

Once-Powerful Khrushchev Dies America Knew Him For 1959 Tour, And Role In Cuban Missile Crisis

MOSCOW (AL) — Nikita S. Khrushchev, who vaulted from Russian peasantry to power the czars never dreamed of, died Saturday seven years after his Kremlin colleagues banished him to obscurity.

The former premier and chief of the Communist party succumbed to a heart attack. He was 77.

Friends said he died about noon after spending several days in a hospital used by Kremlin officials. Burial is expected to take place Monday at the Novodevichy Cemetery in Moscow, the burial spot for many prominent Russians who do not receive the ultimate accolade of Soviet communism—a state funeral and interment in the Kremlin wall.

There will be little official mourning for the man who pushed his country into the space age and who in 12 years as the Russians' top leader, 1953-64, sought to reverse the terrorism of Joseph Stalin and to give to the people a better livelihood.

The obese former premier had suffered from heart trouble for several years.

Khrushchev had lived in enforced seclusion in a comfortable country home outside Moscow since his fall from power in October, 1964. While he got every personal necessity from the current Kremlin leaders who ousted him, he was officially ignored and his activities were never reported by the Soviet press. He never appeared at state functions and was treated as though he had never ruled the Kremlin. His last public appearance was in June, when he voted in an election.

Americans knew Khrushchev best for his whirlwind tour of their country in 1959, and then for the Cuban missile crisis, but many Russians knew him as the man who brought them hope for a better life.

Khrushchev was often a right-hand man to Stalin. When the wartime dictator died in 1953 Khrushchev was one of the secretaries of the Party Central Committee.

Stalin's immediate successor was Georgi M. Malenkov, but within a few months Khrushchev and his supporters were able to shove him aside and send him to a job far from Moscow.

In the end, Khrushchev was to denounce Stalin, and oust from power such Stalin stalwarts as V. M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich. Nikolai Bulganin was premier for a time, and he traveled abroad with Khrushchev as the "B and K team," but Khrushchev himself took over the premiership in 1958.

Khrushchev's impact on Americans had at various times as many facets as his own personality.

In 1959, he made a tumultuous tour across the United States, and came to see capitalism as he never had seen it before. He went to the top of the Empire State Building, got into a tiff with the mayor of Los Angeles, and took offense when security officials decided it was dangerous for him to visit Disneyland.

"What is it, the cholera there, or something?" he demanded, "Gangsters taken over the place?"

But when it was over he was able to exclaim: "Long live American-Soviet friendship!" He conferred with President Dwight D. Eisenhower, his official host. There was talk of better relations amid "the spirit of Camp David."

But the feeling was short-lived. Eisenhower had been invited to the Soviet Union, but meantime a summit conference of the Big Four nations was called for Paris. The meeting collapsed before it began, when a U2 plane on an intelligence-gathering flight over the Soviet Union was shot down.

Eisenhower's successor in 1961, John F. Kennedy, met with Khrushchev at Vienna. The session was aimed, among other things, at easing the pressure on Berlin, and at offsetting the dangers of nuclear testing. It was not very fruitful.

The confrontation between Kennedy and Khrushchev came in 1962.

All along, the Soviet Union had been supporting the Fidel Castro government in Cuba, and in October, 1962, President Kennedy announced the United States had evidence that the Soviet Union was sending atomic missiles to the Caribbean island, only 90 miles from Florida.

Kennedy said the Soviet Union had been assuring the United States that only defensive weapons were going to Cuba. He called on Khrushchev to withdraw the offensive weapons already there, and to cease sending such weapons. Kennedy ordered a quarantine on such shipments.

Within five days a full-blown crisis had erupted. The State Department was saying "further action will be justified" if preparation of the missile sites continued.

By American accounts, at least, Khrushchev backed down. He assured the United States that 42 medium-range missiles had been dismantled and returned to Russia. The United States, in turn, promised not to invade Cuba.

This confrontation had the effect, apparently, of spurring the 1963 agreement among Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States to cease the testing of nuclear weapons in space, in the atmosphere and under water.

From left: in 1934 while inspecting Moscow subway tunnel; in 1937 as secretary of the Moscow district Communist party; speaking in the 1930s; visiting a farm in 1940; and on a visit to East Germany in 1959.

Lubbock Lifts Curfew, Keeps Close Watch

LUBBOCK (AP) — The City Council lifted the curfew Saturday in this racially-tense city but stood by to reimpose it should more trouble break out.

A curfew ordered Friday night resulted in more than 100 arrests for violations, filling the city jail.

An extraordinary session of the municipal court was held Saturday to permit those arrested to pay their fines or make bond.

The trouble broke out Thursday when a white pupil shot and killed a 16-year-old Negro classmate with a rifle at Dunbar High School.

In resulting disorders that night, Patrolman Russell McKenzie, 27, was shot in the throat by a sniper. An artery was severed but the officer was in satisfactory condition Saturday.

Three Negroes were charged with assault with intent to murder in the shooting of the officer after police raided a black housing project. Authorities said they confiscated a rifle, a pellet gun and ammunition with the arrests. They said 10 or 12 shots were fired at them at the time McKenzie was hit.

Before Dunbar classes resumed Friday, officers arrested 10 to 15 persons on accusations of loitering on school grounds.

Charged with shooting Patrolman McKenzie were Joe Jordan, 23; R. J. Lincoln, 20; and Travis Lincoln, 18. Justice of the Peace Wayne LeCroy set bond at $100,000 each.

Ohio Girl Is Miss America

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Laurie Lee Schaefer, who entered the Miss Ohio pageant three times before winning it, was crowned Miss America 1972 here Saturday night.

The 22-year-old, auburn-haired girl is from Bexley, Ohio, and was graduated from Ohio University this year. She hopes to do graduate work in radio and television.

The new Miss America won the swimsuit competition Friday night. She is 5-foot-7 and measures 36-24-36.

First runner-up was Miss Idaho, Karen Hurd, and second runner-up was Miss Massachusetts, Deborah O'Brien.

Football fans tasted a sample of the 1971 fare Friday evening, and it was like a first olive. What seemed momentarily to be a long night presaging a long season suddenly turned into excitement and potential which left fans delighted with their initial sample. In the end it was as scrappy a defense as we have seen in many moons, plus that unsung weapon of timely pressure punting, which turned the game around and brought victory for the Steers over Lubbock Monterey.

More colorful entertainment is on tap Monday when the annual Shrine Circus comes to town. Although pitched in the arena of the rodeo bowl, this has all the excitement of the old-time show under the big top. New 'Stabilization' To Replace Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has set a mid-October goal for announcement of the wage-price stabilization system to follow the current freeze that expires Nov. 13.

Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally said Saturday President Nixon told the Cost of Living Council that he wants to disclose it by that date.

Nixon met at the White House for an hour and a half with the full council, which administers the current freeze.

Connally, head of the council, said Nixon asked for specific recommendations by Sept. 30 from the council for the "Phase II" restraints to follow the freeze. Nixon then would have another week or two to consult with interested economic groups before reaching final decisions, Connally told newsmen.

Connally said he feels the current freeze has drawn "an unbelievable amount of support ... among all segments."

The Treasury chief declined to discuss what form Phase II will take but, in response to questions, said he does not anticipate legislation would be needed to implement it.

Asked whether this means that the administration is ruling out restraints on profits, dividends and interest rates which have been demanded by many labor union leaders and Democrats.

"We don't rule out any possibilities," he said and noted that authority already exists for control of interest rates.

He added that since Nixon announced the freeze Aug. 15 "interest rates have gone down in almost every category."

Connally conceded that any post-freeze system will not work without "voluntary and willing support" from business, labor, agriculture and consumers.

On the matter of international monetary affairs, Connally said he will carry no specific proposals when he goes Tuesday to London for a meeting of finance ministers of the world's 10 leading non-Communist industrial nations to discuss the status of the dollar vis a vis other currencies.

He said he hopes for some progress at the meeting but added that he expects it to be "more exploratory than final" in its deliberations.

The administration plans to stick as closely as possible to the tax proposals in its new economic package, according to a White House source.

It will counter congressional proposals for bigger relief for the wage earner and the poor with the argument that these groups already have received big breaks.

The source who talked with newsmen at a background briefing declined to say how much of an alteration in favor of the lower-income groups the administration would accept.

Nixon's tax plan, proposed when he announced the wage-price freeze on Aug. 15, includes an advance by one year of the $50 increase in personal tax exemptions scheduled for Jan. 1, 1973.

Many congressmen have said there should be a bigger break for the general taxpayer.

Massive Rains On Coast Many Evacuated As Floodwaters Rise

By The Associated Press

More than 3,000 persons were evacuated from their homes in Sinton late Saturday as floodwaters from Fern, a hurricane turned tropical storm, inundated the city 20 miles northwest of Corpus Christi.

Sinton's big rains came in the wake of deluges at Alice that measured 11.10 inches and at Goliad that reached 14.50 inches.

Several points asked for National Guard assistance. Sinton's city manager, Bill Cox, said at least 50 per cent of the residents were being sheltered Saturday night in public buildings located on high ground. Among the evacuees taking shelter were patients from two hospitals. Sinton was isolated by floodwaters.

Nearer Corpus Christi, at Odem, Mayor David Kern said 500 persons were forced out of their homes by high water. That was a fourth of the town's population.

Cox said the Army Reserves and the Navy dispatched seven trucks to assist in Sinton area evacuation efforts.

Several school buses were used for evacuation, also, said Cox, "operating just like taxis going from door to door. That's what you call real busing."

most nerve-racking I've ever been in," because it lasted so long.

Rainfall ranging up to nearly 15 inches was reported at Goliad, 60 miles northeast of Corpus Christi. Deluges of 4 to 9 inches occurred in many places.

Most of the rain fell Saturday in thinly inhabited stretches of the coast.

But to the Southwest, in the thickly populated Rio Grande Valley, residents feared that Fern's downpours would cause serious flooding when she reached there.

Yet the most feared phenomenon was Hurricane Edith, cutting across Yucatan Peninsula in Mexico and apparently heading for Gulf of Mexico's waters again.

The Edith path is the same one taken in 1967 by Hurricane Beulah—called the third largest hurricane of record.

Rainfall measurements for the 24-hour period ending at 7 p.m. showed Alice getting 11.10 inches of rain. Other measurements for the same period included: Austin 6.3, Brownsville .02, College Station .15, Corpus Christi 3.94, Cotulla 1.35, Galveston .52, Houston .34, Lufkin .36, McAllen 2.5, Palacios 7.47, San Antonio 1.69 and Victoria 4.32.

Bible Appeal Terminating

The Bible Fund was jam against the $4,100 mark today with receipt of several gifts. One friend, who hasn't missed a year since the effort began, sent a contribution "with prayer."

Today ends the period of formal appeal, but many individuals, classes and groups have indicated plans to give. Please send these to The Herald as soon as possible, because they will be needed urgently to finance the Bible class at Big Spring High School.

Bills Returned By Grand Jury

John C. Patton, 47, of 3211 Drexel, was indicted Friday by the Howard County Grand Jury for murder with a motor vehicle.

Indictments were returned against 17 other defendants out of the 24 of whose cases were presented.

Patton was indicted in connection with the July 10, 1971, traffic death of Archie Segrest Jr.

Jesus (Jessie) Longoria Cuellar, 27, Box 43, Knott, was indicted for assault with intent to murder in connection with the Aug. 28 shooting of Gregory Salazar.

Jurors indicted Luis Rios, 25, of 203 S. San Antonio, for burglary and with intent to commit rape in connection with an Aug. 28, 1971, incident at the Fred Martinez home.

Two men were indicted for robbery by assault. Indicted are George Rojo, 40, of 401 NE 6th, and Presiliano Salazar, 35, of 710 N. 5th.

Burglary indictments were returned against Jessie Henry, 19, of 1505 1/2 Main; James R. Vance, 19, of 1325 Mesquite; Lorenzo Pineda, 28, of 509 N. Lancaster; and Michael S. Yarber, no address.

Dorman Ray Shaw, 28, of 1001 E. 3rd, was indicted for jail break in connection with an Aug. 18, 1971, incident in which he allegedly fled from custody after being taken to the 118th District Courtroom for docket call.

Forgery indictments were returned against Frank Dutchover, 25, of 626 NW. 3rd; Mrs. Joy Nix, Rt. 3, Box 108, Colorado City; and Guadalupe Ramos, 20, of 308 NE 6th.

B. F. Clawson, Route 1, Rotan, and Derald Fletcher, 34, Houston, were indicted on charges of circulating worthless checks.

Jo Ann Sellers, alias Frankie Jo Sellers, 41, Box 122, Seymour, was indicted for theft by bailee, as was Walter M. McCarty, 40, of 302 N. 19th, Lamesa.

The final indictment was returned against Henry Ewell Carr, 62, Route 3, Odessa. He is indicted for driving while intoxicated, second offense.

Indictments were not returned against Armando Galvan, 20, of 1504 Robin, alleged rape; Pat Murphy, 23, Gail Route, two counts of alleged burglary; Julian Reyes, 37, of 1345 Cypress, Colorado City, C. T. Coats, 24, of 1012 Baylor, and Julian B. Fisher, 48, Normangee, all charged with circulating worthless checks; and David Early, 19, of 107 E. 21st, alleged destruction of private property.

Jurors Warn That Alcohol Easy For Youth To Obtain

Availability of alcoholic beverages to minors came to the attention of the Howard County Grand Jury last week, and Friday jurors called for public awareness of the problem.

According to one juror, who wished not to be named, teenaged witnesses questioned in connection with other cases made statements on the ease with which they could obtain beer and liquor.

The jurors joined in issuing the statement saying:

"We wish simply to make the public aware of this situation in the hope that the public, parents, law enforcement agencies and those licensed to sell alcoholic beverages may join together in a united effort to eliminate the availability of alcohol to our youth."

No action against any juveniles was taken in the matter by the jury, nor has any action been taken recently against anyone alleged to have sold alcoholic beverages to minors.

Another Try At Redistricting

As most reasonable Texans had assumed, the tragicomic legislative redistricting measure passed at the last session of the legislature has been declared unconstitutional by the state Supreme Court.

Those who had studied lines of the proposal could see at a glance that ridiculous measures had been employed in gerrymandering some of the districts. The charge made, of course, was that Speaker Gus Mutscher had wielded influence in a vindictive move against those House members — some called the "Dirty 30" — who had opposed him.

Whether this is true or not, the fact remained that the districting measure as voted was far from equitable in many areas.

The issue remains. Gov. Preston Smith says he will not call a special session on the proposition, and we incline to the view that the legislature wouldn't do much of a better job the next time around. There remains an official entity called the redistricting board, to whom may fall the chore of taking action. The job is supposed to be done by Oct. 23.

Some weeks ago, in preliminary hearings on the redistricting mess, the Associated Press said a 23-year-old college student (a girl) came into the hearings with a plan that met the Supreme Court's one-man-one-vote rule, and retained acceptable factors of geography, community of interest, and so on.

The catch was, in all probability, that the young lady did not take into account the bitter political facts of life in Austin.

We have the feeling that many people would like to see politics taken out of the matter. This may be too much to hope for, but the state Supreme Court, in declaring the first try illegal, surely has let it be known that the next effort will have to meet the guidelines of commonsense as well as court judgments.

Restraints Will Continue

President Nixon has answered one question in the minds of the American people: The wage-price freeze will not be extended beyond the first 90-day stipulation.

Of course, many other questions remain. Just how much relaxation of restrictions actually will be permitted? It appears definite that the country will continue to operate under some form of wage-price stabilization. And this means that the "lid will not be off" for management and labor alike to start another runaway inflation spiral.

As much as the people dislike bureaucracy, the country had plunged too far into the inflationary morass to cure the ills in a short 90 days.

So we must expect a new program that will establish guidelines and policies, and — hopefully — fix rules that people can understand and which will be fair. The freeze has resulted in some inequities, and surely these will be corrected.

No firm program can be known until Congress acts on the President's recommendations on such things as tax credits, excise tax repeal, income tax credits, and budgetary cuts. Congress likely will grant the President these additional tools, but they have to be fitted into the workshop as a whole.

Basically, we may not have a freeze, but we must expect continuing restraints.

Looking Ahead

Around The Rim

Bob Whipkey

Nobody gets nowhere without a plan.

Successful businesses chart their courses; happy homes seek to establish goals; municipalities determine future guidelines; civic organizations regard them as a must. The latter call them programs of work, and annually the officers call upon the membership to establish priorities on projects a progressive city needs.

IF I AM getting out of the mainstream, it seemed appropriate that I put down some suggestions for the city leaders to work on. This is not a complete list, but it might do for a starter:

(1) Level off Scenic Mountain, and, as Phase II, South Mountain also. The mass of soil and rocks can be scraped down into the lower levels of the city. We will no longer be annoyed with flooding situations, and we can establish a level town.

(2) RE-ROUTE all the highways through the more attractive residential districts. This will cure the long-standing complaint that our highway entrances are eyesores and of no appeal to transients or prospective citizens. The tourist would always remember Big Spring as the city of lovely homes.

(3) Work for the canalization of the Colorado River from the Gulf, and carry this on up Beals Creek to Big Spring as a ship terminal. What a stroke this would be for local commerce! The exact mileage figures are not available, but we would be no farther from deep water than is Tulsa. Shucks, we might become the ninth largest city in the country.

(4) SOLVE THE garbage disposal problem once and for all time. This way: Construct a network of underground tubes throughout the city, directed into central gathering lines, and ultimately into a massive cavern. The home-owner has no garbage can. He simply opens a lid over his own outlet to the tube, dumps in the trash, and this is blown by high pressure air into the collecting system. If nobody knows where to get the high-pressure air to feed the wind tunnels, I have a couple of nasty suggestions. The cavern: Don't we have some massive underground holes around here, created by blowing out of gas, air and salt water? Why look for a landfill when the recesses are right under us?

(5) ACQUIRE about 12 sections of good prairie acreage and establish the Greater West Texas International Airport and World Aviation Center. As soon as that Fort Worth-Dallas complex becomes obsolete, we would be the aviation center for an area bigger than the state of Ohio. People say now that if you want to get to Hades, you have to go through Dallas. What's the matter with Big Spring as a way-station?

(6) CLOSE ALL streets and establish heliports on top of all commercial buildings. This eliminates street traffic hazards, and makes shopping an airy experience. Admittedly, this would be tough on drive-ins, but it would get rid of motorbikes.

These things all take money, of course. All you have to do is go to Washington, and if your request is impractical enough, you can get it. Yours for progress.

Disarmament Talks?

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union has become the first nation to propose that a "universal" conference be called to bring about the prohibition and elimination of nuclear weapons. Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, has asked that the General Assembly of the United Nations include on the agenda for its forthcoming meeting the convening of such a conference. In a memorandum to the U.N. secretary general, he said:

"The course of events on the international scene makes it desirable to encourage more active efforts on the part of all countries in the world, both nuclear and non-nuclear, to solve the problems relating to disarmament."

"THIS GOAL ALSO, in the opinion of the Soviet government, could be served by the calling of a world disarmament conference. The conference could become a forum where all countries of the world without exception could jointly discuss the problems of disarmament in all their ramifications and attempt to find feasible and generally acceptable means of solving these problems."

THE NUCLEAR powers today are few—the United States, Russia, Red China, France and Great Britain. But scientists in many countries could make atomic weapons if the funds were available, and there is no question but that conventional warfare would diminish in the future if nuclear weaponry were to continue to be the primary factor in both offensive and defensive armament.

THE SOVIET foreign minister is apparently anxious to see the widest participation of nations in the proposed conference, including both Germany, both Korea, both Vietnam and both mainland China and Taiwan, as well as such countries as Portugal and South Africa, which have been barred recently from taking part in some international meetings. He says all the complex problems relating to disarmament "with regard to both nuclear and conventional armaments" should be considered by the suggested conference.

THE PRACTICAL side of the problem of eliminating nuclear weapons is a difficult one. There would have to be methods of inspection adopted so that if, for instance, all nuclear weapons were ordered to be destroyed, it could be proved that this had been done by everybody. Visits by representatives of foreign countries would have to be permitted, and the actual destruction of nuclear weapons witnessed in order to assure people throughout the world that the lethal weapons had been eliminated. The question would then arise as to whether any means would remain for manufacturing more nuclear weapons in secrecy.

