

Nixon Walking Lightly On Dilemma Of Woman On U. S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is in a political and philosophical dilemma over the question of appointing a woman to the Supreme Court.

A wide variety of influential women's organizations have indicated the question will be an important political issue in the upcoming election year and Nixon can't afford to alienate women, 53 per cent of the nation's ballot power.

Yet the President has said he wants to fill the two current vacancies on the high court with persons who follow his strict constructionist views.

Justices following this line generally take a limited view of their prerogatives and those of the court and are reluctant to upset state and federal laws or disturb criminal convictions. But most of the dozen or so women mentioned so far for the high court seem to be of a more liberal and activist bent.

In the two weeks or so since Justice Hugo L. Black's resignation opened up the first of the court vacancies, the White House has been under mounting pressure from politically powerful groups urging Nixon to score an historic first by putting a woman on the high court.

The groups include the new bipartisan National Women's Political Caucus, which is spearheading the effort; the 200,000 — member Common Cause, the national councils of Catholic and Negro women, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and the Black Caucus and 12 women in Congress.

The lobbying adds up to what inside sources say is "fairly heavy" mail coming to the White House. In an unusual show of unanimity, the congresswomen, nine Democrats and three Republicans, urged Nixon last week "to take a major step forward in implementing the nation's high ideal of equality for all" by naming a woman.

All backers claim there is an ample supply of women with the required judicial qualifications.

Former Chief Justice Earl Warren joined the cause by declaring no reason exists "whatsoever why a woman should not be on the court." A retired colleague, Justice Tom Clark, said "it would be great."

In what may have been a trial balloon to test sentiment on the issue, it was reported Thursday that the Nixon administration was indicating it probably would not nominate a woman because its talent search had not turned up a woman who combined the Nixon strict constructionist philosophy and a sufficiently distinguished background.

This brought a round of reporters' queries to presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, who quickly said: "Women have not been ruled out of active consideration."

Sources inside the White House say that the Nixon administration is well aware national attention is being focused on the issue and that the subject has been raised with Nixon aides on some recent out-of-town presidential trips. Women judges, law school professors and legislators have been among proposed candidates. White House sources said that over a dozen women's names have been put on the list sent to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell for consideration.

Guards, Prisoners Injured In Pontiac Prison Rioting

PONTIAC, Ill. (AP) — Two prisoners were shot and wounded and five guards were injured Saturday in a disturbance at Pontiac State Prison, officials said.

An official of the Illinois Department of Law said about 300 inmates at the maximum security institution armed themselves with homemade weapons and scattered throughout the prison. A state police spokesman said at least 40 state troopers were dispatched to the prison with another 75, dressed in riot gear, on the way.

According to the spokesman, the disturbance erupted after a prison-yard gang fight. The trooper said the inmates then broke into a foundry where they armed themselves. A spokesman for the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement said the inmates appeared to be milling around in the prison yard.

The spokesman added that all off duty guards at the maximum security institution had been called in and that sheriff's police and city policemen also were called.

A witness just outside the prison walls in this community of 10,000 said smoke was seen rising from inside. A spokesman at the prison, when asked if fires had been started, replied, "Yes, but nothing of consequence yet."

There are approximately 1,100 inmates at the prison.

In June 1954, about 450 of the prison's 1,414 inmates participated in a riot in which one inmate was killed.

After an investigation, then Warden Daniel E. Bergan said he believed that riot was instigated by convicts who hoped to escape in the confusion.

Guards at the prison quelled the disturbance with tear gas but one inmate was killed by gunfire from one of the guards,

Rockets Hit Saigon Just Prior To Balloting

SAIGON (AP)—Viet Cong gunners fired three Soviet-made rockets into central Saigon Sunday two hours before the start of the country's controversial presidential election.

The U.S. command reported three Soviet-made rockets into central Saigon Sunday two hours before the start of the country's controversial presidential election.

The U.S. command reported three Vietnamese were killed and five were wounded.

The rockets were the first to hit the capital since Dec. 19, when two missiles struck Saigon.

However, Aug. 29 at the time of the country's elections for lower house members, three rockets hit at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase on the edge of the city.

Sunday's rockets apparently were a token firing by the Viet Cong to show their presence as the South Vietnamese prepared to vote.

The rockets hit at about 4:40 a.m., two hours and 20 minutes before the polls opened at 7 a.m.

Six Americans Die In Airplane Crash

TIELT, Belgium (AP) — All 63 persons—including six Americans—aboard a British European Airways plane en route from London to Salzburg were killed when it crashed near here Saturday.

Witnesses said that one of the turbo-prop engines exploded shortly before the airliner plunged into a field.

In addition to its crew of eight the plane was carrying 37 Britons, eight Austrians, six Americans and four Japanese.

BEA declined to release the names of the passengers until next of kin had been informed.

United Fund Drive Kicks Off Monday

"If you don't do it, it won't get done. Give the United Way."

The slogan for this year's United Fund drive sets the theme United Fund directors and their groups will follow. The seven directors and the numerous people who will help them when the fund drive kicks off Monday are doing what is needed to raise the $110,000 that is the goal of this year's drive.

The money will go to 15 welfare and youth guidance associations in Big Spring. This includes the Big Spring Boys Club, part of the United Fund group for the first time this year.

Senate Approves More Lunch Aid

WASHINGTON — (AP) The Senate has passed and sent to the House a resolution directing the Nixon administration to increase federal payments to the states for school lunches for needy youngsters.

The measure, passed 75 to 5 Friday, would in effect increase the federal contribution per lunch from 35 cents to 46 cents.

"When you're hungry, you're hungry," said Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., to the objections of some senior Appropriations Committee members who said that they were planning a supplemental money bill in a few weeks to take care of the situation.

A similar resolution has been introduced in the House and is awaiting action in the Education and Labor Committee.

Funds for the organizations next year will be: YMCA $16,500; Lake View YMCA $6,000; Girls Scouts $9,000; Salvation Army $17,000; West Side Youth Center $1,800; Summer Recreation Program $1,175; Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center $10,500; Boy Scouts $12,000; Milk and Medicine Fund $2,400; Red Cross $14,700; Texas Rehabilitation Center (Gonzales) $250; Air Force Aid Society $2,750; Half-Way House $300; USO $750; and Boys Club $2,500.

The division directors of the United Fund are: Paul Meek, Out-of-town division; Don Bohannon, big gifts; Dearl Pittman, special division; R. E. Hickson, employee division; Erven Fisher, public employees division; Wayne Rock, metropolitan division; and Mrs. Gene McElroy, women's division. (See Page 5-A.)

This year's fund drive should be finished by the end of the month, according to Robertson, and is taking place during the United Way Campaign Month of October, as designated by Gov. Preston Smith.

MIDLAND JURORS TURN DOWN DEATH PENALTY

Orville Davis Sentenced To Life In Prison

By LINDA CROSS
MIDLAND — A panel of eight men and four women Friday found Orville B. Davis, 51, Casper, Wyo., guilty of murder with malice and sentenced him to life in prison.

Prosecution attorneys had sought the death penalty against Davis for his part in the Dec. 2 slaying of wealthy Glasscock County rancher Steve Currie, 71. Following completion of final arguments shortly before 3 p.m. Friday, the jury began its two-hour deliberation for an additional 50 minutes on the penalty.

Davis is the first of five persons to be tried in connection with murder of Currie. Judy Dunham, 23, has been granted immunity in the case and will not be tried. She was the principal witness against Davis. Whitmer Jean Ballard, 45, the alleged trigger-man in the case, will be the next to be tried.

Floyd Palmer, also charged with murder with malice in the case, is still at large, and Tommy Tisdale is in the custody of federal authorities.

The trial took 10 days to complete, with six days devoted to the tedious process of jury selection. Testimony began on the afternoon of the sixth day. Jury problems had plagued the case since the beginning when efforts failed last June to select a jury in Garden City, nine miles from the slain rancher's home.

District Judge R. W. Caton, who remained with the case throughout, ordered a change of venue to Ballinger, near San Angelo, but the case was later moved to 142nd District Court in Midland. Another change of venue is probable in Ballard's case. Ballard was originally to have been tried along with Davis, but attorney Vern Martin entered a motion, which was granted, for severance of the two defendants. Prosecution attorneys concurred in the motion. Bobby Bearden, court appointed attorney for the two men, elected to remain as Ballard's lawyer while Martin was appointed to defend Davis.

In his final argument before the jury, Martin said: "I don't think there's no way that the state has proved this case beyond a reasonable doubt."

"I'm sure you were curious as to why there were three experienced prosecutors on this case, as I was curious," Martin addressed the jury. "The reason was there was not enough evidence to prove malice aforethought, especially against this defendant."

According to Martin, prosecutors Gil Jones, 118th District Attorney Wayne Burns and 142nd District Attorney Jim Mashburn did not eliminate all the circumstances other than "malice aforethought" which could have resulted in Currie's death. Martin touched on accidental shooting and on murder without malice.

"It could have been murder without malice. Something happens to raise a chain of events during which time a man acts in anger without a chance for cool reflection," said Martin. To illustrate his point, he referred to the bullet apparently fired by Currie which had lodged into the front door of the home, implying that seeing Currie armed might have startled the gunman into firing.

Martin said that evidence presented by the prosecution might have established clearly that one of the defendants other than Davis shot Currie, but they had not proved "beyond a shadow of a doubt" that the murder was intentional.

Martin also attacked the theory of Davis' part in a robbery conspiracy, saying that all evidence indicated that the original plan was devised by Mrs. Dunham, Palmer and Tyrone Wilson, and it had never been proven that Davis had any part in the planning of the crime.

"When they got out there (Currie's ranch), there was a preconceived plan which Ballard changed, and by no means can you believe this was a common plan. They were fighting about it, arguing about it," said Martin, referring to statements made by Mrs. Dunham on the occurrences of Dec. 2, 1970.

Martin attempted to discredit the testimony of Melvin Sheppard and Judy Dunham by referring to their backgrounds, and as she was the chief witness in the case, Martin particularly attacked Mrs. Dunham's credibility as a witness.

"The prosecution has never suggested to you that Judy Dunham was a Girl Scout leader," said Gil Jones. "I don't say that she did not agree to help these people in their deadly purpose."

"She has chosen to separate herself from them and testify. Of course, she testified to save her own life, that's true, and who can blame her," asked Jones.

Martin had pointed out that

Davis was not originally part of the plan to rob Currie but had allegedly filled in for Wilson. Addressing himself to this point, Jones said:

"I agree the evidence shows he was a second team substitute, and in the time-honored tradition of number two, he tried harder."

Jones took excerpts from Riley Jackson's testimony to show that one month after the murder of Currie, Davis knew where Ballard was, his alias and phone number — "Still a part of the team," according to Jones.

Also pointed out as an example of Davis' "team spirit" was his alleged borrowing of a car from Melvin Sheppard, another state witness, to go back to Garden City the day after the robbery to look for Ballard.

"The second stringer still wanted to get his hands on the money and the jewelry," said Jones, referring to Sheppard's testimony in which he said Davis had told him Ballard had gotten money and jewels from the Currie home, but Davis didn't know how much.

Jones pointed out corroboration for each line of Mrs. Dunham's testimony and said:

"No, she's not a Sunday school teacher, and I'm afraid she never will be, but I think you can see that her testimony was clear, direct and true."

The murder of Currie was called a "natural and probable consequence" of the robbery in arguments by the prosecution and Jones concluded with:

"They forgot about another natural and probable consequence of their acts which was that some day in some courthouse somewhere, 12 good responsible citizens of their community would pass judgment on their actions. That too was, and today is, a natural and probable consequence of I feel that this too will their actions Dec. 2, 1970, and ultimately have fatal consequences."

'SELFISHLY CLINGING TO POSITIONS OF POWER'

Texas Editors Think Mutscher Should Step Down

By The Associated Press

The hue-and-cry for indicted House Speaker Gus Mutscher to step down as speaker is supported, often vigorously, by Texas newspaper editorials, a sampling showed Saturday.

The editorial pages point out that Mutscher is innocent until proven guilty.

Yet, added the San Angelo Standard-Times, taking the view point stated by other newspapers:

"That does not alter the fact that by selfishly clinging to his positions of power, Mutscher further degrades state government and a further erodes public respect for and faith in that government. And for what reason? Stepping down pending settlement of criminal charges lodged against him would be no admission of guilt; it would only be evidence of respect for the government of which he is an officer. It could only help, not hurt, both state government and Mutscher's personal reputation and standing."

Mutscher, the speaker pro tem, Rep. Tommy Shannon, and Rush McGinty, Mutscher's top aide, were indicted by a Travis County (Austin) grand jury Sept. 23.

The grand jury contended that their acceptance of loans from Frank W. Sharp and the Sharpstown State Bank of Houston was acceptance of a bribe to pass banking legislation Sharp wanted. The legislature passed the bills in 1969, but Gov. Preston Smith vetoed them.

The loans were used to buy stock in Sharp's National Bankers Life Insurance Co. All three of those indicted, as well as other politicians, made large profits quickly in the stock.

From 40 to 50 conservatives in the legislature have held at least three meetings since Mutscher's name appeared in the stock-bank deals.

The meetings have urged Mutscher to resign as speaker while continuing as a House member. The arrangement appeared completed last weekend, but on Thursday Mutscher said he would retain his speaker's post, in effect defying the conservative group which generally is made up of his friends.

The other major development of the past week in the scandals was the indictment by a Houston federal grand jury of eight persons on charges of violating banking laws involving the Sharpstown bank. Four defendants are former bank examiners.

The Dallas Times Herald says in its Sunday edition: "The refusal of Mutscher to resign or step aside, in the face of his bribery indictment and despite the advice of both friends and foes, may be understandable from his viewpoint but it is an unfortunate and troubling development."

"Mutscher said he had determined that he could not legally appoint a stand-in to serve on the redistricting board and, in addition, there was speculation that he had decided to hold on to his position as an aid in his court defense."

We have urged Mutscher to resign or step aside, not only because of the cloud over him in the form of the bribery indictment but also because he used his power so punitively in drawing up the original House redistricting bill.

The Mutscher redistricting bill was declared unconstitutional by the Texas Supreme Court and now the five-man redistricting board must quickly draw new lines for the 150 state representatives.

"The other four members of the board are well aware that the eyes of Texas voters will be on them as they draft new district maps. Any tendency to permit Mutscher to punish those who opposed him during the 62nd session will result in strong disapproval for the other four."

Mutscher would do himself and his friends a service by resigning or stepping aside as speaker pending what should be a speedy trial on the bribery indictment. On the other hand, some of his foes are happy to see him stay in office, thus providing them a ready target for campaign purposes."

The Fort Worth Star Telegram had this to say:

"Mutscher says he will not step down. There is no reason for it," he said.

"He is wrong."

"Most of us—the people of Texas—believe that a man is innocent until he is proved guilty. That is basic in our law. As a citizen, Speaker Mutscher comes under that rule."

"But Speaker Mutscher is more than a citizen. He is speaker of the House of Representatives in a state where faith in our government is reeling under the impact of wheeler-dealer activities of some of our elected representatives."

"The ability of that government to operate efficiently rests on the faith of the electorate in the government."

"The fact requires that our elected officials have the appearance as well as the fact of virtue. Regardless of what is the outcome of the indictment of Mr. Mutscher, right now under the cloud of the indictment he does not have that appearance."

"Mr. Mutscher says he is innocent. So surely he feels that the application of this rule is harsh."

"It is tough. But that is one of the rules of the game. The speaker hired out, and he knew it when he took the job."

"The speaker should step down. And there is plenty of reason for that action."

"Mutscher's usefulness as speaker of the House is impaired if not destroyed. His term does not expire until January 1973. A special session of the legislature is yet to come to appropriate for the second year of the current biennium.

Texas and its legislature has never been faced with a like situation before. Mutscher would serve the best interest of the state if he would step out of the speakership and leave the legislature free to choose a successor for its special session."

The San Antonio Express and News said editorially a week ago that:

"If a quick trial (for Mutscher) is impractical, he should seriously consider standing aside during the special session. His announced consultations to determine whether he should pursue another term as speaker should include consideration to resign as speaker pending his trial."

"Fairness dictates that Mutscher be given the earliest possible trial... An indictment isn't a conviction but Mutscher, because he is a key public official in the legislature, is just as surely under a cloud until the matter is resolved. He cannot expect to function effectively as the speaker until the questions raised in the indictments are answered."

ATTEMPT TO JUSTIFY EXPENSE

Dealing With Sharp A 'Mistake'

HOUSTON (AP) — A lawyer says the federal government sought indictments against eight relatively unknown persons to justify its granting of immunity to former Houston financier Frank Sharp.

"I am of the opinion and I believe the public is of the opinion that Mr. Frank Sharp was the whole in this investigation," said Gerald Applewhite, who represents Houston real estate investor Charles L. Henke.

Henke and seven others were indicted Wednesday by the federal grand jury on charges relating to the investigation of Sharp's financial empire.

Applewhite, a former assistant U. S. attorney, commented after Henke voluntarily surrendered to U. S. marshals and was released on a $5,000 personal recognizance bond.

"I think the government now realizes it did make a very grave mistake in making a deal with Mr. Sharp," Applewhite asserted Friday. "The government is now attempting to justify in the taxpayer's mind the tremendous expense that this investigation has cost by filing every technical violation possible against as many individuals as possible."

Applewhite said the alleged acts of his client have not cost the people a cent.

"How many millions of dollars has Mr. Sharp cost the public?" Applewhite asked.

Sharp paid a $5,000 fine Friday. He was assessed the fine and a three-year probation sentence in June after pleading guilty to making a false entry in bank records and dealing in unregistered stock. He was granted immunity from further prosecution in return for his testimony before the federal grand jury here.

The Sharpstown Realty Co., a Sharp controlled firm, has filed a list of creditors in federal bankruptcy court showing secured notes payable totaling $22.85 million.

The list was filed in connection with allegations by Houston Educational Foundation Inc. operators of Strake Jesuit Prep-arary College, that the real estate firm is insolvent.

The foundation, formerly known as the Jesuit Fathers of Houston, alleges its dealings with Sharp made it necessary for the foundation to reorganize under provisions of federal bankruptcy laws.

Sharpstown Realty has denied it is insolvent and has requested a jury trial in the Jesuit allegation.

Besides the secured notes payable, the list of creditors also includes $3.7 million in unsecured notes payable, including $1.45 million owed to the Jesuit Fathers of Houston.

The court document shows the realty firm owes $11,936 to Will Wilson, Sharp's former lawyer and now chief of the Criminal Division of the U. S. Justice Department. Wilson is owed the sum for "legal services rendered" over a period of months.

Sharpstown Realty was part of the Sharp financial complex which crumbled last January when the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission broke the Texas stock fraud scandals.

THE WEEK

of Big Spring pays $200 a month toward the service.

Although not of a magnitude to generate widespread excitement, there were two wildcat oil strikes for Howard County during the week.

Petrodynamics No. 1 Higginbotham, about 10 miles northwest of Big Spring and three miles south of the new Schlemenz (Spraberry) field, finalized for 113 barrels in the Dean. Diagonally across the county, Mobil No. 22 Hyman completed for 13 barrels in the Wolfcamp.

Howard County Junior College added a bit to the building total by letting a pair of contracts for metal storage buildings. One is for general storage, the other for vehicles; the total was $22,654.

When it was finally over, the runoff from rains of the previous week left Lake E. V. Spence up 3.84 feet and with 18,000 acre-feet more water. Lake Thomas up 2.44 feet and 9,000 acre-feet fuller. Together the two have 175,000 acre-feet, the greatest amount in storage since April 1963.

Happiness for the City of Big Spring was a check from the State Treasurer for its share of the quarterly sales tax. This time it was up $109,352, up $9,000 from a year ago and the largest check since the city tax was imposed three years ago. For the financially beleaguered city, this is like the cavalry coming over the hill.

The city council was involved in a hassle over insurance premiums after a 3-2 vote awarded coverage to the Big Spring Independent Insurance Association over the proposal of the newly formed Howard County Insurance Agency, which claimed its offer on fire insurance was $3,500 lower. The successful group disputed this, contending the latter did not bid on two other phases of coverage. There were hints of legal action, though this seemed a bit nebulous.

On another front, the city was gradually but methodically closing in on those with illegal water and sewer taps. Jack Watkins, commissioner, said three of his rent houses had by-passes previously installed, and only one had so far been found. It also was claimed that tampering so far discovered would mean $20,000 more revenue to the city.

County commissioners carved out one new voting precinct — Box 22 — from jumbo box No. 4 and enlarged boundaries of No. 15. This was a good start toward whittling down the size of the outlandishly big boxes, but none of the others was touched.

The multiple sclerosis citywide canvass had good results, some $3,000 being collected. This is one of the newer health agency appeals.

In today's Herald and its copy of the Texas Star there is an article by Big Spring's Charley Johnson. Charley, who once wore the black and gold of Big Spring High, New Mexico State and St. Louis Cardinals, is the quarterback for the Houston Oilers. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. (Perry) Johnson, still reside here. His wife is the former Barbara Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shields.

The Big Spring Steers opened their district schedule Friday inauspiciously against Abilene, failing to cash in on chances to win. Unless the team can generate more scoring punch on a sputtering offense, it will have to settle for its stout defense, and hope it never leaks. The club has the potential of being one of the league's best.

Short Agenda For Commission

County commissioners will meet in regular session Monday at 9 a.m.

Items on the agenda include a conference with Hollis Randall, road administrator, a conference with Mrs. Edna Nichols, librarian, and a 10 a.m. conference with L. A. Hillbrunner.

The conference with Hillbrunner will concern the contract with Alert Ambulance Service.

Canal Opening Is Approach Toward Mideast Settlement

JOE GOODMAN

Pipe Line Employee Is Retiring

Joe V. Goodman, who has completed 34 years of service with the Texas-New Mexico Pipe Line Company, will retire today in Big Spring, according to P. A. Lyons, division manager.

Goodman is a native of London, Tex., and attended school there. He joined the Texas - New Mexico Pipe Line Company at Junction as a laborer.

He served as a laborer at San Marcos and Eunice, N.M.; a pipe liner at Ozona, Crane and Eunice, N.M.; local station engineer at Crane; delivery gauger at Midland; and district gauger at Jal, N.M. He became district gauger at Big Spring Nov. 19, 1952, and served in this assignment until retirement.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodman will continue to live at 1519 E. 17th. They have two daughters, Molly, San Antonio and Patty, Austin.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers believes the diplomatic consensus here favors an accord on reopening the Suez Canal as the only practical approach now available toward an over-all Mideast settlement.

In concluding this from private talks with other leaders attending the U.N. General Assembly, however, Rogers is shunning any flat prediction that a Suez solution will be reached this fall.

For instance, he is authoritatively reported to have spoken only in terms of "a chance, a possibility" for a Suez deal when asked about the prospects by a friendly Western foreign minister Friday.

Rogers and his top Mideast expert, Asst. Secretary of State Joseph Sisco, are putting forward a six-point Suez settlement plan as a high priority item in their backstage meetings here.

They have concluded from separate sessions with other foreign ministers of the Big Four — Britain, France and the Soviet Union — that the big powers do not see a joint role for themselves in the current phase of Mideast talks.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was said to have backed the Arab position — but to have indicated the Kremlin would not try to disrupt the U.S. peace-seeking effort.

Egypt is said to have advised that it would not bring up the Mideast issue in the General Assembly before mid-November.

U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarving, it was reported, is not ready to resume his move for an over-all settlement. His mission bogged down over Arab-Israeli differences early this year.

Rogers figures a reopening of the canal, closed since the 1967 war, is desired by nations both in and outside of the Mideast area, and therefore would present the best path toward a general Mideast peace agreement.

