

Incumbents Retained By Resounding Margin

A resounding vote of confidence was won by incumbent commissioners Jack Watkins, Wade Choate and Eddie Acri in Tuesday's municipal recall election.

The three garnered roughly 70 per cent of the vote, which went to 6,115, far and away a record in a municipal election.

They had heavy majorities in every one of the five polling places, and in the absentee balloting. The margin ran up to nearly 12 to one in the North-side box.

SWAMPED
They swamped other candidates bidding for prospective vacancies on the council. Lee Rogers, Harold Davis and Frosty Robison received total votes approximating those cast for the recall of the three incumbents. John Anderson trailed behind these.

Watkins overcame recall by 4,296 to 1,730; Choate by 4,362 to 1,644; and Acri by 4,204 to 1,794, based on unofficial total tabulations. Rogers got 1,700, Davis 1,726, Robison 1,699 and Anderson 429.

The total unofficial vote of 6,115 compares with the previous record of 3,096 in 1968.

TOP VOTE
Thurs Watkins, Choate and Acri polled higher vote support than ever has been given a set of city candidates.

Tuesday's referendum, first of its kind in the city's history, climaxed several months of controversy involving the city administration and key members of the municipal personnel. Administrative resignations and the dismissal of Police Chief Jay Banks resulted in petitions for recall of the three, and then heated campaigns were conducted.

But Tuesday, the voters expressed themselves in positive terms.

UNITY ASKED
In the wake of the election, statements from opposing sides in the controversy voiced desires for unity.

A group which had opposed the incumbent commissioners said in a paid advertisement:

"We can certainly accept the decision of the voters in good grace. We harbor no ill-will toward those civic minded citizens who held a viewpoint opposed to ours. On the contrary, we now ask everyone to join in support of the commissioners in recruiting the most capable new administrative personnel, in formulating city policies, and in regaining city-wide confidence in our municipal government."

OTHER STATEMENTS

Signers included John Currie, D. G. Whitten and C. W. Guthrie, who signed petitions for the recall election; and Guil Jones and John Burgess, who were active protesting methods employed in the dismissal of Banks.

Choate said in a statement today:

"The election was a great victory and a tremendous vote of confidence. I appreciate the citizens of Big Spring for their support during this recall election. I am proud to be a member of the city commission and I sincerely feel that in no other city can people live a better life.

"Good city government will create a climate for this better life.

"I shall work together with all of the citizens to see that we have the best city government that we can afford. Our first objective will be to try to pull all our citizens together again, because fractional differences must be forgotten for us to progress. We must move forward."

ACRI

Acri said: "All I can say is that the people of Big Spring have spoken and we are most grateful for the confidence they have placed in us and our judgment as city commissioners.

"Justice was asked for and justice was done, and this through our democratic process.

"All we now ask as your commissioners is that those who have questioned us will close ranks with us and settle down to help us make Big Spring the kind of place to live that we have always wanted it to be."

WATKINS

Watkins statement: "There is no way I can fully express my gratitude to the citizens of Big Spring for this vote of support. I was very proud to have been elected to serve on the City Commission last April but I am even more proud of the continued confidence in me that the people have shown by their votes today after what we have been through these past few months. I ran for a place on the Commission because I felt I could make a contribution toward better government in our city. I did not really know until Tuesday evening what the job had to offer me.

"The feeling I have can't be measured in dollars and cents, but in one day I have received payment in full for my past and by the local department."

No formal letter of resignation had been submitted by Harrison at noon.

At the outset of the controversy involving the police department and certain city officials, that have since resigned, approximately 40 officers and personnel in the police department signed letters of resignation, stating their intention to resign if Jay Banks was dismissed by the Commission.

A few more officers may sever ties with the department, however, the number will be small in comparison with the number indicated six weeks ago, department sources said today.

"Most of the officers are taking a wait and see attitude, but most of all we are relieved that the controversy is over," said Stanley Bogard, acting police chief.

The city commission, meeting in a talk session this morning, expressed its concern for the welfare of the police department and authorized Roy Anderson to pass on the information to the police supervisors that the city commission is in full support of the department and Bogard," said Arnold Marshall, mayor.

Marshall also said that the commission was in full support of all departments in the city government and the current department supervisors.

SPACE FIRST— This artist's conception by North American Rockwell shows the launch, for the first time, of a sub-satellite by a manned spacecraft. This operation is scheduled for the Apollo 15 mission today.

Lunar Motorists Driving Home

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)— Apollo 15's astronauts neared the end of six days of moon exploration today and prepared to fire out of lunar orbit for the trip home and man's farthest-out space walk.

Before they leave, they'll add another dimension to one of history's greatest scientific expeditions. They'll eject into orbit a small satellite to probe additional moon secrets.

Davis R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden will complete the experiments in their flying science lab when they kick the satellite loose at 4:10 p.m. EDT.

At 5:20 p.m. they plan to trigger the engine of their spaceship Endeavour to break away from the grip of lunar gravity and start the three-day journey back to earth.

KEEP QUIET

The astronauts were quiet today as they busily aimed their cameras and scientific instruments at the bleak surface 70 miles below, trying to squeeze as much knowledge as possible out of the alien moon.

In one brief exchange Mission Control told them: "It's been raining a lot in Houston, and you guys will have a lot of grass-cutting to do when you get back down here."

"The weather's been good up here," Scott commented.

At Mission Control Center, experts today remotely switched on the television camera which Scott and Irwin left on the moon, mounted on their moon buggy.

SHARP PICTURE

They swung it back and forth and it relayed a sharp picture of the landscape at Hadley Base, including the lower half of the lunar lander Falcon and the experiments left on the surface.

"Looks like Boot Hill from a distance," one controller said.

The instruments in the distance looked like tombstones. After 14 minutes, the camera suddenly ceased transmitting. Efforts to restart it failed. Experts had no immediate explanation for the loss. Its batteries may have given out.

Scientists had hoped the camera would retain power at least until Friday to view an eclipse of the sun as seen from the moon.

Worden will take the space walk Thursday—about 196,000 miles from earth and more than 40,000 miles from the moon—to retrieve film canisters from an equipment bay at the rear of the Endeavour.

Because the hatch will be opened, all three men will be exposed to the vacuum of space and will wear pressurized suits.

Before they retired Tuesday night, capsule communicator Bob Parker asked them if they had taken sleeping pills the night before.

Kidney Swap For Dr. Box

Dr. Dean Sullivan Box received a kidney transplant Tuesday midnight, little more than four hours after the Methodist Hospital in Houston reported they had found a match.

She was resting well Wednesday morning and the new kidney was reported functioning. Physicians said they would know more about the results in another day.

Dr. Box, who is head of the business education department at Howard County Junior College, had been on a kidney machine for several months after undergoing treatment in Houston last spring due to an almost complete kidney failure.

When the hospital called her husband, Dr. Marshall Box, at 8 p.m. Tuesday that an apparent perfect match had been found and that the transplant should be undertaken as soon as humanly possible, the aid of Cosden Oil & Chemical Company was enlisted. Cosden volunteered its plane.

By 9:30 p.m. Dr. and Mrs. Box were airborne, arriving in Houston. She was rushed to the hospital where everything was in readiness. The transplant operation was performed shortly after midnight.

Money From Heaven

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)— Publicity agents dumped 700 one-dollar bills from the top of a 14-story building Tuesday onto one of the city's busiest downtown intersections. Witnesses said shoppers and many children were seen dashing into the street to get the money.

Wrapped around each bill was an invitation to a demonstration by a modeling firm. Organizers said the event saved them the cost of an $8,000 advertising campaign.

Police later warned the organizers not to hold any repeat giveaways.

Shot To Death By Narc Agent

CONVERSE, Tex. (AP)— A 23-year-old man was shot to death by a federal narcotics agent today after the victim wounded the agent's partner near this South Texas town.

The wounded agent was listed in good condition at Randolph Air Force Base hospital with a .22-caliber wound-in-the shoulder.

The dead man was identified as Henry Gonzalez of nearby San Antonio. The two agents were not identified.

Officers said the two undercover agents approached three men in a parked car to make a narcotics purchase when gunfire erupted from the vehicle.

The partner of the wounded agent returned the fire, striking Gonzalez in the head, Deputy Sheriff Bennie Cass said.

Officers found a .22-caliber pistol, a flare pistol and a knife in the car. No narcotics were found.

WACO PRISONER BEATEN SEVERELY

WACO, Tex. (AP)— Sheriff's deputies discovered a prisoner had been beaten severely by fellow inmates of the McLennan County jail Tuesday.

The injured man, Robert Sims, 21, was reported in critical condition after undergoing surgery at Hillcrest Hospital.

Officers said Sims was listed as AWOL by the Army at Ft. Hood and was being held on a theft charge.

Two Officers Leave Posts

Two Big Spring police officers tendered their resignations today following Tuesday's recall election.

Sgt. Jack Boyd and Gerrald Harrison, patrolman, were the two policemen.

In his letter of resignation, Boyd said, "It is with regret that I submit my resignation. However, due to the situation which now exists within our city government, I feel I can no longer remain with this department. It has been a great honor to work with high caliber police officers, such as those employed by the local department."

No formal letter of resignation had been submitted by Harrison at noon.

At the outset of the controversy involving the police department and certain city officials, that have since resigned, approximately 40 officers and personnel in the police department signed letters of resignation, stating their intention to resign if Jay Banks was dismissed by the Commission.

A few more officers may sever ties with the department, however, the number will be small in comparison with the number indicated six weeks ago, department sources said today.

"Most of the officers are taking a wait and see attitude, but most of all we are relieved that the controversy is over," said Stanley Bogard, acting police chief.

The city commission, meeting in a talk session this morning, expressed its concern for the welfare of the police department and authorized Roy Anderson to pass on the information to the police supervisors that the city commission is in full support of the department and Bogard," said Arnold Marshall, mayor.

Marshall also said that the commission was in full support of all departments in the city government and the current department supervisors.

'Fire-Bomb' Discovered

A possible fire-bomb was discovered on the roof of Family Money Service, Inc., 206 Gregg, today by Eddie Acri, owner of the service.

There was no fire caused by the "bomb". A bottle of very flammable liquid, was found and fumes were very strong in the office.

