'CELEBRATION OF LIFE' LURES 50,000 Three Deaths Mar Rock Festival

McCREA, La. (AP) — Two persons drowned Saturday and another was shot during a confrontation between a group of youths and a narcotics agent at a rock festival which has drawn 50,000 to a tract of river-side farmland, police reported.

The Pointe Coupee Parish sheriff's office said the two bodies were recovered from the Atchafalaya River, where thousands of youths sought relief from the intense heat and dust.

The bodies were not identified at once.

Maj. John Tomas of the state police narcotics division said the narcotics agent was attempting to make an arrest when the shooting occurred. He said when a crowd moved in on the officer and began throwing sticks and bottles, warning shots were fired and the unidentified youth was hit in the leg.

Thomas, who was not at the scene, said he did not know who fired the shots.

The scheduled eight-day "Celebration of Life" festival, being held on a tract of land between the Atchafalaya and Mississippi rivers, began Wednesday.

Dr. William Abruzzi, in charge of the festival medical staff, said some 1,000 to 1,500 persons were being treated daily, including some 150 to 200 cases of drug overdoses. Abruzzi has supervised medical operation at several other rock festivals, including Woodstock.

"My situation is that I feel like a policeman," Abruzzi said. "I am able to get water when I scream loud enough. I am able to get medical supplies when I cause enough of a hassle. I am able to get garbage picked up when I cry loud enough."

"But," he added, "although we're scrambling, we are running an effective health operation where all of the kids are safe and in good hands." One member of Abruzzi's staff said severe sunburn was the most common affliction.

Meanwhile, festival promoters said local service organization would provide food for the hundreds of patrons who did not bring enough food or who do not want to wait in line at a nearby rural grocery store.

Some 1,000 loaves of bread, peanut butter and canned goods have already been donated by residents of the Baton Rouge area, officials said.

Festival promoters have encountered problems ever since they won a legal fight to stage the event on the 730-acre site. The federal government has filed more than $777,000 in liens against the $1.5 million gate.

Law officers armed with shotguns ousted about 30 members of the Galloping Geos motorcycle gang Friday. They had been hired for security work but Sheriff F.A. Smith of Point Coupee Parish said the bikers had been beating up and robbing some of the patrons.

Ellsberg To Surrender Monday, Lawyers Say

Rights Of Free Press At Issue

By The Associated Press
The U.S. Supreme Court heard arguments Saturday on whether the government can prevent the press from publishing secret Vietnam documents, and attorneys for the man who is reported to have leaked the papers announced in Boston he will surrender to federal authorities Monday.

COURT RECESSES
The court recessed after a 2½-hour hearing, giving no indication when it would rule in the historic case in which the government's right to function and the rights of a free press were at issue.

Meanwhile, the government obtained a court order restraining the St. Louis Post-Dispatch from publishing more articles based on the documents, which were part of a 7,000-page study by the Pentagon on how the United States became involved in Southeast Asia.

Previously restrained were The New York Times, the Washington Post and the Boston Globe. It was the question of temporary restraining orders against the Times and Post that reached the Supreme Court.

LEAKED STUDY

At a news conference, an attorney for Prof. Daniel Ellsberg, 40, who was named by a former New York Times reporter as the person who originally leaked the study to the Times, said Ellsberg would appear at 10 a.m. Monday to surrender to the U.S. attorney in Boston. The attorney said Ellsberg was "unequivocally" innocent of Justice Department charges of possessing and failing to return Pentagon documents on the war. Ellsberg, research associate at MIT, was not present at the news conference. His attorneys refused to give their client's whereabouts.

Ellsberg has kept his whereabouts a secret since he was named by Sidney Zion as The Times' source of the documents. Neither Ellsberg nor the Times commented on Zion's allegation.

DISCLOSURES
A federal grand jury in Los Angeles is looking into the disclosures.

The Times began publishing articles on the documents, and some of the documents themselves, two weeks ago. Other newspapers to carry articles identified as being based at least in part on the documents since then were the Post, the Globe, the Post-Dispatch, the Los Angeles Times, Knight Newspapers Inc., and the Chicago Sun-Times.

The government has made no move to restrain the Chicago Sun-Times or the Los Angeles Times. There also was no action against the Knight chain which said after publishing a report on the study last Wednesday that it planned no more dispatches at that time.

On Saturday, Knight distributed to its 11 papers for publication Sunday a second report assertedly based on the Pentagon Papers.

Finale At Rodeo Blends Drama, Fun

One of the best crowds yet turned out Saturday for the last night of the 38th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, termed by many as the best of the long series.

Bobby Steiner, who rode one of the meanest bulls in the string the first night, saw his score stand up through the final performance, and his $693.84 may have been the best of the show.

In all the events except bareback riding and bull riding there were prizes for first and second go-round and for the best average of the two go-rounds.

The events were broken up by some of the best entertainment to come this way in some time, with Ken Curtis, the "Festus" of "Gunsmoke," top attraction. His lively act of singing, dancing and story telling brought a standing ovation from the crowd of approximately 6,000.

Charro Gomez and his dancing horse Al Calde were again a big hit. Gomez astounded the spectators with his roping prowess when he roped a galloping horse by the front feet. The bullfighter clowns earned them pay as bullfighters when they drew bull IX away from cowboy Bernard Robertson, who was hit but not hurt when he and the bull parted company.

The $1,244.40 in prize money in the bareback riding event was split among first place winner Bob Mayo, Fort Worth, 81 points, $497.84; second, Jim Dix, N. Collie, Australia, 69 points, $373.38; third, Jack Ward, Odessa, 65 points, $248.92; and fourth place prize money of $124.26 will be split between Gary Tucker, Carlsbad, N.M., 64 points, and Clyde Vamvoras, Devol, Okla., 64 points.

Over-all winners in the saddle bronc riding split a purse of $284.20. The points listed are the total earned in both rides for each cowboy. First was John Holman, Kaycee, Wyo., 148 points, $113.68; second, Sammy Groves, New Deal, 135, $85.26; Lyne, George West, 117, $58.42; third, Jim Moore, Balmorhea, 128, $56.84; and fourth, Phil lor, Hugo, Okla., 22.1, $281.26. A tie for third place with 22.9 total score resulted in third and fourth place money being combined and a prize of $281.26 being split between Richard Walker, Freer, and Sherrill Overturf, Lubbock.

Cowgirls competed for $305 in prize money in the barrel race event. Scores listed are the total for all rides. First place went to Jeana Day, Woodward, Okla., 37.37, $122; second, Joleen Hurst, Fort Supply, Okla., 37.39, $91.50; third, Pam Upton, San Angelo, 37.71, $61; and fourth, Kathy Bowers, Big Spring, 37.72, $30.50.

Cowboys wrestled hefty steers to the ground for $57.80 in prize money for those with the best total time for two attempts. First prize went to Tommy Puryear, Austin, 11.8, $239.12; second, Ronnie Mathews, Bryan, 11.9, $179.34; Jerry Paveto, Hugo, Okla., 12.4, $119.56; and fourth, Lloyd Hodges, Graham, 13.4, $59.78.

Bobby Steiner, Austin, son of rodeo producer Tommy Steiner, took first place honors in the over-all results in the bull riding (See RODEO, Page 6-A, Col. 2)

15 INTERESTED To Interview City Manager Applicants

Applicants for the office of city manager for the City of Big Spring are being screened, and interviews will begin Monday, Mayor Arnold Marshall said Saturday.

He estimated that the number of applicants received so far was around 15, from which several have been picked for interviews with the council. There is no fixed schedule, but the commission will move as expeditiously as possible, said the mayor.

Mayor Marshall said that there had been a number of inquiries about filling this post, and that he felt that the public should know that the commission was at work toward selecting a successor for Larry Crow, whose resignation becomes effective June 30.

Suspected Murderer Found Shot

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP) — The body of an ex-convict identified as the slayer of a Marshall teen-ager was found Saturday, the victim of an apparent suicide.

Harrison County Sheriff N.F. Shivers of Marshall said the body of Harvey Jordan Norton, 33, of Delton, Mo., was found off U.S. 59 amid empty beer cans 20 miles south of Henderson.

Norton died of a single shot that was fired through the mouth, Shivers said. The time of death placed around 5 a.m. Saturday.

A .22-caliber rifle found near the body was identified as the one stolen from the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eschee of Marshall and used to kill Gary Jordan, 19.

Officers said Norton had been released from prison at Leavenworth, Kan., March 29 after he served a three-year prison term.

Norton's body was identified by the Eschee daughters, Johanna and Patricia, as the man who broke in their trailer home on U.S. 59 at Marshall.

The two girls were alone Thursday morning when a man entered the trailer and threatened them with a knife. He tied them up and found a .22-caliber rifle while searching the residence.

Gonzalez Will Issue New Report On SEC Scandals

DALLAS (AP) — Rep. Henry Gonzalez, who has made severe charges in the Securities and Exchange Commission suits, conviction and investigations, says he will issue another installment Monday.

Federal lawyers were kept busy seeking to counter the San Antonio congressman's allegations.

Earlier, Gonzalez said that a Houston federal grand jury shortly would indict Gov. Preston Smith, House Speaker Gus Mutscher and Texas Democratic party Chairman Elmer Baum, but this did not occur.

During the past week he claimed that the federal judge who let promoter Frank Sharp off with three years' probation and a fine, and then granted him immunity from further prosecution, should have disqualified himself.

Gonzalez said U.S. Dist. Judge John V. Singleton once was a lawyer for Sharp. There were some facts to back up the San Antonian, although U.S. Dist. Atty. Anthony Farris and Sharp himself denied Singleton was a lawyer for the promoter who is the kingpin in all the scandals.

Gonzalez extended an invitation to U.S. Atty. Farris to hear his next speech on the stock manipulation case. He said he will deliver it in Congress Monday. In Houston, Sharp denied that Judge Singleton had ever represented him as a lawyer.

But Gonzalez, returning home from Washington Friday, maintained that his information indicated the judge was "a beneficiary of Sharp," because the judge had been a member of a law firm that once represented Sharp.

The Texas Democrat said the judge should have disqualified himself, whether he was a direct or indirect beneficiary.

