Awards Spice 38th Annual Martin Event

STANTON (SC) — Martin County residents of all ages gathered in Stanton Saturday to participate in the 38th Annual Martin County Old Settlers Reunion. Mrs. Viola McClane, 96, and Mrs. J. A. Graham, 94, were the oldest persons in attendance at the festivities.

Colorful floats and costumed marchers began the festivities with a parade. Glenn L. Brown, manager of the Walgreen's Drug Store, was this year's "mystery rider" and went unrecognized beneath his disguise.

Floats coping the top three parade honors were the Grady 4-H Club float, first prize; Martin County Historical Society, second prize; and the Perceptor Mu float entered by Beta Sigma Phi, third prize.

The Lewis Indian tribe, Pecos, won first place for its imaginative costuming, and Mrs. Lila Flanagan won first place for the best woman's costume. Best girls' costume awards went to Yolanda Flores, Sylvia Flores and Dianna Marquez; and best boys' costumes were worn by Tommy and Tony Ramos.

Honorable mention for their colorful attire went to Mrs. Ronald D. Hopper and children, Mrs. Kita Pinkerton and son, Wayne, Ann Baxter Brown and Mike and Melinda Swinson.

Owen Kelly, prominent Martin County farmer, was master of ceremonies at the barbecue Saturday night at the City Park. Mrs. Pat Hull, daughter of early Stanton settlers and the co-author of the book "Martin County the First 30 Years" welcomed everyone to the reunion festivities. The book, which was also authored by former Stanton resident, Mrs. Faith Smithson, was the central theme for the reunion.

The Rev. Warren Hull, pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave the invocation. G. B. Shelburne Jr. presented the response address.

After everyone had enjoyed a barbecue dinner, Mrs. Stanley Reid and Mrs. Ohmer Kelly began the presentation of awards. Mrs. McClane was recognized as the oldest settlers in attendance; Charlie Jones, seven-week old daughter of Mrs. Charlene Jones, was the youngest "settler."

Recognition was given to two couples for being the longest married Martin County residents. The couples, each married 55 years, were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. Bricks Idson. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Curry, married seven months, were recognized as the newest married couple.

The Owen Kelly family, with 14 members present, was recognized as the largest family in attendance at the reunion. Three persons were recognized for traveling the greatest distances to attend the reunion. They were Mrs. Marry Nutter, Salem, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Art Thomas, Seattle, Wash.

Living proof that the reunion has something to offer every year are G. B. Shelburne Jr. and Morgan Hall. Both men have attended every reunion for the past 38 years.

Besides the parade and barbecue, the reunion offered activities for all ages with the "Fun Day" at the rodeo arena with riding and roping and games at City Park prior to the barbecue.

Name Check Begins On City Recall Petitions

Trio's Supporters Opening An Office

The city commissioners recall controversy was moving into another round over the weekend, as a clerical group headed by City Secretary Charles Smith began work of checking authenticity of some 1,100 signatures.

These were names of citizens who signed petitions seeking an election on the recall of Commissioners Eddie Acri, Jack Watkins and Wade Choate. The petitions were filed with Smith Friday evening, 18 days after they were issued in response to affidavits filed by John Currie, D. G. Whitten and C. W. Guthrie.

Smith had a staff start checking names Saturday. He said the group was trying to follow terms of the city charter closely, and attempting to determine how big a task is the certification. Signatures were being checked against voter registration lists. Smith indicated that, if necessary, additional help would be enrolled.

Currie said his group had studied the petitions, and felt that even if some are questioned, there will be enough to meet the charter requirement of some 950 persons. (This figure is based on a charter requirement that there must be names equal to 35 per cent of the total vote cast in the last municipal election.)

Meanwhile, a side question arose as the commissioners named — along with Lanny Hamby, chairman of the group in support of Acri, Watkins and Choate — sought copies of the petitions. Roy Anderson, acting city manager, said he felt instructions for release of the documents should come from the city commission.

It appeared efforts will be made to certify the petitions to the commission early this week. The commission, under the charter, has a five-day waiting period before calling an election.

A statement issued by Hamby (his group has designated itself FAIR — Fight Against Irresponsible Recall) indicated that there is a question of substantial basis in the affidavits requesting the recall. The statement cited the word "dereliction" which is involved in the charter wording on the issue, and Hamby's statement said there has been no dereliction. He told The Herald no decision had been made as to action on this particular issue.

The recall group with Currie as chairman has been termed CARE — Committee Authorizing Responsive Elections. Currie's statement Friday said the situation "calls for straightforward action on the part of the voters. It is our feeling that the issues involved here can be resolved only when a representatives number of our citizens speak through their vote."

The opposing FAIR organization immediately went into action, and Hamby said it is opening an office at 107 West 4th St. "for the convenience of those who wish to work with the committee prior to the recalled election." He listed the phone number as 267-5275.

In the wake of the filing, Hamby issued the following statement:

CHARTER CITED
"The news release issued by those circulating the petitions for the recall of Commissioners Choate, Watkins, and Acri, stated that the recall election is the most democratic way for the people of Big Spring to express their approval or disapproval of the action and attitudes of each of the three commissioners in question.

"Apparently, these well-intentioned persons have failed to read carefully the city charter and therefore do not fully understand the reason for recall elections. The appropriate time for removal of elected representatives from office because of disapproval of actions taken or attitudes expressed is at regular elections, not through recall elections. Our charter requires the affidavits supporting recall petitions to state briefly the nature of the dereliction of the officer or officers sought to be removed. Nowhere in the charter is a recall election authorized because some citizens disapprove of actions or attitudes of an officer or officers. One need go no further than a dictionary to find the meaning of dereliction, which is the only basis under our charter for a recall election. Dereliction is defined as deliberate or conscious neglect, or as an abandonment or an utter forsaking.

NO NEGLECT
"The three commissioners sought to be recalled have not neglected, abandoned or forsaken their duties in any manner. Although some may disagree with their decisions and some may find fault with their attitudes, they have been three of the most hard working commissioners in the recent history of our city. The actions have been positive and they have not avoided the difficult decisions with which our commissioners are frequently faced. One such decision was the discharge of former Chief of Police Jay Banks. Many of the supporters of a recall election recognize that they cannot win on the issue of Jay Banks. We predict that in the days to come these people will carefully attempt to divorce this election from the Jay Banks issue, and will attempt to slant their news releases by using selected statements from city officials who have recently resigned. But it must be remembered that none of the three persons who circulated the recall petitions or their supporters expressed any concern whatsoever to the three commissioners they seek to recall when the director of public utilities, the director of public works, and the city manager tendered their resignations.

BANKS ISSUE
"Make no mistake about it, the only issue involved here is whether or not Jay Banks is going to be chief of police of the city of Big Spring. The persons who have circulated the recall petitions, in their news release issued July 9, talk about democracy, but if this recall election is successful and Jay

SPRAYING AXED 'Sleeping Sickness' Spreading

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — The outbreak of a rare strain of "sleeping sickness" made a dramatic move northward into Texas Saturday as a suspected case was reported in Aransas County, northeast of Corpus Christi.

A U.S. Agriculture Department spokesman said officials have noted "clinically observed" symptoms of Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) in 44 South Texas horses.

The latest figures is an increase of 12 sick horses over the Friday count.

Following confirmation Friday that the dread horse disease has spread into the United States with a confirmed case near Brownsville, the Texas Animal Health Commission placed a quarantine on 13 South Texas counties. This means that horses cannot be shipped out of the counties.

The same counties are included in a massive vaccination campaign against the disease, which is considered a threat to the horse industry in the United States. Counties under the quarantine are Brooks, Cameron, Duval, Hidalgo, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Kenedy, Kieberg, Nueces, Starr, Webb Willacy and Zapata.

Reviewing the ... Big Spring Week ... with Joe Pickle

We had more than our share of violence and tragedy during the week. Claude E. Anderson, 34, was killed in the crash of his light airplane on the Donald Long place about eight miles northeast of here Tuesday evening. The plane apparently stalled and spun out, according to several witnesses. Robert M. Salazar Jr., 23, for several years a Colorado City resident, drowned in Lake Nasworthy at San Angelo. Mrs. Annie Simpson, Stanton, was injured seriously when her car went out of control and rolled over on the IS 20 north loop.

Nor was this all. The body of Joe Lopez was discovered in the 600 block of NW 2nd Street, and the coroner's verdict was that he died of gunshot wounds. Officers had no leads. Emmett Miller, 1110 N. Scurry, was shot in the shoulder Sunday, and Clarence Foreman was charged with assault in the case. At Colorado City, some sort of argument and scuffle resulted in the shooting death of Frank Williamson, 37.

Bank call figures for the first half of the year were encouraging, even though they were off from the surprising peak on the April 20 call. The combined total of $56,797,197 deposits was 8.2 per cent.

Carbon Plant Expansion

Expansion of the capacity of the Sid Richardson Carbon Company plant here was announced Saturday by Frank M. Andrews, president.

With the addition of a new unit, with designed production of 35 million pounds, he said the total plant capacity would be boosted to 120 million pounds per year.

Thomas W. Fetters, 2514 E. 24th, is manager of the plant here.

The current production at the Big Spring plant is of the reinforcing-type carbon blacks for the rubber industry. When completed, the new addition also will produce similar blacks for tire manufacturers as well as other segments of the rubber industry.

The plant which began operation here in 1961 is a furnace type. The original capacity was 60 million pounds per year, but it was later increased to a rated capacity of 85 million pounds.

Richardson this year closed out a major channel-type plant at Odessa. This is the type which produces black which collects on channel irons above the flames, but it ran into difficulty from the air pollution control board. However, company officials said that the plant was not economically feasible and had made plans to close it.

Force of 10 Million Tons of Dynamite Chile Slowly Digs Out From Quake

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile slowly dug out Saturday from an earthquake that a scientist said struck the populous north-central region with the force of 10 million tons of dynamite.

The Interior Ministry said 90 persons were killed and 250 injured in Thursday night's quake.

The seismographic laboratory at the University of Chile reported that more than 100 minor earth tremors had been recorded since Thursday night.

President Salvador Allende toured the quake region by helicopter Friday. More than half of Chile's nine million population lives within the four affected provinces, which includes the capital of Santiago.

"People are living in the dust," the president told newsmen. "But they don't feel crushed. Morale is good."

The estimated 60 per cent of the houses in the affected areas "can't be lived in." Makeshift camps and wooden shelters were being erected for the estimated 15,000 persons left homeless by the earthquake in the towns 85 to 175 miles north of the capital, where the earthquake struck hardest.

Dr. Armando Cisternas, a geophysics professor at the University of Chile, said the epicenter of the quake was in the Pacific Ocean, 201 miles west of Illapel, a community of 25,000 about 200 miles north of Santiago.

Cisternas reported the earthquake registered from 7 to 10 on the Richter scale and was equivalent to 10 million tons of dynamite.

In the town of Llay Llay, 66 miles northwest of the capital, 90 per cent of the homes were destroyed or damaged.

"This is the second time we've been left homeless," said one man as he and his family inspected their crumbled adobe home.

An earthquake on March 28, 1965—that killed 400 persons in Chile—had destroyed his earlier home.

Santiago was least affected by the earthquake. One person died and serious damage was confined to old structures.

Most of the port city of Valparaiso, 68 miles to the north-west, remained without water. The quake was so intense there that the main tower and part of the roof of the Roman Catholic cathedral collapsed. Building damage and casualties were high.

The government-owned railroad company canceled all service north and south for 20 days for repairs to its tracks.

Troops Attack King's Palace In Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — A rebel assassination squad shot its way into the summer palace of King Hassan II on Saturday in an attempt to kill the pro-West monarch as he celebrated his 42nd birthday. Libya's leftist government announced support for the rebels and threatened to intervene with force.

Radio Rabat, apparently in the hands of rebel army officers, announced Hassan was slain and a "republican revolution" had taken over the country. But palace sources and the official Maghreb Arab Presse news agency said the monarch escaped unharmed.

NO WORD
A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Rabat reported "the king is all right," adding that the situation in the capital was "very fluid ... there is a lot of troop movement."

In Washington, the State Department said U.S. Ambassador

Stuart Rockwell was at the festivities when the shooting broke out. Rockwell reported the king was alive and well, a State Department spokesman said. There was no word of injury to any American.

Army troops surrounded armed forces headquarters, Rabat Radio and the central post office in Rabat. It was not clear immediately whether they were loyal to the king or to the rebel leaders so far unidentified.

Three Moroccan generals, Belgian Ambassador Marcel Duprat, two cabinet ministers and the royal family's doctor were reported killed in the palace battle and more than 100 persons were wounded.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY
The palace sources said the wounded included Hassan's brother, Prince Moulay Abdallah, and some diplomats and government ministers who were attending the king's birthday party.

Washington Mised Allies Over Vietnam War Policy?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some countries friendly to the United States are quietly conducting private credibility tests to discover if Washington misled them over Vietnam policy.

A few nations allied to the Americans appear satisfied they received as much of the truth about Vietnam as they could reasonably expect at the time the war was escalating.

These developments were reported Saturday by diplomats of several governments affected, one way or another, by disclosures contained in the Pentagon history of the Vietnam war.

The Pentagon's version has moved some U.S. newspapers and politicians to assert that successive administrations told the American people something less than the truth as war policy developed in the 1960s. Leading U.S. officials involved in policy-making at the time have denied any intention to deceive the public.

The diplomatic informants insisted on anonymity because they have no wish to become entangled in the political controversy.

The stressed they do not necessarily accept the Pentagon account as the definitive story of the times.

In particular several said their governments would withhold judgments at least until they can read President Lyndon B. Johnson's defense of his administration's record in his forthcoming memoirs.

Texas Legislators Decided To Get Tough On Drug Abuse

EDITOR'S NOTE: The last session of the Texas Legislature was in no mood to soften anti-drug laws as some vocal persons have demanded. Instead, all moves were aimed at strengthening the laws and increasing enforcement. A summary.

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Legislature showed this year that it believes lots of arrests and heavier punishments are the best weapons against drug abuse.

Lawmakers raised penalties for possessing LSD and other hallucination-causing drugs, voted funds for 25 more state narcotic agents and refused to cut the punishment for marijuana possession.

They made it easier, however, for teen-agers to get medical treatment for drug problems and set up state controls over methadone programs which help cure heroin addiction.

LSD ACTION
The legislature also approved some badly drafted changes in the Dangerous Drug Act, which might create difficulties for the police and the courts and might even have knocked out penalties for possessing LSD.

For years, critics of Texas' drug laws have said it's unjust that you can go to prison the first time you're caught with marijuana, while possessing mind-shattering LSD was just a misdemeanor on first conviction.

The legislature evened things up a little making first-offense possession of LSD and 21 other "hallucinogens" a felony, or penitentiary offense.

Punishment for possessing hallucinogens was set at 2 to 10 years in prison.

Legislators who wanted to equalize the situation from the other direction—reducing marijuana possession to a misdemeanor—were narrowly defeated in the House.

GET IT OUT
A watered-down bill that would benefit only minors with a clean record who were just "experimenting" with marijuana was rejected, 51-63.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who came out strongly for marking first offense marijuana possession a misdemeanor last year, didn't push for a change in the marijuana law during the session.

"I told (Rep. Raul) Longoria (sponsor of the House bill) that I would give it a run in the Senate if he could get it out of the House," Barnes said.

After the session Barnes said he believes marijuana possession should remain a felony but with judges having discretion to reduce it to a misdemeanor in individual cases.

Marijuana possession remains punishable by prison sentences of from two years to life.

TO HIRE AGENTS
Legislators provided the Department of Public Safety with money to hire 25 additional narcotics agents at starting salaries of $9,840 a year for a total anti-drug force of 100 men.

For the first time, habitual drug users—was well as persons temporarily under the influence of drugs—are forbidden to drive automobiles. Violation carries a penalty of 90 days to two years in jail and or a fine of $100 to $1,000 on first conviction.

Subsequent offenses are punishable by a jail sentence of 90 days to two years.

days to two years and a fine of up to $1,000.

For many years it has been a crime, punishable by up to life imprisonment, to sell narcotics.

The legislature "created" a new crime—offering to sell or buy a narcotic, including marijuana, with the same punishment as for sale itself.

Lawmakers also made it a felony to offer to sell or deliver a "dangerous drug," such as barbiturates and amphetamines, with punishment of 2 to 10 years in prison.

In both narcotics and dangerous drug cases, the offer to sell would have to be corroborated testimony by someone other than the person to whom the drug was offered.

THEY WERE AFRAID
Legislators weren't entirely punitive in their approach to the drug problem.

They passed a law allowing youngsters 13 and older to go to doctors without their parents' consent for treatment of drug addiction, drug dependency or any condition directly related to drug use.

Sponsors said in many cases teen-agers weren't seeking treatment for drug problems because they were afraid to tell their parents, whose consent was needed.

A drug research advisory panel was established to review proposed research projects. One approved, a researcher and his subjects would have legal immunity from prosecution under the drug laws and could get drugs—when available—from the Public Safety Department.

"We are crying for information on the marijuana dilemma," one scientist-physician told a Senate committee.

The legislature failed to provide funds for required drug abuse classes in the public schools, leaving the Texas Education Agency dependent on federal funds as it was in 1969 and 1970.

STEER CLEAR
But it set up procedures for methadone maintenance programs, which many see as the best approach yet devised to end heroin addiction. All methadone treatment programs would have to be approved by the State Health Department.

The bill that made LSD possession a felony contained some contradictions that indicated it was badly written.

Possession of the basic form of "speed," methamphetamine, remains a misdemeanor on first offense, although the drug is so dangerous that most "heads" steer clear of it.

But possession of methylamin and phenylacetone at the same time to manufacture "speed" is a felony, punishable by one to five years in the penitentiary.

The new law also makes it a felony to possess several other hallucination-causing amphetamine compounds.

SERIOUS CONFLICT
A more serious conflict could throw out all penalties for possession of LSD and other hallucinatory drugs.

The penalties for offering to sell dangerous drugs were set out as Section 15B of the Dangerous Drug Act. The same section number, however, was used in a separate bill for penalties for possessing hallucinogens.

Since the "offering to sell" bill was approved last, it may have knocked out the LSD penalties.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin probably will be asked for an opinion. Walter Richeter, head of the state's drug abuse program, said Gov. Preston Smith might submit the matter at the next special legislative session if Martin holds that Texas now has no penalties for LSD possession.

ABORIGINAL LEGISLATOR — When he takes his place in the Australian Senate next month, Neville Bonner will be the first aborigine in the Australian Parliament. The 53-year-old widower is engaged to marry his former secretary, Heather Ryan, above. Bonner resists critics who call him a "white man's aborigine." "I am not an Uncle Tom," he says. "What I have achieved, I have achieved because I was able to stand on my two black feet."

FORCED TO WRITE HOME IN ENGLISH
CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — The state director of the League of United Latin American Citizens said Saturday Mexican-American youths being held at the Gatesville State School for Boys are forced to write home in English.

Tony Bonilla, in a letter to Dr. James Turman, chairman of the Texas Youth Council, said he had just learned of what he called this "abhorrent policy" which he termed "unconscionable in that it denies the Mexican-American parents the sacred right of communicating with their children in their native language."

Bonilla said Mexican-Americans have little formal education and it is "reasonable to expect" Mexican-American parents and their children have "communicated in their native tongue all their lives."

"There is no way conceivable that a Mexican-American mother can effectively transfer into the English language her feelings, emotions and sentiments about her son. In effect," Bonilla's letter said, "the Gatesville policy undermines the harmony and stability of the Mexican-American home, in general, and erodes the parent-child relationship, in particular."

Bonilla said the Gatesville policy "spawns and nurtures bitterness and resentment in a system of justice that already favors the rich over the poor."

Bonilla said he had enclosed copies of his letter to Turman to Gov. Preston Smith, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Gus Mutscher.

