

NIXON'S POLICY POLITICALLY MOTIVATED?

HHH Raps Kennedy War Views

ACTOR DIES — Michael Rennie, above, film and television actor, died unexpectedly today in Harrogate, England, while visiting his mother. He was 62.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, invoking his role as titular Democratic Party leader, has disavowed Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's charge that President Nixon's Vietnam policy is politically motivated.

The Minnesota senator said Wednesday he wanted to make clear to Republican National Chairman Robert J. Dole the Democratic party and its leaders are not questioning the President's motives in challenging his policy.

NOT ACCUSING
"I happen to believe the President does want peace," said Humphrey, Democratic nominee for the White House in 1968. "He is proceeding more slowly than I would . . ."

"I'm not accusing the President of being cynical, I'm not accusing the President of being partisan about the war." Kennedy did both, in a speech Monday night to lawyers lobbying for a Dec. 31 deadline for U.S. withdrawal from South Vietnam.

The White house entered a political charge of its own regarding a war issue Wednesday when it attacked statements by former Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford.

Clifford, who headed the Pentagon under the Democratic Johnson administration, told the lawyers Tuesday he had reason to believe setting a date for the end of U.S. involvement in Indochina would insure the immediate release of American POWs.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said "there may be an attempt to exploit the prisoners of war for domestic political purposes."

Asked if he had Clifford in mind, Ziegler replied: "I think my remarks would relate to raising false hopes, yes."

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, just back Wednesday from Paris where the peace talks are being held, described as "mere propaganda" reports that the North Vietnamese have grown more flexible on the prisoner issue.

"The fact of the matter is that there is no change in their basic position," he said. "Talking to people not involved in the negotiations they want to create the impression that they are ready to make a deal. If they are interested in changing their position, they can talk to Ambassador David Bruce . . . all they have to do is pick up the telephone."

Replying to Kennedy, Dole charged "Some members of the other party are willing to exceed the bounds of partisanship, reason and common decency in their efforts to downgrade the President and advance their own personal interests."

"It is the height of irresponsibility and blind personal ambition for members of the other party to attack President Nixon as they have done in recent days," he said.

Dole named Kennedy only after Humphrey insisted that he identify the Democrat or Democrats he was talking about.

ABOUT TIME
Humphrey said later that he objected to Dole's blanket references to leaders and spokesmen of the Democratic Party.

"I thought it was time he understood that the Democratic party and its leadership was not trying to make a partisan issue out of Vietnam," he said in an interview. "I do not contest the President's sincerity for peace."

The Democratic Policy Council, which Humphrey heads, had endorsed legislation due for a vote next Wednesday to enforce a Dec. 31 military withdrawal deadline. Nixon has opposed any such deadline.

Kennedy entered the Senate chamber while Humphrey was speaking, but remained silent.

Afterwards, the Massachusetts Democrat said he stood on his Monday night speech.

In that speech, Kennedy said, "The ultimate and cynical reality of our policy is beginning to dawn on the American people."

"The only possible excuse for continuing the discredited policy of Vietnamizing the war, now and in the months ahead, seems to be the President's intention to play his last great card for peace at a time closer to November, 1972, when the chances will be greater that the action will benefit the coming presidential election campaign."

Kennedy also accused Nixon of making U.S. prisoners of war pawns in his political plan.

FIRST DAY

Computers Cause Big D Traffic Jams

DALLAS (AP) — The computers made their debut on North-Central Expressway today and endless traffic tangles stretched for miles.

Angry motorists waited hours in the mid-morning heat, and harassed traffic officers darted hither-and-yon trying to sort out the jam.

Drivers who usually take the thoroughfare to work retreated to alternate routes.

It was all part of the first day for a much-heralded computerized signal system which went into operation along a 10-mile stretch of the busy thoroughfare.

Employing what appears to be standard traffic lights, the computer flashes the motorist a "green-light" when it is safe to enter the expressway from an entrance ramp.

Police reported excessive congestion all along the expressway with numerous backups — some stretching for blocks — at most entrance ramps.

By one calculation, cars were held in the ramps on an average of four to six minutes before being signaled into the expressway traffic.

Police traffic units were posted at strategic locations along the expressway, using loudspeakers to warn motorists to follow the signals.

A police surveillance helicopter circled overhead, continuously dispatching ground patrols to areas where congestion was most critical.

What's Dat Again Sadat?

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Anwar Sadat of Egypt said today there can be no peace in the Middle East unless Israel withdraws from all Arab lands and the Palestinians are granted self determination.

Indicating growing impatience over what Egyptians consider U.S. foot-dragging over peace efforts, Sadat declared:

"Continuation of U.S. military and material assistance to Israel is tantamount to American participation in the occupation of our land . . . Therefore the U.S. has defined its stand as a partner in aggression on our nation."

Three Texans Decapitated

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Three men died Wednesday night as a sports car rammed underneath a heavy truck trailer 10 miles west of Midland on U.S. 80.

The top was sliced off the car and its occupants were decapitated, state patrolman Robert Petty reported.

The driver of the car was identified as Gary Murcutt, 31, of Midland.

Petty said the other two carried drivers' licenses showing they were Roger C. Paris, 31, and Frederick C. Thomas, 30, both of Abilene, Tex.

Officers learned that Thomas had borrowed the car, a 1969 model Thunderbird, from a friend, Trucker Herman Idleman, 38, of Rankin, Tex., escaped injury. He told authorities he was crossing U.S. 80 after halting for a stop sign on FM 1788, slowed to let eastbound traffic pass and was struck by the car.

Patrolmen said the auto skidded 107 feet before smashing beneath the trailer and then, with its top sheared off, careened 117 feet beyond the point of impact.

FOR GOODNESS SNAKES!

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Maurice Britz was fined $25 for pointing a python at a tailor.

Britz, 22, told the police court that he left his jacket with the tailor to have six Hell's Angels badges sewed on it. When he picked up the jacket, a Blue Max badge was missing.

The tailor said he knew nothing about the Blue Max, so Britz got Freddie, his 9-foot pet python, waves the nonpoisonous snake in the tailor's face, saying, "Freddie will find out the truth."

The tailor called the police, and they charged Britz with assault.

Proves He's Lover, Not Cop Killer

MAYS LANDING, N.J. (AP) — A young man who married a key prosecution witness in his jail cell has been found innocent in the shotgun murder of an Atlantic City policeman.

The acquittal Wednesday of Craig Jackson, 22, came after Atlantic County Court Judge Benjamin A. Rimm ruled the state had failed to connect the defendant with the killing of Patrolman John Burke, who was gunned down outside a night club last Sept. 30.

Mario F. Floriani, Atlantic City's public safety director, termed the verdict ridiculous. He said that because courts permitted Jackson's marriage to the potential witness, the former Pearlina Robinson, her testimony could not be used.

Floriani said Mrs. Jackson, in a statement to police prior to her marriage, quoted Jackson as saying: "We're going to get caught. We just killed a cop." She and Jackson had been friends prior to the shooting.

Floriani also criticized two local clergymen, the Rev. Vincent DiPasquale, a Roman Catholic priest, and the Rev. Bradley Sheeks, a Presbyterian minister, who he said arranged the marriage.

The prosecution had called about 15 witnesses in the six-day trial. None of them provided positive identification of Jackson as one of the two men seen in the night club just before Burke was killed.

Showers Dot West Texas

By The Associated Press
Thunderstorms from which occasional funnel clouds dangled ominously kept parts of the Texas Panhandle on the alert again Wednesday night, but inflicted no damage.

High winds and occasional hail accompanied brief but hard rains in the same area, and heavy showers developed by early today in West Texas from around Midland to the Lower Pecos Valley.

19 AMERICANS KILLED IN COMBAT LAST WEEK

Lowest Viet Toll In 5 Years

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command reported today that 19 Americans died in combat in the Vietnam war last week. It was the lowest weekly toll in more than 5 1/2 years.

The command said another 19 American servicemen died from such nonhostile causes as accidents or illness, and 261 Americans were wounded in action, 32 more than the week before.

The battlefield death toll was the lowest since Oct. 17-23, 1965, when 14 Americans were reported killed.

229 WOUNDED
The U.S. casualty report last Thursday listed 48 Americans killed, 229 wounded and 16 dead from nonhostile causes during the week of May 23-29. But more than half of the dead were killed in a rocket attack the week before.

The count last week reflected both a generally low level of fighting involving the 250,000 American troops still in Vietnam and their decreasing combat role.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported a slight decrease in casualties last week among government forces, with 419 killed and 908 wounded, compared with 452 killed and 1,171 wounded a week earlier.

Many of last week's casualties were believed suffered in the retreat from Snuol, in eastern Cambodia.

Bank Execs Nab Robber

LA MARQUE, Tex. (AP) — Two bank executives caught a bank robber minutes after he robbed a cashier of $13,505 at a knife-point.

Walter Burns, vice president of the Mainland Bank, and Paul Koenig, assistant vice president, grabbed the man Wednesday as he attempted to drive away in a pickup truck.

Police said the bank's money and a knife with a five-inch blade were recovered in the truck.

Maynard Lee Slaughter, 22, of Hitchcock, Tex., was charged with bank robbery. No bond was set.

Police said teller Patricia Kessler identified Slaughter as the man who forced her to put the money in a sack.

There was almost no change in the weekly claim of enemy casualties. The two allied command said 1,875 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed last week, three less than the total claimed the week before.

45,250 DEAD
The weekly summaries raised the total casualties reported in the war to 45,250 Americans killed in combat, 299,974 wounded and 9,583 dead from nonhostile causes; 128,438 South Vietnamese troops killed and 278,695 wounded, and 750,088 enemy killed.

Battlefields were generally quiet across Indochina Wednesday night and today. U.S. forces were involved in so little action that the U.S. Command did not issue a morning battlefield communique for the third successive day.

The U.S. Embassy announced that Ambassador Ellsworth

Bunker is returning to Washington Sunday for consultations on the possibility of speeding up the withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam.

The embassy said Bunker would be gone for 10 days. Other informants said the rate of troop withdrawals and the South Vietnamese presidential election Oct. 3 would be major topics discussed.

Reports from Washington say that President Nixon and the Pentagon are considering stepping up the withdrawal plan to reduce the U.S. force in South Vietnam to 40,000 to 50,000 men by next June. The Washington Post said the plan has the backing of Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and several other top officials.

PULLOUT GOAL
The present goal of the withdrawal program is a force of 154,000 men by Dec. 1, but Nixon is to announce a new program in November. U.S. forces in Vietnam totaled 250,900 as of last Thursday, and the monthly reduction rate increased to nearly 20,000 men in May. U.S. spokesmen indicated the rate would continue to fluctuate, and informed sources said the total force might be as low as 180,000 men by Dec. 1.

In Cambodia, fighting eased off in the battle for control of the eastern defense line of Phnom Penh. North Vietnamese forces made only two harassing attacks in the Vhear Suor marshes, and the Cambodian command said one government soldier was wounded.

Lt. Col. Am Rong, the Cambodian military spokesman, said that a captured enemy soldier reported at least 400 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had been killed and more than 1,000 wounded in the two weeks of fighting in the marshes.

President Unravels China Trading 'Deal'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today a broad range of America-made products that may be sold to mainland China, including automobiles, some industrial equipment, and most consumer goods.

Ending a 21-year embargo on trade to the Communist country, President Nixon made public the list of exports that U.S. industry may ship to Red China under a general license, meaning the products can be shipped without further approval from the government.

Nixon said the list includes most farm, fish and forestry products, tobacco, fertilizers, coal, selected chemicals, rubber, textiles and some metals.

OTHER ITEMS
In addition, he said, agricultural, industrial and office equipment are included, as well as household appliances, electrical apparatus in general industrial or commercial use, some electronic and communications equipment, and some automobile equipment and consumer goods.

Nixon also decided to sweep aside a requirement that American business must obtain government permission to export wheat, flour and other grains to China, Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union.

The Chinese export list appeared to parallel closely a similar list on exports to the Soviet Union, which has been in existence for some time.

SPECIFIC LICENSE
Nixon said products not listed on the general license list may be considered for specific licensing "consistent with the requirement of U.S. national security."

This is the way the United States now handles exports considered to be of a strategic nature to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. In order to ship products not on the general license list, a U.S. exporter must make direct application to the Commerce Department.

IMPORTS
Nixon also decided to permit all imports to enter from China under a general license. But he retained authority for future controls in imports of necessary.

"Imports from the People's Republic of China will be subject to the tariff rates generally applicable to goods from most Communist countries," he said.

Nixon announced in April that he was relaxing the embargo on China trade established in December 1950. He said only nonstrategic goods would be permitted for export.

The President's decision was made as a U.S. table tennis team was permitted into Red China.

IN SWEDEN — First Lt. John R. Vequist, 24, Pittsburgh, Kan., a West Point graduate missing from his unit after being ordered to Vietnam, is in Sweden and has asked to stay, a police official said in Stockholm today.

Higdon Guilty Of 'Kickbacks'

REDSTONE ARSENAL, Ala. (AP) — M. Sgt. William Higdon, 41, a career soldier with 24 years service, was convicted today of accepting kickbacks and stealing funds while running Army clubs in Vietnam.

The jury received the case Wednesday and returned its verdict after deliberating about eight hours.

The jury of five officers will sentence the master sergeant after hearing arguments from the government and the defense.

East Point, Ga., clad in a wrinkled khaki uniform, stood stiffly at attention as the verdict was read by Maj. Millard Terry, Wichita, Kan., the senior member of the jury.

Neither Higdon nor his lawyer had any immediate comment on the verdict.

TENTH PLACE French Fencing Does In Maridene

If Maridene Margolis takes up fencing, she will know how to spell "epee."

This word, which is the name of a fencing sword, tripped her in the 13th round of the National Spelling Bee Thursday morning in Washington, D.C.

