

FAMILY AFFAIR — Eight-week-old Beauregard, part St. Bernard and Cocker Spaniel, shares a watermelon with his master, Gregory Hicks, 11, Thomasville, Ga. Hicks says he doesn't stand a chance with a watermelon as long as Beauregard is around. "It's not too bad until he starts licking me on the cheek after eating that watermelon," Gregory confessed, "but then, ugh!"

Big Pressure Leak Killed Cosmonauts

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government announced today that a pressure leak killed the three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts half an hour before their landing June 30 and indicated human error rather than a fault in their spaceship was responsible.

"An inspection of the descent vehicle, which made a soft landing, showed that there are no failures in its structure," said the report by the investigating commission. It said it was making a further analysis "to establish a number of probable causes of the seal failure."

One Soviet journalist reported two days after the disaster that the men died because they did not seal the landing craft's hatch properly. He said it jarred open slightly during the turbulence of the re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

The cosmonauts—Georgy Dobrovolsky, Vladislav Volkov and Viktor Patsayev—spent 23 days aboard the Salute space laboratory before returning to earth. On July 2, their ashes were entombed in the Kremlin wall, the traditional burial place of Soviet heroes.

The commission's announcement, reported by the official news agency Tass, said:

"On the ship's descent trajectory, 30 minutes before landing, there occurred a rapid drop of pressure within the descent vehicle, which led to the sudden deaths of the cosmonauts.

"This is confirmed by the medical and pathological-anatomic examination.

"The drop of pressure resulted from a loss of the ship's sealing."

By ruling out structural failure, the commission's report implied that the cosmonauts had erred in some way. In an article published while the spacemen were aboard the orbiting Salute lab, veteran cosmonaut Vladimir Shatalov warned that prolonged exposure to weightlessness sometimes caused "a false feeling of complacency."

"The psycho-physiological capabilities of the cosmonauts' organism drop as the flight nears completion," he said. "Thus it is very important for them to automatically perform the operations necessary for piloting the ship, for descent and landing."

Albert Unveils 'True Villain'

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert said today that the "true villain" of the current U.S. economic situation is the policy of the Nixon administration.

Albert spoke at the opening session of an AFL-CIO conference on jobs. He was followed by a procession of speakers generally critical of the administration policy.

AFL-CIO President George Meany opened the conference with the assertion that "the Nixon promise of economic stability has been a miserable failure and American workers have been paying with their jobs for this economic blunder."

Albert said the nation is beset by a domestic crisis more severe than any since the depression of the 1930s.

"Unemployment is approaching bread line proportions and inflation rages unabated," Albert said. "The national Bureau of Economic Research has officially labeled this lump a recession."

"But despite the unprecedented combination of simultaneous inflation and unemployment," Albert continued, "we must contend with the administration reaction that can best be described as apathy."

Albert said the economic situation is affecting Americans from blue-collar workers to doctors of philosophy.

"The deliberate anti-inflation policy of the Nixon administration has emerged as the true villain," Albert said. "Relying on the assurances of classically trained economists that a sacrifice of jobs would bring deflation, the President has tightened the screws and seems helpless in the backwash of uncontrolled inflation and employment."

Prior to the conference opening, Meany said if he were in President Nixon's shoes he would impose wage and price controls in the fight against inflation.

"I don't see any other way that this situation is going to get under control," Meany said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Meany said his own 13.5-million-member labor organization is "not advocating controls," but would not oppose them if they were imposed evenly.

"If he makes a decision that the international situation is such, or the domestic situation is such that he needs to impose controls, we have said time and time again... we are saying it now. That we will go along," Meany said. "We will accept wage and price controls provided they are shared equally to cover all forms of income and... provided the sacrifice is equal to everybody concerned."

NO REASON

Meany said the country has an "inflationary psychology." "We have people raising prices when there is just no reason," he said.

"According to the book, when you cause more unemployment, when you tighten up on the money supply and you keep business from expanding and thereby cause more and more people to become unemployed, conding to the rules."

But, Meany said, prices have risen should come down again, by 4.2 per cent in 1968. (See VILLAIN Pg 2-A, Col 4)

Petitions May Go To Commissioners Today

A special meeting has been set for this afternoon by the City Commission, apparently to receive the petitions requesting recall of three members.

Roy Anderson, acting city manager, said the session has been scheduled, but the time was not announced. "We will go ahead and present the recall petitions to the commission and request that only those who have official business be in attendance," he said.

The decision came about, Anderson said, when it was decided that a check of names on the petitions — which ask an election for recall of Eddie Acri, Jack Watkins and Wade Choate — would not be necessary by the city staff.

Anderson said both sides in the controversy had gone over the names and this seemed sufficient. He noted that attorneys John Burgess and Guilford Jones had screened the petitions before filing; and that subsequently the three commissioners, who received copies, engaged Bill Sheppard, realtor and chairman of the city planning and zoning board to make a check for validity.

"If the outcome of Sheppard's checking is acceptable to the commission, the petitions will go formally to the group," Anderson said the city lacked legal council to advise in the situation.

Charlie Smith, city secretary, started to check the names Saturday morning but was halted. "I have gone through the entire city charter and ordinances and nowhere can I find that the city is required to make a second certification of the names," Anderson said.

MATTER OF LIFE, DEATH

DETROIT (AP) — A woman doctor who entered Sinai Hospital on the verge of giving birth to a baby stopped long enough to save a life.

Dr. Sharon Wolf had no sooner walked into the hospital Saturday when orderlies wheeled in a young man who suffered from a drug overdose and had stopped breathing.

Dr. Wolf, in the first stages of labor, helped nurses administer resuscitation and had the young man breathing normally within minutes.

The 27-year-old doctor then had to wait about 9½ hours before giving birth to a 6½-pound boy.

"I just thought I should help," said Dr. Wolf. "But I wasn't in a big hurry then anyhow."

Jail Terms For The Same Crime Vary As Much As 300 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key Senate Judiciary Committee members, noting jail terms for the same crime vary as much as 300 per cent from one judge to another, are pressing a bill allowing review of federal criminal sentences.

"Where the same crime has been committed by similar offenders under similar circumstances, the punishment should be reasonably uniform," said Sen. Roman Hruska of Nebraska, key Republican on Judiciary, in explaining the bill.

NO APPEAL

Hruska cited a study showing a bank robber convicted in one U.S. District Court can expect a 60-month sentence, while in another his term likely would be 184 months—three times as long. The average is 140 months.

Within minimum and maximum limits set by law, a federal trial judge has total discretion in sentence. There is no appeal from the sentence, even though a higher court can reverse or set aside a conviction.

Hruska said the bill would correct "one of the greatest single injustices existing in our federal criminal process today: the lack of authority and machinery to review unreasonable sentences."

He cited statistics on average sentences imposed by district courts for seven types of federal crimes, in which there were 25 or more convictions in each category during the 1970 fiscal year.

The average sentence for other forgery convictions, for example, was 33 months, with a range between 26 months and 52 months.

LOWER, NOT HIGHER

Figures on sentences for other crimes showed similar disparities between districts.

While differences in defendants and circumstances provide valid reasons for variations in sentences in some cases, Hruska told the Senate, "disparities based solely upon the personality of the judge passing sentence are unjust."

Hruska said one result of the inability to have a higher court review a sentence is that "harsh and irrational sentences have often led appeal courts to reverse convictions on technical or minor points and on strained interpretations of the law, interpretations which will serve justice and society in future cases."

Under the proposed legislation, a defendant could appeal his sentence. A court of appeals, if it agreed to review a sentence, could lower but not increase it.

U.S. Ready To Add More Gunships In Thailand

WASHINGTON (AP) — While reducing forces in Vietnam, the United States is preparing to add more gunships in Thailand for the next hunting season against Communist supply routes in Laos.

The plans, involving a $56-million modification program, indicate U.S. airpower may be operating against the Ho Chi Minh trail well after the bulk of American troops are out of the war in Vietnam.

FLOW OF ARMS

Pentagon officials say the Air Force gunships, converted from transport planes, and armed with three types of heavy-fire guns and cannon, have accounted for about two-thirds of the more than 25,000 North Vietnamese supply trucks reported destroyed or damaged in Laos since last Nov. 1.

The North Vietnamese supply effort is hampered by current heavy rains along the trail, but Hanoi is expected to crank up a big new supply push when dry weather returns in the fall.

U.S. authorities are especially concerned about stemming any heavy flow of arms or ammunition from North Vietnam to Communist troops in the South during the coming dry season.

American combat strength in Vietnam will be reduced so far by then that remaining U.S. troops, principally in base areas, will be vulnerable if the enemy should attack in force. The Air Force had about a dozen AC130A gunships in action earlier this year, but the number is slightly smaller now because some are being refitted to improve their ability to detect and hit enemy trucks at night and in all kinds of weather.

HUGE FIRE

The plan is to convert six later-model C130E transports, bringing the total of this type of gunship to about 18 flying out of Thailand by fall.

The gunships throw a huge volume of fire. Aimed out of side pots, their miniguns spew from 3,000 to 6,000 rounds a minute, another pair of 20-millimeter Gatling guns discharge about 2,500 rounds a minute, and a 40-millimeter cannon shoots 120 shells a minute at targets on the ground.

Woman Dies From Injuries

STANTON (SC) — Funeral is pending at the Glibreath Funeral Home for Mrs. Annie Simpson, who died this morning of injuries received Friday in a one-car accident in Big Spring.

Mrs. Simpson had been hospitalized since shortly before noon Friday when the car in which she was a passenger apparently ran onto the shoulder of the road, hit loose gravel and overturned, police said. The accident occurred in the east-bound lane of IS 20 near the Ramada Inn.

Mrs. Simpson's daughter, Mrs. Addie Mae Burgess, the driver of the car, was treated and released from the hospital Friday morning. Mrs. Burgess is city secretary in Stanton.

Big Education Bill Signed

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — The largest spending bill in the history of the Office of Education, a $5.1 billion measure, has been signed by President Nixon.

The bill, signed Sunday, will affect thousands of classrooms. The measure covers aid at the elementary and secondary level up through college as well as such as programs for pupils with special needs and education for the handicapped.

"These appropriations will permit the continuation of federal programs in thousands of classrooms to improve the educational achievement and personal development of our nation's children," Nixon said in a statement.

The president said he was pleased with Congress for its early passage of the measure.

Nixon said Congress should now aim federal resources on several areas that are covered in other measures he wants passed.

Included in these areas, he said, is the Emergency School Assistance Act that Nixon said would "provide sorely needed aid to school districts throughout the nation which are dealing with the complex and difficult problems of segregation."

Booms Curb Red Tide

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Two giant oil spill booms were stretched across the entrances to two bays here Sunday to stop tons of dead fish killed by the Red Tide from being dumped ashore.

Two more booms will be brought in from Jacksonville and Miami today after state officials decided at a strategy meeting Sunday to adopt the same methods used last year to clean up after the Delian Apollo tanker oil spill.

WELL, NOW YOU KNOW

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Red Tape Department:

In making a query on a call to the regular telephone number of the Montgomery County police headquarters, a newsman was told:

"I'm not allowed to give you that. You'll have to get it from the press information number."

"Fine, what number should I call?"

"I'm not allowed to give you that. How do I know you're from the press?"

Council Continues Manager Search

After three weeks of contacts and interviews, the City Commission has not yet made a decision on the appointment of a city manager for Big Spring. The last applicant, regarded as a favorable prospect, did not appear for a scheduled session with the councilmen Friday, according to Mayor Arnold Marshall.

