Student Teaching Program Added To Big Spring Schools

By STEVE HULTMAN

Student teachers are in Big Spring in force for the first time.

There have been 11 student teachers training here this semester. They all live in the Big Spring area, and all but one go to Angelo State University.

"We worked hard to convince the school to let us teach here," said Mrs. Florence J. Slate, Angelo.

"It's a big help to the students who live in the Big Spring area," said Mrs. Shirley Bradshaw, Angelo. "Student teachers used to have to teach in San Angelo or Abilene. It's much better to work in the area you live in and expect to work in."

All the teachers are married, all have children, and all have understanding husbands, according to Mrs. Slate. "We would have to commute to San Angelo to teach if we couldn't teach here," said Mrs. Myrt Tindol, Angelo. "We can't leave our families and live in San Angelo. I have two children in high school and one in the sixth grade."

Student teaching is a required course for anyone who wants to get a teaching certificate. The regular teacher does most of the supervising involved in the course, but the college also sends someone periodically to see how student teachers are doing.

"We start by sitting in the classroom and observing," said Mrs. Bradshaw. "When the teacher thinks we are ready, she allows us to take over part of the class schedule. Eventually we may be able to handle the whole class."

"Our hardest job is gaining acceptance by the class. When they start calling you 'Mama' you know you have been accepted," she said.

"Student teachers help us tremendously," said Mrs. Bill Addy, who is Mrs. Bradshaw's supervising teacher. "They allow us to provide much more individual attention to the children."

Ernie Boyd, Park Hill principal, said that he was pleased with the student teachers, an appraisal confirmed by S. M. Anderson, superintendent.

"We will continue to cooperate with it," said Anderson. "We have had some student teachers in the vocational field before, but none now."

The student teachers in Big Spring are Mrs. Shirley Bradshaw, Mrs. Janell Clarke, Mrs. Buene Anne Neel, Mrs. Anita Ball, Mrs. Florence J. Slate, Mrs. Myrt Tindol and Mrs. Vesta Schultz, all at Park Hill from Angelo State University.

Mrs. Peggy Westbrook, Abilene Christian College, is also at Park Hill.

Mrs. Neva Jo Swann, Mrs. Linda Harp and Mrs. Patricia Seay are all at the high school.

The student teachers can work a full day for eight weeks or they can work a half-day for 16 weeks. Some of the student teachers are here now and some are back in college. Only Mrs. Westbrook is working for 16 weeks.

Ping-Pong Tournney May Be First Step

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's sharp-eyed China watchers are searching for signs that may tell whether Peking's apparently altered foreign policy line enlarges the prospects for peace in Southeast Asia.

Should the Communist Chinese decide that a settlement of the Indochina conflict—or even a damping down of military action—is in their interests, U.S. specialists believe they should be able to exert considerable influence on Hanoi.

Should developments in the near future fail to produce the answer to this basic question, it seems certain that President Nixon will initiate some behind-the-scenes diplomatic efforts to determine the facts.

Administration officials emphasize that up to now there is no solid information on which to base a dependable interpretation of recent surprising events. These, of course, focus on the invitation to American and other foreign table tennis teams to visit mainland China, and the subsequent warm reception accorded them.

The most that has been decided by analysts here on the basis of the few politically significant facts available is that this friendly gesture, particularly the invitation to a U.S. team and some U.S. newsmen, seems to be part of a strategy of working for a Chinese Communist seat in the United Nations late this year.

On this point the general judgment in official quarters is that Premier Chou En-lai, who hailed the visit of the Americans as opening a new page in international relations, has executed a brilliant maneuver to remake China's global image.

The cordiality of the visit obviously was intended to show China as a nation of people friendly to the Americans after more than 20 years of official hostility and vitriolic propaganda.

But what this means in practical terms still is a mystery in Washington as apparently it is in other Western and, indeed, Communist capitals.

STILL MYSTERY
Until Chou or his associates are ready to explain why they have made such a radical turn the mystery is not likely to be cleared up.

President Nixon's first response after the U.S. team was invited to Peking ten days ago, was to "play it cool" and offer further encouragement to the Chinese to improve relations but to avoid jumping to conclusions which might well be unjustified.

Thus he timed an announcement of new easing of U.S. trade and travel restraints in Red China relations to show an American appreciation for Peking's action. But the White House said steps outlined in the announcement had been decided here well before the table tennis episode and had no connection with it.

to test. Ample well water is due by June 1.

There's to be a new industry announcement party at the Cosden Country Club Tuesday at 10 a.m., and you are invited. At first there was to have been a $1 cover charge, but now is all free. Maybe the rain has changed our whole outlook.

Word has come that Col. Anderson W. Atkinson will be reassigned in the ATC Aug. 1, and Col. Malcolm E. Ryan will succeed him. It's another verse in a continuing story — just as we get deeply attached to our base officials, they get rotated to new jobs.

The excitement of gaiety and adventure turned into deep tragedy on Easter when a gravel bank collapsed on Michael Allen Massengill, 7, who was on an egg hunt with companions two miles north of Vealmoor. He was dead before he could be rescued. Michael was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Massengill. Two miles southeast of Sterling City, a car crash claimed three lives.

The possibility of further action toward a teen center was raised after some three score persons turned out for a meeting called by the 1953 Hyperion Club to determine interest. Omer Jones came up with an offer of a building to house a center, and a committee is exploring the possibilities.

The city commission, off to a momentarily bumpy start, renamed Arnold Marshall as mayor and Wade Choate as mayor pro tem. There was a brief flap over whether briefing or work sessions were announced or closed meetings. The school board named Roy E. Watkins president, Delmor Poss secretary, Mrs. Roscoe (Mary Joy) Cowper stepped down after 12 years of service on the board. That's a considerable labor of love for one's community.

Members of the Howard County Junior College faculty will get a $400 raise next year. Trustees agreed on this figure, regardless of what the legislature may do in appropriations.

The champion school speller of Howard County for 1971 is Maridene Margolis, 13, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Margolis. She finally spelled down Scott Sullivan, 11, son of Mrs. Mary E. Sullivan, when it appeared they might spend the rest of the evening grinding out words with the consistency of a dictionary.

Two other area young people won honors during the week. Paul Hopper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hopper, Knott, and Becky Liscum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Liscum, Midland, won the Cap Rock Electric oratorical contest. Thus, they will get an expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C., in June.

City commissioners were given another briefing last week on the city's waste disposal problem. Jim Nichols, of Freese, Nichols and Endress, outlined possible courses of action to improve the quality of effluent from the plant — all of them costing money. As City Manager Larry Crow pointed out, the day of reckoning with the Texas Water Quality Board is at hand — perhaps nigh at hand.

The continuing hassle over a regional planning group brought one new and hopeful development last week. Just as it appeared there were to be rival groups, officials of the area more or less agreed to get together for a new start.

Enjoy your sleep this morning. A week hence you'll have one less hour of it when we shift to Daylight Savings Time. But think how much longer you will have to putter in the yard, play golf, etc.

Skelton Praises Patton's Role

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Comedian Red Skelton says Actor George Scott should have received three Oscars instead of just one for his role in "Patton."

"I think it was fair," Skelton said of the best actor's award to Scott, who shunned it. "George Scott should have gotten three. One for not showing up. One for the job as actor. And one for looking exactly like Patton," Skelton said.

The comic, here for a performance, said he is not too fond of awards—or testimonial dinners. "I've attended about six in my life and the guest of honor at each one has always died within three weeks of the dinner," he said.

Local Oil Jobbers Back From Confab

Five Big Spring businessmen returned Saturday from the Texas Oil Jobbers Association convention in Dallas.

Merrill Creighton of Creighton Oil Co., Tommy Gage and Elbia Henderson of Gage Oil Co., K. H. McGibbon of McGibbon Oil Co. and Earl Newell of Newell Oil Co. were local representatives.

The convention heard talks by leading state and national executives and administrators.

The convention elected Charles Bryce of San Angelo a regional vice president. A full slate of new officers was also elected, and awards for distinguished service were presented.

DROUTH MAY BE BENT, BUT IT'S STILL NOT BROKEN

Widespread Rainfall 'Like A Down Payment'

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

AMARILLO (AP) — The drouth, West Texans agree, is bent but by no means broken. Rainfall across widespread areas of Texas is "kind of like a down payment," Dr. Wayne C. West of Lubbock said Saturday. He has spent 20 years in the School of Agriculture at Texas Tech.

"It's wonderful . . . just the fact that it started raining," banker-rancher Beverly King of Graham said. "We got three-tenths of an inch at home." Then he repeated one of the older West Texas gripes: "When Noah got his flood, we got half an inch."

"It's a starter," said R. I. Cross of Amarillo, an agricultural agent for the Santa Fe Railroad. "But what we got here — if we get a couple of days of windy weather, the dust will be blowing again."

Bill Collins, editor of the Midland Reporter-Telegram, noted that the moisture is welcome "but you don't break a drouth with a quarter inch of rain."

"If it doesn't do anything else, it's going to make everybody feel better," said Bill Cox, an

Dino, 'Juliet' Wed In Las Vegas

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Dean Martin's son Dino and British beauty Olivia Hussey were married Saturday night in Las Vegas, Nev., a spokesman announced.

Miss Hussey, the Juliet of the film "Romeo and Juliet," celebrates her 20th birthday today. Martin, 19, whose real name is Dean Martin Jr., is a pre-medical student at the University of California at Los Angeles. He hopes to be a surgeon.

The couple plans to live at young Martin's home in Beverly Hills.

Odessa businessman. "I know I feel better."

Light rain fell here Saturday and thick, grey clouds rolled across the Panhandle as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce ended its 53rd convention.

"The group of bankers, businessmen, ranchers, city officials and others rejoiced at the dent in the drouth, but no one viewed the rain as an end in itself to the prolonged dry spell.

"It was helpful," said Clint Formby of Hereford. "It made a difference . . . but even if it duplicated what it did last night there would still be doubt that the spell is broken.

"We've got to get more moisture than this to get to the sub-soil so we can plant. On the South Plains we still got the cotton to put in."

"And the cattle are still coming in from the ranges," Mayor Bill Lance of Perryton said. "The dryland wheat in this area has held up well. 'If we can get two inches of rain before May 1, we could make a better than average crop," he said.

Fiedler Arrives In Fire Engine

BONN, Germany (AP) — Boston Pops conductor Arthur Fiedler scored a roaring success here Friday night, from the time he arrived at a concert in a fire engine until he finally left after two encores.

Fiedler, a fire engine fancier, arrived at Bonn's Beethoven Hall in a gleaming hook and ladder. He drew cheers and applause with his spirited version of tunes from the musical "Hair" and St. Louis Blues.

Also applauded during the gala performance was Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's wife, Joan, who narrated Serge Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf."

"But other than the snow (of the winter), it's been just as dry as elsewhere," Lance said. His portion of the Panhandle has been in better shape for moisture, because of the snows, than any other section of Texas.

"But there have been times," Lance quipped, "when we've had to raise wheat on high humidity alone."

Bennett, the Tech farm expert, said that while "there's been some pretty good general rain, it still hasn't reached all over the state . . . And it's not enough in some places to saturate the soil. It's still dry underneath."

"It makes you feel real good that we got the rain, but it's still not enough to call a general drouth breaker."

"We're within five weeks of when the earliest wheat should be ready to harvest in the Red River Valley and adjacent areas," said Cross, who travels a multi-state area for the Santa Fe.

Give Carr More Details, SEC Told

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has been ordered to reveal more information about its civil charge against former state Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr.

Carr is one of the defendants in an alleged stock fraud case that arose in January.

U.S. Dist. Judge Sarah T. Hughes told SEC lawyers Friday to respond to her order for more information by May 24. John K. DeLay Jr., representing Carr, told Judge Hughes he had received "only partial answers" to about five of the 54 questions he had submitted to the SEC about six weeks ago. Judge Hughes has ordered an August trial in the case.

for all practical purposes there will be no dryland wheat in the Texas High Plains, Western Oklahoma and even southwestern Colorado," Cross predicted.

But there was little doubt the rain bolstered spirits far and wide.

"It helps a lot," said Wallace Cannon, a wheat and cotton farmer near Plainview, who said his city got more rain Thursday and Friday than it had since a tornado struck the area a year ago.

"Any water helps us," Cannon said. "We need more, though . . . The best thing about the rain was that it will help cut down the cost of irrigation. We're excited about it."

Ed Kaufman of Fort Worth, said he had telephoned home from Amarillo three times in two days and it was raining on each occasion.

"I think it's fantastic," he said.

Pollution Stirs Texas Citizens Men, Women, Children Protecting Heritage

EDITOR'S NOTE: When it comes to protecting the land, water, and air, Texas has every problem in the book. Because it has every environment from desert mountains to 367 miles of coastline—fishing grounds, and in the west to thick pine forests in the east. Here are some of the ways Texans are protecting their natural heritage.

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Writer

In Lubbock, a four-year-old boy struts importantly across the windswept Texas Tech campus. He grabs a discarded cigarette pack in a tiny fist, crams it into his litter bag and tumbles on.

In San Antonio, a stylish housewife shoves a spade into the black soil to plant a tree in the path of a strip of concrete, in defiance of an expressive plan she believes will ruin parklands.

It has started on a freeway that has been actively opposed by conservation groups for over a decade. The route would take it through Brackenridge Park, home of the city zoo and the famous Sunken Gardens.

Citizens in Corpus Christi, Houston and San Antonio have almost consistently lost in their battles to keep the Texas Water Quality Board from granting variances — exceptions from state anti-pollution standards — to local industries.

STILL FIGHTING

In Dallas, a group fighting pollution from a lead plant has lost round after round, only to return to the fight.

Previously unsuspected pollutants continually are discovered in the air, the water and the land as the environment of the Lone Star State comes under ever closer scrutiny. Each discovery escalates the war, increasing the job to be done.

CREATE PARK

Citizens in Fort Worth are backing a plan to turn a long section of the Trinity River near the downtown area into a park and recreation center. Dams would create long, shallow lakes. Walkways, sporting areas and swimming areas would be developed. Residents have made donations to finance planting of 1,658 pecan trees along the river. An electric company will install a light show along one stretch of the river. The project will transform a usually ignored river into a valuable asset.

College students are testing water, staging rallies, making speeches and writing letters. Women's groups are buttonholing legislators, appearing before city councils and forming study groups. Teenagers forsake relaxed weekends to make posters and collect reusable cans.

COALITION OF NORTH CENTRAL TEXAS

NO MORE SMOKE — Smoke no longer belches from the smokestack of this fertilizer plant in Houston, after citizens presented a report to the Texas Air Quality Control Board which so impressed the board that it refused a pollution variance.

'Facts Only,' Says Martin Of Probe

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin says he is interested only in the facts in his investigation of alleged manipulation of insurance company stock held by state officials.

Martin issued a statement Friday that he said would be his last word on the case until he reports to the House General Investigating Committee.

"I want to make it clear that we are interested in facts, not in any allegations or innuendos unsupported by factual evidence," Martin said.

Persons giving him information in the case will be asked to furnish signed and sworn statements, he said.

Weather Modifier Flushed By Initial Seeding Results

By BRIAN PEAY

With possible success in its first two days of operations, Atmospherics, Inc. has dug in for a long, and hopefully successful season of cloud seeding in this area.

The Fresno, Calif., firm has a contract with the Colorado River Municipal Water District Thursday evening, the first effective day of the contract found conditions right for initial seeding. The plane seeder went up three times, and there was rain which brought a break in a seven-month dry spell.

The first seeding operations were conducted on a line from Big Spring to Lake E. V. Spence, then north to Lake J. B. Thomas and back to Big Spring. A total of two and one half to three inches of rain was recorded at Lake Spence and 6 inches was recorded at Lake Thomas. Reports in the city ranged from .76 inches, the official tally, to over one inch.

20 PCT. BOOST

"As far as success is concerned we have in the past years, taking an over-all average of all the rain stimulation projects we have worked on, the rain fall has been increased by 20 per cent in each of the project areas," said Tom Henderson, president at Atmospherics Inc.

Henderson started in the field of cloud physics in 1948 and formed the Atmospherics firm in 1960.