Maridene, winner of the Howard County and the Lubbock regional Spelling Bees, had to content herself with tenth place in the national finals. At that, she was the second highest of the Lubbock regional winners in the national competition. One of the regional finalists once took third place during the past 19 years, and another 13th place.

Members of her family said that she took her elimination from the contest philosophically. Her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Margolis, had taken the family to Washington for the event. They will all be on hand for the banquet Friday evening in the grand ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel.

"Epee" was the shortest word Maridene had faced in her quest for the national title.

After weathering the first round, she successfully handled "raucous," "aspic," "thapsodical," "cholesterol," and "oleaginous" in the Wednesday afternoon round.

Thursday morning she took "hartzian," a small overhanging structure used for a lookout, "splendiferous" and "spinnaker" without a bobble. Then came that pesky fencing sword, the spelling gremlin might have said "touche!"

A DIET OF DDT — Robert Loibl and his wife, Louise, of North Hollywood, Calif., hold 10-milligram capsules of DDT which they took in front of witnesses for 93 days at lunch time. Loibl said their total dosage was more than the average person consumes in 83 years. He said his wife's dandruff disappeared, their appetites perked up and they feel better. Loibl said they just wanted to call attention to the public that DDT was safe.

Local Trucker In Accident Near Pecos

Aron Goolsby, an independent truck driver from Big Spring, was slightly injured in a rear-end collision of a cross-country bus and his trailer-truck east of Pecos on IS 20.

A Brenham woman was killed and 20 other bus passengers were injured. Killed was Mrs. Tommy M. Bouldin, who had a ticket for Pasadena, Calif., investigators said. Mrs. Bouldin was sitting alone in one of the front seats, police said.

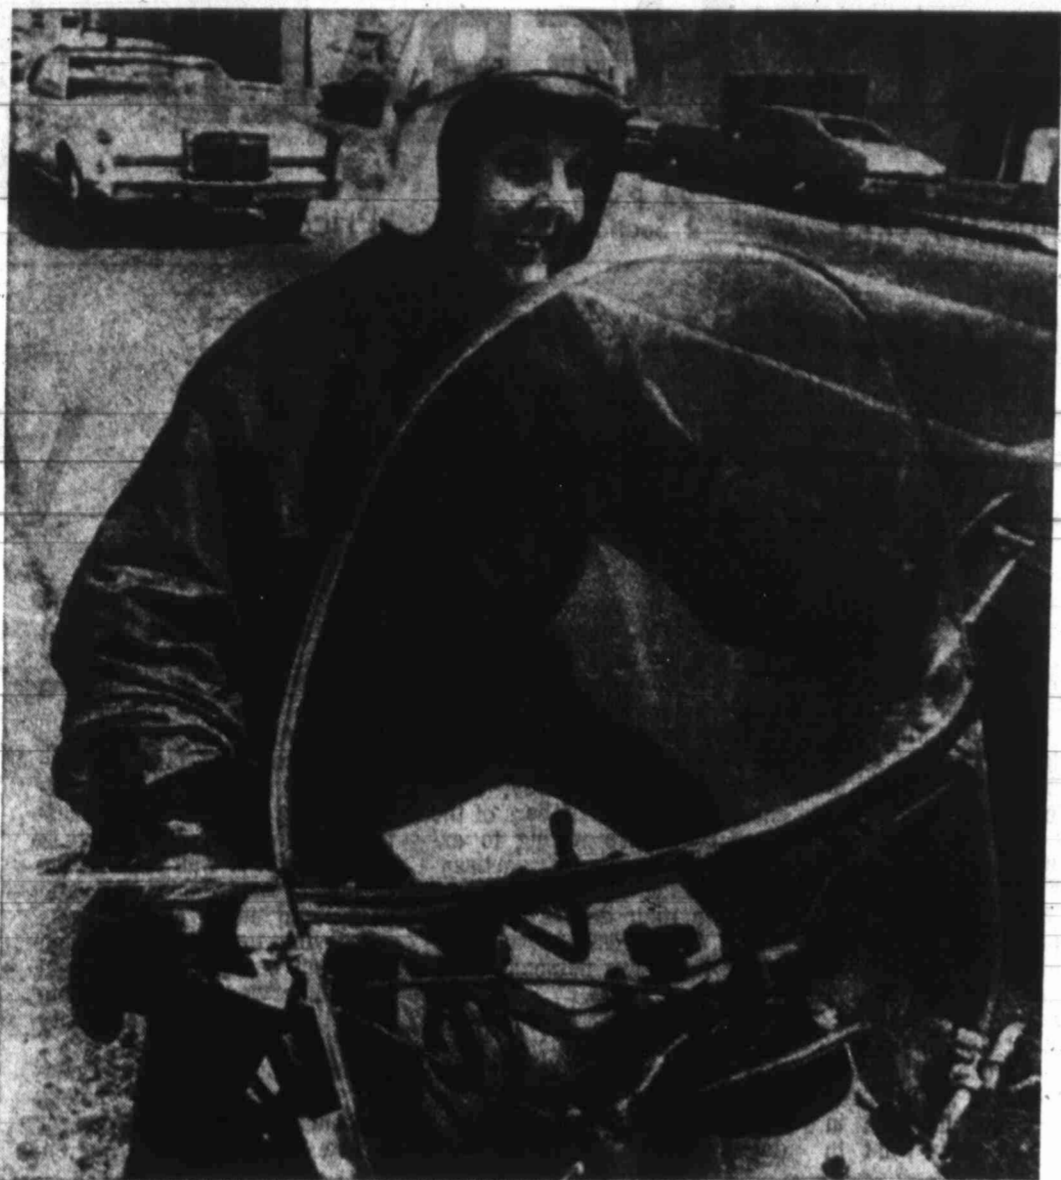

Goolsby, 2609 Cheyenne Drive, had facial lacerations and was admitted to a Pecos hospital for observation and then released. Greyhound officials in Dallas said the bus trip originated in Dallas and was bound for West Coast points, primarily Los Angeles.

Ambulances shuttled the 20 passengers to Pecos hospitals 15 miles away. Five were admitted in serious condition and two were not injured.

The bus driver, Berlin Whitlock, received a fractured leg. Greyhound took those passengers treated and released to a motel.

Only three of the passengers were from Texas, with others from Mexico, New Mexico, Arizona, Arkansas, Alabama and California.

The rear-end of the truck trailer and the front of the bus were damaged.

CRMWD Aiding Sewer Projects

New ground for the Colorado River Municipal Water District will be broken Friday morning when the district becomes a signatory to an application by Midland, Andrews and El Paso for federal sewer plant improvements.

O. H. Ivie, general manager, will join with representatives from the three cities in formally filing the applications with the Texas Water Quality Commission. This will be in advance of the June 15 deadline set by the commission for applications to be considered for federal allotments made this fiscal year.

The CRMWD is a member of the state compact for underwriting projects so that cities can obtain about 20 per cent more federal grants for these projects. The obligations for which the district is a signatory are to be repaid by the cities no later than completion of the project.

It is estimated that the step will enable the cities to save approximately a quarter of a million dollars. The district becomes the intermediary for these three cities because it is the only compact member west of the Brazos.

LOST BOY SPOTTED

PERU, Ind. (AP) — Two policemen found little Bobby Brown wandering around the city's west side. They discovered he had a high fever and took him to a hospital.

About three hours later the one- and one-half-year-old's father reported his son missing.

He wasn't too surprised to hear Bobby was in the hospital. He said the other Brown children at home had measles, too.

A&M Professor Heads Reservoir, Water Study

COLLEGE STATION — A two-year study of reservoir operations and water uses in the upper Colorado River basin will begin July 1, announced Dr. Jack R. Runkles, director of the Texas Water Resources Institute at Texas A&M University.

The $30,000 study will include personnel from Texas A&M, Angelo State University and the Agricultural Research and Extension Center at San Angelo, Dr. Runkles said.

Principal investigator is Dr. Robert A. Clark, Texas A&M meteorology professor. He will be assisted by Dr. Chia S. Shih, associate professor of industrial engineering, and U.S. Air Force Capt. Gary O'Connor, a doctoral student at Texas A&M.

Dr. Clark said the area includes 12 reservoirs and three proposed reservoirs from Lake J. B. Thomas to Lake Buchanan.

All the reservoirs were designed separately to solve a particular problem, Dr. Clark pointed out, and each is now operated as separate units.

He expects the study to show a single operation of the reservoirs would solve some of the severe water shortages for domestic and industrial use in West Texas.

Dr. Clark noted San Angelo has extreme water problems. The Concho River basin, a tributary of the Colorado, has had extremely low flows since 1962.

Dr. Clark will employ both historical data and synthesized hydrometeorological data to project optimum operation.

"We are interested in the water supply, not site selection," Dr. Clark emphasized. "At the same time we will have to consider economic and legal restraints, such as satisfying

More Testimony Due Today In Texas-Louisiana Battle

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A border struggle between Louisiana and Texas continues in court today in the final hearing before a special master appointed by the U.S. Supreme Court to recommend a solution.

Louisiana cites treaties enacted before Texas joined the United States to back a claim its border extends to the western shore of the winding Sabine River and its lakes. Texas argues that Louisiana's own admission to the union and a subsequent congressional act in 1848 set a midriver boundary.

LUXURY ISLAND

More than a 300-foot strip of water lies in the outcome. The river has been widened at Toledo Bend Reservoir into a paradise for fishing and water sports, producing oil wells dot the Sabine Lake near the Gulf of Mexico, and a luxury island created as part of the city of Port Arthur, Tex., could conceivably become part of Louisiana.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Robert Van Pelt of Lincoln, Neb., heard testimony in the complicated battle Wednesday and scheduled continued hearings for today. Louisiana is represented by Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion, special assistant Oliver P. Stockwell of Lake Charles, and several other officials.

The opposing team is composed of former Texas governor and current Associate Justice Price Daniel of the Texas Supreme Court, Asst. Atty. Gen. Houghton Brownlee and their own backing of expert counsel.

Daniel is not officially representing Texas in the case because of his position as a judge, but he filed the suit two years ago which set off the current battle and is participating in the hearings as a very active "observer."

POLICE ANGLE

In Wednesday's hearing, Texas produced some 1938 Louisiana oil leases which it claimed proved Louisiana acceptance of the midriver boundary.

The leases were signed by then Gov. Richard Leche of Louisiana and described the area of the lease as extending "to the center of Sabine Lake, the same being the Texas-Louisiana boundary as outlined in the Act of 1848."

The 1848 Act, passed at the request of Texas, extended the boundary to midriver, but Louisiana argues the Act was intended only to extend police jurisdiction and not change the already established boundary.

Daniel said he introduced the leases into evidence "to show that the governor of Louisiana recognized the midriver boundary."

Louisiana called witnesses to show that the state never acquiesced in the midriver boundary.

C.J. Bonnacarre, executive secretary of the Louisiana Mineral Board, testified that Louisiana has filed a formal protest every time Texas has issued an oil lease in what Texas calls its portion of the Sabine River and Lake.

OFFICIAL PROTESTS

"When we became knowledgeable in 1952 that the state of Texas was attempting to lease lands or water bottoms claimed by Louisiana... we filed official protests," Bonnacarre said.

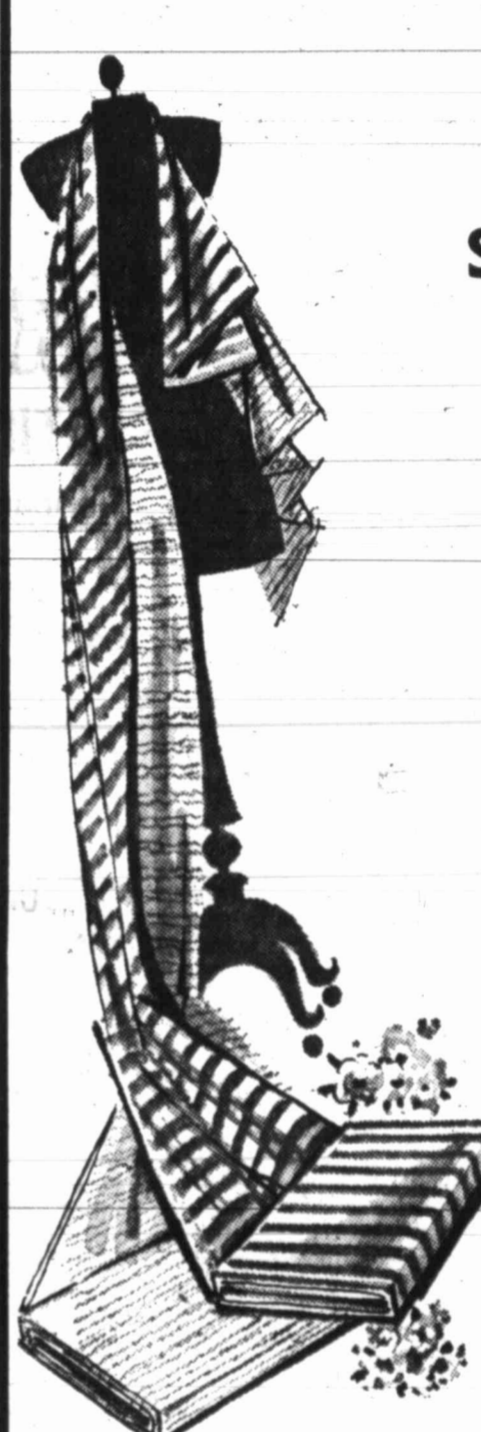

He said the protests were filed with the Texas leasing authority by the state Mineral Board and the attorney general.

Bonnacarre admitted that Louisiana has never issued leases in the portion of the Sabine claimed by Texas but he insisted that this was only done to avoid conflicts with Texas at a time when Louisiana was deeply involved in a struggle with the federal government over rights to the billion-dollar offshore oil industry.

