Women's Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Advocates of equal rights for women, including the right to be drafted, have capped a half-century fight by winning a major House victory. But prospects for quick Senate approval are doubtful.

By a 354-23 vote, the House approved Tuesday and sent to the Senate a constitutional amendment extending specifically to women the "equal protection of the law" guaranteed under the 14th Amendment.

The vote on the equal-rights resolution came on the day of another victory for women's rights advocates. President Nixon confirmed that two women are among the handful being considered for two vacancies in the Supreme Court.

GRAND DRAGON DENIES GUN RAP

HOUSTON (AP) — Frank Converse, 51, a Houston gun shop owner and Texas grand dragon of the United Klans of America, pleaded innocent Tuesday to federal gun charges.

No trial date was set by U.S. District Court Judge Carl O. Bue.

Converse was indicted in September on charges of possessing a sawed-off shotgun, a firearm made from a rifle and a weapon without a serial number.

He was charged also with dealing in restricted weapons without the required federal tax stamp and with transferring a sawed-off shotgun. He is free under $10,000 bond.

Prior to his indictment, the Klan leader said he was planning to run for sheriff of Harris County.

Possible Avenue Of Freedom

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today opened a possible avenue of freedom for prison inmates who were convicted before 1967 without the benefit of accomplice testimony.

In a landmark 4-0 decision, the court ruled that a 1967 U.S. Supreme Court decision on the right to subpoena witnesses applies retroactively.

The Supreme Court decision struck down a Texas law prohibiting alleged accomplices from testifying on each other's behalf.

The decision applied the 6th amendment to the U.S. Constitution, guaranteeing defendants the right to subpoena witnesses in their favor, to trial in state courts.

Odis Odell Pennington, sentenced in 1962 to 30 years imprisonment on a robbery charge, was the victor in today's decision.

THREE JURORS IN CREEL CASE

EASTLAND, Tex. (AP) — Three jurors had been seated today as the murder trial of Air Force Sgt. James D. Creel went into a third day.

Creel, 32, is accused of strangling Tona Worthington, 10, at Abilene last March 15. The body was found in a culvert.

Lawyers accepted a man and a woman as members of the jury Tuesday and another woman the day before.

New Police Chief Due Here Nov. 1

Announcement of a new chief of police for Big Spring, appointed with the approval of the city commission, was made today by Harry Nagel, city manager.

Vance L. Chisum, 43, present police chief for the city of Uvalde, will assume the duties of chief here Nov. 1.

A graduate of Texas A&M University Law Enforcement School, Chisum was one of 100 men authorized to attend the Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy, 83rd Session, according to Nagel.

The chief holds an advanced certificate from the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement. He is married and has a 9-year-old daughter.

From 1949 to 1955 Chisum was a military policeman, and from 1955 to 1956 he was a patrolman for the Uvalde Police Department. He advanced his position there to sergeant and then lieutenant between 1956 and 1967.

In 1967 he was named chief of the department, and worked one year under the direction of Nagel, who was city manager there at that time.

"This man is a top flight administrator, who supports his policemen at all times," Nagel said today. "He is a working chief and doesn't expect his men to do anything he would not do."

The city manager added that the new chief believes in cooperation with other law enforcement agencies in connection with his department. "I do not feel that there will be any disruption in the local

Stanley Bogard, acting chief, will resume his duties as assistant chief.

Commissioners said they had discussed with all city manager applicants the advisability of bringing in an out-of-town man to fill the position vacated when commissioners fired Jay Banks on a 3-2 vote last June. Nagel was selected in August to fill the post of city manager.

Chisum is due in the city sometime the latter part of this month, Nagel said.

Leon Miller Resigns School Board Post

Leon Miller announced Tuesday that he would resign from the school board Dec. 1, due to a transfer to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Phoenix, Ariz.

"We have enjoyed our home in Big Spring," said Miller, "and we are leaving reluctantly. But this is a real opportunity for professional advancement that I felt I could not turn down."

Miller has served on the school board since April 3 of this year when he was elected to a three-year term. "I hope the board will appoint someone to replace me after Dec. 1," said Miller. "The work of the board should go on much better with all board positions filled."

Miller is presently the director of volunteer services at the Veterans Administration Hospital and will have the same position at the Phoenix Hospital.

He and his wife, Jo Ann, have three children presently in the Big Spring schools, Tim, David and Scott.

Miller has been active in the Rotary Club, where he was the student guest chairman; he was an assistant cubmaster and an assistant scoutmaster in the Boy Scouts; he was active in the Indian Guides; and he is a past chapter chairman of the Multiple Sclerosis group here. The Millers are members of the Kentwood United Methodist Church.

Pickets Keep Non-Striking Workers From Loading Ship

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Pickets of a single dock workers' union local kept members of four other locals from starting to load a freighter Tuesday night.

The Greek vessel arrived here late in the day to take on a cargo of grain.

Another attempt to load the ship was expected today.

Spokesmen said four of the five International Longshoremen's Association locals in Beaumont were prepared to work but would respect the picket lines of Local 1610.

Men from Local 325 dressed for work but turned back at sight of the pickets, met briefly at their union hall and went home.

Elijah Dillard, business agent for Local 325, said Local 1610 lacked the manpower for 24-hour picketing and indicated his members would try again.

Local 1610's president Eddie Blackwell declared, however, that pickets would be kept at the piers from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily except when military cargoes are involved. Some military shipping is being handled.

Because of the picketing, Beaumont was the only port from Brownsville, Tex., to Lake Charles, La., shut down by the

COMMISSION MEETS TODAY

County Judge A. G. Mitchell this morning called an emergency meeting of the county commissioners court to convene at 4 p.m. today to discuss emergency ambulance service for rural county residents.

The meeting is the result of L. A. Hiltbrunner's refusal Monday to sign a contract with the county which would set a rate of reimbursement for fees unpaid by county residents. Hiltbrunner is the owner of Alert Ambulance Service. (See Page 6).

FROM TEXAS HOME TO 'KILLER'

It's A Long, Wicked Road

COPEVILLE, Tex. (AP)—It's about 1,500 miles from this Red River Country town to the neon-glittered boulevards of Hollywood.

But, for Charles "Tex" Watson, the road has been considerably longer and a good deal more drama-packed than the one taken by most folks.

Watson was convicted Tuesday night at Los Angeles of seven counts of murder in the Sharon Tate killings — one of the bloodiest and most sensational cases in American crime annals. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Watson, are respected grocers in this small community north of Dallas.

GOOD PUPIL
"I have no comment to make," Mrs. Watson said, just minutes after learning of her son's conviction. "We have no plans to go out there (Los Angeles) right now."

According to friends and relatives, Charles Watson was the sort of boy any father would be proud of — Godfearing, clean, congenial, a good pupil in high school. Sound.

He went to high school at Farmersville — home town of the late Audie Murphy, America's most decorated GI of World War II.

But, when he returned home briefly after having drifted to California, they said he'd changed. He was shaggy, distant, at odds with himself.

He was no longer the clear-eyed country boy.

