ALGERIA OFFERS ASYLUM TO WEARY HIJACKERS

Argentine Officials Stall On Refueling Jetliner

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentine authorities, taking a hard line against sky pirates, refused Saturday night to refuel a hijacked American jetliner for a flight to Algeria but passed the responsibility for a final decision to the United States.

U.S. Embassy officials said the Braniff International jet, hijacked by an American man and his Guatemalan girlfriend over Mexico Friday, was hit by a bullet fired when the plane touched down briefly in Rio de Janeiro.

It was the first report of gunfire in the hijacking that included stops in Monterrey, Mexico, where the hijackers collected a $100,000 ransom; Lima, Peru; Rio and Buenos Aires.

Embassy officials said a bullet hit the Boeing 707's windshield as it was taking off after military vehicles failed in an effort to block the runway. No one was reported hit.

When the plane landed here, Argentine police surrounded it but withdrew when the couple threatened to kill the four-man American flight crew and two Peruvian hostesses.

The hijackers, Robert Lee Jackson, 36, of Tennessee, and Ligia Lucrecia Sanchez Archila, 23, of Guatemala, were armed with pistol and had a suitcase they said contained explosives. Jackson told a stewardess in Monterrey he "did not want to do this but I have been charged with a crime I did not commit."

One of the American crewmen, 2nd officer R. L. Williams, left the plane at about 10 p.m. and telephoned U.S. Ambassador John Davis Lodge who was meeting with President Alejandro Lanusse.

A U.S. spokesman said Williams, based in Miami, Fla., was released "to negotiate refueling" and probably would return to the plane. He said Williams told Lodge that Jackson was "deranged but in control of himself" and the hijackers refused, to let the two stewardesses leave the craft.

Lodge sought to persuade Lanusse to permit the plane to be refueled so that the hijackers could continue on to their declared destination of Algeria, sources said.

The Argentine government, after stalling for hours in hopes of waiting out the sleepless hijackers, said the plane could leave only if the United States accepted full responsibility in a written statement.

"The Argentine government will not listen to any hijacker," a government spokesman said. The plane had landed here at 12:15 p.m. EDT.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman would say only that they were "working" on the matter.

Braniff mechanics spoke with the plane's pilot, Capt. E.W. Schroeder of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., on how to replace the cracked windshield and repair a leaking hydraulic pump.

Braniff officials said the two other American crewmen were Bill Mixell, copilot, and Ken McWhirter, navigator, both based in Miami.

Braniff canceled a New York flight and had a DC8 with a fresh crew standing by for the possible 11-hour flight to Algeria.

The hijackers twice requested food but none was sent.

Algerian Ambassador Mohammed Kellou said Algeria would give the hijackers political asylum if Argentina, the United States and Mexico agreed.

Harry Marples, Braniff's vice president in Buenos Aires, boarded the plane shortly after it landed and talked to the hijackers.

"I told him that we want to save lives. The man said that's what he wanted too. He was very quiet and very composed... and he wants to go to Algeria."

The woman hijacker remained in the rear of the plane, Marples said, with two Peruvian hostesses who had volunteered in Lima to replace the American hostesses held on the flight from Mexico. Also aboard was a four-man American flight crew that took over in Lima.

Ringling Of Bells Ushers In Holiday Celebration

By BRIAN PEAY

Visions of that great day for the American Colonies on July 4, 1776, Independence Day, were brought back into focus by the Let Freedom Ring ceremonies on the Courthouse square Saturday evening.

The College Baptist Church "Collegians," directed by David Norvell, began the ceremonies with singing, followed by the Hand Bell Choir of the First United Methodist Church under the direction of Ralph Dowden.

With the rap-tap-tap of the drum and shrill notes of the piccolo and flute playing "Yankee Doodle," the Webb AFB Color Guard made the presentation of colors.

Other original features of the ceremonies included a dance routine to the "Waltz of the Bells" by Kunnels Junior High students.

Fourth Of July Death Toll Rises

By The Associated Press

The death toll in July 4 week-end violence climbed rapidly Saturday night toward what safety officials in Texas feared might be a record of carnage for the state.

The Texas Department of Public Safety announced late Saturday that it has estimated 48 persons would be killed in motor vehicle accidents over the July 4 holiday weekend.

Later Saturday night, the traffic death toll already had reached 20 with a total of 33 persons killed in violence. The official holiday weekend death count was to be from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Monday, July 5.

Of the 33 persons dying violent deaths 7 were drowning victims, 2 had been beaten to death, lightning killed one, and fire and a plane crash had killed one each.

A 48-year-old mother and two of her young children were killed Saturday in a two-vehicle collision that involved her station wagon. Five persons were injured, at least one critically.

Officers identified the dead as Mrs. Gwendalyn Brennan, 48, and her children, John Brennan, 10, and Janice Brennan, 7.

Ricky Stubblefield, 11, of Cleveland drowned Saturday while swimming about four miles south of the Southeast Texas town off U.S. 59. He was swimming with a companion when the tragedy occurred.

Jimmy Park, 7, of Garland drowned Saturday when he fell from a raft into Lake Lavon in Collin County. The lad was dead on arrival at a Greenville hospital.

Johnny L. Nissen, 46, of Houston was killed Saturday when his tractor-trailer rig hit a Gulf Freeway Bridge abutment and burned.

Oney Broadway, 30, of Port Neches was killed when he was struck by lightning as he fished at Pleasure Island just off Port Arthur. He was dead on arrival at a Port Arthur hospital.

Spec. 5 Bernard Allen McDonough, 24, of Castle Hayne, N.C., and his passenger, Pvt. Charles Robert Smith, 18, of an unknown hometown, were killed near Corsicana Saturday when McDonough's car veered off U.S. 287 and hit a culvert. Both soldiers were stationed at Ft. Bliss in El Paso.

An unidentified Cleburne service station attendant was robbed and then beaten to death Saturday night on a lonely Johnson County rural road, officers said. The holdup pair remained at large late Saturday night.

Pearl Lee Crenshaw, 65, of Odessa was killed Saturday when two cars collided on U.S. 385 about 2 miles south of McCamey in Southwest Texas. Mrs. Crenshaw was a passenger in one of the autos, the DPS reported.

Ada L. Moore, 50, of Manor—near Austin—was killed Saturday when two cars collided at a U.S. 290 intersection west of Manor.

Denton County officers Saturday night were attempting to (See FOURTH, P. 6A, C. 1)

Reviewing the ... Big Spring Week ... with Joe Pickle

Big Spring and area join today with the rest of the nation to reflect on the birth of our country in that historic meeting in Philadelphia 195 years ago. We all treasure the lines that "all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness." To this we need to add the dedication of the concluding lines... "with firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor."

Our region had plenty of clouds during the week, but nothing more than an early morning mist in the way of moisture. It's just as well, according to the cotton farmers, who are feverishly getting the weeds out of fields. With most of the cotton sporting at least four or five leaves, knifed fields will put the crop past weather damage except for hail or subsequent severe drought.

Howard County Junior College has picked a new administrative dean to succeed the late Dr. Dawson DeViney. He is Charles D. Hayes, who will be starting his duties according to schedule, will (See THE WEEK, Page 7A, Col. 1)

Nation Observes 195th Birthday

By The Associated Press

The nation celebrates its 195th birthday Sunday with traditional fireworks displays, patriotic events and the leisure-time activities of a long weekend.

Indian pow-wows in the West, logrolling contests in the timber-laden northwest and the firing of flintlock muskets in colonial Virginia add a regional flavor to the Independence Day festivities.

President Nixon, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and House Speaker Carl Albert were enlisted to participate in a live radio-television broadcast Saturday night, kicking off the "Bicentennial Era" for the 200th birthday in 1976.

The next five years are designated as a "time for Americans to review and reaffirm the basic principles the nation was founded on."

Changing times are perhaps reflected in Fourth of July celebration in the nation's capital. A rock band will perform in place of the U.S. Air Force Band at the Washington Monument evening program.

Celebration of the American Revolution began Saturday in Williamsburg, Va., with the firing of muskets saluting a 1777 victory over the British.

The second "Salute America" program will be held in Richmond on Sunday and the oath of citizenship will be administered Monday to 44 new Americans at Monticello, the birthplace of Thomas Jefferson.

About 100,000 spectators were expected for the 32nd annual Redwood-City Invitational Parade, main event in the San Francisco area on Sunday. There also will be a parade honoring the 25th anniversary of the independence of the Philippines.

Besides the traditional fireworks show in Chicago's Soldier Field, the Buddhist Temple of Chicago will celebrate the holiday with Japanese poetry readings, tea ceremonies and flower arranging demonstrations.

The annual Stars and Stripes show in Oklahoma City features entertainer Bob Hope. Pow-wows of Pawnee, Quapaw and Okmulgee Indians and the Tia-Piah Gourd Clan Society also are planned for other cities in Oklahoma.

In Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence was signed, a band concert and comedy event is Monday with a parade of flags of the original 13 states and speeches and later a sound and light history show at Independence Hall.

Applicants Interviewed

The City Commission is continuing an intensive effort toward the employment of a new city manager for Big Spring, Mayor Arnold Marshall said Saturday.

The council has held several private meetings to consider applications, and has interviewed two prospects. Marshall said tentative plans are to interview at least one other early this week. All these applicants are now associated with other Texas municipalities.

More than a dozen written applications have been received, said Marshall, but most of these individuals do not measure up to the guidelines the council is specifying, the mayor said. Qualified prospects, however, are being sought out and being given personal interviews.

"The commission is acting in complete unity in the procedures for finding a new manager," Marshall said. "We are going to move with dispatch in our efforts to find a top man. All of us are agreed that we need the best available manager to assume duties as soon as possible."

HANOI PEACE PACKAGE UNACCEPTABLE TO UNITED STATES

'Terms Amount To An American Surrender,' Official Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration considers Hanoi's latest Vietnam peace package unacceptable as it stands but means in secret talks to discover whether it is negotiable, official sources reported Saturday.

"The package proposed the release of American war prisoners on terms that would amount to an American surrender," one high source said.

Another informant disclosed American diplomats already have begun direct backstage contacts with the North Vietnamese in Paris and elsewhere with the aim of determining Hanoi's real intentions.

These exchanges have been under way for some time and relate to the over-all search for a settlement. But the informants said they will be neither acknowledged nor pinpointed by the administration for fear of prejudicing the prospects of secret diplomacy.

Meantime, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, presidential adviser on national security affairs, is in Saigon on the first stage of an international mission with three objectives relating to the Vietnam war.

Informants defined them thus:

—In Saigon he will seek to assess, in consultation with U.S. diplomatic and military chiefs, Hanoi's true intentions. Sources reported disquieting signs in the background. American intelligence reports indicate the North Vietnamese have lately completed two roads heading toward the First Corps immediately below the demilitarized zone and have concentrated 10 regiments in the area. And for months they have been engaged on a new drive for recruits.

Kissinger will want to know whether these developments foreshadow a military or a diplomatic offensive.

—In Bangkok he will want to assure government leaders the U.S. program of military withdrawal will not leave Thailand exposed as the next target of Communist attack and subversion. Expressions of deep Thai anxiety have reached the administration.

—In Paris he will want to examine with the chief U.S. negotiator, David K. E. Bruce, the tactics and the prospects for a determined diplomatic effort in the coming few months for coming to some sort of terms with the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong leaders.

In the context of the Paris peace talks the administration is said to have the impression that the return of Le Duc Tho—the politburo man regarded as the true leader of Hanoi's negotiating team—could be a signal of North Vietnam's readiness to get down to business. But Kissinger has no plans to meet him or his colleagues.

Informants stressed, however, Kissinger's approach to all these problems of Vietnam will be conditioned by the resolve of the Nixon administration not to undercut the position of the government of President Nguyen Van Thieu in advance of the scheduled Oct. 3 election in the South.

In attempting to appraise prospects of a breakthrough Nixon's advisers inevitably are pondering a variety of questions that could be relevant.

Sources posed some of them as examples:

—Has North Vietnam detected any slowdown of Red Chinese support at a time when Peking is preoccupied with the presence of 40 Soviet divisions on its northern salient?

Does Hanoi, witnessing the controversy swirling in the wake of the publication of the Pentagon Papers, consider the United States to be in a condition of disarray?

—Could Hanoi's leaders go on counting on an unlimited flow of Soviet arms just when Moscow and Washington seem to be edging toward a system of nuclear arms control?

It is against such a background that the administration has carried through an initial examination of the Vietnamese Communists' offer to free all war prisoners in the North and South by the yearend if American troops are pulled out by then.

The offer was made in Paris Thursday as part of a new seven-point peace plan presented by Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh who leads the Viet Cong delegation.

First impressions within the administration, according to the sources, was that the package displayed a skillful attempt by Hanoi to exploit the concern most Americans attach to the plight of their captive countrymen.

This was implied by the prospect that the war prisoners could be home by Christmas if only the President were to act by setting a 1971 deadline for the withdrawal of all U.S.

troops, armor and installations.

But to this offer Hanoi pinned a series of qualifiers which the informants described as definitely unacceptable. Among those they listed:

—The offer to trade American captives for an American pullout would leave Hanoi's forces in the South free to go on fighting Saigon's troops.

—The offer to cease fire on the Americans would not end the civil war itself.

—The offer would bind the United States to break with the Thieu government and would mean the abandonment of the coming elections.

"The United States did not invest 50,000 lives in the Vietnam war only to leave the people of the South to the mercy of Hanoi and the Viet Cong," one informant remarked.

Children Of All Ages Enjoy Watching, Riding In Parade

Droves of children turned out for the second annual Highland South Independence Day neighborhood parade Saturday morning. A multitude of gaily decorated bicycles belonging to children of all ages made up the main body of the parade. The bikes were in formation following the Boy Scout Color Guard and a four-piece band led by David Winkle that kept everyone in step.

become Dr. Hayes in August. He has an outstanding record in the junior college field.

Our town also has another new official — Roy Anderson, who was named acting city manager by the council last week. The veteran assistant city manager has a long and rich background that should help immeasurably in the interim period.

While it probably was an historic moment, there was little fanfare locally last week when the U.S. Post Office became the U.S. Postal Service, a private government-backed corporation. Postmaster Frank Hardesty said that the reorganization is calculated to grant wider managerial discretion to the postmasters.

One of our long-established businesses, W. D. Caldwell Inc. was sold last week. A. A. (Sonny) Price, Snyder, acquired the major earth-moving and construction firm created by Dub Caldwell, one of the old breed who made it by hard work, good performance, and prudent management.

A crop of $20 bogus bills turned up in Big Spring toward the end of the week. One retail outlet had a couple, while half a dozen others found their way into bank deposits. The imitation is fair, but if you are one of the lucky ones to have a twenty, look it over carefully.

Officers here appeared Saturday to have solved several local burglaries with arrest of suspects in Odessa, among them a former Big Springer. In Odessa, however, one of our residents, Robert W. Bell, was indicted in connection with a slaying which officers theorized occurred during an attempt to hold up a grocery.

Everyone concedes that the 38th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo was the most successful in years, probably ever and certainly since the first years of the event. Ken Curtis (Festus) helped turn the trick.

Oil developments settle down to mostly the drilling and completion of wells in the Spraberry Trend of Martin County. There were seven new wells and nearly as many locations. Northwest Howard County did get a wildcat location in the Wright Ranch area, and northeast Borden a triple prospect.

The Rotary Club conferred its citizenship award on Mrs. Horace (Dorothy) Garrett, for her work in and contribution toward community development and enrichment. While the award was made in 1971, it can be worn deservedly in any year.

Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development have a new manager in the person of Arthur A. Roberts, who comes from Odessa where he has been serving as membership director. Big Spring once looked to Odessa for its manager, Carroll Davidson, who now is manager at Pasadena.

Our town's A. J. Statser was re-elected a vice president of the Air Force Association's Texas branch at the state meeting in Dallas last week. Next year the convention will be nearer at home — in Abilene.

Deans' Offices Are Consolidated
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The offices of the dean of women and dean of men have been eliminated at the University of Arizona because university President John P. Schaefer says "we're ending sex discrimination on campus."

Robert S. Svob, former dean of men, will now take over as the university's first dean of students. Schaefer said the university will no longer make a distinction between male and female students.

East Fourth Youth Slate Jesus Festival

After much planning, the youth of East Fourth Baptist Church have scheduled a Jesus Festival for Monday through Friday with the services beginning at 8 p.m.

Five youths who have surrendered to preaching will lead the services. They are Steve Tidwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Tidwell, 1206 Pennsylvania; Jack Tonn and Randy Tonn, sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Tonn Jr., 1712 E. 15th; Ronald McKee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don W. McKee, 1802 11th Place; and Bob Webb, son of Darwin Webb and the late Mrs. Laverne Webb, 107 E. 15th. Phil Hall, son of Mrs. R. B. Hall, will lead the music for the festival. He is currently part time music and youth director at the First Baptist Church, Merkel. The youth choir will sing each evening.

On Saturday night, the festival will be moved to the First Baptist Church to attend and cooperate with the Howard County Baptist Association, Youth Rally. The youth of First Baptist will present the rock musical "Natural High." Wally Shamburger, music and youth director, is the director of the program. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Youth will also lead the regular Sunday worship services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

USAF Jobs Available To Unskilled

Unskilled applicants without military service may now enlist for four years with guaranteed job assignments in one of 26 Air Force specialties, according to the Air Force recruiting service.

Job assignments will be based on aptitude testing.

The 26 fields open to skilled and unskilled men and women are fire protection; weather observer; law enforcement; fuel specialist; materiel facilities; security; dental specialist; medical service; aircraft radio repair; ground radio communications equipment repair; weapon control systems; administration; disbursement accounting; personnel; physical conditioning; aircraft propeller repair; aircraft maintenance; vehicle operator-dispatcher; air cargo; aircraft pneumatic; vehicle repair; aerospace ground equipment; inventory management; precision measuring equipment; radio relay equipment; aircraft control and warning radar.

