

'AMERICA IS AT HER GREATEST WHEN SHE IS CALLED ON TO COMPETE'

Wage-Price Freeze Stirs Furor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, declaring that "America is at her greatest when she is called on to compete," has imposed a largely voluntary 90-day wage-price freeze and invited world reshuffling of exchange rates — changes that would amount to devaluation of the dollar.

In a hastily arranged television and radio address to the nation Sunday night, Nixon pictured his far-ranging program — much of which he put into effect immediately — as a bid to cut unemployment, stem inflation, protect the dollar and make American goods more competitive with foreign products.

The President's historic announcement that the United States is abandoning its longstanding policy of selling gold to foreign governments at $35 an ounce, and the wage-price move, were among the measures that took immediate effect.

So too was a "temporary" average surcharge of 10 per cent on many imported products, which should result in corresponding hikes in the amount Americans pay for Volkswagen and Toyota autos, Grundig and Sony electronic equipment and a host of other items. Exempt would be such quota-subject imports as petroleum, coffee, ores, cotton textiles, sugar and fish.

NEW TAX BREAK

Nixon also proposed new tax breaks for consumers and businessmen, including repeal of the 7-per-cent federal excise that adds an average $200 to the cost of a new car. But Congress must act on these recommendations.

He asked Congress to postpone implementation of his high-priority revenue-sharing and welfare-reform proposals for three months and one year respectively. Congress has shown a reluctance to approve either measure.

On his own, Nixon promised to cut federal employment by 5 per cent, impose a six-month freeze on federal pay hikes scheduled for Jan. 1, and take other steps designed to reduce spending by $4.7 billion.

The surprise moves, which Nixon claimed were the most comprehensive in four decades in the economic sphere, were viewed as the President's reply to Democratic critics who contend the state of the economy — not Vietnam — will be the major political issue in the 1972 election.

OUT OF TOWN

It was noted, too, that Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, who collaborated closely with Nixon in drafting the package, was trotted out to brief newsmen on the development. This could only have the effect of adding speculation that Texas Democrat Connally may supplant Spiro T. Agnew as the 1972 GOP vice presidential candidate.

Congress was out of town for a month-long recess when the President made his announcement and reaction from lawmakers was slow in coming. Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee ranks as most influential tax man in Congress, called Nixon's new economic plan excellent and predicted favorable committee action on the President's call for reinstating the investment tax credit to spur business spending.

Money Woes Session Today

Where to get more money will likely be the main topic of discussion in an emergency meeting of the city commission today at 4 p.m. at city hall.

Roy Anderson, acting city manager, requested the meeting so that commissioners might look at the city's financial situation.

Computer tabulations on the city's financial picture through July indicate that the city is in worse financial shape than expected, according to sources at city hall.

A report from Maxwell Green, auditor for the city, is also expected in the emergency meeting.

Green and George Thorburn were directed by the commission in regular session last Tuesday to begin the audit of the city books for the current fiscal year this week.

Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, the only announced Democratic candidate for president, called the new program "economic madness."

The President has shown a total lack of confidence in the American economy.

The Nixon maneuver to invite alteration of the $35-an-ounce gold-dollar ratio by international monetary operators clearly was the most startling of his multiple actions.

Since Franklin D. Roosevelt, all American presidents, including Nixon, had been firm in avowing that the United States would honor the $35 price. Nixon on changed the picture without an advance leak on a summer weekend when financial markets here and abroad were closed.

MAHON GUEST SPEAKER AT LAMESA FETE

LAMESA (SC) — U. S. Representative George Mahon of Lubbock has accepted an invitation extended by the Lamesa Kiwanis Club to be the principal speaker here Aug. 24 for the club's annual Teacher Welcome Luncheon at the Forrest Park Community Center.

The event, hosted for the past 10 years by the local organization, honors new teachers and administrators in the Lamesa school system and expresses the community's welcome to newcomers to the school system.

Mahon has been a member of the U. S. House of Representatives since his election to the 74th Congress in 1934. He represents the 19th District consisting of counties in the Panhandle-South Plains area.

A member of the House Appropriations Committee since 1939, Mahon was elected chairman in 1964. He became chairman of the sub-committee in 1949 when all defense appropriations were consolidated into one Defense Appropriations Bill. He is also chairman of the Joint Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures and in 1968 served on the President's Commission on Budget Concepts.

As a member of Congress, Mahon has been active in defense and agriculture matters. The 19th District, which he serves, is a heavy producer of agricultural crops, leading the nation in cotton producing.

Rearred on a cotton farm, he attended rural school and in 1924 received a B. A. degree from what is now Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene. He began law practice in 1925 after receiving his law degree from the University of Texas Law School. His career in public life began in 1926 when he was elected county attorney of Mitchell County. Mahon and his wife have one daughter and three grandchildren.

Kiwanis Club members, their wives, special guests and about 40 new members of the Lamesa Independent School District, are expected to attend the luncheon.

Diana Ross Proud Mother

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Diana Ross, the former lead singer for "The Supremes," is the mother of a 4-pound, 14-pounce baby girl named Rhonda Susanne.

The baby, born Saturday at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, is the first for Miss Ross, 26, and her husband, Robert Silberschein, 25, a Beverly Hills, Calif., public relations executive.

Order By Gov. Wallace 'Meaningless Legally'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge said today that an executive order by Gov. George C. Wallace to the Jefferson County School Board was meaningless legally.

U.S. Dist. Judge Sam C. Pointer Jr. denied a motion to include the governor as a defendant in a desegregation suit involving the county school system.

Pointer said it is up to the school board and not Wallace to follow court orders, and therefore the governor's order meant nothing.

Wallace had told the board to transfer a white girl from one school to another.

The judge said the school board would not be free to disobey an order from the court no matter what the governor's order.

Emergency Preparedness, and violators—if prosecuted and convicted in civil courts—would face a maximum penalty of a $5,000 fine.

The Nixon "freeze," authorized under the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970, could be extended beyond 90 days or, said the administration, there could be a transitional return to "free markets without inflation."

In any case, interest rates, dividends on common stock and the prices of agricultural commodities are exempt from the restraints.

However, Connally today was expected to call upon lenders to voluntarily put a lid on current interest rates. And Nixon asked for a similar temporary ceiling on dividend payments.

On the tax front, besides calling for repeal of the auto excise retroactive to Sunday, Nixon:

—Proposed that businessmen be allowed rapid first-year tax writeoffs to cover 10 per cent of the cost of investments in new plants and equipment, which he said would create jobs and make domestic industry more competitive internationally.

The writeoffs would be in addition to normal depreciation deductions. This plan would be in effect for just one year, retroactive to Sunday, and after that would be replaced by a permanent 5-per-cent quick-write-off proviso.

—Asked Congress to advance by one year, to next Jan. 1, the effective date of an already-approved measure to permit a $50 hike in personal exemptions for individual income taxpayers and their dependents.

Nixon saved his most emotional language, however, for his announcement that the dollar henceforth would find its own level in relation to foreign currencies in international money markets.

Connally Speaks Out On Dollar Bombshell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally said today he does not consider President Nixon's suspension of the dollar's convertibility a devaluation of the dollar.

"In my judgment the dollar is going to rise vis-a-vis some currencies in the world and will decline vis-a-vis other currencies in the world," Connally told a news conference on Nixon's emergency economic program announced Sunday night.

Predicting that the decision to let the dollar "float" in value in world money markets pending a reshuffling of currency values represents more realistic exchange rates, Connally said that "most countries understand this—they understand the position we're in."

REMOVE BARRIERS

As to how far the dollar might be devalued in relation to strong currencies like the Japanese yen and the German mark, Connally said he could not answer that "and I wouldn't characterize the President's action as a devaluation."

Connally said an inevitable result of the administration's actions will be negotiations with other nations to remove their stiff barriers to American goods.

He said the administration's intent here is not to impose tariff barriers. Rather, he said, "we are saying to all nations of the world we believe in fair trade; we expect to be treated as we have been treating you."

Connally said talks will begin this afternoon with British officials in London and further talks are possible later in Holland and France.

NOT 'PRACTICAL' To call the action a devaluation "is a premature judgment," the secretary said. The country cannot continue to carry its present defense and foreign aid burdens abroad "unless we begin to show a favorable balance of trade," he said.

Connally said a freeze on profits was not imposed along with a wage-price freeze because the administration did not consider it "practical."

"The profits of American business have not been that big," he said. In fact, he added, "they have declined to unacceptable levels."

IN 40 YEARS

Connally told a jammed news conference at the Treasury that the presidential package represents "the most sweeping, significant and courageous proposals made in this country in the past 40 years."

Connally denied that the presidential decisions—which include virtually all the measures critics of his economic policies have urged him to adopt—represent an admission on the failure of Nixon's own policies.

The program, he said, is a new policy, hand-tailored to combat unacceptable trends which have developed in the economy and in the conditions of world trade and finance.

But progress is being made, he insisted. Unemployment has declined and the rate of inflation has slowed, Connally said.

'FAR TOO HIGH'

But the deficit in the balance of payments last year was $10.7 billion—"far too high," he said. Connally conceded that the 90-day wage-price freeze is voluntary. But the government has sanctions to back it up, he said. When asked what would prevent war-style black markets from developing, he replied:

"We don't assume it is going to be the motive of the American businessman to begin gouging."

Referring to the $5,000 find which is possible if the government takes court action against violators, Connally said it was "inconceivable to me that an American businessman would attempt to violate the wage-price freeze." One who did, he said, would risk incurring public disfavor.

The secretary fielded several questions on specific wage and price problems raised by the freeze. Retail food prices are frozen, he said, even though raw agricultural commodities are not.

RINGS A BELL

But when a reporter noted that the Bell Telephone Co. contract was ratified at 1 p.m. last Saturday, to take effect retroactively two weeks earlier, Connally said he didn't want to "get into specifics." Probably, he said, the pay increase would go into effect.

He again avoided specific answers when a newsman noted that one American car maker, American Motors, had not yet announced increases on its 1972 models, where as the others have posted increases.

Connally replied to the criticism, made by several members of Congress, that the President would cancel out his job-creating measures by cutting the federal spending by $4.7 billion and reducing the federal payroll by 5 per cent. The secretary said the reduction in government employment would not be accomplished by firings but by attrition—that is, by not filling vacancies that occur.

At the request of the President, the secretary said, he was announcing that Nixon would hold a meeting Tuesday morning at 10 a.m. with the bipartisan leadership of Congress and with chairmen of key congressional committees involved in the proposals Nixon outlined Sunday night.

SPIRIT OF '76

All salary increases without exception come under the freeze, including merit, seniority and contract increases, the secretary said in response to a question.

"We would hope the American people would understand that the success of this wage-price freeze depends on their individual compliance," Connally said.

