Astros Give Scientists Details Of Moon Trip

(AP) — Apollo 15's astronauts started a long series of debriefings today to give scientists, engineers and doctors the minute details of their historic moon journey.

Following splashdown Saturday, doctors aboard the recovcarrier Okinawa pronounced all three adventurers in good condition.

An Air Force C141 transport flew the astronauts from Hawaii to nearby Ellington Air Force Base Sunday night, and the men rushed into the embrace of their families-a first for a moon-landing crew.

The three previous crews had to spend three weeks in quarantine, but experts concluded that moonmen bring back no harmful germs and eliminated the isolation for Apollo 15

So Scott and Irwin rushed into the arms of their wives and daughters. Worden, who is divorced, clutched his two daughters. It was the first time the astronauts had been with their families since the Fourth of July weekend.

Irwin told the crowd, which included several Space Center workers, that he thought often while in space of "the genius that created such beautiful machinery, the people who put it all together and finally the people on the ground who helped us operate it.

Arriving with the astronauts were about 100 pounds of moon rocks, sealed in airtight containers. The first 75 pounds came here on an earlier plane and were transported to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory. 'GENESIS ROCK'

Scientists plan to open the first of the boxes in a day or two to begin the years-long examination which might provide clues to the origin of the moon, earth and solar system.

Included in the collection is a so-called "Genesis rock" which Scott and Irwin picked up at Spur Crater. They described it as crystalline in composition and believe it may date back 4.6 billion years to the birth of the moon.

Congratulations for the astronauts also came from abroad. Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny messaged President Nixon to "convey congratulations and good wishes." Pope Paul VI said in a telegram to the President that he hopes the moon exploration will lead to "progress, peace and understanding among men."

Big Spring bore the brunt of brisk showers late Sunday afternoon, flooding streets, almost filling some detention ponds, and sending Cosden Lake cascading over the spillway for the first time in years. Comanche Trail Park was flooded and one car was trapped temporarily in a sud-

Race Killing Acquittal

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — A white sergeant accused of killing a black enlisted man in a racial incident at a U.S. Army camp here was acquitted today of an unpremeditated murder charge.

An all-white jury of five officers ruled that Sgt. Jerry L. Holden, 21, of Fort Worth, Tex., acted in self-defense when he shot and killed Spec. 4 Christopher Brown, 20, of Ridgeville, S.C.

The jury found Holden guilty, however, of illegal possession of a .45-caliber pistol. He was fined $100.

Brown was killed last March 25 at Camp Baxter, a transportation and vehicle maintenance base in Da Nang. Court-martial testimony indicated there was considerable racial tension at the camp, with frequent fights and confrontations between gangs of whites and blacks.

The prosecution claimed that Holden was angry at the time of the shooting because some black soldiers had taken away a basketball from one of his friends.

Holden said he strapped on a pistol before leaving his quarters because on two prior occasions he had been threatened by blacks with M16 rifles.

Mistrial Declared For Black Panther

Black Panther cofounder Huey P. Newton, whose retrial on charges stemming from the killing of an Oakland policeman has ended with an 11-1 hung jury, goes before a new judge Tuesday to learn if he must stand trial a third time.

After six days of deliberation, a jury of 10 women and two men told Superior Court Judge Harold Hove Sunday that it was deadlocked.

$50,000 BAIL First jurors had sent out a note asking they be taken for dinner, but another note followed saying: "One of the jurors no longer wishes to deliberate." Some were near nears as the judge dismissed them and directed Newton to appear before the criminal calendar court for setting of a new trial date. He remains free on $50,000 bail. There was no immediate indication from prosecutor Donald Whyte whether the state will again seek to try the 29year-old Newton on a charge of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting of officer John Frey

The Supreme Court has notified lawyers in four capital punishment cases to be prepared to argue their appeals on the court's first hearing day of the fall term, Oct. 12. Two of the cases raise the question of whether or not the Eighth Amendment's prohibition of "cruel and unusual punishments" should ban the death penalty. The other two, both for rape, question whether the Eighth Amendment prohibits capital punishment when the victim's life was not taken.

It is strange after so many years that the issue of cruel and unusual punishment should just be raised in capital cases. Because of these and other appeals more than 600 persons wait in death rows in 41 states and the District of Columbia - capital punishment is not permitted in the other nine

Justices cannot reach conclusions in a social and moral vacuum. They cannot avoid taking judicial notice that the lives of more than 600 men and women hinge on their decision. Theoretically at least, they are required to put such considerations as this aside. But in actuality it is difficult to do so.

The decision could go either way. After all, most states have been hanging, electrocuting, gassing, or executing by firing squad for most of the years of their existence. But on the other

Silence Strange

The Russians seem to be the only ones who don't know what to do about William F. Buckley's manufactured version of the Pentagon papers. Americans simply applied the bastinado when they learned that the papers published in National Review were made up by Buckley and some of his bright assistants.