Doris Day Loses Partners
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A business partnership between actress Doris Day and two Las Vegas, Nev. men has been dissolved by a Superior Court judge, who ruled that the men overpaid themselves in connection with the operation of an Atlanta motor hotel in which the three shared an interest.

The judge ruled Friday in a suit brought by Miss Day against Stanley A. Malin and Jay J. Sarno. Miss Day had contended that the two mismanaged operations of the Atlanta Cabana Motor Hotel and paid themselves at least $240,000 more than they were entitled to between 1961 and 1969. The judge ordered the business into receivership until an audit of its operations can be completed.

Chamber Views Club Suggestions

Suggestions for possible uses for the old Cosden Country Club are being compiled at the Chamber of Commerce.

The club was purchased from Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. by the Dora Roberts Foundation and presented to the City of Big Spring. The Chamber of Commerce has been overseeing the club since and has requested suggestions for possible uses, names and ways of financing the club.

A number of replies suggested that it could be used as a civic center or as a youth club. A few of the persons answering the survey wanted the pool and tennis courts opened, while others wanted to use the club as a meeting place for their group. One reply suggested that it be turned into a USO and another said it could be the Chamber of Commerce headquarters and a meeting place for city clubs.

The responses were evenly divided on the question of how to finance the operation. Half the replies suggested charging those using the facility enough to meet expenses, while the other half thought the city should meet some of the expense. Only one reply said the city should underwrite the club completely.

The names suggested for the facility were as varied as the suggested uses. Some of the names suggested were tied in to the suggested use of the facility, such as Big Spring Teen Center, Arts Center, or Federation of Women's Clubs.

Some suggested naming it after Dora Roberts or after Comanche Trail Park. Other names included Lakeview, Spring City Club, Spring Lake Club, Old Big Spring Texas Trail Lodge, Twilight Club, Lakeside Country Club and Heartland.

Student Immunizations Are Urged By Anderson

Big Spring students should start bringing their immunization records up to date, according to S. M. Anderson, school superintendent.

"With the addition of measles and rubella immunizations to the list of required shots, parents need to start their children on a program that will get them immunized before school starts."

"Local students will not have much trouble," said Anderson, "but transfers and new students may have quite a few shots to get."

The immunization program has been expanded this year by state law, but, except for measles and rubella, the Big Spring school system has required all of the immunizations added for some time.

Shots will be available from the Howard County Health Service at 201 Lancaster. Immunizations are given each Tuesday from 9-11 a.m., and 1-4 p.m.

may have quite a few shots to get."

AVOID GETTING GRAY IN THE HEAD 'How To Stay Medium-Young Forever'

By PHIL THOMAS
(AP Newsfeatures Writer)

NEW YORK (AP) — Author Shepherd Mead hasn't found the fountain of youth, but he does have what he thinks is a pretty good substitute. He calls his method "staying medium-young," and he tells how to go about doing this in his witty, 14th book, "How To Stay Medium-Young Practically Forever Without Really Trying."

As he points out in the slim volume: "Would you like to change in your life? Want a whole new outlook? Remember, it doesn't matter if you get gray in the hair. What you're trying to avoid is getting gray in the head."

"You might say the book is one man's statement beyond 30," Mead, who is 57, said in an interview. "Beyond that it is a kind of a cry that we are not going to live forever. That we may only have a few years left, so let's enjoy life a bit."

"I don't mean lie down in the gutter and take drugs, but I do mean you should ask yourself if what you are doing now is what you want to do all of your life. Sometimes it's good not to make a lot of money but to live instead."

Mead asked himself the question and opted for living when he was 41 and the well-paid vice president of a New York agency.

"I was not a tortured man and I was reasonably happy," he said. "But, after what seemed like 500 meetings with junior executives from soap companies, I asked myself if I wanted to spend the rest of my life doing that, and I decided I didn't."

Mead, as he puts it, "retired in 1956 and I haven't regretted it a second." However, while working as an ad man he'd been writing books and articles on the side, which enabled him to set aside some money for his break.

He, his wife, and their three children moved to London. While there, one of Mead's books was made into a musical comedy called "How To Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." The musical was a financial success, so much so that Mead had to leave England.

"I left because of the taxes," he says. "If you make over $20,000 a year the taxes are ridiculous and when the musical was running I was making a hell of a lot of money."

He and his family moved to Switzerland and now live on a hill overlooking Lake Geneva.

Mead, a tall, easy-mannered, amiable man, feels living in Europe has helped him stay medium-young, noting "I'm at least a month younger than I was 14 years ago."

"The pace of life is slower," he says. "It's more relaxed and generally a joy. And it's fascinating. Why, from where I live, I can drive to the south of France by dinner time and swim in the Mediterranean. Or I can be in Paris in an hour. I can leave after lunch and drive to Milan in time for the curtain at LaScala."

For those who can't afford to move to Europe on their own, Mead suggests, "Get your firm to send you. There are thousands of Americans in Europe who were sent there by their companies."

Falling this, Mead advises, "Stay young mentally as much as you can and this will help you stay young physically. Do this by — doing something creative. Almost everyone can do something creative. You don't have to be an artist to paint."

"Do what you want to do, even if it doesn't pay as much as you now earn. After you are 40 or so and find that you can't afford to do it — do it."

"If you're an ad man who's always wanted to be a mailman, then be a mailman. Why not?"

Bell Acted In 'Bad Faith' Over Beard

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. employe has won a fight that began two years ago when he refused to shave off his beard.

Jack Zimmerman, with the company 24 years, said he filed a grievance in May of 1969 after he was denied a job as a repairman because of his beard.

He said he was given, instead, a job as a lineman—a position of about equal pay but involving more physical exertion.

A labor arbitrator entered the case, and a company spokesman now says Zimmerman will begin work Monday in the job he wanted.

The arbitrator, Paul Guthrie, ruled that evidence showed the company acted in "bad faith" in denying Zimmerman the repairman's job.

The company argued that some telephone customers objected to bearded repairmen coming to their homes.

"It is understandable that the company would wish to project an acceptable public image," Guthrie said. "However, a company, as well as other institutions in society, must accept the fact of changes in customs, patterns of behavior and dress... and adjust to such changes."

Guthrie noted Zimmerman's beard was a neat, well kept goatee. "For the company to insist that such a beard should disqualify him for the type of job involved in this proceeding is capricious, arbitrary and unreasonable," he said.

'Rainmakers' Talk To Club

Techniques and principles involved in weather modification were outlined for the American Business Club Friday at its meeting in the Settlers.

Bob Munn, meteorologist, and Robert Tyree, pilot who seeds cloud cells, told of conditions under which they seek to induce cloud formations to give up rain.

They cited examples of work during June, when the first-half year drought was cracked and lakes received substantial runoff. They are with Atmospherics Inc., which contracts with the Colorado River Municipal Water District, whose general manager, O. H. Ivie, introduced the program.

Munn reviewed the rapid growth of the company since its formation in 1961. Visitors for the day included R. A. Schooling, CRMWD, and John Adams of the VA Hospital.

Planning Group Awarded Grant

AUSTIN — The Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, Odessa, has been awarded a $19,467 criminal justice planning grant for fiscal year 1972.

Part of the funds will be used for preparing a multiyear regional criminal justice plan, the first for the Permian Basin. Gov. Preston Smith made the grant on recommendation of the Texas Criminal Justice Council.

The Permian Basin grant includes funds for planning activities related to regional basic certification police schools at Big Spring and Odessa, as well as several other projects.

Permian Basin RPC includes Andrews, Borden, Crane, Dawson, Ector, Gaines, Glasscock, Howard, Loving, Martin, Midland, Pecos, Reeves, Terrell, Upton, Ward and Winkler counties.

Drilling Is Steady

Drilling activity in the Permian Basin held steady last week with 147 rigs turning. This was one more than the previous week but 22 less than a year ago, according to the Reed Drilling Tools weekly survey.

Lea County, N.M., still holding 20 active rigs, led the list, while Pecos County reported 19, a loss of one. Martin County, with 13, the same as the previous week, continued to hold third place.

In this vicinity counties showed these results: Borden one, unchanged; Dawson one, unchanged; Howard four, down one; Mitchell none, down one; Scurry two, unchanged.

1972 Elections

LAMESA — Matters pertaining to 1972 elections will be considered by the Dawson County Commissioners Court at its regular meeting Monday. The court will set the election precinct lines, appoint election judges, and establish hours for polls.

Cotton Begins To Bloom, Now Market Worries Start

By STEVE HULTMAN
The first cotton blooms of the year are appearing in some of the Howard County cotton stands.

"It's been blooming for a day or so now," said E. M. Newton, a cotton farmer with 410 acres in cotton, including 70 acres irrigated. "I never saw cotton grow better than it has in the last week."

Newton planted his 70 acres of irrigated cotton April 27, and his dry land cotton June 7.

"Both my dry land and my irrigated cotton are doing well, but only my irrigated cotton has a good enough stand to bloom yet," he said.

"The cotton is fruiting well, squaring and showing some blooms," said Paul Gross, Howard County agricultural agent. "In about a week the first bolls will appear. Then, if conditions are optimum, the bolls will open in about 55 days."

Not all Howard County farmers are satisfied with conditions. "My cotton looks terrible," said J. E. Pugh, in the Knott area. "We got 10 inches of rain in 20 days, and a lot of the cotton was washed out. Most of what is left has root rot. If it would rain, I would plant again, as late as it is."

"My cotton is doing well," said Raymond Stallings, area cotton farmer. "Plants in general are doing better than last year. It looks like the 1966 crop."

"The cotton looks good," said Newton, "but we don't have the underground water we had last year. We need rain."

"Things are in good shape over the county," said Gross. "If we get a couple of inches of rain by August, we would be off and running."

Howard County has an allotment of 52,411.8 acres for cotton signed under the support program, and about 80,000 acres planted. The acreage planted above the allotment receives no support, but Texas and Howard County farmers are worried about a possible cotton shortage causing higher prices and thus pricing them out of a market.

"I have heard that some of the mills are getting ready to change over to synthetics because of the possibility of a cotton shortage," said Newton. "I planted all my land full. One farmer can't do much but go along with what happens, but I can do this much."

The cotton carryover on Aug. 1 is estimated at 4 1/2 million bales, an unusually low number. The demand is expected to be 11 1/2 million bales, according to the National Cotton Council.

Cotton in some High Plains areas is very poor, according to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and the cotton situation in many of the other cotton producing areas of the state also is not good, according to the Texas Department of Agriculture.

"We may find ourselves with cotton selling at 30-35 cents per pound," said Stallings, "and nobody to buy it."

$490 FOR EVERY MAN, WOMAN, CHILD

Viet War Cost Estimated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The war in South Vietnam is estimated to have cost $490 for every American man, woman and child, and Sen. J.W. Fulbright said Saturday the human and material costs may be "seriously undermining democracy in the United States."

In a report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the Congressional Research Service of the Library of Congress said the war has produced more than $98 billion in defense spending that would have been unnecessary in peacetime.

The report put the total budgeted cost of the war at about $120 billion, or $600 per capita.

The difference represents spending that probably would have occurred anyhow.

TO CONTINUE

In addition to direct costs, the study said war produced outlays for foreign aid, veterans benefits and other programs will continue for years after the conflict is settled.

Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said, "It is ironic that the war which started ostensibly as one to defend freedom and democracy in South Vietnam may have the effect instead of seriously undermining democracy in the United States."

"In retrospect it is tragically clear that the almost $200 billion estimated by this study to be the cost of the war accrued so far would have been better devoted to solving the problems of our own society, rather than in pursuit of a futile military adventure which has served only to exacerbate them," Fulbright said.

CASUALTIES

He said the direct and indirect cost of the war "will have an enduring effect on our future."

"The survey spells out the casualty figures—827,000 U.S., South Vietnamese and allied military personnel, over a million civilian casualties in South Vietnam, and countless thousands in Laos and Cambodia..." Fulbright said.

"But those figures merely hint at the vast destruction of the social fabric and economies of Indochina, wrought as a consequence of this tragic war," he said. "There is no way of measuring the true cost of a shattered social structure, lost opportunities for development, persistent inflation, black marketing, corruption and prostitution."

The Library of Congress survey of war costs also includes these figures:

OTHER SIDE

—The Defense Department reports Communist casualties at some 715,000, a total equal to about 3.5 per cent of the population of North Vietnam.

—U.S. casualties through the end of February totaled 349,421, representing about 0.17 per cent of the U.S. population.

—U.S. use of herbicides, now being phased out, has affected nearly one-seventh of the land area of South Vietnam, destroying forests that could have supplied that nation's lumber needs for 31 years, and crops that would have fed about 600,000 persons for one year.

—Inflation has sent retail prices in Saigon to levels seven times what they were in 1965.

—The Senate subcommittee on refugees estimated there have been more than 1 million civilian casualties in Vietnam, including about 325,000 people killed.

PRESS CHIEF — Bill Boykin has been named manager of the Texas Press Association, succeeding Verne Sanford, who retired recently. He becomes only the third manager in the 91-year history of the association. Boykin came to Texas in 1957 as assistant manager, after having managed regional press groups in Oklahoma, Washington and Florida. He began his career as a carrier boy, later published newspapers.

Five Criminal Cases Docketed In 118th Court

District Judge R. W. Caton has set five criminal cases for trial this week in 118th District Court. Clifton Ray Parker, 22, Stanton, charged with theft over $50 is to go on trial Monday.

Edgar Mack Payne, 18, of 2303 Lynn, is slated for trial following completion of Parker's case. Payne is charged with possession of a narcotic drug.

Also set for trial, in respective order, are Dickey Wayne Gibson, 19, Star Route, Burnet, possession of a narcotic drug; Joe Sherman Jr., 33, of 1407 W. 2nd, driving while intoxicated, second offense; and Joe Sherman Sr., no address available, defrauding with worthless check.

HEAT AFFECTS MOSS CREEK PATRONAGE

Lake Visitors Fewer Than Usual

By BRIAN PEAY

The summer heat has apparently found that Big Spring is a good place to sink roots and has partially affected the number of visitors to Moss Creek Lake.

"The last few weeks the heat out here has kept the activity down quite a bit. Our business is still from area city patrons instead of Big Spring people," said Bonnie Robey, lake patrolman.

In the month of May the patrolman wrote over $100 worth of fishing permits and in June $108.50 worth of permits were written. The permits cost 50 cents each.

Recent construction includes the plugging of the original service spillway of the lake.

This plugging permits the Colorado River Municipal Water District to impound an additional 990 acre-feet of water in the reservoir.

The new spillway increased the total capacity of the lake from approximately 2,400 acre-feet to 3,350 acre-feet, according to O. H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager.

"Subsequent developments since the granting of the permit have indicated that it might be in the best interest of the district to delay the raising of the dam," said Ivie. The Water Rights Commission has given the district permission to raise the dam 10 feet.

When the dam is raised this will permit the district to store an additional 700 acre-feet of water, bringing the total capacity of the lake to 4,000 acre-feet of water.

"The reason of the terminal storage use of the lake is to enable the district to pump year-round at a more economical rate and it gets the water closer to the point of use during the winter months," said Ivie.

Water is being pumped into the lake daily from Lake E. V. Spence and in the past water was pumped into the reservoir from Lake J. B. Thomas.

Other actions have affected the lake, including the passage of several city ordinances concerning activity at the recreational area.

An ordinance was passed by the city commission earlier in the year prohibiting swimming at the lake due to insurance problems and liability of the city. This has changed the lake for many patrons who cannot get used to the idea of the swimming ban.

Another ordinance prohibits the use of trot lines in lake and requires that only a line with the maximum of two hooks can be used in taking fish from the lake. The ordinance was later amended by the passage of another ordinance allowing the bow fishing technique to be used at the lake.

There is also an ordinance in the making, currently, that will prohibit the riding of certain modes of transportation and will require that these modes only be used on designated roadways in all city parks as well as the lake.

Area Conservationist Is Assigned To Harlingen

W. S. Goodlett Jr., who came here as district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service and developed it into an expanding area office, is being transferred to Harlingen effective July 25.

As conservationist for Area 25, he will be in charge of a more varied and intense program which represents a professional advancement to him. He will succeed Hal Storey, who died unexpectedly May 20.

Goodlett is a veteran of 32 years service with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, 27 of them with the Soil Conservation Service and 20 of those in Big Spring.

In his new field, he will have nine work units, less than his total in this expansive area, but these include five flood control projects, plus a river basin development.

The territory is principally south along the valley from Laredo and Hebbronville to the Gulf. He has been responsible here for operation of 12 work-units in 14 counties stretching from Yoakum on the north, Scurry on the east and Crane on the southwest.

Goodlett came here in 1951 from Mineral Wells as district conservationist, succeeding E. J. Hughes, who went to Brownwood. When areas were organized, Goodlett headed the one here, and twice saw his territory and responsibility enlarged. He has helped in the development of the Great Plains conservation program, which started in 1957, and headed efforts on a monumental soil survey of the counties in his area. Today 12 of 14 counties have been surveyed (five have been published, seven are being printed, and work on the remaining two is nearly complete). This is one of the best such records in the state.

A native of Nashville, Ark., he moved in 1919 as a lad of three to Dunn, in Mitchell County, where his parents still reside. He graduated from Dunn High School in 1934, worked a year, went to Tarleton State College two years, recouped his finances another year, and completed his BS work at Texas A&M in 1940, having worked 24 months straight for fear of losing part-time jobs which enabled him to get his education.

In 1940 he was married at Colorado City to Lenora Hill, his high school sweetheart, a 1937 graduate at Dunn. They have two children, Mrs. Mike (Sena Jo) Leese, a graduate of Tarleton and whose husband is on its staff, and S. Sgt. Robert Goodlett, a University of Texas graduate and an electronics technician stationed at England AB, La.

While in school, Goodlett had worked for the Department of Agriculture and then took a position with Farm Security Administration, transferring 27 years ago to the Soil Conservation Service because he had studied for this type of work. After a year's training at Stephenville, he was conservationist at Mineral Wells for six years before being assigned here.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodlett have been extremely active in the First United Methodist Church, being named Methodist family of the year in 1961. They also have taken leading roles in Boy Scout and Girl Scout work, and for two years he headed the National Little League. She has been active in Home Demonstration work and other fields.

dent of the Jaycees.

Here's A Real Escape Artist

CINCINNATI (AP) — The officers who captured Robert Wilson Jr., 39, in a foot chase, in which he fell and broke his leg, warned other officers that he was "an escape artist" and should be watched closely at the hospital.

Wilson, who was charged with escaping from the Cincinnati workhouse June 6, also was charged with three counts of theft.

He was booked at police headquarters Friday, but when the vehicle that transferred 14 other prisoners to the city jail arrived at its destination, he had disappeared. He had escaped on crutches with his leg in a cast.

STERLING COUNTY AGENT COMMENDED

Barlemann Given Service Award

Arthur Barlemann Jr., Sterling County agricultural agent since 1956, has been named one of seven Texans to receive the highest honor given by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents, their Distinguished Service Award for 1971.

Each year outstanding county agents in the nation are honored for their contributions to agriculture and betterment of rural living, explained Dave G. Tyler, Liberty County agent and chairman of the Texas awards and recognition committee.

State award winners will be recognized at the State Association meeting Aug. 23 at Wichita Falls, but presentations of the awards will be made at the national meeting, Sept. 7-11 at Columbus, Ohio.

Barlemann is cited "for his outstanding educational programs in range management and brush control."

The award winner has been employed by the extension service for 20 years. Between 1951-1954, he was assistant county agent in Van Zandt County. He served as assistant county agent in Tom Green County from 1954-1956 before becoming Sterling County agent.

Barlemann was largely responsible for demonstrations on poisonous plant control on range land that led to a control program by many ranchers.