NO COUNTRY BOY
A Los Angeles jury ruled Tuesday night that young Watson was the one — the one that led two young women to the home of movie star Sharon Tate where he used a knife and a gun to gouge and shoot his way into a bloody, unenviable form of historical significance.

His defense claimed the young Texan was a victim of drugs and the sinister direction of Charles Manson, a man who has already been sentenced to California's gas chamber.

At the time, his father said: "I don't think he done it. I've raised a good bunch of boys. My sons've never been in any trouble."

NECESSARY THINGS
Sheriff Tom Montgomery, Watson's cousin, said: "This boy was raised in the church house. Why, his mother and dad are the finest people you'll ever meet. It's awfully hard for people around here to think he could ever have done the stuff he's accused of doing."

Watson's parents have operated their general store here since the mid-1930s. They sell the necessary things in life — groceries, gas, farm and garden implements, cough syrup, safety pins — the necessary things.

'RAISED RIGHT'
But that world is a far cry from what young Watson found in his travels to the gray world he found in Southern California — drugs, indiscriminate sex, other drifting young people. Confusion.

It was, indeed, a long, long way from the Red River Country.

"I'll tell you one thing," the elder Watson said. "You can go all over this country out here and talk about that boy, and they'll tell you he's a good kid."

"His mother raised him right, right over there in that church. Ask his teachers up at Farmersville — they'll tell you. He never even hurt anybody when he was playing football at the high school up there. All this stuff they're saying about him, I just don't understand — it's just a bunch of lies. And he ain't no hippie."

Grocer Watson wore bib overalls, a soiled jacket and a felt hat, its brim stained with sweat.

The prosecution put on a parade of expert witnesses during Watson's relatively brief trial to counter defense claims that Watson was out of his mind when actress Tate and other members of the international jet set were butchered in her fashionable Hollywood home.

PERFECT
"He put on a Mortimer Snerd act," said Dr. Alfred Owre, assistant superintendent at Atascadero State Hospital where Watson had been confined. "He played the perfect fool," the psychiatrist testified. Owre said Watson wasn't crazy — just mentally depressed.

ACHESON DIES — Dean Acheson, 78, died Tuesday evening at his Sandy Spring, Md., farm. Acheson was secretary of state in President Truman's administration.

Statesman Acheson Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson died Tuesday night, 18 years after leaving the post he used to establish policies that still serve as the foundation for much of America's diplomatic strategy.

Acheson, 78, was found slumped over his desk about 6 p.m. at the Sandy Spring, Md., farm he used as a refuge from the pressures of a public career encompassing some of the nation's monumental crises.

The family doctor said the death, apparently resulted from a heart attack.

Although he served as an important U.S. negotiator in the monetary reforms conference of the early 1930s, it was as secretary of state during the last four years of the Harry S. Truman administration that Acheson made his mark on American destiny.

LABOR LEADERS TO SERVE ON PANEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — After winning organized labor's cooperation in his post-freeze economic controls, President Nixon turned today to lining up members for two key boards that will vote on future wage-price increases.

With the 90-day wage-price-rent freeze due to expire Nov. 13, time is becoming crucial on the appointments. The board must be operating with wage and price guidelines developed by that time.

The White House said membership on the 15-member Pay Board and the 7-member Price Commission will be announced soon. Some potential members contacted "are not particularly interested," said one official.

As the search for members went on, the administration readied legislation that may spell out details of Nixon's Phase 2 program.

Plan Boycott At Ft. Bliss

By The Associated Press

Antiwar groups sought to turn out a wide cross-section of the American population today with another round of rallies, teach-ins, vigils and marches of Moratorium Day to protest the war in Indochina.

Opponents of the war planned a "peace fair" in Kansas City, a war tax resistance rally at the wage-price control office in Philadelphia and a boycott of classes at the University of Missouri.

At Ft. Bliss, near El Paso, Tex., plans for a boycott of the noon meal at the big military base were met with the rare announcement that steak would be served for lunch.

The Army also announced it would not allow soldiers at Ft. Bliss to use a base cemetery for a memorial service.

Exceeds National Boundaries

The United States is making a strong attempt through the United Nations to crack down on international narcotics smuggling.

The U.S. is calling for central supervision of opium-producing countries, more rigid international narcotics controls, swifter extradition procedures, and (in cases of extreme violations) banning the import and export of narcotic drugs when nations fail to control illegal opium production and smuggling.

We hope these measures will be adopted, for the same reason that the U.S. has proposed them to the U.N. Commission of Narcotic Drugs, in Geneva.

As the American delegation pointed out, although poppy production has declined during the past few years, smugglers are supplying pushers with more opium-derived narcotics than ever before.

Much of the illegal opium is slipped into this country, but other nations are reporting growing addiction problems, too. Among them are Canada, Sweden, and one or two of the developing African nations. Opposition to centralized supervision (and the boycott) already has been voiced by a few nations on the ground that they can handle their own internal affairs.

India, for example, which supplies 70 per cent of the world's legal opium, noted that its poppy fields are located far from borders and that, therefore, smuggling is not a major problem.

Perhaps it is too much to hope that nations will allow an international supervisory group to dip within their borders and exercise a modicum of authority. But the boycott idea is too good to let slide. The punishment fits the crime perfectly.

Rule Changes Imperative

Gov. Preston Smith has declined to call a special session in order that the House may consider whether to oust and replace Gus Mutscher as speaker. He is correct in this position, even without his finding that a majority of members were opposed to a special session. The course is unrealistic and would be frightfully expensive if not confusing.

However, there is no reason why this matter cannot be made the first order of business when the legislature is convened next year to consider the second year of the biennial budget. Also, members should consider (and adopt) changes in rules which give inordinate power to the speaker, and discontinue the practice of signing pledges so far in advance of a new speakership race. Many a member has signed away his independence in a gamble for favorable placement in event his man wins. Finally, the rule on conference committees must be changed — it is travesty of representative government for a handful of hand-picked men to be able to completely rewrite bills.

After 60 Years . . .

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

If a building had feelings, I suppose the one at 119 W. 1st might be feeling at loose ends these days. For the first time in 60 years it does not have some activity connected with the printing trade issuing from its confines.

IN 1904 Thomas E. Jordan came here from Stephenville where he had cut his eye-teeth as a printer and as newspaperman. He decided Big Spring was an excellent location for an enterprising paper and, with a shirt tail full of type and an old press, he set up operations in a frame shack on lower Main Street of the Big Spring Herald on Oct. 7, 1904. He was joined before long by his brother-in-law, Will G. Hayden, and by the end of the decade they were well established.

THEY PREVAILED upon Thomas E. Hayden, Will's father and Tom Jordan's father-in-law, to finance the construction of a new building for them. Big Spring had acquired a new building contractor just a few years before, an Irishman by the name of J. M. Morgan and a stone mason par excellence. Using red Pecos sandstone (which was in then vogue as witness such structures as the Hayden (Potton) home, the courthouse, city hall and jail, the John Birdwell home and others), he fashioned the building which became the home of The Herald.

