Elks Club, etc. This new club is derived because the youth of Big Spring need a place to go to get off the streets on weekends and weekdays.

'For the upperdog...'

I have just about reached the end of my tolerance for the way our society now seems to have sympathetic concern only for the misfit, the pervert, the drug addict, the drifter, the chronic criminal, the under-achiever. It seems to me we have lost touch with reality and become warped in our attachments. I feel it is time for someone like me to stand up and say, in short, 'I'm for the upperdog!'

"I'm for the achiever — the one who sets out to do something and does it; the one who recognizes the problems and opportunities at hand, and endeavors to deal with them; the one who is successful at his immediate task because he is not worrying about someone else's failings; the one who doesn't consider it 'square' to be constantly looking for more to do, who isn't always rationalizing why he shouldn't be doing what he is doing; the one, in short, who carries the work of his part of the world squarely on his shoulders.

"It is important to recognize that the quality of any society is directly related to the quality of the individuals who make it up. Therefore, let us stop referring naively to creating a 'great' society. It is enough at this stage of our development to aspire to create a decent society. And to do so, our first task is to help each individual be decent unto himself and in his relationship with other individuals.

"We will never create a good society, much less a great one, until individual excellence and achievement are not only respected but encouraged. That is why I am for the upperdog — the achiever, the succeder." (Frank J. Curtis in the Curtis Courier)

Noise Pollution On Verge Of Reaching Serious Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government-sponsored panel asserted Saturday noise pollution in the United States is "on the verge of reaching a serious level" and called for new federal and state standards to protect Americans against hearing damage and annoyance.

The panel recommended 12 steps to help take away some of the din of modern living and said the United States should establish a national goal to "work toward an environment for all Americans free of noise that jeopardizes their health and welfare or unnecessarily detracts from the quality of life."

"Millions of workers are now exposed to noise levels that have been shown conclusively to produce hearing damage," the panel named by the Commerce Department said. "Most of these workers are unaware of this hazard and do not act to protect themselves."

The panel said the federal government should expand its role in developing standards for allowable exposure to industrial noise. It said states and local governments should adopt standards at least as stringent as federal standards.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare should establish "interim criteria and guidelines for use in setting standards to human exposures to noise," it said. The panel also said the Commerce Department should develop voluntary standards for placing noise ratings on consumer products "that are a significant source of noise." In cases where the noise could produce hearing damage, the labeling standards should be mandatory it said.

The other recommendations called for expanded research into noise pollution, action by all governments to consider the concept of "noise zoning" in planning, better training of workers in noise abatement, pilot projects, better methods of measuring noise pollution and noise-abatement offices in each state and local government.

One of the recommendations, establishing an Office of Noise Abatement in the Environment, tal Protection Agency, has been proposed by President Nixon in a bill now before the Senate.

The panel headed by Dr. Jack E. Goldman, vice president for research and development for the Xerox Corp., concluded that most all Americans are responsible for what it called a "widespread pollutant which can have many adverse effects on man."

The panel said 150 million Americans living in cities and suburbia are exposed to annoying noise which "constitutes a degradation of health..."

Make Your Plans To Attend The JAMES ROBISON CRUSADE FOR CHRIST

Starting at 7:30 P.M. Today In Memorial Stadium
(City Auditorium In Case of Inclement Weather)

James Robison

James Robison is one of the most dynamic and powerful evangelists in the nation today. Results of Crusades led by him remind many of those led by Dr. Billy Graham.

Relying on sound Biblical preaching, the prayers of thousands of Christians, and the work of the Holy Spirit, he has had a part in 60,000 decisions for Christ in the past decade. And yet, he is only 27 years of age.

Big Spring is fortunate to be among the few Texas cities and the total of 14 Crusades he has booked for the year, including calls to Alabama, California, Colorado, Florida, Mississippi, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Tennessee.

People in more than two dozen congregations are praying and working for the crusade this week. Won't you join them — and best of all, won't you attend each evening and bring friends with you?

God will work wonders — if you will let Him work through you this week.

He can change lives and change the community.

KREMLIN PLAYED MAJOR ROLE IN CREATION OF TERRORISTS GROUP

Mexico Ousts Five Soviet Diplomats

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Expulsion from Mexico of five Soviet diplomats during the week uncovers a web of intrigue stretching from Mexico to Moscow to North Korea by way of East Berlin.

The intrigue was so deep that the government of President Luis Echeverria felt it necessary to make most of the improbable details public quickly, thereby telling terrorists the government means to stay alive and to warn socialist embassies not to meddle in Mexican affairs.

Documents captured during the arrests leave no doubt in the minds of Mexican officials of Soviet complicity even though the terrorists received their actual intense training in a guerrilla camp at a military base outside Pyongyang, North Korea.

Not since 1936 when Mexico offered asylum to Leon Trotsky over the personal protest of Josef Stalin have relations between Mexico and the U.S.S.R. cooled so quickly.

But the Soviet Embassy has been so deeply involved in this plot and in anti-government disturbances that Echeverria apparently felt he had no choice but to recall his ambassador from Moscow and expel the five diplomats, one of whom was in charge of the Embassy in the ambassador's absence.

The Mexicans have reliable information, it has been learned, that one of those expelled helped to finance the bloody student uprising in 1968 and again contributed funds for anti-government disturbances early in 1970. He is Boris Voskoboynikov, the cultural attache and the Embassy's direct contact with the Institute for Mexican-USSR Cultural Exchange.

It was this institute which recruited leftist students for scholarships to Patrice Lumumba University in Moscow. Some of these founded the MAR in Moscow in 1966, arranged with North Koreans in Moscow for guerrilla training, and returned to Mexico to organize a coup.

Mexico has permitted a large Soviet Embassy staff for many years. It has been common street speculation in Mexico that many of the Soviet diplomats have been engaged in espionage but it was assumed it was espionage against other countries, not Mexico. The depth of the Soviet participation in a plot surprised even tolerant Mexicans.

On Monday, the federal attorney general announced the arrest of 19 members of the MAR, urban terrorists who intended to eventually overthrow the government and install a Marxist-Leninist regime.

Snake Steaks, Skins Spice Local Round-Up

Almost a ton of rattlesnakes are on display at the County Barn for the last day of the Jaycees' 10th annual Rattlesnake Round-Up. The snake hunters had collected more than a ton of rattlesnakes by the end of the day Saturday. The longest snake caught by Saturday night was about 65 inches long and the shortest was about 12 inches long. A team catch of over 250 pounds is the largest yet produced in the Round-Up.

The poisonous reptiles are on display in a Plexiglass fronted case that also serves as a milking and show area for Pat Burchfield, a professional snake handler from Brownsville. Burchfield picks up a snake from the wriggling mass around him with a hook and grabs it behind the head. The mouth of the snake is forced open over a container and venom is extracted. As much as a pint of the venom will be extracted and sent to Brooke AFB Hospital for research.

Hunters have been bringing in their catch to another wooden cage where Jaycees weigh and measure the catch. The longest snake is worth $5 per foot and a trophy and the shortest snake is $1 per inch and a trophy. Snakes brought 25 cents per pound Friday, 15 cents per pound Saturday and will sell for seven cents per pound today.

FOR EATING, TOO After the snakes have been weighed and measured they are either released in the main pit or killed and skinned. The skins are sold, as are the rattles, along with items made of rattle-snake skin. The meat is fried by the Jaycee-Ettes and provides a West Texas gourmet treat for the hungry visitors.

People who want to see how a snake is caught can go on a guided snake hunt, as an observer. The Jaycees guarantee that they will catch at least one snake for the visitors. The snake hunter finds what he thinks is a snake den and then sprays gasoline into the hole. The snakes come out if everything works right, and the hunter picks the snakes up and puts them in a bag or a cage.

Students Become Officials For Day

The format for the annual Student Government Day in Big Spring has been changed this year, according to Tom Eastland, Chamber of Commerce. The program, scheduled for Tuesday, has been a full-day program for the past 10 years. The program this year will be a 9 a.m. to noon program. Each participating official in city, county and district government will host three students at a coffee and doughnuts get-acquainted session from 9 to 9:15 a.m. at the Settles Hotel. The students will hear talks on city and county government by former municipal judge John Burgess and District Judge Ralph Caton. The students will then accompany their government counterparts to their offices and discuss the individual responsibilities of the official. At 11 a.m. the city commission will conduct a commission meeting and the county commissioners will conduct a court for their student guests.

Webb Aids Pilot Fighting Dust Storm

Quick thinking by an air traffic controller and a radar approach control (RAPCON) technician at Webb AFB possibly averted a major disaster here recently. T.Sgt. Marion F. Crabtree was on duty in the Webb Control Tower and M.Sgt. Richard A. Shook was at work at RAPCON recently when a heavy dust storm covered the local area. A civilian pilot, flying a Cessna 150, was lost in the dust storm and his only reference point was IS 20. He was flying above the highway at an altitude of 200 feet. The aircraft was experiencing navigation equipment trouble and the airspeed indicator was not working properly. He radioed the Webb tower and asked for assistance. The two non-commissioned officers instructed the pilot to gain sufficient altitude in order that the aircraft could be detected on the Webb radar screen. Once the pilot gained altitude, the two sergeants guided the aircraft to a safe landing here.

New Webb Student Branch Chief No Stranger Here

The new year marked a new assignment at a new job of the new chief of the student branch at Webb AFB. Although his job as chief of the student branch is new to Maj. Edmund H. Crandall, Webb is not new to the major nor his family. They arrived here for a second tour at Christmas time. It was then that the new student branch chief began his check-out as instructor in the T-38 Talon.

A native of Wayland, N.Y., Maj. Crandall entered the Air Force with an ROTC commission immediately following his graduation from Cornell University in 1956, with a BS degree in rural education. The major's first Air Force assignment was at Moore and Laredo AFB's for undergraduate pilot training which he completed in April, 1957. Then he was off to the all-weather interceptor school at Moody

AFB, Ga., where he served as an instructor pilot until 1961. It was then that Maj. Crandall first saw Webb and Big Spring. He began a 2½-year hitch as an academic instructor. Following this, he served on the wing standardization-evaluation board for another 2½ years. After five years in the local area, Maj. Crandall received orders for service in Vietnam. He went to Luke AFB, Ariz., for upgrading in the F-100 Super Sabre. This training was completed between May and September, 1966.

Commissioners To Study Swim Ban

An ordinance prohibiting swimming in both Cosden and Moss Creek Lakes will be presented to the city commissioners in their regular meeting Tuesday night. Also the ordinance prohibits anyone from operating a motor or power driven boat on Cosden lake. Two other ordinances will also be heard on a third and final reading in the commission meeting. Miller Shares Lead With Underwood

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — John Miller and Hal Underwood, a pair of youthful non-winners, charged past the faltering leaders and into a tie Saturday for the top spot after three rounds of the $125,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

Francisco, had a three-under-par 69, the best round of the cold, wind-whipped day. His 54-hole total of 210, six-under-par on the 6,943-yard Hidden Hills Country Club course, tied him with the 25-year-old Underwood, who carded a 71.

severe-cold winds gusting up to seven miles an hour—that only seven players were able to break 72. Third-round leaders Don January and amateur Steve Melnyk fell back in the field.

January, the 41-year-old defending champion, took a 76 and Melnyk, a former National Amateur titlist, ballooned to 77.

Both were well back. January had a 213 total and Melnyk, playing before a hometown crowd, was at 214.

