

TV STROLL 200,000 MILES FROM EARTH

Man's First Walk In Deep Space

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronaut Alfred M. Worden stepped out of the streaking Apollo 15 spacecraft nearly 200,000 miles from earth today to make man's first walk in deep space.

Bundled in a stiff pressure suit and attached to a 25-foot lifeline, Worden eased out of the open hatch of the command ship Endeavour for a hand-over-hand trip about 15 feet to an equipment bay at the rear of the spacecraft to retrieve two film canisters.

The canisters contain nearly two miles of high resolution film covering nearly 20 per cent of the lunar surface, including what are expected to be the best pictures yet of the hidden backside.

With the hatch open, David R. Scott and James B. Irwin also wore pressure suits as protection against the vacuum of space. Irwin was to emerge partially from the spacecraft to assist Worden.

Earlier, the astronauts canceled a course change maneuver because Apollo 15 was on an accurate course as it sped back toward the earth.

At 7:49 a.m., they sped through a "twilight zone" where they escaped the influence of lunar gravity and fell into the sphere of earth gravity. They were 204,138 miles from earth and 38,410 miles from the moon and began picking up speed.

A television camera is mounted outside to relay pictures to earth as Worden moves into a silent, weightless world which has been braved previously by only nine men—six Americans and three Russians. All were in earth orbit.

In addition, eight Americans now have walked on the moon, which has a gravity field one-sixth that of earth's.

Worden's stroll is necessary because the bay is jettisoned before re-entry and does not return to earth with the astronauts.

The spacemen concluded man's greatest lunar expedition late Wednesday when they fired the Endeavour out of moon orbit on a near-perfect course that will carry them to a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean 285 miles north of Hawaii at 4:46 p.m. Saturday.

Scientists here are eagerly awaiting the approximately 175 pounds of rocks Scott and Irwin gathered during three days on the moon.

Before heading for home, Apollo 15 ejected into lunar orbit a 78.5-pound science satellite intended to send back data for at least a year on the precise shape of the moon and on magnetic, gravity and electrical fields.

"Tally-ho," Scott called out as the payload was spring-ejected from the same bay that carries the mapping cameras.

"That's a very pretty satellite out there. It seems to be rotating quite well. Very stable."

OUT FOR A SPIN — Curtis W. Tarr, the Director of Selective Service, mixes the capsules in a plastic drum today to begin a new draft lottery which will determine the order in which men turning 19 next year will face military service. Of the nearly two million men born in 1952, only a fraction can be expected to be drafted.

New Draft Lottery For 19-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON (AP) — No. 1 in today's draft lottery of men turning 19 years old this year was assigned to men born on Dec. 4, making them first in line for call-up next year.

No. 2 went to those born Jan. 25.

The low numbers in this year's draft lottery were slow in falling with No. 1 coming on the 310th draw of capsules from the two plexiglass drums. No. 2 was drawn on the 209th pluck.

With the size of draft calls dropping, under the call-up expected next year—assuming Congress passes legislation to extend the President's authority to resume drafting men—are not expected to be called beyond the No. 190 limit set for this year. Most officials expect it to be far lower.

There were 366 numbers in the yellow capsules and the Leap Year baby born Feb. 29, 1952 drew a safe 305.

Those born on Christmas Day got a medium No. 135 but those born on New Year's Day had 207. Men born on Independence Day, July 4, were assigned 142.

The highest number was assigned to men born on Nov. 1.

The first numbers were drawn by two of six youth advisers to the Selective Service System, J. Brewster Bede of Morton, Wash., age 22, and Valerie Van Buren of Washington, D.C.

The matching of numbers and birthdates started after the plexiglass drums holding the capsules had been rotated to mix them up for half an hour.

Curtis W. Tarr, draft director, came from a sick bed to open the ceremonies and say that the chances of these young men being drafted next year are growing slimmer as the military manpower needs go down.

The draft law expired June 30 and Congress is not expected to pass a new one until after it takes a summer vacation ending Sept. 8.

Of the nearly two million men born in 1952, only a fraction can expect to be drafted.

Teen Abducted By Burglars?

HOUSTON (AP) — The young daughter of a Houston executive was missing from her fashionable north Houston home today and police said she may have been abducted by burglars.

Missing was Martha Ann Cook, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Cook. Their father is president of Cook Equipment Co.

Mrs. Cook said she and another daughter, Norma, 7, left Martha asleep in her bed at 9 a.m. Wednesday as they left for Bible school. She said when they returned shortly after noon they found the back door pried open and Martha gone. She said the telephone was off the hook.

The family reported a television set, wrist watch, $75 coin collection and $206 cash missing.

They said Martha's brown-beige pajamas with a flowery print short bottom and her blue quilted robe were missing.

They said the only sign of a struggle or violence was two sheets knotted at the foot of Martha's bed, possibly used to bind her.

Police said they were told by the parents that they have had no trouble with the missing girl and that she had no reason to run away.

The missing girl is 5-8, about 155 pounds, and has brown hair and eyes.

RAINS CRUSH ROOF, 80 RESIDENTS FLEE

PLEASANTON, Tex. (AP) — Eighty aged residents of a nursing home were evacuated today after heavy rains collapsed the roof of its main building.

Between five and six inches of rain were reported in the area since 5 a.m. and was still falling at mid-day.

Several families living in low-lying areas around this South Texas town have left their homes because of threatened flash flooding.

MYSTERY WOMAN

BELTON, Texas (AP) — Investigator's were attempting to learn today the identity of a young woman whose body was found on Interstate 35, about a mile south of this Central Texas town.

Justice of Peace Floyd Campbell ordered an autopsy.

She was described as being in her early 20s.

Wholesale Food Prices Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale food prices dropped in July, but a broad range of industrial raw materials and manufactured products posted the biggest seasonally adjusted cost increase in 15 years, the government said today.

The mixed report on wholesale prices came one day after President Nixon, in a switch of tactics, challenged Congress to structure a wage-price review board without binding the economy in a straightjacket of controls.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the prices of farm products and processed foods declined three-tenths of one per cent in July, the largest drop in eight months, and were down one per cent on a seasonal basis for the largest such drop in more than a year.

However, sharply higher prices for lumber and steel products resulted in a rise of five-tenths of one per cent, sharpest in 10 months. The increase for industrial products on a seasonal basis was six-tenths, highest since August of 1956, the bureau said.

UP $114

The over-all result was an increase of three-tenths of 1 per cent in the government's wholesale price index, the smallest rise in four months. On a seasonal basis, the rise was two-tenths, smallest in five months.

The July increase pushed the wholesale index to 114.6 of its 1967 base of 100. This means wholesale goods worth $100 four years ago now cost $114.60.

The index was 3.3 per cent above a year earlier, the smallest annual spread in four months.

However, the bureau said that industrial prices in the past six months rose at an annual rate of 4.9 per cent, the largest increase since the six-month period ending in January, 1957.

METALS SOAR

Wholesale food prices are more subject to sharp fluctuations from month to month due to weather and market factors. Many economists view industrial price behavior as more vital to the economy.

The report today on metal price increases does not include this week's announced price hikes that followed a large wage hike for nearly 500,000 steel workers.

Welcoming a full-scale debate in Congress on the wage-price board proposal, Nixon said Wednesday he is now open-minded about the idea but still skeptical it would ever work or should even be tried. In the past he had rejected such a move outright.

Nixon's new flexibility on the anti-inflation proposal was coupled with a pledge to move more vigorously against big wage and price increases in the economy on a case-by-case basis.

As Congress pondered his words, the Labor Department prepared a fresh reading on inflationary trends in the economy with a report on July wholesale-price movements.

TIGHT JACKET

Nixon's challenge to Congress on a wage-price board was delivered in a roundabout way. He said he would consider such an idea favorably only if hearings convince him it could be done without stifling the economy.

"The problem here is, how can we move without putting the American economy in a straitjacket?" Nixon asked in a impromptu news conference.

He said he would reject any proposal that "would impose a new bureaucracy with enormous criminal powers to fasten itself on the American economy. That, I think, would do far more harm than good."

But, if a wage-price board proposal concerned itself with only voluntary guidelines, he said, that would never work, either. Voluntary compliance with guidelines may work for only three or four months before leading to a new wage-price spiral, he said.

NIXON SWITCHING HIS TACTICS

Senate To Complete Work On Election-Spending Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate pushed today to complete work on a broad election-spending bill after approving limits on the amount federal candidates may spend from their own pockets.

The Senate Wednesday voted down measures to bar use of compulsory union dues to finance election campaigns and to outlaw political spot advertisements less than 60 seconds long.

The basic measure would limit federal candidates' total media spending to 10 cents per voter, require full disclosure of election finances policed by a federal commission, and open the way for radio and television debates by relieving broadcasters of sometimes-awkward equal-time obligations.

$50,000 LIMIT

The limits on personal election spending would be $50,000 for presidential and vice presidential candidates, $35,000 for senatorial hopefuls and $25,000 for those seeking a House seat.

The Senate first refused to table the limits by a 58-33 vote, then passed them by voice vote.

Several hours later, however, it refused by voice vote to restrict to $5,000 the amount a citizen may contribute to a candidate. "We've said you can't spend more than $35,000 on your own campaign for the Senate. Now we would be saying you can take a million dollars from anybody else," said Sen. John O. Pastore, floor manager of the bill.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott and Pastore, who is anxious to fashion a bill that will be acceptable to President Nixon, warned of veto hazards in the $5,000 limit.

NIXON'S VETO

Nixon, who last year vetoed a bill to limit election spending for radio and television on grounds it didn't cover other media, now favors this bill's provisions requiring full disclosure of election finances, but opposes limits on contributions.

Two amendments by Sen.

Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., and Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., would have barred use of compulsory union dues to back a political candidate. Fannin's was withdrawn and Dominick's tabled by a 56-33 vote.

An amendment by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., which would have prohibited any election spots of less than 60 seconds was tabled 74 to 17.

"Are we to select our leaders on the basis of little more than a smile, a slogan and a witticism?" said Hartke, nearly defeated last year in a campaign during which his Republican opponent made heavy use of short spots seeking to link Hartke with the radical left.

HEAD OF AUSTIN SCHOOL BOARD SPEAKS OUT

Racial Balance In 'President's Buses'

AUSTIN (AP) — President Nixon knows that mass busing—which Nixon says he opposes—is the only alternative to Austin's local desegregation plan, school board President Will Davis asserted Wednesday.

A former state Democratic party chairman, Davis said that if children are transported across town to achieve racial balance, it would be in "the president's buses."

Davis issued a long statement criticizing the U.S. Justice Department's decision to appeal U.S. Dist. Judge Jack Roberts' decision upholding the race mixing plan devised by the school board.

The board's plan would preserve neighborhood schools, while using buses to put pupils in racially integrated classes about 25 per cent of the time.

"No knowledgeable person has suggested any alternative plan that does not involve massive crosstown busing of students. The plan suggested and sought by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Justice Department in the court would have imposed massive busing," Davis said.

"Now President Nixon and Attorney General (John) Mitchell have rejected the Austin plan as approved by the federal court, when they know the only alternative available is busing of students."

Nixon repudiated HEW's mass busing plan for Austin but said the city school board's proposal fell short of desegregation standards issued by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Davis also criticized Nixon for saying he wants legislation prohibiting the expenditure of federal funds for busing.

"It is obvious that the government is seeking massive busing to be imposed on school districts, that the 5th Circuit of Court of Appeals at New Orleans probably will require massive busing of students, yet the president is going to deny affected school districts any federal assistance to implement the busing requirement," Davis said.

"The expensive burden of the president's buses apparently will have to be borne only by the local taxpayers. . . . If the president is against busing as he professes, yet rejects the Austin plan which minimizes busing, I would like to know what plan he has in mind for Austin."

Panel Completes Action On $21 Billion Arms Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee has approved a $21-billion military buying authorization giving the Nixon administration just about everything it sought for major weapons development.

The committee made a slight reduction in funds for the Safeguard missile defense system and ruled out a start on extending it to the Washington, D.C., area, largely because the current deployment is running behind schedule and additional money could not be spent.

The committee restored $801.6 million cut out by the House for the Navy's F14 carrier-based fighter interceptor, citing the Pentagon's recommendation the program be carried out and the contractor's statement the funds are sufficient for 48 planes.

The procurement bill, which has precipitated lengthy Senate debates the past two years, will be called up for action in September.

It undoubtedly will attract a number of amendments, aimed at such major weapons programs as the Safeguard and the B1 advanced manned bomber. Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Armed Services Committee predicted it "will have a very rugged trip on the floor."

An aide to Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said he will offer two amendments dealing with Laos—one to limit U.S. spending there and another to stop U.S. pay for Thai troops in Laos.

That latter amendment, rejected in committee 11 to 3, is aimed at tightening an antimercenary provision adopted a year ago that prohibits spending U.S. funds for "Vietnamese or other free-world forces in actions designed to provide military support and assistance to the government of Cambodia or Laos." But it permits funds for "local forces in Laos and Thailand."

The administration has interpreted the Thai troops being used in Laos as "local forces" on grounds they are "volunteers" and serving under Laotian command.

Symington and others claim the troops are recruited in Thailand and paid for by the Central Intelligence Agency and that this violates the antimercenary provision.

He sought to redefine "local forces" to include only Thais in Thailand and Laotians in Laos. Only Sens. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, and Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., supported him in committee.

Threats Of Flash Floods Fade Away

By The Associated Press

Threats of flash floods in several areas abated today as the briefly torrential rains of the day before subsided into a few areas of light showers across Texas.

Before the deluges tapered off, more than 7.5 inches of rain poured down around Flatonia and Schulenburg, about midway between San Antonio and Houston.

The Beaumont-Port Arthur measurement was 6.08 inches at the airport between those cities, and for a time rain fell at the rate of three inches per hour in Houston.

Downpours in Southeast Texas and over the coastal plains caused flash flood warnings to be issued for parts of Fayette and Harris Counties.

A similar alert went up for low areas along Lower Hondo Creek, and high water left Farm Road 462 between Hondo and Tarpley still closed this morning.

Although Dallas gauged only 1.3 inch officially, as much as 1.5 inches fell during a brief thunderstorm, flooding some streets temporarily.

Many localities measured between one and two inches as the drenching rains fell over much of the state.

By this morning the moisture dwindled in scattered showers in Southeast and South Central Texas, with a few others reported in the Panhandle and north central section.

Skies cleared over parts of far West Texas and the Panhandle-Plains sector, while it was mostly cloudy elsewhere.

Temperatures remained mild Wednesday, although the mercury climbed as high as 95 degrees at Wichita Falls. Top marks at other points ranged down to 74 at Beaumont-Port Arthur and Longview.

Forecasts called for more showers and thundershowers in all sections of the state, with such activity most numerous in Central and East Texas.

Rangers Hunt Documents Missing From Archives

AUSTIN (AP) — The disappearance of historical documents worth maybe hundreds of thousands of dollars from the state archives has touched off an investigation ranging from here to Waco to Port Arthur.

Texas Ranger George Brakefield went to Port Arthur, and another ranger and Archives Director John Kinney went to Waco on the case.

The probe began following the arrest Monday of a Port Arthur man in connection with the theft of maps from the Austin Public Library and the University of Texas Library.

City police said it appeared there was a large-scale scheme to steal historical documents from nearly a dozen libraries across the state.

Brakefield said late Tuesday there were reports of other thefts, but that he could not elaborate.

Still being held in Travis County jail in lieu of $6,000 in bond on two counts of felony theft is William Gerald Gray, 21, of Port Arthur.

Police said he was arrested and charged in connection with the theft of an 1840 Texas map from the Austin-Travis county collection of the city library and theft of five maps from the documents collection from the UT library.

Three maps and two land grants still are missing from the city collection, with 12 posters and public notices dating from the Republic of Texas period (1836-1845) missing from the state archives.

Kinney said the state documents were worth possibly as much as $20,000 to $50,000 per document.

Words And Deeds

President Nixon again proclaimed his disapproval of busing pupils just to achieve desegregation, but in the same breath he blessed an appeal of a court decision at Austin which would have attempted to minimize busing as much as possible.

Austin Supt. Jack Davidson observed wryly: "Man in White House speaks with forked tongue."

