

SEARCH FOR WAY TO MEET SMITH'S OBJECTIONS TO TAX BILL

Texas Solons Start Out On 'Mission Impossible'

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislative leaders searched today for a way to meet Gov. Preston Smith's objections to the $903.8 million tax bill to finance state spending the next two years. Smith served notice Tuesday he would veto the bill unless it is chopped down to suit his taste. House Speaker Gus Mutscher said he stayed up past midnight conferring separately with the governor at the executive mansion and with Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

last thing to do would be to attempt to recall the bill," Mutscher said. "The next worst thing would be to experience a veto." Many legislators predicted Smith's dramatic, unexpected move would cause a special session. On April 29 he said he would sign any bill approved by both the House and Senate. Others saw the move as a chance to revive a corporation income tax, which supposedly died during Senate debate.

CRYSTAL CLEAR "I find the suggestion of a $900 million tax bill absolutely intolerable," Smith told a news conference, just minutes after he broke the news to Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher. "I cannot in good conscience sign this bill or permit it to become law especially at a time when we are experiencing relatively high unemployment and ever-increasing costs of living and taxation under the Constitution the bill may remain on my desk for 10 days. This will enable the legislature to reconsider its action, reduce the size of this bill to realistic proportions. Such action will prevent a special session. So that my position be absolutely clear, I must respectfully say that unless the legislature does reduce the size of this tax bill, I must veto it.

GAS BITE "In addition to my recommendations, H.B. No. 730 would impose additional taxes as follows: 1. Increase the franchise tax from $3.25 to $4.50 per $1,000 of capital and debt (an increase of nearly 40 per cent). Texas is one of only two states that tax debt as well as capital. 2. Increase the cigarette tax from 15 1/2 cents to 18 1/2 cents per pack (the highest rate in the nation). 3. Increase the motor fuel tax from 5 cents to 7 cents per gallon (a 40 per cent increase), and 4. Increase the barrel tax on beer from $4.30 to $6.00. "I object to the drastic increase in the franchise tax. It is excessive and should be reduced. I further object to the increase in the cigarette tax. I recommended an increase in the cigarette tax to the last legislature in 1969 and an increase was adopted. A further increase to 18 1/2 cents per pack would be the highest rate in the nation. "But the most repulsive feature, for every Texan, of H.B. No. 730 is the increase in the gasoline tax. In today's economy, gasoline is a necessity. The price of fuel for automobiles and trucks is a major item in every person's living and working expenses. Most Texans cannot make a living without the use of gasoline powered vehicles. Taxes on gasoline are almost as burdensome on the average Texas as would be taxes on food and drugs. By raising the motor fuel tax from 5 cents to 7 cents per gallon, this bill will saddle our taxpayers with an additional $287 million in taxes. Of this amount, 215 million will be earmarked for highway purposes. Such a drastic increase should be initiated by the highway department after careful factfinding and analysis. "If the legislature finds it is absolutely necessary to spend general revenue funds in excess of my recommendations, then those additional funds should come from an increase in (state college) tuition."

BAWLING TIME
Fire Destroys 'Cowtown' Landmark

FORT WORTH (AP) — A fire destroyed today one of the historic old buildings which helped give Fort Worth the name of "Cowtown." Cattle in pens 100 yards away bawled lustily, adding to the noise and confusion. A massive traffic jam of spectators occurred. It was the remnant of an Armour Packing Co. building built in 1902 and abandoned in 1966 because it was too archaic to be modernized. Firemen predicted the blaze might continue all day, fed by grease impregnating the wood, heavy wood beams, insulating cork and large quantities of wood which formed meat lockers. The fire broke out about 11 p.m. Tuesday and appeared to have burned itself out by 1 a.m. today.

TOASTING HER MARINER — Lone yachtsman Sir Francis Chichester, 69, is toasted by his wife who was in the reception committee at Plymouth, England, where he landed Tuesday night after a five-month solo voyage in his ketch, Gipsy Moth V. His trip included an unsuccessful bid to sail 4,000 miles in 20 days across the South Atlantic. He covered the course in just under 22 1/2 days.

Cloud Seeding Help Promised

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith said today that "the federal government has finally promised to assist us in a program of weather modification" in South Texas. Smith said he received notification from the director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, Gen. George Lincoln, that the President has asked the secretary of defense to provide available assistance in response to your request. Smith originally asked the President and Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird for help about three weeks ago. He renewed his request Monday. Operational details of the cloud seeding project over several South Texas counties will be coordinated with the U.S. Department of Defense, the Bureau of Reclamation of the Interior Department and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. "This first concrete step makes us more hopeful that the President may finally realize the tragic extent of our drought disaster in Texas," Smith said. "As I am sure the President is aware, the U.S. Department of Agriculture declared Monday that half of Texas' normal annual wheat crop has already been lost to the drought. And agricultural production income losses would amount to more than half a billion dollars, even if the drought were ended now. The drought stricken areas of Texas deserve presidential designations as disaster areas and they desperately need the full drought aid which a presidential declaration would permit."

Postal Pink Slips Disclosed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new structure for the U.S. Postal Service, including replacement of the existing 15 postal regions with five, and some cutback of personnel, was announced today by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount. How many management employees will be affected by the reorganization is "impossible to tell" at this point, a spokesman said. He said nonmanagement postal employees would not be affected. There are about 750,000 postal employees. The spokesman acknowledged that the Postal Service is working with the U.S. Civil Service Commission to establish retirement incentives for long-time management employees. The reorganization plan creates three operating staffs within the postal service and rearranges the lines of authority between postal headquarters and the local post offices. The new organization results from legislation passed last year. The legislation established the postal service as an independent agency of the executive branch with authority to establish its own costs and revenues. The spokesman said that what employment cutbacks occur will be in the staffs of the existing 15 regional headquarters and in the national postal headquarters here. He said numbers could not be determined until regional postmasters general are appointed by Blount, either later this month or in June.

County Employees Seek Union Representation

Union representatives presented to the county commissioners this morning a petition from the employees in the road and bridge department seeking recognition of their organization through the union and the right of the union to represent the men in grievance matters. The International Union of Operating Engineers, local 826 of the AFL-CIO has been designated to represent the road employees. Recognition of the union as representative of the road employees is being withheld until Monday at 10 a.m. in order to allow all of the commissioners to be present. Commissioners Jack Buchanan and Bill Bennett were unable to attend this morning's emergency session. Representatives of the union, Kenneth Howell, business manager, and C. E. Gressett, international representative, met with the employees Tuesday night. Thirty of the 40 employees in the department gave the union signed authorization to represent them. The two men met with the commissioners today. In the request for recognition, the union is asking that all employees with the exception of Hollis Randell, road and bridge administrator, be represented by the union. Commissioners asked that foremen and possibly assistant foremen also be excluded from union representation. "The only thing we have to go on is the employees' request for representation," said Howell. "They recognize that Randell is the department head and should be excluded. All the rest want representation." Judge A. G. Mitchell told Howell that he should discuss the exclusion of foremen with the employees prior to Monday's meeting. The National Labor Relations Act does exclude supervisory personnel from membership in industrial situations, but the act does not apply to governmental employees, according to D. A. Brazel, present at this morning's meeting. In their petition for recognition as a union, the road employees waived the right to strike. According to Howell, it is illegal for public employees to strike, and the union would serve only to give the men an effective means of airing grievances. Howell added that the men would be represented by himself and Gressett as a grievance board, and possibly selected members of the union. The commissioners would occupy the seats of "management" in a grievance situation, said Howell.

School Tax Rate Stays The Same

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District voted Tuesday night to keep the 1971-72 tax rate the same as 1970-71, $1.70 per $100 valuation. Trustees also voted to maintain the teacher increment pay of $650 per year. This amount is in addition to the salary paid under the minimum foundation program and serves as an incentive to bring or keep teachers in the district's employ. According to Supt. S. M. Anderson, who spoke to the board on behalf of the increment, the local figure does not begin to compete with the increments paid teachers in Midland, Odessa and other West Texas school districts. He said that Midland had just raised the teacher increment to $1,400 in addition to the salary. Clovis Hale, athletic director, received tentative acceptance of his proposed $89,862.06 budget for 1971-72. This figure is $8,058.06 higher than the 1970-71 budget of $81,804. Trustees authorized Hale to spend up to $10,000 for equipment that he would need to begin the athletic season before the final budget is approved. Hale told the board that the increase in expense was due to the higher cost of travel for all the athletic teams in the district, cheerleaders and pep squads. Needed equipment also added to the cost, according to Hale.

