Senate Democrats Win Campaign Money Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate turned back 49 to 46 a Republican move today to kill a Democratic-backed presidential campaign financing plan which could give major party nominees $20.4 million each in public funds next year.

The key test apparently indicated that the Democrats have the votes to write the plan into the $26-billion tax cut bill. But Republicans indicated they might continue to fight the proposal by offering a series of amendments to it.

BITTER SHOUTING

The move of Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., to kill the plan was beaten with votes of 49 Democrats. It was supported by 43 Republicans and 3 Democrats.

The vote was preceded by a bitter shouting, partisan debate.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, a leading proponent of the plan introduced by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., declared "some form of public financing of campaigns is absolutely necessary to put an end to the day of labor's man, industry's man and whoever's man."

'SMELLS'

"Unless something is done, there is no way to prevent our national politics from becoming the exclusive preserve of the rich or of those who serve one of the economic interests of this nation."

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., declared that the proposal "smells" and represents an attempt by the Democrats "to legislate their way back into office."

"This is an affront to democracy," he shouted. "In effect what the Democratic party is telling the people of this nation is that you will give. There is no consideration as to the quality of the candidates."

Pastore interrupted to say that the income tax checkoff procedure designed to raise the money was entirely voluntary and that no one had to contribute who did not want to.

SOCIAL SECURITY

The Senate Wednesday killed an attempt to add a big Social Security increase to the bill, and thus apparently buried the issue for the remainder of the debate.

The amendment, offered by Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., would have given all Social Security beneficiaries a 5-per-cent boost as well as providing many other special increases.

But Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., floor manager of the bill, contended these questions should be considered on the House-passed welfare bill which contains similar Social Security provisions. He indicated this bill would reach the Senate floor by next March 1.

Long predicted 52 of the 55 Democrats would support the campaign-fund rider, with only 50 votes needed for adoption. And, he said, as many as three Republicans might back it.

The plan is similar to one written into law in 1966 but which was nullified in 1967.

Big Air Support For Cambodians

SAIGON (AP) — Official U.S. sources tonight described the military situation in Cambodia as deteriorating, and said American air support has been substantially increased.

The U.S. Command declined comment, but official sources outside the command said the Cambodians had been getting increased American air support for 10 days.

Dispatches from Cambodia have reported U.S. Cobra helicopter gunships are attacking enemy forces mounting a threat to Phnom Penh 10 miles west of the capital.

The disclosure came amid reports circulating in Saigon that the Cambodian government also had requested South Vietnamese infantry reinforcements to relieve pressure around Phnom Penh.

Sources said that the major increase in U.S. air support was in the form of tactical lighter-bomber strikes flown from bases in South Vietnam and Thailand.

U.S. rocket-firing helicopter gunships have been providing cover for Cambodian supply convoys moving along the Mekong River to Cambodia's capital and along Highway 1, the Saigon to Phnom Penh overland route.

"The situation is not good," said one source.

Fighting has been raging for a week on Phnom Penh's western outskirts, where the Cobra gunships have been in action. Two North Vietnamese and Viet Cong regiments are threatening Highway 4 and 5, both key supply arteries.

A Cambodian counter-offensive on the northeastern front began Wednesday with U.S. tactical fighter-bomber strikes, shelling and infantry probes.

Reports from Phnom Penh said that bombers had hit a rubber plantation about 50 miles northeast of the capital and around the small town of Rumlong, two miles farther north.

Rumlong was captured by troops of the Communist command's 9th Division after an 18-day siege that inflicted heavy losses on the 1,000 Cambodian defenders.

Bowling Ball Clogs Up Works

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Crystal Tissue Co. has resumed operations following a four-day shutdown caused when two bowling balls clogged a line in its waste treatment system.

The bowling balls were removed Tuesday night and operations resumed Wednesday.

"We absolutely have no positive knowledge of how the bowling balls got into the line," Thomas McMurray, vice president of the company, said.

The system treats plant waste dumped into the Miami River and the Environmental Protection Agency reportedly insisted that it be in operation.

11 INJURED Black, White Students Fight In Abilene

ABILENE (AP) — Eleven persons were treated for injuries Wednesday after a fight broke out between white and Negro pupils in the Abilene High School cafeteria.

The fighting began during a mid-morning break and schoolmen said they did not know what started it.

Officers estimated 30 to 40 pupils were involved.

Injured were eight girls and three boys. Two were taken by ambulance to doctors. The others were treated at the school clinic.

Some white parents took their children out of school.

Some of the Negro children appeared angry over the arrest of a black teen-ager during the weekend.

About 80 demonstrators protested the arrest Sunday night of Johnny Stevenson, 18, whom, they claim, was beaten by Police Sgt. Marvin Sanders. About 500 attended a protest meeting Tuesday night.

Police Chief Warren Dodson, who has conferred twice with the black delegation, said he is investigating the circumstances of the arrest and has asked the FBI to make its own probe.

Ratliff Bids For House Seat

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Tom Moore Jr. of Waco and Rep. Grant Jones, Abilene, both prominent floor leaders in the Texas House, announced Wednesday they will fight it out in 1972 for a seat in the 1973 Texas Senate.

At the same time, Sen. David Ratliff, Stamford, announced that he would not be a candidate to succeed himself, but instead would be a candidate for the House seat now held by Rep. Moore. He had been paired with State Sen. Jack Hightower, Vernon, in the newly constituted 24th district which stretches from Big Spring to Wichita Falls. Sen. Hightower is expected to be a candidate for this post. Ratliff is a veteran member of the Senate.

Moore was unofficial leader of the "Dirty 30," a coalition of Liberal Democrats and of Republicans in the 1971 legislature that time after time questioned the authority of Speaker Gus Mutscher.

Jones, Abilene businessman, was chairman of the House Committee on Urban Affairs.

Abilene is in the northwest section of the new senatorial district while Waco is on the eastern boundary, a distance of 138 miles. The 13 counties of the district are Brown, Coleman, Concho, Coryell, Hamilton, Lampasas, McCulloch, McLennan, Menard, Mills, Runnels, San Saba and Taylor.

"Responsibility in state government is the number one issue," said Jones, 53, who is serving his fourth term as representative from Abilene. "With state spending increasing at the rate it is, the needs and demands of the people will require responsible elected officials to determine the necessary programs with equitable funding. I am being told that ethics in state government will be an issue and I shall be working to create the type climate that will give the people of Texas full confidence in elected officials."

Charter Revision Members Okayed

An emergency meeting of the city commission was held today at 11:30 a.m. in which the formal appointment of replacements for charter revision committee was approved.

Concern over the appointment of four men to replace those who have left the committee this year has been voiced in the past few days. City commissioner Wade Choate explained that he called the meeting so that the appointments could be made formally, and there would be no dissension.

"I originally made four appointments to the committee and since then two of those who were appointed have left. That is why I appointed the two replacements," said Eddie Acri, commissioner. Choate also revealed that was his reason for appointing one other replacement.

Mayor Arnold Marshall raised the question on whether the replacements would be aware of the work the committee has done so far.

"The main committee doesn't even know what the recommendations of the sub-committee are yet and won't know until tonight. So these new men will not be in the dark any more than the main committee members," said Jack Watkins, commissioner.

Choate then recommended that the whole commission approve the appointments. Harry Nagel, city manager, said that the council could take the action without violating state law, because the emergency meeting had been legally posted.

Eddie Vela and Gus Ochotorena, Acri's appointments; Sidney Clarke, Choate's appointment, and Steve Morgan, Frog Koger's appointment, were approved by the commission. The city fathers were questioned on current controversy concerning the legality of charter revision committee appointments.

"I sat down with an attorney the other day and we found that state statutes require a city to hold an election of charter committee members only upon the original initiation of the city charter," said Acri.

Other members of the commission agreed that appointment of revision committee members was legal after the original charter had been developed by elected committee members.

A meeting of the revision committee will be held in the commissioner's chambers at city hall tonight at 7:30.

WASHINGTON (AP) — As construction workers learned the wage freeze isn't over for them, the nation's soft-coal miners prepared to present to the Pay Board today their case for a three-year contract that may feel the restraints of federal control.

The Pay Board said Wednesday pay increases in the new miners' contract may be subject to rollbacks if "unreasonably inconsistent" with the 5.5-per-cent standard yearly increase the board has set.

PAY PRICE—BLOOD When The Hosts Thank The Guests

CHICAGO (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Corrigan, who have six hemophiliacs in the family, held a dinner for 250 persons willing to pay the price — a pint of blood.

The couple has four sons and two grandsons who have hemophilia, a hereditary disease which afflicts only males. It leads to difficulty in controlling bleeding, even after minor injuries, because of delayed blood clotting.

The Corrigan's have been organizing such dinners semi-annually for 17 years. The latest one was Wednesday night when about 250 relatives, neighbors and friends each gave a pint of blood and then sat down in a high school cafeteria to a catered dinner of mostaccioli, ham, chicken, roast beef and all the trimmings.

The Chicago Blood Donor Service provided the medical staff and equipment.

"We started at the suggestion of a friend who got the idea after he took three others to the blood bank one evening and then made a night on the town of it," said Mrs. Corrigan.

The Corrigan's have to pay for a current blood need of 1,500 units a year for their sons Chuck, 28, Marty, 16, Bill, 14, and Roger, 4.

Until four years ago whole blood plasma had to be used and the children received the transfusions at a hospital. But since then Mrs. Corrigan has been giving her children injections of cyroprecipitate, a blood derivative which brings about clotting. She keeps the cyroprecipitate in her kitchen freezer and administers it at home.

"She does it right on the table," said Marty. "She's gotten pretty good at it."

Mrs. Corrigan says she uses about 47 units of cyroprecipitate a month. Each unit has to be paid back with two units of blood.

The Corrigan's three years ago adopted a baby who was unwanted because he was a bleeder. The boy is their youngest, Roger.

The Corrigan's have four daughters — three who are married — and another son who is not a bleeder. Two of the grandsons have the ailment.

"Over-all, we've been thankful," said Mrs. Corrigan. "We've had faith in God, and he's rewarded us. People have been wonderful."

As for the dinners, Corrigan said: "We've found it's not that people don't want to give blood. It's that they don't like the idea of going to a blood bank alone. Here, we have a good time. Our friends may stay three or four hours."

State Oil Allowable Raised For December

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Railroad Commission raised the statewide oil allowable today for December, breaking a string of seven consecutive monthly reductions in the allowable.

The December allowable was set at 63 per cent, or one-half of one per cent higher than this month.

The December allowable will permit maximum production of 3,339,400 barrels a day next month, compared with 3,318,059 barrels daily this month.

Actual production, however, is estimated at 3,080,846 barrels a day, which, as usual, is just about what major buyers requested.

Their written nominations for Texas crude oil in December totaled 3,054,399 barrels daily, a decrease of 4,920 from November.

Eleven of the 14 major buyers asked for the same amount of crude oil in December as this month. Two sought less. Only one asked for more oil next month than in November.

The commission said the Bureau of Mines forecast of the December demand for Texas crude is 3,465,000 barrels a day, an increase of 45,000 daily from this month.

Commission Chairman Byron

Tunnell said Texas' crude oil stocks as of Nov. 12 totaled 99.8 million barrels, a decrease of 11 million from a year ago.

Troops Seize Irish Gunmen

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops seized 23 suspected gunmen in pre-dawn raids today, bringing the total rounded up since August to 1,003.

About half of them have been released, and about 300 are indefinitely interned as suspected members of the Irish Republican Army. The rest are in jail awaiting assessment of their cases.

Security forces claim that arrests on this scale, coupled with arms seizures and battle casualties, have dealt a massive blow to the IRA's terrorist campaign to unite Northern Ireland with the neighboring Irish Republic. But violence continues.

Labor Leaders Book President

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany announced today that President Nixon will speak Friday to the big labor federation's convention, where union leaders sharply attacked new federal wage controls.

The Pay Board spent another day debating labor's demand for unconditional retroactive pay of wage increases lost in the freeze. The vote was 9 to 5, against labor's position, a spokesman said. Merit pay also was considered, without a decision, he said.

Further, some freeze-delayed raises for nonconstruction workers may not be rolled back as were some post-freeze raises in old contracts.

Meanwhile, without public announcement, the Construction Industry Stabilization Committee has issued an order by telegram saying "no economic adjustments provided in collective bargaining agreements in the construction industry that were to take effect on or after Aug. 15 can be placed into effect until further notice from this committee."

Most of the nation's 2.8 million construction workers are unionized. The stabilization committee ruling does not apply to nonunion workers.

The telegram, sent to union and management representatives last Friday, said the matter of ending the freeze for construction unions will be taken up at the stabilization committee's next regular meeting Saturday.

A high-ranking committee staff member Wednesday promised "substantial clarification" of the situation after that meeting.

Meanwhile, the President's Pay Board has allowed every-one but union construction

Summer Job Applications Are Available

WASHINGTON — Cong. Omar Burleson said today that the Civil Service Commission is now receiving applications for the 1972 competitive examination for summer employment with the United States Government. The examination leads to eligibility for appointment to most temporary summer jobs at Grades GS-1 through 4, and also Post Office Clerk-Carrier PFS-5.

Those who are interested in summer jobs covered may apply to take the written test on or before three filing dates — Dec. 3, 1971, and Jan. 7 and Feb. 2, 1972. Rep. Burleson stressed that applications for the written test, postmarked after Feb. 2, 1972, will not be accepted. If you miss the last test, you can not be considered for jobs filled by this application and for maximum consideration, you should apply as soon as possible.

The congressman noted that applicants rated eligible in 1971 need not take the written test again unless they wish to improve their scores. They will automatically receive a special form to update their qualifications and indicate their availability for employment in 1972.

Any application forms (and announcement details) needed to apply for jobs described in Civil Service Announcement No. 414 may be obtained from college placement offices, most post offices, or at the congressman's district office, 2101 Federal Building, Abilene, Tex. 79601.

