JAILHOUSE FIRE 'That's My Son, My Poor, Poor Son'

WINTER PARK, Fla. (AP) — "Oh my God! That's my son, my poor, poor son!" screamed Strawlee Moore as policemen tried to free a young prisoner from a smoke-filled jail cell whose door was welded shut by the flames.

Mrs. Moore arrived at the Winter Park jail Monday just as policemen wearing gas masks were dragging prisoners from the cells in the rear of the police station.

Michael Moore, 21, and Dwayne Paige, 19, had been arrested the night before on charges of trespassing at Rollins College and Moore's mother wanted to arrange bail.

As choking policemen and prisoners began exiting from the smoke-filled cell area, Mrs. Moore heard a scream.

"Let me in!" she screamed. "Oh please, please, please let me to him. That's my son! Oh my God, that's my poor, poor son!"

Minutes later she was told her son had died.

When rescuers reached Moore's cell, they said they found the door sealed shut. Fireman Bob Hines said the heat from within the metal-walled cell had welded the locking mechanism shut and 60 frantic minutes passed before the men were able to spring it.

When the door finally opened, Paige was alive. Moore was dead.

Officers said they found eight burning mattresses piled atop one another in the center of the cell. Moore's body was sprawled beside them.

Indian Territory Conflict Widens

By The Associated Press

India claimed three Pakistani warplanes were shot down in a dogfight near Calcutta on Monday as both the Indians and Pakistanis reported heavy fighting along East Pakistan's borders.

A Cabinet minister told a cheering Indian Parliament in New Delhi today that the F86 Sabre Jets were shot down by four Indian-built Gnat jets 30 miles northeast of Calcutta. A fourth Pakistani fighter escaped, said V. C. Shukla, minister of defense production.

PILOTS BAIL OUT

Shukla said the Indian fliers intercepted the Pakistanis three miles inside India. He reported that the Pakistani pilots bailed out of their shot-up planes and two of the three were captured.

The minister said all four Indian planes returned safely to their base.

Radio Pakistan reported that President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan ordered a state of emergency throughout Pakistan because of a "threat of foreign aggression." The reason for his proclamation was not clear since Pakistan has been under martial law since March, 1969.

Pakistani broadcasts charged that India had launched an all-out offensive into East Pakistan at four scattered points.

The Pakistani radio and an army spokesman in Dacca, the capital of East Pakistan, said hard fighting continued today near Jessore.

The Indians said East Pakistan's Bengali rebels made massive strikes across the border and denied that Indian troops were involved.

CIVIL WAR

The Pakistanis charged that the Indians had swept into East Pakistan without a formal declaration of war.

Pakistan's delegation to the United Nations said it was considering calling for an emergency session of the Security Council.

The crisis stems from the Pakistani army's crackdown on the East Pakistani independence movement last March. A state of civil war has prevailed ever since in East Pakistan, or East Bengal, and the East Pakistani guerrillas known as the Mukti Bahini have been getting supplies and training across the border in neighboring areas of India.

A Pakistani spokesman at the United Nations charged that 12 Indian divisions supported by 38 battalions of border security forces had assaulted the Jessore, Chittagong, Sylhet and Rangpur districts of East Pakistan after several weeks of shelling and skirmishes along the border.

Senate Okays $27-Billion Tax Slash, Election Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a fattened $27-billion tax-cut bill designed to stimulate the economy after attaching an amendment allowing the federal treasury to bankroll presidential campaigns.

More than half the Republican senators voted against the measure, largely because of the Democratic-sponsored plan to make available up to $20.4 million in federal funds to the major-party nominees in the 1972 campaign.

TRIM EXPECTED

The bill was passed 64 to 30 Monday night and sent into conference with the House. The conference committee is expected to do at least a trimming.

Some Republicans said they will urge President Nixon to veto the entire bill if the final version still carries the campaign-financing provision.

The final Senate bill contained many provisions asked by Nixon to benefit business, encourage modernization of plant and equipment, and give a boost to export sales.

But it provides tax cuts for individuals going beyond the President's recommendations. These are expected to raise purchasing power and benefit especially low-income families.

The Senate considered 100 amendments in 10 days and nights of debate and added about $11.5 billion to the three-year cost of the bill as it came from the House.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said the Treasury figured that the floor amendments adopted would reduce revenues by $4.8 billion over the next decade.

'WELLNIGH RUINED'

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said: "This bill has been well-nigh ruined by action of this body."

But Democrats insisted the bill had been made much more equitable by increasing the aid for individuals and lessening what they called an overbalance in favor of business tax cuts.

On final passage, 48 Democrats and 16 Republicans voted aye, while 26 Republicans and 4 Democrats voted against the bill.

Tax-Cut Bill Provisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are major provisions of the $27-billion tax-cut bill passed by the Senate Monday night:

INDIVIDUAL TAXES

- Increases personal exemption this year from $650 to $675, and to $800 and 1972.
- Increases minimum standard deduction this year from $1,050 to $1,300.
- Increases percentage standard deduction to 15 per cent with $2,000 ceiling next year; present law sets 13-per-cent deduction on $1,500 ceiling, going to 15 per cent in 1973.
- Repeals 7-per-cent excise tax on cars, with manufacturers pledged to pass savings on to purchaser.
- Allows single persons and certain married couples to deduct up to $4,800 a year on their taxes for child care and domestic help when they have children up to 14 years old in their care.
- Raises tax-withholding rates on couples when husband and wife both work, and on those with more than one job, and on those with more than $15,000 income.

BUSINESS TAXES

- Restores 7-per-cent tax credit for new machinery and equipment ordered since last March 31.
- Writes into law faster depreciation allowances granted earlier this year by President Nixon.
- Gives U.S. companies a tax break on income from certain export sales.

FOREIGN TRADE

- Allows president to impose 15-per-cent import surcharge, rather than current 10 per cent, and to impose import quotas on product-by-product and country-by-country basis in case of balance-of-payments emergency.
- Allows president to reimpose excise tax on foreign cars made in countries discriminating against U.S.-manufactured automobiles.
- Gives the president authority to deny the investment credit on foreign-made items even when the 10-per-cent import surcharge is lifted.

