AFTER RECORD OF NEARLY 24 DAYS IN SPACE

Three Kremlin Cosmonauts Die

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Soviet cosmonauts died today as their Soyuz 11 spaceship was bringing them back from a record three-week flight aboard the Salute space laboratory. Foreign experts speculated they suffocated when their oxygen system failed.

system probably was knocked out during re-entry to the earth's atmosphere.

Josip Kotnik, Yugoslav president of the Astronautic Rocket Association of Croatia, speculated that after 24 days of weightless flight they may have been unable to activate the system for expelled carbon monoxide and introducing oxygen.

In announcing the tragedy in space, Tass news agency suggested no reason why the three were found dead after their spaceship landed. Tass said the cause of the deaths is being investigated.

An official announcement said the three spacemen—Lt. Col. Georgy Dobrovolsky, flight engineer Vladislav Volkov and test engineer Viktor Patsayev—completed their flight program

Tuesday and communicated with ground control on the way down. Soyuz 11 made a smooth landing where it was supposed to, the announcement said, but the rescue crew that opened the hatch found the men dead.

It was the second Soviet space flight to end in disaster. The first Soyuz spaceship crashed on April 24, 1967, after tangling in its parachute straps, and cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov was killed. No American spacemen have been killed in flight, but three astronauts—Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grisom, Lt. Col. Edward H. White II and Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee—died Jan. 27, 1967, in a flash fire aboard Apollo 1 during a test on the launching pad. All three cosmonauts were married. Dobrovolsky, the flight commander who was 43, and Patsayev, 37, each had two children, while Volkov, 35, had one son.

Soyuz 11 carried them into space at 7:55 a.m. on Sunday, June 6. It was the first space flight for Dobrovolsky and Patsayev, but Volkov had made 80 earth orbits in October, 1969, aboard Soyuz 7.

Soyuz 11 linked up on June 7 with the 17½-ton space laboratory Salute, which had been orbiting the earth unattended since April 19. The cosmonauts transferred to the bigger space lab and orbited the earth in it for nearly 23 days in what appeared to be a highly successful advance toward the permanent manned space station which is the goal of the present Soviet space program.

Experts Recommend Auto Insurance Hike

Nixon Lauds J. Edgar Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today declared that "the era of permissiveness with regard to enforcement of the law is at an end in the United States."

Speaking at FBI National Academy graduation exercises, Nixon also said that while FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover may be controversial "the great majority of the American people back Mr. Hoover and back law enforcement officials."

Having known Hoover for the past 24 years, Nixon said, "I can say from experience that he is a man who has never served a party. He has always served his country and he deserves credit for that."

Returning to the stiff law and order stance that he embraced as a presidential candidate, Nixon pledged administration support to law enforcement officials "in their attempt to re-establish respect for the law."

Saying he had dropped by to give the 100 police officials from all 50 states and from abroad a message, Nixon said "don't get discouraged."

He said that, while it has been fashionable among some to attack the police and law enforcement, "The great majority of the American people do provide backing for the men who risk their lives for our lives."

The twice-yearly graduation exercises of the Academy brought together on the same stage the nation's top three law and order men: Nixon, Hoover and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

AUSTIN (AP) — State Insurance Board experts recommended today a 2.8 per cent statewide average increase in private passenger car insurance rates.

The recommendation of the state experts contrasted sharply with the 9.8 per cent rate hike recommended by the industry.

"WRONG" "Well, they're entitled to be wrong if they want to be," commented an industry spokesman when shown the increases proposed by the board's staff.

The staff's proposal includes increases of 2.3 per cent for bodily injury liability, 2.2 per cent in property damage liability, 1.3 in collision coverage, and 8.5 per cent in comprehensive and other physical damage coverage in addition to collision.

The staff recommendations were based on a formula allowing the insurance companies a 2.6 per cent profit after taxes from writing insurance. The companies also make a profit from investing their policy holders' premiums.

"DIFFERENCE" An insurance industry representative said the difference between the board's staff and the industry recommendations is entirely due to a higher profit factor recommended by the industry. Insurance companies requested a 4.7 per cent after tax

Howard County Rates Up $3

AUSTIN (AP) — Auto insurance rate changes recommended today by the State Insurance Board staff vary according to rating territory and a number of other factors.

Here are proposed rate changes, by territory, on a basic liability policy ($10,000 per person bodily injury with a maximum of $20,000 per accident, and $5,000 property damage) on a car that is not driven to work and which is not driven by a male under 25:

West Texas Oil Field, up $3. (This includes Howard County.)

The board normally gives the liability changes for the typical class—cars driven to and from work, with no driver under 25. It gave changes for this class, however, for comprehensive and collision.

profit allowance, not counting investment income.

Insurance board members will consider the rate proposals by both the staff and the industry, then issue new rates effective Sept. 1.

David B. Irons, speaking for the Texas Automobile Insurance Service office, revealed the industry request Tuesday.

Irons said the request would include a 13 per cent increase for full coverage comprehensive, 9 per cent for bodily and property damage liability, 8.4 for collision, 7.8 per cent for uninsured motorists and 7 per cent for medical payments.

"STORM LOSSES" Irons said much of the proposed increase in full coverage comprehensive is due to unexpected 1970 losses in Hurricane Celia, the Lubbock tornado, and severe hail storms and flooding.

"It should be emphasized that the proposed rates are based solely on insurance experience statistics of premiums and losses last year," Irons said. "Obviously, medical costs are continuing to climb and the expense of repairing automobiles is also continuing to rise rapidly."

Writ Of Habeas Corpus Posted In Green Case

ODESSA (AP) — A challenge for Ector County Sheriff Slim Gabrel has been filed in 70th District Court here by Tom Sneed, lawyer for 34-year-old Johnny Emanuel Meadows being questioned in the June 17 disappearance of Gloria Sue Green.

Sneed said this morning he has filed a writ of habeas corpus demanding that his client be freed in connection with the Green case since no charges have been filed against him in the disappearance.

Dist. Judge C. V. Milburn has set a hearing for next Tuesday. Meanwhile, Meadows' troubles mounted Tuesday when the Gainesville District Attorney's office accused him of theft of a typewriter by bail.

The accusation was added to a charge of disposing of mortgaged property in Odessa and a charge of assault with intent to murder in a Midland County case.

Bonds on the three charges total $34,000.

The Odessan has not been charged in the Mrs. Green case. She disappeared from the office of O&L Well Service Co. in Odessa, leaving behind her shoes, purse and car.

Officials said they feared foul play and put out an all-points bulletin for Meadows.

He was arrested in Gainesville and returned to Odessa for questioning.

Sneed claims the charges against his client are "holding tactics" designed to give Gabrel more time for investigation.

Officials currently are searching an area southeast of Odessa where Gabrel says he has information that Mrs. Green may be.

Mrs. Green became the fourth area woman to disappear during the past three years.

The bodies of three of them eventually were located in pastures between Odessa and Kermit.

A fourth woman also was murdered. Her body was found in her Odessa apartment. All of the slayings are unsolved.

Political Loans Ban Illegal?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A federal judge ruled today that a law barring national banks making loans to political candidates is unconstitutional.

Judge Joseph P. Kinneary of U.S. District Court in Columbus issued the ruling in cases of two of four national banks indicted in Ohio in connection with loans to political organizations.

SOLON READING PENTAGON PAPERS

U. S. Plan To Put Monkey Firmly On Hanoi's Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The night before President Lyndon B. Johnson cut back the bombing of North Vietnam in his successful 1968 bid to start peace talks the State Department secretly sent word to its Vietnam war allies that the move would most likely fail and full-scale resumption of the air war was possible any time.

A message to U.S. ambassadors in six capitals instructed them to tell the allied government chiefs:

"CRYSTAL CLEAR" "You should make clear that Hanoi is most likely to denounce the project and thus free our hand after a short period."

"Nevertheless we might wish to continue the limitation even after a formal denunciation, in order to reinforce its sincerity and put the monkey firmly on Hanoi's back for whatever follows."

The message is quoted at length in portions of the Pentagon papers on the Vietnam war made public Tuesday night and Wednesday by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska. The senator in a suddenly convened one-man hearing of a Senate subcommittee read sections of the controversial study for three hours and 31 minutes.

The result was to make available to newsmen and the public a major share of the material, particularly the narrative account of policy-making and various documents or excerpts. Gravel's aides said some material was screened out of the released material. Some passages had been cut out with a razor blade.

"SAW THE LIGHT" Public reports on the 47-volume, 7,000-page account were started two weeks ago by the New York Times and subsequently published by other newspapers as the secret study leaked widely. The government then took the issue of publication into the courts, obtaining restraining orders against three papers.

Gravel wound up his reading after 1 a.m. and went home to sleep shortly before dawn. His office reported receiving hundreds of telephone calls from around the country praising his action. A spokesman at the Justice Department had no comment on Gravel's action, referring all inquiries to the Defense Department.

"JFK ADVISED" Gravel said there was no justification for keeping the still officially top-secret papers from the American people.

"I have read these documents and I am convinced I am in no way jeopardizing this nation's security," he said.

One of the disclosures in the material released by Gravel was that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara raised with President John F. Kennedy as early as Nov. 8, 1961, the possibility of attacking North Vietnam.

The suggestion was coupled with consideration then being given to a proposal by Gen.

Maxwell Taylor, a Kennedy adviser, for some introduction of U.S. troops into the Mekong Delta area of Vietnam, then a source of Viet Cong strength and a scene of heavy flooding.