The President could clear the air to an appreciable degree by using his influence to hold down the use of mass transportation of pupils as a means of achieving racial balance. Sen. John Tower, who is catching the backwash in Texas from this seeming double-talk, bitterly complained that the administration's appeal of the Austin plan was "inappropriate and unnecessary and inconsistent with announced administration policy." Expressing disappointment that the President allowed the justice department to proceed on the appeal, he added: "It appears that he does not really oppose forced busing or that he lacks the resolve necessary to control those who pursue it in his name."

The President is in a tough spot, but so is the senator, who properly raises the question as to the gap between opposition "to busing of children simply for the sake of busing," and the actions exerting pressure in the direction of busing.

There must be some other way to erode segregation. Artificial means such as mass busing to achieve a precise racial balance seems impractical, expensive, and destructive of best educational processes. The neighborhood concept, although it often results in some de facto segregation, is still a valid nucleus for teaching under the least traumatic circumstances for young children.

A simpler process, it would seem, is to provide honestly easy ways to choose other schools for those who want to pursue this course, but in the meantime permit educators to concentrate on upgrading the educational program and staff in all elementary schools.

Money invested in excellence, it seems to us, will yield more returns than in mass transportation for the sake of achieving a predetermined optimum percentage of races and ethnic groups. What would be the next group?

Time For Reform

Texas will feel renewed pressure next month as the Department of Public Welfare attempts to stretch funds to cover a growing roll. Voters turned down a second constitutional amendment to raise the state's contribution above the $800 million mark, so something may have to give.

It will be a tragedy if legislators and state officials wait until Gov. Smith convenes a special session next year to make second-year appropriations, including welfare. It is increasingly apparent that there must be some drastic and innovative reform of our welfare system, and just sitting around waiting for Congress to follow Rep. Wilbur Mills' recommendation of federal assumption of the program won't get the job done.

The answer no longer is digging up more and more money for more and more people. The time is past due when the issue must be faced.

The Air Traveller

Around The Rim

Jean Fannin

By STEVE HULTMAN
(Substituting for Jean Fannin)

I hate airplanes. Most people get along fine flying from one city to another, but not me. It's not that anything bad happens — it's just that nothing good happens.

A FEW weeks ago I flew to Corpus Christi for my sister's wedding. I left after work on Friday, so naturally I was pressed for time.

I got to the airport just as the plane door was shut and the engines were started — wouldn't you know I had found an airline that ran early instead of late.

I YELLED and waved at the ground crewman, but have you ever yelled at someone wearing ear muffs? The pilot saw me and took pity and opened the door.

I thought things were improving when I got to Dallas with enough time to take an early plane home. But the man at the gate told me only first class seats were available. So I upgraded my ticket to first class — for nine bucks — and ran to the plane.

I MANAGED to time it just right — I got on the ramp just as a bell went off and the ramp started to move. I grabbed the ramp driver who stopped the ramp and moved it back to the plane. I pounded on the door until the stewardess opened it.

Then came the inevitable — there were no first class seats. But there were two "coach" class seats.

So everything went well until we landed in Corpus Christi. Then I foolishly decided to get my nine dollars back that I had paid extra for a first class ticket. There was no trouble about it — except that I got to the ticket counter just behind about 50 people who were leaving on the next flight out.

I FINALLY got my money and left. It was a wonderful wedding, if you like weddings, and a wonderful weekend. Then came the moment I was dreading.

I got to the airport bright and early, hoping for the best. But no such luck. I had to change my ticket and fly on one of those little twin-engine private type planes that hold about 10 people. The problem wasn't the plane — it was the lady selling tickets. She couldn't make up her mind who was supposed to change the tickets. But after I patiently went to everyone she could think of, a kindly old man said he would do it. So off we went into the proverbial wild blue yonder. But blue it was not. However, we did manage to bounce down in Austin without too much trouble.

I HAD SOME business downtown, but when I came back to the terminal it was just in time to hear the public address system — "Will everyone please clear the terminal, we have a bomb threat."

Well, I managed to saunter out of there — in record time. After about an hour sitting on the grass out front, I got the word there was no bomb. I sprinted in and was first in line for the next plane out — but with a space available ticket. Just as I was about to board the plane for the only seat left, some idiot with reservations showed up. I should have expected it.

I DID GET on the next plane to Dallas, and after only about an hour wait was on a plane home. I don't want to talk about moving my luggage from one end of that barn of an airport to the other to change airlines; nor about a bumpy flight. In retrospect, I see why the Lord gave us legs.

Our U.N. Policy

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The formal announcement by William P. Rogers, secretary of state, that the United States intends to vote for the admission of Red China to the United Nations but at the same time will oppose "any action to expel" the Nationalist Chinese government on Taiwan was not unexpected. Yet it by no means offers a solution of the problems that face the U.N.

MANY QUESTIONS remain. Will Red China, for instance, wait until the United Nations has acted on its membership to insist that it is entitled to the seat assigned to China on the Security Council? How would the U.N. handle such a challenge? Is it possible to persuade the Peking regime to accept membership in the General Assembly and let Nationalist China retain its status as a permanent member of the Security Council? The charter of the United Nations permits any member to attend Security Council sessions and participate in its discussions — but without a vote — if matters of special concern to such a member happen to develop. But would this satisfy the pride of the Peking government?

MAINLAND CHINA, on the other hand, knows that membership in the United Nations would be significant and should not be brushed aside just because the Nationalist government on Taiwan happens also to be a member.

Certainly Communist China would have opportunities to expand trade and commerce if it decides to come out of its isolation. Indeed, the whole subject is not so much related to the benefits in the realm of diplomacy as in the fields of production and distribution. For an improvement in the standard of living of 800 million people is an essential factor in the thinking of a government which has a big responsibility to avoid domestic unrest and rebellion.

THE UNITED STATES will be doing a friendly act in supporting the admission of the Peking government to the United Nations. By opposing the expulsion of the Taiwan government and favoring a "two China" policy, the American attitude will not, of course, be pleasing to the Communists but will be understood throughout the free world. It may turn out that the vote in the U.N. will be rather close, and Red China may decide to accept admission this year with the hope that next year the seat on the Security Council will be given to Peking.

SECRETARY ROGERS has consulted other governments and notified them of the American position. It was a necessary step for him to take because this country has constantly upheld the membership of Taiwan in the U.N. and would be criticized severely in many parts of the world if a small country were abandoned by America under these circumstances.

ONE WONDERS whether Premier Chou En-lai will be smart enough to accept admission to the United Nations now and move the prestige of his country upward so that Red Chinese relations with the rest of the world will be substantially improved. It would not be surprising if the Peking government ignored the Taiwan question when it is voted membership in the U.N. This certainly could, in the long run, be a piece of strategy that would be helpful later perhaps in getting the China seat in the security council.

NINE LIVES!

Profitless Prosperity?

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — In an effort to enliven what is said to be a dull subject, or perhaps only to clarify it, economists have resorted to a dictionary of fanciful terms that often seem to say more than they really do. Runaway or galloping inflation has never been precisely defined but the term is used again and again. And just what is a rolling readjustment or a post-peak erosion? What is a soggy or sluggish economy?

Two new terms now appear to be gaining popularity among those who must describe economic: Profitless prosperity and, one of the most curious of all, growth recession. Both appear to be contradictions.

Profitless prosperity is what an increasing number of businessmen are complaining about. They maintain that even though their sales rise they can't make profits because costs are rising faster. Profitless prosperity implies — a great amount of activity without great progress.

Some retailers continue to show higher sales, but the quality of those sales may not be as good as before, for example. The commoner complaint, however, is that pay raises are exceeding productivity. If higher wages are related to increases in output per manhour both employer and employee benefit. If pay raises exceed productivity increases then the boss gets gyped.

The term growth recession was born in an attempt to describe a situation in which the economic indicators seem to be pointing in different directions at the same time. Many of the indicators point upward but polls show that businessmen and consumers remain unconvinced.

Gross National Product and industrial output may be growing, they say, but people are out of work, inflation doesn't seem to be abating, interest rates are rising, stock prices are falling.

Which led Pierre Rinfret, the perceptive proprietor of Rinfret Boston Associates, a consulting firm, to tell his clients recently: "It seems to us fair to say that the United States may be entering a growth recession soon after recovering from a classical recession."

And what does Rinfret mean? As the term suggests, there would be elements of both recession and growth at the same time. In a growth recession, says Rinfret, the Gross National Product, or the total of all goods and services produced, continues to grow. But the gap between the potential GNP and the actual GNP also grows. It means that the economy fails to live up to its possibilities. While it does grow some, its potential grows even faster. The gap widens.

As the originator of the term, Rinfret has the right to define it further and he does. The widening gap must occur over a period of more than a few months, he says.

Personal Service

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Many large corporations, aware that the consumer has a great fear of being treated as just another number on a computer, have tried to personalize their operations.

A friend of mine recently received a letter from his credit card company which said, "After receiving complaints that our customers have no one to write to personally, we are happy to inform you that Mr. Fred Barkle has been assigned to your account and if you have any problems or questions please write or call him at the following telephone number."

"WE HOPE by appointing Mr. Barkle as your liaison with our company we are proving to you that we really care. There is no substitute for talking to a real live human being when you have a problem, and our Mr. Barkle is ready to serve you at your convenience. Sincerely,"

A few weeks later my friend, let's call him Parsons, had a problem. He was being billed for a plane flight he did not take.

He immediately picked up the phone and called Mr. Barkle. "Hi, Mr. Barkle this is Dave Parsons here. It seems you fellows made a little mistake with my bill and charged me for a plane ride I didn't take. Could you straighten it out?"

"OF COURSE, Dave," Mr. Barkle said. "Just give me the information and I'll take care of it."

"Well, that's really nice of you, Fred, and I appreciate you know how much I want you to know how I have someone to talk to at your company." "That's why I'm here, Dave. And you call me any time now — you hear?"

A couple of weeks went by and Parsons received another bill from the credit card company written in stronger language.

He immediately called his friend Barkle.

"SAY, FRED, this is Dave Parson. In spite of the fact that you said you would take care of the matter, I just received another bill about my plane ticket."

"I have no idea what you're talking about, Mr. Parsons."

"Oh, I'm sorry, I'd better fill you in," and then Parsons proceeded to tell Barkle the whole story again.

"Well, I'll be happy to look into the matter, Mr. Parsons."

"What happened when you looked into the matter before?" Parsons wanted to know.

"I never looked into the matter."

"I SPOKE to you two weeks ago about it."

"You never spoke to me. What day did you call?"

"Wednesday."

"Ah, that explains it. You spoke to the Mr. Fred Barkle who is on duty Wednesday. I'm the Fred Barkle who works on Friday."

"You mean there's more than one Fred Barkle in your organization?"

"There is no Fred Barkle in our organization. It's just a name we use so our customers have someone to call."

Dangerous Toys

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — Progress being what it is in the toy-making business, I expect the nation's proxy Santa Claus has something real big in store for the kiddies come next Christmas.

Presently, they are doing the best they can with a set of three closely simulated, bloody "body parts" — an eyeball, a heart and a nose — made of plastic and selling for only 25 cents. I don't want to know how kids play with toys like that on account of I am the squeamish type, but I suspect Edward M. Swartz was understating the case when he described them before the Senate Commerce Committee as "abominable playthings."

SWARTZ, who wrote the book, "Toys That Don't Care," was plugging a bill introduced by Sens. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., and Philip Hart, D-Mich., to establish an independent regulatory commission to protect consumer interests. A bill urged by President Nixon would give that responsibility to the Food and Drug Administration, under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, but Swartz suggested that FDA might not be the perfect ombudsman.

SWARTZ TOLD the committee the FDA has taken a weak, "almost dilettantish approach" to protecting the public from toys and other products that can "burn, blind and kill." He put some evidence of this casualness into the record.

Last year, for example, the agency finally got around to banning several dangerous toys. Unfortunately for the kids, but happily for the merchants, the action did not come until three days before Christmas. Swartz also told of having demonstrated at Boston hearings in December, 1968, a play tunnel made of cloth so flammable it virtually disintegrated when he touched a match to it.

APPARENTLY, the FDA was out to lunch. Anyway, a year later Swartz was able to order the same tunnel at the annual trade fair of the Toy Manufacturers of America.

A month later, the FDA banned the tunnels, but left it up to the manufacturers to so inform distributors and retailers. It is not reported the toy-makers broke all records for swift communication in breaking the bad news.

Well, business is business, and I suppose the FDA is wary of dealing too harshly with manufacturers who contribute so much to our sagging economy. You've got to keep men working.

OF COURSE, there are problems. When the Commerce Department promulgated new standards for the flammability of children's sleepwear, the textile industry complained that treating and testing the sleepwear would be expensive, and added that the standards were not "technologically practical." In a country that regularly sends men to the moon, it is disheartening to learn that our experts lack "technological" know-how in other fields. As for the expense, what's the price tag on a child these days?

"I FRANKLY lack confidence in the ability of HEW or its creature, the FDA, to adopt the kind of Paul Revere mentality which I am convinced is needed," says Swartz. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

My Answer

Billy Graham

Is there anything in the Bible that tells us about a better world? I think the world is getting worse instead of better.

There is little evidence in the Scriptures that the world will get better until the kingdom of God is brought in. This is an idea held during the early part of the century but has now been largely discarded. There is no doubt that true Christians contribute to making a better moral and spiritual atmosphere wherever they are.

Christ taught that we are "salt" and "light." He taught that we Christians have a leavening influence in any community. Yet he also taught that wheat and tares will grow together until the end of time. (Matt. 13:24-30). Notice, He indicated that they would "grow" — therefore we have today a strange paradox. There is more "good" in the world than ever before, but there is also an intensification of evil. Both good and evil are "growing" together. Alongside the growth of the church will be growing an increasingly noticeable kind of ungodly opposition. This condition is described in II Timothy 3:1 where it says that "In the last days men are going to be lovers of themselves, of money, boastful, haughty, railers, disobedient, unthankful, unholly, without natural affection." All of these characteristics seem to be coming to the forefront at the present time.

For the Christian this should be a time of rededication, study of the Scriptures, faithfulness to the church and prayer!

A Devotion For Today...

"Truly I say to you, if you have faith as a grain of mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, 'Move hence to yonder place,' and it will move; and nothing will be impossible to you." (Matthew 17:20, RSV)

PRAYER: O Lord, nurture our faith so that it may grow to challenge the impossible. Make of us highways of love to draw together men separated by mountains of fear and hatred. Amen.

Mansfield Won't Aid Draft Bill Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says he won't aid a filibuster against the House-passed compromise bill to extend the draft. But backers concede the bill can't become law for at least a month.

Passed by the House Wednesday 297 to 108, the measure contains a $2.4-billion-a-year military pay raise and a compromise provision urging President Nixon to negotiate a final date for withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina.

PAY RAISE

The war-pullout measure was the first such language ever approved by the House, which earlier voted down a stronger proposal made by Mansfield and passed by the Senate. A House-Senate conference worked out the compromise, which doesn't please Mansfield and other Senate doves.

Mansfield said in an interview he may revive his original amendment, which would make it U.S. policy to get out of Indochina in nine months if all American prisoners are released. But he said he wouldn't try to attach it to the compromise draft bill.

"I don't intend to be obstructionist," Mansfield said. "I don't intend to filibuster and I don't intend to vote for the bill."

The draft bill is not expected to come up in the Senate until after the month-long congressional recess that begins Friday.

FIRST AT BAT

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said it should be the first order of business after the Senate reconvenes Sept. 8.

The old draft law expired June 30 and officials say if a new one isn't passed soon they may have to use residual authority to call up some men who had been deferred.

The sixth annual Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy telethon will be seen in Big Spring Sept. 5-6.

The show, seen for the second year coast-to-coast, will begin at 8 p.m. Sunday Sept. 5 and end Monday, Labor Day, Sept. 6 at 6 p.m. Last year the telethon brought contributions of more than $5 million to the fight against muscular dystrophy and related neuromuscular diseases. Big Spring contributed $2,100.

The show will be seen locally on KWAB Channel 4 television. Local volunteers will take part in a live broadcast segment originating in Monahans.

