

DEVALUATION OF THE DOLLAR

What It Means To You

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — World money managers meeting in Washington this week are talking about a new and mysterious-sounding way for nations to pay their bills—Special Drawing Rights or SDRs.

the average American pocketbook? Directly, it doesn't mean anything. But there are long-range effects on jobs and international trade which make the talks vitally important to everyone.

FOREIGN TRAVEL

Neither the SDRs nor dollar devaluation will have any direct bearing on how much your dollar is worth at the supermarket, in the auto showroom—as long as you buy a Detroit product—or in the bur-sar's office at your son's college.

Nor will the SDRs make any difference to you on a foreign vacation. You will take your dollar bills or your dollar travelers' checks and use them abroad just as you do now.

Devaluation would come by the government's changing the present price of gold which is $35 per ounce. But since you don't use gold to pay for anything now, the change will not make any difference in the prices of American goods sold in America.

KEEP TRACK

As to SDRs, they would just be a bookkeeping entry made by government banks to keep track of whether they were selling more goods abroad than they were buying. At present they move gold. With SDRs, they would just add them in one column and subtract them in another.

This change, which may sound remote, would be aimed at stabilizing foreign trade. And here's where the significance starts to come home. You could hope for a better job, less danger of layoffs and cheaper im-ported goods.

Cocoa from Nigeria, for instance, would cost the American consumer less. And Nigerians would be able to buy more American steel. Each country would be producing the thing it can do best and every-body would be better off.

A stable international trade situation would mean better economic conditions here for companies related in any way to foreign trade. And this would be reflected domestically in profits.

Since World War II, international trade has been growing. But this growth has been threatened lately by the weakness of the dollar. The United States was sending more dollars overseas than it was earning. Other countries didn't want too many dollars and were asking the United States for gold instead. When the American stock of gold got down to around $10 billion, President Nixon canceled the right of foreigners to get gold instead of dollars.

Now the world wants to find something to take the place of gold in exchanges between countries and to replace the dollar as an easy way of quoting the value of foreign currencies.

So the world money managers, the International Monetary Fund, at the meeting in Washington, are talking about setting up the Special Drawing Rights.

Of course, each country could also use its own money to settle these balances if the other country was willing to take it.

That is why the dollar would continue to be as good abroad as at home. It might be worth a few pennings or centimes less, but foreign banks and hotels would be willing to buy them for the local currency.

In fact, you might get a better rate than you do now. With a stable dollar exchange rate, the hotel could be sure the value of the dollar would not drop before it could take your dollars to the bank. Therefore the foreign hotel could afford to give a slightly better rate: say 3.3 marks to the dollar instead of 3.2.

Gold disappeared from American pockets 37 years ago and its absence hasn't made much difference to America's growth. The disappearance of the dollar should not make any more difference in world economic growth.

Can't Keep Lions, Bears In Homes

LAKEWOOD, Colo. (AP) — Effective Oct. 27, Lakewood residents can't keep bears, lions or gorillas in their homes or yards.

The city council passed such an ordinance recently.

Although Lakewood is rapidly becoming an urban center, Don Wente, animal control division head, says badgers, skunks, bobcats and porcupines have been found roaming city streets.

The ordinance prohibits keeping animals "difficult to pen or control," especially wild animals and primates over 30 pounds.

Finance Ministers Ponder Dutch Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A plan that would delay a rise in the official U.S. price of gold emerged today from a proposal by Dutch Finance Minister R.J. Nelissen.

DUTCH PROPOSAL

The Dutch proposal was designed as a compromise. But a White House spokesman said Wednesday there has been no change in the U.S. policy against devaluing the dollar by raising the official price of gold above $35 an ounce.

Shortly afterwards, Karl Klagen, head of the West German Federal Bank predicted the United States soon would raise the price of gold.

"They will not protest very long," he told a news conference at the annual meeting of 118 countries in the International Monetary fund.

At a reception for IMF delegates President Nixon said nothing directly about gold or devaluation. He only predicted the "kind of discussion in which all sides bargain hard in their own interest."

ONLY WAY

A spokesman for the Treasury Department was more pointed: "I don't know that Mr. Klagen is a member of the U.S. delegation," he said.

Nelissen told the IMF: "I feel that as a temporary expedient, all floating currencies, including the dollar, should be valued on the basis of their effective appreciation or depreciation in the exchange markets."

It had been thought that the only way to devalue the dollar was to raise the price of gold. An authoritative source said the Dutch government, too, believes this must be done later—although unlike many others it has refrained from saying so publicly.

For the present, Nelissen's proposal would allow the IMF to resume operations. These have been seriously curtailed since Nixon announced on Aug. 15 that the United States would no longer pay out gold for dol-

The Dutch compromise also would open the way for agreement on a set of new par values for the world's major currencies. These would be valid until the big financial powers could agree on a new long-term system to replace the gold-dollar standard in effect since 1944.

At the same time this provisional set of par values is proclaimed, Nelissen said, the United States should remove its surcharge on imports. The new par values would be expected to make foreign goods more expensive in the United States, thus serving the same purpose as the surcharge in improving the U.S. balance of international payments.

Cowboy Artist's Work On Display In Snyder

SNYDER — The highly-acclaimed art of James Boren will be presented in a public showing from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday at the Diamond M

Museum here.

Approximately 30 paintings, both oils and watercolors, and limited edition portfolios of six watercolor reproductions, each hand-signed by the artist, will be included in the show, which will be presented here by Texas Art Gallery.

Boren, recognized as a master colorist and fine painter of the western scene, served four years as the first art director of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center in Oklahoma City.

Although he is a member of the Cowboy Artists of America, an organization of 30 of the leading western artists in the country, Boren's work is far more comprehensive than that of the typical "cowboy artist."

A versatile artist who works well in all media, Boren prefers the exacting techniques of watercolors in which he excels.

A native of Waxahachie, Boren attended high school at Temple, where he was a football player. Following service in the Fleet Marines in the South Pacific during World War II, he attended Kansas City University and Kansas City Art Institute, receiving both the bachelors and masters degrees.

WORK FOR MIDEAST SETTLEMENT — Secretary of State William P. Rogers, right, shakes hands with United Arab Republic Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad Wednesday at the State Department in Washington. Both leaders agreed they should work for an interim Mideast settlement.

Secretary Of State, Riad Differ On Settlement Value

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad have agreed the United States should continue to work for an interim Mideast settlement, but they differ on the value of such efforts.

COLD WATER

Riad emerged from a two-hour, ten-minute luncheon meeting Wednesday to tell newsmen: "Any effort by the United States or other big power to achieve peace is welcome." But he threw some cold water on this effort when he added: "The Jarring mission is still the best way to achieve peace."

Riad was referring to the United Nations-sponsored effort by Swedish mediator Gunnar Jarring to work out a permanent settlement, one based on Israeli withdrawal from Egyptian territory occupied during the 1967 war.

Israel has rejected that approach and the Jarring mission has been dormant since Rogers opened his initiative earlier in the year to achieve an interim settlement by reopening the Suez canal.

The problem with such a temporary arrangement, Riad said, is that it might end up as a permanent settlement, leaving Egypt without the territory it lost more than four years ago. He said it is the duty of the United States and other big powers to achieve Israel's agreement to the Jarring proposals.

'GOOD TALK'

U.S. officials acknowledged the ultimate value of a permanent settlement. State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said: "Both sides agreed an interim settlement is directly related to the effort to achieve a final peace. The interim settlement in itself is not a final solution."

But U.S. officials also emphasized their claim that realities make the interim settlement the best chance for reaching a final peace and all efforts should be directed now toward reopening the canal.

Both Riad and McCloskey made the usual statements Wednesday that follow such high-level meetings. The State Department spokesman said there was "a full and frank exchange of views."

Riad described the meeting as "a good and frank talk."

Magazine Features Charley Johnson

How rough does professional football get?

Charley Johnson, Houston Oilers quarterback now in his 11th year as a pro, played last season with a broken collarbone, infected elbow and damaged knee. He missed four games and didn't finish the schedule.

Thus, Johnson is qualified to answer this and other gridiron questions and does — in an exclusive interview with John Hollis in The Texas Star Sunday, Oct. 3. Johnson gives candid answers to touchy questions on subjects ranging from hair to race relations in pro ball.

(Charley Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Big Spring, and after completing Big Spring High School here played his college ball at New Mexico State University before breaking in with the St. Louis Cardinals, from whence he went to the Oilers.)

There are teepees on the reservation, but no Indians live in them; they're just for show. Another Star feature is Wick Fowler's account of the Alabama-Coushattas who, after long years of deprivation, have found a way to achieve economic independence.

Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum wasn't the women's lib type, but as a member of the "Petticoat Lobby" she fought hard and successfully for women's rights in her day, as related by Lorraine Barnes in one of a series of articles about the great ladies of Texas.

There was a lot of squabbling about a highway sign at Hondo, but the sign finally won, resulting in world-wide publicity for the Texas town. Burnis K. Lawrence tells how the unusual message calls attention to safety.

If you were left at home with only one food, what would you choose? Mary Faulk Kooch takes a poll and reveals the result — then presents recipes to show how variety can be brought about in the preparation of a favorite dish.

'Shocked' Cows Give Less Milk

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A Washington State University professor said Wednesday that cows on a farm near an eastern Washington high voltage line gave less milk than normal until their water trough was grounded.

Lloyd Craine, a professor of electrical engineering, told a Bonneville Power Administration hearing that the cows refused to drink from the trough because they were being shocked by electricity induced into the trough by the high voltage line.

29 Yankees Viet Victims Last Week

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 29 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, the first time in 11 weeks that U.S. combat deaths exceeded 20.

The toll was 16 higher than the number reported for the previous week.

A command spokesman, Maj. Richard Gardner, said that part of the increase last week was due to administrative changes in casualty listings. He said six men previously carried as missing or wounded were now reported as dead. Several others included in last week's toll, he said, resulted from delays in reports or identifications.

The command's weekly summary also showed 47 Americans were wounded in action last week, a drop of 64 from the previous week. In addition, the command said, six Americans died from accidents and illnesses, half of the number who died from nonhostile causes a week earlier.

The South Vietnamese command reported 263 government troops were killed and 615 were wounded last week, compared with 397 killed and 755 wounded two weeks ago.

The two allied commands jointly claimed 1,331 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers killed last week, a drop from the 1,572 reported in the previous week.

The latest official figures raised casualty totals for the war to:

United States—45,543 killed, 301,747 wounded, and 9,787 deaths from nonhostile causes.

South Vietnam—133,617 killed, 239,250 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—773,768 killed.

Bras Hold Food

MELBOURNE (AP) — An official of the international Red Cross has found a use for those bras women's libbers don't want.

He cuts them in half, down the middle, and uses them to hold rice and flour.

Robert Pierrepont, a self-proclaimed "resourceful fellow," hit upon the idea while feeding refugees in East Pakistan.