"If a match had been struck on the inside of the building, an explosion would surely have been caused," said Capt. Alvie Harrison, of the local fire department.

No other information was available at noon today and the Big Spring Police Department was conducting investigations on the incident. Acri would make no comment.

VEIL OF SECRECY LIFTED Ho Hum! $450,000 Voted For 'Do Nothing' Fed Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)— After doing virtually nothing for months, the Subversive Activities Control Board has been voted a $450,000 budget and congressional clearance to wield broad new powers President Nixon wants it to have.

The SACB created most of the controversy Tuesday night as the Senate passed, 46 to 44, a $4.1-billion appropriation for the departments of State, Commerce and Justice.

The bill was sent to President Nixon, who had issued an executive order granting new authority to the SACB, which has had almost nothing to do since the Supreme Court overruled its authority to hunt, register and publicize Communist organizations. Under the Nixon order, the SACB could decide after hearings whether any organization is totalitarian, fascist, communist, subversive, "or whether it has adopted a policy of unlawfully advocating the commission of acts of force or violence to deny others their rights..."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., sought to restore an amendment forbidding use of the appropriation to implement Nixon's July 2 executive order.

"You can have under this executive order... this board prying into every demonstration, prying into every group whose views this board considers intellectually disturbing to the government," Ervin said. "It is alien to the American system of government... It reflects the spirit of McCarthyism..."

But Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., said the constitutionality of the order, and the authority of the President to broaden the role of the SACB without congressional action, will have to be settled by the courts.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., said the President is only trying to make use of a moribund agency, which has a five-member board, each paid $36,000 a year. He said the board worked three days during the six months prior to the executive order.

Two-Man Race Shapes Up For South Viet Election

SAIGON (AP)— Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky asked the Supreme Court today for a place on the Oct. 3 presidential ballot, but his petitions lacked 38 of the 100 necessary certified endorsements by provincial councilmen.

"I have not given up," Ky told a news conference. "I am still fighting. I will fight until the last minute."

If the court rejects his petitions, Ky said, "then we will see what happens." Minutes later, retired Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh, who filed his "qualifying" petitions last week, announced his support for Ky's attempts to get on the ballot. A spokesman for Minh said it was "unthinkable that the vice president of the country should not be able to run for president."

PUSHED AROUND

"It reflects on the whole democratic process. It means that the vice president can be pushed around not only by the president but by a mere province chief," he added. Ky's failure to qualify would make the election a two-man race between President Nguyen Van Thieu and Minh.

The vice president accused Thieu of trying to block his candidacy and called this "an obvious and undeniable travesty of the democratic process."

He conceded that his petition was partly an appeal to public opinion, and his aides acknowledged that they do not expect the court to accept his candidacy.

Ky circulated a list of 102 councilmen he said had signed for him, but he said 40 of them had been forced to endorse Thieu earlier. He asked the court to award these to him. He charges that Thieu used pressure to collect signatures which he did not need and at the same time prevent province chiefs and mayors from certifying endorsements given to Ky.

Ky's failure to qualify would make the Oct. 3 election a two-man race between Thieu and retired Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh, both of whom filed qualifying petitions last week. Ky arrived at the Supreme Court 2½ hours before the filing deadline for candidates, at the head of a 15 car convoy that included a group of air force police serving as his personal security detachment.

Ky smiled but remained silent as he made his way into the heavily guarded building through a crowd of pushing, shouting newsmen.

Ky had been reported planning to file his petitions even if they were short of the number of endorsements required by the new election law which the National Assembly adopted under strong pressure from Thieu.

Over One Economic Hurdle

Two major strikes have been averted or settled and this should offer a good measure of stability to the economy.

The steel industry, which likely is the most basic single industry in such an industrialized nation as ours, came to terms with steel workers for a 30 per cent increase in pay, spread over three years. This came after furnaces were banked, but the momentary loss of production is only a ripple compared with what a work stoppage would have been. This may in a small way help reduce the inventories many accumulated in anticipation of a long strike.

On the heels of this railroad workers (mostly the operators other than engineers, who previously signed an attractive package) settled for a 42 per cent increase over 42 months. In return, the workers opened the door to a number of work rule changes which carriers said would give greater latitude in operating efficiency. In other words, they hoped to alter the application of employe talents to achieve great enough net productivity to partly wash out the higher wage costs. Workers were wary that despite higher wages they might end up with less to take home, particularly in terms of rising costs.

Commenting on the settlement, one industry leader observed candidly, "I guess you could say any higher settlement is inflationary." Of course it is, and these particular contracts are particularly so.

But, from the national viewpoint, the effects of this must be weighed against the sobering effects of lost production on these fundamental industries. With the unemployment figure already around the six per cent mark, a severe strike might have had devastating effects on the economy and could have triggered a recession. This nagging fear is probably the only thing which squeezed through the loan underwrite to Lockheed in an attempt to see it through its financial crisis.

So the nation is past one immediate fiscal hurdle, but the degree of inflation which will be generated will be the measure of the wisdom of terms. Unless the upward spiral is slowed, the people outside these industries will be the victims — particularly those on fixed income such as the pensioners and other older citizens. Somebody needs to look out after their interest.

The Road Ahead

By a decisive margin, Big Spring voters have turned back efforts to recall three members of the city commission. The results speak for themselves, so much so that there no longer is reason to prolong the debate which has engulfed our community in acrimonious debate for the past two months.

It is inevitable that a campaign of this sort would produce bitterness and interperateness among some. Scars inflicted in the heat of battle may not all be healed by the wave of the hand, a word, or even a clear verdict by the people.

Yet, the expressions of good will and respect by the commissioners, and those who had offered to serve in their place, and a common desire to do what is best for our town constitute a good start toward reconciliation of our people.

The episode, as sharp and as emotional as it has been, is now over and done. The test of bigness is to forget and to forgive, and to work together for a sound, effective city government — yes, more than that, for a united community spirit and purpose.

Starting today, let us resolve that this is a new day which requires each of us individually to do our part in humility and concern to support those who have been chosen to serve us. The road ahead can be a good one.

Surgery At Home

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

Even under emergency situations, surgical operations today demand basic tests, a modern operating room with adequate lights, all sorts of precautions against infections, an anaesthetist, surgical nurse, and other aides.

IT WAS a different story 60 years ago when the late Dr. G. T. Hall, just beginning his long and distinguished medical practice in Big Spring, performed his first surgery here. This may or may not have been the first surgery in the city. But as to this event, Mrs. Nat Shick remembers it well.

She and her husband had left their baby, Lillian (Mrs. Granville Dawson) with her mother, Mrs. Una Covert, at the family home at 510 Gregg for a picture evening at I. J. Robb's new picture show. Just as they got to the courthouse square, Mrs. Shick was seized with a terrific pain that almost doubled her up. Dr. Hall was summoned, and he diagnosed it as appendicitis — an ailment that then was often regarded as some other ailment.

IMMEDIATELY he began plans to operate. One of the first things was to call Fort Worth and arrange for three graduate nurses to be sent here immediately. The reason was that he had two other cases where surgery was not an emergency but was strongly indicated.

He called in some young Mexican-Americans to soak newspapers in formaldehyde and chink every window in the parlor of the Shick home. Then he ordered a tub put on rocks and had formaldehyde burned all night to fumigate the room.

DR. HALL had brought his examination table up from his office over the J. L. Ward Drug Store (where McCrory's is now located), and this was to serve as the operating table. Kerosene lamps were put about the room — around the wall and overhead to provide adequate light. With the arrival of the nurses on the morning train, the patient was prepared for surgery. Dr. Wright and Dr. Will Barnett and even a veterinarian were among the physicians who came to observe the young surgeon perform the appendectomy.

The surgery went off without a hitch. Meantime, similar preparations were being made at the B. O. Jones and the H. A. Elliott homes. When the operation at the Shick home was completed, Dr. Hall went off to supervise preparations for operating on Mrs. Jones, and from there to see if things were ready for Mrs. Elliott, as Mrs. Shick recalls it.

"MAMA WAS taking care of Lillian so Dr. Hall left me in care of Nat while he went off to see about the others," says Mrs. Shick. Perhaps Nat was exhausted from the long vigil, but "he went to sleep. He was still asleep when Dr. Hall got back to see about me."

Looking back on that episode which occurred either in 1910 or 1911, she adds: "That was my first operation. I had 13 during many years after that, but I never got along better. That's where your faith and a good doctor comes in handy."

OH YES, Dr. Hall had taken one other precaution before the surgery. Noble Reed, member of a pioneer ranching family and gay young blade about town, had a new red buggy with rubber tires. Doc got hold of him and advised: "Put that red buggy in the barn and keep it there. If those nurses get a look at you and that buggy, how can they keep their mind on the operation?"

The Senate Knows

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Republican, made an informative speech in the Senate the other day which should be given attention by those members of Congress who have been accusing the executive branch of the government of failing to keep the Congress and, even more, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee intimately familiar with the Southeast Asia problem. Mr. Goldwater says:

"THE FACT is Congress is and has been involved up to its ears with the war in Southeast Asia. It has known what has been going on from the start and has given its approval in advance to almost everything that has occurred there. Far from being the innocent dupes of a conspiring executive, Congress has been wholly involved in the policy decisions concerning Vietnam during the entire span of American commitment there."

REFERENCE IS made by Mr. Goldwater to a Senate report on the Southeast Asia treaty when it was presented for ratification. The Foreign Relations Committee declared in 1955 that "the treaty is intended to deter aggression in that area (Southeast Asia) by warning potential aggressors that an open armed attack upon the territory of any of the parties will be regarded by each of them as dangerous to its own peace and safety."

THE UNITED STATES, Great Britain, France, New Zealand, Australia, Pakistan, the Philippines and Thailand all signed the pact on Sept. 8, 1954. Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam each were specifically designated as coming under the protection of the treaty in a protocol which was established on the same day.

Mr. Goldwater points out that when the Senate ratified the treaty, the foreign relations Committee plainly named Vietnam "as one of the territories which, if attacked, would be under the protection of the treaty."