Asked for comment on the contention that the judge was only a member of the law firm, Gonzalez replied, "lawyers always have 'outs.'" He called such an explanation an "escape hatch."

Breakout Four Women

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Four armed men masquerading as lawyers talked their way into a women's prison Saturday, shot it out with guards and fled with four inmates. Three guards, a Roman Catholic nun, a policeman and one of the raiders were wounded, police said.

One of the four women freed was identified by police as a former guerrilla. They said she had been convicted of subversive activity in the northern province of Tucuman.

Col. Miguel Angel Paiva, director of institutions, said the four men claimed to be attorneys for prisoners who were admitted to the downtown prison at about 11:35 a.m. Once inside the four drew weapons. The security chief and two guards were wounded in the ensuing shootout.

The nun, who was working among the inmates, was hit on the head with a gun butt when she threw away a ring of keys, Paiva said.

Reviewing the ... Big Spring Week ... with Joe Pickle

From every side there came words of praise for the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, which passed into history with Saturday evening's show. Many proclaimed it as the "best yet" in a series that goes back to 1933. No little of the credit goes to association officials for booking Ken Curtis (Festus), who proved a great attraction. More importantly, he proved to be a compassionate individual, taking time not only to visit the VA and Big Spring State hospitals but also to grasp the hands of hundreds of patients. Adolescents at BSSH almost wouldn't let him go.

Showers of last weekend persisted through Monday morning, adding another inch to two three inches of moisture. The effect on cotton and feed prospects was almost miraculous, and ranges were given a long reprieve plus some stockwater. Lake E. V. Spence came up 6.79 feet for 16,000 acre-feet, and Lake Thomas 1.02 feet for 1,200 acre-feet. Within the past three weeks, the two have gained more than 40,000 acre-feet, four times the total for 1970. Another bonus has been mountain resort-type nights.

Stricter Rules On Mental Centers

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation moved Saturday to gain tighter control over community centers' operations.

A new policy adopted by the board emphasizes cooperation by the local centers with state hospitals for the mentally ill and schools for the retarded.

Failure to comply with rules and standards for community centers "will result in the withholding of funds appropriated to the department for this purpose," the board declared.

The board said the legislature "has made it abundantly clear" that the state mental health agency "must account to the legislature for the effectiveness and economy with which these services are delivered."

"Accordingly," it said, the board must "consider community centers to be an arm of the department" in carrying out the state's policy of encouraging treatment at home instead of in state institutions.

The board told community mental health trustees they may merge fragmented services into "a comprehensive total program" and eliminate duplication of services.

Local boards also were instructed to account for all money spent—whether state funds or not—and prove their ability to cooperate with state institutions in admissions, discharges and follow-up care.

The board also approved a pilot program to get non-walking, severely retarded persons out of state special schools and into nursing homes.

Ninety residents of the Austin and Travis state schools will be placed in nursing homes. The program will be limited to persons receiving federal "medicaid" funds.

The board also said it will build an 18,000-square-foot "intermediate care" facility here for such patients.

Dr. David Wade, state commissioner, said about 60 percent of the patients in Texas schools for the retarded are severely handicapped and "need long-term skilled nursing care and lack rehabilitation potential."

The board approved $33,765 in supplemental state grants to five community centers and a mental retardation training facility. These centers received grants:

- Bell County at Belton $6,000 to assist a camping program for needy mentally retarded children and to help develop an information resource center.
- Austin-Travis County $5,330 for an education program, including radio and television public service announcements.
- Hidalgo County at Edinburg, $7,000 for a summer day school program for emotionally disturbed children.
- Gregg - Harrison counties, Longview - Marshall $2,490 to start a summer opportunity center and recreational program for the retarded.
- Waco - McLennan County, $9,129 to train high school and college students to care for retarded children and to develop a "sheltered work crew" for retardates 21 and older.
- Lamar Opportunity Center Inc., at Paris $3,816 to develop a day care center for 20 retarded children.

Midland Charge Filed In Case Of Missing Woman

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Charges of assault with attempt to murder have been filed in Midland against an Odessa man being questioned in the week-old disappearance of Mrs. Gloria Sue Green in Odessa.

The man's lawyer, Tom Sneed of Odessa, charged harassment and termed the Midland charge "a holding tactic to give Odessa more time."

The Odessa man has been termed by Ector County lawmen a suspect in the disappearance June 17 of Mrs. Green, an attractive Odessa divorcee. She disappeared from the office of O&L Well Service Co. leaving behind her shoes, purse and car.

Officers at that time said they feared foul play and put out an all-points bulletin for the Odessa man.

He has not been charged in connection with the Green case. With Sneed's consent the Odessa man was taken to Lubbock Thursday night for a polygraph test.

Of the Midland charge, Sneed said, "They needed that to hold him because they didn't have any evidence to hold him in the Green case."

"It looks like harassment to me," Sneed said. "They are restraining this man of his liberty to give themselves more time."

In addition to Mrs. Green, three other area women have disappeared under similar circumstances. A fourth woman also was killed. Her body was found in her Odessa apartment. Officers have not solved any of the cases.

Japan Votes Today On Its Parliament

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's voters choose 226 deputies for the 252-seat upper house of parliament Sunday and major polls predict Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's Liberal-Democratic party will increase its majority.

The Communists and Democratic Socialists will pick up new seats but the No. 1 opposition Socialist party will either remain unchanged or suffer an other setback, the polls indicate.

Although the outcome of the House of Councillors election is unlikely to affect Sato's pro-Western government, Japanese newspapers and political observers are calling it a significant political weathervane for what they describe as a crucial decade.

The upper house—half of whose membership is elected every three years—is more of a watchdog body. Legislative power is vested in the 491-seat House of Representatives. In the lower house's last election Dec. 28, 1969, Sato's party won a surprisingly easy victory.

Some 71.6 million voters are eligible for Sunday's election and early returns will be known Monday morning, complete results by Tuesday.

A total of 106 candidates are running for 50 seats in nationwide contests and 202 for 79 seats in local districts. The candidates for the six-year terms include 15 women.

The campaigning included such issues as Okinawa, relations with Communist China, commodity prices and taxes, pollution, education, socialized medicine and agriculture.

After signing an agreement with the United States June 17 to restore Okinawa to Japanese rule in 1972, Sato's party is banking on popular support.

The opposition parties maintain the agreement paves the way for the introduction of nuclear arms to Japan.

The city had good news in the report of $100,831 net as its sales tax share for the first quarter of the year, up from the $89,397 for the same period a year ago. Even after inflation is squeezed out, a pretty healthy gain remains. This reflects a generally better first-quarter business climate.

A spectacular but fortunately not a major blaze damaged the roof of the new Horace Garrett Applied Science Building at Howard County Junior College. It's a good thing that Dr. W. A. "Looks like our people are hungry for something like this," mused one official at the response to the exhibition of Western paintings and bronze works from Texas Art Gallery and the examples from the Bart W. Mann goldsmith collection. The last two days of a four-day show drew almost a thousand spectators.

Another attraction that brought a lot of people in was the regular flea mart last weekend under the direction of May Belle Kountz. Folks come from wide areas to barter, buy or sell an unimaginable variety of wares.

The furor over dismissal of Police Chief Jay Banks by three members of the city commission continued with little abatement, but it did lose some of its temperature. Petitioners asking a recall of three

MISS WOOL OF 1971 — Margie Sharp from Salt Lake City, Utah, was selected Miss Wool of 1971 in San Angelo Friday night. She won out over 20 other contestants in the 14th annual Miss Wool of America pageant.

New Miss Wool Is 'Shocked, Excited'

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Typically "surprised, shocked and excited," the Miss Wool of America is a University nursing graduate who cries a lot.

"This is the greatest thing that's ever happened to me," said Margie Sharp, 23, of Salt Lake City, the national wool industry's newly crowned ambassador of fashion and beauty.

The brown-haired Miss Sharp, a shapely 35-25-37, was chosen from among 20 contestants Friday night at the close of a fashion and musical production starring singer John Davidson.

"I didn't even think I would be in the finals," she said as tears tumbled down her cheeks.

She succeeded Gail Heinzmann of Carlyle, Ill.

The eldest of seven children of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Sharp, the new Miss Wool will be fitted with a $10,000 wardrobe and will spend the next year touring in behalf of the wool industry.

She said her grandfather, a sheep raiser, was associated with the industry for 30 years.

Chris O'Connor, 18, representing the Wool Council of Minnesota and North Dakota, was the first runner-up. The dark blonde, English major is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Gerald T. O'Connor of West St. Paul, Minn.

She would ascend to the role of Miss Wool in event Miss Sharp, for any reason, should be unable to fulfill her obligation.

Judy Womack, 24, Miss Wool of Texas and a Texas Christian University English-public relations major, from Hillsboro, was the second runner-up.

Blonde Leslie Becker, 19, a Rumson, N. M., merchandising major at Marymount College of Virginia, was the third runner-up. She represented the Eastern Seaboard.

Struggling to regain her composure, the Miss Wool contended, "I'm the most surprised of anyone here. This is a very humbling experience."

Of the seven Sharp children, six are girls.

"People are always asking my father what it's like to have six daughters, and he tells them he likes it so much that he specialized in it," she said.

Johnsons In Odessa For Dedication Of Library

ODESSA — The arrival of former President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, here Sunday will culminate several months of work by over 150 Odessa citizens. Mrs. Johnson is scheduled to dedicate the John Ben Shepperd, Jr. Memorial Library of the Presidents at the Ector County Library at 4:15 p.m. on Sunday.

The Memorial Library is named in memory of the son (killed in a car mishap June 17, 1970) of the prominent Odessa lawyer and civic leader, John Ben Shepperd Sr.

The collection of books and memorabilia relating to the presidency was begun in 1965 when the Shepperd family donated their personal library on the presidency to the then newly formed Presidential Museum. At that time the collection contained over 600 volumes of rare first and limited editions, old and autographed books, documents, manuscripts, and pamphlets dealing with the presidency. There was at least one item on each president, 50 were over a 100 years old and most were out of print. Since that time the library has grown to over 1,000 items, 350 of which are autographed by nationally known authors, statesmen, historians, educators, and scholars.