Fireman's Hair Was Too Long

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A fireman, a lieutenant, a captain and their battalion chief all lost a day's pay because the fireman's hair was too long. Fireman Robert Perrows, 31, was suspended for one day Wednesday for violating Fire Department rules on personal appearance.

A disciplinary board also ordered his three superior officers suspended for the day for "failing to notice" Burrows' hair, which he said extended to "just a little curl at the neck." Burrows got a haircut after his pay was docked $36.18. Lt. Robert Hammermeister $42.11, Capt. Richard Conte $48.05 and Battalion Chief Cecil Russell $57.61.

Cops Press Big Manhunt For Escapees

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — The body of a man tentatively identified as an escaped prisoner was found Wednesday in the Rio Grande. A search continued for four other escapees.

Sheriff P. L. Flores said the body was believed to be Homero Mena, 26, of Laredo, a trust held as a parole violator. He apparently drowned, the sheriff said.

Mena and four other inmates escaped from Laredo's Webb County jail Sunday night.

The sheriff reported one guard has been suspended indefinitely and another was being questioned in connection with the escape.

Another jailer was fired soon after the break because officials learned he is an ex-convict. He also has been questioned.

District Reports Water Sales Up

Having the merchandise to sell makes a great difference in the 30 per cent difference in sales for October, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reported.

Water deliveries for the month amounted to 1,275,626,456 gallons compared to 980,169,669 a year ago when oil companies had been cut back sharply due to then-dwindling supplies. Rains during the past summer changed all that for oil company sales of 457,948,256 gallons for October were up by 93.34 per cent. For the year, however, oil company sales of 2,723,330,761 gallons are far under the 3,531,889,622 for the comparable period a year ago.

Municipal sales amounted to 871,678,400 gallons, which was 1.68 per cent under the previous October because heavy August and September rains dulled demand. Odessa required 253,381,000 gallons, down 5.18; Big Spring 183,813,000, up 7.51; Snyder 52,000,000, down 2.82; Stanton 4,887,000, up 234.05; Midland 233,165,000, down 6.82; San Angelo, which drew no water in October of 1970, pumped 90,551,000 gallons this year.

The district sales for the year to date stood at 12,176,606,113, which is 7.38 per cent less than for the previous year due to the heavy curtailment, and cut-off in some instances, during the first half of this year for oil and mining purposes.

Production now is going at an even pace with Lake E. V. Spence and Lake J. B. Thomas the source of supply.

Youth Horseman Banquet Saturday

An awards banquet for the local Youth Horseman Association will be held Saturday starting at 8 p.m. at the immaculate Heart of Mary Hall.

Organization winners in the halter and performance classes will be recognized in the dinner banquet. Also the crowning of the junior and senior queens for the coming year will be conducted.

Guest speaker for the banquet will be Bruce Griffith, Howard County agent.

HELPING OUT — Mrs. Eleanor McGovern, wife of presidential hopeful Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, helps little Sandra Sosa with a lesson during one of her visits to Manhattan day care centers Wednesday morning. She also helped out her husband in his presidential campaign by addressing a luncheon for Nassau County, N.Y., volunteers backing Sen. McGovern.

John Connally, Flower Hints In Texas Star

At one time in his career, a game announcer's whim. There were all kinds of goings-on at Hallettsville when in Sunday's Texas Star by Editor Jimmy Banks. The Star is distributed with the Big Spring Sunday Herald.

Other features this week deal with flowers at Six Flags, the football fortunes of Slippery Rock, and old-time skirmishing about the courthouse at Hallettsville. The shooting at Dallas affected John Connally's life, brought him to realize that an item like tying your own shoes can be a major chore and sent him off on a safari where he did some deep thinking.

Experts who tend plants at Six Flags keep their business — they use extraordinary care to keep the vegetation looking beautiful, and they offer some excellent advice for homeowners who want to keep their premises lovely.

There is a thing going between Slippery Rock, a small college in Pennsylvania, and the University of Texas. Dan Garza tells how the two schools formed a fine friendship as a result of

Gunshot Victim Doing Better

Improvement has been shown in Mrs. Jean Anderson's condition. Lubbock Methodist Hospital is listing her condition as fair, and she was transferred out of the intensive care unit this morning.

Mrs. Anderson is being treated for an accidental gunshot wound in the chest. She was wounded Saturday when she apparently heard what she thought was a prowler and went for a .22 caliber pistol which accidentally discharged.

Assault Case Hearing Is Postponed

LAMESA — Pretrial hearings for defendants and their attorneys in the McSchooler case here has been postponed, according to Vernon Adcock, district attorney.

Nov. 11 the district attorney reported that the pretrial had been scheduled for Nov. 19, but today decided that the session would be postponed. He gave no reason for the postponement.

"We will not know anything until after Dec. 2," said Adcock, after being asked when a possible date might be set for the pretrial.

Sources here said that the district attorney will possibly have a meeting with the defendants' attorneys around Dec. 2 to make further disposition toward a pretrial hearing and other matters concerning the case. Also a possible change of venue motion will be presented in the upcoming pretrial, sources said.

Pretrial scheduling is the latest development in the case since the three Lubbock lawyers were appointed to represent the three defendants, Jesus Garcia, Christoval Alcorca, and Ernesto Garcia, all of Brownfield.

The district attorney has filed a motion in district court asking for the death penalty in the cases of the three adults, and they are still in custody in the Dawson County jail, without bond.

Two juveniles involved in the case were found guilty. According to Leslie Pratt, county and juvenile court judge, the two youths were committed to the Texas Youth Council.

President Wants Another Jetliner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the No. 1 jetliner in the White House fleet already has a look-alike sister ship, President Nixon wants an identical twin borne at a cost of more than $9 million to taxpayers.

The proposal, treated with such priority that it was included Wednesday in a supplemental budget request for the current fiscal year, would provide him a second top-of-the-line model from Boeing's 707 series.

HAZY DATE — In Seattle, a Boeing Co. spokesman said the plane could be ready by mid-1972, an election year in which Nixon's extensive travel routine is likely to expand. A presidential aide would say only that a delivery date is indefinite.

The new airship, a 707-320B, would replace a 13-year-old 707-120 which has seen considerable service as Nixon's chief backup plane, including his recent trips to Alaska and Key Biscayne, Fla., and adviser Henry Kissinger's second visit to Peking.

And it would match exactly the "Spirit of '76," the sleek, 9-year-old queen of the executive jet set at nearby Andrews Air Force Base. Although there is no difference in looks or luxury between it and the backup plane, the 707-320B has better range and can operate from shorter airstrips, according to Col. Ralph D. Albertazzie, the President's pilot.

"For example," said Albertazzie, "we got it into the Orange County, Calif., airport, and the backup couldn't have done that. We went into Templehof (Berlin) and Ronaoka, Va., and the backup couldn't have done that, either."

Albertazzie, who has flown Nixon into all 50 states and more than 250,000 miles, said he had not been aware the President was going to ask for the new plane, one of several items for which a total of $91.55 million is sought in new spending authority from Congress. "But it is a longstanding requirement," he said. "It will give us true backup capability." At the moment, he added, the "Spirit '76" is the only 707-320B in the Air Force inventory.

David Ratliff Is On Council

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes announced today the appointment of five members of the Texas Senate to the Texas Legislative Council. Those appointed are Sen. David Ratliff, Stamford, who represents this district; Jack Hightower, Vernon, who has been cast in the same district with Ratliff; Don Kennard, Fort Worth; William N. (Bill) Patman, Ganado, and Max Sherman, Amarillo.

The Texas Legislative Council directs the activities of a staff whose duties include the investigation of departments, agencies and officers of the state to study their functions and problems, the gathering of information, and making recommendations.

Agents Find Several Clubs Operating As Open Saloons

AUSTIN (AP) — A weekend spot check in Houston, Dallas and San Antonio turned up 32 cases of private clubs operating as "open saloons" in violation of the new Texas liquor laws, says the Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Chairman Tom Gordon of Abilene said Wednesday the commission would continue such undercover work—maybe daily—"until it is satisfied" that all private clubs are requiring walk-in customers to buy the new $2 temporary membership cards.

In other action, the commission: —Was asked to ban "lewd magazines" from the counters of a Mineral Wells drive-in grocery chain. Texas liquor laws prohibit beer and liquor license holders from possessing or displaying on the premises "any card, calendar, placard, picture, or handbill that is immoral, indecent, lewd or profane."

—Announced a "Red Baron" club at 1807 Main Street Mall in Dallas has been suspended from doing business for a week, starting Dec. 6, because it allegedly charged $10 membership fees while holding a permit to operate as a public bar.

Gordon said clubs violating the temporary membership law are subject to a minimum 30-day license suspension.

Since mid-June, only 28,200 such memberships have been sold, bringing the state $56,400 in revenue.

Private clubs buy the cards in advance from the ABC in minimum lots of 50.

Committee Aide Probing Beating Of Fellow Sleuth

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A Wednesday night was William B. Gallinaro, 44, who only last year was the target of alleged Mafia threats in New York state.

Authorities said Gallinaro, an investigator for the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations, was knocked out, beaten and kicked as he returned to his hotel room Tuesday night.

The chief investigator for the subcommittee, Phil Manuel, arrived here late Wednesday, officials said.

SAFETY FIRST

Gallinaro's assailants stole papers "pertaining to his work for the subcommittee" but took nothing else, officials said. Police said a tape recorder and a tape cassette were damaged. Contents of the papers were not revealed and few details of the case were made public.

"No additional information will be disclosed, since to do so might endanger the safety of other persons," a Washington spokesman said.

Gallinaro, described as a "New York Sherlock Holmes," reportedly was the object of a Mafia "contract" while working last year for the state Joint Legislative Committee on Crime in New York.

State Sen. John Hughes, the committee chairman, disclosed information from unidentified sources in May, 1970, that the Mafia had offered $100,000 to have Gallinaro killed because of his work for the committee.

RUMORS OF FEUD

Rumors later circulated that a feud erupted among crime families and that one crime boss threatened to kill anyone who took the contract.

Gallinaro, a father of two, has received more than 30 citations for his law enforcement work, officials said. He joined the subcommittee, headed by Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., last February.

Published reports said Gallinaro questioned Tuesday a jail prisoner who allegedly is linked to the Mafia's traffic in stolen securities.

Another report said Manuel not only will investigate the attack on Gallinaro but also will take over the probe of organized crime here and elsewhere in South Texas.

DEATH 'CONTRACT'

Spokesmen in Washington said Gallinaro held an interview Tuesday but details were not disclosed. He arrived here Monday.

Reports from Washington said Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., speculated that the attack on Gallinaro may have a bearing on an alleged "contract" for Gonzalez' life.

The San Antonio congressman recently received information on the alleged death threat against him from an FBI man.

Reports here also said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., demanded a "full investigation" of the attack, declaring, "We cannot tolerate such abuse of public officials."

Indian Dances Highlight Meet

The monthly meeting of Pack 137, sponsored by the Washington PTA, was held Tuesday at 7 p.m.

The den. competed in whistling and in Indian leg wrestling.

Highlight of the evening were a series of Indian dances demonstrated by the Order of the Arrow Indian Dancers. They danced dances honoring various animals and invited the Cub Scouts to join them in a social dance involving women and children.

The following awards were presented:

Bobcat—Kevin Bock, Mark Morse, Jerry Lane Phillips, Robert Dupuy and Kenneth Hui-bregtse.

Webelos—Robert Dupuy, Kenneth Hui-bregtse, Danny Wiley, Scott English, Danny Roach, Randy McNallen, Brent Pearce and Jim Ellison.

Service stars — Joe Gilliland, Danny Wiley, Jimmy Ferguson, Scott English, Danny Roach, Randy McNallen, Brent Pearce and Jim Ellison.

Scientist activity badge — Robert Dupuy, Kenneth Hui-bregtse, Danny Wiley, Scott English, Danny Roach, Randy McNallen, Brent Pearce and Jim Ellison.

Other awards — Jimmy Ferguson and Scott English, arrow points; Joe Gilliland and Danny Wiley, denner; and Jerry Lane Phillips, assistant denner. Four new boys joined the pack.

Keith Swim Attends Meet

Keith Swim, administrative assistant for federal programs in the Big Spring schools, is attending the sixth annual Statewide Conference for Adult Education Directors in Corpus Christi Wednesday through Friday.

The program is sponsored by the Texas Education Agency and will discuss new developments in adult education.

CONGRATULATIONS — Col. Malcolm Ryan congratulates Maj. Fredrick W. Egin as he awards him the Distinguished Flying Cross medal during ceremonies at Webb AFB. Also receiving DFC medals were Maj. Melvin H. Holmes and Capt. Ernest F. Petrash, Jerry I. Brabeklis and James W. Reese.

Webb Officers Get DFC Medals

Five Webb officers have been presented with Distinguished Flying Crosses (DFC) by Col. Malcolm Ryan, wing commander. The medals and citations were awarded to Maj. Fredrick W. Egin, and Maj. Melvin R. Holme, and Capt. Ernest F. Petrash, Jerry I. Brabeklis, and James W. Reese.

Maj. Egin's citation stated that "he distinguished himself by extraordinary achievement as a forward air controller in Southeast Asia on May 29, 1970. On that date, Maj. Egin directed tactical fighters in support of friendly troops that had come under heavy fire from an unknown size hostile force." The citation went on to describe "his accurate directions of the ensuing air strikes while exposed to ground-to-air fire enabled the friendly forces to continue their advance."

Maj. Holme's citation read, "despite intense anti-aircraft fire, he directed strike aircraft against the opposing elements causing them to break contact and withdraw." these comments were citing his bravery in action over the Republic of Vietnam on May 17, 1970.

Capt. Petrash was decorated for "participating in aerial flight as an F-4D pilot in Southeast Asia on July 26, 1970." The citation stated that, "on that date, Capt. Petrash flew on a strike mission against one of the most heavily defended road segments and storage areas in Southeast Asia. Despite the high threat of anti-aircraft artillery and marginal weather conditions, Capt. Petrash made numerous accurate ordinance deliveries, completely destroying supplies destined for use against friendly forces."