Lee Travino, gunning for his first victory of the season, rallied for a 71 and 211, just one stroke back of the leaders.

South African Gary Player was next with a 72 at 213. January was tied at 213 with John Schlee and Dave Eichelberger. Schlee had a 70 and Eichelberger 73.

"It's the worst wind I've ever tried to play in," said Miller, a lanky blond now in his third year on the pro tour. "I didn't know I could play this well in the wind. Maybe I've learned something."

The wind was so severe that a gust blew slim Roy Pace off balance on his back in on the 14th fairway and he missed the ball completely, a whiff. He still managed a 71.

Arnold Palmer had a 71 for 219 and Jack Nicklaus took a 72 for 218. U.S. Open champ Tony Jacklin struggled in with a 75 for 220.

Texans Share Gloves Lead; Wells Winner

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The defending champion Texas club seized a share of the team lead and two reigning titlists advanced to the semifinals Saturday in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions.

Stylish heavyweight Nick Wells of Fort Worth propelled the Texas team into a tie with Charlotte, N.C., in the final bout of the matinee show, each with 15 victories.

Wells, a quarterfinalist in the 1970 nationals, took his third straight TKO, stopping David McKay of Jackson, Tenn., with a right to the head and a left to the body in the second round.

Defending light heavyweight champion Felton Woods, Grand Rapids, Mich., and middleweight king Larry Ward, Milwaukee, passed their quarterfinal tests, neither impressively.

Ward recovered from a shaky second round to outpoint Joe Blakely of Las Vegas, Nev., in a bout that could have gone either way until late in the third round.

Woods, normally a cool, crafty fighter, lost his poise in the first round, never regained it, but took the decision unanimously over Arnold Barbosa of Los Angeles.

A knockout winner in his last bout, Woods unleashed his best shot shortly before the end of the second round, dropping Barbosa. Woods bopped Barbosa again while Barbosa was down, drawing a sharp reprimand from the referee and boos from a matinee crowd of 6,932.

Rebels Lead Golf Play In District

MIDLAND — The Big Spring Black team finished in a fifth place tie with the Permian White team in the first round of District 5-AAAA golf competition at Hogan Park here Friday.

The Steers' Black squad, paced by Ike Robb's 79, toured the 18-hole course in 320 strokes to finish behind winner Midland Lee White, Midland Purple, Abilene Cooper Red and San Angelo Number one.

Midland Lee copped the number one slot with a 307 behind the efforts of John Adams who finished with a one-over par 72. His round was good enough for medalist honors in the event also.

Richard Clay of the Permian Black team came in second in the medalist race with a 75 and Big Spring's Mark McCraney was third with a 76. McCraney was playing with the Steers Gold unit.

Midland Lee White now holds a commanding five shot lead over Midland Purple.

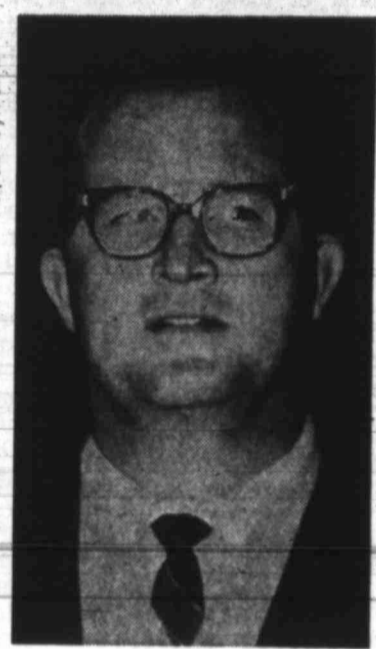

The second District tournament of the year is set for the Odessa Country Club Thursday at 9:30 a.m. The round will be played Thursday rather than Friday because the Western Junior College Conference tournament is scheduled there Friday.

The two teams after five rounds of competition advance to Regional competition, as do the two low individual shooters. The golf teams wind up district competition in Big Spring in mid-April.

EX-BIG SPRINGER Van Pelt Named West Texas Aide

CANYON — William P. "Chop" Van Pelt has been hired as an assistant football coach at West Texas State University and will begin his duties early next week. Head coach and athletic director Gene Mayfield made the announcement early Friday morning.

BILL VAN PELT

The 1954 Austin College graduate has coached for the past two years at Odessa High School as first assistant in charge of defense under coach Joe Means.

Van Pelt, 38, started his coaching career in 1956 at Big Spring Junior High School. In 1960 he moved to McAllen under coach Hank Watkins at McAllen High School as a defensive coach. He moved with coach Watkins to Odessa High in 1965 and was the assistant head coach in charge of defense.

He returned to McAllen as assistant head coach under Watkins in 1966 and remained there until he returned to Odessa in 1969.

Following graduation from Big Spring High School in 1949, Van Pelt played one year of basketball for Howard County Junior College. He then lettered four years in football at Austin College.

In 1952 and 1953 he was named to the All-Texas Conference team as a tackle and was named to the All-Texas College team in 1953. He captained the 1953 Austin team.

Following a brief trial with the Los Angeles Rams professional football team he was in the Navy from 1954 until 1956. He is married and has two sons, John, 15 and Erick, 12.

Gary Don Newsom Awaits West Point Workouts

WEST POINT, N.Y. — Army opens its 28-game baseball schedule with four straight home games before beginning the Eastern Intercollegiate League season on the road. The campaign begins March 27 with a 2:30 p.m. game against Fordham at West Point's Doubleday Field.

Rutgers, Villanova and Lehigh visit on April 1, 3 and 5, respectively. The league schedule begins with a single game at Brown April 9 and a doubleheader at Yale April 10.

Coach Eric Tipton begins his 14th year as head coach with only four lettermen back from last season, when the Cadets were 7-14. Tom Pytz (Argo, Ill.) is back at shortstop and Tom Peterson (Brooklyn Center, Minn.) returns to play either in the outfield or at first base. Pitchers Mike Tokarsky (Bridgewater, Mass.) and Bill Lord (Brooklyn, N.Y.) are the other returning lettermen.

Tokarsky, the only lefthander on the pitching staff, compiled a 1-3 record and a 3.35 earned run average in 11 appearances last season. Lord, whose three complete games were the most on the staff, was 2-4 with a 4.52 ERA in nine games. John Scott (Wakefield, Mass.), a senior, is also back this season after a 1-4 record last year. The most promising newcomer on the mound is sophomore Barney Oakes (Columbia, S.C.).

Coach Tipton is hoping the Cadets will improve on a .247 team batting average last season. Pytz hit only .190 last year and Peterson .194, although Peterson was second on the team in total bases with three home runs, a double and a triple.

The rest of the infield is inexperienced. Gary Mirzoian (Bloomfield Hill, Mich.), a junior, will share first base duties with Peterson. He played briefly in three games last year.

Nestor Sanchez (Biscayne Park, Fla.) got two hits in 11 trips to the plate last year. A junior, he is the probably second baseman.

Sophomores are likely to get the nod at third base and catcher. Joe Miller (Jacksonville, Fla.) is at third and Gary Newsom (Big Spring, Tex.) is behind the plate.

Two experienced outfielders, senior Bill Quintan (Warren, Ohio) and junior Gerry Zmolek (Ontario, Calif.), join four promising sophomores — Ron Danhof (McMinnville, Tenn.), Lou Bartock (Manville, N.Y.), Bill McManaway (LaMesa, Calif.) and Don Knight (Pacific Grove, Calif.).

Quintan played in 11 games last year and hit .235. Zmolek was hitless in two appearances at the plate. He played in three games.

Coach Tipton, a former all-America football player at Duke and professional baseball player with the old Philadelphia Athletics and the Cincinnati Reds, has won the Eastern League title three times since coming to West Point in 1957.

He is assisted by two former Army players, Majors Robert Kewley and William Boice. Major Kewley, who graduated in 1961, was an all-league selection as a pitcher in 1960; the year that he set the Academy strikeout record of 17 against Yale. Major Boice, who graduated in 1963, is a former shortstop and third baseman.

The Cadets have Friday afternoon games and Saturday doubleheaders scheduled every weekend from April 9 to May 8 plus a number of Monday and Wednesday afternoon single contests. Harvard and Dartmouth, the pre-season Eastern League favorites, are at West Point April 23 and 24.

Takes Terrell Job

MIDLAND — Jack Edwards has quit as offensive backfield coach at Midland Lee High School to become head coach at Terrell High School in District 9-AAA. His starting salary will be $12,500 annually. At Terrell, he succeeds Phil Jones, who guided the team to a 6-4 record in 1970.

Ex-Buffs Are In AAU Meet

BROWNWOOD — Coach Ken Henson and his Howard Payne College Yellow Jackets — basketball tri-champions of the tough Lone Star Conference — are slated to leave Wednesday for London, Ky., and the National AAU tournament.

The nationally-ranked Jackets will be representing the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for the second year in a row at the AAU tournament.

Last year at the championship meet, held in Columbia, S.C., the Baptists won three out of four games and the consolation championship.

Henson — in his first year at HPC — saw his team win 12 of their last 13 games, post a 22-6 record on the season and a 14-4 LSC mark to wind up as tri-champions with Stephen F. Austin State University, and Sam Houston State University.

Headed by All-American Tommy Jones, sophomore Tommie from Crane, Tex., the Jackets are expected to bus to Jackson, Tenn., Wednesday, continue their trip Thursday and open tournament play Friday afternoon against an opponent not yet named.

Jones was recently named to the 1970-71 TV Guide All-American College team.

Jones scored 570 points and posted a 20.3 mean.

Others expected to make the trip include Lee Coleman, senior three year letterman, Oakland Calif., 17.1; Eddie Nelson, senior two year letterman, Mineral Wells, 14.1; David Jones, sophomore two year letterman, Stanton, 12.3; Alan Nichols, sophomore letterman, New York City, 18.3; Donnie Voligt, junior two year letterman, San Antonio, 9.0; Steve Prensner, junior three year letterman from Pearland, and Tommy Glynn, sophomore letterman from Stanton.

Lee Rebels Rally To Triumph, 5-4

MIDLAND — Midland Lee defeated Lubbock Coronado, 5-4, in a baseball exhibition here Friday.

The Rebels scored single runs in each of the first five innings to edge the Lubbock squad. Mark Abernathy drove in two runs for Lee.

Inspecting one is a bigger job than it looks.

Looks simple. Good question. doesn't it? Couldn't they perform 17 inspections on the crankshaft alone. 20 on the steering column. More than 40 on the doors. And so it goes. Every day about 250 Volkswagens are rejected. But the other 5,000 are something to behold.

Where can they possibly find 5,000 different things to inspect?

Label Use Will Speed Refunds

DALLAS — Your income tax refund can be processed faster if you put the blue pre-addressed name label that came on your 1040 tax package onto the return you file, Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for North Texas, said today. Just peel it off the front of your tax package and place it in the box at the top of the Form 1040.

Use of the label will eliminate many errors in name and Social Security numbers that held up refunds for 37,180 taxpayers in North Texas last year, Mr. Campbell said.

Martin Holds Drilling Pace

Martin County continued to hold to fourth place among the most active counties in the Permian Basin last week with 14 rigs turning. This was one more than the week before.

According to the Reed Drilling Tools survey, Lea County, N.M., held the lead with 24 rigs, a gain of four. Pecos and Ward were tied with 18 rigs, the former losing one and the latter gaining one.

Martin County's Spraberry trend area reported two completions, and Howard County had one. Southwest Scurry County gained a location.