CAMPAIGN FINANCING

- Allows a taxpayer to check a box on his tax return and earmark $1 of his tax, $2 for a couple, to go into a presidential-campaign-financing fund. The taxpayer could stipulate which party was to receive his payment.

Rent-Controlled Apartments Removed From Federal Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission has turned over to state and local control boards the job of regulating rent increases on private, rent-controlled property during Phase 2 of the President's economic program.

The commission said Monday it will allow rent boosts for private units under state or local control. Public housing, decontrolled rental units or publicly subsidized housing subject to rent formulas will remain under federal supervision.

ABOUT TIME

The decision by the Price Commission probably was its last in the field of rents. President Nixon announced Monday establishment of a Rent Advisory Board, which was to hold its first meeting today.

Names of those appointed to the board were withheld pending publication of Nixon's order in the Federal Register.

Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson, announcing the rent ruling, said rental units not under a state or local control agency will remain under interim regulations permitting landlords to raise rents no higher than the level that prevailed for 10 per cent of similar apartments in the same unit in the 30 days before Aug. 15, when the freeze began.

It had been expected that the Rent Advisory Board would be made up of Price Commission members, but assistant White House press secretary Gerald L. Warren said Monday "it was felt a separate entity should be created."

Except in the case of rent-controlled private property, all rents remain frozen.

The rent panel will act in the capacity of adviser only, as Nixon's order stated, to "provide advice concerning special considerations involved in the stabilization of rents."

Earlier Monday, Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally expressed confidence in the success of Phase 2, and said the Pay Board's recent approval of a 15-per-cent pay increase in the first year of a soft-coal miners' contract should not be taken as indication Phase 2 controls are being eroded.

His views, however, were disputed by Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, who said: "The American economy is in deep trouble and no amount of well-orchestrated cheering, even by such an experienced cheerleader as John Connally, can alter the situation."

Connally aimed most of his remarks in a broadcast news conference Monday at AFL-CIO President George Meany, accusing the labor leader of acting in a boorish and arrogant manner toward President Nixon last week.

CAPTURE SLIPPERY FUGITIVE IN TULSA

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — James Kenneth Johnson, who slid down a rope of bed sheets Nov. 15 from his guarded Oklahoma City hospital room, was captured quietly Monday night on a Tulsa street by FBI agents.

Johnson, 34, is charged with shooting with intent to kill Oklahoma Highway Patrolman Bill Villines who had attempted to stop him on a routine speeding violation Nov. 7 near Norman and with robbing banks at Marlow, Okla., and Higgins, Tex.

He was to be arraigned today before a U.S. magistrate.

Johnson, who had escaped from the hospital while wearing leg irons and a cast, had shed them all before his arrest near 12th Street and Denver Avenue in Tulsa. He had a bandage on his hand and limped slightly when agents swept down on him.

They took a .38 caliber revolver from him and he did not resist. He was also carrying a six pack of beer, and $340.

Only One Day Off For Most

Thanksgiving is only a one-day holiday for most Big Springers, according to reports from area business and government.

The banks will be open Friday, as will the post office and Webb AFB. Webb personnel will have a regular working day Friday. The Big Spring State Hospital will have a full staff on duty and the Chamber of Commerce will be open.

The county offices will be closed, and the city commission votes tonight on whether to close shop Friday.

The sheriff's office will operate with a skeleton crew Friday.

Judiciary Committee OK's Court Nominees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved today President Nixon's nomination of Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist to fill two vacancies on the Supreme Court.

The vote on Powell, a Richmond, Va., attorney was unanimous. The committee recommended Senate confirmation of Rehnquist, an assistant attorney general, by a vote of 12 to 4.

The committee members who voted against Rehnquist's nomination were Birch Bayh, D-Ind.; Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; Philip Hart, D-Mich.; and John V. Tunney, D-Calif.

IN DOUBT

Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D., whose position on the Rehnquist's nomination had been regarded as in doubt, voted with the majority to recommend Senate confirmation.

The committee's action cleared the way for the Senate to take up the nominations, but Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said they will be the last item on the agenda before adjournment.

Mansfield hopes to wind up the present session of Congress before the middle of December. Rehnquist, 47, a Phoenix lawyer before his appointment in 1969 as a top aide to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, has been nominated to succeed retired Justice John M. Harlan. Powell, 64, a former president of the American Bar Association, would replace the late Hugo L. Black.

Trailer Rig Overtakes

A Coahoma man escaped serious injury Monday when he lost control of a truck-tractor-trailer rig he was driving, and the rig overturned.

William Lewis Jones, 26, of 404 S. 4th, Coahoma, was treated at Malone and Hogan Clinic Monday and released. The accident occurred at 4 p.m. approximately 15 miles southeast of Big Spring on a private dirt road one-tenth of a mile north of FM 821.

According to the investigating officer, Jones apparently lost control of the rig while driving around a curve. The truck-tractor overturned once, and the trailer rig overturned one-and-one-half times, disconnecting itself from the truck-tractor.

Plans To Update City Sewage Plant Received

By BRIAN PEAY
Design plans on a chlorine contact chamber to be built at the city sewage plant were received by Harry Nagel, city manager, Monday.

Plans have been drawn up by Freese, Nichols, & Endress Engineers of Fort Worth. The chamber will be a part of the $100,000 expenditure approved by the city commission to rehabilitate the sewage system to meet the state Water Quality Board regulations.

A review of the plans will be made by city officials, and then the plans will be sent to the TWQB for approval, according to Nagel, as a step toward actual construction on the chamber can begin.

"With the approval of the design plans, we anticipate the construction of the chamber will be done by city crews, instead of contracting the work," Nagel said. He said this would cut some of the cost of the structure, which will run between $40,000 and $60,000.

City officials are still awaiting a report from AAA Pipe Cleaning Company of Houston. The company concluded an internal inspection of the city's sewage trunk lines the first of this month. The report was scheduled to be submitted to the city within 30 days of completion of work.

The television inspection survey is a portion of the second part of the program. The report is hoped to reveal areas in the city's sewage lines where salt water infiltration problems may affect quality of effluent.

City water and sewer departments have definitely determined from a chemical analysis that the pipelines have infiltration problems. The problems may be caused from faulty pipe joints, crushed sections of pipe, or deterioration of the lines.

The survey should pinpoint these breaks.