Scientists Won't Talk About Ellsberg, Rand

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge has ruled a former Rand Corp. scientist in contempt of court for refusing to testify before a federal grand jury investigating the leak of top secret Pentagon papers on Vietnam.

However, Anthony J. Russo, 34, immediately appealed Friday and U.S. District Court Judge William P. Gray delayed sentencing pending a hearing Wednesday.

Russo worked at the Santa Monica, Calif., "think tank" at the same time as Daniel Ellsberg — the man indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of unauthorized possession of the Defense Department study.

Russo twice has refused to testify to the grand jury, invoking the Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination despite being granted immunity from prosecution by Gray.

Russo's attorney would say only to newsmen that the questions Russo has refused to answer concern "Mr. Ellsberg and his work at Rand."

Martin Settlers Hold Reunion

STANTON — A downtown parade will highlight the Martin County Old Settlers Reunion Saturday. The theme of this year's reunion is "The First 30 Years in Martin County."

The parade will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday. It will be followed by a playday in the rodeo arena east of town at 2 p.m. Races and games for the children at the city park are scheduled for 6 p.m. and a barbecue will follow at 7:30 p.m. in the city park.

There will be a program in the park after the barbecue.

Tech Offers Swine Course

The 19th annual Swine Short Course will be offered at Texas Tech University Thursday and Friday in the Livestock Pavilion and Coronado Room in the University Center.

The course is co-sponsored by the Texas Pork Producers Association and the Animal Science Department at Texas Tech University.

The course will include a hog show, style show, pigskin workshop and a multitude of talks on swine problems. Information may be obtained at the County Agricultural Agents office, telephone 267-6671.

TIRING BUSINESS — Gov. Ronald Reagan emitted a big yawn Friday afternoon as he and cabinet members and top aides studied the new state budget approved by a legislative conference committee. When this picture was taken the Senate had approved the budget committee's version but the lower house was still undecided. Later it was passed by the Assembly.

CANISTERS USED TO CARRY WATER — A group of South Vietnamese marines load empty howitzer ammunition canisters into a chopper, to be used to carry water for South Vietnamese troops defending the Nui Ba Ho position, near the DMZ.

Viet Peace Talks Shadow Warfare

SAIGON (AP) — Talks aimed at peace took over Saturday from the fighting in the Vietnam War.

There were heavy B52 bombing raids around Fire Base Fuller in the north for a fourth straight day, but the ground fighting lapsed into small skirmishes.

The peace discussions were generated by the arrival of President Nixon's national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger.

He immediately began a round of high-level conferences keyed to the Viet Cong's new peace proposal and to a possibility of a speedup in American troop withdrawal.

Within a few hours after Kissinger arrived, the two top men in South Vietnam's government—President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky—spoke out on both these matters.

Although bitter political rivals, both agreed to discuss and carefully study the Viet Cong plan. Ky said there were no obstacles to getting American troops home by Christmas. Thieu and Ky have big political stakes in what happens next in South Vietnam.

Thieu is seeking re-election in the country's presidential balloting Oct. 3 and Ky is running against him.

The Viet Cong's proposal, announced Thursday at the Paris peace talks, calls for withdrawal of all American troops by the end of this year and release of all prisoners by the same time, including more than 300 American fliers held by North Vietnam.

Kissinger will have a chance to get Thieu's position Sunday when the two meet.

In advance of the discussions, Thieu told newsmen that total American withdrawal this year is something the United States and South Vietnamese must discuss together.

He said the Viet Cong proposal offered no basic change from earlier Communist plans, but said the South Vietnamese government is "studying the new proposal carefully."

Ky agreed with the Viet Cong proposal that Vietnamese settle their own problems, contending he called for an all-Vietnamese solution 2½ years ago.

"I mentioned this problem on Dec. 9, 1968, when I arrived at Orly Airport as the first overall supervisor for the South Vietnamese delegation at the Paris peace talks," Ky said.

Neither mentioned the Viet Cong's repeated demand that they be ousted and coalition regime be set up to include the Communists.

Against this backdrop, Kissinger's visit to Saigon took on added importance in the broad review of the Indochina situation just started by the Nixon administration. One Saigon newspaper went so far as to say Kissinger's role would be decisive.

Kissinger conferred immediately after his arrival with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, the highest ranking American in Vietnam. Later he met with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. military commander.

Kissinger will depart Monday for Bangkok said, after visits in New Delhi and Rawalpindi, Pakistan, he will fly to Paris for talks there with American peace negotiators. He also may see the North Vietnamese negotiators, who said they were willing to meet with him.

Immunization Policy On School Agenda

Changes required in the immunization policy is the only item that is not routine on the agenda of the Big Spring Independent School District board meeting set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the board room at 708 11th Place.

Changes in state law that will increase the number of shots required will be discussed by the board.

Other regular items include resignations and employment of personnel and the selection and designation of a bank depository.

Superintendent of schools S. M. Anderson will present the sixth six-weeks attendance report and the annual attendance report.

The board is meeting Thursday instead of Tuesday because of schedule conflicts between the board members and Anderson.

Counsel Named For Investigation

AUSTIN (AP) — John V. McShane, Dallas lawyer and former legislative aide at the state capitol, was named counsel Saturday of the House General Investigating Committee.

David Witts, another Dallas attorney and veteran counsel of House investigating committees for 15 years, will serve in an advisory capacity, said Rep. Mentor J. Murray, Harlingen, chairman of the pr be group.

Murray said there were no immediate meetings of the committee planned.

"McShane has several investigations to do and until he gets into them there would be no purpose of a meeting," Murray said.

The committee was created March 29 with the assigned purpose of looking into the federal stock fraud case involving a number of present and former state officials. An organizational meeting of the committee was held April 15.

Murray said McShane actually was hired at a closed meeting of the committee in Dallas on Thursday.

McShane graduated from St. Mary's University in 1964 then obtained a degree from the University of Texas Law School. He was legislative assistant to former Rep. Gene Froidren, Taylor, and worked with the Legislative Council two years, Murray said.

Other members of the House committee are Reps. DeWitt Hale, Corpus Christi; Clyde Haynes, Vidor; Jim Nugent, Kerrville, and Jim Slider, Naples.

Hobby Ready To Announce Plans?

AUSTIN (AP) — William P. Hobby Jr. has scheduled a July 6 news conference in the Senate chamber to discuss his "future political plans."

Hobby, president and executive editor of the Houston Post, reportedly has been considering a race for lieutenant governor. He is the son of the late former Gov. William P. Hobby.

The incumbent lieutenant governor, Ben Barnes, has announced he will run next year for governor.

Hobby headed a committee appointed by Barnes that recommended sweeping reforms in the state's public welfare system.

Other possible candidates for lieutenant governor include Sens. Wayne Connolly of Floresville, Ralph Hall of Rockwall and Don Kennard of Fort Worth.

stabbing death of a 50-year-old drive-in grocery clerk.

Dennis Jonathan Strawn, 17, Odessa, and Robert Waiseth Bell, 21, Big Spring were charged with murder with malice in the death of Mrs. Sophie Giovanni who was found dead shortly before 5 a.m. in the storage room of a 7-Eleven Store at 1106 E. 42nd Odessa.

Both were ordered held without bond on the murder charge. Charges of robbery by assault were also lodged against the men, and Peace Justice J. A. Purifoy set bond at $50,000 each on the robbery charges.

The third man, Randall Jessie Chatham, 18, Odessa, was charged with possession of narcotics paraphernalia, and bond in his case was set at $5,000, according to assistant district attorney John Hoestenbach.

All three men had been charged with murder and robbery by assault before Purifoy earlier in the day.

Purifoy, who ordered an autopsy, said Mrs. Giovanni died from internal bleeding caused by numerous stab wounds all over the body.

"There were at least 15 stab wounds, deep ones, and slashes all over the upper part of her body. Several of the stab wounds penetrated both lungs. She was stabbed several times in the back, chest and sides," Purifoy said.

The three men were arrested at the trailer home of Chatham after a neighbor told police that a bloody shirt and pair of trousers had been found smoldering in a city trash container nearby. Mrs. Giovanni's billfold was found wrapped in the clothing.

Assistant Police Chief Tommy Callendar said that officers recovered a butcher knife at the scene of the stabbing and another hunting knife at the trailer home of Chatham, although it had not been determined that either was the weapon used in the slaying.

Callendar said that robbery may have been the motive for the attack on the store clerk, and that the assailants apparently were interrupted by a customer, because no money in the register was disturbed.

Detective Capt. Lynn Snyder said a customer gave a description which fit the three suspects.

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Giovanni are pending at Rix Funeral Home, Odessa.

BOGUS BILLS? — Shirley Froman, First National Bank employe, displays two bogus bills the bank received during the past week. Several other stores and businesses around town have received some of the counterfeit $20 bills, however, police have not been able to track the bills back to the passers.

Local Stores Receiving Counterfeit $20 Bills

Seven bogus $20 bills have turned up in stores and banks in Big Spring over the past week with the latest counterfeit bill being discovered Saturday at the Public Finance Co., 115 E. 3rd.

The fake tender first appeared at the 7-Eleven Store, Fourth and Birdwell, where clerks at the store became suspicious of a $20 bill and reported it to the local police station.

"We don't have any definite leads at the moment and we feel that the bill-passer has already left the city," said Detective Avery Falkner.

The First National Bank reported to the police Friday that it had two of the bills. Other stores and businesses that have handled the bills are Elmo Wasson Men's Store, Hoppe Auto Electric Service Co., the Tom Boy Shop, and the Dairy Queen and Security State Bank, where a bogus $10 bill was spotted a few weeks ago.

The two fake notes that turned up at First National Friday were in deposit from businesses.

"A man entered Elmo Wasson Friday and bought a $1 pair of socks with one of the bogus $20 bills. At that time Mr. Wasson, aware of the bills, took his Social Security number, address and description, however, we feel that if the man was a passer, the information Mr. Wasson got was probably false also," said Detective Lt. Sherrill Farmer.

"There are bills being circulated with four different serial numbers on them. The numbers are: on three $20 bills, K29973226B; K21414701B, and K06848384B; and on one $10 bill, 107517516A.

"As far as we can determine the bills were not made from an engraving, but are made on an offset press from a photograph of a valid $20 bill," said Falkner.

The detective explained that there is a possibility that the passer or passers are local, but police feel that the passer is a small part of a larger circle of counterfeiters in a large city in Texas.

"If you happen to come across one of these bills, please don't try to pass it to get your money back, but notify the police department. When you knowingly try to pass a fake money you will be just as guilty as the original counterfeiters," said Falkner.

Police suspect that approximately $200 to $300-worth of the worthless bills might have been dropped in the town.

Probated Term For Flag Insult

HOUSTON (AP) — A third college student was convicted Friday of insulting the American flag and Dist. Judge Joseph M. Guarine gave William C. Holland, 19, a two-year probated sentence.

Holland, a Rice University student, was found guilty of desecrating the flag in the early morning hours of May 1, 1970, during an incident at the school.

Glen Van Slyke III, 21, a Rice graduate, was given an eight-year probated sentence earlier and Bill Case, 19, a former Rice student, was given a two-year probated sentence for flag desecrations during the same incident in a trial this week.

RIGHTWARD-DRIFTING SUPREME COURT SHUTS DOWN

'Minnesota Twins' Aid In Reshaping

WASHINGTON (AP) — A closely divided Supreme Court has shut down for the summer with a record that reflects a rightward transition under Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

In his second year, Burger had considerable help in reshaping the court from freshman Justice Harry A. Blackmun, his old friend from St. Paul. They disagreed in only 4 of 128 decisions, and won a nickname: "The Minnesota Twins."

The result was a generally pro-prosecution stance from a Court frequently accused only a few years ago of softness on crime.

Leftover liberals William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall dissented together on the losing side 19 times.

The key to the term was the fluctuations of the four justices who stand philosophically between Burger and Blackmun on the right and Douglas, Brennan and Marshall on the left: Hugo L. Black, John M. Harlan, Potter Stewart and Byron R. White. Their swing votes often made the difference.

For example, 18-year-olds won the right to vote in federal elections when Black and White lined up with Douglas, Brennan and Marshall. The historic ruling that permitted newspapers to resume publishing articles based on the top-secret Pentagon Papers was produced by a coalition of Douglas, Brennan and Marshall, with Black, Stewart and White.

Moving in a conservative direction, the Court ruled that public officials can close public facilities in the face of desegregation orders when Black, Harlan and Stewart combined with Burger and Blackmun.

At times, tensions broke into the open with sniping and sarcasm. Douglas and Black chided their colleagues on two occasions for forsaking "strict construction" of the Constitution, a phrase used by President Nixon and other critics of the Court's expansive liberalism under former Chief Justice Earl Warren.

The repeated shifting of the four middle justices contributed to frequent 5-4 decisions, and kept this from being a "Burger Court" or a "Nixon Court."

With the dominant trend clearly toward the conservative side, however, one more Nixon appointment could complete the Court's conversion, particularly in the area of criminal law.

Led by Burger, the Court authorized the use of illegally obtained evidence to discredit a defendant's testimony if he takes the witness stand. This 5-4 ruling modified the 1966 Miranda decision.

After three years of deliberation, the Court rejected two procedural arguments against the way juries reach death verdicts in the United States. Still, none of the more than 600 men and women on death rows was executed as the unofficial moratorium continued and before recessing for the summer, the Court agreed to hear argument next term on the theory that capital punishment is "cruel and inhuman" and therefore unconstitutional.

Police and federal agents, in a major ruling, were granted permission to wire informers for sound and listen in on suspects without a search warrant.

Another 5-4 ruling cleared the way for state courts to use hearsay evidence that would not be admissible in federal trials.

On the liberal side of the ledger, the Court over Burger's protest, put restraints on police searches and allowed citizens who claim they are victims of illegal arrests to sue federal agents for damages.

Looking ahead, the biggest criminal law issues facing the Court next term are the death penalty and the administration's wiretap policy. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell asserts the inherent right of the government branch to wiretap without judicial permission on a suspicion that domestic security may be in danger. But the U.S. Circuit Court in Cincinnati said the procedure violates the 4th Amendment's protection against "unreasonable" searches.

On civil rights, the court had a mixed record. Its major ruling of the year was the legitimizing of busing, gerrymandering school districts and shifts of students between schools as a means to end segregation.

Traffic Circle Named For Mexican Hero

WASHINGTON (AP) — A traffic circle in northwest Washington would be named in honor of Benito Juarez, former president of Mexico, under a bill to be introduced in the Senate Tuesday.

A statue of Juarez, leader of a revolt which overthrew Maximilian in 1863, now stands in the circle at the intersections of Virginia and New Hampshire Avenues and 25th Street.

The statue was a gift of the Mexican government in 1959 in exchange for a statue of Abraham Lincoln which now stands in a park in Mexico City. The bill is to be introduced by Sens. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., and Alan Cranston, D-Calif., with 19 co-sponsors.

Its passage would make the Benito Juarez Circle the first of 16 Washington traffic circles to be named for a foreigner.

Vietnam War Especially Close To Country's Newest Voters

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The issues that sway the new young voters are likely to be the ones that move their parents. But the factor of intensity, generated largely by the Vietnam war, could make impacts more pronounced among the young.

They do not consider the war as an abstract issue. They are dying in it. Or they are worrying about it while trying to finish college, or find a job, or marry before their numbers come up at the draft board.

Not only is the war especially close to them, it has created a political awareness and activism of scope and depth unseen in recent generations.

BACK CAUSES
Today's young people march for ecology, minority rights or any number of other issues which might have taken second place to Saturday's football game or a new party dress in pre-Vietnam days.

This immeasurable element probably holds the answer to the ultimate impact of the new constitutional amendment giving 18-, 19- and 20-year-olds the vote in all elections.

The professional poll takers and politicians cannot agree among themselves as to how the new voters will behave at the polls.

NO BLOC
Political analyst Richard Scammon, whose book "The Real Majority" influenced both parties in the 1970 campaigns, thinks there is no youth bloc.

"Youth isn't going to vote in any homogeneous way," Scammon predicts. "What is it about young people that differs from the rest of the country? The fact of the matter is, there isn't much."

Students, certainly the most active element involved, account for 4.9 million of the 11.4 million becoming eligible to vote. But there also are 4.1 million young workers, 1.6 million housewives and 800,000 members of the armed forces.

While this is indicative of a diversity backing up Scammon's appraisal, some pollsters have taken some samplings and found enough common traits and proclivities to indicate an advantage of the Democratic party.

AGAINST NIXON?
Samuel Lubell, who undertook a study of young voters for

An AP News Analysis

Look magazine, predicted the 18-year-old vote could defeat President Nixon in 1972.

Lubell found that among the offspring of Republican parents more than a third interviewed do not want Nixon re-elected, while less than a tenth of those from Democratic families are swinging to Nixon.

If the Vietnam war still is dragging on at election time, Lubell concluded, "a general Republican break could develop among parents and young people, in both the primaries and November election."

Most of the new voters favor neither political party, but among those giving a preference, Democrats are picked over Republicans 2-to-1 or better.

George Gallup has found that this age group is more anti-Nixon than the rest of the electorate, disapproving more than older voters of Nixon's war policy, his performance as president in general and his credibility.

Louis Harris found 40 per cent of them undecided on how they would vote in the next election, but 35 per cent said they would vote Democratic as opposed to 18 per cent Republican.

YOUNG DEMOS
In Orange County, Calif., considered one of the leading seats of conservatism, the first 925 youngsters who registered declared themselves 50 per cent Democratic, 30 per cent Republican and 20 per cent independent.

Another project might be drawn from the recent off-season congressional election where the younger set got the vote for the first time. Only 6 per cent of them registered in time to vote, but 34.5 per cent of those voted, twice the turnout of the registered electorate as a whole.

This led Willard Morris, Maryland's election law administrator, to conclude "If you can find a way to register them, they'll vote."

