Clues To Voter Sentiment

EVERS CONCEDES — Fayette, Miss., Mayor Charles Evers gestures as he concedes the governor's race to white opponent Bill Waller in Jackson Tuesday night. Evers said, "We may be beaten but we ain't defeated."

City Officials Planning Budget

City officials continue to work on the city budget for fiscal year 1971-72, and are presently scrutinizing each department's individual portion of the over-all budget.

"We are working on each department's budget to find areas where possible cut-backs might be made so that expenditures can be limited this fiscal year," said Harry Nagel, city manager, today. The present fiscal year began Oct. 1.

Nagel also said that budget hearings will be conducted with each of the department heads, after his initial work is completed, to give them a chance to justify areas in the budgets that might be cut.

"After that we will have to type up a preliminary budget for the commission to study, and this will be done very soon," the manager explained.

Currently the city is on a continuing appropriations system. Under the system, the city will be able to continue regular city operations, however, no additional expenses can be approved until the new budget is adopted.

Up To Knees In Leaves

SYCAMORE, Ill. (AP) — Jeff Strack is up to his knees in leaves on one acre of his farm. He asked for it.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency bans the burning of leaves and stumps on putting them in plastic bags that don't decompose.

Strack invited residents among Sycamore's 7,800 population to dump leaves on one acre of his land.

"They sure took me up on it," he says. "When the season is over I'll plow the leaves under. They'll make good fertilizer."

NADER LAUNCHING PROBE OF CONGRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Nader, who gained prominence investigating the auto industry, is launching a probe of Congress.

Nader said Tuesday 80 students will help his assistants analyze electoral and campaign-fund process, profiles of congressmen and how congress responds to its constituents.

President Will Slice U. S. Ground Force To 40,000?

SAIGON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird arrived tonight to assemble information for President Nixon's next announcement on troop cuts. Speculation is that the U.S. force will be trimmed to 40,000 men by July.

Laird told newsmen in Saigon that U.S. battle deaths in Vietnam last week were the lowest since the United States assumed a major combat role in March 1965.

He declined to divulge the number of deaths, but said the figure would be released by the U.S. Command in its regular casualty report on Thursday.

LOWEST TOLL — It was learned, however, that the death toll last week was two. This is the lowest toll since the week ending March 8, 1965, when two Americans died in battle.

In the first three weeks of this past October, the U.S. combat deaths have been fewer than eight a week.

Laird said the low number of American casualties is largely due to efforts by Gen. Creighton W. Abrams' progress in modernizing of the South Vietnamese armed forces, and assumption of a greater share of the fighting by Saigon forces. Abrams is the U.S. commander in Vietnam.

NEGOTIATING — Laird said that in the week before the Nixon administration took over in January, 1969, there were 196 Americans killed in action during the seven-day period.

The defense secretary, here for a three-day visit, went into consultations with Abrams and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker shortly after he arrived.

He told newsmen he would make a personal report to President Nixon, and that on or about Nov. 15 the President would make a statement on the progress of Vietnamization, and "the prospects for peace as far as the negotiating route in Paris is concerned."

The strongest speculation is that Nixon will announce that he is reducing U.S. forces in Vietnam to a residual force of 40,000 by July 1.

There is also speculation that Nixon will reduce the U.S. Command to an advisory group and bring Abrams home to be the Army's chief of staff.

The U.S. Command says current American strength in Vietnam is 196,700 troops, the lowest in nearly six years, and Nixon last spring set a target of 184,000 men by the end of this month. But informed sources estimate that the force will be down to about 175,000 by then.

SPECULATION — There is speculation that Nixon's next withdrawal program—his 10th—will begin with the transfer of a large number of GIs home for Christmas.

Informed sources said present plans call for the U.S. Command, which has 11,000 troops assigned to it, to be cut to an advisory group headed by Abrams' deputy, Gen. Frederick C. Weyand. Abrams is expected to leave early next year. He has been the top U.S. military man in Vietnam since June, 1968, and as Army chief of staff he would follow his predecessor in Saigon, Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

YOUNG STAR — Over in Pittsburgh, Republicans may have launched an attractive young star of the future in ketchup heir H. John Heinz III, who easily won the only congressional seat up for election Tuesday.

William Waller, nominee of Mississippi's traditional Democratic party, smothered the bid of Charles Evers, a member of the Democratic National Committee, who sought to become the state's first black governor.

In New Jersey Republicans retained control of the state Senate but Democrats surged to a 40-39 advantage in the Assembly with one independent elected. The Republicans had held a 3-1 margin in the lower house.

The new student vote was felt in places where it concentrated behind local candidates. In Ocala, Fla., a 19-year-old student forced an incumbent city councilman into a runoff. Youth votes helped elect two city councilmen in East Lansing, Mich. Three students fared poorly in the Kalamazoo, Mich., city council election, but two college professors were elected.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien assessed the over-all scene as evidence of rebuilding strength in his party.

"The victory of Gov. Ford in Kentucky is particularly significant since it underlines the failures of the Nixon economic game plan and represents the first major referendum of his latest economic moves," O'Brien said in a statement issued from his Washington office.

But reading the election results may give the politicians more headaches than answers.

The law-and-order approach that worked in Philadelphia went stale in Boston where Mayor Kevin White won a surprisingly easy victory over Rep. Louise Day Hicks for another four-year term.

Mrs. Hicks called herself the "people's candidate" and promised to "build neighborhood schools for neighborhood children." She was strong for tough law enforcement and pitched to the blue collars.

FOLKS IN MIDLAND CONTINUING THEIR FEUD

Fears Of Campus 'Inferno' Voiced

AUSTIN (AP) — Fears of a campus "inferno" and a charge that Midland residents were trying to keep neighboring Odessa from having a college were raised today before the Texas Supreme Court.

Lawyers presented arguments on whether the University of Texas legally acquired its 588-acre UT-Permian Basin campus at Odessa.

GAS HAZARDS — John W. Stayton of Austin, representing H. Winston Hull and four others attacking the site, claimed the existence of high pressure injection wells on the site presented special hazards.

"The first time one of these university militants hits one of these lines with a bullet there will be an inferno," Stayton told the court.

Robert Brown, Houston lawyer retained by the UT board of regents, told the court that of the five plaintiffs, two were non-Texans and two were residents of Midland County.

"None are residents of Ector County, Tex.," Brown said. "It appears that the good folks in Midland are continuing in their feud to frustrate the creation of a university in their neighboring city of Odessa."

Stayton pointed out that the Ector County commissioners court bought 280 acres, which it donated to the university for part of the campus, as park land.

FRAUD CHARGED — "This was a fraud on the taxpayers," Stayton declared.

Brown said, however, that the commissioners' resolution authorizing the bonds contained a proviso that the land would serve as a buffer for the campus and might be used by the university in the future.

The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals here ruled that the university legally obtained the 308-acre "core" but had violated state law in acquiring the additional 280 acres from the commissioners.

Rep. Ace Pickens of Odessa, House sponsor of that 1969 law which created UT-Permian Basin during the hearing.

UT regents accepted the "core" tract Dec. 12, 1969, as a gift from Houston Endowment, Inc. The 280 acres were accepted from Ector County the same day.

NO POWER — The appeals court said county commissioners have no power, under the Texas constitution, to buy land for a state college campus. The court also ruled that since the land was bought with county bonds, it did not meet the legal requirement that it be free of debt.

Stayton said the court was correct in this.

"The establishment of an institute of higher learning of statewide and nationwide appeal, so to speak—the county didn't have authority to spend money for that purpose," he said.

Stayton also contended the site was not suitable because of the numerous oil and gas installations—including the injection systems which operate at 6,000 pounds per square inch of pressure.

FACT OF LIFE — Brown said the board of regents had discretion to decide whether the site was appropriate and found that it was.

"Oil wells and pipelines are a fact of life in Odessa and would be a fact of life for any university in Odessa," Brown said.

He said UT-Permian Basin was "a fact, a reality. It is not a paper university. It is on the ground at Odessa, Tex., and enjoys the support of the legislature."

In fact, Brown said, the university already has built a $130,000 administration building at the site which is used by the school's president and his staff.

For instance, State Department sources say they doubt the U.N. vote was a serious factor in the death of the current foreign aid program at the hands of the Senate last Friday.

"It was a combination of frustration by liberals who opposed part of the aid bill dealing with military matters and support of some military governments and fiscal conservatives," one source said.

"Throw in some circumstances of time and the fact of a large number of absentees and you have a defeat."

He acknowledged one of the circumstances was the U.N. action.

June completes four years as Army chief, the normal tour of duty.

