Search On For Slayers Of New York Policemen

NEW YORK (AP) - The search for the men who shot and killed two policemen on an upper Harlem street was pursued Saturday by scores of investigators while the police commissioner announced that henceforth support units would accompany all policemen on routine patrols.

slain officers were gunned down from behind Friday night while responding to a routine call to aid a sick person, Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy said.

Immediately after the shootings, Murphy had characterized the attack as the work of madmen organized to do the killing.

But at a news conference Saturday afternoon, following a meeting with Mayor John V. Lindsay, Murphy said there was no evidence to link the killings with an earlier assault against policemen-the machine-gunning of two patrolmen Wednesday night.

The head of the policemen's union, Edward J. Kiernan, continued to insist, however, that the police are the targets of organized violence.

Department figures showed the slain officers were the sixth and seventh to fall in the line of duty so far this year, which equals the number killed here during all of 1970.

A few hours before the latest shooting, unsigned letters to news media procalimed the Wednesday machine-gunning was a prelude to a coming confrontation between "fascist state pig police" and the "black liberation army."

Political Gala Draws Happy Crowd To Austin

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - As a political gala, the dedication of the LBJ Library Saturday drew a crowd about as distinguished and happy as any ever held.

It was a situation of Republican and Democrat facing each other with no one coming out

The sky had a thick overcast. and it was hot and muggy.

And it sounded like something from a bad novel: But as President Richard M. Nixon and former President Lyndon B. Johnson stepped onto the speaker's platform, the skies parted and a good-sized patch of blue appeared overhead.

31 MILLION DOCUMENTS At the end of the dedication, the nation possessed an eightstory library with 31 million documents covering 40 years of Johnson's political life. Republican Nixon flew into Bergstrom Air Force Base here, all smiles and walking around shaking hands with persons on the other side of a chain-link fence, a technique which his predecessor, Democrat Johnson raised to a high art. Johnson called it "pressing the flesh."

Nixon stepped onto a rostrum at the air base and termed John Connally, secretary of the treasury and former Texas governor "a strong man in our Cabinet."

Quipped the smiling Nixon. "We appointed him to our Cabinet not only for his ability but because he has a very attractive wife." Mrs. Connally was a sweetheart of the University of Texas, on the campus of which the library sits.

RAIN WANTED

Nixon looked at the clouds and noting the drouth in the Southwest said, "I hope it will rain here and I know President Johnson would agree." The late President Dwight Eisenhower flew to Texas to see about the drouth of the 1950s, and within weeks the state had floods.

The President noted a group of children holding a sign that read, "Welcome Mr. President -Texas School for the Deaf." Nixon commented that he hopes

FREUDIAN SLIP?

AUSTIN (AP) - President Richard Nixon made a verbal misstep Saturday during his speech at the LBJ Library dedication ceremonies which got a big laugh from the audience and a loud guffaw from former President Lyndon Johnson.

The President said: "Just a few minutes ago, as President Johnson was throwing me around the library - I mean showing me around the library they and other children will "grow up in a world where we are at peace with every nation in the world."

In the presidential party were Mrs. Nixon and their daughter, Julie, with Julie's husband. David Eisenhower.

5,000 TICKETS

The special invitations went out to 1,700 and this didn't stand up, of course. Finally, about 5.000 got tickets-and security was so tight that the visitors were required to have their driver's license for identifica-

That was a good-sized crowd to feed, but the Johnsons are old hands at that, and had the four food tents on the library grounds.

Nixon had to leave before eating, but the administration top team was represented by by Vice President Spiro Agnew when the food was passed out.

The menu: 2,000 pounds of lean beef brisket, 1,500 pounds of barbecued beef ribs, 600 barbecued chickens, 1,000 pounds of barbecued peppery sausage, biscuits, ranch-style beans, potato salad, coleslaw and drinks.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . with Joe Pickle

We missed our best chance for rain early last week when a thunderstorm moved in before the forecaster found out about it. Just to get proper attention, however, the storm cell clobbered the southwest part of town with a hailstorm and pelted other areas less intensely, plus about an inch of rain on the north fringe. Thursday a freakish ominous cloud hung just south of town but only rained slightly except for one small spot.