John L. Cox No. 1 Holloway, 1,180 from the south and 990 from the east lines section 16-37-2n, T&P, Martin County, total depth 9,250 with 4 1/2-in. on bottom, perforated from 8,434-9,185, fraced with 80,000 gallons; initial potential flow 245 barrels 40-gravity oil, no water, gas-oil ratio 639-1; tubing pressure 1,100, casing pressure 750.

Another Martin completion was John L. Cox No. 1 Lois Madison, 1,320 from the south-and east lines section 27-27n, T&P, total depth 9,200, set 4 1/2-in. on bottom, perforated from 8,382-9,177, fraced with 80,000 gallons, initial pumping production 165 barrels 39-gravity oil, plus 20 barrels water, gas-oil ratio 655-1.

In the Howard-Glasscock field, Continental Oil No. 22-A Clay, 990 from the north and 2,360 from the west lines section 13-9-29, W&NW, worked over to complete at plugged back depth of 1,900. It perforated from 1,694-1,854, acidized with 2,000 gallons, plus 28 ball sealers, fraced with 22,000 gallons, plus 60,000 pounds sand. Potential was 64 barrels 31.4-gravity oil, plus 74 barrels water per day.

H. D. Brown Jr. of Midland will attempt to re-open the Allen-Holiday (Pennsylvanian) field of extreme southwest Scurry County with the scheduling of No. 1 M. C. Dunn, eight miles southwest of Ira. Site for the project is 990 feet from north and east lines of section 74, block 20, Lavaca Navigation Co. survey, 3/4 mile south of the depleted discovery of the field—McAlester Fuel Co. No. 1-A T. P. Allen, which was finished April 8, 1952, to flow 265 barrels of 40.8-gravity oil per day.

Big Spring YMCA Announces New Special Interest, Education Classes

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Magee of El Paso, formerly of Big Spring, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Ann, to Carl Mark Goettsche of Big Spring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl N. Goettsche of Higgins. The couple plans to be married at 8 p.m., May 22, in St. Pius 10th Church in El Paso with the Rev. John E. Anderson officiating.

By JO BRIGHT
In the life style chosen by most busy Americans, precious and adequate time is set aside for leisure — special interests — informal education.
The YMCA is the means by which many people keep in touch with changing times as they learn new skills, and it is by taking advantage of the "Y's" plant facilities that they can participate in physical activity for better health and a more vigorous life.
The YMCA has announced its spring classes, along with the names of volunteers and staff members who will be giving instruction.

SCUBA
SCUBA (Self Contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus) diving is taught by Dr. Floyd R. Mays, a volunteer instructor for the past six years. He holds the YMCA SCUBA instructor national rating which is the highest an individual can obtain, and has attended several SCUBA institutes, including the national event in Dallas. A physician on the staff at Medical Arts Clinic and Hospital, he is a member of the YMCA board of directors. Approximately 75 persons have received SCUBA certification from completing the classes, at the end of which open water dives are made in area lakes. Dr. Mays and several other divers are on call in case of local emergencies.
Russell ("Rusty") Carter, a sophomore student at Howard County Junior College, is from Garden City and has been a YMCA swim instructor for almost two years. He holds the YMCA leader examiner rating, and as a member of the staff, gives swimming instruction to all ages. This spring he is teaching the lifesaving course.
Tap and ballet for ages three years and up is being taught by Mrs. Ora Burson who has been teaching at the YMCA for 11 years. She began dancing as a child under Mrs. Anne Glezendanner of Houston and accompanied her to New York schools of dancing for several summers. She is a member of Dance Masters of America and has continued her training at schools in a number of major cities. She spent four years in London while associated with the Watts School of Ballet.

SEWING
Classes in clothing construction are being taught at the YMCA by Mrs. Vernie Barr of Vincent, who teaches the Bishop Method of sewing knit garments. Begun only three months ago, the popular class has already included about 40 persons. Some knowledge of sewing is a prerequisite to enrolling in the class. Students may learn to make one or more garments with techniques from commercial clothing construction, and the classes are conducted on Thursdays.
Women who exercise regularly feel better and are healthier. One of the most popular classes at the YMCA is the Trim-Fit for Women which features both morning and evening sessions. The current instructor is Mrs. Larry Dalrymple who majored in Physical Education at Chico State College in California. The Begining Guitar is again being taught by Don Tolle who has conducted the classes for two years, during which approximately 150 students have enrolled for the training. A local guitar instructor and bandsman, Tolle worked with Johnnie Wills for 12 years and, for three years, was a staff musician for Radio Station KVOO-TV in Tulsa, Okla. He began playing professionally in bands in 1939.

Aramis Arenobia is again offering a course in conversational Spanish, the fourth she has taught at the YMCA. So far, 50 students have enrolled for these classes. Mrs. Arenobia's husband is a native of Cuba, and she has visited Cuba and speaks Spanish fluently.

women's exercise room, fully equipped, is open at all times for members of the YMCA.
Fundamentals of gymnastics, a coed group for junior high age and above, will begin April 2. The staff instructor is Larry Moreno, a student at HCJC who has attended the Southwest Leader's Institute at Baylor University. Volunteer instructors include Capt. Mike Friedel of Webb AFB, a graduate of the University of Maryland where he was a member of the gymnastic team. His specialties are the parallel bars and rings. The other volunteer is Roger Dixon, an HCJC student from Big Spring who has been active in athletics throughout his school years.

Dinner Held For Class Thursday

The home of Mrs. Don Baker, 2612 Lynn, was the scene of a Mexican dinner party Thursday evening for members of the Alathean Sunday school class of First Baptist Church.

Hostesses were the losing team in an attendance contest. The losers entertained with a mock bullfight skit, and games were played. Table decorations included Mexican paper flowers and candles.

The devotion, "The Beatitudes — Are They Pertinent to 1971?" was presented by Mrs. David Hodnett, Mrs. Don Shoemaker and Mrs. Clyde Angel. They quoted from the book, "God's Psychiatry."

The next class meeting will be a May Day luncheon hosted by Mrs. Wayne Henry and Mrs. John Wilson with the place to be announced.

Couple Will Wed At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan Jr. of Colorado City are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Janie Marie, to James McVean of Arlington. The couple will marry June 19 in the Memorial Chapel of First United Methodist Church, Colorado City.

McVean is the son of Mrs. Juanita McVean of Mansfield. Miss Morgan is a graduate of Colorado High School and is a student in the School of Medical Record Technology at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene. She will graduate in June.

'ROUND TOWN

At least four students at Texas Tech University from Big Spring took part in 25th Academic Recognition Services held in Lubbock last Sunday. Sophomores KATHRYN E. DIRKS and PAULA PAT GREEN, and freshmen DENISE ESTES and ELLEN GOSSETT were among those honored for their academic achievement. There may be others but that's all we have on record.

MR. and MRS. LLOYD WHITAKER and his mother, MRS. LESS WHITAKER of Amarillo paid a short overnight visit to MR. and MRS. A. W. MOODY Wednesday. They left early Thursday.

A happy grandmother is MRS. EDWIN BALLARD whose grandson, JAMES RANDOLPH DELCOUR was born Feb. 26 in Seattle, Wash. His parents are MR. and MRS. BOB DELCOUR.

MR. and MRS. ROBERT O. CLARK plan to return this weekend from Galesburg, Kan., where they have been to see her parents, both of whom have been ill.

MR. and MRS. CHARLES SWEENEY and MARK are in Houston to spend a long weekend with the other son and his

Redecorate With Surprising Style

Planning to redecorate a little or a lot? You could start with a room full of new furniture or you could decorate around what you have, adding what may be called the surprise. But, very important surprises.

A growing scarcity of wood in Europe, coupled with advances in technology and creative design is leading to highly unusual furniture. Some is way out by conventional standards. Bases are vacuum-formed plastic with cushions covered in slick, shiny, flexible plastic.

family, MR. and MRS. CHARLES (Chip) SWEENEY and their family.

The MERRILL CREIGHTONS have returned from a short trip to Lake Brownwood and San Angelo where they attended an oil jobbers' meeting. They expected their daughter, MRS. SHARRON STETTLER and her husband of Lubbock down for the weekend.

MRS. PETE WARREN has been in Abilene visiting for several days.

MRS. MAURISCE ALLEN and MRS. CHESTER MATHENY plan to leave Midland Monday for a stay of several days in Las Vegas, Nev.

MRS. ARNOLD MARSHALL is easier than ever to get along with these days, as she has to depend on someone to do just about everything but walk and talk for her. In a fall two weeks ago she broke her left wrist and badly sprained her right one.

SUSAN POBST, CHRIS PROCTER and DAVID PICKLE are to return today from Odessa where they have spent the weekend with Susan's parents, MR. and MRS. DAVID F. POBST.

Miss Vicki Burchell Weds William Roan

The wedding of Miss Vicki Burchell and William C. Roan was solemnized Friday in an afternoon ceremony performed in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Landon Burchell, 510 Scott.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jess N. Roan of Ada, Okla., and the late Mr. Roan.

The nuptial rites were read by the Rev. Dale Cain, pastor of East Fourth Baptist Church, as the wedding party stood before an improvised altar. The setting was enhanced by standing baskets of white gladioli and carnations flanking a center arrangement of emerald palms.

MRS. WILLIAM C. ROAN

WHITE SATIN
The bride was attired in a street-length wedding dress of white satin overlaid with Chantilly lace on the bodice. The Victorian neckline featured a high lace ruffle, and the long lace sleeves were scalloped at the wrists. The back of the high-rise waist was marked with a satin and lace bow. Her head-dress was a white lace bow adorned with pearls and ribbons tendrils to which were attached tiny white blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations centered with a white orchid and tied with satin streamers.

Mrs. Gregg Ryan attended the bride as matron of honor, attired in a street-length pale blue dress with fitted bodice, and her corsage was of white carnations.

The bridegroom's brother, Lucian Roan of Amarillo, served as best man.

RECEPTION

Immediately after the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the home where Miss Phyllis Faulkner and Miss Kim Guthrie assisted in the house party.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a blue cloth and overlaid with

Spice Your Rooms
With New Colors

If your avocado green and gold color scheme looks too set and tired to you, try a carpet of gleaming copper color and accessories of robin's egg blue and pewter.

If your beige and brown family room seems too familiar, add a multi-colored carpet of reds and oranges, some 'pow' pillows of fur fabrics, chrome accessories and make an exciting stitchery wall hanging on a bright yellow burlap background.

If your teen-age daughter has suddenly grown up and out-grown her pink and white room, use a seal brown rug, smoky Plexiglass accessories and apricot tones to spice up the decor and keep her home a while longer.

Law Allows Persons To See Credit Rating

The Fair Credit Reporting Act, recently passed into law, was reviewed in a discussion led by Mrs. J. B. Apple for the Big Spring Credit Women Thursday at the Settles Hotel.

The act states that a consumer may review his credit file if he has the proper identification, and that a third party, other than husband or wife, may be present if there is a signed statement that it is all right for him to see the report.

If a person has been denied credit within the past 30 days, he may review his credit report without charge. A charge may be made, however, if the review is not the result of a recent credit denial.

A credit file contains the subject's name, address, marital status, social security number, place of employment, length of employment, number of dependents, income, public record information and a credit history. The history shows whether payment on previous purchases has been on time, slow, or unsatisfied.