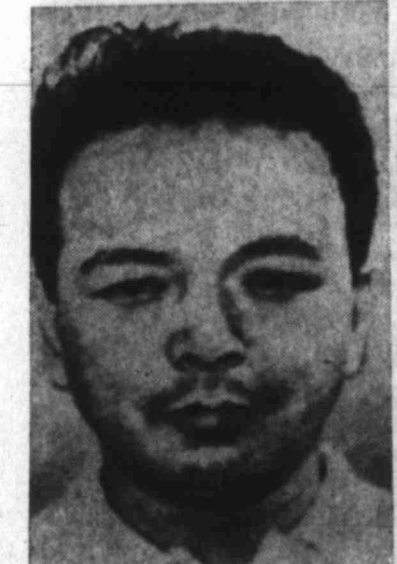

Telephone numbers for those who wish to help in the campaign are 267-6694 and 267-6361.

Agency Acquires Brown Insurance

The Patterson Agency has acquired the insurance portion of Jeff Brown insurance and realtor business. The combined agencies will operate from the Patterson Agency location at 1805 1/2 Gregg under direction of Malcolm Patterson.

Brown will devote his attention to the real estate and mobile home sections of his business, and to the Big Spring Employment Agency owned by him and his wife. Brown established his insurance service Aug. 1, 1965.

Patterson came into the insurance business in 1954 to assist his late father, L. S. Patterson, who had established it in 1923. Later he and his brother, Morris, assumed the business when their father retired.

ARRESTED — Kazuo Kobayashi, 41, a Japanese radio equipment salesman, has been arrested by Tokyo police on suspicion of trying to buy secret information on U.S. bases in Japan for a Soviet Embassy official.

The program is sponsored by the Texas Education Agency Special Education Department. Those attending will be Mary Newell, M. A. It Only Hurts For Awhile When You Show Sex Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brushing with some commercial toothpastes may brighten your sex appeal, but what if it hurts to smile? Several popular brands may cause painful soreness and swelling of the gums, according to an unpublished Pentagon study released today by Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I. The condition, known as gingival stomatitis, was found among users of Colgate, Crest, McLean's, Plus White, Ultra-Brite, Vote and Gleem.

Colgate-Palmolive Co. issued a statement questioning the scientific validity of the study, and Sen. Pell himself conceded it may not be conclusive. "But I believe the American consumer deserves to be informed completely on the findings of tax-supported consumer research," Pell said.

Researchers for the Army Institute of Dental Research conclude that clinical and laboratory findings "indicate strongly that some commercially available dentifrices may cause painful gingival responses in the user." The conclusion is based on two clinical surveys involving a total of 1,057 patients and laboratory tests with 30 hamsters.

More Officers Resign But Successors Being Named

More resignations from local police officers were submitted today. Stanley Bogard, acting police chief said, and work has started toward hiring new men to fill the positions.

Six additional letters of resignation were tendered by officers, Roger Hammock, Fred Parsons, Joe Holden, Jess Montenez, Billy Rives, and Jess Bedwell. Police officials said possibly three to five others might leave before the end of the week.

Two officers, Sgt. Jack Boyd and Gerald Harrison, resigned Tuesday night. There were reports two others were quitting but had not submitted formal resignations.

"We have capable and qualified men on the waiting list that will be ready to fill these positions tonight and those officers staying with the force have assured me that they can be counted on for 24-hour service to the city until all the positions can be filled," said Bogard.

An emergency session of the city commission in connection with the resignations was deferred this morning when city commissioners gave Bogard complete authority to hire or fire as he felt necessary for sound law enforcement.

"We stand behind Chief Bogard in his present position to the fullest extent, and we as the commission will back any steps he feels he must take," said Mayor Arnold Marshall.

"It is regrettable that these members of the police department are resigning. We hate to lose good men, but I feel that we can depend on the cooperation of all city officials and the people of Big Spring and their full support of local law enforcement," said Roy Anderson, acting city manager.

Several weeks ago mass resignations from the department had been threatened when the commission first dismissed Banks.

Bandits Use Pantyhose To Tie Gem Store Exec

DALLAS (AP) - A man and woman forced a jewelry store manager to open a vault and made off with an undetermined number of watches and rings Wednesday evening.

Detective C. D. Mee said the mini-skirted woman hid in the back seat and accosted the store manager, O. J. Kniffen, after he closed Everts Jewelers and entered his car about 6 p.m. The store is in the Preston Center shopping district.

After forcing Kniffen to drive from a parking area to the front of the store, the woman was joined by her male companion. They gathered up the watches and jewelry inside, the woman doffed her pantyhose, and the bandits used them to tie Kniffen, leaving him on the floor. The pair fled in his car.

Kniffen worked free after a time and notified police. Mee said the value of the missing items had not been learned.

The accident occurred in the west bound lane of IS 20 at 8:38 p.m. and Worthey was taken to the clinic by an Aler ambulance at 8:51 p.m.

Rural Mishap

Del Rio Integration Snags Labeled Typical

WASHINGTON (AP) - Attempts to desegregate Del Rio, Tex., schools are a "prime example of the intransigence of federal agencies in dealing with the problems," a congressional subcommittee has been told.

The director of the Civil Rights Commission, Howard A. Glickstein, said Wednesday that the Del Rio situation is "a microcosm of the whole national problem."

Rogers Will Make Pitch For Pakistani Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of State William P. Rogers plans to go to the United Nations personally to push for a more energetic international relief effort for East Pakistani refugees.

Aides said Rogers intends to meet Monday with U.N. Secretary General U Thant, U.N. relief officials and others about the international undertaking which U.S. authorities regard as too slow and too little.

President Nixon, at an impromptu news conference Wednesday, noted the $70 million already supplied by the United States for East Pakistani refugees in India is more than all other countries of the world have contributed.

Nixon also hit at a House-passed ban on U.S. aid to Pakistan. The restriction would cut out $118 million in economic-development assistance and $5 million in arms help earmarked for Pakistan in the administration's new foreign-aid bill.

Authors of the ban protest the Pakistani central government's drive to stamp out a rebellion in East Pakistan. They say holding back the funds would pressure the Pakistani government, led by West Pakistanis, to improve its treatment of the Eastern provinces.

Disputing this, Nixon said stopping aid to Pakistan would hurt the government's ability to distribute food in hungry East Pakistan. He said continuing U.S. assistance would allow Washington to influence the course of events better while "public pressure on the government of West Pakistan... would be totally counterproductive."

LOYALTY VOWS
At about the time Nixon was speaking, 14 members of the Pakistani embassy in Washington resigned, pledged loyalty to the independence movement in the Eastern province and asked for political asylum in the United States.

The defectors included one ranking minister and three counselors. "We have decided to join the suffering millions of Bangladesh who are resisting with their lives the barbarity of the West Pakistan army who are determined to reduce East Pakistan to a colony," said Sayyed A. Karim, Pakistan's No. 2 representative at the United States.

Turning to Vietnam, the President pictured large-scale U.S. ground offensives as a thing of bygone days in view of U.S. troop withdrawals.

Nixon hinted that secret talks on a peace settlement are in process even though Washington has not made a formal public response to the offer made by the Viet Cong in Paris July 1.

"We are very actively pursuing negotiations on Vietnam in established channels," he said. "The record, when it finally comes out, will answer all the critics" who say his administration is not trying hard enough for a peace.

DA To Probe Stench Bomb

Investigation of a stench-bomb tossed on the roof of Family Money Services, Inc. has been transferred to the sheriff's office on request of District Attorney Wayne Burns.

Police and fire officials at first thought the article might have been an intended fire bomb but since discounted this possibility. The bottle apparently contained mercaptan, a stinky but flammable liquid. The bottle of liquid was discovered by Eddie Acrl, owner of the finance service, and who also is a city commissioner, at 11 a.m. Wednesday. Capt. Alvie Harrison, among those investigating, said at the time that the fumes possibly could have caused an explosion, but not that they would have caused an explosion as he was quoted in Wednesday's Herald.

Gene Patton, fire marshal, said that tests indicated contents of the bottle were not volatile enough to produce an explosion but that they were highly flammable.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Roberts was dispatched Thursday morning to Austin with a sample of the contents to get an analysis from the Department of Public Safety. It was thought that the material was an extract which often is used as a malodorant for natural or liquefied petroleum gases. Little damage was done to the finance company office but the premises were saturated with the odor.

Richardson Man Shaken In Crash

Gary Lee McKee, Richardson, was treated for minor injuries and released from the Malone and Hogan Clinic Wednesday after being involved in a two-car collision at the intersection of IS 20 and U.S. 350.

Guy Everett Horn, Box 123, Hillcrest Road, was the driver of the other vehicle and apparently was not injured in the accident which occurred at 12:14 p.m.

Production Line At Mobile Home Plant Nearly Ready

Production may begin at Eagle Homes before the end of the week, Leo Koestler, manager, told the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday meeting in the Settles.

This doesn't mean that the first unit will come off the line immediately; on the contrary, it may be a few weeks before that happens. Possibly six months will be required to iron out all kinks and get the assembly line moving smoothly to a goal of seven or eight units per day.

SLAPS BAN

Nixon also hit at a House-passed ban on U.S. aid to Pakistan. The restriction would cut out $118 million in economic-development assistance and $5 million in arms help earmarked for Pakistan in the administration's new foreign-aid bill.

Authors of the ban protest the Pakistani central government's drive to stamp out a rebellion in East Pakistan. They say holding back the funds would pressure the Pakistani government, led by West Pakistanis, to improve its treatment of the Eastern provinces.

PT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Col. Oran K. Henderson, highest-ranking officer under charges arising from the mass slaying of civilians at My Lai, will go on trial Aug. 23 before a seven-officer jury. The trial is expected to last up to 12 weeks.

"How do you plead?" the military judge, Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, asked after the jury was empaneled Wednesday.

NOT GUILTY

"To all specifications and charges, not guilty," said Henderson, a much decorated combat soldier in World War II, Korea and Vietnam.

One Vietnam veteran, Maj. Gen. Charles M. Mount Jr., is on the court-martial jury of five colonels and two generals who were seated in one day.

The charges against Henderson, a 50-year-old native of Indianapolis, are that he was derelict in failing to investigate "allegations of reports of excessive killings of noncombatants" at My Lai, failing to report to higher command "incidents and acts, thought or alleged to be war crimes" and later lying to a high-level Army inquiry.

SIX YEARS

Conviction could bring a maximum sentence of six years in prison and dismissal from the service.

Attorneys for both sides and Henderson will appear in court on Aug. 16 to settle some pretrial motions, but the jury will not be there.

Proving Ground After Rank Cut

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP) — Brig. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, who commanded the Americal Division at the time of the My Lai massacre in Vietnam, has reported to his new job as deputy commanding general and chief of staff at the Army's Aberdeen Proving Ground.

Koster was reduced in rank from major general by former Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor May 19 for failure to adequately investigate the killings.

Col. Robert L. Waters, asked to be excused.

"I am biased and I have prejudged and I don't think I am qualified as a jury member," Waters said.

"For or against the accused?" Tichenor asked.

"For the accused," Waters said firmly. "I cannot be impartial." Waters served in Vietnam in 1957-58.

UNDER REVIEW

He was dismissed from jury duty.

Tichenor later exercised his privilege of removing one prospective juror without cause, excusing Col. Austin Triplett Jr., an infantry officer who served two tours in Vietnam and was wounded there.

At the time of the massacre at My Lai, Henderson commanded the 11th Brigade of the Americal Division.

Capt. Ernest Medina, a subordinate officer who commanded the company involved in an infantry sweep through My Lai, is charged with overall responsibility for 102 civilian deaths at the Vietnamese hamlet.

His court-martial at Ft. McPherson, Ga., is in recess.

Former Chief Of Mexico's National Police Ends Life

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The former chief of the Mexican national police, Lt. Col. Manuel Suarez-Dominguez, committed suicide in his cell at a federal prison, the U.S. attorney's office said.

Lawyer Fred Semaan said Suarez, 60, convicted on charges stemming from the largest seizure of heroin in San Antonio history, was found dead Tuesday in his special solitary cell at La Tuna Federal Correctional Institution near El Paso.

Semaan said Suarez left a note and letter to him. "It appeared that Suarez was despondent over the fact that certain government officials indicated they might wish on promises made to him," Semaan said.

Suarez tried to cut his throat after he and his secretary, Yolanda Yarez-Schmidt of Mexico City, were arrested by federal narcotics officers here May 7, 1970.

Their arrest followed confiscation of $250,000 and 89 pounds of 98.5 per cent pure heroin, estimated to have a retail price of $4 million in the underworld market, agents said.

Suarez and two San Antonio men, Alfredo Montemayor and Salvador M. Mazatini, were convicted in federal court Nov. 3, 1970. Charges against the second man, Alfredo Montemayor and retiree were dismissed.

INHERITS $575,000

'It Won't Change Our Standard Of Living'

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — James M. Weichering was on the job Wednesday night, driving his forklift for a local wholesale grocery firm.

To look at him you couldn't tell he'd just inherited $575,000, stocks, bonds, a ranch, 226 head of cattle and three oil wells.

And that's just the way he wants it.

Weichering, it was announced Wednesday, had inherited his fortune from a maternal grandfather, John C. Sperry, of Longview, Tex.

"It won't change our standard of living," he said. "We already have a pretty nice home there in Midwest City (an Oklahoma City suburb) now.

"I have a good job here and a good future, and I plan to stay on until I retire."

Weichering is 38. He and his wife Marie have four married children and three grandchildren.

He was in Longview for the reading of the will but had to return before his vacation ran out—at the request of his employer. He said he didn't want to miss any work.

Wichita's Feisty Jones Paces Win

FORT WORTH (AP) — Carl Jones is only 6 feet 2 inches, but he outshone the taller giants in the Texas High School Coaches' Association All Star basketball game Wednesday night.

Jones, of Wichita Falls Hirsch, was the guiding force in leading the North to an exciting 100-99 victory over the South. A five foot jump shot by Cedrick Joseph of Fort Worth Arlington Heights with 15 seconds to play was the victory margin.

But it was the inspired play Jones, a feisty guard who plans to attend West Texas State, that rattled the surging South which had built up a 54-48 halftime lead.

Jones scored 23 points, 17 of them in the last half and nine in the crucial fourth quarter. "Carl was just tremendous," said a beaming North coach Glenn Stevens. "He made it go."

Teammate Jimmy Murphy, who had 20 points and is bound for Southern Methodist, said Jones took the pressure off of us. They spent most of the time worrying about him and it left us more open.

Jones was voted the most valuable player in the game, getting 32 of 37 ballots. The North now leads the all-time series 13-12.

The crowd of 9,500 in Tarrant County Convention Center was treated to some stirring play in the final moments.

The South actually had a chance to win the game with six seconds to play when Murphy stepped out of bounds in his own back court.

However, Maurice Presley of Houston Davis, who had 20 points for the night, missed a long jumper with two seconds to play and Joseph captured the rebound.

The North shot a sizzling 54.4 per cent from the field, compared to 47.6 per cent for the South coached by Bill Kruger of Clear Creek. Jones was fantastic from the field hitting 11 of 15 attempts.

The South out rebounded the Northerners 50-46 and had a better free throw percentage—70 per cent to 63.6 per cent.

Presley, who had 20 points for the game, tied with Joseph in rebounds at 13 each. Other high scorers for the North include Edwin Lynum of El Paso Bel Air who had 15, and Joseph, Ray Roberts of Garland, and Larry Beasley of Hawley, who had 12 apiece. William Johnson of Houston Yates made 19 points and Gerald Taylor of Houston Lincoln scored 18 points for the South.

NORTH REBOUNDER — North All-Star Cedrick Joseph (24) goes high for the rebound during the High School Coaches Association All-Star Basketball Game here Wednesday night. Defenders for the South are Maurice Presley (33) and William Johnson (35). Looking on is Edwin Lynum of the North. North won 100-99.

Tim Winn Picked As Oiler Aide

Tim Winn, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Winn of Coahoma, has been selected to be an assistant trainer with the Houston Oilers for the next three weeks.

He will go to the Oiler training camp in Kerrville and will be making several trips with the team. Tim, a 1969 graduate of Coahoma High, is a student trainer under Frank Medina at the University of Texas, where he is a sophomore physical therapy major.

Fitzmorris Sings Lullaby To Minnesota

By The Associated Press
After writing and singing songs, what can Al Fitzmorris do for an encore?