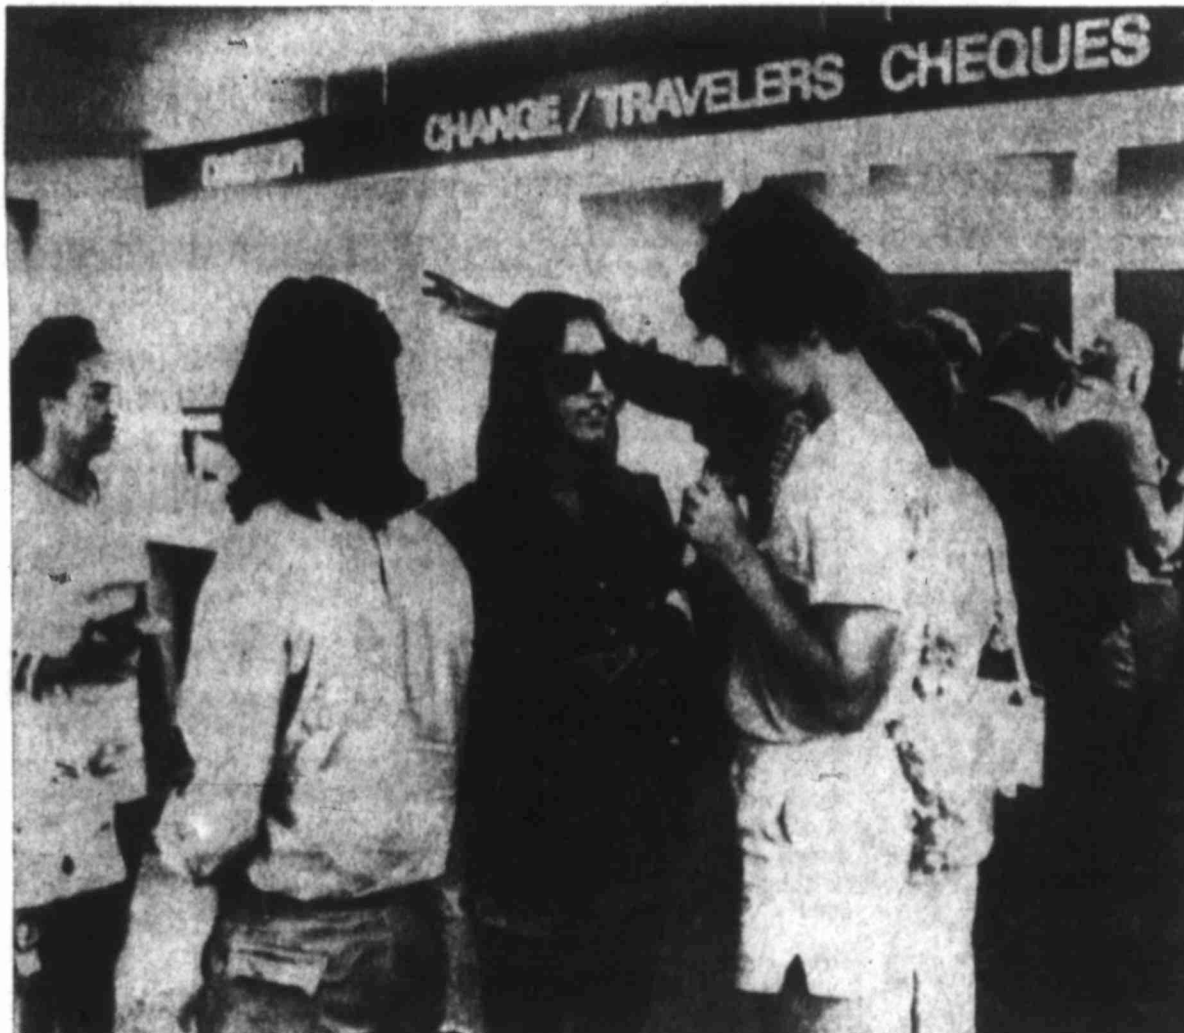

"I would call on all Americans, business, labor, large and small, to comply with the spirit and the letter of this freeze."

UNCERTAINTY AMONG TOURISTS — American tourists gather today at a Swiss bank in Zurich as they considered what may happen to the value of the dollar abroad in wake of President Nixon's economic speech Sunday night. The President announced that the United States would cease to convert foreign-held dollars into gold, thus altering the world monetary system and affecting the value of the dollar abroad.

Beth Causes Millions Of Dollars In Damage

HALIFAX N.S. (AP) — Floodwaters dropped by Hurricane Beth washed out highways, flooded hundreds of homes and business establishments and inundated farmland today in southern and eastern Nova Scotia. The province counted millions of dollars in damage.

Halifax International Airport, 23 miles north of the city, measured 10.49 inches of rainfall in a 30-hour period. There was no report of any casualties in the province.

Mayor Roland Thornhill of neighboring Dartmouth described flooding in his city of 60,000 as a disaster. He expressed fear that a dam in the city would break under the pressure of rising water.

The flooding in wide sections of eastern Nova Scotia resulted from heavy rainfall associated with Hurricane Beth, a tropical storm with winds up to 80 miles an hour that moved northeast along the province's east coast.

Main highways in several sections of the province were cut. Road travel from Halifax to northern and eastern Nova Scotia was stopped. Traffic was diverted from Route 102—between Halifax and Truro—the province's most heavily traveled highway. An alternate route was open for a brief period, but was closed again when waters rose over it at a point about 30 miles north of Halifax. Nearly nine inches of rain fell in a 24-hour period in the Halifax area, but the hurricane center stayed far enough offshore to spare land areas its damaging winds.

Princess Anne's Swinging Party

THURSON, Scotland (AP) — Princess Anne, the only daughter of Queen Elizabeth II and the fourth in line of succession to the throne, is 21.

The blonde princess celebrated her birthday Sunday at a quiet party with the royal family. More than 100 members of British royalty attended a swinging discotheque party her mother gave for her two weeks ago on the royal yacht Britannia.

As Anne stepped ashore from the Britannia Sunday into this remote highlands port, she was greeted with a chorus of "Happy Birthday" from a crowd of highlanders.

WILL ALLOW PRESIDENT TO RUN IN 1972 ELECTION ON RECORD

Nixon's Economic Blockbusters Buy Political Time

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's economic blockbuster buys political time and will enable him to run in 1972 on a record of having moved firmly to the defense of the nation's economy.

If the President's eight-point plan works, the results should certainly be known before the November, 1972, balloting. The economy issue could be defused entirely.

"If it doesn't work — well, the old policy wasn't working, either, and the new plan at least tries out some of the steps Nixon critics have been advocating."

Further, the actions announced Sunday start a new time cycle during which the administration can say, "Let's see what happens" without it sounding as repetitive as the optimistic forecasts the White House has turned out for months.

NO SECRET

Democrats have made no secret of their attempts to force the economic issue to the forefront for 1972. Even so loyal a Nixon troop as Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Saturday that if Nixon is to win re-election, "He'll have to win the fight against inflation."

Demands for wage-price controls have grown, first from Democrats, then from Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns and most recently from some Senate Republicans.

Against this background, Congress scheduled hearings for October on the question of a wage-price board and Nixon agreed the administration would participate.

Now, by freezing wages, prices and rents for 90 days, he has pre-empted those hearings, which likely would have produced new cries that the administration was not doing enough to stop inflation.

Even the early reaction to Nixon's economic speech showed a new divergence in the Nixon opposition.

FREQUENT CRITIC

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Joint Economic Committee and frequent critic of Nixon economic policies, said he supports the program, although he said elements are overdue and may not go far enough.

But Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., the only announced seeker of the Democratic presdential nomination, called the program "economic madness" and said Nixon "has no faith in our workers, in our business and in the free enterprise system."

As with his China initiatives, Nixon has embarked on a course of action which, if it works, should be worth plenty of votes.

However, even total success won't make every voter happy. Persons who travel abroad, for example, aren't likely to applaud having to pay more for accommodations and services overseas. Federal workers who don't get pay raises—or even lose their jobs—won't be happy, either.

$200 CAR SAVING
But buyers of new domestic cars, if they save $200 as the President wants, and veterans who trace new jobs to new tax incentives, should like what they're getting.

If the wage, rent and price freeze lasts only 90 days, many voters may have forgotten about it by election day in 1972. But a long-term freeze could cost the President votes, since workers' psychology is that the pay raise they should get would only catch them up to the inflation someone else caused, not bring about inflation for anyone else.

RUNNING MATE

From another political viewpoint, the economic policy changes thrust Treasury Secretary John B. Connally even more into speculation about Nixon's 1972 running mate.

Connally had been named earlier as Nixon's chief economic spokesman. The role now assumes more prestige since Connally can talk about action taken instead of action delayed, as he had to do in June when the administration decided to wait longer before implementing any new economic strategy.

Connally is known to have worked especially close with the President in devising the new steps. If they work, Connally's position seemingly improves even more, and as a running mate, he could effectively trumpet the success.

If the new policies fail, it may matter little from a standpoint of his re-election chances who Nixon has for a running mate.

Could Curb Inflation, But Can It Make Jobs?

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's triple-twist in economic policy wins applause for boldness but raises some doubts as to workability.

It should protect the dollar and it could help curb inflation—but can it simultaneously create jobs for the unemployed?

Industry executives and economists agree in general that the nation will benefit—through lower export prices and therefore improved competitiveness in world trade—from the President's decision to stop paying out gold for all the dollars that might be presented to the Treasury by foreign governments.

LINK WITH GOLD

Suspension of full convertibility break—temporarily, says the President—the dollar's time-honored link with gold, the U.S. guarantee to convert dollars into gold at $35 an ounce.

The dollar therefore will have no fixed value in the world's money markets. It will float—presumably downward, in transactions with strong foreign currencies like the Japanese yen and German mark—to new and more realistic rates of exchange.

It would in effect be devalued. Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally avoids the word, but most bankers and industrialists are ready to welcome it.

Americans buying American goods would see no effect. But foreigners buying goods priced in U.S. dollars would find them cheaper because the dollar would be worth less in their money.

CHEAP PROFITS

So American goods would be more competitively priced and U.S. exports in due course would expand. At the same time imports would go up in cost; their volume might be reduced.

That would help narrow the U.S. payments deficit. Giving the dollar a more defensible and realistic value would reduce its vulnerability to attack by speculators who increasingly, in recent years, have tried to score big, cheap profits by offering dollars for German marks or Japanese yen in hope of a dollar devaluation—or an upward revaluation of the other currencies.

Nixon added a potent persuader to induce Japan and other strong-currency countries to move toward more realistic exchange rates. He ordered a temporary 10-per-cent tax surcharge on imports.

NO KIDDING

On the home front, Nixon's 90-day freeze of prices, wages and rents may prove more dramatic than effective. But the action says, something his administration has never said clearly before: This time we mean business.

During the next three months Nixon's new cabinet-level Cost of Living Council will work with leaders of industry and labor "to set up the proper mechanism for achieving price and wage stability after the 90-day freeze is over," Nixon said.

