TALKS TO PRESIDENT — Indira Gandhi, prime minister of India, talks to President Nixon during the welcoming ceremony for her on the South Lawn of the White House today.

Prime Lending Rate Trimmed

NEW YORK (AP) — Four major commercial banks, led by Chase Manhattan Bank, cut their prime lending rate to 5½ per cent from 5% per cent today.

The prime rate is the interest rate commercial banks charge their most credit-worthy corporate customers.

Announcing prime rate reductions with Chase, the nation's third largest bank, were Manufacturers Hanover Trust, the fourth largest; Morgan Guaranty Trust, the fifth largest; and Chemical Bank of New York, the seventh largest.

Chase and most of the nation's other banks had cut their prime rate of 5% per cent from 6 per cent Oct. 20. Some banks, however, broke away from the traditional prime rate method of fixing interest for their most credit-worthy corporate customers, and adopted a floating base rate.

Attacks Sexual Segregation

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A state penitentiary inmate, declaring "enforced sexual segregation" violates his religious freedom, has asked a U.S. district court to order his transfer to the Wisconsin Home for Women at Taycheedah.

Robert McGregor, 40, serving a 10-year term at Waupun State Prison for car theft and robbery, said in a petition filed Wednesday he has a Biblical mission to "be fruitful and multiply and replenish the earth."

TARS Slate Saturday Walk

A 12-mile Walkathon has been scheduled by the TARS (Teens Aid the Retarded) for 9 a.m. Saturday to begin at the College Park Shopping Center.

Walkers will trek to Sand Springs and back, and prizes will be awarded to the oldest and youngest walkers, plus the first to finish the walk and the person with the most eye-catching approach to the march.

Anyone can enter the walkathon with only one requirement, that they have a sponsor pay them so much per mile walked. All proceeds will go to local TARS and ARC chapters for aid to the retarded.

The trek will end at approximately 3 p.m., and all walkers planning to participate should meet at the center before 9 a.m. Trucks for carrying water and picking up stragglers will be provided by the Big Spring Jaycees.

HIS TAX RETURN SHATTERS AFFAIR

LONDON (AP) — A British society beauty testified today her love affair with an American millionaire was "shattered" by an income tax return.

Patricia Wolfson, 32, told the court she found the return by Ralph Stolkin, 53, when they were planning to be married in 1967. It showed he had a wife, not a divorce as he had claimed.

"I burst into tears, I was very shocked, I was shattered," Mrs. Wolfson said.

The case involves Stolkin's demand for Mrs. Wolfson to return jewelry and other gifts worth about $600,000 which he says he gave her on condition they would wed.

Mrs. Wolfson refused to return the gifts. She claims they were free offerings during their love affair which was lived among the jet set of the Riviera and California.

PROMISES TO 'DIVORCE' HIS PERSONAL VIEWS Nominee Rehnquist Disputes Opinion

WASHINGTON (AP) — William H. Rehnquist disagreed today with a description of him as "an extreme conservative" and pledged that he would try to put aside his personal views if confirmed as a Supreme Court justice.

Appearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee the nominee disputed the opinion of John P. Frank, a leading constitutional lawyer in Phoenix who had called Rehnquist "an intellectual force for reaction" and said he was "backward" on civil rights and "a supporter of police methods in the extreme."

NOT FAIR
"This is not a fair characterization, even of my philosophical views," Rehnquist testified. Frank's assessment was made in a letter to a newspaper in Phoenix, where Rehnquist practiced law before joining the Nixon administration as an assistant attorney general. The letter was read by Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii.

The committee began the second day of its hearing with an introduction of Lewis F. Powell Jr. of Richmond, Va., the other nominee for the court. Both of Virginia's senators, Harry F. Byrd Jr., an Independent, and William B. Spong Jr., a Democrat, heaped praise on the nominee who sat quietly between them at the witness table.

Powell was introduced early so Byrd and Spong could attend the funeral of former Sen. A. Willis Robertson.

Seven former presidents of the American Bar Association and the current president, Leon Jaworski of Houston, attended to back Powell, one-time ABA president.

ONE OF FOUR
The committee resumed the questioning of Rehnquist, chiefly by Fong, who was one of four senators who voted against the 1968 crime control law because he had reservations about its wiretapping provisions.

Fong, after questioning Rehnquist about Frank's letter, said he was "satisfied" that Rehnquist will follow through on his promise to "divorce" his personal views.

Also present in the crowded hearing room were Mrs. Rehnquist and Mrs. Powell and two of the Powell children.

Byrd said Powell is recognized throughout the nation as a lawyer who stands at the very top of his profession.

Spong told the committee that Powell's "forceful and moderating voice" helped Richmond schools avoid the serious disruption that occurred elsewhere in the South after the Supreme Court's 1954 desegregation decision.

CALM LEADERSHIP
He credited Powell with showing calm leadership, perceptive judgment and an open-minded and fair attitude as chairman of the city school board from 1952 to 1961.

In Wednesday's hearing, liberal Democrats expressed concern about Rehnquist's conservative philosophy.

But no challenge was raised at a 6½-hour hearing Wednesday to the legal competence, integrity or judicial temperament of the 47-year-old Justice Department lawyer—a top aide to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said Richmond, Va., attorney Lewis F. Powell Jr. would take the witness chair later today after questioning of Rehnquist is completed.

TWO VACANCIES
Rehnquist and Powell were named by President Nixon to fill the two vacancies on the high tribunal left by retirement of Justices John M. Harlan and the late Hugo L. Black.

Although Powell, 64, also is a conservative, little opposition has surfaced in and out of Congress to his nomination.

Such organizations as Americans for Democratic Action and the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights are opposed to Rehnquist's nomination, but they have announced they do not intend to fight Senate confirmation of Powell.

The American Bar Association's 12-member committee on the Federal judiciary notified the Senate panel Wednesday of its unanimous opinion that both Rehnquist and Powell are qualified to serve on the Supreme Court.

Such liberal Democrats as Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Birch Bayh of Indiana and John V. Tunney of California did most of the questioning at Wednesday's hearing.

Most of the Republicans, in the minority on the committee, still were waiting for their turn when an overnight recess was called.

HIGHLIGHTS
Here are some of the highlights of the testimony Rehnquist gave in a calm, deliberate manner in answer to questions put to him:

He said that government wiretapping is "not an appealing thing to do and is justified only by exigent circumstances." Such forms of surveillance, he said, are legitimate only "to solve a crime or prevent the commission of a crime."

Gang Rape Rule Looms

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP) — The defense rested today without presenting any evidence in the trial of Marshall Brown, 22, of Houston, accused in a gang rape.

Brown's case has been delayed over the years by four changes of venue. The rapes took place in 1966.

One man has been assessed the death sentence in the case, two more were given life sentences and two others lesser prison terms.

The victim, a petite Houston blonde, testified Wednesday that she was raped 15 times by six Negro youths who attacked her and her date.

The woman, now married, testified she screamed and cried as the attackers drove to different locations near Bay City where they raped her and threatened to cut off her head and that of her companion.

Larry Head, who was dating the victim, said the two were sitting in a car and listening to football scores on the car radio when the six made their attack.

Wholesale Prices Dip Second Month In Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's price freeze dropped wholesale prices an average of 0.1 per cent in October for the second monthly decline in a row, the government said today.

Wholesale prices for consumer finished goods went against the trend, rising 0.2 per cent, but this was attributed largely to a 2.1 per cent increase for food items, most of which are not subject to the freeze. Excluding foods, consumer goods were down 0.3 per cent.

Industrial commodities were unchanged.

When corrected for seasonal variations the wholesale price index showed a 0.1 per cent decline, the same as the unadjusted index, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

There were sharp declines in wholesale prices for lumber and wood products, gasoline, residual fuel, electric power, textiles, rubber and plastic products, the bureau said.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, wholesale prices for industrial commodities declined 0.3 per cent, farm products and processed foods and seeds rose 1.4 per cent and consumer finished goods were up 0.6 per cent.

IMPORTED ITEMS
Wholesale prices of American-made cars increased 1.6 per cent in October, the bureau said. But it said this did not necessarily violate the freeze because September prices were entirely for 1971 model cars while October prices are for 1972 models.

The 0.1 per cent decline follows a seasonally adjusted drop of 0.4 per cent for September, the first full month after the President's freeze announcement Aug. 15. However, prices paid by consumers rose on the average in September.

Consumer figures for October will be available later this month.

The bureau said October's wholesale decline "is largely attributable to commodities subject to the provisions of the President's stabilization action."

The bureau said prices of raw agricultural products and imported items rose.

Raw agricultural products do not have price ceilings imposed under the freeze, and prices of imported items are legally allowed to rise by the exact amount of extra import duty and currency exchange rate changes brought about by the President's new economic policy.

The decline in the wholesale index brings it to 114.4 per cent of the 1967 level, 3.1 per cent above a year earlier.

'Pesky' Frauds Clean-Up Termites

District Attorney Wayne Burns is urging local residents to be careful of bogus "termite exterminators" who are operating in the area and are charging exorbitant fees for their services.

"I've had several reports that these men are approaching elderly residents and asking to be allowed to inspect their home for termites. They make an 'inspection' and come back in a few moments with a piece of board that's infested with termites and tell the homeowner that the house is infested," said District Attorney Burns.

Burns said that the "inspectors" then pretend to exterminate the house after collecting a large fee.

Local residents are urged to refuse to allow anyone to inspect their homes for termites unless the exterminators can prove they represent a reputable exterminating company. One way to check is to see if the exterminators are traveling in a vehicle marked with the name of a known company. Residents approached by suspicious persons claiming to be exterminators are asked to report the matter to the police.

Recalcitrant Computer Back With The Program

By BRIAN PEAY

Happy, it is hoped, is the state of existence between the new city computer manager and his touchy department, especially after those first few days of cold shoulders and finicky declines the computer underwent with the advent of a new manager.

Only three weeks ago the computer welcomed the new manager with a series of breakdowns and a flurry of malfunctions.

things, however, things are running smoothly now, James Campbell reported this morning.

At the time of the computer break-down, City Manager Harry Nagel said that for every day the computer is down, the city will deduct $65 from the monthly rental fee to IBM, which is approximately $1,500.

"We are still planning to make this deduction and IBM has advised me that they are planning to knock off some on that month's rental fee," Nagel reported.

"We are experiencing a smooth operation with all of the programs currently on the machine, and we will be adding more programs soon," said Campbell.

General ledger, utility billings and payrolls are the main programs operating on the IBM Systems III computer now, and a program of expenses accrued by the city will be incorporated in the computer shortly.

City tax and inventory systems are scheduled to be programmed into the machine after Jan. 1. The computer also is helping with construction of the fiscal year budget, on which the city manager is currently working.

"The computer is only helping with print-outs of last year's expenses. Next year the computer will do the bulk of budget work," Campbell said.

Other coding programs suggested by auditors Max Green and George Thorburn with the completion of their special assignment, have not been programmed into the computer.

"We are waiting for the new finance director, Rogers Nanny, to get here before we start work on the new coding systems," Campbell said. "He may have some ideas and systems to be incorporated in the coding programming."

"Also no financial programs will be worked up for the computer until Nanny gets here," Campbell said.

In a few weeks Campbell will turn over the computer department to the new finance director, and will assume a second part of his job with the city, that of special projects director.

"We have a couple of the women working in the computer department who are interested in programming. We will begin to train these people shortly," Campbell explained. In his new duties he still will be involved in work with the computer to a great extent, while coordinating new projects and work in the city departments.

Pre-Holiday Cleanup Set

"Company's coming — Let's clean up — Do it before the holiday's." This is the slogan of a clean-up campaign slated for Nov. 15-19.

The campaign is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Pride People with the cooperation of the city, which will furnish five or six trucks with crews for the week-long cleanup.

Coupons in The Herald and at local businesses will be mailed to the Chamber of Commerce with the name and address of anyone wanting trash picked up. The coupons will be arranged into routes for the trucks to follow for the special clean-up.

"Any trash that two men can put in the trucks will be picked up," said Bob Butler, chairman of the Pride People, at a special Pride People meeting Wednesday. "The only thing they won't pick up is junk cars, but Birdwell Salvage (267-9244) will pick junk cars up free with a release or a title for the car."

"We ask that anyone who want's trash picked up put it at the curb and send in a coupon before Friday, Nov. 12," said Butler.

The next meeting of the Pride People is scheduled for Nov. 17.

Government Economy Proposals Drawn Up

By LINDA CROSS
A list of 20 proposed areas for inter governmental cooperation will be presented for consideration to the city and county commissions and the Howard County Junior College and Big Spring Independent School District trustees within the next two weeks.

The proposals were drawn Wednesday when the four-member steering committee representing each of the four governmental agencies met at 4 p.m. at Coker's Restaurant.

Attending were Jack Watkins, chairman, City Commissioner Wade Choate, County Commissioner Jack Buchanan, HCJC Trustee Harold Davis and BSISD Trustee Ralph McLaughlin.

New areas for combination of services discussed at the meeting include insurance, exchange of technical personnel, delinquent tax collections, construction and maintenance of buildings, library facilities and a shared teletype system for local law enforcement offices.

Other areas previously discussed which will also be presented to the agencies include combined purchasing and warehousing, tax collections, use of heavy equipment, maintenance of city-county streets and roads, printing and rural fire protection.

Watkins presented a list of areas in which the agencies were already cooperating, and this list is also to be presented to determine if any agency not now benefitting from these combined services would like to cooperate.

City and county agencies cooperate in the maintenance operation or financing of the Civil Defense, a local health unit, the Heritage Museum, ambulance service and the National Guard Armory, according to Watkins.

All four agencies share tax appraisals, and the city, county and school district share the cost of the juvenile office.

The city and the school district now cooperate in the construction and maintenance of parks on school campuses, the purchase of paper and the purchase of fertilizer.

Watkins said at the meeting that although all agencies could not share equally in all areas, there would be some benefit for all in all areas. One example he gave was that the combined maintenance of city-county streets and roads would also include school and junior college parking lots and access roads.

Watkins told the committee that the reception of the proposals by the four agencies depended on the enthusiastic presentation by each committee member.

"It is not the idea of this to lose the identity of each agency. Each agency will remain a separate entity," stressed Watkins.

Davis asked if non-profit agencies outside of government could join in such areas as purchasing to increase the volume of orders and bring down prices, said Watkins replied that there was "no limit to the possibilities for cooperation in all areas."

Each agency is to be instructed to approve a secondary committee to study the proposed areas the agencies would most like to cooperate in, according to Watkins. Areas for further study will be chosen on a priority basis, with the proposals receiving the most support from the agencies to be studied first.

MEET 'SAM' — Sandra Thiel, 21, is a senior at the Colorado School of Mines and will graduate next spring with a degree in mining engineering. The 35 men in her class refer to the attractive young lady as "Sam." Sandra spends eight hours a week underground studying in the school's experimental mine at Idaho Springs, Colo. Superstition is rife about bad luck befalling mines that allow women to enter. Sandra hopes to pursue her career with a mining company after her graduation that will allow her to spend a good amount of time underground.

Local TV Programming Hopes Dimmed By FCC

Efforts to re-establish local programming at KWAB-TV, Channel 4, have apparently been broken by a ruling of the Federal Communications Commission.

A waiver request by Pictronics, Inc., Midland, has been denied by the FCC.

The waiver was submitted to the FCC by Pictronics in an effort to change the ruling on its application for the control of the local station. Denial of the application for control was ruled by the FCC due to it being submitted to the Commission after the cut-off date July 1.

Pictronics' application, tendered for filing July 6, has been returned as untimely filed and unacceptable for filing.

Grayson Enterprises, Inc., Lubbock, current operator of the local station and KMOM-TV, Channel 9 in Monahan, opposed the waiver.

A renewal application for KWAB-TV was filed by Grayson Enterprises on May 3. Since the Texas license period expired Aug. 1, Pictronics' application had to be filed no later than July 1, to be considered mutually exclusive with the KWAB-TV renewal.

Pictronics' claimed that the delay in filing was due to misunderstanding of the Commission's rules and that public interest considerations, including proposed local programming, warranted grant of its request.

The Commission found, however, that good cause had not been demonstrated for waiving the rule requirements, and pointed out that when it adopted the cut-off rule, it attempted "to balance pertinent considerations of both the public interest and administrative practicality while providing reasonable notice to prospective applicants and existing licensees."

Denial of the waiver by the FCC capped off an all-out effort by local interest groups to restore local origination on Channel 4.

Various meetings have been held this year since February, mainly supported and initiated by the Chamber of Commerce.

The meetings were held to discuss reasons why local programming should be restored to Channel 4, and were conducted as sounding-board sessions for local public opinion.

"Chamber directors asked a lot of questions regarding possible renewal of local origination at Channel 4, however, no concrete conclusions were arrived at, and possibly never will due to the economic situation involved in Big Spring," said Paul Meek, president of the Chamber.

No other comment was made regarding further future efforts toward securing local programming.

Instead Of 'Hook'em' Yell 'Curl Up 'Dillos?'

AUSTIN (AP)—The University of Texas Student Senate has voted unanimously to ask the student body if it wants the school's athletic teams to be called "Armadillo" instead of "Longhorns."

The Armadillo is a timid, near-sighted animal that curls up in its back of overlapping shells when attacked.

Instead of "Hook 'em Horns!" the students could yell "Curl Up 'Dillos."

"Were not against the Longhorns; they are excellent animals," student President Bob Binder said after the Tuesday night vote. "But the armadillo is an excellent example of the Southwest and it's never been accorded its proper recognition. It's such a peaceful animal its only predator is the automobile."

Some elements of the local youth culture use the armadillo as their symbol. A popular rock music establishment called "Armadillo World Headquarters."

Longhorn football players expressed surprise or disbelief when told of the resolution. Coach Darrell Royal laughed.

IF THEY CAN BE MADE TO MEET FEDERAL STANDARDS To Market 50,000 Tainted Turkeys

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is considering a plan which would enable Swift & Co. to market 50,000 turkeys tainted with DDT-like chemicals if the meat can be made to measure up to federal standards.

The plan, which could save Swift $300,000 by government estimates, consists of cooking the chemicals out of the turkeys, then clearing them for use in frozen dinners, soups and pot pies. Officials emphasized in interviews that the meat would have to be proven safe.

If adopted, the plan would be the closing chapter in what remains the most mysterious incident yet involving contamination of food by a family of industrial chemicals called polychlorinated biphenyls, or PCBs. The chemicals have been blamed for skin ailments in humans and liver disease and birth defects in test animals.

Shooting Deaths Trial To Begin

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Testimony was due to begin today in the trial of a West Texas youth charged in the shooting deaths of his mother and stepfather.

The trial of John Russell Kincaid was transferred from Fort Stockton on a change of venue. He is being tried for the slaying of his mother and stepfather.

After three full days of interrogation, lawyers finished questioning prospective jurors Wednesday night. They were to select the jury early today.