Recently promoted, Capt. Jerry I. Brabeklis was cited for his participation as an F-4D pilot near Pleiku, Vietnam, on Jan. 24, 1971, while still a first lieutenant. The citation says "despite the hazards of mountain terrain, low ceilings, and intense small arms fire, 1st Lt. Brabeklis' flight was credited with five military structures destroyed, four bunkers destroyed, one cave uncovered, one secondary explosion with billowing black smoke over 400 feet in the air, and four hostile troops killed by air."

Another recently promoted captain, James W. Reese, saw action and was cited when a first lieutenant. His citation states that on Feb. 16, 1971, 1st Lt. Reese was participating as a forward air controller, and "a small allied unit was attacked by a large opposing force. With complete disregard for his own safety, Lt. Reese continued to accurately mark the target as he directed two tactical air strikes against the hostile position until the contact was broken."

RGV Farmer To Take Stand In Slay Trial

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — A McAllen area farmer was to take the stand today as a prosecution witness in the murder-for-hire trial of Charles V. Harrelson of Houston.

Harrelson, 33, is charged with murder in the 1968 shooting death near McAllen of Sam Degella Jr., a prominent Hearne grain dealer. Degella vanished July 6, 1968, while on a grain buying trip in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. His bullet torn body was found in an abandoned shack southwest of McAllen five days later.

John Pawlik, a McAllen area farmer who found the body, was to be the first witness today, according to Dist. Atty. Oscar McInnis.

Defense lawyer Percy Foreman of Houston wound up almost eight hours of questioning and cross-examination of a key prosecution witness late Wednesday.

Watkins had earlier testified he was present when Harrelson led Degella into the shack. Watkins, who has served a federal prison term for gun running, also said he heard two shots inside the shack before Harrelson walked out alone.

House Nixes June End Of War Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cutoff of Indochina war funds is headed for a new Senate fight after defeat in the House and a statement by President Nixon that he will ignore the only war deadline Congress has passed.

In what Nixon called an endorsement of his Vietnam policy, the House rejected 238 to 164 an effort to halt funds for all U.S. Indochina war operations next June 1.

But Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Congress should apply "the power of the purse-strings which belong to Congress alone" if the President ignores the policy passed by Congress on ending the war.

Church said he and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., will seek to amend a House-passed $71-billion defense appropriations bill to withhold Indochina war funds except for money needed to get U.S. forces out.

A White House aide said Nixon considered the House vote "new backing of his policy for gradual disengagement, while keeping alert for the possibility of a negotiated end of the war."

The June 1 war fund cutoff rejected by the House was proposed by Rep. Edward P. Boland, D-Mass., who called it the only way to end U.S. involvement in the war and call Hanoi's pledge to release American prisoners in exchange for a war deadline.

"This is a put-up-or-shut-up proposition to Hanoi," Boland told the House. "They have been saying they would negotiate if we gave them a cutoff date. Well this is the date."

But Nixon said shortly before the House vote that such restrictions by Congress "hinder rather than assist in the search for a negotiated settlement."

That, he said, was why he would not be bound by Congress' call in a $21.3-billion weapons-authorization bill for negotiated total U.S. withdrawal "at the earliest practicable date" in exchange for release of U.S. prisoners and an accounting of the missing in action.

HUD Director Discusses Local Housing Project

Highlights of the Housing and Urban Development 236 program were outlined by Don Earney, L block, regional director, at the Downtown Lions Club here Wednesday.

Earney, noting some opposition has surfaced here against an application for a HUD project, said he was not present to sell any project, but purely for informative purposes. The one application filed from here is for 75 units, he said, but he would not speculate whether it would be approved or disapproved. It is HUD's job to determine if the loan feasibility study, need, etc. warrant approval. Cost of a 75-unit project, he figured, would be just a hair under a million dollars.

The FHA bears cost of projecting the project with its government-underwritten loan from private sources without tax funds, he said, but when it comes to rent adjustments or subsidies, these are from federal tax funds.

The 236 program, he explained, is designed to help low income families, and not necessarily the lowest income. Anyone, however can live in such a project providing he pays the open base rent.

Earney touched on these details: The project is privately financed but FHA guaranteed. In the case of a 75-unit program, (at $13,000 average per unit), the cost of construction, land, operator, maintenance, etc. on a 40-year payment on a 7 1/2 per cent note would come out to about $145 per month for the 16 one-bedroom units; to $160 per month on the 35 two-bedroom units; to $177 a month on the 24 three-bedroom units.

But the program permits the government to pick up the tab for the difference between the 7 1/2 per cent commercial rate and a one per cent rate. On the project cited, this would push the one-bedroom units down to $102, the two-bedroom units to $113 and the three-bedroom units to $125 per month.

... however, 25 per cent of the tenant's gross salary is greater than the adjusted base rental, then he must pay the difference up to 25 per cent of his income. For example, on a $6,000 income 25 per cent would be $1,500, which would be $125 a month that the tenant would be obliged to pay for a one-room unit, etc.

There is a "piggy back" program, which may be added only if the city council approves, which would put up to 20 per cent of the units subject to an outright rent subsidy payment. In such cases, it is conceivable that an extremely low income family could qualify for as little as $37.50 a month, he added.

Income limits under the regular program would be $4,800 for one person; $5,265 for two persons; $5,670 for three persons; $6,075 for four persons. Under the "piggy back" program, income limits would be one person $3,600, two persons $3,900, three persons $4,200, four persons $4,500, etc.

Two Bookmaking Charges Filed

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Indictments were returned Wednesday against two Lower Rio Grande Valley men accused of bookmaking on college football games.

Named were Otis Sullivan, 55, who operates a produce shed at Raymondville, and Walter Terry, a Harlingen contractor.

Officers said they confiscated $278 in cash and 75 betting slips when they arrested the men on a traffic violation.

SELLING CHILDREN — Tattooed ex-convict Ernesto Tigie, 31, who confessed Wednesday, Manila police said, that he kidnaped and sold at least 17 children, 2 to 7 years old, is shown after his arrest in the Philippine capital. None of the children, many of them street urchins without homes, had been located, police said. They said the youngsters were sold in the provinces.

Efforts To Harass Labor Members Off Wage Board

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — AFL-CIO leaders, charging efforts to harass labor members off President Nixon's Pay Board, reportedly will urge convention delegates representing nearly 14 million union members today to fight federal wage controls in the courts and Congress. But they will keep their men on the Pay Board.

Woodcock of the United Auto Workers whose unions do not belong to the AFL-CIO.

There are five members each for labor, industry and the public on the board.

But he said, 'Hell, no, I'm sticking with the other four members,' the source said in reporting on discussions at Wednesday's closed AFL-CIO council meeting.

"There is no question that the 10 public and industry members are trying to sandbag the labor members... it is harassment in an attempt to discourage us and force us to walk out, but we won't," said a source in a private AFL-CIO strategy meeting.

THAT'S THE TICKET
He said the harassment was aimed at blaming labor for any failure of wage controls.

The federation's 35-man executive council reached a consensus decision at the meeting to recommend the legal and legislative fight against wage controls for approval by 1,000 AFL-CIO convention delegates.

"We are going to go legal and legislative—that's the route we are going to take, but we won't get off the board," one source said.

Sources added that the three AFL-CIO members on the Pay Board, including President George Meany of the labor federation, expect the two other labor members to take the same position. The two are Presidents Frank E. Fitzsimmons of the Teamsters and Leonard

Unsolved Problem

A California suit challenging the constitutionality of school district property taxes has become as a pebble dropped into a lake which causes everwidening ripples. It has now raised the question of school bond marketability.

In the California case (a similar case is on file in Texas) the courts held that disparity in valuations among school districts denied equal access to educational opportunity. The courts noted that rich school districts could provide a much better educational program than poor districts.

The opinion, delivered by the California Supreme Court, in Serrano vs. Priest, caused immediate concern in Texas. A similar disparity exists in Texas, one that is not overcome by state per capita apportionment under the Gilmer-Aikin formula.

The ensuing uncertainty has spread to the school bond market. Frank Smeal, a top official of Morgan Guaranty Bank of New York City, a major buyer of municipal bonds, was quoted by the Christian Science Monitor as saying "there's a big cloud hanging over school bond issues."

The concern of Wall Street is not over bond issues that have already been sold. Those issues, based on the property tax, would be paid off under existing contractual agreements. It is the new issues which raise doubts — a $6.3 million Cranford, N. J., school bond issue sale has been postponed pending the outcome of a suit questioning the state's school financing system.

Fortunately, this threat to the state's school financing procedures has been recognized. An interim Texas legislative study committee is exploring the subject. It should have some recommendations to make to the 63rd Legislative meeting in January, 1973.

Matter For Court

Efforts to resolve problems surrounding the resignation of Hollis Randell with the end result he remain on the job apparently proved futile. The matter came down to a resolution pledging 100 per cent cooperation by all members of the court, and when it was apparent that one member of the court would block that, two others regarded a 100 per cent pledge with 80 per cent backing as futile.

One solution is to begin with statewide equalization of school property taxes. Either the state or local districts then would levy on this base. Most feel that it should be a state levy with the state making a uniform per capita payment to the districts. This leaves the matter of bonded debt, which varies widely, to be settled.

Had the legislature heeded the advice of the Governor's Committee recommendation that state aid be based upon the degree of real local effort several years ago, the problem would not exist today.

Gems Of Wisdom

Around The Rim

Jean Fannin

The Herald is a member, in good standing I hope, of the Associated Press, which bills itself as the largest news-gathering service in the world.

DUE TO THE limitations of space, there are necessarily some items which never make it into The Herald. I thought this week I would give Herald readers an opportunity to read some of the gems culled from AP which never make it into our paper:

Spanish inns serve fried doughy churros with cups of coffee. (If I ever make it to Spain at least I will know what I'm getting with coffee.)

Japanese take curry-fried doughnuts with their green tea. (See above note.)

TEXAS FALCONERS can not hunt any wild game bird, wild game animal or fur bearer with their birds during the regular open season. (I can't understand why Tommy Hart didn't run a full-length story on this.)

The game of darts now claims an estimated 3.2 million fans in the United States. (Nothing, however, was said about the number of victims.)

AUTOMOBILE accidents in Italy cause 10,000 deaths a year. (At least it's better than reading about the wholesale slaughter on our own highways.)

London is losing 80,000 people a year in a drift to homes and jobs in the countryside. (Does this mean England will soon join us in suburbia phobia?)

AMERICANS bought more than one million new automobiles in October. (Yeah, them and the bank.)

Kentucky Lake in Tennessee in November showed a total of 62,000 ducks and 12,000 Canada geese. (Ver-r-y interesting.)

China's former summer palace of the Manchu emperors in a Peking suburb has reverted to its old name of Yi Ho Yuan — Yi Ho Park. (Yippee!)

YOU MAY BE tempted, as am I to scorn these bits and pieces of news. But don't forget, somebody gets paid for writing them.

Whiter Than White

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Thanks to the government, housewives are completely confused about the use of phosphate detergents.

FIRST, THEY were warned that if they used these detergents they would pollute the waters of the land.

Then, after the women of America decided they would give up phosphates and use other kinds of soaps, they were told by the surgeon general to go back to using phosphate detergents.

Because of this confusion we have decided on a question-and-answer format to clear up this matter once and for all:

Q—WHY DOES the government tell you one thing about phosphate detergents, and then a few months later tell you the opposite?

A—Because one department of the government never knows what the other department of the government is doing. The Environmental Protection Agency, which worries about clean water, is against phosphate detergents because they cause algae to grow in the water. The surgeon general is for phosphate detergents because they are safer for children to eat than caustic detergents without phosphates in them.

Q—WHERE DO the soap companies stand?

A—They can go either way, at least in their advertising campaigns. When the first publicity about phosphate detergents made the headlines, all the soap companies announced they had new nonphosphate products that would save America.

Q—WHAT IS the soap companies' solution to eutrophication, the process which clogs the water with algae?

A—The soap companies' solution is for each community to build new sewage-disposal plants to screen out the phosphates.

Q—Isn't that more complicated than screening out the phosphates before they go into the detergent boxes?

A—Yes, it is, but soap companies don't have to pay for the sewer plants.

Q—WHAT IS the surgeon general's argument for housewives going back to phosphate detergents?

A—His argument is that 85 per cent of people using phosphate detergents are not contributing to water pollution. Only 15 per cent of the population, mostly around the Great Lakes, are guilty of eutrophication. Ecology people opposed to phosphates say the surgeon general is all wet. Any time you discharge phosphates into water, they affect the quality of water hundreds of miles away. The lakes of 32 of the 50 states show signs of dying from phosphate-fed algae.

Q—WHO IS the housewife to believe?

A—That's a good question. The housewife has to make a choice between clothes that are whiter than white or water that is cleaner than clean.

'YEAH—WELCOME HOME BOY—WELL, GOTTA RUN'

Pay Board Problems

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The new economic policy is only three months old but it isn't too early to say that the going is getting tougher all the time and that the prospect of quick, clean accomplishments is fading.

The Pay Board especially appears to be facing problems. The five labor members have been aligned in opposition to the majority of the 15-member board. And wage demands, and some agreements, far exceed guidelines.

The soft coal industry has agreed to a 39 per cent increase in wages and benefits. Rail signalmen have won a 46 per cent increase over 42 months, subject to Pay Board approval. Similar agreements are forthcoming.

Are these to be considered impudent attempts by labor to flout government efforts to keep wage increases, on average, to 5.5 per cent a year?

The president of the National Association of Manufacturers, W. P. Gullander, thinks they are. He forecasts an uprising against "abusive labor union power, of which industry has been aware for more than a generation."

But when you listen to labor leaders you obtain an entirely different view. It isn't greed or antagonism or disrespect or power or selfishness that motivates them, as they see it.

