

REMAINS OF WEDNESDAY FIRE
... Clinton Osburn, 44, surveys the damage to his home

Blaze Destroys Home, Clothes, Possessions

By LINDA CROSS
"This is the third time in my life that my home has burned," said Clinton Osburn today as he stood among the charred remains of furniture at his home at 1005 Sycamore.
Osburn's home was discovered ablaze at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday by his wife, Joyce. The wooden-frame home was completely gutted. Firemen fought for over an hour to keep the flames from spreading to residences on either side.
"My wife came home yesterday after taking our boy to baseball practice, and she found the whole inside of the house on fire. I haven't had time yet to see how much damage was done, but everything seems to be gone," he said.
Osburn, the Vealmoor-Ackerly route man for The Herald, had just gotten off work from his morning job at the YMCA today when he was interviewed. As he talked, he was going from room to room, which were barely recognizable, to determine what, if anything could be salvaged.

CLOTHES BLACKENED
In the room which his two sons, Dale, 12 and Troy, 10, shared, their clothes hung blackened and stiff in the closet. The beds had been completely blackened by the smoke, and the furniture warped and blistered from the heat.
"No matter how bad things seem, there's always someone worse off if you just look around," said Osburn. "I'm just glad that none of my family were home to be injured and that none of the firemen were hurt."

"I remember when my uncle's house where I was staying burned when I was three. All I can remember is that we got out with only what we had on at about three o'clock in the morning. I'm glad it didn't happen that way this time. With the wind blowing the way it was, it would have just been too bad."

DOLLS MELTED
"My little girl (Vanessa, 11) was worried most about her dolls. She had about 15, but I haven't been able to find if she had any left," said Osburn. At his feet, on the sidewalk, lay two dolls partially melted in the fire.
The Osburns stayed with relatives Wednesday night and have begun the task of looking for another home. Their insurance company has been notified, but the amount of the damage has not been assessed.
"I had just been thinking yesterday about remodeling the house and lowering the ceilings. It looks like that's been taken care of now. It's just not worth trying to fix," said Osburn ruefully as he surveyed the remains of his home.

GOP Leader Scott Says Nixon Has A Timetable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said today President Nixon told congressional leaders he has a fixed date for ending all U.S. involvement in Indochina—provided the North Vietnamese release U.S. prisoners of war.
Scott said he believes the date falls within Nixon's term of office, which ends on Jan. 20, 1973. Scott made clear Nixon did not specify a date in briefing congressional leaders.
The Pennsylvania Republican told reporters that, while Nixon refused in his nationally televised speech Wednesday night to announce he has this timetable in mind, "you could so interpret it" from the President's statement that he expects to be held accountable in the November, 1972, presidential election if U.S. involvement has not been ended.

HOW MANY?
Asked if this means also that U.S. troops would remain in Indochina at the end of 1972 if North Vietnam refuses to release all U.S. prisoners, Scott said: "This is a very reasonable conclusion."
Asked how many, he replied "That is not a reasonable conclusion."
He emphasized the United States is not planning a Korean-type settlement, with a force of 50,000 troops, and noted Nixon made no mention of a sidual force in Vietnam.

Nixon's speech appeared to have won him little if any conciliation from leading war policy critics. Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, said it "was disappointing in the extreme."
MISLEAD
"We had been led to expect much more," Hughes said. "We were obviously misled."
Nixon, despite an emotion-tinged appeal for "continued support," offered no surprises as he announced just a slight increase in the rate of troop withdrawals through Dec. 1.
Several congressional figures indicated they had expected, or at least hoped, Nixon would announce a definite date for an end to U.S. involvement.
And two, Senate Democratic whip Robert Byrd and Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, said they believe the President has such a date in mind—but refuses to disclose it for fear of losing strategic clout with the enemy.

In Vietnam, a random sampling of GIs who heard the speech turned up only one, a sergeant in Saigon, who said he would "go along with President Nixon."

Some soldiers said the United States should pull out immediately, while others expressed doubt over the ability of the South Vietnamese to fight on alone.

Many GIs Don't Share His Faith

SAIGON (AP) — A number of GIs in Vietnam who heard President Nixon's broadcast don't share his faith in the South Vietnamese army. But many think he should nevertheless speed up the withdrawal of American forces more than he promised.
Most enlisted men questioned at random said the President's speech contained nothing new or unexpected. Some said the Americans should pull out immediately while others expressed doubts about the ability of the South Vietnamese to resist the enemy without U.S. support.

alize what really appears to be desperate attempts to give the South Vietnamese more time.
"In Laos they didn't succeed in making a base area to stop movement on the trail... Once the GIs are gone, without the continued air support, the North Vietnamese will be right back here."

Blast Rips Discotheque

SAIGON (AP) — An explosion ripped through a discotheque crowded with U.S. soldiers and Vietnamese tonight on the Saigon waterfront. It was the first major terrorist incident in the capital since last December.
First reports said at least two persons were killed, one an American. U.S. military hospitals in the area said about a dozen persons had been admitted, at least half of them American soldiers.
It was not known whether the blast was set off by the Viet Cong or by South Vietnamese with anti-American sentiments.
Authorities dug through the rubble in search of victims who may have been buried when the roof collapsed, but found none.

DON'T CARE

An exception was a sergeant who has been in service 19½ years and is due to retire in six months. He said he would "go along with President Nixon." But "I've been in the service too long to make my opinions known," he added, refusing to be quoted by name.
Of Nixon's announcement Wednesday night that American forces would be reduced 100,000 men in the next seven months, Spec. 5 James Osteen of Cordele, Ga., said: "I think it's good, but it should be more. The sooner we all get out, the better."

"We ought to pull out now, right now," said Sgt. Jack Silvers, 21, of Anchorage, Alaska. "The Viets don't give a damn if we're here or not. They don't care who rules them, Communists or whatever. We haven't accomplished anything, just got a lot of our guys killed."

NOTHING NEW

S. Sgt. Gerald Taylor, 23, of Salt Lake City, Utah, commented: "I thought it was interesting to hear him ration-

Fragging Kills Two Lieutenants

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Army private has been charged with murdering two lieutenants in his artillery unit by throwing a fragmentation grenade into their quarters while they were sleeping, a spokesman of the 1st Cavalry Division announced today.
The spokesman said Pvt. Billy D. Smith, 22, of Watts, Calif., has been charged with premeditated murder in the deaths March 15 of the two officers at the Bien Hoa Army base, 15 miles northeast of Saigon.
The spokesman said Smith also is charged with three counts of attempted murder but he refused to say whether these counts involved accusations of attempted murder of three other persons. He said the circumstances concerning these charges would be revealed at Smith's trial.

AMARILLO (AP) — Amarillo voters picked the slogan, "Out Where the Best Begins," in an official opinion poll, two days ago. Now it is looking for another.
City officials discovered that Claude, 20 miles away, has held title to the slogan for nine years.

CITY, COUNTY OFFICES CLOSE

All city and county offices, with the exception of the sheriff's office, will be closed in observance of Good Friday. The offices were to close at 5 p.m. today and are to be reopened at 8 a.m. Monday.
The banks, post office and Webb AFB employees will be on the job Friday.
The state welfare offices in the courthouse will be closed at noon Friday and will re-open at the regular time on Monday.
The Howard County Library will also be closed through Monday in observance of the Easter Holidays.

Mrs. McDaniel Slightly Improved

Mrs. June McDaniel, injured in the Tuesday car-truck crash which killed her husband, is still listed in poor condition, although members of the family said this morning she seemed to have improved slightly and is responding to treatment.
The McDaniel car was westbound on US 80 west of Weatherford when it was in collision with an eastbound truck driven by Raymond D. Nelson, Lubbock.
McDaniel was apparently killed instantly, and Mrs. McDaniel sustained multiple fractures. She was hospitalized in St. Joseph's Hospital, Fort Worth. Neither Nelson nor the McDaniel's 16-year-old daughter, Donna, was injured.
Funeral for Mr. McDaniel has been set for Friday.

My Lai Soldiers Cannot Be Tried

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced today the government has found no way to legally prosecute former soldiers involved in the alleged My Lai massacre.
After more than 18 months of wrestling with the problem of how to handle men who have been returned to civilian life, Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said, "no way has been discovered" to bring these men to trial.
Friedheim said attorneys for both the Army and the Justice Department gave the problem exhaustive study and were unable to resolve it.

"At the moment nobody's trying any more," he told newsmen.
This apparently means that Paul Meadlo and other former soldiers at My Lai on March 16, 1968 will not be prosecuted. Meadlo admitted in testimony at the trial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. that he helped the lieutenant shoot Vietnamese men, women and children.
During the early stages of the Army's probe into the incident, at least 31 soldiers or former soldiers were under investigation for the possibility of committing crimes at My Lai.
Friedheim, however, left open a remote possibility that perhaps some way could be found to bring charges against such men. "I'm not saying nothing will ever happen," he said, adding "the problem is not being actively pursued because nobody has found a way to do it."

Two FBI Clerks Claiming They Were Forced To Quit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union says it will sue to reinstate two FBI file clerks who claim they were forced to resign because of off-hours work for a peace group.

They said J. Allison Conely of the FBI's identification branch, told them regulations prohibit political activity and indicated he thinks peace groups are an administration.

Jerry Gordon, coordinator of the peace group, said the FBI action was "an effort to coerce people not to come April 24 but we are going ahead."

Philip J. Hirschkop, an ACLU attorney, said Wednesday the suit will seek to enjoin FBI director J. Edgar Hoover from "interfering with the constitutional rights of any other employee."

Hirschkop commented at a news conference where Linda Janca, 21, and Christine Hoomes, 18, said they were given an ultimatum last Friday to stop part-time volunteer work for the National Peace Action Coalition or quit the FBI.
The girls said they held non-sensitive jobs filing fingerprint cards in the FBI identification branch.
Hirschkop said a third girl, Janie Bush, 19, of Nunda, N.Y., had been given a similar ultimatum but her status is unclear.

The FBI declined comment on the assertion.
Miss Janca, of Biloxi, Miss., and Miss Hoomes, of Woodbridge, Va., said they had worked for the peace group two or three nights a week for the past two months stuffing envelopes in preparation for peace demonstrations scheduled April 24 here and in San Francisco.
They said they were questioned by Superiors March 31 about their off-hours work and their views on the war, then

Appeals Court Mulls Judgment Exercised At Now Defunct Bank

AUSTIN (AP)—The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals is again considering the question if the now-defunct Sharpstown State Bank used good judgment in accepting $470,000 in surety bonds from a man without checking his identity.

The bank sued Great American Insurance Co., alleged maker of the bonds, after the bank could not collect on loans secured by the bonds.

A jury found that the man who signed the bonds, Curtis Bohannon, did not have "apparent authority" to sign them, and the man who delivered them,

Gilbert Bartling, lacked authority to deliver them.

The appeals court in a previous decision said there was insufficient evidence to support the jury's findings.

"SOME EVIDENCE"

But the Texas Supreme Court said there was "some evidence" to support them and sent the case back for the appeals court to determine if that evidence was sufficient to sustain the jury verdict.

The appeals court heard oral arguments in the suit Wednesday and took the case under advisement.

Gaynor Kendall, representing the bank, said there was no notice that a power of attorney held by Bohannon from Great American was limited, as Great American contended.

THREE PIECES

Kendall said the Supreme Court cited three pieces of evidence:

—Securing bank loans with surety company bonds is unusual.