Rogers' six-point proposal covers:

- A link between an interim Suez agreement and a permanent Mideast solution, making plain that the canal opening arrangement is to be a first step toward an over-all settlement.
- Opening of the canal.
- Extension of the Mideast cease-fire for a long enough period to allow the working out of a permanent settlement.
- Withdrawal of Israel from the canal area in order to allow the Egyptians to operate the waterway.

'STORY BEHIND THE STORY' OF UPRISING

Controversy Over Press Coverage Of Attica

By EDMUND PINTO
 ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — This is the story behind the story of Attica.

In the wake of the prison uprising in which 42 men died, the press coverage of the events at Attica state prison has generated a controversy of its own.

It is focused chiefly on the press' role in distributing on that Monday afternoon the reports that rebellious inmates had slashed the throats of hostages who died. The reports later were described by medical authorities as false and some critics charged the press was too ready to accept as fact the word of the officials.

In another view, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and New York's Conservative Republican Sen. James L. Buckley have criticized the coverage as slanted in behalf of the inmates.

The 30-foot walls of the maximum security prison separated the press from events inside. The state permitted press pools — newsmen with cameras — inside the prison

Thursday, Friday and Saturday to witness negotiations. There was no pool on the Sunday before the armed attack.

Gerald Houlihan, public information officer for the state Correction Department, and other state officials came out every two or three hours to read official statements and answer some of newsmen's questions.

It was at one of these sessions, an hour and half after the police raid broke the rebellion in its fourth day, that the report of threat slasings was heard for the first time from the lips of a state official.

In the first days, some information came from those who went in and out of the prison — chaplains, members of the civilian mediation team and those police officers who would answer questions as they passed newsmen at the gate.

Some facts of Monday morning, the day of the raid are well known by now. Roughly 1,000 armed peace officers moved against 1,200 convicts who held 38 hostages in their D

Block exercise yard. As a result, 42 persons are dead — 10 prison employees and 32 convicts. One guard — William Quinn — had died Saturday morning of injuries received earlier in the revolt.

At approximately 8:50 a.m., Houlihan appeared outside the prison. He distributed to newsmen mimeographed texts of an ultimatum that Corrections Commissioner Russel G. Oswald urged the immediate release of all hostages and a restoration of order to the prison.

As reporters waited for further official word, hundreds of day shift state police, heavily armed and carrying gas masks, entered the prison to join the night shift. Two helicopters on the lawn outside the prison were started up.

One helicopter took off. It circled above the prison once, and suddenly swung back across the walls at low level, dumping canisters of tear gas into the yard below.

The time was 9:46 a.m. Immediately, gunfire rattled and boomed inside and from atop the gray walls, accompanied by screams and shouts. The tear gas drifted over the wall, gagging reporters and relatives of prison employees who had massed there. Shouts and calls for assistance crackled loudly from radios in parked police cruisers.

About 1 1/2 hours after the assault Houlihan appeared at the gate to make the first official statement on hostage deaths. He reported that 37 convicts and hostages had been killed.

In a chaotic scene, newsmen shouted questions up to him. "How about the cut throats?" someone shouted. The question was asked several times. Houlihan demurred several times and then said, "Several hostages had their throats slashed."

Another report of throat slasings came from Capt. Frank Wald, a guard hostage, whose own throat bore slash marks seen by an AP reporter.

In New York City, that afternoon, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller issued a statement attributing hostage deaths to the "high-

GOOD FOR THOSE ACHES AND PAINS — Bill Harrell, 82, who says he taught Lyndon Johnson how to bridle a mule, says horse liniment is speeding his hospital bed recovery from a car-mule wagon crash. His doctor does not object, he says. A nurse did until he told her if he could not keep the liniment the hospital could not keep Harrell.

Not Exactly What His Doctor Ordered

AUSTIN (AP) — Bill Harrell, 82, who says he taught Lyndon Johnson how to bridle a mule, is using horse liniment on himself to speed his hospital bed recovery from an automobile-mule wagon accident.

Harrell said medicines prescribed by Dr. Bud Dryden, a city councilman, lacked the punch of the veterinary liniment. The liniment helps his soreness from the crash, he said.

"It's got directions for people, Harrell said, adding that the doctor did not object.

Harrell's wagon was destroyed Tuesday when a car hit it from the rear. The mules escaped injury.

Harrell has done odd jobs all his life, including road work years ago near Johnson City. That's when he met the young Johnson, he says.

OIL Martin Holds Third Place

Martin County continued in its familiar pattern of third most active county in Permian Basin drilling last week.

The weekly survey of Reed Drilling Tools showed Martin with 13 rigs going, a decline of two for the week. First place went to Pecos County with 23, a decline of three, and second to Lea County, N.M., with 19, a decline of three.

Other area counties showed Borden with one, unchanged; Glasscock one, down one; Howard four, unchanged; Midland three, down one; Reagan three, up one; Scurry one, unchanged. The basin total was 161, down 16.

In Glasscock County, John L. Cox No. 1 Reynolds, 1,980 from the south and 1,480 from the east lines of section 10-32-4s, T&P, 10 miles east of Garden City, recovered 2,500 feet of gas and two feet of free oil on a drillstem test from 7,561-7,610. It continued toward contract depth of 10,000.

Thirsty Burglars Raid Ice Boxes

Burglars in search of refreshment and entertainment broke into two local residences Saturday.

Thirsty yegs took a case of beer, one six pack and $20 in change from the home of Eleanor Morrison, 218 N. Johnson. The burglary was reported to police at 4:32 a.m. Saturday.

William Bautista, 825 W. 7th, reported at 3:04 p.m. Saturday that his home had been entered, and a television set and a portable stereo, total value $162, had been taken.

Pharmacy Facts

By Bob Knight, R. Ph.

The manufacture of the antibiotic which may someday save your life is a complex and critical process. Molds are introduced and grown in large vats. The air which is needed for growth must be sterilized to avoid contamination. Precise temperatures must be maintained. Stirring is constant. Finally, the broth containing the antibiotic is drawn from the vat and the antibiotic is extracted. It is then refined, crystallized, combined with other ingredients and packed. Tests are performed on laboratory animals to insure the effectiveness and purity of each batch.

EXPULSION TERMED 'RED SCARE' TO MASK FAILURES

Britain Braces For Backlash From Spy Purge

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The battle of British and Soviet spymasters hit peaks of bitterness Saturday with each side firing off new charges and indications of reprisals against the other.

At the same time, Prime Minister Edward Heath's government braced to meet a developing backlash to its expulsion of 105 suspected Soviet spies eight days ago.

This shaped up in the form of swelling criticism of the action from inside and outside Britain, with suggestions that political, more than security, factors set off the unprecedented assault on Russia's presence here.

Scotland yard's Special

Branch denied Saturday newspaper reports that detectives had already arrested a number of spies whose cover was apparently blown by KGB defector Oleg Lyalin. The Special Branch deals with Britain's internal security.

But the British Press Association, which has close contacts with both Scotland Yard and the government, reported: "It is clear that the Special Branch and police forces in several parts of Britain have been investigating contacts for months between British subjects and the banned Russians."

"They are trying to assess whether the nature of the contracts contravened the law," Pravda named a number of British businessmen as agents of British intelligence, leading the British firms to react with amazement. The firms, including British European Airways and General Electric, said that in some cases the Russians had gotten the names of their alleged suspects wrong and in other cases they could find no record of ever employing the men named by Pravda.

In Britain, former Defense Secretary Denis Healey voiced the anxiety of opposition Laborite leaders about the spy purge when he complained the expulsion amounted to a "Red scare" designed to mask the government's failures in other fields.

Pravda named a number of West Germany, France and the Scandinavian countries, uneasy grumbles were reported that the quarrel could widen to the point of scuttling the movement toward East-West cooperation, especially in the field of security.

The two Russian defectors—Lyalin and his blonde secretary, Irena Teplyakova—remained in hiding at a secret British intelligence post near London.

British sources say they are in love. Each is married. The fact of their liaison—and that there had been a double defection—had been kept secret by the British, who were not anxious to spread any impression that personal factors may have played a part in Lyalin's decision to quit the service of the Kremlin.

In the conflict between the British and Soviet espionage systems these developments were reported:

—A British source in New York, believed to be Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home himself, told British newsmen that several Britons and foreigners in this country are to be charged with spying for Russia. Some of the accusations may relate to what were said to be Soviet plans to sabotage defense installations in an emergency. Any such trials would keep the nation's spy drama alive for quite a while.

—Soviet newspapers lifted the lid off what they portrayed as British spying activities not only in Russia but through the Arab world and in West Germany.

They quoted former British double agent Kim Philby as listing a number of spies and agents in the Mideast. And they charged that various British business, airline and private groups, including journalists, work for the intelligence services.

The nub of the Soviet counter-offensive against the British was this:

The Heath government's expulsion of 105 spy suspects has the purpose of wrecking the Soviet-sponsored project for a European security conference and of generally slowing down East-West detente. As for the defection of Lyalin, the Russians have taken the line he is a no-good playboy who got himself involved with his secretary.

Britain's rejoinder amounted to this:

Britain remains as interested as ever in a European security system—but there can be no security for any European state so long as the Russians continue their massive espionage and subversion activities. As for Lyalin, the British claim he is a key KGB man who brought a stack of secrets with him confirming their own information about the Soviet spying system in this country.

Four former Labor government Cabinet ministers have slammed the Heath government's motives and methods of handling the spy drama. The criticisms of Michael Stewart, Barbara Castle, Richard Crossman and Healey signaled the likelihood of a big attack on the government when the Laborites meet in annual convention in Brighton next week.

Nevertheless, the Foreign Office operation to cut down the Russian presence in Britain from its 550 strength has been under way at least a year. But its final execution was a hurried job sparked, spokesmen have said, by Lyalin's defection. This took place three days before a scheduled meeting in New York between Douglas-Home and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Am. Gromyko.

Now it seems to be coming clear that quite a few British officials would like to see a swift end to the affair as possible. They have the feeling the whole thing is getting out of hand.

Soviet reprisals—beyond words—have yet to come.

British officials assume the Russians will match the purge of their own officials in Britain with a counter expulsion operation. Besides 80 diplomats in their Moscow embassy, the British have a regular colony of about 400 businessmen in Russia.

Man Is Treated For Knife Wound

Ernest Herrera, 37, of 3306 W. 4th, was treated for knife wounds early Saturday at Medical Center Memorial.

Police report that they were notified at 5:40 a.m. by a nurse at the hospital that a man had been brought in for treatment, but Herrera would not tell police who his assailant was.

Pontiff Cautions His Bishops On Relationships With Press

VATICAN CITY (AP) — With the third World Synod of Bishops barely under way a dispute has erupted over the synod's relations with the press.

Pope Paul VI pointed to the problem by criticizing an Italian television program on which a liberal Italian theologian charged the church as too stagnant.

The pontiff also cautioned bishops against being influenced by outside pressures, including "the pressure of enticing or troublesome publicity."

Leon Etienne Cardinal Duval of Algiers, who headed the synod's first session on Thursday, ended the day by cautioning bishops to be "very careful" in talking to newsmen.

The pro-Communist Rome newspaper Paese Sera joined the dispute today by saying the Pope spoke as if addressing "a group of undisciplined seminarians" instead of a "tranquil group of bishops mature in years and presumably in experience."

Poland's Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski asked today for stricter reserve for synod discussions. He warned against the giving of interviews by bishops and the divulging of texts.

The police prelate said journalists' reports of synod speeches were "so monstrous ... that speakers themselves could never imagine them even in their dreams." According to Cardinal Wyszynski, bishops who give accounts of their speeches to the press in order to win praise "should be censured." He said it would be better to shut down the synod press service altogether.

John Cardinal Dearden, archbishop of Detroit, responded to the Polish Cardinal's speech by saying that a synod cut-off from "the people of God" would be "absurd."

OFFICIALS CANCEL AGENCY CONTRACT

Guard Charged With Murder At School

FORT WORTH (AP) — Police charged David Robinson, 28, Saturday with murder in the shooting death of a young man at Trimble Technical High School here.

Officers said Jodie Lamb, 21, was shot fatally Friday by Robinson, a school security guard, after Lamb and two companions were told to leave the school grounds.

School officials said they have cancelled the contract of the Pinkerton Detective Agency for which Robinson worked.

Bond was set at $8,000.

Police said the guard confronted Lamb in a school hallway, determined he was not a pupil and asked him to leave.

"Make me leave," Lamb reportedly replied.

School authorities said Assistant Principal Mike Palmer told the trio to leave and that Lamb reportedly replied something to the effect that "I'm going to kill you if don't stop messing with me."

The guard, after getting a pistol from the trunk of his car, met Lamb again, and asked him to leave.

"No," Lamb reportedly said. "I want to fight."

As Lamb, his right hand in his front pants pocket, stepped forward, the guard fired several times, officers said.

School Supt. Julius Truelson said the school system had experienced a growing problem with outsiders coming onto school campuses and that in the last two weeks school officials had decided to become stricter in having offenders picked up and prosecuted for loitering.

Police records showed Lamb was paroled from the state prison June 16 after serving nearly 21 months of a five-year sentence for robbery by assault.

DIRECTOR OF TEXAS PRISONS — Dr. George Beto, Director of the Texas Department of Corrections, who said that he would probably retire within the year. Beto, 55, said he will probably return to teaching.

Minister Ends Decade Of Prison Reforming

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Dr. George Beto says he will resign by Aug. 1 next year. Thus will end the reign of a man who took over the second phase of bringing the Texas prison system out of the backwardness of a century ago and making it a model institution.

"I think that in 10 years' time a man has brought all the creativity to a job like this he can," Beto said in a weekend telephone interview.

The prison head added, "After all, I'm getting older." He is 55.

Beto said he probably will return to teaching.

The Lutheran minister reluctantly took over the job of prison director in 1962 upon the unexpected death of O. B. Ellis, first of the modern Texas prison chiefs.

Ellis was employed in the mid-1950s specifically to correct conditions in the sprawling institution.

DAILY ESCAPES

Conditions were so bad that desperate men escaped or attempted to escape almost daily. Prisoners frequently severed their heel tendons so that they could get away from their regular confinement and be placed in prison hospital wards.

Ellis corrected many of the problems. He underwent one prisoner disruption which ended peacefully when the small group of militant inmates involved found that Ellis was no push-over despite his concern for prisoners.

IMPROVED PRISON

He began building on what Ellis had done, and today prison officials from all over the world visit here to see how Beto has improved things for the 15,500 inmates.

To specify what Beto and the prison board were trying to do, the words "prison" and "Penitentiary" were removed from the terminology. It now is "Department of Corrections."

He already had some beliefs about penitentiaries.

One was that most prisoners would never have arrived in his institution had it not been for broken homes and alcohol. Thus he was a firm supporter of the prison's Alcoholics Anonymous chapters.

NO MISTREATMENT

Beto would not permit mistreatment of his charges. Being in prison is itself enough punishment, he said.

"A country club would be a prison if you couldn't get out," he explained.

Some of the severe restraints were removed.

"Only a small segment of these prisoners are what you'd call dangerous," he once said. "The majority are simply inadequate to cope with day-to-day problems."

He segregated young first-timers from the old pros to prevent the penitentiary from becoming a school for crime.

INMATES EDUCATED

Beto called the low level of education of the prisoners appalling. He built an education program, even to the point of sending some selected prisoners out of the prison walls to school.

But Dr. Beto's pre-release program may be the chief "creativity" of which he speaks.

Beto did something about two obvious facts.

One is that prisoners, once released, are likely to return.

CANNOT COPE

Another is that just-released ex-convicts have been behind the walls so long that they cannot cope with the world. They hardly know how to ride a bus to whatever home they are going to.

So he established the pre-release center for convicts about to step into the outer world again.

The prisoners in the center are taught about the world and how it has progressed. Supervised groups of them are taken on the outside for short periods to mingle to some degree with non-prisoners.

How well this program has worked is shown by the figures. Only 4.4 per cent of those going through the pre-release center ever return to prison. Nationally, 30 per cent of released prisoners go back behind the walls.

Lake Spence Line Is Down

The Colorado River Municipal Water District is relying on Moss Creek Lake, an intermediate storage facility southeast of Big Spring, and Lake Thomas to meet its supplies for the next couple of weeks.

The supply line to Lake Spence has been shut down so that workers can sand blast and paint the interior of a steel storage tank on the Spade Ranch. The tank has been pressed into service two years ago before this work was done on the original contract.

In another week, one of the terminal reservoirs at Odessa will be shut down for annual cleaning and maintenance.

Seminole Man On Exec Board

Rayford Bates, secretary of the Seminole Common Consolidated School District Board of Trustees for 11 years, was elected to the State Executive Committee of the Texas Association of School Boards at the TASA-TASB state convention in San Antonio.

Bates will represent TASB District 11 which is composed of 22 southwest Texas counties with a population of 337,473. Included are Howard, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Martin and Glasscock counties.

Smith Tells Mexico City Newsmen He Is Candidate

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith of Texas says he intends to run for reelection next year. In an interview with local newsmen in Mexico City Friday the governor said: "Everybody in Texas knows what I am going to do next year. I'm going to run for reelection and I'm going to win."

The governor came to Mexico to inaugurate a branch of the Texas Industrial Commission. What Smith would do next year in politics had been a mystery. He had been expected to run for another term as governor. Then he was revealed as one of those making large sums—$62,500 in the governor's case—by loans and stock purchases in what later became known as the Securities and Exchange Commission scandals. The revelations brought up the question of whether Smith would seek re-nomination in view of this new factor. Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, Oct. 3, 1971 7-A

STRIKING LONGSHOREMEN JUST MARKING TIME

Progress Made Toward Settlement On West Coast

(AP WIREPHOTO)

WHAT A DIFFERENCE A DAY MAKES — Longshoremen were busy at pier 5 of the Poydras Street wharf Thursday (top) but that section of the wharf was completely deserted Friday (bottom) following a strike from Maine to Texas by dock workers. The strike resulted in the closing of every deep-sea port in the continental United States as a West Coast strike was already in progress.

By The Associated Press
Substantial progress toward settlement of the three-month-old West Coast dock strike was reported Saturday. But East and Gulf Coast longshoremen, who walked out Friday, just marked time.

On another labor front, there was a weekend recess in the soft coal mine strike talks. About 80,000 miners in more than 20 states walked out Friday in a wage dispute.

The optimistic reports on the West Coast dock talks caused President Nixon to delay seeking a Taft-Hartley injunction for an 80-day cooling-off period in the nation's first Coast-to-day in a wage dispute.

Military shipments were exempted. Longshoremen in some Texas ports refused to join the walkout, and Great Lakes ports were not affected.

In San Francisco, bargainers have met in day-long sessions since Monday, after Nixon urged speedy settlement and quoted both sides as telling him agreement could be reached this weekend.

"Pieces have been falling together in the last two days," said Edwin W. Scott, Western regional director of the Federal Mediation Service. "It is obvious that substantial progress toward a settlement has been made during the week."

In New York, more than 2,500 passengers had to carry their own baggage as four cruise ships arrived from the Caribbean and one departed.

The docks in New Orleans were quiet. That port was included in a railroad embargo of export shipments, such as coal and grain.

Layoffs were reported imminent on some railroads that rely on coal shipments.

The Post Office stopped taking any overseas surface mail except first-class letters.

Florida shipping officials said there was no immediate crisis there.

Tampa, the state's busiest port, needs longshoremen for only 20 per cent of its cargo. Most is oil and phosphates which are handled automatically.

John Gorman, chairman of the negotiating team of Southeast Florida Port Employers Assn., telegraphed Nixon urging him not to invoke the Taft-Hartley law.

"Taft-Hartley intervention only builds up steam under the inflationary fire you are striving to bank," said Gorman. New York shippers also were against a Taft-Hartley injunction. The main issue in New York is the shippers' effort to eliminate or modify the contract provision which guarantees longshoremen in the Port of New York 2,080 hours' pay a year.

A Taft-Hartley injunction would continue the guarantee during the cooling-off period.

Longshoremen were on strike at Charleston, S.C., but, like most other ports, warehouses were full because importers had anticipated the strike.

However, soybeans will be harvested in the Carolinas next month.

In Seattle, Vic Breindl, assistant director of planning for the port, said the strike had affected 10,000 jobs with a $7 million monthly payroll. It has stopped shipment through Seattle of 300,000 tons of cargo a month, one-third of it grain destined for Asia. The port said it has lost $73 million.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., the GOP national chairman, sought to blame the Democrats for the strike.

In a speech prepared for delivery at Springfield, Mo., Dole said the Democrat-controlled Congress had failed for nearly two years to enact Nixon's proposal to deal with labor disputes in transportation industries.

The 45,000 East and Gulf Coast dockworkers walked out under a "one port down all ports down" tradition in which they usually follow the lead of the New York local. However, the ports of Houston, Galveston, Corpus Christi and Brownsville broke that tradition.

Meanwhile, talks between the striking United Mine Workers and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association recessed for the weekend so reports could be made to respective members.

A meeting of the union's National Scale and Policy Committee, which must approve a new contract, is scheduled for Monday in New York. Calling together that committee in the past has indicated an agreement may be near.

Labor Secretary J.D. Hodgson said he would meet with representatives of both sides on Tuesday.

The union is seeking an increase in the current top pay of $37 per day to $50 a day. It also wants to double the present 40-cent per ton industry royalty payments into its Welfare and Retirement Fund.

Hawaii residents were experiencing shortages of salt, toilet tissue, fresh fruits and vegetables. Hawaii longshoremen have extended their contract with stevedoring companies for a second 90-day period, allowing them to wait for a west coast settlement which is expected to set the pattern for a new Hawaii contract.

The East and Gulf Coast walkout cut Hawaii's last shipping tie with the continental United States. The islands had been getting occasional shipments of food and other commodities via the Panama Canal.

Hawaii's last sea link with North America was a state-chartered vessel operating between Honolulu and Vancouver, B.C.

The pickets said the dummies are supposed to portray a dock worker and his child, who need more money. Saturday dock workers from Maine to Texas also went on strike. NO COURTROOM CRISIS YET

More Installment Plan Fines

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Supreme Court ruling that a man can't be jailed because he can't pay a fine apparently hasn't created the crisis in the courtroom predicted by some law-fiers.

But it has led to more installment plan fines. And some judges say it has helped boost the labor forces of municipal departments. The court ruled last March 3 that Texas could not impose fines on traffic violators and then jail defendants who could not pay.

This, the court said, was unconstitutional because it allowed the rich to buy their way out of jail but put the poor behind bars.

The court suggested judges allow paupers to pay off fines on an installment plan or put them to work in city departments.

Some judges and prosecutors contended the ruling would bog down the court system because judges not only would be required to determine a person's guilt or innocence but also his financial status.

The critics contended many states would be forced to change their laws. They said also the decision would encourage violations by persons who were unable to pay fines.

An Associated Press survey shows the Nebraska state legislature as the only one that has changed its laws on minor violations. That state now allows indigent persons to pay their fines on an installment plan.

State courts in Hawaii and New Jersey have overturned laws requiring jail sentences for persons who could not pay fines. And the attorney general of Pennsylvania has ruled poor people must be allowed to pay off fines on an installment plan if necessary.

Texas has made no change in its laws even though a municipal court official in Austin said the high court's decision "has taken the teeth out of the law."

Texas officials add, however, that unofficial or extra-legal methods can be used. They said persons sometimes are given suspended fines for one month and, if they have not paid by the end of the period, they are arrested.

If the persons tell the judge they have no money to pay the fine, they must be freed. But the officials point out persons arrested at night stay in jail until municipal court opens the next day.

And Texas credits the defendant with $5 paid against his fine for overnight jail stays.