Minimum Pay Hike Blasted By Nixonites

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson proposed today a one-year delay in raising the minimum wage to $2.00 in order to ease inflationary pressure and the risk of higher unemployment. Presenting the administration's long-delayed response to proposals in Congress for an increase in the current $1.60 minimum wage, Hodgson told a House labor subcommittee too rapid a step-up could have serious effects on both employment and inflation. A bill now before the subcommittee would raise the minimum to $1.80 next January and to $2.00 on January 1, 1973. Hodgson endorsed the increase to $1.80, but said the jump to $2.00 should be delayed until Jan. 1, 1974. In his testimony, Hodgson said the basic difference in the two programs is that the minimum wage covers all workers while the welfare reform plan deals only with families. "Quite simply, we believe this is too large an increase, over that period," he said in prepared testimony. "We propose instead that the second step of the increase be delayed one year to 1974. A 25 per cent increase seems too substantial a cost increase to impose in a 12-month period without having serious effects upon both employment and inflation." Hodgson also: —Opposed the Democratic proposal to extend minimum wage coverage to state and local employees, saying it would "impinge unduly upon the federal system of our nation." —Recommended a cut-rate wage floor of $1.60 an hour for students under 20 and anyone under 18, to promote youthful employment. VIRGIN ISLANDS —Asked moderated minimum-wage increases for farm workers and employees in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. He said increasing the overall hourly wage floor to $2 in 1973 would have a bad effect on inflation and unemployment. "In order to ameliorate the effects of this wage increase, many employers affected could well adopt ways of producing their product or service that would reduce the number of persons employed," he said. "Some small businesses might give up altogether. Others might be deterred from starting up." CITES JOBLESS "One major concern here is that increasing the minimum wage too rapidly will in turn prompt increases in wages of those already earning above $2—a large majority of all wage-earners. Price increases following from this shift in the wage structure would erode the real value of the higher minimum thus frustrating our efforts to help the low wage earners."

Asks Mitchell To Probe Slayings Of Two Blacks

AUSTIN (AP) — One of Texas' three Negro legislators called on U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell Tuesday to investigate the slayings of two blacks in Shiner, Saturday night by highway patrolmen. "Unfortunately, I have to represent all the black people in the state," Rep. Curtis Graves of Houston told newsmen as he distributed copies of letters he was sending Mitchell and President Nixon. Later, Graves amended his statement to include Rep. Zan Holmes of Dallas and Sen. Barbara Jordan of Houston, the other Negro lawmakers, as representatives of his people. Hazle Mathis, 43, of San Antonio, and his nephew, Van Lee Mathis Jr., 6, of Shiner, were slain after the boy's father allegedly fired on the patrolmen. The father, Van Lee Mathis Sr., 38, was critically wounded.

Moving To Head Off Whack Of U.S. Troops In Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon administration supporters have moved quickly to head off Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's bid to force a 50-per-cent reduction in U.S. troop strength in Europe. Within hours after the Montana senator introduced his proposal Tuesday as an amendment to draft-extension legislation, two Republicans offered substitutes and a third said approval of Mansfield's rider would prompt President Nixon to veto the bill. There was no indication when a vote might come on the Mansfield amendment, expected to prolong what already looks like a marathon debate. Critics of the Vietnam war plan to offer the McGovern-Hatfield amendment to cut off funds for U.S. troops in Indochina after Dec. 31. "MUSCLEBOUND" Mansfield said the 300,000-man U.S. force in Europe is "inflated and musclebound" and said his measure to bar funds for more than 150,000 U.S. troops after Dec. 31 "will result in a leaner, more mobile and more efficient combat force." The amendment was countered promptly by a substitute offered by Sen. Charles Mc Mathias Jr., R-Md., endorsing President Nixon's declared intention "to maintain the necessary level of United States Armed forces in Europe." Shortly afterwards, Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., calling Mansfield's amendment "unduly restrictive," suggested language placing Congress on record favoring a U.S. troop reduction but leaving implementation up to the President. Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, said of the Mansfield measure: "If this passed and became a law, I think the President would have to veto it." Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee and manager of the draft bill, called Mansfield's proposal "a meat-ax method" that would cause serious harm to U.S. allies in Europe. Stennis said U.S. troops, such as the 7th Fleet in the Mediterranean, are the most stabilizing influence in Europe and the Middle East, adding that "an abrupt withdrawal of half these troops... will be a very dangerous thing to do." MOVED BACK Introduction of the Mansfield amendment and the two substitutes pushed into the background the first major amendment to the two-year draft extension voted last month by the House and approved by the Armed Services Committee. At Mansfield's request, Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., withdrew temporarily his amendment to limit draft extension to one year. The vote on it is expected to be quite close, and both sides are said to want extra time to do some head-counting.

Further Study Approved For Government Council

A suggestion that local governmental agencies meet in a joint session with representatives from the governor's office to discuss the Council of Government proposal in the Permian Basin was approved by the city commission in regular session Tuesday evening.

No formal action was taken on the resolution before the commission which would signify the city's intent concerning its part in the newly formed Permian Basin Planning Council.

"I oppose our city entering the council mainly due to a lack of favorable information that would warrant the city taking part," said Jack Watkins, commissioner.

Austin representative be called to a joint meeting here to further explain the proposed council.

No date was set by the commission as to the time the local agencies would meet with the representative.

The commission, in other business, approved the appointment of A. D. Meador as city fire chief at the same salary that former chief, H. V. Crocker, was making.

3-2 VOTE

The appointment was approved on a split vote of three to two, with commissioners Acri and Watkins not voting. The two were of the opinion that the new chief should be required to serve his probationary period of six months, which is a city policy, before drawing the higher salary.

As fire marshal Meador was making $8,688 per year as compared to the $11,448 he will now be making as chief.

Meador has been with the city for 38 years and we usually hire and pay a man for the experience he has concerning the job he will be taking," said Larry Crow, city manager. Crocker was with the city for 41 years.

Also it was pointed out by Crow that as it stands now there will be no appointment of a fire marshal.

COSDEN CLUB

Tom Eastland, Chamber of Commerce manager, brought a progress report on the Cosden Country Club. He explained that the convention facilities committee in charge of studying uses for the club was not satisfied with the consultant report that had been made on the club.

"The committee has been authorized to negotiate a payment to the consultant and the rest of the money will be used to finance a project to gain a wide spectrum of community opinion as to the uses of the club,"

Eastland said.

In other business the commission:

BUILDING TRANSFER

—Gave authorization to the mayor to sign an agreement with the West Side Center concerning Webb AFB buildings that are available for utilization. The center will get the Flight Surgeon's building when the new base hospital is opened.

—Took no action on the traffic commission recommendations due to no action by the commission being required.

—Heard a complaint from Mrs. Floyd Mays and Dr. Keith Thompson as to the dangers of children under age driving motorcycles in Highland South and other areas in the city.

—Approved a certificate of occupancy for the authorization to sell beer and wine for on premises consumption at the Roadrunner Club, Box 804A, IS 20 West, being requested by Janice Sursky.

LEGALITY

As in the last regular session, Eddie Acri, commissioner, asked about the legality of the city entering the planning council before the county commits itself. "I checked with the attorney general's office and found that we can enter without the county as an associate member and will be recognized for some purposes, but not all," said Herb Prouty, city attorney.

"We are a part of the last region to form a planning council and we have already found out from people in Austin that if we do not enter, our city will be by-passed on many projects, grants, and benefits that we would otherwise get if the city were part of the council," Mayor Arnold Marshall pointed out.

BENEFITS

"We have received many benefits and grants from our participation in the regional law enforcement council. I do not think our alignment with some of the other counties in the region is the best, however, the department has received many grants to update our systems and work," said Jay Banks, police chief.

The police department entered the Permian Basin law enforcement planning council approximately two years ago in lieu of there not being a regional council formed at the time.

"I have heard a lot of good things about the council but I would like to have more information concerning it," said Frog Koger, commissioner. The city attorney explained a representative from Austin would be available to explain the COG.

NO DATE SET

The mayor pointed out that he approved the council due to the past three to four years of study and meetings held on its formation, but that it may be a good idea to request that the

City Commission Tables Sewage Rate Increase

An ordinance to raise sewer rates in the city was tabled by the city commission in the Tuesday night regular session held in city hall.

"The consensus of the commission, as I see it, is to wait until the city audit and financial picture are clear before making an increase in sewer rates to offset possible costs," said Wade Choate, mayor pro tem.

The sewer rate increase was discussed in special meetings of the commission last week in which a new water rate increase was approved, however, no action was taken toward a new sewer rate and the proposal is deferred to the regular session.

NO REASON

"I don't see any reason to pass a new sewer ordinance raising rates due to adequate revenues the city will be getting with the new water rate. We need to wait, then examine the financial situation of the city after the audit is complete before making any more increases," said Jack Watkins, commissioner.

Watkins explained that according to his calculations the city would be receiving approximately $150,000 in revenue from the new water rate as compared to the $69,000 that had been projected in earlier estimates.

"Our present sewer rate is not meeting rising costs in the sewer department operations and certainly will not meet the projected costs a few years from now," said Larry Crow, city manager, in answer to a question from Arnold Marshall, mayor.

HIGH COSTS

"The present sewer rates are nine years old and costs are higher now than what they were nine years ago. We have no other choice but to raise the rates," said Frog Koger, commissioner.

Many problems are involved in the adjustment of water and sewer rates, and one in particular was discussed in the regular session, that of added difficulties to the city secretary in getting the new bills computed.

"The water increase alone will hamper the progress we have made toward getting the general ledger up to date on the computer. It will now take approximately 45 days to get the general ledger back to the point we now have it due to the increased labor and work with the new rates," said Charles Smith, city secretary.