—Credit investigation of the borrower, Commercial Investment Fund of Los Angeles, was " cursory and incomplete."

—Bartling, who delivered the bonds to the president of the bank, Charles McLean, was previously unknown to McLean.

Kendall answered:

—Great American admitted that it occasionally wrote bonds to secure bank loans. McLean demanded a power of attorney and also asked his bank's attorney if the bonds were enforceable.

—"Just what should he have done other than what he did? A better credit examination would have been indicated if these had been 'bare bonds,' but they were 'like a letter written to the bank about this specific transaction.'"

—The only man McLean could have asked about Bartling was Bohannon. "You know what his answer would have been. Two days later he (Bohannon) did not deny the bonds."

BANK CLOSED

Tom Gee, representing Great American, said the Supreme Court's decision indicated that all the circumstances of the transaction, not the power of attorney alone, had to be considered.

Gee reminded the appeals court that Bartling did not present himself as representing Bohannon but Great American and that he gave McLean nothing to show he had the power to execute or deliver the bonds.

Bartling saw McLean at 4:30 p.m., "after the phone exchanges in New York (where Great American was headquartered) had closed," Gee said.

"He (Bartling) convinced Mc-Lean to swallow him as agent of Great American and conclude a half-million-dollar transaction without checking one time to see who he was," Gee said.

The bank is among 26 defendants in a stock manipulation suit filed by the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission. The bank closed its doors Jan. 25 after a run by depositors depleted its assets by more than $14 million in one day.

Dry Norther's Approach Heralded By Dust Gusts

Moderate to strong south winds fanned most of Texas today and skies were generally clear.

An exception was the far West Texas sector west of the Pecos River, into which a weak cold front extended southward from Eastern New Mexico. About the only effect was a mild north wind at El Paso.

The dry norther's approach was heralded late Wednesday by dust-raising gusts over the Panhandle and South Plains. Velocities went as high as 39 miles per hour at Amarillo, where the blowing silt lowered visibility to five miles.

Top afternoon temperatures were mostly in the 70s, ranging from 79 degrees at El Paso down to 65 at Corpus Christi and Galveston.

Readings held above freezing this morning but a chill was noticeable in East Texas, where it was down to 36 at Lufkin and Houston. The mercury hovered in the 40s and 50s elsewhere, staying as high as 59 at Galveston.

Official observers looked for the frontal system in West Texas to play out without much further movement — and minus any moisture to ease protracted drought. South winds in other sections were expected to cause a few clouds to form but also held no promise of rain.

Hirohito Gains Order Of Garter

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II has given permission for Emperor Hirohito of Japan to be reinstated to the Order of the Garter, Buckingham Palace said today.

He will rejoin the ancient order of chivalry before his Oct. 5 state visit to Britain, a spokesman said.

The emperor was stripped of his membership by King George VI, the queen's father, after the outbreak of war with Japan in December, 1941.

Rain Count Accents Severity Of Drouth Around San Angelo

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — They tell the story here of the rancher who, when asked routinely to assess the drouth, replied: "It's the best damn drouth I ever saw. As far as drouths go, it's sure as hell being successful."

Harold Broome, who owns a stockyards supply company, shares much the same philosophy. Says Broome: "There's no reason to worry about rain because there's no way to worry up a rain cloud. My sitting here at the desk biting my nails isn't going to do it."

WHY TALK?

Besides, he added, "I don't even like to talk about it. I never felt I could cure anything by talking about it."

Others in this water- and drouth-plagued West Texas city are less reluctant to discuss the current dry spell. They remain hopeful that the traditional rainy season will breathe fresh life into parched farm and ranchlands.

"We are undergoing a condition that is unprecedented," says Johnnie Williams, San Angelo's water superintendent. He noted that rainfall since last October totals less than half an inch.

Area lakes captured 16,800 acre-feet of runoff water last year. In 1957, when the last severe drouth broke here, reservoirs collected 398,100 acre-feet.

STAGGERING

"It's staggering," he said. One must agree.

One also could become smothered in dreary statistics, but except for the last few months, rainfall itself has not dealt the most damaging blow.

"It is not necessarily a rainfall deficiency, but a runoff deficiency," Williams explained. "It is a deficiency in the nature of rainfall."

"We didn't get the real hard, intense rains."

Here is a capsule of the city's water supply sources:

San Angelo Reservoir, capacity 119,188 acre-feet—dry.

Three Rivers Reservoir, capacity 177,800 acre-feet—3,000 acre-feet.

Lake Nasworthy, capacity 12,390 acre-feet—7,200 acre-feet.

Spence Reservoir, capacity 488,760 acre-feet—3,000 acre-feet.

This adds up roughly to 800,000 acre-feet of storage space and 13,200 acre-feet of available water. With normal usage, the city requires some 12,000 acre-feet annually—not including evaporation losses. Distressed at its misfortune in securing ample surface water, the city has turned to underground sources to insure both temporary and permanent supplies.

VAST POOL

The latter involves an $8 million plan to sink 25 wells into a vast underground pool beneath 17,000 acres of land in Menard, McCulloch and Concho counties.

The water would be brought via pipeline some 55 miles to San Angelo.

"We think it will guarantee the city a permanent water supply," said Stephen Brown, Assistant City Manager. Should rains in the meantime fill the reservoirs, the city commission could alter such a plan.

Cacti So Dry Indigestible

FREER, Tex. (AP) — Ranch hands are burning the spines off cacti to provide food for their drouth-starved cattle. In Duval County, one of 60 in South Texas which Gov. Preston Smith has asked should be designated as disaster areas.

Sonny Wiederkehr, operator of a ranch-stocking 700 cattle on 14,000 acres, says this year the cacti are so dry that they have little sugar and are indigestible.

"It's so dry it would explode when burned," he said, "so the workers have to wear goggles."

The saucer-shaped cactus leaves are a time-honored source of cattle food in dry times.

Some animals have died in Duval County. When ranchers tried to feed them by hand, they were too weak to eat. Coyotes made short work of their carcasses.

Out On Bond

Kennard Ray Neal, 18, Sterling City Route, charged with being an accessory to burglary, was released from county jail Wednesday night on $3,000 bond. Bond was set by Peace Justice Jess Slaughter. Neal was one of three youths charged with being an accessory.

At any rate, said Brown, "We're breathing a little easier since the city signed a contract for options to the water rights."

And, adds Williams, "The economic condition of the county is not as bad as the city water situation, but it's getting that way. I'm speaking primarily of agriculture and livestock."

KEEP THE FAITH

"The City of San Angelo is not in as bad a shape as a lot of people think," Brown asserted. "Some of the cities west of us are in worse shape than we are — if the drouth continues."

"The economy of the city itself is remarkably healthy... the people are not losing confidence either... their faith is not waning."

"I think the reason is that we've had dry weather before and people have come out of it one way or another."

Teachers Edit Ethics Code

Texas teachers struck down four provisions contained in the proposed code of ethics and standard practices for Texas educators.

Results of the state-wide referendum showed that educators rejected the provisions concerning felony convictions or misdemeanors involving moral turpitude; outlawing the right to strike; evaluation by superiors; and enforcement of the code itself by the Professional Practices Commission.

Texas Classroom Teachers Association, representing over 45,000 teachers, had officially opposed the entire code, and worked actively for its defeat, urging teachers to write across their ballot, "I support the Code of Ethics of the Education Profession."

The TCTA president, Oather E. Raynes, said, "we are pleased to see that the most objectionable provisions of the code were thrown out by teachers."

Conscientious Objectors Need Only Ask Themselves?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert F. Drinan, who is a priest and lawyer as well, says most young men troubled by the morality of the Vietnam war probably can qualify—despite last month's Supreme Court ruling—as conscientious objectors.

The court declared that objection to all war "in any form"—not merely one particular conflict—is the test for draft exemption.

THE KEY

But Drinan, a former law school dean, thinks many youths who are sure they oppose the Vietnam fighting, but are otherwise uncertain about war, need only ask themselves:

"Is there any reason to believe that any war involving the United States today will be essentially different morally from the Vietnam war?"

If the answer is no, the Massachusetts Democrat said, the youth should be able to say he opposes such wars generally.

"I think it is a legitimate construction of the conscientious objection statute," he said.

The prospective inductee still might have difficulty, Drinan acknowledged, if he were asked what his attitude would be if the United States were attacked.

DON'T TELL

Drinan said he has told young people of the approach he described, without urging them to use it. "I don't tell the kids to avail themselves of this. I tell them it is a legitimate interpretation if in fact their conscientious feeling is of this kind."

Drinan gave his views in commenting on a Supreme Court decision Monday involving James Francis McPadden of San Francisco.

McPadden, contending the Vietnam war violates his conscience as a Catholic, argued he should be draft-exempt. A U.S. district court sustained the contention, but the Supreme Court, citing earlier decisions against selective conscientious objection, set aside the lower court's action.

Drinan said, however, the moral issue of selective conscientious objection is not a specifically Catholic concern.

Drinan said ancient stand-

USIA Film Will Feature Mayor Yorty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Los Angeles Mayor Sam W. Yorty, described in his official biography as the nation's "most colorful and controversial municipal administrator," is the subject of a feature film to be shown overseas by the U.S. Information Agency.

"There's no question Sam Yorty is considered a maverick," said Bruce Herschensohn, head of the USIA movie and television service. "And that's one of the things that's brought out in the movie."

Yorty, a Democrat who supported Richard Nixon for president in 1960 and won a third term while trading racism charges with his black opponent, has been selected for the USIA series, "One Man."

The series "point of emphasis is one man's contribution to society," said Herschensohn.

The agency's films, including those on the president and vice president, are barred from U.S. showings. A special law permitted domestic showings of a documentary on assassinated President John F. Kennedy.

The "One Man" project on Yorty was launched six months ago and is expected to produce by the end of next month a 13-minute color film on the Los Angeles mayor at a cost of $30,000 to $35,000.

Why was Yorty chosen? "Frankly, because we feel he's a fascinating personality," said Herschensohn.

Robbery Try Nets Prison

GALVESTON (AP) — Carl Michael Jones, 20, was sentenced to the maximum 25 years in prison for his part in the attempted robbery of Moody National Bank here in which a woman teller was shot and wounded.

U.S. Dist. Judge James Noel also sentenced Jones to five years in prison for conspiracy to rob the bank.

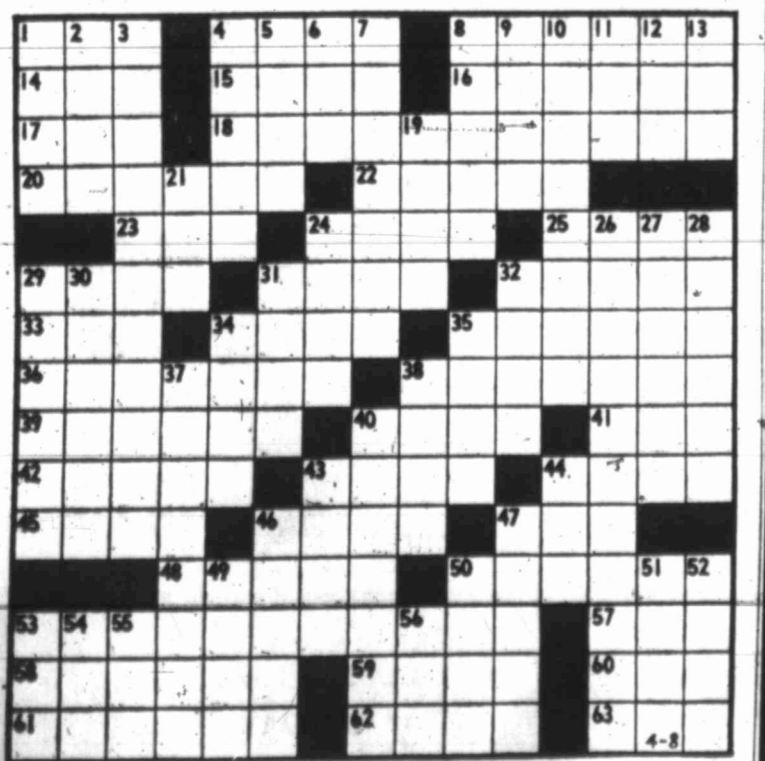

Jones' co-conspirator, Miss Emma Hernandez, 20, also got five years for her part in the conspiracy and 12 years for the abortive robbery.

