

PROSECUTION, DEFENSE PRESENTING FINAL ARGUMENTS

Murder Trial On Last Leg; Deliberations Due Soon

By LINDA CROSS
MIDLAND — The jurors in the 142nd District Court trial of Orville B. Davis were ordered sequestered this morning as they were dismissed for lunch following final argument by the prosecution.
They were expected to begin deliberations about mid-afternoon.
Judge R. W. Caton, 118th District, presiding in the trial of Davis, charged in the slaying of Glasscock County rancher, Steve Currie, recessed the court shortly before noon. The court was to reconvene at 1 p.m. for the closing arguments by defense attorney Vern Martin. Wayne Burns, 118th District attorney, closed his final argument, in which he asked for the death penalty, by saying the jurors "must agree that the defendant entered into a common agreement to commit a robbery," and that the murder of Currie was a natural and probable consequence of the robbery.

"If you believe this you will return a verdict of guilty," Burns said.
He said it is not necessary to consider who fired the fatal shot (testimony of Judy Dunham was to the effect that Whitmer Jean Ballard was the only one who went into the Currie home), but only that Davis was a participant in the crime and in the vicinity of where the crime was committed.

Burns' presentation to the jury lasted an hour and 10 minutes during which time he went over individual testimony of principal witnesses in the case.
Martin announced Thursday that he was resting his case without presenting any witnesses in Davis' behalf after Judge Caton overruled Martin's motions for a mistrial and for a directive verdict of innocence. Martin based his motion for mistrial on a story that appeared in the Midland Reporter-Telegram Wednesday which detailed Martin's objection Wednesday when 118th District Attorney Wayne Burns approached Mrs. Dunham and conferred with her while she was on the stand awaiting further questioning from Martin. Burns told the court that he was instructing Mrs. Dunham not to refer to the previous convictions of any of the defendants in the case.

"We had agreed on that before the trial started," said Martin. "The witness should have been instructed not to mention prior convictions before coming into court. I felt that for the record I had to try for a mistrial on that basis, but I did not really expect the judge to grant it."

Following Martin's abrupt closure of his case, Judge Caton instructed the jury to return at 10 a.m. today and repeated his instructions that they were to avoid all newspaper, radio and television accounts of the trial.
Special prosecutor Gil Jones said he was not surprised by the brevity of the presentation of testimony in the case, but he did express surprise at Martin's not having Davis speak in his own behalf.

"I was somewhat surprised the defendant did not take the stand to minimize his part in this. I think the evidence was so conclusive that he had nothing to lose by appealing to the jury for sympathy," said Jones.
When Jones announced the prosecution was resting its case immediately after Mrs. Steve Currie, the rancher's widow, had finished her testimony, Martin asked for time to decide his defense saying that he had expected the prosecution to present more witnesses than it had.

"We presented every witness we ever intended to in this case," said Jones.
Jones added that although the trial portion of this case was brief and the jury's deliberations are not expected to be overly lengthy, the trial of Whitmer Jean Ballard, 45, also charged with murder with malice in connection with Currie's death and much mentioned in this trial to take considerably longer.

Thursday Drizzle Fizzles On Thunderbirds' Arrival

By JEAN FANNIN
"Our narrator comes in about two hours ahead of us to straighten out things like the weather," said Maj. Bill Elander, material officer, following the dramatic arrival at Webb AFB Thursday afternoon of the U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds.
He did just that so far as the weather was concerned.
Spectators, mostly military personnel and members of the press, braved a slight drizzle to be on hand for the 15-minute min-show with which the Thunderbirds always make an appearance at a base. The drizzle slowed and finally stopped just as the sleek F-4 phantoms entered the loops and rolls of the precision flying which has made them famous.
Breath-taking solo performances by Capt. Steve Dwelle had the Webb instructor pilots and student pilots gasping "you couldn't get me up there" in one breath and in the next minute wondering aloud where to get application blanks.
Included in Capt. Dwelle's bag of maneuvers is flying upside down about 20 feet from the ground, and rolling the aircraft over and over while flying about 20 feet from the ground.
Following their performance, Maj. Elander and Capt. Joe Howard, both graduates of pilot training at Webb AFB, gave a brief news conference.
Capt. Howard, who has been back to Webb twice since his graduation in 1963 ("Webb is a handy refueling station"), said he wasn't sure he felt much different now than in the days when he "was standing on the ramp wishing I could fly one of those red, white and blue planes — just surprised, I guess."
The planes they fly are only slightly modified combat planes, "with most of the modification in the paint jobs of red, white and blue.

The Thunderbirds arrived at Webb from Whiteman AFB, Knob Noster, Mo., and today are to continue on to Randolph AFB.
"We are putting on either an arrival show or a complete show almost every day, sometimes a combination of both every day," Capt. Howard said.
Five pilots are generally the Thunderbird team seen by the public, but the actual crew it takes to keep them flying is far larger.
On the Thunderbird team are 84 enlisted men and nine officers. Of the officers seven are pilots, and of the pilots five are in the demonstration team — the others are the material officer and the narrator, both of which have their own red, white and blue Thunderbird planes. An eighth Thunderbird plane is kept at the home base in Nevada.

Led by Lt. Col. Tom Swalm, the Thunderbirds were to perform an air show at 1:30 p.m. today at Webb for high school students visiting the base for "Career Day 1971." Following the performance, Thunderbirds were available to sign autographs and talk with the students.
Prior to the take-off, the F-4 jets and their pilots were to be officially greeted and inspected. The inspection party was to include Brig. Gen. Geoffrey P. Wiedeman, Air Training Command Surgeon General; Col. Malcolm E. Ryan, wing commander; Lt. Col. Sidney Curtis, 3560th USAF Hospital commander; and Dr. John E. Hogan, Big Spring surgeon.

Windy Ginger Moves Inland

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — Tropical Storm Ginger, packing an arsenal of rain and winds of 45 miles an hour, moved inland today causing tidal rivers to flood homes, businesses and streets.
The storm stalled about 100 miles inland after hitting the North Carolina coast Thursday as a hurricane packing 90-mile-an-hour wind gusts and inflicting nearly $1 million in damages.
It was reduced to tropical storm status during the night as it trekked inland leaving in its wake flooding caused by nine inches of rain and tides five feet above normal along a 70-mile stretch of shoreline.
At 9 a.m., the center of the storm was estimated by the U.S. Weather Service to be 60 miles southeast of Raleigh. It was nearly stationary but the weather service said it probably would resume its move slowly to the northwest later today.

Damage on the coast from Washington, N. C., to the beaches near Morehead City was widespread. One death possibly caused by the storm was reported.
A spokesman for the Insurance Information Institute in Atlanta, Ga., estimated damage in the Morehead City-Beaufort area at $900,000. That includes smashed windows, fallen utility lines, fallen trees, overturned mobile homes and other property destruction. Late-night flood damage was not included.

Coast-To-Coast Shipping Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Dock workers from Maine to Texas struck today, confronting the government with the nation's first coast-to-coast shipping strike. Some ports were operating in Texas.

Last-ditch talks to settle a guaranteed income dispute between the 45,000-member AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association and the New York Shipping Association broke up hours after a midnight contract expiration.

ON THE JOB

Longshoremen at Great Lake ports were not affected by the strike and remained on the job. Other ILA locals were pledged to follow New York's lead, but four of Texas' six ports were reported working as usual. Only Beaumont was struck, and Port Arthur had no ships in port.

West Coast ports have been struck since July 1 by the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

"We offered to continue working under the President's wage-price freeze but this was turned down by the shippers, so you can say we're being locked out or on strike," said ILA President Thomas W. Gleason.

President Nixon said earlier this week that he would automatically apply for an 80-day cooling-off period under the Taft-Hartley Act if both East and West Coast ports were shut down.

But a spokesman for Secretary of Labor J. D. Hodgson said today that "there are no plans at this time to go forward with a Taft-Hartley action."

The spokesman said the reason was that chief federal mediator J. Curtis Counts had reported from San Francisco that there had been very considerable progress toward settling the West Coast dock strike and that he was keeping negotiators in session in an effort to conclude an early agreement.

NO REPLY

The spokesman said the Nixon administration did not want to jeopardize chances of a West Coast settlement by imposing a Taft-Hartley injunction.

OPENING CEREMONIES — Gen. Geoffrey Wiedeman cuts the ribbon to the new $3.5 million hospital at Webb AFB today. Looking on are Col. Malcolm Ryan, left, wing commander, and Lt. Col. Sidney Curtis, hospital commander. The facility has been in the works for almost six years.

Everybody's Talking About Health Care, Says General

By STEVE HULTMAN
The $3.5 million Webb AFB Hospital was dedicated today by Brig. Gen. Geoffrey Wiedeman, surgeon, Air Training Command, Randolph Air Force Base.

"Health care is one of the top questions on the American scene," said Gen. Wiedeman during the 15 minute ceremony.
"People in government are talking about health care every day, trying to answer the questions of who public health care should be provided for, where it should be and who will pay for it," said Gen. Wiedeman.
"We started talking about health care in 1947, when the Air Force became a separate service. The initial program was to have health services provided by the other services, and this continued for two years.

"In 1949, the Air Force decided to have its own medical facilities. The Surgeon General told us to pattern the Air Force Medical Service after a community hospital," he said.
"The community type hospital is so effective," said Gen. Wiedeman, "that we are able to put men back into service fast enough to provide the equivalent of two full wings that would not be present if we used other procedures.
"We in the health care services stand ready to provide the best care we can with the equipment we have," said Gen. Wiedeman. "We are happy to be able to open a new hospital because it provides us the latest in equipment to help the health service provide the latest in treatment."

Gen. Wiedeman thanked all the people in the Air Force and the community for the help they had provided in providing the new hospital.

The ribbon was cut by Gen. Wiedeman with the assistance of Col. Malcolm Ryan, wing commander, and Lt. Col. (Dr.) Sidney Curtis, hospital commander.

Visitors were invited to tour the hospital, and special guests were honored at a luncheon. Elsewhere on the base, hundreds of students were exploring the displays set up for "Career Day." Students had the opportunity to see men and women in the Air Force and talk to them about their jobs.

One of the most popular displays was the aircraft simulators, where both girls and

Legal Fight May Erupt Over Bid

By BRIAN PEAY

A possible injunction against the city to restrain placing the city's insurance coverage with the Big Spring Independent Insurance Association was being considered today as a result of a Thursday afternoon commission meeting. (See Page 4.)
"We feel that there are some legal grounds involved in the city commission's action Thursday," said Harold Rosson, representative of the Howard County Insurance Association.
A bid submitted by the Howard County group was grounded when the commission saw fit, on a split vote, to award the bid to the Big Spring group during the special session Thursday.