UP TO NOW Red China and France have not participated in the disarmament conference at Geneva. It may be, according to one dispatch, that the Soviet initiative will help clear the way for the Peking government to join the talks at Geneva. The Soviet Union would, of course, like to see Red China also give up nuclear weapons. But, even if this doesn't materialize, Moscow diplomats will be credited with a commendable effort toward world peace.

Big Question: What Next?

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — With the economy locked into a 90-day wage-price freeze, the big question this past week for individuals and corporations alike was: What's next?

President Nixon's emergency economic game plan is scheduled to run its course by Nov. 13. The signals from the team captain and his quarterbacks for the next moves in their offensive against inflation and other fiscal ailments have been barely audible.

The President, Secretary of the Treasury Connally and other officials have said the wage-price freeze will not be extended beyond the initial life expectancy of 90 days.

But Nixon told Congress on Thursday that another system of wage and price stabilization would follow.

What is ahead for wage earners and business men in "Phase Two" will be decided, he said, after talks with leaders of Congress, business, labor and agriculture.

Nixon did not give some assurance that a deadlock on wages and prices was a long-range government tactic. He said:

"Regimentation and government coercion must never become a way of life in the United States. Price and wage stabilization, in whatever form it takes, must be only a way of permitting the economy to function effectively."

Connally carried the ball for Nixon's complementary three-point tax program at a hearing of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The proposals would discontinue the 7 per cent excise tax on automobiles, allow fast tax writeoff on corporate investment in new plants and machinery, and speed up by one year to Jan. 1, 1973, a $50

The Week's Business

- Treasury Secretary Connally predicts "some follow on"
- President says freeze not to be continued after 90 days
- Won't reveal plans until talking to congressional leaders
- New tax plan includes fast writeoffs, repeal of car excise
- Personal income tax exemptions may be boosted by $50 boost in personal income tax exemptions.

Members of the committee generally expressed support for Nixon's tax program but indicated they were likely to make changes.

Connally said he didn't know what form "Phase Two" might take, but added: "I'm fairly certain things won't be turned completely loose. I think there will be some follow-on."

U.S.-Japan Separated On Currency And Taiwan Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two days of cabinet-level talks have left the United States and Japan widely separated on strategy for keeping Taiwan in the United Nations while admitting Red China.

Members of the Japanese cabinet who attended a two-day economic conference with their American counterparts also parried U.S. efforts to bring a major reevaluation of the yen.

Japan demanded elimination of President Nixon's 10 per cent import surcharge, which applies to some 90 per cent of Japanese imports into this country.

The split over China policy took a dramatic turn at two news conferences late Friday. At the first, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said that if Japan failed to co-sponsor a resolution keeping Taiwan at the U.N. and adding Red China it would lessen the chances for passage of such a resolution.

CANT SPONSOR Japan's Foreign Minister Tkeo Fukuda told another news conference about an hour later that he was sure the United States "has an adequate understanding why Japan cannot be a co-sponsor of the American resolution."

Fukuda also made his government's views on the China question known to President Nixon at a 40-minute meeting at the White House Treaty

Room just before a dinner honoring the Japanese cabinet.

As the Japanese position was being disclosed, the U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, George Bush, said in Philadelphia that he expected a "very, very close" vote on the China issue next month at the U.N.

The U.S. stand, he said, was for keeping Taiwan in. And "if that means that we might have to let Peking come into the Security Council," he said, "then we will consider that, too."

POSITION SETBACK But in London, senior officials said Britain has decided to vote for Red Chinese admission even if it would cost Taiwan's place in the U.N., marking a second major setback for the American stand.

Meanwhile, Thailand's foreign minister Thanat Khoman said in Bangkok, his country will vote to admit Red China, while keeping Taiwan.

President Nixon made no mention of the China problem in a toast he delivered to the Japanese delegation, nor was there mention of it in a seven-page, single-spaced communique issued late Friday.

Instead, Nixon stressed that Japan and the United States both recognize that peace in the Pacific is essential to peace in the world and that both governments are determined to maintain peaceful relations.

Kennedy Waits

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — "I will not accept if nominated and will not serve if elected." Those were the unequivocal words of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman when the Republicans were trying to draft a military hero as their candidate. Very few politicians have had the courage to shut the door so irrevocably against the knocking of hope, however faint.

IF SEN. EDWARD F. KENNEDY were to make such a statement, the murky, confused picture of the Democratic rivals would be greatly clarified. Instead, when pressed on the matter of his own possible candidacy he has equivocated, denying any intention of running and yet leaving the door just slightly ajar.

The result is to increase the uncertainty over the outcome of the Democratic convention next year, with the lurking suspicion that in the event of a deadlock Kennedy is bound to be the nominee. This talk is more and more frequently heard.

FOUR TO SIX more years in the Senate would establish Kennedy as one of the ablest and outstanding men in that body. He has already taken the lead in two of the most-neglected areas and with an able staff he has brought to wide public attention issues vital to America's position at home and abroad.

One is medical care. The series of hearings he has held in various parts of the country have made abundantly clear two things. First is the inadequacy of the Nixon Administration's program. The second, obvious enough as it should be, is the woeful lack of proper medical care for millions of Americans. The Kennedy subcommittee has thoroughly explored the reasons for the wretched deficiencies in whole regions.

THE SECOND SERVICE Kennedy has performed is through his committee on refugees to make known the plight of the hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese who have been wounded and maimed, driven out of their farms and villages and left to subsist in miserable camps. During the Congressional recess Kennedy flew to India for a firsthand survey of the plight of the Bengalis — perhaps as many as 8,000,000 — who fled from East Pakistan when the West Pakistan army adopted a scorched-earth policy in putting down an alleged revolt.

THE STATEMENTS Kennedy made while in India served to increase what had been the all-too-little awareness of perhaps the greatest mass tragedy of this century, with more to come in famine and death unless far more help comes from the Western powers.

Underscoring the suspicion of the senator's ultimate intentions are the dedicated Kennedies, many of whom are to be found in the camp of Sen. George McGovern, the only avowed candidate for the presidential nomination. For all the denials repeatedly put out, they are regarded as merely waiting the moment when they can shift to the surviving member of the family to whom their devotion is given.

More Paper Work

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Amid the furor over leakage of the secret Pentagon papers, the United Nations reminded its employees that any document marked "restricted" should go only to "a restricted group."

Papers marked "Conference Room Paper," are to go only to "the participants and other interested recipients attending the meetings at which they were discussed."

My Answer

Billy Graham

Please tell me how I should read the Bible. How do I find a church to join where I can find peace within myself?

V.R. The Bible should be read prayerfully, thoughtfully, reverently and regularly. Reading it regularly is important. I find that early in the morning is the best time to read the Scriptures. I can't remember when I have missed a day reading the Scriptures, but if I did, something vital and strength-giving would be lacking.

About the church where 'you can find peace within yourself,' I know of no such church! One should find peace with God prior to, not after, uniting with a church. If you do not have peace with God, seek the counsel of a minister, and he will direct you in how to receive Christ. Then, you will be qualified to be a member of Christ's church and share His peace with others.

A Devotion For Today...

"The waste places shall be rebuilt." —Ezekiel 36:33 (RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father, we are grateful for changes that keep our world from being the same. May we dedicate ourselves to the task of rebuilding run-down lives and restoring wholeness to mankind. Amen. (From the "Upper Room")

Curing The Cold

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — A new cure for the "common cold" couldn't have come too soon. Last week two Israeli researchers announced they have been able to cure nose colds by chilling the big toes of patients' feet. The Israelis claimed that the sudden temporary chilling of the big toes almost immediately brings about a lowering of the normal temperature within the nose. And lowering the nasal temperature dries up the nostrils, thereby curing the cold.

AT THE time the story appeared on the front pages of newspapers and on television I was in bed with a severe nose cold and my wife said to me, "Let's try it. What have you got to lose?"

The Israeli researchers said they had developed a special indirect cooling apparatus adapted to the shape of the big toe. It uses a refrigerant chemical called dichloro difluoromethane, which can chill a toe in less than a minute. Since we didn't have this chemical available my wife decided to tape an ice cube on each toe.

I LAY there with my feet sticking out of each side of the bed and ice cubes on my big toes.

"How do you feel?" she asked. "About the same."

"Then why are you laughing?" "The water trickling between my toes makes me ticklish."

The ice cubes kept melting and I kept sneezing and giggling, so my wife said, "Maybe ice cubes aren't the answer. Would you consider putting both your feet in the refrigerator?"

"You have to be kidding," I said.

"YOU HAVE everything to gain,"

she said, taking the ice cubes off my toes and handing me a bathrobe.

I sat on a kitchen chair while she removed the food from the shelves of the refrigerator. "We'll try it in this part of the fridge and if it doesn't work we'll put your feet in the deep freeze."

"I'd just as soon drink plenty of liquids and take aspirin."

"THERE," she said, "put your feet on the third shelf and read a book."

Five minutes later she said, "Do you feel anything?"

"Nothing at all," I said.

"Then your cold is gone?"

"No, my toes are frozen. I can't move them."

"They are sort of blue. Maybe you better take them out."

"Where should I put them, in the oven?"

THERE HAS to be some way of freezing your toes without giving you frostbite," my wife said.

"Maybe I could put them in the mashed potatoes of a frozen TV dinner?"

"Perhaps," she said, "if you stick your feet against the air-conditioning vent."

"I'd rather put them out the window."

"I KNOW. I'll make two frozen daiquiris and you can put a big toe in each one. That way they'll freeze but you won't suffer."

She made two double daiquiris (banana) and inserted a toe in each glass. I relaxed as nature took its course. My body temperature slowly went down and in half an hour my cold was gone. Now if I can just get rid of this hangover.

Sharp Testifies Monday; Many Will Be Listening

DALLAS (AP) — Frank W. Sharp, the collapse of whose financial empire led to disclosure of a vast scheme causing red faces in the top levels of state government, tells his own story Monday—and plenty are wondering just what he will say.

The man who has been described as mastermind in an alleged scheme to manipulate stock so as to enrich politicians and influence legislation, is expected to take the stand in the third week of the great Texas stock fraud trial.

Because this is not a criminal but a civil case, nothing graver than a permanent injunction to prohibit further dealing in certain stocks awaits the 28 individual and corporate defendants if the case is found proved. But other proceedings could follow.

QUESTIONS

The main worry for the lawyers, representing defendants fighting the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission suit, is that none of them is sure just what testimony Sharp may give. After being given a suspended three-year prison sentence and fined $2,000 on charges of making a false entry in a bank ledger and selling unregistered stock, Sharp was granted immunity from future criminal charges by U.S. District Court Judge John V. Singleton in Houston.

But in Dallas, U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes ruled that Sharp's grant of immunity does not extend to the SEC's civil suit and he must remain as a defendant.

Sharp, flanked by two lawyers, appeared briefly in court on the opening day of the trial, then withdrew to wait out his turn to testify. He is not contesting the case.

HE'S MOVED UP

Judge Hughes, cracked the whip to get the trial moving faster, is indirectly responsible for having Sharp jumped from his original position of 66 on a witness list of 69 to number 16. He has now been put ahead of his aide, Joseph P. Novotny, who it is understood was reluctant to precede his chief on the stand. Novotny was president of Sharpstown State Bank, one of Sharp's main business entities until its collapse early this year after a run by depositors.

Although Sharp has not been present, he has been constantly mentioned during the two weeks of the trial.

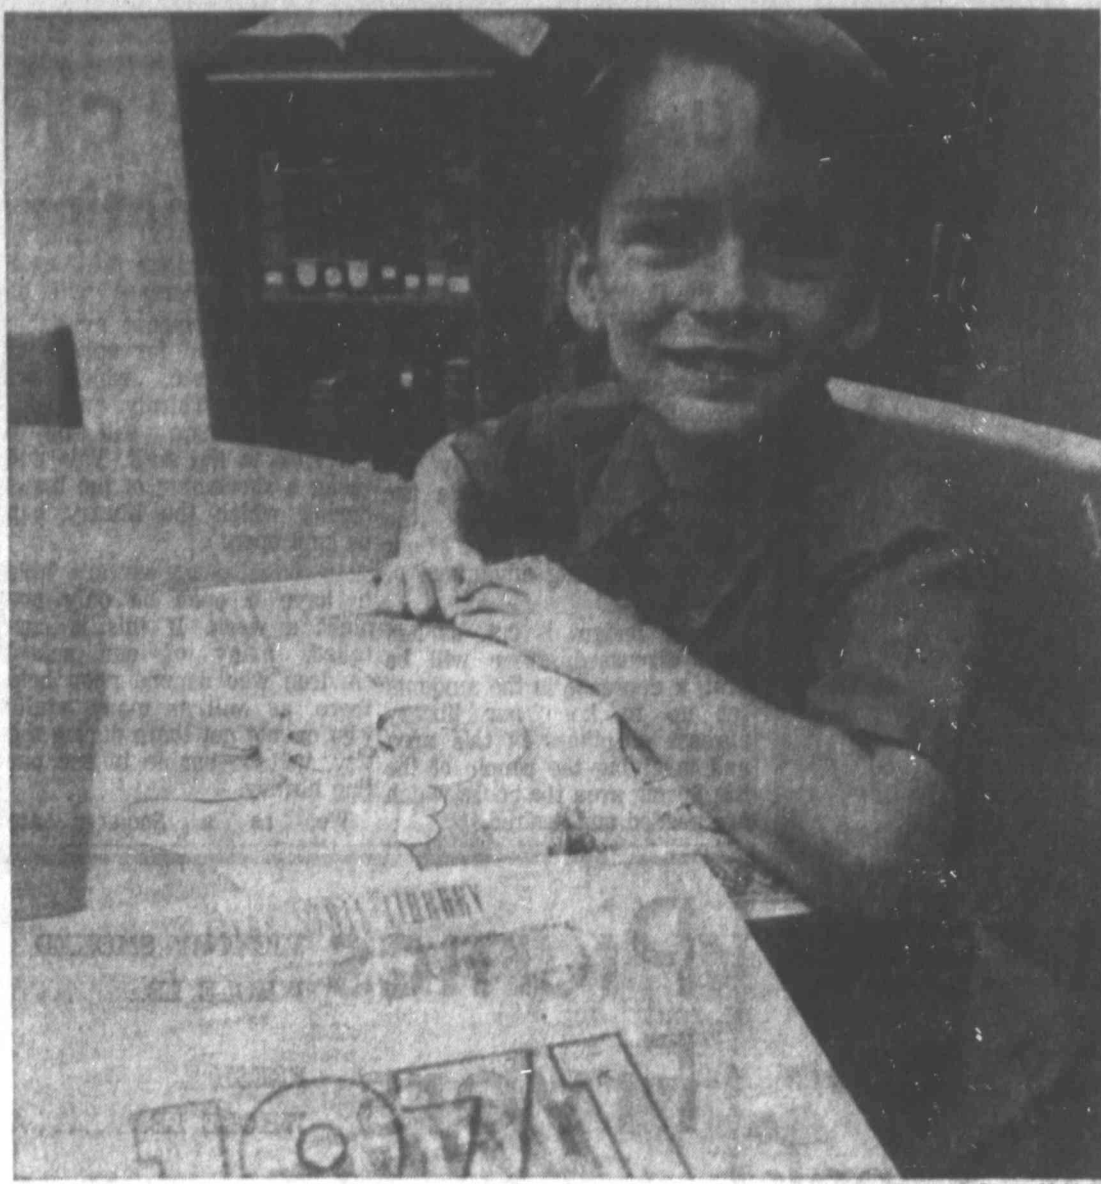

Osorio's attorney, Willard Herbert, has called Sharp "a tainted witness." He has asked that the court make available any "written memorandums or oral understandings" concerning Sharp's immunity.

Tim Timmins, who represents Dallas broker J. Quincy Adams, another defendant, joined in arguing that other defendants have been denied due process because Sharp was granted immunity from prosecution in "a private arrangement with the Department of Justice."

SEC attorney Robert F. Watson replied that the SEC has only one document—the Houston court order—regarding Sharp's immunity. "It is outside the scope of my authority to comment on oral understandings," he added. "The SEC has none."

Horseman Club Meets Monday

Monthly meeting of the Howard County Youth Horseman Club is to be held Monday evening in the community room of First Federal Savings & Loan Association. Directors will meet at 6:30, and the membership session is at 7. All interested persons are invited to attend.

HE FINISHED FIRST — Kevin Dowden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dowden, 2704 Central, was the first youngster to earn the 1971 summer reading certificate from the Howard County Library and Texas State Library. Kevin clipped off the 12 books required at grade level or above ahead of 89 others, ages 6-12, who earned like certificates. More than half of them were on hand for ceremonies conducted by Mrs. Edna Nichols, librarian, at the library Saturday morning.

costly burglary as that inflicted upon Prager's Men Store. The thieves made away with merchandise valued between $10,000 and $15,000. At the end of the week there were no solid leads, despite the great volume of things taken.

One of our friends thought that a new experimental passenger train was on tour, but it turned out that it was the official family of the Missouri Pacific, led by Downing B. Jenks, president, on tour of the Texas & Pacific system, which is celebrating its 100th anniversary. Big Spring has been part of the T&P saga since 1881. MoPac is the parent corporation for T&P.

Big Spring schools are attempting a new program this season, having qualified for aid for the 150 children identified as those from migrant farm families. Aides are being put in schools to give special help to these youngsters, serving in effect, as a type of a bilingual tutor. Our district qualified for $31,500 help in this direction.

Farmers had exactly what they wanted in the way of weather during the week with temperatures ranging up into the mid-nineties. Consequently cotton set much new fruit, giving rise to hopes of a bumper harvest if frost holds off until mid or late November. One big problem is that of weeds, which make harvesting difficult, but that's a bridge to be crossed later.

Oil activity continued to be centered on Mar'in County's Spraberry Trend boom, where there were completions almost every day, plus locations to match. Borden County reported a Canyon Reef strike in the O'Neill No. 1 Beal south of Gall, where Petrodynamics No. 1 Higginbotham was complete as a west Howard County Dean strike. A wildcat in Glasscock County had Wolfcamp shows — but also some salt water with them.

Lamesa has a "new" federal

Suez Quiet Is Broken; Egyptian Plane Downed

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli antiaircraft gunners shot down a Soviet-made Egyptian warplane Saturday in the first downing over the Suez Canal in 13 months, the military command announced.

The Israelis said the fighter-bomber was one of a pair which roared over Israeli-held territory on the east bank of the northern canal zone. They said it veered toward home and was seen plummeting to the ground on Egyptian soil.

There was no comment from Egyptian authorities.

Planes from both Egypt and Israel have been reported flying across the canal since the U.S.-sponsored cease-fire went into effect in August, 1970.

This was the first time, however, that either side has reported shooting down one of the craft in the canal zone. Egyptian and Israeli soldiers face each other from fortifications on either side of the waterway, but large-scale shooting has been stilled by the cease-fire.

The reported kill brings to 112 the number of Egyptian aircraft claimed shot down by Israeli gunners since the end of the 1967 Mideast war between Israel on one side and Egypt, Jordan and Syria on the other.

NEW PHONE SERVICE — Shown checking some of the central office equipment at the General Telephone Company's new exchange building in Forsan is Donald R. Baker, equipment installer. The new exchange and DDD service is scheduled to go into service Sept. 19.

New Forsan Phone System Due Completion This Week

FORSAN — A new exchange and direct dialing service will be in operation starting Sept. 19 in Forsan, according to the General Telephone Company officials.

For the first time the Forsan area customers will receive a prefix number, 457, on each telephone number, and each customer will be able to dial direct long distance.

the future are promising, GTC's officials noted.

The five-state service, with main offices in San Angelo, operates exchanges in other area towns such as Carlsbad, Water Valley, Robert Lee and Big Lake.

A new building was completed by the company in Forsan at the first of the year. Installation of the new exchange system has been underway for three months, and will be complete Sept. 17.

A "first-call" ceremony will be conducted upon completion of the installation for testing of the new service and will be a small milestone for the Forsan area, according to GTO officials.