All of which is to say that the drouth continues its hold on the region. Until now most people hoped for rain; now they hope for rain with an eye on the calendar, because the next three to four weeks will be critical for crop purposes. Some of the water pressure was relieved with completion of the Ward County well system, by the Colorado River Municipal Water District, but a heavy run-off is still urgently needed.

Strike Hearings Planned, Outcome Unpromising

WASHINGTON (AP) - The hesitant about opening the sub-Senate Labor Committee plans fullscale hearings next month on legislation to establish permanent machinery for handling national emergency strikes. But whether anything will come of them is uncertain.

Sen. Harrison A. Jr., D-N.J., the committee chairman, has invited Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson to testify June 15 as the opening witness.

After the administration is heard, Williams said there would be ample opportunity for business, labor and public-interest witnesses.

The New Jersey senator promised the hearings during the flurry in the Senate last Tuesday over the bill to halt the nationwide rail strike called by the Signalmen's Union.

crises, there were loud demands for creation of some permanent method to remove the necessity for Congress to act under the gun of an imminent strike. But, once the crises passed, the issue was shelved. Liberal Democrats have been ject of permanent legislation because it might well involve the Taft-Hartley Act and thus could serve as vehicle on the Senate floor for riders feared by organized labor.

'THE STORY . . . WITH THE BARK OFF'

40-Year Career Of LBJ Is Housed In Marble Building

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon Baines Johnson gave the nation Saturday 31-million documents comprising the bulk of the LBJ Library and told an audience including President Nixon: "It's all here: the story of our timewith the bark off."

Johnson added, "There is no record of a mistake, nothing critical or ugly or unpleasant, that is not included in the files here. . .for friend and foe to judge, to approve or disap-

He spoke before an audience that included, in addition to Nixon, the vice president of the United States, two Cabinet members and a U.S. ambassador. They joined 5,000 other invited guests on the freshly sodded lawn in front of the blocklike marble structure that architects call modern monolithic. The library opens to the public

Nixon, paying tribute to his predecessor and accepting the library in the name of the American people, said Johnson put the nation above party. "He was a vigorous leader of his party. But I knew, and President Eisenhower knew, that wherever the great issues of national security were 'concerned, he would always be a partisan of principle and not a partisan of party.'

Flying to Austin for the dedication were Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally -a former Texas governorand George Bush, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and a former U.S. representative from Texas. The Rev. Billy Graham gave the invocation at the dedication.

About 300 peace demonstrators were stopped several blocks away by officers, although they tried to outflank the police at times. Johnson told the guests:

"A president sees things from a unique perspective. No one can share his responsibility. No one can share the scope of his duties or the burden of his deci-

"In my book to be published this fall, I explain: 'I have not written these chapters to say, "This is how it was," but to say, "This is how I saw it from my vantage point,' This library does not say, 'This is how I saw it,' but, 'This is how the documents show it was."

Johnson said the documents "reflect the nation for 40 years -from the '30s through the '60s. They picture a sweep of history beginning with the depression and ending with the most prosperous era we have ever known

He added that the documents "reflect what man can do and eannot do in one life."

Johnson began public service as a congressional aide. He was an administrator of some of the depression-era programs, a U.S. House and Senate member, Senate majority leader and vice president before becoming president in 1963 with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. He won election to the White House in 1964 but declined to seek a second elected term.

The eight-story library contains a reproduction of the oval presidential office as it was furnished by Johnson.

Nixon, noting this, said he recently sat in the Oval Office and reflected on its shape: "On the fact that it is built as an oval, without corners, and with walls that might be said to have no sides, or any infinite number of sides-and on the fact that in this there is a certain parallel with the presidency itself.' A president, said Nixon, "cannot approach a question from one side or the other" and often faces issues that sometimes have "an infinite number of

The board of directors of the Big Spring Boys' Club met Thursday and appointed a nominating committee consisting of Mrs. Fred Hyer, Mrs. Bill Wilson and Mrs. Willard Hendrick. The committee will select a board president to replace Bert Andries who resigned to take the position as full time director of the Boys' Club.

