Vacation-Minded Senate Votes On Lockheed Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A vacation-minded Senate has agreed to vote up or down today a bill to rescue the financially tottering Lockheed Aircraft Corp., with a $250-million loan guarantee.

The outcome is uncertain. The Lockheed verdict topped a crowded, controversial congressional agenda on get-away week for a month's recess last week from Friday until Sept. 8.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said if Congress is forced to step into the spreading rail strike situation, the vacation schedule might have to be pushed back.

CAN'T DO IT

"We just can't go on like this," he said.

After nine days of debate, the Senate had dropped a $2-billion bill authorizing loan guarantees for financially ailing businesses, and agreed to act instead on a House-approved bill to aid only Lockheed.

That $250-million measure clearly is in trouble. Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., the sponsor, would say only that the outcome will be close.

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., a leading opponent, said: "The chances of beating it are good."

Sponsors had fashioned the broad corporate-rescue bill to lure Senate votes for the aid that Lockheed and the administration insist is vital before mid-August to ward off bankruptcy.

ALBERT SPEAKS OUT

But the House voted Friday night for the $250-million Lockheed guarantee, 192 to 189, and Speaker Carl Albert said it would go no further.

That led to a hasty round of Senate negotiations Saturday, and the bill was scaled back to $250 million with approval of Sen. B. Connally.

"It looks like it's going to be that or nothing, and I'm not sure they can get that," said Mansfield.

"We're in a time crunch now," said Tower. "The facts of life are the facts of life."

According to Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., one of them is that five to eight Republicans who would have supported a broader corporate loan guarantee bill will vote against the Lockheed measure.

Once that issue is settled, the Senate is to take up a campaign finance reform bill, to limit political spending and require full disclosure.

'Dirty 30' Member Hopes To Knock Down Remap Plan

AUSTIN (AP) — A member of the "Dirty 30" begins a court fight today to save his district.

Rep. Tom Craddick of Midland originally sued challenging the House Redistricting Bill in his home town, but the defendants got the case transferred to Austin.

Among the defendants are Gov. Preston Smith, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin and Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr.

The self-named "Dirty 30" are House liberals and Republicans who opposed Speaker Gus Mutscher and the "establishment" during this year's legislative session.

Only five of the "Dirty 30" escaped injury under Mutscher's redistricting bill. Several criticized the speaker for what they called a deliberate and vindictive attempt to punish them with the bill by forcing them to run against each other or against other incumbents.

Craddick's suit contends the bill violates the Texas Constitution because it eliminates his district and splits Midland County between the two other districts. The Constitution says when a county lacks the population to constitute a separate district by itself, it shall be joined to contiguous counties until it reaches the necessary size.

An attorney general's opinion in 1965 held that this provision requires "that counties be kept intact and their boundaries not be violated."

Tidal Wave Alert Issued

TOKYO (AP) — A strong earthquake rocked northern and central Japan this afternoon, and the Central Meteorological agency issued a tidal wave warning for the Pacific coast of Hokkaido, the northernmost island.

There were no immediate reports of casualties or damage.

The Meteorological agency located the center of the quake beneath the Pacific about 60 miles off Urakawa, Hokkaido.

The quake occurred at 4:25 p.m., or 3:25 a.m. EDT. At Urakawa it registered an intensity of five on a Japanese scale with a maximum of seven. The reading in Tokyo was Two.

The National Earthquake Center in Washington, D.C., recorded the quake at 7 on the Richter Scale. A quake with a Richter magnitude of 6.7 on Jan. 20 caused one death and injured 33 persons in Hokkaido.

one-man, one-vote rule.

Midland County has 65,433 people. Division of the state's 11,196,730 population by the 150 House seats shows that the perfect district would have exactly 74,645.

"Midland County is thus split and placed in two representative districts stretching from the border of Texas on the south to Abilene, 187 miles northwest of Midland, and yet, Midland is only 9,212 persons short of the ideal number of 74,645," Craddick's suit says.