UT Stands 14th In Nation From Standpoint Of Quality

AUSTIN (AP) — The new president of the University of Texas at Austin says the school ranks as the 14th best in the nation in quality.

In a "state of the university" address Wednesday night to the school's faculty and staff, Dr. Stephen Spurr said Texas is "the major complex research university in the southern half of the United States... but we can do better."

RECENT RATING

Spurr used the occasion to announce two appointments: Dr. Peter T. Flawn as vice president for academic affairs and Dr. Lorene L. Rogers as administrative vice president.

Spurr's assessment of the university's rank was based on a recent rating of graduate programs by the American Council on Education. Such ratings reflect the general caliber of a university, he said.

The only other university in Texas that ranks in the top 50, Spurr said, is Rice, No. 39.

The only state schools that rank ahead of Texas are California at Berkeley, Michigan, Wisconsin, UCLA, Cornell (public in part) and Illinois, he said.

SCHOLARSHIPS

"We can do better not by growing in size so much as by growing in quality," Spurr said. "We must find ways and means of scheduling out of existence a significant portion of our present programs each year so that we can keep in step with the times and reallocate the resources to the development of needed new programs," he said.

Spurr stressed quality teaching. "I suggest that whatever else we may undertake, we must do the best job we possibly can in teaching, particularly at the undergraduate level. This is basically what the public wants us to do, what the state legislature primarily is paying us to do and what we have a moral obligation as university faculty to do," he said.

Research and scholarship also are important, Spurr said, and he is "deeply committed to the concept that teaching and scholarship go hand in hand, often in the same individuals, but always in the same department."

A university should be politically neutral, Spurr said.

SOCIAL REFORM

"A university such as the University of Texas at Austin attracts the brightest students and faculty around, or at least we hope so. By their very nature these individuals are innovative, progressive and deeply interested in social reform.

"Inevitably many of these people, either as individuals or groups, attempt to bring the weight and prestige of the university behind their personal or communal efforts."

"(But) the university... must remain rational, neutral as a political institution, hospitable to a wide range of opinion within, and devoted to the twin aims of education and scholarship.

"The university is not a political instrument in itself. It should not be soon cease to be a sanctuary."

"...We are in the midst of a major reappraisal of the very basis of our culture and our civilization. Many of these concerns find expression on our university campus.

"The problems they raise will not be easily solved. I view the prospects not with dismay but with anticipation and excitement. I have great confidence in the group intelligence and judgment of the American people, both in the generality and in that segment which constitutes the faculty and the student body of the University of Texas at Austin."

Knott 4-H Club Hears Reports

KNOTT — New officers took office Tuesday at the meeting of the Knott 4-H Club. Kayla Gaskins, president, presided at the meeting, and Patty Peugh, program chairman, led a variety of fun activities for the group.

Danny Peugh led the pledge and Van Gaskins gave the inspiration.

Mary Kaye Hunt reported on the District and State Horse Shows, Patty Peugh reviewed a Fashion Show at the South Plains Fair that she and Kayla Gaskins participated in, and Van Gaskins reported on his barrows for the County Stock Show. J. E. Peugh, adult leader, announced that the County Swine Show will be held Oct. 13-14.

Hickson Elected

R. E. Hickson, Hemphill-Wells Company, Inc., Big Spring, has been elected to the Board of Directors of Texas Retail Federation, for a two year term. The election came during the Federation's Annual Meeting, last week in Houston. Texas Retail Federation is a non-profit organization representing the retail dry goods, department, specialty, hardware, and jewelry stores of the state, with headquarters in Austin.

Tech Offers Training For Dietitians Now

LUBBOCK — In order to supply qualified dietitians to the medical profession, the College of Home Economics at Texas Tech University has received a HEW grant of $152,000 to operate an Advanced Training Center for Dietitians.

According to Dr. S. P. Yang, professor and chairman of the Department of Food and Nutrition, there are now eight graduate students working toward a master's degree in the area of food and nutrition who are utilizing the second year of the training program.

"The grant is for five years and allows a base stipend for students ranging from $2,400 to $3,000 per year. There are also allowances for dependents, tuition and fees.

"Our program is aimed at opening up the unlimited career opportunities that are available to men and women who are professionally qualified in dietetics."

Police Pursue Fourth Suspect In Murder Case

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Police pursued Thursday their search for a fourth suspect in the Jean Geron murder case, after naming the suspect in murder charges filed in a peace justice court.

Named in the charges is John Weldon Forbes, 43, identified as the stepson of a cousin of Geron.

Two other persons, a man and a woman, have been charged with the fatal shooting Friday of Geron at his North Dallas home. Police say Geron's assailants intended to rob him.

Another person has been charged with the robbery of $83,000 worth of jewelry belonging to Geron's wife about a year ago. Police said the robbery suspect is being questioned about Friday's incident.

Police were unable to locate Forbes prior to charging him. They theorize he could have known the layout of Geron's home.

4-H Achievements Awards Saturday

COLORADO CITY — The Mitchell County 4-H Achievement Program will be held Saturday at 6:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Colorado City High School.

"4-H Bridges the Gap," theme for National 4-H Week, will be the theme for the achievement program, according to Janet Moore and Bobby Lemons, county extension agents.

Judge Bill Carter will be principal speaker. The achievement program is the highlight of the 4-Hers year's work. The announcement of the coveted Gold Star winners will highlight the presentation of awards to 4-H members.

Three adults will be presented the "4-H Spur Clip Award" for their contributions to 4-H and youth programs. A "Friend of 4-H" award will be presented to one individual and to one business for their support of the 4-H Club program.

Other awards will be presented to winners in two dozen areas of 4-H activity and projects.

Dispute Could Shut Down Remaining Deep Sea Ports

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nixon administration today entered a labor dispute that could shut down the nation's remaining deep sea ports with a dock strike at midnight on the East and Gulf coasts.

Asst. Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery Jr. and Maritime Administration Director Andrew E. Gibson summoned shippers and officials of the strike-threatening AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association into an eleventh-hour meeting here.

The urgency of the situation lay in the prospect that all but the Great Lakes ports would be closed to dry cargo shipping for the first time in the nation's history, with only military shipments exempted.

At issue is a guaranteed annual wage provision in the current ILA contract. The New York Shipping Association has pledged to halt the guaranteed payments when the contract expires at midnight. The ILA says it won't work without them.

"strenuously fight a Taft-Hartley injunction in the courts" because it would have the effect of continuing the guaranteed wage clause.

ILA President Thomas Gleason said the union executive council decided Wednesday to continue working for the duration of President Nixon's wage-price freeze "providing the terms of the contract are unchanged." The freeze ends Nov. 13.

Containerization and other new technology have increased productivity to the point where the stevedores are handling 500,000 more tons of cargo than in 1966 with 3,500 fewer longshoremen and checkers.

The clause was negotiated by the union to protect its members from such job attrition but management claims the provision cost them $30 million last year.

The government officials appeared to be seeking the final positions of the parties on expiring contracts covering 45,000 dockworkers prior to a decision in Washington on whether to seek a Taft-Hartley injunction.

The probability of injunctive action came as a result of failure by negotiators to settle a three-month strike by 15,000 members of the independent International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union on the West Coast.

President Nixon, dropping in on the West Coast negotiators last week, had indicated he would reluctantly resort to Taft-Hartley and its 80-day injunction provision if the strike on the Pacific Coast was not terminated promptly.

Representatives of other East and Gulf Coast ports from Maine to Texas have announced their intention of joining any New York harbor strike.

President Nixon said last Sunday that he would "automatically" invoke the Taft-Hartley Act provision for an 80-day "cooling off" period if the ILA struck while the West Coast port tieup was still on.

James J. Dickman, chief negotiator for the NYSA, said Wednesday the shippers would Containerization and other new technology have increased productivity to the point where the stevedores are handling 500,000 more tons of cargo than in 1966 with 3,500 fewer longshoremen and checkers.

The clause was negotiated by the union to protect its members from such job attrition but management claims the provision cost them $30 million last year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has patted itself on the back for a reduced crime rate in the nation's capital.

A report Wednesday stated that while serious crime in the United States rose by 7 percent in the first half of 1971, it dropped by 11 percent in Washington, "the only city over which the federal government has jurisdiction."

'Jail Bird' Recaptured

HOUSTON (AP) — Hill County authorities planned to return Willard Gene Christopher, 32, to Hillsboro, today. He escaped from the Hill County jail last July.

Christopher, 32, of Dallas, was recaptured Wednesday night at Houston by Harris County deputies.

Christopher and two other Dallas men were indicted by a grand jury at Hillsboro in the March 25 slaying of Malone City Marshal Milton Boortz. He had been free since he and a Fort Worth man escaped from the Hill County jail July 18.

Harris County Deputy Sheriff Marvin Zindler said Christopher surrendered without resistance at a northeast Houston residence. He said a Denver, Colo. woman was arrested with Christopher.

Zindler said Christopher had been in Houston for several weeks doing odd jobs. He said lawmen received a tip where Christopher could be found and he surrendered to three deputies.

Trial date for Christopher and the other two men has been set for Oct. 18 in Hillsboro.

Search For Kidnapers Of Rich Industrialist

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government launched a search for the kidnapers of wealthy industrialist Julio Hirschfeld Alameda.

Hirschfeld, 52, also the nation's aviation director, was released Wednesday night after nearly 60 hours in the hands of his abductors. He arrived at his home shortly after 10 p.m. in a taxicab. His family paid a $240,000 ransom.

DARK ROOM
An hour after he regained his freedom, Hirschfeld met with President Luis Echeverria, close friend, in the presidential palace.

The president had ordered police to keep a safe distance from the Hirschfeld family during negotiations with the kidnapers.

After the meeting with Echeverria, Hirschfeld told newsmen that three men and a woman seized him a few blocks from his home Monday morning as he was enroute to his office.

He said his abductors never identified themselves as members of an underground political group but "obviously it was a political kidnaping."

He was kept in a dark and "very humble" room, Hirschfeld continued and his captors gave him books to pass the time.

GAGGED HIM
Among the books, he said, were "The Diary of Che Guevara", "The Night of Tlatelolco"—a chronicle of a bloody battle between students and soldiers Oct. 2, 1968—and a collection of poems about student and political problems in Latin America.

When he was captured, Hirschfeld continued, his abductors pushed him to the floor of a car after blindfolding and gagging him. They travelled in that auto for about 25 minutes and then changed to another.

They treated him well and gave him food cooked in the same place where he was held prisoner, he added.

Hirschfeld recalled that the youths warned "they would have to kill me" if the ransom was not paid. He assured them that they would receive the money.

Tuesday night the kidnapers told him that the ransom had been paid and he should not worry.

LET ME GO
"They blindfolded me, put me in a car and shortly afterward let me go," he said.