NO DECISION

"I plan to call the Texas Municipal League in Austin to try to get some more leads and the best information possible on other applicants," said Marshall. "If this is not fruitful, the commission will review all applications in hand and make some kind of decision."

He said there would be no decision at least for several days.

The commission has taken no action toward filling other vacancies in the city administration. Said Roy Anderson, acting city manager:

"Commissioners have expressed to me their feeling that it should be the authority of the new city manager to make appointments for these positions."

ONLY WAY

Marshall said: "This is the only way it can work. It should be the prerogative of the new city manager to nominate his department heads. There is no way the acting city manager can appoint these people due to his temporary position."

Driver Is Charged In Teen's Death

Murder without malice had been charged against John Clifton Patton, 47, of 3211 Drexel, a Big Spring school-teacher, in connection with the Saturday night pickup-motorcycle rear-end collision which resulted in the death of Archie Segrest Jr., 15, Rt. 1, Box 376, Sand Springs.

Peace Justice Walter Grice set bond for Patton at $5,000. Patton posted bond Saturday night and was released. The accident occurred at 10:20 p.m. Saturday five miles east of Big Spring on the south service road along IS 20.

Officers said the motorcycle was struck from the rear. Segrest, a passenger on the motorcycle, was pronounced dead on arrival at Cowper Clinic and Hospital.

Michael Glenn Paul, 15, Rt. 1, Box 320, Sand Springs, driver of the motorcycle, was listed in satisfactory condition today at Cowper. Patton was not injured.

Investigating officers were Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard, and Deputy Sheriff's Eddie Owen, Robert Puente and Ike Rupard. Texas Highway Patrolman Kenneth Maxwell has also been called into the investigation.

Conditions For War Settlement Anticipated 3 Years Ago By CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Viet Cong conditions for a Vietnam war settlement now being explored by U.S. negotiators in Paris were anticipated almost 3½ years ago in a confidential U.S. Central Intelligence Agency report.

"In talks, Communist terms would involve the establishment of a new 'coalition' government which would be under, if not in appearance, in fact, the domination of the Communists," said a CIA assessment intended for President Lyndon B. Johnson that never reached him.

"Secondly, they would insist on a guaranteed withdrawal of U.S. forces within some precisely defined period," the assessment said.

Both conditions are part of a Vietnamese Communist proposal announced in Paris July 1. The assessment added that cessation of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and the start of peace negotiations without significant Communist concessions would create "a real risk that the Thieu-Ky regime would collapse, and this would in fact be part of Hanoi's calculations."

The assessment was disclosed in Pentagon papers released by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska.

Differing from State and Defense department recommendations, the CIA estimates were at times ignored.

In this case, the CIA estimate never reached Johnson who had ordered a comprehensive reassessment of U.S. policy after the surprise Communist Tet offensive of February, 1968.

The papers disclose another CIA contribution to the policy review was a report from an unidentified "high-level defector" who said Soviet aid to North Vietnam would be stepped up during 1968.

The report said the defector "confirms intelligence estimates that the USSR has not been able to use its aid program as a means of influencing North Vietnam's conduct of the war. In his opinion, the Chinese are a more influential power."

The defector, evidently a Russian, reported the Soviet Union would use force to maintain access to the major North Vietnam port of Haiphong. The bombing of Haiphong, where 80 per cent of the war supplies for Hanoi were received, was then under top-level consideration.

When the White House in early 1965 was about to permit American forces in Vietnam to take an active combat role, the Pentagon study discloses, a memo from CIA director John A. McCone to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and White House adviser McGeorge Bundy said in part:

"The decision to change the mission of our ground forces from one of advice and static defense to one of active combat operations... is correct only if our air strikes against the North are sufficiently heavy and damaging really to hurt the North Vietnamese."

Approximately 200 people visited the Heritage Museum Sunday afternoon during the period when the new institution observed its first weekend hours.

There were numerous out-of-town visitors, and several out-of-state viewers of the new early-ranching exhibit.

Plans are for members of the board, offices, and other volunteers to keep the museum open on Saturday and Sunday afternoons for convenience of people who can't view the displays during the weekdays.

Money matters occupied county commissioners this morning when they met in regular session at 9 a.m.

Truett Thomas was granted a request for an extra $222 per year for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. The center is planning an addition to the present facility. The new structure, according to Thomas, will add approximately 3,600 square feet and will cost $90,000 to construct.

Gary and Hohertz, architects, have drawn tentative plans. The county grant is to cover the additional costs of utilities and insurance that will result from the addition.

The county dads released $300 to Mrs. Floyd Mays, County Historical Survey Society, for use in placing markers concerning historical sites in the county and to cover the cost of having pictures prepared on local sites for the Texas Trails Magazine. The funds were designated for the society by the previous court in the 1970-71 budget.

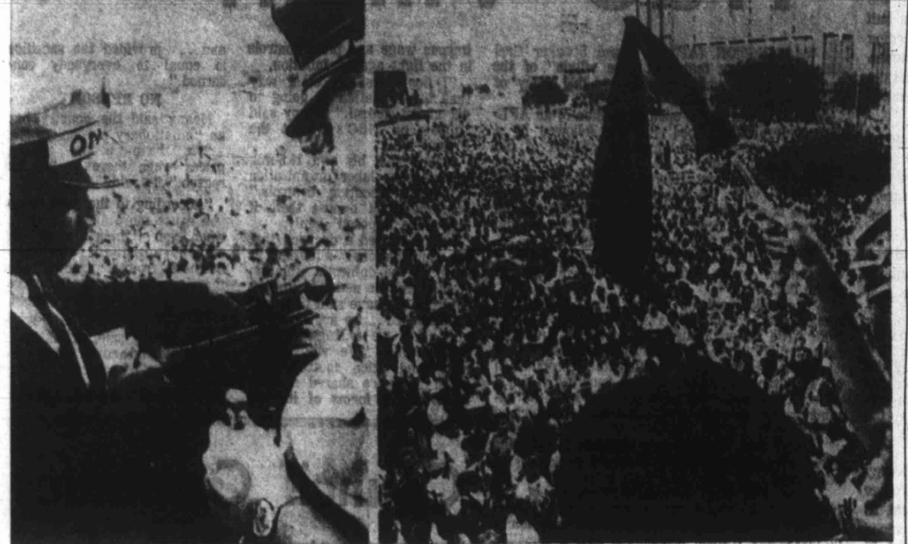

Commissioners also agreed to pay overtime for Howard County deputy sheriffs. The men worked a total of 71 hours overtime during June, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard. The overtime was due to vacations and the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo which required additional patrols each night.

Big Rough Sand and Gravel Co., Snyder, was granted a $7,247.75 contract for the supply of gravel for the county road and bridge department. Other bids were from Big Spring Sand and Gravel Co., $8,928.75, and Midland Sand and Gravel Co., $8,981.25.

Peace Justices Walter Grice and Jess Slaughter requested that their $50 per month car allowance be included in their monthly salary in order to raise their social security deductions.

DRY-LAND SAILORS — Dave Pearlman, 37, his wife Maxine, and their 15-month-old daughter, Ingrid, are shown in their boat "Mandy Lee", after they arrived in Little Rock, Ark., having traveled down the Arkansas River from Tulsa, Okla. The family left San Francisco in a camper with the boat in tow, and wrecked the camper before they got out of California. The remainder of the trip has been by hitch-hiking, with boat in tow. Pearlman said the family's original plan called for the journey to end at New Orleans. Now they are uncertain where the trip will end.

At right a woman waves a black mourning flag before a crowd of over 10,000 that attended the services. The horn, a cornet, was returned to an exhibit booth at the New Orleans Jazz Museum.

Commission Okays Money Requests

Registration for the second six-weeks term of Howard County Junior College continues from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. today.

By noon, 94 students had been registered, reported L. L. Lewis, registrar.

Most of the offerings will be second unit of those classes offered in the first term, but there will be a number of first unit courses. Three new courses will be offered, also. They are Current Social Problems, Human Growth and Development and Principles of Economics. All three classes will be given in the evening.

'I'm Going Blind...'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — William M. Colburn, 75, driving on a busy Dallas freeway, managed to steer his car off the road Saturday after telling his wife he couldn't see.

"I'm going blind," he said as he drove on a traffic-heavy freeway, but police said he brought his car to a stop before losing complete control.

Colburn was taken to Methodist Hospital where he died about 40 minutes later, apparently from a heart attack.

DEATHS

ARCHIE SEGREST
Archie Segrest, Wreck Victim

Funeral was to be at 4 p.m. today in the First Baptist Church at Sand Springs for Archie Lee Segrest Jr., 15, who died Saturday night in a pickup-motorcycle accident five miles east of Big Spring.

Officiating was to be the Rev. Jim Fields, pastor, and the Rev. Virgil Dreyer, Hagerman, N. M., with burial in Coahoma Cemetery under direction of River-Weich Funeral Home.

Archie was born Nov. 1, 1955, in Big Spring and had lived all his life in Howard County. He was active in sports at Coahoma High School where he would have been a sophomore this fall. He was a member of the First Baptist Church in Sand Springs where he was active in the church program. The family requests memorials to the church building fund.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Segrest, Sand Springs; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. C. P. Cassidy, Graham; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. L. L. Segrest, Houston; and several aunts and uncles.

Palbearers were to be Puh Choate, Steven Pherigo, Eddie Bayes, Joe Brant, Dan Meacham, Pete Jensen, Rob Ehrbridge, and Coach Willie Lundy. Honorary palbearers were to be all junior high athletes.

Mrs. Morgan, Rites Pending

Funeral is pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home for Raschel Stella Morgan, who died shortly before noon today in a local hospital.

Survivors include two sons, Bob Bell, and Bill Bell Jr., both of Big Spring; two brothers, Leslie Adams, Manson, Wash., and Edward Adams, Big Spring; four sisters, Mrs. Viola O'Daniel, and Velma Hood, Big Spring; and Mrs. Tom Brown, Midland, and Mrs. Alfred Collins, Lake Buchanan; three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Chilean Copper Nationalization

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — President Salvador Allende is expected to sign the constitutional amendment to complete nationalization of Chile's copper industry despite his complaint that it gives the U.S. companies too many breaks.

Meeting in joint session Sunday night, 158 of the 200 senators and deputies in Congress unanimously approved the amendment without debate. The vote came after a festive "National Dignity Day," ordered by the government to celebrate the nationalization.

The government bought part of the Chilean holdings of the three U.S. companies—Anaconda, Kennecott and Cerro—during the administration of President Eduardo Frei, and completion of the nationalization is a cornerstone of Allende's program to "open the doors to socialism in Chile."

Estimates of the investment by the three companies in Chile's five biggest mines range from $300 million to $200 million. There is no estimate of how much they have profited, but the five mines last year produced 85,000 tons of metal worth more than $1 billion.

Mrs. Knight, Funeral Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Joyce Ann Knight, 34, were to be at 2:30 p.m. today in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Charles Sheffield, Weatherford, officiating and burial in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mrs. Knight died at 12:15 a.m. Sunday in a Brownfield hospital after an illness of about 10 months.

She was born April 29, 1937, in Carthage. She married J. H.

In this situation it would seem that the answer, the answer from the President's point of view would be controls. "I don't see any other answer," he said.

Meany, in a speech today opening the AFL-CIO Conference on Jobs, said Treasury Secretary John B. Connally lacks confidence in America and doesn't understand problems of American workers.