Under his direction, 4-H Club members have carried on an intensive range management demonstration program.

Barlemann also aided in organizing the county for participation in the screwworm eradication program, in which he achieved complete contributions from his county. He also aided in organizing county livestock producers for the brucellosis eradication program.

The San Antonio native is a graduate of Texas A&M University with a BS degree in animal husbandry and he has completed about two-thirds of the requirements for a master's degree in extension education. He has also attended Colorado State University.

He is actively involved in civic affairs in Sterling City where he is a member of the Sterling City Lions Club, American Legion Post, Sterling County Livestock Show Association, and the First United Methodist Church.

EARLY RANCHING EXHIBIT — Daryle Hohertz, chairman of the properties committee, handles a primitive pack saddle, which is part of an exhibit in which Heritage Museum, Sixth and Scurry Streets, depicts early ranching. The view looks out from a simulated shack or dugout area. The museum will be open from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. today.

Ranch Display To Be Open Saturday, Sunday Afternoons

Even before Howard County was organized in 1882, ranching had pushed into this area behind the fading buffalo. This became the area's first permanent industry, antedating even the arrival of the railroad. Heritage Museum brings back some of these early memories in a display now open to the public. To make it convenient for some who cannot come on weekdays, the officers and board members, starting today, are volunteering to keep the museum open on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Hours today will be from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and visitors are welcome. There is, of course, no charge because the institution is supported by Howard County and the City of Big Spring as well as by members and contributors. Daryle Hohertz and his committee have put the finishing touches on the assortment of items associated with early ranching (and a few to tie it to today), along with some 50 enlargements of pictures from pioneering days. Included are those of the first settlers of Howard County given by Wade Choate, great-grandson of W. T. (Bud) Roberts, first permanent settler, and those given by Miss Lillian Rhoton and Miss Winnie Dell Rhoton, daughters of Dave Rhoton, who was first to ranch in the county.

Angela Loses Bid For Fed Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Angela Davis lost her bid to make the murder-kidnap-conspiracy charges against her and Ruchell Magee a federal case instead of one for state courts.

Judge Samuel Conti, after a hearing in U.S. District Court Friday sent the request by Miss Davis and Magee back to Marin County Superior Court.

Judge Conti, contending the two were in concert to delay their trial, also rejected Miss Davis' petition which accused him of prejudice and asked him to disqualify himself.

The judge, saying "this court cannot close its eyes to the obvious," noted Magee has filed 17 petitions to federal courts since January. He continued an order preventing the San Quentin convict from filing further petitions.

Miss Davis claimed the case should be moved to federal court because, she alleged, a conspiracy led by Gov. Ronald Reagan prevented her from getting a fair trial in state courts.

Miss Davis, 27, is a black militant and an admitted Communist.

The two are charged in an Aug. 7 shootout at the Marin County Courthouse in which a judge and three abductors were killed.

The state contends Magee killed the judge and Miss Davis, though not present, provided guns and helped plan the crime.

College Begins Registration

Registration for the second six-week term of Howard County Junior College's summer session begins Monday and classes start Tuesday.

Registration will be in the library from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., and Dean Ben Johnson urged all who possibly can to register on the first day.

While most of the offerings will be the second unit of those offered in the first term, there will be a number of first unit courses. In addition there will be three new courses (Current Social Problems, Human Growth and Development, and Principles of Economics) offered in the evening classes.

Pentagon Papers Sell At Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bookstore in the vast Pentagon shopping concourse was one of the first to report heavy sales of the paperback book, "The Pentagon Papers."

First reports from the publisher indicated the Pentagon itself had ordered 500 copies of the book, but it later turned out to be Brentano's bookstore inside the building.

About 50 Defense Department employees waited in line as they arrived and then paid $2.25 each for their copies of the Bantam book. The Pentagon information office bought 15 copies.

New Approach For Chronic Mental Illness Tried Here

A relatively new approach to reaching chronically ill mental patients is being employed at Big Spring State Hospital as "operant conditioning" or "behavior modification."

It boils down to rewarding the extreme schizophrenic patients for response, then progressively leading them back into responses which more nearly parallel community life.

Dr. Bill Locke, director of the mental retardation and behavior modification program at Texas Tech, has been working with staff members at BSSH during the past week, outlining procedures to the program designed to get hold of a thread which may unravel the deep illness of many of the long-term patients who have not benefitted from present treatments.

Behavior modification is built upon the theory that all behavior is learned; that behavior is motivated; that the behavior pattern becomes stronger when reinforced by reward. For instance, a child who throws temper tantrums may be more inclined to continue when parents give into it. Conversely, the mental patient whose garbled and psychotic talk gets attention may be inclined to lapse more deeply into this pattern.

There have been many innovative programs at the hospital, and this one is timely because of the admission pressures created in part in the areas of alcoholism, drugs and youth. Reaching the chronically ill would not only release beds but would allow the staff to deal with many more patients with a lesser degree of illness. So behavioral modification became part of the plan on June 1, on its own separate unit especially to deal with the regressed schizophrenic residents. A basic theory of the concept is that a lack of behavioral skills in getting along with one's environment and with others often results in hospitalization. Ironically, this same lack of skill in getting along may deteriorate even further through long hospitalization, or from absence of living in community reality. In short, some cases get worse in spite of all conventional approaches.

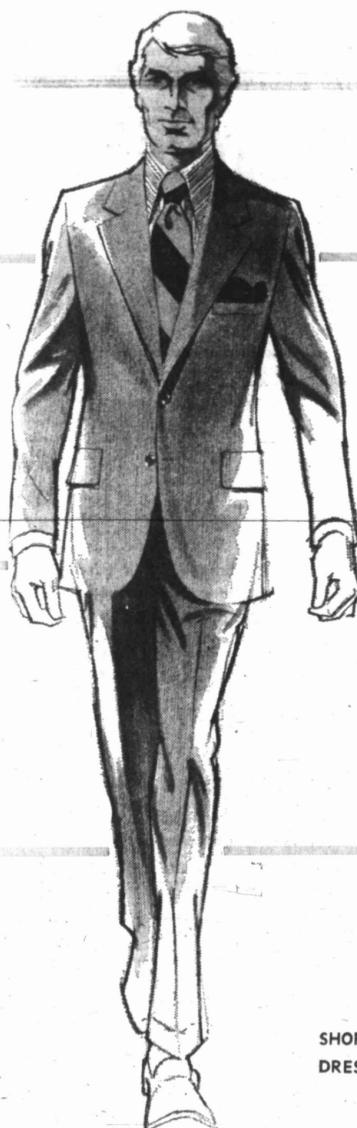

The thrust of the behavior modification unit is to attempt to reinstate reality to the world of the patient (and only the chronically ill who have not benefitted from the present treatment are accepted in the new program). Staff members act upon the assumption that ultimately and functionally the patient can be returned to the community when given proper stimulus.

Various techniques are used, but one borrows a page from duplicating free economy. By use of tokens, a patient is rewarded for appropriate behavior such as arising on time, making his bed, good grooming, carrying out work assignments and other acceptable social behavior. In return, the patient may exchange these tokens for privileges such as off-unit visits, entertainment, cigarettes, coffee, candy or privileges of privacy. No patient is deprived, however, of basic human necessities such as food, clothing, bed, and kind care when there is no or little response.

Sometimes the response may be such a little thing like a single word from a mute, regressed, catatonic patient. But this is a progressive thing. One response begets another, and this leads to different phases of the program. At first, rewards may be frequent in order to reestablish positive behavior patterns. In the middle phase, rewards will be intermittent and less often. A patient nearing discharge may be required to show considerably more positive response to merit rewards. By the time of separation from the hospital, the patient will be sustained by social and community standards as his rewards. This, Dr. Locke and others hopefully feel, will make the patient acceptable by his family and his community.

Dr. Locke is associate professor of psychology and director of psychology programs in mental retardation and behavior modification at Tech. This is a field which long has held his interest. A graduate of Oklahoma University and Oklahoma State (PhD) he served as field director of research training for the Parsons (Kan.) Research Center where he was instrumental in organizing the second token economy program. Later he served as director of research training for the bureau of child research at the University of Kansas.

At Tech, he has been a member of the faculty group at one of the three mental retardation centers earning national citation. His work at BSSH has been directed toward the training of mental health workers, teaching the techniques of behavior modification.

Generous Lee Gives $5,000 To Orphans

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Lee Trevino, picking up more money and titles than he ever expected in a single month, donated nearly $5,000 to British orphans tonight soon after capturing the British Open Golf Championship.

Trevino announced, "Earlier this week I told George James, who runs the casino here in Southport... I was prepared to play exhibition shots for the fans in order to raise funds for the Southport orphanage. But this is not necessary now. I'm giving $4,800 to the orphanage out of the $13,200 I won here at Royal Birkdale."

Trevino was raised by his grandfather, a Dallas gravedigger. He scratched pennies as a child, never finished high school and worked as a $35-a-week assistant on a desert driving range before hitting it big on the rich American pro golf tour.

"When I win a championship of this stature, I have the feeling that the man upstairs is looking after me and I want to give something back," said the Mexican-American extrovert.

Trevino's donation to the orphanage marked the fourth time he has gone into his pocket to help the less fortunate.

Nationals Seeking 9th Straight Win

DETROIT (AP) — The National League will be shooting for its ninth straight victory against the Americans Tuesday when baseball's best — minus three injured American League players — clash in the 42nd annual All-Star Game at Tiger Stadium.

The Nationals, who once trailed the Americans 12-4 in the series but haven't lost an All-Star Game since 1962, lead the series 23-17 with one tie and appear to have the edge for this one over an American League squad being rapidly depleted by injuries.

Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver first lost his own first baseman, Boog Powell, with a hairline wrist fracture, then was notified Friday that Cleveland pitcher Sam McDowell and Minnesota outfielder Tony Oliva had been forced to withdraw. McDowell is nursing an inflamed left shoulder and Oliva has an injured right knee.

SUCCEEDS BLAKE HC Ex Is Named Coach At Sands

BOB DAVIS

Dallas-born Bob Davis, one-time basketball star for Howard County Junior College, has been named head coach and athletic director at Sands High School.

He succeeds James Blake, who quit to become basketball coach at Seminole High School.

Born March 26, 1939, Davis attended Sunset High School in Dallas. He played freshman football at Sunset before concentrating on basketball.

Davis first enrolled at Kilgore Junior College, where he was a member of the 1958 National Junior College championship team. He transferred to Howard County JC the following year and wound up as an all-zone selection, although he was not eligible for play in the Region V tournament.

Davis scored 397 points for the 1958-59 Jayhawks. Among his teammates that year were Benny Carver, Ray Clay and Tommy Zinn.

When Bob's coach, Harold Davis, took the head basketball coaching job at UT-El Paso, Bob went along with him. He played one season with the Miners.

Davis is married to the former Darlene Fitzpatrick of Odessa. They have three children, Bob Jr., 10, Don Patrick 9, and Lisa, 8. The family makes its home here at 616 Caylor.

Although he is a full-time employee of Cosden, Davis said he always has wanted to get into coaching. He has been attending school at Angelo State University, working toward his degree, and expects to qualify for it next summer. He will be granted an emergency certificate in order to join the Sands faculty.

Bob will coach both football and basketball at Sands. His chief assistant will be Bobby Cochran, who was in the system last year and who will again coach girls' basketball.

Sands begins fall classes Aug. 23.

Although he has been out of school a decade, Bob has kept his hand in basketball. He has played with several independent teams here.

Shortly after departing UT-El Paso, Davis was employed by the Otis Elevator Company in Odessa.

Morton's Wins 3 Straight

ODESSA — Morton's Chippers of Big Spring won three straight games in the Odessa Invitational Softball Tournament. The Chippers knocked off Lubbock Lugage, 9-4, and Amarillo Atlas Van Lines, 3-0, behind the one-hit pitching of Billy Paul Thomas before going extra innings to subdue Odessa Permian Oil, 5-4.

In the ninth inning of the third game, the Chippers scored with one out when Al Oldfather singled, went to second on a sacrifice by Roy New, advanced to third on a passed ball and raced home on a single by Jimmy Roger.

The Morton team was due to play again at 11 p.m. against El Paso La Tapatia, another undefeated team.

KINGS OF THE HILL — The Texas League Tigers proudly gather back of the Poncho Nall trophy after downing the American League's Cabots, 6-5, in the Little League City championship game Friday night before a massive turnout of fans in their own park. A home run by Chem Sanchez in the first extra inning brought an abrupt end to proceedings. From the left, front row, they are Stevie Valencia, Tony Paderez, Joe Correa, Luis Mendoza, Freddie Martinez and Ernest Jara. Second row, Luis Rodriguez, Jackie Moreland, Jesse Armendariz, Lorenzo Martinez and Melton Moreland. Back row, Joe Dominguez, Clem Sanchez, Johnny Jones, Ernest Wilson and the team's elated manager, Joe Valdez.

Sanchez Home Run Sinks Cabot, 6-5

Money-player Clem Sanchez Donnie Hanson to give the Texas League Tigers a 6-5 victory over the American League Cabots. The four-master, which arrived after Johnny Jones had popped out to open the inning, occurred in the first extra inning of play after the Tigers had tied the score two outs deep in the sixth inning.

ORCHIN PROMISING Cougars Rebuild Without Wright

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Yeoman and his University of Houston football crew spent most of their spring trying to change question marks into exclamation points. When you lose exclamation points like split end Elmo Wright, first round draft choice of the Kansas City Chiefs; center Benny Fry, tight end Earl Thomas and linebacker Charlie Hall, along with seven others drafted by the pros, there are bound to be question marks. The biggest question marks are who will replace all those exclamation points and Yeoman and staff spent considerable time shuffling positions hoping to resolve some of the more pressing issues.

Pat Orchin, a 5-foot-170-pounder from Baytown Lee is the likely successor to Wright, who re-wrote all of UH's receiving records and set several NCAA marks. "He's a good little competitor with respectable speed and good hands," Yeoman said. "But he's no Elmo Wright. Who is?"

MULLINS BACK
The Cougars return a potent starting backfield intact in quarterback Gary Mullins, running back Tommy Moisek and fullback Robert Newhouse, but the offensive line in front of them was riddled. Tackle Craig Robinson, also a pro draftee, graduated along with Fry and Thomas.

The largest question marks here are at center, which Yeoman says is up for grabs, and at tackle, where Luke Stungis and sophomore Ken Baugh are fighting for the job. Riley Odoms, 6-4, 225, should be a quality replacement for Thomas at tight end. The rest of Yeoman's offensive lineup includes David Bourquin, right guard; Steve Cloud, left guard; and Charlie Moore, left tackle. Despite all the graduation losses up front, Yeoman says his biggest question mark on offense will be at center-back.

KNEE TROUBLES
"The biggest question of all depends on how strong Gary Mullins comes back," Yeoman said of the hard-luck San Angelo product who tore up his knee his sophomore year and has been trying to reach top form.

Rod Funseth Low At Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rod Funseth, winner of only one tourney in a decade, racked up five birdies on his first nine holes en route to a five-under-par 66 as he captured the third-round lead in the $125,000 Greater Milwaukee Open Saturday.

Although slackening to an even-par 36 after his opening 30, the 38-year-old Funseth moved into the 54-hole lead with a 12-under-par 201, a stroke ahead of two other half-way leaders, Dean Refram and Dave Eichelberger. Two strokes off the pace with 203 in the chase for the $25,000 top prize was the defending champion Deane Beaman, who had shared in a five-man 36-hole tie for the lead but slipped to a 69 after 71-63 rounds.

Chicago Trips Brewers, 4-3

CHICAGO (AP) — Rick Reichardt lined a two out single to left, driving in the winning run in the ninth inning and giving the Chicago White Sox a 4-3 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers Saturday.

Jay Johnstone opened the inning with a walk, was sacrificed to second, and after another out and an intentional walk to Pat Kelly, Reichardt connected off Ted Sanders, 4-4. Milwaukee had tied the game with two runs in the seventh, the first on Bill Voss' eighth homer of the season. Ted Kubiak knocked out starting pitcher Tom Bradley with a triple and Ellie Rodriguez, who bunted in an earlier run, hit a sacrifice fly off winning reliever Bart Johnson, 5-6.

Margaret Court Avenges Defeat

DUBLIN (AP) — Margaret Court of Australia, dethroned Wimbledon tennis champion, took a measure of revenge on Evonne Goolagong Saturday and won the women's title in the Irish Open Championships. Mrs. Court scored a 6-3, 2-6, 6-3 victory over Miss Goolagong, the 19-year-old Australian girl who beat her in the Wimbledon final last week.

Newell Resigns

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Pete Newell has resigned as general manager of the Houston Rockets of the National Basketball Association, club officials said Saturday. Club officials said personal considerations persuaded Newell to remain in California.

Devine Plans To Test Foes In Pro Debut

NEW YORK (AP) — "The old timers have publicly said 'we haven't enjoyed a pennant in 38 years. Now, there is a strong possibility they won't even have a team, albeit a losing one, in the city after this year.' Owner Bob Short, beset with financial problems, hints strongly that he will move the club if the special investigating committee of the American League doesn't come up with some solution to his plight. "The outlook for baseball in Washington... is dimmer than dim, bleaker than bleak," Short has said. "I didn't buy it to move, but I didn't buy the team to go broke either."

Short claims he's lost $3 million on the Senators since he purchased them for $9.4 million three years ago. He owes $161,000 in back rent and will have to come up with $2.4 million by Oct. 31 to pay off some debts.

Willie Stargell Sets A Record With 30th Blast

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Stargell, the top power hitter in the majors, set a record with his 10th homer again: Atlanta this season, a two-run shot in the eighth inning Saturday that carried Pittsburgh past the Braves, 5-4. Stargell's 30th homer of the season and 87th runs batted in came after Vic Davalillo beat out a slow roller to open the inning and Al Oliver sacrificed. Stargell had been tied with Clarence Gaston of San Diego with the record of nine homers against one club in a season in a 12-team league.

At that time, Prothro, who already has had his rookies in camp at Fullerton, Calif., will meet his veterans en masse for the first time and Devine will open camp to both rookies and veterans, having already been subjected to a bitter-sweet introduction to his club. That came in a two-day spring session, and Devine is frank in acknowledging that he wasn't exactly greeted as a conqueror here.

"I found some players leaving there who didn't buy me," Devine said. "And I should say I didn't buy some of them either. "There were several things I could do—I could go in a corner and cry or I could be mad about it or I could trade them. But I'm not going to do any of them. I'm going to give them a chance to buy me." Prothro did not meet with his veterans in any planned sessions prior to going to camp, but he knows he faces similar resistance.

CASTS SHADOW

It is, however, additionally complicated by recent history: at Green Bay, where the figure of Vince Lombardi still casts its shadow, and at Los Angeles, which still suffers periodic tremors from the explosion caused by the departure of controversial George Allen. Those two facts in each case—foreshadowing a period of resistance to new minds armed with new techniques—form the challenge to be faced beginning Wednesday by the natty, introverted Devine and the rough-hewn, extroverted Prothro.

IT'S EXPECTED

"I'll be surprised if we don't find some resistance," he acknowledged. "I think if you're going to teach Mario Andretti to drive a racing car, he'd give you more resistance than a rookie just starting out. The older a person the less eager he is to change. "But that's a coach's job—to get it done." The coach's job, in the minds of both rookies, is to try and improve professionals supposedly at the peak of their performance by a greater emphasis on fundamentals.