Mrs. Forrest Dryer, a teller, was felled with a shotgun blast during the Feb. 23 attempt. Jones and Miss Hernandez were captured shortly after the robbery try and pleaded guilty March 13. Their sentences will run concurrently.

'THE 30-DAY OUTLOOK IS NOT ENCOURAGING'

Texas, Four Other States Suffering Drouth Damage

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A drouth of severe depth and strength now has gone into its seventh month in the Southwest. One crop is dead or badly damaged. Prospects for a successful spring planting seem remote. Cattle suffer.

This is shown in a survey of conditions generally west of the Mississippi River.

CROP GONE
But the damage seems confined to the southern tier of states—Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arizona and Southern California. Heavy snows saved regions farther north.

The San Antonio, Tex., stockyards presented evidence of the severity when 4,300 cattle flooded facilities on one day this week.

Cattlemen at San Antonio said the large supply came from ranchers thinning their herds.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., April 8, 1971 5-A because of a lack of spring grazing and water.

Almost everywhere the drouth has hit, ranchers are feeding their cattle from trucks and some are reduced to hauling water for the animals to drink.

Some wheat farmers find that their crop already is gone, while others expect only a fraction of the normal harvest.

And farmers note that it is time, or nearly time, to plant cotton and grain sorghum.

There isn't enough moisture in the ground to germinate the seed.

ANY CHANCE?
Any chance of late rainfall saving the situation? "The 30-day outlook is not encouraging," said Robert Orton, Texas climatologist for the National Weather Service.

Reason for the drouth, said Jeter Pruett of the Weather Service at Fort Worth, is that the succession of high and low pressure areas—which create winds—have not swept south far enough to bring moisture up from the Gulf of Mexico.

Many areas have received less than 10 per cent of the normal rainfall since September. And since the Southwest needs nearly normal rain to make even a fair crop, any such lack of moisture can bring disaster.

Charles Lasater, a dairyman in Tarrant County, Tex., said he never has seen such a dry season.

"I'm having to feed at almost full capacity," said Lasater, "doubling the cost of hay to $20 a day more to feed the herd."

Any dry spell recalls to farmers' minds the Dust Bowl days of the 1930s and the seven-year drouth of the 1950s. Farms were abandoned many places in those years.

WIND DAMAGE
The Agriculture Department says that in the 1950s, nine million acres were in such bad condition they could suffer or had undergone wind damage—from lack of moisture and vegetation to hold the soil. And only two weeks ago, the department said seven million acres are in the same condition.

Here is the state-by-state situation:

NEW MEXICO: The major visible effect has been the many small fires in forests. The forests now are under restrictions—no campfires except in certain developed campgrounds and no smoking on trails.

Most of New Mexico's rain comes in the summer, but 1970 was dry and only about half the normal rainfall has occurred in 1971.

counties because of the drouth. ARIZONA: "The whole southern half of the state is in real bad shape," says Dick End of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

"There's a lot of wind but little rain," said Paul Williamson of the Department of Agriculture. "There's a lot of supplemental feeding of livestock now, and more hauling of water. The eastern water reservoirs just didn't fill up."

LOTS OF FIRES.
Snow just didn't fall below the 9,500-foot level in the mountains and rivers are expected to be at their lowest in the last 8 to 15 years.

"This is a bad, bad situation—we could have lots of fires," said Robert L. King, head of the Weather Service in Tucson. He said rain has been the least since 1931.

An Arizona official said the rainstorm period has passed and no rain is expected until July.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA: Robert Howie, agriculture commissioner of Riverside County, calls conditions a drouth with the county's 100,000 acres of barley, wheat and oats "suffering very extensively." Those crops depend on rainfall, while on the eastern side of the county farmers use irrigation.

RIGHT NOW
Walter Cummings, agriculture commissioner of Santa Barbara County, notes that the 12 inches of rain this year is about the same as last year. But this year's moisture has been concentrated and right now farmers need rain.

Dwellers in cities and towns, particularly in Texas and Oklahoma, are in far better situations than they were in the 1950s when extreme measures were taken to conserve water—no lawn watering, no car washing, drinking water often so unpalatable that some supplies were shipped in from other states.

The Army Corps of Engineers, cities and other governmental divisions began building reservoirs frantically toward the close of that drouth.

The Corps of Engineers alone tripled the water supplies for Texas cities and more than doubled them for Oklahoma.

Whatever happens, Texans, at least, hope the drouth isn't broken as violently as it was in federal aid for 60 far South

FORGET RAINMAKER The Navajos Have Done It Again

MIRANDO CITY, Tex. (AP) — The Navajos have done it again: They produced rain during the weekend. At least they can take credit.

The half inch of moisture came Sunday after an all-night rain dance-religious ceremony by a group of Indians from Wind Rock, Ariz.

The Indians make a periodic pilgrimage here. They set up a large teepee just south of here Saturday night on the ranch of Mrs. Amada Cardenas.

Mirando City is about 30 miles southeast of Laredo.

The Navajos use peyote as part of their religious ceremony under regulations of the federal government. Peyote is a hallucinatory drug.

Deputy Sheriff James D. White said the ceremony continued until dawn Sunday. The rain fell Sunday morning.

"I understand this time they relied on prayer and didn't do the complete rain dance," said the deputy.

White quoted a spokesman for the Indians as saying they prayed for rain because of the obvious drought conditions in this area.

"They thought such action would help their image among the Mirando City ranchers," White quoted the Indians' spokesman.

The peyote is passed from person to person during the service. It is used in two forms—peyote buds to be eaten, and peyote juice to be ingested in liquid form.

"The Indians usually notify us when they are going to have a religious ceremony," White explained. "It is our policy not to interfere in any way."

Peyote, a form of cactus, grows wild in the Mirando City area.

REMEMBER HOME PLATE — Bill Melton, Chicago White Sox third baseman, is all smiles as he comes in to score after hitting a sixth inning grand slammer against Oakland Wednesday in the second game of a twin bill. Lee Richard (9), Jay Johnstone (10) and Mike Andrews (2) who scored ahead of him point to home plate because Carlos May (17), also pointing, set some kind of a record in the first inning when he hit a homer, but forgot to touch home plate. Sox won the game, 12-4. Looking on is Gene Tenace (38), Oakland catcher.

May One-Foot Shy On Reaching Home

By The Associated Press
Carlos May. Then again, he may not. Touch home plate, that is.

The rest of the Chicago White Sox know the way home and they took the route 18 times Wednesday while sweeping the Oakland A's 6-3, 12-4 in the first opening doubleheader in major league history.

Carlos almost May-ed it. He negotiated 359 of the 360 feet around the bases without incident after blasting the ball into the seats. The last foot proved elusive. So did the plate. Carlos stepped over it and merrily continued on into the dugout.

"I knew I missed it," he confessed. "I was too busy shaking hands."

Catcher Gene Tenace spotted the boo-boo, appealed to umpire Jim Odum and Carlos suddenly went from three-run homer to two-run triple.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore edged Washington 3-2, Minnesota blanked Milwaukee 4-0 and California tripped Kansas City 7-3. Boston, Cleveland, Detroit and the New York Yankees were not scheduled.

The White Sox, who blazed their way through spring training, got Manager Chuck Tanner off to a sparkling AL debut with their twin win. They battled from a 4-0 deficit in the opener—Sal Bando slammed a three-run homer for the A's—with Bill Melton and Walt Williams homering and tied the score in the seventh on Rick McKinney's pinch single. The winning run scored when center fielder Rick Monday booted the ball.

Jay Johnstone's homer got the Sox started in the nightcap and May's homer-triple made it 3-0 Oakland caught up in the fourth but Mike Andrews delivered a two-run tie-breaking double in the fifth and a grand slam by Melton highlighted a five-run sixth.

The world champion Orioles opened their season on a triumphant note, although they had to wipe out a 2-0 Washington lead, built on RBI singles by Joe Foy and Elliott Maddox.

Baltimore scored in the third on two singles, a sacrifice and an infield out; in the fourth on an error, wild pitch and Ellie Hendricks' single, and won it in the fifth on singles by Dave Johnson and Boog Powell and Frank Robinson's double. Dave McNally scattered nine hits and whipped the Senators for the 20th time in 24 decisions.

Bert Blyleven, who turned 20 on Tuesday, dazzled Milwaukee on four hits and Harmon Killebrew belted his 488th career homer—a two-run shot in the first inning—to pace the Twins.

Nicklaus Says His Insides Are Churning

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, the man who's won everything—twice, has a churning stomachful of nerves during preparation for the 35th Masters Golf Tournament.

"My insides were flopping," said the Golden Bear. "A tournament like the Masters, U.S. Open, PGA or British Open always creates that condition."

Golf's lone "double grand slammer" made one mistake in his Masters timetable. Being a homebody of note, Nicklaus chartered an airplane Sunday night and went to his more-than-humble Florida abode to see his family.

"While I was home, my stomach erupted," he said. "I was sitting there, wanting to be preparing my game and eager to get the Masters started. I want this one, want it badly."

Nicklaus has crossed every major golf barrier—except winning the "Big Four" in one calendar year. The 31-year-old blond "bomber" captured the PGA title six weeks ago at Palm Beach Gardens—five miles from his Florida doorstep—and is facing step No. 2.

"So, Jimmy the Greek said I was 500-to-1 for the Big Four before the PGA," said Nicklaus, gulping a whale-sized dish of ice cream that shattered his famed diet for the moment.

"That would've been worth putting a couple of bucks on."

Nicklaus, according to the Las Vegas odds-making genius, is now a mere 100-1 to add the Masters and two Opens to his 1971 accomplishments.

The Masters' field of 77 got rolling today with Billy Casper defending the title he won in a playoff from cross-town San Diego pal Gene Littler in an 18-hole playoff last spring.

Nicklaus, Casper and famed "Big Four" counterparts Arnold Palmer and Gary Player—with nine Masters titles between them—clutched most of the favoritism and crowd interest as the Masters began.

"I'm playing well and the putting will tell," said Palmer, a trim athletic specimen at age 41. "I can't see anything wrong with becoming the Masters' first five-time champion."

KILGORE, Tex. (AP) — Phil Reynolds will succeed 16-year veteran Joe Turner as head basketball coach at Kilgore Junior College.

Turner announced Wednesday that he has been named director of physical education at the school. He will retain the title of athletic director.

Kilgore won two national championships and posted a 387-154 over-all record under Turner, who had a 237-36 record at Cayuga, Tex., High School.