The result might be a national wage-price review board—or as some think more likely—an adaptation of the stabilization machinery imposed on the construction industry last spring.

"Working together, we will break the back of inflation, and we will do it without the mandatory wage and price controls that crush economic and personal freedom," Nixon said.

He was saying in effect that if workable voluntary measures are not adopted in 90 days, there can always be the dread alternative—mandatory ceilings, enforced by the kind of "huge price-control bureaucracy" Nixon has repeatedly deplored.

TAX CREDIT

The impact of Nixon's policy reversal—from nonintervention to a freeze which Congress had authorized but never expected him to use—could in itself have a powerful deterring effect on price decisions and wage settlements.

The weak point in the President's "New Economic Policy," if there is one, seems to be in its job-creating proposals. This is largely because they depend on Congress for implementation.

And Congress may look with disfavor on Nixon's proposed 10-per-cent tax credit. Calling it a "job development credit," Nixon urged that Congress provide it as an incentive to businesses to invest in new job-creating machinery and equipment.

TOO FAR?

Only two years ago Congress killed just such a credit, the less potent 7-per-cent investment credit, because it considered the tax benefit an engine of inflation. Many Congress members have charged that Nixon went too far in the same direction when he granted a business a 20-per-cent speed-up in depreciation deductions earlier this year.

Nixon specified that the new tax credit should drop to 5 per cent one year hence. But this is unlikely to allay strong feeling in Congress—especially on the Democratic side—that more kick in the economic tonic should be fed to consumers and less to business.

The Nixon program seeks to advance by one year a 50 increase in the personal income tax exemption. The change, due on Jan. 1, 1973, would take place instead on Jan. 1, 1972. But unlike the new investment credit for wage earners would have no immediate stimulative effect.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

AKJ10874 ♠ 5 ♣ AK1042

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

2 ♣ Pass 2 NT Pass

3 ♣ Pass 4 ♣ Pass

4 ♣ Pass 4 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. You have told your story and to proceed further would be somewhat indirect. Partner's values, such as they are, do not fit your hand. His spade preference is in the nature of a forced bid, and he can be assumed to have at best a worthless doubling.

Q. 2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

AK4AJ86 ♠ K3 ♣ AKJ92

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♣ Pass 1 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two clubs. This is admittedly an underbid but no other call is desirable. You are not strong enough either for the reverse bid of two hearts or a jump to three clubs. An immediate jump in spades is not to be given the chance to proceed without undue pressure.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable. As South you hold:

AK2AJ10532 ♠ AQ974 ♠ 8

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South

1 ♥ 2 ♣ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—You should first bid two diamonds and no matter what partner responds, you should then employ the Blackwood convention, and partner's response to that will allow you to determine how far you will eventually go in the heart suit. If partner should raise to three diamonds and then subsequently show two aces in answer to your Blackwood bid, you will be in a position reasonably to bid a grand slam. Our second choice for the first response would be an immediate Blackwood bid of four no trump.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

AKJ10985 ♠ 7 ♣ 8643 ♠ 52

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♥ Pass 1 ♣ Pass

2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades. This hand must play in your suit, and if partner continues to three no trump you must persist to four spades.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

AKQ5 ♠ AQ5 ♣ 4 ♠ KQ10764

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♣ Dble. Rdbl. 1 ♥

Pass 3 ♣ 4 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—In view of partner's very strong bidding, we recommend a cue bid of four hearts. If partner in turn should show the spade control, you would then rebid clubs and leave the final decision as to slam to partner. It is not sufficient to bid merely five clubs over four diamonds, for such a bid would not show the excess values which your hand contains.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

AK102 ♠ AQJ74 ♠ 5 ♣ AKQ8

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♥ Pass 1 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—With this hand you should insist upon a game contract, and the manner of doing it is to make a jump shift. The indicated call is therefore three clubs. An immediate jump in spades is not acceptable, inasmuch as you have only three trumps.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

AK1097 ♠ AQJ ♠ AQ8 ♠ A96

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♥ 2 NT Pass 4 NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. You must reject partner's invitation because your two no trump bid was minimum. If anyone in the class treated the four no trump bid as a request for ace, stay after school and read the chapter on the Blackwood convention.

Q. 8—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

AKQ32 ♠ A9542 ♣ 6 ♠ 74

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♣ 2 ♣ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—This is a close call. We are normally reluctant to leave in doubt the low contracts when we have an unpaired five card major, but our defensive values are so good that the penalty may be worthwhile. The deciding factor is the single diamond and the two clubs. If the minor suit holdings were reversed, we would lean toward showing the hearts.

Hopefully A New Policy

A great debate over the future of 755 million acres of federal land is now shaping up. It began July 26 with the opening of hearings by a House of Representatives subcommittee on a proposal to overhaul federal landholding practices.

As in so many public questions of the day, environmentalists and conservationists are arrayed against private interest in exploitation. Private tenants of the government, miners, oilmen timber companies, ranchers, have been brought to bay.

Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, chairman of the House Interior Committee, advocates the continued use of the public lands as a store of resources "to help meet the current and future needs of the people of the United States," ranging from commercial development to natural preservation. This is the approach recommended by the Public Land Law Review Commission which made a six-year study of the question under the direction of Aspinall. The commission proposed among other things that "mineral exploration and development should have a preference over some or all other uses on much of our public land." As for timbering, the commission found that it should be managed "primarily on the basis of economic factors so as to maximize net dollars return."

A much more restricted approach is recommended by Rep. John P. Saylor, ranking Republican on the Interior Committee. He has introduced an alternative bill which declares that "the public lands shall be administered, used, restored, improved, and protected: (1) To maintain the integrity of the ecosystems and environmental quality," while permitting "appropriate industrial development" which will be strictly subordinate to conservation priorities.

The history of the democratic legislative process suggests that a compromise will be reached between these competing points of view. Hopefully that compromise will reflect a much greater awareness of and emphasis on the need for managing public lands to preserve them for this and future generations of Americans.

Taiwan First

Occasionally, surprise is shown that the Chinese call Formosa Taiwan. A wire service writer took note of this the other day, explaining: "Peking refers to Formosa, home of Nationalist China, as Taiwan. So do the Nationalists." The fact is, this island off the coast of China was Taiwan long before the Portuguese dubbed it Formosa, meaning "beautiful," in the 16th century. That was eight or nine centuries after the Chinese, Communists and Nationalist alike, call it that.

Supporting Taiwan

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Nixon and Secretary of State Rogers are apparently convinced that the government of Mainland China will, after considerable reflection, conclude that the prestige of the Peking regime when admitted to the United Nations will not be in any way lessened by the continued presence of Nationalist China in the international organization.

A significant commentary was made by George Bush, American ambassador to the United Nations, who says openly he is more confident than before that the General Assembly will approve the retention of Taiwan.

MR. BUSH denied rumors that the United States is not trying to save the seat of the Taiwan government and declared flatly that the policy of the United States this autumn would be not only to support the admission of Communist China but to oppose any move to expel the Nationalists. He told newspapermen that he feels more certain of success than he did when he began a canvass of U.N. delegations. Now that he has seen 66 ranking diplomats and expects to have consulted 80 before next week, he hopes to offset reports that the American delegation has been merely going through the motions of backing Taiwan so as not to set up new obstacles to President Nixon's trip to Peking before next May.

AMBASSADOR BUSH said that the United States is conducting negotiations on the subject not merely at the United Nations headquarters but in many capitals of the world and that he has every reason to believe that progress is being made. The belief is that the China question will come up early in the General Assembly meeting, probably in October, but the group led by the United States is expected to file its proposals before August 23.

THE SIGNIFICANCE of this action is that the United States is keeping faith with Nationalist China and also is reassuring the countries in Asia which have been somewhat disturbed by the implication that President Nixon's decision to visit Peking and his willingness to see Red China admitted to the U.N. could mean that Taiwan is to be cast aside. The administration is troubled about this impression because it is far from the truth.

WHEN THE General Assembly starts discussions, it will become clear to everybody that the United States feels that the government on mainland China and the government on Taiwan are two separate entities and should be so treated by the United Nations. The Soviet Union has separate seats in the United Nations for two of its states — Byelorussia and the Ukraine — and there is no reason why Red China should insist that another country of Chinese people — already a member — should be expelled. The United Nations was designed as an association of member states embracing countries in all parts of the world, irrespective of nationality or racial origin.

THERE HAVE, of course, been speculative reports that Peking would refuse to join unless Taiwan were expelled. But this would present to the United Nations a question that has never arisen before. It is doubtful whether the members of the organization would feel that acceptance of membership in the U.N. could be based upon any such condition or demand.

Peking may decide there is more to be gained than lost by accepting the set-up which the United Nations may specify. For Red China will at last become a member of the world community and perhaps start to gain the substantial advantages of wider trade and commercial contacts with other nations.

'Now Watch Closely While I Change Into A Donkey'

Economic Theories Won't Work

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Even the more traditionalist economists suspect today that some of the old equations of their trade may not be as tight as they had believed. Many knots are appearing.

Causing concern and some perplexity are the existence in recent years of rising prices in the midst of recession, prosperity unaccompanied by profits, price increases during an absence of orders, rising wages amid joblessness.

These apparent contradictions don't completely upset the theories, but they certainly indicate that modern economics have developed some characteristics that the theorists didn't foresee quite clearly.

As noted an authority is Arthur Burns, who as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board has had to contend with these idiosyncracies, believes that we may have to try new approaches in guiding the economy.

Better than any industry, steel illustrates the odd behavior of both prices and wages.

In the first week of August steel production dropped 51 per cent from the previous week to 947,000 tons, the lowest output for a nonstrike week since the 1930s. Shipments for the entire month were expected to be only one-half normal. More than 85,000 workers were idle.

Such a setting suggests, according to the formula, that prices would be stable or falling because of lack of demand, and that wages would be tending in the same direction for a comparable reason.

That was not the case. Under threat of a strike, labor had just won a 31 per cent wage increase, its best ever. And the industry had raised prices 8 per cent across-the-board, its biggest ever.

While this defiance of market pressures may not have been entirely successful-Bethlehem Steel, for one, shortly afterward announced a delay in implementing its increase—it is evidence enough to question the formula.

On a larger scale, the general existence of inflation and recession challenges the thinking of many traditionalists.

If demand is sluggish, as it is in many industries today, the theorists maintain that prices must be lowered to attract attention. But throughout the past recession, prices continued to rise sharply.

'Controlled Theft'

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

ONE thing and another: ONE INDUSTRIAL psychologist says a little bit of larceny-in-business may be saving the boss money.

Management, the authority points out, may find it cheaper to overlook the practice of some employees to take home pencils and paper than granting higher wages and mounting an elaborate security system.

EMPLOYEES FIND that filching is good for morale, the psychologist says. Apart from the value of the loot, there's great satisfaction in beating the system.

Would it surprise you to know that employees swipe about $3 billion a year in merchandise? That averages out to an astonishing $1.50 a day per man.

