

TOO MANY NURSING HOMES 'DUMPING GROUNDS FOR THE DYING'

Nixon Calls For New Attitude Toward Old Age

CHICAGO (AP) — President Nixon, calling for a new attitude toward old age in America, said today a generation gap between older citizens and all others "has often been ignored or slighted."

In an address prepared for a joint convention of the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons, Nixon said there is need for "a new alliance in this country between Americans who are under 65 and those who are older."

The President, who flew here Thursday night after making a sentimental journey to Indiana and the home soil of his late mother, said:

"If we allow our society to become fragmented—so that younger Americans are cut off from older Americans—then each member of our society will also become fragmented—with young people cut off from their past and older people from their future."

On one specific point, Nixon complained that altogether too many nursing homes are described as "little more than warehouses for the unwanted, dumping grounds for the dying."

Nixon said:

"I have heard of doctors who refuse to visit some nursing homes because they get too depressed. Too often it seems nursing homes serve mainly to keep older people out of sight and out of mind—so that no one will notice their degradation and despair."

The President said it was his goal to see federal, state and local governments working with the private sector "to transform the nursing homes—for those who need it—into an inspiring symbol of comfort and hope."

In the main, Nixon's remarks were the sort of thing his audience wanted to hear. He placed great emphasis on statistics, showing that the federal spending on aging has nearly doubled in five years, and that Social Security benefits already have been increased 25 per cent in two years, with still another hike in prospect.

The chief executive found a way, too, to appeal to older Americans to support his embattled revenue-sharing program—the centerpiece of his 1971 legislative program.

He declared that sharing federal revenues with the state and local governments "could help stem the ruinous rise in local property taxes," and thus help those over 65.

"When a person retires, his income goes down—and so do most of his tax bills. But his property taxes keep right on climbing—and he may even be forced out of the home he has paid for," he said.

"We must build in this country an attitude which insists that there can be no retirement from living, no retirement from responsibility and no retirement from citizenship," the President said.

Speaking directly to his listeners, he said: "We need you. We need your experience and we need your perspective. Above all, we need your sense of values. For we can be a strong nation militarily, a strong nation economically, and still be an empty shell, if we forget those moral and spiritual values to which your generation is so deeply committed."

Nixon journeyed to Vernon,

Ind., Thursday to help dedicate a road marker that will be placed near the birthplace of his mother, Hannah Milhous Nixon. She left the area in 1897 when she was 12 and, with her parents, headed for California.

The president then made an unscheduled 70-plus mile drive from Vernon to Indianapolis—he was supposed to go by helicopter—and stopped along the way to have roadside chats with the staff of a suburban Indianapolis daily newspaper and residents of a Presbyterian housing development for the elderly.

ONLY SURVIVOR OF BLAST — Ralph Brissette, 33, the only survivor of a blast in a water tunnel under construction 30 miles northwest of Los Angeles early Thursday morning, holds a news conference from his bed at Pecoima Lutheran Hospital. Brissette was treated for internal injuries and a broken left arm.

Workers Slowly Bring Out Bodies From Tunnel

Explosion Kills At Least 16 Men

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rescue teams trying to reach five workers still missing in an explosion-wracked underground water tunnel were called out early today because of thick, choking smoke fed by natural gas flames. There were 12 known dead.

"They kept trying, but they couldn't get to them," said Bob Ree, an official involved in the rescue operation. He said they will make another try later.

FIRE FLARES

The gas-fed fire inside the tunnel flared anew before dawn.

"They kept trying, but they couldn't get to them," said Bob Ree, an official involved in the rescue operation. He said they will make another try later.

Earlier, a state mining official said there could be some connection between the Feb. 9 earthquake that killed 64 persons in the Los Angeles area and Thursday's tunnel explosion.

Dr. Gordon B. Oakeshott, deputy chief of the California Division of Mines and Geology, said the quake possibly could have disturbed underground formations and caused seepage of the deadly gas that exploded Thursday.

SEVEN BODIES

Seven bodies have been recovered and rescue teams continued to search for 10 missing workers. City fire rescue crews said dense smoke and debris hampered efforts to find the missing men. Conditions inside the tunnel were described as "untenable to support life."

The tunnel, being excavated as part of a water project, traverses foothills near the quake epicenter outside suburban Sylmar. The area is studded with oil wells. Fire officials said oil seepage doubtless helped fuel a 14-hour fire that followed the blast and blocked rescue attempts for more than 12 hours.

SOLE SURVIVOR

The sole survivor of the blast—wan, red-eyed and weakened by injuries—told reporters from his hospital bed that he thought he felt two explosions in the tunnel, which is five miles long and about 200 feet beneath the earth.

"I thought I was going to pass out and I guess I did," said Ralph Brissette, 33. "I found myself laying in water, washing my face and drinking." He was found after stumbling more than four miles to the tunnel's portal.

Fire officials say the gas probably was touched off by a spark from drilling equipment.

The explosion in the tunnel was the second in two days. On Wednesday a smaller blast, also attributed to methane gas, injured four workmen. One had to be hospitalized.

Rodeo fans at the second performance Thursday night of the 38th Annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo watched Bussy Kaul, of Hereford, Tex., pounce on a bull to turn a time of 4.4 seconds in the steer wrestling portion of the show.

An estimated 5,000 local and area spectators were given three hours of some of the best entertainment to come to town during the year.

Among some of the top billing in the rodeo show was Charro Gomez, his horse El Catel and his whistling rope performance, and the two erratic clowns, Kaju Kidd and Dick Bolling and their laughable antics.

Again the main spotlights centered on Ken Curtis, "Festus Haggin" of "Gunsmoke."

Singing with the Frontiersmen and Patty Johnson, Curtis appealed to the sensitivity of the crowd and delighted all with songs, dancing and story telling.

Approximately 90 cowboys and cowgirls entertained the crowd in the regular rodeo activities and participated in

Planes, Artillery Pop Abandoned Fire Base

SAIGON (AP) — American B52 bombers struck just below the demilitarized zone today at North Vietnamese troops threatening the string of artillery bases guarding South Vietnam's northern provinces.

U.S. spokesmen reported two strikes by the giant bombers three miles north of Fire Base Fuller, which a large enemy force overran Wednesday night.

Another bombing mission was flown south of Fire Base Sarge, which is six miles southwest of Fuller. Associated Press correspondent Michael Putzel reported from the northern front that the South Vietnamese were still holding Sarge even though U.S. Chinook helicopters pulled its artillery pieces out Thursday after Fuller fell.

South Vietnamese spokesmen in Saigon said they had no reports of new fighting in the northern region, but information officers in Hue and Da Nang indicated that the generals there had imposed a news blackout.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to hold a hearing on government attempts to restrain publication of articles in the New York Times and the Washington Post on a Pentagon study of the Vietnam war.

Papers Fight To Publish War History

The Supreme Court considered today appeals by the government and The New York Times that it step into the conflict over a series of articles on the secret Pentagon history of the Vietnam war.

Immediately ahead loomed a 6 p.m. deadline. Unless the justices act before then The Washington Post will be able to publish what it wants. But The Times will be free to resume publication in Saturday editions only of material the Justice Department considers safe for public consumption.

Unlike The Post, The Times will be barred from using any of the items in the 47-volume war study the Justice Department feels should be kept secret in the interest of national security.

The Times told the court in a petition Thursday that the restraint, imposed by the U.S. Circuit Court in New York City, "imposes an insupportable burden on a free press."

The Justice Department, meanwhile, labored to block The Post from resuming its series of reports on the study. Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold argued in an application for a stay that publication would damage national security and the conduct of foreign relations beyond repair.

The Post would be free to publish what it wishes by virtue of a ruling by the U.S. circuit court for the District of Columbia.

Griswold said The Post should be prevented at least temporarily from using the items listed in a "special appendix" filed by government attorneys last Monday in the New York court, as well as additional items the Justice Department might add today.

Capt. Medina Ordered To Stand Trial

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — A military judge refused today to dismiss murder and assault charges against Capt. Ernest Medina, whose infantry company staged the My Lai assault in 1968.

Col. Kenneth Howard, the military judge, then said the case would go to trial, probably late this summer.

The judge set July 19 as the tentative date for the start of jury selection.

"I do not find this case to be pervaded by command influence," said the judge as he denied the defense dismissal motions.

"I do not find it was the over-all policy of the Army to deny the accused a fair consideration of the charges against him," ruled Howard.

The judge added, "I do not find that he was to be tried regardless of the evidence."

Howard denied a series of 16 separate defense motions made by defense attorney F. Lee Bailey and granted only two minor ones.

He granted permission for the defense to obtain a copy of a classified report on a military inquiry into the My Lai massacre. He also ordered the prosecution to provide the defense with the names of its witnesses. More than 100 have been subpoenaed, but the government has indicated that not all of them will be called.

Medina spoke briefly to newsmen afterward. "I've been waiting almost two and a half years for this to go to trial," said the olive-skinned captain.

"I'm glad we have a trial date. I still have confidence I'll be found innocent."

Ten witnesses, including two generals, testified in the course of the six-day proceedings.

Gun Battle With Police

CHICAGO (AP) — Secret Service officials are investigating the shooting death of James E. Beavers, 47, of Squire, W. Va., killed in a gun battle with Chicago police.

A sister said Beavers was a former mental patient who was strongly critical of President Nixon's Vietnam policies. He was shot to death late Thursday in Grant Park near one of Nixon's scheduled stops on his visit today in Chicago.

However, John H. Hanly, special agent in charge of the Chicago Secret Service field office, said there is "no basis" at present for believing that Beavers came to Chicago with the intention of killing the President.

Attempt To Fleece Publisher Ridder

GARY, Ind. (AP) — The FBI said today there has been an unsuccessful attempt to extort $30,000 from publisher Walter T. Ridder.