THE ARTIST AND HIS ART
... Bart Mann with examples of his gold sculptures

Gold 'Pro' Wants To Inspire Young

By KERRY GUNNELS
Bart Mann wants his work to serve as an inspiration to young people.

"I want it to try and convince them to do something creative, instead of feeding quarters into jukeboxes," said Mann, as he relaxed following a hurried journey from San Angelo to the Heritage Museum where an exhibit of his internationally famous gold sculpture was on display Friday and Saturday.

Mann started his unique hobby 22 years ago. He readily admits he has had no formal training in the art of gold smithing. It has been an education by trial and error from the very beginning.

FAILURE
His first attempt at gold sculpture, a wine goblet, was a dismal failure, he said. "But I didn't make the mistakes on the second attempt that I made on the first, and so it has gone on."

Mann's work has been in every major art exhibit in the United States, including the Smithsonian Institute.

He got interested in gold smithing on a trip to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in 1950. While there, he saw the Rospiglios Cup, created by Benvenuto Cellini in 1520. The cup was so beautiful he thought he might like to do some gold sculpturing of his own.

NEW TECHNIQUES
One of the items on display at the Museum was a model inspired by the Cellini cup. It was a turtle with a dragon on its back, which in turn supported a clam shell.

Mann has developed several new techniques in gold casting during his more than 20 years of interest in the subject.

The most recognized technique is the vacuum method of sucking gold into each tiny crevice in the mold.

The first step in creating a gold sculpture, according to Mann, is the creation of the mold. An initial mold is carved into wax — Mann's favorite tool at this stage is a sharpened welding rod.

Then the wax is filled with a light-weight cement capable of withstanding extremely high temperatures.

INTO MOLD
After the cement has hardened, molten gold is poured into the cement mold. Because of the high surface tension of molten gold, some method must be employed to force the gold into the intricate creases and designs of the mold. Centrifugal force and Mann's vacuum method are two ways used to accomplish this.

As soon as the gold has cooled, the mold is broken away, and a new work of art is created.

Mann sometimes uses flowers, leaves and other objects to make molds, instead of carving original designs out of the wax.

Mann is also a jewelry maker. He specializes in colored precious and semi-precious gemstones. Rings, bracelets, earrings, necklaces — all have been made by the San Angelo artist.

18-CARAT GOLD
Mann uses 18-carat gold in most of his sculptures.

"Eighteen carat gold, or three-fourths gold and one-fourth alloy, is the highest quality of gold you can use and still have any hardness at all," he explained. "Some of my jewelry is made in 14-carat gold to make it more competitive."

Mann dislikes to put prices on his sculptures. "I did not create them to make money," he said.

He also doesn't like to encourage would-be thieves. The theft of part of his collection — the loss was ultimately valued at $6,000 while at an international exhibit in Washington, D. C., is still fresh in his memory.

Stores In 10 States Sue Gibson Discount System

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Two companies operating 57 major discount stores have sued the gigantic Gibson Discount franchise system for an undetermined sum running into the millions. The two companies have pulled out of the Gibson system. Their court action, filed in Texarkana, Tex., Friday, claimed that the prices they paid for goods dropped as much as 5 to 6 per cent as soon as they cancelled the Gibson agreement.

The documents claim in effect that the Gibson system was taking those percentages and would not permit the franchise holders to buy from any companies except those specified by Gibson.

The court papers call these percentages "kickbacks" to the Gibson organization.

The suit contends that the franchiser has threatened to put stores in direct opposition to the plaintiffs' because of their cancellation of the franchise.

The suit asks damages and an injunction against any unfair competition or interference with the suit.

The suit was brought by the Howard-Gibco Corp. with headquarters here operators of 23 stores, and Howard Bros. Discount Stores, Inc., of Monroe, La., operating 34 stores.

Named defendants are H. R. Gibson Sr. of Dallas and 43 others.

Gibson could not be reached for comment Saturday. The two plaintiffs call their suit a class action in behalf of 500 or so Gibson franchise stores in at least 30 states.

Howard-Gibco operates in Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma and Kentucky. Howard Bros. operates in Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida.

Invoked were the Sherman anti-trust law and two price discrimination measures, the Robinson-Patman Act and the Clayton Act.

A temporary restraining order was granted Friday by U. S. Dist. Judge Joe Fisher of Beaumont enjoining the defendants from soliciting, contacting or communicating with any of the franchise holders to exert influence regarding participation in the class action.

HIGH TENSION FUSS — A Lebanese worker dashed out of house after a quarrel with his wife, climbed an electric pole, grabbed a high tension wire and in hysterics shouted "Why doesn't death come to me." Police and firemen, alerted of the incident, had immediately shut off the power in the whole vicinity when he started climbing up the pole and went after him. He was brought down and safely delivered to his wife. He is Ibrahim Jami Ibrahim, 30, Beirut, shown in inset.

AS POLITICIANS JOCKEY FOR POSITION Yarborough Watches, Listens

AUSTIN (AP) — It doesn't take much looking to find Texas' most interested spectator as state politicians slip into the starting gates for the 1972 sweepstakes.

Walk two blocks due south from the governor's mansion and take an elevator to the seventh floor of the rusty old Brown Building.

Raised brass letters on a dark, wood-stained paneled door announce:

Law Office
Ralph W. Yarborough
If he's not out making speeches, Yarborough will be at his desk, which is completely covered by a foot-high stack of letters, government documents and other papers left over from 13 years in Washington.

ONE-MAN OFFICE
He mailed out announcements May 17 that he has opened his one-man law office. Yarborough, vigorous at 68, appears undaunted by his 1970 defeat by Lloyd Bentsen in the Democratic primary.

He watches and listens as candidates make their announcements. The former senator has been paying particular attention to Houston's Sharpstown State Bank scandal and to Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes' doings.

Talking with him, one gets the distinct impression Yarborough won't be a mere spectator when the Feb. 7, 1972, filing deadline for the Democratic primary rolls around.

"Well, I'm giving it the most serious consideration—running for office in 1972," Yarborough told an interviewer. "I am giving consideration to running either for the Senate or for the governorship, and about equal consideration to each."

GOING TO STUMP
"I believe I could win either race."

If Yarborough runs, he won't have far to go to pay his filing fee. State Democratic party headquarters are just down the hall.

"If I do not run for either one, I plan to be very active politically in 1972 in the presidential campaigns, in the conventions in Texas and hopefully at the national convention," he said. "Whoever the Democratic party nominates, I'm going on the stump."

But it will be surprising if Yarborough isn't a candidate. "Who's had one-tenth the experience I have?" he asks. "I proposed more general laws to help the people than any senator in the history of Texas. I've demonstrated I can do the job."

LOADS OF MAIL
He said he was "quietly preparing to practice law" when two things happened that brought heavy loads of mail urging him to get back into politics.

One was the appointment of former Gov. John Connally—probably the politician Yarborough most dislikes—as secretary of the treasury.

As Yarborough puts it, "Connally's Republican affiliation became public." The other event was the Securities and Exchange Commission's stock manipulation suit and the subsequent revelations that easy loans and quick stock profits were arranged for high state officials.

"We need new leadership that is not tied to the Republican party and is not tied to the establishment that has so misused the people in Austin," Yarborough asserted.

Yarborough has maintained an active speaking schedule, including talks the past couple of weeks to conventions of Veterans of Foreign Wars, County and District Clerks, Justices of Peace and Constables, and County Judges and Commissioners.

GRASS ROOTS
"These are grass-roots people. They are close to the people. . . . So I am getting a reading from them (on his political potential)," Yarborough said. "I can't take polls. This is my way of getting information on which to reach a decision."

He added that he is "getting the best reception that I've had in 15 years, since I was running for the governorship in 1956, when he speaks."

Yarborough says he hasn't evaluated Barnes, the candidate considered the man to beat for governor.

But he said of Barnes, "A lot of money can create a lot of image. . . . (However) I think people will be looking closer

(at Barnes) than they have the last five years."

He clearly sympathizes with Gov. Preston Smith because of the bad publicity Smith got from his $62,500 profit in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock, purchased with money borrowed from Sharpstown State Bank.

Smith was the only governor who accorded Yarborough any recognition while he was senator, and Yarborough calls him "the first courteous governor we've had in office since I entered the Senate."

SHOCKED
"I listened very carefully (to Smith's June 20 television address) and I came away from that with the conclusion. . . . that he was, in effect, bowing out," Yarborough said.

He said he "very deeply regretted" the stock incident and was "shocked about the intimations they are going to indict the governor of Texas."

"You don't normally treat the governor of a great state of 11 million people like a common criminal. Furthermore, I think the money he made on the stock deal with nothing compared to the money certain other politicians have picked up under the table, not on buying stock," Yarborough said.

As for himself, Yarborough says if he were governor he would put full time in the office. . . . I won't be looking for a deal on the side to make money."

SWIRLING SKIRTS — Some 15,000 dancers whirled in a genial maze of swirling skirts and fancy shirts as the three-day 20th National Square Dance Convention ended in New Orleans Saturday night. Dancing was the only scheduled activity. Familiar recordings, played on loud speaker systems, provided the music.

'We're The Establishment's Answer To Rock Festivals'

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — "We're the establishment's answer to those rock festivals," said J.D. Rhodes as 15,000 dancers whirled in a genial maze of swirling skirts and fancy shirts.

which began Thursday, was Louisiana's second musical event of the weekend. Upriver at McCreia, the week-long "Celebration of Life" rock festival was hitting full steam for 40,000 youths camped on a 700-acre meadow. There was amplified electric blues, sprinklings of dope and naked swimming in a nearby river and a full complement of police.

The rituals were different at New Orleans' Rivergate convention center, where the square dancers, most of them middle-aged, filled a main hall the size of a football field, plus six smaller rooms. The dance seemed the one and only attraction. The city's numerous bars didn't get much of the estimated $3 million spent by the dancers.

"I think it's nice that they have something to do," said Jane Dufour, 20, New Orleans. A responsive crowd gathered in the Rodeo Bowl Friday night to watch cowboy athletes compete in the third night of hard riding events in the annual rodeo. Phil Lyne, contender for this year's world title of all-around cowboy, was listed as over-all leader in all events.

Lyne, cowboy from George West, competed in bareback riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding and bull riding Friday, but took first place honors only in bronc riding with a score of 51.