SEN. GOLDWATER presents a long list of extracts from Senate Foreign Relations Committee reports to support his statements. Some are indeed surprising to read in view of recent charges in congressional debate that Congress was not being kept informed. Here, for instance, is an excerpt from the Foreign Assistance Act of 1963:

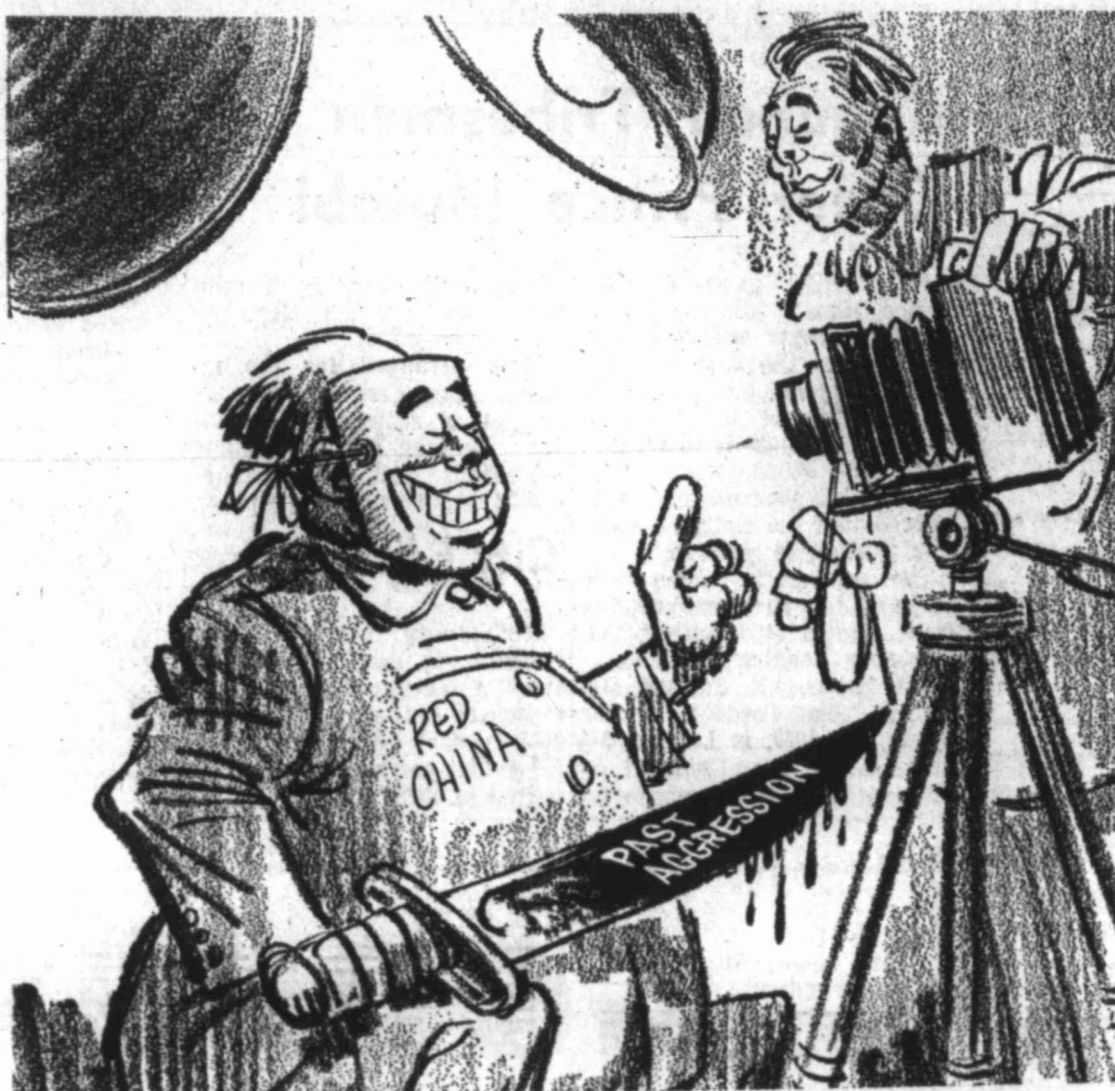

"It is the sense of the Congress that assistance authorized by this act should be extended to or withheld from the government of South Vietnam in the discretion of the President, to further the objectives of victory in the war against communism and the return to their homeland of Americans involved in that struggle."

THEN CAME in 1964 the Gulf of Tonkin resolution, which, as adopted by Congress, contained this paragraph:

"The United States regards as vital to its national interest to world peace the maintenance of international peace and security in Southeast Asia. Consonant with the Constitution of the United States and the charter of the United Nations and in accordance with its obligations under the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty, the United States is, therefore, prepared, as the President determines, to take all necessary steps, including the use of armed force, to assist any member of protocol state of the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty requesting assistance in defense of its freedom."

Mr. Goldwater concludes that there "is no basis for the charge, or I might say, the excuse, that Congress did not know about and did not involve itself in United States policy in South Vietnam."

'REMEMBER — JUST A CLOSEUP OF THE FACE'

Doctors Top Borrowers

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Many executives and professional persons these days are receiving offers of $5,000 loans for as long as five years from strangers merely for fixing their signatures to an application. Thousands are doing so.

The offers, which are made through the mail, require no security. The questionnaire may take only 10 minutes to fill out. The applicant's business associates may not be checked. The reason for the loan may not be verified.

Understandably, business seems to be thriving. Substantial companies are involved in the lending, and the record to date suggests that not only is demand high but that profits can be even higher.

Who borrows? Universal C.I.T. Credit Co., which entered the field three years ago, reports that doctors are the most frequent borrowers, followed in order by bankers, business executives, certified public accountants and dentists. "We really don't care what they want the money for except that it must be for a legitimate purpose," said Edward W. May, vice president of the C.I.T. subsidiary.

The important thing to the lenders is that the borrower is not overextended, that the loan is for a reasonable amount and for a good purpose, and that the borrower has a good, steady income above $15,000 a year.

Despite the lack of security, almost all loans are repaid properly. May reports that out of many hundreds of loans made since his company entered the business he is currently concerned about only two, both to doctors.

In one instance the doctor lost his license and went to jail. "The other is going hippie on us; he joined a commune," said May.

Most loans to doctors are made only after the applicant has been in business many years. Many young doctors are overextended, May found.

Bankers are frequent customers because of an old tradition that they not borrow from their own bank and because of a desire for confidentiality that would be breached by borrowing from a competitor.

They pay well for their loans, 18 per cent a year on the unpaid balance, or 15 per cent a month. That means a $5,000 loan paid back in 48 monthly installments costs $2,049.28 in interest charges. For the five-year limit the price is $2,617.60.

One of the obvious hazards for the lenders involves the unknown financial obligations of the applicant.

The industry faces this problem by trusting to the philosophy of "trusting the applicant and then checking him" insofar as it is possible. But the averages are on its side.

Soviet Athletes

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — I am sorry to read that a passel of amateur Russian athletes have been given the sack for taking money and "materialistic" gifts in exchange for their sweaty endeavors, because there are some good boys over there. They are, it might be said, just like people.

THIS IMPRESSION that they are just like people was gained on a tour of the Soviet Union during which I dropped in on an occasional pivnoyaz, or saloon, to socialize with the natives. On such convivial visits, I got to know a number of Russian Joe Namaths and Vida Blues on account of they had the cheery habit of drifting in about midnight and taking over the joint, amiably.

IT WAS pleasant because these muscle men were big spenders and frequently bought drinks for the house, a custom observed only in the breach by most American athletes, who seem determined to take it with them. The boys could afford it, because although they carried the tag "amateur" everybody knew they were drawing down fat salaries and were on the privileged list for such luxuries as apartments, cars, ballet tickets and a choice cut of lamb at the friendly neighborhood butcher shop.

EVERYBODY KNEW, but nobody mentioned it out loud. Apparently the sin committed by the suspended performers was that after one vodka too many they tended to boast of their affluence. They broke the 11th commandment; they got caught.

Most of these performers spoke at least a smattering of menu-type English and almost always considerable French. In the U.S., a body is lucky to encounter a left-handed hitting outfielder who can manage the Ozarkian variety of Americaneese without grunting painfully. My Russian friends were articulate even in broken English in discussing great paintings, with such knowledgeable references to depth of perception and highlights I hesitated to display my ignorance.

ALSO UNLIKE many American athletes, the Russian players remained friendly despite their intake of popuscul. They never seemed to get loaded. Indeed, in the puritanical atmosphere of the Soviet Union, whose color scheme is mostly gray, they were the jolliest people I met. They never turned morose or ugly, and although the backslapping was powerful, it was never belligerent.

RULES ARE RULES, I suppose, even when they are just for show, but it's too bad the Soviet sports bosses couldn't have overlooked the fascination of those suspended athletes for talking about their goodies.

Living Your Life Over

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — "Oh, to be 70 again!" said octogenarian Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, as a pretty girl passed by.

The yearning for a second try at life comes to all of us now and then. Or at least we feel it would be better to be any other age than the age we happen to be at the moment.

What do you think you would actually do if you could relive not all your life over again but just one year for every decade up until now? It's a teasing thought, isn't it?

Well, if I were 10 years old, I think I'd—

Play with girls more often than I did before.

Learn chess instead of checkers.

Read fewer fairy tales and more biographies.

Ask my father and mother more questions about life and get to know them better as people.

What would I do if I were 20 years old? I'd—

Climb more balconies than I did before. At least a dozen more I'd say offhand.

Train sedulously to become skilled in at least one sport I could follow all my life.

Ridicule my professors less and listen to the best ones more.

Strike down the dastard fellow student who told me it makes you feel better to drink straight gin out of a bottle.

What about 30 again? This time I'd—

Still marry for love instead of money. Love may have its lulls, but no man has less manhood than one living on the money of a woman he can't stand.

Settle down to a life task which would be morally acceptable and held the hope of financial comfort.

Strike down the dastard who told me that a Martini made of three parts gin and one part vermouth would make life more livable.

How about being 40 again? Well, I guess I'd—Cry for six months, then adjust my mind to endure what I could not cure.

Finish the correspondence course in ventriloquism I started at the age of 12.

Think of old girl friends on rainy afternoons.

Strike down the dastard who told me that a Martini made of four parts gin and one part vermouth could still make life beautiful.

And how's about being 50 again? I would—

Get used to seeing girls run from the water cooler when they saw me coming.

Go to more bridge games than cocktail parties.

Become accustomed to listening to dull banquet speakers.