IT CONTINUED as such for the score of years. There were ups and downs, but The Herald kept thriving. Although he laughingly recalled how he once said to himself that "I've lied about this country long enough" and got himself an editor, Tom Jordan was an incurable booster. His booster editions of The Herald are now real treasures.

IT WAS THIS same attitude that led Tom Jordan, who had bought out Will Hayden in 1925, to convert The Herald from a weekly to a daily publication in June, 1928. This meant upgrading equipment and installing a new type flatbed Duplex web press. In principle, this sort of thing was theoretically not feasible, but it worked and furnished a good print. Big Spring was booming and the task of a work force previously geared to weekly production was overwhelming. Tom Jordan decided to sell the paper and did in March, 1929, to the present owners, Harte-Hanks. It was one of the first properties acquired jointly by Houston Harte, San Angelo, and the late Bernard Hanks, Abilene.

THE HERALD installed an old Goss rotary press, occasioning an annex to the building at 119 W. 1st and continued publishing there until 1933 when it moved to Tom Jordan's building on Third Street, just east across the alley from the Settles Hotel. In 1941 it moved to 900 Main and in 1954 to its present location at 710 Scurry.

After The Herald had gone daily, Tom Jordan set up a commercial print shop (Jordan's Printery) two doors east of the old Herald location, and Will Hayden established the Weekly News in a building where State National Bank drive-in service is now located. With transfer of The Herald to the Third Street site in 1933, the Weekly News moved into the 119 W. 1st location.

TOWARD THE end of World War II, Joe Hayden acquired the Weekly News from his uncle and operated it until 1955 when he sold to Jordan & Co. (Tommy Jordan, Harry Jordan, et al). They operated until Big Spring Printing Co. (R. W. Whipkey, Harold Canning) bought the printery in 1957. The Weekly News was extinguished but the printery assumed its location. Bob Crowell, Herbert Feather and Dillard Pope bought the business four years ago, but retained the location. This month, however, the site was changed to 112 W. 2nd, and now, after 60 years of resounding to the clatter of printing equipment, the venerable building at 119 W. 1st is strangely silent.

Stabilization Success

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — For a long time, many people have been wondering whether sooner or later the federal government wouldn't find it necessary to impose controls on wages and prices not only as a means of curbing inflation but as a way of stabilizing the economy.

Everybody who has read about the nation's experience with wage and price boards during two world wars has been aware of the serious responsibilities that arise in trying to steer the national economy when rulings by government commissions are involved.

FORMAL DECISIONS can be made, to be sure, which seem fair, but it takes a lot of time for each business to explain the reasons for its desire for a price increase or its opposition to wage raises at a particular time. Labor unions have been reluctant to accept controls under a system of compulsory arbitration, but they have favored tribunals in whose proceedings labor representatives would participate.

The problem of setting standards for American business is not a simple one, and individual cases will arise in which requests will be made for adjustments. The government, of course, through its agencies can always set standards or fix the average price level, but it will not be easy to determine in advance whether the effect of the actions will really be to curtail or to cause more inflation.

instituted on a voluntary basis, can in the end become mandatory. Curbing inflation is not something that requires the scrutiny of every business, large and small, to determine whether its price levels are adding to inflationary pressures. But it is agreed that there are large segments of industry whose wage and price policies also have a direct impact which could hinder economic recovery.

THERE HAS long been argument as to whether wage and price restraints could be more effective if confined to selected industries. Obviously the administration can hardly do more without undertaking a burden of supervision of every business from day to day that would be costly in the number of personnel needed and also would tend to slow down many a company's operations.

GUIDELINES as a device for stabilization have been suggested from time to time, and voluntary efforts have been useful in several instances. But the principal difficulty has been in those industries where labor unions have wielded a decisive power. Although labor leaders have heretofore approved of the concept of wage-price controls, it appears that their real objections lately have been that government boards have not had enough labor representation. In questionably this will be corrected now in any post-freeze period and the cooperation of labor unions will thereby be obtained.

PRESIDENT NIXON is anxious to control inflation and intends to consult with the representatives of labor and business and the financial community as well as consumer groups. There is already in existence a Cost of Living Council which has been gathering data to help bring about price stability. The big dilemma, however, is how to make decisions that will be equitable, especially since compliance with the controls, while

THE WHOLE problem is a complex one. It is largely one of administrative machinery adequate for the review of wages and prices and their impact on our economic system. A big bureaucracy, therefore, becomes inevitable. But if business and labor can really assume a cooperative attitude, there is no reason why the stabilization program in the post-freeze period could not succeed.

'WHAT CONTROL BOARD'LL WATCH HIM?'

Canadian Confusion

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a "certain confusion in the public thinking" of Canadians in their criticism of the U.S. surcharge on imports, according to a high U.S. Commerce Department official.

Harold B. Scott, assistant secretary of commerce, made the statement during an interview as he attempted to counter statements by Canadian officials that an exception to the surcharge should be made for Canada.

Canada, it has been argued, has a special relationship with the United States and had already demonstrated its willingness to help the American dollar by floating her currency.

"True," said Scott, "but given the market forces at work, it is a question of whether they could have held their dollar. They were motivated partly by the desire to help, partly by market forces."

Canadians, he said, "have cause to claim a special relationship with the United States, and they have been successful in giving credence to this by being exempt from interest equalization taxes and other measures."

On the other hand, he continued, "Canada has developed an intense self-absorption, a preoccupation with the Canadian image as independent and distinct."

Scott carefully laid down Commerce Department thinking in regard to special exemptions for any nation from the surcharge, which the U.S. government claims is a temporary device to force permanent corrections in what it feels is an unfair trade relationship.

"If we are not going to point the finger at anyone," he said, "we had to apply the surcharge to all with recognition that it would be unfair to some and more unfair to some than to others."

"Too many countries have been building the U.S. market into their own economy," he said. "We have too many house-

"Canada has been building an economy dependent on the U.S. market. They are sharing in our market. It is a conscious decision," Scott said.

To support his contention, Scott said that while U.S. exports to Canada make up 25 per cent of all U.S. exports, they constitute only one per cent of the nation's GNP. Canada's $11 billion of exports to the United States, by contrast, amount to 15 per cent of her GNP.

Scott also claimed, "It is just not true that, as Canadians say, the United States is indifferent to Canada. I will publicly say the facts belie this."

How can the United States be indifferent, he asked, to its biggest trading partner, its biggest foreign outlet for investment funds, and "presently and in the future most secure source of raw materials?"

While a common market with Canada is not being sought, he said, the two countries certainly can plan for mutual development of resources and industries.

Slow Going

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — Five will get you ten that President Nixon is wasting his valuable time trying to get a Supreme Court nominee confirmed by the Senate this year — unless, that is, he changes signals and allots the plum to Hubert Humphrey or Teddy Kennedy.

THE FIRST session of the 92nd Congress is now expected to come to a close around Dec. 1, give or take a week on either end. That means the Senate will have only about six weeks to spend on the agonizing process of making up its collective mind.

