LBJ Mulls Viet

for "neutralization" would have meant the swift communication of all Vietnam, and probably of Laos and Cambodia as well.

McNamara told me he had found the new South Vietnamese government "indecisive and drifting." He was deeply concerned about the "grave reporting weakness" on the part of U.S. personnel.

He granted that his estimate might be "overly pessimistic." He pointed out that Ambassador Lodge, Gen. Harkins, and South Vietnamese chief of state Gen. Duong Van Minh all felt that improvements would come. I had confidence in McNamara's perception, and I concluded that his judgment was closer to the hard truth.

As we moved into 1964 events confirmed the gloomy forecast. Late in January a group of officers headed by Gen. Nguyen Khanh replaced the military junta that had overthrown Diem. More political turmoil followed. Six months later religious rivalries broke out again.

GROWING WORSE

From then until well into 1965 governmental changes seemed to take place every few months. There was military rule, then civilian, then military again. First one man was in charge. Then there was a triumvirate. Then a council. Gen. Khanh was in, and out, then in again.

In March, 1964, I asked McNamara and Gen. Maxwell Taylor to go to Vietnam once again. I wanted a report on the situation in all its dimensions and requested recommendations on measures to improve the situation. They made the journey and reported to me March 16 in my office, and the next day at a session of the National Security Council.

They said that conditions had "unquestionably been growing worse." They cited specific weaknesses in security, morale, and political effectiveness. They said that Hanoi's involvement in the insurgency, "always significant, has been increasing." The defense secretary once again described the disastrous consequences likely should

South Vietnam fall to the Communists.

McNamara listed a number of specific actions he believed we should take promptly, including meeting a South Vietnamese request for assistance in increasing their armed forces by 50,000 men, raising both the quantity and quality of military supplies going to those forces, and providing several forms of budgetary support to help the Vietnamese bear the costs of an expanding war.

BORDER CONTROL

His final recommendation was that we be ready to carry out, on three days' notice, certain border control actions as well as retaliation against North Vietnam. We should also be in a position, he said, to conduct a program of graduated military pressure against the North on a month's notice. The defense secretary specified that he was not in favor of either of these actions "at this time" but was recommending that we be prepared if they should prove necessary.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff thought the proposed actions might not be sufficient and favored taking immediate measures against the North. When this possibility was raised, then and later in the year, my key advisers voiced two principal objections, which I shared.

We were concerned that the political and military base in the South was too fragile to invite increased action from the enemy, and we feared that striking the North might lead to involvement by the Chinese or the Soviets, or both. We did not know what secret military arrangements, or agreements Hanoi might have worked out with Peking and Moscow. I approved the actions on the McNamara list on March 17 and instructed the executive departments to carry them out, but rejected proposals to do more than that.

PUSHING WAR THROTTLE

The leaders in Hanoi obviously liked what they saw happening in the South at that time. In the summer of 1964 they decided the time was ripe to move from guerrilla warfare to a more conventional general offensive.

Their goal was clear: smash the South Vietnamese army, bring on a political collapse in Saigon, and take over. Hanoi was pushing the war throttle.

'Misjudgment' Caused Crash Of Helicopter

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—An accident investigation board's report places blame for a helicopter crash last Jan. 21 on a "misjudgment in estimating altitude" by astronaut Eugene Cernan, commander of an Apollo moon mission set for next year.

Cernan, 37, crashed into the Indian River north of Cape Kennedy while flying a helicopter on a training mission.

The astronaut had to swim for his life after the helicopter broke apart and burst into flames. He suffered only singed eyebrows and minor cuts while swimming through burning fuel and was rescued by a passing boat.

A five-man board, which included two fellow astronauts, concluded in the report released Monday that the crash was caused by Cernan's misjudging his height above the river and flying into the water.

During the flight, the report said, Cernan, alone in the chopper, flew over the middle of the river and "continued a gradual descent until he hit the water."

"Mitigating factors" in the astronaut's mistake, the board said, could have included "a lack of familiar objects on the river surface to help him judge altitude, possible visual focusing of a false water surface because of the water's millpond smoothness and a change in sun reflection on the water."

Cernan is commander of Apollo 17, the nation's last planned moon landing. He and scientist-astronaut Harrison H. Schmitt will descend to the moon's surface late next year while the third crewman, Ron Evans, remains in moon orbit.

Cernan has made two earlier space flights. He was pilot on Gemini 9, a 1966 earth orbit mission, and lunar module pilot on Apollo 10, the moon-orbiting mission in 1969 that was called a dress rehearsal for the first lunar landing.

Orr Doubts Stock Scandal Hurts Party

AUSTIN (AP)—Roy Orr, chosen by a nominating committee Monday as state Democratic party chairman, says he doesn't think the Texas stock scandal has hurt the party.

Orr's selection will be placed before the 62-member State Democratic Executive Committee in Dallas Wednesday for confirmation.

Dr. James Gill of Waxahachie, nominations committee chairman, said the SDEC must vote "yes" or "no" on Orr, with no nominations permitted from the floor.

Orr, 39, is mayor of DeSoto, brother of Rep. Fred Orr of that city, president of Red Oak State Bank and owner of an insurance agency. He has served on the SDEC since September, 1968.

He said he planned to hold "area meetings" with precinct and county chairmen "to find out what our problems are and how to solve them."

IMAGE WOES

What about the image problems resulting from the stock scandal? Orr was asked.

"The stock scandal hasn't touched the Democratic party. That would be like saying if somebody commits adultery you are going to condemn everybody. People understand it is not the Democratic party but some people who may have done the wrong thing," Orr said.