Kincaid was arrested in the Pecos County courthouse in Fort Stockton on Jan. 21, 1970, and charged with the slayings of his mother, Ann Russell Kincaid, 38, and his stepfather, Bert Kincaid Jr., 51.

Their bodies were found by a maid earlier that day. Kincaid was a Texas Christian University student at the time.

ONE HOT SHOT

The contaminated turkeys were discovered at the Swift & Co. plant in Detroit Lakes, Minn., last August. Officials still have not disclosed the source of the contamination.

Agriculture Department experts say something evidently contaminated fat used as a finishing ration and fed to the turkeys in their last six weeks before slaughter.

"We now have reason to believe there was one hot shot of fat into one ration," said Dr. Fred J. Fullerton, director of field operations for the department's Consumer and Marketing Service.

But neither Fullerton nor his special assistant, Dr. Joseph Stein, would speculate on what contaminated the fat. "I think I know," said Stein. "If it ever comes to where we have some proof, we'll give you a call," said Fullerton.

Can it happen again? "If it's true what I think, that source has been eliminated," said Stein.

A three-state survey in September led the department to declare the incident an isolated one. Officials said at the time they would test the turkeys lot by lot to see if any were safe enough to be released for Thanksgiving tables.

The tests found every lot contained excessive levels. The federal guideline for PCBs sets a maximum permissible level of 5 parts per million. Stein said many of the turkeys contained 100 parts per million and some had over 300.

Stein said the salvage operation being considered by Agriculture is feasible because PCBs concentrate in animal fat. Poultry has very little fat between muscle, so stripping the fat from the birds would dispose of most of the PCBs, he said, and cooking would get the rest.

In any case, said Stein, the specially processed birds would not be cleared for sale unless post-processing tests showed them to be safe.

Swift spokesmen said it would be after Thanksgiving before the firm gets together with Agriculture to do something with the birds.

Reports Concerning Threat Against Life

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The disclosure of an alleged death threat against Rep. Henry Gonzalez has spurred a flurry of reports, including one that a militant Mexican-American group wants him killed.

The reports mounted after Gonzalez confirmed that the Federal Bureau of Investigation warned him of the threat, saying it presumably was linked to his exposes in the Texas stock scandal.

The San Antonio Democrat has made a steady stream of House speeches on the scandal since last June.

As reports continued to circulate Wednesday, a police sergeant announced that a group of officers will offer to serve while off duty, at no cost, as bodyguards for Gonzalez when he visits here.

When first contacted in Washington, Gonzalez discounted rumors that a Mexican-American group was behind the threat. But the San Antonio News said

Wednesday an unnamed police spokesman reported sources indicated a militant Mexican-

Tooth Fairy Price Freeze

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (AP) — The way Randy Patterson saw it, the fact that he had lost his tooth in a football game entitled him to some extra compensation from the tooth fairy.

Randy, 7, so advised the fairy in a note placed with the tooth under his pillow. What he had in mind, he said, was some "folding money."

Under the pillow the next morning, Randy found just a quarter and a note which read: "Sorry, President Nixon's price freeze is in effect until Nov. 13."

Texas Under Clear Skies

By The Associated Press
Texas was under clear skies this morning except for a few clouds over South Texas and parts of Central Texas as a weak high pressure area centered itself over Northeast Texas.

Predawn temperatures ranged from a 33 at Dalhart to 60 at McAllen, with not most readings in the 40s.

Generally fair skies were expected over the state today with afternoon temperatures to climb into the upper 60s and 70s.

The high pressure dome will move eastward, the National Weather Service reported, but will maintain a ridge into Texas through the night and possibly Friday.

Low level winds will be turning to the south and southeast along the southwestern edge of the dome as it moves eastward, bringing a warming trend to Texas by Friday.

TWO IRANIANS Thought They Would Be Shot

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Two Iranians are awaiting deportation after pleading guilty to bank theft, grateful to a Texas judge for allowing them to return home.

Shortly after their arrest, the two thought for sure they would be taken out and shot, officials said.

Ordered deported in an immigration hearing this week were Abdul Montaleb Fayoz, 28, and Said Norbesian Zardouz, 21, who identified themselves as Carpet dealers from Tehran, Iran. They were jailed here last month after pleading guilty in Abilene, Tex., to charges of stealing $1,150 from an Abilene First National Bank teller.

Officials said they also were accused of similar thefts from two other Texas banks — $1,350 from Austin's Capital National Bank, and $800 from the Texas Bank and Trust Co. in San Marcos.

They were arrested on Sept. 28, the day of the Abilene theft. Taylor County Sheriff Ray Trammel of Abilene said that when they were later taken to be formally arraigned, they cried and hugged each other. He said an interpreter explained they thought they were going to be shot, common punishment for such an offense in Iran. At their trial before State Dist. Court Judge J. Neil Daniel, they were elated to learn they would be deported rather than imprisoned.

They bowed to their court-appointed lawyer and smothered his hand with kisses.

Zardouz told the judge through an interpreter: "When I get back to Iran, my wife and I will pray for you and I will lead a good life."

At the trial, an interpreter said those suspected of a crime in Iran can expect to be beaten with a whip until they confess. Judge Daniel ordered them to make restitution of $3,300—the total amount taken from the three banks. Officials said they quickly did so after their Oct. 13 trial with a money order sent by a friend in Tehran.

"I hope this will be a lesson, and they will go home and never get in trouble again," the judge said at the trial. "They are lucky to be getting out as light as they are."

Immigration officials said they were ordered deported for violating their visitors' status by "engaging in illegal activities." Spokesmen said they will be sent home as soon as paper work is completed.

Agree To Set Of Rules For Cleanup Of Channel

HOUSTON (AP)—Federal and state pollution fighters agreed to a set of recommendations for the cleanup of the Houston Ship Channel Wednesday, but the results were weaker than some measures originally proposed.

The key recommendation calls for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Texas Water Quality Board to work in private conferences to review pollution permits already issued to industries and sewage plants along the channel.

It calls for each pollution source to achieve an allocated limit of discharge quality by December, 1974.

DEBATING SOCIETY
The Texas Water Quality Board had heatedly resisted the original measure and R. A. Vanderhoff of the EPA said the final recommendation accomplished little.

"The only thing we have accomplished is that we might be able to work more cooperatively," he said. "We really haven't settled anything."

Hugh Yantis of the WQB said the new recommendation creates "a private debating society" wherein state agency and EPA personnel will discuss the proper level for discharge permits. Under the plan, the two agencies will strive to achieve a minimum pollution level in the Houston Ship Channel of 35,000 pounds of biochemical oxygen demand, a measure of the strength of pollution. Yantis said a public hearing will be required for each change in discharge permits. There are about 300 such permits in the Galveston Bay system.

GO TO COURT
But the key to the new system will be the behind-the-door negotiations between the EPA and the state agency. It is during these sessions, says Vanderhoff, that the limits set on each polluter will be worked out.

During the public hearings this week and last June, the EPA and the Water Quality Board had frequent disagreements on the proper pollution limits. This bickering now goes behind closed doors, said Yantis.

"We created a private debating society which brings the EPA into our processes," said Yantis.

Vanderhoff agreed, but noted that the debates are weighted in favor of the federal agency. All polluters along the channel, he said, must also get a federal permit from the Corps of Engineers and the EPA controls approval of these permits where there is an environmental question involved.

"We can always go to court," he said, "and we've shown already that we're ready to do it if necessary."

CONSERVATIONISTS HEAD FOR SUPREME COURT

Attempt To Stop Underground Nuclear Explosion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of a giant underground nuclear explosion put final touches on a Supreme Court appeal today as last-minute preparations for the blast went ahead on Amchitka Island off the Alaska coast.

The test scheduled for 5 p.m. EST Saturday is unsafe. Meanwhile, to dramatize his faith in the safety of the test, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman James R. Schlesinger planned to fly to Alaska today to be present for the test of the Spartan antiballistic-missile warhead.

Nuclear Responsibility, say the explosion is likely to set off earthquakes and tidal waves, spring radioactive waste into the air and kill fish and seals in the northern Pacific Ocean.

Environmental Quality, said in the report that tests smaller than the five-megaton explosion planned Saturday had set off quakes of less intensity than the blasts.

But he said there was no assurance that the Amchitka would follow that pattern. The Justice Department had sought unsuccessfully in two weeks of tangled court fights to keep the Train document and others secret.

Train declined personal comment on his report, but his lawyer on the council said the AEC's environmental-impact statement had considered all the possibilities Train listed.

Complaining of the limited time available to study hundreds of pages of technical documents, the three judges said, "We are in no position to calculate the dangers from the Cannikin test."

They said their decision to allow the test to proceed was based primarily on national security and foreign-policy considerations.

Desegregation, Busing Controversy In Big D

DALLAS (AP) — Court-ordered school desegregation and extensive school busing are controversial subjects in Dallas, where parents today are faced with the possibility of even more of both.

The desegregation and busing programs now in effect created an outpouring of controversy earlier this year when they were implemented in a long struggle between the Dallas School District and 21 Negro and Mexican-American parents.

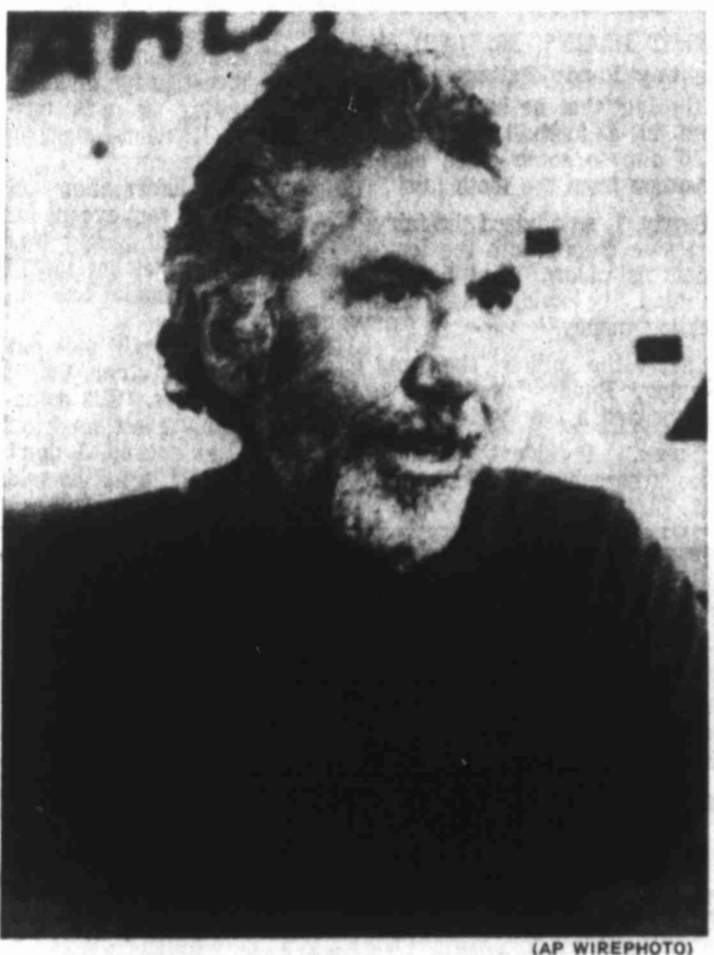

But school attorneys warned administrators Wednesday that the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals will likely order more busing at the elementary level.

Attorneys said more busing is a definite possibility for Austin and Corpus Christi schools, also. In a copyrighted story Wednesday, the Dallas Times-Herald said Supt. Nolen Estes met in an early morning session with school board trustees to advise them of the situation.

According to the paper, Estes said the Dallas desegregation case will likely be returned to U.S. District Court Judge William B. Taylor Jr., whose original desegregation plan Dallas schools are now appealing to the appellate court.

Estes, in a memo to the board, said: "It is my non-legal guess that the 5th Circuit will remand our case, Austin's, Corpus Christi's, and others, back to the lower courts for further desegregation which includes substantial transportation for elementary youngsters.

Big Springer Remembers Barren Isle Of Amchitka

By LINDA CROSS "Amchitka was a barren island until we got there," recalls Travis Fuller, 1109 Lamar, who was stationed on Amchitka for 11 months during 1943 with the 201st U.S. Army Infantry. Fuller is a Civil Service employe at Webb AFB.

The island is currently the center of controversy concerning the proposed testing of a five-megaton nuclear device on the island Saturday.

Fuller believes that the proposed nuclear testing site is about a mile or two over a ridge that once sheltered the World War II supply base, according to pictures of the site that have been shown on television.

British Storm Roman Catholic Strongholds

BELFAST (AP) — More than 1,400 British troops stormed 30 Roman Catholic strongholds in Belfast and Londonderry today and rounded up 51 guerrilla suspects after a fierce gun battle here.

DETROIT (AP) — Detroiters sold 1.5 million more cars in the industry's rooms overflaking advantage taking advantage of economic boom.

Traditionally, strongest sale saw the four makers sell 9 million in October, 1970. Only 629,152 cars were sold in October, 1971, a 33 percent drop.

October was sales month for Nixon's new cars, which let the price increase, promised tax and place imported cars.

5 Per Pay Pro Draws

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals for Phantoms made by a management memorandum including guidelines for what have met strong board's deliberation.

The separate by the five management that pay increasing be paid retroactive freeze ends on 1972.

The proposals a long negot Wednesday and fore the board a deliberations today.

These are, first of deferred wage full, with no starting with the Phase 2 on Nov. 10, payment 1 any increases have taken effect but were blocked.

Management it was learned, guideline for Ph the essential first hoped to get th ssered into that.

Car Sales Soar To Their 'Best Month' In History

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. automakers sold more cars in October than in any other month in the industry's history as showrooms overflowed with buyers taking advantage of price savings under the government's economic stabilization program.

Traditionally the industry's strongest sales month, October saw the four major U.S. automakers sell 933,713 cars, breaking the old mark of 885,328 set in October, 1968.

Only 629,152 cars were sold in October, 1970, due in part to a strike at General Motors.

October sales were 48.5 per cent above October, 1970, 14.2 per cent ahead of October 1969 and 5.5 per cent over the 1968 record month.

October was the second full sales month under President Nixon's new economic measures, which led to a rollback in the price increases of new models, promised a lower excise tax and placed a surcharge on imported cars.

GM topped the 500,000 sales mark for the first month ever.

Ford and American Motors also registered increases, as only Chrysler slipped behind its previous two year figures.

Ford President Lee A. Iacocca, after seeing preliminary sales figures for October, predicted a record sales year for the industry.

"In fact," he said, "the market is very strong, and for all of 1971 it now appears the industry will, for the first time ever, exceed the 10-million car sales mark."

Iacocca's prediction included import sales, expected to reach about 1.55 million for the year.

October import-sales figures for Volkswagen and Datsun, which both had to battle the new import surcharge, strengthened earlier indications that the sharp growth of foreign sales had been stemmed as both reported a drop in sales over the same period a year ago.

Volkswagen's October sales dropped from 57,858 last year to 34,853 this year, while Datsun reported sales of 11,889 last month, down from 12,446.

Chrysler sold 130,636 cars for October compared with 156,641 for the month last year.

The only automaker whose yearly sales are running behind 1970 is American Motors. AMC did enjoy a good October, though, selling 30,051 cars, up from 28,088 last year.

AMC's marketing vice president, R. William McNeely, gave credit for the surge to the firm's "buyer protection plan" which gives customers free warranty service on virtually anything that goes wrong with their cars in the first year of ownership.

Over-all U.S. automakers report selling 7,180,189 cars so far this year, a 14.8 per cent increase from last year and up nearly 1 per cent from 1969.

5 Per Cent Pay Proposal Draws Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals for Phase 2 wage controls made by public and management members of the Pay Board—including a 5 per cent guideline for wage increases—have met strong labor resistance, sources close to the board's deliberations said today.

The separate proposals made by the five public and five management members agreed that pay increases frozen during the 90-day freeze should not be paid retroactively when the freeze ends on Nov. 13.

The public members, but not the management representatives, also suggested a two-month extension of the freeze until Jan. 15, a plan which, informants said, came as a surprise to both the labor and management members.

The extension plan reportedly also contained a formula for negotiating some pay increases contained in union contracts signed before the freeze took effect—an idea which labor representatives privately condemned as being totally unacceptable.

The proposals were made at a long negotiating session Wednesday and were still before the board as it resumed its deliberations today.

The union representatives, it was understood, were pushing for settlement on the two issues which they want settled before entering intensive negotiation on the wage guideline issues.

These are, first, the payment of deferred wage increases in full, with no renegotiation, starting with the beginning of Phase 2 on Nov. 14; and second, payment retroactively of any increases which were to have taken effect since Aug. 15 but were blocked by President Nixon's price-wage freeze.

Management representatives, it was learned, consider the guideline for Phase 2 increases the essential first point, and hoped to get the deliberations steered into that channel.

Embalmed Body Mystery Solved

HOUSTON (AP) — A medical investigator says he believes he has solved the mystery of an unidentified embalmed body found Oct. 8 in a vacant house.

James L. Turner says his two weeks of investigation indicate the body is that of Mrs. Marian Adams, 34, who died of cancer in San Antonio and was buried in Houston Aug. 30, 1966. The body later was exhumed and taken to St. Martinville, La., for burial last May.

The body now is in the Harris County morgue pending the location of relatives.

Turner is starting a vacation as other investigators attempt to locate relatives, including Mrs. Adams' mother, Mrs. Ethel Johnson of Houston, and the widower, Wilbert Adams, who has been discharged as an Air Force officer since his wife's death.

Turner theorizes the body was removed from the casket while it was waiting to be entombed in St. Martinville.

Discovery of the body in Houston and Turner's investigation led to a court order for the opening of the sealed casket which was found to be empty Tuesday.

Withdrawal Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees agreed today to remove the six-month deadline voted by the Senate from a compromise measure calling for total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina.

The compromise language, declaring total withdrawal to be U.S. policy provided American prisoners and missing troops are freed, was included in a $21.3-billion military weapons and research authorization bill.

It marks the second time that the conferees, senior members of the Senate and House Armed Services committees, have voted to delete a withdrawal deadline voted by the Senate. On the draft extension bill earlier this year, they eliminated a nine-month withdrawal provision.

Weak As Kitten Admits Connally

JAKARTA (AP) — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally arrived in Indonesia today and said he was suffering from an upset stomach.

"I'm as weak as a kitten," he told newsmen as he arrived from Bangkok for a five-day official visit to Indonesia. He canceled a meeting with Sultan Hamengku Buwono, the minister for economic, financial and industrial affairs, and planned to spend the rest of the day in his hotel room.

Connally is scheduled to go to Bali Saturday for three days, then fly on to the Philippines and Japan.

COSDEN GIVES — Morris Robertson, United Fund campaign chairman, accepts cash and pledges for $8,293.32 contributed by Cosden employees to this year's United Fund drive. Presenting the money is Clovis Phinney, center, and Carl Rogers.

