

SAYS FIRST WOMAN TO HIKE ITS 147-MILE LENGTH

'By The End, You Begin To Hate Death Valley'

CROW'S NEST—Hearing rumors that Houston Oiler fans were eating crow this morning, Pomeroy took refuge atop Doug Mays' head. Doug, 12, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Mays, 602 Highland. Actually Pomeroy is a white-necked raven instead of a crow, but better to be safe than sorry.

DALLAS (AP) — "It was 114 degrees at 2 a.m., and the wind was blowing about 30 miles an hour. It really was. "I pushed you back, you're going forward and it pushes you back. Your mouth really gets dry." Viki Pochciol, a slender 19-year-old blonde, was describing her recent 147-mile hike up the length of Death Valley. "Seven men have crossed it the way we went," she said. "I am the first woman to cross it, and that is more or less an official record."

Viki and her husband, Bill 28, a Dallas construction worker, left Shoshone, Calif., Aug. 17 and headed west towards the Valley. Once into the Valley they turned north towards Scotty's Castle, Calif., at the tip of the dry expanse. They were accompanied by George Sevra, 24, a Dallas photographer. Sevra drove a jeep and trailer with supplies. "He'd drive on about two or three miles ahead of us," said Viki, "and we'd stop at the jeep to get water and rest."

"We traveled at night and daytime, more or less in the evening, the majority of it in the evening," Viki recalls. "At first we'd go for 16 miles and sleep for four hours during the night. "Towards the end we kept going all day. I wanted to get to the end. I just couldn't take the heat." They covered the last 40 miles in one stretch, she said, starting out at 6 a.m. and arriving at Scotty's Castle at 9:35 p.m. Aug. 21.

"I got tremendously tired because the wind was blowing in our faces. . . . "A man died out there two weeks prior to the time we came," she said. The Pochciols trained for the hike by running and walking as much as 30 miles a day for five months before the trip. They carried a thermometer with them which hit a high of 125 degrees and a low of 8. During the trip, which they made for "a personal achievement," she lost 10 pounds and Bill lost nearly 15, she said. "The worst part of the trip was walking in that canyon," she said. "It was 114 degrees at 2 a.m. and the wind was blowing about 30 miles an hour. It pushes you back. You're going forward, and it pushes you back. Your mouth gets really dry. "At nighttime it's actually harder than at daytime, because at daytime you can see where you're going. "At night all you can see is the flashlight and the stars. It's like you're down in a big hole and all around you all you can see is big peaks. "It kind of puts you to sleep. I'd rather put up with the heat in the day, because you feel you are going somewhere." "The very very worst time was the last 10 miles. Our feet hurt us so bad. "You begin to hate Death Valley by the end."

After Freeze Plans Fuzzy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Nixon administration official said today that an effort will be made to remove inequities from President Nixon's wage-price freeze, particularly those affecting workers. "I think in due time these decisions will be made," said Asst. Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery. Usery commented at a news conference after a peace-making visit by top Labor Department officials Thursday to ask AFL-CIO President George Meany's cooperation in government economic plans for after the freeze.

Usery said it has not yet been decided by the administration whether workers later will get retroactive pay for scheduled wage hikes held up by the freeze. NOT DECIDED But he added that he believes that "as much as possible . . . people should get what they have coming to them" from labor contracts. Usery said economic plans for after the freeze are still in the talking stage. Meanwhile, it was announced that leaders of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees from throughout the nation will meet in Minneapolis this weekend to map strategy for opposing the wage-price freeze.

The President's economic program won a major victory in the foreign exchange market today. The Japanese government announced it will let the yen float on the foreign exchange market beginning Saturday. The yen had been a major target of the import portion of Nixon's program. The Japanese action is expected to improve the U.S. balance of trade and came a day after the Commerce Department announced a trade deficit in July for the fourth consecutive month. After Nixon announced Aug. 15 the suspension of the gold standard and the imposition of the 10 per cent import surcharge, the Japanese govern-

Mrs. Pochciol, 19, is believed to be the first lady to complete the difficult walk.

COTTON LOOK Floating Yen--What It Means

NEW YORK (AP) — A floating yen means that Japanese goods sold in the United States will cost more and that even cotton textiles, not covered by the original surcharge, will give American industry less competition. The yen had been fixed at 360 to the dollar. That meant that every dollar brought in from the sale of, say, a camera in the United States gave the manufacturer 360 yen to help pay his workers. Now the dollar rate is not fixed — if it falls to 310 yen, the Japanese factory owner will get only 310 yen for his camera dollar. So to get enough money to pay his costs and provide his profit, he may have to raise his prices. This in turn, means it would be easier for American goods to sell in Japan.

Cotton textiles are covered by a quota, under an agreement between Japan and the United States. Quota goods were not covered by the 10 per cent import surcharge imposed by President Nixon to help defend the dollar. However, a lower rate for the dollar in terms of yen will mean fewer yen to pay Japanese textile workers. Therefore prices may have to go up on what goods are sent to America. A change in the value of the yen was described by one American economist as "a key part" of President Nixon's dollar defense plans. Japan resisted but the flood of dollars into Japan — $4 billion in two weeks — was too much. She could not afford to continue buying dollars at the old rate and had to let the value of the dollar fall so fewer people would send dollars to Japanese banks.

KEY QUESTION Will Big Spring Teachers Get Raise?

Big Spring teachers may get their pay raises, but nothing is clear yet, according to S. M. Anderson, superintendent, echoing the confusion of Texas officials. "I don't know how the latest government clarification will affect us," said Anderson. "It looks like it clears just about everybody in the United States except Texas. We are still waiting for word from the Texas Education Agency." The President's Cost of Living Council ruled that teachers eligible for payments on a 12-month basis will receive scheduled pay raises despite the wage freeze. The ruling said the teachers' contract period must have started before Aug. 15 for them to receive higher pay. "Our contracts were let in April," said Anderson. "But the beginning date was given as Aug. 16. So we just don't know what will happen."

"The fact that the fiscal year in Texas starts Sept. 1 may have an effect."

Fist-Swinging Melee Mars Soledad Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After a violent, blood-spattered court hearing, a Sept. 20 trial date has been set for two surviving Soledad Brothers accused of murdering a prison guard more than a year and a half ago. The club-and fist-swinging melee erupted Thursday after Doris Maxwell, mother of defendant John Clutchette, shouted a vulgarity at the judge in a pretrial hearing and he ordered her ejected. Two black men jumped up and struggled with police officers and several black women spectators pushed toward Mrs. Maxwell. All were separated from the judge and defendants by a bulletproof glass partition erected in anticipation of possible trouble. A dozen police tactical squad officers rushed in, swinging riot sticks.

TEA Leaders In Quandary

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas officials are still in a quandary over the national Cost of Living Council's several rulings on school teacher pay raises. "We still do not know if it covers Texas teachers," said a spokesman for the Texas attorney general. "We got another wire from federal authorities this morning and we're in the midst of a big huddle now with the people from the Texas Education Agency trying to interpret it. At first glance it seems that one section giveth and another section taketh away." The spokesman said he did not know if there would be any announcement later today. Originally the Cost of Living Council ruled that teachers were barred from pay raises if their contract period started on or after Aug. 15 when President Nixon announced the 90-day wage-price freeze. Wednesday, the council ruled teachers may receive raises if they are eligible to be paid over a 12-month period but are in fact paid over a 10-month period, provided the contract took effect before Aug. 15.

TRIPLED HIS WEALTH Wilson Denies Any Wrongdoing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson has acknowledged he received $230,000 in unsecured loans from the bank of Frank W. Sharp, central figure in a Texas stock-fraud case. Wilson said Thursday the latest $30,000 loan from the Sharp-Texas Bank was in August, 1970, 18 months after he joined the Justice Department, and after the Securities and Exchange Commission began a probe of Sharp's activities. Wilson said he repaid the loan in March of this year, two months after Sharp and a number of Texas officials were named in what the SEC termed the "systematic looting" of banks and insurance companies through stock manipulations. Wilson, head of the Justice Department's criminal division, released a nine-page statement describing the loans and how his net worth nearly tripled to $1.3 million between 1963 and 1968. Wilson was Sharp's attorney during 1967 to 1969, when Sharp built a financial empire through his bank-real estate-insurance conglomerate. Wilson denied he advised Sharp how to get around state banking laws to raise funds to buy the National Bankers Life Insurance Co. The firm is one the SEC says Sharp and associates milked in a quick-profits scheme that involved top Texas officials, astronauts and Jesuit priests among others. Sharp admitted last week in an SEC affidavit Wilson had given him such counsel.

Wilson said his involvement in the sale ended when he drew up a contract calling for a $7.5 million cash sale. "I did not know then and I do not know now where Mr. Sharp got the money to pay for the purchase of the stock," Wilson said. Wilson estimated his net worth at $300,000 when he became Texas attorney general in 1956. He said he engaged in "very few land transactions" while in office but land he already owned in Dallas and Austin had increased in value. By 1963, a year after leaving office, he estimated his net worth at $500,000. He said the continuing appreciation of his land—not any connection with Sharp—accounted for his near tripling of his worth, to $1.3 million, by 1968. He said his law business income had increased from $50,000 to $100,000 between 1963-68.

Wilson said he began buying 8,000 shares of stock in National Bankers Life in the winter of 1967-68 at between $8 to $11 a share, after Sharp had asked him to determine the value of the stock. Wilson said Sharp wanted to buy the company from former Gov. Allan Shivers, who held controlling interest, but Wilson advised him that Shivers' asking price of $14.50 a share was too much. CASH SALE He said Sharp disregarded his opinion and told him to negotiate to buy the company on Shivers' terms.

BODY OF ODESSA GIRL DISCOVERED

ODESSA (AP) — The body of 11-year-old Johnnie Ganell Henderson was found Thursday near her Odessa home. She had been missing since Monday. Her body was found in a clump of bushes about 50 feet behind her residence. Police would not speculate on how the child died and ordered an autopsy. Officers did say that there appeared to be no connection between the death of the child and the mysterious disappearances of four women in the Odessa area in three years. Three bodies of missing women were found after extensive searches. None of the slayings have resulted in charges.

BEGIN COMPUTER STUDY — Local representatives and Texas Tech management team begin feasibility study on computer for Big Spring Police Department.

Texas Tech, Stanley Bogard, police chief, John Parsa, instructor at Texas Tech, and Dr. William R. Coruette, assistant professor of management and computer science at Texas Tech.

Consultant Team Arrives Here To Check Computer Feasibility

A feasibility study on the application of the city's IBM Systems II computer in the police department and municipal court began Thursday with the arrival of a management team from Texas Tech, Lubbock, and team of consultants from the Texas Criminal Justice Council.

Dr. Vince Luschinger, from the school of management, Texas Tech, will head the study team, which includes representatives from the national Association of Chiefs of Police and IBM, as well as Big Spring police and city officials.

Funding of the study will be by one of 18 crime control grants approved May 14 by Gov. Preston Smith, acting on the advice of the Criminal Justice Council.

The grant totals $5,700 and the city's financial part of the program will be in form of an in-kind match of $2,400. Outlay of $2,400 by the city will not be necessary in that the total supervisory man-hours and value of the computer facilities will be assessed against the city's portion of the grant.