"In the hail preventative projects we have stopped 70 per cent of the hail in the areas we have worked," according to Henderson. The most significant operation the firm has conducted was in Kenya, Africa, which started in 1967. There it hails three-fourths of the year, but seeding operations have lowered the hail incidence consistently by 70 per cent, he said.

The idea has been supported by some that a hail preventative program hampers the chances of rain. "We have not found any evidence that hail suppression diminishes rain," Henderson explained. The CRMWD project is a rain stimulation program.

CREW BASED HERE

The crew now based at the Howard County Airport consists of Fred Clark, chief electronic technician for Atmospherics, Bob Munn, meteorologist, and Bill Carley, pilot.

They utilize a house trailer containing radar and electronic gear and an airplane equipped with different mechanisms to release chemicals into the clouds.

The ground radar system has a 200-mile range, but normal surveillance is in the 80-mile area bounded roughly by US 87 north to the Dawson-Lynn line, east to US 84, south to 12 miles south of Roscoe, west to US 87 in the Howard-Glasscock line, thence north to Big Spring.

The chemical, silver iodide, is emitted by flare type devices on the wings of the plane. "The most important factor in this project is to deliver the iodide to the right place and at the right time in the storm clouds," said Henderson.

The information on the formation of the clouds and bad portions of the storm center is given to the pilot, who uses his judgment on where to fly in the storm. The chemical is delivered to the base of the clouds and nothing falls through the clouds, according to Henderson.

FORMS ICE CRYSTALS

Silver iodide is a unique chemical that turns the water vapors in the cloud to ice. As the ice crystals fall from the cloud to the ground they melt and produce rain.

The firm is presently under two contracts, one with the CRMWD and one with the Plains Weather Improvement Association, representing a 2,000-square mile area in Hale County and portions of Lamb, Floyd, Crosby, Castro, Swisher, and Lubbock counties. Lubbock is in neither of the target areas covered in the contracts.

The CRMWD contract overlaps only a portion of Tom Green County, however, the firm is doing the radar portion of the San Angelo project that is now under way.

"Due to these contracts, there is probably a higher concentration of cloud seeding in this area than there is in the whole United States," said Henderson.

The $66,000 contract, will last until Oct. 15 with one month off during the hot months, this summer, most likely from July 15 to August 15.

Automobile Manufacturing Carries Economy Upward

WASHINGTON (AP) — The automobile carried the nation's economy back to recovery in the first quarter of 1971, but now Nixon administration economic hopes must ride on the unpredictable spending habits of consumers.

In the next three months, government economists are banking on a strong thrust from consumer spending to continue the strong growth in the economy rolled up in January, February and March.

Although the consumer has been relatively stingy with his money in the past year, Nixon administration economic advisers say the expansion under way will induce him to part with it.

In the first quarter of the year, Gross National Product—output of the nation's goods and services—piled up a hefty $28.5 billion advance, with almost two-thirds of the gain traced to the catchup in automobile production from last fall's General Motors strike.

Although the advance, a record in sheer dollar volume, dropped short of President Nixon's forecasts, the White House ruled out proposing immediate tax cuts to give the economy another boost.

Government economists said they prefer to watch consumer spending, which turned out to be stronger in March as measured by an increase in retail sales.

Murray Weidenbaum, assistant secretary of the Treasury, said housing, state and local government spending, an expansive money supply, and a rising stock market point to a healthy upturn in the economy in the next three months.

"I think accumulatively this is going to trigger a more rapid expansion in consumer spending," he said.

"We're encouraged by March's retail sales figures," said Herb Stein, a member of Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers.

Both Weidenbaum and Stein pointed to a steady decline in the savings rate of Americans.

In the third quarter of 1970, consumers were saving 7.6 per cent of their disposable income. In the final quarter of last year, it dropped to 7.4 per cent.

In the latest statistics released Friday, the savings rate edged down to 7.3 per cent, still high by historical standards.

The White House has predicted the savings rate will average 6.9 per cent for all of 1971.

Waco's POW Journey Termed 'Successful'

DALLAS (AP) — A Waco group's trip to Paris to discuss American prisoners of war with North Vietnamese representatives was termed a success Friday night by the group's chairman.

Cullen Smith and the 12-member group arrived here Friday en route home from Paris where discussions were held with the deputy delegate-general of the North Vietnamese peace talks delegation.

"It was encouraging in the fact that the North Vietnamese agreed to see us," Smith said. Smith said the delegation refused to accept letters and petitions bearing 60,000 signatures. But, he said, the representative "listened to every word" from three men who talked with Nguyen Tuan Leui, deputy delegate-general of the delegation.

Waco Mayor Karl May and Harry Provence, executive editor of the Waco News-Tribune and Times-Herald, accompanied Cullen to Paris.

Smith said the North Vietnamese were "very courteous and firm."

Smith said the undelivered letters and petitions were stored in a warehouse in Paris where other petitions are stacking up.

Smith said the North Vietnamese told him to give the petitions to President Nixon.

He said the Viet Cong representatives in Paris refused to see the Waco group.

Never Mind Mask, Fork Over Money

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The woman waited patiently in line at the supermarket with a stocking mask over her head. When her turn came, she held up the checker for $300, police said.

Customers waiting in line with her said they noticed nothing unusual about the woman's appearance.

A man told police he thought she was wearing the stocking to protect her hair from the wind. A woman witness said she thought the stocking was a hairnet.

Police said Friday the woman displayed no weapon but merely handed a paper bag to the checker and told her to fill it with money.

South Vietnamese Troops Penetrate A Shau Valley

Air Support Pounds Enemy Positions To The East

SAIGON (AP) — B52 Stratofortresses rained 180 tons of explosives Saturday on suspected enemy positions east of the A Shau Valley, while South Vietnamese troops probed deeper into that old North Vietnamese stronghold. The troops met no resistance.

The valley is a major transportation, storage and infiltration area for the North Vietnamese. Several main outlets from the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos lead into the valley. The valley leads toward the coastal lowlands. The new sweep of the valley was officially confirmed Saturday by President Nguyen Van Thieu.

French in the French-Indochina war in 1954. He declared that the Laos campaign would save the people in South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces from any major attack this year.

North Vietnamese forces that had laid siege to the South Vietnamese outpost for 17 days were believed to have pulled out of the area.

In the eastern sector of Cambodia, North Vietnamese troops kept up shelling attacks on South Vietnamese positions along Highway 7 as they have for the past week.

One convoy ran into an ambush 50 miles south of Phnom Penh and two Cambodian paratroopers were killed and 14 wounded. One enemy body was found.

Warring Indian People Badly In Need Of Peace

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian subcontinent, its population of 700 million virtually equal to that of China, desperately needs peace to insure even a scanty subsistence for its people. Yet much of it is embroiled in fighting—with the danger that it will spread—and economic development already is crippled.

Foreign Ministry officials justify the seemingly opposite stands of opposing a rebellion in one place and supporting it in another by arguing that India is simply backing political forces that have won overwhelming popular mandates.

C-CITY MAID FOUND GUILTY

Probated Term In Child's Death

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mrs. Madeline L. McIntosh, 59, a maid, was found guilty Friday of "murder by accident and mistake while driving while intoxicated."

The jury received the case at 9 p.m. Friday and returned with the verdict at 10:10 p.m. Jurors were instructed to set a penalty by 182nd District Judge Wayland Holt, Snyder, and the jurors returned to their deliberations at 10:38 p.m. and came in 19 minutes later with a probated sentence of three years in the state prison. The case was in connection with an automobile accident Aug. 8 which resulted in the death of 9-year-old LaWayne Iglehart, and the injury of her twin brother DeWayne Iglehart. Testimony Thursday had indicated that Mrs. McIntosh's car had swerved off Hickory Street in Colorado City and had run into the Iglehart backyard, striking LaWayne who died two hours later.

Mrs. McIntosh took the stand Friday afternoon to testify in her own behalf, and told the jury that she had drunk a can of beer in the afternoon and a mixed drink at the Daniels' home, but that she was not intoxicated at the time of the accident. She added that her mind blanked out as she was driving on Hickory street, and she came to in the Iglehart back yard. "Something happened," she said, "I don't know what it was. The first thing I remember after I passed Tenth Street was that I was in this yard, and I was hurt and shocked, and I was wondering what I was doing at the time of the there."

MAYBE NO ONE WILL NOTICE IF I NIBBLE AROUND THE BOTTOM — Three-foot Rosanna Mendoza was confronted with temptation on the large scale Saturday when Herald photographer Danny Valdes used her to accentuate the size of a 300-pound Popsicle made in Big Spring and destined for the Parkley Baptist Church in Midland. Somehow the Popsicle she got seemed a small compensation. Rosanna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mendoza, 406 NW 11th.

Almost As Good As Getting Locked In a Candy Store

What's cold, strawberry in color and taste, rectangular in shape and stands at least three feet high — not counting its stem? A 300-pound strawberry Popsicle, of course.

To concoct such a toothsome delight, one must have 38 gallons of water, 80 packages of Kool-Aid, a two-by-four board for a stick and a large freezer. The result is a popsicle guaranteed not to be gone in a few bites.

Southern Ice Co., 105 N. Johnson, garnered all the ingredients and made the giant goodie for Parkley Baptist Church, Midland. The church plans to use the Popsicle in a special program today.

According to Merle Coffman of the ice company, Midland was to transport the huge treat from Big Spring to Midland by refrigerated truck Saturday.

These cover a wide variety of subject matter from street scenes to drouths and floods, from cowboys to rail workers, from chuck wagons to hotels.

There also will be a number of other items on display.

"While we do not have as much an exhibit as we would like or hope to have, we want the public to see our facilities and our possibilities," said Jerry Worthy, president. The current exhibit will be followed in late June by an outstanding collection of Western paintings during the four days of the rodeo. The next regular exhibit will feature early ranches.

Life Of Divorced Mother Contains Endless Days, Money Worries, Hope

By TOM WELLS
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — "Shannon? Shannon? Come on, now, honey. It's time to get up."

Linda Stancil coddled softly to her 7-year-old daughter and there was the soft pat-pat-pat sound of a mother's hand on a little girl's pajamas.

It was 6:30 a.m., the start of another day for a husbandless, working mother, one of hundreds of thousands of such women in America.

Mrs. Stancil tries to make the best of things for her daughter and her 6-year-old son, Bryan. She looks a little older than her 28 years and her face sometimes displays the effects of the daily pressure of working all day and being a mother and a father, to the children at night.

BARELY SMILES
She doesn't smile often and sometimes there are dark circles under her eyes.

Her weekdays start at 6 a.m. Sometimes, she says, she lies still after silencing the harsh buzz of the alarm clock and longs to remain in the security of sleep where things are quiet and problems are forgotten.

But she gets up, gets herself ready for work and then rides herd on her two children to make certain that they get ready for school on time.

By the time she goes to awaken the children on a typical morning, Bryan already is out of bed, standing sleepy-eyed in the doorway of his bedroom with his blond hair awry.

Mrs. Stancil walks into her daughter's bedroom, softly, as mothers do unconsciously, and flicks on the light.

MOVE QUICKLY
Things move quickly around the Stancil house on weekday mornings.

The radio in Mrs. Stancil's bedroom can be heard clearly through the house. A disc jockey warms up with practiced cheeriness. The Tijuana Brass comes on strong.

"Bryan? How are you doing in there?" asks Mrs. Stancil as she passes by her son's room on the way to the kitchen. "Get dressed, now. Put your pajamas in your drawer and make your bed."

Was it yesterday that Mrs. Stancil was a child herself? Running, laughing, playing on her parents' farm in North Carolina.

"Momma, where's my belt?" Bryan asks from his bedroom. His voice has the same irritation as that of a grownup who has misplaced an item.

"I think it's hanging on the bathroom door," his mother replies from the kitchen as she pours hot water from a pan into a glass coffee pot.

"No, it isn't. That's my skinny one. I mean my black one."

Some of the hot water splashes onto one of Mrs. Stancil's hands and she grimaces.

"Momma," Shannon sings out from her bedroom in a barely audible voice. Then came some mumbles.

"What, Shannon? What did you say?" Mrs. Stancil rubs ointment onto the injured hand.

"I said why didn't you hem this dress up so I can wear it?" Shannon asks.

"I told you before that's a summer dress," her mother says.

NO MORE SPRING

It wasn't too many years ago that this 28-year-old mother was waiting in wild anticipation at her parents' home for her very first school day. Life was like a spring day then.

"Bryan, did you get that bed made yet? If you have, come on in here and get your breakfast." On her way to check on Bryan's progress, she glances into her daughter's room and finds her sitting listlessly on the edge of the bed, still undressed.

"What's going on here, Shannon?" Patting time is over. "Sit up here and get dressed. You're asking for it, young lady, and I mean it."

A momentary lull in the banter. The radio's song drifts into the bedroom. "I'll taste the wine in Kingston harbor, I'll sing a song in old San Juan, I'll..."

Life is no picnic for Mrs. Stancil now. Dreams, perhaps of gaily papered walls in a new house and of love and warmth, has faded since her marriage at 17.

$400 MONTHLY

Her take home pay of $70 a week and $120 a month for child support comes to about $400 income each month. Her Christmas present from her father was four new tires, and she was ecstatic. It was just what she needed.

"Momma? Shannon won't let me in the bathroom."

"Well, you'll just have to wait until she's through."

"But she's not doing anything."

"Yes, I am," came Shannon's angry retort from behind the closed bathroom door.

Earlier, Mrs. Stancil had been asked about her budget.

NO BUDGET

"What budget?" she asked. It all goes for bills, so there's no need to make out a budget.

When bread and milk runs out a week before payday, she just has to wait until the paycheck comes in to buy some more."

By 7:45 a.m., Mrs. Stancil managed to get the children into the car. She dropped them off at school, just a block away. It would be an hour before school started. Sometimes she

NAACP Objects To Painted Man

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has objected to the use of a white stunt man painted black for a scene in a Warner Bros. release, "The Skin Man."

In a letter to motion picture industry leaders, the NAACP's Los Angeles chapter said it was "deeply concerned" because a Negro had not been employed for the stunt.

The scene called for a stunt man to ride a runaway wagon downhill in place of actor Lou Gossett, a Negro.

A spokesman for Warner Bros. said production personnel had been unable to find a black stunt man for the job.

lets them stay at home until classes begin.

Bills? The monthly ones are $103 for rent, $33 for furniture, $25 for telephone, about $21 for electricity, about $25 for natural gas and about $20 for gasoline.

"Oh, yeah," she said. "And $2.10 for water."

CHILD CARE

Twelve dollars a week goes to a child care center that keeps the children after they get out of school, and there are unfigured bills for groceries, doctor bills, medicine, clothes, car repairs, etc.

Mrs. Stancil goes home for lunch. Her children eat at the school's cafeteria. At 5 p.m. she drives several blocks from work to the child care center, which picks up the children after they get out of school.

Once at home she must dive into preparing the evening meal, cleaning house, washing, ironing and other chores.

YOU DON'T FIT

"Friends seemed to evaporate" when she and her husband separated four years ago. "They all just went kapoof," she said.

"And you're no longer the single person you used to be, so you don't fit there. You're no longer the married person, so you don't fit there. You're just in a separate world."

The children were in and out of the house, the door banging shut each time. Minutes later they were feeding. Mrs. Stancil sent them both crying to their rooms.

She composed herself and smiled slightly.

Mrs. Stancil does date some. But her other world position of being separated from her husband causes problems.

FEW MEN

"I don't have very many friends who are men because you don't know what their interest is," she said. "Nine times out of 10 it isn't good. You know what they think about a woman who's separated."

It doesn't look as though life is going to get any easier for Mrs. Stancil. But, she says, "It was blind faith when I got married, and it's blind faith now that keeps me going. Blind faith that things will get better. 'They've got to.'"

In the morning comes the familiar routine.

"Shannon? Shannon, honey, it's time to get up..."

Oaxaca Beautiful Place To Relax And Forget

By JOHN PLATERO

OAXACA, Mexico (AP) — Ancient tradition, archaeological sites and an endless number of fiestas are abundant in this southern area where Mexico bends to join Central America. It's the land of Zapoteca and Mixteca Indians, Marimba music, luscious fruits, fried bananas and women in ankle length colorful dresses.

"It's a beautiful place to rest and forget your cares," said Joann O'Brien, a Washington, D. C. veterinarian, after four days of tranquility and summer nights filled with strains of soft music from the Zocalo, the city's main park.