"We will review the report and determine from it the course of action to be taken in solving the problems," said Nagel. The administrator said that due to the possibility of multiple problems causing the infiltration, the city may use grouting services, line replacement or pipe liner additions to repair the sewage pipes.

Meanwhile, Bill Brown, acting utilities director, is submitting a monthly report to the TWQB on the progress of work toward updating Big Spring's sewage plant.

Earlier this year in a memorandum to the city, the board instructed that the city must have a "satisfactory" application for improvement of its sewage treatment plant filed by July 15, (which the city met); that it must have a definite time table for rehabilitation; must prescribe steps to control infiltration into the sewage system; and enact an industrial waste ordinance.

Had the city not met requirements of the board, by the deadline date, a penalty and fine of $1,000 per day of violation could have been assessed the city.

The contact chamber, or basin, is designed to retain the effluent for a minimum of 20 minutes after processing, so that the chlorine will have time to take effect on all bacteria in the water, according to Brown. The treatment, therefore, will be a disinfectant action.

Also the chamber will reduce the biochemical oxygen demand on the effluent. Connected to the new sewage plant, the basin will also be used, if necessary, on effluent from the old Hayes trickling filter plant, the director explained.

Appreciation Certificates Given To Leon Millers

Certificates of appreciation were presented to a couple well known in Scouting in this area Thursday night at the Cub Scout Pack 179 meeting at Kentwood United Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Miller, who soon will be moving to Phoenix, Ariz., were thanked for their efforts and interest in the local Scouting program.

Miller, who came to Big Spring from Lubbock in 1967 as a professional district Scout executive, organized the first Webelos unit within Pack 179, in October, 1967. He has been a Webelos den leader two years; served as Cubmaster from February, 1969, until June, 1970, and this year has been as assistant Scoutmaster in Troop 179. He was Lone Star district Cub Scout training chairman for leaders; 1970-71.

One-year service pins were presented to Lance Shillingburg, Terry Sinder, David Towery, David Webb, David Emerson, Rodney Young, and Scott Shortes. Two year pins: Phillip Speck, Mike Evans, Eddie Bodin, Terry Howell, Jack Odom, Gary Shanks, Jesse Curry, Jim Wilmes, Barry Rosson, and Scott McGuire. Denners are: Robbie Bodin, Dick Ellis; assistant denners, David Towery and Ronald Salmon.

Following den skits which portrayed Thanksgiving in pilgrim days, Cubmaster C. G. Evans conducted the awards ceremony, recognizing: Russell Hodnett, Bobcat.

Need To Break Logjam

The Constitution guarantees persons facing criminal prosecution "the right to a speedy and public trial." This is interpreted as a trial without unreasonable delay.

That is an old saying that "justice delayed is justice denied," and certainly this applies to areas other than criminal law.

An example was underlined by Edward B. Miller, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, in a speech before the San Antonio Bar Association.

Miller made a frank confession of his "alarm" at two statistical truths. He pointed to the annual caseload of 1,200 matters personally considered by the five NLRB members. Surely such a tide swamps the normal decision-making process.

Even more distressing is the fact that 18 to 24 months go by before decisions are implemented.

Miller cited two types of hardship cases that result: The unfairly discharged employee who must wait two years to get his job back and receive reimbursement for lost pay. And, the employer faced with illegal picketing without prospect for relief for an equal space of time.

The NLRB chairman indicated that the problem concerns Congress, but that solutions proposed so far are considered either pro-business or pro-labor.

Surely the members of the House and Senate should be able to regain the spirit of the Constitution long enough to correct this shabby situation.

Act Has Punch

The emergency powers of the federal Clean Air Act have proved their worth in their first test. A federal judge invoked the powers for the first time in ordering 23 major polluting industries in Birmingham, Ala., to shut down until a dirty air crisis ends.

The crisis developed when air pollution reached the danger point as industry and auto emissions were trapped in a large area of stagnant air. While Birmingham was the city most seriously affected, the pollution threat reached into other states.

When some industries refused to comply with requests to voluntarily cut production, the federal government moved. The Environmental Protection Agency, through the Justice Department, sought and received a temporary injunction against the industries.

The injunction — which can be dissolved at any time — was not a punitive action. It was aimed at stopping the major sources of air pollution. Business as usual cannot continue when its by-products endanger health.

"Cowpokes," Ace Reid's homey, humorous chronicle of cowboy life, is a cartoon creation depicting fictional characters. Contrary to popular belief, they are not patterned on individual, real-life people. "Jake" does not exist. "Zeb" does not exist.

AND NEITHER, I suspect, does "Ace Reid."

Yet the role of the lusty, exuberant cartoonist is portrayed to perfection by Ace Reid Jr. of Kerrville, a talented, tongue-in-cheek gentleman who plays several other roles equally well, including those of rancher, businessman, husband and father.

INTERVIEWING the character "Ace Reid," is an entertaining personal experience, but journalistically, it's practically a waste of time. The part where you know he's putting you on has all been printed before (faithfully reported). And, by the time you delete a good many "doubtfuls," several "probables" and a few "unprintables," there goes the guts of your story.

You've been bull-dogged again.

THE BIG SPRING visit was coming to an end. "Ace Reid" had bounced and blustered and bulled his way through another performance, and it was time to leave for the airport. "Come on, let's move, we've got a plane to catch," he yelled, quickly picking up his suitcase. Throwing a garment bag over his shoulder, he grimed wearily and added, "Lordy, am I tired!"

THE DRIVE to Terminal took about 45 minutes, and for a fraction of that time, Ace Reid Jr. took off his public make-up and put away another of the characters he has created.

Beneath the veneer of unsophistication was a knowledgeable man — and behind the hell-raiser facade was a proud husband and affectionate father.

We talked of many things but I will especially remember these words:

"MY SON, STAN, he's 17 now. A great boy. Everything I always wanted in a son. And handsome! Not sissy-looking, mind you, but a beautiful boy — like his mother. Oh, he gets into some trouble, but hell, who doesn't? Not long ago he wrecked his car and it broke about everything in that pore lil' fellow's body. But he's o.k. He's perfect. He'll be going off to college soon. Oh, Jo, I miss him already!"

WASHINGTON — The news that the FBI has been investigating CBS correspondent Daniel Schorr caused some trepidation among Washington journalists early last week.