Strike down the dastard who told me that a Martini made of six parts gin and one part vermouth was the answer to the search for a perfect life.

And what about being 60 again? What do you mean—again! That's what I am now.

I have already ordered a 10-speed wheel chair and struck down the dastard who told me that the only sensible solution to the problem of existence is a Martini made by mixing a thimble of vermouth and a full bottle of gin.

Man, this is real living! Let your past be past.

Oh, to be 70—

Hooked On Genealogy

Robert E. Ford

By BERNIE SMITH (Subbing for Robert E. Ford)

People who get hooked on genealogy find strange urges overpowering them. They may tromp around like they're living in the carriage age, or want to converse with departed kinsmen.

Genealogy is a search for ancestry which if carried to perfection would confound Mr. Charles Darwin. At least we think it will. If anyone has been able to trace their kinfolks back to a monkey, they've kept mighty quiet about it.

People frequently are exposed first to the genealogy bug by relatives. The wife's cousin from the Old South had it bad, and mentioned an ancestor who served in the Revolutionary War.

"HOW DID you people get started in this country?" he asked.

Hadn't thought much about where I came from, and maybe not enough about where I was going.

"Start drawing up your family tree," he warned, "before your kinfolks all pass away."

Valuable records are not always preserved, memories fade and word of mouth family histories disappear with time.

Public libraries, however, have genealogy departments that are surprising storehouses of information. A number of them have microfilmed censuses.

Once a newcomer to genealogy runs across some bit of family history written 70 or a hundred years ago, he's hooked. But he won't mind. The hobby is not necessarily expensive and is a lot of enjoyment.

Librarians are glad to get one started. The inquirer must know the state, county and year for microfilm research. After a little briefing on the projector they are on their way.

THEN HE finds something. The first time some researchers hit pay dirt they jump up and holler, telling everybody in the library what they have found.

Later they will stare at the projected image in disbelief. Just imagine, the script he is viewing was written by some long-gone census taker while he was actually talking to his ancestor.

Great things turn up. Like my great-grandfather, Phineas Smith.

He came from Germany in the 1830s, settling in Arkansas. Family tradition says he was a Roman Catholic priest. Please don't jump to conclusions. Phineas renounced his vows upon landing in Savannah, Ga. One report says that the captain of Phineas' ship threw all Protestants overboard.

THE 1860 census showed Phineas owned several slaves. The 1870 census also listed a black Phineas Smith. Emancipated slaves sometimes adopted the name of their former owner.

Some research is frustrating, though like the hunt beyond my maternal great-grandfather, Thomas Dunnington. It is his father that is the problem. He disinherited Thomas for marrying a Catholic in Maryland in 1844.

His father was named Francis, family tradition says. Eight different Francis Dunningtons are listed.

When the genealogy student ponders probable lineage he comes under the influence of pewter pots and chears, and roods and perches, and he thinks of seeking help.

"I'LL GO ASK my dad," the thought occurs, or "I'll go ask Uncle Charley." Then he awakes with a start. They're all gone. There's no one to ask.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Life is so perplexing to me. There are many unanswered questions and so many things I can't understand. Why doesn't God clarify things so we could function with certainty? — M.K.

If God gave you a blueprint of what was going to happen to you in the next twenty years, you would be a miserable person. You would look with fear on the dates marked for adversity, and much of the zest and hope and anticipation of life would be gone.

The Christian life is one of hope and trust. We are called "children of God," and children don't worry.

They skip, sing and whistle their way through life, knowing well that they have no cause to worry.

Someone has said: "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can, and the sense to know the difference."

Be content to let God know a few things you don't know, and you will have greater peace. Trust and don't fret.

Habakkuk the prophet asked the same question. God answered, "I am doing a work in the world and even if I told you, you would not believe it."

The serenity prayer is a beautiful prayer. It is a prayer that every one of us should have in our hearts. It is a prayer that every one of us should pray every day.

NEW HANGARS SCHEDULED FOR HOWARD COUNTY AIRPORT
... more room for local planes, say Big Spring aircraft owners

ADDED SPACE FOR LOCAL AIRCRAFT

Big Spring Aircraft To Add New Hangars At Airport Soon

Big Spring Aircraft, Inc., under new management since March 22, has received FAA approval from Albuquerque for construction of more hangars at the Howard County Airport, said J. W. (Bill) McClendon, co-owner with Robert J. (Jack) Cook and Guilford Jones of Big Spring Aircraft.

As soon as something can be worked out with the city, construction will begin, said McClendon. It should be within 30 days, he said.

The hangars will allow the nine or ten airplanes now being kept outside to be moved under some sort of cover.

"People don't want to keep their new airplanes outside," said McClendon. "Especially with the prices of new aircraft being what they are today. As soon as we get hangar space, I think we'll be able to give airplane owners much greater service."

Local based aircraft have increased by five in a little over two months, he said. The number should increase appreciably after more hangar space is available.

Big Spring Aircraft has air taxi service anywhere in the Southwest. Air taxi service is the perfect way for busy business men to travel long distances. They don't have to be at the mercy of commercial airlines schedules.

Air taxis can take them almost anywhere they want to go, easier and faster than ground transportation or commercial airlines.

Paul Kessler, flight instructor and commercial pilot, will join Big Spring Aircraft Aug. 8 to give it better pilot coverage and flight instruction.

Jet fuel is now available at Big Spring Aircraft.

The firm has a VA approved flight instruction program.

"I would like to remind any servicemen at Webb that they can take advantage of their G.I. Bill benefits, if they qualify, while they are still in the service," said McClendon. "Our flight school is certified up to an airline transport rating."

A great way to start flying is with Big Spring Aircraft's special introductory flight lesson for only $5.

Should that convince you that flying is for you, then there is a special $88 Flying Start Course that continues instruction with four flight lessons, ground instruction and your own pilot's log book.

If interested contact Big Spring Aircraft, located at the Howard County Airport.

L'Oreal Of Paris Now At Carver's

L'Oreal of Paris cosmetics and hair care are now available at Carver's Pharmacy, 310 E. 9th.

The exclusive distributor of L'Oreal in this area, Carver's has the complete line of shampoo, for dry or oily hair, hair sprays for the different colors and kinds of hair, lip and nail color and even L'Oreal false eyelashes.

"L'Oreal is really wonderful," said Maudie Wood, clerk at Carver's. "I'm sold on it."

The most important thing about L'Oreal products is that they have a permanent shelf life, said Milton Carver, owner.

Many women will buy a hair coloring that is out-dated, he said. What they often end up with is streaks all through their hair. With L'Oreal they never have to worry about that.

"We have any color that you would want," continued Mrs. Wood.

Carver's also carries protein conditioners in the L'Oreal line. "I couldn't sell anything that I don't really think is good," said Mrs. Wood. "I'm confident when I say that L'Oreal is good."

Carver's Pharmacy's first concern, of course, is to make sure that their customers get high quality pharmaceuticals prepared exactly as their doctors ordered.

All the pharmacists work extra hours to stay on top of the latest developments in the preparation of prescription drugs. Carver allows only the finest, most trusted products on his shelves.

Carver's has a drive-in window—that you can simply drive up to during bad weather or if you're in a hurry to receive your prescription. Your prescription can be filled without your ever having to leave your car.

Carver's also offers prompt delivery of prescriptions if you live inside the Big Spring city limits. Simply tell your doctor to phone the prescription to Carver's and your order will be filled and delivered to your door. Carver's phone number is 263-7417.

HE 'HIGHLY RECOMMENDED' BAUM BUY STOCK

Osorio Denies Effort To Influence Bank Bills

AUSTIN (AP) — The former president of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. says he advised Gov. Preston Smith's business partner to buy NBL stock in 1969 because he had faith in the company—not to influence the passage of banking legislation.

John Osorio, apparently weary after nearly three hours before the Travis County grand jury, told a news conference Tuesday he "highly recommended" the stock to Dr. Elmer Baum, a former member of the State Banking Board who handles some of the governor's investments.

GOOD DEAL
"As president of the company,

I thought it would be a good company," said Osorio.

Smith and Baum made $125,000 in profits off the stock in about two months.

Osorio said Houston millionaire Frank Sharp "took care" of selling the stock after Osorio had "put Baum in touch" with Ling & Co., stockbrokers in Dallas, to make the purchase.

The U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission alleged in a civil suit filed in Dallas that Osorio, Sharp and others arranged loans for high state officials to buy NBL stock and then sold the stock for the officials at more than it was worth to enhance the passage of two banking bills.

The SEC said the bills would have exempted Sharpstown State Bank and other state banks from Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) regulation. Sharp controlled both NBL and Sharpstown.

FAST RISING
Osorio, 49, headed NBL in 1959, when the bills were considered by the legislature and the firm's stock was the fastest rising insurance stock in the nation.

He is a former law partner of ex-Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, also named in the SEC suit, and of Eugene Palmer, who wrote the deposit insurance bills. Osorio was an aide of Gov. Allen Shivers and served as a member of the State Insurance Board in the 1950s.

Sharpstown, now defunct, and NBL, in receivership, also are among the 28 defendants in the SEC's civil suit, scheduled for a hearing Aug. 30 before U.S. Dist. Judge Sarah Hughes in Dallas.

Osorio prefaced his remarks to newsmen by saying he had "been through a very strenuous session" with the grand jury, and "I just don't feel up to" answering detailed questions. Nevertheless, he responded to questions for about 45 minutes in the small law library at the courthouse.

NO CONNECTION
He denied any connection between the passage of the banking bills, which later were vetoed by Smith, and the fast profits made by Smith, Baum, Rep. W. S. Healy of Paducah and others from the NBL stock.

Healy, however, was another to whom he recommended the stock, Osorio said. Healy is House Appropriations Committee chairman.

"Dr. Baum and Gov. Smith have been treated very unfairly. A great injustice has been done to them," Osorio said.

"In my opinion there was no connection between the stock transactions" and passage of the legislation, Osorio said. "It was just coincidental... I thought it was a good bill (SIC), and I'm sure some day it will become effective at the state level or the federal level."

HE DISAGREES
The principal bill would have allowed state banks to insure deposits up to $100,000 with state bank deposit insurance corporations. Osorio said he instructed Palmer, then his law partner, to write the bill so the coverage would be "in addition to" federal insurance under the FDIC.