"I plan to travel on, but I don't know when I'll leave," she said as she relaxed at a sidewalk cafe.

Like most cities and towns in Mexico, there are many old churches throughout the city. However, few can boast the beauty and splendor of Santo Domingo built over 350 years ago.

From the outside, its appearance is almost simple. However, the interior is filled with gold and intricate carvings on the walls and ceiling. The main altar and choir loft leave one breathless with its richness and colorful carvings.

Surrounding this city are the ruins of an ancient civilization that began about 1000 B.C. and lasted until after the Spanish conquest in the 6th century.

A study is under way into the Zapoteca culture with the hope that its secrets may help today's world solve some of its problems.

Research Director Dr. John Paddock says the Zapotecs developed an advanced society over the centuries only to encounter economical and environmental difficulties. Their culture ebbed, but later they emerged anew and attained even greater advancement.

"These people were in a good frame of mind and licked their problems," Paddock said. "If we can find out what the motivation was, perhaps we could apply it to today's world."

Most of the natives in the Oaxaca area still speak Indian dialects as well as Spanish, but only a few know a smattering of English.

Women and young girls alike wear long black skirts to the ground with colorful striped blouses and gold earrings. During each fiesta, and there seems to be one every other day, women appear heavily adorned in gold necklaces and beautifully embroidered blouses.

Mothers everywhere breast feed their little ones in public as they sell their vegetables and wares in the public market.

Cooked iguana and armadillo are eaten by the local populace, but frowned on by tourists.

Distinct pottery, sarapes and handwoven belts are plentiful in the Oaxaca area, and a two-hour siesta is enjoyed by all.

LOOK AT BOOKS

Enigmas Of Easter Island Book Topic

EASTER ISLAND. By John Dos Passos. Doubleday, $4.95.

In this odd little volume the late John Dos Passos indulged in a personal whim. He had been intrigued for years by the enigmas of Easter Island.

So he gathered together a number of explorers' accounts of their visits to the home of the great statues. Dos Passos makes only passing references to the disputes of the archaeologists and anthropologists over the origins of the native population (the traditionalists say they came from the west through Malaysia, but Thor Heyerdahl argues they came westward from Peru). Nor does Dos Passos discuss the theories of why and how the statues were erected.

The earliest journal which he presents is that of Jacob Roggeveen, who was sent to the Pacific by the Dutch West India Company in 1771. Among the other 18th century visitors was the famous Captain James Cook, who made a short stop in 1774; in the 19th century one of the visitors was an American, William J. Thomson.

The book, which is well illustrated, concludes with a description of a week of sight-seeing which Dos Passos enjoyed in January, 1969.

Restoration Is Asked For 'Hanging Gardens'

BABYLON, Iraq (AP) — The Socialist government of Iraq has been urged to replant the Hanging Gardens of Babylon and revive one of the ancient seven wonders of the world to lure tourists to Iraq.

Baghdad newspapers have asked the government to restore the fabled gardens to their ancient splendor. "By rebuilding the Hanging Gardens, the government will encourage tourists to visit the site of Babylon," said one editorial.

Not a trace of the gardens remains at this dusty archaeological site 60 miles south of Babylon itself, once glowing with a splendour unrivaled in the ancient world, only a few low brick walls, mounds of earth and the main gate have survived the centuries.

And of course, the Lion of Babylon.

The Lion is a stone figure erected near the site of the old temple of Babylon. Though much smaller than the Sphinx of Giza in Egypt, it has one thing in common with that enigmatic half-man half-lion—it has no nose.

Egyptian history books say Napoleon lopped off the Sphinx's nose with one of his cannons just to put the Egypt-tians in their place.

No one knows how the Lion of Babylon lost his nose.

And little is really known about the Hanging Gardens, Iraqi tourist pamphlets say the Hanging Gardens were built by Nebuchadnezzar in the 6th century BC to please his queen. She came from the highlands and pined for some greenery to refresh the arid plains of Mesopotamia.

Water from the nearby Euphrates River readily was available and Nebuchadnezzar — cast as a villain in history because he deported the Jews from Jerusalem to Babylon — fulfilled his wife's whim and planted the gardens.

Victorian artists in England pictured the gardens as fabulous botanical treasure houses, replete with rare and splendid plants.

They were represented as terrace upon terrace of lush cool greenery, full of the scent of fragrant flowers, bushes and trees. The portrayal was in keeping with Babylon's slightly decadent reputation from the time it was the capital of the Babylonian civilization in Mesopotamia.

Archaeologists and historians in more recent times have cast a colder eye on the Hanging Gardens.

To begin with, it appears they weren't hanging at all. The gardens were vast fields planted outside the walls of the old city. There was a fragrance but it probably was the smell of onions, not the aroma of some rare and fragile plant.

For the gardens really were large vegetable patches, where Babylonian farmers grew cucumbers, onions and other staples. Some sections were also planted with vines to provide grapes for wine.

At any rate, the gardens now are not existent. A wooden sign board next to a low brick wall here says in English and Arabic "Hanging Gardens—One of the Seven Wonders of the World."

Donkeys and sheep nibble on the dry grass. A trickle of visitors turn off the road to have a look at the site and have a bite to eat at a restaurant.

A small museum houses artifacts and relics dug up in the surroundings. The only touch of color is provided by the remnants of the Ishtar Gate, through which triumphant processions used to pass into the city.

A yellow-brick structure, it is adorned with lions and bulls in glazed blue tile. The noseless Lion of Babylon is grey.

ONE-MULE POWER — Mrs. Revis Holmes, Texarkana meter maid, had second thoughts when she found a wagon-pulling mule overparked on a downtown street. She couldn't decide where to hang the ticket on the one-mule power vehicle. She decided to forget the whole thing, for fear that the mule would "kick" about the ticket.

WOULD GIVE UP CAREER FOR SON — Glenda Jackson, Britain's most talked about actress, would give up acting at a word from her two-year-old son, Daniel. She indicates her son is nearing the age when he needs a full-time mother. She won a New York Critics Award for her performance in "Women in Love" and has been nominated for a Hollywood Oscar for the same film part.

New Red Cross Chapter Chief Has Varied Career

By STEVE HULTMAN
N. E. (Nat) Roll, new director of the Howard-Glasscock Red Cross chapter, has a varied background ranging from school dropout to businessman.

But his present position is the one that gives him most satisfaction of all.

"I think this is because of an inherent desire to help people," he said. "I do everything from accountant work to being a sort of father confessor. We try to do for the service man what the government cannot. If an allotment check doesn't show up, we can loan money to the wife until the check comes in. We also are the go-between for families with men in Vietnam, or other points around the world. Sometimes we can help with marital problems and a number of other types of difficulties. I've never found anything more fascinating because the work is with people."

BACK TO BIG SPRING

When he got out of service in 1961, he headed for Texas and got a job in Big Spring. Later he operated his own electronics business, then worked in this field at Webb AFB.

He was born in Newport, R.I., Dec. 15, 1916, but the family went to Florida when he was a child. When his father died, the family went to Pennsylvania, and he ended up as ward of his older sister. Her husband was a Navy man, and he hopped from school to school, finally dropping out.

"I finally got to the point where I figured I knew more than the teacher and up and quit school. I have regretted it ever since. I have picked up an education along the way through the military and on my own, but there are still things I want to know."

MANY JOBS

His first job was on a hog ranch. "I only lasted two weeks, but it took my sister about two months to straighten me out, with blisters on my hands and feet. I went on to jobs doing everything from raising chickens to punching cattle."

"I worked on a ranch in the mid-to-late '30's for the last of the old cowboys. One of the old-timers I got acquainted with could remember his mother fighting Indians. They taught me a lot, my life was molded by the old boys I associated with."

"I tried to get into the cavalry right before the war to train to be a veterinarian. I tried to enlist in the First Cavalry, but the one day they could have taken me I missed showing up. But maybe someone was trying to tell me something. The old First Cavalry was wiped out in the South Pacific in the early part of the war."

He joined the Air Force in 1941, spent the war island hopping in the Pacific and was discharged in 1945. However, he re-enlisted in 1946. In Europe he was with the military police.

MEETS WIFE

"I was stationed in Furth, Germany, near Nuremberg, when I met my wife, Stephanie. She is a Czechoslovakian who left there just ahead of the Russians. When I was transferred back to the United States I sent for her and we were married in San Diego.

"We were in California, New York, Texas and North Africa in the Air Force. I was an air policeman until, at Webb AFB, I applied for radar technician school. "I really loved electronics."

When he retired, he worked in a hardware store here in the TV service department until he set up a shop and went into business as Boxer (after his dog) Electronics.

Mrs. Roll had worked with the Red Cross for 15 years, so he was familiar and interested with this service. That led to his selection as the new chapter director.

LAMESA (SC) - A reunion and homecoming is planned May 1 at Union School.

A ny ex-student, former teacher, or board member of the Union School is urged to attend.

The recent consolidation of Union and Konndike Schools means that this is the last time the Union School will be in operation at the time of a reunion.

Is Hospitalized

Nathan J. Allen Jr. is hospitalized in Graham with injuries received last week when he was thrown by a horse while checking cattle on his ranch southwest of Graham.

Allen, a former resident of Big Spring, is the son of Mrs. Nathan Allen Sr., 212 Scurry, and was a visitor here for Easter. Mrs. Allen said her son had no broken bones, but some muscles were torn in the incident. He is expected to be out of the hospital shortly.

Local Contractor Elected To Office

J. W. (Jim Bill) Little, who operates the J. W. Little Construction Co. here, has been elected president of the West Texas chapter of the Associated General Contractors.

He was named at the concluding session of the annual meeting Friday evening in Abilene. The chapter embraces 69 West Texas counties from Brownwood to Wichita Falls to Lubbock and Odessa.

Other officers named were A. M. Westbrook, Abilene, vice president, and Linville Haney, Abilene, secretary-treasurer. New directors are Kenneth King, Odessa, Jack Holmes, Wichita Falls, and Earl G. Rose, Abilene.

The program featured Col. Ralph S. Kristoverson, district engineer for the United States Corps of Engineers, and members of his staff, including Otis Graf Jr., a Big Spring native who is the assistant

Everybody's Talking Weather At WTCC Meet

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) - The West Texas Chamber of Commerce turned its attention Saturday to the economic outlook of the area.

No small topic of conversation was the rainfall which fell this week across wide areas of the state, providing in some instances temporary relief from the drought.

Chamber President F. V. Wallace of Amarillo read the West Texan's 24-hour rainfall report Thursday, drawing some cheers, especially when he said dry San Angelo received a heavy rain.

The group honored seven of its "Displaced West Texans" at a luncheon and received reports on water, agriculture, tourism, culture and education.

Harry Burleigh of Austin and George McCleskey of Lubbock focused on the stormy import water project and the Texas Water Plan.

Burleigh, the Bureau of Reclamation's top engineer in Texas, said his office and Army Engineers would present their reconnaissance report to Congress in 1973 on the Mississippi River importation proposal.

The plan involves diversion of Mississippi River water across into the South Plains area, Louisiana and much of Texas where ground water sources are being steadily depleted.

Burleigh said the toughest aspect of the project will be "the justification of it to the nation and the Congress."

"There are some pitfalls ahead," he said. "Out there are some fat, hungry, long-tailed, long-toothed dragons on the horizon . . . and they are going to start snapping at our heels when we come out with this report," he said.

The dragons, he said, are new standards set by the Office of Management and Business in New York, federal apathy to public projects, "ill-informed" environmentalists and competition for the federal public works dollar.

He noted also the objections from some quarters in Louisiana to sharing Mississippi River water with Texas.

"They're not too happy to see Louisiana water come out here to be competitive with things they want to put on the national market," he said.

He added, however, that "we've made studies that can allay those fears."

A. L. Scott of Fort Worth was elected president. He is president of Kimbell Inc.

License Tag Results Released

In Howard County, 22,042 motor vehicles were licensed for 1971. This total represents figures from the Feb. 1 to April 2 licensing period.

During a comparable 1970 period 20,944 vehicles were fitted for new plates.

Total sales were $567,565.16 for 1971 compared to $534,688.97 in 1970. Of this, $175,000 will remain in Howard County, and the remaining $392,565.16 will go to the state.

According to Mrs. Zirah LeFevre Bednar, tax assessor-collector, the county keeps all money until the sales total $175,000, after which point all funds collected belong to the state while the county receives 50 cents for each license receipt processed.

Figures Belie All Claims

By TOMMY HART

One reads dire forecasts about baseball's future (e.g., a recent edition of Forbés Magazine) but it's hard to overlook the fact that the big leagues lured 28,764,394 customers in 1970 . . . That figure is approximately 33 per cent higher than the combined total of 21,384,672 which attended hockey, professional football and pro basketball games in 1969 . . . In their first seven home games this year, the Houston Astros drew 109,363, or 19,000 more than the corresponding period in 1970 . . . The Houston Oilers won't be seen on any of ABC's Monday night telecasts next fall . . . That series opens Sept. 20, at which time Minnesota will play in Detroit . . . The CBS network will broadcast no fewer than 83 NFL contests, 66 of them National conference games, beginning Sept. 19 . . . Pre-season games to be aired by CBS include the Sept. 3 encounter between Dallas and Baltimore in Baltimore . . . Gus Mutscher, the Texas speaker of the House, lettered in baseball while at Blinn Junior College in Brenham . . . Chinese, Chou Good Hosts, Say Table Tennis Players

TOKYO (AP) — The U.S. table tennis delegation returned from Red China Saturday night happy at their friendly reception and impressed by Premier Chou En-lai, called him "brilliant and intelligent, quick and a good host."

The evaluation of Chou came from Graham Steenhoven, 59, Detroit, head of the delegation, but everyone agreed that the high point of their tour was the meeting with the premier in Peking.

"I was delighted with him," Steenhoven said. "I told him how pleasant it was to be there but I did not say anything about China's intentions toward the United States and the American people. That would have been improper."

Glen Cowan, 19, Santa Monica, Calif., said Chou remarked he had seen him playing exhibitions in China on television and that he played "not badly."

The Americans entered Red China April 10 and flew to Peking. They were followed the next day by three Americans invited to cover the tour, including John Roderick of The Associated Press. The American delegation returned to Hong Kong Saturday.

The tennis delegation is heading home Sunday. The newsmen, Roderick and John Rich and Jack Reynolds of NBC, had their visas extended by three days so they could cover the Canton trade fair. Generally tired after a week in China the team members said each group of Chinese they met tried to outdo the previous group as good hosts.

"VERY HAPPY" "I don't know whether we have blazed any trail, but we're very happy," said Steenhoven. The team visited Peking, Shanghai and Canton in what Steenhoven called "the most memorable experience of our lives."

Carrying souvenirs and gifts—including books of quotations from Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung—members chatted happily in Hong Kong and Tokyo about their experiences.

John Tannehill, 18, Middleport, Ohio, said in Hong Kong that comparing the Chinese system of living to the American, "I'd much prefer the Chinese system if it could be set up in America," he added. "I'd like to go back to America and teach Mao's philosophy."

Others said they couldn't make any judgments based on only one week's look at Communist China.

But George Buben, Detroit, a delegate, said: "From everything we saw, the government they have is good for the people in their situation and their numbers. The people seemed to be happy."

A MIDDLE AGE

Observed Tim Boggan, 40, a professor at Long Island University, N.Y.: "The single thing that struck me most in China is that Mao is Jesus Christ and that people there are living, I am not sure whether historically, literally or figuratively, in some sort of middle age."

No attempt was made to "educate the Americans by pro-Communist or anti-American propaganda," said George Braithwaite, Brooklyn, N.Y. Braithwaite, only black on the American team, said no mention of race was made during the tour.

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City qualified three boys for Regional track and field competition in the District 3 AAA meet at Snyder Saturday but they will present a solid bloc in four events.

for their sixth straight victory. A crowd of 32,896 saw the Giants extend the winning string—their longest since August 1969—as right-hander Gaylord Perry struggled to his third victory without a loss.

Rookie Chris Speier's single and Mays' 633rd career homer staked Perry to a 2-0 first-inning lead.

The Cubs tied it on a two-run homer by J. C. Martin in the fifth, but Bobby Bonds' double and a run-scoring single by Speier sent the Giants ahead to stay in the bottom half, chasing lefthander Ken Holtzman, 0-3.