A former employe of Ridder's newspaper was critically wounded Thursday night during a gunfight in the course of a "payoff."

The FBI said the effort to extort the money from Ridder, publisher of the Gary Post Tribune, had been made under threat of a bomb allegedly placed in the press room of the newspaper offices. No bomb was found, authorities said.

A letter received Wednesday by 54-year-old Ridder, who also is vice president of Ridder Publications, Inc., said that a bomb had been planted in the newspaper's press room and warned that if the bomb was found, the two children of associate publisher C. Darrow Tulley would be shot by a sniper.

The FBI said the man shot during the gunfight was John E. Ward, 37, of Gary. He was taken to a hospital where he was reported in critical condition with a chest wound. No one else was hurt.

The FBI said Ward was charged under federal extortion laws.

Ward was discharged by the newspaper about two years ago after he worked for several years in charge of maintenance. Tully said Ward had been discharged after psychiatric treatment paid for by the company.

Authorities said Ridder received a telephone call Thursday instructing him to place an advertisement in the newspaper's afternoon editions if he decided to pay the $30,000 in cash as the letter asked. The ad was published as the caller had asked and said: "We have the money, the job is yours."

Tully said Ridder then received a telephone call about 9 p.m. Thursday telling him to take the money and walk alone down a railroad track on the east side of Gary.

The FBI said that instead, an agent carrying a package filled with newspapers walked down the dark track about an hour later and was met by Ward, who fired a shotgun at the agent.

Other agents nearby joined in the gunfight and wounded Ward.

Ridder could not be reached for comment immediately. Tully said the publisher was "exhausted."

Tully, 40, who has been associate publisher of the Post Tribune since 1966, has two children, a 19-year-old daughter who works at the newspaper library and a 15-year-old son.

Korean 'War' 21-Years-Old

SEUL (AP) — Twenty-one years ago today North Korea invaded South Korea and started the Korean War. Occasional clashes still interrupt the uneasy peace along the 151-mile frontier between the two nations.

A 600,000-man South Korean force equipped with U. S. jet fighter-bombers, missiles, tanks and artillery stands guard along and below the demilitarized zone set by the 1953 armistice.

PROTECT FRONT
U. S. soldiers protected 18 miles of the DMZ front until March, when they were pulled back prior to the reduction of U. S. forces in South Korea from 62,000 to 42,000 by July 1.

Across the buffer zone are 466,000 North Korean troops armed with Soviet military equipment, including MIG21 jet fighters, heavy artillery and missiles.

South Korean officials claim that North Korea has violated the armistice agreement by building in its half of the buffer zone some 200 concrete bunkers and other fortifications armed with automatic weapons. But North Korea's refusal to cooperate has stymied the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission and the joint observer teams of the two opposing sides, the agencies created to help enforce the armistice.

When the North Korean army crossed the 38th parallel at dawn on June 25, 1950, it had 10 combat divisions armed with 500 Soviet tanks and 2,000 artillery pieces. South Korea was defended by 100,000 ill-trained men armed with rifles and light machine guns supplied by the United States.

CHINESE SLASH
Seoul fell to the invaders in three days and a large part of South Korea was occupied within a month. The United States rushed to South Korea's defense and rallied a 16-nation force under the banner of the United Nations.

These forces pushed the way through North Korea, to the Chinese border, but late in November, 1950, 300,000 Chinese Communist troops went into action on two fronts and within a month had forced the U.N. forces back to the 38th parallel.

The war resulted in only slight territorial changes along the 38th parallel. South Korea gained some land in the middle and eastern portions of the frontier while losing some territory along the west coast.

COSTLY IN LIVES
But the three-year war was costly in lives for both sides.

About 500,000 South Koreans were killed, 380,000 of them civilians, and 430,000 were wounded. The United States suffered 142,091 casualties, including 33,629 troops killed in action, and spent about $20 billion on the war.

Communist tolls were even heavier. Nearly 300,000 North Korean soldiers and 200,000 Communist Chinese troops were killed, and almost 220,000 North Koreans and 700,000 Communist Chinese were wounded, according to a U.S. Defense Department estimate.

ROUGH SAILING — Kathy Grossman, the Miss Wool representative from Iowa, is having trouble developing her sear legs for the annual river float parade. The parade follows the Concho River through the city of San Angelo on the eve of the pageant each year.

Will Crown Miss Wool Of America

SAN ANGELO (AP) — The long revelry and rehearsals only a memory, 20 college and university coeds vie tonight for the title of Miss Wool of America.

The new glamor and fashion ambassador of the wool industry will be chosen at the close of a musically-oriented show, "Winter Wonderland of Wool," starring singer John Davidson.

She takes the crown from Gail Heinzmann of Carlyle, Ill., and sets forth with a $10,000 wardrobe to convey the merits of woolen fabrics across the country.

The 20 contestants represent wool counties from coast to coast and presumably will be judged on their modeling and public speaking abilities.

NOT ON TUBE
There is neither talent nor swimsuit competition, somewhat of a break from the traditional format of beauty pageants. The show will not be televised.

San Angelo's municipal coliseum is the setting and the judges are Peter Diamandis, publisher of Mademoiselle magazine; Miss Eleanor McMillen, executive director of the Fashion Group; and Miss Eleanor Mansfield, national director of training for Faberge Inc.

Unlike most pageants, there was no preliminary competition, thus no clear-cut favorite. But Joanne Diltz, Miss Idaho, leans toward Judy Womack, Miss Texas.

'SHE'S MY PICK'
"She's my pick," Miss Diltz smiled. "She's got everything."

First Wheat Bought Here

The county's first load of wheat was purchased Thursday for $1.50 per bushel, according to Clyde Eager, manager of the Kimbell Feed Mills here. The wheat was grown by the Big Spring Experiment Station personnel.

"It was pretty good dryland wheat," Eager said. The mill purchased a little over 100 bushels. Reportedly the wheat averaged only about nine bushels to the acre, reflecting drought conditions in the area.

Governor Hints Re-Election Bid

ALBANY, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith sounded more than ever like a candidate for re-election here Thursday night.

He declined once more, however, to commit himself formally to the race, saying it is too early for such a move.

The governor talked to a reporter while attending the Ft. Griffin Fandangle, Albany's annual outdoor musical show recreating this West Central Texas area's history.

Smith said he had no plans other than to run for governor.

"I don't see any serious contenders," he remarked.

Smith said Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who has announced as a candidate for governor in the Democratic primary, "is a nice young man but I doubt that he'll make a splash."

Asked if he thought Barnes had the support of former President Lyndon Johnson, Smith said he had never seen any direct statement from Johnson backing the lieutenant governor for the state's top office.

Texas needs a "more mature, more businesslike" man than Barnes in the governor's office, he said.

Smith also commented on Houston promoter Frank Sharp, who was assessed a probated sentence and $5,000 fine recently in a federal stock manipulation case. Sharp was granted immunity from further prosecution. "I have never believed any immunity thing," Smith said. "It would be difficult for me to understand how government at any level could take testimony from a man who has broken all the laws, then prosecute someone with the information," he said.

The governor declined comment on what part he thought former Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, now chief of the criminal division of the U.S. Justice Department, played in the stock case.

"I just don't know," he said. "I haven't looked into it."

Public reaction to his veto of part of the state's $7.1 billion budget for the next two years and several other big spending proposals has been favorable, Smith said.

He said that since he made the veto announcement Sunday on a statewide television broadcast, his office has received about 1,200 letters and all but six have endorsed the cuts.

"We must weigh the priorities in spending the taxpayers' money," he said. "I didn't discriminate; I just cut out unnecessary parts."

Commission Orders Rock, Discusses Union Problems

By KERRY GUNNELS

County commissioners agreed Thursday evening to advertise for bids for 1,300 yards of type 3 and 1,000 yards of grade 5 rock to be used in nine miles of planned road construction.

The rock will be used for paving seven additional miles of County Road 84 and two miles of County Road 17, said Hollis Randell, road and bridge administrator.

The commissioners also allowed Randell to order primer and asphalt for the future construction.

At a suggestion from Bill Bennett, the commissioners instructed Randell to open bids for temporary replacements for each job classification in the road and bridge department.

These men would substitute for regular operators during vacation time, sickness and relief.

"It will help to get rid of some of the grievances from the men," said Bennett. "If there is no question of who will take over in the absence of the regular operator."

"If a vacancy appears in a certain classification, then the temporary replacement will step right in, and a bid will be held again on his job as replacement," explained Bennett.

Judge A. G. Mitchell previewed for the court a suggestion that he said he will present at a Monday night grievance meeting with union employees.

"I'm going to suggest that all future grievances must go through Mr. Randell before ever being brought to the attention of the court," said Judge Mitchell. "I believe that the great majority of grievances can be settled in this way."

"If the grievance cannot be settled with Mr. Randell, then I suggest we appoint a two-man committee to listen to the complaint. In the event that the committee cannot settle the grievance, then and only then will it be brought before the entire commissioner's court."

Another matter brought up by Randell in the meeting was the public dump located between the Elbow and Lomax communities.

The commissioners decided to close down the dump, not an official county dump in the light of recent state statutes about the maintenance of such dumps. The main reason for the decision was the cost that proper maintenance would entail.

Randell reported that the lights on the Howard County Airport runway had shorted out, and that repairs are under way.

Drug Treatment Centers Planned

Plans for a six-fold increase in the number of Veterans Administration drug treatment centers were reported today by Donald E. Johnson, administrator of Veterans Affairs.

The President, in his June 17, 1971, drug control message to Congress called for "the immediate development and implementation of VA drug rehabilitation centers which will permit both inpatient and outpatient care of addicts in a community setting."

Five of the specialized VA drug treatment centers have been placed in operation since October, 1970. VA planning, Johnson said, provides for the opening of 14 more centers by the end of next month, and the creation of still another 13 centers by approximately Oct. 1, 1971.