The suggestion was made on behalf of Roswell Gilpatrick, McNamara's deputy, and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Death Sentences For Pair Guilty Of Dallas Killings

BELTON, Tex. (AP) — The long appeals route lay ahead today for Rene A. Guzman and Leonardo Ramos Lopez, sentenced to die in the electric chair for the murder of a veteran deputy sheriff.

No one has been executed in Texas since July 30, 1964. Court stays have stopped the carrying out of death verdicts since then.

Lopez' wife burst into tears and had to be led from the courtroom when the sentence was read Tuesday but Lopez, 24, and Guzman, 33, showed no emotion.

The jury of 11 men and one woman gave the two Dallas men the death penalty for the slaying of Ellis County Deputy A. J. Robertson, 59. They were returned to the Dallas County Jail around 8:15 p.m.

"THEY GOT JUSTICE" "I'm glad they got justice," said Robertson's widow, who was in tears throughout most of the two-day trial.

The men were tried only for Robertson's murder but also are charged in the deaths of Dallas County Deputies Samuel Infante, 32, and W. D. Reese, 31. Mrs. H. G. Reese of Dallas, Reese's mother, said of the death verdict: "I think it's wonderful. It was what we wanted."

She also wept as witnesses told of the bloody afternoon last Feb. 15 when her son and the other officers were slain on a Trinity River bank in Dallas.

Two deputies survived and described the shootings in vivid detail from the witness stand.

The case was tried here on a change of venue. The last death sentence handed down in Bell County was in 1957.

"WILL HELP POLICE" An appeal is automatic in death penalty convictions.

Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade personally directed the prosecution—the first time he has done so since the Jack Ruby trial.

"We're very thankful to the jury," Wade said, "because you had three officers killed and this concerns me about what is going on—not only killings but assaulting (policemen)."

He said he felt the death sentence will help law enforcement "not only in Dallas but all over the state."

Earlier, he urged the jury to assess the death penalty as a message to law enforcement officers that "if you or one of your buddies gets killed, a jury will send (the killers) to the electric chair."

"I'm becoming concerned about some people declaring open season on police officers," Wade told the jury.

He prompted a protest from the defense when he said 11 officers across the nation were slain the same week the three deputies were killed.

Judge R. T. Scales of Dallas, told the jury to disregard the remark but overruled a defense motion for a mistrial.

Guzman and Lopez, who have previous burglary convictions, were impassive while a dozen prosecution witnesses testified.

Defense lawyers presented no witnesses, saying in general, that to do so would be to their clients' disadvantage. They also called the facts "pretty cut and dried" and expressed no surprise at the verdict.

Defense attorneys declined to discuss their appeal strategy. Lopez' lawyers had argued Guzman was the leader and Lopez the follower. The also argued he did not fire the shots that killed Robertson, who was struck four times.

More than 150 spectators filled the courtroom in this small Central Texas town to capacity.

Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO (AP) — Between 520 and 620 persons may be killed in traffic accidents over the July 4 weekend, the National Safety Council estimates.

The weekend covers the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. Friday, July 2, to midnight Monday, July 5.

Over the three-day Memorial Day weekend, The Associated Press counted 553 deaths. A year ago, there were 540 traffic fatalities during the July 4 weekend.

Nixon's Jobs Bill Rushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — At President Nixon's belated urging, Congress is rushing through a $2.25-billion public-service jobs bill while a bipartisan effort forms to revive part of a more expensive economy-stimulating measure he vetoed.

The Senate passed the emergency employment act, 75 to 11, Tuesday and House leaders said they will try to send it to the White House before the 4th of July recess begins Thursday.

The Senate vote came just hours after Nixon's veto of a $5.6-billion public works bill he called too slow to fight soaring unemployment. But the President reversed an earlier stand and urged prompt approval of the compromise measure to create temporary jobs which he said could be filled quickly.

TRY TO OVERRIDE

Meanwhile, Democrats announced plans to try to override the veto after the recess, although they conceded privately there is little chance. The Senate on June 8 passed the final version 45 to 33, or seven

Thousands Homeless

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Thousands were said to be homeless and there were unofficial reports of at least 10 deaths today from flooding in the northern, western and central sections of Mexico. Conditions in the west central region were described as the worst. In Mexico City, torrential rains Monday night caused some floods in the southern part of the city. The cities of Leon and Guanajuato, in the State of Guanajuato, were the hardest hit. Thousands there were reported homeless and crops in the region were destroyed. Ten persons were reported dead. In the northern part of the country heavy rains fell in southern Tamaulipas, and the states of Coahuila, and Nuevo Leon. Several small towns were isolated by the heavy rains. Damages were estimated at close to $400,000.

WEBB COUNTY TORNADO 'We Saw It Come Right Through Here'

MIRANDO CITY, Tex. (AP) — Residents got a scare and there was considerable property damage but none was injured as a tornado threshed through the west side of this South Texas town Tuesday night.

Mirando City, with a population of 740, is 32 miles east of Laredo in Webb County.

"We saw it come right through here," said Deputy Sheriff Luis Cardenas.

Roofs and windows of the Mirando City high school and elementary school buildings were damaged heavily, and residential property took a beating. The town's small business district escaped harm.

"I've never seen anything like that in my whole life, and I don't want to ever see another one," Cardenas said.

He described the noise from the twister as like that from a jet plane breaking the sound barrier.

"Nobody was hurt—just our nerves," said Mrs. Israel Gonzalez, at whose home the tornado tore a post off the front porch.

It also moved the Gonzalez garage enough that her husband said he'll have to use a winch truck to remove the undamaged car which was inside.

Mike Black, 20, was walking with a horse as the storm struck. "I heard the tin rustling and the wind blowing," Black said, "and I thought it was a tornado, so we ran for shelter."

Estimates of losses were not available at once. Much of the damage was to roofs and windows, and many trees were unrooted.

Central Power & Light Co. crews arrived shortly afterward and began restoring electrical power. Telephone service also was disrupted.

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

The place in town where there is more fun had for less money is the City Park. As the summer wears on the activities are greater and things that have always been fun for children are still fun. Like swinging. From the small fry up through 12 you can see the children taking turns on the see-saws when the playgrounds are full, or having the time of their lives as they go higher than they've ever been in the big swings.

Not only the children have fun at the park because, believe it or not, a great number of older people, and young ones, too, have a great time on the croquet courts; others play tennis and swim and numbers like to be spectators at the ball games. It would be a great asset to the park if our softball diamond was improved. Maybe the parks and recreation people will get that on their budget sometime.

In Fairfax, Va., they visited her brother and his wife, MR. and MRS. E. M. ALDSMAN and then went to Troy, N.Y., to visit their older daughter, KATHLEEN, her husband, M. J. PEDESCO, and their little daughter, Rachel.

SGT. and MRS. CHARLIE M. SMITH and their sons, Chuck and Gregory, of Hopewell, Va., are visiting in the home of his parents, MR. and MRS. THURLO GRISSAM. They will be here for several more weeks before returning to Hopewell where the family will be during his tour in Vietnam which will begin the latter part of July.

Visiting in the home of their mother, MRS. O. R. SMITH, over the weekend were MR. and MRS. NORRIS SMITH, Mark and Lane, of Stamford and MR. and MRS. HOWARD SMITH of Evergreen, Colo. The men are brothers of Mrs. Thurlo Grissam and the families all visited together. DR. and MRS. W. A. HUNT are enjoying a few days at a favorite pastime — trout fishing. They are in the mountains of Colorado.

MR. and MRS. HAMLIN ELROD have returned from the 10-day Copper Canyon Train Tour, on which they were joined by their son and daughter-in-law, MR. and MRS. H. K. ELROD JR. of Houston and her family, MR. and MRS. R. W. BENTON, RALPH and CINDY of Rosenberg. The group boarded the train at Ojinaga, went sight-seeing in Chihuahua City, then took a new deluxe "Vista-Dome" train through the mountains to Los Mochis and Topolabampo. While the women shopped, the men went deep-sea fishing, with the elder Mr. Elrod catching a sailfish.

Mrs. Elrod said one of the greatest pleasures of the trip was the fact that MR. and MRS. JOE HOLLIDAY of Dallas were on the same tour. Holliday was formerly superintendent of schools at Forsan and his wife, G. W. E. N., was the younger Elrod's first grade teacher. On the return Sunday, the Elrods visited MR. and MRS. WALTER POAGE in Rankin.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: I clean the tracks of my sliding glass doors when they get hard to slide by using a vacuum cleaner first. Just remove the brush part and use the wand by itself. This removes most of the collected soil.

I then use steel wool and some household ammonia and scrub real good. This also works on sliding glass aluminum windows. . . . Amelita Gonzolis

You're right as a rainbow. I cleaned all my tracks like you said. The same day, a friend suggested that I use a wax candle and rub up and down real hard in the runners after cleaning them. So I did, and slid the door back and forth a few times.

The weight of the door spread the wax and now the door slides like magic. I waxed both in

'Firehouse' Helps All Says Webb Doctor

Capt. (Dr.) Samuel Laufer of Webb AFB was guest speaker for the National Secretaries Association Monday evening at Holiday Inn.

As one of the organizers of "A Way Out, Inc." at Firehouse No. 6, Capt. Laufer spoke about drugs and drug associated problems. He said the firehouse is a place for young people as well as adults to go in times of crisis.

"Volunteers at the firehouse help anybody they can," Capt. Laufer said. He indicated that the major problem discussed was drugs, but that volunteers are available to discuss any subject with any person.