Orr was chosen to succeed Dr. Elmer Baum, who resigned Oct. 11 after being under fire January because of the $125,000 profit he shared with Gov. Preston Smith from National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock they bought with a loan from Sharpe-town State Bank. Both denied any wrongdoing in connection with the transaction, which was investigated by the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

BACKED HHH

Describing himself as "moderate to conservative" in his political philosophy, Orr said he had "equal rapport with both" Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes. Barnes, who claimed he pushed no particular candidate for SDEC chairman, said Orr "was one of the first people in Dallas county" to come out for Hubert Humphrey in the 1968 presidential campaign.

Smith reportedly favored either Travis Johnson, former El Paso County judge, or Agriculture Commissioner John C.

White for the chairmanship.

'GOOD MEN'

He said he told the nominating committee Monday that both were "good men" and also said he "was not opposed to Mr. Roy Orr whose name had come up."

Usually, the governor, as titular head of the party, handpicks the chairman, as Smith did with Baum in 1968.

Some interpreted Orr's selection as a victory over Smith by the Texas political "establishment" associated with former Gov. John Connally. But Barnes, Connally's protege, said: "I don't buy that rumor...I don't know that Roy was that active in politics back when Connally was running for governor."

IN CRIMINAL CASES Calls For Tighter Control Over Bonds

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A Cameron County grand jury has recommended that persons who defaulted on criminal case bonds not be allowed to sign bonds in the future until they have paid their forfeitures.

The recommendations came Monday after the panel reported that the county has failed to collect $63,000 in forfeited bonds in 36 criminal cases.

The grand jury has been investigating bail-bond procedures.

Its report indicated that the $63,000 was a preliminary figure based on information supplied by the district attorney's office prior to a request that Dist. Atty. F. T. Graham be disqualified from the investigation.

In the report to District Court Judge Darrell Hester, the grand jury recommended that lawyers with forfeitures be included among those who could not sign bonds.

A list presented in court indicated that D. J. Lerma, a prominent Brownsville lawyer and former county court-at-law judge, owed $1,500 in forfeited bonds.

Judge Hester has appointed Brownsville lawyer Thomas G. Sharpe Jr. as district attorney pro tem in place of Graham for the grand jury investigation. Sharpe has asked that he retain another lawyer as an assistant and that he have full time investigator for the probe.

He said the investigation likely will last several months. The grand jury is to return Nov. 4 to hear testimony in connection with the probe.

Connally Being Groomed As Nixon's Running Mate?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's new foreign-affairs assignment for Treasury Secretary John B. Connally has added another feather to the tall Texan's hat and spurred fresh speculation that Nixon is grooming him as a 1972 running mate.

ADULTS WHIP HABIT Increase In Teen Cigarette Smokers

The government reports a significant increase in teenage cigarette smokers at a time when the number of adults with the habit decreased sharply. Compiling the latest figures, it estimates the number of smokers between 12 and 18 years of age at four million in January, 1970, up one million in two years when the population increase for the group was less than a million.

The report makes no effort to explain the increase but analyzes the characteristics of teenagers who have and have not become regular smokers and says: "While there are many factors in the environment of a child that influence his taking up, or not taking up the smoking habit, the one that has by far the most influence is the smoking behavior of those around him."

The lowest level of smoking is found among teen-agers who live in households where both parents are present and neither smokes, and who have older brothers and sisters, none of whom smoke, the report says. In such a situation, it says, 4.2 per cent have become regular smokers.

In families with at least one parent and one older brother or sister who smoke, 24.9 per cent of the teen-agers also smoke.

UNITED FUND GAINS $1,370

The United Fund gained $1,370 and two 100 per centers Monday.

The employees at Blum's Jewellers and the State National Bank reported 100 per cent participation in the 1971 United Fund campaign, and the total contributions hit the $34,499 mark. "We are continuing to make progress," said Morris Robertson, campaign chairman. "But we still need the support of all the citizens of Big Spring and Howard County if we are to reach our goal of $110,000. The money is budgeted to 15 local welfare and youth guidance organizations.

closed Monday that Nixon has tapped his sole Democratic Cabinet member as his official representative at the Oct. 31 inauguration of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Without details, the officials said, without giving details, that Connally also will visit other countries on his Asian journey. Another source said his itinerary includes a stop in Tokyo for talks with Japanese officials being buffeted by protests over an agreement signed last week cutting Japanese textile shipments to the United States. But it is the Vietnam visit—a seemingly unusual assignment for a man best known as the chief spokesman for the new Nixon economics—that started the tongues wagging anew about the possibility he might supplant Spiro T. Agnew as Nixon's vice presidential choice.

The intrigue was heightened when it was recalled that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird plans to be in Brussels Oct. 26-28 for a meeting of North Atlantic Treaty Organization officials, then plans to go to Vietnam the first week in November.

LBJ TRAINED Laird presumably could have been picked to go to Saigon from Brussels to represent the United States when Thieu is sworn in for his second term Oct. 31. But instead, he is returning to the United States for a brief stay before heading to Vietnam. "There's no interplay," a Nixon aide said when asked about the Laird and Connally trips. This official characterized the Saigon visit as simply one stop in a multi-nation Asian tour being mapped for Connally.

Nixon has refused to discuss his 1972 political plans and Connally usually brushes aside with a smile any suggestion he is vice presidential timber—a possibility that has been mentioned by some top Republicans.

"I'm not going to make a comment along those lines at all," says the 54-year-old graduate Texas governor and trustee of the Lyndon B. Johnson school of politics.

Jamar, 46, is presently serving as president of Brown County Broadcasting.

District 2A-1 Lions Meet

Membership enrollment and retention were stressed at the District 2A-1 cabinet meeting of Lions International at Buchanan Dam during the weekend.

Ewart Phillips, Brownwood, announced that he would be a candidate for district governor at the convention which meets the first weekend in May, 1972.

Cabinet members and guests were entertained with a fish fry by the host club Saturday evening.

Agnew Learns Man Can Go Home Again

GARGALIANOI, Greece (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew came to the village of his ancestors today in an emotional homecoming that filled the narrow streets with welcoming townspeople.