"Forsan has outgrown the present system, and with the new system the customers will have the service of dialing their own calls without the assistance of an operator, which is the ultimate service," said Jack Goss, division manager.

There has been no discussion on extended area service with Big Spring, but prospects for

LETTER

Urges Less Drastic Cut In Library Appropriation

To the Editor:

Since our Library has moved to its new location on Fourth and Scurry Street, it is more accessible, more convenient and with the larger space, is more able to serve adequately the people of Big Spring. We are becoming prouder of the facilities, and many more of our people are taking advantage of them.

If the budget is cut, as has been discussed, there will be first, a decrease in the amounts set up to keep our library abreast of others in this area and in giving the people of the Big Spring area the books which are needed and desired.

Second, a decrease will be made in the amount available for supplies and for upkeep of the books, etc. which we already have. Thirdly, and very important, there will be a decrease in the staff. This will mean a shortening of the hours during which the library can be kept open.

As it is now, we are able to have it open on only one night a week. If this is curtailed, many of our school children who depend upon help there, as well as many adults who cannot get there during the day, will be unable to use our fine library.

We, as a Society, are requesting that the commission reconsider and, if possible, not make such a drastic cut in the appropriation for the library for the coming year.

Ubiquitous Mobile Park Issue Back Before Council

Once again city commissioners will hear a request by Bill Chrane for a zone change and specific use permit for the authorization to establish a mobile home park in Wasson No. 2 Addition Tuesday night in regular session.

A revised plat and plot plan submitted by Chrane in the last regular session was approved by the city commission, and the contractor will ask for the final approval on the issue that has been mulled by city commissions and boards for the past year.

A report on progress toward reconciling the city's financial records and bank accounts will be brought to the commission by Max Green, auditor. The auditor, on special assignment, is reported by city officials to have work completed on the general ledger through July, and may have the August figures brought up to date by meeting time at 5:15 p.m.

Also discussion on the new sanitary landfill site, to be located west of town by the salt lake, and on the city's paving contract 68-4 will be heard by the commission. Some councilmen have certain streets to be deleted from the present contract which was initiated in 1968 and is not yet finished.

The commission will also hear a report from the committee studying the city's insurance policy and coverage. Adopting a revised schedule of fire and extended coverage also will be considered in the meeting.

POP SCENE It's Not Nice To Fool Mother Zappa

By JON CLEMENS
 of those cult bands Frank Zappa's Mothers of Invention has always been one critics are quick to say Zappa dresses outrageously. They do new things, things other bands wouldn't dream of, such as wearing members of a symphony orchestra on the stage.

But there's been this problem. Their fans are fanatical, but compared to a mass appeal group like Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young, they are very few. Mother-maniacs also seem to be concentrated in heavy doses in the urban centers of the east and west coasts.

But not so fast. It seems now that the Mothers are preparing to bombard the public with a nine-part anthology of Zappian music to be released in three triple-album doses between late fall of this year and the end of next year.

Billed as a "gargantuan historical audio document," this project will include live performances cuts, rehearsals, recordings of business meetings and road trip incidents over the last five years.

Then there's the movie, "2000 Motels." This Zappa brainchild is to be released in November. The title refers to the 2,000 motels where the music in the film was supposed to be composed while the group was on tour.

Then, of course, there's the tour. The Mothers are touring the West Coast until the end of the year. The East Coast tour will be the first, starting in October and ending in November.

Meanwhile, producer Tom Wilson is scouring the country in search of former members of the Mothers (believed to number 18) for yet another "Grandmothers." Zappa will guest on this effort.

The present band is composed of Zappa on guitar and vocals, vocalists Howard Kaylan and Mark Volman (ex-members of The Turtles, in case you wonder what ever happened to THEM), bassist Jim Pons, drummer Aynsley Dunbar (who had a

50 Pct. Or Will Quit, Says Thieu

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu told a nationwide television audience Saturday night he will quit if he receives less than 50 per cent of the votes cast in the Oct. 3 election, in which he is the sole candidate.

There will be only one ballot he said, and people may vote for him by placing the ballot for him in the voting envelope and placing it in the ballot box.

To vote against him, Thieu explained, it will be necessary to invalidate or mutilate the ballot and thus vote "illegally."

The invalidated ballots will be counted as "no" votes or as votes against Thieu, he added.

"I will consider all regular ballots as expressing confidence and all irregular votes as expressing nonconfidence," he asserted.

"This will be a clear way for me to assess your confidence or nonconfidence."

He had told the nation in a previous television address that he would be the only candidate but would step down if not given a "vote of confidence."

He did not explain at that time what he would consider a no-confidence vote or how people could vote against him.

Thieu will be protected against election boycotts because the vote of confidence will be based on the percentage of votes actually cast. Nevertheless, he appealed to voters to turn out "in great numbers" and "vote to show either con-confidence or no confidence in me."

He said that if the president does not receive 50 per cent of the votes cast, "Then I do not consider it proper for him to represent South Vietnam's 17 1/2 million people. Nor will he have enough prestige to talk to the world or to face the Communists to fight for and preserve the peace platform of the whole country, as I wish to."

Thieu also used the occasion to introduce his vice-presidential running mate, Tran Van Huong, and the vice-presidential alternate, Premier Tran Thien Khiem.

Thieu declared the election should not be open to charges or rigging because it would take place under the eyes of many groups, including opposition political factions, international observers and the press.

Witness Gives Version Of Burglary

Police, investigating a burglary at Prager's Men and Boys' Wear, 102 E. Third, which occurred Monday night, have found a witness to the burglary.

"We have a witness that said he saw two subjects carrying large bundles of clothes from the store and loading them into what he believed to be a Pontiac Catalina, green in color," said Detective Avery Falkner, investigating officer.

Falkner said that the witness, whose name is being withheld, walked within 30 feet of the burglars, but did not make a report of the incident because he did not know of the burglary until now.

"The man was also unsure of the make of the vehicle, until someone pointed out a car that fit the same description," said Falkner.

Store owners have estimated that between $10,000 and $15,000 in men's suits, trousers and sport coats was taken from the shop in the burglary.

Police also have uncovered other leads in connection with the case.

An identical burglary of a dry goods store occurred on the same night in Merkel, 10 miles west of Abilene, in which officers say the same method of operation was used as in the local burglary. Also a burglary similar to the local one was performed in Borger, Tex., on the same night.

All information gathered by the local authorities in connection with the case has been forwarded to area law enforcement agencies, and Texas Rangers also have been called into the investigations.

Date For Oil Pioneers Set

MIDLAND — The seventh biennial Permian Basin Petroleum Pioneers Reunion will be held in Midland Oct. 29, with plans calling for the "biggest and best" celebration yet.

R. C. (Bob) Tucker, general chairman, said. It is expected to attract 750 oil pioneers.

Scores of other Midland and area residents will be involved in planning and staging the event, which is held on alternate years with Odessa's Permian Basin Oil Show.

Registration headquarters will be in Hotel Scharbauer.

New City Manager Due This Week

Harry W. Nagel, new city manager of Big Spring, is due to arrive here to stay the first part of the week.

He plans to attend the city commission session Tuesday night, but will not officially assume his duties until Sept. 15.

The new city manager was in town for awhile Friday and Saturday, looking for a home, said Mayor Arnold Marshall.

CEMETERY CLEAN-UP AID ASKED

The Salem Cemetery is being re-worked, but financial help is needed if the job is done right.

Persons having an interest in the historic country burial ground have embarked on work to clean up the cemetery and restore the grounds. A lot of volunteer labor is being done, but money is also needed to carry out some of the heavier work.

Those who want to assist are invited to send checks to the Cemetery Fund, Coahoma State Bank, or hand donations to Earl Hull.

Glasscock Co. Gins First Bale

Glasscock County's first bale of 1971 cotton came out of the gin Saturday afternoon. The grower's honors went to Sidney Hirt, whose place is some 3 1/2 miles northeast of St. Lawrence.

St. Lawrence Gin turned out the bale, which weighed 507 pounds and yielded 840 pounds of seed. It was produced from about two acres of cotton, said Delmar Batla, gin manager.

Batla said preparations were getting under way for more harvesting, but much of the cotton appears to be late.

Judge Shuts Down Road Units In Budget Hearing Squabble

Acting on his own and not contacting any of the commissioners until after he had announced his decision, County Judge A. G. Mitchell ordered the county road and bridge department closed Monday, and all road employees are to have the day off without pay.

Judge Mitchell made his decision Friday after he learned that 26 road employees had voted to take the morning off to attend the commissioners court session and the public hearing on the 1972 budget. All are members of Local 826, International Union of Operating Engineers, AFL-CIO, and they voted on the issue in a Thursday meeting called by Kenneth Howell, union business manager.

LETTER

Earlier, Howell had written a letter to the commissioners court requesting that the men be given time off to attend the public hearing or that the hearing be changed to 5:30 p.m. Monday so that the men could attend.

Mitchell replied that the men could attend the meeting, but that they would not be paid for the time they spent in commissioners court.

Ten other road employees did not vote to attend the meeting, according to both Howell and Judge Mitchell.

"Two of these men are off

WILL IT COST EMPLOYEES A DAY'S PAY?

Judge Shuts Down Road Units In Budget Hearing Squabble

work now, and eight is not enough men to do any kind of work," said Judge Mitchell.

"Right now, we're paving and we're ready to spot asphalt on one of the roads, but it's such men as our finishing man that will be at the meeting, and we can't get the work done without them."

NO FAVORITES

On the eight men who have been knocked out of a day's pay although they were not going to attend the meeting, Judge Mitchell said:

"It's too bad, but they are all members of the union and the majority of the union voted to attend. We can't play favorites, and pay some of the men and not all of them."

"They are coming here as citizens, not as county employees," added Mitchell. "But what they are coming about is an employe matter. They're coming here to ask for a wage raise which we've already told them they couldn't have. There's no money for it."

"What they are doing is not right. If they want to present a grievance, which is what this is, we've set up the proper procedures for it. They can go through the grievance committee, and then come to the court later."

NO GRIEVANCE

"If they want to meet with us, I'll set a 5:30 p.m. meeting so they can meet with us. We told them in the beginning, when they joined the union, that they could only present grievances if one of the men had violated the work rules of if one of our officials were giving the men trouble. Salary is not a grievance matter," said Mitchell.

"I acted on this and then tried to contact the commissioners. I talked to Bill Bennett and Jack Buchanan, but I was unable to reach the others. I don't know whether they will back me up on this or not," added Mitchell.

"We will be there Monday at 9 a.m. sharp," said Howell, "and we are going to protest Judge Mitchell's action. We believe he acted out of his authority in ordering the county barn closed for one day without meeting with the other commissioners."

FOUR HOURS OFF

Howell added that 26 members of the union voted Thursday to take four hours off Monday rather than stopping work in order to be in commissioners court for the 10 a.m. budget hearing.

"They thought it would be more efficient that way rather than starting out at 8 a.m., then quitting to come in. After the

Budget Hearing For County Due Monday

Howard County citizens will get a chance to approve or protest the $1,494,852.25 county budget proposed for 1972 Monday during the public hearing on the budget which will begin at 10 a.m. in the county commissioners courtroom.

Final approval of the budget is not expected to come until late Monday afternoon after county commissioners hear from special interest groups that have requested to meet with commissioners in reference to the proposed budget.

Total expenditures for 1972 are projected at $1,381,627.06 with total income projected at $1,248,080. A balance of $246,772.25 will be carried over from 1971 to cover the difference. Commissioners are projecting that a balance of $113,225.19 will remain in the county funds at the close of 1972.

Expenditures for 1972 show an over-all decrease of $14,962.61 over the 1971 expenditures of $1,396,589.67, which included the cost of remodeling the Howard County Library. The projected balance expected at the close of 1972 is a $9,281.51 decrease from the $103,943.68 balance left in county funds at the end of 1971.

ASSESSED VALUES
Projected income for the county for 1972 was based on an $80,000,000 assessed valuation of taxable properties in Howard County. The county levies taxes on 25 per cent of the assessed valuation figure at the rate of $1.04 per $100 total assessed valuation. Based on this, it is predicted that $832,000 in taxes will be levied and $748,000 will be collected for the 1972 budget. On Jan. 1, 1971, the county's indebtedness totaled $1,034,000 of which $116,000 was paid on the principal and $31,742.75 on the interest. County indebtedness for 1972 is projected at $918,000, of which $128,000 will be paid on the principal during 1972, and $28,334.25 in interest.

EXPENDITURES
Breakdown of the proposed expenditures by classifications for 1972 is as follows with 1971 figures budgeted in parentheses:

- General fund — $677,291 ($659,377.20);
- Road and bridge fund — $421,536 ($429,374);
- Interest and sinking fund — $160,999.25 ($152,612);
- Permanent improvement fund — $30,000 ($61,200)
- Jury fund — $47,345.25 ($46,691);
- Airport operating and lateral road funds — $44,455.56 ($47,134.97).

General fund allotments include monies budgeted for all county departments such as the county library, sheriff's office, county auditor's office, tax office, county attorney's office and salaries for the county commissioners.

BY DEPARTMENTS
Total proposed expenditures for 1972 for each department are as follows with the actual cost for each department for 1971 shown in parentheses:

- Judicial, which includes salaries and expenses for county attorney's office, the district clerk, all county justices of the peace, constables, and a salary of a secretary and office expenses for the district attorney — $67,193 ($65,849);
- Executive, which includes county judge's salary and office expenses, county commissioners' salaries and commissioners' court expenses, and election expenses — $72,345 ($70,680);
- Financial administration, which includes salaries and expenses for the county auditor's office, county treasurer's office, tax assessor-collector's office, and the county clerk's office — $125,352 ($127,160);
- Law enforcement, including salaries and office expenses of county sheriff's office, jail operational expenses — $107,338 ($99,940);
- County library, including salaries and operational expenses — $37,275 ($33,340);
- Juvenile probation, salaries and expense of juvenile officer — $15,175 ($15,150);

OTHERS
County welfare, including salaries, office expenses and charity expenses — $47,814 ($49,769);

Conservation, including salaries of agricultural and home demonstration agents and expenses — $21,208 ($20,302);

Law library — $3,801 ($3,750);

Non-departmental costs, including employees' bonds, advertising and publication liability and property insurance, workmen's compensation insurance and other expenses — $94,570 ($87,700);

Fire protection costs — $8,710 ($6,705);

And civil defense protection — $3,250 ($3,200);

Capital outlay costs, which includes a $5,000 expenditure for the Heritage Museum totals $19,800 for 1972 in comparison with the 1971 figure of $27,820.

YMCA Launching Busy Schedule

The autumn season has found the YMCA with a cavalcade of activities started or starting this week. Some of these are geared to improvements to the physical plant.

For instance, the Horace Garrett Memorial swimming pool has been refinished and repainted. The gymnasium floor has been refinished and the handball courts also refinished.

Swimming classes begin Monday with Sharon Andrews and Wally Franklin the instructors. Gym classes are under way with Ralph Paras instructing. Handball players are back in action.

Saturday the Gra-Y football program kicked off with eight divisions paralleling elementary school areas fielding teams. This program for the fourth through sixth grades has volunteer coaches and an enrollment that promises to exceed last year's 315, according to Curtis Mullins, executive secretary.

Boys and girls in high school (grades nine through 12) are invited to be at the Y Monday at 8 p.m., for organization of the Hi Y and Tri-Hi Y clubs. Miss Hannah Harrison is the program supervisor, and each club will have its own adult volunteer advisor.

Y Indian Guides will organize Tuesday evening at a meeting set for the Y. This is for boys grades one through three, plus their dads. They are divided into trips which meet every week in homes. Leon Miller is the sponsor.

Robert Bradberry, coach, meets the swimming team Monday evening.

Judo classes, in charge of Calvin Parry, meet first on Monday evening at 8 p.m., open to members and non-members. It is co-ed with no established age limits.

The women's Trim and Fit classes meet Monday, Wednesday, Friday for an hour at 9:15 a.m. or Tuesday and Thursday at 6:45 p.m. with Mrs. Nancy Davis in charge. This also is open to members and non members.

Classes in beginning guitar operate on eight week cycles at 6:30 p.m. Thursdays with Don Tolle instructor.

Tap and ballet for children three years and up are directed Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:45 p.m. by Ora Burson.

Anytime the building is open, the game room is open for drop ins who want to play checkers, dominoes, pool, chess, etc. or read or watch television.

Recreational swimming is set for Saturdays at 9:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m. for elementary age children and from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays for junior high age. Family swim night is Friday from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. and other adult swim periods will be announced, said Mullins.

October 1 Will Be Busy Day At Webb

Combining "Career Day" activities, a performance by the U. S. Air Force Thunderbirds and dedication of the new base hospital adds up to a busy day on October 1 for Webb Air Force Base personnel.

Base officials report that invitations were sent to all high schools and colleges in a 100-mile radius of Big Spring inviting the students to Career Day. The activities, which will commence at 9:30 a.m., will give area students the opportunity of gathering firsthand information on all the major career fields and training available should they choose Air Force blue. Airmen, non-commissioned officers and officers will man booths and discuss their careers with interested visitors. Air Force specialties from pilot to nurse, from aircraft mechanic to photographer and more will be represented. In the past decade, the Air Force has trained and returned to civilian life and industry more than half a million skilled technicians.

At 10:30 a.m. the new 2½ million dollar base hospital will be dedicated. The facility, which replaces the World War II contention facilities, includes a surgical ward, nursery, dental clinic, out-patient clinic and the latest modern equipment. Brigadier General Geoffrey P. Wiederman, Air Training Command Surgeon, will be the guest of honor.

The highlight of the day will be an aerial exhibition by the world-famous U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds. They will take to the air at 1:25 p.m. following inspection party ceremonies on the Webb flightline.

The public is invited to participate in all activities.

Graham Opens Crusade Friday In New Stadium

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — The 10-day Billy Graham Greater Southwest Crusade begins Friday, the first event in the new Texas Stadium which will be the home of the Dallas Cowboys and the North Texas State football teams.

General chairman of the crusade is Tom Landry, coach of the Cowboys and a leader in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

As always before such a crusade, groundwork has been extensive in advance of the revival. A spokesman for the organization said that more than 50,000 church-related persons have been involved in preparations.

The Rev. Dr. Graham will, in a sense, be coming home. He is a member of the First Baptist Church of Dallas, although his residence officially is Montreat, N.C. He appears several times each year in Texas.

Services will be held during the week at 7:30 p.m. and at 3 p.m. on the two Sundays.

New Deputies Considered

In addition to the public hearing on the 1972 county budget, county commissioners are scheduled to discuss the hiring of two deputy sheriffs for the Howard County sheriff's department and the possibility of setting up a reserve deputies program.

Billy Gunter, district agricultural agent, is to introduce Ronnie Wood, prospective assistant county agent for Howard County, to the court. If approved, Wood would replace former assistant agent Jim Allison, who left the county to accept a post and further his education at Texas Tech University.

Hollis Randell, county road and bridge administrator, is to meet with the commissioners at 9 a.m. for the weekly conference on road paving and construction progress.

Coody Leads World Series Play By Two

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Masters champion Charles Coody, fired a two under par 68, and grabbed a surprising three stroke lead Saturday in the first round of the World Series of Golf.

The anticipated duel between Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino didn't materialize as Nicklaus took a 71 and Trevino had a 72.

Australian veteran Bruce Crampton trailed the four-man field with a 73 with 18 holes to go in the chase for the $50,000 first prize.

Coody, making his first appearance in this tournament that brings together the winners of the world's four major titles, picked up two strokes on the field when he hit a two-iron shot eight feet from the flag and made the putt on the seventh hole.

The other three players bogeyed it, all from a trap.

The rangy Texan, winner of only two four events in his career, had a three-putt bogey on the 10th but got the stroke back with a 15-foot birdie putt on the 17th, despite hitting a fairway trap.

He didn't trail at any time after the big swing on the seventh. The 34-year-old Coody put his second shot in a trap on the par five second, but blasted out to two feet and made the putt for a birdie.

He tied Trevino for the lead on the next hole, hitting a five iron to 3 1/2 feet, then took sole possession of the top spot on the seventh.