EXTRA HELP

"If you need the extra help to bail out the programming department, with the addition of the new rates, in an effort to get the system back in balance and get the show on the road, I think it would be money well spent to hire the extra help," said Watkins. Commissioners agreed with Watkins but no formal action was taken.

Appointments were made by the commission to two boards. Jimmy Taylor and John Taylor were appointed for two-year terms on the Colorado River Municipal Water District board of directors. John Taylor will be serving a second term on the board.

Sidney Clark was appointed to fill the vacancy on the city planning and zoning board replacing John Gary who is not eligible to serve in the position since he is not a city resident.

The commission as a result of Gary not being a resident, passed a resolution, not on the agenda, that all future city board members will be required to live within the corporate city limits.

OK ORDINANCES

Four ordinances were read by the commission. An ordinance to allow bow fishing in Moss Creek Lake was approved on an emergency reading.

An ordinance for a change in zoning from "LC" Light Commercial, to "HC" Heavy Commercial, on lots 8, 9 and 10, Block 1, Wrights Airport Addition, being requested by First Federal Savings and Loan was approved on first reading.

An ordinance concerning a zone change requested by Clyde Carroll from "SF-2" Single Family Dwelling, to "SF-3" Single Family Dwelling with specific use permit, for the purpose of issuing a certificate of occupancy in the Earle Addition was approved on second reading.

Also an ordinance regulating and establishing speed zones on U.S. 87 from the north city limits south through town to Hearns street was passed on third and final reading.

Vouchers paid by the city through May 11 were approved by the commission.

Children Will Continue Riding Buses To Del Rio

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP)—The 900 military children of Laughlin Air Force Base will continue riding buses to the Del Rio District schools instead of getting their education in the San Felipe District, where most of them reside.

Two weeks ago a military examiner, Frank W. Renter II, charged at a Defense Department hearing that the system perpetuates segregation.

But officials of both school districts have agreed to make no change until the Defense Department does something about it.

The San Felipe schools are 90 per cent Mexican-American. Officials claim they simply do not have enough accommodation for the children from Laughlin. The Del Rio District receives about $300,000 annually in federal funds for taking in the children from the base.

Renter's recommendation was that the districts consolidate and end the busing by Sept. 1.

CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES—III

Ethics, Pay Increase Issues

Editor's Note: Legislative ethics became an issue after federal officials alleged a "stock scandal" involving Texas leaders. This, the last in a series on the May 12 constitutional amendments, reviews the pay and ethics proposal.

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans would like to feel confident their lawmakers can resist temptation and act only in the public interest.

But this year's so-called "stock scandal" raised doubts among many.

Some commentators have said for years the voters are asking for corrupt legislators when they pay them what amounts to a virtual poverty wage of $400 a month—before taxes.

Others have urged a watchdog agency to keep lawmakers on the straight and narrow.

Texas voters decide next Tuesday on a constitutional amendment designed to give legislators both a pay raise and a set of enforceable rules of conduct.

Rules For Reporters?

Proposition No. 1 would set up an 11-member commission to issue and enforce ethical rules for all state officials — and possibly even Capitol reporters.

The same commission also would consist of three appointees each of the state Supreme Court chief justice, presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals and the chairman of the Judicial Qualifications Commission. One senator and one representative elected by their colleagues also would serve.

Ethical rules issued by the commission would take effect automatically unless specifically rejected by the legislature.

The rules would cover not lawmakers, state officials and "all persons who shall use any privilege of the floor" in the House or Senate.

Since reporters in the Capitol have floor privileges, the rules presumably would govern their conduct.

Legislators and officials would have to file confidential financial statements for the commission to use only in searching out conflicts of interest or unethical conduct.

The commission would investigate alleged ethical violations and report to the "appropriate state agency, official, legislative body, grand jury or district attorney."

Quick Stock Profits

Pay raises recommended by the commission would take effect only if both Houses of the legislature approved them, with each member's vote a matter of official record.

Ethics suddenly became a prime issue when the Federal Securities and Exchange Commission alleged in January that rich financiers smoothed the way for a banking bill with quick stock profits for top state leaders.

Battle lines formed in recent weeks, with sharp divisions between "pros" and "cons."

Dr. Abner McCall, president of Baylor University at Waco, heads a new statewide committee supporting the amendment. On the committee are people such as Dr. Jimmy Allen, president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas; former Sen. Ralph Yarborough; Callan Graham, director of the Texas Catholic Conference; and heart surgeon Dr. Michael DeBakey.

Pay Raise Gimmick

"It is essential that an ethics commission be established," McCall said, "so that Texans can enlarge their confidence in their lawmakers."

Republicans generally have opposed the amendment, which GOP Rep. Maurice Angly of Austin called,

"Nothing more than a sham . . . It is a gimmick to obtain a pay raise."

"This legislature, by its actions, has earned a vote of no-confidence," declared Mrs. Nancy Palm of Houston, Harris County TOP chairman.

Out strongly for the amendment were the Texas Public Employees Association and the Texas State Teachers Association, groups which have fared well with the legislature.

"The members of the legislature are now engaged in almost a full time job fulfilling the commitments of their elected office. We feel it is time they received adequate compensation," said teachers' President Jerome Chapman.

Little Fame, Big Abuse

"For a little fame, lots of hard work, frequent abuse, infrequent appreciation and $4,800 a year — would you leave home and come to Austin temporarily?" asked teachers' association Director L. P. Sturgeon recently.

The state AFL-CIO executive board called the measure "a weak, milquetoast approach to legislative ethics" and asserted that "Under the cloud of suspicion that already hangs over this session of the legislature, any attempt to 'put something over' on the public is unthinkable."

Since 1960, voters have turned down three proposals to raise legislative pay.

Gov. Preston Smith told the lawmakers in 1969 that doing something about the public's "conflict of interest" suspicions might be what it takes to get their pay raised. Now the two — ethics plus pay — are joined in one package.

Most legislators fervently hope the combination clicks.

MK&O To Serve Abilene Area

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — MK&O Lines is purchasing the Oklahoma Transportation Co. and Mid-Continent Coaches from Greyhound Lines and has the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, company officials announced Tuesday.

Purchase price was $4,050,000 cash "and other considerations." Completion of the purchase will create the country's biggest independently owned bus system.

MK&O, in accord with the agreement, will give up its intercity route from Tulsa to St. Louis, and the route will continue to be served by Greyhound and Continental Trailways.

Completion of the acquisition will create a system with routes from Ft. Smith, Ark., and Dodge City, Kan., south through Oklahoma City to Childress, Vernon, Wichita Falls and Abilene, Tex.

Smith Says Baum Severing Ties With Banking Board

AUSTIN (AP) — For awhile, it appeared that Dr. Elmer Baum was the man who wouldn't quit.

But Gov. Preston Smith, his close friend, asked him to, and he said he assumed Baum would cut any connection with the State Banking Board.

Baum, pressured to quit the board after his name was mentioned in connection with a federal stock fraud suit, resigned May 5 after serving without Senate approval since September, 1969.

It was learned Tuesday, however, that Baum intended to make the board meetings until the governor named someone to succeed him.

But Smith talked to him and said "I assume he will not go to the meeting" today.

SWAN SONG

Numerous banking applications are pending which Baum heard during his time on the board, and State Banking Commissioner Robert Stewart said Baum's absence could force the board to recall the delegations to make another presentation for a new member.

Stewart also said the board had had an informal agreement for years not to act on applications, or even schedule hearings, unless all three members could be there.

"On the other hand," Stewart said, "I can understand why some would be reluctant for Baum to take part in decisions which are his swan song."

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin advised the governor's office that Baum could continue working on the board despite his resignation until the governor had named a replacement.

BARNES UPSET

But Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes was visibly upset when he heard Baum was considering staying on the board temporarily. There had been numerous reports that Baum might not be able to get the two-thirds majority needed for the full Senate for confirmation.

He had not been confirmed because the legislature had not met since he took the job.

Since that time Baum and Smith have acknowledged they made a quick profit of $125,000 off National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock. National Bankers Life and Sharps town State Bank at Houston were named in a lawsuit filed by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

Guild Members View Problems Of Women In Cuba

Miss Twila Lomax led the program, "Cuba — A Study in the Reality of Risk," for the Wesleyan Service Guild, First United Methodist Church, Monday.

The program, designed to make the members become more aware of conditions existing among women in Cuba, was held in conjunction with the international theme, "The Americas, How Many Worlds?" A skit illustrated the tensions which women in Cuba face today and how faith has sustained them.

Assisting with the skit were Miss Roberta Gay, Mrs. Floyd Martin and Mrs. Lina Flewelen. Mrs. C. I. Rowe led prayer.

It was announced that the Ceta Canyon Weekend will be held July 24-25, to be followed by a Christian-Missions school in Abilene the following week.

New officers for the guild are Mrs. B. M. Keese, president; Mrs. Cass Hill, vice president; Miss Edith Gay, recording and corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. E. Moren, finance chairman; and Mrs. H. C. Ernsting, coordinator.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. R. Yates.