A compact district could have been made from some combination of Midland, Martin (pop. 4,744), Glasscock (1,155), Reagan (3,239) and Upton (4,697) counties without violating county lines, the suit says.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—As third hand, after two passes, you hold:
♠AK102♥J76♣853♦AJ4

What is your opening bid?

A.—One spade. If you were the dealer, the proper call would be one club to provide an easy rebid of one spade if partner responded with a diamond or a heart, but since partner has already passed, you need not prepare for a rebid, for it should be your purpose to pass any response partner makes. Therefore, bid one spade.

Q. 2—Your partner has opened with two no trump and vulnerable you hold:
♠J876543♥952♦74♣6

What is your response?

A.—Despite the fact that you have only one high card point, a bid of three spades is clearly indicated. Any seven card major suit should produce a game opposite a hand containing 22 points in high cards. If partner returns to three no trump, you must, of course, proceed to four spades. No partner, however illustrious, is entitled to play this hand at no trump.

Q. 3—As South, with East and West vulnerable, you hold:
♠9643♥72♦AK85♣AJ10

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass 2♠ Pass Dble. Pass?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. There is no reason for you not to stand for partner's double, even the his response was not a very vigorous nature. You have three very fast tricks, which is all that is to be expected of a player who opened the bidding.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ76♥Q96♦J4♣KQ93

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass 2♠ Pass?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three clubs. With this hand you wish to arrive at a game contract, but in order to determine the best medium, a temporarily bid of three clubs is in order. If partner rebids hearts, you may raise to game in that suit. If he goes to three no trump, you may accept the contract, and if he returns to three spades, you may contract for game in that suit.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠Q62♥4♦AK7542♣Q75

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♣ Pass 1♦ 1♥ 2♦ 2♥?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five diamonds. Partner has opened the bidding and made a free raise. He must, therefore, have a very sound hand. Your queen of clubs has become promoted in value by reason of partner's bid in that suit. You have the right singleton and should expect no difficulty in making five diamonds.

Q. 6—As South, with both sides vulnerable, you hold:
♠AKQ♥KQJ974♦1075♣45

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1♦ Pass Pass Dble. Pass Pass 1♠ 2♥ Pass 3♣ Pass?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. Inasmuch as partner can take care of the clubs, you should be able to run nine tricks. Remember, partner stood for the double of one diamond and therefore has that suit well bottled up.

Q. 7—East-West vulnerable, you open with one heart, partner responds with one no trump and you hold:
♠95♥AKJ4♦AQJ5♣863

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Game is hopeless, and your hand is of the no trump family. You will do well enough to take seven tricks without trying for eight. You have only 15 points and partner cannot have more than 10.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠54♥KJ10972♦AK4♣93

The bidding has proceeded: East South West North 1♥ Pass Pass Pass

What is your opening lead?

A.—You should start drawing trumps at once to prevent declarer from using any of his little ones from ruffing. The best lead is the king of hearts. This allows for the remote chance that dummy has a singleton queen. If declarer has the ace and queen it makes no difference, because he must make them both in any event.

Appreciation For All Reunion Help

Each year, the Howard County Old Settlers Reunion is held through the cooperation and financial gifts of local residents.

Some of the persons and businesses contributing to this year's reunion include J. O. Chapman, Western Auto, Pinkie's Liquor Store, Furr's Food Store, Mrs. Rosemary McDowell, C. B. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Horton, Merle and Pearl Wilburn and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McKinney.

"We appreciate everything which has been done to help with the reunion," said Mrs. Dollie Murphree, reunion secretary-treasurer. "Without the donations, the donation of services, those who prepared and served the food, those who helped in planning and putting on the program, we simply could not have had the reunion this year."

In the Big Spring Herald, Wednesday, July 23, there was an ad entitled "You Be The Judge" in which it was stated that the City budget had increased from 1.5 million dollars to 3.5 million dollars under Larry Crow's administration (June 15, 1962-June 30, 1971). That's a two million dollar increase.

