Disaster struck at sea and in the air over

A British air force plane carrying 46 Italian paratroopers and six British crewmen plunged into the sea off Italy. To the northwest, a French freighter apparently broke up and sank in the

And off the coast of South Africa a British tanker caught fire. Her crew was forced to abandon ship, but the captain telephoned his headquarters in London later that all were picked up safely by rescue vessels.

The British plane crashed into the Ligurian Sea. There were no reports of survivors and officials called the crash Italy's worst peacetime military air disaster.

Wreckage from the four-engine C130 Hercules transport was spotted by searching helicopters and ships off Meloria, an island a few miles from the port city of Leghorn.

The RAF craft was participating in joint British-Italian military exercises. The French freighter in the Atlantic, the Maori, had 39 crewmen aboard. Search planes reported sighting some of the sailors battling to stay alive and French air force rescue teams dropped an emergency raft.

Officials said the 9,400-ton Madri carrying nickel from New Caledonia to France, sent out a distress call from about 580 miles west of La Rochelle. At least four ships steamed toward the scene to aid in rescue efforts.

The British tanker Heythrop, a 43,330-ton craft built four years ago in Japan, was about 100 miles southeast of Durban when she messaged that fire had broken out in one of her tanks. Capt. Alec Matthews calling from the rescue ship Showa Ventura, told his superiors at P. and O. Steam Navigation Co. that all aboard-56 crewmen and five wives - had been rescued after quitting the burning ship.

Philippine Elections

MANILA (AP) - With unofficial election returns in from more than 40 per cent of the country today, candidates from the opposition Liberal party were leading for seven of the eight senatorial seats at stake. President Ferdinand E. Marcos appeared in for a major rebuff.

In the 15,085 races for municipal and provincial offices, a strong majority of the candidates from Marcos' Nacionalista party appeared to be winning, but many contests were not decided.

The senatorial race was the only nationwide contest in the voting Monday and the Liberals campaigned hard on the contention that the election mid-way in Marcos' second term was a referendum on his performance. Marcos allowed the Nacionalistas to run on his record but he insisted that other issues, such as the threat from rural Communist guerrillas, were equally impor-

Senators are elected on a nationwide basis, with the seats going to the eight candidates who get the most votes. With 60 per cent of the vote still out, at least two Nacionalistas were within a few thousand votes of the top eight.

The Nacionalistas currently control two-thirds of the 24 Senate seats and a sound majority in the House of Representatives.

The three months of campaigning were marred by the heaviest bloodshed of any campaign, with nearly 200 persons reported killed.

14 Convicts Shot To Death

MANILA (AP) - Fourteen convicts were shot to death Monday night in a mass escape attempt by maximum security prioners at the Phillipine National Penitentiary.

Officials said one convict was wounded and five others escaped but may have been wounded. Twenty-two convicts in another part of the prison tried to break out earlier in the night but were intercepted without shooting as they tried to put a makeshift ladder against a fence, officials

The 20 maximum security prisoners involved all were under death sentences or serving terms of at least 30 years in the institution 10 miles south of Manila

Disodado Aguiluz, the assistant penitentiary director, said they massed shortly before midnight and began climbing the prison's 18-foot fence of chain links and barbed wire. He said guards fired warning shots as the five-foot barbed wire section at the top gave way. but the inmates continued the escape attempt. The guards then opened fire with .45-caliber pistols, shotguns and machine guns from the towers.

ALL-AMERICAN WORSTER GUILTY

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) - Steve Worster, 22, and Seth Miller, 23, two former players with Hamilton on Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League, pleaded guilty in a provincial court today to charges of possession of marijuana. They were fined $100 each.

Worster was All-American from the University of Texas before turning pro.

ACTION BRINGS ANGRY PROTESTS FROM LABOR

Pay Boost Limit Put At 5.5-Per-Cent

ident Nixon's Pay Board has imposed on American workers a 5.5-per-cent general ceiling on yearly wage increases, bringing angry protests from organized

The Pay Board rejected by a 10-5 vote Monday labor's demand for retroactive payment of negotiated pay boosts which were caught in the wage-price freeze, except in a handful of

OUR CONTRACTS

"They have abrogated our contracts," said President George Meany of the AFL-CIO. However, a federation spokesman said the AFL-CIO convention, starting in Miami Nov. 18, will decide whether the federation will cooperate.