He said he disagrees with those who think the insurance would be in place of FDIC — thereby allowing state banks to avoid federal bank examiners—something reportedly desired by Sharp.

The legislation was needed,

Osorio said, because the "people in the northeast would not deposit money in small Texas banks" — channeling their money, instead, to four major Texas banks.

Osorio volunteered to appear before the grand jury, which is looking into possible "improper influence of state officials."

Including Osorio, the grand jury has quizzed 10 witnesses, representatives of the attorney general's office and others for about 18 hours behind closed doors in the past week.

SHARP TO SHOW
Dist. Atty. Robert Smith said Sharp is to appear Aug. 17.

Big Rewards For Capture Of Commies

SAIGON (AP) — The United States is going to pay the highest rewards of the war in a new phase of the Phoenix program to eliminate key leaders of the Viet Cong's political underground.

American informants said rewards of up to 3 million piasters, or about $11,000, will be paid for information leading to the capture of those on a "most wanted" list. The Phoenix program in the past three years has accounted for more than 65,000 alleged Viet Cong at an average cost of $55 per head, according to testimony given a U.S. congressional committee two weeks ago.

ADVANCE ON ENEMY — South Vietnamese troops advance through flooded rice paddies after being airlifted into an area just south of Chipou, Cambodia, on Highway One Wednesday. The operation, along the vital Saigon-Phnom-Penh road link in eastern Cambodia, is aimed at curbing North Vietnamese infiltration into the southern half of South Vietnam and safeguarding the Fall national elections.

"We're after the hard-core big shots, Viet Cong classified as Class A," said one U.S. official.

"They're the ones who issue the orders. They're the ones who're going to be behind all the pre-election terrorism."

Vietnamese television stations have begun advertising the rewards and explaining the "new program to protect the people from terrorism." The American informants said it would start in four provinces as soon as a "target list" has been prepared, operate for a few months, and then "be expanded or terminated depending on its success."

One official said the total target list of Viet Cong leaders is expected to run "from 16 to 50 people." He said there is no firm budget figure for the program, but "money will be provided as needed."

The aim of the Phoenix program is to ferret out Viet Cong agents and arrest them or rally them to the Saigon government's side. It is under investigation by a subcommittee of the U.S. House of Representatives, which has heard testimony that the operation also includes assassination as one of its tactics.

Senate Demos Hope To Even Campaign Spending In 1972

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats, hoping to shave the odds for 1972 by fashioning veto-proof reform of election spending laws, have compromised readily with Republicans on three major points.

Dozens of lesser amendments remained today before a final vote.

By voice vote Tuesday the Senate approved a limit on election spending by federal office-seekers of 10 cents per voter, but with no more than six cents of it for either print or broadcasting, as the candidates chooses. This would allow each presidential nominee to spend $84 million for radio-TV ads.

The Senate voted 72 to 21 to repeal equal-time broadcast restrictions for all federal candidates, not just for president and vice president, and 88 to 2 to establish a federal elections commission of six members appointed by the president and confirmed by the Senate.

at five cents per eligible voter for broadcasting and five cents for newspapers, magazines and other print media.

Republicans, who outspent financially pressed Democrats 2 to 1 on broadcast advertising in the 1968 presidential race, supported the overall 10-cent limit but wanted candidates to be free to spend all of it on whatever media they chose.

Both sides appeared adamant until the issue came up on the floor. But a compromise was quickly approved by voice vote.

The compromise retains the Democratic 5-3 formula, but allows the candidate to spend up to 20 per cent of his print dollars for broadcasting, or vice versa.

dates for the same office. While assuring fair play, it also deters broadcasters from giving time to serious candidates when there is a proliferation of minor-party candidates for the office, as there always is for the presidency.

New Teletype Loop Eases Jam

Congestion of law enforcement radio frequencies has been lessened as a result of the new Permian Basin Teletype Loop, according to a quarterly report on the project made public today.

The teletype, with a total of 25 units linking law enforcement agencies from El Paso to Sanderson and from Big Spring to Pecos, was funded $30,000 by Gov. Preston Smith's Criminal Justice Council.

Grantee is the Permian Basin Law Enforcement Committee, Odessa. Units of local government raised a cash match of $24,040 for the teletype network, which extends over 700 miles. Oliver G. Nordmarken, Odessa, is project director.

NOT ENOUGH
"These changes are going to make it more difficult for the President to veto it," said Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., chief Democratic floor strategist. Last year President Nixon vetoed a bill limiting broadcast spending only, saying it was not comprehensive enough.

A tough fight had been expected over the spending limits, which Democrats planned to put

JUST A GAME
Pastore, who urged the Senate at the outset of debate not to "make this a game between Republicans and Democrats," also readily compromised on two other issues which administration officials had indicated were most important.

Democrats have been pushing hard for modification of Section 315A of the Federal Communications Act, which has effectively blocked broadcast debates between presidential candidates since 1960, when Congress temporarily suspended it to allow the Nixon-Kennedy debates.

Section 315A requires broadcasters who give free air time to one candidate to give equal free time to all other candi-

Wage-Price Bill Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dozen Senate Republicans today proposed a system of wage-price restraints already spurned by President Nixon and won the applause of the Senate's Democratic leader.

The Republicans said they are introducing legislation that would create a wage-price board to measure labor and industry decisions in terms of inflationary impact.

Their bill, fashioned primarily by Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., also would reaffirm Nixon's authority to freeze temporarily wages and prices.

success of our Republican administration and of our nation," and are deeply concerned about unacceptably high rates of inflation and unemployment.

JOBLESS WOES
"I applaud them for their suggestion," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

"All the Republican senators are asking is that the President do what the Congress has twice asked the President for unanimously," Mansfield said.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said the proposal of the 12 GOP senators "reflects a legitimate concern that everything be done that can be done economically..."

Scott blamed current inflation and unemployment woes on the economic and budget policies of past Democratic administrations.

Democrats have repeatedly urged upon the President the adoption of wage-price controls to block further inflation.

"We in Congress have done all we can," Mansfield said.

The 12 Republicans said they are vitally interested "in the

No Decision On Manager

No decision on the appointment of a city manager to fill the vacant position in the Big Spring city government has been made by the city commission, according to Mayor Arnold Marshall.

The commission, meeting in an informal talk session this morning, discussed problems facing the city departments. An announcement of selection of the city manager was not decided as had been rumored.

"We are still looking for a capable and qualified man for the position and have an interview scheduled for later in the week," said Marshall.

A prospective applicant for the position was interviewed Saturday and the commission showed the man and his wife around the city over the weekend. Apparently there were problems surrounding the hiring of the applicant and the commissioners are continuing in their search.

Commissioners said that no attempt would be made to fill the other five vacant positions in the local government until the services of a city manager are secured and then these appointments would be left up to the manager.

Catalogue Makes Fall Appearance

Bib overalls "made exactly the same now as they were nearly 40 years ago" are a nostalgic kickoff in the Sears catalog for Fall and Winter 1971, being distributed to 13 million families across the county.

The overalls are among 16 pages of "Important Looks" in casual clothing that open the new 1,644-page catalog. Among other "Important Looks" are short pants and knit pants for women and girls, trench coats, and walking suits and jeans for men and women.

Two years of research and field tests in an orphanage helped make the tri-blend "Toughskins," a new fabric, the strongest jeans in Sears history.

Other merchandise introduced in the Fall catalog includes a quick-drying, one-day kit for antiquing furniture; authentic, bronze-finished replicas of World War II Navy bells and 19th century farm bells, for use in decorating homes and patios, etc.

Twenty belt buckles, one to the winner of each age event of the main events, will be awarded as prizes. The top point winner in the girls and the boys division will each be awarded a saddle. Prizes are donated by local merchants.

The events include break-away, calf and ribbon roping, pole bending, barrel racing, bull riding, bareback bronc riding, goat sacking and the wild steer race.

Admission is $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children. All the proceeds go to the Howard County 4-H Club as its only money raising project of the year.

Austin School Officials Question Nixon's Sincerity

AUSTIN (AP) — Local school officials questioned today the Nixon administration's sincerity in its declared opposition to busing pupils to achieve desegregation.

One official accused Nixon of speaking with a "forked tongue."

The administration served notice Tuesday it would appeal U.S. Dist. Judge Jack Roberts' desegregation ruling implementing a school board plan that minimizes busing.

MASS BUSING
Roberts specifically rejected a mass busing proposal for Austin by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The Justice Department, which advocated the HEW plan in a weeklong hearing before Roberts in June, said it would appeal Roberts' decision to the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans.

President Nixon followed the Justice Department announcement with a statement renouncing the HEW plan for Austin and declaring his opposition to busing.

LOCAL PLANT
"I am against busing as that term is commonly used in school desegregation cases. I have consistently opposed the busing of our nation's school children to achieve a racial balance, and I am opposed to the busing of children simply for the sake of busing," Nixon said.

The Austin School Board's plan, upheld by Roberts, would preserve neighborhood schools. But elementary school children would be bused occasionally for integrated classes, field trips, inter-school "visitations" and sessions at special "inter-cultural centers." Such racially mixed experiences would take up about a fourth of each child's class time.

Atty. Gen. John Mitchell said this did not meet the desegregation standards set in recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions. But a Justice Department spokesman who briefed reporters in Washington would not specify how the Austin plan fell short of the Supreme Court standards.

The spokesman said the Justice Department originally opposed the local plan because it did not involve full-time exchanges of students within the Austin system.
Austin was the first school district in which the administration sought a court order imposing extensive cross-town busing.
HEW sought to give each school the same racial and ethnic composition as the city at large — 64.6 per cent Anglo, 20.4 per cent Mexican-American and 15.1 per cent black.

FORKED TONGUE
School Supt. Jack Davidson was read Nixon's statement, including the part declaring that the HEW secretary and the attorney general "are to work with individual school districts to hold busing to the minimum required by law."

"Man in White House speaks with forked tongue," Davidson said. "The district court order itself concentrated on minimizing busing, and if the administration really wanted a plan to do that, the Austin plan met those requirements."

School Board President Will Davis said he regretted and resented the decision by the Nixon administration to attempt to impose massive cross-town busing on the Austin schools by appealing their case."
Davis said the district would implement its plan unless the appeals court at New Orleans tells it not to while the case is on appeal.