Directors announced Gene Lennen, executive director of Boys' Clubs of America, will be in Big Spring Thursday. A special meeting of the board will be held then to discuss new guidelines and policies for the club, which will be fully operating by July 1.

BIRD'S LIFE

Mother Cat Picks Rooftop For Family

Cats have independent ways, and mother cats can be the most contrary of all, or so the R. H. Snyders have found out

A mother cat has picked their air conditioner duct, perched on top of their house, to raise four small kittens

"And I don't even like cats," shrugged Mrs. Snyder. "We've been waiting for her to move them ever since my son found them while working on our air conditioner two weeks ago. Her son, Richard (Dick) Snyder, San Angelo. was preparing the air conditioner for summer use when he discovered the make-shift maternity ward the mother cat had set up in the duct. 'My grandson, Gary Moore, carries a saucer of milk up to the mother every day," said Mrs.

"That could be the reason she's staying."

The mother gets on top of the house by way of a trellis at the side of the home. Although they could, the Snyders haven't turned on their air conditioner since they found the cat and kittens. 'We weren't sure what the conditioner would do to them when it was turned on," she said. "Since then we've found out that there are no moving parts that could hit them."

"Maybe the noise will persuade her to move." As for the mother cat, she continues her daily routine of raising four tiny kittens. Only the dog has an irreverent attitude toward the unorthodox cat haven; he continues chasing

Cheery Farmer Attains Age 102

MOUNT MOLLY, N.J. (AP) - Thomas Harker celebrated his 102nd birthday Friday and couldn't figure out why, because 'I weighed only two pounds when I was born and I was never strong and healthy."

His daughter, Beatrice Haines, said her father was sickly in his youth but enjoyed good health after he grew up and operated a 90-acre dairy farm in nearby Medford.

Mrs. Haines thinks the clue to her father's long life has been his "easy going" ways. "He's cheerful and never finds fault," she said.

To be armed with a diploma is an admirable accomplishment; in this day it is almost indispensible. To possess a good scholastic record also is highly commendable. But we suggest that none these truly reflects the educated mind nor, indeed, is the best test for successful assimilation of a high school education.

To come out of high school with a knowledge of how to use the tools of learning is one of the most important tests of this plateau of education. Fortunate is the student who has developed some mastery of the ability to reason, to organize his work and his thoughts and then to administer effectively his time and effort.

Another test is that of recognizing the challenge to continue the learning process. By no means all of the graduates will go on to college

- nor should all of them do so - but regardless of whether it is a job situation or a college career, continuing learning is a critical necessity today. In some technical and scientific fields, the rate of obsolescence for knowledge is less than four years. In almost every field, the individual who does not stay abreast of the accelerating wind of change is gravely handicapped in his calling. Still another test of education is the stimulation to innovate or to create. Some admittedly have a greater talent than others in this area, but all should have some spark of it.

There are doubtless many other tests, but we mention one other - a commitment to the ideal of freedom, and closely akin to it, a concern for other people. These relate to a sense of enduring values, and if an individual comes out of school or college without a sound sense of sound, moral values, both he and the system have missed the

The Council contends that its plan would provide the stimulus "needed to accelerate economic recovery," along with a wage-price policy "to prevent prices and wages rising too fast as recovery accelerates."

The Council has spoken out on one of the most pressing subjects on the political scene today. It declares that, 'after two years of stagnation and decline" in the economy, recovery is "barely perceptible" and that the prospects for substantial recovery are bleak."

WASHINGTON - The Democratic governmental purchase policies and practices, stockpile dispositions, temporary variations in import policies, selective credit controls and above all focusing the inflation concern of the public on management and labor decisions. This will require active governmental intervention in influencing and setting prices and, in conjunction with unions, in establishing standards for wage increases.

> "THE PRESIDENT has shunned this advice. Private firms have continued to increase prices at record rates even in the face of weak demand. The Democratic Congress has twice enacted stand-by controls for use by the President, but he has only seen fit to use them in one industry. The problem is an economywide problem, and must be tackled by a coherent, comprehensive, national system of price - wage restraints.