LIGHT CASUALTIES

A South Vietnamese infantry position two miles southeast of Fuller was hit by 32 mortar and recoilless rifle shells. The South Vietnamese reported no casualties. Camp Carroll, a regimental headquarters six miles south of Fuller, was struck by 12 rockets. The allies reported light casualties among the South Vietnamese defenders and a U.S. artillery unit.

Four waves of B52 bombers raided the area just below the DMZ and near the Laotian border. The eight-jet bombers unloaded an estimated 360 tons of explosives on suspected North Vietnamese bunker complexes, mortar positions, infiltration routes and troop concentrations.

One of the rails struck only half a mile from Fire Base Fuller in direct support of South Vietnamese ground troops searching the area for enemy mortar positions. It was from these positions that the North Vietnamese unloaded 800 rounds in 80 minutes Wednesday night in a bombardment that preceded their assault on Fuller. Loss of the base weakened the western flank of the allied defense line.

The heavy and sustained air blows are aimed at keeping the North Vietnamese off balance and preventing them from mounting a drive southward in the dry season now starting. Some allied commanders expect the North Vietnamese to open an offensive in July or August to capture the northern provinces and to disrupt South Vietnam's National Assembly elections in late August and the presidential election Oct. 3.

Familiar recordings, played on loud speaker systems, provided the music. The only live entertainers were 500 "callers," ranging from amateur to semi-professionals, who took turns at the microphones to chant the familiar rhythmic mix of nonsense and dance commands.

At the end of a week of heavy action that saw South Vietnamese troops driven off Fire Base Fuller, another allied setback came to light. It was learned that three American-led intelligence teams were wiped out in recent weeks while on spy missions behind enemy lines in Laos and South Vietnam.

GI Addicts Joining Amnesty Program

CAN THO, Vietnam (AP) — American servicemen addicts are joining the drug amnesty program in increased numbers as a result of a crackdown in the Mekong Delta.

The general visited an anti-drug rock-music festival Saturday night, then went to a coffee house at an air base near here where he talked with some men about the drug problem. Officials said nearly all those joining the amnesty program did so on the second or third day of the crackdown, indicating their heroin supplies had run out and they were facing the problem of withdrawal.

Tightroper Taunts Cops

PARIS (AP) — A little man in black danced against the gray Paris sky Saturday, looking down and laughing from a tightrope strung between the two towers of Notre Dame Cathedral. He juggled balls, pranced back and forth and lay down on the cable 225 feet above the ground. A crowd applauded and the police, feeling a bit silly, gave up on bringing the man down after trying to find winches, ropes and rescue specialists.

Authorities have seized 234 vials of heroin, 60 pounds of marijuana and assorted pills. Eight Americans are held for illegal possession of hard drugs and six for possession of marijuana. Another 182 have been arrested as AWOL, most of them in Can Tho.

DRY UP

Comparing this with an average of one or two servicemen a day who had joined the delta amnesty program since Jan. 1, the officials cited it as evidence that the crackdown is having the desired effect of drying up supplies of heroin.

THROAT BOBBLES

The drive drew praise from some addicts themselves. A 19-year-old soldier named Ralph said he had decided to break himself of the heroin habit because Cushman's crackdown had given him the confidence to do it.

ROCK MUSIC

In an interview at his headquarters here, Cushman said the anti-drug drive—the first of its kind in Vietnam—was conceived and organized secretly, with only a handful of top officers in on the plans and few others alerted until the last minute.

Vipers Begin To Take Over Countryside

ROME (AP) — Italians were warned Saturday that vipers are beginning to take over the countryside because of the migration of people to cities. The poisonous snakes, whose bite can mean death in one case in 10 were described as not only becoming more numerous, but bigger and meaner as well.

Experts at a Rome symposium on the viper danger, conducted by the biological studies center of the Knight's of Malta, said this was because of the increasing upset of the ecological balance. They said the steady movement from the country to the cities was throwing increasingly large parts of rural Italy back to abandonment where the deadly reddish-brown snakes with the triangular heads and sabre shaped fangs could flourish.

Prof. Franco Gentile, of the Italian Institute of Herpetology of Verona, said the snakes were getting bigger because the return of farmland to wilderness was providing more food in the way of mice, small birds and lizards.

At the same time, he said, the snakes were becoming more aggressive because of the decrease in their natural enemies—man, hogs, birds of prey and even farmyard cats and chickens.

He told the symposium vipers used to strike only in last defense against a sniffing hunting dog's nose or a flower-picking excursionist's hand six inches away.

Now the emboldened snakes go out of their way to strike at anything that bothers them up to a foot and a half away, he reported.

Burglars Keep Cops Hopping

Police were called to investigate three burglaries Friday and Saturday, one of which involved thirsty thieves and a beer truck.

An undetermined number of cases of beer were taken from a truck while it was parked in the 200 block of Lancaster. Eugene Madry, 1304 Main, distributor, told police that he would report later on the value of the beer stolen.

The burglary of a safe belonging to Harvey Hooser, 1600 Scurry, is under investigation. There has been no report of the amount taken.

Archie Byrd, 1804 Winston, reported that his home had been burglarized and a $100 taken. Police are investigating.

Old Settlers Reunion Head Is Sought

Jess Slaughter is looking for someone who wants to hold the annual Howard-Glasscock Old Settlers Reunion enough to take over its direction. Traditionally, the event is held the fourth Friday in July, and Slaughter has been in charge of preparations for the past decade. He is convalescing following a recent stay in the hospital and is physically unable to help. "If no one wants to take it over," he said, "maybe we could have a basket lunch with every family bringing its own foods and drinks. If anyone wants to try and have the barbecue as we have in the past, and arrange program details, I'm sure everyone who is able will help. At any rate, if they want to try it, I will be glad to discuss it with them."

Tricia And Ed At Camp David

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — Tricia and Ed Cox, who disappeared after their White House wedding and kept almost everyone guessing about the site of the honeymoon, have been at this secluded presidential retreat all the time. White House sources confirmed the fact Friday after Tricia, President Nixon's elder daughter, and her husband David, were seen greeting the President on his arrival at Camp David.

ORGANIC GARDENING ... Best garden yet

Organic Gardening A Success For Her

Organic gardening is the secret of success as far as Mrs. K. J. Nielsen is concerned. Mrs. Nielsen, 802 E. 14th St., has tomato plants as high as her shoulder and picked her first vine ripe tomatoes June 12. "I don't use any non-organic pesticides, insecticides, poisons or chemical plant food," said Mrs. Nielsen. "I only use organic materials." "I got started on organic gardening about two years ago," she said, "and get most of my ideas from magazines on organic gardening." "They had an article on 'Electroculture' that gave me the idea for growing my tomatoes on iron stakes and hog wire." "I planted a plant on a wooden stake next to the plants on the iron stakes, but it is not nearly as good as the ones on the iron stakes," she said. Mrs. Nielsen put her plants out about the same time as the last frost and fertilized with organic materials such as compost, rotted or dried manure, cottonseed meal, bone meal and other organic materials. "I mulch my plants with alfalfa hay to keep down weeds and preserve moisture," said Mrs. Nielsen. "I also do not hoe or cultivate around my tomato plants." To keep down insect problems Mrs. Nielsen first gets a good rich organic soil and then plants marigolds, garlic, mint and perennial multiplier onions. To kill snails and slugs she uses stale beer. "I have much better results with my garden since I started using organic methods," said Mrs. Nielsen.

Tower Plans To Work Hard In Campaign

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Texas first Republican senator since Reconstruction days — John Tower — says he plans an intensive campaign next year because "being a member of the minority party in Texas, you can't take any chances." Tower says that he will formally announce his candidacy for re-election after Labor Day. The senator, in an interview aboard a plane between Dallas and San Angelo Friday, sidestepped most queries concerning Texas Democratic politics. "The Democratic organization seldom consults me on political strategy," he quipped. He flew into this West Texas city for a luncheon and to crown Miss Wool of America, at the end of the Friday night pageant. Tower said he was not surprised at Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes' decision to run for governor instead of opposing Tower in a Senate race confrontation which some observers felt the lieutenant governor might do. "I sort of expected him to make that decision... There are a lot of his friends and supporters who wanted him to run for governor," Tower said. "Some of those people who are good supporters of his are also good supporters of mine. I think there was a lot of encouragement for him to run for governor," Tower said. "My feeling was that I was going to wage a positive campaign regardless of who my opponent might be," he added. Asked to speculate on an opponent, he replied, "I really don't know at this point. I wouldn't have any idea." But, he said, any Democrat can automatically expect 40 per cent of the Texas vote. Tower had only praise for former Texas Gov. John Connally, new secretary of the Treasury and the lone Democrat in the Nixon Cabinet.

CAR INSURANCE HEARING

10 Per Cent Hike Due

AUSTIN (AP) — Insurance companies indicated Saturday they will ask for an average statewide car insurance rate increase of about 10 per cent this week. The State Insurance Board, which boosted rates 14 per cent Jan. 1, will hold a hearing on Wednesday and issue new rates effective Sept. 1. David Irons, the insurance companies' leading spokesman, said Saturday the rate request probably would not exceed 10 per cent. "The statistical exhibits to be presented at the hearing have not been completed, but an educated guess at this time, based on figures available today, leads me to believe the increase will be no greater than 10 per cent," Irons said. "We deplore the necessity for any increase in auto rates, but we are pleased that the amount is substantially less than totals over the past two years." Irons represents the Texas Automobile Insurance Office, whose 323 member companies write 98 per cent of all car insurance policies in Texas. Typically, the insurance board issues rates that fall short of the amounts requested by the service office. Last fall, the industry asked for a 27.7 per cent statewide increase but the board granted 14 per cent. In 1969, the service office recommended a 17 per cent rise and got 9.9 per cent. After issuing the Jan. 1 rate increase, the board held rehearings at the request of both the insurance industry, which asserted the new rates were too low, and the Texas AFL-CIO, which said they were too high. The board did not alter the rates. COSTS CLIMB Irons said that since the last rate increase, the frequency of property damage claims has increased and the average cost per claim also has risen. He said the industry would ask the board to change its rating formula to make "a reasonable provision" for profits from writing car insurance. The board's staff last fall recommended a 4.7 per cent after taxes profit allowance from insurance policies alone, with another 7 per cent estimated profit from investing policyholders' premiums. The board discarded the proposal and decided to stick with the old 5 per cent allowance for profits before taxes, and contingencies. This figured out at 2.6 per cent of premiums, after federal taxes. Counting investment income, this allowed the companies an estimated after-taxes profit of 5.1 per cent of assets, a board consultant calculated.