He said he had learned that a man can go home again, "even to a home he has only heard of but never seen before."

The emotion of the moment could be read in Agnew's face as he stood before the people of Gargalianoi in the town's soccer stadium and paid tribute to his late father.

"If any individual is entitled to these honors I receive it is he," the vice president said. "He was one of you and he left these shores many years ago."

Agnew does not speak Greek. His remarks were translated sentence by sentence and the crowd applauded almost every line.

"I could see him breaking up near the end," Mrs. Agnew said later.

The vice president walked through a welcoming archway and drove to the village cemetery to place a flag-draped wreath at a family gravesite.

He visited a white-walled orphanage that was a convent founded by his great aunt. Agnew gave bracelets to two young girls who lived there, and he patted them on their cheeks.

SPRIT OF VILLAGE He went to the ancestral home of his family where a cousin, Andreas Anagnostopoulos, still lives and dedicated there a plaque "in commemoration of my origins here and in honor of the Greek inheritance which so many other Americans proudly share."

Gargalianoi is a town of about 7,000 people overlooking the Ionian Sea.

"Today this son of Gargalianoi has come home," the vice president said in a speech prepared for a luncheon given by the town.

"The spirit of this village, of these hills and valleys, of this country inspired my father throughout his life... even as it guided his father and his father before him."

Agnew's father was born Theodoras Spyros Anagnostopoulos, in Gargalianoi, on Sept. 12, 1878. He left for the United States at 24, became a citizen and Anglicized his name. He died in 1963.

Premier George Papadopoulos accompanied the vice president to Gargalianoi.

Papadopoulos whose military regime has been criticized in the U.S. Congress as a dictatorship and urged by the State Department to move toward representative rule, has spent some 6 1/2 hours in conference with Agnew. He also has missed an opportunity to appear with the vice president outside the conference rooms.

The premier came Monday night to a reception in Athens for Agnew, joining some 600 Americans and Greeks.

California Designers Spreading 'Lifestyle'

By MILDRED WHITEAKER
BEVERLY HILLS — California Fashion Creators are going all out to spread this state's colorful easy "lifestyle" across the continent. And Hawaii is joining the act.

Four island firms — Baba Kea of Honolulu, Tori Richard, Malla, and its new loungewear division, Whitney — were part of the sportswear story in this 21st annual California fashion press week.

"We want to send our message of leisure, color and the drama of the islands all over the globe," said Mary Foster, designer-owner of Malla. "Everywhere it is summer sometime."

When you think of Hawaiian fashions today, forget the muumuu. Spring and summer sportswear '72 ranges from sleek, sophisticated blazer suits to backwrap day dresses to magnificently printed long and informal party attire — the kind of clothes that would look just right in Texas.

Our firm alone, Tori Richard, has a "library" of 3,800 exclusive prints. California designers are joining the Hawaiians in trying to make the whole world "print conscious."

For the most part, sportswear from the West Coast is a re-run of old favorites — blazers, shirts, dresses, long straight pants, seersucker madras, gingham, poplin and everybody's favorite, polyester doubleknit, which gets a new look by way of prints.

The classics, however, are brought up to date with color, imagination, and the revival of such 40's standouts as back-wrapped dresses and crystal pleated skirts. These are the kind of clothes that will have both customers and retailers smiling.

There's a sharp division between junior and the non-junior (or Establishment) sports clothes. We'll leave the junior fashions — which still focus on the fun, the funky and doing your own thing — for another story.

The nautical theme runs throughout many of the collections with classic red, white and blue taking second place to navy, white and yellow.

Traditional madras colors have gone by the boards for such "conversational" plaids as brown, yellow and white. Madras is most always in a seersucker weave.

White is playing a dominant role as the background for otherwise explosive prints. Staccato combinations of black and white show up in every line.

Hemlines in this non-junior market hover around the knee by day and plunge to the ankle by night. Many of the after-five skirts are paneled or front-split to reveal Hot Pants. Nobody talks much about Hot Pants anymore. They are merely taken for granted as sensible underpinnings for the sexy skirts.

Featured in the sportswear line-up with the Hawaiian labels were the California firms of Koret, Fleischman, Alex Colman, Casa di Cole and White Stag.

"Strong colors with white speaks our fashion picture," said Zole Pateron, commentator for Koret. This "dedicated-to-the-classics firm goes non-classic for '72 in 'city suits' teaming blazers over short shorts. "Something we wouldn't have dared a few years ago," smiled Miss Peterson. Jackets and shirts are often exactly the same length.

Femininity moves onto the tailored scene at Koret with the return of full accordion pleated skirts of 100 per cent Dacron polyester. Shirtings compliment the pleats with soft full sleeves and delicate embroidery trims. Fleischman (which dates back to 1897) is completely 1972 in action classics called "America Cup Knits": in dresses, shorts, pants and jackets of raspberry or blueberry Kodel and cotton denim; and in a smashing finale of patio and party dresses of pure Irish linen. (Those women who keep asking whatever love these linens. Cotton, too, is making a comeback in the California spring story).

Casa di Cole, a new division of the swimwear firm of Cole of California, struts onto the sportswear scene with such applause-winning ensembles as a polyester doubleknit blazer in gingham checks worn with a polka dotted skirt and glen plaid cuffed slacks — all in matching colors or mixed to suit your taste.

Alex Colman comes on strong in tops and pants and jackets and skirts than can be mixed or matched in multiple ways. Very new looking is his quilted and embroidered cotton seersucker blazer to be worn with pants — or better yet, he says — with a pleated skirt.

A spring addition to the Alex Colman line as a result of the mushrooming interest in tennis is a collection of tennis dresses called Top Seeded.

White Stag, the Portland firm long synonymous with the ultimate in active sportswear, is also tennis-minded and is launching a collection for men and women called "Stag-Whites."