Laird's schedule called for meetings with Abrams, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and President Nguyen Van Thieu.

FINANCIAL AID — One of the main subjects will be financial aid to South Vietnam as the U.S. troops are withdrawn.

Laird told newsmen in Washington before he left that his mission is to make "a further assessment of progress being made in the military as well as the economic area." He said he also intends "to reassure the Vietnamese that we are going to carry forward our Vietnamization program."

Asked how he could do this in view of the Senate's killing the foreign aid bill, which included $549 million in economic assistance for Vietnam, Laird said he is confident that Congress will enact new legislation.

U.S. aid for the Vietnamese armed forces is provided in Laird's Defense Department budget and is not affected by the Senate action.

JUSTICE BURGER Urges Cops To Use Common Sense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger advised police officers today to use "common sense" to reduce tensions and calm fears.

Recalling his own boyhood, Burger said discretion by officers on the beat builds confidence between the people and the police.

On the other hand, he said in an address, a policeman who causes resentment intentionally is not doing his job.

As an example of the kind of police behavior he favors, the chief justice said that in many European countries traffic officers who stop a driver are required to have him leave the car so the family is out of earshot.

The chief justice recalled that when he sold newspapers as a boy in St. Paul, Minn., during Prohibition the "genial Irish policemen" on the beat only infrequently arrested the men who drink hard liquor at the local saloon. More often, Burger said, the officer helped carry the "hapless workman" to his home and deposited him on the back porch.

"I emphasize it was the back porch, because this policeman had the wit and the decency to take the offending father of the family to the rear where the whole episode of his delivery would not be observed by the entire neighborhood," Burger told police chiefs graduating from an FBI class.

"Perhaps this may strike you as no more than an amusing anecdote, but the fact is, so far as I am concerned, it was a good example of a police officer exercising judgment of a high order.

"Discretion, in this sense, was common sense."

WAITING TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

MANILA (AP) — "The only thing I am waiting for now is to die in the electric chair," said the escaped convict who held an American schoolgirl hostage Monday, ransomed her for $2,000 and his freedom, and then surrendered without a fight.

Silvestre Mate y Abaf was flown to a national police stockade in a Manila suburb this morning. He told newsmen he would have killed 14-year-old Susan Butler if anything had happened to him, but "I was not only after money. My ambition is to figure in a big story."

Mate, a fugitive from a penal colony in the southern Philippines, was arrested in a grass hut in Zambales Province 75 miles northeast of Manila, near where he was taken by helicopter with Susan, her uncle and a Filipino journalist.

Police were led to the hut by a woman who had been arrested while buying clothes for Mate. About $1,800 of the ransom money paid by Susan's uncle, Stewart Raab, was recovered.

Nixon Asks Corporations To Limit 1972 Dividends

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Phase 2 guideline for corporation dividends, allowing increases up to 4 per cent in 1972, was being voted today as a suggested yardstick for the other post-freeze guidelines still to come.
The Committee on Interest and Dividends, headed by Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board, announced its standard for voluntary dividend control late Tuesday.
The Burns committee thus became first of the new economic agencies to lay down its yardstick for anti-inflationary behavior when President Nixon's wage-price-freeze is replaced by Phase 2 controls.
But Burns 24 hours earlier had given public notice in effect that the curb on investors' dividend income should be in line with the coming controls on wage and salary income. He told the House Banking Committee Monday his committee felt that the permitted increases should be "equitably related to increases in the incomes of wage earners."
The 4-per-cent figure thus comes under discussion as a possible wage-increase guideline, since it now is endorsed officially as a standard for dividend income consistent with Nixon's goal of slowing inflation to a rate of 2 to 3 per cent by late 1972.
Both the 15-member, labor-management-industry Pay Board and the seven-member Price Commission have been holding closed meetings on their coming guidelines, but unofficial speculation on the wage question has focused on an average of 5 to 6 per cent.
Meantime, Nixon's request for extension of the wage-price control legislation to April 30, 1973, moved to the drafting stage in the House Banking Committee. A House vote next week is the committee's goal.
Some members are pressing for shorter extension of control to review the operation of the controls some time during the next year.

Otherwise the committee seemed disposed to give Nixon essentially what he asked for — including standby authority to control interest rates and dividends.
Administration officials say they do not expect to use the mandatory control authority over either dividends or interest, and the Burns committee's announcement of its guideline was phrased as a request that corporations adhere to this "general principle":
"Corporations are requested to limit any increase in total dividends per share paid in 1972 to an amount not exceeding 4 per cent.
The base to which this increase will be applied is the total amount per share (adjusted for stock dividends and splits) paid in any of a corporation's fiscal years ending during 1969, 1970 or 1971."

AEC, Environmental Groups Race The Clock

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission and environmental groups raced the clock today—the AEC trying to prepare for a five-megawatt nuclear test at remote Amchika Island and the conservationists trying to block it.
The environmental groups, after losing a district court bid for a preliminary injunction against the underground blast off the coast of Alaska, applied Tuesday to the U.S. Court of Appeals.
Although opponents of the test won the disclosure of eight secret government documents, they appealed the withholding of 10 others which they believe contain crucial information on the blast's environmental hazards. They said the disclosed documents gave new ammunition against the test.
Meanwhile, the AEC lost another day in its final preparations for the blast, code-named Cannikin, which is designed to test a Spartan missile warhead and would release energy equivalent to the explosion of 5 million tons of TNT.

Turkish Restaurant Caters To Hippies

ISTANBUL (AP) — Yener's is a small restaurant by any standards: four tables inside, two outside. The choice of food is limited: two or three simple Turkish dishes. You drink beer if you have the money, tea if you haven't.
Yet Yener's is probably one of the best-known eating spots between New York and Kathmandu, and "Eat at Yener's" is traditional advice for those setting out on the hippy trail to the East.

DENVER, Colo. — In a year when fringe humane groups have claimed abuse of rodeo animals, it is interesting to note that the sport has chosen a 15-year-old bronc as its top Bucking Horse of the Year, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.
The hearty, healthy animal is a big Palomino gelding named Descent, of the Beutler Brothers stock contracting company out of Sterling, Colo.

Army Spokesman Labels Muzzle Charge 'Absurd'

NEW YORK (AP) — Lt. Col. Anthony B. Herbert failed to appear for a taping of the Dick Cavett television program Tuesday night and his lawyer accused the Army of trying to muzzle him.
The allegation was called "absurd" by an Army spokesman.
Herbert, whose charges against two former superiors in Vietnam of covering up American atrocities were dropped by the Army, first had been denied leave Monday at Ft. McPherson, Ga., to come to New York for the taping. Then he did not appear for a two-studio interview from Atlanta Tuesday night because of doubt over whether he had official permission to do so, said his lawyer, Charles Morgan of the American Civil Liberties Union.

During an appearance on Cavett's nationwide late-night talk show on ABC-TV Sept. 30, Herbert described alleged killings and brutalities by U.S. soldiers against Vietnamese civilians he said he witnessed in 1969.

Bank Bandit Is Captured

FORT WORTH (AP) — A gunman robbed the State Bank of East Fort Worth Tuesday but an off-duty policeman recovered the money after an exchange of gunfire with the fleeing bandit.

Neither bandit nor policeman was hit. Investigators said an estimated $4,000 was recovered. The man was in custody.

Officer A. R. Armstrong said he had gone into the bank on personal business and did not realize a robbery was underway until tipped off by a bank official.

"I let him (the robber) get all the way outside the door, because I thought he might start shooting, and then I started after him," Armstrong said.

Rufus N. Smith, who was entering the bank as the robber fled, said he joined in the chase after Armstrong came "running out, called 'halt,' and fired" at the pistol-wielding bandit.

"This guy fired back at him and we both started chasing him down the alley," Smith said. "He was shooting at the guard and the guard was shooting back and finally, he turned around and threw the money at us."

Armstrong said the man fired four shots at him before he tripped in the alley and fell.

"He stood up and raised his hands and asked me why I didn't kill him right then," Armstrong said.

"I told him I didn't think that was necessary since I had the money and his gun, so I just took him back to the bank."

$20 Billion Bill Okayed To End Water Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Turning back attempts to dilute its financial impact, the Senate has passed unanimously a $20-billion measure setting 1985 as the goal for ending pollution of the nation's waters.

The bill was sent to the House by an 86-0 vote Tuesday night.

The measure, a product of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's pollution subcommittee, would change federal reliance on complex water quality standards and attack pollution at the source: the polluter.

-NO-DISCHARGE
In addition to the bill's objective of setting a no-discharge, no-pollution standard, there is a $14-billion, four-year federal grant program to aid states in building a network of water-treatment facilities.