The budget documents (which are public records) show the 1962-63 budget as $2,184,602, and the current budget as $3,200,203. That's approximately a one million dollar increase.

Your ad figures claim two million, the records show one million. You are wrong about one million dollars — or to put it another way, by about 100 per cent.

Without going into detail, the rest of this crafty ad about city employees was just about as unfair and misleading. I think you know this. Why smear these good people?

I am not hiding behind any committee and I represent no special interest group. I am not a member of FAIR or CARE, and neither group has anything to do with this ad. I am paying for it myself purely to set the record straight. I have nothing to gain from this, but Big Spring has been good to me and my family for nine years, and I feel Big Spring folks are entitled to honesty and a fair statement of facts.

Lunar Scientists Intrigued By Info

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Lunar scientists are intrigued by the unusual rocks collected by Apollo 15 at the base of the moon's Apennine Mountains. They're eager to get them into the laboratory and find out if they might be as old as the moon itself.

The rock is definitely the high point of the traverse," Dr. S. A. Zis of Massachusetts Institute of Technology said Sunday after astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin collected two rocks Scott excitedly described as anorthosites.

The description was followed immediately by cautious speculation the moon explorers might have found pieces of the original lunar crust formed more than four billion years ago when the moon was a molten blob beginning to cool.

GUESS WHAT?
"Guess what we just found," Scott said. "As a matter of fact ... oh boy, I think we might have ourselves something close to an anorthosite."

Anorthosite is a rock that contains almost 90 per cent plagioclase—a mineral composed of calcium, sodium, aluminum and silicates. Finding pieces of anorthosite—especially pieces with large crystals as Scott and Irwin indicated their samples contained—is significant because of a popular theory that the original lunar crust might be composed of such rocks.

The anorthosite, the theory says, was carved out of the moon's primordial surface when great objects from space struck the earth satellite. The chunks rained down on certain regions of the moon forming the lunar highlands.

SO TINY
Apollo 15, which landed on the edge of the lunar highlands, didn't yield any large rocks that could definitely be identified as pieces of crust. Pieces of anorthosite were found on earlier missions, but they were so tiny and their origin so uncertain that no one could be sure if they were from the crust.

What is needed is a large piece of anorthosite that can easily be studied and passed around to many scientists.

The lunar experts hoped anorthosite would be more abundant on the slopes of the Apennine Mountains because more of it would have been thrown there when a 50-mile wide object struck the moon and created Imbrium Basin to the north.

The astronauts had been carefully schooled to look for it. "That's why they got so excited. We've taken them on field trips on earth to see bodies of anorthosite so they would be familiar with it," explained Dr. Robin Brett, chief of the geochemistry branch at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Anorthosite, while rare on earth, does exist in several areas including Wyoming and the Adirondack Mountains.

"It has been the notion of most of us that anorthosite is old," said Dr. Harold Urey of the University of California at San Diego. "Of course, finding out will have to wait until we get it into the laboratory."

Most rocks on the moon that have been carefully studied to determine age are less than four billion years old. Geologists say a piece of the original lunar crust would have to be older, perhaps 4.4 billion or 4.5 billion years.

ROCK COOLED
"But the crust is going to consist of a variety of rock types and ages because when the moon cooled I can't believe the process was uniform," Brett said. "In a way the idea of an 'original lunar crust' is not consistent."

Scott's report that he could see crystals was interpreted as further evidence the rock might be old.

Large crystals, the scientists explained, means the rock cooled and changed from the liquid to solid state very slowly. This can only happen deep in the moon—further evidence the unusual rocks might have been gouged from far within the lunar crust.

At one point Scott and Irwin debated the color of the rocks they found, their own color vision altered by the glare of sunlight and their gold visors. They thought they found one sample that was green, but later determined it was gray. "This visor makes it green," Scott said.