TEXANS CAN NOW HAVE THEIR DRINKS

New Taxes May Jolt State Voters

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—Texans will be a long while forgetting the 62nd Legislature.

And their memories will be jogged on July 1.

That's the day they start paying more for beer, whisky, cars, cigarettes and hundreds of other things because of new taxes.

Drinking folks will have kinder thoughts of the lawmakers each time they order a cocktail at a restaurant without the rigamarole of getting a "private club" card first.

SPIRITS DIM

But their mellow feeling for the legislature may dim when July 1 comes and they start paying taxes on their drinks.

Voters will get to tell legislators and their leaders what they think of them on election day 1972, and not just by their votes on individual candidates.

Constitutional changes placed on the ballot by the lawmakers would raise their salaries from $4,800 to $8,400 a year, extend the governor and lieutenant governor's terms from two to four years and grant the House speaker and lieutenant governor $22,500 annual salaries.

EXTRA SESSION

The Legislature ran through a 140-day regular session and then came right back for a four-day special session to clean up unfinished business.

After 144 days of bickering, horse-trading and even some solid accomplishment, the 181 men who make Texas' laws finally adjourned Friday night.

But they'll be back—probably within a year — to pass some more taxes and spend some more money unless Congress bails them out of a welfare jam.

The two-year $7.13 billion state budget approved last Monday contained only a one-year appropriation for welfare.

WELFARE FUNDS

Gov. Preston Smith plans to call a special session, probably before next spring's primary elections to appropriate funds for the second year of welfare. Early estimates indicate $300 million in additional new taxes will be needed to cover the costs for one year.

Most of the money will come from consumers, who were hit with a state sales tax hike from 3.25 to 4 per cent, a three cents per pack cigarette tax increase and a boost in the motor vehicle sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent. There also will be new taxes on beer and whisky, which producers are expected to pass on to drinkers. Business was socked with a corporation franchise tax jump of $1.25 per $1,000 of assets. A 10 per cent tax was levied on mixed drinks, ice and mixes sold by bars, restaurants and private clubs. The present nickel serving private club tax was repealed.

The new taxes all take effect July 1.

DISTRICTS MAPPED
Besides taxes and spending, lawmakers also found plenty to get mad about in congressional and legislative redistricting. New districts were required to give Texans the representation to which the 1970 census entitled them.

It took a four-day special session to finish a congressional redistricting plan that probably will be challenged in court because, many believe, it short-changed urban areas.

A week after Gus Mutscher was unanimously re-elected speaker, his name came up in a U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission stock manipulation suit.

The SEC alleged that two banking bills sailed through the 1969 legislature after defendants in the suit arranged easy loans and speculative stock profits for key legislative leaders.

Mutscher said he did borrow heavily in 1969 from one defendant—Sharpstown State Bank—to buy stock of another defendant, National Bankers Life Insurance Co., and, he acknowledged, he knew Houston millionaire Frank Sharp, a third defendant. But the stock transactions were strictly above board, Mutscher said, and were not tied in with the two banking bills.

DID BORROW

Mutscher was not listed as a defendant in the SEC suit. Some House members, who later dubbed themselves the "Dirty 30," thought it odd that Mutscher and some of his aides and floor leaders all bought NBL stock just before the 1969 first special session and sold it almost simultaneously afterward at a profit.

The "Dirty 30" made speeches and introduced one resolution after another demanding a legislative investigation of the whole matter.

MINOR BILLS

Records of the session show most of the 1,069 bills passed were of little statewide importance. They made technical changes in business laws, revised salaries of countless local officials, created dozens of local water districts and made numerous local hunting rules.

Despite public clamor for a cleaner, more enjoyable environment, few ecology bills passed, though many were introduced.

Nothing of major importance was done about car insurance rates, aside from a bill that might lower costs somewhat by enabling motorists to buy $250 deductible liability policies. Consumer protection bills got lost in the shuffle or were blocked by a handful of lawmakers in the closing days. Revision of Texas antiquated criminal laws fell by the wayside after police and prosecutors decided a proposed new penal code was not harsh enough on criminals. A much ballyhooed move to lower the killing or crippling diseases, including polio and diphtheria, before starting school.

But there were some accomplishments too. A constitutional amendment was submitted to the voters, who passed it May 18, authorizing the state to issue $100 million in bonds to upgrade city sewer systems, a major cause of water pollution. For the first time, children will have to get shots for several killing or crippling diseases, including polio and diphtheria, before starting school.

New state colleges were created at Tyler, Corpus Christi and Clear Lake City. A code of ethics for legislators and public servants — stricter than anything Texas has had so far, but weaker than many would like — was passed in the final minutes of the regular session.

Permanent voter registration was enacted, but would take effect only if the U. S. Supreme Court upholds a U. S. district court decision knocking out Texas' annual registration rule.

A MAGADISHU, Somal (AP)— A Somali special commission has been urged to hurry its work in devising a script to put the Somali language into writing.

Major Gen. Mohamed Siad Barre, supreme revolutionary council president, told the commission:

"Suitable script for writing the Somali language will be chosen soon. And this will not be based on political considerations.

"Any of those foreign languages used in our country now will not influence which script should be chosen."

English, Italian and Arabic are official languages in this East African land, along with the as-yet-unwritten Somali.

Siad Barre also warned the commission against being unduly influenced by regional dialects.

The Somali government program is to have vocabulary and elementary school grammar books prepared by August.

FINK MAYOR COMMISSIONED — Mayor Pat Albright, Fink, Tex., population 3, has been given another distinction. She was commissioned by Gov. Preston Smith as Secretary to the Admiral of the Texas Navy. Mayor Albright is also in charge of the arrangements for the annual celebration of National Fink Day to be held in Fink June 24.

Unusual Breed Of Arabs Live In Soggy Marshland

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — They catch birds with a horse's tail and shoot fish with a dart. Arabs to the core they ride not camels but graceful reed boats and live surrounded by water not sand.

They are the marsh Arabs of southern Iraq, an unusual breed. They dress like desert Arabs, with flowing robes and checkered headcloths held in place with two strands of black rope, but live in a soggy marshland covering about 6,000 square miles.

The marshes of southern Iraq are fed by the floodwaters of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. They extend from about 100 miles south of Baghdad for 200 miles down to Basra at the head of the Persian Gulf. No one knows exactly how many Arabs live in the marshlands, but the area has been a sanctuary from oppression for centuries.

Mesopotamia — the land between the two rivers — has seen more than half a dozen civilizations since the beginning of recorded time. As one succeeded the other, each with its share of harshness and deprivation, refugees fled into the trackless marshes by the thousands.

The marshes abound with hundreds of wild boar and thousands of migratory birds like ducks, cormorants, herons and geese. The water is thick with fish for most of the year.

CATCH PREY

The marsh Arabs have developed unusual if efficient ways of catching their prey.

To catch birds, a horse's tail is spread on the ground and covered with grain. The birds come to feed, peck about and soon their legs are so entangled in the hair that they cannot fly.

Red Hot Hoedown Fiddling Might Chase Blues In Fink

FINK, Tex. (AP) — Poor Phinques, Funks, and, last year, a Zink.

Previously, National Fink Day was celebrated with free cake and soda pop. This year it's free barbecue and pop.

Unfortunately, the poet laureate of Fink, Judge Oscar Fink, 88, is indisposed and can't return to read his verses nor play his homemade fiddles this year. He is a former justice of the peace and resides in Denison, 10 miles away.

Mrs. Albright is importing a substitute for the judge from Pottsboro, four miles from here. He is Dick Barrett, a top western band fiddler until he retired.

"I think the red hot hoedown fiddling might be just what we need to cheer us up," Mrs. Albright said.

TRUE STORY

The residents applied for a post office many years ago and picked the name of "Georgetown." There already was a Texas town of that name.

The petition was signed by a gentleman named Fink. So the post office named it Fink, dropping the "e."

There is no post office now. And the honorary title of mayor goes to anyone who owns the store. Albright didn't want the honor and appointed his wife to the post.

The store makes its money from fishermen on Lake Texoma, a mile and a half away on the Oklahoma border.

Mayor Albright isn't about to let the population problem hurt Fink. Three years ago she began selling printed Fink honorary citizenships for a dime.

So the true population of Fink, honorary and actual, is somewhere around 5,000, she estimates.

Bentsen Refuses To Halt Favorite-Son Speculation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, Texas' freshman Democrat, refused Wednesday to squash speculations he'll be a favorite-son candidate for President in 1972.

"Frankly, I have not decided what I will do in 1972," Bentsen said in a statement.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes of Texas, a close ally of Bentsen and a political protégé of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, was quoted here as saying he is ready to support Bentsen as Texas' favorite-son candidate to hold the state's delegation together at the party's national convention next year.

Texas' 130-vote delegation will be the seventh largest at the convention and could swing much weight in choosing the candidate if it were used as a unit.

Bentsen said that, as "one of the major elected officials" from Texas, "I naturally have a strong interest in the strength and position of the Texas delegation at the national convention."

South Viet Grants Oil Search Rights

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government opened 160,000 square miles off its coast today for exploration and exploitation by foreign oil companies.

Economic Minister Pham Kim Ngoc said about 30 American, Japanese and European firms had expressed an interest in looking for oil in the continental shelf off the Mekong Delta, an area stretching from the South China Sea around the southern tip of Vietnam into the Gulf of Thailand.

BIDDING BOOKED

The area will be divided into blocs, and "all exploration and exploitation rights will be granted through open tenders and public bidding," Ngoc said. The bidding had been scheduled to open in February but was delayed for more discussions within the government.

The government has been saying since last winter that rich oil deposits are beneath the continental shelf off the delta, and President Nguyen Van Thieu last December signed a national petroleum law.

The oil companies now have 60 days to file their bids. The National Petroleum Board will evaluate the applications and make recommendations to the government. Ngoc said it probably would be "at least two years" before production begins.

U.S. opponents of American involvement in the Vietnam war seized on the prospective oil development during the winter. "Are the potentially rich oil leases off the coast of South Vietnam responsible for the Nixon administration's failure to get our sons out of Vietnam?" asked Another Mother for Peace, a group which launched a letter-writing campaign demanding a Senate investigation.

NO EFFECT

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee asked the State Department about the situation, and Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, ranking Republican on the committee, also expressed concern.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers stated that the possibility of oil deposits had "absolutely no effect" on U.S. policy, and the State Department wrote to Fulbright that the U.S. government "has not provided South Vietnam any technical assistance relating to offshore oil exploration." The department also said two American oil companies, Caltex and Esso, have offices in Vietnam, and only Esso had "expressed an interest in the country's offshore oil potential to the Department of State."

OIL EXPLORATION AREA — Shaded is area where the South Vietnamese government opened today 160,000 square miles off its coast for exploration and exploitation by foreign oil companies. The area stretches from the South China Sea around the southern tip of Vietnam into the Gulf of Siam.

Hemphill-Wells To Open New Facility In Lubbock

Hemphill-Wells Company has announced the completion of agreements to locate a new department store in the South Plains Mall at Lubbock, a shopping center being developed at Slide Road and South Loop 289 in that city.

The new Hemphill-Wells facility will have 94,000 square feet of selling space. The company will have an investment in excess of $1 million in the store itself at completion, said B. E. Rushing Jr., vice president and director of Hemphill-Wells. This is in addition to construction cost to the developers, South Plains Mall, Inc.

The new store will be much larger than either of the company's other stores in Lubbock, the downtown store and the Monterey store. In addition, Hemphill-Wells has two stores in San Angelo and one in Big Spring.

The new Lubbock facility will be located centrally in the new shopping center and will face east toward Slide Road. The center is in an area south of the city of Lubbock where residential development continues.

Architectural drawings are being prepared now and bids will be requested as soon as possible, Rushing said. The facility is expected to be opened by the Spring of 1973.

A number of other major retailers are signing up for space in the South Plains Mall.

Aviation Industry Faces Growth, Huge Challenges

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — America's aviation industry faces a decade of growth, with passenger traffic expected to triple by 1981. To meet the challenge it must solve many problems, from noise and pollution to safety and air congestion.

For three days, many of the nation's leading aviation experts have been discussing the future of U.S. air transportation at a meeting here sponsored by the Federal Aviation Administration and the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

WILL PICK UP

Most forecast that air traffic, slowed by an economic recession, will begin to pick up late this year and that the annual growth rate of domestic air transportation should return in a year or two to a normal 11-13 per cent. This is based on an anticipated upturn in the economy.

The aviation officials predict that more than 450 million passengers will be carried by U.S. domestic and U.S. international carriers in 1981, compared with 160 million in 1970. The number of commercial jets flown by U.S. airlines is expected to increase in that period from 1,900 to 3,200.

About 10 per cent of the 1981 fleet will consist of new-type planes—supersonic transports and short take off and landing STOL jets. Unless the United States revives the recently killed SST program, the supersonic craft will be Russian TU144s or British-French Concorde.

AIRPORT LAND SCARCE

Here are some other major conclusions of the conference: A large increase in aircraft will require intense research into improved safety, including airborne collision avoidance systems which should be placed on all aircraft, large or small. Increased all-weather capability will be required to maintain rigid schedules.

—An effective national air traffic control system, perhaps using satellites, must be developed capable of handling aircraft speeds from low subsonic to supersonic.

Traffic capacity could be greatly increased with automated systems such as a microwave landing guidance which would permit curved approach paths instead of the straight-in approach required today.

—Airport land is scarce and administrators might have to increase airport capacity within current boundaries. It may be necessary to restrict major airports to runways, ramps and taxiways, with all other functions such as maintenance, ticketing, parking, cargo and baggage handling moved elsewhere.

'Wild' Fire Near Durant

DURANT, Okla. (AP) — An estimated $12,000 to $15,000 worth of marijuana, found Wednesday growing in a tiled field west of Bokchito, was headed for the bonfire here today under supervision of Sheriff Jim Brimage.