Home runs by Ed Kirkpatrick and Amos Otis helped the Kansas City Royals build a four-run lead and they held off the Milwaukee Brewers 5-3.

Kirkpatrick sent the Royals ahead to stay with a bases-empty homer in the second inning and Otis homered in the ninth, giving them a 5-1 margin.

Royals Nudge Brewers, 5-3

Dick Drago took a four-hitter into the bottom of the ninth, when Tommy Harper slapped a leadoff single, breaking out of an 0-for-19 slump at home. Mike Hegan followed with a triple and Dave May delivered a sacrifice fly.

DOORS OPEN

Chou told the 15-member delegation that more Americans would be welcome to China. Steenhoven noted that President Nixon had said last week he would like to visit Red China, and added: "Why not?"

Steenhoven said that Chou even invited criticism, but the Americans offered only one: "You fed us too much."

Chou knew almost everything about the Chinese team and its members, including scores at the 31st world table tennis championships in Nagoya, Japan.

It was there the American team received an invitation to visit Red China, the first American group to do so since the Communists seized the mainland in 1949.

"This invitation couldn't have happened without Nagoya," Steenhoven observed.

Stargell Hits Sixth Homer

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Blass pitched a five-hitter and Willie Stargell blasted his sixth home run of the young season as the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the New York Mets 2-0 Saturday.

Blass struck out nine and worked out of several jams to earn his victory of the season in a duel with Mets' lefthander Jerry Koosman, who gave up five hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth inning.

Stargell homered over the right field fence in the seventh for the Pirates' second run. They had taken a 1-0 lead in the fourth on Dave Cash's double, an infield hit by Gene Cline and a run-scoring single by Manny Sanguillen.

Graebner Will Be Back In Tourney

HOUSTON (AP) — Five former champions—including last year's winner—are among contestants in the River Oaks Invitational Tennis Tournament which begins Monday.

Clark Graebner of New York will defend his title. He joins Zeliko Franulovic of Yugoslavia, the 1969 winner; Cliff Richey of San Angelo, 1968 champion; Marty Mulligan of Australia and Italy, 1966 winner; and Barry Mackay of California, who won titles in 1958 and 1960 before joining the pro ranks.

The tournament's part of the Grand Prix tennis circuit. Graebner and Richey appear to be the top ranked players and probably will draw the top seeds. Other seeds are expected to go to Franulovic and Mark Cox of Britain.

Home Runs Power A's Past Twins, 4 To 3

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Gerry Moses slammed two home runs and Tony Conigliaro a third Saturday to power the California Angels over slumping Minnesota 4-3 and to their sixth straight victory. The barrage by the former Boston players obtained in the off-season matched California's homer output in their previous 10 games and broke Twins' righthander Bert Blyleven's streak of two shutout games. Moses connected with a two-run homer in the second and a bases-empty clout in the seventh. Conigliaro sailed a Blyleven pitch just over the left field fence to lead off the fourth.

BY DALLAS POKES Homan Is Traded To Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs acquired Dennis Homan, Dallas Cowboys wide receiver, in exchange for wide receiver Goster Richardson, Coach Hank Stram said Saturday. Homan was the Cowboys' No. 1 choice in his three years at Dallas, the 25-year-old former Alabama star caught 23 passes for 487 yards, a 19.0 average and scored one touchdown. The 6-1, 181-pound Homan had his best season in 1969 when he caught 12 passes for 240 yards, a 20.0 average. Richardson, 28, has been on the Chiefs' active roster since 1967. During his four years here he caught 62 passes for 1,358 yards and scored 12 touchdowns. During his collegiate career, he caught 37 passes for 1,495 yards and scored 18 touchdowns. Richardson played his college ball at Jackson State.

Muny Officials Slate Tourney

The first annual Big Spring Muny Partnership golf tournament will be reeled off at the Muny links May 1-2.

Players will be shooting for a big purse in this event. First place will be worth $100 for each player, each player on the second place team will receive $100, third place finishers will collect $75 each. $50 goes to each man on the fourth place team and the duo that comes in fifth will each earn $30. Play will be conducted in both scratch and handicap division and any student with interscholastic eligibility remaining will not be allowed to enter the tournament.

A barbecue will be held for players and their wives at 8 p.m. on the final night of the event.

All entries must have an approved handicap card attested to by their club professional. Deadline for entries will be April 30 at 7 p.m. No entries will be accepted after that time.

Ward, Brandt Are Promoted

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League advanced two front office men to vice presidents Saturday and made several other changes in what Tex Schramm, president and general manager, called a general reorganization.

Named vice presidents were Al Ward and Gil Brandt. Brandt has been with the Cowboys as player-personnel director since the club was formed. He now will be in charge of all personnel development.

Ward joined the team in 1966 as public relations director and was named assistant general manager a year later. He is vice president for administration.

Schramm elevated scout Dick Mansperger to director of player personnel, and named Joe Bailey to replace former business manager Tom Hardin who resigned to go into publishing. The Cowboys beefed up the scouting department with the additions of Jim Valek, Ron Meyer and Lyle Klein on full time.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wear Allowance

Ole Miss Grid Camp Is Set

UNIVERSITY, Miss. — The first annual Ole Miss Football Camp for boys 10 to 16 in age, will be held on the campus June 6-12, it was announced here Thursday.

The announcement was made jointly by the University of Mississippi Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and the Extension Department, co-sponsors of the event.

Billy R. Kinard, the Rebels' new head football coach, will serve as director of the camp. Offensive line coach Ken Cooper will serve as assistant director. All members of the Ole Miss coaching staff will staff the camp as instructors.

Also, Archie Manning, the Rebels' All-America quarterback, will assist in various aspects of the week-long program.

The campers will receive individualized instruction in passing, kicking, punting, pass receiving, blocking and other basic fundamentals of the game. Designed for today's aspiring young athletes, the camp will afford an invaluable opportunity to learn the importance of teamwork and top physical conditioning.

Along with the instructional periods, a complete program of activities has been planned including exercises in the Rebel weight room, swimming, game and entertainment films. All activities will be closely supervised and members of the staff will stay in the dormitory with the campers.

Members of the Rebel staff in addition to Coach Kinard and Coach Cooper are: Warner Alford, defensive line; Eddie Crawford, offensive backfield; John (Junie) Hovious, wide receiver and quarterback; Roland Dale, linebackers, and assistant coaches Johnny Cain, Billy Mustin and Ray Poole.

Cost of the week-long camp is $90, and the campers can forward $30 with their application and pay the balance when they register at Kincannon Hall June 6. The initial meeting will be held that evening. The $90 covers housing, all meals, a Football Camp "T" shirt and certificate.

For full or partial registration, or for further information, please write: Ole Miss Football Camp, University Extension, University of Mississippi, University, Miss. 38677.

STEERS GET NEW UNIFORMS — The Big Spring High School Steers, who were deprived of the chance to play Friday in Abilene by the rain, are wearing stylish new pin-stripe uniforms. Catcher Pete Shaffer models one here. The money for the togger didn't come out of the school's budget but was raised instead through solicitations. Nearly $1,000 was raised in the campaign. The Steers return to play Tuesday in Midland against Midland High.

Joe Frazier Is A Man Of Images In Conflict

BEAUFORT, S.C. (AP) — To be with Joe Frazier is to be in a house of mirrors.

The heavyweight champion of the world is many images, all of them seemingly in conflict with the others.

Joe Frazier was a poor black youth who left the sandy farm lands of coastal South Carolina to seek his future and his fortune in the North. He carried with him a ninth grade education; dreams of money to buy new cars and flashy clothes and echoes of the voice of the boss-man.

Joe Frazier came home recently as heavyweight champion of the world and he had his flashy clothes and his new cars—a red Cadillac and a bronze Cadillac. And the man who heard the crowd's roar when he beat Muhammad Ali, came home to an ovation from the 167 whites and three blacks in the South Carolina Legislature, where he spoke.

WANTS HARMONY

But, there still is a restlessness in Joe Frazier. There is a doubt as to the path he must walk in his career; a desire to see racial harmony; a betterness of the life he led as a black child and the sunup to sunset hours his mother worked in the vegetable fields to help support her 13 children.

Joe Frazier came home to Beaufort, S.C., where he said, "things really haven't changed that much and some damn people will never change."

He came home to Beaufort where he said that only his "Mommy brought him back," and where he remarked, "How can they ever say to Joe Frazier to come back here and live?"

He came home to Beaufort where he can, despite all else, feel at peace; where he can sit in the big gold chair in the small living room of the little white frame house where he spent his boyhood and talk of his father as "an alright man" and worry about a new home for his mother.

In the ring, Frazier moves with a relentless anger as if to not only defeat, but to destroy his opponent. He punches with violence. He appears savage in nature. He is what the fight fan likes to call "a real killer."

With his 7-month-old daughter Natasha, he is a gentle man, who kisses the baby on the cheek and plays silly games with her, and ruffles the hair of his other children and exchanges witty remarks with them.

With his mother he is a tender son, who walks with her hand-in-hand through a piney woods area where she so wants to build a new home.

Mission Ritual Monday Will Honor Tom Landry

MISSION, Tex. (AP) — In the fall of 1941, the Mission Eagles were the scourge of the gridiron in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

They were unbeaten, untied and unscored upon when a Mission defensive back was deemed guilty of pass interference in the end zone in a game with the Donna Redskins.

The official ruled a touchdown for Donna. Then Mission Coach Bob Martin rushed onto the field, arguing that the ball should be placed on the one-yard line.

The official refused to yield even when Coach Martin told him he would later realize he was wrong. The coach was right. The official apologized the following Monday, at least partially vindicating the defensive back.

On Monday, Mission residents will pay tribute to that defensive player. It will be Tom Landry Day to honor the National Football League coach who led the Dallas Cowboys to the Super Bowl during the past season.

Landry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Landry, live here. The coach's father is fire chief.

The first event in the celebration honoring Landry will be a golf tournament at 1 p.m. today at Shary Golf Course in Mission.

Landry is to appear next at a news conference and luncheon for Valley newsmen at 12:15 p.m. Monday at the Fontana Motel in Mission.

Drake Relays Open In Des Moines

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Four world outdoor record-holders and 12 defending champions are expected to grace the field when the 2nd Drake Relays track carnival goes on full display Friday and Saturday.

The 52-event program opens Wednesday with the decathlon and closes with 27 finals Saturday on Drake University's Red Tartari track.

Heading the impressive list of defending champions is Brigham Young's Ralph Mann who set the world 440-yard hurdles mark of 48.8 seconds on the same track in the NCAA outdoor meet last June, and Texas A&M's world record holding 880-yard relay team.

Raider Aide Guest Speaker

STANTON — Texas Tech assistant football coach Marshall Taylor will be guest speaker at the All-Sports Banquet for Stanton High School athletes here Monday night at 7:30 at the high school gymnasium.

Taylor worked with Raider head coach Jim Carlen at West Virginia and moved to the Tech campus with Carlen last year.

All athletes at Stanton High School will be honored guests at the banquet and athletic director and football coach Bill Young will serve as master of ceremonies.

During the program, Young will present certificates to the football players cited as linemen and back of the week during the 1970 grid season.

Tickets will be on sale at the door for $3.50.

TEDIOUS WORK
Jim Parrish paints signal

Red For Stop, Green For Go, $2,000 Throw

By BRIAN PEAY
There is one thing every citizen takes for granted and yet looks at every day, signal lights.

It seems that the only other way these beacons of safety are recognized is when one gets very impatient with the signal for not turning the right color when he is in a hurry.

"There are 45 intersections in town at which there are the regular red, amber, and green signal lights," said Johnnie Shortes, street superintendent of Big Spring, and a person who most probably notices the lights more than others.

The cost of a regular two-phase, fixed time signal at a four-street intersection is approximately $2,000, including the controller which is on the corner of the intersection usually in a green box fastened to a pole.

"Other lights, such as those at the FM 700 and Goliad intersection, cost up to approximately $8,000 mainly because of the more complicated equipment used to direct the traffic," said Shortes.

of the systems. "We have the lights in pretty good working order right now, so the cost in maintenance is very negligible," Shortes explains.

"We are going to try to paint all the signal lights in town with the exception of the new lights that have been installed," said Shortes. Half of the lights already have been painted over a three-month period with the crew working on them in their spare time and on days that will permit the painting.

ROCK THROWING

There is quite a significant amount of vandalism done to the lights, as far as pellet guns and rock throwing. "We started replacing some of the glass lenses in the lights with unbreakable plastic lenses to quell the breakage due to vandalism," said Shortes. There is no estimate as to the cost involved in the vandalism per month, however, the rate of broken lenses is high, according to the Superintendent.

The city traffic commission is the body that considers the amount of traffic at an intersection and judges whether this flow warrants a light at the intersection.

TWO CONTROLLERS

There are two main controllers on signal lights, the fixed time controller and the actuated controller. A car must run over an actuator buried in the street to trigger the change in the light on the actuated system and the fixed time system works on a time device in the controller that automatically triggers the change.

The fixed time system is employed on Third and Fourth streets through the downtown area and the actuated system is at various intersections such as the one at Sixth and Goliad streets.

"There also are safety features in the newer systems. If the light is stuck on green or red on both roads in the intersection, the light will automatically start flashing to warn drivers of the danger," added Jim Parrish, Shortes' assistant. "We are in the process of installing the new controllers in the downtown area now."

For emergencies a master controller is located in the central fire station. In time of an emergency run by one of the units from the station the controller can be set to change the lights on Fourth street in red and green at the same time.

ONE-MINUTE

This usually lasts for one minute, which is how long the average run is of the unit down the street. The lights then go back to normal.

This master controller also determines the pace of the traffic on Third and Fourth by the lapse of time between the lights on each intersection. This can be re-programmed for any time wanted between the change in lights in succession on the streets.

Concerning maintenance on the lights, they are cleaned and oiled every six months unless there is a trouble call on one

On April 28, 1910, Ernest E. Sirine of Chicago filed a patent for a system of traffic control consisting of a series of slowly-moving semaphores.

The first installation of traffic signals in the United States was made at the intersection of 105th and Euclid Avenue in Cleveland on August 5, 1914.

Birmingham Air Pollution High

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Birmingham's count of air pollution reached 520 Friday. The national urban average for particulate air pollution is 97, while Birmingham's is 162.

Federal standards say a count of 80 is hazardous to health and 200 or more is critical over a prolonged period. The count in this industrial city was well above 300 for most of the week.

Scott Is Offered Washington Role

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS News is negotiating with Academy Award winner George C. Scott to play George Washington in three specials commemorating the 200th anniversary of the American Revolution.

The network wants Scott to play Washington in three different stages of his career—pre-

Revolutionary, during the war and as a statesman.

The specials would be done extemporaneously, with Scott as Washington fielding questions in the same manner that Peter Ustinov did as Lord North, the British prime minister during the Revolution, in the first of the series.

Scott won the Oscar as best actor Thursday night for his movie portrayal of Gen. George Patton, but declined to accept the award.

TALENT FAIR

By JO BRIGHT

Are you 60 years of age or over — and do you have a particular talent in arts and crafts?

If so, the Howard County Committee on Aging wants to know about you.

The committee is sponsoring Big Spring's first annual Talent Fair Saturday in the Highland Center Mall; the only requirement for entry being that participants must have reached their 60th birthday.

Anyone 60 years of age or over may enter the handicraft event, exhibiting items in the arts and crafts field, as well as miscellaneous homemade articles which they would like to sell.

Miss Bessie Love, chairman for the fair, said there will be adequate display space so that the public may view all entries. Any homemade items will be accepted for sale with the full purchase price going to the entrant. All unsold items will be returned to the owner.

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County Home Demonstration agent suggests that items for entry might include crocheting, knitting, embroidery, woodwork, carvings, aprons, handbags, candies, jellies, preserves, quilts, afghans, ceramics, decorated coat hangers or house plants of all kinds.

Other acceptable things would be handmade flowers, home canned fruits and vegetables, lye soap, pillow cases, lamps, baked goods, doll clothes, permanent floral arrangements or paintings.