> THE ADMINISTRATION is reluctant to apply wage and price controls. The belief is that the machinery required for such controls will be so bothersome that many businesses and their employes will become politically hostile to the administration. But the alternative which has been suggested by some labor-management experts is that the selective approach should be used and that in the next two years both price and wage increases in major industries be held within reasonable limits. For, unless something is done to keep down costs of production, prices are bound to rise and inflation is certain to go on until the purchasing power of the dollar is even further reduced.

The foregoing extracts from the statement of the policy council of the Democratic party are a recognition of the serious situation that exists today with respect to the economic condition of the country.

At no other time in their lives will young people be so plied with words of warning and encouragement as that time when they conclude their assigned courses in high school or

'Tis the season of the graduate, and of "commencement exercises" which, as tradition has it, must feature a speaker.

THIS PERSONAGE labors over his remarks in the fond hope that his pearls of wisdom will linger on in the minds of his young hearers, and thus serve in some way to bring about a better world. Ah, the folly of it!

Do you remember what the "commencement speaker" said to your class? Chances are, if you were in the pattern, the oration was given in a crowded, sweltering auditorium where the senior class squirmed in discomfort in their unaccustomed academic gowns. The young ladies and gentlemen were more interested in getting that "sheepskin" and getting on to the year-end festivities than they were hearing advice.

THE RELATIONSHIP between a graduation speaker and his audience may have been the first evidence of a generation gap.

For instance, even an earlier generation reacted with some disdain when they were admonished to "hitch your wagon to a star." The figure of speech represents high aims, but even kids long ago knew that stars were several million light years away and wondered how you could get to one in a horse-drawn vehicle. Today, the young people might say "no sweat - just jump into the next space machine - and by the way, man, what does he mean by a wagon?"

ACTUALLY, t h e run-of-the-mill graduation speaker (not all; some of them had, and have, inspirational genius) could fill out his hour-long delivery with any number of quotations from Bartlett's available works. Examples:

"The ambitious climbs up high and perilous stairs, and never cares how to come down; the desire of rising has swallowed up his fear of a fall. (Thomas Adams)

"There is always more in spirit in attack than in defense." (Livy). "The unexamined life is not worth living." (Socrates). "IF YOU GET simple beauty and naught else, you get about the best thing God invents." (Browning). "Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessedness." (Thomas Carlyle). "Books without the knowledge of life are useless." (Samuel Johnson). "A man used to vicissitudes is not easily dejected." (Samuel Johnson). "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine." (Proverbs 17:22). "THE MOST COSTLY of all follies is to believe passionately in the palpably not true. It is the chief occupation of mankind." (H. L. Men-

"This above all - to thine ownself be true, and it must follow, as night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man." (Shakespeare).

"To be what we are, and to become what we are capable of coming, is the only end of life." (R. L. Steven-

And so on. And then the wondrous athlete, Satchel Paige, uttered his own philosophy: "Don't look back; something may be gaining on you."

LONDON - What may finally come In the last half of 1970 and the first out of the tangled web of conflict in the Middle East is anyone's guess. To be an optimist you must believe that after the turmoil in Egypt has subsided President Anwar el-Sadat will emerge with enough authority to move toward an interim settlement with Isarel and the opening of the Suez Canal. That calls for a large order

BUT AT THIS stage, in the aftermath of the Rogers-Sisco mission, certain relationships need defining. The American position has been strengthened in the Arab world. However tenuous it may prove, there is a beginning confidence in America's role as an even-handed

The same cannot be said for Israel. The Secretary of State and the members of the Israeli Cabinet had an acrimonious exchange that stopped just short of a shouting match.

The last of the Phantom fighterbombers will be delivered in late May or early June. Three times - in January, February and March - the Israeli government asked for assurances that more of these formidable planes could be purchased. There was no reply.

ON THE OTHER side, the Soviet Union, Egypt's supplier, has poured in materiel at least as advanced as the American weaponry. So farreaching is Israeli intelligence that the details are known in the mostminute degree. The numbers of the almost legendary MIG-23s-flying over the Egyptian desert at up to three times the speed of sound are put conservatively at six.