Colt Ace's Career Is Jeopardized By Hurt

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Unitas, who missed a relatively few games while being knocked around for 15 years in the National Football League, finds his career in sudden jeopardy because of a freak off-season injury.

The 37-year-old quarterback ruptured his right Achilles tendon while playing paddle ball Wednesday with teammate Tom Matte, and underwent surgery about six hours later.

Matte, who drove Unitas to Union Memorial Hospital, also was admitted not long afterward when he suffered a recurring attack of bleeding ulcers.

"The surgery confirmed the early diagnosis of a ruptured Achilles tendon of the right foot," a Colts' spokesman said after the 1½-hour operation on Unitas.

"The tendon was separated and shredded about two inches above the right heel," the spokesman said. "The separation was repaired, and Colt doctors are optimistic about the surgery."

Unitas is expected to be in a cast for about six weeks, however, and the type of injury has been known to cut short the careers of much younger athletes.

"This has been some year," Unitas reflected. "First, I was hurt in the Super Bowl, then my wife sued for separation, and now this."

Unitas, who holds almost all

of the NFL passing records, was injured in the first half of the Super Bowl game against the Dallas Cowboys, but the Colts went on to win, 16-13.

Since he started with Baltimore in 1956, Unitas has suffered broken ribs, a punctured lung, dislocated fingers, torn knee cartilage, broken vertebrae, and tendonitis of the elbow.

He missed one game in 1958 and sat out another, although he was ready to play, after suffering broken ribs and the lung puncture. In 1965, following knee surgery, he was sidelined for four games.

The elbow tendonitis kept Unitas out of action almost the entire 1968 season, but a rigorous therapy program restored his throwing arm for the 1969 season.

"It's a staggering thing, not only for all of us personally," said Don Klosterman, the Colts' general manager, "but because John Unitas has contributed so much to professional football and the Baltimore Colts. But with John's determination and courage, we are hopeful of his early return to the team."

LOCAL TEAMS PLAY FRIDAY

Two local softball teams, the Chippers and the Merchants, clash in a doubleheader in Comanche Trail Park Friday evening, with the first of two five-inning contests due to begin at 7 p.m.

The Merchants, who are managed by Roland Fryar, reportedly will import Robert Prescott from Midland to pitch one or both of the games.

The Chippers are apt to counter with Cotton Mize, their angel and veteran hurler who had much to do with the team's surge to the ASA State championship a year ago.

HC Pair Will Attend OCC

Decell Lewis and Shelley York, HCJC sophomores, have signed letters of intent to attend Oklahoma Christian College, Oklahoma City, on basketball scholarships.

Bill Villines, basketball coach at OCC, in making the announcement said, "We feel with the signing of Lewis and York we have acquired the type players that can be successful in the tough Oklahoma conference. With New Mexico State, North Texas and West Texas State on our schedule next season, we need players of Lewis and York's ability."

Decell Lewis, co-captain of the 1971 Jayhawks, was the second leading scorer the past season with 554 points. He becomes the 14th high scorer in HCJC history. Lewis' strong rebounding and outstanding defensive play contributed strongly to the 25-12 record racked up by the Jayhawks.

York, 6-5 postman, was sixth in scoring and leading rebounding over the opponents many times. York was at his best against zone defenses, as he has an excellent shot from the foul line.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The Minnesota Twins gave up on ex-Big Springer Camilo Pascual because Pascual gave up on them, manager Bill Rigney of the Twins told this reporter last weekend.

Pascual, a big winner in the major leagues in past years, was expected to make a determined effort to come back this spring but one evening he packed his tack and left, without telling anyone his plans.

Of his current club, which is expected to make another run at its divisional championship in the American League, Rigney says simply:

"This is the best team I've ever had. It knows how to win. We have a pitching staff in baseball second only to Baltimore."

Rigney expects another fine year out of Jim Perry, who tied the Houston Astros in knots last week, and looks for Jim Katt, who is lighter and in better shape than he was last year, to stage a strong comeback.

One addition to the Houston roster has changed the Astros' attitude into a very positive approach. They think they can win, too.

The man is shortstop Roger Metzger, a native Texan who freed capable and multi-talented Denis Menke to play first base.

Metzger is not yet a major league hitter but he's getting a thorough education in the art from Harry (The Hat) Walker, who was one of the top basemen in baseball in his prime.

Metzger, who covers an acre of ground on the left side of the infield, has been advised to choke up on his bat and punch the ball. He's still swinging late but the hits may start falling. He's quite rapid, too, at getting down to first base.

Walker said his young outfielder, Cesar Cedano, is a better prospect at this stage of his career than was Stan Musial right after he came up.

Needless to say, the Houston chieftains think Cedano ranks with the very best outfielders in either league, and is going to get better. Cedano can swing a stick as effectively as Musial used to. He can field more proficiently than Stan The Man. And, he boasts the kind of throwing arm that every base runner in baseball respects. (Musial never had much of an arm). No one takes any liberties when the ball is hit Cesar's way.

Menke, who broke in with Midland years ago, is an outstanding player and, at the age of 30, is in his prime. He can play anywhere in the infield. His defensive work at first base is uncanny. Too, he proved he could hit .300 last year.

The Astros sent John Mayberry out for more seasoning but John can be baffled by teasing pitches and he may never make it. That would be a shame, because he has such power.

Houston's first line pitching looks strong, if not spectacular. Something may have come off Don Wilson's fast ball but he has added other pitches and is especially tough with men on base. Larry Dirker is only 24 and already has a 20-game season behind him.

The team's second line pitching, however, is worrying the management more than it cares to admit. If Ken Forsh, George Culver, Jim Ray and Fred Gladding can lend assistance, the Astros could fashion a success story that could rival Cincinnati's rush to the 1970 pennant in the National League.

Houston could have sold outfielder Jimmy Wynn at least ten times, Walker says, but does not want to part with the little slugger.

"That wouldn't solve anything for us," manager Harry Walker explained, "we might pick up a good ball player in return but that would be like trading a new motor for the fourth wheel of your car. You'd still be short a part."

John Edwards figures to get a lot of help from Jack Hlatt and Larry Howard and, for that reason, figures to be a better catcher. Right now, he ranks with the best in baseball at working his pitchers. Houston was floundering until he came along.

Alou Reports And Boosts Team To Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Management of the Houston Astros has been saying this year's club has great bench strength. The point was proved Wednesday night when Jesus Alou played as a substitute and collected three straight hits, his last one driving in the deciding run, and the Astros edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 in the Astrodome.

Alou, a .306 hitter last season, would like to be a regular but he isn't angry over his reserve role. "I know I'll get to play in many games," he said. "The guys who are in there, I know, deserve to be in there. So what can I do?"

That's just the way it is. What a guy has to do is admit things are that way and try to stay in shape. Alou entered the game in the top of the third inning after centerfielder Jim Wynn pulled a muscle in his right side swinging at a pitch in the first inning, and was forced to retire.

Alou's third single broke a 1-1 tie and won for the Astros in the eighth. Los Angeles second baseman Bill Russell dropped a fly ball in shallow center off the bat of Cesar Cedeno. A fly hit by Joe Morgan moved Cedeno to third and he scored on Alou's solid shot to right.

The mound victory went to Houston starter Wade Blasingame, who had late help from George Culver. Don Sutton, who went all the way for Los Angeles, was the loser. After five scoreless innings, the Dodgers tallied on a walk, Maury Wills' single and stolen base and Willie Davis' single.

The Astros tied it up in the same inning, starting with Alou's one-out single. Alou was forced at second base by Bob Watson, but Denis Menke's clutch double down the left field scored Watson.

Culver recorded a save for Blasingame by getting slugger Richie Allen to hit into a double play with a runner on base and one out in the ninth.

SEEK SECOND IN ROW Steers Play Odessa

Enheartened by their showing against Abilene Cooper Tuesday, the Big Spring Steers return to 5-AAAA baseball competition in Odessa this afternoon against Odessa High. Game time is 4 p.m.

The Steers won their first conference game in five starts at the expense of Cooper, 3-1. Over-all, Big Spring is 4-12. Coach Oakey Hagood reasons that if the Steers can measure Odessa today and finish out first half play with a victory over San Angelo here next Tuesday, the locals will be in good shape for the second half race.

Today's job won't be easy. The Bronchos are one of the hottest teams in the race and will carry a 4-1 record onto the field today. The Red Hoses share second place in the standings, just behind Midland Lee.

Forsan Qualifies Two Teams For Regional

Forsan High School has qualified not one but two teams for the Regional golf tournament.

In District 9-B competition at San Angelo's Riverside course Wednesday, the Buffaloes' No. One team wound up with a four-man 18-hole score of 320, good enough to beat Forsan, No. Two unit by an astonishing 81 strokes.

Still, the Bisons' No. Two team easily captured the runner-up spot, outscoring third-place Blackwell by 26 shots.

TINKER BAILEY a five-under par 67. Bailey was out in 33 and came home in 34. Richard Pitts of Forsan was...

runner-up in the competition for medalist honors. He fired a 35-34-69. Together, they accounted for 17 points in the UIL scoring.

Regional competition takes place at the Pine Hills Country Club in Lubbock April 21-22, with the first and second place teams there qualifying for state.

The district track meet takes place in San Angelo April 16. The district tennis meet will be held in the same city April 14-15.

Jack Adams coaches track at Forsan while Redwine also is mentor of the tennis team. Bronte won the Class B state championship in golf two years ago.

Wednesday's results: 1. Forsan No. 1 (320) — Charles Bailey Jr., 33-34-67; Richard Pitts, 35-34-69; Will Morgan, 42-43-90; Richard Reed, 48-44-94; Vard Griffith, 46-49-95.

Big Spring High School's golf team gets its last real chance to make inroads into Midland Lee's golf lead in District 5-AAAA when the teams assemble at the Abilene Municipal course Friday for 18 holes of competition.

The Steers are now second in the standings, 20 strokes back of the Rebels. A second place finish would insure the Steers a spot in the Regional playoffs.

should make it rough on the Lee team. Big Spring's Black unit and Lee No. 1 posted identical scores of 308 last week at San Angelo, with the result that Lee's 84-hole aggregate is 927, compared to 947 for Big Spring.

Twenty strokes is not difficult to make up, where five players are involved on each team and the competition is over 18 holes.

Barber Attends Portland Parley

PORTLAND, Ore. — More than 500 volunteers who serve as elected district administrators for more than 8,000 unit leagues around the world are taking part in the Eleventh International Congress of Little League baseball here this week.

Jack Barber, Big Spring, is the district administrator for the leagues of District 3 of Texas and is representing these units in a full review of all aspects of Little League baseball as it will pertain to more than 2,000,000 youngsters in 31 countries who will participate in the fastest growing youth movement of its kind during the 1971 season.

One of the highlights of the Congress will be the election of five field directors to serve two-year terms on the board of directors.

LEARNING TO BE FEMININE — Pamela Martin, 10, of Hyde Park Section of Boston, receives pointers on how to pour punch from Mercy E. McNiff, instructor of the etiquette class at a Boston department store. Miss McNiff says "this is not training to catch a man. This is training so the girls can take their proper place in life."

Watching Girls Get Ready To Take Over This World

By JAMES F. DONOHUE
By The Associated Press

BOSTON (AP) — For a man, fear is going to an etiquette class for girls, ages 5-8, and watching them get ready to take over the world.