BUT THEN the White House explained it all. Mr. Schorr was being investigated, a spokesman said, because he was being considered for a high government job, and the White House wanted to run a check on him before they offered him the position.

Well, all of us relaxed when we heard the explanation, not only because it made sense, but also because it showed that the Administration harbored no ill feelings. Mr. Schorr has been a consistent critic of Administration policies and if he was being considered for a high government job, that meant any of us could be tapped for public service.

A GROUP of correspondents were sitting in the White House press room the other day, chucking over the latest White House press release, when Clyde Mothbaler of the Kinzu Telegram-Ledger was called to the phone.

He came back white-faced and said: "That was my mother. The FBI was just at her house and wanted to know what library books I borrowed when I was a kid."

"Congratulations, Mothbaler," the AP man said, "that means you're up for an important government job."

"I DON'T KNOW," Clyde said. "The Administration got awfully mad at me about my articles on the Supreme Court appointments. As a matter of fact someone from the White House called my editor and suggested I be sent to Moscow where I understood the government better."

"Don't be silly, Mothbaler," the Boston Globe man said, "the Administration doesn't hold grudges. I wouldn't be surprised if they made you secretary of the treasury."

"YOU WOULD think they would ask me if I wanted a job first," Mothbaler said.

"They wanted to surprise you," the Washington Post correspondent assured him. "To think, one of our boys will be in the Cabinet!"

"The FBI man didn't say anything to my mother about a Cabinet appointment. But he did want to know if I ever played with Daniel Ellsberg as a kid," Mothbaler said.

"It's just a smokescreen, Clyde," the Los Angeles Times man said. "They always ask that when they're considering somebody for secretary of defense."

"MY MOTHER said they also went around to the neighbors and asked them if I had ever had any strong feelings about Cuba."

"That means you're being put up for head of the CIA," a UPI photographer said. "With Dick Helms being moved upstairs, they're probably looking for a new chief of operations."

"It's possible," Mothbaler said, "but my mother said she caught two of the FBI men going through her trash basket last night."

"That means you're up for an environment job," the NBC man shouted.

"I WISH I COULD be as optimistic as you guys," Mothbaler said. "Suppose the FBI was asking questions to intimidate me?"

The Chicago Sun-Times man was shocked. "Bite your tongue, Mothbaler," he cried, "the Nixon Administration would never stoop to a trick like that, even if they disagreed with every word you wrote."

"He's correct, Clyde," the Newsweek correspondent said. "Atty. Gen. Mitchell would resign before he'd allow the White House to intimidate a newspaperman."

Two Prizes

PORT HARCOURT, Nigeria (AP) — A young fisherman of Sinikiri village found a quick but dangerous way to win public office. He crept up on a sunbathing crocodile and stabbed it to death.

The villagers, who fish for a livelihood and have been harassed by the crocodile for five years, were so elated they appointed the hero, Thomas Bunu, head of the village.

My Answer

Billy Graham

My mother insists that I go to church, read the Bible and take part in family devotions. I think that one should not force religious convictions on others.

I suppose your mother also makes you go to the doctor when you are ill, makes you go to the dentist when you have a toothache, makes you bathe when you need it and insists that you eat a meal time. What a cruel mother!

You should be grateful for a mother who believes something, and for one who tries to get her children to believe something too. There are not too many parents who believe strongly enough in God, in prayer, and the Bible to insist that their children share their faith. You are a fortunate child, and the time will come when you will be grateful you had such a mother. The Bible says, "honor thy father and thy mother," and I'm sure that it was your kind of mother that God commands us to honor. Too many parents today, I'm sad to say, do not merit the respect and honor of their children. They are physically able to beget children, but are incapable of rearing them in the manner children should be brought up. You are rich and don't know it. Listen to your mother, follow her example of faith, and you will be spared a lot of heartache and grief.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"There is nothing outside a man which by going into him can defile him; but the things which come out of a man are what defile him." (Mark 7:15, RSV)
PRAYER: O God, give us the inward power that we may praise You, not with our lips only, but with our lives as well. We ask in the name of Jesus, our Savior, who taught us the Prayer Perfect, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."
(From the "Upper Room")

Teddy May Take It

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Momentum is the word. Whether it is all consciously, deliberately planned or whether it is spontaneous is, for the time being, irrelevant. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is on his way with the very real possibility that he will end up with the presidential nomination of the Democratic party in 1972.

THE KENNEDY momentum is evident, above all, in the outpouring of publicity not only from commentators long subscribing to the Kennedy mystique but in national magazines and on television screens. This, in turn, reflects his rapid rise in the polls so that today he runs either close to or ahead of the two leading contenders, Sens. Edmund Muskie and Hubert Humphrey.

From some long-time Kennedy family friends come word that Teddy would prefer to wait for 1976, since '72 promises to be a doubtful year for Democrats. This is not the way he sees it. You can't sit it out. The illusion of a better year might prove to be just that and the party would never forgive you. Besides, Kennedys don't play the waiting game.

THE PUBLICITY barrage comes from two sources. One is the way the Senator constantly speaks out on the issues. By comparison the other candidates sound muted either from caution or because they fail to put it over. The Kennedys have long shown a mastery of the media, an intimate firsthand knowledge. The Kennedy apparatus on Senate committees dealing with vital headline-making issues is the second source. The first and most important is the subcommittee on medical care, with the Senator holding televised hearings around the country on his measure for complete coverage, national health insurance, Federally financed. This is opposed to the Administration bill that relies on private health insurance in a national pay-as-you-go system.

THE SENATOR talks with buoyant self-confidence of the measure recently passed by both houses of Congress that triples the authorization of money to be spent on medical education. He sees this as beginning to make up for one of the biggest deficiencies in medical care — the shortage of doctors, nurses, nursing homes and hospitals. Chairman Wilbur Mills is putting his House Ways and Means Committee through the paces of a measure to finance a new health-care system. Kennedy is confident that when this comes to the Senate it will be possible to work out a compromise advancing medical care not the whole way to national insurance but a big step forward (and why not a Kennedy-Mills ticket in 1972?).

THE KENNEDY subcommittee on refugees is another source of headlines. The Senator spent most of the August recess inspecting the camps in India where more than 9,500,000 refugees from East Pakistan live on bare subsistence with no future in sight.