An error in a credit file will be rechecked if brought to the attention of the credit bureau. If the report is inaccurate, they will remove it from the file. If a person feels the report is unjustified, he may submit a 100 word statement detailing the transaction disputed, and the statement will be shown along with the rest of the report to future creditors.

If a person is refused credit due to a bad report, the store must supply the name and address of the bureau supplying the report. When a store goes directly to the references listed on an application for credit and then refuses credit to a person, they must tell him the transaction which caused the refusal, but may not reveal the name of the store where the transaction was made.

The length of time adverse information remains in a file varies from 7 to 14 years. The fair credit reporting act primarily covers credit ratings for personal, family and household goods, rather than for professional transactions.

Mrs. C. W. Mahoney presided at the business meeting, and Mrs. William E. Adams was a guest. Mrs. Apple was elected delegate to the state convention May 18-19 in Corpus Christi and Mrs. Ivalette Marr was named delegate.

Britishers Hear Talk By Doctor

Dr. (Lt. Col.) Sidney H. Custis, USAF Hospital commander at Webb, spoke to the British Wives Club about the organization of the hospital, and the services it provides, at the John H. Lees Service Club Thursday evening.

In addition, the hospital services about a 100-mile radius for any government employe. For special problems which the hospital is not staffed or equipped to handle, specialists are called in from Big Spring or patients are flown to other hospitals.

Mrs. Jimmy Lann won the white elephant gift, and Mrs. Herman Stanley won a bouquet of flowers for her mother in England. The refreshment table was decorated with an off-white Nottingham lace cloth and willow-patterned tea service. The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., April 1, at the service club.

There are more than 300 diseases caused by viruses that we know of. Because of the way they are structured, the several strains of a particular type of virus vary in their ability to infect us with the disease they cause. These variations give us hope of eventually being able to cure virus diseases by developing very mild strains and then inoculating with them to provide immunity. # Howard County Clubs View Safety At Home, Traveling

Home safety, health and drying flowers were among topics viewed last week at meetings of Howard County Home Demonstration clubs. More complete plans were made for the upcoming arts and crafts exhibit and sale at Highland Center Mall.

COLLEGE PARK CLUB

Mrs. Guy Cook demonstrated how to dry flowers and foliage for the College Park Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the HD agent's office.

Mrs. Cook suggested removing stems and inserting wire stems. She said some types of flowers can be dried in a mixture of borax, corn meal or builders sand.

Flowers are often preserved better by using a floral spray or hair spray on them. Glycerine water is also used on some foliage. Mrs. Cook said that mature foliage dries best, and that in this area the time to collect it is in July, August or September.

Mrs. J. C. Williams presided, and Mrs. Herb Clark was hostess for a salad luncheon. Green candles and leprechauns were used for a centerpiece. A white elephant sale followed the luncheon.

Guests were Miss Wanda Musick, Miss Shirley Ray, Mrs. Alma Williams, Mrs. Brian Minturn and Mrs. Ralph Mitchell. The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., April 6, in the home of Mrs. Cook, 1006 E. 21st. Mrs. Dale Smith will give a program on flower arranging.

COAHOMA HD CLUB

"Nutrition and the Heart" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County home demonstration agent, for the Coahoma Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ray Swann.

Mrs. Crawford emphasized the importance of eating low-fat foods to keep down cholesterol content in the body. She also said people must be careful about the amount of salt they eat, and that physical exercise is important to the proper functioning of the heart.

Mrs. Ray Swann presided, and members discussed the arts and crafts exhibit scheduled at Highland Center Mall May 13. The next meeting is an Easter breakfast at 9 a.m., April 9 at Coker's Restaurant.

FAIRVIEW CLUB

Mrs. H. S. Hanson and Mrs. Shirley Fryar talked about personal safety for the Fairview Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the Hanson home, 1605 Vines. They told about precautions women can take to prevent burglary and robbery attempts, and what to do in the case of such an attempt.

Mrs. E. A. Williams presided, and plans were made for a salad luncheon at the all-day meeting at 9 a.m., Tuesday in the home of Mrs. L. A. Griffith, Oasis Acres.

The six members attending the district convention April 1 in Muleshoe will be Mrs. Fryar, Mrs. J. F. Skalicky, Mrs. F. B. Wilson, Mrs. C. A. Smauley, Mrs. Hanson and Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Marvin Boyd, a guest, won the attendance prize. The next regular meeting is at 2 p.m., April 6 in the home of Mrs. Irene McKinley, 617 Colgate.

ELBOW CLUB

Preventive safety precautions were discussed by Mrs. B. J. Petty for the Elbow Home Demonstration Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. R. W. Doyle, Wasson Road.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," said

ESA PLANNING DISTRICT MEET

Rho Delta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha will host the District Eight meeting in McCamey April 18 at the McCamey Park Building. The theme will be "Boom Days of ESA." Officers for the 1970-71 year will be elected and installed by Martha Hardin, state president, assisted by Mrs. Brunell Harvey, district president.

Mrs. Petty. She suggested always locking the house and car doors, and said to be certain all deliveries are stopped when you are away from home.

Mrs. R. P. Morton talked about the effect of drugs, and said it was important to read instructions for medicine carefully, whether prescription or over the counter. She said to never take medicine belonging to another person, and that if different effects occur than what the doctor or the bottle said, don't take any more until you have contacted the doctor.

Mrs. Lewis Soles presided, and Mrs. Doyle gave the devotion. Guests were Mrs. C. D. Howell and Mrs. P. E. Riddle Jr. The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., April 1 in the home of Mrs. R. B. Covington Jr., 2405 Carleton.

LOMAX CLUB

"Home Safety" and "Kids and Heroin" were subjects discussed by Mrs. Waymon Etchison for the Lomax Home Demonstration Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. Cecil Long. Emphasizing the importance of locking doors, Mrs. Etchison said that in 25 per cent of all home burglaries, entry is made through an unlocked door.

"The heroin epidemic has hit us," said Mrs. Etchison in the second part of her program. "We must face that fact before we can solve the problem. In our wildest nightmares, we never dreamed of what we are seeing today." She went on to tell some of the effects of drugs.

Mrs. Etchison presided at the business meeting, and five cakes were donated for the arts and crafts exhibit April 13 at the Highland Center Mall. The next meeting is at 2 p.m., April 15 in the home of Mrs. L. L. McIlvain. Mrs. Crawford will present a program on the heart and nutrition.

Guests speaker was Sgt. Claude Morris of the Big Spring Police Department who showed the film, "The Trip Back," concerning misuse of drugs. He told the medical and slang names for various drugs, described how they are taken and effects each has on the body. He concluded by telling what signs to look for to determine if a person is using drugs.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Spivey, 1301 Madison.

TELLS PLANS - Mr. and Mrs. Bob Carlile, 1000 E. 21st, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Cathlynn, to James Eldon Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffin, 1320 Stadium. The couple will exchange vows June 12 in the College Baptist Church.

Birthday Dinner Held

The Rev. Kenneth Patrick of First Baptist Church was guest speaker for the 19th annual birthday banquet sponsored by the Baptist Temple senior adult department Thursday.

Rev. Patrick told those present that they were a group with an unfinished task. He compared them to a temple, being built with a firm foundation and durable materials, that would stand through time "regardless of the weather of life, because it is undergirded with time and prayer." About 60 people attended the banquet which celebrated the theme, "Everybody's Birthday." Tables were decorated to portray the seasons of the year, and each guest sat at the table with the month of his birthday.

Mrs. Alph Page was decoration chairman. The spring table was decorated by Mrs. J. T. Culpepper, using pastel spring flowers with a centerpiece of Easter lillies and eggs.

For the summer table, Mrs. Ross Hill used a patriotic theme, with red, white and blue flags. The fall table, done by Mrs. Rex Edwards, depicted a fall harvest, and the table was centered with a cake and gold candlesticks. A red and green cake centered the winter table which was done in a Christmas theme by Mrs. Bill Sandridge.

Alvin Smith, director of the senior adult department, made the welcoming address, and Doyle Grice served as emcee. The invocation was by Hollis Shirley, and the benediction by Alph Page. Mrs. Lydia Sorrows was honored as the oldest member.

NEITHER DUST NOR WIND have kept the John R. Scotts from getting settled in their new home in Big Spring. Arriving recently from Tulsa, Okla., Dr. Scott has joined the staff at Cowper Clinic and Hospital. Mrs. Scott has been busy arranging the house and meeting people.

Spring Dust Storms Say 'Howdy, Podner'

By BARBARA LORD
The John R. Scotts, 705 Highland, arrived in Big Spring three weeks ago today, and although they have been greeted with a barrage of dust storms, they already feel very much at home in the city. They are optimistic that the dust can't last forever and are impressed with the city's hospitality.

"The people here certainly make you feel welcome," Mrs. Scott said. "Everybody is friendly. The neighbors have been over, and even when I go into a store, the sales people are exceptionally nice."

Dr. Scott is a new addition to the staff at Cowper Clinic and Hospital. He and Mrs. Scott came here from Tulsa, Okla., where they had lived for about three years. Tulsa has more greenery than Big Spring, but the Scotts like it here, nevertheless. Their back yard has an abundance of various types of trees, some of which are now in bloom.

"I like trees," said Mrs. Scott, "and I'm glad the former owners planted some in the yard. This whole house is really perfect for us. If I had built it myself I don't think I would have done anything different."

EARLY AMERICAN
The home is done in attractive Early American decor, with a touch of Spanish in one bedroom. The Scotts have converted another bedroom into a study where he can do office work.

Mrs. Scott has a large kitchen where she can practice the gourmet dishes she learned in a cooking class at Tulsa. The eight-week course taught fancy but practical meals, and she looks forward to trying them all.

Another favorite pastime of Mrs. Scott's is sewing, although she places herself in the amateur stage of the art. She was also taking sewing lessons when they left Tulsa and hopes to be able to continue them here.

"I never knew whether or not I could sew, but you gotta try sometime so I thought I'd find out," she said, "and I really love it. You can make such smart looking things, and some of the fabrics now are fabulous."

The Scotts both play a little bridge, and Dr. Scott enjoys golf. They like entertaining and prefer dinner parties with a

Deadline Nearing For 'Miss Wool' Entries

Miss Wool & Mohair of Texas contest officials have issued a "last call" for applicants for the 1971 contest to be held in Dallas on May 24.

Final deadline is April 1. The 20th annual contest will present 15 finalists before an audience of women's apparel buyers attending the fall-winter women's apparel market in the Great Hall of Dallas Apparel Mart.

To succeed Judy Womack of Hillsboro, the new Miss Wool & Mohair of Texas will be selected following a special presentation of trend-setter styles of wool and mohair. Basic rules of the contest are: contestants must be between the ages of 18 and 25, be a minimum height of 5-foot-7 and no taller than 5-foot-10, be able to wear a size 8, 9 or 10 dress and have completed at least one year of study at an accredited college or university or be currently enrolled as a second semester freshman.

According to contest officials, great stress will be placed on modeling ability, personality, poise and intelligence. There is no talent competition involved in the selection of Miss Wool & Mohair. To the winner of the coveted title will go a full year of travel and public appearances. Generally, Miss Wool & Mohair of Texas will appear as featured model in style shows for retail stores in Texas. Additionally, she makes numerous appearances at such events as the State Fair of Texas. To climax her reign, she represents Texas in the Miss Wool of America Pageant.

While official application forms were sent to sororities, deans of women and deans of homemaking departments at Texas colleges, interested young women may still secure application forms from Fecher Advertising, 301 W. Beauregard, San Angelo, Tex., 76901.