RACIAL BALANCE
"The only alternative to the Austin plan is extensive cross-town busing of students to achieve some arbitrary, artificial racial balance in all schools. The White House, Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and HEW Secretary Elliott Richardson made this decision against the Austin plan and in favor of seeking cross-town busing. These federal officials must accept the public responsibility for this decision as well as any plaintiffs they might also receive," Davis said.

Texas GOP chairman George Willeford held a news conference before Nixon released a statement and said political repercussions might follow the decision to appeal Roberts' order.

"The state GOP is not divorcing itself from the President. We just want the President to understand the feeling of the voters and the people of Texas," the Austin physician said.

"I have repeatedly used all channels known to me to dissuade the administration from pursuing this court of action. These warnings have apparently fallen upon deaf ears. It would appear that the advice being given to the President is totally out of tune with the grassroots sentiment," Willeford added.

Crewmen Who Risked Death Stage Reunion

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Nine men who risked death together 30 times in the flak-filled sky over Europe in World War II waited today for the sky to clear before their 31st mission in a B17 Flying Fortress.

"They are crew members of the 'I'll Be Seeing You' who are holding a reunion. Most of them had not seen each other in more than 26 years.

All are a little grayer, heavier and perhaps less venturesome, but their eyes lighted with excitement Tuesday when the Confederate Air Force opened a hangar door and showed them a B17 bomber which had been painted with their insignia and a scantily clad beauty copied after the original.

"It sure brings back a flock of memories," said Dodge City, Kan., City Commissioner Robert J. Coffin, who admits he probably could not fit in the ball turret where he once sat.

Rain forced cancellation Tuesday of a planned flight in the B17, but a CAF spokesman said an attempt would be made to make the flight today, weather permitting.

The men chose Harlingen as the site for their reunion because the Confederate Air Force Museum, the largest collection of World War II planes in flying condition in the world, is located there.

In addition to Coffin, other crew members of the plane are pilot Joe Cromer, a Tyler, Tex., insurance agent; co-pilot Ralph Trout, an executive with the H. J. Heinz Co. at Tampa, Fla.; bombardier Jack G. Waldhoff, a Burlington, Iowa, druggist; navigator Michael T. Phillips, a Norwich, Conn., dentist; engineer-top turret gunner Douglas Stott, an insurance man from Mechanicsburg, Pa.; radio operator Martin Goodman, now a liquor retailer at Los Angeles; waist gunner Eugene Clark, a Seattle restaurant owner, and tail gunner Vincent Villaggio, a supervisor for a Brooklyn, N.Y., glass firm.

The arrival of a B29 Superfortress re-built by the Confederate Air Force at China Lake, Calif., and brought to Harlingen was a highlight of Tuesday's activities.

The B29, one of only a few still in flying condition, was put together at China Lake by a crew headed by Jack Kern of Tucson, Ariz. The plane, similar to the ones used to drop atomic bombs on Japan in World War II, was constructed by cannibalizing about six other B29s.

The reunion schedule includes dinner parties, a sightseeing trip to Matamoros, Mexico, and lots of time for talking over old times. The reunion will wind up Thursday.

Ex-San Angelo News Editor Charged In Drowning Of Wife

GALVESTON (AP) — A former managing editor of the newspaper here has been charged with murder in the drowning of his wealthy wife.

Thomas G. Steph, 48, was accused of murder and ordered held without bond after his wife was found floating in English Bayou near their home Monday.

Police said the charge was filed after he was given a polygraph test Tuesday in Houston. His wife was Patricia Steph, 43, a member of a wealthy San Angelo, Tex., family.

County medical examiner Robert Bucklin said her death was caused by drowning. He said there was some evidence of a hemorrhage on the left side of her head.

POLITICAL LEADER
Mrs. Steph had worked for Time magazine and with the Justice Department in the Nuremberg, Germany, war crimes trials, and lived in Paris, France, where she was married previously, before marrying Steph in 1964.

Long active in Texas politics, she was state Democratic committeewoman from the 25th congressional District, which includes San Angelo, at the time she married and moved to Galveston.

Steph was managing editor of the then Galveston News-Tribune from 1963 to 1967. He was news editor of the San Angelo Standard-Times earlier.

The two met while he was at San Angelo and she was working as an amusements writer on the Standard-Times after her marriage to Pierre Massarano of Paris had ended.

AUNT SLAIN
Steph left the Galveston paper after its ownership changed. He retired and managed his investments, friends said.

The Stephs had one son, Thomas Carter. Mrs. Steph had a son, David, and a daughter Gwinn, by her previous marriage.

She was a granddaughter of Leasel Harris, a one-time Texas Ranger and rancher who founded the first national bank of San Angelo. Her mother, Beverly St. George Tucker, also was active in politics.

An aunt of Mrs. Steph, Helen Weaver, was killed in an automobile bombing at San Angelo in 1955. Mrs. Weaver's son-in-law, Harry Washburn, was convicted of the bombing and is serving a 99-year term in state prison.

House Votes To Slash Greeks From Aid Rolls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to suspend the Greek and Pakistani military governments from U.S. foreign-aid rolls in an effort to force internal reforms.

Withholding all $118 million from the Greek military junta to press return of democratic rule was upheld by the House 122 to 57 Tuesday night after a shouting, accusation-trading debate.

Cutoff of up to $445 million aid or Pakistan until it resolves turmoil blamed for the flight of 10 million East Pakistani refugees to India was upheld without a fight.

The House then passed a foreign-aid authorization with $3.4 billion for each of the next two years. The 200-192 vote sent the bill to the Senate.

FRIENDLY ALLY
Backers of Greek aid, led by Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., tried to remove the ban on grounds the military junta has brought stability to Greece, wants to restore democracy and must be kept a friendly NATO ally.

But Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio—with Burke shouting objections from the aisle—accused Burke of making a "patented plea for dictatorship."

Hays said the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which wrote the curb, was only trying to pressure the Greek junta into living up to its promise to restore democracy to the country which invented it.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said he believes President Nixon will restore the Greek aid by declaring in writing that the aid is in America's overriding interest, "an escape clause in the bill.

Even then the bill would limit Greek aid to the $90 million approved last year, not the President's $118 million.

POLITICAL TURMOIL
Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J., who won the Pakistani aid suspension in committee, said it would cut off $225 million new aid and up to $220 million already approved but not allocated.

The aid would be cut off until President Nixon notified Congress that political turmoil was being resolved in East Pakistan and refugees' property and rights were being restored. But $100 million was added to the bill specifically to aid East Pakistani refugees.

Air Force To Intervene In Desegregation Suit?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two officials of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission said Tuesday the Air Force has petitioned the Justice Department to intervene in a desegregation suit involving busing of Laughlin Air Force base children to a predominantly Anglo Del Rio, Tex., school district.

The base has been refused permission for the first time to move 850 students past adjacent San Felipe School District schools, which are overwhelmingly Mexican-American, to the Del Rio district.

INFLUENCE
The commission accused the Air Force and the Justice Department of using their influence to perpetuate segregated schools in Del Rio.

The commission said the Air Force has also asked Sidney Marland, the U. S. education commissioner, to grant the base funds to construct on-base schools if they are not allowed to bypass the Mexican-American district.

In addition, the commission said it has received a complaint from the president of the firm building new facilities for the San Felipe district that an advocate general at Laughlin warned him he might never get paid for his work. W. E. Curtis said a Captain Yagley told him the base would close rather than send its pupils to the San Felipe district.

'IMPACT AID'
Most federal employees have sent their children to the Del Rio district for as long as the base has been in the area. The district receives "impact aid" from the federal government at a current rate of $280,753 a year.

In the past, the Texas Education Agency has given permission for the students to be bused past the separate San Felipe district, but this year, however, TEA turned down the requests to send children to the Del Rio schools. TEA quoted from a federal suit last year against TEA which stipulates that transfers may not be approved if they perpetuate segregation.

WEEK AGO
Del Rio Schools learned of the refusal several weeks ago. The district will appear Friday in a Tyler, Tex., federal court to ask that the Del Rio and San Felipe schools be combined.

San Felipe district officials will contest Del Rio's motion. Civil Rights Commission staff attorney Judith Lietman said, "No one who's ever been in San Felipe schools would dispute the fact that the Del Rio School District offers a better education, but in fact it's been federal aid that allowed Del Rio to provide better education."

She said quick-construction modular units for the San Felipe schools will be ready in 60 to 90 days.

In the meantime, she said, the San Felipe schools could handle its potential extra student load of 850 students by going on half-day classes. Or, she said, the base could provide temporary facilities if it put its mind to it.

Indochina War Pullout Amendment Okay Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House appeared ready today to approve an antiwar amendment as the price for extending the draft two more years.

But while House approval was expected with little trouble, antiwar senators said they will not even have to filibuster to block enactment of the draft bill until at least September.

House Armed Services Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., says the Indochina war language worked out by House-Senate conferees "will not tie the President's hands."

The House, by ever narrower votes, has turned down all previous war-pullout measures.

The draft bill's language urges President Nixon to negotiate a final date with Hanoi for a ceasefire and total withdrawal of U.S. forces from Indochina in return for release of all American prisoners of war.

The narrowest House rejection of such a proposal was the last: 219-176 refusal to accept the Senate's original amendment setting a nine-month deadline on the U.S. pullout.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., said Tuesday he and Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, will easily be able to block Senate draft action until Congress begins a month-long recess Friday.

"It will not take a full-blown filibuster," Cranston said. He also said antiwar senators will be able to filibuster the draft bill indefinitely after Congress returns Sept. 8 if Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield supports them.

Teachers Group Nixed By Julie

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower has turned down an invitation to join the Duval Teachers Association, which represents most Jacksonville public school teachers.

Mrs. Eisenhower, daughter of President Nixon, will become a teacher in Atlantic Beach Elementary School this fall.

Robert Crowley, executive director of the teachers association said Mrs. Eisenhower was invited to join and replied: "Because of my husband's military status and the uncertainty of where we will be next year, or this year even, I am unable to make a commitment to the association at this time."

She is married to Enns David Eisenhower, who is stationed aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Albany based at Mayport Naval Station. MORE

TO ALL OF THE COMMISSIONERS, AND ALL OF THE VOTERS:

We have contended throughout the campaign that elections in which a representative number of voters express their will is good. We still believe this and have no regret for our actions in helping to bring about an election in which a record-breaking number voted.