Mitchell Predicts Startling Moves

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell says President Nixon is going to take some startling foreign and domestic policy initiatives before the 1972 presidential election.

In an address to the California Republican convention, Mitchell said: "I believe you will find that the crest of his administration in Washington is going to have new and more concrete initiatives—not only in the field of foreign affairs which will be startling—but also in the field of domestic affairs."

Mitchell, who is expected to resign early in 1972 to head Nixon's re-election campaign, did not spell out what initiatives he was talking about.

Before next May, Nixon is to make his most dramatic step in foreign affairs: a trip to Communist China.

Some judges and prosecutors contended the ruling would bog down the court system because judges not only would be required to determine a person's guilt or innocence but also his financial status.

Texas Reaps Coveted Awards

AUSTIN — For the second time in four years, Texas has reaped a pair of coveted DATO citations for the finest state travel promotion program in the United States. The awards were presented on Oct. 2 in Atlanta, Ga., at ceremonies climaxing the annual convention of the nation's travel industry.

DATO — Discover America Travel Organizations, Inc. — lavished high praise on the Texas Tourist Development Agency and the Texas Highway Department for their separate but cooperative programs for stimulating greater travel to and within the state. Taking DATO's top literature award was the Highway Department's new 208-page travel book, "Texas-Land Of Contrast."

In addition, the personnel and service of the department's 11 tourist bureaus were lauded.

The Texas Tourist Development Agency was accorded DATO's highest advertising award for its "brilliantly conceived campaign comprising consumer image advertising based on the flexible theme, 'Texas is...'" plus development of package tours, U.S. and foreign travel writer tours, and leadership in establishing the new multi-state Conquistadores Trail.

Pay Postponements Veto Called 'Political Profiteering'

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon, facing a congressional threat to veto his postponement of pay hikes for 4.25 million federal workers, suggested Saturday such a move would represent "political profiteering" and would torpedo his anti-inflation efforts.

Nixon issued a lengthy statement saying:

"Politician pressures... are building on the Congress to reject deferral of federal pay increases. If the House or the Senate should cave under that pressure, the inflationary consequences for the American housewife and American worker would be rapid, extensive and severe."

Nonmilitary federal employees were scheduled to receive average 6 per cent pay increases next Jan. 1 but Nixon ordered them delayed until July 1, subject to veto by either house of Congress. Votes on veto legislation are set for Monday.

In another area, Nixon announced that President Josip Broz Tito of Yugoslavia has accepted his invitation to visit the United States sometime in the last two weeks of October. Tito and his wife will visit Washington and other cities but no itinerary has been made public.

Tito last visited the United States in October 1963. Nixon met with him in Yugoslavia a year ago.

The President worked throughout the morning at his beachside home. In early afternoon he and Mrs. Nixon, daughter Julie Eisenhower and friend

Award Honors Historian Webb

AUSTIN (Sp.) — A new award honoring the memory of the University of Texas' distinguished historian Walter Prescott Webb will be presented next spring as part of the 1972 Junior Historian Essay Writing Contest.

The Walter Prescott Webb Memorial Scholarship Award of $100 will be given to the high school student submitting the best paper on an ecological subject.

The Junior Historians organization, whose parent body is the UT-based Texas State Historical Association, was founded in 1939 by Dr. Webb.

Presentation of the Webb Award, funded by the TSHA, will occur during the annual meeting of the Junior Historians April 7-8 in Austin.

Dr. Joe B. Frantz, UT history professor and director of the TSHA, writes in the current issue of the Texas Historian, publication of the Junior Historians, that with the new award "we do honor to the principles of a fine historian who early preached the fallacy of the belief that 'our resources were limitless.'"

Professor Webb, writes Dr. Frantz, "wanted the world to think about the fact that it extracted and fouled and destroyed, oblivious to the fact that we have built this great civilization on six inches of topsoil, a finite amount of water and an irreplaceable resource of fresh air."

Other top prizes announced for the 1972 essay contest are a $100 scholarship given by the UT Institute of Latin American Studies for the best paper on Mexican-American history and a $100 scholarship from the TSHA's Leslie Waggener Memorial Fund for the best general history paper. A total of $500 in prizes will be given.

Deadline for the Junior Historian essay contest is March 1.

Questions concerning the contest may be addressed to Editor, The Texas Historian, Richardson Hall 2-306, UT Station, Austin, Texas 78712.

TEMPERATURE DROPS IN PANHANDLE Front Triggers Showers Over Big Spring

By The Associated Press
A cold front, weak but triggering numerous showers and thundershowers, slid across Texas late Saturday to lower temperatures from the summery levels of earlier in the week.

Skies over most of the state remained partly cloudy to cloudy with clear skies in the Panhandle.

Showers and moderate thundershowers were scattered over an area bounded by Big Spring, Snyder, Vernon, Oklahoma City, Fort Smith, Ark.; Durant, Okla.; Shreveport, La.; Waco, Jacksboro and back south of Big Spring.

More widely scattered showers stretched from Waco eastward to the Sabine River. A line of thunderstorms 65 miles wide was centered in the Big Spring area while thundershowers fell in the vicinities of Sweetwater, Paducah and Aspermont.

Temperatures dropped slightly behind the cold front, which early in the night stretched south of a Wichita Falls, Abilene and Alpine line.

Maximum thermometer levels for the day were topped by 92 degrees at Lufkin, Dalhart and Amarillo were the coolest points with highs of only 75. Some other maximums included 91 at Alice and Dallas, 90 at Austin, McAllen, San Antonio, Texarkana and Wichita Falls and 89 at College Station, Corpus Christi, Cotulla, Fort Worth, Houston, Waco and Longview.

Forecasters said the cold front would continue a slow move eastward, reaching into East Texas by late Sunday with thundershowers increasing as the front barges through.

Decreasing cloudiness and slightly cooler temperatures, nearer autumn levels, will follow the front.

An extended forecast for the period through Thursday called for generally fair and mild temperatures in North Texas and partly cloudy skies and comfortable thermometer levels in South Texas.

High temperatures through the period, forecasters said, would include: upper 70s and lower 80s in North Texas except for mostly in the 70s in Northwest Texas; 80 to near 90 in Southwest Texas and from 80 to near 90 in south central and southeastern portions of the state.

Astronauts Taste-Testing Food Planned For Skylab

SPACE CENTER, Houston, (AP) — Samples of the approximately one ton of food which will be launched into space aboard the Skylab are being taste tested here this week by 15 astronauts.

The spacemen are eating the food three meals a day to test for palatability and to help nutrition experts determine their energy requirements.

Meals like those being tested will be used on Skylab, the earth-orbiting scientific laboratory planned for 1973. The laboratory will be launched unmanned and with all the food on board for three men for one 28-day mission and for two 56-day missions. The crews will be launched in an Apollo spacecraft and board Skylab in space.

Dr. Malcolm Smith, chief of food and nutrition at the Manned Spacecraft Center, said about 2,000 pounds of food and about 6,000 pounds of water will be used in the missions.

Testing is necessary, he said, to determine the energy requirements of the astronauts.

"Energy (in food) is weight, and weight is critical on the spacecraft," he said. "If we over-estimate the energy requirements and weight would be excessive."

Geological Review Course Sponsored

A team-taught lecture on "Carbonate Sedimentology" will be presented Wednesday evening from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in Room 129 at Midland High, in connection with the Geological Review course sponsored by Permian Basin Graduate Center.

Carroll M. Thomas will cover the Azalea carbonate biogenic bank developed during early Strawn deposition, including study of cores and well cuttings, which define three major facies.

Kenneth O. Seewald, independent consulting geologist, who once taught geology at Howard County Junior College, will discuss current carbonate classifications, techniques for studying carbonates, and the geometry of both ancient and modern day reefs.

Information may be had from the Center office 105 Gulf Building, Midland.

The 15 astronauts testing the Skylab meals start their day with a 7:45 a.m. breakfast at a laboratory here. The meal typically consists of orange juice, scrambled eggs, coffee and peach ambrosia.

They record their impressions of the food with such written comments as "like very much" or "dislike moderately."

Lunch typically could be tomato soup, cheese crackers, chicken and rice, biscuits, pineapple tidbits and grape drink.

Astronauts are weighed before the meal and all uneaten food is also weighed.

For dinner, the spacemen are permitted to take the packaged meals home to eat. They return the uneaten portions.

The food is either freeze-dried, dehydrated or canned. During Skylab it will be served in a tray with recessed compartments which will not only hold the food but also heat it.

Evaluation by the astronauts will help determine the menu for a 56-day three-man altitude chamber test of the Skylab system here next June. The test is planned to obtain medical data and will be run in a 20-foot altitude chamber here.

Thomas Jefferson Accountant? Yes

AUSTIN — Thomas Jefferson — statesman, diplomat, author, scientist, architect, accountant.

Accountant? Yes, accountant, says Dr. Glenn A. Welsch, a University of Texas accounting professor who has returned from a year's guest professorship at the University of Virginia, where he was able to examine Jefferson's financial records.

In an article which he co-authored, he details how Jefferson kept his account books, a ledger book, the manufacturing records of his nail factory, and his fee book and miscellaneous accounts.

Dr. Welsch points out that Jefferson kept "meticulous financial records," and that possibly Jefferson's last written words were in the final entry in his Account Books on June 28, 1826, only six days prior to his death at age 83. Jefferson's nailery manufacturing account used a debit-credit model, which Dr. Welsch says "reflects a very carefully designed job-cost system that included (1) a daily production report for each employee; (2) work standards; statement of profit for each employee; (3) work standards; (4) spoilage reports, and (5) profit summaries.

END WASHDAY HANG-UPS

WITH A FLAMELESS ELECTRIC DRYER!

How many times have you dreaded seeing washday roll around—because of rain, blue northers, dusty winds or hundred-plus sunshine?

These are hang-ups you wouldn't have to face if you owned a flameless electric clothes dryer. You'd just move the clothes from your washer into the dryer, turn a dial and forget about the weather.

And you could dry clothes any time of the day or night.

If you were drying permanent press clothes, many would come out ready for wearing. Which could save you lots of ironing.

An electric dryer really makes sense. It costs less to buy. Only one energy source is needed. And it saves you hours of work for pennies a load.

See your appliance dealer soon about a flameless electric dryer.

Demonstrators Protest U. S. Prison Conditions

By The Associated Press

Peaceful demonstrations were staged in parts of the country Saturday to protest conditions in U.S. prisons. Although authorities had prepared for as many as 1,500 protesters at some institutions, only a few hundred demonstrators, on less than one in all but one instance—a rally attended by 1,000 in Danbury, Conn.

Among speakers during the day were radical activists Tom Hayden, in Los Angeles; the Rev. James E. Groppi, in Sandstone, Minn. and David Dellinger, in Danbury.

A coalition of groups, including some peace organizations, sponsored the day's activities. No instances of violence were reported.

Approximately 100 persons heard Rev. Groppi describe prisons as "an example of racism and a sick society." He spoke at a park about a mile from the Federal Correctional Institute in Sandstone.

"Instead of trying to rehabilitate prisoners in a cage, we should abolish prisons," said Groppi.

In Dallas, several demonstrators appeared on the lawn of the County Courthouse to read complaints compiled by inmates about medical treatment, overcrowding, visiting rights, food, mail censorship and isolation cells.

About 25 members of a group called Direct Action and the Vietnam Veterans against the War distributed leaflets at the Travis County Jail in Austin, Tex.

The leaflets protested "the deplorable dehumanizing treatment of people who are jailed in our community." A candlelight vigil was planned.

An estimated 150 persons marched near the Cook County Jail in Chicago, while 200 assembled to hear Black Panther Party Chairman Bobby Seale outside San Quentin, Calif.

Lt. Arthur Distenhef, of the Marin County sheriff's office, said of the San Quentin rally, "Everything is real neat."

Tom Hayden spoke to fewer than 100 persons at Terminal Island Prison.

At the Wisconsin Home for Women in Taycheedah about 50 marchers "walked by the institution and then disappeared," according to officials there.

David Dellinger told the Connecticut rally the day's activities were the beginning of a "fall offensive" with the theme, "force without violence."

The protesters walked and drove from the shores of Lake Kenosia five miles to the Federal Correctional Institute, where the Revs. Philip and Daniel Berrigan are serving time for destroying draft files.

A score of guards reinforced by dozens of local policemen patrolled the wall, but Dellinger promised the vigil would be peaceful so as not to ruin the inmates' visiting day.

At the same time, Warden

John J. Norton reported that Father Daniel Berrigan conducted a memorial service for 300 inmates, who mourned the 42 deaths incurred during last month's Attica, N.Y., prison uprising.

Describing the service of jazz guitar music, Norton said, "It certainly wasn't liturgical in the traditional sense, but was it in the modern sense."

About 30 persons left Kansas City, Mo., for the U.S. Medical Center in Springfield to call attention to prison systems both in the United States and South Vietnam.

A spokesman for the group said the demonstration was to "show solidarity for prisoners everywhere."

Sponsors of the day's protests included the Harrisburg Defense Committee; the Episcopal and Catholic Peace Fellowships; Clergy and Laymen Concerned; the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice; and the Third World Women's Alliance.

In Sandstone, Minn., 100 demonstrators rallied outside the Federal Correctional Institute.

Protests were also planned at San Quentin Prison in California, where Black Panther Party Chairman Bobby Seale was to speak; at the Cook County Jail, Chicago; the Bexar, Travis and Dallas County jails in Texas; Terminal Island prison, Los Angeles, and Windsor State Prison, Vermont.

CCHD Chapter Setting By-Laws

The planning committee for the West Texas Chapter of the Committee to Combat Huntington's Disease met Thursday in the home of the chapter president, Mrs. Doris Perkins. This is the second meeting to formulate by-laws toward completing organization of the chapter.

Huntington's Disease is a hereditary, genetic and neuromuscular disorder causing abnormal involuntary movements, disabling it's victims.

The chapter is vitally interested in contacting affected families. "We believe we can be of real service to these families, and there are medications which are proving to be very helpful in a majority of the affected cases," said Mrs. Perkins.

Families can get information by writing the local chapter at 2601 Clanton Street, Big Spring. No family will be submitted to any publicity without their consent.

When you talk about a newspaper . . .

you talk about gathering news, laying in supplies, servicing advertising accounts, turning copy into type, assembling pictures and metal for the pressroom, distributing the paper, meeting payrolls, paying bills, etc.

Obviously this takes the steady and constant hand of a general manager. For The Herald, this sensitive post is filled by Harold Canning. He's been a part of The Herald organization for 24 years—since World War II service.

As busy as he is in holding on to the strings that control operations, he finds time for other service. He is a past chairman of the Salvation Army advisory board, a member of the board of Doro Roberts Rehabilitation Center; a director of the United Fund. He also is a Mason, a Kiwanian, a member of the First Christian Church where he has been a board member for 10 years, two as chairman.

His father was the late, beloved Maj. L. W. Canning, who commanded Salvation Army work here, who was serving in Newfoundland when Harold was born. Mr. and Mrs. Canning and son, Bary, 14, live at 2704 Apache.

Virginia Representative Doesn't Want U. S. Supreme Court Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard H. Poff, a Virginia Republican widely viewed as a likely appointee to the Supreme Court, Saturday removed himself from the list of prospective candidates.

He said in a statement that he has asked President Nixon not to consider his name for the high court which now has two vacancies.

Poff said his move was prompted by the fact that if nominated the Senate confirmation process "would be protracted and controversial." The Virginia congressman has drawn the fire of civil-rights groups because of his votes on bills in that field and because he joined other members of Congress in signing the so-called Southern Manifesto opposing racial integration of schools.

At Key Biscayne, Fla., Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler acknowledged that Nixon had been actively considering the possibility of nominating Poff. He said "The President of course feels that Congressman Poff was highly qualified" for the court.

He added: "I would simply say the President respects the decision which the congressman has made."

Ziegler said Nixon received advance word of Poff's decision in a telephone call from Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, who is in California. The press secretary said the President at no time has talked directly to Poff since retirements created the two court vacancies.

It had been widely speculated that Nixon would name Poff to one of the vacancies created by the retirements of the late Hugo Black and of John Harlan, who is critically ill with cancer.

Poff's mention of a confirmation battle if he were named was in obvious reference to the Senate rejection of two Nixon nominees after long and bitter struggles in the Senate.

Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. was denied confirmation after opponents had accused him of impropriety tracing to his extensive financial holdings.

Later, Judge G. Harrold Carswell was rejected largely because of his expressed views on racial questions.

Two other Nixon nominees to the high court, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Harry Blackmun, were confirmed with no difficulty.

Those eligible to vote in the annual Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service elections may take a hand in nominating community committeemen if they desire.

Petitions (copies may be had at the ASCS office) must bear the name of three qualified voters in the community, plus certification the nominee will serve if elected. No more than six nominees will be accepted for one community, but if the number by petition falls under that, the present community committee will see that six are nominated.

Deadline for petitions is Oct. 27. Ballots for the election will be mailed at least 12 days prior to the voting date of Dec. 1. Committeemen will be chosen for A,B,C,D and E community areas of Howard County.

DDT Substitutes Are More Harmful

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Substitutes for DDT are more harmful than the pesticide itself, says a professor on entomology at San Jose State College who claims he sometimes eats the substance.

"I'm not that concerned about DDT, but I'm concerned about the credibility of science," said J. Gordon Edwards. He was in Milwaukee Friday to address a regional meeting of the National Science Teachers Association.

Students' Paintings On Display At John F. Kennedy Art Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — An exhibit of more than 130 student paintings, selected from among entries by 2,933,000 children in 15,000 schools all over the country, will go on display Nov. 1 at the John F. Kennedy Center.

The artists range in age from 6 to about 19.

The techniques range from the free and wildly colorful paintings of 6- and 7-year-olds to sophisticated drawings, paintings and collages by high-school students.

The exhibition is sponsored by the National Art Education association and the Friends of the Kennedy Center, a volunteer organization which bore most of the cost.

The paintings will be reproduced in a color brochure commemorating the opening of the center. Color slides are being made and will be offered for showing to interested groups.

One work will be selected by a national panel to be used in publications and promotional materials by the center. The student whose work is selected will receive an expense-paid trip to the capital with his parents, a friend and teacher.

The paintings will be displayed in gallery areas of the center's top terrace floor for perhaps six weeks.

With art teachers and educators making the selections, each state was invited to submit three paintings: one from the elementary level, one from junior high, one from senior high.

The state selections came to Washington in July from 46 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

Are Promises 'Sucker Talk'?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The emotional, complex and volatile issue of the 1,605 Americans listed as prisoners or missing in Southeast Asia is becoming a dominant theme in Senate debate over U.S. policy in Indochina.

And the dispute over this sensitive question seems certain to be echoed loudly in the 1972 political campaigning.

Nearly seven months ago, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., sent a letter to Hanoi about the plight of American prisoners of war. He awaits a reply.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., reports he has private, oral assurances from the chief Communist negotiator in Paris that withdrawal of all U.S. forces from South Vietnam would bring the release of the POWs.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., says he got word from North Vietnamese negotiators a month ago that if the United States agrees to a withdrawal deadline, the Communists will agree to release the prisoners.

"Sucker talk," retorts Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania. He said if the Communists were sincere about letting the prisoners go in exchange for withdrawal, they would make their offer on the record, at the negotiating table, and not to Democratic senators.

Scott and Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas, the Republican national chairman, said the Communists give one version when they talk with critical Democrats, and quite another when they face the official U.S. negotiating team.

"They have misled prominent and sincere Americans," said Dole, "with hints that they would be flexible on the prisoner-of-war issue, and would compromise on their seven points for the settlement of the Vietnam war, a document which not only called for the United States to capitulate, but to grovel before the enemy."

He said McGovern is among the misled. Five years ago, congressional critics of the policy pursued by a Democratic administration concentrated their arguments on the bombing of North Vietnam, demanding it be halted. In large measure, it was, in 1968.

Now the prisoners and, specifically, the question of whether a U.S. deadline for military withdrawal would lead to their release, have become the central issue.

Dole argues the administration position: that the present policy of gradual withdrawal, with no commitment as to when it will be completed, provides an incentive to negotiations for prisoner release.

"The administration apparently continues to value support for the Thieu regime as more important than the return of U.S. prisoners of war," said Kennedy.

"How do we get these American prisoners back home?" asked Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I. "The only clear chance we have is to set a date certain and see what happens."

President Nixon has said every negotiating channel, some private and undisclosed, has been explored.

Kennedy contends the administration hasn't even explored the basic Communist formula for settlement and prisoner release, which begins with a call for total U.S. withdrawal this year, and for replacement of the Saigon regime with a coalition government.

"The administration is so vulnerable on this issue," Kennedy said.

But Dole contends it is the critics who are vulnerable, because they are misguided. "Hanoi's propaganda on the prisoner of war issue has been skillful and sustained and has fooled many Americans who want peace and the release of the men held in Communist prison camps," he said.

Thieu Lashes Out At Critics Of Presidential Election

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu lashed out at his critics Saturday night on the eve of the presidential election, saying their acts "are illegal and lend a hand to the Communist enemy in sabotaging the nation."

"They have slandered the South Vietnamese government as dictatorial for their own profit in order to agitate, to make coups and overthrow it," declared the only candidate in the election in an unexpected television speech.

"More regrettable, the local, as well as foreign press, has played up the opposition and misled the people."

As Thieu spoke, police confiscated the Sunday editions of seven opposition newspapers. Thieu directed his attack primarily at two opposition groups, the Committee Against Dictatorship and the Committee for Democracy and Peace.

He charged that a Peoples Congress held Friday by the Committee Against Dictatorship was "illegal and unconstitutional and did not truly represent the people."

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, under whose auspices the committee was organized, addressed the congress and assailed Thieu as having "sold out the country to foreigners and Communists." Ky also called for a boycott of Sunday's election.

Thieu accused the opposition groups of "attempting to sabotage the national election" and of hiring "hooligans and cowboys" to stage street demonstrations.

He urged voters to go to the polls in large numbers, and appealed to the armed forces, police and local militia to guard against terrorism.

Thieu emphasized that he was speaking as president, not as a candidate for re-election. Although his entire speech dealt with the election, the campaign period legally ended at noon Saturday. He could not technically make a political speech.

There were sporadic demonstrations Saturday in several cities across the country, but Saigon remained relatively quiet under heavy security guard.

In Saigon, a truck owned by an American construction firm was fire-bombed in the only violent incident of the day.

Military officials in Binh Dinh Province on the central coast and in military region 3—which includes Saigon and the 11 surrounding provinces—warned of possible Viet Cong terrorism on election day.

Cambodian Border Strikes Unleashed

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese fighter-bombers unleashed 150 strikes along the Cambodian border Saturday in an effort to wreck the North Vietnamese week-old offensive. The raids were among the heaviest there since the allied incursion into Cambodia 18 months ago.

Maj. Gen. Jack J. Wagstaff, the senior U.S. adviser to the South Vietnamese, said the North Vietnamese are suffering from the unrelenting bomber, helicopter gunship and artillery strikes.

"With this tremendous firepower, if there is any accuracy at all, and we think there is, the enemy has got to be suffering," Wagstaff declared.

AIR COVER
Under the blanket of air cover, South Vietnamese forces mounted new ground thrusts from four directions. The drives were aimed at reopening the last portion of Highway 22 and at lifting the siege of a fire base across the border in Cambodia.

The highway links a string of allied bases along a 30-mile stretch from Tay Ninh northward to the Cambodian border. It is a major supply route for South Vietnamese bases.

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, commander of South Vietnamese forces in the region, said all of Highway 22 had been opened except for a five-mile stretch linking Fire Base Thien Ngon with a U.S. artillery base to the north called Pace on the Cambodian border. The drive also would ease pressure on Pace, which has been under sporadic shelling attacks.