The sheriff's office, acting on a tip, found one-third to one-half an acre of cultivated marijuana on leased farmland north and west of Bokchito, in eastern Bryan County, Wednesday afternoon.

"It had been cultivated, and some had been transplanted," the sheriff said. "We estimated on a street sale it would be $12,000 to $15,000 worth."

The sheriff said the pot would be burned today, after it had time to dry out. He said he hired some men to pull the plants Wednesday.

No charges had been filed, and no one was in custody.

No Drouth In Smith, Nixon Feud

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has attacked President Nixon again for failure to declare Texas counties hardest hit by drouth a disaster area.

Smith said Wednesday the drouth is the worst Texas has recorded and is getting worse.

"Except in politically motivated one-upmanship statements by Texas' Republican senator (John Tower) and news media reports, we have not had any official response from the president concerning our appeal to him for a full-fledged disaster declaration," Smith said.

Although the cloud seeding programs which we requested and persisted in obtaining for Texas are proceeding well and bring some much needed rain in certain areas of the state, even abundant rainfall will not undo the damage that has already been done by the drouth and the inaction of the federal government.

Even if rains ease the drouth, Texans involved in agriculture and related businesses will have lost income amounting to almost a billion dollars or more.

"Things are getting worse, not better. The National Weather Service noted Tuesday that the drouth has continued to worsen in recent days and that it will probably become worse still. The forecast for the remainder of June is far below normal precipitation in most of Texas. And, traditionally, July and August are our driest months," Smith said.

JURY SELECTION Newscaster Says 'Only One Issue'

The only issue raised in the procedure for commitment of patients to the Big Spring State Hospital under court orders is that of jury selection, Ken Carter, local newscaster, declared today.

He said he had raised the question that under the law Howard County was, because of its population, required to draw names from the jury wheel for all jurors. Jurors have been summoned on orders of the county judge when these hearings are required.

Judge Mitchell contended that this would entail drawing panels of 80 veniremen for each commitment hearing and would impose a big financial burden on the county.

KBLE-TV On Air Beginning Monday

Big Spring's newest television service is KBLE-TV cable-casting service on Channel 3. Cablecasting is a new service in television. It is basically closed circuit programming to cable subscribers.

KBLE will go into 7,000 homes in the Big Spring, Coahoma and Sand Springs communities.

"Local programming," said Dal Herring, station manager "will be the keynote, with news, weather, sports and interviews as a starting agenda."

"We will cablecast for 30 minutes to an hour Monday through Friday, expanding the number of hours on the air as the demand increases."

"We have constructed a complete television studio in the back half of the present Big Spring Cable TV building at 2008 Birdwell," Herring said.

Basketball Offered In Rec Program

A morning section of the basketball program of Citywide Summer Recreation Program to avoid conflict with summer baseball will be attempted.

Ben Neal, in charge of this activity, asked boys in grades six, seven and eight to meet at the Runnels gymnasium at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

If there should be a sufficient number, a program will be operated each Tuesday from 10 to noon. If there is more interest, the program will be expanded to operate on additional days.

The main portion of the program operates from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the Runnels gym. Any junior high or high school boy is welcome to participate without charge. College youths in basketball programs also will be welcomed.

Ex-Publisher Dies

NUNDA, N.Y. (AP) — Walter B. Sanders, 93, former publisher of the weekly Nunda News and first president of the New York Press Association, died Tuesday. Sanders was publisher of the Livingston County weekly for 70 years ending in 1969 when he sold the paper.

Presbyterians Debate Bilingual Education

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — United Texas Presbyterians exchanged heated remarks Wednesday as they endorsed a resolution supporting total bilingual education for the state's public schools.

"A Mexican-American will always be a Mexican-American as long as he continues speaking Spanish," argued William J. Anderson of El Paso, who spoke out against the resolution.

Another speaker, Teodoro Zamora of San Antonio, took issue with those opposed to bilingual programs.

"You call yourselves Christians... and you criticize Mexican-Americans because they can't speak English," he said. "You come here and tell me what I need, what's best for me—that's a bunch of baloney."

The debate came on the second day of the Texas Synod of the United Presbyterian Church, USA.

Some speakers said the resolution was impractical. It endorsed "a total program of bilingual education in the public school systems of Texas, in which all students would be taught in both English and Spanish."

An amendment added to the resolution, and adopted by the delegates, called for the synod's congregations to implement bilingual programs in their churches.

The delegates defeated a resolution that urged those faced with decision on abortion to consider such favors as "the sacredness of life" and the "psychological after effects." It was referred to a task force for re-study, with the stipulation that women be added to the panel.

Ministers debating the report argued it offered no practical guidelines for counseling on abortion.

A resolution on liquor also sparked debate. One delegate successfully challenged a statement saying the traditional position of the church is that "abstinence is the ideal Christian position." The statement was deleted after it was argued that the question of abstinence cannot be proven through the Bible.

The rest of the resolution was adopted, including a statement that alcoholism "should be recognized as primarily a medical and not a moralistic problem."

The synod opened at Trinity University Tuesday.

PRINCE PHILIP AND NAMESAKE — A biologist at the State University College at New Paltz, N.Y., has bred a rare penguin falcon in captivity. The biologist named the chick Prince Philip, after the husband of Queen Elizabeth II, "because he is a royal bird and his parents are British." The human Prince Philip, in all his royal plumage, is at left.

To Fill Vacant Position Or Not Is City Question

Two applications for employment as director of utilities for the city of Big Spring have been given to Larry Crow, city manager.

Chafin said that a utilities director would also be deputy city manager.

"According to a survey that has been run on five cities with population over that of Big Spring and five with population under that of the city, I feel that it is unnecessary to fill the position," said Watkins in the regular session of the commission Tuesday night.

Watkins explained that only three of the cities in the survey had a director of utilities position.

"With problems in the sewage and water departments plus problems in the rate structures of the city in these respective areas, I feel that we have a dire need for a director of utilities and that we need to fill the position," said Koger in the meeting.

Problems with the Texas Water Quality Board, the Webb AFB water rate, the city utility rate structure and many other problems make it urgent to fill the position, Crow explained.

"These problems are continuous, and we need a director that can work fulltime on the problems."

"I do not feel that we have the need to hire a man for this position. I think that the position could be delegated to a person already in the system and one who has the knowledge to take on the duties," said Eddie Aciri, as he explained it would be one way to cut costs.

Bill Brown, superintendent of water and sewage treatment in the city, is temporarily filling the position.

"Brown is not in the position to handle that job and his regular duties as superintendent at the same time, and the city could have excessive costs and may lose some revenues if the vacancy is not filled," said Crow.

The position was left vacant with the resignation of L. H. (Bo) Anderson in March.

"In my experience with the city system, I have found it impossible to take on the responsibilities of both the director of public works position and the director of utilities position," said Nolen Chafin, current director of public works. Chafin announced his resignation June 6 to be effective July 31.

Three commission members, Arnold Marshall, mayor, Frog Koger, commissioner, and Wade Choate, commissioner, indicated their wishes that the position be filled Tuesday night in the regular session of the city commission.

HOT PANTS MEMO HURTS

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Much as he hates to do it, police homicide commander Norman Jacobsmeyer says he will send home any female employe wearing hot pants.

Jacobsmeyer said female employes in his division look fine wearing the mod style, and his detectives agree. But he outlawed hot pants with this memo to the women:

"You must remember that we have from time to time prisoners talking in the office, as well as members of the grand jury and other visitors from outside the department who might frown on such attire."

Dozen Shot Between Eyes

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The bodies of 12 men and a woman, all shot between the eyes, have been found buried in a vacant lot next to a movie house in a small town in northern Mexico, the newspaper El Sol reported today.

The report said the bodies were found in Escandon, near Juarez, on land belonging to Mayor Raimundo Palacios' brother Ricardo.

El Sol in a dispatch from Escandon said the mayor told it: "His brother sent several workers to start digging the foundations of a building he planned. The shovel of one of the men hit something with a dull thud, and the laborer found it was a human head."

The laborer ran away in terror, invoking the protection of the "Holy Virgin and all the saints."

The other workers gathered around and started digging. They turned up another 12 bodies, all within a radius of about 50 yards.

The clothes on the bodies had not rotted, indicating that they had been buried recently.

BIG SPRING EMPLOYMENT ... Ruby Taroni and Sue Brown

Agency Can Help Local Job-Seekers

Knowing the right people and having the right information at the right time is what sets Big Spring Employment, have the other employment agencies.

Sue Brown and Ruby Taroni, personnel counselors at Big Spring Employment, have the experience and the contacts to aid in placing a person in a job in which he feels comfortable and competent.

Each employer has the right to demand the person best qualified for the job, considering the requirements of the job, the salary to be offered and the availability of applicants.

Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Taroni keep these factors in mind when they carefully evaluate each applicant before he or she is sent for an interview.

When an employer calls Mrs. Brown, who handles female applicants, or Mrs. Taroni, who is responsible for male applicants, often they have prospective employers' applications on their desk and can mention them to the employer.

Many hours are spent screening job applicants so employers do not waste time interviewing persons not qualified for the job opening.

Despite the tight job market in Big Spring, Mrs. Taroni said, "We have been very successful so far in finding jobs for our people."

"Of course we can't guarantee that we'll find a person a job. But it won't be because we haven't really tried," said Mrs. Brown.

Big Spring Employment carries on an extensive testing program in the area of office skills, exposing applicants to personnel tests in business and industrial situations.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hart

The recent NBA-ABA All-Star basketball game in Houston played to a surprisingly large turnout of 16,349, with the result that officials in the Whitney Young Foundation were told they might expect as much as $50,000 as a reward for fronting for the game.

If the San Francisco Giants and the Oakland Athletics turn up as opponents in the 1971 World Series, something must give Sunday, Oct. 10.

Clete Boyer is not incorrect in claiming that Paul Richards takes care of his cronies in baseball, but Clete could have been a little more diplomatic about what he said about Paul.

More and more, professional sports seems to be harboring people ungrateful for the chances they have to rake in $50,000 to $100,000 a year. Granted they're under enormous pressure at times but you fancy they think they would be better off washing dishes.

Perhaps a better way to determine the team golf champion in District 5-AAAA would be to average the scores of each player in all five of the tournaments, rather than adding the total score of each contending team.

UCIA is ranked first in 1971-72 by the publication Basketball Weekly, which is no surprise. Southern Cal is rated right behind the Bruins and that may be a blunder, since one or the other will not get out of its own conference.

The Tarheels of North Carolina are listed third. Only Texas team in the Top Ten is Houston, which probably deserves to be there.

A. J. Foyt, the Texas driver who wound up third in the Indianapolis 500, may have silenced his critics for the time being but he left the brickyard unhappy, no doubt.

Foyt's dissenters, too, are prone to point out that A. J. might be spreading himself too thin, by spending too much time building cars and engines to sell to other drivers.

Mortgage Rates Going Up Again After A Brief Lull

WASHINGTON (AP) — If people think interest rates are going to go up, they'll go up.

That is one economist's perhaps oversimplified view of why homebuyers are finding mortgage interest rates creeping upward again. But it may be the best explanation of the movement baffling many economic experts.

The law of supply and demand is being bent, if not broken. There is plenty of money around to lend. Savings and loan associations, banks and insurance companies are enjoying record flows of cash.

It is a classic situation that calls for downward pressure on rates, or at least stabilizing money costs. But the upward pressure is real. And the argument that they're going up because people say they are crops up in more sophisticated economic explanations.

MONEY PRESSURE

The pressure comes in the money markets, the high-finance deals that most people know little about.

"Expectations of higher rates in the future," is how one government economist explains the upward push on interest rates.

Translated, that means money managers expect money will not be so plentiful a year from now, and conclude:

Why lend money at cheaper rates now if they can get a better return for it next year?

There may be some justification in that thinking. The economy went through a recession last year. Money was tight, interest rates high. And the economic recovery is still in its early stages.

"Markets have swung so widely that financial managers are looking more to the future," says Preston Martin, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

One thing economists point to is a rise in the interest rates on long-term corporate bonds.

FANNIE MAE RATES

This relates to housing in an indirect way—through investors. They might shift their savings from mortgage lenders, for example, into corporate bonds which would serve to tighten the money available for housing. An increase in corporate bond rates also affects mortgage interest rates through what is called the secondary mortgage market.

The secondary mortgage market is handled by the Federal National Mortgage Association, a private corporation that buys mortgages from lenders to make more money available for lending.

The association, known as Fannie Mae, buys these mortgages at a discount which must be absorbed by someone, usually the builder or seller. Sometimes it is the buyer of a home, but no matter who pays, the discount translates into higher interest rates.

OUT FOR PROFIT

Fannie Mae then does its own borrowing in the money market. It is out to make a profit.

In recent weeks, the discount has gone up dramatically. It has done so, sources say, because of lenders' speculation.

The speculation at first centered on hope that mortgage interest rates would come down further. Brokers handling mortgages at the high-finance level waited before cashing in a number of them through Fannie Mae.

But interest rates bottomed out. The mortgage brokers who deal with Fannie Mae were caught. They tried to unload them quickly. A big, artificial demand was created for funds, pushing up interest rates.

The discount of Fannie Mae dropped to a low 92 per cent of the hundred.

Life Sentence Of Midlander Is Reversed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed and remanded Wednesday the life sentence of Roberto Heredia, a two-time loser, for possession of heroin in a Midland motel.

The search warrant used in the case was defective on two counts, the court said.

Six Midland police officers raided the motel room at 10 p.m. on Nov. 5, 1969.

They allegedly stopped the defendant from flushing down a toilet a brown paper sack containing heroin, a needle and an eyedropper.

Police Capt. James K Maynard presented an affidavit earlier the same day to Justice of the Peace John H. Biggs, telling why he thought there was probably cause that heroin would be found in the room.

Maynard said he got the information from an unnamed "reliable and credible informer."