Of Connally, recently designated by Nixon as the administration's chief economic spokesman, Meany said:

"He is a proven expert at Texas politics, and knows quite a bit about the oil companies and what they want. 'I'm not sure he knows much about the national economy, and I am certain he doesn't understand the problems of American workers.'"

"Secretary Connally said... said that American workers can expect high unemployment forever, except in war time. He said it is a 'myth' to believe that unemployment can be cut to even 4 per cent in peacetime."

"His shocking lack of faith in the ability of the American people and the American system to reach and maintain full employment—certainly less than 4 per cent and surely no higher than 3 per cent—sounds like acceptance of Communist propaganda," Meany said.

By JO BRIGHT

I sometimes suspect there's nothing wrong with Big Spring that a couple of days off wouldn't cure.

That feeling was re-enforced Sunday afternoon when, with notebook and camera at the ready, Danny Valdes and I took a sweaty, therapeutic ramble around Comanche Trail Park.

No rumble here. Ignoring the heat (or gratefully soaking it up), people were putting off Monday as they swam, golfed, picnicked or lovingly renewed ties at family reunions. As their elders watched, beautiful babies basked in the sun. Golfers scowled as their eyes followed a wayward ball.

But young lovers looked only at each other.

Yes, there were watermelons being shared under the trees.

Dr. and Mrs. John Hogan were interested viewers Sunday at the formal opening of the new addition to Hendricks Memorial Hospital, Abilene, where their son-in-law, Boone Powell Jr., is chief administrator. The Hogans had possession of their grandchildren, Mark, Christi and Cari Powell, this past week but turned them over to their rightful owners Sunday.

Sweet note from Jean Yates from Calumet City, Ill., where she and Don are living while he is on temporary assignment. The city must have known they were coming; they live on Yates Avenue. She said they had dinner with former Big Springers, Ann and Ed Boulton, and "needless to say, we said a few words about Texas."

Joe Neely, TEA exec in Austin, and his wife Mary were back here briefly as guests of the Ray Borens, getting together one night in the home of Mrs. Raymond Tollett with old friends, the Alvin Thigpens. Joe and Alvin relived their college football days while the ladies looked appreciative. Lt. Ray Tollett flew in and out over the weekend to see his momma and brother, Blake, who came down from Texas Tech.

Local stores are being well represented this week at the Retail Furniture Association of Texas showings at the Dallas Trade Mart. Checking what's new for you are Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Carter, Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hatfield, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wheat and Mr. and Mrs. David Elrod.

Mrs. Mary E. Brown is a little lonesome today. She called to say her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Brown, and daughter, Holly, left yesterday to return to their home in Chicago.

Apparently it was a quiet occasion, but well worth noing. Mr. and Mrs. George (Amelia) Owens, 601 NE 2nd, marked their 70th wedding anniversary Saturday. I think it is marvelous and hope more information will be forthcoming.

Capt. and Mrs. Eddie Hicks, Darrell and Michelle of Cheyenne, Wyo., have been visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Graham, 3701 Dixon, where other guests have been her sister, Mrs. Annie B. Brim of Tallahassee, Fla., and Mrs. Betty Daniels and children, Debbie and Hodges, also of Tallahassee.

Due back in town this week from vacationing in New Mexico are the Kenneth Chranes and their daughter, Christian, who spent the July 4th holiday here with their parents, the L. D. Chranes and the Gordon Marchants. Mrs. Kenneth Chrane is the former Dale Marchant. The couple live in Dallas where he is associated with Electrical Data Systems and she is involved with pediatric research at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School. A registered nurse with a BS degree, she recently attended a medical seminar in New York City which concerned a study to begin this fall on neo-natal meningitis in the United States and Columbia, S. A. Mrs. Marchant will serve as nursing coordinator for that study as well as several others. While in New York, the Chranes enjoyed the musicals, "Aplause" and "Hair."

Church Class Has Saturday Meeting

Miss Gladys Hardy gave the opening prayer for the Berta Beckett Class, First Baptist Church, Saturday at the Downtown Tea Room. The theme for the meeting was "Answered Prayer." Experienced by Members. A food basket was given to Mrs. H. H. Squires who returned recently from her brother's funeral in Gatesville. Members closed with a song and prayer. The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., Aug. 14 at the tea room.

A RELIGIOUS "FIRST" — The Rev. Wilmina M. Rowland of Philadelphia is congratulated in the office of the vice president — just off the Senate floor — after becoming the first woman to offer the opening prayer for the daily session of the United States Senate. Offering congratulations is Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, the chaplain of the Senate.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I would like to share this with young wives on a budget — it's a good extra storage idea for small bathrooms.

For additional storage space in my small apartment bathroom, I covered a strong carton with brown, wood-patterned adhesive-backed paper. My storage box opens cupboard fashion, but you could have it open any way that might be more appropriate to your own needs.

Place under the sink and it is out of the way and makes use of that dead space, yet is right at hand.

It is most convenient to store paper tissue, soap, hair curlers, etc.

I am really making use of my storage box and it was a snap to make. . . . Debora Rognoni

Well, click those fingers and tap that toe, you are really thinking, gal!

If you wanted to really snazz up that bathroom, you might use the same color adhesive paper and carry the theme to a drawer or cupboard door.

The possibilities are numerous. . . . Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

Because of you, our camping trips are more fun and less work. We are organized now, and camping is something our family really looks forward to.

But if you can tell me how to keep a wet, shaggy dog out of my 6-year-old's sleeping bag, we'll have it made! . . . Margaret Burnham

Dear Heloise:

When you have to open a can or two of cream soup to eat or use for a sauce, take out your egg beater and beat for a few seconds.

It will make the soup ever so wonderfully smooth.

Hold the beater under the faucet and run hot water over the beater and it is ready for the dish washer.

The little extra effort it takes to do this is well worth it. . . . Mrs. J.K.

Dear Heloise:

I am just learning to cook and love it, but I have found that there are so many things that cause the eyes to water — onions, for instance.

This isn't any fun, but, for contact wearers, like myself, it is sheer torture!

With my eyes burning, I decided that the opposite of hot is cold. . . . so I stuck my face in the freezer for a couple of seconds and blinked a few times.

The cold air relieves the burning and the cool air feels soooooo good! . . . Teenage Gourmet

Anderson Reunion At Ina Dale

WESTBROOK (SC) — Guests of the A. G. Andersons during the July 4th weekend were his sister and family, the Fred Kellys of Morton, and the Weldon Hantons of Houston. The group, along with David Anderson and daughter, Sandy, attended the Anderson reunion at Ina Dale July 4.

Four generations were present at the first birthday party of Melinda Sue Richards of Snyder July 2. Guests included the Anson Hendersons, maternal grandparents; the Elbert Richards', paternal grandparents; Mrs. "Granny" McNew of Lamesa, paternal great-grandmother; and the David Cooks and Brent of Snyder.

The Tommy Sloanes of Coleman were Wednesday guests of her parents, the W. A. Bells.

The Van Williamsons of Abilene and the Melvin Williamsons of Ozona have returned home following a visit with the J. K. Williamsons.

The B. F. Hutchins' of Cross Plains were Thursday guests of his brother and family, the Bill Hutchins'.

Gavel Club Holds Dinner Thursday

The Past Matrons Gavel Club met for dinner Thursday evening at Holiday Inn with Mrs. J. A. Wright, president, and Mrs. John Puckett serving as hostesses. Mrs. Puckett gave the devotion, and reports were made on cards sent to members who are sick. Mrs. Jimmie Felts and Mrs. Richard Mitchell will be hostesses for the Aug. 12 meeting.

A LOVELIER YOU

Fashions Can Boost Green Goddess Look

By MARY SUE MILLER

Some figures are positively statuesque, like the legendary Juno's. But modern possessors seldom are appreciative. Height runs over 5'10", girth runs to size 18 and more.

Clothes often become a major problem. The best out, of course, is reducing. By losing weight a Juno would achieve fashion-model proportions. And there you have a figure worth the effort.

Meanwhile, girth seems minimized without increasing the appearance of height by cleverly chosen fashions. These are the guiding principles:

Skirts, from easy-straight to medium-full. . . . Blouses with double-breasted or diagonal closings. . . . Dresses and coats, incorporating the foregoing pointers. . . . Cardigan jackets, hip-joint length. . . . V and oval necklines. . . . Shawl and pointed collars. . . . Sleeves, easy fit, short or bracelet length. . . . Self belts, medium width. . . . Bodied fabrics, neither bulky nor clinging. . . . Dark and low-keyed colors.

Now how do those ideas work out in practice? Well, they are built right into many summer collections. What's more, there are shops and departments within shops that specialize in dressing generous figures. Worth investigating.

Meticulous grooming and fine carriage give a fine finish to the picture.

State Meet Slated Here By Lodges

The state convention of the Oddfellows and Rebekahs Secretaries and Scribes of Texas will be held in Big Spring Aug. 14-15, with its headquarters in the Settles Hotel. The announcement was made in a letter from Henry McEntyre of Odessa, president, which was read to the Ladies Auxiliary of IOOF Patriarch Militant Saturday evening at the IOOF Hall.

About 500 people are expected to attend the convention, which will be hosted by the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284. Miss Shirley Lee presided at the meeting and announced that Mrs. Jeff Tolbert of Tyler, auxiliary state president, will make her official visit to the local meeting Aug. 13, prior to attending the convention.

'Grapevine Army' Blamed For Murder, Harassment

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A self-proclaimed "Grapevine Army" that is more like a terrorist group is being blamed by Grapevine police for at least one death and the harassment of picnickers, fishermen and campers at Grapevine Lake.

A gang of about 20 thugs thought to be the "army" severely beat an airline pilot Thursday night, according to Grapevine Police Sgt. Gerald Walker.

He said the pilot was beaten with chains by the gang until he recognized one of the youths as a neighbor. The pilot refused to file charges, Walker said.

He said the army likes to style itself after the "Hell's Angels" motorcycle gang. "There are ranks within the gang framework and to move up, a kid has to beat up his immediate superior."

Walker said there are also girls included in the army. The one death attributed to the army involves an elderly man fishing on the bank of the lake seven months ago. "We never could really pin that one on the gang but he was beaten with lead pipes and then stomped to death," Walker said.

Another incident involving the gang, the average age of which usually ranges between 15 and 20 years, was a raid on a recent wedding party held at the lake. Gang members surrounded the small party and beat them with chains and curry combs, a rough metal instrument with serrated edges used to groom horses.

"As near as we can tell, most of them live in Grapevine. We even know some names and addresses but, of course, we can't prove anything that would stand up in a court of law," Walker said.

The gang also operates outside Walker's immediate jurisdiction, since the lake area is protected by the Tarrant County Sheriff's Department. Walker said Tarrant County is so understaffed it can't protect the area sufficiently.