No Doomsday!

William F. Buckley Jr.

I note, as others have done with great disappointment, that 16 days have gone by since we triggered a nuclear explosion in Amchitka, and a) a tidal wave has not engulfed Hawaii, b) a flood has not devastated the happy people of Polynesia, and c) the seal population in Alaska is reported up, not down. All of which reminds us what twaddle the experts speak, when ideology takes hold of their minds and shapes their behavior.

INSUFFICIENT attention has been given to one of the few systematic efforts to discipline scientists who zoom about like Hell's Angels in the world of controversy. What happened is that Mr. Albert Wohlstetter, an associate of RAND Foundation and the University of Chicago, having carefully analyzed Safeguard when it was being debated in the spring of 1969, gave testimony concerning it. He was startled not that his recommendations were opposed by men of large reputation in the scientific world; but that some of the arguments they were using were arguments which he knew to be utterly irresponsible.

SO HE APPROACHED the Operations Research Society of America (ORSA), a small professional group which concerns itself with "professional quantitative analysis of interactions within systems susceptible of such analysis" and asked it to put together a committee to study some of the testimony that had been given about Safeguard. An ad hoc committee on professional standards was set up, and in September the journal released the results of researches conducted by six eminently qualified men, four of them former presidents of ORSA. Concerning Safeguard itself, members of the tribunal were divided. Concerning the behavior of some of the academic critics of Safeguard, the tribunal was absolutely unanimous.

THE COMMITTEE'S prose is not very tawdry, but the "summary of findings" is pretty straightforward: "The evidence supports the disturbing conclusion that when prominent experts outside the Administration supported their opinions on these analyses were often inappropriate, misleading, or factually in error. Moreover, in many instances, elementary standards for proper presentation of results to permit verification and meaningful dialogue were not met."

AN INDEPENDENT expert translates the above passage as follows: "A careful reading discloses that George Rathjens, professor of political science at MIT, systematically exhibited behavior that could conservatively be called slippery, and some would describe as simply dishonest. That Jerome Wiesner, president of MIT, is given prominence in the report in regard to such matters as whether official Department of Defense spokesmen did or did not change their threat estimates. And that Ralph Lapp, a prominent technical publicist of the anti-military complex, is constructively unintelligent."

RATHJENS and Wiesner fired off an omnibus complaint which centers on the charge that the ORSA group had no business passing judgment on their performance, because after all they are not members of ORSA. That point was neatly handled by Mr. Alain Enthoven, who was an Assistant Secretary of Defense for Systems Analysis in the Johnson Administration. "I thought that the Rathjens-Wiesner letter objecting to the committee was extremely arrogant," he wrote in a letter to the New York Times. "Imagine Linus Pauling objecting to a critical examination of his theories on Vitamin C by the medical profession on the grounds that he isn't a member."

Removal Of Surcharge

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Pressure appears to be growing here and abroad for removal of the 10 per cent surcharge on goods imported into the United States, and so it is unlikely that a decision can be postponed far into 1972.

The Council for Economic Development, whose membership includes many top executives and educators, is the latest to add its opinion, recommending that the surcharge be lifted "without undue delay."

There are problems, though, as there are with almost all aspects of the new economic plan. Some were anticipated, but it seems likely that the lowness of currency realignments is somewhat of a disappointment.

The surcharge was meant to give the United States strength in forcing a realignment of exchange rates in its favor. If nations wanted the surcharge removed, they should permit rates to change.

The change sought by the United States was an upward valuation, a revaluation of the currency values of its trading partners. This move, although seemingly a paradox, would enlarge the relative power of the dollar.

Oversimplified for the purpose of illustrating, imports into the United States would cost more because their prices were quoted in more expensive foreign currencies; U.S. exports, bearing weaker U.S. dollar prices, would be more competitive abroad.

When the new valuations were established, it was the U.S. intention to remove the surcharge as no longer needed. If foreign currencies rose 10 per cent, for example, it would have an effect similar to the surcharge.

Such has not been the case. No currency has yet risen 10 per cent relative to the dollar, and even in cases where the realignment had been progressing, it has slowed in recent weeks.

A study by Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. shows that the dollar on Nov. 15 had effectively depreciated 6.9 per cent in relation to 14 major currencies as compared with pre-May, 1971, parities.

Since Aug. 13, however, two days before the U.S. plan was announced, the decline has amounted to only 3 per cent. In some instances, the dollar has actually risen in value since then.

Here is the record since Aug. 13 of changes in exchange rates among major currencies:

United States, down 3 per cent, Canada, down 0.2, Japan, up 7.5, Australia, down 0.3, United Kingdom, up 1.1, Switzerland, down 0.2, Germany, down 0.8, France, down 2.8, Italy, down 0.4, Belgium, up 5.1, Norway, up 0.8.

The U.S. goal was for considerably more than 6.9 per cent. And while a slow response from some nations may have been anticipated, it is unlikely that so many "downs" were foreseen.

Despite its problems, the U.S. economy is still the strongest, and almost every other nation depends on it to one degree or another. It must be with mixed feelings, therefore, that they challenge the U.S. effort to force a big change in relative currency values.

That, however, is the course some of them seem to be taking.

'Isn't It Done Yet?'

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks you're pretty sure to hear at any big family Thanksgiving dinner:

"Isn't it done yet?"
"Do you really think a 24-pound turkey is big enough for 16 people?"

"I'd say give it at least another hour. Don't you remember the year Bertha cooked her first turkey, and it tasted almost like raw rubber?"

"For the last time, get out of this kitchen. If another man puts a foot in here the rest of the day, I'll throw the turkey right out the window."

"Why is it turkey all the time on Thanksgiving? Personally, I'd rather have some nice plump baked chicken."

"Isn't it done yet?"

"Fixing all the trimmings for a Thanksgiving dinner is so much fuss and bother that every year I threaten it's the last one and next year I'll ask Eddie to take me out."

"Oh, you never really will. That wouldn't be any fun, Margaret. Thanks giving isn't Thanksgiving anywhere except at home."

"Yes, I know. But it's still such a nuisance, and the smell of turkey gets into the draperies and stays there for days."

"All the men are staring at the television set as if they were watching the Second Coming. Since when did football become the main part of Thanksgiving? The Pilgrims Fathers didn't play football, did they?"