ROAD UNSECURED
U.S. officers reported, however, that much of Highway 22 was not entirely secure and there were still North Vietnamese troops threatening it.

Sporadic fighting continued throughout the day, and several of the more than 50 U.S. helicopters supporting the drive were hit by enemy gunners, including a medical evacuation helicopter.

Monsoon cloud covers again hampered air operations to a certain degree, but some of the fighter-bombers were guided to their targets by radar and electronic beacons. At noon, the weather cleared and more bombers hit in steady waves.

Wagstaff, assessing the week-long action, said: "The South Vietnamese responded very well. The enemy never attacked on the ground in force. There were light ground probes. There were heavy attacks by fire (rockets and mortars) and the South Vietnamese paratroopers were running into sharp contacts."

"There has been no major battle so far. It hasn't been a real slugging match toe to toe. I think the enemy thought they could get a cheap victory. Because the South Vietnamese have stayed and fought, the enemy hasn't been able to move in with strength and destroy them with small-arms fire."

Minh said he thought the enemy effort would continue at least through Sunday's presidential election.

In his final address of the campaign, President Nguyen Van Thieu assailed his opponents, singling out a Peoples Congress Friday at which his archrival, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky called for a boycott of the uncontested presidential election.

In a television address, Thieu demanded of his opponents: "Why don't you dare go to Hanoi or War Zone C to fight against the Communists instead of staying in the city and agitating against the national cause?"

One of the warning signs of encroaching glaucoma is increased pressure within the eye.

WIGGINTON CARRIES THE MAIL FOR TEXAS — Texas quarterback Donnie Wigginton (18) picks up seven yards on a keeper in the second period of their game with Oregon at Austin Saturday. Tackle Greg Brosterhous (13) moves in to make the tackle, assisted by linebacker Delton Lewis who is moving in behind Wigginton. At right is Oregon end Keith Davis (97).

Longhorns Gore Oregon, 35-7

Texas Win May Prove Costly

AUSTIN, (AP) — Texas coach Darryl Royal said Saturday he was "elated" with the Longhorns' 35-7 victory over Oregon, but he added that injuries to four of his offensive stars may have made it a "costly" triumph.

Quarterback Eddie Phillips re-injured a leg muscle, halfback Jim Bertelsen and fullback Bobby Callison hurt their shoulders again and speedy split receiver Jim Moore injured his knee.

Although the first word was that Moore, the fastest man on the squad, did not have a "terribly serious" injury, Royal said, "When a knee is hurt that badly, the odds on getting a player back in action quickly are bad."

Moore, who runs 40 yards in 4.4 seconds, is Texas' top long pass threat and also its top punt returner.

No Longhorn fan needs to be reminded that the Longhorns need to be in the best of shape for their next opponent, explosive Oklahoma in the Cotton Bowl next Saturday.

Donnie Wigginton, subbing for Phillips the second week in a row, said, "I felt a lot more confident." He gained 116 yards rushing in 13 carries and completed three of five passes for 38 yards.

Texas' defenders praised Oregon speedster Bobby Moore.

"When he came flying around end, I didn't know whether I would have to go in the grandstands to stop him or not," said Longhorn linebacker Tommy Woodard. "He has great moves — a fantastic ballplayer."

Gay Brewer Leads By Three Strokes

FORT WORTH (AP) — Veteran Gay Brewer carded a one over par 71 Saturday for a 54-hole total of 210 and a three stroke lead in the fourth annual $10,000 Northern Texas Section PGA championship at Diamond Oaks Country Club here.

Brewer suffered a taste of three-putt greens on his rainedrenched third round that erased two birdies on the front nine. Brewer three-putted the second and sixth and missed the 12th green for bogies, all par three holes.

In second place with 213 going into Sunday's final 18 holes are two tour regulars, Roy Pace of Longview and Bill Garrett of Amarillo, neither of whom could master Diamond Oaks par on this third round. Pace had 72 and Garrett 73 after turning in 33.

Bunched at 215 are defending champion Jacky Capit of Dallas, only player to match par Saturday, and Hal McCommas, Dallas, and Rives McBee of Irving. McCommas had 72, McBee 73 Saturday.

New Stalls Will Be Built At Sunland

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — The horse population at Sunland Park is headed for an increase, according to construction plans slated to get in high gear this week.

During the recent meeting of the New Mexico State Racing Commission at Albuquerque, Sunland got the go-ahead signal to construct new stalls.

Three new barns, housing 102 stalls and 12 tack rooms, will be built. The structures are scheduled to be completed by mid-November. According to General Manager Art Johnson, cost of the project is about $75,000.

"The rapid growth of our futurity program has created a need for more stall space," Johnson said. "Naturally, the expansion of our racing program requires a similar expansion in our stabling facilities."

The new stalls will boost Sunland's equine headcount up to 1,058. The last stable expansion at Sunland was constructed during the '63-64 season.

Colorado Tips Kansas State By 31-21 Tab

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Cliff Branch raced 59 yards with a punt return for Colorado's first score and grabbed a 20-yard pass deep in the end zone for another to spark the sixth-ranked Buffs to a 31-21 victory over Kansas State Saturday in the Big Eight opener for both teams.

Kansas State bounced back from Branch's first score, capitalizing on a Buff fumble at the CU 20-yard line with 7:07 left in the first period. On the sixth play of the series, Wildcat running back Bill Butler carried four yards for the tying score.

CU turned a fumble into a score of its own early in the second period when linebacker Randy Geist pounced on the ball at the Wildcat 19.

The Buffs hit the scoreboard on tailback Charlie Davis' plunge from one foot out.

Wildcat quarterback Dennis Morrison moved his team to two third period scores and a brief 21-17 lead.

J.B. Dean's 34-yard field goal and Branch's TD catch with two seconds left accounted for CU's third period scoring.

Willie Nichols hauled in a 23-yard scoring pass from quarterback Ken Johnson midway through the fourth period to pad the Buffs' lead to the final margin.

$15 Million Asking Price

WASHINGTON (AP) — The San Diego Padres are up for sale at a price of $15 million, the Washington Star reported Friday.

In a story by columnist Morris Sigal, the paper said the sale price is roughly $5 million more than it cost principal owner C. Arnhold Smith to field the expansion Padres three years ago.

Earl Foreman, a Washington attorney who has owned several sports teams, is interested in purchasing 20 to 30 per cent of the Padres, the newspaper said.

Foreman, currently owner of the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association, is being represented in negotiations by former U. S. Sen. Thomas Kuchel.

Houston Winner

HOUSTON (AP) — Quarterback Gary Mullins threw touchdown passes of 43, 40 and 66 yards and linebacker Frank Ditta returned an interception 100 yards for a touchdown to spark the University of Houston to a 34-20 victory over San Jose State Saturday night.

Razorbacks Blitz Purple, 49-15

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Dicky Morton, subbing for injured Jon Richardson, scored two touchdowns—one on a 90-yard kickoff return—as Arkansas continued its domination of TCU with a 49-15 victory Saturday in the Southwest Conference opener for both teams.

Morton finished the afternoon with 123 yards on 14 carries, mostly on sprint draw plays.

When Morton wasn't running through the Frogs, quarterback Joe Ferguson was picking apart their pass defense. Ferguson, the SWC's total offense leader, completed 15 of 23 passes for 256 yards and one touchdown—a 42-yard toss to Jim Hodge.

Ferguson also scored the Razorbacks first touchdown on an eight yard keeper.

Arkansas' defense, led by Ronnie Jones, did an excellent job containing TCU quarterback Steve Judy.

Judy, who had passed for more than 500 yards in two previous tries against Arkansas, completed only 7 of 12 passes for 57 yards and suffered three interceptions.

McCovey And Fuentes Homer In Giant Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tito Fuentes and Willie McCovey slugged a pair of two-run homers in a sudden explosion of San Francisco power that carried the Giants to a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday in the opening game of the National League's championship playoff series.

Gritty Gaylord Perry pitched a nine-hitter, surviving several jams and some shoddy Giant fielding to give San Francisco a jump in the best-of-five series between the two division champions which continues here Sunday.

Perry fell behind early when a misjudged fly ball and an error by McCovey helped the Pirates to a pair of runs in the third inning. San Francisco got one back in its half of the inning but Pirate starter Steve Blass, who averaged only five strikeouts per game during the regular season, struck out nine Giants over the first four innings, setting a National playoff record. Pittsburgh led 2-1 after four.

Chris Speier opened the Giant's fifth with a single to right.

Perry sacrificed and then Ken Henderson, whose double in the third had scored the first Giant run, rolled out with Speier taking third.

COMES THROUGH That brought up Fuentes, who had struck out in each of his first two chances against Blass. This time though, the little infielder who had just four homers during the regular season in his major career, lofted a shot over the right field wall, giving the Giants the lead.

Fuentes clapped his hands enthusiastically as he cried the bases and the Giants emptied out of their dugout to welcome him.

Blass, shaken by the blow, walked Willie Mays, and then McCovey, a more legitimate long ball threat, unloaded a shot that tore into the upper deck in right field for two more runs and another happy dugout reception.

Perry, a 16-game winner during the regular season, was touched for two runs in the third inning when Jackie Hernandez opened with an infield single and Blass bunted him to second.

Dave Cash hit a long fly to right field that Dave Kingman misjudged and the ball skipped over the wall on one hop for a ground rule double and the first run of the game. Then when McCovey missed Fuentes, throw on Richie Hebner's grounder, Cash scored the second run of the inning.

After the homers by Fuentes and McCovey gave the Giants the lead, Perry worked through his toughest jams of the game.

In the sixth inning, Perry struck out the first two batters but then surrendered a pair of singles to Bob Robertson and Manny Sanguillen. He escaped by getting pinch hitter Vic Davalillo on a force play grounder that he deflected to Fuentes.

An inning later, the Pirates really had him on the ropes, Gene Alley opened with a single up the middle and Cash singled to left, giving Pittsburgh two men on base and one out.

Perry bore down to get Heber on a pop fly but walked Roberto Clemente, loading the bases. That brought up dangerous Willie Stargell, the major league's home run king. But Perry got him on another pop fly. Al Oliver however singled for two runs, making the score 5-4. But Perry got Robertson on a fly ball to end it.

Pittsburgh 502 330 220-1 9 0 San Francisco 001 040 250-3 7 2 San Francisco leads best-of-5 series, 1-0.

Kicker On Waivers HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers placed kicker Braden Beck on waivers Saturday.

Cincinnati Shuts Out A&M, 17 To 0

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Cincinnati parlayed Texas A&M miscues, a blocked punt and a relentless defense into a 17-0 non-conference football victory Saturday night over the lame and lackluster Aggies.

Field goals of 22 and 36 yards by Mike Schmitt got the Bearcats rolling, but it was a bizarre blocked punt 10 seconds before halftime that chilled the Cadets.

Linebacker Mike Hilliard slashed through to knock down Mitch Robertson's punt around the 20 yard line, chased the ball inside the 10, finally secured it and waltzed across the goal.

Three seconds remained as sub quarterback Cas Oganowski passed to end Gary Jenkins for the two-point conversion and a 14-point Cincinnati cushion.

Sal Casola put the game out of reach with a 43-yard field goal midway in the final period.

A clipping penalty erased a 78-yard touchdown trip by Hugh McElroy with a Bearcat punt and an earlier A&M mistake set up Cincinnati's first field goal as the Cadets heaped on one miscue after another.

A crowd of 26,267 turned out for the first meeting ever between the two teams and watched in dismay as the Aggies fumbled away several scoring opportunities.

LSU Batters Rice, 38-3

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana State, penetrating the Rice defense practically at will, rolled to a 38-3 football victory here Saturday night.

The victory lifted the Tigers, defending Southeastern Conference champs, to a 3-1 record, heading into their first conference game next week against Florida.

Rice is 1-3 for the season. Five players scored a touchdown each for LSU, which managed only a field goal in the first period but then began ripping the Owl line and foxing its secondary.

Del Walker and Chris Dantin scored second period touchdowns on runs of four and seven yards. Norm Hodgins returned a Rice punt 84 yards to score, with just over a minute left in the first half.

The Tigers lacked on two passing touchdowns in the third, a 12-yard toss from quarterback Paul Lyons to split end Gerald Keigley and a 14-yarder from backup quarterback Bert Barker to flanker Jimmy LeDoux.

The other LSU points came on Jay Michalson's 32-yard field goal in the first period.

Rice was unable to get around LSU's defenders in the first half. The only serious threat by the Owls was when a 39-yard pass carried to the Tigers eight late in the third period.

However, LSU Coach Charles McClendon then reinstated his starting defensive team, which pushed the Owls back to the LSU 31. From there Allen Pringle booted a school record 48-yard field goal for the Owls only points.

Torre, Oliva Bat Champs In Majors

By The Associated Press

Joe Torre's been on a diet—and not just of National League pitchers. Torre, once known as the fat kid brother of Philadelphia Phillie first baseman Frank Torre, lost considerable weight prior to this season, but gained some new headgear: the National League batting and RBI crowns.

"I did try to stay hungry—at the plate," quipped the St. Louis third baseman, whose .363 batting averaged topped the majors.

Three players waged a tight battle for second place in the National League batting race, although none posed a serious threat to Torre.

Atlanta's Ralph Garr nosed out the Chicago Cubs' Glenn Beckert .3416 to .3415, although both were listed at .342 in the rounded-off figures. Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente finished fourth at .3409, or .341.

Tony Oliva, sidelined late in the season by torn cartilage in his right knee—an injury which he suffered in June but which he played with for over two months, won the batting title in the American League with a .337 mark. The New York Yankees' Bobby Murcer finished second with .331, while Baltimore's Merv Rettenmund, an outfielder who wasn't even a starter until mid-season, finished third with .318.

Willie Stargell of Pittsburgh won the National League home run crown with 48, just one more than Hank Aaron. Aaron's 47 raised his career total to 639, not so far from Babe Ruth's major league standard of 714.

Torre took the NL RBI title with 137, beating out Stargell, 125 and Aaron, 118.

In the American League, Chicago White Sox third baseman Bill Melton won a close race for the home run title. Melton hit 33 while Norm Cash of Detroit and Reggie Jackson of Oakland clubbed 32. Reggie Smith of Boston had 30 and Frank Robinson of Baltimore, Rico Petrocelli of Boston, Graig Nettles of Cleveland and Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota each had 28.

Killebrew easily won the RBI crown, however, with 119. The runner-up was Frank Robinson, who was far back with 99.

Dove Hunting Less Popular In State

Dove hunting popularity appears to be declining in Texas. Wildlife specialists for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department say fewer hunters took to the fields on the opening weekends of both the North and South Zones this month than they did last year.

Likewise, a comparative handful of hunters participated in the two-weekend white-winged dove hunt in the Lower Rio Grande Valley—an occasion which has drawn hunters by the thousands in the past.

Officials say it's easier to explain the whitewing hunt failure, as Hurricane Fern doubtless caused some hunt cancellations on the second weekend after a rainy and muddy first weekend.

But the poor hunter turnout statewide for mourning dove shooting may be more complicated to analyze. The weather, economics and the scarcity of birds in some areas before the season opened all may have contributed.

And looming over this dove season—as in other recent seasons—is the undeniable fact that the nation's over-all dove population is continuing its slow but steady decline which began 10 years ago.

The Texas dove situation this year appeared to be not so much a scarcity of birds as a scarcity of hunters. Add to this trend a tendency of the birds to concentrate heavily in certain "pockets" around the state, and you come out with a low overall dove harvest.

"In a lot of cases," said one biologist, "people went out the first day to their favorite places and didn't see a bird. If they had moved a few miles one way or the other, or if they had come back a week later they might have gotten their limits."

"The birds just haven't been scattered this year," he explained. "Either you see them

Wolves Blank Ector, 34-0

COLORADO CITY — The Odessa Ector Eagles were held scoreless for the third straight game here Friday night as the Colorado City Wolves waltzed to breezy 34-0 win.

Colorado City itself had been unable to score in the two previous weeks but had no trouble putting the points on the board against the Eagles.

Ricky Parks slipped through right tackle from the one yard line for Colorado City's first score and Tim Stansel rolled around right end for the two extra points and the rout was on. Parks also scored the final touchdown for the Wolves in the final quarter when he returned an intercepted pass 52 yards.

Quarterback Dewain Nix proved to be the Wolves' magician as he used slight of hand tricks on the option play to keep the Eagle defense mystified all evening.

Tech Raiders Measure Arizona Cats, 13-10

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Defensive back Dale Rebold recovered two fumbles and intercepted a pass to stop Arizona's scoring drives in leading Texas Tech to a 13-10 victory in a regionally televised game Saturday afternoon.

Rebold recovered a Bob McCall fumble in the third quarter on the Texas Tech 32 yard line to stop an Arizona drive. After an exchange of punts Don Grimes booted his second field goal of the day, a 25-yarder, which proved to be the winning margin.

Arizona dominated the game offensively with 302 yards of total offense but four lost fumbles and three pass interceptions stopped the Wildcats almost everytime they had a drive going.

Arizona marched to the Red Raider one-foot line late in the third quarter but a penalty pushed them back to the 16 and then Rebold picked off a Bill Demory pass to halt the scoring threat.

The game opened with quick touchdowns by each team, with Jackie Wallace returning a Texas Tech punt 73 for a TD and the Red Raiders Marc Dove intercepting a Demory pass and returning it 69 yards for the score.

Arizona's last scoring chance was foiled late in the fourth quarter when Demory fumbled as he went back to pass and Harold Hurst covered it for the Red Raiders on the Arizona 10.

LAST HALF SURGE Wolverines Roll Over Middies

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Second-ranked Michigan's offense found stiff resistance in the first half, but the defense had little trouble recording its third consecutive shutout as the Wolverines crunched Navy, 49-0, Saturday in college football.

Navy, an underdog by as many as 60 points, held U-M to a touchdown in each of the first and second quarters before giving way to their powerful opponent before 68,000 spectators at Michigan Stadium.

Tailback Billy Taylor came off the bench to score on a one-yard touchdown in the 14-point final quarter.

His backup man, sophomore Alan "Cowboy" Walker, had earlier scored touchdowns on runs of two and 17 yards in the second and third quarters, respectively.

The victory was U-M's fourth without a loss, while Navy's record fell to 1-3.

The initial U-M TD came on a one-yard plunge by fullback

Fritz Seyferth, with the game 10½ minutes old. It came four plays after Taylor's tackle forced Navy to fumble and the Wolverines' Tom Coyer recovered on the Middle 18.

Eighth-Ranked Sooners Smash Trojans, 33-20

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Fleet halfback Greg Pruitt led eighth-ranked Oklahoma's supercharged wishbone-T offense to a 33-20 college football victory over Southern California Saturday.

Pruitt scored three touchdowns on runs of 38, 75 and seven yards.

On two of those runs, the 5-foot-9 halfback from Houston, slowed down near the goal line to give his foes a chance to catch up with him—only to turn on the speed at the last moment.

Quarterback Jack Mildren produced one touchdown in the romp and halfback Joe Wylie added another as the Sooners broke the game open with 14 points in the third quarter.

Reese's Rapier-Like Thrusts Fell Steers

By TOMMY HART
ABILENE — Now that Abilene High 1971 has returned the Big Spring football series to its mysterious custom, perhaps both teams can get on with their business.

In good years and bad, dry years and wet, prosperity and recession, Abilene handles the Longhorns with neatness and precision. Friday night was no exception. The Eagles won, 20-14.

Jim Reese came into the game heralded as a money passer. He coined three touchdowns for the War Birds while letting the Bold Gold work for change.

Abilene never trailed in the game and, a couple of times, led by two touchdowns. The Eagles would almost certainly have received for a fourth score had not time run out on them in the fourth period.

Reese completed 13 of 14 passes and set up all of Abilene's touchdowns with his aerial daring. Abilene gained 317 yards, compared to 245 for Big Spring.

LEARN TOO LATE

The Steers discovered in the second half the Eagles were vulnerable to the pass and actually were in the game until the last 3½ minutes when they fumbled a punt, giving Abilene possession on the Longhorn 43.

James Jones and Thomas Hines added a new dimension to Abilene's attack with some devastating runs. Jones injured an ankle in the second half and never returned to action but Bruce Blackshear filled in nobly.

Jones stepped across for Abilene's first score with 5:25 remaining in Round One. The drive came on Abilene's first possession and covered 67 yards in a dozen maneuvers. Passes from Reese to Wayne Peel and Roy Churchill fueled the march. Randy Leonard made good on the extra point kick to send Abilene to the fore, 7-0.

Glenn Carleton recovered a fumble by Jones at the Steer four yard line of the opening period to temporarily get the Steers out of trouble. That particular drive covered 51 yards.

It began to appear that Abilene would go to the dressing room at half time with a 7-0 lead when both teams struck for touchdowns.

Abilene moved ahead, 13-0, on a six-yard sprint by Hines at the end of a 43-yard surge, with 1:11 remaining in the second. Leonard's kick was erratic.

CHURCHILL CATCHES

Reese and Churchill hooked up on a sideline pass that set up the score, the play moving from Big Spring's 43 down to the Steer's 10. Churchill simply kept his eye on the ball, the Big Spring defender running with him didn't have an inkling where it was.

The Longhorns refused to panic. A 19-yard pass from Mike Adams to Nathan Poss provided Big Spring with its first score with only 22 seconds remaining in the second canto. Poss accepted delivery in the corner of the end zone.

In that march, Big Spring swept 59 yards in three plays. A major penalty against Abilene helped and a 25-yard pass from Adams to Trevino kept the surge perking.

After Ricky Steen kicked the PAT, Big Spring had sliced Abilene's lead to 13-7.

Abilene scored again in the third when Reese bruised over from six yards away, with 3:33 remaining, at the end of a 57-yard offensive. Leonard again converted.

Passes to Churchill and Peel worked to Abilene's advantage in that series and all but had the Steers in confusion. The Bovines knew they were coming but seemed powerless to do anything about them.

Big Spring missed a glorious chance to score near the end of the third when it chugged from its own 46 to the Eagle two before yielding possession.

A grimly determined Big Spring team counted again with 5:10 left in the game when Adams sought out Dick Conley with a 10 yard pass at the end of a 65-yard drive that embraced 11 plays. Steen kicked the point.

The Steers' passing game looked better than it has all season. Adams made good 10 times in 19 attempts for gains totaling 133 yards.

Big Spring also punished the Abilene wings by consistently turning the corners in the second half. The trouble was, they didn't do it often enough.

The Steer defense never gave up trying to get to Reese and often did engulf him. Craig Brown, Pete Shaffer and Jeff Murdock kept their dates with the Abilene ball carriers, as did Rondel Brock, Conley and Mike Urban.

The defeat left Big Spring with a 2-2 record and 0-1 in 5-AAAA. The Steers will try to regroup and make Midland next pay for their frustrations next Friday night in Midland.

Score by quarters:
 Abilene 7 6 7 0—20
 Big Spring 0 7 0 7—14

DISTRICT 5-AAAA

Angelo Rallies To Slam Cooper

SAN ANGELO — The Angry Orange of San Angelo spotted Abilene's Cooper Cougars a 20-point lead in the first quarter here Friday night and then came roaring back to take a 35-20 victory in the District 5-AAAA opener for both teams.

The Cougars completely dominated the contest early. Abilene pined up 11 first downs and 200 yards before the Bobcats could get untracked.

The Cats scored 13 points in the second quarter and took the lead for good four minutes deep into the third period.

Willie Burton was outstanding for Abilene in the early going. He racked up all 20 points for the visitors in the first period.

Sparking the San Angelo comeback were Eddie Richardson, Mark Varien and Bill Denton. Carl Boedecker, who suffered a broken leg late in the contest, was outstanding on defense for coach Dan LaGrasta.