He said the "Grapevine Army" has been heard from off and on for nearly two years. Only three of the youths have been caught and charged. The arrests came after the gang attacked a group of Grand Prairie High School seniors at a lake on an outing.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW
—CARROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Only you, plan how to sleep this. Strengthen your willpower. Obtain the jobs you need and make the future brighter. Stop dreaming so much.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Gain goodwill of a good friend by not forcing your ideas, but by listening carefully. Being helpful to an associate who has an idea is wise. Think fairly and logically. Be wise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You will be able to gain the goodwill and respect of others. If you try to impress them with your charm, they may become suspicious. Fast talk gets you nothing. Keep it tame.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Some associates are too busy with own affairs to listen to your ideas today. Await a better time to contact them. Take time to get your appearance improved. Avoid a person who is trying to sell something you don't want.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Although others may be imposing upon you, you know the real value of a project you are jumping into, otherwise it is best you leave it alone. Others may not be leading you in the right direction. Take it easy tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You are able to handle your responsibilities well today if your first schedule time and activities. Postpone a discussion with a mate. Don't start any arguments. Be wise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): An associate is not acting quite right, but show patience since he may be under pressures you know nothing about. Put off making new arrangements until tomorrow. Keep busy on current work.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Be sure everything is clean and orderly around you so that associates are pleased and then get right down to routines that are important. Don't act hastily or you could ruin clothing, and cause damage.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Cultural and artistic matters today can bring you pleasure and satisfaction. Don't spend too much money for recreation. Hang on to the fine assets you now possess.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): A close tie is trying to get you in a big argument, so keep mum and save the situation. Take measures that will improve the appearance of your home. Don't get so excited over nothing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You are thinking cleverly now and can make necessary changes, whether in business or at home. Make sure utilities are operating properly. Take no chances in travel. Show that you have wisdom.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Your hunches are better than your judgment today but you can make progress that way just the same. Tomorrow is the best time to check with associate about future. Show that you have your feet on the ground.

Valuable Museum Pieces Stolen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three valuable Oriental figures have been stolen from the Avery Brundage Collection of the Center of Asian Art and Culture in Golden Gate Park.

Described as "priceless" by the center, they included a pair of grey pottery tomb sculptures from China, made in 600 A.D., and a lacquer and gold kneeling woman from Burma, between 100 and 200 years old.

Farm, Ranch Assets Increase

Farm and ranch assets in Texas totaled $29.2 billion on Jan. 1, 1971 — showing an increase of 4 per cent or $1.1 billion from a year earlier.

Advances in real estate values made up 73 per cent of 1970's gain in value of net assets, according to Charles K. Baker, extension marketing economist. He said that increases in value of real estate account for most of the gains in recent years.

Most of the remaining gain for 1970 was accounted for by higher values for livestock and poultry inventories and machinery and motor vehicles.

FOR ATTEMPT TO OVERTHROW KING HASSAN Ringleaders Executed By Firing Squad

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — The ringleaders in the attempt to overthrow King Hassan II were executed by a firing squad early today, official sources reported.

They said the names of the officers executed after a summary court-martial would be announced later.

MORE DEATHS
The executions are continuing, they added, and it was not immediately clear whether all the six leading conspirators reported under arrest had been shot.

King Hassan told a news conference Sunday that the officers who led the attempted coup Saturday would all be dead by sundown tonight. He named eight principal plotters including four generals and three colonels.

Hassan said Gen. Mohamed Medbouh, the head of his personal military staff, and three other generals — named Mustapha, Bougrine and Hambou — used 1,400 ignorant, drug-crazed cadets in an abortive attempt to liquidate him and the entire leadership of his regime.

Medbouh was accidentally killed by his own men during the attack at the king's summer palace on the Atlantic Ocean 15 miles south of Rabat. At least 30 of the guests at the king's 42nd birthday party were killed, including the country's only field marshal, three generals, the minister of tourism, the president of the supreme court, Belgian Ambassador Marcel Duprat and other officers and officials.

150 REBELS DIED
About 150 rebels died in a seven-hour battle for the Rabat radio station. The insurgents seized the radio, announced the king's death and proclaimed a revolutionary republic. But forces loyal to the king finally overcame the rebellion.

The four rebel generals named by the king were not known to have any leftist affiliations. Medbouh became Hassan's closest military adviser in 1963 when he betrayed a plot in which he said he intended to take part.

The king said the "Libyan style coup" was inspired by the revolution in that North African country in September, 1969, when young officers overthrew the monarchy while King Idris was out of the country. Col. Mummur Kadafi, the head of the Libyan military regime, threatened Saturday to send troops to Morocco to support the rebels. In reprisal, Hassan had his troops occupy the Libyan Embassy and put the embassy staff under house arrest pending their expulsion from the country.

EGYPT INVOLVED?
The king also intimated Egypt might have been involved, saying:

"We know there was a foreign hand in it because our Cairo embassy was inundated with demands for passports from 600 Moroccans living there in exile who had been summoned by the rebels."

But Algeria, Morocco's next-door neighbor, and Tunisia sided with Hassan. Algerian Minister of State Belkacem Cherif and Tunisian Foreign Minister Habib Bourguiba Jr. appeared at the news conference with the king, who expressed his gratitude for the support of their governments.

The attack caught the king and virtually all his ministers and top military advisers in the Skhirat palace for the birthday party. Hassan said the plotters distributed drugs to the troops and told them to attack the palace because the king was being held prisoner there by his own guests.

At the same time, other troops occupied the Rabat radio station, the Interior Ministry and the headquarters of the general staff. No rebellious military action was reported outside Rabat, and the plotters evidently hoped that the country would rise behind them after the broadcast announcing the king's death.

KING APPEARED
One of the guests at the palace, British Ambassador Thomas R. Shaw, said the rebels herded the guests around at gunpoint, made them lie face down on the gravel for an hour and took their gold cigarette lighters and other such luxury items and stamped on them.

"Finally the king appeared," he said. "It must have been about 5 o'clock. He was unharmed and as far as I could see, was free. The soldiers cheered when they saw him and shouted, 'Long live the king!'"

Several hundred persons were wounded, including the king's brother, Prince Moulay Abdullah, who was shot in the arm, and the Saudi Arabian ambassador. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is due in Rabat July 25 on his round-the-world tour, and King Hassan said he is "still very welcome."

"There is no security problem," the king said, "but I will let him decide whether he still wants to come."

Fumes Chase Longshoremen

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Longshoremen working on four docks at the Port of Houston stopped work and went home Sunday after fumes drifting over the Houston on Ship Channel forced them to seek aid.

Ransom Bill, director of the Volunteer Mercy Corps, said his men administered oxygen to about 30 longshoremen after the fumes "burned their throats and eyes."

It was the fourth time in recent weeks that noxious gas has forced persons on ships and docks along the channel to seek first aid.

In other incidents persons affected by the fumes linked them with emissions from the Stauffer Chemical Co. plant along the channel.

Ed Lang, manager of the Stauffer plant, said he sent some employees to the area after hearing about the incident "but our people found no fumes and nothing out of order."

Bill said after the workmen were given oxygen "they just said 'the hell with it' and went home."

Trail Ride Sparks Prairie Wedding

MEDINA, N.D. (AP) — In the dim glow of a campfire and the fading sun, Cathy Olson and Michael Barron were married on the plains of central North Dakota.

Twenty covered wagons and a circle of horse-drawn buggies were pulled up within sight of the "altar" on a ranch near Medina, some 70 miles east of Bismarck.

The wedding invitations were adorned with a broken wagon wheel, a buffalo skull and a broken peace pipe, all symbols of the lands in which the two were raised. Barron, 21, of Jamestown, N.D., and Miss Olson, 18, of the central Montana ranching community of Geysler.

"This is the country my mother was born in," said Miss Olson when asked why she chose this site.

The groom, flown home from his unit with the U.S. Army in Germany, said he met his bride last year on a trail ride.

They held hands under the twilight sky Sunday with miles of prairie as their cathedral.

An estimated 500 persons attended.

The altar was a giant breadbox which otherwise served in the wagon train's commissary. It was covered with cloth.

Miss Olson chose a traditional white gown because she said it was favored by other brides who traveled westward a century earlier in the Dakotas' territorial days. She carried a bouquet of prairie flowers.

The bridegroom wore a suit of elkskin leather made by the bride's parents.

As the sun faded, the Rev. Hilary Bitz pronounced them man and wife. Then the couple mounted their horses—strapped with packs for the coming days—and rode away for a honeymoon.

KILL MOSQUITOES Two AF Planes Spray 60,000 Acres In RGV

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force planes sprayed malathion insecticide Sunday over 60,000 acres of the Lower Rio Grande Valley area in a campaign to eradicate mosquitoes which may be spreading a dreaded horse disease.

The spraying operations were to continue today.

A U.S. Agriculture Department spokesman said about 60 horses have been reported with "clinically observed" symptoms of Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE), a disease considered a threat to the U.S. horse industry.

VEE has killed thousands of horses in the last two years as it spread northward out of South America. The first case of the rare strain of sleeping sickness in the United States was confirmed in the Brownsville area last Friday.

An Air Force spokesman said the weather conditions were perfect for Sunday's spraying in the Brownsville area. He said today's operations would cover some area between U.S. Highway 83 and the Rio Grande between the Gulf of Mexico and the Starr-Hidalgo county line.

LETTER Supports City Trio

TO THE EDITOR:

I have been reading that Jay Banks said he didn't want to make a statement but that he was forced by supporters of the three commissioners, and he challenged them to do so also. In his statement he puts all the blame on the District Attorney and washes his hands from it completely. I urge the commissioners to keep on investigating, because the city of Big Spring should keep on progressing.

Let's stop and think what if these three commissioners had ignored whatever complaints were brought to their attentions and had gone hush-hush about them. We would probably have said "they are doing a good job indeed," but it's wrong, because they are not working for themselves, but for the people of Big Spring.

Mr. Banks said the main topic on Mr. Eddie Acri's campaign was to get Jay Banks. Well, when Mr. Acri gave a talk before his election, he didn't mention the name of Jay Banks.

I guess they knew this was coming because the day after he was asked to resign there were a lot of car stickers around saying "Keep Jay Banks." It was very quick to make overnight. I am proud to be a citizen of Big Spring and proud to have such commissioners as Mr. Eddie Acri, Mr. Jack Watkins and Mr. Wade Choate and can say because of their work Big Spring will be a better city.

TRYING TO FASHION 'A NEW POPULIST COALITION'

Oklahoma's Fred Harris To Seek Presidential Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fred R. Harris is preparing to run for the Democratic presidential nomination, entering an already crowded field of candidates, instead of seeking reelection to the Senate in Oklahoma.

Vaughan, a former director of the Peace Corps and U.S. ambassador to Colombia who now heads the national Urban Coalition.

KEY FIGURES

Vaughan has been a Republican. Other key figures in the Harris campaign would be Herbert Allen Jr., a New York businessman who would handle fundraising work, and J.D. Williams, a Washington lawyer.

While Harris said in an interview he has not made a final decision, he was described by associates as virtually certain to run. Harris said prospective supporters, whom he would not identify, urged him to become a candidate for the White House.

Additional candidate was needed. POLITICAL PROBLEMS Democrats already have at least six potential candidates likely to announce before next year and contest the presidential primaries.

Harris denied he was turning to national candidacy to avoid a difficult contest at home, where Rep. Ed Edmondson already has announced for the Democratic nomination for Harris' seat.

FRESH VOLUNTEERS Harris said if he becomes a candidate, he will enter most or all the presidential primaries, and rely heavily on a volunteer organization, trying to fashion "a new populist coalition" to make real changes in American society.

French, it was understood, had contended the national campaign organization should be built around political professionals with experience in presidential politics, but Harris chose instead the Vaughan concept of building the organization around fresh volunteers.

Segregation Suit Begins In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—The school desegregation suit against Dallas schools was to go to trial today in the court of U.S. Dist. Judge William Taylor with school attorneys hinting they may have a desegregation plan available if they're asked for it.

The suit, which has sparked considerable parental unrest over possible busing of children in a massive, widespread program, carries a side issue: are Mexican-American pupils to be considered white with Anglo children, or as a separate ethnic minority?