How about a two-hitter. Fitzmorris, Kansas City's singing pitcher, hit the high note of his baseball career with a 3-0 waltz Wednesday over the heavy-hitting Minnesota Twins after the Royals won the opener of a two-night doubleheader, 2-1.

"This is the best game of my career—by far, the best," said Fitzmorris, who has done considerable song-writing and singing for several years during the off-season.

Fitzmorris was flirting with a no-hitter when Harmon Killebrew singled to lead off the seventh inning.

In the other American League games, the New York Yankees blasted the Cleveland Indians 7-3; the Detroit Tigers tripped the Washington Senators 2-1; the Baltimore Orioles topped the Boston Red Sox 5-4 in 10 Innings in the opener of a two-night doubleheader before rain washed out the nightcap; the Chicago White Sox buried the California Angels 10-3 and the Oakland A's nudged the Milwaukee Brewers 6-5.

Mickey Lolich notched his 17th victory, striking out 14, as Detroit stopped Washington. Al Kaline tripled and scored the first run in the first, then homered in the third for the winning tally.

Merv Rettenmund's 10th-inning single—his fourth hit of the game—chased home Baltimore's winning run as the Orioles rallied for a victory over Boston, the runner-up team in the American League East. The victory boosted Baltimore's lead to 5½ games over the Red Sox.

Named Coach

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Donald Corbett has been named basketball coach at Lincoln University, Dr. Walter C. Daniel, university president, announced Wednesday.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Some observers think the Notre Dame-Southern California game this fall will determine the NCAA football championship, since both teams are endowed with so much experience.

Notre Dame has 17 of its top 22 players back. The Trojans are automatic favorites in the Pacific-8 Conference before the race begins.

Of course, there is an army of writers and broadcasters who can be counted on to call the matchup the Big One, if the two teams come anywhere close to living up to expectations.

Texas will again likely be the favorite in the Southwest Conference. Should the Longhorns make the opposition bend to their will, I think Notre Dame should return to the Cotton Bowl to play the Orange in the rubber game of their series, assuming that the Irish win most of their games. However, Notre Dame's subway alumni likely wouldn't stand still for that. They want the Irish in the Orange Bowl.

One of the pre-season college football magazine places Notre Dame third in its standings, back of Nebraska and Texas and ahead of Auburn and Michigan.

Just as I feel that Cinderella married for money, I'm certain that the Cotton Bowl people will start wooing Nebraska, if the Huskers perform as expected.

A Big Spring football officiating team didn't get any assignments in a college conference this year. Members of the group think they know who was responsible for seeing that they pulled the black bean from the officiating jar. They point the finger at a man who can get up before an audience and speak in holier-than-thou tones but who assumes a very different personality down on the field.

Jimmy Whitcher, the one-time Abilene golfer who recently became the new head professional at Houston's new Sugar Creek Country Club, believes he played the last round of golf with the late Babe Zaharias, who was killed by cancer in 1956.

Jerry Rhome would appear to be the most expendable of the Houston Oilers' four quarterbacks but he hasn't packed his bags.

He looked to advantage in responding to a challenge after Big Spring Charley Johnson was injured last year. Charley has undergone four knee operations and his leg is still sensitive from the last one, which occurred in December.

The week after Johnson broke a collar bone against Pittsburgh last season, Rhome completed 21 of 36 passes for 266 yards and two touchdowns in that 31-31 tie with San Diego. The Oilers matched that point total only one more and never surpassed it in 1970.

Rhorne has been in pro ball seven years, so he knows the score. There's no substitute for experience in any sport.

On the subject of quarterbacks, there's no reason why Big Spring's Mike Adams shouldn't have an outstanding season this year.

He's completely recovered from that broken arm he experienced on the final day of workouts in the spring. He clocked enough playing time last year to be regarded as a veteran and he knows his teammates are counting heavily on him.

Big Spring may be better stocked with quarterbacks than it has in years, with juniors Alan Davis and Scott Carille poised to offer Adams some relief and sophomore Tom Sorley waiting in the wings.

The coaches in Illinois recently organized for the purpose of (1) creating a state football playoff toward state championships, (2) setting up Coach of the Year awards for proper recognition by districts and school size, (3) starting football and basketball clinics, (4) beginning job placement service for all coaches, (5) selecting all-state teams and (6) sponsoring all-star games.

The Illinois group, no doubt, will use the Texas setup as a pattern for organization. The University Interscholastic League is the finest of its kind in the world.

Heldman Cops Houston Event

HOUSTON (AP) — Julie Heldman, ranked No. 7 in the world, used a steady baseline game for a 2-6, 6-4, 6-2 victory over Christina Sandberg of Sweden in the $40,000 Virginia Slims International Tennis Tournament Wednesday night.

Miss Sandberg won the first set and took the first game of the second set before Miss Heldman scrambled back with deft placements and top-spin lobs for the first round triumph.

Miss Heldman is fifth seeded here behind Billie Jean King, Rosemary Casals, Francoise Durr and Nancy Richey Gunter.

Sixth-seeded Judy Dalton of Australia defeated Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., 6-0, 6-3. Miss Bartkowicz appeared rusty after a two-month layoff.

Kerry Melville, seeded No. 7, defeated Lesley Hunt of Australia, 6-3, 6-1 and Miss Casals downed Kristy Pigeon of Danville, Calif., 6-1, 6-2.

Mrs. King and Miss Casals, who have teamed to win four Wimbledon titles, defeated Windy Orterton and Jill Cooper of England in doubles.

Mrs. King opens singles play Thursday against unseeded Nell Truman. Mrs. Gunter, from San Angelo, Tex., plays Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego, Calif. The tournament continues through Sunday.

Dodgers Regret Only One Call

By The Associated Press
The Los Angeles Dodgers regret Ken Forsch once before, but they remember him now. Forsch, a rookie right-hander, hurled a four-hitter for Houston Wednesday night, shutting out the Dodgers 2-0 and ending a five-game LA winning streak. It was the youngster's first major league shut-out and it came against a team that once professed interest in Forsch—all of one phone call's worth.

Forsch, an outstanding pitcher at Oregon State, was drafted by the Astros in 1968. But before the draft, the Dodgers apparently were thinking about the youngster.

"The night before the draft, I got a phone call from somebody with the Dodgers," Forsch said. "They asked if I was interested and I said yes. That's the last I heard from them. Just one phone call, that's all."

COMMISSIONER — The Associated Press learned Wednesday Wayne Duke will be named commissioner of the Big Ten Conference. Duke, 42, is the present commissioner of the Big Eight. The official announcement is expected Thursday.

man Halvor Hagen and wide receiver Honor Jackson from the Cowboys.

Dallas President Tex Schramm, who has been a target of Thomas' fiery criticism, announced Wednesday that part of the deal had been cancelled. Thomas was coming back to Dallas, Garrett was returning to the Patriots and New England could keep Hagen and Johnson in exchange for two undisclosed draft choices, he said.

Thomas deserted the Patriots training camp Monday. Schramm said the cancellation had been prompted by questions raised about Thomas' condition by the New England team physician.

The Patriots issued a statement which said: "The Patriot team physician, in the course of his physical examination of Duane Thomas when he arrived at training camp, developed certain questions concerning Thomas' general condition." The team neglected to elaborate but said, "These concerns were confirmed in the brief practice that followed. Mr. Thomas has since withdrawn from training camp after declining to complete his physical examination."

Thomas deserted the Patriots training camp Monday. Schramm said the cancellation had been prompted by

Thomas Flunks Boston Test, Dallas Erases Part Of Deal

By The Associated Press
Controversial running back Duane Thomas, the fleet-footed ace who led the Dallas Cowboys in rushing last season, has covered a lot of ground this past week but doesn't seem to have made any headway.

Thomas was traded by the Cowboys to the New England Patriots last weekend after he tossed several verbal barbs at Dallas management and requested that he be swapped.

Under terms of the transaction, New England sent halfback Carl Garrett and the Patriots' No. 1 draft pick next year to Dallas and also received line-

REIGNS AT PAN AM GAMES — Roxanne Pierce, 16-year-old gymnast from Kensington, Md., smiles broadly at Cali's Alberto Galindo Auditorium Wednesday after winning her fourth gold medal of the Pan American Games. She succeeds teammate Linda Jo Meihany of Tuscola, Ill., who won five golds in the Pan Am Games at Winnipeg, Canada, four years ago.

Colombia Yells For 'Alvaro,' But Yanks Nearly Have Title

CALL, Colombia (AP) — Adored distance runner Alvaro Mejias can light a fuse to ignite all of Colombia today, no matter if U.S. track and field heroes virtually have clinched the Pan American Games for Uncle Sam.

"Alvaro, Alvaro," the voices of Cali will chant as the lithe, 145-pound Mejias strains to win the grueling Pan Am marathon for the host country.

Mejias whipped a thundering herd of 887 runners in April to win the fabled Boston Marathon and excite his countrymen for today's grind for a Pan Am gold medal.

The 5-foot-10 Mejias, a man of 30 with mustache and rippling muscles, is married to former USA Olympic swimmer Terri Stickle.

While Alvaro runs for Colombia, the talent-deep Americans are continuing to jam their war chest with gold medals with swimming—a Yankee favorite—ready to begin Friday.

The USA has 36 golds, 26 silver medals and 16 bronze for a total of 78 medals. Cuba's red tide was beginning to be stemmed as Castro's troops hit 50 medallions including 12 golds, 26 silvers and 12 bronzes.

Canada is a distant third with 5-5-15 for an aggregate of 25 medals.

Track and field ends today and with only a few events on schedule the United States had won 16 of 18 men's tests, setting nine Pan Am records.

USA girls have three golds in nine events including two records. Lynn Graham, a 230-pound Fresno, Calif., giant, heaved the shot put an incredible 51-9½ Wednesday night.

Women's gymnastics continue to be a major medal-maker for the United States, cute 16-year-old Roxanne Pierce of Kensington, Md., winning four golds to lead a Yankee sweep.

The old-timers are doing their part, led by 41-year-old Al Hall of Charlton City, Mass., who sailed the hammer a record 216 feet Wednesday night.

Jan Johnson, a University of Alabama pole vaulter from Chicago Heights, Ill., gave the crowd of 40,000 a charge by clearing 17-5¾ to better still another Pan Am mark.

Muscular minister Russ Knipp of Fullerton, Calif., lifted a record total of 990 pounds in the middleweight class to bag three gold medals.

USA fencers swashbuckled their way to men's and women's foil team crowns and U.S. deadeyes outshot the Cubans to take away four golds and a silver in skeet and small bore rifle firing from a prone position.

Trevino, resting at his El Paso, Tex., home this week, has won $197,219, Nicklaus $187,763 and Palmer $184,799.

The field was completed with five players from the $20,000 satellite tournament Wednesday. They were Dean Bream of Boca Raton, Fla., Ross Randall of Alameda, Calif., Dick Blyan Jr. of Indianapolis, Bob Payne of Mount Vernon, Ill., and Curtis Sifford of Los Angeles.

Host pro Bobby Nichols, 1964 PGA champion, shot 272 and finished second to Ray Floyd two years ago when Floyd fired a Classic record of 12-under-par 268. What about his own chances?

"I'm striking the ball well," Nichols said. "I hope to do well, but sometimes you try too hard in front of your own folks."

Most pros think Firestone favors the big, powerful golfers like Tom Weiskopf, Palmer and Nicklaus, Nichols doesn't agree.

"I don't say the long hitters have an advantage here. You have to keep it straight and you

Parents will be permitted to play on more than one team. Entry fee is $7.50 per player.

Junior Linksters Stymied By Rain — The Pecos stop on the West Texas Junior golf tour had to be cancelled Tuesday due to rain. It will not be rescheduled.

The young golfers converge upon Canyon today and will play the Ross Rogers course at Amarillo Thursday.

'WE'RE PLAYING POST OFFICE FOR REAL NOW'

IPSA - - The Newest Mailman

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — "Now you have a choice—IPSA's mail or Uncle Sam's," the slogan says.

IPSA? The acronym for Independent Postal Service of America may not be a household word and the idea of getting bags of mail hung on door knobs may be a bit startling. But officers of IPSA say the U.S. Postal Service now has a solid competitor and a possible unofficial, future partner.

Thomas L. Murray, president of the firm since it was founded 3½ years ago, says IPSA carriers will be delivering mail to residents in every city with 50,000 or more residents by 1975.

'JUNK MAIL'

The service deals in third-class mail, or so-called "junk mail" although the term is taboo among IPSA employees. It now delivers the material at cheaper rates than the Postal Service in hundreds of cities in 19 states and Canada.

And it has other projects in the works: —Construction of permanent post office buildings in 15 locations, stretching from Oklahoma City to Buffalo, N.Y. —Expanded use of the "IP. Sagram," a modern version of the telegram. It uses facsimile transmission, which lets customers send messages in their own handwriting.

—Attempts to corral what could be its most lucrative business—wide-scale delivery of magazines and other publications.

CASH BASIS

—Public service projects in certain areas, such as free mail from taxpayers to their congressmen and five-cent rates for intracity delivery of Christmas cards.

"We're playing post office for real now," says Murray, recalling the firm's somewhat shaky start.

"Since the first of the year we have been able to get all the financing we need," he added in an interview. "We didn't get this in the past and it caused problems—operating on a cash flow basis."

Murray, who immigrated from Ireland 17 years ago, points to two other factors for the upswing in business.

One was the recent rate increase by the Postal Service. IPSA currently charges $33 to $34 for 1,000 saturation-type third-class mailings. The national service gets $30 per 1,000 mailings up to 250,000 pieces. After that, the U.S. rate jumps to $42 per 1,000. IPSA's rate does not change and customers are guaranteed that the mail will arrive on the specified day.

THE ONLY ONE

"Uncle Sam is the only person in the business world who penalizes his clients for doing more business for him," one IPSA official commented.

Murray also contended that IPSA was helped, ironically, by passage of the Postal Reform Act.

"They could have about put us out of business if they had true postal reform, but they didn't," he said.

BIGGEST USERS

Murray said the postal reform as passed caused widespread dissatisfaction among the nation's biggest users of mail, adding: "The lobbyists for the magazines and other concerns saw all their years of efforts go down the drain."

PLASTIC BAGS

IPSA wants to get into the business of delivering magazines on a national scale someday and has been negotiating with several publishing companies. A spokesman for one firm, publisher of the top five national magazines in circulation, declined to elaborate but said of IPSA: "We've used them in the past and expect to use them more in the future."

IPSA now lists many major retail corporations and business firms among its clients, including Sears-Roebuck, Blue Cross-Blue Shield and Montgomery Ward. The state of Kansas has expressed interest in doing business with IPSA because of the cost for official correspondence under the new postal rates.

Under federal law, IPSA employees are barred from using residential mail boxes, so they hang plastic bags of letters around door knobs.

The law has never been fully challenged in the courts by

Luxury Resort Motel Is Sold

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Inn of the Hills, 97-room luxury resort motel here has been sold to a Dallas-based corporation, its owner-operator said today.

The announcement was made by G. E. Lehmann, who built the motel and who has owned and operated it since its opening in March, 1965.

Continental Hosts Inc., the purchaser, will assume operations Aug. 25, Lehmann said.

D. H. Thomas is president of Continental and Stanley Hickman and Robert Hoppe are other principals. The transaction also includes the River Inn, a 20-room resort motel on the Guadalupe River, 15 miles west of Kerrville.

Thomas said no change in staff policy is contemplated.

IPSA for several reasons, Murray said. "First, in the beginning, we didn't feel we were big enough to take on the post office. Also there was the problem of mail thefts, there are thousands of thefts everyday and we didn't want to take the blame. Then we didn't want to open the mail boxes to every Tom, Dick and Harry just as we were getting started."

IPSA attorneys have advised that they think the U.S. law on mail boxes is not valid, because it regulates the use of private property.

HELPING HANDS

While IPSA officials speak only in glowing terms about the company's future, they admit to facing several obstacles. IPSA's future will likely depend on gaining recognition—both from the public and the U.S. Postal Service.

Orville DeClaire, IPSA vice president and general manager hopes official recognition of the U.S. Post Office will come in time. "We're interested in handling all types of mail—second-third-and fourth-class—and we hope someday to reach a cooperative agreement with the post office," he said.

