British Troops Kill More Belfast Gunmen

100 Persons Hurt During Streets 'War'

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Furious new gun battles erupted between guerrillas and British troops in Belfast today while street warfare came to an uneasy recess in Londonderry, Newry and other bullet-scarred cities of Northern Ireland.

The four-day death toll stood at 20 after another day of blood-letting. The latest deaths were two gunmen killed by troops. More than 100 other persons have been wounded.

During the night mobs of Protestants and Roman Catholics battled each other. Rival factions of the outlawed Irish Republican Army clashed. And troops and police fought all of them in attempts to restore order.

MORE QUESTIONS

The fury was triggered by the roundup started Monday of suspected members of the IRA and an announced policy of internment without trial.

Stores and office buildings were shuttered today, their workers unable to move about the littered streets. Food shortages plagued many Belfast districts. Wholesalers refused to make food deliveries or were unable to get through barricaded streets.

In the midst of the violence, police continued questioning persons arrested in massive raids earlier. An informed source said 230 persons have been detained after questioning and are held in Crumlin Road prison and on a former submarine depot ship, HMS Mainsstone, in Belfast harbor.

This source said Prime Minister Brian Faulkner would sign internment orders against the majority of the detainees.

CROSS BORDER

In Dublin, an army spokesman said more than 2,000 Catholic refugees had fled across the border from the north and were housed in five camps opened by the Republic of Ireland.

Mayor Lindsay Shifts To Democratic Party

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay switched to the Democratic party today "to fight for new national leadership." But he said he did not know if he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

"In a sense, this step recognizes the failure of 20 active years in progressive Republican politics," the mayor said in a statement.

"In another sense, it represents a new decision to fight for new national leadership," he added.

NO ILLUSIONS

The tall, handsome mayor, who will be 50 in November, said he had "no illusions about the Democratic party," but that he would "work as a Democrat without abandoning my personal independence."

Lindsay, who served four terms in the U.S. House of Representatives as a Republican, was elected in 1965 as the city's first GOP mayor in 20 years. He was defeated for renomination in the 1969 Republican primary, but won in November over both major party candidates as a Liberal-Independent.

At a news conference in his residence, Gracie Mansion, Lindsay said the 1972 Democratic convention should be "as open as any in American history."

WAR ISSUE

"Whether this means I will run for president, I do not know," he said. "But it does mean that I am firmly committed to take an active part in 1972 to bring about new national leadership."

Lindsay has been openly critical of President Nixon's foreign and domestic policies. He has made speeches at rallies opposing the Vietnam war.

The mayor also has broken frequently with Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, charging that the GOP state administration has short-changed the city.

Rockefeller was on vacation in Portugal. A spokesman in Albany said he would have no immediate comment.

NIXON MUM

There was no immediate comment from the White House.

Nixon has been quoted by his communications chief, Herbert Klein, as having said he hoped Lindsay would stay in the GOP.

Lindsay assailed the Nixon administration in his statement for what he termed indifference to the plight of the poor, and said it had failed to respond to the problems of unemployment, housing, hospitals, crime, poverty and race polarization.

50 Convicts High On Drugs Burn Buildings, Stab 'Foes'

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Authorities say about 50 convicts were high on drugs during rioting at the Idaho Penitentiary in which two inmates were stabbed and two buildings were burned.

Guards fired tear gas as about 150 of the prison's 245 inmates, some armed with knives or baseball bats, rioted Tuesday night. The convicts demanded more frequent changes of clothing because temperatures range as high as 118 degrees in the 100-year-old institution.

'HOT PANTS'

Warden Raymond W. May, who made the estimate that about 50 inmates were high on drugs, brought the situation under control by telling the prisoners that none would be punished for the uprising and that their demand probably would be met.

During a lull in the riot, Warden May and Ada County Sheriff Paul Bright argued heatedly before newsmen. Bright accused May of being too lenient.

May met with a six-member inmate council and said the main prisoner grievance was over a rule allowing changes of clothing only every three days despite the 100-degree heat.

STABBED IN CHEST

A medical attendant, David Bortz, 25, of Burley, Idaho, was stabbed in the chest by inmates who broke into the hospital in search of drugs, prison officials said. Bortz was serving a two-year sentence for passing bad checks.

Charles Rice, 30, of Evans City, Pa., serving 10 years for lewd conduct, also was stabbed in the chest.

A third inmate, Charles Sharp, suffered eye injuries from tear gas fired by guards.

There were no escape attempts and no hostages were taken. The prison softball team returned from a tournament in the middle of the riot and was taken to another jail for the night.

Many inmates were in the courtyard when the riot began at 7:30 p.m. The maximum security section has been vacant since prison officials discovered a tunnel there Sunday.

A social service center and a building housing a recreation area, shoe repair shop and laundry facilities were in flames when May and an aide walked into the middle of 150 shouting inmates.

BATS BLOOM

May, who agreed to stop the issue of tear gas and remove guards from sight if the inmates would quiet down, said he saw at least six inmates with knives taken from the kitchen. Many had baseball bats, he said.

GOV. SMITH TELLS REDISTRICTING PROBERS:

What's Good For Senate Is Good For House, Too

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith challenged the state redistricting board Tuesday to have political courage and redistrict the Texas House as well as the state Senate when it meets Aug. 24.

HOT POTATO

Smith said such action might prevent a special session of the legislature that would be costly to taxpayers and "a hot political potato" to 1972 political candidates.

"Since Dist. Judge Herman Jones has declared the Texas House redistricting plan unconstitutional, it behooves the members of the board to begin immediately to redraw House district lines that will be acceptable," said a statement from Smith.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said Monday the five-member redistricting board, which is provided by the constitution to redraw legislative districts after each 10-year census if the first regular legislature fails to act, would meet August 24 to change state senatorial districts to conform with the 1970 census.

The recent legislative session did not act on senatorial districts although it passed a House redistricting bill which was declared unconstitutional by an Austin district court. The decision has been appealed to the Texas Supreme Court, probably for a hearing in October when the court returns from a summer recess.

HARD TO FIND

Barnes said Tuesday that Smith had not discussed redistricting with him. "I don't know how he can tell what the commission is or isn't going to consider," Barnes said.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin issued a statement saying he intended to discuss the House redistricting matter with the board when it meets Aug. 24.

"I do want to make it clear that Judge Jones' decision will be appealed as rapidly as possible to the Supreme Court of Texas in accordance with the duty of the attorney general. The court is in adjournment subject to the call of the chief justice. The chief justice is out of the city and my office has been unable to reach him. However, we expect to be in contact with him before the end of the week," Martin said.

Barnes' announcement of the Aug. 24 meeting made no mention of House districts.

The board consists of Barnes, as lieutenant governor; Speaker Gus Mutscher, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin; Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, and comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

"The fact that the (House redistricting) case is on appeal does not preclude the redistricting board from making preparations for the eventuality of the supreme court either upholding or overturning the lower court decision," Smith said.

LET'S LOOK

"Let's look at it this way. Judge Jones declared, in effect, that the legislature failed to act."

"He wiped that book clean. Under the law, which the board members seem reluctant, for whatever their personal reasons may be, to move, they are required to draw new district boundaries.

"What do the board members want? Do they want to 'walk softly' because of possible political repercussions? Do they want to abdicate their duties so they can put the blame for a special session on somebody else's back?"

"That is the most blatant lack of assuming clearly defined responsibilities this state has ever seen. I am sure some of the board members will fall back on the excuse that the case is being appealed."

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)

Gov. George C. Wallace said today President Nixon should back up his statement against school busing by asking the federal courts to reverse themselves and rule it unconstitutional.

See Story, Page 2-A

He told Nixon in a telegram that Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and Elliott Richardson, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, "were instrumental in securing busing decrees and that the President consequently should order them to 'return to the courts and ask that those decrees be set aside.'"

Wallace asked Nixon also to compel the two Cabinet officers to "modify their positions to conform to your expressed attitude and promises in regard to busing that enabled you to be elected to the presidency."

"Americans," the governor said, "can find no credibility in officials pledging no busing and then appointing men . . . who openly advocate and push for busing."

He asked the President for "an immediate reply" because, he said, "our schools start soon and the people are entitled to know where they stand."

The governor, who ran for president in 1968 as a third-party candidate and may do so again next year, told Nixon: "The conflict between your recent statements, opposing the busing of school children, and the actions of federal departments directly under your control . . . has left our people in a dilemma."

Massive busing, Wallace continued, "will only add to the chaos and confusion which now exists in our schools as a result of tyrannical judicial decrees."

Mechanical Heart Implant

DETROIT (AP) — A team of surgeons at Mt. Sinai Hospital today implanted a partially mechanical heart device in a 63-year-old man.

The patient receiving the "patch booster," a permanent device made of silicone rubber and dacron, was identified as Haskell Shanks of suburban Warren, Mich.