Management terms the practice "controlled theft." If you think you're getting away with something no one else knows about, think again. Your superiors likely know a lot more about your habits and your weaknesses than you think they do.

I'M TOLD that an elephant is really nothing but a mouse put together on a cost basis. But couldn't Lockheed have qualified a lot easier for that Washington handout by threatening to relocate their main offices in Peking and add Fidel Castro to their board of directors?

OF COURSE, anything can be proved true by running a survey. I'm satisfied that a lot of people in this country could be convinced that George Washington, in reality, was Adam if what purported to be the facts were placed in front of them.

ONE OF THE oldest homilies that has been proved wrong is that politicians or men in authority who depend on elected boards to support their decisions fear the wrath of voters. In this enlightened age, career politicians work to create and strengthen a built-in vote. And woe to the individual or group who might dare to threaten that foundation of strength.

THE AMERICAN system has failed in more ways than one. A prime example is the manner in which citizens are refusing to serve on juries. In cases where felonious crime is to be considered, most prospective jurors want out for the same reason — fear. How can justice be done in many cases when jurors not only are intimidated by lawyers but run the risk of having their homes, businesses and families destroyed?

THE ONLY TIME I ever saw one fellow with his wife was after he had been charged with a crime of import. And it was the first time I became aware he had children.

Military Needs

Andrew Tully

(Editor's Note: Andrew Tully is on vacation. During his absence his column will be written by leading figures on the Washington governmental and political scene.)

By MELVIN R. LAIRD
Secretary of Defense

The population of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps by the end of the current fiscal year will be reduced by approximately one million men and women from its size when I took office as Secretary of Defense in January, 1969. Put another way, we are reducing the size of our Armed Forces by considerably more than the entire population of Washington, D. C.

FOR VIETNAM alone, there will have been a reduction of U. S. military manpower from an authorized strength in January, 1969, of 549,500 to the President's announced goal of 184,000 by Dec. 1. The Department of Defense, as it has done for the seven previous troop withdrawal increments from Vietnam, will meet or beat this target announced by our Commander in Chief.

PRESIDENT NIXON has set an objective of zero draft calls for July 1, 1973. That is going to be a tough challenge to meet. We have been able in the last two years to reduce drastically the size of our draft calls, and we have been able with the help of Congress to eliminate many of the inequities in the draft. This year, in asking Congress to extend the draft authority for two more years, we also requested that a remaining injustice — favored treatment for those attending college compared with other young men — be eliminated.

LET'S MAKE no mistake about it. We in the Department of Defense face a tremendous challenge in meeting our manpower requirements for the future with fewer men and women in uniform than was the case prior to Vietnam.

And we also face the reality that manpower costs have soared. Thus, we need to budget 80 per cent more money for military pay and military personnel expenses for the current fiscal year compared to the fiscal year of 1964, even though we will have at least 133,000 fewer people in uniform.

THERE ARE no problems in the Armed Forces today which are receiving higher priority attention than the problems related to people. Obviously, we will need to have top-notch young men and women by the thousands voluntarily electing to spend a full career, or part of their career, in military service. We will need to make certain that equal opportunity is afforded to all these men and women.

When all is said and done, we do not have any chance of achieving our goals in the military manpower field if we lack the understanding and support of Congress and the American people.

WE ARE terminating U. S. involvement in the fighting in Vietnam. We are bringing home additional thousands of Americans. We are pursuing a policy of strength and partnership to achieve meaningful negotiations and a generation of peace. It is my deep hope that as we continue to make significant progress toward these goals, we will see a new affirmation by the American people of their pride in the Armed Services, and a heightened recognition of the importance and dignity of the job being done by all of our military men and their families.

Too Much Traffic

NEW YORK (AP) — Traffic deaths, injuries and accidents in the United States during April were $51 million higher in economic losses than in April of 1970, reports the Insurance Information Institute.

The total economic loss was $1.1 billion. About 1.7 million automobile drivers were involved in April accidents.

Sounds Logical

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — The Netherlands and South Africa have signed an income tax agreement to avoid double taxation and prevent tax evasion.

My Answer

Billy Graham

You keep saying that we should read the Bible. Where should we begin and just what books should we read? I would appreciate any help you can give me.

R.T. My suggestion is to begin with the four Gospels, for this is the record of the "Greatest Life Ever Lived", our Lord. It tells how He came, what He did, how He died, how He conquered the grave, and how He ascended into heaven. It also gives us a code of life: the Sermon on the Mount. This is the place to begin. Years ago I sat down to read the life of a great man, and my life was changed. That man was Jesus Christ. What He has done for millions He can do for you — if you give Him the opportunity. Even if you don't understand all you read, read it anyway — just the reading of God's Word is inspiring, instructive and soul refreshing. When you come to a verse that speaks to you, meditate on it!

A Devotion For Today...

And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me. (John 12:32)

PRAYER: O Christ, You have given to us the secret of real success — not the success of accumulation, but the success of serving others. Lead us to Yourself that we may be renewed to attract others to You, in Your sacred name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

The 'Good Life'

Omar Burleson

WASHINGTON — It sounds a little strange and certainly unchamber-of-commerce when a town decides it does not want more people.

This seems to be the case in quite a few places. One Florida resort area spent a lot of money printing color brochures advertising "the good life" but now they say that is the trouble.

"THE 'GOOD LIFE' is evidently slipping away in a good many places. When a town becomes bumper-to-bumper, filled curb-to-curb with traffic, it is hardly a place for a pleasant drive.

When the wonderland advertised is filled with carbon monoxide, bridges over waterways often clogged two miles back, some places are a little worried about attracting people.

SOME CITY leaders are talking about a "selective growth." How that is to be arranged is something else. An organization even in Arizona is recommending zero growth because the Colorado River just can't furnish much more water for more people.

More recently, the governor of Delaware has signed into law a bill passed by the legislature banning new chemical plants, oil refineries, steel and paper mills from the whole Delaware coast. This is what every Delaware has been after to make it grow and prosper. It seems the "bigger and better" and "the more the merrier" time has passed.

MUCH ATTENTION is now being given by the planners in developing towns and cities that will preserve and restore the pleasantness of living. The good living was supposed to have been furnished when blocks and blocks of close together public housing was built in the cities. Here in Washington, for instance, it has been found that most, if not all, those concentrated projects become slums faster than the slums they were supposed to have cleaned out. It is felt that people occupying great projects thrown together, do not create any community of interest, hardly anyone takes any collective pride in upkeep and soon they have as many rats as were there when older buildings were replaced.

THERE IS something wrong about all this. In Europe and in other older countries, old houses which have been there two centuries still appear neat, clean and are well kept. The development of suburbs with miles of houses jammed as tightly as the traffic will bear lay flat some of the prettiest hills and trees to be found any place — still this is progress.

FOR THE well-heeled, there are whole communities being built around club houses, golf courses and swimming pools. For those a little less better off, new towns are being built where kids can walk to school and ride their bicycles with safety but the old parts of inner cities are the cores of what is left and the problems not only continue but become worse.

There seems to be a lot of engineering in everything except people. Instead of the "bigger and better" and "the more the merrier," the problem is what is to be done with people, of which there are going to be plenty for a long time.

Questions, Answers On Wage-Price Chill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are some questions and answers on the 90-day wage-price freeze ordered into effect on Sunday by President Nixon:

Q. What is the level at which prices, rents, wages and salaries are frozen?
A. The ceiling price or wage may not exceed the level that prevailed in the month ended August 14, 1971.

Q. What does the price freeze cover?
A. All commodities and services are effected except raw agricultural products.

Q. What about price increases which have been announced but not yet put in effect, like some of the recently announced steel increases?
A. They are suspended. They can take effect 90 days from the August 14 freeze date.

Q. If a wage contract calls for a pay increase on Sept. 1, may it take effect?
A. No. It can take effect 90 days after the freeze date.

Q. What about wage negotiations now in progress: should they be halted?
A. No, the government wants them to proceed to a settlement. But any wage increases which result are to be delayed for 90 days.

Q. What happens to the cost-of-living escalator clause in many wage contracts, pinned to past consumer price advances?
A. The wage increase will be deferred. A White House statement says: "Increases in prices, rent, or wages under existing contracts will need to be deferred."

LONGER FREEZE
Q. What will replace the freeze in 90 days?
A. That remains to be worked out by Nixon's newly created, Cabinet-level Cost of Living Council. It apparently will work with industry and labor leaders for some form of voluntary guideline in all major industries.

Q. Could the freeze be extended if such agreements are not reached?
A. Presumably it could. And the threat remains, as a spur to the agreements, that Congress would impose mandatory controls to prevent an outbreak of increases when the freeze expires.

Q. How will the freeze be enforced?
A. It will be "monitored," says the White House, by the staff of the Office of Emergency Preparedness. This is the agency which would provide the skeleton for a price and ration control agency in time of war.

Q. Does OEP have a staff capable of nationwide price-wage surveillance?
A. Obviously not. President Nixon said: "I am relying on the voluntary cooperation of all workers, employers, consumers—to make this freeze work."

Q. That means there are no enforcement teeth?
A. Yes, there are a few. The White House says violations will be handled by the attorney general, and may be enjoined by the courts or subject to a fine of up to $5,000.

Q. Is there legal authority for such a freeze?
A. Yes, Congress passed an authorizing law last spring—but few of the lawmakers expected Nixon to use it.

Q. What's the effect on proposed telephone charge increases, increased plane and bus fares, tuition increases already announced by colleges to take effect in September?
A. Pending further orders from the White House, all are suspended until the end of the freeze, which is officially set for Nov. 12.

Q. Are individual "merit" increases in pay affected, as well as negotiated settlements?
A. Yes, under terms of the White House order.

Q. Will seasonal workers, including teachers, who signed contracts last spring for pay increases effective at school opening be barred from getting them?
A. The orders says they must wait.

Lamesa Trustees Meeting Today
LAMESA (SC) — Acceptance of personnel resignations and ratification of new employee contracts for the school district will be the main business of the trustees of the Lamesa Independent School District when they meet at 7:30 p.m. today.

A new principal for South Elementary may be among the new employees approved, according to the agenda. Other items on the agenda include a status report on the middle school completion, audiences with groups or individuals not specifically named in the agenda, and the ratification of district bills.

"This is the reason for the increase in the budget and we expect there will be more positions opened in the outreach services in the near future," said Grant, as he explained that the wage-price freeze put into effect by President Nixon Sunday possibly may affect the salary increases.

Federal grant money to the hospital for general programs is approximately the same as that appropriated in previous years, $125,000, which is in addition to the budget.

item may be placed on the agenda.
City fathers cited safety as the determining factor that caused the group to consider the ordinance which is up for first reading today.

In other action, Joe Blakely will appear to discuss paving at North Ninth Street and Avenue O, the council will discuss and likely pass an ordinance on second and final reading prohibiting "mobile service stations," open bids on gasoline, oil and anti-freeze for city vehicles, authorize the city manager to call for bids on the sale of used vehicles.