Each new report spurs new requests and the upward spiral of action and reaction has apparently no end. In a part of the world where poverty is endemic the cost of these fantastic weapons is a grim commentary on hunger and misery.

THE ARMS race in the Middle East is in a sense an annex to the global arms race between the two super powers that seems about to go into a new and more deadly phase. It is a spiral within a spiral. Egypt commits virtually her entire cotton crop as partial payment to Moscow. Having to garrison extended borders. an increasing share of Israel's gross national product goes into the military budget. Beating the sword into a plough share, in the Biblical injunction, will take a lot of doing when the sword is on the scale of the MIG-23 and the Phantom. #### My Answer

Billy Graham

In a discussion at work a fellow employe asked if a person who holds strong political views could be a Christian. Will you please give me your answer to this ques-

I imagine the person who asked you this question has a sense of humor! I sincerely hope so, at any Christianity is not a political system, and being a Christian does not depend upon one's political views. Christianity is a religion of personal relationships. First and foremost it is a personal relationship with God through Jesus Christ. The Bible says, Being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." (Romans 5:1.)

Next there is the matter of one's relationship with other people. Jesus made it very clear that love for God must go hand in hand with love for our neighbor.

This means that while Christianity is not primarily political in character, it does have very definite political and social implications. It challenges those who follow Christ to think of others and to do everything in their power to alleviate the suffering and unhappiness about them. In actual fact, the greatest good has been done in the world by men and women of humble but sincere Christian faith, of varying political views.

More Heritage Photos Donated

Several more photographs have been added to the Heritage Museum collection during the past week.

A dozen of these are enlargements by the Bradshaw Studio, including two street scenes in the 1900-10 period, sand storms of 1894 and 1930, the city's first tourist court, candid shots of Will Rogers and Eleanor Roosevelt when they stopped here in the early 1930's while on transcontinental flights; reproduction of halftones on the Earl of Aylesford and his ancestral home in England, also of the Stewart (Cosmopolitar) Hotel which the Earl bought when he could not obtain lodgings

Mrs. G. T. Hall gave a collection of early-day ranch and town scenes from A. G. Hall Sr., who was her father-in-law and a pioneer saddle and bootmaker.

Among items coming in for subsequent exhibits are a charcoal iron, a fluting iron, horse-hair bridle set, 1880 shoe last, tobacco cutter from the old J. & W. Fisher store, Georgia stock plow, mule harness, etc.

Things which pertained to early ranching are especially needed at this time. The museum plans to feature this era in its next revolving exhibit starting in early July.

Year-end field trips have been pushing attendance past the 200 and 300 mark in recent weeks. In addition, a few outof-state visitors have been registered.

Search For Oil Leads Experts To Cow Pastures

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government's search for oil has led researchers to cow pastures.

The Bureau of Mines' laboratory in Pittsburgh has been experimenting with making oil from combustible materials such as agricultural wastes, Elburt Osborn, bureau director. told a House Appropriations subcommittee Friday.

"We would be able to use the tremendous accumulations of cow manure, for example, for making oil," he said. "It is good oil and can be used for the same purposes as the mineral said. "The 72-year-old law had to be it."

David Nixon thumbed through his 6-inch-thick water pollution report that tells of a 65-mile canoe trip on the Ohio and the Monongahela rivers.

And of detective work under the 1899 Rivers and Harbors Act that could mean the beginning of a new breed of environ-mentalist—the water pollution bounty hunter.

Nixon and his partner, zoologist John Zavodni, 27, followed the act to the letter, prompting the Justice Department to file criminal charges against four corporations on a total of 73 counts of water pollution.

The corporations and number of charges against each: U.S. Steel Corp. 35, Jones & Laugh-lin Steel Corp. 21, Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp. 13 and Pennsylvania Industrial Chemical Corp. 4.
The U.S. Attorney for western Pennsylvania, Richard Thornburgh, said the corporations will be arraigned shortly and that if convicted, could be fined a maximum $2,500 on each count.