That's only a starter in the White Stag spring line-up. Cotton terry, soft chamois corduroy and polyester double knits are used in multiple silhouettes from short flare-leg culottes to button-front skirts to flare-leg slacks to short pleated dresses to casual blazers to full-length lounging dresses to cuffed "super shorts." White Stag lives up to its slogan of "Beautiful Clothes for Active People."

Miss Mary Shanks Married In Odessa

The Oct. 2 wedding of Miss Mary Jacquelyn Shanks and Airman I.C. Darrell Ray Lumry is being announced here by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Autov Shanks of Odessa. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Ernest Sipe, Odessa, and Darrell Marx Lumry of Hurrah, Okla.

Mrs. Welsey Smith, Wichita Falls, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss LaShara Shanks, Big Spring, and Miss Sharen Stucks, Staci Shanks was flower girl. Steve Shanks, brother of the bride, was best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Dan Looper and Mike Lumry, brother of the bridegroom. Sherman Brownlee was ring bearer. Airman and Mrs. Lumry are graduates of Odessa High School. She completed one year at Odessa College, and he finished electronics technology school in the Air Force. He is now stationed at Kincheloe AFB, Racine, Mich.

Progress, Problems For Fire House Six

Progress and problems of Fire House 6 were discussed by the Rev. Harland Birdwell for The Woman's Forum Friday at the home of Mrs. Joe Pickle.

Rev. Birdwell told of the organization of "A Way Out, Inc.", which is based at Fire House 6 and is set up to aid those with a drug problem or those who have communication difficulties. The facility is operated on a volunteer basis and has been set back somewhat by the transfer from Big Spring of key men who took the initiative in its operation.

Problems include the rapid turnover of personnel and the fact that many who use the facility take advantage of it and by so doing hamper the operation. The speaker described the program as "a high risk one that was working on uncharted waters," but he said progress has been made. With continued help from dedicated volunteers it is hoped the facility can be kept open for 24 hour periods when most needed.

A belief was voiced of a trend toward more discipline on the part of parents. Rev. Birdwell said that most young people make good decisions. He is of the opinion that many problem children are the result of too much coddling and have been denied the opportunity of developing good attitudes, and as a result lack motivation. The speaker cited pressure on the young people comes from seeking acceptance of their peers and also pressure from parents in demanding too much from them until they become rebellious.

The St. Mary's Episcopal priest said that the young people basically are creative and have native intelligence to solve their problems but if they fall into trouble over their head, Fire House 6 personnel is available and hopeful of helping to prevent tragedies by listening to their problems, and where possible, to counsel with them. A youth center or a similar place for young people to gather in their leisure time was suggested by Rev. Birdwell as a possible solution for some of the problems of the youth.

The Westside Community Center arts and crafts hour will be served by Mrs. Clyde Thomas and Mrs. Clyde Johnston during October. Mrs. T. H. McCann urged the members to work as volunteers at the Center.

The Big Spring Chapter of Texas School Food Service has slated a Christmas party December 9 in the senior high school cafeteria with that school's cafeteria personnel serving as the host group. The plans were made at a meeting Thursday at Marcy Elementary School where Mrs. Harvey Wooten, president-elect, presided. A Halloween theme was used in table decorations. Guest speaker was Mrs. J. F. Skalicky who gave a demonstration on gift wrapping.

PTA Told 'Change' Is Key Word Ahead In Texas School System

"The 'new morality' seems to be a new version of 'old immorality'" noted the Rev. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of First Baptist Church, Monday when he spoke at the Parent-Teacher Association 16th district fall workshop at Elbow Elementary School.

Rev. Patrick, a graduate of Baylor University, formerly pastored a church at Gatesville where he worked closely with counselors for the Texas Department of Corrections. His talk concerned value patterns in the moral, social and spiritual areas of human life. Noting that one child out of 50 under the age of 18 could 'officially' be termed a juvenile delinquent, he said one of the greatest problems is poverty and its effects on the young.

"The problem with the affluent is that parents are too organized and impersonal to give children the guidance they need," continued Rev. Patrick. "Now, young people need to re-discover respect for the Bible, family and property."

Mrs. Garland Braun introduced the speaker, and afterward, a reactor panel discussion was led by Mrs. Jack Brown and Mrs. Louis Light. Mrs. Hollis Puckett announced a leadership procedure study to be held from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, Nov. 4 at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Room 219, and a parliamentary procedure course to be offered in the same room Nov. 11.

Following a coffee break, Mrs. Jo Bright, women's editor of the Big Spring Herald, spoke briefly on PTA publicity procedure. Emphasizing that newspaper space is at a premium, and that many organizations compete for the use of that space, she advised publicity chairmen to be well-informed, accurate and concerned with news releases which are relevant to accomplishments of PTA. The speaker suggested eliminating minor details and providing more complete information on major events.

H.D. Smith, Forsan School superintendent, explained legislation pertaining to kindergarten in Texas' public schools. He explained that the program began in 1970-71 for all children who have reached the age of five years and five months and who are either educationally or financially handicapped. The program is designed to undergo changes until 1977 when it will include all children who have reached the age of five years. The long range program will extend to three-year-olds.

In discussing House Bill 1078, Smith said that in September, 1972, all school districts (so wanting) may begin the program wherein classes are held three-fourths of the year. Students would attend three 60-day periods with 10 days off between each period. Advantages would include making year-round use of plants, earlier graduation and a lessening of flooding the labor market with teachers and students at the same time. Smith said the disadvantages would be the cost and repair of buildings (which would need to be air-conditioned) and the need for more teachers in some areas.

Mrs. Frank W. Moore reported on a proposed course on Parent and Family Life, and Mrs. Lamar Green told of plans for implementing a reading program called "Rise", to encourage outside reading.

The final discussion centered on the upcoming state convention Nov. 17-19 in Dallas, where it was said "change" will be the key word in matters coming to a vote. Slated for action at the meeting will be setting standards for pollution control, consumer protection, early education, improvement in law enforcement and use of public funds.