ENCOURAGEMENT
Democratic strategists, noting this along with the balance in their favor on party preference, are building their campaign on registration.

"We're going to do everything we can to register young people in goodly numbers and our hope is that they'll side with us," said Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien.

Republicans on the other hand, recognize a need to sell their party to the young voters. "You've got to go after them," Sen. Robert J. Dole, GOP chairman, said. "We won't get them all, nor will the Democrats, but we can't afford to lose our share."

Gibson Counters With Court Suits

DALLAS (AP) — The Gibson discount system of 515 stores in 30 states filed a countersuit during the weekend against two dissident chains. Gibson asks $105,450,000 damages and $1 million for its lawyers.

The plaintiff claims the defendants caused Gibson's credit card costs to rise and that they sought to drive possible Gibson-franchised stores from going into business.

The suit is against Howard-Gibco Corp. of Texarkana, Tex., and Howard Bros. Discount Stores of Monroe, La., which themselves filed suit a week ago against Gibson.

The two store chains did not specify what damages they sought, asking the court to set the amount.

Howard Gibco and Howard Bros., which operate 57 stores, formerly held franchises from Gibson. They pulled out of the Gibson agreement effective last Thursday after giving notice March 29.

The two dissidents claimed the Gibson agreement had cost them money through higher prices from manufacturers and wholesalers and others — the added money going to Gibson and for other reasons.

The Texarkana and Monroe companies filed suit under various anti-trust and price discrimination laws and claimed among other things that the Gibson system threatened to put competing stores opposite all the 57 stores of the chains which pulled out.

Gibson charged that the two chains tried to reach agreement with Gibson which the petition says would be in restraint of trade.

The petition says this proposal was that the Howard groups would not place stores in competition with Gibson-franchised firms if Gibson would not put stores in competition with their establishment.

The petition filed in Dallas federal court, says the Gibson officers refused to negotiate such an agreement.

Gibson-franchised stores, the petition further states, had been using the BankAmericard customer credit system for a discount of 1.5 per cent through the Central Bank of Monroe of which Jack Howard, one of the defendants, is a director.

About April 6, the Gibson documents state, the Monroe bank raised the discount to Gibson to 2.5 per cent while the Howard groups still operate at a discount rate of 1.5 per cent.

This rate raise, says the counter-petition, caused the remaining Gibson stores to drop BankAmericard "and thus to lose gross sales estimated at $5 million per year because of loss of a credit service."

The petition says that Gibson has received reports indicating that the Howard groups "apparently" are seeking to discourage installation of Gibson stores through what the court papers claim are "inaccurate reports and/or veiled threats."

Howard-Gibco operates 23 stores in Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma and Kentucky. Howard Hoard Bros. operates 34 stores in Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida.

The Gibson petition asks an injunction to stop the Howard groups from alleged violations of law.

Gibson, calling the suit a class action for all 515 Gibson stores, named as defendants the two store groups, the Central Bank of Monroe and the following Howards: Vernon E., Jasper, Ed, Alton and Jack.

Drugs, Crime Class Topic

Drugs and crime are the topics to be covered at a four-week course scheduled for July 12 through Aug. 6 in Midland.

The course, with sections in Houston and McAllen also, is limited to 300 persons. Mrs. Janice Rosson, a counselor at the high school, will attend from Big Spring.

The Drug and Crime Education Institute is designed to train 300 persons to have the necessary skills for conducting a variety of educational experiences within the community for the purpose of effecting significant changes in drug abuse and crime prevention.

Union Talks On Wage Increases

Roughnecks and drillers working in the New Mexico area met in Hobbs, N.M., recently to discuss ways and means to achieve the 30 cent an hour blanket wage increase being sought from drilling contractors operating in the Permian Basin.

It was decided by those present that a strike vote would not be taken until all other avenues have been exhausted in their effort to secure the requested increase.

A special meeting has been scheduled in Odessa, Thursday for roughnecks and drillers working in the Odessa area to voice their opinions on the action taken by the Hobbs area employees.

Party, Women's Lib Stand Behind Bernadette Devlin

LONDON (AP) — The political party that helped elect Bernadette Devlin to the House of Commons rushed to her defense today after the civil rights firebrand from Northern Ireland disclosed she was pregnant.

The Mid-Ulster Independent Socialist Organization that backed Miss Devlin when she was elected to Parliament in 1969 at the age of 21, said in a statement: "We cannot but admire, as always, Miss Devlin's courage."

The organization invited Miss Devlin to attend a conference Tuesday in Belfast, Northern Ireland's capital, to receive a vote of confidence. The statement was issued in Belfast.

In the 24 hours since Miss Devlin, a Roman Catholic, announced that she expected a baby this fall though unmarried, the critical outcries have been muted.

A spokesman of the Roman Catholic Church headquarters at Westminster Cathedral said: "The Church tries to have as much pastoral love as possible for anyone in this predicament."

The Rev. Ian Paisley, leader of a Protestant faction in Northern Ireland one of her sternest foes, commented: "All I can say is what the Lord Jesus Christ said, 'He that hath no sin let him cast the first stone.'"

In Dublin, Ireland, where Miss Devlin disclosed her pregnancy, the Irish radio and television networks ignored the story until afternoon, then mentioned it in passing.

Dublin afternoon newspapers played the story down. The big circulation Dublin Evening Press buried it under a one-column headline: "Miss Devlin constituency meeting."

Women's Lib in Ireland greeted the news with jubilation. "The stigma of the unmarried mother in Ireland died last night," said Nell McCafferty, a leading member in the organization that is waging war for contraceptives and a more permissive Irish attitude.

Miss Devlin, showing signs of approaching motherhood, calmly took part in a political rally and a meeting of international Socialists Friday without apparent nervous reaction.

Then, she disappeared into her west side London home.

Police Corruption Is Mayor's Responsibility

NEW YORK (AP) — While agreeing that he must accept responsibility for police corruption in the city, Mayor John V. Lindsay has pointed to his record in office as proof that he has taken "persistent personal interest" in the problem.

Blasts Mitchell For Wire Policy

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has been accused of "lawless law enforcement" by a Georgetown University Law School professor.

Pro. Samuel Dash told a convention of the National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers Friday that by the use of wiretaps the attorney general "has approved of lawless law enforcement."

Donohue Captures Initial Pocono 500-Mile Race

MOUNT POCONO, Pa. (AP)—Rugged Mark Donohue held off determined Joe Leonard for the final 25 miles Saturday to score an impressive victory in the inaugural Schaefer 500-mile race. The formidable Unser brothers dropped out early in the competition.

It was the biggest triumph of a 12-year career for the 34-year-old Donohue, mechanical engineer from nearby Media, Pa., a two-time U.S. road racing champion and second place finisher at Indianapolis a year ago.

Starting from the pole position, the moon-faced Brown University alumnus zoomed away at the start and his British-built McLaren-Offy was never worse than fifth as he led the gruelling race over the three-cornered, 2.5-mile Pocono International Raceway on seven different occasions.

Finishing third behind Donohue and Leonard was the veteran A.J. Foyt of Houston. Fourth place went to Mario Andretti and fifth to Billy Vukovich of Fresno, Calif.

Donohue's average speed was 138.649 miles per hour. Time for the race was 3 hours, 36 minutes.

Bobby Unser had led the race and 22.312 seconds. Seven yellow lights slowed the pace for more than 30 laps. Donohue will collect almost $100,000 from the $430,100 purse at Sunday's victory dinner.

twice and was still in contention when he was forced out with engine failure with 150 miles to go.

Only 14 cars finished the first race over the Pocono Mountain course that was rushed to completion only two weeks ago. The crowd was a disappointing 65,000. Speedway officials had predicted upwards of 100,000.

Allisons Favorites

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Stock car racing's high-powered posse attempts again today to catch the Allison gang—Donnie and Bobby—in the $80,000 Firecracker 400.

Bobby Allison's dazzling Mercury captured five straight major races in a May-June streak; Shaggy-haired brother Donnie, the defending Firecracker champion, wheeled another Mercury at 183.228 miles an hour to win the pole for the 400.

"It's high time somebody caught 'em," drawled Richard Petty, a three-time Daytona 500 winner who has never taken the Fourth of July event.

Forty cars begin the 160-lap chase in Florida's midsummer heat at 9 a.m. CDT, today with a crowd of 80,000 expected.

Buddy Baker, 6-foot-5, second banana on Petty's team, earned the outside pole spot with a lap at 182.904 in a Dodge.

Unearned Runs Provide Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Minnesota used three errors in the first inning for four unearned runs and Jim Kaat coasted with a five-hitter as the Twins beat the Milwaukee Brewers 7-1 Saturday.

The Twins got only one hit in the first inning off loser Marcelino Lopez, 1-3. Leo Cardenas' two-run single capped the rally.

The first two batters reached base on errors and Harmon Killebrew walked to load the bases. Two runs scored on a fielder's choice when Roberto Pena threw wild to the plate.

The Brewers made two more errors in the game, but the Twins did not need them to push a cross single runs in the fourth, sixth and seventh innings.

Minnesota 400 101 100-7 6
 Milwaukee 80 100 00-1 5
 Kaat and Mitterwald; Lopez, Weaver 6; Krause 9 and Rodriguez, W. Kaat, 6-7, L. Lopez, 1-3.

Pat Matzdorf Sets New World's High Jump Mark

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—University of Wisconsin high jump star Pat Matzdorf leaped 7 feet 6 1/4 inches, shattering the world record Saturday as the United States men's team rallied to beat the Russians in their international track meet.

The record jump came on the third try by the 6-foot-2 1/2 Matzdorf and erased the 7-5 3/4 mark set by Russia's Valery Brumel in the 1968 USA-USSR meet at Moscow.

Steve Prefontaine, the 20-year-old distance ace from the University of Oregon, ran the 5,000 meters in 13 minutes 30.4 seconds for an American record and another big U.S. victory.

Prefontaine bettered the 13:32.2 by the veteran George Young at Bakersfield, Calif., earlier this year. Steve Stager, runner from Georgetown University finished second in 13:35.5.

USA LEADS

The tally for Uncle Sam's men stood at 119 to 106 for the Russians with only the decathlon remaining and made it the eighth time in 10 meets they've been successful.

Russian women outpointed the USA 76-60 for their ninth triumph.

The 21-year-old Matzdorf proved the sensation for the capacity crowd of 21,000 in the University of California's Edwards Stadium. He has just finished his junior year in college and his previous best outdoor jump was 7-2.

A meet record well in the discus as Tim Vollmer, now in the Army and formerly of Oregon State, threw 205 feet 6 inches, bettering the 202-1 by Vladimir Lyakhov of the Soviet Union two years ago.

The United States men trailed by a point after Friday's competition but strong shows in the 400-meter hurdles and the 200-meter dash sent them ahead to stay.

Jim Seymour from the University of Washington placed second to John Akil—Bua of Uganda in the hurdles. Willie Deckard and Larry Black of the United States placed second and third behind Don Quarrie of Jamaica in the 200.

The Russian men had but three winners on the second day—Janis Donis, with a meet record 293-1 in the javelin, Romauldas Bite winning the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 8:41.0 and Yevgeniy Arzhanov in the 800 at 1:47.3.

Arnie Robinson, the Amateur Athletic Union champion from San Diego, added a first to the American list when he went 25-10 1/2 in the long jump, and the USA 1,600-meter team of Ede-ssel Garrison, Fred Newhouse, Tommie Turner and Darwin Bons won in 3:02.9.

Two American girls won Saturday—Patty Johnson of Renton, Wash., with 13.3 in the 100-meter hurdles and Willye White of Chicago with 21-4 in the long jump.

Noile Sabaitte won the women's 800 for the USSR, running 2:04.5, just beating Doris Brown of Seattle who was two-tenths of a second behind.

Nadyozhda Chizhova, world record holder in the shot put, won at 60-11 while her USSR teammate, Antonia Ivanova was just three-quarters of an inch back.

Sens Make It Four Straight

CLEVELAND (AP) — Washington built a four-run lead and relievers Haratio Pena and Joe Grzenda preserved it as the Senators nipped the Cleveland Indians 4-3 Saturday for their fourth straight victory.

Jackie Brown was sailing along on a two-hitter and had retired 14 in a row when Cleveland struck for three runs in the sixth inning.

Vada Pinson doubled with two out, Graig Nettles walked and Ray Fosse singled for one run. Chris Chambliss walked to load the bases and Frank Baker singled up the middle for two more runs.

Reliever Denny Riddleberger walked Ted Uhlaender to load the bases again, but Pina came on and got Eddie Leon to ground out to end the inning.

When the first hitter in the seventh singled for Cleveland, Grzenda came in and stopped the Indians the rest of the way.

Harvard Wins Cup, But Yank Loses Singles

HENLEY - ON - THAMES, England (AP) — World champion Alberto Demiddi of Argentina took the diamond challenge sculls and Harvard University crews ended their five-year famine with two prestigious trophies at the Henley royal regatta Saturday.

Demiddi beat Jim Dietz of the New York Athletic Club by 2 1-3 lengths in the final of the Diamonds, Henley's top award for individual rowers, in 8:08.

Harvard's American champion lightweight eight crew won the final of the Thames Challenge Cup, holding off a fast finishing Kingston Rowing Club of England by 1-3 length in 6:48.

Five hours earlier the American eight, stroked by Dave Harman, 22, of Newport, R.I., won their semifinal race against Bewdley Rowing Club.

TAKE FOURS

To complete Harvard's day of triumph on the mile and 500-yard River Thames course, a crew stroked by Scott Baker of New York won the final of the Wyfold Challenge cup for coxless fours.

The last day of the regatta took place in brilliant sunny weather before a colorful crowd of well over 30,000 lining the entire length of the course.

Trinity College of Hartford, Conn., lost in the finale of the Ladies Challenge Plate race — strictly for men — just as they did in their only other visit here in 1969.

This time Trinity was second to England's University of London which won by 1 1/4 lengths in 7:00.

Ronnie Truitt Is Coach Of Year

FORT WORTH (AP) — Ronnie Truitt of Cypress-Fairbanks, in his first year of coaching in Class AAAA, has been named high school basketball coach of the year by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

His team scored a smashing victory over Houston Wheatly in the state finals and finished with a 36-6 record.

Dobson Pitches Orioles To Win Over Ex-Mates

DETROIT (AP)—Former Tiger Pat Dobson hurled a five-hitter and Paul Blair drove in four runs with a pair of doubles to send the Baltimore Orioles to an 8-1 victory over Detroit Saturday.

The first hit off Dobson was a bloop single by Aurelio Rodriguez with one out in the fifth inning. The Orioles right-hander, who retired the first 11 batters before walking Jim Northrup in the fourth, struck out 10 in boosting his record to 8-4.

Pinch-hitter Dalton Jones' eighth inning single after a walk to Bill Freehan was the second hit and Northrup homered in the ninth when the Tigers collected two other singles.

Baltimore scored four runs off Les Cain, 5-3, in 2-3 innings with Blair's two-run double the big blow greeting re-

Landry Heads For Camp Optimistic For Cowboys

Editor's Note: Dallas Coach Tom Landry leaves next week for Thousand Oaks, Calif., and another stop at the world professional football championship which the Cowboys missed by seconds in the Super Bowl against Baltimore. Here's a Landry interview with Dennis Freeman, AP Southwest Sports Editor.

TOM LANDRY

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Tom Landry is entering the 1971 professional football campaign perhaps with more confidence than he has ever had as coach of the Dallas Cowboys despite an unsettled situation at quarterback. "I feel we've got more depth in certain critical positions and the defense should be the best it has ever been," Landry says. "Our quarterbacks are throwing well and the trades certainly make things exciting." Craig Morton, rated by some critics as the worst passing quarterback who ever started in the Super Bowl, is looking strong in summer workouts after a delicate elbow operation. "Craig is throwing the ball very well," Landry says. "He threw without pain in quarterback school. Since then (back-field coach) Danny Reeves reports that Morton has really cut loose and is throwing as hard as he ever threw."

The quarterbacks will share time in the pre-season games. From their performances, Landry will judge who should start. "Bear in mind that statistics aren't everything," Landry says. "We should be able to predict from the pre-season games what the quarterbacks should do during the season. Sometimes you can't get that from statistics. Of course, if a quarterback is hitting 30 per cent of his passes and the other 60 per cent, there's not much doubt which one is doing the job." Landry says "the final criteria on Morton should come in training camp. He has to throw every-day to see if his arm holds up. He also must work himself out of the mental shock of the Super Bowl. That takes time. He's got to perform and be acceptable in what he does."

HOW TO COVER

The only coach the Cowboys have had says it should be interesting to see how opponents try to cover Bob Hayes and newly acquired wide receiver Lance Alworth and tight end Billy Truax. "If they do double cover both wide receivers, then that will leave the tight end with single coverage," Landry says. "That will assure a passing game with at least one receiver who is not double covered."

Landry says of his recalcitrant halfback Duane Thomas who has announced his "retirement," "I think if he (Thomas) wants a job he had better get to camp quick. I think Calvin Hill will have a good year. I don't know what will happen with Thomas. He hasn't approached us."

IMPROVE PASSING

But Landry says the No. 1 project in summer camp will be "to improve our passing game. We've got a lot of jelling to do offensively and we've got a lot of new people to work in." He says the Cowboys won't harken back entirely to their "Big Play" philosophy of the '60s which was abandoned for the most part in 1970 despite the addition of two talented receivers such as Truax and Alworth. "We should be getting more receivers open with people like Alworth and Truax on the team," Landry says, "but we're not going back to the big play concept."

Landry poo poos any thoughts that the Cowboys will have a cakewalk because of one of their weakest schedules in years if you compare the 1970 records of the clubs they play.

"Buffalo is where Detroit was a couple of years ago," Landry says. "With quality players like O. J. Simpson and J. D. Hill, Buffalo is in a position to make a big move in a hurry."

BETTER CLUBS

Other non-division foes include New Orleans, New England, Chicago, Los Angeles and the New York Jets.