The board in fact bowed to labor's other key demand, approval in full of deferred pay increases scheduled under union contracts already in effect. But it ruled that these raises are subject to challenge and possible rollback if found to be 'unreasonably inconsistent' with the 5.5-per-cent general standard.

Asked whether the five labor members of the 15-man, laborindustry-public board would quit, Chairman George Boldt replied promptly: "I am confident they will not." He got that impression, he added, from conversations with the labor members

HAVE TOEHOLD But an aggrieved union could take the Pay Board into court, and it seemed equally probable that the AFL-CIO leaders would ask Congress for relief. They already have a toehold at the Capitol; the House Banking Committee last week approved among other concessions, would grant labor its demand for retroactivity.

the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers said he would formally recommend to the AFL-CIO convention that the federation and its unions "use every resource at their command to undo the injustice that has been perpetrated by the Pay Board majority at the clear instigation of the Nixon administration."

Walter W. Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, said the guideline "makes a lot of sense . . . It is about the best we could have hoped for." He added:

"It does provide a basis for achieving President Nixon's objectives of getting down to about 3 per cent inflation by the end of next year."

President Paul Jennings of The Pay Board's guideline policy was drafted by the five public members headed by Boldt. It was supported by the five industry members. At the decisive, late-afternoon meeting of the Pay Board, the industry five had offered a proposed guideline that was similar to the public members' in many respects; it was rejected. Then the public members offered their version. Business supported it, and labor voted no. The five industry members later issued a statement endorsing the standard and asking "the voluntary cooperation of all Americans" in its sup-

"It is equitable and fair to all, requiring almost every American to make some sacrifice, as any control program must do," the statement said.

Nixon's other major Phase 2 panel, the Price Commission, is expected to issue price-increase guidelines within the next several days.

HARD WORK

The Pay Board faces more hard work; it must draft regulations to implement the new rules in time for their promulgation before the President's 90-day wage-price freeze ends on Saturday at midnight.

This requires publication in the Federal Register, the official journal of the government. If the deadline is missed, the existing freeze rules will remain in force until the regulations take effect.

The guidelines leave the door ajar for settlements above the 5.5-per-cent standard. In reviewing new contracts, the board said, it will consider "ongoing collective bargaining and pay practices and the equitable position of the employes involved, including the impact of recent changes in the cost of living upon the employes' compensation."

This seemed to authorize above-standard wage boosts to correct inequities between comparable groups of workers, as well as catchup increases for those whose pay has lagged far behind living costs.

major AFL-CIO union urged today a nationwide general strike if necessary to reverse pay regulations imposed by President Nixon's Pay Board.

"We are shocked and disappointed that the first vote taken by the Nixon administration's Pay Board constituted an attack on the economic standards and the general welfare of the working people of our country," said the executive board of the 500,000-member Amalgamated Meat Cutters one of a series of AFL-CIO meetings here, said it will introduce a resolution before the

The Pay Board Monday announced a general 5.5 per cent wage hike limitation and ruled out retroactivity in most cases for pay hikes frozen since Aug. 15. The five industry and five public members of the board outvoted the five labor members, including AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meanwhile, AFL-CIO leaders were split over whether to guit the Pay Board or stay on it and fight its ruling on Phase 2 wage increases and deferred pay lions of individual taxpayers will find their take-home pay dropping in January despite income tax cuts if a $16-billion tax-reduction bill approved by the Senate Finance Committee becomes law.

In many cases a new withholding plan adopted by the panel will take away more than the tax cuts will yield, even though everyone will get some tax reduction

The withholding plan, recommended by the Treasury Department, is designed to eliminate underwithholding for many individuals. The principal groups which now must pay when filing returns are persons earning $15,-000 or more a year, working married couples and individuals with two or more jobs.