The rewards to the title winner are numerous. She receives an extensive wardrobe of wool and mohair apparel, completely accessorized. To add a little "extra" to the benefits, she receives the use of a new car during her reign.

Discover Fascinating Uses For Your Electric Blender

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
(County HD Agent)

Portable appliances have come a long way since the first bulky utilitarian models. They are doing more chores, and their variety has increased greatly. Because of this, buying know-how becomes even more essential.

There are some general considerations for buying any portable appliance. These include the design, care required, construction, storage needed, operation. Underwriters Laboratory listing, usefulness of the appliance, warranty and service.

An appliance that is enjoying some measure of popularity is the blender. A blender is an appliance designed to liquify, puree, grate, blend, or chop food. Before buying a blender decide whether a blender or mixer will be more useful, or perhaps you will have need of both.

There are several features to look for in the selection of the blender that will best suit your needs. You may not find all the features that you would like on any one model. Choose the blender that comes closest to having those features that you want.

BLENDER FEATURES

Some of the things to consider

1. A high speed motor covered with chromed steel, baked enamel or metal.
2. A motor that is permanently lubricated designed so that the motor is protected from spills.
3. The weight of the blender should be sturdy enough to be steady during operation, but light enough to store and move easily.
4. The cutting blades should be of rust-proof steel which will readily cut foods without becoming dull over a long period of use.
5. The food container may be of glass or sturdy plastic. The container needs a wide opening, be light weight with a convenient handle and a spout for easy pouring. Check to see that the container fits securely on the base.
6. The cover of the container may be of plastic or hard rubber. A small removable cap in the center of the cover is handy for adding ingredients while the blender blades are in action.
7. The controls need to be easy to read and easy to operate.
8. There are a variety of speeds available on different brands and models. High, medium, and low may be sufficient for most blending, chopping, and grating.
9. The shape of the blender is important. Choose one that is not top heavy, and one that will fit under the cabinet when sitting on the counter.
10. Some blenders have removable cutting blades that can be attached to any standard jar. This will allow you to have a variety of sizes of containers to use with the blender.

grated, chopped, or shredded in the blender. Dried cheese may be shredded or pulverized. Cheeses may be blended with other foods for dips. The blender is very convenient for making bread, cracker, or cookie crumbs. It is convenient for mixing various sauces and dressings.

What won't a blender do? No single appliance will do every kitchen job, and a blender has limitations. It won't whip egg whites, crush ice cubes (without a special attachment), chop raw meats.

INSTRUCTIONS
Practice and the instruction book will teach you the different times and speeds needed for various jobs. Dryness of the food and the desired texture will determine the time and speed. It often helps to turn the control off and on several times to chop solid foods.

The care of the blender is simple. To wash, fill the blender jar half full with warm water. Add a dash of soap or detergent. Cover, blend on low speed for a few seconds. Rinse thoroughly. Leave the jar uncovered until thoroughly dry. Wipe the motor base with a damp cloth.

If you have a blender that you are not using, get it out and see what interesting things you can do with it after a little practice.

HYPERION CLUB SPEAKER

Hinduism Described By Niranjana Sharma

Niranjana Sharma, a native of Nepal, but presently a case worker in the field of drug addiction and alcoholism at the Big Spring State Hospital, presented the program on Hinduism for members of the 1948 Hyperion Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. Roy-Lamb, with Mrs. Henry Thompson serving as cohostess.

NATIVE DRESS
Sharma was assisted in his presentation by his wife, Karen, who is a grand-niece of Roberta Gay and also a cousin of Edith Gay, both of Big Spring. Mr.

and Mrs. Sharma wore authentic native costumes. Mrs. Sharma's was accentuated by the red marking on her forehead to signify that she is a married woman with a living husband.

Sharma emigrated to the United States in 1966 on a Fulbright Scholarship. He attained a master of education degree from Texas Christian University and has done work toward his doctorate. He has been associated with the Big Spring hospital for four years. He became a Christian before coming to this country and he and his wife worship at a local church. Sharma's grandfather is the High Priest of one branch of Hinduism and he was in line to be the successor after his father.

ORIGINS
The origins of Hinduism go back 4,000 years. Its more than 315 million followers believe it is the fountainhead of all religions. There is fundamentally one God, however, there are 33,000 various gods and goddesses and even more devils to confront.

A Hindu child is started in religious instruction at the age of eight. He is a student until he is 18. He spends many years in the home of his teacher. He then returns home and usually marries and takes up a profession. The third stage comes with retirement at age 40 or 50 when he gives up responsibilities. The fourth stage is total time devoted to God.

REINCARNATION
Hindus believe in reincarnation between animals until the soul finally enters that of a human. Then the soul is not transmuted but goes either to Heaven or Hell.

Cows are considered sacred and can not be slaughtered, however, the milk is nourishing and not taboo. Hindus consider their religion very tolerant. They have their rituals and believe strongly in prayer and the home temple. Cultures vary but have similarities.

Sixteen members attended. Mrs. Robert Hurst and Mrs. Bill Early were guests in addition to the couple who presented the program. The next meeting will be a guest tea at the Big Spring Country Club April 15.

Hindus admit many different approaches to God and the ways to reach him — genius, emotionalism, good works, etc.

There are three major gods in the religion — Brahma, the Creator; Shiva, the Destroyer and Bishma, the Protector. A Hindu can be faithful to only one of the three major Gods.

VARIOUS USES
A few points to consider in the use of the blender should be considered. For thick mixtures, limit the volume in the blender to not more than one half the capacity of the jar. If the mixture is thin as a free-flowing liquid, the container may be filled two-thirds full. Put liquids into the blender first, then add dry ingredients. Use only small, long, thin rubber spatula, never a metal utensil to scrape the side of the jar. Stop the motor before scraping the sides.

While the blender won't do everything, it does a number of things well. Fruits and vegetables may be pureed for special diets, to make baby food, and blended drinks. Vegetables and fruits may be

Quotable Quotes

By The Associated Press
Some quotable quotes from women during the week:
"What does bra burning today prove? You're minus a good bra." —Henrietta Credo Schwab, 83-year-old grandmother who marched for female rights 60 years ago.

"It's really that old mother image. I rebel against it, but if it's to your advantage, you play your strong suit." — Rev. Elizabeth Platz, first woman Lutheran minister, chaplain at the University of Maryland, where she counseled college students.

"I was too friendly with the players and I kept stopping in the middle of the game to put on lipstick. I found that wasn't a good thing to do." — Bernice Gera, who filed a sex discrimination suit against organized baseball in an effort to become a professional umpire, talking about her early days at umpire school in Florida.

"Many men talk about the tremendous relief they are finding when women aren't playing the helpless role. It means men are no longer forced to role play either. And I love the idea of men and women being able to be friends." — Actress Janice Rule, wife of actor Ben Gazzara, in an interview.

Oh, Lord, Grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference. A.M.E.N.

At Last, Boys Have A Place Of Their Own For Activities

By LINDA CROSS
With the acquisition of a building as a permanent site for activities, the board of directors of the Big Spring Boys' Club is beginning to achieve a goal that was set in 1967.

On July 6, 1967, the board was organized to provide a

Trustees Won't Meet Tuesday

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School Board will not meet Tuesday at their regular time. According to School Superintendent S. M. Anderson, the lack of pressing business and the inability of some of the trustees to attend resulted in the cancelling of the meeting.

Anderson added that if any urgent matters should come up, a special meeting of the board would be called.

Pot Trial Set

The 118th District Court trial of Bruce Bright, 18, is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday. He was picked up July 25, 1970, and indicted Sept. 3, 1970, for possession of marijuana.

clubhouse for recreation and the learning of skills for Big Spring boys aged 6 through 18. Until the new site at 212 E 3rd was donated to the club, the board had been unable to provide a permanent site to house the boys' activities.

The Big Spring Boys' Club first opened its doors in May, 1968, at 304 Gregg. The next site was at 214 1/2 E. 2nd, which will remain in use until renovation of the new building is completed. At none of the other sites were the directors able to provide all the facilities they would have wished for the boys because the buildings were obtained on a temporary basis.

Bert Andries was elected president of the first board and has served in that capacity since. The only other member of the original board still active with the group is Bill Crooker.

With the donation of the building on Third to the club by a prominent Big Spring resident, plans for long desired facilities were put into operation.

Andries, helped largely by the older members of the club, began the work on the renovation of the building. Men experienced in carpentry have since offered their help.

With a new coat of paint and old partitions taken down to provide airy, spacious rooms, the building is beginning to emerge as the long-dreamed-of clubhouse — almost.

The plans for the completed clubhouse include a well-fitted gym, a game room, a room equipped for leather and ceramic crafts, a woodworking shop, a furnished television lounge, and a library equipped with movie and slide projectors.

The directors also hope to purchase a 35-passenger bus to enable them to take more of the boys on trips. The cost of this remodeling project is $14,154. The club is financed largely through donations. The boys are charged 50 cents per year, which entitles them to all clubhouse and swimming pool facilities. The directors lease the pool from the city at a nominal fee for use by club members.

An open house for public inspection of the new building is tentatively set for April 15. The club is still a long way from representing the goal set by the directors. A fund drive is underway, and the board has contacted many interested persons by mail.

Anyone interested in helping to provide a place in which boys may play and learn can contact any of the board members. Other members are Mrs. Fred Hyer, first vice president; Willard Hendrick, second vice president; and Mrs. Virginia Black, secretary-treasurer.

who is a close friend of Mr. Anthony, presented the check to Jerry Worthy, president and Mrs. Clyde Angel, vice president and membership chairman of the Heritage Museum.

"This is in keeping with an Anthony policy of being vitally interested in the communities which it serves," said Grigsby.

Notification of the grant came from Ray T. Anthony, president of C. R. Anthony Co., noting that the "C. R. Anthony Foundation has approved a $1,000 contribution to Heritage Museum, and we are glad to join with the people of Big Spring in this endeavor."

Worthy expressed gratitude for the gift, noting that it would be of immeasurable help in trying to meet a goal of an opening April 18. The museum home, formerly the location of the Howard County Free Library and originally the home of the late Dora Roberts whose estate gave it to the county, is in process of being refinished.

Plans call for a display of early-day photographs as the first exhibit, and in this connection the Museum is anxious to have as many photographs as possible which will reflect the history of Big Spring and area.

Those who have pictures which they will give to the museum are urged to bring them to Miss Gladys Hardy, curator, at the museum, together with as much identification or information about the picture as they can furnish.

Of course, other items which reflect the heritage of this area are welcomed.

Plans call for changing the exhibits every two or three months so that specific subjects can be spotlighted. Some things may remain on permanent exhibit, but others may be rotated to reflect topical matter such as ranches, pioneer women, schools, early businesses and professions, etc.

The museum is in need of many things, among them a serviceable business desk, or a commercial type vacuum cleaner (which is needed urgently for cleaning). If anyone has such items they can give to the museum, they are asked to see Miss Hardy or contact Worthy.

Dangerous Combination

The grass and brush fire in the Silver Heels area last week burned over a few hundred acres and caused some anxious moments. Several homes were in or near its path, and fears were expressed that the flames might crawl up the back side of South Mountain, leap over into the brush area above Highland South. Fortunately the blaze was contained without much damage other than to the grassland.

Not so lucky are many other West Texas points. A range fire in the Breckenridge area burned over thousands of acres last week. If you drive in any direction for any distance in West Texas, you likely will come upon areas which were blackened by pasture fires.