Landry says "Boston should be better because of Jim Plunkett and a new stadium. It helps to have a good atmosphere with 50,000 fans cheering for you."

"If Joe Namath returns healthy, the Jets will be a new team," Landry says. "The Rams are always a good team and Chicago and New Orleans can be tough in their own stadiums."

Within the division, Landry says only Philadelphia is suspect because of quarterback problems.

"Washington will be improved because of the strong job George Allen is doing in shoring up the defense," Landry says. "The New York Giants and St. Louis will be factors, just like they were last year."

Camp begins in Thousand Oaks, Calif., July 9 as the rookies pour in. The veterans report July 16. The first exhibition game is Aug. 6 at Los Angeles. Landry was asked if he got around to giving himself a grade for last season like he always does.

"Just say it was better in the second half of the season than it was the first half," he grinned.

Rainbow Derby Feature Race

RUIDOSO, N. M. — Bunny Bid, super brilliant speedster owned by the Bunny Bid Syndicate of Chillicothe, Tex., will be in the spotlight Sunday when 10 finalists go to post in the $161,415 Rainbow Quarter Horse Derby finals.

The finalists qualified for the blue-ribbon field through time trials held last week. The test is limited to 3-year-olds and will be over 400-yards, with the winner receiving $63,686.25 of the purse.

Bunny Bid has been out of the money in only one of his last 11 starts, with eight of them being wins; this despite habitual drawings to the tough inside. However, he has failed to grab one of the premier crowns at Ruidoso Downs. Last year he failed by a nose to win the rich All-American, losing to Rocket Wrangler.

Potent speed embraces Sunday's entire Rainbow lineup. Included among the top qualifiers are Jet Space and Tony B Deck, the latter winner of the 1971 Ruidoso Quarter Horse Derby and owner of five consecutive wins. Jet Space was runner-up in the Ruidoso Derby.

The Rainbow Derby array for Sunday, by post position and with jockeys, will be Bunny Bid (Byers), See Him — Go (Nicomemus), Tony B Deck (Ort), Fast Jet (Wallace), Dial Anna (Assmussen), Jet Space (Bannowsky), Class Rockette (Lovell), La Jolla (Cox), Mr. Three Spot (Wilson), and Miss Angel Eyes (Henning).

LIMITS STILL APPLY Game Laws Liberalized

ALBUQUERQUE — There are some important new "do's and don'ts" for the Texas hunter.

The Parks and Wildlife Commission has enacted several statewide changes, and the 62nd Legislature added numerous other modifications to existing hunting laws.

Two of the new changes might be considered "liberalizations" of present laws — but they still carry certain limitations. One allows the removal of shotgun plugs to give the hunter more than three shots in succession.

However, the three-shot limit will still apply to migratory birds. These include ducks, geese and doves.

So if a hunter's main targets are doves or waterfowl, it probably wouldn't be worth his money to have a gunsmith remove the plug.

The other change allows hunting from cars. But this does not mean that hunters are allowed to shoot from public roads, rights-of-way or other prohibited areas.

Hunters may shoot native game animals and birds from a car on private property, but they aren't allowed to take migratory birds with this hunting method.

Hunting from aircraft is prohibited by a provision of this law.

One legislative bill makes it unlawful to take deer, elk, antelope, wild aoudad sheep and wild desert bighorn sheep with .22-caliber jetgun and rocket gun in general-law counties.

This change, in effect, makes this prohibition statewide, as the two cartridges already were outlawed in counties now under the department's regulatory authority.

Some of the changes doubtless won't affect the average sportsman. One of these is a law prohibiting the shooting or taking of wild turkeys from the roost.

Most hunters avoid molesting the birds' roosting sites, and landowners usually try to protect them.

Another change repeals the requirement for a permit to kill bison, virtually all of which are domesticated in Texas.

Tiger Cubs And Cardinals Prep Canonero For Winter In Double Bill Here Today

The Tiger Cubs and the Cardinals will carry Big Spring colors into a unique double-header attraction at Steer Stadium this afternoon. Each will be facing an out-of-town team. For the Tiger Cubs, who will be first up at 1:30 o'clock, the opposition will be the Snyder Redlegs who administered a bitter double dose of defeat to the Cubs in Snyder last weekend. The Cardinals, who are 10-6 for the season, will meet the vaunted Lubbock Chaparrals in the second game. The second game will start around 4 p.m. Admission for the twin bill is 75 cents for adults, and children will be admitted free.

This marks the first time that the Tiger Cubs and the Cardinals, the other local semi-pro team, have been in town on the same Sunday. The following averages are those of the Tiger Cubs, based upon a minimum of 12 at bats. Players denoted by asterisk are no longer on the active roster.

Colonial Tennis Matches Slated For Aug. 16-22

Points will be just as important as money to the 32 top professionals entered in the $50,000, tenth annual Colonial National Professional Tennis Tournament scheduled for Colonial Country Club's tennis stadium Aug. 16-22.

Money is important to the pros, but it's the top eight point winners on the World Championship of Tennis tour, not the top money winners, who advance to the $100,000 finals of the million dollar tour. Through eight tournaments so far, leaders are John Newcombe 39, Rod Laver 32, Cliff Drysdale 28, Tom Okker 23, Marty Riessen 20, Ken Rosewall 18, and Roy Emerson 15.

Prep Canonero For Winter

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer W. J. Hirsch says Canonero II, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner now owned by the King Ranch in Texas, probably will race in California next winter.

The 3-year-old now is stabled at Belmont Park, where he failed in a bid for racing's triple crown.

"The colt still has a swollen hock," Hirsch said. "I don't think he'll be ready for the fall meeting at Belmont, but he should be ready by early winter."

"We race in California, so I suppose that's where he'll be going."

After winning the Derby and the Preakness, Canonero suffered a foot infection and failed in his attempt to win the Belmont Stakes and the triple crown. He finished fourth behind Pass Catcher in the Belmont.

Bob Kleberg, master of King Ranch, purchased the colt June 25 from his Venezuelan owner, Pedro Baptista, for a sum in excess of $1 million.

Notices Going Out For C-Club Meet

Notices will go out soon for the Big Spring Country Club for its annual invitational golf tournament. Dates this year are Aug. 13-14-15, marking a departure from the Labor Day holiday season followed for more than two score years. The first day of the tournament will be given over to qualifying, also to the First National Bank cup matches. C. G. Griffin, Country Club pro, said that the course is in excellent shape, although it missed out on the good rains of a week ago. He expected it to be in peak form for the traditional tournament, one of if not the oldest continuous tournament in West Texas.

"Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave?" When you display the Flag, you're saying a lot about yourself. You're saying that you believe in the principles on which our government was founded. And, most of all, that you have faith in the future of our country. It also means that you want to stand up and be counted. As members of the community, we're concerned that some Americans appear to have forgotten the true meaning of the Flag. The Flag itself may remind them. So, display the Flag. It's not "flag-waving." It's not an idle gesture. It shows your colors. National Automobile Dealers Association. One in a series presented by N.A.D.A., this newspaper, and the new car dealers of our community.

Hawk Players Heading Down Home Stretch With Production

As rehearsals spin into the last week before production, the cast and crew of "A Company of Wayward Saints" busy themselves with last-minute details of final characterizations.

Last week the crew, made up of members of a summer theatre activities class at Howard County Junior College, put finishing touches on the two-level platform stage constructed for this production in the Dora Roberts' Student Union cafeteria on the college campus.

For the first time in three years, Big Spring audiences will have the opportunity to attend one of Dan Shockey's well-known supper theatres.

Shockey, drama director at Howard County, initiated the supper theatre concept in this area during his years as a drama and speech teacher at Big Spring High.

At a supper theatre, the audience is served a buffet meal around the stage. After they have finished eating, the play begins where they can watch it from their seats.

In Shockey's current production, "Wayward Saints," the supper will be catered by McCormick Food Service. The serving line opens at 7:30 p.m. The play is scheduled to begin at 8:15 p.m.

"Wayward Saints" is staged in the round. That is, the audience is seated on all four sides of the actors. In addition to the stage, special light stands have been set up in the cafeteria to give the various lighting combinations necessary in the production of any play.

"Wayward Saints" is a relatively new play by George Herman. It was first performed by a professional troupe in Minnesota.

Although called a comedy by its author, a more precise description of it would be comedy-drama, for according to Shockey, it contains some of the most sensitive and dramatic scenes to be found in theatre today.

Tickets for the affair are $2 for adults and $1.50 for children under twelve. Reservations must be made in advance by calling the junior college at 267-6311 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Let Freedom Ring

By JO BRIGHT

The most important date in the history of the United States of America — July 4, 1776 — was colorfully recalled Saturday in Memorial Plaza as Big Springers gathered to celebrate the birthday of this nation.

Men, women and children from all walks of life were reminded of their heritage by the reading of the Declaration of Independence — perhaps the finest statement of democratic principles and rights ever penned. The document, largely the work of Thomas Jefferson, set forth the colonists' reasons for declaring their independence from the Crown of Great Britain.

At exactly 12 o'clock noon on that earlier day, Jefferson began reading the eloquent statement which was later signed by John Hancock, president of the Continental Congress, and 55 other patriots, including Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin and John Adams.

The people had spoken, and now they would fight for their freedom.

And history recorded the Minutemen at Lexington and Concord — Paul Revere's ride — Bunker Hill — and the Continental Army and its commander, General George Washington, who commissioned a Philadelphia seamstress, Betsy Ross, to make a flag for the new nation.

The conflict came to a close on October 19, 1781 when Lord Cornwallis was forced to surrender his 8,000 Redcoats to the 17,000 troops that made up Washington's colonials. Following the announcement of victory at Yorktown, John Hancock wrote, "Let freedom ring throughout the Commonwealth — the war is won, and the United States of America is an independent nation."

The local observance began at 7:45 p.m. with a concert by the Collegians of College Baptist Church, directed by David Norvelle, and the Hand Bell Choir of First United Methodist Church. Featured was the song, "Let Freedom Ring," composed for the celebration by its director, Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodds. Chaplain Ken Summy of Webb Air Force Base gave the invocation.

The Call to the Colors by Elaine Deke was followed by the presentation of the colors by the Webb AFB Color Guard. "Yankee Doodle" and "Hail, Columbia" were played by Steer Band members, Mona Boadle, Sue Fortenberry and Kelly Carlisle. The Grand March and the "Waltz of the Bells" was presented by Runnels Junior High School students.

As the story unfolded, Sheriff A. N. Standard, the courier on horseback, delivered to the plaza a scroll bearing the Declaration of Independence. His escort was formed of members of the Non-Commissioned Officers Association at Webb AFB and the Howard County Sheriff's Posse.

Portraying the town crier, Guilford L. Jones read the document to the assembled citizens, and the program climaxed with a symbolic ringing of the city's bells, led by Key Club members with the Steer Victory Bell.

The event was sponsored by the Cultural Affairs committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. The committee chairman is Mrs. Roy Cederberg.

COLONIAL COSTUMES set the mood as Guilford L. Jones, portraying the town crier, shows the Declaration of Independence to Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodds, chairman for Saturday's program, "Let Freedom Ring." Used for the first time in the annual observance was the Betsy Ross flag, with thirteen stars and thirteen stripes, which was handmade by Mrs. Dodds.

THE CULTURAL AFFAIRS committee of the Chamber of Commerce, here represented by Mrs. Roy Cederberg, chairman, sponsored this year's "Let Freedom Ring" observance.

Chaplain Ken Summy of Webb Air Force Base gave the invocation at the event, which has increased in scope with each year's presentation.

THE STately MINUET of colonial times was revived in a dance number, "Waltz of the Bells," during the city's Fourth of July celebration at Memorial Plaza. Shown, in powdered wig to portray the male lead, is Gloria Marion, and the other dancers are Janet Ivery, left, and Peggy Brown, right.

FRINGED BUCKSKIN and a coonskin cap were appropriate attire for Sheriff A. N. Standard, the courier who delivered the Declaration of Independence to the town square. On horseback, he was escorted by colonial troops made up of members of the Non-Commissioned Officers Association at Webb Air Force Base and the Howard County Sheriff's Posse.

Pledge Nuptial Vows In Methodist Church

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Janet Bess Smith and Sgt. Terry Steven Lawson Saturday in the First United Methodist Church before an altar centered with a large sunburst of white snapdragons, Fuji mums and carnations.

Flanking the arrangement were branched candelabra accented with ferns and fern trees. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leo K. Gee, pastor of First United Methodist Church, and music was by Mrs. Mary Skalicky, organist, and Mrs. Ralph Dowden, vocalist. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edward Smith, 1803 Settles, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dowl Lawson of Middlesboro, Ky.

The bride was attired in a formal gown of white satin peau de soie with high rise waistline and long fitted sleeves. The rounded neckline and sleeves were circled with lace appliques, and the gown was complemented by a chapel-length train. A cluster of flowers held her bouffant veil of illusion which fell below her shoulders, and her bouquet was a cascade of Frenched carnations and white roses centered with a white rose.

The maid of honor was Miss Linda Murdock who wore an Empire, full-length gown of lilac crepe with matching satin sash. Her headpiece was a satin bow with brief veil, and she carried a nosegay of pink carnations, babies'-breath and Sweetheart roses.

The best man was Gary Mears, and ushers were Jimmy Brown and John S. Edgar, the latter of Lubbock. The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School, and the bridegroom graduated from Bell County High School in Kentucky. He has been serving with the Air Force in Vietnam, and will return there to complete his tour of duty, during which time the bride will reside in Big Spring.

RECEPTION
The reception was held in the home of the bride's parents with Miss Robbie Murdock presiding at the guest register. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a satin cloth overlaid with white net. The table appointments were crystal, and a centerpiece of white carnations, babies'-breath and roses was flanked by candelabra. Those serving were the bride's sister, Dr. Diane Simmons, Houston; Miss Millie McBride, Coahoma; and Miss Bonnie Brown.

Attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Frankie and Linda, Hurst; Mrs. John S. Edgar Jr. and Toni, Lubbock; Mrs. Phillip Burchett, San Angelo; Mrs. Richard McClintic and Lisa, Pueblo, Colo.; and Charles Murdock, San Antonio.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Lawson left on a wedding trip.

REHEARSAL DINNER
The rehearsal dinner was held Friday evening on the patio at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. John S. Edgar Sr., 4109 Muir. The couple presented gifts to their attendants.

A LOVELIER YOU Shoe Styles Follow Women's Lib Move

By MARY SUE MILLER
Summertime shoe styling has liberated the foot, baring it at sides, back and toes. Shapelier heels and more natural toelines also signal new freedom. Creamy and resilient, American leathers, moreover, offer cool, caressing comfort. The most!

styles range from spectator oxfords through ghillies, work shoes and espadrilles to kicky "gladiators" with laces going up-up and around the leg. Leather colors add yet another beautiful dimension. Never was there such an array of pale tints and hot tints with white keeping pace. To make striking selections, work for unexpected combos between footwear and costume.

To illustrate: Try violet sandals with a white pleated skirt and shirt; butterfly-blue slings with a lefty print; ivory gladiators with red hot pants; honey pumps with a blonde chiffon twirler.

In such ways you take a giant step toward The Look, Summer '71.

GROOMING

Put aside your grooming doubts and worries! Send today for "Your Grooming - A to Z," a booklet that covers every step in achieving smooth looks. It tells how to manicure and pedicure, use deodorants and depilatories, bathe for beauty, tend feet, hands, teeth and eyes; polish skin and hair, care for clothes, apply perfume, overcome personal posers. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

BETROTHED - Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Davidson of Pasadena, Tex., formerly of Big Spring, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Bruce D. R. Bunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Bunn, 522 Scott Drive. The wedding is scheduled Aug. 7 in the First Presbyterian Church, Pasadena.

Wood Staining

When working with a wood stain, it's important to remember that stain should be applied only on one full section or panel at a time. After applying the stain allow it to stand for a few minutes. Then wipe lightly with a lint-free cloth. The result: a uniform color!

MRS. DAVID CLIFTON BROWN

Stanton Rites Unite Couple

STANTON (SC) — Miss Kay Lynne Hankins and David Clifton Brown exchanged marriage vows Friday evening at the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Warren Hall performed the rites before an archway decorated with greenery and orchid poms. Baskets of orchid and white chrysanthemums and purple stephanotis accented the arch, and white candelabra held orchid tapers.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Hankins, Box 371; and Mr. and Mrs. Byron W. Brown, Route 1.

The bride wore a Spanish-design, formal gown of scalloped Chantilly lace with Sabrina neckline and lace sleeves that came to a point over the hands. A large peade sole bow with streamers accented the natural waistline at the back. Cascading ruffles down the skirt extended to a chapel-length train. Her elbow-length lace veil fell from a lace caplet, and she carried a bouquet of camillias centered with an orchid.

Sherry Hankins served her sister as maid of honor, wearing a floor-length gown fashioned in orchid chiffon. The gown featured a fitted lace bolero and long full sleeves which were gathered at the wrist. She wore a Doir bow with a short veil in her hair, and carried a nosegay of orchid feathered carnations backed with white lace.

Bridesmaids were Miss Gayle Haggard and Mrs. Larry White, the bride's sister. They wore gowns identical to the maid of honor.

Miss Tina Reynolds of Jacksboro was flower girl, and Kevin Brown of Midland was ring bearer.

Jerry Brown of Midland, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man and ushers were Gary Turner and Jody Turner, Midland; and Larry White, Groomsman were Bill Pardue and Wesley Henson.

Background music was provided by Mrs. Larry Pinkston, organist; and David Saunders, soloist.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church fellowship hall. Members of the house party were Mrs. Marvin Standefer, Mrs. Alex Haggard, Mrs. Harold Brantley, Miss Paula Standefer, Mrs. Jerry Brown and Miss Jana Hall.