Baseball Future Is Bleak In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball fans in the nation's capital haven't enjoyed a pennant in 38 years. Now, there is a strong possibility they won't even have a team, albeit a losing one, in the city after this year. Owner Bob Short, beset with financial problems, hints strongly that he will move the club if the special investigating committee of the American League doesn't come up with some solution to his plight. ## SEEEKS PROFIT

The Minneapolis businessman, who served as treasurer in the Democratic Party when it won $9 million in the hole in 1968, has battled with the D.C. Armory board, his landlord at RFK Stadium, for a new rental lease under which, he says, he can make a profit. He wants a lease that will not require him to pay any rent until the Senators draw one million fans, give him revenue from all concessions and parking and require the city to pay for the police at the stadium. It is doubtful the board will give him what he wants. Much of the on-field trouble also can be traced to Short who engineered what one team source described as "the worst trade he had ever seen. It set

THE TRADE

In Washington, The Trade is the one which brought pitchers Denny McLain and Norm McRae, third baseman Don Wert and outfielder-infielder Elliott Maddox to the Senators from Detroit in exchange for the left side of the infield, third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez and shortstop Ed Brinkman, a n d pitchers Joe Coleman and Jim Hannan. Senators Manager Ted Williams said at the time, it wasn't his deal. He cringes when he discusses it now. Short also lured outfielder Curt Flood back from Copenhagen with what he described as a $160,000 package. Flood, who sat out of baseball for years while suing the game, couldn't cut it and has since departed for Europe. As for McLain's acquisition, Short says he has no regrets, although the righthanded pitcher had won only five and lost 14 going into Saturday's game.

Redlegs Rush Past Locals

The Snyder Redlegs brushed past the Big Spring Tiger Cubs, 10-7, in a baseball game played July 4 in Steer Park.

Lupe Lopez guided the Redlegs to the win. He stood three for six at the plate, one of which was a triple. Wesky got a double in the second inning. He was two for five for the night. Ernest Garcia led the Tiger Cub lineup. He got a triple and a double. Paderez and Rick Whitsell both got doubles and Cervantes slammed a triple. The breakthrough for the Redlegs came in the fifth inning when they crossed the plate six times. They then led 7-1. The Cubs picked up two runs in the sixth and then went all out in the eighth to narrow the gap. The score was 10-7 going into the ninth, but the Cub lineup faltered and went three up-three down. The Tiger Cubs play their next game today in Marfa against the Marfa Indians in a double-header. The Cub season record now stands 7-9.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Pickett Misses Lefty Tourney

By TOMMY HART

The Dallas Chaparrals as a regional operation were a disaster... The ABA club tried it in Fort Worth and Lubbock, without having to take on extra help to handle requests for tickets...

DON MAYNARD

... Muhammad Ali, who won a signal victory recently in his fight against being drafted for military service, is said to be totally out of shape... Further, he's not training seriously... That could be a fatal mistake in event he's ever matched with Joe Frazier again... Muhammad's backers expect to get 200 bookings for closed circuit shows of his upcoming bout with Jimmy Ellis, which is 50 more than the Ali corner had dared hoped for, prior to the favorable decision handed down in his case by the Supreme Court... Bud Pickett, the veteran left-handed golfer, passed up his first State Lethandlers tournament in 26 years last month, due to a business mission he's undertaken... Bud still hopes to book a lefty's tournament for this area, thinks an ideal format would be a partnership meet where a portsider is teamed with a right-hander... Dan Pastorini, the Houston Oilers' new quarterback, aspired to a baseball career but he couldn't hit... He conceded recently his throwing arm wasn't so hot, either... His pitching problems were limited to baseball — in football he hurled the oval for 3,820 yards and 35 touchdowns while playing for Santa Clara... Pastorini signed a renegotiable contract with Houston, which means he'll be back asking for more money in case he has a decent year as Houston's man-under... The Californian should be popular in Houston because he even likes the weather... He says the humidity makes it easy to keep his weight down... Texas Football Magazine, which has never treated Big Spring kindly in its pre-season ratings, relegates the Steers to the cellar spot in District 5-AAAA this year... District coaches likely won't make the same mistake, for fear of embarrassing reprisals later on... Dave Campbell, publisher of the Waco-based sports annual, invariably consults observers who are not too well informed about the league or its teams... In the Texas Valley, Spike Dykes' Alice Coyotes come off better in the magazine, his team is rated first in 27-AAAA... In 5-AA, Coahoma and Stanton are picked to finish behind the other four teams.

The veteran Blacky Blackburn of Abilene High was one of five nominees for the 1971 High School Baseball Coach of the Year, an honor which will be determined in an election conducted by the Texas Sports Writers Association... Likely winner of the honor is Ray Knoblaugh of Houston Bellaire, a former Qdessa Longhorn League hurler... Ray guided his team to a 35-6 won-lost record and the State AAAA championship... Zay LeFevre, the former BSHS athlete, worked hard to get his star passer at New Home, Jim Fillingim, in the All-Star football game at Fort Worth... Because he performed for a Class B school, Jim may not get to play a lot but he is capable of showing the coaches much if given a chance, because he can deliver a pass with authority... Chuck Hixson, one of the stars in the recent All-America football game at Lubbock, was red-shirted by coach Hayden Fry in 1967 but Fry almost pressed him into service late in the season after the Ponies' three quarterbacks (Mike Livingston, Inez Perez and Eddie Valdez) all got hurt... Hixson played Hairbreath Harry in so many games for SMU, the derring-do he pulled off at Lubbock was old-hat to him... He guided the West 57 yards in the last 2:09 minutes of play to give the West the narrow win... Don Maynard, the former Colorado City phenom who made good in a big and enduring way in professional football, is involved in a land development program in the Sacramento Mountains near Cloudcroft, N.M... Maynard hopes to hang on two or three more years in professional football... The dates for the 1971 Big Spring Invitational Golf Tournament likely will be changed again because of a conflict with a father-son tournament in Andrews... The local meet had been set for Aug. 13-14-15 but likely will be delayed a week... There seems no end to the money available on the pro golf circuit... A $60,000 satellite tournament will be held in conjunction with the $205,000 Liggett and Myers match play championship in Pinehurst, N.C., in late August... The satellite meet is scheduled in Concord, N.Y... Lee Trevino doesn't like to be referred to as a Latin-American... Says it makes him sound like a displaced person, adding he's a Mexican from El Paso by way of Dallas... It isn't well known that his application for membership in the PGA was turned down when he first applied in 1963... His success story should inspire a lot of people who have been kicked in the teeth repeatedly.

TROPHIES COME EASY FOR DANNY WEIR, 17 He holds point awards won on West Texas circuit

Teen-Ager Discovers Formula For Winning

Danny Weir, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Weir of 2712 Rebecca, got his first motorcycle in February, 1969. He started racing in February the following year and since that time has won so much "hardware" his parents and his employer are having problems finding places to store it. Young Weir wound up the 1970-71 racing recently by gaining two trophies awarded for accumulative points achieved on the West Texas circuit in motocross competition. He competes and wins in both 100 cc. and 125 cc. competition. On the West Texas tour the past season, he won all 18 heats in 100 cc. competition while astride a Honda machine. In 33 races since he first entered into competition, Danny has copied 27 first places. Most of his awards are on display at the J. R. MacMurry Honda shop (where he is employed on weekends) at 908 East Fourth street. Others he keeps at home. In his tours, he has competed in events at Houston, Lockhart, Green Valley, Lubbock, Cisco and San Angelo, as well as Big Spring. Danny was in Little League baseball here when his father served as a director in the American circuit. He later played in the Sophomore league before Ray became president of the Teen-Age Baseball Association in 1968-69. Last year, Danny stood 5-3 and weighed 115. He seems to thrive in motorcycle competition. He now is 5-11 and weighs nearly 150. He's keeping his fingers crossed but he's never suffered a serious injury in racing his bikes. Two of his friends, Frankie Mashburn and David Hodnett, help him keep his motorcycles in good running order.

NFL Clubs Await Start Of Drills

NEW YORK (AP) — The advance contingents of the Super Bowl champion Baltimore Colts report to their Westminister, Md., training camp Sunday as the circle of National Football League teams starting preparations for the 1971 season continues to widen. But it won't be until July 30 when Denver Coach Lou Saban greets his Bronco veterans that all 26 teams will be at their training quarters—just one day before the exhibition season begins when the Colts meet the All-Stars in Chicago.

Two new coaches will begin work the same day as the Colts, George Allen opening camp for the Washington rookies at Carlisle, Pa., and Nick Skorich doing the same for Cleveland at Hiram, Ohio. Other new coaches on hand for the training camp season will be Ed Hughes at Houston, Sid Gillman at San Diego, Dan Devine at Green Bay, Tommy Prothro at Los Angeles, Bob Holway at St. Louis and two coaches who took over their clubs during the season last year—John Mazur of the New England Patriots and J.D. Roberts of the Rams' rookies reporting last Thursday. Roberts also took his club to camp last week as did Tom Landry of the defending National Conference champion Dallas Cowboys.

Giants Decision Angels, 3 To 2

The Giants bowled over the Angels, 3-2, in Sophomore league play Friday night. Jody Bennett allowed only two hits in pitching the win. Doug Robinson had two of the winners' three hits. Jimmy Shanks accounted for the other one.

Elder Is On Card

HOUSTON — Jim Elder, 24-year-old, 6-2½ former Inter-Service and amateur champion from Levelland, Tex., and Manuel Ramos, the 28, 6-3 Mexico heavyweight king, will fight in a special 10-round bout that will open the closed circuit television show for the Muhammad Ali-Jimmy Ellis bout in the Astrodome Monday, July 26.

Torrid Weather Awaits Field

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Weather? "There will be some." That's how Phoenix' sky-high July temperatures were described in a news release concerning this week's 1971 USGA Public Links Golf Championships here.

It may be the classic understatement of press-agency. The average daily high in Phoenix in mid-July is 105 degrees. And it can get hotter. The tournament, with about 150 amateurs from around the nation competing, gets underway Wednesday on the 6,956-yard, par 72 Papago Golf Course. It's a hilly course, but about the biggest patches of shade are those cast by the pin flags.

The 150-man field will be cut to the low 60, plus ties, after Thursday's second round.

Detroit's Bill McDonald is the nearest thing to a defending champion. He won the Public Links in 1964, and is hoping to become the fourth man ever to repeat as titlist. Bob Risch, of Pasadena, Calif., won the tournament in 1970, but has since turned pro, as have R.H. Sikes, Dan Sikes, Bob Lunn and Monte Kaser, other Public Links winners.

Players were selected through regional qualifying with the requirement that they not belong to any private golf club. The field includes men in the 30s and 40s, as well as teen-agers like 16-year-old Scott Saunders, Phoenix.

Top collegiate golfers usually figure prominently in the ranks, but qualifying this year conflict-ed with the National Collegiate Athletic Association golf championships and many college stars missed out.

Also at stake in the tourney is the Harding Cup Memorial Trophy, which goes to the outstanding city team. The Cup competition, won by Chicago last year, is based on the first two rounds, prior to the mid-way cut.

Cards Oppose Bucs At 1:30

The Big Spring Cardinals carry a 13-6 record onto the diamond here today in a game with the Snyder Pirates. Start time of the contest will be 1:30 p.m. It will be in Steer Park.

The Red Birds knocked off the Snyder Redlegs Friday night, 8-1, in Snyder, at which time Tony Fierro threw a two-hitter.

Likely starters for the Cards today are Felix Martinez, shortstop; Pat Martinez Jr., first base; Andy Gamboa, center field; Jessie Zapata, left field; Billy Pineda, second base; Tony Martinez, third base; Benny Marquez Jr., right field; and Joe Martinez or Abel Ramirez behind the plate.

On the mound for the Big Spring team will be Junior Mendoza, Tony Fierro or Leon Hobbs, with Orlando Olague, Jessie Olague and Pano Rodriguez available for relief chores.

Magazine Predicts Texas Will Sweep To SWC Title

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Longhorns should win their fourth straight Southwest Conference Football championship this year, Dave Campbell predicts in his Texas Football magazine.

Campbell says he bases his championship choice on Texas' sophomores and four outstanding returnees: quarterback Eddie Phillips, halfback Jim Bertelsen and tackles Jerry Sizemore and Ray Dowdy.

Arkansas, with a "whiz-bang offense," and resurging Texas Tech should be the biggest threats to Texas, Campbell predicts in his latest edition.

Texas Football gives an edge to Port Arthur Jefferson over defending champion Austin Reagan in the Class AAAA schoolboy championship battle. Brownwood is picked to repeat as Class AAA champion, co-champion Refugio in Class AA and Holiday in Class A.

The Dallas Cowboys are picked as possible Super Bowl winners if they add a passing game to their tough defense and run-

NEW OFFICERS IN BASS CLUB — Pictured are newly elected officers of the Big Spring Bass Club, which will serve for the remainder of the year. From the left, they are Robert McCullough, reporter; Ken Lancaster, first vice president; Newlin James, program chairman; Jerry Avery, president; and Ted Hicks, secretary-treasurer. McCullough holds the rotating trophy which goes each month to the member catching the largest bass. Names of winners will be engraved thereon. The fisherman catching the largest fish during the year gains permanent possession of the award.

Jerry Avery Elected Prexy Of Bass Club

Jerry Avery was elected president of the Big Spring Bass Club Thursday night during its monthly meeting and election of officers. Six elective offices were filled. Avery is president; Kenneth Lancaster was chosen first vice president; Jim Maddin, second vice president; Ted Hicks, secretary-treasurer; Robert McCullough, reporter; Chuck James, program chairman. All three of the initial organizing officers who were serving in temporary capacities were officially returned to those posts for the rest of the year. The club approved a third

Bucs Split Two Games

The Big Spring Bucs split two games with Snyder in Senior Teen-Age League play the past week, coming back to humble the Jets here Friday night, 13-3, after yielding to Snyder in Snyder Tuesday, 4-3.

David Carter fashioned the mound win for Big Spring Friday. He was helped along by Orlando Olague in the late innings. The Bucs struck for six runs in the opening inning. Turk Brewer hit two home runs and Tommy Fletcher and Jeter Grant one each for the Big Spring team.

The split left Big Spring with a 6-2 record. Snyder is now 2-5. Pete Shaffer smashed four hits in the contest for Big Spring—and crossed the plate three times. Brewer had three hits, in all. Fletcher and Jeff Murdock each connected safely twice.

On Tuesday's contest, Marvin McClanahan pitched the Snyder team to victory, surrendering seven hits. Brewer and the Bucs' Tommy Tune paced both teams at bat with two safeties each.

Carter, Fletcher and Jesse Olague had the other blows for the Big Springers. David Newman, on the hill for Big Spring, was tagged for only five hits but was victimized by a first inning outbreak that netted the Snyder team three runs.

Scouts Await Swim Carnival

Scoutmasters were urged Saturday by Jimmy Ray Smith, camping and activities chairman for the Lone Star district, to be shaping their teams for the district swimming meet Aug. 7.

He said he would need to have entries by July 31 to prepare for the 14 events to be staged starting at 9 a.m. at the Airman's Pool at Webb AFB.

There will be competition in two divisions for those from 11-13 years of age, and those 14 years and older. The events in each division will be free style, breast stroke, side stroke, back stroke, individual medley, medley relay and free style relay.

The individual events will be run over a 50-yard or 50-meter course, while those for the relays will be over 100 yards or 100 meters. Individual ribbons will go to the first three places in each event.

Westerners Lose Three Coaches

LUBBOCK — Lubbock High head football coach Tommy Stone is now looking for replacements to fill jobs vacated by three assistants who resigned recently.

The resignations leave only head track coach Bob Gay and grid assistant Tommy Thornhill from the original staff Stone brought to LHS when he assumed his position in 1968.

Crouch and Milliken have accepted positions at McAllen in South Texas. Crouch becomes first assistant to Eddie Cook at the 28-AAAA school and Milliken will be a varsity assistant.

Sanford quit to continue his education. He is now attending the University of Texas and later plans to attend Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn.

Red Sox Trounce Cubs By 9-7 Tab

The Hi-Noon Optimist Red Sox eased by the Spanish Inn Cubs of the Sophomore League, 9-7, Friday night.

Taylor led the Sox lineup with three for four at the plate. Vela slammed two doubles, and Mims one.

The Cubs struggled to come back in the seventh inning, but the Sox held the tide at four runs.

Douglas of the Cubs had three for four. Ross connected safely twice.

Mangrum Experienced Eclat On Pro Links

APPLE VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — No one on the golf scene in the late 1940s had dreamed up such titles as the Big 3, Big 4 or even Big 4½. But there was a powerful triumvirate which dominated that period. In alphabetical order they were Ben Hogan, Lloyd Mangrum and Sam Snead.

Today Hogan and Snead appear occasionally in the picture, while Mangrum lives in relative seclusion and elegant placidity in the high desert resort 100 miles east of Los Angeles.

Mangrum is 56 but looks 10 years younger. He retired from active competition after whipping 10 heart attacks. He looks wealthy, tanned by the Apple Valley's year-round sun, his shoulders and forearms solid and muscular.

ONE-TIME CADDIE — Mangrum devoted two decades to tournament golf and makes no secret of his previous years as a caddie in Texas and a hustler around the public courses in Los Angeles.

His credentials are many and storied. He won the U.S. Open in 1946 and tied for it once, losing in a playoff to Ben Hogan in 1950. He was on four U.S. Ryder Cup teams, once as the captain. He captured the Vardon Cup twice, the Los Angeles Open four times.

Lloyd recalled that in 1948 he won 11 tournaments, Snead 10 and Hogan nine.

There was one two-year interlude when he served in Patton's 3rd army in Europe. That experience netted a shoulder shattered by shrapnel and what he now calls "a couple of scratches."

The shrapnel and the "scratches"—sniper fire in both legs—earned him the Purple Heart, and six months in a field hospital.

Mangrum has retained some of his soft Texas accent and has lost none of his acidity. A friend once said he would like to write a book about him but was afraid it would be so full of bleeps it wouldn't make sense. Lloyd and his wife first came to Apple Valley 16 years ago. They settled in a picture home which Mangrum himself designed.

Some unidentified golf writer tagged him with a nickname, the "Squire of Apple Valley," but Lloyd remains unenchanted with it. He explained with typical Mangrum candor:

"They used to call Gene Sarazen the 'squire of something or other,' I forget what. I don't particularly want to be squire of anything behind him."

OCCASIONAL ROUND — Mangrum plays an occasional round of golf. He has only to step across the road to reach the Apple Valley golf course.

"I never liked to play with just anybody. Fact is, I never did like too many people," he added, not really meaning it.

The Mangrums, of course, watched the recent U.S. open at Merion Pa., the course he played into a tie for the title with Hogan and George Fazio.

Lloyd identified Merion as "a bleep-bleep bowling alley," and had a few choice phrases for the U.S. Golf Association.

"They make the rough so high you could put a man and a monkey in it and the monkey would do as well as the man," said Mangrum.

He added with a grin, "I had my arguments with the USGA. Never won one, either."

A LITTLE FUSS — What about the pique with Sarazen? Lloyd said it originated in his first year as a rookie on the tour.

"Twice, playing behind us, Sarazen drove into our three-some. And after nine holes, when I was about to tee up for 10th, Sarazen was sitting on a bench behind us and said something like, 'Get movin.'"

"I turned to him and said, 'Mr. Sarazen, you'll probably win this tournament. I'm trying to make $100 to get out of town on. But if you play into me again I'm gonna take your bleep-bleep ball and hit it back over your bleep-bleep head!'"

Mangrum said he is often asked if he regretted he had to play for the small purses of his era as compared to the astronomical money of these times. "Not in the least," is his reply. "I won $48,000 in 1948 and was the leading money winner. But that $48,000 was worth as much as $148,000 these days."

LEGENDS — Mangrum took a moment to puncture a couple of legends relative to the swinging habits of Jimmy Demaret and Walter Hagen.

"That Demaret. He'd get a highball, ditch it and get another. Next day he'd say, 'Man I musta had 30 drinks last night. Bleep."

"None of us," Mangrum concluded, "did any drinking when we were playing in a tournament. We knew better."