"Isn't it done yet?"

"I think you'd better slow down, Jim. That's your third one already, and the day is still pretty young."

"Remember, when all our children were young, and there were so many of them that we had two sittings at the table for the kids before we could get a bite ourselves?"

"Yes, if the kids weren't such a hurry to grow up and fly away, this would be a nicer world."

"Well, I guess we've got a lot to be thankful for. Our family is dwindling so that any year is a good year in which none of us dies."

"Yes—or loses his job."

"I'll drink to that. Lift your glasses. Here's a toast to the family."

"Have you noticed that every time Frank comes into the kitchen to look at the turkey, he takes an extra snifter?"

"Well, it's done and on the table at last! You men leave that television set and sit down—or I'll really throw the turkey out the window. Fred, you say grace. You're the only one who got a raise this year."

Cultures Differ

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a Hindu to live temporarily with some respectable man only for the purpose of becoming pregnant. After that has taken place, these temporary relations shall be severed and the wife shall go back to her husband's home and continue to wait for his return.

Thanking you, Your truly,
PREM AGARWAL

DEAR PREM: Thank you for illustrating a point which we in the Western world are apt to forget. We represent a very small part of the world, and what we consider "immoral" or "unethical" is not necessarily "immoral" or "unethical" in other countries and for other cultures.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for nearly 12 years. We are childless, and wherever we are asked if we have children, and we say we haven't someone always says, "Oh, isn't that too bad!"

We then say, "Not really. We never wanted any." Then they look at us like we are monsters. Abby, we feel that our lives are full and very rewarding without children. We are able to travel, do a great deal of civic, political and humanitarian work we couldn't do if we were raising a family. And we are happy! We don't hate children. We like them. But we feel the world doesn't need any more.

CHILDLESS AND HAPPY
DEAR HAPPY: I think you've said it very well.

DEAR ABBY: Concerning childless, and whenever we are locked out because their parents do not "trust" them with a key (Children lose so many things). Although our children are now married, each one had his own house key from the first day he went to school. The key was put on a "dog tag chain" obtained from an Army surplus store. Later a "blood type tag" was given to each child and placed on the chain beside his key.

The children lost many items during their school days, but never a key nor blood type tag. Thank you for an interesting column.

A. P. McD.
DEAR A. P.: And thank you for an interesting (and helpful) suggestion.

Electric Chair Goes For $10

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A winning bid of $320 by actress Debbie Reynolds for a carved wooden model of the Holy Sepulchre used in the movie "David and Bathsheba" topped offers in the last session of 20th Century Fox's sale of movie artifacts.

Sotheby, Parke-Bernet, auctioneers conducting the sale, reported total proceeds from the six sessions of $172,214.

Paul Cronin, an Andover, Mass., restaurateur, paid $280 for a massive round table used in the movie "Prince Valiant." Gary Etter of Grenada Hills, Calif., bought an electric chair for $10.

Ear Piercing

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 15 and would like to get my ears pierced, but my mother doesn't think it is a very good idea. Is it safer to get them pierced by a doctor or can I use self-piercers? — D.G.B.

Girls have been piercing holes in their ear lobes for a long time, and so have a few of the boys. I guess it doesn't matter that I don't understand the appeal of this. All I can do is answer the question as best I can.

A recent survey of 100 student nurses found that 75 had pierced ears, and only a third of them had been pierced by physicians. The study also showed that the do-it-yourself piercing got more of the girls into a mess of trouble — the troubles being inflammation, drainage of pus, bleeding, crusting, and allergy due to contact with the metal in the gadget used to keep the hole open.

Another less frequent but probably more troublesome complication is the formation of a keloid — that is, a thick, bumpy mass of scar tissue. If a girl has had a previous operation of any kind and such a thickened scar has formed, she should be wary of having her ears pierced even by a doctor. That is to say, so-e folks are subject to keloid formation and others aren't.

Anyway, if you insist on having your ears pierced and can get the approval of your parents, by all means have a doctor do it for you. Dermatologists are usually equipped for this procedure.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is peptic ulcer a serious condition? Can it be fatal? Are there certain foods one should not eat? — Mrs. J.M.

It can be serious if the ulcer starts bleeding, and even more serious if the ulcer perforates — that is, if the ulcer eats through the intestines!

These situations are not the usual ones, however. For the most part, the principal problem is the pain of the ulcer. Yes, proper diet is important.

If you want considerable detail on this condition, send 25 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for my booklet, "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed."