Hirschfeld said police believe they have some leads in their search for the kidnapers.

He arrived at his home in a taxi he rented in the south central part of the city. He was wearing dark pants and a white shirt, minus a tie or shoelaces.

"I am all right—I want to see my family," Hirschfeld said as he pushed past nearly 100 reporters who had waited there for his release.

A doctor who examined him said Hirschfeld was in good health and showed no signs of being mistreated.

Wet Weather Renewing Its Siege

Damp weather appears to be renewing its siege over much of Texas after a lull of several days.

Light rain fell from New Mexico to near Dalhart, Amarillo and Lubbock in Texas' Panhandle-Plains sector this morning, and scattered showers pelted coastal areas and extreme Southeast Texas.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy across the rest of the state, with humid warmth lingering in most sections.

There also were moderate to heavy showers late Wednesday from around Texarkana across the state to San Angelo, Del Rio, Eagle Pass and Kingsville, plus a few showers in far West Texas near El Paso and in the Panhandle.

Large amounts of moisture included Corpus Christi, 4.4 inch, McAllen .89 and Brownsville 1.27.

Extended forecasts called for still more moisture, holding out prospects for scattered showers in all areas Saturday through Monday.

Temperatures ran as high Wednesday afternoon as 91 degrees at College Station, Dallas, Texarkana and Tyler, and 92 at Lufkin.

REGISTRATION DRIVES BEING MET WITH MIXED RESPONSE

Special Campaigns Used To Woo Student Voters

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The student government at Colorado State University rented two school buses for $50 and ferried students to the courthouse in nearby Fort Collins for voter registration.

"We had expected about 300 students to use the buses," said Ron Heard, the coordinator of the drive, "but somewhere between 500 and 525 registered on that day."

Voter registration drives are getting under way on campuses all across the country this fall with nearly 5 million students among the 11.4 million newly enfranchised young people between the ages of 18 and 21.

An Associated Press survey showed the drives are meeting with mixed response: Spokesmen at some schools, such as Colorado State, reported turnouts larger than expected; others said there was little interest in registration; still others said it was too early to tell.

The registration drives took varying forms—voting booths on campus, editorials in student newspapers, appearances by local and national politicians and campaigns by specially formed student groups.

The National Association of Student Governments, the Council of Undergraduate Deans and the Washington University Student Union are sponsoring jointly a meeting Nov. 19-21 that's billed as a national convention "to initiate student voter registration."

Helen Page, president of the Student Union, said about 2,000 student government leaders from throughout the country were expected to attend the meeting at Washington University in St. Louis.

The Nebraska League of Young Voters and the student government at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln plan a

Nov. 15 voter registration drive among college students in the state.

"We hope to register between 10,000 and 13,000 newly enfranchised voters who are now eligible, but not yet registered," said Mike Nelson, acting co-chairman of the young voters league.

A week-long voter registration drive began Monday at the University of Maryland's College Park campus. The registration center was in the student union and was manned by registrars from the state board of elections.

Willard Morris, the state election supervisor, estimated 12,000 of the university's 35,000 students would register during the drive.

But at Michigan State University, where the campus is divided between East Lansing and Meridian Township, only 2,000 of an estimated 20,000 eligible student voters registered in the first week of an enthusiastic campaign.

The low turnout occurred despite editorials in the student newspaper, television appearances by University President Clifton Wharton and football Coach Duffy Daugherty and on-campus registration facilities.

John Juel, editor of the campus paper, State News, said he doubted whether the registration drive would come up with 5,000 new student voters, although he repeatedly had written articles urging his classmates to register and vote.

Some registration drives have been complicated by confusion about where a student's legal residence is—in the town where he goes to school or in the community where his parents reside.

William Singer, chairman of the Committee on Illinois Government, a group dedicated to involving more young people in government, said some county clerks were putting up arbitrary and discriminatory roadblocks to college students wanting to register.

More liberal policies are in effect elsewhere. Will E. Alton, elections director of Allegheny County, Pa., said he had been allowing students to register all summer from their dormitory address, even though a state ruling to that effect wasn't made until mid-September.

Ex-Managing Ed Under Indictment For Wife's Death

GALVESTON (AP) — Thomas Steph, former managing editor of the Galveston Daily News, is under a grand jury indictment today, charged with the Aug. 2 death of his wife, Patricia.

Mrs. Steph's body was found floating in English Bayou here and a medical examiner later ruled death by drowning.

Steph was charged with murder the next day and was released under $50,000 bond.

Mrs. Steph was socially prominent, active in politics and was once a copy desk editor on Time Magazine's staff.

She was once employed by the Justice Department at the Nuremberg, Germany, trials of Nazi war criminals.

Steph was formally associated with newspapers in Odessa, San Angelo and Borger before becoming managing editor from 1963 to 1967 at Galveston.

In a related matter, James Scott, brother of Mrs. Steph, filed a probate court motion Monday to halt Steph from being named executor of Mrs. Steph's estate. The motion is under study.

Rose Grower's Award Reversed

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A $132,000 award to a Texas rose grower was reversed Wednesday as the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reviewed the case of an alleged breach of contract.

Harville Rose Service, formerly operated in Tyler, Tex., won the judgment after claiming the Kellogg Co. had reneged on a contract in which Harville would furnish rose bushes as premiums purchased through use of box tops from Kellogg's corn flakes.

Harville claimed the two firms had an oral agreement from 1955 until 1968 when Harville tried to get new terms. Kellogg balked and named its own terms which Harville refused.

The appellate court ruled that the lower court should not have permitted the introduction of oral agreements which were not included in written agreements as evidence in the suit.

Viet Veterans Meeting Tonight

There will be an organizational meeting for the formation of a new American Legion Post in Big Spring at the Webb AFB pavilion at 7 p.m. today. All Vietnam veterans, all active duty personnel, and all recently retired military personnel, both ladies and gentlemen, are cordially invited to attend this meeting and join the new post.

NAME CHANGED — Circuit Judge Norris Maloney has granted permission for Mrs. Richard Smuckler, 23, of Madison, Wis., to change her name to her maiden name of Stephanie Twin. Her husband of three years encouraged her to make the change. The court said there is no law requiring a married woman to take her husband's name.

'Law Streamlining' Plan Preferable

AUSTIN — Directors of the 1,200-member Texas Trial Lawyers Association have endorsed a sweeping program for consideration by the state government in connection with automobile accident litigation and automobile insurance.

The board also voted strong opposition to present "no-fault" insurance plans after hearing a number of nationally recognized speakers who raised questions about "no-fault" insurance. Judge Philip G. Peters, of Manchester, N.H., a member of the International Association of Insurance Counsellors, termed "no-fault" insurance a political football, advanced by insurance companies.

"The interest of the insurance companies is strictly money," Mr. Peters said. "They feel they can make more money under 'no-fault,' that they will pay out much less money under 'no-fault' policies."

Highlights of the recommendations include: Replacing present contributory negligence provisions of the law with comparative negligence features which would require that a victim be given a part of the full award in proportion to the fault of the other driver. If the fault of one driver was found to be greater than that of the other, the first driver would receive nothing.

Finding ways to lower insurance rates, including introduction of a $250 deductible policy on liability insurance which would reduce rates significantly.

Streamlining of court, jury and trial procedures, particularly on small claims procedures, also utilization of majority jury decisions.

Eliminating immunity from liability, including governmental units.

Introducing laws to keep drunk drivers off the roads.

Improving highway safety programs; raising automobile construction standards.

SHOOTING VICTIM — Dorsey L. Wiles was shot fatally in a bizarre shooting incident in an eighth grade classroom at Peabody High School Wednesday. Authorities in Petersburg, Va., charged a 14-year-old boy with murder in Wiles' death and two counts of felonious assault in the wounding of two other students.

INEXPENSIVE, NONPOLLUTING Promise Of Power

RICHLAND, Wash. (AP) — President Nixon says a new test facility under construction at the Hanford Atomic Works gives promise of producing abundant nuclear energy that is both inexpensive and nonpolluting as measured against the use of fossil fuels for power generation.

Two prototypes will be developed by 1980, Nixon said, but he declined to say where the prototypes will be located. "We're not ready to drop the other shoe yet and say where," Nixon told a crowd of 14,000 at the atomic works near here. "But this area has so many brains it has a role to play."

The new facility—known as a liquid metal fast breeder reactor, LMFBR—converts uranium into plutonium during the process of nuclear fission.

He said the work is being undertaken by the Atomic Energy Commission in cooperation with the electric power industry, which he said has pledged $200 million to support a demonstration plant in the largest single commitment to research and development in its history.

Nixon made the announcement as he stopped off in this Central Washington city en route to Anchorage, Alaska, and his meeting with Emperor Hirohito of Japan, whose nation has been the only country to suffer the fury of the atomic bomb.

METAL BREEDER
Some of the uranium is expended in fission process, but more plutonium is produced at the same time. It is then used for fuel. The process, which depends more on plutonium for fission than current reactors, thus is constantly renewing its fuel supply in part.

NOT READY
The power industry's response to development of a prototype fast breeder reactor has been so encouraging, the President said, that the federal government's program to develop a new generation of nuclear reactors will be expanded.

The new generation of reactors will use liquid sodium for coolant, rather than water. Water will still be used in the new process to cool the sodium. Steam from this secondary cooling will drive electric generators.

Registration for the event will open at 5 p.m. and the play day will begin at 6 p.m. This is the sixth in a series of seven play days. Trophies will be awarded to the high point girl and boy in each age group, including adults, at the final play day Oct. 9.

James Schlesinger, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, told newsmen it would be about one year before there is a selection of a site for the first experimental reactor. It will be about six months, he said, before a contractor is selected to build the first facility.

Kayla Gaskins and Patty Peugh participated in a fashion show featuring girls who had participated in the District Dress Revue earlier in the summer. Kayla and Patty were the senior and junior winners from Howard County.

Local Youth Attend Fair In Lubbock

Howard County 4-H'ers took part in the South Plains Fair in Lubbock this week with a demonstration of "The Proud Americans," a Share The Fun team, and with participation in a style show.

The group had performed earlier this year at the State 4-H Roundup and were guests at the Cap Rock Electric Co-op annual meeting in Stanton.

Members of the Proud Americans are Debra Buchanan, Joey Shaw, Janette Nichols, Anita Jones, Leah Roman, Kayla Gaskins, Darla Buchanan, Molly Atkins and Keith Nichols.

'Dixie Mafia' Mistrial Call

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The federal gun violation trial of Kirksey McCord Nix Jr., reputed leader of the Dixie Mafia, ended in a mistrial early today when the jury could not reach a verdict.

U.S. Dist. Judge Jack Gordon declared a mistrial at 3:30 a.m. when the jury reported it was deadlocked.

The panel had been considering the case since 7:20 p.m. Nix, the son of an Oklahoma Criminal Appeals Court judge, is one of four men charged with the slaying of New Orleans grocer Frank Corso.

