

TO CLIP SMOKERS, DRIVERS, CONSUMERS, CORPORATIONS

Top Guns Of House Okay Tax Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislators approved and sent to the governor today a massive tax bill that would raise living costs for drivers, smokers, ordinary consumers and corporations.

The House accepted the Senate's tax plan, which consists mainly of consumer levies, by an 86-60 vote.

This fell short of the 100-two-thirds majority needed to put the measure into effect July 1, trimming $70 million from the $684 million bill.

However, a move was expected later in the day to reconsider the vote and try again to get the two-thirds majority.

Liberals and Republicans opposed the bill but failed, 88-55, to persuade the House to reject it and appoint a joint conference committee to write a compromise tax bill.

"I think this bill is responsible," declared Rep. Ben Atwell of DeSoto, near Dallas. He was House Tax Committee chairman.

Atwell contended business would pay $265 million in added taxes over two years because of the bill.

But liberals contended the measure "was—in the words of Rep. Dave Allred of Wichita Falls—"an onerous burden on the people who elected us, to come down here and represent them."

The record tax bill was needed to pay for new state spending for 1972-73, mainly for welfare and education.

Speaker Gus Mutscher had tried during the morning to assemble a two-thirds majority.

Mutscher decided Wednesday to ask House members to accept the Senate bill, written as a substitute for a tax plan approved by the House in March.

"No tax measure is popular or perfect. There are features of this bill with which I personally disagree. However, major legislation of this type is composed of compromises," Mutscher said.

With revenue estimates based on the July 1 effective date, the tax bill would:

- Increase the state sales tax from 3.25 to 4 per cent for $211 million in revenue over the next two years. The sales tax rate in cities with the 1 per cent local sales tax would be five per cent.
- Raise the motor vehicle

- sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent and extend the tax to car rentals, $84.5 million.
- Boost the corporation franchise tax by $1.25 per $1,000 assets, $108.1 million.
- Add 3 cents a pack to the cigarette tax, for a total of 18.5 cents, $46.7 million.
- Raise the gasoline tax 2 cents a gallon and the diesel fuel tax one-half cent per gallon, to a total of 7 cents each, for $65.2 million in general revenue.
- Transfer financing of the farm to market road program from general revenue to the - highway fund, $30 million.

- Increase the beer producers' tax from $4.30 to $6 a barrel, $28.8 million.

Mutscher said the House later would pass a liquor tax bill that would trim the beer tax increase from $1.70 to 70 cents a barrel.

This can be done because state law says the latest bill passed on a subject—such as beer taxes—supersedes earlier bills.

Mutscher, long associated with the beer lobby, has called the Senate's proposed beer tax hike "punitive."

The speaker also had been critical of the gasoline tax increase, favoring instead a House proposal to tax jet aviation fuel.

But he withdrew his objection because the levy would provide millions of dollars for highways, in addition to the money it would pump into the general revenue fund.

Besides the major tax bill, the legislature is expected to pass a mixed drink tax and new wine and whisky taxes that would produce some $22 million over the next two years when combined with new liquor by the drink license fees.

Michigan Gambling Round-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 400 FBI agents and local police began today a Michigan roundup of 151 persons, including a Detroit police inspector and 15 other officers, on federal gambling charges returned by two federal grand juries.

Fifteen indictments, returned by grand juries sitting in Detroit and Grand Rapids, were announced by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell in Washington.

Mitchell said federal authorities coordinating the arrest raids in 37 Michigan cities described the operation as "one of the largest in United States history in terms of the number of arrests."

Major cities in which authorities either made arrests or executed search warrants this morning were Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Flint, Saginaw, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo, the Justice Department said.

groups or persons in Las Vegas, Chicago and Miami. The Justice Department said four of the indicted persons were being sought in those cities.

Thirty-One Thought Dead In Cave-In

ST. JEAN VIANNEY, Que. (AP)—Many of St. Jean Vianney's 1,300 people were watching the Stanley Cup hockey finals on television when the ground began giving way, tumbling houses into a sea of mud.

Forty-two cottages crashed down into the crater that widened out late Tuesday night. Today five bodies had been recovered and no hope was held for 26 missing persons.

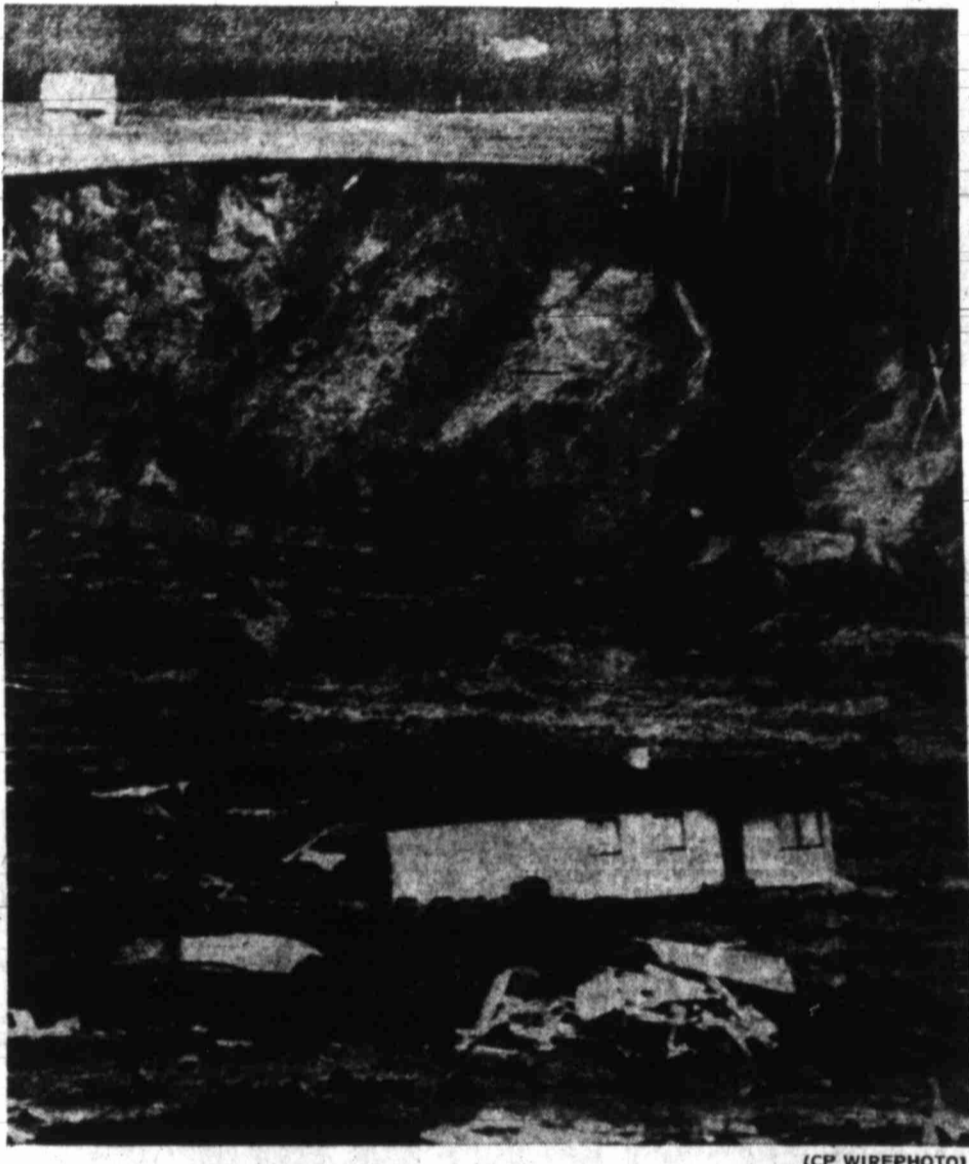

Francois Richard was watching the hockey game when he heard shouting and ran 700 yards down the street. He saw houses falling one by one, dropping "150 feet into nowhere."

"I just got the kids and wife out of the house in time," he said.

An entire street and part of another were pulled into the grayish mud pit 2,000 feet wide and more than 100 feet deep.

A government geologist, Jean-Yves Chagnon, said the cave-in may have been caused by erosion of sandy soil at the base of the bluff on which the town was built, or by an earth tremor Tuesday believed centered in the area 116 miles north of Quebec City. He said he didn't expect any more slides.

"But if it rains for two days, it could mean trouble," Chagnon said. He explained that a lot of rain could start sludge flowing down the new canyon and undercut the river banks elsewhere.

Antiwar Protesters Promise To Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antiwar protesters, reeling from a wave of 12,000 arrests this week, straggled from the still security-conscious capital today with their leaders vowing to return in the summer for renewed efforts to halt the nation's government.

DO IT AGAIN

The demonstrators planned a late morning rally at the South Vietnamese embassy today. But at the appointed hour, it was raining and the 50 youths who had shown up found themselves outnumbered more than 10-to-1 by police.

Protest leaders also scheduled a symbolic march on city jail, but it was obvious many of their followers already had left the city.

The leaders, however, were talking of another round of demonstrations, perhaps within six to eight weeks.

"We are going to do it again," protest organizer Rennie Davis told an unofficial session of the American Psychiatric Association today.

"We are not going to be stopped," added John Froines, who with Davis faces conspiracy charges stemming from this week's halt-the-government efforts.

mood, at that, was frequently festive with songs and dances interspersing the oratory.

But others, including a few sympathetic congressmen who spoke to the group before the order to disperse, were not so satisfied. Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., said the Capitol Chief of Police James Powell's muffled demand to clear the area may as well have been made "in the men's room" since few heard it.

Aggies Quit Elective Jobs

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Councilmen C. H. Ransdell and Cecil Ryan resigned Wednesday, making a total of eight Texas A&M employees who have quit elective jobs rather than give up their pay from the state university.

Of the others, four were members of the Texas A&M Consolidated School Board and two of the Iola School Board.

The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals at Austin ruled last week that persons receiving state pay could not also hold elective offices.

Ransdell is assistant dean of engineering, and Ryan is a professor of poultry science.

Mayor D. A. Anderson, director of information for the Texas Forestry Service, and Councilman James Dozier, associate professor of finance, are the only two A&M employees remaining on the council who were defendants in the suit which questioned their right to hold office while employed by A&M. The university is withholding their pay.

Dozier said he expects to appeal next week.

STOP THE WAR

Froines mentioned July 4, and said: "If the government has not stopped the war, we are going to continue to stop the government of the United States." He urged the 2,000 psychiatrists to "join our conspiracy."

As Davis and Froines were applauded by the psychiatrists, police continued heavy patrols in the city. About 4,000 Marine and Army troops who had been deployed at strategic traffic sites during rush hours the past three days remained at staging areas this morning.

Some 1,160 of the protesters were jailed in a peaceful but militant rally which closed the Capitol Wednesday afternoon and sparked renewed public debate over tactics employed by police. A congressman was among those claiming to have been roughed up by officers.

SONGS, DANCES

Other disturbances, resulting in about 50 arrests, were waged late Wednesday by dissident groups which flooded off the campuses of American University and the University of Maryland to block homebound traffic on two key roadways.

For many of the protesters, a trip to jail has been the honor badge of commitment. Most who marched to the doorstep of Congress in Wednesday's demonstration had voted beforehand to accept arrest, and the

Twister Rips In Missouri

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes dipped from the skies across the Midwest Wednesday night and early today causing damage in parts of Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Oklahoma.

A twister which ripped through Joplin, Mo., Wednesday night killed at least one man and left a wide path of injury and destruction. Power lines were uprooted, homes were demolished and at least 50 persons injured.

Meanwhile, in northwestern Missouri another tornado blew 62 railroad cars off the track near Rothville. Seven ammonia gas tanks were overturned, but none of the contents leaked, officials said.

While 20 homes were demolished by a twister in Conway, Mo., other funnel clouds touched down in Galena, Kan., New Market, Iowa, and Haskell, Okla., the National Weather Service reported.

Violent weather also battered other sections of the nation as hail pounded San Antonio, Tex., Milford, Ind. and Coloma, Mo.

Showers and thunderstorms soaked most of the East Coast and sections of the Pacific Northwest, easing drought conditions in several states.

Cutting Salaries Of About 1,200

DALLAS (AP) — A spokesman disclosed Wednesday that Collins Radio Co. is cutting salaries of about 1,200 Dallas employees.

Due to a lower level of new orders, a formal statement advised, "Collins Radio is reducing the salaries for administrative, professional and management personnel from 1 per cent to 14 per cent."

There are 4,800 persons on the company payroll in Dallas, the spokesman said.

GOOD NEIGHBOR TRADITION — In the tradition of good neighborliness, which marked the 50th anniversary of the nation's first settlement, the Heritage Museum is seeking to preserve. Bob Hickson (left), manager of Hemphill-Wells Company, presents a $1,000 check for the museum to Jerry Worthy, president, and Wade Choate, treasurer. The gift is from the Hemphill-Wells Foundation, and comes at a time when the museum is seeking to develop its second exhibit—early ranching. Choate is a great-grandson of Howard County's first settler, rancher W. T. (Bud) Roberts.

NIXON SETBACK Wholesale Prices Accelerate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rise in wholesale prices accelerated in April, handing the Nixon administration a setback in its effort to control inflation, the Labor Department reported today.