It is, instead, responsibility to men and women who, over the years, have suffered financial deprivation, insecurity and health problems. And that battle, rather than having been won, may have suffered a setback from inflation.

This presents the Pay Board with the nearly impossible task of resolving quickly and practically the incredibly divergent points of view that are rooted in hundreds of years of history.

It presents them with issues that have been settled only after long fights and then only temporarily, it being understood by both parties that the argument was to be reopened one or two years later.

It isn't surprising, therefore, to see the same alignments and attitudes existing as before. Labor members of the board are likely to vote together. Business denounces profit limitations but proclaims the need for wage restraints.

And while it is conceivable that the Pay Board will be able to attain the degree of restraint it seeks, it also seems likely that it can do so only with considerable friction.

What Do You Do In A Box?

Hal Boyle

By C.C. MINICLIER (Substituting for Hal Boyle)

CAIRO (AP) — There you are, jammed into this little room with an undetermined number of strangers and the floor begins to move.

What do you do? The problem faces countless millions of city dwellers several times a day as they ride elevators to or from their offices or homes, or in the elevators of total strangers.

Some stare at the floor, others the ceiling, others the little light indicating which floor one is passing.

It is a box you ride regularly there may be a familiar face or two to greet—or avoid.

If you are a stranger in the box you will be given the once-over by all, from your broken shoe lace to your slightly overdue hair cut and you'll get off at your floor with relief.

If you've not ridden this one before there are many things to do—ponder how children under the age of 12 will know not to ride it alone, as the instructions say, especially if they can't read yet, or see the instructions; count heads and compare the number with the posted load limit; compare your estimate of the combined weight of passengers with the posted legal limit.

Some elevators have built-in distractions.

Paris and Cairo still have some of the lovely glass-walled elevators which lift you ever so intimately up an open stairwell, giving each rider a special feeling and offering the rider a chance to study the architecture and faces of those who missed the lift.

But few elevators are built with the rider's entertainment in mind.

Graffiti catches the eye in older elevators and offers the single rider an opportunity to add to the collection.

Most elevators simply offer you a place to stand, but not enough room to do anything in comfort.

You can easily spot those who have adapted to the ups and downs of riding in a little box suspended by a cable perhaps thinner than a woman's arm.

They pass the time appreciating the view of a shapely female passenger with less than modest pleasure: deftly lift a piece of french fry off the unsuspecting room service waiter's tray tickle the chin of a howling baby or make jokes with the most appealing fellow traveller.

Less relaxed passengers stare at the floor, until they feel the wearer of the unpolished shoes they are staring at is staring back at them, then their eyes quickly shift to the lighting fixture or a suddenly fascinating fly buzzing overhead.

It would appear to be against the rules of box riding to look at anyone, except for a passing glance, but there are other things to do. Push the button for your floor again; look at your watch, listen to it, wind it; adjust your tie; count the coins in your pocket or scratch your chin.

A sudden jolt or a brief unexpected power failure shatters the ice amid the least congenial box full. They smile, joke and exchange greetings, happy as the journey resumes that they did not spend the next several hours together, in darkness.

More Hopefulness

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The American people are experiencing not a "controlled economy" but what might be termed a "guided economy." For the government will impose no special restraints on what business and labor may do so long as they hold raises of prices and wages within certain guidelines.

PRICE INCREASES may be permitted in some cases that will not conform to the 2.5 per cent average per year which will be generally applied. Similarly, not all wage rises will be restricted to the 5.5 per cent a year set as the over-all average. Inequities will be corrected and adjustments will be made to avoid the necessity of setting up a huge mechanism of controls by government authority that could only slow down the economy.

The major objective is to increase productivity and to make possible the rate of profit which has previously been earned by management. The limits are on the percentage rise in prices and wages so that these can be kept at a point that will permit growth of the economy without heavy inflationary pressures.

THE GENERAL purpose — economic stabilization — has been received with approval by both business and management as a whole. Some objections will be raised in individual cases, but the principle behind the economic program is widely accepted as practicable.

There doubtless will be some strikes and some instances of dissatisfaction. But it is to be noted that the governmental agencies which are dealing with the restraints are confining them to the larger business operations — those that could affect the curve of inflation.

THE OTHER countries of the world are watching with interest America's experiment with guidelines and import surcharges. If American exports should decline sharply and the dollar runs up against difficulties abroad, there certainly would be adverse effects on nations which are dependent upon their commerce with the United States.

At the same time, however, the imposition of the 10 per cent surcharge on imports was a development that caused many countries to realize that the United States was being hurt by the influx of products manufactured with low-cost labor in some areas of the world.

In official circles here a firm belief prevails that revaluation of our currency in terms of gold will not be necessary.

ONE OF THE big advantages of the present situation is that nations around the world are discovering that the American people are well aware of the failure of other countries to do their share when the United States has done so much to help through both foreign-aid and military-assistance programs. The fact that America is hesitating today about continuing some of these projects on the scale of previous years is creating worry abroad.

Altogether, the "economic stabilization program" provides an opportunity for an overhaul of parts of our international as well as national policies that affect the economic future of the United States.

THERE IS more hopefulness in the air now than there has been for months. This is due largely to the resolve of the government here to deal with extreme rises in wages and prices and to get at the sources of continuing inflation. The new agencies will concern themselves primarily with the transactions of the bigger companies which have been setting the pace for years and, in effect, determining the wage rates as well as the prices that have prevailed throughout the country. The stabilization program is really a readjustment of the American economy.

45-Star Flag

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A 45-star American flag? The local branch of Goodwill Industries discovered there was one, dating back to 1896 when Utah was admitted into the union.

When Oklahoma achieved statehood in 1907, the 45-star flag became obsolete. Nonetheless, it had an 11-year run.

The flag was donated to Goodwill by Ralph Lindley, who found it in an old box he bought at an auction. Goodwill employees, with his approval have offered it to the State of Utah.

Cattle Country

CANBERRA (AP) — Australia has 178 million sheep, 24 million cattle, and 2,568,000 pigs, the government statistical service reports. That makes two cattle and 15 sheep for every person in the country.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Our nine year old son reads the Bible and says that he is saved. Some people say he is too young. What do you think? A.M.

I know lots of parents who would like to have such a problem. Our young people of these times need the Lord more than any other time of history. There are so many distractions and pressures in a secular society to draw them away from the church and Christ. You must know that the Lord speaks to children as well as adults. He spoke to the young lad Samuel, and he became a mighty prophet. He spoke to the boy, David and he became the anointed king of Israel.

When children are old enough to sin, they are old enough to open their hearts to the Savior. Jesus said "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." If our Lord did not think them too young to receive Him, let us not be guilty of keeping them from Christ.

You should be thanking God for the interest of your son in the Bible.

A Devotion For Today...

Watch thou in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of thy ministry. (II Timothy 4:5)

PRAYER: Dear God, our Father, help us to set up a plan of devotions that will be unselfish. Supply us with the faith to help others as well as ourselves. We pray in the name of the Son, Jesus. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

NO MORE BRIDES OFFERED Tamed Nile No Longer Pampered

CAIRO (AP) — No more does the River Nile enjoy its annual marriages. Nor does it angrily flood and destroy thousands of villages.

In the past, the mighty river was so feared by Egyptians that every year, in August, they hurled a live girl into it. And the river reacted with floods, enriching the land and watering thirsty plantations.

The ancients called the doomed girl "the bride of the Nile" and the flood reaction "the faithfulness of the Nile."

The practice was observed for thousands of years, with colorful regattas, decorations on the river banks and day-long merriment.

This pagan practice was interrupted 14 centuries ago when the Moslem conqueror Amr Ibn El-aass declined to throw girls into the river. Instead, El-aass hurled a piece of clay on which he wrote: "O Nile, if you flood with God's will, then I bid you to flood this year. But if you flood with your own will, then you may never flood again."

The words went into the waters and the river erupted a flood all the same.

Nearly three centuries ago the live brides were substituted with effigy brides, and the river floods continued.

The ancients called the river "Father Happy" and worshipped it because it overfed them. But the contemporaries dubbed it "a tamed beast," partly because it underfed them and because they managed to control the devastating floods with a giant dam at Aswan.

"Egypt is the gift of the Nile," said the Greek historian Herodotus 24 centuries ago. The saying was unquestionably true at the time, but it has become vulnerable and contestable today.

Egypt has changed since it was called "the granary of Rome" and its wheat fed peoples between Alexandria and the South Sudan.

Today, Egypt imports wheat from the United States, France, Canada and the Soviet Union.

Egypt's population grew to 34 million this year and is expected to top the 80 million mark by the close of the century. The Nile provides waters to irrigate nearly eight million acres. Experts say that the river may not be able to flood Egypt a century from now.

Before the High Dam was built at Aswan streams were dug to contain the devastating floods, but to no avail. In the 1930's the British built a small dam, also at Aswan, to tame the river and to conserve the waters, but the floods continued to destroy thousands of villages along the Nile Valley.

In 1964 Egypt began the massive Aswan High Dam, built with Soviet help. A 315-mile long artificial lake, reportedly the largest in the world, held up Nile waters behind the dam and the quenchless river was, at last, under control. Floods ceased and brides, live as well as effigy, were hurried no more.

Egypt's life is the life of the Nile Valley, where more than 85 per cent of the population lives. Away from the river it is hot, dry, lifeless desert.

Except for the High Dam, and the distractions of modern Cairo and Alexandria, the scenes along the Nile are much like those seen by river travelers more than 2,000 years ago.

Peasants still till the fields with simple tools.

Feluccas, the ancient river craft with collapsible masts and three corner sails, creep toward Alexandria with cotton and clay, passing gently nodding palm trees which shade the river banks.

Vets Get Out Of Paperwork

Nearly one million checks mailed Nov. 1 by the Veterans Administration carried a welcome reminder to the recipients that they were relieved of some paperwork.

Jack Coker, VA regional director, explained that PL 91-588, enacted last December, allows the VA administrator to exempt from filing annual income questionnaires (IQ) those pensioners 72 years old and older who have been on the rolls during two consecutive years.

These pensioners include veterans, widows, and parents receiving dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) payments from VA.

Nixon Signs Weapons Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon signed Wednesday a $21.3-billion military procurement bill but said he would ignore one of its provisions—the Mansfield amendment urging him to set a final date for the withdrawal of all U.S. forces in Indochina.

Nixon said in a statement that the amendment "is without binding force or effect; and it does not reflect my judgment about the way the war should be brought to a conclusion."

The President charged, too, that "legislative actions such as this hinder rather than assist in the search for a negotiated settlement."

The procurement authorization bill provides for continuation of construction on the antiballistic missile system, as well as other research and development programs. It also includes an amendment removing the President's authority to ban chrome imports from Rhodesia.

Blind Becoming More Independent

TORONTO (AP) — A. N. Magill, totally blind as a result of an accident 44 years ago, sits in the driver's seat of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and maintains it is this type of influence that gives others in the same situation that has made the CNIB "unique" among world organizations with the same aim.

Magill, who as managing director is the paid boss of 1,500 CNIB employees from coast to coast, says the remarkable thing about the institute is that "the blind people are contributing to the operation of the organization."

"There isn't a department here, except accounting which requires accurate work which figures, in which you do not have a registered blind person."

Magill, who completed high school and later received his master of arts degree in economics after losing his sight, said he believes the future for the totally blind and the partially blind is in training.

"There are 230 blind persons enrolled in Canadian universities today. I am confident the future holds great promise for blind persons if we all take full advantage of the multitude of aids, resources and services that are available."

"We would like to see blind persons of every age complete high school or university and those who have lost their sight after completing their education learn techniques which are valuable on the job market today."

"As far as blind people are concerned, the person with professional or semi-professional experience has no trouble with employment at a reasonable level. He finds personal and employment independence."

To illustrate his point, Mr. Magill said that at a recent seminar of blind and partially blind computer programmers a number of them said they had recently changed jobs.

Siboney Net Income Told

Siboney Corporation reported net income of $192,802 for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1971, an improvement of $642,304 over the net loss of $449,502 for the same period in 1970.

For the third quarter of 1971 Siboney had net income of $401,347 representing a 26 per cent increase over the net income of $317,443 in the third quarter of 1970. The 1970 figures include the results of businesses divested and to be divested which had a combined loss of $380,465 for the first nine months of 1970 and of $93,719 for the third quarter of 1970, said James H. Shiels, president.

All of the company's subsidiaries, with but one exception, are showing substantially better results this year than they showed during the same periods in 1970, the quarterly report said.

Interest in the company's oil and gas permits in the Canadian Arctic has increased as developments and activity in that area have continued to accelerate. To date in 1971, agreements involving transfers of portions of the company's interests in some of its permits have been entered into with four major Canadian oil companies, Dome Petroleum Limited, Elf Oil Exploration and Production Canada Ltd., Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas Company Limited and Imperial Oil Enterprises Ltd.

Because of the time of completion, income from all but one of these agreements will be included in the company's results for the fourth quarter.

Under such agreements, the company, while retaining a significant amount of ownership in each of its permits in the Canadian Arctic covering a total of approximately 800,000 acres, transferred varying percentages of interest in 420,000 acres on terms believed to be favorable to Siboney. The agreements provide for the Canadian oil companies to pay a cash consideration, cash or work, necessary to keep the permits in which they acquired an interest in good standing for certain periods generally into 1974, and three of the four transactions provide for an overriding royalty.

The over-all results of the corporation for the year 1971 will show a substantial improvement over the severe loss sustained in the year 1970, management predicted.

GAMCO of Big Spring is one of the Siboney subsidiaries.

Cotton sample receipts declined slightly at USDA's Pecos classing office. L. L. Wells, in charge, reported that samples from 5,280 upland bales were classed for the week ending Nov. 12. Classings brought the season's total to 22,260.

Strict low middling continued as the predominant grade with 34 per cent of classings. Middling accounted for 19 per cent. The predominant staple lengths were one and 3-32 inches at 52 per cent and one and 1-16 inches at 27 per cent. Upland micronaire readings were in the 3.5 to 4.9 range on 91 per cent of the samples. Average breaking strength of fibers was 80,000 lbs. psi.

