Armed Forces Day Marred By Protests

The nation marked Armed Forces Day on Saturday with traditional military-sponsored parades and displays, while anti-war protesters staged locally organized counter-demonstrations.

A spokesman for the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., said that as of midafternoon there had been about 10,000 visitors to the post which sponsored a sky diving exhibition, equipment displays and inspections. He said there had been no sign of any protesters.

Most other Armed Forces Day observances around the country went according to plan, without serious disruption.

Police at Fayetteville, N.C., reported about 200 persons showed up for a three-mile anti-war march across town.

At nearby Ft. Bragg, thousands watched a weapons display, a helicopter demonstration and other events.

Last year, an estimated 5,000 persons gathered at Fayetteville for an antiwar rally that featured actress Jane Fonda. The rally caused the Army to cancel its planned 1970 Armed Forces Day observances.

The protests, which drew servicemen, veterans and civilians, were organized this year by a variety of groups, including the American Servicemen's Union, Vietnam Veterans Against the War, People's Coalition for Peace and Justice and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

About 250 persons marched outside the gates of Griffis Air Force Base in Rome, N.Y., for about two hours, then dispersed peacefully. The demonstrators handed out leaflets urging people to come back Monday morning for an attempt to block all entrances to the base.

A few carloads of demonstrators appeared at one of the gates at Westover Air Force Base, Mass., and distributed copies of the book "American Servicemen's Rights."

FL. Devens, Mass., reported 10,000 persons showed up by midmorning for its open house program and a spokesman estimated the day's total of visitors would be about 25,000.

People began arriving in Torrance, Calif., early in the morning for what was billed as the nation's largest Armed Forces Day parade. An estimated 75,000 persons turned out to watch the marchers, who included 9,400 servicemen and women.

TRAINS TIE-UP Signalmen

Flash Strike Warnings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rail operators and the signalmen's union met in negotiating sessions Saturday in an effort to avert a nationwide railroad strike Monday morning.

The opposing parties were brought together by Asst. Secretary of Labor J. W. Usery after the government had exhausted all means provided by law to prevent a tie-up of the country's rail traffic.

C. J. Chamberlain, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, said before the start of several meetings Saturday that his union members are organized and ready to set up picket lines by the 6 a. m. Monday strike deadline.

The 13,000 signalmen represent a small fraction of the nation's railworkers, but their pickets at commuter and intercity rail terminals almost certainly would be honored by other unions.

The signalmen, without a contract since Jan. 1, were free to strike Saturday morning after time ran out on the 60-day cooling off period ordered by President Nixon. Only a court order or congressional action could head off a strike if negotiations fail.

Reviewing the . . . Big Spring Week . . . with Joe Pickle

So far, May hasn't acted like May at all. Normally, this is one of the wettest (if not wettest) months of the year, but this one has been scarce on clouds. The past week had three days listed with 20 per cent chances for showers, but no clouds. Maybe if the forecaster would save those predictions and roll them into one, we would have a 60 per cent chance — for it may take those odds to get rain here. Meanwhile the month has been uncommonly cold. Thursday set a record low for that date with 39 degrees. The minimum during the week averaged only 49 degrees.

Reports (unofficial) are that Kadane No. 1 Flanagan has potential for 141 barrels of oil as Spraberry discovery five miles southeast of Big Spring. What makes this especially interesting is that this Spraberry is a lime, like the Jo Mill pool in Borden and the original Spraberry pool in Dawson. Thus, it might hold its initial edge a bit better than surrounding discoveries in other zones.

Big Spring school trustees voted to retain two key levels last week — one the $1.70 tax rate and the other the $650 annual increment over the state foundation level for teachers. Earlier, in order (See THE WEEK, Page 2-A, Col. 1)

Crowds milled in leisurely, but interested, fashion at Webb Air Force Base Saturday as the local military installation opened its doors to the public for Armed Forces Day.

There was plenty of activity, and a variety of exhibits.

Total attendance on the warm sunny day was estimated at 1,000 or so, although no accurate record was kept. This was a smaller crowd than in years past.

Running through the program was a theme of concern for victims in Vietnam — the dead, the missing, the prisoners. A fly-by of four T-38's and four T-37's was a feature as these groups passed over the airstrip, the fourth plane in each group split-off, to develop a "missing man" formation in tribute to the Vietnam casualties.

Band music and static exhibits drew attention.

In special ceremonies, Col. A. W. Atkinson, wing commander, swore in 40 cadets as members of the Permian Basin Civil Air Patrol. After these ceremonies, the CAP choir, believed to be the only one of its kind in the nation, sang selections for crowds touring exhibits in Hangar I.

'ERROR OF HISTORIC DIMENSIONS' Nixon Against Troop Cuts

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon made his first personal statement Saturday condemning proposals to cut U.S. troops in Europe in half and drew a statement of total accord from former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Nixon also produced a bipartisan list of 24 former top officials who back his stand.

24 PRO BACKERS
Nixon's statement had been shown to Johnson and prompted another from the former chief executive, which was released through the Florida White House.

"I have seen the President's statement opposing at this time a unilateral reduction of military forces maintained in Europe for the common defense. I am totally in accord with that statement.

"American steadiness in support of NATO for more than 20 years has not only helped to bring security and progress to the North Atlantic community, it has also encouraged movement toward reconciliation with those toward the east. Unilateral reduction of our military forces in Europe would endanger what we have achieved in the past and shattered our hopes for the future."

Nixon's own statement said: "At this point in time, it would be an error of historic dimensions for any of the North Atlantic Treaty allies to reduce unilaterally the military forces maintained in Europe for the common defense.

"As the most powerful member of the alliance, the United States bears a responsibility for leadership.

"Let us preserve to carry forward the policy of this nation under five successive presidents representing both political parties, confident that our united strength will promote the enduring peace we seek."

The Nixon statement was aimed point blank, without actually saying so, at a proposal by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who has submitted, as amendment to a bill that would extend the draft for two years, a proposal to slash the U.S. troop level in Europe from 300,000 to 150,000. The issue is slated for a Senate showdown vote Wednesday.

Nixon's statement was supplemented by a rundown of 24 big-name supporters who had held top defense, diplomatic and foreign posts in the administrations of Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower and the Democratic administrations of Harry S. Truman, John F. Kennedy and Johnson.

The issue has become the hub of perhaps the most intense lobbying of the administration.

The administration maneuvers blossomed from a conference at the Washington White House Thursday. At the time, officials made it clear that those present were being encouraged to lobby.

NO, NO, NO

A White House official said that as far as he knew former President Truman had not been approached for support.

Several former officials who were sounded out said "no."

One of these was former Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford and another was former Deputy Secretary James Douglas.

In addition, former Secretary Robert S. McNamara declined comment because of his position as head of the World Bank.

The White House said, however, that McNamara did not want his abstinence interpreted as non-support of the Nixon statement.

These are the backers listed by the White House:

Former secretaries of State Dean Acheson and Dean Rusk; former undersecretaries of State James Webb, Robert Murphy, Livingston Merchant, Douglas Dillon, George Ball, Nicholas Katzenbach; former Defense secretaries Robert Lovett, Neil McElroy and Thomas Gates; former deputy secretaries of defense, Roswell Gilpatrick and Cyrus Vance.

Former supreme allied commanders in Europe Matthew Ridgway, Alfred Gruenther, Lauris Norstad, Lyman Lemnitzer; former U.S. ambassadors to NATO Charles Spofford, W. Randolph Burgess, Thomas Finletter and Harlan Cleveland; and former military governors or high commissioners for Germany Lucius Clay, John McCloy and James Conant.

Oil Field Blast Claims Two Men Near Sparenburg

Two men were killed Saturday in an oil field explosion four miles south of Sparenburg which is near Lamesa. Names of the men were not immediately released pending notification of their families.

According to information from the Lamesa police department, the explosion occurred as the two men were placing dynamite in an oil well, and the dynamite exploded prematurely. No other persons were reported injured.

Two firefighting units were dispatched to the resulting fire, which was reported at approximately 5 p. m., and the units were still at the scene late Saturday.

The bodies were taken to the Branon Funeral Home in Lamesa.

Sadat Emerges As 'Strongman'

CAIRO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat emerged Saturday as Egypt's strong man and pressed his purge of dissidents he accused of trying to overthrow him.

Thousands of Egyptians swarmed the streets of Cairo, some carrying pictures of Sadat, or placards showing their support and denouncing his opponents.

REIGN OF TERROR

One of the dissidents who seemed to raise the crowds' anger was Sharawi Gomaa, former interior minister who by Sadat's account put Egypt under a reign of terror.

"To hell with Gomaa," the throngs shouted. "We have no place for terrorists."

Many of the placards said: "Crush all centers of powers." Workers and students by the truckload went to Kubbeh presidential palace, to shout their support of Sadat.

Sadat's victory over his political enemies indicated he will continue his search for a peaceful settlement with Israel.

Those ousted or purged were hardliners.

Five Cabinet members whose resignations tried to force Sadat's hand in removing pro-Soviet Vice President Ali Sabry May 2 were reported either jailed or under house arrest. So presumably were three leaders of the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's only political party.

Sadat dismissed Gen. Ahmed Kamel as chief of the intelligence service and replaced him with Gen. Ahmed Ismail.

Also fired was Hasan Talaat, head of the Interior Ministry's department of investigations under Gomaa.

POPS PLATTERS

Sadat lifted the parliamentary immunity from 17 members of the National Assembly, accused of being in on the plot against him. A Sadat loyalist, Judge Hafez Badawi, was named assembly speaker. Radawi is also minister in the new 33-man Cabinet sworn in after Sadat denounced the alleged plotters in a radio address Friday.

Dr. Mohammed Dakruri, a U.S.-trained political scientist, was named acting secretary-general of the Arab Socialist Union. Mohammed Maher, a court of appeals judge, became attorney general.

VOWS REFORMS

Sadat promised a sweeping reform of the union, with new "free elections from the bottom to the top, and I will supervise them myself."

Sabry rigged previous elections to give key positions to his followers, party leaders charge. Thus new elections would rid the party leadership of Sabry's supporters.

Sadat fired Gomaa as interior minister Thursday after saying he found him bugging his office and leaking details of high-level political meetings.

Five Cabinet ministers and the three leaders of the party then resigned, trying to force Sadat to back off from firing Gomaa and Sabry. He called their bluff and accepted their resignations.

At the seat of the trouble, however, was Sabry. A stormy debate between Sadat and Sabry, who opposed the Egypt-Libya-Syria federation took place late in April.

PUBLISHERS LOSE BATTLE TO BLOCK POSTAL RATE INCREASES

Cost Of 'Penny Postcard' Climbs To 6 Cents Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused Saturday to block postal-rate increases scheduled to go into effect Sunday.

After losing in two lower courts, publishers turned to the high court Saturday, arguing that the rates were set illegally and would cost newspapers and magazines $850,000 a week.

But Chief Justice Warren E. Burger denied the appeal for emergency relief, giving no reason. This opened the way for the rates to become effective a minute after midnight.

The postage increase will be the first since 1967 when Congress upped the price of a first-class stamp by a cent. And it will be the first administratively set since 1792.

The new rates, temporary until made permanent by the U.S. Postal Service and the Independent Postal Rate Commission, boost stamp prices by two cents for surface letters and one cent for airmail. The additional revenue is estimated to be $23 million a week.

Postcard costs rise from 5 to 6 cents and from 8 to 9 cents for surface and airmail, respectively. Special delivery rates go from 45 to 60 cents.

Of special concern to the publishers is second-class postage, marked for a 142 per cent increase in the Postal Service's permanent, $1.45-billion-a-year rate package. The increase would be implemented over a five-year period, making the first year's increase about 28 per cent.

Third-class rates are scheduled to increase by roughly a third in the permanent proposal. Under the temporary rates, the costs go up from 30 to 30 per cent, depending on the type of mailing.

PARCEL POST

Parcel post rates, increased by 15 per cent last November, are not affected by the new rates. However the cost of sending books and records increases 16 per cent. The temporary increases come under a provision of the 1970 Postal Reorganization Act that postal authorities say gives them power to set interim rates in the absence of action by the rate commission.

The publishers have disputed this authority. The rate commission, which received the Postal Service proposal Feb. 1, begins hearings Monday on permanent rates.

Meanwhile, the national Democratic chairman, Lawrence F. O'Brien accused the Nixon administration of playing politics with postal reforms he conceived four years ago while he was postmaster general.

The way that President Nixon at Postmaster General Winton M. Blount have implemented the reform legislation could severely handicap the fledgling Postal Service even before it formally takes over the mails July 1, O'Brien asserted.

"The Nixon administration and postal management must stop playing politics with the new postal corporation," O'Brien said. "Today, the aura of political partisanship continues to engulf the Postal Service and make it virtually indistinguishable from its pre-August 1970 status."

The reform legislation ostensibly removes politics from the Postal Service, making it a corporate-like executive agency. The postmaster general loses his Cabinet status when the legislation takes full effect July 1.

Need Rains Badly In Far West Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Rain was weak spread over Texas last week but it wasn't enough to quench thirsty farm and ranch land, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reports.

Director John Hutchison said major crops in most areas were far behind schedule and stands were below normal. He said new rains brought new optimism however.

South Plains (Lubbock): Cotton and sorghum planting made good headway with over half of both crops planted on irrigated land, primarily from Lubbock northward. Recent rains encouraged some dryland planting but other producers were waiting for more rain.

West Central: More moisture was needed. Planted hay crops were up to a good stand and sorghums were being planted. Land was being readied for cotton and peanut planting.

South: The moisture situation was critical though some showers fell along with hail in spots. The onion harvest was on with prices weak. About half the potatoes were harvested with yields below average.

Rolling Plains (Vernon): Rain generally was limited to showers in a few counties and the situation is critical. Grazing out and plowing up of grains was active and only small acreages for seed were expected to be harvested.

Hard To Figure Out Reports Of Pot Joy

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — What marijuana users actually feel under influence of the drug appears to differ sharply from what they think they feel, reports a University of Texas Arlington sociologist.

Dr. Jess Lord, associate professor, formed that conclusion from research for his recently published book, "Marijuana and Personality Change."

He noted marijuana users generally describe their experiences as pleasurable yet psychological tests did not bear this out.

MORE DANGEROUS

"That was one thing that kept coming out," Dr. Lord said in an interview. "The experience really isn't like people who use it (marijuana) report it to be. I'm convinced of that."

He believes the apparent deception isn't conscious or deliberate and "bears a lot more investigation," but can offer little explanation for the seeming paradox.

The professor also emerged from his research with two other conclusions: Marijuana and its effects on users need much more study and the drug is apparently more dangerous than he previously believed.

"America has defined marijuana as a serious drug problem, we treat it as a serious drug problem and yet we've done almost nothing in empirical research on the subject since the 1930s," he points out.

WILL FADE OUT?

Dr. Lord says he entered his study with 13 hypotheses concerning the effects of marijuana "and of the 13, eight were soundly refuted—this indicates our literature relating to marijuana is very poor."

On possible harmful effects, he added:

"As I went through research, I became more and more impressed with the damaging as-

KILLED ON SPEAR THROWN BY DALLAS D.A. Revision Of Penal Code 'Dead'

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The next time they try to rewrite Texas' criminal laws they are going to ask Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade to help.

Wade will get a large measure of the credit—or blame—for the first wholesale revision of the penal code in 115 years is defeated this week.

"I'm afraid it's dead," said a member of the subcommittee that worked on the proposed penal code. "Henry Wade has demagogued a good piece of legislation to death."

NO NAME JIVE

That bitter legislator asked that his name not be used.

Others are less certain of the bill's death.

Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville, co-chairman of the subcommittee, says he has the votes to get the book-length bill out of the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee Monday.

However, when it reaches the House floor, "flip a coin," Nugent said.

The Senate Jurisprudence Committee will hear the bill Wednesday night.

"It's such a big, major change and it is so involved and technical that the main problem is simply one of educating the members so they know and understand what's in it," Nugent said.

VOTING POWER

Wade has made "very numerous" speeches to tell people what he thinks is in it, according to Russell Armscher, his chief felony prosecutor.

Armscher himself has made "about 30" talks against the bill, and two other assistants to Wade have spoken in opposition to it.

Wade was left off of the 29-member State Bar committee that worked for five years rewriting the penal code.