The department said its wholesale price index advanced by three-tenths of one per cent in April, with its key industrial commodities index going up by four-tenths of one per cent.

The increase was even larger on a seasonally adjusted basis, with the over-all index increasing by five-tenths of one per cent and industrial prices by the same amount.

The April increase followed the slackening in wholesale prices in March, when the index advanced by only two-tenths of one per cent on both an unadjusted and seasonally adjusted basis.

The department said farm products showed no change in April, while prices of processed foods and feeds actually declined by two-tenths of one per cent. But on a seasonally adjusted basis, prices of farm products increased by 1.4 per cent, with the cost of processed foods and feeds unchanged.

Drouth Loans Available Here

Emergency Farmers Home Administration loans are now available to farmers and ranchers in Howard County according to a telegram to The Herald from Cong. Omar Burleson Wednesday.

"The designation was made in connection with the drouth conditions in Texas," said Huey R. Price, county supervisor of FHA in Howard and Glasscock Counties.

"We now can make loans to farmers and ranchers for operating expenses. We don't expect any applications until next year," he said, "because most people have already budgeted funds for this year."

"Next year we may do more. We can make loans to replace livestock sold because of the drouth. The loans are tied into the size of the operation. We have made loans for as much as $200,000."

Information on loans is available from Price in the FHA office in the Federal building or by telephoning 267-8941.

Drugs Aren't Only Problems Of Fire House 6 Patrons

Sometimes they drop in from nowhere in particular; sometimes they just call on the phone. But one thing the people — mostly young people — have in common at Fire House 6 is problems.

Dr. Wayne Bonner and two volunteer colleagues told about the unique project in an informal discussion with Downtown Lions Wednesday.

While drugs figure in problems of a number who get in touch with the folks at Fire House 6, this is by no means the limit of their problems. One girl, terribly distraught, had just broken up with her boyfriend and she wanted desperately to talk to someone. Sometime later she called back to say everything was all right.

None of the volunteer counselors talks about drugs unless the callers at Fire House 6 bring up the subject (although there is factual information available if the young people want it). Two callers, who said at the outset they were on dangerous drugs, have been regular visitors and confided recently that they were off drugs. No one ragged them; they had done it because they wanted to.

Occasionally a young person walks into the station and bluntly announces: "I need someone to talk to."

And, as one young volunteer observed, "you just listen . . . that's mostly what you do . . . listen." The payoff comes in satisfaction of perhaps helping someone, or when the voice on the phone says: "Thanks" or "you've really helped."

Dr. Wayne Bonner, president of The Way Out, the non-profit corporation which operates the station under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis Club, said that the most the place had to offer is friendship.

"A lot of these kids think they can't talk to their parents, but they want to talk to someone," The Rev. David Northcutt, who until recently was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Coahoma and who was one of the founders of the project, pleaded for public understanding, adding that the success of the venture depended on broad community support.

"We know you may hear all sorts of things about Fire House 6," he said, "but you can help by getting at rumors, if you hear any, and by going at once to members of the board to get the facts of the case."

The opportunity of service is limited now only by a shortage of volunteer helpers who can keep the station open only on Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. These number a dozen or more, and they devote Monday evenings to continuing training and in evaluating experiences of the previous weekend. All of them will have six to eight weeks training in counseling before they report to the station to help. If you have a problem, call Fire House 6. The number is help by getting at rumors, if 263-8484.

HOUSTON POST'S HOBBY MAY HOP INTO STATE RACE

DALLAS (AP) — Houston Post President William P. Hobby told television interviewers he is "thinking very strongly" of running for lieutenant governor of Texas in 1972.

The Post executive, here in his capacity as head of an interim committee on welfare reform, made the remark in response to questioning by Eddie Barker of KDFW-TV.

"I'm thinking very strongly about getting into politics," he said. "I'm giving consideration to entering politics in 1972, and if I go it will be for lieutenant governor."

Hobby said if he runs it will be as a Democrat, and said he will decide "in the next couple of months" whether to make the race.

He was interviewed by Barker and Bill Ceverha for a "Point of View" show to be aired Sunday.

Rogers Gets Favorable Reception From Arabs

CAIRO (AP) — Both American and Egyptian officials seemed pleased today at the cordial atmosphere surrounding the Secretary of State William P. Rogers' visit to Cairo. But they also appeared cautious as to whether the American leader's Middle East mission would help move Israel and Egypt toward any sort of agreement. After talks with Prime Minister Mahmoud Fawzi and Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad, Rogers was meeting today with President Anwar Sadat before flying on to Israel, his last stop. Leaders in the four Arab countries Rogers has visited all have been urging him to put pressure on Israel to agree to pull her forces out of the lands she took in the 1967 war. They see Israeli withdrawal as the prime requirement for a peace solution.

U.S. sources said Rogers did not mention any specific line to which the Israelis might withdraw in order to get the Egyptians to reopen the canal. But he did talk about ways in which the area might be administered and possible security measures to prevent a confrontation between Egyptian and Israeli forces.

Phone Hints For Mother's Day Calls

"One of Southwestern Bell's busiest days of the year is just around the corner and the telephone company has already made plans to meet the increased calling loads this Mother's Day," said Mrs. Louise Hamilton, chief operator for the telephone company.

The telephone company will have additional operators on duty in order to provide the best service possible. She pointed out that customers could help themselves by dialing their calls during slack periods of the day.

"Usually, telephone users unknowingly concentrate their calls within a few hours, causing peak loads on our equipment," Mrs. Hamilton said. "If this trend holds true this year, it could possibly mean delays for customers."

She pointed out that these peak calling periods on previous Mother's Days usually fall between 8 p.m. and 11 p.m., while slack calling periods have been between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Mrs. Hamilton said customers who place their calls during the slack calling periods should have little difficulty completing their calls quickly.

Mrs. Hamilton predicts operators will handle 100 per cent more calls than a normal Sunday.

She pointed out that it is advantageous for customers to use Direct Distance Dialing (DDD) to place station-to-station calls rather than to place them through the operator. DDD allows customers to complete their calls faster and at lower rates.

Pride People Clean-Up Nears End

Thirty members of the Pride People Task Force will lead the way Friday in work for a cleaner Big Spring.

"Give A Hoot Week" activities for Friday will include a concerted effort by the Task Force members in cleaning a vacant lot near Third and Birdwell.

The week started out with a major clean-up on Saturday and progressed through days devoted to cleaning alleys, cleaning an individual's immediate area and using automobile litter bags. The winners of the first yard-of-the-month contest were also announced by the Task Force.

The final day of "Give A Hoot Week" will be devoted to "Paint-up, Fix-up" day. Citizens will be asked to brighten up their own property by repairing or building garbage can racks, cleaning up debris, and doing general repair work around their homes.

April Showers Major Item

Rain is the most important statistic released about the weather in April by the experiment station.

Big Spring measured 2.07 inches of rain during April, but is still 1.63 inches below the normal rainfall of 3.76 inches by this time of the year.

The maximum average temperature was 78 degrees, one degree less than the 56-year average of 79 degrees.

The minimum average temperature was 50 degrees, one degree above the 56-year average of 49 degrees. The mean temperature for the month coincided with the 56-year average of 64 degrees.

The highest reading of the month was 94 degrees, April 25, and the lowest was 30 degrees, on both April 1 and 6.

The average wind velocity was 6.0 mph as compared to a 53-year average of 5.5 mph.

The evaporation rate was above normal, 9.93 inches compared to a 56-year average of 7.81.

Yarborough Says Two Of His Foes To Aid Lockheed

FORT WORTH (AP) — Ralph Yarborough, former senator, asserted Wednesday that two of his enemies are acting to loan Lockheed Aircraft "hundreds of millions of dollars."

He attributed this move to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, the rival who defeated Yarborough's last bid for re-election, and to former Gov. John Connally, who now is secretary of the Treasury.

It is believed that financially troubled Lockheed seeks government guarantees in order to close deals for Rolls-Royce jet engines so it can build its Tri-star airplanes.

The Americans are not sure they can put such pressure on Israel. Rogers' first move in two days of meetings with Premier Golda Meir and other Israeli leaders is expected to be listening to what they have to say, as he has been listening to the Egyptians. And Mrs. Meir said Wednesday: "If we have to say no, we shall say no... even to our friends."

After more than six hours of talks Wednesday, American and Egyptian spokesmen both indicated that Rogers and his hosts had spelled out their positions plainly without altering publicly stated policies.

The Egyptian spokesman considered such talk in itself progress toward peace but added: "We shall not make concessions; I think that is quite clear."

The U.S. spokesman, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey, termed the talks satisfactory for Rogers in that they were "entirely candid." But he added that the secretary would not know until after he returns to Washington whether he had succeeded in narrowing the differences between the Arabs and Israel.

U.S. sources said Rogers did not mention any specific line to which the Israelis might withdraw in order to get the Egyptians to reopen the canal. But he did talk about ways in which the area might be administered and possible security measures to prevent a confrontation between Egyptian and Israeli forces.

Don't Eat The Swordfish; Contains Mercury Poison

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration advised the public today to stop eating swordfish because 95 per cent of all samples examined were contaminated with poisonous mercury.

Of 853 swordfish samples examined by the government, only 5 per cent contained mercury below the FDA's safety guideline of 0.5 parts per million. The FDA said the average mercury level was twice the limit with 8 per cent of samples containing mercury higher than 1.5 parts per million.

Government officials acknowledged the virtually unprecedented warning would probably destroy the swordfish industry.

Approximately 26 million pounds of the fish was consumed by Americans last year, with all but 4 million pounds imported from Japan and Canada. The remainder is caught in coastal waters off the North and California.

It is "particularly important" that children and women of child-bearing age refrain from consumption of the seafood, the FDA said following completion of a three-month government testing program for mercury in swordfish. A group of American and Canadian medical experts endorsed its findings.

The Small Business Administration last week declared swordfish ship owners, processors and distributors eligible for economic disaster loans.

"Despite extensive recalls by major distribution chains, despite FDA seizures totalling 832,000 pounds, and despite over-all cooperation of swordfish brokers in withholding up to 4 million pounds from the market, the agency is still finding swordfish available to the public at or over the guideline," said FDA Chief Charles C. Edwards.

The FDA said limited amounts of swordfish might return to stores if the industry works out an "effective program to certify for marketing the 5 to 8 per cent of each catch likely to meet mercury guidelines."

"On this basis and in view of full evaluation of test data by FDA and by outside experts, the FDA has no choice but to recommend at this time that the public not eat swordfish," Edwards said in a statement.

Edwards emphasized that except for swordfish there is no substantial mercury problem in edible ocean fish. The FDA recently cleared as safe all retail tuna stocks.

Mercury is particularly injurious to the brain, nervous system and kidneys. It has been found polluting the waters of 33 states.

Suspect Enters Guilty Plea

Garland Ray Fox, 22, pleaded guilty Wednesday afternoon in 118th District Court to a charge of theft over $50. District Judge Ralph W. Caton sentenced Fox to five years in state prison.

The only parallel government officials can recall for the swordfish warning was the 1959 cranberry scare. The FDA at that time advised the public not to eat cranberries because stocks were temporarily contaminated with a weed killer.

Ex-Convict 'Saves' Son

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah. (AP) — A Nebraska father, himself an ex-convict, has successfully pleaded with the Utah Board of Pardons to release his son from prison so he could help him start a new life.

Ronald Clements, of Junita, Neb., appeared before the board on behalf of his son, Jay, who was serving a term of one to 20 years for burglary. Clements said he had served two terms in the Utah prison but since his release in 1957 had made an honest living. He said he had a job for his son and would help him go straight.

HST Will Miss Birthday Party

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A traditional birthday luncheon for former President Harry S. Truman will be held Saturday at a downtown Kansas City hotel, but Truman, who will be 87, will not attend.

Since a hospital stay earlier this year, Truman is rarely seen outside his home in Independence, Mo., but guests from Los Angeles, New York and Louisville, Ky., are expected, as well as 15 members of the Battery D. Army Artillery, men Truman commanded in World War I.

The luncheon will follow ceremonies at the Harry S. Truman Library in Independence, for issuance of the nation's first postage stamp. It will honor Missouri's 150 years of statehood.

New Outbreak In Cambodia

By GEORGE ESPER, Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese ground forces and Vietnamese and American aircraft battered North Vietnamese troops today and Wednesday in a new outbreak of fighting in eastern Cambodia.

The allied commands claimed 127 enemy troops killed at three points in the Cambodian fighting, at least half of them by air strikes.

One South Vietnamese was killed and six were wounded, said a spokesman, Lt. Col. Do Viet.

Buddha's Birthday

Meanwhile, the allies announced a 24-hour cease-fire in South Vietnam for the anniversary of Buddha's birth. The stand-down will begin at noon Saturday. There has been no companion announcement from the Viet Cong, which last year ignored the allied cease-fire for Buddha's birthday and made a series of attacks.

The U.S. Command announced 38 American servicemen were killed in action last week, another 21 previously listed as missing were changed to the dead classification, and nine other men died of combat wounds. This gave a total on the weekly casualty summary of 68, the highest toll in five weeks.