"I think the commissioners should reconsider. They will have to answer to the citizens on spending an additional $3,500, when the city is $200,000 in the hole," Rosson said this morning.

The Howard County group has retained Wayne Basden, attorney, to present their case to the city manager.

"There are some legal points. The city did not advertise for bids in connection with the insurance renewal, and the commission arbitrarily awarded a bid of much higher cost to the Big Spring group," said Basden. "This is not in the best interest of the citizens of Big Spring."

"Basden will talk with the city manager on the legal points of the situation, and will present our group's standpoint," Rosson continued, "as the last resort, however, we will pursue legal routes to secure an injunction to get the situation solved."

Now Match It

The House Ways and Means Committee gave formal approval this week to $15.4 billion in tax cuts over the next three years.

This package includes basically what President Nixon asked in tax incentives for business investment. The committee jumped his suggested increase of the basic personal income tax exemption to $650 by making it $675 instead, and to raise the nontaxable income floor from the present $1,000 up to $1,300. It is estimated that the measure would save taxpayers $1.67 billion this year, $7.79 billion next year and $5.95 billion in 1973.

All of this, of course, is good news to the poor taxpayers.

Provided — provided somehow that spending also may be reduced. At this particular moment some economists regard this as ticklish business because sharp cuts in federal spending might exercise a braking effect on the spitting economy.

Yet, we submit that with a deficit, which most observers feel may far exceed official estimates and rocket as high as $27 billion, there needs to be marked fiscal restraint. The least that could be done would be to see to it that the tax relief is at least matched by that much less spending.

The tax relief granted, particularly as to individuals, hardly represents what the taxpayer has lost through inflation. It might become a positive gain if inflation were cooled through less and less deficit spending.

Right Conclusion

State Rep. Price Daniel Jr. has called on all Texans, regardless of political philosophy or party affiliation, to join in an united effort to bring about reform in the Texas House of Representatives.

By this he meant changes in procedures and rules which would end the concentration of excessive power in the hands of the speaker — and his top lieutenants.

Rep. Daniel is a member of what has been tagged as the Dirty 30, but regardless of how one may feel about this minority group, or the majority group, Rep. Daniel is correct in declaring that the present system has enabled a few well-placed representatives, usually working with influential friends, to control the fact of legislation and spending of state funds.

The license name conference committees, in the waning days of a session, with power to completely bills (particularly those dealing with appropriations) makes a mockery of all the legislative process that has gone before it. Rep. Daniel is right — reform is needed urgently.

The Mover

Around The Rim

All I wanted to do was add a touch of grace, better known as a carpet, to my bedroom. A local department store kindly had a sale on area carpets, and I thought all was well.

ALL WAS WELL until it came time to put the thing on the floor. While encased in plastic, the carpet didn't seem ominous, but once unleashed, it proved to be a holy terror.

I had wisely waited until my parents were visiting me on vacation before tackling the shaggy brute. My father is still muttering something about working harder on vacation than he did to earn it.

TO GET THE rug down, we had to push, tug and -ugh-lift all the bedroom furniture we could out of the room. This still left a massive bed to be contended with. It seems that carpets have a tendency to buckle — just when you think you've got them smooth. Having to lift the bed one end at a time to scotch the carpet under did nothing really for the rug or my dad's back and temper.

Somehow, my dad and I prevailed, with encouraging words from my mother, who wisely kept to the kitchen. Finally the rug was down, except for a few creases which my father said would have to work things out for themselves.

I THEN had a bright idea that my bedroom looked better with half the furniture out of it. While my father had groaning visions of carting a chair and end table downstairs, for naturally, I have a second floor apartment, I called my landlady to learn that she had no place to store extra furniture.

Since the furniture did not look like it was designed to sit in the middle of the kitchen, I had to do something with it. My mother had the bright idea of putting it all to the back of a semi-empty walk-in closet I have. Once she comes out of the kitchen, she really comes out with ideas.

BUT NATURALLY it wasn't going to be simple. My father knew this instinctively. The chair has odd shaped armrests which were reluctant to go through a more normally shaped closet door.

After turning the thing this way and that and a few encouraging words (addressed to the chair, I think, I hope) this time from my father, we got the chair in, and the table stored neatly on top of it.

AFTER MOVING day was over, my parents and I had a good visit, but my father thinks training in furniture moving would be advisable for anyone thinking of fatherhood. You just never know when it could come in handy.

With Unclean Hands

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — This poor capital is subjected to all kinds of happenings. One of the more singular of these took place the other night when some 900 persons, most of them government employees, threw a testimonial dinner honoring that famous second-story man, Daniel Ellsberg.

ELLSBERG, who made the top-secret Pentagon Papers public to assorted ornaments of the media, was lauded for his high moral principles in deciding it was okay for a former government official in a role of delicate trust to, as it were, kiss and tell. "We believe people should do this kind of thing," said a girl named Susan Stauss, who works (naturally?) for the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

There was also — of course — the ubiquitous Federal Communications Commissioner, Nick Johnson, who sometimes seems to be running for gauleiter of a nice, anarchic American politburo. Johnson urged his listeners to make their own "moral decisions," as Ellsberg had done in regard to publication of classified material. And, presumably, the back of your hand to the laws of the land.

THERE WAS Sen. Mike Gravel (D-Alaska) who read portions of the still classified Pentagon documents, between paroxysms of sobbing, to an open Senate committee meeting. Gravel sent a telegram saying Ellsberg's actions "have been in the highest tradition of American patriotism."

Well now Johnson, Gravel and the rest of that bunch were well within their rights in delivering themselves of such utterances. It is still a free country, especially for lawbreakers. But it may not be outrageously immaterial to suggest that they were jumping the gun.

THE JUDICIAL process has not yet determined whether Ellsberg is a hero or a common cat burglar with overtones of subversion. He has been indicted on charges of unlawful possession of the Pentagon study and of converting that study to his own personal use by giving it to the media. A hearing on charges will not be held until Jan. 1.

Morally, Ellsberg may be the Republic's purest citizen, eligible to have a street named after him in Dubuque. But I hesitate to submit a resolution to this effect until the courts rule on his case.

ELLSBERG made at least one statement at this curious meeting that is at least premature and, on the record so far, probably inaccurate. "The Pentagon Papers do show that this (the conflict in Vietnam) is a criminal war," he told his worshippers.

Not quite, God knows there were some peculiar judgments made by the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, but there is not a syllable in the documents that even implies criminality by our quondam rulers. Lyndon Johnson may have believed the war was a good idea, but nothing in the record suggests he was guilty of anything worse than bad judgment — if that.

Moreover, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, has pointed out that even the introduction to the papers admits the study presents a false image of the events it purports to reveal. In a Sept. 17 statement generally ignored, notably by The New York Times and Washington Post, Mrs. Smith notes that the foreword "even seems to question its own validity." She calls the introduction "a series of apologies" for not having performed its mission, and says these apologies "call attention to enough shortcomings of the project as to cast doubt on its value." She quotes its authors as admitting, "Of course we all had our prejudices and axes to grind and these shine through clearly at times . . . This approach to research was bound to lead to distortions, and distortions are sure to abound in these studies."

A HIGH, HARD ONE!

Don't Expect To Get Rich

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — This is October, and those stock market traders whose choices are influenced by seasonal patterns don't expect to get rich. They know that during this month there aren't many wild bulls in Wall Street barns.

Based on average month to month changes in stock prices, this month is one of the worst on the calendar, matched by February and exceeded only by June, which in the period 1949-1969 showed a net loss in values.

October is considered a time for portfolio tax selling. It is the time when many households strap themselves with new car purchases. And it has a reputation for being a month of tight money.

And this year, it is the month before Phase 2 of the new economic plan, which means that most big traders are waiting for news. Should that news be considered favorable, it could mean a departure from the trend.

The contrary opinion about October should also be considered. It warns that while hunting for bear you could miss the charge of the bull. If he is lethargic, it says, mount him now for the charge into November and December.

The two final months of the year have traditionally been months of big advances. Portfolios are being rebuilt and the big pension funds are making heavy once-a-year commitments. October prices therefore may be bargains.

Seasonal traders also will be watching the charts in "The Stock Trader's Almanac" which show that automobile stocks tend to be strongest in the summer and fall, and weakest in the winter and spring. And they can hardly miss noting that in October there is a decided tendency for the prices of airlines, cameras, soft drinks and television set makers to bottom out and begin making gains that accelerate in November.

Seasonal patterns and cycles do exist, and nowhere else are they more observable than in the stock market, where thousands of traders and advisers sit hunched over charts of every conceivable sort.

A study by Merrill Lynch of a 10-year period beginning in 1954 showed that $10,000 invested in air conditioning stocks would have grown to $16,940, excluding commissions and taxes.

"However," reports the Trader's Almanac, "a strategy of selling your air condition stocks every March and reinvesting the entire proceeds each following October . . . would have run your original $10,000 up to $44,720!"

Masculine Double Talk

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — There is no doubt that the American woman is expert at double talk—that is, the saying of one thing while thinking another.

But the American male is certainly no slouch at this popular conversational sport either. When it comes to verbal hypocrisy, there isn't really much difference between man and woman.

Here, for instance, are a few common examples of masculine double talk. In each case what the male said is in quotes. It is followed by what he was actually thinking at the time.

"Hi there, sweet stuff!"—She makes every night seem like Halloween.

"Of course, most of the company's drop in net income is simply due to extraordinary and nonrecurring expenses."—We made so many boobos we lost our shirt.

"I remember clearly telling you this morning that I wouldn't be able to make the 6:14 train and would have to take a later one."—If a couple of the boys hadn't stayed with me, I wouldn't even have been poured on the 8:39 train.

"No, thanks, Dad, I don't think I'll be needing the car tonight."—I burned out the brakes last night, and don't want to drive it until you get them fixed.

"We draw your attention to the fact that your account remains unpaid now for the third straight month. Undoubtedly it is due to an oversight. However, we—" It's about time we used this bum.

"Why don't we just sit in the park and watch the full moon, Maribel?"—I couldn't talk Mom out of enough money to take you to a movie.

"The reason I haven't grown a beard, Irma, is that it would make my face itch too much."—Gee, I wish I was old enough to really grow a beard.

"I know we need a new house, honey, but not just any old house. It has to be a house that's perfect for us in every way. Just keep on looking."—This year I couldn't afford to make the down payment on a new doghouse.