W. R. Cregar, Elbow School principal, extended the welcome to those attending the workshop.

Enough electricity for today... and tomorrow.

Planning and building ahead to provide our customers with enough reliable electric power to meet all their needs is the challenging responsibility being met by Texas Electric Service Company. It's what we mean by being "at your service."

To be sure plenty of electricity always will be on hand at the flip of a switch, we will nearly double our generating capability within the next five years. Additional strength and dependability throughout our system comes from our high-voltage transmission interconnections with other power sources.

We must continue to plan and build ahead because we serve a growing area of the nation, and because our customers continue to use more electricity. For example, 25 years ago the average residential customer served by Texas Electric used around 1,000 kilowatt-hours a year. Today, the average residential customer is using about 8,500 kilowatt-hours a year. During this same period, the average selling price per kilowatt-hour has decreased about 43 percent, in spite of continuing inflation.

To us, "at your service" is not only a responsibility and a challenge. It's our commitment to you, our customers.

Frisky Fellowship

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I were very much in love when we married 12 years ago. She was brought up in one religion and I in another, so in order to be "fair," we were married by a Justice of the Peace. After our first baby came, she wanted it baptized (in her former faith) so I said, "Fine." Then she decided she wanted to attend her former church again. I said, "All right. Just don't start nagging me to go with you." She promised she wouldn't, and she didn't. Another baby. Another baptism. Pretty soon she started getting a ride to church and back with the man across the street who had the same kind of mixed marriage we had. (His wife didn't attend any church.) Are you ahead of my story?

You guessed it. My wife and this neighbor announced that they are "in love" and want to be free to marry each other. If you can see the moral to this real-life soap opera, please put it in your column in capital letters! STUPID DEAR STUPID: I see the moral. It's "DON'T SELL RELIGION SHORT. IT ISN'T DEAD. IT'S ONLY SLEEPING." DEAR ABBY: Some years ago I used to stop at the bar in my office building every evening after work and have a couple of drinks with the fellows before coming home. The drinks were a dollar each. About four years ago my wife made this proposition to me:

She would buy the whiskey by the case, and SELL it to me by the drink for 85 cents if I came straight home. This worked out fine, and she bought many nice things with the profit. Now, starting Sept. 1st, she has upped the price to $1 a shot because of higher costs. The problem. With the 90-day freeze announced by President Nixon, isn't she liable to a $5,000 fine? W.I.F. DEAR W.I.F.: No. She's not a licensed retailer. (P.S. If your wife demands a tip, too, she's not any cheaper than the bar, which could defeat her original scheme.) DEAR ABBY: This is not a request for advice. It's a plea for understanding. I am a widow of 63. The gentleman is a widower of 66. I've been widowed for three years. He lost his wife five years ago. We've known each other for many years and were friends when our mates were alive. We love each other and want to marry, but here is our situation: The gentleman's income is a small Social Security check. Mine is both Social Security and Veterans Administration from my deceased husband. If we were to marry, I'd lose both pensions and we would have to live on the gentleman's small income which would be practically impossible. So we are doing what some of the college kids are doing: We are "shacking up." We both own homes, so I moved into his and am renting mine out for the income. Of course, you know what happened. Our families have disowned us and our neighbors no longer speak to us. We are social outcasts. Our financial ties to this small town preclude our moving away. Besides, we both have members of our families in the little cemetery on the hill, so we remain here. Our only real sadness is our children's attitude. (One of my daughters-in-law threatened to leave my son if he ever visited "that whore.") Why does a society that has become more understanding toward young folks who are in love, condemn two old people who want to end their days together in love and companionship? OLD LOVERS

Allergies-Vaccines

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My children have allergies and I would prefer that they not have the German measles vaccine unless it is absolutely necessary. My question: Isn't there a skin test available to determine if they have previously had German measles and therefore would be immune and not need the vaccine? I've brought this subject up to both a pediatrician and an allergist, but haven't been satisfied with their answers. The children were allergic to eggs at one time but now can eat them.—Mrs. J.W.H. You don't tell me what the answers were or why you weren't satisfied, so I'm somewhat in the dark. But perhaps you'll find your answers anyway.

I can, of course, understand your concern. Information distributed with vials of the rubella (German measles) vaccine lists precautions that should be observed. Rubella vaccines are cultured usually in duck or chicken media, so the vaccine should not be given to individuals sensitive to duck, chicken, or the eggs of these fowl. Since your children were sensitive to eggs but can now tolerate them, a skin test with egg albumen would be in order.

Do you understand what hemorrhoids are? They are a form of varicose veins, but in a specific location. You'll know more about dealing with your problem if you'll read my booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids." Send 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of it.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald requesting the booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope an 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is white petroleum jelly safe to use as a relief of hemorrhoids?—A.A. It's safe enough, as far as that goes — but it won't do anything to correct the problem or to keep it from getting worse, anymore than you can help varicose veins by rubbing petroleum jelly on them.

WHAT'S YOUR PROBLEM? A HERALD WANT AD WILL HELP.

Indians Control Ball But Lose By 41-30 Tab

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash: To paraphrase an old cliché, it's not how long you have the football, it's where you wind up with it. William & Mary got off a whopping 100 plays Saturday against Virginia Tech—59 rushing for 234 yards, 28 of 41 passes for 309—but lost the game 41-30. The Indians had run 82 plays by halftime, the same number Tech had for the entire game. Tech gained 375 yards and used five fumble recoveries to win.

eight seconds left in the first half. The Frogs won 14-3. Ever since he was a school boy, Bill Dooley dreamed of competing against Notre Dame. "Being a Catholic, I've always followed Notre Dame football with great interest," says the North Carolina coach.