The informer had been in the room and had seen heroin addicts purchase and inject the drug into their arms, Maynard said.

But the captain neglected to say when the informer witnessed this.

"The facts related to must be so closely attested to the time of the issuance of the warrant as to justify a finding of probable cause at the time," the appeals court said.

It is apparent that the

magistrate could not ascertain the closeness of time sufficiently to issue the warrant based on an independent judgment of probable cause," the court said.

In addition, the judge's certificate attached to the affidavit was undated, and this alone would make the affidavit void and therefore render inadmissible any evidence obtained through use of the search warrant, the court said.

The defendant had a 1967 conviction for the same offense and a 1963 conviction for burglary with intent to commit theft, the appeals court said.

TOMORROW

—CARROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day and evening to keep your mind preoccupied with business and other practical matters. Do nothing to upset or disappoint anyone of whom you are fond, since you might find it difficult to follow and cause trouble with those close to you.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Show higher-ups that you carry through with obligations assigned to you in a most conscientious way. Do nothing that can jeopardize present security you enjoy. Take a breather in p.m. Favorable for love.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Seek out new systems that can bring creative skills to the fore, give you added benefits. A new friend can open the door to greater opportunity for you just at this time. Need information can be forthcoming.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Getting that work done in a most efficient way makes you worry-free for the weekend, so get busy early in a.m. New attitude is required for more harmony with mate. Avoid one who is a troublemaker.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Know what it is that is expected of you by partners who can be rather sketchy in communicating, but good friends give right ideas later. Use diplomacy with one who opposes you and come to a fine understanding. Don't be temperamental.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You need to think in a more practical vein if you are to get desired results. Improve conditions around you. Co-workers approve of ideas you have that are mutually beneficial.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can enjoy the amusements you like provided you steer clear of superficial individuals. Don't take any needless risks, either. You have been very stingy with affection and mate is petulant. Make amends now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You had better first consult with kin about something important you want to do or you could have a big disagreement later on. Do not cavil at others or your plans might go awry.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Listen to what a good friend has to suggest before you keep vital appointments so that you have all the fine points well in mind. Do errands early and get them out of the way quickly. Write personal letters.

Door Still Seems Closed To Revenue-Sharing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee's door still seems firmly shut on President Nixon's revenue-sharing plan—and even on a variation presented by a leading Democrat.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, a principal aspirant to the Democratic presidential nomination, did his best with the committee Wednesday.

He got a friendly reception, praise for his changes from the Nixon plan, but no indication he had convinced the panel.

The questioning did indicate, however, members are disposed to talk about alternative ways to help the states, and especially the cities, out of financial difficulties.

STARK FIGURES

The administration's $5-billion revenue-sharing bill is up against some stark arithmetical figures in the committee that controls its fate.

Democrats outnumber Republicans 15 to 10. The ranking Republican, John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, opposes the administration plan as firmly as does the Democratic chairman, Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas. At least two other Republicans are doubtful.

Even if the administration held all but Byrnes, it would still have to find four Democratic votes for a majority.

White House strategists thought they had a chance among Democrats from big cities caught between deteriorating local tax bases and demands for more services.

Muskie's variation on the revenue-sharing theme would seem to hold particular appeal for them, because it would nearly double the amount of shared revenue going to the 25 biggest cities.

HARD TO CHEW

But while the questioning indicated they like that part of Muskie's plan which would use need factors, it isn't enough to make the basic idea of revenue sharing palatable.

James A. Burke, whose district includes part of Boston and its suburbs, told Muskie he had zeroed in on a major weakness in the Nixon proposal.

But Burke went on to denounce revenue sharing as "the cleverest piece of political gimmickry ever presented."

William J. Green of Philadelphia said Muskie's plan clearly was better than the administration's, but added, "too many local government officials are more interested in filling patronage jobs than filling hungry mouths."

Dan Rostenkowski of Chicago said he was sympathetic to the legislation but is worried about a possible long-range effect: Funds distributed by need and going into welfare payments might encourage the flocking into cities of low-skill migrants.

Judges said Jarman was selected in very close competition with 24 other outstanding chemistry teachers throughout the state.

Lubbock Teacher Presented Award

Edgar R. Jarman, Coronado High School in Lubbock, has been named 1971 winner of the outstanding high school chemistry teacher award sponsored jointly by Texas Chemical Council and Manufacturing Chemists Association. Garland L. Phillips represented the Texas Chemical Council in presenting Jarman $400 in cash along with several citations and plaques.

Judges said Jarman was selected in very close competition with 24 other outstanding chemistry teachers throughout the state.

Judgment Does Not Extend To Truck Driver's 'Boss'

AUSTIN (AP) — A $300,000 judgment against a truck driver in a fatal accident does not extend to the driver's employer, the Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

Johnnie Van Cleave sued the driver, Alfred Donaghey, and his employer, Robertson Tank Lines, on behalf of herself and her four children in the death of her husband.

The husband crashed into the rear of a truck, which was parked on the edge of a road near the northern city limits of Odessa.

The Supreme Court said there was presumption that Donaghey was acting within the scope of his employment, but that the presumption could be rebutted by the facts.

Donaghey drove eight miles in the opposite direction to visit his father, then went to various "beer joints, lounges and saloons," intending to return to Corpus Christi the next day.

It was while Donaghey was in a cafe drinking coffee after visiting the beer joints that the accident happened.

MEXICO BOUND — Three Howard County girls are among the 16 Senior and Cadette Girl Scouts from the West Texas Girl Scout Council who will leave Friday for a "goodwill" trip to the Scout Cabana in Mexico. From left, they are Diana Kohanek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Kohanek; Kelly Thames, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Thames; and Cheryl Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Meyer.

Adventure In Mexico Awaiting Girl Scouts

Among the 16 Senior and Cadette Girl Scouts selected from three councils in West Texas to leave Friday for a 10-day visit to the international Girl Scout Center, Our Cabana, in Cuernavaca, Mexico, are three Big Spring girls, Diana Kohanek, Kelly Thames and Cheryl Meyer.

Twelve girls were chosen from the West Texas Girl Scout Council, headquartered in Abilene. Three girls were selected from the Quivera Girl Scout Council, headquartered in Pampa, and one from the Permian Basin Girl Scout Council, in Odessa.

Reservations for this trip were made by the West Texas Girl Scout Council four years ago. The international Girl Scout-Guide center was established to accommodate traveling troops and to host world-wide Girl-Guide conferences. It is a popular year-round center of Scouting activities for troops around the world.

During the time the local Scouts are at the Scout hostel, Girl Guides will be present from El Salvador and Honduras, as well as from other parts of the U.S.A.

At Our Cabana the girls will experiment with Mexican crafts and participate in service projects to Mexican women and children in the area. They will prepare Mexican foods and have a Pinata party.

During the past winter the Scouts have met regularly to learn basic Spanish phrases, practice money exchange and study Mexican history. They have made swaps or souvenirs to exchange with other visiting Scouts.

Our Cabana is one of four international Girl Scout hostels built and maintained to sponsor international good will. They are located in England, Switzerland, Mexico and the United States. About 100 girls will be present at Our Cabana during the time that the Scouts from West Texas are there.

Arlene Estes, field director for the West Texas Girl Scout Council and Suzanne Hearrell, leader of Cadette Troop 154, Abilene, will accompany the girls.

Selected to attend from Abilene are Mary Jane Hearrell, Cheryl Bowen, D'Anne Batko, Beverly Rosengrants, Paula Gillett and Kim Stovall.

From the Colorado City area are Debbie Brame, Loraine, and Margie Palmer, Colorado City. From Pampa are Kathy Collinsworth, Annette DiCosimo and Pam Welch. From the Odessa Council is Lisa Fitzgerald, Midland.

Engineer Challenges Claims Of Ecologists

Joel Siegler, Dallas-based field engineer for the Ethyl Corporation, was guest speaker for the Big Spring Desk and Derrick Club Monday evening at the Cosden Refinery conference room.

"Lead vs. Unleaded Gasoline — Facts and Myths" was the title of the film shown by Siegler, who said the subject now has nationwide attention because pollution and ecology are a major concern of the populace.

"Proponents of 'getting the lead out' have stated that lead is the culprit in automotive emissions," Siegler said. He then pointed out that lead antiknocks have helped the automotive industry continually improve the efficiency and life of American automobile engines.

Siegler said that Ethyl Corporation has researched leaded gasoline thoroughly and has found no valid reason for taking lead out of gasoline. The film illustrated that lead is a natural part of the environment and is found in trace amounts in food, water and man. Studies by the U.N. World Health Organization and the U.S. Public Health Service found no harmful health effects in the use of lead antiknocks.

Auto manufacturers say exhaust emissions can meet the proposed 1975 federal emission standards through use of catalytic devices and unleaded gasoline. Siegler said that Ethyl contends there are other approaches to emission control, such as a redesign of automobile carburetors and manifolds.

Ethyl produced a lead reactor car with a modified gasoline engine that operates on conventional gasoline and still maintains emission levels substantially within the proposed 1975 standards. Siegler said it was done by redesigning the carburetion systems, ignition timing and exhaust handling.

Supporters of unleaded gasoline say a refiner's alternative of substituting aromatics for tetraethyl lead will bring gasoline octane to the level required by today's cars.

Siegler said, however, that studies disclosed the addition of aromatic hydrocarbons will create a smog and increase eye irritants. He also said a motorist would pay more for unleaded gasoline—and receive fewer miles per gallon.

A discussion period followed the program. Mrs. G. C. Broughton, Jr., presided at the salad supper meeting. Guests included Mrs. Mike Carey and Mrs. Alvis Jeffcoat, both employees in Cosden's purchasing department.

Olive Oil Helps Dry Hair Problem

Dry hair is usually the result of nature's failure to produce sufficient sebaceous oil. Artificial heat and exposure to the weather are other causes. Condition the hair and scalp with a hot oil treatment before shampooing. Apply hot olive oil to the scalp and then wrap the head in a hot towel. Follow with a shampoo especially formulated for dry hair. Between shampoos, keep the scalp toned with applications of witch hazel pads.

Romantic Hairdos Seen For Spring

New hairstyles for spring and summer are pretty and romantic.

They are usually composed of supple waves that flow either in languidly sensual lines, or soft wavelets which are either highly defined or have just a suggestion of motion.

Curls, too, make the scene in all variations, from short half-curls to clusters of spirals of true or false hair.

White House Readies For Tricia's Wedding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tricia Nixon and Edward Cox got their marriage license by mail four days before their wedding.

The license was delivered to the White House Tuesday after they had an application filed for them Friday at the District of Columbia Marriage License Bureau and paid $2.50 in fees. Their required blood tests were made by a White House physician.

Cox is due back in town today for the rest of the wedding week's activities. He ran into an unexpected news conference when he reported to the office of the U.S. Attorney in New York, where he has a $60 a week summer job that will start after the honeymoon.

The White House—amid painting, cleaning the gold chairs for 400 wedding guests and refurbishing the diplomatic reception room—put to rest questions about who's paying for the wedding.

Nixon is, but how much it's costing him won't be disclosed, says Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

A U.S. District Court judge already has dampened one possible wedding day annoyance—a threatened antiwar demonstration by a group calling itself the Shenandoah Tribe.

The group had said it would protest Tricia's wedding because her father's war policies had kept thousands of young men—those killed in Vietnam—from being married.

The tribe had threatened to have a noisy celebration at Lafayette Park and on the Ellipse south of the White House.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge George L. Hart said he considered the planned demonstration a security risk. However, he refused to prohibit a group of Quakers from holding a prayer vigil in Lafayette Park on Saturday, the wedding day, saying "They're a very sincere group, not militants."

TARS Will Sell Pink Carnations

Pink carnations, the chosen symbol of retarded children, will be sold on a donation basis Friday and Saturday in the downtown area and at Highland Center Mall by members of TARS. Sales will be from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the center, and from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. downtown. Proceeds will be used to send TARS members to the state convention July 9-11 in Lubbock and for parties for retarded children.

A LOVELIER YOU Broadside Problems? Try These Exercises

By MARY SUE MILLER

A lovely writes: My figure is broad from side to side, rather than from back to front like most. I see exercises for reducing the abdomen and buttocks, but nothing that has to do with side-hip and side-thigh bulges. Please print some. I'm depending on it.

The Answer: Challenge accepted. Here's what to do to trim a broadside view:

1. (a) On carpeted floor, lie on left side with legs together and head resting on arm. Raise legs about 2 inches. Holding raise, center weight on side hip; swing forward and backward for 20 counts; lower legs, rest and repeat 20 counts more. (b) Still on left side, try to touch knees to chest. Then briskly slide legs down floor to full extension, concentrating weight on side thigh. Ten times. (c) Turn to give right side same workout.

3. Stand with heels together, toes pointing outward to opposite sides; raise arms to shoulder level. Stretching right leg, touch tiptoes to far right side and, at the same time, raise arms over head and clasp hands. Come back to starting position and repeat 10 times. Then switch action to left leg, same count.

You'll know you've had a workout that is good for what ails you. While awaiting improvements—four weeks plus—wear girdles with firm side panels and easy skirts.

SPOT REDUCING
Spot reduction—key to a proportioned figure. Exercise is the only way to trim those stubborn bulges... to lose inches exactly where you wish. My new leaflet, "Spot Reducing Exercises," gives easy routines—40 in all—for slimming the upper back, arms, midriff, hips, legs, ankles... Plus ideal measurements... other figure-trimming tips. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Rocky Road Ahead

Apparently the last episode in a rocky road at city hall is not at an end, for in the wake of three administrative resignations, there now comes a request for another.

A majority of the city commission has asked for the resignation of Police Chief Jay Banks, or in the alternative, his removal. Banks has refused to resign. The commission favored a closed session to discuss personnel matters, i.e. the chief. The chief of police, however, exercised his right to require a public hearing.