Though we of course disagree with the results, we can certainly accept the decision of the voters with good grace. We harbor no ill-will toward those who opposed us. On the contrary, we now ask everyone to join in support of the Commissioners in recruiting the most capable new administrative personnel, in formulating city policies, and in rekindling city-wide confidence in our municipal government. In this, we believe we express the sentiment of the more than 1200 citizens who signed the recall petition and the dozens who worked actively in the campaign.

We have never cried over the loss of a fight in which we put forth our best efforts on a side we believed right, and we shall not cry over this one. Neither shall we hesitate in the future to take a public position on matters of conscience. However, the point is, this fight is over — our side lost — but the city can gain if we make the best use of the opportunity.

CONCERNED PARENTS

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a son who writes to his mother and tells her how long she can stay when she visits him? In the four years my son has been married I have visited him only once, and that was at Christmas two years ago. I stayed for eight days. I plan to visit again in September, and the following is a quote from a letter I received from my son yesterday: "We hope you will come to visit us, but, Mom, please don't plan on staying any longer than five days as that is our time limit for guests."

Abby, since when is a mother a guest? I felt so badly when I got this letter I considered not going at all, but I get so homesick for my son as he is my only child and I am a widow.

Please tell me what to do.

HURT IN OHIO

DEAR HURT: If you were to deny yourself the trip you would punish yourself more than your son. Make the trip, Mother, and stay five days.

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to "Can't Forget in Minnesota." He married an unwed mother who told him and the baby's father was and all the sordid details of her mistake. Then he said he had wished a thousand times that she had never told him. Well,

I will lay you odds that she has wished 2,000 times that she had never told him.

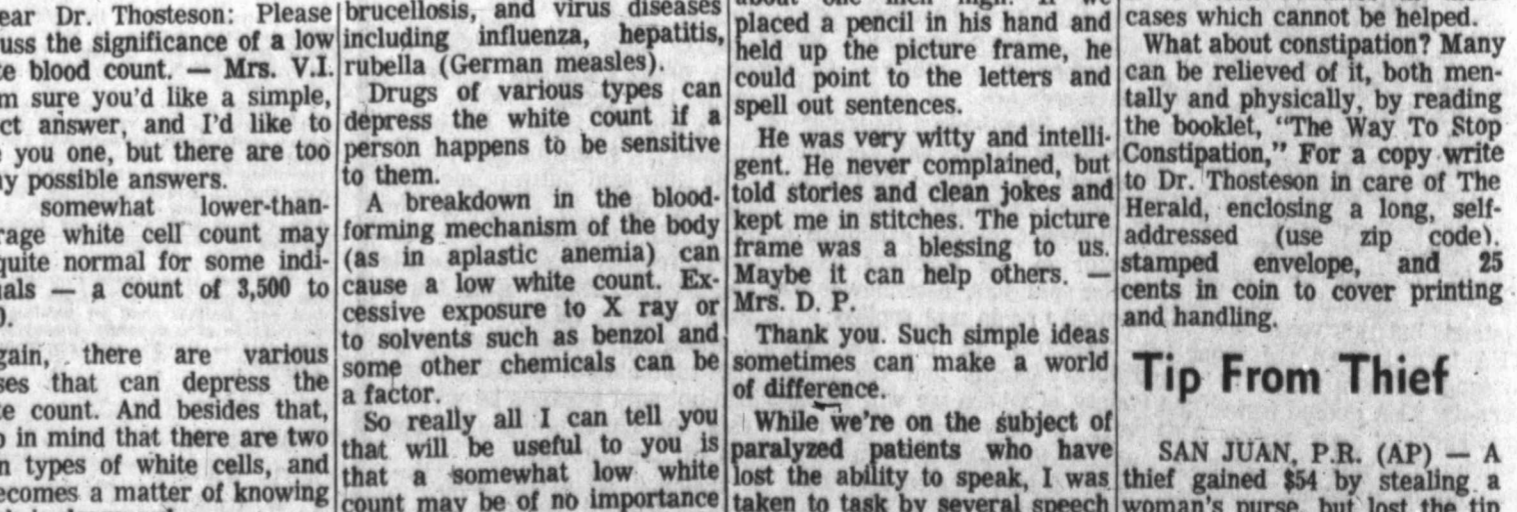

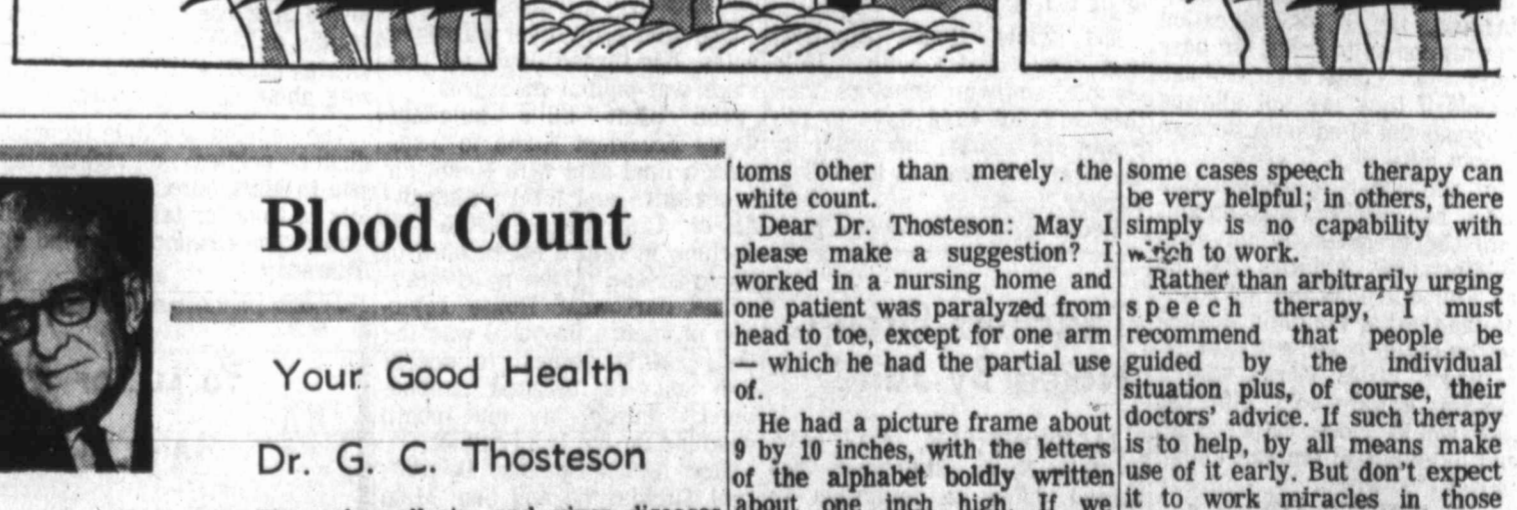

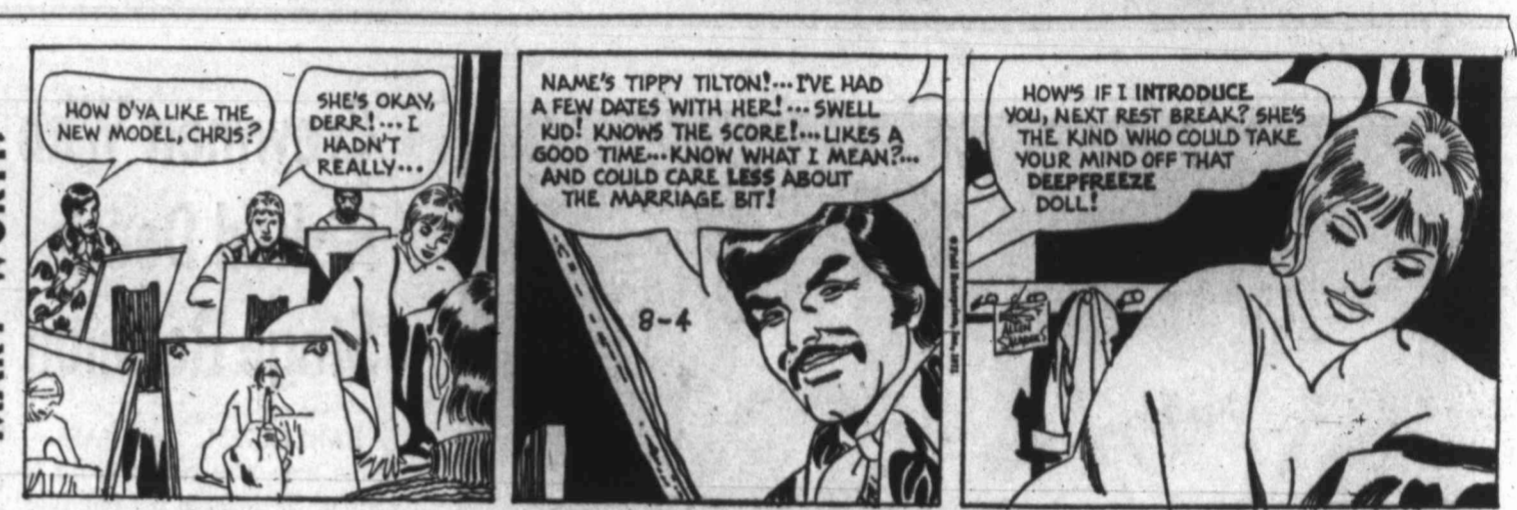

The letter didn't say how long they've been married, but if he still makes her pay daily for her mistake by letting her know that he "can't forget," I sincerely hope she looks herself in the mirror soon and says, "I have had enough. He will never change." And then leaves him. It will not be the end of the world. Sign me.

Blood Count

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please discuss the significance of a low white blood count. — Mrs. V.I. I'm sure you'd like a simple, direct answer, and I'd like to give you one, but there are too many possible answers.

A somewhat lower-than-average white cell count may be quite normal for some individuals — a count of 3,500 to 4,000.

Again, there are various causes that can depress the white count. And besides that, keep in mind that there are two main types of white cells, and it becomes a matter of knowing which is depressed.