Taylor said Friday he would defer ruling on that question until later in the course of the suit's trial, possibly at the conclusion.

The suit against Dallas schools was brought by Dallas Legal Services representing 21 Mexican-American and black children the DLS claims are not getting equal and integrated education.

Earlier, school district lawyers said they would offer no new desegregation plans at the trial but later indicated they would be ready to propose one or more if the court asks them.

School Supt. Dr. Nolan Estes "burden to prove we are not in compliance (with present federal integration laws)" rests with the plaintiff legal services group.

School Supt. Dr. Nolan Estes had said the district would defend itself in court by relying on its "good faith" efforts at integration made in the past. The school district had sought, for pupil registration reasons, to have Mexican-American pupils lumped with Anglos, a move that would have increased on paper the ratio of white pupils to blacks.

But Mexican-American leaders objected to the proposal, fearing they would be, in practice, subjected to what they claimed would be continued discrimination.

DLS lawyers also objected, saying that although Mexican-American pupils may be considered white on paper they would, in reality, remain in their same situation.

Taylor's ruling on the matter could have widespread influence on other school integration issues involving Mexican-American children.

He ruled Friday, in effect, that he would not rule on the issue merely "on pleadings alone" but turned down the school district motion to await further information which may be presented at today's trial.

Traffic deaths far outstripped all other causes of violent death over the weekend in Texas.

The Association began its routine weekend tabulation of violent deaths at 6 p.m. Friday and continued the tally until midnight Sunday.

FIVE DROWNINGS By midnight Sunday, the death toll stood at 33 with 13 dead in traffic and five drownings while six persons were shot to death.

Here is a sample of how some died violently:

Robert Joe Rudzicka, 19, of Houston was killed Sunday when the car he drove went out of control on a Houston freeway and crashed. Another Houston youth was injured.

FIGHT IN BAR Clifford Mollett, 38, of San Antonio was shot to death Sunday when a fight began in a bar. His brother, Fridge Mollett, 43, was charged with murder. Eddie Freeman III, 22, of San Antonio was shot to death in what police said was an argument over money. Frank Emmitt Parramore, 20, was charged with murder.

Reynaldo Sanchez, 17, of Robstown drowned Sunday in the flood-swollen Nueces River in the Calallen section of Corpus Christi. His body was recovered about three hours later.

Paula J. McGill, 18, of Victoria was fatally injured Sunday when a car skidded off Texas 35 just north of the town of Ticoli. She died later in a Victoria hospital. A companion was treated and released.

FOUR PERISH Three California residents were among four persons killed on U.S. 290 about 8 miles west of Fort Stockton. Killed were Juan Benitez Lopez, 21; his wife, Olivia Lopez, 17; and their daughter, Mirim Ulisa Pillado Lopez, 8 months, all of Peco Riveria, Calif.; and Oscar Lopez, 18, of Fort Stockton. The accident, which occurred Saturday about midnight, also injured Hudson Williams of Los Angeles and Henry Turner whose address was unknown.

Michael Waits, 26, and Jean Jetton, 39, both of Bells in Grayson County, were killed Saturday night when their motorcycle collided with a car on U.S. 75 near Denison.

Jerry Williamson, 38, of Palestine was killed Sunday when the car in which he rode ran off a Harris County road and struck an embankment. The driver, Lee F. Funderburgh, 24, of Houston was reported in fair condition at a Houston hospital.

OBJECT OF HUNT Maxie Moore Wilds, 57, of Modesto, Calif., was killed and his wife, Louise A. Wilds, 51, and Calvin James Hullet, 40, of Houston were critically injured

Billie Sol Wins Wild Chase With Newsmen

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Smiling and embracing his family, former Texas fertilizer financier Billie Sol Estes sped off a free man today from the La Tuna Federal Correctional Institution.

Estes had served over six years of a 15-year prison term for fraud in connection with a non-existent fertilizer storage tank empire which netted millions and created a nationwide scandal.

MYSTERY MAN Aided by a mystery man in a white Lincoln Continental, Estes led newsmen on a madcap, post-midnight chase toward an unknown destination.

Estes left the federal prison at 12:03 a.m., seated in the back seat of a private car with his wife, Patsy, and one of their blonde teen-age daughters.

Estes, who once wore alligator shoes and expensive clothing, ignored the small cluster of waiting newsmen and photographers huddled at the prison gates.

THE UNTOUCHABLE Moments before he was released, a man driving a Lincoln appeared, walked across the darkened highway fronting the prison and told reporters: "It's not going to do you fellows any good. You're invading his privacy. When he walks out of there he's going to be a free man. . . you ain't going to touch him."

FREE SPENDER A free-spending wheeler-dealer in his heyday, Estes amassed a paper fortune worth millions before his arrest by federal agents in March, 1962.

He was accused of fashioning a "gigantic swindle" by borrowing millions of dollars on non-existent farm fertilizer tanks supposedly located in West Texas.

Until that time, he lived and frequently entertained in a palatial home in Pecos, Tex. His operations embraced cotton allotments, a newspaper, a mortuary, fertilizer and grain elevators.

PAPER EMPIRE His arrest and the collapse of the paper empire had sharp repercussions in various circles, both political and financial.

Estes was not without influence in Washington and on Wall Street.

Warden Zachem said Estes remains an "obliging, agreeable fellow," well-liked by the prisoners and still dedicated to religious activities.

Estes and his wife, Patsy, will have been married 25 years next Sunday and they have invited friends to join them in celebrating the occasion.

Estes' wife said she, Estes, and their three children — Billie Sol Jr., 17; Dawn, 18; and Joy, 14, — would go to an undisclosed place before returning to their Abilene home Friday.

Of the Sunday reception she said between 200 and 400 guests were expected "but I don't really know how many Sol has invited."

Joy, who said no caterer was hired for the event, added "That's what all those uncles, aunts and cousins are for."

MAIL FRAUD Under terms of his parole, the former kingpin of farm finance, "shall not engage in any self-employment or promotional type activity" without specific approval of the U.S. Parole Board.

Estes was convicted at El Paso in 1963 of seven counts of mail fraud and assessed a 15-year prison sentence. He enters the federal institution at Leavenworth, Kan., in 1965 after two years of legal battles.

He was transferred in December, 1966, to the minimum security facility in Sandstone, Minn., and was brought to La Tuna in April of last year.

Persons Caught With Pot Still Face Felony Raps

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Despite a change in the federal law, persons caught with marijuana will still face felony charges in South Texas, U.S. Atty. Anthony Farris says.

Farris, the top federal prosecutor in the southern district which stretches from Houston to Brownsville, says for at least six months he will ignore the new provision of the Comprehensive Drug Abuse, Prevention and Control Act, which was passed last fall and took effect May 1.

The new law says that persons caught with a small amount of marijuana may be charged with a misdemeanor instead of a felony which would allow them to have the conviction stricken from their record after serving a term of probation.

Farris said Saturday he will not use the new provision because "Congress did not define a small amount. I have yet to get anyone to tell me with any precision what a small amount is," he said.

The law permits him to make the designation of what a small amount is, but Farris said he didn't have the time to make a determination in each case. So for the next six months, at least, possession of one marijuana cigarette or less will remain a felony in the southern district.

When the new law has been in effect six months and courts have ruled on just what a small amount is, Farris said, he will take another look at his decision.

He said his office processes about 1,000 marijuana possession cases yearly in Brownsville and Laredo and about half that in Houston.

"I don't feel I'm evading the issue or getting around the law," Farris said. "The matter is discretionary with me. If the law has 500 sections and 50 subsections of 10 items each, it's up to me to decide which ones to go on."

Nobody Wants Leary

Timothy Leary, high priest of LSD, will have his bad trip ended involuntarily.

A few years ago he was a cause celebre as an apostle of acid trips, but he fled this country to escape prosecution. Now Switzerland is holding Leary for extradition to the United States. He escaped from a California prison 10 months ago and turned up in Algeria a month later.

Algeria granted him "political asylum" but turned him over to the Black Panthers, including fugitive Eldridge Cleaver, in Algiers. Leary tried to go to Jordan but was bounced out of Lebanon and then Egypt.

Back in Algiers, the Panthers placed Leary in protective custody because "his mind had been blown by acid (LSD)." When he went to Switzerland he was picked up at request of the United States.

The wandering drug apostle will be returned to finish his California term. He also faces a 10-year sentence in Texas for smuggling marijuana from Texas.

While the law would be served by returning Leary to American prisons, we would just as soon the Swiss send him back to Algeria and the Panthers. They deserve him.

Add To Good News

Add to the good news a couple of items from The Herald within recent days. One is word that a new unit is being added at Sid Richardson Carbon Company's plant here, which will boost production by 35 million pounds to a new plant capacity of 120 million pounds per year. Another, which might easily have been overlooked, was word from Manager Jack Powell that the VA Hospital had been approved for 21 more fulltime positions. We frequently — and properly — go all out to land an industry with that many employees, but fail to realize the importance of a similar number of jobs in an existing facility.

Candid Answers

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

I like honesty in a person but it can be startling at times. As an example, I offer the case of that car thief, a three time loser, who explained to the courts that he only stole cars when he became too drunk to walk home.

Frankness is a virtue, too, but obviously there was more humor than sincerity in the item appearing in a bulletin of the Kiwanis Club in Buckhead, Ga., a few years ago. The article stated "Ralph Slay Jr., has been elected secretary. We hope he will do a better job than he has with the Bulletin."

I LIKE directness in a person. Review the evidence for the head of a college in England who wrote to some unruly students who had dispatched him a list of 'non-negotiable demands.'

"Dear Gentlemen," he messaged back. "We note your threat to take what you call 'direct action' unless your demands are immediately met. We feel that it is only sporting to let you know that our governing body includes three experts in chemical warfare, two ex-commandos skilled with dynamite and torturing prisoners, four qualified marksmen in both small arms and rifles, two ex-artillerymen, one holder of the Victoria Cross, four karate experts, and a chaplain. The governing body has authorized me to tell you that we look forward with confidence to what you call a 'confrontation,' and I may even say with anticipation."

I LIKE ingenuity in a person. Take, for instance, that nine-year old boy who opened a bank account with $25.

A bank officer asked him how he had accumulated so much money. "By selling shoe laces, flower seeds and pot holders," the boy replied. "Obviously, you sold them to a lot of people," the banker marveled. "Oh no, only to one family," the young merchant replied. "Their dog bit me."

I LIKE the individual capable of the perfect squelch, when a petitioner is asking for it. Take, as a case in point, the cute career girl who was waiting for a bus. A wolfish type in a convertible pulled alongside the curb, leaned toward her and yelled "I'm going west."

"How wonderful," the girl replied icily, "Bring me back an orange."

I LIKE resourcefulness in a person. I ask you to consider the hunter who achieved a victory over a zealous game warden. He was dragging a big buck out of the bush when the game warden popped up to demand a look at his hunting license.

"Golly, I didn't realize you had to have a license to shoot deer. They can be a nuisance, anyway," wailed the nimrod.

"You're under arrest," announced the warden, "and we'll take this deer to the courthouse for evidence."

The officer then helped the hunter drag the carcass through the thicket and out to the road and stood red-faced and puffing when the hunter explained:

"Hey, I just remembered. I do have a deer license after all."

He took a few choice verbal shots from the officer but there wasn't much doubt who benefitted.

'Peace' Issues

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The United States intends to keep the world informed about the Vietnam peace negotiations at Paris, but at the same time approves secrecy for both sides while delicate discussions are in progress.