Seventy-three violations could mean total fines of $182,500. And that's where a littleknown fact of the old act comes into play: It says that the government will split fines 50-50 with whoever supplies the evi-awarded $12,500 by Judge Inzer B. Wyatt of the Southern District of New York on Dec. 11 for information that led to the prosecution of Transit-Mix Concrete Corp., which pleaded guilty and was sentenced Nov. 24 to a 100-count indictment under the Rivers and Harbors Act for discharging "refuse matter," concrete and alkaline water into the East River at the foot of East 20th Street.

Nixon and Zavodni say money is only part of their antipollution activities, though.

"One thing we're trying to do is to get other citizens of the United States to do something about water pollution-although naturally, the money itself is an incentive," Nixon said.

He and Zavodni, who both teach on the McKeesport campus of Penn State, began their sleuthing last summer. Fresh from Colorado Springs, Colo., Nixon was more than a little surprised to see the water pollution problem in the Pittsburgh area—"It's really a shock to come here from Colo-Nixon was checking out wa-

All chemical testings of the water samples, about 500, was done free by Allegheny County. Nixon prepared his information and turned it over to the government. That was in October, 1970. Last March, U.S. Atty. Thornburgh's office announced that criminal proceedings on the 73 counts had been

How good is the Rivers and Harbors Act? "You could never hope to get a similar piece of legislation through today," Nixon said.

It prohibits any dumping, except treated sewage, into a navigable waterway without a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers. Nixon said he found that Army Engineers in the Pittsburgh district had never issued a permit.

A navigable waterway has been defined by the courts as a waterway that will float a small boat or log.

But the pollution bounty hunter could have a very short life. As the way Nixon sees it: "They could be put out of business very easily if industry would obey the law."

What is best in life? Childhood? Adolescence? The Middle Years? The peace that should come with the twilight of life? Who

Life is full of many questions and very few answers. The hours bring with them unexpected contrasts of happiness and sorrowof assurance and dismay—of wealth and poverty, both spiritual and material.

Where to find it? How about looking, first, in the church of your choice? Next Sunday?

Andretti appeared to push his factory Ferrari to the danger limit as the rain stopped. But he fell short of the 1:28.3 cutoff time. Andretti sat in the pits for the last 15 minutes.

Saturday's best time was turned in by Jo Siffert of Switzerland in a BRM, 1:31.9. Andretti's best was 1:434.4.

The places in the starting grid were distributed in the order of finish of Friday's trials, when the weather was good and the track dry. Jackie Stewart of Scotland in a Tyrell-Ford, Jacky Ickx of Belgium in a Ferrari and Jo Siffert of Switzerland in a BRM had the first line starting spots.

Local Nimrod Prefers Slingshot To A Gun

By TOMMY HART David, in his rumble with Goliath, could have used the help of Francis

Johns, who grew up on a farm near Floresville, is uncannily accurate with a slingshot. Friday may not have been a typical day but on a business trip in the direction of Gail the Big Spring man stopped his car and dispatched two rattlesnakes - one of which was 65 inches in length and coiling as if to contest Johns' right of passage.

Francis killed each of the rattlers with one shot. He salvages bearings from discarded trucks for his ammo, The chemical salesman, who works for Baroid here, began to develop his accuracy with the weapon about 30 year's ago. He estimates he has killed 10 times as much wild game with the slingshot as he has with his guns — and he maintains more than $1,000 worth of highly-polished firearms about the family home. MAKES HIS OWN

Johns, an amiable, good-looking man with a love for all sports, makes his own slingshots. He gets the frames from mesquite tree forks, polishes them to the desired degree, uses surgical tubing for the necessary elasticity of the weapon and scissors a 1x3 inch piece of leather for the pouch from which the ball bearing

He orders the surgical tubing in 100-foot strips from a supply house in Houston.

The tubing he now employs is a little more sophisticated then the Model-T tire tubes he used for the weapon's rubber when he was a boy. It lasts longer, too.

"I suppose I've made a hundred of them, and given most of them away," Francis says.

How accurate is he? The primitive nunters should have been as good. He's killed a rabbit from a distance of 100-yards—the length of a football field. In one day, he's felled as many as 60 of the fleet-footed jack rabbits and cottontails.