"We were invited to send an observer during the last year, but we had no voting power," Armscher says.

The only prosecutor on the committee, Dist. Atty. Carroll Vance of Houston, has since opposed its adoption at this session of the legislature.

Former Dist. Atty. Jim Barlow of San Antonio became a district judge while he served on the committee, so Armscher says he does not count.

Wade called the new code a monstrosity when he testified before the subcommittee Feb. 22.

Opposition began to grow.

The day after Wade's testimony, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin called for a two-year postponement of action on the bill.

On March 1, Vance told the subcommittee that despite his participation in the writing of the new code he had some reservations about it.

"Gun nuts" around the state began writing letters to legislators, Nugent said.

Finally, on March 26-28, the committee met in secret in Kerrville to answer some of the criticisms by rewriting several sections of the code.

The committee invited six legal experts to assist it. The lawmakers made sure Wade's office was represented by inviting Armscher.

It was too little, too late.

"We responded when we were called on," Armscher said of the three-day meeting.

Prosecutors still had objections to the code, he said. "We were told we had a week to get them together," he said.

On April 6, the District and County Attorney Association approved a resolution listing 57 objections to the code. The vote was 60-0, including Vance.

"The code is slanted in favor of the defendant," Armscher says. "Every defense is in extension of defenses in the present law."

OPEN HOUSE — The new Boys Club at 212 East 3rd St. is opening its doors to the public today from 3 to 5 p.m. The game and reception room here are only part of the facilities.

Herald Carriers To Compete In Contest For State Honor

One of the boys who handle the Herald routes in Big Spring will have an opportunity to be chosen as Newspaper Carrier of the Year for the State of Texas. The Herald is joining other papers throughout the state in a program to pay honor to the young men who establish an outstanding record, not only in their newspaper business, but as leading young citizens. On the local level, judges will select one outstanding carrier from the boys (there are 71 of them) between the ages of 12 and 17. This local winner will receive an honor plaque and a $25 U.S. Savings Bond, and his entry will be forwarded to the Texas Circulation Managers Association for consideration for state honors. The state award will be made at the TCMA annual convention Nov. 1. The final winner will receive a Certificate of Award and a $100 U.S. Savings Bond. To be eligible, all entrants must have been active newspaper carriers continually since Jan. 1, 1971, and still have a route at the time of the awards program. The young businessmen are to be judged not only on their newspaper business activities (such as sales performance, service and attitude) but also on scholastic activities, personal achievements (such as organizational and church recognition), and on community service, showing contributions to the city and to others generally. Parents of all Herald carriers are being notified by letter of the contest, and will be asked to complete a questionnaire detailing the lad's route activities and his contributions in various public service areas and scholastic achievement. Customers who wish to help command their own carrier boys may contact his parents to assist in providing information pertinent to the contest.

Churchman Urges No. 4 Approval
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dr. James Basden of the Texas General Baptist Convention says church members should be as enthusiastic in supporting human welfare system in Texas as they are in opposing liquor by the drink. Basden, who heads the Human Welfare Commission of the convention, said "On May 18, Texas Baptists and others have a chance to take the lead in helping the little man by voting for Proposition 3." The proposition calls for a constitutional amendment to remove the dollar ceiling on welfare payments to the aged, blind and disabled.

Public Invited To Attend Boys Club Open House

Formalities marking the opening and dedication of new quarters for the Big Spring Boys Club are set for 3 p.m. today. The public is invited to attend and inspect the completely redesigned facility of 212 East 3rd, just to the east of the Settles Hotel. The building was the gift of an anonymous Big Spring friend, and contributions — in cash, in needed items and in discounts — have been far-reaching to equip the quarters. Mayor Arnold Marshall and members of the Ambassadors Club will preside for the traditional ribbon cutting at the front door. Then the audience will move inside for a brief program preceding a tour of the building and serving of refreshments. Officers and directors of the Boys Club will be introduced, acknowledgments made to the many who have helped on the project, and prayers will be offered by the Rev. Earl Price, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. James Delaney of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Judge Ralph W. Caton will give brief remarks on the aims, purposes, functions and history of the Boys Clubs, and R. W. Whipkey will be master of ceremonies. The Big Spring Boys Club has been in operation since May, 1968, and this is its third home. It started operations at 304 Gregg, then moved to 214½ E.

Both were limited in space and the organization now has facilities to accommodate all the present 200 members and more. In addition to the building, the Club under a lease arrangement has use of a city swimming pool in the summer. Bert Andries was the first president of the Big Spring Boys Club and still serves in that capacity. Other officers are Mrs. Fred Hyer, first vice president; Willard Hendrick, second vice president and Mrs. Virginia Black, secretary and treasurer. Some 16 other people assist in the operation as directors. Bonifacio Salazar Jr. is executive director and Mrs. Sylvia Wylie is director of arts and crafts.

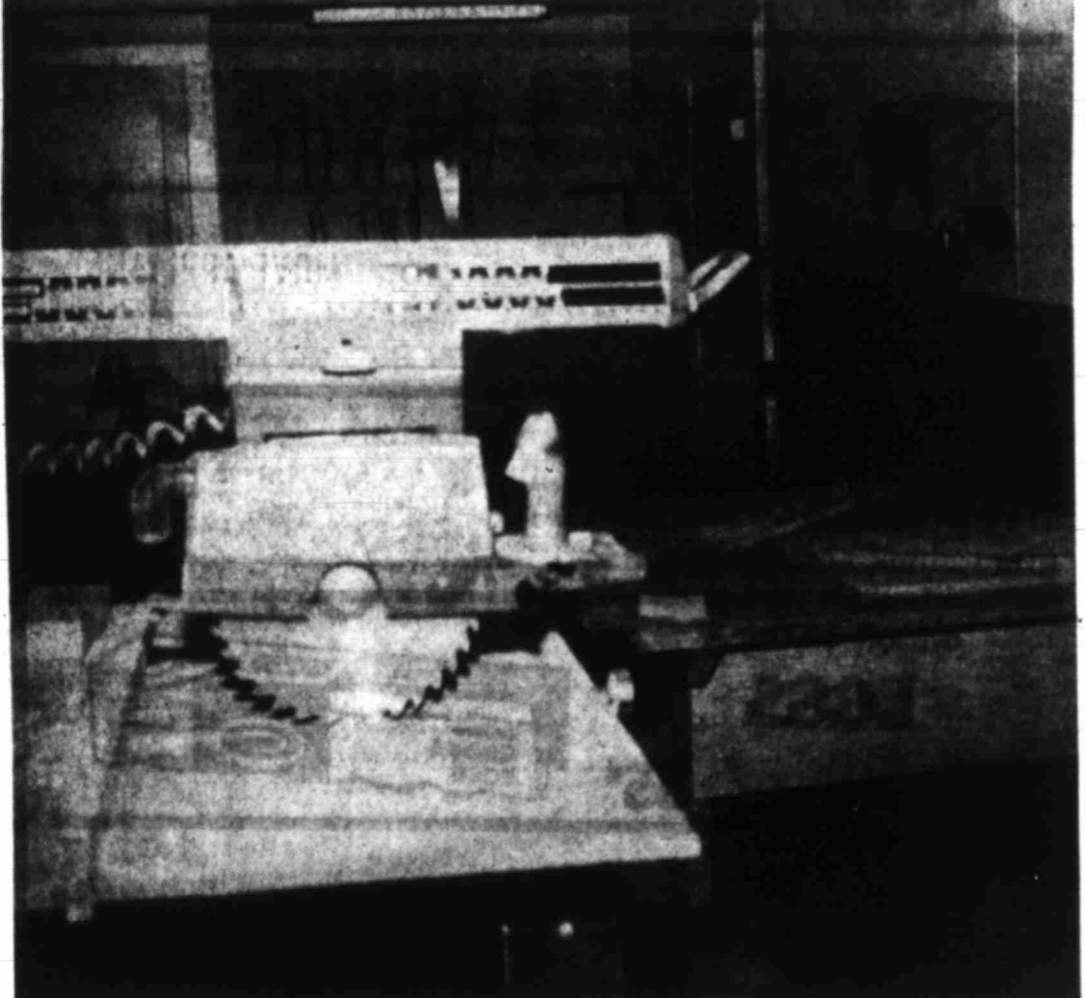

ORIGINALITY — Sammy Lara's poster advertising the Boys Club Open House Sunday from 3-5 p.m. won first place in a contest sponsored by the Boys Club. The new club is next door to the Settles Hotel, at 212 East 3rd St.

Plenty Of Space In Club Building

The new home of the Big Spring Boys Club is a brick building next door to the Settles Hotel at 212 E. 3rd. The building has 4,000 square feet of floor space on the ground floor and 1,700 square feet of floor space on the second floor that occupies the center one-third of the building. The front room of the building occupies about one-third of the ground floor. The high-ceilinged room is a reception room and game room. A ping pong table, two pool tables and a bumper pool table share space with a reception desk to the left of the door. The old-fashioned tin ceiling has fluorescent lighting that can be used if the large windows do not admit enough light. The floor is green tile, and the brick walls are painted green.

From the front room of the Boys Club there is a passage through the middle third of the building to a recreation area. The center of the building contains a rest-room, with an entrance in the front room and the recreation room, an office that looks out over the front room, and a complete kitchen that has a window opening into the recreation room. The right side of the center section is to be used as a workroom. It is already furnished with tools, saws and workbenches. The recreation room in the rear occupies about one-third of the building and is open to the roof. It will have a basketball net added in the future. A boxing ring is being assembled in an alcove that extends under the second floor in the center of the building. Although most of the rooms are either carpeted or have vinyl tile, the workshop and the recreation room have painted concrete floors.

WORKSHOP — A complete workshop for the Boys Club has been set up in part of the new club building. Other rooms have been set up as a TV room, a library, an arts and crafts center and a recreation room.

The library is also paneled and carpeted, and plans for built-in shelves have been made. This is about half of the second-floor space in the building. A separate stairway in the rear leads up to another carpeted and paneled room which will be used as an arts and crafts center. There is also a machinery and storage room. Lamesa Senior Citizens Center Dream Comes True

LAMESA (SC) — The almost two-year-old dream of a meeting and recreation center for local senior citizens took its biggest step toward reality when the Dawson County Commissioners Court voted unanimously last week to accept the deed to the building that will house the center.

The building was donated for the project by longtime Lamesa resident Ed Noret. The project was held up until the deed could be transferred to a permanently incorporated or governmental body to insure its perpetual availability to the community.

Representatives of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce Women's Division and the Dawson County Aging Committee met with the commissioners to urge acceptance of the deed. They also discussed the plans for the center.

The commissioners were assured that although future requests for assistance may be forthcoming if a special funding of the center will largely be the responsibility of its sponsors and private benefactors along with help from state grants which are available if needed to help finance the establishment of such programs and projects.

A recreation and meeting center was the most important on a list of needed and desired items made during a forum held in conjunction with Senior Citizens Month last year.

The center has been in the planning stages since then, but the lack of a suitable existing building and the high cost of building a new one made the project seem almost out of reach.

"There is still much work to be done," said Venita Wood, Aging Committee chairman,

"but with the enthusiasm which has already been shown by local senior citizens, we're confident the center can grow into a highly successful and beneficial project."

Mrs. Mildred Crump, Women's Division chairman for the senior citizens center project, emphasized that the center and programs carried on in conjunction with it will be under almost total control of the senior citizens themselves.

"This is their center," she said. "We are merely trying to help get it started."

Work is beginning immediately to get the building in shape for use. There are plans for a more complete renovation and improvement of the building, but project sponsors say this will depend mostly upon the wishes of the senior citizens, who will decide exactly what they want. Preliminary plans for the center include a workshop, library, game room, meeting room and kitchen facilities.

One reason for the building cleanup is Senior Citizens Week, starting today and running through Saturday. A Senior Citizens Bazaar and a luncheon are tentatively scheduled for the building.

Halter classes will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday, performance classes start at 1 p.m. and Saturday evening a jackpot calf roping contest will be held.

Events include junior and senior western pleasure, junior and senior reining, junior and senior barrel racing, junior and senior cutting, roping all ages, and halter classes.

Show manager is Leo Thompson, Route 3, Colorado City, and entry blanks may be obtained from Mrs. Dolores Wood, Box 184, Colorado City.

Sixth American Legion Award Added To Family

The sixth American Legion School Award has come to the Carl family.

Matt Carl, 13, son of Major and Mrs. M. J. Carl, 96-B Ent, won the award Friday. His mother, three aunts and an uncle each won the award while attending school in Patton, Pa.

The girls American Legion School Award at Goliad was won by Kathy Meek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Meek, 2801 Crestline.

Matt is in the eighth grade at Goliad Junior High School. He is an "A" student who is in the Junior Honor Society, will be a student council representative for the ninth grade next year, and plays competitive football, basketball and track.

Matt attended Immaculate Heart of Mary School before he went to Goliad. The family has lived in Big Spring for six years. Major Carl is an instructor pilot at Webb AFB.

Matt plans to study and practice law in Pennsylvania. The Carl's have three other children, Michael, a sophomore in the high school, Joan, a freshman in the high school and Joseph, in the fifth grade at Immaculate Heart of Mary.

HEART MEETING IS CANCELLED

The annual banquet of the Howard County chapter of the American Heart Association, set for Monday evening, has been cancelled.

Chapter officials said Saturday that plans for the event ran into difficulties, and that the traditional dinner meeting would be called off, at least for the time being.

Details for the next chapter meeting will be announced later.

Museum Needs More Display Items

A number of items have been promised, but the Heritage Museum is still in need of things to display in its next scheduled exhibit — early ranching.

Those who can give (or loan) for the duration of this cycle exhibit items which reflect this period in the development of this area are urged to contact the museum at Sixth and Scurry.

The current display, featuring early photographs, will continue until early July. In late June, there will be double special exhibit which promises to be one of the most unusual in this area. The Texas Art Museum is bringing some three dozen outstanding works of Western artists here for a four-day exhibit during the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, June 23-26. Then, during the last two days of this exhibit, Bart Mann, San Angelo, is due to bring some of his fabulous collection of jewels, silver and gold ware, many of them fashioned by himself. Jerry worthy, museum president, said that this double-barreled presentation would result in one of the most valuable collections ever on display here.

At the executive board meeting Thursday, museum officials appealed to those who may have taken over items from the old West Texas Historical Museum for safekeeping to bring them to the Heritage Museum. Included in the lost items are at least three

H. W. Caylor original paintings. The range of items needed for the ranch display, said Joe Pickle, chairman of the acquisitions committee, is almost limitless — old saddles, stirrups, chaps, spurs, ropes, branding irons, 10-gallon or other early-day hats, old horse-shoes and horseshoeing equipment (including even an anvil), bridles, old leather tools, or even early-day ranch medicines, records, pictures, etc.

Huge Trucks Bang Creates Traffic Jam

Traffic near the IS 20 overpass at FM 700 was tied-up for nearly two hours Saturday afternoon as a result of a rear-end collision between two semi-trailer trucks. No injuries to the drivers were reported. The drivers involved were Wallace Lamar Blackwell, 30, Amarillo and Paul Edward Phipps, 45, Plainview. According to the investigating officer, one of the drivers dozed, causing the accident. The truck that struck the rear of the other was demolished, and the overpass railing was damaged when the trailer of the rear truck jackknifed and struck it. Investigating officer was Texas Highway Patrolman Don Bates. City police and sheriff's deputies assisted in clearing the traffic.

Veteran Receives Tardy Decorations

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Rudy Vargas, 48, has received seven military decorations — 25 years late. Vargas, dispatcher for the fire department, said the medals were delivered by mail. They included the Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Combat Infantry Badge, Asiatic Pacific Medal with six combat stars, the Philippine Liberation Ribbon with Bronze Star, the World War II victory medal and Good Conduct Medal. He said it apparently was an oversight the decorations weren't presented to him when he was discharged from the Army years ago.