Belgium Boot For 30 'Spies' Cosden Pushes UF Over Halfway Mark

BRUSSELS (AP) — The Belgian government has decided to expel or bar from Belgium more than 30 Soviet citizens named as spies by defector Anatol Tchobotarev, an informed source reported today.

About a third of the Soviets have already left the country, the source said. He predicted there would be no sudden mass expulsion, as there was recently in Britain; instead, diplomats and trade representatives would be asked to leave in small groups.

They would all be gone "within a reasonable time," the source said. This would reduce the number of adult Soviet males in Belgium by more than a fourth.

The Foreign Ministry declined to comment.

A contribution of more than $8,000 by Cosden employees kicked the United Fund over the halfway mark today.

Cosden employees, with 10 percent of the cards still out, contributed $8,293.32 to this year's United Fund drive.

"We are extremely pleased with the response of the Cosden employees," said Morris Robertson, campaign chairman. "They have helped us tremendously, with an average donation of $13.80 per employee."

Another group that has helped with the total received today is the employees of Pollard Chevrolet, who are 100 percent contributors.

"We couldn't be happier with the way the fund raising is going now," said Robertson. "If we can keep this up, we will still be able to finish this campaign early. But we will continue until we raise the $110,000 that the 15 United Fund agencies need to have to continue."

The money collected by the United Fund goes to local welfare and youth guidance organizations, including the YMCA, the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, West Side Youth Center, summer recreation program, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Milk and Medicine Fund, Red Cross, Texas Rehabilitation Center, Air Force Aid Society, Half-Way House, USO and the Boy's Club.

Thant Suffering From Peptic Ulcer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U Thant, the ailing secretary-general of the United Nations, is suffering from a recurrence of a bleeding peptic ulcer that he had seven years ago.

A U.N. spokesman said Wednesday the ailment was revealed by medical tests made at the Elroy hospital in New York, where Thant was taken Tuesday after suffering a spell of extreme weakness.

Thant, 62, is being treated with bed rest, special diet, antacids and antispasmodic drugs and will be given blood transfusions if necessary, the spokesman added.

Welfare Drug Plan Challenge

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A suit challenging the state welfare drug prescription procedure was on file here today after being transferred from Denison.

Denison druggist John Burtis joined in the suit with several other pharmacists to argue that restrictive regulations on welfare prescriptions are impractical for both doctors and druggists.

Their suit says that the State Welfare Department, by imposing such requirements, is in effect practicing medicine and pharmacy.

The suit was moved to Austin because it is directed against a state agency.

Woes Of Sniper Remain Mystery

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — For two hours, 23-year-old Michael O'Hearn was holed up in a school building tower, taking potshots with a rifle.

"He kept saying, 'I'm in trouble and I can't come down,'" said Sheriff Tom Granger, who tried to talk O'Hearn down from the three-story tower.

What was troubling O'Hearn, a former mental patient, may remain a mystery.

The last shot O'Hearn took with the 30-30 rifle claimed his own life.

O'Hearn fired an estimated 20 shots during the ordeal but the most serious reported injury to those outside the tower was a slight arm wound to a deputy sheriff.

Carlsbad Mid High School and went to the second floor.

He went into the class of Mrs. Harold Olive and demanded a key to the tower.

Mrs. Olive wrote a note and told Jeanette to take it to the office.

After haggling with Stoll and Principal Merl Anderson, O'Hearn had the door to the tower unlocked. Anderson asked O'Hearn "very politely" to go inside, and closed and locked the door.

School officials called the police, who blocked off streets in the area and ordered people out of sight.

TOLD TO LEAVE

From the tower of the junior high school building O'Hearn had a clear view through windows from all four sides.

Sheriff Granger eventually was able to get close to O'Hearn.

"We talked about 10 minutes and then he told me to leave," the sheriff said.

"There was no indication he would come down. If there had been, I guess we'd still be talking."

As Granger was leaving he pulled the pin on a tear gas grenade and tossed it at O'Hearn.

The young man retaliated by shooting back at officers on the second-floor roof before fatally wounding himself in the throat.

Officials say he was a Vietnam veteran discharged from the Navy in 1966 for mental reasons and that he later was a patient at the state mental hospital.

O'Hearn was single. He recently had returned to Carlsbad but he became very depressed when he couldn't find work, friends said.

'Losers' Booked At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Hubert Humphrey, the 1968 Democratic nominee defeated by President Nixon, and Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican nominee defeated by former President Johnson, will nearly cross paths here in early December.

Humphrey will speak at the Texas Farmers Union annual convention Dec. 7. Goldwater will address a Republican fund-raising function Dec. 8.

Find Honest Man In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Officers said a man turned in $800 to police headquarters Wednesday after he found it the day before in a parking lot.

Police said the man, 27, told the desk sergeant he had kept the eight $100 bills overnight but couldn't sleep because his conscience was bothering him.

Police reported no clues to the money's owner.

Boss Too Often Thinks He's Back In 1820!!!

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The boss too often thinks he's back in 1820, a management consultant advised a group of personnel directors and managers at a conference here.

Looking back to that year at the start of the industrial revolution, R. Saul Gellerman said the role of the manager was to get "an illiterate peasantry to cooperate with the logic of a machine in a textile mill."

Today many managers still think "they monopolize all the judgmental aspects," he said. "But we have a wholly different labor force today. Managers are no longer the sole repository of intellectual work. They've got to involve everyone."

Gellerman is president of Gellerman Kay Corp., a New York-based consulting firm. He spoke to a regional conference of the American Society for Training and Development.

He said the manager "should be the advocate of inevitable changes" and should assume the role of informing, assisting and assessing work. He compared the change in managers' attitudes to being "coaches rather than policemen."

Long Range Water Works Are In Peril

DALLAS (AP) — Long range water projects in Texas and the nation are in peril because of environmental challenges, the head of the Texas water planning agency has said.

W. E. Tinsley, chairman of the Texas Water Development Board, said Wednesday water developers face the threat of "spending more time in the courtroom than over the planning table."

He blamed "clever obstructionists" for using political pressure, legal maneuvering and emotional appeals to confuse the public about the wisdom of long range water projects.

Tinsley, Otha Dent, chairman of the Texas Water Rights Commission and Gordon Fulcher, chairman of the Texas Water Quality Board, spoke at the National Water Resources Association convention.

BOND IDEA

Dent, noting that four water projects and three highway projects in the state are currently the subjects of injunctive lawsuits on ecological grounds, said that those people who delay project development through "irresponsible use of our judicial processes" should be required to provide bond for increased costs that result.

Among the projects that environmentalists are suing to halt are the Wallisville Reservoir at the mouth of the Trinity River, an element of the proposed Trinity navigation system, and the channelling of the Sulphur River in northeast Texas below the proposed site of Cooper Reservoir. Both suits are awaiting trial in federal courts.

Fulcher told the group that proposed amendments to federal water quality law that are now before Congress, contain "drastic provisions" that would give a federal administrator vast control over Texas waters. He said the states should keep control of their own water quality programs — and will be able to, "if we are just not willing to roll over."

'STOP THE WORLD'

Tinsley said Texas faces "nightmarish prospects" of water shortages for industry, irrigation and the kitchen sink if the state's uneven distribution of water is not corrected. The Water Development Board is responsible for planning and financing water projects.

The answer to the scarcity is not "stop the world, zero population growth, or a commune in the backwoods," Tinsley said. The state's economy, he maintained, can be maintained at the present level "only if we expand our supply and correct the maldistribution" of water.

Tinsley said water developers are being harassed and pictured as despolers by "starry-eyed do-gooders" and environmental activists who "merged out of nowhere."

Constraints on water development by national and state environmental policy legislation, citizen lawsuits and fund shortages are the pervasive topics of the program at the 40th annual meeting of the association, which is interested chiefly in water resources of the western states. The theme of the convention is "The Thinking Man's Environment."

NRWA president Lorin Markham said at least a dozen major western projects are faced with "environmental roadblocks" and the National Environmental Policy Act is being used far beyond what its authors ever envisioned to delay authorized water construction projects. Meanwhile, he said, over $5 billion worth of authorized reclamation projects have not been funded by Congress.

"Our task," he told the convention, "is to get orderly development back on schedule."

Sausage, Games Set For Festival

ST. LAWRENCE — From 2,000 to 5,000 area visitors are expected to attend the 16th Annual Fall Festival here Sunday.

The fete will be held at the St. Lawrence community hall eight miles south of Garden City, and five miles west on Farm Road 2874. Serving for lunch will start at 11 a.m.

Sunday and will last until 1:30 p.m. Supper will begin at 5 p.m. and last to 6:30.

Approximately 5,500 pounds of the famous St. Lawrence German sausage will be prepared and sold at the fete, both in the meals and separate in booths during the afternoon.

Other food at the festival will include barbecued beef, beans, potatoes, cole slaw, peas, cranberries and pickles.

Entertainment during the afternoon of the fete will include spinning wheel, grab bag, football throw and ring toss booths, to be set up on the community building grounds.

There will be a needle work and baked goods stand and regular concession stands, and a carnival ride for the children.

Also an auction will be held during the afternoon, and capping off the eventful day, a dance has been scheduled with music to be provided by the LeRoy Matocha Orchestra.

A BIT HIGHER — Houston Rockets' Rudy Tomjanovich has a hand length over New York Knickerbockers' Walt Frazier in a second period rebound contest but it seems to be wasted effort. Knickerbocker Jerry Lucas comes the ball in coming his way as he watches intently.

Accord Reached; Rockets Still Lose

By The Associated Press

Elvin Hayes, Houston's reluctant center, staged another walkout while the New York Knicks staged a walkaway victory over the Rockets, but this time it apparently had nothing to do with his dispute with Coach Tex Winter. Hayes, who had refused to go into a game as a substitute last Sunday, failed to show up for a voluntary workout Monday and a mandatory practice session Tuesday drawing the wrath of Winter. He then begged out of Wednesday night's contest, complaining of a stomach ailment.

SCANT SCORING He did not return to the National Basketball Association game after leaving midway in the third period. Before departing, the usually high-scoring Hayes netted only one field goal in each half, as the Knicks romped to a 117-98 victory.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Phoenix edged Buffalo 100-98, Cincinnati trounced Philadelphia 124-100, and Chicago downed Atlanta 113-100.

Earlier Wednesday, Hayes met with Winter and the Rockets' management in an effort to resolve their differences. "Elvin wanted and received an opportunity to air his views," said Larry Kartinger, Hayes attorney. "He wanted to ask some questions and he received answers. Everybody is happy now. Everybody understands each other and we're going to try to win the ball game."

The Rockets—and Hayes—tried, but they couldn't avert their ninth loss in 11 games. With Walt Frazier firing in 31 points, Jerry Lucas hitting his first seven shots from the field and finishing with 21 points and Bill Bradley adding 20 points, the Knicks were in complete command. Rudy Tomjanovich paced the Rockets with 26 points.

A goaltending call against Buffalo's seven-foot Elmore Smith on a layup attempt by Dick Van Arsdale with 24 seconds left enabled Phoenix to break a 96-96 tie with the Braves. Then, with eight seconds remaining, Van Arsdale sealed the victory with two free throws. He topped all scorers with 31 points. Bob Kauffman was high for Buffalo with 24 points.

HELPS ROYALS Van Arsdale's brother, Tom, pumped in 32 points and grabbed 13 rebounds, helping Cincinnati break a six-game losing streak with its victory over Philadelphia. Matt Cuoka, making his first start for the Royals in backcourt, directed the attack with 14 assists and 14 points, while ageless Johnny Green added 28 points.

Fred Foster paced the 76ers with 29 points.

Huge Purse Will Go To Net Champ

NEW YORK (AP) — A $50,000 first prize—the largest in tennis history—awaits the winner of a 20-week, $1 million tournament, part of which will be nationally televised, and will culminate in Dallas on May 14, 1972.

The TV aspect of the tourney was announced Wednesday by Lamar Hunt, founder of World Championship Tennis Inc., and Carl Lindemann Jr., vice president of NBC Sports.

They said that the telecasts, all on Sundays would begin Feb. 20, 1972 at Toronto. Each of the 20 tourneys will carry prize money of $50,000 with $10,000 to the winner. The final will have a purse of $100,000 with $50,000 to the winner. There also will be doubles competition. The amount of the TV package was not disclosed, but Hunt said, "We're very satisfied. It involves a substantial rights figure." NBC also has option renewals for three years.

Tohill Is Named Mentor At TCU

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian University named Billy Tohill today as head football coach to succeed Jim Pittman who died of a heart attack during the Texas Christian-Baylor game at Waco Saturday. Tohill, 32, had been assistant head coach in charge of the TCU defense and was named interim coach shortly after Pittman succumbed. The new coach is a Mississippi State graduate who was on Pittman's staff at Tulane for five years and came to TCU when Pittman took the job here.

Rated Teams Vie In Port Arthur

By The Associated Press

The focal point of The Associated Press schoolboy football poll centers on Port Arthur this weekend where two of the AP's top 10 slug it out for city supremacy.

Top ranked Port Arthur Jefferson tangles with fifth ranked Port Arthur Lincoln in the key game of the week.

Lincoln leaped two places to fifth following last week's losses by No. 3 Galveston Ball and No. 5 Hurst Bell. Bell dropped to 10th and Ball disappeared from the top 10.

Silsbee in Class AAA, Eastland in Class AA, and Sonora in Class A continued to lead their respective divisions.

San Antonio Churchill was a casualty in the AAAA listings after it was tied 7-7 by San Antonio Lee, which moved into the No. 9 spot. Unbeaten Conroe also is a newcomer in the Class AAAA list as the No. 8 team.

Sixth ranked Ennis dropped from the Class AAAA list after a 6-6 tie with Wilmer Hutchins. Tidenhoven replaced Ennis as the No. 1 team.

Forney was eliminated from the Class A rankings after a 12-0 loss to sixth ranked Crowley. Woodsboro and Diboll were losers in Class AA and dropped from the top 10. Austin Westlake and Bowie moved in as No. 9 and No. 10.

Good Grooming Helps, Eagle Coach Insists

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If he knew his players didn't run, pass, block or tackle with their lips.

He made no bones about the reason for the victories—seven recovered fumbles, three pass interceptions, a blocked kick that became a touchdown, guards who pulled out and knocked down a few people.

The coach explained his thinking behind the shave-it-off edict.

"Good grooming is one of the many facets of discipline," he said, repeating what he said at the time of the order.

Khayat said he disliked shaving but did it every day.

The players were unhappy with the loss of their mustaches. Tim Rossovich, the middle linebacker, was the most vociferous objector. He's not yet ready to forgive and forget. He says he feels like

LETTER Cobb Is Quite An Athlete

I noted in your "Looking 'Em Over" column in Sunday's paper your comment on a boy named Wade Cobb on his passing ability.

Have you forgotten that this is the same boy who played shortstop for the Little League National champions (the Cardinals) the past season, and who from deep short burned them over to first base with few errors?

If he had Tony Mann to catch them on the football team, he would probably have completed more passes. You are right, Wade is going to be a dandy when he gets to the Steers.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Some people who relish the idea of sitting back and analyzing football may be too prone to get the quarterback in their sights when things go wrong and dump the mess of broken pottery in his lap.

The quarterback stays in the eye of the hurricane in any football game, true, but in many instances, his name is being slandered. The people who play with him may be spear carriers but he couldn't very well get along with them.

Football remains an 11-man game and every man should be doing his duty before the quarterback can be expected to succeed. He may be the pick of the litter but, when all is said and done, he can't rise very far above it because he remains an integral part of it — just as do the pulling guard, the center who blocks straight ahead or the split end who seeks to flee the pass defenders assigned to protect his zone.

Officials of the Dallas Cowboys are noising it about they expect to sell 50,000 season tickets to home games of the NFL club next season.

Doak Walker, the former SMU All-American, practically went into limbo after he called it a day in professional football. Someone smoked out the Doaker recently, however, and Walker was expansive.

He said, among other things, that (1) the people he respects most are the high school and college football coaches; and (2) the pros are missing a good bet by not having more ex-quarterbacks as head coaches.

Elaborating on the regard he feels for coaches, Walker said that he strongly feels that many of the nation's problems could be solved if we were to elect men from the coaching ranks to public office.

"What a shame it is," Doak lamented, "that many people don't look up to college football heroes as they once did and instead attach themselves to anti-establishment personalities."

It's hard to believe but Walker is now 45 years of age. (Where have all the flowers gone?) Now a manufacturer's representative in Detroit, Walker has his part of his family living in Steamboat Springs, Colo., where his wife runs a ski shop. He plans to retire there one day.

He'd never say it but one suspects he doesn't think much of Joe Schmidt, the present coach of the Detroit Lions.

The pro scouts are not flocking after Don Bunce, quarterback of the Stanford Indians (he inherited Jim Plunkett's old job). Apparently Don doesn't care. He's studying to become a doctor.

Don Robbins, the former Big Spring coach, is currently being hailed as a miracle man at the University of Idaho.

When he guided the Vandals to their sixth straight football win recently, it bettered a school record that went all the way back to 1885.

In his second year here in 1962, the Steers finished with an 8-2 record and the Steers haven't otherwise achieved that lofty a rating in the 16 years it has been a Class AAAA school.

The relative merits of Babe Ruth and Willie Mays were debated as long as there is baseball.

The baseball patrons who argue for Ruth like to point out that the Babe hit his 714 home runs in 8,396 times at bat. Mays has connected for 646 round trippers but it occurred during 10,428 trips to the plate.

In other words, Ruth connected on an average of every 11.8 times he faced the pitcher. Mays' ratio figures out to 16.1.

The University of Colorado has experienced exceedingly tough luck in trying to protect against football injuries this fall.

Among the regulars who have departed with physical miseries are tailback Jon Keyworth (broken leg); defensive end Rick Kay (broken arm); defensive tackle Stu Aldrich (knee); and defensive guard Carl Taibi.

And where was Taibi when he got hurt — getting a drink of water on the sidelines during practice. Someone clipped him. No wonder the officials throw so many flags.

Holmes, Post Give Oilers Renewed Hope

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Two new running backs joined the Houston Oilers football team last week and now head coach Ed Hughes is hoping the Houston Oilers will join the new running backs.

Hughes said he was pleased with the way Robert Holmes, traded away from Kansas City and Dickie Post, from Denver, ran with determination and toughness in last Sunday's 10-6 victory over Cincinnati.

"This can really ignite a team," Hughes said. "Sometimes just one guy can ignite a team. The rest of the team will see what he's doing and say 'hey, let's join him and get with it.'"

"It could be Holmes or Post or a combination of both," Hughes said.

Holmes and Post did not have impressive statistics in last week's game but they had joined the team on Wednesday before last Sunday's game.

But apparently Hughes saw enough to build on.

"This week I think we can build an offense around them," he said. Hughes said Holmes and Post or veteran Woody Campbell would start at running back this week against the New England Patriots.