Gold Creations Display Joins Western Art Today

The Heritage Museum's arts exhibit heads into the home stretch with the opening of Bart Mann's gold creations for today and Saturday.

The Texas Art Gallery of Dallas, in conjunction with the museum, has had on display for the past two days a remarkable collection of western art valued at a quarter of a million dollars. All the exhibits are free and may be seen between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. through Saturday.

While most of the paintings are relatively contemporary, the era is largely in the early days. Among the rare paintings is a Charlie Russell water color with a $20,000 price tag. The irony of it is that Russell, a frontier artist, sold most of his paintings for a pittance, occasionally swapping one for a bottle of spirits.

One of the most popular attractions has been a Frank McCarthy painting. Examples of Olaf Weighorst, regarded by many as dean of western painters; Carl J. Smith, a West Texan who reflects the rugged tests of this region; Gordon Snyder, president of the Cowboy Artists Association; and James Boren, another West Texan whose water colors are acclaimed by critics.

Incidentally, Bob McCulley, partner in the Texas Gallery, has with him sets of six exceptional reproductions of some of Boren's work. These portfolios ($50 the set) reflect Boren's versatility, and they are from limited printings, each numbered and hand signed by the artist.

Included are "Before Fences Came to Texas," which Harold McCracken is including in his new book and which hangs in the Cody, Wyo., museum; "Rainy Day at Hubble's Trading Post," also hanging at Cody; "Bound Up Time," the painting Mary Ellen Boren waited 23 years for before James painted one he thought worthy of his wife; "Afternoon," which was the 1969 Cowboy Artists winner.

McCulley has been pleased with the response during the week, particularly by the number of young people and children who have come to see the paintings and the bronze castings, of crisp action and intricate delicateness of detail.

The Bart Mann show is a complement to the gallery selections, for it presents goldsmithing as a medium every bit as compelling and inspiring as the paintings and bronzes. Mann has few peers in the nation today as a creative craftsman in 18-karat gold, and yet he developed the skill first as a hobby upon the inspiration of the Celine cup he beheld in the Metropolitan Museum of Art two score years ago.

His first attempt at a goblet was a miserable failure, except that he learned from it. Eventually he created some of the most exquisite goblets, cuts, flacons, etc., to be seen. He has elaborated many of his works with rare gems from all over the world.

This has given rise to decorative pieces such as an

MRS. THURMAN ROY HAMPTON

Miss Evelyn Nuckels Is Married In Irving

Miss Evelyn Annette Nuckels, formerly of Big Spring, and Thurman Roy Hampton were married June 18 in an evening ceremony in the home of her parents in Irving.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Nuckels and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hampton of Quinlan.

The Rev. John Roberson officiated before an improvised altar decorated with candles and greenery.

The bride wore a gown designed and made by her mother, of peau de sole with Empire waist and full sleeves of rose point lace. Pearl-trimmed applique lace finished the edge of the gown, and floor-length pink velvet streamers were fastened to the back of the high waist. Her veil of illusion was held by a cluster of heart-shaped lace and pearls, and she carried a nosegay of white carnations. She wore a keepsake gold ring of her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary A. Paddock.

Miss Leann Nuckels of Austin was the bride's only attendant and she wore a gown of dotted Swiss and a wristlet of pink carnations.

James Lee Nuckels was the groom's attendant and candle-lighters were Keith Nuckels and Vicki Aday.

Music was provided by Miss Shirley Black and Miss Shiela Buck.

The couple was honored with a reception, following the ceremony, and refreshments were served from a table covered with a taffeta cloth edged with lace and overlaid with net. Scallops were held by bows of ribbon at the edge of the table.

The bride presented her mother and her mother-in-law with a red rose.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hampton are graduates of Irving High School, and he attended Dallas Baptist College. Following the reception the couple left for Denver, Colo., where they will make their home.

New Slate Begins Club Year

New officers of the Business and Professional Women's Club took over their duties at a dinner meeting Tuesday at Coker's Restaurant.

The officers are, Mrs. J. B. Apple, president; Mrs. Charles Sommers, first vice president; Mrs. F. F. McGowan, second vice president; Mrs. Jimmie Mason, recording secretary; Mrs. Laura Doubek, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Delphia Gordon treasurer; and Miss Movelda Rhine, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Apple had been previously installed by Mrs. Geraldine R. Edison of Fort Worth B&PW state president, at the 51st annual convention in Fort Worth June 11-13.

Miss Rhine, District 8 president, was among the state and district officers installed at the convention by Judge Sarah T. Hughes, honorary president. Mrs. Sommers also attended the convention and accepted the Dimension 1971 award presented to the local club.

At the Tuesday meeting preliminary plans were made for the District 8 conference to be held here in the fall. Members of the executive committee will host the next meeting, July 13 in the backyard of Mrs. Apple, 419 Westover. Members with perfect attendance records will be recognized, and all members may bring guests.

Group Discusses Baptist Churches

Historical data from various Southern Baptist Churches in Texas was told to the Baptist Women at Westside Baptist Church Tuesday by Mrs. Leroy Minchew. The program was from the group's study book, "The Sounds of Yesterday".

One church in Houston, according to Mrs. Minchew, started an "Our Smile" program to meet people, win them to Christ and enlist them in the church. The group, which started as a mothers club meeting, grew to include Bible study groups, hobby and craft classes and discussion groups. They also began a club for preschool children.

Mrs. Minchew read the mission birthday calendar, and Mrs. Lloyd Murphree led prayer. The group was dismissed by Mrs. E. O. Sanderson. Mrs. J. O. Murphy, Mrs. B. N. Boroughs and Mrs. Minchew were to serve refreshments to patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital Wednesday.

Ortry's parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Bailey. He was tax assessor and collector for Howard County for 22 years. Boatler's parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Boatler who moved from the Vealmoor location of the Tom Good Ranch in 1915 so the children could go to school.

The Boatlers have two granddaughters, Mrs. Kay Elaine Reynolds of Merced, Calif., and Mrs. Sherry Lynn Voight of Big Spring. Two great-grandchildren are Wendy Kay Voight and Brian Voight.

Mrs. Boatler is a Past Matron of the Order of Eastern Star Chapter 67 and member of several bridge groups. She and her husband enjoy canasta, "42" and visiting with friends. His hobby is quail hunting which he has liked since age 10.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Boatler like to travel and have made trips over most of the United States, Canada and Mexico, where they took the mountain train ride.

MR. AND MRS. G. L. MONRONEY

Couple To Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Monroney of Forsan will be honored with an open house on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary, Sunday afternoon from 2 until 5 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cowley in Forsan.

Hostesses for the affair will be their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Monroney, Waynann and Wendy; and Mr. and Mrs. Cowley, Brenda and Steven.

The refreshment table will be covered with a white damask cloth, accented with gold ribbon with the honored couple's names. The ribbon will be entwined with gold roses and babies' breath. A silver coffee service and crystal punch bowl will be at either end of the table, with a tiered cake in the center.

The registry table will be decorated with a vase of gold roses and will also hold a money tree, presented them by friends and relatives in Big Spring and Forsan.

Monroney, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Monroney, was born in Yale, Ill., Nov. 17, 1896. Mrs. Monroney also born in Yale, Sept. 12, 1898, is the daughter of Mrs. Lottie McCoy, and the late Frank McCoy. Mrs. McCoy and the remaining brothers and sisters still live in Illinois and Indiana with the exception of Miss Pearl J. Monroney who resides in Big Spring.

Monroney served in Nevers, France, in the 49th Railroad Engineers during World War I.

The couple was married June 25, 1921, in Toledo, Ill. They farmed for several years in Illinois before leaving to travel West, arriving in West Texas during the '29 oil boom. Monroney was hired by Cosden Oil Co. at Forsan and worked there for two years. He was transferred by the company to Bee County in South Texas, to Coahoma; back to Forsan; and then to the Cosden Refinery at Vealmoor. He retired after 33 continuous years with Cosden and the couple has made their home in Forsan since.

In addition to Mr. Monroney and Mrs. Cowley, the couple had another daughter, Mrs. Howard (Gwen) Bennett, now deceased, who lived in New York. Her children, Mrs. Joyce Godles and Jimmy Bennett live in Port Jefferson, N.Y. There are three other granddaughters and another grandson.

For the reception, Mrs. Monroney will wear a lilac and gold print dress. A gold rose corsage will be given to Mrs. Monroney and her husband will receive a matching boutonniere. Monroney is a Mason, Shriner and a member of the American

World War I Barracks and Auxiliary. He serves as a member of the Forsan City Council and they both belong to the Forsan Methodist Church. All of their friends are invited to the reception.

Homemakers Get New Officers

Mrs. C. G. Barnett, outgoing president of the Homemakers Class, turned the office over to Mrs. Earl Wilson at a luncheon meeting Wednesday at the First Christian Church. Hostesses were the outgoing officers, and the Rev. John R. Beard gave the invocation.

Tables were covered with white cloths and centered with assorted spring flowers. The serving table was centered with an arrangement of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Florence K. Hallam was a guest, as well as Rev. Beard. The meeting closed with the class prayer, the next one to be July 28 at the church hall.

Women's Group Has Bible Study

Mrs. R. L. Pitts presented a Bible study on prayer for the Lalla Baird Circle of Wesley United Methodist Church, Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. J. E. Peters, 1806 Runnels. Mrs. M. O. Hamby presided, and Mrs. J. C. Ray gave the devotion.

Prayer pairs for the year were revealed and gifts exchanged. Mrs. J. A. Wright led prayer and Mrs. Marshall Day was a guest. The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., June 29 in the home of Mrs. Wright, 2706 Rebecca.