Coahoma Schools To Add Personal Property To Rolls

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Independent School District Board of Equalization will meet from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday at the Coahoma City Hall. Personal property such as farming equipment, mobile homes and cattle will be added to the rolls this year for the first time, according to Mrs. Mattie Miller, tax assessor-collector for the school district. "There are no plans to change the property valuations," she said. Board members are James Barr, N. C. Wallin and Earl Hull. Earl Dean, a property evaluation man from Howard County, will also be present.

City-Wide Recreation Nears Halfway Mark This Week

The Lakeview unit of the Citywide Summer Recreation program has an enrollment of 128, said Sam Dawson, director, Saturday as the program neared the halfway mark. The Comanche Trail Park unit, a companion operation, has approximately 150 enrolled. The program is still open (no charge) to school-age children Monday through Friday during the mornings simply by reporting to the playgrounds and registering. The activities are made possible through cooperation of the United Fund, the City of Big Spring, the Big Spring School District and YMCA. The Comanche Trail operation has been drawing around 90 per day. The Lakeview unit, said Dawson, has averaged 98 daily attendance. He said that 48 of these are from the Bauer and northeast areas of the city, the others from the Lakeview vicinity. The program includes two sections of swimming classes which has 32 members. Other recreational activities include badminton, table tennis, pool, shuffle board, archery, softball, basketball, and tumbling, plus recreational swimming from 11 a.m. to 12 noon daily. Thursday is set aside for outdoor activities. Programs are supervised by Jerry Wrightsil, Mike Randle, Garland Green and Robert Aldridge, plus four NYC workers assigned to Lakeview YMCA. In tournaments so far, Fern Newton and Nora Lopez won at badminton; Tyrone Miller and Ysa Rubio at table tennis doubles and Willie Williams singles; Albert Smith and Luther Brown in checkers and pool; Johnny Williams, Mike Smith, Esther Franks and Debra Way in trampoline contest.

THE ARTS
'Heidi' Is Presented Here To Aid Retarded Children

"Heidi" will be presented Monday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium, but the film is being shown here for more than entertainment.

Proceeds from the $1.50 tickets will be used to help retarded children, according to Jack Capps, local supervisor of the Howard County Association for Retarded Children.

Volunteers have been selling the tickets to local businesses, which in turn have been donating them to local children's groups.

Proceeds from the project will be used to help send retarded children to the Prude Ranch, and help the Teens Aid the Retarded organization here and establish a local fund to build a sheltered workshop to train retarded children in trades.

Coahoma youngsters who are interested in learning to play a musical instrument can get a head start on the project this summer.

David Talmage, band director for the Coahoma schools, will be teaching a two-week program beginning Monday in the Coahoma High School band hall.

"It's not just for beginners either, but we also will have advanced classes for students who already have some band training," Talmage said.

Each class will last about an hour, with beginners being taught in the morning, and the advanced youngsters learning every afternoon. Fee is $2 per week, and the youngster may participate either week or both.

May Delay Offshore Bids

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department is questioning whether to go ahead with the October sale of 19 offshore oil and gas tracts in the Gulf of Mexico.

An environmental impact study quoted in a statement Friday said five of the sites "pose a higher potential environmental risk should serious pollution occur."

Six more may need special safety precautions, the statement said, including "especially vigilant supervision and inspection of activities" and a limit to the number and placement of drilling platforms.

The lengthy study offered no direct recommendations, but weighed disadvantages of drilling at the 19 sites against the advantage of increased revenues.

The area where the tracts are located is already heavily developed with offshore operations. Most contain oil or gas being drained off by nearby tracts.

Some of the tracts are near the Breton Island National Wildlife Refuge and others near Calcasieu Lake, where the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge is located. Both are homes for migratory birds and the Sabine refuge also protects some 4,000 to 5,000 alligators, an endangered species.

British Cancel Jet Contracts

LONDON (AP) — British Overseas Airways Corp. is cancelling its options on four Boeing 747 jumbo jets because of a slump in profits.

Granville wrote the corporation was a major feature of an economy drive to fight the present surplus-seats crisis facing BOAC and the industry generally.

BOAC, said Flight, lost 10 per cent of its U.S.-Europe passengers in March—and escaped lightly. Air France, said the report, lost 56.4 per cent.

starting July 1. He comes to the Midland-Odesa area from Phoenix, Ariz., where he was conductor of the Phoenix Symphony Orchestra.

Spurgeon has become nationally known as Associate Artistic Director (with Dr. Richard Lert) of the American Symphony Orchestra League's Summer Institute for Conductors.

He has also served as Conductor of the Johnston, Penn., Symphony Orchestra, and the Pittsburgh Youth Symphony Orchestra.

During the 1971-72 season, Spurgeon will be assisted by Gene Kenney, Professor of Choral Music at Texas Tech, who will continue as director of the Midland-Odesa Choral.

Spurgeon and his wife, a graduate of the Oberlin Conservatory of Music and an accomplished violinist, plan to move to the Midland-Odesa area about the first of July. They have two daughters, Maria Kathryn, 4 and Laura, 2.

The 1971-72 concert season will include the usual five pairs of concerts and two pairs of youth concerts. However, this year, the Monday concerts will be in Midland, and the Tuesday concerts will be in Odessa.

Converting C-City Building Into Police Office Begins

COLORADO CITY — Work has started on converting a vacant one-story building between City Hall and the Post Office into a municipal police and court annex for Colorado City.

City Manager J. A. Sadler Jr. said it is expected the renovation will be completed in about six weeks.

When the job is finished, the city will move its police department and city judge's office from the basement of City Hall into the remodeled building.

Colorado City acquired the vacant structure a year ago from the J. A. Greene estate. At that time the city council already had given the go-ahead signal to Sadler to plan the remodeling.

John Harvey, local contractor is supervising the remodeling. "We are using city crews and equipment wherever possible to maintain economy," said Sadler.

The remodeling will include approximately 1,700 square feet of the building fronting West Third and facing the Colorado

City Historical Museum. The main entrance lobby and Police Chief Jesse Browning's office will face West Third.

A north-south hall will divide the remaining renovated facilities. On the west side of the hall will be police dispatcher's office and booking-waiting room for persons in custody.

Municipal Judge W. A. Brimberry's office and a storage room will be on the east side of the hall.

Improvements will include paneled walls, new lowered ceilings, year-round air-conditioning and new electrical facilities.

A carport will be built at the rear of the 1,700 square foot remodeled area on the west side, to provide for police vehicles to drive to the north-west entrance to the booking and waiting room. Access will be from the parking area north of city hall.

Sadler said the remainder of the building, at the north end, will be used for storage of fire department equipment. Although city workers and equipment will be used in the remodeling contract, the city plans to ask for bids for installation of ceiling, electrical wiring and air-conditioning.

The move of the municipal court and police from the cramped city hall basement has been viewed by city officials for years as a prime need.

There is no area for handling prisoners in the basement area, steep outside steps to the basement entrance are dangerous in bad weather and a hazard to proper handling of suspects to and from jail.

Judge Brimberry's office is so small in the basement that hearings are interrupted by the police radio broadcasts in the adjoining room, Sadler said.

And, if a trial is scheduled, it must be held on the third floor city-council room.

There is no space in the basement for Chief Browning's office or for interrogation of suspects or complaints, he said.

SIGN ON THE DOTTED LINE — M. Sgt. Ray White signs the papers he talks about constantly as the Webb AFB career advisor. Sgt. White's boss, Capt. Clyde McLeod, chief of the consolidated personnel office looks over the shoulder of the man he just reenlisted. Sgt. White has more than 20 years service. Capt. McLeod, once an enlisted man, was stationed with Sgt. White when in 1959 they were both staff sergeants.

Webb Pilots Get Oak Leaf Clusters

Three Webb AFB pilots received oak leaf clusters to the Distinguished Flying Cross last week, while an inspection chief received the Bronze Star. The presentations were for service rendered in Southeast Asia.

Two men received the first oak leaf cluster to the Distinguished Flying Cross (DFC). They are Capt. Robert W. Shannon and Thomas M. Power. Capt. John D. Weiland was awarded the first and second oak leaf cluster to the DFC, while the Bronze Star medal went to T. Sgt. Charles H. Godfrey.

The citation accompanying the award to Capt. Shannon specified Dec. 20, 1968, as the date on which, as an A-1 tactical fighter pilot in Southeast Asia, he led a flight of A-1 Sky-raid in an armed reconnaissance mission that "struck a cluster of anti-aircraft guns that had-downed two friendly aircraft in the three preceding days. Although hampered by low clouds and haze, Capt. Shannon made multiple passes against the gun positions, ultimately destroying two of them and dictating the gun crews."

Another A-1 pilot, Capt. Power distinguished himself on a flight July 11, 1970. "On the search and rescue mission to a downed airmen deep in hostile territory," the citation read, "Capt. Power provided an effective cover for the rescue helicopter by expertly delivering his ordnance and exposing his own aircraft to intense fire from numerous small arms and automatic weapons positions."

Capt. Weiland, an F-4D pilot, was honored with the two oak leaf clusters for flights on May 1 and July 30, 1970. The first citation noted that the captain "flew through adverse weather conditions and anti-aircraft fire from multiple gun positions to strike a target complex held by hostile forces."

During the flight which earned him the second oak leaf cluster to the DFC, Capt. Weiland "struck a heavily defended truck park and petroleum storage area located along a major route for infiltration of supplies into the Republic of Vietnam," according to the citation accompanying the award.

St. Godfrey was honored for service as night shift phase inspection chief with the 12th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron, Tan Son Nhut AB, Vietnam, October 3, 1970. The citation noted his "professional ability, sound judgement, and great enthusiasm to overcome the many involved problems associated with countering aggression."