A spokesman for the hospital said the mechanical heart surgery began at 7:15 p.m. EST Tuesday and was completed about 5 a.m. He said the surgery was successful, and the patient was doing well.

The new device is designed to give permanent help for a failing heart, the spokesman said.

The surgical team was headed by Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, the developer of the artificial Pace-maker, a device which keeps the heart beating regularly. He performed the world's second heart transplant and the first in the United States, Dec. 6, 1967, at Maimonides Medical Center in Brooklyn.

The hospital said the booster pump implanted in the patient is air-powered and can be used as long as needed. The device is a newer version of an earlier mechanical device used in two other operations. It is smaller in size and simpler in design, the hospital said.

Shanks, a plant guard for Uniroyal Corp., has suffered congestive heart failure for the past year and his condition had grown progressively worse in the past few months.

MAKES MONKEY OUT OF FIREMEN

DENVER (AP) — For four days, a 15-pound primate has made a monkey out of animal handlers and firemen.

The 6-year-old male vervet monkey escaped from City Park Zoo's new monkey island last Friday. He has been sighted swinging from tree to tree in northeast Denver but repeatedly has eluded his pursuers.

And it may be months before anyone catches him, says zoo director Clayton Freiheit.

"He can survive very handily at this time of year," Freiheit said, "just by feeding on the various types of vegetation that are available to him. He'll have no problem until the onset of really cold weather."

The largest portion of the total expenditures will be spent for instruction costs including teachers' salaries, audio visual materials and teaching and office supplies. Former Playboy Playmate Sues

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Margaret "China" Lee, a former Playboy magazine playmate, has asked for a divorce from Mort Sahl, the nightclub and television comic who specializes in the political potshot. The petition filed in Superior Court Monday said Sahl, 44 and Miss Lee, 28, were married in Beverly Hills Oct. 30 and separated last Wednesday. It was his second marriage, her first.

Council Again Tables Sanitation Truck Bid

Once more a proposal for asking bids on a truck and refuse-collection body was tabled Tuesday evening by the city council. Commissioners wanted to make a further assessment of the city's financial status.

Jack Watkins, commissioner, was of the opinion that the city didn't have the money, while Mayor Arnold Marshall took a more optimistic view. The request for bids was shoved back to the next meeting.

On sewage system improvements, however, Watkins pressed for action. The council has approved $100,000 for upgrading facilities to meet state pollution control board requirements.

But regarding the garbage collection truck and body, Watkins said "I would like to reiterate that we do not have the money in the garage fund to buy this additional equipment. There are spare sanitation trucks, sitting in four inches of water at the barns, which are not in use. They need to be maintained and made ready to use."

MAYOR DIFFERS

The former director of public works told me that the maintenance costs on the sanitation equipment are running too high this year due to the condition of the equipment," observed Mayor Marshall. "After all revenues and expenditures are brought up to date for the year and all funds are transferred, I think there will be enough money to purchase new equipment and still have money in the garage fund."

Watkins thought misuse of the equipment by departmental personnel could be contributing to high maintenance costs.

SITE LOST

Lee Cotton, who owns property northeast of the city, was originally under contract to succeed the current landfill site, but contract terms on the land were not fulfilled, said Crim. There are sites that can be secured for $50 per month, he added.

"There are other people in the city owning land who would be willing to let the city use it for a dollar per year, namely O. R. Bollinger and Bud Crenshaw. There is no need to pay a high price," said Eddie Acri, commissioner.

Crim told the city fathers that securing another site is not a fast procedure and that the site must first meet state health and pollution boards' standards. The commission authorized Roy Anderson, acting city manager, to contact the men and start working on getting another site for the landfill.

A directive was given by the commission to Bill Brown, acting director of public works, for a bi-weekly progress report to the commission on the sewage facilities.

WANTS ACTION

The directive was a result of a progress report on sewage problems brought to the commission by Brown and Crim. First regulations set by the state Water Quality Control Board have been met and a plan on solving the problems at the local facility had been submitted to the board, they said.

Report And Its Reply

The State Board of Insurance has gone to considerable lengths to try to rebut a Senate committee report critical especially of its attitude toward automobile casualty insurance. The committee said the board is "merely another insurance trade association."

In a 35-page reply to committee criticism the board said it "respectfully disagrees" with the statement that "the State Board of Insurance has forgotten whom it was established to serve . . . the board must change its present direction and become oriented toward the mission of serving the consumer interests of Texas policyholders rather than continue to act as merely another insurance trade association."

The Senate committee, headed by Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, was a bit strong in its criticism. Yet if the board were interested as it should be in the welfare of all policyholders in Texas it would, for instance, vigorously promote group insurance plans for auto insurance. Substantial over-all savings for motorists would surely result.

If the board were more interested in the public it would encourage, even demand, competition among insurers. As it is, the lowest common denominator is applied. The companies with the most efficient operations are covered by the same blanket as the most inefficient operations. Instead of a true free enterprise operation, responding to the competitive forces of the economy, the insurance industry is treated almost as if it were a public utility entitled to a minimum percentage of profit.

Something more effective than protests will be needed to convince the public that the State Board of Insurance protects consumer interests rather than insurance interests. Its history, as with so many other regulatory authorities, shows signs of an agency created for a public need which in time becomes the protector of an industry it was created to regulate.

Keeping A Promise

Mexico's President Luis Echeverria is a man who keeps his promise.

Last May, a group of students at Rio Bravo — between Reynosa and Matamoros — blocked a highway and stopped Echeverria's motorcade. The president listened to the students' request for a new school.

Only two months later, Echeverria dedicated the new school in Rio Bravo. The school will teach modern agriculture techniques.

The Rio Bravo students discovered how to get their needs fulfilled. They braved the president's security force, got his attention and told their story. Echeverria listened, then acted. The action will be expanded into a new program of building. Both students and chief executive came out ahead from their meeting.

The Magic Horn

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

Not that I want to see as many years as Methuselah, but I would like to live long enough to hear certain statements spoken into a magic horn so that they would come out translated to reflect what the speaker really meant.

FOR INSTANCE:

SENATOR: "I'm glad you asked me that. Yes, I think my bill not only will pass, but by a comfortable margin. I've conducted a poll and find that it is going to get support on both sides of the aisle. At first it appeared I might have to accept some weakening amendments as a concession for support in certain quarters. I predict it will go through intact."

(THIS WOULD come out as: "I wish you hadn't brought that up. Not only will that bill fail to pass; it'll get clobbered. I thought I had enough of something-for-everyone in that to get it on the floor and at least make a decent show, but those bums from upstate doublecrossed me. Tell you something, I don't think I'd vote for it if I hadn't got stuck with the job of running with it.")

OR THIS little gem:

ASSEMBLYMAN MCGURK: "Well sir, if you want me to predict how this election is coming out, I'll write it down on a little piece of paper here, and I'll tell you what I write. Not only will I be re-elected, but by a bigger margin than four years ago. I know it was pretty close in some parts of the ward then, but since then I've taken care of those dissidents. They're out working for me now. And there are those I've helped out, and although I don't help people with this in mind, who am I to argue with gratitude? Yep! It's a shoo-in all the way."

(TRANSLATED, THIS means: "You think it was close before; brother I'd be glad if I thought it would be close now. I tried my best to work with those creeps who gave me so much trouble last time, but they think that cooperation means they own you. Talk about the dog that bites the hand that feeds him, why I've got people that I have carried for the last three years who are stabbing me in the back. Sometime I think I ought to be running for the city limits instead for reelection.")

OR THIS bit of intelligence from the sporting front:

MANAGER: "Oh I'm not worried. We've been sitting back in the pack, waiting for the right moment to make our move. We have an excellent spirit on this team, and we've got some old pros who are not only real money players in a clutch but who will give us that steady influence and poise. You're going to see how hard work and confidence pay off."

(WHICH, BEING interpreted, saith: "Don't think I'm ungrateful for our luck so far. Somewhere a good fairy has been holding up these bums and tramps. They've got about as much competitive spirit as a retired turtle dove. Let it get tough out there, and they quit; sometime I think they're frightened of winning. I get sick to my stomach when I yell at 'em. Let's show some hustle out there.' It's almost sacrilege to profane that honorable word by uttering it in their presence. Old pros? Old has-beens, that's what! None of them were ever real players, and now they're lazy and indifferent. They try to act base. Well they don't fool me. I wish I could trade them to the Little League . . . no make that the Pee Wees."

JFK, The Man

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — In the apparently full-fledged movement to debunk President John Kennedy, a contribution by the Boston Globe is a repertorial mouse in lion's clothing.

A Dorothy Parker is needed to deal properly with the Globe's revelation, plucked from documents in the Kennedy Library, that Kennedy and his Harvard roommate — now Cong. Torbert Macdonald, D-Mass. — were caught with women in their rooms without permission. I had believed the late Miss Parker dismissed the sort of Pecksniffery with her line many years ago about the probable fate of the girls at the Yale prom.