'NO SMOKING' RULE AT HIGH SCHOOL IS CHANGED

Student Council Recommends Areas, Rules

Smoking will be allowed in designated places in the high school, trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District decided Tuesday night.

The board in a five-to-one vote, with Delnor Poss voting no, decided to allow the administration to designate the place and time of smoking. The board also recommended that a proposal presented by the student council be used, but left the decision up to the administration.

"We feel this is the most significant problem in our high school," said Scott McLaughlin, student council representative. "The present rules are not enforced and cannot be enforced. We would like to offer some practical suggestions."

"WE NEED IT"
"We have talked to students, teachers, administrators and ministers and we think we need a smoking area," said Bobby Carllie, student council representative.

The proposal by the student council would set up smoking areas in the walkway to the athletic gym, in two rest rooms and in the patio. The rules proposed by the students are: Smoking will be permitted only in designated areas with violations subject to disciplinary action; smokers will be expected to keep the smoking areas as clean as possible, putting trash and cigarette butts in the proper receptacles; smoking will be permitted during lunch, the designated time between classes, and before and after school; and abuse or violation of these rules will result in the suspension of the individuals involved and/or revocation of the smoking privileges.

TOUGH RULES

"We do catch some smokers," said John Smith, high school principal, "but it is hard. If we are to be effective we will have to have tougher rules."

John Talmadge and Harold Bentley, both assistant principals at the high school, agreed that a smoking area was necessary.

The administration plans to allow smoking areas at the high school by the end of the week, if possible. "We have to set up containers and decide on areas," said Bentley. "We expect to have areas relatively close to those recommended by the student council, but not the same."

UPHOLDS ACTION

The board voted to uphold the administration's decision questioned by The Kimble, who said his son, Conell, a sixth grader at Park Hill, had been mistreated by one of the teachers.

The occasion arose out of some minor misconduct in the school cafeteria. In disciplining the boy, "the teacher kicked him three times," said Kimble. Kimble took the matter up with the principal and the school superintendent and was not satisfied with their decisions that no unwarranted action had been taken.

Kimble had asked that the teacher be suspended. Trustees said they had not heard any evidence to support the charge that the teacher had treated the child maliciously.

In other action the board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Mary Reames, Washington Elementary, because of her husband's transfer.

ELECT DELEGATE

The board elected Jerry Jenkins as delegate and Ralph McLaughlin as alternate to the Texas Association of School Boards. The annual convention will be held in San Antonio Sept. 25-27.

The adult education basic vocational program was amended to incorporate use of additional funds made available by the state for three short-term vocational programs that are part of the evening adult education program.

The funds are all from the state and no local funds were called for. The request was approved by the board. The courses involved are a service station mechanic course, a quantity cooking and food serving course and a file clerk course.

RE-ALLOCATION

The board approved the re-allocation of some excess travel funds in the vocational laundry program to buy two pieces of equipment, an iron and ironing board and a darning machine. The board also allocated $34 of local funds to meet the difference between the redirected funds and the cost of the two items.

A request from Joe Pickle, chairman of the Citywide Summer Recreation Program, to furnish $400 and the use of the gym facility at Runnels for a

Ling Unloads LTV Stock

DALLAS (AP) — James J. Ling said he sold 432,000 shares of his Ling-Temco-Vought Inc. stock Tuesday to meet the Justice Department's order that he sever all connections with the firm he built and formerly headed.

The sale was made through his wholly-owned subsidiary, Omega-Alpha Corp., but the purchaser's name and the price paid were not disclosed.

A few days ago the Justice Department said Ling must end relations with LTV if he buys the Okonite Co., which is one of the conglomerate's subsidiaries. The government ordered LTV to divest itself of some of its properties and LTV decided to sell Okonite and Braniff International, the Dallas-based airline.

Ling wants to buy Okonite through his newly organized Omega-Alpha company.

summer basketball program was approved.

The board stipulated that the person to instruct and supervise the program be one of the school system coaches. More than 170 persons participated in the program last summer.

PLAY AREA

A proposal by the College Heights P.T.A. to blacktop a play area and a service road to the cafeteria and to enlarge the teachers' parking area was approved.

The proposal includes a 60 x 114 foot blacktop play area east of the school, a black-topped drive and turning area to the back of the cafeteria and an enlargement of the teachers' parking area to the north of the present area.

The P.T.A. will pay half of the $2,491.05 cost. The play area will cost $1,520, the drive will cost $821.05 and the parking addition will cost $150, for additional fence. The parking area will not be paved.

ZONE CHANGE

The board voted to allow the school superintendent to handle any request by the new mobile home manufacturer relating to zoning changes. A letter is expected requesting the board to waive the requirement of 10-day notice to the property owners in the area of the proposed plant for the zoning change from the present zoning. It is now zoned for agriculture. The only landowners affected are the school district, the city and the owner of the property sold to the plant.

Anderson reported that the Permian Basin School Board

Association will meet Monday in Odessa and suggested trustees attend.

GRADUATION

He also pointed out that the school term will end Friday, May 28. The last day of school attendance is May 27. Baccalaureate services are scheduled for May 23 at 7:30 p.m. The graduation exercises are May 27 at 7:30 p.m.

Delnor Poss and Ralph McLaughlin will hand out the diplomas at the graduation ceremonies.

The seniors, said Anderson, want to eliminate the recessional part of the ceremony. No action was taken or considered on that item.

The board decided to not meet before the regular meet-

Smoke Bombs Counts Filed

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas police charged three pupils of W. T. White High School Tuesday with possessing smoke bombs they wanted to use in connection with an antiwar protest coinciding with the May Day action in Washington.

The three—Timothy M. McNulty, 17; Robert K. Lindley, 18; and David W. Carlisle, 18—were released on $2,500 bond each.

Police said the trio was arrested after smoke bombs were found in a rest room at the school May 5.

They said that Lindley told them the smoke bombs were made by an 18-year-old living in the suburb of Farmer's Branch and were to be used as a protest.

The alleged bombmaker had not been arrested.

Cut Up Garbage Plan Bit Costly

HOUSTON (AP) — City councilmen, after a long struggle to find a place to dump garbage, received a plan from their consultants Tuesday.

It calls for spending $400,000 to set up many small incinerators throughout the city, plus $400,000 more for shredders to cut up the garbage and make the refuse easier to burn.

One such incinerator, designed and built by Houston Natural Gas, currently is being used by the city on an experimental basis.

Opening lead: King of ♠ East's enterprise in today's hand uncovered a sound slam contract that was based on an excellent distributional fit. To he was deprived of the pleasure of playing the hand by a pair of sacrifice-minded opponents, he still wound up with a substantial profit on the deal.

East opened the bidding with one spade and South overcalled with two hearts. West had something in reserve for his free raise to two spades, however with only nine high card points, he was reluctant to take more drastic action like making two forward going bids.

When North raised his partner's hearts, East's hand took on added lustre. West's support of the spades assured game, but if his side values were located in clubs, then a slam was in the offing. East now made the key call of the auction—four clubs. He had no intention of playing a club contract—however, if West reacted enthusiastically to this call, East intended to bid a slam in spades.

South persisted to four hearts and, now, West took this opportunity to show his excellent club support. The five club call by partner was just what East was waiting to hear and he proceeded to six spades without further ado.

Since there was no apparent defense against the opponent's slam, North chose to sacrifice at seven hearts, feeling that a somewhat smaller loss would be incurred at that contract. East doubled seven hearts. West opened the king of clubs which was overtaken with the ace by East, for it was his desire to obtain a diamond ruff. He cashed the ace of that suit and then shifted back to a small club. West was in with the queen and returned a diamond which East trumped for the fourth and final defensive trick and a 700 point profit on the deal.

A Handy Laboratory

The Penn-Central Railroad episode is a classic case of how to make a sow's ear out of a silk purse.

Merger of major lines into Penn-Central was approved on the specific condition that facilities be upgraded to make the new line more profitable. Management quickly did otherwise and the company is bankrupt. The line is being operated under supervision of a federal court. Dist. Judge John P. Fullam is in charge of reorganizing the line to rehabilitate it or otherwise dispose of it.

Penn-Central's ills include:
—Inflexible rules that preclude competitive rate structures.

—Lack of authority to alter service over some 7,000 miles of lines that are losing money.

—Lack of authority to revise work rules to eliminate useless workers.

Judge Fullam put it clearly and bluntly in a recent statement. He said employees should be paid well for the work they do but if the railroad can't pay them (with earnings) "then there is no use saying the railroad can be made viable."

He also said, "it is equally true and extremely important in this situation... that the railroad obviously cannot pay employees for work that they don't do... This business of people earning three or four days' pay or having to be paid three or four days' pay for less than a day of work is a concept that is going to have to be changed radically."

He called "simply ludicrous" the work rules that require Penn-Central to keep "perhaps as many as 10,000 employees it doesn't need" and to replace them if they die or quit.

Thus, he told trustees he wouldn't approve loans to pay for raises under those conditions without an "immediate prospect" of profitable operations.