Following a wedding trip to Dallas, the couple will reside in the Casa Permian Apartments, Odessa. Mr. and Mrs. Brown are both graduates of Stanton High School. He is presently employed by Key Fabricators in Odessa, and she is a student at Midland Commercial College.

Delegate Tells Of Austin Trip

Bluebonnet Girls' State representative, Kae McLaughlin, described activities at the Austin meeting for members of the American Legion Auxiliary Thursday evening in the Legion Hall. A supplementary report was given by Sherri Turner, last year's representative.

Miss McLaughlin spent 10 days attending workshops and classes on organization and procedures of city, county and state governments.

The young women who participated in the program were divided into two political parties (Nationalists and Federalists). The two floors of each dormitory represented: one city each, and each dormitory represented one county. The women elected city, county and state officials to represent them in the mock governmental business, including house and senate sessions.

Miss McLaughlin was runner-up for state treasurer in the Nationalist Party primary, and was elected president of the city and state chamber of commerce. She authored a bill requiring that a person's blood type be shown on driver's licenses, which was passed by the state Girls State officials.

Baby Naming Is Scientific Process

Now they're getting the knack of naming baby down to a science. A new calculator, done in pink and blue, will help the undecided parents-to-be with an offering of more than 40,000 possible first and second names. The two-dial calculator brings name combinations up for viewing simply by a turn of the dials. The tiny calculator will be available shortly through department stores and other retail outlets.

The bills passed during the annual program are often reviewed by actual government officials, according to Miss McLaughlin; and some have provided the groundwork for laws passed.

The 10-day program included a trip to Austin where they held an inauguration for Girls State officials and heard a talk by Governor Preston Smith concerning the importance of their activities.

The local American Legion Auxiliary sponsored Miss McLaughlin at the meeting. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, 112 Cedar.

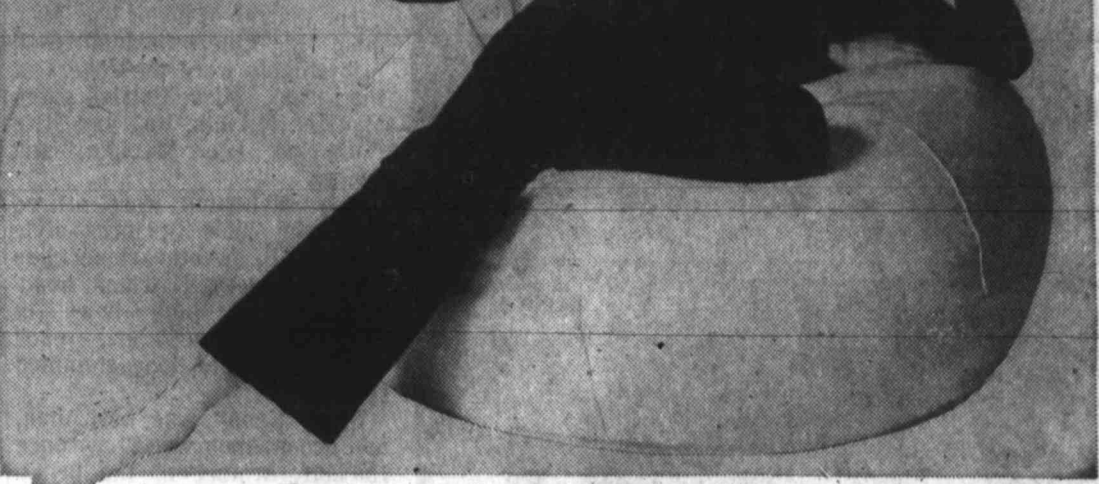

Following graduation from Big Spring High School next year, she plans to attend Texas Tech to study home economics and journalism.

Mrs. Ollie Bransom presided at Thursday's meeting as new auxiliary officers were elected.

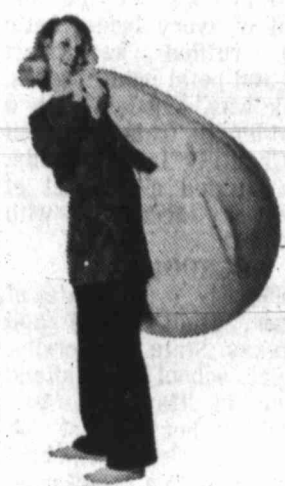

Mrs. Bransom was re-elected president, and those serving with her will be Mrs. Ernest Graubaug, first vice president; Mrs. Bill Gonzales, second vice president; Mrs. Bob Boyett, secretary; Mrs. Roscoe Cone, treasurer; Mrs. Fern Smith, historian; and Mrs. Byron Hill, sergeant-at-arms.

The executive committee will consist of Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Zeldia Rea and Mrs. Raymond Andrews. Delegates to the department convention in Dallas July 23-25 will be Mrs. Bransom, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Ray, Mrs. Boyett, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Graubaug.

Wedding Ceremony Performed In Virginia

Bush Hill United Presbyterian Church, Alexandria, Va., was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Miss Theresa Macklin and Richard Wayne Holmes.

Parents of the couple are Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Thomas

P. Macklin, Big Spring, and Mrs. Raymond Holmes, Kansas City, Mo. The officiating minister was the Rev. James Stuart Dickson.

The communion table was centered with a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and gladioli flanked by silver candlesticks, and on each side were placed candle trees and palms. A musical prelude was presented by the organist, John Wingert, McLean, Va., and Charles P. Macklin (U.S.N.), Norfolk, Va., brother of the bride.

The matron of honor was Mrs. John R. Cole, Garland, and bridesmaids were the sisters of the bride, Miss Patricia Ann Macklin, Norfolk, Va., and Miss Catherine Lee Macklin, Big Spring.

The attendants were attired in light blue princess-style gowns with sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves. Their headpieces were blue bows of matching fabric, and each carried a single, long stemmed red rose.

Peter Kenny was best man, and groomsmen were Lawrence Hackett, brother of the bridegroom; and Midshipman I.C. Richard G. Macklin, U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., brother of the bride.

The bride was attired in her mother's wedding gown which was princess-style and fashioned of ivory bridal satin with a ruffled sweetheart neckline and petal point sleeves. The back was accented with a cathedral-length train. Her veil was a Chantilly lace mantilla, and she carried a bouquet of white roses accented with babies'-breath.

SCHOOLS

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and North Texas State University. She taught school in Midland and later in Hampton, Va., before taking her present job with Fairfax County School System, Fairfax, Va. The bridegroom served in the U.S. Marine Corps and is presently attending Northern Virginia Community College.

RECEPTION

The reception was held in the Holiday Inn where guests were registered by Mrs. Peter Kenny and Mrs. Charles Macklin. Attending from out-of-town were Mrs. Mae Grady and Mr. and Mrs. William Faub of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Al Novy, Fairfield, Conn.; Mrs. Marshall Wright and daughter, Elizabeth, Long Island, N.Y.; and Miss Katherine Schamberg, Seattle, Wash.

A buffet dinner was served from a large table, and a smaller table held the wedding cake. The small tables for guests were covered with white cloths and centered with silver candlesticks.

After a wedding trip, the couple will reside in Alexandria.

RECEIVES PLAQUE — It was a big moment for Mrs. Clarence Cox Wednesday afternoon when co-workers and staff members at Cowper Clinic and Hospital gathered to wish her well on her retirement. She was presented a plaque by Dr. R. B. G. Cowper.

Retirement Party For Mrs. Clarence Cox

Mrs. Clarence (Irma) Cox has worked for Cowper Clinic and Hospital for 22 years.

She has regrettably decided that is long enough — and Saturday was her last day of service to the medical facility and its patients.

A surprise party was held for Mrs. Cox Wednesday afternoon by fellow employees, who affectionately refer to her as "Granny Irma." Every employee who was not involved with patient care (approximately 60) gathered in the hospital kitchen for refreshments and to wish Mrs. Cox well on her retirement.

Pink angel food cake, German chocolate cake and homemade ice cream were served from a refreshment table covered with a white cloth detailed with pink roses. The pink and white

Citizenship Viewed By Church Unit

A discussion, "Citizenship in Our Day," was held by members of the St. Paul Lutheran Women's Parish Workers Thursday in the home of Mrs. A. A. Graumann, 1903 Nolan.

Mrs. Marvin Myers was welcomed as a member. Guests included Mrs. Don Schroeder and the Rev. William H. Roth.

Mrs. Alton Marwitz, president, reported on the recent zone Christian Growth Workshop in Fort Stockton sponsored by the Lutheran Women's Missionary League. The fall zone meeting will be held in Kermit.

Mrs. Graumann was appointed secretary to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Elmer Lyster who is moving to Wisconsin. Another appointment put Mrs. Jeffrey Flack in charge of collecting trading stamps and coupons for various club projects.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Graumann and Mrs. Marwitz. There will be no August meeting due to Vacation Bible School which is scheduled from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Aug. 2-11 at the church. The summer program is for adults as well as children.

Bridge Tournament Slated At Fort Worth

The 10th annual Republic of Texas duplicate bridge tournament is to be played July 9-11 at the $20 million Tarrant County Convention Center at Fort Worth.

Sanctioned by the American Contract Bridge League, the event has been assigned sectional rating for award of rating points. Also, trophies will be presented, and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram bowl is to be given to the player who earns the most points during the tournament.

At Convention

LAMESA (SC) — Mrs. V. W. Crump attended the American Home Economics Association annual meeting Monday through Friday in Denver, Colo. The theme for the convention was "Today's Frontiers: Tomorrow's Realities."

includes mens, womens, masters and open pairs, Swiss team of four and special games for those not wanting to compete in the major events. The Swiss team and open pairs are two sessions.

H. Kenneth Stone, Fort Worth, has been named senior director by the ACBL. His assistants are Mr. and Mrs. John Emory of Wichita Falls, the only husband-wife team of directors in the country.

A program of social hours, dancing, snack bars and a buffet luncheon between sessions on July 11 has been arranged.

Included among the 750 bridge enthusiasts expected to compete for the master points and trophies are some of the top players in the nation. The world's champions, "Dallas Aces," are to play in several of the matches. Sponsor of the tournament is the 600-member non-profit Fort Western Bridge Unit 183.

MRS. RONALD WAYNE LEPARD

Couple Recites Nuptial Vows

Miss Sharon Key Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Lee, Coahoma, was married to Ronald Wayne Lepard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waymond Lepard, Rt. 1, Big Spring, Friday evening in a garden wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Shields, Coahoma.

The improvised altar was an archway of greenery fashioned over a fountain and flanked by baskets of pastel flowers. In the background was a waterfall and hedge of red roses, and to one side was a bird cage containing two white doves. The walkway to the altar was outlined with lanterns.

Miss Arlene Milliken, pianist, accompanied the vocalist, Larry Greenfield.

The bride wore a gown of white lace over satin, accented at the Empire waist with white satin ribbon. The bodice was styled with mandarin collar and long, full sleeves. Her waist-length veil of illusion was held by pearl petal silhouettes, and she carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations and lily of the valley tied with white ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Shelton Ashley of Arlington, Tex., was matron of honor, wearing a blue gown accented with white insertion and blue velvet ribbon. Her white organdy hat was trimmed with blue velvet ribbon streamers. Dressed in an identical coral-colored costume was the bridesmaid, Miss Patricia Don Lee, sister of the bride. Both carried baskets of mixed pastel flowers.

Lawrence Lepard of Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Dickie Lepard, another brother, was groomsmen. The flower girls were Jana Sue Lee, sister of the bride, and Julia Lepard, cousin of the bridegroom.

The reception was held in the garden where the bride's table was covered with ecru linen done in cut work embroidery and appointed with crystal and silver. A miniature bride and groom and white doves accented the tiered cake. The bridegroom's table, of white wrought iron, was placed on a patio decorated with garlands of boxwood and Japanese lanterns. The centerpiece was a candelabra arranged with mixed pastel flowers. Chocolate cake and coffee were served.

Assisting with serving were Mrs. Loyd Wolf, Mrs. B. J. Cauble, Mrs. E. L. Collier, Mrs. Wendell Shive, Mrs. Travis Greenfield and Mrs. Johnny Justiss. Miss Barbara Coates was at the register.

Mr. and Mrs. Lepard are graduates of Coahoma High School, and he was graduated from Howard County Junior College. Currently employed by Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, Lepard will attend Texas Tech this fall, majoring in business. After a wedding trip, the couple will reside at 905 E. 15th, Big Spring.

The wedding rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at Coker's Restaurant. Tables featured a decorative theme in shades of blue.

Men's Footwear Features Sandals

Comfort, cool and a hand-craft look is the fashion news in men's footwear this summer, says Gentlemen's Quarterly. The men's fashion magazine shows several pair of leather sandals all with the hand-sewn look. A pair of studded leather clogs with thick wooden soles has rubber strips to prevent slipping.

Badge Workshops Set For Girl Scouts

Girl Scouts will be assisted this summer by several local businesses and organizations in a special proficiency badge program designed to give Scouts special help in their chosen fields of interest. Registered Scouts who will be Juniors or Cadettes this fall are eligible to participate on an individual basis.

A special committee, headed by Mrs. LeRoy Rorick, has secured badge consultants for six different program areas. Any questions concerning the workshops may be directed to Mrs. Rorick, 267-7743. She is being assisted by Mrs. Paul Klonka and Mrs. Sam Shaver.

To be featured during the last two weeks of July, the program consultants will be from the Big Spring Art Association, Big Spring Police Department, American Red Cross, Texas Electric Service Company and Webb Air Force Base.

Scouts may choose one or more areas of concentration at their Scouting level.

Registration for the workshops will be in the Highland Shopping Mall, Saturday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. As classes will be limited in size, registration will be on a first come basis. Any necessary fees will be payable at the time of registration.

CYCLIST: Juniors. Patrolman Ed Kissinger of the Big Spring Police Department is heading this area. Class will meet Tuesday and Thursday, July 20 and 22, 9 to 12 a.m. at the Police Headquarters. No fee.

COOK: Juniors. Mrs. Opal Kennon, home economist with Texas Electric, has agreed to help on this one. A discussion period is scheduled for Wed., July 21, 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. at the Texas Electric Office. Girls will do the practical cooking at

St. Lawrence 4-H Planning Revue

The St. Lawrence 4-H Club met last week for further planning of the county dress revue slated Friday in St. Lawrence Hall. Judging for junior girls will begin at 1:30 p.m., and senior girls will be judged at 2:30 p.m.

Kay Schraeder will be narrator, and music will be by Karen Hoelscher. Members of the planning and refreshment committee are Karen Schwartz, Dinell Hirt, Kathy Schwartz and Antoinette Schraeder.

A Fund Day for all 4-H girl members of Glasscock and Martin counties will begin at 2:30 p.m. July 14 and end the following morning.

The next regular meeting will be Aug. 3 for the completion of record books.

DRAWING AND PAINTING: Juniors. Mrs. DeForest Frazier and Mrs. Kenneth Timmons, both members of the Big Spring Art Association, are instructing this one. Two sessions are scheduled to meet at 1408 E. 14th. Session I — July 19, 21, and 23, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.; Session II — July 26, 28 and 30, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Fee: 50 cents per girl.

AVIATION: Cadettes. Webb Air Force Personnel are contributing their time for this badge. Group will meet at Scout Hut on Base and go by bus to instruction areas. Class starts July 19; time to be announced later. Only cost will be individual purchase of model plane to be built by each participant.

CHILD CARE: Cadettes. Being offered by the Red Cross, this class will train and certify girls to be reliable baby-sitters. Details will be available later. No fee.

CHEF: Cadettes. Mrs. Kennon will instruct this one also. Initial session is July 21, 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. at the Texas Electric Office. Practical cooking will be completed at home. No fee.

Each workshop is designed to help the girls fulfill all badge requirements. A city-wide Court of Awards will be held at the Howard County Junior College cafeteria, 7:30 p.m., Friday, Aug. 6. Girls will receive badge certificates at this time.

Miss Cofer Marries Richard S. Schmitt

MRS. RICHARD STEPHEN SCHMITT

Miss Vicki Ann Cofer became the bride of Richard Stephen Schmitt in a garden ceremony performed Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Ragsdale, 2306 Allendale. The setting was enhanced with an archway of greenery and white carnations flanked by emerald ferns and baskets of white gladioli.

The Rev. Caleb H. Hildebrand, pastor of Wesley United Methodist Church, was the officiating minister, and music was provided by Mrs. Gail Bonner, organist, and Ralph Dowden, vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Cofer Jr., 1707 Settles, and parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Joe Naylor, Annonale, Va., and J. R. Schmitt, Kokomo, Ind.

The bride's wedding attire was a street-length, white bonded crepe dress with scoop neckline and brief sleeves. Fashioned in an A-line, the dress was enhanced with a front panel trimmed in Venise lace. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was held by a cluster of petals, and she carried a nosegay of Frenched carnations centered with an orchid and tied with ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Anthony Fisher of Odessa, matron of honor, served as the bride's only attendant. She was attired in a pale pink A-line dress, fashioned similar to that of the bride, and carried a single long-stemmed pink carnation.

James Michael McFarlen of Arlington served his brother as best man, and Stephen Michael Cofer, brother of the bride, was the usher.

RECEPTION

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held in the Ragsdale home where Miss

Karen Hughes registered guests. Mrs. Marion Newton and Miss Lou Ann Mizek, the latter of Arlington, served at the refreshment table, and pink net rice bags were distributed by Miss Karen Hughes.

The table was covered with a white lace cloth and pink underlay. The bride's bouquet was placed at the base of a silver candelabrum with pink tapers, and appointments were crystal and silver. The tiered cake was decorated with pink roses and white doves.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Burleson of Van, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGuckin, Abilene; Mrs. Bill Coates, Mrs. S. A. Burleson and Mrs. Texola Tucker, all of San Angelo; and Mrs. Betty Pitts and Richard Pitts, both of Ackerly.