He is scheduled to go on trial in Criminal District Court on Oct. 11 on murder charges in the shooting death of Corso, who was killed April 11.

In his federal trial, the government charged Nix used false identification to buy a firearm and made a false statement that he had never been convicted of a felony.

The case went to the jury Wednesday night after Phillip C. Spedale, owner and operator of the Crescent Gun and Repair Co., testified that Nix paid $99.95 cash for an M-1 carbine. He said Nix offered as identification a chauffeur's license bearing the name of Tom Charles Ward and signed that name to the Internal Revenue Service form.

Kayla is also one of four district winners who will participate in the State Dress Revue at the State Fair at Dallas. Commentator for the Fashion Show was Joan Crawford.

Lawyer Bailey Hires Medina

NEW YORK (AP) — Capt. Ernest L. Medina is going to work for attorney F. Lee Bailey, the lawyer who successfully defended the captain at his My Lai court-martial.

Spedale also quoted Nix as saying he had never been convicted of any charge for which he could have received a sentence of more than one year.

The government introduced evidence to show that Nix was convicted of attempted bribery in Atlanta, Ga., on March 14, 1969, and sentenced to two years.

Before the trial began Wednesday morning, U.S. Dist. Court Judge Jack M. Gordon denied defense motions for a motion to dismiss the charges, a continuance or a change of venue.

Defense attorney Wayne Mancuso claimed the case against Nix had been prejudiced by "singular and unwarranted publicity."

Will Hike Food Value Of Corn

OLIVIA, Minn. (AP) — A breakthrough which will increase the food value of corn has been announced by the Trojan Seed Company of Olivia.

R.J. Rauenhorst, president of Trojan, said the "double-mutant corn is a giant step" in alleviating hunger.

The new "high-lysine" corn increases the content of an essential amino acid and retains the high levels of two others, while it is superior in both nutritional value and test weight, the company said.

Offers His Home To Chief Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — A retired Washington attorney and former assistant general counsel to the Federal Reserve Board has offered his $300,000 home as a permanent residence for the U.S. chief justice.

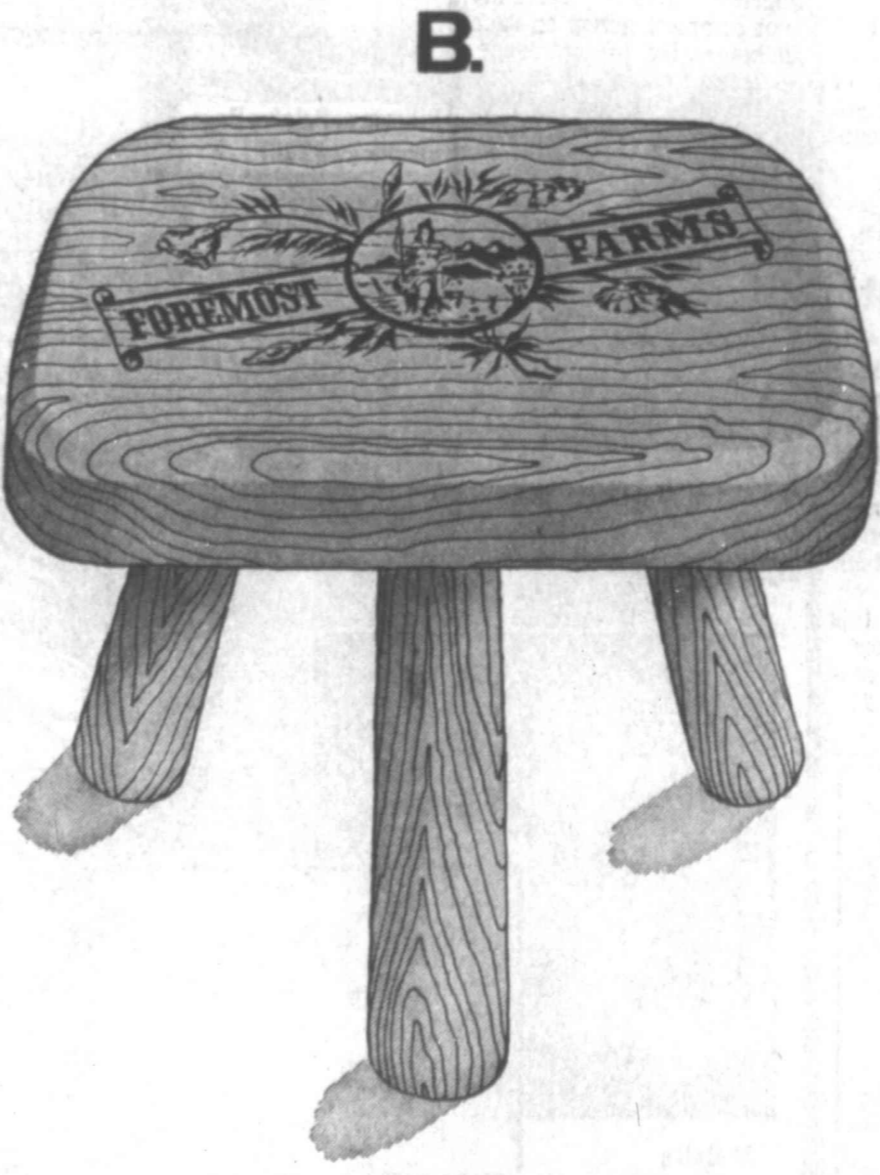

G. Howland Chase said Wednesday his decision had nothing to do with any particular chief justice, but because "It was a dream I had."

WIN AN AUTHENTIC

(For-whatever-it's-worth)

FOREMOST MILKING STOOL.

It's as easy as A, or B, or C.

In an honest effort to win friends, influence people and unload a bunch of homely (but sturdy) milking stools, we bring you yet another push-over-of-a-contest from Foremost.

To enter here's all you do:

1. Take a very close look at the three milking stools above.

Each is a likeness of the 1000 full-size wooden stools we'll be giving away to 1000 lucky winners. Each has the same classic design. Each has our handsome Foremost brand on the seat.

But only two of the stools are exactly alike. One is just a little bit different. Discover which it is, A, B or C?

2. Next, we need a tie-breaker, just in case. Simply complete the following sentence any way you like: "Never, but never, take a milking stool to _____ with you." Your answer will be judged on "originality."

3. Finally, pick up an official entry blank wherever Foremost Dairy Products are sold.

On it you'll find complete contest rules, a space for your A, B or C answer, a space for your tie-breaker sentence and the address to mail your entry before midnight, Nov. 1, 1971.

There's no purchase necessary. So send in as many entries as you like.

After all, the next milking stool contest that comes along may not be this easy.

Foremost. The Freshmost.

'IT IS NOT JUST A HOSPITAL'

Medical Complex Dedication Friday

"It's not a hospital, it's a consolidated medical facility," said Dr. (Lt. Col.) Sidney H. Curtis, commander of the new Webb AFB facility due for dedication Friday morning.

In addition to the hospital wards, operating rooms, delivery rooms and doctors' offices and examining rooms, the complex also contains a dental department, a pharmacy, a cafeteria, a medical supply department.

The building is decorated in shades of green, orange and blue with colorful op-art curtains and paintings in every room.

The waiting room, in addition to chairs for adults, has tables and chairs for children, and is connected to the clinic with an intercom over which patients are called to appointments. All patients are seen by appointment except for emergencies.

Immediately to the left of the main entrance is a smaller waiting room for obstetric-gynecology patients which prevents pregnant women from having to wait in the main waiting room where they might come in contact with persons with communicable diseases, Dr. Curtis said.

The clinic opens also to the left from the waiting room and includes offices for eight doctors, each of whom has two examining rooms. Specialties include internal medicine, surgery, pediatrics, obstetrics and gynecology. The remainder are general practitioners.

In a separate area further to the left is the flight surgeon's office, which has three physicians who deal primarily with pilots and other military personnel on flight status. The optometrist is also located in this area since most of his work is with pilots, although he does handle other patients, Dr. Curtis said.

The northwest corner of the building is an eight-chair dental clinic which has four dentists, each with two examining rooms. The clinic has facilities for oral surgery and has its own X-ray equipment.

Next to the dental clinic is the emergency suite, which has a separate entrance. The emergency room entrance is the only entrance left unlocked at night.

In the emergency suite there are two operating tables, a cardiac monitor and any equipment which might be needed for emergency patients, Dr. Curtis said. A separate room is included to take care of patients with fractures. The ambulance dispatcher is also located in the emergency suite.

The hospital has two field ambulances and three metropolitan ambulances, all of which are radio controlled.

The complex also has a separate immunization clinic for all the shots which can be necessary on a military base, Dr. Curtis said.

Beyond that are the X-ray and laboratory departments. Almost all of the laboratory testing is done and processed within the complex.

Across the hall is the medical supply department, which is a first. Most military medical facilities have medical supplies in a separate warehouse; few are included within the complex, Dr. Curtis said.

The complex also has a physical therapy department where exercise treatments, whirlpools and heat treatments are available.

A modern kitchen and cafeteria seats 44 persons. Ambulatory patients are fed in the dining room, but bedfast patients are fed in their rooms from a special cart which is temperature controlled.

The east third of the complex is made up of wards, and the operating rooms and delivery rooms open off a substerile corridor connected with the wards. The two wards have a 25-bed capacity, in addition to six beds in the recovery-intensive care area. About half the beds are electric and can be operated by the patient.

The wards are built in an L-shape around the operating room-delivery suite, and the nurses station is situated in such a manner that from that vantage point a nurse can watch approximately 15 patients at one time.

Cardiac monitoring is available for three patients and two rooms, equipped as isolation rooms, have television monitors enabling a nurse to watch a patient via a television hook-up from the nurses station. The isolation units have their own air conditioning units and plumbing to help prevent contamination of other patients.

Every room likely to have patients in it has outlets for pumped-in oxygen, vacuum and compressed air, and the operating room has piped-in nitrous oxide for anesthesia.

The operating-delivery suite is on a separate transformer to eliminate the problem of patient shocks.

The complex has an emergency generator which keeps the operating suite fully operable and operates at least one light and one outlet in each room or ward area. All the wards are equipped with color television sets which eventually will be suspended from the ceiling and operated by remote control.

The facility is air conditioned by zone with various areas humidified, de-humidified, under pressure or under vacuum or various combinations. The operating room is pressurized so that when a door is opened air goes out instead of coming in to avoid contamination of a patient undergoing surgery. The isolation rooms are vacuum so that air comes in when the door is opened to keep from contaminating patients on the ward with air coming out of the isolation rooms.

Would Boost Minimum Pay To $2.25 Hour

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Labor Committee says his panel will start next week to draw up a bill that will boost the minimum wage to $2.25 even though such an increase may run afoul of President Nixon's economic program.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said in a statement Sunday the committee "will have to see what impact the President's program will have on our legislation when it is announced.