21 MISSING

The 21 missing included 13 airmen shot down over Laos.

The command also reported 592 wounded last week, the largest weekly total since last October, and said another 20 Americans died of nonhostile causes.

In the fighting in Cambodia, Saigon headquarters said South Vietnamese F5 fighters attacked a concentration of North Vietnamese troops for four hours Wednesday afternoon near the town of Kandal Chrum, 100 miles northwest of Saigon.

Fifty miles to the northeast near the Cambodian town of Snuol, South Vietnamese tanks, armored personnel carriers and infantrymen clashed with an estimated 400 North Vietnamese. U.S. and South Vietnamese fighter-bombers and American helicopter gunships joined the action, and Col. Viet said initial reports indicated 72 North Vietnamese killed, while South Vietnamese losses were one killed and six wounded.

In the third action, U.S. helicopter gunships killed five enemy soldiers in the Svay Rieng Province 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, the U.S. Command said.

Del Rio Jet Crash Kills One Airman

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — One airman died and a second suffered critical injuries as their jet trainer plane crashed Wednesday night at Laughlin Air Force Base.

Authorities said the T38 plane cracked up at the end of a runway while making touch and go practice landings.

Killed was Capt. Robert Seabury, Lt. Robert Brackemeyer was critically injured.

Seabury is survived by his widow, Susan, and their small son, Jason, who reside on Laughlin AFB. He was from West Newton, Pa.

Brackemeyer and his wife, Victoria, live in Del Rio. He is from Crown Point, Ind.

Wreckage bounced across U.S. 90 and the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks beside the air base, blocking both for a time. A fast freight en route from St. Louis to Los Angeles was delayed more than two hours.

Siboney Reports Loss Of $591,000 In 1970

Siboney Corporation reported a consolidated loss from continuing subsidiaries and divisions of $591,000, as compared with a 1969 loss for such businesses of $280,000 as of Dec. 31, 1970. Since that time the company sold all or a major portion of its interests in three subsidiaries which suffered losses in 1970 and has entered into a definitive agreement to sell, subject to certain conditions, all of the operating properties of another.

The combined loss for the businesses sold and subject to an agreement to be sold amounted to $783,000 in 1970 as compared to a profit for these business entities of $83,000 in 1969. Extraordinary losses in 1970 resulted from the sale of the discontinued businesses and plant and property writedowns and amounted to $662,000. The consolidated net loss for the year was $2,036,000 as compared with a consolidated net loss of $410,000 in 1969.

Deep Flex Plastic Molds, Inc., Gamco Industries, Inc., Lee Parkway Corporation, and Miller's Visual Aids, Inc. all operated profitably during 1970 and are continuing to operate profitably in 1971. The operating properties of Lee Parkway Corporation are the subject of the sales agreement referred to above. The payment to be received by Siboney will represent a substantial profit for these properties.

Approximately 70 per cent of the consolidated net loss was accounted for by two subsidiaries which have since been sold, Datamate Computer Systems, Inc. and Compression, Inc. The sale of Datamate's new computers failed to meet significant levels in 1970, and Compression's sales reflected a substantial drop from the year before. Two other subsidiaries, Bitucote Products Company and Capro, Inc. and the PDL Division also made sizable contributions to the loss for 1970. First quarter results in 1971, while not yet complete, will show an appreciable improvement over 1970 and this trend is expected to continue throughout the year, said Siboney officials.

'Baseball' Hail Bops San Antonio Sections

By The Associated Press
Wild weather—threats of tornadoes and punishing thunderstorms—raged across broad areas of Texas during the night and fresh turbulence was developing this morning.

The fierce siege capped a day which saw the mercury shoot up to midsummer levels at many points, including a sizzling 108 degrees on the Mexican border.

A weak Pacific cool front stirred up the turbulence as it pushed across the state toward the east along a north-south line.

Additional storms were expected in all sections of the state.

Eight counties in Northeast Texas and parts of four other states stayed under a tornado watch until 9 p.m. Wednesday, and vicious weather which developed around San Antonio caused official forecasters to put out a series of severe thunderstorm warnings from midnight on.

Finally the National Weather Service posted a severe thunderstorm watch until 7 a.m. today for 52 counties in a 140-mile-wide corridor from Cotulla to near Waco.

Some of the worst storms pounded San Antonio, where hail as big as baseballs fell in the northwest part of the city, and others surged through the Austin area.

By this morning still more thunderstorms, often described as heavy, swept through a section embracing Vernon, Wichita Falls, Mineral Wells, Fort Worth, Dallas, Sherman and Greenville, and an area including Victoria, Austin, College Station, Lufkin, Waco and Palestine.

Showers pelted other localities.

In addition to the 108-degree high at Laredo, thermometers hit 103 at Cotulla and 100 at Alice, while a number of points recorded highs in the low to middle 90s.

Early today the readings ranged from 45 at Dalhart and 46 at Amarillo in the rather cool Texas Panhandle up to 85 at Del Rio on the Mexican border.

SPONSORS BLAST SMITH'S ACTION

'Partial Fault' Bill Is Vetoed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate sponsor of the comparative negligence bill vetoed Wednesday by Gov. Preston Smith said he is confident the senate will override the veto.

House action would be necessary first, and the sponsor there, Rep. Dewitt Hale of Corpus Christi, said he had not decided what to do.

"I'm disappointed that the governor of Texas once again caved in to the insurance lobby of Texas," said Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas. "I had hoped that recent experience with insurance companies taught him wisdom of not permitting insurance executives to dictate actions."

The bill would have enabled accident victims to recover some of their hospital costs in court even though they were partly at fault.

Smith said it would raise car insurance rates since companies would have to pay claims to more people for their injuries.

The Senate passed the measure April 21 on voice vote after Sen. Henry Grover of Houston filibustered for 13 hours. House members approved it April 16 by an 87-42 vote.

"I congratulate Gov. Smith most heartily in the courageous decision to veto one of the most heavily lobbied bills I have ever seen in my 10-year legislative career," Grover said.

It would take a two-thirds vote of each house to override the veto.

Present law provides that if a jury finds the plaintiff in an accident contributed at all to a mishap, he cannot recover a dime from the person mostly to blame.

Under the bill, if a jury found a plaintiff was 10 per cent to blame, that much would be deducted from the money he would receive.

It would allow 10-2 jury verdicts in accident cases, whereas the decision now must be unanimous.

Asked if the Insurance Board had told Smith the bill would raise car insurance rates, a source declared, "He didn't get it from us. . . We have no statistics on it."

Smith said he had "given much study" to the bill's effect on insurance rates.

"The conclusion is inescapable—it would be inflationary and greatly increase liability rates," he said.

Altho the defensive campaign differed at both tables when today's hand was dealt in a recent team-of-four match, the final result was the same when both declarers managed to come thru unscathed.

The final contract was four spades with South as the declarer. Altho East's three club overcall temporarily relieved him of the obligation of responding to his partner's demand opening bid—when North rebid three diamonds, it became incumbent on South to take some action. He showed his anemic five card spade suit and North carried on to game.

The five of clubs was opened at both tables and East cashed two tricks in the suit—West discarding a small diamond on the second round. At the first table, East continued with a third round of clubs and declarer ruffed in dummy with the jack of spades. East's play served to establish West's ten as the master trump once the ace and king of spades were cashed. It now became necessary for South to avoid losing a heart trick to avert defeat on the deal.

Declarer led a diamond to the jack in his hand and then cashed dummy's top spades and proceeded to play four more rounds of diamonds on which he disposed of every one of his hearts, as West helplessly followed suit. A trick was conceded to the ten of spades and declarer claimed his contract.

At the other table, East abandoned clubs after the second trick and switched to a heart. He hoped that West held the ace of hearts, and if South subsequently took the trump finesse, East could score the queen of spades to defeat the contract.

West won the heart shift and continued the suit, placing declarer in dummy. The latter paused to reflect on his opponent's strategy. The fact that East was bent on cashing a heart trick to complete book tended to suggest that he held a card which might take the setting trick. The only card having that potential was the queen of trumps.

So reasoning, South abandoned the spade finesse and cashed the ace and king. When East's queen fell, the remaining trump was drawn by the jack, a club and a heart were discarded on North's diamonds and one more trick was conceded to the ace of hearts.

The result on the deal was a washout.

Lou Brock Unloads On Ex-Team Mate

By The Associated Press
Lanky Joe Hoerner sat in the corner waiting for the phone to ring.
Manager Frank Lucchesi dialed the hot line, fetching in Philadelphia's ace reliever... but it turned out to be the wrong number.
Hoerner hooked up with a former teammate, Lou Brock, who promptly broke a 1-1 tie with a home run and St. Louis scored three more times in the eighth inning for a 5-1 triumph.

Wednesday night.
The Brock sendoff must have unsteadied Hoerner's composure. The star fireman, who had carried a 1.50 earned run average into the game, served up another gopher pitch to Matly Alou, then walked Louis Melendez before taking a shower.
GIANTS TRIUMPH
In the other National League game, San Francisco turned back Pittsburgh 2-1; Chicago stopped New York 5-4; Montreal ripped Houston 5-1; Cincinnati bled Los Angeles 9-4, and San Diego and Atlanta split a doubleheader—the Padres winning the opener, 5-1 and the Braves the second game, 3-1.
The Phillies blew an opportunity to score the lead run in the seventh inning. Don Money doubled home Deron Johnson for the tying run, but Tim McCarver tripped while running third base and had to scramble back to the bag.
After McCarver's pratfall, Cardinal pitcher Reggie Cleveland walked Larry Hise intentionally to load the bases, then worked out of the jam by getting two outs.
Lucchesi also was dismayed about the team's 235 batting average, one of the reasons for its last-place posture in the East.
Juan Marichal tossed a three-hitter and Ken Henderson knocked in both runs for San Francisco. After Bob Robertson gave the Pirates a 1-0 lead in the first with his fifth homer of the year, Henderson tied it with a fifth-inning single and drove in the winning run with a seventh-inning roller.
SETTLES DOWN
Ron Santo and Danny Breedan ripped two-run singles in the fifth inning and Chicago ace Ferguson Jenkins settled down after a rocky start to tame New York.
Jenkins struck out 12 and posted his fifth victory after New York reached him for three runs in the first inning. A leadoff single by Don Kessinger started Chicago's winning rally in the fifth. Santo's single tied the score at 3-3, then Breedan's hit knocked in the decisive runs.
Bill Stoneman pitched a six-hitter and Montreal raked three Houston pitchers for five runs in the first three innings. Ron Hunt sent Stoneman on the way to his third victory with a lead-off homer off Astros starter Wade Blasingame in the first inning.
Ollie Brown and Nate Colbert delivered home runs and reliever Al Severinsen choked off a bases-loaded rally by Atlanta in the eighth to preserve San Diego's opening-game victory.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Members of the Big Spring High School golf team luxuriate in the aura of winning and likely will be tough for the next several years. This year's Steers are headed for the State meet in Austin.
Howard Stewart, Wally Slate, Jarrell Carroll and Milton Jones are seniors on this year's team but returning will be Mark McCraney, Mark Peters, Robert McFaul, Jimmy Stewart, Billy Crocker, Terry Pate, Ike and Bennett Robb, Richard Egan, Mark Brown, Grady Harris and Randy Grimes.
Coach Royce Cox, who takes a very positive attitude in the sport, thinks the Steers can win again next year.
Bill Yeoman, the University of Houston football coach who has made far better use of West Texas talent than some of the Southwest Conference schools, says he was one game away from being fired when he went to the Triple Option.
Yeoman takes issue with those who argue that the formation is complicated.
"There is a simplicity in teaching it," he says. "We employ repetition. We just do the same thing 600 times. Too many coaches forget that people and not machines still do the playing. If you can't communicate and motivate, you'll have a darn tough time winning. If a coach doesn't have enthusiasm, he's wasting his time and the time of all those players."
Yeoman, who seems a lot more approachable than most SWC coaches, says he tries to beat people mentally because "you're not going to physically beat all the people you line up against."
The coach who can't sell a group of boys on themselves isn't worth his salt. Yeoman strives to detonate the idea within his squad that it can beat anybody—and invariably succeeds.
The Big State Conference, which now has eight member schools, is dropping track and field from its athletic program. I think that's a mistake.
For that matter, I think HCJC blundered when it decided to cease fielding track teams. Those great Jayhawk teams under Red Lewis brought the local school renown all over the country.
Quickness and size are the two attributes that football teams can ill afford to be without, especially pro teams.
Dan Devine was somewhat staggered when he learned his new team, the Green Bay Packers, possesses very little speed. At the University of Missouri, Devine's teams were known for their fleetness and foot.
Green Bay, of course, has never had a quick team, even in Vince Lombardi's halcyon days. Wide receiver Carroll Dale was a rare exception to Green Bay's rule. Hang the ball out there, quarterback Bart Starr learned, and Dale would usually run under it.
I'll take a while but Devine likely will change the Green Bay image as a bunch of plodders.
One James Byrnes of Orange, Conn., was told he had a letter in his box, shortly after he checked in at a Detroit hotel for the American Bowling Congress tournament last month.
It developed the missive was addressed to the Right Rev. James Byrnes. Sure that someone was playing a trick on him, Byrnes opened the envelope, only to discover the letter was signed by Pope Paul.
Immediately, James checked to see if there was another person with the same name registered at the same hotel. There was. He ultimately found the Rev. Byrnes taking breakfast and apologized for having opened the mail.
"Father, I'm bowling today in the ABC tournament. Maybe you can wish me well in your prayers."
He had bowled only 487 in ten plays but the next afternoon James and his partner finished with a 1,322 in doubles competition, good for third place. He also posted a 686 in singles.
Byrnes went home wondering whether he had had any divine help.