The rail and other enlightened unions can save jobs by recognizing reality. The Congress can save itself a gigantic problem by letting Penn-Central be the laboratory example of enterprise paying its way with needed services adequately delivered. The Interstate Commerce Commission can save railroads a lot of grief and financial trouble by letting them compete for business with rate-making flexibility that ought to be a part of the free economy anyway.

But the thought of the public being saddled with Penn-Central in the shape it's in, the make-work labor rules it has, the unproductive lines it operates is a nightmare.

Continuing Candor

Harry Truman's sense of values in his golden years remain as stable as he was when he was making big decisions as president of the United States.

He is reported to have told Congress last week he will not accept the Medal of Honor, saying it is a medal for combat service and he doesn't deserve it.

Apparently there was a move to recognize the former commander in chief in this way. To have accepted it would "dilute its true significance," as he said.

President Truman made a big niche in history and his stature is not dimmed by his record in retirement.

Feathery Friend

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

To say I could write a book about mockingbirds would be a gross exaggeration. To say I would like to be able to is more in line with the facts, for I am an ardent admirer and superficial admirer of this saucy bird.

THE MOCKINGBIRD abounds in these parts, thank heavens. In the early morning and evening—and indeed at times during the day, it is difficult to be out of earshot of these feathery friends. At dawn they take over and insist on the solo parts while the other birds carry the morning theme. In the evening, they often do not know when to shut up.

The mockingbird is a take-over creature. Let him move into a neighborhood, and he immediately asserts his right to be the foremost figure. He insists on the highest perch, whether it be the top of a tree, a power line or the crown of a telephone pole. Whether for better perspective or pure show to let everyone know who is in charge, he rockets skyward from his lofty perch and then flutters down again amidst a wild chatter.

SOME MIGHT rate him as being ill tempered, for the mockingbird doesn't take kindly to other birds interfering with his primacy. This has its good points, for predator birds get worked over when they wander into the mockingbird's territory. This lord and master seems to know no fear. He had just as soon attack a hawk as some lesser species, darting and pecking, whirring and rattling at his quarry.

HE HAS a mischievous nature, sometimes downright devilish. Not long ago a pair of cardinals settled down in our backyard near a bird bath and happily pecked and scratched at the lawn. Then came a pair of mockingbirds, who plopped down on the periphery of the area and started closing in. After applying the pincers a couple of times, they succeeded in driving the mama cardinal to higher safety. The proud cock, however, stood his ground, pecking away in haughty pride until the mockingbirds gradually closed in and got entirely too close for comfort. He made a pass in each direction, scattering his tormentors, only to have them resolutely close in again. Finally, the cardinal betook his red plumage aloft and left the field to the mockingbirds. Bored by the lack of contest, they soon took off.

WHEN THINGS get dull, they flit down for a pass at the dog, then flutter away just out of his reach. When we had an old gray cat, they worried him endlessly, zipping in from the rear to plant a peck and then zooming out of reach. The cat tried valiantly not to notice this affront to his dignity and casually strolled to a shrub or brush which would severely limit the bird's mobility. But the mockingbirds were too smart for that play.

The mockingbird is a stately bird, the gray tone accentuated by black and punctuated by tips and bands of white. As to birds, his build compares with the thoroughbred to horses.

Also, the mockingbird, as his name would indicate, is an incorrigible mimicker. He has his own repertoire, but if you whistle or keep sounding some other rough-hewn call, pretty soon he will pick it up. He cocks his head inquisitively time and again, finally returning the call much as if to say: "This is how it should be done."

Right Of Indemnity

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Freedom of speech and freedom of assembly are rights guaranteed by the Constitution, but so are the rights of private and public property. Officials of the federal and District of Columbia governments are estimating that recent demonstrations have cost the city of Washington at least $1.5 million and that a larger bill may be forthcoming at the end of the month.

BUT THE emphasis, thus far, has been on the right to march, the right to parade and the right to speak on any subjects that citizens may wish to present to their government. If, however, among the groups planning organized demonstrations are leaders who openly threaten beforehand to "shut down" or "close down" the government and who later incite groups either to attempt to block bridges or to crowd entrances to public offices, is this entitled to protection as "free assembly"? Is action of this kind which leads to damages to property immune from prosecution?

THE INTERIOR Department has had to spend $513,000 on salaries for extra park police, installation and maintenance of sanitary facilities, and the cleaning up of tons of litter as well as repair work in city parks. The cost of transporting 10,000 federal troops has not yet been estimated by the Pentagon. The District of Columbia government says one of its largest items of expense will be overtime pay for the city's 5,100 policemen. Many worked 14 to 16 hour shifts. About $75,000 was spent in connection with the court sessions last week when 10,800 arrests were made.

THE NATIONAL Park Service declares that park benches and wooden garbage cans had been chopped up and numerous trees and flowers were despoiled by protesters who slept in the parks.

This leads to a question of how payment for the damage can be obtained from those who perpetrated it. Would there by any legal barrier to a requirement that any group or organization seeking permission for a demonstration on controversial subjects furnish in advance a bond sufficiently large to share the expense that may ensue?

IN ONE instance last week two of the leaders openly proclaimed that the move against government buildings was intended to interfere with operations at the Pentagon and at the capitol. The groups mobilized at the entrances to these and other buildings. In view of such occurrences, the threat to commit violent acts gives the federal or state governments the right to demand that, before any permits to demonstrate are issued, there must be some assurance that the amount of the loss will be paid.

THE REAL question is the right of groups to be formed for purposes of committing violence. When strict measures are applied, "repression" is immediately charged by "liberals." The truth is that "coercion" is being repressed. For this describes aptly what is being tried against the process of government.

The Department of Justice has arrested some of the leaders on charges of inciting violence, but there has been no step taken against the organizations themselves which brought the protesters here for the purpose of "shutting down the government." Surely such conspiracies are well within the prohibitions covered in existing statutes which forbid groups as well as individuals from organizing riots or inciting disorders which plainly involve the use of violence.

DAVID CAN'T FIND A STONE

Fire In Big Town

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Early in 1970 the 50-story building called One New York Plaza was completed. It was among the finest; its builders used the latest design concepts, the most modern materials, the most advanced construction.

Sensitive buttons on the elevators responded to the heat of a fingertip. The air-conditioning system maintained perfect temperature and humidity in the sealed structure. It was "fire resistant," of course. It adhered to the building code.

On Aug. 5 a fire broke out on the 33rd floor. A guard pulled an alarm and then took an elevator to the ground floor to notify the building crew. Two other employees returned with him to warn occupants of the floors above.

They pushed the button for the 39th floor. Responding to heat, the elevator stopped at the 33rd and the doors opened onto an inferno. Two men died, the other was found barely alive. Thirty persons were injured. Damage was estimated at $10 million.

Fire Chief John O'Hagen blamed the air-conditioning system primarily. He said the fans continued to operate after start of the fire, quickly spreading smoke and heat.

In addition, he said, the plenum, or concealed space between ceiling and floor above, used as part of the air-conditioning system, served as an artery for heat and fire.

The central core of elevator shafts and electrical services, standard on skyscrapers, became a funnel for heat, poured there by return air fans. Wiring was quickly destroyed.

Moreover, it was found, there was a space of about 16 inches between the metal skin and the curtain wall. Not only was the heat confined within the building, but it was drafted upward through this aperture.

Incredibly, the very modernity of the building was blamed by officials for making the fire more intense, faster spreading and harder to fight. Because of the heat, firemen had to be relieved every 10 minutes.

As they learned the facts, engineers, insurance men, building owners and tenants were shocked to realize that the same type of structure exists or is being built in almost every American Metropolis.

The ingredients were there for repetitions. In fact, a somewhat similar fire killed two in New York four months later.

The American Insurance Association called a forum on the situation. And many suggestions were made: horizontal fire barriers, elimination of elevator call buttons activated by heat, installation of sensing devices to shut down air-conditioner fans, use of thermal insulation on wiring, installation of automatic sprinklers.

The Leftist Demos

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — Democratic strategists led by National Chairman Larry O'Brien are pleading daily with the party's potential Presidential candidates to avoid any actions or utterances that seem to place them in the same untidy camp as the more extreme anti-war, anti-establishment demonstrators.

IN FACT, the shrewd and enormously competent O'Brien has threatened to quit unless the Muskies, the Humphreys, the Kennedys, the Bays, the McGoverns and the Hugheses make it plain they have nothing in common with the trashing extremists. O'Brien will not go along with a Democratic nominee next year who gives the appearance of taking a casual approach to law and order, thus leaving himself wide open to Republican charges of leftism.

O'BRIEN AND other nuts-and-bolts people within the National Committee are convinced the recent anti-war, anti-everything demonstrations have given the Democrats the issue they will need in 1972. They sum it up in the charge that Richard Nixon's personal and political unpopularity is the direct cause of the demonstrations, and the argument that as long as Nixon is in the White House and the country will be dangerously divided.

THIS IS THE same platform both Democratic liberals and Richard Nixon used against Lyndon Johnson.

Like Nixon, Democratic strategists want to present their nominee as the candidate who can "bring us together" and by doing so still the nation's unrest.