"This could be the means of additional income for many people," said Mrs. Crawford. "At a similar fair in Fort Worth this year, 396 citizens netted almost $29,000." Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Love invite clubs or individuals to assist with arranging displays, selling articles or encouraging their friends to enter or attend the fair and purchase items they need or want.

Persons interested in showing their talent at the fair are asked to contact the home demonstration office, 267-8469, to obtain entry forms.

COBWEBS, DUST AND DIRT are disappearing from the Texas and Pacific Freight Station, First and Main, since five women janitors took over their duties there Monday. "Everything is in good shape since the ladies came to town," said Tony Marquez, station porter. Left to right, they are, Mrs. Jo Worthington, Mrs. J. H. Pitts, Mrs. Lorenzo Perez, Mrs. Gordon Trantham and Mrs. Sidney Bennett.

Rather Than Give Up Jobs, Women Become Janitors

By BARBARA LORDB

Five women began jobs as janitors at the Texas and Pacific Railway freight station Monday — a first in the station's 81-year history. It's not part of the wide-spreading women's liberation movement; just a group of women who refuse to relinquish their seniority with the railroad company.

The group is here under strange and strained circumstances. The story began during World War II when they were hired as mail handlers for the railroad in Fort Worth. In September, 1969, the mail office closed, and the women had no place to work.

According to a guaranteed wage contract with the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, the railroad was required to pay the women even if they had no place for them to work. From the time the mail office closed, until about a month ago, the women were getting paid their full-time wage without working.

Now, the women feel the company is trying to force them to quit by giving them different work, irregular hours, and assignments in other parts of the railroad territory.

The women arrived here Sunday from Fort Worth. They are Mrs. Joe Worthington, Mrs. J. H. Pitts, Mrs. Lorenzo Perez, Mrs. Gordon Trantham and Mrs. W. B. Bennett. They are staying in two rooms at the Thrifty Lodge.

DON'T MIND WORK

"We don't mind working," said Mrs. Trantham. "We'd be glad to work for our pay, but we resent being sent away from home, and we resent not knowing where we'll be or what we'll be doing next week."

The women all have 26 to 28 years with the railroad and don't want to give up their position toward retirement. During the year and a half that they were off work, they were on call 24 hours a day. If they missed a certain number of calls, their contract agreement was voided.

"We got called anywhere from 5 a.m. to 10 p.m.," said Mrs. Pitts. "I hated to leave the house to do my laundry for fear of missing a call."

About a month ago, the women began janitorial work at the Fort Worth terminal, where they said they had to wash down the outside of the building. Some of them had the job of scraping grease off the boilers in the boiler room.

Then the company sent them to Big Spring. The women think there is a 30-day limit on temporary assignments, but don't really know. When they leave here, they don't know if they'll be returned to Fort Worth or to another terminal. The T&P territory includes stations in Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and Missouri.

All but one of the women are married. Despite being here unwillingly, the "janitors" are making the best of the situation. They have worked together for over 25 years and get along well. They joke and get a good job done. Their hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. They say everyone has been extremely nice to them, and that many of their fellow workers "don't agree with the treatment they are getting."

BACKED BY UNION
Garland Morrison, the local union representative, said they are doing an excellent job. They are cleaning the station from top to bottom, even moving all of the large computer machines to clean behind them. He said that when they finish, the place is going to be cleaner than it has been in a long time.

The women want to go home, but they are determined to keep their jobs with the railroad.

"They're (the railroad) trying awfully hard to make it inconvenient for us," said Mrs. Bennett, "but we're going to stick it out together."

Mrs. Jordan Grooms Displays Large Collection Of Madonnas

Mrs. Jordan Grooms displayed a large collection of Madonnas and explained their origins and significance, for the 1948 Hyperion Club Thursday during the club's annual guest tea at the Big Spring Country Club.

"Every race claims the Madonna and child," said Mrs. Grooms. "Mary was the greatest woman in the art patterns. She was very natural and wanted other people to feel natural. She exhibited sincere beauty of soul, and her influence will always live."

Mrs. Grooms displayed examples of the Madonna from the most primitive race to the most modern, including paintings, prints, porcelain, wood carving, ceramics and German Meissen. Countries represented in her collection were Mexico, France, China, Philippine Islands, Italy, and Italy.

"The most treasured Madonnas are those of the Renaissance period," said Mrs. Grooms. "One is reputed to contain $10 million worth of jewels." Her personal favorite is a painting from Milan which is done on pure silk. She also has one made by Boehme, the famous sculptor of birds who recently died, and two Madonnas from the Vatican.

Mrs. H. W. Smith presided.

'Romantic' Music Is Performed

Organ Music of the Romantic Era was the theme for Wednesday's meeting of the Big Spring Music Study Club in the First United Methodist Church. Mrs. Michael Skalicky was the leader, and hostesses were Mrs. Clyde Cantrell and Mrs. Walter Osborne.

Mrs. James Little played three chorale preludes written by Johannes Brahms. They were "Deck Thyself, My Soul," "Blessed Are Ye" and "My Heart Is Longing."

Compositions by Felix Mendelssohn were played by Mrs. Jackie Simpson, a guest, including "Sonata No. 2, C Minor," "Grave," "Adagio" and "Allegro maestro e vivace."

Mrs. Skalicky concluded the program with a prelude and fugue by Franz Liszt entitled "B.A.C.H."

Mrs. Michael Leinen presided, and the club agreed to award a scholarship to Miss Joann Allen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Allen, 805 Dallas. Miss Allen is a senior at Big Spring High School and plans to attend Howard County Junior College.

The club will meet for a luncheon and installation of officers at 12:30 p.m., May 8, at the First United Methodist Church.

Polkinghorne, is a hydraulic specialist at Webb, and they have one son, David L. II.

Proves Effectiveness Of Defense Driving

Patrolman Jack White of the Department of Public Safety, showed a film entitled "Final Factors" to the Airport Parent-Teacher Association Thursday afternoon at the school. The film concerned the importance of defensive driving.

"If everyone would get into the car with the thought that 'I am driving this car, and that's all I'm going to do until I park it,' accidents would be cut to a minimum," said the speaker.

Patrolman White said teenagers are not the bad drivers they are made out to be, because generally, anyone who has taken a drivers' education program is a far better driver than someone who taught himself.

Mrs. Richard Smith presided and reported on the recent spring conference and the work at the Moss Special Education School. Also, she presented Mrs. Otis McBride with a PTA lifetime membership. Mrs. McBride has taught at the school for 14 years.

Reservations for the PTA city council luncheon May 1 at the Webb AFB Officers Open Mess must be given to Mrs. David Hodnett.

The room count was won by Mrs. Jo Gresham's second grade class. C. L. Carlile, principal, reported that the PTA project of planting trees and shrubbery around the playground area is progressing well.

Officers for the next school year will be installed at the next meeting, at 3:30 p.m., May 13 at the school.

WESTBROOK (SC) — Eddie Ranne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ranne of Westbrook recently participated in the spring concert of the North Texas State University School of Music.

Eddie, member and soloist of the Chapel Choir, presented Liebeslieder Walzer, Opus 52 by Brahms. The choir, under the direction of Grant Williams, presented other numbers. Also on the program were the University Symphony Orchestra and the Madrigal Singers. Eddie is a junior voice major at NTSU.

'Trip Back' Story Told To Forum

"A Trip Back," a recording about a 50-year old woman who had taken narcotics for 23 years, was played for the Woman's Forum Friday by Patrolman Ed Kissinger of the Big Spring Police Department.

Meeting in the home of Mrs. E. P. Compton, 2901 Choctaw, the theme for the meeting was "A Season To Beware," in conjunction with the year's theme, "There is a Season."

The woman of the story had been off drugs for four years, and was relating her experiences to a group of high school students. Her drug habit had cost her $815 a day at its peak, and she had become a prostitute to support it. She told about the many problems drugs caused her and of the agonies involved in breaking the habit. Today she is cured and works with retarded children.

Patrolman Kissinger held a discussion period following the tape, and showed a display of drugs and instruments used to administer the drugs.

"It's not the drug itself that is so bad," the patrolman said. "It is the abuse of the drug."

Mrs. D. D. Dyer was cohostess for the meeting, and Mrs. Clyde Thomas reported on volunteer work by members at the Westside Community Center.

The club donated to the Buck-of-the-Month club at Big Spring State Hospital.

An installation luncheon will be held at 1 p.m., May 21.

Pharmacy Facts

By Bob Knight, R. Ph.

In man's war to control disease, Koch's isolation of the bacillus that causes tuberculosis is one of the major battles.

Robert Koch, a German physician, was the first to stain bacilli with a dye, so that they could be seen more clearly under a microscope. He was also the first to use a gelatinous liquid to contain microbes. When the gelatin hardened, the germs were trapped in place.

Koch found and identified the tubercle bacillus. He developed the culture of blood serum which enabled him to grow germs in his laboratory and thus prove, in 1882, that he had found the cause of the dread disease.

Probe Relationship Of Employers, Employees

"It's time to put employer-employee relations on a business but human basis, instead of a personal human relationship," according to Robert S. Bateson of the American Investment Company, St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Ivanelle Marr presented excerpts of an article by Bateson for her program to the Big Spring Credit Women Thursday at Hotel Settles.

Bateson briefly outlined past employe relations, saying that the 1920's were "hard-nosed days when there were more people than jobs. In the 1940's and early 1950's there was such a shortage of employes, that employes let them get away with nearly anything to keep them contented. The 1960's saw a lesser shortage, enabling employes to get them to work, without quite as much fear of having them quit.

"Now, behavioral scientists say employes should be happy in their work, but there is a definite distinction between being motivated and being happy. A happy employe is not necessarily a good one, and vice versa.

Mrs. Marr said that the first necessity of running a successful business is the ability to get along with people. The direct and honest approach is the best way, and the original interview with a prospective employe is the best time to determine if he will make a good employe.

An employe should decide at the interview if the person can fill the job, and also if the job will fulfill the person.

Employes often become unsatisfied because they don't know where they stand, what is expected of them or how they can improve. They are often over-educated for the job, and if promotions or long range security are not evident, they will quit.

The interview is also a good yardstick to measure a person's appearance and grooming, since generally, they won't improve after being hired.

Bateson said that employer-employee relations is not a 50-50 proposition; that most of the burden rests on the shoulders of the employe and his approach to his workers.

Managers often complain to everyone but the person concerned about an unsatisfactory job being done, but the employe could often be salvaged simply by telling him he isn't working up to par. Many times the unsatisfactory job is because the employe wasn't trained properly or given a good orientation of what the job is. In this case, he will probably quit on his own, because he doesn't feel satisfied either.

Mrs. C. W. Mahoney presided, and the attendance prize was won by Mrs. W. E. Moren. Delegates attending the state convention May 15-17 in Corpus Christi will be Mrs. J. B. Apple and Mrs. A. G. Eitzen.

The club will meet for its annual breakfast at 8 a.m., May 2 in the home of Mrs. Apple, 419 Westover. The breakfast replaces the May 6 meeting.

'New Morality' Living Affecting Marriage?

The effects of the "new morality" and attitudes toward marriage were discussed by the Rev. Leo K. Gee for the 1953 Hyperion Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Clarence Peters, 802 Highland.

"The marriage traditions handed down as an outgrowth of the Judeo-Christian movement have attached meaning and tradition to the home," Rev. Gee said. "They stress that marriage is sacred and symbolic of Christ and the church."

A woman's basic purposes and needs in marriage, according to Rev. Gee, are reproduction, emotional security and personal fulfillment in loving and being loved. However, he noted that the youth of today do not want to accept the responsibility of a lifetime commitment to one person.

"The basic purposes and needs do not change," he said. "Will these needs be met through the new arrangements of free love, a new mate for each stage of life, and polygamous living?"

In conclusion, Rev. Gee asked if the necessary security to children would be provided to children resulting from the new types of marriage.

The officers approved by the club are Mrs. John Gary, president; Mrs. W. P. Edwards Jr., vice president; Mrs. Harry Middleton, recording secretary; and Mrs. Bill Pollard, treasurer. They will take over their duties at a luncheon at 1 p.m., May 5 in the ranch home of Mrs. T. L. Griffin. The outgoing officers will be hostesses.

In other business, a report was heard concerning the formation of a teen club for Big Spring. The 1953 Hyperions were asked to select members of the adult steering committee, and they have chosen Norman Picquet and Sgt. Al Herdridge to head that committee. Other members will be named later.

Discusses 'Response To Change'

Mrs. John Beard spoke to the Mary Martha group, First Christian Church, about "The Christian's Response to Changes," Thursday in the church parlor. Mrs. W. W. Grant and Mrs. George Hall were hostesses.

Opening prayer was by Mrs. M. B. McFall, and Mrs. Nina Carter gave the devotion, "Climbing Above the Storm."

Mrs. Grant, co-chairman, presided.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with an ecru-lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink roses and pink variegated carnations. Twin crystal candleabra and pink tapers accented the table.

The next meeting is at 2:30 p.m., May 20, with Mrs. J. G. Coldiron as hostess.

'Celebrate Life' Says Speaker

"Time waits for no one," said Mrs. Pete Rhyes speaking to the Child Study Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Clement Jones, 1900 Goliad. "Leisure is the celebration of life. We need to live up to this potential and guide our children to theirs."

Mrs. Rhyes and her husband have seven children. She said parents should develop a relaxed attitude about everything, and that they shouldn't let the little things bother them. People should not worry if everything isn't perfect all of the time.

"Every child needs a job," she said, "even though teaching them to do it may be hard and take a lot of patience. Children need unplanned time too. They need time to daydream. All of their time can't be filled with supervised activities. Everyone needs to re-learn the art of meditating."

Mrs. Charles Warren presided and asked members to bring suggestions for program topics to the next meeting.

New officers are Mrs. Donald Lovelady, president; Mrs. Lewis McKnight, vice president; Mrs. Bill Reynolds, secretary; Mrs. Whitney Reynolds, treasurer; Mrs. Clement Jones, historian; and Mrs. J. W. Tipton, parliamentarian.

New members present were Mrs. Curtis Strong, Mrs.

Charles Dunnam, Mrs. Joe Ramsey, Mrs. Lorin McDowell III, Mrs. Ralph Dowden; Mrs. Francis Johns and Mrs. Bob Tarleton. Cohostess was Mrs. Bill Reynolds.

The next meeting will be a luncheon for the installation of officers at 1 p.m., April 28 in the home of Mrs. Tommy Hart, 1750 Purdue.

Miss Zorah Lockwood Weds Larry Jones

Miss Zorah Chancellor Lockwood, became the bride of Larry Paul Jones in an afternoon ceremony performed Saturday in the St. Thomas Aquinas Church at Dallas with the Rev. Thomas O'Connor as officiant.

Nuptial music was by Marc Brandel, soloist, and the wedding party stood before an altar illuminated by white tapers in candelabra and enhanced with basket arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums interspersed with greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lockwood, 1105 Eisenhower Drive, Augusta, Ga., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Omar Jones, Coronado Hills Apartments, Big Spring.

Carrying a nosegay of white daisies tied with streamers, the bride was attired in an evening-length dress of white embroidered eyelet batiste. The square neckline of the Empire bodice was bordered with daisy-patterned lace, and the gathered skirt was separated into tiers by bands of matching lace. The long sleeves were puffed at the top and fitted to the wrist. A Dior bow held her full veil of illusion.

ATTENDANTS
Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Jacki Smith of Athens, Ga., and the bridesmaid was Miss Loyce Vinson of Memphis, Tenn. They were identically attired in pale yellow dresses with fitted bodice. A-line skirt and brief puffed sleeves. Each carried a nosegay of yellow carnations.

Jontaylor Jones of the University of Texas at Austin served his brother as best man, and groomsmen was Bill Leugoud of Big Spring, Erol Denez of Istanbul, Turkey, was the usher.

RECEPTION
After the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception hosted by Miss Susie Shaw and Miss Pat Caussy in their home at 5925 E. University, Dallas.

MRS. LARRY PAUL JONES

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth and a tiered wedding cake trimmed with confection daisies. Crystal and silver appointments were used to serve the cake and punch. Miss Carolyn Coleman assisted the hostesses.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marshall and Elwood Kirk, all of Athens, Ga.