THE AMERICAN ambassador, David K. E. Bruce, made it clear last week that setting a deadline for withdrawal of all U.S. forces without any other understandings being reached between the belligerents is not contemplated. He insisted that the pullout of troops must be preceded by the clarification of certain questions. One of them is just what is going to be done to give the people of South Vietnam their right of self-determination in choosing the government in Saigon. Another is what assurance there can be that a ceasefire will be established throughout all of Indochina before withdrawal of troops occurs.

THE AMERICAN position is that troop withdrawal is not the only subject that has to be resolved and that this doesn't necessarily come first. The other points directly relate to the consequences of the removal of American forces.

So it is clear that the United States favors an immediate cease-fire before the negotiations on political issues begin, and wants the matter of release of prisoners to be more comprehensively explained. Americans not only are being held captive in North Vietnam but many have been imprisoned by forces under the control of the Communists in Laos and Cambodia. Ambassador Bruce feels that assurances as to the release of these men and information on all of those who have been capture are essential to the conduct of the current negotiations.

THE AMERICAN policy throughout the negotiations at Paris has been designed to retain the support of the South Vietnamese. Any scheme that leaves the door open to a Communist takeover in South Vietnam will certainly not be acceptable to the Saigon government. The mere withdrawal of American troops, therefore, would not end the war.

WHAT IS significant is that both sides are at least talking about a real agreement and about the basic issues which must be disposed of in order to terminate the fighting. The belief prevails here that North Vietnam is ready to release all the prisoners but will insist upon a "coalition" government in Saigon which will include the Communist Viet Cong. This is a thorn which may prove troublesome in the side of the South Vietnamese when the final settlement papers are drawn. The chances of peace can hardly be appraised until after the negotiations have been in session for a few weeks more.

DURING THAT period, it is necessary, of course, for the American government to mobilize stronger support in this country for its position than it has had heretofore. A large number of members of Congress lean toward the idea that withdrawal of our troops is adequate. It has not been clearly explained to the nation that when this is completed and the prisoners are released, another war could break out which would again throw Southeast Asia into turmoil.

Can You Believe The Figures?

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Although the condition of your own checkbook might suggest that figures do lie, most people still need a little additional reminder from time to time that faith in numbers is often misplaced.

The most recent illustration concerns the jobless figures. In June, the government said, the unemployment rate plunged to 5.6 per cent from 6.2 per cent of the civilian labor force. Significant? No.

While the figures did change, the condition might not have changed a bit. That, in fact, is the view of a growing number of economists. Next month, they say, watch for a return to 6 per cent or more.

The sharp change in percentages has been described as nothing but an error. Not only that, but the error was entered into knowingly, a case of the formula being more sacred than the purpose.

As Argus Research Corp. explains it, the monthly survey of jobless is taken every month in the week containing the 12th. The 12th fell on a Saturday in June.

This is significant. Don't try to understand it without a calendar, but the fact that the 12th fell on a Saturday meant that the survey was taken at its very earliest. Had it fallen on a Monday it would have meant a late survey.

It meant also that the youngsters were still in school and consequently not an active part of the labor force. They'll be counted in July though. And what seemed like encouraging news could be discouraging indeed.

While this is a glaring example of distortion by the numbers, there are dozens of other examples in constant use. Quite often, individuals who know better participate in the delusion.

In the Commerce Department lobby there is a "clock" that ticks off the growth in Gross National Product. Officials know that, absurdly, it counts inflation as output, but they choose to ignore it.

Late last year the clock reached $1 trillion, which called for an official ceremony in which the strength of the economy was extolled. An impression was permitted to persist that the GNP had doubled from $447 billion in 1958.

An impression only. Not only might there be little truth in numbers, there may be an absence of strength too.

In constant dollars, not counting inflation, that $1 trillion shrinks to $750 billion. Try selling a ham that way, all puffed up with injected water, and the government inspectors might try to send you to jail.

Sometimes, however, there is a tendency to ignore the numbers and place faith in rhetoric instead. That's when it pays to look at the statistics.

There are loud reports, made from the highest levels, that the battle against inflation is without question returning stability to the dollar. But the figures hardly show it.

The latest indication of this is supplied by the wholesale price index, which is derived from the prices of 2,300 commodities. It rose 4-10 of one per cent in June, which suggests further increase to follow in retail prices.

There is widespread belief also that expenditures for crime control are soaring. It may not be so, but it will take some digging to prove it statistically.

Norvall Morris, Julius Krieger Professor of Law and Director, Center for Studies in Criminal Justice at the University of Chicago, feels there is a myth about the great amounts going into the crime battle.

As a proportion of government expenditures, for example, the percentage may have risen little if at all. "The rhetoric grossly out-distances the money," he maintains.

"This is my impression; I haven't done the statistical work, but it is an impression shared by many."

Humphrey Okra And Grits Fan

TIFTON, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Jimmy Carter says Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's appreciation of fried okra marks him as a friend of the South.

"I could tell by the amount of fried okra you consumed at lunch that you were one of us," Carter told Humphrey Friday as the Minnesota legislator presided at a Senate subcommittee hearing on rural problems.

Carter sat next to the senator at a lunch before the hearing in South Georgia.

"I also like grits," added Humphrey.

He Aims At Hoover

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — If I were J. Edgar Hoover I would flood the mails with reprints of a television review written by somebody named Marvin Kitman, who works for the Newsday Syndicate. With enemies like Kitman, Hoover doesn't need any friends.

KITMAN TURNED in a report of an episode of Public Broadcasting's "The Advocates," which posed the question "Should J. Edgar Hoover be Replaced?" Although in Kitman's own words the answer given in a viewer poll that followed the show "was a resounding NO," Kitman managed to convey the impression that the poll was a fraud.

POSSIBLY, Kitman would have been more comfortable had Hoover's defense been placed in the hands of A. B. Hoffman or Bill Kunstler. He seemed to suggest that the producer of "The Advocates" should have followed the policy of The New York Times Book Review, which can be stated succinctly as follows: When a conservative writes a book, have it reviewed by a liberal. When a liberal writes a book, have it reviewed by a liberal.

AT ANY RATE, Kitman apparently could not avoid revealing that of the more than 20,000 who had voted, the sentiment was running better than 2 to 1 to retain the FBI director. He offered an explanation for this, however.

"The temptation is strong," wrote Kitman, "to suggest that FBI agents in places like Butte, Mont., did all the voting. . . . Another theory is that conservatives tend to write letters more easily than liberals." Kitman sure was determined to have it both ways.

INDEED, he was indicted by his own words. Hoover's advocate, he said, "certainly had a winning way with the public television audience, which is usually assumed to be made up of eggheads." Was Kitman telling us that just this one time this particular program was watched only by an assortment of William McKinleyites, cops, hardhats and assorted fascist pigs? If so, the great mass of Hoover's critics, who usually voice their opinions at the drop of a dangling participle, missed a marvelous opportunity to give our No. 1 cop the rough side of their pens.

THERE IS A possible explanation of the poll's findings which I am sure Kitman would find appalling. I don't know what constitutes an egghead beyond a given individual's own appraisal of his mental capacity, but perhaps Hoover's immense popularity with ordinary people extends even to some students of ancient Greek literature.

Ability Counts

LONDON (AP) — Life at the top in Britain is no longer ruled by the old school tie—that is who you know rather than what you know.

A survey by the Industrial Management journal disclosed nearly half of the bosses of the 30 leading industrial companies went to free government-sponsored schools.

Michael Berry, training director for the Confederation of British Industry, said: "There is too much money at stake today for the old school tie system. From now on it won't matter where you come from. Progress will depend only on ability."

Hospitals had to switch to emergency power, but the short blackout caused no serious problems. The raccoon died.

A Devotion For Today . . .

You are a chosen race . . . a people claimed by God for his own, to proclaim the triumphs of him who has called you out of darkness into his marvelous light. (1 Peter 2:9, NEB)

PRAYER: Father, teach us not to look to bigness or strength of numbers for doing Your will. Help us rather to cultivate the searching spirit and the heart filled with love so that we may learn Your ways and share them with others. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Isn't prayer asking for things we want and desire? Most preachers say it is a way of contacting God. Is this true? L.N. Most people pray, but, as you say, many times prayer is just a selfish wish sent heavenward — and because it is selfish, it never catches the ear of our heavenly Father.

But Christian prayer is something else. The Bible says, "The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

It is not just a wish, not just an expression of selfish desire — it is motivated by the love for mankind; it is said with a burden for a sick, lost world; it is prayed with the Spirit, and with understanding. In short, it is participating with Christ in His love for the world. Paul said, "I pray you in Christ's stead."

Yes, it is possible to pray without our prayers being heard. James wrote, "Ye have not because ye ask amiss." When prayer is, as you say, an expression of our own selfish desires, "The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

It is not just a wish, not just an expression of selfish desire — it is motivated by the love for mankind; it is said with a burden for a sick,

Sick Marriage?

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both in our early forties and we have always had what I considered to be a good marriage. My husband has been a controlled diabetic for some time, but now he has high blood pressure. He recently told me that his doctor has informed him that he cannot have marital relations with me anymore as the excitement might further damage his health. Can this be true?

Don't suggest I ask his doctor because his doctor is his golfing buddy and he would never make a liar out of my husband even if he was one.

WONDERING IN N.J.: DEAR WONDERING: Yes

it's possible that your husband's doctor told him what he told you. But if you suspect your husband of trying to avoid marital relations with you by giving you a phony medical report, you have more trouble than a sick husband — you have a sick marriage.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from MISERABLE IN MAINE — the girl who was engaged to a disabled veteran — hit close to home with me.

I walked down the aisle to marry a man who was waiting for me in a wheelchair. It was a beautiful wedding, and I felt like the luckiest girl in the world to be marrying such a wonderful man.

We've been married for four years and we couldn't be happier. Our son is three and our daughter is two, and we go on picnics, fishing trips and camping vacations together. My husband is an excellent swimmer. Our kids don't feel cheated because their father is handicapped. They get more attention than most of their friends whose fathers are able-bodied.

HAPPY IN ARKANSAS: DEAR HAPPY: Would you believe you have company in every state of the union, and Canada, Ireland and Italy as well?

DEAR ABBY: This is for the babe who says "pumping gas" is only a sideline — those nice men in the service stations are really there to give directions to people who get lost.

Is that so? I have helped hundreds of "lost" drivers get back on the right road. About half the folks who pull up here want everything but what we are selling. We call them "I.W.W.'s" (Information, Wind and Water.) You sure have to fight to make a buck in this business.

LOU IN CANNON FALLS: DEAR LOU: You forgot those fellow travelers who want the key to your restroom.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell Elizabeth K. I would like to be her vice president of the "See America Unintentionally" Society, because getting lost is what I do best.

Would you believe that while driving through Louisville, I somehow meandered around trying to get out of town, and not once, but three times I drove up to the "Welcome to Louisville" sign?

ANOTHER TRAIL BLAZER:

Spread Of V.D.

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

In the spring I published a series of articles on the growing danger of venereal disease, particularly gonorrhea. One of the responses, which has been reported to me from enough varied sources to make me pay attention, is that young people have commented on the articles and found them significant. But they "didn't believe the figures."

Just what they don't believe isn't clear to me even yet, but I think they might be interested, as I was, in a report published in "Michigan Medicine" by Drs. Robert E. Rowe and Ronald S. Balboa, of St. Clair County, Mich.

This is not a big-city area.