The combination is right for more of these serious and even dangerous blazes to sweep through the countryside. We are in the midst of a prolonged and severe drought. Showers last September produced growth of grass and weeds in a number of sectors, and these long since have become tinder dry. In addition, winds have blown paper and other trash far and wide so that the supply of fuel is ideal for wildfire. Add to this almost continuously high winds.

There are a few things which all of us can do to avoid a costly blaze of this type. First, be doubly cautious against tossing out cigarettes or cigars, or matches (a few lawns have been ignited by careless smokers flipping these items from their cars).

Second, make certain that there is a wide swath cleared around your house, barns and other outbuildings, or from next to your wooden fences. This may at least spare your property.

Third, you might keep a water hose or containers of water handy in event sparks from a fire jump your fire guards and land on your buildings.

High wind and parched vegetation make dangerous combination. They must be handled with extreme care.

Community Climate

Today marks the beginning of a series of evangelistic services in which more than two dozen churches in a number of denominations are participating. From the point of planning and sponsorship, this shapes up as the most major effort of its kind in these parts. Undoubtedly, the attendance, representing the combined congregations of so many churches, will be many times as large as any single effort, and this should generate an enthusiasm that will make it even larger.

This deserves the attention of all concerned about such matters, for as it touches the lives of individuals, it will affect also the general climate of concern in the community. The crusade will be the biggest, and most important, thing going on this week.

Plenty Of Room

Around The Rim

Bob Whipkey

On those days when I think I want to get away from it all, a still small voice says "you haven't even been to Loving County."

Most people must know that this political area not many miles west of us is about normal for Texas counties in acreage but its population, as of 1970 was 164 souls.

LOVING COUNTY has been unduly worried about the population explosion, and its citizens very likely are not unduly worried about anything else, unless it is a common concern for more rainfall.

There just couldn't be many things to worry you in Loving County. First place, if you moved in by yourself you would have only 164 neighbors, whose number is fewer than on a typical six-block street. It's nice just have a few neighbors, all of them friendly.

AND THEN, you wouldn't be annoyed much by the telephone ringing at odd and unwelcome hours. There are only 20 telephones in Loving County, and an item as precious as that surely would not be over-used, but kept ready for real emergencies.

You wouldn't have much of a traffic problem. There are only about 40 autos in the entire county. There may not be many miles of road either, but those few miles ought to be safe ones.

YOU WOULDN'T be upset over the farm problem. The last business census said there was only one farm in the county, and the fellow with enough courage to operate that one very likely is not bothered with government agents.

You might, of course, be concerned with the price of cattle. Virtually the entire county is in ranching. And, as to be expected, you would want to keep up with the price of oil. There are three oil wells per person in Loving County which, when you come to think of it, is a pretty fat ratio.

TEXAS DOES a lot of tub thumping about its tourist attractions. Fact is, a recent report shows that over 21,000,000 out-of-staters visited us in 1970, and dropped about a billion and a half bucks in the local tills while doing so.

Nice going, but these people seem to be directed toward the coastal country, the wooded areas of East Texas, the beautiful parks in the Hill Country, and to the gradeur of the Big Bend. I would say offhand that Dallas and Houston have all the visitors they reasonably can take care of, and if somebody wants to offer a rather distinctive facet of tourist attraction, he might start pointing people to Loving County.

YOU CAN BET that its 164 people are friendly and downright sociable, and the visitor would be warmly received. In addition, the tourist would have an opportunity of just traveling and looking, traveling and looking and on into infinity, with nobody crowding him off the freeway, beating him to a motel room, over-pricing him for services and generally making him want to drop out of the human race. Things must be nice and quiet in Loving County. I'm going there some day.

How Do You Rate?

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The big constitutional battle raging in the country at the moment is how much the government and private enterprise should know and reveal about their citizens.

It is no longer a problem to store information on 200 million people. Thanks to our third and fourth generation computers it is now possible for the government and the credit people to retrieve data on anybody in a few seconds.

But the real problem is what "facts" are going into the computer and who is putting them there.

ALL INVESTIGATIVE agencies — public and private — have to get their facts by talking to your neighbors, relatives, school officials, alumni, employers, fellow employees, and anybody else who might shed some light on your secret life.

As a public service we have decided to give you a quiz to see how well you would do if someone, using these sources, were investigating you.

1-NEIGHBORS — The investigator starts ringing doorbells in your neighborhood. What happens when he talks to the lady who's mad at your kid because he keeps riding his bike on her lawn? How about the guy down the street whom you reported to the police because he wouldn't curb his dog? What about the couple in the next apartment who think you are a Commie because you play Bob Dylan records? Or the lady who lives in the back, whom you told off when she tried to get you to vote for Goldwater?

Make a list of all the neighbors and give yourself two points if they would say anything nice about you.

2-RELATIVES — What kind of an impression would the investigator get if he talked to: (A) the brother-in-law you turned down for a loan last month (B) the sister you haven't spoken to for years because she tried to steal your husband (C) the cousin you offended when you didn't come to his daughter's wedding (D) the uncle whom you refuse to visit because he's a bore (E) your mother-in-law.

This part of the quiz is for divorced people. How will you fare when the investigator speaks to your (A) ex-wife? (B) her present husband? (C) your ex-husband who is still paying alimony and child support? (D) his present wife? (E) your ex-wife's lawyer? (F) your ex-husband's mother?

3-EMPLOYMENT — How well do you think you'll do when the investigator talks to your former employers? What about Mr. Miller who told you if you left the firm, you'd never get another job? Or Mr. O'Brien with whom you refused to go to dinner after you took some late dictation? And don't forget your fellow employee, who still believes he should have gotten a promotion before you did.

IF YOU THINK you can withstand an investigation after a gumshoe gets finished speaking to all the people I have just mentioned, then you have passed the test and have absolutely nothing to worry about.

But if you believe one of the above people will rat on you, then you've had it for the rest of your days. The one thing an enemy and a computer have in common is that neither one of them ever forgets.

Recovery Pace Cools

By CAROLE MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nixon administration's expectations for a sharp economic recovery during this quarter were somewhat shaken this past week by a sluggish rise in personal income and a decline in industrial production.

However, the White House welcomed a "encouraging news" report Friday that the cost of living had registered its smallest two-month rise in four years in January and February.

The administration had fore-

- Advances in personal income and earnings are sluggish
- However, cost of living shows smallest two-month rise
- Stock market gains confidence, but automakers lose some
- Something new—million dollars of box cars are stolen
- Amex president resigns to take investment banking post cast that personal income would average $68 billion this year in setting its economic goals.

But with the small February rise of $2.2 billion, that would require an average monthly advance of more than $5.5 billion through the rest of the year.

OFF THE PACE

The Commerce Department's report that personal income failed to register a significant increase last month followed the Federal Reserve Board's announcement that industrial output fell during February.

The Fed's index of factory, mine and utility output dropped 4 per cent.

Meanwhile, there were indications that automakers might be less confident now about prospects for a 10-million car sales year in 1971. Sources in Detroit said the industry tentatively has set second-quarter production schedules at levels some analysts believe would more closely parallel a 9.5-million total sales year.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics' report on the cost of living showed prices rose 0.2 per cent in February after a 0.1 per cent rise in January.

This was the smallest two-month increase since February-March of 1967 when prices also rose a total of 0.3 per cent. None of the week's developments appeared to undermine the growing confidence in the stock market.

MARKET BOUYED

After the previous week's hesitation, the Dow Jones industrial average closed above 900 Monday for the first time since June 11, 1969, when it was at 904.60. The uptrend in the market held throughout the week.

A big surprise on Wall Street was Ralph Saul's announcement that he would resign as president of the American Stock Exchange to become vice chairman of First Boston Corp., a prestigious investment-banking concern. Saul, 48, became president of the Amex in November, 1966.

In other business developments this past week:

—The House voted to halt federal spending to develop the super-sonic transport SST, effective March 3.

—A U.S. attorney in Philadelphia said more than $1 million worth of Penn Central freight cars were stolen in the past year and routed onto the tracks on the small LaSalle & Bureau County Railroad in Illinois.

FED Thinks Tax Relief Is Better Than Looser Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another member of the Federal Reserve Board has called on the Nixon administration to turn to tax relief rather than easier money to spur the nation's slack economy.

Andrew F. Brimmer thus joined the central bank's chairman, Arthur F. Burns, in urging publicly that tax cuts become the prime stimulus in President Nixon's economic plan for 1971.

Brimmer said in a Friday night speech at Dallas that the economy is suffering from a "serious shortage of effective demand" reflected in pessimism by consumers and businesses.

The independent central bank is pumping enough money into the economy to foster growth, he said, and already may have provided more money "than the economy can use productively in the near term."

Brimmer's speech bared even more sharply the basic policy conflict between Nixon's economic advisers and the Federal Reserve.

The administration has urged the Fed to pursue strongly expansive monetary policies — low interest rates and easy credit — to fire up the economy and push it toward Nixon's goal of a nine-per-cent growth in output of goods and services this year.

No Trade Bill

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — There will be no trade bill out of this Congress. That is the blunt warning delivered by blunt-spoken Rep. Wilbur D. Mills to all and sundry from the White House on down. As chairman of the Ways and Means Committee which initiates trade and tariff legislation, Mills knows what he is talking about.

TO SAY that everybody is unhappy over President Nixon's action in snapping down a voluntary Japanese quota on textiles imported to this country is the height of understatement. No 1 on the list is Mills himself. Acting as unofficial intermediary for representatives of the Japanese textile industry, he had thought he was doing a good turn that would end the long stalemate between the American industry and the freight exporters.

MILLS IS convinced that every effort the White House made fell short. One reason was that the American Textile Manufacturers Institute had been given a veto. With the Nixon 1968 pledge of protection for textiles unpermitted, they were not satisfied with any limit the Japanese would accept.

So now with the President's slap down of the Mills agreement they have nothing.

LAST YEAR the White House persuaded the Ways and Means chairman to put through a trade bill. It provided quotas not only for textiles but also for shoes, along with a provision known as the "Byrnes basket" after Rep. John W. Byrnes, the ranking Republican on the committee. By a complicated formula the Byrnes basket provided for quotas applied when imports reached a certain level on a wide range of commodities. It could be invoked, according to a study made by the Tariff Commission, against television, radio and other electronic devices, sewing machines, various electrical gadgets and perhaps autos.

THE BILL died in the Senate toward the end of the session. It had caused widespread concern in Western Europe with the threat that a trade war would almost certainly follow the imposition of quotas. Europe is a massive importer of American goods, particularly farm products, up to a total of $1.5 billion annually.

AS MILLS knows out of long experience, the prescription for a trade bill in 1971 with the slowdown in the economy would make 1970 look modest by comparison. The stampede of members each with a special interest would result in quotas for textiles, shoes, television sets and radios as well as other electronic manufactures. In deference to Byrnes' Wisconsin constituents it would almost certainly include mink skins. Having been led down the garden path to wrestle a quota bill through his committee and through the House last year, the Ways and Means chairman has no intention of trying to cope with such a monstrosity.

Plan For Mideast

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The part that the United States will play in the negotiations and the maintenance of peace in the Middle East has been spelled out by Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The United States is not going to undertake this as an individual responsibility but will participate in any joint effort with other nations to preserve the peace once an agreement between Egypt and Israel is reached.