"I used to listen to their games on the radio when I was a boy and thought how great it would be to compete against them." His chance came Saturday. Final score—Notre Dame 16, North Carolina 0. Quoth Dooley, "I'm not sure it's so great after all."

Dooley Moving In With Bear Signal Caller

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Jim Dooley of the Chicago Bears hasn't told his wife yet, but he's moving in with quarterback Bobby Douglass. "He's my last quarterback and he's going to do the job," said Dooley Monday night. "I guarantee it. In fact, I'm forsaking my family and I'm moving in with him Thursday night." "We're going to eat, live and sleep football. We'll have films and meetings with Ken Nix and Coach Perry Moss," added Dooley. "I want him to think like I think."

OU Sooners Move In On Cornhuskers

By The Associated Press huge run at Nebraska's defending national champions. The Cornhuskers received 35 first-place votes and 1,046 points—down five votes and 10 points from last week—from a panel of 55 sports writers and broadcasters across the country following their sixth consecutive triumph, a 55-0 sand-bagging of Kansas. Oklahoma, which received eight top votes and 888 points a week ago, pasted Colorado 45-17 and was rewarded with 19 first-place ballots and 1,008 points. Michigan remained in third place with one No. 1 vote and 837 points by trouncing Illinois 35-6 but the Wolverines' point total fell from 880. Fourth-ranked Alabama whipped Tennessee 32-15 and went from 6,088 points to 765. Auburn, rated fifth, turned back stubborn Georgia Tech 31-14 but lost ground from 620 points to 585.

SNYDER TO BECOME MEMBER OF DISTRICT 4-AAA IN '72

Snyder High School is being elevated into Class AAAA by the University Interscholastic League but will go into District 4-AAAA rather than 5-AAAA with the 1972-73 school year. Snyder, which is now in 3-AAA, thus will be competing with Lubbock Monterey, Hereford, Lubbock Coronado, Plainview and Lubbock High for the 4-AAAA championships. The arrangement is ideal for both 4-AAAA and 5-AAAA, since it fills out Snyder's new conference with six schools and leaves 5-AAAA with eight. (A league with an odd number of teams creates schedule problems that cannot always be solved, especially for as big as 5-AAAA.) Snyder has been in Class AAA since 1952. Coahoma and Stanton have been placed in District 7-AA but the makeup of the old district (5-AA) won't be changed. Other schools in that conference are Crane, Reagan County, Ozona and McCamey. Snyder officials will attend a 4-AAAA meeting in Plainview Wednesday, at which time a 1972 schedule will be arranged.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: JOHN HOLLIS, Houston writer, after the NFL Oilers had failed to win in its first four league outings: "A defense can only do so much. It is supposed to get help from the offense. Football hasn't changed overnight. It is still a 48-man game. The Oilers aren't getting a 48-man performance."

DUFFY DAUGHTERTY, Michigan State coach, when informed that new Illinois coach Bob Blackman had given his players a playbook weighing 14 pounds: "I'm not sure our players would be strong enough to carry a book that heavy."

BILL BEALL, Baylor football coach, when comparing his offensive line with that of TCU's: "One of them's poor and the other's got a dime."

ALEX AGASE, Northwestern football coach, expressing a theory about losing: "It is better to be devoured by lions than eaten by dogs."

Former Rice University coach JOE DAVIS, who refused to review blue chip players as the last word in recruiting: "With running backs, they're usually an accurate gauge. Unless he loses his desire or gets hurt, a top running back in high school will be a good one in college. Linemen are tougher to judge. On our 1957 championship team, we started in the line two Class B graduates and a six-foot man football graduate. All three went to the pros, but nobody thought much about them in high school."

GENE AUTRY, co-owner of the California Angels: "It's getting so you can't say hello to one of your players without consulting Marvin Miller (director of the Major League Players Association). The next time I get a player who won't hustle (referring to the Alex Johnson rhubarb), I'm just going to close up the park."

Former American league umpire BILLY MCGOWAN, when once manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees came out to ask his catcher, Yogi Berra, if a pitch had been good after Bill had ruled it a ball: "Gentlemen, I had a full view of the pitch. It was a thing of beauty. It took about two inches off the outside corner of the plate and I will further say it was a fast ball... very fast. That is my considered opinion, gentlemen, and I will not change it. So if one of you will go back and sit down, we will resume the game."

CALVIN HILL, Dallas Cowboy running back: "Football is a slice of America, a microcosm of American life. Two of the dominant strains are Frank Merriwell and Dave Meggsey. Football is part Merriwell and Meggsey."

ELLIOTT HARVITH, editor of the Michigan Boxing News: "We hear Dean Chance (former big league pitcher who manages a stable of boxers) is working on an invention—a boxing ring that rises up so his stiff won't have as far to fall."

SAM McDOWELL, Cleveland mound star: "It's no fun throwing fast balls to guys who can't hit them. The real challenge is getting them out on stuff they can hit."

HOWARD COSELL, the verbose sports analyst: "There's too much technical garbage on the Monday night ABC football game. The jocks give you a one-on-one bit. All it means is putting a fast guy against a slow guy. I learned that no Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn, when I was a kid."

Pesina, Herring Among Honorees

You probably know that President Nixon called Eddie Robinson on Saturday when the veteran Grambling coach became the seventh coach in college football history to notch 200 victories. But what you probably don't know is that Eddie Robinson made a call, too. He phoned Joe Allet, who compiled a 151-86-8 record at predominantly white Louisiana Tech—five miles from predominantly black Grambling—from 1940-66. Allet, that's pronounced I-A, is seriously ill and Robinson just wanted "to tell him I knew he'd be up around 200 also if he hadn't retired when he did."

Oklahoma's supersonic Sooners aren't doing much for the school's alumni association. The last two Saturdays they've whipped two of their former quarterbacks—Darrell Royal of Texas and Eddie Crowder of Colorado.

And Lafayette's 17-15 triumph over Penn came against the man who coached the Leopards a year ago, Harry Gramble.