They arrive like Chinese soldiers in bulky, padded, quilted snowsuits and emerge into the classroom in frilly party dresses with white stockings and gloves and black patent leather shoes.

It's like watching butterflies emerge from cocoons.

Then the class starts, and the girls are taught how to walk, and talk, and sit, and turn, and even how to climb steps.

That's what is frightening. Untutored, little girls do these things just like little boys. They clunk when they walk. They plop when they sit. They mumble when they talk.

But after the class, most of the girls—not all, but most—flounce and glide and purr.

A man gets the feeling he is watching an army being trained to conquer — him.

"Not at all," reassured Mercy E. McNiff, instructor of the etiquette class at a Boston department store. "This is not training to catch a man. This is training so the girls can take their proper place in life."

"Woman should be feminine to be a woman—almost sickeningly feminine," Miss McNiff added. "We want our girls to be different from boys, so much that you'll notice the difference even if they are just walking down the street."

Miss McNiff gets to the essentials of her teaching philosophy early in the class. "Did you know," she asked, "that girls are born different from boys?"

—Little girls applaud by tapping the fingers of their right hand against the heel of their left hand.

—Little girls slide into chairs, feeling for the chair with the back of their legs never looking around for it, and sit with their ankles crossed and hands folded in lap.

—Little girls go up and down stairs a little bit sideways so they can see the steps without having to clumsily look down.

—Little girls turn on their toes. "We float, very lightly, very prettily," said Miss McNiff.

ELBOW CHAMPS — Steve Cowley, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Cowley, Box 612, Forsan, will represent Elbow Elementary School in the Howard County spelling bee April 15. Steve is in the fifth grade. Mike Parker, 10 (right), son of Col. and Mrs. E. C. Parker Jr., will back him up as alternate. Mike is a fourth grader. Steve was Elbow Elementary champ last year. Mike was Steve's champ last year. Steve correctly spelled the word "garland" to win his title.

Farm Truck Driver Rules Are Protested

WACO — Proposed regulations relating to farm truck driver qualifications would work a hardship on practically all owners of farm trucks — including small pickups — in the United States, Texas Farm Bureau president J. T. Woodson declared in a letter to Secretary John A. Volpe of the Department of Transportation, Washington, D.C.

Woodson protested proposed U.S. Department of Transportation regulations due to become effective July 1. They would require drivers of farm trucks to be at least 21 years of age; carry a certificate, executed by a physician during the preceding 24 months, evidencing fitness to drive a truck; pass a road test in truck operation; and take and pass an examination on the federal Motor Vehicle Safety Regulations.

In addition, if the driver is an employe of a farmer, he must supply the farmer with evidence of compliance with the four preceding requirements, plus an application of employment which shall disclose traffic violations and disposition thereof, plus an annual supplementary statement relating to traffic violations.

And a farmer who employs a driver will be required to "verify" the driver's driving record — and to maintain for each driver a file containing all the required information, plus a record of the employer's verification of the employe's driving record.

Cosden Club Use Studied

The Cosden Country Club was the subject of a report made Wednesday night to the Citizens Advisory Task Force to the Cosden Club Project.

Gene Schrickel, of Schrickel, Rollins and Associates, land planners, explained the land-use report his firm made on the club.

The report explains possible civic uses of the club. "Details of the plan will be available after the committee has had a chance to study the report," said George Brown, committee chairman. "The next step is for the city and the committee to get together and discuss the report," he said.

D. A. Probes Fund Drive For Calley

HOUSTON (AP) — Dist. Atty. Carol Vance is investigating a fund raising drive in behalf of Lt. William Calley, convicted on a charge of murdering civilians in My Lai.

Vance said Wednesday he was asked by a businessman to see if it is a legitimate fund-raising campaign.

William C. Lynch, an insurance agent, contacted Vance after he said he was solicited for $25 to $25,000.

The Rev. Sammie Lee Lewis, head of the citizens development Association Rally for Calley, said he had hoped to raise money for the convicted soldier's defense.

personally deliver to Fort Benning, Ga.

Vance said some businessmen had told her that solicitations were being made from the North Main headquarters of Paramount Management International, headed by Jerry Collier.

Collier's secretary, Mrs. Cynthia Couch, said no money had been sent to the North Main Office which she said had been open about two or three weeks.

"If by some chance money were to be sent here," she said, "it would be forwarded to the Citizen's Development Association."

mean a social gathering. We at CDA never demonstrate."

He said contributions can be sent to the CDA, where interested citizens also can get petitions and stocks for the Calley cause.

"But mostly," he said, "we'd like you to send them to Lt. William Calley in care of his attorney, George Latimer at Fort Benning."

Meanwhile, a resolution endorsing President Nixon's decision to review the final military judgment of Calley was adopted Wednesday by the Houston City Council.

The council took the action after a group of Christ the King High School pupils urged council support for Calley.

$238 REPORTED

Lewis said $238 had been raised by Wednesday.

"What we want to do is raise as much as possible for humanitarian reasons," Lewis said. "Everything we receive from the public, with the exception of a few dollars I spent for literature and expenses, I plan to

SOME TALENT

Lewis said Collier came into the picture when he went to see if Collier could line up some talent for a Calley rally.

Collier's company books country and Western talent, Mrs. Couch said.

Lewis said he is trying to get in touch with as many talented people as possible for the rally. "By rally," he said, "we

Gallup Poll Gigs Nixon

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Nixon's policies have the approval of 50 per cent of the American public, the lowest level of support since he took office, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

However, Gallup said the 50 per cent indicates a downward trend in Nixon's popularity may be leveling off. The poll said Nixon's approval rating was 56 per cent in January and 51 per cent in February.

Key factors in the decline, according to Gallup, have been public disapproval of the Indochina war and the state of the economy.

The high point in Nixon's popularity, 68 per cent in November, 1969, came just after he announced plans for pulling U.S. troops out of Vietnam and training the South Vietnamese to take over the fighting.

Gallup said Nixon's popularity, like President Johnson's, has been tied closely to the war.

Nixon scored his highest rating in the new poll in the South, picking up 56 per cent approval. His lowest rating, 46 per cent, came from the Midwest.

BOYDSTUN SPELLERS — Tammy Watkins, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Watkins, 606 Drake, will represent Boydston School in the county spelling bee April 15. The fifth grader spelled the word "emerald" correctly to win the contest. This is her second year to win. Ricky Moore, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby G. Moore, 602 Caylor, will be the alternate representative. He is a sixth grader.

Spray Wards Off Diseases

With the onset of spring weather and the blooming of peach and plum trees over the Texas High Plains, homeowners need to consider a timely spray program to ward off possible diseases during the coming months.

"Certain diseases attack peaches and plums each year throughout the area," points out Dr. Robert Berry of Lubbock, area plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Most important are brown rot and scab although other diseases such as leaf spot and bacterial spot can also become established during cool spring weather."

A regular spray program beginning during the bloom period can be effective in controlling brown rot, leaf spot and scab, explains the plant pathologist. Fungicides that have been effective and are approved for use by the homeowner include Captan and wettable sulfur. Four or five applications should be made at 12-14 day intervals, starting with the pink bud stage. Berry cautions homeowners to carefully follow the recommendations prescribed by the manufacturer of the spray material.

BENEFIT CASH IN JUNE, INCREASED TAX BITE NEXT YEAR

Social Security Umbrella Covers 9 Out Of 10

By EDMOND L. BRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chances are 10 to 1 that you're involved with an undertaking that has assets of $42 billion and does close to a $40 billion annual business—and there's a good chance also that you will soon be putting more into it or getting more out of it.

That undertaking is the Social Security system, which has grown from an almost timid beginning during the depression of the 1930s into a huge, tax-supported umbrella over more than 9 out of 10 working people in the United States, and more than 9 out of 10 persons 65 or older.

Of course, the working people and their employers pay the taxes that hold up the umbrella.

ANOTHER CHANGE

Congress, which has added benefits or coverage to the system more than a dozen times since the first Social Security bill was passed in 1935, has just done it again. It enacted a 10 per cent across-the-board benefit increase and a tax stepup to finance it.

The benefit increase, raising the income of more than 26.2 million persons and slicing an extra $3.4 billion purchasing power into the still-sluggish economy, is retroactive to Jan.

1, 1971. The recipients will not actually have the cash in hand, however, until June because of the time required to adjust the mammoth computerized payout machinery.

The increased tax bite will be felt only next year and, initially, only by persons earning more than $7,800 a year and their employers. The payroll tax, currently 5.2 per cent each on employer and employee, applies only to earnings up to $7,800. Next year the base goes up to $9,000. Later the rate goes up to a top of 6.05 per cent in 1987, but Congress almost certainly will have made more changes by then.

MORE TO COME

In fact, more changes are in the works. A better break for widows and for retired persons who continue to earn some money is considered almost certain. And there is much sentiment for another benefit increase, or else a provision for future automatic increases tied to the cost of living.

The 1935 Social Security act provided only for payments to retired workers 65 or older, and only those who had been in commerce or industry. It imposed a 1 per cent tax on earnings up to $3,000. The first benefit payments were to be made in 1942.

Even before the first benefits flowed Congress liberalized the system, providing for payments to aged wives, widows and children of deceased workers, and moving the first payouts up to 1940. The average payment that year was $22.10 a month for an individual. Recipients totaled 113,000.

WIFE BENEFITS

By 1970, there were 26,230,000 beneficiaries. The average individual monthly payment now is $131. A 65-year-old wife gets, in addition, 50 per cent of her husband's basic benefit.

Successive changes have extended the coverage of the system, taking in many farm employees, domestics, self-employed professionals such as doctors, clergymen, employees of nonprofit organizations and, on an optional basis, employees of state and local governments. Now the system embraces nearly 94.5 million workers, more than 9 out of 10 jobs in the country.

TAXES UP

Besides broadening the coverage—Congress repeatedly raised benefits—and taxes. In addition, it created whole new components of the system. Thus in 1956 retirement for the first time was provided for workers disabled before reaching pension age. And in 1965, after years of argument, Medicare, the plan under which Social Security pays much of the health care expenses of elderly retirees, came into being.

The family insurance part of Social Security, the protection guaranteed to wives and children in case of a breadwinner's death, now reaches 95 out of every 100 children under 18 in the country, Social Security says, and is equivalent to insurance with a face value of more than $1 trillion.

From the start, the financing of Social Security has caused controversies. There was a sentiment for a three-way split of the cost among employers, employees and the general funds of the Treasury. But President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his advisers decided the system had a better chance if self-financed.

SOUND FUND

So the payroll tax on worker and employer has been used ever since, with only minor general fund infusions to take care of special groups.

Congress and Social Security actuaries alike have insisted that the rates set, and reset from time to time, have produced a sound fund, capable of meeting foreseeable obligations.

The price, however, has been steeply mounting payroll taxes, not only paying for current outlays of the system but building up trust funds that now own a significant part of the national debt.

When Social Security started, the maximum tax was $30 a year each on worker and employer. This year it is $405.60. Next year it will be $468. By 1987, even in the unlikely event Congress makes no more changes, it will be $544.50.

A BARGAIN

Social Security spokesman says that, in terms of protection for departments and the prospects of ultimate payout on retirement, the payroll tax paid by a worker is a bargain. Nevertheless, as a current obligation that starts with the first dollar earned, the payroll levy can be a heavier burden for some low-income families than income tax.