With Muskie insisting the federal government can't "fudge" on the investment called for in the bill, the Senate rejected, 58 to 34, an amendment by Sen. Caleb Boggs, R-Del., which would have deleted the contract authority to allocate money before it actually was appropriated.

On a 92-0 roll call, senators tacked to the bill an amendment by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., adding an additional $800 million in loan funds to help small businesses meet the costs of installing the pollution-control equipment required by the bill.

The measure requires the best available technology be installed and used over the 14-year period.

SEWERS TO SEAS
The program is to be administered by the head of the Environmental Protection Agency who is given authority to ban outright the dumping of toxic material into bodies of water.

"Today the rivers of this country serve as little more than sewers to the seas," Muskie said as he outlined the other main provisions of the bill.

—The setting of 1981 as an interim goal in which waters would be adequate for fish, shellfish and wildlife and for recreation.

—A major research-and-demonstration program to find the technology needed to end the discharge of waste.

—Regional waste-management-treatment programs to assure adequate control of all sources of water pollution in each state.

—Permission for citizen suits in federal courts against polluters and the EPA administrator.

—Tough enforcement tools including jail sentences of up to two years and fines of up to $50,000 a day.

—A $2.4-billion section reimbursing states for construction grants promised but never delivered in the past.

Manson Guilty Of Two First Degree Murders

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Manson has been convicted on two more counts of first degree murder while under death sentence for the slaying of actress Sharon Tate and six others.

A jury of eight men and four women, after deliberating more than 43 hours, found Manson guilty Tuesday in the killings of a musician and a movie stuntman.

Manson, 36, who had been banned from the courtroom during most of the trial for disruptive behavior, sat silently and smiled slightly as the court clerk read the verdict.

The prosecution said Gary Hinman and Donald "Sfarty" Shea were slain about a month before the Tate killings in August, 1969.

Prosecutors said Manson ordered Hinman killed because the musician would not turn over his possessions and $20,000 to the nomadic clan Manson led.

The state said Manson later ordered followers to kill Shea because he believed the ranch-informer trying to get the group evicted from its communal residence at a ranch in the San Fernando Valley. Shea's body has never been found.

Triple Slay Leads Fading

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Hunt County Sheriff R. W. "Red" Wood says leads are fast running out, but investigators are still assuming a second person may have been involved in last month's abduction-slayings of three Mesquite residents.

In Wood's jail today remains the first suspect, Everett Clinton Harris of Quinlan. Wood said Harris has refused to make any statements since he was transferred from the Dallas County jail.

"We just haven't made too much progress in the investigation," Wood said. "We're just looking for anything to give us a lead."

Harris was charged in connection with the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Covey and 16-year-old Susan Shaw. The Coveys disappeared from a grocery near Miss Shaw vanished.

Miss Shaw's bullet-riddled body was found in backwater near Lake Ray Hubbard and the bodies of the Coveys were found in a barn belonging to raccoon hunters' club near Quinlan.

Police originally said they were seeking a second man for questioning who they believed still was in the Northeast Texas area.

Bad News For Solons Who Planned Free-Deer Hunts

AUSTIN (AP) — State legislators who planned free deer hunts on state game management areas will have to look elsewhere, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has decided.

"I feel obligated to withdraw the invitation I extended for you to hunt on wildlife management areas," said the latest letter from James U. Cross, executive director of the department.

Cross' letter mailed Tuesday night ended a statewide dispute that erupted after his Oct. 1 letter to the 181 state senators and representatives invited them to hunt free on state maintained game management areas and to bring along as many friends as they liked. The only other hunting allowed on the areas is strictly controlled through a drawing conducted annually by the department.

In San Antonio, Harry Jersig, a member of the six-man Parks and Wildlife Commission, called for the resignation of Cross and George Cook, legislative liaison man for the department. Cook has said he originated the idea of the legislative invitations.

The Tuesday night letter said that although Cross' Oct. 1 letter was "a gesture made solely for the purpose of permitting you to become better acquainted with the programs and facilities which, through your interest and support, we have been able to provide for the citizens of our state, I trust you will understand that this request is in the best interests of the citizens of Texas."

Falls Into Lion Pit

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Sherman Shatwell, 30, fell into the lion pit at Mohawk Zoo and was attacked by a lion, but spectators kept three other lions away with a shower of rocks, zoo officials reported.

"The only thing that saved him was that the lions are so young," said zookeeper Mickey Thulin. He said they range from 18 to 22 months old.

One lion immediately rushed Shatwell and bit him on the neck and back, but spectators began to pelt it and the other three lions with rocks.

Thulin and another zookeeper, Larry Nunley, maneuvered the lions into their cages with brooms and shovels. Shatwell, of Coweta, Okla., then grabbed a broom handle extended to him by the zookeepers and was hoisted out.

Shatwell said he was not hurt, but was treated and then released from a hospital.

Foreign Aid Plan Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee hopes to fashion within a week a revamped foreign aid bill to counter the Nixon administration plan for temporary restoration of the assistance program.

The committee's plan was boosted Tuesday when Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Appropriations Committee, predicted his panel would refuse to go along with a month-long extension but might agree to a shorter continuation, to Dec. 1, if a revised program is on its way.

Earlier Tuesday, Chairman J.W. Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee said he, like Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, opposes an extension resolution. He said he believes his committee can act quickly on a new bill.

about acting on a resolution covering aid and other programs, such as defense and the District of Columbia, for which regular appropriations bills remain unpassed.

DOUBTS VOICED
Ellender, who had conferred earlier with Fulbright, said, however, he opposes including foreign aid with other programs and added he doubts his committee would go along with the House plan.

Hickel's Question

When Walter J. Hickel left Washington with an "arrow in my heart, not a bullet in my back," he also left nagging questions: How can a man get elected in a country our size and remain free? How can he finance his campaign without hopelessly compromising his freedom?

Hickel's views are pertinent to proposals put forth in New York by 60 millionaires who claim to be the source of one-fourth of presidential campaign funds. The group plans to have presidential candidates appear before it to discuss reforms in campaign spending, seniority systems, state and local government structures and other political matters.

If 60 persons have control of a quarter of financial support, Hickel's questions make some startling assumptions quite legitimate. Hickel's views are a part of his new book, "Who Owns America." The ousted Secretary of the Interior felt the pressure of persons close to the power base in the Congress and the Administration. Hickel's frantic moves to stop the Santa Barbara Channel oil leaks were typical: the late Sen.

Everett Dirksen grumbled to Sen. John Tower, "See what the Governor (Hickel) wants?"

Freedom in office — with public responsibility and a proper regard for free enterprise without adroit shakedowns or improper pressure due to campaign contributions — is a serious concern.

Common Cause, John Gardner's group, wants extensive reforms of election spending rules. Bills pending in Congress aim at limits but amendments have thus far crippled real change that would be useful. Democratic candidates likely to be in the primaries have shown interest in limiting their spending to five cents per registered voter in each state for radio and television advertising.

Estimates of available funds for President Nixon's re-election campaign range to $60 million. That would be less than 10 cents per capita (not voters but total population) per year. Hickel proposes a dime per capita to go into a public pool for campaign expenses. He raps hard present dependence upon $100,000 contributions from individual sources. At any rate, 60 millionaires are too few Americans with a personal involvement in any candidacy.

No Intention Of Going

Antiwar protestors failed in their efforts to serve an "eviction notice" on President Nixon at the White House, and deservedly so.

Washington police handled this demonstration well. There was no serious violence and the arrests that were made were on misdemeanor charges. Americans still have the constitutional right to assemble, to protest and to petition. They do not have the right to disrupt a city or march into the White House and try to oust an elected President. Besides, there was absolutely no reason for them to believe Mr. Nixon would accept an eviction notice. He gives every indication of trying to extend his lease.

Needs Straightening

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The China mess needs straightening out — from the standpoint of Red China, the United Nations and the United States, respectively.

Most people may not realize how extensive the tangle really is and will continue to be puzzled unless some sensible action is taken. In the first place, the 58 or more nations which recognize Taiwan and maintain diplomatic relations with that country may not be aware of the fact that the government at Taipei has been insisting also that it has a just claim over Mainland China. Now that the United Nations has admitted the latter, such a claim has, in effect, become merely political.

It is true that all the governments which have diplomatic relations with the government of Taiwan may confine their recognition only to the island, but the latter is no longer a member of the U.N. so some re-examination of the exact status of Taiwan becomes necessary by all countries, including the United States.