LaMotta's Victim Dies In France

PARIS (AP) — Laurent Dauthuille, 47, who was once less than a minute away from the world middleweight boxing championship, died early today in a hospital in suburban Reuil.

In September 1950 he was matched against Lamotta in Detroit for the middleweight title. After 14 rounds Dauthuille was ahead on points, but he was knocked out in the 15th round, with only 13 seconds remaining in the match.

Dauthuille returned to France but could never again hit a peak. In his last bout in 1952 he was knocked out in the second round.

Astros Return Thursday

HOUSTON — The Houston Astros will open a nine-game homestand Thursday which will include a Sunday doubleheader against the Philadelphia Phillies Sunday.

Houston will play host to three Eastern division clubs during the eight day stay. Besides the Phillies, the rival New York Mets and the colorful Montreal Expos will make stops, each playing three games.

New York will be the first club in on the stand. The Mets will play 7:30 p.m. games on Thursday, July 15 and Friday, July 16. On Saturday, July 17 game time is 5 p.m.

The early starting time will make room for a post game performance by Al Hirt, one of the world's most famed trumpeters, who will put on an hour show at home plate.

Hirt's performance will help accentuate Louisiana weekend which will begin Friday, July 16 and end Sunday, July 18.

Hirt, whose distinctive Dixieland trumpeting has made him popular with virtually all music fans, will perform with his group at home plate as a feature of Louisiana Weekend in the Astrodome. The show will begin as soon as the Astros-Mets game concludes.

"MOMMAS" MAKE the big league with Little Leaguers by attending every game and lending a helping hand as concessionaires. Over the years, the facilities have been enlarged and upgraded; now provide practically a complete meal for families who eat between innings. Here, working at an American League concession are Mrs. Frank Perry, Mrs. Bill Minchew, Mrs. Bob Huff and Mrs. Willie Williams.

PAYING THE PRICE of a candy bar, young Sherri Minchew discusses the score with Mrs. Van Perry as she lingers a moment at an American League concession stand. The game is a scorcher, so Wesley Beauchamp and Keith Eason decide to cool it with luscious-looking snow cones served by Mrs. Shirley Beauchamp Jr.

PUBLICLY UNSUNG, the heroines of the hot dog stand usually view what little they see of a game by peering around a popcorn popper or over a soft drink machine. The score may be tied in the final inning — but the customer comes first. At left, taking their turn at dispensing drinks at International League games are Mrs. Robert Johnson and Miss Sharon Baker.

LAST MOMENTS before a game are spent learning price lists when you're a volunteer concessionaire. When the crowd gets into the spirit of the thing, cheering throats need thirst-quenchers, and excitement stirs the appetite. Checking stock at a National League game are Mrs. Dearl Pittman and Mrs. Don Spence.

THERE WAS A TIME, not too long ago, when a fellow was lucky to get a luke-warm drink of water at a dusty baseball park. Now, sophisticated equipment dispenses cold concoctions in every color of the rainbow. Below, at the National League park, Mrs. Bill Battle cools the fever of baseball battle.

Church Of Nazarene Is Scene Of Wedding

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Cecilia Jean Cooper and Jimmy Lee Ward in a candlelight ceremony Friday evening at the Church of the Nazarene.

The Rev. E. Wales Lankford officiated at an altar centered with a black wrought iron arch entwined with garlands of boxwood and flanked by branched candelabra. Baskets of flowers and fern trees completed the decorations.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ward, South Route, Coahoma; and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cooper, Route 1, Big Spring.

Traditional music was played by Miss Linda Dorough of Lubbock and Miss Jan Morehead was vocalist.

The bride wore an antique white crepe Empire-style gown. The bodice was accented with lace appliques and pearls which continued down the front and around the hemline of the skirt. A chapel-length train of re-embroidered lace swept from the waistline, and her lace mantilla fell from an oval tiara sprinkled with seed pearls and lace appliques. She carried a cascade of stephanotis centered with two yellow orchids and accented with tulle and yellow satin picot.

Mrs. Bobby Lindsey served as matron of honor, attired in a floor-length, yellow dotted Swiss gown fashioned in an Empire style with puffed sleeves. The waist was highlighted with a yellow satin ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Ward and Mrs. David Smith, sisters of the bridegroom; and Miss Vanessa Cooper, Miss Teresa Cooper and Miss Melissa Cooper, sisters of the bride. They wore green dotted Swiss gowns styled like Mrs. Lindsey's, and carried Spanish fans topped with multi-colored daisies and yellow and green ribbons.

Ronnie Ward of Coahoma served his brother as best man. Another brother, Tommy Ward of Coahoma, and Bobby Lindsey were groomsmen. Ushers were Jeff Owens and David Smith.

Flower girls were Valerie Tavaglione and Elizabeth Pollock. They wore yellow dotted Swiss dresses. Michael Tavaglione was the ring bearer, and altar taper lighters were Rox Ann Howland, Natasha Pollock and Michelle Tavaglione.

MRS. JIMMY LEE WARD

For a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, the bride wore a purple dacron dress with matching accessories. Upon their return, the couple will reside on Route 1, Big Spring. A reception honored the couple at the church fellowship hall. The refreshment table was covered with a yellow cloth overlaid with yellow net. The three-tiered cake was topped with light green satin wedding bells, and the table was accented with black candelabra and yellow candles.

Serving at the refreshment table were Mrs. Dan Turner, Miss Teresa Spears, Miss Molly

McKinney, Miss Elaine Webb, Mrs. Dell McGuire and Mrs. Cotton Mize.

Mrs. Ward is a graduate of Coahoma High School and attended Howard County Junior College. She is employed by H. B. Reagan Insurance Company. The bridegroom graduated from Coahoma High School and also attended HCJC. He presently works for Merchants Fast Motor Lines.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Darilek, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Darilek, all of Megargel; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lane, Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ward, Graham; and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ward, Olney.

Fingernails Aid Health Analysis

A variety of child disorders can be identified at an early stage from fingernail clippings, scientists at the University of Alabama report.

According to Dr. George Cassidy, professor of pediatrics at the university's School of Medicine, clippings taken from newborn infants for analysis may someday replace tissue biopsies.

Learning how healthy a baby is as early as possible is crucial to treating whatever disorders he may have, Dr. Cassidy explains.

A LOVELIER YOU Dieters Can Picnic In Delectable Style

By MARY SUE MILLER
 A Lovely writes: My family loves to picnic. We take a basket to some favorite spot every weekend. The hitch now is that the doctor has put my husband on a reducing diet. My teen daughter has put herself on one. Who ever heard of a low-cal picnic? What is one?

The Answer: Low-calorie picnic foods can be just as good and a lot more interesting than the usual sandwich and potato salad fare. For example:

(a) Beef bouillon on rocks, crisp red-onion ring snacks; chilled breast of broiled chicken (1/2 breast per person); hard boiled eggs (1 each) with tarragon vinegar and crushed black pepper dip thick, salted slices of beefsteak tomatoes; melon cut in paperly slices; no-cal soft drinks and hot coffee, if desired. Approximately 300 calories per person.

(b) Chilled tomato juice, with green pepper strips and dilled carrot snacks; mixed cold meats—roast beef, beef salami, liverwurst (3 slices per serving); shredded cabbage on tossed greens, dieter's Italian dressing; crusty roll, lightly buttered; quarters of raw apple topped with thin-sliced cheddar cheese; no-cal beverages of choice. Approximately 575 calorie servings.

Low-cal extras: cheese cracker tidbits, Roman breadsticks; radishes and celery; basket of assorted fresh fruits; lily squares of angel food.

To tote those items you need a cooler and ice, several baskets, and a clean-up bag. Small matter!

CALORIE COUNTER

Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our leaflet, "Pocket Calorie Counter," tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan—a way to eat and slim. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long-self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Ruth Class Meets In Westbrook

Barbecue Bulletin Offers Tips For Backyard Chefs

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
COUNTY HD ADW

A new extension publication MP-312, Chicken Barbecue, has just been received in the County Extension Office. This publication deals with the basic principles of barbecuing chicken and other poultry. A quantity of copies has been ordered and will be placed in the bulletin file in the office for distribution to interested individuals. The bulletin was developed by Marshall M. Miller and David B. Mellor, Extension Poultry Marketing Specialists, Texas A&M University.

If you are a barbecue enthusiast you will want to secure your own copy of the publication. Included in this article are some of the basic principles to consider. Broilers have become a favorite meat for barbecues. The young tender meat is easy to cook and to eat. Although broilers are the most popular poultry for barbecuing, turkeys and ducks are also available for a different taste treat.

Broiler barbecue is tasty and nutritious. It is appropriate for just about any occasion, inexpensive to prepare, it has wide acceptance. With a little attention to detail, it may be served to the most discriminating.

The following planning suggestions will aid in the meat's preparation:

An adult should serve as barbecuing chef, but all ages enjoy being a part of the cooking team. Use broilers that weigh 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 pounds. Have your butcher split the birds into halves, or do this job at home.

Use a 2 or 3 quart saucepan with handle for preparing the basting sauce, and have a clean grill and pit.

Use a basting brush or homemade dauber to place sauce on meat. Be prepared to use two kinds of sauce — one during cooking and the other for finishing.

Use charcoal or any hardwood such as oak, hickory, pecan or mesquite for fuel. Use kerosene or charcoal lighter fluid to start the fire.

Metal tongs are best for turning chicken halves, but a fine-tined fork is also suitable.

Have plentiful serving and eating space.

Having made the above preparations, you are now ready to barbecue. Place the charcoal or wood in the pit on a nest of newspaper and saturate it with starting fuel. Gasoline or cigarette lighter fluid are not recommended as a starter. Light the fire. Allow about 30 minutes for charcoal, or an hour for wood, to burn down to a bed of white hot coals. Use six to eight charcoal briquettes for each broiler half. More can be added later if needed.

Usually the coals should be 12 to 14 inches below the grill, but this will vary somewhat depending on the pit and fuel used. Charcoal or hardwood is used to cook the meat and give it a distinctive smoked flavor. Although leaping flames may be picturesque, the secret of successful barbecuing is a solid bed of glowing coals.

Barbecuing offers an opportunity to be original. Try different types of poultry such as turkey, duck, quail, guinea hen or pheasant. Also include other meats for variety. Become an authority on seasonings such as herbs, spices, sauces and combinations of seasonings, offered with a flourish in tall decorative shakers.

Impress guests with large, leafy and colorful salads, garnished with your own secret salad-dressing. Serve crisp vegetable relishes and help-yourself appetizers. Keep menus simple and serve foods hot.

Serve a boat or pitcher of your finishing sauce with the cooked meat. Try marinating the broiler or turkey parts for two or three hours before cooking to add a zesty taste. At clean-up time the chef can save herself some effort by making it a cooperative project.

Quotable Quotes

By The Associated Press
Some quotable quotes from women during the week:
"What a drag, always, always having to worry about your looks. That's the trouble with acting — you have to worry about such small things. But it's been my life since I was a kid and I guess it'll keep on being that way." — Actress Marianna Hill, in an interview.

"This is the worst thing I've ever been through," since I've been in Washington." — Martha Mitchell, wife of the U.S. attorney general, disturbed that she wasn't given credit by Mrs. Nixon's press secretary for sponsoring a luncheon for cabinet wives.

"I lived in the country when I grew up. And there's something about waking up in the morning and seeing the sun shining through the window and the blue sky and going outside and smelling the fresh air. It makes life worth living." — Barbara Malby, one of 22 volunteers recently certified as official smoke watchers by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation.

"You have to climb on top of the mountain or it will fall on top of you." — Frances Crane, a victim of multiple sclerosis since she was 17, who became a concert cellist, wife, mother, teacher, painter and sculptor and, now, blind and paralyzed at 40, is a writer.

"When I compare ballet and theater, it's to our advantage on the whole. I don't think you can express everything by words. With the body you can go further; you can express things you can't express with words." — Maina Gielgud, ballet dancer and niece of actor Sir John Gielgud.

"I can see what women's lib is saying and trying to do in terms of jobs and equal rights. But any changes in our place in the world must come through evolution and not revolution." — Dr. Roberta Fenlon, head of the California Medical Association, first woman ever elected president of a state medical society.

Serving as directors for the year will be Mrs. A. O. Vandorf, Mrs. Thirston Orenbaum and Mrs. Loyd Wooten, immediate past president.

Royal blue straw flowers with blue velvet bows accented the tables. Miss Jeanette Barnett, member-at-large, was a guest.

Pre-Nuptial Coffee Is Held At Country Club

The chosen wedding colors of yellow and white were carried out in decorations and flowers.

White carnation corsages with yellow ribbon were presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. J. B. Stembidge of Gilmer; and her fiancée's mother, Mrs. Harold Talbot. Stephanotis was used for yellow and white corsages worn by the hostesses. The refreshment table was laid with a yellow cloth and appointed with silver. The centerpiece was an arrangement of yellow gladioli and yellow and white daisies, while a similar arrangement was placed on the guest registry.

Miss Stembidge and Talbot plan to be married July 24.

Town Records A Little Muddled

Pierre Cachot, mayor of Chaze, France, tried to ignore the matter when wives complained that local records reported them married to other women's husbands. Federal officials stepped in to investigate when the records declared that a single lady had married her sister-in-law.

The culprit turned out to be Hubert Viganis, 40, the mayor's secretary, who apologized that his sense of humor gets the best of him whenever he drinks too much of the local pink wine of Anjou.

MRS. JOHNNIE WILEY KIRKLAND

Couple United In Marriage

Miss Jimmie Lynn Hartley and Johnnie Wiley Kirkland were married at 9 p.m. Friday in the Carl Street Church of Christ.

Ronnie Sellars, minister, performed the ceremony at an altar adorned with three candles and a basket of white daisies. Music was provided by the church choir.

The bride's parents are Mrs. Christine Harley of Dallas and Jim Hartley of Big Spring. Kirkland's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe J. Kirkland, 1611 State.

The bride was attired in a floor-length, white satin gown with a round neckline and long lace sleeves. The Empire bodice was overlaid with embroidered lace and accented with a white satin ribbon and bow. Her long net and lace train was attached at the shoulders, and her elbow-length illusion veil fell from a cluster of white satin roses. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Brenda Heard served as maid of honor, and Miss Patricia Hicks was the bridesmaid. The attendants wore yellow, formal-length gowns trimmed in white lace, with yellow lace hats.

Paul Lawson of Colorado City served as best man, and Mike McDaniel was groomsmen. Ushers were Jeff Williams and Tommy Hollandsworth.

The couple was honored with a reception at the church following the ceremony. The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth overlaid with yellow, and centered by an arrangement of white roses.

The three-tiered cake was decorated in yellow and white. Serving were Mrs. Cecil O'Dell, Mrs. Muri Williams and Mrs. Rex L. Hammack.

Following a trip to Del Rio the couple will reside at 1701 1/2 Main. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kirkland are seniors at Big Spring High School. He also works for Clay's No-D-Lay Cleaners.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Hall, Mrs. Linnie Flippin, R. D. Hall, Phil Hall and Sonny Word, all of Colorado City; and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Key, Snyder.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

Now that the first supper theatre production of the Hawk Players for HCJC is over, I'm looking forward to the next one. This presentation of "A Company of Wayward Saints" was in the round and is a delightful way to create a feeling of intimacy with the audience.

I thoroughly enjoyed the actors. They got the most from their lines, especially the laugh lines. Too often the speaker lets his voice down at the very time he should bring it up and funny though the line may be, all is lost.

We especially enjoyed having our 'supper' in the company of MRS. L. K. GLADDEN and her mother, MRS. THOMAS, who left for her home in Jennings, La., Friday. The two have been having a good time during the several weeks stay of Mrs. Thomas, browsing in antique and 'junk' shops, depending, I suppose, on what they found. Anyway, it was fun to them.

MR. and MRS. DICK SHAVER and Scott left Friday morning for Fort Worth where they were to see daughter Jill in a play which is being done by the workshop she has been attending. She will join the family for a trip to Akron, Ohio, where they will visit family. MARK, the older son, was to come to Akron this weekend after completing the performances of the HCJC supper theatre.

MRS. DAKIN WILLIAMS and her longtime friend, MRS. NAN PHILIPS, were at the show at the college together. MRS. WILLIAMS and her daughters, who live in St. Louis, Mo., are visiting her mother, MRS. L. W. CROFT, and they invited Mrs. Philips to be their 'in-town' guest for a few days while CHAMPE PHILIPS is away for a while.

More and more people are entertaining their out-of-state guests by taking them to see some of our natural Texas productions. By natural I mean those that are set in strictly Texas locale, done by Texans at home, right before your very eyes.

Albany has its Fandangle and it is a very spectacular show with very talented and dedicated performers and I should say, full of stamina, because getting on and off the stage area isn't just a hop, skip and jump when they are doing an outdoor production.

But think of the background of the musical drama, "Texas," the history of the Panhandle. Their staging area is the Palo Duro Canyon. Of course, just a small part, but that's where the show goes on nightly during the summer near Canyon.

Last week MRS. DORA RUTH CARTER, 2403 Morrison, had as her guests, MR. and MRS.

ROBERT L. McCUTCHON of Seattle, Wash. They were all delighted with this Texas show and recommend that everyone who can to include this in their summer plans. Mrs. Carter said the night they were in the audience there were people from 29 states and seven foreign countries.

Mrs. Carter and Mrs. McCutcheon were childhood friends. Mrs. McCutcheon is a teacher in the Seattle school system and her husband is a realtor.

Remember the Heritage Museum is open today from 2 to 5 and the outstanding ranch display is on view.

MRS. MAURISCE ALLEN took her two grandsons, George Allen and Robert Beard of San Angelo, for a vacation trip to Las Vegas, Nev., during the past week.

MRS. C. B. IVIE of Waller is visiting in the home of her son and daughter-in-law, MR. and MRS. OWEN H. IVIE.

During the July 4th holidays, the D. M. McEVERS family had a reunion at Inks Lake. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas M. McEvers Jr. and daughter, Pam, who came from Gonzales, La.; Mrs. Jennie Henderson and daughter (and her children, Kenda and Janis) and guests from Lubbock; Miss Nancy Jo McEvers, a daughter from Chicago, who flew here to go with Mrs. D. M. McEvers Sr.; Darrell Henderson, Sam and Douglas McEvers III for a drive to the lake. Also going from here during the week were Mr. McEvers, Don McEvers and Donna Daylong. The entire family was together for two and a half days out of six that the reunion was held. Sam and Douglas McEvers, who had been visiting in Big Spring and Lubbock, returned with their parents to Louisiana, and Nancy McEvers flew back to Chicago; Mrs. Henderson returned to graduate school at Tech, and Kenda Henderson is still with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. McEvers at 508 Johnson.

Their motto is "Tact makes for a long and happy married life." This they illustrated recently when the committee members were interviewed by the press, and one reporter asked, "Who makes the most faithful and satisfactory wife — a brunette, blond or redhead?" The answer, after a committee meeting: "A woman with gray hair."

Couples Feted At Anniversary Party
FORSAN (SC) — The D. P. Days of Big Spring and the T. R. Camps were honored with a double anniversary party Saturday evening in the Camp home. The couples have been married 44 and 42 years, respectively. Hosting the affair were the D. W. Days and Mrs. Theibert Camp. Guests played table games and had refreshments. Attending from out-of-town were the B. D. Masons of Colorado City.

4-H'ers End Clothing Workshop

A dress revue at the Ackerly United Methodist Church fellowship hall Friday climaxed a five-day clothing workshop for members of the Knott 4-H Club, Group II beginners.

"Know Your Sewing Machine" was the over-all theme for the workshop. Sewing machines were provided for each girl. Other subjects studied were clothing care, good grooming, good posture and accessory choices.