Commissioners also will discuss the authorization of members of the Police Department to work four 10-hour days per week.

Finally the council will discuss passing resolution authorizing the mayor and city secretary to issue warrants not to exceed $35,000 to be paid by the tax monies for the Canadian River payment due Sept. 1. Approval of bills for July will be the final item on the agenda.

County Faces Deficit, Tax Rate Cut Proposed

By LINDA CROSS
County expenditures for 1972 are expected to outstrip projected income by $200,000 to $250,000, according to information received this morning by county commissioners.

To help pull the county out of the hole, County Judge A. G. Mitchell proposed that no salary raises be given for county employees in 1972. Conversely, he proposed that the tax rate be cut from the current $1.04 to $1.02 or $1 per $100 valuation.

The county finds itself in the red, according to Mitchell because of a $1,000,000 decrease in oil property assessments in 1972 in comparison with 1971. He also said that costs of possible union litigations, courthouse repairs and road repairs will add to the financial drain.

OBJECTION
Commissioner Bill Crooker objected to a reduction in the tax rate when the county was faced with a deficit of at least $200,000. Employee raises would cost the county $42,000 in actual salary payments and approximately $6,000 in retirement and Social Security payments, bringing disbursements close to $250,000 over income, Crooker said.

"Income including current advalorem taxes and interest and sinking fund income for 1972 will be $1,247,309," said Mrs. Virginia Black, county auditor, adding, "We will have to carry over $1,001,536 from the 1971 balance to meet projected obligations in 1972."

The proposed tax cuts would decrease ad valorem income by approximately $23,000 if cut by two cents, and approximately $27,000 if cut by four cents, Mrs. Black said.

NO HIRING
"I recommend that we maintain the employees we have now, but that we not hire any replacements for any who quit or retire. Two or three salaries alone would make up to the $24,000 lost through the tax reduction," said Judge Mitchell.

On the raises, Judge Mitchell said that the increase could be paid out of the 1971 balance, but that no excess funds would be coming in 1972 to pay for 1973 salaries.

Mrs. Black said that almost all areas of county fund disbursements showed an increase, particularly in operating costs, over 1971. The largest increase would be in salaries if the raise is granted, courthouse maintenance will increase $5,000, and all others will increase in varying amounts, according to Mrs. Black, but she did not have an itemized account of all increases.

proval that the county would report its decision at 4 p.m. Wednesday. The city hopes to locate the landfill in section 32 on property bordered by N. Birdwell Lane, Hilltop Road and FM 700.

TIME SHORT
After Commissioner Jack Watkins pointed out the need for a quick decision from the county, Mitchell said that the court would not be opposed to the site if it met State Health Department and Water Quality Board approval, and that residents in the area were not strongly opposed to the location. Watkins said that the city has 60 days before the current landfill becomes inoperable, and that approval from health and water board officials in Austin could take that long.

Presenting the request to the county in addition to Watkins were Roy Anderson, acting city manager, Commissioner Eddie Aciri and Roy Crim, consulting engineer on the project.

In other action, the county dads approved the purchase of a filing cabinet at a cost of $175 for the road and bridge department.

Abilene Man Arrested Here
A routine check on a traffic violation Sunday resulted in the arrest of a 17-year-old Abilene man accused of car theft.

Texas Highway Patrolman Kenneth Maxwell stopped the man on a traffic violation, and the man was given a citation and released. After checking license registration of the vehicle, Maxwell found that it had been reported stolen, and he arrested the man.

He is in Howard County jail today awaiting disposition by Abilene authorities of charges against him.

Stocks Prices Leap Up and Away

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, reacting to sweeping new economic policies by President Nixon, piled up spectacular gains today as trading proceeded at a record pace.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rocketed 27.01 points to 883.03 at 12:30 p.m.

Volume of the Big Board hit a two-hour record of 14.6 million shares at noon, well ahead of the previous record of 12.26 million shares traded through noon on April 30, 1969.

Brokers noted that nearly 1,400 issues were higher with fewer than 50 stocks trading at prices lower than Friday's close.

Gold-mining stock prices were among those falling. Piled up orders delayed the opening of many blue chip stocks expected to be key beneficiaries of the new Nixon administration policies.

Call For Disobedience Until Internees Freed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Roman Catholic political leaders called Sunday night for a campaign of nonviolent civil disobedience until the government of Northern Ireland releases all the prisoners it is holding without trial or charge.

Nine of the 13 opposition members of the provincial parliament signed a statement urging the province's 500,000 Catholics to embark on a Gandhian disobedience campaign against the internment law invoked a week ago by Prime Minister Brian Faulkner.

British soldiers rounded up more than 300 persons suspected of being fighters for the terrorist Irish Republican Army, and at least 26 persons were killed in the week of rioting that followed.

The legislators said their plans include refusal to pay local taxes and rents. Meanwhile, Bernadette Devlin, the fiery 23-year-old Catholic member of the British Parliament from Northern Ireland, called for protest strikes against the Protestant provincial government and the 12,500 British troops trying to keep down the violence in the six Ulster counties.

There was a weekend lull in the rioting, but snipers fired at an army patrol near the center of Belfast. There were no injuries. Two bombs were planted in a university residence, but did not go off.

Other explosions were heard in the capital and in Londonderry. Stores and buildings were damaged, and street mobs confronted the troops in both cities.

Masked terrorists reportedly kidnaped a Londonderry policeman as a hostage for the interned prisoners and took him across the border in an ambulance to the Irish Republic.

The kidnap victim was reported to be Constable Daniel Barr, a Catholic member of the Royal Ulster Constabulary who earlier in the night was beaten by an angry Catholic mob in Londonderry. Barr was saved from the mob by a group of Roman Catholic priests and a Protestant army chaplain. A priest who reportedly accompanied him in the ambulance said he was "not in too bad shape."

Henderson Pretrial Arguments Resume

FT. MEAD, Md. (AP) — Pretrial arguments in the case of Col. Oran K. Henderson resume today, a week before the first witness is scheduled to testify against the Army officer accused of covering up reports of the My Lai massacre.

The arguments will be heard by the military judge, Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, without the presence of the seven senior officers selected as jurors Aug. 4. Pending are defense motions seeking:

—The suppression of testimony Henderson gave between December, 1969, and February, 1970, to a special Pentagon inquiry into the handling of post-action reports from My Lai.

—The convening of an evidentiary hearing into the fate of a report Henderson contends he ordered a subordinate, the late Lt. Col. Frank Barker, to prepare after hearing of the massacre.

—The production of another report the defense alleges was made by Sgt. Lawrence J. Kubert, a member of a helicopter company operating over the My Lai sector.

At the time of the March 16, 1968, massacre, Henderson commanded the 11th Brigade of the Aerial Division. Under him in Charlie Company were Capt. Ernest Medina, who is being tried on charges of murdering civilians, and Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who has been convicted of murder at My Lai.

The 50-year-old colonel, who holds five silver stars and four purple hearts, is accused of failing to investigate reports of the massacre and of not informing higher headquarters of actual or suspected war crimes.

Two other counts directly related to the defense motion to suppress his testimony accuse the Indianapolis native of twice lying to the Pentagon inquiry headed by Lt. Gen. William P. Peers.

Conviction on all charges could bring a maximum sentence of six years and three months at hard labor, dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of pay and allowances.

Members with freezers should bring ice cream, and officers should bring cake and cookies.

Bombers Triple Strikes In Viet

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes tripled their air attacks today and Sunday in efforts to stop North Vietnamese attacks along the demilitarized zone, and B52 bombers were reported striking in the southern half of the DMZ.

The big B52s and the smaller fighter-bombers made up to 200 strikes on elements of four North Vietnamese regiments.

The North Vietnamese forces made new shelling attacks and ground assaults for the fifth day today after driving South Vietnamese troops from a mountain outpost with heavy losses.

The South Vietnamese Command claimed more than 200 North Vietnamese were killed, many of them by U.S. air and artillery attack. Reports said that 33 South Vietnamese troops were killed and 13 South Vietnamese and two American advisers were wounded.

The hardest fighting occurred on 1,500-foot Mt. Nui Ba Ho, nine miles south of the DMZ and 21 miles east of the Laotian border, where an estimated 500 North Vietnamese attacked a company of less than 200 South Vietnamese marines.

The marines abandoned the outpost, and U.S. fighter-bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery hammered the North Vietnamese positions continuously. Half a dozen B52s struck before dawn today, dropping 180 tons of bombs within half a mile of the mountain while fighter-bombers attacked the mountain itself.

Meanwhile, North Vietnamese forces shelled virtually all the 10 South Vietnamese bases stretched along the 45-mile northern frontier, and heavy fighting was reported around Fire Base Fuller, at the western end of the defense line. Flights of B52s hammered suspected North Vietnamese concentrations menacing Fuller.

The North Vietnamese began attacking along the DMZ last Thursday, breaking a 42-day lull. Intelligence sources estimate that three North Vietnamese infantry regiments and one heavy weapons regiment, perhaps as many as 10,000 troops, are operating in the region.

In another development, a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance jet was fired on by a 37mm anti-aircraft battery just above the DMZ Sunday. The U.S. Command said F4 fighter-bombers escorting the unarmed reconnaissance plane attacked the battery, but the results were not known. The command said there was no damage to the U.S. planes.

It was the 49th U.S. air strike inside North Vietnam announced by the U.S. Command this year.

AFT President Says: Teachers Should Back Presidential Candidate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — David Selden, president of the American Federation of Teachers, said today the 250,000-member teacher union should actively support a presidential candidate. In a speech prepared for delivery before 1,000 delegates to the 53th annual AFT convention, Selden declared: "The time has come for the AFT to come down out of the ivory tower . . . and see if we cannot bring about an administration which will view education as a prime necessity in American life."

Asserting that there can "be no neutrals," Selden said: "President Nixon has established an unprecedented record; he is the only president ever to veto two educational appropriation bills."

Selden urged AFT locals to make it possible for teachers to make political contributions through payroll deductions.

"Political power in the 70s in America is directly related to the kind of money one can raise," he said.

The teacher leader also attacked performance contracts in public schools under which a private concern using its own systems agrees to raise the reading or math grade of students and is paid only if it reaches a predetermined goal.

As a result of performance contracting, Selden said, "a nationwide scandal of major proportion is developing which will further discredit the entire educational enterprise."

In one instance, he said, a firm has been found to be teaching essentially to prepare students for the test.

'LOOKS LIKE HE HAS BEEN FOLLOWING SOMEBODY'S ADVICE'

Key Tax Man In Congress Calls Plan 'Excellent'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur Mills, the key tax man in Congress, says President Nixon's new economic plan is excellent and "looks like he has been following somebody's advice."

Mills predicted the House Ways and Means Committee, which he heads, will approve Nixon's recommendation for investment tax credits. The committee has virtual life-and-death control over all tax legislation.