In the application of the computer to the municipal court it would be useful to speed up various court operations, collecting tickets, improving the system records, and cutting down on man-hours spent on the paper work of the court, Larry Crow, former city manager, said in recommending the program to Big Spring city commissioners.

Use of the computer in identifications and records departments, records on stolen cars and criminal activity, distribution of police vehicles and in the dispatching departments is standard in the large city police department.

Big Spring will be the first city of its size in Texas to contemplate such a move. The city put into operation the IBM computer at the beginning of the calendar year, and it is now functioning with the general ledger, water and sewer department billings, payroll and other city financial operations in its programming.

"We will begin to work on the study with the team today and it will be prolonged until the total $5,700 is used; probably the study will be concluded in three to four weeks," Sgt. Pete Stone, identifications officer and member of the study team, said Thursday.

Upon completion of the feasibility study, if a design comparable to the size of the city is worked out, police department officials expect that funds will be allocated to put the completed design and program into effect in the local department.

Also this study, and possibly an additional one upon its completion, could be used as a pilot program for computer use for other police departments in cities of 20,000 to 80,000 population.

Queen Juliana Tours Cemetery

JAKARTA (AP) — Dutch Queen Juliana toured a Dutch military cemetery here today to pay her respects to her countrymen who died during Indonesia's war of independence against the Dutch.

Escorted by Prince Bernhard, the queen moved slowly past the rows of white crosses in the Menteng Pulo Cemetery, where some 4,128 Dutch soldiers are laid to rest.

Queen Juliana, on the second day of her 11-day state visit to Indonesia, placed a wreath at the base of the cemetery's central monument. Escorting the couple was Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik.

Yanks In Vietnam Suffer Heaviest Losses In Weeks

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops assaulted two U.S. armored cavalry patrols south of Da Nang Thursday and killed five Americans in one of the heaviest U.S. losses in months. Twelve other Americans were wounded, three armored vehicles were destroyed and a fourth was damaged. Enemy losses were not known.

One patrol from the Americal division was hit 16 miles south of Da Nang shortly after it camped for the night. The North Vietnamese attacked with rocket-grenades, machine guns and rifles.

FIVE DIE
It was in this attack that the five Americans were killed and seven were wounded. The steel-piercing grenades destroyed two armored personnel carriers and a Sheridan tank before rocket-firing U.S. helicopters and artillery broke up the attack.

The American toll, five dead, was half the number killed all last week, according to the U.S. Command casualty summary issued Thursday. Other such losses recently included five U.S. troops killed in an ambush Aug. 5, also south of Da Nang, and seven killed Aug. 12 when their helicopter was shot down near the demilitarized zone.

Fourteen miles to the south, North Vietnamese troops made a similar attack earlier in the day on another armored patrol. Five Americans were wounded and another personnel carrier was damaged.

HEAVY RAIDS
U.S. B52 bombers kept up their heavy raids along the demilitarized zone, dropping 450 tons of bombs on suspected North Vietnamese troop locations, bunkers, storage areas and rocket positions.

Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese command reported 19 enemy attacks on its troops during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today. Government casualties were described as light.

There were twice that many attacks in the preceding 24 hours, the highest number in nearly three months. Military spokesmen consider the current upsurge an enemy attempt to reduce participation in the National Assembly elections Sunday.

ATTACK SAMPANS
Fighting resumed along the demilitarized zone after a one-day lapse. The South Vietnamese command said 15 enemy troops were killed in an engagement Thursday afternoon while government losses were two men killed and three wounded.

The U.S. Command reported that Navy helicopter gunships attacked a sampans convoy beached and camouflaged at the mouth of a river in the Me-kong Delta 85 miles south of Saigon. Hanson said 35 sampans and three junks were destroyed and 18 sampans were damaged.

He said there was no immediate report on what the sampans were carrying or how it was determined they were enemy craft.

Congressional Committee Claims Election Rigging

SAIGON (AP) — A watchdog committee of legislators today cited a number of incidents of election rigging by President Nguyen Van Thieu's regime.

Sen. Vu Van Mau, chairman of the election anti-graft commission made up of 22 senators and deputies, cited the following examples of rigging and irregularities in connection with the lower house election Sunday and the voting Oct. 3 for the presidency:

TRIED TO HOARD
—The Thieu ticket tried to monopolize or hoard the endorsements needed by other candidates to qualify for the ballot. Thieu was required to get only 40 signatures from national assemblymen or 100 from provincial and city councillors, but he wound up with endorsements from 87 deputies, 15 senators and 452 councilmen.

REFUSED RADIO
—In Binh Tuy Province, a candidate bribed the province chief to get government support.

—In Vinh Binh Province, a village councilman was relieved because he supported an opposition candidate.

—In Da Nang, five candidates were refused permission to talk on the radio. After intervention by the committee, they were allowed to go to the radio station but were told they could not broadcast because of a "technical failure."

—Also in Da Nang, a candidate was stoned when he appeared before a group of voters, and the stoning was organized by a captain from the army's political warfare section.

the face" of anyone who tried to advise him how to vote.

Brig. Gen. Hoan Van Lac, commander of the Quang Trung Training Center, also told his men the army had no right to tell them how to vote.

The committee recommended that the army suspend its political indoctrination courses until after the elections.

—In Kien Phong Province, the province chief's brother was forced to withdraw after a complaint by the committee that he was not a qualified candidate.

'I Realized How Immoral And Cruel War Really Is'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An Army doctor, who says he underwent a "conversion experience" after seeing pictures of the My Lai massacre, has lost his bid for a discharge as a conscientious objector.

Capt. Irvin R. Jennings, 30, a native of Kansas City, Mo., said the pictures influenced his decision to seek his release.

"For the first time, I realized how immoral and cruel war really is," he said in his discharge application.

An Army review board denied his request last June, saying he lacked the "depth of conviction" required.

U. S. Dist. Judge John Wood Jr. upheld the review board Thursday. He ruled the Army had a basis in fact for not releasing him.

Wood continued an order prohibiting the Army from reassigning Jennings while he appeals.

Jennings first sought a discharge from the Army reserves while working as a civilian psychiatric resident in Honolulu a year ago. He now is stationed here at Ft. Sam Houston as an active duty officer.

As the cards lay in today's hand, it would probably have been easier to score nine tricks at no trump instead of trying for an 11 trick game. It is hard to find fault with the bidding sequence, however. Lacking a heart stopper, North could not respond with two no trump originally and his heart suit is not considered biddable. South's distribution did not appear to lend itself to a no trump contract, so he proceeded, instead, directly to five diamonds.

West opened the queen of spades which held the first trick when declarer played low from dummy. The jack of spades was continued and ruffed in the closed hand. Trumps were drawn in two rounds and South began development of the club suit. A club was led to the ace and the jack was returned. East followed with the seven and declarer put up the king. When West showed out, there was no way to avoid the loss of a club trick, inasmuch as there were only two trumps left in dummy and South had three cards to ruff out. He also had to lose a heart and the result on the deal was a one trick setback.

If West had switched to a heart at trick two, there would have been no way for South to make his contract without benefit of a peek at the opponent's holding — because with the dislodgment of the protection in hearts, it would become necessary to finesse East for the queen of clubs to score 11 tricks.

Once West continues spades and loses the initiative for his side, declarer is in position to assure the success of his contract because he still retains the ace of hearts. When the jack of clubs is led, instead of going up with the king, he should play the five from his hand. Even if West turns up with the queen, the balance of South's clubs become established and he has three heart discards available from dummy. After running his side suit, he cashes the ace of hearts and ruffs out the jack — confining his losers to one spade and one club.

As the cards actually lay, once the club finesse succeeds, South has to ruff out only two cards in the suit and ends up losing one heart and one spade on the deal.

A LITTLE GRAVEL MUST FALL
City crew working annual seal-coating program

Barnes Stops In At SEC Offices

HOUSTON (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes made an unannounced and unexplained visit to top federal Securities and Exchange Commission officials in Washington, D.C., Thursday, the Houston Post said in a copy-righted story Friday.

The Post said the visit may have been to complain about what Barnes has charged were unfair attempts by SEC investigators to link him with the Frank W. Sharp stock controversy.

Barnes said several weeks ago SEC lawyers taking depositions in the Sharp investigation frequently were going out of their way to drag his name into the probe. He also charged that SEC investigators were "leaking" information irrelevant to the probe in an attempt to harm him politically.

Barnes indicated at the time that he might complain to high SEC officials.

Barnes' aide, Robert Spellings, said at Austin he was "not aware of what was discussed" by Barnes and SEC officials but confirmed the meeting occurred. The Post said its Washington Bureau learned that Barnes visited with SEC Chairman William J. Casey and Stanley Sporkin, chief of the agency's enforcement division.

An SEC spokesman said the meeting lasted only about 10 minutes.

Through the spokesman, Casey said, "He (Barnes) just came in to chat, giving no explanation of the meeting."

The Post said it also learned that while in Washington Barnes also met with National Democratic Committeeman Robert S. Strauss of Dallas.

Strauss said he and Barnes had meetings Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

"Ben and I went over a number of things concerning state and national political matters, including some things specifically concerning him," Strauss said. "We had not visited in quite a while."

Strauss indicated others took part in the meetings, but he declined to identify any others.

Pravda Plugs For Lindsay

MOSCOW (AP) — A Moscow newspaper said today that a bid to get the Democratic presidential nomination for Mayor John V. Lindsay "is close to realization."

Moskovskaya (Pravda) noted that Lindsay made his nomination possible Aug. 11 by switching from the Republican to the Democratic party.

"The point is that the Democrats really have no other candidate who can rely on wide popularity," the paper said.

"The reputation and chances of Edward Kennedy were destroyed by the notorious automobile accident in which a former secretary of Robert Kennedy was killed. The former Democratic vice presidential nominee, Edmund Muskie, has no wide popularity. And former Vice President Humphrey, who is trying to say now that he did not know about the adventures of Lyndon Johnson in Vietnam, has almost no chance."

Gus Hall Heads Communist Ticket

NEW YORK (AP) — Gus Hall, general secretary of the Communist party in the United States, has been named as the party's 1972 presidential candidate.

"We have no illusions about winning, but we hope to have an influence on the ideas of the masses," the 61-year-old Hall said.

Named to run with Hall as the party's candidate for vice president was Jarvis Tyner, a Philadelphia Negro who at the age of 31 would be too young to serve under the Constitution if he were elected.

Mickey Mouse School Bus Plan

HENRYETTA, Okla. (AP) — Elementary school children in this eastern Oklahoma town will start class next week at a citywide, one-room school.

Principal Raymond Sewell thinks he has licked the one big problem that cropped up last spring during a brief test run of the new concept. Sewell calls the answer "comparative art."

During the test period, some of the first-graders got on the wrong buses. At the end of the day, Sewell chased throughout this city of 7,000 in his personal car, retrieving lost youngsters.

This year each school bus will be decorated with a giant picture of such cartoon favorites as Pinocchio, Mickey Mouse, Jumbo and Pluto.

And rubber-stamped on each little wrist will be a corresponding cartoon figure.