THE DRILL Rogan cuts for the down into nestir

W

FEEDING TIME — Roy Rogan fills the fancy red bird feeder, one of several in the back yard of the Rogan residence, 1313 Lincoln, as Mrs. Rogan relaxes on the shaded patio. The bird houses in the yard include two martin "apartments" with room for eight families, but so far, the tenants have been sparrows. Rogan says there are too many trees and wires in the area for martins; they like open spaces.

THE DRILL PRESS operated by Mrs. Rogan cuts entrance holes and a hole for the dowel stick perch which goes into nesting boxes built by the Rogans. Mrs. Rogan puts a cutter into the machine to make the concave area for eggs in the nesting boxes.

It's For The Birds

By JO BRIGHT

When Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogan, 1313 Lincoln, retired from their jobs a year or so ago, they planned nothing more taxing than relaxing, reading and doing a bit of traveling. He served as city traffic and electrical engineer for 26 years, and Mrs. Rogan worked in the insurance office at Cowper Clinic and Hospital.

That's what they did for a short while. There was even time to enjoy music (he plays piano and the clarinet, while she plays the organ) before they got involved with a new hobby.

The hobby was building bird houses and nesting boxes. The word spread, through the American Cage Bird Magazine, that the Rogans were putting out a practical product. Now the hobby has gotten out of hand — threatening to become a business that may "tie them down" again.

The business has necessitated the purchase of a pick-up to deliver the boxes for shipment, as well as a new table saw and drill press necessary for making the boxes. The workshop is in the garage, as is an office area where Mrs. Rogan takes care of the orders and invoices.

The smallest boxes made by the Rogans are less than five inches square; a special order from the New York Zoological Society, and the largest boxes are those for cockatiels, love birds and parakeets.

So far, the boxes have been shipped to 25 states, including Hawaii. Not a bad year's record—for another home-grown industry.

A TABLE SAW is used by Roy Rogan to cut out the component parts that make up the nesting boxes. The smallest box he makes is for the finch, and the larger ones are made for cockatiels, parakeets and love birds. He assembles the boxes (such as those shown on the shelf at upper left) and prepares them for shipment.

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

Series Tally Announced

MRS. RAYMOND STEWART

Miss Elizabeth Moore and Capt. Raymond Stewart were married in a Saturday evening ceremony at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Kenneth Patrick, pastor, performing the rites.

Miss Moore is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Moore, 2603 E. 25th and Capt. Stewart's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart of Middle Village, N.Y.

The altar was enhanced by baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums placed in an archway of palms and lighted by wedding tapers.

Mrs. Carl Bradley was the vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. Willard Grimes, organist.

The bride wore a gown of organza with Venice lace trim at the neckline, Victorian sleeves and an empire bodice.

The lace design was repeated on the front of the A-line skirt and edged the detachable chapel train that was topped by a bow and streamers. A band of Venice lace edged with pearls held the tulle veil, and she carried a Venetian cascade of white roses, spider mums and white carnations.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Daniel G. Riemondi and bridesmaids were Miss Sherry Bradbury and Miss Jane Thompson.

They were identically dressed in pale green Empire-styled floor length dresses, accented at the neck and waist with lace and ribbons. They wore green ribbon in their hair and carried crescent-shaped bouquets of white daisies.

The table was covered with a white floor-length cloth with net overlay, and centered with a five-branch candelabrum entwined with white gladioli and chrysanthemums. The three-tiered cake was topped with a miniature white satin wedding bell.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Mike Moore, Mrs. Paschal Odum, Mrs. J. D. Thompson, Mrs. Shelby Read, Mrs. J. W. Greene, Mrs. Ernest Boyd, Mrs. Bob Coleman, Mrs. D. R. 'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

There are times when I feel sorry for people who have dishwashers and then there are times when I feel sorry for me because I don't possess one of the little hand savers.

I do my best problem solving over the bubbling suds. There is something soothing (perhaps it's because I wash dishes in complete solitude) about sudsing the china, the silver and the glassware while looking out the window above the sink. It probably gives me a feeling that I am doing something that no one else in my house really wants to do... and I polish my halo.

Also here is where I get the answers I want. I find the solutions come quicker if I had a dishwasher to do my job, but on the other hand, that dishwasher can't talk and it will never be able to help solve my little worries and while I wash the dishes and watch the birds I seem to accomplish something along the thinking line.

Neighbors-Smart Say Home Vows Friday

Miss Kathryn Diann Neighbors and Danny D. Smart exchanged wedding vows in a candlelight ceremony Friday evening in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Neighbors, 2701 Carol. Smart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Smart, 1809 Settles, and Mrs. Nelta Smart of Houston.

The Rev. C. F. Neighbors, grandfather of the bride, performed the ceremony before an archway of greenery, accented with two candelabra. An arrangement of orchid and purple carnations graced the piano which was played by Mrs. J. K. Arp of Kerrville. Vocal selections were presented by J. K. Arp.

The bride was attired in a formal-length gown fashioned in an Empire style of white satin overlaid with lace. Scalloped French lace ran down each side of the front panel and was accented with seed pearls. Her lace, tapered sleeves reached a point at the wrist and were highlighted with small covered buttons. A silk organza bow held her finger-tip veil, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and orchids.

Miss Frances Butler served floor-length, purple satin, as maid of honor, wearing a Empire style gown. She carried two long-stemmed carnations. Miss Debra Neighbors served her sister as bridesmaid, along with Miss Emily King of Dallas and Miss Roma Arp of Ropesville. They wore orchid-colored, floor-length gowns featuring an Empire waist, and also carried two long-stemmed carnations with satin streamers.

Edwin O'Bannon of Midland, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man, while A. C. Neighbors, the bride's brother, Walter Campbell and Mark Jones served as groomsmen. Ricky Berryhill of Lubbock was the usher.

The couple was honored at a reception in the Neighbors home following the ceremony. The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth, and the three-tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. A six-taper candelabrum and silver appointments highlighted the table.

Serving refreshments were Mrs. Mike Schafer and Mrs. Randy Atwood, both of Midland; and Miss Brenda Butler. Miss Rebecca Berryhill of Lubbock presided at the guest register.

Following a wedding trip to the Dallas and Fort Worth areas, the couple will reside at 509 1/2 Bell.

Young People Needed In Rural Communities

Miss Annette Couch, guest speaker for the Luther HD Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ed Simpson, spoke about improvements in rural living throughout the years.

In her talk entitled "Where Do We Go From Here?" Miss Couch listed the progression of added conveniences in rural communities; comparing the days of cow trails, hand plows and kerosene lamps, to the present day paved highways, modern equipment and electricity.

"Young people should make it their goal to become trained and educated in technical fields and then return to rural areas to carry on the program," said Miss Couch. "Unless we make use of the new agricultural methods, we will not be able to entice young people back to the rural communities."

Miss Couch said that many Americans, with all types of jobs, are attracted to small communities for living conditions, but that not enough people are actually engaged in farming that is so necessary to the country.

Miss Couch won the area 4-H public speaking contest for the speech, and also placed third in the district competition. She is a member of the Gay Hill 4-H Club.

Officers for the Luther club's 1971-1972 year were elected at the meeting. They are, Mrs. Frances Zant, president; Mrs. Louis Underwood, vice president; Mrs. Simpson, council delegate; and Mrs. Regis Fleckenstein, secretary-treasurer.

Guests included Mrs. W. M. Hyden and Miss Cindy Montgomery. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Underwood. The club will not meet again until September.

Club Gets Tips On Sewing

"A visible mark of quality workmanship on any garment is its collar," said Mrs. Frances Zant, guest speaker for the City Home Demonstration Club Friday in the home of Mrs. E. R. Moren, 1607 Stadium.

"Regardless of style, the collar is a detail that requires careful handling in every stage of construction," Mrs. Zant continued. "There are many variations of collars, but however exotic they may seem, there are three basic shapes; flat, standing and rolled."

Mrs. Zant said that the deeper the curve on the collar neck edge the flatter the collar will lay. At the opposite extreme, the standing collar will have a straight or slightly curved neck edge. She said any rolled collar should be characterized by a smooth roll with the neck seam completely covered.

Sleeves were also discussed by Mrs. Zant, who said they should be a thing a beauty as well as comfortable. They should look handsome as well as conforming to the shape of the arm.

"Since the arm is probably the most active part of the body, the sleeve should perform well in motion without causing discomfort or distorting fit," said Mrs. Zant. "The one-piece, set-in sleeve is the most classic and most popular sleeve, and offers many variations in style."

Mrs. Clyde Cantrell presided and announced that Mrs. A. C. James and Mrs. Moren had recently entertained residents at the Big Spring Nursing Inn with games and refreshments. Mrs. C. G. Miller won the attendance prize. The next meeting is in September.

Lawn Furniture Lasts Longer With Proper Care

The arrival of warm, balmy weather means that both you and your metal lawn furniture are about to spend a summer sitting on the patio. Proper maintenance of metal furniture will insure its continued attractiveness and protect it from premature "old age" brought on by constant exposure to rain and sun.

When you take your lawn furniture out of its winter storage place, check it for cracks in the old finish. Moisture is the great enemy of metal, sneaking in through cracks and crevices in the protective coating and causing rust and corrosion.

Cracked paint should be removed with a wire brush. Sand away all traces of rust or corrosion with steel wool. To prevent further deterioration, these problem areas should be spot coated with a protective metal primer.

Finish by painting the entire surface with a bright exterior enamel. Your furniture is now both protected and eye-pleasing - an unbeatable combination for a summer of outdoor exposure!

Labels Explain What's Inside

Confused over can sizes? Labels will tell you much of what you need to know about what's inside. For instance, for fruit a No. 303 can contains approximately two cups - one and one-third cups drained fruit, and two-thirds cup of liquid - or four servings. A No. 2 1/2 can holds 3 1/2 cups - 2 cups of drained fruit and 1 1/2 cups of syrup, or six to eight servings.

Club Hears Guest Speaker

Mrs. L. A. Griffith was guest speaker for the Center Point Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Alden Ryan. She is a member of the Fairview HD Club, and provided the group with hints on how to gain a professional look when making collars and sleeves.

Mrs. J. R. Petty presided, and members agreed to make tote bags for the state convention in Dallas in September.