Opera Stars Return For Sacred Concert

Two men who attracted a near capacity crowd to the First Baptist Church a year ago return Sunday to lead the 11 a.m. worship with a concert in sacred songs.

They are Robert Hale, leading bass-baritone with the New York City Opera Company, and Dean Wilder, leading tenor for three seasons with the Goldovsky Opera Theatre.

The entire morning worship will be devoted to their program, and the Rev. Kenneth Patrick, pastor, urged those who do not have their own church responsibilities to share in this unusual treat.

In addition to their individual performances in opera, oratorio, with symphony orchestra and in recital, Hale and Wilder have toured together nationally to present hundreds of sacred concerts. Their accompanist is Ovid Young. The two have made several albums of their selections, which range from the classics to the familiar hymns.

They began to sing together by chance, meeting each other while in a rehearsal. As they shared their Christian experiences, the idea of a duet shaped. The program was an instant success.

"Mr. Hale is blessed with a virile voice and the physique of an athlete and shows flawless control," noted the Boston Globe of him. Wilder, currently on the voice faculty of the New England Conservatory of Music and Boston was described by the New York Times recently: "the sumptuously-voiced role was splendidly sung by tenor Dean Wilder in a stately, sensitive portrayal." The Portland Ore., Journal described him as "one of the great voices of the century." Their church concerts are beamed for spiritual impact.

Prophecy Is Topic Of Film

A special service that will focus attention on the subject of Bible prophecy will take place at 7 p.m. Sunday at Evangel Temple Assembly of God, 2205 Goliad.

Highlighting this service will be the showing of the prophetic film, "The End of Time." This full color, 25-minute film illustrates scriptural prophecies of the end of time and Christ's second coming. It climaxes with scenes of the rapture of the church.

The Rev. Donald Calvin, Evangel Temple pastor, will speak on the subject of Bible prophecy, relating scripture to present day events. His sermon will deal primarily with the imminent return of Christ.

Following the service, Evangel Temple youth will sell pie and ice cream in the educational building for a missions effort called "Speed-the-Light."

The public is invited to attend this special evangelistic service.

Jesus Festival Set For Church Youth

The Jesus Festival is scheduled for July 5-11 and is to be led by the Youth of East Fourth Baptist Church. Planning and preparation is being made to involve as many youth as possible.

The music will be led by Phil Hall who is presently part-time music and Youth Director at the First Baptist Church of Merkel, Texas.

The choir will be filled each evening by the youth. The services will be led by five youths of East Fourth who have surrendered for the ministry. These are Steve Tidwell, Jack Tonn, Randy Tonn, Ron McKee and Bob Webb. On Saturday night by the youth of First Baptist Church will present "Natural High."

Watkins Finishes Preaching School

James Paul Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Watkins, Jr., 2504 Central Drive, will graduate from the Sunset School of Preaching, Lubbock, Texas, Sunday night.

After a summer of speaking at different places he will do graduate studies at Sunset during the fall semester. He and his wife, Judy plan to do missionary work with the Church of Christ in Thailand after he completes his studies.

Youth Will Hold Workshop Sunday

The youth of the church will be in charge of the Sunday evening worship at 7 o'clock in the First Baptist Church, according to Wally Shamburger, youth director. Young people who have been at the Plasano encampment this week, will tell of their experiences in the camp.

BEL CANTO SINGERS
... Youngsters will perform Monday

Bel Canto Singers In Concert Monday

The talented Bel Canto Singers of Boles Home at Quinlan, Tex., will be presented in the auditorium of the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ, in a program of sacred songs at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

The Bel Canto Singers are highly trained young people who present a varied program of inspirational hymns, gospel songs, and stirring spirituals. The chorus is currently on its 21st annual summer tour. The tour this year covers over 60 appearances in the Southwestern states.

The Bel Canto Singers present their programs a cappella (unaccompanied). They have appeared in 46 states, Canada and Mexico under the sponsorship of the churches of Christ.

Boles Home is a home for children who are being cared for by churches of Christ in the United States. It is one of fifty such homes. The whole family will enjoy the songs presented by these teenagers. The programs are open to the public and are without admission cost. No collections will be taken.

Man Can't Retire To Wilderness

NEW YORK (AP) — Technology cannot be repudiated if a "humane social order" is to be created on a planet already supporting 3 billion people and another 3 billion expected to populate the earth by the turn of the century, says Dr. Margaret Mead, noted cultural anthropologist.

Dr. Mead, an Episcopal lay leader and member of the World Council of Churches' committee on social concerns, says it is unrealistic to think man can "retire to the wilderness" without modern productive tools. She says it will take "all the technical skill we have" to support human needs.

Lutheranism Elevates Quest

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Lutheranism "has elevated the quest for social justice from its previous subordinate position to a central tenet of Christian ethics," says the president of the Lutheran World Federation.

The Rev. Dr. Mikko E. Juva of Finland told churchmen here that Lutheranism used to concentrate entirely on "individual sins" but now sees the struggle for social justice as an urgent task of the churches.

Adventist Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Seventh-day Adventist Church reports that its welfare services last year gave aid valued at more than $4.4 million to victims of disasters in 41 countries.

Black, White Baptists Join

HOUSTON (AP) — For the first time, five associations of black Baptists, one association of white Baptists and one of Mexican-American Baptists are going to hold simultaneous conventions and a joint evangelism rally here Oct. 27.

"This historic meeting will show the world that we have moved past the state of talking about unity and have become a symbol of unity in the oneness of Christ," says the Rev. Jimmy R. Allen of San Antonio, president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Record Features 101-Voice Choir

The New Life Singers from the Glendale Baptist Church, have cut a new recording, "Here Comes Jesus," which featured the 101-voice youth choir, plus special groups including "We Three." Two of those in this group are Linda Pinson and Susie Pinson, nieces of Mrs. Oscar Johnson, Big Spring. The album is distributed by the group at 3633 South Staple, Corpus Christi.

BLUE LUSTRE SHAMPOO
... to ease the house cleaning chores

Summer Vacation? Not So For Mom

While everyone else is enjoying the warm, sunny weather of summer, the weary housewife mutters a "So what?"

It is the mother of the house that has to clean the rugs after the family has tracked in the dirt collected from their summer activities. For her, the summer vacation simply means more work.

Summer means gleaming furniture, polished floors, fresh flowers on the table and the knowledge that everything is clean — hopefully. But for the housewife responsible for all these things, it also means bruised knees, broken fingernails and the aching back that are needed to get "everything clean."

Blue Lustre Carpet and Upholstery shampoo probably won't make summer household chores a complete snap, but it will certainly help the busy wife and mother shorten her tasks considerably.

Nothing else looks right against a background of dingy, faded carpeting. Blue Lustre shampoo can bring the total look of beauty to your home.

Give your carpets a real beauty treatment. Bring back the original brilliance of the colors and the springiness to the nap. Housewives everywhere are raving about the wonderful new look that Blue Lustre brings to their carpets and upholstery.

Waxing floors and polishing furniture and windows is all part of the summer-cleaning procedure, and until families can be persuaded to remove their shoes in the Japanese style, before entering the house, tracked-in dirt will continue to be a problem for American housewives.

The Blue Lustre shampoo machine is light weight, easy to use and easy to carry. The twin-brush foaming action brushes dirt to the surface where it is held in suspension until it is vacuumed away when the carpet is dry after shampooing.

Blue Lustre is available at Big Spring Hardware, as is the machine.

Hey Max, Whose Side Are You On?

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Max, the police dog, got his man Friday but he bit a policeman too.

Max was brought to a downtown cafe by specialist William Bennett where a man had escaped officers trying to arrest him for disorderly conduct.

Bennett turned Max loose. The dog caught the first runner who was Patrolman Edward Monohan, and felled him with two chops on the left leg and knee.

Chastised by Bennett, Max took up the chase again and caught Monty Maxson, 20, under a box car on a railroad siding and bit him too.

Up, Up And Away With Harley-Davidson Cycle

The summer is upon us and with it, the motorcycle season. Of course, the fast-growing sport certainly is not limited to the summer months, but it is then that most of the motorcycle riders can get out on the trails for any length of time.

Although no overland trips, such as the Big Bend trip taken before Easter, are planned in the near future, a local group of motorcycle enthusiasts have planned to attend the Ruidoso Ascendade Rally, Oct. 9-10.

Some of the activities of the rally include a parade with bands, floats and motorcycles, an overland tour to the ski area, and on the last day of the rally, class C motorcycles races.

If anyone is interested in attending the rally, entry blanks may be obtained from Till Thompson, Ruidoso Downs Race Track, P. O. Box 449, Ruidoso Downs, N. M. 88346.

There will be a contest for the best dressed cycle, the best dressed couple, the best dressed rider and the long distance rider.

Motorcycle riders are encouraged to get their cycles ready and enter the rally. If they would like to ride to Ruidoso in a group, they can contact Cecil Thixton at his Harley-Davidson showroom.

Cecil Thixton's is the place that can keep your motorcycle in tip-top shape for those long-range or short-hop overland trips. Their workshop can service all brands of cycles, lawn mowers and bicycles, where parts are available.

Factory trained personnel are ready to iron your problems. Due to the current bicycle shortage, Thixton's has taken on another line of bikes. The Vista bicycle carries the same no-time - limit guarantee against defects due to workmanship or materials as the Schwinn.

Vista is a high quality line of bicycles. There is now a limited supply of five and 10 speed lightweights. Why not come down and look them over while there is still a good selection?

Bicycling has become the fastest growing sport in the U.S. All the bike manufacturers are finding it impossible to keep up with the demand.

If bicycling is your interest, the Harley-Davidson cycle is the most dependable machine on the road. Thixton now has a good selection of bikes, but with production hold-ups the way they are, they can't last for long.

Thixton's has the self-propelled and switch-key electric start mowers, also. Come by and see Cecil Thixton at 908 W. 3rd.