"Why don't I stretch out on the sofa and you recite poetry to me in the dark, like you used to when I was courting you."—Anything to cut down on the electric light bill.

"It's not so much that I need a merit raise, boss—it's that I feel I deserve one."—I need it.

"When you told me that you had a surprise for dinner, dear, I had no idea it would turn out to be shish kebab a la king on grated eggplant. I haven't tasted anything quite like it in my life before."—Neither has our dog, I bet.

"For better or worse, for richer or poorer, in sickness and in health, until death us do part."—What am I promising this dame? I ought to have my head examined.

Yes, when it comes to double talk, men take a back seat to nobody.

Exaggerated Issue

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The constitutional rights subcommittee of the Senate has just opened a series of hearings "to examine the state of freedom of the press in America," particularly those areas in which this allegedly has been diminished or challenged by the government in recent years. It is a good opportunity for the country to learn that the significance of the controversy has been exaggerated.

THE GOVERNMENT'S effort to obtain court injunctions to prevent newspapers from publishing articles based on the "Pentagon Papers," for example, need not have been necessary if there had been cooperation between the newspapers which got possession of the documents and the government. The basis on which the administration objected to the publication of the data in the "Pentagon Papers" was that there were certain messages to and from ambassadors which could have been omitted or paraphrased, thus avoiding any chance of outsiders obtaining American codes.

The courts have yet to settle exactly what power of injunction may be applied to prevent publication of classified documents stolen from the government and unlawfully given to the press.

AS THE SENATE hearings began this week, it was stated that there have arisen "new fears about government control and regulation of the broadcast media." Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, said he believes it is the President's view that "the free press in this society should be able to operate with sources that have not been made public."

Mr. Ziegler was asked whether Vice President Agnew was justified in assailing the reporting by the "liberal press" of the Attica riots and whether he was perhaps reflecting the administration's position. Mr. Ziegler replied:

"THE VICE PRESIDENT has every right to express himself. In the last two years people have been suggesting the administration has an intent to intimidate the press. That is not our intent. We respect the free press. But just as government should be criticized and should be self-critical, criticism of the press in itself does not suggest intimidation.

"In my personal view there has been too much sensitivity by the press. I don't think we have shown anything but respect for the press."

LOOKING BACK through the history of the debate about freedom of the press, Congress itself assumed considerable authority over important news media — namely, radio and television — when the Federal Communications Commission was established and was given the right to issue licenses for channels.

If a member of the administration criticizes television nowadays, the cry goes up that he is trying to impose some form of censorship or control through the Federal Communications Commission. When Vice President Agnew, for instance, voiced a criticism of certain broadcasts made immediately after President Nixon had spoken on television, it was charged that the administration was attempting to intimidate the television media and was threatening to influence the FCC to withhold licenses when they came up for renewal.

AGAIN, WHEN the Department of Justice sought an injunction against the publication of the "Pentagon Papers," the administration was widely accused of interfering with "freedom of the press."

But the real issue in connection with the "Pentagon Papers" was the theft of classified documents and their publication without giving the government a chance to delete certain portions which were in code or involved confidential relations with other governments. The same information could have been set forth without publishing the texts in Verbatim form.

During World War I and World War II, a voluntary censorship system was in existence. Newspapers were not compelled to follow the guidance given them by a board in Washington, but they generally did.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I have tried to forget my past sins but I can't seem to get them out of my mind. How can I do this, so that I can serve God better than I do?

A Greek philosopher has said: "Teach me the art of forgetting; for I often remember what I would not, and cannot forget what I would."

Sin has a way of making an indelible mark upon our minds and memories. It is tragic that so many today "make a mock of sin," little realizing the deep psychological and remorseful scars that sin leaves upon our souls.

How can you forget your sins? My esteemed friend, Dr. William Sangster used to counsel people who were hounded by this problem; "God has forgiven you, now you must forgive yourself." The sins of yesterday should not be kept in the closets of today — especially when they have been "cast in the depths of the sea, and remembered against us no more." Your contemplation of your past sins is really a lack of faith in the promises of God. You are like the old slave who continued working for his master after the Emancipation because he "just couldn't believe that it was true." The Bible says: "He who the Son has set free is free indeed." Believe it and receive that freedom.

A Devotion For Today . . .

We are not, like so many, peddlers of God's word; but as men of sincerity, as commissioned by God, in the sight of God we speak in Christ. —II Corinthians 2:17 (RSV)

PRAYER: Dear God, we have deceived ourselves and have been hypocrites with our faith. Forgive us for doing less than we should. Grant us the strength and courage we need to live every minute of our lives for You. Amen.

Grace Baptist Celebrates Anniversary With Revival

The Grace Baptist Church commemorated a double anniversary with a week long homecoming revival that was culminated Sunday with a catered barbecue dinner hosted at the old Cosden Country Club by the Rev. Roy E. Honea, pastor.

The revival and special Sunday activities commemorated the 13th year since the church was organized and the 11th year that the Rev. Honea has been with the church.

The evangelist for the week was the Rev. Boyce D. Brannan, pastor of the Denton Baptist Temple, Denton. The music was under the direction of David Hoffman, youth director and minister of music at the Denton Temple. He was assisted by Paul Duckett Jr.

Featured on the Friday evening program were the Templeaires, a singing group from the Denton Temple. They were overnight guests of various Grace Baptist Church members and many were guests at the Big Spring High School Homecoming game.

The Rev. and Mrs. Honea hosted dinner for the church members who attended the Sunday services. They have traditionally presented the church with some gift on anniversary Sunday.

The Rev. and Mrs. Honea were in turn granted a six weeks leave of absence for the purpose of visiting the Holy Land and various mission fields supported by the church. The time and itinerary for the trip have not been announced.

Former church members returning for the special Sunday services included six students presently enrolled in Bible Baptist Seminary at Arlington; former minister of music at Grace Baptist Church Vernon Gamble; and ministerial students William Sexton, Leslie Woods, Miss Brenda Nichols, Miss Brenda Daves and Miss Cathy Mayes.

Attending from San Antonio were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Clary, former members here who recently surrendered their lives for full time Christian service. Marlin Medlin came from Lamar Tech College in Beaumont and Verlin Schrader from Abilene, where he is part of a singing group known as the Key City Quartet. Returning the greatest distance was Capt. Linda Corley, who is presently stationed at Wright-Patterson AFB in Fairborn, Ohio.

'Tex' Feigned Psychosis To Nip Justice?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The state, in closing arguments to the jury, said Charles "Tex" Watson feigned psychosis to evade conviction for first-degree murder in the bizarre slayings two years ago of actress Sharon Tate and six others.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Stephen Kay said Thursday that Watson, 25, was a clever, cunning killer fully aware of what he was doing. Kay, asking a "victory for justice," sought conviction of first-degree murder.

However, he told the Superior Court jury that if it believed testimony of defense psychiatrists—Kay called them mind-readers—Watson could be determined guilty of second-degree murder.

Fourteen medical experts testified, seven for the defense and seven for the prosecution. Defense psychiatrists said Watson was a mindless robot at the time of the murders programmed to kill by cult leader Charles Manson and "high" on psychedelic drugs.

Manson and three women have been convicted and sentenced to death for the crimes. The prosecution doctors testified that Watson faked symptoms of brain damage, and was not under the influence of drugs the night of the killings.

Watson is being tried separately because of the delay in extraditing him from Texas. He has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

Kay pointed to several of Watson's actions to suggest he was aware of what he was doing. He said Watson wore dark clothes, hid his car, took a change of clothes, discussed the layout of the Tate house, and told Linda Kasabian, who later was a state witness in the Manson trial, to act as lookout and wipe fingerprints off the weapons.

JOEY NABBED HIGHBALLING HOMEWARD ON GREYHOUND

DADE CITY, Fla. (AP) — Broke and 350 miles from home, Joey Tripp decided to take a bus home. Police caught him three hours later highballing a $65,000 Greyhound bus along State Road 98.

"I knew I wasn't going to make it," said the 18-year-old Joey. "I just thought I'd try."

Police Chief Norris L. Nixon said Joey's flight toward his home in Pensacola ended Thursday about 60 miles from where it began.

Orlando police had put out an alert for the big silver bus and said it was headed toward Dade City.

"He was going 65 in a 45-mile zone when we saw him," Nixon said.

Nixon hauled Joey to the city jail where the youth unfolded his lonesome tale.

"He said he was homesick. He lives in Pensacola and didn't have any money. He said he saw a bus refueling and decided he would take a bus, literally," Nixon said.

In a telephone interview from the jail, Joey said he had been returning from a five-month stay with his uncle in Atlanta when he found himself broke and hungry in Orlando. He had lost his bus ticket en route.

Joey was charged with driving without a license and speeding.

Commissioners Divide Over Insurance Coverage

By BRIAN PEAY
Big Spring city commissioners awarded, on a split vote, a bid on fire, extended coverage, general liability and auto liability insurance policies to the Big Spring Independent Insurance Association Thursday afternoon in a special meeting.

year term with the $1,000 deductible. Fire and extended coverage policies will be on a $5,000 deductible base.
The bid was accepted over another bid on fire and extended coverage insurance alone, presented by the Howard County Insurance Association.

the deletion of property damage. Harold Rosson, representative of the Howard County group, told the commission.
The city insurance study committee over the previous weeks has made cuts in the city's coverage policies. Property damage coverage on the city's motor vehicle fleet and general liability policies were dropped, marking a savings of approximately $5,668 to the city on insurance premiums.

the insurance package between the two groups.
James M. Parks, chairman of the Big Spring group, told the commission that personally he felt his group would not stand for a split in the coverage and his group would either take the responsibility of the whole coverage, or nothing at all.

Big Spring group, and he said that it was understood before the meeting that a three-year term would be submitted by each group.
After hearing each group's offering, Commissioner Acric made the motion to accept the Howard County group's bid on fire insurance. The motion failed on a split vote, Marshall, Koger and Choate against, and Watkins and Acric for.

said Watkins.
A motion was then made to accept Big Spring group's policy package, and the vote was split again two and two. "I will vote for the Big Spring group's policy in the best interest of the city," said Marshall, as he broke the tie.

the bid on the established outside rates on city facilities that had been annexed after the setting of the outside rates for fire and extended coverage.
He stated that the Big Spring group made their bid on inside rates not established by the state board of insurance, and that board regulations require that bids only be made on rates established by the board.