SCHOOLS

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School, Howard County Junior College and Texas Tech University. While at HCJC she served as editor of the annual, and at Tech, she was a member of Phi Nu Epsilon. She teaches third grade in Arlington, and holds membership in the Texas State Teachers Association. Schmitt, a graduate of Woodrow Wilson High School, Dallas, served in the U.S. Marines for four years. He is now employed by Southwest Aeromotive, Dallas, and attends the University of Texas, Arlington, working toward a degree in veterinary medicine.

After a wedding trip to Turner Falls, Okla., and Lake Murray, the couple will reside at 701 E. Rogers, Apt. 13, Arlington. For traveling, Mrs. Schmitt wore a pink pantsuit with black patent accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School, Howard County Junior College and Texas Tech University. While at HCJC she served as editor of the annual, and at Tech, she was a member of Phi Nu Epsilon. She teaches third grade in Arlington, and holds membership in the Texas State

Eagles Uuit Receives Trophy

The local Eagles Auxiliary received a trophy at the state convention in San Antonio for reaching its membership quota. The announcement was made by Mrs. Mae Steele, unit president, at the regular meeting Monday at Hotel Settles.

Mrs. Mary Jo Walker was initiated as an auxiliary member.

Advance tickets for an Eagles anniversary dance, scheduled July 31 in the Settles Ballroom, will go on sale soon, and a salad supper is planned at 7:30 p.m., Friday at the hotel.

The District 4 convention will be held in Crane July 10 and 11. Attending from here will be Mr. and Mrs. James Dalton and Mrs. Steele. The next local auxiliary meeting is at 8 p.m., July 12 at the hotel.

White House Has Greenhouse

A new book by former White House housekeeper Mary Kaitman (1965-69) reveals that the executive mansion maintains what must be the country's most specialized "farm". A rooftop greenhouse that grows only geraniums (to float in finger bowls) and chives, a favorite presidential herb for many years.

Old Raincoats Never Need Die

Hate to throw anything away? Here's an idea: When a plastic raincoat becomes too shabby to wear, cut it to waist length, shorten the sleeves, and use it as a "cosmetic cape" while you shampoo your hair, apply makeup, or do any chore which requires a bit of protection. Then keep it clean by wiping it with a sudsy sponge.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Leaving Town? Help Your Lawn Survive

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
County HD Agent

The following was prepared by Dwight S. Hall, Area Landscape Horticulturist at Overton. It is extremely applicable for July and August so I want to share it with you.

If that well-deserved summer vacation takes you away for an extended time, be sure your landscape is in order prior to departure. The following suggestions may be helpful in preparing plants and the home grounds for your absence.

PREPARE YARD

Cut the lawn grass just prior to leaving, and make plans to have the grass mowed during your absence if necessary. Most lawns will require mowing at least every two weeks. Besides becoming a tell-tale sign that you are away, overgrowth will tax the root areas of the grass; and appearance after cutting will be unattractive.

Water the home grounds well prior to leaving, if rains have been few. A good, slow soaking will be a lasting moisture. Heavily mulch those plants which tend to quickly dry-out so as to conserve moisture. Thirsty plants which demand frequent summer watering include: Coleus, Caladium, Mums and newly established plants or trees and shrubs planted during the spring.

Sink potted plants in a cool, shaded bed out of doors and water well. Sinking the pot below the soil level will prevent drying from summer wind or heat and help to stabilize top heavy containers.

Cut flowering annuals and perennial blooms to encourage new growth and blooms for your return. If old blooms and seed heads are allowed to remain on the plants, growth and future production will be retarded.

FEED WELL

Supplemental feeding is in order after pruning. A light application of a complete and balanced commercial fertilizer worked into the top surface soil, then watered in, will promote growth. Fertilize house plants with a liquid house-plant food at the time of watering.

Harvest all ripened or near ripened vegetables to induce further production. Vegetables which are not harvested stop producing. Have a neighbor check and collect fast maturing vegetables such as okra, tomatoes, squash and cucumbers.

Control existing insects and diseases to prevent a build-up of the pest during your absence. Summer insects and diseases do not take a vacation and will work overtime on healthy plants.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Phillips, Route 2, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Nancy, to Robert Greshaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Crenshaw, Route 2. The couple plans a Sept. 3 ceremony at the Wesley United Methodist Church.

MRS. DON ROGER DAVIS

Wedding Trip To Missouri

Miss Loretta Marie Owen and Sgt. Don Roger Davis were united in marriage at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Trinity Baptist Church.

Dr. Claude N. Craven, pastor, performed the ceremony at an altar adorned with a multi-colored Maypole, surrounded by palms, votive candles and assorted spring flowers.

Sgt. Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Cooley, of Blue Springs, Mo.; and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Owen, 1610 Benton.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Leonard Moody, pianist, and Miss Lila Williams, organist. Leonard Moody was vocalist.

The bride was attired in white peau de soie gown fashioned in an Empire style; the bodice overlaid with lace and featuring a scalloped lace neckline. Her long lace sleeves formed petal points at the wrist, and the gown had a chapel-length train. A shoulder-length veil, edged in lace, fell from a band of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of feathered carnations centered with an orchid.

Miss Sherry Powell served as maid of honor wearing a pink floor-length Empire-style gown. Other attendants were Mrs. Danny Lafser, bridesmatron; Miss Donna Swindell, bridesmaid; and Miss Renee Stewart of Hurst, junior bridesmaid. They wore gowns like Miss Powell's, with matching hats.

Sgt. Robert E. Hill of Webb AFB served as best man, and groomsmen were T. Sgt. Harold Snipes Jr. and Sgt. Danny Lafser, both of Webb AFB; and Henry Owen, the bride's brother. Ushers were Sgt. Phillip Walley and Sgt. Barton Chapin, both of Webb.

Miss Keri Shawn Stockwell served as flower girl, and James Wesley Bailey was ring bearer.

A reception honored the couple at the church fellowship hall. The refreshment table was covered with a blue cloth overlaid with white net. A miniature Maypole and the bride's bouquet centered the table, and the tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Serving refreshments were Mrs. Billy Ray Badgett, Mrs. Danny Wright, Mrs. Billie Powell and Miss Edna Owen.

For the wedding trip, the bride chose a lilac and white sleeveless dress with matching cape. Following a trip to Blue Springs, Mo., the couple will reside at 1704 1/2 Johnson.

Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Arlington Baptist College as well as the Sears, Roebuck and Company Billing School, Dallas. Sgt. Davis graduated from high school in Arvada, Colo. Following an assignment in Vietnam, he is stationed with the communications squadron at Webb Air Force Base.

Out-of-town guests, other than the bridegroom's parents, were Miss Carol Davis, Independence, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Randall B. Stewart, Hurst; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Montgomery and family, Graham; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Owen Jr. and family, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Picht, Cresco, Iowa; Mrs. Annabel Davis, Halma, Minn.; and Mr. and Mrs. John Roush, Arvada, Colo.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

Happy July 4th to you! May you not have any firecrackers popped in your neighborhood today to mar your holiday or your nap.

Today is DICK CLIFTON'S birthday and he anticipated the big day along about 3 a.m. Thursday at his home in Honolulu, Hawaii. In fact, he is going to have a cookout tonight for which he was preparing beans... and to him beans without some of his mother's chow chow just don't taste the same. Thursday morning at 7 MRS. T. B. CLIFTON had a telephone call from her son asking her to send some chow chow.

Of course she said she would send some, but she found she only had one pint. Her good friend in this time of need was MRS. HUEY J. DAVIS with whom she was scheduled to do some church calling. Mrs. Davis provided another pint of chow chow, got it packed and to the post office and air mailed in time for it to leave Big Spring Thursday afternoon. The post office figured it would arrive at Dick's house this afternoon.

Even if it does average out to cost $2.38 a pint, it doesn't matter when a Texas fellow needs some Texas-type, mama-made chow chow... and too, it's his birthday!

Those gremlins are in the typewriter again: SGT. and MRS. CHARLIE GRISSAM and their two sons of Hopewell, Va., are visiting his parents, MR. and MRS. THURLO GRISSAM. It's not Smith as I stated in Wednesday column... that's someone else. Sorry.

MR. and MRS. AUBREY ARMISTEAD and their family are visiting here from their home in Markham, Ill. They have been at Burnet to visit her parents, MR. and MRS. ALFRED COLLINS. While here they will be with their grandparents, MR. and MRS. D. B. ARMISTEAD.

MR. and MRS. BILL HENSLEY of Dallas, former Big Spring residents, have been guests of DR. and MRS. J. E. HOGAN.

The TOMMY B. STEPHENS family left today for a vacation trip to Florence, Ala., to visit relatives and friends. They plan to visit Animal World and Six Flags when they return to Texas.

MR. and MRS. DAVE SHAW and their daughters are to leave Monday for Tupelo, Miss., to visit her sister.

MRS. CHESTER MATHENY is spending the holiday weekend in Lubbock with a sister, MRS. H. R. PICKLE.

MRS. KELLEY LAWRENCE left Thursday for El Paso where she plans to spend several weeks with her son, KEN LAWRENCE.

Here last week to be at the bedside of his step-mother.

Zipper Pull

When you have a lost or broken pull handle on a zipper, make a temporary handle by taking a paper clip of the appropriate size, and thread the clip through a loop at the top of the slide portion of the zipper.

MRS. T. M. COLLINS, who is seriously ill, was M. D. (DICK) COLLINS of 3812 Southwestern Blvd., Dallas. He had moved there after operating a drug store in Lafayette, La., for 25 years. Joining him here Thursday morning was a brother, J. B. COLLINS, Abilene.

This promises to be an epochal July for the ERNIE BOYDS. They are spending a few days in Sulphur Springs, then will go to Minnesota to visit with an Ozona friend who now lives on one of the numberless lakes up there. On the way home they will look in at Chicago, Ill., on a former neighbor here, then spend some time in Bellville, Ill., where he will relive Army days of World War II with his closest buddy.

MR. and MRS. JOE DAWES and daughter, CATHERINE, have returned from Waco where they spent several days visiting with Mrs. Dawes' parents.

British Wives Club Has Theatre Party

Members of the British Wives Club went to the theatre as a group Thursday evening prior to their meeting in the home of Mrs. Bill Johnson, 3609 Calvin.

Plans were made for Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Bryan Matthews to serve refreshments to patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital Friday. Mrs. Gene Evans won the attendance prize.

A China tea pot was presented to Mrs. Louie Harris, who is moving to Louisville, Ky.

The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m. July 15 in the home of Mrs. Robert Bauer, 132-A Dow. Members were urged to bring guests to hear the program on interior decorating.

Anyone interested in joining the club may contact Mrs. Johnson at 263-7468 or Mrs. Kenneth Daubney at 263-6783.

Miss Janie Sue Read Weds M. T. Carter

Miss Janie Sue Read, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hezzie N. Read Jr. of Coahoma, was married Thursday evening in the Coahoma Presbyterian Church to Michael T. Carter, son of Temp S. Carter of Coahoma and the late Mrs. Carter.

The Rev. Lee Butler performed the ceremony before an altar centered with an arch of greenery with white satin streamers. A candle tree stood beneath the arch, and twin candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums completed the setting.

Miss Julie Choate was organist, and the soloist was Miss Cella Cooper.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Eddie G. Mann Jr. of Stephenville and Miss Linda Read served as matron of honor and maid of honor respectively, and bridesmaids were Miss Arlene Milliken, Miss Jerriann-Menser, Miss Cathy Evans and Miss Twylia Wall. The attendants wore floor-length gowns of pale yellow bonded crepe styled with Empire waist, marked with yellow satin ribbon. The bodice featured a high neckline and bishop sleeves. Their wide-brimmed crocheted hats were trimmed with yellow satin ribbon, and each carried a nosegay of white pompon mums and English ivy adorned with satin streamers.

The flower girl, Loretta Carter, wore a wristlet of white and yellow daisies.

Sterling Carter of Truth or Consequences, N.M., served his brother as best man. Grooms-men were Rickey Evans, Edmond T. Scott of Lubbock, Billy Gunn of Fort Worth and Eddie G. Mann Jr., Stephenville. The ushers were Randy Evans and Mark Milliken, with Chain Carter as ring bearer and altar taper lighters being Jackie Dean Wolf and Stevie Wolf, both of Vincent.

BRIDE'S GOWN
The bride was attired in a Juliet gown of ivory silk organza enhanced with silk Val lace and pale pink ribbons. The moulded bodice was designed with a high neckline outlined with lace ruching and tiny satin ribbons. Long full sleeves were gathered to small cuffs of the ruching, and vertical stripes of the ribbon and lace centered the entire front of the gown. A matching lace and ribbon bonnet held her bouffant veiling of silk illusion which drifted beyond the train. The bridal bouquet was of white pompon chrysanthemums and lily of the valley centered with a white orchid.

MRS. MICHAEL T. CARTER

After a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the couple will reside at Hillside Trailer Park until Aug. 1. At that time, Mr. and Mrs. Carter will move to Stephenville where he will attend Tarleton State College. A graduate of the Truth or Consequences high school, he attended Howard County Junior College two years and is employed at Wooten Transfer and Storage. The bride is a graduate of Coahoma High School.

RECEPTION

Out-of-town guests attending a reception in the fellowship hall of the church were Mrs. Janie Gunn, Fort Worth; Miss Sue Read, Midland; and Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Satterwhite, all of Lamesa.

The refreshment table was covered with white linen and appointed with crystal and silver. The centerpiece was of white pompon chrysanthemums and English ivy, and the tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Assisting with the serving were Miss Molly McKinney, Miss Sharon Shive, Miss Ellen Cunningham and Miss Karen Ashley.

Take High Tallies In Bridge Games

Six tables were in play for duplicate bridge games Friday afternoon at Big Spring Country Club.

Winners were Mrs. Hudson Landers and Mrs. E. L. Powell, first; Mrs. R. H. Weaver and Mrs. James Duncan, second; Mrs. Travis Reed and Mrs. Ward Hall, third; Mrs. J. D. Robertson and Mrs. John Stone, fourth; and Mrs. Hayes Stripling and Mr. Don Newsom, fifth.

Winners in Wednesday's play were Mrs. D. A. Brazel and Mrs. Ray McMahan, first; Mrs. A. McGann and Mrs. Hall, second; and Mrs. R. E. Dobbins and Mrs. Stripling, third.

Jeans Look Is Strictly American

NEW YORK — It's as American as apple pie, the jeans look which has overtaken the entire trouser category, fitting in perfectly with the casual mood that customers favor.

But it's definitely today and new — and fabrics and colors do it. This look is popular not only in basic denim, but brushed and sculptured denim, canvas, knits, corduroy — even in the more-traditional trouser fabrics.

And there's a variety of patterns from which to choose — stripes, alone and in combination with other patterns; geometrics; jacquards; herringbones; and prints, too, mostly in patchwork and ecological motifs.

L. K. Miller Family Honored At Reception

L. K. Miller and his family were honored at a reception Wednesday afternoon in the conference room of the Tolett All-Faith Chapel, Big Spring State Hospital. Miller is retiring after 43 years as a state employe.

Hosting the affair were staff members of the hospital and other friends of the Millers.

Miller was business manager at the hospital, where he has worked since 1957. He previously served at state hospitals in Wichita Falls and Rusk.

Guests called between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m., and were served from a table appointed with summer bouquets of yellow and bronze flowers. Serving were Mrs. Lee Wood, Miss Joy Loudamy and Mrs. Farris Hammond. Mrs. Norvelle Haggard presided at the guest register.

The hospital staff presented the Millers with a book, "Leaves of Gold," and Miller was given a gold pen and gift certificate.

Guests included the honored couple's son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joel R. Miller, Bryan and Stephen, Midland; and their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Winn, Gary, Scott and Susan of Odessa.

Named Winners At La Gallinas

Four tables were in play at the La Gallinas bridge play Wednesday at Big Spring Country Club. First place winners were Mrs. Ollie Anderson and Mrs. Janie Smith. Others who placed in the games were Mrs. M. A. Cook and Mrs. L. B. Edwards, second; and Mrs. Don Wiley and Mrs. Paschal Odum, third. The group will meet again at 1:30 p.m., Wednesday at the country club.

BOLD GOLD AWARDS — Big Spring High School cheerleaders Connie Torres (left), Dana Mancill, Tricia Cherry, Lori Fort, and Denise Bryant (with megaphone) won top honors this week in a school taught by the National Cheerleaders Association at Texas Tech. Denise holds the spirit stick presented to the girls for "outstanding spirit."

He's Not Just The Postmaster S. J. Foreman Retires After 40 Years

By BRIAN PEAY

The third postmaster in the history of Lenorah retired May 31 later more than 40 years of service to the little town in more ways than just postmaster. S. J. Foreman, 67, started to work in the small post office at Lenorah in the 1920's and became the third postmaster in 1930. J. F. Willingham started the office in 1921 and in 1923 G. L. Gerald became the second postmaster.

"We, the whole town, will miss Mr. Foreman and his wife. Mr. Foreman has been everything from banker to handyman around town," said Myrl D. Mitchell, farmer and businessman, as he explained the many facets of service the couple had rendered to the town.

"If you needed it you could get anything from notary work to seven-day-a-week, 24-hour postal service, even on holidays," said Mitchell.

TOWN GROWN

"There weren't many people here when I first came to this area. Since then the town has grown quite a bit," said Foreman. The post office was a fourth-class office upon its initiation and now it is a third class office, marking an increase in the volume of mail. The seasoned postmaster explained that the job had been a good one to him and his family, and he enjoyed serving the people of the small town.

"Every morning, at the crack of dawn for the past 40 years, I have gotten out of bed and made my way down to the Cotton Gin. You know... that's where all the men of the town open up the day with a good game of dominoes, have a daily one-hour discussion and then scatter," said Foreman. He was born in Hamilton County and his family moved to Lenorah from Comanche County and took up farming. In 1931 Mr. and Mrs. Foreman were married in Carlsbad, N. M., and settled in Lenorah.