The Midland Bulldogs, 37-6, in district 5-AAAA competition.

The first Panther score came early in the first period on a 27 yard field goal by Jeff English. Five minutes later Lindsay Ocker scored from the seven and English booted the extra point and the Panthers were off to the races.

The lone Midland score came late in the tilt when Hal Guttry passed 24 yards to Louis Perez. The two-point conversion attempt failed.

ODESSA — A potent passing attack led the Odessa Bronchos to a 22-12 victory over the Midland Lee Rebels as both teams opened District 5-AAAA action here Friday night.

The combination of quarterback Richard Wortham and Leland Casey accounted for two scores for the Hosers.

The first, for 20 yards, came early in the first quarter and the second, this time for 12 yards, came in the second period.

The Rebels led in total yardage 319 to 234, and picked up Permian Panthers rolling over 21 first downs to Odessa's 15.

MIDLAND — Things were back to normal in Midland Friday night with the Odessa Permian Panthers rolling over 21 first downs to Odessa's 15.

'Technical Kayo' Sends Grid Teams Home Early

CHARLO, Mont. (AP) — The Charlo High School football team won its Friday game via a "technical knockout" as previously undefeated Arlee failed to make the bell for the second half.

Both coaches agreed to call a halt with Arlee trailing 76-0 at intermission.

"I don't know what to do," said Charlo Coach Bob Haggren. Last year in a similar win, he said, "I played everybody but the cheerleaders."

Charlo has compiled 342 points to zero for five opponents so far this season, with the lowest score 64-0.

Charlo hasn't been beaten in 34 games, but was tied 8-8 last year in its opener by Florence. In the championship game, Charlo evened the insult with a 64-0 victory over the same team.

Second Half Surge Boosts Big Red

COAHOMA — Just a two-point lead at halftime by a fired up squad of Hamlin Pipers, the Coahoma Bulldogs turned to the long gainer in the third quarter here Friday night and used that weapon to roll to an easy, 45-14, victory in non-conference action.

Leading 16-14 at the beginning of the third round, the Bulldogs counted four minutes deep into the period when fullback Donnie Buchanan bolted over from the five and then ran the two-point conversion across.

Coahoma came right back on the next series. On the first play from the Hamlin 34, halfback Wendell Walker skirted right end, broke into the clear at midfield and raced 66 yards into the end zone. Keith Pherigo added the PAT on a run and the rout was on.

MOMENTUM CHANGES

It appeared to be an easy night for the Bulldogs early in the contest. Coahoma kicked off to open the game. The Pipers returned the kickoff to their own 19 and following two running plays that netted nothing, sophomore quarterback Steve Mackey tried to pass to end Kenneth King. The toss was picked off by Walker at the Hamlin 24. On the first play, Walker took a pout from Bulldog quarterback Roland Beal and dashed 24 yards to paydirt. Beal himself ran the conversion over.

The visitors came right back, however, when Buchanan bobbled a snap from center in a punting situation and Hamlin took over with the ball resting at midfield.

Several plays later the Pipers were on the Bulldog seven with a fourth and goal. The big play in the drive was a 23 yard scamper by freshman speedster Jimmy Jones.

On fourth and goal, substitute quarterback Milton Jones executed a perfect screen pass to brother Jimmy and he bolted into the end zone. The conversion attempt was no good but the Bulldogs were called for offsides. On the next try David Willis ran it over.

RUNS 77 YARDS

Jimmy Jones gave his teammates little only lead of the night early in the second quarter when he took a pitchout and ran 77 yards down the west sideline untouched for a score. He literally outran three Bulldog defenders the last 40 yards. A pass from Milton Jones to Willis for the conversion fell incomplete.

Class A teams cruised along with top-ranked Sonora getting a hair-raising 10-8 scare from salty Ozona. No. 2 rated Holiday lashed Seymour 24-7. Third-ranked White Oak nailed Overton 28-7 and fourth-ranked Albany tripped Merkel 13-0. Fifth-ranked White Deer doused McLean 34-14 and sixth-ranked Pflugerville took no prisoners in a 69-0 rout of Manor.

Smyer Sneaks By Bearkats

SMYER — Smyer scored more points in the first half than Garden City scored in the second half and the hosts won the ball game, 28-22, here Friday night.

The hosts scored 28 points in the first two quarters, all by halfback Jimmy Kelly. He scored on one-yard runs twice, one 25-yard pass reception and one 65-yard pass reception to account for Smyer's point production for the evening.

Just as it was all over in the first 24 minutes, it was all over in the last two periods.

A fierce defense led by guard Pat Halfman and defensive back Steve Livingston shut the door on the Smyer offense over the last 24 minutes. Halfman, a senior, was in on 30 tackles and Livingston was cited by coaches for his tenacious tackling.

Joe Garcia rang up two touchdowns for Garden City in the final half. In the third period he raced 14 yards for one score and then ran the PAT over. In the same stanza he scored on a 20 yard dash and also ran the points across again.

In the fourth quarter, signal caller David Smith scored the final points for Garden City on a one-yard sneak. The PAT was no good.

Garden City stands at 0-4 on the season. They travel to Whitbarrel for a contest Friday night.

SCHOOLBOY FOOTBALL McKinney, Ennis Lose Shockers

McKinney and Ennis were shocked from their lofty spots in The Associated Press' Class AAA rankings Friday night by underdog upsets that had the experts shaking their heads.

McKinney, an awesome outfit which had rolled over two opponents without a lifted eyebrow, tumbled 9-7 to North Mesquite in the final three minutes of play.

Ennis, averaging 207 pounds per man in the line and an easy victor over three challengers, was nicked 16-15 by Waco Moore.

Bruce Greene blasted across from three yards out to cap a 97-yard North Mesquite drive in the fading minutes. A 46-yard pass from John Clark to Mike Hubner was the big play.

Port Arthur Jefferson, rated No. 1 in Class AAAA, just missed the upset bug, defeating Houston Bellaire 20-15. Second-ranked Dallas South Oak Cliff whipped North Dallas 20-0. Third ranked Wichita Falls leads Wichita Falls Hirsch Saturday night. In other games, No. 4 Odessa Permian whacked Midland 37-6. No. 5 Galveston Ball blasted LaMarque 46-6, and sixth-ranked Hurst handled Irving 35-6.

Third-ranked Silsbee, which was sure to benefit from the McKinney and Ennis disasters in Class AAA, bumped off Little Cypress 28-6. There were no other surprises in the division with fourth-ranked Iowa Park blasting Burleson 47-20, fifth-ranked Brenham belting Wharton 22-0 and sixth-ranked Greg-

Bula Slashes Dragon Club

FLOWER GROVE — Two injuries left the Flower Grove Dragons without a quarterback Friday evening, and the result was a disastrous 77-0 drubbing at the hands of Bula in Bula.

Although outclassed by a seasoned team of junior and seniors, Flower Grove was making a battle out of it until David Prbyla, quarterback, was lost for the season in the second quarter with a broken arm. Jimmy Ross was shifted from right half to the pilot post, but he got his bell rung early in the third.

Mixing a running and passing game perfectly, Bula rolled to a 33-0 halftime lead. Flower Grove, under six-man rules, could have tossed in the sponge when Bula hit 47 points, two more than the margin required for calling a game. Coach Harold Ross and his boys, however, elected to stick it out.

Friday at 8 p.m., Flower Grove will entertain Union of Terry County in a District 4 game. Bula clobbered Union last week 66-18 in a game that was called in the third. Flower Grove, playing after a suspension of football for three years, is now 1-1.

Angling Luck Good At Lakes

Although many fishermen have stayed away under the assumption that sharp increases in the volume of water in Lake J. B. Thomas and Lake E. V. Spence reduced the chances of good catches, the opposite seems to be the case.

R. A. Schooling, administrative assistant for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, said there were numerous reports of substantial catches of channel cat at Lake E. V. Spence above Robert Lee. Trotline fishing has been rewarding with yellow cat in the 15-20-pound range being boated.

Crappie fishing in the rocks off Cat Island at Lake Thomas has been especially good. The lake is settling out rapidly after the effects of recent inflow.

New biological surveys of the two lakes are expected soon, and in the meantime the district is exploring the possibility of putting in half a million more fish, said Schooling.

Sterling Mauls Mertzton, 42-6

STERLING CITY — Sterling City rolled to an easy 42-6 triumph over the Mertzton Hornets here Friday night in eight-man action.

Normally a six-man club, the Hornets found the going rough against the Eagles.

Alan Price produced the first Sterling City score on a seven-yard pass play. Before the first quarter came to an end, Ray Escobar ran 16 yards for another Sterling City touchdown and added the extra point. Escobar scored again from the 30 in the second period and Tommy and Bobby Bynum each scored once for the Eagles.

In addition to his scoring jaunt, Escobar was credited with 250 yards rushing for Sterling City.

Amarillo To Host World Title Races Oct. 23-24

AMARILLO — Entry blanks for the National Hot Rod Association's 7th annual World Finals at Amarillo Dragway were placed in the mail to eligible competitors this week in preparation for the October 23-24 classic which will decide drag racing's 1971 World Championships.

The $200,000 World Finals event is the climax of NHRA's 1971 World Championship Series of 35 regional races across the U.S. and Canada, where participants earned points qualifying them for entry at Amarillo. Only the top points winners from the East-West Conferences and regional points winners are invited to participate in the rich classic.

The World Finals event is being held in Amarillo for the first time this year, following a four-year run at Tulsa, Okla., and two years at Dallas, Texas.

starting quarterback from three qualified applicants. He has sterling silver rookies Dickey and Dan Pastorini and veteran Charley Johnson, who has started both the Oilers' regular season games.

"I consider each of our quarterbacks a starter," Hughes explained. "That's the way I'll play them."

Johnson was ineffective in a 34-0 season opening loss to Cleveland and in last week's 20-16 loss to Kansas City. He was relieved in the Browns game by Dickey to no avail but last week Pastorini started the second half against the Chiefs and almost fueled an upset.

Against the Chiefs, Pastorini jerked Houston from a 13-3 deficit to a 16-13 lead in the fourth quarter before Kansas City pulled it out. He has completed 10 of 21 passes for 156 yards and one touchdown and a 47.6 passing percentage, all achieved in the Chiefs game.

Dickey is 8 of 20 for 144 yards. Johnson is 12 of 26 for 120 yards. The three quarterbacks have thrown eight interceptions in two games.

New Orleans starting quarterback will be Manning, the former Mississippi great who almost engineered a victory over the Oilers in a pre-season meeting. The Oilers eventually won 24-17.

Manning, who has completed 24 of 43 passes for a 55.8 completion percentage, also directed the Saints' season-opening upset of Los Angeles in his first regular season game as a pro. Manning's two-game production is good enough to rank him high among NFC passers.

Manning's passing partner is wide receiver Danny Abramowicz, who has caught 10 passes for 183 yards including three for touchdowns. Abramowicz is third in the NFC in receiving and second in scoring.

The prime targets for New Orleans will be wide receivers Charlie Joiner and Ken Burrough, Houston's two leading receivers.

Burrough and defensive tackle Mike Tilleman will be playing against their old teammates. They were traded to the Oilers in the off-season. It will be the same for Sain's fullback Hoyle Granger and tackle Glen Ray Hines, who left Houston for New Orleans this season.

In addition to getting his first regular season victory as a head coach, Hughes will try to start the Oilers' anemic ground game. The Oilers have averaged 30 yards in their two losses.

Kickoff time is 1 p.m., CDT.

Cooke Wins Webb Tourney

Winner of the second flight was H. Brown with a net 69. The second and third place finishers in the second flight, B. Hagler and D. Shook also fired 69s and places were decided on a coin flip.

Steve Partridge came in second in the third flight with a round of 73. There was a tie for third spot between A. Szczawinski and D. Wendling, each with a 75.

Prizes were awarded to the top three golfers in each flight.

Bass Tourney Set In San Angelo

The Concho Bass Club of San Angelo has announced that its Annual Invitational "Hospitality" Tournament will be held October 9 and 10.

Entries in the event will fish at Lake Nasworthy, which is full at 12,000 feet; Twin Buttes South Pool, near normal at 7,000 acre-feet and Twin Buttes North Pool with more than 70,000 acre-feet. All these waters contain large bass.

Falcons Upended

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Little Alberto Vitiello booted a 22-yard field goal with four minutes left as ninth-ranked Penn State squeezed out a 16-14 victory over stubborn Air Force Saturday.

Vitiello, a 5-foot-7 junior college transfer, had missed a point after a third period touchdown which helped Air Force take a 14-13 lead in the quarter.

The Falcons took the kickoff and immediately drove to the Penn State 1 before an interception by Charley Zapiec gave the ball back to the Lions at their 9-yard line.

But two plays later, Franco Harris fumbled and Air Force linebacker Charles Richardson recovered the ball on the Penn State 22.

The winning field goal was set up by an 18-yard run by Mitchell and a 27-yard play on which Harris fumbled after gaining 13 yards and quarterback John Huftnagel picked up eight more after the fumble.

Muhammad Ali Schedules Bout With Buster Mathis

NEW YORK (AP) — Buster Mathis, the blimp-built heavyweight, will fight again after a layoff of some 2½ years, and he'll fight Muhammad Ali.

That's what Bob Arum, president of Top Rank, Inc., said Friday at a news conference.

"This is the biggest chance of my life," the 265-pound Mathis said of the fight scheduled for 12 rounds in the Houston AstroDome Wednesday, Nov. 17. "I'm reviving these people," said Ali in reference to Jimmy Ellis, whom he stopped in his previous fight, and Mathis. Ellis had engaged in only three fights in 17 months before meeting Ali last July.

Redskins, Pokes Risk Unbcaten NFL Marks

The Dallas Cowboys will be back at the same old stand Sunday but they won't be playing the same old Washington Redskins.

The Cowboys' new home — the new Texas Stadium — won't be ready for them but the Redskins should be.

Washington, sporting a 2-0 record, will be out to snap a first-place tie with Dallas in the Eastern Division of the National Football League's National Conference and to end a string of six losses to the Cowboys.

Biscns End Long Winless String

STANTON — The Stanton victory bell, silent for the past 21 games, finally rang loud and long here Friday night.

The occasion was the Stanton Buffaloes first football victory since 1969. It took a 50-yard scoring pass and a fourth quarter rally to enable Stanton to defeat Rankin here to the tune of 12-17.

Wall Hurries Past Forsan

FORSAN — Darryl Weisum scored three times for Wall here Friday night as the visitors defeated the Forsan Buffaloes, 50-0.

The contest was scoreless through the first 12 minutes but Stanton scored in the second quarter when quarterback Rick Wilson hit Jackie Swanson on a 50-yard bomb that sent the Buffs to dressing room in intermission with a 6-0 lead.

In addition to three touchdowns, Weisum scored two extra points for a 20-point production.

Rankin came back to take the lead in the third quarter when Tom Bloxom broke loose for 12 yards to score and Campbell kicked what loomed at the time as a very important extra point.

The Buffaloes, hampered by a rash of injuries to key personnel, were never in the contest.

Coach Bill Young's lads were not to be denied on this night, however. Late in the fourth stanza, Swanson took a pitchout from Wilson at the 12 and romped into the promised land.

Jimmy Sefcik, Benny Hold and Yoyo Wilde also scored for Wall.

It was the first time the final whistle meant victory for a Stanton football team in 21 games. Victory! How sweet it is!

The Hawks scored 28 points in the first two periods and came back with 22 over the final 24 minutes to mount the final tally to 50-0.

Score by quarters:
Stanton 0 6 0 6-12
Rankin 0 0 7 0-7

Wall led in first downs, 14-10. Leading ground gainer for the Buffaloes was Phillip Medlin.

Coach Warren Townley of Wall brought only 15 players and was forced to play his regulars most of the time. He made no special effort to run up the score.

Arabian Horse Races Slated At Sunland

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — Arabian horses will race at Sunland Park during the upcoming fall season, according to General Manager Art Johnson.

The colorful Arabian program will be staged as a joint project between Sunland and the Arabian Horse Racing Assn. of America.

Current plans call for one Arabian race per week throughout the Sunland fall meeting which starts on Saturday, Oct. 9, and continues through Dec. 12.

The one-a-week Arabian race — with pari-mutuel wagering — will probably be staged on either Saturdays or Sundays.

The Arabian races, Johnson pointed out, will be extra events and will not displace any of the regularly-scheduled thoroughbred or quarter horse races.

"We're pleased to welcome the Arabian program to the Sunland racing format," Johnson said. "In areas where Arabian racing has been introduced, it's gained considerable popularity. The fall Arabian program at Sunland will complete a circuit which includes Turf Paradise in Phoenix from January through early spring, and Santa Fe Downs throughout the summer months."

A main reason for the popularity of Arabian horses is the marathon distance they're bred to handle. The Arabian races at Sunland will cover distances of a mile to a mile-and-a-half.

The Arabian, a sturdy strong-legged runner, isn't sent to the races until the age of four. Thoroughbreds begin racing at the age of two. The Arabian is limited to marathon racing, since he was originally developed to cover long hauls.

These racing characteristics have been carefully preserved over the years. Gray is the predominant color of the Arabian.

According to Mike McDaniels of the Border Arabian Horse Assn. of El Paso, the Arabian is the "oldest pedigreed running horse in the world and the direct progenitor of the thoroughbred."

All thoroughbreds today trace their lineage back to one of three foundation sires — the Byerly Turk, the Godolphin Arabian or the Darley Arabian. The Arabian, today considered a breed separate from the thoroughbred, was developed by Arab tribesmen who needed a long-winded horse to carry them on raiding forays as distant as 40 miles or so.

Some 50-60 Arabians will be on hand at Sunland for the fall season. Thirty are already on the grounds.

Members of the Border Arabian Horse Assn. will participate in the local program by staging a special post parade for each Arabian race. A handful of the local Arabian show horses, with riders attired in authentic Arab costumes, will lead the racing Arabians to the starting gate.

The minimum purse of $1,000 will be in effect for the Arabian races.

Nicklaus Is Choice In English Play

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, U.S. PGA champion and leading money winner, has been made a 5-2 favorite by British bookies in the Piccadilly Match Play Golf Championship here next week.

Eight of the world's leading professionals will begin a series of 39-hole elimination matches Thursday over the 6,997-yard, par 74 Wentworth course.

Arnold Palmer, twice winner here and completing one of his best seasons at the age of 42, is the second choice at 9-2, followed by Gary Player of South Africa, 5-1; Charles Coody, the American Masters champion, and Tony Jacklin of Britain, each 6-1.

Bears Bruised By Hurricane

MIAMI (AP) — "Bring on Notre Dame," shouted Miami's dazzling Chuck Foreman. "We're as ready as we'll get."

The upstart Hurricanes massacred Baylor 41-15 Friday night and began thinking of next week's match with the powerful Irish.

"Those Catholics will be tough," grinned Hurricane coach Fran Curci, a devout Roman Catholic himself. "We'll be prepared and see what happens."

Foreman executed a fan-pleasing scoring dance covering 50 yards to give Miami a 27-0 lead over the Bears 15 seconds before halftime. He busted four tackles along the zigzag route, taking 12 seconds to cover the distance.

The 201-pound junior also slammed one yard for another touchdown and flipped a 15-yard halfback pass to Bill Perkins for a third as the Canes pulled off their first back-to-back victories since 1968.

"Isn't he something?" Curci said, referring to Foreman. "That 50-yard run came on a play designed for short yardage. Chuck was going for the first down and wound up going all the way."

Foreman gained 110 yards in 15 carries, giving the speedster 317 in three games as one of the nation's leading rushers. Sidewick Tom Sullivan made 66 in 20 attempts for a seasonal total of 275.

Ancient Ram Death Victim

MERATHON — A battle-scarred bighorn ram — patriarch of Texas' tiny herd of transplanted bighorn sheep — was found dead recently.

The 300-pound ram named Sancho was part of a herd living in the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Black Gap Wildlife Management Area in the rocky and arid Big Bend area of the state.

The ram apparently died of old age, and with good reason. He was at least five years old when brought to Texas more than 12 years ago.

Perhaps someday desert bighorns again will roam wide areas of the Big Bend as they did a few decades ago. The sheep fell prey to various enemies, including disease, and were believed extinct in the state by 1960.

Sancho was one of the first arrivals from Arizona which were released in the management area's 427-acre holding pen. He was no doubt sire to some of the twenty-odd sheep which have subsequently been released from the enclosure to try their luck at survival in the wild.

Sancho was beginning to show his age. His horns, which measured 35 inches around the curve, were well worn and "broomed" on the tips.

Four Tilts Played In Gra-Y Football

There were four games played in Gra-Y football action here Saturday.

In one contest the Kentwood Raiders romped all over the Moss Mustangs by 34-0. The Park Hill-Royal Panthers shut out the Airport-Cedar Crest Stars with a 30-0 tally and the College Heights Bulldogs came up with two touchdowns to beat the Boydston Bears, 12-6.

In the final game of the day, it was another shut out as the Lake View Rockets blanked the Washington Redskins, 8-0.

Jaybirds Upend Matador, 12-6

JAYTON — The Jayton Jaybirds scored twice in the first quarter here Friday night and went on to defeat the Matador Matadors, 12-6.

Tommy Parker and Brad Dibrell scored the touchdowns for the winners in the opening round. Both teams now have won two and lost two on the year.

END OF THE LINE — David Steel and Phil Hopkins of Abilene High converge to stop Big Spring's Earl Reynolds after Earl had accepted a punt in Friday night's 5-AAAA action at Abilene. Abilene won, 20-14, in the inaugural district game for both teams.

GOVERNMENT MOVING ONTO DANGEROUS GROUND

Census Polling Could Be Abused

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Census Director Richard Scammon says the government is moving onto dangerous ground by using the Census Bureau to take a public-opinion poll on the wage-price freeze. Census officials disagree.

"I think that inevitably people will feel, rightly or wrongly, that this kind of political polling on what amounts to one of the leading political issues of the day could lead to all sorts of abuses and damage the fundamental research mechanism," Scammon said in an interview.

"Not necessarily this poll," he said, "but there is concern and apprehension that this might lead to a wholesale use of the current population survey for political polling."

The poll is being conducted for the new Cost of Living Council and asks respondents about their feelings on the freeze on wages, prices and rents imposed by President Nixon.

"We do not consider this a political poll," a Census Bureau spokesman said.

"Here's the position we're in," he said. "We were requested to do this survey by Mr. Arnold Weber (director of the council), and in effect by the White House, and we are doing it as we are requested to do by other government agencies."

"We're a factory. We're the best factory there is in the United States for data. If somebody wants something done and done in a hurry, there is just one place to go — the Census Bureau."

Scammon says the government has turned to private polling organizations in the past to obtain data on hot political issues and should do so now.

But the Bureau says it has done this kind of questioning in the past—principally for the War Production Board and the Office of Price Administration during World War II.

The wartime surveys asked such questions as whether rationing was fair—which the Bureau says could have been considered just as political in their day.

Scammon said he had seen the questionnaire being used for the survey and felt the questions are perfectly valid and well put.

"I think the question will be put properly and conducted honestly," Scammon said. "But will everybody else feel that way, and if not, how much is this going to imperil the Census Bureau and its ability to gather information?"

GIANT SQUASH — Michael Robert Pritchard, 21 months, sits on 353-pound Hungarian squash grown by neighbor Edgar VanWyck of Roland, a town 45 miles southwest of Winnipeg, VanWyck, who grew a 250-pound squash last year, hopes this year's giant will set a world record.

Abilene Newspaper Has Open House

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — The Abilene Reporter-News opens for public display Sunday a new, expanded plant which Editor Ed N. Wishcamper says is second to no newspaper of comparable size in the nation.