The couple plans a wedding trip to Italy where they will travel by car along the Amalfi Coast and visit Rome, Naples and Florence. Upon returning, they will reside in Richardson. Jones received a BBA in marketing from Texas Technological College, and Mrs. Jones is a student at the University

Relation Between Nutrition, Heart Is Probed By HD Club Members

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County home demonstration agent, was guest speaker at several HD club meetings during the past week with other speakers being Mrs. Edwin Dickson and Mrs. Carrol Hardison.

ELBOW CLUB
Mrs. Delaine Crawford spoke about the relation between nutrition and the heart, when she was guest speaker for the Elbow Home Demonstration Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. L. M. Duffer, Wasson Road.

Four factors emphasized by Mrs. Crawford were that a person should eat enough calories to maintain a normal weight, exercise regularly, reduce the amount of fat in a diet and make regular visits to the doctor.

Mrs. Lewis Soles presided, and Mrs. Duffer gave the devotion. The club will be hostess for the HD council meeting at 2 p.m., May 3 in the HD agent's office.

Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Soles reported on the district meeting in Muleshoe, where they attended workshops on "Family Life and Understanding," and "Membership and Reporting."

Guests included Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. L. A. Duffer and Mrs. Kenneth Soles. The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., May 6 in the home of Mrs. W. F. Harrell, 4205 Connally.

LOMAX CLUB
"It would be a good thing to do something every day to exert yourself and exercise your heart," said Mrs. Crawford to the Lomax HD Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. Tom Newman.

Mrs. Crawford's subject was "The Heart and Nutrition," and she said people should determine the amount of food they eat in comparison to their weight, type of work and exercise, in order to maintain a healthy heart.

Guests included Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. James Moore and Mrs. Carl Fambro. Mrs. Waymon Etchison presided. The next meeting is at 2 p.m., May 6 in the home of Mrs. J. L. McIlvain.

LEES CLUB
Mrs. Edwin Dickson, a guest, spoke to the Lees Home Demonstration Club on the subject of home cleaning products Tuesday in the home of Mrs. J. L. Overton. She demonstrated several commercial products and explained the effectiveness of particular ingredients.

Mrs. Benny Joe Blissard presided, and Mrs. Overton reported on the district meeting held last month in Andrews. Attending the meeting were Mrs. Overton, Mrs. Blissard and Mrs. J. Lynn Glass. They went to workshops on 4-H, family life and safety.

The next regular meeting is at 2 p.m., April 27 in the home of Mrs. Glass.

CENTER POINT CLUB
The time and money-saving advantages of a knitting machine were demonstrated for the Center Point Home Demonstration Club by Mrs. Carrol Hardison Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Vernon Kent, N. Bird-

Crazy Hats Shown By Britishers

Winners of the "crazy hat" contest at the British Wives Club meeting Thursday were Mrs. Bryan Matthews, prettiest; Mrs. Bill Johnson, funniest; and Mrs. Richard Patterson, most original.

New officers elected were Mrs. Bill Johnson, president; Mrs. Ronald Huntley, vice president; Mrs. Don Thelen, treasurer; Mrs. Herman Stanley, recording secretary; and Mrs. Dee Aaker, publicity.

Mrs. Huntley won a bouquet of flowers to wire to her mother in England. Mrs. Patterson, who is returning to England while her husband serves a tour of duty in Thailand, was presented a farewell gift.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white linen cloth and accented with a silver tea service. The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., May 6 at the John H. Lees Service Club.

Winners Named At 'La Gallinas'

Five and a half tables were in play for La Gallinas duplicate bridge games Friday afternoon at Big Spring Country Club.

Winners were Mrs. Paul Meek and Mrs. Ken Perry, first; Mrs. Delnor Poss and Mrs. Harold Davis, second; Mrs. John Taylor and Mrs. Granville Hahn, third; Mrs. Pete Cook and Mrs. Clarence Peters, fourth; and Mrs. Birt-Allison and Mrs. Bill Gibson, fifth.

FUTURE BRIDE — The engagement and approaching marriage of Linda Carol Helton, daughter of Mrs. Garland Helton, 7409 Grover, Austin, and the late Mr. Helton, is being announced by her mother. The bridegroom-elect is Marvin Lee Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wright, Route 1, Box 423, Big Spring. The couple plans a June 5 wedding in St. Paul Lutheran Church.

WILL WED — The engagement of Miss Sara Ruth Bledsoe to William Gambrell is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Bledsoe of Ackerly. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Gambrell of Loop. The couple will be married June 4 in the First Christian Church, Lamesa.

SETS DATE — Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Birdsong, 2611 Cindy, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Deborah Kay, to Ronald Lynn Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Lynch of Odessa, formerly of Big Spring. The couple will be married May 28 in Baptist Temple with the Rev. James Puckett officiating.

BETROTHED — Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Moore, 1200 W. 2nd, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Ann, to Don Oliver, son of Mrs. Frances Oliver, Big Spring; and Oakley Oliver, McAllen. The couple plans a late May wedding in the home of the bridegroom-elect's grandmother, Mrs. J. C. Hudson, 502 E. 13th.

Surgery Patient

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. Bertha Shaw of Weatherford, who was to spend the Easter weekend with Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Wash, fell in the Wash home soon after arriving and broke a hip. She underwent surgery Monday in Medical Center Memorial Hospital in Big Spring.

well Lane. One pound of one-ply thread will knit as many as three or four articles with the machine. Mrs. Hardison said it is a simple mechanism, and she allowed each member to try it. "A dress can be knitted in one day's time," said Mrs. Hardison. She displayed several items she had made.

Mrs. J. R. Petty presided, asking members to turn in ideas for devotions and thoughts, to be included in the next yearbook, to Mrs. Crawford by May 1. The club continued plans for a display at the arts-and-crafts exhibit May 13 at Highland Junior Center Mall. They agreed to donate $7.50 to the council in lieu of baking cakes for the bake sale scheduled during the exhibit. The women also donated $5 to the Texas Home Demonstration Association for the scholarship fund which awards scholarships to three Howard County Junior College students annually. Mrs. Jack Smith and Mrs. Travis Melton will attend the recreational leadership workshop April 19. The attendance prize went to Mrs. Alden Ryan and Mrs. W. L. Eggleston gave the devotion. The next meeting is at 2 p.m., May 13 in the home of Mrs. A. F. Gilliland, 1010 E. 12th. Mrs. Crawford will give the program on the heart and diet.

HONORED AT DINNER — Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mahoney are pictured Thursday evening at Big Spring Country Club where Mrs. Mahoney was honored at a retirement dinner by officers, directors and employees of First Federal Savings and Loan Association. Mrs. Mahoney has been associated with First Federal for 17 years.

Mrs. Mahoney Feted At Retirement Dinner

By JO BRIGHT

"It has been a wonderful reward, exciting experience," said Mrs. C. W. Mahoney as she looked back on 17 years' association with First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Although the professional relationship is drawing to a close, with her retirement at the end of this month, Mrs. Mahoney has no intention of severing personal ties with her employers, fellow workers and customers.

That her associates feel the same way was evident Thursday evening when Mrs. Mahoney was honored with a retirement dinner at Big Spring Country Club by officers, directors and employees of the association, along with their wives and husbands.

Elmo Wasson, First Federal president, presented Mrs. Mahoney with a check for $1,700 — a hundred dollars for each of the 17 years she has served the association. Charles Bell, executive vice president, made the presentation of a profit-sharing check, and Robert Stripling, a director, presented Mrs. Mahoney with a set of luggage. Mrs. Bill Norris represented employees in presenting the honoree with a silver tray, and Mrs. Willard Hendrick presented the gift of a scrapbook.

SINCE 1954

Mrs. Mahoney, assistant secretary at First Federal, has been a part of the organization since 1954 when she went to work as a bookkeeper. Now, her duties are primarily in handling loans, specializing in FHA type, plus savings and investment accounts.

Born in Wapanucka, Okla., she is the former Helen Hamer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Lamar Hamer. Her father served as marshal at Allen, Okla., before the family moved to Texas. Helen graduated from high school in Colorado City where she worked for several years with J. Riordan and Company prior to her marriage in 1937 to C. W. Mahoney, whose father was in the cotton business at Colorado City.

After several years, during which Mahoney was a novelty and advertising salesman, the couple moved to Houston where they operated a cafe for a brief time before returning to Colorado City where he joined his father in business. When Mahoney went to work for the Texas and Pacific Railway in 1942, they moved to Big Spring, where Mrs. Mahoney worked briefly for Big Spring Theatres, Anthony's and J. C. Penney's before joining First Federal.

The Mahoneys, who own their home at No. 4 Highland Heather, have two sons, Ralph and Robert. Ralph is a graduate of Texas Christian University, a Vietnam veteran and was in the run-off race for state representative. He and his wife, Naomi, reside here where he is a partner in the C. W. Mahoney Cotton Company.

Ralph and his wife, Glenda, are parents of two children, Scott and Holly. A graduate of North Texas State University, he is a vice president of the First National Bank at Arlington, Texas.

Mrs. Mahoney is an active worker in the First Baptist Church where she has been president of numerous Sunday school classes and is now an associate officer of the Questers class. She is a past member of the American Business Women's Association and is currently president of Big Spring Credit Women. As a hobby she has worked with the Little Theatre and enjoys writing dramatic skits.

FUTURE PLANS

Mrs. Mahoney will not be leaving the business world entirely, for, during cotton season, she intends to assist her husband in his office. During the "off" season, she plans to do many things for which there has been little time in the past.

"Many working people manage to do a lot of extra things," she said, "but somehow I never did. Now I want to do those civic, personal and family things that give me so much pleasure.

"I feel I owe much to many people. Customers, attorneys, real estate people — they were all so helpful during my years with First Federal. I worked for, and with, wonderful people, and I hope I've made friends that will last the rest of my life."

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Frauds, Quacks Prey On Human Desires

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
County HO Agent

How much money did you spend last year? How much of it was thrown away through frauds and quacks?

Most businessmen are honest and fair to the public. They want satisfied customers who will return to their stores. However, there is a very small minority of businessmen who prey on normal human desires, such as desires to be wealthy, healthy, attractive, and happy. This minority cheats the consumer and runs down the good name of business.

How do unscrupulous operators work? They tend to make big promises which will fail to materialize. The schemer may try to make a sale by convincing you of two things:

1. There is something that you want or need very much.
2. The product he is selling will satisfy your want or need.

There are several ways that schemers may try to appeal to you. All of us may be attracted to the idea that we may get something for nothing. However, the businessman who gives away something for nothing can neither make a profit nor stay in business. Either the seller or you, the buyer, must pay in order to obtain goods and services. Customarily it is you, the buyer, who must pay for goods you receive, and you usually get no better quality than you pay for.

case histories from patients, particularly when no address is listed for these patients.

Most people would like to have as attractive an appearance as possible. It is impossible to become beautiful overnight. Question any claims that will restore youthful skin and body, cause permanent weight loss overnight.

Before committing yourself to an important purchase or a doubtful proposition, keep the following in mind:

1. There are many goods and services on the market today. It is impossible to keep up with information on all products. Investigate before you spend large sums of money. Question unreasonable promises or claims.
2. Buy goods and services from reliable places of business that are established in the community. Be particularly careful about door to door salesmen who do not know and whose products are unfamiliar to you.
3. Be courteous to salesmen; however, do not be afraid to say NO to them.
4. Be careful of sellers who play on your sympathy. Remember that it is your money which is concerned, and you have the right to spend it as you want. The reliable businessmen will not pressure you into making an unwanted purchase. He is concerned with your satisfaction.

Home Repair Frauds: A phony repairman or inspector could visit your home. He may tell you that your roof needs repairing, the furnace needs fixing, or termites and rats need exterminating. Beware of any individual who comes to your home and tells you that repairs need to be done. Also, be careful of the person who knocks on your door and offers to do home improvement.

Earning Money at Home: There is no easy money at home. Many schemes require in order to earn or put up a sum of money. If you earn money at home, be sure that you are dealing with a reputable dealer and that you will be paid a fair market price for your work.

BUYING LAND

Land Frauds: Advertising brochures, ads and letters have offered for sale beautiful homesites, lake sites, and "retirement lots" to individuals as ideal places either to spend vacation or to settle down during retirement. These lots may be in remote, desolate areas, there may be no roads, utilities, or stores nearby. Do see the land first and know precisely what you are doing. There are so many aspects to consider when buying land. Be sure you take plenty of time. Secure all of the facts before making the deal.

Lucky Winner Rackets: Some questionable businessmen have sent out letters to individuals claiming that they have won a prize. The prize may be a free sewing machine; or, the prize may be a discount on the purchase price of a particular item the store sells. Before taking advantage of a special discount, on the purchase price of goods, compare the total price of the goods with that in other stores. Make sure it is an honest discount.

QUACKS

Illness and declining health may mean a loss of vitality and possibly an increase in other physical ailments. Quacks may offer relief for these ailments. Depend upon the advice of your doctor; he is the person most up-to-date as to recent and effective medical advances and cures. Avoid promises of "quick cures," "amazing new discoveries," and "secret formulas." Don't take chances on quack medicines or mail order cures. Question advertising which is done by using testimonials on

FRAUDS

There are many types of frauds and gyms. Some of the more common types that have caused many individuals to lose money are:

Bait Advertising: A seller may get you to come into his store by offering a tempting deal. But, once you enter the store, he may try to interest you in a higher priced item or in another model. If you enter a store which uses bait advertising, do not let the salesmen sell you, something which you

1-VD IS RUNNING RAMPANT

Health Education Needed By Youngsters

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
(First of Seven Columns)

“Everybody knows about venereal disease and knowing what it is about. That seems to be the popular belief. Mighty few youngsters get into junior high school these days without having been told by somebody, in school or out, to “watch out for VD.”

Sure! They’ve “heard about it.” This is the biggest fraud and failure in “health education” that has been perpetrated in generations.

There’s such a gap between “hearing about” and knowing what it is about.

The proof is in the situation as it exists today. We have accurate ways of diagnosing VD. For decades we have had effective and usually easy methods of treatment.

The net result? A frightful epidemic of venereal disease is raging, and getting worse day by day.

And it will continue to get still worse. It can’t help it.

Here’s why. When I call it a raging epidemic, I am not exaggerating or trying to use scare tactics.

Of all “reportable diseases,” meaning contagious diseases of severe risk to the public, venereal diseases outnumber all others put together — TB, hepatitis, scarlet fever, pneumonia, typhoid, diphtheria, measles and the rest of them.

In fact, of the two main venereal diseases, gonorrhea, known to many only as “the clap,” outnumbers all the others by itself.

In the last full statistical year, 1969, more than 600,000 cases of VD were reported to health departments in the United States.

Unfortunately, despite laws, and unlike the other “reportable diseases,” only a fraction of the VD cases are being reported.

Dependable estimates put the true VD total at 2,500,000 a year.

That means 2,500,000 contracted these diseases. It also means that 2,500,000 became capable of giving venereal disease.

That, in one sentence, is the reason why the VD epidemic is bound to get worse.

Any other disease as damaging, and one-tenth as prevalent, would by now have brought an enraged public clamor that something be done to stop it. Then why not VD?

In five years, the amount of VD increased 1,000 per cent among teenagers.

It is rampant in the age groups from 20 to 30.

Clinics now are getting diseased girls younger than teenage.

Mothers infected with VD are having babies in increasing numbers — in Chicago, a study of about 2,000 young mothers (average age 22) disclosed that 1 in 14 had gonorrhea.

This epidemic isn’t going to “burn itself out.” Unlike smallpox, venereal disease does not make its victims immune.

Nor is there any vaccination that will prevent VD.

A person, male or female, can get venereal disease, be cured, and then go out and get it again. All it requires is sexual contact with someone else who has it.

Technologically we already possess what we need to curb VD, but we’ve got to start telling our young people — from junior high school through college, and the young marrieds — HOW to do it, and we’ve got to say more than “don’t.”

We need better understanding from parents. We need cooperation from physicians — such as those who treat VD but don’t report the cases.

With the situation the way it is, isn’t it time to stop being “nice” about it, and begin giving some unvarnished facts?

(Tomorrow — “How Does VD Start?”)

Dr. Thosteson’s booklet, “Venereal Disease: How To Avoid It; How To Cure It,” also tells how everyone can help stop the VD epidemic. For a copy, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Civil Trials Slated In District Court

Six civil cases have been set for trials beginning Monday at 10 a.m. in 118th District Court.