"JFK, AS STUDENT, Was Caught With Woman," was the headline in the Washington Post's story of the Globe's expose. One is tempted to ask if the Post would have found it more respectable had young Jack been caught with a man.

It is a healthy thing for the Republic to suffer periodic and documented campaigns to present our departed captains of state as they were rather than as they appeared. Like insurance salesmen and even newspaper editors, Presidents and kings seek to put their best foot forward in life, and speak not of youthful indiscretions, to say nothing of official blunders.

BUT I AM not sure the public finds more than a passing fascination in Joe College stories about their former heroes. The fact Jack Kennedy was caught with a girl in his room may have been naughty, but it also smacks of routineness. Were every grownup today charged with the same offense, there wouldn't be enough scarlet letters to go around.

STILL, I fear we are to be bombarded with stories purporting to reveal details of Jack Kennedy's extracurricular love life. In a way, it is his own dead fault. Kennedy may have been the most attractive male ever to sit in the White House and it is no secret among reporters who covered him that he had an appreciation of pretty girls. It would be preposterous to suggest that he lived as a monk, especially during his lively, playboy bachelorhood.

WELL, WE are a tough breed and I expect we can take all this frivolous trivia. For my part, I find more thought-provoking the opinion offered of President Kennedy by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson in a recent life article. Acheson noted Kennedy's "real charm," but concluded that the martyred President "did not seem to me to be in any sense a great man . . . He was not decisive . . . he did not have incisiveness and he was really out of his depth where he was . . . his reputation is greater because of the tragedy of his death than it would have been if he had lived out two terms."

THIS IS THE stuff of which substantive debate can be made in history's judgment of John F. Kennedy. Personally, I believe he would have gone on to become a great President, because of his capacity to inspire people to do just a touch more than their best. But he had deficiencies, and during the little more than two years he served, his important achievements were few and unspectacular.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I would think that faith would grow stronger with age, but mine seems to be getting weaker. What can I do to strengthen my faith?

L.M.

You have heard of the little boy who fell out of bed, and when his mother asked why, he said: "I guess I went to sleep too close to where I got in." This is what is wrong with too many people, spiritually. We go to sleep too close to where we got in. Our spiritual life is a continuing, maturing process. Our souls need nourishment just like our bodies, and if they are not fed, they become weak and emaciated.

The difference between "saints" and ordinary believers is that the saints work at it. The Bible speaks of our "vocation" in Christ. The word vocation means "work." We are not saved because we work for Christ, but we work for Christ because we are saved. Just as one cannot become an accomplished musician without practice, self-sacrifice, and dedication — one cannot become an effective Christian without effort. The really fine Christians I know are those who take their religion seriously and give it all they've got.

The Bible says, "Faith without works is dead," and I guess that's why yours is dead. Re-establish the habit of Bible reading, prayer, and church going, and see if your soul doesn't begin to prosper. The Bible says, "I would that thou wouldest prosper even as thy soul prospereth."

A Devotion For Today . . .

Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool. (Isaiah 1:18)
PRAYER: Dear God, teach us to fasten our minds on these eternal truths found in Thy Holy Word and shown in the life of Thy Son Jesus. So may we grow in grace and peace, knowledge and wisdom, love and good works. Amen.

Dollar In Trouble

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — In a lengthy report, a joint House-Senate Economic Subcommittee has just proposed that the United States threaten to go off the gold standard unless other nations participating in the international monetary fund adopt exchange rates which would wipe out the balance-of-payments deficits of this country.

The U.S. Treasury, however, does not agree with the report, and there were three dissenting Republicans on the subcommittee.

UNQUESTIONABLY, the dollar has been under heavy pressure in the last few years, but the reasons are not the kind that will be remedied by revaluation. The basic cause of America's economic trouble has been the huge expense of the Vietnam war. It has forced the federal budget steadily upward, and only this year are the first signs visible of a downward turn in defense outlays.

AS U.S. participation in the Vietnam conflict gradually is brought to an end, the question might well be asked how much was contributed by other nations toward accomplishing these international objectives which prevented even bigger wars nearly a decade or more ago. If the United States is to continue to support the cause of peace under the North Atlantic Treaty and the Southeast Asia Treaty, is to keep guard over South America, be ready to intervene in the Middle East and aid in peace-keeping tasks directed by the United Nations in Korea or Africa, other countries will have to participate to a greater degree than they have in the past.

WHAT HAS been overestimated is the willingness of the American people to do the job of world policeman virtually alone. The report from the House-Senate subcommittee specifically urges that the United States undertake to get larger contributions from the North Atlantic Treaty Nations to finance defense programs and lessen the burden on this country. Also, recommendation is made that American military spending in Asia be "severely" reduced and that presumably the signatories to defense treaties abroad should share more of the financial expense annually.

The same report does not ignore wage and price developments inside the United States, which have cut down profits. The subcommittee points out that the full committee has endorsed the need for a permanent board to determine wage and price policies.

BUT WHILE the report says that the balance-of-payments situation demonstrates the need for a wage and price commission of some kind to formulate rules on the subject, the growth of inflation in America is not frankly explored. For although the big spending due to defense needs has been a factor, there is no doubt that the rapid rise of both wages and prices has cut down the purchasing power of the dollar everywhere — in world markets as well as within this country. Thus, revaluation of gold is no cure, because our government has been unable to restrain the increases in wages and prices at home.

UNTIL THE domestic economy undergoes some form of regulation so as to hold the purchasing power of the dollar on a stable basis from year to year, the demand for large wage boosts "to catch up" will be heard from labor unions, and management negotiators will find it hard to avoid such pleas.

The main objective, therefore, is not to revalue the gold in the dollar but to stabilize the dollar's purchasing power and endeavor to limit imports that hurt American production. These steps have been discussed in administration circles, but Congress seems as yet not ready to take firm action.

BECOMING A BIT OF A SQUEEZE

That Worn-Out Feeling

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are a restless and sometimes disgruntled people despite their affluence.

They work long and hard and make good money. But they pay high prices and big taxes. And their ever-bigger dreams, year after year, seem to remain just beyond their reach.

A cursory investigatory of affluence suggests some of the reasons.

First and obvious is the fact that many people are denied a sense of achievement because their desires are never satisfied. A goal achieved merely leads to another.

Despite good incomes and assets, some families find they still have little choice in how they spend their money. Many spend 20 per cent on food, more than 20 per cent on owning and operating their home, 10 per cent on taxes, 10 per cent on transportation, and another 10 per cent on clothing.

That's 70 per cent for fixed expenses. And the rest isn't theirs to spend as they please. They must pay for medical and dental care, education and personal items such as books and cigarettes.

And to make certain they don't lose it all, a natural consequence of acquisition, they must have insurance policies. Moreover, tradition and common sense demand that they have savings.

The tiny percentage that is left theoretically can be used on recreation, vacations and gifts, but many families find these categories are always on the list of dreams that are just beyond their reach.

The strains of maintaining earning power — as well as the strain of holding onto it once they have it — also contributes to the restlessness and the sense of frustration. A growing number of families are achieving their goals only by means of additional incomes.

There are now more than 18 million wives at work, or 40 per cent of the total, and 10 million of them have children under 18. In fact, one-quarter of all wives with children under three are at work.

The primary breadwinner continues to be the man, but studies show his gross income often is boosted by holding an additional part-time job, and that his living standard would drop abruptly should he lose it.

But work also fulfills a need other than financial. Many people cannot help but work.

A study of workers whose schedules were changed from 5 days of 8 hours each to 4 days of 10 hours showed that many of them declined to use the free time to indulge themselves in the leisurely life they claimed to have been seeking. Instead, they hired onto another job to fill the time.

A good many family incomes are also supported by the efforts of teen-agers, and well they should.

Most parents are shocked to learn how much it costs to raise a child to the age of 18. As this decade began the tab ranged from more than $19,000 to about $25,000 in urban areas, with $5,500 to $6,500 of that for food alone.

Affluence, it appears, doesn't always mean the easy life. Instead, it is often achieved only through great effort, not just by one member of the family but sometimes by the entire family. And holding onto it may be just as exhausting.

No wonder so many people have that worn out feeling. They just don't know how well off they are.

Worry Ruckus

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — It's worry-pruning time again.

Around the end of summer, a lot of good selective worriers get careless and start fretting over trifles that really aren't worth a gnat's doubt.

What worries should one discard? Well, that depends on a fellow's personal priorities. But here are a few problems we have decided not to wrinkle our brows about now or perhaps forever:

—How soon will it cost a buck to get your shoes shined?
—Is the moon to become a mere celestial quarry?
—Since the rich do not like each other, who would be left to admire them if there were no poor? Is this a good reason not to abolish poverty?