Volunteers at the firehouse undergo a seven-week training period, studying under qualified counselors one night per week. The firehouse is open from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays. People may either call or come in to talk over problems.

Mrs. V. V. Ames, president, presided, and Mrs. Frank Long reported on the district meeting held recently in El Paso. Mrs. Aubrey Bryans, local "secretary of the year" was one of the finalists for the district title.

In other business, the members agreed to hold all meetings at the Holiday Inn, the next one being July 26.

Dear Heloise: I have a 3-year-old and up until this week, I couldn't get him to eat his meals.

My husband was telling his doctor's nurse about our child's eating habits, and laughingly told her that his son loved to raid his lunch box.

Need I go on? Every day I pack my son a lunch box. And you wouldn't believe how much he eats. The lunch box is packed with hot nourishing foods, so now he gets all his vitamins and necessary food in balanced meals.

I realize this takes extra time and effort, but it's worth it just to see him eat good meals again. . . . Mrs. William T. Wells

LETTER OF LAUGHTER Dear Heloise: I am 13 years old. This idea may sound sort of crazy (my parents say all of mine do), but believe me, it works!

My best friend and I were fixing a surprise party for my parents while they were in church. The main dish was cream of mushroom soup (my favorite) and you know how dreadfully long it takes soup to cook. The soup was barely warm and my parents would be home in a few minutes.

I thought they could be eating cheese while they waited. Betsy said we should have some crackers with it too. But then since we were having crackers, we should have a dip. I went to the refrigerator and looked. No dip!!

I had a brainstorm. Betsy said, "You're crazy!" But by then my parents were probably on the way home, so she said, "Go ahead."

My parents came in and I served them a pretty, pale-pinkish dip and crackers. They loved it. Mother said, "It's delicious. But I can't quite place the taste, what is it?"

I told her mayonnaise with food coloring. (Don't forget the food coloring.)

By the way, if you don't believe me, taste it! It's groovy! . . . Anne Marie

Dear Heloise: I thought your readers might appreciate this hint. Don't throw out that old worn bedspread. There's still life in the old rag!

When you are going to the beach or lake, and have to park your car under trees or wires, take along this old spread and cover your car with it.

It will certainly help to save the paint on your car from tree sap and bird droppings. . . . A. Doll

Dear Heloise: I needed a couple of extra clothes hampers for my children's rooms, but I didn't want to spend a lot of money on them. So I made them.

I got a couple of tall, thin, cardboard boxes with the lids attached. I reinforced the corners and the lid and then taped the bottoms securely. Colored adhesive-backed paper to match each child's room completed the job.

I now have two extremely neat, colorful hampers that didn't cost a mint and took very little time to make. . . . C.H. (Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

Couple Weds At Andrews

Miss Caroly Jean McPeck and E3 Benny Ray Renfro were married June 5 in the First Baptist Church of Andrews. The evening ceremony was performed by the Rev. Carl Grissom.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McPeck, 310 NW 2nd, Andrews; and Mr. and Mrs. B. John Renfro, 300 SW 3rd, Andrews. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young, 700 E. 15th, Big Spring.

The couple stood at an altar graced with branched candelabra and arrangements of mixed flowers. Archways entwined with emerald foliage and lace wedding bells marked the bridal aisle.

The bride wore a beau de soie gown fashioned in Chantilly lace with a high scalloped neckline and full bishop sleeves. Tiers of scalloped lace cascaded down the front of the bouffant skirt, and a matching lace mantilla formed a chapel train. A cluster of lace petals edged in pearls held her shoulder-length veil of illusion, and she carried a nosegay of carnations, daisies, stephanotis and babies'-breath.

Miss Elaine McPeck served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Alana Foster, Miss Johnna Renfro, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Sharon Eisenbach, San Angelo; and Miss Jan Jennings and Mrs. Joe Don George, both of Austin. Peggy Lee of Big Spring was flower girl.

The attendants wore floor-length, Empire gowns of bitter-sweet orange, accented with white daisies. They wore ripple-brimmed straw hats and each carried a straw basket of daisies.

Miss Beth McPeck and Miss Tana Renfro, sisters of the bride, were candle-lighters.

John Renfro served as best man. Groomsmen were Tim Maghan, Dave Ringoring, Larry Renfro of Lubbock; Danny Ragsdale and Jay Waldrop. Ring bearers were Robert Eggleston, Big Spring; and Gregory Young, Dallas.

Mrs. Bill Smith, organist, provided traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Pam Garrison and Robert Buckley, vocalists.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church fellowship hall, where Miss Kala McGary presided at the guest register. The refreshment table was covered with a white satin cloth, aproned in illusion and bordered in satin. It was centered with a basket of daisies and babies'-breath. Serving were Mrs. Ross McGary, Miss Joy Cook, Miss Dorothy Coon and Miss Debbie Wright.

The couple will reside in Corpus Christi, where Renfro is stationed with the Navy. In August they will move to the Naval Air Station in Hawaii.

Knott Group Reunion Held Here

The annual Knott Homecoming was held Saturday at Cosden Country Club with approximately 150 persons in attendance. In charge of planning the event were the association officers, Mrs. Robert Cheatham, president; Mrs. W. C. Fryar, vice president; Mrs. R. C. Thomas, secretary; and Mrs. Son Ditto, treasurer.

A brief program featured speakers who told of school events during various years. They were Mrs. Lee Castle, who spoke on the 1920's; Miss Marty Mathis, describing the late 1930's and 1940's; and J. T. Lowe who discussed the 1960's.

Gifts were presented to the oldest trustee, Lee Castle; the mother having the most children present who had attended Knott school, Mrs. E. L. Roman; the person who had worked longest for the school system, Edwin Ditto; and the person traveling the longest distance for the reunion, Donald Ray Gross.

New officers elected were Mrs. Bobby Roman, president; Mrs. Leonard Burks, vice president; Mrs. L. C. Cole, recording secretary; Mrs. J. D. Kendrick, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Jones, treasurer; and Mrs. Carl H. Bankston, publicity chairman.

A picnic basket dinner was held inside the club, and visitation followed.

'Quick-Draw Cupid' Is Winner At Shoot Out

As usual, Cupid's aerial activities peaked during May and June. He was also a much busier fellow this year than last, or so the statistics from the Howard County Clerk's office say.

Fifty couples filed for marriage licenses in Howard County in June. But surprisingly enough, the previous month had brought 56.

Last year 45 couples got licenses in June; but May brought only 28 applications in 1970. December, 1970, also a busy period for the fat little guy with the quiver of arrows, brought 33 couples into the courthouse for licenses.

But the months of July and August, each with 39 licenses, and November, with 37, topped December in 1970.

And that leads any interested observer of the amorous archer to conclude that the little fellow much prefers the warmer months of the year.

Carpet Tiles Offer Versatile Decor

Carpet tiles in prints, shags, tweeds and solids, are an exciting and practical innovation in carpeting. These individual carpet squares are made in both 12 and 18-inch tiles and have a high density foam rubber backing which makes a separated padding unnecessary.

According to statistics, marriages in Howard County are on the rise, but young marrieds beware: 90 percent of engaged couples who never argued have their first marital disagreement within three weeks after the wedding, according to Trudi Durlacher, author of "War and Peace in Marriage."

But a comforting thought for June brides and grooms: couples married in June have the lowest divorce rates.

 South suffered an unnecessary loss in his five heart contract today when he merely buried his head in the sand in typical ostrich fashion instead of trying to anticipate and counteract his opponent's obvious strategy.

West opened the bidding with one spade, North made a takeout double and East attempted to preempt the opponents out of bidding space by jumping to three spades. South was not to be denied with his highly distributional holding and he freely bid four hearts. West persisted to four spades, however, North's bid of five hearts closed the auction, altho West registered his opinion by making a penalty double.

West opened the eight of clubs and the ace was played from dummy. The king of hearts was led at trick two. West won with the ace and then underled the ace of spades in a desperate attempt to get his partner in. When East's jack of spades held, he promptly returned a club which West ruffed with the six of hearts for the setting trick.

Despite the fancy footwork exhibited by his opponent, South was in position to forestall his efforts by attempting to disrupt the East-West line of communications. West's lead of an unbid suit was an obvious singleton and inasmuch as his penalty double clearly marks him with the ace of hearts, every effort should be exerted to avert the impending ruff.

South can accomplish his objective provided that West also holds the king of diamonds. All that has to be done is to cash the ace of diamonds at trick two and then continue with the queen. When East follows suit with a small diamond, declarer merely discards his singleton deuce of spades.

West is in with the king of diamonds, but now he has no way to reach his partner. A spade return is ruffed by South and trumps are led. West gets in again with the ace of hearts, but there is no way for him to reach East and when South regains the lead—he draws the last trump and claims his contract. His losses are restricted to two tricks, one heart and one diamond.

'MOUNTAIN LION'S BREATH'

Brazilian Brew On Open Market

LIMEIRA, Brazil (AP) — Just as Scotland has its scotch and Russia has its vodka, Brazil, too, has a national drink. It's a powerful brew known in local slang as "cachaca" or "pinga" and made in thousands of distilleries throughout the country, with techniques handed down from generation to generation.

The alcoholic content ranges from 19 to more than 50 per cent.

Working-class Brazilians tend to gulp down their pinga straight, whereas foreigners usually are obliged to mix it with fruit juice and sugar to make a savory drink known as a "batida."

Renato Ragazzo and his family have been making cachaca for nearly half a century at the Alambique Biera de Estrada — that's Portuguese for "Roadside Still" — near the city of Limeira in the southeastern part of the country.