As for his quarterback, Hughes said he probably would go again with rookie Dan Pastorini, who has started the past four games, but was intercepted four times against Cincinnati.

"Dan had a bad day throwing the ball," Hughes said. "He overshot his receivers on two of the interceptions and on the third time he threw too late."

"He was throwing the ball in the wrong place and his timing was off," Hughes said. "But you're going to have to accept some of those things with a rookie quarterback."

Hughes also left open the possibility that his other rookie quarterback Lynn Dickey could start against him Plunkett and the Pats.

"We'll be working on some things to do against New England," Hughes said. "It may be decided on who does the better job on these particular things."

Three Games Are Slated On Local Fields Tonight

The Big Spring Sophomores, 22-18, but the Big Springers felt they should have won that one.

The Junior Varsity waits until Saturday to swing into action, at which time it ventures to Odessa for a 7 p.m. engagement with Odessa High.

The JV's need wins in their last two games to finish above .500. They are currently 3-4.

Fourth and eighth grade teams representing Big Spring will play this evening, two of them in Blankenship Field.

The Runnels Yearlings (2-5-1) play host to Snyder Travis at 5:30 p.m., while the ninth grade Brahmas (4-4) squares off with Snyder Travis at 7:30 p.m.

Runnels lost to Travis in a previous game at Snyder, 28-8. Travis also decided the Brahmas in Snyder.

The ninth grade Toros visit Snyder for a 7:30 p.m. joust with Lamar. The Toros will be seeking to improve upon a 3-5 record. They lost their last out to San Angelo Edison, 14-6.

Gollad's eighth graders also pop up in Snyder, where they challenge Lamar's eighth graders in a 5:30 p.m. contest. Gollad is also 3-5 on the year.

Roger Staubach Is Slated To Start

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Landry wasn't his usual Southern gentleman self. He was curt and grim.

He beat around the bush talking about injuries and the kicking game before he finally got down to the reason his weekly Wednesday press conference was jammed to the rafters with reporters.

"I will go with Staubach at quarterback," he said.

Roger Staubach, the third-year man from Navy, was getting his long awaited shot at running the Dallas ship which is flourishing the way it did last year before the Cowboys won seven consecutive games in a drive to the Super Bowl.

It meant an end to the controversial two quarterback system and a demotion for seven-year veteran Craig Morton, who led Dallas to the Super Bowl in 1970 despite a sore arm.

SAYS LUNSFORD Nimrods Should Exercise Care

Hunter safety certification may be around the corner in Texas, but in the meantime hunters need to observe all rules of consideration for others as well as themselves, Ken Lunsford, wildlife management specialist, told the Downtown Lions Club at their Wednesday meeting.

Lunsford, with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, said several states now require a safety certification as a requisite for a hunting license.

Safety boils down to consideration and consciousness of others, he said, along with regards for one own well being.

"This begins with understanding that a firearm is simply an easier way to kill something and therefore demands utmost respect."

Regard all guns as loaded at all times, he advised. Never put one down loaded, no matter if the safety catch is on (these can and often do fail), he added.

Some other tips:

Know where your bullet is going (and beyond) before you shoot; always identify your target and never shoot at sounds; do not point a gun at something unless you intend to shoot; never engage in horseplay when handling weapons; don't bring loaded weapons into camp, cars or homes; know the mechanics of your weapon but don't attempt major repairs on it unless you are a gunsmith; never mix gunpowder and alcohol (lay off the bottle if you are hunting).

A final tip: Get or stay in good physical condition before taking off on hunting junkets. A jogging program is a good way to do this and minimize chances of a heart attack.

As for game outlook, Lunsford had this appraisal:

Quail (the season is delayed two weeks to give young birds a chance for maturity) should be good, but not as good as 1970; deer should have good carcasses, but antlers may not be as good as usual; the turkey crop will be slimmer than usual.

The program was in charge of Hulan Harris.

Buchanan Boasts 33-Point Lead

With two games to go, it appears Coahoma's Donnie Buchanan is 'in' as football scoring champion in District 5-AA.

Buchanan has scored 16 touchdowns and added 18 extra points and a field goal for a total of 117 points.

A distant second in the race is Crane's Ronnie Holland, with 84 points. Third is Keith Pherigo, Coahoma, with 60 points.

The leaders:

Sul Ross Gets Favorite's Nod

The top seeded Sul Ross State University Lobo volleyball team will vie for District One championship against eight other West Texas women teams in Abilene Friday and Saturday.

The Lobos, coached by Marilyn McReavy, will enter the Texas Commission on Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (TCIAW) district tournament following their winning the Texas Tech Invitational Tournament Saturday.

The Lobos downed Howard County Junior College, 15-7 and 15-4, and then Tech, 15-6 and 15-9.

Entered in the tournament at Abilene are Hardin-Simmons University, Wayland Baptist, Howard County, Odessa, West Texas State, McMurry, Abilene Christian, Texas Tech, and Sul Ross.

Matches will begin at 3 p.m. Friday in the H-SU Gymnasium.

The Lobos, now running a 59-match winning streak into their third year, will enter the state playoffs in Austin Nov. 19-20 should they win the district tournament.

5-AA Figures About Even

COAHOMA — Coahoma has scored more points against 5-AA opponents than Crane this season but the Golden Cranes lead the Bulldogs in first downs, yards gained rushing and passing gains.

The Bulldogs have 61 first downs in their three starts, compared to 60 for Coahoma, have picked up 1,067 carrying the ball to 1,007 for the Big Red and has added another 151 in passing gains, compared to 101 for Bernie Hagins' team.

The Bulldogs have accumulated 127 points in their three league battles, compared to 114 for Crane. Crane, on the other hand, has limited the opposition to 26 points while the Bulldogs have surrendered 58.

A titanic struggle is shaping up between the two clubs for the 5-AA but both elevens have other business to worry about this week.

The Bulldogs hit the road to oppose McCamey, which is capable of playing some fine defensive football. Crane vies Big Lake for a joust with Reagan County, which gave Coahoma problems last week.

If both teams escape unscathed this week, as they are favored to do, the biggest crowd of the season likely will see the Nov. 12 struggle in Coahoma between the Bulldogs and the Cranes.

In the other 5-AA game this week, Stanton hosts Ozona.

'FANAKALO' DRAWS IRE OF LINGUISTS

African Miners May Have Universal Language

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A language tailored for those who work deep under the earth is learned each year by tens of thousands of Africans.

Fanakalo is a special tongue, a sort of underground Esperanto, as necessary in gold mines as dynamite and drills.

Most beginners pick up a working knowledge of some 200 words in eight or nine days. Those who fail the final exam don't go down a shaft until they are proficient.

Nearly all the half million white and black miners in South Africa speak the language. Millions elsewhere have acquired it during stints on the mines and it is a widely used lingua franca.

Fanakalo has a formal vocabulary of several thousand words, a dictionary and a simple phrase and grammar book.

Words include "smash" for accident, "feva" for fever, "spukupuk" for blockhead, "skaf" for food and "bobojan-panela" for monkey wrench.

The mine language evolved late in the last century mostly from the "nguni" group of dialects spoken by Zulus, Swazis, Xhosas, Shangaans and others. It also has many words derived from English and Afrikaans, the country's two official tongues.

The word fanakalo comes from "fana," meaning like or alike. Fana-kalo means "like this."

Apart from its use as a label, fanakalo is frequently used in conversation. When demonstrating some technique to a trainee miner which he is to repeat, one says: "enza fanakalo," which means do it like this or do it in this manner.

Linguistic purists sneer at it as a "monkey see, monkey do" pidgin.

"A pure language has system, logic and definite rules in its construction," said one teacher. "A language like fanakalo has none of these qualities and the sooner the authorities get rid of it the better for our pure Bantu African languages . . . Fanakalo may never be taught at Berlitz, but there is no chance it will be suppressed. It's too valuable in terms of safety and productivity in bridging a vast communications gap.

White miners invariably bring Afrikaans or English to their work. Afrikaans, like fanakalo, is less than a century old. It evolved from the Dutch spoken by Boer pioneers.

The mines recruit black labor from Malawi, Rhodesia, Botswana, Lesotho, Portuguese Mozambique and Swaziland as in South Africa.

"They come here in most cases able to speak only their own dialect," says Manuel Swanepoel. Swanepoel supervises the school at Randfontein Estates mine which handles 3,000 blacks a year.

"When they leave they are well on their way towards an education. They can speak with anyone in the mines and all of us speak fanakalo."

The mines have a 20 per cent labor turnover each year and the language helps assure continuity. Swanepoel believes that, however crude an instrument, it provides inspiration.

"Most come to us as unsure and as apprehensive as any people could be. By the time they leave they have become men with desires and ambitions of their own. They have begun to understand what education really is. They understand what it can mean for their own children."

Recruits are given aptitude and other tests at Randfontein Estates and then put in the hands of one of 60 black instructors, most of them multilingual.

Candidates Set Tech Speeches

LUBBOCK — Three potential gubernatorial candidates and several state legislators and a former U.S. senator are scheduled as speakers for a regional Voter Registration Conference to be held at Texas Tech University on Saturday.

On the program sponsored by Tech's Student Association will be Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes; state Sens. Mike McKool, Dallas, H. J. (D o c) Blanchard, Lubbock, a n d Max Sherman, Amarillo; state Reps. Tom Cradick, Midland, and Tom Christian, Claude; and former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

Others scheduled to participate in the conference are George Lawrence, campaign manager for Dolph Briscoe; state Sen. Henry Grover of Houston; and state Rep. Fred Agnich.

"The primary focus of the conference will be on the newly enfranchised young voters," said Hank Fletcher, co-chairman. The parley also will interest regional high school students.

Museum Is Compiling Canada's Ski History

OTTAWA (AP) — A cramped, black and white store within sight of Parliament Hill holds unusual reminders of epic moments in Canadian history.

Around the walls and in the narrow storage areas of the Canadian National Ski Museum is the nucleus of an intended history of skiing in Canada.

Its prizes date back nearly a century when skiers were hardy, one-pole enthusiasts using equipment which seems as rudimentary today as the 200-year-old Scandinavian skis with their loops of cane as bindings.

Some mementoes are as up to date as international competitions of the last few years when Nancy Greene, Anne Heggvi, Betsy Clifford and Lucille Wheeler V a u g h a n carried the Canadian maple leaf to unprecedented victories.

Among the museum's collection are the rough brown skis used by Dr. A. E. Porsild to travel over hundreds of miles of the Arctic in mapping the route for a herd of 3,000 reindeer brought from the Bering Sea to the Northwest Territories.

It was one of the less successful attempts by the white man to give his Eskimo wards a skill in reindeer herding but descendants of the surviving 2,300 from the great trek still range the territories.

Dr. Porsild, a Greenland-born Arctic botanist, now in semi-retirement here, spent 30 months with his brother, Robert, from 1926 until the fall of 1928 surveying the route followed in 1930-34 by the herd. They traveled and mapped parts of the Arctic not visited since parties searching for the ill-fated expedition of Sir John Franklin in 1845.

But if the skiing heroes of Canada's pioneering days were male, those of more recent generations have been the women racers who have captured gold medals in Olympic and World ski competition.

There are the skis worn by Anne Heggvi in garnering an Olympic gold medal in 1960 and the skis and poles of Betsy Clifford from her 1970 world ski gold medal performance at Val Gardena, Italy.

A n n e, Betsy and Nancy Greene, the 1968 Olympic ski champion, are pictured in mounted displays of action photos. The museum is dicker-ing for some of Nancy's prize-winning equipment or other mementoes.

October Weather 'About Average'

October weather was just about average, according to weather reports from the Big Spring experiment station.

The maximum temperature was 88 degrees Oct. 15, and the minimum temperature was 41 degrees Oct. 19.

The average maximum was 76 degrees, compared to a 56-year average of 78 degrees. The average minimum was 52 degrees, compared to a 56-year average of 51 degrees. The mean temperature was 64 degrees, the same as the 56-year average.

The wind velocity was 3.5 m.p.h., same as the 53-year average.

Evaporation was 4.64 inches, and precipitation was 1.28 inches, compared to a 72-year average of 1.85 inches. The total rainfall for the year has been 18.65 inches, 1.94 inches above the normal of 16.71 inches at this time of year.

Rains for the month were: 0.21 inch Oct. 2; 0.02 inch Oct. 3; 0.03 inch Oct. 7; 0.13 inch Oct. 17; 0.12 inch Oct. 19; 0.02 inch Oct. 25; 0.22 inch Oct. 26; and 0.53 inch Oct. 28.

Unwed Moms Have No Legal Grounds To Challenge Code

DALLAS (AP)—Unwed mothers have no legal grounds to challenge the interpretation of the state's penal code which states that illegitimate children are not eligible for child support, a federal panel has ruled.

With U.S. Dist. Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes dissenting in a hard hitting 11-page opinion, 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Judge Homer Thornberry of Austin and U.S. Dist. Court Judge Robert M. Hill of Dallas ruled in the case of a Dallas woman.

Judge Hughes said the four-page majority opinion that the mother had no standing was "clearly dubious when considered in the light of recent opinions of the Supreme Court . . ."

Judge Hughes concurred with her colleagues that a second challenge by the woman, identified as "Linda R. S.," of the child support section of the Texas Family Code was improper for a three judge panel.

This issue was remanded to Judge Hughes, the initial jurist in the case, which means she will be able to rule on the civil statutes by herself.

The class action suit was filed after Linda R. S. gave birth to a baby on Oct. 3, 1970. She claimed the father, identified as Richard D., has refused to marry her or support the child.

The law states that a parent can get up to two years in prison if he willfully refuses to support his child. However, the statute has been interpreted by Texas courts as not applying to illegitimate children.

Judges Thornberry and Hill agreed that the proper party to challenge the constitutionality of the state law would be the parent of a legitimate child who has been prosecuted for non-payment of child support.

"Such a challenge would allege that because the parents of illegitimate children may not be prosecuted, the statute unfairly discriminates against the parents of legitimate children," they said.

Judge Hughes' opinion said she would hold that the penal code article violates the 14th amendment to the U.S. Constitution on grounds it discriminates against illegitimate children.

SCORE, management programs may call for an appointment at 263-7641 at the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Lions Governor Speaks To Club

The Grady Lion's Club was honored Monday night by the visit of Lion's International District 2A-1 Gov. Homer J. Hodge Winters. He spoke briefly about the six district goals, with emphasis on service activity to the community.

The Ladies Night meeting was conducted by club president Myrl D. Mitchell, who introduced Zone Chairman J. R. Dillard, Stanton. With Gov. Hodge were his wife, Floy, and Betty Brown, Winters.

Other area guests attending were Jo in J. Wood and Al Smith of Stanton and Ernie Boyd and Jim Lemons of Big Spring. Six new members were welcomed into the club. These members were Jimmy Robertson, H. D. Howard, Terry Smith, Marshall Yates, Tommy Newman and Bobby Sale. This represents an increase in membership of 35 per cent.

'On The Line' Lunch Thursday

A good turnout is expected today for the "Lay It On The Line Luncheon" sponsored by Paul Meek, chamber president, for retail merchant members of the Chamber of Commerce.

"The meeting promises to become a lively discussion of the chamber and of the city," said Tom Eastland, chamber manager.

"I just want to have a heart-to-heart session with the group who can and should be the leaders in our chamber and business community," said Meek.

"It's going to be a meeting where we can discuss the progress and problems of our community. I want to tell the members how I feel and I want to let them tell me how they see things."

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

ALL NIGHT: (Q) I am not myself. I am becoming a total wreck. I have gotten drunk twice. It's because of Carl. He is 21, and getting a divorce. I am 15 and I love him.

He dated me three or four times, then he told me we were getting too close and had to break up. He told me he liked me more than any other girl but it had to stop.

Well, a couple of weeks went by and I felt awful. Finally, on Sunday, we ran into each other and went to the drive-in with a bunch of kids. The other kids went home, but Carl and I spent the night in the car.

He fell asleep and I watched him. He woke up and put his head in my lap and went to sleep again. We didn't do anything sexual. We never have. But I would do anything he asked me to. Anything.

He took me home before my parents woke up and said we must never go out together again. I can't stand it. Please help me. — A Wreck in Wisconsin.

(A) Carl is old enough and wise enough to see that you two were headed for trouble. He was sensible enough to stop it. It was a hard thing for him to do. Do not make it harder for him.

Do not get him into trouble. You could, you know. You are a minor and he is an adult.

If you really love him, let him go. Time will help you to forget him.

NOT A BABY: (Q) I am 11 and my mother still makes me go to a baby doctor. I feel foolish sitting in the waiting room with infants and small children. Besides, I'm developing into a young woman. What can I do to make her see? — Filling Out in Massachusetts.

(A) The doctor you go to is a pediatrician. The pediatrician to whom I take my children has a separate teen room and sees children of all ages. The older children wait in the teen room, the younger ones wait in the regular waiting room.

Perhaps you could mention this idea to your doctor the next time you visit him.

You are fortunate to be able to see a doctor who specializes in the diseases and care of children and younger people and who probably is familiar with your health background since birth. Few young people are this fortunate.

If the situation continues to disturb you, however, try again to talk it out with your mother.

Chief Lone Fox Recalls Show Biz

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Chief Lone Fox, a full-blooded Yuma Indian who once followed the Wild West show trail with Buffalo Bill and made silent movies opposite cowboy star William S. Hart, has traded his horse and war paint for a panel truck and an Indian jewelry business.

Stopping recently in Westminster to sell his wares at the Farm Museum steam show, the Chief paused to recount the road that took him from an adobe hut to makeshift stages across the country.

"I don't remember too much about my early life back in Yuma, Ariz., where I was born," says the chief, who guesses his age to be about 75. "I do remember I lived in an adobe hut and slept on the dirt floor. I don't know what my folks did for a living, but I do know times were pretty rough."

Chief Lone Fox's parents died when he was young and he was adopted.

"Then the government people came after me and made me go to Indian school," he recalls. "I couldn't speak a word of English and they couldn't let us speak Indian, so I had a pretty rough time of it for a while. Now I've forgotten most of the Indian language."

"I was both a cowboy and an Indian in the show," he says. "I also did rope tricks, cracked a bull whip — I still can crack a whip, but I don't know if I can still crack a cigarette out of someone's teeth."

When World War I came, the Chief found himself playing clarinet in a Navy band, touring first the Atlantic ports and later France.

After the war, he returned to being an Indian — this time in front of silent movie cameras.

"I was in about three or four movies, all of them with William S. Hart, the big shot cowboy in those days."

His movie days, however, proved short-lived and Chief Lone Fox returned to wild west shows.

Ten years ago, he joined the steam show circuit and made

Vote In Favor Of Striking

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) —Members of Local 848 of the United Auto Workers Union voted 4,015 to 112 in favor of striking against LTV's missile and space plants in the Dallas area at a secret ballot which ended at 2 a.m. Wednesday.