It is two counties distant from Detroit, and the principal city in the community is the pleasant one of Port Huron.

In the 1950s the county was having 30 to 40 cases of gonorrhea reported per year — 28 in 1958. There was a slight rise for several years. Then about 1963 the number began to skyrocket. In 1969 (last full year for which the report showed figures) it was 215 and still going up.

At that point a special screening study was undertaken, private physicians cooperating with the health department.

Of 882 girls and women (none of them with apparent symptoms) 101 were found to have gonorrhea. That is 11 1/2 per cent. But about 70 per cent of these new cases were in the age range of 15 to 24.

In short, while the most terrifying "hot-spots" of venereal disease are usually found in the big cities, there is a dangerous amount in the small cities, too.

These St. Clair County figures, along with comparable ones from all over the country, convince me that there was nothing wrong or exaggerated in the figures I published in the spring.

The U. S. Public Health Service sent a trained V. D. investigator to St. Clair County while the screening survey was in progress. By interviews and tracing contacts (i. e., sexual partners) he found 60 additional cases.

In the screening, both the old "smear" test was used and the newer Thayer-Martin culture media test (discussed and urged in my articles). The smear test missed 73 per cent of the cases!

Still another interesting aspect of the study was this:

the past, official figures have generally reported three cases of gonorrhea in males to every one in females. The St. Clair study showed the ratio almost even — 48 per cent for males, 52 for females.

So I repeat exactly what I said before. A great deal of gonorrhea today is being spread by girls and young women who don't know they have it.

How does VD start? Why are teenagers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself? Dr. Thosteson has the answers in his convenient, layman's language booklet, "Venereal Disease: How to Avoid it; How to Cure It." For a copy write him in care of The Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope.

Injuries Alter Original Cast For All-Star Tilt

DETROIT (AP) — On the stage the adage is "the show must go on."

For the baseball All-Star game the adage might be adjusted to read: "The show must go on but who said anything about the original cast?"

With the classic American League-National League confrontation in Detroit a day away injury alibis continue to force AL Manager Earl Weaver of Baltimore and NL Manager Sparky Anderson of Cincinnati to make adjustment to the 28-man rosters.

BLUE TO START

One thing is certain, or at least relatively certain, Oakland's 21-year-old pitching sensation Vida Blue will start for the host American League.

Weaver has already made the announcement, adding that Tiger Mickey Lolich, and his own Oriole hurlers Jim Palmer and Mike Cuellar also would likely see mound duty.

It wasn't certain whom Anderson would start, although Tom Seaver of the New York Mets and San Francisco's Juan Marichal were the likely choices.

Already four players from the original AL squad have been replaced due to injuries. There were no replacements in the NL until Sunday when it was reported that pitcher Larry Dierker of Houston was dropped because of an injury and replaced by teammate Don Wilson.

Also, Cincinnati Reds catcher Johnny Bench, who fans elected as a National's starter, said Sunday he might not be able to play because of a bruised left wrist suffered as a result of a foul tip in a game last week.

LINEUPS

Elected players out of the AL lineup already are first baseman Boog Powell of Baltimore, outfielder Tony Oliva of Minnesota, and catcher Ray Fosse of Cleveland. Pitcher Sam McDowell of Cleveland, one of nine hurlers selected by Weaver, is also out and was replaced by knuckleballer Wilbur Wood of Chicago.

Despite the changes the lineups remain star studded. Among the AL players are Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, Baltimore's Brooks and Frank Robinson, Detroit's Al Kaline, Washington's Frank Howard, Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew and New York's Bobb Murcer. National League headlines include San Francisco's Willie Mays, who'll be appearing in his 22nd All-Star game; Hank Aaron of Atlanta (his 20th);

Willie Stargell and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh; Pete Rose of Cincinnati; Joe Torre of St. Louis; Willie Davis of Los Angeles and Ron Santo of Chicago. The initial All-Star contest was at Chicago in 1933, won 4-2 by the Americans.

But the junior circuit lost the last eight in a row, which dropped its 41-game mark to 17-23-1. The one tie came in the second game in 1961 in Boston when rain halted the proceedings in the ninth with a 1-1 score. Two All-Star games were played in 1959 through 1962.

FOR THE RECORD BOOK — Deron Johnson, Philadelphia Phillies first baseman, holds three balls in the dressing room after hitting three home runs against the Montreal Expos at Veterans Stadium. It was his fourth consecutive round tripper, having hit one on Saturday night. He tied a major league record held by ten others.

Deron Johnson Slaps Trio Of Homers In One Game

By The Associated Press

Deron Johnson was ready to start climbing walls, then he started hitting baseballs over them.

The slugging Philadelphia first baseman, who will be 32 Saturday, clouted home runs to right, center and left fields in his first three appearances Sunday and drove in five runs, powering the Phillies to an 11-5 victory over Montreal.

Coupled with the homer he hit in his last at-bat Saturday night, it gave Johnson four homers in a row, tying a major league record held by 16 other players. The last player to belt four consecutive homers was Oakland's Mike Epstein, who did it June 15-16.

The last National Leagueur to do it was the New York Mets' Art Shamsky, who did it with Cincinnati from Aug. 13-14, 1966. The three homers in one game were the first by a right-handed hitting Philadelphia player at home since Del Ennis did it on July 23, 1955.

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from the floundering New York Mets, 7-2 and 5-3; Chicago and San Diego split, the Cubs winning the opener 2-0 and the Padres taking the nightcap 7-5; Los Angeles trounced San Francisco 11-3; St. Louis trimmed Houston 7-3; and Atlanta at Pittsburgh was rained out. Cincinnati's two victories extended the Mets' losing streak to six games and gave them 11 setbacks in their last 12 games. They also dropped New York 10 games behind first-place Pittsburgh in the East.

The Reds took the opener as Gary Nolan pitched a six-hitter and capped a six-run fifth inning with a two-run single. In the second game, Tony Perez drove in all five Cincinnati runs, the last three with his second homer of the contest and 14th of the season, a three-run blast off Tom Seaver in the eighth. Perez also had a solo homer in the second and a run-scoring single in the sixth.

The Cubs' Mike Pappas handcuffed San Diego on four hits in the opener after hurling hitless ball for six innings, while Johnny Callison drove in both Chicago runs with a sacrifice fly in the fourth and a homer in the seventh.

The Dodgers' victory over San Francisco ended their six-game losing streak and moved them within six games of the first-place Giants in the West.

In semirival matches, Kniffen and Williams turned back Mattingley and Kirksey, 6-4, 6-3; while Jordan and Mrs. Kniffen were topping Walker and Walker, 6-4, 6-2.

In veterans' singles, Bill Montgomery decisioned Harry Jordan, 6-0, 3-6, 6-2, in the title match after beating Woody Mann in an earlier test, 6-1, 6-0. Jordan had drawn a first-round bye.

Revson, whose New York relatives made a fortune in cosmetics, has spent the last three years going to school with the professional racing drivers of the Can-Am series.

The 32-year-old bachelor, who suddenly has reached the top money bracket himself, including $102,000 for a second place finish in the 1971 Indianapolis 500, graduated into the top Can-Am ranks Sunday by driving a Team McLaren racer to victory at Road Atlanta.

Conversely, it required ex-stock car driving great Junior Johnson, now a car builder, only three races to put his independently-financed Chevrolet into victory circle in Dixie stock car racing.

The Johnson Chevy, driven by Indiana hot shot Charlie Giotzbach, won the Volunteer 250 mile Grand National race at Bristol, Tenn., Sunday, finishing three laps ahead of defending champion Bobby Allison in a Ford.

Revson, who joined the heavily endowed McLaren team as No. 2 driver at state start of the season, wheeled his Gulf-orange machine to an easy victory at Road Atlanta, finishing some 20 seconds ahead of versatile teammate Denis Hulme of New Zealand.

In Sunday's other feature race, Jack Bowsher of Springfield, Ohio, captured his fourth straight victory on USAC's stock car circuit in a 200-mile event at Milwaukee. Second place went to A. J. Foyt, Bowsher's Ford teammate.

Oriole Hurlers Don't Reflect Collapse Sign

By The Associated Press

The only way anyone is going to catch the Baltimore Orioles is if their pitching collapses, says Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees. Pat Dobson is doing his best to see it doesn't happen.

Dobson breezed to his 10th victory—and seventh in a row—Sunday as the Orioles exploded for six runs in the seventh inning and trounced Cleveland 7-1.

That enabled him to join Baltimore's corps of double-figure winners alongside Mike Cuellar and Dave McNally, who have won 13 apiece, and Jim Palmer, who has 12 triumphs.

Houk's Yankees did their best to destroy Boston over the weekend, sweeping three games from the Red Sox—Sunday's score was 3-2—and dropping them 5½ games behind the Orioles in the American League East. Elsewhere, Washington edged Detroit 4-3 in 10 innings, leaving the Tigers 7½ back.

OAKLAND WIDENS

In the AL West, Oakland boosted its spread to 11½ games by splitting with California—the A's took the opener 3-2, then dropped the nightcap 6-3—while Kansas City was losing a pair to Minnesota 6-5 in 10 innings and 7-1. Milwaukee and Chicago traded 1-0 decisions, the Brewers taking the first one.

Simmons Is Astro Jinx

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ted Simmons missed the call as a catcher in this week's All-Star game, but the St. Louis Cardinals figure the oversight may not happen again.

The switch-hitting 21-year-old Sunday pumped his batting average to .292 and his RBI total to 40 with three hits leading the Cardinals past the Houston Astros 7-3. But Simmons, who has been hampered by military obligations, was not chosen last Friday when National League Manager Sparky Anderson of Cincinnati filled out his roster for the Tuesday night Star engagement in Detroit.

His bevy of hits Sunday included a ground rule double scoring Lou Brock in the fifth inning after he delivered a sacrifice fly to center in the third.

Kniffen, Williams Cop Net Crown

Novice Kniffen and Sandy Williams teamed to win mixed doubles in the Big Spring Closed Tennis Tournament here Saturday night, defeating the team of Harry Jordan and Mrs. Kniffen in the finals, 6-4, 6-4.

In semirival matches, Kniffen and Williams turned back Mattingley and Kirksey, 6-4, 6-3; while Jordan and Mrs. Kniffen were topping Walker and Walker, 6-4, 6-2.

In veterans' singles, Bill Montgomery decisioned Harry Jordan, 6-0, 3-6, 6-2, in the title match after beating Woody Mann in an earlier test, 6-1, 6-0. Jordan had drawn a first-round bye.

Trevino's Stock Soars As Result Of British Win

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Lee Trevino headed for the Western Open in Chicago today with his reputation even higher than the triumvirate who have dominated world golf for a decade.

The "Big Three" still are regarded as Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and South Africa's Gary Player.

But when Trevino took the British Open Saturday, he added this ancient crown to the U.S. and Canadian titles that he's won in less than a month.

Palmer scratched from the British Open because he was upset by the way he was playing. Nicklaus finished the championship tied for fifth on a four round total of 283-five strokes off the pace set by Trevino, who had 278-14 under par.

Player was one stroke back of Nicklaus at 284.

"I'm the second Cassius Clay," Trevino whooped after leaving the Royal Birkdale course by the Irish Sea with the British crown under his belt.

By that he meant he was dominating golf the same way Muhammad Ali-Clay dominated the world heavyweight boxing scene.

Everyone here in the country that gave birth to golf agreed that Trevino now is the man to beat for any title.