CAME BACK

"I went to California shortly after my parents moved out here to West Texas, but it didn't take me too long to get back. After I married Mrs. Foreman, I never did figure we would live here long, but we got our roots sunk before we knew it."

Cub Scouts Get Badges

Six Cub Scouts were awarded various badges and honors June 26 as the Cub Scout Pack 136, Sand Springs, held its award presentation ceremonies at Birdwell Park.

Michael Meyers was presented his Wolf badge and one gold and one silver arrow at the presentation. Gregg Brown received one gold arrow and Jerry Roever was awarded one silver arrow.

In the Webelos division of scouting, Mike Roever and Tim Childers were awarded their Craftsman Award and Gary Hulme received his Forester Sportsman and Craftsman awards.

Approximately 45 scouts and their families enjoyed fried chicken, salads, sandwiches and cold drinks at the affair and a new Wolf scout, Keith Filton, was interviewed at the meet.

said the postmaster, as he explained that he and his wife were and are "content to live in the small town."

The postal service of the 40-year tenure of Foreman was mostly a one-man, or one-family job. "We have had other help at various times, but most of the work was done by me with the help of my able assistant (his wife), and my sons," said Foreman.

For most of the 40 years the post office was a part of the Foreman's house until just recently, due to his retirement, a new office was built on the Andrews Highway running through the town.

THREE SONS

The Foreman family includes three sons all of whom live in Midland. One of the sons, Sam, works with Globe Universal Science Corporation, Phil works with Texas Electric Service Company, and Dan works with the post office in Midland. "All of our sons helped us in the post office here, however, only Dan decided to stay in the business," said Mrs. Foreman.

Another sideline in the postmaster's various capacities, for which he is known around town as "hogman," is the breeding and raising of hogs.

"At one time we had as many as 700 to 800 hogs on our place," said Mrs. Foreman, however, "I am trying to get out of the business now and only have 400 hogs," Mr. Foreman was quick to add.

NO PLANS

"We don't have any real plans for the future, just anything away from work," he said. "I can remember one time when my wife had to fly to another city because of illness in the family. It was late, and I knew I couldn't cash a check anywhere, so I went to the post office," said Mitchell.

"I asked Mr. Foreman if he would cash a $200 check for me, and he did it without questions asked."

'HE LOVES ANTIQUES'

NEW YORK (AP) — Unable to resist "such a delicious moment," Hermione Gingold, 74, says she has yielded to a proposal of marriage from a London antique dealer she has known for 29 years. "He lives antiques and I think that's why he fell for me," the British comedienne said. She identified her suitor as Beaudoin Mills.

Local Girl Attends Institute

Jill Shaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Shaver, 700 W. 16th, is among more than 200 students from across the United States participating in Texas Christian University's Summer Fine Arts Institute.

Miss Shaver will be a senior at Big Spring High School next fall. She is attending the workshop in drama.

An annual event for high school students, the program at TCU includes workshops and seminars in not only drama, but debate, art and specialized music. Students attend daily classes for intensive study in the various classes and take part in area events of cultural and recreational interest.

"Sugarloaf," five musicians out of Denver, Colo., who appeared in Big Spring earlier this year, pay a return visit to West Texas when they travel to Odessa Friday on a stop in their national tour.

The two-hour show, which will begin at 8 p.m. in the Ector County Coliseum, will be performed solely by "Sugarloaf," said Concert People spokesmen.

The group includes Bob Weber, lead guitar; Bob Raymond, bass player; Bob McVittie, drummer. These three musicians have been playing together on stage since the sixth grade. Add to this group Jerry Corbetta, the premier organ player, and Bob Yeazel, who completes the group with his rhythm guitar work.

The group's first song, "Green-Eyed Lady," quickly became the number one song of the nation, and stayed that way for two weeks. Shortly thereafter, "Sugarloaf" released its first album on the Liberty label. It became a top seller. Tickets for the "Sugarloaf" concert are now on sale in Midland and Odessa. They are $3.50 in advance and $4 at the door.

The second Big Spring night of the 1971 Shakespearean Festival at the Globe of the Great Southwest is Saturday, when "The Miser" will be on the boards.

John Baptiste Moliere's "The Miser" is one of the French playwright's most popular plays. It is a comedy about a rich, miserly old man and the relationships he has with the horde of relatives that hover about, waiting for him to die, and for his money to come to them.

The activities Saturday will begin at 8 p.m. with "Festivities on the Green." Madrigal singers, a harpsicord concert, Elizabethan folk dances and the Bard's Barter Booth will provide entertainment until the 8:30 p.m. curtain for "The Miser."

The third and last Big Spring night will be July 31 when "The Merchant of Venice" will be presented.

Tickets for the Big Spring nights are $2 for adults and $1 for students. Reservations can be made at the Chamber of Commerce, telephone 263-7641.

Information is available Saturday at 263-1825 or 267-2826 before 5 p.m.

Lamesa's latest effort in tourist attraction and cultural expansion, an art display gallery in the north side of the square, has been opened.

The gallery contains some 56 paintings by eight local artists and promises further additions in the near future.

The gallery is a project undertaken by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce and is open daily, Monday through Saturday, from 10 a.m. to noon, and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Each painting is identified by the name and artist for the convenience of those wishing to view the collection. Some of the paintings are listed with a price, while others are merely for display in the gallery.

Among the artists whose works are displayed in the gallery are Richard Crawley, Elnora Phillips, Avis Wilton, Opel Nance, Alyce Hart, Jean Black, Jean Anderson and Edith Davis.

Included in the collection are 28 separate paintings by Alyce Hart depicting events in the book of Revelation in the Bible.

One particular painting hung in a New York City art exhibit in 1954 and received an "Outstanding Merit of Award."

The Revelation paintings have been distributed throughout the world by Mrs. Hart. Slides of the paintings are used as study guides in several colleges.

The sixth annual "Texas" Pageant, a musical drama of Panhandle history by Paul Green, began last week and will continue through Aug. 24.

A barbeque dinner is served before each performance from 6:45 to 8 p.m.

For information concerning the program, write Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015.

MANY HOSPITALS LET MOM STAY WITH CHILD

The presence of a parent can often do more to help a child recuperate than anything else. Realizing this a great many hospitals have radically changed their visiting hours and overnight stay policies for the parents of a hospitalized child. Knowing the temperament and emotional reactions of your children you should inquire about this before planning any admission to the hospital.

We hope it never becomes necessary but if you do have to plan an overnight stay with one of your children, we can make you up a small kit of night-time essentials to help you to be more comfortable.

"This is Children's Month"

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

City Recreation Program Enrolls More Than 400

Upward of 400 boys and girls are taking part in the Citywide Summer Recreation program, and there is still time for others to get in on the fun.

All any child has to do is to report at either Comanche Trail Park pavilion at 9 a.m. Monday through Friday, or at Lakeview YMCA. There is no charge because the program is financed by the City of Big Spring, the United Fund, Big Spring Schools and YMCA as a cooperative venture.

Youths who are in the high school bracket (or who aspire to play college basketball) can still enter the summer basketball league by reporting to the Runnels gym on any Monday, Tuesday or Thursday evenings. Those in the junior high age group should come to the gym at 10 a.m. on Tuesdays.

Total enrollment at Comanche Trail Park for the menu of games, stories, arts crafts, hikes, swimming, etc. is approximately 140, and a few new ones show up each week. Cumulative attendance stands at around 1,600.

Lakeview has 128 enrolled and at the end of the past week the cumulative attendance was around 1,700. In addition to the recreational program there also is a learn-to-swim class going with 25 enrolled. The program also includes a recreational swim period Monday through Friday.

There are 95 boys enrolled in the senior basketball program and 26 are on the line for the junior high cage competition. For all activities, including the learn-to-swim campaign, which launched the summer program, cumulative attendance is nearly 5,000 to date.

City Hall Hires 'Adopted Texan'

That new voice answering the telephone at City Hall may sound a little like a Yankee — but with a Texas accent.

Mary Lois Turpin, 22, is the new secretary to the inspection department and included in her duties is answering the city hall phone.

Mrs. Turpin is no stranger to the workings of a city government. She was secretary to the director of public works and later to the city manager for the City of Denison.

She and her husband, S.Sgt. Henry T. Turpin, who is stationed at Webb AFB, moved to Big Spring about mid-June. The couple grew up in Laurel, Md., and moved to Texas in 1966. "We already feel like confirmed Texans," she said.

Mrs. Turpin graduated from Arundel Senior High School in Gambrills, Md., with honors in the steno-secretarial classes.

Three Queried On Burglaries

Three suspects have been questioned by Howard County Sheriff's officers in connection with the theft Monday night of a Volkswagen bus belonging to Trinity Baptist Church. One of the suspects also was questioned in connection with the burglary of the Twist-Off Lounge on SH 350.

The bus was recovered in a remote area of the county Friday by sheriff's deputies, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard.

Sheriff Standard added that the arrest of a suspect in Odessa has also led to the solving of the burglary of the Rendezvous Lounge. Approximately 200 packages of cigarettes are expected to be recovered as a result of statements from the suspects.

No charges have been filed in the cases.

Vets Have Timetables To Apply For Benefits

Questions posed by veterans to VA offices frequently show some veterans are in doubt about the time factor of applying for benefits, according to Jack Coker, VA regional office director in Waco.

The countdown for the veteran starts from the day of his separation from the service. Coker said a veteran has 10 days to notify any local Selective Service board of his address and 30 days to register if he did not do so before entering military service.

If a veteran wants his old job back he has 90 days to apply to his former employer for re-employment. He has 120 days to convert his Servicemen's Group Life Insurance (SGLI) to an individual policy without examination. If totally disabled at separation, a veteran has up to one year if his condition does not change, to convert his insurance.

In either case, he must apply for the policy to one of the nearly 600 private companies participating in the SGL program. A veteran with a service-connected disability has one year from the date he receives his notice of service-connection to apply to VA for Service-Disabled Veterans Insurance.

He also has one year to apply for VA dental care, or to request unemployment compensation from his local state employment service.

Veterans have eight years from date of separation to apply for and receive educational assistance benefits, which terminate after that time.

For a veteran with a service-connected injury or disease, there is no time limit for applying for VA disability compensation, but in order to receive payments dated from the time of his separation from military service, he must apply within one year of separation. There is no time limit for a veteran to be assisted by his local state employment service in finding a job or job-training program. Nor is there a time limit to obtain hospital care, or to obtain a GI loan to buy, build, improve a home or to buy a farm. For more details, veterans should contact the VA office in Big Spring in Room 140 at the VA Hospital, office hours, 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

American Business Club Gavel Goes To LaFond

New officers took over at the American Business Club meeting Friday noon at the Settles in a day of busy activities.

Curtis Witte, whose hobby is barbed wire collecting, had the program and showed 200 samples of wire, each with a story behind it to reflect the history of the old West. Special commendations for work in connection with the recent Big Spring Cowboy Rodeo and Reunion went to De Witt Bunn, Morris Robertson, Justin Holmes, and Ken Olson. This was the biggest year for the club, which handled concessions for the annual event, reported Olson.

Taking office were Auriel LaFond, president; Bill Estas, first vice president; Max Green, second vice president; Bill Patton, third vice president; Marvin L. Callahan, secretary; Wayne Rock, Frank Dietrich and Joe Smoot, sergeants-at-arms. On the new board with these are Bob Hickson, Lloyd Morse, Robertson, Garner McAdams, Darrell Pittman and Bunn.

Guests for the meeting were Arlie Knight and Gil Ramsey.

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — When Secretary of State Thyra Thomson told her staff she wanted to have her Capitol office walls painted in three-foot wide orange and yellow horizontal stripes, they were skeptical. But she says they changed their minds after she had a painter try it out on a back wall. Mrs. Thomson says the idea is inexpensive and will brighten the rooms.

What Do YOU Think

Should Be Done With The Old Cosden Club?

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce is conducting a study to determine how the old Cosden Country Club might best serve the desires and needs of the people of Big Spring, now that this property worth hundreds of thousands of dollars has been given to the city through the generosity of the Dora Roberts Foundation.

The Chamber of Commerce will make recommendations to the City Commission based on the results of the study. Two areas are important and your ideas and opinions are important.

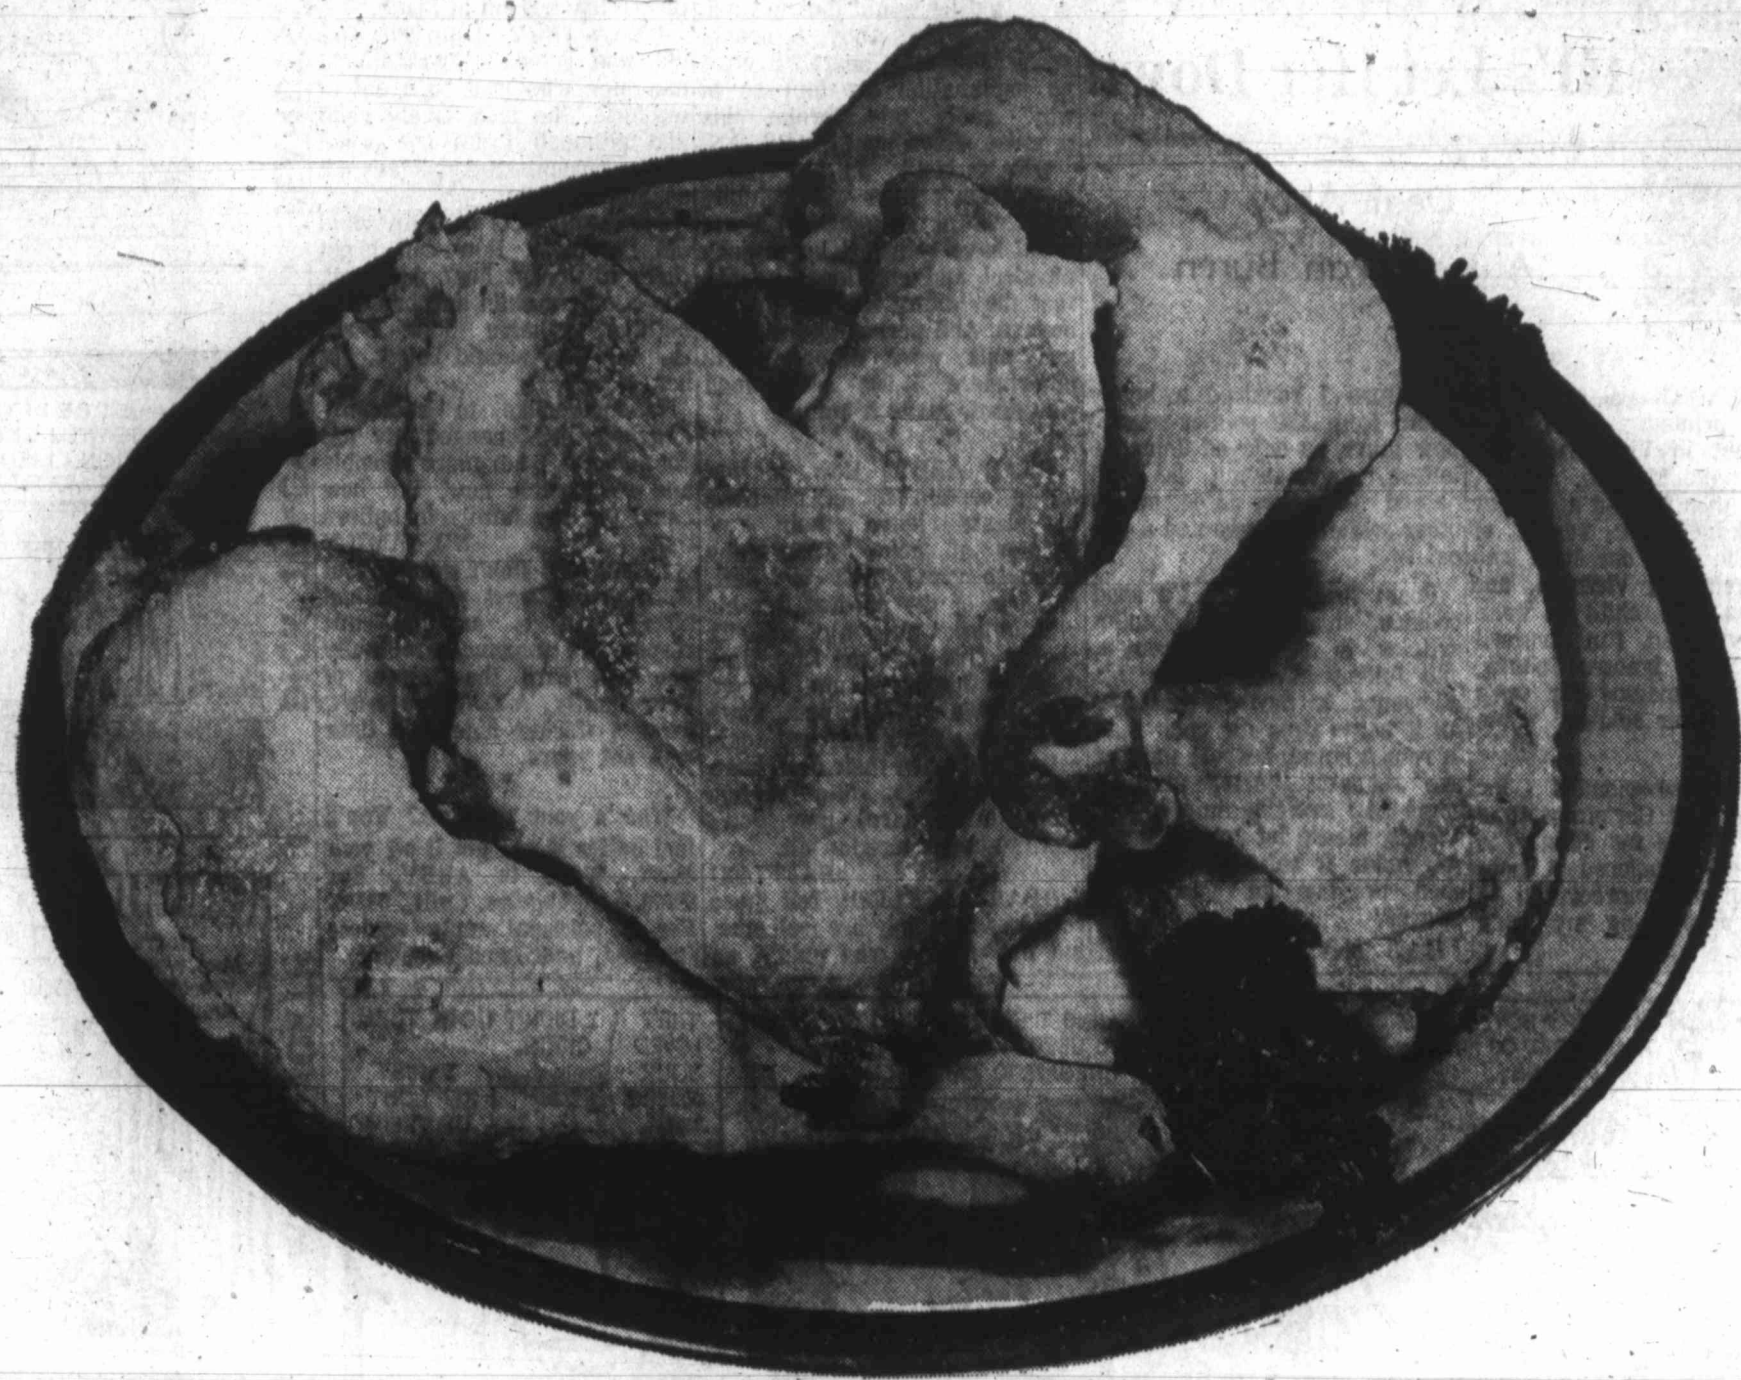

1. Here's what I think the Chamber of Commerce should recommend be done with the old Cosden Club:

2. I think it should be financed (check one):
- entirely by the city.
 - by charging those who use it enough to meet expenses.
 - by charging those who use it part of the expenses and having the city pay the rest.