Forget it. As the record depose in big print, the Senate is capable of taking six weeks to delete a semicolon from a bill officially describing George Washington as the father of his country. The Senate has been known to consume a month simply deciding that it is in session. In the so-called Upper House, haste is a dirty word.

THUS IT should be no problem for anti-Nixon Senators to postpone action on his nominees to the highest bench. Thanks to a parliamentary gimmick called the filibuster, which liberals used to condemn as a tool of the devil but lately have been embracing, they can simply talk the whole business over until the dismissal bell rings. And liberals discovered the political goodies of unlimited debate in recently delaying or killing military spending bills, the draft and the supersonic transport. In the Senate, today's principles are tomorrow's skulduggery.

MOREOVER, the political temptation is great, and one which, on other issues, Republican conservatives have found it impossible to resist. Should a filibuster succeed in putting off confirmation until 1972 — a virtual certainty — who knows what fickle Fate will bring next year? The circumstances may be such as to enable the opposition to continue its strategy of delay until the Presidential election in November.

FORTUNATELY for Nixon, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield is known to be indignantly opposed to the filibuster weapon, and in his quiet way Mansfield has more influence in the Senate than most people think. Mansfield holds to the singular belief that the Senate's job is to do its job. He has the support of a number of Democratic Senators.

The President probably has a majority within the Senate Judiciary Committee, which has first crack at the nominees. All seven Republicans on the 16-man panel can be expected to go along with him, and Nixon also can count on the votes of four Democratic members — Eastland of Mississippi, McClellan of Arkansas, Ervin of North Carolina and Byrd of West Virginia.

THUS, RICHARD Nixon actually has less than that approximately six weeks to get his nominees confirmed. Chances are the opposition will only have to talk for a mere three weeks. In the Senate, that's no sweat at all. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Invitations To Turn Down

Hal Boyle

"I haven't been on horseback for years, but if you want me to I guess I wouldn't mind riding a few miles with you."

"Help you with your homework, Sis? Well, I think it would be better discipline for you to do it all by yourself. But hand me your arithmetic book and I'll show you how we used to solve problems in the old days when math was really math."

"The fellows asked me to make a few witty remarks at your expense at our annual dinner, boss. As I knew you wouldn't mind a little ribbing, I said okay. By the way, boss, who was that lady wearing green garters I saw you with last night?"

"Sure, why not. What kind of a pal is he who wouldn't cosign a $1,500 auto loan for an old friend?"

wants to play no-limit poker. I ain't the kind of guy to be a spoil sport."

"So, you'd like to settle it outside, Mac? Just show me which way is outside, and outside we go. You can bring both your buddies along, too, to pick you up and dust you off."

"Of course I can pick up the tickets and let you pay me later, anything to oblige. Noblesse oblige, as we say in Missouri."

"You want me to tell you what I really think of the custom of both the bride and bridegroom exchanging wedding rings? Well, frankly, I think it's just a bride's way of advertising to the world that she has finally hooked a husband."

"Well, darling, I never lit a cigarette before for a big handsome hippie while he was driving a car in a strong wind, but hand me your lighter. I'll try not to set fire to your beard."

Feels A Trend

E. Forrest Copeland

SOCIAL — Spent a weekend . . . travelling and visiting with clients . . . talking to old friends. Two things come across pretty clear. Most not only realize . . . but are relieved . . . that the United States will no longer be "the" number one . . . have to carry all the water . . . put out all the fires overseas. Feeling is . . . we've done enough . . . and in some cases . . . too much. Not isolationism . . . just fed-upism.

As for things at home . . . confusion . . . and impatience. They aren't quite clear . . . not only on what is going to be done . . . but what already has been done. It's interesting to note that . . . politicians in general . . . and labor leaders in particular . . . rate high on their fed-up-ism . . . with big business . . . and Mr. Nixon coming off pretty clean . . . image wise.

If nothing else . . . it suggests to me . . . politicians running for national office next year . . . with acknowledged support of big labor . . . just may find . . . they're swimming against the tide . . .

ECONOMIC — A 90-day freeze on prices and wages . . . and striking dock workers not only don't settle . . . but more go on strike. In the face of this . . . Mr. Nixon invokes the Taft-Hartley Act slowly . . . very slowly. And even then only on the West Coast first.

Second guessing as to why . . . probably the number one item . . . dollar wise . . . imported from abroad . . . automobiles. Not only big . . . dollar wise but big physically . . . no way to ship cars economically via air freight. The dock strike . . . hurt though it may in many selected areas and industries . . . just could be helping our balance of payments . . . as well as giving our steel and auto industries . . . a big boost here at home.

A great deal of what we export . . . can and is being shipped air freight. Some of it . . . may never be shipped via water again.

STOCK MARKET POSTURE — As we go to press . . . the market has turned strongly upward . . . gives every sign of picking up steam. After a good Monday, Oct. 4 . . . something I like . . . the sellies dried up on Tuesday . . . and the bulls took over on Wednesday . . . perhaps in anticipation of the President's speech.

IN SPITE OF that . . . I'm beginning to feel a trend . . . to accumulate the growth issues again . . . if it develops a following . . . it could provide the leadership needed . . . to get the market off dead center. More about that next week . . . as we discuss . . . the unexpected . . . in the stock market.

My Answer

Billy Graham

How can I keep from becoming a pessimist with world conditions as they are?

The only optimists I know today are committed Christians. The world scene offers no cause for optimism. Those who believe that day by day the world is getting better and better certainly have no facts to back them up.

The Bible says: "as it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be in the days of the coming of the Son of man." Noah, in the midst of depravity and evil was optimistic because he trusted not in history, but in God. The ark he built, which was such a source of mirth to his scoffers became his way of escape in the time of crisis. The Bible says that God will once again intervene in history. The next time it will be the return of Christ himself. Jesus definitely said: "If I go away, I will come again." I realize that many scoff at this teaching, but the Bible says that, "In the last days there will come a scoffer, saying, 'where is the sign of his coming?' But just as God intervened in a time of crisis to save the faithful Noah, Christ is the ark of safety for all who believe, and the hope of His coming again is our only reason for optimism. Since God is Almighty, it is reasonable to believe that He will have his way in history, despite the resistance of unbelieving men.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Having gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, let us use them. —Romans 12:6 (RSV)

PRAYER: Eternal God, we Thank You for forgiving us and helping us to forget the miseries of our mistakes. May we use what we have learned from our mistakes as a foundation for the future, in Jesus' name. Amen.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Burglars all but cleaned out an East Baltimore firm of 32 industrial vacuum cleaners worth $6,400.

John V. Michael, vice president of the firm, figures the thieves won't go house-to-house peddling.

"Those vacuum cleaners would pick a rug up off the floor," Michael said.

Their children Jeffrey, 5, and Tanya, 4, told him a young man who first appeared at the back door forced her to leave the Matthews' house at gunpoint.

Sheriff's deputies found the body in thick brush several hundred yards from the family's home in the Gholson community, on a farm road north of Waco near the line between McLennan and Hill counties.