The congressional decision to increase benefits this year but let the tax boost wait until 1972 was criticized by President Nixon, who had recommended simultaneous adjustments. But there is reason to believe it was not wholly unwelcome throughout the administration, concerned with an economy that remains sluggish and unemployment that continues high despite generous doses of relatively easy money.

Precisely such moves as the Social Security benefit increase—putting out 3.4 billion quickly spent dollars and postponing the countervailing tax increase until next year when things may be livelier—are what some economic doctors are ordering.

BUDGET FACTOR

Normally the payroll tax is, on balance, a restraining factor in the economy. Each year it produces more revenue than is needed to pay benefits for that year. The surplus goes into trust funds intended to make sure that the system will be able to meet future obligations to its growing number of beneficiaries.

Social Security, obviously, does not keep its surplus in shoeboxes. By law, the funds are invested in government bonds. In effect, the government borrows the surplus as fast as it accumulates, paying on each increment an interest rate based on the current cost of borrowing in the open market.

At the end of 1970 the Social Security trust funds totaled $41.5 billion, invested at an average rate of 5.2 per cent. The major funds, for retirement and disability, are expected to earn more than $2 billion interest for the system during 1981. The funds are expected to grow by about $3.5 billion during the year.

RESTRAINT

When the President makes up his annual budget, should he total in with other receipts the yield of the payroll tax and list benefit outlays along with other expenditures—even though Social Security is, in a real sense, distinct from other government operations? Since midway in the Lyndon B. Johnson administration this has been done and it has been argued over, mainly because the result is to show smaller budget deficits than would have resulted from the old system of separating trust funds operations from the general operating budget.

Economists say the new "unified budget" provides the best measure of the government's role in either stimulating or restraining the economy, because it reflects the total amount of money the government takes out of the economy and the total it puts in through spending and grants.

But old-line fiscal conservatives like Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, say that such a budget is deceitful, and dangerously so.

Texas Legislators Knock Off For Easter Vacation

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas legislators began a long Easter break today after House members acted on some of the session's ethical issues.

Before they adjourned Wednesday until 2 p.m. next Tuesday, representatives were given the names of the new House General Investigating Committee.

The committee presumably will look into whether there was any wrongdoing connected with passage of two bank deposit insurance bills in 1969.

House members also tentatively approved, 135-6, a proposed legislative code of ethics after making several drastic changes in the bill. A final vote is expected Tuesday and would send the measure on to the Senate, which passed its own version of an ethics code March 22.

GUS ABSENT

Speaker Gus Mutscher was absent in Washington, D.C., Wednesday but had his stand-in, Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth, read the House his choices for the investigating committee.

Rep. Menton Murray of Harlingen, the "dean of the House," was named chairman of the committee. He also headed the 1961 investigating committee that probed the alleged breakdown of law enforcement in Jefferson County.

Other members are Reps. DeWitt Hale, Corpus Christi; Jim Nugent, Kerrville; James Slider Naples; and Clyde Haynes, Vidor.

Murray said he was sure the committee would look into the banking matters because "I am sure that is why we were appointed."

NO ETHICS LAW?

Some House members said the lopsided vote for the ethics bill and for some stiff amendments to the measure were cast merely to build a favorable record to take home to local voters. They predicted no ethics bill would be passed into law.

But a speaker's aide said he believed, "they are going to pass some legislation on this matter this session as we are all going to have some questions to answer."

As originally written by Nugent, the measure would have prohibited legislators from appearing in controversies before state agencies, including courts, while the legislature was in session. It also would have prohibited lawmakers from introducing bills that affect their clients or employers.

But amendments seriously altered the bill.

Hale, who strenuously opposed the restrictions on lawyers Tuesday, won an 84-54 vote Wednesday for an amendment that would allow legislator lawyers to appear any time at agency or court proceedings at which a record of testimony is made. This includes all district court and nearly all state agency hearings.

FINNEY WINS

Hale won Nugent's acceptance and voice vote approval of another amendment that would prohibit legislators only from introducing bills that directly and specifically benefit clients or employers, if they benefit incidentally to a bill that affects a broad class of people, that would be all right.

Rep. Dave Finney of Fort Worth won a 132-7 vote for his amendment prohibiting legislators from receiving pay from persons registered as lobbyists.

"Any time some little old lady in tennis shoes comes in and says 'I want to hire a lawyer,' you've got to look it up and see if she came up here to lobby for—to give an example—Mr. (Rex) Braun's environmental bill," protested Rep. Hilary Doran of Del Rio.

One of the several amendments that failed was Houston Rep. Curtis Graves' proposal to outlaw advance written pledges to vote for candidates for speak-

'We Don't Talk About Death'

"Be as truthful as possible... don't treat death as a game," said the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand Tuesday evening as he advised the Marcy Parent-Teacher Association how to tell a child about death.

"We don't talk enough about death," continued the minister, "so we pass on to our children an attitude of unbelief and unreality which later produces concern. We should listen to children's questions, answer them as honestly as we know how and help them work out their own solutions in regard to death."

Rev. Hildebrand, who also worded the invocation, was introduced by the presiding officer, Don Brooks.

Mrs. Frank W. Moore Jr. reported on the recent district conference, announcing that the Marcy School scrapbook won an excellent rating. The PTA City Council luncheon is slated May 4 at Webb Air Force Base, and reservations should be made with Mrs. Moore, 263-3298, by May 1.

The room count was won by Mrs. W. D. Ervin's second grade. The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., May 4.

Installation Slated At La Posada

Mrs. Fred Hyer will be installed as president of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Alter Society at a dinner May 4 at La Posada. Others to be installed are Mrs. A. N. Rutherford, vice president; Mrs. Earl Taylor Secretary; Mrs. Curtis Choate, treasurer; and Mrs. Riley Ward, card committee chairman.

The dinner plans were announced by Mrs. Rutherford, retiring president at Tuesday's meeting where prayer was worded by the Rev. Theo Francis.

Mrs. George Foster reported on the recent deenary meeting, noting that another meeting will be held April 20 at Sacred Heart Church.

Named to the altar committee for April were Mrs. L. D. Gilbert, Mrs. Douglas Hattenbach and Mrs. James Cape. Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Bob Anderson will serve refreshments at the Veterans Administration Hospital April 23.

Mrs. Gilbert won the attendance prize.

Cleaning Products Are Compared

STANTON (SC) — "What's in Home Cleaning Products and Why?" was the subject of Mrs. James Eiland's talk to the Lakeview Home Demonstration Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. W. D. Bryant.

Mrs. Eiland discussed the detergent dilemma from the point of cleaning clothes to water pollution. She also told about various cleaners, such as alkalis, acids, abrasions, bleaches, sanitizers and spirit solvents, explaining the uses for each.

Mrs. Bryant, vice president, presided, and Mrs. W. J. Harlowe read an article entitled "Think: Your Thoughts and Your Mental Health."

Reports on the district meeting in Andrews included a report by Mrs. Horace Tubbs on the health workshop on arthritis.

Proceeds from a club garage sale will be donated to charitable organizations. The women will meet at 9 a.m., April 14 to visit the Snyder tomato hot house. Members should bring a sack lunch.

Church Group Hosts Meeting

The Lalla Baird Circle was hostess Tuesday for the Women's Society of Christian Service, Wesley United Methodist Church, at the church parlor. Mrs. Ben Boadie, president, presided.

Mrs. J. C. Ray and Mrs. Boadie reported that the Easter egg hunt held recently at the Westside Community Center was enjoyed and appreciated by the children. The hunt was sponsored by the Church Women United.

The McMurry College Choir will present a musical program at the church at 7 p.m., April 18. The WSCS will serve supper to the choir at 5 p.m.

Mrs. Boadie announced that the spring district meeting will be April 29 at the First United Methodist Church in Lamesa. Prayers were led by Mrs. Joe Ramsey and Miss Helen Ewing, who also gave the devotion.

Phi Zetas Will Hold Mother-Daughter Tea

A mother-daughter tea will be held by Phi Zeta Omega, Beta Sigma Phi, from 2 to 4 p.m., May 2 at the First Federal Community Room. The plans were announced at a Tuesday meeting by Mrs. Clay LaRochelle, chairman, who will be assisted by Mrs. Wayne Stroup and Mrs. Allen Carlile.

The women met in the home of Miss Lana Lloyd, Ackerly, with Mrs. Joe Schaik presiding. The ways and means committee, composed of Miss Lloyd, chairman; Miss Pam Dyer and Mrs. Byron Hedges, will direct a bake sale Saturday from 9 to 5 p.m. at Highland Center Mall with proceeds going to the Westside Community Center. Mrs. Stroup, service chairman, announced that a tea is pending for the girls' arts and crafts class at Westside Center. Assisting her with the arrangements will be Mrs. Schaik and Mrs. Rick McKinney.

The chapter announced its nominees for Woman of the Year as Mrs. LaRochelle and Mrs. Delnor Poss.

Hyperion Club Holds Guest Tea Tuesday

The home of Mrs. Jimmy Morehead, 704 Highland Drive, was the setting Tuesday afternoon for the annual Guest Day Tea hosted by the 1955 Hyperion Club.

Assisting Mrs. Morehead at the table were four members of the club's social committee, Mrs. H. B. Perry, Mrs. James Owens, Mrs. Garland Morrison and Mrs. L. B. Edwards.

The arriving guests were greeted by the sight of a four-foot tall pink and yellow Easter bunny which was placed on a small bridge which crossed the walkway to the home.

The tea table was covered with a white cloth, accented with embroidery and a scalloped border, and the centerpiece was a spring arrangement of pink and yellow carnations, white spider chrysanthemums and white daisies.

Included on the guest list were members of the Hyperion Club Council. Other guests were Mrs. Ginny Anderson, Mrs. Caleb Hildebrand and Mrs. Owen Ivie, all of the 1970 Hyperion Club; Mrs. Johnnie Winham, Mrs. Paul Katto, Mrs. J. J. Rowland Jr., Mrs. Wallace Cataldo, Mrs. H. W. Smith, Mrs.

John B. Knox, Mrs. Leo K. Gee and Mrs. H. B. Reagan. Assisting the house party were the club officers, Mrs. Walter Wheat, president; Mrs. Charles Beil; Mrs. W. A. Moore, recording secretary; Mrs. Don Wiley, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Albert G. Smith, treasurer.

The next meeting will be an installation luncheon May 4 in the home of Mrs. Wheat, 901 Mountain Park Drive. Cohortesses will be Mrs. Beil and Mrs. Don McDonald.

Prayer Day Held By Methodists

The annual Day of Prayer and Self-Denial was held Tuesday at First United Methodist Church with Mrs. Thomas Corwin as leader. Mrs. Charles Beil was organist, and Mrs. Ralph Dowden was soloist.

Those participating in the program were Mrs. James Moss, Mrs. Clyde Cantrell, Mrs. Leo K. Gee, Mrs. H. C. Ernst, Mrs. R. F. Dorsey, Mrs. H. E. Thompson, Mrs. Hugh Duncan and Mrs. W. N. Norred. The pastor, the Rev. Leo K. Gee, and the assistant pastor, the Rev. Elra Phillips, conducted a communion service at the conclusion of the program.

The annual event is held in recognition of, and service to, underprivileged peoples of the world. A special offering benefits missionary work in the United States and other countries.

Program Urges Communication

"It's Up to You," an examination of Jewish-Baptist communication, was the program when the Baptist Women met Tuesday at Westside Baptist Church. Mrs. Jack Clinkscale read scripture.