"Making cachaca is a kind of thing you're practically born into," Ragazzo, 58, told a visitor.

The still produces about 1,000 quarts of pinga a day. The family keeps what it wants and sells the rest. There are now laws in Brazil restricting the production of cachaca. Manufacturers must pay a 46 per cent government tax on what is sold to the public, however.

Cachaca distilleries in Brazil range in size from one-man operations where burros are used to grind the cane, to medium-size installations such as Ragazzo's, to modern automated factories that distribute the drink nationwide.

One large Sao Paulo company which makes a popular brand of cachaca plans to export the drink to the United States and possibly Europe and Japan. Dehydrated fruit flavors will be included for making mix-your-self batidas. To overcome possible hitches in placing its product in non-Brazilian markets, the firm is developing a new strain of sugar cane which will yield pinga that doesn't smell as strong as the local variety.

Some cachaca lovers prefer to custom-age the drink. Patrons of the Roadside Still often bring their own jugs, fill them with pinga and then go home and bury them in their cellars or back yards.

"The cachaca must rest," one customer said.

Federal Building To Open Sept. 9

LAMESA — Six federal agencies are set to begin new operations and office procedures in the Federal Building, formerly the Post Office building, about Sept. 9, said General Administration's regional director Robert Davis of Fort Worth.

Agencies slated to be housed in the newly renovated building include the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service with 1,795 square feet of office space, the Soil Conservation Service with 725 square feet, the Plant Protection of the Department of Agriculture with 360 square feet.

Also, the Farmer's Home Administration with 750 square feet and the General Service Administration, which includes the Selective Service, with 1,710 feet.

When the building was constructed in 1938, it cost $62,337. Since the Post Office moved to new quarters in November of 1969, the building has been remodeled to accommodate the federal agencies, by general contractor J. B. Bibb of Wichita Falls at a cost of $56,339.

The building totals over 5,770 square feet of office space, with much of the space below ground level.

Existing federal agencies are currently being housed in scattered areas of the city including the county courthouse and privately leased buildings.

State Remap Test Shapes

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Two Sherman men filed suit here during the weekend claiming the recent Texas House redistricting bill, which split Grayson County down the middle, is unconstitutional.

Sherman lawyer Jack Kennedy and real estate operator Henry Slagle filed the suit in 15th District Court.

Defendants are Gov. Preston Smith, Gen. Crawford Martin, Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr., Paul Lee, Grayson County clerk, and Les Tribble, Grayson County judge.

The two allege that the House bill conflicts with the Constitution in that the county is entitled to one representative.

The phrase in the Constitution involved says "such counties shall be formed into a separate representative district and that any surplus population be joined in a representative district with another county."

Grayson County has 83,225 population, and under the ideal district, one man should represent about 75,000 persons.

Claims 6,000 Are Left Voiceless

HOUSTON (AP) — When Texas legislators redistricted the House of Representatives this year, they left out 6,000 Harris County residents, the Republican county chairman says.

Nancy Palm called upon Gov. Preston Smith for a special session of the legislature to correct what she called the "unconstitutional situation."

Mrs. Palm said the 6,000 persons in one census tract in northern Harris County were not in anybody's district. She also said other omissions have been found in the Texas House and Texas congressional redistricting bills.

Dope Is No Respector Of Persons Or Class

DALLAS (AP) — Dope is no respecter of persons or class and American industry is regrettably having to admit it is beginning to suffer drug and dope problems.

John Healey, special assistant to the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, carried this grim message recently to the American Society for Personnel Administration.

He said the nation's ghettos, schools and military are not the only areas to have to deal with a rising drug problem.

In one recent survey, he said, more than half of 222 businesses surveyed indicated they had drug abuse problems among their employees.

He said some businesses indicated their problems were "grave."

Healey said that only 9 per cent of businesses surveyed said they had no drug problems but he observed that some of those were probably just ignorant of the real situation.

He noted that most businesses were compassionate toward the problem with most keeping drug-using employees on the payroll while they sought medical help.

But, he said, 22 per cent discharged erring employees while 4 per cent notified authorities.

Although drug abuse is serious, he said, concern is increasing over the rising use of heroin among people in business.

He said that the extremely high costs of heroin cause hooked employees to steal from their firm and to have a high rate of absenteeism.

Healey said a screening program is needed so that industry can weed out drug users as they apply for work.

He said it is too early to predict the impact on the labor force of thousands of returning servicemen who are drug users.

He estimated the number of returning addicts from Vietnam and other military outposts at from between 32,000 and 40,000.

Make your air conditioning work better, cost less.

Here are six tips that will help you get the most comfort from your air conditioning at the lowest possible cost.

Set the thermostat properly: Set the thermostat no lower than necessary for your personal comfort. Most air conditioning specialists recommend a thermostat setting of 76° to 78°. Remember, the lower the setting, the more electricity the unit uses.

Inspect filters often: Clogged filters make the unit work harder and use more electricity. Replacement of disposable filters—or cleaning of permanent types—will help keep the system running more efficiently.

Have regular maintenance checks: Have the unit checked at least once a year by a qualified air conditioning serviceman. Do this in the spring, prior to your need for cooling. It pays!

Trim shrubbery: The outdoor unit needs free air circulation. Help it maintain full efficiency and keep operating costs down by trimming nearby shrubbery and by check-

Insulate: Proper insulation keeps the hot air out, the cool air in. It reduces the cost of winter heating too. Ceiling insulation is particularly important.

Congress Still May Consider Tax Slice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress still may consider a tax cut to stimulate the economy, says the principal architect of tax legislation, even though President Nixon has said he will not seek one.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said in an interview the White House policy statement Tuesday has not changed his mind: He still intends to study the midyear economic data and decide whether to propose tax changes that would release more spendable funds to the private sector.

TAX CREDIT

"I haven't ruled anything out and I haven't decided on anything," Mills said.

However, he is known to consider the quickest-acting tonic to the economy would be revival, in some form, of the investment tax credit repeated in 1969.

Any such business tax relief, it was understood, necessarily would be accompanied by some easing of individual taxes, likely by a speedup of future exemption and deduction liberalizations already written into existing law.

The investment credit allowed businesses to charge off directly against their taxes 7 per cent of their investment in equipment.

CREATE JOBS

Mills and the tax specialists of the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation believe a renewed investment credit would take effect much faster than the liberalized depreciation writeoff provisions the Treasury already has put into effect.

The credit would be available as soon as the investment is

$15,000 AFB Fire

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A 45-minute blaze in the main power sub-station at Randolph Air Force Base Monday afternoon caused an estimated $15,000 in damage before being tapped out by base firefighting personnel.

A spokesman said damage was confined mainly to the building itself and only the control gear of the semi-automated electric load switching equipment suffered. No men were in the sub-station when the fire broke out.

Rocket Attack Wipes Out Allied Ammunition Dump

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong mortars wiped out the biggest ammunition depot in the central region of South Vietnam today, and military sources said allied operations in the region may be seriously imperiled for several days.

The enemy mortars hit the depot at Qui Nhon, 265 miles northeast of Saigon, for the second day in succession, destroying more than 10,000 tons of artillery shells, bombs and other ammunition, sources said. The attack Tuesday had destroyed at least 2,500 tons.

"It was like a volcano erupted," one American eyewitness reported. "The sky was lit up all night."

The explosions shook down ramshackle houses half a mile away.

Initial reports said four South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 11 were wounded. The attack Tuesday morning killed the area thoroughly.

It was the third time in a week and the sixth time this year the ammunition dump has been shelled with heavy losses.

Fighting also continued along the demilitarized zone some 250 miles north of Qui Nhon.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 55 North Vietnamese were killed Tuesday in a series of clashes just to the north of Fire Base Fuller. South Vietnamese losses were three killed and 10 wounded, headquarters said.

Enemy troops ambushed a patrol of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division eight miles southwest of Phu Bai, wounding five Americans. Enemy losses were not known.

Better taste. It's written all over our label.

DEATH SQUAD — Authorities say that Sergio Fleury, a police precinct chief in Sao Paulo, has been identified as the leader of a Death Squad or police vigilante group.

BREWED WITH PURE SPRING WATER
Pearl is better beer because it's spring water fresh, spring water smooth. From the Country of 1100 Springs.

SINCE 1886
Back in 1886, Pearl discovered the Country of 1100 Springs. And the country discovered a great new beer. A beer brewed with a unique German formula and pure Texas Spring Water.

PEARL—A PROUD NAME
Over 100 years ago, a brewmaster in Germany watched the bubbles rise in a glass of beer. They looked like little pearls so he called them perlen. The word perle came to mean the sparkle—the life—of the beer. Years later, a famous German brewery in Bremen chose Perle as the name for its finest lager beer.

Perle. Our founders brought both the name and the formula over from Germany in 1886. And the proud name of Pearl began.

FINE LAGER BEER
The word "lager," from the German verb, "lagern," means to store or to age. Centuries ago, German monks aged their beer in cool mountain caves. Today, Pearl Beer is placed in special glass-lined tanks in refrigerated aging cellars. There it is slowly "lagered" to bring its famous flavor and aroma to perfection. Pearl Beer. The fine lager beer Texans proudly call their own.

TEXAS LIMESTONE
Underground formations provide a natural filtration system for our perfect brewing water.

COLD, CLEAR, CASCADING WATER.
Hear it?

