

Wed The Unweds?

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A girl signed "WONDERING" asked you how men felt about marrying an unwed mother, and you invited me to write in and tell her. Here's my story:

When I met my wife, she was 18 and five months pregnant. She told me all about herself and even who the baby's father was, but it didn't make one bit of difference to me. We were married a month before her baby was born, and I couldn't love my own flesh and blood more.

I admired this girl for being absolutely truthful from the start. I have been married to this wonderful girl for six years, and we have had two other children, and I love them all the same.

LUCKY IN WENATCHEE

DEAR ABBY: In starting married life with another man's child, I would consider myself fortunate to have an unwed mother as my intended.

There would be no sessions of private grief for a killed-in-action husband, no trying to keep his memory alive in the child. No problems with previous in-laws or dotting grandparents. And there would be no emotional hangovers from a previous marriage that mistfired or helping her live down her first love.

As far as I am concerned, unwed mothers are definitely

choice material

FRANK IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR ABBY: I would advise an unwed mother to keep the story of her mistake to herself. I married a girl who had had a child out of wedlock. She told me who the baby's father was and all the details of the whole rotten mess, and I have wished a thousand times that she hadn't told me. If she had made up a story about having been "raped" I would have been much happier.

CAN'T FORGET IN MINNESOTA

DEAR ABBY: Please tell WONDERING not to wonder any more. No man of quality will think less of her for one mistake. I know I met a lovely little woman, and I fell hard! She knew I was getting serious, so she confessed that although she had never been married she had a child 6 years old. I met the child, and she won my heart. In less than a year I married the unwed mother and adopted her child. We subsequently had five other children and now have a grand total of 21 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. We have had 55 beautiful years together, and I consider myself the luckiest man in the world.

NO REGRETS IN PENSACOLA

DEAR ABBY: I married an unwed mother 15 years ago, and we now have the most beautiful 16-year-old "mistake" in the world.

PROUD IN ALLENTOWN, PA.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe "WONDERING" would like to hear from a mother whose son married an unwed mother. To me there is no finer lady than my new daughter, Barbie. I also got a beautiful grandbaby in the bargain, which I love as much as my other grandbabies.

When my son married Barbie her baby was 5 months old. There was some ugly talk, but my whole family held their heads high and paid no attention. My new daughter showed her true character by accepting her responsibilities and not lying about her mistake. This has made us love her all the more. I am proud of my son.

Breast Removed

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You are my last resort, and maybe other women have the same problem I have. Three years ago I had one breast removed, and haven't felt comfortably dressed since.

No one seems to know what kind of bra to get for this, or where to get it. An ordinary bra does not stay put in the right position. —N.L.M.

I'd rather not be the "last resort," because I think better sources of information are available.

I have friends with the same problem (breast surgery is not by any means an unusual necessity) and they get along very well.

For what I can tell you: it depends on the size you need. If relatively small, I am told that foam rubber "falsies" can be bought in the dime stores. Sewing one into a bra keeps it in position.

For larger sizes, most department stores (or corsetiers, if there are any left) can supply a filled-out bra that will stay put.

I'm told this is a matter of shopping around to find what you want. If you are in a small community, you may very likely have to go to a larger city.

If you still have trouble, I'd suggest getting in touch with one of the cancer societies — a branch of the American Cancer Society, or some of the others — since a considerable proportion of such surgery is because of cancer. Therefore, these groups can put you in touch with others who have solved the problem.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our family has been arguing for quite a while over whether hair is living or dead. My father says it is living and my two brothers and I say it is dead. We learned so in school. —S.M.

I can think of more useful things to argue about — but hair (and the same is true of fingernails) is inert. It doesn't grow once it has appeared above the skin.

The new hair, growing below the surface, pushes the rest of it ahead. The living tissues of the body — flesh, bone, blood, and so on — are constantly being replaced, cell by cell. Hair isn't. Let's say it is inert.

Better tell dad I voted against him.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can cataracts be removed before they are ripe? I was told they would come back if taken off before they are ripe. Also can you take vitamins and get rid of cataracts? —Mrs. R. T.

Cataracts can be removed any time they interfere with vision. They cannot come back because the "cataract" is the entire lens of the eye, when it has become cloudy. The whole lens is removed. No vitamins will not get rid of cataracts.