City and state police joined sheriff's deputies in a search for the slayer, using bloodhounds and a helicopter.

Thanks, But No

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I urge you to run for the office of President of the United States. You have everything a good President needs. Intelligence, common sense, courage, and a real understanding of people's problems. Furthermore, you're uncorrupted and fair-minded. I feel certain that with Abigail Van Buren as our President, we would have peace and friendly relations with our foreign neighbors.

DEAR "ABBY FOR": Thanks, but no thanks. Not that I'm reluctant to serve my country. But I'm not so sure how my husband would feel about being "First Lady."

DEAR ABBY: I am 46 years old. I was a widow for five years before I married this man who had been divorced for two years. The man is a perfect husband in every way — except one. He has two children by his first wife, 6 and 11, and they live with their mother, but they spend weekends with us very often and I love having them. Now my problem:

My husband refuses to tell his wife and children that he is married to me. This hurts me deeply. They think I am just the lady he lives with. This makes me feel so cheap. When his children come to spend weekends with us they like it so much they hate to go home. Abby, why does my husband want to keep our marriage a secret from his children? I just can't look those kids in the face anymore. MARRIED BUT HIDDEN DEAR MARRIED: Something doesn't add up here. Tell your husband to quit playing games — that you are not going to permit him to make a less than honest woman of you. Insist that he introduce you as his wife. And make it retroactive!

My husband and I were invited to a family wedding in the city where this unwed mother-to-be lives, and we were told that she will be at the wedding. Abby, I can't explain why, but I simply do not want to ever meet or know this girl. After declining the invitation (I gave no reason), I received a telephone call from my husband's cousin, begging us to come. My husband says he'll do whatever I wish, but he can't understand my reasoning. Can you? I'll do whatever you say. BETTER STRANGERS DEAR BETTER: I can understand your reasoning. Feeling as you do, stay home. Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 63700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Saliva Flow

Saliva Flow

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have excessive salivation to the point that I awake two or three times a night and find I have to wipe my face. This has been happening for six to eight months during the day as well as at night, but has become more frequent in the last month or two. I'm in my 70s and have worn full dentures about 20 years, but I have the habit of squeezing down on them during the day, especially in the evening when I'm reading or studying something. It's not a grinding of the dentures, but more an unconscious pressing down to squeeze the saliva out and as those containing iodine, inflammation of the mouth, and nervous disorders, chief of which is Parkinsonism. You give no hint that any of these is involved. Keep in mind, though, that some of the complex vitamin-mineral preparations contain iodine, and you might be unduly sensitive to iodine. You say the dentures fit comfortably; there could be a sensitivity to materials you use with the dentures. Have you changed in the last six months or so? It is also possible that squeezing down on the dentures initiates a reflex flow of saliva. You may, perhaps, have gradually increased the habit of doing this. Think so? What happens if you do not wear the dentures at night? That could offer a clue. Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible to absorb any amount of salt and soda where used as a dentifrice? I have high cholesterol, hardening of the arteries and angina, so that

Rural Residents Caught In Middle Of Squabble

By LINDA CROSS

Rural Howard County residents are without emergency ambulance service while ambulance owner L. A. Hillbrunner and the county commissioners remain at an impasse in reaching an agreement on the rate of reimbursement for rural fees owed Hillbrunner.

"I don't intend to send any more ambulances out (into the county) until they (the commissioners) tell me what they're going to do," Hillbrunner said Tuesday.

According to County Judge Mitchell, the commissioners are of the opinion that "Hillbrunner is in the ambulance business, and it's up to him whether he makes rural calls or not."

"Furnishing ambulance service for rural residents is strictly voluntary on the part of any county," said County Attorney Bill Eysen Tuesday after obtaining an opinion from the state attorney general's office stating that the county was not obligated to provide ambulance service for rural residents.

"I was told that a number of opinions had been written on whether or not a county could operate an ambulance service if it wanted to, and I have requested copies of these opinions," said Eysen.

Commissioners "are just sitting tight" in regard to the ambulance matter, according to Judge Mitchell, and are leaving the next move up to Hillbrunner. Hillbrunner has said that the next move is up to the county, and the result for the present is a stand-off.

Carnival Saturday At Airport School

The annual Halloween carnival at Airport Elementary School will begin at 6:30 p.m., Saturday with the crowning of a school king and queen in the auditorium.

A Mexican supper, prepared by mothers of students, will be served after the crowning at a cost of $1 per plate. Hot dogs and sandwiches will also be available.

Signs of the zodiac will be used for decorations. The carnival is open to the public, and game booths will be set up in each room.

Hillbrunner met with the city commission Tuesday and told the members of that body that it cost him $996 per month to operate one ambulance unit to make in-city emergency calls. He is seeking some type of reimbursement for unpaid fees from the city.

Mayor J. Arnold Marshall instructed Hillbrunner to confer with City Manager Harry Nagel and present some type of proposed agreement to the commission at its next meeting.

The disruption of rural ambulance service came Monday when Hillbrunner refused to sign a contract drawn up by the county. Under the terms of the agreement, the county would pay Hillbrunner $1 per mile for each mile traveled outside a five-mile radius of the city to an emergency need in the county.

Hillbrunner was to be paid the $1 fee regardless of whether he collected his regular fees from the rural resident. According to the contract, if his efforts to collect his $30 rural call fee failed, the county would pick up the tab.

Hillbrunner said he refused to sign the agreement because the wording was vague in parts and because of remarks allegedly made by County Judge A. G. Mitchell which disparaged Hillbrunner's service.

Center Expansion Slated To Begin

Construction is slated to begin after the first of the year on the addition to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Jim Thompson, center director, reported progress on the building program Tuesday night to the board of directors. He said bids will probably be let during the last of November or first of December. The building fund now totals $92,055.

Directors elected new officers and welcomed six new directors.

Officers are Jack Powell, president; Harold Canning, vice president; Mrs. Jack Irons, secretary; and Max Green, treasurer. New directors are Lanny Hamby, Clyde McMahon Sr., Jimmy Morehead, Mrs. W. R. Cashion, Lee Butler and T. L. Griffith.

Leaving the board are Dr. Dean Box, John Ferguson, Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Dr. Harold Smith, H. W. Smith and John Wilson.

Thompson also told directors that center personnel are studying the possibility of beginning physical therapy clinics at all city hospitals. The clinic would entail once-a-week visits to the hospitals by center personnel to give physical therapy to patients. A similar program is under operation at Medical Center Memorial Hospital.

In his annual report, which he presented Tuesday to directors, Thompson said a total of 1,325 individual patients were served the past year at the clinic, compared to 1,205 the previous year.

Treatment fees collected were $41,563.83 out of a possible $65,897 for 63 per cent collection. An additional $10,497 came from the Medical Center contract, Thompson said.

Assault Case Set Thursday

No criminal cases were tried Tuesday in Howard County Court, but one aggravated assault case is tentatively set for Thursday morning.