"Remember about green cheese," Irwin quipped. "Hope it's green when we get home."

Legion Seeking To Erase Stigma Of Drug Troubles

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma's American Legion has adopted a resolution calling for a presidential review board with authority to erase the stigma of dishonor for Vietnam veterans discharged as drug addicts.

The resolution passed at the state convention here Sunday provides for the board to declare drug addiction involving veterans as a service connected disability. It calls for permitting GI addicts to secure treatment at Veterans Administration Hospitals.

Policy Statement On Chinese Membership In U. N. Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration plans to issue this week its long-awaited policy statement on Chinese membership in the United Nations.

Officials said Secretary of State William P. Rogers will set forth the U.S. position on the issue, which promises to be a hot one at the United Nations this fall with the United States risking a diplomatic black eye in the process. President Nixon, under his new policy of friendship toward Peking, is understood to favor seating Red China in the United Nations. He is also said to be against expulsion of Nationalist China, an old ally, from the world body.

'ONE CHINA' GOAL

Rogers and other administration strategists are reported to have decided on a two-thirds vote tactic at the U.N. General Assembly which they hope will achieve this "one-China-one-Taiwan" goal—or at least will show that America is not abandoning its allies.

The general idea of the tactic is to have a straight majority vote on seating Peking and a two-thirds requirement against expelling Taiwan.

This two-thirds vote procedure would be different from the one under which the United States has barred Red China's entry in past years. Under that, U.N. admission was deemed an "important question" and a simple majority was not enough to bring Peking in.

U.S. officials said, however, that a nose count at the United Nations still shows a majority of nations are against kicking out a member by less than a two-thirds vote.

BREWED WITH PURE SPRING WATER
Pearl is better beer because it's spring water fresh, spring water smooth. From the Country of 1100 Springs.

SINCE 1886
Back in 1886, Pearl discovered the Country of 1100 Springs. And the country discovered a great new beer. A beer brewed with a unique German formula and pure Texas Spring Water.

PEARL—A PROUD NAME
Over 100 years ago, a brewmaster in Germany watched the bubbles rise in a glass of beer. They looked like little pearls so he called them perlen. The word perle came to mean the sparkle—the life—of the beer. Years later, a famous German brewer in Bremen chose Perle as the name for its finest lager beer.

Perle. Our founders brought both the name and the formula over from Germany in 1886. And the proud name of Pearl began.

FINE LAGER BEER
The word "lager," from the German verb, "lagern," means to store or to age. Centuries ago, German monks aged their beer in cool mountain caves. Today, Pearl Beer is placed in special glass-lined tanks in refrigerated aging cellars. There it is slowly "lagered" to bring its famous flavor and aroma to perfection. Pearl Beer. The fine lager beer Texans proudly call their own.

TEXAS LIMESTONE
Underground formations provide a natural filtration system for our perfect brewing water.

COLD, CLEAR, CASCADING WATER.

XXX
When European royalty and noblemen traveled the countryside in the 16th century, a courier was sent ahead to sample the beer in the inns along the way. If the beer was average, the courier would mark the inn's door with a single X. If the beer was good, two X's marked the spot. But if the beer was of the highest quality, the inn received three X's. XXX. The meaning hasn't changed.

THE COUNTRY OF 1100 SPRINGS
Hidden deep in the hills of Southwest Texas is one of the great spring regions of the world, the Country of 1100 Springs. It's a big, lonesome land. Still wild. Rugged. And free.

This six-million-acre stretch of scenic beauty is dotted with crystal-clear springs. The icy water from these natural fountains flows into noisy rivers like the Frio and the Medina, and then disappears underground into honeycombed limestone.

Never leaving this snow-white stone, the spring water makes its way south and east into the natural underground reservoir where our own wells find it, a quarter mile beneath the Pearl Brewery. Up comes one of the world's few naturally perfect brewing waters. Fresh. Clear. Perfect for capturing all the life and good taste in Pearl's fine grains and hops.