What the new schedule will mean is that a taxpayer now in the underwithholding category

WASHINGTON (AP) - Mil- will not have to fork over a large sum when he files his return for that year.

It is estimated underwithholding now totals at least $800 million a year. The House, in passing the tax bill, voted to put the new plan to correct this into effect in two steps--in 1972 and 1973. But the Senate committee decided Monday, by a 7-6 vote, to change to the new system in one step-to take effect in 1972. The Finance panel, in giving final approval to the tax bill, 12-1, Monday, handed President Nixon a substantial victory. The measure contains practically all the benefits for individuals and business which the President has been counting on to boost the economy and produce new jobs. Democrats lost in their fight to give additional relief to individuals but pledged to renew their efforts on the floor.

OUTLINING POSTFREEZE PAY POLICIES - Judge George Boldt, chairman of President Nixon's

Pay Board, has his eyes shut and is tight-lipped as he pauses for a moment before answering a question during Monday night's Washington news conference. The board ruled that pay raises granted after the wage freeze expires at 12:01 a.m. Sunday may not exceed 5.5 per cent a year.

By BRIAN PEAY Bicycle riding is once again becoming a popular sport, pasttime, and even mode of transportation in the United States, but how about a 3,300-mile bike ride? Incredible, maybe, but not impossible said two young Norwegians, Alf Tverstol, 20, and Terje Smestad, 24, of Kristiansand, Norway, who have now peddled, pushed and prayed a two-seater 2,000 miles from New York to Big Spring enroute to Los Angeles. Their adventure began on Fifth Avenue in Manhattan approximately six weeks ago, and the two bikesters are hoping to be in Los Angeles by

Dec. SEE THE PEOPLE

"We wanted to come to the states for a vacation, and figured the best way to meet the people and see the country was a cross-country trek," said Tverstol this morning at the local police station.

The two men worked all summer in Norway to make enough money for the vacation, but upon arriving in New York were still undecided about the mode of transportation they would use to cross the conti-

"We brought the two-seat bicycle, (a Cong model made in Norway), with us, and then finally decided to make the trip on the bike," said Smestad. Laden with 550 pounds of tools, and a lot of warm clothing, the two men left Manhattan going south down the New England Coast, through Washington D.C., Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, and then on through Texas to here. WARMER ROUTE

"This route was a little out of our way, but during this time of the season we were advised this would be the warmest route," said Tverstol, "In fact, a few weeks ago it was so hot that we had to ride during the night and rest in the day.'

There have been other problems confronted by the pair, including three flat tires, one in Big Spring.

Jim Baum and Fred Davis were trying this morning to round up a couple of wheel rims to fit the foreign bicycle, because no domestic tire seems to fit their rims.

"The traffic here in the States is another problem that we did not expect," said Tverstol. "It is so dangerous at times that one of us has to look forward and one looks to the rear, because sometimes we have to get off the shoulder of the highways onto the main roadway. We are used to riding bicyles in our home country, but not quite this far. However, we are enjoying the trip, and the people we meet could not be nicer," we have never seen the desert before. Also when asked what they would do when they reached the Rocky Mountains he replied. "well, our country is full of mountains, which we have ridden over many times, but if we find the going too rough,

When the two men reach California they will do some there, and see traveling Tverstol's friends. Then they will fly back to New York, and from there fly to Norway.

I guess we will get off and

"We did not want to be hampered by a schedule or time-table. We just wanted to enjoy our trip, but we have to be back in Norway by Christmas," Smestad said.

What Of The Single Woman In Social World Of Couples?

The life of a single woman in the modern social world of couples is difficult. However, it is possible for a single woman to keep in the swim of things if she frees herself of embarrassment about going places

So says Eleanor Searle Whitney, who speaks from experience. For 17 years, she was married to the scion of two wealthy historic families, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, who kept her on a constant move, jumping from continent to continent, as they took part in the exciting and glamorous life of the Beautiful People of the jet set. Then suddenly her marriage crashed, ending in divorce in 1958.