State Department Will Mend Ways

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has pleaded guilty to a charge of discrimination against a female diplomat and promised to mend its ways.

Allison Palmer, a career foreign service officer since 1960, had complained that she had been denied assignments to posts in Africa because of her sex and that her career was hurt.

"I accept this finding" by a hearing examiner supporting her complaint, Deputy Undersecretary of State William B. Macomber Jr. said in a decision made public by the State Department.

"In the future no distinction based on the sex of the employe should be made and instructions to this effect will be issued," Macomber said.

By way of remedy, Macomber proposed that Miss Palmer be promoted from foreign service officer Grade 4 to Grade 3.

The Administration Of Justice

Everyone, from the chief justice down, is concerned over the creaking state of our judicial system. Verdicts are becoming harder to come by; crowded court dockets impose hardships on defendants and society alike by postponing trials for long periods.

With the problem grown to such proportions, it should be obvious radical surgery is necessary. And the longer we wait, the more aggravated the condition will grow, and the more society will suffer the consequences of lagging justice.

A good place to start on reform, as stated by the attorney general and others, is on the mountain of "victimless" crimes which clutter up the courts. The orderly process of law enforcement and criminal justice should have as its top priority the protection of society. But the tail is wagging the dog; much of the time of law enforcement officers and the courts is taken up by action on crimes committed not against another person but against the defendants themselves or simply against the statue books. Consider the time expended on arresting, caring for in jail and prosecuting drunks, or prostitutes, or homosexuals. Or those who burn draft cards and march in protests. Or, as in Austin recently, those who indulge in nude swimming parties.

In all these cases, there are no victims. But the energy expended on such crimes or violations is deflected from being spent on catching burglars or rapists or robbers and on prosecuting them.

We should redirect our attentions, judicial and enforcement. This may require a new system of simplified courts for handling "victimless" crimes with dispatch. It may require a new measure of enforcement, selective by necessity and dictating other than incarceration for those suspected of "victimless" crimes.

Somehow, we must find a method of dealing with first things first — and in the administration of justice; that means protecting society from those who commit crimes against others.

A Scientist On The Moon

At long last, the United States will send a professional scientist to the moon. Dr. Harrison H. Schmitt, a geologist, will make the trip with Apollo 17 in December, 1972.

Although the decision was painful for Joe Engle, the pilot-astronaut who was bumped for Schmitt, the move was a logical one.

Apollo 17 is the last scheduled moon landing. The two crewmen will devote about 90 per cent of their work to geology. Schmitt holds a doctorate in geology and his background will be put to good use. But he will not be an idle passenger. He also will serve as the lunar module pilot, a job he learned in astronaut training.

Eastern Curfew

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

I think I may have figured out what's wrong with the entire Eastern part of the United States. They're all sleepy.

Our network television ends at 10 p.m. — right? Then the news and Johnny Carson or Dick Cavett, and into beddy-bye by midnight.

Okay, in the East, network programming continues until 11, and the talk shows aren't over until 1 a.m.

Assuming that their work day doesn't begin until 9 a.m., they still have to get up early and ride a long way to get there.

Who can do a good job when he's tired?

What we need is an Eastern curfew.

I know a Scurry Street woman who suffered a large blister on an embarrassing spot, which shall be nameless, from sitting on a plastic seat cover in her automobile.

Jesting Jay Sanders, alias Charles, suggests: "Quite often, the difference between fact and figure is a girdle."

Anne Stephens, word chaser, defines dermatology as a "skin game" and suggests a motto for the hydraulic engineers of the world: "Dam it!"

A friendly neighborhood dictionary describes solon — a word southwestern newspapers often use in headlines to refer to national and state lawmakers — as: "A legislator, publicist, wise man, sage. Often humorous." You may supply your own punch line.

The movie "Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice" — now that I think about it — was a type of mixed doubles.

"Me and You and a Dog Named Boo" wouldn't have gone anywhere if it had been "You and Me and a Dog Named Bee."

What do you want? Good grammar or a big hit?

Now you can buy walking shorts with the frayed bottom built in — by the establishment, of course.

That's one of many reasons why the establishment remains — it's versatile.

Tommy Jordan, you know him, says he isn't so sure about the exclusiveness of the name Big Spring, but his highway travel has convinced him the most common place known is exit.

If you don't read the sports pages, you may not know that Arkansas U's great Lance Alworth has filed for personal bankruptcy.

He claims debts of $803,209 and total assets of $69,662. Last year he claimed bankruptcy in connection with his business interests.

That's pretty good for a native Texan from Brookhaven, Miss., out of the University of Arkansas.

California Exodus

Marquis Childs

SAN FRANCISCO — This most-populous state in the Union has to end up in the Nixon column next year if the President is to be re-elected. But something strange is happening in what was once the golden magnet of the Pacific slope, drawing hundreds of thousands from the Midwest and the Southwest to the land of promise.

PEOPLE ARE leaving the state in such numbers that the exodus exceeds the in-migration for the first time in years. A careful, analytical article in The Wall Street Journal recently rocked the complacency of the developers who believe the bonanza would go on forever. The exodus from Los Angeles amounts to 35,000 people a year — the reasons being smog, earthquakes, unemployment and the increasing dominance of the blacks.

The unemployment rate in California is 7.2 per cent, about a point and a half higher than the national average.

WHAT THE NIXON program will mean in jobs in cities such as San Francisco where imports and exports are so important is questionable. A seven-week dock strike has had a serious effect on San Francisco's economy. In southern California Japanese cars have taken 35 per cent of the nation's biggest car-buying market in the first half of 1971. The far-reaching thrust of the Nixon program will mean painful adjustments.

Odd things are happening in Orange County, that seat of undiluted Birchism. George Brokate, a Marine veteran of two combat tours in Vietnam, and once a leading Nixon supporter, turned up at a meeting of the Republican Central Committee of Orange County to denounce the President as just another tricky politician who had sold out the freedom of hundreds of millions to atheistic communism.

HERE RECENTLY for a meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council George Meany looked dourly on the Nixon mission to Peking. The council heard Sen. Henry (Scoop) Jackson whose presidential campaign is more visible every day and gave him long, loud cheers.

Still another reason why Californians may be voting with their feet as they leave the state is taxation. For all the rhetoric about cutting costs and reforming the welfare rolls, Gov. Ronald Reagan faces in his second term the same problems that confront virtually all governors. Rising costs and the demand for ever more highways and other services spell higher taxes.

REAGAN CAME into office promising to cut taxes and introduce business reforms. He had to ask an additional $1 billion in new taxes. While the welfare rolls have been pared and benefits squeezed to a minimum, he told the legislature the other day that he would need close to another $350 million in taxes to foot the bill.

MORE THAN most Californians admit, the earthquake threat may be a factor. What happened in Los Angeles in February was for many the handwriting on the wall. San Francisco sits on the San Andreas fault which could at any time produce a major shift in the earth like that of 1906. Yet the forest of skyscrapers multiplies year after year, changing the character of what was once a glowing white city content on its hills. It has been an extraordinary experiment, this California, this melting pot of Chicanos, blacks, Chinese which failed to melt with violent consequences.

SOMETHING HE CAN UNDERSTAND!

Wall Street Terminology

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — A favorite Wall Street cliché is that the small investor is always wrong, a self-serving preaching that is no more correct than the assumption that the big investor is always right.

"Wall Street is all mixed up in its terminology," said Tom O'Hara chairman of the National Association of Investment Clubs. "They're talking about small traders, not investors."

Certainly small traders often lose their money, he said. But there is considerable proof, he adds, that big traders also lose, a belief reinforced by the short term records of some go-go mutual funds.

Investors, meanwhile, continue to roll up profits over the long term. He produced a survey to show that members of the NAIC have doubled their assets every five years, on average.

During the dark days of the market last year, when the Dow Jones Industrial average was down to 631 points from its high of 986 the year before, the gloom couldn't have been thicker among many professionals.

At that time O'Hara visited many investment clubs throughout the Midwest and found their members acting in what some observers would feel was a dangerous way.

"They were taking out mortgages on their homes and borrowing on their insurance policies in order to invest," said O'Hara. It was the very bottom of the market. "All those folks must have sizable profits now," he said.

Investors, believing in fundamentals, felt they can take such risks. And maybe some small traders also acted shrewdly, because there was a sharp spurt in odd-lot purchases at the same time the market hit bottom.

As measured by the performance of investment clubs, which generally are made up of 15 members with a portfolio that may range from a few thousand to, in one case, $1 million, the small investor has decided good judgment.

The survey referred to earlier, which included the records of 990 of 13,000 member clubs, showed that over the lifetime of the individual clubs, earnings have averaged 14.7 per cent compounded annually.

Says O'Hara: "We stress fundamental, long-term investment philosophies. Our program calls for investing regularly over a long period of time regardless of what the market does."

Most clubs invest regularly once a month, and also reinvest their earnings. Since the objective is to be fully invested, few clubs have any sizable cash position for an extended period.

In choosing specific stocks, members are urged to keep their eyes sharp for companies growing faster than the over-all economy, but they are cautioned at the same time to avoid chasing the purchase price too high.

Job For Demos

Andrew Tully

(Andrew Tully is on vacation. During his absence his column will be written by leading figures on the Washington governmental and political scene.)

By LAWRENCE F. O'BRIEN Democratic National Chairman

What the Democratic party does between now and the Democratic national convention in July of 1972 could well determine the outcome of the next presidential election.

From the Democratic party viewpoint, the need is immediate to begin to develop a national momentum — carrying with it organization, finances, issues, registration — that will be so well-developed by convention time that the actual presidential campaign will be virtually ready to go the morning after the candidate is nominated.

THE NOMINATION at Miami Beach, in short, should be viewed as not the beginning of the 1972 campaign, but the beginning of the final crucial stage of a national effort that got under way months earlier.

The warning, then, is clear: For Democrats to look upon the 1972 Presidential election as a job that begins two months before election day is virtually to assure the re-election of Richard Nixon.

AS THE DIRECTOR of two presidential campaigns, I remember only too well how the momentary euphoria of my candidate's nomination was shattered — practically the next morning — by the sudden realization that if there was to be a workable national campaign organization, we would have to fashion it ourselves — and in desperate haste.

IN NEITHER case had the national party foreseen the need to build even a skeleton of a workable political organization — including such unglamorous but indispensable equipment as a research bank that would tell the candidate's staff what the opponent and his party had been saying and doing that merited public comment.

If I do nothing else as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, I'm going to see to it that the first piece of news Candidate X receives when he wakes up that glorious morning in Miami Beach is something like this:

If I do nothing else as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, I'm going to see to it that the first piece of news Candidate X receives when he wakes up that glorious morning in Miami Beach is something like this:

"Here's your organization. It's ready to go. Good luck."

ACTUALLY, while the news will be delightful for that candidate, it will be not all that surprising. Because in two unprecedented meetings this year — to be followed by others after the summer break — I have brought together all of the major presidential contenders to ensure, among other things, that they have a clear voice in the operations of the Democratic National Committee and its chairman as we prepare for Convention '72.

WITHOUT EXCEPTION, their enthusiasm and cooperation have not only indicated the recognition of the urgent need for an early start on the campaign, but have been one of the most dramatic signs of the new spirit of unity in the Democratic party.