—Are long pendant earrings causing American women to develop chronic backaches?
—Is more age the only sure cure for our youth problems?
—Has the American taxpayer become the last of the big spenders?
—Since giving U.S. money to other nations has not rid them of their woes, why not try giving them some free U.S. advice?
—Who will be thrown out of the Social Register next — and why?
—Would Norman Mailer's writing be more readable if his publishers left out every other word and two out of three of his opinions?
—Should American women be intellectually liberated and if so, from what?
—If Elizabeth Taylor wears imitation diamonds in public, how much of the rest of her

DEAR ABBY: I am 41 and other, and she says she loves me, but she won't give Roy a divorce. I am going crazy! So what do I do? Stop seeing Minnie? I can't. I love her. Or do I drive my car off a cliff?

DEAR ABBY: I want to know if there is any way I can get a divorce without having to spend a fortune. I could pay a few hundred dollars but no more. I do not qualify for legal aid because my husband makes too much money. Of course what HE makes is not doing me any good because he refuses to give me any money, and I have none of my own. We have three children at home and I am extremely unhappy with my husband and want him out of my life, legally.

DEAR ABBY: We live in a very nice apartment building, and our problem is the couple directly above us. They are "show people" and they don't come alive until 1 a.m. We have to get our sleep between midnight and 7 a.m., and that's the time they do their house cleaning and listen to stereo and TV. And when they have company it's really impossible to sleep!

I have hinted a few times. We don't want to get nasty about it. So how do we get this across to them without making enemies? They are really very nice people otherwise.

Fossil Site

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP) — The Royal Gorge, a narrow 1,200-foot deep-slit carved by the Arkansas River through solid granite just west of this Rocky Mountain town of 9,000, has provided scientists one of the richest accessible fossil areas in the world.

Besides a wealth of crustaceans and marine life, the granite walls have also yielded the remains of gigantic dinosaurs that lumbered through the area millions of years ago when it was just a marsh.

Canker Sores

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: It seems a bit presumptuous for a layman to advise a physician, but if what I have to say helps just one person, it would be worthwhile.

About canker sores: before I learned what caused my own, they would sometimes get up to an inch long, taking up to six weeks to heal.

My doctor advised me to cut down my eating to only staple foods, adding one thing at a time after my mouth was all healed. We finally found that the source of my trouble was walnuts and tea, proving (my doctor said) that I have an allergy to tannic acid.

As long as I leave those two things alone, I am free of cankers.—M.L.

Well, you are saying what I've said before. The important thing is that you took your doctor's advice.

Sensitivity (allergy) to something or other is often the cause of cankers, although that isn't saying it is always the cause.

From long habit, people are more used to saying, "What can I take to get rid of my trouble?" rather than "What must I avoid to get rid of the trouble?"

But, as you've learned, avoiding something may be the real solution.

If the offender is a food (as often it is, with cankers) the trick is to find out which food. An elimination diet is usually the best way to find out. Cut diet down to a few foods that are not commonly known to cause allergies. Then add new foods, one at a time every few days.

Keep in mind that it is possible for trouble to be related, at times, to foods which for most people are not troublesome. Wheat, milk, eggs, or other ordinarily "safe" foods can bother some people.

The method you followed was a good one, and it worked for you. I wish a lot of other canker sufferers would do the same thing, instead of expecting a remedy to be provided for them.

But I also want people to keep in mind that there can be some pitfalls. The cankers may not result from a food but from something else. And if the method you described does not identify a trouble-making food, then suspect that one of the basic staple foods may be at fault.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 33, mother of three, have always enjoy the best health. I've just learned I have fibroid tumors in the uterus. My doctor said nothing need be done unless they give me trouble. I understand if one grows large, it is removed.

Why wait for others to grow? I would prefer my uterus removed once and for all. Am I wrong?—A.F.A.

I'd say you were. Many times fibroids never cause any trouble, and even sometimes shrink after menopause. So why insist on an operation?

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for his booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Eagle Launches First Unit As New Plants Gain Speed

By STEVE HULTMAN
Production has begun at Eagle Homes and the first mobile home should roll off the production line within two weeks, according to Leo Koestler, manager.

"Our first production is of 14x65-ft. front and rear bedroom models in the medium to high price range," said Koestler. "We have about 25 employees on the job and we expect to gradually step this up to full production. We could have as many as 200 in the future."

"Things are going well," he said. "There have been no serious problems. In about six months we should be close to our production goal of seven or eight units per day."

The mobile homes will have heavy-duty, carpeted floors, the shells, roof deck and inside framing will be of the sturdiest construction and the homes will be well insulated and covered with heavy sheet aluminum.

The Big Spring Beam Co., located at 1205 E. Third, has started production and has begun deliveries of the distinctive carved wooden beams they manufacture for mobile homes. Manager and partner in the firm is Glenn Wilkins.

More Youngsters Pass Swim Test

Of the 323 children enrolled in the Big Spring YMCA swim classes, the following have passed the minnow rating:

Shane Marshall, Jayelyn Bartley, Paula Hensley, Kim Richardson, Doby Walker, Laurie Wooten, Christi Martin, Tim Martin, Imela Talbot.

Gena Tonn, Bobby Jones, Randy Jones, Carrie Simpkins, Reagan Brooks, Richard Wylie, Melanie Terrell, Stan Blagrove, Elizabeth Thompson, Steven Thompson, Ronnie Glass, and Lisa Davis.

"We are doing well, with orders delivered to Midland and new ones coming in. We have seven employees now, but we expect to have about 20 within three months. We will finish about 300 per day when we reach full production."

The company will begin delivery to Eagle Homes this week, depending on the production of the plant.

Big Spring Dress Company, another new industry has grown to 40 employees and the new manager has arrived to take charge of the operation.

Jack Peery, a Houston man with more than 25 years of experience in the trade, is manager of the plant and is looking for a home for his family, which is still in Houston.

"We have 40 employees now," he said, "and we expect to have 52 by Tuesday. We still want as many applicants as we can get, and they don't have to have experience. If we think they can do the job, we will train them," said Peery.

The company is expected to grow to 200-250 employees within about two years.

Boy Scout Saves Lives

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) — A Boy Scout who recently completed a first aid course is credited with saving the lives of two 4-year-old boys who locked themselves accidentally in an old refrigerator.

Police officer Ken Metcalf said Monday the quick application of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation by the 12-year-old scout, Gerald Segalas Jr., apparently saved the lives of Troy R. Lind and Barry Green.

When the boys' mothers noticed they were missing Sunday Gerald helped search and found the children unconscious inside the unused refrigerator in the Linds' garage. They were treated at a hospital and released.

Rotarians Hear Exchange Student Tell Of Sweden

The Big Spring Rotary Club received a first-hand report on Sweden Tuesday when Ake Hulenvik, a student at the University of Lund, addressed the noon gathering. Hulenvik is visiting the United States as a Rotary Fellowship student and is the guest of the Lamesa Rotary Club.

Hulenvik described his country as a nation of eight million persons, ruled by a nominal monarchy. His nation maintains a neutral posture, is capitalistic with some socialistic ideals, but is rooted "strongly with the western world."

Education in Sweden is free, as is medical care. Swedish students are required to attend school for nine years.

"Sweden's taxes are among the highest in the world, he said.