GOLD CAN

XXX

When European royalty and noblemen traveled the countryside in the 16th century, a courier was sent ahead to sample the beer in the inns along the way. If the beer was average, the courier would mark the inn's door with a single X. If the beer was good, two X's marked the spot. But if the beer was of the highest quality, the inn received three X's. XXX. The meaning hasn't changed.

BRIGHT RED

THE COUNTRY OF 1100 SPRINGS

Hidden deep in the hills of Southwest Texas is one of the great spring regions of the world, the Country of 1100 Springs. It's a big, lonesome land. Still wild. Rugged. And free.

This six-million-acre stretch of scenic beauty is dotted with crystal-clear springs. The icy water from these natural fountains flows into noisy rivers like the Frio and the Medina, and then disappears underground into honeycombed limestone.

Never leaving this snow-white stone, the spring water makes its way south and east into the natural underground reservoir where our own wells find it, a quarter mile beneath the Pearl Brewery. Up comes one of the world's few naturally perfect brewing waters. Fresh. Clear. Perfect for capturing all the life and good taste in Pearl's fine grains and hops.

The delicate flavors you often miss in other beers can't hide in this rare water. Pour yourself a cold Pearl Beer. Every refreshing sip will take you back to the Country of 1100 Springs.

KENT CREEK FALLS,

Real County, Texas. The cold spring water that feeds this fall is the same famous water that brews Pearl Beer.

COME HOME TO TEXAS. COME HOME TO PEARL.

Forgeries Flood Market, Hungry For Russell Art

By MARCIA LEE HELENA, Mont. (AP) — A good Charles M. Russell oil painting might sell for $90,000 today. A good Charles M. Russell oil that's forged might sell for $20,000 today also. A market that's hungry for the famous Montana cowboy artist's works is hungrily seeking Russell's genuine pieces and buying more and more forgeries. Not all the forgeries are worthless, and some are quite good according to Morgan. "Every once in a while I find a painting I'm sure Russell never saw, but the painter who did it was very good, so it's still worth something," he notes. Russell copiers work in several ways. Some paint a copy of an original and try to pass it off as the real thing. Others copy figures from two or three genuine Russell paintings and put them into one picture. A third group will take pieces by other artists and put Russell's name on them. Occasionally, someone will sell something as a Russell because family legend says so. A piece is not considered a forgery until it has been sold as an original, so faking a Russell painting and putting his signature on it is no crime. But ket for Russell's things now, so there's a large influx of fakes," Morgan said. "Most forgers offer their works as bargains." People in the art world want them and they buy them because the price is just a little below what it should be. "I've never seen an out-and-out forgery that approached Russell's capabilities," the museum curator says. Careful examination of the Russell technique — something Morgan has studied since 1936 — is Morgan's way of telling the best fakes' from genuine Russell works. "I've studied the work for over 30 years," he says, "and I'm familiar with it. There isn't a heck of a lot he's done I don't know about. "Russell had a certain feel and he did things in a consistent way," he adds. Morgan has a nearly limitless number of ways of discovering a fake Russell. Forgers of originals usually make their copies larger than the originals, he said. Often, Morgan knows a piece brought in to be authenticated cannot be genuine because he knows in what collection it is housed. "Russell never duplicated anything," he added. "If someone brings in a painting and I recognize elements of it as being from another painting, I know right away it's not original." The curator also carefully examines the composition and color of the work. Russell worked quite crudely in his early work, according to Morgan. Since

Russell used eight or nine different signatures during different periods of his life, matching signatures with style also gives some clue about a piece's authenticity. "The subject matter is a clue too," he said. "Russell painted different things at different times. The brush work, pigment, even ultra-violet can tell of it's original." Sometimes copiers take parts of paintings from other artists. An entire figure in one painting Morgan saw — hat, chaps and horse — came from a Remington painting. "I got a catalog of Remington's work and found the exact figure," says Morgan. "Of course now no one is scratching Remington's name off and putting Russell's on." "I've even seen a few Remington forgeries, though they're less common, especially here since we specialize in Russell," he says.

Texas Ranger Captain Hit Store Clerk?

CARRIZO SPRINGS, Tex. (AP)—A second suit has been filed here on behalf of a grocery store clerk who claims he was struck by retired Texas Ranger Capt. A. Y. Allee Sr. The Mexican-American Legal Defense Fund filed a petition seeking the removal of Peace Justice George Farris from his post. It alleged Farris refused to accept an assault complaint against Allee. A hearing on the legal aid group's petition has been set for Sept. 8 in 49th District Court. The petition was submitted on behalf of Abel Lopez Jr., 27, of Carrizo Springs, who claims Allee struck him at the food store where he works. The defense fund filed a $25,000 suit against Allee earlier. It alleges in the latest case that Farris refused to accept Lopez' complaint against Allee June 11, when he tried to file it with the peace justice three days after the alleged incident.

Lamesan's Swedish Visitor Slated To Arrive Today

Perhaps Some Guidelines

The Supreme Court's decision Monday concerning state aid for parochial schools is hailed in some quarters as a legal landmark, yet the court did not say much that it had not previously said except to make a unique distinction between one shot and continuing assistance.

The court held that it is unconstitutional for states to provide money for direct use of religious or church-operated schools through the high school level. On the other hand, the court said it is permissible for the federal government to provide construction grants to church-affiliated colleges and universities for non-religious purposes.

Apparently, the decision does not affect state or local aid in the areas of school bus transportation, non-religious textbooks, tuition payments to parents, or similar assistance where the child, not the school or teacher, is the direct beneficiary.

The majority opinion, which alluded to greater maturity and ability for critical response on the part of college-level students, over these in elementary and secondary schools, did not make clear what would happen if a grant were made for a building, such as a gymnasium, which later was used for a religious assembly.

Justice Douglas tartly jibed at the majority opinion: "The... distinction is in effect that small violations of the first amendment over a period of years are unconstitutional, while a huge violation occurring only once is not."

Perhaps the most logical conclusion to draw from the decision is that by not disturbing the student-state relationship, the court has thus indirectly established some guidelines for steering through the shoals of state-church separation.

The Message

The House, by a substantial margin, Monday killed a motion which would have accepted the Senate's requirement in the draft bill extension of an end to the Vietnam War within nine months. This leaves uncertain the results of a House-Senate conference on their separate versions of the measure, and the first casualty may be the draft extension itself.

If polls mean anything, there is widespread agreement that the United States should divest itself of direct involvement in Vietnam as expeditiously as possible. But there are so many impediments in a situation like this that it is, in our view, unwise to fix a rigid cutoff date that cuts the ground out from under the President or others in negotiations or in withdrawals based on practicalities rather than the calendar. The message is clear, and that's the crux of it.

Casey Hart At The Bat

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

Now that my esteemed colleague, Tommy Hart, is off on vacation, this should be a good time to tell about his moment of sports glory.

When the Depression came on and dictated an end to the famous Texas & Pacific baseball club and then put the coup de grace to the original West Texas league, a rash of independent sandlot teams came along. Then things settled down to about three regular contingents, the eternal Tigers, the Cosden Oilers under Spike Henniger, and a group of us who weren't quite good enough for Cosden. We went under various names, but mostly under the White Collars.

THIS WAS the team that Tommy and I, along with Red McMahan, our pressman, and Granville (Grampy) Glenn, our printer, played on. We pooled our talents with worthies as V.A. (High Ball) Whittington, Morris and Pete Redding, A. (Stonewall) Jackson, C. M. Epps, Albert (Hook Arm) Hartmann, Leonard (Blow) Morgan. Of course, we borrowed a few from other ball clubs now and then.

We pooled our resources to buy a few balls and bats and also to get enough gasoline to go out to an outlying area, and our uniforms were mostly old work clothes, or parts of a uniform we had kept from previous teams. All in all we were a pretty nondescript, but a not-too-bad baseball team.

WE GENERALLY played on even terms with the Forsan club, except when they made a deal for Windmill Brown to pitch for them. Similarly, we were about as good as the Coahoma ball club. Except when the Tigers got Hook Arm rattled on bunt situations, we played them on even terms.

While we took our lumps now and then, we usually could win when playing the smaller communities such as Bisco except when one of the Brummitts (seem like he had gone to the Texas League) blazed the ball like a meteor; Luther, Hartwells (I learned about the folly of blocking a base out there when a raw-boned native sent me rolling into right field and the ball into left).

ONE YEAR we signed up for a tournament at Knot; and we worked our way to the finals against the home team for the "county championship." Everytime we got a run, they got it back plus one. One of the Airhart boys had an affinity for the cotton patch beyond right field. One time he hit one to centerfield, but by that time Morris Redding was playing so far back we had to send smoke signals when the inning was over. By running like a deer, he managed to snag the ball on the fly just as it entered Martin County.

WE STILL were ahead when Airhart came up again and Red waved off the signal of our catcher. They had a conference and the catcher assured Red "he can't hit there." This was an erroneous conclusion, and the rightfielder lost it in the cotton patch.

Now we were behind and were out of times at bat. We managed to get the bases jammed, and up came Tommy, who I must confess, was less than a formidable stick man. The pitcher blazed a couple by him and let go a third pitch.

I think Hart started swinging when the pitcher started to throw. Anyhow, he connected and knocked the ball a country mile. Anyone else could have circled the bases twice, but Tommy barely got to third. No matter, it won the game for us. Over the years we sought to analyze his great hit, and I feel certain I now know how he did it. He shut his eyes.