"But," he said, "we still see a strong need for a higher minimum wage. The present minimum does not even provide a poverty-level income." The present minimum wage is $1.60 an hour.

Congress almost certainly will not complete action on such a bill before the present wage-price freeze expires Nov. 13. But there have been indications Nixon's Phase 2 of the program will include wage stabilization measures.

Under the Williams' bill, the new floor would take effect in two steps, $2 after 60 days and $2.25 one year after that.

Efficiency Rate Doubles With Modern X-Rays

Efficiency and capability in performance of the Webb AFB Hospital X-ray department have increased 100 per cent in most areas with the establishment of the new hospital and purchasing of the most modern and updated X-ray equipment available for the department.

Modern equipment and dedicated, qualified technicians have been combined to make the X-ray department the most modern Air Force base facility in the area, according to Sgt. Norm Collingsworth, non-commissioned officer in charge.

The work load of the new department is comparable to the load of any other X-ray department in town, except for the Veterans Administration Hospital department, Sgt. Collingsworth said.

A total of 800 patients per month are examined in the department for a total of 1,600 exposures developed per month. Between 40 and 50 examinations are made daily.

Martin Carozza, assistant NCOIC, Kathleen Cockrell, civilian technician, and Paul Christensen, volunteer technician, are the team that run the department eight hours a day. Also the workers are on 24-hour call daily.

In the move from the old facility, the department retained some of the old equipment, but most of the X-ray devices are new.

The department has one main X-ray machine, a 300 milliamper, phototimed facility, but with a new addition that doubles the efficiency of the machine in examinations.

An image intensifier has been added to the facility to aid the intensity of each shot. "The intensifier helps the doctors in stomach study. Before we got the intensifiers, doctors would have to wear special goggles in complete darkness to see the shot, but now the smallest part of the interior of the body can be examined with ease," Sgt. Collingsworth was happy to point out.

Among other modern equipment in the department is a 90-second film processor. "Within 90 seconds the exposed film can be produced in dry form, ready for the file," said Sgt. Collingsworth.

The new hospital is lacking a radiologist, however, Dr. Steven Merritt, of Snyder, visits the lab once a week. Doctors and technicians alike are receiving training from Dr. Merritt each week, according to Sgt. Collingsworth.

LT. COL. (DR.) SIDNEY H. CURTIS

Lt. Col. Sidney H. Curtis is the commander of the USAF Hospital at Webb AFB.

Dr. Curtis is a native of Waverly, Iowa, is married to the former Miss Denise E. Morril, also of Waverly.

He came to Webb in July, 1970, after serving as Director of Base Medical Services at Kindley AFB, Bermuda.

Dr. Curtis was graduated from Wartburg College in Waverly, Iowa, with a BA in biology in 1964 and received his medical degree from the University of Iowa in 1958.

CAPT. BRUCE P. GREGG JR.

Capt. Bruce P. Gregg Jr. is the administrator for the USAF Hospital at Webb AFB.

Dr. Gregg has been assigned to Webb since July, 1970. He arrived here following an assignment with the 361st USAF Hospital at Craig AFB, Ala.

The administrator is a native of Seguin, Tex., and graduated from high school there in 1957. He received a business degree from Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos and a masters degree in management from the University of Colorado.

LT. COL. THERESA C. CARFAGNO

Lt. Col. Theresa C. Carfagno is the chief nurse at the USAF Hospital at Webb AFB.

She is a graduate of North High School in Syracuse, N.Y., and attended Syracuse University.

The chief nurse entered the Air Force Jan. 3, 1956 and her last assignment prior to coming to Webb was at the Medical Service School at Sheppard AFB.

TOMORROW

-CARROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to make sure that you do nothing to upset any present conditions. There is considerable likelihood you will be eager to make some changes but be sure not to do anything that would be indiscreet and unwise. Use your best judgment every way.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You find it difficult to persuade a good friend to make your own plan for improving your present situation, assist others who are in need. Count your blessings. Be wise.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Take the time to assist good pals. The social could bring trouble if you are not alert. Don't jeopardize friendship of a vital contact. Study a personal matter more thoroughly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't take any risks where career work is concerned or you could get in trouble. Seek advice from experts and then become more proficient at your work. Take it easy tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Obtain the knowledge you need from newcomers who are experts in your field of endeavor. Seek new interest. Don't waste time with one who is annoying and superficial.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan how best to eliminate responsibilities you have. Your punches are not very good today, so target them. Use your best judgment and all is fine. Retox this evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Many problematical affairs come up with associates so use tact and all works out just fine. Be exact in keeping promises with others. Avoid strife wherever you can. Be alert.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You must complete those jobs you started, so don't try to get away without doing them. Do not argue with co-workers. You can reap the benefits of your labors later on.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You want a good time, which is fine provided you stick to proven pleasure. Do not try to force others to go along with you. Find the right creative hobby to enjoy on your vacation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try not to add to problems which family ties already have, but help them instead. Eliminate the root cause of trouble. Make the evening a happy one at home. Be poised.

PISCES (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Exercise much care in motion and avoid trouble. Think twice before you speak. Don't forget to count the change when you go out shopping. Use your own judgment when making purchases.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Engage in financial affairs that are important right now. Plan how to best repair your property so that it will be worth much more. Economy should be the keynote right now. Be wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Not a good day for entertaining. Make sure you do not get together with a person who can bring trouble into your life. Improve your appearance and health. Get plenty of rest.

New, Modern Kitchen Is Geared For Speed

Progressive cooking with the help of modern equipment is the key to the success of the Webb AFB Hospital dining facility.

"The main idea here is speed in cooking, and this can only be accomplished with the new and more modern equipment," said Sgt. Arthur Bougie, mess hall chief, as, gleaming with pride, he showed off the new kitchen facilities.

An array of infra-red ovens, electric broilers, pressure cookers, refrigeration units with safety mechanisms and updated garbage disposals lined the walls of the new facility.

Also there were steam pots of 20, 10 and 5 gallon capacity that are capable of boiling water within seconds.

The sergeant also displayed a unique ward cart used to transport food to the patients' rooms over the hospital. Incorporated in the 20-tray capacity cart are hot and cold foods and cold dishes on each tray just at the right temperature.

An average of 123 patients are served from the hospital kitchen daily and approximately 88 assigned personnel. On weekends the dependents or families of the assigned personnel are also served from the kitchen. Once a month the kitchen also serves the Air Force Reserve.

Three civilian cooks and three civilian cook apprentices are used in the facility. Also there are three military cooks and one military diet technician.

Each of the cooks have a diet-therapy rating, according to Sgt. Bougie.

Not only are there new kitchen facilities in the hospital, but also a new dining room. "The dining room decor is arranged to promote relaxation among the troops, thus taking them out of the harsh military atmosphere for a while every day," Sgt. Bougie pointed out, as he noted the bright colors and modern seating units.

"We have about a 95 per cent efficiency increase in the new kitchen over the old facilities at the old hospital. All in all, we are very proud of the new mess," the supervisor exclaimed.

SPEED IN THE KITCHEN — Kitchen personnel in the new Webb AFB Hospital are aided by new and modern equipment. Steam pots in foreground enable workers to boil water in seconds.

BETWEEN 20 AND 30 BABIES BORN EACH MONTH

Monthly Patient Total About 5,600

The new consolidated medical facility at Webb AFB Hospital can expect 5,600 outpatients per month, according to figures for last month, said Dr. (Lt. Col.) Sidney Curtis, hospital commander.

This is, of course, not the number of people treated, but rather the number of visits made. A patient is counted each time he comes to the hospital.

Last month there were 500 flight physicals given, 200 other physicals, 6,000 lab tests, 1,500 X-rays and 5,000 prescriptions.

Dr. Curtis said there are between 20 and 30 babies born each month in the hospital. Conversely there have been only five deaths in the two years Dr. Curtis has been at Webb.

"This is largely due to the fact that we evacuate any seriously ill patients to larger facilities," he said. The Webb facility is equipped to handle almost any kind of illness, he said, and usually it is a surgical need rather than a medical need which causes evacuation. "For instance, we do not have neurosurgeons here," he said.

The hospital has between 15-20 patients a day in the 25-bed facility. Most patients are "short-term" patients and are hospitalized four to five days at the longest.

The facility has a prospective load of about 10,000, Dr. Curtis said. This includes the base population of about 2,600, their dependents, retired military personnel in the area, military connected persons in the area (such as the wife and family of an Army man stationed overseas) and military connected persons who may be travelling through this area.

No Chance Black To Be Nominated For Veep Position

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — James Farmer, former assistant secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said there is no chance a black will be nominated for vice president on either party's ticket in 1972.

Farmer, in Minneapolis to speak to the national convention of the Conference of Catholic Charities, was asked whether a Negro has a chance to be nominated for vice president next year.

He answered, "None whatever. I don't like to speculate but I would say that in a dozen years or so a black could run for vice president, or even president."

Farmer is a former head of the Congress of Racial Equality.

Facts On VD

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who never misses your column. I read those letters about V.D. and have a few questions I want to ask you:

1. In which states can doctors treat minors for V.D. without telling their parents?
2. How old does a person have to be before he is no longer considered a minor?
3. Will you please come right out and describe some of the symptoms of V.D. I have heard so many stories, I am confused. For instance, I have heard that if a sore on the lips or in the mouth, or on the private parts doesn't heal up, it is probably V.D. I've also heard that a person can have other signs of V.D. — like a burning sensation when urinating, or an unusual discharge from private parts, and these signs sometimes go away without treatment, but the disease is still there and keeps on getting worse. Is that true?

4. Can V.D. really cause crippling, blindness and insanity, or are these just stories adults made up to scare kids?
5. Is it true that once a person is treated for V.D. he can never get it again?
6. One last question which I hope you won't think is too dumb to answer. Can a person get V.D. without going all the way? WORRIED IN ATLANTA DEAR WORRIED: I if you want to know whether the physicians in your state are required by law to have parental consent before treating minors for V.D., telephone any doctor and ask him. Or telephone the Department of Public Health, or your County or State Medical Society.

2. The age of a minor differs from state to state. It differs also for particular purposes. And in some states, the age of a minor is not the same for a male as it is for a female. (Your local Legal Air Society can tell you it is considered a minor for specific purposes.)

3. All the symptoms you describe can indicate V.D. — but these symptoms can also be present where there is no V.D., so the only way to determine positively whether or not you have it is to be examined by a physician.

4. Yes. But the conditions you describe are found only in extremely advanced cases.

5. Absolutely not!

6. Positively yes! And may I add, no question that is asked in sincerity is "too dumb" to answer. I urge any minor who suspects that he (or she) has V.D., and cannot face his parents with the problem, to telephone the Department of Public Health and ask to see a doctor. Don't be afraid. You won't be lectured and you won't be punished. And if you don't have the few dollars to cover the cost of the examination, it will be free.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Paget's Disease

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told by my orthopedic doctor four years ago that I have Paget's disease. He said he was sorry there was nothing that could be done for me.