As one IPSA official put it: "We can help the post office become a better organization by taking some of their business off their hands."

MOST TEXAS CRIMINALS PAROLED MAKE IT OKAY

DALEAS (AP) — Most criminals paroled in Texas go on to constructive lives, a parole staff supervisor said here recently.

George Young, with the Board of Pardons and Paroles, said only "10 per cent violate their paroles and only three per cent do so by committing new crimes."

Usual violations include drinking, non-support of families, leaving the state without permission and similar infractions. "At any given time, there are approximately 5,000 persons in Texas on parole. There are 95 per cent of them working and earning $20 million a year which is spent in their communities," he said.

Young said it costs $1,153 a year to keep a man in prison while it costs but $250 a year to supervise his parole. "Our office tries to create a desire for the parolee to live successfully," he said.

Ceremony Performed In Chapel

Miss Debra Luan Williams and Joe Clayton Lusk exchanged wedding vows Wednesday morning in the chapel of First United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Elra Phillips, assistant pastor, performing the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Williams, Vealmoor, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lusk, 1309 Lincoln.

The bride was attired in a white knit, street-length dress fashioned with V-neckline and short sleeves. Embroidered trim, edged with lace, accented the neckline and marked the high rise waistline. The skirt was softly gathered at the front. She wore an organza petal cap and carried a nosegay of white carnations and roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lusk left for a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., after which they will reside in Austin. He will be a senior student at the University of Texas this fall, and she will be a sophomore. Both attended Howard County Junior College.

'Time Loss' Cited By Speaker

Jerry Phillips, comptroller for Datamate Computer Systems Inc., spoke to the Scene Chapter, American Business Women's Association, concerning management-employee relations Tuesday at the Chaparral Restaurant.

Phillips said companies waste 3 1/2 hours per week per employee. He offered suggestions for bettering relationships between management and employee which would in turn increase productivity, but said "individual office atmosphere" determines the effectiveness of the suggestions.

Mrs. Kyle Cauble presided, and Mrs. George W. Dawson was vocational speaker. She is a representative for several advertising firms and discussed the responsibilities of her job. The invocation was by Mrs. Bea McCray, and Mrs. F. D. Williams led the pledge to the flag. Mrs. Seth Lacy gave the benediction.

Italy Discussed During Program

An acrostic spelling of Italy provided the program for the Baptist Women at Westside Baptist Church Tuesday morning. The letters stood for "interesting, theology, avenues, links and yield." Participating in the program were Mrs. A. J. Andrews, Mrs. J. W. Trantham, Mrs. Leroy Minchew, Mrs. E. O. Sanders and Mrs. Lloyd Murphree.

Because of its scenery, the women said Italy is known as the "garden spot of Europe", but the country has many problems. Unemployment and cost of living are both high. Young laborers make from 16 to 24 dollars per month. About 98 per cent of Italy is Catholic, and Mrs. Trantham said other religions are "tolerated but not always welcomed". The strongest Protestant churches are Assembly of God, Baptist and Waldensians.

The Baptist church has hit many roadblocks in its growth in Italy, according to the women. They said wars and the depression have all slowed down the church's prosperity, but that a recent reorganization leaves the work in the hands of Italians rather than missionaries, and money will now go to churches rather than to pastors. Mrs. Sanders said the work has been "slow but steady." Today there are about 5,000 Baptists in Italy which is only one of every 10,000 people, but they are growing. They operate an orphanage, a linguistics school, and a home for elderly people, as well as a Baptist newspaper.

Shingle Number Refers To Weight

The number of an asphalt roofing shingle refers to its approximate weight. Thus, a 235 shingle means it weighs 235 pounds per square, which covers 100 square feet of roofed area.

State Meeting Draws Home Ec Teachers

Seven homemaking teachers for Big Spring High School are in Dallas where they are participating in the state in-service conference for homemaking teachers and the annual meeting of the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association. The conference, being held at the Statler Hilton Hotel, will end Friday.

Those taking part in the event are Mrs. John Annen, Mrs. John Hamilton, Mrs. Geneva Christian, Miss Helen Willard, Miss Caren Chaney, Miss Sharon Storey and Mrs. Jack Alexander.

The theme of the conference is "Homemaking Education — New Perspectives in Family Living." The keynote speaker at the opening session Monday was Dr. Bernice Milburn Moore, assistant to the president of community services, Hogg Foundation for Mental Health, University of Texas at Austin.

Conference emphasis is on the changing roles and skills needed for effective living today, and on the concepts, content, methods, and skills required for effective Family Life Education. Prof. W. Clark Ellzey, Department of Home and Family Life, College of Home Economics, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, is the conference consultant. Prof. Ellzey is nationally known as a specialist in the area of Family Life Education.

Consultants from the State Department of Education in Austin will be Dr. J. W. Edgar, state commissioner of education; John R. Guemple, assistant commissioner for occupational education and technology; L. G. Ballard, director, division of public school occupational programs; and Mrs. Elizabeth F. Smith, director, division of homemaking education.

The awards banquet of the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association Wednesday evening honored Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, Sen. A. M. Aiken Jr., and Sen. Ralph Hall, Rep. Steve Burgess, Rep. Joe Golman, Rep. Dan Kubiak, Rep. Charles Jungmichel and Rep. Neal Solomon. Also receiving awards for tenure were 48 homemaking teachers representing a total of 990 years service in education.

The annual meeting of the association today will be highlighted with an address by Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan Koontz, director of the women's bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, Washington, D.C. Dr. J. W. Edgar of Austin and Miss Mary Allen of Washington, D.C., will receive awards for outstanding service in the field of education.

More than 1,800 teachers are attending the week-long meetings, said Mrs. Judith H. Jackson, president of the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I have a pet peeve that just bugs me silly — it's a water jug in the refrigerator. It's bad enough in the winter, but in the summer, ooh whee!

First the door is opened to get the jug out, the glass of water poured and the door is opened again to put the jug back. My kids don't seem to like to open and close the door, so they open the door and stand in the open doorway while they pour their drink. And to top the whole thing off, the once in a great while that I want a cold drink, the last person who got a drink didn't take time to refill the jug and there would be only about a couple of spoonfuls in the bottom of the jug.

Well, this problem irritated me to the point I just had to find the answer. And you know, Heloise, the answer was so close it almost bit me!

My little one is on junior foods and I got into the habit of saving quite a few of the empty jars for what I didn't know, but thought sure they would come in handy for something, and come in handy they did!

I ran all the jars I had through the dishwasher and after they were cool, filled each one with water and put the lid on. (This keeps out any refrigerator odors.) Then I placed all the jars on a low shelf so they could be reached by every member of the family.

All the kids (Pop included) had to do was to open the refrigerator door, remove one jar, close door, drink and put the jar on the counter to be put through the dishwasher. I have not only found this to be sanitary, but less work for me. I don't have to stop what I'm doing to get a drink for the one child who can't handle the large jug. I am defrosting less often and when I want a cool drink, there is always one available.

I often surprise the clan and instead of water in all the jars, I put fruit juice in some of them.

My individual water jars have worked wonders and so far the only problem I had was when I first started this and my 9-year-old brought all the kids in the neighborhood in to have a cold drink.

Well, Heloise, I'm still working on that one, and if I come up with the answer, I'll be sure and let you know. . . . Karen Davis

What ingenuity!! Have you got 100-watt light bulbs in both eyes? I just bet you have, Karen! . . . Love, Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: Here is a remedy for a sore toe which I am sure not many people have tried.

One night my nephew's little boy asked his mother what to do for his sore toe because it was hurting. His mother, not paying very close attention, told him to chew some gum . . . so he did.

Next morning, he said, "Mother, I believe the gum you told me to chew last night helped my sore toe." She asked, "What sore toe?"

He said, "Don't you remember? Last night you told me to chew some gum. It would help my sore toe!" What she had thought he said was sore throat.

What a chuckle we have had over this one. From your column I get the impression you have a very good sense of humor, so thought you would enjoy this. . . . M.E.G.

I did and I'm sure everyone else will too. Bless you! . . . Heloise

A LOVELIER YOU Cosmetics Can Give Flower-Fresh Look

By MARY SUE MILLER To look flower-fresh when the temperature soars, keep your cosmetic cool. There are growing numbers of cosmetics with a breeze built in.

You might begin with a brisk wash. Rousing face washes take the form of fruity liquid gels tingling with mint. Make use of one a daily ritual, and your skin becomes clear — actually freshens up.

Another summertime skin reviver comes from mentholated shaving foam. You leave it on for a minute or so, rinse with cold water and air-dry.

Very frosty, the effect. For more of the same, chill pre-makeup skin toner in the refrigerator before splashing it on. Thereafter apply a bronzy gel. Gels are perfect for summer wear because they sit so lightly on the skin and enhance a tan with pink or golden glints. Or else bring a bit of sunny color to pale skins.

Where an excessively oily condition exists, an under-foundation proves helpful. Applications retard secretions once the face is well cleansed. Every type of complexion responds to no-color pressed face powders that are intended to hold makeup in place for long hours by absorbing damp of all kinds.

Add a bit of subtle eye makeup and well-blotted lipstick. You will get through a day and an evening with an aura of coolth. A delightfully refreshing air.

DRY SKIN BEAUTY For ways to keep past-30 skin smooth and dewy, order my leaflet, "New Beauty For Dry Skin." It tells in personalized steps how to cleanse, correct, protect and make up for dryness. To obtain your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

TOWN-GOWN RELATIONSHIP NEEDED

She's Aiming At Communication Gap

By JOY STILLEY
(AP Newsfeatures Writer)

NEW YORK (AP) — If people would only talk to each other instead of to each other, there would be greater understanding not only between generations but between all groups, insists Lucretia Taylor, who has worked in many areas to bridge the communication gap.

The 21-year-old June graduate of Western College, Oxford, Ohio, was a leader in the Sisterhood, an organization for black students aimed at fostering understanding and cooperation and at helping its members move smoothly and effectively into campus life.

Last summer she worked in a Health, Education and Welfare Dept. project visiting colleges and interviewing faculty and students, seeking ways to establish a better relationship between the federal government and the student community.

"In talking to faculty members, deans, chaplains and university presidents, I found them very aware, very involved, very concerned, with what was going on in the nation as well as on the campus," Miss Taylor said on a visit to New York to be honored as one of Glamour Magazine's "Ten Outstanding College Girls of 1971."

The sparkling-eyed, dimpled Miss Taylor and nine other winners, chosen from 300 entrants by a panel of Glamour editors, were awarded a 10-day trip to Portugal and are featured in the August issue of the magazine.

The psychology and sociology major believes the communication problem results in part from lumping all students together and categorizing them as anti-establishment, when in reality they are very diverse and represent every facet of American society.

"Basically the problems are the same on all campuses though the flavor changes," she reported. "The students think the administration is not telling the truth; the administration thinks the students are exaggerating. When they try to talk with each other there is always that barrier of distrust."

"Students are becoming more vocal and more active and want a part of what's happening to them academically and socially," she went on. "They even want to be able to screen the people who will be teaching them, and I think they are in a good position to tell who they can best learn from."

Miss Taylor thinks universities will have to make such concessions if they want to continue to attract students, since "the educational system as it presently exists seems to be unrelated to the reality of life."

as a learned person."

Miss Taylor, who is from Atlanta, Ga., plans eventually to pursue an advanced degree but thinks she'd first like a job that allows her to work with people especially children. "I don't know enough about myself yet to plan my future," she admitted.

"Western, which she attended on scholarship, attracts an exceptionally large number of foreign students, she pointed out, and she finds that the inter-cultural emphasis program there broadened her perspective.

"I've learned that the problems we as black people face and we as a nation face in the world are not unique," she explained. "They exist everywhere." As for her feelings about women's lib, she said, "There's lots to be said for it but I can't deal with women's liberation: I have to deal first with black liberation. Once that's accomplished, black women will be liberated women."

Keller Repeats At Cheyenne

DENVER, Colo. — A Colorado cowboy was crowned all around champion Sunday in Cheyenne, Wyo., at the conclusion of the richest rodeo in history, which paid winners $96,700.

Allen Keller, Olathe, earned the trophy buckle along with $3,679, by winning the most money in two events at the 75th annual Frontier Days rodeo.

It was the second straight year he won the Cheyenne honor, and in the same events — steer wrestling and steer roping.

The biggest single money-winner at the rodeo was Gary Ledford, Comanche, Okla., who left with $4,987 earned in calf roping. Second in the calf roping average went to Richard Stowers, Duncan, Okla., who won $3,425, and moved into the lead for the 1971 world championship in the event with total winnings of $16,096.

Roughage Makes It Rough On Feedlot Waste Yield

Bulk may be the answer to your problem of regularity, but it is a thorn in the side of management for the cattle feedlot industry.

At least, this is what studies by Dr. Robert C. Albin, professor of animal science at Texas Tech University reveal.

In a paper read Tuesday at the 63rd annual meeting of the American Society of Animal Science meeting in the University of California at Davis, Dr. Albin contends that bulk is a chief culprit in mountainous daily accumulations of feedlot waste. Operators have not yet found an economically feasible solution for this problem. For example, 10,000 cattle on a feedlot can produce 260 tons of solid waste daily, according to Dr. Albin's findings.

The crux of his study, however, is this: Cattle fed zero-per cent roughage yielded 2.2 pounds daily waste. Those with 10 per cent roughage ration amounted to 4.5 pounds, and those with 12 per cent roughage yielded five pounds per day.

It is not practical to do without roughage, but if the per cent could be cut from 12 to eight it would make a terrific difference in the tonnage of waste, Dr. Albin contends.

His study revealed no appreciable difference in cattle reaction when in lots on various slopes, or between those shaded and unshaded. However, crowding (to less than 40 square feet) did cut down on feed consumption and gains.

Auto Insurance Savings Listed

AUSTIN (AP) — Motorists will save half the cost of a standard $5,000 auto liability property damage policy if they accept a $250 deductible, the State Insurance Board ruled.

The board also ordered a 12 per cent cut in the price of a basic bodily injury liability policy if a deductible of $250 per person, up to $500 per accident is carried.

The rules on liability deductibles take effect Aug. 30.

A basic liability policy in Texas is $10,000 per person for bodily injury, up to $20,000 for all victims of any one accident, and $5,000 for property damage.

The 1971 legislature passed a new law authorizing deductibles on liability policies.

Insurance companies would be required to pay damages under such policies only in excess of the amounts covered by the deductibles.

The policy form issued by the board says a company can pay the deductible amount to an accident victim "to effect settlement of any claim or suit" and collect the amount later from the policyholder.

Pat Nixon Not Invited To China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pat Nixon is uncertain whether she will accompany the President when he makes his historic journey to Communist China.

"I'm putting my name on the list," the First Lady said Monday. "I don't think the plans are definite yet. I certainly would like to go."

Then, she added, "I haven't been invited yet and there are a lot of other names on the list, too."

When asked whether Premier Chou En-lai had included Mrs. Nixon in his invitation and whether the First Lady would go along on the trip, deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren said, "No comment."

Mrs. Nixon has traveled all over the world with Nixon, including visits behind the Iron Curtain during the years in which he was in Congress, vice president and President.

No Time To Get Into Rut

By BARBARA LORD

After spending a full day at work, preparing a meal for a family of four and getting the kids into bed, most women would be content to collapse and watch television until time to go to bed themselves.

But no such rut has evolved for Mrs. Eddie Cole. In the evening, following her day as payroll supervisor, (with other assorted duties) at Montgomery Ward, she comes home to any number of projects or activities that fill the hours from dinner until bedtime.

The Coles have lived in Big Spring most of their lives and consider themselves natives. He is in partnership with his father at West Texas Wrecking Company. They have two daughters, Terri Lynn, 10 and Kerri Jan, 8, who manage to keep very busy during the school year with Brownies and Girl Scouts. Mrs. Cole enjoys helping them with their various projects, as well as many of her own.

"I dabble a lot," said Mrs. Cole. "I guess I don't really have any one hobby, but I like to make things with my hands. I'm not really a terribly active person, but I manage to never get bored."

Mrs. Cole never spends extended periods of time on any one type of project. She may finish one decoupage item then put decoupage out of her mind for several months while she works on antiquing, a cut glass project or flower arranging.