Native Big Springer Is District Beauty Queen

DISTRICT IV QUEEN
... Susan Watson, Big Spring

By STEVE HULTMAN

One of the prettiest girls to grace the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo in many a year is Susan Watson, the District IV Queen of the American Association of Sheriffs Poses and Riding Clubs.

Miss Watson, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Watson of Big Spring. "I was born and raised here," she said, "and I hate to leave even for college."

The Big Spring beauty plans to attend Lubbock Christian College in the fall. "I plan to major in music. I play the piano and sing in a Country and Western band."

Miss Watson has been riding all her life, but "I got started in the Howard County Youth Horseman 10 years ago. Then, about two weeks before the district meet in March they told me I had been picked to represent the club in the Queen contest."

"The contestants were judged on poise and personality, appearance, knowledge of the association and horsemanship," she said.

"I have really enjoyed myself so far. There is someplace to go almost every weekend, and the national contest is in November. There will be six girls competing for the national title that Christine Wallace holds this year."

Miss Wallace also attended the local rodeo this year, riding in the Wednesday parade.

CHARRO AND DANCING HORSE
... former bullfighter in Mexico

Charro Became Champ At 12

By STEVE HULTMAN

At the age of 12, "Charro" Gomez became the champion cowboy, or Charro, of Mexico.

"I held the title for eight years," said Gomez. "The championship of Mexico is judged on riding, roping, bull riding and bronc riding."

"That is where I learned to handle a rope. Part of the competition involves horse catches, where we throw a loop around the front legs of a running horse and throw it forward," he said.

"Charro" has also done the "Pass of Death," in which the end of the rope is tied around the cowboy's neck before he throws the horse. The best ropers throw the rope just as the rope tightens on their neck.

"We may do some horse catches here, but I will not throw the horse, just catch the front legs or the back legs or all four legs," Gomez said.

Bullfighting was another of "Charro's" talents before he came to the United States last year.

"I have killed over 1,200 bulls in the 18 years I was a bullfighter."

Charro has fought in Mexico, Spain, Portugal and Panama.

"My last bullfight was last year," he said.

"Ei Catel," "Charro's" dancing Arabian horse, is really "Al Calde" and one of the true Andalusian horses from Portugal.

BULLFIGHT HORSE
The horse (Al Calde) was a bullfighting horse in Portugal before I had him," said Gomez. "He had 77 bulls killed off of him by the horseback matadors in Portugal."

"I have only had him since November, but he is so intelligent that he has already learned new routines since I got him."

The stallion, which cost his owner $10,000 in Portugal, received some specialized training before he left the country.

GOVERNMENT OK

"He is also one of the government approved horses of Portugal, and has a stamp on his neck to show he is representative of the best of the horses of Portugal," Gomez said.

"Our first show was in January, and Al Calde has been doing better every show."

Gomez said he likes America and Americans. "I have really enjoyed traveling around to the different rodeos. The Big Spring rodeo is a good one, although the wind Wednesday did make my roping a little hard to do."

CBS Chief, Probers Fuss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edging toward a court test of what a broadcaster can deny Congress, House probers indicate they will press contempt charges against an unbending network chief.

Climaxing a four-hour confrontation Thursday, Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., chairman of the Commerce Committee and its investigating panel, ordered Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, "to comply with the committee subpoena."

"YES, I DO" Repeating what he had said every time he was asked to supply such subpoenaed material as film or sound recordings not used in the televised documentary "The Selling of the Pentagon," Stanton replied: "I respectfully decline."

"We must have those outtakes," Staggers demanded, hammering his desk as he accused CBS of distortion through electronic manipulation and mismatching of questions and answers. The issue is not First Amendment press freedom, he said, it is whether the network tried to practice deception or fraud through its editing.

When Staggers asked whether Stanton realized he could be found in contempt, the network executive twice responded, "yes, I do."

IN CONTEMPT

Ordered to supply the material, Stanton said, "I respectfully decline." Staggers told him: "In my opinion, you are now in contempt."

Later, apparently ready to press for a recommendation to the full Commerce Committee, Staggers told reporters the subcommittee's decision may be made next week. If the committee goes along, it would be up to the House whether to send the case to the Justice Department for prosecution.

If deceptions are "allowed to happen, the era of Big Brother has arrived," Staggers said. When television executives "can control America... the thoughts of Americans."

But Stanton said the panel could not constitutionally compel CBS to produce the subpoenaed materials or give oral testimony for such a purpose.

"If newsmen are told that their notes, films and tapes will be subject to compulsory process so that the government can determine whether the news has been satisfactorily edited," he added, "the scope, nature and vigor of their news-gathering and reporting activities will inevitably be curtailed."

CRUCIFIED

Staggers said he was making no personal attack on Stanton. "I blame your organization... Jesus picked 12 disciples and one sold Him for 30 pieces of silver, another deserted Him on the night He was crucified, and another doubted Him when He came back."

Airlift Of Texans To Plead For POWs In Europe Erased

AUSTIN (AP)—Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes has called off his plan to airlift 1,300 Texans to Europe and Russia to plead for the release of American prisoners of war.

Barnes wrote the group Thursday that he was cancelling the August trip because Russia won't let the Texans in the country on a POW mission.

NO WORD

"In addition," Barnes said, "we can get no indication from North Vietnamese officials that they will even receive us in Paris. They have been keeping other groups cooling their heels and have given no evidence that they will treat us any differently."

Plans included a candlelight procession in Paris up the Champs Elysee to and around the Arc of Triumph Aug. 3 and visits there with representatives of North Vietnam and the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong).

PAYING OWN WAY

The delegation also planned to call on the North Vietnamese embassy in Stockholm Aug. 4 and the Communist embassies in Moscow Aug.

Barnes was to lead the delegation, which was paying its own way.

Wives of men from the Dallas-Fort Worth area held captive in Vietnam said this weekend Barnes had accepted an "unconditional" obligation to lead the delegation to Europe.

A letter from the North Texas Chapter of the League of Families of American Prisoners of War and Missing in Southeast Asia said "the greatest injury will be if Barnes 'doesn't do anything at all after making the commitment'."

WATER HAUL

The idea for the trip originated with Ross Perot, Dallas computer executive, who challenged Texas officials to do something about obtaining the release of American prisoners of war.

"Mr Perot, we accept your challenge," Barnes replied.

Barnes said in his letter Thursday that if there should be an unexpected change in the North Vietnamese attitude in Paris, he will ask a committee of private citizens to make the Paris trip.

He said he had written the Texas delegation earlier of the lack of progress in arranging contact with the Russians and the North Vietnamese "and my belief that cancellation of the August trip would be far preferable to a water haul."

He said those who replied "agreed with this feeling."

LETTER TO EDITOR

'Acquiesce To Injustice?' Is Question To Ministers

TO THE EDITOR:

This letter is in response to the ministers' statement, "no one can be a winner" in the June 23, 1971, edition of The Herald. My letter is based on the premise that the manner in which Chief Banks was fired was an unjust act on the part of Commissioners Choate, Acree and Watkins. These ministers seek to discourage the recall petitions as a means of ending strife in our community.

It was surprising to learn that some of the very ministers who preach so adamantly against compromise in any form, suggest that many of the citizens of Big Spring compromise their principles for the sake of unity. Granted, the compromise of which they speak from the pulpit is of a spiritual nature but apparently these ministers consider this city matter a spiritual thing, as they quoted scripture and identified themselves as "ministers of the gospel" rather than private citizens. Even more surprising was their implication that injustice to "one or a dozen" should be overlooked in the interest of the "life and health of the community." Are these men suggesting that Christian people adopt a moral code of placidly acquiescing to injustice as long as it only happens to a few? Whereas they imply that the petitions for recall are vindictive measures, I view them as a means wisely provided by the city charter to solve these problems, to prevent further injustices and to relieve the "state of insecurity" in which the city employees have lived since the election of the present commission. It seems that the recall petitions are the only answers to restoring unity, since it is obvious that the city commission is hopelessly split, as is evidenced by the recurring 3-2 vote.

I wonder why these ministers did not come forth with their plea for unity and understanding before the firing of Chief Banks. In doing so they could possibly have prevented injustice as well as disunity.

The ministers, in their statement, have ignored that there is a problem other than disunity and indicate that all our community needs to do is to "recognize... wrongs and share the blame" to rectify the situation. The naivete expressed by these ministers throughout their statement, in my opinion, are representative of the attitudes that have helped create the present situation in our City Government.

Military Training Not Required

KERRVILLE — For the first time since the school opened in 1923, military training is not to be a part of the educational program at Schreiner Institute.

Though Schreiner has never been primarily a military school, courses in military science had always been offered as a part of the academic program. "The ultimate goals for the school have not changed," Dr. Sam M. Junkin, president, noted.

Fireworks Display Set

Fireworks will again blossom over Scenic Mountain in fountains, stars and rockets of red, green, white and gold fire.

Webb AFB and the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the annual Fourth of July fireworks display, according to Webb AFB project officer Lt. Raymond Kellog.

The display will last from 30 to 45 minutes beginning at 9:30 p.m. July 4. The viewing area is the valley area north of Scenic Mountain behind the National Guard Armory just off FM 700.

Wax Museum Exhibit Is Here

About $50,000 in life-sized wax figures of famous persons included in Robinson's Wax Museum will be on display through Sunday in the Highland Shopping Center.

Designed for family and educational entertainment, the museum includes 23 figures of famous persons including Einstein, George Washington Carver, Abraham Lincoln, John F. Kennedy, Jackie Kennedy Onassis and Lyndon and Lady Bird Johnson.

The figures take about three months to make," she said. "Each strand of hair is individually placed with a hot needle, and the eyes are glass surgical eyes."

Also included in the collection are Sammy Davis Jr., Frank Sinatra, Robert Kennedy and the Beatles.