He never did explain what it was, aside from being a bone disease. What causes it? Is it ever possible to get better? I am in constant pain and my pills don't help any more. I am 61. — E.I.G.

We think of our bones as being solid and permanent. Actually, the bone substance is constantly being changed. The calcium (the principal constituent of bone) is being carried away ("resorbed" by the body) and new calcium replaces it.

This occurs a cell at a time, and the bone structure and shape remain relatively unchanged.

With Paget's disease, this resorption and replacement process is very rapid instead of being gradual. The result is that the bone can be rebuilt into an abnormal structure. In fact, that is what you expect with Paget's disease. Shape and density of bone in various areas can change, putting stress on adjacent organs and causing the pain that goes with the disease.

The cause of the disease is not known; therefore we are at a loss to combat it except by such methods as may be discovered pretty much accidentally.

When your trouble was diagnosed four years ago, there was little that could (or needed) to be done except to relieve pain. The condition, after all, is bothersome to you because of the pain, not so much for any other reason.

In the last few years it has been noted that an antibiotic, mithramycin, is very effective in treating Paget's disease.

This action is quite apart from the drug's essential purpose, which is to subdue bacterial infections. For reasons we do not understand, the mithramycin has some effect on calcium metabolism which appears to arrest the process involved in Paget's disease and relieve the painful symptoms. You might discuss this with your doctor.

time I go near one my eyes water, I sneeze, breathing becomes difficult and a small rash appears.

I love cats but it's really impossible when you have a condition like this. Any cure? — J.C.

I think you'd better give up cats.

There is such a thing as having a series of desensitization injections given by an allergist, but at best this can only protect you against mild exposure.

I would predict that even if you had very good results from the desensitization you'd probably overestimate your tolerance, get a cat or two — and find your allergy suddenly just as bad as ever. You'd be right back where you started.

Nursing Inn Needs Help

Mrs. Housewife of Big Spring this is aimed directly at you. Do you have any spare time now after you hustle dad off to work and get the kids off to school? We mean, of course, after you get that tiresome housecleaning done every day. If you do, please read on.

Your volunteer help is needed at the Big Spring Nursing Inns. As someone once said, "There are never too many volunteers at Nursing Inns."

Your most valuable role at the local nursing home will be just to keep the patients company.

Mrs. Joyce Phillips, activities director said, "Our biggest need right now is volunteers. I have some ideas that need volunteers before we can ever get them started."

Several youth groups and local organizations have made lap robes and footlets for the patients. Many of the groups are "adopting" patients, ones who have no family," said Mrs. Phillips. They visit their patient regularly and fix him or her gifts or cookies. If any group wishes to do this, I have a list of such patients."

The meals at Nursing Inns are prepared and served in a personal home style, which is in keeping with the home-like atmosphere that is always maintained at the Inn.

When a patient is admitted, his physician selects a proper diet, and even if a patient requires a special diet, the staff can prepare it.

So, Mrs. Big Spring housewife, if you find you do have some spare time on your hands, what better way to use it than bringing some sunlight into a patient's eyes and perhaps a smile to his face.

"If a person can do nothing more than come by and visit," said Mrs. Phillips, "the patients like that best of all."

No-Roach Prevents 'Lights-Out' Jitters

Do you have the "lights-out" jitters? Are you afraid that when you snap on the lights you will see a long, brown line of cockroaches tramping across your kitchen floors, onto a counter and up the walls? Do you suspect that the ant army is planning a sneak attack?

To win the battle against crawling hordes of insects and roaches try Johnston's No-Roach.

No-Roach is so effective that just one application will protect your home for months. Just brush No-Roach on woodwork, in cabinets, and drawers.

You can count on No-Roach to protect against insect invasions 24 hours a day. Your home will be free of cockroaches, ants, waterbugs and other troublesome bugs.

Once a home becomes infested with insects such as roaches, ants, spiders and silverfish, it is almost impossible to get rid of them using ordinary methods. Johnston's No-Roach is the safest, most effective way to rid your home of insect pests. When crawling insects seem to multiply overnight to return in force, apply No-Roach. Unlike the messy, unsafe sprays which fill a home with unpleasant, toxic fumes, No-Roach is safe and easy to use. It has no insecticide odor and stays effective for months, thus eliminating tiresome reapplication day after day.

To keep ants out of the house, brush No-Roach across window and door sills. No-Roach is colorless. It has no fumes to permeate foods or mist to cling to dishes.

Perhaps you have just moved into a home and find it infested with insects as did the woman who wrote the following letter to the Johnston No-Roach Company:

"This is the first letter I have ever written to any company, but I do want to tell you that I think very highly of your product. I recently moved into an apartment that was infested with roaches. It was the first time I ever had any. I went frantic trying every product advertised on TV or that the neighbors suggested. One day I saw No-Roach in the store, and thought I would try it. Well, it really worked wonders. Since I have used your product, I have never seen another roach. I'll continue using it as long as I live in this apartment house, or have the need for it." Mrs. K.P.

No-Roach is available in Big Spring at Hull & Phillips, Newsoms, Safeway, Furr's, Piggy Wiggly, Gibson's and is distributed by Kimbell's.

Board To Review Ad Complaints

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles W. Yost, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, has been named chairman of the National Advertising Review Board, an industry group that will serve as a "court of appeals" for complaints of misleading or untruthful advertising.

The board's 50 members include people from advertising agencies, advertisers and the public. Yost described himself as representing the consumer.

The board will judge cases referred to it by the National Advertising Division of the Council of Better Business Bureaus.

Yost said: "Our principle purpose is to avoid bringing matters to public controversy and government intervention. If we are successful, the need for government intervention will be reduced."

CHEESIER CHEESE, TWICE THE TOMATO SAUCE

'Pizza Hutting' Popular Sport

What is an increasingly popular sport played year-round at more than 600 locations in the United States and foreign countries? The answer has to be "Pizza Hutting."

"Pizza Hutting" is done in Big Spring at the "Happy Place" known as the Pizza Hut in the Highland Shopping Center.

You only have to wait 15 minutes for a piping hot pizza made the Pizza Hut way — juicy with twice the tomato sauce other pizza shops give you. Each Pizza Hut pizza has a cheesier foundation too, made edge to edge across dough that is rolled out fresh for every order (instead of grated cheese on a frozen pie crust.)

Alone or in combinations, you can have mozzarella, green pepper, onion, mushroom, black olive, jalapeno pepper, anchovy, sausage, hamburger pepperoni, Canadian bacon or shrimp on your pizza.

The Pizza Supreme comes with sausage, green pepper, onion, pepperoni, and mushrooms and anchovies are optional, or you can choose any additional ingredients for an extra charge.

While your pizza is baking, why not try a delicious Italian tossed salad for just 40 cents. Pizza Hut salads can also be prepared to go with carry home orders. For those who like the bet in beer, Pizza Hut has Michel and light and dark Budweiser on tap. And, it is really ice cold.

Pizza Hutters the world over know that you have to try more than 8,000 different Pizza Hut Pizzas to exhaust the combinations possible with toppings available at Big Spring's Pizza Hut.

So, sports fans, for that big pizza party at home or just a family snack, call the Pizza Hut in the Highland Shopping center for the pizza treat of your life.

She's Done Her Fall Shopping

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon says this year's fashions are prettier than last year and it's easier to buy clothes. In fact, she says, she's done all her fall shopping already.

Mrs. Nixon said she did most of her shopping on a trip to New York in July.

Clad in a periwinkle-blue wool dress by Adele Simpson, Mrs. Nixon repeated her preference for a knee-length hemline. "If you are all cut off, you can't tell what a fashion is like. You have to keep watching your knees."

DRUGS A PROBLEM FOR VA — Dr. Norman Tamarkin, chief physician for Veterans Administration Hospital in Washington, center, talks with two drug users in the VA program.

Tamarkin said it is not uncommon to find patients from other wards who have been using drugs everyday.

Drug Dealing In Hospitals Creates New Woes For VA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Phasing out of the Vietnam war and the resulting discharge of its veterans has created a new and difficult problem for the Veterans Administration: drug dealing in its hospitals.

Officials at Veterans Administration headquarters in Washington minimize drug abuse problems as isolated incidents, but VA hospital directors dispute this.

in the Washington VA hospital's new drug-treatment center. "We have a constant problem of drugs coming into this unit," said its chief physician, Dr. Norman Tamarkin. "We have periodic unannounced searches and we have turned up some drugs."

patient in the neuropsychiatric ward was shooting up every day for four months before anybody discovered it. "It's not something you can easily put a stop to. This is a 604-bed hospital and there are hundreds of people in and out of the building every day. Short of a thorough search of each patient and visitor every day, there's no way to keep drugs out. They're easier to carry and hide than a bottle of liquor."

The men who run the hospitals said the problem is already a major one, that it is growing steadily, that it is a source of violent crimes inside hospitals and that it is nearly impossible to stop.

Ablene's Don Slatton reasons local wrestling buffs are ripe for another show, so he's setting up shop here again this weekend in the Municipal Auditorium. Slatton, who is on the wrestling circuit himself, doesn't risk his poke here during the summer months because the auditorium isn't air conditioned and over-wrought ringiders, not to mention the tin-eared, can generate a lot of heat.

"We will request a meeting with the players' executive committee to directly and privately express our deep concern with these misstatements of fact made by their representative," Mara said. The Denver Broncos announced they would beam their Oct. 3 game with Kansas City live into the Denver coliseum which seats 8,000 people. The Washington Redskins plan to show their final four home games on closed-circuit TV at the Washington Coliseum.

Cowboys Wary Of Redskins, George Allen

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys always have been particularly wary when they tee it up with a George Allen coached team. Back in the days when Allen was with the Los Angeles Rams, the Cowboys more than once believed they had been spied on from trees, parked cars and other advantageous positions during practice.

Landry was asked about that Wednesday and he answered, "All information is helpful. Any information you might get could confirm what you believe is going to happen." Not that Landry is accusing the Redskins of nefarious schemes. But he did say when asked whether the Cowboys were being particularly careful during practice this week: "We might look around."

National Race Down To Final Contest

By The Associated Press After 161 games of the regular season, the hectic National League's West Division pennant race boils down to one game... or possibly two. The 162-game schedule reaches its climax tonight, with the San Francisco Giants holding a precarious one-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

THIS EVENING Brahmas, RJH To Play Here

The Big Spring Sophomores will visit San Angelo tonight for a 7:30 o'clock game. The resident JVs wait until Saturday to play, at which time they host Abilene High at 2 p.m., in Memorial Stadium. The Sophomores are 1-1-1, having beaten Andrews, 14-7, tied Coahoma's B team, 20-14, and lost to Midland Lee, 20-14. In all three games, they were comfortably ahead at one time.