Hal Boyle

By PAT THOMPSON (Substituting for Hal Boyle)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., (AP) — Our 5-year-old son, Scott, casually dropped a startling observation during dinner the other night.

"I want to be a bus driver when I grow up. I used to want to be a policeman, but they die," he said innocently, unaware of a concern in many major U.S. cities.

Scott starts kindergarten this fall. Like most parents sending their oldest away to school for the first time, my wife, Judy, and I are feeling a little sentimental about it all.

"Schools are for children to learn, to write and color gooder," Scott says.

With the thought of school approaching during a 1,300-mile vacation return trip from New York and New Jersey by car, we decided to ask Scott about some of his ideas or impressions of various topics.

First, let me say his pre-

Kindergarten Time

school education consists of Sunday school, perhaps too much television during those stretched out Minnesota winters and what he's picked up on his own during his first two years in Albuquerque, N.M., and visits to the grandparents in El Paso, Tex.

Scott's answers: "Pollution is litter, trash, paper and bottles and cans." "War is man fighting man; Indians fighting cowboys ... and they die."

"Planets are little Jupiters up in the sky. We live on earth. Nobody knows very much about planets because nobody has been there. There are creatures on Jupiter."

"The sun is hot. When you make feather wings and fly up there, you get burned. The moon is very cold. When you fly up there, you get cold."

"God is a man that is magic. He can turn the sun into the moon. God's been up in heaven for 10 weeks now. Jesus is the same thing as God."

"Babies are little. Mommies have to feed them. They come from mommies' tummies. Daddy puts the seed in her body and they go to the doctor. The doctor and nurse take the baby out."

"Lightning is thunder's paper."

"Vacation is going. Sometimes you take suitcases." "People die when they get fright, fright, frightened to death. When they die, God takes care of them up in heaven."

"Beautiful is flowers. Mommie is beautiful. Love is a man kissing a girl and they're going to marry each other."

"Black people do the same thing as white people. They're just the same as white people ... except they're black."

When our little boy goes away for his first day of school ... he goes away to learn.

WASHINGTON — The problems emerging in Vietnam due to its presidential election scheduled for Oct. 3, are causing the State Department a good deal of uneasiness. There had been hopes that President Thieu would have opponents in the forthcoming contest, but all other announced candidates have withdrawn.

THE AMERICAN government is anxious that South Vietnam get a start that will not be a reflection on democracy. Both Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Gen. Duong Van Minh, who had planned to be candidates, now say they wish the election to be postponed for three months under an article in the South Vietnamese constitution which would permit an interim presidency by the chairman of the upper house of the parliament.

If President Thieu is amenable to such a solution, officials here will regard it as a step forward. Deep interest has been manifested in conferences with South Vietnamese officials urging assurances of an election that could be accepted by all sides as having been fairly conducted. State Department spokesman, Robert J. McCloskey, said the other day in answer to questions from the press:

"LOOK, THE United States for all these years has had a very important stake in Vietnam, both on the military and political side. And it has tried to do nothing but the best — both on the military and the political side. An American ambassador in Saigon could do nothing less than urge that an important election be fair and contested."

Mr. McCloskey was referring to the series of meetings American Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker has just had with Gen. Minh and Vice President Ky, presumably to try to persuade them to stay in the race.

THE LATEST proposal is to put the election off for three months — until January — during which time both President Thieu and Vice President Ky would resign and an interim president would head the government. There is a feeling here that the world will regard a contest in which three candidates are entered as far more democratic than one in which only a single nominee is running. The General impression is that if President Thieu is unopposed, the election will look less democratic than the one that was held before he first took office. At that time, ten other nominees opposed him and Vice President Ky.

IF PRESIDENT Thieu is re-elected in a one-man race which critics in Saigon insist has been "rigged," there will be a disposition in Congress here to argue that "self determination" of the people of South Vietnam has not been achieved. The Nixon administration will be under attack and efforts will be made to bring about the withdrawal of U. S. troops at an earlier date than has been contemplated. No doubt these complications have been made clear in Saigon.

THE CHANCES are, therefore, that serious consideration will be given by President Thieu to the whole question of what the impact will be in the outside world if some of the South Vietnamese themselves continue to charge that the election was "rigged." Naturally, the Saigon government is well aware of the delicate questions with which it will be faced in the year 1972. Certainly if the South Vietnamese people have not really been permitted to choose their president, the principle of "self-determination" will have been ignored.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I am repeating a question I sent you. Perhaps it was misplaced or lost. I have been told that when we put our faith in Christ that we can discard the ten commandments. I cannot believe this is true, for it seems that Christ's teaching and the commandments go together. Please give me your opinion.

R.D. Jesus said, "Think not that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets. I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill." Matthew 5:17.

He fulfills them in two ways. First, the Bible says that the commandments are "a schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ." Galatians 3:24. They teach us that without Christ we are unable to keep them. Our natural bent is to break them. From childhood, we find it easy to do wrong and difficult to do right. But, when we receive Christ, He gives us the capacity to keep the commandments. He does this by giving us a new nature. "Therefore if any man be in Christ he is a new creature." II Corinthians 5:17. So, the first thing Christ does is to give us new desires, new motives, and new strength.

The second thing Christ does is to expand the commandments and make them more meaningful. In the Sermon on the Mount, He said many times, "The law says ... but I say." He saw sin not just as an outward breaking of the law, but as inner rebellion. He said, "He that hateth his brother hath committed murder," and "He that looketh on a woman to lust after her, hath committed adultery already in his heart." But, since in the new birth, He dealt with motives of our hearts, we are able to keep His expanded version of the commandments. How wonderful His grace!

A Devotion For Today...

"Seek the Lord while he may be found, call upon him while he is near." (Isaiah 55:6, RSV)

PRAYER: O Lord God, we thank You for being ever present. Help us to Appreciate Your constant love and to serve You with our whole being. In Christ's spirit. Amen.

Singer-Composer's Widow Remembers Woody's World

By JO BRIGHT

"A dancer is a realist. Either your foot is pointed or it is not."

Mrs. Marjorie Guthrie had entered the room lightly — like a dancer — and now she sat, slender hands lying open, receptively, as she recalled the words that were to influence her entire life.

"You know, I was a dancer with Martha Graham's company for 18 years, and taught in her school; traveling all over the world, and I remember dancing in Texas — in Austin, Dallas, Houston."

Martha Graham, who emerged in the 1930's and 40's as one of the most original contemporary dancers in America, is now nearing 80 and Mrs. Guthrie describes her as "still beautiful, still a great lady."

"Miss Graham spoke the line I quoted when she made a film, 'A Dancer's World', and there, I think, has been the sentence of my life," smiled Mrs. Guthrie. "Now, I am a realist, and I am facing what I have to face, helping others to enjoy today. 'Now' is the greatest word in the English language to a dancer — you cannot make up a lesson that you missed yesterday."

The reality that Mrs. Guthrie had to face was the slow physical deterioration of her late husband, Woody Guthrie, who is belatedly being recognized as one of America's greatest folk singers and composers.

Woody Guthrie died four years ago of Huntington's Disease. It is a hereditary disease which has a 50-50 chance of claiming three more victims, the couple's children, Arlo, Joady and Nora.

"When I decided to be a dancer, I also knew that I was going to be very poor," continued Mrs. Guthrie. "My kind of dancers didn't make money, and I also knew that I was going to be what we call at the bottom of the cultural ladder. Yet both of these things could not persuade me from being a dancer. It gave me what I call 'guts' to do what I wanted to do."

Her artistry paid off, literally, when it helped provide money during the lean years of her early life with Woody Guthrie.

"How did she meet the man who is becoming a legend?"

"Well, I was dancing in New York when my sister wanted me to listen to a record. It was Woody singing, and when I heard that song, I knew that voice was meaningful to me. I envisioned this great, big tall cowboy with boots and a big hat and thought that I must meet this man. Several months later, Will Greer, who is now in TV, invited Woody to come to New York City. I begged to meet him and went along with Will. A little, tiny fellow with little beady eyes, no boots, no high hat — turned around and looked at me. Later, Woody and I agreed that this was, truly, love at first sight."

Marjorie and Woody were married in 1940, living in one tiny room. She spent every day at dance rehearsals and Woody would stay in the room working, in longhand, on his book, "Bound for Glory." Marjorie would come home at night and they would take turns reading aloud the work he had done, then she would type it.

"I did not help write it," said Mrs. Guthrie.

Yet, indirectly, perhaps she did help with the children's songs.

"We had a child — or first child — who died before Arlo was born," said Mrs. Guthrie. "Cathy was four. Woody used to call her 'Stackabones,' and all the children's songs in the beginning were written for her. I was teaching children at the time and Woody would come to see what we were doing and be inspired by that, but I take no credit, personally."

Pausing — thoughtfully, Mrs. Guthrie continued, "When Cathy died, it taught me something which I think is important. It is not how long one lives, but what one does with one's life that matters."

"We were scheduled to perform for a children's concert a week after Cathy's death, but we did not cancel. We wanted the songs, inspired by her, to live on, and so that night, with my big tummy — and Arlo in side — we went on stage and performed for the children."

Arlo did not grow up to be a dancer. Instead, he is becoming a singer in his own right, as well as a composer and actor. Arlo's composition, "Alice's Restaurant," was made into a film in which he starred, and he will begin a new public appearance tour this fall.

The Guthrie's other children are Joady and Nora.

"Joady is doing his thing in San Francisco," laughed Mrs. Guthrie, "and to quote him, he is 'finding his head.' Joady is a very sensitive human being, a capable, fine musician who could be an artist. He loves people; he's kind and gentle, and I hope that he will find his way. Woody and I never thought it important that our children be famous, and just because Arlo has fame doesn't mean that Joady has to have fame. However, he played recently at a folk festival in California, and Arlo says he's wonderful."

Nora Guthrie, 21, has just graduated as a dance major from New York University.

"They received a grant of money," explained her mother, "and she has spent the summer with five other graduates performing all over New York state. I think she would like to go on and be a professional dancer, but again, I think part of the job is not what you want, but what opportunities come your way."

Mrs. Guthrie keeps a "home base" in New York City while traveling about the country, as she is now, helping to form chapters of the Committee to Combat Huntington's Disease, Inc.

This evening, from 7 to 11 p.m., the Huntington's Disease Telethon will be broadcast over KBLE-TV, and Mrs. Guthrie will appear then to speak on behalf of a cause which has colored her complete life — and will — until its end.

It was in 1952, when Woody was about 40 years old, that his family realized that he had a serious disease.

"We knew there was some imbalance in his body," recalled Mrs. Guthrie. "To some people, he even looked sort of drunk, and he hadn't been drinking."

The disease is hereditary, yet it usually does not strike until the middle years. Consequently, it would be passed on to children without the parent's knowledge until it was too late.

"My children have enjoyed life so much," stressed Mrs. Guthrie. "We realize that life is beautiful. Of course, we know that now one can live the disease in a way that Woody couldn't — for now we have research, we have medication, we have hope no young person has to worry about having Huntington's Disease because people care."