S. L. "Sammy" Glenn, chairman of the local's board of trustees, said the members' mandate would go to the local's negotiating committee and the international's Detroit office for action. Only these two bodies, he said, could actually call the strike.

The local has worked without a contract since Oct. 16, when the former one expired. There are still differences between the two sides, mainly over pensions and working hours.

U.S. businessmen and a U.S. consul and exploded a small bomb in a restaurant above the U.S. Consulate. Each car was burned in the driveway of the owner's home and the letters "ALN" were scrawled in paint nearby.

The initials stand for Alliance Libertador Nacional—National Liberation Alliance—whose leader Carlos Marighela was killed in a police ambush on Nov. 4, 1969.

The ALN is the most active of the antigovernment terrorist groups. It recently burned a number of cars belonging to a progovernment newspaper chain and staged several lucrative holdups.

U.S. Deputy Consul-General Francis X. Lambert was the first victim Wednesday. The barking of his dog woke him at 5:30 a.m., his car's horn began to blow, and the 54-year-old diplomat ran outside to see his 1970 Chevrolet Impala in flames.

Later in the morning cars belonging to James W. Ramming of Swift & Co. and Schuyler C.F. Pulford of Sears, Roebuck were set afire.

The bomb went off in the restaurant about 8 p.m., but no one was hurt and there was no damage to the U.S. Consulate.

The NLA has assumed much of the terrorist activity previously carried out by the Popular Revolutionary Vanguard or VPR, an antigovernment group headed by Carlos Lamarca, who was killed by security forces last September.

The VPR was blamed for the kidnaping last December of Swiss Ambassador Giovanni Enrico Bucher and the earlier abductions of West German Ambassador Ehrenfried von Holleben, Japanese Consul-General Nobuo Okuchi and U.S. Ambassador C. Burke Elbrick.

Sauce For The Gander

The United States Chamber of Commerce has made an appropriate point.
President Nixon froze wages and prices for 90 days on Aug. 15. Soon the nation will enter Phase 2, which will continue controls in an effort to restrain inflation and restore the national economy to vigor.
The U.S. Chamber urges:
"Let's freeze government too."
The Chamber placed full page advertisements in all three Washington newspapers pressing its message.
The text was a public message addressed to President Nixon and the Congress, urging that federal spending "be frozen—better yet, cut," and that growth of the money supply be halted.
The government is asking sacrifice of workers in restraining their wage demands and of business in holding down prices, the advertisement noted.

It added:
"What sacrifices will government make? . . . It is unfair to control the economic decisions of people — while letting federal spending run rampant. Government must do its part — it, too, must show self-discipline."
The U.S. Chamber has expressed a position which is perfectly valid.

Unless government spending is held down in congressional appropriations, all of the other restrictions imposed by President Nixon on the public become something of an exercise in futility.
Pleas for economy in government have availed little in the recent past. It is to be hoped that the need of it now, and the public mood, may produce a different result this time.

Even Cans Are Better

According to a story in Tuesday's Herald, you have a problem if you want to dispose of trash downtown. There were three trash cans in what is commonly termed the downtown area.
Now it may be that the esthetics of a trash container are not the best in contrast to the attractive planters (assuming the planters don't have a dead bush in them), but we submit that even a trash can looks better than trash on the sidewalk or street.

"I can remember when they wouldn't let women in newsrooms or bars."
"I'm sure you're a sweet girl, but I'd rather talk to a real reporter."
"Of course, no one would expect you to know who Tom Mix is."
"JUST DON'T bother your pretty little head about all this technical stuff, we'll tell you what you need to put in the paper."
"We're going to have to cut down on overtime, we're already over the budget."
"THERE ARE five night meetings that need covering this week, and since you don't have a family or anything you're it."

"I can remember when we got a day's work for a day's pay."
"Why doesn't a girl like you forget this nonsense about a career and get married . . . we'll all be happier."
"IN MY generation men looked like men and women looked like women!"
"In my day women wore a nice string of pearls and not all those clanking chains around their necks."
"See you later, alligator."
"If you're really serious about a career, why on earth are you staying here?"
"WHAT'S A NICE girl like you doing in a place like this?"
"As far as I'm concerned the only career a woman is fit for is being a wife and mother, no offense."
"How could you ever forget Douglas Fairbanks?"

Burke's Resolution

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — It's time to begin examining the membership of the United Nations, as some of the countries on the list don't really belong there at all, since they haven't achieved independence.
Congressman J. Herbert Burke, Republican of Florida, will introduce in the House of Representatives in a few days a resolution asking Congress to clarify once and for all "the inequitable representation in the United Nations for member states."
He points out that the Soviet Union maintains three separate and equal votes in the world body to one each for all other members. He adds:
"The Soviets claim that both the Ukrainian SSR and the Byelorussian SSR are separate states. However, according to our State Department's Soviet desk, the British Embassy's information office and the French Embassy's information office, these two integral states of the U.S.S.R. have not been sovereign since the 1918 revolution, have no separate diplomatic relations with any other state, nor conduct their own foreign relations separate from that of the U.S.S.R.'s."
MR. BURKE states that, in view of this, "according to international law they are non-existent as duly recognized, separate, nation-states" and "should have no representation."
He says they should, therefore, "be expelled from the United Nations."
In the formal resolution which he presented, Congressman Burke would have the house declare:
"Resolved, that it is the sense of the House of Representatives that the President, acting through the United States delegation to the United Nations, should take such steps as may be necessary to bring before the general assembly of the United Nations the question of the eligibility of the Byelorussian Soviet Socialist Republic and Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic for membership in the United Nations and seek their expulsion."

tries whose independence may be wobbly. The "captive nations" of Eastern Europe, which have been under the control of the Soviet Union since the close of World War II, are hardly sovereign states. They are under the yoke of the Soviets. Yet the United Nations participates in the fiction that these countries are independent units and are enjoying self-government when, as a matter of fact, they are not.
AN INVESTIGATION of the status of all the nations which are dominated and under virtual management by a foreign government would be enlightening. It would reveal that some of the countries are mere satellites or tools of a patron government and have been brought into the United Nations under false pretenses. The expulsion of Taiwan, which has for years been an independent entity, opens up the whole subject of whether all countries which have really gained their freedom are eligible for membership in the United Nations.
THE UNITED NATIONS, therefore, instead of being a free organization, is a political instrumentality whose membership is controlled by votes of governments which seek the support — either military or political — of major powers. Under international law there is no justification for seating a country which does not truly have an independent status, but the world has witnessed a spectacle in the last two weeks wherein Taiwan, which is unquestionably independent, has been expelled while two so-called "states" which are integral parts of a major power still remain in the United Nations along with a number of satellites of that same power.
Representative Burke's resolution will open the eyes of many members of Congress. It certainly is time for international law to be invoked if the United Nations is to be respected as an institution composed of a group of truly independent governments.

Puzzling Behavior

NEW YORK (AP) — At the very time the administration is attempting to accelerate the economy, the semi-autonomous Federal Reserve Board is shutting off the fuel, or the money supply, official figures show.
The puzzling behavior, which is antagonistic to the goals toward whose fulfillment the President has asked sacrifices of all segments of the economy, has brought about an actual shrinkage of the money supply.
Financial analysts here attribute some of the stock market's sharp decline to the lack of investment funds. They add that a continuation of tight money could stall a decline in interest rates and subdue economic confidence also.
The Fed describes its role as the fostering of "a flow of credit and money that will facilitate orderly economic growth, a stable dollar, and long-run balance in our international payments."
Figures show, however, that in the weeks of Oct. 15 and 22 the money supply declined on an annual percentage basis after having grown at more than 13 per cent during some previous weeks.
The abrupt policy change came in the week after the President announced his new economic plan.
Each week thereafter the growth in the supply of money—currency in circulation, plus checking accounts—lessened until the flow went into reverse in the week ended Oct. 15.
The shrinkage is largely the result of actions by the Fed's Open Market Committee, made up of the seven members of the Board of Governors and the presidents of five regional Federal Reserve banks. It meets regularly in Washington to decide the makeup of the system's securities portfolio.
When the Fed buys securities, mainly those of the U.S. government, it has the effect of creating bank reserves, thus permitting the nation's banks to make loans and other investments.
The result, in the Fed's own words, "affects indirectly every phase of American enterprise and commerce and every person in the United States."

This is not the first time that Fed activities have run counter to a President's goals.
Several presidents have come into direct conflict with the board since its founding in 1913, and some critics have challenged its independence as anachronistic.
John Wright, influential head of Wright Investors' Service, which numbers some 1,000 banks and many large brokerage houses among its clients, claims the Fed has more power over the economy than the President.
Some members of the Open Market Committee, he maintains, do not understand the working of the economy. Some are not trained economists. Some, he said, are incapable of making national as opposed to regional decisions.
Wright claims that if the tight money policy is pursued it will bring about a market collapse.

The Spy Spenders

Art Buchwald

NEW YORK — There was a very angry reaction last week by some Americans to the United Nations vote on China. Sen. Barry Goldwater suggested we kick the United Nations out of New York. Sen. James Buckley called for the United States to refuse to fund it.
IN PURELY ECONOMIC terms we believe that those calling for the end of the United Nations are making a mistake. The United Nations brings in far more money to New York than it takes out.
For example, the budget for spying among the U.N. members is estimated to be over a billion dollars.
We have the word of J. Edgar Hoover himself that the United Nations has more spies in it than any international organization. And the most important thing about this fact is that spies spend money.
A RECENT SURVEY revealed that U.N. spies were the biggest spenders of any group in New York City. They ate at the best restaurants, stayed at the best hotels, hired the most attractive women and were the biggest tipsters.
An American economist told me that if it wasn't for the money that foreign spies spend in the United States, our balance of payments deficit would be twice what it is today.
A TOP RESTAURATEUR said: "We've been in a terrible slump in the past few years since legitimate businessmen have been ordered to cut out lavish spending at lunch or dinner. If it wasn't for the spies attached to U.N. delegations, we would have to close our doors."
"I DON'T THINK they counted that much," I said.

"It isn't just the spies that bring in the business," he said, "it's what they bring in with them, too. Every time a Russian spy reserves a table for dinner, we also get a reservation for a table from the FBI and one from the CIA and one from the KGB — the Soviet Secret Police."
"Why would the KGB reserve an extra table if one of their own spies were having dinner there?"
"They don't trust each other."
A HOTEL MANAGER confirmed that U.N. spies were keeping his place going. "When a Cuban U.N. delegate takes a hotel room, the Secret Service takes the room next to him," he said. "Navy intelligence takes the room on top of him, the State Department security people take the room below him and we rent out the entire basement for equipment to bug his room."
Another hotel manager said he had rented out an entire floor to Arab U.N. delegates directly over Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban's suite, when Eban last came to town.
He said, "The nice thing about spies at the United Nations is that they don't cause any trouble. They are very quiet. All they're interested in doing is getting information and they usually talk in whispers."
THERE IS GREAT excitement over the Red Chinese coming here to the United Nations. "They will have to assume every Chinese U.S. delegate is a spy," a Chinese restaurant owner said, "and I understand the FBI has already doubled its entertainment budget for its New York City office."

Why, Marry Lady, Of Course

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — "Dear Poor Man's Philosopher: 'I am a young man going with a nice girl who wants me to marry her. I am not against marriage itself, but my girl is a strong believer in the Women's Liberation Movement, and I'm afraid I'll wind up henpecked and dominated.'"
"Perplexed?"
Dear Perplexed:
What should you do? Why, marry the young lady, of course.
There are thousands—perhaps hundreds of thousands—of young men in America today who feel themselves in the same plight you do.
But your fears are groundless. The Women's Liberation Movement should not be looked upon with dread and suspicion by men. It should instead be greeted with open arms and glad cries. For it may result in the greatest advancement of the heart of a tigress and the mind of a steel trap.

But now, for a reason known only to themselves, women want to dress, act, and work like men and to be treated as their equals. They want to step off their protected pedestals and go into the marketplace.
One wonders what the advantage to them is unless they wish to work themselves to death at an earlier age—just like men.
But what a lucky break it is for a sensible young man. As his bride strives more and more to be like him, he can warily become more and more like she used to be—and perhaps in time climb up on the pedestal she deserted.
Yes, young man, let Mildred get the ulcer in the family. All you have to do is pat her on the back every morning and give her a lollipop on her birthday, and she'll purr like a kitten.
Any man who fights women's liberation is fighting against his own.

My Answer

The choir and soloists in our church always sing classical anthems with Old Testament wording. I, and I'm sure, most people, would prefer messages in musical and literary language we can understand and appreciate. What is your opinion on this?
M.R.
I am not a musician, but I do believe that either in preaching or singing, if we shoot over the heads of the people, and fail to communicate the intended message, we fail in our purpose.
Perhaps our crusades are no comparison, but we rarely use anything but simple Gospel songs and hymns. I keep my messages simple and clear, and our music likewise. People do not come to our services to hear a musical concert, but to hear a message of hope. If we failed to communicate the Good News, there would be no reason for our existence.

The same is true of most churches. I believe. Most people are not versed in the classics, and although they are beautiful, and certainly to be desired with the proper setting, most people neither understand or appreciate them. One of the most beautiful songs I have heard was the simple hymn, "Just As I Am," sung in a Lutheran church in Germany. A simple song, sung artfully, can be an inspiration; even to people who have no musical appreciation.

A Devotion For Today . . .

SILCOTT, Wash. (AP) — Grave robbers seeking salable Indian artifacts and bones have been desecrating a 19th century burial ground above the Snake River on the Washington-Idaho border, anthropologists from both states say.

"This site was rapped by a white with no social conscience," said Dr. Roderick Sprague, University of Idaho anthropologist working with Washington State University scholars to discover something of the life, death, and styles of Indians in the 1800s. About 35 graves have been disturbed in what Sprague called a "flat out example of grave robbing." The Indians in the graves were believed to be part of those who followed Nez Perce Indian Chief Joseph in his flight from the U.S. Cavalry in the bloody Nez Perce War of 1877.

graves had been carefully located by pushing a rod into the soil until it touched a coffin, Roderick said. After being dug up, he said, most of the hand-made coffins were smashed open the jewelry and bones were removed. In many cases the skulls also were removed.

An ancient skull is reported to bring $25 on an underground market in nearby Lewiston, Idaho, and sources say the skulls are shipped to California for resale at higher prices.

Cycling Push From City Hall

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas cycling enthusiasts got a push from City Hall Tuesday as Mayor Wes Wise and 50 others rolled along to work on bicycles.

Wise, after completing the journey on his daughter's 10-speed bike, said he felt better. He said he also plans to check with all city agencies involved to see what can be done to encourage bicycle commuting in an effort to relieve congestion and pollution.

Tuesday's outing included Victor Hancock, 47, who rides his bike daily to his executive job at the Federal Building from his home in Richardson—17½ miles away.

Hancock carries a fresh shirt in a pack and he says it takes him an hour and five minutes each way.

Sheriff's Posse Elects Officers

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse elected officers Tuesday night and made plans for monthly play days and an upcoming trail ride Dec. 5.

T. H. McCann was re-elected president; Mack Gamble was named vice president; Pat Gamble, secretary; Mary Burt, treasurer; Jo Ellen Gamble, queen; Clarence Airhart, arena director; and Mrs. A. D. Nanny, play day bookkeeper.

Elected to the board of directors were L. B. Murphy, Frank Knapp, A. D. Nanny, Clinton Harrison and Jim Burt.

A play day has been scheduled for Nov. 13 at the posse arena on the Andrews Highway. Registration will be at 11 a.m. with events to start at noon. A turkey dinner will be served on the trail ride and tickets are $2 each.

Harrison reported that the arena sign — the words "Howard County Sheriff's Posse" cut out of steel — has been placed over the posse entrance at the arena. The concession stands and restrooms have been completed, also.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW

—CARROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Take no chances whatever with your financial security and refrain from any arguments with others about money or possessions. Analyze just where you stand and then think out ways to refrain from any risky ventures.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Analyze your holdings accurately and know how best to invest in the future, but make sure you do not spend unwisely. Advisor does not work wonders now.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Taking chances could prove costly so use more than ordinary care today and spend time improving appearance.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You are under pressure, but if you act hastily, you get into further difficulty, so take time to improve appearance. Use tact with others instead of making curt remarks.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): You have to spend very carefully now if you are to keep above water, so do not just let helping others with their problems be wise also. Show you are a humanitarian and that you appreciate your fellow man.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): A good friend is in a rather strange mood, so use tact for you could lose a valuable ally if you show temper. Not a good day to repay any social responsibility. Do your work well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You want to sever connections with an associate but this would only be regretted later on, so get busy and do the work required of you. Maintain finest ideals and you win out over others. Stand firm.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You are not in the mood to get work done, but by changing your attitude you accomplish much and reap benefits. A co-worker is not in a particularly good mood. Soothe ruffled feathers.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Even though you do not feel too well yourself, your own spirits perk up. Do not indulge in any expensive pleasure you would regret later. Avoid one who is not a true friend.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Do nothing to stir up the anger of those who dwell beneath your roof, since the situation there is apt to be tense. Any points of difference should be smoothed out diplomatically. Entertain at home in p.m.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Much caution must be exercised now while driving, walking, etc., so you avoid trouble. Good associates expect loyalty from you, so be sure to show it. Take it easy at home tonight.

Boredom Helped

NEW YORK (AP) — Allen Swift, a leading voice specialist in radio and TV commercials, believes his gift of mimicry came from boredom as a child.

Swift daydreamed a lot and populated his dreams with interesting people. He would carry on conversations with all of them. "I had been practicing mimicry all my life so when the opportunity came to use it commercially, I was way out ahead," says Swift.

Freezing Weather Not Harmful To Most Plants

Freezing weather should be no problem to the average home owner, according to Bruce Griffith, county agent.

"Most vegetation is ready for colder weather," said Griffith. "Only a few plants will require special care at this time of year."

"If a plant is adapted to digging, then it should be taken in before the first real freeze." Water is still needed by lawns, trees and other vegetation during the winter, said Griffith. "We have wet-enough soil so that they will not need much water, but if the soil gets dry, vegetation should be watered."

Ranchers have a special problem to look out for. "Ranchers with cattle grazing Sudan or Sudan hybrids need to keep their cattle off the grass for 10 days or so after a hard freeze because of the prussic acid that can form. Once the grass has dried out, the cattle can return with no concern of prussic acid poisoning."

The difference between a freeze, which is not much of a problem, and a hard freeze, which can cause some damage, is the length of the cold spell and the temperature. In a hard freeze, the temperature will be very low and it will be below-freezing long enough for vegetation to freeze.

Famine Watchers Try To Forestall Starvation

ROME (AP) — In 70 countries around the world international civil servants are practicing a new profession — famine watcher.

They are regional officials of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) who have been assigned in the additional duty of standing guard in an early warning system against disastrous food shortages.

FAO set up the system on the basis that although man may be able to do nothing about cyclones and earthquakes, the perennial disasters of famine stemming from floods, drought or plant and animal diseases can be foreseen.