Teddy's The Target

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — It's official. The Republican National Committee, which is to say Richard Nixon, has publicly launched the administration's campaign to win the Democratic Presidential nomination for its favorite candidate — Sen. Ted Kennedy.

PREVIOUSLY, administration insiders had admitted only privately that Nixon preferred to run against Kennedy. But "Monday," the GOP committee's official organ, now has come into the open and described Kennedy as "a candidate, a viable candidate, THE leading candidate for his party's nomination." In the shorthand of politics, this says that's the way Nixon wants it to be.

AS NOTED periodically in this space, the President wants Kennedy because he believes he'll be easier to beat than, say, Maine's Sen. Ed Muskie.

In the latter contest, Nixon himself tossed an official punch the other day when he attacked Kennedy's compulsory health care plan, while carefully neglecting to mention the Senator by name. The White House then made it clear the President was referring to Kennedy.

THERE WAS a cute ambivalence to "Monday's" appraisal of Teddy. Deadpan, it listed five Kennedy assets, from "the old Kennedy charisma and magic," through his strength among the young, poor and black, his front-running position with the party's rank-and-file and his labor support, to the possibility that the merging candidacies of Sen. Henry Jackson and Rep. Wilbur Mills would split anti-Kennedy delegate votes, especially in the South. Then "Monday" took off the kid gloves.

CITING NINE Kennedy "liabilities," the newsletter let Teddy have it in brawling language aimed at the jugular. Said "Monday," Kennedy is "defeatist" about the Vietnam War; his rhetoric borders "on the demagogic (to) elate the kooks and excite the radical fringe."

Finally, the predictably, "Monday" turned its attention to Chappaquiddick. "A crippling blow to Kennedy," said the newsletter, "readily seen in the fact that it was not for Mary Jo Kopechne's death in the car beneath Dyke Bridge, the race for the nomination would have been decided long ago... The size of the impact of Chappaquiddick on Kennedy's nomination, or a Kennedy election is perhaps the largest unknown in the prospects of any Democratic candidate since Al Smith's Catholicism..."

THIS WAS the sign to the GOP faithful that from here in the wars are off. It says that Chappaquiddick will be the No. 1 code word in the Republican maneuverings toward the 1972 election. The word may never be uttered by Richard Nixon, but the Republican establishment has served notice that it will get a strenuous workout in other quarters.

Robert E. Ford

Associated Press Writer

For such a moment of high drama, the tragedy unfolded in a surprisingly low key.

A little illumination filtered through the cracks in the bank lobby's drawn blinds. Dim electric bulbs glowed to guide the night guards soon to be touring the building.

The little cluster of men in the lobby were almost lost in its vastness. They spoke to each other in near whispers when they talked at all.

BURSTING at last from a corridor leading from a room deeper in the bank came a short, heavy-set young man wearing a dark suit and horn-rimmed glasses. His face was extremely grim.

The man walked very rapidly, responding to no queries, and disappeared into what by now was dusk.

Three reporters were present to record the event, if memory remains sound after almost a decade.

One was the late Harry McCormick of the Dallas News, an old pro crime specialist. Another was Editor Tommy Thompson of the Amarillo Globe-Times. The Associated Press man was there.

The three lighted a slow burning fuse that set off a series of powerful explosions across the nation which will end in a few days when Billie Sol Estes walks out of La Tuna Correctional Institute near El Paso.

What had been happening in West Texas was known to a few, but such secrecy surrounded the situation that it was impossible to tie Estes' name to anything under libel law theory of that time.

THE SIGHT of Estes' face coming from a creditors' meeting tied to other information made the facts known to that point publishable. They would have become public eventually anyway.

The information grew into a great national issue, Page One day after day. Politicians screamed and counter-screamed. Television comedians found new material for quips.

Basically, Estes was convicted and sentenced to 15 years in prison because he borrowed money with fertilizer tanks as security. The tanks never existed. West Texas couldn't have used $25 million worth of such equipment in a million years.

There were a lot of side issues investigated, ranging from close maneuvering with cotton acreage allotments to undue influence possibly exerted in high places. Nothing ever was proven.

NOW THAT ESTES is headed for West Texas to work as a farm laborer under terms of his parole and perhaps of his own choice, some questions arise again.

The main question is: How did Estes trap himself with a circle of borrowing money and then borrowing more to pay for the first debts until things got desperate and he was hopelessly ensnared?

No one will ever know. It happens to so many people that it is taken as an accepted law of economics.

WHEN IT ALL was over, Estes had $1,799,659 to apply on debts of $34 million owed 400 persons.

The federal government skimmed off $733,514 of that, the bankruptcy trustee $167,000, the trustee's lawyer $108,000 and the court clerk $76,348. Creditors got the rest.

HIT THE BULLSEYE!

Economic Slowdown

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — You can show the effect of the economic slowdown in countless ways, but one of the statistical proofs that you probably haven't heard about is this:

Last year, 53 of the nation's leading corporations and seven government agencies participated in the National Urban League's summer fellowship program that provided summer employment for 192 educators from black colleges.

In 1971, the number of participating government agencies remains the same but the list of corporations is down to 41 and, to date, only 125 educators have been placed.

The cutback comes despite wide and sometimes enthusiastic approval of the program, which was begun in 1965 in an effort to bridge the gap between the black community and the business establishment.

Under the program, both educators and corporations make known their desires to the NUL, which then matches them. The educators receive the same salary as in his primary job, plus all travel and living expenses.

The work assignment is directly related to the educator's academic discipline so that he not only can contribute but benefit from on-the-job experience, which he then may relate to his students.

At Eastman Kodak, Dr. Joe Johnson of Atlanta University worked in the chemistry division of the research laboratory.

"He developed an assay for the first enzyme in the pentaerythritol degradative pathway in bacteria," a company spokesman wrote. "As a result he was able to trap and isolate a new pentaerythritol metabolite."

The letter to the NUL continues: "Out of this biological method he made and characterized seven new compounds analogous to the pentaerythritol metabolite. This summer's work should yield several publications and possibly a patent."

Some sponsors are quite openly interested in obtaining information that perhaps only a black can provide. At Omaha National Bank, Dr. Henry Ponder, vice president of Alabama A&M, is studying the black citizen's environment.

NUL officials hope the program will grow before the summer is out, but a spokesman expressed fear that the total won't exceed 150.

View From Taiwan

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Ever since the American table tennis team came back from Red China and it appeared that a friendly relationship was going to be established between the Peking regime and the United States, many people have been wondering what would happen to the Nationalist Republic on Formosa. Would it be abandoned by the United States? Would it have to give up its membership in the United Nations and its seat on the Security Council?

ODDLY ENOUGH, the government at Taipei had little to say publicly until just a few days ago, when its ambassador to the United States, James C. H. Shen, made a frank speech to the National Press Club in Washington. He said at the outset of his talk:

"There are many in your country who are convinced that the free world can live on friendly terms with an aggressive communist dictatorship such as that which is headed by Mao Tse-Tung. Although we respect the sincerity of effort, we in Taiwan do not share your optimism.

"IF WE of the Republic of China seem to have little faith in often-voiced hope of building bridges to the communist-occupied Chinese mainland, it is because we have a long and bitter experience with Mao Tse-Tung and his cohorts. We have learned, at a great cost, the worthlessness of the fanatical ruthlessness with which he pursues his goals. We know that even behind Chou en-Lai's much-publicized smiles lurks the unaltered intent to trap the free world, and especially the United States, into letting down its guard. We know from their own boasts that their aim is the subjugation of the world. With such an opponent, truces are meaningless."

THE AMBASSADOR went on to say that the Chinese communist regime has not changed at all, and he called attention to the current campaign against the United States by newspapers which are owned and controlled by the Peking government. He pointed out that, scarcely a month after "the ping pong overtures," the Peking Press published an editorial "which touched an almost all-time low in savage hatred and contempt for the United States." He quoted from other newspapers in Red China, "all official organs of the communist regime," and asserted that there is no sign of receding one inch from past policies, no matter what concessions the United States is willing to make. The ambassador made another significant point. He declared:

"IN ALL THE utterances of Mao Tse-Tung and Chou en-Lai, one thing is always noteworthy: In official pronouncements they make no attempt to speak to the United States government. If you read their statements closely, you will note that they are always speaking over the head of the U.S. government to what they describe as the rebellious masses of American people. Their words are not words of amity. They are the words of an unchanging enemy government which is thinking constantly about incitement of revolution in this country."

AMBASSADOR SHEN said he is convinced that the United States will not desert his country and that Americans are "too intelligent and too knowledgeable not to realize that their self-interest lies with the Republic of China on Formosa and not with the Chinese Communists who oppose everything for which America stands."

Bats In Your Belfry?

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — How's your belfry today? Any bats batting around in it?

The question has you worried, doesn't it? The world is so weird that it's hard to say whether you're in it or out of it, isn't it?

So maybe we'd better give you a quick mental checkup to see whether all your gears are grooving, right? Okay, here we go. All you have to do is answer the following questions:

Have you ever written an anonymous letter to your congressman?

When your wife is ill and you have to do the laundry, how many cups of detergent do you use? One to three? Four to five?

If you really got mad enough to kill somebody, would you rather do it by shooting him with a bow and arrow, pouring molten lead on him, or stuffing him with sandy spinach? Would the fact that lead is poisonous affect your decision?

As a child did you ever get your hands spanked for putting beans up your nose?

Are you still afraid of gypsies? Thunder and lightning? Your boss? Your mother-in-law's only daughter?

Does it make you feel sexy all over when you hear somebody say "vice versa"?