Texas Christian's Billy Sadler went from goat to hero in a hurry Saturday night. First he fumbled the ball away on his own 30 and he bobbed it again on the Texas A&M seven, killing a TCU threat. But the next time the Horned Frogs had the ball, the 197-pound sophomore crunched over right tackle for his first varsity touchdown and on the next possession he took a pitch-out and scored TCU's final TD on a seven-yard scamper with

Borden Seeking Fifth Victory

GAIL — High Coyotes, ranked by a tie with Sterling City last weekend, will entertain Klondike at 7:30 p.m. Friday in a Homecoming game. The coyotes were 4-0-1 in the season, 0-0-1 in the district.

KANSAS CITY WINS, 38-16 Receiver's Blunder Costs Steelers Sure Touchdown

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A funny thing happened to young Dave Smith on his way into the end zone Monday night. Smith, a sophomore receiver for the Pittsburgh Steelers, had taken a pass from Terry Bradshaw on a 50-yard play. He was all alone. As he neared the goal, he suddenly exploded jubilantly and heaved the ball into the air like football players do in celebration of success. The trouble was Smith hadn't reached the final stride. The ball squirted through the end zone.

ONLY TOUCHBACK

It was only a touchback. The score at the time was 31-9 in favor of the Kansas City Chiefs, who had wiped out a 9-0 lead with Len Dawson's spectacular passing to Otis Taylor and a couple of assists from the defense during a four-touchdown avalanche in the second quarter.

The Chiefs went on to a 38-16 victory over the Steelers in their nationally televised game and climbed into a first-place with Oakland, 4-1, in the West Division. Pittsburgh, 2-3, fell two games behind Cleveland, 4-1, in the Central Division.

Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll said at first he had no comment on Smith's blunder, then reluctantly added: "I've seen it happen to veterans. He threw the ball before he was across. The college goal posts are 10 yards back. Maybe he was thinking..." Noll's voice faded away. Noll thought two plays proved the big difference. Both were passes from Dawson, who complained all week of having a sore arm, to Taylor and covered 82 and 51 yards. Neither of the bombs scored touchdowns but both set the Chiefs in motion deep in Pittsburgh territory. Dawson flipped the 61-yarder to Taylor at the 27. On the next play, Dawson threw a strike to Taylor in the end zone, erasing the last of Pittsburgh's 9-0 lead rolled up on field goals of 32, 40 and 35 yards by Roy Gerela.

TWO OTHERS Dawson threw two other touchdown passes, both for five yards, one to Taylor and the other to rookie Elmo Wright, whose touchdown came on the second play following Dawson's 82-yard heave to Taylor.

COACHMAN

Sophomore defensive end GLENN WASHINGTON, a 180-pounder, recovered two unassisted fumbles, was the first man on another tackle and had 11 tackle assists against Stanton to win Lineman of the Week laurels. Needless to say, he graded high in game films.

GARDEN CITY

EARL JANSKA, who caught several key passes and was consistently outstanding on defense in Garden City's upset win over Loop, was named Lineman of the Week. The senior end weighs 160. Back of the Week is QB DAVID SMITH, on target all evening with his aerial bombs. When Loop would pull back close to the Bearkats, Smith would unload again. He plays linebacker on defense.

FORSAN

The Buffaloes played so consistently well against Imperial that coach Jack Woodley recommended that the defensive and offensive units be decorated, rather than any individual.

STANTON

Junior DUANE CLARY, an end on defense and a tackle on offense, was named Lineman of the Week. Although he has been in the running all year for the honor, this is his first time to be selected. He did an exemplary job of shutting down Coahoma's quarterback on defense.

COAHOMA

Back of the Week is LARRY JONES, a 190-pound junior full-back, who gained 57 tough yards in nine carries. That averages out to better than seven yards a carry. A halfback on defense, Larry also was one of Stanton's leading tacklers in the Coahoma game.

Kerby Could See Action Friday

COAHOMA — Defensive back Troy Kerby, who missed last week's Coahoma game with Stanton due to a damaged knee, may see limited action when the Bulldogs play in Ozona Friday night. "I've seen it happen to veterans. He threw the ball before he was across. The college goal posts are 10 yards back. Maybe he was thinking..." Noll's voice faded away.

BORDEN COUNTY

RANDY CRITTENDEN'S heads-up play at quarterback won him The Back-of-the-Week award for Borden High last week. He called a sharp game and came through in a clutch time after time with third down conversions for first downs, getting many of them himself. Randy also barged in for both of Borden's touchdowns. Randy is a 150-pound junior.

COAHOMA

Back of the Week is KEITH PHERIGO, whose consistency against Stanton helped keep Coahoma in front. As a blocker on Coahoma's options, he cleared the way for two of Wendell Walker's touchdowns. He also scored twice himself.

SANDS

VICTOR RODRIGUEZ, for the second week in a row, was named Lineman of the Week. The ninth grader made 18 tackles in a fine effort against Lubbock Christian High School. The 135-pound nose guard plays defense almost exclusively.

COAHOMA

Back of the Week is again TONY GILLESPIE, 132-pound senior, who gained 60 yards carrying the ball and played exceptionally well at the defensive safety spot. Time and again, he came up to make the tackle.

STANTON

Junior DUANE CLARY, an end on defense and a tackle on offense, was named Lineman of the Week. Although he has been in the running all year for the honor, this is his first time to be selected. He did an exemplary job of shutting down Coahoma's quarterback on defense.

COAHOMA

Back of the Week is LARRY JONES, a 190-pound junior full-back, who gained 57 tough yards in nine carries. That averages out to better than seven yards a carry. A halfback on defense, Larry also was one of Stanton's leading tacklers in the Coahoma game.

Forsan Plays Borden's Fems

FORSAN — Two girls' basketball games are on tap here this evening, with Borden County the guest in each instance. The junior high teams play at 6:30 p.m., while the varsity teams tangle at 8 o'clock.