One of the many attractions during the 1971 Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, the mobile museum has been shown at state fairs throughout the United States and Canada.

Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 16.

'Texas Star' Has Feature On Houston

A loving look at the star-sighted city of Houston, notes from an ingenious Texas Ranger fighting the fence-cutters war in 1888, and the funny faces of an entertaining plumber are featured in this week's edition of The Texas Star magazine, a part of the Herald's Sunday feature package.

Mickey Herskowitz writes frankly and fondly about "The City That Does" in an article that explains why Houston is larger than life-size.

Jimmy Banks builds an intriguing tale around letters from a Texas Ranger who thought "dynamite booms" — or dynamite bombs — would discourage oldtime fence-cutters in Navarro County.

A plumber and steamfitter who doubles as an entertainer is spotlighted in Dean Boswell's production of "The Many Faces of Charlie Seybert."

And L. A. Wilke recalls a favorite story of the fish-that-almost-got-away in reminding readers of next week's Fishing Fiesta at Freeport.

Also in the Star, Wick Fowler tells why English drivers never run out of gas, Mary Faulk Koock offers a special homemade bread recipe, and Wanda J. Campbell mentions a diamond discovery in Texas.

Senate Votes To Extend Draft Two More Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to extend the draft two more years, sweeten soldiers' pay $2.7 billion and chart an Indochina withdrawal plan disowned in advance by the White House.

But after seven weeks of debate the Senate's 71 to 16 approval Thursday of the draft extension bill may well be too late for Congress to finish final action before the present Selective Service Act expires next Wednesday midnight.

FILIBUSTER THREAT

Some senators threaten a filibuster if a House-Senate conference kills or weakens an end-the-war amendment added by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

The Mansfield amendment calls for a phased withdrawal of U.S. troops over nine months if all U.S. prisoners of war are released. It is likely to receive a cool reception both in conference and on the House floor.

House antiwar forces never have mustered more than 158 congressmen to vote for any Vietnam withdrawal amendment.

DOZEN DIFFERENCES

The conference has more than a dozen differences to reconcile between the House and Senate versions of the bill. One of the most important is an amendment by Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., which raised the military pay boost to the same level approved by the House, but spread most of it among lower ranks.

Some senators had hoped to kill the draft outright as a means of forcing the military to adopt the all-volunteer armed force concept now.

The Nixon administration hopes the increased pay can prepare for an all-volunteer force after June 30, 1973. It says the draft will be needed until it is proven better pay and conditions really can attract suitable volunteers.

The Senate bill does limit the number of men who can be drafted to 130,000 the first year and 140,000 the second. The Defense Department has indicated considerably less than those numbers will be required, unless there is a national emergency.

NEW RIGHTS

Among other major Senate-added provisions: —Cut 100,000 men off the overall 2.5 million force level approved by the House.

—Retain the two-year period of alternative civilian service that must be served by conscientious objectors. The House voted for three years service.

—Require the military to train experts to treat an increasingly large number of men who become addicted to drugs while in service.

—Exempt from the draft persons in families that have lost a father, son or brother in combat.

—Grant new rights to persons appealing their draft status, such as the right to have an attorney present.

—Ask the President to appoint future members of local draft boards with an eye to the race, color and ethnic and religious characteristics of most of the men they process.

Jewish Defense League Lashed

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — George Bush, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, says demonstrations by militant groups that support Jews in the Soviet Union may hamper diplomatic efforts on their behalf.

"The outrageous, illegal acts of those attempting to do something about the problem are harming it," he said Thursday at the annual dinner of the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce.

He singled out the militant Jewish Defense League, which has carried on demonstrations against members of the Soviet missions to the United Nations.

Bush said the JDL actions make it "far more difficult to find support for Soviet Jewry at the United Nations."

Soviet-American Joint Space Mission Muled

HOUSTON (AP) — American and Russian space officials end discussions today on a possible joint space mission to test a compatible "rendezvous and docking system the country are developing.

Officials said the formal discussions will end about noon today, and the 19 Russians will then tour the Astrodome and the Astroworld.

The Russians arrived Sunday night and formal talks began Monday. U. S. officials said Wednesday the discussions included the possibility of flying joint space missions using existing spacecraft. One source indicated this could mean a joint mission as early as 1973.

Officials said Thursday no news conference would be held today and that no more details about a possible joint space flight would be disclosed.

The Russians leave Houston Saturday.

Death Sentence For Slayer Of Rich Woman Commuted

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — A man assessed death in the electric chair seven years ago for the bludgeoning slaying of a wealthy Midland woman has received a commutation of sentence to life in prison.

Gov. Preston Smith acted Thursday in the case of James Lee Marion.

Marion was convicted at Lubbock in 1964 of killing Mrs. Fred Turner, 66, in her home here Oct. 29, 1963.

Her husband, one of the Southwest's wealthiest oilmen, was the owner of Tomy Lee, 1959 winner of the Kentucky Derby.

Marion, 22 at the time of the slaying, had been granted 18 stays of execution.

Clyde Whiteside, a member of the State Pardons Board, said the lesser sentence was based on an order by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Defense lawyer Warren Burnett of Odessa based the appeal to the federal court on the U.S. Supreme Court's Witherspoon decision that held automatic disqualification of prospective jurors with reservations about the death penalty is unconstitutional.

Whiteside said the appellate court had ordered the state to resentence Marion to a term not exceeding life imprisonment, to retry him or to dismiss the case.

Burnett said the governor's order "concludes my connection with this case" and he will file a motion in a Lubbock district court asking that he be allowed to withdraw.

Letters To The Editor

The current controversy over so many facets of the city's administration has brought a natural reaction of many "letters to the editor."

For citizens to use this means of expressing their own views is within the natural democratic process. The Herald respects the opinions of those who write responsibly, and accepts its responsibility of publishing letters so written, regardless of which "side" is taken.

It perhaps is well at this time for The Herald to reiterate its long standing policies with regards to letters from readers.

First, there is a limitation of space on most days, and publication has to fit in with space availability.

Second, the newspaper can consider only those letters whose authors are clearly identified as to bona fide name and address. We regard those who want to hide behind the cloak of anonymity as not being entitled to a public audience.

Third, this newspaper reserves the right to accept or reject letters, but certainly will use its most honorable means to see that different sides of a controversy are presented in balance. Sometimes authors lose restraint and propriety.

Fourth, The Herald also reserves the right to edit letters addressed to the editor. Here again, space is one factor, and voluminous letters very likely cannot be printed in full. It is suggested that the letters be brief and held to the salient points. References which approach upon the libelous, or which are worded scurrilously toward individuals will be deleted. Endless repetitions and manifestly irresponsible claims will call for editing.

The newspaper hopes that letters are kept in good taste, unemotional in tone, and free of personal revilement.

Encouraging Report

The first quarter returns received by the City of Big Spring from the city sales taxes confirms a trend which was evidenced in the first quarter bank statements.

When the bank figures reflected new records and an all-time high on first-quarter business, some wanted to see if this would be borne out by subsequent developments.

Now that the $100,831 coming to the state is up by more than 10 per cent, it must be conceded that sales substantiate in part the previously reflected gains. The percentage of increase is considerably above the inflation factor, indicating a brisker business climate. And, of course, the city can use that $11,000 more than for the first quarter last year.

Bad Publicity

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — All over the world they are talking about what is being called the "Pentagon Study." It is being regarded generally as an authoritative document — even though it isn't at all comprehensive, and in many respects isn't even authentic. Yet newspapers here and in European countries are commenting on it as if it were telling the "inside" story of how the United States fumbled the ball in its efforts to handle the Vietnam problem.

BUT THE MEN who are out of high office today — those who served in the Kennedy administration and in the Johnson administration — as well as those who are officials of the Nixon administration know that the problem wasn't as simple as some of the researchers and critics are trying to make it appear. For unquestionably one of the consequences will be a prolongation of the war.

The Hanoi government, for instance, after reading the comments in the American press, will be led to conclude that there is no need to make any concessions to the United States government at the peace negotiations in Paris or to reduce military efforts in the months ahead when American troop withdrawals will approach the final stages.

THE MAJOR QUESTION is whether the Communists have been helped, directly or indirectly, through the influence upon American public opinion by the publication of the incomplete and perhaps misleading "study." This has tended to disparage the American government — its sincerity and its integrity — and to give the impression that the United States had only a sinister purpose in entering and continuing the war in Vietnam. The noble and honorable objectives of saving a small nation from being crushed by Communist dictatorship now is being brushed aside as inconsequential.

EVEN IN THIS country, the idea of furnishing help to the weak nations in other parts of the world is considered by some persons as something to be avoided. Yet, as one looks back to the days before World War I and before World War II, when "isolationists" used the same arguments and America was regarded as unwilling to give assistance to any of the free countries abroad, there was hardly any credence given to the suggestion that a world war might prove to be the ill-fated result of it all.

TODAY, WHEN both Red China and the Soviet Union possess nuclear weapons and the United States is pledged to protect its allies in Europe and Asia, there has again been a decided shift in public opinion in America toward "isolationism." The anti-Vietnam war agitators have convinced many people — perhaps even a majority — that the United States had no business getting into the Vietnam war and should pull out at once, even though this amounts to a surrender.

Some of the editorials in European papers indicate a belief on the part of foreign peoples and governments that the United States will have a difficult time coming to the aid of its allies if they should be threatened with an attack.

THE PRINTING of the "Pentagon Study" has been a piece of bad publicity for the American government. It is unfortunate that some of the top men in the Johnson administration and the Nixon administration have not denounced it in vigorous terms. The American people should be told that the United States government has been endeavoring to perform a real service in Southeast Asia — and intends to continue to aid the cause of small nations who may be subjected any day to aggression by the Communists.