The Arkansas Democrat last month proposed the tax credit, other tax reductions and wage and price guidelines.

At his home in Kensett, Ark., Mills commented only briefly, saying Nixon's "game plan is excellent."

Other congressional reaction to Nixon's wage-price-rent freeze and other economic proposals was generally favorable, although some Democrats said he should have acted sooner.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana called Nixon's program "a harsh but very necessary reaction. I'm delighted that his patience has run out."

Sen. George McGovern, of South Dakota, the only announced Democratic presidential candidate, said, "The wage-price freeze is about four years overdue. Much of the dollar's difficulties today could have been averted had this step been taken earlier."

Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, ranking Republican on the Joint Economic Committee, said Nixon's policy is "good and welcome."

"The program is temporary and transitional but the President's mood is permanent and determined," he said.

Sen. Wallace Bennett of Utah, senior Republican on the Senate Finance Committee, said Nixon "seized the initiative in the domestic economic field with the same bold leadership he displayed in his recent China speech."

Sen. William Proxmire, chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, said: "The President's action is long overdue and may not go far enough in some respects."

The Wisconsin Democrat said the investment tax credit should be permanent, income tax cuts should go into effect now and that he fears the surcharge on imports may drive up steel and oil prices.

"The most important next step is for the President to follow up his 90-day wage-price freeze with intensive discussion with labor and management in order to work out a more permanent program to hold down prices and wages to levels which are justified by increases in productivity," Proxmire said.

Rep. Richard Fulton, D-Tenn., a Ways and Means Committee member, criticized removal of the excise tax.

"I would much rather see a personal reduction of the income tax," he said. "I do not think the Ways and Means Committee will act favorably on this suggestion."

2,000 Latins Map Boycott Of Schools

HOUSTON (AP) — About 2,000 Mexican-Americans held a rally here Sunday to boost a planned boycott of Houston public schools by Mexican-Americans this fall.

Romaundo Castillo, chairman of the Mexican-American Educational Council here, asked the crowd to urge all Mexican-American parents to keep their children at home when school opens Aug. 26.

The boycott was called two weeks ago in response to a federal court plan to order the busing of children who attend 22 elementary schools in the Houston district, the nation's sixth-largest.

The council says the desegregation plan mixes Mexican-Americans with Negroes but does not affect many Anglo children. There are about 36,000 Mexican-American pupils in the 240,000-pupil district.

Castillo said he was disappointed in the crowd of 2,000 at Moody Park. He had predicted 6,000 would attend.

Later, in an interview, Castillo said strike schools would be set up a few days before schools open to provide education for children boycotting the system.

Leonel Castillo, founder of the council, said at the rally that the school board has the right to expand the pairing of schools to bring Anglos into the desegregation effort "but they don't choose to do so."

Also speaking at the rally was the Rev. C. Anderson Davis, executive director of the Houston chapter of the NAACP. He called upon Negroes and Mexican-Americans to unify to bring integration.

"We cannot get what we're asking for until there is a coalition between minority people," he said. Anderson said while the NAACP has not endorsed the boycott, "we're not against it."

Sterilization Operation For Women Is 'Scarless'

MIAMI (AP) — A 10-minute sterilization operation for women that doctors say is scarless, almost painless and inexpensive has been performed on about 100 women here since January.

The operation, called culdoscopy, takes sterilization out of the realm of major, inpatient surgery for the first time, doctors say.

Dr. William Little of the University of Miami School of Medicine said the operation is relatively painless because it does not involve cutting through abdominal muscles. Instead, the doctor inserts a light source and instruments through the vagina, grasps the fallopian tube, cuts off a small length and ties off the cut ends.

If done in great numbers, Little said the operation could compare in price to the vasectomy — male sterilization procedure — which now costs Miami men $100 to $150.

Other methods of female sterilization cost at least $200 for surgery, plus the cost of hospitalization, he said.

The women who have been sterilized range in age from the late teens to the early 40s. The average age is in the late 20s.

"A number were teen-agers who had had six children, were not married and failed with contraception," Dr. Little said.

Others were indigent, private patients and university faculty wives.

"I haven't had a patient who, after it is completed, would want to have her tubes tied any other way," he said.

'Tex' Driven To Insanity?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Opening statements and testimony in the trial of Charles "Tex" Watson, with attorneys aiming to depict Watson as a youth driven to insanity by drugs and the mesmerizing dominance of Charles Manson.

Watson, 25, is the last of five defendants to stand trial for the seven Sharon Tate murders. He has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity, and, because of legal technicalities, faces the possibility of three separate trials.

GREW WILD

The first trial, under way now, is to decide guilt or innocence. If found guilty, Watson would then have a sanity trial. If found sane, a penalty trial would be required to decide his sentence.

A source close to the defense says testimony from numerous psychiatrists will be introduced during the guilt phase in an effort to prove "diminished capacity" at the time of the slayings. Many will testify about the effects of hallucinogenic drugs such as LSD, amphetamines and the plant belladonna.

The source said Watson was known to have used the latter, which grew wild near the Spahn Ranch, headquarters of Manson's hippie style tribe. Belladonna, a hallucinogen, if taken in sufficient quantity, can be fatally poisonous.

Watson's alleged slavish obedience to Manson will be another point stressed in testimony, the source said.

mony, the source said. The tall Texan was one of the few male members of Manson's "family."

Manson and three women co-defendants were convicted of murder and sentenced to death last April for the August, 1969, killings of Miss Tate and four visitors to her mansion and the similar slayings a night later of a wealthy market owner and his wife.

Testimony at their 9½ month trial tagged Watson as Manson's chief lieutenant who led the killing missions and stabbed or shot several victims himself. The women defendants, who confessed their roles in the killings during the trial's penalty phase, said Watson was "high" on hallucinogenic drugs during both nights of murder.

Watson wasn't tried with the others because he was fighting extradition from McKinney, Tex. After his return to Los Angeles last fall he was declared an insane "vegetable" who went into catatonic trances and wouldn't eat. He was taken to a mental institution where he remained for several months before being declared fit to stand trial.

Since his return, the source said, Watson has been cooperative with his attorneys and no longer expresses devotion to Manson or the "family."

In fact, the source says, Watson no longer wants to be addressed by the nickname "Tex" which Manson followers gave him. He prefers Charles.

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: First let me say some of my best friends are homosexuals, so I have nothing against them, but how about this? I received an engraved invitation in the mail inviting me to a wedding between two such people. It read: "You are cordially invited to a celebration of love of (name withheld) and (name withheld) on Sunday, the twenty-first of August at two o'clock, Metropolitan Community Church, 625 Polk Street, San Francisco, California."

celebration of love is simply a ceremony and does not constitute a legal marriage. DEAR ABBY: The other night my boy friend took me to a nightclub to see one of our favorite entertainers. Unfortunately we couldn't enjoy the show because of a loud drunk in the audience who kept shouting and making a disturbance. The manager threatened to put him out if he didn't quiet down, but it didn't help much. Finally the entertainer told the loud drunk to shut up. At that point my boy friend became so exasperated he took a piece of ice out of his drink and threw it at the drunk, hitting him on the head. I told my boy friend it was up to the management to handle the drunk, and even though they didn't do a very good job of it, he had no right to take the matter into his own hands. My boy friend said he paid to see a show, and if anyone tried to deny him of that right, he was justified in handling the matter himself. Who is right? HAVING WORDS DEAR HAVING: You are.

hours at a time, three and four nights a week — waiting for a phone call! Where was your sympathy for the poor neighbor? And where were her children all this time? —I'd have said, "Get yourself a telephone!" KATIE IN ORLANDO DEAR KATIE: You sound more like Ma Bell. You're right. I should have told her to get her own telephone. But I still say she picked a lemon.

Band Leader Is Stabbed To Death

NEW YORK (AP) — King Curtis, the rhythm and blues bandleader, was stabbed to death in an altercation with another man late Friday night, police reported. They said Curtis Ousley-King — Curtis' real name — was stabbed in the chest with a six-inch dagger after an argument with a man identified as Juan Montanez, 26, outside a four-story brownstone apartment building the bandleader owned. Montanez was charged with homicide.

'Sick And Tired'
Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

DEAR DR. THOSTESON: My doctor says I'm a "borderline diabetic." Is there any medication for this? Or is diet the only help?
I'm not at all familiar with what this means except for me it has been complete fatigue. And after seven months of the diet, I haven't gained much in strength. Frankly I'm sick and tired of being sick and tired.—M.B.
The phrase "borderline diabetic" is used very frequently but I am not sure that it really means much of anything. A person does have diabetes or he doesn't. Granted, there has to be a time at which the sugar level just passes over the line, but it is only by rare chance that we happen to test a patient at that particular time. But usually the sugar-tolerance test, showing the pattern of rise and fall of sugar, tells the story.
In equivocal cases, a "cortisone glucose tolerance test" can be used. This consists of giving the patient a small dose of cortisone eight hours, and then again two hours, before running the sugar-tolerance test. This brings out about 25 per cent more positive sugar curves than the standard test.
But to go on with your case, I wish I knew your age, your weight, the type of diet you are following, and such data. A mild diabetes should not make you consistently "sick and tired." Have you investigated the condition of your thyroid? Or are you anemic?
Or, by chance, is your diet too restricted? True, diet is the only thing that can postpone diabetes, but it should be a diet which also gives you enough nourishment for your needs.
If you are overweight, by all means reduce, but if by chance you are following a diet that doesn't provide what you need, then the diet needs some revision.
Let's say, for argument's sake, that you actually are diabetic, not "borderline," but you aren't eating enough for your physical needs.
A somewhat less restricted diet could be arranged for you, and one of the oral diabetes medications used to keep your sugar level within limits. Despite the furor over these medications, in my opinion (and in the opinion of a good many diabetes authorities) these medications are still helpful but should be properly used.
By that I mean that it does not make sense to go ahead and eat anything and everything you want, and then reduce your sugar level with the diabetes pills.
Using them judiciously, it is possible to increase protein intake, which is important. Vegetable and fruit allowances can be increased. But the pills are not a license to start eating sugar or too much starch.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a blood test a month ago. It said elevated thyroid. My doctor had me come in for a repeat test and it read "protein bound iodine." Can you explain?—Mrs. C.
The P.B.I. (protein-bound iodine) is a blood test which measures the activity of your thyroid gland by means of the amount of iodine in a certain portion of the blood. You do not indicate what the result of the test was, so that's as much as I can help you.

Local Teachers To Get Acquainted

A get-acquainted party for teachers of the Big Spring Independent School District will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. today in the high school cafeteria patio area.

Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent for instruction, said the party will be to welcome the 70 teachers new to the school system this year. Light refreshments will be served.

Today was the first day of in-service training for teachers. Secondary students are to pick up class schedules Friday, and school begins Monday.

Did Medina Move To Stop Murders?