Depression of the white count can occur with many illnesses, among them typhoid, malaria, brucellosis, and virus diseases including influenza, hepatitis, rubella (German measles).

Drugs of various types can depress the white count if a person happens to be sensitive to them.

A breakdown in the blood-forming mechanism of the body (as in aplastic anemia) can cause a low white count. Excessive exposure to X ray or to solvents such as benzol and some other chemicals can be a factor.

So really all I can tell you that will be useful to you is that a somewhat low white count may be of no importance — but if the low count is truly significant, there are so many possibilities that your doctor will have to check for symptoms other than merely the white count.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: May I please make a suggestion? I worked in a nursing home and one patient was paralyzed from head to toe, except for one arm — which he had the partial use of.

He had a picture frame about 9 by 10 inches, with the letters of the alphabet boldly written about one inch high. If we placed a pencil in his hand and held up the picture frame, he could point to the letters and spell out sentences.

He was very witty and intelligent. He never complained, but told stories and clean jokes and kept me in stitches. The picture frame was a blessing to us. Maybe it can help others. — Mrs. D. P.

Thank you. Such simple ideas sometimes can make a world of difference.

While we're on the subject of paralyzed patients who have lost the ability to speak, I was taken to task by several speech therapists for not recommending speech therapy for such people.

Well, I can't make any such sweeping recommendation. In some cases speech therapy can be very helpful; in others, there simply is no capability with which to work.

Rather than arbitrarily urging speech therapy, I must recommend that people be guided by the individual situation plus, of course, their doctors' advice. If such therapy is to help, by all means make use of it early. But don't expect it to work miracles in those cases which cannot be helped.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

The pressure of winning his 20th game is beginning to take its toll on Vida Blue, while the pressure of losing 20 games is beginning to ease on Denny McLain.

In the National League, Pittsburgh walloped Montreal 10-6; Cincinnati downed New York 5-2 before losing 9-4; Chicago took Houston 5-0; San Diego defeated St. Louis 6-1; Philadelphia nipped Atlanta 3-2, and Los Angeles trounced San Francisco 9-1.

Blue, the young flamethrower left-hander of the Oakland Athletics, failed for the second straight time to win his 20th game and absorbed one of his worst beatings of the season before the A's rallied for a 7-5 victory over the Kansas City Royals Tuesday night.

McLain, the veteran Washington right-hander and loser of 15 games, came off the disabled list early Tuesday and gained credit for his sixth victory as the Senators struck for three runs in the ninth inning and beat his former Detroit teammates 4-2.

County Ahead Of Quota In U.S. Savings Bonds

Sales of E. and H. U.S. Savings Bonds in Howard County amounted to $37,626 for the month of June, it was announced today by Robert Currie, county chairman. This brought sales for the first six months to $332,637, which is 55 per cent of the 1971 goal of $600,000.

Currie received a plaque recognizing his long-time service in promoting sale of U.S. Savings Bonds, from Larson Lloyd, chairman for Texas District 4. Lloyd's district of 10 counties had six-month sales of $812,252, for 54 per cent of the yearly quota of $1,500,000.

During June Texans purchased $15,781,727 in Savings Bonds compared to $13,638,647 (includes Freedom Shares) during June, 1970. Year-to-date sales totaled $101,916,420 — 56 per cent of the 1971 goal of $181.9 million.

Nationwide, new purchases of Series E and H Savings Bonds during June amounted to $486 million, 9 per cent above 1970. Sales the first six months of 1971 were $2,785 million — 18 per cent above a year earlier. Exchanges of Series E for new Series H Bonds amounting to $127 million were reported for the six-month period of 1971, compared to $123 million exchanged during 1970.

Typewriters Swindle Duo Admit Guilt

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Two Dallas, Tex., men pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court Tuesday to mail fraud charges that they collected $17,000 for typewriters which they never delivered.

The men also failed to pay for $200,000 worth of advertising in 50 magazines, Asst. U.S. Atty. Neal Shapiro said.

Richard Dity, 31, and John Frascone, 39, each pleaded guilty to one count of mail fraud. Thirty-one other counts of mail fraud were dropped.

Shapiro said Dity and Frascone advertised under the name of Timberwolf Sales of International Falls, offering typewriters for sale from $34.95 to $115 each. Shapiro said no typewriters were shipped.

The pair was named in a federal grand jury indictment last March charging them with 32 counts of mail fraud.

Shapiro said the government agreed to drop the 31 other charges as well as mail fraud charges in Texas if the men pleaded guilty to one charge of mail fraud in both Texas and Minnesota.

Also dropped were federal charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, crossing state lines in a stolen car and state charge in Texas of auto theft.

Frascone also was charged with escape from federal custody and aggravated assault — the latter a state charge in Minnesota. Both charges stem from his attempted escape from the St. Louis County Jail last spring, when a jailer was beaten. He was awaiting trial on the mail fraud charges at that time.

Lakes Catch More Runoff

The increase in two Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoirs from weekend rains passed the 14,000-acre-foot mark Wednesday morning.

Lake E. V. Spence, above Robert Lee, was still getting some small inflow. The elevation stood at 1837.69 Wednesday morning, representing an increase of 9,835 acre-feet. O. H. Ivie, general manager, said that the total was due to level out above 10,000.

Lake J. B. Thomas was at elevation 2214.62, and the increase there for the weekend was 4,450 acre-feet of water.

The two lakes now contain 58,162 acre-feet, said Ivie, of which 15,850 is in Lake Thomas and 42,312 in Lake Spence. The diversion storage above Colorado City has around 1,450 feet of low-quality water which was pumped from the low flow of the river.

Computers Help Solve Complex Basin Problems

AUSTIN — Computer technology is proving its worth to water planning in Texas, as shown by the Texas Water Development Board's newest publication. The report demonstrates how modern-day computers can be used to thoroughly evaluate complex river basins that have a host of possible combinations of streams, reservoirs, canals, and water uses in order to show the least costly methods of obtaining water supplies.

"These methods are applicable to all river basins in Texas, and should be of great value in dealing with complex water resource systems in the state," said Harry P. Burleigh, executive director of the Water Development Board.

Answers from the computers include the best timing, size, and sequence of each reservoir or canal in a highly complex water resource system, the least costly methods of operating them, and the severities of any shortages likely during drought periods. The answers provided do not replace the experience and judgment of the planner, according to the report, but do help him compare costs of alternatives.

Backyard Ecologists Apply ABC's To Garden Check List

By VIVIAN BROWN
(AP Newsfeatures Writer)

Here's an A to Z refresher course for abecedarians who might like to use the alphabet of ecology in their backyards:

Animals: Protect helpless animals from packs of dogs and ferocious animals that might prey on them. Alert the dog warden. Help pass roving animal laws.

Birds: Build houses for your feathered friends. Keep trees for them. Plant more.

Chickens: Easy to raise if you have a place for a coop. Or—how about a cow to deliver the morning milk?

Decks: Build one and commune with nature — one of the best investments you can make.

Eggs: You could have fertile eggs if you'd buy that hen and rooster.

Fish: Stock a pond or stream with fish.

Grass: Feed it. Weed it. Enjoy nature's own carpet.

Hedges: Choose a divider from nature... inexpensive privet... handsome yews... elegant boxwood.

Insects: Hold that spray. There are good insects. Searcher beetles can devour such nuisances as the canker worm. The praying mantis is another help to man. Ants, like worms, keep the ground aerated.

Japanese Garden: If you can't grow grass, pretty effects can be achieved with rocks, tiles, small water holes, sand, ornamental lanterns.

Kennel: If your dog has a run, pen or covered kennel, he can exercise outdoors without becoming a nuisance or a tramp.

Lighting: Light your backyard and you'll have more after-dark use.

Melons: Easier to grow than you think even in cold climate. Try your hand at cantaloupe or watermelon vines.

Nest: Some birds need help. Leave little pools of water on the ground for robins, wood thrushes, grackles who make mud nests. Chickadees and warblers like cotton and other fibers. Grass clippings might be made available for jays and sparrows. Thrushes like dry leaves. Put shedding dog or cat hair where birds can get it.

Organic Gardening: A compost heap can use your wet garbage and provide you with unsprayed vegetables.

Planting: Plant a crop of vegetables to freeze or can for winter. For example, prepare a basket of fresh-picked green beans, toss them into boiling water for a few minutes, cook and package in individual plastic bags.

Quince: A conversational tree that provides jelly.

Rubbish: In no-burn communities rubbish can be gathered in several ways. Wet garbage for compost. Bulky things such as old furniture might be set aside for special pick-ups. Bottles and aluminum may be sorted for recycling plants.

Sprays: Use only when necessary those recommended by conservationists or your community. Sevin is considered fairly safe and is being used to discourage gypsy moths, but don't spray on bird nests.

Water: Protect streams and ponds in your area. Grow watercress at the side of a stream.

X-fence: Rustic do-it-yourself fence made of wood that is cut into X's and framed may be covered with wire to keep things in or out.

Yard: It can provide you with your own "R and R" plan. Invest a little money to provide privacy, recreation and rest.

Zinnias: Easy-to-grow colorful annual for busy gardeners, it looks pretty in the garden and makes fine cutting flowers. Try pompoms at the borders, tall Collier's, idea of a perfect-sized ones in the background.

Train grapes to grow over lattice. Hanging through overhead trellising, bunches of grapes provide a beautiful effect.

Utilization: Grow what you can use. Help protect nature's wild flowers and bushes against rapers of the soil.

Vineyard: Grapes can keep you in preserves all winter.

Church Campers Conduct Service

As the culmination of a week at the "Pot O' Gold" Youth Camp at Comfort, members of the Young People's Department of Grace Baptist Church directed the evening service at the church Sunday.

Jonathan Honea served as music director, and Leslie Woods, a second year ministerial student at Bible Baptist Seminary in Arlington, Tex., gave the sermon. About 30 campers spoke briefly concerning phases of camp activities.

Adult sponsors for the campers were the Rev. and Mrs. Roy E. Honea, Mrs. Blaine Larson, Mrs. Clarence Daves, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Clanton and Woods.

Three members of the department will enroll Aug. 25 for their first year at Bible Baptist Seminary. They are Miss Brenda Daves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Daves; Miss Brenda Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nichols; and Miss Kathy Mayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Smith. Woods will also return for his second year at the seminary.