City Loop Teams To See Action

Two city softball diamonds will be used tonight for practice games involving City League teams.
The Big Spring Chippers tangle with Goodyear Tire in a double-header on the Comanche Trail Park field while Intech and the Big Spring Merchants clash on the FM 700 diamond in a single game.
The four teams make up the league, which begins operations Monday. Commissioner Joe Dobry is drawing up a schedule.

$50,000 CHECK Money Rolls In For Cage Star

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Otis Gilmore of Chipley, Fla., is driving the truck he always wanted. It's all the more welcome because it was a present from his son, Artis.
Artis is one of the new millionaires, a product of the war between the National Basketball Association and American Basketball Association.
Strictly speaking he doesn't have a million dollars. But the contract the All American giant signed with the Kentucky Colonels of the ABA calls for what is variously reported as between $2.2 and $2.7 million over a period of 10 years.
Gilmore is willing to talk about the pleasures of having real money for the first time in his life but not about the size of the package deal negotiated for him by attorney Herb Rudy of Chicago.
A reliable source said Gilmore collects $100,000 each of the next 10 years plus $80,000 a year put into an annuity which would make a realty $1.8 million total.
He came back from the signing ceremony at Louisville with a check. He strolled into the office of Jacksonville University Coach Tom Wasdin on a day the players got $15 laundry checks.
Wasdin often cashes them for the players, so when Gilmore asked if he would cash a check, the coach said "sure" and reached for his wallet.
This check was for $50,000.

Bristol Is Ejected Following Rhubarb

By The Associated Press
Andy Kosco has embarrassed his boss, but there's a smile lurking behind the egg on Dave Bristol's face.
The Milwaukee manager argued loud and long in a vain attempt to keep Kosco from pinch-hitting for the Brewers in Wednesday night's game against Washington—and got himself thrown out of the game instead.
Then, Kosco, an orphan of the seventh-inning storm, poked a two-run single that gave the Brewers a 4-3 victory over Detroit.

By The Associated Press
At Milwaukee, Johnny Briggs was due to bat for the Brewers with two out in the seventh, the bases loaded and Washington clinging to a 3-2 lead. When Kosco stepped into the on-deck circle instead, the Senators made a pitching change, replacing southpaw Joe Grzenda with right-hander Jerry Janeski.
Bristol then sent Briggs, a left-handed hitter, to the plate, but was stopped short by the umpires. Kosco, they said, had been officially announced as the hitter and Briggs was out of the picture.
After a heated, 15-minute debate, during which Bristol announced he was completing the game under protest, Umpire Larry Napp gave him the thumb.
LOSE AGAIN
Moments later, Kosco grounded a single to left for the runs that handed the Senators their sixth straight setback.
Kosco's hit made the dispute academic while pinning the loss on McLain, 3-4, who was lifted in the seventh after he walked pinch-hitter Floyd Wicker and gave up a pinch single by Ted Savage. An intentional walk to pinch-hitter Roberto Pena filled the bases, setting the stage for Kosco's delayed heroics.
Blue, Oakland's 21-year-old southpaw flash, tamed the Tigers for his seventh successive complete game victory after a season-opening setback at Washington. He struck out 11, boosting his easy season total to 69—tops in the majors.
The A's nicked Dean Chance, 0-5, for the only run they needed in the fourth and then pulled away in the fifth with four runs—the last two on a single by Joe Rudi.
Cardenas smacked his first homer of the season—a three-run shot off Stan Bahnsen in the second inning—and later punched a pair of run-scoring singles while upping his batting average from .227 to .250.

LITTLE LEAGUE Cabots Post Win; Giants Defeated

The Cabots, benefitting from the five-hit pitching of Lynn Dixon, defeated the Pirates, 12-2, in American Little League play here Wednesday night.
No one on either team had more than one hit. Timmy Trawick, Bill Arenchiba, Danny Robison, Lynn Dixon, Donnie Hanson, Terry Harris and Kyle Wheeler all hit safely for Cabot, however.
For the Pirates, Chuck Pringle, Mike Pruitt, Chris Hull, Steve Hughes and Mike Bartosh connected for hits.
A six-run final inning capped a big night for the Cabots.
The Tigers crossed the plate in every inning in sidetracking the Giants, 14-2, in the Texas Little League Wednesday night.
Steven Valencia was the winning pitcher, Johnny Valencia the loser. The Tigers have yet to suffer a defeat in three starts. The Giants are winless in three assignments.
Rodriguez, Armendariz, Jones and Steve Valencia had one hit each for the Tigers while Santy McLain and the reeling Senators.

Elsewhere in the American League, Vida Blue fired a four-hitter for his seventh victory of the young season as Oakland trimmed Detroit 5-0; Leo Cardenas drove in all the Minnesota runs in a 5-3 verdict over the New York Yankees and Amos Ott's two-run homer helped Kansas City top Cleveland 4-2.
TWO CANCELLED
Rain washed out the Boston-Chicago and California-Baltimore games.

COACHES Ingram Named Wolf Mentor

COLORADO CITY — Dean Ingram has been named head basketball coach at Colorado City High School, succeeding Caddo Matthews.
Ingram is a product of Abilene High School and McMurry College. He has been associated with the Throckmorton schools the past two years.
His Throckmorton teams won 41 while losing only 12. He is 27 years of age.
After serving as an aide to Herschel Kimbrell at McMurry, Ingram was out of basketball for a couple of seasons before he accepted the Throckmorton post. He is the son of an Abilene minister.

Catholics Rap First Baptist

Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church bombed First Baptist, 20-2, and First Church of God measured Trinity Baptist, 9-4, in inaugural City Softball league games played here Tuesday evening.
The Catholics crushed out 15 hits. Barber, Cirillo, Clendenin, Doyville, Moore and Schmidt each had two safeties for the winners.
F. Baptist could manage only four hits. These came off Wilson, Ken Patrick and David Pickle.
Douglas, McClure and McQuain each banged out two hits for First Church of God in its surge to victory. Both of McClure's safeties were doubles.
Play will be resumed Friday, at which time First Assembly of God tangles with St. Paul's Lutheran in the opening test and Cresview Baptist tries Westside Baptist in the afternoon.

Still Critical

HOUSTON (AP) — A hospital spokesman said today there was no change in the grave condition of Fred Steinmark, former University of Texas football player.

Bass Club May Take Shape

Piscatorial enthusiasts have reserved the Texas Electric Service Company's Reddy Room for the evening of Thursday, May 13, at which time steps will be taken for the organization of a Big Spring Bass Club.
Object of the club will be to promote good will between fishermen and to promote fishing itself. The conclave will start at 7 o'clock and will be open to the public.
Quite likely, a representative of the Abilene Bass Club will be in attendance and speak on behalf of such organizations. Bass clubs are already in existence in several West Texas cities, among them Midland, Odessa and San Angelo, as well as Abilene.
If plans for the club jells, it's possible bass tournaments will be held in the area as often as once a month.
Those interested can contact Ken Lancaster by dialing 3-6636 or Bill Samples at 7-8498.
Lancaster revealed Wednesday that at least 12 persons have already committed themselves to membership.

Fund Begun For Sick Son Of Big Spring Residents

Gary Goodwin, the second member of his family to develop cystic fibrosis, is battling for his life in a Houston hospital, and friends here have appealed for help.

He is at the Texas Institute of Rehabilitation and Research where he has been a frequent patient. While he has shown some response to recent treatments, he will be there for at least another 30 days.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Goodwin, have attempted to be with him in Houston, and hospitalization plus their subsistence, approximates $250 per day. By the end of their current stay, assuming he is able to return home in a month, their obligation will be between $8,500 and $9,000.

An account has been opened at the First National Bank in Big Spring, and the bank will accept any check, money order or cash sent to them marked clearly: "Gary Goodwin Fund." Or, if good neighbors prefer, they may give or mail gifts to the Rev. Clinkscales, 1200 West Fourth (P.O. Box, 1453), or Clyde Cravens, treasurer, Rt. 1, Box 413, Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin lost an infant daughter, Margaret Joyce to cystic fibrosis in April, 1947, an ailment which so far has defied a cure. This disease has a tendency to strike children in the same family, and Gary has had it since he was a child.

Nevertheless, he has succeeded in his fight beyond the average and has not let it block him from graduating from high school and attending Howard County Junior College. Last autumn, determined to complete this college work, he went to Angelo State but within weeks had to withdraw because of the need of more frequent treatments at the Houston center, which he has visited since 1967.

The National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation provided assistance but had to terminate help when Gary became 21 in keeping with basic policy. The family has had to bear most of the medical burden alone since then, plus two major surgical operations to Mrs. Goodwin, who had a malignant goiter.

This is one reason why the Westside Baptist Church has undertaken to open the way for others to help if they so desire, said the Rev. Jack Clinkscales, pastor.

Two Fugitives Seized, Four Remain At Large

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Authorities searched today for four men who escaped last Sunday from the Ward County jail in Monahans, taking with them a woman prisoner.

Two of the fugitives were captured here Wednesday but the four others and the woman hostage remained at large.

Those captured were identified as Raymond Leslie Hayes, 25, of Midland, and "Donnie" Howard Elder, 22, formerly of Monahans.

Police said the men were captured in a house on the south side of the city after the area had been surrounded by sheriff's deputies, Texas Rangers and local police.

To Prod FHA Brass About Drouth Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Rep. Oscar Carillo of Texas says the Farmers Home Administration chief has agreed to prod FHA state executives to make sure Texas farmers and ranchers get all the emergency help due them.

Carillo said Wednesday that talks with FHA administrator James Smith, indicated Texans weren't getting all due them.

Carillo said, "I feel there has been a lack of communication from this administration and back home."

The legislator met with Texas Democrats Wednesday to discuss a grievance by Gov. Preston Smith and individual farmers and ranchers. President Nixon has failed to declare Texas hard-hit counties a major disaster area.

Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., was quoted as saying there is one reason why no disaster declaration has come.

"That's the absence of top leaders in Congress such as Speaker Sam Rayburn and Lyndon B. Johnson."

Carillo said the FHA insists that recipients of emergency loans and other relief measures must take a pauper's oath.

Carillo said he learned that persons in his own region of Benavides, for example, are eligible for loans to dig deeper water wells. He said that information hadn't been available locally.

The women suggested that if you want to understand painting, pick up a brush and try it yourself; if you want to understand writing, try writing something original on your own.

"You may not think you have any talent," said Mrs. Black, "but if you do, it will lie dormant unless you use it. It's a big, wide and wonderful world, and it's your world. To live in it happily, you must know what things are about."

Five BSHS Students Enter Texas Industrial Arts Fair

Five Big Spring High School students will represent the school in the Texas Industrial Arts Student Fair in Austin Friday and Saturday.

Eleven other students are sending projects to the fair. All the entries have won either first or second place in regional contests at Midland or Abilene.

The annual statewide fair, high point of the May 2-8 Industrial Arts Week proclaimed by Gov. Preston Smith, will open at 10 a.m. Friday at the Austin Municipal Auditorium.

More than 4,800 projects completed in industrial arts classes will be judged for workmanship during the fair. Just about anything that can be built by a student and transported to Austin will be on the floor, from mini bikes to cross bows, from spinning wheels to electric guitars.

More than 10 1971 Texas Industrial Arts Association sweetheart candidates from all regions of the state will compete for the title at a Friday night program.

Talent contestants will be presented by some 20 schools. Both contests are open to the public.

Trophies, to be presented during the annual awards banquet, will go to the top three students at the fair, to the 1971 sweetheart, to students judged best in design, ingenuity and project building and to the best three junior and senior high school chapters in the state. The top three students will also be awarded scholarships.

Local students who will attend are Edgar Gresham, technical speaking on the subject of plastics in the building industry; Susi Whitten, technical writing on the subject of the industrial use of the laser beam; Steve Smith, technical drafting contest; Steve Lawlis, technical wood working test; and William Carter, technical wood working test.

Help On Way For Scribes?

AUSTIN (AP)—A reporter could keep his notes and sources secret under a bill approved by a Senate committee.

A judge, grand jury or investigating committee could force disclosure, however.

The bill went to the Senate for action.

A jurisprudence subcommittee deleted the word "compelling" in front of "need," weakening the bill so far as journalists are concerned.

The subcommittee also added "any authorized investigation" committee with the power to subpoena" to those who can force a reporter to testify regarding a story he has covered.

On the other hand, the subcommittee extended the bill to broadcasters and those presenting the news, as well as those gathering the news.

The bill, approved by the committee Tuesday, is sponsored by Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena.

Lions Set Records In Lightbulb Sales

Thanks to a generous response by Big Spring residents, the Downtown Lions Club lightbulb sale has bettered last year's record, Gene McElroy, general chairman of the project, reported Wednesday.