Permian Skids To Fourth In State Football Poll

By The Associated Press Wichita Falls is on the move in The Associated Press school football poll. The Coyotes cleared a path for themselves last week when they blasted then fifth ranked Abilene Cooper 46-7. That attracted the attention of the 15 sports writers voting in this week's poll, and Wichita Falls jumped from eighth to third in this week's selections in the state.

Lamesa may depart the Lubbock Little League district next year to come this way for post-season competition, according to District 3 administrator Jack Barber. Lamesa fielded a team that cleaned up on the local champion in bi-district play the past summer.

Temple University, which once experienced modest success in collegiate football, is now trying to scale the heights in the sport after years in limbo.

The Philadelphia school has hired ex-Navy mentor Wayne Hardin to boost its program. The Owls play Boston College, West Virginia and Villanova this year, among others.

When they presented BU Henderson with an automobile as a retirement gift at Baylor University in Waco not long ago, he paused to reflect:

"When Morley Jennings left Baylor I wasn't interested in the football coaching job. One reason, I don't believe a football coach has ever retired here."

Henderson had a long and honorable career as the Bear basketball mentor. Perhaps his most celebrated player was Jackie Robinson, who went on to play in the Olympic Games. Jackie is now a man of the cloth in Georgia.

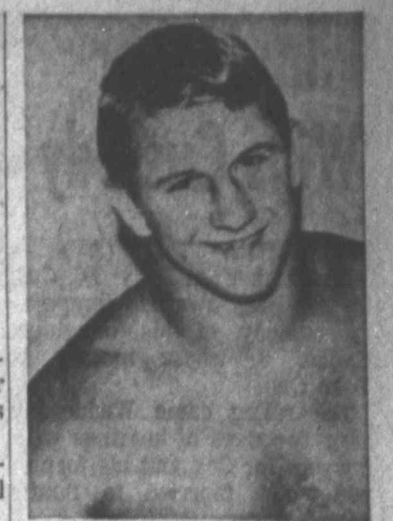

When Lee Trevino was preparing to hit his third shot on the 13th hole Saturday during the recent World Series of Golf at Akron, a member of the TV crew rushed up and told him he'd have to cool his heels.

"Why?" asked Super Mex. "Everybody else has hit." "I know," the TV man said, "but you're on television now and we have to take a break right here."

Trevino waited. When he was finally permitted to resume play, he almost shanked his shot and was never a contender for the $50,000 first prize, although he was only one stroke behind the eventual winner, Charles Coody, through 12 holes.

There's no doubt about TV dictating the tempo of play in pro golf, and most other professional sports. The players follow orders because the money is good.

Lamentably, a lot of newspapermen who feel shut out in the high-pressure game continue to give the pros maximum exposure. They don't use the one weapon available to them to seek equal attention and respect — that of either drastically reducing the coverage of such events or cutting it out altogether.

BREAD

Harvest's Unsung Hero

Bread. Always on the table, or near at hand. If not, off to the supermarket, mini-market or even the gas station for more. Bread is so basic that it's often an unhonored, unsung food we take for granted.

But bread will have its own day on October 5, the "Day of Bread," part of National Harvest Festival Week, Oct. 3-9. On that day, President Nixon, governors and mayors across the nation have proclaimed the "Day of Bread" because, "since time immemorial bread has symbolized all food, as well as man's dependence upon the soil, the rain, the sun, the seasons, the science of agriculture, and the benign forces of Nature." Bread serves as the ageless symbol.

Wheat is the world's most widely cultivated food plant and is eaten in varied forms — mostly bread — by more than one billion human beings. Perhaps Americans accept their daily bread without concern because in this country the sciences of agriculture, milling and baking are highly developed. The homemaker's only effort is selecting a brand of bread from her well-stocked supermarket shelves.

But wheat and wheat flour products also seem to be the answer to the hunger common in today's 77 underdeveloped nations. Wheat is wide spread throughout the world and enters into international trade more than any other food. Technological progress, bulk manufacture and the synthesis of vitamins and other nutrients make enriched wheat flour and breadstuffs lie within the reach of all.

Lewis P. MacAdams, chairman of the National "Day of Bread" Committee said, "The introduction of fortified wheat products has gained wide acceptance on the world export market and enriched white breadstuffs are popularly accepted here at home."

So when you sit down to dinner or lunch on October 5, pay your own special homage to the harvest, by serving bread — whether it be that age-old favorite sandwich or toast slathered in apple butter, or hot yeast rolls or an old-fashioned Bread Pudding Pie.

BREAD PUDDING PIE

- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/2 cup coarse, chopped walnuts or pecans
- 1 egg
- 3 eggs, separated
- 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1-1/2 cups milk
- 5 cups 1/2-inch cubes enriched raisin-cinnamon bread
- 1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar

Melt butter in skillet. Add nuts; cook and stir until golden. Beat egg, egg yolks, 1/2 cup brown sugar, vanilla and salt. Blend in milk. Stir in bread cubes, nuts and butter from skillet. Turn into buttered 9-inch pie plate. Bake in preheated 350 degree F. oven 20 min. Beat egg whites to soft peaks; gradually add 1/4 cup brown sugar and beat until stiff. Spread meringue over pudding. Return to oven for 5 to 8 minutes, or until lightly browned.

TUNA TOMATO LUNCH

- 2 medium tomatoes (about 14 ounces)
  - 2 cans (6 1/2 ounces each) tuna, drained
  - 1/4 cup sweet pickle relish
  - 1/2 cup chopped celery
  - 2 tablespoons low-calorie Italian dressing
  - 2 teaspoons lemon juice
  - 2 teaspoons freeze-dried chopped chives
- Halve tomatoes; cut into sections, leaving intact at center. Mix together remaining ingredients and mound on tomato. For lunch box, wrap each serving in saran wrap.
Approximately 215 calories per serving. Makes four servings.

Golden delicious apples are delightful to eat "as is," but we've discovered that they are also utterly delectable when cooked.

As a matter of fact we feel that the virtues of this apple when cooked have been underplayed. For as long as they are not overpowered with spices or other flavorings, cooking seems to bring out their delicate and elusive flavor. Here are several ways we enjoy preparing them that may appeal to you.

For applesauce — the sort that is mashed with a fork and has interesting texture. The only ingredients we add to the apples are water, sugar, salt and lots of grated lemon rind.

For "coddled" apples — for this dish we use a sugar syrup (half as much sugar as water) and poach the apples (pared and cut into thick wedges) in the syrup. As the apples cool, we stir in a little vanilla. We like to serve these coddled apples with custard sauce.

For baking — with orange juice and sugar. We like to serve these with whipped cream and slivered candied ginger.

Served fresh, golden delicious apples may be teamed with other fruits and cheese for a lovely dessert tray. Here's a recipe suggestion:

- GOLDEN DESSERT TRAY
Golden Delicious apples
Plummed prunes
Pineapple chunks or tidbits
Round unpeeled orange slices, halved
Plummed dried figs
Molded cheese-spread
Mint or other green leaves
Wash and dry apples; do not peel; slice into 1/4-inch thick rounds; use a star-shape canape cutter to remove the center from each apple slice.
Press each prune into a bowl shape with your thumb and stand a pineapple chunk or tidbit (depending on size of prunes); into each.

Arrange the apples, pineapple stuffed prunes, orange slices, figs and molded cheese-spread on a serving platter, garnishing with pretty green leaves.

It's not an egg, but nevertheless we call the large purple vegetable an eggplant. The reason — the first eggplants in Europe were the small-fruited kinds, resembling an egg, thus accounting for the name. This attractive vegetable is in good supply at your market now. For a satisfying main dish how about Stuffed Eggplant? It's marvelous, and it uses thrifty ground beef. The eggplant pulp, which you remove from the shell, and the sauteed meat are seasoned with zesty fresh vegetables. Then the filling is placed in the satiny purple eggplant shell, topped with buttery crumbs and Parmesan cheese, and baked. Bring out a loaf of Italian bread. Serve some fresh fruit for dessert, and there's dinner, simple but so special.

- STUFFED EGGPLANT
1 large (1 3/4 to 2 lbs.) eggplant
1 clove garlic, cut in half
2/3 cup chopped fresh onion
1 tbsp. olive or salad oil
1 lb. ground lean beef
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
3 tbsps. chopped fresh parsley
1 1/2 tbsps. salt
1/2 tsp. dried leaf oregano
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tbsps. butter or margarine, melted

Wash eggplant and parboil 10 minutes in boiling water to cover. Remove from water and cut a lengthwise slice from the top. Scrape out pulp to within

1/2 inch from the skin and from the slice removed from top. Chop finely. Saute garlic and onion in olive oil in large skillet. Remove garlic. Add ground beef and cook until it is no longer pink. Add eggplant pulp, green pepper and parsley; cook 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add seasonings. Sprinkle additional salt and black pepper inside the eggplant shell and fill with meat mixture. Mix bread crumbs with cheese and melted butter. Sprinkle over the top. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven 30 minutes or until crumbs are browned. Makes six servings.

Even though the corn-roasters of America have had to push their barbecue grills to the back of the garage, they needn't be deprived of their favorite vegetable until next summer. Corn is not only available in the winter, it's just as easy as can be to roast sweet corn in the family oven, especially when you've got an oven dinner going. Whether stripped and foil-wrapped, or in its own husk, it takes between 25 and 30 minutes in a moderate oven to steam it through.

There's no doubt about the all-American popularity of fresh sweet corn. It takes a $14 million crop on 40,000 acres of Florida black land to supply our winter and early spring demand for sweet corn. While California, Texas and Arizona supply considerable corn, too, the Florida Everglades lead in the production of corn-on-the-cob in this period.

CORN BUTTERS

To 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) melted butter or margarine, add any of these combinations of spices:
1/2 tsp. ground basil leaves and 1-16 tsp. garlic powder
1/4 tsp. celery salt and 1/4 tsp.

- garlic powder
- 1/4 tsp. ground thyme leaves and 1/4 tsp. onion powder
- 1/2 tsp. powdered dry mustard and 1/4 tsp. ground ginger
- 1/4 tsp. ground dill seed and 1/4 tsp. ground ginger
- 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
- 1/2 tsp. chili powder and 1/4 tsp. ground basil leaves

We eat more oranges than any other fruit, and today they're our best fruit buy. Florida has the biggest crop in its history, and prices are lower than ever.

Sweet Valencia oranges, in the market now, are plump, juicy and practically seedless, which makes them ideal for this Orange Florida dessert. A variation of Baked Alaska, the recipe calls for frosting instead of the usual meringue. Halved oranges are topped with ice cream, covered with orange-flavored frosting, and browned quickly in a hot oven.