Trevino, even bouncier than he normally is on the American circuit, nearly blew the British Championship with a disastrous 7 at the 71st hole. He was playing with virtually unknown golfer from Taiwan Liang Huan Lu.

This shapes up as a crucial week for both the teenage legends.

Chinese Roads Pose Puzzle

WASHINGTON (AP) — New intelligence suggests Chinese road building in northern Laos is designed to bolster Peking's border defense and help Hanoi, rather than to aid Communist insurgents in Thailand and Burma.

China's aims in constructing the road network have been something of a puzzle to Western analysts since the project was begun about a half-dozen years ago.

The United States, anxious to avoid Chinese entry into the Indochina conflict, has kept its bombers from hitting the road and the thousands of Chinese working on it. But U.S. reconnaissance craft keep an eye on the project.

Reports on the Chinese construction during the just-completed dry season showed a slow down in construction, a stepup in anti-aircraft defenses and near completion of a link to Dien Bien Phu in North Vietnam.

U.S. specialists say there has been no new construction at the lower end of the motorway, which still ends about 25 miles from the Mekong River.

An estimated 20,000 Chinese are working on the road, which leads down from the Chinese frontier in the direction of northeast Thailand.

Another 2,000 are said to have been assigned to air defenses along the road, bringing the anti-aircraft contingent to about one-third the size of the total force. Anti-aircraft guns were reported increased by a third, including modern radar-controlled weapons.

U.S. specialists conclude that the Dien Bien Phu link is designed to help North Vietnamese forces in northern Laos which hitherto have had no direct motor road connection with home supply bases.

They figure the Chinese put in more anti-aircraft guns to protect against a Thailand-based attack by U.S. or Thai planes.

With the road stopping short of the Mekong, a major international artery in Southeast Asia, the conclusion among Washington sources is that Peking wants to deter any U.S.-allied moves near Chinese borders.

If the Chinese intended to step up guerrilla fighting in nearby Thai and Burmese regions at this time, the road builders presumably would have pushed the few miles remaining to the river.

Two U.S. Planes Knock Out Seven Antiaircraft Guns

SAIGON (AP) — A pair of U.S. Phantom jets streaked from Laos into North Vietnam Sunday and made the biggest kill of anti-aircraft guns reported in more than two months.

The U.S. Command said the F4 fighter-bombers destroyed four anti-aircraft guns and damaged three others near the Mu Gia pass 80 miles northwest of the demilitarized zone. They pulled out of their bomb runs unscathed.

It was the most successful strike inside North Vietnam reported since May 10, when five U.S. pilots reported they destroyed 13 anti-aircraft guns about a mile from the batteries two 37mm. He said one 57mm gun and two 37mm guns were damaged.

The 85mm is the second largest gun in North Vietnam's anti-aircraft arsenal with a range of 10 miles. The 57mm has a range of eight miles and the 37mm can reach five miles.

The command also disclosed that another Phantom equipped for photo reconnaissance was hit by enemy ground fire while on a mission Saturday over Stung Treng province in northern Cambodia. The two pilots managed to fly back to Saigon, but while making a pass over Tan Son Nhut air base the plane tower told them the plane was on fire. The two men bailed out, ditching the jet in an uninhabited swamp 13 miles southeast of Saigon. The men were rescued unharmed.

U.S. B52 heavy bombers kept up their attacks along the Ho Chi Minh trail and against the enemy supply lines from Laos into the northwestern part of South Vietnam.

Ground fighting continued in a lull with only small patrol actions reported.

Goren On Bridge

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
—CHARLES H. GOREN

you have the kind of partner who frightens very easily and is inclined toward confusion after game has been reached, perhaps it would be wiser to step up and utter the mystic words yourself.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A 5 4 2 ♠J 10 3 ♣10 9 6 4 2
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
2 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
3 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—Even though you forced partner to bid and he may be completely lacking in high cards, we nevertheless suggest a sporting bid of five clubs. The ace of hearts should be favorably located, and it may well prove that partner will lose only a heart and a spade.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South, with 70 part score, you hold:
♠AJ 10 2 ♠7 4 ♠AQ 10 3 ♠10 9
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
1 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—Four spades. Partner has shown possession of the ace of clubs and the ace of hearts and a distinct interest in a slam. You certainly were not stretching a point to make the slight overbid of game. A mere return to three spades indicates that you desire to let matters drop. Four spades will suggest to your partner that in addition to data previously supplied, your trump support is good.

Q. 3—You are South, vulnerable, and hold:
♠A 7 6 4 ♠J 10 7 ♠3 ♠A 9 7 5 2
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ 1 ♥ Pass ?
2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid?
A—Three hearts. Partner should be given a strong inducement to proceed to game. The lack of robust trumps is no objection to the jump raise inasmuch as partner's vulnerable overall must be presumed to advertise a good suit. A bid demerit for bidding two clubs to which partner need not respond, inasmuch as he did not open the bidding.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, you are South, have 60 part score, and hold:
♠AQ 5 2 ♠7 3 2 ♠AKJ ♠K 2
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—Three diamonds. This is an absolute force for one round. Spades have been agreed upon and the game has been completed, so this is a patent slam try. If

Heat Wave Continues

Weather across Texas today was expected to be a hot, partly cloudy summer rerun of Sunday's weather.

The most important, and, perhaps, disappointing aspect of today's forecast was that little or no shower activity was predicted.

The National Weather Service said Texas would remain clear to partly cloudy with warm to hot temperatures.

Temperatures Sunday soared to 102 at Childress and Wichita Falls but at Dalhart it was only 100 degrees.

Fresh Gulf breezes fanned Galveston Island where it was 87. McAllen also recorded an 87-degree reading Sunday.

Though spotty showers fell at Beaumont, Brownsville, College Station, McAllen and San Antonio, none did more than dampen the powdery dust.

Sons Of Rebel Veterans Elect

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Loy J. Gilbert was selected Sunday as the new commander of the Texas division of the Sons of Confederate Veterans.

Lieutenant commanders elected by the delegates to the association's annual convention here included George Polk of Houston, Chilton Cook of Alice and W. T. Mettles of Houston.

Gilbert's predecessor in the office of commander is Peter Folks.

Horseman's Club

Members of the Youth Horseman's Club will have their regular monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the First Federal Community Room. A play day set for Friday will be discussed, according to Richard Templeton, president.

HARDIN IS HAPPY WITH SUBSIDY LAW

TUNIS (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin said he will not recommend any changes in the 1970 law limiting farm subsidy payments even though many large farmers reportedly have spread out their businesses to avoid losing subsidies.

Hardin said the splitting up of large farm holdings "is perfectly legal in the way the law was written. Of course if there are any instances of illegal steps taken by certain farmers, these will be taken up in due course."

"But, at this point," he added in an interview, "I am not in favor of changing the law itself. I think it is a good law, and it has helped a large number of small farmers to get allotments and thereby improve their efficiency."

He added that this was a "tentative judgment" and the operation of the law could be reviewed after the end of the year.

He said the subsidy law fixed $55,000 as the maximum individual payment because "if the maximum had been fixed any lower, it would have squeezed out some of our most efficient farmers."

Hardin is ending a four-nation African tour to review the effectiveness of American aid.

Sao Paulo Residents Don't Live, 'They Are Punished'

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Without warning, a trim, balding man wearing a sports shirt appears at a subway construction site. He converses briefly with engineers, makes a few notes and leaves.

Minutes later he's at City Hall, presiding over a conference on flood control. Then he rushes off to the Sanitation Dept. to taste the rice and beans the streetcleaners are getting for lunch.

This is Jose Carlos de Figueiredo Ferraz, university professor, former track star and now mayor of South America's biggest city. Sympathetic friends say Figueiredo Ferraz has inherited South America's biggest problem.

"Sao Paulo must stop growing, or else it will turn into chaos," the 52-year-old mayor told a visitor. "Our population is increasing by more than 200,000 a year. We no longer have the resources to supply the people with basic services: housing, electricity, sanitation, transportation, water, he said.

"Today, people don't 'live' in this city. They're punished by it."

CAN'T STOP
Known to the rest of Brazil as "the city that can't stop," Sao Paulo has become an urban planner's nightmare. It has more than 6 million people within the city limits and is No. 2 in population in the Western Hemisphere. All indications are that it will overtake New York by 1980.

Sao Paulo is bigger in area area, with a population of more than 8 million, has nearly twice versus 458, and its metropolitan than Los Angeles, 576 sq. mi. as many manufacturing plants (27,500) as greater Chicago.

The city has grown so fast government agencies have been hopelessly left behind in their efforts to keep pace. Downtown traffic is a massive snarl. The air is polluted. Millions of "Paulistas" lack telephones, paved and lighted streets, sewers and piped-in water. Neighborhood parks, schools and hospitals are luxuries for a privileged minority.

Why would anybody want to be the mayor?

HARD PERSUASION
"I was won over after some hard persuasion," explained Figueiredo Ferraz. "I'm not a politician. I think that by applying modern administrative methods, including computerized data processing, we can begin to work out logical solutions to our problems."

Married and the father of four children, Figueiredo Ferraz holds a Ph.D. in physical science and mathematics and another in architecture. He was South American 100-meter champion in the late 1930s. He doesn't smoke, prefers lemonade to whiskey and — despite his gruelling schedule as mayor — still has a college class where he lectures twice a month on "Bridges and Large Structures."

BIG PLAY
The local press has given big play to the way Figueiredo Ferraz pops up unexpectedly at construction projects and municipal offices.

"You've got to get out and be seen," he remarked. "If the mayor stays in his office and never personally inspects what's going on, this job becomes fiction."

Figueiredo Ferraz' current priority project is the subway. "It's the only solution to our traffic problem," he said, "and it's the only major municipal undertaking for which we currently have the needed resources at our disposal."

EXPENSIVE PROJECT
Sao Paulo's 41.5-mile subway will be the most expensive public works project in the history of Brazil, with an expected price tag of well over $1 billion. Construction began in 1968 but until recently had limped along. The mayor publicly has promised that a 5-mile stretch from downtown to the north side will be operating by October, 1973.

Also high on his list: creating a "green heart" amid Sao Paulo's central core of steel, concrete and traffic exhaust. The mayor realizes this will be long in coming and costly, so for the present he relies on laws such as the one which prohibits anyone from cutting down a tree without permission from the city.

Figueiredo Ferraz is pushing for administrative reforms such as bringing traffic control and water supply under city instead of state jurisdiction. But he recognizes that the over-all solution for making Sao Paulo stop is out of his control.

SLOW DOWN
"We must do something to slow down the movement from the countryside to the cities, not just here but all over Brazil," he said. "We must make it practical for people to remain in rural areas. We need more highways, rural electrification, regional agricultural and technical schools."

Yet while the mayor speaks, poor people continue to stream into Sao Paulo at the rate of 400 a day from the farms of neighboring Minas Gerais state and from the drought-stricken northeast region. Usually illiterate and without technical skills, they sleep in doorways of downtown office buildings or set up cardboard shacks under freeway overpasses.

A $3 million study contracted by the city three years ago predicted Sao Paulo's population in 1990 would be 10 to 13 million and as high as 20 million including the suburbs. "The city simply must come to a halt — now," Figueiredo Ferraz says.

Youths Snatch Lifetime Saving

BOSTON (AP) — Three youths snatched a handbag containing $2,500 in $100 bills from Mrs. Anna Deran, 57, of Milton as she waited for a bus Friday in the Mattapan section, police said.

Police officers found the straw handbag, emptied, about a block away. Mrs. Doran said the money was her life savings.