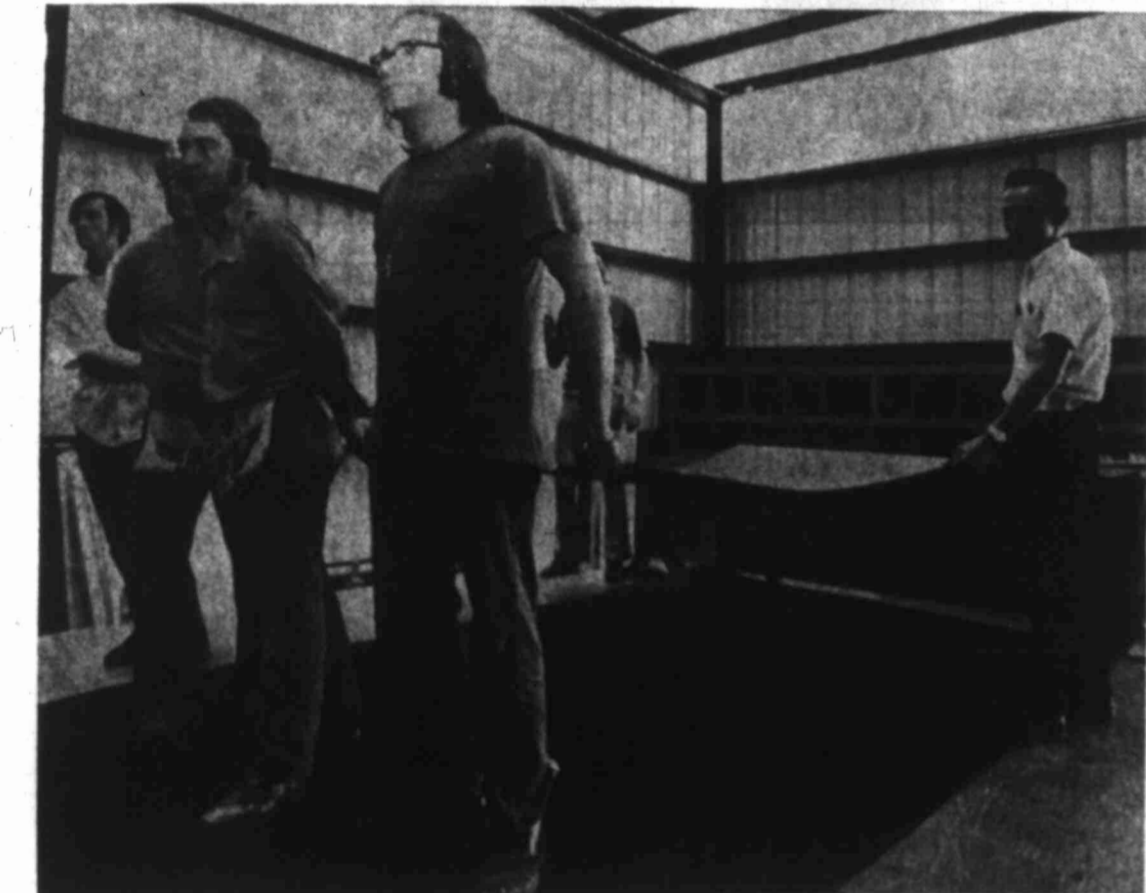

Concerning Swedish social welfare, Hulenvik said the nation's goal is "to care efficiently by means of laws for all the risks confronting the individual whose livelihood depends on his daily work."

For instance: The average family which earns $6,000 annually will pay approximately 30 per cent in taxes. Families which earn as much as $15,000 annually will pay almost half in taxes.

The young Rotary guest was accompanied to Big Spring by Lamesa Rotary President R. B. Snell.

TO HELP IN PROSECUTION OF FRANK SHARP SCANDAL

U. S. Attorney At Houston Imports Justice Heavyweights

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The U. S. attorney here admitted Tuesday that the investigation into the tangled affairs of Frank W. Sharp has been taken over by the Justice Department in Washington, at his request.

U. S. Atty. Anthony J. P. Farris had earlier denied this was the case after the Justice Department attorneys from Washington had come to Houston last week and started handling witnesses before a federal grand jury meeting here.

Farris said that while his office will handle any trial, if indictments are returned by the grand jury, the outside counsel would handle the investigation to counter charges that the probe was a Republican witch hunt against state Democratic officials.

YES OR NO?

Testifying before the grand jury Tuesday were Dr. Elmer Baum, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, and Gus Mutscher, Speaker of the Texas House.

Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth, Speaker Pro Tem of the House, also appeared late Tuesday, but it was not known whether the grand jury quizzed him.

The jury is investigating the collapse of Sharpstown State Bank, owned by Sharp, and the stock trading in National Bankers Life Insurance Co., another Sharp-controlled firm.

The Securities and Exchange

Commission filed a civil suit against Sharp and 27 other defendants last January charging they manipulated the stock of the insurance firm. The SEC suit also contained allegations that Sharp allowed state officials to make large profits on stock transactions financed by Sharpstown State Bank in return for passage of two bills which would have allowed the bank to escape regulation by the FDIC.

WITCH HUNT

Tuesday, Deputy U. S. Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst, in Houston for a speech, confirmed that the investigative responsibility had been passed at Farris' request to three career lawyers from the Justice Department Washington's office.

Farris has been saying that he had asked for help because he had only one lawyer experienced in the trial of banking frauds and none who had tried cases involving political corruption.

U. S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., has made speeches on the House floor charging that the investigation was a political witch hunt.

It was after these charges that Farris, a Republican appointee, said that he requested the department bring in career, non-political appointees to handle the investigation.

"I am a political appointee," Farris said. "There has been speculation as to my political ambition to elective office. I have none."

NO AX TO GRIND

Farris said the three Washington attorneys — "have no political ax to grind."

Baum, Mutscher and Shannon were among the persons the SEC alleged were allowed to make large profits in the sale of National Bankers Life stock. Also named in the depositions filed in the suit were Texas Gov. Preston Smith, State Rep. W.S. Healy and two of Mutscher's aides.

None of the politicians are defendants in the suit.

While the grand jury met Tuesday, attorneys for the SEC continued to take a deposition from Sharp in preparation for their civil suit which is scheduled to go to trial Aug. 30 in Dallas.

They said the deposition-taking might drag on until Thursday.

Lawyers for 15 other defendants in the suit have been sitting in on the questioning of Sharp. After the SEC lawyers get through, they will have a chance to question Sharp.

HE'S GUILTY

Sharp is the only one of the defendants to have faced criminal action. He pleaded guilty in Houston in June to violations of federal banking and securities laws and was given a three-year probation sentence.

At the same time, Sharp was granted immunity from further criminal prosecution in return for his testimony before the federal grand jury.

After Aug. 17, the immunity grant will allow Sharp to be questioned by other bodies and he has a date to talk to a state grand jury in Austin investigating possible bribery charges growing out of the passages of the two bills.

Sharp will also appear before a House General Investigating Committee looking into the bills, the committee chairman, Menton Murray of Harlingen, said Tuesday.

Murray said Sharp wrote him that he would testify before the committee "when he is free from his other obligations."

Stock Certificates Close To Oblivion

WASHINGTON (AP) — That exquisitely engraved and much coveted example of 19th century folk art, the American stock certificate, may soon be nudged toward oblivion, partially as the result of enormous thefts.

In official Washington the nudging is coming from such sources as the Securities and Exchange Commission.

But the real impetus lies in more than 2,700 pages of testimony before the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee outlining organized crime's dominance of a racket estimated by the Justice Department to have involved stock losses totaling $900 million in the last 2½ years.

Subcommittee sources say it is unlikely legislation will be introduced to eliminate the stock certificate entirely, at least not now. Advocates of that step foresee a computerized stock market with selling and buying conducted without the actual certificates in a book-entry system.

Although the subcommittee's conclusions have not been written and the hearings are not over, it is reported senators may ask for commissioning of a government study into the pros and cons of a stock market without certificates.

It is likely, however, the subcommittee will recommend creation of a central clearing house which can collect, computerize and immediately distribute data on stolen and missing securities to the nation's banks and brokerage houses.

The Justice Department has such a reporting service for law-enforcement agencies in its National Crime Information Center. But access to it is barred to financial institutions.

The agency reported late last week that $494 million in securities were reported stolen and lost in the first six months of the year.

In the early stages of the hearings, the New York Police Department and representatives of the New York Stock Exchange and brokerage houses complained that court decisions limited the FBI in passing on fingerprint information on prospective employees.

But subcommittee staff members say the government now is involved directly because of a new commitment to guarantee stockbrokers' accounts much as the government "has insured bank deposits." "The government has a stake and a right to insist on better security," one contact said.

Thus, legislation may be considered opening FBI fingerprint files to employers in financial institutions, a subject likely to attract much debate because of possible privacy violations involved.

IS THERE A THIRD? — Carlotta Bagwell, left, and Linda Lucas, both of Los Angeles, are the sisters of Janet Lynn Bramer who was kidnapped 26 years ago, on Aug. 14, 1945, at the age of eight weeks. Her mother, Charlotte Bramer, believes Janet would closely resemble the sisters. Janet disappeared with a nursemaid and neither has ever been seen since then.

Low Pollution Cars Pass Tests

BOSTON (AP) — "You could get your face right next to the exhaust and not see or smell anything," a government inspector said of low-pollution cars being put into use by the General Services Administration.

"These cars are about 95 per cent emission-free," added Robert W. Kelly, an automotive inspector for the GSA.

Eleven of the vehicles—powered by liquid natural gas—were put into service this week by the GSA and long-range plans call for the agency to convert all of its 49,500 vehicles across the country within the next five years. Eighty-nine more are expected to be ready here within a few months.

The fuel system, however, still is—at best—some distance from the public market.

Under the Clean Air Act of 1970, manufacturers are required to produce a virtually pollution-free auto by 1976. But automakers have said it will be impossible to mass produce a substitute for the internal combustion engine in that time.

"Detroit is watching this experiment closely," said Robert

L. Kunzig, GSA administrator. "Perhaps Detroit will come up with something similar, or better."

The government cars have their liquid natural gas stored—at 250 degrees below zero—in an insulated 20 gallon tank in the trunk. The gas cost the government about 16 cents a gallon, the same price it pays—tax free—for regular gasoline. The gas is purchased from a local company and stored in a fuel truck at the GSA center.