Cotton Samples Down Slightly

PARIS, Ont. (AP) — Walter Tose, valedictorian of the 1971 graduating class of Paris District high school, called for a closer link between high schools and universities in his speech at recent commencement exercises.

He said students are often bewildered by the content of courses they have selected for their university degree. He said high schools should provide specific information about universities and their courses and that university calendars should be more informative.

Violates Legal Ban On Branch Banking?

AUSTIN (AP)—Since 1876, the Texas Constitution forbids banks from doing business at more than one place, a practice known as branch banking.

But over the past two years, there has been a move in Texas for large banks and holding companies to acquire small banks.

State Banking Commissioner Robert Stewart said Wednesday there is "room for question" whether a holding company violates the branch banking prohibition when it acquires more than a single bank.

But Stewart said the legality is something for the court—not the board—to decide.

'PHANTOM BANK'

The board said it probably will act Dec. 1 on several "phantom bank" applications—a tool for such acquisitions — if the board attorney Will Knox says it can consider them without a hearing and out of the order in which they were filed.

Included are applications that would put three Houston banks—Airline Bank, North Freeway Bank and Reagan State Bank—under control of Texas Commerce Bank, Houston's second largest.

Knox said the "phantom application" route enabled a holding company to by-pass the time-and money-consuming process of taking a merger to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission for approval.

In a phantom application, a group applies for a charter at the address of an existing bank, changing the name of the bank. Later, the name is changed back to the original one, but the charter remains in the hands of the new group of owners. Usually the application is filed after shareholders of the bank have approved a merger in which they trade their bank stock for stock in the holding company.

Asked whether a holding company's control over a number of banks would violate the provision in the Texas Constitution prohibiting branch banking, Stewart said:

ROOM FOR QUESTION

"There is room for question," But he said Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin's office had discussed the matter with the banking department for about 18 months and "it has always been his contention there is nothing in Texas law to prevent this, and he has advised us we should not raise the branch banking question" in a formal request for an opinion.

Stewart, a member of the three-man banking board, said that he believes that "at some point down the line we are going to have a challenge on the legality of this" from some bank that opposes holding company bank acquisitions.

He said Texas Commerce Bank already has $1 billion of the $6 billion in total banking resources in Harris County.

FUNDS FOR TREATMENT POUR IN — Little Scotty Whitmire who is suffering from Dawson's encephalitis, a rare disease that causes violent convulsions and is usually fatal, plays with a toy iguana in his Sacramento Medical Center hospital bed. Since last week when it was reported that his parents lacked sufficient funds to send him to the National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Md., where doctors reported his only hope for survival was in a research program at the facility, funds have begun to pour in. So far approximately $6,000 has been donated for his medical treatment.

Big Fight Over Butz

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic attacks against the alleged big-business bias of the man President Nixon wants as Secretary of Agriculture have turned normally routine Senate confirmation hearings into a debate over agri-politics.

Three potential contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination questioned the nominee—Dr. Earl L. Butz—Wednesday on his devotion to family farmers, his ties to big business and his willingness to change policies to help farmers out of an economic decline some termed disastrous.

While a major fight over the confirmation of the Purdue University dean is now certain, tradition all but rules out his rejection.

The Senate historically has been reluctant to narrow any President's choice in Cabinet officers and has rejected such nominations only twice in the 20th Century.

Democratic leaders have said they see the Butz nomination as an opportunity to exploit existing Farm Belt discontent over Nixon administration farm policy.

As the hearings opened, Butz, 62, disassociated himself from the beginnings of the Agriculture Department regime of Ezra Taft Benson, saying he joined the administration in 1954 as an assistant secretary only after Benson's farm bill had been passed.

He said he would go to the White House if necessary to seek help for corn farmers now caught between the biggest crop in history and prices too low to pay production costs.

He said he favors congressional efforts to allow farmers to bargain collectively for higher prices and does not want to end all family farming in America.

On that point there was disagreement.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., a declared candidate for his party's presidential nomination, said the Butz nomination is a signal the President wants to continue low farm prices, and favors encroachment of agri-business onto the land and the exodus of farmers to the cities.

To confirm Butz would be a "catastrophe for farmers," McGovern said.

He was echoed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the 1968 Democratic presidential candidate, who said he wants Butz' views on every element on farm policy.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said that as assistant secretary in the 1950s, Butz obstructed humanitarian food programs overseas.

Meanwhile, Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., became the first Southerner to say he wouldn't vote for Butz. He called him a threat to both cotton farmers and tobacco growers.

Gift Wrap With Stamps

Stamp-collector my find Ezra Brooks under the Christmas tree this year.

A collection of unusual Christmas stamps from all over the world are duplicated on the Ezra Brooks Sippin' Whiskey gift wrap. Some of the stamps duplicated are rare collector's items.

Contained in each gift wrap is a fifth of 7-year-old, 90 proof Ezra Brooks, known across America as Real Sippin' Finest Little Distillery. A similar package is available in Ezra Brooks companion product, 86 proof Sippin' Whiskey.

"We are extremely pleased with the immediate reaction to our new 'stamp-collector' holiday gift wrap. There seems to be no question that our entire supply of these gift packages will be long gone before Dec. 25," said Tom O'Shea, president of Ezra Brooks

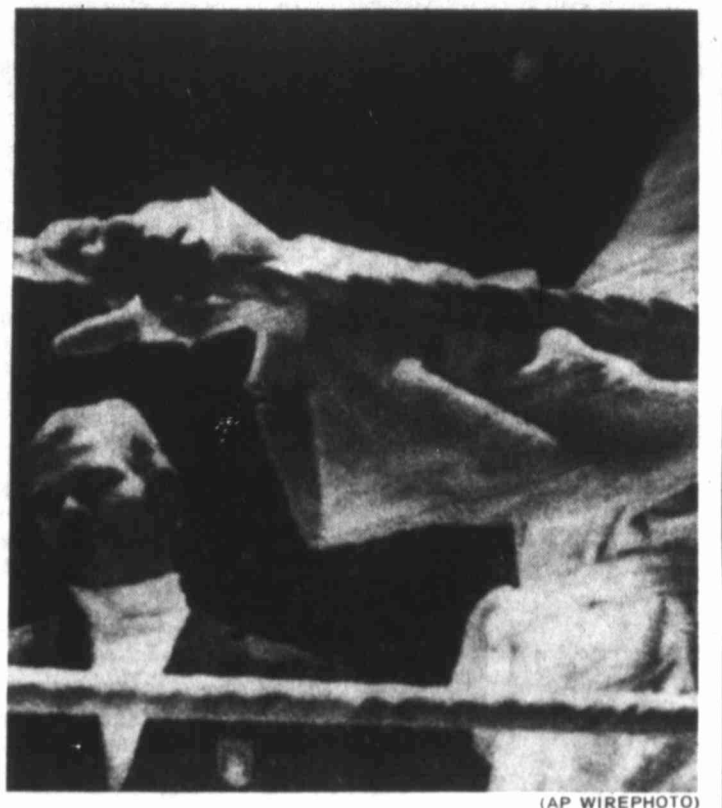

GIFT-WRAPPED — A collection of unusual Christmas stamps from all over the world will decorate the gift-wrapped bottles of Ezra Brooks this Christmas.

'Linger On' Punch Does It For Ali

HOUSTON (AP) — There's one thing Jurgen Blin can learn from Muhammad Ali's 12-round unanimous decision over a weary Buster Mathis in the Astrodome Wednesday night — watch for the "linger-on" punch. That's what Ali says he used to deck Mathis four times in the 11th and 12th rounds and also to keep from hurting Mathis for life.

Blin might also look out for the punch. Right after the fight, Ali announced he would fight Blin Dec. 18 in Zurich, Switzerland.

ALI AND NEXT FOE — Jurgen Blin, German heavy-weight, meets with Muhammad Ali in the ring at the Astrodome in Houston, Tex., Wednesday night before the Ali-Mathis fight. Ali, victor in the 12-round bout with Buster Mathis, will fight Blin in Zurich, Switzerland, in late December.

LOOKING 'EM OVER
With Tommy Hart

Coaches new to a town must sometimes sit back and wonder if they've gone too far in their efforts to separate the boys who want to play from those who show some reluctance to adhere to new training rules.

Since Clint Humphreys took over as chief of the Indians at Longview High School prior to this season, 57 kids have quit the squad, with the result that the Lobbes have fallen upon hard time.

Sophomores have been manning several positions and Longview (which is in District 14-AAAA) could have a good season in a couple of years, if its quarterbacks can withstand the punishment between now and then.

The Longview quarterback this year was Job Blount, son of the former Big Spring, Peppy Blount. Peppy says blitzing linemen have made Job feel like a doormat numberless times this season.

Job remains one of East Texas' premier passers, having completed about half his tosses. He threw 56 yards in the air on one occasion and the completion resulted in a 76-yard touchdown play for Longview.

Who will win golf's coveted Vardon Trophy? Apparently not Lee Trevino. The PGA has a rule which says anyone who picks up his ball and doesn't finish out a round can't be considered. Trevino did that.

Jack Nicklaus is not eligible under existing rules. He leads with a 70-stroke average but the rules dictate that a player has to play a minimum of 80 rounds, and Jack hasn't been that active.

Billy Casper ranks immediately behind Nicklaus and Trevino with a 70.5 average but he has completed only 63 rounds during the year. Don January has average 70.8 strokes per round but he's played even fewer rounds than Casper.

It could be either Frank Beard, Dan Sikes or Arnold Palmer. They've stayed busy enough and each has averaged 71 strokes a round.

When the New York Jets summoned Clovis Swinney to join them prior to the NFL game with Kansas City recently, Swinney was selling used cars in Jonesboro, Ark.

Activated just before the Kansas City game, Clovis played all but a couple of minutes, helping the 15-point underdogs achieve a shocking win over the Chiefs.

Swinney was a third round draft choice of New Orleans last year. He was traded during the summer to Los Angeles but was waived.

In three of its first four home games this season, the University of Miami averaged 24,623 paying customers. When Notre Dame came to town to play the Hurricane, 66,039 were in the stands.

Tom Landry's credentials as head coach of the Dallas Cowboys have long been debated.

There are those who give him all the credit for giving the Cowpokes the muscle they use year in and year out against other NFL clubs.

There are others who say the Cowboys could have gone farther without him.

One of the anvil chorus is Glenn Dickey, a bearded sports writer of San Francisco. Let it be said that Dickey at every opportunity puts down anything that uses Texas as a base.

Dickey says that Landry's nickname among his players has long been "The Undertaker." That, points out Glenn, should give the reader a clue as to the warmth of Tom's personality.

Dickey also quotes Don Meredith, who once remarked: "In a personality contest between Tom Landry and Bud Grant (Minnesota coach), there would be no winner."

"I wonder how much respect the Cowboys have for Landry," Dickey wrote recently. "Although the depth and quality of the Cowboys is virtually unmatched in pro football, it wasn't until last year that the Cowboys got to the Super Bowl. They lost it, of course, although it took some doing."

"And, somehow, Landry got all the credit when they finally won. Much was made of the fact that he called the plays for Craig Morton, for instance, although calling the plays is an ego trip for a coach, no more. If anything, it hurts a team."

"Landry did something right last season as the Cowboys won their last five, and it was something he could have done long before. He simplified his offense, so the Cowboys could just go out and play."

"But he didn't learn his lesson. This year, if the games I saw on television recently are any indication, he's using the same complicated offense. He's got a man in motion, double wing formations, players going this way and that — and then the Cowboys run off tackle."

Referee Direlect, Muhammad Claims

HOUSTON (AP) — Muhammad Ali says Buster Mathis was clearly out on his feet in the 12th round and the referee should have stopped the fight.

"If the referee is too dumb to see that the man was through, I'm not going to take the responsibility for killing him," Ali said after his 12th round victory over Mathis Wednesday night.

Mathis' handlers saw it differently. They said their fighter was not hurt, just exhausted.

Mathis hit the canvas twice in each of the last two rounds and Ali obviously tried to avoid knocking out his heavier, but out-classed opponent in the 12th.

Mathis kept saying "I'm in my dressing room as his handlers tried to console him.

"Hold up your head," George Gainford, Mathis' advisor told him. "You should be proud."

"He was just 'oo tired after the seventh," Gainford then told newsmen. "He fell from just plain exhaustion. He hadn't fought in 2 1/2 years. He was never hit a solid punch."

However, Ali said he scored the first knockdown in the 12th with a "right chop."

"I'm a religious man, I don't believe in killing a man just to satisfy a few people," Ali said. "I'm not going out and I will kill him with his wife and baby looking."

Ali said he hit Mathis with "my linger-on punch" in the 12th.

"If I knew he would just go down and then get up and be okay, I would have knocked him out," he said.

Mathis said Ali doesn't punch with his left hand, "he just slaps."

"He also kept digging me in the eye with his thumb," Mathis said.

Lee Rebels Win Over Monterey

MIDLAND — Marty Miller led Midland Lee to a 70-65 basketball victory over Lubbock Monterey here Tuesday night, scoring 26 points.

Grady Newton, who fouled out in the final minute of play, paced Monterey with 23 points.

Hughes Made Errors, Oiler Owner Concedes

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Ed Hughes was a man on the spot and he looked like he'd rather be any place but it's weekly news conference.

Oiler owner Bud Adams had fired Hughes' offensive line coach Ernie Zwahlen on Monday without Hughes' approval and now Hughes was being asked about his status as head coach.

"All I can say is, I hired Ernie as our offensive line coach," Hughes said. "It was not my decision to fire him. I'll be working with the offensive line the rest of the season."

Oiler public relations man Dan Downs tried to hurry Hughes through the tense news conference. "Any more questions," Downs asked after only one question had been asked.

"Our offensive line stinks," Adams said. "We couldn't block (Houston) Westbury High on a rushing play. I think he (Zwahlen) made a mistake in letting some of those people go. I like Ernie as a person but he just made some mistakes."