Servicemen Can Buy Licenses

Servicemen based in Texas will be able to buy resident hunting licenses and white-winged dove hunters will be required to buy a special stamp as a result of two laws signed recently by Gov. Preston Smith. To be eligible for the resident hunting license, members of the armed services must be on active duty for a period greater than 30 days at any federal installation or facility within the state, and they must furnish adequate proof of the length of their duty assignment. The bill also raises the cost of the license from $3.15 to $3.25, of which 25 cents will be retained by the person issuing the license, except for Texas Parks and Wildlife Department employees. The white-winged dove stamp is to cost $3 and is to be issued by the Parks and Wildlife Commission or its agent. Ten cents of this will be retained by the issuing officer unless the issuing officer is a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department employee.

Physical Therapist Likes Big Spring, Maps Marriage

The newest physical therapist at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center has been in the United States for just one week. Rasheed Ullah Quadri, 26, flew to Big Spring from his home in Karachi, Pakistan, for his first trip to the United States. Quadri was born in India but was raised and educated in Karachi. He went to college at S. M. College in Karachi and then to the Jinnah Post Graduate Medical Center for training in physical therapy. He completed his education in January of this year. "I found out about the center here from an advertisement in a physical therapy magazine," said Quadri. "I wrote to many places, but Jim Thompson, director of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, gave me such a response that I quit corresponding with the others. 'The people here are very friendly and helpful. They have made me feel at home. One of my colleagues helped me find a very nice place to live.' Quadri said the climate here was similar to that of Karachi, but a little colder. The land here is also similar to Pakistan but three-quarters of the land in Pakistan is barren. "I plan to get married in about one and one-half years," he said, "and will bring my wife to Big Spring." Quadri commented that the Dora Roberts Center was one of the best equipped facilities that he has seen. "I look forward to living and working in Big Spring."

Nolan County Campus Okayed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate approved a House bill Thursday which authorizes a Texas State Technical Institute (TSTI) campus in Nolan County (Sweetwater). The measure now goes to the governor for his signature. The school is fully operational now, and the bill just brings it within the statute, said Rep. Dee Jon Davis of Big Spring, the House sponsor. TSTI has campuses in Waco, Harlingen and Amarillo also.

Big Spring Turns Into 'Fist City'

Big Spring held fight night Friday as city police were called upon to quell six disturbances. Five of the scuffles took place at the Wagon Wheel on Gregg and at the bowling alley. No arrests were made, and all the fights involved juveniles. The combative period lasted an hour as police received reports of the first fight at 10:19 p.m. and the last at 11:19 p.m. — both at the Wagon Wheel. The drive-in was the scene of another disturbance at 10:41 p.m. The bowling alley scuffles took place in the parking lot at 10:20 p.m. and 10:49 p.m. The other fight was at Third and Main at 10:40 p.m.

Blacks Shy Away From Third Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 25 black politicians who met privately in Chicago May 7 represented the first step in creating a national black political strategy based on a "third force" concept for the 1972 elections, several who attended said this week. They agreed there will be more such meetings, involving many more people, before definite plans are made, including whether to push for a black presidential candidate. Much of the discussion centered around the need for a third force on the political scene, but not necessarily a third party. WALLACE ANGLE "There was discussion about the fact that the Alabama Gov. George Wallace party was able to exact, if not concessions, at least veer the president more to the right..." said the Rev. Calvin Morris of Chicago. Morris is assistant to the Rev. Jesse Jackson, who called the meeting, and who has been talking about a third force for some time. "A third force is a much more realistic thing," said

Manhattan Borough President Percy Sutton, who chaired the meeting at the home of Dr. T. R. M. Howard, a black physician who left Mississippi some years ago under pressure created by his civil rights activities. Sutton ran unsuccessfully for lieutenant governor of New York last year. "Realism rules out a third party," he said. "All of us watched a man by the name of Wallace try to get on the ballot in all 50 states, and he never had a meaningful opportunity of being a major candidate by a third-party route."

Texas Electric Makes Use Of Waste Water From Plant

COLORADO CITY — What do you do with thousands of gallons of hot water that has been used to cool an electric generating plant?

Texas Electric Service Co. grows catfish. The water is always about 20 degrees warmer than the rest of the water in Lake Colorado City, and during the winter it is just the right temperature for catfish to thrive in.

The ambitious project is the brainchild of John E. Tilton, research biologist for Texas Electric. He was familiar with catfish farming and knew that the fish require relatively high temperatures to grow in.

Texas Electric decided that the Colorado City plant would be an ideal location. A local fish farmer, James F. Kelley, offered to help.

Tilton and Kelley started work in late 1969 with the installation of an experimental catfish cage. The cage was the idea of Dr. H. R. Schmittou, Auburn University, who developed the idea of raising fish in cages from the practices in Asia.

The cages are made of hail screen and are about four-foot in diameter and three-foot deep. The fish are put in the cage which is then lowered into the water. Openings in the top allow the fish to be fed.

The initial cage was placed in a small lake which the heated discharge water flows into before entering Lake Colorado City. The cage was stocked with 1,000 fingerling catfish approximately four inches long each. These fish weighed 14 pounds per thousand when stocked and grew to 630 pounds per thousand after 159 days. Fish not grown in the warm water gained no weight at all.

After the initial test was successful, more cages were added. There have been 22 cages installed in the lake. Various sized fingerlings were used to stock the cages. Some did better than others, but all did considerably better than fish grown in unheated water, said Tilton.

The fish are grown in the discharge area for about six months per year. The water is about 20 degrees hotter than the lake water, so during the summer months when the lake warms up, the discharge water gets too hot, and the lake becomes the right temperature.

The fish are moved from the discharge lake to Kelley's catfish production area between April and October, when the water temperature can be expected to stay above 60 degrees.

The fingerlings double in size about every 30 days. A ¼-pound fingerling will be taken out and sold when it weighs about one pound, Tilton said.

The project is not one that Texas Electric plans to develop elsewhere. They have determined that the plan is feasible, and until there is a need for more catfish, they plan to stay out of the business.

What would be thermal pollution in one area has become an economic and ecological asset to this area.

Rate Change Time-Consuming Computer Problems To Be Expected

By BRIAN PEAY
May was anticipated as catch-up month for tabulation and programming of the city's general ledger fund on the IBM Systems III computer, however, new changes initiated by the city commission in the last few weeks has caused considerable alterations, if not problems.

"The work on the general fund won't go on as rapidly as expected due to the addition of the new city water rate and the extra work that will be involved to re-program these new rates on the customer cards and billing cards," said Charles Smith, city secretary.

The initiation of the new water rate will cause two basic results in the city secretary's work on computing the various funds of the city.

The water bills to customers in June will be late, and progress on the general ledger will be hampered, Smith said.

The general public already has undergone a 45-day period during which three water bills were received due to difficulties in the programming of the computer.

The city changed from the old Burroughs systems in the financial office to the new IBM computer at the first of the year.

"During the transition from one machine type to the other, there was a lapse in the water billing involving three zones," said Smith. The city under the Burroughs system billed water customers 22 working days in the month. There were also 22 zones — with one zone per day billed.

department in the city," the city secretary explained.

On the IBM Systems III the city was able to narrow the amount of zones billed to five per month. Four of the zones have approximately 2,000 customers in each and one of the zones has 1,000 customers, therefore, 1¼ zones' water bills are sent out per week.

"Our work on the water billing finally being brought up to date, we began to work on the general ledger programming, and we have at this point finished through December, however, with the initiation of the new water rate it could be 45 days before we again can fully concentrate on the general ledger work," Smith said.

Not only have the commissioners been discussing the new water rate, but in the very near future it is possible that the sewer rates of the city might be increased.

"Our problem now is that we know that the water rates have been changed, but it will be hard to go ahead and re-program the rate structure without waiting for the possible sewer rate change. The same steps are taken to re-program the sewer rates as are taken with the water rates, and we would be doing the same thing over again on the sewer rate," Smith pointed out.

It has been explained in the commission meetings that extra help will be needed, and the commission has agreed that the money would be well spent to help set the system back in order.

In other areas that are computed the city is on schedule with city employee payroll and the water billing, before the new rate change, was up to date.

Coahoma Woman Receives Degree

Mrs. Nell Beistle, Coahoma, was among the 433 students of Abilene Christian College receiving degrees at the commencement exercises last Sunday afternoon.

She graduated magna cum laude with a bachelor's of science degree in education. While a student at ACC, Mrs. Beistle was a member of Alpha Chi, national honor society of colleges, and Kappa Delta Pi, education honor society.

She is the wife of Ralph Beistle, minister of the Coahoma Church of Christ. They have three children who are students at Coahoma High School and Coahoma Junior High School.

"We also were hurt by freight damage to the computer and that slowed up the water billing operations," said Smith. This delayed the January bills to the latter part of the month and first part of February.

Accordingly the February bills were delayed until the first days of March and approximately by March 15 we were able to get out the March bills, Smith explained. The April bills were then caught up on the computer and were being sent to the customers by April 8.

"In a sense the customers received three water bills from March 5 to April 8, because of the equipment change, damage and excess work on the finance

Society Honors Dental Chief

Dr. W. B. Hardy, chief of dental service at the Big Spring State Hospital, will be among a few to be honored with a life membership in the Texas Dental Society and the American Dental Society this week.

He and Mrs. Hardy left Saturday for Houston where the Texas Dental Society is having its meeting.

Life memberships are not granted unless a dentist has practiced for 40 years or more.

Dr. Hardy returned to his home town of Big Spring after completing his dental training and opened a private practice which he followed for more than 35 years. He had been active in professional affairs organizing many area seminars to bring in outstanding lecturers. He also had headed the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and the Boy Scout Council.

When the state hospital observed its 30th anniversary in 1969, he was the only person who had a continuous affiliation with the institution.

Four Cases Set For Trial

Two civil cases and two criminal cases are set for trial this week in 118th District Court. The civil cases will take priority over the criminal cases.

Set for trial Monday at 10 a.m. is the $10,000 damage suit of Dwanna Lee Robertson vs. the Southland Corp. The suit is in connection with injuries Mrs. Robertson alleges she received in a fall Dec. 11, 1970, on property belonging to the corporation.

A suit concerning a $2,128.07 note is second on the docket. The First National Bank in Big Spring is seeking recovery of that sum from Johnny Moore and Merrill Creighton.

The trial of Jose Antonio Saracho, 24, of 503 NW 4th, is third on the docket. Saracho was indicted July 10, 1968, for armed robbery.

The final case on the docket concerns shoplifting theft over $50 charge against Wesley Green, 42, Route 1. Green was indicted Feb. 11, 1970.

'KIDS GET VD AND GIRLS GET PREGNANT'

Free Clinic For 'Street People'

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP)—The two sides of the wall are less than a foot apart, but more than a world apart. On one side, the church ladies sit with hymn books on their laps at choir practice. On the other, the shaggy-maned "street people" of Dallas line up to get free treatment for what ails them. The city's Bethany Presbyterian Church is seeking to put Christianity into action.

BE A GIVER

"The church has been a taker. This is a real opportunity to be a giver," is how the Rev. Bill Bearden, Bethany's minister, explains it. "Something like this goes a long way towards changing the image the church has had for 25 years of counting only nickels and noses. Now all of a sudden it's interested in people."

The people they care for in the church's back room are not the people welcomed everywhere. They're students and dropouts, hippies and bums, the street people who live in single rooms, in communes, or no home at all.

When they get sick, they can't afford a doctor. So they go to Bethany. Some take their children along. The sign on the door at the back of the church says: "Free Clinic."

VOLUNTEERS

It's one of 70 such clinics throughout the nation. This one is served by 16 young doctors and 35 nurses who give a free evening as volunteers whenever they can.

It has a working agreement with the city and county health departments, law enforcement agents, Southwestern Medical School and the Dallas Council of Churches.

It advertises the facility only in one or two of the underground newspapers, which give space free. But news of its work is widely spread through the shifting street population by word of mouth.

NO HOSPITAL AIR

Push open the door and you're brought up short by the receptionists, who sit at a trestle table. They push a form at you to be filled, but it asks no nosy questions. If you don't give your real name, you are asked at least to stick with the same fictitious one. That helps keep the records straight.

While you sit in a row of wooden chairs, awaiting a doctor, you get a chance to look at the place.

It doesn't look much like the usual doctor's office, still less does it have the neat antiseptic air of a hospital.

And, except for a color reproduction of Holman Hunt's "The Light of the World," hung high on one wall, there's nothing to tell you it's church premises.

A youth wearing bell-bottom jeans, his hair on his shoulders, beads round his neck, is busy filing case folders in a rusty steel cabinet.

Another, a volunteer from the city's venereal disease clinic, sits in a corner in an improvised lab, ranging test tubes in racks amidst a welter of cartons and cigar boxes.

Two nurses bustle to and fro behind rough partitions screened by store window backdrops and painted blankets. Both wear bright pant suits—no starched caps and white coats here.

NO TELEPHONE

A doctor emerges in shirt sleeves and starts peering into a microscope set atop a disused television set.

A nurse goes for water—it's only source the drinking fountain in the corner.

The telephone never rings. There isn't one.

Steel filing cases stand with the doors opened, displaying a rich jumble of drugs and medicines, bandages and surgical stockings, tissues and paper towels. It's an atmosphere that might make some of the patients feel at home.

The three examining tables in the makeshift cubicles are second-hand. The medicines and other supplies have mostly been given by pharmaceutical companies.

The doctors are particularly concerned about infectious hepatitis, often spread by the use of dirty needles for drug injections, upper respiratory infections possibly linked to the passing around of "joints" or pot cigarettes, and venereal disease. These, and pregnancies, account for much of their work. Pregnancy cases are referred to a clergy panel for advice.

INFECTIONS

"We see very few problems directly related to drug use except some needle infections," remarks one of the doctors.

A member of the board which manages the clinic says: "People who come to us come clean. We certainly don't keep any drugs on the premises and they understand that they mustn't bring any in."

"Like it or not, rich or poor, kids get VD and girls get pregnant. Either way, they're afraid to tell their parents. So what they gonna do? They can come here and get treatment, no questions asked," says one of the volunteer workers.

To satisfy the law that minors can't have a medical examination without parental consent except in emergency or for VD, everyone is required to sign a waiver. Some even sign their real names.

'NICE PEOPLE'

"We're honest with them and hope they'll be honest with us," says Doug Barnes, a lawyer who got the free clinic incorporated.

Dr. Phil Raskin, one of the volunteer doctors, says he disagrees with those who say the kids they're helping won't amount to much anyway.

"The people we're looking after could make a large contribution to society," he says. "I'm not sure what their reasons for dropping out are, but my feeling is that if we can keep them healthy until they adjust to society or society adjusts to them, we'll have done something very worthwhile. They're nice people."

SMU Drink Rules Eased By Trustees

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist University trustees have agreed to permit drinking of alcoholic beverages in private quarters on campus.

The trustees Friday accepted a policy report approved more than two months ago by the University Assembly made up of students, teachers and administrators.

The report does prohibit "the consumption of alcoholic beverages in all public places on campus."

The Methodist denomination long has been one of the strongest opponents of liquor.

Dr. Willis Tate, SMU president, said, "I wish it were possible to isolate our youth from the harmful effects of alcohol, but realism forces me to acknowledge that this cannot be done any more than we can replace the parents in the countless homes where beverage alcohol is consumed."

Officials said students are reminded that the law forbids any person under the age of 21 to possess, buy or use alcoholic beverages except while with a parent or guardian.

'Little Miss' Seeking Sponsors For Contest

Marilyn Campbell, 12, is an accomplished acrobat who has won the talent division in both the Big Spring Little Miss contest and the district Little Miss contest in Andrews.

Marilyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Campbell, 402 Edwards, won the Andrews contest despite a broken hand. She competed with about 30 entrants in Big Spring and 60 entrants in Andrews.

Marilyn is looking for sponsors to help her go to the state contest in Waco at Baylor University June 21-26. She has one sponsor, the Joanna Patterson Charm School, that will pay her entrance fee. But she needs two more sponsors to help pay her expenses.

She is an "A" student in Park Hill elementary. She has been studying acrobatics for only two years. She spends most of her spare time practicing for the state meet.

The state meet will bring almost 200 girls together for six days of competition. The girls will be under observation in everything they do outside of their rooms. The winners will go to the national contest.

Small Business Week Slated

Small Business Week will be observed throughout the nation May 16-22, area residents were reminded this week by Floyd A. Henderson.

Henderson is the small business specialist at the Webb AFB procurement office.