WHEN AN ARRANGEMENT is consummated between the two sides, Secretary Rogers says, the United States is willing "to play a responsible and appropriate role in a peace-keeping force." He declares that no effort has been made to dictate or lay down any particular ways by which such a peacekeeping force will operate but that international guarantees are being discussed by the four powers — the United States, the Soviet Union, Great Britain and France — in their talks on the Mideast. He adds that this force would not necessarily be limited to the four powers but could include other countries.

THE FIRST STEP, of course, will be the negotiations under the auspices of the United Nations to obtain an agreement satisfactory to both Egypt and Israel. Secretary Rogers has indicated clearly the United States feels that a peacekeeping force "would have to be supportive of an agreement," which "has to be reached among the parties." In the Secretary's view, details of the guarantees can be worked out while the two sides try to solve some of the difficult questions that have been obstructing peace for the last four years.

MR. ROGERS points out also that the United States will continue to give support to Israel in terms of economic and other assistance, and that this probably will be an important factor in the attitude of Israel toward its security. He adds:

"What we are saying is this: That the climate has never been better for a settlement in the Middle East, and if we don't make a settlement now, we are going to plant seeds that will lead to future war."

While the Secretary seems optimistic about the chances of getting a peace agreement, he admits the various problems are not going to be easy to solve. It will take considerable time and require the cooperation not only of the Soviet Union and the United States but of Asian and European nations who can exercise a friendly influence on both Egypt and Israel.

THERE IS apparently a determination on the part of the Egyptian as well as the Israeli government to try to find a way to bring peace. Egypt, of course, would like to have Israel withdraw from all the Arab territory it has occupied since the 1967 war. Israel, on the other hand, wants to make sure that it will retain access to the Gulf of Aqaba and has been demanding a military presence on the Sinai peninsula at the Strait of Tiran on the southern tip. There are indications that Israel now may modify its stand and seek to "lease" some of this area from Egypt.

SUCH COMPROMISES might help the efforts of U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring to make more progress. It is significant that both sides are looking for ways to overcome what have hitherto seemed to be insurmountable barriers to a negotiation of peace.

2-D Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, March 21, 1971

My Answer

Billy Graham

At the university I attend a group of us have Bible study on Sunday evenings. But, all we seem to get into is a great deal of arguments. Have you any suggestions as to how we can make these discussions worthwhile?

R.L. The Apostle Paul speaks of people who are "ever learning and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth." I do not mean that such is the case in your group, but unless we accept a standard by which to decide questions we can never come to any satisfactory conclusion. God has given us this standard in His Word, the Bible.

When you discuss questions about the Bible, give it a chance to speak for itself. Do not take an isolated verse and build up an argument upon it which is contrary to the plain teaching of many other passages on the same subject. Also, remember that all of the great doctrines of the Christian Church have their basis on the clear teachings of the Bible. It is never profitable to argue about why God did this, or did not do that, for we are His creatures and He is the Creator. The prophet Isaiah says: "For shall the word-say of him that made it, he made me not? Or shall the thing framed say of him that framed it, he had no understanding?" The Apostle Paul gives the same truth in these words: "Nay but, O man, who art thou that repliest against God? Shall the thing formed say to Him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus?" Your discussions will prove profitable if you make your final conclusions those which conform to the Scriptures.

Attend Church Sunday

Select The Church Of Your Choice And Be Faithful
In Your Attendance

There are days when Jim feels "all geared up." Like many men today, he has the sense of being just a cog in a wheel—no real identity. This is wrong!

If takes a great many Jims, all kinds, to keep the wheels turning. But each is important, and each is an individual. God intended men to have not only a sense of identity, but a basic self-esteem.

Maybe you've been underestimating yourself! Maybe you've been feeling that you are just one of the crowd! If so, during this Lenten season you'd better take a new look at both the world and yourself.

For a new perspective, maybe you'd better start going to church.

We, being citizens of the United States of America, Claim our birth-right by exercising our freedom of speech and taking our rightful place in the destiny of this nation as concerned and active members of this democratic society.

I am a young American.

I am a tired Young American.

I am tired of my morals, my music, and my ideals being condemned publicly and privately.

I am tired of being told that I have no love for my country when I am willing to sacrifice my life, what greater love can there be.

I am tired of being called hippie, radical, and militant and being linked with the burning of buildings and the activities of mobs and riots simply because I might have longer hair and different ideals.

I am tired of the silent majority who chose to use neither their vote nor their voice. It is the first step to the decline of a great nation.

I am tired of pious and self-righteous people who worship God on Sunday and disregard his existence on Monday.

I am tired of being told that I am an idealistic dreamer; and that I exist in a world of fantasy. Consider that we today were an ideal and a dream in the minds of our forefathers.

I am tired of reading signs that say "America, love it or leave it." Are we so selfish, so comfortable and content that we no longer desire to better ourselves if we have no hopes we become hopeless.

I am tired of being told that I am degrading and destroying this country by people that have made the liquor and tobacco industries millions of dollars a year.

I am tired of being called irresponsible by people who spent more money on cosmetics and colognes last year that they did in improving the educational facilities of their children.

I am tired of people telling me that I have no sense of pride in my country when the nation these people claim to love is being choked to death by filth and pollution from industries built before I was born.

I am tired of Christian men and women who pretend their superiority over the Negro, the Mexican, the poor, and the underprivileged. These people are my brothers and sisters; these people are Americans.

I am tired of people who destroy my nation for their own personal gains and implicate me because I am young.

I am tired of their burning, bombing, shooting and destruction. But take heed, I am aware that you exist and you will not herd us like cattle or sheep blindly toward your aims any longer.

I am tired of being exploited by older people and then condemned by my elders for the result.

I am tired of being placed on a stage for all to criticize, condemn, question, and deny. I am tired of being considered a threat in my own country.

I am tired of being old enough to vote, to fight, and to die but not old enough to know what I am talking about.

There is a great anger rising in this country, in the North, the South, the East, the West, from coast to coast, it is 51% of your population between the ages of 18 and 28. It is your sons and daughters, your children, your husbands and your wives. We are the disregarded Americans. We are tired but we are young. We shall be seen and heard and felt, for we are tomorrow and I assure you we are Americans.

We Salute The DeMolays On 52 Years Of Service

What Is DeMolay?

The Order is dedicated to the principles of building better citizens of teenage boys. DeMolay chapters are sponsored by a Masonic body. Each chapter is supervised in all of its functions by an adult advisory council. One man is designated as the official "chapter dad" to handle the supervision of chapter meetings and to counsel the members.

DeMolay does not attempt to take the place of the home or church but rather supplement them. The organization's purpose is to offer the teenage boy of today (1) a wholesome occupation for his spare time; (2) worthwhile associates; (3) the best of environment; and (4) an interesting and complete program of all-around youth development.

By meeting these goals, DeMolay leaders believe that the youths learn to be better citizens and leaders, thereby providing a better world tomorrow.

Who May Join DeMolay?

DeMolay membership is open to any boy of good character who is between the ages of 14 and 21. Although DeMolay chapters are sponsored only by Masonic bodies or individual Masons, it is not necessary that a boy be the son or relative of a Mason to belong to DeMolay. For further information, contact William H. McDonald at 263-3394 or Floyd T. Moss at 263-4655. Meetings each Tuesday evening at 21st and Lancaster.

Tell Him Off

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have seven kids and a husband I cannot trust around the corner. When he goes out at night I never know how late he will be coming home. If at all.

I have found lipstick on his handkerchiefs, and even on his underwear. If I yell at him and say I am going to leave him, he asks where I think I am going to find a man who will want a woman with seven kids. Then he tells me that he is going to leave me and find a quieter, more understanding woman.

I am a good woman. Neat and clean and folks say I am a good looker. What can I tell him? ONE, PLUS SEVEN

DEAR ONE: You can tell him that it might be a lot easier for you to find a man who will want you and your seven kids than it will be for him to find a more "quiet and understanding woman" who would want him after he gets through shelling out child support for seven kids.

DEAR ABBY: Ouch! I saw myself in one of your letters, and it hurt. A girl wrote that her father came across an article in a magazine which he thought was very interesting so he read the whole long boring thing aloud to his daughter and her boy friend who was there at the time. The young fellow obviously bored, got up in the middle of it and found himself a newspaper to read.

One of my faults is interrupting my wife while she's busy watching television in order to read something to her. It usually turns out that she wasn't as interested in the article as I thought she'd be.

Come to think of it, Abby, maybe it was my wife who wrote that letter to you, and she used that "father-boy friend" bit just to throw me off the track.

I'm guilty, so I'll take 10 lashes with an old sermon outline. KENTUCKY PREACHER DEAR PREACHER: If the shoe fits, wear it. But I can't allow you to suspect your wife. The letter came from New York.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, age 16, is pregnant and the boy is 18. They want the baby and want to get married right away. That is all right with us and with his folks, too, but here is the problem.

We have heard that if they get married in Minnesota the judge could force them to give up the baby. If this is true, we will see to it that they get married in another state, like Iowa or Wisconsin. Or do they have the same laws as Minnesota?

Please understand, the parents of both the boy and girl are backing up these kids 100 per cent and are willing to help out.

*DESPERATE IN MINNESOTA DEAR DESPERATE: There is no such law in Minnesota, or in any other state.

DEAR ABBY: I cried when I read the letter from that mother who asked you how much room and board she should charge her son when he comes home from Vietnam. If I knew that soldier's name and address I would invite him to come and live with my husband and me. For free.

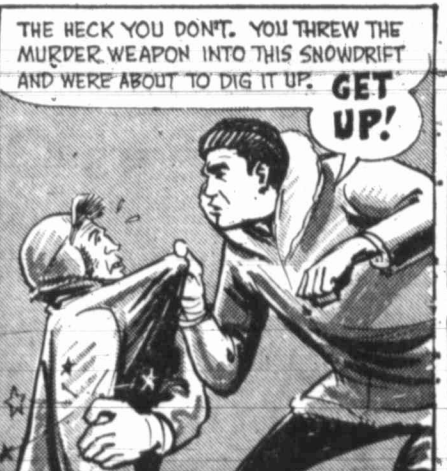

We have a nice home and with an empty bedroom. Our only son was sent to Vietnam a year ago. Three months later he was killed in action. He was only 18. BROKENHEARTED

The Pap Smear

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I wrote that taking a Pap test was painless. I took one a few weeks ago and it was very painful. Does that indicate something wrong? My doctor told me everything was normal except for polyps which are to be removed soon in what is called a D. and C. I feel very worried. Should I be? — Mrs. Z.

No, you shouldn't be worried. As to pain, I've had several readers write that the Pap test was painful for them. Ordinarily it is not, and it shouldn't be. Any pain associated with the examination is due to tension at the vaginal opening — either the instrument used was too large or not inserted gently enough. The muscles at the vaginal opening have great capacity for dilating, if properly sized instruments are used, and pressure is exerted gently and gradually.

However — and this is a consideration of some importance — some women are nervous and tense during a pelvic examination, and their inability to relax can make the insertion of the speculum painful.