The delicate flavors you often miss in other beers can't hide in this rare water.

Pour yourself a cold Pearl Beer. Every refreshing sip will take you back to the Country of 1100 Springs.

'I'll Be Seeing You' Crew Maps Harlingen Reunion

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. Navy used the plane after the war and it was turned over the CAF for its Museum in Harlingen.

Harlingen will also host this week's reunion of the flying crew of the "I'll Be Seeing You," a B17 flown in the European theater that was named after a famous Bing Crosby song.

Darrell Skurich of Brownwood, one of the pilots bringing the aircraft to Texas, said almost every type of World War II airplane is owned by the CAF.

Weather Cools Rally

Dampness and unseasonably cool weather had its effect on attendance at the Jesus Christ Crusade Sunday as only a small crowd braved the elements to attend. The Crusade will continue at 7 o'clock each night through Sunday in the amphitheater in Comanche Trail Park.

Local youths gave testimonies concerning their Christian faith, and The Believers, a musical group from Midland, combined testimony and music to express their beliefs. The Rev. Howard Hingston, 21, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Cookeville, is speaker for the week.

Sudanese Government Recalls Its Envoys From Moscow, Sofia

By The Associated Press

The Sudanese government has recalled its ambassadors from Moscow and Sofia and threatened to break diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union, Egypt's Middle East News Agency reported today.

The regime of President Jaafar el Numairi issued a statement Sunday charging both the Soviet Union and Bulgaria with intervention in Sudan's internal affairs, the Egyptian agency said.

VILE CAMPAIGN

The statement deplored the "vile propaganda campaign" against Numairi's government by the Soviet press because of the crackdown on the Sudanese Communists following their unsuccessful attempt to overthrow Numairi last month. The Bulgarian Embassy in Khartoum had been accused of a major role in the plot to oust Numairi and install a pro-Communist regime.

"We may give the Kremlin a chance to explain the motives behind the campaign against us," said one high-ranking Sudanese, "and then break all our relations with the Soviet Union."

The executions of leaders of the attempted coup was accompanied by increasing criticism from the Soviet Union and its allies, climaxing Saturday with a warning from Tass that Moscow might break relations with Khartoum. This would cut off Sudan's present source of arms, but one Sudanese official commented: "We can get arms from any other country. We can do without the Soviet arms."

Plan For Desegregation Of Dallas Schools Slated

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. District Judge William Taylor hands down an order today outlining a plan for desegregation of the Dallas Independent School District.

The decision was not expected to please both sides — the school district or the 21 parents who brought the suit. Those unhappy with the plan are expected to appeal to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Both parties expected wholesale redrawing of school boundary zones for junior and senior high schools.

Dallas school trustees called a noon meeting for today to lay plans for immediate implementation of Taylor's order.

"We've got to lay a timetable for the opening of school, depending on how long it takes to implement the judge's order," said school board vice president Eugene Smith.

Although school officials say they do not want to delay the opening of school Aug. 24, they point out that such a delay may be necessary to implement the order.

mers are "swarming" at her location.

"Busing is definitely what it is," she said. "We ask them 'Are you running?' and they answer 'yes.'"

Most of her new customers are tending to leave behind their Dallas residences for what they can get unless they have a great deal invested, she said.

One agent in Garland said about 75 per cent of the people coming to his apartment complex have noticed the apartment's advertisement saying it is within the Garland Independent School District.

Apartment complexes in Richardson, which is generating most of the traffic, are advertising prominently in local newspapers they are part of the Richardson School District.

Can't Shake Them

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You may not categorize this as a major problem, but to me, right now, it is.

Recently my husband and I bought a summer place. We wanted it mainly for our children's sake. For years we have wanted to get away from the city and relax in privacy.

Now, the problem: My sister and her husband have decided that they would like a place near us. They have seven children. They now live a few blocks from us in the suburbs. I love my family, dearly, but Abby, not next door at all times!