Aggies Score Easy Win Over Wichita

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Southwest Conference dark horse Texas A&M—deep, mean and hungry after a 2-9 season last year—overwhelmed Wichita State 41-7 Saturday after crumpling the Wheatshockers' hard-hitting defense.

In the early moments of the second quarter, Wichita State inserted a new quarterback, Rick Baehr, who promptly dropped the ball on a muffed hand-off. Brad Dusek, switched to defense this year, recovered on the Wichita 17.

The Aggies, who have 20 starters from last year's team, drove in for the score in six plays.

A&M tacked on two touchdowns late in the half on drives of 56 yards in nine plays and 44 yards in six plays, and one going away with reserves in the second half.

Wichita State Captain John Hobeisel, one of four players on this year's squad who survived the air crash last Oct. 2, killed 13 Wheatshocker players, turned in two defensive beauties from his end position.

Hobeisel dropped Aggie quarterback Lex James for a seven-yard loss on the Wichita 19 to temporarily stall an A&M drive in the second quarter. In the third quarter, he intercepted and returned a pass 10 yards after an Aggie field goal attempt went awry.

Wichita State lost all nine games last year, including a 41-14 opener against A&M before the crash.

BS Sophomores Lose Thriller

MIDLAND Lee came from behind with three touchdowns in the last quarter to beat the Big Spring Sophomores, 20-16, here Saturday night.

The locals had scored on the first play of the game when Orville Rau passed 80 yards to Doug Smith and then ran over the extra point. The Sophs' second tally came in the third period when John Smith raced 23 yards to paydirt with an interception. Rau passed to Barry Loyd for the two-point conversion.

Midland Lee's Rebels scored early in the fourth stanza following a 30-yard drive. A pass was good for the point after. The Rebels' second score capped a 40-yard drive midway in the quarter and the PAT was followed. Big Spring fumbled the kickoff and the Rebels recovered at the enemy 40-yard line. A few plays later the visitors scored the winning points on a line plunge. Midland Lee intercepted a Rau pass in the final seconds to cement the victory.

Arencibia Loses In Meet Finals

MIDLAND — Tito Arencibia, Big Spring, lost to Dr. Tom Heiting, Odessa, in the finals of the W. D. Noel Invitational Handball Singles tournament here Saturday, 17-7.

In earlier matches, Arencibia won by forfeit over Kim Forrester, Lubbock; then took out Howard Sherry, Midland, 21-7, 3-21, 21-14; and Bob Sumpter, Midland, 21-7, 21-14, in that order.

GARY MULLINS SHINES Cougars Hurry By Rice Owls

HOUSTON (AP) — Quarterback Gary Mullins rallied the University of Houston from a halftime deficit with touchdown passes of 73 and 11 yards Saturday night for a come-from-behind 23 to 21 victory over the upstart Rice Owls in the first meeting ever between the cross-town rivals.

Second-string flanker Del Stanley, a nonscholarship player who reported only last spring, beat Rice cornerback Bill Li-fourette on the third play of the second half and raced 73 yards to pull the Cougars to a 7-7 tie with the underdog Owls.

Moments later, Houston safety Nick Holm intercepted the first of two Bruce Gadd passes to set up Houston's second touchdown, an 11 yard pass from Mullins to flanker Robert Ford.

That put the Cougars ahead 14-7 and defensive end Butch Brezina tackled Rice running back Mike Phillips in the end zone on Rice's next possession for a safety.

Holm appeared to have intercepted a third pass as the fourth quarter opened, but a pass interference penalty rubbed out the play and gave Rice life at the Houston 20, leading to a three-yard touchdown run by Stahl Vincent.

Mullins then took the Cougars 84 yards and ran over from the one with two minutes remaining to give Houston a 23-14 bulge.

But the Owls, picked by many to finish last in the Southwest Conference, got in the final word with a 29-yard touchdown pass from Gadd to sophomore Edwin Collins with :55 remaining.

Junior Varsity Upended By Snyder Club, 15-12

The Big Spring Junior Varsity took to the grid wars for the first time this season here Saturday and lost a battle to Snyder, 15-12.

The locals jumped into the lead in the opening round when quarterback Tom Sorley scored on a keeper play from one yard away. Big Spring went for two on the PAT and failed.

Snyder went ahead 7-6 after recovering a JV fumble and went in for the score and kicked the conversion.

Big Spring forged ahead at the half on the result of James Walkin's one-yard scoring dive in the second quarter. The extra point attempt backfired.

Snyder held Big Spring scoreless in the final half and scored the winning points on a 65-yard punt return into the end zone. The visitors ran the conversion across for two points.

Sorley drew praise from his coaches for an outstanding game, especially in the passing department. The local junior varsity will return to action Sept. 23 in a 7:30 p.m. contest in Memorial Stadium with Andrews.

Disosway Leads Webb Tournament

John Disosway toured the 18 holes at the Webb golf course in 69 strokes Saturday to take a five stroke lead in the race for the base championship.

Sitting in second place with a 74 is Tom Cooke and Steve Pemberton is in third spot with a 75.

Leo Davis and Jim Chatfield are in the running after shooting 78s Saturday.

The tournament will conclude today with trophies scheduled to be presented at 4 p.m. Trophies will be given to the three top places in all flights.

Atlanta Braves Nudge San Francisco, 5-4

ATLANTA (AP) — Hank Aaron, whose 41st home run of the year ignited a four-run first inning, doubled and scored the winning run on Earl Williams' single in the eighth inning as the Atlanta Braves downed the shell-shocked San Francisco Giants 5-4 Saturday night.

The loss was the seventh in a row for the tail-spinning National League West leaders, whose lead over the idle Los Angeles Dodgers shriveled to three games.

Aaron, whose three-run 11th-inning homer beat the stunned Giants 7-5 Friday night, sent them reeling again as he followed Ralph Garr's single in Atlanta added two more before the inning was over on singles by Williams, Darrel Evans and Dusty Baker, plus Sonny Jackson's sacrifice fly.

But the Giants, held to just four hits through the first seven innings by Tom Kelley, finally woke up in the eighth to tie it, helped along by two Atlanta errors.

Saturday night's game with his 633rd career homer into the left field seats. It obliterated San Francisco's 1-0 lead.

Atlanta added two more before the inning was over on singles by Williams, Darrel Evans and Dusty Baker, plus Sonny Jackson's sacrifice fly.

But the Giants, held to just four hits through the first seven innings by Tom Kelley, finally woke up in the eighth to tie it, helped along by two Atlanta errors.

Steers Bury Monterey Jinx In Opener Here

By TOMMY HART
Lubbock Monterey's 19-game road winning streak and its whammy over Big Spring went the way of the dodo bird Friday when the Bold Gold rose up to administer a 14-12 defeat upon the Plainsmen.

The aroused Steers did it by applying pressure to Monterey's passing game in the last half and by capitalizing on the breaks that came their way.

Quarterback Glen Yarbrough of the guests completed five passes in the first half and two of those put points on the board. Big Spring's rushing unit began to harass the nifty junior after the intermission, however, and the tide of battle took a dramatic turn for the better.

Monterey had a wide edge in the statistical battle but the Longhorns were clearly the better club in the final two periods.

Monterey had won four straight games over Big Spring going into the fray. It's string of 19 straight wins away from home came to an abrupt end, too.

The Black and Gold managed its first touchdown early in Round Two and went ahead to stay midway in the third. Each came following recovery of a Monterey fumble and thunder-runner Arthur Trevino scored them both.

CONLEY RECOVERS
Dick Conley wrapped himself around a Plainsman bobble on the Monterey 29 in the second and the Longhorns bruised in for a score in six plays.

Trevino took a pitch on a fourth down play at the enemy three and went wide to beat the Monterey defenders to the flag.

Actually, the difference in the game was Ricky Steen's kicking toe. He split the uprights with his effort that time, just as he did when Artful Arturo sprinted in for the second Big Spring TD. Each time, Alan Davis held the ball for him.

Suddenly aware that they were in a fight for their lives, the Plainsmen came back to score twice before the half was out. Monterey mounted a devastating attack and Big Spring, for the only times during the long evening, was unable to contain the foe's attack.

Monterey drove 80 yards in 11 plays for its first tally. A pass from Yarbrough to split end Tom Ellis up the middle of the field produced the score. Ellis accepted delivery around the 10 and hurried on in. The Plainsmen tried booting the extra point and failed after a penalty had set them back. Big Spring still led, 7-6.

Lubbock soon had the ball again and in good field position following the runback of a punt. That time, the Plainsmen powered their way 45 yards in five plays for the score. Yarbrough again sought out Ellis with the touchdown pass. This time, the stratagem covered 15 yards.

JONES DROPS HIM
Bobby Pipkin sprinted around right end trying for the two extra points but Gatlin Jones speared him with a fine tackle and Monterey was again frustrated.

Craig Brown wrestled successfully for another Monterey fumble at the Lubbock 29 in the third quarter and Big Spring was again in business. The Steers scored in two plays. A pass from Mike Adams to Trevino, one of two the locals completed all night, cleared yardage down to the 14. Trevino then took a pitchout, raced far to the left and went in for the score. Steen's kick was good and Big Spring had a lead it made stand up the rest of the way.

A fine rushing unit spearheaded by Pete Shaffer and Jeff Murdock, dealt out punishment to Yarbrough through the second half. Monterey got as far as Big Spring's 85 on its next possession but Arthur Guess, Earl Reynolds and Rondel Brock were knocking down aerial thrusts that previously had been going for yardage.

Just before the third period ended, Curtis Jordan of Monterey picked off a Big Spring pass and returned it to the Steer 34. Ellis gathered in a fourth down pass down to the Bold Gold's 12. Two running plays hacked out yardage to the Steer seven but Reynolds came across field to knock down a pass to Jesse Owens at the last possible second. Yarbrough surged right back to drill Ellis with a bomb over the goal line but Monterey drew a penalty on the play and Brock converged on Yarbrough on a fourth down play, forcing the Monterey quarterback to hurry his throw.

3 MORE CHANCES
Monterey had three chances after that, the final one coming after Big Spring had fumbled on a first down play at its own 38. Murdock dropped Yarbrough for a nine-yard loss and Monterey was never able to come back.

For significance, the win must rank with the Steers' 20-0 victory over San Angelo last year in the Clovis Hale regime.

Both teams were accident-prone, as in the usual case in an opening game, but Big Spring's youthful troops were the ones who more easily adjusted to the situation.

Steer rooters, and about 5,500 paying customers were on hand, found a lot of new heroes to cheer.

The Longhorn passing game is going to have to be upgraded. Receivers and pitchers just couldn't get together — the locals took to the air 12 times.

Monterey looked as if it were going to push the Steers as far as FM 700 early in the game, moving from its own 30 to the Longhorn two, but a 15-yard infraction broke its momentum and it had to cough up the ball.

Big Spring's leading ground gainer was rugged Ricky Steen, who hacked out 79 yards in 14 tries. Right behind was Trevino, with 58.

Steen broke free of the Monterey line on one occasion in the fourth and had nothing but open space between him and the goal 80 yards removed, but a team mate bumped him in an effort to join his convoy of blockers and Rick was stopped after an 11-yard gain. On the part of the blocker, it was the kind of mistake that Hale applauds. The young man was making the supreme effort and that is what counts.

For a sophomore, Reynolds was truly tremendous on defense, especially when the battle was so fluid in the early mulling. Davis was outstanding for the Steers, too, in the punting game — he had a 40.8 average on eight boots.

Score by quarters:
Big Spring 0 7 7 0-14
Monterey 0 12 0 0-12

Sonora Outlasts Coahoma, 20-16

SONORA — Defending state Class A champ Sonora, favored in its district again this year, held on in the last half here Friday night to edge Class AA Coahoma, 20-16.

The visiting Bulldogs dented the scoreboard first in the opening stanza when fullback Donny Buchanan went over from a foot out for the score and Wendell Walker ran the extra point.

Sonora came back in the second period and scored 20 points, more than enough to win the ball game.

Tryon Fields picked up the first tally for the Broncos early in the quarter. The conversion attempt was thwarted.

Milton Noel went in from three yards out after the Broncos fell on a loose ball. This time Henry Mata kicked the point after.

Noel scored again later in the period from short yardage and Mata again booted the point.

The Bulldogs came back late in the second stanza and moved within four points when quarterback Roland Beal hit Troy Kerby with a touchdown pass from six yards out. Keith Pherigo ran the point attempt across for two extra points.

The game was hard fought defensively throughout, especially in the second half.

Vikings Appear Stronger

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers had just upset the Minnesota Vikings 17-14 in a National Football League playoff game last December.

In the dazed Viking dressing room, wide receiver Gene Washington mumbled that the offense was not able to click on the third downs and had let down the defense that had such a brilliant regular season.

"We won together," said defensive end Jim Marshall. "Now, we lost together."

The Vikings are back together again for 1971, stronger than ever before, and with an offense that threatens to carry more than its share.

Although Coach Bud Grant prefers to keep the offense simple to minimize mistakes, the Vikings have the firepower to change tactics.

Trades have brought in 10-year veteran Norm Snead to join Gary Cuozzo and Bob Lee at quarterback and seven-year pro Al Denson to catch passes with Washington, Bob Grim and John Henderson.

Veterans will start in every position — from the prime offense led by the tempestuous front four of ends Marshall and Carl Eller, tackles Alan Page and Gary Larsen to record-setting kicker Fred Cox, who scored in all 112 NFL games in which he has played.

Grant is asking his team, which was 3-8-3 in his first season in 1967 then rose to 8-6 and to consecutive 12-2 seasons, to strive for further refinement.

"You say, what areas are we going to improve?" Grant said in an interview. "There was a time we talked about improving our downfield tackling, our passing game, improving our advancing the ball after the catch.

"How we could eliminate a number of penalties, how we could make fewer mistakes. There were so many areas we thought we could play better."

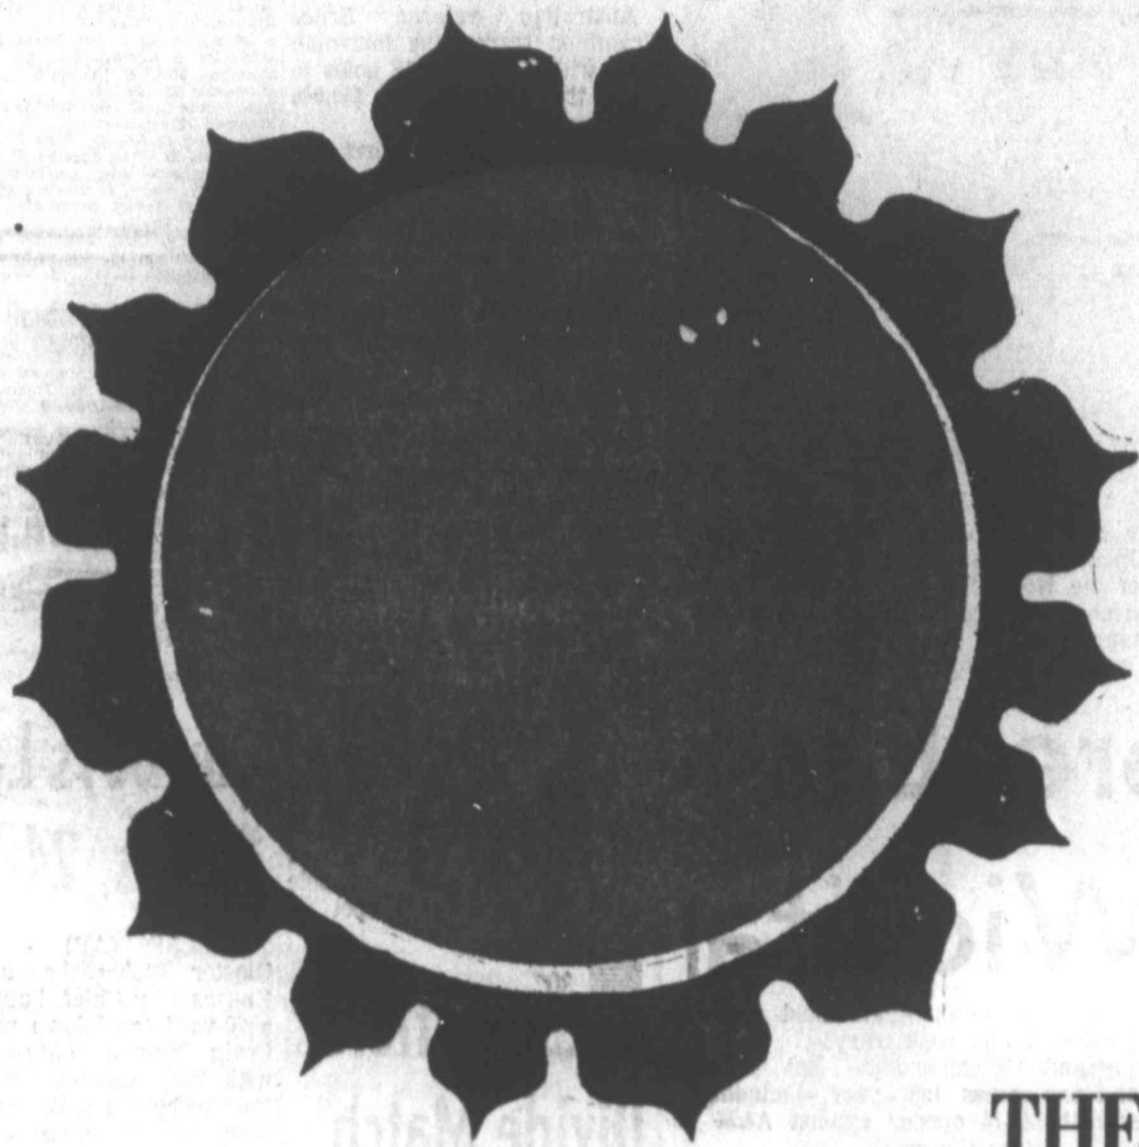

"Individually, we thought they could play better. We analyzed their play, talked to them and tried to convince them where we were falling down, breaking down—what were their weak points—tried to improve them, try to sell them on becoming a better team by everybody playing together."

The Vikings have great depth at almost every position. Starting guard Jim Vellone is out for at least this season with Hodgkin's disease. But Ed White, groomed in a reserve role for two years, is ready to take over.

Other stalwarts of the line are tight end John Beasley, tackles Grady Alderman and Ron Yary, guard Milt Sunde and center Mick Tingelhoff.

Grant can choose from six backs for his starters—Clint Jones and Dave Osborn, Jim Lindsey and Bill Brown, rookie Leo Hayden and Oscar Reed.

CAPTAIN'S LADY INSPECTS HIS FLOATING PALACE
Mrs. E. H. Bedell aboard boat built by her husband

Love Of Fishing Inspires Local Man To Build Boat

By TOMMY HART

Approximately 2 1/2 years after he sawed the first board, E. H. (Hoppy) Bedell is on the verge of completing a cabin cruiser that might cost as much as $20,000 if purchased from a dealer.

An avid fisherman all his life, Bedell plans to christen his 34x12-foot ship sometime later this year at Lake Amistad near Del Rio. With the help of a good friend, Larry Henderson, and members of his family, Bedell — a welder by trade — built the craft himself in his spare time from plans in a do-it-yourself kit he ordered.

The Bedell family resides just beyond the Snyder highway on the Gail road. Hoppy started the project in his garage. When it came time to move the vessel, he discovered he had to jack up to the equivalent of 15 miles per hour.

The boat sleeps four, or more, boasts paneled walls, a complete kitchen and bath and will shortly be carpeted. It has a 120 horsepower motor and is capable of speeds up to the equivalent of 15 miles per hour.

Walkways down the sides of the craft give passengers views from any part of the vessel. There are seats fore and aft for the benefit of those who like to do their fishing or their sight-seeing in more relaxed positions. Handrails bordering the cabin lend the craft a very professional look.

The controls, with a well-appointed instrument panel, is located forward in the cabin.

Mrs. Bedell, whose given name is Geraldine, will give the boat a homey touch by making curtains and seat cushions for the craft. Her mother, Lela Ringener, will lend a hand with that chore, too.

Oddly enough, Bedell isn't a boating enthusiast but the craft affords him the chance to add a new dimension to his favorite sport, fishing.