The Cole home at 2700 Carol is decorated in Spanish furniture and accessories, being recently converted from their original contemporary decor. Many items made by Mrs. Cole are attractive accents in the home.

In the kitchen, Mrs. Cole's inventiveness is also apparent. She said she just dumps things into a pot and they come out tasting okay. Her "dumping" is educated from the years of experience she has had in the kitchen. She said her family is easy to please and likes almost anything. She pretty well knows by now what the family prefers and how much of what spices she should use. She seldom refers to a cookbook for everyday meals, but the family never seems unhappy with what transpires.

Mrs. Cole said she usually prepares a hot meal each night, but that it's definitely nothing special as far as culinary talent is concerned. She depends largely on meals that can be prepared easily but still taste good. The family eats a lot of casseroles, because they can be prepared fast with relatively little clean-up afterwards.

"I put a little extra effort into our weekend meals," said Mrs. Cole. "I try to make up for the hurried meals I make during the week, and I prepare the dishes I know they like but that take too long to prepare after work. I usually try to fix a dessert during the weekend too."

Mrs. Cole didn't go through trial and error period in the kitchen when she got married, because she had done a lot of cooking at home. She admits that being a working mother stops her from some of the cooking she would otherwise do, but she enjoys her job, and following a recent six-months leave of absence she was "more than ready to go back to work."

In addition to her work and hobbies, Mrs. Cole keeps active as treasurer of Jaycee-Ettes, city council representative and immediate past president of Beta Omicron-Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, and a member of Spring City Chapter, American Business Women's Association.

Mrs. Cole is the daughter of Mrs. Gladys Sudberry, 1410 Lancaster, and the late Mr. Sudberry. Cole is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Cole, 1705 Yale.

LET'S HAVE A FIELD DAY — Buttermilk Cheese Bread will add to the fun of a picnic because it makes super sandwiches. Buttermilk gives the bread a delicious tang, while spices and parmesan cheese round out this round loaf. There's no need to knead the bread, and it only requires one rising.

Picnics Even Better With Special Bread

There are as many ways to enjoy summer as there are days in it, but it's hard to beat a picnic.

Here, where family fun is non-stop and appetites grow out-of-bounds, you'll bring even more pleasure to a pleasure-filled day with your own special sandwich loaf.

When the day dawns sunny and warm, and a picnic is in the offing, surprise your happy wanderers with a freshly baked loaf of Buttermilk Cheese Bread. Of course, you'll need a few hours in the morning to complete the process, but every minute spent in this endeavor will be rewarded doublefold when lunchtime comes 'round and you present your round bread.

There's nothing to do now but join in the fun and enjoy the food. Mmmm.

BUTTERMILK CHEESE BREAD

- 1 envelope or pkg. yeast
- 1/4 cup warm water
- 2 tbsps. sugar
- 1/4 tsp. powdered basil
- 1/4 tsp. powdered oregano
- 1 1/2 cups buttermilk
- 2 tbsps. salad oil
- 2 tbsps. salt
- 4 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese

Soften yeast in warm water with 1 table-spoon sugar, basil and oregano. Let stand until bubbly, about 20 to 25 minutes. Meanwhile, heat buttermilk to lukewarm. When yeast is bubbly, add buttermilk, remaining tablespoon sugar, oil and salt. Add flour, 1 cup at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. (The first three cups of the flour may be added on mixer.) Add the last 1 1/2 cups flour, and the cheese, mixing in by hand with a spoon. Turn into well greased, 2-quart casserole. Brush top lightly with melted butter or oil. Let rise in warm place until doubled, about 1 hour. Bake below oven center in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 55 minutes, until well browned and baked through. Turn out onto wire rack to cool. Makes 1 large loaf.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Crush dry macaroons into crumbs. Top a fruit compote with whipped cream and sprinkle the crumbs over the cream. This cream and macaroon topping is especially delicious over prunes that have been cooked in red wine.

Does a recipe call for six medium-size potatoes? It's usually safe to choose six potatoes that weigh two pounds.

Baking lady fingers: Put each pair together with frosting.

Use a wide spatula or a pancake turner to remove drop cookies from the pans after baking. Cool the cookies on wire racks.

An apple, eaten raw, makes a pleasant, low-calorie snack or dessert. A medium-size apple contains only 70 calories.

SAUSAGE, MACARONI BAKE

- 1 8-oz. pkg. macaroni
 - 1 lb. pork sausage
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 1 cup carrots, sliced thin
 - 1/2 cup celery, diced
 - 1/2 cup flour
 - 1/4 cup chopped onion
 - 2 tsp. dry mustard

 - 1/2 cup crushed potato chips
- Cook macaroni until tender. Set aside. Crumble sausage and brown. Drain and set aside. Melt butter in saucepan. Add carrots, celery and onions, and cook over medium heat about 5 minutes. Combine flour, mustard and salt, and add to butter mixture. Stir until it forms a smooth paste. Add milk gradually and stir until thick. Drain macaroni and combine with sausage and sauce. Put entire mixture in a lightly-greased, 2-quart casserole dish. Sprinkle with crushed potato chips and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

CURRIED CHICKEN WITH ALMOND RICE

- 1/2 cup sliced onion
- 1 sliced garlic clove
- 1/4 tsp. ground ginger
- 4 tbsps. cooking oil
- 2 tbsps. curry powder
- 4 tbsps. flour
- 1/2 tsp. salt

- 1/4 tsp. pepper
 - 3 cups chicken stock
 - 2 1/2 cups diced cooked chicken
- Rice
Almonds
Cook onion, garlic and ginger in cooking oil until onion is lightly browned. Add curry powder, flour, salt and pepper. Stir until blended. Add stock gradually, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Add chicken and simmer until heated through. Pour over hot rice, prepared according to package directions, and sprinkle with almonds.

GREEN BEANS CHINESE

- 6 thick bacon slices, quartered
 - 3 tbsps. chopped onion
 - 1 chopped garlic clove
 - 2 16-oz. cans sliced green beans
 - 3 tbsps. soy sauce
 - Salt and pepper to taste
- Fry bacon until slightly crisp. Add onion and garlic. Add beans and soy sauce. Season. Toss over low heat until completely hot. Serve immediately.

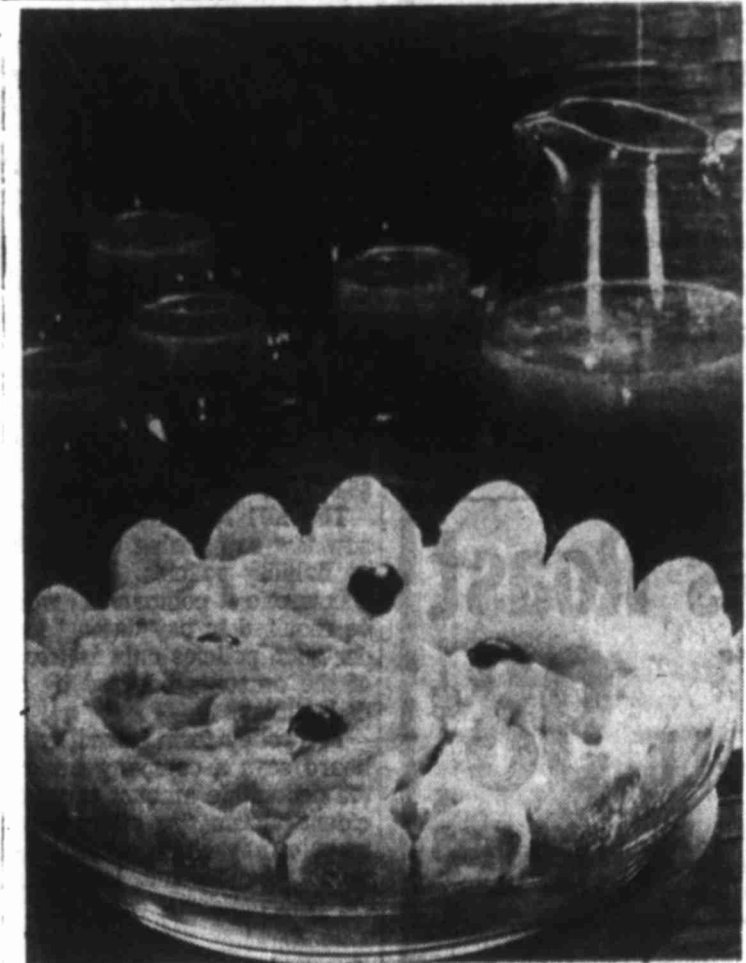

FANCY CHERRY CAKE

- 1 pkg. Angel Food cake mix
- 1 1-lb., 14-oz. can pitted Bing cherries
- 1 6-oz. pkg. cherry flavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup sherry
- 1 pint vanilla ice cream
- 1/4 cup, plus 3 tbsps. slivered, toasted almonds

Prepare cake according to directions on box, and cool! Drain cherries, catching syrup in a saucepan. Heat syrup and stir in cherry gelatin until dissolved. Remove from heat and stir in sherry, and then ice cream until melted. Chill until set. When cake is cool, level top and invert on a serving platter. Cut a 1-inch layer from the top and set aside. Hollow out center of cake with a fork, leaving a shell 1-inch wide around the side and 2 inches thick on the bottom. Fill bottom of center hole with cake pieces until level with rest of shell bottom. When gelatin is set, beat at medium speed until smooth. Stir in 1/4 cup almonds and all but 1/2 cup of cherries. Spoon mixture into cake shell, replace top layer and refrigerate. In a small saucepan combine currant jelly and lemon juice. Melt over low heat and stir in remaining cherries until coated. Cool. Whip cream until stiff and use to frost cake. Leave top hole empty. Arrange 3 tablespoons almonds around the cake. Fill top hole with glazed cherries. Refrigerate until served.

Cover with other crust and bake at 425 degrees for 45 minutes until apples are tender and crust is browned. Mix brown sugar, flour, remaining margarine and chopped nuts. Spread over top crust and return to oven until topping is bubbly.

(An 8 1/2 oz. can of crushed pineapple, well drained, may be substituted for fresh).

Pioneers in Petticoats

"... how did they, in those early days, go about gentling a 'hell' into a homeland?"

With courage and compassion, the petticoat pioneers took on giant-size gambles to settle Texas in the 1800's. Indian massacres, battles for independence, and bold challenges from nature faced the sun-bonnet girls, such as Jane Long, "Mother of Texas", as they carved out homes for their families in the lonely wilderness.

Dorothy Nordyke tells the legendary stories of these first ladies of Texas with the excitement and challenge of the frontier.

Haitian Capital 'Bombers' Freed

EGLIN AFB, Fla. (AP) — Six men serving three-year sentences for dropping kerosene bombs from a rented plane on Port au Prince, Haiti, were released from federal prison Wednesday.

The six — a former Haitian army colonel and five Americans — were ordered released by U.S. Judge Charles Fulton in Miami last Friday after they had served 73 days of their sentences at Eglin Air Force Base federal prison. The release order was received here today.

They are former Haitian Army Col. Rene Leon, 46; and Americans Martin Casey, 30; Ralph Edens, 30; Edmund Kolby, 32; Lawrence Carlin, 49; and Howard Davis, 40.

Acting Prison Supervisor George Cansler said it was his understanding they were returning to their homes.

SBS Counselor

A field representative of the Small Business Administration's Lubbock district office will be available to interview and counsel small businessmen at the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday.

Any small businessman interested in obtaining information about the SBA loan programs, SCORE, management assistance or other programs may call for an appointment at 263-7641 at the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Their attorney, Lawrence Katz, said earlier the Americans had guaranteed jobs waiting for them in Miami and Leon would return to a job with a heating equipment firm in New York.

The bombing attack on the Haitian capital took place in June, 1969. The six were convicted in February, 1970, of violating the U.S. Neutrality Act by trying to bomb the palace of the late president Francois Duvalier.

Katz said their release had been ordered because they had been model prisoners and had been rehabilitated before arriving at Eglin.

Beef Short Course Dates Are Fixed

The 21st annual beef cattle short course will be held on Aug. 16-17 at the Memorial Student Center in College Station.

This year's program will emphasize "Improving Reproductive Efficiency in Beef Cattle." Information on breeding heifers, feeding programs for breeding animals, and calving difficulties as they relate to cow size, sire and feeding regimes will be presented. Details may be had from the Howard County Extension Office, telephone 267-8671.

Early Drug Lessons Pay

Editor's Note: One of the things teachers who teach teachers about drug education must learn: Use the facts available, whether they are reformulated addicts or wall charts. Here is how one instructor goes about it.

LUBBOCK (AP). — One of the generals in the fray against drug users and advocates is a mild-mannered woman, Mrs. Inez Moore. In her eyes, however, you can see the challenge and readiness for battle.

What she is fighting for, really, are the minds of children — against those who would influence them toward drug use and addiction.

Mrs. Moore is drug education consultant for the Education Service Center of Region 17. She has counterparts in each of the 19 other regions of the state.

Mrs. Moore, conducting the third and final workshop of the school year recently for teams from local schools of the region, answered questions and made comments.

CHANGE FACES

"In drug education you have to change faces and change pace," she said, as she reeled through the program, changing swiftly from an exercise involving the whole group to skits presented by students.

"See what happens when you turn it over to the students?" she beamed, following a paper-puppet show by students from Slaton, a program with humor and effect.

Mrs. Moore makes use of all resources available, as she expects the local teams to do in their schools.

Included in the workshop were three former drug users who injected comments on their experiences or expressed opinions on why some young people turn to drugs and how they may be saved the hazards.

But she doesn't hold with the view that only one who has been a drug user can be effective in drug education.

'FISH BOWL'

"You don't have to be pregnant to be a good obstetrician," she remarked. Students formed a "fish bowl" and Ralph Swafford of Odessa tossed out questions.

The reasons for drug abuse? Peer pressure, insecurity in personality.

Your attitude toward people who use drugs? "They're sick." Or, "I feel sorry for them because they're not mature enough . . ." "It's too bad nobody has shown them how to be stronger or better."

What is needed to forestall the drug problem? Time to communicate—and to listen. To enjoy the simple things, like a pretty day. And someone who cares enough to show that there is a better way.

BATTLE CRY

Similar skirmishes for young people's minds have been staged during the school year all over the state, three to each of the 20 regions. The battle call was sounded by the 61st Legislature in 1969 when it passed a measure directed the teaching of crime prevention and drug education in grades 5 through 12.

The Legislature failed to appropriate funds for the purpose and Gov. Preston Smith's Criminal Justice Council helped to obtain grants for the Texas Education Agency while financing each of the service centers for a total of $196,000 for adding a drug education consultant. This has been supplemented by the council with a new grant for $42,550. A state appropriation becomes available in September.

The Criminal Justice Council which administers the Omnibus Crime Control Act in Texas is responsible for statewide planning for improving crime prevention and law enforcement and advises the governor on use of Justice Department funds for projects.

BIG HANDICAPS

One of the big handicaps of drug education was the shortage of trained persons. To overcome this lack, regional coordinators for the 20 regions were hand-picked by school administrators and service center personnel and sent to a four-week school at the University of Texas Medical School at San Antonio.

With the start of the school in September, teams of a teacher, student and administrator were chosen from each school. These teams have made up the regional workshops.

Most of these teams have held at least one drug workshop in their own schools. In these sessions, students work without teachers but with local resource persons—doctors, lawmen, pharmacists, psychologists and former drug users.

GET INVOLVED

Their job now is to get the faculty and as many students as possible involved in preparing a curriculum guide.

Early in August, the faculty of each school will begin in-service training, with the teams trained this year serving as advisers. With opening of school, the instruction in "attitudes and values" will begin.

In the lower grades drugs won't be mentioned. Instruction will be aimed at preparing the child for simple decision making, the exercise of responsibility and safeguarding his health. In the upper grades, some phase of drug education will be incorporated into science, history, language, mathematics and health.

The regional and local workshops will continue, directed toward crime prevention rather than drug education.

Consultants of the regions were carefully chosen from the ranks of classroom teachers for the most part.

SHE SAID IT

Mrs. Moore had taught creative writing and journalism 14 years in Lubbock's O. L. Slaton Junior High School.

A careless discard by East presented South with a chance to overcome the adverse distributional break that confronted his five heart contract—and the latter promptly capitalized on his opportunity.