The Russians published exerpts from the National Review papers. Editors commented that they side, there is little evidence to prove that the death penalty deters, since most murders are

If the Supreme Court upholds the death penalty, though, the ordeals of governors and of citizens will then begin. The very thought of systematically beginning the execution of more than 600 persons to clear out prison death rows is revealed once again the deviousness and perfidity of American policy

Now that the papers have been exposed as hoax, the Russians have cultivated a deep silence. Perhaps it is because there is nothing quite so embarrassing as trying to explain a hoax after it provides such an excellent propaganda springboard. Where can a good Communist turn to for truth if Pravda has been gulled?

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

Around our scatter, everything is in place. The flour is in the sugar canister because the supervisor of the manor's interior regions decided that the flour can would better serve as a cookie jar.

One often uses the end of the scissors for a screw driver simply because the screw driver is misplaced. It seems somebody took it outside to dig a hole with it, then left it under the rose bush.

BUT IF HE looks for the scissors, chances are he settles for a razor blade because we at least know where those are supposed to be stored.

There are perhaps two cans of putty and a couple of paint brushes put away somewhere but one never starts repairing the packing around a window or undertakes a refurbishing job without venturing to the store for fresh supplies.

THE OLD BRUSHES responded so beautifully immediately after they were cleaned for storage but something went wrong. The bristles stiffened again and wouldn't serve the purpose any more effectively than the tattered remnants of a discarded house dress. The fellow who sold me the house cheerfully told me he thought the place had enough closet space to serve a family of 15. He reckoned, however, without people who reason there is some value to every piece of merchandise toted through the doors. Walk-in closets are great for storing children's games and vacuum cleaners, picture albums and hat

I ENVY the birds. When they get ready to move, they simply wing off. No need to pack. They raise their kids, then break their lease simply by abandoning the premises. Is there anything that looks bigger than a three-room house before you've moved into it and smaller after you've jammed in most of your belongings, wondering what you will do with the last carload?

TWO-CAR FAMILIES are common these days. Why not two-house families — side by side? The ideal arrangement would be to live in one and store your trappings in the other-with a special place for the screw driver.

Property Tax Blues

Omar Burleson

By GARTH JONES

Efforts to revamp Texas' most important tax, the property tax, are under way again - with the outlook dark as usual.

Optimists hope they will at least get the 1973 legislature to streamline collection of the much maligned levy and maybe even collect some back taxes

The new legislative property tax committee, which originated in the Senate, held its first meeting July 28 in Houston in the office of a member, Harris County Tax Assessor-Collector Carl S. Smith. Other members are Sen. Jim Bates, Edinburg; Rep. Richard Slack, Pecos; Jack L. Hart, Midland, and Charles D. Kirkham Jr., Dallas investor. Aim of the group is to prepare a property numerous bewildering statues on ad valorem taxes.

ANOTHER IMPORTANT aim is to prepare a property tax code that would replace the numerous bewildering statutes on ad valorem

Another important aim is to put tax collections on a modern business level through the use of computers and data processing systems. The new committee is given a good chance to survive because of its financing. It is supported by a $1 fee on each delinquent tax receipt issued at county tax offices. Later on, the long time Texas committee on state and local tax policy will make its recommendations for the 1973 legislature, as it has done for the past decade. The chairman of the Texas House committee on revenue and taxation, Rep. Be n Atwell, Dallas, serves as head of the tax group along with two other House members, three senators and three laymen appointed by the governor. Its financing comes from House and Senate expense funds. Still another committee trying for changes in property taxes is the

"Keep-Texas Productive and Green Committee," headed by Sen. Wayne Connally, Floresville. This groupwants lower taxes on rural land by levying taxes on the basis of agricultural production not real estate market value. They say Gov. Preston Smith has promised them a chance to run with the subject at the next special session.

ALTHOUGH property taxes furnish receipts, the aggregate of local government property taxes makes it by far the largest and most important tax in Texas, even surpassing the sales tax. Total property tax collections in Texas were estimated at $1.3 billion in 1969 and about $1.5 billion for 1970. There also is a small matter of $1 billion in taxes that are delinquent, mostly almost all local

More than 3,300 levies are now involved in assessing and collecting property taxes including the state, cities, school boards, and host of special taxing authorities such as hospital districts, water authorities and others.

One of the streamlining plans under study would divide the state into regions with a computer in each to handle all the tax duties of that area

Another aim of all the committees involved is putting on record accurate and up to date information on taxes. There are no real accurate figures available today on property taxes. Almost every county and city collects taxes on a different percentage of the property's value or its phony assessed value. Some cities collect taxes on automobiles and others say it is too much trouble.