There is no reason why ambassadors cannot continue to be exchanged between Taipei and Washington and between other governments and that of Taiwan, but, so far as the United Nations is concerned, it has formally recognized Peking as the government of China. Some countries, of course, may seek to maintain embassies in both Peking and Taipei. For all practical purposes, Taiwan has been separated from the mainland of China, and the United States does not regard the island as a part of Mainland China but as an independent entity. The fact that an attempt was made by the United States to secure the seat of Taiwan as a member of the general assembly gives weight to the argument that this country will continue to consider Taiwan an independent government. Incidentally, the United States helped to defend Taiwan against possible invasion by forces from Mainland China in 1955. Also, military bases are located on Taiwan which are useful to the United States forces in the Far East.

Most countries may eventually decide, as will the Washington government, to send diplomatic representatives to Peking as well as Taipei. Presumably an effort will be made to bring about the admission of Taiwan as an independent member of the U.N. General Assembly without any reference to Mainland China. It may take some time for the 58 or more countries concerned to straighten out their diplomatic relations and give Taiwan the full recognition which it deserves as a separate unit.

Naturally the Taiwan delegates to the U.N. tried hard to discourage votes for Peking. Now that the mainland government has been admitted, however, the situation has been clarified — Peking is a member, and Taiwan is eligible for a membership in the general assembly.

Some of the votes in the U.N. against the position of this country were, of course, puzzling — as, for instance, that of Israel. It is assumed that Israel was anxious to avoid giving Red China an excuse for furnishing aid to Egypt and other Arab countries. But the basic fact remains that the United States might well have postponed the U.N. vote for several days until it was assured of victory or at least was given more time for maneuvering. The impression made by the defeat was unfortunate, and certainly the entire procedure was not handled with the care usually characteristic of moves of the United States inside the United Nations.

While the results of the voting were disappointing to the U.S. Congress and some members look advantage of the occasion to argue for a suspension of all foreign aid, it is not likely that any such drastic policy will be pursued.

North Ox Gored

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — When the Supreme Court last week refused to review a federal court order for school busing in Pontiac, Mich., cynics of my ilk managed a hollow laugh. Hollow, because we've been saying for years that Northern liberal advocates of school desegregation would have second thoughts when their own ox was gored.

INDEED, the situation in Michigan has produced:

1. A bill proposed by Michigan Sen. Robert P. Griffin, a white Republican, asking a constitutional amendment that would bar all busing on racial grounds. Griffin has a past record as a civil rights champion.

2. A bill co-sponsored by seven members of Michigan's House delegation, two Republicans and five Democrats, all white, that would delay the effective date of court busing orders until all appeals had been exhausted.

THAT IS not all, my friends. One of the co-sponsors of the House bill is Rep. James G. O'Hara, an ultra-liberal who formerly chaired the ultra-liberal Democratic Study Group. Rep. O'Hara has been telling protesting constituents in a form letter that "I am prepared to do whatever is necessary by way of further legislation or a constitutional amendment to prevent . . . cross-district busing." Like Griffin and Michigan's other House members, Rep. O'Hara is up for re-election next year.

None of this group, to my knowledge, raised so much as a quizzical eyebrow last April when the Supreme Court upheld widespread busing in three Southern cases. I suppose they needed time to think.

THAT TIME was granted them when Pontiac reacted to the busing order with massive and sometimes violent protests. Last August, 10 of Pontiac's school buses were dynamited. There was a boycott of the public schools by white parents that kept 32 per cent of the city's children at home. Detroit suburbanites are up in arms as a result of a court order giving the state 120 days to come up with a plan to integrate the city's predominantly black schools with white schools in the suburbs.

ACTUALLY, last week's Supreme Court decision sidestepped a ruling on the issue of busing to achieve racial balance in Northern schools. It merely left lower court judges free to order busing in other cases in the North. In fact, the highest bench has not heard an appeal from the North since it declared school segregation unconstitutional in 1954, for the simple reason that until Pontiac the Northern ox was ungored.

THIS SITUATION could change drastically, although not before a Denver case comes before the Court later this month. The change could come in later cases if the Senate, as expected, confirms Lewis F. Powell of Virginia and Assistant Atty. Gen. William H. Rehnquist to the bench. As conservatives and strict constructionists, Powell and Rehnquist almost surely would provide the votes needed to hear busing appeals.

Secret Of Cash Flow

John Cunniff

By LINDA RUBEY (Substituting for John Cunniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — First National City Bank suggests families who have trouble making ends meet use the "cash flow" accounting procedure practiced by America's biggest corporations.

Basically, the cash flow technique matches cash outgo against income, indicating how much money the family needs and how much spending it must postpone to keep expenditures under control and achieve long-term financial goals.

"The secret of cash flow is that it doesn't try just to match the cash you have today with the expenses you have today," the New York bank explains. "Rather it tries to anticipate your expenses for the whole year and compare them with the money you'll have coming in for the whole year."

The bank suggests the use of five different work sheets.

The first is a list of the types of income a family has coming in. The second records a family's fixed expenses, over a year, which the bank suggests can be obtained by going through past checkbook stubs, receipts, income tax returns and other records that might help the family remember what its unavoidable expenses were last year.

The third sheet tells the family how much discretionary income they have for variable expenses or what they have left after they have subtracted fixed expenses from income.

On the fourth worksheet the bank suggests families record how they want to spend this discretionary income for things such as vacations, clothing, entertainment and medical expenses. On the fifth worksheet, variable expenses are subtracted from discretionary income.

Obviously, the bank points out, if the discretionary income is greater the family has no budgetary problems. But if variable expenses are greater, cuts are needed.

The system allows families to make sure money is available to cover unexpected emergencies and some of the extras of life, the bank says.

"And more importantly by analyzing your cash flow, you can uncover areas of expense that might be cut to help you make ends meet today and increase your savings for the future," it continues.

The bank says that one mistake many families make when budgeting is to try to reduce family entertainment and personal allowances to such a low level that no one sticks to them or that all the fun is taken out of everyday life.

A reasonable amount of pocket money for personal treats will help prevent the family from feeling they deserve those extravagant splurges that can topple the most carefully thought-out expense plan," it says.

The bank warns that because all budgets are a family affair each person should understand the problem and feel responsible for his share in holding down expenses.

And cash flow estimates should never be so rigid they can't accommodate changes in plans by the family or emergencies.

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

After the power of the atom bomb was so dramatically and tragically demonstrated, thoughtful people began to speculate that here was the power of the future. Indeed, today we have nuclear reactor plants which are using heat created from splitting the atom to turn electric generators.

BUT WITHIN a few years of the detonation of the atomic bomb, this device was used to generate the heat that triggered the hydrogen bomb which used an opposite principle — instead of splitting atoms to release energy, atoms were fused or literally mashed together to release vastly more energy. This was, according to the theorists, the source of energy for the sun.

Not long after this, investor-owned power companies began to look to atomic power as the ultimate source of energy. The conventional fission (splitting) process created many objections. For one thing, people were afraid it might run wild and produce some sort of cataclysmic explosion that would kill and contaminate vast areas — perhaps a good part of the nation. While this seems minuscule in potentiality, the objections of a yield of contaminated by-products is a valid concern. What do you do with the radioactive wastes from an atomic power plant?

ASSUMING THE former two questions can be answered, there remains the matter of obtaining and processing sufficient uranium to serve as the base stock. Someday that might get to be a problem. Finally, for all the advantages of the fuel, atomic power by the fission process simply becomes a new source of heat for generation of electricity.

SO POWER companies turned to the fusion angle, because the base stock is deuterium tritium (heavy hydrogen) obtained from water. The idea was to fuse the nuclei of these light atoms and release energy in such a manner that it might lend itself to production of electricity. Scientists said that it could be done. They laid out about nine primary steps on the journey toward fusion power.

THEY HAVE demonstrated that fusion can be achieved and are somewhere around step No. 6 on the ladder to success. Monday I was privileged to be at the dedication of the Tokamak project at the University of Texas. This is a device pioneered and named by the Russians (the name doesn't mean anything) to create such a tremendous magnetic field that plasma (super-heated gases) could be contained long enough within a certain space for fusion to take place. By a process known as turbulent heating, the plasma reaches 100 million degrees, so obviously nothing material could contain such temperatures. The electric field becomes the "thermos" bottle in which plasma is held while the deuterium atoms collide at such tremendous speeds that they will fuse.

RESEARCHERS SELDOM say any more "if we can do it," but rather "when we do it." The Tokamak research team at UT says it is determined its unit will do it first. Dr. Edward E. David, President Nixon's scientific advisor, says that this will be a discovery of the magnitude of discovery of the wheel. Here will be a source of unlimited power (a swimming pool filled with water contains enough deuterium and tritium to power Houston for a year.