West opened the bidding preemptively with three spades and North made a takeout double, holding 17 high card points. East passed and South bid four hearts. When this got back to East, the latter decided to sacrifice at four spades. Despite the fact that he held five hearts, he was unable to see where his side could take four tricks on the deal, inasmuch as his partner had advertised a weak hand defensively. South was reluctant to settle for what might be a small profit [four spades can be defeated only one trick], and he showed a second suit by bidding five clubs. North returned to five hearts, closing the auction.

West opened the king of spades which East overtook with the ace in order to continue the jack, declarer ruffing in with the three of hearts. A small heart was led to the jack, but West administered a severe jolt to his opponent when he failed to answer the call—discarding a small spade. Since East had more trumps than South did, the latter turned his attentions to the side suits.

The ace of clubs was cashed followed by a small club to the king on which East played the queen. The top three diamonds were played, West discarding a spade on the third round. There appeared to be no point in ruffing a diamond inasmuch as dummy was now the longer hand in trumps, since South had trumped the second spade.

Declarer exited with a club and West went in with the jack on which East chose to discard the ten of diamonds. The forced return was a spade on which North discarded his remaining club. East ruffed with the five of hearts, South overrudded with the nine, cashed the king and took the last two tricks with dummy's ace and queen of trumps.

East erred in discarding on the jack of clubs. If he trumped his partner's trick and exits with the ten of diamonds, dummy is forced to ruff with the deuce of hearts. East is left with three trumps while both North and South have two hearts and one club. East is assured of taking another trump trick to defeat the contract.

'Gobbledygook: The Mother Tongue Of Government'

By RICHARD E. MEYER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry B. Quill was a bureaucrat.

He wasn't always a bureaucrat, and it took him a while to learn the ways of the maze.

Poor, unprepossessing, awkward and tie-ridden, he went to work last year at the Technological Implementation Agency in the Department of Unencumbered Analytical Allocations.

Henry B. Quill is fictitious. So is his agency. But his troubles, his triumphs — and what finally happened to Henry B. Quill — show some very real peculiarities of government bureaucracy and how bureaucracy is creating a billion-dollar problem.

Growing Glut Of Garble

The problem, says a congressional committee, is gobbledygook — a growing glut of government garble galloping out of control, filling millions of cubic feet of government files and helping to cause a paperwork bizzard costing taxpayers $8 billion a year.

Gobbledygook, as defined by an authority, is writing that suffers from a swelling of its parts.

Gobbledygook, says the government, has got to go.

But making that happen, say the bureaucrats, is "more easily promulgated with dynamic confrontational determination than effectuated with maximized definitive success."

Consider, for example, Henry B. Quill.

On his second day of work, in a memo to his boss, Henry suggested, "Let's cut our budget."

"No, no, no, Quill," stormed the boss. "It's not, 'Let's cut our budget.' If you're going to suggest a ridiculous thing like that, at least suggest it in a professional way."

"After careful scrutiny of available data, the undersigned cannot fail but to offer as an interim proposal additional study into the possibility of taking such steps as are commensurate with the actual budgetary situation, not in response to an ideal which does not exist, particularly with regard to the need to modify monetary expenditures, but possibly effecting certain economies in the utilization of technological implementation."

He Smothered His Verbs

"Oh," said Henry.

He hauled up his socks, took a deep breath and tried again. He expanded short words into long ones. "Use" into "utilize"; "end" into "finalize"; and "make" into "fabricate." He multiplied words. "Laws" became "statutory provisions"; "after-subsequent to," and "prohibit — militate against." And he ballooned words into carefully crafted phrases that took a quiet pride in standing off by themselves and gazing into their own capacity.

Soon he had the knack. "Multivalued decision problems are so common," he wrote, "that the objective and criteria of these decisions are best formulated in a way that takes uncertainty explicitly into account." This can be done, he added, "by subjecting the economic optimum to the restriction of avoiding immoderate possible losses and by minimizing maximum possible losses."

Quill had mastered the mother tongue of government. He smothered his verbs, camouflaged his subjects and hid everything in an undergrowth of modifiers. He braided, beaded and fringed, giving elaborate expression to negligible thoughts, weaving, hedging and announcing the obvious. He spread generally like flood waters in a long, low valley. He sprinkled everything with aspects, feasibilities, alternatives, effectuations, analyzations, maximizations, implementations, contraindications and appurtenances. At his best, complete immobility set in, lasting sometimes for dozens of pages.

Some 'Success Stories'

When real bureaucrats do that sort of thing, the pages pile up. A House Post Office and Civil Service subcommittee said four years ago that if one government record were burned each second, it would take 2,000 years to destroy them all. Some 225,000 government employees spend most of their working day tucking documents into 25 million cubic feet of files, the subcommittee said, and the executive offices alone have two million filing cabinets.

The government spends $8 billion a year on paperwork, the subcommittee said, and $1.5 billion of it goes for writing a billion letters a year. The subcommittee said $100 million to $200 million could be saved each year by writing more concisely.

Not to be lopsided, the subcommittee hailed some "success stories." The Navy and Marine Corps, for instance, have eliminated more than 18,000 internal directives and the Federal Aviation Agency has reduced its files by 5.5 million pages. But the subcommittee report was 70 pages long. And a report by the full committee a year earlier ran to 220 pages. It covered hearings that filled five volumes. The study was aptly entitled "The Federal Paperwork Jungle."

So prolific was Henry B. Quill that before long he was nominated for the highest honor in the National Association of Professional Bureaucrats. "Congratulations!" NATAPROBU told him in a letter. "Your continued efforts toward constructive utilization of proslousionary processes as they fit within the guidelines of the orbital dialogues that contribute to interfere avoidance in decision-making have gained you consideration in our annual selection of nominees for the Order of the Bird."

When In Doubt, Mumble

NATAPROBU, a very real organization, run as a lark by James H. Boren, 45, who worked for nine years as a middle-level official in the Agency for International Development (AID), has a three-part philosophy for its members: "When in charge, ponder; when in trouble, delegate; when in doubt, mumble."

for the "Bird" in keeping with NATAPROBU's. The last was Quill's forte. He was nominated aim "to give recognition to articulate fingertappers of the world who, by their steadfast dedication to the principles of dynamic inactivism, have kept things from happening and thereby prevented mistakes from being made."

Other real-life NATAPROBU nominees for the Order of the Bird have been:

—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, "in recognition of his contributions to the state of the communications art and to the orbital proslousionary processes as finalized in direct trajectories." Agnew didn't make it to the banquet the association holds each year, but he wired:

"Rueful regrets . . . apologies and protonatory pretexts to NATAPROBU on this auspicious occasion. Order of Bird eliteratively appreciated, but in all meiotic modesty must recommend others as possessing proslousionary processes more deserving."

Economic Assistance

—Mayor John Lindsay of New York, for the 56 steps it takes to hire a person in five of the city's agencies and the 71 steps required to purchase such items as a desk for a city office or a truck for the city's fleet. You think we're kidding, don't you? "It appears," wrote Boren, "that no other city in the United States can match the outstanding record of New York in the development of orchestrated procedural clearances and decision avoidance patterns." Replied Robert Laird, a Lindsay aide: "No authorization has been issued for the tendering by your organization of an award to the City of New York. In the absence of such authorization-to-offer-award, form BOO-2-U, it would not conform to approved proper procedures for the city to contemplate reception of the Order of the Bird. I might add that there are 82 steps required to obtain form BOO-2-U."

—John Brayton Redecker, an official in the Bureau of Inter-American Affairs in the State Department, for a country analysis and strategy paper prepared for a symposium of the Military Operations Research Society in San Diego, Calif., in November, 1969. In a chapter entitled, "The Qualitative Quantitative Interface," Redecker wrote: "Diplomatic initiatives for example, while high-capacity policy instruments, are in no sense resource intensive. Their dollar requirements cannot be meshed with the resources called for by economic assistance programs, for example; although both are palpable instruments for achieving policy objectives and both, of course, have price tags attached to them. One is faced, therefore, with a variety of incommensurable dollars, the summation of which has no practical meaning for developing optimal policy through an evaluation of alternative resource mixes." Redecker accepted the "Bird" for all of the "trembling, shining bureaucrats" at the State Department.

Quill Was Thrilled

Quill was thrilled. He waited anxiously while NATAPROBU's nine coordinating committees considered his nomination.

Then a startling thing happened.

To his horror, the fictitious Quill discovered that flesh and blood Dean Calvin Linton at George Washington University had written a book for the Internal Revenue Service, saying that a lot of government writing was pretty bad.

In fact, Linton likened it to writing "by a machine — and a somewhat morose one at that."

Worse, Quill found out that people like Linton, Lucille Boyd at IRS, Jackie Sutton at the Civil Service Commission, Paul Kunberger at the Pentagon, Sam Bingman at the Interstate Commerce Commission and others at the Veterans Administration, Agriculture Department, General Services Administration and a variety of the departments and agencies around town were changing the style poor Henry had so painstakingly learned.

Not that the problem was peculiar to the U.S. government. Linton was quick to point out that Sir Ernest Gowers, British authority on writing, quotes reports about "a discussion yesterday on the worrying of sheep dogs in the Minister's room" and an "official statement on the marriage of German prisoners with girls made in the House of Commons."

Nor was the problem peculiar to government. Coordinators for the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice talk about "militant and creative non-violent disobedience." A learned journal says, "Development concepts, whether attuned to current management practices or not, particularly those of an institutional nature, are often applicable to such sociological and economic structures as may be necessary for the establishment of equitable adjustment of all psychic needs in a typical administrative complex."

Girls, Girls, Girls

Nevertheless, it took an official in the government, Linton says, to write a memo saying, "All officers wishing to take advantage of the girls in the secretarial pool should call extension 81." And it took a government personnel officer to write a progress report on a typist saying, "She's willing to struggle if given the opportunity."

The change of style was no small struggle, either. As Walter Salant, authority on writing economics at the Brookings Institution, concedes: "Anyone who writes about writing puts himself in the position of a boxer who leads with his chin." And, sure enough, some of the government pugilists set themselves up for a tap on the jaw.

Brig. Gen. William A. Knowlton, secretary of the Army general staff, for example, instructed writers of correspondence for Chief of Staff William C. Westmoreland to "avoid stock phrases." Then, in the same memo, Knowlton listed 12 stock phrases as "typical expressions of the chief of staff."

Other setbacks came from agency heads themselves. "In some government offices, believe it or not," says Linton, "this exact attitude has been expressed to me: 'If we begin to teach writing and to make a lot of fuss about it, we will, sure as fate, get wild deviations from our standard approved style.' In other words, people will begin to say 'borrow' instead of 'procure on a loan basis' . . ."

Indeed, no less an authority than George Orwell has said that if the government had written Ecclesiastes, "The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong . . ." would have come out: "Objective consideration of contemporary phenomena compels the conclusion that success or failure in competitive activities exhibits no tendency to be commensurate with innate capacity."

You're Not Fired

All of this came as a blow to Henry B. Quill. Particularly when he realized that some of the examples the authorities were using to show poor writing were his own. He mustered all of his concentration and set to work unlearning what he had learned.

After months of struggle he was writing phrases, sentences, even paragraphs as riveting as bank errors in your favor. "Militate against!" became "prohibit." "Securing by dishonest means" became "stealing." And "appearing to have encountered a favorable response" became "approved."

"Quill!" shrieked the boss, storming into his office. "What are you doing? You can't write like that around here!"

"But, but, boss . . ."

"Quill, believe a termination is in order."

"I'm fired?"

"No, no, no. You're not fired. In the best interests of your career, your services are being dispensed with."

"I believe you hit the nail on the head, sir."

"No, no, no, Quill. I didn't hit the nail on the head. I partook of a manifest relevancy."

"Oh," said Henry B. Quill.

What's A Girl Like Her Doing In A Situation Like That? Filming

By KELLY O'BRIEN
Philadelphia Inquirer Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — What would you do if all of a sudden you found yourself in a phone booth at Kennedy International Airport talking to a contact in the underground resistance movement in Greece?

Well, if you were Jill Marti, writer, actress and producer of a talk show for WCAU-TV, Philadelphia, you would naturally catch the next flight to Greece and film a documentary for NBC's "First Tuesday" series.

For a girl like her, it's all in a day's work.

NOT SUPERWOMAN
Actually she hasn't always been a superwoman. After taking her BS with honors in political science at the University of Wisconsin, she says, "I didn't know what I wanted to do. I didn't want to go to work. I didn't want to stay at home either. Then I thought, why not go into communications?"

"As a political science major I was interested in government, particularly in the developing nations, and I thought, why not communications in this area?"

That's why Jill Marti came to Philadelphia — to get her master's degree at the Annenberg School of Communications at the University of Pennsylvania.

TV GUIDE

"While I was in a class one day there was a speaker from

TV Guide Magazine — well I went up to him after his lecture, introduced myself and told him I needed a summer job. He said he'd see what he could do. He talked to the dean about me, but by that time he'd already decided he liked my smile, and I got a job as a researcher in the magazine's editorial department.

"I worked there the rest of the summer doing rewrites, features, columns and articles till one day I got a phone call from the top brass at the magazine. They told me, very politely, they were sorry but they really wanted to let me go.

"I was so upset. I couldn't imagine what I had done.

"That's when they told me Cleveland Amory was leaving the magazine (he was a critic) to do his own television show and he wanted me to go with him as a writer.

Eventually, she ran out of anything to do.

There she was. Twenty-four years old, out of work and not a thing to do.

"My parents were planning a trip to Greece, and my mother suggested I go with them. Big whoop. What's a girl like me going to do in Greece with her parents? But the longer I sat there with nothing to do, the better the Greece trip started to look. I decided to go.

"Then something extraordinary happened. I got hold of an issue of Life Magazine and saw a Norman Mailer story in it I wanted to read. I started going through the magazine, and there was another story, one about Greece: Government by Torture. I was horrified. If this story is true, then I didn't want to go there and give them a dime of my money," I thought.

"I made a bunch of phone calls — the writer of Life, the embassy and got hold of no one, they were all out.

"Well I didn't cancel the trip. I checked into Kennedy for my flight to Athens — and made one last effort to get in touch with Life Magazine reporter Christopher Rand.

"I got him on the phone and explained who I was and that I had read the story. I told him I didn't have a legitimate outlet for a documentary film just then, but that if his story checked out, I wanted to do one. I gave him the phone number in my booth.

"The next thing I knew I was talking to someone in the underground resistance movement in Greece. I explained my situation to them. They asked me to change my flight from Athens to Geneva and go to a different phone booth — the line might be bugged.

"The whole trip to Greece was like something out of a spy movie, only it was really happening. I did film a report and when I got back to the states I walked into 'First Tuesday,' and they bought my film."

Mentally Retarded Adults Become Pupils In College

CHICAGO (AP) — Sherman, 7:00, 1968

The cryptic phrase is repeated a dozen times in an uneven, child-like scrawl, filling a sheet of lined notebook paper.

Sherman, its author, is 38 years old, and he is justly proud of his work. Although the "7:00" and "1968" have meaning only for him, his name is legible and correctly spelled. It is the first time in his life he has mastered the feat.

Not long ago he and 47 other mentally retarded young adults shared a meaningless existence at a state hospital for the mentally ill. Now, however, they are living at Saint Xavier College, a coeducational liberal arts institution, where they are undergoing the experience of campus life. They go to lectures and movies, use the gym, attend ball games, and other off-campus recreational and cultural activities.

"We feel that normal environment plus special training are more effective approaches to rehabilitating the retarded than are institutions for the mentally ill," declares Saint Xavier President Dr. Harry Marmon. "These people are not mentally ill, only limited in learning capacity. They are committed to state hospitals only because there is no other place for them.

"The ultimate goal is to return these persons to society as self-sustaining individuals, living either at home or in small units among themselves," he adds.

The 48 retarded clients at Saint Xavier range in age from 17 to 38 years, are divided equally by sex, and have IQs ranging from 36 to 67 — barely trainable to educable. All live in one of the campus dormitories.

After about 10 months of the program, retarded clients who used to dress somberly and foresook even basic social amenities, move about the campus with assurance. But social maturation is only half the target. The rest is developing vocational skills and business knowledge to give them economic independence also.