THE LATEST available property tax figures for the major cities of Texas are for 1969, based on surveys made nationwide by municipal associations and officials.

These 1969 figures, which already are out of date in many Texas cities, show that about $8.50 of each $10 in local taxes comes from real estate or property taxes. The so-called typical property tax on a house and lot with a sale value of $25,000 was $595 on the national level, compared to $495 to 1966.

According to the 1969 survey, a cross section of Texas cities, all above 50,000 population, had local taxes ranging from $425 to $654 a year on a $25,000 house and lot. However, shortly after the survey appeared in a nationally distributed magazine, the Texas cities involved began complaining. Some taxes, such as those for junior college districts and hospital districts, were counted in some cities and not in others.

THE BIG SPRING rate is reported So the situation remains the same in Texas. Everybody knows the property tax is bad but no one knows only a small part of state tax for sure how bad.

I am a junior in high school and I have not accomplished anything worthwhile for myself or others. Can you help me? T.V. I like to receive a letter like yours. "Accomplishing something worthwhile for yourself or others," is the farthest thing from the minds of many of today's youth. Young people like you are the hope of tomorrow's world.

Now, what can you do to accomplish something worthwhile? First of all, become a disciple of Jesus Christ. It was He who said: "Whosoever of you will be the

at the Presidency. The reason is that the contents of the papers have fallen into substantial disrepute in recent weeks, due to the authors' unsubstantiated effort to blame President Lyndon Johnson for everything, from deceiving the American public to a lust for waging war. Today, there is at least reasonable doubt that the papers told it as

WHICH IS a roundabout but necessary means of getting McCarthy into the picture. It can now be revealed that McCarthy told Daniel Ellsberg, in effect, to get lost when that former Defense Department aide tried to get McCarthy to make the documents public. Indeed, McCarthy strongly advised Ellsberg to discuss the matter with the White House before arranging to commit the papers to print.

NOW THEN. If McCarthy is to get anywhere in the Presidential race he must snatch most of the independent support now going to Sen. George McGovern. And McGovern's position vis-a-vis the Pentagon Papers is less clean-cut than McCarthy's.

McGovern has denied a Parade magazine that he suggested Ellsberg release the documents to "a respectable newspaper." But, as quoted by a McGovern spokesman, McGovern did tell Ellsberg he could release information through the press, if he wished. Although George Mc-Govern is an honest man, he sounds here like a politician determined to split a hair if it kills him.

McCARTHY'S POSITION, on the other hand, commends him to the attention of independent voters of a moderate political complexion. Indeed, although the super liberals have always insisted otherwise, the independent vote is largely composed of moderates, with the wild-eyed radicals in a small if vociferous minority. When the chips are down, this centrist bloc may well decide that McCarthy acted more responsibly in the Ellsberg case.

IN POINT OF fact, there are signs that McCarthy already is doing better than might have been expected among both independent and Democratic voters. The most recent Gallup Poll shows that McCarthy now leads McGovern by six percentage points to five among Democrats and by five percentage points to four among independents. McGovern, of course, has been running for several months, while McCarthy still is a non-

THESE FIGURES are significant in that they suggest Gene McCarthy has better chance than George McGovern to upset the Democratic Establishment's apple cart at Miami Beach next summer. Although both men trail Sens. Ed Muskie, Ted Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey by substantial margins, a switch of McGovern's support to McCarthy could put the latter in the race.

WASHINGTON — Congress is taking a month's recess, but the administration is not very happy about it. For the President's legisyear have not been acted upon. Mr. Nixon in his state of the union message in January outlined a program of welfare reform, general and special revenue-sharing with the states, a national health plan, government reorganization, and a series of projects dealing with critical problems of the environment. The administration contends that in no sense can this program be characterized as one of political partisanship but that it is an attempt "to achieve pragmatic solutions of our nation's

CLARK MacGREGOR, who is counsel to the President for Congressional relations, said, in a press conference last week, that the President has "demonstrated flexibility in dealing with committees of the Congress." Mr. MacGregor add-

"The President outlined to the Congress realistic programs of reform and expectations were high that Congress would give its full attention to the admittedly ambitious initiatives of the Nixon administration. Congress has now been in session six and a half months in 1971. It seems useful to see what progress has been made.

"OF THE GREAT goals outlined in the President's state of the union message, only one - the reform of our welfare system, which was a carryover from the previous Congress has made significant progress. Welfare reform passed the House on June 22 by a margin greater than 2 to 1. Hearings are now under way in the Senate Committee on Finance, and we have every hope that this historic measure will be passed into law this year.