Adams said he wasn't satisfied with the trades the Oilers made.

"If we had the offensive line we had last year to go with our defense this year, we'd be in a lot better shape," Adams said. "The reason we don't want the line is because Zwahlen wanted some trades."

Beal, Arguello Are Unanimous

STANTON — Six offensive positions and three on defense were captured by Coahoma when coaches met here Wednesday to select a 5-A all-star football team.

In addition, Jackie Swanson of Stanton, a 160-pound Stanton senior, was named to the first team defensive unit as an end (or corner).

Unanimous choices included quarterback Roland Deal on offense and down lineman Tommy Arguello on defense, both representing Coahoma.

Beal made both nations, as did Donnie Buchanan of Coahoma, Terry Little of McCamey, David Hickman, Big Lake, and Robert Tabb, McCamey.

Other Coahoma players honored included tackle Terry Meeks, guards Steve Fraser and Shain Ferrell and center Joe Elmore, all on offense.

Mike Adams and Chipper Coggin, Stanton, were selected on the second units, as were Jeff Mitchell and Keith Phelan, all of Coahoma.

The elite teams:
FIRST TEAM OFFENSE
E—Robert Tabb, McCamey; and Tommy Washington, Crane.
T—Terry Meeks, Coahoma; and Marvin Baker, Big Lake.
G—Steve Fraser, Coahoma; Terry Little, McCamey; and Fain Sherrill, Coahoma.
C—Joe Elmore, Coahoma; and Ricky Crawford, Ozona.
QB—Richard Beal, Coahoma (unanimous).
RB—Donnie Buchanan, Coahoma; Ron-

BOOK REVIVING REPORT HE RECEIVED $50,000 FROM BILLIE SOL

Yarborough Assails 'Money, Marbles And Chalk'

AUSTIN (AP) — Just as former U. S. Sen. Relp Yarborough is cranking up a political comeback attempt, a newly published book revives the 1964 allegation that he once took $50,000 from Billie Sol Estes.

"It's a vicious falsehood, and the man who wrote it knows it's false," Yarborough told The Associated Press.

He sees the hand of his old political enemy, Treasury Secretary John Connally in "Money, Marbles and Chalk," a book on Texas politics written by Jimmy Banks, a former reporter for the Dallas Morning News.

"TEXAS STAR"

The AP asked Yarborough to comment on the book.

Defeated for re-election by Lloyd Bentsen in 1970, Yarborough is considering a race for governor or the U. S. Senate next year.

Banks' book goes on sale this week. It was published by Texas Publishing Co. Banks incorporated the firm July 30 with his wife and Austin lawyer Shannon Ratliff, the Texas secretary of state's records show.

Ratliff is a law partner of former U. S. Rep. Joe Kilgore, whom Lyndon Johnson reportedly dissuaded from running against Yarborough in 1964.

Banks also is editor of "Texas Star," a Sunday supplement magazine co-founded by Connally.

"NEEDED IT"

In 1964, Banks reported in the Dallas News that Estes told him he gave Yarborough $50,000 in 1960 "because he called me and said he needed it."

Yarborough said he asked then-Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy on April 21, 1964, for an FBI investigation into the allegation made by Estes and reported by Banks.

U.S. Asst. Atty. Gen. Herbert Miller said on May 1, 1964—the day before the Democratic primary—that a man who said he saw the money change hands had "recanted."

"I had no idea they would issue the report before the election until they did," Yarborough said.

FBI LOST INTEREST

After the election—in which Yarborough defeated broadcast executive Gordon McLendon—the FBI "suddenly seemed to lose all interest in the case," Banks says in his book.

The Dallas News reported on Sept. 1, 1964, however, that the U. S. Justice Department "conducted the investigation just prior to and for some time after the May primaries in Texas." The FBI reported the previous day that the $50,000 allegation was "without foundation and unsupported by credible testimony."

Connally, then the Texas governor, asked the Department of Public Safety to investigate reports that two men who claimed they saw the money change hands were threatened.

In his book, Banks publishes what he says is a DPS inter-office memo on the probe. The purported document is signed by O. N. Humphreys Jr., then head of the DPS intelligence section and now administrator of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

by this department, it is our opinion that such threats and transfer of money did, in fact, take place; however, there is insufficient evidence to support criminal prosecution," said the memorandum, addressed to the late Col. Homer Garrison, then the DPS director.

"I would not deny I wrote the thing yet I can't say I did because the thing was written in 1964. . . . Actually all I did on the thing was read the reports and make a summation. I never did any field work on it at all," Humphreys said.

NO MONEY

The man who did most of the investigation, Humphreys said, was W. A. Cowan, who now heads the DPS intelligence section.

Humphreys and Cowan both said they were unsure whether the DPS ever bothered to question Yarborough. The former senator said the DPS probe was "not an investigation" because he wasn't asked to tell his side. Cowan said he did interview Estes. Another DPS official said, "As I recall, to the best of my knowledge, the DPS did not run a polygraph (lie detector) test on Estes."

"Billie Sol Estes gave me no money that day," Yarborough said.

Keeton wasn't in the same town, and Fonville "wasn't around anywhere we were," Yarborough said of the Nov. 6, 1960, social gathering at Estes' home in Pecos where the money allegedly changed hands.

"This was a report that Connally was trying to twist out of the DPS—that is patent," he said.

POLITICAL MYSTERY

Humphreys said he "was not aware of any" political purpose behind the investigation. We just went into it as a normal investigation, and it just happened that these people were involved," he said.

The Humphreys memorandum was dated Oct. 26, 1964, just days before Yarborough defeated George Bush—now U.S. ambassador to the United Nations—and gained re-election to the Senate. Bentsen beat Bush in 1970.

Yarborough said a senator who knew Bush well "told me after the campaign of 1964 that Bush had stated to him that he was confident Connally had done all he possibly could to help him in the 1964 campaign."

Crime Rate Dips

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP) — Although Baltimore's crime rate has dropped by more than 15 per cent, state police report the city still accounts for 40 per cent of Maryland's total crime.

TRUTH TESTS

According to the memo, Earnest Keeton and James Fonville each said he "was a witness to the transfer of a large sum of money to a high public official." The memo said the men's statements were "substantiated" by lie detector tests.

"Based upon evidence secured

Arbor Day Kits Available

COLLEGE STATION — Orders for free Arbor Day program kits are now being accepted by the Texas Forest Service (College Station 77843) and for delivery before Christmas.

The 100th anniversary of Arbor Day in the United States will be observed in 1972. The special occasion, in which the importance and planting of trees is observed, will be officially observed in Texas on Friday, January 21.

The Arbor Day Kits are designed primarily for use by secondary schools and conservation-minded organizations in Texas. Each kit contains two quality pecan seeds (pecan is the state tree of Texas) and a brochure which includes planting instructions, a program outline, and appropriate program aids for an Arbor Day observance. School teachers find planting the seeds to be an excellent classroom project.

Crinkly Stuff

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

OVERSTUFFED: (Q) I'm 12 and so is my best friend. I have an average bustline but she doesn't. She's flat. She doesn't like to be flat and she stuffs her bra with aluminum foil. It looks awful.

Except for the top, her figure is great. It's because the foil is never even, and the way she stuffs it in she looks too big up there for a 12-year-old girl. How can I tell her she shouldn't stuff her front? — Double Trouble in Connecticut.

(A.) Your girl friend is ignorant of two facts she should know: (1) She, as you say, is too young to be so chesty. (2) It's "in" to be flat-chested today.

Don't tell her she is ignorant, but tell her the other two things. And suggest to her that a subtly-padded bra, bought at a department store, would look great on her if she just can't wait for nature to do its work.

CAKE ON FACE: (Q) I got your letter today. It wasn't the one I wrote in for. I will go over my problem again. Every time I put make-up on it soon starts to cake or mat on me. I don't have time in school to keep putting on fresh make-up. How can I keep mine looking fresh all day? — Trying in Alabama.

(A.)—I sent you my make-up do and don't list. It tells how to do what you want done. Here, however, are one-two-three instructions:

- (1) Clean your face well in the morning.
- (2) Apply an astringent to cleanse it even more thoroughly.
- (3) Apply a foundation that is not too oily.
- (4) Dust with loose powder.
- (5) At intervals throughout the day, blot your face with loose powder IF it is needed.

(Want personal answers your questions? Write to Jean Adams, P. O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope can be answered.)

Carlsbad Park Hearing Friday

The public hearings on the Master Plan and Wilderness Proposals for Carlsbad Mountains National Parks will begin Friday at 9 a.m.

Two sets of hearings will be held. The first will take place in the Library Annex in Carlsbad Nov. 19 and 20, and the second in El Paso at the Holiday Inn, 6655 Gateway West, Nov. 22 and 23.

The first day of the hearings in both Carlsbad and El Paso will be devoted to the Master Plan proposals for the two parks, and the second day to the Wilderness Proposals, park officials said.

IRS Interprets 'Thaw' Guidelines

Internal Revenue Service Offices will assume new responsibilities formerly assigned to the Office of Emergency Preparedness under the Presidents Economic Stabilization Program Ellis Campbell Jr., IRS District Director for North Texas said today.

Within guidelines issued and to be issued by the Cost of Living Council, the Price Commission and the Pay Board, the IRS will act on requests for interpretations and on appeals of adverse determinations. In addition, the IRS will continue to provide information to the public, investigate complaints and monitor compliance with stabilization guidelines.

The IRS will handle enforcement activities in connection with the largest numerical segment of the economy — those businesses not required to report their increases to the Pay Board or the Price Commission, Mr. Campbell said. The IRS also will conduct fact-finding investigations for the Board and Commission.

IRS offices in Texas are open Monday through Friday to answer inquiries and receive complaints from the public on stabilization matters. The Big Spring IRS office is located on the second floor of the Post Office Building.

THE FRUITCAKE ... A Holiday Treasure

The tringle of winter brings a definite pilgrimage to supermarkets as homemakers stock up on ingredients that characterize this splendid cake... the fruitcake.

Holiday festivities suffer without fruitcake cookery—gone would be the bustle of chopping, measuring, mixing and finally, the fragrant spicy scents wafting from the kitchen. Cooks of yesteryear, who spent days preparing candied fruits, nuts, raisins, spices and spirits, would marvel at the ease with which today's homemakers do preliminary tasks before actual baking. Pre-packaged and canned items save on time and energy. For fruitcakes and all other baking needs, essential California walnuts come shelled in clear film bags or vacuum cans, crunchy and ready to stir into the batter, or with thin shells in cellophane bags for the simple pleasure of cracking. Today California walnuts are available in the stores at the peak of freshness in one or more of these handy forms.

The American fruitcake is a many splendored thing; variations and methods would astound the British whose taste traditionally is limited to the dark fruitcake. Today there is a selection of procedures, flavors, shapes and sizes to pick from as shown by these extravagantly good fruitcakes from the Diamond Walnut Kitchen.

Though different, each is aromatic with spices and deliciously flavored with sweetened fruit and the munchy accent of crisp, clean tasting California walnuts. The type of fruitcake one favors is a personal affair, subject to taste fancy, time needed for preparation, and purpose, be it for gifting, entertaining or family nibbling. Choose one starting from scratch, a quicker modified version with a cake mix base, or a no-bake kind. Or better yet, try more than one. They're all so good.

KITCHEN TIPS FOR BAKED FRUITCAKES

- ... grease pan for a large cake, then line with cooking parchment or greased heavy brown paper to keep crust from becoming too dark and heavy. Non-stick pans can also be lined. Pans for smaller or muffin size cakes need greasing only.
- ... position cake below center of oven and regardless of shape and size, be watchful of oven time.
- ... a shallow pan of hot water on lowest oven shelf keeps cake moist and crust lighter during baking.
- ... cake is done when center remains firm or springs back while pressed lightly with fingertip. Toothpick test is not always accurate for fruits stick to the toothpick even though batter is cooked.
- ... trim with additional candied fruit and California walnut halves dipped in corn syrup for hold and shine. Seal in foil or plastic wrap, shaping to keep out air and moisture.
- ... aging fruitcake makes for neater cut slices, melds all the delicate flavors and gives the fruits time to impart their moisture into the batter. Storage depends on type: a rich-in-fruit cake should be aged for a month or more whereas a quick fruitcake is better after 48 hours.

FRUITCAKE TOWERS

- | | |
|--|--------------------------------------|
| 1 1-pound, 3-1/2-ounce package Spice 'n Apple cake mix | 1 3-1/2-ounce can flaked coconut |
| 3/4 cup boiling water | 1/3 cup butter, softened |
| 3 cups California walnuts | 4 eggs |
| 1-1/2 cups raisins | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 2-1/2 cups mixed candied fruits and peels | 3 tablespoons brandy or orange juice |
| 1 cup candied cherries | 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour |

Beat cake mix with water; let stand 30 to 40 minutes. Chop walnuts, raisins and mixed fruits; halve cherries. Combine with coconut. Add remaining ingredients to cake mix. Beat 4 minutes at medium speed, scraping bowl frequently. Stir in fruit mixture and walnuts. Spoon batter into greased and lined pans or cans*, filling about 3/4 full. Bake at 300°F. about 2 hours or until cake tests done. Cool, then remove cakes from pans; wrap in foil and store in a cool place. Makes two 32-ounce cans and one 3-1/2 x 7-1/4 x 2-inch loaf. Batter measures about 9-1/2 cups and weighs about 5 pounds, 4 ounces.

*32-ounce juice cans were used for cakes shown in photograph.

Note: May use caramel apple cake mix or spice cake mix—most any of spicy mixes. Package weight may vary slightly but product will be good. Beating cake mix with water and letting stand removes some of leavening which is not needed in fruitcakes. Top of cake may be drizzled with powdered sugar mixed with water to thick paste.