And so it will be held. The city charter is less than precise on the point of dismissal of an appointive officer (of which the chief of police is one) named in the charter. It is clearly set out that the city manager names the appointive officers with the consent of the city commission, and may discharge these officers with concurrence of the commission. From that point the charter is silent (except to say that employees, presumably other than the appointive officers, may be discharged by the city manager without concurrence). So a legal question may arise, although a majority of the commission feels that it does indeed have the right of discharge if the city manager does not initiate the step.

It will be interesting under what procedures such a hearing is held, and, finally, to what avail. Selecting the auditorium as a site indicates that a large turnout is anticipated, but, we hope, the hearing can be accomplished in an orderly, objective manner.

Whatever the outcome, we hope that it will be not long delayed, for, in our view, it will be as soon as possible to return to the business of administering the city's affairs in such a manner that the citizenry will receive maximum service as efficiently as possible and at a fair cost to the public.

Real Money

In presenting the city's audit to the council Tuesday, the auditors noted that the city was not exactly in top financial condition, neither in bad shape. It was, as City Manager Larry Crow said, about according to budget projections.

But the city needn't feel alone in this respect. At the same moment, Big Spring school trustees were wrestling with a proposed budget for the 1971-72 school year and came up with a projection of $5,553,000. Previously Howard County Junior College trustees had adopted a tentative budget of $1,511,000 for next year. By the time Coahoma and Forsan shape their school budgets, the total for the educational districts domiciled in the county will approach $8 million. The Howard County budget will be at least a million and a half, and the city may approach three and a half, so we're talking about real money in the aggregate.

Wrong Re-Runs

Around The Rim

Jean Fannin

The television system of re-runs should be a pretty good deal. It should enable viewers to see programs missed during the regular season because of conflicts. But it doesn't always work that way for me — in fact I don't think it has worked yet.

THERE ARE programs which I see fairly regularly — but for some reason the network never re-runs the ones I missed. And the programs I rarely see always re-run the one show that I have seen on the night when the tube might as well be blank on all the other channels considering what is being shown. I don't believe that television is the "great wasteland" it has been charged with being — every once in a while it throws in a few mountains and flowers and trees.

NOT LONG ago I heard about one of these attempts to brighten up the wasteland. For some reason or another I missed the program.

Everywhere I went I heard people raving about the program. I overheard coffee drinkers discussing the actors' moving portrayals, the television critics went into ecstasy over the wonderful production, everyone who had awards to bestow showered trophies on the show. I felt left out.

JUST THE other night I heard them advertising the program on television. They're going to re-run it — and everybody I know is planning to watch it. Except me. I have a meeting I can't miss — and it starts 30 minutes before the program does. Would someone please tell me why I bought a color television to watch black-and-white re-runs of "I Love Lucy" and "Perry Mason."

Amtrak Slaps Border Route

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak says extending its railroad route from Dallas to Laredo, Tex., would result in a $500,000 to $900,000 a year loss.

Two Texas congressmen, Reps. W. R. Poage and J. J. Pickle, have proposed to extend rail passenger service under Amtrak to the Texas city on the Mexican border.

They laid their proposal before officials of the State Department, the Mexican embassy, the Mexican railroad and Amtrak this week. If approved, the new routing would allow customs inspections aboard trains traveling to and from Mexico.

Despite the loss predictions by Amtrak, Charles Luna, a director of the new private corporation which runs passenger train service, said he would study the proposal because a contract to carry mail between Mexico and the U.S. might make up part of the loss.

Cities which might be included on the run are Dallas, San Antonio, Austin, Waco, Temple and Laredo.

My Answer

Billy Graham

How can I overcome bashfulness? I can't keep a conversation going and become very flustered and embarrassed. T.P. Strangely enough, often bashful, timid people are proud people. It is their frustration, caused by trying overhard to impress that makes them blush. Actually, bashfulness is caused by self-consciousness. The best way to overcome this is to forget about yourself, stop trying to be impressive, and be natural.

Some people declare that the demands of Christianity are unnatural, but actually the goal of the Christian faith is to make people function normally. Jesus said, "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself." The best thing we can do to overcome bashfulness, pride and consuming aggressiveness, is to "deny self" to subordinate the ego. When we "surrender" ourselves, and give up trying to be impressive and important, we become natural and animated. As a boy in school I was very self-conscious, especially before an audience. But I found out that the best way is to "lose yourself" in what you have to say, and forget about "how" you are saying it. Life is like that, if we "lose ourselves" in some great cause, preferably the cause of Christ, we find ourselves. How to keep a conversation going? Have something to say first, and second, forget how you say it. If you "lose yourself" you will find yourself.

A Devotion For Today...

To me to live is Christ, and to die is gain. (Philippians 1:21, RSV)

PRAYER: Thank You, dear Lord, for letting me take up a cross to serve You this day. Amen.

Party Platforms

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There is a lot of talk now about where the national political conventions to nominate the candidates for the presidency are going to be held next year, but very little is being said about what is going to be written into the platform of each party. In fact, an examination of the platforms of 1968 reveals some startling platitudes. The spokesmen of both parties have said over and over again many of the things embodied in their respective platforms.

THERE IS one plank in the Republican platform of 1968, however, which deserves careful study, as it discusses the Johnson administration's Vietnam policy. It reads in part as follows:

"The administration's Vietnam policy has failed — militarily, politically, diplomatically, and with relation to our own people. We condemn the administration's breach of faith with the American people respecting our heavy involvement in Vietnam. Every citizen bitterly recalls the democrat campaign oratory of 1964: 'We are not about to send American boys 9-10,000 miles away from home to do what Asian boys ought to be doing for themselves.' The administration's failure to honor its own words has led millions of Americans to question its credibility.

"THE ENTIRE nation has been profoundly concerned by hastily extemporized, undeclared land wars embroil massive U. S. armed forces thousands of miles from our shores. It is time to realize that not every international conflict is susceptible of solution by American ground forces. The administration has paid inadequate attention to the political framework on which a successful outcome ultimately depends. Not only has the administration failed to encourage assumption of responsibility by the Vietnamese, but their sense of responsibility has been in fact undermined by our approach to pacification. An added factor has been lack of security for the civilian population.

"AT HOME, the administration has failed to share with the people the full implication of our challenge and of our commitments. The platform went on to propose a strategy "permitting a progressive de-Americanization of the war, both military and civilian" and a course that would "enable and induce the South Vietnamese to assume increasing responsibility."

AT THE SAME time, however, the platform pledged a program for peace in Vietnam that would be "neither peace at any price nor a camouflaged surrender of legitimate United States or allied interests" but would offer "a fair and equitable settlement to all, based on the principle of self-determination, our national interests and the cause of long-range world peace."

The document adopted by the Republican National convention held at Miami Beach on Aug. 6, 1968, seems in many respects prophetic of what has actually happened under the Nixon administration. (Copyright, 1971, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

NEW WINGS OF THE ANGEL

Paying Inventions

John Cunniff

By TIM REITERMAN (Substituting For John Cunniff)

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — They come to Neils Reimers seeking patents for everything from laser erasers to antifertility material from sea urchins.

Reimers is manager of Stanford University's Patent Development Program, which since 1968 has earned the university $130,000 in advance from inventions by faculty, students and staff.

Among the paying inventions so far licensed are a synthetic insect hormone, which has promise as a pesticide and "omniphonic sound," which through a computer controls the apparent location of sound.

"I guess I look at myself as a salesman," concedes Reimers, a former mechanical engineer with Philco Ford for eight years. "We've contacted more than 200 companies trying to peddle 50 inventions. It's a lot of fun."

Since the patent program began, 130 ideas and inventions have been investigated, with 40 of them being discarded due to marketing and production problems, Reimers said in an interview.

When an idea does pay, Stanford takes 15 per cent off the top, and the inventor, the inventor's department and the university each get a third, he explained.

To further enhance Stanford's patent income, Reimers said he plans to use Graduate School of Business students to promote inventions through marketing and production research.

Business students will get course credit, a share in the profits, if any, and practical experience in marketing research, he said. The students have already taken on the promotion of a three-dimensional ball-rolling game and a premature baby incubator.

While the game's inventor, Brooks Stover of Farmington, Mich., underwent basic training at Ft. Ord, business student Samuel D. Calella of Cupertino studied the toy's sales possibilities. He said he concluded it should be priced less than $10 and aimed at adults.

The premature baby incubator protects the baby with an air curtain, formed by blowers. Tests have shown that the air curtain is both as effective as closed incubators and more accessible to doctors and nurses, claims its inventor, Dr. Bernard Musch, who did the work for a Ph. D. in mechanical engineering.

Neither invention has been sold.

Stanford, which does $50 million a year in basic research, stands among a handful of universities which have successfully made research information available to industry.

What's Loitering?

Andrew Jully

WASHINGTON — In view of the hysteria in certain far-out libertarian quarters over President Nixon's endorsement of mass arrests in last month's Mayday demonstrations, city fathers across the country had best take to heart a piece of advice from Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart.

WRITING for the 5 to 4 majority as the Court struck down a Cincinnati anti-loitering law, Stewart suggested that cities be more specific in drawing up legislation designed to avoid disruption in the streets. Stewart said that if localities wished to prevent people from blocking sidewalks, obstructing traffic and otherwise messing up other people's lives, they must eschew the dangerous ambiguity.

This is sound advice, because time is of the essence. The anti-war Peoples' Coalition for Peace and Justice has promised more of the Mayday same next fall, and anyone who thinks this outfit will not attempt to hide behind the Court's ruling doesn't know the kind of lawyers employed by the crazies.

IN MOST communities, it has been possible to keep a rough kind of peace by invoking anti-loitering statutes. Law enforcement officers in Hell City, for example, could cite a Washington law that forbids actions "in such a manner as to annoy, disturb, interfere with or be offensive to others." The Court properly has ruled that law unconstitutional, too, since it makes it a crime to "annoy."

THE WORD won't wash constitutionally. A lot of people annoy me — car salesmen, undertakers, unwashed hippies and some members of the Beautiful People set. But as a cop I would not feel it was my duty to arrest any of them, mostly on account of I should not like another cop to arrest me on the grounds that he found annoying the presence of a journalist on a street corner.

OR AS Justice Stewart put it, a violation "may entirely depend on whether or not a policeman is annoyed." I sympathize greatly with cops these days, bless their harassed and annoyed souls, but I do not wish to be hauled off to the pokey for "loitering" every time I go window shopping.

I'm afraid the dissenters — Stewart, Chief Justice Warren Burger and Justices Harry Blackmun and Hugo Black — failed to make a point. While admitting that constitutionally protected conduct could be punished under the Cincinnati law, they noted it also covered such punishable acts as assaults and blocking streets.

COME, SIRS. You seem to be saying that it is okay if an occasional browser is picked up unconstitutionally because a law is needed to thwart muggers and street blockers. Such a law indeed is needed, preferably with more teeth than most local statutes possess, but surely it would not try the intelligence of local lawmakers to draw up precise legislation limiting arrests to bonafide violators, while permitting even Black Panthers and Ku Kluxers to take a stroll of a balmy evening. Says J. Edgar Remains Unruffled

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover is in robust health and remains unruffled despite demands by some congressmen that he retire because of his age, says the man who plays one of Hoover's top G-men on television.

Efrem Zimbalist Jr., who portrays agent Lewis Erskine on "The FBI," said he chatted with Hoover by telephone shortly before defending the 76-year-old crime fighter on an educational television show.

NEW YORK (AP) — Going to the mountains for your vacation? Going to a lake or seashore? Taking a long motor trip? Visiting relatives who would just as soon you went to the moon instead?

How dull and uninspired so many of our vacations are! They offer us no real relief from the monotony of our daily lives, but serve only as an extended coffee break. Yet all around us life and adventure — real life, real adventure — cry out to be seen, felt and used, to stir and mind-and-gladden the body.

Why not do something this year on your vacation beside pose for a post card with an oversized stuffed fish: Like what? Well, like almost anything — just so it's different. For example, you might — Splurge by buying you and your wife a two weeks' supply of tickets on a merry-go-round or Ferris wheel. Get a moonlighting job as inspector in a zipper factory. Volunteer to serve as head librarian in a sultan's harem. See how many old movies you can watch on television without going to the refrigerator for a can of beer. Put up a booth in your front yard and give free advice. Take in your neighbor's laundry. Build a tree house for adults in your back yard, and charge people 50 cents an hour to sit in it. Invent a new casserole dish that tastes like real food. Take a correspondence course in how to become a snob. Grow a beard sideways.

Try to launch a polka dot toothpaste.

Print the witty sayings and memorable remarks of your wife — even if the volume goes to a full 2 1/2 pages.

Found a wild life sanctuary for people who are tired of leading lame lives.

Construct a computer that will help busy people forget all the things they don't want to remember.

Find an apple car and upset it. This isn't as easy as it sounds. It is amazing how few people these days still keep an apple car in their garage.

The main thing is to take a vacation that is different. When it's over, you'll be surprised at how refreshed and eager you are to return to your swivel chair and resume your daily nap.

 Answer: What the hippie doctor said to a patient with dirty fingernails — "MAN, I CURE!"

'Where It Hurts,' In Sign Language

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A Brazilian physician is developing an international sign language for illnesses. Using about 50 simple hand signals, Dr. Fernando Vieira da Silva hopes to teach patients all over the world how to tell any doctor: (1) where it hurts, (2) what's probably wrong, and (3) if it's getting any better.

"The code is simple. Any child can learn it," Silva said. "It's not very precise, I know. But the important thing is that it can save time. Just think of how many patients now suffer needlessly in foreign countries: only because they don't speak the same language as the doctor."

Silva, 51, a general practitioner from Rio de Janeiro, was in Sao Paulo recently to explain his system to newsmen and other doctors.

The basic unit of the code is the index finger. It means: "It hurts." The patient indicates the location of the pain with this finger.

Key illnesses also have symbols. A curved index finger indicates a previous heart attack. Three fingers raised in the air means diabetes.