By early warning, the suffering and damage that these cause in crop failure, hunger, starvation and widespread poverty may be lessened or averted.

These disasters seldom are felt any more in the richer, industrial countries of the world. But throughout the two-thirds of the earth that is poor and predominantly agricultural — the developing Middle East and Latin America — disastrous crop failures are frequent. Hunger is commonplace. And the dividing line between hunger and starvation is thin.

The FAO early warning system seeks to spot crop failures in the making, and predict their extent and consequences in time to get emergency relief to the scene.

This relief is largely in the form of food aid obtained from the surplus of the over-producing countries, such as the United States, Canada, Western Europe, Japan, Australia and New Zealand.

Within the past year early warnings from the famine watchers have forestalled famine disasters or eased the suffering in four parts of the world.

The warning system foresaw the failure of maize, rice and millet crops this year in the little West African nation of Gambia in time to send in enough emergency food to feed 150,000 people, more than a third of the population, for 40 crucial days.

Iraq was hit by one of the worst droughts in its history. But the famine watchers spotted signs of the disaster in reports of livestock mortalities and increasing food shortage among the Bedouins in the rural areas. Within two months, $1.3 million worth of emergency food

Many Big D Gals Watching Games

DALLAS (AP) — The theory that many wives are turned into poor, brave widows with the coming of the football season may not have a defense to stand behind.

There are fewer football widows on Monday night than one Dallas theater chain anticipated.

ABC Interstate Theaters began letting unescorted women into the movies for $1 during the Monday night televised football game, but apparently many of the gals are watching the game too.

"There just hasn't been any rush to take advantage of the offer," said Interstate manager Lynn Harris.

New Gun Test

HOUSTON (AP) — The paraffin test, one of the oldest scientific crime detection aids to determine if a suspect has fired a gun recently, has been abandoned by Houston police. The police now are using a technique involving chemicals and ultraviolet rays. Police chemists consider the new test more reliable than the long-used paraffin method.

He's Still Married!!

DETROIT (AP) — Rep. Charles Diggs Jr. plans to get married in New York next weekend. The Michigan Democrat has a problem, however. As far as the law's concerned, he still has a wife. "I don't want to be mean to Charles," said Wayne County Circuit Court Judge George E. Bowles. "But until he reaches a property settlement with his wife and I sign the final decree, he's still married in the eyes of the law."

Diggs' divorce action with his wife Anna is pending before Judge Bowles. The judge said he has informally agreed to the divorce, but will not sign the decree until the congressman pays a $5,000 property settlement. Diggs' attorney said Sunday he hopes final details of the divorce can be straightened out before the weekend.

Black, Brown Biz Directory

HOUSTON (AP) — A 128-page "Black and Brown Business Directory" is being distributed in Houston. It lists 3,000 minority businesses in the city. The directory was sponsored by the Minority Economic Development Council in cooperation with Project Goodwill. Its felt it would be discriminatory.

publication and printing was a project of the Business Resource Development Center and the Harris County Community Action Association. Mrs. Bettye H. Drummond, editor and project administrator, said the directory will be distributed free to minority consumers and sold to business and industry for $65 a copy. City Council appropriated $5,000 toward the publication last year although some councilmen felt it would be discriminatory.

Pumping Ballast Water, Not Oil, Says Captain

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The captain of the Texaco tanker Montana says the ship was pumping ballast water, not oil, when it was sighted in the northwest Caribbean. Manry said an emulsified substance suddenly and unexpectedly appeared on the water while the Montana was conducting routine discharge of clean ballast water in accordance with normal and internationally accepted procedure. "Not more than one to two minutes could have passed from the time the substance was noticed until the pump was stopped," Manry said. Dr. William Sackett, an oceanography professor at Texas A&M reported he and others aboard the scientific vessel, the Los Alamos, had observed the Montana dumping "extremely high dissolved hydrocarbon concentrations in the water." Sackett said he had reported the incident to the Federal Trade commission. Sackett said he went to the commission because no federal agency has authority over U.S. ships discharging oil on the high seas.

Scandal In U.S. Politics Cited

EXETER, N.H. (AP) — Former presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger says "a major area of scandal in American politics" is the estimated $200 million he says the major political parties will spend next year in their presidential campaigns. Salinger told about 75 persons Wednesday night at Phillips Exeter Academy that federal legislation is needed to control this outlay of money, most of which goes to television advertising. Salinger, who was press secretary to Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, was stumping in New Hampshire for Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who seeks his party's presidential nomination next year.

Problem Involving Cancer And Doctors

NEW YORK (AP) — The doctors about cancer. The sharp and unusual attack by the American Cancer Society said today that at the American Cancer Society's annual meeting came some medical organizations who should devote more of their energy to educating American who criticized opponents of President Nixon's plan to set up a separate cancer agency.

Pollard, in a speech prepared for the meeting, said that the average doctor has a low level of suspicion of cancer in his patients and this hampers early diagnosis. "Also, my own feeling is that if some of our major educational organizations, including the American Association of Medical Colleges, through its spokesmen would concentrate their efforts on the field of cancer education, rather than attempting to maintain the status quo of the National Institutes of Health, far more would result," Pollard said.

Although the administration's "conquest of cancer" plan is strongly supported by the cancer society, it has evoked equally strong opposition from a broad segment of the medical and scientific community. The program includes moving the National Cancer Institute from under the wing of the National Institutes of Health and having it report directly to the President.

The National Institutes of Health has supported major medical research programs for years and other institutes under its wing are concerned with such problems as heart, lungs, allergic and neurologic diseases. Critics of the President's plan argue the move could lead to the destruction of the parent organization.

Pollard also indicated what the cancer society can do in educational areas and what direction it will go now that the Federal government is stepping up its research effort. "The answer lies, I believe, within the potential of the American Cancer Society to assume the leadership—yes, and the responsibility—for fulfilling this major educational need," said Pollard, a professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan medical school.

To do this will require tremendous organizational skill, and, of course, a considerable amount of money. The American Cancer Society has a respectable source of both.

U. S. Judge Favors Two Ship Lines

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Court Judge Woodrow Seals has ruled tentatively in favor of two shipping lines seeking to halt union picketing of five foreign ships at Port of Houston.

Seals agreed Wednesday to return the case to a state court but said he would not sign the order until attorneys for the five maritime unions can seek a writ of prohibitions from the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Seals said he would sign his order if the appellate court rejected the appeal. The shipping lines, Westwind Africa Ltd., and Windard Shipping Ltd., contended the unions are illegally using informational pickets to prevent members of the International Longshoremen's Association from reporting for work.

The Houston longshoremen have refused to join a strike affecting Atlantic ports but have declined to cross the informational picket lines.

Bertran Perkal, attorney for the seafarers union, asked Seals to retain jurisdiction. He said foreign ships with inadequately paid foreign crews are keeping jobs from American seamen.

Attorneys for the shipping firms said the informational picketing is related to the longshoremen's strike affecting other ports.

Fugitive Under Police Guard

SAN ANGELO (AP) — A man wanted in Illinois for armed robbery and jailbreaking is hospitalized under police guard here following a fatal traffic accident.

Police said Joseph Drennon, 21, and detective George Waley are still hospitalized after the accident in which Mrs. Beatrice Wood, 52, was killed.

No charges have been filed against Drennon in connection with the accident. Waley said Drennon is a fugitive from Marion, Ill., and that he and another prisoner saw their way out of the Williamson County, Ill., jail while being held on robbery and burglary charges. The other escapee was apprehended a short while later.

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary and one of my duties is to open my boss's mail. The past few months he has been getting some pornographic advertisements. I didn't examine this material very closely, I just destroyed it. On a few occasions he has asked me if that was "all" the mail there was, and I have said yes. I'm wondering if I should continue to destroy this disgusting material, or should I get my courage up and give it to him?

You may want to use this in your column, since other secretaries must run into the same problem, but if you do, please sign me "Wondering If" without disclosing my name or town because if my boss sees this, I won't have to wonder

He never asked me for another date. What did I do wrong? ETHEL IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR ETHEL: You asked him a question with a "ring" in it, for which he was not ready.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend called me up last night and it turned out to be a rather lengthy conversation as I was in a rather talkative mood. Well, since the calls between us are toll calls, he said, "Let's hang up, and you call me back so you'll pay for the rest of the call."

After I thought it over I became very angry because I thought he was being cheap. Isn't the expense of toll calls part of the cost of courting? Besides, I've ironed and mended his clothes on occasion, and have had him over for meals, so I think I've reciprocated. I told him that a gentleman should not even mention the cost of phone calls to a lady.

Anyway, that incident has come between us. I said I had never heard of such a thing. He said it's being done by other people. What do you think of a boy asking a girl to call him back to save on the toll charge?

FOR BEST RESULTS, USE THE HERALD'S WANT ADS!

Rubella Test

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had the test the next day, and it was so simple and inexpensive (free at the Health Department) that I wonder why doctors don't advise all female patients to have the test.

Also if the test shows no immunity and I have had the vaccine, how long should I wait before becoming pregnant? — Mrs. J.D.

For female patients who may become mothers, yes, the test is fine. But it would be wasteful to test women past child-bearing age. Rubella is a pretty

...tive baby, or losing the baby altogether.

It is very good advice for women who may have babies to have the test to see whether they are immune to German measles — many don't know for sure whether they've had it.

There are, in fact, four methods of testing for this, but the simplest is used most often, the H-I (hemagglutination-inhibition) test. This is being produced in kit form by several pharmaceutical firms, and the test gives results overnight.

Four out of five women already are immune, but the other 20 per cent represents a lot of women.

One likely suggestion is to make the rubella test part of the physical examination required for a marriage license. Weak point is that in some places such examinations are not required, or are very sketchy.

Another "blind spot" that needs attention is that the mass vaccination programs are being carried on through the schools, which leaves the pre-schoolers without the vaccination. A rubella epidemic just among these little ones could cause havoc.

Your final question: If you have had the rubella vaccine, you should take the most stringent care not to become pregnant for the following two to three months.

Also — and this sometimes has been neglected — before having the vaccine, a woman always should be tested to make sure that she isn't, unknowingly, already pregnant. Having the vaccination in early pregnancy can do the same damage that having the disease causes.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would breast cancer be detected by a routine chest X-ray? I have a very small bump about two inches above my breast. Could this possibly be cancer? — Mrs. M.I.F.

Breast cancer ordinarily does not show up on a routine chest X-ray. A special X-ray technique called mammography is used. Your bump doesn't sound like breast cancer, but why not have it checked to see what it is?

FOCUS ON IMPROVING VILLAGE LIFE

Puppet Shows Aid Literacy Battle

By JACK DAVIS
LUCKNOW, India (AP) — Puppet shows are being staged to give India a more literate, stronger democracy. A spellbound village audience squats in the dirt watching lively modern folk tales on a portable stage.

The plaster hero, a moustachioed peasant farmer like the village men, saves his starving family by planting a new high-yield variety of rice — which he learned about in a night-time literacy class.

Puppet women — in shawls and long skirts like the women in the audience — learn to escape disease with inoculations, instead of prayers to the red goddess of smallpox. When the show is over, literacy workers answer eager questions and organize a reading and writing course for the audience.

The puppeteers are from Literacy House, a small private center in Lucknow leading the campaign to reduce India's staggering number of illiterates. The world's largest democracy has 386 million citizens without education — over 70 per cent of its population.

For 18 years the modest brick campus of Literacy House — designed by a British architect to resemble an Indian village — has been bursting with new techniques to make literacy the basic weapon against the country's poverty, hunger, disease and overpopulation.

Literacy House workers grow angry at the traditional notion that literacy consists of merely reading an election ballot and producing a signature.

Every word they teach is in the language of birth control, or improved farm production, or nutrition and health.

This is the concept of "functional literacy." It was developed by the center's 91-year-old founder, Mrs. Welthy Fisher, an American missionary and educator who gave up an opera career in 1924 to marry the Methodist Bishop of Calcutta and Burma.

At the urging of Mohandas Gandhi she focused on improving the life of the Indian villages — where 80 per cent of the population lives.

She insisted literacy workers should not be mere "teachers" in the villages, but family planning counselors and agricultural advisers.

"Our job is primarily to produce techniques and material to be used by government and other agencies," he explains.

Most of Literacy House's budget—$227,000 last year, from American and Canadian contributors, and the U.S. Agency for International Development — is devoted to testing pilot programs, training teachers, and publishing special texts for the newly literate.

The open-air theatre for training puppeteers is part of the search for new ways to promote literacy courses in the villages.

The puppets are effective "mass communication" in a country with one television station, which has only a 30-mile broadcasting radius. Some of the plays in the large repertoire were developed by American puppeteer Bill Baird, who has served as adviser to Literacy House.

Literacy House restricts its efforts to the Hindi language — spoken by less than half of all Indians — and hopes that soon others will be able to apply Literacy House techniques to all 13 of India's national languages.

Historic Novel Has Racial Tone

THE JOURNEY OF AUGUST KING, By John Ehle, Harper, $6.95.

It is in the early years of the 19th century, and the scene of this novel is in the high mountain ranges of North Carolina. It describes a grueling frontier life.

August King is a widower in his 40s, with some personal troubles in his past, who makes his annual trek to a trading post to sell the fruits of his labor and pay off his mortgage. He starts back to his mountain retreat with his mare and cart, a young boar and heifer, three geese and some supplies. He is looking forward to improving his livestock in the coming year.

But his journey home turns into a great dilemma and a challenge. He finds a brown-skinned slave girl who has run away from her owner, hoping to find her way to a Northern state and freedom. She is 15, part child and part woman, quixotic and unpredictable, but quick-minded.

August is not a very religious man, and he never has been confronted before with the racial issue, but he feels obliged to respond to the girl's plea for help. He gets food for her, then decides to hide her in his cart and get her past the mountain people who are trying to capture her and collect a reward. During the journey of several days August becomes emotionally disturbed, for as a sex-starved hermit he feels the temptations of being near a nubile girl.

This is a well written historical novel with a convincing ring in its descriptions, dialogue and characterizations. Besides that, its moral and racial implications and its evocation of a man's conscience are pointedly pertinent to other times, including the present.

Snow, Rain, High Winds

By The Associated Press

An icy blast of arctic air gave the East and Midwest a pre-season taste of winter today as snow, rain and high winds whipped parts of both regions.

Two inches of snow blanketed Grand Rapids, Mich., and an inch fell at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. Rain and snow chilled Buffalo, N.Y., and Erie, Pa.

Temperatures dipped into the 40s as far south as northern Florida. Frost nipped almost the entire Midwest.

Light rain dampened the Pacific Northwest.

Fair weather was the rule elsewhere.

A severe squall line that ripped through the Norfolk-Portsmouth, Va., area Wednesday caused an estimated $300,000 to $400,000 damage. Officials said 22 homes and eight businesses were damaged and four persons were injured, none seriously.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 15 at Evanston, Wyo., and Jamestown, N.D., to 79 at Key West, Fla.

Miss Davis' Love Letters In Evidence

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — In a series of letters she never sent, Angela Davis told Soledad Brother George Jackson he was a "beautiful black warrior" whom she "had come to love very deeply."

She also wrote of the role she felt black women had to play in a revolution, telling Jackson: "We too must pick up the sword. Only a fighting woman can guide her son in a warrior direction."

The letters were made public Wednesday as evidence in the state's case against Miss Davis. The former University of California at Los Angeles assistant philosophy professor faces murder, kidnap and conspiracy charges stemming from an Aug. 7, 1970, shootout at the Marin County Courthouse.

A judge and three others, including Jackson's younger brother Jonathan, were killed in what authorities say was an attempt to free George Jackson and other San Quentin prison inmates by taking hostages.

George Jackson was killed last Aug. 21 during what prison officials call an escape attempt. Three guards and two white inmates also died.

Miss Davis' letters, written in June 1970 were seized by the FBI during an Aug. 18, 1970, search of her Los Angeles apartment. Her attorney, Howard Moore Jr., tried unsuccessfully to have Superior Court Judge Richard E. Aronson ban them as evidence on the ground the search was illegal.

Moore explained that Miss Davis never mailed the letters because of prison rules restricting from whom convicts may receive mail.

Aronson presided at pretrial hearings here for Miss Davis. On Tuesday he ordered her trial moved to San Jose, 54 miles south of San Francisco.

Miss Negri's Day In Court

NEW YORK (AP) — Pola Negri, one of the most famous of silent film stars, is going to have her day in court over an antihistamine advertisement.

U.S. District Court Judge Frederick van Pelt Bryan ruled Wednesday that Miss Negri's $500,000 damage suit against the Schering Corp. of Bloomfield, N.J., will be brought to trial.

Miss Negri, now 71 and living in San Antonio, Tex., said the pharmaceutical company violated her civil rights by using a 49-year-old photograph of her to advertise the antihistamine.

The photo is a still from "Bella Donna" released in 1922 and shows Miss Negri with her leading man, Conway Tearle.

"The policy underlying the New York civil rights statute is to protect any living person against the unauthorized use of his or her name or picture for commercial exploitation," the judge ruled.

Indian-Head Penny Decides

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky. (AP) — Mike Carroll pulled an Indian-head penny out of a cup Wednesday and won a seat on the city council.

He and Sam Dibble each collected 1,288 votes in Tuesday's election and decided to settle the issue by a drawing. The first man to pull the Indian-head from the cup containing other pennies would be the winner.

28 Inmates, Guard Flee

TIXTLA, Mexico (AP) — A policeman opened the door of the city jail Wednesday to let one prisoner out, but 28 of the 38 inmates took advantage of the opportunity and fled, the state director of public security said.

When he realized what had happened, the policeman, Alejandro Gutierrez, also ran away, the security director added.

He said Guerrero state and judicial police and soldiers from the Mexican army are searching for the escapees near Tixtla, about 22 miles east of the Guerrero state capital of Chilpancingo.

Last week, six prisoners fled the jail in Tecpan de Galeana, Guerrero, when 12 men entered the jail, shot a guard and freed them.

Pair Pork and Apples for Dining Pleasure

Elegance Is Easy with Frenched Loins and Molded Apple Salad

A special occasion dinner table provides a woman with a showcase for her cooking skill. The holidays ahead, a family birthday or anniversary, visiting relatives or friends — all inspire culinary creativity.

The challenge preparing a festive meal presents can be met confidently with a savory roast in the oven and a spectacular molded salad in the refrigerator. For a flavorsome example, consider for the company menu a pair of frilled Frenched pork loin roasts and a Ruby Apple Salad Mold. With this elegant version of the tasty and traditional pork and apple partnership in readiness, the rest is routine.

Frenched pork loins are roasted in the same simple manner as more plebeian loins that haven't had the tips of their rib bones exposed for frills. Your meat retailer can prepare one or more center pork loin roasts in this manner for you. Also ask him to loosen the chine (back) bone so it can be removed easily from the cooked loin. Thus prepared, a roast can be carved at the table by simply slicing between the rib bones, producing 7 to 8 individual portions, each dressed with a frill.