I don't want to cause friction between families, but is there a way to avoid this situation? Or am I being selfish and unfair?

DEAR ABBY: You are neither selfish nor unfair, just realistic. I agree, too much togetherness can cause any good relationship to come apart at the seams, but unless your relatives realize it (which they obviously do not) you would have to be a master diplomat to suggest it without offending them.

DEAR ABBY: I just graduated from high school and made a lot of enemies without meaning to. You see, I sent out 60 graduation announcements to let my relatives know that I was graduating. I ordered the announcements through my school like all the kids do.

Well, it seems that a lot of my relatives took the announcement to mean they were invited to my graduation exercises, which they were not because I got only four tickets, which went to my parents and one set of grandparents.

One aunt said that as long as she couldn't attend my graduation, she could have lived without the announcement. An uncle said that to him an announcement without an invitation was like saying, "Send your present, but stay home." I would like your opinion.

IN THE DOGHOUSE
DEAR IN: Not everyone constructs an announcement as a bid for a gift, but if your relatives do, in the future, skip the announcements.

DEAR ABBY: I am a bride and new in the office. There is an older woman over me who recently lost her husband and mother within a week.

I wanted to be extra nice to her, so as I was leaving the office I said, "Have a nice weekend."

She looked at me real funny and said, "Come here." I walked up to her and then she said, "Could YOU possibly have a nice weekend if you had lost your mother and husband within one week?" I said, "No, I guess I couldn't. I just didn't think." Then she said, "You will no doubt consider it rude of me for calling you down on your thoughtless comment, but it is time you learned to think before you speak."

What do you think of this? I even went out of my way to try to be nice to her. What shall I do? 21 IN ST. LOUIS

DEAR 21: I would first consider the fact that this woman had been through a very trying ordeal, and deserved to be excused for criticizing your well-meaning — however inappropriate comment. And in the future I would try to remember to think before speaking.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Cryosurgery

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

I've been getting so many letters about cryosurgery (use of extreme cold) that it is evidently deserving some further comment.

Cryosurgery is a process of destroying tissue by means of extreme cold instead of with a knife. A good many readers seem to assume that this is a way of "avoiding surgery." It isn't.

Others, having read a bit about it, must be that, since it is new, it should be better than ordinary surgery. Sometimes yes, but sometimes no.

The useful properties of cold have been known for a long time. Use of cold can lessen pain. Freezing surface lesions with carbon dioxide snow has been used for years.

Cryosurgery goes a step farther — but it is not as new as people seem to think. A neurosurgeon named Fay first used cryosurgery in 1936 for a brain tumor. Techniques and instruments have been painstakingly improved in the years since then.

Shape and type of instruments vary according to the problem. Basically, though, they are metal probes through which liquid nitrogen is pumped. This gives temperatures of from 180 to 200 degrees below centigrade — the midpoint, 180 below, is the same as 292 below zero Fahrenheit.

This extreme cold kills the unwanted tissue, after which it either sloughs off or is gradually absorbed (depending on where it is). A heating device is used in the probe to raise the temperature after the extreme cold has been applied.

Today cryosurgery is used for a wide variety of purposes, among them removal of cataracts, tonsils, skin lesions (ranging from moles and birthmarks through skin cancer), polyps in the nose, cauterization of the cervix.

It is used for removal of the prostate, some doctors preferring it, others contending that conventional surgery is better because after cryosurgery the sloughing tissue can obstruct urinary flow.

Severe, recurring nosebleeds sometimes can be checked by cryosurgery.

And that is just a partial list. Yes, cryosurgery has its uses, but I beg readers not to leap to the conclusion that cryosurgery has outmoded conventional surgery. It hasn't. It's a matter of knowing which case will respond best to which method. And it should be kept in mind that the two methods may have to be used together, to introduce a probe to an internal area.

The chief benefits of cryosurgery are that pain is minimal and that healing takes place with little scarring. There is also less bleeding.