SHORTBREAD

1 lb. plus 1 tbsp. unsalted butter, softened
1 cup superfine sugar
5 cups all-purpose flour, sifted before measuring

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Using a pastry brush, coat large baking sheet with one tablespoon of softened butter. Set aside. With electric mixer, beat one pound butter with sugar at high speed until mixture is light and fluffy. Reduce speed to medium and beat in flour, a cup at a time. Continue beating until mixture is smooth. On a lightly-floured surface, roll dough into a rectangle about 10 inches long by 8 inches wide by one-half inch thick. With a rule and pastry wheel or a small, sharp knife, cut rectangle lengthwise into four two-inch-wide strips, and make cross-cross diagonal cuts at 2 1/4 inch intervals to form small triangles. Prick pieces all over with tines of a fork, making an even pattern of tiny holes on the surface. Arrange triangles on baking sheet and bake in middle of oven at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes, or until firm to touch and delicately browned. With a wide metal spatula, transfer triangles to cake racks to cool completely. Shortbread will keep for two or three weeks in tightly covered jars or tins. Shortbread dough may be baked in various shapes.

Getting Driver's License Caused Time Shortage

By BARBARA LORD

"There are an awful lot of things I like to do, including cooking, when I have the time," said Mrs. Ronald Huntley, "but I never seem to have the time anymore."

Mrs. Huntley's time for hobbies and work around the house took a sudden decline when she got her first driver's license last December. In reality, however, she does still find time to prepare tasty and nutritious meals for her family. M. Sgt. Ronald Huntley is a draftsman and surveyor in the civil engineering department at Webb AFB. The couple's two children, Deborah, 7, and Tina, 3, have grown up in an atmosphere of changing homes and travel, having already visited about 10 different countries.

Mrs. Huntley is English and said she probably hadn't traveled more than 90 miles from her home before she got married. Since their marriage, they have lived in Nebraska, Germany and Big Spring, plus a year she spent in England while Sgt. Huntley was in Vietnam.

Although her husband "eats almost anything," Mrs. Huntley has gotten away from preparing many English dishes, because she has found many of the "basics" used in her native recipes are difficult to find here.

The family favorite is stew and dumplings, and Mrs. Huntley said it doesn't always come out the same because she just pours in whatever she has in the refrigerator.

The Huntleys eat somewhat of an international cuisine. In Germany they learned to like wiener schnitzel (breaded veal) and brockwurst. She also prepares spaghetti and lasagna quite often, and on occasion, will prepare chili or Mexican food for other members of her family. And, of course, there are some of her favorite English dishes which she has "Americanized," such as the Trifle shown in this article. It is, traditionally, a holiday dessert in England and can be touched up with a bit of sherry or brandy for festive occasions.

Despite the family's 15 months in Big Spring, Mrs. Huntley hasn't yet acquired a taste for Mexican food, and her disdain for chili keeps her from trying most of it. She also thinks corn bread is "gritty" tasting, and hasn't learned to like beans, so popular in this part of the country.

Sgt. Huntley usually comes home for lunch, and as soon as he has a sandwich or quick casserole, Deborah is due home for lunch, so much of Mrs. Huntley's time is spent preparing lunches and chauffeuring people to and from work or school.

The Huntleys spent three years in Germany and would like to return there or somewhere in Europe. Mrs. Huntley has visited her family in England several times since her marriage eight years ago, but still gets an occasional tinge of homesickness.

Zucchini Mixture Great With Veal

A good combination to serve with veal.

CHARLOTTE MOSENTHAL'S SAUCY ZUCCHINI.
3 medium zucchini
1 tbsps olive oil
1 tbsps instant onion
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
3 tbsps grated Parmesan or Romano cheese

Scrub zucchini in cold water; cut off and discard ends; do not peel; slice crosswise into fairly thin rounds. In a 10-inch skillet mix together the zucchini, oil, onion and tomato sauce; cook over moderately low heat, stirring several times, until zucchini is cooked through — about 10 minutes. Stir in 1 tablespoon of the cheese. Just before serving sprinkle with remaining 2 tablespoons cheese. Makes 4 servings.

"I'm always ready to move about two years after we've been anywhere," said Mrs. Huntley. "When you're in Europe, though, you can visit so many countries in so little time." During one trip, the Huntleys visited Austria, France, Belgium, Switzerland, Luxembourg and Lichenstein.

Mrs. Huntley has several hobbies that she enjoys in stages, saying the mood has to hit her — and she may go several months in between moods. Topping the list are knitting and bowling. She has also recently assumed presidency of the British Wives Club which takes a lot of time.

MARGARET DANA'S Consumer's Question-Box

By MARGARET DANA
Q. Can you give some special advice about how big a turkey to buy for Thanksgiving, according to the number of servings wanted, and how to store it safely until roasting it, and whether it is a good idea to stuff it in advance of the dinner day?

A. In selecting a turkey, figure not only how many servings you want on Thanksgiving Day, but whether you'd like it to provide a second meal, and sliced meat for sandwiches. Figure you want for an average serving about three ounces without bone. So, in selecting a whole turkey, the U.S. Department of Agriculture advises to allow one-half pound per person of uncooked weight. Then add whatever extra poundage you want for later serving, or for second helpings at the dinner table. In buying fresh turkey, figure you can keep it one to two days in the coldest part of the refrigerator. However, first remove cardboard trays and film wrappings. Take out the giblets, wrap loosely and store them separately. Don't stuff the bird and let it stand a day or two until roasting. And don't roast it long, slow overnight method sometimes suggested. USDA says results are not good.

Q. Is there a law about what the retailer must do when you ask for a refund, and what to return something you bought? Don't I have a right to demand my money back if I decide I don't want the item I bought?

A. No, unless there has been definite misrepresentation of the goods, or if the product was actually defective. Otherwise, the customer has no "right" to exchange a purchase or demand a refund. These are privileges, and your local BBB, if there is one, depends on a store's policy. Remember that a sale, even of a pair of shoes, is a contract, and the customer cannot back out any more than the retailer can, simply because he's changed his mind about selling. Before you buy anything, find out what the store's policy is regarding exchanges and refunds.

Q. I would like to know if it is possible and advisable to freeze fresh milk. I live alone and do not drive a car, and I do not live near a store. I can keep stocked up on everything, but fresh milk. Could you advise?

A. Milk can be frozen, but I suggest that a better way, perhaps, to extend its storage life without losing any good flavor, is to lower the storage temperature of milk to slightly above freezing — say 36 degrees.

Milk held at this temperature while never freezing, will keep well for as long as seven weeks. Actually, even milk held at ordinary refrigerator temperature of 45 to 50 degrees will keep well an average of seven days. Use whichever method fits your marketing schedule best.

Q. I am considering taking on a franchise for a good business that ought to do well in our area. I have heard, however, that there are some tricky things about franchise contracts and profits. Can you suggest a reliable source of expert information on this?

A. The Federal Trade Commission has in its series of Consumer Bulletins one titled, "Advice for Persons Who Are Considering An Investment in a Franchise Business." It provides points that you should check before making an agreement, including asking your local BBB, if there is one, near you, about the business. Remember that a sale, even of promoter. It also strongly recommends having a lawyer review the whole agreement before you sign any contract. For a copy, send your request with title to Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402. Price per copy is 10 cents.

Q. I am confused about the difference between a USDA grade stamp and their inspection stamp. If it has the inspection stamp does it mean it also has been graded for top quality?

A. The two types of stamps used by the U.S. Department of Agriculture are quite different in shape and meaning. The round stamp, purple in color, says something like "38-U.S. INSPECTION AND P.S.D." — meaning it has been inspected by the USDA inspection service and has passed the standard for healthy animal, processed in a sanitary plant, and is edible. The grade, or quality, stamp is also purple, shaped like a shield, and will say either "USDA PRIME," "USDA CHOICE," "USDA GOOD," "USDA STANDARD (Standard)" or "USDA COMMERCIAL (Commercial)."

The meat must have been inspected first to carry a quality grade shield, but not all inspected meat is graded and marked for quality.

MRS. R. E. G. COWPER

To Assume Post For Republicans

Three members of the local Republican Women's Club were among the 355 delegates attending the 8th biennial convention of the Texas Federation of Republican Women's Club held over the weekend at Convention Center, San Antonio.

The delegates from Big Spring were Mrs. R. E. G. Cowper, Mrs. Floyd Mays and Mrs. Jack Lipscombe. Mrs. Cowper was appointed district director for the 24th District. Mrs. Shirley Temple Black, delegate to the U.N., presented "Tops N' Texas" awards to three Texas women for outstanding contributions to their communities. Sen. John Tower was speaker at the banquet honoring these women.

Mrs. Tobin Armstrong, chairman of the Republican National Committee, addressed the group at a luncheon Saturday. Mrs. Armstrong pointed out the appointment of two supreme court justices, and if accepted, their possible impact on future decisions of the supreme court. An amendment urging support of a constitutional amendment opposing forced busing to achieve racial balance was unanimously approved.

Cloistered Nuns Don't Escape; World Enters Their Fortress

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — No daily newspapers come to the big mansion in the Druid Hills section of Atlanta, a place of ornate houses, old woods and once the scene of some of the city's largest social affairs.

Television and radio sets are not present. But the 10 cloistered nuns who pursue a contemplative life in what is now the Monastery of Visitation say they are not "escapists" and keep informed of secular problems such as drug abuse, racial tension and war.

"We are not escapists," said Mother Superior Eulalia. "This life is not just a secluded, quiet life for ourselves but a life for the world. We are here for the salvation of the world. We are here to help people by our prayers." The Roman Catholic archbishop of Atlanta, the Most Rev. Thomas A. Dennonan, and the sisters of the monastery allowed the Atlanta Journal a rare glimpse of life within the monastery's walls recently.

There is no idleness in the rambling house, kept spotless by the sisters who range in age from 22 to past 70. All have special tasks which help support their existence.

Some make elaborate vestments, embroider altar cloths or sew fancy monograms. Others hand-letter diplomas. One of the most important projects is the baking of altar bread which is sent to 50 churches in Georgia. Although they shun the short habit for nuns, evidencing little desire to follow new trends within the Church, Mother Superior Eulalia says, "don't leave people with the impression that we go around with long faces or spend all our time on our knees." Little conversation takes place inside the sparsely furnished monastery. Silence is observed during meals.

The day begins at 5:30 a.m. and ends a little before 10 p.m., filled with prayers, spiritual readings and other religious activities.

Life is governed by a democracy. A new mother superior is elected every three years and can be re-elected only once. The sisters also vote in cases where agreement cannot be reached easily, and the majority rules. "We are not forced to remain in the cloistered order," said Sister Mary Immaculata, a vivacious, 41-year-old nun who composes both secular and sacred music in her spare time. True, "the doors are locked, she said, "but from the inside."

"We are anticipating 1,000 dogs for the show, and in turn, this brings in many visitors to the city for that weekend," Mrs. Sewell said. George Nichols, an AKC licensed judge, will inform the members of the club and visitors in the Thursday meeting on all dog show procedures and ring operation. "We would like to have anyone who is interested in dogs

It's All Over

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can help me figure something out. I can't, and I'm about to lose my mind.

Seven years ago I fell in love with my boss. Yes, I knew he had a wife and grown children, but he told me he loved me and that his sex life at home was nil. Soon my love for him became the most important thing in my life. We managed to get together often. I even rented an apartment near his home to be more accessible.

Suddenly his wife tells him she has known about our affair from the beginning, but she said nothing, hoping to ride it out. I asked why he didn't let her divorce him, and he said he didn't want a divorce, that he and his wife are "working things out now."

Where does that leave me? He ignores me at the office now. I gave him seven years of my life. My questions:

1. How could any wife stand by, knowing her husband had another woman, and just "ride it out," as she says?
2. If his sex life at home was nil, why is he sticking with her and trying to work things out?
3. Is there any way I can get him back?
4. Could it be that he really loves her after all?

I am almost 40 and I'm afraid life is passing me by. Please help me. I can't even get him to talk to me about it.

THREE TIME LOSER
DEAR LOSER: 1. She loved him.
2. Maybe his sex life WAS nil, but it's better now.

3. I doubt it.
4. Could be.

Hand in your resignation and relocate as far away as possible. For a going away present he should give you excellent references.

DEAR ABBY: I am a college student with two more years of medical school ahead of me. I want to become officially engaged to the girl I've been going with for the past year. She has already accepted my proposal, but she wants some kind of ring. I can't afford very much right now, but she says she doesn't care, as long as it's an engagement ring.

Here's the problem. Her father owns a jewelry store. I'm afraid if I go to his store for the ring (which, believe me, can't be much of a sale) he will think I am asking for a "deal" which I would not do.

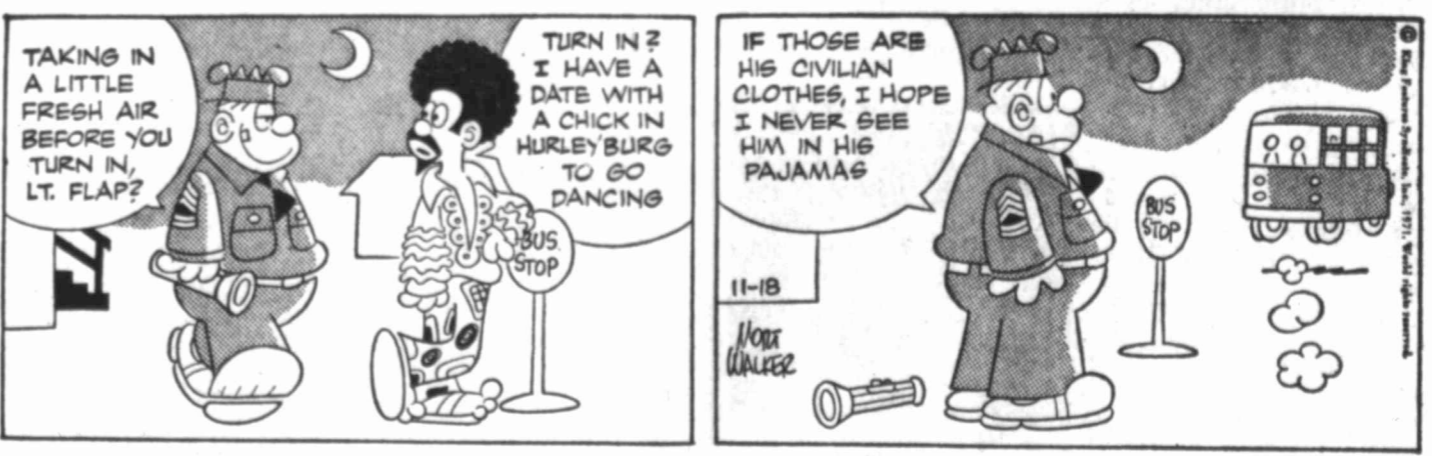

On the other hand, if I go to a competitor I'm afraid my girl and her father will not like that either. She says her folks like me and I don't want to help me. I can't even get him to talk to me about it.