The 19-year old son of the Bedells, called Little Hoppy, has lent his father help in building the flagship of the Bedell navy.

The craft weighs an estimated 10,000 pounds, which means it will have to be towed to Lake Amistad by truck. Bedell himself built the heavy-duty trailer on which the vessel is mounted. The ship is capable of sailing the seven seas but Bedell has no plans to take it to the ocean. Other Southwestern lakes may be visited by the Bedells and the yet-unnamed boat, once the master completes the shakedown cruise, however, that could happen as early as next month.

Snyder Tied By Stamford

STANFORD — The Snyder Tigers came from behind with 14 points in the last quarter here Friday night to salvage a tie with Stamford, 24-24.

After leading 10-6 at the half, Snyder saw Stamford score 18 points in the third quarter to forge ahead, 24-10.

Snyder scored first when Travis Bunch took a pitch-out and blitzed 96 yards for the touchdown. The visitors extended the lead to 10-0 in the second quarter on a 32-yard field goal by Sandy Land.

Stamford took the lead in the third period on touchdowns by Randy Leavitt, Fred Washington and Wayne Marsh, but then saw Snyder battle back in the closing minutes as Willa Harrison ran 13 yards for one

Sands Ponies Shaded By Grandfalls, 12-6

GRANDFALLS — Quarterback Rudy Sanchez led the Grandfalls-Royalty Cowboys to a 12-6 victory over Sands here Friday night, a game that marked the coaching debut of Sands' Bob Davis.

Sanchez intercepted a Sands pass and raced 60 yards for Grandfalls' clinching score in the fourth period. The desperate Ponies had four good shots at the Cowboy ace but missed.

Ray Ramirez had scored Grandfalls' opening six-pointer in the second period on a five-yard run up the middle.

Sands got on the board in the third round when QB Paul Hopper passed six yards to Marcy Robles on a down-and-in pattern, climaxing a 55-yard drive.

Sands stayed in the Grandfalls end of the field most of the opening period.

Reggie Hambrick gained 104 yards carrying the ball for Sands and played outstanding all-around ball.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Uniforms Draw Criticism

By TOMMY HART

Rick Reichardt, the Chicago White Sox outfielder, says that baseball uniforms are made wrong and serve to shorten a player's career.

When a baseball player gets dressed for combat, he first pulls on a pair of white cotton sanitary socks over his feet. Then come the heavy elastic stirrup over-socks. Both are folded back and taped tightly in place to prevent slippage. Then the elastic bottom pants are pulled up over the two pairs of hose. The key to a player's longevity, Reichardt reminds, is his legs.

"He can hide such shortcomings as bad eyes or slow reflexes," Rick continues, "he can cover them up for a couple of years. But he can't hide bad legs." The hose, the stirrups and the bottom of the pants all meet at one point — the top of the calf. Reichardt contends they all serve to form a kind of tourniquet which can cause anoxia (lack of oxygen) in the lower leg. This, in turn, he adds, can lead to muscle injuries, especially if the player has heavy legs. Because he is such a fine runner, Big Spring's Dave Duncan likely will become a halfback for the TCU Horned Frogs. Dave was an all-district quarterback here last fall. West Texas State has already sold more than 3,800 season football tickets, which will give you an idea of how they're accepting coach Gene Mayfield up there. Some of society's rejects who couldn't wait to get to the bottom of the human garbage dump frequented the Big Spring High School practice field under the cover of darkness recently, stripped a blocking dummy of its canvas and foam rubber, took it to the outskirts of town and tried to burn it. It's one thing to dislike football but something else to try and keep others from enjoying it. Portland, Ore., one of the largest cities on the West Coast, drew only 65,000 paying customers to its home games the past baseball season. A few years ago, San Angelo did twice that kind of business in the old Longhorn League. Lee Trevino is now demanding and getting $10,000 for weekday golf exhibitions and his fee goes to $12,000 on weekends. That's not bad pay for four hours' work. The fee won't be cut even for charitable appearances.

Idaho University, coached by ex-Big Springer Don Robbins, finished with a 4-7 record last fall but could do better this time out. Robbins will again match wits with Gene Mayfield of West Texas State Oct. 23 in Canyon and Idaho doubles back to face New Mexico State in Las Cruces the following week. Charley West, who performed here under Robbins, is playing out his option for the Minnesota Vikings. He has always wanted to play in Los Angeles, where the rewards can be greater for success, may get the chance as early as 1972. BSIS basketball coach Ron Plumlee is seeking one official to work four of his home 5-AAAA games next season. Don Burns had to cancel three of his officiating appearances here because his company recently transferred him from Monahans to Port Arthur, where he will help expand a gas plant. Curly Hayes was committed to work another game here but begged off after he got a Southwest Conference assignment. Incidentally, Plumlee will take his team back to the Borger Tournament, which promises to be a much stronger meet because Class AAA champion Dumas will be in it. Other teams entered there include Spearman, Perryton, Duncan, Okla.; Clovis, N.M.; Vernon and the host school. Borger, by the way, has lost heavily in population in recent years (it's down to about 13,000 now) and could slide back to Class AAA ball next season. On the other hand, Pecos has enrolled 1,042 in its high school, a gain of 100 over last year. All told, the Pecos school system has an enrollment gain of 233. It could be in AAAA by 1972. John Rodney Richard, recently brought up by the Houston Oilers, grew up within 50 miles of Vida Blue's home town, Mansfield, La., but never heard of the Oakland mound ace until this year. SMU has picked up a transfer from Stanford. He is Rufus Shaw, leading receiver on Stanford's freshman football team in 1970. Boxer Jesus Pimentel, who concedes he isn't very popular in his home town, Mexicali, Mexico, says San Antonio is his favorite city in the world. Santa Fe Downs in New Mexico is offering 800,000 shares of common stock to the public at $5 a share. The stock has been cleared for sale in 12 states, but not yet in Texas. Ex-SMU great Doak Walker, who never aspired to coach, now is content to play golf in the summer and ski in the winter. He lives in Troy, a suburb of Detroit, is employed by an electrical-mechanical contractor.

DOAK WALKER

Bronte Clips Forsan Buffs In '71 Debut

BRONTE — The powerful Bronte Longhorns had a tough time of it here Friday night but bested the Forsan Buffaloes, 34-6, in a non-district contest.

| Person | First Downs | Yards Rushing | Yards Passing | Passes Completed | Interceptions | Fumbles | Points |
|--------|-------------|---------------|---------------|------------------|---------------|---------|--------|
| Bronte | 19 | 150 | 32 | 2 of 4 | 2 | 1 | 24 |

the damage in the first half with two touchdowns as Bronte left the field at intermission with a 13-0 cushion.

The hosts added 15 points in the third quarter. One score came on a 25-yard pass from Mike Arrott to Jim Raughton. Bronte also chalked up a safety in that period when a Forsan back was captured in his own end zone.

Forsan finally got on the board in the final quarter when Tommy Brumley scored from two yards out. A running play for the conversion was no good. Buffalo end zone.

Bronte scored the final points of the game when Jerry Graves recovered a Bison fumble in the Buffaloes end zone.

Forsan seemingly had slippery palms throughout the game as they gave up four fumbles to the home squad.

Coach Jack Woodley will take his Buffs to Roscoe for another non-district tilt Friday night with kickoff set for 8 p.m.

The game proved costly to the Bisons. They lost both halfbacks, Gary Daughtery and James Ditmore, to injuries. Daughtery broke his arm in the opening period when he tried to pick up a bad snap from center. He's likely out for the year.

Stanton Loses Opener, 36-14

TAHOKA — The Tahoka Bulldogs scored touchdowns in each quarter here Friday night and went on to defeat the visiting Stanton Buffaloes, 36-14.

Ladd Roberts picked up the first score for the Bulldogs early in the game on a one-yard plunge and Louis Zedith added the extra point.

Eugene Brown blocked a Stanton punt in the second period and picked it up and raced into the end zone with it.

In the same period, Bulldog John Thomas scored twice on runs of nine and one yards.

Quarterback Rick Wilson put seven points on the boards for Bill Young's team in the last quarter with a touchdown pass.

The score came on an 18-yard toss to Jackie Swanson and Wilson then passed to David Dillard for the extra points.

The visitors final tally came when Dwaine McMeans returned an intercepted pass 75 yards. The conversion attempt failed.

Stanton will open the home season in Stanton Friday night, when they face Rotan.

Kapp's Case Involved

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm a football player," said Joe Kapp, the wandering pro quarterback, "and Joe Kapp would like to be playing football. But Mr. Rozelle has stopped me. What am I supposed to do?"

"The NFL has lawyers, Rozelle has lawyers and I have a lawyer."

And so, with the opening of the National Football League season just a week away, it appears Kapp will not be playing and that the ball will be in the lawyers' hands—a fact that could make the situation revolving around Kapp pro football's equivalent of the Curt Flood case.

For there is in Kapp's refusal to sign the NFL's Standard Player Contract a striking similarity with Flood's suit aimed at the reserve clause provision of baseball's standard contract, a case which has reached the U.S. Supreme Court.

Kapp's refusal to sign the standard contract tendered by the New England club resulted in Commissioner Pete Rozelle notifying the Patriots that, under the NFL Constitution, no player can play without signing the required document.

NON-PLAYER

It has left Kapp, who led Minnesota into the Super Bowl with his charisma and so-called helium-filled passes in 1969, a non-playing member of the Patriots and an itinerant businessman traveling between California and Vancouver, B.C.

It also has caused considerable confusion about the reason for his modus operandi.

Virtually nothing has been heard from the 34-year-old Kapp since the day he left the Patriots' camp. But The Associated Press reached him by phone in Vancouver and Kapp said:

"I want to play football and I'm in my prime. But it doesn't look like it's going to happen. I have a contract and I played on it last year—that's that. That's all I care to comment on."

"I'm in the hands of Mr. Cook—he's looking after the football aspect of my life."

Mr. Cook is John Elliott Cook, a septuagenarian San Francisco attorney who, during the war between the NFL and American Football League, negotiated a reported $900,000-plus contract for San Francisco 49ers quarterback John Brodie.

He is the architect of Kapp's plans—but has not revealed them.

There has been considerable speculation that Cook's plans, when revealed, will lead to a challenge of the establishment similar to the one Flood initiated against major league baseball in challenging the reserve clause.

But that remains the unknown.

What is known about the complicated situation is the following:

—When Kapp joined the Patriots, after playing out his option with the Vikings, he signed a Memorandum of Agreement which settled the monetary terms of his contract with the club on a three-year contract.

—Kapp was paid $100,000 under terms of that document last year and already has received $88,000 for this season, according to figures revealed by Theodore Kheel, noted labor mediator and the owners' representative in collective bargaining negotiations.

—The assumption was made that Kapp's Memorandum of Agreement would be incorporated in the Standard Player Contract, the usual practice, once certain tax provisions were accommodated and approved by the firm of Price Waterhouse, representing Kapp.

—Price Waterhouse gave such approval just prior to the end of the NFL's regular season last December and, despite that, Kapp still did not sign although continually prodded by the Patriots.

COULD HAVE SUED

—The only other reason that has surfaced, according to Kheel, for Kapp's refusal to sign was the possibility that he would sue the Vikings for libel and slander dating back to events that occurred before he joined the Patriots.

—Cook suggested such to Marshall Leahy, the NFL's general counsel, and was told in return that a stipulation would be made in the contract to the effect that signing a Standard Player Contract did not involve Kapp's waiving of such rights.

—Since the Patriots ordered Kapp to leave training camp the NFL owners' Player Relations Association has filed a grievance with the NFL Players' Association over his refusal to sign.

—The grievance contends Kapp is violating the collective bargaining agreement which, according to Kheel, "states clearly under Article 3 of that agreement 'that every player shall sign the Standard Player Contract.'"

The fall season finds many willing workers volunteering their time for the annual Big Spring Community Concert Association's membership campaign. However, long before the first membership is sold, the organization's 30 active directors have been at work acquiring the artists and attractions which will be offered for the series. Pictured are a group of directors, along with their husbands or wives, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Robb, Four Highland Cove. From left, they are Dr. and Mrs. Preston Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Don Womack, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Shockey, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Hickson, Judge and Mrs. Ralph Caton, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jenkins and Col. and Mrs. John Grow.

Concert Association Announces Attractions

By JO BRIGHT

The Big Spring Community Concert Association has announced three outstanding attractions on its 1971-72 season of programs. Included in the series are The Little Angels of Korea on October 9, the smash "Peanuts" musical, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" on October 30 and the outstanding piano-duo team of Ferrante and Teicher on Feb. 10, 1972.

The Little Angels features 32 enchanting Korean children in the National Folk Ballet of Korea. The lavishly costumed production demonstrates the charming traditions, legends and mystery of Korea's music and folk dancing.

"You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" is a delightful musical show based on Charles M. Schultz' famous "Peanuts" comic strip. It brings to life the familiar characters who have become the most beloved figures in American pop mythology. It is great entertainment for people of all ages.

The outstanding piano artists Ferrante and Teicher return to Big Spring by popular demand following their very successful concert here a few years ago. They combine serious piano technique with the popular music of today for a concert of sophisticated artistry and showmanship.

The purpose of the Big Spring Community Concert Association is to make available to area citizens outstanding entertainment programs which would not otherwise be available to them. The association operates on a season membership which allows the ticket holder to attend all of the programs during the season.

The local association has recently affiliated with the New York office of Community Concerts, a subsidiary of Columbia Artists Management. Community Concerts assists some 800 cities in the United States with their local concert associations. They will serve the Big Spring

Association by supplying assistance in conducting the annual membership campaign and will act as the booking office for artists and attractions.

Also, the local association has entered into a reciprocal agreement with the Midland Community Concert Association whereby Big Spring members may attend some of the Midland programs, and they in turn, can attend those here. The arrangement depends on how many seats are available for the shows, and this will not be known until five minutes prior to curtain time. However, both cities have spacious facilities, and the agreement should prove beneficial to concert-goers. Some of the attractions booked by the Midland association are Cross and Yarrick, an operatic duo; The Houston Jazz Ballet and The Young Americans.

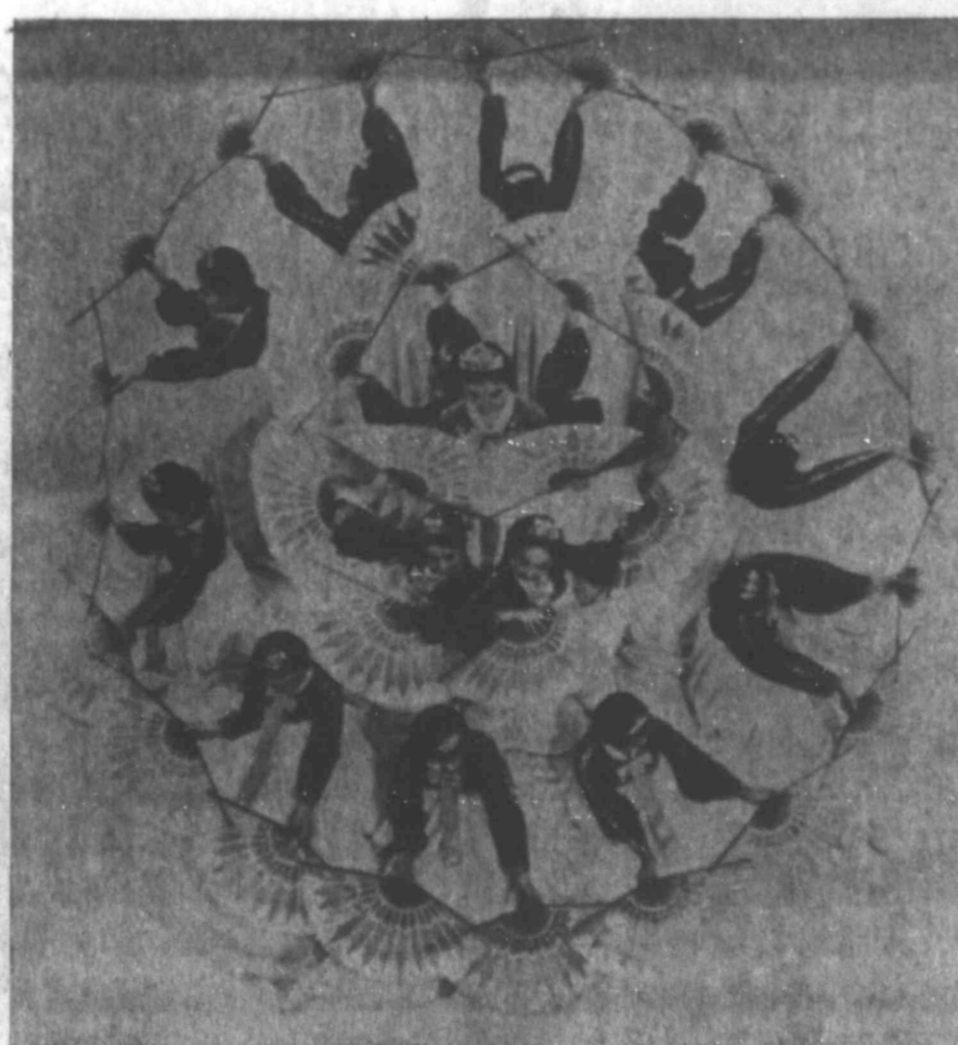

Twenty-five membership captains and 140 workers will be assisting the local membership chairman, Mrs. Wayne Kuykendall, with this year's condensed but extensive drive. Mrs. Kuykendall has set a goal of 1,500 memberships.

This year's campaign will be conducted Sept. 14-18, during which time interested persons may purchase memberships by calling Campaign Headquarters, 267-5283. Adult memberships sell for $10, and student memberships for $4. There will be a limited reserve seat section. For this area adults will pay $14 and students $8.

"The last day of the campaign will be Sept. 18," said Robert Hickson, association president. "No more tickets will be sold after that date, so we urge everyone to keep that in mind and not be left out for this year's performances."

Working with Hickson as officers of the association are Mrs. Kuykendall, first vice-president; Dan Shockey, second vice-president; Mrs. Don Womack, third vice-president; Mrs. Richard Schook, secretary; and Mrs. Roy Cederberg, treasurer. There are 30 active directors.

MRS. H. J. (JOHNNIE) MORRISON

Career Corner

By JO BRIGHT

Mrs. H. J. (Sunbeam) Morrison lacked a year getting a college degree, yet she was a school teacher for nine years.

A native of Tenaha, she is the daughter of Mrs. Nora B. White of Tenaha and the late James R. White.

The only girl in a family of five children, she was reared in the small East Texas town, graduating from high school in 1928. After only one year at Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College at Nacogdoches, she was granted a teacher's certificate and took a job at a one-teacher school "20 miles from any town." Some of the students were older than their young teacher. The following year, she again enrolled in college, and during the spring break, visited a brother who had moved to Ackerly.

"There happened to be a vacancy at the Ackerly school, and it was during the depression, so I took the job and taught there three years," she recalled. It was in 1932, in the Settles Drug Store, that she met Sunbeam Morrison, and they were married Dec. 31, 1937. After several years as a housewife, she became a bookkeeper at Joe Glickman's shoe store, "Margo's," until moving to El Paso and Amarillo during the time her husband was employed by the Liquor Control Board.

When Morrison joined the military service in 1943, Mrs. Morrison returned to Big Spring and worked at Albert M. Fisher's Department Store (now Hemphill-Wells). In 1945, she became "book-keeper, saleslady and window trimmer" for Elmo Wasson, remaining there until 1959 when she quit to help her husband with his brick business. Two years later, she returned to the store to work until 1966. It was at that time that she accepted her present job as manager of Big Spring Country Club.

Widowed in 1968, Mrs. Morrison devotes most of her time to her job, but occasionally spends a few hours at her hobbies of fishing, playing cards and refinishing furniture. She has refinished many of the pieces which decorate her home at 806 Scurry.

A member of the First United Methodist Church, she also holds membership in the Big Spring Credit Women's Club and the American Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. Morrison said she enjoys working at the Veterans' Administration Hospital where she has received a 100-hour certificate as a volunteer.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

With the first game of the football season on the books and a first look at the pretty, agile and hardworking drum major-ettes and twirlers, I couldn't help but let my mind wander back to the 'Pep Squad' days of my high school years.