3. I think the Chamber should recommend to the Commission that the new name for the Cosden Club be: (Should the name you suggest be accepted by the Commission, the Chamber will give you a $50 prize).

GI's Let Her Down

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago you printed a letter from a sergeant in Vietnam asking for pen pals. My son, Johnny, who was then 11, had a teacher who obtained the names of young men from our state who were serving in Vietnam, and she asked each child to write to a serviceman. I'm divorced and my "ex" ignores Johnny, so you can imagine my son's thrill when "this soldier" wrote back.

They corresponded for months, and at Christmas time I baked cookies for Johnny to send, and I enclosed a note expressing my appreciation to him for brightening my son's life.

In turn I received a lovely letter from the soldier saying how much he enjoyed Johnny's letters, and saying he had passed Johnny's name on to other soldiers who wanted a pen pal.

From time to time I'd send cookies, shoe laces and toilet articles to these servicemen, and Johnny saved up from his allowance to pay the postage. As it came time for each man to return home, I wrote making one request: "After arriving home and greeting family and friends, please let Johnny know you made it safely as he has been praying for your safe return."

Each one wrote back and promised he would, but not one kept his word. Abby, it nearly broke Johnny's heart. I have no explanation for him as to why each one broke his promise. Have you? MRS. J.S. DEAR MRS. J.S.: Perhaps some servicemen were simply negligent or thoughtless. Some could have returned home such physical and emotional wrecks that they didn't feel like facing anyone. And perhaps your son's pen pals, were among those unfortunate 55,000 servicemen who never made it home.

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell a certain set of relatives to please leave their two poodles at home when they come to visit? They just left, and one of the poodles left his "trademark" on one of my silk chairs. This isn't the first time this has happened and I have had it. We have a new home with new furniture and carpeting and when their dogs have an accident (as they always seem to do here) they don't seem to be bothered at all.

BAFFLED DEAR BAFFLED: Tell those relatives that they are welcome, but not poodles who piddle, so please leave them at home.

DEAR ABBY: I am 26 years old and have a 10-month-old daughter who was born out of wedlock. She is a lovely child and although I am not proud of the circumstances, I am not ashamed of her.

My family acts as if my child did not exist. How can I get them to accept her? After all, she is only a child and has done nothing to harm them. I am the one they should reject, not her.

I would like to add, my daughter has changed my life completely. I am more sensible and responsible now. But how can I get my family to believe that?

DEAR NO: Don't worry about it. If you respect yourself and behave in a sensible and responsible manner, eventually you will earn the respect of your family. And if you don't, grow a thicker hide. It's their loss, not yours.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Girl's Problem

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 16 any way -- not even the common pen names of "Worried" or "Needs Help."

I've answered most of the questions before, but letters like this keep on coming -- probably because girls of 16 (and younger and older) habitually think, "It can't happen to me!" So they don't read what does happen to somebody else.

I'm sorry for these troubled girls, but just being sorry doesn't do much good. I'll answer the questions again:

Is there some way I can make myself lose the baby? I have many questions that need to be answered. If I'm not pregnant this time, can I get the pill from any doctor without my parents knowing?--Unsigned.

of the other folklore notions will cause it to happen.

A urine test is the usual method of determining early pregnancy. I can't speak for all doctors but, legally, parents have a right to know about medical treatment of minors -- the only exception I know of is that quite a few states now permit treatment of venereal disease without permission of parents.

Legally, to the best of my knowledge, a physician needs parental permission to prescribe "the pill" for minors.

I have no interest in helping 16-year-old girls keep the facts secret from their parents. This girl, instead of writing "desperate" anonymous letters to me, ought to level with her folks. They'll help her. They deserve to know.

I'll let them wrestle with the question of whether, if she gets out of this jam, she should have "the pill." I have some reservations.

If for no other reason, "the pill" is one of the factors in the wildfire spread of venereal disease in the high schools, but I think there are other reasons.

One is that people have to learn to take responsibility for their own actions. Heading out the pill to a young one who wants to have her fun but not weigh the consequences -- and not let her mama and papa know -- is not my idea of fostering responsibility.

How does VD start? Why are teenagers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself? Dr. Thosteson has the answers in his convenient, layman's language booklet, "Venereal Disease: How to Avoid It; How to Cure It." For a copy write him in care of The Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope.

Minsky Does His 'Own Thing' With Film

'Love Story' Pays Production Cost In Three Days

NEW YORK (AP) — What can you say about a man who decided at the age of 55 to do his own thing?

Well, as Howard Minsky says it, "I'd been a pretty well paid executive all of my life, but I'd reached the point where I couldn't keep making deals for other people. I wanted to find out if I could do it for myself."

Leaving his job as motion picture department head for a talent agency, Minsky went into motion picture production. Many men have made first films no one has heard of. Not Minsky. His first feature was a little package called "Love Story."

The film cost about $2.2 million to make, says Minsky. "It recouped the total cost in the first three days of its release and by the end of May it had $35 million in film rentals."

Minsky, now 57, is quick to note that while "Love Story" is quite a success story "I could just as easily have fallen on my face, here's a fine line between the guy who finishes first and the guy who finishes second. You only hear about the man who finished first."

When he was given the "Love Story" script by author Erich Segal's agent he was told "You're a square, you might go for it."

Minsky read the script and "I fell in love with it. Not with what I read but with what I knew we could do with it."

After five drafts and two rewrites, the script was ready for shooting and Minsky "knew it would be successful. No one agreed with me, but I knew it would make money."

"A producer is a man that bets on his taste. He puts his money where his emotions are. Then he assembles all the professional elements necessary to make it happen. I knew 'Love Story' would succeed, but I never anticipated it would be the success it has."

LOVE STORY
... Ryan O'Neal, Ali MacGraw

Minsky, a relaxed, easy-spoken man said that "I knew everyone was waiting for a 'Love Story.' I'm pro and I know my business. I'd seen all the filth and dirt and obscenity and I'd been embarrassed at movies with my wife. "I knew there was an older audience waiting for a beautiful picture. And I believed the kids were waiting for one because they'd never seen anything like it.

"It's a woman's picture that audience can come out of the theater with the feeling of having had a good time."

After scoring big with a property like "Love Story," what does Minsky plan to do for an encore?

"I'm working on a picture called 'Gangster,'" he says, adding, "It is not a gangster picture, not an underworld story."

He won't talk much about the project because "I don't want to tip my mitt." But he does say that the film, still in the scripting phase, "will be a story of today. Our society, the world we live in today, is causing attitudes to grow for which there seemingly is no explanation."

"Why do people take drugs? Why do the young people do the things they do? There is a confusion in the world. The film will try to talk about these things; they will be the canvas on which the picture is painted."

'Song Of Norway' Slated At Cinema

"Song of Norway," the breathtaking motion picture musical, will open Wednesday at the Cinema Theater.

The movie was filmed in Norway and throughout Europe in the actual locations in the life of Edvard Grieg. The opening of "Song of Norway," which presents the life and music of the famed composer, follows its original engagement as one of the top reserved seat attractions of recent years. Florence Henderson who is making her screen debut as the wife of Edvard Grieg, appeared first in the stage production of "Song of Norway." Her credits include leading roles in "Oklahoma" and "Fanny," appearances in the finest and most elegant nightclubs in the country and most recently her own television series, "The Brady Bunch." Toralv Maurstad, her leading man, who plays Grieg, is director of the Oslo Nye Theater, the leading theater in Norway and Norway's leading actor.

Christina Schollin, the Swedish beauty who was first introduced to American audiences in "Dear John," plays Grieg's patroness and second love interest.

"Song of Norway" has been "recomposed" for the screen by the Broadway musical team, Robert Wright and George Forrest, who adapted the score originally for the stage from Grieg's melodic works. Although many new musical numbers will be discovered in the screen version written by director Andrew Stone, the great lyric hits "Strange Music" and "Ich Liebe Dich" ("I Love You") remain intact.

Young Artist Given Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Miss Nerine Barrett, 27, Jamaican pianist living in London, has been awarded a solo recital at Tully Hall here and engagements for the 1972-73 season with the Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Baltimore, Denver and Louisville symphony orchestras and the Boston Pops.

She is recipient of the first Michaels Award of Young Concert Artists. The new award is in memory of the late Chicago industrialist, Bud Michaels, and his wife Belle. It is judged by an anonymous panel of professionals and based on an evaluation of a young artist's success in concert engagements, rather than a competition.

French Musician Leaves Faculty

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Darius Milhaud, French composer who was one of the music modernists known as Les Six, is leaving his music faculty post at Mills College here after 31 years.

Milhaud, who was 78 last September, joined the Mills College faculty as professor of music in 1940. Since 1962 he has been professor emeritus and composer in residence. At the end of this academic year, Milhaud and his wife will reside permanently in Paris, where their son and two grandchildren live.

Art Classes

NEW YORK (AP) — A head start for high school students is being offered during a six-week summer course in fashion design and illustration, life drawing and water color and fashion sketching by the Traphagen School of Fashion.

Drawing for design, pattern-making and dressmaking techniques will be included. Among the instructors are artist Mary Joban, author Arthur Black and Mrs. Dorothy Hellman, assistant director of the school.

'Hard Ride' Easy Trip For Ex-Western Star

"It's just a case of switching saddles," says Robert Fuller, one of Hollywood's fastest rising stars, who first achieved fame for his roles on horseback in the "Laramie" and "Wagon Train" television series and now stars as a motorcycle rider in his newest film, "The Hard Ride," which opens Wednesday at the Jet Theatre.

The setting of his new film is much the same as that of his cowboy ventures, taking place in the southwest deserts and mountain ranges of California.

Born in Troy, N.Y., Robert spent his youth in military academies because his folks who were in show business as dancers travelled a lot. He arrived in Hollywood with his parents after they sold a dance academy they operated in Key West, Fla.

His first contact with the cinema was as an usher in Hollywood movie houses but he soon crossed the footlights, working as a dancer in a musical until his career was interrupted by the Korean War and the resulting military service.

On his return to the U.S. in 1955, Robert joined Richard Boone's acting group, staying with it until its dissolution. More dramatic study with Sanford Meisner's theatre group in New York followed.

In 1959, he latched onto his "Laramie" role and, when shooting finally ended on its episodes, he became a member of the "Wagon Train" cast.

Theatrical film assignments were soon forthcoming, including roles in "Friendly Persuasion," "Incident At Phantom Hill," "Teenage Thunder" and "Faceless Men," followed by a contract for a leading role in "The Return Of The Seven."

In "The Hard Ride," Fuller shares cast honors with Sherry Bain and Tony Russel.

POVERTY NO LONGER STOPS DIVORCES

Court Fees Can Be Waived In Hardship Cases

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — A hulking boxer had been convicted of incest with his daughter. His wife couldn't get a divorce because she had no money for the court fee.

Another woman was pregnant and wanted to marry the father of her unborn child. She couldn't because she still was legally tied to a first husband — who had disappeared four years earlier. She, too, couldn't afford the filing fee for a divorce.

This was the case in more than half of the states in this country until March of this year. Now these women, and thousands like them, can get their divorces without paying the fee as a result of a recent Supreme Court ruling.

"We've never been faced with the problem because the lawyer in the case always takes care of the fee," said Mrs. Glenda Brasel, 118th Deputy district clerk, on the local policy on dealing with persons who are too poor to pay the $24 filing fee in such cases as divorce.

A recent supreme court ruling holds that a person who cannot afford the fee must be allowed to file the suit without cost.

"Anyone not able to pay the fee would have to file a pauper's oath, and then he would be allowed to file the case without a fee," said Mrs. Brasel.

More than 25 states must revise their statutes to let the poor into court at no charge — at least in divorce matters. The other states either have no fees, or provide means to waive it.

The man who caused this nationwide focus on the poor and their court problems is Arthur B. LaFrance, professor of law at Arizona State University in Tempe — a happily married father of three.

He decided it was unfair — and unconstitutional — for the courts to charge a fee the poor could not pay. The U. S. Supreme Court agreed.

His case began as a file drawer of 50 such pending divorce cases. He selected nine by limiting himself to welfare cases ("no hassle about their being poor"), to those certain to be uncontested ("no hassle about grounds") and chose an ethnic distribution.

The ASU professor was then a poverty lawyer in Connecticut working for the New Haven Legal Assistance Association. He argued there had been a denial of equal protection. "The poor were denied a divorce where a wealthy person could purchase one. They were not getting any relief, and there was no way of getting it for them. And in some cases, the unavailability of divorce represented a real hardship."

He selected nine "welfare moms" with one to six children, receiving monthly welfare varying from $361.50 to $68.16 plus rent. He pleaded for the nine, "and all other persons similarly situated." The class of people involved as so numerous that he asked for a class ruling, so courts "would take similar action with respect to future divorce proceedings."

He did not argue their right to a divorce, only their right to seek a divorce. Legally, the points were equal protection and due process — because the poor were denied access to the court "solely because of their inability to pay."

LaFrance sued the district court in March of 1968. In March of 1971 he received the Supreme Court backing of his cause. In the interim, he'd invested about 400 working hours, argued the case in four courts, aroused opposition from seven states and support from numerous poverty organizations.

LaFrance said the ruling may apply to other kinds of cases, and to costs other than those in court. This might be extended to include transcripts, attorneys' fees, investigation fees, appeals, as well as state license or use fees. "It's a pretty basic decision," he said.

While some states are lamenting the cost of his battle to their budgets, LaFrance points out a social savings. "Figuring social cost, they could save a lot of money. They've got to consider the social cost of not waiving the fees: women staying on welfare, homes, where conditions are likely to lead juveniles to delinquency... plus you have a hell of a lot of very unhappy people."

"Three of my nine plaintiffs have already remarried. All were on welfare. For $60 each, the state of Connecticut could have taken them off welfare a couple of years ago and saved about $1,500 each a year," he said.

Court fees range from $20 to $120 in different states. Some fees vary county to county. The initial fee is required, plus separate charges for serving papers or publishing.

OK, so you goofed. It's still not too late to make up for all the things you kept putting off till it was too late. There is still time. That's why you need a heart-to-heart talk with the man who can minimize your goofs. He can protect your income against sickness and give your family a sensible insurance plan you can afford. And many new ideas in insurance coverage you probably hadn't even considered. But most important, he can minimize your future goofs. Not all of them, but enough of them to make you happier that you called him.

Workshop Set For Grain Men

LUBBOCK — New techniques in management and marketing plus the "tools of the trade" to increase business effectiveness and efficiency will be some of the key discussion items at a Business Management Workshop for Grain Elevator Managers here July 14.

The day-long workshop will be at the Holiday Inn — Parkway and will begin with registration at 9 a.m., announced Billy C. Gunter, district agricultural agent with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service. He encourages all grain elevator managers throughout the South Plains to make plans to attend.

The objective of the workshop is to aid managers of grain elevators in staying abreast of the rapidly changing conditions in grain marketing and in improving the internal operations of their businesses.

When the flag is displayed over a Street, the flag of the United States should be suspended vertically with the Union to the North on an East and West Street and to the East on a North and South Street.

When displayed with any other flag against the wall or in the open from crossed staffs, the U.S. Flag should be on the right, the flag's own right and its staff should be in front of the staff of the other flag.

When displayed in any manner other than being flown from a staff, it should be displayed flat with the Union uppermost and to the flag's own right, i.e., the observer's left.

When a number of flags are grouped and displayed from staffs, the U.S. Flag should be in the center at the highest point of group as illustrated.

When used on a speaker's platform, the U.S. Flag should be flown from a staff to the audience's right. Never use flags for draping or decorations. Red-White and Blue bunting is designed for this use.

When flown at half staff the flag is first hoisted to the peak of the staff and then lowered to half staff. Before lowering the flag for the day, it is again raised to the peak and then lowered. On Memorial Day, the flag is displayed at half staff from Sunrise to noon and full staff from noon 'til sunset.