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — The Army prosecutor in the court-martial of Capt. Ernest L. Medina said today that the government does not intend to prove that Medina intentionally told his men to kill noncombatants at My Lai, but that Medina knew murders were taking place and did nothing to stop them.

But the defense argued that Medina did move to stop the shooting.

COOL CALCULATING

Maj. William Eckhardt, the Army prosecutor, said in opening statements at the resumption of Medina's trial that when Medina did not intervene to stop the killing, "he calculatingly did not intervene—he intended murder."

The trial resumed after a 2½-week recess while nearly 50 witnesses were being summoned. Medina is charged with assault and murder of 102 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai March 16, 1968.

STOP IT

Medina's civilian lawyer, F. Lee Bailey of Boston, told the court that Medina's men "did shoot some noncombatants."

But, Bailey said, "The minute he knew something was going awry, he issued orders most appropriate." He said Medina ordered the shooting stopped.

The 34-year-old Medina, who won the Silver Star for heroism in combat in Vietnam, will be tried before a jury of five officers, all of whom served in Vietnam.

The wiry, black-haired captain, of Mexican-American extraction, will be tried on a non-capital basis. The maximum sentence a jury could give him, therefore, would be life imprisonment.

While the captain is charged with premeditated murder, the Army says he is not accused of personally killing all of the 102 persons. Maj. William Eckhardt, the Army prosecutor, has said Medina is accused of acting as a "principal" to the killings, one who "counsels, commands or procures another to commit an offense."

Medina, a Montrose, Colo., resident, was the commander of Charlie Company when the American Division staged an infantry assault on the Vietnamese village March 16, 1968.

One of his platoon leaders that day was Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who was convicted March 29 at Ft. Benning, Ga. of 22 murders. Calley was tried on a capital basis but the jury set his sentence at life. His case is under review.

Two-thirds of the witnesses the Army plans to call against Medina also testified in the Calley court-martial, which lasted 4½ months.

Capt. Mark Kadish, one of Medina's Army lawyers, says he thinks the trial will take four to six weeks.

Calley testified at his trial that Medina held a briefing on the eve of the assault and told his troops to kill everything in the village. Medina took the state to deny he gave such an order.

Nixon's Ideas Get Mixed Reviews From Economists

By The Associated Press

Economists have given mixed reviews to President Nixon's proposals to stimulate the economy, with comments ranging from enthusiastic endorsement to predictions that the program will not work in the long run.

The broad steps outlined by the President Sunday night also drew general—although in some cases highly qualified—approval from a number of leading bankers.

"We're better off this Monday morning than we were Friday night," summed up Nobel Prize winning economist Paul Samuelson. He said he approved all eight points in the President's plan except the cutback of $4.7 billion in federal spending.

investment tax credit and the international segment."

Of the wage-price freeze he noted: "The question here is the energy with which efforts will be made to make things permanent. After all, this is only for 90 days."

ON BALANCE

"On balance, his proposals for expanding jobs will probably lead to a contraction in the number of jobs," said Galbraith in Newfane, Vt.

"Eliminating the automobile excise tax, accelerating the investment credit and advancing the income tax exemptions are very inefficient ways of expanding the economy because they put money in the hands of people who don't need it," he said.

gold simply makes explicit what has been, in fact, implicit anyway," he said.

University of California economist Prof. John M. Letiche said the wage-price freeze "can't work in the long run. In the long run, ending the Vietnam war, which really triggered this inflation, will be a crucial stimulus to keep wages in line with productivity."

Letiche, an international economics expert who was a special adviser to the United Nations in 1962, said that the economic stimulation of tax relief will be negated by the federal spending cut.

"This is clearly done for political reasons," he said.

MATH WRONG?

"I hope the President's arithmetic is wrong," said Samuelson at his Belmont, Mass., home. "If he cuts expenditures by $4.7 billion to match the tax cuts, that won't create one extra job. It will create negative jobs... That would completely emasculate his whole program."

John Kenneth Galbraith, the Harvard economist who was ambassador to India during the Kennedy administration, termed the program "one step forward (the wage-price freeze) and two steps backward (the conservative economist at the University of Chicago, said he approved of the spending and tax cuts but called the wage and price freeze "purely cosmetic."

"The effect will be to conceal price and wage increases, not prevent them," said Friedman from a vacation retreat in Ely, Vt. "Our experience from World War II and other times proves that people will find ways to evade the freeze."

Blue Sunday Is Given New Yorkers By Vida

It was Blue Sunday in New York and just another black day for Jim Perry in Minneapolis-St. Paul. Vida Blue, leading candidate for the Cy Young Award as the American League's best pitcher, responded to a "Blue Day" crowd at Yankee Stadium by leading the Oakland A's to a 6-4 victory over New York.

Red Birds Deal Misery To Bucs

Little Matty Alou has the St. Louis Cardinals thinking big. The diminutive native of the Dominican Republic blasted a three-run homer Sunday to cap a five-run eighth inning rally and give the Cardinals a 6-4 victory over his former Pittsburgh teammates, pulling St. Louis within four games of the slumping first-place Pirates in the National League East.

GIANTS WIN

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco beat New York 6-1. Montreal downed Los Angeles 6-3; Cincinnati topped Chicago 5-1; Houston edged Atlanta 3-4; and San Diego nipped Philadelphia 5-4 in the first game of a doubleheader and completed a sweep with a 3-2 triumph.

Ken Russell New Lamesa Golf Pro

LAMESA — Kenneth Russell has assumed the position of golf pro at the Lamesa Country Club. He succeeds Ken Moss, who resigned recently to accept another position. Russell comes to Lamesa from the White River Lake Country Club where he was golf pro.

Klondike Ex Inks McMurry Letter

ABILENE — Val Stephens, a 6-5½ standout for Klondike High School the past basketball season, has signed a letter of intent with McMurry College here.

Richey Loses To Yugoslav In Clay Meet

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Zeljko Franulovic, the calm but relentless Yugoslav tennis star, showed little emotion but exulted in his sensational victory over American star Cliff Richey here Sunday.

"For me" the long-haired, mustachioed Franulovic said, "this tournament is more important than Wimbledon. I don't play well on grass, but I play better on clay."

"I lucked out," Stockton said Sunday after his one-stroke victory over Ray Floyd in a pressure-packed finish at Pleasant Valley Country Club. "I got a very good break and it may have been the turning point."

After taking the lead with a 14-foot birdie putt on the 60th hole, Stockton hit a five-iron shot which appeared headed for a hazard off the seventh green.

Grissam Duet Munny Winner

The tandem of Gary Grissam and John Humphrey pieced together an 82 to win first place in the scotch foursome held at the Big Spring Municipal Golf Course Sunday.

Although showers visited the course frequently during the day, 36 players entered into competition.

Three teams tied for second place, each with an 83. One consisted of Bill Patton and Hershel Harris, the second of Burt Dennis and Miller Harris and the third of Ray Bluhm and William Moore.

Since July 30, a total of six inches of rain has fallen on the course and it has been spaced so well very little watering has been required.

Malone, Whitteker Win Tournament

SWEETWATER — The Sweetwater team of Mike Malone and Jimmy Whitteker won the annual Sweetwater Partnership Golf Tournament here Sunday with a 54-hole low-ball score of 203.

The tandem had to go overtime to beat a Howard County JC player from Lorraine, Tim Hamilton, and Paul Burleson, Sweetwater, however.

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — long broken field jaunts to lead the way as the Patriots opened their new home with a 20-14 National Football League exhibition victory over the New York Giants Sunday night.

'I Lucked Out,' Says Stockton

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Dave Stockton hit a young girl with an errant shot and gained a new admirer en route to a $33,000 victory in the $165,000 Massachusetts Golf Classic.

"I lucked out," Stockton said Sunday after his one-stroke victory over Ray Floyd in a pressure-packed finish at Pleasant Valley Country Club. "I got a very good break and it may have been the turning point."

After taking the lead with a 14-foot birdie putt on the 60th hole, Stockton hit a five-iron shot which appeared headed for a hazard off the seventh green.

The ball struck a girl, though, and dropped on the fringe, enabling Stockton to hold his par.

"The girl, about 10 years old, wasn't hurt," he said. "I holed out and gave her the ball. She followed me around the rest of the way. I saw her several times after that."

"You know, that's another good thing about playing near the end of the final round. There are always crowds around the greens. If you hit the ball low and call 'fore' softly enough, a bad shot will hit somebody and you can stay out of trouble."

Stockton, a former Southern California star who will be 20 in November, was in a joking mood after his first victory since he won the PGA championship one year ago.

However, he had to be all business on the course to ward off the challenge by Floyd, Rod Funseth and Bruce Crampton down the stretch of the 72-hole tournament.

Stockton, playing with Funseth ahead of Floyd, applied the pressure from the outset, sinking a 12-foot birdie putt to start the final round.

He moved into a tie for the lead with a 16-foot birdie putt on the 58th hole and went ahead to stay on the 60th.

He added birdies on the 11th, 14th and 18th greens for a sizable 275, breaking Pleasant Valley's tournament record of 276 set by Arnold Palmer in 1968.

He had earlier rounds of 69, 71, 71 as he pushed his career earnings over $425,000.

Floyd, winless on the tour since he captured the PGA championship in 1969, got a birdie on the final hole for a fine 68, enabling him to pick up second money of $18,810.

Three Lead Win Surge

In spite of threatening weather, a large crowd watched what proved to be the top racing schedule held at Big Spring Raceway this season Saturday night.

Excellent track conditions and a sizeable number of entries contributed to the success of Saturday night's program, which produced three double winners.

The dual winners were: Wendell Maxey, who prevailed in both the Trophy Dash and Feature Event; Johnny Mount, Slow Heat and Point Winners' Heat; and David Early, Australian Pursuit and the Consolation Race.

Maxey was driving No. 60M, Mount was in No. 8 while Early piloted a car sponsored by K&T Electric.

Dickie Jones, in the Roto-Rooter Special No. 22, won the middle qualifying heat. Ernie McCuistian rounded out the winners' list by packing the pack in No. 42 in the Fast Heat.

Last week's winners: Trophy dash — Dickie Jones, Car 22; Fast Heat — Wendell Maxey, Car 60M; Slow Heat — George West, Car 91; Consolation winner — Ernie McCuistian, Car 42; Semi-Main — Charley Hyden, Car 17; Main Event — George West, Car 91; Australian Pursuit — Dickie Jones, Car 22; Slow Pursuit — Charley Hyden, Car 17.

An added attraction was the appearance of a prototype car driven by Mackie Adams and sponsored by Barney Toland Volkswagen.

Track owner Bill Moore reports that if enough interest is exhibited in these cars, a special class will be created for them.

Cowboys Licking Wounds After 36-21 Triumph

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys were licking their physical wounds today with a happy victory salve after snagging their second pre-season victory in as many outings.

Three Cowboys were ailing today but their 36-21 win Saturday night over the New Orleans Saints numbed the pain pretty good.