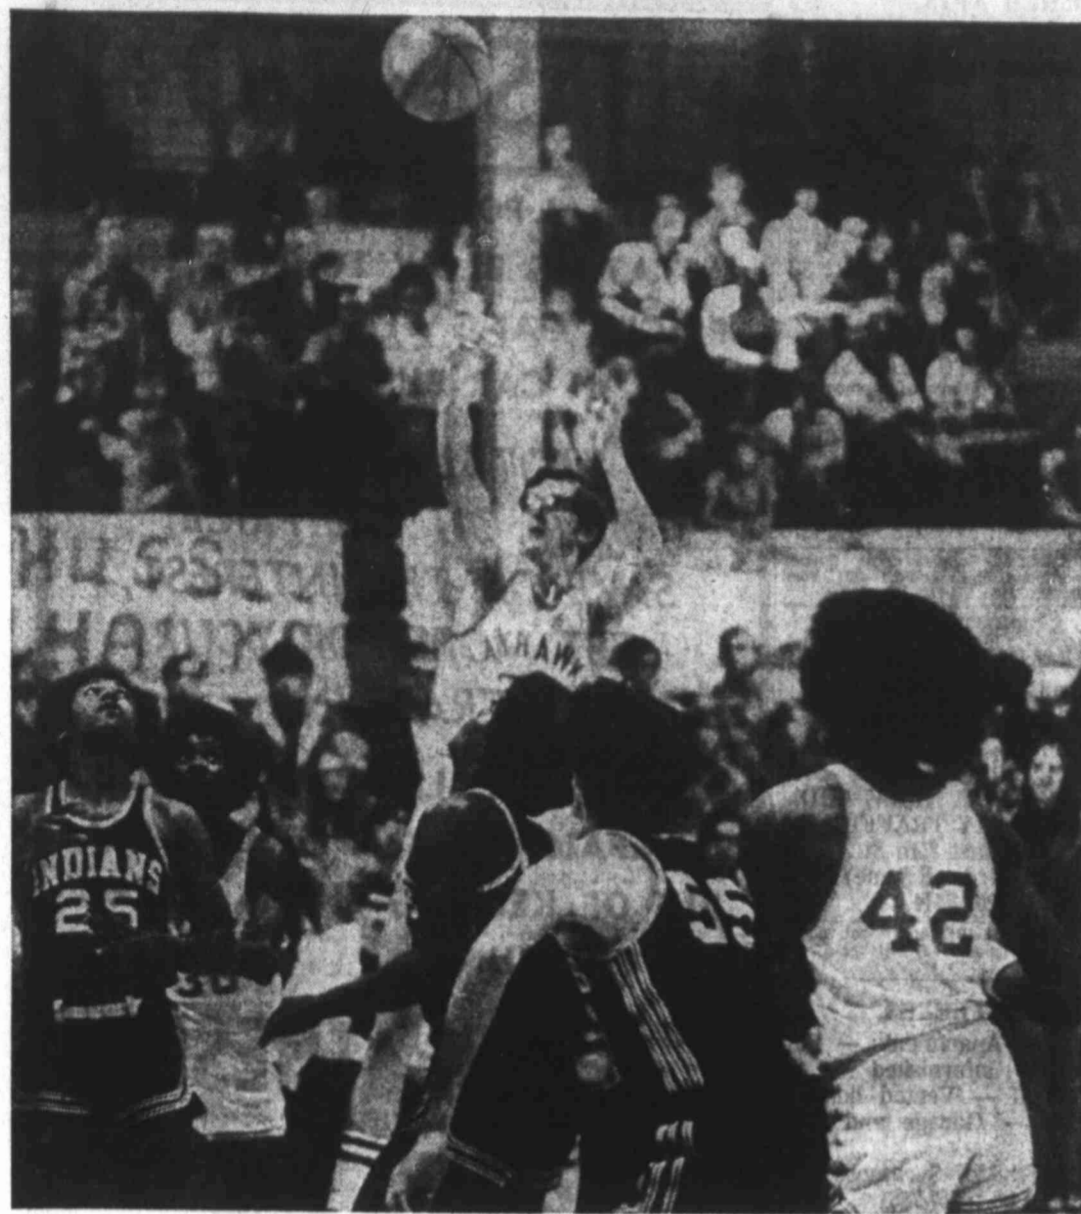

Dear Dr. Thost: On My 10-year-old daughter is nearsighted and can't see the blackboard in school. Shall I take her to an optometrist or an ophthalmologist?

A 7-year-old neighborhood boy goes to an ophthalmologist who gave him drops to relax the eye muscles. The drops are put in each morning and he then wears glasses (biocals). This is to continue until he reaches his teens. Would you give your opinion of such a drastic process? — Mrs. J.M.

Preferably take her to an ophthalmologist, since he is a doctor of medicine who, on top of that, has specialized in eye care, covering an, type of eye problem.

However, I do not mean to short-change optometrists, who are not physicians. Optometrists are trained primarily in fitting glasses to correct visual defects, although they also have considerable training in recognizing medical problems, so they can refer people to ophthalmologists if that is necessary.

If your daughter's sole eye problem is nearsightedness, then an optometrist can do all that is necessary.

A BELLRINGER FOR HC'S JIM KREIER This one helped swing decision for Hawks

Kreier Spurs Jayhawks To Win Over McMurry

By TOMMY HART
The Jayhawks seemed sluggish in the process and converted and uncertain. They never let McMurry get very far ahead but they kept yielding possession on turnovers and insisted on taking shots they shouldn't have taken. Kreier carried the Hawks much of the way. He was outstanding on defense, steadied the team afield and wound up with 22 points. HC trailed with less than a minute when Kreier drove in for a two-pointer. He was fouled in the process and converted and hit from quartercourt for the final two points of the game. McMurry boasted a four-point bulge at half time and, with a little luck, could have been leading by eight. Myers solved McMurry's tricky defenses for 35 points, although it didn't appear he was scoring that often. That's near his season's norm of 36. Harry Miller tossed in 13 for the Big Springers. Keith Sullivan paced the Indians with 35 points and was one of four McMurry players to hit in double figures. Rick Perry followed with 19. The win was the sixth in seven starts for HC, which next plays South Plains in the Garden City, Kan., Thanksgiving Tournament.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:
Coach HANK STRAM of the Kansas City Chiefs, on running back John Riggins of the New York Jets:
"He's the type of ball player that runs into a crowd and comes out on the other side."
BOB DEVANEY, Nebraska coach, when asked how it feels to be rated No. 1 in the nation:
"It feels a lot better starting out No. 1 than starting No. 99 and trying to work your way up."
LOU FERRY, football coach at Villanova, whose team lost to nationally ranked Toledo and Houston, as well as to Boston College:
"When you face facts, we don't belong on the same field with Houston. They're better than Boston College and Toledo combined."
JOHN MACKKEY, Baltimore Colt veteran, discussing the versatility of the team's attack:
"We can go out the front door and if they stop that we'll go out the back door. If they take that, we go out the window and if things really get tough, we'll blow the roof off."
Golfer ARNOLD PALMER:
"I thought about going into politics a couple of years ago, but decided against running for office. I might become more involved behind the scenes, though... I keep hearing that golf isn't exciting enough for some young people, that they're turned off by the game. They say it isn't violent enough or doesn't relate to society. There's going to be a lull where we won't have the same high interest in the game, but it's only temporary."
MIKE REID, defensive tackle for the Cincinnati Bengals:
"You know, it's a shame that in America so much importance is put on a game like football. But I guess you can't dictate emotions. It's like falling in love with a woman, or so they tell me."
CHARLEY KRUEGER, veteran tackle for the San Francisco 49ers:
"The Packers' Jim Taylor was the toughest runner I ever faced. Playing him was like a declaration of war, a fight for your life, a battle royal in the streets. He put more bruises on me than anyone."
SHUG JORDAN, football coach at Auburn:
"If Pat Sullivan (Auburn QB) doesn't win the Heisman Trophy, there's one heckuva great player somewhere else in the country."
TED WILLIAMS, manager of the Dallas-Fort Worth American (baseball) league entry:
"The Communists are taking over Africa and that's going to be worse for the natives than facing those lions and tigers and alligators."
PEPPER RODGERS, UCLA coach:
"On the basis of our games with both teams, I'd have to pick Michigan, but Stanford has the talent, including a quarterback good enough to beat anyone, Michigan included, in a game like the Rose Bowl."
HAYDEN FRY, SMU coach:
"Texas' 22-18 win over our kids hurt more than I first suspected. Our players began feeling sorry for themselves. Our fans bragged on them, but they'd always add 'You should have won. The officials cheated you.' We believed them. That's the worst thing that can happen to you."