"Any small business in this area desiring to learn how to do more business with the Air Force should contact me," he explained. "Representatives of small business may call 267-2511, extension 2605 or 2164, or they may visit us at building 625, just inside the north gate."

In a proclamation declaring observance of Small Business Week, President Richard M. Nixon noted, "...if small business is to realize its full potential in the years ahead, it needs and deserves wholehearted support from citizens and the business community as a whole, as well as the strong encouragement it already receives from government."

The President asked all Americans and their business organizations to join during the week in paying tribute to the accomplishments of small business and in helping small business toward continued strength and success.

"The American tradition of independent enterprise is as old as our society itself," the President's proclamation read. "Small business has grown into one of the principal economic forces in this, the world's greatest industrial nation," President Nixon said.

Colonels Even Utah Series

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky, inspired by the 31-point performance of Cincy Powell, scored a 105-102 victory over Utah Saturday in the American Basketball Association championship playoff.

Kentucky's victory, achieved before an enthusiastic home crowd of 11,793 plus a national television audience, tied the best-of-seven series at three triumphs each with the deciding game set for Tuesday night in Salt Lake City.

Utah appeared to have the championship clinched, holding a 100-95 lead with less than four minutes remaining. But Powell, playing head-to-head with Willie Wise, Utah's leading scorer with 34 points, hit a jumper and Louis Dampier hit a three-point play to tie the score at 100-all.

Utah, playing its first season in Salt Lake after a move from Los Angeles, forged ahead on a free throw by Zelmo Beatty, but once again Powell tied the score with his own free throw.

Forward Wal Simon gave Kentucky the lead for good with only 33 seconds remaining, sinking two free throws after a foul by Wise.

Dampier sealed the verdict by hitting two free throws, the last of his 22 points, with only 18 seconds showing.

Forward Red Robbins hit a single free throw for Utah in the closing moments and the Stars grabbed the rebound but missed on a long three-point shot attempt.

The contest was the most rugged of what Utah Coach Bill Sharman has called the "roughest playoffs I've ever seen."

Utah had 28 fouls, with Wise fouling out in the closing seconds, while the Colonels committed 30 violations.

Steer Ace Enrolling In Odessa College

Howard Stewart, who excelled in two sports for Big Spring High School, received and signed a golf scholarship to attend Odessa College last week.

Stewart won medalist honors in Class AAAA regional competition in Odessa recently and led the Steers to the state playoffs.

In addition to his golfing talents, Howard also starred on the gridiron for the Big Spring football team at a linebacker position.

Stewart had entertained bids from several schools before deciding on the Odessa school. He eventually hopes to attend the University of Houston.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Canonero II, the surprise Kentucky Derby winner from Venezuela, outdueled Eastern Fleet in a sizzling two-horse battle Saturday and won the 96th Preakness at Pimlico in track record time.

Shortly after the finish an inquiry was flashed but was taken down in a matter of minutes and the order finish stood with Canonero II first, Eastern Fleet second and Jim French third.

Finishing fourth in the field of 11 3-year-olds was Sound Off.

In winning the 1 3/16 mile Preakness in 1:54 flat—3 5/16ths of a second faster than the old track mark—Canonero II kept alive his chances of becoming thoroughbred horse racing's ninth Triple Crown winner and first since Citation won the Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes in 1948.

Canonero II, a $1,200 yearling purchase at Kenneland, was the 3-1 favorite with Jim French by the record Pimlico crowd of 47,221.

Canonero II paid $8.80, $6.20 and $4.40 after scoring by 1 1/2 lengths over Calumet Farm's Eastern Fleet, who returned $8.20 and $5.20.

Jim French, owned by Frank J. Caldwell, paid $3.20 after gaining the show by a nose over Sound Off. Eastern Fleet was 4 1/2 lengths ahead of Jim French.

Hart Leads Giants Past Cubs, 8-5

Wes Hart pitched and batted the Giants to an 8-5 decision over the Cubs in the National Peewee League Saturday.

Hart had a double driving in one run and pitched an excellent game for the Giants. Scott Moore took the loss for the Cubs.

The top hitter for the winners was Mike Eggleston with a triple.

Death Victim

BRIDGETON, N.J. (AP) — Leon Allen "Goose" Goslin, a baseball Hall of Famer who played with three American League teams between 1921 and 1938, died at Bridgeton Hospital today. He was 70.

FORT WORTH (AP) — I. B. Hale, 55, former All-American football player at Texas Christian University and captain of the 1938 national football champions, died of a heart attack Friday night.

Robinson's 477th Homer Spurs Baltimore Past Sox

BOSTON (AP)—Frank Robinson, battling his way out of a slump, knocked in four runs with a home run and a single as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Boston Red Sox 7-4 Saturday.

Robinson cracked a drive over the left field wall after Boston starter Mike Nagy walked Don Buford and Mark Belanger to start the third inning of the nationally televised contest. It was Robinson's second homer of the year and 477th of his career.

The Orioles, trimming Boston's American League East lead to 1 1/2 games, picked up an unearned run in the fifth, then added a tally on Buford's single in the seventh.

Dave McNally allowed eight hits and two runs in five innings, but picked up his sixth victory in eight decisions with relief help from Tom Dukes, who surrendered a two-run homer to Rico Petrecci in the eighth.

Pokes' Park May Not Be Ready For Opener

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — Clint Murchison, owner of the Dallas Cowboys, says it will be "nip-and-tuck" whether Texas Stadium is ready for the Aug. 14 pre-season exhibition opener with the New Orleans Saints. Murchison says an acoustic treatment being sprayed on the underside of the stadium's roof will delay installation of the tartan turf 30 to 45 days. It takes about 60 days to put down the turf.

"If we can't play the New Orleans game we will automatically eliminate the second game (Cleveland at Dallas Aug. 21) for Texas Stadium," Murchison says. "We will come back, however, and be ready for the third pre-season game in Texas Stadium on Sept. 11 with Kansas City." The alternate site is the Cotton Bowl. The $25 million stadium, located in this Dallas suburb, is rapidly taking shape. It will have parking for 15,000 cars, 115 drinking fountains, 86 rest rooms and an "Open Dome."

The "Open Dome" covers all seats yet leaves a roof opening somewhat larger than the playing surface. The fans will be sheltered from the rain and sun, but the game will be—in effect—played outdoors, eventually, the Cowboys plan to provide radiant heat in the stands.

The stadium will seat 65,000—well below the Cotton Bowl capacity of 72,000. Bert Rose, general manager of Texas Stadium, said capacity "very closely approximates the Cowboys' average attendance over the past few years." Also, he said "There is an optimum size for the stadium" and pointed out that the Cowboys could raise just as much money in a Super Bowl game as say New Orleans by raising the price per ticket.

The Cowboys have unveiled a new installment financing plan for purchase of seat-option bonds. The plan calls for a down payment of $6, and $6 a month for 49 months.

Murchison says this answers any charges that the little man is being squeezed out of buying bonds.

"They are our lifeblood," Murchison says.

Murchison envisions ultimately selling 50,000 bonds, leaving 15,000 seats for the general public.

"This would be more general seats than any stadium in the National Football League with a similar bond option plan," Murchison says.

TO EMPLOY 1,100 Murchison says on game day the Texas Stadium Corp. will employ some 1,100 persons.

"We ultimately expect this to be the sports center of North Texas," Murchison says with North Texas and Bishop College already scheduled in 1971.

POINT TOURNAMENT SLATED TODAY Fee Set For Partnership

The Big Spring Golf Association will sponsor a point tournament at the Municipal Golf Course today. At noon Saturday 25 individuals had signed up for the event.

Club pro Charley Brantley said there was a good turnout of golfers on the course Saturday and gave credit for such a turnout to the beautiful summer weather.

Charley mentioned that more would have been on the course but several local golfers were out of town participating in tournaments in McCamey and Snyder.

He also pointed out that, barring unforeseen problems, the putting green should be available for use by the middle of July.

Don't forget that big tournament coming up June 13-14 at the Big Spring Country Club. It's the Big Spring Amateur Partnership and should be a dilly.

Entry fee is $25 per team or $12.50 per player and the field will be limited to 110 teams.

Deadline for entering this event is 7 p.m. June 10 so for an exciting two days of golf get your name on the entry list at the country club.

C. G. Griffith reports the country club course is in excellent condition and playing remarkably well. Huge crowds were getting in their links on the course Saturday.

A two-man team, best ball tournament is scheduled for the Webb course May 29-30. Entry fee for this event, open to military personnel only, is $3 per team.

Action May 29 will begin with a shotgun start at 9 o'clock. Players will be able to use full handicap in this tournament, which has proved to be the most popular type staged at the base course.

Dewitt Weaver's Five Under Leads Houston Invitational

HOUSTON (AP) — Husky DeWitt Weaver shrugged off a triple bogey seven, shot a 69 and moved into the third-round lead in the $125,000 Houston Champions Invitational Golf Tournament Saturday.

Weaver, still winless but enjoying his best year in seven seasons on the pro tour, had a 54-hole total of 208, five-under-par on the treacherous 7,166-yard Champions Golf Club course.

ONE-STROKE LEAD He held a one-stroke lead over fast-closing Masters champion Charles Coody and second-round leader Hubert Green.

Coody, who hasn't finished worse than seventh in his last five starts, had a sparkling 67.

The rookie Green had to rally from a bad start to score a 72, one over for the day. They were tied at 209.

Bob Murphy, with a 68, and Lou Graham, 69, followed at 210.

Amateur Ben Crenshaw and Dave Hill, tied for third just two strokes off the lead going into the hot, sunny day, both had their troubles. Crenshaw hit to birdie the final hole for a 73 and 212. Hill took a seven on the par-three 12th hole and finished well back after a 77 for 216.

Paunchy veteran Bob Rosburg, made the biggest move, however, scoring a course record 64, seven-under-par on one of the toughest courses the pros play all year. He had seven birdies, no bogeys and didn't miss a green as he posted a 215 total.

Lee Trevino barged into contention with a 66 for 214. Arnold Palmer couldn't get going, however, and was far off the pace with a 73 for 219.

Church Of God Prevails 7-6

Huck Doe went all the way on the mound for the First Church of God Friday night as they defeated St. Paul Lutheran, 7-6, in Church League softball action.

The First Church of God came up with five big runs in the fourth inning to put the game on ice. Bobby Douglass picked up two runs batted in in the inning with a long single. Don Hickson also contributed a run-scoring hit in the fourth. Douglass was the only man with more than one hit with the winners and he had two.

Ron Kramer and Art Schmidt each had two hits for St. Paul Lutheran in a losing effort. Kramer was charged with the loss.

Jim Ryun Faces Stern Challenge In Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jim Ryun, the world's fastest miler, puts his comeback to its sternest test Sunday against the runner who helped drive him into retirement almost two years ago.

Ryun matches strides, strategy and perhaps psychology with Marty Liquori in the mile event of the Martin Luther King Games on the lightning fast Tartan track at Franklin Field.

The 24-year-old Ryun is favored to defeat Liquori in a super race that could produce a dream time if the pace is fast. Ryun owns the world record for a mile, 3:51.1, while Liquori's best is 3:57.2. In 10 previous meetings between the two, either at a mile of 1,500 meters, Ryun has won eight and Liquori two.

JIM RYUN

REBUTTAL

Liquori backers, however, point out the most of Ryun's victories over their favorite were before the Villanova finance student developed into one of the world's finest distance runners. They say Liquori, three years younger at 21, is capable of breaking 3:50.

The last time Ryun and Liquori met was at the National AAU Championships in Miami, June 29, 1969. Liquori won in 3:59.5 while Ryun did not finish, walking off the track into a retirement from running that lasted until January, 1971.

Ryun says he doesn't know why he quit that day in Miami, but that he'd never again walk off a track as he did and quit. He claims to have regained his enthusiasm for running. His 3:55.8 last month, fastest outdoor mile in the world this year, indicates he has regained the form that made him the best before walking away from it all.

Bob Timmons, the Kansas coach who advises Ryun, says Jim is ready to come all the way back. He says the former Kansas miler is excited about what he hopes to do, mainly win the 1,500-meter event at the 1972 Olympics in Munich, Germany, perhaps smashing his world record of 3:53.1.

Jim "Jumbo" Elliott, Liquori's coach at Villanova, concedes Ryun's better time and physical durability, but he observes that Liquori is a tremendous competitor.

"He (Liquori) never runs for time, but just fast enough to win; that's why his times aren't as fast as Ryun's," contends Elliott. "He's in the best shape of his life and he's ready for this race."

Elliott also points out that Liquori beat Ryun the last two times they met, and that his protege is now older and stronger than at those times. Liquori defeated Ryun in the NCAA championships June 21, 1969—3:57.7 to 3:59.3. He followed with that historic victory eight days later in the AAUs at Miami.

How do the two runners feel about the race?

Both are upset that it has been built to super race proportion. They say it's just another race, one of a number they'll have between now and the 1972 Olympics. Both say judgment day is in Munich.

BOTH UPSET

The 165-pound Liquori concedes that Ryun should be the favorite on the basis of comparative times and previous meetings. He says that Ryun is physically stronger and unbeatable—if he is allowed to conserve his strength for the final 200 yards.

"If I am to beat him it will have to be a mental thing," says Liquori, almost a humble approach for one of the most confident athletes in the world.

The 6-foot Villanovan says the pace is what worries him most. "I'm hoping for a nice fast pace, but who is going to set it I don't know," he states.

Others who have indicated they will run are Arnie Kvalheim of Norway and the Oregon Track Club, Chris Mason of Villanova, Joe Sarnage, Manhattan freshman; Brian McElroy of Villanova, Reggie McAfee, a cross country champion who recently ran a 4:07 mile; Keith Colburn of Sports International, Sam Bair of the Pacific Coast Club and Dennis Fikes, a Penn Freshman.

KEINO MAY SHOW

Whether Kip Keino of Kenya, Olympic 1,500-meter gold medal winner, will show up for the race was not known. Officials of the King Games said Keino wanted to run, but was having trouble getting approval for the trip from his country.

Ryun says the race won't be an easy one for either runner physically or psychologically. He doesn't know if his better times and previous superiority over Liquori still are a factor. "That's for him (Liquori) to decide," Ryun said recently.

VALDES SPENT 7 SEASONS IN PRO BALL Patience, Handling Hurlers Secret Of Good Catching

By GENE NORTON

What does it take to be a catcher in professional baseball? Big Spring's Al Valdes has the answer.

The Cuban-born Valdes played professional baseball for seven seasons and caught more than 3,000 pro games in that span. He is an authority at working behind the plate in a baseball contest.

"In order to be a good catcher you have to hustle, know how to handle a pitcher and have patience, both with your pitcher and the umpire," Valdes said recently. "You gotta be cool to be a catcher," he continued. "And, you have to be a leader and set the example for your teammates."

Al began his professional career with the Class A Havana Cubans in 1948. In 1949 he signed with a Class C team in Big Spring. The following year he played in Tyler, Tex., and returned to the Spring City for the 1951, '52 and '53 seasons.

During the summer months he would play in the States and when winter came he always returned to South America to play winter baseball. He performed in Panama, Mexico, Columbia, Cuba and Venezuela.

His best batting average in the States was in Big Spring when he hit .304 over the 150-game season. He hit .327 one season in Havana in 80 contests.

LANIER BEST

Al commented that the best pitcher he ever faced was southpaw Max Lanier, who had a productive major league career. Other outstanding diamond greats Valdes played with and against include Dick Sisler, Don Hoak, Minnie Minose and Camillo Pascual. One winter season in Havana, he was managed by Bobby Bragan, Fort Worth native and former big league player and manager.

One story the former catcher enjoys telling concerns Chuck Connors, former professional baseballer and now a member of the acting profession.

"I played against Chuck during my career," Valdes says. "He was always acting, even in uniform. He was a crazy son of a gun and went around telling everybody that he was going to be a big movie star."

"One day Chuck announced that he was leaving for Hollywood and by golly, the next thing I knew he was a star in movies and television."

IN HIS PRIME AS RECEIVER Al Valdes played the best

Connors is most known for his television series, "The Rifleman."

A pitcher unknown to the average baseball fan gets the nod as the best pitcher Valdes ever caught in a game. "Jiqui Moreno was the best pitcher I ever worked with," he commented. "He had a blazing fast ball and a good curve." Moreno spent a time in the big circuit with the Washington Senators.