The expansion and renovation process, costing in excess of $2 million, nearly tripled the size of the facility.

Including a covered parking area for customers, it now encompasses about three-fourths of a downtown block.

"We feel this area is going to grow and prosper in the future and we want to be ahead and perhaps take the lead," said Andrew B. Shelton, president and publisher.

"We didn't just build the plant for today's operation...We are geared for future changes, new processes, growth and increased circulation."

The Reporter-News, a member of the Harte-Hanks newspaper group, serves a large segment of West Texas which it has labelled "The Big Country."

The combined circulation of the morning and evening papers exceeded 66,000 in the last official audit.

"We have built as far in the future as we can see," Shelton said, pointing to the expected growth of Abilene and the area.

He said the new facility would enable the Reporter-News to handle the demands of a doubled circulation with ease and without need for further expansion.

"Everything in the plant is new, including the furniture," he said. Everything, where feasible, is carpeted and color coordinated.

Major equipment and machinery include a 96 page color convertible press, electronic equipment for the photocomposite department, a stream conveyor system for the mail room and a specially designed covered spiral chute and loading dock for the circulation department.

"There is nothing anywhere to match this in a newspaper our size," said Wishcamper, who has been with the Reporter-News 35 years.

Touch-Me-Not

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: "HUNGRY FOR LOVE" and I have a lot in common. But your advice ("teach him") didn't work for me. I've tried. I've worn everything from sexy negligees to nothing at all. All my guy does is turn his head and say, "Move, you're in my way, I can't see the TV." Or, "Better put some clothes on, you're going to catch cold."

He's a regular "touch-me-not." He's ticklish everywhere, and he doesn't like for me to touch him at all. I'm 25 and he's 28.

I am fairly attractive, have kept my shape and I'm neat and well-groomed, but if he

My husband and I are Godparents to 12 children. We remember them all on their birthdays and Christmas and Easter, but do you think they remember us? Their mothers telephone me to tell me the child has received our card with a check enclosed, but is too "busy" to thank us personally.

I wonder how many Godchildren remember their Godparents on their special days? Giving is a two-way street, you know. But I don't blame the children. Their parents should have taught them better manners.

FORGOTTEN GODMOTHER

DEAR RESIGNED: You're fortunate. People who learn to live with situations they can't change, spare themselves a lot of misery. As long as you remain "resigned" you'll have no problem.

How do I know? My father was a minister. He was handsome, and the ladies flattered him and chased him and he wasn't the strongest of men, if you know what I mean. When things got too involved, we moved to avoid a scandal. For 25 years our family moved from parastate to parastate. We were never able to grow roots anywhere.

The pastor-worship thing is as old as churches, Abby. Many a fine clergyman has made a fool of himself over some "helpless" little lady who came to cry on his shoulder.

I wonder how many people know what a preacher's wife has to put up with?

DEAR DR. THOSTESON: My husband found out six years ago that he was diabetic. The doctor told him to lose weight. He did, and he watches every bite he takes, but he starts drinking on the week-end and stops when he can't drink another ounce. He claims he isn't an alcoholic because he just "drinks a little on week-ends."

He was supposed to have his blood checked every so often, but hasn't been back to the doctor since he lost that weight six years ago.

Is he cured? Will the gorging of beer hurt him? By "gorging" I mean I have to get someone to take me to get him every week-end so I can drive him home. I go from 10 to 125 miles.

— Mrs. A.D.

So let's label him a "week-end alcoholic." There are such. No, his diabetes isn't cured. It never will be. The question is whether he is keeping his blood sugar level controlled, and with all that beer, he probably isn't.

DEAR DR. THOSTESON: My husband is 29 and gets severe leg cramps. He gets them so bad in the middle of the night that he rubs alcohol on his legs, and cold towels, and tries to walk the cramps out. Sometimes he lies on the floor and has to help to get up because of the pain.

He loses about an hour and a half of sleep when one occurs, and he gets them so often that I'm scared. He won't go to a doctor because he thinks there is nothing they can do for him.

He used to get them before we were married but not like he does now. He is a butcher and works in the cold all day. Does that have anything to do with it? — N.D.

This doesn't sound like the leg cramps that are so common (and annoying) in older folks. He's too young. But obviously something is wrong and getting worse. Faulty blood supply in the legs? A possibility. Something damaged in the spine? Also possible.

DEAR DR. THOSTESON: You wrote that "a dermoid cyst of the ovary is a malignant type" and should be removed. My wife had one removed 40 years ago. It obviously was not malignant. However, your statement that they are malignant is very disturbing to her, as two relatives have developed malignancies. Could you publish a qualification to the effect that most dermoid cysts are not malignant? I am sure it would relieve many women who might be disturbed.

— E.B.S.

Glady, and I truly regret any needless worry that may have been occasioned by what I have had such cysts removed.

JIMMY HOPPER TOYOTA

511 S. GREGG 267-2555

It's big. But it doesn't eat much.

It gets about 23 miles on a gallon of regular gas.
 Takes oil by the pint. Not the quart.
 Needs no anti-freeze. (There's no radiator.)
 And since our Station Wagon is only 15" longer than our bug, it doesn't eat up much parking space either.

Directs Nixon To Spend Funds For School Meals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed a resolution Friday that directs the Nixon administration to spend money out of a special fund to insure a free or reduced-price school meal for all the nation's needy children.

Speed Reading Class Slated

The Big Spring YMCA will offer a class in speed reading to persons of junior high age and above.

A demonstration class will be held Tuesday, Oct. 12 at 7:00 p.m. at the YMCA, 8th and Owens, and classes will begin Oct. 14 if sufficient interest is expressed.

Classes are planned for Tuesday and Thursday evenings 7 p.m.-9 p.m. and continue for 10 lessons.

The reading improvement classes will be instructed by Mrs. Stuart Forest, a certified reading specialist. She is a graduate of the University of Texas at Austin. She will use specially designed teaching equipment, including the perceptoscope, manufactured in Big Spring by Perceptual Development Laboratories, a division of GAMCO Industries, Inc.

The reading program includes lecture, special perceptual improvement exercises, paced reading of filmed articles, free reading of printed materials, and special tests and techniques, all designed to effect an increase in a reader's speed rate and comprehension.

The measure was sent to the House, where a similar resolution has been introduced.

Senior members of the Senate Appropriations Committee opposed the resolution from the Agricultural Committee as improper, saying their panel planned to consider a measure to do the same thing in a few weeks.

"I believe this would establish a wrong precedent," said Appropriations Chairman Allen Ellender, D-La.

But Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., chairman of the Agriculture Committee, said if action is delayed "even more schools will have been forced to cut back their feeding programs."

He charged a lack of funds was causing "chaos, consternation and confusion in school lunch programs across the country."

Just before final action, the Senate by a nonrecorded standing vote adopted an amendment by Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, to add another cent to the 45-cent federal payment in the resolution, bringing the proposed new level to 46 cents per lunch compared with the present 35 cents.

New regulations announced by the administration in August, critics said, could deprive approximately two million disadvantaged children of free or reduced price lunches. Talmadge sponsored the Senate resolution to counteract the regulations.

'IT WAS JUST A LITTLE INCIDENT'

Legless Vet Captures Robber Duo

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Larry Woods, who lost both legs in Vietnam, received quite a reception when he returned home to Orlando.

Two men robbed him of all his money and threatened to kill him, he said.

It made Larry so angry that he chased his assailants' car with his van truck and ran them off the road.

Larry, who is only 5-foot-5, admits that he was a little apprehensive about boldly pursuing two men who were bigger, armed and had both of their legs. But he says after Vietnam it was no big deal.

"Everybody has been building me up as some big hero, but it was just a little incident," Woods said Friday. "Guys in Vietnam are doing things like that every second of every day."

Larry told police he was robbed early Wednesday morning as he was making a call in a downtown telephone booth. Two men approached the booth and one, who had what appeared to be a gun concealed under his shirt, said, "Give me all your money or I'll kill you."

Woods recalled that he handed them his wallet, containing between $130 and $140, and said, "Please don't shoot. I've just been blown up in the war."

He said the two robbers ordered him to "stay in the phone booth or you're dead."

Larry recalls, "I waited about 30 seconds and immediately after I saw them get into their Volkswagen, I hobbled over to my truck. I was determined to follow them and get the license number."

"But then I thought that the car might be stolen, so I decided to run them off the road and try to disable the car."

But the car was not disabled, so he fled in his truck and summoned police. A patrolman spotted the car and arrested two suspects.

Jailed on robbery charges are Charles LeRoy Jackson, 20, and William Walker, 24, both of Orlando. Bond has been set at $10,000 for each man.

Woods lost both of his legs after stepping on a mine during a patrol in Vietnam a year ago. He spent 10 months recovering in a San Francisco hospital and returned home to Orlando six weeks ago with two artificial legs and a chestful of medals.

The Grand Winner

By JO BRIGHT

"I have a secret to share with you and the members of your chapter which I know will be hard to keep. It isn't any secret that you have qualified for the Founder's Award, and we all congratulate you for that. What is secret, for the time being, is that your chapter is the Grand Winner and has been selected by the judges as the outstanding entrant."

Thus began the letter which was received in July by Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, from the sorority's international headquarters at Kansas City, Mo.

The secret was, indeed, a difficult one to keep until the formal announcement of the award was made in this month's issue of the BSP magazine, "The Torch." A page in the October issue will be devoted to detailing accomplishments which enabled the chapter to win the award.

Judging was based on work in five major categories: "yardstick" rating, social, cultural, civic and friendship. The chapter received high grades in the first two categories, the second having to do with its sponsoring the formation of a chapter in Ackerly.

Mu Zeta's high marks in the cultural field were boosted when the women sponsored "Big Spring Night" at the Globe Theater of the Great Southwest in Odessa. During the Shakespeare Festival at the theater the chapter made tickets available at a special price and handled publicity and reservations. Later, the chapter co-sponsored the theater's presentation here of "Macbeth."

The chapter's civic participation was outstanding in several areas, foremost being the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, where members help with the quarterly crippled children's clinics and have provided a teaching machine for children with learning disabilities. When the Air Force Association held a state convention in Big Spring, Mu Zetas did much of the "paper work" and also hosted a brunch and style show for Air Force wives. In a related project, chapter members wrote letters to government leaders urging fair treatment and release of United States prisoners of war. Funds were donated in support of The Prisoners of War and Missing in Action Cause.

Mu Zeta has either collected for, donated to or been called on for volunteer work by the TB Association, Bible Fund, Big Spring State Hospital, American Heart Association, March of Dimes and the Westside Community Center.

The chapter took part in recognizing outstanding younger citizens by providing cash awards to student winners in a show sponsored by the Big Spring Art Association, and again, by sponsoring the Big Spring Easter Seal Princess contest and style show in which 19 contestants vied for the crown. The show was open to the public, with proceeds going to the Easter Seal Association.

Yes, for Mu Zetas 1970 was a very good year. Seeing the needs of the community, each member gave of herself to make Big Spring a better place to be.

The Big Spring Herald congratulates Mu Zeta for being "the best Beta Sigma Phi chapter in the world."

Big Spring's "poster boy," Eddie Jowers, gets tender attention from four members of Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, when the women volunteer their services at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. Eddie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Jowers. Keeping an affectionate eye on the handsome youngster are, from left, Mrs. Rex Goff, Mrs. Gariand Braun, Mrs. Leon Miller and Mrs. Calvin McMurray Jr.

"All the world's a stage," and the spotlight is shining now on Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. The chapter helped more West Texans see live performances of Shakespeare's works by sponsoring Big Spring Night at the Globe Theater of the Great Southwest in Odessa. Shown with a replica of the theater are, from left, Mrs. Robert Knight, Mrs. Jack Hallett and Mrs. Owen Wormser.

Capt. Robert Dugan of the Big Spring Police Department was one of many area pilots who donated their time and planes during the 1970 March of Dimes Air Lift at Howard County Airport. Among those handing tickets and assisting passengers were the Mu Zeta Chapter

Claudia Parker Wed To Keith H. Bristow

St. Thomas Aquinas Chapel in Boulder, Colo., was the setting September 25 for the wedding of Miss Claudia Jeanne Parker of Denver, Colo., and Keith Hopkins Bristow of Big Spring. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Parker of Thermopolis, Wyo., and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs.

J. Gordon Bristow, 554 Hillside Drive, and the late Mr. Bristow. The morning ceremony was performed by the Rev. Don Carver, a Catholic priest, and twin arrangements of yellow chrysanthemums enhanced the altar scene. A musical prelude was performed by the chapel organist.

Mr. and Mrs. Jon B. Clabo of Boulder attended the couple, with Mrs. Clabo as matron of honor and her husband serving as best man.

The bride was attired in an orchid wool dress styled with high rounded neckline and brief sleeves. She carried a nosegay of pink Sweetheart roses, stephanotis and babies' breath.

A graduate of Stroud High School, Stroud, Okla., the bride attended East Central State College, Ada, Okla., and is a member of Chi Omega sorority. Previously, she was employed by Union Oil Company in Deaver, Colo.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Wash, 2904 Hunter's Glen, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Deborah Ann, to John William Rutherford, son of Mrs. Glen Hughes, 1502 E. 6th, and Bobby Frank Rutherford, 410 Edwards. The couple will be married at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 28 in the College Baptist Church.

Mrs. D. Guidry Feted At Shower

Mrs. Daniel Guidry was the honoree at a baby shower held Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Mike Pope, 1410 Oriole, with Mrs. Jeffrey Williams as cohostess.

Mrs. Guidry, who was attired in a red and grey plaid pantsuit, was presented a corsage of pink carnations accented with pink and blue kitten miniatures.

A yellow Teddy Bear decorated the gift table, and refreshments were served from a table laid with a yellow patterned cloth. Yellow and white streamers were hung over an umbrella-shaped cake which was flanked by yellow candles.

Sgt. and Mrs. Guidry are residing in Big Spring while he is stationed at Webb Air Force Base. Her mother, Mrs. Thomas Nestor of New Orleans, La., was unable to attend.

Autumn Coffee Held At Club

An autumn coffee was given by Mrs. James W. Tipton, Mrs. Bill M. Estes and Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith Wednesday morning, at the Big Spring Country Club.

The serving tables were laid with brown cloths accented by gold napkins. The centerpiece on the main table was a silver and crystal epergne filled with gold spider mums, bronze pompon mums and yellow gladioli, accented with brown eucalyptus and wheat. Coffee was served from a silver service.

The hostesses greeted approximately 250 guests. The three women were attired in fall colors of orange, navy and purple. They wore miniature corsages of yellow chrysanthemums accented with wheat and tied with bronze ribbon.

Members of the houseparty included Mrs. Vernon Swafford, Mrs. L. K. Gladden, Mrs. Bill Pollard, Mrs. Bill Johnson, Mrs. D. H. McDaniel, Mrs. Walter Wheat, Mrs. John Richard Coffee, Mrs. James Cape, Mrs. Harold Davis, Mrs. Bruce Wright, Mrs. Harold Pearce, Mrs. Mairi McFaul and Mrs. Don Womack. They wore tiny corsages of chrysanthemums tied with yellow ribbon.

Reception Scheduled For Today

The couple are descendants of pioneers in this area. She is the former Mae Stutes, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Stutes, Big Spring; and he is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Shanks of Garden City.

Mr. and Mrs. Shanks were married Sept. 29, 1921, and resided here until 1930 while he worked for the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. They then moved to Odessa where Shanks was superintendent of Homco for 16 years until his retirement in 1960. They then moved to Lake Brownwood.

Mrs. Shanks is a member of the Ladies Society to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and of Rebekah Lodge No. 68 in Odessa. In his retirement, Shanks spends much of his time fishing.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend the reception this afternoon. The refreshment table will be covered with a gold cloth and centered with a three-tiered cake.

A silver punch bowl centered a smaller circular table decorated with a complementary arrangement of fall flowers.

Credenzas on opposite sides of the entertaining area were adorned with bouquets of yellow and bronze mums with gold daisies and fall leaves.

Elbows, feet, knees and cuticles stay soft when they have a chance to absorb warm suds to which bath oil has been added.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

Those wonderful Air Force Thunderbirds have again thrilled me with their daring exploits in the sky and filled me with awe with their precise formations while flying faster than I can think.

That's what they have done for me, but for our dog it's another thing. I have just begun to get him out from under the divan, his refuge from danger since he first came to live with us. With much coaxing and sweet talk he came outside again with me, but it took some special dog goodies to really get him out from the comforting shelter of the house.

He is five human years old and has been brought up in an area where jet training planes pass over and back again every day that flying is possible. But Friday brought the Thunderbirds pretty close to him, and he didn't know how to defend against them. Not that they all came at him at once... I think, in fact, there was only one that twice flew so low over our house that JP, the dog, and I all instinctively ducked. But the dog was outside so he appeared to think the attack was on him. He barked his loudest at the sky and when the door was opened like a black dart, he shot straight into the house and blended himself into the darkness of his favorite hiding place.

While he occasionally tries to bite me, I think at this time I am one of his closest friends. He's been following close to my heels since his experience with the sound of the Thunderbird. I'm sure he never saw it.

MRS. BILL GAGE returned Thursday afternoon from Dallas where she went to be with her grandson, the infant of MR. and MRS. BILLY GAGE, who underwent surgery Wednesday morning. The baby was doing well when Mrs. Gage left to return here.

Had a nice chat with MRS. ALBERT DAVIS who, with Mr. Davis, has been in Houston to visit MR. and MRS. DEE JON DAVIS and their children, who formerly made their home here. The Davises, who are Dee Jon's uncle and aunt, flew down Monday and returned Thursday. Mrs. Davis says Dee Jon is busy with his medical school studies, and Lou Ann is busy with the children but may start teaching a class in needlepoint.

CY BISHOP who grew up in Big Spring but has made his home in Seymour for a number of years, called to say hello during the week.

Sorry to have missed a telephone call from MRS. CHALMER BOLES when she was here for a short time Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. MRS. WALTER ROSS, a longtime friend and former neighbor here of Mrs. Boles, saw her long enough to have coffee and see the Boles' daughter, Sue, and her children. Mrs. Boles was taking Sue from Cortez, Colo., back to Dallas after she had visited her parents. Sue was going to get their belongings packed in Dallas and move to Puerto Rico where her husband is employed by the Ross Perot interests.

MR. and MRS. RUDOLPH PACHALL were to leave at the weekend on an automobile trip to Sacramento, Calif., where they will spend several weeks with their daughter and her family.

MR. and MRS. A. W. MOODY were in New Braunfels Thursday for the funeral of his sister's grandchild who died after an illness of several years.

SANDY LEE is the name of the daughter born Friday evening to MR. and MRS. AL CHRISTIANSON at Medical Center Memorial Hospital. The child weighed 8 pounds, 1½ ounces when she arrived at 9:20 p.m. Mrs. Christianson is in room 212.

Eclectic Look Is Fashionable
The "electric mix" is the fashionable term today for a room scheme that combines different period and styles of furnishings. Some people like to call it the "happy hodgepodge," but actually, this is the way most of us live today.
Very few of us have, or would care to have, a uniform sameness in our furniture, carpet and accessories.

BSP Unit Presents Fashions

"Styles for a Lifetime" was the theme for a fashion show Friday presented for rushees of Alpha Eta Upsilon, Beta Sigma Phi, in the home of Mrs. Jerry Hall, Ackerly.

Ensembles presented included both comical and serious costumes, and the narration was designed to depict activities and purposes of the sorority.

Fashions modeled included dresses of newspapers, lampshades, and tin cans on the humorous side, as well as wear for sports, daytime and evening.

Models were Mrs. Dan Shortes, Mrs. Derwood Blagrove, Mrs. Dick Shortes, Mrs. Derrell Bearden, Mrs. Jerry Hall and Mrs. Jerry Iden, all members of the chapter.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a bouquet of yellow roses. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Mrs. Garland Braun outlined the history and purpose of BSP, Kenner, Mrs. Quinton Earhart and Mrs. A. D. Reed.

Prince Rainier, Princess Grace To Open Fete Des Fluers

When their serene Highnesses, Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco, arrive at Neiman-Marcus in downtown Dallas on October 10 for the gala cocktail party in their honor, they will find the internationally known specialty store transformed into a magical garden unlike any exposition attempted before.

The party signifies the opening of Fete des Fleurs, a two-week festival of flowers.

The proceeds from the Sunday party will benefit the School of Fine Arts at Southern Methodist University. Tickets for the event, $25 per person, can be obtained by calling (214) 741-6911, Extension 1225. Dress is informal.

The Prince and Princess will also be on hand for the official opening of the Fete des Fleurs on Monday morning, October 11, when the entire exhibit will be open to the public.

Thousands of orchids, carnations, and many other beautiful and exotic flowers and plants will fill the store in a massive floral display. The garden theme will be carried throughout all departments, with merchandise in floral designs on display and for sale.

The first floor will be decorated in a conservatory motif, with moss figure sculptures and the sights and sounds of living birds and fountains. Yellow and white will be the predominant colors, with splashes of more brilliant hues. Both cut and living flowers will be used, and a dramatic presentation of greenery in large planter boxes will highlight one area. Flower carts will have bouquets of fresh flowers for sale.

Small specialty shops, such as the Apothecary Trust with its herb and flower inspired fragrances, powders, soaps, lotions, and makeup.

In the Estee Lauder Parlour of Beauty, the customer will be given a free makeup, and then her photograph will be taken in a romantic Victorian costume and instantly developed for her.

The Sound and Camera Shop will have a display of the flower photography of Ernst Haas, the widely acclaimed Viennese artist whose film interpretations of nature, color and action have influenced modern photography techniques.

Several small shops of botanical influence make the flower handkerchiefs and handkerchief dolls (a Neiman-Marcus specialty) will be seen, and there will also be demonstrations in floral art needlework. There will be an Herb Garden, a Beehive, and a shop featuring the Rare Flowers of Robert V. Goodman, a leading Dallas florist.

A section devoted to flower books, including the ingenious Tiger Flower, written by Robert Vavra around the paintings of Fleur Cowles will also be in this area.

A prominent exhibit will be the paintings of Fleur Cowles in the couture area, in a gallery presentation. Vitrines in this area will contain silver boxes, small easel paintings and other small objects made by Miss Cowles.

The Royal Gardens of Monaco, with photographic blowups and a recreation of this renowned cactus garden, as interpreted by the Houston Cactus and Succulent Society, will occupy the area in front of the elevators on the third floor.

The Bromeliad Garden, on the fourth floor, will exhibit this rare and dramatic flower in a rustic setting, and in another area on the same floor, large size flowers will bloom — in multi-colored leather.

The Louis XIV Salon will have antique flower pitchers, pillows, furniture and cache pots in a conservatory setting.

Silk flowers designed and arranged by Ronaldo Maia, made by the descendants of the French family who made silk flowers for Marie Antoinette, will be used as centerpiece for the table settings in the china and fine linen area.

Children who come to the fifth floor to see their own art work on display — their versions of their favorite flowers, may visit the Fleur Grace Shop on the same floor, where flower shaped ice cream treats will be sold.

The Zodiac Room will be transformed into a rustic fall-like setting. All walls will be covered in rich brown burlap, as a background for nearly 40 birch trees. In the trees and on lattices baskets of trailing orchid plants, with blossoms of all colors, will be reflected in the mirrored panels. Fresh flowers will be sold from carts in the foyer area. Menus from previous Neiman-Marcus International Fortnight presentations have been planned by Helen Corbitt, with a different country being featured each day.