Between 105 and 110 cases of the assorted bulb packages have been sold, and individuals missed in the door-to-door canvass will have a chance Saturday to pick up a package at Highland Mall.

"While we have had wonderful support from club members in working teams to cover the city," said McElroy, "we couldn't do much without the fine folks who buy the light bulbs."

"In many, many cases people said 'I've been looking for you, or I already have your check made out.' You can't top big hearts like these, and the hundred of others who said, 'Sure, give me a package.'" becomes a partner in the Club's mission to furnish eye glasses to children and adults who can't afford them, he added, in aiding the blind, and sending crippled children to summer camp for two years.

Division chairmen for the sale were Ernie Boyd and Jerry Phillips.

At the Wednesday meeting of the club at the Settles, two new members — Perry Cocham and Glenn Hill — were inducted into the club. Roy Hughes, vice president, and Jim Lemons, district deputy, urged attendance at the district convention Friday and Saturday in Midland; particularly in the queen's contest Friday when Cynthia Cook will represent the club.

Hollywood Reissues Bringing In Money

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The hottest fair in years." "When a lady is applauded by 30 million people, she owes them an encore."

"The merger of two great box-office hits."

These advertising catch-lines aim to call attention to current attractions on the movie market: "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" and "M-A-S-H"; and "The Reivers" and "A Man Called Horse."

You say those attractions don't seem very current? You're right.

"My Fair Lady" was released in 1964, and the others are a year or two old. Their release now is part of a relatively new phenomenon in movie marketing: the reissue.

Historically, most Hollywood films have had but a brief life-time in the theaters—six months at the most—then disappeared into the vaults. A few of the silent epics—"Ben-Hur," "King of Kings," "The Big Parade"—received encores in the talkie period, augmented by musical scores and sound effects.

MADE MORE MONEY

Universal once reissued "Dracula" and "Frankenstein" on a double-bill years after their initial release and made more money than the first time around. But such reissues were exceptional.

David O. Selznick's "Gone With the Wind" was the first film to demonstrate the perennial drawing power of a classic. Originally shown in 1939, it was brought back in 1941, 1942, 1947, 1954 and for the Civil War centennial in 1961.

Then in 1967, MGM released "Gone With the Wind" once more, this time in wide screen. The reissue brought an astounding $30.5 million in domestic rentals, $11 million abroad.

The Disney company has had the greatest success with reissues.

'SNOW WHITE'

"We've put out 'Snow White' five times, and each time returns increase," observes Disney president, Donn Tatum. "Not only do we gain added revenue from the reissues. We also tie in each rerelease with records, books, merchandise of all kinds."

This year Disney is rereleasing "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," "Pinocchio" and "The Lady and the Tramp," all of which have been "restored" for about nine years.

Disney, with its built-in appeal to each new generation of film goers, has the greatest potential for reissues. Other com-

Boycott Cuts Attendance

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — A one-day boycott by a Mexican-American group in San Marcos reduced attendance at the public schools here Wednesday.

School Supt. Gordon Harmon said 2,047 pupils, or more than 47 per cent of the 4,335 enrolled, were absent. Normal absenteeism is seven per cent.

Mexican-Americans account for 39.4 per cent of the San Marcos school enrollment.

The boycott coincided with Cinco de Mayo—Fifth of May—a national holiday in Mexico.

School officials and leaders of the group—known as the Concerned Mexican-American Citizens Committee—were meeting to discuss their grievances. The group has complained the school system fails to hire enough Mexican-Americans.

More Permits This Year

A total of 30 building permits was issued during the month of April by the city inspection department as compared to 22 that were issued the same month in 1970.

Construction cost of the permits was $41,940 and permit fees collected during the month totaled at $172.50. Construction cost for the permits in April, 1970, stood at $30,575.

Year-to-date figures for 1971 now stand at 101 for construction costing $324,789.

The permits for the month involved one new commercial, eight additions, three remodeling, four re-roofings, one sign, 11 moves, and two utilities.

A total of 61 electrical permits, 10 plumbing permits and 32 gas permits also was issued during the month of April.

panies are not as fortunate, but some have gold mine classics that can be remixed.

MGM has "Gone With the Wind." Also, "Dr. Zhivago," which has amassed an $80-million worldwide gross.

Columbia reissued "Bride on the River Kwai" and "The Guns of Navarone" with good results before sending them to television. Now the company is bringing back "Lawrence of Arabia."

'MY FAIR LADY'

Warner Bros. is now presenting "My Fair Lady" with considerable success.

"It seemed as though the timing was right for the picture," observes sales vice president Leo Greenfield. "With so many X and R-rated pictures on the market—and we've had our share—we thought the audiences would welcome a fine picture for the whole family."

Most film companies are now indulging in what is called repackaging. That is, combining two films into a provocative package.

JAMES BOND HITS

"The two films must be compatible," says James Velde, sales vice president of United Artists. "You can put together a musical and an action film, for example. You play with various combinations."

United Artists found a mint by teaming up pairs of James Bond films.

Reissues are splendid devices for the film companies, most of which are hurting for revenue in these trying times. Theater owners are less enthusiastic, preferring to offer new movies.

But in today's produce-short market, they're willing to go along.

Bargained In Bad Faith At Snyder

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overturned Tuesday a National Labor Relations Board union. The court agreed, however, with the board's finding that there was some coercion of employees to vote against the union.

The case involved Local 826 of the International Union of Operating Engineers, certified in 1966 as the bargaining representative of production and maintenance workers at Chevron's plant at Snyder, Tex.

The appeals court said one of two employees during a cocktail party preceding a company awards dinner that some changes would be made if employees would vote the union out. The court agreed that this constituted coercion in violation of Labor Relations Board rules.

However, the court rejected four arguments that the company failed to bargain in good faith.

Freckles Brown Back In Money

DENVER, Colo. — Freckles Brown is back in competition, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said here today.

And at 50, he's still winning money in the most dangerous event in rodeo — bull riding. Over the weekend he split fourth and fifth in the event at Vernon, Tex., winning $270 — the first money he's won since suffering a badly broken leg when a bull stepped on him at a July Fourth rodeo last year.

The seemingly ageless 1962 world champion bull rider from Sooper, Okla., who has ridden bulls since 1937, is still active in an event populated with cowboys in their early twenties. Many bull riders are retired by the time they reach the age of 30 years, but not Freckles.

Injuries aren't new or particularly discouraging to the Unsinkable Mr. Brown, who has sustained innumerable broken bones, including a broken neck, in his 33-year rodeo career.

Leaders in RCA championships (and their winnings) in various events are: All-around cowboy — Phil Lyne, George West, Tex., $14,862, and Paul Mayo, Grinnell, Iowa, $13,288; saddle bronc riding — Bill Smith, Cody Wyo., $7,839, and Kenny McLean, Okanagan Falls, B.C., $6,481; bareback bronc — Paul Mayo, $10,404, and Tom J. Walter, Watkins, Iowa, $8,348; bull riding — Sandy Kirby Woodston, N.J., $6,491, and Bob Berger, Norman, Okla., $5,733; calf roping — Junior Garrison, Marlow, Okla., $10,071, and Phil Lyne, $9,795; steer wrestling — Billy Hale, Checotah, Okla., $9,405, and Walt Linderman, Beltry, Mont., $9,053.

Ex-Editor Dies

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Herbert L. Lewis, 72, former editor in chief of the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press, died Wednesday of cancer. He was named editor of the paper in 1949 and retired in 1964.

JUST LIKE HEFTY RAT Fat Person Doesn't Know When To Quit Feasting?

AUSTIN (AP) — Like a car with faulty brakes which takes longer to come to a halt, a fat person doesn't know when to quit eating.

According to University of Texas psychologist Devendra Singh, the fat person manifests a "loss of response inhibition" in the matter of food intake.

"He has acquired a strong habit about or learning a response to eating that is difficult to terminate," Singh said.

Singh, a physiological psychologist, is studying eating and obesity by using a device which is hoped will eventually lead to new ways of controlling weight.

It is his contention that obese persons can be trained through a process of counter-conditioning to learn "different motor responses" to food.

"Tantalizing analogies" between obese animals and obese humans have shown that an obese person will eat fewer peanuts if he has to shell the nut before he can eat it. And the substitution of chopsticks for forks — impeding the rapid ingestion of food — also cuts down on the amount an obese person will eat.

He explains that obesity is defined on the proportion of fat that is in the body, and when fat composes 25 per cent or more of body weight, then a person is clinically obese. Fat can be measured by skinfold deposits at different parts of the body.

Although he is not yet ready to pronounce 10 easy steps to lose weight, he says that on the basis of what he has already learned he personally has lost 10 pounds and I hope to lose another 20."

As a further example, he notes that studies elsewhere

First Grade Day Slated

Parents in the Big Spring Independent School District have been alerted by Ernie Boyd, project coordinator, to May 14 as First Grade Day.

This will be the occasion for parents to enroll their children for first grade next autumn, also to obtain information about the school program, materials needs, etc. The prospective first graders, too, will get a sample exposure to school.

Details on the schedule will be announced later. Boyd said that school officials also are anxious to enroll children for kindergarten next year, and this may be done at the elementary school nearest the child's residence. There are certain factors involved, but the children affected are the 5-year-olds whose birthdays were on or before July 1, 1966.

As for first graders and kindergartners, the pre-enrollment is important because it carries great weight in assigning teachers and otherwise preparing for the instruction of these children next autumn, he said.

Privacy Invaded, Says Reagan On Tax Matter

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has accused newsmen of an invasion of privacy in reporting that he did not pay a state personal income tax this year. And he says whoever gave them the tax information broke the law.

"Aren't you guys ashamed enough?" the Republican governor snapped Wednesday when reporters asked whether he paid any federal income tax this year. He told the newsmen it was none of their business and said:

"Frankly, I think the Capitol press corps yesterday demeaned itself a little bit by engaging in an invasion of privacy. They asked a question they already had the answer to."

Reagan said Tuesday he couldn't remember if he had to pay state income tax. His office later issued a statement saying he had not paid a tax because business losses offset his taxable income.

The source of the confidential tax information remains unknown. The report was first broadcast on the Sacramento State College radio station. KERS Correspondent Rosemary King said she picked up the unverifiable report in Capitol hallways.

Reagan accused newsmen of knowing that someone illegally provided the information from the Franchise Tax Board.

The board's George Nelson said a check of the files showed that Reagan's returns had not been taken. "We have no reason to believe it came from here," he said. But he noted that "a lot of people" aid in processing the 5.5 million to 6 million returns received in April.

Reagan has always insisted that his personal wealth and his investments are his own business so long as there is no conflict of interest with his public position.

Jess Unruh, Reagan's Democratic opponent in the 1970 election for governor, insisted that no one could be sure if there was conflict or not unless Reagan made his financial affairs public as Unruh had. Reagan steadfastly maintained that was not necessary.

Neither Reagan nor his friends will comment in any detail on his investments or how he sustained enough losses during 1970 to offset tax obligation from his $44,100 salary as governor, let alone any other income he may have had.

But capital tax experts say it would not be unusual, particularly in a year like 1970 with its business slump.

No one has contended that anything was illegal. But Democrats in the legislature say it points out the "loopholes" in the state's tax laws that allow the affluent to pay less taxes than the middle class.

Protesters In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — A small roving band of antiwar protesters demonstrated Wednesday at four downtown buildings.

The group, which grew from about a dozen to about 50, appeared at the Armed Forces Examining and Entrance Station, City Hall, the Humble Building and the federal courthouse.

The protesters carried antiwar signs and passed out leaflets.

One youth was arrested at the courthouse and charged with failure to move on, a misdemeanor.

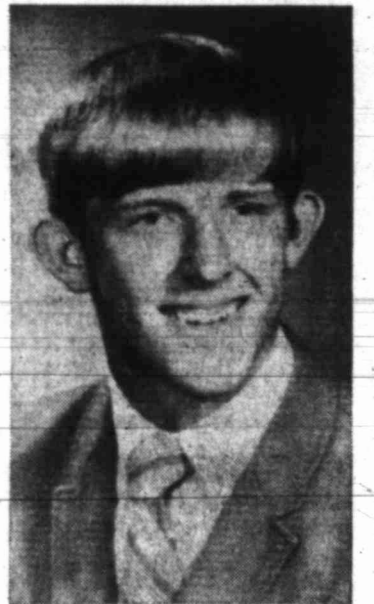

Some protesters identified themselves as members of the "Houston committee to end the war in Vietnam" and of the "people's peace treaty."

One Texan Is Among Honored

Six men, including one Texan, were elected honorees of the Hall of Great Westerners at the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center in Oklahoma City.

The new honorees were announced at the 11th annual Western Heritage Awards presentations of "Wrangler Trophies" at the Center.

David D. Payne, Roberts County, Tex., was among the honorees. Also honored were John Edward Borein, William Hugh Barber, Adkin W. Kingsbury, Eli W. Whitcomb and Thomas Gilcrease.

Yearn To Learn Exec Speaks Out

ALICE, Tex. (AP) — Relating to school drop-outs and potential drop-outs is easy for Miss Manya Garcia—she almost was a drop-out herself.