Well, here would be a limitless supply of fuel which produces no combustion products to be released into the air; no radioactive waste products; no possibility of a runaway nuclear accident; a vastly more efficient source of water with much less heat waste.

Power Chess

E. Forrest Copeland

Most people assumed . . . the Two China Policy . . . referred to both ends of the ping pong table. Not so. About twenty years . . . and many administrations ago . . . the island of Taiwan was seated in the United Nations as Nationalist China . . . representing all China. Facing reality . . . this would be a bit like seating Cuba . . . and saying it represented the United States.

Second guessing . . . the Nixon administration recognized this as an untenable position . . . moved Taiwan boldly forward as a pawn . . . but hedged with the Red China gambit to relieve pressure on Europe. This involved recognizing that Russia is afraid of China. Will not risk enemies on both borders. And if you'll look closely . . . you'll begin to realize the great Russian jthaw started . . . about the time the U.S. began courting Red China. Improvement in the SALT talks . . . easier access to Berlin . . . relaxation of restrictions between East and West Germany . . . and a new friendly Russian hand . . . out to the entire free world.

THERE WAS A second benefit area to be derived from our seeming defeat in the United Nations. Congress and the public would now support . . . cuts in our financial contributions to the UN . . . requiring other nations to come with their share. Even more important . . . we now have excuse to untangle ourselves from the messy spaghetti of thirty years of involvement in free handouts in foreign aid . . . that bought us no friendship . . . and very little loyalty . . . in dozens of countries. All of which is a very important factor in redressing our unfavorable balance of payments.

IN SHORT . . . in my opinion . . . nothing was lost that would not have been lost sooner or later anyhow. A great deal was gained in permitting us to pull in our horns and regroup or commitments. I would suspect the Administration had fully weighed the consequences of the Red China Gambit . . . is cocked and primed to make the next moves.

The squirrels are all gathering nuts for winter . . . leaving very few on the ground for seed. Never saw so many segments of the investment community . . . raising cash. Take the consumer . . . he's still spending . . . but percentage-wise he's saving a great deal more. Then there's the institutions . . . net sellers on balance as distribution continues. As for corporations . . . they're still marketing big chunks of long term bonds . . . paying off short term bank loans . . . and tucking the extra cash in the corporate coffers.

THE BIG QUESTION has to be . . . what will it take to bring all this cash . . . back into the stock market? The answer . . . to me . . . is simple. Remove a majority of the uncertainties overhanging the market today. There is a serious lack of confidence . . . not in America or the present administration . . . but in world conditions as a whole. If things do not improve soon however . . . there's not much doubt where the blame will be placed . . . come election time next year.

Billy Graham

My Answer

I am sick and tired of the sex kick we have here. Isn't the sex bit being overdone in our society?

T.K.
Definitely!
A program on TV the other night majored on sexual pleasure, but any rational person knows that that is not the only pleasure open to mankind.

True, sex is important, and it is God-given, but when we make it the "only pleasure", and make it the central drive of our life, we are little different than the miserable person who lives to eat.

There are many pleasures open to us, if it is pleasure we are interested in. For example, it is fun to play with one's children; fun to enjoy a good game of golf; fun to go to a ball game; fun to visit with one's neighbors; fun to go fishing, fun to water ski, and pleasurable to do a thousand things. But it seems that when we Americans think of pleasure, we think of sex, legitimate or illegitimate. Either we are on a "binge", which, happily, it is hoped we will get over, or we are terribly immature — more immature than most of our sociologists have thought. We ought to grow up! True pleasure is found only in knowing God. Psalm 16:11.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Let all your things be done with charity. (I Corinthians 16:14)
PRAYER: Father, help us to love with Thy love. So may we, in our thoughts and deeds, glorify Thee and Thee only. We ask in the spirit of Jesus, who taught us to pray: "Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory forever. Amen."

Club Views 'Foreigners'

"If we are going to live successfully in our world, we must live in all of it, not only in one corner the size of Texas," said Mrs. Herman Shifflett to Texas Delta Delta Chapter, Phi Sigma Alpha Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. R. L. Nall, 1305 Scurry.

"I hate Foreigners!" was the title of Mrs. Shifflett's talk, and she asked members how they would like to be walking down the street of another country and hear someone say to a companion, "I hate foreigners."

"To everyone except your own countrymen you are what is described, usually disparagingly, as a foreigner," continued Mrs. Shifflett, "but the larger viewpoint is the one to strive for. One's country, wherever it is, is only part of the world as a whole, and we cannot be successful world citizens unless we see it as such. Our own ways and customs are only important because they are ours. To thousands of people all over the globe, they may seem inescapably foreign."

Communities Across State Mark 'Texas Nurse Week'

In 1957, a very appreciative gentleman, Mr. James H. Baskin of Lamkin, Tex., wrote to Gov. Price Daniels: "Being deeply indebted to nurses for their tender care and kindness, I became aware of their tremendous daily contribution to our country. Their services are surpassed only by their patriotic and unselfish sacrifices in time of war."

"I began January, 1955 trying to get a time set aside each year to be observed in recognition of their vital services. As a result of these efforts on June 2, 1955, a joint resolution was introduced in Congress a copy of which please find enclosed. However, it like many other resolutions died with the adjournment of the last session of Congress. In view of the above facts may I very respectfully on behalf of the vital nursing profession request you issue a proclamation setting aside the second week of October, 1957 and each year thereafter as a week for nurses."

"By granting this request I will attract more young people to enter the profession and inspire nurses to seek greater achievement, and your consideration of them will merit your undying love."

"I will be very grateful for your consideration of the above. May God bless you and yours and guide you in the affairs of our great state in my prayer."

The legislation passed in 1957 designated Texas Nurse Week for that year. It was not until February 9, 1959 that the Texas Legislature passed a resolution introduced by Senator Martin a n d Representative Suderth establishing Texas Nurse Week as an observance to be proclaimed annually by the Governor of Texas. This legislative feat is largely due to the perseverance of Mr. Baskin and his devotion to the nursing profession.

Often the typically American custom of observing a "week" to honor something is met with a shrug — but just as often it causes the public to stop for a moment and think of the reason for a particular observance — the subject being honored.

The profession of nursing is one of the subjects that stimulates this thinking. By the act of the state legislature, and the governor's proclamation, this week, Nov. 1-6, is being celebrated as Texas Nurse Week.

In Big Spring, Mrs. John H. Payne Jr., president of District 24, Texas Nurses Association, said there will be no formal event to mark the occasion, however, there will be a luncheon for nurses Friday at Big Spring State Hospital.

The TNA notes, "We tend to consider nurses as one element of essential community services, and we are made fully aware of their value in those instances when we have difficulty finding one."

There has often been a shortage of nurses, and spokesmen for the nursing profession have repeatedly pointed out the priority of recruiting young persons into the profession. The fact that the nurse is an indispensable member of the team to which the public looks for protection from illness, as well as service during sick-ness, is well known. A great deal is expected from nurses, and modern medicine requires great skill from its nursing practitioners — skill in specific medical routines as well as in psychology, nutrition and physical care for the patient's comfort.

"The value of the kind of devoted care that a good nurse gives to her patient, her kindness and thoughtfulness, her gentleness and sympathetic attention," said a TNA spokesman, "challenges real appreciation. During this special week, many communities will be exploring nursing care in their areas, noting contributions that have been made to health and welfare and exploring new methods of supplying new recruits to the profession."

Uninvited Guest

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The first day of school, Paula, my 7 year old, brought a classmate home from school. (I'll call her "Debbie.") Debbie asked if she could stay here until her mother got home from work at 6 p.m. "he said her mother had told her to either play outside or go to a friend's house as the house would be locked. I said it would be all right, then I fixed snacks for Paula and her little guest. Well, the "little guest" has been coming home with Paula every afternoon, and she stays here until she hears her mother's horn outside. I wonder what would happen if I had to take Paula somewhere after school and couldn't take Debbie? Or if the girls had a fuss, as children sometimes do? Also, it will soon be dark before 6 p.m., and Debbie can't stay outside alone. Abby, I resent being saddled with the responsibility of looking after someone else's child without even having been asked. What do you suggest I do? I have never even met the woman. TRAPPED: Introduce yourself. (Telephone, to avoid an embarrassment to Debbie.) Tell Mamma you don't mind having Debbie occasionally, and even frequently, but she shouldn't assume that you will look after the child daily, so she had better make some other provisions for Debbie's care. DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for eight years. I have never had any reason to distrust him, but lately I have been getting a number of strange phone calls, all women, asking for my husband. They always call when he is at work. Today a woman called up, and when I said hello all she said was: "Your husband wants a divorce." Then she hung up. I suppose it could be somebody just playing a joke on me, but I can't be sure.

PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: Don't pay any attention to anonymous phone calls. And if they get too bothersome, tell your husband that you've been annoyed with some crank phone calls and you'd like to have your number changed. Or "unlisted."

Utes Had Idol

MANITOU SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The Ute Indians, who once used this area as a place to rest and heal their sick, called it Manitou, "Great Spirit," because they believed He resided in the bubbling mineral springs. The Utes pledged never to make warfare until they were a long distance away from the sacred waters, and early settlers found thousands of beaded trinkets in the waters, tossed there by the Indians as offerings to Manitou.

About Strokes

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In a person about 67 years old:
1 — Can a stroke come on gradually, with just mild confusion in thought patterns, and finally develop into an almost total speech loss and partial paralysis of the right side, all within about a month and a half, resulting in death?
2 — Is a stroke a blood clot of the brain, and how can you tell where it is?
3 — What are the usual tests or treatment given to a stroke patient in the hospital?
4 — Is it hard to diagnose a stroke? — Mrs. F.A.S.

Answers:
1 — Yes, the onset of a stroke can be insidious, until some blood vessel in or leading to the brain becomes totally occluded. It can happen — but that doesn't mean that mild mental confusion will necessarily lead to the disastrous pattern you have described.
2 — A stroke is not always a clot. Hardening of the arteries can bring progressing narrowing of an artery or arteries, thus interfering with circulation. A clot may lodge at a narrowed point — or it may not. Cerebral hemorrhage, a leading or rupture of a blood vessel in the brain, also can cause a stroke, but in that case it comes on suddenly.
3 — Various tests may be used, according to need, but the commonest are neurological examination to determine loss of function — the location of paralysis is a valuable guide to the part of the brain that is affected: spinal puncture to determine if there is bleeding; electroencephalogram ("Brain wave test"); carotid arteriogram (an X-ray procedure to localize obstruction of an important artery in the neck).
4 — Ordinarily it is not difficult to diagnose a stroke.

The patient's medical history, mode of onset, and the findings, both physical and in laboratory tests, all point the way. Very slight strokes are the hardest to recognize. In severe ones, there is usually little doubt even without laboratory findings.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the danger of using shoe polish on the skin? I have a friend who is using it to cover the bald spot on his head. — E.H.

You're not kidding, are you? Writing this column, though, I run into so many curious things that I'm convinced that anything can happen, and probably has.

Yes, I think shoe polish could be dangerous. It contains various acids, terpenes, and dyes. Some of these are oil-soluble, meaning they could be dissolved by the oily secretions of the scalp.

I wouldn't want to predict just what type of scalp irritation could develop, but I'll be surprised if your friend doesn't have something worse than a bald spot if he continues this.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In regard to glaucoma, I have been told that drinking more than 48 ounces of fluid a day is bad — that is, water, juices, beer, etc. Is this so? If so, why? — B.D.

It can be harmful. Essentially glaucoma involves excessive pressure inside the eyeball. Too much fluid in the body tissues can contribute to this. In fact, a water loading test (having the patient drink considerable water before testing eyeball pressure) is used at times in testing for glaucoma.

Since eye pressure tends to rise late in the day, one should be careful not to take excess fluids after the evening meal.

GENERAL TENDENCIES. Conditions are eased today, especially in the afternoon and evening. But you must be careful you do not suddenly make some drastic changes for you need to think them out carefully in the morning and look at every standpoint that could possibly be considered. However, you are more logical.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) If you sit down with partners and see just where you are headed, you can meet the proper plans for advancement. Make notes of decisions you have reached, or they might elude you later on.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Study your financial position well so that you will know exactly how to proceed in the days ahead, and insure yourself greater abundance. Listen to what clever advisor has to suggest. Take it easy tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan your personal life more wisely and intelligently and get good suggestions from one person, forget disappointments of the past and concentrate on happiness in the near future. Put love in your heart!

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan meticulously how to gain your finest aims and then do something to assist one who is in real trouble. Follow your intuitions, which are most accurate right now. Think logically.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Listen to what an intelligent associate has to suggest where a most important personal wish is concerned. If of any group meetings, do not talk too much, or you could get into much trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) By showing others you are a fine citizen, your corner can take a turn for the better now. Get bills paid. Show you have exceptional ability at your particular work. Arrive on time for appointments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Seek out all that data you need in order to make some new project you are working on more successful. Listen to ideas of a new associate but check over for truth and accuracy. Don't be greedy; home is best.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have been neglecting certain tasks that should now be given your full and undivided attention. Show that you are a clever thinker; enjoy visualization tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Serious talks with partners show how to improve all of your mutual projects so that more success is soon possible. Teaching a new agreement brings in wealth almost immediately.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get right of that work ahead of you and be very careful of important details. Plan later how to improve your work.

Most 'Freeze' Grips On Gas

DALLAS — The Office of Emergency Preparedness has reported that the largest number of complaints alleging price violations of the wage-price freeze have been about the retail price of gasoline.

George A. Lincoln, director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, said more than 1,000 complaints about gas prices have been logged out of a total of 12,000 complaints.

The Internal Revenue Service, which receives and investigates the complaints, has reported that nearly 600 or 60 percent of the investigations conducted on the complaints were closed when no violation was found to exist.

There are still 260 cases involving retail gasoline prices under investigation.

George E. Hastings, OEP regional director for five Southwestern states, indicated that 143 complaints alleging violations by gasoline retailers were received in his region as of Sept. 23. No violations were found to exist in 83 of the complaints following an IRS investigation, and voluntary compliance was gained in another 20. The Internal Revenue Service still is investigating 40 complaints.

Sex Films 'Unfolding' Fuss At SMU

DALLAS (AP) — A theological course at Southern Methodist University which shows sex films will be "routinely" re-evaluated at the end of the year, the course instructor says. The two films, "Unfolding" and "Vir Amat" which show heterosexual and homosexual acts of intercourse, have been labeled as pornography by two United Methodist ministers.

The films are shown in a required course for budding pastors. "The staff will re-evaluate the 1-week section of the course dealing with sex on the basis of effectiveness, not on the basis of the controversy now raging," course instructor Dr. Harville Hendrix said.

He said the point of showing the films, which were optional for the class, was to "desensitize" the future clergymen to sexual phenomena. The Rev. Edward C. Blythe and the Rev. Gordon Casad protested the films to Dr. Joseph D. Quillian Jr., dean of the Perkins School of Theology at SMU. Hendrix said that 90 percent of those who viewed the film appreciated it for broadening their understanding of human sexuality.

The course, Hendrix said, changes from year to year to examine contemporary topics. Next year the section on sex might be expanded or deleted from the curriculum, as the staff judges its importance.

The Rev. Mr. Blythe, pastor of the Lake Highlands United Methodist Church said he and the Rev. Mr. Casad, superintendent of the Dallas-McKinney United Methodist District took their protest to Quillian personally after receiving "three highly charged negative reactions" to the films. "I have no objections to the stated intent and purpose of the course as outlined in the curriculum," Mr. Blythe said. "My questions have to do with the value and purpose of raw pornography in equipping men and women to minister with any greater effectiveness to their people."

ALREADY BOOKED UP Auto-Train Service Starts Next Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Railroad passengers will be able to take their cars with them for the first time when auto-train service starts next month between the Washington area and central Florida.

Already the special 25-car trains are virtually booked up into the new year. Starting Dec. 6, they will run once daily each way between Alexandria, Va., and Sanford, Fla.

Thirteen cars on each train will carry automobiles only. The others will be split level passenger cars. The trains will not carry freight, and passengers will be asked to leave all luggages, except overnight bags, in their cars.

Richard Goldstein, 27-year-old director of marketing for private Auto-Train Corp., said "Auto-trains have been very popular in Europe, but this is the first test of the idea in this country."

Auto-Train Corp. thinks it can make money on passenger service when most U.S. railroads have turned their passenger trains over to Amtrak, the quasi-public National Railroad Passenger Corp. set up May 1.

"It's not that the railroads are dying," Goldstein said. "It's a matter of making trains more attractive, more suited to modern trends-providing rail service that is attractive and utilitarian."

Why Sanford rather than Miami? "Sanford's in the middle of the state, providing easy access by automobile to every part of Florida."