In a nearby room, people who cared were waiting for Mrs. Guthrie. She rose to leave.

"We want to make health a priority in this country," she said. "We want all young people to have the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Then softly, she added, "Woody was in a wheel chair — and didn't have to worry about liberty or pursuing happiness."

Rainbows Initiation

Cindy Williams, worthy advisor, presided at initiation ceremonies for four new members of the Order of Rainbows For Girls Tuesday at the Masonic Temple. Those initiated were Amy McQueen, Kim Collingsworth, Connie Tucker and Robbi Rogers.

Pam Wheeler, faith station, announced that teams will collect hosiery Sept. 4 to be used by patients at Big Spring State Hospital as stuffing for toys, pillows and quilts.

In other business, the girls were reminded that they will operate concession stands and sell programs at all high school football games this season. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Curley Beard, Mrs. Alden Ryan, Ann Worthy and Diana Owen.

Class Announces Three Donations

The Homemakers Class, First Christian Church, donated $15 to the Bible Class Fund in memory of Mrs. George W. (Blanche) Hall, a former member, at a luncheon meeting Wednesday in the church fellowship hall.

Americans Spend Time Outdoors

More Americans will be spending leisure hours out of doors this year than ever before.

The typical family will spend the better part of each weekend and around two hours per week-day in the outdoor living room — be it patio, yard, terrace or poolside.

This amounts to 600 hours spent outdoors between May 1 and Oct. 30.

With the emphasis on outdoor living, families are paying particular attention to causal furniture that contributes to their comfort and doesn't add to their chores. The new furniture is sturdy, colorful, attractive and styles to be used indoors as well as out.

Club Has Annual Barbecue Supper

The Sew and Chatter Club held its annual barbecue and patio supper Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Lee Porter, 1918 Parkwood, with husbands of members as guests. The next meeting is at 3 p.m., Sept. 8 in the home of Mrs. S. R. Nobles, 405 Washington Blvd.

Eye Exercise Is Necessary Ritual

The face even the eyes, should be included in the beauty and health exercise ritual. Eye exercise, for example, can reduce tiredness and help restore the lively sparkle. The entire disposition improves, and it shows.

Try rolling the eyes as far as possible from left to right and back again several times. Then roll the eyes in a circle, clockwise and then, counter-clockwise. Next, look at some distant object and follow immediately by focusing on a nearby object.

If the eyes water frequently or if there is pain, get a professional eye examination. If the eyes feel tired and lack their usual lustre, it may be from a poor light. A quick nap can do wonders — especially if the eyes are covered with cotton squares soaked in witch hazel.

Still No Clues In Roscoe Slaying

SWEETWATER — Nolan County Sheriff Joe Slater said today that law enforcement officers are still searching for a lead in the early Wednesday slaying of Guy Dulin, 47, of Roscoe.

Dulin was found in a car on IS 20 near Roscoe with a gunshot wound.

"It looks like the bullet was a .22-caliber," said Sheriff Slater.

"We are talking to all the people we can find who may have driven past the area, but we don't have much yet," said Sheriff Slater.

Eagle Homes' First Unit Is Finished

The first mobile home was rolled off the production line at Eagle Homes Thursday just 16 weeks after the agreement to locate here was signed with the Big Spring Industrial Foundation.

"We have two units coming off the line today," said Leo Koestler, manager. "We expect to continue at this rate for some time with the 48 employees we have now."

Eagle Homes is expected to reach a goal of seven or eight units per day with more than 200 workers.

Mobile homes in all stages of completion fill the production line. The process starts with the floor, which is lifted onto the frame when complete. Then some inside equipment is added and the walls go up. As the unit moves down the production line, the roof is added and the unit covered with aluminum. The windows, doors and inside accessories are added and the mobile home is moved off the production line and stored until it is sold.

Eagle Homes is presently manufacturing 14-by-65-foot, two-bedroom, front and rear models.

FIRST EAGLE HATCHED — The first unit of the Eagle Homes production line was completed Thursday. The plant has started turning out two 14-by-65-foot, two-bedroom, front and rear mobile homes per day. Leo Koestler, manager, looks on at right.

TACO Meet Hosted Here

Howard County is hosting a meeting of the Texas Association of County Officials today at the Cosden Country Club. The meeting was to begin at 1:30 p.m.

County Judge A. G. Mitchell, TACO representative for Howard County elected officials and county employees, was to welcome delegates from approximately 30 counties to the meeting and to introduce TACO president Mike Sullivan, El Paso County sheriff.

Frank Owens, former state senator from El Paso, is the speaker for the meeting.

The purpose of the association is to work for stronger county governments, according to Judge Mitchell, and to unite such organizations as the County Judges and Commissioners and the County Tax Assessor-Collectors Association into a single, stronger organization.

Judge Mitchell said the organization hopes to include empowering counties to pass ordinances as to incorporated cities and to discover sources of revenue other than taxes.

WORKSHOP SESSION — Jake Glickman, left, Mrs. Arthur W. (Doris) Perkins, president of the local CCHD, Marjorie Guthrie, founder and national executive secretary of CCHD, and Dr. Alan Hays talk about the workshop session Thursday night for Big Springers interested in learning more about Huntington's Disease.

Huntington's Disease Like Damocles Sword

By STEVE HULTMAN

"We're being told to live with a Damocles Sword over our head, and it's not necessary," said Marjorie Guthrie.

Mrs. Guthrie, speaking at a workshop on Huntington's Disease, Thursday night at the Cosden Country Club, said: "Huntington's Disease is not hopeless. We can't cure the disease, but we can live with it.

"There are drugs that can help control the symptoms in some cases and allow people to live a more normal life. We can do many things to make the problems livable," said Mrs. Guthrie.

NOT SO RARE

"Huntington's Disease is not as rare as we once thought," she said. "Many people in the past have hidden the disease, but we are finding more and more of the estimated 100,000 victims of the disease.

"In the past it was thought that half of the children of a parent with the disease would have the disease, but we have found that each child has a 50-50 chance of not getting or of getting the disease. I know of many families in which less than half the children are affected," said Mrs. Guthrie.

Mrs. Guthrie was one of four speakers at the workshop on Huntington's Disease, a disease which produces a progressive degeneration of the nervous system and is inherited from the parents. The disease usually, but not always, occurs in middle age.

MANY PROBLEMS

"The problem of Huntington's Disease is not just for the patient," said Jake Glickman, chief of social services at the Big Spring State Hospital. "The whole family is affected by the disease and must be considered.

"One of the ways a family is disrupted is when the breadwinner has to be hospitalized. Then the other spouse is suddenly responsible for supporting the family, and may not be prepared for either the emotional problems or for a job.

"The stress begins when the symptoms begin," said Glickman, "and it gets worse right up to the end.

HELP FAMILY

"Counselors can help the whole family bring the problem into perspective so that they can live with it," said Glickman.

Dr. Alan Hays, Odessa, discussed the medical aspects of the disease and Miss Faye Wells, R.N., discussed the nursing care used at the State Hospital in the treatment of Huntington's Disease.

Mrs. Guthrie closed by saying "We don't have a cure or a control yet, but we will find a way through research."

Mrs. Guthrie will take part in a Huntington's Disease telethon today from 7 to 11 p.m. on KBLE-TV Channel 3. The local chapter of the West Texas Chapter of the Committee to Combat Huntington's Disease is sponsoring the fund-raising show, which will include local talent presenting live music.

original zoning ordinance change on first reading from "SF-2", Single Family Dwelling, to "SF-3", Single Family Dwelling with specific use permit to allow the establishment of a park.

But, on April 13, with a new commission at the helm of the city government, the second reading died for the lack of a second to the approving motion.

Then the proposal went through a series of commission and board public hearings, arguments, changes, etc., and last week Chrane asked that his new proposal be placed once again on the agenda, but did not offer any information as to the extent of his reason for the request, according to city officials.

Also in the new plat the number of acres wanted by the contractor for the park was changed from the 105 acres on the original ordinance passed on first reading to 32 acres. This in itself will necessitate a new zoning ordinance to be drawn up, said Anderson.

Therefore, a likely result of the outcome of Tuesday's meeting will be the presentation in the next regular session of the whole new proposal with a new zoning ordinance that will probably require three readings before passage.

By BRIAN PEAY

Procedure on the Bill Chrane mobile home park issue did everything but fumble, stumble and fall down Tuesday night, as city commissioners, administrators and news reporters were caught sleeping on what actually took place on the issue.

Total acceptance of Chrane's request for the plat on the park and even passage of a re-zoning ordinance on the tract of land in the Wasson No. 2 Addition by the commission was what seemed evident to most who attended the meeting.

But, what actually was done was the approval of a revised plat for the park presented by Chrane in the meeting, and not a zoning change according to Roy Anderson, acting city manager, and Eddie Aciri, commissioner.

But, what actually was done was the approval of a revised plat for the park presented by Chrane in the meeting, and not a zoning change according to Roy Anderson, acting city manager, and Eddie Aciri, commissioner.

"I thought that we were passing the original ordinance for re-zoning and the plat. I felt like we were finally getting the issue off our hands," said Wadjo Choate, commissioner, when asked what he thought the commission did Tuesday night.

"It was my feeling that we approved the whole package in the meeting," said Frog Koger, commissioner. Commissioners Aciri and Jack Watkins contend that they knew all along that only the plat was up for approval and not a zoning change.

"My feeling on the issue was that Chrane's proposal came as a planned zoning area, if this can be done, and that the commission passed the plat with this stipulation in mind. I am concerned about actions taken by the commission without the services of legal counsel," said Arnold Marshall, mayor.

The mayor as well as some of the commissioners have considered temporarily employing a lawyer to attend the council meetings to advise on actions taken, however, one has never been hired.

Numerous times over the past year, Chrane's proposal has been studied by both the city commission and the planning and zoning board.

On March 23 the city commission, acting on advice from the planning and zoning board, approved the plat and the

'EVERYBODY'S PRETTY JITTERY' Rapist Wears Ski Mask

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — He wears a ski mask and works in the quiet hours before dawn. He carries a knife — lately, a gun — and his victims are both married and single women. He's a rapist.

"We feel he's responsible for most of the at least 20 rapes we've had in the past 18 months." The last attack occurred 10 days ago — a 17-year-old girl who was brutally beaten after she was raped.

A special 20-man task force is working overtime, joined by Texas Rangers, in their efforts to find the rapist.

In areas where the most rapes have occurred.

Free Lunch Policy Adopted At Forsan

FORSAN — Forsan Independent School District has adopted a free and reduced price lunch policy for school children unable to pay the full price, according to H. D. Smith, superintendent.

determining eligibility. Under the provisions of the policy, principals will determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the local official, he may make a request, either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision.

Local school officials have adopted family size and income scales to assist in determining eligibility. Under the policy a school-age child, with a family income of less than $2,670 and three persons in the family, will receive a free lunch. If the family income is between $2,671 and $3,310, the child would pay 20 cents. The size of family, number of school age children and income scales are graduated to a family of 12, including seven school age children, with a family income of $7,600, who would receive free school lunches.

The policy also provides that there will be no identification of, or discrimination against any student unable to pay the full cost of a lunch. A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the office of the superintendent of schools where it may be reviewed by any interested parent.