Mrs. J. O. Murphy, leader, was aided in a skit by Mrs. J. A. Andrews, Mrs. B. N. Boroughs and Mrs. Leroy Minchew. Mrs. E. A. Sanderson told the story of a Jewish woman's difficulties in her attempt to become friends with Christians.

The prayer calendar was read by Mrs. Andrews. Prayers were led by Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Mary Riddle.

Rebekahs Hear Annual Reports

Mrs. U. S. Beechley, Rebekah district deputy president, made her annual report to the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge concerning the year's program of Mrs. Gertrude Whitney, assembly president, at the lodge meeting Tuesday in the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. K. C. Webb, noble grand, presided, and 46 visits to the sick were reported. Members will meet at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday at the hall for degree practice. A salad supper will follow, and D. W. Blackwell will be initiated.

Says Ideal Life Affords Sufficient Leisure Time

"Every living soul has all the time there is at his disposal," said Mrs. Herman Schiflett in her talk about the use of leisure time, for the Texas Delta Delta Chapter, Phi Sigma Alpha, Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Johnnie Winham, 608 Rannels.

"No matter how fast a person runs," she continued, "he cannot add one second to the 24 hours in a day — nor has he for his use, one second less than anyone else in which crowns may be won and lost, great poems written, great music composed or world-shaking decisions made."

Mrs. Schiflett said that the ideal life is one in which there is leisure to live, and time for spiritual, physical and mental recreation.

Mrs. Arthur Wadle presided, and new officers were elected. They are Mrs. Winham, president; Mrs. Clyde Cantrell, vice president; Mrs. Carlton Black, secretary; Mrs. Adren Westbrook, treasurer; and Mrs. Wadle, program moderator.

The officers will be installed at the chapter's next meeting at 7:30 p.m., May 4 in the home of Mrs. Westbrook, 401 Hillside Drive. The program, "Find Out For Yourself," will be presented by Mrs. Black.

Problems? You've A Friend At 'Firehouse'

"Firehouse No. 6 provides a helping program for anyone, of any age, with any kind of a problem," said Dr. Wayne Bonner, guest speaker for the Immaculate Heart of Mary Mothers Club Monday at the school. "The personnel that volunteer their services answer phones and listen and talk to those in need," Dr. Bonner continued. "They do anything they can for the people that call in, and if possible, they encourage them to go to people who can be of more assistance with their problem."

Dr. Bonner said that the firehouse staff is available from 3 p.m. until 1 a.m., Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays. With more volunteers they hope to eventually open during the day. The staff is strictly volunteer, but funds are needed to provide educational material. A training period for new volunteers starts at 7 p.m., April 19 at the firehouse.

Mrs. Al Herridge, president, announced that a Book Fair

Advises On Investing

"The two hardest things for a man to do in his lifetime are save his soul and save his money," said Dewitt Bunn when he was guest speaker for the S e n i o r Chapter, American Business Women's Association, Tuesday at the Holiday Inn.

Bunn, a representative of Investors Diversified Services Company, spoke about the proper management of money and emphasized the importance of budgeting and saving.

Mrs. Gene Haston gave the vocational talk about her work as a telephone operator at Webb AFB. In other business, Miss Brenda Brown of Coahoma won a wig awarded in the chapter's fund-raising project.

Mrs. Richard G. Bortner and Mrs. Louis Casillas were initiated as new members. Mrs. C. A. White was a guest.

The chapter will announce the winner of the "Woman of the Year" award at its next meeting at 7:30 p.m., May 4 at the Holiday Inn.

Lions Auxiliary Hears Speaker

Mrs. Bob Carlile, representative of the TOPS Pound Rebels, spoke to the Evening Lions Auxiliary Tuesday at the Downtown Tea Room. She explained the organization of the national clubs and goals of the local club. The auxiliary will sponsor a birthday party for Boys' Club at 7 p.m. May 27. The next regular meeting is at 7 p.m., May 4 in the tea room.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Moreno, 100 NE 10th, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Alma Vargas, to Manuel Lopez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Lopez, 609 NW 9th. The couple will be married May 8 at St. Thomas Catholic Church with the Rev. Leo St. John officiating.

will be held in the audio visual room at the school April 16-19. Students and faculty may review the selection April 16. The fair is open to everyone after the 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. masses April 18, and during school hours until 4 p.m. April 19. In other business, the slate of officers presented by the nominating committee was approved. They are Mrs. Phil Raign, president; Mrs. Louis Brown, vice president; Mrs. Francis Johns, treasurer; Mrs. June Wootsen, recording secretary; and Mrs. Herb Clarke, corresponding secretary. They will be installed May 10 at the La Posada Restaurant. The women changed their meeting date to 7:30 p.m. on the second Monday of each month at the school cafeteria.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW

—CARROL RIGNER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The Full moon is an interesting one which affects changes and breaking up present activities in different ways; one of which brings benefits by adopting a conventional point of view. Looking into future have an associate who is upset and could cause trouble if you don't do something to calm this person down. Put aside doubtful attitude, you have and you get along better. Show wisdom.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Make sure you keep all promises you have made. Do not antagonize co-workers and, then, this is a good day for you. Making loved one happier needs a good deal. Show devotion.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you show loyalty to a prominent associate, you benefit much instead of going off on a tangent that would be nothing but trouble. Don't neglect to keep a promise or you get in trouble. Show that you are conscientious.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try to be as tactful and diplomatic as you can in business and at home as you are in business and at home. Home life improves greatly. Also, eliminate that bone of contention there. Have fun tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you attend to dull, routine work in the morning and get it done, you can get into the fun or creative work you like. Handle correspondence you have been neglecting. Show you have will.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Take some time to please family by joining them in their aims instead of devoting all of your time on the financial problems. Make improvements at home that will be appreciated by all. Add to comforts.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) It is important you get the approval of others who are connected with a monetary matter that applies to you as well. Take some time to make the new contact you want. Show that you are diplomatic.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day to do research work on a matter that has had you puzzled for some time. Paying more attention to mate can increase your happiness at this time. Avoid odd persons.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

Going along with what good associates like to do is your best way to cement better relations now. Making a fine impression on social contacts is good. Don't take chances while traveling.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Do whatever you can to further your ambition since the planets are favorable in the outside world today. If you have talks with higher-ups confidentially, you add to present prestige. Show you have real ability.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Begin operations that will aid you in expanding where your business is concerned. Discuss with persons whose views are different than your own. Get right answers.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Although you think you cannot handle all of your obligations, if you ask a higher-up you get right help. Know what is expected to you by an official and then carry through efficiently. Don't repeat yourself with others.

'Strip' Robbery Leads To Murder

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (AP) — Murder charges were filed against three men in connection with the $150 robbery-slaying of Johnny Colvin, 18, near Ennis.

Sheriff Wayne McCollum said the charges were filed against Willie Van Myers, 26, of Waxahachie, Larry Connor, 19, of Ennis, and a 16-year-old Ennis juvenile before Justice of Peace Herschel Smith.

McCollum said the three are being held in jail in lieu of $50,000 bond each.

The sheriff said Colvin was shot in the face by one of three men who offered the Navarro Junior College student and a companion, John Stewart, 18, also of Ennis, a ride when their car broke down.

He quoted Stewart as saying he and Colvin were ordered to strip by the three men, but Colvin refused. One of the three men shot Colvin, Stewart said, and he ran. Stewart said they were robbed of $150.

Claims Defendants Made After-The-Fact Entries

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A witness in the stock fraud trial of two former aircraft executives testified Wednesday that both state and federal agencies had investigated the defendants' firm.

The witness also said she saw one of the defendants making after-the-fact entries in the company's stock register — the authenticity of which has been questioned in earlier testimony. On trial on federal charges of mail fraud and selling stock without registering it are Hal Rachal of Midland, former president of Mooney Aircraft, Inc., and Mooney Corp., and Ed Hunnicutt of Kerrville, former secretary-treasurer.

NEW OWNERS
Mooney, a Kerrville firm, is under new ownership. Mrs. Merrill Fennell, now an assistant attorney general in Austin, said the State Securities Board began investigating Mooney's stock transactions in 1968. She was an investigator for the agency at the time.

She said she saw Hunnicutt making entries in the 1962-64 portion of the Mooney Aircraft stock transactions at the time that subpoenas for Mooney stock records were served in October, 1968.

Hunnicutt's former secretary, Mrs. Joan Ford of Kerrville, earlier testified that a Mooney Aircraft stock register now in evidence was not the same one she had kept when employed there.

BOOK MISSING
The government says the book that Mrs. Ford said she maintained is missing.

Mrs. Fennell said Hunnicutt explained to her that he was making entries in the stock register based on the Mooney Aircraft stock certificate stub book. He said he also was basing them on a list he had showing the dates certain prices per share of stock were in effect.

Mrs. Fennell said a Securities and Exchange Commission subpoena for Mooney records was served shortly before the state subpoena was presented, and that the federal and state probes proceeded concurrently.

It was brought out in cross-examination that the state agency's investigation resulted in an indictment against Rachal in Midland County and indictments against Rachal and Hunnicutt in Kerr County.

Only the Midland case has come to trial, but a mistrial was declared, according to Wednesday's testimony.

Out Of Jail

Roger Clyde Kendrex, 24, Rt. 1, Box 186, was transferred by city police to county jail Wednesday on charges of possession of marijuana and driving while intoxicated. He was released on $15,000 bond on the drug charge and $500 bond on the intoxication charge. Peace Justice Jess Slaughter set the bonds.

Unemployment Not Bad Here, But Still Problem

Unemployment in Big Spring is running a lot less than many points to the east, Leon Kinney, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office, told the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday meeting in the Setles.

But there is still a need for helping obtain jobs for returning veterans.

He cited figures which showed that the employment situation here is five times better than in some Northeast and East Texas points. The increase in unemployment claims here during the past year has lagged 10 to 15 per cent behind the state figures.

Yet, there are enough jobless individuals to make the situation a bit difficult for young men completing their military service, he said.

Sgt. Al Gaston of Webb AFB told about the transition service offered at the base. Six to eight months before the end of serviceman's separation from service, he said, the serviceman is called in for counseling. Efforts are made to determine desires, qualification, experience and training. Sometimes the military can train for a marketable skill prior to discharge. Referral service also is provided, particularly to the Veterans Administration, colleges and other agencies.

"Transition service of the military is but one step," he declared. "Employers must take the veteran the rest of the way."

SEN. EDMUND MUSKIE

Muskie Backs Demonstration Against War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine has endorsed a planned April 24 demonstration in Washington as "an effective impassioned and yet peaceful protest" against the war in Southeast Asia.

Muskie, rated the leader among prospective candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972, added his endorsement to that already announced by Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota. McGovern is a declared candidate for the White House.

Muskie, in a statement entered in the Congressional Record Wednesday, said the organizations planning the demonstration "intend that it be a peaceful and constructive expression of concern."

The People's Coalition for Peace and Justice is sponsoring the Washington demonstration as one in a series in what it describes as a spring offensive. Announced goals are immediate U.S. withdrawal from South Vietnam, a $6,500 guaranteed annual income, and release of what the organization called political prisoners.

Muskie and McGovern mentioned only the objective of ending U.S. involvement in the war.

Muskie said the right of citizens to assemble and petition the government carries with it obligations:

"For the demonstrators to dissent peacefully and responsibly:

"For us, as members of government, to listen without prejudice to the voices of dissent."