A LOVELIER YOU Wise Buyers Know Shopping Etiquette

By MARY SUE MILLER
A talent for shopping is basic to dressing attractively, if for no other reason than it saves wearing costly mistakes. From childhood we are taught to be penny-wise when shopping, to compare prices and quality. But that's not the end-all when it comes to fashion purchases. There are other measures of success. As you collect a fall wardrobe, do bring them to bear:

—Know exactly what you want. Keep up with the news. Then decide what among the lot best suits your individual looks and need.

—Go groomed. Wear the necessary foundations, a fresh hair-do, a natural makeup. Clothes have to be especially flattering to enhance a lovely already looking lovely.

—Observe the rules of shopping etiquette. Be pleasant to those who serve you and careful of the clothes as though they already belonged to you. Such behavior begets the best service and selections.

—Ask these questions of a garment you are tempted to buy: Does it improve my figure? Accent my coloring? Suit my personality and life style? Does it fit in every detail? If so, you've got a "buy."

—Before ordering, check the hang tags and labels for fiber content and care.

—Be sure to get what you went for. Second choices, like second guesses, rate second.

How you wear what you select is, of course, the other side of a distinctive turnout. The desired finish is neither done-up or undone, but a reflection of your most natural, charming self.

To open a door on increased poise and popularity, send for my booklet, "Winning Manners." Topics included are Introductions, Invitations, Table Manners, The Charming Hostess, You — The Guest, Dating Manners, Formal Dances, Travel Tips and Tipping, Small Points, like when to wear a hat or check your coat. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Investment Group Reviews Stocks

Stocks owned by Markets Challenge Investment Club were reviewed by members Monday in the home of Mrs. Ralph Caton, 619 Colgate. A decision on what to sell or buy will be made at the next meeting.

Speakers and the stocks they reviewed were Mrs. Doryne Hefner, Wometco; Mrs. Henry Butler, Central Banking Systems; Mrs. Melvin Porter, Citizens Utilities; and Mrs. Doris Randle, Tenneco.

Southernland Corporation and Holiday Inn were also discussed as two companies in which the club may purchase stocks. The next meeting is at 7 p.m., Oct. 25 at the K.C. Steak and Seafood House, and new officers will be elected.

In Future, Will Students Be 'Taught To Cope With Life?'

J. F. Poyner, principal of Forsan High School, said the trend in education is to put more stress on how to cope with life and less emphasis on grades. When he was guest speaker for Elbow Elementary Monday at the school. In his discussion of modern and future education, Poyner said he believes students will someday be taught in one large room with no separation of classes. Mrs. E. P. Driver, school nurse, reminded members of the six diseases that all children must be immunized for, and explained ways in which germs enter the body. Mrs. Edman McMurray presided and announced that the PTA bought a tape recorder and a record player for use by fifth grade classes. Upcoming events include a district PTA fall workshop Oct. 18 at Elbow School, and Mrs. Raymond Holquin was elected delegate. The school's Halloween carnival is Oct. 29, and a turkey and dressing dinner will be served for $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children 12 years or under. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Fred Holquin. The next meeting is at 3:30 p.m., Oct. 25 at the school.

Gardeners Advised On Succulents

Succulents, a variety of plants with juicy tissues, were discussed by Miss Bessie Love for the After Five Garden Club at its first meeting of the season Monday in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Morehead, 704 Highland. "The most familiar succulents in our area are cacti," said Miss Love, "but there is also a large variety of sedum which do well here and can go many days without water."

Miss Love displayed samples of several succulent plants and showed pictures using succulents in arrangements and in landscaping. Mrs. Paul Sheedy presided, and members discussed the year's program theme, "Doing Our Own Thing." Planned activities include sponsoring a birthday party at the Boys' Club in November and a placement or horticulture show in the spring.

The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 19 in the home of Mrs. Dee G. Thomas. Mrs. Charles Sweeney will give a program on "The Big Thicket."

Self-Analysis Based On Book Excerpts

Excerpts from the book, "On Being A Real Person," were used by Mrs. Tom Warren and Miss Hester Ann White when they gave a program on self-analysis for Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Monday in the home of Mrs. Calvin McMurray, 801 Marcy, Apt. 43. "Man is the only creature that can consciously procreate" said Mrs. Warren. She said other animals are created biologically and instinctively rather than in a planned pattern. Miss White distributed self-analysis charts on which members rated the importance of certain aspects of life.

Mrs. Warren presided and announced that 12 girls have signed up for a Brownie troop the chapter is sponsoring. The chapter meets at 4 p.m. each Tuesday at the First Assembly of God Church.

Final plans were made for two "1931 Depression" coffees for rushees at 10 a.m. and at 2 p.m., Saturday in the home of Mrs. Warren, 4050 Vicky. Members will be garbed in costumes of the depression era.

Mrs. Scott Simpson and Mrs. Art Jistel became members, transferring from chapters in other towns. Mrs. Simpson was elected city council representative, replacing Mrs. Leon Miller who is moving to Phoenix, Ariz.

Miss White was elected chapter Valentine Sweetheart. The next regular meeting is at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 11 in the home of Mrs. Rex Goff, 414 Dallas, with Mrs. Joe Dobry as co-hostess.

Women Warned To Learn Facts Before Dieting

"Are You Really Serious About Losing Weight?" was the question asked by Mrs. Donald Carlisle, program speaker for Tuesday's meeting of the TOPS Pound Rebels in the YMCA. "You must know the facts about dieting before you can count calories," said Mrs. Carlisle. "You must convince yourself that you are going to lose weight, and that once you have lost it, you will maintain your proper weight."

The speaker discussed the meaning of body weight; what the body is made of, its cells and tissues and what foods make the cells. She explained the functions of food in relation to body weight, saying that the body uses food in two ways: as a source of fuel to provide energy and a source of nutrients for continual repair and maintenance of tissues. She concluded by stressing that activity and exercise is essential while reducing to burn up excess fat tissues.

The next meeting will be Monday at 7 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Lewis Collins, 4223 Hamilton, for a "hobo" dinner.

MORE PROPERTY RIGHTS County Attorney Outlines Laws Favoring Women

Bill Eysen, county attorney, outlined several changes in Texas law regarding property rights of married women, for Spring City Chapter, American Business Women's Association Tuesday evening at the Holiday Inn.

Eysen said a husband and wife can own property either separately or together, but in community-owned property a wife has as much say about the disposition of the land as the husband does. Previously, the husband held complete control.

Mrs. Robert McDonald presided, and new officers were elected. They are Miss Faye Wells, president; Mrs. Dale Fryar, vice president; Mrs. John Ferguson, recording secretary; Mrs. Malcolm West, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Bobby Nobles, treasurer. Mrs. Ferguson gave the vocational talk and described her duties as loan clerk at SIC Finance. Installed as members were Mrs. Vernon Schroeder Jr., Miss Mary E. Curtis and Mrs. Barbara Martin.

Prayers were by Mrs. Michael Lawton and Miss Wells. Guests for the dinner meeting were Mrs. Louis Casillas, Mrs. Donald McCray, Miss Marva Sanderson and Eysen.

Local TOPS Unit Seeks Members

Mrs. Jerry Pike joined the TOPS Plate Pushers at the Thursday meeting. Mrs. R. H. Washburn presided, announcing that during the membership drive persons wanting information about the club may call her at 393-5259 or Mrs. Garland Irons, 263-6658.

Mrs. Irons and Mrs. J. L. Wright attained their TOPS goal and Mrs. J. L. Wright won a bowl of fruit. It was announced that Mrs. Alfred Tidwell will be crowned July Queen when she recovers from surgery.

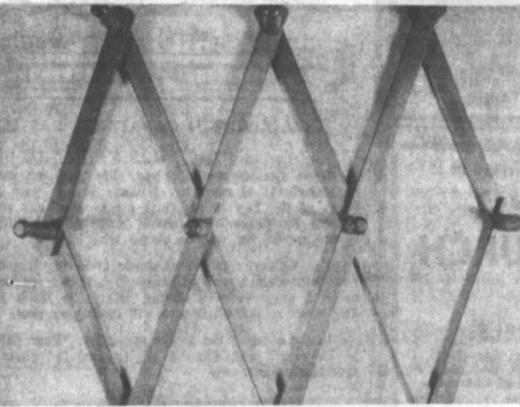

A new contest was begun which will end Nov. 12, and the meeting time was changed to 9:30 a.m.

Pattern Fitting Expert Here!

William Crowder

Professional Pattern Expert will be here to conduct a series of Pattern Clinics.

Ever sewn in the same sleeve several times? Stuffed garments that were never finished? Or finished garments you wouldn't wear because it didn't fit, or the sewing looked "Home-Made?"

Most sewing problems that cause the "Home-Made" look can be traced to the patterns — NOT to poor sewing skill! Keep in mind that if manufacturers had to depend on machine operators with gifted talent, there wouldn't be enough to go around!

The various pattern pieces don't match! Sleeves don't match armholes! Collars don't match necklines! Facings don't match! "Princess Line" and other styling panels don't match, and leave puckered seams! Ploated panels can be impossible!

On top of this, patterns are made to fit SIZES not measurements, and many women are stuck between sizes. A size 12 is too small and a size 14 too large. Some need two sizes. One for the bodice, another for the skirt. Best doists are never properly located to fit you. Sleeves too tight? Too tight across the back or front? Gaping armholes or necklines! Skirts too baggy or too tight in crotch? The list goes on and on.

Why try handling these problems with costly trial and error methods? They can be disposed of once and for all by attending ONE of a series of pattern clinics by professional pattern experts who will show you how to:

* Make any patterns fit properly.
* Make the various pattern pieces match so that sleeves, collars, and etc., can be sewn in right, first time, every time.
* Re-design your pattern to any desired style.
* Draft patterns to fit your exact body measurements, using European dot system converted from centimeters to inches.

2 hours starting promptly at 10 a.m.—2 p.m.—7 p.m. Cost: $3.00. Holiday Inn, Monday, Oct. 4 only. Husbands admitted Free.

Church Of God Men Meet

The Men of the Church of God, West Texas District, completed the best year ever Sept. 11 at their annual business meeting at Camp Inspiration, Eastland.

President Roy Moad was in charge of the all-day affair which included business meetings for the district men and missionaries. A banquet in the newly completed dining hall ended the day's activities.

Project chairman James Curtis, Dallas, reported the accomplishments during the past year including completion of the dining hall, construction of the camper-trailer park, remodeling of the interior of the tabernacle, construction of the fifth cabin and painting the buildings.

The camp can now sleep 100 people in the cabins, and park 50 camper trailers with water and electricity. The dining hall will seat 250-300 people. The tabernacle will seat 300 people.