Nixon himself might agree that this approach would cause him considerable trouble. His public and private utterances indicate an acknowledgment that he is, today, the target of considerable criticism for his Vietnam policy. But he is looking ahead to next year, when he insists his position will be vindicated, when events will show that the North Vietnamese enemy bear sole responsibility for whatever residual U.S. force remains in Indochina.

NEVERTHELESS, as the man in charge the President pursues his policies at his peril. The mother in Dubuque might be furious at her son's participation in these messy demonstrations, but she is just as furious at the cop who busts that son's head. More to the political point, she tends to demand an end to a national situation that has caused her boy to take to the streets. What she wants is peace of mind, and the devil take Vietnam, Rennie Davis and the people running the show in Washington.

That is why Larry O'Brien and his aides are energetically resisting the inclination of Democratic candidates to turn to the left.

Guzzling Texans

Robert E. Ford

The May 18 vote on liquor by the drink ends a strange chapter in Texas guzzling history. But not the strangest by any means.

The state's drinking laws have been confusing enough in recent years — visitors to our plains and mountains go mad trying to get a martini.

But for pure oddities, we like the Prohibition Era.

There is a rule of human nature that a drinking man is going to get his alcohol one way or another.

PROHIBITION did not stop drinking. It simply made a game of it. Some movies of that Prohibition period dramatized the bootlegger. They pictured him as rich, powerful, well dressed, courageous and the hero of a thousand incidents calling for brains, daring and a fast gun.

There may have been a certain amount of wealth and pseudo-sophistication in the East and Midwest where bootlegging was organized.

That was not the way it was in Texas.

When anyone wanted to buy liquor in this state, he usually found it in a seedy part of town, in a run-down house.

The purveyor of the refreshments often was so unwashed and unkempt that only a torturing thirst could force anyone to drink his wares.

THE BUYER usually had to accept a full quart simply because the bootlegger could only buy fruit jars. Strangely, the flat pint bottles so well known now were hard to buy, and little boys could acquire a small fortune for them when they found a cache of empties behind some swizzer's house.

Presumably there were stills out in the country where the retailer got his supplies.

The sheriff occasionally captured a distilling apparatus and left it on the courthouse lawn as an example to wrongdoers. Actually it served as a model for people waiting to get into the business.

THERE WAS some question of whether West Texas whiskey was distilled. It tasted more like gasoline. Drinkers acquired a breath that would melt asbestos. There was no question about who had just had a nip — you could tell from a half block away if the wind was in the right direction.

When a farmer bought a new car, his neighbors snickered. "He had a crop failure." This was an inside joke meaning he had failed in agriculture and gone into the distillery field.

Almost everyone clutched some myth about how to make moonshine potable. Soaking it in wood shavings was one method. Others tried various filters seeking to rid the liquid of unwanted chemicals distilled along with the whiskey.

Not a thing in the world helped. Bootleg whiskey was only one source of alcohol.

A favorite legal drink was woman's nerve tonic. A couple of shots of that and you weren't nervous any more. You were stunned, euphoric.

Prosperity Note

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The cigar industry claims that 100,000 U.S. women now smoke cigars. This mass feminine invasion will depress rates or than cheer veteran male stogie puffers who have held all along that cigars are much too good to be wasted on women.

How do you receive your impressions of the world around you? Some scientists estimate that one per cent come by taste, 1 1/2 by touch, 3 1/2 per cent by smell, seven by hearing and 87 by sight.

Fishy facts: A shark has no bones, jellyfish have no teeth, the sea lily is an animal, and a sailfish can go faster than any manmade sailboat—up to 68 miles an hour.

America's problem with alcohol isn't getting any smaller. Of the 85 million who drink some form of alcoholic beverage, a four million are classified as addicts and five million more get into some form of trouble periodically because of their taste for the cup that is supposed to cheer.

Quotable notables: "God is now thought to be on the side not of the strongest artillery, but of the most powerful loudspeaker." —Barbara Bode.

Prosperity note: The U.S. House - Appropriations Committee has figured out that the interest alone on the national debt costs taxpayers $39,000 a minute. (Editor's note: You read it first in Walt Flimley's "Rim" column last Friday.)

Household hints: Does your wife get annoyed by the task of cleaning food graters and paring knives? Win her undying regard by telling her to use a toothbrush for these chores.

"Well, they asked for it. A questionnaire filled in by tourists at Meramec Caverns in Missouri revealed that the formation they wanted most to see was—the toilet.

One way to save: If, instead of buying a pack of cigarettes a day, a 15-year-old youth put the money into a bank and kept the habit up until he retired, his savings plus the accumulated interest would give him a tidy nest egg of nearly $20,000.

Worth remembering: "You can tell a child is growing up when he stops asking where he came from and starts refusing to tell you where he is going."

It was Josh Billings who observed, "The best condition in life is not to be so rich as to be envied nor so poor as to be damned."

My Answer

Billy Graham

Please explain the meaning of "God's three mighty works". T.M. I do not know whether you are quoting something you may have heard me say, or whether you have something else in mind. However, God's work is often described under three heads: His work of creation, His work of providence, and His work of redemption. All three show His glory and His power. In His work of creation we see the marvelous design all about us, not only in this world, but also in the universe, of which it is a part. In the Bible the psalmist says: "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth His handiwork. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge." Then, in God's work of providence we see God taking care of His creation, preserving and governing by laws which He has made. Every day, whether aware of it or not, we all are the recipients of His providential care and provision. Finally, God also shows His love for mankind in His redemptive work. He has not left us alone in the world to fight our own battles and work out our own salvation. He sent His Son to be our Savior and by His death on the Cross all men may, through faith, have eternal life. When we think of such a great and powerful God, remember, He wants to be our loving heavenly Father and we come into that happy relationship through faith in His Son.

A Devotion For Today...

The water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life. (John 4:15)

PRAYER: Dear God, may Thy Word become ever more precious to me as I drink daily from this living water. Amen.

WASHINGTON-ON-THE-BRAZOS

Annual Fete For House Speaker Booked Tonight

WASHINGTON — ON — THE BRAZOS, Tex. (AP) — Legislators and top state officials pay tribute tonight to House Speaker Gus Mutscher who probably has had more public criticism than praise this year.

"Speaker's Day," a tradition dating back at least to the early 1900s, was marred for Mutscher by protests from dissident representatives.

Mutscher chose to have the festivities at the little state park commemorating Texas' declaration of independence — a park that has thrived with big appropriations obtained by him.

REFUSE TO SIGN
Gov. Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes were on the list of scheduled speakers.

Washington — On — The Brazos is in Mutscher's district and not far from Brenham, his home town.

During the ceremonies Mutscher will receive a framed resolution with fancy red and gold lettering, praising his performance as presiding officer of the house.

Mutscher "has served in the capacity for a second term with dignity, impartiality, courage and outstanding integrity," the resolution says.

For the first time in the memory of longtime observers of the legislature, a significant number of House members refused to sign the resolution.

AT LEAST 58 PERSONS PERISH Quake Strikes Villages

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — At least 58 persons were killed and hundreds injured this morning in a powerful earthquake that struck the town of Burdur and surrounding villages in southern Turkey.

The governor of Burdur Province, Esref Ayhan, said 18 deaths had been confirmed in Burdur and 20 each in two nearby villages.

He said 70 per cent of the buildings in Burdur, a town of 30,000 people, had been destroyed. Ayhan also had reports of entire villages collapsing in outlying areas which had not been contacted yet.

Instanbul's Kandilli Observatory registered the quake at 8 on the Richter scale, signifying it was of great violence. The Los Angeles quake in February registered between 6 and 6.5.

Housing Minister Sellahattin Baburoglu dispatched relief supplies and a mobile hospital to the city 225 miles southwest of Ankara.

Ayhan said the local hospitals were cleared of noncritical patients and were rapidly filling with injured from the quake.

Troops were sent to dig for victims in stricken villages.

The housing minister said he and the ministers of interior and village affairs were flying to the earthquake area.

Turkey has been struck by killer earthquakes each year since 1966. In March 1970, a quake killed 1,089 persons and destroyed the town of Gediz in western Turkey.

The quakes take place along the Anatolian Fault, that starts around Burdur, ranges north along the Aegean coast and east along the Black Sea, then plunges south again in the eastern mountains.

Two suspects were nude, having been subjected to a strip search.

Gough said Conner and Taylor were made to lean spread eagle against the wall. Then he said Hill and McMahon kicked them in the stomach, knocking them to the floor.

Hill had on regular shoes, but McMahon was wearing western boots, Gough testified.

When they lay on the floor, he said, Hill and McMahon beat them with slapsticks.

Gough said the two officers made the men stand up twice and repeated the kicks and beatings.

When he first saw the prisoners, Gough said they did not seem to be injured, although Conner had a cut on his knee.

Asked why he didn't try to stop Hill and McMahon, Gough said, "It took me by surprise. It happened so fast . . . you look back and ask yourself a hundred times why didn't I do something."

Rail Talks To Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 13,000-member signalmen's union will continue preliminary talks today in a government-mediated effort to head off a nationwide rail strike planned for next week.