Headaches: You can beat them. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Ted Simmons Boosts Cards Past Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — Ted Simmons, resolving an argument-filled 10th inning, got what he considered an undeserved chance to drive home the winning run Monday night, enabling the St. Louis Cardinals to maintain their half-game lead in the National League East.

"The umpires were 0-for-4," said losing pitcher Bob Priddy of Atlanta.

"As it worked out, it was best," Simmons said, "but my

Mark Callahan Stops Lions

The Angels, benefitting from Mark Callahan's one-hit pitching, won their third Sophomore League decision in four starts by defeating the Lions, 16-0, here Monday.

The league's 10-run rule was invoked after the fifth inning. Callahan fanned eight and did not issue a free pass.

Billy Don Whittington may have set a league record when he smashed three triples and a double, accounting for 11 total bases.

Don Kelso also had four hits, including a double.

Stevenson, the losing pitcher, had the satisfaction of breaking up Callahan's bid for a no-hitter with a clean single in the fifth.

Nine runs in the fourth put the decision on the top shelf for the Angels. The defeat left the Lions with a 0-4 record.

EX-PROS RETURN Old-Timers' Game Set At Lamesa

LAMESA — The Lamesa Lobes and Lubbock Hubbers will meet again on the baseball diamond Saturday when the first annual "Old-timers" game is staged at Lobo Park in Lamesa.

The Lobes and Hubbers were bitter rivals in the West Texas and New Mexico League in the post-war period of minor league baseball.

The three inning game will begin at 7 p.m. and will precede a Babe Ruth League Game that evening.

Former players from throughout the area are invited to attend. All proceeds will go toward refurbishing the once-proud park now used for Babe Ruth League baseball.

Former Lobes who have indicated they will be in uniform for the game are Jay Haney, Bob Falk, Lefty Leon Hays and Jim Prince, all of Midland; Chris Haskins of Houston; Joe Fortin of Pampa; Jack Wilcox of Dallas; I. B. Palmer and Stan Grzywacz of Lubbock; Walter Buckel and Ellis Rosson of Lamesa and Lefty Bill Jones of Andrews. Haney will pilot the Lamesa team, just as he did in 1949.

Jackie Sullivan of Lubbock, who did in 1947. Former Hubbers who will return for the tilt are Mike Dooley, Sullivan, Bill Metz, Charles and Bob Galey, Floyd Walker, Bob Clodfelter, Don and Wilcy Moore, E. C. Leslie, Ray Parker, Jesse Priest, Roy Raker and others.

Other stars who performed for Amarillo, Albuquerque, Pampa, Clovis, Abilene and Borger are expected to be on hand for the reunion with former teammates and rival players.

Upwards of 1,000 fans from throughout the area are expected for the game. Tickets are on sale for $1.50. They will remain on sale at the gate the night of the game.

Slow Play Nettles Palmer And Others

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Notes from the pro golf tournament trail:

Arnold Palmer, Frank Beard and former Masters champion George Archer are among the prominent tourists concerned and annoyed with slow play on the regular tour events.

"Oh, man, I'd like to have your job for just one week," Palmer told a PGA official recently. "Just one week. I'll guarantee you we'd be playing faster or there'd be so many strokes put on these guys the scores would look like a member-guest tournament."

"Once—just once—I'd like to go out there and just play golf and not stand around half the day."

"It's absolutely ridiculous," Beard said. "We're taking 4 1/2 and 5 hours to play 18 holes in a twosome. There's just no excuse for it. You can play that fast in a foursome on public links."

"I'm not going to name any names. You know who they are. Everyone out here knows who they are. They're the same ones every week. You can look at a day's pairings and tell immediately which groups are going to be slow."

Jack Nicklaus, upset by Gardner Dickinson in a sudden death playoff in the Atlanta Classic last week, doesn't have to worry about the wily little veteran in next week's U.S. Open at Ardmore, Pa.

Troy Kerby Hurls No-Hit Game Behind Hardware

Troy Kerby hurred the Big Spring Hardware Tigers into first place in the Hi-Junior league Monday night when he no-hit the Indians.

The two teams entered play with identical 2-1 records. The Optimists can tie the Tigers with a win over the Kiwanians tonight.

The Bengals and the Optimists collide in a big one Thursday evening.

Kerby, who has not pitched 14 consecutive shutout innings, fanned eight and permitted no ball to be hit out of the infield. He issued four walks, two of them in the fifth and two more in the seventh.