Mileage is about the same as regular gasoline, but there is no lead in the fuel and less wear on the engine.

Cost of the unit and installation, however, is the problem. The price of the tank, tubing and carburetor adapter is about $750. Installation takes two men a day, adding another $100 to $150.

"It's expensive," said James Mullin, a GSA official. "For the ordinary guy to put one of these in his car, he'd have to be pretty civic-minded."

Kelly doesn't contend the liquid natural gas cars are the solution to the auto emission problem.

VEE Campaign Is Expected To End Thursday In Texas

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Part of a federal campaign against Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) will wind up Thursday with the completion of aerial spraying against mosquitoes which carry the disease.

The last spraying in Texas will start from Houston today and the program ends with spraying from planes from Lake Charles, La., Thursday, a spokesman at the federal emergency center set up here to fight VEE said Tuesday.

As of Tuesday, 8,930,541 acres had been sprayed, the spokesman said, and after the windup over 9 million acres of land between Lake Charles and Brownsville, Tex., will have been treated.

Also Tuesday, Dr. H. Q. Sibley, director of the Texas Animal Health Commission, said in Austin that authorities are "real close—maybe as close as two weeks" to having VEE under control.

"I think we'll have all the horses in Texas vaccinated in two weeks," he said.

The federal spokesman here said about 90 per cent of all horses in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and New Mexico have been vaccinated against the South American disease which kills about half the horses infected by it.

Earlier, Dr. R. E. Omohundro, director of the federal effort, said effective control would come with 90 per cent vaccinations.

The vaccinations continue today with most of the efforts concentrated in Arizona, California, Florida and Mississippi. In all, 1,396,948 horses have been vaccinated.

All of the confirmed cases of the disease have been found in 12 South Texas counties. Tuesday, one more confirmed case was found, upping the total to 89, the spokesman said.

Bond Sales Above Quota

District 4 of Area I finished the first half of the year with 54 per cent of its year's quota for United States Savings Bonds sold.

The $170,913 sold in June made $812,252 for the first half, said Larson Lloyd, district chairman.

Dawson County was the percentage pace setter with sales of 84 per cent, and that put only about a dozen counties in the state ahead of it.

The sales in June (with cumulative totals in parentheses) and percentage of the year's target attained, were:

Andrews $3,062 ($29,991) 50;
Dawson $15,067 ($24,157) 84;
Fisher $4,728 ($14,659) 31;
Gaines $2,574 ($18,572) 27;
Howard $5,626 ($32,637) 55;
Martin $1,786 ($22,241) 74;
Mitchell $29,087 ($93,754) 63;
Nolan $22,999 ($106,446) 39;
Scurry $33,104 ($108,765) 73.

Area I sales amounted to $1,023,340, making $6,779,881 for the year or 50 per cent of the goal. In June Texans purchased $15,781,727, making $101,916,420 for the first half, or 56 per cent of the year's quota.

Wonderful Juans Come Through For Teams

By The Associated Press
Juan Marichal and Juan Pizarro... the wonderful Juans. At least they were both wonderful Tuesday night, Marichal pitching a brilliant two-hitter as the San Francisco Giants edged the Montreal Expos 1-0 and Pizarro spacing five hits as the Chicago Cubs defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1.

In other National League games, Los Angeles downed Philadelphia 6-1; Atlanta topped St. Louis 2-1; Houston nipped Cincinnati 3-2, and New York trimmed San Diego 6-4. Marichal, the enigmatic veteran Giants' right-hander, had started the season with the best winning percentage, .671 among active pitchers, with 203 victories and only 98 losses. He also led active pitchers in shutouts with 46 and was third on the all-time earned run average list with a 2.68 mark, behind only Walter Johnson's 2.37 and Grover Cleveland Alexander's 2.56.

Worst season This was despite the worst season of his 11-year San Francisco career, when he won only 12 and lost 10 in 1970 and his ERA soared to 4.11. This season, Marichal appeared to have overcome the illness that plagued him last year, as he got off winging with a 10-4 record through June 23. Then, his pitching took an inexplicable nosedive, and he had lost four in a row before blanking the Expos for his first victory in seven weeks. Although he allowed only Rusty Staub's two-out double in the fourth inning and Bob Bailley's leadoff single in the seventh, he was locked in a scoreless duel with Bill Stoneman, who also had permitted only two hits, through the first eight innings. Then, Stoneman, 12-10, who had been tough in the clutch, stranding nine runners in eight innings, finally cracked in the ninth. Alan Gallagher's one-out single got the Giants started. Then, Marichal doubled down the third base line and Bobby Bonds walked, before Tito Fuentes broke up the scoreless

Self-Dubbed Freaks Are Unique Club

A Slow-Pitch Softball league team which refers to itself as the Freaks is gaining its share of attention these evenings. For one reason, the Freaks (representing Joe Hicks Motor Company) has reeled off nine straight victories in the race. For another, members of the team are patronizing a different barber than most athletes do. Most of the young men wear their hair long. Some have beards and mustaches. None is a member of the "drop out, turned on" generation. Most of the players are going to college, with definite aims for the future. The team is managed by Larry North, a former Big Spring High School track athlete, who doubles as a pitcher. A 1970 graduate of Big Spring High School, Larry is studying Social Science at Howard County JC. He will probably matriculate at North Texas State University, with an eye on a career as a history teacher.

Left fielder Tom Conway Jr., will be a third year student at Notre Dame University this fall, majoring in Psychology. He aspires to teach in college. Others playing with the team include catcher Mike Molten, who will return to HCJC; first baseman Russy Rutledge, bound for North Texas; second baseman Bruce Hutto, destined to transfer from HCJC to the University of Texas; shortstop John Thomas, who will enroll at HCJC; Randy Womack, a third baseman and a two-sport standout in high school who is looking to UT-El Paso for his future schooling. Rutledge is in Pre-Law and Political Science, leaning toward a career in Law. Also center fielder Eddie Cook, the team's top hitter, gravitating toward Texas Tech; right fielder Riley Falkner, who will return to ACC; pitcher Danny Clendennin, who will enroll in Angelo State University; and utility man Richard Ethun, a University of Texas student. The boys usually play in dungarees and shirts that bear Stars and Stripes emblems, which they bought themselves. Some wear more exaggerated hair styles than others. They take considerable kidding about their hirsute appearance from other players in the league, none of it virulent. The mood in Slow-Pitch softball here is invariably relaxed. Why do the boys play as a unit? "Mainly, because there is very little social life here," one youth said, "it gives us something to do in our leisure time." Their abundance of hair is the envy of some of the older players in the league, more than a few of whom comb their locks with a wash rag.

Cuba's Apology Is Awaited By Yanks

CALI, Colombia (AP) — The United States again has grabbed a lordly share of medals in the Sixth Pan-American Games, a tropical mixture of talent and off-the-field tempests which staggers to a virtual close today with a fuse still sizzling on a Cuba-USA incident. The day before the departure to Cuba of the USA's strong volleyball team for regional Olympic trials, U.S. officials still awaited response from Cuba to a formal apology demand for a Cuban attack on an American athlete. The demand was made after unidentified Cubans roughed up James Culhane, 28, New Haven, Conn., a gymnast, during one of several melees resulting from attempts to grab some commemorative flags as souvenirs.

TOOK FLAG Culhane, who took one of the Call games flags from the Pan-Am Village Court of Flags, suffered eye cuts when his glasses were shattered by angry Cubans thinking it was their flag Culhane had taken. It took U.S. State Department permission to permit the USA volleyball team's visit to Cuba Friday which presumably still is on, whether or not an immediate Cuban apology is forthcoming. With a last minute flow of medals by the men's and women's swimmers who finish up tonight, the USA's medal collection since the Call carnival began July 31, is 95 golds, 70 silver and 39 bronze for a total of 204. The USA will finish slightly below its 225 over-all medal harvest at Winnipeg in 1967, but with a notable drop from 120 gold medals captured four years ago. The real surprise has been Cuba, whose Russian technical aid obviously has spread from scientific and industrial fields to the realm of athletics. Entering the closing hours of competition, the well-trained Cubans have captured 25 gold medals, compared with only eight at Winnipeg, and an overall total of 93 medallions that compares with 48 when they finished a poor third behind host Canada (92). The Cubans whipped the USA in two sports as American as hot dogs and apple pie, men's basketball and baseball.