'I'LL JUST LET YOU SEE THE GOOD PARTS'

Answer To High Tuition Costs

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — American industry has a lot to learn and a lot to teach, but few if any approach the matter in quite the same way as insurance, which operates a campus in the sky, the College of Insurance, in the financial district here.

Fully accredited since 1967 as a degree-granting institution, the college is one of about 200 work-study institutions in the country, but it is perhaps unique in being so closely allied, endorsed and supported by a single industry.

All students have jobs in the industry. Many of the instructors come from nearby insurance company offices.

C of I could become a model for other industries desirous of assuring themselves of highly trained personnel. And it might be a partial answer to the problem of high tuition costs, which affects so many youngsters.

Three hundred undergraduates participate in the college's work-study program. Four months of study is followed by four months working for an insurance company sponsor at a minimum beginning salary of $90 a week.

The student's study in classrooms and lecture halls on the ninth floor of a commercial office building. Fifty per cent of their courses are in liberal arts, 25 per cent in business and 25 per cent in insurance.

They may work just a few doors away, although many of the students return to their home cities for their work period. Those who remain in the city can live in dormitories at $100 a month, room and board.

Tuition is $800 for each four-month semester, but the sponsor pays 2-3 of this often pays for books and sometimes even helps pay living expenses. And if the student remains with his company after graduation he may receive a refund of his tuition payments.

After five years the student BS in actuarial science, a total has a BBA in insurance or a 2 1/2 years of actual experience, at least $12,000 in earnings—more if fringe benefits are included—and a bright future.

"Students may get offers of $9,000 to $11,000 upon graduation," says Dean Robert Strain, a former Texas insurance commissioner and once professor at the University of Texas and Indiana University. Graduates are readily accepted. Rapport in general between the industry and the school is close. Many executives teach there. Many have taken part-time courses. Many use its vast insurance library.

The spirit of the students appears to be high. There is little opportunity for organized extracurricular activities—although there is a school paper and a basketball team—but the students never expected many amenities.

How does a student apply? By writing to the college at 150 William St. He is then given a test and a personal interview near his home.

"The applicant doesn't have to be a stright-A student," says Strain, "but he must be smart, have the personality to get along well in business and have a real interest in being in the college."

Smugglers' Foe

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — If there is to be a hero in President Nixon's new "national emergency" campaign against drug addiction, his name could well turn out to be Myles Joseph Ambrose, a New York Irishman with the physique of a defensive tackle and the burning impatience of a Zola.

AMBROSE IS the U. S. Commissioner of Customs. As such he runs — bulldozes might be a better word — the nation's first line of defense in the war against the multi-billion-dollar narcotics racket. For there could be no narcotics racket if there were no narcotics smugglers.

The figures tell the story: Ninety per cent of the marijuana used in this country comes from abroad, 85 per cent of it from Mexico. And 100 per cent of the opium, cocaine and heroin is brought in from overseas. As Ambrose is fond of saying to anyone who will listen, "Stop the smuggling and you've got the problem licked."

IT IS NO accident that Nixon's request for $155-million additional to combat drug addiction contains an extra $18-million for the Bureau of Customs and $1-million to help other nations train law enforcement officers. The 44-year-old commissioner, youngest in the bureau's history, has been campaigning for more money for his shop since he took over two years ago.

NO ONE knows how much dope is smuggled into the U. S., but it amounts to at least $1-billion worth, and Ambrose worries that it may be closer to twice that amount. An angry man, Myles Ambrose is particularly outraged by the smuggling operations of so-called respectable individuals who hobnob with members of the Beautiful People crowd in Monte Carlo, Deauville, New York and Washington, spending millions earned in the dope traffic.

So far, the Customs Bureau has been unable to produce admissible evidence against these big-time traffickers in slow death, but, in police language, Ambrose and his men "know" who they are. "We will get them," says Ambrose, "and there'll be some surprises for newspaper readers."

MEANWHILE, Ambrose admits he has made traveling a touch less convenient for Americans. He has retained the accelerated routine that cuts the average inspection time from 45 minutes to 15 minutes, but passengers no longer can count on it. There are more "blitz" inspections of all luggage on certain airline flights, and more travelers with seemingly impeccable credentials are discovering that they are suspect.

"WE'RE GOING to use any approach we can to stop narcotics smuggling," says Ambrose. "A great many of the offenders arrested in the last year were youthful amateurs — persons in the 20- to 25-year age group with no previous criminal records. That tells us something about what is happening to this country, and it is why we've increased enforcement to the maximum extent."

Ways To Tell Hims From Hers

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you still having trouble telling the sexes apart?

You are? Well, little wonder. Instead of taking pride in looking different, the members of both sexes seem to be more and more determined to look as much alike as possible.

However, this mutual neutralization hasn't gone so far as yet that in most cases a determined bystander can't still figure out the sex of an individual. The question is why he would want to take the bother.

Here, for example, are a few remaining ways to tell the hims from the hers.

If it will still bend over to pick up a dropped penny, it is a middle-age male. If it won't stretch its tight girdle to retrieve anything less than a dime, it's a middle-age female.

If it is always accused of never listening, that's Papa. If it is always accused of never stopping talking, that's Mama.

Put a dinner check on the restaurant table. Does it make little shrill cries of alarm and say it has lost one of its corner lenses? Undoubtedly it's a career woman. Does it simply reach into its pocket and pay the bill? Undoubtedly a career man.

If it wants to go out and have a drink during a family fuss, it's the husband. If it wants to cuddle up and kiss after a family fuss, it's the wife.

Can it forgive quicker than it can forget? A woman. Can it forget sooner than it can forgive? A man.

But what if you are walking behind a couple of teen-agers arm in arm, each wearing long hair, sloppy sweaters, faded and patched denim pants, and political sandals? What about their sex?

If you're real nosy, you might ask their names.

"I'm Pat," says one. "And I'm Terry," says the other.

That's no help. What's in a name any more? The only way to be sure of the sex of a teenager is to be the parent of one and that's too much trouble to ask anybody to go to just to satisfy simple curiosity.

Billy Graham

Before I was converted I was a drunk for 25 years. My problem is since all my friends were drinking friends I now am very lonely. What can I do?

J.L. You apparently are an outgoing person. You made friends at the bar. Now, what is to hinder you from making Christian friends?

Being a Christian doesn't mean that you must be insulated from the world. You should even let your old friends know about the change that has taken place in you. Even our Lord mingled with publicans and sinners, for the purpose of helping them. You should do the same. Jesus said: "Let your light shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your father which is in heaven."

Instead of having just one set of friends, at the bar, now you can have two groups of friends: at church, and the friends you used to know.

One of the great things about being a Christian is to fellowship with other Christians. The apostle knew this when he said, "Forsake not the assembling of yourselves together." This you have failed to do, it seems, and you have experienced loneliness. Now, get a new start, and make friends by being friendly. Your best days are just ahead.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"I overthrew some of you, as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, and you were as a brand plucked out of the burning." (Amos 4:11, RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father, look in mercy on Thy creatures who seek forgiveness for their transgressions. May we never spurn Thy love, given to us through Thy beloved Son, Jesus Christ. Amen.

To Please A Man

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When I see a woman in pants I wonder what's wrong with her legs. If she could ride him in the cannot for the life of me understand why a woman with good-looking legs would wear pants. And another thing, men love long hair on their women. I don't know one man who likes to see a woman in a mannish haircut. Give us men ladies with long hair and short skirts! LOVES THE LAIDES

DEAR ABBY: Some women wear pants for convenience, but if a woman wants to please a man, she will indeed let her locks grow and her legs show.

DEAR ABBY: I own a really good horse and I am going to has always stayed in the background. She has a girl friend I'll call Janice. Janice is pushy and loud and has a big mouth. Whenever my Sandra makes friends with another girl, this loud-mouthed Janice takes this friend away from her. How can I help Sandra so Janice won't take any more friends away from her?

SANDRA'S MOTHER: Sandra will have to cultivate and maintain her own friendships. No one can "take" a friend away as if she were a sack of flour. Mothers who try to run interference for their children in such matters tend to weaken, not strengthen them.

DEAR ABBY: My sister's husband died eight years ago, leaving her with sons, ages 4 and 5. Sis seemed so alone and helpless, so Ralph and I encouraged her to come over often. Ralph and I had a good marriage and a nine-year-old daughter.

It all happened so gradually I never knew it was taking place, but you guessed it. Sis was so much like me, only six years younger, and she soon replaced me.

Ralph is now Sis' husband. He's adopted her two sons, and I am now the extra woman. How I wish I had told my sister not to come so often. It may have been effective to say Ralph didn't like it.

Pilot Cheers Up Paralyzed Youth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tom Hooks, who dreamed of being a pilot before he was paralyzed in a diving accident three weeks ago, has his wings.

"The enclosed wings have flown several million miles," wrote Capt. Meredith C. Shaw in a note with his pilot's wings to the 18-year-old Venice, Ill., youth at George Washington Hospital.

After Operation

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had an operation, my womb and one tube removed. The doctor didn't explain what changes would take place, and I was embarrassed to ask at my age, 38. I should know.

Will I notice any difference when I go through the change of life? Will I have any discharge, or menstruate? Is there any chance whatsoever of my getting pregnant?—N.S.

I don't know why you "should" know just because you're 38. The best way to find out things you don't know is to ask — and don't be embarrassed. Nobody knows everything.

You had the womb, or uterus, removed. (That's hysterectomy.) And a tube removed (salpingectomy). But evidently you did not have an ovary removed. (That would be oophorectomy.)

With the uterus gone, you cannot get pregnant, and will not menstruate. There will be a discharge only if some infection of the vagina develops, which is usually due to a parasite (trichomonas) or yeast invasion. Such infections can, of course, develop whether you do or do not have a uterus.

There will be no change in sexual function unless you create it psychologically, and believe some of the unfounded reports that are still being circulated about such operations "ending your sex life." They don't.