Jurors were selected Tuesday for two commitment hearings held at the Big Spring State Hospital. Jurors will report again Thursday for selection to serve in the trial.

Royce Geocovy Parrish, 40, Sand Springs, is charged with aggravated assault. He was arrested for the offense July 19, 1971 and released on $2,000 bond July 20.

See Man's Effect On Environs

A radish 20 inches long, weighing nine pounds, and a sweet potato weighing 13 pounds were both grown by Ben Sims of Paint Rock, guest speaker for the Organic Soil Makers Monday at the U.S. Experiment Station. He displayed the icicle radish for the group. Both items were grown organically.

Sims, a member of the Texas Soil and Water Conservation Board, showed slides illustrating the impact man has made on environment. They included shots of accumulated air pollution left by jet aircraft; a stock tank with nine feet of silt collected in the bottom over a period of about 15 years; and mesquite infested areas.

Examples were also given of improvements man is making. In particular, Sims mentioned the land fill in Big Spring which has been planted with grass to make it good soil. He also said some mesquite is being thinned, and he showed how buffalo grass will help preserve rangeland.

"Organic gardening isn't a hobby," Sims said. "It is a way of life." He said a good goal for the club members would be to assure good, pure health in whatever they leave for others.

Sims was introduced by Dr. Paul Koshi. The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 8 at the experiment station.

KAYLA GASKINS Models dress review entry

County 4-Her In Competition

COLLEGE STATION — Forty-six 4-H girls from across the state will participate in the 1971 edition of the State 4-H Dress Revue Oct. 14-16 in Dallas.

Kayla Gaskins, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins of Knott Community, will represent District 2 and Howard County in the State Dress Revue.

Finalists in the annual 4-H fashion parade represent more than 15,000 girls and 150 boys currently enrolled in clothing projects in the 13 Texas Extension districts.

Top winner in the youth educational activity is awarded a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, November 28-December 2. Contestants modeling the two outstanding all-cotton ensembles will be presented cash certificates by the Texas Cottonseed Crushers' Association. The two girls with the most outstanding all-wool garments will receive bonds from the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association.

Contestants will register at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel on October 14, with a get-acquainted party planned for the evening's activity.

Judging will take place Friday morning. The 4-Hers in the state dress revue actually judge each other, considering the general garment appearance, suitability of fabric, style and color to the individual, accessories selected and overall poise of the contestant.

A press luncheon honoring 4-H dress revue participants will be held in the Sheraton's Honston Room at 1 p.m. Friday. Winners will be announced and awards presented. The Fuller Foundation, Inc. is the luncheon sponsor.

'Both Men And Women Are Unwilling To Be Unhappy'

"Both men and women today are unwilling to live unhappy lives," said Tad Corbet, guest speaker for Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Rex Goff, 416 Dallas.

Corbet, director of outreach clinics for West Texas at Big Spring State Hospital, said people are busy trying to "find their own thing". In the past, he said people would stay with an unhappy marriage and say it was for the sake of the children, but today more people are inclined to get a divorce in the same situation.

"The female role in society is constantly changing, and it causes much anxiety for women," Corbet continued. He said the worst thing a person can do is ask a psychologist to tell them what to do with their life, because every person differs greatly and there is no set rule to finding happiness.

Mrs. Joe Dobry was cohostess for the meeting. About 25 rushees were present and traditions, projects and duties of officers and committees were explained.

A table displayed several chapter, district, state and national BSP mementos.

The chapter is organizing the arthritis campaign in Big Spring, and marchers are still needed. The drive is scheduled Nov. 14. Anyone willing to help should call campaign headquarters at 267-8278.

Mrs. Leon Miller, who leaves soon for Phoenix, Ariz., was presented a yellow rose and a mizpah disc. Corbet was introduced by Mrs. Scott Simpson and Mrs. Robert Wilson.

"A Ski Holiday" is planned for members, rushees and husbands, Oct. 23 at Webb AFB pavilion. The next regular meeting is at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 25 in the home of Mrs. Wilson, 4046 Vicky, with Mrs. Tom Warren as cohostess.

A LOVELIER YOU Knobby Knees Are Not Beyond Changing

A Lovely writes: I'm really in a stew about a skinny problem. My legs are sticks and the knees are knobby. What can I do?

The Answer: When legs are thin and knees bony, the chance is that you need more weight. An increase comes from a balanced diet, totaling about 3,200 calories per day.

But whether or not you are underweight, your legs require a special build-up treatment. This takes the form of spot exercises that develop muscle power and attract shapely cover for the bones. The following routines bring results, if you work daily exactly as instructed:

1. Lie, back down, on floor with legs straight and together; cradle head in hands. Place sole of right foot against side of left knee. Slowly swing right leg along floor, as far as possible; hold position for 5 counts and slowly swing back to starting position. Repeat 10 times and then perform with left leg. Throughout, work to increase length of swing and play in knee joints.

2. Stand and perform above routine, holding on to chair for balance.

3. Stand with feet 1" apart and knees flexed. By rolling kneecaps outward, try to make calves touch — hold, relax and repeat.

Always work slowly, or you'll defeat your purpose.

Walker, Dobson Mound Foes In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Left-hander Luke Walker, who has spent much of the season in Manager Danny Murtaugh's doghouse, had the job of keeping Pittsburgh rebounding against Baltimore tonight in the first World Series game ever played at night.

The Pirates, stung for two straight losses in Baltimore, bounced back with a 5-1 victory Tuesday. It came on the three-hit pitching of Steve Blass— who left his personal scouting report 250 miles away—and a three-run homer by Bob Robertson, who missed a bunt sign and swung away.

Now if Walker can make a couple of mistakes like that, Pittsburgh will really be back in business.

Walker has a deceptive record. He was 10-8 during the regular season but won four of those decisions in the final month.

Murtaugh however, suspected that he was working with a sore arm—a cardinal sin in the Pirate manager's mind. So

Walker was passed over in the playoff series against San Francisco and in the first two Series games at Baltimore, when the Orioles belted the Pirate pitching staff.

STAYED QUIET

"Sure, I've wondered a lot about why I haven't been used," said Walker. "But I just keep my mouth shut. Number 40 (Murtagh) has the answers."

Meanwhile, Murtaugh hoped Walker was the answer for the Pirates against Pat Dobson, the fourth 20-game winner the Orioles have thrown at the Pirates.

Pittsburgh finally caught up with one of the Birds' aces in the third game when Robertson riddled his homer against Mike Cuellar to put the icing on Blass's strong pitching job. The funny part of the homer was that it was supposed to be a bunt.

Roberto Clemente opened the seventh inning by reaching first on an error by Cuellar. Then Willie Stargell walked for the third time in the game. That playoff series against San Francisco and in the first two Series games at Baltimore, when the Orioles belted the Pirate pitching staff.

HE BLEW IT

When the red-haired slugger crossed home plate, Stargell greeted him with a grin and said: "That's the way to bunt."

That's when Robertson realized he had missed a sign.

Jurist Spanks NCAA, Points To Civil War

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association is on sort of a year of good behavior.