Miss Garcia is the executive director of a new group organization called the Yearn-to-Learn Center. It is the Alice Branch of IMAGE—Involvement of Mexican-Americans in Gainful Endeavors.

NO INTEREST

The group is a non-profit group which seeks to improve the social, economic, and education status of the Mexican-American, a large part of which includes trying to keep students in school.

"Youths drop out of school for a wide variety of reasons," Miss Garcia said. "However, the primary reason seems to be lack of interest."

She said many drop out because of financial problems and others "just don't care."

"I almost dropped out of school in the eighth grade because of a misunderstanding with a principal," Miss Garcia said. "But my parents convinced me I should return, and I'm glad I did."

JOB PROGRAM

Miss Garcia is a graduate of Texas A&T at Kingsville. Since graduation she has been working with migrant pre-school children in the Lower Rio-Grande Valley.

She is a native of La Gloria, near Fallfurris.

Miss Garcia said the center, which opened April 29, is equipped to help students in school and those who have dropped out.

She said the local center has a broad scope of plans including a back-to-school campaign, speakers' program and part-time job program.

A steering committee of 12 civic, business, educational and church leaders in Alice presented the "involved" program to the citizens last year and then arranged affiliation with IMAGE, Inc., headquartered in San Antonio.

MASS MEDIA

She said the center plans a mass media campaign to encourage students to return to school in the fall and a program of motivational speakers in the schools.

The speakers will be successful-Mexican-Americans who will emphasize the benefits of education.

The center also will include tutoring services and assistance in training youths for part-time jobs by establishing contacts with employers.

"The problems of the Mexican-American in the U.S. are many and varied," Miss Garcia said. "IMAGE has accepted the challenge to help solve them."

Illegal Aliens Help Depress U. S. Wages?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of aliens illegally in the United States are holding jobs or receiving unemployment compensation and other federal benefits, the chairman of the House immigration subcommittee said Wednesday.

Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said the flood of illegal aliens is aggravating the unemployment situation and helping to depress wages.

In many instances, he said, aliens are being aided by Americans who hire them at substandard wages.

FOR EXAMPLE

In remarks prepared for the opening of hearings on admission of aliens into the United States, Rodino presented several examples of foreigners working illegally.

In one case, he said, a man who entered the country illegally is receiving a $69.50 weekly training payment from the federal government to attend a welding school.

He said another, who saved $6,000 during illegal employment as a meatcutter, is being paid $69 a week in unemployment compensation. Still another, he said, after working illegally for more than a year as a machine operator, is receiving $55 a week from the government while attending an electronics training course.

NO WONDER

"It is no wonder," said Rodino, "that aliens surreptitiously cross our borders without inspection and misrepresent their true purpose when applying for visitors' visas."

Rodino said a major cause of the problem is inability of the Immigration and Naturalization Service to keep track of aliens, due mainly to a personnel shortage.

Another factor, he said, is the connivance of American employers in hiring illegal aliens either as domestic servants or for jobs at low wages. The fear of discovery and deportation keeps the aliens from complaining about being exploited," he said.

Rodino said there also appears to be a lack of cooperation between the Immigration and Naturalization Service and other federal agencies in identifying aliens participating in government-sponsored programs.

Dollar Crisis: What Happened?

WASHINGTON (AP) — These are what's and why's of the European dollar crisis: What has happened? Government banks in most Western European countries have temporarily stopped paying out European money in exchange for U.S. dollars.

Why the suspension? Speculators are flooding the banks with dollars, seeking to exchange them for West German marks or, in some cases, other European currencies.

Why do they want marks? There is widespread belief that Germany will increase the value of the mark as an anti-inflation measure. Major German research institutes have so recommended, and unofficial reports have circulated the government might cut the mark loose from its present value of 27 cents and let it "float" to a new level of parity with the dollar.

What would happen then? Presumably the value of the mark would wind up slightly higher in terms of dollars. The speculators who had swapped dollars for marks would make a profit.

Why are U.S. dollars less valuable in Europe? There are more dollars in Europe than Europeans need, because of this country's Vietnam spending, its increase in imports, and the U.S. inflation which has discouraged European demand for U.S. goods.

What happens if the mark is revalued upward? An increase in value of the mark—and of other European currencies—would in effect lower the cost of U.S. goods in Europe and increase the cost of European goods here. That would tend to increase U.S. exports, reduce imports.

Candidate's Request Nixed

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Supreme Court refused Wednesday to consider a defeated Palestine city council candidate's request for an order that would put him on the council.

The court denied a petition filed by Roy DeLafosse who asked for an order that would: —Compel the city council, sitting as canvassing board, to complete its canvass of a recount of ballots cast in an April 6 council election.

—Force the council to declare the results of the recount.

—Compel issuance of a certificate of office to DeLafosse.

—Require Mayor Jack Rogers to swear in DeLafosse as a councilman.

Under Palestine's new charter, the top four vote-getters in a council election are declared elected.

The ballot in the April 6 election contained the warning, "voting for less than four will void the ballot."

Discarding ballots thus voided, John O. Davis was declared the fourth highest vote getter, and DeLafosse placed fifth.

DeLafosse demanded a recount, which showed that if all ballots—including those where voters marked fewer than four candidates—were counted, DeLafosse would have received 1,300 votes to Davis' 1,296.

The council deadlocked twice over whether to canvass the recount, then asked for an opinion from the secretary of state, Texas' chief election officer.

The opinion said all votes should be counted, regardless of whether a voter marked four candidates.

She Gets Rustic Elegance From Junk Shop Furniture

MIXING UP ONE OF HER quick and easy meals, Mrs. A. C. James knows just the right spices to add to please her family. The James' children, although no longer living at home, know they can always count on a tasty and relaxing meal when they come for a visit.

By BARBARA LORD

Imagination, originality, determination and a lot of hard work are reflected in the Silver Heels home decor of Mrs. A. C. James. Browsing through junk shops is her favorite pastime, and the family home is furnished with a charming blend of antiques which she has renovated.

Her family has been shocked many times by the items Mrs. James comes home with from junk shops, but they have learned to expect the best when she shows them the finished project.

"I usually have to scrape through a lot of paint, dirt and grime to see what the original finish is like," said Mrs. James, "but if it looks like it is in pretty good shape I'll buy it."

Mrs. James' husband, an electrician at Cosden Refinery, helps her with some of the upholstery, and her mother did the velvet embroidery on the dining room chairs. But the scraping, sanding, staining and over-all outcome is her responsibility.

The James' have two children and four grandchildren. Their daughter, Mrs. Keith Maynard, is living in Big Spring while her husband is in Thailand. Their son, Ricky, is stationed at Cannon AFB, Clovis, N.M.

In her son's room, Mrs. James has converted old dining room furniture into a beautiful bedroom set. In another room, a former footboard now serves as a headboard. Most of the furnishings in the entire home have been refinished and color-coordinated by her. The accessory items follow the antique theme, with many of them passed down from family members.

"One old iron cooking pot was used by her husband's ancestors during the Civil War to pack salt pork in to bury and hide from the soldiers."

COUNTRY LIVING
"Our family has always enjoyed the country-type living we have here," said Mrs. James. "Ricky comes home about every weekend and usually I get a friend with him. We don't live by any schedule, and the boys can go riding or do whatever they want without worrying about being a certain place at a certain time."

The James' are tied to no schedule during the week either. Her husband works shifts at the refinery, and meals and activities are set according to his alternating hours.

"We won't let ourselves get overburdened with a routine," she said. "Sometimes we're eating breakfast at one or two o'clock in the afternoon. When somebody wants to eat, we're not working, my husband is apt to be doing something around the house, and my meals are the type that can be kept warm in the oven until quick and easy recipes that she knows her family enjoys.

SWEDISH APPLE CRUMBLE
A real taste bud pleaser

Its Easy To Make, Delightful To Taste

A dessert the whole family will enjoy, made easy through the use of canned pie sliced apples, pared, cored, sliced — all ready to go in the baking dish. Just sweeten and spice, top with a melt-in-the-mouth crumble, bake briefly and serve.

SWEDISH APPLE CRUMBLE
2 cans (20 oz. each) pie sliced apples
¾ cup sugar, divided
1 tsp. cinnamon
¾ cup flour
¼ cup butter or margarine
Empty one can pie sliced

apples into shallow 1½ quart baking dish. Combine ¼ cup sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle half this mixture over apples. Repeat. Combine flour and remaining one-half cup sugar. Cut in the butter with two knives or pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Spread this mixture over top of casserole. Bake at 425 degrees until top is browned, about 15 minutes. Serve with cream or custard sauce if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

SPECIALTY
Potato salad is her specialty, and whenever they have a get-together of some kind, people just assume she'll bring it because she always has. She makes it in 10-pound batches.

Recently Mrs. James added sewing to her list of endeavors, and has made a few things she is proud of but said she is still definitely in the learning stage.

When she isn't working around the house or touring junk shops, Mrs. James keeps busy helping her daughter chauffeur the children to their various activities. She is also a member of the City Home Demonstration Club, and she and her husband have been active members of the Sheriff's Posse for 16 years.

Born and reared in the East Texas town of Jacksonville, Mrs. James said that during her first weekend visit to Big Spring she was greeted with "a horrible" sand storm and told her husband, "I wouldn't live in this town if they gave it to me." Shortly after that the James' moved here and have been here for 23 years.

"I wouldn't trade the people or the town for any other now," she said. "West Texas is prettier than a lot of people realize. We have a lot of gorgeous wild flowers around our home, and I think we have the best over-all weather conditions of anywhere. I can't take the humidity of other climates anymore."

Tease Tastebuds With Gingerbread

Please your family with this old favorite.
OLDTIME GINGERBREAD
1 cup sifted cake flour
½ tsp. baking soda
¼ tsp. each salt and cinnamon
¼ tsp. each nutmeg and cloves
½ tsp. ginger
1 large egg
Dairy sour cream
½ cup dark molasses
Butter bottom and sides of a square 8-inch cake pan; line bottom with buttered wax paper. On wax paper, sift together the flour, baking soda, salt and spices. Break the egg into a 1-cup glass measure; add enough sour cream to make ½ cup; turn into a mixing bowl; beat to combine; add molasses and beat to combine.

Add sifted dry ingredients; beat gently just until smooth — about 1 minute; batter will be thin. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 25 minutes. Turn out on wire rack; remove paper; turn rightside up.

Peanut Pralines Good For Favors

Serve these pralines or use them for take-home favors.
PEANUT PRALINES
1 box (1-pound) light brown sugar
¼ cup water
1 can (6¾ ounces) cocktail peanuts
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
½ tsp. vanilla
In a large heavy saucepan, combine brown sugar and water. Cook, stirring, over medium heat until mixture begins to simmer. Add peanuts and butter. Stirring constantly, bring to a boil. Remove from heat; let stand 5 minutes. Stir in vanilla. Drop from tablespoon onto lightly buttered baking sheets. Set aside to harden. Slide pralines off baking sheets with fingers — lifting them with a spatula may break them. Makes about 24. (These are the sugary kind of pralines that may have a few cloudy spots; the peanuts in them will stay crisp for a day or so after making.)

Cake Tenderizer

If your sponge cake isn't quite so tender as you would like, try wrapping it tightly in transparent plastic film and allowing it to stand for a day or so before serving it.

PINK APPLE COOLERS
The perfect summer drink

Squelch Thirst With Apple Drink Treats

Something tall and cool and thirst quenching — not too sweet, not too sharp — not too overpowering in flavor. That's what we want when the weather turns warm, and that's what this Pink Apple Cooler has to offer. Serve it with plain cookies that are not sweet (biscuits, the English call them) and settle down to relax on porch or terrace or even in a cool living room.

Apple juice and pink dinner wine are fine flavor companions and the wine lends its color as well as its flavor. A little lemon juice adds just enough tang and you may use a sugar substitute if you wish.

PINK APPLE COOLERS
1 quart apple juice
2 cups pink dinner wine
2 tbsps. lemon juice
¼ cup extra fine sugar
Ice cold club soda
Combine all ingredients except club soda. Stir until sugar dissolves. Chill. Pour over ice in tall glasses filling glasses three-fourths full. Fill to top with club soda. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Lightning Strikes Again

Lightning, the stimulating variety, has struck again. The Big Spring Industrial Foundation announced Wednesday the location of another industry in the city, the third within a year and the second within a month.

The latest new industrial citizen will be Addison Industries, which now manufactures mobile homes in Addison, Ala., and which will make this the location of its second plant. The immediate employment total will be about 20 for training in key spots, to be followed with about 120-150 at the outset of production and eventually 200 or more. Walt Abercrombie, president of Addison, pointed out that other businesses which furnish supplies to mobile home manufacturers, tend to locate in proximity. Already a couple of such concerns have made inquiries here about local locations.

The Foundation was instrumental in obtaining Intech here last autumn, then had a formal announcement last week of the I.B.J. (ladies garment)

Corporation plan to open a plant here. With the Addison plant, the three facilities have an initial projected complement of about 350 employees and with the possibility of 600 or more eventually.