In her autobiography, "Invita-tion To Joy," published by Harper & Row, she tells of the help given her in her sudden loneliness by such older friends as Mrs. Marjorie Merriweather Post, Mme. Perle Mesta and Mrs. Elizabeth Nightingale Graham (Elizabeth Arden), who rallied around her with advice on being a successful single woman. They advised her never to refuse an invitation to a dinner or party because she did not have a husband to escort her, and pointed out that if a partner was not provided by the hostess, she could ask whether it was convenient for her to take one. Or she could simply be an extra

"If you will think it over, you will realize there are many interesting and attractive women who are widowed. Also, there are many who never chose to marry, while many others have husbands whose business causes them to travel a great deal," she was told.

'I still feel uneasy about walking into a party alone," she admits, "but I go regardless. And I found it strange at first to attend a lecture or concert with another woman, or by myself, but I realized if I didn't wish to be forgotten or filled with self-pity, I must be my own ticket-getter and transportation and go fearlessly

It is particularly important, she says, for the single woman to be cheerful and not burden friends with complaints, and she must use discretion to avoid the wrong men and the wrong

In her autobiography, Mrs. Whitney tells what it means to be the wife of a man who owned apartments, houses, camps, yachts and an airplane' during their marriage, which "decorated and rearranged," for visits or short stays, while calling a 1,000 acre estate on Long Island "home." Friendships with world celebrities and political leaders are described, including at tendance at Grace Kedy's wed-

Onassis' yacht. "Ari is a perfect host with a great sense of humor and an infectious laugh," Mrs. Whitney writes. "His yacht is really a floating mansion. A beautiful El Greco Madonna hangs over the library desk, and marb'e and lapis lazuli are used for the fireplaces, doorknobs and stair

Contrasting with her way of life as the wife of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney is her description of her typical smalltown American upbringing in Plymouth, Ohio, in the early 1900s. Although most of the houses in Plymouth then did not have running water, indoor plumbing or electricity, her home without these modern conveniences was still "brimming with warmth and comand made cozy by the flicker of gaslight through the cutglass shades of the chandeliers.

It was in these early years, she says, that she learned the meaning of service. At the age of 8, she began helping her father, a doctor, with minor surgery, holding the anesthesia mask and performing other functions of an assistant by the light of an oil lamp in the home of the patient. There was no hospial in that area, and it was doctor to have a nurse in his office. She aided him as a matter of course, for all her friends helped their parents with their work in stores, on farms, or behind soda fountains, and she took pleasure in doing so.

"Most persons who earn, inherit, or marry fortunes feel a responsibility to finance educational and artistic projects that in some way benefit society," she points out in her book.

Among the many philanthropical projects undertaken by her and her husband was an effort to donate a music school building to Florida Southern College which she attended before going to New York to study for a career of professional singing.

Since a number of Frank Lloyd Wright buildings had been constructed on the campus, she was required to engage the famous architect for the proposed school of music to avoid conflicting designs.

"A long, involved and often comical relationship with Frank as intended. This had been made plain to me by his design of the chapel at Florida Southern. Singing in that chapel is a catastrophic experience. Mr. Wright arranged that the choir be placed behind a partition of variously shaped openings in the concrete block wall. None of the gaping holes are at head height. When a solo is performed, the audience sees nothing but a heaving torso, which in a white surplice looks like an unsteady balloon. "I wanted the new music buildings to be solid, functional, and beautiful, and having seen the earlier results of Mr. Wright's pencil, approached the project with cautious deliberation. The plans went back and forth until the whole thing was as ludicrous as it was tedious."

For example, she writes, Mr. Wright wanted to put the orchestra on a balcony instead of in the usual pit. She asked how singers on stage would see the conductor. He proposed that the large light on the end. "How difficult for the singers!" she comments. He also wanted a concave floor in the auditorium which resembled the inside of an eggshell, with seats on angles, or to compensate, every leg on each seat of a different length. She rejected this.

Finally the architect refused to accept any further sug-gestions from her, and when several theatrical designers advised her that no worthy performance could be held in the hall if Mr. Wright finished it according to his final plans, without an additional expenditure of $100,000, the matter was dropped.