With a single shot, Johns has killed no fewer than seven birds roosting on the limb of a tree. He recently slew a coon perched in a tree 30 feet above the ground from a distance of about 60 feet. He estimates he has caused the demise of 60 skunks since his arrival here. He's killed javelina hogs, foxes, wild turkeys and a full grown chicken hawk while the bird was on the wing - all with his trusty slingshot.

He's reached his limit in quail neatly and quickly - by shooting off

There are 100 fewer rattlesnakes in West Texas, at least, all because Francis just doesn't miss with his

tional rise to cinema fame in vision Emmys.

NEW YORK (AP) - Big, broad-shouldered, mustachioed, with hair growing thick on his neck, better looking than on screen — although Mom says that's not possible - Rock Hudson doesn't look like an anachronism. But he is.

Like a caveman in the jet age, Hudson is a Hollywood star in a nonexistent galaxy.

The handsome hero of Hollywood still is the romantic leading man, no matter what role he plays. "I tried to do all sorts of different roles all along, but

According to the annual national polls of theater owners by the trade publication Motion Picture Herald, Hudson remains one of the all-time top moneymaking stars. He is seventh among the box-office lures, with eight listings within the top 10 in the past 20 years.

But - and it's a significant but - he hasn't shown up on the list since 1964, when he was third behind Doris Day and Jack Lemmon. He was No. 1 in 1957, after his Academy Award-nominated role in "Giant," in which he costarred with Elizabeth Taylor. He was then fifth, then second or third in the next six polls. Variety once mentioned him among the studio-made stars who had previously received at least $250,000 per picture but had four or more straight flops since. Others included Tony

Curtis, Burt Lancaster and Kirk

Douglas.

Speaking with an air of selfassurance, projecting a personal warmth and sense of humor akin to his laconic playboy on screen, Hudson suggested one possibility for the recent run of flops: what he considers the lack of good writers in Hollywood today.

In the days of the studio "star system," Hudson notes, "writers were hired — good writers. Like F. Scott Fitzgerald. Look at Gable. Or whomever. Garbo. Harlow. They were brilliant. Because the films were tailormade for them. Nowstry to find a good role . . .

COLLEGE PARK CLUB

"Family Camping" was the opic discussed by Mrs. Herb larke for the College Park Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in her home, 103 Gunter. She suggested one or two short camping trips before leaving on an extended trip, in order to know what to expect and what to take.

Mrs. Clarke said that books and magazines on camping areas around the country are available, and that people should learn climatic conditions of their destination to be sure to take the right clothing.

'Most people need to make list of things to take," said Mrs. Clarke, "then they should go over it and cut out about half of the items. You should plan for more food than usual, because people eat more when they are hiking and involved in outdoor activities." Following the program, members offered camping tips based on in dividual experiences.

1971 Bride and Groom-Becky Fryar and Dicky Weaver

Joining many other couples who follow the June marriage tradition, this attractive pair — Rebecca (Becky) Fryar and Richard George (Dicky) Weaver — will exchange vows on June 1. Following their wedding, they'll be facing the same decisions as other young couples embarking on a new life. Like others, they must shop together before establishing a home and must plan ahead for their future years together. You will find interesting to join them on their tour of Big Spring establishments (depicted in these pages) where they inspect the many items and services a bride and groom need for their wedding and for their first home — as well as for things they hope to acquire as time goes on. Their tour may be followed by every prospective bride and groom, as well as by every couple still planning and dreaming for more home improvements and more family advantages.

Lucille Brown, bridal consultant at Blum's Jewelers shows Becky and Dicky one of the more than 200 patterns of China to select from, Sonnet by Royal Doulton. While at Blum's, Becky and Dick discovered the most complete bridal service in Big Spring. At Blum's you can find your diamond rings with matching bands by Artcarved and Orange Blossom. Blum's Jewelers take special pride to have been appointed authorized dealer for all nationally advertised brands of China, Pottery, Sterling, Watches and many more too numerous to mention. Blum's entire personnel is experienced and trained to assist you with your selections.