Those who have headed the Foundation and have served on its board are due unlimited praise for their aggressiveness and effectiveness. But back of them have stood the industrial team which has delivered instantly every time it has been called upon to supply details on necessary for reaching a final solution. And back of this group have stood several hundred Big Spring individuals and businesses who have matched their belief in Big Spring with their dollars to supply the Foundation with ammunition.

If you haven't, then you ought to get a piece of this action. Any group which is accomplishing such miraculous results for our community deserves your support in a way that can be turned possibly into other new industries.

Tart Tongue

Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover, long a barb in the defense establishment's side, still has the ability to reduce complex situations to their basics. The administration is considering, but has not proposed, a plan to guarantee loans for troubled Lockheed Aircraft, the largest defense contractor.

Rickover said that if Lockheed goes bankrupt "the work would go just the same. Only the financial people change." He said efforts to bail out private companies was "more communistic than Russia." He said if the government rescues one business it should do the same for the thousands of others which go broke each year.

The testy old admiral, father of the nuclear submarine, cut right to the center of the dilemma even if it may be disquieting in some circles.

The Press Tries

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — No matter how hard we try, the press can't do anything right as far as the Nixon Administration is concerned.

I am happy to report that the attacks of President Nixon, Spiro Agnew and John Mitchell have not fallen on deaf ears. A sincere group of journalists and TV commentators have formed an Ad Hoc Committee to Make the News More Palatable to the Administration.

The first meeting was held last week in the Georgetown basement of a famous cartoonist.

"GENTLEMAN," a syndicated columnist said, "the Administration is fed up with the way the nation's media are reporting the news. It is our duty as Americans to change our ways."

"Huzzah! Huzzah!" everyone shouted.

"Are there any suggestions?" "How about coming out for Judge Carswell?" someone said.

"It's too late unless there is a new opening on the Supreme Court," an editorial writer replied.

"WHAT ABOUT refusing to report the unemployment figures in the United States?"

"That would please the Administration," a White House correspondent said.

"How about pulling all our correspondents out of Indochina and accepting only the word of the Pentagon briefers?"

"It's a step in the right direction," a TV correspondent agreed.

"I'VE GOT IT," suggested a reporter. "Suppose we agree every week to turn over all our notebooks and films and radio tapes to the Justice Department?"

An editor said, "John Mitchell would like that."

A woman reporter said, "What about putting an embargo on all news about anti-Vietnam demonstrations?"

"Or demonstrations of any kind?" someone else said.

"We could do it if we put our hearts in it," the cartoonist said.

"THESE ARE all good suggestions," the editorial writer said. "But we owe this Administration more than just suppressing bad news. We have to print the good news about what President Nixon is doing."

"Huzzah! Huzzah!" everyone cried. "Let's hear a few suggestions."

There was a dead silence in the room.

The woman reporter finally said, "Nixon's marrying off his daughter to a very nice young man."

"HE KEPT Henry Kissinger from being kidnaped," someone else added. "He got Congress to vote on the SST."

"He made Spiro Agnew into a household word."

"He brought Martha Mitchell to Washington."

"He made everything perfectly clear."

"That's enough to start with," the syndicated columnist said. "We're all agreed then that we're going to lay off the Nixon Administration until after the election."

"Huzzah! Huzzah!" everyone cried. (Copyright, 1971, Los Angeles Times)

ROCKING CHAIR

They Were Expendable

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Evidence mounts that the middle management recession is easing. Help-wanted ads are beginning to grow in volume, and surveys show that executive appointments are increasing again after a year of cutbacks.

This means that personal pressures are lifting also. During 1970, for the first time in their lives, many executives in the $15,000-and-up category felt frightened, threatened, insecure.

They were ill-prepared for the recession. For years they had experienced the comfort of being well fed, housed and clothed. Their job was their identity. They felt settled in their comfortable suburban life style.

But when profits fell their companies could not reciprocate their loyalty. As the recession deepened, many of these men were cut loose. They were not, as they had believed, indispensable. They were expendable.

The market now appears to be changing. A study by Wytmar & Co., an executive recruiter, shows executive appointments rose 6 per cent in the first quarter of 1971 over the first three months of 1970.

The gains were especially sharp in manufacturing, financial and administrative categories, at 25, 21 and 19 per cent respectively. The general management category showed no gain.

Now that the worst may be over, the questions arise: Will they be the same? Have they learned? Do they know how to better protect themselves?

Another recruiter, Kiernan & Co., surveyed 400 executives whose names had appeared in its files for one reason or another. It found subtle but important changes, a more realistic, less romantic view of themselves and their jobs.

Some were bitter. "I will never try to get a job as such again. I have seen the light. I have gone into my own business. I am not bitter, just disappointed in American industry and must fend for myself," wrote one.

But that was more the exception. Rather than becoming cynical, most seemed to have come through the recession wary, suspicious, concerned.

Indications are that they are less likely to change jobs, because of the insecurity involved, but also less inclined to give their entire loyalty to their present employers—a stance of creative caution.

The respondents were unusually frank. A few years ago it was standard for an applicant to list as his first job requirement "the opportunity" said the Kiernan man. He wanted to show he had the ability, the confidence.

"It was bad form to put money first," he said. But no longer. The respondents listed it as the most important consideration, followed by "job opportunity" and "job challenge."

The replies also tended to show executives were less interested in the mad dash to the top at all costs and instead were seeking a better balance in their lives, with less dependency upon the company.

It was detected, for example, that while the respondents were still interested in moving into better jobs with other companies, they were less inclined to risk taking their families into strange areas and new situations.

The Wrong Line

Around 'The Rim

Jean Fannin

MOST OF the frustrating things that have ever happened to me have happened while I was standing in line.

Not that I mind waiting, or even standing in line. I believe in taking my turn.

BUT WHAT I hate are multiple choice lines. You know, where there are several lines and you can pick any line you want to stand in. It never fails, I always pick the slowest line.

When I go to the bank cars may be lined up 10-deep in every line but one. I may be the second car in that line, but I will still be there when all of the 10-car lines have vanished and the other tellers are busy counting their money.

I ALWAYS get behind the woman who is doing the banking for everyone on her block. Or the guy with the criminal-type face who is trying to cash a $15 check and has to have the bank personnel called out to personally okay the check.

And when I try to pay by bills, the same thing happens. I wind up behind the lady who is paying off her $1,500 account — in pennies.

IT DOESN'T do any good for me to switch lines. At banks the tellers decide to take a break just as I decide to switch lines. At stores they get enmeshed in long, involved telephone conversations.

When I go to a banquet, the food is always served buffet style. And they run out of meat or vegetables or silverware just as I get there.

WHEN I go to a wedding and spend 45 minutes standing in the reception line, the bride leaves to change her clothes just as I am shaking hands with her mother.

Even when I'm stopped at stoplights, it's always the car directly in front of me which suddenly expires from overheating or develops holes in all four tires — or just plain refuses to budge.

ONE THING that's really got me worried. If ever I'm out of a job and have to stand in line to collect my unemployment — the country will probably go bankrupt just as I get to the front of the line.

Femlib In Russia

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — Some of those girls who have been demonstrating against the war (and practically everything else) actually look like females and might even get invited to a prom if they took a bath and combed their hair. But they all need a crash course in contemporary Russian life, lest they do something rash.

For, almost unanimously, these somewhat overripe tomatoes spout the conventional Women's Lib line about how much better the Soviet Union treats members of their sex and how billy it would be to live under the system installed by Lenin, Stalin and Co. They've got to be kidding, because although everybody is equal in that slat paradise, men are more equal than women.

EXCEPT FOR some artists, some highly skilled and highly educated women, plus those who know some man rather well, women in Russia lead lives that would cause the American female willingly to retire to one of those unsanitary loony bins Moscow maintains for folks who take the Soviet Constitution too literally.

Latest statistics show that, as in the United States, women outnumber men in the USSR — by about 11.3 million bodies. Unlike American girls, most Russian females do as they are told by men. Of the approximately 60 million women in the Soviet labor force, four-fifths are officially admitted to be engaged in physical labor.

MOREOVER, jobs performed by women include some of the most arduous and disagreeable. They mine coal in violation of a 1922 labor code. They sweep the streets, shovel snow, haul concrete, dig ditches, collect garbage and lay bricks. They do the dirty, unskilled work in heavy industry.

AS AN unskilled worker, the Russian woman is lowest on the pay scale. Both the straw bosses and the executives in that singular citadel of hypocrisy are mostly still males; while one out of every two workers in the industrial force is a woman, only one out of every seven becomes a foreman or shop leader.

The assorted Madame De Farges of the American scene are fond of pointing out that three out of every four Russian doctors are women. Just so. But because the Politburo believes it needs men for more important jobs, a doctor in the USSR earns less than a skilled factory worker.

THERE IS, to be sure, an elite minority of women in the professions, but they serve, by official decree, not by personal preference. A woman with a university education is required to put that education to work. The Soviet Union does not waste money educating female architects or engineers or training ballet dancers just for the hell of it. Upon emerging from the classroom, these women forthwith are assigned to employment through which they will be enabled to repay their government for its stern benevolence.

THUS, FOR THEIR own sakes, I advise our female sit-inners to knock off those dreams about discovering their identity in some Russian commune. The difference between male chauvinism in the U.S. and in the Soviet Union is that hereabouts a woman can rebel against it.

What Others Say

As welcome as the Nile floods are to Egyptian farmers, the freshets of apparent or imminent breakthroughs in the Middle East crisis are suddenly flowing.

As always, the reports need to be considered with reserve, though they sound encouraging, indeed. Egypt signifies it would sign a peace treaty with Israel if the latter were to withdraw from all Arab occupied territories.

The Egyptians are inquiring again from European ship-salvage companies about the costs of dredging out ships in the Suez Canal.

The Russians are in Jordan talking with Palestinian guerrillas. The Russians took no pains to conceal their ire with the Arab guerrillas at the time of the mass plane hijackings in the deserts of Jordan. But the fact they are talking now is seen to be hopeful.

What do all these favorable signs indicate? They mean that despite the rigidity of both the Israelis and the Egyptians on most salient issues, the influence of a nonshooting war for roughly half a year is forcing Mideast leaders to pay closer attention to their citizens' deep desires for peace.

As Joseph Sisco, the State Department's Mideast negotiator said recently, the two sides are getting down to hard issues now.

Meanwhile, it is up to the Big Four — Britain, France, the Soviet Union, and the United States — as permanent members of the UN Security Council, to prod, spur, encourage, the principals in the Mideast crisis to make mutual concessions.

Cost Of Rebellion

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — A deliberate effort by a group of militant demonstrators to close down the federal government failed to attain its objective. But the damage done to the national capital was considerable.

THOUSANDS OF workers did not go to their jobs for fear of being caught up in the traffic jams due to the threatened blocking of the bridges leading to the city. Many persons refrained from going to the downtown stores. The radicals had announced in advance that they intended to "close down the government." Copies of a manual distributed by the protesters designated as targets for disruption all the bridges over the Potomac River and other highway arteries by which thousands of employees of government and private business travel to and from Washington each day.

MORE THAN 7,000 of the demonstrators were arrested by the police, who were assisted by 4,000 combat-clad army troops. A contingent of marines and 6,000 other soldiers were stationed in the city or nearby. Volleys of tear gas were used to rout the raiders. But, despite these efforts, traffic on some of the bridges and elsewhere was blocked for short periods by the slashing of tires or other devices.

THE FACT that in the United States an organization can undertake a well-planned attack to close off the main entrances to the city of Washington is an example of the extremes to which demonstrators will go.

The presence of the troops, which included Army and Marine units, played a considerable role in discouraging the militants. There were no major confrontations, but sizeable numbers of soldiers were in evidence at the bridges and other target areas along with the police. They were scattered along most of the main streets, too, to be on hand in case of trouble. On the whole, the attack or protection was well done.

BUT THE big question is why did any organization plan such an attack on their own government? The attempt to close government buildings and particularly the Pentagon, was a move that could involve serious consequences. If an international crisis arose and the Pentagon was not able to function quickly, the defense organization would still bear the responsibility to act.

Some significant comments are being made on Capitol Hill. Senator Strom Thurmond, Republican of South Carolina said:

"WE MAY clearly impeach the Democratic intentions of the organizers of these demonstrations when we note the open and unabashed participation in key leadership positions of members of the Communist party, USA."

The question now is how many other members of Congress will speak out emphatically against the rebellion by an organized group which tried to block the bridges and close government offices. Likewise, it will be interesting to see what the courts do with the question of punishment for the many thousands who participated in the demonstrations and followed leaders who brazenly declared that their purpose was to close down their own government. Doubtless many of those arrested will expect only small fines, but rebellion is rarely treated lightly by any government in the world.

Billy Graham

Please explain what Christ meant when He said He was the Son of man.

In view of the fact that we find this phrase used over eighty times in the Gospel records, it must be of unusual significance. There were probably many reasons why Christ so designated Himself. He was truly God, but He was also truly man, and He came to identify Himself with mankind and their needs. Also, while it was true that He was the promised Son of David, He wished to make it abundantly clear the He had come to save men of every nation and race. In using the name "Son of Man," He thereby declared the universality of His offer of salvation — that He came to redeem all who will accept Him as Savior. It is impossible for the finite mind to grasp all of the implications of the incarnation — God coming into the world in human form — but it is a glorious fact and in this act of God's love and mercy salvation is free to all who will accept it.