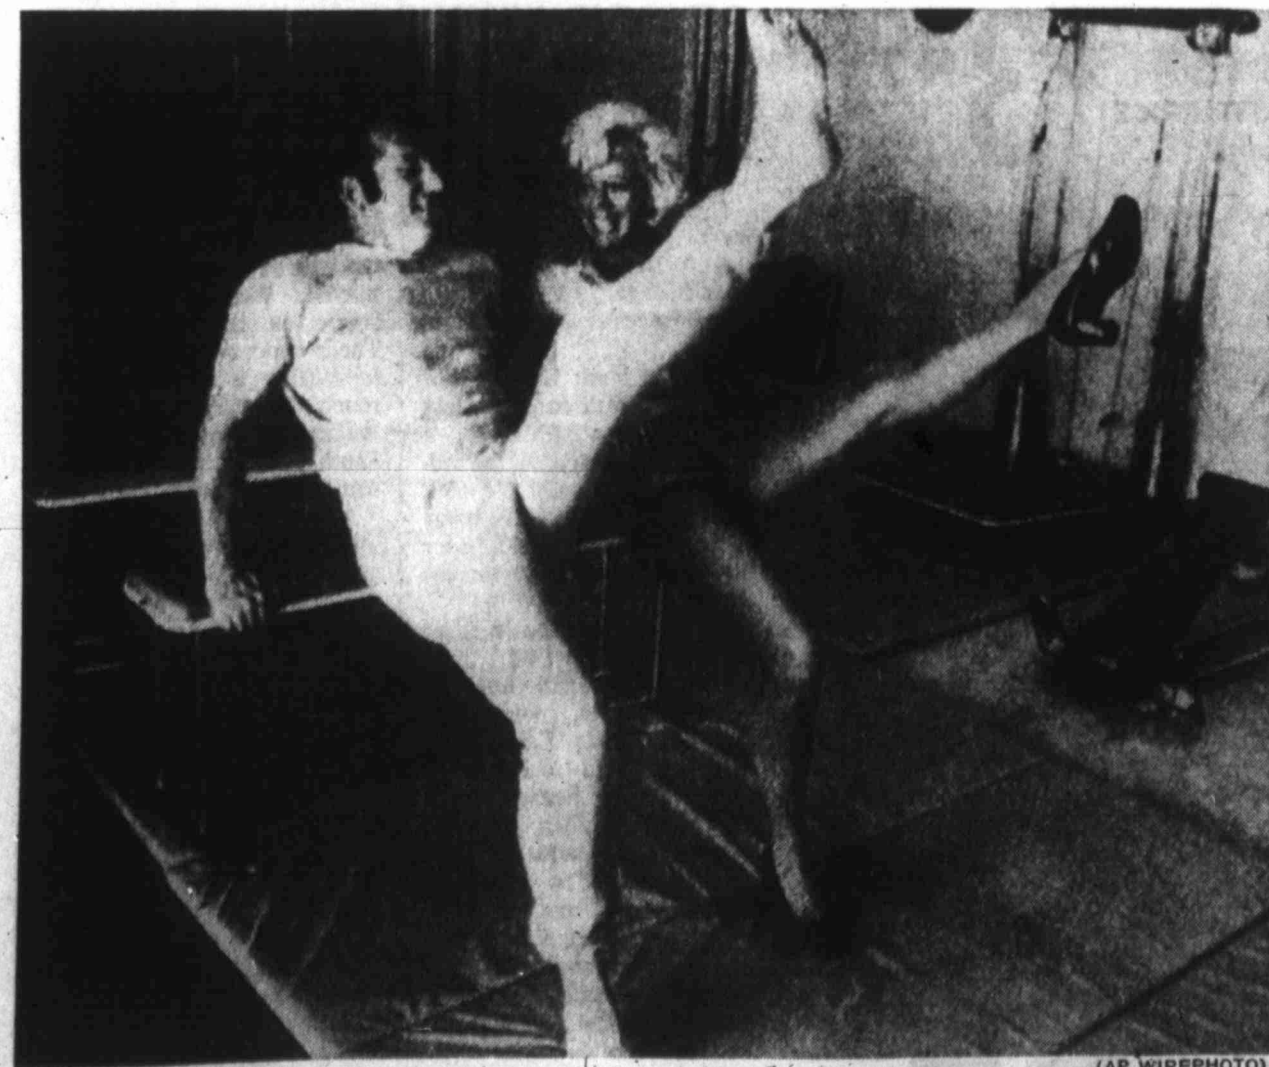

"What we try to do is substitute for the elementary school program they missed because of their slowness in learning," explains Sister Mary Dominic Merwick, associate professor of education. "There's nothing fancy about the program — just plain, grocery store arithmetic and learning to read street signs and bus signs so they can get around. Most important, classes are run with ample shows of affection, concern and dignity.

One client already works in the college laundry and three have advanced enough to hold down jobs off campus.

As for reaction among the regular students — "They took to the clients immediately," states Peter Magnoni, vice president for business affairs.

THEY'RE FIGHTING FLAB — Exercising isn't quite so much drudgery for actor-writer Fredd Wayne when it's done in the company of Anne-Marie Bennstrom, a dynamic Swedish-born blonde in hot pants, at the Sanctuary in Hollywood. Miss Bennstrom is the founder and boss of the health spa, part of a lively industry in Hollywood devoted to flab fighting and muscle toning.

FILL 'ER UP — Maggie Burton cleans the windshield of a car at an Atlanta, Ga., service station where she works as an attendant, pumping gasoline and checking oil in vehicles. When she first began working at the station, the male drivers were "surprised, pleased or skeptical" when they saw a female attendant in hot pants. Miss Burton said the men are polite to her and sometimes get out of their cars to show her where the gas tank is located.

V.D. Victim

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

It sounds inconceivable to me that anyone old enough to get married couldn't have accumulated enough in five years to afford treatment for V.D. But better to be treated late than not at all.

In any event, you certainly can't feel it is fair to consider marrying your young man if you have a chronic case of V.D. You make no mention of what "all the symptoms" are, and I think there's a possibility you may not even have V.D. You may have some other vaginal disorder -- which, however, still ought to be treated.

I have no idea whether your health department in the small town has a V.D. clinic. I suggest that you call and ask where the nearest one is.

If none is available, I still fail to see why you can't go to a doctor, which is the only way you are going to find out what you have and get treatment for it.

For the sake of your own health, for your future husband's health, for your future children if any, you've got to do something constructive for yourself instead of worrying for five years and then asking me to solve your problem "right away."

For your first step, either call the health department or go to a private physician. If you're afraid to tell your parents the whole truth, then say you ought to have a pre-marital checkup. Which, of course, is true.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please recommend a good book for laymen on arthritis.—D.M.

I see by your stationery that you are a librarian. I suggest that you get a list of reliable books (and a list of some to avoid) from the Arthritis Foundation, 1212 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10036.

How does VD start? Why are teenagers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself? Dr. Thosteson has the answers in his convenient, layman's language booklet, "Venereal Disease: How to Avoid It: How to Cure It." For a copy write him in care of The Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I think I have venereal disease in the advanced stage. I have had all the symptoms for five years. Can I be cured after such a long time?

I read that this disease can result in sterility. Is this true? Do I stand a chance of having babies?

I am engaged to be married in a short time and my boyfriend is always mentioning children. I know he wants some, so I can't tell him about this. I'm so worried. I can't go to my parents and I don't have the money to go to a doctor.

Is there any place or clinic I can go to? I live in a small town. It has a health department. Could I be treated there free without anyone knowing? I need your help and advice right away.—Worried

I'll offer you what advice I can, but I have to comment that you sound exactly like too many young people who are dreadfully ignorant of V.D. but think they know a lot about it.

You tell me you have "had all the symptoms for five years" but then you speak of "this disease." Which of the venereal diseases do you mean Gonorrhea? Syphilis? One of the rarer ones?

Gonorrhea in particular can, if left untreated, cause sterility, and if that occurs, you can still have the disease treated, but you can't undo the damage which has caused sterility.

Sculptress Has Spent Five Years On Phone

By ALISON LERRICK
PARIS (AP) — Ruth Francken has spent the last five years on the telephone. But she hasn't spent her time talking — she makes telephones.

"They are symbols of human contact," says the dark-haired sculptress, whose apartment-artelier houses dozens of such symbols — in aluminum, stainless steel and plexiglass, not to mention a genuine model that "never functions."

"The telephone is a tragic form of communication," adds Miss Francken, who is convinced that holding a telephone in your hand is no substitute for holding hands.

In her sculptures, however, she sticks to the infinite possibilities of the receiver, "one of the most beautiful modern forms" and forgets the rest.

In her living room, an arm brandishes a receiver a la Statue of Liberty, while the red coffee table, soon to be manufactured, cries out for a bushel of receivers to fill the recesses that striate its surface.

Downstairs, cradled on a black leather cushion, is Televenus, a yard-long receiver glistening in metallic plum paint. She covers it in a waterproof sheet to protect it from the leaky skylight.

Building Totals Sag During July

Building permits issued by the inspection department of the city of Big Spring amounted to 27 for the month of July. Total construction costs were $44,033.

Twenty-four permits were issued in July, 1970, but the construction value was greater by $26,853. The amount of permits for July took a big decline from the 48 that were issued in June. Construction costs were almost the same with $49,175 being recorded in June.

In July there were two new residences, 15 new additions to residences, two re-modelings, four re-roofings, and four moving permits.

American by naturalization and Parisian by adoption after 23 years, Miss Francken began as a painter.

Thanks to a Ford Foundation grant, she "found herself" in Berlin in 1964. She switched to sculpture for economic reasons, she explained.

First came her "silent period," but Miss Francken feels there is more to a telephone than sitting still and looking beautiful. So she created Telephone 5, an aluminum box. Inside are two receivers; unhook, and an electronic whine replies.

Pandora 3, a box too, speaks up when you pull out a giant aluminum plug. Pandoras 1 and 2 though, which contain respectively a receiver and a telegraph pole insulator, are silent.

Her major piece, in size, concept and price, was conceived as a cross between a computer and a bisected rocket. It has a flat side dotted with numbers, holes and flashing lights. When plugged in at random, with a choice of three big plugs, it utters an electronic lament of squeals and moans interrupted by a few purrs which drown out the feeble jingle of the real telephone nearby.

Port Booming

HOUSTON (AP) — The port of Houston has registered a 25 per cent increase in containers moving in foreign trade during the first half of 1971, compared to a year ago, the port announced.

More than 10,700 20-foot units were handled in the port's first two quarters compared to 8,554 equivalent units during the first half of 1970.

Denial Issued On Plan To Transport POW's

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Scandinavian airline said today a report that American military officials had asked the airline to fly 187 American prisoners of war from Laos to Europe was incorrect.

The earlier report had brought a flood of official denials from American and North Vietnamese officials.

The airline said today its office in West Germany had been approached in mid-July by a "private individual" who wanted to arrange a charter flight from Laos to Rome "for 187 passengers."

"It was never mentioned that the category of passengers was military personnel," SAS said in a statement released today.

CALLED OFF
The airline said it made preliminary arrangements and was ready to sign a contract, but this "has been called off by the private contact of SAS in Germany."

The "private individual" was not identified by name or nationality.

The report of a prospective POW flight was first published Wednesday night in Sweden's biggest newspaper, Dagens Nyheter, which said the flight would be on Aug. 12.

This was followed by an announcement from an SAS spokesman that U.S. military authorities in West Germany had asked to charter a DC8 to airlift 187 POWs from Vientiane, the Laotian capital, to Rome by way of Bangkok.

Dagens Nyheter charged SAS with "giving way to political pressure to soft pedal the whole thing."

paper's report, attributed to "sources," was "wholly correct as it stands," but refused to identify his sources. He did not specify what "political pressure" he claimed had been applied.

SAS spokesman Jack Herbert said: "Nuts to Dagens Nyheter. I can't give any explanation about this whole thing other than to say that a lot of people were unavailable when this story broke and that we could not sort things out until now."

NO INFORMATION
In Washington, President Nixon's news secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said the U.S. government "has not been informed of any such plan, nor has the U.S. participated in negotiating a plan such as suggested in the Swedish newspaper."

Xuan Thuy, North Vietnam's chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks, called the reports "excessive imagination," while Truong Gia Nhan, an attaché at the North Vietnamese Embassy in Stockholm, termed the report a "fabrication" and said it was "totally unfounded."

Thuy, speaking to newsmen as he entered the 124th session of the peace talks, said unless President Nixon accepts the Communists' peace plan "the list of captured military men, far from becoming shorter will only lengthen."

U.S. military authorities in West Germany said they had not heard of any plan to fly 187 American prisoners of war out of Vientiane on an SAS charter jet.

'ACTIVE'
Wednesday, before the airline's report, Nixon told a news conference that the United States was "very actively pursuing negotiations on Vietnam in established channels," never mentioning, however, specific efforts to gain the release of U.S. prisoners.

Nevertheless the SAS spokesman said his airline was "just awaiting a call from the Americans saying they are ready for signing a contract."

"When?" he was asked.

"Today, tomorrow or the day after tomorrow," he replied.

The officer in charge of prisoner affairs at the U.S. Embassy in the Laotian capital, Richard Rand, refused to comment on the SAS report, but added: "This office is not aware of any specific discussions with regard to these 187 prisoners."

Big Appetite For Red Meat Ires Fed Price Watchers

WASHINGTON (AP) — An awesome consumer appetite for red meat, seemingly at any price, is keeping pace with record production and causing headaches for the government's retail-price watchers.

The Agriculture Department says food prices are rising a bit faster than earlier forecast but still expects grocery prices for all of 1971 to gain about 3 per cent, well below the 5.1-per-cent jump last year.

LICK YOUR CHOPS
However, farmers have been turning out a record supply of beef and pork with little price benefit to consumers. A super-size pig crop last year caused hog prices paid farmers to plummet last fall and winter.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics says pork chops in June averaged $1.06 per pound at retail stores, compared with about $1.01 last January when the pork surplus was hitting the market. Last summer, before the farm price break, they were about $1.17 per pound.

Farmers are cutting back on hog production now and the outlook is for their prices to improve, meaning higher pork prices at stores.

Beef prices also are on the way up despite record-large cattle output. In June, hamburger cost 68.7 cents a pound, up more than two cents from a year earlier, the BLS said. Round steak averaged nearly $1.38 per pound, compared with less than $1.30 a year earlier.

Beef and pork account for most of the meat consumed by Americans. And meat takes around 30 per cent of a family's food budget.

The Agriculture Department said in a food-situation report issued Wednesday that supermarket food prices during the first three months of 1971 were up less than 1 per cent. But during April-June they jumped 2.5 per cent above a year earlier.

LOOKING AHEAD
Looking ahead, the USDA says consumers may spend nearly $120 billion on all food this year, nearly 6 per cent more than in 1970. More people, an increase in per-capita meat consumption and higher prices will account for nearly all the rise.

A major factor in boosting food demand, particularly for meat, is an expected rise this year of around 8 per cent in consumer take-home pay. As paychecks grow larger, family spending for food seems to depend less on prices.

Hazen F. Gale, a food analyst with the Economic Research Service in USDA, said he is optimistic the over-all price rise of food this year would be held to 3.5 per cent including meals eaten away from home.

However, Gale said, consumers probably have seen beef and pork prices the lowest they will be for some time.

3 Persons Killed South Of Abilene

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Three persons were killed in a one car accident Wednesday south of Abilene.

Carol Lee Willis, and JoJane Wilkes, both 21 and from Abilene, and Lanny Joe Baker, 22, of Desdemona, died when the car in which they were passengers hit a bridge guard rail on U.S. 89.

The driver of the car, Larry Duyck, 22, of Garland, was listed in fair condition at an Abilene hospital.

Baker and Juyck were McMurry College students.

HOUSTON (AP) — A prisoner at the Harris County jail escaped while being returned to his cell following an interview with a psychiatrist.

Authorities said Paul Martin Morin, 36, of Houston, overpowered a guard and made his escape. Morin was awaiting trial on a robbery charge.

COMEDIAN TURNS AUTHOR — Comedian Jerry Lewis says he was surprised when Random House asked him to write a book about his film theories. Lewis has taken a half-million feet of audio tape from the film class he conducts at the University of Southern California and turned it into a 208-page book. The book is entitled "The Total Film-Maker."