Starting players for Forsan in the varsity game will be Cathy Reed, a starter last year, Becky Strickland and Brenda Cowley, all forwards; and Debbie Fryer, 5-8 Kay Woodley and either Kim Kuykendall or Darla Earnest.

Cowley and Fryer were also starters a year ago. Woodley is a transfer from Garden City and is the tallest member of the team. Coached by Don Stevens, Forsan is the defending district champion in basketball.

After Fourth Win

ACKERLY — Sands Junior High, which has already clinched its zone football championship will try to make it four wins in a row in a 6 p.m. game with Loraine here Thursday.

Defector Reveals Soviet Spy Ring

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Russian defector said to have disclosed existence of a Soviet spy ring in Belgium is now in the United States after being granted political asylum, according to the State Department.

A brief statement issued Monday afternoon said Anatoly Tchobotarev, a member of the Soviet trade mission in Belgium, recently asked the U.S. Embassy in Brussels to be allowed to enter the United States. His request was granted, the department said.

Tchobotarev has been missing from the Soviet mission since early this month, but U.S. officials declined to say when he asked for asylum, when he entered the United States or where he is staying.

Neither would they say why he sought asylum in the United States rather than Belgium, but an official said it is not unusual for such defectors to be brought to America.

There was virtually no personal information available about Tchobotarev beyond his connection with the Soviet trade mission, except for reports he was a friend of Oleg Lyalin, another Russian defector who recently informed on a Soviet spy ring in Great Britain.

According to the Belgian foreign ministry, Tchobotarev had told the American embassy in Brussels of the spy ring in that country and the information was then turned over to the Belgian government.

Telles' appointment was confirmed by the Senate Sept. 26. He was appointed for a term extending to July 1, 1976.

For the past two years Telles has held consulting and management positions in private industry in Texas and Oklahoma. From 1961 to 1967 he was U.S. Ambassador to Costa Rica and from 1967 to 1969 he was U.S. chairman of the United States-Mexican Commission for Border Development.

A native of El Paso, Tex., Telles served two terms as mayor from 1957 to 1961.

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission is responsible for administering Title VII of the 1965 Civil Rights Act, which prohibits discrimination in employment because of race, sex, religion, color or national origin.

Persistent Rains Pose Added Flood Threats

By The Associated Press

Persistent and often heavy rains left parts of Texas awash today, concentrating in a belt angled across the state's mid-section.

Showers and thunderstorms which already had soaked a broad area from North Central to South Central Texas hung on through the night and continued

Charge Man With Slaying

DALLAS (AP) — Grand jurors returned indictments Monday naming a man wanted on a murder charge and a justice of the peace connected with mystery disappearances.

They indicted John Craner Jackson, 46, of Plattsburg, Mo., in an Aug. 22 slaying and Ardis O'Dell Reed — a Grand Prairie notary public, on four counts charging forgery.

Jackson is accused in the fatal beating of Billie Cletus Barnes, a computer programmer, at a business office in suburban Farmers Branch. The body was found next day in the trunk of a car at Dallas Love Field.

Police said Jackson is being sought in California.

Reed is charged with notarizing false documents used to transfer stock from a missing Dallas investor, Robert L. "Tex" Roberts, 85, and Robert's aunt, Jessie I. Forsyth, 89, to an Amarillo bank account. The two disappeared from Roberts' North Dallas estate Aug. 15, 1970.

Dallas lawyer Leon C. Horton was accused earlier of making the Roberts stock transfers. He has been jailed at Canyon, Tex., in lieu of bonds totaling $175,000 on charges of theft by conversion.

IN PARTS OF TEXAS

Persistent Rains Pose Added Flood Threats

temperatures sharply. Several minor power failures occurred.

MAN DROWNS

In South Texas earlier, a man was swept away and drowned Sunday in the boiling waters of San Diego Creek in Duval County. Sheriff Vidal Garcia, who described the flood as "like a tidal wave," reported water one to seven feet deep invaded nearly 300 homes and business places in that vicinity.

Even without the prospect of further heavy rains in the southern part of the state, warnings were up for major flooding along the lower Nueces River from Lake Corpus Christi downstream.

In the same general area the Guadalupe already had climbed five feet above flood stage at Victoria. Observers expected the Nueces to hit a peak three feet below flood stage at Ganado.

As the cool front stalled downstate, temperatures near dawn today dipped to 38 degrees at Dalhart and 43 at Amarillo in the Panhandle. Readings farther south stood mostly in the upper 50s to 70s, staying as high as 78 at Corpus Christi and Laredo.

COOL FRONT

Most of the rainfall drenched a corridor extending 50 miles each side of a weakening cool front, which early today came to a standstill along a line from near Paris in North Texas to Waco and on to Del Rio on the Mexican border.

While skies cleared over a good part of West Texas, clouds lingered and still more rain was promised the rest of the state. Forecasts called for heavy downpours near the Middle Texas Coast into Wednesday.

Deluges falling at a rate up to one inch per hour caused flash flood alerts in Dallas, Tarrant, Johnson, Ellis, Llano, Burnet, Bexar and Comal counties during the night.

A subsequent warning, cancelled at 5:15 a.m. today, covered Dallas, Denton, Collin and Rockwall counties.

POWER FAILURES

A car-truck crash on a rain-swept stretch of Interstate 20 near Forney, east of Dallas, claimed two lives Monday night. The collision killed Billy Wayne Whitehead, 41, of Ben Wheeler, Tex., and his wife Betty, 39.

As much as 3.45 inches of rain poured down at Irving, between Dallas and Fort Worth, and minor flooding occurred in Benbrook west of Fort Worth.

Unofficial measurements up to three inches were reported in Dallas, where 15 streets were filled with water for a time as heavy thunderstorms dropped