HARD TO CATCH

Continuing to talk about his favorite subjects, catching and pitching, Valdes said, "I never caught Hoyt Wilhelm in a game but I did catch him in warm-ups once and he was sure hard to catch. His knuckleball was just like a butterfly. Its no wonder he has been in the major leagues so long. I would hate to have to try and hit him."

Al left Big Spring in 1953 and moved along with Big Spring manager Pat Stacy to Roswell, N.M., where the two continued their careers in baseball. The next season Valdes played with Greenville, S.C., in the Tri-State League in what was his final professional season.

Valdes had been with the Tyler team for two weeks in 1950 when one of the funniest incidents of his career occurred.

"We played the team from Marshall and everyone of their players was extremely fast. I threw out nine of their runners at second in that game and it set a league record at the time," he said.

"The next time we played there, I missed the game because a friend of mine was supposed to pick me up in his car and he didn't. When the Tyler fans found out why I wasn't at the game, they took up a collection and purchased a 1948 Plymouth and gave it to me at home plate before the next home game. I didn't have a driver's license, in fact, I couldn't even drive a car. The fans started yelling 'drive it, drive it.' Finally I got in the car and got it started. I made it to the centerfield fence and it quit on me. One of the other players had to drive it away for me."

Even though his playing career ended several years ago, Valdes has kept his interest alive in baseball. He has worked for many seasons in youth baseball in Big Spring. In 1957, he managed the National League Yankees to the city playoffs. He took the junior Cardinals to the District playoffs in San Angelo one season and has worked with the High Junior Pirates and managed Peeewe teams here.

From Havana, Cuba to Big Spring, Tex., is a long way—a trek made shorter for Al Valdes by a career in professional baseball.

NCAA-AAU Feud Will Be Aired

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The presidents of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and Amateur Athletic Union will meet Monday in Knoxville to discuss a long-standing feud between the two groups.

AAU President Jack Kelly of Philadelphia requested the meeting with Dr. Earl Ramer, NCAA president and faculty chairman of athletics at the University of Tennessee. Kelly is a former Olympic gold medal winner in sculling.

The AAU and NCAA have been at odds for years over administration of amateur athletics in the United States. In seeking the conference, Kelly said he hoped to find some possible basis for settling the dispute.

Both Kelly and Ramer stressed that the talks scheduled are exploratory. But Ramer added that "we are trying to find a way of bringing the two organizations together."

Primarily, the dispute centers on whether the AAU or the NCAA shall control track meets and other amateur athletic events.

The NCAA has banned college athletes from participating in AAU meets under threat of loss of their athletic scholarships.

The AAU has been the traditional governing body of open track meets in this country. But NCAA schools, which supply most of the athletes, argue they have a responsibility to determine whether proper conditions are met for off-campus competition by their students.

The NCAA also has barred the AAU from using many of its members' facilities.

Kelly takes the position that many of the NCAA universities are tax-supported and for that reason the NCAA has no right to forbid the AAU the use of their facilities.

"Our big gripe with the NCAA," he said, "is its method of lumping all sports into one category and allowing no outside competition during the school year."

Several attempts by outsiders, including the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur, failed to resolve the dispute.

Cards Return Home Today

The Big Spring Cardinals return to the friendly confines of Steer Park today in take on the Piedras Negras, Mexico Astros in a doubleheader.

The first game gets under way at 1:30 p.m. and between innings the fans will be entertained by a local band featuring live music.

Probable starting lineup for the Red Birds will see Felix Martinez at shortstop, Jesse Zapata in left field, Pat Martinez at first base, Tony Martinez at third base, Billy Pineda at second, Andy Gamboa in center field, Lupe Perez or Benny Marquez Jr., in right field and either Abel Ramirez or Joe Martinez behind the plate.

Jody Mendoza or Jody Florez will get the pitching call for the opener with Tony Fierro and Orlando Olague available for relief work.

The Cardinals are 4-4 on the season. The Piedras Negras sport a 6-1 record.

LITTLE LEAGUE Indians Scalp Giants, 12-3

Del Poss' two-run home run in the final inning tipped the scales the way in their dramatic 10-8 victory over the Braves in National Little League play here Friday night.

Gary Tidwell hit a grand slam four-master for the Yanks in the midst of a six-run outburst in the fourth.

Down 8-1 going into the fifth, the Braves exploded for six runs in that round and then tied it with one in the sixth.

The Yanks put the first hitter aboard in the sixth. Poss then came to bat.

Steve Carri of the Braves had a four-master, in addition to a double and a single.

The Indians came up with eight runs in the second inning against the Giants in Texas Little League action Friday night and went on to record a 21-3 victory.

The win was the second for the Indians against four setbacks. The Giants are winless in six outings.

Larry Duron and Henry Guzman were the big guns at the plate for the Indians. Duron had three hits and Guzman collected two.

The Tigers blasted the Wildcats, 10-3 in International Minor League action Friday night, behind the steady pitching of Cherry.

Keith Kedick, Terrel Morton, David Salazar, John Dejarlo and A. J. Stanley all garnered hits for the winners. Stanley also contributed two fielding gems at first base.

In the National Minor League circuit Friday night the Bugs nipped the Tigers in a close one, 8-5, behind the stellar hurdling of Dale Ernest and Ricky Thompson.

For the winners, Carl Barnes and Randy Cregar collected two hits each.

The Hawks mounted a withering attack through the first four innings and went on to defeat the Pirates, 14-2, in American Little League play here Friday night.

Tommy Churchwell, the winning pitcher, surrendered only two hits to the Bucs. Those were by Chuck Pringle and Steve Hughes.

Jody Newnam paced the winners with three hits while Steve Evans, Brad Sinder, Mike Evans and Jody Rogers each had two safeties for the winners.

The Hawks are now 6-1 in the standings while the Pirates dropped back to 2-5.

Despite Crises, McLain Registers 3-2 Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Denry McLain's first confrontation with his former Detroit Tiger teammates was a winning one. But he had to be a tough pitcher to preserve the 3-2 Washington victory Friday night.

McLain left the game for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the ninth when the Senators came up with their game-winning run on Paul Casanova's sacrifice fly that scored Toby Harrah, who led off the inning with a double.

McLain is posting his fourth victory of the season threw a total of 127 pitches. In the three innings prior to the ninth, he pitched out of these situations: Runners on second and third and nobody out, first and second and nobody out, and first and second and one out.

But Denny said beating the Tigers wasn't the greatest game of his career. "I consider the sixth game of the 1968 World Series my greatest victory," he said. "But I've got to put this up among the best ones."

"My wife probably feels this more emotionally than I do," he said. "Everything I went through last year, she went through. This must mean a lot to her."

Massengale Wins In Links Tourney

STANTON — In the Martin County Teachers Golf Tournament completed here recently, J. W. Massengale of Flower Grove won both low net and low gross honors.

Bill Young, the Stanton coach, registered the second low gross score, finishing just ahead of Tommy Gregory. Young was awarded a trophy.

Ted Gates of Flower Grove posted the second low net while Duain Henson, a Stanton school board member, and Young tied for third low net honors.

In all, 18 players took part in the tournament and Flower Grove, Greenwood and Grady, as well as Stanton, were represented in the meet.

Duncan Leads Exes To Win Over Steers

BY GENE NORTON

Dave Duncan, all-district 5-AAAA quarterback last season, ran and passed the Seniors to an 18-14 verdict over the Big Spring Steers here Saturday.

Headed for Texas Christian University on a football grant-in-aid, Duncan was just too much for the underclassmen to contain.

Duncan scored twice during the controlled scrimmage. His scoring jaunts came on runs of 10 and 60 yards. In addition, he hit several clutch passes to receivers Grady Ray and Tommy Fletcher.

Inability to hold on to the football cost the Bovines dearly. They coughed up the ball three times during the contest. The most costly fumble was by Arthur Trevino after he had rambled 75 yards on a dash from his own three yard line.

COSTLY BOBBLE

Trevino fumbled late in the contest when it appeared the varsity was about to punch over the winning score. He was hit hard by Fletcher at the Seniors' 20 yard line and the ball fell loose and was recovered by the upperclassmen. From there Duncan simply ran out the clock by keeping the ball on the ground.

The varsity unit was first on the scoreboard when quarter-back Mike Adams connected with flanker Mike McCormick on a 35 yard pass-and run play early in the game.

The Seniors came right back to knot the score at six apiece on Duncan's 10-yard spurt around right end.

SAFETY

After an exchange the Seniors were on the move again and almost took the lead but the varsity defense dug in and took the football at the Steer three. On the first play, Trevino bolted over tackle, hit daylight, and dashed 75 yards only to lose the ball when he was tackled.

Near the end of the first half Phillip Ferguson, Seniors running back was trapped in his own end zone for a safety and the varsity took the lead at 8-6.

Early in the second half Duncan scored on his 60 yard burst to put his mates back into the lead.

Following a 45-yard runback of a Duncan interception by Earl Reynolds, Trevino blasted over from the six for the Steers.

Final score of the contest went to Senior Tony Dean on a 35-yard gallop up the middle for a touchdown.

Turning in outstanding performances for the varsity on defense were Reynolds and defensive end Cal Lowery. Offensively McCormick did an excellent job.

Commenting following the scrimmage, Steer mentor Clovis Hale said, "I'm never satisfied to get beat but as long as we are making progress I'm alright."

The Big Spring coach went on, "I am more satisfied with our kids' effort this year than I have ever been. Our defense was really aggressive out there today. They were really hitting."

"They had their hands full with Duncan, but he is a tremendous athlete," he continued.

Spring Banquet And Game Both Slated This Week

Ticket sales continue this week for the annual Black and Gold football game Friday night and the Spring Banquet set Thursday evening at 7:30 in the high school cafeteria.

Deuts to the football game may be purchased at Gibbs & Weeks, the Highland Park Shopping Center Barber Shop or from any member of the Big Spring Quarterback Club. Cost is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Pasteboards to the banquet may be purchased at the same locations and they are selling for $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children.

Former Oklahoma University football player Bill Krisher will be the guest speaker at the banquet.

Coach Clovis Hale said he would probably divide the football squads no later than Wednesday. In actuality, two games will be unrehearsed, with the younger kids tangling around 5:30 p.m.

J. W. Dickens announced that anyone desiring to write in and order tickets either to the banquet or to the football game may ask them by writing to the Big Spring Quarterback Club, Box 100, Big Spring.

Sparks, Newsies Deadlock, 8-8

The Sparks and Newsies battled to an 8-8 deadlock in National Peevée competition here Saturday morning.

The Newsies came up with five big runs in the bottom of the fourth to knot the game.

Mike Stevens led the Sparks with a two-run double and Todd Underwood had a double driving across one run for the Newsies.

Chippers Kayo Intech, 12-1

Morton's Chippers lowered the boom on Intech, 12-1, and Goodyear measured the Merchants, 9-1, in City Softball League games played in Comanche Trail Park Thursday evening.

Dean Stephenson and Cotton Mize, who shared chores on the hill for Morton's, kept the Intech team on a one-hit ration. That was a first inning single by Colton Wright.

The Chippers made the most of 13 safeties, Roy New and Ralph Cirillo each driving out three hits for the winners. One of Cirillo's drives was a third inning home run.

Robert Prescott pitched Goodyear to its win, limiting the Merchants to two hits. Those were by Steve Devalle and Rod Roberts.

Nine hits caromed off the bats of the Goodyear team, Gary Akins, Francis Johns and Jackie Wolf collecting two bingles each.

Gary Holley and Toby Green; Dean Stephenson, Cotton Mize and Jerald Cox; Merchants: 100 100 0-1 2; Goodyear: 110 151 4-9.

Bentsen Submits 'Bumper Bill'

WASHINGTON — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen has introduced his "bumper bill" as an amendment to the motor vehicle information and cost savings act (S. 976) now undergoing committee hearings.

The bill would require auto manufacturers to install bumpers which would absorb collisions up to 10 miles per hour. Sen. Bentsen estimated this would save auto owners over $1 billion annually in auto repairs and auto insurance costs.

Four Students Selected For Nuclear Science Meet

Four students and four teachers from Big Spring area high schools have been selected to attend the 11th Texas Nuclear Science Symposium for high schools to be held at the University of Texas at Austin June 7-10. Don Womack, Texas Electric Service Company, district manager announced.

They will be sponsored by TESCO, a member of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation which is joining with the university in putting on the symposium. The foundation is made up of 10 investor-owned electric power companies in Texas.

The students selected are Mike Williamson, Big Spring; Phillip Medlin, Forsan; Mary Wallace, Sands; and Robert Lee David, Lamesa.

Teachers accompanying them will be D. P. (Pat) Lawrence, Big Spring High; D. H. Redwine, Forsan High; Mrs. Faye Wallace, Sands High; and David Richard Burton, Lamesa High.

Some 500 outstanding science students and their teachers from throughout the state will attend the four-day meeting. Scientists and engineers from industry and education will discuss nuclear physics and related topics, and two afternoons will be spent touring the science laboratories at the university, including where experiments sponsored by the research foundation are being carried on in thermonuclear (fusion) research. The opening address at the symposium will be made by Dr. Edward Teller, professor of physics at the University of California and associate director of the university's Lawrence Radiation Laboratory in Livermore, Calif. Dr. Teller, who helped develop both the atomic and hydrogen bombs, is presently involved with applications of nuclear energy, astrophysics and molecular physics, along with his science teaching.

Other noted speakers scheduled during the symposium include Cong. Olin E. Teague, a member of the House science and astronautics committee, who will give the commencement address on Thursday; Dr. H. O. Pollak, director of the mathematics and statistics research center for Bell Telephone Laboratories; Dr. Philip C. Johnson, professor of medicine and chief of the radioisotope laboratory at The Methodist Hospital, Houston; Dr. A. E. Robson, research scientist in the plasma physics research center of the University of Texas at Austin; Dr. Robert G. Cochran, professor and head of the nuclear engineering department at Texas A&M University; Dr. W. Pater Trower, associate professor of physics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va.; and Dr. Richard Caldwell of the Mobile Research Laboratories, Dallas.

Dr. Earnest F. Gloyna, dean of engineering at the University of Texas at Austin, is chairman of the symposium.

Texas Electric Service Company and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation are able to provide this educational opportunity for students and teachers because of our association with the university in the thermonuclear research program," Womack said. "We are vitally interested because Nuclear fusion is an important potential source of energy for electric power generation. It also offers the promise of being able to generate power with minimum effect upon the environment."

Baccalaureate Service Sunday

ACKERLY — Baccalaureate services for the Flower Grove seniors will be in the school auditorium next Sunday at 8 p.m.

Graduation exercises will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday May 25 in the high school auditorium. Final exams are scheduled for Thursday and Friday. Buses will run May 25 to bring students to receive report cards and turn in books. This session will be from 9 a.m. to approximately 11 a.m.

Road And Bridge Employees Union On County Agenda

Recognition of the county road and bridge employees' membership in local 826 of the Union of Operating Engineers of the AFL-CIO will be one of the top items on the agenda for the county commissioners when they meet at 9 a.m. Monday.

The county dads are scheduled to meet with Kenneth Howell, business manager of Local 826 at 10 a.m. Howell presented a petition for recognition in an emergency commissioners' court session Wednesday at 11 a.m.

Thirty of the county's 40 road employees had signed cards authorizing the union to represent them, according to Howell. The move to organize apparently arises out of dissatisfaction with changes that have been instituted since the changeover in the court and supervisory personnel and with low pay, according to Howell.

Commissioners may request the return of the premiums they have paid for personal property damage insurance since the first of the year. Discussion of such action results for a ruling from the state attorney general's office that it was illegal for governing bodies to use tax money to pay for such insurance. Currently, the county is insured against personal property damage by the Westchester Fire Insurance Co.

Purchase of right-of-way on U.S. 87 South to the old San Angelo Hwy. is on the agenda for discussion. Commissioners are also to discuss the meeting in Lamesa next Friday and Saturday of the Hwy. 87 Improvement Committee.

Discussion of the purchase of materials for the road and bridge department occupies its usual place on the agenda. Commissioners are covering all contingencies by including "and any other problems that might exist within the county road and bridge department."

The final item on the agenda reads: "discussion on buying materials for the Howard County Courthouse or any other problems that might exist within the Howard County Courthouse."