EARLY BIRD GETS

"This series of rapes and murders is as alarming or more alarming to us as it is to the average citizen," said Police Chief James R. Newsom.

A police spokesman said two men have been arrested and interviewed in the case but were released when victims were unable to identify them.

The attacks generally have come between 2 a.m. and 5 a.m. about once a month. The attacker has cut screens, picked locks, jimmied doors to make his way into the homes of terrified women.

"It's pretty hard to get any kind of conviction when no one can identify the attacker," he said.

WOMEN BEATEN

Newsom said that extra policemen have been patrolling

Newsom said the investigation has shed new light on the attacks but he could not divulge the nature of the material.

At first, he was carrying a knife but here lately he's carried a gun," the spokesman said.

A 15-year-old girl was the last murder victim in Port Arthur but police said they don't feel her death was connected with the rape attacks.

Fine Weather To Dominate

By The Associated Press Fair skies, mild temperatures and light breezes made Texas weather pleasant today. Occasional showers fell along the up-ter coast and in North Texas. Weathermen said conditions would be favorable all day and Friday evening except for scattered showers, mostly in the afternoon.

Dawn temperatures ranged from 62 at Dalhart to 80 at Galveston. Most were in the 60s and 70s. The National Weather Service said good weather would last several days.

Officers Recover Television, Stereo

The recovery of a color television and stereo taken in a burglary of the Harold Newton farm on the Garden City Hwy. may lead to the clearing up of three more similar burglaries, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard.

a series of burglaries in which televisions, stereos and like equipment were taken. "We think that through questioning this suspect we may clear up burglaries which occurred as far back as three months ago in Sand Springs and at residences on Hilltop Road and the Andrews Hwy.," said Sheriff Standard.

"We began investigating the Newton burglary Aug. 20, and we had several leads. We heard that the Martin County Sheriff's office was investigating a similar burglary there and had a suspect in custody. We sent one of our men over there to question him, and through this we were able to recover the two items which were returned to their owner this morning," said Sheriff A. N. Standard.

Sheriff Standard added that an agent representing Howard, Martin and Midland counties is going to Oklahoma City today where it is believed more stolen items from the three areas can be recovered. "When we finish our investigation of the Newton burglary, we will file charges against the suspect in custody in Stanton," said Sheriff Standard.

Borden Tax Suit Settled

GAIL — Settlement has been reached in the tax inequity suit filed by six oil corporations against Borden County and its taxing agencies, according to Glenn Toombs, county judge.

The oil companies and county this morning came to an agreement that Borden County will add only $1 million in value to the 1970 oil and gas tax rolls for 1971 and let all other value on utilities, pipelines, personal property and local land remain the same as assessed for 1971.

The action came after 1 1/2 days of testimony from witnesses on both sides of the issue. This morning an expert witness on tax valuations for the oil companies, 'Hap' Bratcher, took the stand and upon his testimony a settlement was reached.

Bratcher assessed a value of $45 on per acre land in the county per acre and $183 per acre on all farming land. He also suggested that the county re-evaluate all taxable property in Borden County for 1972. The county agreed out of court to do this, according to Toombs.

For the 1971 tax year the county had originally assessed $5 1/2 million over last year's value on oil and gas property. This spurred the tax suit against the county by the oil companies. Last year's oil and gas tax roll was $15,221,900.

The oil corporations have agreed to drop the suit and papers of agreement were being drawn this morning, said Toombs.

Black, White Churches Merge In New Unity

Christ United Methodist Church will come into being this Sunday. The new church is being created by a merger that is without precedent in the Northwest Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church.

UNPRECEDENTED

The merger is unprecedented because of the churches involved, one is Negro and the other is Anglo. Members of St. Luke's United Methodist Church and Wesley United Methodist Church, both in Levelland, voted Aug. 8 to discontinue their separate churches in order to establish one, multi-racial congregation.

The merger will be officially completed when the new church is organized at 11 a.m. Sunday under the direction of Bishop Alsie H. Carleton, presiding bishop of the Northwest Texas Conference. Dr. Marvin L. Boyd, Lubbock district superintendent, and Dr. Ellis L. Langston, pastor of the two churches uniting by the act of merger. Dr. Langston, who will be the minister of the new church, has been serving both churches since June and had been the pastor of Wesley for two years prior to his concurrent appointment to St. Luke's.

Property belong to the two churches is to be deeded to Christ United Methodist Church. The new congregation will meet for morning worship in the building at 1704 College. The St. Luke's building will be renovated and used as a community service center.

ONE PEOPLE

Terms of the merger uniting the black and white churches were drawn up by a committee of 10 persons — five from each congregation. New church officials will be elected after the service of merger. The theme of the uniting service of worship is, "One Lord, one faith, one baptism — Now one people." Banners proclaiming "We are one in the Lord" and "They'll know we're Christians by our Love" will make the dawning of this new day of brotherhood in the life of the church. Representatives from both churches will declare in behalf of their own congregations the result of the vote taken and their desire to enter into the union.

According to Dr. Langston, the two congregations have been moving toward this day of union for several years, the two churches having joined in worship and times of fellowship regularly over a long period of time. This summer the two choirs joined forces to present the folk-rock musical, "Joseph And The Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat."

UNITY ESSENTIAL

"The overwhelming response of this project has convinced us that unity is not only possible but is essential to the very nature of our calling," Dr. Langston said. "We now believe that our continued separation from our brothers in the faith on the basis of race is a living contradiction of what the Gospel proclaims. We have simply taken that message seriously and have tried to set an example worthy of imitation. We hope that our action will function as a creative catalyst for constructive change in the life of the whole church and in the lives of our fellowmen."

Evangelist To Speak To Youths At Phillips

Former ghetto gang leader Rick Ingle will give his "life story testimony" at the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church here Friday, Sept. 3 at 7:30.

Before his conversion in 1953, Evangelist Ingle was a youth gang leader in the ghettos of Philadelphia, Pa. Now a full time evangelist, the Rev. Ingle has conducted over 250 Revival Campaigns across America. This last year under his ministry over one thousand young people have been converted.

Special youth-services are planned for Thursday night with a pizza party for all Junior-Senior High Students at 6:30. A hot dog supper for all Elementary Students, ages 8 through 12, is planned for Saturday night at 6:30, along with a "magic show."

The public is invited. The Rev. Charles W. Corley is pastor of the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church.

Baptist Women Select President At Westside

Mrs. C. L. Kirkland was elected president of the Baptist Women at Westside Baptist Church Tuesday morning. Serving with her will be Mrs. E. O. Sanderson, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Mary Riddle, reporter.

Other positions filled went to Mrs. Loyd Murphree, Bible study chairman; Mrs. J. W. Trantham, mission support chairman; Mrs. J. O. Murphy, program chairman, and Mrs. Leroy Minchew, mission study chairman.

Mrs. Minchew gave the program entitled "Prayer — My Part In The Missions Task", saying that prayer is effective, desirable and beneficial to spiritual life.

"Jesus never theorized, preached or defined prayer," said Mrs. Minchew. "Rather than talk about it he prayed. The proper spirit in prayer is to forgive our enemies, and prayer should be a part of the routine atmosphere of our lives."

Mrs. Minchew said one missionary wrote he would rather have five minutes a day of everyone's prayer than five dollars a day of their money.

Assisting Mrs. Minchew with the program was Mrs. N. M. Hipp, Mrs. Trantham and Mrs. Sanderson. Members agreed to donate $10 to the Bible Fund. The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the church.

Members Oppose Davis' Defense

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP) — When Central Presbyterian Church members learned that the Presbyterian Council on Church and Race had allocated $10,000 for the defense of Angela Davis, a number of them became incensed and threatened to curtail donations and possibly leave the church.

As a follow up, church members were sent a copy of a resolution protesting "the benevolences for such a cause because it is counter-productive of the purposes for which the church's funds were raised."

Baptist Group Builds Housing At Low Cost

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — On a booming front, American churches are producing new housing for the poor, the elderly and other needy people. And it can be done without costing members a dime.

That is, "if it's done right," says the Rev. Dr. John Vanderbeck, of Valley Forge, Pa., a Baptist who has become the No. 1 "housing man" for churches in this country.

SERVICE IS KEY

Dr. Vanderbeck, 45, a specialist in the technicalities of financing, developing and managing housing as well as a minister, is president of the American Baptist Service Corporation, the nation's biggest producer of nonprofit housing.

"The key of what we were doing is the word 'service,'" he said in an interview. "Our main strength is that we care for people."

Because of the Baptist agency's experience and know-how it has become the technical planner, funding processor and coordinator for housing projects sponsored by church groups of many denominations.

PROJECT GROWTH

Since 1968, when the Baptist agency was handling 18 projects costing about $12 million, its work has grown to its present 239 projects across the country involving outlays totaling $587 million, and when completed, housing about 60,000 people.

The projects at various stages from preliminary paperwork to finished, operating, housing for the poor, old, mentally ill or nursing homes are sponsored by local churches or associations of them.

GIVE HE'P

"We help any group that is religious based," Dr. Vander-beck said. "We become their consultant, help find the site, develop project design, process the loan, set an operational budget and arrange qualified management."

Seven denominations which the agency serves, the United Methodist, United Presbyterian, Episcopalians, American Lutherans Church, Southern Presbyterians, United Church of Christ and the Christian Church disciples have formed an Inter-religious Coalition for Housing.

Under the National Housing Act, the Federal Housing Administration will insure loans covering 100 per cent of costs of such locally sponsored nonprofit housing, if, as Dr. Vanderbeck notes, it is soundly carried out.

Caribbean Jewish Heritage Fading

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Roots of the 300-year-old existence in the Caribbean may be completely lost unless American Jewish institutions help keep it going, says historian Malcolm Stern. He says synagogues and other marks of Jewish life there are "rapidly disappearing."

Communion Wine Is Too Tempting

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — Urging Christian churches to stop using fermented wines for communion, Mrs. Annie Blake told the British Women's Temperance Association conference here that alcoholics trying to cure themselves have to stay away from the services to avoid temptation.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

These celebrity-conscious people who would pay $25 to see Dean Martin in person at Fort Worth's Convention Center Oct. 2 could have followed the Steubenville Kid around the Odessa Country Club for much less a few years back—and seen the real Martin, as well.

He competed in a couple of Odessa Pro-Ams, with Don Cherry as a partner. He was on center stage even then, but he tried to be himself.

What ever happened to plans to revive the Odessa Pro-Am, by the way? It was a good show but only the big time pros who figured they owed something to golf were playing in it toward the end.

Robert James, the Lamesa football coach, is working with the smallest Tornado squad in years. The Lamesans apparently will use hit and run tactics to try and unhinge the opposition.

No one is picking Lamesa to win the 3-AAA bunting but the Tornados could dictate the finish of the race.

Big Spring's Joey Baker will alternate with Ronny Peacock at the right cornerback post on the University of Houston football team this fall.

Puddin' Jones, who used to shed tacklers with disarming ease when he was creating a reign of terror for Ballinger High School, apparently will log a lot of playing time at the running back spot for the Cougars.

Jones' chief competition for the job will come from Tommy Mozacek.