We were a small group, to be sure, but what we lacked in numbers we tried hard to make up in enthusiasm. Most of the years were just so-so, but then we got a sponsor who had her own ideas about how we should be dressed and how we should make a good appearance when we marched. I'm sure she never gave much thought as to how our trappings were going to feel to those of us that had to wear the accessories along with the snappy gold sweaters and black skirts.

The white blouse was fine... it was those horrible ribbed cotton stockings that turned us all off. I shouldn't say all, because some of the girls were short of limb and their hose probably fit them well. But I was long of limb and short of stocking and mine hit me just above the knee. There is no way that one can keep her stockings up (short of over-the-shoulder garters) when with every bend of the knee her hose slip from their moorings.

In addition to the hanging hose, this sponsor was way ahead of the Rangerettes, etc. She had us lift our knees almost to our chins in order to give a crisp, snappy appearance to those watching on the sidelines or the small bleacher space. Practice sessions on trying to achieve the right sort of bend in unison reduced us to a giggle of girls... I don't think we ever got much better than the first session.

But we enjoyed it and wouldn't have swapped our piece on the group for any amount of money... and we hope to see some of our marching buddies when the Big Spring High School homecoming takes place real soon.

MRS. GENE CRENSHAW accompanied her daughter, MRS. TOM McADAMS, back to her home in Irving after a reunion of the Crenshaws here the past weekend. Mrs. Crenshaw and Mrs. McAdams spent Wednesday night in Haskell with MR. and MRS. TOMMY McADAMS and their children before going on to Irving.

MRS. PERRY LOU PHILLIPS just about left her heart in San Francisco. She and her younger children spent several weeks in the California city as the guest of her son, Doyle Phillips, who has made his home there for a number of years. They returned here just before the beginning of school.

MISS MARGIE NEWMAN of Dallas was a visitor in the home of her mother, MRS. FAY NEWMAN, last weekend.

MR. and MRS. JAKE DOUGLASS of Denver, Colo., were here last weekend visiting her father, ROY PHILLIPS, and other relatives.

The Ice Capades at Odessa attracted a number of Big Spring people for the first performance Wednesday. MRS. NOLA IRWIN was there and MR. and MRS. JOE DICK MERRICK and their son, Andrew, and his guest, Pam Stephens, saw the big show. Today MRS. LAVERNE ROGERS was planning to take two of her grandchildren, Mike and Robyn Rogers, for the afternoon performance.

Of course, it was to see members of the family but MR. and MRS. COY THOMAS of Akron, Ohio, managed to squeeze in a few other pleasures on their visit here last week. They didn't take back any black-eyed peas but ate enough, with good cornbread, to last until next spring. He also proved to brothers TRUETT and R.C., that he hasn't actually lost the touch when it comes to dove hunting. One of the sons of the late L. H. THOMAS, Coy grew up here.

JOHN KNOX got to see his granddaughter for the first time Friday. He and his wife, LUCY, flew to Plainfield, Minn., where they will be the guests of their daughter and husband, MR. and MRS. JOHN STULL. Mr. Stull formerly was stationed at Webb AFB when he married SUE.

MR. and MRS. WALTER KRULL of Langley, Wash., near Seattle, are here visiting their son and daughter-in-law, CAPT. and MRS. ARTHUR KRULL, and children, Stephen and Jonathan. They helped celebrate Stephen's first birthday and plan to return home today.

Club Sews Items For Nursing Inn

Mrs. Tom Rosson, president of the Sew and Chatter Club, reported Wednesday that lap pads made by members were delivered to residents at Big Spring Nursing Inns. Meeting in the home of Mrs. S. R. Nobles, 405 Washington Blvd., the women honored Mrs. Lee Porter for her birthday. Mrs. Hazel Adcock of Phoenix, Ariz., was a guest. The next meeting is at 3:30 p.m., Sept. 25 in the home of Mrs. Lawrence Robinson, 602 E. 17th.

Gardeners Schedule Fall Show

Mrs. Paul Guy, president of the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs, outlined procedures for the council flower show Oct. 23, for the Planters Garden Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. E. O. Sanderson.

Judging at the show will begin at 1 p.m., Oct. 23, at the First National Bank, and will open to the public at no charge from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Mrs. J. W. Trantham said all entries must be marked with the exhibitors name. Late entries and those not conforming to the show schedule may be placed on display but will not be judged. Only one entry per person is allowed in each class or subdivision of a class.

The club donated its "Back to Work" arrangement to the Howard County Library, and Mrs. J. O. Murphy was named club librarian.

The refreshment table was covered with a green cloth overlaid with lace and centered with yellow roses. Guests for the luncheon were Mrs. Billy Sanderson and Miss Marva Sanderson. Mrs. N. M. Hipp became a member. Members will meet for a workshop Oct. 1 in the home of Mrs. Paul Guy, 1305 Tucson. The next regular meeting is Oct. 15 in the home of Mrs. J. A. Andrews, 1204 Benton.

Luncheon Meeting

A luncheon meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the United Transportation Union was held Friday at the IOOF Hall. Mrs. Albert G. Smith presided, and Mrs. S. V. Jordan served as program warden. Hostesses were Mrs. J. H. Eastham, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Paul Ennis and Mrs. Velma Kesterson. The next meeting is at 2:30 p.m., Oct. 8 at the IOOF Hall.

Genealogical Society Sees Family Records

Research materials concerning family histories were displayed and explained by members of the Genealogical Society of the Big Spring Thursday evening at Howard County Library.

Miss Gladys Hardy showed old periodicals and a detailed family tree drawn to resemble an actual tree with the trunk representing the original family and branches depicting offspring. Other items shown included framed marriage certificates of Bill Steagald's ancestors in the Revolutionary War era; receipts for items purchased in the past century; a charcoal rubbing showing an old tombstone and a catalogue of old homes. The display of personal items will continue at the next meeting.

Miss Mary Bernice Cason presided, and Mrs. Dale Smith was accepted for membership. Mrs. Jerry Phillips announced that the society's August sale netted $103.35. Additional fund-raising projects were discussed. Mrs. Oliver Nichols, librarian, announced that four new genealogical books were received at the library. They concerned the New England states, Arkansas, Georgia and Alabama.

Mrs. Bill Steagald, secretary, was instructed to inform the Howard County Commissioners Court of the club's opposition to the commission's cut in the library.

A workshop is scheduled Nov. 7 at the library, when a question and answer program will be conducted by guest speakers from Lubbock. Guests at the meeting were Frances Kelley and Debra Steagald.

WE WILL NOT STOP TALKING ABOUT V.D.

It must seem that everywhere you turn somebody is harping to you about venereal disease and especially gonorrhea. We admit to being an active public pleader on the subject. But frankly its importance is really overwhelming. It can actually effect the whole basic health structure of our country.

We could quote you a whole lot of frightening statistics, but statistics do not seem to impress people to action unless they or someone close to them becomes one. Don't let it happen. Become an activist in a fight where nobody can win and everybody can lose. If you know you have a VENEREAL DISEASE urge them to consult a physician.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

British Designers Take Emphasis Off 'Bare' Sex

LONDON (AP) — British fashion designers took the emphasis off sex and skin this fall with styles that look practical by day yet sensual by night.

Seethroughs, slits and décolletés were spurned by London's couture house.

Only Hardy Amies flirted with the body beautiful, bringing the bust out for evening wear and surfacing an occasional strip of stomach.

The winter collections, which ended Thursday with showings by Norman Hartnell, ran the gamut of British couture from the sparkling sophistication of Clive to the elegant of Matti and Lachasse.

Between the extremes were Hardy Amies and Dior, who both combined couture cool with cut and dash.

Clive, the first to show four weeks ago, featured heavy-weight banion dresses in rainbow colors which clung like glue to the body. Sleeves were soft and curving, falling from a round or square neck into bands of contrasting color.

Daywar went Scottish at Dior, with kilts and capes against a background of high-land reels. Wrapover skirts were topped with velvet reefer jackets and jaunty tans' slanters, and worn with polo-necked cashmere sweaters.

Hardy Amies teetered between simplicity and drabness in daytime wear with slim, casually belted suits, yoke-seamed dresses skimming the body, and dress and jacket outfits in shades of brown and black.

Hartnell, too, serenely toed the traditional line, showing sporty tweed suits for the race course and classic little wool dresses.

Evening saw the return of the

'Who Says We Can't?' Questions Today's Updated, Revitalized PTA

In choosing "Who Says We Can't?" as its 1971-72 program theme, the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers is updating its outlook — and seeing a different set of problems faced by today's students, parents and teachers.

This new look to the association structure and aims is what will be emphasized during PTA Membership Month which will be held here Sept. 15 through Oct. 15.

Mrs. David Hodnett, membership chairman for the PTA City Council, noted that the small membership fee pays big dividends to parents who take time to attend meetings and become aware of what is happening in their schools. Sixty per cent of the fee stays with the local units, while 40 per cent is contributed to the state and national organizations.

The new program which was presented to the Texas PTA board of managers was adopted by the board with the philosophy that during the next two years, local PTA's will implement meaningful programs within four broad areas.

The new theme is an extension of "Confrontation with Realities," the theme used for the past two years, which gave the PTA an opportunity to look at itself realistically to determine how much impact its "goals, objectives and dreams have left on our children and our communities." The two-year study gave the PTA an opportunity to identify and confront neighborhood and community problems.

"Now is the time for us to move from confrontation to action through our local PTA's," said a PTA spokesman. "Our actions and energies are most needed in the four areas of family, community, human relations and education. We must do things and present programs which will compete for the minds of people who want to become involved in the issues of the day. This will involve risks, but if PTA is to survive, it must not be afraid of risk-taking. That's why we chose the new theme — we must not be afraid to tackle things we haven't done before."

PTA ON MARCH — Ready to approach prospective PTA members with new ideas and enthusiasm are Mrs. Robert S. Griffin, Park Hill membership chairman; Mrs. David Hodnett, council membership chairman; and Mrs. John B. Hernandez, Lakeview PTA treasurer. The women are representative of many mothers in the city who are concerned about what the PTA can do for students.

The PTA national leadership feels, that to be useful, it may no longer avoid controversial issues or serve only one segment of a community. It is advising local units to assume leadership roles in their communities and "face squarely the issues that are real and vital to that community — to determine and study the issues then take appropriate action."

Because there is a pervading sense of guilt among many parents today, and an air of contempt toward traditional values among some of the young, the PTA will strive to raise the standards of home life, noting that it is generally recognized that the family plays a vital role in determining how a child feels about himself and his world. Here is where the ability to establish satisfying human relationships is determined.

problems, share feelings and talk while knowing someone will listen," said the spokesman. "In such an open atmosphere of acceptance of different ideas and points of view, a family will find itself able to move beyond conflict to communication." By its nature, the PTA represents all areas of the community and realizes that many problems can only be solved with community-wide cooperation. It feels that what benefits one segment of the community at the expense of another will adversely affect the welfare of all, and because teaching and learning occur in the neighborhood as well as the home and school, the PTA must participate in activities of the community.

Problems of drug abuse, environment, integrating schools, dropouts, job opportunities, recreational facilities, hunger, poverty and children with learning disabilities are community problems which the PTA feels "demands the best efforts of all."

In the field of education, the PTA is looking beyond "a system" to individual learning and the question of whether a child is becoming a self-accepting, intelligent, productive individual. In this relation, parents and teachers face problems relating to curriculum, homework, grades and the general climate of the schools.

The PTA favors the idea of schools becoming community centers. It asks, "Who says we can't have such things as individualized instruction, "now" curriculum, a voice in curriculum making, workable desegregation and educational accountability?"

In this regard, the PTA would like to see every youth graduate with a salable skill.

The human relations area, as viewed by the PTA, is a place where "technology has made many of us less than humane." The association stresses that the day has passed "when we can build walls around our differences."

"When parents study their job together, they have a chance to exchange ideas, problems, expectations and aspirations," concluded the spokesman. "Their confidence is buoyed by the realization that other parents face similar problems. If trouble shared is trouble halved, then shared anxiety about children is anxiety lessened in intensity and complexity."

MRS. DON GREEN

See Legend In Flower Blossom

Mrs. Don Green, pictured in her garden at 1302 Mt. Vernon, shows one of her flowers which has an interesting legend.

The Passion Flower, or common Maypop of the southern states, has grown on this continent for hundreds of years.

When the Spanish settlers were roaming through South and Central America, they found a flower so symbolic of Christ's crucifixion that they named it the "flower of the passion."

In the five-petaled purple or lavender blossoms with stripes of white, they saw the crown of thorns and the five marks of the wounds of Christ. The styles were the three nails that drove the nails into his hands and feet. The floral leaves were the 10 apostles; Judas and Peter being absent, the one having betrayed and the other having denied his master. The leaves were the hands of the persecutors, and the clinging tendrils were the scourges.

Patchwork Art Is Easy To Master

Ever patch a pair of jeans, or sewn two pieces of fabric together? Then you've mastered the art of patchwork.

Now, simply go rummaging through your scrap fabrics. Look for bits of lace, braid, ribbon and fabrics of all colors and designs. They're great for joining patches.

The secret of making your patchwork look authentic lies in the proper use of your iron. Work with a single layer of fabric for each patch and join patches as you would a seam. Then press seams flat to make individual patterns stand out more distinctly.

Pretty Forestry Major Invades Man's Domain

PRINCETON, Maine (AP) — The traditional stronghold of masculine prowess at the University of Maine's summer forestry camp has been invaded by a petit, pretty and very feminine girl from Massachusetts.

Sarah Sally Medina of Reading, has become the first woman forestry major at the university's school of Forest Resources to include the woods training in her curriculum since the camp started in 1905.

"I can keep up with the guys mentally and physically most of the time," she said as she used a pulp hook to lift a log, "but the first time I did this I figured I could use a few more muscles."

Wielding a pulp hook, hefting four-foot logs or cruising timber is all in a day's work for Sally at the six-week summer camp on Big Lake in Indian Township.

The day Sally's crew was yarding logs, she took her turn driving a crawler tractor, cutting logs with a chain saw and piling them.

When the going gets a little rough, she says the male students help her out.

"But I'm not here to find an easy time," Sally said.

Forestry camp is a combination of academic studies and physical activity.

"I can do this piling logs for only one day at a time," she admits.

A LOVELIER YOU

Diminish Heavy Hips With Daily Exercise

By MARY SUE MILLER Don't dream of smaller hips. Use the routine below. It works three ways.

1. Sit erect on a straight chair or stool. Raise knees until only toes touch floor. Touch right knee to chest and return toes to floor; repeat with left leg. Alternating sides, perform 10 times. Throughout, center weight on "sittin' bones."

2. Stretch out on floor, back down; extend arms to sides at shoulder level and center weight across tops of hips. Now swing legs straight up, perpendicular to floor; alternately stretch legs hard toward ceiling and then touch knees to chest — 20 times, slowly and rhythmically. The idea is not a leg workout but a high-hip massage.

3. Lie on right side and center weight on side hip by raising torso. To hold raised position, anchor right elbow to floor and prop head with hand. Next raise left leg six inches, bring right leg up to touch left leg, and hold position for 5 slow w/outst; slowly lower legs. Relax, repeat twice and perform on left side.

As you work you will feel the routines working like stiff massage. In a month's time you can lose up to an inch — two inches, if you diet a bit.

To aid the cause, make a point of standing with the hips tucked under the body. Many women flip the hips up, and that's a pose that causes even a slim hip to look heavy.

LAZY EXERCISES

Here's an effortless way to trim off heavy spots. All you do is lie down or sit down, and flex your muscles. If that's for you, send for "Lazy Girl's Exercises." Based on the isometric principle of exercise, routines trim head-to-toe figure. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Folks: Now here's a real doozy I came across in a roadside cafe recently, and I am sure it could be used in every household with a bunch of kiddos.

This darling waitress would pick up a knife, fork and spoon, and wrap them all together in a paper napkin so that they could either be slapped upon a table real quickly or picked up by anyone in a hurry.

But this isn't all! Do you know what else she did? She wet her fingertips in a bowl of water and THEN picked up the paper napkin, plunked in the silver and then wrapped it.

The slight moisture wet the paper napkin enough to hold those three silver pieces. We tried it on cloth napkins and it also worked beautifully.

Just why can't we homebodies do this before we put our daily silver back in the drawer?

Then, instead of doing four jobs (pick up knife, fork, spoon and then napkin out of the drawer, and replacing them later) get down to — like Gussie did — ONE!

Suggest you try this next time you are putting silver away with only PART of your silver and see what you have to lose. Nothing, I think — surely not money, anyhow . . .

I just thought that this might be a helpful hint those days you are in a hurry and want to grab quickly. . . Heloise

RAINBOW TEA — Miss Elaine Mickle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Mickle of Colorado City, was honored recently with a tea at the Lone Wolf Medallion Room hosted by the Order of Rainbow for Girls. A Rainbow member for five years, she has been appointed as a junior member of the Grand Music Committee. A past worthy advisor, she was recently awarded the Apron Pin for her knowledge of Masonic work and received the Grand Cross of Color. From left to right are Miss Mickle, Mrs. O. L. Nabors of Big Spring, grand visitor; and Mrs. Joe Coldevey, Rainbow mother advisor.

Parenthood Viewed By Study Club

"What does it really mean to be a parent?" This was the question put before members of the Child Study Club by the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Tommy Hart, 1750 Purdue.

Some of the principal joys of parenthood outlined by Rev. Hildebrand included the infant's first recognition of a parent; being able to help develop a child's real self; seeing ourselves in our children; and being around someone who is totally honest.

Rev. Hildebrand was introduced by Mrs. Louis McKnight, program chairman, who outlined planned programs for the year. Mrs. Don Lovelady presided, and members agreed to bring gifts for "operation Santa Claus" to the next meeting. The gifts will go to patients at Big Spring State Hospital.

The next meeting is at 1 p.m., Oct. 13 in the home of Mrs. Charles Dunnam, 1610 Indian Hills.

TO MARRY — Mrs. Willie Hecker, 801 E. 15th, and Albert W. Heckler, Vincent St., Coahoma, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Helen Beth, to Sgt. Harold Earl Kidder of Webb AFB. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kidder of Andover, N.H. The couple plans to be married Nov. 13 in the Webb AFB Chapel.

MRS. WARFORD, MRS. RHYMES Liberation Movement Debated By Women

Mrs. Star Warford took the affirmative and Mrs. Pete Rhymes took the negative in a debate about the women's liberation movement Thursday for the Permian Basin Medical Society Auxiliary at the Ramada Inn.

Mrs. Warford, arguing for the movement, said there are 3,655 women in the education field who draw less pay than men in a comparable position. She said more and more women are beginning to take up careers as well as maintain a household, and that women should feel no guilt about placing children in a qualified child care center while they work.

Naming some of the results of the movement, Mrs. Warford pointed out that women are becoming more reluctant to take their husband's name when they marry. She also said most women's magazines have switched from articles about "ruffled curtains and recipes" to discussions of vital issues of the times.

Mrs. Rhymes agreed that equal pay and more liberal abortion laws are in order, but said the more militant women's lib advocates have become so extreme they are losing support for the movement.

"Women should create an atmosphere of serenity and peace that is so needed in this hurried and unpeaceful world," said Mrs. Rhymes. "Being a woman presents a challenge in itself, and by fighting against male supremacy, we are more or less acknowledging the supremacy exists."

Mrs. Ramzi Botros presided at the luncheon meeting and introduced Mrs. David Logan and Mrs. William Allensworth as new members. Mrs. Akin Simpson was a guest. Hostesses were Mrs. Botros, Mrs. William Riley and Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr.

Mrs. Robert Griffin announced that a District 2 workshop for the Allied Medical Careers In Health Club will be held Nov. 20 at the high school. The Permian Basin group will be one of the sponsors.

Chaplain Robert E. Cheesman of Webb Air Force Base will present a program on "Changes in Religion" at the next meeting Oct. 14. Time and place will be announced.