When you see a picture on television showing a family eating, do you head for the refrigerator for a snack at the first program break?

Is there any heredity in your family? If so, how much?

If no one in the supermarket was looking, which would you steal first: a can of dog food, a package of cat food, or a frozen breaded veal cutlet?

Can you look yourself in the eye and honestly tell yourself that you are exactly the kind of man your mother wanted you to grow up to be? If not, what defect in your mother's character caused you to fail?

Can you recall any occasion when the knowledge of algebra you gained as a high school freshman helped save your life later? Is this your fault?

How low down can you sometimes get when you're really feeling high?

If you transpose a juxtaposition in a right angle triangle, is that legal justification for you to transfigure an adenoidal octoploid?

Those are the questions. Now I suppose you want to know your score. Well, first let me ask you one final question, and then you can probably figure out your own score.

Do you think anyone who takes the time to sit down and answer a series of questions like these is anywhere normal to begin with?

Billy Graham

My Answer

You have been called a conservative in theology. Isn't this concept of Christianity so out of step with modern problems that it is irrelevant?

I would rather be called an evangelical theologian, but I do not admit that a high Biblical view is irrelevant and "out of step" with modern problems. True, many so-called conservatives have isolated themselves from social problems, and perhaps overemphasized the personal salvation ethic to the exclusion of its application to current social problems. I don't believe it is an "either-or" proposition. I have the conviction that those who advocate social action to the exclusion of conversion are missing the boat, and vice versa. Christ taught both. He spelled out the necessity of the "new birth," but He also, in parable and statement, urged people to love their neighbor, and to help the underprivileged, the alienated, and the poor.

The experience of "the new birth" enables us to implement social action and change. Christ not only transforms the individual, but, if individuals translate His love into life. He affects society. This is historically true. Personal salvation is the beginning of neighborly love, and if it stops short of that it raises the question whether the individual has had a confrontation with Christ.

A Devotion For Today...

Let us no more pass judgment on one another, but rather decide never to put a stumbling-block or hindrance in the way of a brother. (Romans 14:13, RSV)

PRAYER: O Thou who taught us that all men are our brothers, teach us not to be critical of others, but to help them so that they may become better persons. In the name of Jesus, who made us realize this kind of brotherhood. Amen.

Wife Too Busy

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a man, 64 years old. I retired two years ago and I am very lonely. You see, my wife, who is 60, took a job selling in a retail store some years back because she wanted to do something more exciting than just housework. Her selling job paid poorly, but she never quit because she says she enjoys selling. Her boss is about 50, and she eats up his flattery. She enjoys the attention of any man who is younger than I am.

I had hoped that after my retirement my wife and I could travel and live out our golden years in pleasure and relaxation, but she refuses to quit her job. She has no appreciation for the security I have worked all and they kiss like a man would kiss a woman. My husband tells me that this is an old Italian custom as the Italians are very affectionate people. I am not Italian, but I have known a lot of Italians and I have never seen this done by two men.

My husband and I are both middle-age and have been married less than two years, and he shows more enthusiasm when he kisses Dino than when he kisses me. Should I worry?

RHODE ISLAND READER
DEAR READER: Affectionate men of all nationalities will sometimes greet each other with a firm embrace. But kissing "like a man would kiss a woman" is something else. Worrying won't help. Ask your husband to state his preference.

DEAR ABBY: A young woman I've been dating several months has informed me that nothing has come of our little "flirtation." That doesn't bother me as much as her reason — now get this, "You are nice a guy."

DEAR TOO: Leo Durocher said it. But don't you believe it. (Leo is far from "finished" himself, so how would he know?)
What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. I'll address the envelope.

Your Arteries

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My disease has been determined, diagnosed as having Buerger's disease. How frequently does this occur in men of that age? He has been a heavy smoker, 2 1/2 to 3 packs of cigarettes a day. With this diagnosis he has entirely stopped smoking. We know that such patients have to stop smoking, but has smoking been found to be totally responsible? —G.B.

Buerger's disease is inflammation of the small arteries which, as you might well suspect, results in disturbed circulation in the extremities. This can cause cramping, a feeling of coldness, and sometimes other symptoms. No definite cause of the statistics on the incidence of Buerger's disease, but men are affected more often than women, and it has been observed that Jewish men, for whatever reason, seem more likely to develop it. It ordinarily is detected at an earlier age than in your husband's case, usually somewhere between the ages of 20 and 45, but it can begin in patients who are in their 70s.

Dear Dr. Trosteson: What causes a person to develop piles? My doctor prescribed medication, part of which was a mild laxative, and a cream. All trouble disappeared for a little while. Then it all came back again. What can be done to get rid of piles and prevent them from coming back? —Mrs. J.M.

Heredity (some tendency to weakness in the veins) is sometimes a factor. The biggest cause, however, is usually constipation. I strongly suggest you read my booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids," which you can obtain by sending 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Big Spring Herald. Local treatment by suppositories and salves may give temporary relief but does not eliminate the situation completely.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A relative of mine, a young mother, has an overactive thyroid and a noticeable goiter but refuses to take treatment prescribed by her doctor because she can "eat all she wants and not gain an ounce." What are the results of such conduct? —J.S.

Consequences may be a so-called "nervous breakdown," extreme irritability, thyro-toxic heart disease, and various symptoms stemming from pressure of the goiter. I hope she won't get into as much trouble as she most likely will.

"Tips On How To Stop Smoking," by Dr. Thosteson, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of his booklet, write to him in care of The Herald, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and you can obtain by sending 25 cents in coin and a long, self-

THE EAGLE HAS LANDED!

The Eagle Lands In Big Spring

"The Eagle has landed," were the first immortal words uttered when American astronauts landed on the moon.

Those words took on an added meaning several months ago when Eagle Homes, a division of Addison Industries, of Addison, Alabama, decided to locate a mobile home plant in Big Spring.

The location of the plant here, the site is at the corner of Eleventh Place and FM 700, is the fruition of many months of hard work by Big Spring's Industrial Foundation.

Realtor Jeff Brown of The Home Company, 710 W. 4th, has been appointed the local franchised dealer for the Eagle Homes to be manufactured right here in Big Spring.

Since the Big Spring plant is about 60 days from completion, Eagle Homes are being brought in from the Alabama plant and offered to purchasers at the same price you will pay for a mobile home manufactured here.

This means you save several hundred dollars on transportation charges when you purchase an Eagle Home.

Eagle Mobile Homes have as their slogan, "a change from the ordinary." Featuring full-length glass bay windows, antique wood beams, vaulted ceilings, sliding glass patio doors, housetype doors and windows, shag and indoor carpet, colorfully decorated with fine furniture and appointments, Eagle homes are a change from the ordinary mobile home.

They are available in Early American, African, Old English, Mediterranean and Spanish decor.

In appreciation for having been appointed the Big Spring dealer for Eagle Homes, Brown announces this limited introductory offer: "The regular sale price of all Eagles sold during July will also include at no extra cost: refrigerated air conditioning installed, ready-for-use."

Let Brown, Charles Hans or Fields show you Big Spring's own mobile home, The Eagle. The Home company is not having a stock reduction sale at their sales lot at 710 W. 4th to make room for more Eagle Homes.

The Home company is not eliminating other brands of mobile homes from their lot, but is simply adjusting inventory.

Many fine brands of mobile homes that may be purchased at savings up to $1,500 during this sale include Grand Western, Patriot, Carriage House, Saratoga and Grenadier. Those special discounts, plus low cost financing up to 10 years and low down payments make owning a mobile home easier that ever before, with greater savings than before.

During the stock reduction sale, all homes sold will include air conditioning at no additional cost.

Fine Bequest

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Salvation Army has received a bequest of $201,000 from the estate of former oilman Clay Moore who died at 79 in 1968.

Officials said the money will be used in capital improvements and building facilities rather than in day-to-day operation.

Pocket-Sized Calculator Is Available At Graham's

Now available at Graham's Office Machines is the amazing new product from Canon, the world's first endless pocket-size printing calculator.

The Pocketronic calculator is remarkably small and compact. It is hand sized, lightweight and pocketable. You can carry it anywhere — in your pocket, briefcase or handbag.

It can add, subtract, multiply and divide. It is also capable of chain multiplication and division, calculations by a constant, raising to a power and mixed calculations.

Not only does Graham's carry the pocket size calculator, the store also has the Logos 270 desk top electronic printing calculator. It employs the integrated circuit whose large capacity, electronic speed, simplicity and ease of operation make it a desirable tool in solving all arithmetic operations.

Some features of the versatile, easy-to-operate machine are its ability to automatically reset, provide division equals, perform automatic squaring, percent and square-root.

Also featured on the Logos 270 are the decimal control button and the three independent accumulating registers.

Typewriters of the finest quality around, the Underwood and Olivetti machines, are at Graham's also.

Handy for any college freshmen on the way to the campus is the portable Olivetti "Valentine" typewriter. It is sturdy, compact and features the margin, line and ribbon control of the larger typewriters.

The "Valentine" features a touch and typing stroke comparable to the standard size machine, and at $54.50, it is the most efficient typewriter on the market today.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The 20-mile highway up 14,110 foot Pikes Peak, which overshadows this city, is considered one of the most expensive to maintain in the world.

Seven million cubic feet of snow must be removed from the road when clearing begins each spring. Once the snow has been cleared and the road opened, water from the melting snow fields presents a drainage problem, sometimes washing away huge sections of pavement.