Ruby Apple Salad Mold, with its jewel-like crown of radiating apple crescents, is a culinary work of art, almost too pretty to slice into servings. Cut into it anyway; it is meant to be enjoyed! The crackling texture and tang of tree-crisp Washington Red Delicious apples created this flavorsome beauty with its compatible combination of ingredients. Since it waits well, preparation can be accomplished at the cook's convenience.

Frenched Pork Loin Roasts

1 or 2 center pork loin roasts,
Frenched (3 to 5 pounds each)
8 to 16 paper frills

Have the meat retailer French roasts exposing about 1 inch of tips of rib bones (by removing the meat over and between the ribs), and loosen chine (back) bone by sawing across rib bones, at base. Place roast or roasts, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in the thickest part. Make certain bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) until done (170°F.). Allow approximately 2 to 3 hours (30 to 35 minutes per pound) for roasting. Remove back bone by running carving knife along the edge of roast before meat is carved.

Ruby Apple Salad Mold

Creamy Layer:

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin	1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cold water	3/4 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons lemon juice	2 tablespoons prepared horseradish
1 tablespoon sugar	1/2 cup mayonnaise
	1/2 cup whipping cream, whipped
	1 Washington Red Delicious apple

Soften gelatin in cold water and lemon juice. Add sugar, salt and boiling water; stir to dissolve. Stir in horseradish. Chill until mixture begins to thicken slightly. Fold in mayonnaise and whipped cream. Core apple, and cut in thin wedges. Stand wedges around bottom of a lightly-oiled 2-quart mold, pressing skin of apple against mold. Spoon a little of the gelatin over apples to hold them in place; chill until set. Carefully spoon remaining gelatin over apples. Chill until firm. Meanwhile, prepare Ruby Layer.

Ruby Layer:

2 envelopes (1 tablespoon each) unflavored gelatin	2 tablespoons lemon juice
2-1/2 cups cranapple juice	1/2 cup port wine
1 tablespoon sugar	2 to 3 Washington Red Delicious apples, cored and cut in 1/2-inch pieces (2 cups)
1/4 teaspoon salt	1/2 cup diced celery
1 can (8-1/2 ounces) pineapple tidbits	Lettuce

Soften gelatin in 1/2 cup cranapple juice. Heat remaining cranapple juice; dissolve gelatin, sugar and salt in it. Drain pineapple tidbits, reserving syrup. Stir syrup, lemon juice and wine into gelatin mixture. Cool until slightly thickened. Fold in apple, celery and pineapple tidbits. Spoon over the firm creamy layer; chill until firm (at least 4 hours). Unmold on platter lined with lettuce. Yield: 12 servings.

Festive pork loin roasts, Frenched and frilled, and a sparkling-regal molded salad including Washington Red Delicious apples make elegant table-mates to insure a memorable meal.

Pork and Apples Score Second Menu Success

Let the appetizing aroma of baked smoked pork and apples announce that a delicious home-cooked meal is coming to the table. Even in these days of women's liberation, culinary achievement wins acclaim, for carryouts and heat-and-eat dinners just can't compete with Mom's cooking.

Even so, today's homemaker need not labor long in the kitchen. Oven-ready meats, such as modern smoked pork shoulder rolls (butts), need only oven time, not the cook's attention. For dual utilization of the oven, bake a tempting apple accompaniment, Golden Glazed Golden, for the flavorsome smoked pork. Halves of this versatile queen of Washington apples are filled with raisins and slivered almonds and glazed with orange marmalade. These golden taste-tempters can be topped instead with whipped cream or dairy sour cream and served for dessert.

Good nutrition as well as savory flavor comes to the table with a pork and apple partnership. Pork, both fresh and smoked, provides the high quality protein, vitamins and minerals contributed by all meats, plus extra thiamin. Washington apples have an established reputation for providing maximum fresh apple flavor in recipes and are an ideal low-calorie snack, as well as being the top table companion for pork.

Baked Smoked Pork Shoulder Roll

1 smoked pork shoulder roll (butt) (2 to 3 pounds) 1/3 cup orange marmalade, if desired

Place smoked pork shoulder roll on rack in open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so bulb is centered in thickest part and is not resting in fat. Do not add water; do not cover. Bake in a slow oven (325°F.) until thermometer registers 170°F. Allow 35 to 40 minutes per pound for roasting. Spread meat with orange marmalade the last 15 to 20 minutes roasting time to glaze.

Golden-Glazed Golden

4 Washington Golden Delicious apples 1/3 cup orange marmalade
1/2 cup water 2/3 cup golden raisins
1/8 teaspoon salt 3 tablespoons sliced or slivered almonds

Cut apples in halves lengthwise, remove cores and place, cut side down, in large frying-pan. Add water and salt, cover and poach over low heat about 8 minutes, just until apples are tender. Remove carefully and place, cut side up, in shallow baking dish. Combine marmalade, raisins and almonds; spoon over apples. Boil the liquid remaining in frying-pan until reduced to about 1/4 cup. Spoon over apples. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 10 to 15 minutes, until glazed. Yield: 4 to 8 servings.

Compatible platter partnership of smoked pork shoulder and Washington Golden Delicious apples first stimulates, then satisfies, appetites. Frozen squash and peas plus corn muffins from a mix complete main course in minutes.

Gingerbread Is Good Anytime

High on the list of traditional American foods is gingerbread. Pilgrims from England, Holland, France, Germany, and Belgium brought recipes for this sweet bread to the colonies. The ingredients were readily available: molasses, ginger, nutmeg, mace, and cinnamon coming from the West Indies.

Colonial housewives topped gingerbread with whipped cream, applesauce, or bananas; baked it into fanciful shapes and decorated it; made it into muffins. They sometimes added orange peel or caraway seed to the batter. For special occasions, a wine glass of wine and one of brandy would be added to the batter; this bread would keep for almost a month.

In pre-Civil War, New England, "Muster" or "Training" Day was observed the first Tuesday of every June. All men between the ages of 18 and 45 would report to the town square for military training; bringing along their wives, children, cousins, aunts, uncles, etc. The Food Peddlers sold "Muster Day" gingerbread made in squares and glazed on the top for 10 cents a slab.

A hard type of gingerbread, cut in small rounds was used as a preventative for seasickness during long sea voyages.

In the fall of 1794, the Marquis de Lafayette went to Fredericksburg to pay his respects to George Washington's mother, Mary Ball. She left her garden, where she had been busy raking leaves, to serve him gingerbread made from one of her favorite recipes; later to be known as LaFayette Gingerbread.

Today, if you visit the Kenmore House in Fredericksburg, which was built for George Washington's sister and her patriot husband, you will be served gingerbread and tea. We've discovered that this delicious gingerbread is made from a packaged mix and we've used this same mix to make Gingersticks. This spicy 'quick' bread is baked in the old-fashioned corn stick pans or small muffin tins and then piped with an orange icing.

GINGERSTICKS

- 1 14-ounce pkg. Gingerbread Mix
- 2 tps. grated orange rind
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, room temperature
- 1 cup water
- 3/4 cup light raisins
- Approximately 2 tps. orange juice
- 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- 5 drops yellow food coloring, optional
- 2 drops red food coloring, optional

Place first 3 ingredients in the small bowl of an electric mixer. Blend to incorporate butter; this takes about 1 minute. Add 1/4 cup water. Blend; beat 1/2 minute on low speed. Add remaining water; beat 1/2 minute on low speed. Stir in raisins. Fill 16 well-greased cornstick pans; small muffin pans may be used. Bake at 350 degrees about 15 minutes. Remove from pans. Cool completely on wire rack.

Combine orange juice and confectioners' sugar in a medium bowl. Stir until smooth. Blend in food coloring. Using a No. 5 or No. 6 icing tube, decorate by outlining sticks and making one or two vertical lines in-between. If muffin pans are used, decorate as desired. Serve with main course of a meal. Makes 16 sticks.

Easy Stuffing For Hamburgers

Like stuffed hamburgers? Try this easy stuffing. Prepare hamburger for patties. Make individual patties and place a slice of dill pickles, a thin wedge of onion and some mustard on it. Fold patty over and seal. Place in skillet and pour on 1 can of tomato sauce with mushrooms. Simmer for 30 to 45 minutes.

MRS. LARKIN MARTIN

'Outdoor Woman' Is Efficient Homemaker

By BARBARA LORD

The routine of keeping house and preparing meals is never a boring one for Mrs. Larkin Martin. Although she classifies herself as an "outdoor woman," Mrs. Martin is competent in all phases of housekeeping. Her cakes, pies and biscuits are always made from scratch, she enjoys cooking for large crowds and she likes keeping a large house filled with knick-knacks and antiques.

The Martins are expecting their first child in February. They recently moved from a mobile home to a 10-room house owned by his grandmother, Mrs. Morgan Martin, who is temporarily residing in Louisiana.

"It's quite a job keeping the place up," said Mrs. Martin, "but it's a fascinating house." The Martin house on Moss Creek Road was built by his great-great-grandfather, W. T. "Bud" Roberts, and was the first frame house built in Howard County. The wood was brought by horse and wagon approximately 100 years ago.

Martin is employed by Eagle Homes. Every spare weekend the couple can manage, they usually go camping and hunting and make weekend trips to Big Bend National Park three or four times a year.

"I love the rugged country at Big Bend," said Mrs. Martin. "We both like to go 'calling.' That's when we carry a light and a caller that sounds like a dying jackrabbit. It's a good way to attract bobcats."

Outdoor activities are somewhat limited now that Mrs. Martin is expecting, but she is never idle. When her husband arrives home, dinner is usually ready, and she welcomes guests any time. She has cooked since she was a young girl. Her mother used to prepare meals for 20 hungry men during round-up time, and Mrs. Martin said the main difficulty she has in cooking is making it for only two people.

The Martins enjoy barbecuing and have groups of 12 to 15 people as guests almost every month. They like informal gatherings, and also have an annual New Year's Eve party. Last year they entertained 25 people in their mobile home.

When she's cooking or baking, Mrs. Martin never uses a cookbook. She said she can substitute ingredients if necessary, but tries to assure she has everything she needs before starting. She said every recipe she has has been changed somehow to fit her husband's particular likes.

Her favorite job in the kitchen is making pastries, and she doesn't use mixes for anything. Since there are just the two of them, she often bakes things for friends and relatives. Besides cooking, Mrs. Martin's favorite indoor activity is reading. She also sews a little and is learning to embroider but said her patience is too short for needlework.

Mrs. Martin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Bohanon of Stanton. She was born in Colorado City, reared in Garden

City and has lived in this area all of her life. Martin was born in Big Spring and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Martin of Houma, La. He hopes to return to college at Sul Ross University in Alpine and eventually wants to teach school. Mrs. Martin also plans to return to nursing school which she began at Howard County Junior College.

PORK AND RICE COMBINE FOR TASTE
Fruits, vegetables add color

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Used By Mrs. Larkin Martin

TWO CRUST CHERRY PIE

- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 4 tps. cornstarch
- 3/4 cup juice from cherries
- 3 cups canned pitted red cherries (water packed)
- 1 tps. butter
- 1/4 tsp. red food coloring
- Pastry for double crust 9-inch pie

Combine 3/4 cup sugar with cornstarch. Stir in cherry juice. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until thick and bubbly. Cook one minute longer. Add remaining sugar, cherries, butter and food coloring. Mixture will be very thick. Let stand while preparing pastry. Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry, and fill with cherry mixture. Adjust top crust, cutting slits in top to allow steam to escape. Bake at 400 degrees for 55 minutes.

STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS

- 6 large green peppers
- 1 lb. ground meat
- 6 slices bacon
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped jalapeno peppers
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 6 slices American cheese

Wash peppers, cut slice from stem end and remove seeds. Cook peppers about five minutes in small amount of boiling salted water. Remove from water and drain. Cook ground meat, onions, jalapeno peppers and seasonings. Stuff peppers with mixture. Arrange in baking pan, and cover each pepper with cheese slice and bacon. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes.

PUMPKIN PIE

- 1 1/2 cups canned pumpkin
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. ground cinnamon
- 3/4 tsp. ground ginger
- 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
- 1/4 tsp. cloves
- 3 slightly beaten eggs
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- 1 6-oz. can evaporated milk (3/4 cup)

Combine pumpkin, sugar, salt and spices. Blend in eggs, milk and evaporated milk. Pour into pastry shell. Bake at 400 degrees for 30 minutes, or until knife inserted halfway between center and edges comes out clean. Cool before serving.

HOT BISCUITS

- 2 cups flour
- 2 1/2 tps. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 3/4 cup milk

Butter or margarine, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening with fork until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add milk and blend lightly with fork, until flour is moistened and dough pulls away from sides of bowl. Turn out on lightly floured board. Knead lightly (30 seconds), and roll 3/4-inch thick. Cut and place on lightly greased pan. Brush tops of biscuits with butter or margarine. Bake at 475 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes.

POT ROAST & SWEET POTATOES

- 1 cup water
- 1 2-lb. roast
- 3 medium-size sweet potatoes
- 1 medium-size onion, sliced thin
- 6 carrots, sliced thin

Dash each of salt, pepper and garlic salt. Season roast and put in pan with 1 cup water. Cover roast with thin slices of onion. Cook at 450 degrees for one hour.

Broiling Lamb

Marinate cubes of lamb (from shoulder with all fat removed) in a mixture of red wine, olive oil and seasonings. Thread on skewers with squares of green pepper and broil.

Rosemary Adds Flavor To Unique Pork Dish

Serve the family a Rosemary Pork Chop Dinner often. It's a colorful and delicious dinner casserole.

This is a skillet meal with imagination; a great treatment of pork, fruit, vegetables and rice that is virtually a meal in itself. You'll find this handsome, delicious dish perfect for a company buffet supper or a cozy family dinner.

What's more, this resplendent pork chop dinner is easy to prepare. Just brown the pork chops in a cook 'n serve skillet, sprinkle them with spices and cook lovingly in orange juice. Later add seasoned rice and apricot syrup. When the rice is fluffy and the pork succulent, fold cooked frozen green peas into the rice mixture and top with chops and whole apricots. Thin wedges of avocado and sprigs of parsley make a handsome garnish.

ROSEMARY PORK CHOPS

- 6 to 8 pork chops, 1/2-inch thick
- 2 tps. butter or margarine
- 2 tps. salt
- 1 tsp. rosemary

1/2 tsp. ginger
1/2 cup frozen orange juice
1 can (1 1/2 lb.) whole apricots
1 cup uncooked rice
1 1/2 cups water
1/4 cup sliced green onion
1 10-oz. pkg. frozen peas, cooked and drained
1 ripe avocado, sliced
Parsley

Brown pork chops on both sides in butter or margarine, in skillet over moderate heat. Mix one teaspoon salt, rosemary and ginger, and sprinkle evenly over chops. Add orange juice; cover and cook slowly until about half done (30 minutes). Drain apricots and save syrup. Lift chops from pan and add rice, water, apricot syrup, onion and remaining salt to skillet. Mix well and top with chops. Cover pan and cook slowly until rice is cooked and chops are fork tender (about 25 minutes). Remove chops from pan and keep warm. Fold peas into rice mixture. Arrange chops and apricots on rice. Cover and heat. Garnish with avocado slices and parsley. Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Clean sweet potatoes and carrots, and slice in thin slices. Add to roast, and cook at same heat for 30 minutes. Add water to roast if necessary.

BROWN CREAM GRAVY

Remove roast from pan, and mix 1/2 cup water with two tps. flour. Add juices from roast. Stir until thick.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Canned fruit cocktail, diced red apple and a drop or two of peppermint extract spooned into a small plastic container with a tight-fitting cover pops up a sandwich-filled lunch box.

A 29-ounce can of cling peach slices contains about 2 1/2 cups of drained fruit — plenty for a 9 x 9-inch upside-down cake or for 6 or 7 servings of fruit plus syrup to serve with cookies as a quick dessert or snack.

Stir chilled and well drained canned fruit cocktail into a mixture of mashed California avocado, lemon juice, chopped green chilies or Tabasco, onion salt and softened cream cheese. Serve with corn chips.

Brown frankfurters with a little butter in skillet. Spoon drained sauerkraut mixed with a dash of caraway seed over franks; top with canned cling peach slices and moisten with peach syrup. Cover and cook gently about 10 minutes until heated through.

Arrange canned cling peach halves cup-sides up on lettuce-lined plates. Fill halves with a mixture of yogurt and cottage cheese; sprinkle with chopped crystallized ginger. Arrange grapefruit segments and banana slices around each peach to resemble "points" of a star.

Well dried and cut marshmallow cherries may be added to a chocolate brownie batter.

When a quick bread or cake recipe calls for one cup of milk, you can substitute 1/2 cup evaporated milk plus 1/2 cup water.

Count on a pound of cube sugar as yielding a couple of hundred pieces. Handy to know when you're feeding a crowd.

If you use a cloth filter in making coffee, it's a good idea to wash it in a solution of baking soda and water. Some Scandinavian coffee pots come with cloth filters.

Drain cooked, whole potatoes and dip in melted butter or margarine. Roll in finely chopped peanuts and parsley.

Try combining orange sections with tuna, shrimp or crabmeat salad. Arrange on a bed of greens.

Remove only bacon strips needed for the breakfast; they pop the package right back in the refrigerator. Plastic or rubber spatulas are great for separating bacon slices.

SOUR CREAM SAUCE FROM HUNGARY
Gives pork gourmet flavor

International Cuisine Includes Pork Steaks

Pork steaks in sour cream gravy is a dish borrowed from Hungary, a country known for its good food that is consumed in an atmosphere of music and romance. Pork is a basic food there as it is here.

Pork chops are the most popular pork cuts prepared in American homes while the more economical round and blade bone steaks are sometime forgotten fare. All are prepared the same way and all have the appealing good pork flavor. The steaks are browned slowly in a small amount of fat. The added fat keeps them from sticking. The slow browning develops the flavor and color that are so desirable in a good pork dish. The meat is seasoned, a little liquid is added and the skillet is then covered. After simmering for 40 to 50 minutes, the steaks are ready to be served. A gravy can be made from the good drippings and in this recipe sour cream is added to make the gravy distinctive.

Hungarian-style Pork Steaks in Sour Cream Gravy are delightful served on cooked buttered noodles. A sprinkle of paprika gives the dish a pleasant bluish. Most important of all, the pork gives the meal a backbone of nourishment. Easy to digest pork is the richest food source of thiamine and contains high quality protein. At the same time modern day lean pork is low in calories. An average serving of 3 1/2 ounces of cooked pork contains just 240 calories compared with 377 calories for pork of yesterday.