Class Of '71

By JO BRIGHT

Who says the future isn't in good hands?

Not members of the kindergarten "Class of '71."

With high hopes and faith in the future, they are preparing to take their places in the ranks of scholars who will be tomorrow's leaders.

Three local kindergartens will be holding formal graduation exercises this month.

Berea Kindergarten, 4204 Wasson Road, has scheduled its ceremonies for 7:30 p.m., May 26, at the school, where Rev. Bill O'Dell, pastor of Berea Baptist Church, will present the diplomas.

Big Spring Christian Day School, 1600 Wasson, will hold its spring exercises at 7:00 p.m., Tuesday, in the Activities Building of the First Baptist Church, 705 W. Marcy Drive, where the presentation will be by Mrs. Mack Alexander, school principal.

Jack and Jill Kindergarten has slated its graduation at 7:30 p.m., May 28, in the sanctuary of the First Church of God, 2009 Main, where the graduates will be presented by Miss Arah Phillips, school principal.

Maybe the mortar boards are a bit askew, but the hands that hold the diplomas are confidently reaching out to the future.

"WE FINALLY MADE IT" says Kevin Van Gilder, son of T. Sgt. and Mrs. Jimmie D. Van Gilder, 225-A Langley, taking a quiet pride in his accomplishments as he discusses the big day with another member of the graduation class, Pamela Riddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Riddle, Rt. 2, Big Spring. The youngsters are among the 23 May graduates of the kindergarten class at Big Spring Christian Day School.

Congratulations, Graduates!

"I CAN'T BELIEVE IT" says young Eric Hanley, son of T. Sgt. and Mrs. Rufus Hanley, 219-A Langley, who gazes in wonder at his first "sheepskin." Having completed all requirements for his diploma, Eric will proudly march down the aisle with 14 classmates during graduation exercises for Berea Kindergarten.

"WHAT LIES AHEAD?" Wonder three serious scholars who are looking to the future as they prepare to climax their first walk through the halls of learning. The spring graduates of Jack and Jill Kindergarten are, from left, John Rodriguez Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rodriguez

Sr., 509 Abrams; Kimberly Hagood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oakey Hagood, 518 Scott Drive; and Alan Caldwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Caldwell, Box 344, Coahoma. The school's graduating class numbers 46.

Miss Vicki Hammond Weds Jerry Moring

Miss Vicki Ann Hammond became the bride of Jerry Wayne Moring in a formal ceremony performed by the Rev. Leo K. Gee Saturday evening in the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church.

The altar setting was enhanced by a sunburst arrangement of white chrysanthemums and greenery flanked by twin candelabra holding cathedral tapers. The prelude of nuptial music was performed by Mrs. Mary Skalicky, organist, and Mrs. Carl Bradley, vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Hammond, 1200 Lamar, and the late Mrs. Mary Louise Hammond. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Mullens, 3705 Dixon.

Miss Hammond's bridal attire was a white satin Empire gown styled with A-line skirt. The high-rise bodice featured shirred chiffon puffed sleeves, and the gown was trimmed with beaded lace. Her headpiece was a bandeau of satin roses from which fell a tiered veil of French illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, lily of the valley and babies'-breath.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Farquhar's pale green crepe gown was trimmed with matching lace, and Miss Moring wore an identical gown in pale yellow crepe. Flower clusters formed their headpieces, and they carried single carnations of green and yellow tied with streamers.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

The time for the last school bell of the season is just about upon us and it won't be long before the public school youngsters are free for three months.

If I remember correctly it is the time that also frees a number of other things. Like feet from shoes, bodies from burdensome school clothing and minds from thinking. It is the time when the out-of-schooler can sleep a little longer in the morning and stay up later at night... whether he can stay awake any longer is something to be seen.

It's such a wonderful feeling to just have nothing to do at any special time. Just nothing. However, as I recall, this is a short-lived period. In my being out of school days I believe that about two weeks covered all the time my mother could put up with this complete freedom and she could find more chores for my sisters and me to do than I thought at the time, the law allowed.

We were delegated to specified parts of our big house and we had our housecleaning jobs. We helped with the laundry, washed dishes all summer, it seemed for our numerous visiting relatives.

But we had fun in the afternoons when we took our 20 cents and went swimming, to the picture show or the skating rink. And believe it or not, we spent many a Saturday hiking all the way to South Mountain or Scenic Drive. Some may have ventured as far as Signal Mountain but I never got there until I was grown and then we drove as near as we could get before we started hiking.

It's a good time of year for school to be out! How sorry I'd feel for anyone who went to school 12 months out of 12.

Among the Big Spring recipients of the Master of Arts degree at Texas Tech University Saturday night in Lubbock were Mrs. JACK (Fern) ALEXANDER and Mrs. JOHN (Dorothy) SMITH. Mrs. Alexander completed her work for the MA in home economics at mid term. Mrs. Smith's degree is in special education.

MRS. GEORGE HARRIS of Dallas, the houseguest of MR. and MRS. L. T. KING, was entertained Thursday morning at the King home with a small coffee. Mrs. Harris and Mrs.

King have been friends since college days.

A former resident of Big Spring who for many years has made her home in Houston, La., has been visiting here for the past week as the houseguest of Mrs. CUN GRIGSBY. She is Mrs. J. L. LeBLEU and she has been the honoree for a number of luncheons and also at meetings of poker and bridge clubs of which she was a former member.

Mrs. LeBLEU plans to leave Big Spring Monday night for her home in Louisiana.

MRS. EBB HATCH is in Dallas where she joined Mrs. MONROE JOHNSON and the JEFF HANNA family from Beaumont to attend the horse show now in progress there. Mrs. Johnson had been to Beaumont to be with her grandson, Jay Hanna, after he suffered a baseball injury.

All the Hannas are horse show devotees and daughter Marta frequently takes part in the jumping events. The Hannas are past residents of Big Spring when Dr. Hanna was on the staff of Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Hatch and Mrs. Johnson plan to return here soon.

MR. and MRS. ROSS BOYKIN have returned from Dallas where they spent the past week with her mother and other relatives.

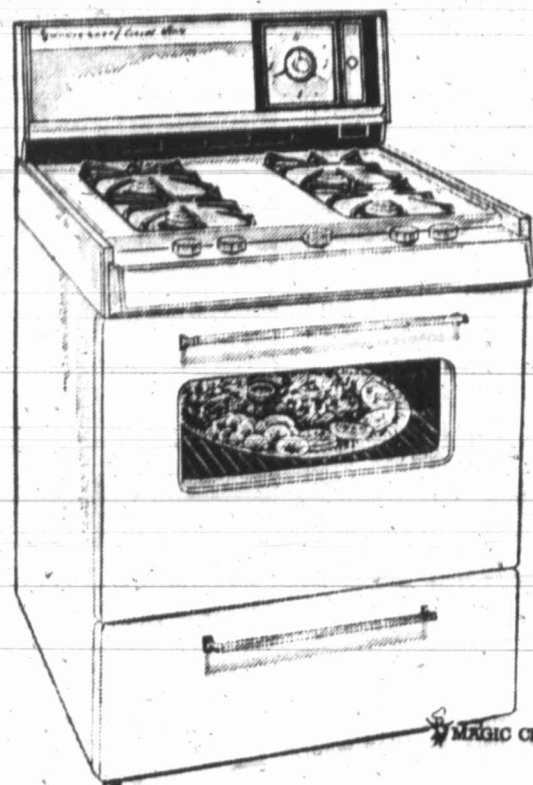

BOB DICKERSON, who is with the Patrick Oil Company in New Orleans, was here briefly Thursday to visit his parents, MR. and MRS. C. W. DICKERSON. He flew from here to the coast of lower California for a brief bit of deer sea fishing.

I've contended for the past year that it was getting increasingly hard to distinguish the boys from the girls but I did think an institution of higher learning like SMU could tell the difference between a king and a queen when the contest for a campus queen came up. That man that was elected as campus queen certainly has the hair for it.

Drug Problems
KNOTT (SC) — "Community Action against Drug Abuse" was the program presented at the Sands School Tuesday. Participating in the program were Dr. M. Talbot, Chaplain Lee Butler and Dr. Bill Kuester of the Big Spring State Hospital; and Bill White of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Orientation Slated For Webb Wives

A Personal Affairs Orientation for military wives will be held Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the NCO Open Mess, Webb Air Force Base.

A free lunch will be served, and the base nursery will provide free care for children over three months old. Younger infants will be cared for at the NCO Open Mess by volunteers.

All dependent wives new to the Air Force and those who have not attended an orientation course within the past three years are urged to attend and become informed about the Air Force and its benefits.

According to a spokesman, most military members must serve one or more unaccompanied tours, making it important for dependents to be knowledgeable about benefits available, which will be discussed at the orientation.

Reservations for the orientation and luncheon should be made no later than 4 p.m., Monday by calling 267-2511, Ext. 2446.

The club, which has continued the garden therapy for about 10 years, received a state award this year for the project from the Texas Council of Garden Clubs, Inc.

Mrs. Alton Marwitz, president, announced plans for club members to sell flower arranging calendars next fall.

Mrs. Albert Hohertz created an arrangement, using all green materials with a changeable focal point, and afterward, the group toured three gardens.

That of Mrs. Charles Harwell used a formal type of landscaping. Mrs. Hohertz utilized native plants and vines, while the outstanding things in the yard of Mrs. Leonard were a "living hedge" and a mulberry tree with a spread of 40 feet.

The meeting was the last scheduled until August, when the club will have a patio supper.

There were three guests, Mrs. W. S. Goodlett, Mrs. Don Wiley and Mrs. D. Richardson.

The Sew and Chatter Club discussed plans for future projects Thursday in the home of Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales, 705 W. 18th. The women continued work on individual needlework and craft projects.

Sports History Made By Women Athletes

"A Woman's Place In Sports" was the program presented by Mrs. Bill Narrell to the Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Thursday in the home of Mrs. B. E. Reagan, 1500 E. 6th.

"It used to be that women were barred from even watching sports events," said Mrs. Narrell, "but today they participate in many competitions, and it didn't take women long to make a place for themselves in sports history."

Mrs. Narrell gave brief histories of several famous women in sports, including Helen Wills who won more tennis titles than any woman in history. She won the Wimbledon tournament eight times and the U. S. National seven times. During one tournament she injured her back and had to be helped off the court, but eight years later she returned to defeat the same woman.

Another woman tennis player, Maureen Connolly, or "Little Mo," was the first woman to win four major tournaments, according to Mrs. Narrell. She won the U. S. National, Wimbledon, French and Australian titles, and held the world's record in tennis from 1953 to 1970.

medals. Miss Didrikson excelled in every sport she tried. At the age of 42 she died of cancer.

GOLDEN GIRL

"Sonia Henie was the Golden Girl of Sports," said Mrs. Narrell. "She won the ice skating competition at the Olympics three separate times. America's answer to Sonia Henie is Peggy Fleming, who does such beautiful work on the ice today."

Mrs. N. R. Holcombe presided and announced that the 11 active members during the past year had donated a total of $254.68 and 124½ hours of volunteer work to philanthropic projects, including the Big Spring State Hospital, Veterans Administration Hospital and the ESA State crippled children's fund.

A letter of appreciation was read from Miss Pat Wiley, who works with young children in India, for the contribution sent to her.

Mrs. Clovis Hale will have a spaghetti lunch for members and their guests from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., May 25, in her home at 2611 Larry, as a fund-raising project for the chapter. The cost is $1.25 per person.

Members will serve refreshments to a ward at the Veterans Administration Hospital at 7 p.m. Monday, and will continue the service monthly throughout the summer.

Couple Recites Vows In Friday Ceremony

Miss Sharon Kay Marsh and Fred Alton Hollis were united in marriage in a ceremony at 7 p.m. Friday at Wesley United Methodist Church. The Rev. Caleb Hildebrand performed the ceremony at an altar flanked by arrangements of white chrysanthemums intermingled with greenery. Branched candelabra with white candles were placed on each side of the altar.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hollis, 2307 W. Oak, Palestine, Tex.; and Mr. and Mrs. Neal Marsh, 2706 Larry, Miss Connie Gary, organist, provided background music, and Ralph Dowden was the vocalist.

The bride wore an Empire-style gown of white organza fashioned with an A-line skirt. The bodice was accented with shirred scalloped Chantilly lace, which also trimmed the hem, the full bishop sleeves and the high collar. Her waist-length veil of illusion was held with a band of lace petals, and she carried a cascade of white carnations and yellow daisies with a white orchid at the center.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Ronald Decker, of Running Springs, Calif., served as matron of honor, and Mrs. Charles Clayton of Huntsville was the bridesmaid. The attendants wore floor-length Empire-style gowns of yellow dotted organza fashioned with a mock weskit trimmed with daisies. They carried bouquets of white carnations and yellow daisies.

Serving his son as best man was G. B. Hollis, while Charles Clayton of Huntsville was the groomsmen, and Revis Gregg of Cisco was the usher.

A reception was held in the church parlor, where Mrs. B. J. Bowers presided at the guest register. The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of white carnations and yellow daisies in a background of greenery. The tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Miss Geri Lou Corbell and Mrs. Woody Wilson served.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will reside at 7520 Brompton Road, Apartment No. 709, Houston.

The bride is a graduate of Howard County Junior College and Sam Houston State University, with a BBA degree in accounting. She is a member of the Phi Chi Theta sorority, the accounting club, and the Alpha Chi honor sorority. She graduated from Sam Houston with honors.

Hollis also graduated with an accounting degree from Sam Houston State University, where he was on the Dean's List. He will be employed as a junior accountant with Texaco, Inc., in Houston.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Revid Gregg, Cisco; Mrs. Charles Clayton, Huntsville; Mr. and Mrs. Woody Wilson, Odessa; and Mrs. G. B. Hollis, Palestine.

E. L. Fannins Feted Today

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Fannin Sr., 3905 Hamilton, will be honored with a reception this afternoon in the home of their daughter, Jean Fannin, Coronado Hills Apts., No. 20.

The couple celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Thursday.

Friends are invited to call between 2 and 5 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Fannin were married May 13, 1946, in Paint Rock, in Concho County where Mrs. Fannin, the former Thelma Lee McCartney, was born. Fannin was born in Throckmorton, however, both were reared in West Texas.

Fannin served in the 31st Infantry during World War II. He was captured on Corregidor in April, 1942, and spent the remainder of the war in Japanese prison camps. He was returned to the United States following the war and was discharged from the Army in February, 1946.

Immediately after their marriage the couple lived in Coahoma, moving to Big Spring in October, 1946 and have lived here since that time.

They are the parents of five children: Jean Fannin, Big Spring; Elbert Fannin Jr., Howard County Junior College student; Mrs. Steve Wilson, Knob Noster, Mo.; and Richard and Linda, both of the home. They have one grandchild, Stephen Wilson, 2.

Camping Trip Novices Given Practical Tips

Summer camping, a subject of interest to numerous families this time of year, was explored by speakers at two home demonstration club meetings last week. The only other club which met, heard a program on interior decorating.

CENTER POINT CLUB
A program on family camping was heard by the Center Point Home Demonstration Club Tuesday at the Comanche Trail Park, presented by Mrs. Jack Smith and Mrs. Travis Melton, recreation leaders.

C. Y. Clinkscales of PoRard Chevrolet, demonstrated a family camper for the women. The camper provides sleeping, eating and storage space for a traveling family of four.

Some of the items Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Melton suggested taking on a camping trip were a medical kit, non-perishable foods, tools for both repair and kitchen use and lots of healthful fruits and vegetables.

When lost, the women said campers should always travel downhill and downstream. Explorers should always travel in pairs, litter should be cleaned up and fires put completely out.

Mrs. J. R. Petty presided, and Mrs. Alden Ryan was chosen as the club's nominee to attend the state convention in Dallas. Guests were Clinkscales, Mrs. Florence Rhoten, Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Mrs. J. W. Jones and Mrs. Kenneth Lord.

The next meeting is at 2 p.m., May 25 in the home of Mrs. N. R. Garrett, 602 E. 18th. Members will hear a program concerning marriage and divorce legislation.

KNOTT CLUB
Mrs. R. J. Shortes presented some tips for summer vacation camping for the Knett Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. J. R. Clemens.