Since her divorce, Mrs. Whitney has kept her former friends and social activities, but also has become prominent as a lay religious leader, appearing as an evangelical speaker and singer before large numbers of men's and women's clubs throughout the country, and working closely with Billy Graham and with youth groups.

'People Are Like Kinds Of Bones'

"The body of an organization has four kinds of bones", said Mrs. J. W. Trantham as she reviewed accomplishments of the Texas Star African Violet Club Saturday in the home of Mrs. A. C.Moore, 1907 Main.

"The 'wishbones' spend their time wishing someone else would do all the work, continued Mrs. Trantham; "jawbones' do all the talking, but very little else; 'knucklebones' knock everything others try to do; and the 'backbones' get under the load and do all the work." A summary of the years events included a review of programs presented each month on various phases of gardening. New officers elected were Mrs. Philip Bunch, president; Mrs. Herman Taylor, vice president; Miss Shirley White, recording secretary; and Mrs. Donald Goetz, treasurer. The

Jim Holmes, principal of Kentwood Elementary School, was elected president of District 18 of the Texas State Teachers Association Monday at a TSTA meeting in Odessa.

Holmes, a former president of the Big Spring local unit of the TSTA, will assume office in May, 1972, for the 1972-73 school year. He will assume leadership of all the local units in District 18 and will be in charge of all district committees. He will also help plan the 1972 convention to be held in Midland.

Helmes, reared in Hamlin, has been in Big Spring since 1964, when he started as prinipal of Cedar Crest Ele-GIRL FRIEND - Debra mentary School. He became principal at Kentwood in 1967.

He graduated from McMurry College in Abilene in 1956, and after two years in the service returned to teach in Midland. He took a year's leave of absence and attended the University of Texas at Austin before he came to Big Spring.

Holmes and his wife, Linda, have two daughters, Melody, 8, and Barbara, 4.

There is reason to feel that it will keep climbing until the $110,000 goal is within sight. Yet, these campaigns are taxing on the leadership in

This need not be so, for if the example of several members of our community family were followed, the goal could be reached without travail. We call to mind a recent report which reflected 172 per cent of its goal. We have also in mind one employer who lets it be known when hiring people that those associated with this company believe in and embrace the fair share concept. Everyone under-that the Social Security office force had achieved

Then there is the instance of the joint Southwestern Bell-Communications Workers of America effort. Locally, this has come to be a showcase of what can be achieved in a business or industry when both management and labor are really committed to the task. The result was nearly $50 a person of those pledging under payroll deduction, but even figuring in those who gave by cash or check, the average still was $44.

In all honesty, as chagrinned as we are to admit it, our own employe participation would have been three to four times what it was had the SW Bell-CWA record been emulated.

Unhappily, we are not alone. If other major businesses gave with equal zeal (Texas Electric Service approaches this percentage level), we would see most of them at least doubling and perhaps more than trebling the current level of giving. It can be done. We have several cases to prove it can be done where there is a real desire

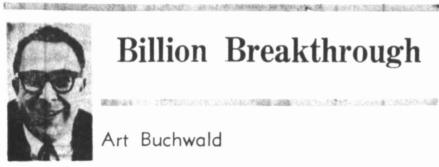

The True Test

When the Congress funded Amtrak last year with $40 million to test whether railroad passenger service can be rescued, everybody concerned knew the $40 million was a teaser. Sure enough, it is. Amtrak will have a deficit of about $276.1 million vice is needed as a part of a national transportation system. A subsidiary point is whether tax funds ought to be spent on finding out. The $40 million investment can do little except to keep a few of the most-promising lines operating.

A true test will come when new kinds of trains prove themselves to the riding public, either on experimental runs or by tough-minded economic surveys. Hard part of the experiment in Texas will be to put innovative service on regular schedules to give commuter passengers (between the big cities) alternatives modes of travel. Alas, that test is far distant for Texas.

Billion Breakthrough

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON - It had to come sooner or later. The unthinkable has become thinkable. The U.S. Navy is asking for One Billion Dollars to build one aircraft carrier.