HUNGARIAN-STYLE PORK STEAKS

- With SOUR CREAM GRAVY
- 4 blade bone pork steaks, 3/4 inch thick
- 2 tps. butter
- 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tps. flour
- 2 cups water
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- Buttered noodles
- Paprika

Melt butter in a large skillet. Brown mushrooms and remove. Add pork steaks. Brown well on both sides. Season with salt and pepper. Add 1/2 cup water, Worcestershire sauce and mushrooms. Cover tightly and simmer over very low heat 40 minutes. Remove meat to platter and keep warm while preparing gravy. There should be about 1/2 cup juices with the mushrooms in the skillet. Mix flour and remaining water to form a smooth paste. Add to juices. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Stir in sour cream. Serve at once over pork steaks on top of buttered noodles. Sprinkle with paprika, if desired. Serves 4.

Putting Your Home On The Market? Catchy Phrase May Seal The Deal

By VIVIAN BROWN

In some areas the house market is so quiet people are becoming frantic. Competition is keen when a buyer has a choice of 20 or more houses.

Many people complain they haven't had a "looker," whereas a less pretentious house may have sold as soon as it hit the market.

"I know I can sell this house, if I could just show it," commented one man. He has a real estate agent, and he advertises the house.

His problem may be typical. Sometimes the love we feel for a house is an obstacle to its sale, says a woman who has had the experience. We romanticize it because of meaningful things, all personal. But these are things prospective buyers don't see and we can't even put them into words for real estate people or classified advertisements.

You must get across the message that your house is worth a look-see, she says. Her own house was on the market one year before she realized that a catchy phrase or two might intrigue a person to read the classified ad. Her short ad was amended to include "fine old trees, deck, barbecue area."

That's all there was to it, she says, and she managed to sell the house.

Other eye-catching phrases could be: park-like plantings... small pond... brook... pine grove... swimming pool

... studio room... cul-de-sac... fireplaces... skylight... southern exposure... northern light for artist or writer... patio... lovely garden... dog run... workshop in garage.

People like to feel they are getting a bonus with the house. The bonus adds charm. A prospective buyer might buy a house smaller than he needs to get one or more charm points. He will remodel it to suit his needs.

Give the idea some thought and you may come up with something special. Many people are price-shopping, particularly for starter houses. To sell a house as a bargain, "reduced for quick sale," is a good phrase. "Sacrifice" can attract young people. If an owner can provide mortgage help, that too, will attract young people.

A house may be distinguished as "marvelous place for children." Many people look for areas where children will have playmates. If a house is in a small-house community, young couples might like to know it is "a young neighborhood."

Charm is important. It may be worthwhile to spend a little money on planters or a potted tree.

An avocado tree in the corner of a living room helped sell one house. The owner had grown it from a pit and it was a great conversational piece. The potential buyer was overwhelmed when the owner magnanimously said she wouldn't take it with her. "It sort of goes with the room."

The house buyer didn't need to know all the facts. It made her feel at home when the owner was willing to give her the tree.

Another woman claims to have bought a house because she liked the hundreds of jars of preserves the seller had lined up on basement shelves. It gave the suburban house a rural look, she said.

Looking at one's loved house in the cold light of day is difficult. But before people come into your house jabbing spikes into beams and peering into closets with flashlights, you might try to inject a bit of charm.

Elect Slate For WSCS

New officers for Women's Society of Christian Service, Wesley United Methodist Church, were elected Tuesday in the church parlor.

The officers are Mrs. Joe Ramsey, president; Mrs. David Pohl, vice president; Mrs. David Jagers, secretary; and Mrs. Robert Hayes, treasurer. Installation will be at 7 p.m., Dec. 7 at the church. Husbands of members will be guests for the covered dish supper affair.

Mrs. Ben Boadle presided and announced that articles left from the recent church bazaar will be sold at the men's chili supper from 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., Friday in the church fellowship hall. The supper is open to the public.

Mrs. Boadle also announced that a district leadership course will be conducted at 9 a.m., Nov. 17 at the First United Methodist Church, followed by a covered dish lunch.

Mrs. Alta King gave the devotion entitled "Building Bridges." Prayers were by Mrs. J. C. Ray and Mrs. Joe Ramsey.

RELUCTANCE TO CHANGE 'Teachers Trained In Methods Of Looking Backward, But...'

The main goal of any method of teaching is to help meet needs of students," said Mrs. Sue Ashwood, consultant at West Texas Education Center, to Big Spring City Council Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday at Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mrs. Ashwood discussed a new teaching strategy called "The Organizing Idea" and briefly outlined educational trends of the past.

"Being able to predict the future is the main need in education today," she said. "Society as a whole is constantly changing to keep up with trends in clothing, transportation and housing, but we find a great reluctance to change our educational programs."

"Teachers are trained in methods of looking backward due to needs seen from past experience, but now we must begin to look forward."

Mrs. Ashwood showed a film about an Eskimo family and how it provided for food preparation, religious customs and feeding and rearing a child. Relating the customs and needs of the Eskimo family to our own civilization, members of the group indicated they could understand that the more complex a society becomes, the more dependent it is on other people. The Eskimos were dependent almost wholly on nature and their own ingenuity.

Lynn Hise of Big Spring Independent School District, introduced Mrs. Ashwood as well as other guests from the center, Marion Sale, curriculum director; Bill Whitfield, childhood education director; and Dr. Vernon Stokes, secondary education director. Mrs. Francis Fields, elementary supervisor at Fort Stockton was also a guest.

Mrs. Garland Braun presided and announced a leadership procedures course will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 12 o'clock noon, Nov. 11 in Room 219 of the VA Hospital. The parliamentary procedures course originally scheduled Nov. 11, was held Thursday.

Members were reminded that the state convention will be Nov. 17-19 in Dallas. Mrs. Braun will be among those attending from Big Spring.

Washington and Cedar Crest elementary schools were hostesses for the meeting.

MARGARET DANA'S Consumer's Question-Box

When you are trying to figure ways to cut your weekly food bill, don't overlook some of the undramatic but surprisingly effective tricks you can use.

For example, using molasses instead of white sugar in foods like baked bean, cookies, puddings, breads, etc., cuts costs and adds flavor and, besides, children especially like the substitution. If recipe calls for sour milk (or cream, for that matter), make your own by adding one tablespoon of vinegar per cup of milk and letting it stand for five minutes.

Or take the nice, ordinary white potato. It can be a powerful ally in cutting food costs while you maintain nutritional levels of importance. In this diet-conscious age many people shun potatoes because of their supposed high-calorie content. But it's a fact that a medium-sized potato, boiled or baked, has only about the same number of calories as a nice big apple or orange — 100 calories.

And potatoes have a lot going for us nutritionwise. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, they use up in cost only about 2 1/2 per cent of the food dollar, but in return give 10 per cent of the vitamin C needed, six per cent of thiamin, three per cent of the iron, and two per cent of the protein. And nearly everybody likes to eat potatoes.

Good, if you can find it in your stores, is a good buy, and with a little skill in recipes the family will enjoy it. And it follows that the more people who choose the U.S. Good grade instead of U.S. Choice, the more the pressure is off the higher grade — and the lower the price becomes.

Then there is chicken buying, which do you suppose is the better buy: the whole fryer at 35 cents a pound or drumsticks at 49 cents? The answer is that, for actual edible meat, at those prices they are equally good buys. But if drumsticks are priced any lower than this while whole fryers are still at 35 cents a pound, then the drumsticks are the better buy.

I have on hand a chart made up by the USDA that shows a list of different prices for whole chickens and the prices for parts, which make them equally good buys. I have mentioned this chart before, but if you missed it you may want to send for a copy for 10 cents and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope. Ask for "Guide to Chicken Buying."

such as sea foods are displayed are held at a temperature of 40 degrees or lower. The store should have a thermometer inside the case — and most of them do — so you can check this. Frozen foods should be held at zero degrees to maintain their quality.

Test a frozen package before buying it. Apply pressure hard with your thumb, and if the package is hard you can be fairly sure the quality is good. Someday soon there may be a special ribbon inside that package that will change color if the food has been previously thawed and refrozen. You then will be able to avoid that loss of quality.

In seeking lower prices, don't buy torn or damaged packages, nor dented or swollen cans. Buy your fresh foods and frozen foods after you have bought all the other things on your order list. And at home put foods where they belong just as quickly as you can. Good storage practices save you food money.

(Margaret Dana welcomes opinions and questions on buying and will use them in her columns as rapidly as research and space permit. Personal answers are impossible due to large volume of mail from readers. Address: Margaret Dana in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

Californians Visit Knott Residents

KNOTT (SC) — Mrs. Walt Sturtevant of Los Angeles, Calif., was a recent guest of her brother and family, the Fred Parkers. Mrs. Parker and her sisters, Mrs. Gale Merworth and Mrs. Ralph White, were weekend guests of Mrs. Merworth's son, Tim Merworth of Sherman.

Recently returned from vacation to Yellowstone Bible Camp in Montana are the Donald Allreds, the Wallace Bradberrys, the J. B. Shockleys and the Lonnie Kemps. They also visited in Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico. On the return trip, the Allreds visited their daughter and family, the Eddie Herms of Roswell, N.M. Their granddaughter, Michelle, returned home with them.

The Larry Shaws attended Texas Tech Homecoming during the weekend. They were guests of their son-in-law and daughter, the Lawrence Leopards, and their son, Larry Don Shaw. They also visited Mrs. Shaw's mother, Mrs. J. N. Hinson and other relatives.

LOW COST, CALORIES

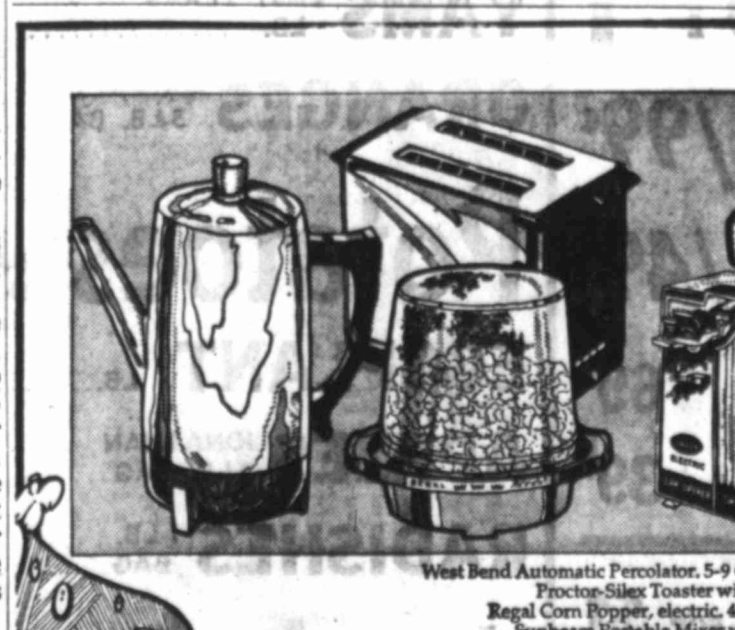

To keep them at both low cost and low calorie, however, skip the rich sauces, fats and creams in preparing and serving them. Skim milk and low-calorie margarine team up nicely in preparing potatoes.

Now, there are a few facts about potatoes that can prevent their being damaged or wasted. Potatoes actually need delicate and careful handling. Since generally speaking, they no longer are left in the fields to "cure" at harvest time, their skins are fragile when shipped. Scientists at Michigan State University have found that bruising while the skin is tender is often the cause of those "black spots" many consumers complain about.

While the consumer cannot prevent rough handling at the field or store, she can be cautious about her own handling, and prevent many of the bruises. Don't dump potatoes into a bin; don't knock them around. Handle them carefully and you can avoid wasted food money.

GET LOWER GRADES

Another good money saver in food buying is to buy a lower grade than perhaps you normally do. Canned fruits in pieces are lower grades — but taste just as good and are as nutritious. Beef in the lower grades is just as full of protein as at the higher grades. While it is true that U.S. Choice beef has more flavor and more tenderness perhaps than U.S. Good, it also has more fat. APARTMENT DWELLERS Join Cult Who 'Do-It-Yourself'

By VIVIAN BROWN
(AP Wirephotos)

The do-it-yourself movement is bigger than ever, and apartment dwellers have joined the cult. The fact was evident recently when a business meeting dissolved into a discussion of amateur work projects—how to cover walls, mitre corners, fix faucets, install bookshelves.

"You can't live like a dog because the landlord won't do anything for you" said a girl in explaining why she had invested money in an apartment she leases.

Another young girl explained she had put more than $400 worth of improvements in her living room, and then she had moved to a more desirable apartment. You must figure improvement money as part of the rent was her opinion. She'll make improvements in her new apartment.

The mention of wallcoverings began a lively discussion with various people expressing different points of view, and which at times resembled a Charlie Chaplin movie—men standing on chairs to show how to ease the covering on the wall, girls kneeling on the floor showing how difficult it was to work around baseboard heaters. One girl argued the merits of pre-pasted papers, but a man insisted that only the paste-it-yourself kind can be manipulated easily—you can move it around until you are satisfied with its position. Another group argued the adhesive problem of vinyls with a man holding out for wheat pastes and a girl extolling the qualities of another adhesive. And there is a tiny roller, she advised, that helps you smooth corners of vinyl, only she didn't realize what it was for until she had finished the job.

INVESTMENTS

Is lumber too expensive to install on someone else's property? Not if it provides you with a good built-in bookcase, much more attractive than the temporary kind, the group agreed.

"You must look at such projects as decorating investments," one bachelor explained. "It doesn't cost anything to use your own labor, so why worry about a little material?"

One man has installed floor covering, wall covering and mirrors that he just won't be able to remove when he leaves his apartment. He hopes the landlord doesn't see it for fears of a rent increase. Hiding behind this investment has educated him to other things—he has learned to fix his own pipes, faucets and so on, since he fears a complaint will bring the landlord to his castle.

A lady executive makes her own curtains and draperies and upholsters her own chairs, in addition to repairing gauged walls. She is considering making furniture when she finds some good patterns.

"Most of us want to prove we can honestly work with our hands," said one girl. But another girl thought that "subconsciously, we are preparing ourselves for survival in a dwindling workers market. We want to be sure we can live without the services of others," she said.

DO DOWN THING

A young man felt the do-it-yourself urge was a hangover from the do-your-own thing youth bit. "We worried so about cleaning up the environment and so on... we want to do the best in our homes."

Older people in this enthusiastic group could remember when it was virtually impossible to get professionals to work and the waiting lists were long—still true in some areas—and they believe people gave up depending on others and began working indoors as they work outdoors in their gardens.

A newlywed said proudly her husband does a lot of the work in their apartment, and that he never had held a hammer until they were married.

FREE ADVICE

All do-it-yourselfers have free advice for fellow enthusiasts:

—He works best who works alone.

—Never answer the telephone and if you are a compulsive phone answerer, don't begin a project that involves precision.

—Plan jobs before you begin. Make sure colors are right before you begin. Never make hasty decisions when buying colored fabrics or paint.

—Buy more rather than less of something... it may be hard to match.

—Unless you understand what you are doing do not start a job. You might start replacing a washer and find you will need a new faucet.

—Avoid doing anything that will damage or devalue the owner's premises or you will wind up with a law suit.

Rehab Center Fetes Board

New board members of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center were honored Tuesday during a luncheon at the center where guests were welcomed by Mrs. Merrill Creighton, volunteer auxiliary president.

The six persons who are new to the board are Lanny Hamby, Clyde McMahon Sr., Jimmy Morehead, Mrs. W. R. Cashion, the Rev. Lee Butler and T. L. Griffith.

Jim Thompson introduced Rashed Ullahquadi of Pakistan, a therapist at the center, who spoke briefly on his background and customs of his native country.

The luncheon program was arranged by Mrs. Cashion.

'Three Square Meals' Hopelessly Outdated?

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A New York food consultant says Americans are doing "an incredible amount of eating" that stretches into eight, nine or even 10 meals daily. But he says they still aren't getting needed nutrition.

The reasons are that American mothers are clinging to the hopelessly outdated ideas of "three square meals a day" and the American food industry is doing "a rotten job" of advising homemakers, he said.

Dr. Paul Fine made the comments Monday at an American Medical Association, symposium on nutrition. Fine is general chairman of the three-day conference which he hopes will lead to better education of both food buyers and manufacturers.

"Very few mothers are aware of the incredible amount of eating that goes on today," Fine said. "The loss of iron control over eating is new and the breakdown is much more rapid than people realize."

In general, Fine blames the breakdown on the accelerated pace of U.S. living.

"The battle is hopelessly lost. We must re-educate mothers. Too often they take the attitude with their family that I'll catch them at dinner, only she doesn't catch them at dinner. Even the idea of the daily family dinner gathering is breaking down."

"We must work within the framework of reality and reality is that constant eating is going on all day."

Chili Supper Stated By Eastern Stars

Laura B. Hart Chapter 1019, Order of Eastern Stars, has scheduled a chili supper to be served between 5:30 p.m. and 7:45 p.m., Friday at Howard County Junior College student union building. The date was set to coincide with the Big Spring Steers' last home football game, and members invite families to stop on their way to the game. Cost is $1.35 for adults; $1 for students; and 75 cents for children under 12. The meal will include chili, beans, cole slaw, pie and beverage.

"Most of the food industry operates on a product-by-product basis, with no interest in food itself. They have no commitment to the idea of food, or even to their products as food..."

"They should help the housewife to find the proper place for their product, not just sell it," he said.

Fine concedes that the manufacturers have a problem. "You can't sell nutrition," he said, "but you can sell food."

A LOVELIER YOU Jewelry Goes From Massive To Elegant

By MARY SUE MILLER

Costume jewelry in the evening, like evening costumes, returns to fashion with feminine ways. The piled on masses of chains and rings gives over to one elegant necklace with one complementary ring. Whatever is worn speaks of restrained taste and quality workmanship.

To enhance a deep décolletage, jeweled pendants hang midway on shorter chains. Ropes swing with stones in tints of lapis and jade. The better to accent a high neckline, crystal beads and fine chains are gathered high in cravat effects. Tres grande dame!

Earrings — buttons and bands — are sometimes smaller but nonetheless brilliant. Dangles are larger, yet intricate and feather-light. Very Old World!

Pins promise to be a success of the evening. One rhinestone spectacular or a scattered clutch points up waist and necklines. Lavishly paved with stones, large rings and flexible cuffed bracelets can steal the scene. With romance in the wings!

But perhaps fashion pearls more exactly reflect the womanly aura now prevailing after dark. Opera length strands and chokers, spray pins and cluster earrings, dazzling bracelets and rings... Oh, so feminine, as we say!

Dieticians Hear Dr. W. Bonner

Dr. Wayne Bonner, guidance director at Howard County Junior College, was guest speaker at a recent meeting of the West Texas Dietetic Association at the Veterans Administration Hospital. His topic was "Personnel Practices in the Seventies."

The next meeting will be Nov. 18 in Odessa at 7:30 p.m. in the Odessa Medical Center where Dr. William Lauderdale will speak on "Hypoproteinemia."