At Gibson's Housewares and Small Appliances Department, Mary Kimble tells Becky and Dicky of the advantages in owning and using the M-200 Hi-Fry. Deep Fryer and the great savings the young newlyweds will find when shopping for the necessities and luxuries at Gibson's Discount Center. Gibson's carries nationally known brands of home needs from dishdrainers and paring knives to automatic blenders, vacuum cleaners, and portable clothes washers. "Savings" is the big word in the budget of newlyweds and "Savings" is a big word in the prices at Gibson's. Gibson's is the great place for young couples to find great savings on high quality home needs and conveniences.

Don Statham, manager of White's, demonstrates the Catalina cartridge tape player with AM-FM radio, one of the many fine entertainment appliances to be found by young couples at White's. Also, White's has a full line of televisions, refrigerators, ranges, automotive needs, small appliances and lawn-garden tools priced to get newlyweds off to the right start in their new home with a modest budget. All young couples can find a host of ideas for their new home with help from the friendly hometown personnel at White's.

Terry Carter of Carter's Furniture, 100 to 110 Runnels shows the young couple the construction of a Spanish Bedroom suite by Johnson-Carper. Carter's Furniture has a complete selection of Johnson-Carper bedroom groups, constructed of pecan, pecan veneers and polystyrene. Shop this friendly store for all your furniture needs.

"Mobile homes, constituting 95% of all homes made and sold for $15,000 and under today, are the best buy in the housing market today," says Harry Gordon, Assistant Vice President of Big Spring Savings Association. With five dealerships offering more than 50 brands in Big Spring, Becky and Dicky have come to Harry for facts, figures, and advice to help them make their decision. Harry points out, "Couples need to know all the facts about mobile home ownership before they make a long-term debt which can amount to more than $18,000. We know the differences in construction of the various brands of mobile homes which are not so obvious at the time of purchase, but make very obvious differences through the years. Big Spring Savings Association is geared through experience, professionalism, and personal concern to offer you reliable advice and information about choosing, purchasing, insuring, and financing your mobile home."

The new Modern Age Group amazes Becky and Dicky in its versatility at Montgomery Ward. Connie Jordan delights in showing the modular, do-anything cubes. The look is Now! Today! Tomorrow! Its style is fresh and new. Clean lines and bold graphics. The function and the look are for people. The theme is "Function" at Wards, where you will find chairs to sit in, rugs to walk on and fabrics as easy to clean as they are beautiful to look at and convenient to purchase with Wards Charg-All" time payment plan.

Bob Brasel, of Pioneer Natural Gas Co., is explaining the finer points of outdoor living to Becky and Dicky . . . which always begins with an outdoor gas grill by Charmglow. Enjoy that charcoal flavor without fuss or lengthy preparation. There are four different styles to choose from, all cast from rust-free, care-free, heavy-duty aluminum. Then add a light touch to the after dark patio fun with a charming gas light, you'll relax in its soft glow that also casts a protective light the year around. Add convenience and charm to your backyard fun by picking me grill and light that suits you and order from Pioneer Natural . . . budget terms available.

Mrs. Reba Baker, of First National Bank, is showing Becky and Dicky one of the many sizes of safe deposit boxes the bank has for rent. Mrs. Baker explained the workings of the safe deposit vault and showed them the rooms where the boxes may be examined in complete privacy. She explained that many treasured and valuable papers may be safely stored in the boxes.

"After entering the new 1971 Starcraft Travel Trailer being sold in this area by Joe Hicks Motor Co., Dicky and Becky find out that they don't need to lower their standard of living just because they're on vacation. They find out that just for a modest investment one can get a trailer that lets a family travel in comfort from coast to coast . . and there will be no problem towing it with the family car. That's because the exclusive wide-track Dura-Flex Torsion Axle suspension system minimizes sway and road shock. And another nice thing in this age of environmental decay, remember wherever you park a Starcraft Travel Trailer . . . you'll be beautifying America.

Besides explaining all the standard services offered by Security State Bank, James Marbut, Cashier, shows the young couple how easy it is to open a checking or saving account.