Mrs. Shortes suggested making a list of items needed for a camping trip, and said about 50 per cent of the items a woman originally puts down can usually be left off to obtain an accurate list of actual necessities.

A series of short camping trips were advised to prepare campers for extended trips. A large variety of camping equipment can be rented, allowing people to enjoy the sport without a large investment.

Mrs. Shortes also presided at the business meeting. A letter of appreciation from Miss Karen McClendon was read. She received the Aubrey Russell scholarship awarded by area HD clubs to an outstanding 4-H member majoring in home economics. Miss McClendon is a freshman at Texas Tech University.

The women will meet at 2 p.m., May 25 at the Heritage Museum for a tour.

Pharmacy Facts

By Bob Knight, R. Ph.

Modern antibiotics are a product of 20th century research and were made possible by our understanding of the nature and causes of disease. Without any such knowledge, the Egyptians listed a number of medical treatments based upon the use of molds or fungi, as recorded in an old record of about 1500 B.C. Although they could not explain why, they had observed the healing power of such materials, which were actually crude antibiotics. The use of such medication, based solely on observation of beneficial results, was continued by physicians during the days of the Greek and Roman Empires but then was lost to mankind until its recent rediscovery. Planes Fly, But Passengers Aren't Allowed

By KERRY GUNNELS

At first glance, he is a 43-year-old man who plays with toys.

But upon a closer examination, James E. Cape, 2518 E. 24th, is an artisan engaged in an unusual and interesting hobby: model airplane building.

A current display of his models, ranging from the World War II giant, B-29 Superfortress, the tiny-in-comparison, French Spad of World War I, can be seen at the Howard County Library.

"I started building model airplanes when I was nine," said Cape. "I used all the usual materials such as basal wood, etc. until I was finally constructing planes that could actually fly."

BUILT TO SCALE

The plastics industry, however, revolutionized the model building business, explained the local owner of Jet Finance Co.

"You would be absolutely amazed at the fine detail possible in the model airplane kits on the market today," commented Cape. "Not only are the models amazingly accurate to surface details, but they are built to scale, something unheard of in the balsa wood models."

"In the old models, at least the ones that could fly, absolute scale was impossible. All the builders tried to do was make an aerodynamically sound aircraft. Detailed and scaled models had to wait for plastics to develop."

Cape concentrates on models built in 1-72th scale: one inch equals six feet.

WWII ERA

His collection now numbers between 45-50 completed models. When he finishes the time span he is now on, that of the World War II era, the collection will have grown to over 300.

"I have about 100 unassembled kits in my workshop right now," admitted Cape. "The reason is that if you're working on a particular time period, and you come across a model of that period, you want to get it before it goes out of production."

"Some of the kits actually become collector's items," Cape said. "A kit that may have cost $1 or $1.30 can bring up to $15-$20, if it is one a particular collector needs."

Cape spends between eight to 10 hours constructing one of his fighter airplane models, from 12-15 hours on one of the larger bombers.

TEDIOUS JOB

"I've spent over 20 hours on some of the World War I aircraft," said Cape. "Using nylon thread to represent the wing struts can be a tedious job."

The model kits, all in 1-72th scale, range in cost from one dollar up to $13.

Cape is a perfectionist. If a model does not meet his specifications when it is completed, then it is set aside and another kit is ordered.

"My record is four tries before I was satisfied," stated Cape. "It's impossible to be a total perfectionist, but I try as hard as possible to build a perfect model."

ELUSIVE MODEL

And he has the tools to help him build that elusive "perfect" model: an air brush, a miniature paint spray gun to get around the brush strokes when painting the models; a tiny electric drill for punching holes in the small models; and an electric jig-saw originally designed as a toy, but now serving Cape to saw through the plastic wings, ailerons, etc.

For Cape, building model airplanes is a learning process, also. If he happens upon a particularly interesting aircraft, he turns to his personal library of airplane lore and history to find out more about it. If his library doesn't list the plane, he goes to the county library where a collection of some of his World War I and II models are now on display.

"Since I started building my present collection three or four years ago, I have invested in about $100 worth of books," said Cape.

LARGE INDUSTRY

But Cape is not the only model building enthusiast in the country.

"It is a large industry," confirms Cape. "There are many publications devoted to model building. In fact, I belong to the International Plastic Modelers Society. It has its own publication and operates a research staff to answer any questions its members may have as to the history of certain aircraft, what their purpose was and how successful they were in their job."

"A lot of people look at me strangely when I tell them I build model airplanes," adds Cape. "But all they have to do is sit down and try it to find out it is not as childish — or easy — as it seems."

First Twenty-Five Years

The graduation of the class of 1971 at Howard County Junior College calls to mind that, with the summer session, this institution will round out its first quarter century in the community.

Perhaps it is as good a time as any to review some of the records and appraise part of the effect it has had.

Records from the registrar's office show a cumulative total enrollment (fall, spring and summer) for the 25 years to be 38,603. Between 500 and 600 will be added during this summer's term.

The number of graduates exceeds 1,100. There is no way of knowing how many of these went on to college and how many actually earned higher degrees. Based on averages, however, the number might safely be pegged around 2,000. Again, we have no way of knowing, but we would conjecture that at least half that number would never have been able to attempt, much less complete work for a college degree.

Once more, it is impossible to know how many different individuals have been served by HCJC in its first quarter of a century, but based on contemporary averages, this must come out above 28,000, or an average of more than a thousand a year for the first 25 years.

As impressive as may be the graduate total and the probable contribution to higher academic degrees, obviously the bulk of lives touched lies in those who cut off in their training at some point short of a degree. What, then, about the effect of training received by some 24,000 people in this category over the years?

Of course, by no means all of those are still around, for job situations and even death would create a substantial attrition. Yet if half, yes even a quarter of the total, remains, then the impact on the community is great. Nor can you confine the effect to this locality, for education is beneficial, no matter where it is applied ultimately. Better citizenship is the life blood of a state and nation, not merely a locality.

In physical facilities, the college has accumulated assets of some $5,000,000 in its first 25 years. It likely has saved parents at least that much over the cost of sending sons and daughters (who would have gone to college had there been none here) to some other institution. Total local tax contribution to the college in its initial quarter century is somewhere in the neighborhood of $6.5 million.

All in all, the records would seem to validate the faith of Howard County voters in establishing the college. The contribution it has made, the assets it has assembled would testify as to its worth. But more important than all these, it seems to us, is the fact that it is here; it is deeply rooted as a quality, viable institution; it has just begun to make its fullest contribution.

'Yes, Virginia ...'

The death of Mrs. Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas on Thursday is a reminder of her childhood letter to the New York Sun asking: "Is there a Santa Claus?"

The reply of Francis P. Church has long since a Christmas classic, and more than that, for it is an apostrophe to faith in all that is good and decent and fine. Most people could not have told you who asked the question or who created the reply, but they remember the answer — "Yes, Virginia ... As with beauty and truth, this lives on."

Aviation Age

Around The Rim

Bob Whipkey

If you're the right age, you can recall when the great railway terminals of the country were the concentration centers of masses of Americans going hither and yon and Heaven knows where else.

Most of these today are cavernous temples of emptiness, standing as monuments to a time gone by. Even the new Amtrak as yet has not brought them to life.

TODAY, to get where the action is, you have to join the milling throngs at the air terminals.

I got emmeshed in a couple of these places on a recent quick trip, and report that if one wanted to take the time to study his fellowman, the air terminal is the place for research.

Trouble is, everybody is in such a hurry and so concerned about catching his next plane, about all the student-of-human-behavior can do is observe from a distance.

DISTANCE IS a factor, I might add. The terminals have cunningly arranged things so that if you land at, say, Gulf Airlines gate, and are to catch a departing plane of Super-World Transport, then it is four and a half miles from Gulf's end of the terminal to the loading gate of Super-World. This does not count various detours due to getting lost in the rambling corridors.

FURTHER, it is arranged that there are just 12 minutes between Gulf's arrival and Super-World's departure. Only those who have trained for the Boston Marathon really are in shape to make it.

That is, if everything is according to schedule. Generally, everything is not according to schedule. Super-

World's great jet seems to be having trouble, and about all the airlines squawk box will tell you is that there will be a "slight delay."

What happens at the terminal is just like standard Army procedure: You hurry up and then wait.

THE AIR terminals, modern as many of them are, have not come up with anything very distinctive in the way of keeping their passengers controlled. Most of them have fenced-off areas not unlike a cattle-loading pen, and the passengers perform are left to mill (within the area) like cattle.

It is in the pens that one wonders about this human trait of wanting to go so far so fast. It could be my imagination, but nobody waiting to board an airplane seems very happy, and certainly not communicative.

THEY GIVE the appearance of worrying about whether they still have their ticket, whether their luggage will follow them in the transfer, whether there actually is a seat for them on the craft, and whether the darned plane is going to leave at all.

Many sit and stare; others wander around restlessly; some keep badgering the poor airlines attendant who apparently knows no more about departure time than do the customers. Others make periodic phone calls from nearby booths. Nobody is care-free about being on the journey.

The airlines are not necessarily to carry all the blame. Put a mass of people together, and somebody has troubles. The railroads used to have this problem; now the airlines must deal with very cantankerous and demanding humans.

Desire For Peace

Marquis Childs

TEL AVIV. — The contrasts between the two sides in the Middle East conflict are very great. But there is one similarity that in the last analysis may swing the balance for peace.

The longing for an end to the bloodshed is as strong here as it is in Egypt. During the war of attrition the casualties reported from day to day, numerically small yet large in proportion to Israel's population, were the cause of nationwide anguish. These were the ablest young men, the pilots, the vanguard of the army.

ALTHOUGH THERE has been no real change in the tangle of claims and counterclaims from both sides, the assumption is that the truce will continue into the indefinite future. Events in an unstable and unpredictable part of the world may shatter this assumption tomorrow. Nevertheless, among the Americans acting as midwife to a peace settlement still a long way from birth, it has produced something like euphoria. Shutting back and forth and listening to the contentions of each side has had, they assume, a curative effect.

MOVING FROM one side to the other the contrasts are overpowering. Israel is a nation intensely organized from top to bottom, with a discipline owing much both to a sense of common nationhood and to controls applied by a government operating under wartime restraints.

As propagandists, even granting their built-in advantage in the West and particularly in the United States, they are unrivaled. They know how to seize every opening. Their understanding of the media is all-embracing. A constant stream of visitors, many of them guests of the government, get the full treatment.

THE CONTRAST with Cairo could not be greater. On the other side of the Middle East divide the inquiring reporter goes through an exercise in frustration, with intrigue and internal division blocking all channels. The very absence of information from one side, with an abundance from the other, produces an imbalance no matter how objective the visitor may want to be.

The Egyptian army has been greatly beefed up with an estimated seven divisions between Cairo and the canal. There have been improvements in training and morale, thanks in no small part to the numbers who have gone to Moscow for special courses. But it is not essentially different from the army that was routed in the six-day war in 1967.

THE DECISIVE factor is the Israeli Air Force. Despite all the Soviet Union has poured in in advanced fighter planes, the MIG-21s, and advanced missile defenses, the SAM 111s, the Israelis are rated incontestably superior in the air today. That could be the genuine deterrent to a new outbreak of the fighting.

The enigma, the unknown x in the equation, is the Russian presence. How pervasive is it throughout the Mediterranean? Certainly, as the United States has championed Israel, the Soviet Union greatly increased its influence in the Arab world.

'I OFTEN WONDER IF WE GET OUR MONEY'S WORTH'

Europe Hops Off Dollar

By LINDA RUBEY AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — West Germany unpegged the mark in relation to the dollar to let it float to a higher value this week as the European countries applied pressure on the United States to act in the current monetary crisis.

Germany left uncertain the length of time it would allow the mark to float, but one official said it could last "for months." Belgium also announced it would allow its franc to float in the free market while Switzerland revalued its franc 7 per cent upward against the dollar.

The same dollar rises that created uncertainty in the European money markets also caused Japanese leaders to begin considering if they should revalue their yen upward or allow it to float. Like the European nations, Japan, too, is beset by rising inflation which observers claim has been imported from the United States.

BACK OFF The monetary crisis emerged last week when Germany was forced to absorb more than $2 billion of U.S. currency in two days. Five European nations withdrew their support for the dollar and closed their foreign exchange markets.

Observers said the European countries feel that it is not that their currency is undervalued but that the U.S. currency is overvalued because the United States has had an unfavorable balance of payments for two decades. West Germany and the Netherlands have said they are determined to return their currencies to the former fixed exchange rates.

Analysts noted the Europeans resent the passive action of the United States in refusing to devalue the dollar or stop the outflow of dollars abroad. The American deficit has generated surplus dollars abroad which has aggravated European inflationary problems they say.

CONVERTING The European nations have been converting large sums of U.S. dollars into gold which has dropped American gold reserves to a new low point. Analysts said these nations fear if U.S. gold stocks ever fell too low the United States would stop converting dollars into gold, which would free the dollar from the gold standard. Gold

Economy Advances But The Rate Is Sluggish

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy is expanding at a steady but still slack-ridden pace, the latest government reading of industry's production shows.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Friday its key industrial production index advanced by .3 per cent in April following a 2-per-cent gain in March.

Such a gain is considered moderate and nowhere was there evidence the economy is in the midst of a vigorous upsurge, as some Nixon administration officials have claimed. "It's a fairly good figure," said Dr. Hendrik Houthakker, a member of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers. "But we don't think it changes the picture that much." Houthakker said industrial production tends to be sluggish when productivity of the nation's workers is rising, and could mean inflation is slowing further.

European Policy

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Interference by leading Democrats in the conduct of foreign policy by the President of the United States is becoming the most serious problem in government. It may turn out to be a prime issue in the presidential campaign. For it emphasizes what divided government means.

Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic leader, has proposed that American forces in Europe should be cut by 50 per cent. While some Republicans say that they would like to see the United States some time make a substantial withdrawal, they point out that such action at this stage could collapse the whole structure of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

THE IDEA OF drastically reducing the number of American troops in Europe without the approval of the executive branch of the government here is a flagrant example of a lack of cooperation by the Congress with the chief executive. The state Department believes that the Mansfield measure would "pose very serious and far-reaching consequences for U. S. foreign policy interests," and says that the Senate should act "only after holding the most comprehensive hearings on this subject."

THE FACT IS the United States government has supported the principle of gradually reducing its forces in Europe but has insisted this should be done on a mutual basis with the Warsaw Pact powers, whereby the armed services of the United States would be withdrawn on the same ratio as reductions made by the members of the Warsaw Pact. Unfortunately, there has been no measurable progress toward working out such a mutual reduction. The administration, therefore, feels that this subject is not one that should be dealt with hastily.

SENATOR HUGH Scott of Pennsylvania, Republican leader, says that if a vote were taken this week, it could upset the negotiations on troop reductions on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

All this is an example of the difficulties which the President is experiencing today in the handling of foreign policy. Many members of Congress seem to be of the opinion that American commitments abroad can be disregarded.

THE NORTH Atlantic Treaty, for example — which was ratified by the Senate — does not require any action by Congress if a member of NATO should be attacked. The United States is under obligation to come to the immediate assistance of any member nation which is the victim of an invasion or assault. If half of the American forces in Europe were withdrawn, this would be a sign that the United States is not likely to make an instant response to an attack and that the allies are being notified they will have to fight the battle against aggressors by themselves.

THE PRESIDENT is responsible, as commander-in-chief, for the safety of American troops wherever they are stationed. If too many are suddenly withdrawn from a strategic point, those who remain will be endangered. Today some members of Congress feel they not only can run foreign policy but make military decisions as well. It's a strange period in American history.

Law And Order

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Atty. Gen. John Mitchell has urged all police in the country to copy the Capital's tactics in handling May Day demonstrators last week. The decisive opposition to mob force used by Washington police, Mr. Mitchell told police chiefs in California, is an example for the rest of the nation.

No one can argue with that. But Mr. Mitchell did not spell out the guidelines that police would have to abide by in following the successful tactics used in Washington.

Perhaps we can be of help:

Q— HOW DO you put down a mass demonstration of people who threaten to close down a town?

A— Arrest everyone with long hair and peace symbols in a congested area.

Q— What about people's constitutional rights?

A— The constitutional rights of a citizen may be abrogated if they interfere with another citizen's right to get to work.