At the start of the talks yesterday, president C.J. Chamberlain of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen and railroad industry negotiators met separately with National Mediation Board officials and Labor Department mediators behind closed doors at NMB headquarters. No progress was reported.

During negotiations that have lasted 20 months, the union has held out for a 54 per cent increase over 36 months retroactive to the expiration date of the old contract, Jan. 1, 1970.

The railroads, however, have agreed to a recommendation from a presidential emergency board for a 42 per cent increase over 42 months.

Skilled signalmen currently earn $3.78 an hour.

The union can legally strike 12:01 a.m. Saturday when the cooling-off period instituted by President Nixon to avert a strike last March 5 ends.

Chamberlain says the union will strike at 6:00 a.m. local time Monday unless a settlement is worked out.

POWERFUL QUAKE — A powerful earthquake registering 8.0 on the Richter scale, according to an Istanbul observatory, struck the Turkish town of Burdur today.

WT Crude Price Hiked By Phillips

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — Phillips Petroleum Co. announced Tuesday a 6 cent per barrel increase in its posted price for West Texas sour crude oil.

The new price for 40 degree gravity and above sour crude is now $3.45 per barrel.

The price hike affects approximately 29,000 barrels of oil per day.

Watched Two Ex-Cops Beat, Kick Prisoner

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP) — A Houston police officer told a jury here he watched a year ago as two former Houston officers beat and kicked a prisoner who died an hour later.

John Gough, 21, testified Tuesday at the murder trial of the two policemen, Jack McMahon, 22, and Arthur N. Hill, 28.

The defendant's trial on charges of beating to death Bobby Joe Conner, 22, an auto theft suspect, was moved here on a change of venue.

Despite a thorough cross-examination, Gough remained unshakable in recounting the events of April 4, 1970.

Gough said six Houston officers answered a call for assistance from the police of suburban Galena Park, with four of the officers then going to the Galena Park station after Conner and another man, Larry Taylor, 24, were arrested.

Two Galena Park officers left the room when Hill asked if he could question Taylor and Conner, Gough said. He testified the school music teacher Harold Greenlee faces mandatory retirement this year at age 65—but his pupils don't want him to leave.

Students 'Dig' Music Teacher

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — High

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Wed., May 12, 1971
School pupils have petitioned the school board to make an exception in Greenlee's case, allowing him to remain past 65. A spokesman for the group, junior Carolyn Calvert, told the board Greenlee offered Alamo Heights pupils "something of life" that is not included in textbooks.

KOSYGIN AND JOHNSON — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, left, and former President Lyndon B. Johnson are shown together June 23, 1967, when they met at Glassboro, N.J. Johnson said Tuesday during an interview that Kosygin used the hot line June 10, 1967, to warn him that Moscow was prepared to put in military force if necessary during the Arab-Israeli war.

LBJ Admits Kosygin Used Hot Line During '67 War

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson said Tuesday that he had reached a very crucial decision, that they were prepared to do what was necessary including using the military, Johnson recalled.

"He (Kosygin) mentioned the words 'grave catastrophe.' He mentioned the words 'independent decision.' He mentioned the word 'military,'" Johnson said.

"When the leader of another state talks about a very crucial moment, foresees the risk of a 'grave catastrophe,' and he states that unless Israel unconditionally halts operations within the next few hours that the Soviet Union will take necessary, necessary actions including military, this is pretty serious business," Johnson said.

Johnson said he received word on the morning of the 10th that Mr. Kosygin desires the President to come to the equipment.

In that message, "Kosygin said that they had reached a very crucial decision, that they were prepared to do what was necessary including using the military," Johnson recalled.

"He (Kosygin) mentioned the words 'grave catastrophe.' He mentioned the words 'independent decision.' He mentioned the word 'military,'" Johnson said.

"When the leader of another state talks about a very crucial moment, foresees the risk of a 'grave catastrophe,' and he states that unless Israel unconditionally halts operations within the next few hours that the Soviet Union will take necessary, necessary actions including military, this is pretty serious business," Johnson said.

'Shockers' Make Addicts Shun One-Armed Bandits

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Sydney is a gambling-happy city in a gambling-prone state where it's estimated $1.79 billion is fed into slot machines every year. Psychiatrists have developed a shock treatment to make addicts shun the one-armed bandits.

"It's called aversion therapy," said Dr. Karl Koller, who introduced the unit to St. George's Hospital. "The player begins to associate playing the machine with pain and keeps away from them."

"We decided to give this a try when the usual psychiatric method and pills didn't work. We believe the success rate to be around 80 per cent."

"Pokies," as slot machines are called here, keep most of the big clubs in funds in New South Wales, the only state in Australia where they are legal. Last year income to the non-profit clubs was $143 million after a state tax cut of $34 million. On average every man, woman and child in the state loses $31 to the machines in a year.

"The people who help boost this figure and who seek help at the hospital initially regard the treatment as a joke. They are led to a slot machine, given "play" coins, and asked to specify how severe a shock they wish. Most start at 20 volts and when they find this has little effect ask for 90 volts. "Patients pick their own level of pain," said Koller. "Some are reduced to tears by the end of a treatment."

Patients do not know when the shocks will come. The average is 30-40 shocks during an hour's session.

A course involves an hour's treatment on five consecutive days. This is followed with one-session visits one and two months later.

DEAR ABBY: My husband made sure I didn't miss your column about the wife who is constantly mistaken for hubby's mother. That's our situation. I wish I could get together with the woman who wrote it. We could have a good cry together. I, too, am fat and gray. I have had 10 children in 14 years, so it's no wonder I have aged so. My husband never believed in birth control. He also never believed in giving me any help once they were brought into the world. He thinks that because he supports them (financially) his duty is done.

I have known for a long time that my husband is ashamed of the way I look. We hardly ever socialize. I do get an occasional invitation to the movies, but if they ever devise a way of showing movies with the

Heart Attack

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In a portion turning into inert scar tissue. If the artery happened to be blocked near the point where it starts, then blood would be shut off to most of the muscle. Then death would follow almost at once.

But that seldom happens. The blockages, instead, usually occur (as you might expect) in one or another of the smaller branches of the coronary artery, so only a limited portion of the heart muscle is affected.

Thus such a blockage — a coronary or heart attack — varies considerably in extent and severity. Any heart attack does some damage, of course. Extensive ones cause death. Others prostrate the patient, but he recovers, and most of the time goes back to his regular work.

And sometimes a "silent heart attack" occurs in a limited area. The patient may think he had a twinge of "acute indigestion." The fact that he really had a heart attack may not be discovered until long afterward. (The scar that develops will be disclosed if the patient later has an electrocardiogram.)

With the explanation, the direct answers to your questions are these: The damage is caused by the muscle being deprived of blood. And the blocked branch of the artery does not "open up" by itself, but as time passes other small branches of the artery, in the same general area, gradually enlarge to carry a somewhat better blood supply to parts of the muscle surrounding the area where the scar has formed.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Boston Keeps Edge With 4-3 Triumph

By The Associated Press
The Minnesota Twins brought home the bacon Tuesday night but the Boston Red Sox bullpen took the cake and left the governor of Iowa with egg on his face.

Bill Lee provided Boston's daily relief with four hitless innings to preserve one of Gary Peters' rare victories over Minnesota 5-4.

It was Iowa Night in Minnesota and Gov. Robert Ray brought along a pig to present to the first Twin hitting a home run. Peters and Lee took care to see that no one did, though, and the porker went instead to Cesar Tovar, who got Minnesota's first hit.

The triumph was Boston's 14th in the last 17 games and kept the Red Sox 2½ games in front of Baltimore in the American League East. Over that stretch, the once futile Sox bullpen has compiled a 6-0 record with 10 saves and a composite 1.20 earned-run average.

ROYALS LOSE

Elsewhere, the Orioles edged Kansas City 5-4 in 10 innings. Cleveland topped Oakland 7-5 and California blanked Detroit 5-0. New York at Milwaukee and Washington at Chicago were rained out.

The big relief work for Boston has been done by Lee, Ken Tatum and Sparky Lyle, with assists from Ken Brett, Bob Bolin and Cal Koonce.

Peters, who went into the game with a 3-16 career record against the Twins, reached the point of no return in the sixth inning, but still picked up the win.

He had a 5-2 lead on two-run homers by Duane Josephson and Carl Yastrzemski but a walk and two singles by Leo Cardenas and Rick Renick accounted for one run and finished Peters. Lee allowed George Mitterwald's sacrifice fly and then slammed the door.

Merv Rettenmund, drove in a run with a fifth-inning single, smashed his fourth hit of the game in the 10th to end Baltimore's three-game losing streak. Brooks Robinson and Dave Johnson drew walks off Ted Abernathy and Rettenmund then lashed a single off the glove of shortstop Freddie Patek.

TIE IN NINTH

The Royals had tied the game with two out in the ninth on Joe Keough's double and a triple by Amos Otis.