What about New York rather than Washington, as the northern terminal? "We are introducing bi-level equipment on the East Coast, and certain obstructions make it impossible to bring the kind of equipment we want into New York. Washington is a major attraction in itself. Eventually, the system may be extended to many other cities."

Low bidders were a group of 50 investors whose joint managers are Harris Trust and Savings, First National Bank of Dallas, Bankers Trust Co., Northern Trust Co., Chase Manhattan Bank and Continental Illinois Bank and Trust.

"I am pleased that the board was able to sell these bonds below the constitutional ceiling on interest rates since the market was very questionable last week," said Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong.

Help Ex-GIs Buy Land

AUSTIN (AP) — The veterans Land Board has sold $20.8 million in bonds to help ex-GIs buy land.

The bonds were sold for an effective net interest rate of 4.4943 per cent — just below the constitutional limit of 4.5 per cent.

'They Expect More Of Us'

LONDON (AP) — Billy Graham says that the young generation, for all its sex permissiveness, drug-taking and rebellion, is showing signs of wanting a change.

"The revolt of our youth today is not against the older generation as such, but against the lack of integrity and sincerity in their elders," the American evangelist told a meeting of British businessmen Tuesday.

"They have watched our obsession with materialism and pleasure, they are letting us know in a hundred different ways that they expect more of us," he added.

Maintain Mandatory Celibacy For Priests

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The World Synod of Bishops has voted overwhelmingly to retain the prohibition against marriage for priests in the Latin rite of the Roman Catholic Church, the Vatican announced today.

A simultaneous announcement revealed that bishops from around the world have soundly defeated a proposed "fundamental law" or constitution for the Roman Catholic Church.

The document, drawn up largely by Vatican conservatives, had been criticized as an attempt to confirm the authority of Pope Paul VI over his bishops. It was defeated in a mail poll by 422 "no" votes and 798 "with reservation" votes, against 61 "yes" votes.

The vote to retain the Latin rite's celibacy rule was 168 to 10, with 3 abstentions and 21 proposed amendments.

It was one of 19 votes the synod took on a document of priestly celibacy Tuesday whose results were announced today. Seven of the 209 synod delegates were absent from the voting session.

The vote was 168 to 10. There were three abstentions and 21 proposed amendments. It was one of 19 votes the synod took on a document of priestly celibacy Tuesday. Seven of the 209 synod members did not attend Tuesday's session.

The vote came as a great boost for Pope Paul's stand that celibacy is an essential part of tradition in the Church. The vote did not affect the different situation in the Eastern branch of Roman Catholicism, where priests are given an option between marriage and celibacy before ordination.

Only a minority of Roman Catholics belong to the Eastern church.

The synod's vote upheld this proposition: "The law of celibacy shall be maintained in its entirety in the Latin Church."

The synod, however, failed to come up with the required majority to pass two other propositions on celibacy. One of them would have specifically ruled out the ordination of married men but would have the Pope grant exceptions in some cases.

The other one made recommendations to priests about the best ways to be faithful to their celibacy pledge. Implicitly, it also barred reordination to those who have left the priesthood to marry.

Still More Cruel Tricks

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Police reported still more cruel tricks on trick-or-treaters over the Halloween weekend.

Officers said they had two belated reports of razor blades found in candy given to children and another about "strange substances" in chewing gum.

Police earlier reported two instances of razor blades planted in fruit. A woman caller said a needle was found in a piece of gum.

A boy, 14, told police that he and a friend returned from their rounds to find dog biscuits in their treat bags.

State Welfare Rules Tested By Two Women

AUSTIN (AP) — State welfare requirements on permanent and total disability have been challenged by two Austin women.

Earline Center, 42, a divorcee, and Antonia Rodriguez, 63, a widow, filed suit in U.S. District court Oct. 22.

The suit asks for a three-judge federal court to determine the constitutionality of a state law that a welfare applicant must require the presence or services of another person in performing the usual activities of daily living to qualify for aid to the permanently and totally disabled.

No consideration is given to their ability to engage in gainful employment, the plaintiffs say.

They contend this provision violates the due process clause in the 14th Amendment and also is contrary to federal Social Security law.

The state may not impose restrictions more stringent than the Social Security law, under which much of the welfare money is made available to men but would have the Pope state welfare recipients, they grant exceptions in some cases.

Attached to the two women's petitions are summaries of hearings held by the Welfare Department prior to the rejection of the plaintiffs' applications for welfare.

Unemployment In Texas Dips

AUSTIN (AP) — With students quitting jobs to go back to school, unemployment in Texas declined from 4.4 per cent of the labor force in August to 4.1 per cent in September, the Texas Employment Commission said Tuesday.

Unemployment in September was still higher than the 3.8 per cent figure of September, 1970, the commission said.

The commission also said the labor force in September was only 20,000 higher than it was in September, 1970, "the smallest year-to-year advance chalked up in any September since 1961."

"Wage and salary employment, bolstered by the addition of 17,100 jobs since mid-August, topped all previous months this year," the report said. There were 3,000 more factory jobs in September than in August, but this was still 27,000 short of the September 1970 total.

State-endowed schools which say they will bravely carry on, in the face of mounting athletic deficits, make me laugh. It's the parochial schools which are in trouble, with no one to turn to for money.

If the Texas Aggies can beat Arkansas and Oregon can fan out Washington, anything is possible with Big Spring in its final two games.

The Steers can beat both Odessa High and San Angelo with stellar efforts. Football is still a game of emotion.

Little things you hear at the listening post: One of the state's most successful AAA schools would have to compete as a AAAA team, if it did not send its undesirable students to a nearby school.

Since he arrived at Odessa Ector four years ago, following a tenure at Odessa Blackshear Junior High, Forsan's Albert Oglesby has coached the Eagle basketball team to 64 wins, compared to 31 defeats.

Two years of that time, Ector was in Class AAAA, during which time it more than held its own.

Darrell Mitchell, 6-6, and the 6-3 Joe Davis are the first team all-conference players back with Ector. Also returning is 5-9 Jess Watkins, a second team all-district performer.

Larry Csonka, the Miami Dolphins' human tank, has a nose which has been broken nine times.

Several newspaper editors gathered at Philadelphia's Veteran Stadium recently and were soaked $12 for a meal of spaghetti and meat balls, during which time they could look down and watch the Eagles work out.

When some parsimonious gentleman complained about the nudge, a Philadelphia club official shot back: "It would have cost $15 if you hadn't agreed to watch the Eagles."

Red Hosses To Field Big Team Here Friday Night

Next to Permian, Odessa High will have been the biggest football team this year — last year the Red Hosses didn't win a game.

The Broncos perhaps, the biggest surprise in District 5 AAA, have a mobile line that is tough to run against and an attack built around hard-running Dennis Smith.

Of the 144 yards the Broncos picked up on the ground last week in a winning effort against Midland High, Smith gained 98 of them.

Odessa has sizable tackles in Vaughn Maddox, who goes 220; and the 190-pound Corky Stanley, a tight end named Leland Casey who goes 200, and a 195-pound center named Larry Richardson.

Coach Dick Winder has done wonders with his material at Odessa, after moving in from New Mexico. The team is

Search Tiny Freighter Believed Carrying Arms

DUBLIN (AP) — Two Irish navy minesweepers stopped and searched a tiny freighter today suspected of running guns for the Irish Republican Army, but the searchers found no arms.

In Northern Ireland, British troops rounded up 24 more persons suspected of being IRA guerrillas after gunmen blew up a tavern and a clothing store in Belfast Tuesday. The blasts killed two persons and injured 36, the biggest casualty toll from one guerrilla operation in the two years of communal warfare in the North.

A large shipment of arms believed destined for the IRA guerrillas in Northern Ireland was seized Oct. 16 at the Amsterdam airport. Three days later the Queen Elizabeth 2 landed six suitcases from New York that were found to contain arms.

The explosions in Belfast Tuesday afternoon raised the death toll to 148 in the Protestant-Catholic warfare in Northern Ireland.

Couple Guilty Of Bank Caper

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston couple has pleaded guilty to taking part in the March 25 robbery of the suburban Deer Park bank.

Charles A. Aldrich, 44, a Houston bricklayer, pleaded guilty to robbery by force, and his wife, Annie, pleaded guilty to having stolen bank money. Some $2,415 was taken in the robbery.

A third person, Norman Paul Chapman, 35, pleaded guilty earlier and was assessed a 20-year prison term.

NO QUESTION

The two minesweepers intercepted the 400-ton Kilcrea in rough seas off the coast of Cork. The Defense Department said a more extensive search would be made when the ship docked at Kilrush.