District Judge Robert Simms, who admits he is a football fan, Tuesday continued a contempt citation against the NCAA until three days after the next annual Oklahoma-Texas football game in Dallas.

It was his ruling on the contempt citation which followed an injunction last week prohibiting the showing of the Oklahoma-Texas game on TV in Tulsa. The NCAA had previously restricted the Tulsa area to closed-circuit TV broadcast and that decision was not changed.

After his injunction was issued, Simms took exception to what he considered efforts by the NCAA to threaten sanctions against the two universities if they permitted Tulsa to show the game on TV.

While ruling out a fine or other punishment against the NCAA, Simms announced in court:

"Let the word be carried back to them—the NCAA and its television committee—that the Oklahoma-Texas game is a minor civil war skirmish with the 50-yard line at the Cotton Bowl the battle line.

"The taxpayers are entitled to view it, otherwise it is discrimination."

Simms said that "many people of moderate means, and that includes the court, are unable to view on television the performance of the Sooners in that game." The game is held each year at Dallas which, he pointed out, is not a home-and-home arrangement.

"The NCAA must become aware of public interest," he said. "The Texas-Oklahoma game is a strange phenomenon."

OU, Texas, 'Bama Picked To Triumph

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — And now it's Colorado's turn to try and slow down the yardage-hungry Oklahoma Sooners.

"The home field might give Oklahoma a slight edge," says Nebraska's Bob Devaney of Saturday's battle of Big Eight unbeatens, the nationally second-ranked Sooners and the sixth-ranked Buffaloes.

"An absolutely awesome offense," said Darrell Royal after Oklahoma trimmed his Texas team 48-27 Saturday, rushing for 435 yards.

"The most dynamic offense in college football," says Colorado's Eddie Crowder, mentioning the entire backfield of quarterback Jack Mildren, halfbacks Greg Pruitt and Joe Wylie, fullback Leon Crosswhite and Roy Bell, who subbed for the injured Wylie (ankle sprain) against Texas.

"Those are the guys," said Crowder. "I'm not afraid of the other 62,000 who'll be there. Pruitt looks to me like the best back in the conference since Gale Sayers and he's doing it more consistently."

Consistently enough to gain 205 yards against Southern Cal and 216 against Texas and be named national Back of the Week twice running by The Associated Press.

"There's going to be a lot of electricity down here," says Oklahoma's Chuck Fairbanks. "But being the case, we'll go with Franklin's team split end Willie, that is, OKLAHOMA."

Kansas of Nebraska — "If the ball bounced right for us, we have a chance to win the game," says Dan Farnsworth of Kansas. "But we're not fooling ourselves. We have to play a great game. I can't see a weakness in their team."

In the immortal words of Duffy Dugherly, when one of his Michigan State players complained that it seemed as though George Gipp were reaching up from below and directing the ball in a game with Notre Dame: "You mean Gipp is reaching down from above. Don't be sacrilegious." NEBRASKA.

Texas vs. Arkansas at Little Rock — Texas won 15-14 two years ago in Shootout No. 1. Texas is pretty well set up and crippled for this nationally televised game. Until last week, Texas hadn't lost to Oklahoma since 1956. Texas hasn't lost to Arkansas since 1966. Coincidence aside... TEXAS.

Tennessee vs. Alabama at Birmingham — Bear Bryant doesn't like to lose to anyone, especially one of his former players. Tennessee's Bill Battle nailed him 34-0 years ago. Bear bites Bill Battle back. 'BAMA.

Auburn of Georgia Tech — Auburn seemed ripe to be taken last week but got by Southern Mississippi unimpressively. Tech's season has gone last-win-lose-win-lose and... AUBURN.

Penn State of Syracuse — The preseason experts said this would be for the Eastern championship and the Lambert Trophy. Penn State is unbeaten and ranked first in the East but Syracuse is only 2-1 and ranked sixth after a stunning start. PENN STATE.

Arizona state vs. Oregon state at Portland — Sun Devils' 21-game winning streak is second longest in the country. But it's getting close to Halloween. Usenet Specialist of the Week gives one timid vote to Deshaun, the Great Pumpkin of OREGON STATE.

Stanford of Southern California — Despite a disappointing 2-3 record, the feeling exists that the Trojans can put it all together when they want to. The personnel is there and Stanford started their downfall a year ago. SOUTHERN CAL.

Western Michigan of Toledo — The nation's longest winning streak comes to... 29 games. TOLEDO.

Washington at Oregon — The football may never come down with Sonny Stikiller pitching for Washington and either Dan Fouts or Harvey Winn for... OREGON.

Purdue at Northwestern — It's Purdue's Gary Danielson against Northwestern's renowned secondary. Just a hunch... PURDUE.

Southern Mississippi of Mississippi — USA did it last year with Ole Miss. Glad to be through with Alabama and Georgia. MISSISSIPPI.

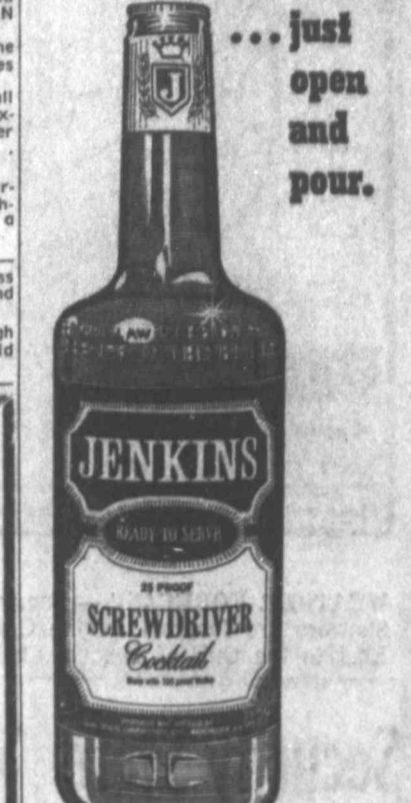

Army at Air Force-Palcos are tough in the Colorado altitude. Army could surprise, but... AIR FORCE.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

I suppose if the University of Texas can afford to surrender 48 points (as it did against Oklahoma last weekend), Big Spring can bear the expense of being generous, too.

The resident Steers surrendered 42 points and managed only one touchdown against Midland, after a few chiefs and numberless Indians had picked them to win. Like the man says, it only hurts when you laugh.

There wasn't much laughing among either UT-Austin or Big Spring fans on their long rides home last week.

Unless Big Spring learns to defend against the sweep and does something to shore up its pass coverage, it could wind up with a 2-5 season. That would be the most disastrous campaign for the Bold Gold since Al Milch's final year here in 1959. That fall, the Herd blew the duke in its first out against San Antonio Edison, 13-12. They took the count more times that fall than Fainting Phil Scott, winding up with 10 straight losses.

The current Steers appear to have too much pride to let that happen. They're capable. They just haven't put everything together yet. There's still five games to go and there's still a need in 5-AAAA for a spoiler. Are there volunteers?