Quarterback Roger Staubach was to have his bruised ribs X-rayed along with Lee Roy Jordan who took a rough nurse above his knee.

Tight end Mike Ditka is nursing a broken hand but doctors say he'll be able to continue workouts with his hand in a cast.

More Versatility Is Sought By Broyles

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Frank Broyles has borrowed a page from Darrell Royal's play book to give Arkansas' short yardage attack more versatility.

Broyles has incorporated the Wishbone-T which Royal has used with such great success at Texas the past three years.

For most of 1968, 1969 and 1970 Arkansas could, and did, turn to tailback Bill Burnett in most short yardage situations. Burnett was virtually unstoppable on the goal line, scoring 49 touchdowns.

Naturally, the Razorbacks' attack in close became stereotyped.

Broyles says the Wishbone, which the Razorbacks used a great deal in spring practice, gives the offense "broader striking areas."

"The Wishbone forces the defense to defend the width of the field," he said.

QB KEY MAN
There were some who said the Wishbone did not lend itself to a passing attack. With Joe Ferguson at quarterback, any offense lends itself to a passing attack.

Ferguson, a 6-foot-2, 175-pounder has been getting rave notices since his high school days at Shreveport, La., Woodlawn. At Woodlawn, Ferguson broke the passing records of Terry Bradshaw—the first-round draft choice in the National Football League in 1970.

"Joe has a great arm with extreme accuracy," says Don Breaux, the Razorbacks' offensive backfield coach. "He is capable of throwing the ball outside as well as anyone I have seen on any level."

"Ferguson is an exceptional passer," says Broyles. "He has quick feet and quick hands and can scramble with the football. He also worked very hard on running the option play and did a good job with it this spring."

Besides 48 of 86 passes for 744 yards last year, Ferguson gained valuable experience in lengthy mop-up roles behind Bill Montgomery

BILL McCLARD

Ferguson will be throwing to Jim Hodge, a teammate at Shreveport, and Mike Reppond, a junior letterman, this fall.

Hodge started at flanker as a sophomore last year and caught 16 passes for 397 yards—an average of almost 15.5 yards a catch. Reppond, who made an excellent impression in the spring, caught nine passes for 164 yards as a reserve in 1970.

Besides the overhead route, the Razorbacks will be able to score on the ground with the likes of Jon Richardson, Russ Garber, Dicky Morton and Skipper DeBorde doing the ball-carrying.

Richardson, a game-breaker, averaged more than four yards a try last year while racking up 441 yards and 11 touchdowns. Garber started at fullback last year and gained 400 yards on 81 carries. Morton, a shifty sophomore from Dallas Kimball, will relieve Richardson and DeBorde is expected to be the third back when the Razorbacks go to the Wishbone.

The running backs will operate behind a strong and experienced offensive line that includes tackles Tom Mabry (6-6, 248) and Mike Kelson (6-4, 238) and guards Glen Lowe (6-4, 245) and Tom Reed (6-3, 230). Two sophomores, Ron Revard and Stuart Freeland, finished the spring in a dead heat for the center position.

McCLARD INCLUDED

Any rundown of Arkansas' offensive firepower must include kicker Bill McClard. McClard converted 50 of 51 extra points last year and connected on 10 of 15 field goal attempts, including an NCAA record 60-yarder against SMU.

The question marks are on defense.

"Our defense is very inexperienced," Broyles said. "Many of them missed spring practice and our coaches have not had a chance to work with them."

"Our offense is going to have to keep the ball a lot in the early games to keep the pressure off of our defense until they can gain some overall game experience and know what it takes to play good football," Broyles said.

"I don't believe in spring training that our defensive ends and tackles really knew what it took to be a good college football player."

At the end of spring practice, the depth chart showed Ronnie Jones and Steve Cox at defensive end and Archie Bennett and David Reavis at defensive tackle.

Jones, a linebacker for two years, played defensive end for three days in the spring and Cox, a sophomore, missed about half the spring with an injury.

Bennett was a reserve center last year and Reavis was a defensive end.

The linebackers may be two sophomores and a fullback.

Ed Hughes Lauds Charley Johnson

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Larry Wilson executed the St. Louis Cardinals' first "big play" of the Bob Hollway regime, and Houston's coach, Ed Hughes conceded it decided the game.

Wilson, bursting around right end, blocked a Dan Pastorini punt for the only touchdown the Cardinals needed to trim the Oilers 16-14 Saturday night.

"The best thing about the game? We won," Hollway said following the pre-season National Football League scrimmage.

"It didn't surprise me we were a little erratic on offense and made mistakes," Hollway added. "You've got to figure that because it was our first game."

"If I had any disappointment it was that we never established our running game. But Houston has always been among the league's best against the rush."

The Cardinals, ridden by penalties, yielded to an 80-yard Houston touchdown march in the second quarter before Wilson's big play.

Rookie George Jakowenko unlocked a 7-7 deadlock with a 38-yard field goal five seconds before the half and veteran Jim Bakken booted third-quarter field goals of 15 and 25 yards for a 16-7 lead.

The only anxious moments the Cardinals had afterward followed Mike Richardson's 35-yard touchdown gallop for Houston with 8:09 to go.

Hughes' highest praise was reserved for 32-year-old quarterback Charley Johnson of Big Spring, whose string of six pass completions set up Joe Dawkins' one-yard touchdown plunge.

Johnson completed 10 of 15 passes for 128 yards the first

Steers Can Open Work Wednesday

With first workouts just a week away, the Big Spring High School Steers started checking out shoes and sox Wednesday for the 1971 football season.

The Longhorns can start working without supervision Wednesday. The coaches assume charge next Monday, at which time the players will be in shorts.

No contact work will be allowed until Friday, Aug. 27, when pads will be issued.

The Longhorns have a scrimmage with Sweetwater upcoming Sept. 3 here. They open their season the night of Sept. 10 at home against highly respected Lubbock Monterey, a team they've never beaten.

Slightly over 100 boys are due to check-out shoes. That includes the athletes just coming into high school.

Lettermen due back with the team include center Pete Shaffer, 175; tackle Rondel Brock, 205; end Cal Lowery, 175; quarterback Mike Adams, 175; running back Ricky Steen, 175; and fullback Arthur Trevino, 170, all on offense; and safety Gatlin Jones, defense.

Among promising players up from the junior varsity are guard Joe Pesina, 220; end Greg Knight, 165; guard Jan Whatley, 170; guard Craig Brown, 180; tackle D. W. Powell, 200; tackle Jeff Murdoch, 195; end Nate Poss, 170; quarterbacks Alan Davis, 180; and Scott Carlisle, 160; running back Dick Conley, 205; flanker Mike McCormick, 150; fullback Barry Pruett, 170; running back Waller Jordan, 160; cornerback Mike Tredaway, 165; rover Vin McQueen, 165; defensive ends Mike Parker, 180; and Jerry Knoepfel, 170; defensive halfback Earl Reynolds, 160; and linebacker Scott Knight, 170.

With Adams the man under, the Steers likely will throw the ball more than they did a year ago, when they finished with a 5-5 record.

Helping head coach Clovis Hale will be Garland Braun, Bill Moore, Tim Smith, Bill Narrell, Tommy Fambrough, John Varnell, Oaky Hagood and Buster Barnes.

Jim Wynn Swings Issue For Astros At Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — Outfielder Jim Wynn of the Houston Astros says it's "about time I started helping this club some."

And Wynn did just that Sunday as he banged a seventh-inning single to score two runs and lift the Astros to a 5-4 decision over the Atlanta Braves.

"I used to be considered a dangerous hitter," Wynn said, "so I sort of expected to be walked when I came to bat with two runners in scoring position and the pitcher up next. But I guess their manager thought I would pop up again like I've been doing so often."

Wynn's single to left scored Houston's Denis Menke and Bob Watson. The next batter, pitcher George Culver, popped out to end the inning.

Houston jumped to a 2-0 lead in the second when a single by Watson was followed by Doug Rader's home run. Atlanta made it 2-1 in the fourth when Ralph Garr scored on a single by Earl Williams, then tied it in the fifth when Sonny Jackson doubled home Marty Perez.

The Braves took a 4-2 advantage on a pair of solo homers in the sixth. Henry Aaron opened the inning with his 32nd home hitting streak to 22 consecutive run of the year, extending his games. Williams, one out later, blasted his 22nd homer of the season and the fourth during the four-game series with the Astros.

Houston cut the margin to 4-3 in the seventh when Menke scored on a long sacrifice fly by pinch hitter Larry Howard.

Culver, 5-6, notched the victory while Recl Upshaw, 9-6, was charged with the loss.

John Wayne, Laird Share VFW Honors

DALLAS (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird was to deliver the opening address today at the beginning of the 72nd national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Most talk, however, was of a planned visit Thursday by President Richard Nixon who, VFW officials said, will make closed-door remarks to delegates, their families and guests.

T. Y. Chao, chairman of Nationalist China's vocational assistance commission, told VFW delegates Sunday that admission of Red China to the United Nations would only encourage Maoist aggression.

Additionally, Chao declared, America would lose faith and support of her Asian allies.

Chao said he understands President Nixon's motives in visiting mainland China, but he said he sees in store for Nixon "only humiliation, insult, blackmail and distortion."

Dallas streets, hotels, motels and tourist sights were glutted with old soldiers, and some not-so-old ones, Sunday as the opening of the convention neared.

At a Sunday night memorial service, the Most Rev. William J. Moran said: "We have said that the men who won our tonight died so that we might have freedom and because we have freedom so that we will have peace and an abiding peace."

"Well," he said, "we still have that freedom and we hope and pray that we will have peace and an abiding peace, but we will not have that peace unless we know how to handle freedom."

Moran is a retired brigadier general and auxiliary bishop of Army Catholics.

Laird will share the spotlight today with actor John Wayne with Laird receiving the Dwight David Eisenhower Distinguished Service Medal while Wayne receives the VFW's highest award — the National Americanism Gold Medal.

Desalinization Of Southwest Water Urged

PAGE, Ariz. (AP) — Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton suggested desalinization of Southwest water Sunday night as a means of saving the area's rivers and lakes from premature death.

Morton made the statements at a news conference before embarking on a tour of the Four Corners area and proposed coal-fired power plants Monday morning.

Citing the increasing salinity of rivers draining the immense, arid watershed of the western states, Morton said, "If we don't do something about it, these dams are going to outlive their usefulness before their time."

He specifically pointed out the salinity of the turbulent Colorado River, saying, "The day will come when the president of Mexico is going to walk into the White House and say this stuff you're sending me is no longer water."

Morton said Lake Mead downstream from Page is approximately a ton of salt per acre-foot water.

He said the situation demanded initiation of a new nationwide water policy to outline uses and insure that the maximum benefits are derived from western waters.

However, Morton said the water policy would be senseless unless a land use policy is implemented first so planners could determine what demands would be made upon limited water supplies.