Nation's Top Two Elevens Vie Thursday

NEW YORK (AP)—Nebraska's Cornhuskers are still sitting on top of The Associated Press College football poll like the classic immovable object. But No. 2 Oklahoma has its irresistible force all ready for a classic showdown on Thanksgiving day. Nebraska, the defending national champion, continued to dominate the voting, collecting 40 of the 55 available first place votes. But Oklahoma, with eight firsts, was a strong second, amassing 976 points to 1,024 for the No. 1 Cornhuskers. Nebraska, boasting the nation's No. 1 team in total defense and second in defense against rushing and scoring, matches this strength against Oklahoma's 563.2-yard total offense average, the best in the country. Alabama surged into third place ahead of Michigan, which barely beat Ohio State 10-7, adding significantly to the game Saturday in Birmingham, Ala., between the Crimson Tide and Auburn ranked No. 5. The top three teams were idle last week, as were Auburn and Georgia which jumped a notch to No. 7. In the other notable change in the week's rankings, Louisiana State crashed into the Top Ten—in the No. 10 position—on the strength of its impressive 28-8 triumph over Notre Dame at Baton Rouge. The Top 25, based on a 20-18-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 formula of voting, with first place votes in parentheses and total points:

Johnny Majors May Replace Bill Beall

HOUSTON (AP)—Baylor Head Coach Bill Beall will be replaced after this season by Iowa State football coach Johnny Majors, the Houston Post said in today's editions. Writer Jack Agness said Baylor has already negotiated a contract with Majors, who will succeed Beall after the Bears complete their season against Rice here Saturday. The contract was negotiated with Baylor Athletic Director Jack Patterson, who is heading up a special four-man committee of the board of trustees to study the Baylor athletic program. Patterson said earlier that a formal announcement on any change in the head coaching job would be made after the Rice game. Beall reportedly signed a five-year contract in 1968, but it was subject to review at the end of three years. Right now, Beall's three-year record is 3-27. Majors still has commitments in Iowa State, as the Cyclones close out their regular season against San Diego State Nov. 27, then play LSU in the Sun Bowl Dec. 18. As the Iowa State coach since 1968, Majors has a four-season record of 18-23. His 1971 Cyclones accepted the Sun Bowl invitation after compiling a 7-3 record by defeating Oklahoma State University Saturday 54-0.

Falcons Still In Contention

ATLANTA (AP)—It's a three-team race in the National Football League's West Division now and the Atlanta Falcons feel that anything can happen. The Falcons jumped right into the fight with a 28-21 victory over the Green Bay Packers in Monday night's nationally televised NFL game. They now trail the division-leading Los Angeles Rams by one game and the second-place San Francisco 49ers by just a half-game. "Anything can happen now," said Atlanta's defensive end John Zook, who along with the rest of Atlanta's front four made it hot for Green Bay quarterback Scott Hunter all night in the 31-degree weather.

Use Of Spray Protested By Team In Playoff Go

LOS FRESNOS, Tex. (AP)—School officials said Monday they plan to protest the use of an aerosol chemical to control a fight during last week's high school football playoff. Los Fresnos coach Jerry Tomsu said four of his players were temporarily blinded by the chemical spray during which time, he claimed, Fremont was able to complete a key pass play and kick a field goal to win the game. Tomsu said the two men who sprayed the chemical at the combatants also hit the players and that the two men were not regular policemen and were perhaps not policemen at all. Bailey Marshall of the University Interscholastic League said Los Fresnos school officials said they would protest handling of the donnybrook. In a letter to the UIL, Superintendent Grover Shanks of Los Fresnos protested the action.

Harland Svare Is Named To Replace Sid Gillman

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Sid Gillman, who joined the San Diego Chargers at their birth 11 years ago, says he resigned as head coach and executive vice president after finding majority owner Eugene V. Klein "most reluctant" to discuss a new contract but quite willing to tell him what men should be playing. Klein named Chargers General Manager Harland Svare, former head coach of the Los Angeles Rams, to take over Gillman's job Monday for San Diego's four remaining games. He said Svare would then return to the general manager's office and a new coach would be hired. Gillman, whose five-year contract was to expire Dec. 31, said he requested a meeting with Klein Monday morning because he considered it unfair to continue working under the pressure of a public "countdown" about when the agreement ran out. He also said he had believed he had a lifetime contract with the Chargers. The 60-year-old coach was one of the winningest in professional football although the Chargers are 4-6 this season. They suffered a frustrating 34-

33 defeat to Oakland Sunday. Gillman said Klein wanted him to bench—"I think the word he used was 'scrap'"—several players, including veteran quarterback John Hadl. "Well, I'm coach and I could not accept having to be told not to play Hadl or any other players," Gillman told an afternoon news conference. "I'm coach and I do it as I feel."

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

In this season of Thanksgiving when all families who can, get together, there are no words that express what most families feel like those beautiful ones penned by Helen Taylor called "Bless This House." We used it last year in our Thanksgiving column and so many people enjoyed it we are repeating it.

"Bless this house, oh Lord, we pray,
Make it safe by night and day.
Bless these walls, so firm and stout
Keeping want and trouble out;
Bless the roof and chimney tall,
Let thy peace lie over all;
Bless this door that it may prove,
Ever open to joy and love.
Bless these windows shining bright
Letting in God's heavenly light;
Bless the hearth ablazing there,
With smoke ascending like a prayer.
Bless the folks who dwell within;
Keep them pure and free from sin.
Bless us all that we may be Fit, oh Lord, to dwell with Thee.
Bless us all that one day we
May dwell, oh Lord, with Thee.