Treasurer Darrell Basham, Eastland, reported that financial support was at an all time high with income for the year totaling $7,993 and $6,850 was applied directly to the men's project.

Elected officers were Roy Moad, Odessa, president; Jack Barnes, Fort Worth, vice president; Darrell Basham, Graham, secretary treasurer.

Churches in the West Texas District include Abilene, Arlington, Ballinger, Big Spring, Cisco, Coleman, Dallas, San Angelo, Sweetwater and Wichita Falls.

REV. PORTER SIMMONS

REV. VICTOR WILLIFORD

Church Will Hold Nostalgic Revival

There will be a nostalgic twinge to the revival meeting starting Monday at Prairie View Baptist Church, one mile west of Fairview Gin off U.S. 87.

Looking back toward its roots in 1907 at the old Moore school house, five miles northwest of Big Spring, members and friends will join in a trail rald Saturday, Oct. 9, from the old school site to the spot where the church was moved to its present location in 1924. This will be followed by a chill supper from a chuck wagon, symbolizing Old-Time religion night. Evening services are at 7:30.

Something else reminiscent of earlier days, said Rev. Ron Costick, pastor, will be the noon meal daily through Friday after the 10:30 a.m. services.

Everyone is invited to share in the spiritual feast of the week when the Rev. Porter Simmons, pastor-evangelist from Woodland Heights Church in Brownwood, will be the visiting speaker. He is a graduate of Howard Payne and Southwestern Theological Seminary, a dynamic servant of God.

Victor E. Williford, native of Odessa and a senior in Howard Payne, will lead the singing. Ella Ruth Martin and Beverly Norman will be guests accompanied on the organ and piano. The meeting continues through Oct. 10.

'Life' Musical Due At HCJC

"Life," a dynamic new young world musical by Otis Skillings, is "the most exciting Christian musical yet to come on the scene," says Joe Jones of Snyder, director of the production.

Jones is the Minister of Music and Youth of First Baptist Church, Snyder, which sponsors the Christian Youth group. They will present the musical Monday in Howard County Junior College auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Approximately 65 young people will be performing in the program. The young at heart everywhere will respond to its contemporary and contagious message, Jones said. "The sounds are new, the message is for today, the story, the timeless truth! Jesus Christ will meet each of us wherever we are," he said.

The Baptist Student Union of Howard County College invites everyone to come and enjoy a fresh, natural, young, happy, serious, and excited group of young people as they sing. A fellowship will follow the program at the College Baptist Church Activities Building for seniors in high school and college students along with the group from Snyder according to David Norvelle, BSU director.

Former Local Resident Headmaster Of School

The Rev. J. D. Culpepper, vicar of the Trinity Episcopal Church, Henrietta, for more than three years, has been named headmaster of the parish school of the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, Lake Charles, La., as of today.

In addition to serving as vicar of the Henrietta church, the Rev. Culpepper has been vicar of St. Patrick's Episcopal Chapel at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, served as president of the Henrietta Ministerial Alliance from 1969 to 1971 and has been president of Henrietta Community Action Corporation the past six months.

The Rev. Culpepper went to the Dallas area in the summer of 1967 following a two-year stay in the Diocese of Cariboo, British Columbia. A graduate of Big Spring High School, he holds a bachelor of science degree from West Texas State University and a bachelor of divinity degree from the Church Divinity School of the Pacific, Berkeley, Calif.

He was in the United States Air Force from 1954 to 1958 and was ordained in June, 1965, to the Diaconate and to the Sacred Order of Priests, Dec. 13, 1965.

Prior to going to Henrietta, the Rev. Culpepper served as vicar of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Olney.

The 1909 Model

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When we're out in company, my husband makes remarks like, "I think a man should be able to trade his wife for a new model, just like he trades in his automobile." Abby, we've been married for 40 years and I don't think this kind of talk is a bit funny. He calls me his "1909 model." I'm not very witty, but I wish I had a snappy comeback for him when he talks like that. Can you think of one?

DEAR OLD: Tell your wisecracker that just because a model is "new" doesn't mean it's better. Then ask him if he's to hang around the building or sit on the sidewalks like a pair of stray dogs until their mother comes home. I've pleaded with my sister, but she is stubborn. She trusts you. Say something.

CONCERNED UNCLE
DEAR UNCLE: Your sister should be more concerned about the safety of her sons than her worldly goods, and should realize that the boys are better off inside than outside. In any case, she shouldn't assume that they are incapable of having a key without giving them a chance to prove they are.

DEAR ABBY: I share an office with eight other women. One has a habit which is about to drive us up a wall. She breathes very loudly. It sounds like the cooing of a dove — only it's louder and much more annoying.

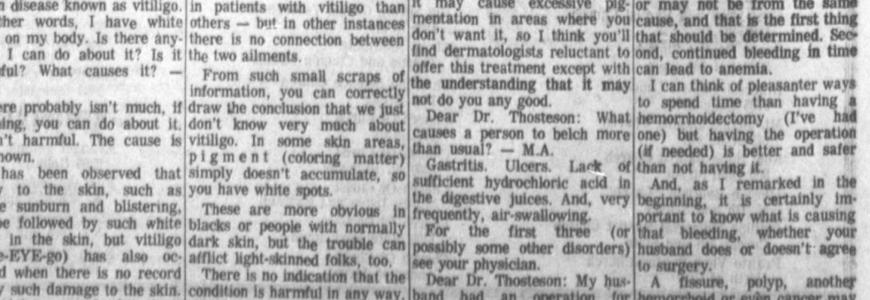

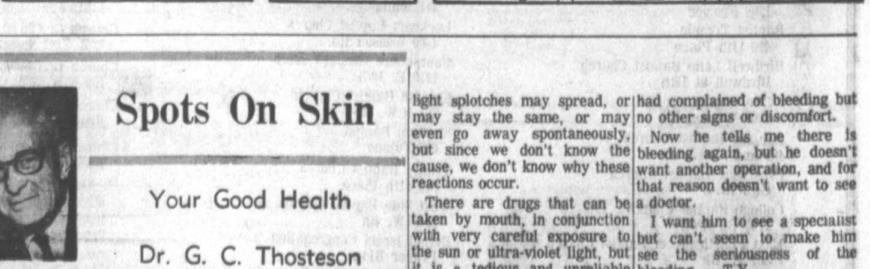

We complained to the supervisor who spoke to her about it. She told him she couldn't help it as she suffers from asthma, and he believed her! I think she is just trying to attract attention because if someone whispers, she immediately stops her heavy breathing and breathes normally so she can hear what's being said. Now, you can't tell me "asthma" can be controlled that easily.

How can we shut her up? She can be heard above nine typewriters. LOUISVILLE: DEAR LOUISVILLE: The best way to shut out annoying sounds is with ear plugs. Of course, you won't be able to hear the telephone, the fire alarm, or the boss when he talks to you but if you believe this woman is making annoying sounds just to attract attention, this solution will attract so much attention that the boss will have to isolate her if he wants to get some work out of the rest of you.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Spots On Skin

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a skin disease known as vitiligo. In other words, I have white spots on my body. Is there anything I can do about it? Is it harmful? What causes it? — M.R.

There probably isn't much, if anything, you can do about it. It isn't harmful. The cause is not known.

It has been observed that injury to the skin, such as severe sunburn and blistering, can be followed by such white areas in the skin, but vitiligo (vittle-EYE-go) has also occurred when there is no record of any such damage to the skin. Pernicious anemia has been reported to be more common in patients with vitiligo than others — but in other instances there is no connection between the two ailments.

From such small scraps of information, you can correctly draw the conclusion that we just don't know very much about vitiligo. In some skin areas, pigment (coloring matter) simply doesn't accumulate, so you have white spots.

These are more obvious in blacks or people with normally dark skin, but the trouble can afflict light-skinned folks, too.

There is no indication that the condition is harmful in any way, except to one's appearance. The light spots may spread, or may stay the same, or may even go away spontaneously, but since we don't know the cause, we don't know why these reactions occur.

There are drugs that can be taken by mouth, in conjunction with very careful exposure to the sun or ultra-violet light, but it is a tedious and unreliable process. It may not succeed, or it may cause excessive pigmentation in areas where you don't want it, so I think you'll find dermatologists reluctant to offer this treatment except with the understanding that it may not do you any good.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What causes a person to belch more than usual? — M.A.

Gastritis. Ulcers. Lack of sufficient hydrochloric acid in the digestive juices. And, very frequently, air-swallowing.

For the first three (or possibly some other disorders) see your physician.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband had an operation for hemorrhoids six years ago. He had complained of bleeding but no other signs or discomfort. Now he tells me there is bleeding again, but he doesn't want another operation, and for that reason doesn't want to see a doctor.

I want him to see a specialist but can't seem to make him see the seriousness of the bleeding. — T.Y.

The bleeding, of course, may or may not be from the same cause, and that is the first thing that should be determined. Second, continued bleeding in time can lead to anemia.

I can think of pleasant ways to spend time than having a hemorrhoidectomy (I've had one) but having the operation (if needed) is better and safer than not having it.

And, as I remarked in the beginning, it is certainly important to know what is causing that bleeding, whether your husband does or doesn't agree to surgery.

A fissure, polyp, another hemorrhoid or even cancer may be the cause of his bleeding.

YEAR-ROUND REGISTRATION New Era For Voters

AUSTIN (AP) — A new era begins today for Texas voters. From now on, voters will be able to register the year around, not just from Oct. 1 to Jan. 31. Those 18-21 years of age will be eligible to vote in all elections — local, state and federal.

A new provision authorizing voter registration deputies means that each office building, apartment, college dormitory, labor union, civic club, or any such group can have its own voter registrar.

MAJOR CHANGES

The three major changes are the result of legislation approved by the 62nd legislature earlier this year or federal action.

For most voters, registration starts today.

The effect of the changes likely will mean close to a million new voters in the state in 1972. In 1968, the last presidential voting year, there were 3.07 million votes cast for presidential candidates. State officials think there may be more than 4 million votes cast for president in 1972.

The new voter registration rules may result in more than 5 million eligible voters in 1972, including an estimated 600,000 in the 18 to 21 category alone. There were 4.07 million eligible in 1968 and 4.15 million in 1970.

The 26th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution opened the door to 18-21 voters in all elections, after an earlier U.S. Supreme Court decision held that young voters could vote in all federal elections. Texas was one of 38 states ratifying the congressional action during the recent legislature.

MORAL CHARACTER

No longer will Jan. 31 be the registration cutoff. However, to vote in a certain election a voter must register at least 30 days before that election. This gives election officials time to get their rolls in order.