No one thought it would happen for five years, but when the word got out there was jubilation in all the military services at the Pentagon.

AN ARMY general said, "I never thought the Navy would have the guts to ask for it, but now that they've broken the sound barrier, we're all free to ask for a billion dollars for our favorite weapon.'

"Then you're not mad at the Navy for asking for that kind of money for an aircraft carrier?" I asked.

"WHY SHOULD we be mad?" the general answered. "We've been piddling around with $100 million here, $100 million there on a new piece of hardware, when everyone knows you really can't get a bang for a buck less than a billion.

"B't we didn't know how Congress woul react until the Navy asked for llion for a carrier. It didn't faze hem in the least, so now if the "avy can get a billion for an airer ft carrier, we can get a billion for something we've wanted to build for some time. "What is that?"

"IT'S A GIANT tank," he said, "and it takes up eight football fields. It's the greatest advance in military hardware since the invention of the Gatling gun.

Great Vintage Year

"A billion dollars for one tank?"

"It's not just a tank, you fool," the general said. "Look at this model. The top of the tank is flat so bombers can take off and land on it. On the sides you have missiles and in the front and rear you have four 16-inch

"But even with all those things it doesn't seem as if it would cost a billion dollars."

"AHA, THAT'S the surprise," he chuckled. "You see this here on the bottom?" "It looks like a keel."

"Exactly. This is a floating nuclear airborne tank, something the U.S. Army cannot do without.

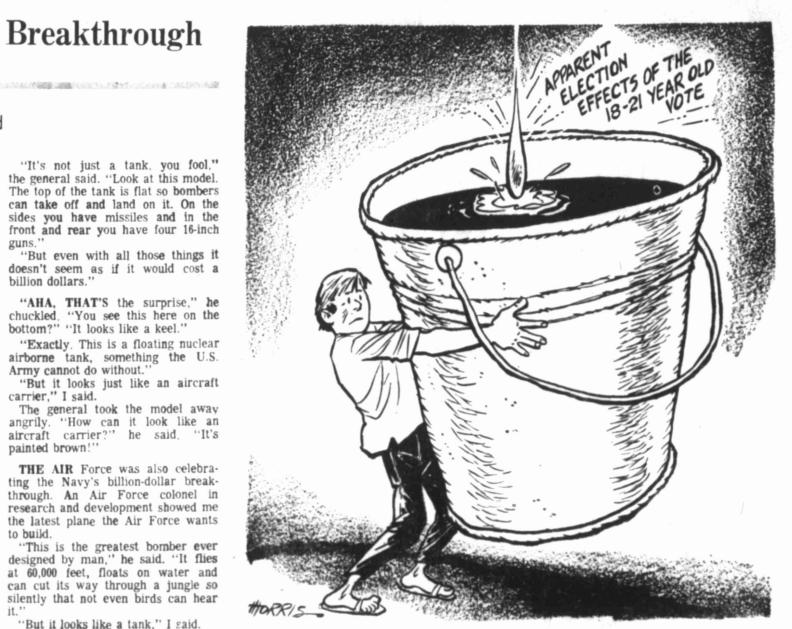

"But it looks just like an aircraft carrier," I said. The general took the model away angrily. "How can it look like an painted brown! THE AIR Force was also celebrating the Navy's billion-dollar breakthrough. An Air Force colonel in research and development showed me the latest plane the Air Force wants to build. "This is the greatest bomber ever designed by man," he said. "It flies at 60,000 feet, floats on water and can cut its way through a jungle so silently that not even birds can hear

"But it looks like a tank," I said "How can it be a tank?" he grumbled. "It says 'U.S. Air Force' on the side.

Unemployment Problem

WASHINGTON - Possibly it is the stamp of a superior civilization of the palate, at least - that France these days should be excited about the new wine crop instead of Mr. Brezhnev's recent visit. The average Frenchman may be a far cry morally from Joan of Arc or even Billy Graham, but he has always had a sense of values where the table is concerned.