Those participating in the workshop were Jill Floyd, Susanna Arismendez, Tammy Nichols, Diana Lopez, Carol Adams, Sheila Thornton and Paula Adams. Kayla Gaskins served as teen leader, assisted by Jaynie Billingsley, Patty Peugh and Connie Hughes.

Skirts made by the girls will be modeled and judged at the Howard County 4-H Dress Revue at 2 p.m., Thursday in the First Federal Community Room. The public revue is scheduled at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Cosden Country Club.

Tact Assures Lasting Marriage

There's only one prerequisite for being a member of the exclusive Swiss "Hardy Husbands Society" in Zurich: You have to be married for at least 25 years to the same woman.

Their motto is "Tact makes for a long and happy married life." This they illustrated recently when the committee members were interviewed by the press, and one reporter asked, "Who makes the most faithful and satisfactory wife — a brunette, blond or redhead?" ## Genealogical Society Examines Films Made In Signal Peak Area

Slides taken in the Signal Peak area were shown to the Genealogical Society of the Big Spring by Mrs. Roscoe Cowper and Burl Cramer Thursday at the Howard County Library.

Cramer narrated the program and said that pioneer travelers used Signal Peak as a landmark. One slide showed what he believed to be petrified wood formed by erosion on a tree lodged against the mountain.

Also shown was a picture of a persimmon or mustang grape vine which is foreign to this area but continues to grow from the spring water on the mountain. Several slides showing views from the top of Signal Mountain were shown, and Cramer said that archeologists at Baylor and Southern Methodist University are now interested in some of the unusual rock formations in this area.

Miss Gladys Hardy, past president, was presented an engraved gavel from members in recognition of her services. Mrs. Helen Early was appointed secretary. It was announced that the club purchased a mimeograph machine for use in publishing the monthly Signal Peak newsletter. The first annual publication is scheduled to be printed in September.

The society will sponsor a garage sale July 22-24 at the corner of Main and Fifteenth Street. It was announced that the library has a catalogue from which people may order census records dating back to 1790 from any part of the country. The cost is $1.45.

Membership in the society is open to any interested person at a rate of $4 annually. People may call Mrs. Jerry A. Phillips at 263-4629 for more information, or attend the next meeting at 7:15 p.m., Aug. 13 at the library.

Pharmacy Facts

By Bob Knight, R. Ph.

Included among the germs that cause infectious diseases are bacteria, which are actually microscopic forms of plant life. Bacteria cause such diseases as pneumonia, tuberculosis, diphtheria and cholera.

Although bacteria have only a single cell, they exist by the same kind of chemical reactions and are as dependent on enzymes as are higher and more complex organisms. Modern medical techniques destroy harmful bacteria by depriving them of needed nutrients or by "feeding" false protein molecules which "starves" the bacteria.

It is important that your doctor's prescription be filled accurately with top quality medication.

Attacker Trapped By High C Note

Operatic soprano Adriana Anelli didn't scream for help when a sex fiend attacked her on a dark street in Lodi, Italy. Instead, she sang high C and held the note until it attracted a neighborhood crowd.

The 27-year-old attacker tried to flee but couldn't get through the crowd and was handed over to police. "I may forget my audience at La Scala but never the one at Lodi," commented the 28-year-old singer.

MRS. JAMES F. HENRICHS

Miss Sanders Weds James F. Henrichs

Miss Betty Ann Sanders became the bride of PO 8-C James F. (Buddy) Henrichs of St. Lawrence Saturday evening at Wesley United Methodist Church where the nuptials were performed by the pastor, the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Sanders, 1611 Owens, and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Henrichs, St. Lawrence.

The prelude of nuptial music was by Miss Betty Johansen, organist, and Mrs. Noble Kennemur, vocalist. The altar was centered with a cross and flanked by brass candlesticks holding white tapers. The floral arrangement was of white gladioli and pink carnations.

The bride appeared in a full-length Empire gown of white satin overlaid with lace. Scalloped ruffle trimmed the rounded collar and cuffs of the long fitted sleeves. The gown featured an A-line skirt at the front, and a cage-style back which swept to a scalloped hemline. Her elbow-length veil was held by a headpiece of clustered roses trimmed with pearls, and her nosegay of pink and white carnations was centered with bridal roses.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Patricia Sanders of Odessa served as her cousin's maid of honor, wearing a formal gown of pink chiffon over taffeta. The bodice featured a squared neckline, and at the back, a high bow marking the Empire waistline. Her headpiece was a matching Dior bow, and she carried a single pink rose.

Dick Dubose of San Angelo was best man. The bridegroom's brother, Ronnie Henrichs, and John Wycoff, both of St. Lawrence, served as ushers.

Guests were served refreshments at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. Members of the house party were Mrs. Terry Hale and Miss Nelda Henderson, both of Big Spring, and Mrs. Dick Dubose of San Angelo.

The table, covered with white linen, was appointed with crystal and silver, with the bride's bouquet forming the centerpiece. The tiered white wedding cake was topped with pink nosegays.

REHEARSAL DINNER
The rehearsal dinner was held Friday evening at St. Lawrence Hall with the bridegroom's

California Convention To Attract Altrusans

Mrs. Willard Hendrick, member of the local Altrusa Club, and Miss Jeanette Barnett, member-at-large, will be among the 1,000 business women attending the Altrusa International convention July 18-22 at the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco, Calif. Mrs. Hendrick will be accompanied by her husband.

The major objective of the convention is to discuss leadership volunteer services that are relevant to local community needs. The local Altrusa Club will be one of 550 in 13 countries represented. Joseph L. Alioto, San Francisco mayor, declared the convention dates as "Altrusa Week" in that city.

Mrs. Joella Terrill Butler of Wichita Falls, Altrusa International president, states that the five-day convention will challenge Altrusa clubs to become involved in finding solutions to critical issues in their communities.

RELEVANT SERVICE
Mrs. Mary S. Resh of Washington, D.C., will conduct a symposium on "emphasis: Accountability," with the purpose of charting more relevant service action by Altrusa clubs. The new 1971-1973 program

"Turn Concern Into Action" will be launched by Mrs. Ethel J. Boyle, international president-elect. Some of the problems to be considered for action include drinking drivers, lack of day care centers, drug abuse, elimination of architectural barriers for the handicapped, pollution, immigrants' problems, retirement careers and motivation for women to use talents more completely.

INSTALLATION
Mrs. Boyle will be installed as president at the final event of the convention. Delegates will also elect international officers for 1971-1973.

Other convention speakers will include Mrs. Patricia Reilly Hitt of Washington, D.C., whose position as assistant secretary for Community and Field Services, Department of Health Education and Welfare, makes her one of the highest ranking women in the Nixon administration.

Stanley E. McCaffray of San Francisco, first vice president of Rotary International and a member of "World Press" panel, will also speak. A live panel presentation staged by World Press at the convention will be telecast with Roger Boas as moderator.

MR. AND MRS. NEAL BRYANT

Reception Today Will Honor Neal Bryants

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bryant, 1604 Sunset, who are observing their 25th wedding anniversary, will be honored this afternoon with a reception in the First Federal Community Room. Friends are invited to call between 2:30 and 4:30 p.m.

The affair is being hosted by Mrs. Bryant's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Barber of Decatur, Ga., and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Grimes, Big Spring.

Mrs. Bryant is the former Virginia Barber daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Barber who previously lived in Jacksonville, Fla., but are now residents of Big Spring. Bryant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Bryant Sr. of Floydada.

The honorees were married here July 13, 1946 in the East Fourth Baptist Church following Bryant's discharge from the U.S. Navy. Their wedding attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jernigan who will be in the receiving line at the reception today.

The Bryants have one son, Bobby Bryant, who will present his mother with an orchid corsage.

Refreshments will be served from two tables covered with white cloths overlaid with gathered organdy skirts. A crystal punch service will be used on one table and a silver coffee service on the other. The main table will be centered with a candelabrum arranged with white chrysanthemums and greenery, and the tiered cake will feature a miniature bride and groom.

Miss Judy Spivey and Miss Georgia Jackson will alternate at the guest register, and other members of the house party will be Mr. and Mrs. Earl Newell, Mr. and Mrs. John Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Welby Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Simpson.

Bryant is employed by Hester's Sheet Metal and his wife is a licensed vocational nurse. They are long-time members of the First Baptist Church where he is a deacon and she serves as a Sunday school teacher. Except for a brief time spent in Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Bryant have resided in Big Spring since their marriage.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Folks:

Now that outdoor living-time is here, many of our readers will find themselves in the same fix with "L. Sherman." Her beautiful vinyl flannel-backed tablecloth was covered with tomato-based stains, and she asked us how to remove them.

The best way to remove stains, according to your letters, is to wash the cloth in warm or cool water in the washing machine with your favorite soap and bleach. Then dry it in the sun.

But people like to experiment and we received many other ideas. For instance:

Jane Wortman makes a paste of laundry soap and bleach and rubs this mixture on the spot. She lets it sit for five or ten minutes and rinses with clean water.

Bobby DiFranco tosses her cloth in the washing machine with her Turkish towels and dries it in the sun. She irons the cloth with her steam iron on the felt side and has the iron set for cotton.

Mrs. Dahl said, "... SUNSHINE, just hang the cloth on the line for a few hours in the sun. Even if you do not have a backyard, just put the cloth with the stain spot in the sunlight."

And, as Grace Patton so aptly commented, "Old Mother Nature with her dew, air and sunshine, works a miraculous cure on removing stains."

Dishwasher detergents, shampoos, toothpaste and abrasive soaps have been recommended. One housewife waxes her cloth before it is used, and then just wipes the stains off.

Our old stand-bys: nylon net scrubbers, vinegar, baking soda and oil (not olive) have also been used.

So, folks, take your choice; if one fails, try another.

And if the stains are so deeply embedded that they can not be removed, here are some ideas to save the cloth.

Pretty "stickum" flowers placed strategically around the cloth will hide the stains. Or, if you are talented and can mix your own paints, you might be able to convert your cloth to a striped or checked one.

As one gal said (with tongue in cheek), "Why not just rub more catsup on the cloth and make it a pale pink color instead of white!" ... Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For a delightful summer repast, serve frozen grapes. They are refreshing and better than ice cream. ... An Avid Reader

Dear Heloise:

Office workers and artists, please note:

If your erasers (not art gum) become very soiled and are getting hard, throw them into your washing machine and wash in plenty of suds.

Farm Bureau Holds Secretaries' Seminar

LAMESA — LaJuana Faulkenberry of Lamesa, office secretary for the Dawson County Farm Bureau, attended an area "discussion meeting" June 30-July 1 at the Parkway Holiday Inn in Lubbock.

The workshop was on a "field" across the state by the Texas Farm Bureau. Purpose was to provide county secretaries and state Farm Bureau office personnel an opportunity to discuss ways and means of improving office procedures at both levels.

In addition, the secretaries heard lectures and viewed a film on the history and purpose of the bureau.

Concluding speaker on the program was Texas Farm Bureau (TFB) Executive Director O. R. Long, who reviewed the over-all organization structure and outlined "opportunities for office secretaries."

Mrs. Creola Wobbe of Waco, TFB assistant secretary, discussed office procedures and processing of membership transmittals. J. D. Jordan of Mason, TFB field services department, discussed finances, board agendas and reports, and screening mail.

FHA Delegates Leave For National Meeting

Texas will be represented by 110 delegates and 28 adult advisors when the Future Homemakers of America hold their annual meeting at the Muehleback Hotel in Kansas City, Mo., Monday through Thursday. Mrs. Betty Romans, state advisor, will head the delegation which leaves today for Kansas City.

Representing Big Spring will be Vicki Annen, state recording secretary; Susan Smith, Area II president; and Mrs. Jack Alexander, adult advisor. Miss Annen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Annen, 6 Coachman Circle, and Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smith, 2701 Rebecca. The Texas delegation will be the largest in attendance. Twelve hundred youth delegates, representing a national membership of over a half million from all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, will be accompanied by some 400 home economics educators who serve as their state and chapter advisors.

The meeting will focus on the objective to encourage individuals to discover the satisfaction gained through personal involvement, carrying out the theme, "Accent on Action: Discovery, Involvement, Growth."

PRESIDING

Presiding at the opening session Monday evening will be FHA national president, Ruth Ann Hockenbroch, a high school senior from Richfield, Pa. During the four-day meeting, FHA officers and delegates will give presentations and conduct "digging sessions" stressing individual growth.

Each state delegation has a particular assignment to carry out. The Texas delegation will be in charge of election of national officers for the Southern Region. Members will present a "relaxer" at one of the sessions, serve as leader and recorder for small group sessions, and participate in national chorus and national pianist activities. Lynn Emerson, Midlothian, is serving this year as national reporter.

Ron Carroll, director of advertising and public relations, John Roberts, Inc., Norman, Okla., will set the tone for the meeting in his keynote address, "Discovering Yourself."

Speakers, panels, discussion groups, and audience participation sessions during the four days will deal with such topics as "The Positive Approach to Discovery," "Meaningful Involvement," and "Fulfilling Personal Potential."

NEW OFFICERS

Major piece of business to come before the assembly is the election of twelve national officers to serve during the 1971-72 year. Election results will be announced at the close of the Wednesday morning session.

Delegates will have time for a visit to the Truman Library at Independence, Mo., and an evening at Kansas City's Starlight Theatre.

Future Homemakers of America is a national organization of home economics students in the secondary schools. A self-supporting, non-profit organization, it is sponsored by the Division of Vocational and Technical Education, U.S. Office of Education and the American Home Economics Association.

National Headquarters are located in Washington, D.C.

AT HCJC Antique Show Slated Here

An antique show and sale, which sponsors say will be an annual event, is slated Friday and Saturday in the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College. Exhibitors from several states will be displaying antiques and collectables during both days. The Friday hours will be from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and on Saturday, the show will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Rebekah Lodge 284 is sponsoring the event, with Sig Rogers serving as show manager. Mrs. Earl Wilson and Mrs. A. F. Hill, ticket chairmen, have announced that advance tickets will sell for 75 cents, but will be $1 if purchased at the door. Children will be admitted free. The tickets are available from any lodge member.

The display area is air-conditioned, and college students will operate a snack and drink concession for the convenience of viewers.

According to Rogers, about 25 exhibitors are expected to participate in the show, most coming from the larger cities in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

"We ask that dealers bring no reproductions," said Rogers.

"Most antiques will be here in some shape or form, with the range including fine cut glass, furniture, silver, china, jewelry, lamps, vases and some real museum pieces."

Self-Service Gasoline Stations Question Is Back

An attorney ruling concerning the establishment of self-service gasoline stations in Big Spring will be presented in the regular session of the city commission Tuesday at 5:15 p.m. in city hall.

The commission failed to take any action on the issue in the last commission meeting and tabled the question, directing the city attorney to make a further study into the matter.

A sewer ordinance will be up for passage on an emergency reading in the regular meeting. The ordinance is in connection with a Texas Water Quality Board directive to the city of Big Spring setting July 15 as a deadline for sewage improvement in the city.

Also Maxine Shaffer, city finance secretary, will be temporarily appointed as finance officer for the purpose of authorizing her to sign city checks. The appointment will be effective July 16 at which time Charles Smith, current city finance officer and city secretary, will be leaving his duties with the city.

Another appointment will be made in the meeting. Lucie Roberson, who has been inspection department secretary, will be appointed to the position of assistant city secretary.

Other items on the lengthy agenda are:

—Appointment of a committee from the city commission for the purpose of studying the city's insurance coverage.

—Two requests for certificates of occupancy being made by Martha W. Tate and Arthur F. Hernandez.

—An appeal of a Planning and Zoning Commission decision to the city commission being made by Dewey Sigmon.

—Request for an easement on a portion of public property by the Texas Electric Service Company.

—Request for authorization to purchase 12 refuse containers.

—A request by Stanley Bogard, assistant chief of police for a disposition of old police uniforms.

—Request for an easement on city property for the purpose of constructing a pipe line being made by Gulf Refining Company.

—Vouchers paid by the city through July 13 will be up for approval.

—A seal coat program on precoated rock for city streets report to be presented.

—The resignation of Earl Dean, tax evaluator for the city, school district, and county.

—Two ordinances, one to be read on emergency reading concern- ing motorcycles and other zone change procedures.

Patriotism Draws Note From Nixon

GARDEN CITY — A simple statement of love and respect for the American flag has earned Mark Frysak, 13, the admiration of not only his neighbors, teachers and classmates, but of President Richard M. Nixon as well.

"Hello, up there, you beautiful thing," was Mark's personal greeting to the flag during a recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance in ceremonies at Garden City Junior High School. Mrs. Phillip Drisko, Mark's seventh grade teacher, was moved to write President Nixon of Mark's affection for the flag.

President Nixon responded by sending Mrs. Drisko and the seventh grade class a picture of himself with a personal greeting written on the bottom. The class donated the picture to the school, and the President's calling card which he also sent was framed and given to Mark.

Mark's heartfelt words were the inspiration for a patriotic symphony written by Mrs. Drisko. The symphony will be performed Tuesday, July 27, in Wadley-Barron Park, Midland, by the Tall City Boy's Choir. Mark and Mrs. Drisko will be honored guests at the event.

Patriotism would appear to come naturally to the Frysak children. Mark's older brother Kevin won a trip to Washington, D.C., last year from the Rural Electrification Association for his essay "What My Community Means To Me." The boys are the sons of August Frysak, a St. Lawrence Community farmer.

Since his feeling for the flag has become known, Mark has received letters of congratulations from across the country.

"Mark is especially proud of the letter and personally addressed photograph that he received from singer Johnny Cash," said Mrs. Drisko.

Mrs. Drisko expressed pride in Mark and the rest of the members of her seventh grade class. She said that they are hard working and most come from farm families and patriotism comes easily.

"If they aren't in school, they are in the fields working. Maybe that's why they have such a strong feeling for God, the soil and patriotism," she explained.

Okie Farmers Harvesting Hay From Highways

DURANT, Okla. (AP) — Some enterprising Oklahoma farmers are reaping a nice profit by harvesting hay from state highway right of way.

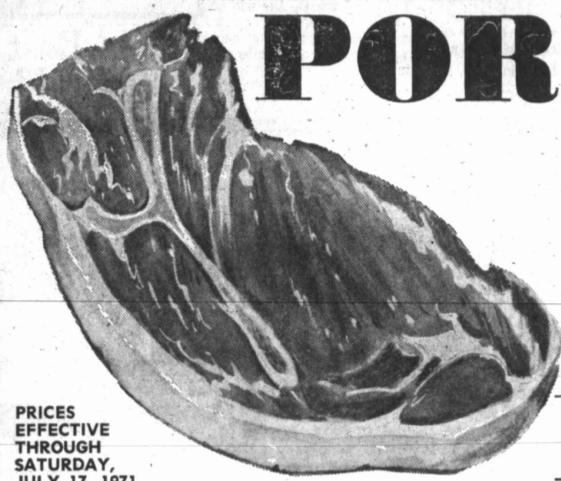

J. W. Seaborn of Mead says it took only four days to harvest 5,300 bales along U.S. 69-755 between Caddo and the Red River in Bryan County.

Seaborn figures it will sell for about 50 cents a bale as Bermuda hay "with a sprinkling of wild flowers."

Seaborn says at least two other farmers are harvesting along the highways in the area, and Highway Department spokesmen say the practice is followed elsewhere in the state.

Fred Norton, assistant construction engineer for the department, says the practice is discouraged and that no one gets permission to harvest the grass along the highways. But another spokesman says there isn't much enforcement of the policy of discouraging it.

"If they do it, we don't go out and have them arrested or make them quit," the spokesman said.

He could be a star, a scientist, president of a large corporation, a symphony conductor or even a politician. But in order to get in the game he needs an education. The best you can provide. # Lamesa Rotarians Welcome Visiting Swedish Student

LAMESA — Ake (pronounced Okie) Hulenvik, Rotary International's latest ambassador to Lamesa in the organization's popular Experiment in International Living, arrived in Lamesa recently and is currently making his home with the R. B. Snells.