Silva still is perfecting his system but he already has sent samples of the code to the World Health Organization, an agency of the United Nations. Eventually, he would like to have the most important symbols of the code stamped

Railroad Crossing Man Looks Out For Cars

KENOVA, W.Va. (AP) — It probably won't be long before Ray Hamilton's job fades from the American scene, but for now he's the most important man at a railroad crossing in Kenova, W.Va.

Using a six-foot hand-carried oval stop sign, the 61-year-old Hamilton halts auto and foot traffic on a highway leading to busy Tri-State Airport. "This is a pretty mean place," Hamilton says. "Some trains go through here mighty fast, their cars just bouncing along." Hamilton joined the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad at 14, to make railroading a lifetime occupation. The four sets of tracks sometimes are used by two or three trains at one time. It's Hamilton's job to keep cars and people off the crossing when trains are moving through. "Most other crossings now have signals," he said, "but with four tracks in use, automated signal arms would probably block the crossing most of the time. That's why they've never been put in here." Hamilton works five days a week, using a familiar 4-by-12-foot railroad shack for shelter from rain and snow. The job pays slightly over $500 a month, and it lets Hamilton maintain his association with the railroad, which has been his life for nearly 50 years.

The bidding:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ 2 ♠ 2 ♠ 3 ♠
 3 ♥ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
 4 ♠ Pass Pass Pass
 Opening lead: King of ♠ North's holding is worth 11 points in support of spades, after his partner opens the bidding in that suit. He is warranted in making two forward going bids—first a free bid of two diamonds after West's two club overall, followed by support of the spades which comes in the form of a preference when South rebids three hearts. Inasmuch as North has announced a good hand by showing his own suit before supporting partner, South routinely carried on to game.

and immediately led a small club, ruffing with the deuce of spades. A spade was returned to the ace and the remaining club was trumped with the six of spades. Declarer cashed the ace of diamonds and fearing that West might have a singleton heart, he attempted to return to his hand by ruffing a diamond with the eight of spades. West overruffed with the queen of trumps and returned a fourth round of clubs. East alertly trumped in with the jack of spades as South helplessly discarded a heart. The defensive book was now completed and West subsequently scored the king of spades for the setting trick.

South could have prevented his opponents' astute manipulation of their trump holding by merely retaining possession of the ace of spades until such time as he was ready to draw trump. It is suggested that after he ruffs a club at trick three, he should attempt to reenter his hand by playing the ace of diamonds and trumping a diamond. If this goes thru, then he can ruff his remaining club and now lead back to the ace of spades and continue with a small trump. If spades divide three-two, his losses will be confined to two spades and one club.

As matters develop, when South attempts to trump a diamond, West will, of course, overruff. However, there is no damaging return he can make and when South regains the lead, he can ruff out his remaining club and now play the ace and another spade to fell the remaining trumps. He loses three tricks—one club, a diamond overruff and one spade.

MRS. BISMARK SCHAFFER

Were 'Good Old Days' Really All That Great?

By BARBARA LORD
Mrs. Bismark Schafer probably takes as much advantage of modern appliances and the mixed and frozen foods available as anyone else, but she vividly remembers life on the South Plains as it used to be.

As the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Carter, area pioneers, Mrs. Schafer recalls the days when a young girl not only learned to cook, but had to milk cows, go on round-ups, handle a branding iron, raise a garden, wash with a rub board, can fruits and vegetables and make butter and bread.

"People call them the 'good old days,' but I'm not sure they were," said Mrs. Schafer. "It may sound glamorous now, but we had to make our own living off the soil, and it was hard work. The conveniences today are so nice, and it's much easier to cook and keep house than it used to be."

Mrs. Schafer is used to cooking for large families with large appetites. She was one of seven children, and she and her husband reared four of their own. Since her husband died in 1968, she has lived alone in their home at 501 Edwards Circle, but children, grandchildren and neighbors are often there to enjoy her affable personality and warm welcome.

One son, Gene, and his family, live in Oklahoma City, Okla., but the other three children live in this area and come by regularly on Wednesdays for a visit and dinner, plus random stops whenever they're in town. Two daughters and their families, the W. G. Fullers and the Ray Walkers live in Big Spring, while the Mark Schafers live in Garden City. "I love this big old house," said Mrs. Schafer as she glanced around her large antebellum living room. "It's good to have room for my family whenever they come. I've cooked for so many for so long that it's never any trouble. I like to eat, and they have to eat, so I gladly cook for them when they come."

During much of her leisure time, Mrs. Schafer is at an easel with a paint brush in her hand. Her home is decorated with several landscapes and a portrait of her late husband, all painted by her. Her art training goes beyond classic landscapes, however. She recently took a course in abstracts "out of mere curiosity."

"I couldn't understand much about modern art at first, and the more I learned about it, the less I like it," said Mrs. Schafer. "but it does have its place, and goes well with the right furnishings. I think it gives the artist's thoughts more freedom."

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Nothing in the house for lunch? Serve canned vegetables in a cream or cheese sauce with hardcooked eggs. Garnish with crisp bacon if there are a few slices on hand.

Mushrooms make a good addition to the usual combination of cooked peas and carrots.

Some outdoor cooks say that if hamburgers are grilled close to white-hot coals, turning to sear both sides, you can cut down on shrinkage.

Steak sandwiches make beef go a long way! Nice for outdoors or indoors next time you're having a snack party.

Nice to have in the kitchen: a hand-operated rotary-cone device that grates cheese.

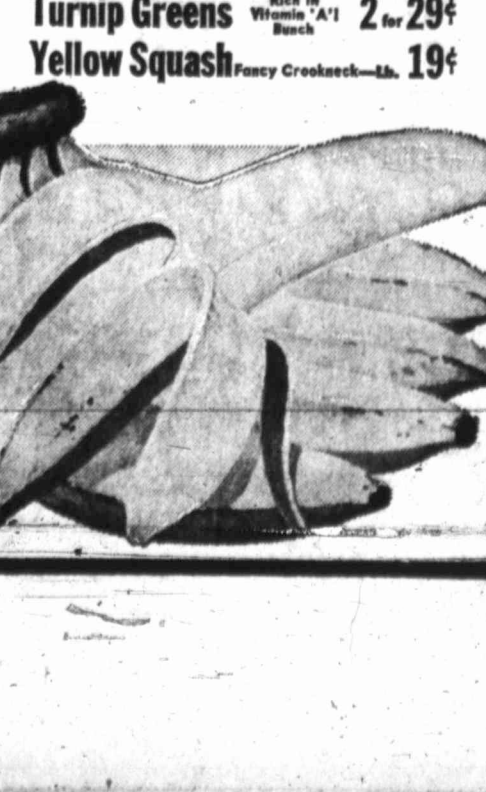

It's handy to "brown" cubes of meat in a flour paper bag. Just put the meat and the seasoned flour in the bag, twist the opening tight and shake the bag vigorously.

When you want to whip evaporated milk, freeze the milk long enough for it to form fine ice crystals, then do the whipping.

Before opening a coconut, always use an ice pick to pierce the three depressions at one end of the nut. Drain out the milk. Put the nut in a moderate oven for about half an hour and cool; this way it will be easiest to open — though you'll have to use a hammer.

Use a swivel-blade vegetable peeler to pare off the brown covering from fresh coconut meat.

Great on hot days

Barbecues Possible Even Without Yard

You don't have a patio? Or a yard or terrace? Or even a fire escape? Don't despair — you can still have an indoor barbecue with an open-hearth broiler-roastery that is guaranteed not to splatter or smoke.

To give an apartment barbecue, select a meat which can be boned and rolled, and allowed to rotate slowly on its spit without requiring too much attention. A good choice would be a rolled pork, marinated in a gingery sauce and served with marinated pie-sliced apples.

BARBECUED PORK WITH MARINATED PIE-SLICED APPLES

1 rolled and boned pork roast, about 3½ lbs.
1 can (1 lb.-4 oz.) pie-sliced apples

Marinate For Pork
½ cup honey
¼ cup white wine
¼ cup lemon juice
1 tsp. ginger
1 clove garlic, crushed
¼ cup salad oil

2 tps. Kitchen Bouquet
Combine all marinade ingredients. Place meat in container, cut side up. Add marinade and spoon generously over top. Refrigerate for several hours, overnight if possible, turning several times. When ready to cook, drain meat, saving marinade; pat dry with paper towels and place on spit. Cook on rotating spit for about 2½ hours or until meat thermometer registers 185 degrees. (Insert thermometer in thick part of roast; do not let it touch spit.) Baste with marinade every 20 minutes of cooking time.

This cooking method will insure a roast that's crisply browned on the outside and juicy on the inside. While the pork is cooking make the following marinade for the canned pie-sliced apples:
1 tsp. instant minced onions
2 tps. brown sugar
1 tsp. aromatic bitters
1 tsp. lemon juice

Add these ingredients to one can (1 lb.-4 oz.) pie-sliced apples. Cover and refrigerate for an hour till flavors blend. Serve with roast pork.

Good Companion For Many Meals

The perfect vegetable companion for duck, ham or lamb — combine ½ cup liquid from a pound can of sliced beets with ¼ cup raisins and a thinly sliced orange; simmer about 10 minutes. Stir in some butter, a little bottled lemon juice and the drained beets; heat. Four servings.

Cooling Coffee Comes Concocted Many Ways

Cool as a summer breeze are these three iced beverages featuring robust coffee flavor in delicious combinations.
Coffee Ice Cream Soda, Mocha Frosted, and a spicy variation of Iced Coffee. With instant decaffeinated coffee as the base, they can be whipped up in a few seconds to please family or guests.

COFFEE ICE CREAM SODA

Combine 1 tablespoon instant decaffeinated coffee, 1 tablespoon sugar, and ¾ cup chilled milk in a tall glass. Stir well to dissolve coffee and sugar. Add ¼ cup carbonated water and ¼ cup coffee ice cream.

MOCHA FROSTED

Combine 2½ teaspoons instant decaffeinated coffee, 2 teaspoons sugar, 2 cups chilled milk and 1 cup chocolate ice cream in shaker, glass jar, or blender. Shake or beat until thick and fluffy. Makes three servings.

ICED SPICED COFFEE

Dissolve 2 tablespoons instant decaffeinated coffee in 3 cups hot water. Pour over 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 cinnamon sticks, 6 whole cloves and 6 whole allspice in large container. Let steep for 1 hour. Then drain and pour over ice cubes in four glasses. Add a long cinnamon stick to each glass for stirring.

New Taste For Chili Con Carne

This version of chili con carne uses tomato puree.

CHILI CON CARNE WITH TOMATO PUREE

1 tsp. butter or margarine
¼ cup frozen chopped onion
1 can (10½ oz.) tomato puree
1 can (15½ oz.) chili beans
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. ground cumin
Chili powder and tabasco sauce to taste

In a 10-inch skillet heat the butter; add onion and cook until softened. Add the remaining ingredients; mix well and simmer until hot through. If made a day or two before serving, refrigerate and reheat in double boiler. Makes 4 servings.

CALLING ALL HOME MAKERS

By Ted Hatfield

HERE ARE RESULTS OF TESTS ON DINING ROOM TABLES

Tests have been made on the ideal measurements for dining room tables, and because of these tests, here are some of the things you should keep in mind in selecting furniture for the dining room.

These tests have shown that about 24 inches of space should be provided for each person who is going to sit at the table.

The table should be at least 30 inches wide if you want two people to face each other across the table and have room for their place settings above the table and their feet underneath.

If space in your room is limited, it is better to choose a narrower chair than to save an inch or two on the table measurements.

Ideally, table legs should not be in the way of those sitting around the table even when it is extended. But they often are, so look to see how inconvenient this will be before making up your mind.

Is the height right? Most people find a height of 28 to 29 inches from the floor to the table top most comfortable. The table should be between 10 to 12 inches higher than the chair seat.

To see furniture for any room in your home and to see interesting furniture ideas, stop in and browse around. There's no obligation.

Hubby's Meanness

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am so hurt I could die. My husband hasn't bothered with me for the last six months. I haven't nagged him about it. I thought that he was just tired out or not feeling well and he'd gradually resume our old relationship which has always been quite satisfactory.

The other night I asked him if there was something wrong and he just blurted out that he thought my body was "repulsive."

Abby, I am only 33, but I've had five children and my stomach is covered with stretch marks and I know my bust sags and my body isn't as pretty as it used to be—but I got into this shape from having his children, so what am I to do?

I am so confused. I still don't know what to think about what he said. Can stretch marks be removed? And would it pay to have surgery to lift my bust-line? I know it's expensive but I would make a lot of sacrifices to get my husband back. HURT

DEAR HURT: If you honestly feel that a lift here and a tuck there is all you need to get your husband back, talk to a competent plastic surgeon. But what about your husband's cruelty? Perhaps he needs a doctor who uses words to reduce the meanness in him. His defects are far uglier than yours.

DEAR ABBY: I am an Italian who reads your articles in the Rome Daily American. I am very much interested in meeting the Memphis, Tenn., lady who is looking for a husband.

I am 32 years old and am 5 feet 11. I am very well built and have olive skin and green eyes and plenty of black hair. I speak five languages and come from Italian nobility on my mother's side. I play the mandolin very well and sing romantic songs.

The Memphis lady says she is self supporting, is in good health and she owns a late model—American-made—automobile. If she would like to correspond with me, please ask her to send me a recent photograph of the automobile.

VITO IN NAPOLI

DEAR ABBY: I am a Christian and I also play the clarinet. A year ago I promised the Lord that I would use my talent for Him by playing only hymns in churches. My problem is that I am only 13 and it is difficult to get into churches to play. Have you any suggestions?

UNADVISED IN ALABAMA
DEAR UNADVISED: I'm

sure God would understand if you first developed your talents by playing whatever your teacher recommended, and not restrict your playing to hymns in churches. After you have become an accomplished clarinetist you'll be able to play wherever and whatever you wish.