ORANGE FLORIDA

- 3 oranges
  - 1 pkg. (6 1/2-oz.) white seven-minute frosting mix
  - Orange juice
  - 1 tbsp. grated orange rind
  - 1/2 pint vanilla ice cream
- Cut oranges in half. Cut around each section, loosening fruit from membrane. Chill. When ready to serve, preheat oven to 500 degrees. Prepare seven-minute frosting mix according to package directions, substituting orange juice for liquid called for. Add grated orange rind. Remove orange halves from refrigerator and place a spoonful of ice cream in the center of each half. Cover with frosting. Place in preheated oven until lightly browned, about 1 minute.
Yield: Six servings.

DISCREETLY VIRILE Men: 'Put It All On' For Rugged Appeal

By ANN HENCKEN AP Fashion Editor NEW YORK (AP) — Some of this year's men's fashions look as though they belong on a vitamin freak, a health nut, a weight lifter or a hearty back-slapping man who just dashed in from a romp in the country, his cheeks ablaze with color.

His jackets still hug the waist. Some are tucked and belted in back. As French designer Pierre Cardin said Monday, the big look is the "second skin" idea with soft fabrics like jerseys in men's wear.

This theme turned up Monday in the first ready-to-wear collection from New York custom tailor Dimitri of Italy. He showed a selection of neatly tailored levi and safari suits for men and women, in fabrics from white linen to grey flannel.

The sporting look turned up at the Alexanders department store fall men's show, with fall styles adapted from European designs. The big bold blanket plaid jackets and shearing coats belong on a man fresh from a football game.

National Flower Show Judge Is Guest Speaker For Gardeners

R. L. Grubb of Odessa, a national flower show judge, said, "Colorful rewards are reaped in the fall if flowers are planted in the springtime," when he was guest speaker for the Rosebud Garden Club Tuesday at the Holiday Inn.

Some chrysanthemum types that grow well in this part of the country are Grape, which reaches a height of six feet; Fan Fare, a bronze, low-growing mum that should be planted at the front of a flower bed; Genghis Khan, a bronze mum; Eclipse, a white mum; and Spider mums which are "classics of perfection," according to Grubb.

When mums are planted in the spring, Grubb said they should be covered during the day with clay pots balanced on plastic markers to allow air to reach them.

Consumer's Question-Box

By MARGARET DANA

Q. Is it true that it costs more to turn a light on and off than to let a 100-watt bulb burn for an hour? In these days of high living costs many of us would appreciate knowing the correct answer.

A. A few weeks ago I reported in a column what the power companies say is the "right answer" to your question. It is, simply: No, it is not true that it is cheaper to let a bulb burn for an hour instead of turning it out. In fact, electric power companies are urging us to save electricity by turning off lights, turning off appliances, reducing thermostat settings, because power needs for the country are growing enormously. Either we must build many more power plants with their pollution problems, or we must carefully conserve the power we have and use it intelligently.

formation Distribution Center, Washington, D.C. 20407.

Q. I am a regular reader of your column and I hope you can answer my question. Which retains the most vitamins from the fresh fruits and vegetables — canned or frozen types? Also are there leaflets telling how to freeze meats and vegetables at home?

A. In answer to your first question, the Consumer and Research Division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture says when good commercial canning methods are used there is relatively little loss of nutritive value in foods. The heat-sensitive vitamins, especially vitamin C and thiamine will lose some degree, but not a significant amount. Freezing vegetables and fruits will cause very little loss, except a small amount when the blanching process is used. This, too, affects the heat-sensitive vitamins somewhat. But apparently most experts feel if the product was good to start, and the method correctly used, neither frozen nor canned foods lose much nutritive value.

and Drug Administration requires this ingredient to be listed on food labels. It should be understood, however, that cholesterol is a basic factor in the human body, and is necessary for health. It is too much cholesterol which, some medical authorities feel, contributes to circulation problems.

Q. I would like to know if there is any rule that says FHA must let a prospective home buyer know what the appraised value of the house is before the sale becomes final? Our agent says FHA doesn't have to.

A. On April 1, 1970, a new ruling was announced which requires that prospective buyers of a new or existing home insured by FHA must be told of the FHA appraised value before they apply for a loan. Up to that time the seller did not have to inform the buyer of the FHA appraised value until the settlement meeting when the sale became final. This created some bad situations, since the buyer needs to know the FHA value before trying to get the necessary loan.

(Margaret Dana welcomes opinions and questions on buying and will use them in her columns as rapidly as research and space permit. Personal answers are impossible due to large volume of mail from readers, address Margaret Dana in care of the Big Spring Herald, Big Spring, Texas.)

Q. I would like to know if there is any special type of product I can buy for cleaning very soiled upholstery. It is made of olefin fiber but after a year's use by four active children it is generally dirty and dingy all over — not just spotted. Can I remove zippered cushion covers?

A. The first point is not to let the upholstery get very soiled before cleaning it. The longer the dirt stays on and the heavier the accumulation the more work to get it off. Since olefin is not an absorbent fiber, the dirt will stay on the surface, however.

An all-over shampoo with any of the upholstery cleaners in the stores will clean it, but rinsing is important. It is advisable to have professional upholstery cleaners come in and scrub it at least once a year. Do not remove the zippered covers, advise experts.

Q. A short while ago a friend of mine said she read an article concerning substitute whipped toppings, stating these usually contained coconut oil which could cause cholesterol in the body. Could you tell us if this is true, since I use these toppings in place of cream.

'Mamie' Is Tearful At Party

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former first lady Mamie Eisenhower was showered with praise and gifts at a nostalgic diamond-jubilee dinner party with President Nixon playing "Happy Birthday" at the piano.

Calling it a "wonderful occasion," wiping away some joyful tears, she told the gathering of some 800 friends and officials of Nixon and Eisenhower administrations:

"I don't mind being 75 when you all come to see me like this."

President and Mrs. Nixon, just back from a 5,000-mile trip to Alaska, arrived in the midst of the after-dinner entertainment and stayed 90 minutes to salute Mrs. Eisenhower.

The Monday night dinner cost $100 a plate to launch a Mamie Doud Eisenhower Scholarship Fund for Eisenhower College in Seneca Falls, N.Y. The college is named for the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

On stage, alongside a huge pink-and-red birthday cake aglow with candles, Nixon hailed Mrs. Eisenhower as a "great lady," and praised her strength in standing by her husband in difficult times.

"She was strong; she gave him strength," the President said.

The former first lady wore a gown in her favorite shades of pink chiffon, a diamond wrist watch and bracelet that was Ike's gift on their 25th wedding anniversary, and a diamond necklace and earrings she said came from a friend.

With Ray Bolger as master of ceremonies, the guests, including the Nixons and their daughter, Julie Eisenhower, joined in singing "Once in Love with Mamie—Always in Love with Mamie."

Ethel Merman belted out some of the honoree's favorite show tunes. Lawrence Welk, who performed at Eisenhower's 1957 inaugural, led the Marine band in "The Yellow Rose of Texas" and called up some ladies, including Martha Mitchell, to dance with him on stage.

After performing at the dinner, the 80-member West Point Glee Club gave Mrs. Eisenhower a music box that plays their traditional song, "Army Blue." When he delivered First Classman Glen Harper of Lake Charles, La., got a kiss from Mamie. When the music box didn't work at a first tryout, Nixon joked: "Where's Nader? It doesn't play."

Amid the tributes, Mrs. Eisenhower was named "military wife of the century," and the occasion even moved her to hold a rare press conference. She had only one in her eight years in the White House.

She explained she is keeping busy carrying on some of Eisenhower's projects, and offered her formula for a happy marriage: "It takes a lot of understanding and the willingness to adjust."

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Seems like my daily coffee break always ended with the coffee cold and forgotten. This was because nearly every time I sat down for a few minutes, I saw a window or mirror that needed cleaning, a spot of dust I missed, a stray shirt or shoe, etc., and I was up to take care of it. Got lost of "missed" things done — but I'm one who likes a hot cup of coffee.

Finally a solution entered my slow brain. Now when break-time comes, I reach for the phone and call a friend I haven't seen or talked to for a week or so. This helps relax me and also keeps me in touch with others. Gives them a "break" too. After my chat and coffee, I'm ready to tackle those little but tedious jobs.

I try to limit my break to 20 minutes — 10 on the phone, and 10 to just relax. It works well for me and I'm more eager to get going again. It's surprising how fast my work gets done, too! ... Mrs. R.T.

Dear Heloise:
Those curly gold scouring balls have a lot of decorative uses — stretched out as a hair band; as a wig on a plastic foam doll; as a bracelet to delight small fry. ... Carol Corrigan

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
Dear Heloise:
Hi! I have a tip for you. Last Tuesday I spilled a pot of coffee on my living room rug. The stain was horrid.

I cut that portion out of the rug, cut a hole in the floor and put in a cement fish pond. Now we have fresh fish whenever we like!

We're so happy, Heloise. Keep up the good work! ... Mrs. H. A. Vortle

Dear Heloise:
I save the rigid plastic covers which come on cookies, other groceries, and toys. Be careful not to crack them when you remove the outer cover. Then pour gelatin or other moldable foods into these containers. You'd be surprised how many unique salads can be made this way. My children are so thrilled to have a train made of gelatin! ... Ruth Hope Lessley

This is a really great idea! Bless you with all my heart ... Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I struggled for years trying to get my angel food cake pan to balance on an inverted funnel or a bottle. Then I came up with the idea of using snap-on clothes pins on the three wings of the pan. They make excellent legs. No more tip-overs! ... Marie R. Simms

Dear Heloise:
Spotting my husband's greasy, oily work clothes used to waste a lot of my time. So I took an inexpensive paint brush and now I mix, my solution and brush his clothes. Saves time and money. I use half the amount of solution now. ... Mrs. Carol Gordon

Dear Heloise:
Having enjoyed your hints for years, Heloise, I'm sending you a new one. The pleated paper bake cups for cup cakes can be pressed in candle sticks before putting in the candle. They make an elegant frill and catch the grease, too. Two frills are even prettier, especially with different colors. ... Ann Hinde

Dear Heloise:
Here's a hint about baby food jars. If you have any, or know someone who does, ask her to save some of these jars for you (keeping a few for herself!). These sure come in handy when a neighbor wants to borrow some coffee, tea, etc. Believe me, this sure saves your plastic refrigerator containers and small dishes which sometimes don't find their way home. ... Bunny

Dear Heloise:
Having enjoyed your hints so much, I want to share my inexpensive idea with you. Since I work, I have several wiglets, wigs and falls. Buying the molded heads for each of them can be expensive. I take clean 3-pound coffee cans that have plastic lids. Inside, I put the large bobby pins, clips and decorations that go with each. Put on the plastic lid, then pin the piece or wig through the lid. A plastic bag loosely covers the whole thing and it sits nicely on the closet shelf. It does not tip over and can also be much easier to handle if styling is done at all before wearing. ... Martha W.