Not all surgeons use cryosurgery — which is not a criticism of them. Surgeons who do use cryosurgery do not use it exclusively. They use it in cases for which they find it the best way, and use conventional scalpels for cases in which that is best.

It's a most interesting and very useful technique, but don't try to tell the surgeon what method to use. Let him tell you which is best for you.

$38 Per Week Wage Hike At Houston Papers

HOUSTON (AP) — Composing room personnel at the Houston Post and the Houston Chronicle voted Sunday to accept a new two-year contract calling for a $38 per week wage hike over two years.
Members of the International Typographers Union Local 87 voted 297-83 to accept the contract. It affects about 550 union members on both papers.

Bob McConnell of the ITU said the contract calls for a $23 a week increase in wages the first year and a $15 a week hike the second year.
A portion of the contract is retroactive to May 1, he said. The union had been working without a contract since that date.
The contract also includes a paid hospitalization plan, he said.
The present journeyman basic scale at the two papers was $172 a week.

Plants In Juarez Cut Severe Unemployment

Editor's Note: This is the first of a four-part series about U.S. firms operating in Juarez under the Mexican Border Industrialization program.
JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — About 25 U.S. manufacturers, looking to cut costs and compete with low-priced goods from Europe and Asia, have built assembly plants in Juarez under a Mexican program set up in 1965 to relieve severe unemployment along the northern border.
CHEAP LABOR
The U.S. firms are being tempted by labor costing less than three dollars a day.
Under the program, U.S. companies are permitted to own all of their Mexican investments—but only approved companies that locate within 12½ miles of the border. Previously, Mexican nationals were required to own 51 per cent of any business operating in Mexico.
Now there are more than 225 U.S. firms operating along the border, with about $33 million in initial capitalization in Juarez alone, Mexican officials say. About 3,500 Mexicans are employed directly by U.S. firms in Juarez.

CUSTOMS DUTY
The United States, by requiring customs duty only on the foreign value added, which is often little more than the cost of low-wage labor, is indirectly sanctioning the program.
Mark T. Miles, plan and programs director for the El Paso Chamber of Commerce, said, "The advantage of a Mexican operation centers almost entirely around labor costs, but some companies actually achieve higher production in Juarez than they could in the United States."
Miles said Mexican workers "are more willing to perform repetitive tasks than American workers."
MINIMUM WAGE
The official minimum wage rate for the Juarez area is set by the Mexican government at $2.88 a day.

This leads program promoters to claim a savings of more than 75 per cent over the cost of U.S. labor. The figure is somewhat deceptive, however, since workers must be paid for a seven-day week and employes must fork up Mexican social security benefits.
One former plant operator, Caren A. Ayoub, said hidden costs forced him to estimate labor at 80 cents an hour.
But even that cost is cheap by American standards and the unskilled labor pool seems inexhaustible.
"I know of plants that put out a call for 200 workers and they have more than 1,000 apply. This lets companies pick from the cream of the crop," Miles said.

California, Mississippi Next In Line For 'Shots'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A giant program to vaccinate all horses in California and Mississippi against Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) gets underway today.
A spokesman for the U. S. Department of Agriculture's emergency VEE headquarters said Sunday that similar vaccination plans in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana were almost complete.
Another vaccination program is scheduled to start Tuesday in Florida and drives will get underway soon in Alabama, Arizona and Georgia, the spokesman said.
For the second day in a row, the spokesman said Sunday, no new confirmed cases of the disease which moved into Texas from Mexico June 29 was reported.

So far, the spokesman said, 1,489 deaths in horses have been reported and there have been reports of 2,042 sick horses. All of the confirmed VEE cases have been in South Texas, he said.
Spraying will continue today along the Gulf coast from Brownsville, Tex., to Lake Charles, La., the spokesman said. Airplanes will spray 8.7 million acres against the mosquitoes which carry VEE by the time the program ends this month, the spokesman said.