A number of other distinguished women guests will be present for the Neiman-Marcus Fete des Fleurs. Among them are:

Miss Fleur Cowles, artist, writer, and editor. She has had one-man shows in the foremost galleries of New York, London, Rome, Paris, Athens, Madrid and Sao Paulo. In addition to "Tiger Flower," her books include "Bloody Precident" (about Juan and Eva Peron), "The Case of Salvador Dali" and "The Hidden World of Hadramouth." She was the creator and editor of Flair magazine, and is a former associate editor of Look magazine.

Mrs. Estee Lauder, president of Estee Lauder, Inc., an international group of cosmetic companies. She was recently recognized by 575 business and financial editors as one of the Top Ten Outstanding Women in Business in the United States.

Mrs. Lauder won the Neiman-Marcus Award for Distinguished Service in the Field of Fashion in 1964.

Mrs. Florence Eiseman, a leader in the field of fashion design for children. Mrs. Eiseman won her N-M Award in the same year Princess Grace, then Grace Kelly of Hollywood, won hers, 1955.

Mrs. Giuliana Camerino of Venice, the dark and beautiful "Roberta" of handbag fame. Her N-M Award was presented in 1956.

Mrs. Beth Levine, designer for Herbert Levine, Inc., who has received international acclaim for her trend-making contributions to women's shoe fashions. She and her husband, Herbert, received the N-M Award in 1954.

Lydia de Roma, a 1967 awardee, whose imagination and skill have created a new look in summer fashions from printed or embroidered cottons, gingham, linens and silks.

Vera Maxwell, one of the few women designers who own and manage their own companies, which she founded in 1947. Mrs. Maxwell won the N-M Award in 1955.

Reinforce Child's Economy Clothes

Sometimes, economy-priced children's wear may be big on current fashion fads, but short on finishing details.

Provided that the fabric is sturdy and washable, purchases may represent budget-minded value.

However, don't expect wide seams, hems and other grow features. Instead, consider such buys as one-season wearables. Then take a little time to secure buttons and perhaps reinforce areas of hard wear — pocket corners, button holes and, if necessary, add inside iron-on patches to strengthen knees and elbows.

Party Held For Bride

Mrs. Steve Brant, the former Debra Gall Dever, was honored with a bridal shower Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Pat Shields, 906 Culp, Coahoma. She was married Sept. 18 in Ciudad Acuna, Mexico.

The honoree was attired in a purple crepe dress and presented a corsage of pink and purple carnations. Matching corsages went to her mother, Mrs. John Dever, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. O. G. Brant.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth trimmed with lace, and centered with a silver candelabrum holding purple candles and entwined with pink and orchid roses. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Cohostesses were Mrs. James Coates, Mrs. G. T. Culpepper, Mrs. M. P. Dorn Jr., Mrs. W. A. Fishback, Mrs. A. V. Lewis, Mrs. Bobby Roman, Mrs. Aaron Stoker, Mrs. Donald Webb and Mrs. Ralph Williams.

Out-of-town guests for the occasion were Mrs. Roy Hallman, the bride's grandmother, and Mrs. Royce Walker, the bride's aunt, both of Roscoe; and Mrs. Jerry Hallman of Big Spring, also the bride's aunt.

Rainbow Girls Install New Worthy Advisor

Mary Alice Terrazas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Terrazas, was installed as worthy advisor for the Order of Rainbow for Girls, Assembly No. 60, Saturday at the Masonic Temple, 222½ Main. She dedicated her term to Miss Alice Cross, her great-aunt.

"Faith and Love" will be the theme of Miss Terrazas' term, based on scriptures John 4:7 and Hebrews 11:1. Her motto is "loyalty to our order and to each other, ever looking to God for guidance." Her colors are those of the rainbow, and she chose garden flowers. All officers carried a nosegay of rainbow-colored carnations.

Miss Terrazas' song, "Pass It On," was sung by Sharon Andrews, Jan Morehead, Roger Dixon and Frank Estes, accompanied by Mrs. Ocky Mason.

Installed to serve with Miss Terrazas were Susan Smith, worthy associate advisor; Sandra Dickenson, charity; Pam Wheeler, hope; Kay Williams, faith; Duanna Mason, chaplain; La Nell Knowles, drill leader; Patty Swindell, love; Lesa Bruton, religion; Rhonda Riley, nature; Janet Armstrong, immortality; Della Nobles, fidelity; Becky Hays, patriotism; Linda Padgett, service; Cheryl Newton, confidential observer; Jo Lynn Blasinger, outer observer; Angela Hodnett, musician; and Tammy Newsom, choir director.

Zina Johnson continues in office as recorder; Debbie Webb and Beverly Thomas. Observing a Rainbow Girls tradition, members will attend church as a group today at the church of the worthy advisor. Miss Terrazas is a member of North Birdwell Lane United Methodist.

Museum Exec Cites Heritage

Stressing the meaning of historical heritage to a community, Jerry Worthy, president of the Heritage Museum, addressed the monthly meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday evening.

Worthy said historical heritage, fills a gap between the past and the present.

"There is no other way to preserve our heritage except by this method, and it is a tragedy for the history of any area to be lost to posterity," he said.

He went on to say that the museum, serving Big Spring and neighboring communities, helps round out community attractions, as well as being educational and informative for visitors.

Worthy announced exhibit plans for the coming months. They include a show by Tom Ryan, the world's foremost cowboy artist and past director of the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Tulsa, Okla. There will also be a showing of the work of Ace Reid, popular "Cowpokes" artist.

On Nov. 1 a "Pioneer Women" exhibit will be presented. Worthy urged anyone owning articles depicting the pioneer woman to donate or loan them to the museum.

Later exhibits will be centered around the railroad, schools, pre-history and Indian artifacts. Worthy said that a permanent exhibit depicting the development of the Big Spring area is being planned.

The B&P business meeting was conducted by Mrs. J. B. Apple, president.

Members agreed to sell pecan halves from the Stahlman

Pecan Grove in Las Cruces, N. M. Mrs. Rip Smith donated an electric sewing machine to the Westside Community Center. Other members have contributed dress patterns, material and miscellaneous items to the center.

A committee was named for National Business Women's Week, October 16-22. Members include Mrs. Apple, Mrs. Alma Gollnick, Mrs. Sybil Head, Mrs. Nell Frazier, Mrs. Cleo Reid, Miss Marie McDonald, Mrs. A. G. Eitzen, Mrs. Charles Summers, Mrs. Jimmie Mason, Mrs. Mamie Roberts, Mrs. George Dawson, Mrs. Thelma Lewis and Miss Edith Gay.

The program committee for the Tuesday meeting at Coker's Restaurant consisted of Mrs. W. B. Sullivan, chairman; Mrs. Rip Smith, Mrs. E. W. Alexander, Miss McDonald and Mrs. Zula Reeves.

Before You Buy....

An Information Service For Consumers
BY MARGARET DANA

By MARGARET DANA
If you are tired of hearing about all the noisy, destructive "revolutions" going on in the world today, let me tell you about a "quiet revolution." This is what Elizabeth Kooztz, director of the Woman's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor calls it, and it is a good name for the movement. This "quiet" revolution was begun by women, is being carried on by women, and its progressive, contemporary policies are being developed by women — all sorts of women. Yet it has nothing really to do with Women's Lib.

Actually, this gentle revolution, which has quietly been growing for several years, is going to make money management easier for many families. What is happening is a big and spreading change in our attitudes toward household employment.

The old traditional idea that anyone who is employed in a household is a "servant" or "maid" is rapidly dying out in civilized areas, as it should have long ago. In its place, with the leadership and help of the Woman's Bureau and the National Committee on Household Employment, a whole new approach and philosophy are being born.

The Woman's Bureau has found, in its studies, as I have for many years, there is not only a great need for trained, expert household skills, but that there are many women who, if they could, would choose to earn their living, or help their budgets, by selling these skills where they are needed.

There are a variety of angles which this new thinking and planning can take. For example, there are the many homemakers who just have their hands so full managing a family of growing children and a busy husband that they are short of time or strength to handle all the things a home needs to keep it clean and orderly. Or a family needs more money and the wife decides to go back to her old job, or tackle a new one — but she urgently needs some part-time dependable household help to make it possible. Then there are women who have talents they want and should use for their community — but need back-up help from trained household aides.

Like the women who simply do not have enough physical strength to do all the work a home needs, they say to me so often, "What I wouldn't give to find someone who could come and help! Not a servant — a trained housework aide."

And finally, perhaps surprisingly, there are many girls in high school and college who, if they could be wholly candid and truthful, would admit they like all the various fields of housework — from cooking to sewing and silver polishing — better than any of the business careers usual for women workers. But they have hesitated to head for housework as a career, because it has no status, it has low pay, there is little legislation to protect such workers, and — where would they get expert training, anyway?

All these valid situations led Elizabeth Kooztz, the Woman's Bureau Director, to start the wheels rolling a couple of years ago. As she says, "If we are agreed that there is a great need for the services of workers skilled in home-related arts, and that the plight of those presently in household employment makes this an unattractive occupational choice, then we must accept the fact that the social and economic status of private household workers must be changed, the occupations must be reconstituted and the industry restructured."

Expert training programs, decent pay standards, dignity, and employers with the right attitudes — these are what it takes to make all this work. How do we start in any given locality? The Woman's Bureau has an excellent leaflet that gives a great deal of advice and suggestions on this. It is called "If Only I Could Get Some Household Help!" and single copies may be had by writing the Woman's Bureau, U.S. Department of Labor, Washington, D.C. 20210.

Also, the National Committee on Household Employment, at 1436 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036, has materials available on how to go about developing standards for household employment and pay, where there are existing training programs, and how to start organizing all this in your community.

There is a real challenge here for women who like to think of themselves as reasonable, educated and progressive. A women's club, for instance, might organize a "Cooperative Housework Exchange," starting with friends and neighbors who volunteer time and skills to help each other — for pay. Then they might start persuading other women to train, and join the group. And the foundation would be a common acceptance of a new and smart attitude toward housework, with mutual respect between employer and employed.

Maintain Summer Blonde Streaks

If you want to keep those summer-sun streaks in your hair during the winter, all you need is a brush and bottle of peroxide.

Dip the brush into the peroxide and brush the area you want to blonde. Do this before shampooing and be sure not to leave the peroxide on too long or it will damage the hair.

Scnta's Helpers Show Servicemen That City Cares

Through the efforts of Big Spring citizens and organizations, 100 servicemen in Vietnam will receive ditty bags filled with small Christmas gifts. The local contribution is only part of the thousands of bags mailed to Vietnam each year by the American National Red Cross.

The red cloth bags were sewn by members of the NCO Wives Club at Webb Air Force Base. Money and gift items were donated by local merchants and citizens, the Red Cross, Webb AFB Credit Union and the NCO Wives Club.

Each bag costs approximately $5 and contains items such as candy, peanuts, address books, combs, ballpoint pens, cigarette lighters, socks and calendars.

With the deadline for mailing being last Friday, Mrs. N. E. Roll, Mrs. James C. Wiggins and Mrs. Marvin H. Holland began filling the bags Monday.

Mrs. Roll is Red Cross chairman for the ditty bag work, while Mrs. Wiggins and Mrs. Holland are welfare chairman and thrift shop chairman, respectively, of the NCO Wives Club. DeWitt Bunn is chairman of the Howard-Glasscock Counties Chapter, American Red Cross, which spearheaded the effort.

Margaret's Dress Shop Presents Style Show

A garage sale sponsored by the Non-commissioned Officers Wives Club at Webb Air Force Base will be held Thursday and Friday at the home of Mrs. Cipriano Benvides, 1600 Harding.

Proceeds from the sale will go to the club's general fund, and anyone with items to donate may contact Mrs. Benvides at 263-1523.

A style show was presented for members Tuesday by Margaret's Dress Shop in Highland Center.

Fashions modeled included hot pants, pantsuits, and evening dresses. A state representative said synthetic and permanent press fabrics, in bright colors of yellow, orange and purple, are the most popular materials on the market today. A $15 gift certificate from the store was given, and proceeds from the fund-raising project will help pay for gifts which members are providing for patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

The club women operated a booth during "career day" festivities Friday at Webb. Mrs. Douglas Luth and Mrs. Lee Hutchison were in charge.

Cookbooks compiled by the club are now available from any member at $2 each. The next regular meeting is at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 12 at the NCO Open permanent press fabrics, in Mess.

Couple Recites Vows In Home Ceremony

Miss Marsha Ann Knight Montgomery and James Michael McFarlen were united in marriage at 8 p.m. Saturday in the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smart, 1809 Settles.

The Rev. Caleb Hildebrand performed the rites at an archway entwined with greenery and orange and white carnations. Twin wall candelabras with white tapers and large bows completed the setting.

Music was provided by Mrs. Leonard Moody, pianist, and Leonard Moody, vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Floyd L. Montgomery of Kansas City, Mo., and McFarlen's parents are James Marshall McFarlen of Glendview, Ill., and Mrs. Joe Naylor of Annandale, Va.

The bride was attired in a formal Empire gown fashioned in white satin and organza. The bodice was accented with velvet trim, and long full sleeves featured a ruffle at the cuff. Matching ruffles highlighted the round collar, front yoke, and hem of the gown. A tiara encrusted with seed pearls and iridescents held her elbow-length veil which was edged with French lace. She carried a cascade of pale orange and white feathered carnations and lilies of the valley.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Robbie Schaffer of Midland served as bridesmaid, wearing a street-length, apricot gown styled with an Empire waist. Her long, full sleeves were gathered at the wrist, and she carried a nosegay of white carnations with orange streamers.

Richard S. Schmitt of Arlington, Tex., the bridegroom's brother, was best man.

A reception honored the couple at the Smart home. The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of white and orange carnations in a crystal bowl. The tiered cake was separated by volumms and topped with miniature wedding bells. Serving were Mrs. Randy Atwood and Mrs. Richard S. Schmitt. Miss Debbie Adkins presided at the guest register.

HOME IN EULESS

The couple will make their home at 639 Del Paso Burgundy Square, Apt. 315, Euless. McFarlen is employed by National Car Rental Service at Love Field in Dallas. He is a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School in Dallas and received an associate of arts degree from Northwestern University and Chicago City College. Mrs. McFarlen graduated from Grandview High School, Grandview, Mo.

Out-of-town guests included Edwin O'Bannon, Midland; Maj. and Mrs. Montgomery, the bride's parents; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gray, Pecos; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Huelster and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gray Jr., all of Fort Stockton.

COUNTY HD CLUBS 'Kicking, Screaming' May Scare Attacker

How a woman can protect herself from attack was the topic discussed last week by one county home demonstration club, while another group studied sewing techniques. European films and the adoption of HD council recommendations occupied other clubs.

CENTER POINT
Safety for women at home and when traveling alone at night was the topic discussed by Mrs. W. D. Barth for the Center Point club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. W. E. Anderson, North Birdwell Lane.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," said Mrs. Anderson. She said women should avoid streets that are dark and have lots of trees and shrubbery. Some sort of protection should be carried when walking alone, and if attacked, a woman should try to reach the nearest door and knock. She said screaming and kicking were always good weapons.

Mrs. N. R. Garrett presided, and members agreed to donate to "Operation Santa Claus," which provides Christmas gifts for patients at Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. Alden Ryan, Texas HD Association chairman, reported that the theme of the national convention she attended in Dallas recently was "A Challenge for the Future." In order to meet the challenge, she said if women keep alert and busy, they will get what they want out of life.

About 1,500 clubs were represented at the convention, and about 600 delegates from Texas attended. Home demonstration club membership in the nation now exceeds 20,000.

The attendance prize was won by Mrs. W. E. Anderson Miss Sherry Mullins, Howard County HD Agent, will present a program at the next meeting at 2 p.m., Oct. 12 in the home of Mrs. H. M. Hagood, North Wasson Drive.

KNOTT CLUB
Mrs. Dalton Wright reviewed methods of sewing lingerie and outlined some advantages of making undergarments for members of Knott club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. R. J. Shortes.

Mrs. Wright said that people who are hard to fit would benefit most by making their own lingerie, because they can make it fit as well as coordinate it with their wardrobe.

Mrs. J. R. Clements presided, and the women agreed to bring gifts to the next meeting which will be used by Big Spring State Hospital in its "Operation Santa Claus" program for residents.

Mrs. Marlin Gibson of Ackery was a guest. The next meeting is at 2 p.m., Oct. 12 in the home of Mrs. Clements.

LEES CLUB
Mrs. Eugene Smith was elected vice president, and Mrs. J. J. Overton was named reporter when the Lees club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Gary Seidenberger.

The program was given by Mrs. August Fryfak of St. Lawrence who showed slides and discussed the Progressive Farmers Cotton Tour which she and her husband went on to Europe.

Club members agreed to sell Christmas cards as a fund-raising project.

The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., Oct. 12 in the home of Mrs. Lynn Glass.

COAHOMA CLUB
The Coahoma club held a called meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. A. D. Martin to hear the HD council's 1971 recommendations, which were adopted.

Mrs. Ralph White, vice president, presided, and a council report was presented by Mrs. D. S. Phillips. The group donated funds for "Operation Santa Claus" at Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. Fred Adams will be hostess for the Oct. 6 meeting which will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Handcrafts Club Is Organized

Mrs. David Logan was elected first president of the new Big Spring Newcomers Sewing and Handcrafts Club at an organizational meeting Thursday morning at the Holiday Inn.

Serving with Mrs. Logan are Mrs. Joe Beck, vice president; Mrs. Michael Mangier, treasurer; and Mrs. Robert Rusbuldt, Mrs. Roger Liska and Mrs. James Watson, telephone chairmen.

Club meetings will be at 9:30 a.m. the second and fourth Wednesday of each month, the next one being in the home of Mrs. Logan, 2917 MacAuslan. The art of crochet will be demonstrated with member participation.

The purpose of the club is to teach old and new arts of needlework and handcrafts.

A LOVELIER YOU Color Creates Your Shopping Guidelines

By MARY SUE MILLER
In all fashion few aspects can create as much loveliness for you as color. A flattering choice is based on an art principle: complimentary shades bear the same undertones. Thus colors that enhance your skin bear a trace of its coloring. The possible exception is jet black, not considered a color. In terms of fall fashion shades, a few examples:

Brunet Skin (ochre tones, light to dark) — Earth colors, russet, rust, sienna, copper, curry, amber, red purple, and plum, Spanish red, teal, electric blue, silver-gray and mid-gray, nude and camel, creamy white, black with color touches.

Titian Skin (pink to ruddy) — a contradiction, needs playing down — Navy and denim blue, winter pastel blues and greens, dark green, Oxford gray, green and taupe, blue plum, darkest brown, gardenia white, dense black.

Beauty Tip: The same color theory applies to your makeup. Be guided by it. That way you do your own best thing. There's no percentage in wearing a fashion shade that makes you look like a spook. In every season a plethora of colors are individually flattering.

LOVELIER HAIR

'We have to depend on civic pride to get the work done'

Alleys Equal Vacant Lots In Trash, Weeds

From the look of things, Big Spring alleyways are not too far behind the vacant lots around town in the contest of which can look the most trashy, weedy and crude.

And the problem still remains, as in the vacant lot situation, that the unkept and unsightly alleys are making fruitless the efforts of those citizens who try to keep property clean.

There is a sharp difference between the two situations, however. Alleys are the responsibility of the city street department and not primarily that of the citizens'.

"It is the city's property, but to be able to maintain it, we have to ask property owners to help keep clean the three-foot strip of land between their fences and the actual travel-way of the alley," said Tom Dignon, street department supervisor.

Dignon explained that the areas between the fences and the actual alley travel-ways are next to impossible to clean out with machinery, because of garbage can racks, gas meters, and highline, telephone, and cable television poles.

"We do not have the personnel or the money to do handwork in the alleyways, and we have to depend on the people's civic pride to get that job done," Dignon complained.

Also in this situation, there is no ordinance that the city can enforce to regulate the growth of weeds in the alleys.

"There is, however, an ordinance making it unlawful for anyone to spread, or permit garbage to be spread over the alleys," said Dignon.

In this case, as in that of the vacant lots, there has never been a citation assessed a violator, and a quick survey readily reveals there are many violators, Dignon pointed out.

The city will take a firmer stance on the problem, and a rigid inspection program of each alley will begin shortly, Dignon said.

"We will notify those people, whose alleys are badly strewn with garbage. If the folks don't comply with the ordinance, a citation will be issued," he explained.

Also, new city manager, Harry Nagel, singled out another unsightly problem that will be dealt with in the same manner.

Storage of old goods or rubbish on city property will not be allowed, such as the storage of old cans, appliances, boxes, etc., according to Nagel.

Residents can store anything on their own property, but if it is behind the fence on city property, this will constitute a violation, the city manager said.

"People tend to hide their trash behind their fences out of their own view, but unfortunately their neighbors have to look at it," said Dignon.

"But the full-time enforcement of these regulations will warrant the services of another man, and this will be his only job," he added.

There may be a mixed blessing in high weeds in the alleys. They hide the piles of strewn trash and rubble.

"The weed and trash combination make beautiful harbors for rodents, flies and mosquitoes," Dignon complained.

During the past year there have been attempts made by some city officials in passing local legislation to help solve the problem.

'We Do Not Have Enough Men

"During the 1970-71 budget hearings, proposals were made to initiate a garbage rate increase and garbage container system," Mayor Arnold Marshall recalled.

"At first the whole commission approved the ideas, but as time passed, segments of the city moved against them and the commission failed to enact the propositions," he said. "This has created a situation that probably could have been improved."

The mayor pointed out that in an indirect way the garbage rate increase would have provided more money to create more services in the sanitation department, for the container system would have replaced can hoisters, freeing these men for other areas of sanitation clean-up in the alleys all over town.

Trash in the alleys is credited to four various problems.

Loose dogs and cats often turn over the trash cans; people are sometime negligent when they let their children take out the trash and the kids play basketball with it, often missing the can; high winds can tip over a can that is not properly anchored down; and sometimes the sanitation crews are careless with the handling of the cans, according to Dignon.

"If the canister program had been initiated by the city, some of these problems would have been solved," Mayor Marshall said.

Approximately three weeks ago the city street department started a program of alley clean-up on the west side of the city. Presently crews are in the area between Goliad and Settles streets, south of Eleventh Place.

"We go into this program once a year, and completely cover all the alleys in the city. But, we can only clear the travel-ways in the alleys," Dignon explained.

In 11 days of work on this program this month, the department cleaned 248 blocks of alleyways, and has hauled off 1,890 cubic yards of trash, debris and weeds. Estimated cost on labor and equipment, by Dignon, during the 11 days was $1,800.

About six months ago the department initiated an experimental handwork program in the Kentwood Addition.

"It took a month for a couple of city crews to completely clean out all the alleys in that area," he recalled.

"It would take at least a four-man crew and a flatbed truck for the year-round job, if this were extended to all the city. And the cost would run $17,000 for labor and $1,000 per month for equipment," he added.

"In the current program we are trying to get our workers on the alleys, because we can't tell the citizens to clean up their property, if we don't clean ours," said Harry Nagel, city manager.

He pointed out that some of the city employees are trying to set the example and keep their alleys clean.

"The difficulty is two-fold — the city is unable as much as it would like to do the work, also many citizens don't want to help," Dignon suggested. "We will all have to remember, though, that more taxes can either be paid to increase these services, or else we can all get out and help keep our alleys clean."

Spell Out In Advance

After a brief period of tranquility, the city council has divided again, this time over the matter of placement of the city's insurance. By a 3-2 vote, the commission elected to accept a proposal by the Big Spring Independent Insurance Association over that of agents not affiliated with them and known as the Howard County Insurance Association.

The proposals were in three parts: 1) general liability, 2) automobile, and 3) fire and extended coverage. The Howard County Insurance Association bid only on item three, but it complained that its proposal for this segment was $3,500 under that of the successful BSIIA quotation.