Loop Look Helps Camouflage Waist

To camouflage the not-quite-small - enough waist, belts are better worn on the hips than the waist. But if a chain belt is worn on the waist, instead of letting the excess belt hang straight down, try looping the belt. This breaks up the horizontal stripe effect and makes the waist look smaller.

'Lib' Leader Backed By Husband, Family

By LINDA DEUTSCH
(Associated Press Writer)

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The new president of the National Organization for Women concedes her husband is "a rare bird" for understanding her women's lib work and supporting it.

He's a member of NOW too. So are the two young daughters of Wilma Scott Heide.

"We don't need the approval of men, but if we have it that's fine," says Mrs. Heide, 45, of Vernon, Conn. Her husband, Dr. Eugene Heide, is dean of administration at Eastern Connecticut State College. Their daughters are Terry, 15, and Tammy, 12.

"My husband is in support of this, there's no question about that," Mrs. Heide said in an interview. "I'd do it even if he weren't. But he understands that what we're advocating is absolutely natural . . . I guess he's still a rare bird."

Mrs. Heide, who took office Tuesday at the group's national convention here, attended nursing school before she took up behavioral science at the University of Pittsburgh. With a master's degree, she was working on her doctorate when her activities in NOW interrupted.

"I joined two seconds after I heard about it in 1967," she says. " . . . I feel that these things I'm doing are more important than earning another degree."

She also quit her job at the American Institute for Research in Pittsburgh and started to free-lance to give herself more time for NOW. Before she left, however, she filed a complaint against the firm, charging it violated federal anti-discrimination measures by giving women unequal pay for equal work and holding up their promotions.

"We have made our plans here to train people for political activity from the precinct level up," said Mrs. Heide. "We have been misrepresented in the past by our elected representatives."

Mrs. Heide says NOW's strength will be in its numbers.

"Women's liberation is pregnant and overdue," she said, "and we intend to deliver."

Quotable Quotes

By The Associated Press

Quotable quotes by women during the week:

"Women's liberation is pregnant and overdue, and we intend to deliver"—Mrs. William Scott Heide, new president of the National Organization for Women.

"This emphasizes our point that buses are for animals, not for children"—Irene McCabe, who protested busing school children in Pontiac, Mich., by delivering two guinea pigs in a toy bus to the city school superintendent.

"I really don't have any complaints about the work at all. My only real problem has been the pedestrians at lunch hour. I haven't given any pedestrian tickets yet, but I'm going to"—Iva Denny, new Dallas traffic cop.

"Personal and private reasons" were cited by Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis for not attending the opening of the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington.

"The pill has been put into women's hands by men because they are so extraordinarily afraid to experiment with their own bodies"—Margaret Meade, anthropologist, in Switzerland.

PTA's Slate Carnival Festival, Chili Supper

September signaled the start of a regular Parent-Teacher Association meetings, with three units meeting the past week to announce future activities.

BOYDSTON
Preliminary plans were made for the annual Halloween carnival sponsored by the Boydston PTA Thursday evening at the school cafeteria. The carnival is Oct. 30 at the school, the time to be announced.

Mrs. Bobby Moore presided, and Herman Smith, principal, presented gifts to teachers on behalf of the PTA. A devotion, "The Home," was given by the Rev. W. Randall Ball.

AIRPORT
Plans were made for the annual fall festival at Airport Elementary School by the PTA at a meeting Thursday in the school cafeteria.

The festival is slated Oct. 16, and dinner will be served beginning at 5:30 p.m. Crowning of the school's "king and queen" will take place at 6:30 p.m. Other events include the awarding of turkeys in a fund-raising project. All proceeds will be used for school improvement.

Mrs. O. W. Decker, vice president, presided. Teachers were presented gifts by C. L. Carlisle, principal, and Mrs. Richard Grove presented gifts to Carlisle as well as the school secretary and custodian.

MARCY
The executive board of the Marcy Elementary School PTA announced that meetings will be held four times a year at the first meeting of the school year Tuesday in the school cafeteria.

Karl Axelrad, president, appointed William Dawes chairman of the projects committee and Ronnie Reeves chairman of the budget committee. In other business, Dawes introduced safety patrol members and outlined their function.

Tentative plans were made to sponsor a chili supper which will be open to the public at 4:30 p.m., Oct. 22 at the school.

Catholic Church Scene Of Nuptial Ceremony

Miss Ernestina Heredia and Joe Renteria Jr. were united in marriage Saturday evening in the St. Thomas Catholic Church.

The Rev. Leo St. John performed the ceremony at an altar graced with candelabra and floral arrangements. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Leslie Green, organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Heredia, Route 1, Box 24, Knott; and Renteria is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Renteria Sr., 1009 N. Bell.

Carrying a bouquet of white feathered carnations backed with tulle and satin picot, the bride was attired in a formal-length gown of Chantilly lace with a front panel of satin adorned with sequins. Ruffled lace accented the full skirt, and her chapel-length train extended from the waist. Her long sleeves formed petal points at the wrist. An iridescent bandeau held her shoulder-length veil which was edged with lace and highlighted with sequins.

Mrs. Joe Garfias Sr. of Knott served as matron of honor, and Miss Joanna Renteria, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor. They wore floor-length white gowns fashioned in white taffeta and organza. Their long sleeves were puffed from the elbow, and the gowns featured scooped necklines. The women carried bouquets of orchid pompons and chrysanthemums with white streamers.

Miss Bernarda Guerra of Ackerly was the cushion maid, Miss Laura Aguirre of Alpine served as flower girl, and Noel Rodriguez of Midland was ring bearer. There were also 16 bridesmaids and their escorts. The bride's attendants all wore gowns like those of the maid and matron of honor.

Joe Garfias Sr. of Knott was best man, and ushers were Steve Herm, Ackerly; and Gabino Rodriguez Jr. and Paul Hopper, both of Knott.

A reception for the couple was held in the home of the bride's parents. The buffet table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a tiered wedding cake which was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Orchid candles and an orchid floral arrangement served as table accents. Presiding at the guest register was Mrs. Ray Rodriguez.

MRS. JOE RENTERIA JR.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lucas Aguirre, Marfa; Mr. and Mrs. Ismael Rodriguez and Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Garcia, all of Midland; Mrs.

Josefa Renteria of Seminole, the bridegroom's grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. Andres Chavez and Mr. and Mrs. Catarina Vega, all of Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. Hilario Santiago, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Santiago and Mr. and Mrs. Jose Velargas, all of Lubbock.

Mrs. Renteria is a graduate of Sands High School, and Renteria graduated from Big Spring High School. They will make their home in Big Spring, where he is employed at Big Spring State Hospital.

Music Club Advised On Federation

The organization and function of the National Federation of Music Clubs was outlined by Mrs. H. M. Jarrett for "Federation Day," observed by Big Spring Music Study Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Don Richardson, 1411 Johnson.

Mrs. Jarrett said the national organization has more than 600,000 members, including an accredited representative to the United Nations.

Mrs. James Baum presented an original piano composition entitled "Rhapsody," and the club ensemble performed the federation collect, directed by Mrs. Joe Dawes and accompanied by Mrs. Charles Bell, pianist.

Mrs. Clyde Cantrell presided and announced the year's theme is "Peace and understanding Through Music." Mrs. Willis Rice was accepted for membership, and Mrs. Richardson was elected delegate to the district conference Oct. 9 in Stanton.

Mrs. Dawes announced she will start a choir at Westside Community Center. Co-hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. James Little and Mrs. Phil Adams. The next meeting is at 3 p.m., Oct. 13 at the First Presbyterian Church.

Home Demonstration Clubs Preview Program Topics

Howard County home demonstration clubs began their fall season with installation ceremonies for new officers and previews of study topics for the coming year.

AIRPORT
Mrs. Fred Jones and Mrs. Earl Grifford installed the 1971-72 slate for the Airport club at a Tuesday meeting in the home of Mrs. B. A. Bunn, with the hostess giving the devotion.

New officers are Mrs. Bunn, president; Mrs. Doyle Gillihan, vice president; Mrs. Raymond Key, secretary; Mrs. Roy Spivey, treasurer; and Mrs. J. L. Wright, council delegate. As the yearbooks were filled out, committee chairmen were appointed. A 42 game party was slated Sept. 17 in the Wright home, 1606 Eleventh Place, with Mrs. Gillihan as cohostess. The next regular meeting will be Sept. 21 in the Gillihan home, 1603 Lancaster.

LUTHER
The Luther club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. J. M. Wilson, where the president, Mrs. Frances Zant, directed the completion of yearbooks. The hostess gift was awarded to Mrs. Ed Simpson.

Mrs. Zant will be hostess for the Sept. 23 meeting.

of the City club took over their duties and hosted a luncheon meeting Friday at the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

The officers are Mrs. Ross Callihan, president; Mrs. E. R. Moren, vice president; Mrs. W. N. Norred, secretary; and Mrs. Carl Gum, treasurer.

Members agreed to continue several philanthropic projects from last year. They will contribute to the "back-of-the-month club" for patients at Big Spring State Hospital, and will continue to help with games at Big Spring Nursing Inn.

Guests were Mrs. Clyde Johnston, Mrs. J. W. Jones and Mrs. Gus Brandon of Cross Plains. Mrs. Faye Newman joined the club. The next meeting is at 2 p.m., Sept. 24 at the home of Mrs. B. F. Mabe, Sand Springs.

Thomas Collins was a guest. "Fifty Ways to Wear A Scarf" will be the program at the next meeting at 9:30 a.m., Sept. 16 in the home of Mrs. LeRoy Dolan, Sterling City Route.

COLLEGE PARK
Officers of the College Park Home Demonstration Club were installed in a candlelight ceremony Tuesday at the First Federal Community Room by Mrs. J. F. Skalicky, a member of the Fairview HD Club.

The officers are Mrs. J. C. Williams, president; Mrs. Guy Cook, vice president; Mrs. Steven Dreher, secretary; Mrs. Gordon Flygare, treasurer; Mrs. Gerald Miller, reporter; and Mrs. Bobby Richardson, council delegate.

Mrs. Dreher was hostess and served refreshments. Members studied the schedule of events for the coming year and filled in club yearbooks. The women will meet for a salad luncheon at 9:30 a.m., Sept. 21 at the community room, and a program on foil art will be presented.

All university graduates and people interested in study groups are invited to attend. Style show reservations may be made by calling Mrs. L. K. Gladden, 267-2319, chairman for the event; Mrs. Jerry Phillips, 263-4629; or Mrs. Jim Parks, 267-2232. Mrs. Harold Rossion is branch president, and local members will serve as models.

The AAUW is a 90-year old international organization whose goals emphasize interest and support on the community level.

Past local projects include sponsoring a series of children's better movies, sponsoring a play for children by the National Children's Theatre, awarding scholarships, publishing a free pre-school directory and giving financial and volunteer support to the Heritage Museum and Big Spring Concert Association.

This year's projects include sponsoring a play for children in conjunction with the Howard County Junior College drama department, participating in an activity at Big Spring State Hospital and continuing the series of children's movies and the publication of the directory.

Scholarships will also be awarded on the local level. The current study theme is "We, the People," led by Mrs. Paul Klonka and Mrs. Robert McDonald.

It's Season For New TV Shows

More changes than usual will be noted on television screens this fall, as major networks — and affiliated stations — offer many new shows, new times for old favorites, and new faces nearly every night of the week.

Most 1971 premiere programs are being logged for this week. The FCC has ruled that networks are limited to three hours of evening prime time, so more innovations will be noted in evening hours as stations produce their own programs.

Here's a glance at prime time programming for the new season:

MONDAY

No new major shows. The big push is on ABC's Monday Night Football, and the team of Howard Cosell, Don Meredith and Frank Gifford will be describing play on NFL games every week through the season. NBC sticks with Rowan & Martin's Laugh-In and a movie, while CBS presents the list of favorites: Gunsmoke, Lucy, Doris Day, Arnie and All In The Family.

TUESDAY

The new shows here are Sarge, Funny Side (both NBC and Cannon (CBS). ABC sticks with the Mod Squad, a movie and Marcus Welby, M.D. NBC offers Ironside preceding the new shows. CBS presents the Glen Campbell Hour and Hawaii Five-O. The Funny Side is a conglomerate of five couples who get involved in all sorts of episodes, with Gene Kelly serving as host, and the whole is backed up by an elaborate musical production.

Sarge is a parish priest who used to be a detective, and he still returns to his first work to solve major problems.

Cannon is a delightful piece about a detective who likes to eat and drink, but whose pleasures inevitably are interrupted as he solves baffling crimes.

WEDNESDAY

NBC offers a new series of dramas called Mystery Theatre, otherwise has the old regulars, Adam 12 and Night Gallery. CBS stays with Carol Burnett, Medical Center and Mannix.

A couple of great names appear in new series on ABC. Shirley MacLaine stars in Shirley's World. The talented actress is a news magazine photographer, and her assignments take her to all parts of the world under exciting circumstances.

Anthony Quinn stars in The Man and The City. It's a series about the mayor of a Southwestern city who deals with many problems.

THURSDAY

There's a profusion of new shows on Thursday evenings. NBC has sandwiched between Flip Wilson and Dean Martin, top favorites, a show called Nichols. James Garner is the hero, a man forced into donning the badge of a sheriff and who has to do his duty whether he wants to or not.

A show which may have been called Big Wheels and then Bearcats is offered by CBS. It stars Rod Taylor, Dennis Cole and a Stutz Bearcat. The two men with their car roam the Southwest, running into action everywhere they go.

There are new features on ABC: Longstreet and Owen Marshall, a blind Counselor at Law.

Owen Marshall is a compassionate lawyer who has offices in his home, stands ready to help troubled people who cannot get help from other attorneys. Arthur Hill is the star.

FRIDAY

On this night, NBC has a new one, The D.A. It stars Paul Ryan, a dynamo of a deputy district attorney who is proficient as investigator and prosecutor. The stories are based on cases from the files of the Los Angeles prosecutor's office.

CBS comes through with two premiere series, The Chicago Teddy Bears and O'Hara, U.S. Treasury. The Chicago affair is during the speak-easy days of the '20s and all about the war between mobs to muscle in on the "action." Thing is, along with nostalgia evoked, the show is played strictly for belly laughs.

O'Hara, U.S. Treasury, is something else, since David

Janssen in the starring role is very serious as he tracks down fugitives in cases involving the Treasury's customs, secret service and internal revenue divisions.

CBS also has something called Sneak Preview, ABC's Friday format stays with the past season's successes: The Brady Bunch, The Partridge Family, Room 222, Odd Couple and Love, American Style.

SATURDAY

Saturday seems to be chosen as a big TV night, with at least five new series. NBC has both Partners and The Good Life. The latter show is a pleasant series of episodes about a young couple who drop responsibilities of the routine life and take jobs as butler and cook at a luxurious estate. No matter that they know nothing about butling and cooking. They're in a dream world.

Partners tells of a couple of police detectives who bump into all manner of difficult experiences.

On CBS, the Dick Van Dyke Show becomes a "new" production. Dick becomes the host on a talk show, he has a new locale — Phoenix, Ariz., and has a new supporting cast. But the good humor is still there.

Also on CBS appears Sandy Duncan, a pixie of a girl who stars in Funny Face. She is a student teacher who acts in television commercials and encounters ridiculous situations in doing so.

CBS retains its regulars on Saturday — My Three Sons, Mary Tyler Moore and Mission: Impossible.

ABC enters the Saturday night arena with two new shows: The Persuaders and Getting Together with Bobby Sherman. The Persuaders are Roger Moore and Tony Curtis, a pair of rich adventurers who saunter around Europe, looking for trouble and finding it. On another theme, Bobby Sherman and Wes Stern are a couple of songwriters looking for the big hit, and in the meantime struggle for living.

SUNDAY

There are movies and movies, ABC and CBS both feature them on Sunday. But they also have a bright new show each. On CBS there's Cade County, in which Sheriff Glenn Ford strives to keep law and order in a Southwestern town. He has four deputies, doesn't talk much, but he runs off the crooks.

Over on NBC there's the ageless Jimmy Stewart, coming into a TV series for the first time, and appearing as a college professor with a homespun manner and an independent mind. It's a show of typical Stewart warmth. NBC also goes on Sunday with old reliables: Walt Disney, Bonanza and The Bold Ones.

Walt Disney Show Begins A New Year

The Wonderful World of Disney, the popular family series featuring nature stories, comedies, adventure dramas and cartoons from the Walt Disney Studios, begins its eleventh season on the NBC Television Network on Sunday, Sept. 19. The weekly colorcast will be a feature of Channel 2 at 6:30.

Once again, animals (and their young human friends) will figure prominently in programs planned for this coming season. Among the stories will be "Mountain Born," a drama, filmed in Colorado, about a boy's initiation into manhood; "Hacksaw," a two-parter, starring Tab Hunter as a man trying to tame a wild stallion; and "Coco, the Coati-mundi," the story of an archaeologist who befriends a coati-mundi.

Among the features to be shown on television for the first time will be "The Horse in the Grey Flannel Suit," a two-part comedy starring Dean Jones, Fred Clark and Diane Baker;

"The One and Only Genuine Original Family Band," another two-part comedy, starring Walter Brennan, Buddy Ebsen, Leslie Ann Warren and John Davidson; and "Dad, Can I Borrow the Car?" an animated featurette produced by Oscar winner Ward Kimball.

During the 1970-71 season, viewers enjoyed a wide variety of programs. Animals played a prominent part in a number of stories, including "Cristofalito, the Calypso Colt," a drama filmed entirely in Puerto Rico; "The Boy Who Stole the Elephant," the tale of a youngster's loyalty to a pachyderm named Queenie; "Snow Bear," a true-life adventure filmed at Point Barrow, Alaska; and "The Wacky Zoo of Mordant City," the story of an ex-accountant, who foils the cunning mayor's attempt to close the local zoo. In addition, Jimmy Cricket hosted a musical all-animated Christmas salute from Disney's favorite cartoon characters, and there was a special showing of the Academy Award winning feature, "It's Tough to Be a Bird." Robert Louis Stevenson's adventure classic, "Kidnapped," was also presented, as a two-part story.

Among the many stars who appeared in Disney programs last season were David Wayne, Mark Lester, June Havoc, Fess Parker, Hal Holbrook, Wally Cox, Dean Jones, Maurice Chevalier, Yvette Mimieux, Suzanne Pleshette, Roddy McDowall, Karl Malden, Harry Guardino, Hermione Baddeley, Jose Greco, Mitch Vogel, Tom Tryon, Brian Keith, Edmond O'Brien, Peter Finch and James McArthur.

SHIRLEY'S HERE — Shirley MacLaine stars in her first television series in the role of Shirley Logan, traveling photojournalist, when "Shirley's World" premieres Wednesday, Sept. 15, 8:30 p.m., on the ABC Television Network. Shirley Logan's boss sends her around the world, to interview and photograph how people live. The dramas and comedy situations develop from her inability to avoid becoming personally involved with other people's problems.

Monday Night Football Big This Year On ABC

Seven new series will join 15 continuing hit programs and the acclaimed "NFL Monday Night Football" series on the ABC Television Network in the 1971-72 television season.

"This program schedule is designed to accelerate the dramatic competitive growth that the ABC Television Network made during the 1970-71 season," explained James E. Duffy, president of the network.

The 1971-72 ABC Television Network prime time schedule will introduce three new dramatic series featuring major performers: "The Man and The City" starring Anthony Quinn; "Longstreet" starring James Franciscus; and "Owen Marshall: Counselor at Law" starring Arthur Hill. The fourth new hour-long series, "The Persuaders," a dramatic-adventure series with comedy overtones, stars two outstanding actors Tony Curtis and Roger Moore.

COMEDIES

In addition, two new comedies, also featuring major stars, will join the schedule: "Shirley's World," starring Shirley MacLaine and "Getting Together" starring Bobby Sherman.

The seventh new program for the fall is "Movie of the Week," a weekly series of 90-minute movies, made especially for the ABC Television Network, which will focus on suspense, mystery and dramatic stories.