Each member brought gifts to exchange which they had either made, baked or grown. Mrs. T. C. Lindley won the attendance prize, and guests were Mrs. Florence Rhoten and Mrs. Griffith. The next meeting is at 2 p.m., July 13 in the home of Mrs. J. B. Reynolds.

MRS. TERRY LEE MILES

Hudson-Miles United At Friday Ceremony

Before an improvised altar of garden flowers and foliage, Miss Sherry Hudson became the bride of Terry Lee Miles Friday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Smith, 2705 Crestline.

Parents of the couple are D. L. Miles of Tucson, Ariz.; Mrs. George Dallas of Andrews; Mrs. Stanley Hudson, 4101 Dixon, and the late Stanley Hudson.

The Rev. W. E. Chandler of San Angelo, grandfather of the bride, officiated at the ceremony.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Smith, organist, and Miss Pam Dower was the vocalist.

The bride wore a white floor-length gown of chiffon over satin. The fitted bodice was overlaid with lace accented with pearls and sequins, and the full skirt featured a spray of lace flowers down the front panel. The full bishop sleeves were cuffed with lace. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was held by a band of lace embroidered with pearls, and she carried a bouquet of feathered carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Debbie Addy was maid of honor and wore a floor-length dress of orchid chiffon over taffeta. The dress was designed with long full sleeves, and the waist was accented with orchid ribbon. The headpiece was of orchid velvet, and she carried a single flower.

Best man and ushers were Jesse Scott and Rodney Hudson, the bride's brother.

Flower girls were China Smith and Cindy Raines who wore floor-length dresses of orchid satin and carried baskets of rose petals.

Frank Raines was the ring bearer and altar tapers were lighted by Gary Raines.

The couple took a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N.M., and will return to Big Spring today.

The bride is a senior at Big Spring High School and plans to complete her work with the January graduating class. She then plans to enter college.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Andrews High School and is employed at Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

A reception was held in the Smith home and garden. The bride's table was covered with a white silk organza cloth and the decorative unit was a large white candelabrum which held yucca bloom. The tiered cake was topped with a colonial bouquet and was served by Miss Cindy Williams and Miss Donna Ervin.

The groom's table was laid with brown linen and the chocolate cake was decorated with marzipan fruit. Punch was served by Miss Terri Martin and Miss Juanita Fuqua. Miss March Fought registered guests and distributed rice bags.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Chandler, and Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Chandler, all of San Angelo; and Mr. and Mrs. George Dallas of Andrews.

Altrusans Hear Gem Specialist

Mrs. R. Vosatko, owner of the Vosatko Specialty Shop in Midland, spoke about precious gems and their origins for the Altrusa Club Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Loyd Wooten, 817 W. 18th.

"Diamonds are like people," said Mrs. Vosatko. "They have their own characteristics. I never use the word 'flaw' or 'imperfect' when speaking about gems, but I always point out each stone's characteristics to a prospective customer."

Mrs. Vosatko has been in the jewelry business for 30 years. She is a diamond broker and an authority on fine gems. Some of the items displayed Thursday night included Tanzanite, which comes from Tanzania, Africa, and is the first rare gem found in more than 2,000 years; Brazilian emeralds, which are created through the crystallization methods of one particular Brazilian; and coral, which is primarily found now only with indentations from insects that eat into the stone. The indentations are often set with other stones. Mrs. Vosatko also showed various colored diamonds, a pear-shaped emerald of about 20 karats, and some costume jewelry. Mrs. L. E. Jones, an assistant in Mrs. Vosatko's shop, accompanied her.

Guests included Mrs. Elmo Wasson, Mrs. J. B. Apple and Miss Agnes Currie. The next meeting will be an installation luncheon at noon, July 13, at Coker's Restaurant.

Quotable Quotes

By The Associated Press

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Such a class would not be welcome. But if the shooting is restarted and we go to defend ourselves, we shall not be able — when we encounter a fighter plane — to check carefully first who is sitting in the cockpit in order to decide whether or not to take action against it." — Premier Golda Meir of Israel, on the possibility of a confrontation between Israeli and Soviet pilots should middle East hostilities erupt again.

"We want the facts about the products we use without the propaganda." — Mrs. David A. Phillips, a member of Housewives to End Pollution, at hearings before the Federal Trade Commission, on packaging and labeling.

"If you can do it and you enjoy doing it and it makes people happy, well, that's something a lot of people would like to do but not know how. I've found my way." — Annette Clifton, 17-year-old member of California Clowns, a troupe of local high school and college students dedicated to making people laugh.

"It was a tremendous experience. One knows that one is supported by the prayers of the people." — Kay Baxter, the first woman to conduct Easter services at Westminster Abbey.

"From what I've seen, in the long run swinging has no effect on a marriage. As a way of eliminating adultery, I see swinging in some cases bringing some communication into a marriage." — Carolyn Symonds, licensed California marriage counselor, on mate-swapping.

"I swear to God, living like we did was a real hell. It was like being in a glass-walled room. Every time you looked out, the world you saw was like a motion picture with no sounds." — Jean Roseland, a juror in the Sharon Tate murder trial. In an interview, speaking of the 225 days in which the jury was sequestered in a hotel.

"The aggressive behavior means that they are fighting back and it's inspiring. What we need to do is rechannel the aggression, because there is no such thing as a bad emotion — only bad behavior." — Dr. Esther Rothman, principal at Livingston High School, reserved for the worst-behaved high-school girls in New York City.

"I'm weird in that I don't worry about making a living. The more I expect, the more I get. I'm a positive thinker. I don't believe in failure." — actress Jo Ann Pflug.

"I know everyone is in love with the idea that this 54-55-year-old man married a 22-year-old woman. I think that's outrageous. I think that the idea that you must go out and pick someone nubile who is 33 years younger than you is not any example to set for the rest of the men in the world." — Helen Gurley Brown, author of "Sex and the Single Girl," in a television interview, discussing the marriage of Canada's Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau.

Ancient Chinese Influence Fall

Bonnie Cashin continues the layered look in her fall and winter collection. "You who have followed these ideas for a long time know the concept, borrowed from ancient China," she said.

"The concept goes like this — it's a two shirt day, or a seven shirt day and so on. Layers give insulation. Modern pieces work well together and simplify trans-seasonal dressing via addition or subtraction."

Organic Soil Makers Hear Watering Ideas

Bill Brown spoke about various methods of watering for the Organic Soil Makers Monday evening at the U.S. Experiment Station.

Brown said the irrigation method is when water is simply turned on and allowed to water plants until the desired amount is reached. But supplemental watering should be used at times when there is a shortage of water. This gives the plant enough water to stay alive until there is a more abundant supply of water for irrigation.

"Plants need irrigation to give them the required nutrients," said Brown. "But the cost of water can get high, and it shouldn't be wasted."

Brown said that much moisture will be lost to wind evaporation if a fine spray is used for watering. Its easiest method is a good retainer of water, and said the necessity of watering a plant is not gained in the morning.

"If a plant looks wilted in the morning, it needs water," said Brown. "The best time to water is early morning or late afternoon, but not during the heat of the day. You can see some plants that

Tax Man Offers Word To Wives

Here's a note from your favorite tax man: "Most of the sweet young brides that are taking the fatal step this June won't take this piece of advice. However, we'll tell them anyway."

"If you are getting married during this year you have to get your name changed on your Social Security card. If you don't get your name changed, come tax refund time next January or February, the IRS computer won't know who Mrs. John Doe is. It will question why Jane Smith's Social Security Number got on a tax return for John and Jane Doe."

"Yes, girls, we understand that you have lots of things to do, but you will be glad if you go ahead and change your Social Security number now."

Couple United In Marriage

STANTON (SC) — Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday evening by Miss Sandra Kay Chandler and Johnny Marshall Louder at the First Baptist Church here.

The Rev. V. W. Allen of Rising Star performed the ceremony at an archway decorated with greenery and daisies highlighted with two white flocked doves. The arch was accented with two baskets of white chrysanthemums and daisy poms. Spiral candelabra with white tapers flanked the arch.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Chandler Jr., Route 1, and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Louder, Star Route, Tarzan.

Miss Betty Anderson, organist, provided background music and Miss Brenda Robertson was the featured soloist.

The bride wore an Empire style, white, formal-length gown, fashioned in an A-line of silk organza. The oval neckline was encircled with small seed pearls which were repeated on scalloped trim down the front of the gown. The waist was accented with a lace organza bow, and her long tapered Chantilly lace sleeves formed petal points at the wrist. Scalloped Chantilly lace formed a redingote effect which swept to a chapel-length train, and she carried a cascade of white daisies and feathered carnations.

Miss Deborah Holloway of Tarzan served as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Teresa Louder, the bridegroom's sister; Miss Rita Pribyla, both of Tarzan; and Miss Gayle Haggard.

The attendants were attired in pale yellow, dotted Swiss gowns, with Empire waists, gathered skirts and stand-up collars. The gowns were accented with yellow and white daisies at the waist, and long, sheer puffed sleeves.

Karl Herzog of Lubbock was best man, and groomsmen were Rod Hearen, Houston; David Chandler, the bride's brother; and Hoyt Stephens, Petersburg. Ushers were Steve Hall and Terry Franklin.

Miss Tracy Chandler served her sister as flower girl, and Brad Tunnell was the ring bearer.

A reception honored the couple at the church hall. Serving at the bride's table were Miss Jana Hall, Miss Leatrice Glaze and Miss Kay Lynne Hankins. The bridegroom's table was presided over by Miss Frankie Jo Saunders and Miss Paula Standefer.

Following a trip to the Corpus Christi area, the couple will reside in Stanton where Louder is engaged in farming with his father. He is also a senior at Texas Tech University, where he serves as president of the Tech Aggie Council; President of the Alpha Zeta Fraternity, an honorary agricultural organization; and president of the Southwest Region of Mechanized Agriculture Clubs. Mrs. Louder graduated from Stanton High School, where she was vice president of the student council and reigned as "Miss SHS" during her senior year.

Angel-Kelso Rites Recited Friday In Stanton Candlelight Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Melrae Angel and Larry Don Kelso was performed at 8 p.m., Friday evening in the chapel of the First United Methodist Church in Stanton.

Parents of the couple all Stanton residents, are Mr. and Mrs. Jess Angel and Mrs. Wanda Pinkston, and the late Jack Pinkston.