DEAR STRUGGLING: Shop at your future father-in-law's. And if he wants to give you a special deal, take it and say

Goodwill Bargain

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A family of five recently shopped at the local Goodwill to see what $25 would buy. Each member of the family was allocated $5, and each came away with a complete new outfit, including dolls for the children.

The rub was that the grand total came to $26.41. Like most families they had gone over budget.

Writes Backward

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please so much the better. I write about mirror-reading. Since some such youngsters child that seems to think may have an emotional everything is to be spelled problem, mirror-reading should be watched. If the problem with the letters reversed. The persists after a year in school, child doesn't go to school yet but soon will. A youngster should be checked for a condition called dyslexia, or an inability to read. About 10 to 15 per cent of school children have this problem to some degree.

In your particular case, Mrs. R.T., I doubt that anything need be done, other than casual help at home and at school, until you see how the youngster progresses in school.

By "casual help," I mean patiently showing the youngster his (or her) error. But by all means avoid scolding, derisive criticism or ridicule. Such treatment tends only to frustrate the youngster.

The mirror-reading often occurs with what is known as crossed dominance -- left-handedness along with right-eyedness, or vice versa. Normally dominance for hands, eyes and feet is on the same side, but when the dominance is mixed, it creates confusion that a child has to learn to cope with.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have spots on my eyelids and was told that it is xanthelasma. What is that, what do you get it from, can you have the spots removed without hurting your eyesight? -- Mrs. E.B.B.

Xanthelasma is a raised yellow area on the eyelids, usually associated with high cholesterol levels in the blood. These can be removed without harming eyesight, but new ones are likely to recur.

Reducing cholesterol, logical as it sounds, doesn't affect the spots. So have them removed if you choose, or don't, but don't worry about them or the removal process.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Last year before my flu shots, the nurse asked me if I was allergic to eggs or something else, I can't remember, and I said no, especially as to eggs. I eat them all the time.

Shortly after the shots, my nose itched something terrible every morning. Do you think the itching is from the shots? -- Mrs. D.H.

Possibly. The other substance (besides egg) is usually an antibiotic, either penicillin or neomycin, included as a preservative. Before your next flu shots, mention this to your doctor.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can a diabetic donate blood? Whose blood is not acceptable for transfusions? -- R.E.H.

No, diabetics are not accepted as blood donors, but they aren't alone. The list of disqualifications is quite long. Among disorders that cause rejection are malaria, syphilis, hepatitis, tuberculosis, active common cold, active allergy, heart disease, drug addiction, undulant fever, pregnancy, recent surgery, infectious mononucleosis within a year, blood disorders such as anemia or leukemia, blood pressure (systolic) under 100 or over 200.

'Must Guide Child's Ability'

"Where are we and where are we going?" was the question asked by Gene Adkins, educational diagnostician in the Big Spring area, when he discussed special education programs Monday for the American Association of University Women in the First Federal Community Room.

Adkins said special education classes were developed to help the relatively few children who are handicapped in a way that prevents them from getting the most benefit out of public school classrooms. It is designed for children with brain damage, cerebral palsy, and language difficulty.

Adkins outlined some of the future plans for special education, and said its functions are reaching more people each year. They hope to begin helping children at an earlier age, and said people in the field want to stop the labels "partially mentally retarded" and "slow learner" from being used for special education students.

Future special education classes will include resource labs where students will work together to learn cooperative methods. "The main objective of the teaching is to work on the child's ability to learn," Adkins said, adding that it is important for public schools to help special education children develop into total human beings. Adkins said Big Spring residents should be proud of the many special education classes conducted here, including a pilot program on learning language disabilities. He said we should discard the thinking that special education students are mentally retarded because the greatest number of them simply have language difficulties.

Entertainer Claims Indians Can't Survive

Kids Still Read Old Standbys

Worried about what children might be reading these days?

Experts at Sheffield University in England questioned 9,000 youngsters on their favorite books. Top titles among 10-to-14 year olds: Anne Sewell's "Black Beauty," which was published in 1877; Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women," published in 1868; and Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island," published in 1882.

And what are young teens reading in your neighborhood?

"Right now, Indians can't survive in America physically, mentally, emotionally or artistically."

The 29-year-old Canadian Cree entertainer said in an interview Thursday she thinks her songs about the plight of her fellow American Indians have "helped white people to understand, but after that they haven't done anything."

Meanwhile, Miss Sainte-Marie is doing all she can to provide some action.

In addition to benefit performances on various Indian reservations, she has set up a scholarship fund to help members of her race through law school and is now promoting an organization for the benefit of Indian women.

The Native North American Women's Association was founded two months ago. Miss Sainte-Marie recruited the 200 members during her trips to reservations and Indian communities in cities.

The comely singer-composer, here for a concert at Pasadena Civic Auditorium, said she listens to Indian women's concerns and then comments publicly about them.

"I'm just being a mouthpiece for them," she said. "I'm a visible Indian. People know me and my work, which lets me draw attention to what's going on."

Miss Sainte-Marie holds the government responsible for many of the Indians' problems and says so in song.

In "My Country, 'Tis of Thy People You're Dying," she sings, "Here's how the bargain was made for the West, with her shivering children in zero degrees."

"Blankets for your land, so the treaties attest. Well, blankets for land is a bargain indeed."

In "Now That the Buffalo Is Gone," Miss Sainte-Marie asks "Has a change come about, Uncle Sam? Or are you still taking our land?"

"It's here and it's now, you must help us dear man, now that the buffalo's gone."

Miss Sainte-Marie wants to reform the education given to Indians on reservations.

"There's very little accuracy in the texts that are used about Indians, and about the way American settlers dealt with them," she said.

She also wants to help make a place for Indian women in American society.

"We're trying to open up the glamour jobs," she said. "Why should an Indian girl have to bleach her hair to be accepted?"

Teacher Has Taught Pain Of Prejudice

By JOY STILLEY
 AP Newfeatures Writer
 NEW YORK (AP) — Though she insists it is the hardest work she does all year, Jane Elliott has no intention of giving up the annual learning exercise by which she attempts to bring home to her third-graders the reality of prejudice.

"Teaching about discrimination doesn't seem to work, but experiencing discrimination does," says the Riceville, Iowa, teacher, who for the past four years has been dividing her classes for a two-day period into the brown-eyes and the blue-eyes.

The first day one group is made to feel superior by getting extra privileges and lots of praise, while the other is downgraded through denial of privileges and constant fault-finding. The next day the roles are reversed.

"I have to force myself to do it and I dread it until it's over," Mrs. Elliott admits.

"You go into a classroom supposedly to foster growth, a good self-image, kindness and love, and then spend two whole days tearing to shreds the marvelous working relationship you've built up. There's nothing pleasant about it, but the results are fantastic."

She reports that it isn't hard for the first "superior" group to discriminate against their friends because they don't know what it's like to be on the receiving end, but the group on the top the second day is always much less vicious. "Once they've been in that inferior position they can't force themselves to discriminate as much," she notes.

The plan was triggered in the spring of 1968 by the assassination of Martin Luther King, and Mrs. Elliott felt it was so successful that she has continued it with each new class of 8 and 9-year-olds. Now the "lesson" is the subject of a book, "A Class Divided," by William Peters, who also produced, wrote and directed an ABC television documentary about it, "The Eye of the Storm."

In New York for the publication of the book, Peters and Mrs. Elliott — agreed that the reaction of the children is surprisingly immediate.

"After being accused of being stupid and clumsy and such things they really begin to act that way," says Mrs. Elliott, a peppy, 5-foot-2 brunette. "Children who had no learning problems, on that day couldn't learn. Those in the superior group became superior students. You can't believe it unless you see it."

"When you begin to discriminate against a group they begin to act as inferiors," adds Peters. "Authority says Group A is good, Group B is bad; Group A begins behaving better and Group B begins performing worse, thereby reinforcing the claim that Group A is better."

How effective has Mrs. Elliott's attempt to change students' attitudes toward minority groups been? In one instance a girl told her visiting grandmother that unless she stopped using the word "nigger" she would have to go home.

"I think it is making a difference in the whole town," Mrs. Elliott declares. "A study made last spring showed that 4th and 5th graders who had been in my class exhibited much less racism than other 4th and 5th graders in the school. And as a whole children that age in Riceville showed much less racism than their counterparts in two comparable nearby communities. So it's not only making a difference in my students, but rubbing off on their peers."

Mrs. Elliott has also tried the exercise out on adults, including delegates to the White House Conference on Children and Youth, for which she was a panel member, and teachers at University of Iowa workshops of problems of desegregation.

"It works the same with grownups," she says. "When you are embarrassed and cut down in front of people there's no defense for it. Intellectually they know it's a lie but they can't do anything about it. Blacks also know it's a lie, but we refuse to let them do anything about it."

Mrs. Elliott says she and her husband, Darald, manager of a supermarket, have tried to raise their own four youngsters "by talking and by example to believe that people are equal, that you don't judge by the color of the skin. I think they have gotten the message during the last four years."

A LOVELIER YOU
Eye Makeup Hints For Special Needs

By MARY SUE MILLER
 Eye makeup of itself hardly admits of improvement. Colors and textures are beautiful. Performance is stronger — longer-lasting, waterproof, hypo-allergenic if need be.

Several recent break-throughs overcome individual application problems. For the lovely who claims that her eye shadow "just won't stay on," there is now an eye shadow base. Only film the lids with it and powdered shadow lasts light years longer. A moisturized version of eye shadow base relieves the difficulties attendant to a dry, flakey eyelid condition.

If undereye circles or discoloration seems to be a deeper shade than any amount of eye shadow used, the answer takes the form of cover-up cream tinted to meld with your over-all skin tone. You pat this on to the circle areas and let it set. A veiling of your accustomed powder base doubles effectiveness.

To intensify color and gleam of an evening, should you seem to fade under night lights, finish an eye makeup with pearly-pale transparent highlight cream. Wrap this around the entire eye area. What big, bright eyes you have!

Ultra gentle eye makeup remover is last but by no means least. For the well-being of your eyes and the surrounding skin, cosmetics must be thoroughly but gently removed. Besides it is impossible to do a fresh job of eye makeup unless you make a clean sweep of the stale stuff. Be sure you do.

 Fifty ways to ideal skin and natural makeup for young adults — ages 13 to 19 — are detailed in my booklet, "Model Tips For Teens." OLD VAN DYKE NOT EXACTLY HIDDEN AWAY Casting New Dick's Wife Tricky

LIVE-ON STAGE

DAVID AND LISA

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Roads Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The most delicate casting job in television this season had to be the wife of the "new" Dick Van Dyke on his CBS series.

After all, the wife of the "old" Dick Van Dyke is now the star of her own highly successful television comedy series and, besides, old Dick and former wife are all over the place in re-runs.

As things are working out, however, Hope Lange has been accepted by the viewers without any credibility problems.

The blonde actress, a divorcee with two teen-age children, seems to have the same appeal for viewers — especially males — that once made stars of Myrna Loy in "The Thin Man" series and Greer Garson starting with "Goodbye Mr. Chips."

Miss Lange's career as the dream wife started four television seasons back, toward the end of the network vogue of comedy-fantasy, with the debut of a minor entry called "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir."

It was broad comedy for the most part, about a widow with two children moving into an old New England house inhabited by the roaring, blustering ghost of its original owner, a sailing ship captain.

"The Ghost and Mrs. Muir" was cancelled by NBC after one season, another victim of low Nielsen ratings, although it seemed to have done pretty well for a series whose appeal was presumed to be mostly to children. ABC unexpectedly picked it up and gave it another season but with the same disappointing results.

While the show was bombing, Miss Lange won an Emmy each season for her Mrs. Muir — a lot of men vote in the contest.

When Nielsen finally exorcised the ghost, Miss Lange took a holiday from television. CBS executives, impressed by her appeal, came up with a couple of offers involving pilot shows but she decided she was not ready to resume steady work.

Carl Reiner, force majeure of the original "Dick Van Dyke Show" obviously was a Lange-watcher.

"He called my agent," recalled Miss Lange, "and asked if we could meet with Dick and talk about the new series. We met in Carl's office at Paramount and talked over some of the worst Chinese food I've ever eaten.

"I'd never met Dick but I had admired Carl's work enormously. We all got along well. I liked the idea of working with a live audience. I was most concerned that the thing might be cutesy and the character would be pat, one-dimensional."

Miss Lange said she had not been concerned about comparison with Mary Tyler Moore.

"After all, she had established a new image of her own series, which is a hit," the actress said. "Besides, all of us, except Dick, were too busy with our work."

Reiner, Van Dyke and the show's producers had sold CBS a full season's series — 24 episodes — of "The New Dick Van Dyke Show" without making a pilot presentation. The whole lot was turned out in six months at new film studios in Carefree, Ariz., near Phoenix, a tedious plane trip from Hollywood, home base for most of the cast.

The early Nielsen ratings put the series comfortably among the top third among all shows in popularity.

Hope herself was born in Connecticut, daughter of a musician, John Lange, and Minette Buddeke, a Broadway actress.