The Kilcrea took on grain in Belgium three weeks ago, and police sources said Interpol, the international police organization, had warned she might also have a consignment of weapons aboard. But Michael Horgan, whose Avoca Shipping Services owns the Kilcrea, said: "I can say categorically there is no question of us carrying arms."

Skyscrapers Lid Defeated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A bitterly fought campaign to preserve San Francisco's skyline from an onslaught of new skyscrapers ended in defeat Tuesday.

By a nearly 2-1 margin, voters rejected dress manufacturer Alvin Duskin's initiative to clamp a six-story limit on all new building construction.

The campaign pitted Duskin and conservationists against the Chamber of Commerce, real estate interests, banks, major corporations, labor unions and a formidable list of city officials headed by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

Duskin said a rash of high-rise buildings was destroying the character and quality of life in San Francisco—and that pretty soon tourists wouldn't find anything different about the city. It would look "stiff and forbidding like any other American city."

KIN OF DALLAS POKE CHARGED

CANYON, Tex. (AP) — Franklin Thomas, 26, a brother of Dallas Cowboy football running back Duane Thomas, was charged Tuesday with possession of narcotics, Justice of Peace Bill Wilson said.

Wilson set bond for the West Texas State University student at $2,000 when he was arraigned Tuesday morning.

'Kill Contract' On Rep. Gonzalez

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A report of a "contract" for the life of U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez is being investigated by the FBI and San Antonio police, the police reported Tuesday.

"We have not been able to verify if it is fact or rumor," Hutton said.

"I find this hard to believe," Gonzalez said.

"For the congressman's information, a reliable FBI source has advised that he has obtained information regarding a possible 'contract' to kill the congressman, presumably because of his exposes in the Texas stock scandals."

Inspector Jack Hutton, head of the police department's investigative division, said local police officials were alerted by the FBI in Washington late last week.

Gonzalez has made many House speeches on the scandals.

Constitutionality Of Remap Tested

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—A federal suit filed Tuesday by State Sen. Oscar Mauzy means all three adopted reapportionment plans for Texas elected officials are now under court challenge.

Mauzy, of Dallas, filed a suit in the U.S. District Court of Judge William Justice which attacks the constitutionality of the reapportionment of the Texas House of Representatives by the five-member Legislative Redistricting Board.

The suit charges that the board's work in many instances "operates to minimize or cancel the voting strength of racial or political elements," especially in multimember districts such as Dallas and other counties.

GROVES, Tex. (AP) — The City Council was to set a date today for a runoff election for Alan Romero and Carlton Davidson after Tuesday's voting which saw Councilman Leroy Mahaney re-elected in another race.

Romero polled 516 votes while Davidson had 398, but totals for two other candidates forced a runoff.

Of 8,161 eligible voters, 1,364 voted.

High Pressure Ridge Builds

By The Associated Press

Cooler drier air moved into Texas early today as a high pressure ridge began building across Texas to bring clear skies in the next few days.

There was a brief shower in the Austin area and a band of partly cloudy skies followed the leading edge of the dry air across the southern portions of the state during the night.

Elsewhere it was clear. Temperatures before daylight ranged from the 30s over the Panhandle to the low 70s over the Coastal Plains.

The National Weather Service said skies would clear early today across southern parts of Texas and fair weather with cooler temperatures was predicted, along with rather gusty northerly winds across the eastern half of the state.

Jury Selection In Kincaid Trial

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Jury selection entered its third day today in the trial of John Russell Kincaid, 22, of Fort Stockton, a former Texas Christian University student.

Thirty-one prospective jurors had been questioned by late Tuesday. At least 32 must be questioned to give both the state and defense 10 challenges each.

Kincaid is charged in the Jan. 21, 1970, shooting deaths of his mother, Ann Russell Kincaid, 38, and his stepfather, Bert Kincaid Jr., 51.

Connally Speaks On Foreign Aid

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said today that termination of U.S. foreign aid would be disastrous to American efforts in Southeast Asia.

"All that we have done since World War II, particularly all we've done for the last 10 years, would substantially go down the drain," he told a breakfast meeting of the American Chamber of Commerce in Bangkok.

Connally assured the group the Nixon administration would "do everything we humanly can" to revive the foreign aid bill killed by the Senate. He said no other nation could replace the United States in helping developing nations at the present time.

He is in Thailand for a three-day official visit and leaves Thursday for Jakarta.

"YOUR HAIR WILL GROW IN AGAIN, BUT MY CANDY APPLE IS GONE FOREVER!"

At your service: Electricity that costs less than 10 years ago.

It's true. Your dollar buys more electricity now than it used to. Because Texas Electric's rates for electric service have not increased since 1961.

In fact, there have been two rate reductions since 1961—in 1963 and 1965.

While the cost of living is up about 30 percent over 1961, the average price of electricity per residential kilowatt hour is down more than 30 percent (see chart).

If your bill for electric service at your residence is higher, it's because you're using more electricity. You may have added air conditioning, a clothes dryer, frost-free refrigerator or color TV.

It all adds up to this: In spite of continuing inflation you're getting more electricity for your dollar than you did in 1961. You're also getting all the extra comfort and convenience that electricity makes possible.

The Small Car Expert has something new.

The new 1972 Datsuns. Seven shiny models... Sedans and Sport Coupes, a Wagon and a great little Pickup Truck. They are worth a good hard look.

For example, our 510 Sedans are the only economy cars with standard front disc brakes, efficient overhead cam engine, and fully independent rear suspension.

The 1972 Datsuns' no-cost extras and advanced engineering add up to a new kind of economy car value. More overall safety and dependability.

Check 'em out. See your nearby Datsun dealer - the Small Car Expert. Drive a Datsun... then decide.

RAID THEATERS

Lawmen Link Smut To Organized Crime

DALLAS (AP) — Lawmen raided 17 movie theaters and bookstores Tuesday in a crack-down against pornography, which Police Chief Frank Dyson claimed has "all the earmarks of organized crime" in Dallas.

Dyson, in a public speech timed to coincide with the raids, said his investigations show that Dallas is a major distribution center for pornographic material. He said his men have uncovered instances of "mob tactics", including 13 bombings and fires, "employed by members of the industry to achieve their ends."

"Even more alarming to the police departments in Dallas are the deaths of two persons in Texas, under very suspicious circumstances — persons who were linked with the pornography industry in the state," Dyson said.

NUDE DANCES

As the police chief was addressing a meeting of Jaycees, a combined force of city police and sheriff's deputies from the county moved into 10 theaters and seven city bookstores.

Obscenity charges were filed against 16 persons, owners and operators of bookstores, for sale and exhibition of allegedly obscene material.

Two justices of peace set hearings against operators of the movies to decide whether to order further arrests and seize the films in question.

Dyson cited situations where teenagers were involved in the pornography business. He said a girl, 13, performed erotic nude dances on the stage at one Dallas night spot, while a girl, 15, had been the object of a running gun battle, climaxed by an auto wreck and the hospitalization of two gunshot victims.

SKIN FLICKS

Dyson said there are 14 pornographic bookstores, 19 skin flick theaters, six lounges with live pornographic shows, and 15 producers of movies and books located in the city or the metropolitan area.

The local industry, he claimed, has links with distributing outlets all over the United States. Several Dallas dealers, he said, are involved with larger out-of-state purveyors of pornography.

According to the police chief, one X-film made in Dallas and actually filmed in the producer's office, grossed more than $2 million.

Lt. M. P. Southall, of the police department's vice control division, said the raids resulted from an undercover operation and had been in the planning stage for the past 10 days.

Officers in plain clothes visited both the movie theaters and the bookstores. They purchased books and magazines which led to the charges against the bookstore operators.

"It was a concentrated effort to make cases on them all at one time," Southall said, "and make the citizens more aware of how widespread it is."

Deputies were ordered to remain posted at the movie theaters, pending the outcome of hearings before the peace justices. Under the legal framework of the state obscenity statutes, the judges must hear testimony from investigating officers before ruling whether the films should be seized so as to determine in court if they are pornographic as claimed.

'Freeze' Rules To Be Modified

DALLAS — The Cost of Living Council has announced that regulations which made the 90-day program a "freeze" will be modified to make the system more effective.

George E. Hastings, regional director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness in Dallas, said present freeze rules on wages, prices and rents will be changed Nov. 13 only by the introduction of new regulations, thus preventing a gap that would occur if present rules were allowed to end before new ones had been instituted. Provisions of the Economic Stabilization Program which have been in force since Aug. 15 will continue until they are specifically modified by the Pay Board, Price Commission, or the Cost of Living Council, Hastings said. However, changes will occur only through explicit action taken by competent authority.