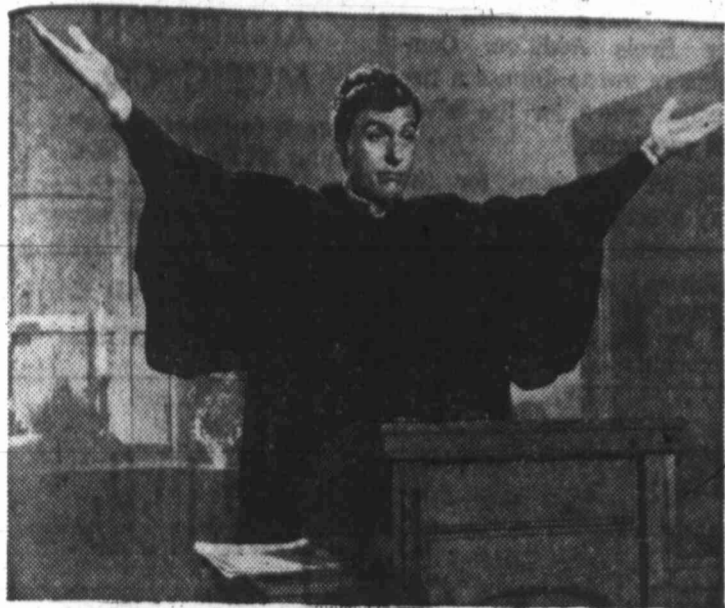

As to the actual scraping of the cervix, to get the sample of cells to be examined, that is not painful. Indeed, the location of sensory nerves is such scaly. What can I use to make it soft and smooth? It gets this way all the time except in summer — M.R.S.A. Washing four times a day! You may be washing too much of the natural skin oils away. For starters, I'd suggest washing it no more than once a day, and with the least amount of soap that will get you clean.

Then rub into the skin a very small amount of any of the various skin creams designed for dry skins.

If cutting out three washings a day doesn't show some signs of helping, then I'd suggest seeing a dermatologist (skin specialist).

Can Entire Town Give Up Smoking?

What would happen if an entire town of some 4,000 people pledge, many most reluctantly, to give up smoking for one month in order to win a $25,000,000 grant offered by a tobacco company, which doesn't believe it really can be accomplished?

This, in brief, is the essence of a very funny comedy, "Cold Turkey," starring Dick Van Dyke, with Pippa Scott, Tom Poston, Edward Everett Horton and Bob & Ray (the famed comedy team) plus Bob Newhart.

Opening at the Rita Theatre Wednesday, "Cold Turkey" is an unusual picture in story, casting and location. The entire hilarious proceedings were filmed in Iowa — in such communities as Winterset, Greenfield and Orient, with a combined total population of 7,000, plus some filming in Des Moines, Iowa's capital and largest city.

Local involvement was underscored by the appearance of 1360 of Greenfield's 2700 people in the crowd scenes filmed around the town's 100-year-old court house and public square.

Also indicative of local interest was the sight of 1100 of Winterset's 3800 citizens at the corner of First and Filmore Streets to watch Pippa Scott act, who plays Van Dyke's bored wife. No one gainsays Miss Scott's thespic abilities, but it was the appearance of the actress on a rooftop, dressed in nothing more than a see-through nightgown.

She was a sensation. As Mayor Newton said: "Nothing like this has happened in Winterset since Lily Langtry passed through here on her way to Dodge City."

During the location filming of "Cold Turkey," in Iowa, Dick Van Dyke received a signal honor from the Mesquakie tribe of Tama, Iowa.

He was given the Indian name of "White Bear" and he learned the tribe's war dance.

LOOK AT BOOKS Shakespeare's Life Legend Or Truth?

SHAKESPEARE'S LIVES. By S. Schoenbaum. Oxford University Press. $12.50.

Whatever you think you know as fact about the life of William Shakespeare is mainly legend with a large ingredient of myth.

With so little solid to build on, the Bard's biographers through the centuries have created a canon whose contents range from the handful of truth gathered by the real professionals from the skimpy extant record to the fantasies and frauds of the less scrupulous. In this book Schoenbaum, professor of English at Northwestern University, examines critically the merits and faults of these biographical studies with a thoroughness never equalled in the past and unlikely to have a challenger soon in the future.

If portions of this long book — over 800 pages — are indeed too detailed, just skip along to the next big section.

We do not know the precise dates for either Shakespeare's birth or death, nor why he left Stratford for the hurly-burly of London's theater life. There is nothing of substance to support such tales as the poaching of deer on Sir Thomas Lucy's property, or the claim his death resulted from a drinking bout with cronies.

Julie Andrews Is 'Darling Lili' Star

Julie Andrews, starring with Rock Hudson in "Darling Lili," was born in Walton-on-Thames, about 20 miles south of London. As a child, she traveled extensively with her mother and stepfather who formed a vaudeville act and toured the English provinces. During the war, her stepfather gave her daily singing lessons and at the age of 12 she sang in the "Starlight Roof" revue at London's Hippodrome.

However, Miss Andrews' real break came in a pantomime of "Cinderella" at the Palladium, where, on the basis of her performance, she was signed for the Broadway version of the musical "The Boy Friend." The actress won wide acclaim in New York and was cast in "My Fair Lady," and then was starred with Richard Burton in another Lerner and Loewe musical, "Camelot." The late Walt Disney cast Miss Andrews in "Mary Poppins," her first film for which she won an Academy Award as best actress of the year.

Miss Andrews has starred in such films as "The Americanization of Emily," "The Sound of Music," "Hawaii," "Torn Curtain," "Thoroughly Modern Millie" and "Star."

"Darling Lili" opens tonight at the Jet Theatre. "Darling Lili," which features music by the award-winning team of Henry Mancini and Johnny Mercer, co-stars Jeremy Kemp, Lance Percival, Michael Witney, Jacques Marin, Andre Maranne and Gloria Paul.

Barbra Streisand Stars In First Non-Musical

There probably is not a single moviegoer in American today, or radio listener or television viewer, who is not aware of Barbra Streisand's spectacular way with a song, or with a comedy line.

OWL AND PUSSYCAT
... Barbra Streisand

Barbra has always described herself as "an actress who sings" and, currently, in "The Owl and the Pussycat," at the R-70 Theatre, she appears as an actress alone. It is her first non-singing role.

As "the pussycat" of the film's title, Miss Streisand plays a zany would-be actress, George Segal, starting with Miss Streisand, is "the owl," a timid bookstore clerk who spends his spare time writing flamboyant novels nobody wants to publish.

"The Owl and the Pussycat" is Miss Streisand's first film since "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever" and "Hello, Dolly," which, like her "Funny Girl," were multi-million dollar musicals. Her debut film, "Funny Girl," won Miss Streisand not only the Academy Award for best performer of the year but numerous other awards: Miss Streisand's list of honors, without counting the records she sets in night clubs and at theatre box offices, and the manner in which her television specials sweep the field, include such other items as the Golden Globe Award, several Grammy awards, Cue Magazine's "Entertainer of the Year" award and the National Association of Theatre Owners' designation as "Star of the Year." Recently, the Friars Club named Miss Streisand "Entertainer of the Year," making her the second woman to be so honored in the 65-year history of that all-male theatrical organization.

As a child, she traveled extensively with her mother and stepfather who formed a vaudeville act and toured the English provinces. During the war, her stepfather gave her daily singing lessons and at the age of 12 she sang in the "Starlight Roof" revue at London's Hippodrome.

However, Miss Andrews' real break came in a pantomime of "Cinderella" at the Palladium, where, on the basis of her performance, she was signed for the Broadway version of the musical "The Boy Friend." The actress won wide acclaim in New York and was cast in "My Fair Lady," and then was starred with Richard Burton in another Lerner and Loewe musical, "Camelot." The late Walt Disney cast Miss Andrews in "Mary Poppins," her first film for which she won an Academy Award as best actress of the year.

Miss Andrews has starred in such films as "The Americanization of Emily," "The Sound of Music," "Hawaii," "Torn Curtain," "Thoroughly Modern Millie" and "Star."

"Darling Lili" opens tonight at the Jet Theatre. "Darling Lili," which features music by the award-winning team of Henry Mancini and Johnny Mercer, co-stars Jeremy Kemp, Lance Percival, Michael Witney, Jacques Marin, Andre Maranne and Gloria Paul.

ABC NATIONAL PRESIDENT BYRL S. KLINE (L) With him are Dewitt Bunn (c), local prexy, and John Warren

National ABC President Here For Club Visit

Byrl S. Kline of West Lawn, Pa., national president of the Association of American Business Clubs, paid an official visit to the local chapter of Ambucs at noon Friday in the Settles hotel.

Kline, who was accompanied here by district governor John Warren of Lovington, N.M., urged his listeners to sell "happiness and service" in going after new members for the service organization. He said workers should renew their efforts to maintain the interests of old members whose enthusiasm might have flagged. He added that a third way to assure growth of the ABC movement was to participate in the organization of new clubs.

"One of the basic needs of any individual is to be accepted by a group," Kline stated, in urging members to promote membership.

Kline is on a tour of American Business Clubs throughout the nation.

He was gifted with souvenirs from the area upon the conclusion of his talk. Dewitt Bunn, Ambuc president here, introduced Warren, who, in turn, presented Kline.

The panel of candidates for club offices, as prepared by the board of directors, was presented to members. Auriel LaFond was nominated as president of the local chapter. Bill Estes was projected as first vice-president, Max Green as second vice-president, Bill Patton as third vice-president, Marvin Callahan as secretary-treasurer and Wayne Roek, Frank Dietrich and Joe Smoot as sergeants at arms.

New members of the concessions committee will be Ralph Emerson, Lloyd Morse and Whitney Reynolds.

Among guests present were John Hughes, John Beard, Theodore McElroy and John Mathis.

The club will shortly wind up its campaign to sell advertising space for the program that will be sold for the upcoming Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, chairman Morris Robertson stated. He urged all salesmen to complete work on their assigned accounts within a week.

After 18 Years, 'Whit' Retires From Post, But Not ABC Group

V. A. (Vernon) Whittington has decided it's time for someone else to serve as secretary-treasurer of the local American Business Club, after having served in that capacity for nearly 18 years.

He'll be succeeded about April 1 by Marvin Callahan. Whittington will remain active in the organization even after he turns his duties over to Callahan, however.

Vernon first joined the local chapter of the Ambucs in 1937, when Worth Peeler was president. He's missed very few Friday luncheons since that time. When he was absent, he invariably was attending an ABC convention on the district, region or national level.

The club had between 20 and 30 members when he first joined. It burgeoned to well over 100 during the post-war boom years, now has 76.

During his tenure in office, the service organization has worked on such projects as rodeos, track and field meets, basketball tournaments and local parks. In addition, the Amucs have taken an active role in projects championed by the national association.

In 1942, "Whit" served as president of the local chapter.

Vernon retired as assistant secretary and treasurer of Cosden, Oil & Chemical Co.,

Feb. 1, 1965, but since has stayed active as business manager of the local Eagles Club, has managed a package store and, when he can find the time, helps other prepare their federal income tax reports.

Of the estimated 200 ABC members whose papers he has processed during his 18-year tenure, he personally has recruited about 10 new pledges. For that feat, he earned one of the organization's famed "big hats."

Before World War II, Vernon was recognized as one of the better sandlot baseball second basemen in West Texas.

Fire Protection Up For Study

Fire fighting and protection procedures will be the chief topic of discussion when Howard County Commissioners Court meets Monday at 9 a.m., according to County Judge A. G. Mitchell.

The discussion is the result of Wednesday's fire in the Silver Heels Addition. Commissioners are to discuss a fire protection plan for the Silver Heels residents.

Bids for two cars for the county sheriff's department will be opened, and the commissioners will discuss the purchase of additional equipment for the road and bridge department.