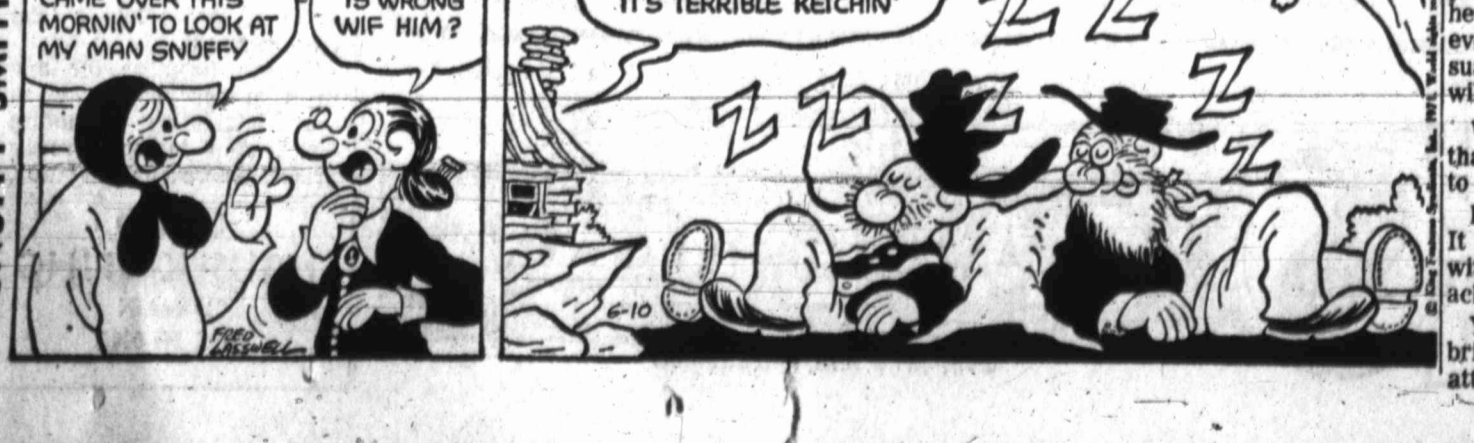

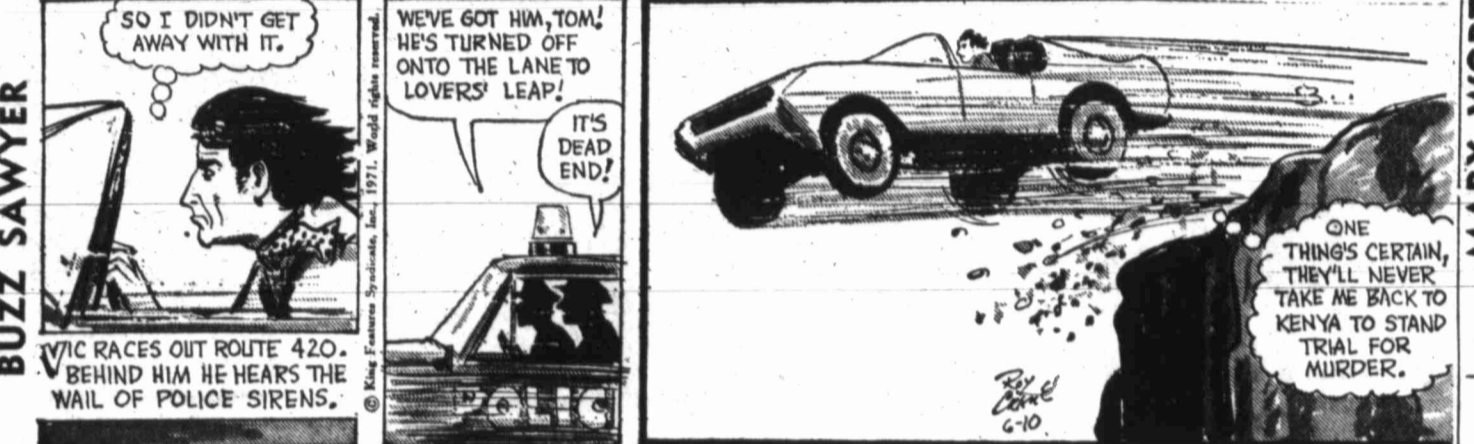

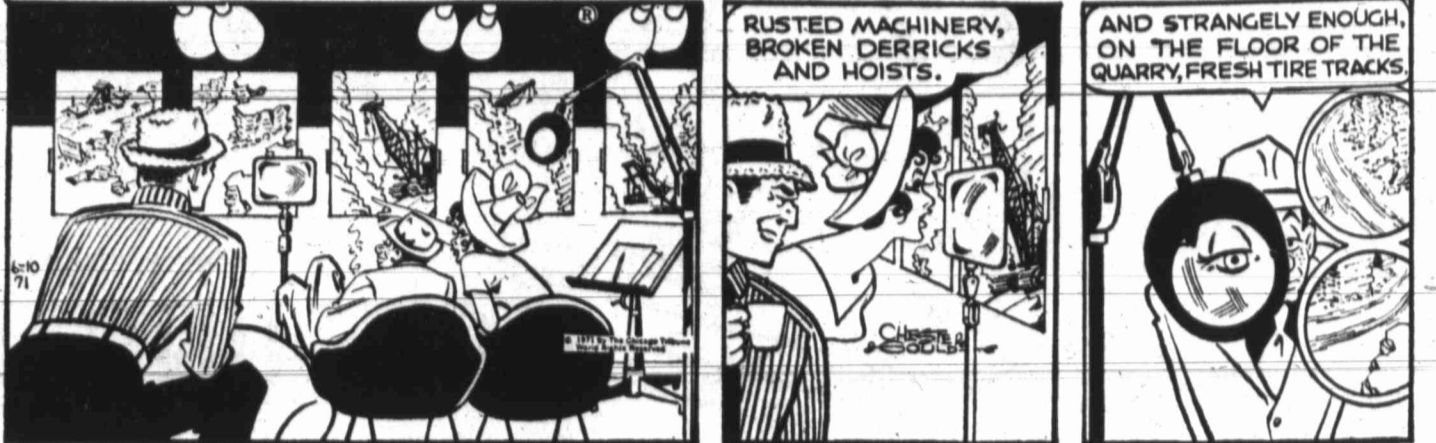

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

Malaria Problem

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son had malaria twice in the service. Now that he is coming home I would like to know what effects it may have on his general health. Can it recur? What precautions must be taken? I have heard so many stories, and have been told to try to persuade him not to marry as he will never be healthy.—E.M.

then again he might be so intent on getting back to civilian life that he forgets the instructions given to him in the service, or on his way back.

Any way, if your son has any recurrence of his malaria, a blood smear will identify the type of malaria — there are varying forms of it, and it is necessary to know which kind it is.

Treatment is not a do-it-yourself affair. While quinine used to be the classic treatment for malaria, we can do considerably better now using different drugs, singly or in combination, to suit the variety of malaria involved. With adequate treatment, there is no reason to fear any damaging after-effects.

By adequate treatment, I mean, usually, a course of treatment spread over about two weeks. When troops were returning from Korea, the trip was long enough to have them take a supervised course of treatment of 14 days. (Treatment in the field often could not be sufficient.)

But with troops coming home by air, treatment can be supervised for that long. Men needing anti-malarial drugs are given an eight-day supply, but there's no guarantee that they will take them. You know how young people sometimes are.

On the other hand, you may find that your son, having had two attacks, will have the good sense to take the prescribed treatment, and also know what to do if he has a flare-up.

But if he has an attack of chills and fever, see your doctor promptly and tell him your son had malaria overseas.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I dislocated my shoulder several months ago and it is still an effort for me to raise my arm as high as my face.

My doctor said it did not stay in the socket properly on account of a stretched or torn ligament and the only cure would be surgery. How successful is this?—L.S.

Quite reliably successful. This type of surgery is done frequently on athletes, particularly football players, and they go back into action, so you can judge from that.

If the surgery is not done, you are subject to recurring dislocation, which as you already know is both annoying and painful. The shoulder can slip out of place with the simplest of arm movements, once the original injury has occurred.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I dislocated my shoulder several months ago and it is still an

Oil 'Persistent Poison' In Sea

AUSTIN (AP) — Oil spilled into the sea is a "persistent poison" that resembles DDT in its ability to hang on in the marine food chain, a Senate committee says.

The Senate Committee on Oil Spills called for stronger measures to prevent such contamination and rapped both the Texas Railroad Commission and the State Water Quality Board.

"Crude oil and oil products are persistent poisons resembling in their longevity DDT, PCB and other synthetic materials that have long been recognized as serious threats to the environment," the committee said.

"Like other long lasting poisons, petroleum from pollution enters the marine food chain and becomes concentrated in the fatty parts or organisms. The petroleum poisons can then be passed on from prey to predator until it finally becomes a hazard to man himself."

Sens. D. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur, Oscar Mauzy of Dallas and Joe Bernal of San Antonio signed the report.

Not signing were Sens. William Moore of Bryan and H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock.

The committee said Texas lacks an effective, unified effort to prevent oil spills and to cope with them when they do occur.

"None of the presently available countermeasures in the state of Texas oil spill contingency plan are sufficiently effective to eliminate the continuing environmental degradation occurring in the coastal waters of Texas," the committee said.

State law, the committee said, gives the Railroad Commission "clear jurisdiction" over water pollution caused by oil and gas drilling operations.

The commission, however, has never denied a drilling permit to any company for ecological reasons nor has it used its authority to require oil companies to submit "contingency plans" for ecological disasters, the committee said.

"The Railroad Commission has displayed a callous disregard for the environmental damage caused by oil companies operating in Texas," the report said.

It said the legislature should consider taking away the commission's authority to enforce laws on oil pollution and give the power to another state agency.

Solons Did Little Toward Overhaul Of Election Laws

By GARTH JONES
 Associated Press Writer

Texas legislators did little toward a general overhaul of state election laws despite a series of federal court orders and plenty of criticism, from unhappy voters.

However, federal judges still may have the last word since two important issues are on appeal — voter registration and filing fees.

In the final days of the 140-day regular and the four-day special legislative sessions, senators and representatives finally agreed to heavily amended versions of an automatic voter registration bill and a bill basing filing fees for candidates on 4 per cent of the salary for the job sought.

"YOUNG" VOTE Earlier both houses approved the U.S. Constitution change that would let all those 18 years and older vote in state and local as well as federal elections. Thirty-two of the necessary 38 Appeals should decide in favor but it is unlikely that the six other states will give their approval this year. In fact, it is doubtful if 18 year olds will be able to vote in the 1972 primary elections.

An effort to change the state constitution to allow those 18-21 to vote passed the Senate but died in the House.

Other legislative failures included proposed changes in primary elections from May and June to August and September, unitary primaries where Democrats and Republicans would vote at the same place, presidential primaries, putting party affiliation on registration forms and aid for illiterate voters.

REGISTRATION CHANGES The average voter will see most change next year in voter registration laws. Although the state is still trying to get high federal courts to approve our present annual voter registration, a new 3-year automatic registration system will go into effect for the 1972 presidential election year. If the New Orleans 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals should decide in favor of annual registration, the automatic registration system just approved by the legislature would be automatically repealed.

No longer will Jan. 31 be the cutoff for voter registration. From now on, a person can register in any month of the year. However, to be able to vote in a certain election the voter must register at least 30 days before the election. This gives election officials time to get their voter rolls in order.

CANDIDATES PAY After a person once registers in 1972, he will be automatically re-registered if he votes in any election within the next three years.

Another law change voted by the recent legislature likely will become a part of the state's appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. Unless the Supreme Court upholds the present filing fee system before that time.

The current system of making political candidates pay for the cost of primary elections through filing fees that sometimes run as high as $6,300 for district judges was declared unconstitutional by a three-judge federal court in Dallas. The court said making a filing fee a revenue collecting device and an "absolute qualification" for a candidate to get his name on the ballot violated the U.S. Constitution.

The new law with the 4 per cent filing fees carries provision that a person may get on the ballot without paying a fee if he presents a petition with the names of 10 per cent of the number of persons who voted in his area during the last general election. Critics of the bill point out that it takes about $2 a name to get up a petition of any size, which makes the petition as much of a financial obligation as the filing fee.

WAY TO PAY

The U.S. Supreme Court said several days ago it would listen to arguments on Texas filing fees next fall or winter. State election officials will be surprised if the high court hands down a decision before Feb. 7, 1972, the deadline for candidates wanting a place on the primary election ballot.

However, there may be more complications. Outspoken opponents of Texas' high filing fees are expected to ask the Supreme Court to also consider the new law on the grounds that it would replace the present law without making any substantial changes.

If the Supreme Court should knock down the present fee system and the law just passed, what happens then?

"I assume we would have another special session," said Randall Wood, director of the elections division of the secretary of state's office. "We have to have a way to pay for primary elections."

ONE-THIRD OF POPULATION RECEIVED GOVERNMENT AID

NEW YORK (AP) — More than one-third of the nation's population was getting some form of income maintenance support from federal, state or local governments at the end of 1970, Tax Foundation Inc. reported.

Recipients of old-age, survivors and disability insurance made up the largest category — 26.2 million, the research organization said.

Other categories included:

- Government employees, including military personnel, 15.7 million.
- Public assistance recipients, 13.8 million including 7 million children.
- Persons not covered by old-age, survivors and disability insurance on state-local government retirement systems rolls, 8.4 million.
- Veterans or their survivors, 5.5 million.
- Persons on unemployment rolls, 2.1 million.
- Persons on the federal government's Civil Service retirement rosters, about 1 million.

Tax Foundation Inc. describes itself as a private, non-profit organization, founded in 1937 to engage in non-partisan research and public education on the fiscal and management aspects of government.