Solo homers by Ken Berry and Ken McMullen backed Clyde Wright's eight-hit pitching as the Angels whipped the Tigers. McMullen also scored on a single by Jerry Moses while Berry carried another run across on Sandy Alomar's single.

Jackson Joins Bison Staff

STANTON — Alvin Jackson, first assistant coach at McCamey High School the past two years, has been added to the Stanton High School staff, head coach Bill Young has announced.

Jackson, a native of Winters, played his college football under Grant Teaff at McMurry College in Abilene. He coached for two years at Stamford under Bill Anderson before moving to McCamey.

The 26-year-old Anderson and his wife are the parents of a boy and a girl.

Other changes in the Stanton coaching family will be Joe Neel, already in the school system, helping on the junior high level, Don Goodrum moving from high school to junior high, Richard Granada moving up to coach on the eighth grade level, Tommy Gregory becoming first assistant on the varsity and Jackie Burns handling the B team.

Burns doubles as head basketball coach of the Buffaloes. Gregory will coach the varsity line. Young will spend the vacation months here heading up the community's summer recreational program.

TWO MEETS SET Net Program Set To Open May 31

Novice Kniffen's summer tennis program here will extend from May 31 through July 9.

Elementary boys and girls will work from 7:30 a.m. until 9:30 a.m. each day, Junior high boys and girls report from 9:30 a.m. and stay until 11:30 a.m.

High school boys and girls check in at 5:30 p.m. and stay until 7:30 p.m.

Private instructions will be given by Kniffen and his staff during the afternoons.

A Big Spring team will compete in tournaments at Crane June 17-19, Andrews June 28-July 1 and Seminole July 5-7. Kniffen has also announced that a closed tournament will be held here July 9-10 to coincide with the end of the summer program. An extra day has been added to the big Open tournament, an inaugural event, now scheduled for June 3-4-5-6.

Kniffen said the extra day was added because of the overwhelming response he had had to the invitations he mailed out and the personal contacts he made. The list of entries should exceed 300, he said, and could approach 500.

Entry blanks for those desiring to take part in the summer program will be available in local schools. The registration fee will be a modest $2. Those interested can contact either Kniffen or Clovis Hale, director of athletics.

Stewart Bunn and Nancy Thompson will serve on Kniffen's staff during the summer.

OVER LAST YEAR Athletic Budget Shows Increase

The proposed $89,862.06 athletic budget for the 1971-72 school year received tentative approval Tuesday night from the trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District.

Clovis Hale, athletic director, was authorized to spend up to $10,000 for the purchase of equipment until the budget receives final approval. Trustees gave Hale the authorization to allow him to obtain equipment needed to get the athletic season underway.

The proposed budget is $8,058.06 higher than last year's budget of $81,804. Hale told the trustees that the increase was due mainly to the large increase in traveling expenses for all the district teams, the higher cost of game officials, and a $1,500 increase in the cost of game contracts.

"This budget is not out of line," Hale said. "In fact, it is within the bounds of the 1968-69 budget. I think it's one of the best that we have had in recent years."

Football activities are budgeted for $26,574.86, an $881.71 increase over last year's figure of $25,693.15. The largest increases were in team travel expenses and the cost of game officials.

Travel expenses were reduced in the basketball budget, and the money is to be expended for equipment and the filming of games for training purposes. The total basketball budget is $7,927.85, $94.10 higher than last year's budget.

Baseball is budgeted for $3,914.60, $210.85 higher than the previous budget. All of the increase is to be expended on equipment.

Travel cost of officials and the possibility of out-of-town meets added to the proposed $4,265.15 volleyball budget. Last year's budget figure was $3,729.30.

Equipment and travel expenses increased the proposed golf budget by $262.50 over last year's budget. The proposed budget is $1,427.50.

The tennis budget figure of $2,416.80 is $480.80 above the 1970-71 figure of $1,936. Hale said that the increase was due to the need for new nets and other equipment and increased travel costs.

Webb Open House Slated Saturday

Bands will be playing and planes will be flying at the Armed Forces Day Open House Saturday at Webb AFB.

Flyovers of T-37 and T-38 aircraft in the missing-man formation in honor of all American prisoners of war and men missing-in-action have been arranged, and the Big Spring High School band will present an outdoor concert.

The base will be open to the public from noon to 4 p.m. Mayor Arnold Marshall has proclaimed this as Armed Forces Week in Big Spring.

"It is not just a case of what Webb AFB has meant to us," he said, "but of what it represents in contributing to the defense of freedoms which most of the rest of the world envies."

Among other events scheduled will be the swearing in of 50 new Civil Air Patrol cadets, all members of the Permian High School Choir.

Various types of Air Force aircraft will be on static display during the day as well as other exhibits from the Air Force, Marines and National Guard.

Members of the Big Spring Young Men's Christian Association plan a continuous gymnastic exhibition including demonstrations on the trampoline and parallel bars, and Howard County 4-H Club members will hold their first annual invitational horse show and play day Saturday in the sheriff's posse arena on the Andrews Highway.

Approximately 200 entry blanks have been mailed to county extension agents within a 100-mile radius of Big Spring. This will be one of the major money-making projects of the Howard County 4-H Club.

The show and play day will be open to all 4-H members at 8 a.m. A county agent's signature (or assistant agent) must accompany the participant's and parent's signature on the entry blank.

Halter classes will be divided into geldings and mares, 5 and over, and 4 and under, registered and grade. One showmanship class will be held. Performance classes will be held for ages 9 and under; 10 through 13, and 14 through 19, and will consist of western pleasure, western riding, reining, barrels and poles.

Fees for the show will be $3 for the first event and $2 for each additional event including halter.

Points toward high point horse will be given in each event except showmanship.

In case of rain or wet grounds July 17 has been set as an alternate date.

Expensive Move

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Part of the agreement in hiring city manager Robert O. Wright was to pay his moving expense from Aurora, Colo.

The total bill was $3,208 for one van-load.

The bill prompted Alderman Ralph Metts to comment: "The stuff must have ridden on velvet."

Workshops For Teachers Of Handicapped Are Set

AUSTIN — A series of 14 "mini grants" designed to find a new way of helping local teachers meet the educational needs of handicapped children will finance experimental projects this summer.

The near $115,000 package is funded by the innovative practices section of the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

All but one of the new idea projects will be operated by regional education service centers, according to Dr. J. V. Clark, Texas Education Agency director of Title II (ESEA).

ESC Region XV in San Angelo will offer a 10-day summer training session for aides to special education teachers followed by 12 six-hour sessions during the 1971-72 school year.

A staff development program for some 120 teachers, offered cooperatively by ESC Region XVI in Amarillo, West Texas State University and the Canyon Independent School District, will include a six-week course which may be taken for credit at WTXU, an observation and study program at the school district, and student-teacher observation of the special education appraisals conducted by the ESC.

Seventy-five teachers will attend a series of workshops offered by ESC Region XVII in Lubbock. The program will focus on basic evaluation skills, prescriptive teaching, behavioral techniques and educational materials.

Violence Rises

LONDON (AP) — Crimes of violence in London rose to a record level in 1970, with 25 people a day shot, knifed or beaten.

Horoscope Forecast
TOMORROW
—CARROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when you have a real desire to produce results of a practical and constructive nature; you are able to do so by organizing your time and energy and by cooperating with those persons with whom you wish a close relationship.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Contact persons of influence and outline constructive plans you have to them so you gain their support. Follow that interest in civic affairs and much good comes of it. Avoid long-winded persons.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Discuss your projects with experts for a different and better approach that will lead to success. Contact out-of-towners who can aid your progress as well. Take it easy tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have responsibilities that need immediate attention. Stop procrastinating and get off them early. Then you have time for new outlets as well. Make understandings you better and give fine assistance.

CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Sit down with associates and discuss how you can be more successful and work more harmoniously in the future. Some situation develops that improves things with the public. Handle it well.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan how to improve your position with co-workers and higher-ups. Wear the right clothing for any important functions you may attend, whether business or social.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Engage in activities that relieve tensions and make you a happier person. Show devotion to mate. You have been taking him or her too much for granted of late. Get to bed early tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Know what it is that kin expect of you and try to cooperate with them instead of bucking them now, or waiting your own way exclusively. Make home more comfortable, smoother running. Take it easy there in p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have made appointments that you must definitely keep since you have been procrastinating altogether too long. Study advertisements carefully for whatever you need. Don't be a spendthrift, though, which is okay, since you have been altogether too busy with practical matters of late. Attend some group affair on relieve tensions you have been under. Cheer others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Quietly study practical affairs in detail so that you can make progress. You like to help others, but need more money in order to do so. Put these fine talents to work.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Go to that person who can help you obtain personal desires in a twinkling of an eye. Instead of feeling frustrated, depressed about them. Then enjoy social activities that please you.

King Is Beheaded

MASERU, Lesotho (AP) — The king's head has been erased from the latest set of 13 standard postage stamps. Official explanation for removing the picture of King Moshoeshe is that Lesotho is "moving away from the old colonial system where the monarch's head is inset on a stamp."

King Moshoeshe II spent six months in exile in Holland last year after political tensions flared into bloodshed during an abortive election in January, 1970.