"UNFORTUNATELY, the Congress

has evidenced little sense of urgency to match that of the President towardconsideration of other major goals. General revenue-sharing, despite overwhelming approval by the lative proposals during the last half general public, by governors, mayors, county officials and citizen groups, remains in committee, where there appears to be a reluctance to initiate special revenue-sharing proposals and government reorganization is discouragingly slow. MR. MacGREGOR said that of the 'two remaining great goals' - health and the environment - there has but more progress, enough," He expressed hope that several bills in the area of health would reach the President's desk soon, with favorable action taken on the act to conquer cancer and on the health manpower and nurses training bills. But the major proposals passage this year is not good. "In short," stated Mr. MacGregor, we are concerned about the pace of progress in Congress. There is not only talk, but there have been communications by letter from some of the Democratic leadership in Congress, 'suggesting that the first session of the 92nd Congress will adjourn sometime in early or mid-

IT MAY BE that this indicates an effort to speed consideration of important legislation and not really an intention to wind up the session of Congress. But the record thus far is not very encouraging. There has been talk that if Congress does adjourn in October, President Nixon may call an extra session. But this certainly would not be very popular with the members and would hardly assure prompt passage of needed legislation

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (@ 1971: By The Chicago Tribune) BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS Q. 1 - Neither vulnerable, your partner has opened with one heart and you hold: AAIOS $\text{$\text{97642}} \phi \text{$\text{$48432}}

What is your response?

A.—Two hearts, which just about describes the strength of the hand. There would be no justification for a raise to four hearts with this hand merely because with the property of the trumps. cause it contains five trumps.
The hand does not have sufficient playing strength for a preemptive raise.

Q. 2-Both vulnerable and as South you hold: 4102 ♥AQ874 ♦J10 5 4873

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West Pass Pass Pass 1 0

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Since partner originally passed, there is little to be gained by bidding. With six losers in the suits adversely bid, it is inconceivable that you could fulfill an eight trick contract. In fact, it is difficult to see how you could come close.

Q. 3 - Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold: 46 VAK 74 OA7532 4J97 The bidding has proceeded: North East South 14 24 ?

What do you bid?

A.—This hand possesses considerable merit, being the equal of an opening bid. However, if a convenient contract cannot be found there may be no game in the hand. The partial misrit in angles suggests that the hand. spades suggests that the hand has better defensive possibilities, and our recommendation is a penalty double. Your hand should produce at least four tricks in defense. Unless partner's hand is highly unhalanced, a sure profit highly unbalanced, a sure profit is in store if you play for the

Q. 4-As South, vulnerable,

492 VKQ10874 0863 4A5 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass 1 0 Pass Pass 1 NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three hearts. Partner can hardly expect you to have more than you hold when he recalls that you passed first and replied

Q. 5-Both vulnerable and as South you hold: 48 VAJ 65 076 4AKJ 10 42

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass 1 \Q Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—The opportunity to show the four-card major at this low range should be seized in preference to rebidding the six-card minor. The impression that a six-card suit must be rebid willynilly before showing a four-card suit is a hangover from the gay '90s. Bid one heart.

Q. 6-As South, vulnerable. you hold:

4Q104 ♥A1095 ♦432 4J108 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West Pass 1 V Pass Pass 3 A Pass Dble. ?

What do you bid now?

A.—It might be tempting at this point to show the mild fit in spades, the suit in which part-ner has jumped, but such action is not recommended. You already have kept the bidding open and shown a preference for partner's first suit. This is all the action you are entitled to take with this minimum holding. A bid by you at this point would indicate additional values. Let partner have the next say.

Q. 7 — Neither vulnerable, partner opens with one club and you hold: AAJ85 ♥K1075 ♦843 A74

What do you bid?

A.—One heart, rather than one spade. This permits partner to show a four card spade suit at the level of one if he happens to have it. Whereas if you respond with one spade, partner may have a four card heart suit and fear to show it at the level of two.

Q. 8 - Neither vulnerable, partner opens with one club AAQJ5 ♥KQ 106 ♦753 485

What do you bid? A.—One spade. This hand dif-fers from the preceding one in that it possesses sufficient strength to justify your bidding twice opposite a partner who was able to open the bidding. Since you will be able to show both Sewell, a right-hander, worked for the Pirates from 1938 through 1949 and compiled a 143-97 record, including 21victory seasons in 1943 and 1944. His pitch was a high, slow delivery that dropped sharply as it reached the plate.

Hamilton, a major leaguer since 1961, spent most of his career with the New-York Yankees, before joining the Giants this year. The left-handed relief specialist's floater, which was outlawed this spring by National League President Chub Feeney because of a slight hesitation in Hamilton's delivery, was thrown just as slowly but not quite as high as Sewell's pitch.

Niekro's delivery was given its name by his teammate, pitcher Bob Priddy. It floats toward the plate about 10 or 12 feet off the ground, then breaks away from right-handed batters and in to the left-handed swing. tention this year, but look New York Yankees Sunday.