Victory Slips Away From Cliff Richey In Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Cliff Richey, big-hearted in defeat, said today he hoped his conqueror, Ken Rosewall of Australia, will win Wimbledon.

"If you want a prediction, I have to lean towards Stan Smith or John Newcombe," the U.S. Davis Cup star from Sarasota, Fla., said. "But for sentimental reasons I hope it will be Kenny."

Rosewall edged Richey 6-8, 5-7, 6-4, 9-7, 7-5 in a four-hour marathon Tuesday and qualified for a semifinals meeting Thursday with Newcombe, the Australian who is bidding for his third Wimbledon crown in five years. Smith, of Pasadena, Calif., has to play Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash.

Rosewall and Richey got a thunderous standing ovation from the 15,000 fans on the center court after their epic match. Richey—the man who used to have a reputation as a tiger who blew up in defeat—walked off the court with his arm round Rosewall's shoulder.

It was one of Wimbledon's great thrillers. Richey won the first two sets and was 4-2 up in the third when Rosewall started his charge back.

In the final set both players had their chances for a break and both got out of awkward situations with vintage tennis.

"I feel so much respect for Kenny that I didn't feel too bad about losing," Richey said.

Rosewall planned to relax today, with just a little practice on one of Wimbledon's outer courts.

"I guess I'll be tired, but I'll be all right for the semifinals on Thursday," Rosewall said.

"I'm older than some of the other fellows, so I don't get back trouble."

This was a crack at some of the stars who have been nursing back complaints—Gorman, Newcombe, Rod Laver of Australia and Roger Taylor of England.

Today was semifinals day for the women.

Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., three-time Wimbledon queen and the last American hope, faced 19-year-old Australian Evonne Goolagong and Margaret Court of Australia, the defending champion, was paired against Judy Dalton, another Australian.

Semi-Final Tilt Protested In Church Loop Tourney

Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church turned Westside Baptist into the losers bracket 10-4 in the second round of the Big Spring Church League tournament Tuesday evening.

But whether it sticks is another matter. Westside lodged a protest against the use of an ineligible player by Immaculate Heart, and this is to be decided this evening. It could be the game will stand, be forfeited or played over. If it stands, Immaculate Heart is in the finals with an unblemished tournament record; if it is lost, then the Catholics will be in the losers bracket and Westside in the winners.

Play resumes Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Comanche Trail Park.

In the first game Tuesday, Westside Baptist took advantage of one big inning and some loose fielding to down the First Baptists 9-8. Then in the next game, Westside lost a one-run tilt to First Assembly of God 6-5 despite a heroic two-run rally in the bottom of the last inning.

In the opener Pickle got an inside-the-park homer for First Baptist and Sullivan doubled for Westside. Franklin doubled for Westside in the second, and despite a barrage of hits in the third, all were scored as singles. Smothers and Delk each had four for four, while Fridell, Wolf and Akins had two each. A strong south wind was a factor in the hitting.

The box scores:

First Game		Second Game		Third Game
Team	Score	Team	Score	Team	Score
Westside Baptist	9-8	Westside Baptist	6-5	Westside Baptist	9-8
First Baptist	8-9	First Baptist	5-6	First Baptist	8-9
Assembly of God	5-6	Assembly of God	6-5	Assembly of God	5-6
Immaculate Heart	4-10	Immaculate Heart	10-4	Immaculate Heart	4-10

Loop Considers Move Of Sens To Dallas-Ft. Worth

WASHINGTON (AP)—American League club owners are meeting in an extraordinary session in Detroit today to consider a request by owner Bob Short to move his Washington baseball club to Dallas-Fort Worth, the Washington Star said.

The paper said there is a remote possibility the Senators would play the second half of the season in the 28,000-seat stadium in Arlington, Tex., despite the complications that would arise concerning ticket holders, radio and television commitments and schedules.

Short, who owes the District of Columbia Army Board $135,000 for 1970 and $26,000 this year for rental of Robert F. Kennedy Stadium, has received correspondence from the board that gate receipts may be attached if he doesn't pay up.

Short has said many times he has the votes necessary to move the franchise, plus the guarantee of a rent-free stadium and a radio-TV contract of over $1 million.

It would take nine votes of the American League owners for Short to move. Counting his own, the Star said he is believed to have eight sewed up before the meeting starts.

The Star said Boston, Cleveland, New York, Oakland, Minnesota, California and Milwaukee are reported to be sympathetic.

Philly's Boo Birds Give Seaver Standing Ovation

By The Associated Press
 It starts deep in the throat, works its way up over the tongue and explodes through the teeth. It is a long, lusty "booooo" and it is the trademark of the Philadelphia fan.

Phillie fans boo so much that there have been times the Liberty Bell and Star Spangled Banner were considered in danger next. But they pulled a switch on Tuesday night and, believe it or not, they cheered.

Oh, it wasn't a Phillie they cheered, of course. It was Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, whose 3-0 13-strikeout shutout included the 1,000th strikeout of his career.

Seaver's four-hitter enabled the Mets to chop one game off Pittsburgh's National League East lead as the Pirates bowed to St. Louis 8-3. Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati bombed Montreal 14-0, Chicago nipped Los Angeles 3-2, Atlanta edged Houston 5-4 and San Francisco downed San Diego 6-4.

Wouldn't You Guess It? Rookie Beats Vida Blue

By The Associated Press
 If you don't succeed the first time, try, try again—even against Vida Blue.

That's what the Minnesota Twins and rookie hurler Ray Corbin were forced to do Tuesday night, and this time they succeeded.

Given a third chance against this season's pitching sensation the Twins beat the Oakland A's and Blue 5-3, and all but ruined Blue's chances of winning 20 games before the All Star game.

In other American League games, Detroit beat Baltimore 9-4 in 15 innings in the completion of their Monday night suspended game and then Baltimore walloped the Tigers 15-6 in the regular contest; Boston tripped Washington 6-2; Milwaukee dipped the Chicago White Sox 5-2, the New York Yankees blasted Cleveland 9-2 in the afternoon, and Kansas City nudged California 2-1.

Blue, 16-3, had allowed the Twins only three runs and 12 hits and struck out 22 in beating them twice this season, the second time on national television last Monday when Corbin took the 3-2 loss. But the Twins weren't about to give in, and neither was young Corbin, 5-5.

They spotted the A's Dave Duncan's two-run homer in the second and then came from behind to end Blue's six-game winning streak with his first loss since May 28 and his first ever in the Oakland Coliseum after 10 victories.

And with only time for three more starts Blue, 16-3, won't be winning 20 games by All Star time July 13—unless he works on short rest or relieves.

Rotary Citizenship Award To Mrs. Dorothy Garrett

Big Spring Rotarians Tuesday night inducted new officers to serve for the next 12 months; awarded a major citizenship award to Mrs. Dorothy Garrett, and heard a charge for selfless service in a talk by a former resident.

The club presented a plaque to Mrs. Garrett recognizing her outstanding contributions to the community, her philanthropies running into hundreds of thousands of dollars and her awareness of needs in religious, educational and civic fields.

Mrs. Garrett was honored along with her daughter Anne, Adolph Swartz, in making the presentation, noted that the family "has never turned down a worthy cause, and has played a more important role in building a better Big Spring than any other family."

Malcolm Patterson took over the president's post from Friend Talbot at the Ladies Night dinner held at the Big Spring Country Club. Other officers are Bill McRee, secretary; Tommy Ross, treasurer; and Norman Picquet, Jack Powell, Dan Wilkins and Curtis Witte, directors.

Perfect attendance pins were awarded to Walton Morrison, 27 years; Olen Puckett, 25 years; and Jimmy Walker, 20 years.

Real success is belonging entirely to God, who made men in His image and loves them, the group was told by the Rev. Frank Pollard of Dallas, formerly assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church here.

Pollard captured his audience with several minutes of high humor, then charged the Rotarians to accept the example of Christ in being a servant. "This he said, fits into the Rotary goals of 'service above self' and 'the profits most who serves best'."

C-City Sidewalk Program Begins

COLORADO CITY — Municipal workers were scheduled to begin tearing out concrete this week in the first segment of Colorado City's downtown sidewalk and curb remodeling.

This is the first step in the construction of new walks and curbs beginning July 6. The first two segments of the project have been chosen. The third will be picked when the first two have been completed. "We intend to schedule the tearing out of concrete in segments so that business firms and shoppers will be inconvenienced for as brief a time as possible," said J. A. Sadler, city manager. "Our first tearing out may begin the July 4 weekend."

New walks will be 10 feet wide, three feet less than current walks, allowing six or more feet for street traffic and parking.

Sidewalks will be in a checkerboard design of exposed aggregate and regular concrete. It will be approximately 60 per cent exposed and 40 per cent regular.

The walk design will have exposed aggregate at every street intersection corner and every alley intersection.

Curb and gutter will be black. The city will furnish its own liquid graphite for the black color.

The additional three feet of street on each side of the present street pavement will be regular concrete.

The curbs will be adjusted to the necessary elevations in each block segment. Where curbs must be high, there will be a two-level construction to eliminate steep curbing, said Sadler.

He estimates the project will require two months.

Grab Might Set Off 'Fireworks'

HOUSTON (AP) — City officials confiscated a large truckload of fireworks over the weekend, they said.

City ordinances make it illegal to import fireworks into the city without a license. Firemen are stopping cars they have observed at fireworks stands outside the city limits and confiscating the mini-explosives, they said.

One fire department spokesman said he could not estimate the total amount of fireworks loaded, but said one confiscation Sunday netted about $1,000 worth.