Clinic Training

Donald L. McGee, chief, engineering division, at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital was to visit the Dallas VA Hospital today to receive training in pulmonary function construction. The training is for a clinic to diagnose and treat respiratory conditions that is planned for the Big Spring VA Hospital.

Wedding List

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 18. She is marrying the boy she went steady with all through high school. He is 19. We are managing the wedding but must limit the number of guests to 125 because my husband has been out of work and we are not in very good shape financially.

I told the groom's mother that she could invite 63 people and we were inviting 62. She said that wasn't nearly enough for her as she is presently separated from her husband and she wants to invite her boyfriend and his family, which is very large. I told her in a nice way that she could invite whomever she wanted but not more than 63 people as we had to hold down the expense.

Guess what she said? "Either I have as many people as I want or I'll refuse to sign for my son!"

Abby, he is only 19 and he can't get married unless she signs for him. So what do I do now?

SAD MOM

DEAR MOM: Don't let her blackmail you. In some states the signature of only one parent (or guardian) is sufficient. Look into it. Also tell the lady(?) that she wants to pay for her own guests she may have as many as she wants.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago my husband died, and right after the funeral my children insisted that I go visit my sister in another town to get away for a while.

Today I came home to an immaculate, but very empty house. I have two wonderful daughters and I love them dearly, but sometimes I wish they wouldn't be so helpful.

They came in and cleaned my house from top to bottom. Every closet, every cupboard, every shelf had been scrubbed. My house shines from one end to another.

But what bothers me most is that they disposed of all their father's belongings! There is not a trace of him in this house. It's as though he never lived here. There are no socks to darn, no buttons to sew. My sons-in-law even divided up his tools. I suppose they did this so I wouldn't feel so bad sorting through his things and doing it myself.

I could say something, but the deed is done, however well-meaning it was. But now I have nothing to do except dust and wash my own few dishes.

Thanks for listening, Abby. I feel a little better now.

LOST AND LONELY

DEAR LOST: I understand your feeling of uselessness, but I assure you your daughters meant well. They spared you what is usually the most painfully heart-breaking task a widow must face.

DEAR ABBY: On my next birthday, I will have to register for the draft. I am opposed to the war in Vietnam and I want no part of it. If necessary, I will go to prison. I can't honestly say my "religious convictions" are responsible for my feelings, which I understand one would have to swear to under oath in order to become a conscientious objector.

I do not want to be in violation of the law by refusing to register. But I know positively that my conscience will not allow me to take part in this war. Can you help me?

FOR PEACE

DEAR FOR: After you register, request a special form for conscientious objectors from your draft board. You will have 30 days in which to gather character references from your neighbors, teachers, your clergyman and anyone who will vouch for your sincerity in this connection. Your draft board will then review your case.

If you are classified I-A, in spite of your objections, you can request a personal appearance and appeal it.

Meaning Of Test

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: There is no doubt, I am sure, that tuberculin testing is a very useful tool. Yet I cannot help but feel that it has caused much grief and unhappiness.

In fact, this letter is the result of a case I am familiar with. One parent, over 40, had a mild reaction to the test recently. The rest of the family was found negative.

X-rays on this parent were normal. Yet the test has caused alienation between the couple themselves and the children to the point where I fear a break-up of the family is a real possibility.

What does the test mean? Could a person who came in contact with the germ 30 years ago still harbor the germ inactive, and can it become active in later life? Maybe if they read something about it in the paper it would help.--A.R.

I've written several times before about the tuberculin or "skin" test, but I'll do it again. I'm at a loss to understand why this family you mention should get into what seems to be a savage uproar instead of asking for some information that could clear up the fuss.

The tuberculin test does not tell whether a person is harboring tuberculosis germs--active or inactive. All it tells is whether he has ever come in contact with TB.

A negative tuberculin test is proof that you don't have TB.

A positive test, however, is not proof that you do.

All it proves is that, having been in contact with the germs, you need further tests to see whether you do or you don't have TB.

In the case you describe, the parent with the positive test has had such a further test--the chest X-ray--and no evidence of TB was discovered.

So what is the family so upset about?

He was exposed once, but he didn't get the disease.

The way the test works is this: when one is exposed to TB germs, the body's protective mechanism goes to work, and antibodies are created in the blood. The antibodies are substances which are designed to combat that particular germ.

These antibodies, once created, remain in the blood--a positive tuberculin test will show them. But whether they were originally from 30 years ago or three is a question.

Anyway, the person who has had a positive tuberculin test thereafter should have periodic chest X-rays, because if he ever does contract TB, he wants to find out without delay.

As for the rest of the family, as long as they continue to have negative tuberculin tests, they don't need chest X-rays. (Not to test for TB, anyway.) Because you may or may not get TB when exposed, but you can't have TB without exposure to the germs.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching, and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald requesting a copy of the booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Easter Fires Will Spring

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex. (AP)—The famed Easter fires of Fredericksburg will burn again Saturday night, April 10, on the hills surrounding the city.

This year the Easter fires and pageant, presented in the Gillespie County Fair Park, tell a story that has added significance. Fredericksburg is celebrating its 125th birthday with a big 4-day celebration May 6-9. The city was founded by German immigrants May 8, 1846.

When the founder, John O. Meusebach, was away with a group of men negotiating the peace treaty with the Comanches, the Indians that kept watch over the city lighted signal fires on the hills. A German mother, to calm the cries of her little children, recalled the Easter fires burned on the hillsides in her native country. She told them the Easter Rabbit was up there dyeing Easter eggs with the pretty colors of the wild-flowers.

When Meusebach and the men returned from their successful peace mission and heard the tale, they vowed that each Easter eve they would light the Easter fires. And so they did, with many families making a yearly project of this. In later years Boy Scouts and other youth organizations joined in building fires.

The Easter fires pageant combines fact and legend in a presentation that features almost 500 in the past portraying colonists and Indians, as well as singers, dancers, bandmen, and best of all, many Easter rabbits from a tiny baby to grandma and grandpa bunny, all in colorful rabbit costumes.

Texas Sights And Scenes Explored In Publication

AUSTIN — "Texas has never looked so good." J. C. Dingwall, State Highway Engineer, thus summarized the highway department's comprehensive new Texas tourist publication.

Titled "Texas, Land Of Contrast," the book fills 200 pages with the scenic, historic and recreational pleasures of Texas. It offers concise details on what to see and do, and illustrates the whole with a lavish selection of color photographs.

"Here between two covers is the complete travel guide to Texas," Dingwall said. "With this book, our out-of-state visitors will find points of interest to occupy their time in every part of the state. And they can explore everywhere, because the book contains both detailed section maps, and a statewide fold-out map at the back."

The new book is a consolidation of many formerly separate pieces of highway department travel literature. Combining tourist information about 371 cities and towns in Texas, it also lists state parks and major lakes, facilities in Texas national parks, national recreation areas, Big Bend National Park, and Padre Island National Seashore.

Special sections of the new book include a complete campground guide of publicly operated facilities, sections on Texas rocks and minerals, wild flowers, and birds. Basic hunting and fishing facts are told, along with information on major events, the Texas Travel Trails, highlights of Texas history and statistics, plus regulations on visits to Mexico.

Dingwall said, "We think this book will be the most effective tool ever produced for luring more new tourists, and stimulating travel throughout the state. By combining many separate booklets, folders and brochures we'll provide better service to all travelers, and incidentally save ourselves considerable labor, handling and mailing costs."

He likened the book's wide range of interests to a Sears Roebuck catalogue. "This is really a wish book," Dingwall said. "Anybody opening this book, anywhere in the world, is going to wish they were vacationing in Texas."

The new book culminates more than a year of research and production by the highway department. Dingwall said it involved the cooperation of many state offices including the Texas Tourist Development Agency, Parks and Wildlife Department, and State Historical Survey Committee, plus local chambers of commerce and others.

The publication will be distributed at highway department tourist bureaus on the perimeter of the state, and by mail in response to out-of-state inquiries. Due to the great demand for Texas travel information, Dingwall said the book will be reserved for single copy distribution only. He cited more than a million annual visitors at tourist bureaus, plus the department's responsibility for handling some 275,000 mail inquiries, including coupons from the state's travel ads.

The new book measures eight by eleven inches. The cover, a travel scene from the past, is a Frederick Remington painting on an old stage coach. In its topics ranging from caves to mile-high mountains, the book cites nearly 4,000 items of tourist and travel information. Some 400 color photographs illustrate the text, which is supplemented by 10 detailed section maps.

In its initial production run of 200,000 the book required more than 5,000 pounds of ink and 10 railroad cars of paper weighing 186 tons. Running feet of paper through the press totaled 19 million feet, or nearly 3,600 miles.

WWI Vets Set Meeting

The 19th District, Department of Texas, Veterans of World War I will meet Saturday for the Spring session in Lubbock. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. at the Plains Co-Op Cotton Oil Mill, 2901 Avenue A, Lubbock.

R. L. Price, Lamesa, commander of the 19th District will be master of ceremonies, while Mrs. Lucille Jacobs, Big Spring, president of the 19th District Ladies Auxiliary, will head the women's meeting.

Guest speakers for the affair will include Joe N. Parker, national service officer of the Disabled American Veterans stationed at the Veterans Administration office in Lubbock. Parker is a Vietnam veteran. Also as guest speaker will be Rep. E. L. Short, Tahoka, 73rd District, House of Representatives, Austin.

Adults Urged To Attend Teen Center Meeting

The young people say there is a need for a teen center — what say the adults?

Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin and Mrs. Norman Piquet told the Downtown Lions Club about it at their Wednesday noon meeting. They urged all adults to attend a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Room 100, Science Building, Howard County Junior College, to discuss the matter.

Three out of four high school students returned questionnaires mailed by the 1953 Hyperion Club, said Mrs. McLaughlin. Nearly all said they thought a teen center is needed. While they sometime differed to a degree on activities, they were all agreed that a center would have to have no drinking, no drugs, no fighting. Most of them thought that a center should be supported in part by dues from memberships, which could be revoked for cause. They suggested the hours of 3:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

But before any hopes can be raised, said Mrs. Piquet, the club needs to know if there is substantial adult support, for financial stability and responsible operation will have to come from this source.

"Frankly," she said, "what we need is for some club or organization to agree to be the sponsor of a center project, to give it coordination and direction. Our club is composed of only 28 members, most of them mothers of teenagers. We need the help of men."

At any rate, they urged every person interested in the possibility of a center to attend the Tuesday evening meeting.

Leading Cowboy Sneaks To Top From Nowhere

DENVER, Colo. — Phil Lyne has done it. In one month he's come from nowhere to lead the all-around championship standings, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said here today.

He moved into the number one slot after the Edmonton, Alta., Canada, rodeo, which ended Sunday. Lyne, 23, of George West, Tex., was crowned all-around cowboy at Edmonton by winning $2,008 in calf roping, bareback bronc riding and bull riding. His total earnings for 1971, of $13,255, make him the "winningest" cowboy of the season. Lyne, who competes in the five major events at each rodeo, made his bid to lead in all-around competition by winning more than $7,000 at the Houston, Astrodomo rodeo, which ended March 7. After Houston, he was sitting third in all-around standings, which are based on winnings.

Since Edmonton, Lyne's winnings are above those of Paul Mayo, ($12,177) of Grinnel, Iowa, who has lead in winnings throughout most of 1971.