Set for Monday is the $30,352.80 damage suit of John Day vs. P. Willard Neel. Day filed suit in connection with an assault that allegedly occurred Aug. 23, 1966.

The $19,902.05 suit on debt of G. B. Billingsley et al vs. Scenic Gardens Inc. et al will be the second case to go to trial.

The embezzlement case against Evelyn Hale, 32, Midland, originally set for the week of April 19 has been postponed because of the illness of the defendant’s lawyer, George T. Thomas. The case will be reset for trial at a later time.

Mrs. Hale was indicted Nov. 1, 1969, for embezzlement she allegedly committed while employed as a deputy clerk in the district clerk’s office.

You've Got A Chance To Read And Clean Up Old Fines -- Free

“You’ve Got A Chance To Read — Don’t Blow It” is the 1971 theme for National Library Week which begins today.

In Big Spring, library patrons will have a chance to buy best sellers at a discount, hear a book by a bestselling author reviewed and will have a week’s grace during “Fine Forgiveness Week.”

The local observance of library week will really begin Monday at 7:30 p.m. when Mrs. R.B.G. Copher reviews the new Pearl S. Buck novel, “Mangan-Gala.” The review will be in the Howard County Library and will be sponsored by the Friends of the Library. The review is open to the public at no charge, and coffee will be served.

Following the review, those who attend will get a preview of the book fair. Some 300 to 400 new books will be on sale in the library Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and all will be sold at a publisher’s discount.

The books, many of them the latest best sellers, deal with subjects ranging from ESP to the care of neurotic pets.

“We want everyone to come and find a book that they want, but we’re hoping that they will buy two — one for themselves and one for the library,” said Mrs. Edna Nichols, county librarian.

“We’re also having Fine Forgiveness Week,” added Mrs. Nichols. “No matter how long the books have been overdue, if they are brought in this week, no fine will be charged. If any patrons have had books out so long that they are ashamed to bring them in, they can put the books in the book drop.”

To obtain a library card in order to enjoy the library, anyone who has lived in Howard County for three months may get a card by filling out an application. If the applicant has lived in the county less than three months, he must pay a $5 deposit which will be refunded at the end of three months. Out-of-county residents must pay $1.50 to obtain a card because they are using a facility which is maintained through Howard County taxes.

The exception to the rules is the applicant who is part of Webb AFB personnel. All base personnel are considered resi-everyone is invited to drop by the library, browse around and see what it has to offer in the way of learning and entertainment.

Area Youth To Be Honored Tuesday Night

Outstanding youth achievers in the area will be named Tuesday night in the climax to the sixth annual Youth Achievement Awards banquet.

Due to receive top honors for leadership in various areas of volunteer effort will be a boy or girl of junior or senior rank from each of four high schools — Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and Sands.

They will come from a select group of 32 finalists who are to be honored at a dinner at the Big Spring Country Club, starting at 7:30 p.m. These finalists — 20 from Big Spring and four from each of the other schools — will be accompanied by dates and their parents. They were chosen from a field of some 80 young people nominated for the 1971 awards. All other nominees are to receive special certificates.

The four grand award winners will receive large trophies and watches, compliments of Zale’s Jewelers which company, along with The Herald sponsors the event. There will be special gifts for all finalists.

The dinner program is to feature a talk by Calvin Hill, ace running back of the Dallas Cowboy football team. Hill, a graduate of Yale before entering the pro grid ranks, is studying at Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University.

Finalists will be saluted by Sidney Lipsy, Dallas, vice president of The Zale Corp. and R. W. Whipkey, publisher of The Herald.

A vocal ensemble from the BSHS Meistersingers will present numbers, and dinner music will be provided by Debbie Haller. Invocation and benediction will be by the Rev. John Beard, president of the Howard County Ministerial Fellowship.

CPA Meeting Set Thursday

The regular meeting of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants of the Permian Basin Chapter will be held at the Big Spring Country Club, Thursday beginning at 7:30 p.m.

George A. McAlister Jr., president of Datamate Computer Systems, Inc. of Big Spring, will be the speaker.

McAlister received a bachelor of science degree in math from East Texas State University in 1947 and a master of science degree in math from the same university in 1948. He is the founder and former president of Gamco Industries, Inc., a company making and selling math materials and teaching aids. For several years, he served on the faculty of Howard County Junior College as chairman of the math department. McAlister also is active in civic affairs in Big Spring.

Webb Course Graduates 39

Thirty-nine members of a management course were honored in a graduation ceremony April 9 at Webb AFB. Col. William J. Kilpatrick Jr., deputy commander for materiel, presented diplomas to the 35 military and four civilian members.

Sam McDowell from Shepard AFB, was instructor for the 50-hour Management I class.

Course graduates included: Capt. David S. Little, 1st Lt. Raymond C. Ortega, 2nd Lt. Dennis V. Hanson and Ronald W. Wilkes.

S. Sgts. Robert A. Besaw, Alan C. Bieblema, Glenn A. Bowen, Johnny H. Brackett, Herbert T. Burgess, Ronald De La Garza, Kenneth R. Ginn, Lloyd C. Hamann, Jesse Hurtado, William E. Hutterger, James E. Jarrett, Douglas A. Kilman, Paul W. Kuncze, Larry J. Kyan, Edward A. Morton, Roger D. Nobles, Larry D. Nottingham, Walter T. W. Ritter, Micheal W. Sheppard, Edward C. Summerwall, Cobal C. Civilians were Joy L. Decker, J. R. Guillemette, Violet V. Harrold, and Ida Lou Raney.

Webb Operations Shift In Personnel Announced

Announcement of changes of personnel in Webb AFB operations section here were released this week by Col. Charles F. Walker, deputy commander for operations (DO).

Leading the list of “significant personnel changes” within the DO complex are the assignment of Lt. Col. Robert L. Hurst to commander of the 3561st Student Squadron (STURON) and commander of the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron (PTS) and Lt. Col. Roy J. Glander (replacing Col. Hurst) from squadron section commander in the 60th PTS.

Col. Hurst takes command from Lt. Col. James J. Malone who is leaving for an assignment as chief, Operations Division, Air Training Command Inspector General’s team.

Col. Malone has been at Webb since May, 1967.

The shifts were brought about according to Col. Walker because of the departure of Col. Malone which caused a pyramid effect.

Also leaving Webb AFB for an assignment at ATC headquarters is Lt. Col. Michael J. Rega, Chief Operations in DO. He has been at Webb since April, 1966. Replacing him is Lt. Col. Richard H. Lang who moved up from the T-38 wing operations position.

The recent move of Lt. Col. Loren H. Hinkler from T-37 operations officer to the deputy commander for materiel quality control section left a vacancy which will be filled by Lt. Col. Robert P. Nass.

Taking Col. Nass’ place as a squadron section commander in the 61st PTS is Lt. Col. G.

Benson II who moved from the chief’s position for T-41 primary training at Howard County Airport.

Maj. George W. Thelin, presently Wing T-37 operations officer will take over the Howard County operation.

Other changes taking place within DO are the reassignment of Capt. Robert G. Woolley from the T-38 instructor pilot check section to Wing T-38 operations officer; Capt. Thomas N. Warren from the 60th PTS “A” Flight commander to flight management officer and Capt. Robert W. Baker from the 61st PTS “P” flight assistant commander to chief simulator training.

Capt. Woolley and Baker were chosen in the past as instructors of the quarter from their respective squadrons.

THE ARTS

Symphonies Closing Concert Seasons

The Midland-Odesa Symphony and Chorale will present the final concerts of the 1970-71 season April 26 at Borham Junior High Auditorium in Odessa and April 27, at Lee High School Auditorium in Midland. Concert time in both cities is 8 p.m.

In Midland, adult out-of-town concert goers may purchase tickets for $3.50. Student tickets will be $1.

The Museum also announces the recent acquisition of a watercolor, "The Dancer," by the Futurist painter, Gino Severini.

Training Session For Den Leaders

Den mothers and other den leaders are urged to attend a training session Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Room 216 at the VA Hospital.

This is part of the Cub Scout training program, and is especially geared to help those working directly with the boys to plan programs, etc. Any person interested in boys is invited to take part, said Bill Brooks, district training chairman.

Western Art Show Display At H-SU

Works of three West Texas artists will be featured in a western art show at Hardin-Simmons University April 19-30 in conjunction with the annual H-SU Intercollegiate Rodeo.

QUESTIONNAIRE REGARDING TEEN CENTER

Name Address Occupation Work Phone Home Phone I write as an individual I represent Club or Group I feel a teen center is needed in Big Spring - OR I feel the problems concerning a teen center outweigh the advantages. I am willing to actively support such a Center by: chaperoning serving on a joint council with young people by trying to influence others to support this effort financially. Others (Please specify) Rather than a full-time center, I favor a co-ordinating council, which would schedule activities of already existing groups (such as CYO, Episcopal Youth, DeMolays, etc.) to provide a concerted series of activities thru the summer. We need a full-time building i. e. open daily and on weekends. During the school year weekend activities only would be enough to meet the general need. I favor paid membership and independent financing. I favor a paid supervisor. I think these activities should be included: dances with live bands record hops after-football and basketball parties ping-pong pool tables card games, chinese checkers, chess, etc. separate parties for junior high age groups. Coke and candy vending machines, soda fountain & snack bar What are the major problems you feel we would meet? Please state the equipment and facilities you feel would make for an adequate center.

CLIP AND MAIL TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BOX 1391, BIG SPRING, TEXAS 79720

The Pops Nite program, started in 1946, will be celebrating its Silver Anniversary. The concert will be given in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium on the north side of Texas Tech University campus.

Richard Campbell, former star for Texas Tech's Red Raiders, who was also active in music and drama on campus, will be included in the performers for the Pops Nite program. One of his numbers will be the theme song from the popular movie, "Love Story."

This is the fourth concert of the 1970-71 season for Lubbock Symphony Orchestra. Tickets are priced at $5, $3.50, $2 and $1. They may be ordered by mail from the Symphony Office, 1416 Avenue Q, (79401) or by telephoning 762-4707 (806).

Conway Twitty and the Twitty Birds will appear in concert Thursday in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Twitty, generally considered one of the nicest and most respected artists in all of Country Music, as well as one of the most talented, is a proven giant in the field.

Signed and dated, the work was donated by Mrs. Daisy V. Shapiro, of New York City, who in recent years has made several contributions to The Museum's permanent collection.

Another painting acquired is one by Ethel Magafan, a contemporary American artist.

The tempera, "Up to the Mountain," was also a gift of Mrs. Shapiro.

A special performance of "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail" will highlight the Dallas Theater Center's annual Young Dallas Night April 30, at 7:30 p.m.

"Thoreau" is the latest script from "Inherit the Wind" and "Auntie Mame" authors Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee.

The new work has captured the imagination of everybody who in recent months has seen one of some 100 productions by member theaters of the American Playwrights Theater.

Young Dallas Night will also feature a light supper, prizes and dancing to a rock band. Tickets, priced at $2, are available at the box office of the Center, 526-8857 (806).

Robert Burrow of Lon Morris College, Jacksonville, Tex., still holds the National Junior College Athletic Association record for basketball points scored over two seasons.

Burrow counted 927 points his freshman year in 1952-53 and added 1,264 his sophomore year for a total of 2,191. That averages out to 26 points a game.

Ron Riordan of Becker, Mass., who played in 1967-68, set the one-year scoring record with a total of 1,387 points and a 47.8 average.

The top NJCAA record for a single game was achieved by Chris Wright of Wilbur Wright College, Ill., who tossed in 69 against Malcolm X College.

Condition Better

The condition of Glenn Gale, former Big Spring resident, was reported improved Saturday at Greely, Colo., where he was in the County General Hospital.

Previous information on where he was hospitalized was in error.

BSHS STUDENTS COMPETE

Seven District Schools Enter Contests Here

By KATHLEEN THOMPSON
Big Spring High School was the site of the district University Interscholastic League contest this past weekend, with seven district schools competing with BSHS for top honors in competition in several areas.

Entered in forensics for oral interpretation in prose were Cecelia Coffee and Darrell Horn; while Elizabeth Lipscombe and Mike Pope were entered in poetry. Extemporaneous speaking in the area of persuasion was Kay Meek and Sam Chappell, with Barbara Widger and John Hicks entered in informative speaking.

Debate was held April 2 and 3 with Scott McLaughlin and Jeff Talmadge competing and Kathy Thompson and Susan Sulak entered in girls' division. Both teams placed third.

The one-act play produced by BSHS drama department was "The Heritage of Wimpole Street." The play written by Robert Kaupe is based on the family of Elizabeth Barrett-Browning. Jon Rice was cast as Edward Moulton-Barrett, Norma Backs portrayed Henrietta, Joy Stevens played Anabel and David Wright was Robert Barrett-Browning. Leslie Welsh was cast as Jane.

Entered in typing competition were Julia Evans, Linda Murray, Rita Sherrill, Brenda Harland and Cindy Taylor. Alternates were Debra Blackshear, Mary Ellen Guess, Sandra Dickinson and John Acosta.

Short-hand contests were Joyce Nail, Carolyn Hammond, Kay Fiveash and Susan Trim; with alternates Donna Stanley, Debra Rybolt, Sandy Kolb and Dallas Crawford.

Ready writing contestants from Big Spring were Ben Johnson and Marilyn Hale, with Debra Buchanan serving as alternate. Spelling competition was entered by Sallie Hollingsworth, Pam Piquet and Diana Dearing.

The math department competed in two events, Mark McCraney, Mike Carroll and Bobette Riner entered number sense while Peter Kilpatrick and Paul Talbot entered in slide rule competition.

The journalism department entered two contestants, Ben Johnson in news writing, editorials and headline writing, with Kathy Thompson competing in feature writing.

The choral department went on tour this past week, leaving Tuesday evening and returning sometime today. The tour covered several points in Texas, with concerts given in Edinburg, McAllen, San Antonio, Fort Worth, and Abilene. A special treat was the San Antonio Symphony the choir heard in San Antonio.

The history department will be active in the next few weeks attending the state history convention; while several students will be traveling to the Sul Ross history contest Friday.

The students will compete in three areas: world history, American history and government.

Sixteen students are being considered for the world history contest, fifteen are being considered for American history and eleven seniors are being considered for the government contest.

Eliminations will take place this coming week to decide upon who will go to Sul Ross. Four students have been selected to attend the state convention with sponsor Rodney Allison. Ben Johnson, Kay Meek, Pat Gray and Betsy Cambell will attend the convention this weekend.

Students Attend Orientation Class

By MELANIE HAYWORTH
Eighth grade students received Freshman orientation on Wednesday, April 14. Mr. Roger Tucker, high school counselor, and Mr. John Talmadge, assistant principal, explained the four-year plan to students.

Students were also presented booklets entitled "Building Your High School Schedule" and were allowed one week to decide on the courses they wish to take during their freshman year. This Wednesday Mr. Tucker and Mr. Talmadge will return, at which time the students will have an opportunity to fill out their high school schedules.

Mr. Jess Blair and Mr. Adron Welch's science classes journeyed to the high school plantarium on Thursday for a lesson on astronomy. This Wednesday Mrs. Lucy Bonner's science classes will take the trip with permission from the students' parents.

The Student Council at Goliad held a meeting this past Thursday for the purpose of discussing plans for a newspaper featuring Goliad's accomplishments during the 1970-71 school year. The council is planning to meet each week to put the paper together.

Last Thursday Goliad's representative in the county spelling bee, Marienne Margolis, won the spelling bee. On May 1 Marienne will participate in the Regional spelling bee in Lubbock.

FORSAN HIGH SCHOOL

Student Council Plans Play Day, Election Day

By JUDY MAXWELL
FORSAN — School resumed on Tuesday following the Easter holidays.

The junior high and the high school student councils met separately on Tuesday. These meetings involved the discussion and planning of the annual play day and election day.

Coahoma High School students presented a one-act play in assembly Tuesday. The play was entitled "Childhood," by Thornton Wilder.

Friday was campaign and election day for next year's FHA officers. The meeting was held in the auditorium where each candidate or her representative gave speeches. The election of new officers immediately followed the speeches. They are as follows: Kathy Bailey, president; Debbie Fryar, first vice-president; and Eunice Kilgore, second vice-president; Debra Fraley, third vice-president; Dorothy Banks, fourth vice-president; Janet Ellis, fifth vice-president; Kim Kuykendall, secretary; Kathy Reed, treasurer; Debbie Martin, parliamentarian; and Kathy Fryar, historian.