HEADY DISPATCHES from the land of good living — and bad livers joyfully report that this year's vintage may turn out to be as good as the great 1961 and 1963 vintages and may even approach the quality of the 1929 product. This is brave talk, because I have seen otherwise peaceful Frenchmen punch strangers who cast aspersions on the '29 masterpiece.

Reading these optimistic reports on the 1971 vintage, one can almost hear Frenchmen - and Frenchwomen, of course, smacking their lips. Although the vines suffered from a cold and wet spell in June and summer storms, fine weather in September saved the crop. We are told the grapes are rich in sugar which will intensify the fermentation process and bring murmurs of delight to the official wine tasters.

AMERICANS generally have found it difficult to understand a Frenchman's excitement over a good wine. It seems to some Yankees another sign of what is fondly believed to be the basic decadence of La More-or-Less Belle France. "Why don't they invent a telephone system that works?" asks the tourist from San

BUT FOR THOSE in this tired world who seek news of something besides the latest moon missiles and political orgies at the United Nations, the new French wine crop is great news. In the rush toward nuclear destruction and rule by pimply teenagers, we have been inclined to forget that a special France is still around. What we needed was evidence that an urbane, chic and sophisticated France lives on, and the enthusiastic talk about this year's wine has submitted same.

FORGETTING for a moment France's political sins, even Americans who are chauvinistic about bourbon and branch water can't help but be impressed by the Frenchman's reverence for good wine. Wine drinking in France is not something one does at meals, or before meals, or after meals — it is a way of life. A Frenchman does not drink wine to quench his thirst or to get loaded; he sips it to savor one of life's most delightful and cultural experiences.

A Frenchman's attitude toward wine is unique, but it may be compared approximately with his attitude toward a pretty girl. In France, a girl with the proper equipment is not merely someone of the opposite sex, she is part of the endowment bestowed on France by a beneficent Nature to add enjoyment and spice to a Frenchman's life. Wine serves the same purpose, only it is more important. A Frenchman can dine without female company, but he will gag on his pressed duck without the RICH FRENCHMEN may enjoy their vintage stuff, but the poor Frenchman is not looked down upon because he is happy with some unassuming wine of the country. What matters is having on your table that vital bottle, so that your life may be enriched and dreams of greatness dreamed.

FINALLY, I have been presented something I've secretly yearned, but never dared hope, for - a flower show award.

Don't laugh. I really did. It's right here on the office wall. Honest. A gorgeous thing! Lavender satin ribbons (a good 10 inches long) with a ruffled button measuring 31/2 inches wide. Gold lettering testifies that it is truly a flower show award from the National Council of Garden Clubs Inc. It was presented to me by the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs, and I am very proud of it.

I did absolutely nothing to earn it.

NOT A SINGLE speciman did I show, nor did I work for hours on an arrangement that would catch the judges' eyes. My only contribution to flower shows has been the recording of them as news events. That's how I won the award for my flowery typewriter. In appreciation, I'd like to pass on several little garden hints for this time of year, from the ladies who know about such things.

ALTHOUGH MARCH seems a long time off, they suggest that a bit of for the busy time ahead. Save time become a pring winner, too.

For a lady who is all thumbs (none later by putting garden tools away of which is green), I'm not doing now, cleaning and lightly oiling them before storing. Sharpen and adjust anything that needs it. Repair the lawn mower so that it will be ready for spring. If there are new beds or borders in your garden plan, now is the best time to open the soil up; the constant freeze and thaw of winter help break down clods of uncultivated earth.

BRING IN A few buckets of soil. Stored in garden or cellar for the winter, they will be ready when you need some potting soil.

Now is the time to write for your catalogs. If you have recently moved or taken a new gardening slant, you may need different kinds of catalogs from those you've had previously. Scan ads in garden magazines for mail order houses that sell trees, orchids, water plants, or whatever speciality you have.

IF NEW equipment is on your spring want list, now is a good time to visit show rooms or write for brochures. Many of the work saving machines are major investments so examine and compare now while there is time.

Finally, jot down notes on what did or did not pan out successfully last summer, and plan to do it differently foresight now can gain untold hours next time. Who knows? You may ahead on foreign aid is hardly a test of whether the system of divided powers works or not. To chop down the whole foreign aid program is a disaster. This is far more than scoring political points, since so much turns on the continuity of many of the programs.