County tax assessor-collectors will be the voter registrars for each county, as in the past.

DEPUTIES SWORN — Deputy County Clerk Mrs. Edgar (Margaret) Ray swears in the first deputy voter registrars. The deputies are authorized to fill in and receive registration forms. Voter registration begins today for 1972, with as many as 15,000 voters expected to register in Howard County.

More Than 15,000 Voters Expected To Register Here

Voter registration began today in Howard County with as many as 15,000 voters expected to register by the Feb. 1 deadline.

Registration forms were mailed to Howard County taxpayers in their annual county tax bill this year. The forms should be filled out and returned as soon as possible, according to Mrs. Zirah L. Bednar, county tax assessor-collector.

Forms should be filled out completely and signed at the bottom. The form must be signed by the voter, unless the application is made by a blood relative for a husband, wife, father, mother, son or daughter. If the application is made by a relative, the relative must sign the form and indicate his relationship with the voter.

The application should be printed, except for the signature. If the signature is

West Texas C-C Gains Employees

William G. Walker, a former manager of the Spearman Chamber of Commerce and board of city development, and J. L. (Jimmie) Martin of Abilene, former editor of The Electric Times, employee of publication of West Texas Utilities Company, have joined the staff of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. J. Fike Godfrey, executive vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, said Walker is serving as membership director, replacing Ralph E. Duncan, who retired in July. Martin joined the staff as information director, and will serve as editor of the chamber's publication, This Is West Texas, and the monthly newsletter, West Texas Action. He has replaced Jack Nixon Jr., who resigned in August. Marlin is a 1928 graduate of Hardin-Simmons and for years worked with his father, the late J. L. Martin, in West Texas newspapers.

NOT NEW DATE

The new law got added clarification, increasing the potential number of young voters, when a Tyler federal court ruled Sept. 29 that college and university students may vote where they live, not just at their parents' home address.

Representatives of the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association TISA, which includes most of the universities and colleges in Texas, will meet Oct. 9 at Rice University, Houston to plan a statewide campaign for campus registration.

Oct. 1 is not a new date for the beginning of voter registration but this is the first time registration will last throughout the year, according to a law change approved by the last legislature. Under the former system of annual registration, and the poll tax system before that, a person had to register before Oct. 1 of one year and to vote in Jan. 31 to be eligible to vote in the party primaries or the general election.

Trio Backed By Gus Named To State Ethics Commission

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas House members have elected a three-man slate backed by Speaker Gus Mutscher's "team" as their voice on the new State Ethics Commission.

The "team" slate defeated one consisting of anti-Mutscher dissidents who pushed throughout this year's regular session for strong ethics legislation.

House Clerk Dorothy Hallman reported that a mail balloting resulted in the election of Reps. John F. Boyle of Irving, Clyde Haynes Jr. of Vidor and Jim Nugent of Kerrville.

Nugent, 48, was House sponsor of the ethics bill creating the commission, which passed in the closing minutes of this year's regular session. A six-term veteran, he is chairman of the House Rules Committee.

LITTLE ATTENTION

Boyle, 35, is in his first term as a House member and attracted little attention during the session.

Haynes, 46, is in his sixth two-year term. He broke with Mutscher in the closing days of the session when the speaker failed to deliver a congressional district in which Haynes felt he could run and win.

Reps. Delwin Jones of Lubbock and Bill Clayton of Springlake campaigned actively by telephone for election of the Nugent-Boyle-Haynes slate, according to well-informed sources. Jones and Clayton both are leading members of Mutscher's "team" and hold major committee chairmanships.

CLOSE SECOND

Running a close second was a slate consisting of Reps. Bill Blythe, Houston Republican; Frances Parenthold, Corpus Christi; and Fred Head, Henderson. All are members of the anti-Mutscher "dirty 30" coalition of Republicans and liberal Democrats.

Mrs. Hallman said 124 of the 150 House members returned ballots, although some cast votes only for one or two of the three House places on the commission.

Most of the votes came in after Mutscher's indictment last Thursday on charges he accepted a bribe in return for his ef-orts to pass two banking bills wanted by Houston promoter Frank Sharp.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST

The House election completes the 12-member commission, which has the duty of investigating alleged breaches of the state's conflict of interest law.

Other members are: Mrs. Margaret Harris Amsler, Baylor Law School professor, and Alf Roark, Houston lawyer, appointed by Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert of the Texas Supreme Court.

J. W. Hassell Jr., Dallas attorney, and William H. Gardner, Austin, former Houston Post writer and executive, appointed by Judge Spurgeon Bell, chairman of the Judicial Qualifications Commission.

Rabbi David Jacobson, San Antonio, and John Sutton Jr., University of Texas law professor, named by presiding Judge John F. Onion Jr. of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Sens. A. M. Alkin Jr., of Paris, Charles Herring of Austin and Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, elected by the Senate.

Horoscope

TOMORROW
—CAROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There is better judgment present today and tonight. You are able to look into various departments of your life and to prepare for the future, seeking suggestions from experts in the fields of interest to you. Listen to your intuitive perceptions how which are accurate.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) If you have formed a new plan for the future, this is an ideal day to talk it over with bigwigs. Engage in group pleasures instead of private ones. They will be more appreciated.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Confronting good jobs and discussing future plans bring fine results now. Attend to a party where you can talk over your ambitions with others. Avoid one who likes to brag. Be wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Find the right application to help you do your job more efficiently. Show your finest capabilities to bigwigs and gain their respect. Be objective instead of emotional. Attend the social.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You are anxious to get out of a rut you are in. Look into new and more lucrative activities. Make new contacts. Show a friendly spirit for best results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Handle those promises to others in a practical way and get their respect and goodwill. The evening can be a most happy time. Show that you are a truly romantic person.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make plans with those who are difficult to see during work week. A mutual project rolls along nicely. Much support is possible with good friends. Show that you have wisdom.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You can now start on those accumulated duties and get them out of the way quickly. Fellow workers argue some but this is soon overcome. Stop spending money foolishly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have wanted to get together with companions for a long time and this is a good day for such. Show more affection to male and get the right results. A girl would be appreciated.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Know what it is a kin wants you to do and then warn them. Find the right comforts to make life more enjoyable. Avoid one who argues a lot. Show that you have poise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have the right owners to improve your image. A good time to get together with companions for a good time. Handle your correspondence well. Stick right to the issues.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Looming large in the horizon could be trouble, so be sure to look into your monetary arrangements, carefully to avoid it. An expert will give you the information you need now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Attend the social and enjoy good friends. Plan your future more intelligently. Think out what it is you want most of all and take steps along such lines. Take it easy tonight.

Texans Look For Showers

By The Associated Press

Cooler air sweeping toward the southeast off fresh snow in Colorado and Utah held a promise of thundershowers in West and Central Texas today.

Forecasters expected the new front to exert little immediate effect on temperatures in the Lone Star State, but they looked for showers preceding it to arrive by evening.

Showers during the night near Amarillo and Hereford in the Texas Panhandle died down before dawn but a few still fell this morning near the Middle and Upper Texas Coast and over the Gulf of Mexico.

Light rain fell around Del Rio on the Mexican border.

Low clouds covered much of Central Texas and parts of the Plains country. It was partly cloudy to clear elsewhere over the state.

Temperatures early today ranged from 63 degrees at Dalt and 64 at Amarillo up to 76 at Palacios and 78 at Galveston.

LONG GAIN FOR DICK EARHART — Dick Earhart (32) of the Big Spring Brahmas, who scored one of the touchdowns in the local team's 45-6 rout of San Angelo Edison, is shown ripping off a long gain after shedding a tackler.

Brahmas Romp Past Edison By 45-6 Tab

David Verner's Big Spring ninth grade Brahmas rolled to one of their most convincing victories in years here Thursday night, beating San Angelo Edison, 45-6.

It could have been much worse. The Brahmas scored three touchdowns that were called back and reserves played much of the second half.

Elbow Smith counted Big Spring's first touchdown on a 12-yard run around left end. Doug Robison kicked the PAT.

In the second, QB Bobby Bradshaw climaxed a 55-yard Big Spring drive by going over from a yard out. A short time later, Robison went in on a pass from Bradshaw, the play covering 35 yards. Robison again converted with a kick and the Brahmas led, 20-0.

In the third, Robison romped 15 yards for second touchdown. Elbow Smith then went to Pete Lopez for another Big Spring score. That maneuver covered 40 yards and built the locals' lead to 32-0.

Dick Earhart scored before the quarter was out, circling left end for 25 paces.

Angel Pineda managed Big Spring's lone tally in the fourth, barreling one yard. Robison again booted the point.

Edison managed its one TD late in the game after Verner had flooded the field with reserves.

The win was the third in four assignments for the Brahmas. The locals hit the road for Snyder Thursday, where they will meet Travis.

Lyneil Banks scored one Big Spring touchdown that was called back. A 60-yard scoring jaunt by Smith was erased due to a penalty and Robison got still another on a 12-yard jaunt that was nullified.

Bradshaw, Robison, Smith, John Lopez and Lawrence Byrd all showed to advantage on offense for Big Spring.

On defense, Stanley Partee, Mark Hedges, Raymond Ortega and C. C. Correa were among the stellar performers for the locals.

Thirty-six boys suited out for Big Spring and all got to play.

Steers Open 5-AAAA Season In Abilene

Eagles remain the biggest jinx the Steers have.

They returned to winning ways at the expense of the Bold Gold last year and now hold an astonishing 33-7 bulge over the Longhorns over the years. Two other games resulted in ties.

In 1927, when Big Spring was coached by the late George Harris, Abilene rolled over Big Spring by the score of 79-0. Big Spring's biggest margin of victory in the set occurred way back in 1914, when the locals prevailed, 77-0.

Big Spring has shut out the Eagles on only two other occasions — in 1962 and '68.

Abilene, winner over Hurst Trinity and Brownwood and loser to Cleburne this season, leans heavily upon the passing wizardry of Jim Reese, a fine sprintout aerialist.

A one-year letterman, Reese is lightning quick. He will run on occasions but he likes to throw the ball.

Leading ball carrier for the Flock is Thomas Hines, a 157-pound junior. However, the Steers will likely see more of Jimmy Jones, a speedster who has been out with an injury.

Abilene has a fine mobile line, led by a giant tackle named Larry Bell. Bell towers over everyone on the field and uses his size to good advantage. In passing situations where he is called upon to block, he performs well.

Big Spring showed lots of muscle in elbowing past Snyder last week, 27-0. The Steers shut the Snyder attack down completely, never letting the Tigers past the 50.