Beano Cook, the outspoken TV network official who was sports publicist for the Pittsburgh Panthers in their sunset years, says that SMU, Rice and Baylor will all be out of the Southwest Conference football race "after Sept. 1."

Maybe the three should form a league by themselves and armwrestle for the championship.

Starting in 1941, Highland Park appeared in ten consecutive state football playoffs.

No other school can match that record, although Waco LeVega, Terrell, Valley Mills, Crawford and Rio Hondo each reached the playoffs eight years running.

Denver City was in the post-season round seven times, as were Ferris, Groom, Nederland, Phillips, Royce City, White Oak, Wichita Falls, Iowa Park, Dumas and Honey Groom.

You won't find any 5-AAAA teams in that elite group. It's too tough to go on winning year after year in this league.

After the Los Angeles Rams had been knocked sidesaddle by the Dallas Cowboys recently, coach Tommy Prothro of the Rams was heard to remark:

"I'm not worried... there's a long way to go. And we're going all the way."

Prothro, although he is a rookie coach in the NFL, firmly believes that Roman Gabriel will be able to promote the Rams into the Super Bowl.

Prothro carries a black briefcase to the sidelines with him for every game. Some observers claim it contains books on bridge, in which he is a recognized master. Others maintain the case has nothing in it because Tommy is too smart to lug anything around that would weigh him down, that he carries on a kind of psychological warfare that springs straight from his thick tank.

Prothro occasionally would confuse the opposition in college by kicking on second down. He would get roasted in the press for that maneuver but he never had teams with great offenses. They let the opposition make the mistakes, then capitalized on them.

You won't find the Rams kicking on second down, or will you? Tommy may try it if he thinks it will perplex the opposition.

Palmer Walks Over Hill; Boros, Littler Survive

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Arnold Palmer's made up his mind.

"I've come to the conclusion that it's a good tournament," he said after scoring a 68-71 victory over Mike Hill and leading the advance into today's third round of the $200,000 United States Professional Match Play Golf Championship.

"It's going to take time to develop, of course. Any tournament does.

"But it's interesting. I think the spectators like it. Almost anything can happen out there.

"An illustration of what could happen, almost did happen today."

He was referring to the eagle-birdie finish by Hill that turned what appeared to be a routine Palmer victory into a minor drama.

Palmer, gunning for a fifth title this season, will play Dave Eichelberger in today's third round, Eichelberger, 28-year-old winner of the Milwaukee Open earlier this season, eliminated Lionel Hebert 73-76.

Oddly enough, almost one third of the surviving field—five out of sixteen—is 41 years old or older.

In addition to Palmer, they are Julius Boros, the 51-year-old National Seniors champion; Gene Littler, 41; Art Wall, 47; and Gardner Dickinson, 43.

Boros eliminated Terry Dill 73-76, Wall turned back rookie Hubert Green 71-73, while Littler and Dickinson won in sudden-death playoffs, each with a birdie on the first extra hole. Littler and Dave Hill tied 71-71 and Dickinson and Hinson tied 73-73.

Caldwell Wins Opener, 13-1

A home run by Whitehead edged Goodyear to enable the Untouchables, 5-4, in the inaugural game of the Big Spring Slow Pitch Softball League tournament here Thursday evening.

In other action, the Caldwell Pavers toyed with Sand Springs Baptist to win, 13-1. Al Oldfather of the Pavers had a round tripper.

In the final game of the evening, Joe Hicks Motor, the regular season's champion, flogged Hillcrest Baptist, 14-5.

In that one, both Peters and Eddie Cook hit home runs for the winners.

Tournament action this evening will see the Jaycees tangling with Intech at 7 p.m., in the final first round game.

Caldwell and the Goodyear team will have at it in a winners' bracket contest at 8:30 p.m.

The winner of the evening's first battle returns to playing at 7 p.m., against Joe Hicks Motor.

The tournament will be concluded Saturday night. All action is taking place on the FM 700 diamond in the southeastern section of the city.

Canadian George Knudson birdied the final hole to eliminate Masters champ Charles Coody 68-69 in one of the day's better matches on the 6,973-yard, par-72 Country Club of North Carolina course.

Ray Floyd, a 67-69 upset winner over Jack Nicklaus in the first round, slipped to a 73 but still advanced over Bob Smith, who had a 74.

Giants Sign 30-Year Lease In New Jersey

NEW YORK (AP) — New Jersey Gov. William T. Cahill went to New York Thursday and came home with a football team, the New York Giants, who signed a 30-year lease to play in a state-owned stadium to be built in New Jersey by 1975.

Giants' owner and president Wellington Mara signed the lease assuring that his team will move to the planned 75,000-seat stadium to be built in the Hackensack River Meadowlands. David A. "Sonny" Werblin, former New York Jets owner and now chairman of the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority, signed for the lease.

The lease gives the Giants an option to renew and calls on the team to pay an annual rent of 15 per cent of ticket sales revenues. The Giants and the state will share all revenues from stadium concessions.

There will be parking space for 25,000 cars and 400 buses and all parking revenues will go to the state authority.

Cahill said, "It's a truly great day for the State of New Jersey and as great a day for New York Giant fans and all the citizens of New York."

The governor said the new Giant Stadium would be "another bridge between New York and New Jersey."

The signing Thursday culminated six months of executive and legislative planning by the Cahill administration to bring New Jersey its first major league sports franchise.

SHOTGUN START SATURDAY

New Champion Is Sure In Golf Invitational

A shotgun start will be employed at 1:30 p.m. Saturday to launch play in the first round of the 40th annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament at the Country Club.

Thirty-six players declared for the championship flight Thursday. In all, 98 entered the meet and more could be admitted today. Last year, 126 took part in the competition.

The championship flight will be cut in half after the first round of play is completed Saturday. Non-qualifiers for the final 18 holes will go into the President's flight Sunday.

Handicap players entered will be flighted according to the scores they post Saturday over 18 holes.

A barbecue for the competitors will be staged in the club house following the First National Bank cup matches today. The matches get under way at 2 p.m., likely will be finished before 7:30 p.m.

Entries can also attend a Saturday night dance in the club house without charge.

Flight winners in the tournament qualify for $150 gift certificates. Runners-up earn $100 in awards, third place winners $80 and fourth place finishers $25.

A new champion will be crowned since last year's winner, David Price of Odessa, did not file notices of entry.

Last year's runner-up, Duncan Boyer of Abilene, will be in the field, however, and should make a strong run at the championship.

Among highly respected entries in the championship field are Ted Gross, Big Spring; Mike Walling, Fort Stockton; Roy Peden, Kermit; Lawrence Bledsoe, San Angelo; Stuart Chancellor, Midland; Jeff Nieto, Dallas; and Dan Wilkins, Dallas.

Pro Game Blacks Out For While

A breakdown in microwave equipment in Colorado City deprived subscribers of cable TV in Big Spring and several other West Texas communities of seeing about 10 minutes of second half action in the Dallas Cowboy-Houston Oilers NFL football game Thursday evening.

Service was restored about three minutes before the contest ended.

Viewers in Midland and Odessa, as well as Big Spring, found their screens blacked out during the problem period.

Officials of the Big Spring Cable TV Company, in apologizing for the disruption of service, emphasized the fact that the problem did not originate here.

Five-Pound Bass Rewards Bill Green In Contest

Bill Green was the first place winner in the Big Spring Bass Club's intra-club tournament held at Hubbard Creek Lake the past weekend.

Green's catch weighed five pounds. Green's awards included a trophy and a Garcia 5000 reel.

Second place was nailed down by Ben Jenkins, whose catch weighed 2 pounds 13 ounces. His prize was a Fenwick rod.

Third place was claimed by Ted Hicks and netted him a sleeping bag. Tom Henry was fourth. He reaped for a water cooler. Hicks' fish weighed 2 pounds 10 ounces, Henry's 2 pounds 7 ounces.

The Anglers experienced a hectic weekend battling the wind while trying to entice the bass to hit their lures. The south end of the lake was shallow and muddy, adding to the frustration.

BILL GREEN

Cowboys Kayo Oilers, 28-20

HOUSTON (AP) — With Lynn Dickey, the brilliant rookie from Kansas State, as the victim, the Dallas Cowboys used the safety blitz Thursday night to break up a rough and tough exhibition game and reclaim the "Texas Championship" with a 28-20 victory over the Houston Oilers.

With 3:42 remaining in the final period and the Cowboys clinging to a 14-13 lead, the Dallas blitz enabled Cornell Green to intercept a Dickey pass and clinch the victory with a 40-yard touchdown return.

Just 70 seconds later, after covering a kickoff fumble, the Cowboys put the game out of reach as Dan Reeves, on a field goal fake, passed eight yards to D. D. Lewis for the fourth touchdown.

WENT TO BLITZ

"We went to the safety blitz because we thought the Oilers wouldn't be prepared for it this early in the season," said Tom Landry, the Cowboy coach now undefeated in four exhibition games.

Dickey, making his first start as a pro quarterback, completed 14 of 31 passes for 295 yards and two touchdowns but blamed himself for the interception that broke up the close game witnessed by an overflowed Astro-dome crowd of 49,075.

"It was my own fault that I didn't read the blitz," Dickey said. "They found out and kept coming with it."

"Dickey had the Cowboys on the ropes in the second half except for the one mistake on the interception," Landry said.

Ed Hughes, the new Oilers coach said "Lynn Dickey showed me a lot of cool."

"He was tough under pressure," Hughes said. "He had trouble with the safety blitz, but that was due to inexperience." Hughes stuck with Dickey all the way, leaving veteran Charley Johnson and rookie Dan Pas-torini on the sideline.

"We played extremely rough—it was a real physical type of game and we met them punch for punch physically," Hughes said.

Landry was not too happy even though the Cowboys recaptured the Texas Governor's Cup the Oilers had claimed a year ago with a 37-21 upset.

"Our over-all play was spotty and not too good," Landry said. "We were just not alert."

Several injured Dallas players including all star receiver Lance Alworth, did not play and Landry gave his running star, Calvin Hill, a rest the second half.

Landry had Roger Staubach at quarterback except for a brief period just before halftime when Craig Morton directed a 24-yard drive. Walt Garrison climaxed by plunging over from the one to put Dallas ahead to stay at 14-10. A 42-yard interception return by Dave Edwards had set up the drive.

Staubach and Dickey had opened the game by exchanging 75-yard scoring drives. A 43-yard Staubach pass to Bob Hayes at the Oiler five permitted Garrison to score from the two.

Lee Loses Senior

MIDLAND — Midland Lee's football team suffered a blow here recently when John Newton, a 210-pound senior tackle, underwent knee surgery. Newton likely will be out for the season.

Surgery On Heart

LUBBOCK — Vernon Hillard, track coach at Texas Tech, underwent heart surgery here during the week. The operation was termed a coronary bypass graft. He is at Methodist Hospital.

Hale Lauds 'Real Fans' At Booster Barbecue

Coach Clovis Hale of the Big Spring Steers identified the people who showed up for Thursday night's barbecue staged at the City Park by the Quarterback Club as "real fans," friends of football who missed out on the first part of the Dallas Cowboy-Houston Oilers telecast to honor the local team.