Q— Suppose, during a police sweep, innocent people are arrested as well as guilty people?

A— THERE ARE NO innocent people when the police make a sweep through a congested area. If they were innocent they wouldn't be there.

Q— When making a sweep arrest, how do you choose between two people if you can only grab one?

A— Always arrest the person with a beard first. You can assume during a mass demonstration that people with beards are more guilty than people without beards.

Q— SUPPOSE A policeman does not actually see a crime committed during a demonstration?

A— He is still obligated to arrest a certain number of people. Although citizens are not committing a crime at the moment, they could commit one later, and it's safer for society to have them locked up.

Q— Since they all seem to dress alike, how do you distinguish between young people who are not committing a crime and those who are?

A— YOU DON'T. All young people are guilty of doing something, and besides, most of them are against the war.

Q— Isn't the Justice Department supposed to protect people's constitutional rights?

A— No. The only function of the Justice Department is to see that traffic keeps moving.

Q— Suppose a judge demands that the arrest of an individual be made according to the law?

A— THAT IS NOT the problem of the police. That is between the judge and the person arrested.

Q— If innocent people can be arrested during a mass demonstration when they were doing nothing, why can't they be arrested for doing nothing when there isn't a mass demonstration?

A— That's a good question, and we hope, with the backing of the attorney general, we will be able to make such arrests in the future. We know now that it's impossible to have law and order if the police are going to have to abide by the law.

Editorials And Opinions The Big Spring Herald

2-D Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, May 16, 1971

Billy Graham

We have three children and live in apartment. We can't afford a house of our own. How can we make our apartment a Christian place for our children?

D.J. God is the God of the country and also the God who broods over the cities of men. It is not our surroundings which make us Christian, or otherwise, but rather the inner spiritual resources which come from hearts committed to and filled with the living Christ. There is absolutely no reason why your apartment should not be a glorious place in which to witness to Him. What do your children find in your apartment? Joy, peace, love, kindness, gentleness? These and other graces are the fruits of the Holy Spirit in our hearts. They make a true home wherever they are found; their lack can make a mansion a miserable place in which to live. Along with those Christian graces which make a true home also use some God-given common sense and make your apartment attractive to your children by having games, cookies and other things which young people like. Make your children feel you want them to bring their friends into your apartment. It may be hard on the rugs and on the ears, but it brings rich dividends.

A Devotion For Today...

I will mention the loving kindness of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord, according to all that the Lord hath bestowed on us... according to the multitude of his loving kindness. (Isaiah 63:7)

PRAYER: Father, teach us to take more time to think and talk about the many ways Your love is shown — one kindness after another. We praise You for each one. Help us also to take more of Your likeness in our relationships with Your children everywhere, in the name of Jesus. Amen.

Marriage Bed

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My parents were happily married for 32 years. Then my mother died. It wasn't sudden. She had a terminal illness, and it was a blessing when she finally went. Two years later Dad married a lovely widow who had been my mother's dearest friend. My sisters and I (all married) were very happy to see Dad marry again. Now, the problem: Dad and his new wife are living in the lovely home Dad and Mother built and furnished some years ago. They are using the same furniture, even the king-sized bed Mother and Dad shared for so many years. Just the thought of it upsets me, so I told Dad he ought to get another bed. He thought I was joking, and he laughed about it. I wasn't joking, Abby. I was serious. I am still terribly upset knowing that Dad is sleeping in that bed with another woman.

Don't get me wrong, I really like Dad's new wife, but not in my mother's bed. Am I wrong to feel this way, or shouldn't Dad get another bed?

UPSET DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: If it doesn't bother your father, or his new wife, it shouldn't bother you. Don't mention it again. It's mind over mattress.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and just had my sixth baby. My husband is 23. I had him talked into getting one of those operations men have so they can't father any more children. It's called a "vasectomy." Then the day before he was supposed to have it done, some guys at work told him he was a fool to risk losing his manhood.

The way my doctor explained the operation to me, it could be done right in the doctor's office and it wouldn't hurt my husband's manhood at all. How can I get this through his head, Abby? We can't afford any more kids and I am worn out from those I have. Thank you.

COLORADO READER

DEAR READER: Tell your husband to quit listening to the guys at work and to listen to a doctor who will tell him that a vasectomy in no way reduces a man's manhood. And it takes more of a man to protect his wife against unwanted children than to take his chances.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been separated (not divorced) for 11 years. Each year on the anniversary of our marriage we celebrate together. We have grown children and two lovely grandchildren. We have been celebrating the whole 21 years that we've been married, but I have had friends tell me that this is wrong. Please tell me if you think we are right — or are our friends who criticize us?

Nearly Everyone Reads Newspaper

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey shows that 73 per cent of Americans aged 14 to 25 read at least one newspaper each day, reports the Bureau of Advertising.

The bureau said Wednesday it found in a poll of 1,647 young readers that one in five youths began reading a daily newspaper when they were 7 years old or less.

About 62 per cent of those surveyed said they read the entire newspaper, spending an average 36 minutes each day with the paper.

MRS. VAN DER, YOU SAY YOUR HUSBAND WINSTON AND HIS TWIN BROTHER VIC WERE SO IDENTICAL IN LOOKS, MANNERISMS AND VOICE THAT EVEN YOU HAD DIFFICULTY TELLING THEM APART?

YES.

IS IT POSSIBLE THAT THE MAN WHO RETURNED FROM AFRICA IS NOT YOUR HUSBAND, BUT HIS BROTHER VIC?

YES, BUT IT'S TOO HORRIBLE TO THINK ABOUT.

ONCE I WAS IN LOVE WITH VIC. I CAN NOT BEAR THE THOUGHT THAT HE MAY BE AN IMPOSTOR, A MURDERER! IF THIS MAN IS VIC, WHERE IS MY HUSBAND? BELIEVE ME, MR. SAWYER, MY LIFE IS ONE OF QUIET DESPERATION.

She Rides Trike

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've noticed that circulation, especially in the legs and feet, slows down as we get older. Must not the circulation throughout the whole body then necessarily slow down?

To stir it up, I ride a tricycle - it has three 26-inch wheels. I cannot walk very far any more without severe pain in my flat feet.

By riding, I get exercise, fresh air, and fun on a bike. Never having had a two-wheel bicycle, I didn't dare try to learn to use one. I'd probably have fallen off and ended up with broken bones.

If you tip off a tricycle, you don't seem to go down so hard,

I usually think, when I feel I'm going to tip, "Here I go again." I can only go 11 miles an hour and that's a bit down hill, pedaling as fast as I can. Of course, when the cold and snow come, I can't ride, nor when it rains. Cars splash all over me.

Nor if there's more than a 15 m.p.h. wind against me, so there are drawbacks, but all in all it is very worth while.

The years have counted up to 73 but I insist that I am not old; just been around a long time.

My husband thought I was out of my mind to buy a trike. After retirement at 76, after 51 1/2 years - as a mechanic for Cadillac, he took daily walks but tired of that, so he bought a bicycle and rides every day, circumstances permitting. He is 79 and 2-3 years of age.

My husband's problem is boredom. He has no hobbies. His occupation was his avocation. He always thought I was a bit queer with all my hobbies, but I'm never bored. I got used to having no one in the house from 8 to 5:30 five days a week.

I wonder how two such very different people could ever get in their heads they were in love. But we've stuck it out 52 1/2 years so will hang on to the end of the line. When you come to the end of your rope, tie a knot and hang on! Forgive me for rambling on. -Mrs. A.C.

The tricycles have become quite popular in Florida and such places. No reason they shouldn't catch on in northern cities, from which the above letter came.

Yes, as you get older, circulation slows down generally, but more especially in the legs and feet, just because they are the lowest part of the body, and it requires more push to carry blood from them back to the heart.

No need of my commenting on several other useful ideas that Mrs. A.C. has acquired in her 70-odd years of being around.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My father has varicose veins in his leg. He says it itches all the time. Do you have any suggestions that could relieve the itching? - C.M.

My suggestion would be to get rid of the varicose veins - have them removed by "stripping." Meanwhile a lotion like calomine may help.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald requesting the booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

George Peppard Portrays Anti-Hero

George Peppard is the fast-moving star of the action-packed outdoor adventure set in California's colorful gold-mining country of the 1880's in "One More Train To Rob," which comes Wednesday to the Ritz Theatre. Co-starring in the rugged story are Diana Muldaur, John Vernon and France Nuyten. In one of the most unusual performances of his career, Peppard, as an anti-hero, is teamed with an equally unusual cast and script by Don Tait and Dick Nelson with the story by William Roberts, all brought together under the experienced hands of producer Robert Arthur and director Andrew V. McLaglen. This is the third teaming of the producer with the director; previously they made the very successful "Shenandoah" and "The Hellfighters."

Starring as the attractive wife of the former badman turned into a leading citizen (Vernon) who isn't above carrying on an affair with a handsome robber is Miss Muldaur. She received unusual acclaim for her role of Ralph Bellamy's secretary in the TV series "The Survivors." Before starring opposite Charlton Heston in "Number One," she achieved recognition on the New York stage. Vernon played the Cuban leader in Alfred Hitchcock's "Topaz."

The role of the young Chinese girl held in bondage and freed by Peppard is portrayed by Euraisa beauty Miss Nuyten who returns to the screen in this film after an absence of 10 years, last seen in "South Pacific."

"One More Train To Rob" is a singularly unique presentation. Its story-line breaks with the traditional western format by having its anti-hero not only kill the protagonist, but wind up with his beautiful widow and all of the dead husband's estate and money.

Prison Escape Film On German POWs

Tension mounts to unbearable heights in "The McKenzie Break," as a group of prisoners of war defy their captors and tunnel their way toward freedom. The picture, opening today at the Jet Theatre, is in the exciting tradition of "The Great Escape," but this time the prisoners are German U-boat commander, ruthless and ready to risk everything to get into the last-ditch fight to strangle Allied shipping in the Battle of the Atlantic.

Brian Keith stars in "The McKenzie Break" as Captain Connor, tough and unorthodox, sent to Camp McKenzie by British Intelligence to restore order. Also in the cast are Helmut Griem, as the fierce leader of the prisoners, and Ian Hendry, as the camp commandant.

Brian Keith, who brings burly good looks and versatile talents to his Captain Connor role, has been seen in many films, most recently in "Gaily, Gaily" and "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming."

Young, handsome Helmut Griem has appeared in German, Danish and French films. He recently starred in "The Damned," playing a vicious officer of the German S.S.

England's Ian Hendry completes the starring trio of "The McKenzie Break." Hendry has appeared in "The Hill," "Casino Royale" and other films.

"The McKenzie Break" was filmed in Ireland, at Coolmoney Camp, in County Wicklow.

fiction thriller, "Trog" which opens in color on Wednesday at the Jet Theatre.

Miss Crawford plays the anthropologist Dr. Brockton, who is convinced she has found the missing link between man and the apes when she locates a living troglodyte, who remained frozen in a cave from a former ice age.

She and her associates invite disaster when they release the monstrous-looking creature from a scientific laboratory into a society of horrified and frightened citizens.

Co-starring with Miss Crawford are veteran character actor Michael Gough, blonde newcomer Kim Braden, TV favorite David Griffin, stage actor John Hamill, Thorley Walters and Brenard Kay. Joe Cornelius appears as Trog.

The screenplay, written by Aben Kadel from an original story by Peter Bryan and John Gilling, was directed by Freddie Francis, who formerly piloted such chillers as "Paranoic," "The Evils of Frankenstein" and "Dracula Has Risen From the Grave." Herman Cohen was the producer.

Desmond Dickson photographed "Trog" at New Lodge, the Victorian mansion formerly inhabited by Belgian ambassadors to the court of St. James.

A second important location was the Thames-side estate known as Oakley Court. The cave in which Trog is found is located at Inbingle Beacon in charming Buckinghamshire County, England.

Richard Burton moves into the outdoor action genre to again demonstrate his versatility as the star of "Raid on Rommel," coming today to the Ritz Theatre. It is a heart-pounding drama of men at war played in the intense heat of the North African desert, and the spectacular devastation and havoc that determined soldiers inflict on an enemy.

Co-starring is John Colicos who co-starred also in Burton's last film, the high acclaimed "Anne of the Thousand Days," for which Burton won his sixth Academy Award nomination. Heart-Pounding Drama Stars Burton

Richard Burton moves into the outdoor action genre to again demonstrate his versatility as the star of "Raid on Rommel," coming today to the Ritz Theatre. It is a heart-pounding drama of men at war played in the intense heat of the North African desert, and the spectacular devastation and havoc that determined soldiers inflict on an enemy.

Co-starring is John Colicos who co-starred also in Burton's last film, the high acclaimed "Anne of the Thousand Days," for which Burton won his sixth Academy Award nomination. Colicos, one of Canada's outstanding stage and screen stars, appears in the role of a British officer in charge of a medical unit whose members become saboteurs under Burton's command, and thwart Rommel's North African campaign. Burton, recently honored by Queen Elizabeth, began his stage career in London in 1947 following military service in the Royal Air Force. His film debut was made during that period in "The Last Days of Dolwyn." In his first Hollywood film, "My Cousin Rachel" opposite Olivia de Havilland, he achieved stardom.

Among his outstanding film credits since then are "Look Back in Anger," "The Robe," "The Desert Rats" (his first picture set against the World War II background of Field Marshall Rommel's North African campaign), "Cleopatra," "Becket," "Night of the Iguana," "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and "Where Eagles Dare."

Reservations for the two 8:30 p.m. performances may be made by calling Theatre Centre box office, 682-7976. Tickets are $1 for MCT seasons members and $2.50 for the general public.

Sounds of the North Texas State University Lab Bands of 1970-71 will soon be released on records, according to Leon Breeden, director of the jazz lab band program for the NTSU School of Music.

"Live! The North Texas Lab Bands Fall and Spring Concerts" is due to arrive in finished form "within the next few weeks," Breeden said. "Lab '71," recorded under studio conditions, will be released this summer.

Both records, featuring the best in the way of NTSU jazz and jazz composition, will be available at the Lab Band Office in the NTSU men's building at $5 each.

The play enjoyed a phenomenally successful two-year run in New York in 1967 and 1968.

The first of the plays, "Shock of Recognition," is set in a theatrical producer's office and centers around a young playwright's effort to convince a producer that artistic integrity requires the first scene of his new play to be acted exactly as he has written it: a naked man entering a bedroom from an adjacent bathroom, toothbrush in hand, echoing to his wife the old lament which gives the over-all title to the four plays.

The feasibility of the scene is decided by asking an unemployed actor, who would do almost anything to get a job, whether he would play the part as written.

Following this opener on the bill are "Footsteps of Doves," "I'll Be Home For Christmas" and "I'm Herbert," each a hilarious, touching variation on a theme of sex — told with poignant recognition of the joke that the universe has played on us all.

Done with a masterly light touch in the writing, the details are delicately and most skillfully wrought.

Appearing in the four vignettes will be an ensemble of well-seasoned actors, Charles Dixon, Bill Shaner, D. A. Plumlee, George Lindsey and Kristin Griffith.

Poco Mas plays are selected for educational, experimental or special interest value and are offered for a limited run of performances.

Maybe That's His Bag!
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The desk officer at the Portland police station got an anonymous telephone call. "You won't believe this," said the voice Wednesday night, "but a man wearing a paper sack over his head and nothing else just became one of your customers."

Officers checked the lobby of the building and found a man nude but for a paper bag over his head with holes cut for eyes and nose. He had apparently entered the front door and crawled through the lobby, on hands and knees to avoid the eyes of the people working in the records department. Police arrested Glen H. Nyland, 54, Portland, on a charge of disorderly conduct, set bail at $50, and gave him a pair of overalls. Officers said Nyland gave no explanation for his actions.

IF A NEW MEDICINE COULD TALK

"When I was discovered by a research scientist, I really caused a lot of excitement. Everybody in the laboratory was overjoyed when I showed what I could do against disease. Of course, they checked me out pretty carefully to be sure I wasn't a fluke. I had to prove myself over and over.

"Then when they were sure of me, I was packaged up nicely and they introduced me to all the doctors. They must have been impressed too, because they asked the pharmacist to get me to their patients. I know I had better enjoy my popularity for pretty soon newer medicines will be grabbing the headlines."