Abilene, no doubt, will pose an entirely different problem. Both teams are hungry to get off on the right foot in 5-AAAA play, because the race for the championship appears to be wide open.

Mike Adams will start at quarterback for Big Spring, although he suffered a bad arm bruise last week. Alan Davis will be ready to take over at the navigator's spot, in event he's needed.

Adams and Davis will get help in the person of such worthies as Arthur Trevino, Ricky Steen, Barry Truett, Walter Jordan, Earl Reynolds and others.

Probable starters:

BIG SPRING

ABILENE HIGH

IN FINEST EFFORT Toros Turn Back Colts, 30 To 0

SWEETWATER — The Big Spring Toros played far and away their finest game of the season in defeating Sweetwater Junior High, 30-0, here Thursday evening.

The win was the second in four starts for the charges of Glenn Petty. They return to play at home Thursday against Snyder Lamar.

In the first period, the Toros drove 65 yards on the ground only to yield possession in the shadow of the Sweetwater goal.

Sweetwater struck back with a long bomb and got to Big Spring's 40 but the Toros dug in to hold.

The Big Springers then started a scoring drive which QB Barry Canning climaxed by going over from the seven.

Bradshaw, Robison, Smith, John Lopez and Lawrence Byrd all showed to advantage on offense for Big Spring.

On defense, Stanley Partee, Mark Hedges, Raymond Ortega and C. C. Correa were among the stellar performers for the locals.

Thirty-six boys suited out for Big Spring and all got to play.

away for Big Spring and Canning added two extra points on a run.

At the end of the half, Sweetwater apparently had stopped the Toros at the doorstep of the Colt goal but a penalty gave Big Spring another play. Canning then passed to Ricky Darrow for the tally. Canning's run on the extra point try made it 22-0.

The Big Spring reserves played most of the third quarter. In the fourth, Darrow counted again for Big Spring on a 12-yard jaunt. Canning romped in for the two extra points.

Gilbert Padilla recovered two Sweetwater fumbles for Big Spring. Stanley Wallace knocked down three passes.

Hayes Stripling well in Big Spring's defensive secondary. Coach Petty took 34 boys with him and played them all.

Coahoma Stifles Rannels In A Team Action, 14-0

Coahoma Junior High and Rannels split two games here Thursday, with the visiting Bullpups winning the big one, 14-0.

In B team action, Rannels prevailed, 16-0. Defeat of the Rannels A squad left the Yearlings with a 1-2-1 record.

Coahoma scored with 1:20 left in the third on a 36-yard drive that required just three plays.

In the fourth, with 4:02 remaining, the Pups moved 40 yards to pay dirt, using five plays to get in. The visitors counted on a cross back from 15 yards out, then added the extra points on a run.

Rannels got inside Coahoma's 20 end but couldn't generate any power.

In B team play, Gregory Spears roared 30 yards in the opening round for a TD but the play was called back due to an infraction.

then ran across the two extra points powered 28 yards in six plays. Dwayne Crow got the tally from ten yards out, then ran across the two extra points.

On the last play of the first half, Jimmy Baker intercepted a Coahoma pass and roared 40 yards to score but that was nullified, too, by a penalty.

In the third, Joe Hernandez returned a kick to Coahoma's 48. Crow scored on the next play with 5:40 remaining. Kenneth McMurtrey passed to Robert Aldridge for the two extra points.

Crow and cornerback Terry Welch played well for Big Spring in that one.

Ricky Patterson managed Coahoma's first A team TD on a six-yard run.

Gary Roberts got the second on a 20-yard sprint, after which Mike Collier added the two extra points on a run.

Key interceptions were made by Coahoma's Roy Drake and Oscar Padron.

Offensively, Collier, Roberts, Patterson, Gary Daniels, Jerry Edmondson, Charles Hall, Rocky New and Paul Martinez excelled for Coahoma.

On defense, Charles Tindol, Collier, Padron, New, Richardson Ruiz, Edmondson, Patterson, Roy Drake, Roberts, Junior Gomez and Martinez stood out for the winners.

The Bullpups, now 3-0 on the year, go to Seagraves for a game next Thursday.

Colts Decision Loraine, 34-6

ACKERLY — Sands Junior High scored its second convincing football victory here Thursday evening, defeating Loraine, 34-6. The Ponies had previously beaten Forsan, 38-0.

Kevin Gandy scored twice for the Colts while Frosty Floyd, Andy Ortega and Keith Gandy tallied once. The Sands team is composed of seventh and eighth graders.

Sands also had three touchdowns called back.

The Colts led in first downs, 10-6, in yards rushing, 222-77; in yards passed, 15-0; and in passes completed, 2 of 5 to 0 of 2.

Loraine intercepted two Sands passes while Sands grabbed one of Loraine's aerials. Sands also lost a fumble.

Nose guard Sammy McDonald showed up well in the Sands defensive alignment. Others who stood out included both Gandy boys, Floyd and Ortega.

'Fun In 71' Motto Pays Off For Fox

By The Associated Press

"Fun in 71" was Charlie Fox's slogan for the San Francisco Giants.

"It's the year of the Fox," proclaimed Giants' fans.

The Giants, after building a huge early-season lead and nearly losing it in a dreadful September slump, put everything together on the final day of the season and clinched the National League's West Division title with a 5-1 victory over the San Diego Padres Thursday night.

Fox, in his first season as Giants' manager, was in the midst of a champagne-filled dressing room celebration that had been brewing for more than a week. "I feel wonderful," he said, his uniform dripping with the bubbly stuff the Giants had been carting around in the final hectic days of the frantic race.

Fox said that when the game's last out was made and the Giants surrounded pitcher Juan Marichal on the mound, he felt a thrill he had experienced only once before in his life.

SAME FEELING

"It was the same way I felt when I came back from my second Russian run in the Navy during World War II and saw the Statue of Liberty," he said.

The Pirates ended their regular season with a 4-3 victory over Philadelphia Thursday. In other NL finales, New York defeated St. Louis 6-1, Atlanta downed Cincinnati 6-2, and Chicago trimmed Montreal 5-3.

In the American League, the New York Yankees were awarded a 9-0 forfeit over Washington in a wild finish to baseball in the nation's capital, Chicago edged Milwaukee 2-1, and California nipped Minnesota 3-2.

The Giants, leading the wild West since April 12th, took an 8 1/2-game lead into the final month of the season but their lead swoon, which saw them lose 16 to 23 games, shrank their lead over Los Angeles to one game going into the final day of the campaign. But even in the team's worst stretch, Fox was certain the Giants could win it.

"We had the confidence all along," he said. "We knew we'd get straightened out."

Fox was right. The Giants won three of their last four games and hung on for their first title since 1962.

Marichal, the high-kicking right-hander and ace of the staff, made sure of it. He held the Padres to five hits, struck out five and had his usual pinpoint control, walking none, in winning his 18th game against 11 losses.

More than 60 per cent of Houston's home attendance now comes from out of town. The Astro people are bound to be worried over the prospect of losing a large portion of that gate to the Fort Worth-Dallas entry.

Of course, the move of the Washington club to Texas wouldn't have been made had not Mayor Tom Vandegriff of Arlington sold club owner Bob Short on the idea.

Vandegriff is the key man in the switch and the North Texas metropolitan area is in his debt.

Of course, the ideal arrangement would be for Short to sell his stock to someone like Lamar Hunt. That may happen, in time, but Short likely will first try to recoup his losses without yielding ownership.

There's so many publicity people riding the backs of the Dallas Cowboys, it appears they might collapse from the sheer weight.

All the bright young men in the business, it seems, want to by-pass the high school and collegiate sport and share in the acclaim of the pros.

Time was when serving as the historian for such teams as TCU and Baylor, the Aggies and Texas Tech, was one of the more glamorous jobs in the newspaper business, but that time is past.

On the NFL's opening weekend, Greg Landry of the Detroit Lions completed six passes against Minnesota for gains totaling 80 yards.

Virgil Carter of Cincinnati threw one to Speedy Thomas against Philadelphia that resulted in a 90-yard pickup.

Cullie Culpepper, defensive back from Odessa Permian; Rusty McKeever, center from Abilene Cooper; and Don Brown, a receiver from Abilene High, are the three District 5-AAAA exes who wound up on the Rice University freshman football team this fall.

The Owlets also got Wes Ronemus, the linebacker from Sweetwater; and Snyder's Steve Dillaha, a tackle.

Coach Gene Stallings of Texas A&M won't book Louisiana State again, he revealed recently. The awful beatings the Aggies usually take from LSU make it hard for the Aggies to point with pride to its record.

However, A&M must endure the LSU agony through 1975. The present contract between the two schools runs that long. Stallings says LSU refuses to book a home-and-home series with A&M. He doesn't want any other kind of arrangement.

The Aggies play Nebraska again next year. Gene says that contract will be allowed to run out, too. A&M is the kind of team on which both LSU and Nebraska try to build national reputations.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hort

Professional baseball was never over-endowed with thinking people. Decision of the tall millinery to move the American League franchise from Washington to the Fort Worth-Dallas area is a good example of the inability of the Establishment to think out issues.

The North Texas area deserves big league baseball, alright, but it should be in the National League and Houston should have done everything possible to promote such a team.

Houston has been in the National League 10 years now and has yet to develop a rivalry that can hype the gate. Fort Worth-Dallas will suffer from the same kind of malnutrition in the American League.

The Astros are in the better and more prosperous league but Fort Worth-Dallas, no doubt, will wear a lot of the fans away from Houston, just as the Cowboys have captured the imagination of the state's football buffs at the expense of the Houston Oilers.

The hope here is that baseball will undergo realignment all over the country, in which case Fort Worth-Dallas could be placed in a division with Houston in the cause of good regional competition. Such an arrangement is long overdue in baseball, which has slipped badly in comparison to professional football in recent years.

A six-team division (as has been proposed) could include Fort Worth-Dallas, Houston, New Orleans (assuming it eventually replaces Cleveland), St. Louis, Kansas City and Atlanta, and prosper.

More than 60 per cent of Houston's home attendance now comes from out of town. The Astro people are bound to be worried over the prospect of losing a large portion of that gate to the Fort Worth-Dallas entry.

Goliad Kayoed By Sweetwater

SWEETWATER — Five interceptions and as many lost fumbles did irreparable harm to the Goliad cause as the Big Spring team lost a 24-0 decision to Sweetwater Junior High here Thursday night.

The Colts scored once in the first and added two extra points and added the other two tallies in the third. In addition, they had another six-pointer called back in that round.