Several hundred adults broke bread with the team, the coaches and members of the BSHS pop squad unit. Most stayed to watch each boy introduce himself and to hear Texas Tech coaching aide Marshall Taylor deliver a brief address.

Taylor said successful football players and teams must adhere to certain training rules in order to succeed, adding that athletics are one of the last bastions against lawlessness and a disregard for country and flag today.

Taylor had unqualified words of praise for coach Hale and his aides. He said he had grown to know Hale well since arriving at Texas Tech and expressed the belief that Big Spring had a coaching staff "second to none" in Texas high school circles.

The speaker cited the need of team work if a club is to be successful and added that only those teams which are "willing to pay the price" consistently win.

Cheerleaders of the school were introduced by coach Hale and, in turn, led the crowd in several yells. The school cheering section particularly seemed in good voice.

The food, catered by Don Newsom, was served by members of the Quarterback Club.

Good Neighbors?

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There is a widow in our neighborhood who always makes a big fuss over the men, but she doesn't bother to speak to their wives. She cries on the men's shoulders and gets them to do her gardening and household repairs for her. The man across the street keeps her yard looking better than his own.

My husband is one of those who's been crying on lately and it's just eating me up. Last Sunday I looked for my man for two hours and I finally found him in her house laying her lineoleum!

I told my husband this woman was hurting my feelings, but he says he is just being neighborly.

Have you any advice for the other wives and me in this neighborhood who are in the same boat? This home wrecker is no spring chicken (she's 55 if she's a day), but she has red hair and never wears a wig. Thank you. JEALOUS DEAR JEALOUS: The problem is not your neighbor — it's your husbands. If they are being more than neighborly, let them know you are jealous and refuse to put up with any nonsense.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister (a twice-married, twice-divorced grandmother of two) has been living with a man for several years, and plans to marry him as soon as his divorce comes through.

Recently this prospective bride asked my husband if he would give her away when she gets married again. And to top it off, she would like him to finance the nuptials.

Abby, at first I thought she was kidding, but my husband assures me she is dead serious, and he asked me to write to you and find out if this is something he is obligated to do since their father is dead.

For years, this nutty sister has used my husband to get her out of the crazy messes she got herself into, and now this ridiculous request.

Does he have to give her away, Abby? I hope you say he doesn't.

DEAR SIS: He doesn't.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply envelope stamped, addressed please.

MONTPELLIER, France (AP) — Victoria Chaplin Therree, a daughter of Charlie Chaplin, has given birth to a girl in a clinic in this southern France city.

She is married to Jean-Baptiste Therree, a Frenchman who is director of a circus touring the region. A clinic official said mother and baby were well after the birth Tuesday.

Loves His Salt

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our son, 18, craves salt at any time of day, with his meals and between meals. He puts it on everything, and even sprinkles it on his palm, and eats it straight.

Can this be harmful to him? We thought he would probably grow out of it. — F.C.H.

This sort of problem is usually a matter of habit, just as some people develop a habit of dousing everything with ketchup or other seasonings.

About the only really physical cause of salt hunger that comes to mind is Addison's disease, a deficiency of the adrenal glands, but if that were the case here, you would have noticed other symptoms, too.

How or why people develop such an abnormal taste for salt otherwise, I do not know, but they'll shake salt on everything they eat, even before tasting it, and get it so salty that other folks wouldn't eat it.

On a short-range basis, I don't know that this does any harm, but it's wise to start breaking the habit early, because later on it can become part of more serious problems — high blood pressure, for one, or congestive heart disease, or edema from any of several causes.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Kindly forward booklet on leg cramps; 25 cents and self-addressed, stamped envelope enclosed.

Would you advise taking quinine sulfate capsules? — J.A.G.

Quinine in that form is one thing which quite often helps, but I emphasize in the booklet that other measures in addition are helpful, and unless you are lucky, you can't leave it all to the capsules.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I can't ask anyone but you about this. Last winter my husband took some LSD that a "friend" gave him. He had promised not ever to touch any drugs again, so I nearly divorced him, but I didn't and once more he promised "never again."

Later that month I got pregnant, but two months later I lost the baby. I have to know if drugs could have killed my baby. I want another baby very badly, but with his history of drugs of all kinds, I'm afraid to try. They say drugs can cause deformed babies, and I need some information. — Mrs. D.

One can't give you an absolute answer, no matter how much you "have" to know. You mention "drugs of all kinds." Drugs are known to produce chromosome changes, and defective babies and spontaneous abortions have been reported although only the husbands were drug-users.

Whether this was so in your case is uncertain. Babies can be lost at two months from causes not involving drugs.

My thought would be to wait two or three years and see if he stays off all drugs. If he doesn't, the baby even if healthy, would be brought into a family that would have problems.

If he keeps his promise, another pregnancy might go well, but I'd wait long enough to be pretty sure whether he really will stay away from drugs.

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble." It may be only rumor, but it can be dangerous. Read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need to Know About Them." Write to him in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Stance On Air Route Deals Reflecting Nixon's Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. diplomats have adopted a hard-nosed stance on international air-route deals, reflecting President Nixon's tough new economic policy but troubling some of America's longtime friends abroad.

Last week the United States, for the first time since World War II, told a foreign country—Ireland—that its airline will lose its lucrative New York stop unless U.S. carriers get a better break in Ireland.

Now U.S. negotiators are bargaining rigorously with Australians, seeking to boost American air traffic to that country. Meanwhile, Washington has pioneered a bid by Australia's air carrier, Qantas, to step up its service to the United States.

BELGIANS UNHAPPY
The Belgians are so unhappy about a U.S. refusal to allow their airline, Sabena, to fly to U.S. points beyond New York that they have talked about canceling their air agreement with the United States.

A Belgian negotiating team is due here next month—but U.S. officials say they won't give in. A similar meeting with Venezuela negotiators is scheduled for October.

France, West Germany and Canada also want to fly more throughout the United States but U.S. authorities say economic conditions at this time bar granting foreigners more routes to U.S. cities.

Officials say the U.S. attitude began stiffening about a year ago when it became apparent that U.S. international airlines were piling up large financial losses. Nixon's new economic policy announcement Aug. 15 poured hardening cement into the U.S. negotiating posture.

IRISH WIN
In a 1945 agreement, U.S. planes were allowed to refuel in Shannon, and the Irish won flights into New York, Boston and Chicago.

In ensuing years the increasing range of airliners shrunk Shannon's importance as a fuel stop, even as Irish International Airlines nurtured a thriving business to the three U.S. cities — earning three times as much from the route as its U.S. competitors — Pan American Airways, Trans World Airlines and Seaboard World Airlines.

Yet for 25 years the Irish rebuffed U.S. requests to let U.S. airlines fly into Dublin, the capital. The Irish say they want to continue Shannon as their international airport as a way of promoting economic development in eastern Ireland.

Unimpressed by that argument, U.S. negotiators ended discussions last week with formal notice to Ireland that its New York landing rights will be canceled in one year if U.S. lines can't fly to Dublin.

Celebrate 'Birthdays'

LIBERTY CORNER, N.J. (AP) — The Kienast quintuplets celebrated their 18-month "birthdays" Thursday with a special party.

About 200 persons turned out for the affair at the five-room home of Mr. and Mrs. William Kienast. A seven-room addition to the house is nearing completion.

The tots—Amy, Sara, William Gordon, Abigail and Edward—born in that order on Feb. 24, 1970, munched on birthday cake on the front lawn before retiring to their familiar sandbox.

The party was sponsored by Ecology Corp. of America, a Paterson, N.J., manufacturer for which the Kienasts have endorsed a laundry detergent.

"It would be idiocy to turn this down," Kienast said of the endorsement. "There's a helluva lot of money for this. This will make a nice bank account for the children."

TOMORROW — CAROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early morning is good for putting new plans in effect, but the afternoon and evening bring difficulties in pressing ambitions, and you are apt to say or do the wrong thing, or to act independent of the wrong matters in the outside world. Being diplomatic with mate solves the day for you. Don't do anything that could cause estrangement.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You had better get duties of home finished before you attempt to take care of matters in the outside world. Being diplomatic with mate solves the day for you. Don't do anything that could cause estrangement.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) The morning can be pleasant for you, but later you find you have to use diplomacy to avoid trouble. Don't offend others. Stick to business of hand and forget going off on tangents of all sorts.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have to be tactful in handling an outsider and a family tie, or you could lose out where both are concerned. Take care of some civic affair. Get those private matters attended to with vim and efficiency.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have a most important appointment to keep, but make sure you get your shopping done early so well. Handle that correspondence later when you feel relaxed. Don't neglect anything important now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have duties to perform before you go out for fun, though fun is what is uppermost on your mind. See that wardrobe is in order. Concentrate on amusements that are economical; avoid the expensive kind.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Instead of making those biting remarks to one of home, try to handle the matter diplomatically, kindly. Do something about improving your appearance. Think of yourself once in awhile.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have some private anxiety that should not deter you from getting much accomplished in the business world now. Give that assistance which a pet needs, then get right back to work. Avoid one who gossips too much.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Not a good day to talk over some monetary matter with one you count on, since he is not in the right mood as yet. Look at the overall picture instead of fussing with detail. Getting out to social events is fine, though.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't let those pressures from several sources get you down, but take them in your stride. Use this day to get yourself in fine shape personally. Don't become emotional and lose your temper.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) You can now see the other side of some situation that is vital to you, so study both sides well and you know what to do. Don't get hot and bothered about some small disappointments. You only waste time that way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 19) Get in touch with blunt pairs who can be helpful to you if you state your aims clearly and well. Get out socially and have a delightful time in p.m. Treat others in a kindly and charming way.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Listening to what a partner says is fine now, but refuse to carry through with what a worried and wrong-thinking executive wants. Forget that civic work today that annoys you. Show more devotion to mate.

EMPLOYMENT BY CHRISTMAS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of the 150,000 unemployed helped by the Emergency Employment Act will have jobs by Christmas, a Labor Department official says.

William Mirengoff, director of the department's public employment program, reviewed the timetable of the new law at a meeting for discussion of the act.

He said so far $42 million has been set aside for 241 program agents to create 11,000 jobs and that 600 unemployed have been hired so far.

The $120 million for initial funding will be obligated by Labor Day, and the entire $1 billion appropriated by Congress will be funded by Nov. 1, he said.

Signed by President Nixon Aug. 9, the act allows state, county and city governments to hire the unemployed for work in environmental protection, health, education, public safety, housing, recreation, public facility maintenance and rural development.

THE GOAL IS NEXT-DAY DELIVERY OF MOST MAIL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service said Thursday it will try to guarantee within two months overnight delivery of nearly all local first class mail deposited by 5 p.m.

"The goal is next-day delivery of letters and other first class mail within cities and surrounding areas," said Postmaster General Winton M. Blount.

Regional and local officials will announce by Sept. 9 the exact areas in which overnight delivery of zip coded first class mail can be provided, Blount said.

By Oct. 31, 95 per cent of first class mail deposited within an area should be receiving next day delivery, he said.

The Postal Service said mail must be zip coded to receive such treatment, and must be deposited in collection boxes or post offices.