The BSIIA said its proposals were contingent upon acceptance of all of the three items or none. It contended also that HCIA was off base in its estimate of a $3,500 lesser cost since presumably all rates are fixed by the state insurance commission. The HCIA countered that the BSIIA had quoted a one-year rate instead of offering the savings of a three-year policy (which also carries the assurance of a fixed rate during a time when rates have tended to rise each year). BSIIA argued automobile rates can be written for only one year. So there you have it, the ingredients for a first-class argument, which already has the overtones of threats of possible legal action.

Perhaps most of this could have been avoided by the simple expedient of setting down in clear terms the specifications for proposals. If certain special services are required, these can be spelled out; if split lettings are intended, this can be spelled out; if proposals are required on all classes, then this can be spelled out; if the term is to be for one or more years, this can be spelled out. The point is, that specification of information in advance can save a lot of misunderstanding later on. At least, everyone would be talking about the same basis.

Commendable Service

Now that our new city manager, Harry Nagel, is ensconced in his new post and becoming familiar with our city operations and with the task of smoothing out operational and fiscal wrinkles, perhaps the time is at hand when some expression of thanks should be given for the interim management.

Roy Anderson, who has returned to his place as assistant city manager, stepped into the role of acting manager under most difficult circumstances. Several of the departments were without directors, and there was general uncertainty because of a community split reflected in an ill-starred recall attempt.

Yet, in the face of this, Anderson worked with all the commissioners, holding things together with a minimal disruption of services until a new manager could be named. It was, in our view, a most commendable service.

Harrys Arise!

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — I received a call from a guy last week who claimed he was president of the Harry Anti-Defamation League. He said, "You wrote an article last week in which you used the name Harry to make fun of a TV football situation. For years now radio, television and newspaper writers have been holding up the name Harry to ridicule and derision, and we Harrys have banned together to do something about it."

"Now wait a minute, sir," I protested. "I do not always use Harry when I need a fall guy. Sometimes I use George, other times Arnie and quite often I use Henry."

"That's what I mean," Harry said. "Why don't you ever make fun of the Steves or Jims or Jacks or Bills?"

THERE IS NOTHING funny about a Steve, a Jim, a Jack or a Bill," I answered frankly. "The image just isn't right. If I call my guy Chuck or Jack, my reader is going to expect him to punch someone in the nose. But if I call him Harry or Fred or Louie, the reader is going to expect him to be punched in the nose. It's as simple as that."

"But why should this be? We Harrys and Mortons and Arnies and Chesters have a right to live too."

"I DIDN'T make the rules," I protested. "A long time ago there must have been a Harry who slipped on a banana peel. From then on, any time a writer needed a name for someone who was going to get all fouled up, he used Harry."

"Well, we Harrys don't like it," Harry said. "It's bad enough that people are always making fun of Harry, but it's even worse when they make him the guy who commits the crime on a TV show."

"I don't know why you take offense at that," I said. "Everyone knows that if a Harry doesn't have two left feet, he probably has criminal instincts."

"Yeah, but why does a Harry always have to be one of Rocco's boys or Franks' henchmen? Why can't he be the leader of the mob?"

"People just don't think of Harry as a leader," I said. "Writers know this. If they have to come up with a name for a gang leader they would rather go with Red or Dusty or even Phil. You just can't see a Harry being the brains behind a bank job. As a matter of fact, it's more likely that he's the guy to make the fatal error so everyone gets caught."

"You see? All your prejudices about Harrys are coming through. Those of us who are not public jokes are stool pigeons. Well, we aren't taking it any more. From now on every time we see a Harry presented in a bad light on television, we're going to call the sponsor and tell him that everyone in this country named Harry is going to boycott his product. And we also intend to cancel our subscriptions to any newspaper that holds up a Harry to derision."

"Frankly, sir . . ." I began "I only use Harry when I'm looking for a minor schtick. If I'm looking for a real hopeless case I'll never use Harry."

"Who do you use then?" "Marvin."

'IDEA IS TO RAISE 'EM BOTH AT THE SAME TIME'

Labor Upstages Economic Drama

By JOHN HENRY
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nixon administration's new economic program, which has dominated the business pages for the last month and a half, was upstaged during the past week by problems on the labor front.

By Friday, docks on all three coasts were shut down as longshoremen and shippers in New York failed to reach a contract settlement. West Coast dockworkers, members of a separate union, have been striking since last July 1.

The two sides in the West Coast dispute reportedly were making progress toward an agreement, but observers said they believed a lengthy walkout in other ports was a distinct possibility.

COAL OUTPUT HALTS

A strike by some 80,000 miners brought the nation's production of soft coal virtually to a halt. Discussions were scheduled to resume the following week.

Top Nixon administration officials continued to try to soften opposition at home and abroad to the President's new economic policies.

On the domestic front, Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans defended the 90-day wage-price freeze against criticism that it was a "bonanza" for business.

"The position of business as we went into the freeze was not favorable, and as we come out of the 90-day freeze it is not favorable," Stans said. He said corporate profits amounted to only 4 per cent of the total national output of goods and services, the lowest level in 23 years.

Commenting on another controversial facet of the new program, Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said the United States would lift its 10 per cent imports surcharge if foreign governments made "tangible progress" in the next few weeks to dismantle their trade barriers and establish realistic currency exchange rates.

SORE SPOT

Since it was imposed last month, the surcharge has been the focal point of mounting opposition from nations heavily dependent on exports.

At the same time, Connally appeared to dash the hopes of some nations that the United States would devalue the dollar by raising the official price of gold beyond the present $35 an ounce.

"A change in the gold price

The Week's Business

- Dock workers widen strike to cover ports on three coasts
- Walkout of 80,000 miners stalls soft coal production
- U.S. surcharge stays until trade barriers fall, Connally says
- Nixon administration reverses self on consumer agency
- Economic index slips a notch, experts are puzzled is of no economic significance and would be patently a retrogressive step in terms of our objective to reduce, if not eliminate, the role of gold in any new monetary system," the secretary told a meeting of the International Monetary Fund.

In a policy shift, the White House endorsed legislation that would create separate government agency empowered to intervene in behalf of the consumer in federal regulatory agencies and courts.

Previously, the administration had opposed the creation of an independent agency on the grounds that it would be an unnecessary enlargement of the federal bureaucracy and a source of harassment to business.

NADER DISPLEASED
But the administration's reversal of its stance failed to satisfy a long-time proponent of a separate agency, consumer

Trade Balance Target Has $2 Billion Safety Bulge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally says the U.S. demand for betterment of its balance-of-payments deficit has a negotiable range of about $2 billion.

Connally told the Senate Finance subcommittee on international trade Friday that the Nixon administration might settle for an $11 billion improvement in its balance-of-payments deficit in negotiations with major trading partners.

Previously, Connally has said the nation needs a $13 billion swing from its balance-of-payments deficit—the difference between what the nation imports and what it exports.

Connally said the administration still sticks with the $13 billion figure, but he added that $2 billion of the amount is a "safety factor" which the U.S. could forego.

advocate Ralph Nader who said the legislation favored by the White House reduced the "consumer's voice" in regulatory proceedings to "a consumer's squeak."

In another development, the government reported that its index of leading economic indicators fell in August for the second time in three months. The indicators, which frequently foreshadow fundamental changes in the direction of the economy, fell 0.9 per cent in August after a rise of 1.7 per cent the previous month.

The results prompted Harold C. Passer, Asst. Secretary of Commerce, to comment that monthly changes in the index are "difficult to interpret at this juncture, because it cannot be determined how soon the leading indicators will fully reflect the changes resulting from the administration's new economic program."

Meanwhile, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., told a news conference that the White House may need new legislation before the end of the present wage-price freeze Nov. 13.

Saying legislation already on the books may limit President Nixon's freedom of action, Proxmire declared, "the heart of this program is that it must crack down hard on price increases."

He proposed establishment of a wage-price or economic stabilization board.

House Democratic leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana urged the Nixon administration to take the lead in negotiations for removal of trade barriers.

He said the United States should "undertake some moderate devaluation of the dollar in terms of gold as evidence of our good faith."

Withholding Aid

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State William P. Rogers meeting with the foreign ministers of Israel and the Arab states in New York will present a position sure to arouse familiar passions. Despite reports to the contrary, the present intention is to hold firm against repeated Israeli requests for numbers of Phantom fighter-bombers.

THE DECISION is based on the conviction that the balance of military power continues to be in Israel's favor for all the extensive weaponry the Soviet Union has given Egypt. The latest supersonic fighters and the most advanced ground-to-air defensive missiles are part of the weaponry, along with 15,000 Soviet technicians and pilots.

Within the State Department the words of Israel's own leaders are taken to support the conviction. In June Prime Minister Golda Meir told the Knesset "that during the past year the United States has expressed in deeds its understanding of the need to maintain the military balance between Israel and the Arab states." Of the Rogers' peace initiative Foreign Minister Abba Eban said on Aug. 12, "We gained not only the ceasefire, which still continues, but an increase of defensive strength at a rate such as we had not known until then."

AN ARTICLE of faith in the present determination to leave the arms balance unchanged is that Egypt's President Anwar El-Sadat means peace. He wants to improve the lot of his own people. Therefore, military adventures and even bigger military spending are ruled out. If the Sadat rhetoric is now and then bellicose, policymakers write it off as just that — rhetoric for the Arab world.

Back of the Rogers stand at the U.N. is the belief there is still a change for an interim settlement that will see the opening of the Suez Canal. This would be taken by both sides as a first step toward a final compromise agreement. The frank appraisal is that the odds are against it. But, with the fuel for still another war piled up in the Middle East, hope persists.

THE PRESENT decision on the Phantoms will increasingly get into domestic politics as 1972 draws nearer. Support for Israel has long been a political staple with the Democrats traditionally pushing for all-out help. A great deal of Democratic campaign money comes from wealthy Jews on the Liberal-Democratic side of the fence.

In Sen. Henry (Scoop) Jackson's presidential campaign, on the verge of public avowal, championship of Israel is a major theme. He relates this to the threat of the Soviet Union and the big Russian military buildup in the Mediterranean. The Senator proposes a $500 million credit to Israel to buy arms.

OFFERING NOTHING tangible, Rogers is asking the Israelis to give up what they have — part of what they won in the six-day war in 1967 — without a quid pro quo. That is not bargaining. It is a wistful belief that virtue must triumph where it has never triumphed before.

Brief For Judge Sharp

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.) North Carolina—who for many years served on the high court of his state — and his colleague, Sen. B. Everett Jordan, have sent to President Nixon a letter expressing themselves on the kind of justice that should be appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States. The letter says in part:

"IT IS OUR firm conviction the judges of the United States Supreme Court should be chosen on the basis of intellect, judicial temperament, and experience — especially as manifested through prior service on the bench."

The two North Carolina senators then pointed out that Associate Justice Susie Marshall Sharp of the Supreme Court of North Carolina is "exceptionally well qualified according to all of these standards."

Describing Judge Sharp as "one of the most outstanding jurists in our nation," the senators declared that they have known her personally for many years and "attest to her great integrity, intellect, and legal ability."

JUDGE SHARP was graduated from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro and from the law school of the University, where she was editor of the North Carolina Law Review. For 20 years she practiced law, and during 10 years of that period served as the first woman city attorney in the state. In 1949, she became the first woman superior court judge in North Carolina, and in 1962, the first woman supreme court justice of the state.

"It is obvious," wrote Sens. Ervin and Jordan "that Judge Sharp is North Carolina's first lady of the law; but more important is the fact that her knowledge of the law and her skill in applying it are matched by few judges, male or female."

"AS A superior and impartial legal scholar who has brought great credit to the state bench, Judge Sharp's appointment would certainly be in keeping with your policy of appointing qualified women to important posts in public service.

THE NATIONAL women's political caucus has suggested the names of 10 women from whom the President might choose a Supreme Court justice. The organization's statement says:

"There is no shortage of qualified women in the right age group for appointment to the Supreme Court."

The only judges mentioned are Judge Shirley Hufstader of the 9th U.S. Circuit Court in California, and U.S. District Court Judges Cornelia Kennedy Detroit, and Constance Baker Motley of New York. Also recommended were several women who are professors of law, one who is a member of Congress, and one Nixon appointee to a United Nations agency.

Last week the American Association of University Women sent a telegram to the President urging him to appoint "a well qualified woman" to one of the vacancies. It called attention to the qualifications of North Carolina's Associate Justice Sharp as well as of five of the jurists also recommended by the National Women's Political caucus.

MR. NIXON is being called on by many people to name a woman to the Supreme Court, but unless she can find someone who has a record in the profession that is outstanding, he is not apt to risk criticisms that may ensue. Congress, on the other hand, is likely to confirm his selection of a woman nominee provided she does have a background of experience. The country is in the mood for putting a woman on the nation's highest court.

High School Hot Line

I have a small child who rides the school bus, and I am concerned about his discipline. It is impossible for the driver to maintain control of the bus and 30 or 40 children of all ages at the same time. Why doesn't the school use some of its teacher aides to ride the buses? Mrs. J.T. Money.

Money, according to Supv. S. M. Anderson, "We have 28 buses, including 17 on regular runs. An aide would have to ride one for about two hours each morning and each afternoon, for a total of four hours five days per week. At the $1.67 minimum wage for the 180 class days each year each aide would cost us at least $1,202.40, not counting Social Security. All 17 would cost us $20,440.00 per year. We would be glad to have someone on the buses," said Anderson, "but we just can't afford it."

Big Spring High School has a smoking area, however, it is located outside behind the cafeteria. As is generally known, it does rain outside and people who stand outside get wet (the same phenomena can be applied to cold weather, snow, sleet). The obvious question is, where do the smokers go? According to any understanding, they will face serious reprisals if they enter the building while burning "nicotine sticks." Am I wrong? Is there some provision made for the natural elements, J.T.

"We don't have any other place for people to smoke," said John F. Smith, principal of Big Spring High School. "The decision was made to keep the smoking out of the buildings and halls because of the overcrowding and litter created by groups of people smoking."

Local Student In Prexy Race

BEAUMONT — Six candidates have filed for the office of Student Government Association president at Lamar University.

An election to decide the issue was held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday, Oct. 1.

Presidential candidates included Raymond S. "Ray" Fisher, a junior management major from Port Arthur; Harold Lewis "Har" Ross, a junior account major from Port Arthur; and J. Frank Spohrer, senior music major from Beaumont; and Kathleen A. "Kathy" Staudt, junior elementary education major from Orange.

Also, P. Larry Tolson, junior biology major from Big Spring; and Leon Wright Sr., senior commercial art major from Beaumont.

The Student Congress voted to hold the special election to fill the vacancy created when the president, elected during the Spring semester, was declared ineligible due to deficient grade points.

If a run-off election is needed, it will be held Tuesday according to the SGA resolution.

REPRESENTATIVES
Seventh grade representatives from Beaumont, Lamar, and other schools were present at the Student Council meeting.

Students flock to many and varied exhibits, available at Career Day

Students view demonstration of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, and other areas of interest Termed a success, Career Day attracted students throughout this area to Webb AFB.

Enjoying a holiday from the classrooms, the students mingled throughout Hanger T-1 viewing the various exhibits and talking to Air Force men and women on their experiences in such jobs as pilot, nurse, air traffic controller, and aircraft mechanics. Marine and Army representatives were also present.

Extremely popular were the T-37 and T-38 link trainers, in which visitors were given the opportunity to 'fly.' Both budding medical careers and curious onlookers, crowded around the medical display, which featured a rather 'ill' dummy.

Using the West Texas skies for their stage, the Thunderbirds performed their precision maneuvers in a 15 minute show that astounded even those who have seen them before.

On the flightline, about 15 various aircraft from several Air Force commands were on display along with the red, white, and blue F-4 Phantom jets of the Thunderbirds.

'DUEL IN THE SUN' REVIVED FOR TEXAS THEATERS

Movie Critics Rediscover Classic Film Western

EDITOR'S NOTE: "Duel in the Sun," a tradition-shattering western movie that was both damned and praised when it premiered in 1947, returns to the screen in Texas this week. Sam Pendergrast, former Hollywood writer, a former fine arts critic for the Atlanta Reporter-News and now editor of The Corsicana Daily Sun, recently sat in on a screening of the revived picture. He finds the movie still stirring here.

By SAM PENDERGRAST
Corsicana Daily Sun Writer

CORSICANA, Tex. (AP) — "Duel in the Sun," the David O. Selznick western starring Jennifer Jones and Gregory Peck premiered April 28, 1947 in Amarillo, will open in seven Texas cities following its second premiere today in Amarillo.

Perhaps the most notable aspect of the 24-year-old "western classic" discovered—or re-discovered—by film critics given advance screenings this week is the fact that "Duel . . ." ranks with the best of the modern "adult westerns" both in quality and in the blood-and-sex quotient epitomized by "The Wild Bunch" in recent years.

Premiered long before the film rating system, "Duel . . ." has a little nudity, a little sex and a surprising amount of blood—enough of each to justify many parents' attitude that it may be too strong for impressionable youngsters.

There are two brief swimming hole scenes in which Miss Jones displays a small patch of flesh between her shoulder blades. There is a seduction scene in which a good hard kiss and a lot of Dimitri Tiomkin drums suggest more sensuality than most recent explicit sex scenes on film. And there are at least two uses of stage blood that, despite mid-Forties restraint, are as strikingly suggestive of violence as most of the recent blood baths.

And the final sequence of mutual destruction between the two lovers is as excruciatingly dramatic as anything in western film since.

The acting, except for a few ultra-historic episodes for Miss Jones and former silent star

Lillian Gish, is as convincing as, or more so than, the current product, and the technical effects and editing give the work powerful claim to the classification of "the first of the modern westerns."

In fact, few films in memory have boasted such an array of dramatic talent as Lionel Barrymore in the role of a salty pioneer, Walter Huston as a silver-tongued "sin-chaser," Joseph Cotten as the moralistic older brother, Miss Jones as the elemental half-breed orphan catalyst, and Peck in what might be called the first of the Paul Newman specialists—a "Hud"-type character with more magnetism than principle. Negro actress "Butterfly" McQueen is a charming blubber-mouth maid; Harry Carey is a wise and troubled neighbor; and Charles Bickford is a stolid ranch foreman in a bit part, rounding out a cast in which there is not a single non-dimensional principal.

But where "Duel . . ." is perhaps most surprisingly modern is in its use of mood and symbolism. Director King Vidor, a former Texan who chose Arizona for location sequences, used the variable desert skies and primal graggy vastness almost as a commentator, subtly emphasizing the gray threat of a day in which the ranchers would have a showdown with the encroaching railroad—painting in angry red hues the backdrop for a scene in which the "Judas" son is banished—and striking up a symphony of alarm bells to summon the far-flung cowboys for a crisis.

There are even desert reptiles, coyotes and brooding stone faces suggesting approaching doom and eventual peace.

The story was nothing new even in 1947: The gentle Jesse (Cotten) and the self-centered Lewt (Peck) vie for Pearl (Miss Jones) as the father (Barrymore) broods and the mother (Miss Gish) wastes away as a victim of her husband's ancient jealousy and would-be hatred. When Jesse wins the girl by default, Lewt tracks down his brother and wounds him in a vicious one-way gunbattle. Finally, to protect Jesse, Pearl follows Lewt to the mountains to kill him. There, both mortally wounded, Pearl and Lewt spend their last blood and energy clawing their way together to die.

What was new was the presentation of living characters with moods and contradictions and all the shades of gray of real people—factors which remain largely unexplored in most modern westerns.

Oscar Winners Star In 'Rovers'

Two simple cowhands, who really don't want to hurt anyone, decide to rob a bank and head for Mexico to make their dreams of an easy life a reality in "Wild Rovers."

William Holden and Ryan O'Neal star as two different generations of cowboys who nevertheless become great friends and partners in the crime. Karl Malden stars as their boss, a rancher who feels the bank robbery is a personal affront, and sends his two sons, played by Tom Skerritt and Joe Don Baker after the lawbreakers.

The Oscar-power of the team appearing in "Wild Rovers" portends the greatness of the film. Holden is a two-time Oscar winner for "Stalag 17" and "Sunset Boulevard," Malden won for "A Streetcar Named Desire," and O'Neal was nominated for his performance in "Love Story."

The dramatic music score for the western saga has been composed and conducted by the same Jerry Goldsmith that received an Academy Award nomination for his score of "Patton" this year. In fact, Goldsmith's film music has received a total of five Oscar nominations.

Set in the 1880's west, "Wild Rovers" calls for a chase across half the American southwest, set against the spectacular scenic backgrounds of Monument Valley, the Colorado River, the redrock country of Arizona, and the snow country in the mountains near Flagstaff. One of the most unusual horse-breaking sequences ever filmed provides additional excitement as Holden and O'Neal capture and break a wild mare in the snow.

'Pinocchio's' Little Dickie Is Grown Up

When signed by Walt Disney in 1938 to do the voice of the mischievous puppet in his second animation feature, "Pinocchio," which is currently in re-release, Dick Jones had already appeared in almost forty westerns.

"It was quite an accomplishment at the time," reminisces Dick Jones today. "I was only 11, but I had already been making pictures for about six years."

Billed at the time as little Dickie Jones, he had been discovered at age 3 by western film star Hoot Gibson, who sponsored his break into films. Following a wave of "B" films with every imaginable cowboy hero from Dick Jones to Ken Maynard, Dick elevated to major productions like "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," "Destry Rides Again" and "Virginia City."

"I really didn't matter what kind of parts I could get for a change of pace," recalls Dick. "I was always back to westerns."

Death Penalty Question Lingers

By JAMES ROWE
HUNTSVILLE — October usually is a month of transition, a pause between the seasons for the Texas Department of Corrections. By now most of the crops should have been harvested in the far-flung system of prison farms. The annual Prison Rodeo breaks the monotony for inmates on each Sunday in October. But the crops are somewhat late this year. Long lines of inmates dressed in white still move through the rows of bursting cotton bolls. Much of the silage for the cattle remains to be cut and stored. The sugar cane is not quite ready for the mill and the syrup ovens.

Above and beyond the routine of the prison system, though, a brooding question lingers. The Supreme Court of the United States opens a new session in October. What will the court say about several cases now before it challenging the death penalty as "cruel and unusual punishment" forbidden by the Eighth Amendment to the Constitution? It is not an academic question for the 42 men who wait in "death row" at the O. B. Ellis Unit in the Trinity River bottoms near Huntsville. The question is much in the mind of Dr. George J. Beto, director of the Department of Corrections.

"I don't know what the Supreme Court is going to do," he said. "But if they uphold the death penalty . . . He was thinking not just of the 42 men under his control. He was also thinking of almost 600 other prisoners in death rows in prisons scattered throughout the nation. No one has been executed legally in Texas since 1964. All have been stayed by appellate courts since then. Until 1964 the grim task of execution was bad enough. They were scheduled as final appeals were denied. But now there are 42 of them, plus a number of others in county jails of the state who have not yet been turned over to the Department of Corrections.

How do you go about executing 42 men? One a day? Ten a day? How will the public react to systematic electrocution that is widely publicized over a period of days, weeks, or months? The conventional wisdom has it that the death penalty deters. It is argued that men will not murder, rape, or rob with firearms in Texas because they know that the death penalty may await them. Does it deter? "No, it does not," said Beto, drawing from his experience as a member of the Texas Board of Corrections between 1953-59, as a member of the Illinois Parole Board from 1961-62, and director of the Texas Department of Corrections since March 1, 1962.

"There is only one deterrent to crime," he added. "That is the certainty of swift, sure punishment." When will the Supreme Court make its decision? Beto does not believe that it will come in October, but he cannot be sure. With whatever patience and fatalism mixed with hope that death row inmates and administrators can muster, the system waits for an answer.