SIGNAL CHANGE Jody Sory Named 'Dog Cage Coach' He will serve as head basketball coach (replacing Jerry Ray) as well as help coach varsity football. Originally, Norman Roberts was to have been head basketball coach but Norman will help Sory with basketball after football season has ended. Head coach Bernie Hagins said that Roberts, a former Little All-American footballer, would coach the offensive ends and tackles and the defensive backs. Sory will tutor the backs and defensive guards. Kendall Cleckler, the third varsity mentor, will coach the offensive guards and linebackers. Hagins said he was expecting a squad of 50 to begin two-a-day workouts Monday. The Bulldogs, who represent a 5-AA school, will likely scrimmage Merkel and Stamford but plans are not yet complete. The Bulldogs launch 1971 play Sept. 10 against a perennial toughie, Sonora.

Truax Frets About Misery DALLAS (AP) — Billy Truax knows no contest when he sees one. Crippled since he arrived in the Dallas Cowboy camp from the Los Angeles Rams, the clutch-catching tight end says, "There really hasn't been much of a battle between Mike Ditka and I... I really haven't done much since the day I was injured." Being a realist is one thing, but cottoning to a bench rider's job is another. Truax is making a slow, calculated comeback from a strained achilles tendon and a pulled calf muscle. "The games don't start counting until September," says Truax who had to sit out Dallas' 45-21 exhibition romp over his former teammates Friday night. "What you don't want to do is try to make your leg do something it's not ready to do." Truax is moving about on the practice field gingerly as all Cowboys prepare for Saturday night's National Football League pre-season contest with the New Orleans Saints.

Bearcats Report Noon Thursday GARDEN CITY — Bob James, new head football coach at Garden City High School, has requested that all prospective male athletes of Garden City High School meet him at 12 noon Thursday at the Glasscock County school. Those who show up will be provided with transportation to and from Big Spring, where physical examinations for all area athletes will be given starting at 1:30 p.m. The exams take place in the Big Spring High School gymnasium.

Price Of Ducats In 3-AAA Is Up If District 3-AAA football buffs wait until they arrive at the stadiums to purchase game tickets this fall, they will pay $2 for entry. Advance ducats will cost $1.50 (adult) and 50 cents (student). The students will be asked to fork over $1 if they purchase their admission into the park at the stadium box office. The new ticket price schedule was set at a meeting held Tuesday in Snyder. Bill Hartsfield of Snyder will double as athletic director for the entire district. It was also decided Snyder will host the 1972 3-AAA track and field meet April 15 while the tennis tournament is slated for Brownfield April 14-15.

The normal caddy fee at Westchester Country Club, N.Y., scene of a recent $250,000 tournament, is $4 per round, plus tips. After Arnold Palmer had come home a winner there recently, he wrote out a $1,500 check for his bag toter. It was the biggest pay day in the fellow's life but he acted as if Arnold had short-changed him. He told intimates he expected at least five per cent of Palmer's take ($2,500) and reasoned the adventure should have won him twice that. Caddies can prove a big help on a golf course but they take no risks, other than sometimes getting a slipped disc when they bend to pick up a towel.

Pat Washburn, who helped work this sports beat a few years ago, is now at the Graduate Business School at the University of Indiana, working toward an MBA degree. He could graduate as early as January, 1973. Now employed 40 hours a week in the school's Sports Information Office, Pat will cut that assignment to 20 hours when the fall term begins. He hopes eventually to go into college athletic administration.

Washburn, who once had a sports picture published in Life magazine, was SID at the University of Louisville but the athletic director found the whole department in a financial bind and Pat's job had to be abolished. The AD should have tried to reduce expenses elsewhere, since the school has been doing so famously in both football and basketball and curious newsmen need a contact at the school in trying to do the athletic program justice.

Pat's 1970-71 UL basketball brochure was named the best in the country by the United States Basketball Writers Association and his football programs were runners-up in the nation in their circulation class for an award given by the CoSIDA. Washburn was on the sports staff of the Atlanta Journal for a time after departing here.

Gene Mayfield, who was honored in absentia at the Balfour dinner in Fort Worth during the Texas High School Coaches Association school (he was appearing at a coaching clinic in New Mexico at the time), likely will give Big Spring's Gary Hinds a chance to play the game at the West Texas State University.

Hinds enrolled at the University of Houston last year. When told he would probably be red-shirted this fall, Hinds decided not to return to the Cougars. Native Big Springer Chop Van Pelt, currently a member of Mayfield's staff, says that Gene wants to recruit heavily in this area, particularly in District 5-AAAA. Players relish the chance to play under him.

Joe Kerbel, who was shattered when he was dismissed as head football coach at West Texas State, told friends 118 season tickets were cancelled in Canyon alone when he was rushed into the street and ten times that number in Amarillo reacted negatively to the news. Mayfield is such an ingratiating person and his teams do so well on the field, the malcontents probably won't be missed. Before dealing unhappy Duane Thomas to New England in that aborted trade, the Dallas Cowboys received overtures on the boy from Kansas City, Los Angeles and Atlanta.

In such matters, a team doesn't do business with a top contender like Kapsas City of Los Angeles, unless it gets something of consequence in return. The David Harums seek out the weak clubs. Frank Pulattie, who coached tennis and was a football assistant here a couple of years ago, recently took a head coaching job at a high school near Sacramento, Calif.

Garner Grabs 10th Victory

VERNON — Bryan Garner of Canyon claimed his tenth victory of the season on the West Texas Junior Golf Tour here Tuesday by beating Wylie McIntire, Pampa, in a playoff for the 12-13 year old crown. Both boys finished regulation play in 88 strokes. Ken Wood, Childress, won the 14-15 bracket in a playoff with Dan Jones, also of Childress. Each finished 18 holes in 79. In the 16-17 year group, Dennis Pender, McLean, was first with a 78 while Steve Arnold, Amarillo, was runnerup with an 80. The tour winds up Thursday in Snyder. The boys are seeking to qualify for the Tournament of Champions, which takes place Aug. 19-20 at the Odessa Country Club.

Fran Tarkenton Arguing For Tax Advantage Loan

By The Associated Press Fran Tarkenton, the star New York Giants' quarterback who left the team over a contract dispute, says all he wants in his contract dispute is what many National Football League teams have given their quarterbacks—a loan. "This loan thing should be obvious to anybody," he said in Atlanta Tuesday. "You take less salary and more loan, and that package could get you the top dollar." The loan would be a tax advantage and would allow more funds for investment. Wellington T. Mara, Giants owner, said Monday after Tarkenton left the team, that the quarterback had sought a six-figure loan and implied it had something to do with his business ventures. "This contract has nothing to do with my business ventures," said Tarkenton, whose many business interests have reportedly made him a millionaire. "When you get in a high tax bracket which I'm in, thankfulness you don't need ordinary income," he said. "I was willing to sacrifice ordinary income for the advantages of the loan." Meanwhile, Giants Coach Alex Webster said he was happy with Tarkenton's replacement Dick Shiner. "I think he can take the Giants to a championship." The Oakland Raiders and New York Jets will be without the services of their top signal callers when they tangle Saturday in one of the weekend's NFL exhibition contests. Jets quarterback Joe Namath, injured last Saturday against the Detroit Lions, will be out of uniform at least until mid-November and Raiders quarterback Daryl Lamonica has been sidelined with a twisted knee.

Harm's Party Spoiled By Slugging Orioles

By The Associated Press
The Baltimore Orioles spoiled Harm Killebrew's little party but the Chicago White Sox couldn't do much to dampen Sam McDowell's celebration.

STARTS SEPT. 4

New Champ Sure In City Meet

A new champion will be crowned in the City Golf Tournament, which will be staged at the Municipal course here Sept. 4-5-6 under the auspices of the Big Spring Golf Association.

Jerry Clements, who won the crown a year ago, has since moved from the city.

Rules of eligibility dictate that a player must be a resident of Howard County.

The winner will be determined in three days of medal play. Entries will qualify the first day, with first rounds counting toward their aggregate scores.

Entry fee will be $10 per player and 90 per cent of the fees will be returned in prizes.

Entries can be called into Charles R. Brantley, the Muni pro, by dialing 267-5071.

No student with high school eligibility remaining will be permitted to play, according to Royce Cox, president of the USA.

Entry deadline this year is 6 p.m., Sept. 2. Pairings will be released in the Daily Herald the following day.

A banner field is expected. The BSGA now has a membership approximating 110 persons and most of those are likely to compete.

Among early favorites are Jerry Barron, Marvin Williams, Charles Bailey, Bernard Rains and Bob Waters.

Killebrew snapped a long dry spell with his 500th career home run and then added another for good measure Tuesday night, but it wasn't enough for Minnesota and the Orioles overtook the Twins 4-3 in 10 innings.

McDowell, absent in a contract dispute since July 31, returned to Cleveland and combined with two relievers for a six-hitter, beating the White Sox 4-1.

In other American League action Tuesday, Detroit walloped Milwaukee 12-3, California swept a doubleheader from Washington 8-2 and 3-1, and Oakland took a pair from Boston 6-5 and 7-5.