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for over a year now and we love each other very much. We have a good relationship with our in-laws considering we are both only children and live in the same town with both sets of parents.

My problem is a bad habit my mother-in-law has. She is always talking about what my husband did when he was a baby, the cute things he said, the toys he had, and even the cute clothes he had. I realize that those childhood memories are precious to her, but she bores me and everyone else to death with that kind of talk.

CHILDHOOD BLUES
DEAR BLUES: If she doesn't see this, or if she sees it and it doesn't hit home, don't worry. Your problems will solve themselves as soon as YOU have a baby. Then she'll bore everybody with talk of her grandchild!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for five months and the only problem we have is with our landlady. She lives downstairs and says she has to have a key to our apartment in case it rains while we are gone and she has to close our windows. Or if she smells a gas leak or smoke from our apartment.

Well, we have proof that she comes in and snoops around in our drawers and closets. She never rings the bell or knocks. She just lets herself in with her own key. Several times she scared me half to death because I didn't even know she was in my apartment until I turned around and saw her.

Our door key fits our mailbox, so now she brings me my mail, saying she wants to save me the trouble of getting it myself. Abby, I prefer to get my own mail!

Once she let herself in and opened our bedroom door when my husband and I were IN bed. Can you believe it?

What do you advise us to do? NO PRIVACY
DEAR NO: Have a chain lock put on your door so that she can't enter while you are inside. That will insure privacy. Change the lock on your door and don't give her a key. Tell her you'll close the windows before you leave. And if she smells gas or smoke from your apartment to break the door down with an ax and you'll pay for it.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this, doubting that I'll ever mail it. It's been on my mind for 18 years. Before my husband and I were married, he was married briefly to a ravine beauty. They had one daughter. There were a lot of hard feelings, and he didn't see his daughter until she was 10 years old. She's a grown woman now.

My complaint: My husband has a large insurance policy. The beneficiary is his daughter. For the first 15 years of our married life, the beneficiary was his first wife, then he changed it.

This just eats me up. We have a family of our own, Abby. What about them? And what about me? When I mention this to my husband, he says, "Don't worry, you'll be taken care of. I know better. We don't own a business, or a house, or even a car."

I have tried to be big about it, but I can't. If I were to make a scene and force him to change the beneficiary, he'd do it only because I forced him to. So what would I gain except the money?

SAVANNAH
DEAR SAVANNAH: What do you mean if you forced him to change the beneficiary all you would gain is "money"? That money is the difference between your being left a widow without a dime or one whose husband has left her and her family provided for. If I were you, I would make a scene! You're entitled to it!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for over a year now and we love each other very much. We have a good relationship with our in-laws considering we are both only children and live in the same town with both sets of parents.

My problem is a bad habit my mother-in-law has. She is always talking about what my husband did when he was a baby, the cute things he said, the toys he had, and even the cute clothes he had. I realize that those childhood memories are precious to her, but she bores me and everyone else to death with that kind of talk.

CHILDHOOD BLUES
DEAR BLUES: If she doesn't see this, or if she sees it and it doesn't hit home, don't worry. Your problems will solve themselves as soon as YOU have a baby. Then she'll bore everybody with talk of her grandchild!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for five months and the only problem we have is with our landlady. She lives downstairs and says she has to have a key to our apartment in case it rains while we are gone and she has to close our windows. Or if she smells a gas leak or smoke from our apartment.

Well, we have proof that she comes in and snoops around in our drawers and closets. She never rings the bell or knocks. She just lets herself in with her own key. Several times she scared me half to death because I didn't even know she was in my apartment until I turned around and saw her.

Our door key fits our mailbox, so now she brings me my mail, saying she wants to save me the trouble of getting it myself. Abby, I prefer to get my own mail!

Once she let herself in and opened our bedroom door when my husband and I were IN bed. Can you believe it?

What do you advise us to do? NO PRIVACY
DEAR NO: Have a chain lock put on your door so that she can't enter while you are inside. That will insure privacy. Change the lock on your door and don't give her a key. Tell her you'll close the windows before you leave. And if she smells gas or smoke from your apartment to break the door down with an ax and you'll pay for it.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this, doubting that I'll ever mail it. It's been on my mind for 18 years. Before my husband and I were married, he was married briefly to a ravine beauty. They had one daughter. There were a lot of hard feelings, and he didn't see his daughter until she was 10 years old. She's a grown woman now.

My complaint: My husband has a large insurance policy. The beneficiary is his daughter. For the first 15 years of our married life, the beneficiary was his first wife, then he changed it.

This just eats me up. We have a family of our own, Abby. What about them? And what about me? When I mention this to my husband, he says, "Don't worry, you'll be taken care of. I know better. We don't own a business, or a house, or even a car."

I have tried to be big about it, but I can't. If I were to make a scene and force him to change the beneficiary, he'd do it only because I forced him to. So what would I gain except the money?

SAVANNAH
DEAR SAVANNAH: What do you mean if you forced him to change the beneficiary all you would gain is "money"? That money is the difference between your being left a widow without a dime or one whose husband has left her and her family provided for. If I were you, I would make a scene! You're entitled to it!

Person In Shock

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In some accidents, the aftermath of shock is a contributing cause of death. Would you explain how a layman can determine shock and what he might do to help the victim until professional help arrives? -- V.S.

Shock is serious. It may be more than a "contributing cause." It can, in fact, be fatal. But it is also a condition which a layman cannot be expected to diagnose, nor can he give specific treatment for it. He can, however, suspect it -- and give appropriate first aid.

There are various causes of shock other than accidents, but in accidents shock occurs from extensive bleeding (internal or external), extreme pain, head injury, or sheer fright -- or some combination of them.

The victim is dazed, his skin pale and moist, pulse rapid and very weak and thready. Blood pressure is low, but this cannot be determined without instruments.

There isn't very much to do in the way of first aid, but what there is can be important. Keep the patient lying flat. Keep his head down; even elevate feet and legs a bit.

Keep him warm with a blanket, jacket, or anything that's available.

Do not try to give him anything to drink.

If his breathing is impaired, his tongue may have fallen back. Gently roll his head to one side.

Do not try to move him except to get him to safety from some real hazard; i.e., fire, moving traffic, etc.

If you must move him at all, do it gently, but be careful to keep him flat. Obviously, professional help should be summoned as soon as possible; the earlier treatment for shock begins, the better the prospects.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I recently had a Pap test and the result said, "Abnormalities present." I am to have another test taken. What can this mean except the possibility of cancer? -- Mrs. R.S.

Various things, from a temporary hormone imbalance to some infection, can cause abnormalities in the cells that are examined in a Pap test. It doesn't necessarily mean cancer.

But still, abnormalities also may be detected before they have gone so far as to become cancerous. The main reason for the Pap test is to detect cancer early.

So go back for your next test. You may find things returning to normal. If abnormalities are still present, it may be wise to continue frequent tests until the true state of affairs becomes definite. Contraceptive pills can produce "abnormal" cells but not cancerous ones.

How does VD start? Why are teenagers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself? Dr. Thosteson has the answers in his convenient, layman's-language booklet, "Venereal Disease: How to Avoid It: How to Cure It." For a copy write him in care of The Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pope Will Visit Nazi Gas Chamber

VATICAN CITY (AP) -- The Rome newspaper Il Tempo says Pope Paul VI will fly to Communist Poland in August and visit the Nazi gas chamber at Auschwitz.

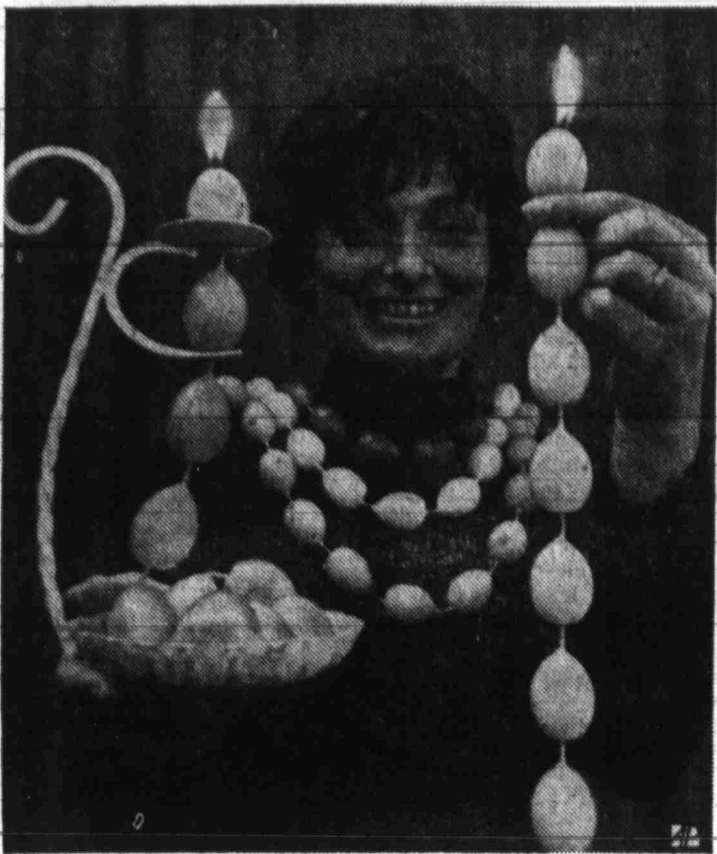

Il Tempo also quoted Polish sources in Rome as saying the Vatican and Poland were about to open diplomatic relations.

Federico Alessandrini, Vatican press spokesman, would comment only: "I have nothing on that."

Boll Weevils On The March

WASHINGTON (AP) — A springtime survey of cotton areas shows that boll weevils may be on the march more vigorously this year, says the Agriculture Department.

Checks of field areas showed that boll weevil numbers "are considerably higher" in Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and all but one area surveyed in North Carolina, the department said.

In northeastern Louisiana, for example, the average weevil count this spring was 4,087 per acre, compared with 1,044 a year ago.

The count in Central Texas was 2,030 per acre, compared with 250 in the spring last year. Tennessee surveys showed 747 per acre, compared with 605 in 1970.

Survival through the winter of boll weevils in North Carolina and South Carolina ranged up to 2,500 per acre in the coastal plain, compared with 188 last year. A reduction was reported for northcentral North Carolina.

GRIPPING VICTORY — Ariene Stens, 18, of Woodlyne, N.J., swaps hugs with first runner-up Kathy Morris, 18, of Forest, Miss., as she was crowned by 1970 Junior Miss Karen Stenwall at Mobile, Ala., Wednesday night. With the 1971 America's Junior Miss title, Miss Stens won a $10,000 scholarship.

Some Of Chicago Seven May Be In For More Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is calling a grand jury investigation that may put at least two of the Chicago Seven defendants back on the block for conspiracy charges stemming from antiwar demonstrations in the capital.

Three of the seven who were tried and acquitted on conspiracy charges that grew out of violence at the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago have been arrested.

They include Rennie C. Davis, 30, chief organizer of this week's demonstrations, and John R. Froines, 32, with whom the government says Davis conspired to injure the rights of citizens and to keep federal workers off their jobs by disrupting traffic.

In New York, FBI agents arrested Yippie leader Abbie Hoffman late Wednesday on charges of interstate travel to incite a riot and of assaulting an officer in connection with Monday's unsuccessful attempts to block traffic here.

Although the charges do not include conspiracy, an FBI affidavit accompanying the complaint cited an April 29 speech at Oklahoma University in which Hoffman allegedly said "we're stopping the government unless they want to stop the war."

Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst confirmed Wednesday the Justice Department will seek a grand jury indictment of Davis and Froines on the conspiracy charges.

In felony charges, the government must seek an indictment unless the potential defendant waives his right to a grand jury proceeding.

"Ha," scoffed Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell's No. 2 man. "They aren't going to waive anything. They can litigate the grand jury for five years. That's what we call due process."

In addition to asking the grand jury to act on the charges against Davis and Froines, the government probably will seek indictments against other defendants, Justice sources said.

Davis' reaction to his arrest was one of the puzzlement and irony.

"Me and 50,000 others," he said of the alleged conspiracy. When told his alleged co-conspirator was Froines, Davis gave a wry smile and said: "I can't believe we're going to be on trial together again."

The antiwar activist asserted that he was arrested in the thick of Mayday demonstrations Monday because "the Nixon administration clings to the misconception that you can stop a people's movement by removing its leaders."

Davis and Froines, who were arrested at Tuesday's rally by the Justice Department, are both out on bond, Davis at $25,000 and Froines at $10,000.

Under federal law, a conspiracy need not be secret to be illegal. In fact, an alleged conspirator need not even know the persons he is accused of conspiring with. All that the law

Party Is Slated For Willie Mays

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Howard Mays Jr., whose 633 home runs are second only to Babe Ruth in all baseball history, is 40 today, and that's reason for a party.

The National League schedule gave the San Francisco Giants today off to get ready for tonight's celebration in the penant-bedecked grand ballroom of the plush Fairmont Hotel on Nob Hill.

Mays, nursing a sore right shoulder, has been resting since Sunday's game, but is due to return to the playing field here Friday night against Atlanta.