The District 9-B Tennis Tournament was held at San Angelo Central High School Wednesday and Thursday. ## El Nido Staffers Attend Convention

By CHARLES KIMBLE
Three members of the Howard County Junior College student publication staff, El Nido, have been attending the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association convention in Dallas this weekend.

Deadline for entries to the Miss HCJC pageant is April 23. Curtain time for the fifth annual show is scheduled for May 8.

This year the HCJC choir under the direction of Mr. Ralph Dowden will provide music and choreography while Jim Baum of radio station KBYG will serve as master of ceremonies.

Judges for the pageant consist of students from South Plains College of Levelland, two students from Odessa College and one from Angelo State University of San Angelo. The present Miss HCJC is Doris Madrano who was runner-up in last year's pageant. Last year's winner has since married.

Members of Mr. John Bayne's psychology class recently visited the Big Spring State Hospital. During the tour, a demonstration of hypnosis was given by Dr. Preston Harrison.

The two-man one-woman delegation left Thursday at noon under the sponsorship of Mr. Dal Herring, journalism instructor.

The convention held every spring is composed of junior and senior colleges across the state. Each year, the convention is held in a different location. This year, the University of Texas at Arlington is serving as host school.

The three members attending from HCJC were Kerry Gunels, managing editor, Bill Henry, sports editor, and Sarah Harris, feature writer.

Select The Church Of Your Choice And Be Faithful
In Your Attendance

After the bleakness of winter comes Spring. Fulfilling a promise of long ago, the seasons follow one another in divinely planned succession.
All around us we see evidence of evil, but the Church gives positive assurance that God is ever present. As Spring brings new life, so does the Church.
Consider the daffodil—its freshness and beauty speak of hope. Consider the Church—its steadfast faith strengthens mankind. God creates daffodils, but intelligent cultivation makes them even more beautiful. Likewise, He depends on us to spread the influence of the Church and to make a better world.
Accept this tremendous challenge and become a part of God's Church today.

That Long Hair

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You recently wrote that there is more fighting going on in the average American home because of hair than anything else. I am a girl, 19, and I want to know why adults are so quick to judge a person by his outward appearance? If a boy has long hair he is taken for a hippie, radical, pot smoker, homosexual or freak. Why? It makes me sad that outward appearances mean everything to adults. They don't bother to look at a person and see beyond his hair or his dress. They don't care what's on the inside. Why can't adults forget what a person looks like, Abby, and judge him for what he is? They'd get to know a lot more

A person may be immaculately clean, but if he looks dirty. I don't want him serving me in a restaurant. And I haven't the time to give him a physical. True, perhaps we are missing out on meeting a lot of beautiful people because they look like trash. But who wants to pick through what looks like trash in order to meet beautiful people?

Somewhere there should be a happy medium, and though I respect a person's right to comb his hair and dress the way he wishes, if he gets self-dressed up to look like he's going to a costume party, he shouldn't feel that society is picking on him if somebody laughs.

DEAR MARY: I have long been acquainted with your fine services and have recommended Florence Crittenton to hundreds of girls without hesitation, but another boost won't hurt.

DEAR MARY: Many pregnant, unmarried girls have never heard of Florence Crittenton Services. We offer girls a place to live with other girls who share the same problems. We give them good medical care, an opportunity to continue their education, plus other services the expectant mother may need. We charge according to how much the girl and her family can pay. The girl may either live in one of our 48 homes around the country, or she may decide to live in her own home, but accept some of the services we offer. She may keep her baby or give it up. The decision is hers and there is no pressure.

Please, Abby, tell girls who need our help to look for Florence Crittenton Services in the white pages of their phone books, or write to our home office at 608 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. 60605. BY W. PALMER

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Kinds Of Insulin

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: As a recent diabetic, I must take insulin but the pharmacist refuses to fill the prescription because the doctor did not write which insulin strength should be used. He only wrote, "NPH 30 units daily."

The doctor says either type of insulin can be used, and the pharmacist says no, he must have "better" directions and advised me to change doctors. Will you comment, please?—H.M.

Unless there's more to this dispute than meets the eye, your pharmacist is correct in saying that the strength of the insulin should be specified. Usual strengths are U-40 (bottle with red label) and U-80 (green label), although other strengths are sometimes used for special cases.

While either U-40 or U-80 ordinarily can be used, the appropriate amount must be measured out. Insulin syringes often have two scales, a U-40 scale on one side, a U-80 scale on the other.

Obviously the proper scale should be used for measuring the type of insulin being taken.

I have preferred that patients stick to one strength when possible, because it avoids the chance of making a mistake and using the wrong scale.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son and his friends with assorted instruments and several amplifiers constantly play bone-shattering music (?) in his small home.

My daughter-in-law is seven months pregnant. These young men try to make up in volume what they lack in talent and it is making my daughter-in-law nervous and sick to her stomach.

If she complains, he gets angry and turns the volume even higher. I have heard that this ear-piercing music can even affect the unborn child. Would you comment?—Mrs. B.L.

I don't know of any reason why the racket should affect the unborn child, but I'd say your son's manners could stand some improving. If it bothers his wife, why don't they take their amplifiers to somebody else's house?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For a year I have had a lip ulcer which at times heals until there is just a dark colored circle. Soon it erupts again to the bleeding point.

The doctor gave me some salve for it. Could this be caused by smoking a pack a day? Could it be from nerves? Recently a week on tranquilizers (for another reason) resulted in its healing quite rapidly. Can this turn into cancer?—A.A.M.

Any chronic ulcer of tongue or lip could be, or could become, cancerous. Yes, smoking can be a factor. NERVES? I doubt it. But better see a skin specialist or plastic surgeon, and have that spot examined to make sure whether it is or is not malignant.

Colitis can include a variety of intestinal ailments from serious to merely uncomfortable. For a better understanding of its causes and treatment, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for his booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dead Mystery Man Is Basis Of Song

Recording Might Help Identify Wanderer

WANDERER INSPIRED SONG
... Jack Condra, Abilene

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sun., April 18, 1971 '7-D

An unknown wanderer who inspired Anson citizens to pay for a tombstone and Jones County Sheriff Woodrow Simmons, who continues investigating-identification leads, have become the basis of a song.

The song, by Jack Condra and Sammy Wilcox, is the saga of an elderly man who is buried in Anson beneath a tombstone inscribed "Unknown Man."

The story began March 22, 1970, when the old wanderer was run over and killed as he walked along side of U.S. 130 about three miles west of Anson. (The driver was later convicted of murder with a motor vehicle and felony DWI.)

He still is an unknown traveler, despite an extensive investigation by Sheriff Simmons, who has taken a personal interest in the case. He followed every lead but so far is unable to come up with anything definite.

Everybody had seen the old man on his annual trek through West Texas, but nobody knew his name. A tattered card he carried bore the inscription "Kaiser Wilhelm" or "Wilhelm" on it, but it proved to be no more than a notation "Canadian" on the notation "Canadian" records were checked. Old-timers were talked to. Nothing came of it.

The people who had met him agreed that he spoke with a foreign accent, probably German; but where he came from or why he chose a life on the road remains a mystery.

Condra, a former insurance salesman turned composer and singer, was intrigued by a newspaper article about the old man.

"Right away I decided to write a song about him," Condra said. With the help of Wilcox, the song was completed about eight months ago and is copyrighted. The authors hope the song will be recorded soon.

Condra recently signed a recording contract with Bill Temple Enterprises, Fort Worth. He said that the song about the old man is not included in his recording contract, but he still hopes the song will be recorded by someone else soon, if not by him.

Condra is married to the former Faye Lacy, whose father Charles Lacy is a former resident of Big Spring. The couple lives at 1001 S. LaSalle, Abilene, with their two daughters, Jackie and Michelle.

The song follows:

THE UNKNOWN TRAVELER
He was just a loner, he roamed from town to town. He never had any money, his bed was the cold, cold ground.

Whenever he got hungry he'd go to some back door. And as for a handout and pray they wouldn't get sore. Whenever someone neiped him not a word of thanks would he say.

Just a strange look in his eyes that said, "I'll be on my way."

CHORUS:
The unknown traveler is buried in a pauper's grave. Everybody'd seen him but nobody knew his name. He must have been hurt in life by somebody close to him. He didn't have an enemy, but he sure had lots of friends.

One day he came through Anson, a small West Texas town.

He had just finished his breakfast and was walking toward the edge of town.

Then from out of nowhere a car suddenly came.

And before the day was ended he was in his grave.

He may have been a rambler, he may have been a bum, But also remember he was some mother's son.

The unknown traveler is lying, lying in his grave. 'Cause a man and his bottle took his life away.

The unknown traveler is buried in a pauper's grave. Everybody'd seen him, but nobody knew his name.

'Flipper' Shown In Special Matinee

"Flipper", the unique story of a friendship between a boy and a dolphin, will be presented today, at the Ritz Theatre.

Chuck Connors, well known to television and motion picture fans, and 12-year-old Luke Halpin are the human stars of this MGM release in Metro-Color.

But, the real star of the film is a seven-foot dolphin playing the title role. And, what a role. The dolphin is friendly, intelligent, frolicsome creature and Flipper becomes the screen's most delightful new star.

Filmed in color in the Florida Keys, Bahamas and the Virgin Islands, "Flipper" depicts some intense and dramatic interludes. Included are a battle to the death between Flipper and a shark; the devastation caused by a frightening hurricane, wrecking houses, fishing boats and villages.

Equally spell binding are scenes showing the growing friendship and remarkable intimacy between a boy and his dolphin after he has found the air breathing mammal impaled on a spear and caught in a reef. Towing the wounded dolphin home, the boy houses it in his father's fish pen and nurses him back to life.

Crossed Funny Bones Mark Spot

A set of crossed funny bones should mark the spot wherever Dom DeLuise has appeared. The young comedian who stars in Mel Brooks' "The Twelve Chairs," the adventure-comedy opening at the Ritz Theatre today, has a way of projecting the woes which can only fall upon the innocent, that sets TV, stage and screen audiences squirming with pure delight.

Brooklyn born, by the time DeLuise finished grammar school he had a good idea of what he wanted to be so he enrolled in New York's High School of the Performing Arts. His comic talents were soon apparent after teachers watched his expert imitation of the mannerism and facial expressions of those around him.

After a side excursion into academia at Tufts College in Boston, DeLuise joined the Cleveland Playhouse. During a two season stay there he appeared in "Stalag 17," "Bloomer Girl," and "Kiss Me Kate" among other staples.

Then came a sting on television in New York where he was with comedian Joe Bova on a children's show and later starred as Tinker in "Tinker's Workshop."

Academia called again and this time Dom enrolled at Brooklyn College with the intention of becoming a biology teacher. But his original idea of what he wanted to be eventually seemed to be the better one so he joined up with

VALDEZ IS COMING
... Burt Lancaster as gunman

'Valdez Is Coming' Stars Burt Lancaster

"Valdez is Coming," set in Arizona in the 1890's, stars Burt Lancaster in one of his most compelling roles. It is the story of a man who is poor in his saddle bags but rich in his principles. One day he is forced to defend those principles with his guns.

Opening Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre, "Valdez is Coming" marks the screen debut of Edwin Sherin, who staged the Pulitzer prize-winning play, "The Great White Hope."

Sherin, determined to avoid western cliches, declared that his goal was to "... show the true West of that period -- with cowboys who sweat and smell and whose women are not pure flowers."

A tense, hard-hitting film, "Valdez is Coming" is the finished product of thorough research into the western lore of the period and fine performances by Burt Lancaster and his leading lady, Susan Clark. Susan is cast as a young widow, Gay Erin, a passionate woman, who can kill when angry.

Oscar Winner Signed For Film

NEW YORK (AP) — Two-time Academy Award winner Maurice Jarre has been signed to compose and conduct the music for Paramount Pictures' "Plaza Suite," starring Walter Matthau, Maureen Stapleton, Barbara Harris and Lee Grant.

Jarre, who won Oscars for "Laurence of Arabia" and "Doctor Zhivago," also wrote the scores for "Ryan's Daughter," "To Die in Madrid," "The Damned" and "The Loves of Isadora."

Texas Now Has Official Grass-Sideoats Grama

Sideoats grama grass has been designated as the official state grass of Texas, according to a resolution passed recently by the Texas Senate and House of Representatives. The native grass is the backbone of the West Texas ranching industry. "We use the grass to cover areas that are not being farmed anymore and for areas that need some kind of grass," said Gerald Miller, soil conservation service area head. "It is well suited to this area and is doing well despite the drought."

Sideoats grama occurs on a greater diversity of soils than possibly any other grass, according to the resolution passed and signed by Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, House Speaker G. F. (Gus) Mutscher, the Senate secretary and the chief clerk of the House.

Sponsors of the resolution were Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford and Rep. Grant Jones of Abilene.

Dr. F. M. Churchill, professor of range and wildlife science at Abilene Christian College, was chairman of the committee of the Texas section of the American Society of Range Management which proposed the resolution. Dr. Churchill is president of the Texas council of chapters of the Soil Conservation Society of America.

"Texas is only the fourth state to adopt an official state grass," said Dr. Churchill.

Sideoats grama grass, botanical name "Bouteloua curtipendula (Michx.) Torr." is a perennial with long purplish spikes and is found in nearly all parts of the state, especially in areas including the Blackland Prairies, Cross Timbers, Edwards Plateau, Rolling Plains, High Plains and Trans-Pecos.

"Sideoats grama grass is one of our most attractive native grasses," said Dr. Churchill. "It produces a high-quality, nutritious forage which is relished by all classes of livestock and wildlife."

"Each individual spike turns to one side of the seed stalk at maturity hence the name sideoats."

"Sideoats grama is being used extensively, to re-seed depleted grasslands," said Dr. Churchill.

"It produces vigorous seedlings and is considered to be an excellent grass for all conservation purposes," he said. The new state grass is also winter hardy and highly resistant to droughts, according to Dr. Churchill.

The ACC professor said earlier attempts by others in the state had failed, but that the current project had been successful because of an organized effort of the SCS, the Texas section of the ASRM and legislators Ratliff and Jones.

Swimming Pool Operator's Class Set Wednesday

A swimming pool operator's short course to be held Wednesday has been announced by the Big Spring-Howard County Health Department.

Sponsors for the one-day course are the Texas State Department of Health, the Texas Beach and Pool Association and the Big Spring-Howard County Health Department.

The school will be held from 8:15 a.m. to 8:45 p.m. at the Health Department, 201 Lancaster, Big Spring.

All public and private swimming pool operators are invited, as well as any individual who has an interest in proper swimming pool sanitation and operation.

An optional examination will be given to those who want a certificate of completion. There is no charge for the one-day affair.

C-C Directors Meet Monday

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce will meet Monday at noon at Coker's Restaurant.

Included on the agenda are reports from T.Sgt. Glenn Ragsdale on proposed exhibit sponsorship and from M.Sgt. Bob Butler on a proposed program to involve people in a clean-up effort.

County Dads' Agenda Brief

Repair bids, sickness and disability benefits and the purchase of road equipment and materials are the main items on the agenda for the county dads when they meet at 9 a.m. Monday in county commissioners court.

Commissioners are to discuss bids for the purchase of paint for the interior of the courthouse, and the bids on the cost of the repair work to be done.

A new schedule of maximum sickness and disability benefits for employees of the road and bridge department is set for discussion, and the court will discuss with Hollis Randall, road and bridge administrator, the purchase of equipment and road materials for the department.

The final item on the agenda is the approval of a bond for Clyde Eager, independent public weigher.

WHAT IS A MISOCAPNIST?

You probably know a great many people who are misocapnists. No doubt several relatives are, as well as some very close friends. These days most people who are misocapnists do not hesitate to let you know about it. And with the zeal of a missionary they will try to convert you to their way of thinking. For a misocapnist is a person who hates tobacco!

If you are a smoker but want to get started on a misocapnist career, we can give you some help. There are products available to get you over the first withdrawal hurdles. Of course, to be a true believer you also need some will power. But remember a misocapnist stands a better chance of living longer than a cigarette smoker.