CUELLAR VICTIM

Killebrew became the 10th man in major league history to reach 500 career homers when he unloaded on Baltimore left-hander Mike Cuellar in the first inning.

He had hit No. 498 on June 22 and No. 499 on July 25. When he got to the Twins' dugout after circling the bases to a tremendous ovation from the Minnesota fans, Manager Bill Rigney kidded him, saying, "Don't let it be so long between 500 and 501."

Killebrew didn't. He unloaded on Cuellar again in the sixth inning, tying the score at 3-3. It stayed that way until the 10th when Merv Rettenmund broke the tie with a Baltimore homer—the 33rd of his career—giving the Birds and Cuellar, the victory.

Forsch Hobbles Reds Again

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds can't seem to solve the riddle of Ken Forsch who ironically claims he is "afraid" of the 1970 National League champions.

The Houston rookie stymied Cincinnati on four hits—only one the last 8 1-3 innings—as the Astros squeezed past the Reds 3-2 Tuesday night and scored their fifth consecutive victory over them.

"I'm afraid to pitch against the Reds because they've got too many hard swingers," Forsch said. "So many can hit the ball out. I have to challenge them with my fast ball."

The Reds got to Forsch for both their runs in the first inning. Pete Rose doubled and then Tony Perez doubled him home. Perez crossed the plate when John Bench singled. After that, Forsch allowed only a fifth-inning single to Dave Concepcion and a pair of walks to Perez. He retired the last 10 men he faced.

"It was just a frustrating inning," Forsch said about the first inning.

"They hit the ball pretty hard all night, but many were just right at the fielders. It shows there is a lot of luck in this game."

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson said "Forsch looks like a real outstanding pitcher."

Astros Manager Harry Walker said, "The kid seems to have gotten back his good stuff. He had a real fine start—5-1—then he seemed to lose his rhythm. But the last two or three times out he has been very tough to beat."

Walker pointed out that Forsch made an important contribution from the plate also.

After Jack Hiatt walked in the seventh, Forsch laid down a perfect bunt to sacrifice Hiatt to second and set the stage for a bloop single by Jesus Alou that scored the tie-breaking run.

Three Feted At Reception

About 125 people attended a farewell reception honoring three local employees of the A&M University Extension Service Sunday at the First Federal Community Room. Those honored were Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Paul Gross and Jim Allison.

The affair was hosted by the 4-H Adult Leaders Association and Howard County 4-H Clubs. The honorees were each presented a gold plaque expressing appreciation for their years of service to Howard County. The Lomax 4-H Club had prepared a money tree for each of the three, and these were presented by J. E. Peugh, chairman of the adult group.

Mrs. Crawford served as Howard County home demonstration agent for several years and has been named District 2 agent assigned to the South Plains extension research center in Lubbock.

Gross, who has been Howard County agent, has accepted that position for Lubbock County, and Allison, assistant county agent, plans to return to school at Texas Tech and will also work with the agricultural department in Lubbock.

The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth accented with streamers in the 4-H colors of green and gold. An arrangement of chrysanthemums and gladioli centered the table, and crystal appointments were used. Serving was by 4-H girls.

Public Invited To Capping Service

The public is invited to attend capping ceremonies for 18 student nurses at Howard County Junior College auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday. Dr. J. E. Hogan will be guest speaker for the occasion, and the capping will be conducted by Mrs. George Amos and Mrs. Gerald Harris, both registered nurses.

Dr. Marshall Box, head of the technical vocational division at the college, will introduce the speakers. Benediction and invocation will be by the Rev. Roy Honea of Grace Baptist Church. Each of the student nurses will receive a Bible from Mrs. Roy Hester Jr., Bible secretary of Gideons' Auxiliary.

Miss Hicks Honored At Gift Party

The honoree was attired in a white pantsuit and presented with a corsage of white carnations with blue and white ribbons. Also receiving corsages were her mother, Mrs. Charles Hicks, and the prospective bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Joe Austin.

The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth and highlighted with an arrangement of blue and white flowers. Miss Watson and Miss Herndon served. Mrs. Fielder presided at the registry table which had a blue and white cloth with white flowers.

The couple plans an Aug. 27 marriage at the Baptist Temple.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

It only took a few days for us to get accustomed enough to rainy weather to be able to predict what time of the day we might expect showers.

From Saturday through Tuesday, at least, the rains came when the lawns, fore and aft, were badly in need of mowing; when an out-of-doors project which seemed so necessary had to be put off . . . again and wash day when we like to get the sheets on the line in the sunshine. However, they have gotten so much fresher air and sunshine for the past few months a few dryer dryings surely won't dim them now.

If PAT ADAMS had come a little sooner from her home in Charleston, S.C., to Texas to visit she might have found out if the dry weather would aid her asthmatic condition . . . but she came for the weekend past and all she found was rain. But it wasn't just in Texas. Her parents, S.M.SGT. and MRS. BENNIE ADAMS who were once stationed here at Webb, said in a telephone call that they had been in rain all the way back to Charleston . . . in fact they had been in rain the whole two weeks of their vacation.

Pat, who lived here with the J. C. PICKLES the year after her parents went back to Charleston, was here over the weekend with her good friend, SYLVIA TURNER, an NTSU student of Dallas, who lived here with her brother, DON TURNER, and attended HCJC at the same time Pat did.

MR. and MRS. LEE O. WOODS and their daughters, Holly and Linda, of Morrison, Ill., are visiting his father, SYDNEY WOODS, and Mrs. Woods and will be here until Friday. They are en route to Houston where they will take Linda to enter Rice University.

The ROBERT STRIPLINGS and the CLYDE ANGELS returned Monday from an exciting boat trip through the inland passage to Alaska. The trip was made aboard the SS Mariposa, and they first went to Vancouver then to Juneau. One of the most delightful sights and a high point in their travels was the half day stop in Glacier Bay where they could see the ice floes and tips of ice bergs. For thrills, the travelers suggested the narrow gauge rail trip to Skagway which took them 3,000 feet up. It didn't help much to know that their train was carrying 13 cars. The trip took them as far up as Sitka and they then returned to British Columbia and then to San Francisco. In Los Angeles, they took time to go to Disneyland and the other tourists trips that California visitors enjoy.

Friends of 68 years standing continued their visiting the past week when MRS. G. A. BROWN was the guest of her longtime friend, MRS. BERTHA HICKOX in Concord, Calif. While Mrs. Brown was in Concord, her daughter, MISS NELL BROWN was in Fairfax with her best friend, MRS. LUCILE BRADY. Later the Browns visited the former Sharon Brown, MRS. JIM WORTHMAN, and her husband in Boulder Creek and were guests of the Norman Worthmans for a trip through the Muir Woods National Park. The two were in California for four weeks.

Luggage Rack Aids Travelers

A folding luggage rack takes a minimum of storage space and is invaluable for someone who packs and unpacks frequently, and for guests. A valet rack is a big help to the man of the house.

Bridal Shower Held For Gay Nell Taylor

Miss Gay Nell Taylor, bride-elect of Randy Morgan, was the honoree at a gift shower Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. R. E. Hoover, 1213 E. 16th.

Cohostesses for the affair were Mrs. Luther Bean, Mrs. Bob Clark, Mrs. H. O. Hudgins, Mrs. Joe B. Johnson, Mrs. A. A. Marchant, Mrs. Frank Rice, Mrs. C. A. Ross, Mrs. Bob Simpson, Mrs. Herman Smith and Mrs. Don Williams.

Miss Jan Hoover and Miss Gina Simpson registered guests at a table accented with a yellow plume pen and a milk glass bud vase containing a yellow spider mum and fern. Each guest signed a souvenir apron with an embroidery pen.

Miss Taylor, attired in an off-white knit A-line dress with gold trim, was presented a corsage of yellow spider mums, asters and lily of the valley. Similar corsages were presented to her mother, Mrs. Edison Taylor, and her fiance's mother, Mrs. Noel Morgan.

For the refreshment table, milk glass and silver appointments were used on a white organdy cloth, with linen appliqued roses, over yellow linen. The centerpiece was a branched silver candelabrum entwined with yellow spider mums and asters.

The couple will be married Saturday in the First Christian Church.

Mrs. Don Box, president, presided, and appointed new committee members and chairmen. The next meeting is at 4 p.m., Sept. 28, in the home of Mrs. W. A. Hunt, 626 Tulane.

Circle Program Lauds 'Praise'

"If we praise God we love humanity," said Mrs. Dub Bryant in her Bible study program on praise for the Lalla Baird Circle, Wesley United Methodist Church, Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ray Anderson, Old San Angelo highway. Mrs. M. O. Hamby presided and gave the opening prayer. The devotion was by Mrs. J. E. Peters. The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., Tuesday in the home of Mrs. R. L. Pitts, 1303 Lincoln.