The Swedish born young man who classifies himself as a student will be in Lamesa for the next five weeks and will implant himself into the family life of several Rotary families.

Hulenvik already is making himself known around the city, having paid a speaking visit to the local Kiwanis Club noon luncheon. The speaking engagement inspired several questions about his country's political and economic system.

Having a wide range of interests in history, political science, sociology and statistics, the European says, psychology is his primary course of study. He holds a BA degree from the University of Lund in Sweden.

Making his home in Lund, the 25-year-old bachelor has traveled extensively in much of Europe. He speaks English, German and French, as well as his native tongue.

His personal interests include swimming, volleyball, soccer, tennis, badminton, music, singing, photography, fishing, politics and social development.

While in Lamesa, Ake will be available for personal appearances and programs for such organizations as civic clubs and churches.

Stanton Reservoir Described As 'Half-Million Dollar Flop'

By BRIAN PEAY
STANTON — A reservoir built in Stanton under the city's Urban Renewal program initiated in 1958 is now sporting a large volume of water and back in the news.

It was part of the controversial renewal program which included two major housing projects, water and sewer extensions, street paving and parks.

After the 20-ft. hole was excavated to a 600x600-ft. base at the site of a playa lake which sometimes filled to overflow U.S. 80 highway which parallels the T&P tracks, there were some who considered it a half million dollar flop.

'FUNNY DEAL'
"The whole project was a funny deal to start with," said Mayor J. C. Epley. "Several people got rich digging the hole on a high bid, while most of the lower bids were passed up."

Stanton's initial urban renewal program was projected at a cost of $643,901 and the city was required to add $132,708, which was mostly in such things as paving streets, destruction of sub-standard housing, and providing city employees on the project.

A major component of the program was the floor-control reservoir, which called for re-routing of water lines that were in the old lake bed south of the T&P tracks, plus extension of water and sewer lines to parts of the south side of town, including a new housing unit.

Bids on the first phase of the Urban Renewal program exceeded estimates by about $50,000, according to former mayor S. W. Wheeler. Later, a contract was awarded in May, 1967, to H. G. Counts of Midland for $450,000 to excavate the lake basin.

The prime function of the basin was to trap flood waters so that the contents could be

No Smoking Pays

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — In a tractor factory in this Irish capital, every habitual smoker who doesn't smoke during work hours get a $24 bonus for the summer holidays.

"This scheme will mean that our employees will be in better health and their wages will go further," said Manager W. M. Henderson.

"Working conditions will be more pleasant without cigarette smoke and ashes."

disposed of in dry seasons. One plan considered was to lay a pipeline over the hump at the east end of town and gravity flow the water out, but line expense was considered too costly.

Instead, four injection wells were drilled and a filtration purification system developed to keep the injection wells from plugging. This was to serve a dual purpose — dispose of the water and recharge underground aquifers.

DIDN'T WORK
But theory didn't always match up with practice. For one thing, the reservoir seldom had any water. For another, during one of the few times that there was appreciable water in it, the well pumps burned out and were never replaced, said Mayor Epley.

A secondary aim was to convert the basin and areas around the reservoir into a recreational center. There was to be a ball park and a playground. Even the base of the basin was to be utilized in this manner.

Originally the Department of Interior directed the U.S. Geological Survey to handle research and artificial recharge experiments. The USGS abandoned the project, and nothing more was done at the reservoir until the City of Stanton leased the facilities to the Texas Water

THE ARTS

Odessa Youngsters Slate Rock Opera

The rock opera "Jesus Christ, Superstar" may be presented in the Ector County Coliseum Aug. 5 provided negotiations with a professional acting company from Houston to stage the show can be worked out.

The show will be sponsored by the Summer Happening '71 group, whose board of directors unanimously approved a proposal to begin negotiations at a meeting last week.

Ron Pokorny, director of Summer Happening, said the Houston company performs only excerpts and adaptations from the original Jesus Christ Superstar to avoid legal complications similar to those encountered by a company in Dallas which is faced with lawsuits concerning music rights.

Pokorny said members of the Odessa Youth Group had originally planned to stage the production themselves until it was learned that their costs for music rights could run as high as $10,000.

Dry and dusty West Texas may be an unusual spot to celebrate a water festival, but Fort Stockton is doing just that with a Water Carnival July 15-17.

The cool and refreshing Water Carnival theme revolves around outer space.

Audiences will enjoy visiting many solar system planets.

TWQB LEASE

A three-year lease was given to the TWQB at no charge, and periodically, over the past year and a half, the board has conducted research studies in conjunction with the basin.

On May 28, the lake suddenly caught almost full of water. And this was not without its problems, too, for now another argument has been voiced, mostly by older people, against the "hole."

"The people are concerned about the water being a hazard to youth in the city," observed Mayor Epley. "Some of the kids are now running boats on the lake and doing water skiing there." He said several complainants had been lodged with the sheriff.

DROWNING?
Recently there was a report that a boy was missing and feared drowned. Law enforcement officers searched the waters, but in the meantime the lad was found at home, where he had walked while the search was going on.

"The lake might be a good investment, but it would be too expensive to use the water in it for irrigation purposes," said the mayor. "Also, there is no possibility for using the water for city purposes because the city has contracted to take water from the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

"The water would be of use and would help wells south of town if there were some way to get it into the ground," he added, motioning to the lake, "but like it is, it's just there."

There is a good reason for this caution. Today's medicines can be very specific for a particular illness and could even be harmful if they were taken for something else. ## Treaty That Could Work

The two-day, 7,650-mile hijacking of an airliner by Robert L. Jackson and his woman accomplice points once again to the pressing need for an ironclad international treaty on immediate extradition of all aerial pirates.

Jackson seized the plane over San Antonio and forced it to fly to Mexico, where he allowed the passengers to leave, and then on to Peru, Brazil and Argentina, where he finally gave up. Argentina refused to make any deals with him and kept the plane from taking off to Algeria.

All nations with international air service should be eager to sign an agreement providing for rapid extradition of any hijacker to the country where the crime occurred. The agreement should include refusal to refuel any hijacked plane.

Failure to observe the treaty should result in a total halt of air service to and from the country where the hijacker lands. The service would be halted until the fugitive is returned.

Such a treaty could help immensely in detering airliner hijackers. Knowledge that he would eventually be returned for trial and punishment should give any hijacker second thoughts.

In the beginning, aerial piracy primarily was an American phenomenon, with most planes going to Cuba. Now it is widespread, with hijackings in Russia, Europe and the Middle East.

Aerial piracy endangers passengers, crew and airplanes. The nations must act together to stop the dangerous lunacy.

Good Response

The Texas Highway Department, which habitually has earned good marks in its response to local needs (which is precisely where roads and people come in contact with each other) has done so again.

It faces a difficult maintenance problem on FM 700 in the deep cut under the Gregg Street overpass, because trash from nearby shopping centers and drive-ins gets blown in that direction and drops like the rain into the cut. It gets unsightly, despite the best efforts of highway crews.

So last week, they did the next best thing; they redoubled their efforts. We wish shoppers and drive-in patrons could be half as thoughtful about their trash.

On another part of this same road, crews also put up a heavy-duty safety rail around the bend at the Wasson Road and FM 700 interchange, and this should provide an extra measure of safety for nearby apartment dwellers. This just might pay great dividends some day.

Clean-Up Campaign

Around 'The Rim

Bob Whipkey

It was the regular monthly meeting of the Insect Chamber of Commerce. The Big Bug was speaking:

"It is true, gentlemen, that we are making headway toward controlling the world. The analysts report that eventual rule rests between us and Humans. The Humans gradually are retreating before us, but as an organization, we ought to be doing more."

"YOU'RE RIGHT, B. B.," members answered. "What we need to do is establish a coordinated program."

"That's what I wanted to bring up," said Big Bug. "You know the Humans form committees, give them special assignments, and offer prizes and plaques to the committee doing the best job. As an example, they have Clean-Up Committees, which implore fellow Humans to beautify their property, grow more flowers, shrubs and what-not. The more of these things they grow, the more we are challenged to respond."

"I AM proposing here today that we establish our own Clean-Up Committees, each to work under its own methods. I believe that within a month, if you insects will join together and really get down to work, we can have every yard in the city completely cleaned out."

"You bet, B. B.," several of them shouted. "Just turn us loose."

"YOUR CHAMBER will do just that," said Big Bug, "but in order to give you real motivation, there will be a grand prize for the committee doing the best and quickest job. This prize is" — and Big Bug paused for the dramatic moment — "a full pint of dihexyltriphluorocyclohexane. This is the newest concoction developed by Humans in the naive thought that it will protect their lawns. I guarantee that you will find it the rarest delicacy you will ever have access to."

The insects cheered madly. "Just what we've been looking for. Let's go!"

"ALL RIGHT," said Big Bug. "Committees will be set up by special characteristic. We will have one on chinchbugs, one on sod webworms, Bermuda mites, ants, ticks, earwigs, lawn billbugs, millipedes, scale crawlers, aphids, mites, bagworms, codling moths, cutworms, root maggots, mole crickets, and so on; perhaps a committee for chiggers

"Hold it, B. B.," one shouted. "Chiggers are supposed to eat Humans, not lawns."

"YOU'RE RIGHT. No chigger committee. But the rest of you can get going. And remember the big prize!"

The meeting broke up. The chinchbug chairman called his committee members over in a corner and whispered excitedly:

"I know just where we can get the jump on the rest of these guys. There's a yard at 711 Dallas Street, watched helplessly by a fellow named Whipkey. He's already reeling in despair over his lawn. We can move in there today, have the place completely cleaned in two days. Man, I can taste that dihexyl... that good stuff — right now. Yippee! Who says insects can't win?"

We've Lost Face

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Few Americans realize the extent to which the anti-war critics and demonstrators inside and outside of Congress have weakened this country's position in the eyes of the world. The "Pentagon Study" has given some impressions here and abroad that American Presidents deceive the people and do not conscientiously perform their duties.

DENUNCIATORY SPEECHES are being made by Premier Chou en-Lai of Red China, who not only accuses the United States of aggression but shows hostility against their own government. In a speech a few days ago in Peking he declared:

"I do believe that one day the American people will rise up and restrict the policies of the American President and overthrow him. Manifestations and demonstrations of the American masses in the past two years have been unprecedented, from east coast to west and from south to north."

In Great Britain and other countries friendly to the United States, there is a better understanding of the whole Vietnam war problem. The London Daily Telegraph in an editorial said:

"ONE OF THE dirtiest tricks of war is to maltreat enemy prisoners and then to offer to release them in return for decisive concessions on the field of battle. Such is the appalling extent of America's demoralization over Vietnam that the American Senate itself a week ago passed a resolution for the complete abandonment of South Vietnam on these terms. Fortunately President Nixon resisted, and the House of Representatives supported him. Since then, however, American morale and the government's prestige have been dragged down even further by the rake's progress in the Vietnam secrets affair. North Vietnam has not been slow in moving in for what it hopes will be the psychological warfare kill."

PRESIDENT NIXON is naturally anxious to make peace in Vietnam, but he is not going to be tricked into doing so merely through the offer by North Vietnam to release American prisoners.

The belief is growing that the North Vietnamese see a chance to end the hostilities on their own terms and cut the huge costs that the fighting has brought each year, thus necessitating less aid from Red China and the Soviet Union.

PRESIDENT NIXON is trying to assure the South Vietnamese that, when American forces withdraw, the fighting will really end. He would like to be certain that the North Vietnamese will not resume the war as soon as the American armies have left South Vietnam.

THE PROBLEM of a "residual force" of perhaps 25,000 men is one that may delay the conclusion of a peace agreement. But the United States doesn't want to leave behind all its equipment and also is anxious to protect the South Vietnamese against a renewal of the war. Defense measures could be provided for by the use of air power. There is a feeling here that the South Vietnamese have a large enough army to guard their country as long as they have the munitions and weapons. The United States certainly will continue to make these available, particularly if, after the prisoners have been released, North Vietnam continues the war.

My Answer

Aren't evangelicals trying to exclude everyone who doesn't accept their theory of salvation by faith? Isn't it a trick of many religions to condemn anyone who doesn't accept their concept of God?

W.D. The word "evangelical" means one who believes in the "evangel," and evangel means good news. The Gospel is not negative but positive. True, it accepts the fact that men need saving — but its essence is to tell men they may be saved. But remember, Bible-believing people did not invent this "trick," as you call it, that men are lost who do not believe in Christ.

Jesus himself said, "The Son of man is come to seek and save that which is lost." Either He is who He claimed to be, or His words deserve not the slightest consideration. If He was just an Eastern mystic with a messianic complex the New Testament and Christianity are the greatest hoax ever perpetrated upon mankind. But, if He is who He claimed to be: the expression of God's love and concern for a lost world, the greatest mistake in life would be to ignore the fact that He lived, died, and came forth from the grave.

I have no "theory" of my own. I have staked my life that the Bible is true, and that Christ is, indeed, all He claimed to be. I have seen too many lives changed through faith in Him to do otherwise.

A Devotion For Today . . .

These words which I command you this day shall be upon your heart; and you shall teach them diligently to your children, and shall talk of them when you sit in your house, and when you walk by the way, and when you lie down, and when you rise. (Deuteronomy 6:6-7, RSV)

PRAYER: Spirit of God, take the acid of selfishness out of our relations with family and friends. Replace it with the joy and poise of Your presence that we may with patience listen to one another. Amen. (From the "Upper Room")

Change Of Habits

Art Buchwald

LONDON — "To be or not to be," that is the question bugging every Englishman these days in regard to the Common Market. After finally getting the six members of the Common Market to admit her, Britain does not seem to be very sure that she wants to be a member of the club. In fact, the more Britishers you talk to, the more reasons you hear as to why England should stay out.

THERE ARE, of course, the usual fears about joining anything that has to do with the Continent, such as "If Britain becomes a member of the Common Market, her children will have to put wine on their cornflakes as they do in France" and "Everyone will be forced to wear pointed wooden shoes as they do in Holland" and "We'll have to give up our tea break to compete with the Germans."

But there are deeper and more significant reasons why the British, now that they've been admitted, want no part of the market.

THERE IS a definite fear here that if England joins the Big Six, she will be forced to drive her cars on the other side of the street. It isn't just a question of changing the steering wheels to the other side — though this is no small problem — but also that the population could be severely decimated by automobile accidents during the changeover period.

The feeling here is that if Britain becomes part of the market her six partners should be the ones to change the side of the road they drive on rather than England.

"SINCE WE GAVE in on cheese quotas, they should give in on driving," a hotel doorman told me. If this wasn't enough to worry about, there are also fears here that if England is forced into full partnership with the Continent she will pick up many of the filthy habits of the French, such as having love in the afternoon with someone who is not your wife.

"WHAT HAS MADE us great," a British friend told me, "is that while Frenchmen spend their lunches and afternoons in bed with their mistresses, we work in our factories and on our farms and in our offices, for God and country. We'd be fools to become part of a system that puts sex before the gross national product."

An English lady friend said she wasn't as afraid of the French as she was of the Italians. "If we join the Common Market, we shall have to develop bosoms to compete with Sophia Loren and Gina Lollobrigida. No British female can hope to match an Italian woman's bust once the tariffs are abolished."

THE CONSENSUS here is that becoming a member of the Common Market can only mean trouble for Britain. The cafe will replace the pub, beer will be served cold and the Pope is sure to come over and throw out the first ball at Wimbledon.

As long as the Big Six rejected Britain's application, the English were clamoring to get in and furious at being blackballed. But now that England can join, everyone assures everyone they never wanted anything to do with the Common Market in the first place.

Advisors Abandon '71 Economic Goals

By LINDA RUBEY

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon's top economist this week said it would be "irresponsible" for the administration to try to reach its original economic growth goal for 1971.

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors told a Congressional Joint Economic Committee the situation had now changed enough to make it "irresponsible" to try to push the economy hard enough to achieve in the second half of the year what would be needed to reach the administration's stated goal of a gross national product of $1,065 billion.

This goal for the GNP or total government and services has been widely criticized by economists as unrealistic. McCracken said "there is danger" that if the NGP were "to rise or be pushed up to reach the targets previously put forward, it would revive inflation or at least seriously delay its abatement."

INFLATION PERSISTS McCracken noted that "inflation has continued higher and the rise of real output and employment have risen less than we expected" and that the GNP has "probably been running below the path."

This position was a reversal of the council's earlier stance on the administration's GNP goal. McCracken went further to tell Congress he was against any congressional action to spur the economy to previously outlined heights by tax cuts or larger budget appropriations.

McCracken also told Congress that the federal budget for the fiscal year which has just begun was already $7 billion more stimulative for the economy, in more spending and less revenues, than was planned in January.

He rejected any effort at a broad incomes police such as a wage review board, aimed at voluntary control of private wage and price decisions. Such an approach has a great deal of congressional support and has been advocated by Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board.

McCracken contended the government has the economy on a path "where we have a real change of reasonable progress against both unemployment and inflation."

The Week's Business

- Paul McCracken says not wise to try for goals set for 1971
- Admits inflation persistent, GNP rising less than projected
- But tax cuts, more spending not advised in view of debt
- Hole in dike against higher prime rates losing a flood
- However, wholesale prices moderate, forecast some stability
- President takes soft stance in conference over steel contract

The Labor Department reported this week that the rise in wholesale prices leveled off last month, giving the administration some moderate good news in its battle against inflation. It said the wholesale price index advanced by 4 per cent in June, the same increase as in May.

The wholesale price index tends to foreshadow future movements in consumer prices and this month helped substantiate the administration's claim that the rate of inflation is abating.

The prime lending rate was boosted another notch as the nation's bank raised their rate from 5 1/2 per cent to 6 per cent. The move began last month when a handful of banks announced increases in their prime rates. The reluctance that banks had shown for more than a month to raise their prime rate disappeared rapidly once Manufacturers Hanover Trust, the nation's fourth largest bank in terms of assets, upped its rate to 6 per cent.

Bank of America, the nation's largest, said the move was "inevitable in light of increasing loan demand and upward forces in the money markets."

Bankers had been saying for weeks that a boost was necessary because the sharply rising rates in the money market increased the banks' own cost of funds. But observers noted they were hesitant to act because of fear of political repercussions.

Chemical Bank in New York, the sixth largest in the country, said it had no plans now to increase the rate on loans to consumers.

RAISE INTEREST Bank of America did couple its increase in the prime rate with hikes in the rate paid on savings accounts and the rates charged on home mortgages. The bank increased to 4 1/2 per cent from 4 per cent the interest rate it pays on regular passbook savings and lifted to 7 1/2 per cent from 7 1/4 per cent the rate it charges on home loans.

Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking Committee was critical of the latest boost in the prime rate and called upon President Nixon to use his standby credit-control authority to roll back the rate increases. "Unless the Nixon administration halts this prime rate increase, the country will slide further into a recession, with higher unemployment and more business failures," the Texas Democrat stressed.

George Meany, president of the A.F.L.-C.I.P., also criticized the move. Meany exhorted the President to use his authority to roll back the increase, "establish rate ceilings and allocate available credit at low interest rates to where it will do the most good for America."

If the President failed to act, then Congress should, Meany added.

SOFT STANCE In another development this week President Nixon in his first major step into labor relations outside the rail industry took what observers called a surprisingly soft stance with steel industry bargainers.

In a talk with the top officers of the United Steelworkers of America and of the nation's major steelmakers, Nixon asked them only to arrive at a "constructive settlement" that considers the competitive problems of the American steel industry.

Nixon avoided laying down any specific guidelines for the upcoming steel-labor settlement. Contracts covering more than 350,000 workers in the basic steel industry expire Aug. 1.