Sweetwater gained 192 yards on the ground and in the air while Goliad was limited to 63 yards.

Dick Martin returned a Sweetwater punt 45 yards and otherwise looked good on defense for Big Spring. Brian Nass, Daniel Gomez, Jerry Currie and Gary Hopper also glistered defensively for Big Spring.

On offense, Jimmy Douglas did a good job at fullback while Kim Wrinkle was outstanding at flanker.

Now 2-2 on the season, the Mavericks return to play against Snyder Lamar in Big Spring next Thursday.

Bowling Laurels Go To Dobry, Ray

Joe Dobry and Mike Ray have been declared Bowlers of the Week by the Big Spring Bowling Association. Keglers who frequent the Bowl-A-Rama and the Webb AFB lanes are eligible for the distinction.

Dobry, who does his bowling at the Bowl-A-Rama had an aggregate score of 704 last week. Ray sizzled at Webb with a 725.

The two become eligible to compete in championship competition at the end of the current season.

Daniels Winner

DALLAS (AP) — Terry Daniels, 194, of Dallas battled 12 tough rounds to a split decision over Sonny Moore, 204, of Dallas for the vacant Texas heavyweight title Thursday night.

The meet will be open to four divisions of competition, from Class AAAA through Class B.

Hopper To Miss Imperial Game

ACKERLY — Sands High School football coach received some more bad news Wednesday.

Quarterback Paul Hopper suffered a shoulder separation in a defensive passing drill Tuesday and will be lost to the club for two to four weeks.

He will likely be replaced by freshman David Zant. Departure of Hopper leaves the Mustangs with 16 able bodied troops and one of those, Tony Gillespie, may not be able to play Saturday night, when the Cayuses go to Buena Vista.

Gillespie has a soreness in his shoulder and hasn't worked out in pads for two weeks.

Top Quality USED CARS

Sometimes we get the feeling we're being followed.

Everybody's getting into the act. Everybody's making a small car. And since we've made more of them than anyone else, we thought we'd pass along some things we've learned about the business over the years. First off, there's no doubt about it, the only way to make an economy car is expensively. So Rule No. 1, I don't scrimp. Get yourself the best engineers in the business and then hire 9,000 or so top inspectors to keep them on their toes. Next, try to develop an engine that's not a gossamer. If you can get it to run on pints of oil instead of quarts, great. If you can get it to run on air instead of water, fantastic. Work on things to make your car last longer. Like giving it 45 pounds of point to protect its top and a steel bottom to protect its bottom. Important: Make sure you can service any year car you make. There's nothing worse than having someone find out that a part they need to make their car go is no longer available. Finally, spend less time worrying about what your car looks like and more time worrying about how it works. Perfecting a good economy car is a very time-consuming business. So far it has consumed 25 years of our time.

Thousands Of Coal Miners Walk Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators for a new contract covering 80,000 soft-coal miners planned to continue talks today but appeared resigned to widespread strikes in more than 20 coal-producing states. "We hope . . . that the mines will continue to operate," a spokesman for the industry said Thursday night when talks broke up for the night. The old contract expired at midnight.

Operators said the Nixon administration wage-price freeze and lack of knowledge about Phase 2 were making negotiations difficult.

DIDN'T SHOW
Miners represented by the United Mine Workers union were staying off their jobs at sites in several states, with apparently more than 20,000 out when the contract expired.

In Jenkins, Ky., where the Beth-Elkhorn Corp. employs 1,000 men, a spokesman said: "We're not working—they didn't show up at midnight."

Some 1,750 men at U.S.

Steel's Robena Mine in Uniontown, Pa., were out.

Coal miners traditionally have refused to work without a contract. The walkouts were taking place despite a union spokesman's statement early Friday that "no strike has been called."

The UMW has called its 125-man National Scale and Wage Policy Committee to a meeting in New York Monday, indicating no possibility of a contract settlement before then. The committee is empowered to approve any contract agreement.

NO RESPONSE
Sources said, however, that this did not rule out the possibility of a contract-extension agreement between the union and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

The association's spokesman said it was proposing an extension, but the union made no response to the proposal.

The union is seeking to boost the current top wage of $37 per day to $150, double the current 40-cent-per-ton royalty to the union's welfare and retirement fund and other contract improvements.

Any agreement presumably would be subject to whatever economic restraints President Nixon and Congress impose after the freeze. The union and industry are barred from putting into effect any wage or price increases at least until the freeze expires Nov. 13.

W.A. "Tony" Boyle, president of the union, and R. Heath Lary, vice chairman of the U.S. Steel Corp. and director of the coal-operators' group, are chief negotiators.

Women Plan Africa Study

The first of a four-session mission study on Africa was held Tuesday at the monthly general meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, First United Methodist Church.

The program was presented by Mrs. Dale Vaughan whose introduction to the study included information on Africa's peoples, languages, independent and dependent countries. She noted that Africa is three times as large as the United States and has 700 different dialects, although English and French are the principal languages.

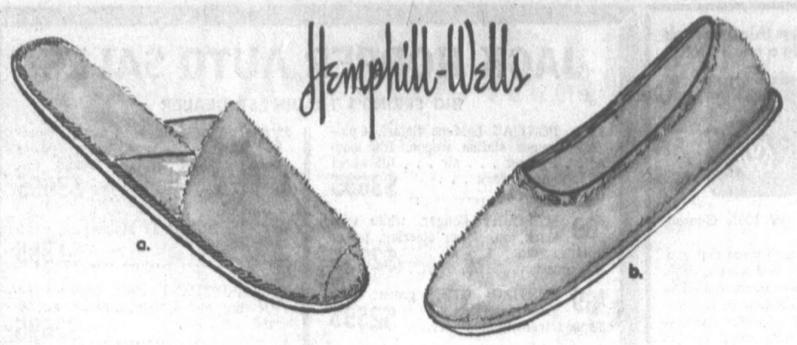

Mrs. Vaughan played a tape, "Voices in the Dark" which was produced by students in Angola and was said to represent concerned students' response to the 1961 revolution in Angola.

The study will continue during the next three weeks. Mrs. Vaughan presided as vice president, and prayer was led by Mrs. H. H. Stephens. Mrs. Olton Jamison and Mrs. Joe C. English were guests.

It was announced that the Church Women United salad luncheon will be held at noon, Friday at First Christian Church. World Community Day will be observed Nov. 6 at Kentwood Methodist Church.

Bible Study

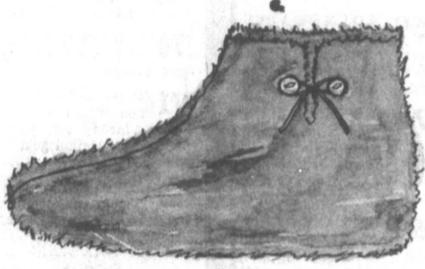

"Forgiveness" was the topic of a Bible study presented by Mrs. Dub Bryant for Lalla Baird Circle, Wesley United Methodist Church, Tuesday in the home of Mrs. W. D. Lovelace, 2209 Carl. Mrs. M. O. Hamby presided, and Mrs. J. C. Ray gave opening prayer. Mrs. Lillian Gray of Odessa was a guest. Devotion was given by Mrs. Ray Anderson. The next meeting is for all circles of the Women's Society of Christian Service, at 9:30 a.m., Oct. 5 at the church parlor.

Redistricting Mixture Puzzles State Board

AUSTIN (AP) The Legislative Redistricting Board has indicated it is unsure whether it can legally draw a mixture of single- and multi-member House districts.

"The question is not at all clear in the mind of the chairman," said Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, board chairman, during a hearing in which witnesses repeatedly urged creation of 150 single-member districts for House members.

Martin asked Earl Luna, Dallas County Democratic chairman and a multi-member district advocate, and Dave Pickett, a Dallas lawyer, to submit legal briefs supporting their view that a statewide redistricting plan can contain both kinds of districts.

"I just think we might get into trouble if we say that Dallas County will have multi-member districts but there will be single-member districts in Harris and Tarrant and maybe some other counties," said Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, another board member.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes also said he thought this was a question that should be resolved. House Speaker Gus Mutscher, a fourth board member, attended the meeting in his first public appearance since his indictment last week on charges he accepted a bribe in return for passing two banking bills desired by Houston financier Frank Sharp.

Mutscher announced he would remain on the board and would not resign as speaker. Mutscher engineered the redistricting bill which the state Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional Sept. 9. The court ruled Monday that the board—not the legislature—had the responsibility for devising a constitutional House reapportionment plan.

Tom Crouch, Dallas County Republican chairman, said, "Many areas of the county (are) not being represented or (are) being under-represented" because 10 of Dallas 15 House members live in the Northwest quadrant of the county.

Luna, however, said single-member districts would "split up into ward politics where all the suburbs are against each other and all collectively are against the central city."

NBL DISGUST VOICED Insurance Policies Can Be Cashed For Only Half Value

DALLAS (AP) — If you own a policy written by National Banker's Life Insurance Co. it is worth exactly half what you think it is should you try to cash it in.

That gum observation was passed on Thursday to policyholders by the State Board of Insurance.

"This is very disgusting," said Harold Legg of Garland. "I paid on this policy for six and a half years and now they tell me it is worth only half of what it should have been," he said.

CASH SURRENDER
National Bankers Life was one of the key firms involved in the stock fraud suit filed by the Securities and Exchange Commission which ultimately embroiled a number of Texas politicians in a nationwide scandal.

Liquidator Tom McFarling said his office has failed to recollateralize a $2,175,000 NBL loan to Jake Jacobson and Ray Cowan of Austin.

He said this failure resulted in a $1 million reduction in NBL's reserves which led to cutting the policy cash surrender benefits.

But McFarling said full death benefits are still available to policyholders under the reinsurance agreement with Union Bankers Insurance Co. of Dallas.

McFarling said it will be five years before policies attain their full cash surrender value. He said the loss until that time has been graduated on a 10 per cent per annum basis.

STILL TRYING
McFarling said the loan to the Austin men was of "questionable value" and was reduced $1 million in computing the NBL reserves.

He said his office is still trying to get the Austin men to exchange the mortgage loan for some acceptable collateral but added that his office hasn't the power to force them.

He said foreclosure is not a practical solution. NBL policyholders apparently have little choice but to accept Union Bankers as their new insurer since rejecting the certificate of reinsurance would apparently mean NBL would retain the policy.

The government claims the losses have occurred as a result of a stock manipulation scheme involving several politicians.

John Osorio, former president of NBL, is now under indictment on charges of giving the state false information.