Willie Williams hit a double and a single for the Tigers. Kerby and Earl Reynolds each collected two singles.

The game was very close until the sixth, when the Tigers broke the shackles for three runs. Cris Duron was the losing flinger.

Cage Circuit Organizing

Ben Neal, who will direct the basketball activity of the City-wide Summer Recreation program, has issued another call for youths to sign up.

He will be at the Rannels gym from about 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. today, also on Thursday to talk with interested boys in the program.

Young men from junior high through high school, and for college men who are engaged in basketball activities in their school, are welcome to take part.

If a sufficient number can be enrolled, a league will be organized.

So far as possible, he will try to arrange a schedule where it will have a minimum of conflict with the teen baseball leagues.

BSGA Sets Conclave

Matters relating to the partnership golf tournament scheduled at the Munny course over Independence Day will be discussed at a meeting of the Big Spring Golf Association, scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock this evening at the clubhouse at the Munny course.

The BSGA has already sponsored one partnership meet this year and it was regarded as a signal success. However, rules for the approaching one will probably vary a bit.

Discussion of a new system for handicapping players will also be discussed this evening.

The association is in the market for a new television set. That matter will come up for discussion, too.

All members are being urged to be in attendance.

Sports dialogue:
 RED SMITH, New York scribe:
 "That hardest-hitting troubador in show business, Joe Frazier — in Las Vegas last year he sang so hard he broke an ankle — sees $1 million in his immediate future for bookings with the band, endorsements, personal appearances, commercials — and such, and he fears that unfavorable publicity (such as he has been getting during his tour of Europe) might jeopardize this. There have been foul-ups on his tour that got on the news services."

Pitcher CHRIS ZACHARY, former Houston Astro, after cracking the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching rotation:
 "I feel I finally know how to pitch — after nine years. I'm just glad I got a second and third chance. Some guys don't get those extra chances."

The SPORTING NEWS:
 "The New York football writers probably honored the wrong man as the 'super man' of the Super Bowl game. They chose Mike Curtis of Baltimore, principally because Baltimore won the game. Several Dallas Cowboys, including Chuck Howley, played better ball that day than Curtis. Baltimore's defense did not outplay Dallas'. The game was won on Dallas' mistakes."

BILL BRADLEY of the New York Knickerbockers, who doesn't think pro basketball will be given an exemption from the anti-trust laws to permit a merger of the two leagues:
 "What it all boils down to essentially is why should the Congress of the United States support 22 businessmen?"

DAVE WILLIAMS, University of Houston golf coach, on why he is against the idea of making college freshmen eligible to play varsity football as a means to reduce spiraling costs:
 "I'm not saying that economically it might not be good. But unless they are an Alcindor at UCLA, a McVea at Houston, a Solomon at Rice or a Crenshaw at Texas they're not going to make the team. There aren't many freshmen going to break into a lineup except maybe in track, and then for purposes of depth. I believe the economic pinch will have to get a lot worse before freshmen compete in varsity football."

Coach PEPPER RODGERS of UCLA, after watching his ace runner, Jim McAlister, rush for 170 yards in 23 carries in the Bruins' annual Spring football game:
 "When you watch him, you think he might score every time. I won't compare him to anybody, but let's say he's better than anybody I've seen at this stage of his career."

SPARKY ANDERSON, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, after Larry Dierker of Houston had beaten his club, 4-1, recently:
 "Don't tell me about Dierker. I know all about him. When I came up in 1969 (as a coach with San Diego), I saw Tom Seaver pitch three times and I saw all the others. And in my opinion, Dierker was the best pitcher I saw all that time. I know Larry was a little off last year, but the way he's pitching now, he looks as good, if not better, than he did when he won those 20 games in 1969. In fact, Houston showed me great pitching in this series. Dierker had a tough act to follow — the way Don Wilson and Jack Billingham and that kid, Ken Forsch, pitched."

ABE LEMONS, basketball coach at Oklahoma City University, on golf-playing football coaches:
 "They have a lot of time, and all they can lose is 11 games a year. Let 'em make a 17-game road trip somewhere and see if they feel like playing golf."

Bunce, Frietas Seek To Replace Plunkett

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out some off-season college football wash:
 Stanford's biggest task this fall will be replacing quarterback Jim Plunkett, the Heisman Trophy winner and all-time NCAA total offense leader. One thing Coach John Ralston doesn't lack in candidates.
 Heading the list is Don Bunce, who backed up Plunkett in 1968 and 1969 but sat out last season with 1971 in mind. Bunce is described as an exciting and unpredictable performer, who has a knack for scrambling out of sticky situations.