Ecology Challenge

Marquis Childs

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass. — Summer has come to this beautiful island, and once again Martha's Vineyard is being inundated. People, cars, people, hippies, hitchhikers — the human tide is approaching the flood and old timers are wondering how much of the green and once-peaceful past can be saved.

SHORTLY, the expectation is, a report on the island's future by a conservation commission will come out. According to advance reports, it will set a time span of five years for reversing present trends and checking the slide toward impossible overcrowding, pollution of air and water — all the ills damaging so much of America.

The recommendations in the report will mean facing up to the fact that the solution is not more car ferries from the mainland, more subdivisions, more hotels, more highways, more gas stations. It will mean the end of boosterism, the recognition that limits must be imposed and that what is ironically called progress can be wholly destructive.

THIS IS the dilemma of the ecology movement not only at a few surviving outposts but everywhere. Basic attitudes must be changed, with a recognition that without limits imposed in some form the bounty of the America of an earlier day will run down to zero.

Martha's Vineyard happens to have a lot of that bounty still intact — placid ponds, green forests, long stretches of unspoiled beach.

BUT AN OLD timer who has seen so much change in his 51 years on the island is not too sanguine about the future. Henry Beette Hough, editor of the Vineyard Gazette, a long-time fighter for conservation, author of many books celebrating the natural beauty of the island, says while he is still hopeful his hope is tempered with skepticism. There are pressures to tone down the conclusions of the report before it is released. How could anyone be so shortsighted as to oppose progress? Look at the island's prosperity. Look at the way land values have gone up and up and up.

MARTHA'S VINEYARD is only one small sample of what is happening along the whole Atlantic coastline. Not so much for private use as for private exploitation a large proportion of the shore has been shut off to the public. What was once a great public domain embracing a coastline as beautiful as any in the world is fenced off. Something very like this is happening on the Pacific Coast.

AS IS STILL little understood, the ecology movement so lately come to birth hits head-on with the profit motive. The intervenor must be the Federal government. And the intervenor has to be on a scale far larger than yet contemplated if the effort that churns up so much political rhetoric is to be more than a brief palliative.

Meeker Massacre

MEEKER, Colo. (AP) — Enraged when federal agents plowed an irrigation canal across a pony race track in 1879, Indians went on the warpath and killed 11 men and took women and children hostages.

The massacre followed attempts by Natha C. Meeker, an Indian agent, to make farmers out of the wandering tribes.

"Wow!" "I left my stomach back on that last hill!" "What a ride!" Excitement on wheels. That's a roller coaster — up and down, up and down.

Just like a roller coaster, all of us realize that our very life is a series of hills and valleys. We are enjoying a smooth and peaceful existence, when suddenly we find ourselves far from the peaceful valley on what seems like a mountain of confusion and distress.

At such crucial times we need to remember there is a nearby fortress of stability. It is that place of power that stands ever ready to provide the necessary faith and courage to face tomorrow with enthusiasm. Discover the inner peace that comes from divine love. Worship in church this Sunday.

'People Talk'

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There is a young married woman (she is also a mother) who I feel is damaging the reputation of a fine young bachelor minister in our community.

This woman goes to his house daily to do his house cleaning, and she stays most of the afternoon to do the bookkeeping for the parish. I know this minister is above doing anything wrong, but you know how people talk.

This woman's staying around to work on the books makes it difficult for anyone else to come and talk with the minister when they need his help. How can she be told she should do the book work at her own home? It would be better for the pastor's reputation, and it would at least give some others a chance.

A FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: I doubt that anyone who needs the minister's help would be discouraged from seeking it because the bookkeeper was under the same roof. Are you honestly concerned about the minister's reputation? Or is it "the others" who aren't getting a chance?

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of parents who allow their children to ask guests for money? While visiting recently, my host's 3-year-old toddled out with a round, firm, fully-packed wife? (I never was very big up there, but now I don't have a thing.)

open purse and said, "OK, then give me a dime or a quarter." Chicken-hearted, I gave her some change while her parents smiled indulgently, and the mother said, "Isn't that cute? She always does that when we have company."

DEAR ABBY: I like youngsters but I disapprove of their begging. Or am I just an old fogy?

DEAR ABBY: I've been having a real battle with myself. I've been married for 10 years, have had two babies and I have completely lost my figure. My bosom is so flat and saggy I just hate to look at myself in the mirror.

DEAR ABBY: Don't you think it is extremely rude to ask a 40-year-old bachelor why he has never married?

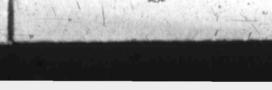

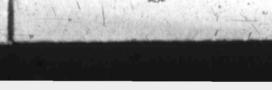

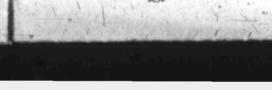

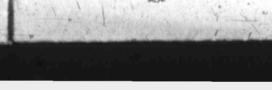

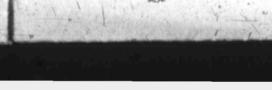

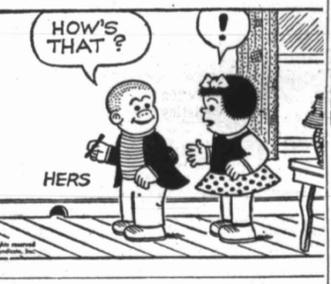

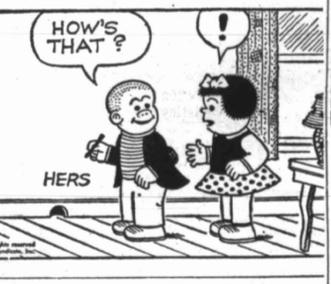

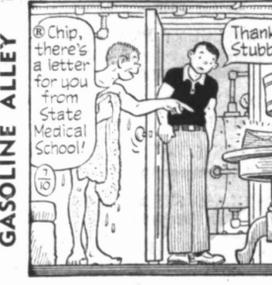

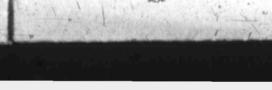

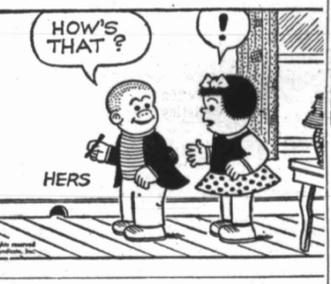

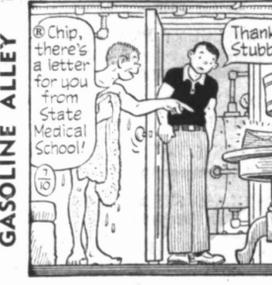

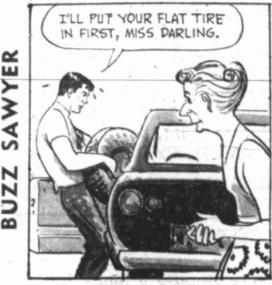

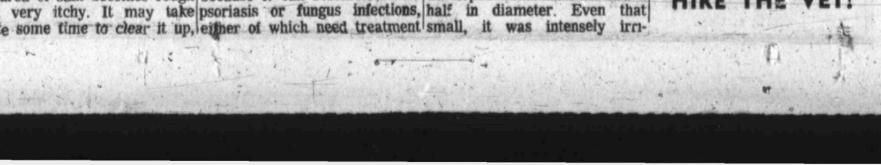

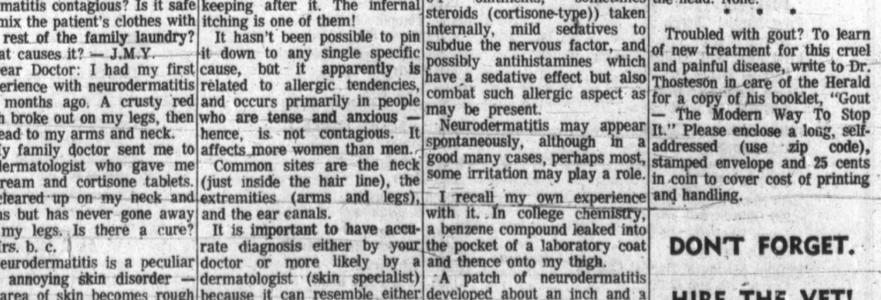

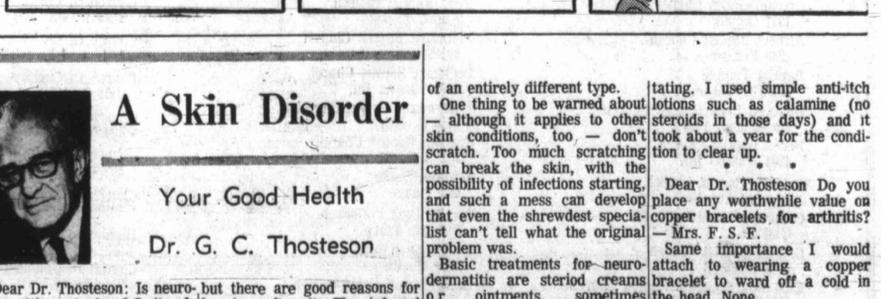

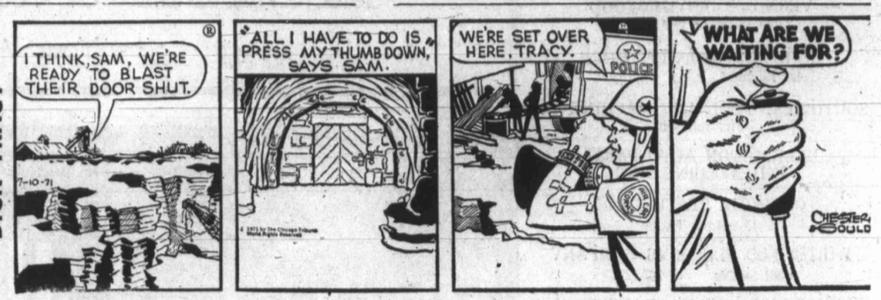

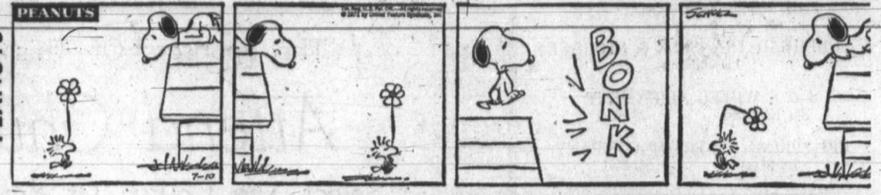

DEAR ABBY: Yes, especially if you think you know.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

I know a good plastic surgeon who does silicone implants and I would like to have it done. Should I surprise my husband and have the operation when he is out of town on one of his business trips? (He's gone for five days every six weeks.) I have my own money.

FLAT AND TEMPTED
DEAR FLAT: Don't "surprise" your husband. Better yet, take him to the surgeon so he will know exactly what is involved. Many surgeons refuse to perform that type of surgery without the knowledge and consent of the patient's husband.

FRISCO
DEAR FRISCO: Yes, especially if you think you know.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is neurodermatitis contagious? Is it safe to mix the patient's clothes with the rest of the family laundry? What causes it? — J.M.Y.

Dear Doctor: I had my first experience with neurodermatitis six months ago. A crusty red rash broke out on my legs, then spread to my arms and neck.

My family doctor sent me to a dermatologist who gave me a cream and cortisone tablets. It cleared up on my neck and arms but has never gone away on my legs. Is there a cure? — Mrs. b. c.

Neurodermatitis is a peculiar and annoying skin disorder — an area of skin becomes rough and very itchy. It may take quite some time to clear it up, but there are good reasons for keeping after it. The infernal itching is one of them!

It hasn't been possible to pin it down to any single specific cause, but it apparently is related to allergic tendencies, and occurs primarily in people who are tense and anxious — hence, is not contagious. It affects more women than men.

Common sites are the neck (just inside the hair line), the extremities (arms and legs), and the ear canals.

It is important to have accurate diagnosis either by your doctor or more likely by a dermatologist (skin specialist) because it can resemble either psoriasis or fungus infections, either of which need treatment of an entirely different type.

One thing to be warned about — although it applies to other skin conditions, too — don't scratch. Too much scratching can break the skin, with the possibility of infections starting, and such a mess can develop that even the shrewdest specialist can't tell what the original problem was.

Basic treatments for neurodermatitis are steroid creams or ointments, sometimes steroids (cortisone-type) taken internally, mild sedatives to subdue the nervous factor, and possibly antihistamines which have a sedative effect but also combat such allergic aspect as may be present.

Neurodermatitis may appear spontaneously, although in a good many cases, perhaps most, some irritation may play a role.

I recall my own experience with it. In college chemistry, a benzene compound leaked into the pocket of a laboratory coat and thence onto my thigh.

A patch of neurodermatitis developed about an inch and a half in diameter. Even that small, it was intensely irritating. I used simple anti-itch lotions such as calamine (no steroids in those days) and it took about a year for the condition to clear up.

Dear Dr. Thosteson Do you place any worthwhile value on copper bracelets for arthritis? — Mrs. F. S. F.

Same importance I would attach to wearing a copper bracelet to ward off a cold in the head. None.

Troubled with gout? To learn of new treatment for this cruel and painful disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Herald for a copy of his booklet, "Gout — The Modern Way to Stop It." Please enclose a long, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

'Fiddler On The Roof: Sounds Crazy, No?'

Popular Musical Shatters Broadway Run Records

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "A fiddler on the roof. Sounds crazy, no?"
That's how it begins, the show that on July 21 sets a new Broadway musical run record of 2,845 performances, still going strong.
Since arriving in 1964 — the same year that witnessed the debut of the about-to-be ousted champion "Hello, Dolly!" — "Fiddler on the Roof" has circled the globe in spectacular style.
As an international stunner, the musical has been running five years in London, holds run records in The Netherlands, Australia, West Germany and Norway. Finland supported four simultaneous troupes.

Producer Harold Prince has collected a wondrous mythology growing up around the piece. He began it when the material was first submitted under the title "Tevye."
"We've got to change it — that sounds like an Oriental typewriter," he said.
"Fiddler" is based, of course, upon the simple short stories which Sholem Aleichem set down in Yiddish about village life in 1905 Russia.
Using that material for a Broadway musical developed by happenstance, according to Joseph Stein, actor of the stage script.
Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harnick, the composer and lyricist, had worked with Stein on "Body Beautiful," which didn't turn out that way. But the trip found collaboration congenial and began noodling around for something else "to intrigue all of us."

A friend brought one of Aleichem's novels to Bock. The idea left Stein unmoved but reminded him that his Polish-Russian parents had told him the Tevye stories in childhood. Bock and Harnick read them for the first time, and the threesome applied themselves between more immediate assignments.
"We deliberately avoided approaching any producers until we had some material on paper," Stein says, "because we couldn't see selling just an idea about a bunch of old Russian Jews. People would have thought we'd lost our minds."

When impresarios were contacted, "several said they loved the material, but didn't think it would be very commercial," Fred Coe, however, was willing.
"At that point we went after Zero Mostel for the lead and Jerry Robbins to direct." Then Coe got involved in a film project and Prince joined him as coproducer. The ultimate presentation came in under Prince's banner, with Coe a silent dividend partner. Robbins became a very active participant in developing the material.
Still in the show is the first song written, "The Dream," which brings an ironical smile to the stocky Stein's deadpan visage.
"One of the major critics got turned off by that number," he says.

Probably the two biggest single song hits from the show are "If I Were a Rich Man" and "Sunrise, Sunset." Both were introduced during the tryout phase.
"None of us ever visited the old country," says Stein, "but we steeped ourselves in material of the period." Orthodoxy was observed by repeated visits to the Hassidic community in Brooklyn's Williamsburg neighborhood.
"The wedding as done on stage is almost exactly the way it is done by traditionalists."
"A fiddler on the roof. Sounds crazy, No?"
At last count, 2,000 single recordings had been made around the world of individual songs, 23 complete scores were on vinyl, plus 18 original cast albums.

Five actors have played the focal Tevye in New York. Mostel gave way to Luther Adler, who was succeeded by Herschel Bernardi, Harry Goz and the current Paul Lipson — who on record-breaking night will actually be participating in his 3,000th performance. Before ascending to Tevye, Lipson played subordinate roles, and traveled to such spots as Las Vegas where 12 performances were given weekly instead of the usual eight.
Five other players from the original company are still in the show with Lipson, and seven of the musicians.

Biological Crisis Topic Of Movie

A chilling suspense drama of Earth's first biological crisis, based on the best selling novel by Michael Crichton, "The Andromeda Strain" comes Wednesday to the Cinema Theatre.

It documents the havoc created when a lethal extraterrestrial microorganism comes to Earth aboard a returning space probe capsule instantly killing all but two inhabitants of a remote desert village. Project Wildfire — previously government-established for precisely such a catastrophic emergency — wheels into action and a team of four hand-picked scientists, portrayed by Arthur Hill, David Wayne, James Olson and Kate Reid, attempts to identify and contain the deadly invader.

Wise searched almost two years before finding, in "The Andromeda Strain," the kind of property he chose to make as his 34th venture on the sound stages. In that group of films are two of the most honored of all time, "The Sound of Music" (the most successful Hollywood film ever) and "West Side Story." And as for accolades, Wise's achievements have won him four Oscars along with the coveted Irving Thalberg Award, plus many more. Science-fiction fare is by no means a new filmic genre for Wise; one of his earlier films

Action, Heroics Pace Adventure

Action and heroics have paced many of the world's most memorable tales of great adventure. Among them boldly stands Jules Verne's imaginative story, "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," which Walt Disney has made into one of the most elaborate feature motion pictures of all time.

'Lawman' Shows West As It Was
"Lawman," an action-packed story with a brutal mainstreet shootout, shows the West as it really was, a harsh and pitiless place, where only the strong and the ruthless survived.
The picture, which opens Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre, stars Burt Lancaster, Robert Ryan and Lee J. Cobb. Co-starring are Cherie North, Robert Duvall, Albert Salmi, J. D. Cannon, John McGiver and Joseph Wiseman.
Academy Award-winner Lancaster plays Marshal Jared Maddox, who is trapped by the code of honor he has upheld all his life. Robert Ryan is a town marshal, who has sold out to the local establishment. Cobb portrays Vincent Bronson, who tries to bend the law to his own interest. Miss North is the woman whose life is bitter and wants to make a fresh start somewhere else, preferably with Lancaster.
When Michael Winner decided to make the film, he also decided he was going to make it as authentic as possible. Ignoring the closer — and increasingly popular — locations in Europe, he realized that the best settings for his subject were in Durango, Mexico.

'Love Story' Continues Run At R/70 Theater

All MacGraw, starring with Ryan O'Neal in "Love Story," at the R-70 Theatre, was born and raised in Westchester County, N.Y. She attended Wellesley College, where she studied art history and dramatics and acted in several Shakespearean productions.
By coincidence, Miss MacGraw knew "Love Story" author Erich Segal when she was a student at Wellesley and he was studying at Harvard. They had appeared on stage together in a performance of "Much Ado About Nothing." Furthermore, she was responsible for the art work while he composed the music for the production.

After the enormous success of the film, Miss MacGraw was deluged with script offers, but she took her time in deciding upon another film. However, she chose "Love Story" as her next venture as soon as she finished reading it.

Jim Brown, Raquel Team For Film

Jim Brown and Raquel Welch team up to head the cast of the explosive motion picture, "100 Rifles," opening Wednesday at the Jet Theatre.
The film tells of the Mexican government's attempt in the first years of this century to annihilate the Yaqui Indians, a fiercely independent tribe known as "The Tigers of the Rocks."
Co-starring in "100 Rifles" are Burt Reynolds, Fernando Lamas, Dan O'Herlihy and Hans Gudegast.
The movie was filmed in Spain where locations closely resemble Mexico.