With your ovaries intact, you can expect to experience menopause, or "change of life" at the same time you would have done so without the operation, probably somewhere in your 40s, possibly as late as early 50s.

Symptoms of menopause can be highly variable, but this is not because of your operation. The operation will have nothing to do with it. (But had both ovaries been removed, then you would have experienced "surgical menopause" immediately.)

Some people recommend a diet high in fats, but since most of us eat more fats than we need anyway, I have reservations on that. I doubt whether it helps the skin, and for the long-term effect on health, we're all better off not to get too much fat.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for his booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

New Heroin Detection Test Administered To AGIs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new heroin detection test now administered to all GIs leaving Vietnam has already proven itself an effective, hard-to-beat means of finding hard drug users, its developers say.

They said the rapid, highly sensitive process, in combination with the best of older methods, is already used by their technicians to screen more than 2,500 urine samples daily.

Mrs. Bette Hamman, the laboratory's chief toxicologist, said many of the samples come from patients already under treatment, or about to enter treatment, at centers dispensing methadone, a chemical designed to wean addicts away from heroin.

Lone Star Gas Co. Asks Price Hike

COLORADO CITY — Lone Star Gas Company has asked the Texas Railroad Commission for authority to get a monthly "cost of living" adjustment in its intra-city rate.

Representatives from 275 Texas cities — including Colorado City — heard the request in prepared company testimony Monday in Austin.

The cities have a postponement until July 28 to examine Lone Star testimony.

When the adjustment request goes before the Railroad Commission again later this month, attorneys for the cities will question gas company officials as groundwork for opposition to the plan.

Dallas City Attorney Alex Bickley will head up the cities opposition which is being organized by the Texas Municipal League.

Horoscope

TOMORROW — CARROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A smile and a word of encouragement to others and a word of praise to yourself.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Show your true colors. Be forthright and direct with others and all is well.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) You may not see persons in the outside world who are vital to your well-being.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Not a good day to rush off on some trip without first having all the facts you need to make a success of it.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Not a day for unwise investments or spending money you can ill afford.

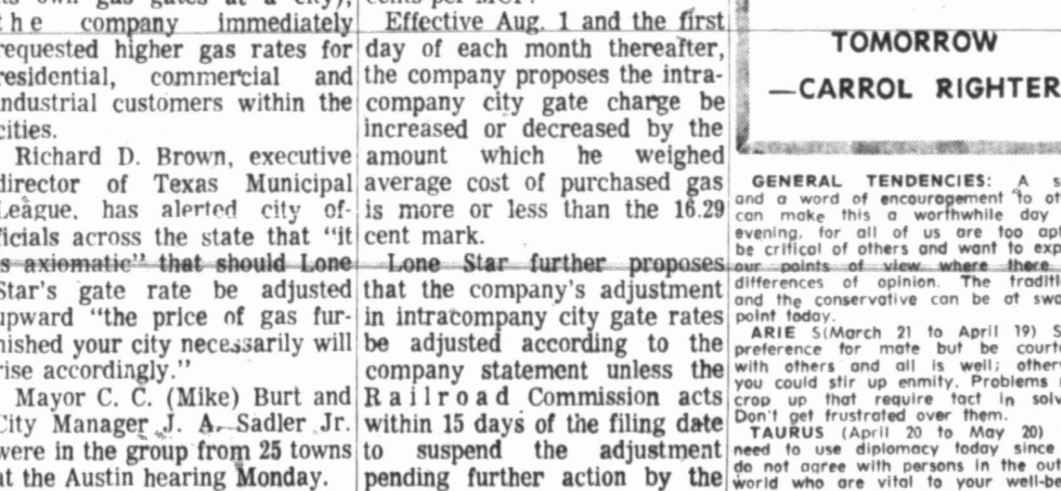

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Spending too much for pleasure or to help some friend is not wise, since you need to economize right now.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22) A good day to do something you do not approve of, so steer clear of these activities yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Your own activities could get in the way of those of kin, so try to plan your time wisely to avoid conflict of interests.

SOLD FOR MILLIONS — This is Titian's "Death of Actaeon" which was sold today in a London auction house for $4,023,000.

Buyer was a London art dealer who declined to say who he bought it for. Painting depicts legend of Actaeon disturbing the goddess Diana at her bath. For his temerity, she changed him into a stag, and her dogs tore him to pieces.

LONELY HOOTER — Al, a Mexican screech owl, perches on the shoulder of his owner, or rather protector, Mrs. Robert Owens of Corpus Christi. Mrs. Owens and her husband acquired Al over a year ago when her father found the owl when it staggered from its nest. After Mrs. Owens raised the bird to full size she set it free, but the next day he was back at the Owens home and hasn't left since.

Lamesa Attorney Hands Over Gavel

LAMESA — Local attorney, Karl Cayton, director of the 19th Bar district, will present his board successor, Roy Bass of Lubbock, at board meetings June 30 and July 3 when more than 4,000 lawyers and judges attend the 90th meeting of the Texas State Bar in Dallas at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.
Former Texas Gov. John Connally, secretary of the U. S. Treasury, will address the general assembly July 2 at 9 a.m.
Comedian Bob Hope will headline the President's Dinner July 2 at the Great Hall in Appare Mart. Citations will be presented to lawyers who have practiced 50 years or more by Morris Harrell, president of the 20,000-member organization.
At the June 30 meeting Hilton H. Howell of Waco, chairman of the Committee on Public Relations, will present $4,000 in cash awards to winners of the annual Journalism Awards Competition.

There are four categories in the contest: daily newspapers, weekly newspapers, radio and television.
U. S. Sen. Edmond Muskie will address the annual luncheon of the Texas Trial Lawyers Association July 1.
James C. Watson of Corpus Christi will succeed Harrell as president of the state bar association at a board meeting July 3.
Assault Charge Hits Jane Fonda
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda has been charged with assault and battery and disorderly conduct in new affidavits filed in connection with an alleged assault on a Cleveland policeman last November.
The affidavits were filed Thursday by Police Prosecutor Everett Chandler. A Municipal Court judge had thrown out an assault charge against Miss Fonda Wednesday on the grounds that the prosecutor failed to put specific information in the affidavit.
The assault charge stems from an incident last Nov. 3 when Miss Fonda was detained at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport after a flight from Canada. A city policeman claimed she kicked him when he went to the aid of a U.S. customs agent. Federal charges of assaulting a customs agent and bringing pills into the country fraudulently were dismissed May 28.

Lamesa Co-Chairman For Cotton Campaign
LAMESA — Donell Echols of Lamesa and Dr. J. E. Hutchison, College Station, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, have been appointed co-chairmen for Texas in a Cotton Belt-wide campaign to obtain "better cotton yields for profits and markets" in 1971.
The objective of the drive is to increase cotton yields to the maximum profitable level, utilizing recommended practices for each cotton-producing area, and to improve producer income, Echols and Hutchison said.
The goal includes the stabilization of cotton's current competitive position and the building of a base for market expansion.
Special industry-government task forces are being set up in 14 major cotton-producing states with the over-all drive coordinated by the National Cotton Council and the Extension Services.
The effort was launched at a press conference called by Clifford Hardin, secretary of agriculture in Washington earlier this month.
The conference was attended by National Cotton Council President C. R. Sayre of Greenwood, Miss. They pointed out that factors stressing the need for maximum profitable cotton production are:
—This is a decisive year due to a critical supply situation.
—The offtake for 1970-71 is a projected 11 million bales as compared with 10 1/2 million in

South Viets In Eye Corps Ask Why Yankees Leaving

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — U.S. advisers all agree on what to expect:
—Major battles involving thousands of troops in the mountainous border regions near Laos, with heavy enemy pressure on the first line of defense, a string of South Vietnamese artillery bases guarding traditional infiltration routes.
—Stepped-up shellings of cities and towns in the coastal lowlands, with sporadic forays by enemy units no larger than company size.
—Continuation of rocket attacks on Da Nang, which has been hit eight times since April 26.
—Shellings and harassing attacks against firebases along the demilitarized zone, but no large incursions across the buffer strip dividing North and South Vietnam.
—Increased terrorism and Viet Cong political activity in the villages to prevent people from voting in the lower house election Aug. 29 and the presidential election Oct. 3.
Lam is convinced the Laotian invasion which he commanded earlier this year, known as Lam Son 719, so disrupted North Vietnamese supply lines that the enemy will be able to conduct only big-unit actions in the unpopulated border regions.
His American military advisers generally agree.
PEAK STRENGTH
Intelligence officers say enemy strength in Eye Corps is at a peak of about 45,000 combat troops, consisting of 30,000 North Vietnamese regulars and about 15,000 in Viet Cong units. Local guerrillas and Viet Cong political cadres add another 20,000 to 35,000 to this total.
In addition, says Lam, Hanoi has two to three reserve divisions just across the DMZ, a fourth combat division in Laos, and about 30,000 "transportation troops" along the Ho Chi Minh trail.
To counter this, Eye Corps has about 290,000 allied troops—50,000 South Vietnamese regulars, 5,000 South Korean ma-

Pot Aplenty At Rockfest

MCCREA, La. (AP) — With young music fans yawning at the approach of sunrise, rock musicians ended their first concert early this morning at the "Celebration of Life" festival.
The music cranked up Thursday night, and it was enthusiastically received by the thousands of young people who paid $28 and filed into the delayed event. Estimates of their number ranged as high as 50,000.
Daily afternoon rainstorms have turned the 700 acres of tents, cars and vans into a vast bog, and some kids were tired of not hearing the paid entertainment.
"After five days there have been so many rip-offs (arguments), it will take the music to bring them back together," said one youth from Providence, R.I., who said he had been tangled in the Pointe Coupee Parish traffic jam for five days.