The Rev. John Rankin, Baptist minister, heard the vows in the ceremony before an altar centered with a three-branched candelabra, entwined with greenery, for use in the ceremony of the candles.

The chapel was decorated with a flower arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums, orange carnations and greenery.

Tommy Pinkerton, pianist, played traditional wedding music.

The bride wore a street-length yellow knit, long-sleeved coat belted at the waist, over a sleeveless dress of yellow, gold and white jersey. It featured a cowl neckline. Her jewelry was a double strand of pearls belonging to the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Oscar Poe of Plains.

The bridal bouquet was fashioned of feathered yellow carnations, yellow pompons, and babies'-breath accented with a white orchid.

Miss Zanna Angel, the bride's sister, served as maid of honor, wearing a costume styled like the bride's in a Dacron crepe print of yellow, orange and white. She carried a nosegay of feathered tangerine carnations.

Jim Kelso served as his brother's best man and ushers were Tom Ed Angel, brother of the bride, and Carl Dean.

A reception was held in the church parlor where Mrs. Charlie Pinkerton, Mrs. Charles Pierce, sister of the bride, Mrs. Tom Ed Angel and Miss Debbie Poe served in the houseparty.

The couple is at home at 409 W. Fourth St., in Stanton. They are both graduates of Stanton High School. She is presently a junior at Baylor University, where she is a member of the Oratorio Chorus, Chapel Choir and Mu Phi Epsilon, a women's professional music sorority. She is employed by Cap Rock

The honoree was attired in a blue, dacron crepe dress, accented with a string of rope pearls. She was presented a corsage of blue carnations, as was her mother, Mrs. T. P. Macklin.

Decorations followed the bride-elect's chosen wedding color of blue. The refreshment table was covered with a blue cloth, overlaid with a silk organza floor-length cloth. An arrangement of dahlias and roses, interspersed with small blue flowers centered the table, and crystal and silver appointments were used.

Hostesses were Mrs. W. D. Lovelace, Mrs. Tommy Lovelace, Mrs. Dick Mitchell, Mrs. Dub Bryant, Mrs. Frank Rice, Mrs. Judson Lloyd, Mrs. Elmer Askins, Mrs. J. T. Morgan, Mrs. Larry Crow, Mrs. Doyle Milner, Mrs. Elvin Bearden, Mrs. T. C. Richardson, Mrs. Bill Marlin and Mrs. Zenna McWhite.

A LOVELIER YOU 'Cute' Baby Fat Is Later Adult Problem

By MARY SUE MILLER

Were you a plump, dimpled darling of a little girl? People cooed over you and called you cute?

That kind of admiration is nice up to a point — the point where you're in your teens or any adult decade. Unless things have changed and you've trimmed down, no one now terms you as cute. There are other words for it, not very polite ones.

But the chances are you really do not deserve all the blame for figure failure. You are doubtless a victim of family eating habits — overeating habits. Your diet should have been tailored to your health, height and growth some years ago. Well, it wasn't. Last question: Are you going to play resentful — or get your head straight and beat the problem?

For determined reducers, extra help takes the form of hunger-control aids. Consider a first course of bouillon, vegetable salad or fruit yogurt to take the edge off your food-craving. To make a limited amount of food seem a lot, season it delectably with spices, herbs, vinegars and citrus juices. Eat slowly, the better to savor flavor.

Unless you live all alone, those around you can do more to stimulate your resolve than they know. Their part is psychological. For instance, they would never take a superior attitude. Never nag or display public weakness for "foodaholism."

It takes two to diet!

What's your figure problem? To achieve total attractiveness send for my booklet, "Secrets Of A Lovely Figure." It contains easy ways to reduce weight and proportions; to overcome grooming problems, such as fuzz, freckles and blemishes; to move with grace and poise. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Cunningham, Box 243, Gail Route, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Brenda Elaine, to Laddie Doyle Lawson, son of Laddie C. Lawson, 1106 Mesa, and the late Mrs. Lawson. The couple plans an Aug. 7 ceremony at the Anderson Street Church of Christ.

Security System Spoils Wedding

If a Detroit apartment house in its lobby as a security measure with a hookup to each tenant's TV set, one of the building's most attractive tenants might well be married by now, instead of breaking her engagement.

MRS. MICHAEL HOCH

The altar was centered with a large sunburst of white gladioli, flanked by candelabra holding white tapers.

The bridal dress was of white organza with a boatneck bodice embroidered with lace daisies. The design was repeated on sleeves that were fitted to the elbow, then puffed to deep cuffs.

The bride's full-length illusion veil was held by a headpiece of embroidered lace, and she carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies with white ribbon streamers.

Miss Rebecca Reynolds of Garden City was maid of honor and she chose a pastel blue dress and carried a basket of yellow daisies. Bridesmaids were Miss Sue Spencer, Austin, who wore a pink dress; Miss Debbie Hutcheson, Abilene, in mint green; and Miss Christie Bomar, Austin, who wore pink. A reception was held at the Big Spring Country Club immediately following the ceremony.

MRS. KENNETH CARROLL STRICKLAND

Nuptial Vows Said Saturday

Miss Sherry Lou Leascher of Midland became the bride of Kenneth Carroll Strickland, Big Spring, in a 7 p.m. ceremony Saturday evening at First Christian Church in Midland.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jim E. Leascher, Midland, and the groom's parents are Lt. Col. and Mrs. F. M. Nelson, Alexandria, Va. Dr. Ray Bristol, First Christian minister, performed the ceremony, and music was provided by Mrs. Dan Lancaster, vocalist, and Miss Sheryl Bristol, organist.

The bride was formally gowned in a flowing modified Empress gown of silk Peau de Sole and re-embroidered lace. Appliques and shadowed inserts of re-embroidered lace created the scalloped neckline, enhanced the fitted bodice and cascaded down the front panel of the gown. Inserts of lace extended the length of the full, puffed sleeves and detailed the deep fitted cuffs. The contoured belt set in the sides of the front panel curved over the pleated fullness of the skirt which draped into a full chapel train.

The multi-tiered elbow-length veil of silk illusion was held by an embroidered, crescent-shaped lace band, touched with pearls.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of stephanotis, white butterfly roses, and gardenias accented with gypsophelia and English ivy.

The wedding party stood before an altar decorated with two candelabras holding white tapers entwined with jade greenery. These were flanked by spiral candelabra and tapers. Jade greenery decorated the sanctuary and family pews were marked by white satin bows.

Miss Pamela Dunlap, Midland, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Sam Kladdis, of Waldorf, Md., sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Gary Leascher, of Oklahoma City, Okla., sister of the bride; and Mrs. Brenda Roach, Midland.

The attendants were dressed identically in carpet-length gowns in lemon-mist dacron. The molded sheer empire bodice featured a wedding ring collar and a border of petite flower Patterned Venice lace outlined the peasant vest effect of green an white Swiss embroidery on the bodice. The long puffed sleeves were of Swiss embroidery in green and white and the gathered skirt was banded at the waist with Venice lace. The head pieces were of yellow flower petals and buds with back sprays over the hair. The attendants carried garden baskets of daisies and gypsophelia.

William A. Crumrine Jr., Midland, was best man, and groomsmen were Chris Goodman, Alexandria, Va., brother of the bridegroom; Gary Leascher, Oklahoma City, Okla., the bride's brother and Rick Goodman, El Paso, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Hubert Harris, Big Spring, and Jim Leascher, Jr., Midland, the bride's brother.

The honoree was attired in an aqua-colored dress and was presented a corsage made of a dish mop decorated with measuring spoons, white net and a bow.

The refreshment table was centered with an artificial cake made from mixing bowls, encircled with measuring cups filled with artificial flowers.

Guests included the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Harry Sanders, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. A. F. Henrichs, of St. Lawrence. The couple plans a July 10 ceremony at the Wesley United Methodist Church.

Cowboy Kerchiefs In Fashion World

Summer fun fashions have snatched another look from the Western cowboy. It's the cotton bandana kerchief that used to grace the cowhand's neck. Now these colorful red, white, and blue squares are being stitched together patchwork fashion for ankle-length skirts that are pretty enough to go out dancing in or casual enough to be worn over bikinis. The navel-baring scarf skirts are often teamed with whimsical tops, tulip blouses, or T-shirts with embroidered sayings.

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Whenever I have a dinner party, my husband's 28-year-old daughter by a previous marriage calls him at his office and asks if she may bring a "friend," but invariably this "friend" turns out to be two or three extra people. I can seat a limited number at my table and to squeeze at two or three extra guests at the last minute is not to my liking. I would like to tell this girl exactly how I feel, but my husband says I shouldn't say anything, that he will explain my "peculiarity" to her. I'd like your opinion. ANNOYED
DEAR ANNOYED: You are entitled to know in advance how many guests you will have. The "peculiarity" I see here is not in you, but in your husband who allows his daughter to manipulate him and inconvenience you.

Afterwards they told me that they phoned me, and when I didn't answer they assumed I had found other transportation to the concert. So now I am out the money for four tickets, and I missed the concert. MAD IN PETERSBURG, VA.
DEAR MAD: If it was as "clear" to them as it was to you, then they deliberately ditched you. But I can't imagine anyone being so unkind.

child who is now in regular Junior High. Such children have no apparent handicap and many go undetected until they reach third grade, and by then they are so frustrated their problems are usually compounded by emotional problems.

There is an organization of parents and professionals called The Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. Our work will continue as long as children with I.Q.'s of 125 are placed with the mentally retarded for lack of proper evaluation.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, and I frequently travel about the country with other widows. When we go into a restaurant to eat, the waitress will invariably ask, "One check, or two?"

Please tell waitresses that when two women are eating together to please make out separate checks. If one woman has planned on paying for the other, she can pick up both checks. Most women pay their own way when traveling.

Parents should take a closer look at the clumsy 3-year-old who can't sit still, and the child who seems "hard to handle" and unwilling to learn. A letter requesting information can be sent to: The Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, 2200 Brownville Rd., Pittsburgh, Pa., 15210. Sincerely,
MRS. L. I. L.,
HARRISBURG, PA.

DEAR WIDOW: Thanks for the "tip," which I shall pass on to the waitresses of the world.