The list of returning ABC shows includes many of television's most popular programs: Comedies such as "Nanny and the Professor," "Bewitched," "Courtship of Eddie's Father," "The Smith Family," "The Brady Bunch," "The Partridge Family," "Room 222," "The Odd Couple," and "Love, American Style." Dramatic and adventure programs such as "The FBI," "Mod Squad," "Marcus Welby, M.D.," and "Alias Smith and Jones," plus the highly successful "Movie of the Week" and "The ABC Sunday Night

SPORTS

ABC Sports will continue to present outstanding sports programming on the ABC Television Network in the coming season. In addition to "NFL Monday Night Football," the schedule includes NCAA football, NBA basketball, Pro Bowlers Tour, coverage of major golf tournaments and important auto races plus "The American Sportsman" and the perennial favorite among sports programs "ABC's Wide World of Sports." The television season will climaxed in the late summer with two weeks of prime time coverage of the 1972 Olympic Games from Munich, Germany.

In daytime the ABC Television Network will offer an exciting new lineup of weekend programs for children highlighted by "Curiosity Shop," the new hour-long Saturday morning program which combines music, live action and animation; and ABC News' new Sunday program "Make A Wish." On Monday through Friday, ABC daytime will continue to present a popular lineup of comedy, dramatic and game shows.

NEWS

"ABC Evening News with Howard K. Smith and Harry Reasoner" will continue its coverage of world and national news, the events leading up to the Presidential election of 1972 including the Democratic and Republican Conventions, and other top news stories of the day. ABC News specials and documentaries will offer in-depth coverage of contemporary events as well as providing programs of genuine cultural interest throughout the coming season. Two documentary series, "The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau" will continue in 1971-72 and will be joined on the ABC program schedule by a second outstanding series of genuine cultural of actuality and documentary entertainment and event specials during the 1971-72 season including the Tony Awards, the Grammy Awards, music and variety specials starring the Jackson 5 and Danny Thomas. In addition, two major motion pictures will be presented as full evening specials, Darryl F. Zanuck's epic recreation of Dickens' "A Christmas Carol," "The Night the Animals Talked," "Peter Cottontail" and "The Longest Day," and three specials in the continuing "Eddie's Father's" Bill Bixby Rodgers and Hammerstein's and Brandon Cruz on location "South Pacific."

"THE MAN AND THE CITY" — Anthony Quinn — in his debut as a television series star — plays Mayor Thomas Jefferson Alcalá, a rugged and concerned mayor of a middle-sized Southwestern city, when "The Man and The City," new hour-long dramatic series, debuts on the ABC Television Network this fall, Wednesdays at 9 p.m.

News Specialists Featured On NBC

Changes in assignment for David Brinkley and John Chancellor on "NBC Nightly News" have been made at 5:30 p.m. on NBC Television Network and full color Channel 2.

Correspondent David Brinkley is inaugurating a series of personal reports of and about the news when he comments on the world in "David Brinkley's Journal." These special reports will be featured regularly, five nights per week on "NBC Nightly News."

John Chancellor, who has been associated with Brinkley and Frank McGee as co-anchor of "NBC Nightly News," has become the principal reporter of the program.

As previously announced, Mr. McGee will become host of NBC News' "Today" program, beginning Tuesday, Oct. 12.

The anchorman for the weekend editions of "NBC

Nightly News" will be Garrick Utey.

Chancellor will report from New York; Brinkley, from Washington.

"NBC Nightly News" began on the NBC Television Network August 1, 1970, when "The Huntley-Brinkley Report" was expanded to seven days a week under this new title. The program is colorcast Mondays through Saturdays.

The Huntley-Brinkley Report, with Chet Huntley and Brinkley as anchor-men, was first telecast as a 15-minute news program on Oct. 29, 1956. It was expanded to half-hour length in September, 1963, and became network television's first daily news program telecast in color on Nov. 15, 1965. With the addition of a Saturday night telecast, beginning Jan. 4, 1969, "The Huntley-Brinkley Report" became network television's first six-day-a-week news program.

"NBC Nightly News" won three Emmy Awards this year, for a five-part series on welfare, for a four-part series on prisons, and for graphic art depicting the Charles Manson trial. The program's predecessor, "The Huntley-Brinkley Report," won every major television news award, including 10 Emmy Awards and two George Foster Peabody Awards.

Jack Webb Offers 'The D.A.' Show

"The D. A.," the new Jack Webb production starring Robert Conrad as Deputy District Attorney Paul Ryan, premieres Friday, Sept. 17 at 7 p.m. on KMID-TV Channel 2.

Harry Morgan will co-star as Chief Deputy District Attorney H. M. "Staff" Stafford.

The Los Angeles County District Attorney's office has more than 400 deputies to handle the multitude of cases which are filed within its jurisdiction. Among this group of lawyers are some 75 to 100 deputies assigned as trial lawyers in the criminal courts.

Deputy Paul Ryan will portray one of these trial lawyers.

This new series is based on story material supplied by the office of the Los Angeles County District Attorney.

While courtroom scenes will be part and parcel of the series' structure, many of the incidents will take place outside the courthouse throughout the vast area of Los Angeles County.

'Septemberfest' Due At Midland

MIDLAND — "Septemberfest," a merry musical evening under the stars, unfolds for the third year Saturday night at the Museum of the Southwest here.

The annual fun-fest, a fundraising project of Las Manos ("The Hands"), Museum volunteer service organization, will benefit the Museum and its programs and projects. On the program are Los Mariachis, popular mariachi trio. Also a string trio, a band, a folk-rock combo, plus a variety of solo instrumentalists and singers.

The Hearing Aid

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: If I knew how close to home when you would send her an orchid. What a wonderful thing she did for the hard of hearing by writing to you and letting you tell the world that she has worn a hearing aid for years. Bless her! She is a fine performer, a great lady and a good sport. I wear a hearing aid, too, and I'd like to add, it would help those of us with a hearing loss if people would not shout at us. They should look at us, and talk directly to us so we can read their lips more easily. Thank you.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for printing Nanette Fabray's letter saying she wasn't ashamed to let people know she wears a hearing aid.

I am a 15-year-old girl who is very hard of hearing. I had the measles and a high temperature when I was 3 and have been wearing a hearing aid ever since. It helps some, but not a whole lot. I had an operation, too, but that was not successful.

It is so hard for a person, Abby. In school I hate to ask people to please speak up because they start saying, "Oh, don't talk to her — she's deaf!" I'm not deaf. I'm hard of hearing. If I ask someone to repeat something, they say, "Never mind. It wasn't anything important."

I sure wish you would tell people who can hear that they don't know how lucky they are.

Bell's Palsy

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is Bell's palsy a relatively common disorder? My niece, 34, has had it for four years.

Discussion of symptoms, treatment and chances of recovery will be greatly appreciated.—O.G.L.

Bell's palsy affects the facial nerve, drawing the face out of normal alignment. It can force the mouth out of shape, which is quite disturbing appearance-wise, and it can interfere to some extent with the way you speak. It can at times pull the upper part of the face enough so one eye may not close tightly and must, during that time, be protected from dust and drying.

Onset of this facial paralysis is usually quite sudden — such as overnight. The cause can be exposure to cold, infection, diabetes, tumors involving the facial nerve. Fortunately recovery occurs in 80 to 85 per cent of cases, within six to 12 months, and sometimes, happily, faster than that.

Prospects of recovery can be gauged by electrical tests on the nerve. When recovery is slow, it can be hastened by surgery on the nerve canal.

One must be sure that the paralysis is Bell's palsy, but being sure of what you are dealing with is a rule that applies to all sorts of health problems. Naturally.

But when Bell's palsy has persisted for four years, it raises the question of whether the patient is one of the 15 to 20 per cent who will have some permanent paralysis of the side of the face (the ailment being one that characteristically affects one side).

In such a case, careful evaluation of the case by an ear specialist or a neurologist would be in order. Treatment to be effective should be started soon after onset of the paralysis. No doubt your niece has had such treatment.

With the trouble having continued as long as it has, I can't make any predictions for complete recovery, but if she hasn't had expert evaluation of her particular case, she should.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: An X-ray of my right foot did not disclose either a fracture or dislocation, but an incidental finding was a hallux valgus of the great toe. What causes this and can anything be done? Does anything you eat make it worse?—J.E.R.

Depends on what you mean by a "sour stomach." A very occasional pinch of soda isn't going to be harmful, but it's so easy for some folks to get the "soda habit" which turns into a sort of roller-coaster. Soda combats stomach acids; nature responds by producing more acid, and it becomes a vicious circle.

Whether anything needs to be done depends on the extent of the deformity, so have a podiatrist or orthopedist evaluate the condition. Diet has nothing to do with it. Bunions is usually associated with hallux valgus.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do you think baking soda is harmful to take for sour stomach? I take it frequently. At times I also spit up a real bitter liquid and have a burning sensation in my throat. What do you think causes this?—J.E.R.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: An X-ray of my right foot did not disclose either a fracture or dislocation, but an incidental finding was a hallux valgus of the great toe. What causes this and can anything be done? Does anything you eat make it worse?—J.E.R.

Hallux valgus means that the big toe, instead of being straight, points toward the outer side of the foot. If mild, the

Ginger Rogers Stars In 'Get Married'

Many fine comedienne were interviewed to play the role of Madame Rinaldi, a worldly-wise madame of a small town boudoir in the color hit "Quick, Let's Get Married," starting Wednesday at the R-70 theatre. Academy Award winning actress Ginger Rogers easily won the nod.

Her magnificent show business career began on stage in vaudeville and later advanced to musical comedy with a major part in "Girl Crazy." On screen from 1930, Ginger naturally progressed into the musical extravaganzas that graced the American movie scene of the 30's. Her performances in "42nd St.," "Flying Down to Rio," "Top Hat," and "Barkley's of Broadway" were so popular she was often voted among the 10 best money-making stars in the Motion Picture Herald Fame Poll.

Ginger Rogers, singing and dancing aside, is a fine dramatic actress. She earned her Oscar for her outstanding performance in RKO's "Kitty Foyle." Other dramatic hits include "Magnificent Doll," "Forever Female," "Twist Of Fate," and "Harlow."

Orange-Maned, Wild-Eyed Wilder Stars In 'Chocolate'

"With his wavy orange mane and glazed fish-green eyes, Gene Wilder conveys a beguiling look of incipient madness. In his films to date he has seemed always on the verge of lurching into some marvellously insane enterprise."

The Time Magazine writer who commenced his recent article with these words was unusually prescient. Gene Wilder has lunched into a marvellously insane enterprise. He has become the proprietor of a candy factory so incredible that it could only be fictitious — and, of course, it is. Wilder plays the title role in Paramount Pictures' David L. Wolper Production of "Willy Wonka & The Chocolate Factory," which is the screen version of Roald Dahl's classic children's book, "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory." It starts Wednesday at the Ritz.

Having had a meteoric rise to film stardom in "Bonnie and Clyde," "The Producers," "Quackster Fortune" and "Start in the Bronx" and "Start and receiving critical acclaim for his work (he was nominated for an Academy Award for

"The Producers" and was hailed by Time Magazine as "a young Chaplin" for "Quackster Fortune," Wilder admittedly has become very selective about scripts.

When his agent called to arrange a meeting with the producers, Wilder was highly skeptical. "I didn't see myself doing a children's story," he admits. However, at the meeting he was immediately impressed with the enthusiasm of co-producers Wolper and Stan Margulies and director Mel Stuart. "I could see that the film was going to be made on the highest satirical level for children and adults," Wilder recalls. "I would have to have imaginative and physical ideas for every scene."

For the film fantasy, Wilder is also called upon to dance and sing. Leslie Bricusse and Anthony Newley wrote six songs for the film and Wilder is called upon to sing "Pure Imagination," a title, Wilder asserts, which perfectly describes every facet of "Willy Wonka & The Chocolate Factory."

Movie Proposed 'Spur-Of-Moment'

CULVER CITY — Most major movies seem to take years of preparation, but the forthcoming film "The Boy Friend" was a "spur of the moment inspiration," according to producer-director Ken Russell.

Russell, a former Academy Award nominee, had just met and been enchanted by the one- and - only Twigg who is a journalist at a London party pressed for news of his next project. Off the top of his head, "I said that I was going to film 'The Boy Friend' with Twigg in the starring role." Newspapers were full of the admittedly curious news the next day.

"Of course, MGM, who owned the property, rang me immediately and asked if I was serious about it all," Russell remembers. "Very spur of the moment, and that is how it should be."

'Seven Minutes' Comes To Cinema

"The Seven Minutes," which starts Wednesday at the Cinema, represents a departure for producer-director-writer Russ Meyer in several ways. After producing 19 low cost exploitation films (top budget was $90,000) which were tremendously successful and so well made that one major critic described Meyer as "the best craftsman and only artist in this field," Meyer was signed for "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls." This film more-or-less followed Meyer's approach in his earlier offerings in that it was lusty, exaggerated, violent, with an added quality of camp humor.

With this background, Meyer has had plenty of experience with censorship, making him ideally suited for "The Seven Minutes," which is a study of a hypocritical employment of censorship for unworthy political ends. Paradoxically, this is Meyer's most restrained film in the areas of sex, nudity and violence although the various characters operate within the framework of today's permissiveness. And, of course, in a story about censorship and alleged pornography there must be something sufficiently provocative to make a prosecution possible. However, Meyer makes his point seriously and in this film declined the broad, bawdy, humor that has marked his previous work. Another innovation for Meyer was his making "The Seven Minutes" with experienced actors. Even "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls," his most ambitious previous project, had only a scattering of pros with the vast majority of the cast virtual newcomers. The cast of "The Seven Minutes" ranges from such old pros as Yvonne DeCarlo, Philip Carey, Jay C. Flippen, Lyle Bettger and John Carradine to a pair of relative newcomers, Wayne Maunder and Marianne McAndrew, in the leading roles.

"The Seven Minutes" marks Wayne Maunder's debut in a feature film, though he has starred in two TV series, "Lancer" and "Custer," and has done extensive Shakespearean acting in the American Shakespeare Festival. Marianne McAndrew first attracted movie attention as the pretty milliner in "Hello Dolly!" and was promptly typed as a musical comedy performer. This was rather devastating as Hollywood is no longer making musicals. In "The Seven Minutes," she has a straight dramatic role and even gets to play a nude scene after being covered from feet to chin in "Dolly."

TODAY AND TOMORROW

—CAROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are apt to be quite emotional today, but express yourself only in an objective fashion. You will then be able to afternoon to get conditions of home and other basic matters on a better foundation. Entertain or relax with family.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Attend services of your choice in a.m. for inspiration which will help you decide what should be done in the future. Put plans in action in p.m. Search for information you want. See one or two good friends.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan just how to have more of this world's goods today so your life will be easier than it has been in the past. Listen to what people with good ideas have to say. Follow their advice.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can advance more quickly if you control individuals who have been helpful to you in the past. Get more good news from them. Attend social affairs and have a good time with interesting individuals. Show you have wit and wisdom.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You feel limited in the morning, but if you pursue philosophical studies, you will change your mind and all goes better for you. Get that date you need for better preparation for the future. Show others you are courageous.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Do whatever you can to help others without thought of recompense, and then sit down and figure out what it is you really want to accomplish in the future. Social activities not good until later in the afternoon. Then all flows smoothly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Not a good morning for anything of a public nature, but the evening is excellent for such activities. Keep on a high level of consciousness. If you are looking for you to add to present friendships now, so be sociable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Think out how to advance more quickly in a.m. and then get new methods organized tonight. Make friends for those who have a background different from yours. Don't forget stamps for any letters you mail.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do not devote whoever from any promises you have made others, but carry through efficiently, conscientiously. Make requests that should be carried out in p.m. Avoid arguments with others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 2) If you want to make changes where an associate is concerned, think out what you want to say and do early, and then set up appointment. Talk tonight. Don't neglect to get out to services that inspire you in a.m.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get those weekend tasks well done, but don't neglect to be friendly and kind with those around you, or those who come to visit unexpectedly. Do something about improving wardrobe — organize closets.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Recreation can start early in the morning. This can lead indirectly to some outstanding advancement. Use that smile more, and make others feel more cheerful. Avoid one who talks the same thing over and over again.

MONDAY

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Setting

James Garner Is Seen As A Reluctant Sheriff

Rugged Hollywood actor James Garner, who first scored on TV as the star of "Maverick" a decade ago, returns to the home screen in Nichols, which will premiere on NBC-TV and Channel 2 on Thursday, Sept. 16, at 8 p.m. The colorcast series co-stars Neva Patterson, John Beck and Margot Kidder.

The town of Nichols, founded by Sheriff Nichols' family, is a busy and booming community full of restless growth and galloping hucksterism. Miss Patterson co-stars as Ma Ketcham, a tough matriarch and powerful ranch owner; John Beck plays Ketcham, her mean and headstrong son, and Stuart Margolin is Mitchell, Nichols' unsavory deputy. Margot Kidder plays Ruth, a young barmaid and Nichols' romantic interest.

Nichols is a man who searches relentlessly for life's easy routes. But despite his best intentions to pursue his elusive goal of striking it rich, he finds himself sheriff of Nichols, a town that doesn't want a sheriff. So he's the perfect sheriff for them — because he doesn't want to be sheriff. He hates violence and doesn't carry a gun. If he needs one, he borrows it from the next guy down the bar.

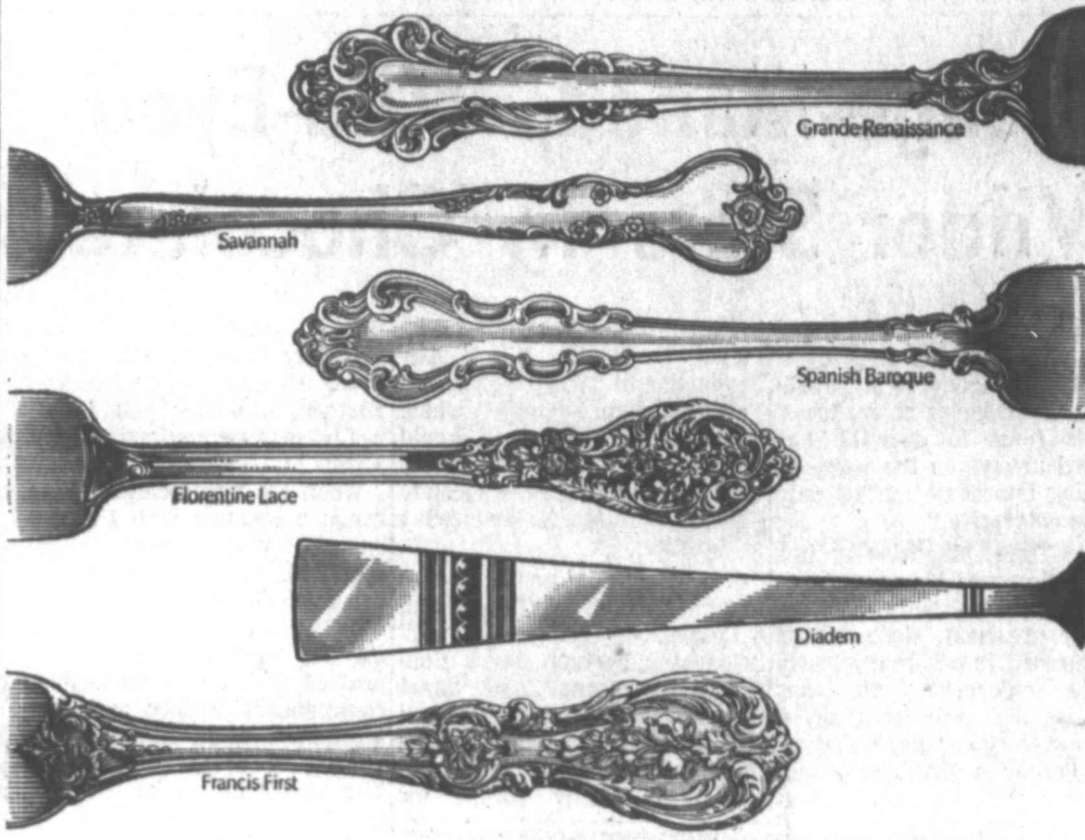

He's a newly discharged cavalry officer whose idea of a good fight is one that has ended by the time he gets to it.

Nichols is a light-hearted action-adventure set in the Southwestern United States circa 1914. It's the end of a frontier era and the beginning of a new one — telephone poles and cars.