Plunkett's understudy last year was Jesse Freitas and the Stanford people feel the picture passer could have performed along the lines of Washington's Sonny Sixkiller and Oregon's Dan Fouts, who broke in as sophomore standouts, had Plunkett been sidelined.
 Mike Boryla, another 1970 reserve, combines equal ability as a passer and runner while Mike Gilyard, last year's frosh quarterback, is only 5-foot-11 and 170 pounds—the others are over 6 feet—but is an exciting performer who passed for 228 yards in a 35-34 thriller against the Southern Cal frosh.

You'd think a quarterback who completed 133 of 269 passes last fall for 1,871 yards and 15 touchdowns, wouldn't have any trouble keeping his job.
 But Oklahoma State's Tony Pounds, who compiled those impressive statistics but also threw 15 interceptions, is battling no less than five candidates—holdovers—Mike Robichaux and John Ballard, sophomores Brent Blackman and Don Hardcastle and transfer Gene Nichol.

Two years ago Wisconsin was touting a sensational sophomore running back named Greg Johnson and nicknamed "Grape Juice" after you know who. Injuries hampered him in 1969, although the 188-pound speedster set two school kickoff return records. Johnson was ineligible last season and has been converted into a defensive back.

There's a three-way battle to succeed Joe Theismann at Notre Dame. In the spring windup game, junior Jim Bulger completed seven passes for 97 yards, senior Pat Steenberge also hit on seven for 113 yards while sophomore Cliff Brown also connected on seven for 113 yards and kicked a 51-yard field goal.

The NCAA put in an 11th regular season game last fall but San Jose State has gone one better. The Spartans will play 12 games in each of four years starting with 1972. That's permissible, as long as the 12th game is against Hawaii. Nebraska visits the islands this December for a 12th contest.

San Diego State has been having trouble (1) scheduling major opponents and (2) getting into the Pacific-8 Conference. The Aztecs have made a breakthrough of sorts, though, by lining up Pac-8 member Oregon State for games in 1972 and 1973.

Alabama and Mississippi are looking somewhat farther ahead. They've scheduled each other through 1987, except for the 1972-3 and 1978-9 periods.

Alabama got a surprise in its Spring game when sophomore Steve Dean carried 16 times for 86 yards to 14 and 70 for all-star candidate Johnny Musso.

College football's two leading pass-catchers returning next fall—Tom Gatewood of Notre Dame and Jean Fugett of Amherst—grew up on the same block in Baltimore. They both finished second nationally in their respective divisions last year.

If the name of Rod Paige, Texas Southern's new coach, has a familiar ring, it's probably because he spent five years as head coach at Jackson, Miss., State, turning out such future pros as Lem Barney (Lions), Verlon Biggs (Jets) and Harold Jackson (Eagles). Paige spent the past two seasons on the staff at the University of Cincinnati.

Pinto 2 door
 $66* less than VW T13

$2175*
Maverick 2 door
 $176* less than Nova 2 door

The little carefree car. Pinto is sized small, like the economy import, but it's bigger on valde. And price is only the beginning. Pinto calls for only half as many oil changes as VW. One-sixth the chassis lubes. So easy to service that you can do most routine maintenance yourself. And Pinto is bigger on performance. It has a 75-hp engine that has averaged over 25 mpg in simulated city/suburban driving. Sports-car type rack-and-pinion steering. Wider stance and lower silhouette.

The Simple Machine. Maverick's price makes it simpler to own than Nova. But that's not the only reason we call it the Simple Machine. Maverick's simple to drive and park because of its shorter wheelbase and smaller turning circle. Simple to service because it's been designed that way. Maverick offers a 4-door sedan for a low price of $2235* ($145* less than Nova 4 door). Or choose the sporty Grabber model. A choice of an economical V-8 and three thrifty Sixes.

*Ford's suggested retail price for Pinto and Maverick. However, the models shown are equipped with accent group (Pinto $80; Maverick $52) and white sidewall tires ($29). Destination charges, dealer preparation charges (if any), state and local taxes are extra.

Comparison based on manufacturers' suggested retail prices for closest comparable body styles of lowest priced models, comparably equipped.