Iowa Park, Brownwood Vie In Headline Battle

By The Associated Press

Tradition-steeped Iowa Park and Brownwood settle a district feud this week that also could change the complexion of the Associated Press schoolboy football poll.

Iowa Park, the 1970 Class AA state co-champion that moved into class AAA this season, and Brownwood, gunning for its third straight state title, collide in a district game this weekend.

Iowa Park is ranked fourth in the AP poll this week while Brownwood is sixth, one notch lower than last week's balloting by 15 sportswriters across the state.

Eighth-ranked Lamesa and 10th-ranked West-Orange were casualties last week and dropped from the class AAA list.

Multiple Listing Service

(1) BUYERS AND SELLERS receive the benefit of cooperation between Realtors rather than being restricted to the offerings of a single agent or a series of agents. (2) Buyers, by contacting only one Realtor, may have access to the listings of all Realtors who participate. (3) Current market information, which is readily available through Multiple Listing, means that Realtors, their clients and the public are better served and informed. (4) Negotiations are carried on under rules of procedure designed to assure ethical practice, thus furthering the interest of clients and the public while extending adherence to high standards of practice.

HCJC Trustees Approve Recruiter

Howard County Junior College is considering a recruiter of students. With new colleges in the area bidding for students, Dr. W. A. Hunt said he believes it will be wise to step up student procurement in order to maintain a 1,100-1,200 enrollment as the base of providing a top quality program.

Trustees agreed with the move, but no fixed timetable was put on starting the program. Dr. Hunt was hopeful a qualified person could be found soon.

Trustees also approved construction of a small building (16x28-ft.) for storage of paints, flammables, etc. Maintenance personnel will build the block and slab room structure costing less than $2,000.

The board approved final payment (less a $4,000 retainer) to cover minor installation yet to be made; on the Horace Garrett Applied Science Building. Howard Ensign, Amarillo, architect, recommended acceptance of the building from J. W. Cooper, Odessa, contractor. Open house is planned when all furniture has been received.

Adopted was a resolution impounding $20,000 state funds advanced on a previously authorized faculty raise which was held in abeyance by the President's freeze order. This will be held as a reserve pending outcome of test cases.

Approved was a $65 per month lease agreement on a copying machine for the registrar's office. Trustees also authorized check signing by any two of three administrators (president, administrative dean, and dean of fiscal affairs) or two trustees, or combination of the two.

Trustees Table Dress Code Talk

The board of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District tabled discussion Tuesday on two dress code proposals when members decided they had not had enough time to study the two proposals.

Trustees, meeting in regular session, were presented with the proposals that they had asked for in the previous meeting. The proposals came from the high school student council and the school administration.

The two proposals differed on many details, including hot pants, hair length, socks with certain types of shoes and sleeveless garments. Board members discussed the differences and again stated that they are not bound by either proposal.

"We can write anything we want," said Roy E. Watkins, board president. "We just think that the students and the administration should have an opportunity to tell us what they want."

The board also approved routine matters and then approved the filing of the 1971-72 budget with the state; approved a policy for excused absences for Holy Days; tentatively approved band and choir trips; and approved 24 of the duties and responsibilities of school personnel as required by state Senate bill 74.

The board agreed to have their second meeting of the month Oct. 28.

City Manager Proposes Mobile Home Inspection

Coals of the mobile home squabble, which have been smouldering since the first of the year when the mobile home ordinance was finally approved, were raked over again in the regular session of the city commission Tuesday night.

In a report to the city commission that was requested by that group in the last session, Harry Nagel, city manager, advised the council on his thoughts concerning inspection and placement of mobile homes in the city.

"I feel mobile homes should not be allowed to be placed individually in the city residential areas," Nagel told the council.

The manager also suggested that an inspection of each mobile home already in the city and coming into the city be made and a six-months permit be placed on each inspected home.

"The inspection stickers will be renewable each six months and an inspection fee assessed," Nagel said, "this will help us know how many units there are in the city for tax purposes, and enable us to regulate single units in the residential areas."

Nagel also explained an ordinance amending the current mobile home ordinance section on inspection will have to be drawn and approved. The inspection will cover only the utility hookups on the mobile homes, and not the entire home.

The commission concurred with the city manager's recommendation.

The question of ambulance service in the city was reviewed again by the commission, as L. A. Hiltbrunner, service operator, presented a request to the council, but no action was taken.

Hiltbrunner told the city fathers that the cost to run one unit per month was $896. He also explained that the service received 70 calls in the city during September, 30 were paid at $750, 40 were unpaid at $1,000, and he expected to collect on 15 more calls at $325.

The ambulance operator also said that through the first eight months of 1971, there was $3,226.10 uncollected.

He has previously asked for $700 in payment from the city for service calls inside the city, and gave the city a deadline of Nov. 1 to make a decision.

"Since the change-over in service from Bruce Frazier to the current operation, I have not seen one time that the city has ever supplied any assistance in collections," said

Student Loan Fund Audited

The National Defense Student Loan Fund at Howard County Junior College shows assets of $105,908 as of June 30, the end of the federal fiscal year.

According to the annual audit by Hollingsworth, Wilson, Lee and Reynolds, the fund has made 282 loans since its inception. Of this number 40 have been paid or cancelled (due to death or fulfilling a pledge to enter the teaching profession. Most of the accounts are current — that is paying or deferred. Only 82 were classed as delinquent, and an additional 11 were delinquent to the point the accounts have been turned over to a collection agency. Receivables were listed at $138,279, less $34,251 collected, $270 cancelled due to death and $7,631 satisfied by teaching service. Federal contribution to the fund have been $101,484, and the college's share was $11,236.

Accident Victim Listed As Serious

John Alfred McDiffitt, 40, Luther, is in serious condition at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital. McDiffitt sustained injuries Tuesday when his small car apparently overturned three times 12.2 miles north of Big Spring on FM 1594.

According to investigating officers, McDiffitt was lying unconscious on the roadside at approximately 7:25 a.m. Tuesday. He was taken to Hall-Bennett where he later regained consciousness.

The accident is believed to have happened at approximately 6:50 a.m. Mrs. McDiffitt told Texas Highway Patrolmen that her husband had left their home for work at 6:30 a.m. and would have reached the accident scene in 20 minutes. McDiffitt is a civilian employe at Webb AFB.

Texas Highway Patrolmen Jimmy Parks and Chet Wesley, investigating officers, said that the cause of the accident had not been determined.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make an effort to bring friends closer to you but don't be forceful with anyone. Not a good day for formal entertainment but fine for making plans. Relax in the evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are anxious to make greater progress in your career. This is best done by impressing higher-ups. Be sure to pay an important bill. Don't leave yourself open for trouble.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can put these fine ideas in operation provided you go to Niagara and get their approval. Don't fret so much and you win others over easily. Show kindness to friends.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Pay your bills and take care of other responsibilities with haste so that you can reap the benefits. Once you get work done, cooperate with what your mate has to say. Stop drawing.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) A big argument with an associate could result if you are too forceful with your ideas. Go through with agreements you have made and show your finest side to the public in general.