THE GROWING imbalance between military and economic aid was the root cause of the Senate defeat of the Administration's foreign aid bill. A little-known factor was a secret study by the staff of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee showing hat of the total to be dispensed the next five years $27 billion would go for military aid and $24 billion for economic assistance.

IN THE measure voted down a total of $1.723 billion went for all military purposes against less than half that for various forms of economic help. The result was to unite conservatives, who have long felt foreign aid spending was excessive, with opponents of the Administration military policy such as Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who calls it "American imperialism.

NOW A COMPROMISE has been put together with military assistance in one package and economic aid in another. This will presumably wind up with the support of active opponents such as Fulbright, Sens. Mike Mansfield, Frank Church and other Democrats, together with skeptical Republican moderates such as Sens. George Aiken and Clifford Case. In short, it would be a coalition insuring passage of those parts of the package essential for the continuity of aid programs in developing countries even though there have been radical cuts. Soundings by this observer indicate that the compromise is the only chance for survival of foreign aid in the Senate.

THE ADMINISTRATION has a lot of its side in the current dispute. As originally sent to Congress in April, the whole aid structure was

This was an overhaul long overdue. But the House Foreign Relations Committee fell back on the format of the Foreign Aid Act of 1961.

Obviously, that was not good enough so when the tired, old bundle reached the Senate the result could have been predicted. Fifteen Republicans, including Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas chairman of the Republican National Committee, joined 26 Democrats to make the score, 41 to 27.

REP. WILBUR Mills, the grand panjandrum of the House Ways and Means Committee, is saying privately that the deficit this fiscal year will be not $30 billion, as has been widely reported, but $35 billion. For a Republican Administration bringing out of the past an inherent faith in budget balancing, that is a staggering figure. This may jazz up the economy as President Nixon, a very recent convert to Keynesianism and the spur of a deficit, apparently believes it (Copyright, 1971, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

old son to be a person of strong Christian character? Age five is a little late to begin the training of Christian character, but perhaps you, because of your concern, started much earlier. I hope so. Psychologists agree that what happens to a child before age four determines his character more than what happens after that age.

How can I train my five year

There is a legend about a mother who sat by the crib of her child. Five spirits approached her and offered a gift to her child. The first said, "I am health, and whom I touch shall never know pain and sickness." The second said, "I am wealth, and whom I touch shall never know poverty and want." The third said,

"I am fame, and whom I touch shall be famous throughout the world." The fourth said. "I am wisdom, and whom I touch shall be known for his knowledge." The fifth said, "I am Christ, and whom I touch shall be forever true to his dreams and ideals." When the mother heard the fifth voice, she laid hold upon His garment, and besought Him to touch her child. My wife and I both believe that if we can lead our children into a knowledge of Jesus Christ - that is the foundation stone of Christian character. Read to your child about Jesus. Tell him the story of salvation, and when he is old enough to accept Christ, lead him to that life changing decision. Then teach him to live in the world as a Christian.

With Tommy Hart

GLENN DICKEY, San Francisco writer: The football purists argue that these whe really know the game appreciate the finer points of defense. Purists are a pain in the neck; they're always telling you to watch the guards, too. Some of my best friends are offensive guards, but I watch the ball, because that's where the action is. If you really want to empty the stadiums in a hurry, restrict attendance to those who know the game well enough to appreciate all the finer points. That will eliminate at least 95 per cent of the fans, and an equal percentage of sportswriters. Fans aren't studying for a final exam in pro football; they're out there for entertainment, pure and

Arkansas tight end BOBBY NICHOLS, on the difference consideration, finally, was my accounts as boxing, bowling, between the Porkers! Joe Ferguson and other passers:

"It's his accuracy. He never varies his passes. On any out patterns or hooks, for example, he'll always get the ball chest high where you can get to it. On the short passes he can fire real quick. His greatest asset on the long passes is his trajectory — he can lay it right over the defender if he needs to or he can fire it past him if the defender is a step or two behind."
